R. M. Hammett and W. C. Calvin, vehicle inspectors of the Department of Public Safety, report that only 305 out of 1,900 vehicles in Sutton County had been inspected as of last week. They urge car and truck owners to have inspection made before the deadline April 15. The Highway Patrol will enforce the motor vehicle inspection law rigidly this year.

You may be a little late in getting your Devil next week. Our old press finally gave up the goast Wednesday night, and we will move in a new one Saturday. It takes time to adjust newspaper presses, but we will be out one way or another Friday morning. Now don't you grocery advertisers get nervous.

The old press has an interesting history. It was built about 1900 by the Cottrell Company in New York under a patent issued in 1874. It was bought by Steve Murphy, disassembled and stored in the lot back of the Sonora Motor Company until 1926, when a press mechanic assembled it on our floor. It will be sold as junk.

The new press, or at least the new used press, is a cylinder type of considerably later vintage. Its forms can take care of 8-column page, the motor is built on it along with variable speed controls and reverse, which will save much handwork.

Potmesil Opens New Building

Frank Potmesil, owner of Frank's Auto Body and Faint Shop this week completed work on his new building across the street from the old Park Inn.

Potmesil bought the property from the Texas Company. The station was first built and leased to Pat Lyles and Jack Rape in 1936. Later Henry Greenhill operated it and last year it was leased to Jake Merck.

Potmesil walled in the station and added another building to give an enclosed space of 60 by 30 feet. Radiator shop, glass shop and office are located separately. A paint shop will be built later, although painting is being done now by placing a curtain across one end of the building.

Moving here in 1939, Potmesil was employed by the Elliott Motor Company as the first auto body repairman in Sonora. During the war he worked as an aircraft welder at Goodfellow Field.

Born in Bluff City, Kansas, Potmesil was raised in Alexandria, Louisiana and learned his trade there. Asked about hard repair jobs, Potmesil said, "The toughest repair jobs are cars which have been hit across the cowling. When they are hit like that the instruments, firewalls and cowlings are damaged and they are very hard to get to."

"The worst wreck I ever saw was a '39 Pontiac two men had tried to straighten out a curve in. It was so bad we just winched the motor right out without loosening a bolt. The top was flat and there was hardly a door handle that wasn't broken. The men weren't hurt. But I sure didn't try to fix that one."

Wool Growers Ask Delay In New Wool Bill

The executive committee of the National Wool Growers Association has requested Secretary of Agriculture Benson not to formulate regulations on assignment of incentive payments under the new wool bill until the affiliated states are given an opportunity to present their views.

The executive committee took this action at a meeting in Denver, Colorado, earlier this month on a motion by R. W. Hodge, Del Rio, president of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association. Hodge and Penrose Metcalfe, former TS & GRA president and now a vice-president of the National Wool Growers Association, had lost earlier on a motion that would request the Secretary of Agriculture to make no assignments of the incentive payments in any case.

The meeting was called by NW GA president Wallace Ullmer, Montana, to reconsider action taken by the executive committee at the National Convention in Salt Lake City in early December.

"We took the position that the least interference with normal marketing practices would be best for the wool and mohair producer." Hodge stated, "Assignment of the incentive payments could very definitely hurt the cash buyer of wool and practically all of Texas wools are sold in this manner."

Hodge further stated that delegates from the states of California, Wyoming, Idaho and South Dokota backed Texas in its proposal for no assignments while committeemen from Utah, Arizona, Montana, Oregon, Washington, Nevada and Colorado opposed the no-assignment proposal. Sheep members represented by the proponents of the no-assignment plan were 7,800,00 as compared with 5,900,000 head represented by the opposition.

Hodge said that Secretary of Agriculture Benson has been requested by the National to hold the hearing sometime after January 15.

Fugitives Caught Early Wednesday

Two young Indiana men, wise in the ways of the woods, were picked up near a road block early Wednesday morning, after leading a score of local and state officers a merry chase for over a week.

The men gave their names as Paul Laverne Miller, 26, and Charles Young, 23. Both told officers they were from Greenville, Indiana, and had no past records.

Their fingerprings were sent to Washington by an FBI agent who was present at the time of their capture, and also will be checked by the Department of Public Safety and the State of Tennessee.

Officers first became interested in the men Wednesday night of last week when they attempted to pass a check purportedly signed by a local ranchman at the Neil Roueche Grocery. Roueche called the ranchman, was told he had not signed the check. The men left while Roueche was telephoning and took the check to another store where it was cashed.

Sheriff Wess Hill sent out a telephone and radio alarm and in a short while a tip came in from Jimmy Simmons, owner of the Fort Terrett Station, that the men had bought gas there and left in the direction of Sonora. State Highway Patrolman Herman Moore left to intercept the car, which bore Tennessee license plates, and met it a few mile west of the station.

As Moore, who was traveling at high speed, pulled to a stop and turned around, the men abandoned their car and ran into the brush. It was about dusk and no trace of them could be found.

The two fugitives dropped from sight Thursday. The first break about their whereabouts came Friday, when Terry Baker, local ranchman noticed strange tracks around his barn. Baker followed the tracks and came upon a cleverly concealed lean-to the men had built out of brush.

(Miller: "Yeah, we saw this man coming to the lean-to. Young spotted him first. When we knew he was tracking us, we left the lean-to and walked quietly down a hill. When we thought it was safe, we run, maybe a mile or so. We took the blankets from an old house near the barn."

Blood hounds were brought in and road blocks set up by the State Highway Patrol. Three airplanes, one piloted by Gay Copeland, also assisted in the search, but again the trail got cold, and Friday night road blocks were pulled off on the assumption the men had left the area.

Monday afternoon, the men were again reported to have been seen in the Baker ranch area, and fresh tracks were found. This time bloodhounds from Huntsville Prison were brought in, but showers had largely destroyed the tracks and they were unable to find the trail. Local firemen were called out twice during the search to aid officers.

(Miller: "We really kept moving after we left the lean-to Sometimes we slept all day and walked at night, and then we change it around. We tried to stay in the rocks. I walked on rocks around the lean-to. It was Young made the tracks."

Tuesday was fruitless until nearly dusk, when Highway Department employees reported seeing the men cross the highway at the Shannon Clarkson ranch. Roadblocks were set up again, one at the park six miles east of Sonora and one two miles east of the Fort Terrett Station. All available highway patrolmen were called in.

At 3:55 Wednesday morning the two men, one carrying a gas can, attempted to hitch a ride with Alfred Schwiening, Jr., who was coming into town from the ranch. They were about 14 miles from town. Schwiening drove on to the road block and reported to Sheriff Bill Green of Sterling City, and Highway Patrolman Howard W. Smith of Sterling City. The officers picked up the men a few minutes later and brought them to town. They offered no resistance.

A check on the car the men abandoned, a 1950 Ford, revealed it had been stolen in Memphis, Tenn. January 1. In the car a Texas map was found tracing a route from West Texas to Port Arthur. The name "A. S. Jones" had been written on the map several times in pencil.

Miller, who was wearing a pair of cheap boots, thin khaki pants, and a frayed blue jean jacket, said he and Young hitched a ride in the car at Little Rock, Arkansas. The driver, a man Miller remembered only as "Bob" gave the car to him and Young, Miller said.

Young remained silent, refusing even to sign his fingerprint card. About all he would tell was his name. Young bore a "Pachuco" tattoo, a small blue cross on the web of his left hand between thumb and forefinger. He said he didn't remember anything about the tattoo except that he got it when he was nine years old.

Both men gave their occupations as general laborers.

They are being held here on charges of passing a forged instrument.

PARASITES COSTING ONE ANIMAL IN 20

External and internal parasites are claiming one farm animal in 20, and are costing farmers about $1,000,000,000 annually, Dr. F. M. Fuller, extension entomologist, reports.

That's a loss of five cents on every dollar invested in livestock. The entomologist says these figures, which are termed conservative, show that livestock raisers are not realizing full returns from their operations.

Ironically, says Dr. Fuller, modern research has found practical ways to control most of today's parasitic enemies.

Few, if any, livestock are completely free of infestation, he says. Even the best looking animal may harbor a dozen or more different parasite species.

Heaviest losses in cattle come from external parasites, hornflies and grubs. However, internal parasites likewise are a major problem.

For every eight animals shipped to market, the value of one is lost to parasitism, Dr. Fuller emphasizes. This means cattlemen are "giving away" each year an additional 2,000,000,000 pounds of meat.

Studies show that losses from parasites exceed 10 percent in poultry. One battery in 10 is wasting space, feed and labor and equipment.

Parasites are robbing swine producers of the value of one pig in every 12, and sheepmen face the problem of combating a 25 percent annual parasite loss.

They also are believed responsible for many disease outbreaks because their infestation leads an animal into a weakened condition.

Steps to help curb most of the troubling parasites of Texas livestock require nominal time and expense, Dr. Fuller adds. Livestockmen who follow regularly recommended parasite controls usually bring home the highest profits from their livestock.

More than 22,750,000 boys and men have enrolled in the Boy Scouts of America since 1910. In 1954 more than 900,000 Boy Scouts and Explorers camped in various sections of the country.

FARM POPULATION SHRINKS IN TEXAS

Texas' farm population is lower than at any time since the 1870's. The number of persons living on farms and ranches last year was 1,126,000 compared with 1, 387,000 in 1950, reports W. G. Adkins and R. L. Skranbanek of Texas A & M. That means a decrease of about 260,000 of 18.8 percent in the last four years.

The two agricultuaral economics and sociology professors conducted the statewide survey in cooperation with U. S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Marketing Service.

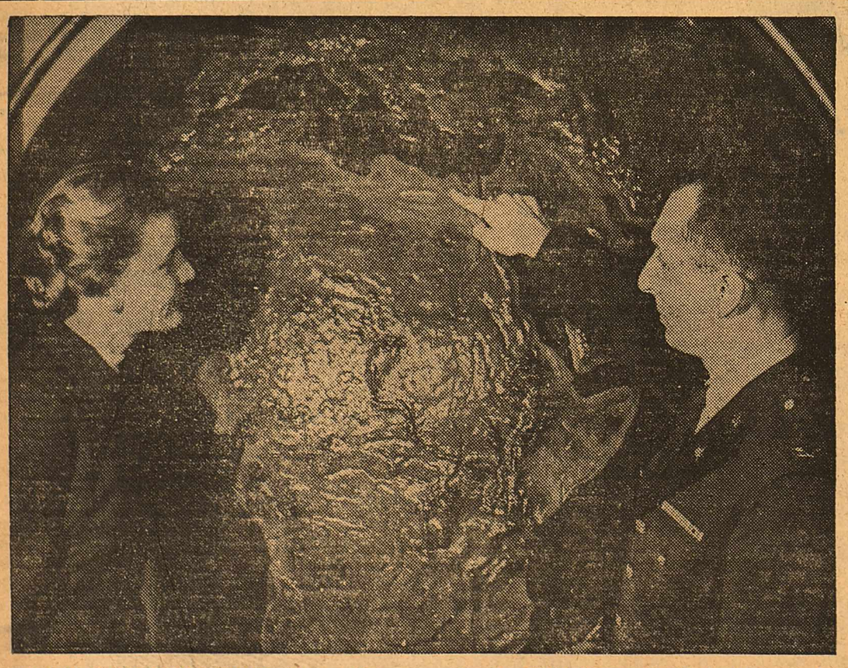

The decline in Texas farm population is a continuation of a trend which began in 1934 when the number of farm residents reached an all-time high of 2,423,000.

While farm population declined the total civilian population of Texas increased rapidly and in April, 1954 was about 8,200,000. Farm residents now comprise only 13.7 percent of the total population. In 1930 more than 40 percent of thhe state's citizens lived on farms and ranches.

U. S. farm population also has decreased steadily since 1940, though not as rapidly as in Texas.

The change in farm population has been a fairly accurate indicato of changes in other farm characteristics. The survey shows that the number of farms in Texas has decreased from 332,000 reported by the 1950 census to 281,000 last year. The average farm of 517 acres is more than twice the size of farms in 1930 and well above the 438 acre average recorded in 1950.

The 1940 average of more than five persons residing on each farm has declined to almost four.

ME

By W. H. Marshall

One day a sixth-grade teacher asked her class, "What is here in the world today that was not here fifteen years ago?" She expected the class to tell her of some of the new inventions and discoveries. One little boy held up his hand. "All right, Johnny," she said, "what is here that was not fifteen years ago?" He said, "Me."

A shipwrecked sailor, buried on this coast, Bids you set sail.
Full many a gallant bark, when we were lost, Weathered the gale.

This is something more than Greek Anthology. This is something that hits you in the face. "Weathered the gale." Some one went along ahead of us. Some one "set sail."

A man is worthy of life only when he contributes something to the moral and spiritual uplift of the human race. Every blessing and every good thing that is ours stems from the fact that our world is a moral and spiritual world. God created the world that way. God made man in his own image. The GREAT SIN is to fail, or refuse to do what is right. A man must deny himself the mercy of God while living a life denying God.

Life is a common sense thing. The Bible tells us, " . . . as a man sows, so shall hhe reap." That is only fair. Life will dish out to a man what is coming to him. A man can't live like the devil and expect to die and wake up in heaven a saint.

There is much in our world that is not right or fair. Man is the cause of it. And a man can break a man-made law and get away with it some time, but no man has ever, or ever will, break a law that is moral and spiritual and get away with it. God just didn't make that kind of a world. And all of us in the church, or out of the church, better walk around that fact and take a GOOD LOOK at it. The same moral and spiritual laws will be here in the world operating for man's good long after you and I are gone.

It is a moral certainity, it is a spiritual law, that a man must reap what he sows. It is also just as certain, that a man can live his life according to the purpose God has for him, and live his life unafraid.

Any man has made a good bet when he line up on the side of what is right. Yes, we say, there is no harm in this or that. We can only answer: The moral law will determine that for us, and not you and me.

Executives of the Pearl Brewery celebrate two high spots in sales for 1954, 835,890 barrels of premium quality Pearl Beer sold in Texas. Not only is this a new record in total annual Pearl Beer Sales but Pearl was the largest selling beer in Texas during 1954.

The large expansion program completed in 1953 through which the Pearl Brewery became the largest brewery southwest of St. Louis, enabled Pearl for the first time in three years to go through the summer period without rationing beer to its distributors.

1954 sales of Pearl Beer were not only the highest in Pearl's 68 years but represented the highest annual sales for any beer in history, indicating the broad and increasing demand for this fine fully aged premium quality beer.

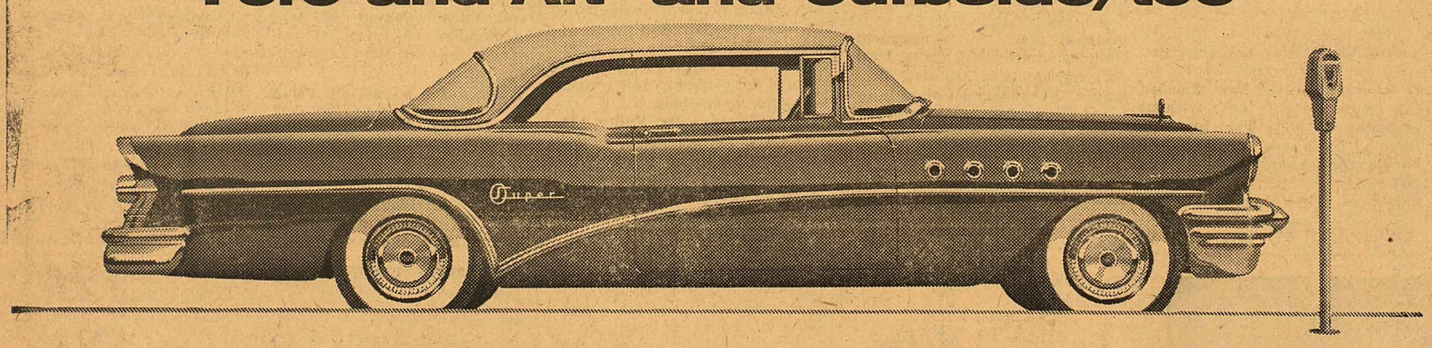

In referring to the sales of the Pearl Brewery, H. B. "Pat" O'Brien, General Sales Manager, said — "Yes, in 1954 the Pearl Brewery sold more beer than in any year in the Brewery's 68 year history, and we ended the year with the biggest December sales in the Brewery's history."

In referring to Pearl Beer's 1954 sales, Datus E. Proper, Vice President and General Manager said — "Additional Bottling and Canning facilities as well as new pastuerizing equipment is now being added in anticipation of a bigger demand for Pearl Beer in 1955. While we market only in Texas, the demand for Pearl Beer continues to grow as more and more people realize that it is the Quality Controlled Premium Beer of Consistent Good Taste."

Mr. Otto A. Koehler, President of the Pearl Brewery said — "Three generations of people of Texas have shown their increased preference for Pearl Beer, this year giving Pearl the position of first in sales in Texas, for which we are deeply appreciative. We are making further plans for increased production to take care of the constant demand for Pearl Beer. For the first time in the history of the Brewery, its employees and citizens of San Antonio have been given the opportunity to buy stock in this great Texas institution. The stock was over-subscribed the second day after it was put on the market, showing the affection of the people of San Antonio and the State of Texas for this old institution, Texas' Own since 1886."

Fore and Aft- and Curbside, too-

It's the style hit of the year!

You can take our word for it when we tell you this:

The first time we put eyes on the 1955 Buicks, we really raised a cheer.

To top the looks of last year's Buick—the car that moved Buick into the top three of the nation's best sellers—that was something.

That gave us two hits in a row, we figured—and it seems we figured right.

For with these stunning new 1955 Buicks, we're getting even more noses pressed against our showroom windows than last year—and more folks coming in to look and study and drive and buy.

But bold new styling, of course, is just one reason for the sensational success of these great cars.

New power is part of the picture—robust new V8 power in record might—236 hp in the CENTURY, SUPER and ROADMASTER—188 hp in the low-priced SPECIAL.

New performance, too—from the dynamic action of Buick's Variable Pitch Dynaflow* that gives you far better gas mileage in all normal driving and cruising—and full-power getaway or safety-surge acceleration, but instantly, and with infinite smoothness.

So you can see that just looking isn't enough.

You have to take that wheel, try that power, feel that Dynaflow take-hold surge, sample that Million Dollar Ride—and check the hard-to-pass-up prices we're quoting.

We'll gladly help you do all that. Why not come in this week?

*Dynaflow Drive is standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

A Pretty "Snappy" Menu

Cuff Taylor had a near riot in his hen yard last week. Seems the hens were scratching around the cold ground when they found a piece of rubber band frozen in the ice.

"One hen pecked at it," says Cuff, "and it snapped right back. She backed off clucking while another hen tried it, and another. And the 'worm' kept right on snapping back. They all got their feathers ruffled. You never heard such a ruckus!"

"I finally had to break up the ice with an ax before those hens would get back to business and start laying eggs again."

From where I sit, some people raise a pretty big fuss over nothing, too. Take the fellow who would deny me a temperate glass of beer with my game of checkers. Maybe he'd rather have coffee! Well, that's all right. He has a right to his own preference. But so do I. And there's no point in his "snapping" at me just because his choice isn't the same as mine.

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

INCOME TAX BREAKS FOR FARMERS

The new internal revenue code provides several income tax breaks for farmers ranging from filing dates later than those allowed other persons to extra deductions.

As mentioned in a previous column, persons other than farmers, required by law to file declarations of estimated tax, have only until January 15, to file their tax return and pay their taxes in full to avoid penalties for failure to file quarterly estimates.

The new code has not changed the January 15 due date for declaration of estimated tax by farmers. However, a farmer may file his income tax return and pay the full tax required by it on or before January 31 and thus eliminate the need for a declaration of estimated tax. This provision gives the farmer fifteen days more than other persons in which to assemble his records, compute his income, and file his return. Beginning in 1956, he will be allowed an additional fifteen days, until February 15.

The biggest break for farmers under the new act is the right to deduct as an expense at least a portion of soil and water conservation expenses. The costs which may be deducted include earthen dame, leveling, grading, terracing, contour furrowing, diversion channels, drainage ditches, watercourses, outlet, ponds, removing brush, and planting windbreaks. Assessments paid to a soil or water conservation district are also deductible if the district performed work of the nature just listed.

The deduction is limited to 25% of the farmer's gross income from farming in any particular year. If the entire deduction is not entirely allowable in one year, the excess may be carried over to the following year, and so on indefinitely until the farmer has been able to deduct the entire amount.

The deduction is allowable only for expenditures in 1954 or later years, and the farmer must elect in the first year in which he has such expenditures whether he will capitalize them as in the past or deduct them under the provisions of the new law. Once this election has been made, it cannot be changed without permission from the Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

Under the former law, if payments were made to a farmer because of the destruction or sale of livestock due to disease, such payment was taxable income to the extent it exceeded the cost of the livestock. Under the 1954 act, this is called an involuntary conversion. The proceeds will be taxable income only to the extent that it exceeds the cots of the replacement.

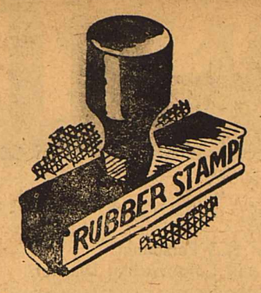

Another change which may be of considerable advantage to the farmer is the one setting up two new methods by which depreciation may be computed. It is now possible to deduct greater amounts for depreciation in the first years. This change will be explained in greater detail in a subsequent article in this series.

(This column, based on Federal law, is written to inform-not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret the law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts, because the facts may change the application of the law.)

The 74-year old writer and educator, deaf and blind from infancy, will visit India, Pakistan, Burma, the Philippines and Japan, whose governments have joined the American Foundation for Overseas Blind, New York, in sponsoring the trip. Soil Conservation District News

Prepared by Local SCS Personnel
News of Edwards Plateau Soil Conservation District

Supervisors of the Edwards Plateau Soil Conservation District are in process of buying some grass seeding equipment for use by cooperators in reseeding rangeland and old fields. There are over one hundred old cultivated fields in the district which have not been cultivated in a number of years. These fields, if seeded to good perennial grasses, would furnish a seed source for the ranch as well as producing good forage.

Frank Bond, Edwin Sawyer and E. B. Keng this week inspected seeding equipment which is being used in the Crockett SCD. A three-row grass drill, equipped with both trashy and clean seed boxes appears best suited to our needs. The district is also considering purchasing a pitting plow.

The district has at present a two row planter, a grass seed drill, one pitting plow, and a seed stripper for rent to District cooperators.

The Edwards Plateau Soil Conservation District supervisors recently completed their annual report. It will be mailed to all landowners and operators in the district within the next few days. The supervisors appreciate the cooperation of the Sonora Public Schools, who mimeographed the report.

Leo Merrill, Experiment Station Range Specialist, is checking the results of two years work on root studies, this week. Leo transplanted curlymesquite sod in 48 boxes of sand two years ago. He gave the plants approximately average rainfall, and clipped various plants at intervals of two weeks, four weeks, twice yearly, and one yearly, and at ground level, one, two, and three inch heights.

He is now washing the roots out to determine the effect of the various treatments on root development. His results are striking, so watch for his story. In the meantime, every ranchman who can drop by the Station and examine the washed out root system will get some valuable information.

Styling that's stealing the thunder from the high-priced cars!

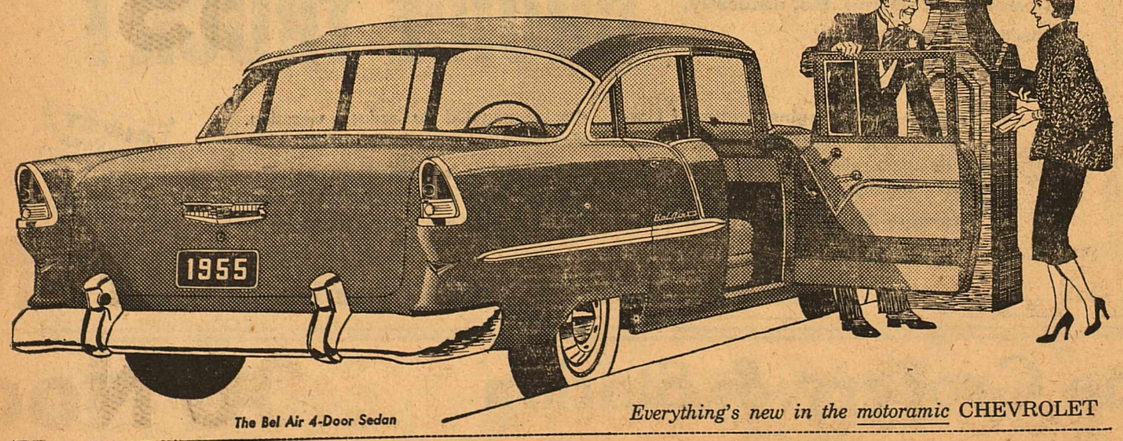

And it's powered to run rings around the rest!

One styling spotlight blazes down on a low-cost car this year—for the Motoramic Chevrolet is stealing the show from the high-priced cars with its subtle sweep of line, the brilliant sophistication of its European-type grille, the bold rake of its deep-curved windshield.

And there's even more excitement in the way it drives—the velvety comfort of Glide-Ride front suspension and outrigger rear springs, the handling ease of Ball-Race steering, the flashing performance of the new 162-h.p. "Turbo-Fire V8" engine or the two new "Blue-Flame" 6's. All this—plus the extra-cost options of Powerglide or Overdrive and a full range of power assists. Try a 1955 Chevrolet—now—and you'll know why it is stealing the thunder from the high-priced cars.

RIGHT AT THE TIME there is little to report from Capitol Hill that is newsworthy. Last week committees were set up and hearings on various bills are now going on. When a new member of Congress takes office he seeks the best committee assignment he can obtain. He usually must serve for several years before he is able to get on a preferred committee, but in the meantime he takes what he can get.

Once a Member is put on a committee he normally remains there, if he so desires, so long as he is in Congress. But if he finds it best from his standpoint to change over to another committee when an opportunity occurs, he must begin there at the foot of the class. The real important work in legislation is done in committees. When one serves here a few years, watching the turn-over from term to term, he learns that some who get the most publicity actually accomplish less than others who go about their jobs without fanfare, studying and working on their assignments.

And it seems that the public soon catches on to the publicity-seekers. They don't usually last very long. I recall that a few years ago a young man was elected from Indiana. He was publicized as a "model Congressman". He was supposed to have everything a good representative should have-looks, ability, ambition, courage, poise, and so forth. The Democratic leadership went all out to push him. He landed a spot on the Armed Services committee during his first term-a most unusual accomplishment. But it apparently all went to his head. He got LIFE to photograph him at work during committee sessions in his office, at home, rushing about as if the world revolved around him.

But the freshman was a bit offended, and so stated-so the press, when the chairman of the committee made him wait his turn in questioning witnesses during hearings. About everything he did was publicized far out of proportion to its importance. And, sure enough, he lasted exactly one term. He actually did little for his district or for the country, and the people soon found it out.

All of which reminds us-in whatever endeavor we are engaged-that the old maxim is sound which states: "Teach me to neither proffer nor receive cheap and undeserved praise".

...and the biggest bargain in your budget today is your electric service. The fact is that West Texas families get almost twice as much electricity per dollar today as they did twenty years ago. For mere pennies a day electric service helps you live better, feel better, play better, work better. Just a few examples:

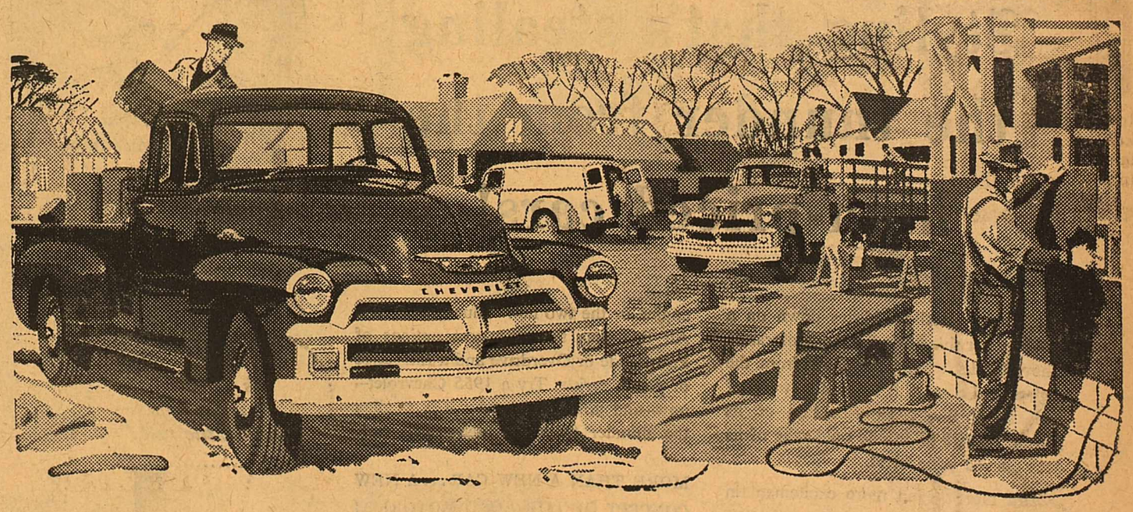

For about a nickel you can refrigerate all your food for a whole week end. Hot water is always on tap for just a few pennies' worth of electric service. Television is enjoyed by one and all for just a few cents of electric power a day. Everything comes out clean in the family wash for just pennies of electric service.

And all this low-cost electric service is right at your finger tip...around the clock. Usually bargains don't come this easy, or this big. No wonder everybody loves this bargain...ELECTRIC SERVICE.

"A hundred years ago nobody worried about bursitis because nobody had it," said Dr. Henry A. Holle, State Health Officer. It wasn't until about forty years ago that there was enough of it around for it to be given a name. Today an estimated two and a half million Americans suffer from the hurting joints caused by when age weakens tendons.

The reason for the big increase seems to be found in modern living. So many of the things people do-typing, working adding machines, driving, handling compressed-air tools, exercising strenuously on weekends-are the very things that can cause attacks of bursitis. Too, people live longer nowadays and bursitis most often attacks after forty

Between the moving parts of muscles, tendons and bones there are cushions-tiny, flat sacs filled with an oily substance. These are the bursae. As the parts move, the two inside surfaces of the sacs glide against each other providing satin-smooth action.

The body has more than 140 of these little sacs. Most important is the subdeltoid bursae in the shoulder, which helps the major shoulder muscle operate. It is the most important because the human shoulder wasn't designed for the work it now has to do. The result is that though bursitis can occur in any of the 140 bursae and often does affect elbows, hips, ankles and joints, 80 percent of the time it is in the shoulder.

If an attack of bursitis occurs, a physician should be consulted. He can control bursitis but he can't control the results of neglect. Curing bursitis takes time and patience.

Mr. and Mrs. Sid Rogge have had as their guests, Mrs. Rogge's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Briant of Eldorado.
