Paws & Taws Building finds new home

By TED NORMAN
Managing editor

If all goes well, and there is no reason why it shouldn't, the Paws & Taws Building is scheduled to have a new home near Fulton Park, next to the seawall, and continue to be used as the community center for the area's clubs and groups who have been using it for so many years.

In a request to the Aransas County Navigation District during their monthly meeting Tuesday, April 6, Paws & Taws Inc. committee spokesman Mick Ladner told the board members that graduating classes of the Rockport-Fulton High School have used the Paws & Taws building for the past 18 years and many thousands of dollars have been donated during fund raising events in the building and that many members of the Rockport-Fulton community want to continue to use Paws & Taws as the community center.

Ladner told the board members that Juanita Wagley has donated the building, free of any cost, if it can be moved from its present location. The building must be moved because the present site on Fulton Beach Road between Palmetto and Henderson Ave. has been sold to the Baker-Haldeman Development Corporation as the future home of the Nautical Tower development.

Ladner said a group of concerned citizens has formed the nonprofit corporation in an effort to relocate and run the Paws & Taws Building.

He said the newly formed corporation would begin raising the $30,000 needed to move the building and told the board members that the cost of moving and setting up the building in a new location would cost the Aransas County taxpayers nothing.

Ladner requested that the ACND grant a 20-year, $1-per-year lease on an area of land in Fulton large enough to accommodate the building and parking.

Ladner said it would cost $5 to $6 per square foot to move the 9,000 square foot building and another $3,500 to connect it to a new septic system. He said it would also cost around $1,000 to hook up the water and electricity to the building.

He said the building was built without air conditioning and designed so the sea breezes off Aransas Bay would cool it on hot nights. Ladner told the board members the Paws & Taws building should be relocated as close to the seawall in Fulton as possible to take advantage of these conditions.

After a lengthy discussion of just where the building should be located the ACND commissioners agreed they should lease 15 acres to the newly formed corporation in Fulton Park next to the seawall. They agreed that this would not interfere with the softball park that is located near the leased area.

Ladner said the building would be set on new pilings that would raise the Paws & Taws eight feet above the mean high tide level. He said the project must be completed in 120 days at a cost of about $30,000.

The commissioners questioned Ladner and asked if an IRS tax status had been applied for and if a survey had been done on the area they wished to lease. Ladner said the tax status had been applied for but not yet received and that a survey had not been done because the committee to move the building wasn't certain just what piece of land could be leased. Ladner said that a complete survey would be done as soon as the ACND indicated just where they would lease land to locate the building.

J.L. Stewart of LJB Enterprises has submitted a bid of $3,570 to install a Clearwater System as a new septic system for the building when it is relocated.

The articles of incorporation of the Paws & Taws Inc. state that the period of the corporation's duration is perpetual and that the purpose, or purposes, for which the corporation is organized are: to hold title to the property known as Paws & Taws; to collect income from the operation and rental of said property; and to turn over the income derived from said operation to one or more tax-exempt organizations.

Least Terns come home To Rockport nesting site

It's April and besides warm weather and high winds that means the Least Terns have returned to the Rockport area and will soon be nesting in the area provided for them near the end of the Rockport Beach.

The Rockport Beach area is a spring nesting ground for a number of birds including the Gull-billed terns, Black Skimmers, Clapper Rails, Killdeer, Willets, Wilson's Plover, Horned Larks and the Meadow Larks as well as the famous Least Tern.

The tiny tern flies every year from South America to the Texas coast to nest and raise its young. They are here from April through August and citizens of the area should use caution and not enter the area surrounded by the vehicle barrier on Rockport Beach.

If humans enter this area the birds fly from the nest exposing the eggs or the chicks to the hot Texas sun and they will die.

There is also an area near the Saltwater Pool that does not have any protection barrier and the terns also nest in this area. Beach goers should use caution here also.

For those interested in such things the proper name of the Least Tern is Sterna albifrons.

In the next few days the Aransas County Navigation District will be posting signs around the nesting area asking everyone to enjoy the birds, but please do not harm them.

Fulton town limits questioned

By LESLIE ABRAMS
Staff writer

FULTON — The town's belief that the area around Fulton Harbor is within the town limits was questioned during the workshop meeting of the Fulton town council at 6 p.m. Tuesday, April 5, by Aransas County Navigation District Commissioner Kirk Holman, who pointed out discrepancies between the meets and bounds and map which were used to incorporate the town in 1978 and the current existing shoreline.

Fulton Harbor and the area immediately surrounding it on the beach side of the road is not included on the 1958 map which was used to establish the meets and bounds at the time the town was incorporated. The meets and bounds which accompany the map describe the town limits from its north boundary, 8,070 feet south to Broadway Street, its southern boundary, and that the limits follow the existing shoreline. Holman says that distance is actually closer to 11,000 feet when measured.

The question is raised as to whether the words "existing shoreline" refer to the existing shoreline shown in the map of 1958, when the shoreline virtually bordered Fulton Beach Road, or the shoreline at the time of incorporation.

Holman maintains that the map which accompanies the description of the meets and bounds shows that shoreline as the town limits. If this is the case, Holman's bait stand at the harbor and the park area are not in the town limits.

Fulton attorney Allen Lee said that the intent of the incorporators must be taken into consideration if the description proved to be inaccurate, to which Holman replied, "The intent of the incorporators was to follow the beach road down the center line."

Alderman Pat Loflin told Holman, "I'm sorry. The intent of the incorporators, of which I was one, was to follow the shoreline."

Holman said that he has no objections to being inside the town limits, he just wants to make sure that he is indeed within them. He said that if he is not, he will gladly request annexation. He added that the problem must be straightened out once and for all, to avoid similar questions in the future with businesses which may move into the area.

According to Lee, the next step is to contact Urban Engineering, the firm which originally made the description, to find out what points of reference were used to come up with the measurements described.

The council also discussed the possibility of changing the specifications on the prospectus for the bait/concession stand at L.E. Casterline Fishing Pier. The stand was let for bids for a concessionaire last month, but the council received no bids and only one letter expressing interest if the specifications were changed and clarified.

Lee told the council that the stand should be readvertised and rebid if there are any changes made in the bid requirements. However, he added, if there are no changes in the bid requirements, the council is allowed to negotiate with the interested party.

Main sticking points in the process are the questions of water and sewer lines to service the stand. At present, there are none, and the party which has expressed interest in the stand, John Hair and Larry Boyer, have requested that the council decide what is to be done with respect to these problems before they submit a specific bid. The subject will be brought up again at the April 12 council meeting for further discussion.

The council restated its intention to request a lease from the ACND so that the Paws and Taws Building may be moved to a site in Fulton Park. Council members later attended the ACND meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, and were granted the lease at $1 per year. The building will cost an estimated $30- to $40,000 to move from its present site on Fulton Beach Road.

Secretary Lucille Hinson told those present during the workshop meeting that the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation has approved the town's request to lower the speed limit on Hwy. 35 from the south town limits to a point one mile north of the town limits from 50 to 45 miles per hour. The proposed change will be read at three successive meetings to insure passage.

Hinson also read a letter from Aransas County's Emergency Management Coordinator Mitch Ammons concerning addendum to the county's Emergency Operations Plan. The letter said that Ammons will provide copies of any additional changes for the town. A list of the changes is available at the Fulton Town Hall.

Among other items to be discussed at next Tuesday's meeting are the proposed Fulton zoning ordinance. Charles Belaire, chairman of the Fulton Zoning Committee, will be on hand to answer questions.

Notable notes

Live Oak Country Fair

The annual Live Oak Elementary School Country Fair will be held from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday, April 16, at the school. Cake walks, doll walks, a hay ride, arts and crafts, concessions and an auction of paintings, quilts and other items will be featured. Proceeds will go toward the purchase of playground equipment and other items for the students and faculty of the school. The public is invited.

Nelson to speak

Dale Nelson, meteorologist with KRIS-TV in Corpus Christi, will be the guest speaker at the Wednesday, April 13, meeting of AARP 1536 at 10 a.m. at the Paws and Taws Building. Persons interested in weather facts and patterns are invited to attend along with regular members of AARP.

Church barbecue

Men of the Church of God are having a Barbecue and Bake Sale Saturday, April 9, at 11 a.m. with the proceeds going to the Men's Annual Day which will be held Sunday, April 10, at the church. Guests will be Heights Church of God and the church choir. The Rev. Robert Askles will speak at 10:45 a.m. and the Heights Church pastor, Rev. John Hilliard will speak at the 3 p.m. services. A sacred hour will follow the Sunday services.

Broom, Mop Sale set

The Rockport Lions Club will hold its annual Broom and Mop Sale this Saturday, April 9. A display will be set up from 10 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. at H.E.B. in Rockport. The mops and brooms are made by the Texas Lighthouse for the Blind and profits to the local Lions Club are used for that organization's sight conversation projects.

Appraisal review board holds first meeting of '83

Aransas County's Appraisal District Board of Review held its first meeting of 1983 at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday, April 6, to swear in two recently-appointed members, appoint new officers for the year and review changes in the 1982 appraisal rolls.

Ed Armstrong, re-appointed to the board for the next two years, and Frank Samson, appointed to his first two-year term on the board, took the oath of office administered by Aransas County Clerk Val Jean Eaton.

Samson replaced Cam Leonard whose term on the board expired this year.

Mick Ladner was elected chairman by fellow board members, with Armstrong chosen vice chairman. Edwina Stranahan was elected secretary. Also on the board is Jan McGlassen.

Board members reviewed changes to the 1982 appraisal rolls, including deletions and additions to the rolls. Jack Groseclose, chief appraiser for the Aransas County district, told review board members commercial fishing boats are being completely reappraised this year by a local firm operated by Ernest Glover.

Groseclose said he hopes to have 1983 tax notices in the mail to county property owners by May 15 and the property owners then have 20 days to file an appeal.

Based on this time frame, the review board members anticipate convening in early to mid-June to begin going over the appraisal rolls and holding public hearings. No specific date was set for the board's next meeting.

Engineering study topic of utility district meeting

LAMAR — An engineering study of the Lamar Water Supply Corp. system, required under a contract between LWS and Aransas County Municipal Utility District No. 1 (ACMUD), is scheduled for discussion in a meeting of the ACMUD board of directors Tuesday night, April 12, at the district office in Lamar.

Utility district directors are scheduled to talk with a representative of Urban Engineering of Corpus Christi about the engineering study of LWS facilities.

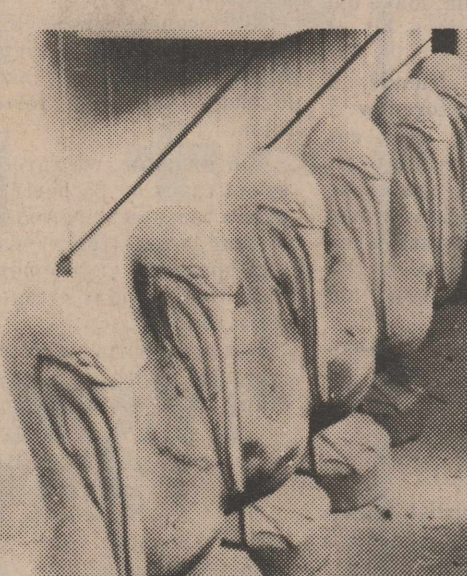

Also scheduled for discussion with the Urban representative Tuesday will be the possibility of Urban serving as engineering consultants for repair of the district's water plant. A contract for repair of the plant — which serves residents of Goose Island Lake Estates — was signed in a special meeting of the ACMUD directors March 29.

Editorial & opinion

Hatfield Bible study bill should be passed

Legislation that would skirt the issue of prayer in schools by permitting high school students to meet in classrooms during off hours for Bible study has been introduced in the U.S. Senate by Sen. Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., often referred to as "dean of evangelicals" in Congress.

Prescribed school prayers were prohibited in a 1962 Supreme Court ruling in a case appealed from New York City where, it was reported, at least one public school required students to recite a prayer composed in the principal's office.

There have been repeated attempts in Congress since this decision to override it by constitutional amendment, but none has been successful. Several similar bills are still pending in House and Senate committees.

Sen. Hatfield's bill was viewed initially as a non-controversial alternative to the Reagan administration's proposal for adoption of a constitutional amendment allowing voluntary prayer in public schools.

Hatfield's hopes of getting a favorable Senate vote on his bill were bolstered when 14 other senators with widely differing philosophies became co-sponsors.

Fears are being expressed in Washington and among the nation's religious leaders that unless legislation to soften, or partially nullify the high court's prayer decision is enacted, more restrictive bills may be introduced.

Sen. Hatfield cited First Amendment rights and what he said is "the need to root out barriers that forbid voluntary meetings of students who seek to meet or pray."

The consensus of the Hatfield bill's co-sponsors is that students should not be barred from discussing religion as well as other topics during noninstructional periods.

The Hatfield bill would extend to high school students the same principles in the Supreme Court's 1981 Widmar vs. Vincent (University of Missouri) ruling, which allows students to meet for religious purposes on state college or university campuses.

Lower courts, however, have so far refused to apply this principle in two cases in Guilderland High School in New York and in Lubbock.

Specifically, the Hatfield bill would:

- * Prohibit school or state officials from influencing the form or content of any prayer or other religious activity.
- * Prohibit school or state officials from forcing any student to participate in prayer or other religious activity.
- * Protect the discretionary role of school officials to ensure the meetings are voluntary and lawful.
- * Keep campuses closed to outside groups because the focus would be on student-initiated meetings consistent with the Widmar decision.

We support Sen. Hatfield's bill, but we think it is ridiculous that students or others must have legislative permission to discuss anything they want to discuss.

Dreams of the past

MY GOOD FRIEND and sometimes shipmate, the baron von Harsdorff, once possessed an amusing line of patter on the subject of this writer. Naturally it was always best when he was slightly in his cups. He would begin by telling listeners, and he never had a shortage of listeners, that I was the reincarnation of an ancient Phoenician. He could pursue the subject nonstop for an hour and keep everyone amused, including myself, even though I was never bright enough to fully understand whether he was flattering me or pulling my leg. Reflecting, I let it suffice that he kept everyone happy. Even though one may be the butt of a joke he can't knock a chap who brings cheer and good humor to others.

I sometimes wondered why he tied me in with the Phoenicians. The baron is not exactly a history buff and I doubt that he knows much more about that ancient Mediterranean state than I. Most likely he simply fancied the word Phoenician which admittedly does have a pleasant ring. Certainly his patter did nothing to enlighten anyone. But, as I have said, he did entertain. Altogether, and for all the difference it might have made, he might just as well have been describing me as a Maine lobsterman or Bluebeard the pirate.

I MENTION THE foregoing because it seems to me that all of us at one time or another in our lives sometimes dream of a past when we would have preferred to live. That is of course because of the human tendency to enoble the past. Truth of the matter is, most of us would be rather uncomfortable, even if we were to face living in a time as recent as half a century ago. For example, I often note that people of my own age worship air conditioning more than young people who have never known life without artificial air.

Most amusing of course is when I hear people deplore the demise of integrity and morals. Truth of the matter is that people today are no better nor worse than those of half a century ago. Or, were I compelled to argue the matter I believe I'd be obliged to take the side of the present. Allow me to cite some examples. In the 1920s we had prohibition and gangsters, all the result of moribund bigotry. Indeed in those days membership in the Ku Klux Klan was considered respectable by a large number of God-fearing middle class Americans, Americans so naive that they were convinced that if Roman Catholic Al Smith were elected president the Pope would immediately desert the Vatican for the White House. I might go on, and on.

As for myself, I don't believe that, morally at least, the human race is a lot better or worse today than when Adam plucked Eve's fig leaf.

A FAVORITE WORD with most of us is "if." Myself for example. "If" when I first came to Texas I had not wound up haphazardly in the newspaper business, "if" I'd sat back and observed the scene, invested perhaps in land, I might be rather prosperous today. Once, "if" I'd handled my finances differently I might today be the man who introduced Coca Cola to Thailand. I tried and fouled up, to state it briefly. After World War II I envisioned the tourist boom that would come to the Bahamas and the Caribbean Islands. "If" — well, my brain wasn't in pace with my vision. I might go on, but how many "ifs" are there in your life? At least I don't lament. That may well be the nicest compliment I can pay myself.

THIS IS A BLUSTERY April Day, and my birthday. The sky is overcast. Sea gulls rise and swirl. They seem to be angry about something. I am very lazy, but content. I pluck books from shelves and read the titles and names of well remembered authors. Familiar faces come to mind, and names of places, romantic names, Singapore and Zambowango, exotic scents and sounds. I'd like to go back, see and experience again, make old mistakes and do a bit of "ifing."

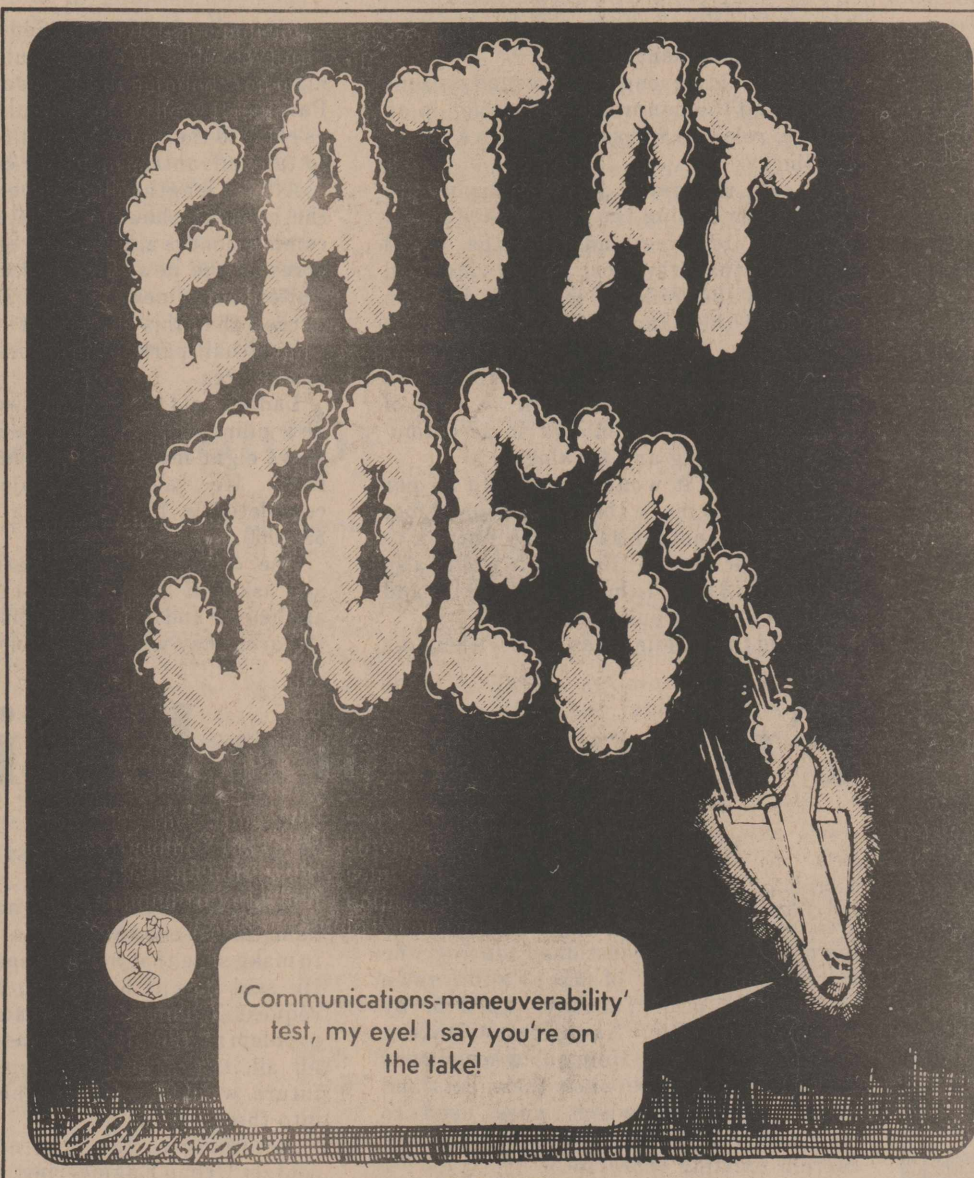

Baron, old friends, I think I'll settle for now. I don't think I'd have cut much of a figure in a toga, or whatever it was those ancient Phoenicians wore, and besides, I rather fancy modern plumbing over the outhouse of the good old days.

Deficit must be controlled

By Senator Lloyd Bentsen
America must regain control of its economic destiny. A good place to start is by getting a grip on the staggering federal deficit.

To do that, the Administration must show a willingness to consider responsible alternatives to its tax and defense policies.

Last year, the White House demanded enactment of the Balanced Budget Amendment. This year, it presents us with a $200 billion deficit. That kind of gap between rhetoric and reality cannot be accepted.

Our economic problems are complex, and a rigid adherence to slogans and ideology will not solve them.

For example, we agreed to cut taxes by 25 percent over a three-year period at a time when there was widespread agreement that this country's taxes were too high.

But now, during a bitter recession, with a budget deficit that could destroy our economic future, the Administration has refused to compromise on this tax cut. Instead, it proposes a 5 percent income tax increase and a $5 levy on every barrel of oil beginning in 1986.

It would make more sense to compromise by reducing the last phase of the existing tax cut from 10 to 5 percent and moving the effective date forward from July 1 to April 1. That would stimulate the economy with a prompt tax cut, while shaving the projected deficit by $20 billion over the next two years.

There may be other answers to the deficit problem, but none of them will matter unless the Administration begins to consider alternatives.

A less rigid approach also would be advisable in defense spending. I've been a strong supporter of defense all my life and don't harbor any illusions about the Soviets' defense buildup.

But I don't think we should try to do everything at once in building up our own military forces.

There are fewer defense contractors now than during the Vietnam War. We simply cannot spend money as fast as the Administration wants without creating production bottlenecks and risking massive cost overruns.

The President's budget contains $43 billion in increased spending. More than $30 billion of that is for defense.

It doesn't make sense to force-feed the Pentagon with a real, after-inflation increase of 10 percent while everything else is being cut to the bone.

We may end up with the most powerful military forces in the world, but there might not be anything left to defend.

Resolving our nation's economic problems demands that we work together in a bi-partisan effort to find honest answers to current problems.

All of us, on all sides, must be willing to consider responsible alternatives to our individual proposals.

The umbrella defense scheme

Editor's note: The Live Oak Philosopher on his grassy farm examines the newest idea in defense this week.

Dear Editor:

As I understand the latest idea for national defense, satellites bearing laser beams and all sorts of missile-detecting, aiming and firing devices would be put in circulation up in space.

When an enemy nuclear warhead came sailing toward us, the apparatus up there would spot it and before you could say Jack Robinson blast it out of the sky.

The system is being called an umbrella defense, forming a shield over the United States that'd make Soviet nuclear missiles as useless as Roman candles.

Naturally Russia would order its scientists to come up with an umbrella too, thus in turn making our nuclear missiles useless. Thus the threat of nuclear destruction of everybody and all their kinfolks would be eliminated.

The trouble with this idea is that it ignores the habit man has of not being satisfied with what he has. The world would be a lot safer place today if everybody had been satisfied with muzzle loaders. But some restless guy started tinkering with it and before long we had the repeating rifle and now the machine gun.

So some scientific inventors are going to say, look, we have all this money invested in nuclear weapons, it's a shame those umbrellas up there are keeping us from using them. They then invent a missile that can penetrate an umbrella.

Naturally this calls for a second umbrella to protect the first or then a third to protect the second, and so on at a total cost of all the money there is.

I don't know what'll happen when the world uses up all the money there is on defense, but I know this: it's a sure way to end the arms race.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Letters

I would like to commend you personally and your police department on the professional manner in which you handled the incident at our apartment complex. It showed your ability and understanding in dealing with other people.

In recent years we have heard of police brutality shootings, etc., but due to your quiet understanding of the situation it was handled in a most professional way.

Again, may I thank you and all involved parties. Marie H. Davis, Manager, Rockport Apartments

The above letter to the editor is about the incident on March 30 when a man held two hostages at the Rockport Apartments and Rockport Police Chief Joe Hinojosa played a significant role in their safe release.

The Oak Terrace Property Owners Association wish to publicly thank the volunteer fire departments of Rockport, Fulton and Lamar for their prompt attention to the brush fire that recently burned perilously close to some homes in Oak Terrace. The fire rekindled later in the day and once again the fire department responded. No homes were damaged thanks to the good work of these dedicated volunteers.

s/Ed Hegen, President Oak Terrace Property Owners Association

As a resident of "no man's land," namely the area between Rockport and Fulton wishes to annex, we believe the residents should be fully informed.

The City of Rockport has repeatedly published denials of any intentions of annexing this area. The business areas on Highway 35 were annexed by petition of property owners to Rockport in order to have city sewage services provided. Development of the Shopping Center was delayed until such time as Rockport could consider petition to annex and provide sewer services.

This Shopping Center with a new grocery store is needed in this community and will generate tax revenue to Rockport to pay for services provided.

Is it not a fact that the State found septic tank violations in Fulton and along the beach road, that is septic tanks within 500 feet of the water, and if they incorporated, were given five years to correct these sewage violations? The stinking water in the ditch along the road is not "spring water" and a serious threat to the health and welfare of the community. Are the sewage taps which Rockport has allotted to Fulton going only to the restaurant and motels in Fulton and beach area; will they pay the installation fees of the sewer lines; or will the residents of Fulton be taxed?

Is not the tax and funding problems of Bayside and Fulton similar? The Bayside problems have been made public.

Does Fulton provide police protection for their residents? What about street and drainage maintenance? Without these services and protection what does this do to property values and safety of residents? Do the residents of Fulton receive the benefit of lower city utility rates as Rockport provides their residents? We believe Fulton continues to pay rural rates which are considerably higher than city rates.

We do have a choice of reannexing under county services and protection if we do not petition Fulton for annexation.

What is the real truth of Fulton's annexation drive and of future taxation of residents? Should we not be approached with the facts rather than emotional half-truth rhetoric? Problems of Lamar and Bayside residents has been made public. The Township of Fulton expresses their need of this area for tax purposes — no services provided — emphasizing their lower tax rate. That's being invited to dinner and finding an empty plate.

Why would a resident enjoying freedom and protection of county living be willing to give that up to become a part of the problems of township of Fulton? The area known as Fulton was established years and years ago and always will be known in the future as Fulton as it has in the past. Would not the residents be better served to petition to dissolve the township — reduce their taxes and be provided police protection, street and drainage maintenance by county for which they are paying taxes?

Some revolutions occur more quietly than others

By SCOTT BURNS

Some revolutions occur more quietly than others.

On Tuesday, March 1, for instance, Keystone Custodian Funds Chairman George S. Bissell told a press meeting attended by three journalists that Keystone was adopting a new sales program. In the future, he said, individuals would be able to buy shares in Keystone funds with no sales charge.

If the plan is successful — and there is no reason to think it won't be — the traditional load fund with its 8.5 percent up-front commission soon will be as extinct as the dinosaur and dodo bird, relieving millions of saving Americans of the burden of investment sales commissions.

In case you're not familiar with mutual funds, you should know that they usually are categorized as "load" or "no-load":

No-load funds typically are sold through advertising to individuals who seek out and acquire a fund that meets their needs. Fidelity (Boston), Scudder Stevens and Clark (Boston), Dreyfus (New York) and T. Rowe Price (Baltimore) are examples of fund "families" built on no-load marketing.

Load funds usually are sold through broker-dealers, financial planners and insurance agents who help individuals find the appropriate fund (there are more than 500 of them) for their needs. Massachusetts Financial Services (Boston), Investors Diversified Services (Minneapolis) and Kemper (Chicago) are examples of fund "families" built on broker-dealer marketing. On most purchases, the sales commission is 8.5 percent, declining to a smaller rate for large purchases.

While securities salesmen will look you straight in the face and tell you that the 8.5 percent commission will be recovered by the superior management and performance of their fund, the sad fact is that the commission buys the investor absolutely nothing: The long-term performance of the average load fund is no different from that of the average no-load fund.

The $850 commission on a $10,000 investment, however, would grow to $13,600 over 20 years if the fund enjoyed an average compound growth rate of about 14 percent — no trifle. That's the price most people pay to have help in making a selection.

The interesting wrinkle in the Keystone plan is that Keystone funds still will be sold by broker-dealers and the individual salesmen still will be paid a commission.

In the future, the broker commission will be 4 percent. While the shareholder will not have to pay a commission on the sale, he will be liable for a penalty if the shares are redeemed too early. Like the penalty imposed by most tax-deferred annuities, the Keystone plan calls for a redemption charge of 4 percent, declining 1 percent a year until it disappears after four years.

What this means, in effect, is that the load funds finally have a tool for turning the tables on the no-load funds: While their customers won't have to pay a commission, they still will benefit from help in choosing the right fund for their needs — no small task.

That turning of the tables can't come a minute too soon.

While there has been great attention to the fantastic growth of the money market funds, relatively little has been said about the ongoing shrinkage of the older, more conventional mutual funds that specialize in common stocks and corporate bonds. This is particularly so with many of the older load funds.

In fact, without a change that will reverse the trend toward net redemptions (when more old shares are redeemed than new shares are sold), a number of load-fund companies are facing real trouble.

Keystone is a good case in point.

Services. As you can see, most of the funds enjoyed reasonable growth in assets per share, but the increase in TOTAL assets for each fund was substantially smaller.

Although the average fund appreciated 16 percent, the total increase in value for all the funds was only 4.9 percent, indicating substantial net redemptions. Since advisory income is based on assets under management, not assets per share, Keystone only managed to hold its own in a bang-up year for most of the investment business.

The bottom line?

Necessity is the mother of invention, and marketing. A move that will mean survival and success for Keystone also means a much better deal for mutual fund investors.

Permit request

The city of Port Aransas has filed for a permit to construct space for shrimp boats in the Municipal boat basin.

The applicant proposes to construct 15 pilings to be used to dock shrimp boats. No dredging or filling will be required.

A preliminary review of this application indicates that an environmental impact statement is not required. Since permit assessment is a continuing process, this preliminary determination of EIS requirement will be changed if data or information brought forth in the coordination process is of a significant nature.

New tax law brochure available

IRAs, pensions, medical deductions, estate and gift taxes, casualty insurance, annuities, universal life insurance — today's complex personal financial market is only getting more complex. And adding to these complexities are two recent tax laws passed by the federal government, each designed to produce different results. With all of these changes and options, what's a taxpayer to do?

"You and the New Tax Laws" is a free brochure offered by Aetna Life & Casualty, that addresses exactly that question. It briefly explains what Congress has done to the federal tax structure as it will affect you, the individual taxpayer.

It might help to first understand exactly what Congress intended to do with the two tax laws. The Economic Recovery Tax Act of 1981 (ERTA) was designed to help stimulate a sluggish economy by boosting individual savings power through a wide variety of vehicles and tax incentives. The most notable of these changes came in the form of an IRA, or Individual Retirement Account. Now anyone with 'earned income' — wages and salaries or commissions — can deposit up to $2,000 a year into a tax deferred retirement account. In effect, no tax is paid on the deposit or the earnings it generates until the money is withdrawn.

For example, if you are in the 50 percent tax bracket and deposit the allowable $2,000, you receive a $1,000 tax savings since you would ordinarily pay $1,000 of taxes on $2,000 of income. Under a provision passed in the 1982 tax act, a working person can now deposit an additional $250 a year into a non-working spouses' IRA. If both of you work, each can deposit up to $2,000, or $4,000 a year combined into an account. If contributions are made on a yearly basis, it would provide a large nest egg by the time retirement rolls around.

The second tax act passed by Congress came in 1982. Called the Tax Equity and Fiscal Responsibility Act of 1982 (TEFRA), it was designed to help reduce the federal deficit and to assure that the tax base was not overly diminished. To confuse things even further, some of the 1982 provisions directly affect some of the 1981 laws.

One feature of the 1982 tax act that will affect virtually every taxpayer is in regard to medical and casualty deductions. The 1982 act reduces the deduction allowed for medical expenses and creates a new 'floor,' or minimum amount that must be reached before a deduction can be taken. This 'floor' provision will take effect in 1983, and will rise from 3 percent to 5 percent of your adjusted gross income. In addition, beginning in 1983, you will not be able to deduct $150 of your paid health insurance premiums, as is currently allowed. That deduction will have to be included as part of the new 5 percent 'floor.' Beginning in 1984, drugs, which are now only partially deductible as a separate item, can be fully deducted — but, again, as part of the medical 'floor.'

On the casualty side, starting in 1983, casualty losses will be deductible only to the extent that each loss exceeds $100 and, most important, total losses during the year are more than 10 percent of your adjusted gross income.

For example, if your adjusted gross income is $20,000 a year, unless you reach $2,000 in losses for the entire year, you will not be allowed to take any casualty tax deduction.

Other provisions that are explained in "You and the New Tax Laws" are self-employed retirement plans and the newly defined "parity" between incorporated businesses and unincorporated businesses; stiffer rules and definitions of "top heavy" or "key employee" benefits that in effect lower retirement benefits for top executives and increase benefits — and costs — for lower level employees; estate and gift tax limits that will be continually raised until they virtually disappear by 1987; new stiffer rules regarding the withdrawal of money from an annuity and its taxable earnings; and new limits that can be paid as annual premiums on universal life insurance policies, along with its amount of cash-value, tax deferred savings.

The brochure is offered free of charge and can be obtained by writing Aetna Life & Casualty, "You and the New Tax Laws," Media Resources — DA06, 151 Farmington Ave., Hartford, Conn., 06156.

Although "You and the New Tax Laws" is a good place to start, to truly reap the maximum benefits of the game called "financial security," contact an expert, such as an accountant, independent insurance agent or tax lawyer. These new rules, passed by the federal government, make the game harder to play, but with a little fortitude and planning, you could come out on top.

Residential construction tops $1 million

Residential construction started in March in Rockport topped $1 million with single residences alone accounting for more than $700,000 of the total, according to figures on file at Rockport's City Hall.

Total construction values for the month amounted to $1,130,671.

March building totals were boosted by the beginning of construction in the new Peninsula Park West Subdivision. Developer D.L. Morrison started six new residences there during the latter part of the month. Total value of the new construction came to an estimated $452,038.

Another significant addition to the totals was a residence started March 16 in Harbor Oaks with an estimated value of $100,161.

Three other single residences added an additional $158,387 to the single-family residence total, and residential construction was further boosted by the start of another unit of The Condominiums of Rockport

Country Club, with an estimated value of $330,605.

That project, being developed in Rockport Country Club Estates Unit 1, is by Baker-Haldeman Development Co.

Commercial construction started during the month included a new building for Rockport Tire, valued at $20,000. The new structure is located on Bronte.

Residential additions and accessory buildings added another $47,090 to the March construction valuations and fence construction totalled $6,390 for the month. Permits were issued at City Hall for two swimming pools, one for $5,000 and one for $11,000.

Certain regulations apply to commercial tax preparers

If you choose to have your tax return completed by a commercial tax preparer, the IRS notes that you should be aware of certain regulations. In brief, your paid preparer is responsible for providing a copy of the completed return to you when you sign the return. Preparers are required to keep copies of returns or a list containing taxpayers' names and identification numbers for three years. These records must be available for IRS' inspection during this period.

Paid preparers are also required to sign completed returns and to provide their employer identification number on the return.

Rubber stamps and signature facsimiles are not acceptable.

The handling of your refund check is also regulated. Paid preparers (other than bank preparers) cannot endorse, cash or in any way negotiate a client's refund check. The preparer can be penalized $500 for each violation. In addition, understanding your tax liability can result in the preparer being penalized $500 for willful understatement or $100 for negligent or intentional disregard of rules and regulations.

If taxes continue to soar, you're going to have to work like a dog to live like one.

Developers kick off new project

Sales were kicked off last month on the first 61 lots of a $33-million, 192-acre bay-side residential development on Mustang Island. To date 27 lots have been sold.

Island Moorings is the name of the project being developed by Latitude 27, composed of 10 Rockport and Port Aransas investors.

Jim Pair, president of Latitude 27, said 265 residential sites will eventually be offered for sale over the next three to five years. Canal-front homesites in the first phase will be marketed for prices ranging from the low 40s.

Pair said the 61-lot initial development should be completed in May.

Plans also call for development of eight condominium sites, a yacht club, a 200-boat marina, a hotel site, retail shops and restaurants.

Investment partners in the development are Carl C. Krueger, Gordon Stanley, Alfred McMurry, George Taggart III and Alvino Valenzuela of Rockport and I.B. Magee, Bill Gaskins, Jim Magee, Pat Magee and Bill Gaskins all of Port Aransas.

The development, about a half mile south of Port Aransas on Park Road 53, will offer residents a 3,500-foot airstrip in the public airport which adjoins the property.

Island Moorings will have a public water supply, paved streets and gutters and underground utilities.

Varsity's Johnson goes to Regional

Junior Varsity takes first in District

First place in the Junior Varsity division, a second in the Freshman division and Stacey Johnson's advancement to the Varsity Regionals made this week's District tennis tournament worthwhile for Rockport-Fulton.

Johnson came in second in girls' singles finals, losing to Flour Bluff's Cindy Crawford 6-1, 6-0. Crawford is the fourth ranked girls' singles player in the state. Johnson's second place will take her to the Regional tournament in Corpus Christi April 22-23.

JV's Genny Davis and Jennifer Heldenfels were the girls' doubles champions, defeating a Calallen team 6-3, 3-6, 6-4. Eleazar Villarreal and Jody Garner came in second in boys' doubles, losing the finals to a Tuloso-Midway pair 1-6, 6-1, 6-1. Nathan Taggart lost in boys' singles finals, coming in second to Andy Land of Flour Bluff 6-4, 6-2 and Kathy Carter was a semi-finalist in girls' singles, losing 6-2, 6-2 to Jennifer Patton of Beeville, who went on to win the girls' singles finals.

Rockport-Fulton's first in the J.V. division left Beeville in second place and Tuloso-Midway in third.

The R-F Freshman team came in second after Tuloso-Midway, leaving Beeville in third place. Kim Meyer and Michele Dingenary were the girls' doubles champs, defeating Sinton's Casanova-Marez team 6-2, 7-5.

Regena Gatlin lost in the girls' singles semi-finals to Tiffany Hogany of Flour Bluff 6-2, 6-2 and Greg Norrell lost 6-4, 6-1 to a Tuloso-Midway player in boys' singles.

Varsity doubles team Matt Kovacs and Jim Booth were semi-finalists, losing to a Beeville team 6-1, 6-3 and Inasia Contreras and Mary Gonzales lost in the girls' doubles semi-finals to a Calallen pair 6-2, 6-1. Rockport-Fulton was fifth in the overall Varsity standings, with Beeville taking the first place spot.

Derek Andrew and Mark Luigi won matches in the Varsity boys' singles play and Wade Taggart won a match in the JV boys' singles match.

Other tournament participants were Gavin Naquin, Randy Blankinship, Juan Sanches, Bill Stark, Laurie Atkinson, Lisa Sintay and Fermin Garcia.

Also Dolly Lopez, Arlene Schults, Erica Chupe, Tim Arthur, Tim Chavez, Jennifer Cisneros, Kim Britzius, Lorena Short, Dwight Fake and Tim Hubbard.

Girls' District Track Meet Saturday

THE R-F GIRLS' TRACK team competes in the District 15-4A tournament this weekend. If their performance in the Sinton tri-meet last week is any indication, the girls should make a good showing. Carla Perkins, Pam Willett and Debbie Allen all took home firsts from Sinton, in the 100 meters, 100-meter hurdles and 800 meters, respectively, and other teammates did well. Team members Kelly Mack (left) and Shannon Liggett are shown here.

Pirates defeat Beeville

The Pirate Varsity and Junior Varsity, at home Tuesday night, handed Beeville a pair of defeats. After the JV's 9-8 game, highlighted by 20 steals, the Varsity took a 1-0 victory in 10 innings, moving their District record up to 3-1.

The Pirate JV trailed 3-1 in the bottom of the first, with Mark Garcia scoring the only run. Despite three errors, they came back in the second, with Mark Dennis and Rene Cordova matching Beeville's two runs and by the bottom of the third had tied the game 5-5. Gonzalez, with his second run of three, and Javier Olivarez handed in the two that tied the game.

R-F went scoreless in the fourth, while Beeville picked up one but the Pirates came back in the fifth, catching three Beeville fly balls in a row. Garcia turned in his third run of the night and Rockport went into the sixth tied 6-6. Armando Martinez and Ron Yates each had a run in the sixth, making it 8-6.

Beeville came back strong in the seventh with two runs, but John Soliz gave the Pirates their last run and broke the tie.

In the Varsity game, Tim Redden, 5-2 for the season, struck out two batters in the first and second innings, let one walk at the top of the third, then struck out three in a row.

Redden went on to take down six more batters and in the tenth, Rudy Zavala's single to left field took Rudy Soliz home for the Pirates' only run.

Soccer score correction

In Wednesday's article on soccer standings, the single goal in the 1-0 Cosmos vs. Tornadoes game was credited to Cosmos player Paul Wilson when in fact the goal was kicked in by mistake by Tornadoes player James Griffith off a kick by the Cosmos' Brandi Brundrett.

some of our points and I think it will probably hurt them in the long run. We're going to be at our peak for this meet."

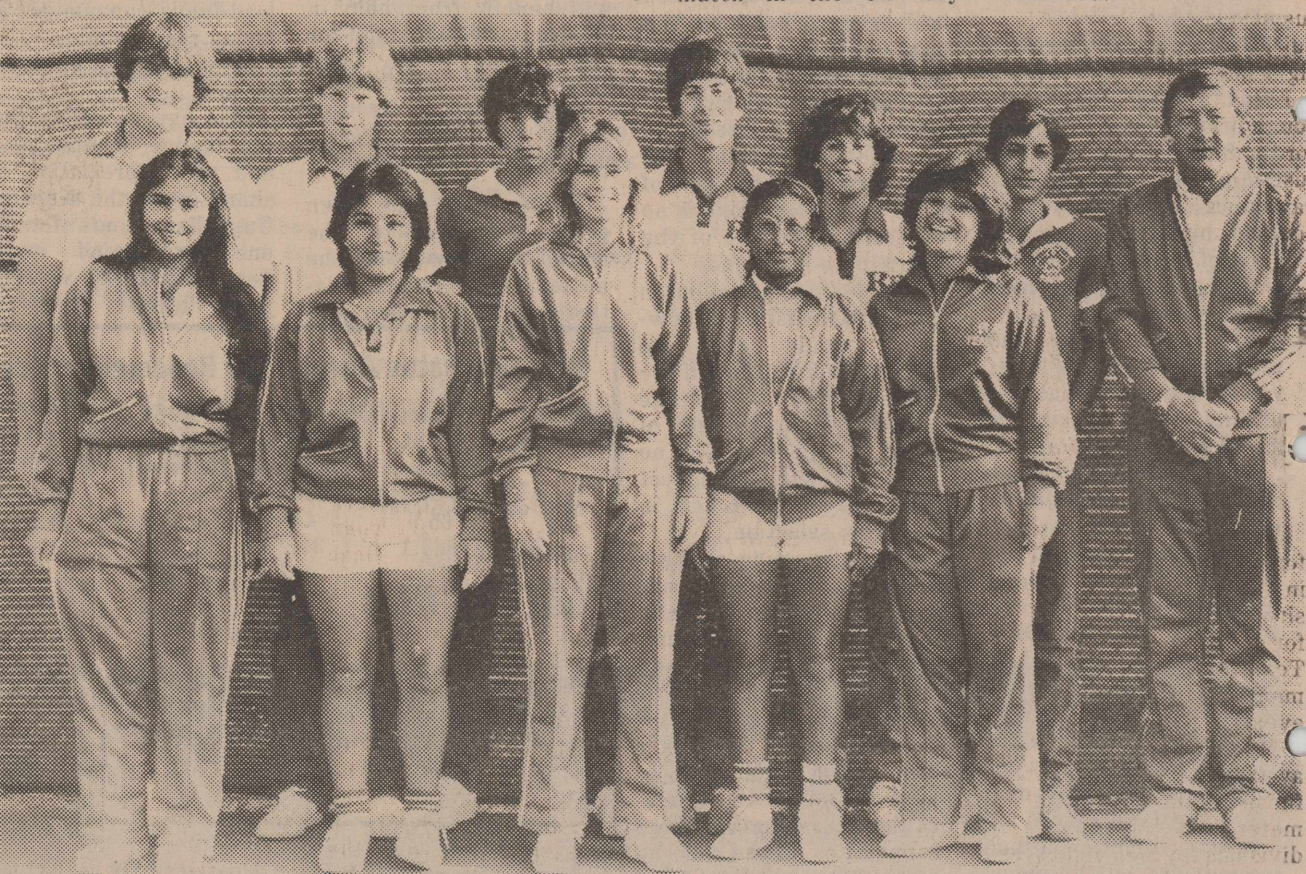

As Daws says, there's a lot of talent on the Pirate team, including one of the best sprinters in the state, Dwayne Walls. Walls, a junior this year is the District and Regional leader in the 100 and 200 meter.

Senior Charlie Ochoa and juniors Darren Gurley and Greg Shellenberger are first, second and third in district shot-put ratings.

David Ramirez and Domaso Galvan, both seniors, are strong contenders for the 800 and 1600 meters and Walls and his sophomore brother Trinelle are district leaders in the jumping events.

Daws sums up the team's long-range goals: "We want to win the title. We want to qualify as many people as possible for Regional. Then we want to qualify as many as possible for State. "The school's had a good spring — lots of students have done well, the band, literary people, the choir. We want to add to that," says Daws. "We want the community to come out and support us. "We want to start a tradition of being winners."

'Wearing of the Green'

Coach hopes to bring District title home

"We're going to bring the District title back to Rockport and we need the community there to support us," states RFHS track coach Bill Daws.

That's what "Wearing of the Green" Day is all about. Saturday, April 23, is the date of the District 15-4A track meet in Sinton and Daws and his track team hope to see "a green wave" of support from Rockport-Fulton.

"We're asking people to wear green on April 23 and support the boys," says Daws. "At the District meet two years ago, there was a whole section of the Sinton stands in green — there must have been a hundred or more people from Rockport, shouting and yelling for the boys — and it really motivated them. They need to know that there's somebody there. They won the title that day."

"We want even more people there this year — they're going to be wearing the green and we'll carry the gold."

Of his team, Daws says, "We're leading the District as far as talent. We surprised a lot of people at the last Sinton meet. We'd been up against 5-A teams at our first three meets and really scoring well against them. It helped the kids to mature and that showed at Sinton." The Pirates walked — or ran — away with the Sinton Invitational meet, racking up nearly 150 points, 70 points ahead of the second place team. Every team in District 4-A was at the meet, held March 26.

Looking forward to the District meet, Daws anticipates many teams changing their usual strategies in an attempt to take points away from the Pirates. "We're the team to beat, there's no doubt about it. I think other teams may try to dwell on just a few strengths to take away

A savage curse has brought tears, heartbreak and suffering to three leading ladies of the smash musical comedy Woman Of The Year — and has even struck at the show itself.

First, Lauren Bacall — the original star — lost her lover. Then, her replacement, Raquel Welch lost her unborn child. And now, Debbie Reynolds has been stricken with a mysterious, paralyzing illness — that was at first thought to have been a stroke.

"All this tragedy has really spooked everyone," says a source at the Palace Theater in New York. "One mishap is bad luck, two is suspicious — but three in quick succession is downright eerie."

Ironically, things couldn't have looked rosier for Woman — or its stars — just a year ago. Bacall won rave reviews in the role of a tough newspaperwoman who falls in love with a beer-swilling sportswriter. And when she and leading man Harry Guardina started talking love and marriage, it was like a fairy tale come true — until he decided to leave the show and they had a massive falling out.

"She chewed him out viciously," says Richard Crowe, a former Palace employee. "She backed herself into a corner and gave him no choice but to sling some mud himself. It finished their romance and ruined a beautiful 15-month partnership."

When Bacall quit the show the coveted leading role went to Raquel, who surprised everyone by propelling Woman Of The Year to even greater heights of success. Then the actress learned she was expecting the child she and husband Andre Weinfeld wanted so badly. With tears of happiness streaming from her eyes, she left the show — only to tragically lose the child by miscarriage four months later.

Finally, Debbie Reynolds was winning accolades hand-over-fist for her own performance when tragedy struck again. The blonde veteran mysteriously collapsed onstage and had to be rushed to the hospital.

Seven months ago, taking Horace Greeley's advice in reverse, Publisher Michael Edrei purchased a passel of substantial newstand monthly magazines from a West Coast publishing group to bring East at the earliest time. Thus on March 21, in keeping with the advent of Spring 1983, Metropolitan New York media will be able to welcome an important group of publications in D.S. Magazines' own newly completed building.

D.S. Magazines will hold an Open House where Mr. Edrei and his staff will play host to over 200 invited guests including Hollywood and TV personalities, advertising people, writers and friends.

The D.S. Building, in Cresskill, New Jersey, will be the new headquarters for "Tiger Beat," "the Teen Magazine," "Tiger Beat Star," "the Fan Magazine," "Daytimers," "Real Life," "Right On!" and "Class" ... in addition to a host of bi-monthly and quarterly titles that appear on newstands across the country. During the past seven months, in addition to the logistical requirements of physically relocating the Los Angeles offices and all editorial and art people, utilizing six 48-foot trailers, Michael Edrei and his staff worked and traveled coast-to-coast during that period and logged over 100,000 flying miles, keeping the magazines on schedule and at the same time bringing new editorial concepts to the magazines during the transition period.

Even now, new editors and writers are being added to the nucleus staff to further the new ideas. Upon taking over the reins of the company, 40 year old Edrei was determined to make an exciting enterprise out of his operation.

The Queen of N.Y.C.'s Helmsley Palace Hotel is also the Queen of Hearts. We are referring, of course, to Leona Helmsley, who just raised $400,000 for a new American Heart Association building in Orlando, Fla., in honor of her late son, Jay R. Panzner. Jay was a major contributor and fund-raiser for the American Heart Association in Orlando.

Ms. Helmsley raised the funds at a celebrity-studded golf tournament recently. She was helped in her efforts by such notables as Carol Channing, Florida Governor Bob Graham and TV star, Jared Martin.

Steve Barkett has done the impossible. In a world where everyone wants to produce a film, and talks about it, but never can get it together — he has done it. He made "Aftermath" for only $250,000 — a shoestring budget by Hollywood standards.

The Steve Barkett story is in the April issue of Gallery. Steve wrote, directed and produced the movie. His wife, Lynne Margulies co-stars with Steve. His children are featured. Even his brother has a walk-on role.

"Aftermath" is the story of three astronauts who return after 14 months in space to a world devastated by nuclear and biological warfare.

Here go Liz Taylor and Richard Burton making headlines again. This time it's for becoming B'way highest-paid performers, playing in a role that should be a piece of cake for them — that of a divorced couple in "Private Lives."

The play's producer, Zev Bufman, will not put a price tag on Liz and Dick's salaries — but adds that they will be paid more "than any star has received in any Broadway play."

It's a Noel Coward comedy and Bufman is taking no chances on his high-paid performers. He's taken out $3¼ million worth of insurance on Taylor and Burton, who have twice wed and twice split. "These are high figures," said Bufman in a bit of understatement. "But it's the kind of insurance I had for Sandy Duncan in 'Peter Pan.'"

You don't suppose he's gonna put Liz and Dick on wires?

Auto racing and the desire to save his marriage were the two factors that helped superstar Paul Newman stop his heavy drinking. "When I was in my forties I drank heavily. I spilled more beer every morning before breakfast than I go through in a day now."

"What made me stop?

Well, when you find yourself hanging from chandeliers in major hotels, from general exuberance, then you have to stop. And I did — after two years." Newman explained his reason for drinking heavily. "I drank because it made the day seem important. It helped not to register all the important things I could have done and didn't." His drinking, he said, began to put a strain on his marriage to actress Joanne Woodward.

'Run for Fun' event

KINGSVILLE — Run for the ribbon or just for fun in the Texas A&I University ROTC's annual "Run for Fun" on April 16. The Texas A&I Ranger Detachment is sponsoring the event.

Medallions will be awarded to the first three finishers in the 10-kilometer race in five age divisions for men and three age groups for women. The youngest and the oldest finishers in both the 10-K and the two-mile fun run will receive special award ribbons. All finishers will receive a participant's ribbon.

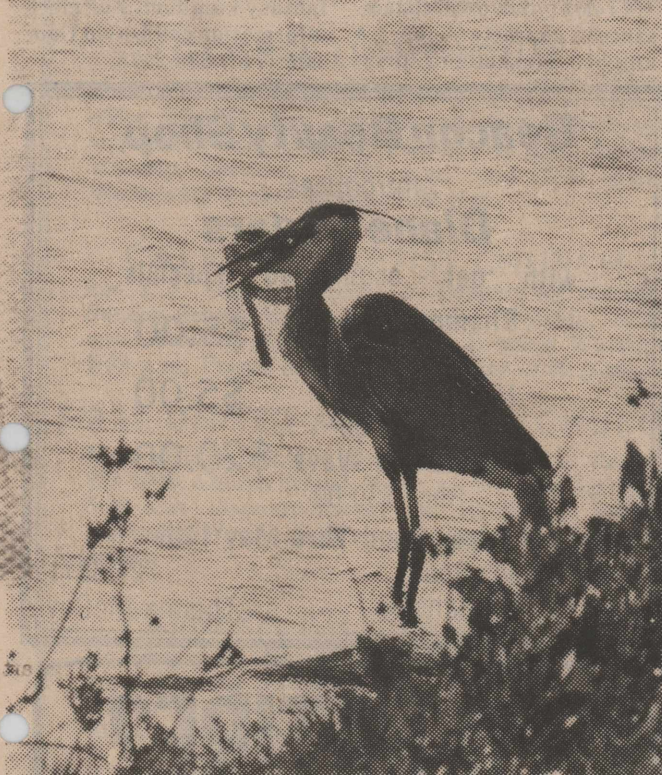

T-shirts will be given to the first 50 entries in the 10-kilometer event. Pre-registration must be completed by April 9 to be eligible for the T-shirt. Late registration will be held from 7:30 - 8:20 a.m. on April 16.

The race begins at 8 a.m. at the ROTC Building. Brownsville senior 2LT Daniel Cantu, a business administration major at Texas A&I and publicity coordinator, says the course is "fast and flat."

Entry fees for the 10-K are $6 general and $5 for Texas A&I students with identification. The two-mile fun run is $4.

For registration forms write Cantu at, Texas A&I ROTC Department, P.O. Box 2009, Kingsville, Tx. 78363.

Bon appetit!

By Ann Thomas
FUDDGE TARTS

1 cup sugar
1/2 cup oleo (room temperature)
2 egg yolks
2 ounces unsweetened chocolate

1/2 cup flour, sifted
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/8 teaspoon salt
2 egg whites
Cream oleo until soft and blend with sugar; beat egg yolks into this mix. Melt chocolate and cool before beating it into mix. Add flour and vanilla. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Fold in. Fill unbaked tart shells and bake at 300° F. 20-25 minutes. Serve plain or with whipped topping.

Yield depends upon size of tart shells used but recipe is equivalent to a 9-inch pie.

QUICK PEANUT BUTTER KISS TARTS

1 stick frozen peanut butter cookies
1 bag mini peanut butter cups candies

Slice cookies and place one slice in each muffin tin. Mold gently to form cup. Bake as directed.

When done, remove from oven and immediately place one candy in each cup and allow to melt by placing entire tin back in warm oven briefly (without turning oven on). Remove, cool and watch them disappear!

IMPOSSIBLE PIE

4 eggs, beaten
1/2 stick butter, melted
1/4 cup biscuit mix
3/4 cup sugar
2 cups milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup coconut

Mix first three ingredients. Add other ingredients and mix well. Pour into greased pie pan and bake 1 hour at 350° F.

This pie makes its own crust! What more could a busy homemaker ask?

I hope you enjoy these easy and quick-to-prepare desserts. Until next week, bon appetit!

Citrus trees have much landscape potential

Texas homeowners may find an interesting and attractive addition to their landscapes with the use of citrus trees. Certain varieties of satsumas, tangerines and kumquats are well adapted to large areas of South Texas and can be effective as specimens, hedges, mass plantings, espalier and container plants.

Citrus offer color and interest over a long period of time during the year, especially kumquats. These plants tend to be either in fruit or flower most of the year.

Citrus thrive on high light intensity. For best results, container citrus should be grown outside the year-round where the climate permits. Because of their large root systems, citrus require large containers, good drainage and frequent watering. They are less susceptible to freeze damage when grown in the ground.

Homeowners who do not wish to go to the effort of protecting the young trees and fruit each time a 25 degree F. freeze is predicted should only plant cold hardy varieties.

Citrus that are the most cold hardy are kumquats, satsumas and certain tangerines. One or two years are required for grafted plants to bear fruit. For best growth, citrus needs at least four feet of drained soil. Avoid soils with high caliche content or excessive salt. If you must plant in heavy, poorly drained soils, dig a hole at least three feet in diameter and two feet deep, and fill with good top soil to at least 10-12 inches above the surrounding area.

Even with these precautions, trees planted in this type of soil will not grow as well as those in desirable soil types.

CONGRATULATIONS! Kristen Melissa Kemp was born Easter morning at the Corpus Christi Osteopathic Hospital, weighing 6 pounds, 10 1/2 ounces. She is the first daughter for Gail and Terry Kemp and she has a young brother, Joshua Paul. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Hilson of Dallas and paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Kemp of Rockport.

Rev. John Norvell felt a little foolish and quite embarrassed Easter morning. He was to take part in the Easter sunrise services but because of a misunderstanding of time, showed up when it was all over.

CONGRATULATIONS! Donna and Audie Nelson are the proud parents of their firstborn, Amber Gayle, who weighed 6 pounds. She was born March 21 in Spohn Hospital. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. D.E. Woodall of San Antonio and paternal grandparents are

Mr. and Mrs. D.D. Nelson, also of San Antonio.

Rev. and Mrs. C.J. Molmen have returned from a week-long trip to Irving to visit the Reverend's father, John Mohon, and his wife, Louise, and their daughter, Mrs. Raymond Little, and her family. When the Molmens returned to Rockport their daughter, Lavonne Smith, and her son, Sid, from Tyler paid them a four-day visit.

Rev. John Goodwin, who recently underwent surgery at St. Mary's Hospital in Galveston, has returned home.

Clouis Fisher is at home after being in Spohn Hospital for surgery. The staff at Alfred Edge is sure glad to have him back to work.

CONGRATULATIONS! Penny and Bob Frye are first-time parents of a son, Cody Lee, who weighed 9 pounds 11 ounces when he was born in the Osteopathic Hospital in Corpus Christi on March 10. Maternal grandmother is Marie Canterbury of Bell Garden, Calif., and paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. William Clay of Glendale, Ariz.

Nine residents of Taylor Oak Trailer Park took time out of their busy schedules to entertain the patients at the Aransas Pass Nursing Home. Chairman of this group of Taylor Oak Singers is Bettie Matson. Other singers are Elaine McKinley, Monta Bell, Thelma and Dave Brotton, Clara Nelson, Audrey Justin and Francis Grimm.

Irene Hopper had her two nieces, Angela C. Stella from Colorado Springs, Colo., and Mrs. George N. Coronis from Houston visiting her for several days.

Mary Wilkins is excited about visitors that will be coming Sunday — her daughter and family, Capt. and Mrs. Neulon D. Jackson, and their daughters, Sara and Lucinda, who have been in London and have now returned to the states for reassignment in Las Vegas, Nev.

Houseguests this week in the home of Myrt and Dub Blocker are Lucille and Jim Peatross from Houston. Elizabeth and Bob Strodt had their daughter, Barbara, from Corpus Christi visiting them during Easter.

Mr. and Mrs. C.A. (Tommy) Skrobacek had Mr. and Mrs. John B. Puckett and sons Byron and Andrew from Brownsville and Mr. and Mrs. Val J. Link and daughter Jennifer from Houston visiting them for the holidays.

Mrs. W.C. Calhoun and her granddaughter, Roberta Mills, spent the Easter weekend in Hempstead seeing relatives who were ill.

During the holiday weekend Mr. and Mrs. James Bailey had their son, James Jr., and his wife from Hondo visiting them.

Mr. and Mrs. George Williams had their daughter and her family, Mr. and Mrs. R.L. Sherinski, and their sons, Lawrence and Justin, from Kenner, La., visiting them over the Easter weekend.

Jeanne Rutledge had Mrs. J.H. Neumann and Sandy Hartmann from Houston visiting over the weekend.

Gail Satsky spent Easter weekend visiting friends in Humble and Spring.

Nan Irwin hosted a birthday celebration in her home Easter Sunday in honor of Mary Kathryn Townsend. Twelve guests attended the dinner party and brought gifts to Mary, who was served a beautifully decorated cake.

Fred Arkell spent the weekend in San Antonio with his children, Erica and Steve.

Donna and Billy Arkell went to Victoria to be with Donna's parents, Betty and Herb Wende, over the weekend.

WELCOME! Mr. and Mrs. Leon Karr from Helotes, who have purchased a second home on Key Allegro.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Greenfield spent Easter weekend in Mexico with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Herb Welsch had their son, Gary, and his wife, Vicki Welsch, from Houston visiting them over the weekend.

Vance Greek captivated his audience Tuesday evening at the Fulton Community Church with his gospel concert. This is his first appearance here. Along with his wife, Donna, and their son, Stephen, who came from the Full Gospel Business Men's Association convention in Houston, he spent several days here.

On Easter Sunday in the Recreation Hall at Travel Trailer Haven, Betty Yates, Vera Barth, Donna Bussy and Mary Kistler played hostesses to 50 residents and their guests for a ham and potluck dinner.

Not by bread alone

Man does not live by bread alone, but by beauty and harmony, truth and goodness, work and recreation, affection and friendship, aspiration and worship.

Not by bread alone, but by the splendor of the firmament at night, the glory of the heavens at dawn, the blending of colors at sunset, the loveliness of magnolia trees, the magnificence of mountains.

Not by bread alone, but by the majesty of ocean breakers, the shimmer of moonlight on a calm lake, the flashing silver of a mountain torrent, the exquisite patterns of snow crystals, the creations of artists.

Not by bread alone, but by the sweet song of a mockingbird, the rustle of the wind in the trees, the magic of a violin, the sublimity of a softly lighted cathedral.

Not by bread alone, but by the fragrance of roses, the scent of orange blossoms, the smell of new-mown hay, the clasp of a friend's hand, the tenderness of a mother's kiss.

Not by bread alone, but by the lyrics of poets, the wisdom of sages, the holiness of saints, the biographies of great souls.

Not by bread alone, but by comradeship and high adventure, seeking and finding, serving and sharing, loving and being loved.

Man does not live by bread alone, but by being faithful in prayer, responding to the guidance of the Holy Spirit, finding and doing the loving will of God now and eternally.

Lutheran church members explore faith

Members of the congregation of Peace Lutheran Church will be involved in a personal examination of their faith and how they fit as part of the church during a series of special services starting later this month at the church.

The series of "personal renewal experiences" will begin during 9:45 a.m. services Sunday, April 17, according to Peace Lutheran pastor, Rev. Wayne Pafk, and will continue through May 22 with bi-weekly meetings at 7 p.m. Wednesdays and 10 a.m. each Thursday.

Book on peace offered free

A book explaining how a person can enjoy peace of mind is being offered free by co-authors Edwin and Mable Purviance of Asheville, N.C.

The book, "I've Got to Have Peace of Mind, God!", is now in its fourth printing. "Because so many persons these days are searching for peace of mind, we felt this printing of our book should be given to anyone manifesting an interest," Purviance said.

He added, "We will mail a free autographed copy to anyone who writes to us, and no strings are attached to the offer."

A free copy of the book may be obtained by writing Edwin and Mable Purviance, Box 18145, Asheville, Nc. 28814.

The workshop will be in fellowship hall of Rockport's First United Methodist Church.

A time for all things

There is a very large part of the Bible which can be received by us only when we come into the places for which the words were given.

There are promises for weakness which we can never get while we are strong. There are words for times of danger which we can never know while we need no protection. There are consolations for sickness whose comfort we can never get while we are in robust health.

There are promises for times of loneliness, when men walk in solitary ways, which never can come with real meaning to us while loving companions are by our side. There are words for old age which we never can appropriate for ourselves along the years of youth, when the arm is strong, the blood warm, the heart brave.

God cannot show us the stars while the sun shines in the heavens.

— J.R. Müller

"There is no peace," says the Lord, "for the wicked."

And it all started with a windmill...

By PAT BLAIR

If it hadn't been for the windmill in his backyard, Bill Tilden might never have been asked by a certain grocery company to make nine cement birds for their new store...

It began, Bill says, back in 1976 when he and his wife, Cindy, moved into their home in Fulton. He'd just retired then, from Texaco, but he promptly turned around and took another job, with Texas Star Oil Co. in Corpus Christi, and at the same time, he went to work renovating his and Cindy's new home — a century-old house on 2nd Street.

One of Bill's projects was putting up the windmill in the backyard. "Ninety days after we moved in here," he said during a recent interview at his residence, "that windmill caused me to have five heart attacks in 10 days — two at home and three at the hospital. I had the best doctor in the world — he pulled me through."

After that narrow brush, Bill decided it was time to slow down, not only at home, but on the job. He cut his work week down to three days — then he started looking around for something (not too strenuous) to fill in all those extra hours.

"I started woodworking first," he said. "I was always interested in making things with my hands." He made a few things — including about 40 lamps on block-and-tackle bases — then, because he "decided I'd like to try it," he started experimenting with making birds in cement.

"I made some sea gull molds with plaster of paris, then poured the cement in," he says. "The first ones were horrible!"

But he kept experimenting, until "finally, I discovered the secret of keeping the cement from sticking to the plaster of paris."

For a while, about three years, Bill exhibited his birds, mostly sea gulls, in Rockport's SeaFair and the annual Art Festival. "But it got to be a chore, so I just stopped doing it. Since then, it's been a hobby."

He does make a little money from it, he added. "I've probably got a half-dozen good customers." But he doesn't actively pursue it.

Customers, however, sometimes come looking for him — which is what happened recently. The manager of interior decorating for H.E.B., who had apparently seen some of Bill's sea gulls at a SeaFair, contacted him through Estelle Stair in Rockport and ordered nine birds — eight sea gulls in various poses and one pelican — to be mounted on pilings near the fresh seafood area planned in the new store.

Actually, Bill says, the birds are "a cooperative deal." He pours the molds to cast the birds, then gives them a base coat of exterior white paint, then Cindy adds the detail paint — black caps for some, the eyes, wings and wing-markings, legs and bills... "The sea gull comes alive when she touches it," Bill adds.

Bill was born in Vermont — in January (he was also married in a January, retired in January and he and Cindy moved to this area in a January) — raised in Massachusetts "and fell in love with Texas" when in 1941, Texaco loaned him to the ordinance department for the war effort. His job there involved testing of fuels and lubricants and in 1946, when an opening came with Texaco as an automotive engineer in Texas — Bill took it.

He remained with the company for 37 years, until, at age 57, he took early retirement. By then, he and Cindy had been coming to Fulton on visits from their Houston home for about three or four years. "We had a little travel trailer," Bill said, "and we'd come down for weekends, holidays." They bought a house in Rockport — "It was too big for a weekend," Bill said, "but it was so attractively priced we had to have it," then they bought the house in Fulton. Bill's retirement became effective on Jan. 1, 1976. Five days later, he added, they came to Fulton. By then they'd decided the smaller house was better suited to their needs.

"We had actually rented it to someone," Bill recalled. "When we decided to move down here, we had to tell the renters to move..."

"We've been happy with this place," he added. "It's old and small, but it fits our needs."

He and Cindy have been told it's the Old Simpson House, and it's reputed to be more than 100 years old. "We've run into probably 20 people who claim to have lived in it," Bill said. He's been told the house was built in Bayside and was at some point floated across the bay to Fulton where it was moved to its present site. Bill added he and Cindy "are trying to piece together the history of it."

The Tildens have been married for 10 years, the second time around for both of them. Cindy has no children from her first marriage; Bill has a son, living now in Houston, from his previous marriage.

Bill's other projects include a garden in the backyard, where he grows a few vegetables, and while Cindy was Fulton's city secretary for a little more than two years, he did some volunteer work for the town — including getting the town hall painted and having the seal made for the front door.

But what he enjoys most is making his birds. He confines his work to sea gulls and an occasional pelican: "I tried plovers at one point," he said, "but it takes more time for smaller birds." He averages around 15 birds a month, "sometimes more, sometimes less." And he does sell a few through one gallery in Rockport and one in Corpus Christi. He's currently planning to give some seagulls to the Rockport Area Chamber of Commerce to adorn the Chamber's new sign.

And it all started with a windmill...

BILL DOES THE CASTING but it's Cindy, whose touch "makes them come alive," says Bill of his cement pelicans and

Throw fish back gently

AUSTIN — Fishing is more popular than ever in Texas, judging from an analysis of fishing license sales.

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials said computer projections of sales anticipated through Aug. 31 indicate approximately 3.3 million persons will have fished during the current fiscal year. The total includes 3 million freshwater fishermen and 1.2 million saltwater fishermen. Many anglers fish both water types.

Revenue from sales of the various fishing licenses sold by the department is expected to rise from 1982's $1.8 million to $2.2 million in 1983, an increase of some 21 percent.

Fisheries Research Analyst Al Green said his predictions are based on a five-year license sales pattern and percentages from a 1979 mail survey.

Green said the data includes totals of both resident and nonresident fishing licenses and the resident combination hunting and fishing license.

During the past five years, TP&WD employees interviewed more than 50,000 boat fishermen as part of the agency's coastal fishery management program.

Data collected from anglers provides information on game fish distribution and numbers, as well as fishing pressure in the various bay systems.

The 150 interview days per bay system per year are accomplished by about 14 personnel.

Gary Matlock, assistant director of coastal fisheries, said these numbers did not include a considerable amount of data collected through interviews with pier and bank fishermen.

Matlock said fishing surveys such as this are combined with other sampling techniques such as net surveys, commercial landings, charter boat surveys and tagging studies to monitor overall fish populations and movement.

"Minimum length limits such as the 16-inch minimum on redfish (14 inches in Cameron County) and 12 inches for speckled trout will work as a conservation measure only if fishermen handle the undersized fish carefully," TP&WD biologist Kenneth Rice says.

Rice offers the following tips for getting fish back into the water in a healthy condition:

— Play and release the fish as quickly as possible. Try to keep it in the water as much as possible. Allowing a fish to flop around on a hard surface is often fatal.

— Handle the fish gently. Use gloves, or at least be sure your hands are wet before handling the fish, to avoid rubbing off the fish's protective coating of mucus. Always avoid touching the gills.

— Try to handle the fish by the lower lip if possible, but with some toothy saltwater species it's advisable to use special fish-handling pliers designed expressly for that purpose. Don't tear a hook out of a fish's mouth. Remove it with pliers if it is not deeply hooked; otherwise, cut the leader and leave the hook in.

Fewer drownings noted last year

Drownings and water-related fatalities decreased during 1982, the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department said.

Water safety officials documented 531 drownings during the year, compared to 572 in 1981 and 575 in 1980.

Swimming accounted for the most victims, with 164 deaths; falls, 75; fishing, 53; wading, 44; and 36 miscellaneous. A total of 27 persons died in accidents where motor vehicles fell into the water.

There were 181 deaths in lakes; 96 in rivers; 60 in tanks, ponds and pits; 54 in the gulf and bays; 54 in creeks, bayous, resacas and streams; and 52 in pools.

Approximately 67 percent of the fatalities involved persons under 25 years old. Of these, 73 percent were males and 27 percent were females.

Drinking and/or drugs were involved in the chain of circumstances leading to 116 deaths, or 13 percent. Officials said this may not be entirely accurate since some witnesses are reluctant to tell officials that their relative or friend was intoxicated.

Have a problem? Need advice? Curious about what's in store for you? If the answer is yes, Sister Teresa may be able to help. Sister Teresa is a palm and card reader. She can tell her clients about their past, present and future, as well as advise them in their business endeavors and personal relationships.

"You don't have to tell me anything," she says. "I'll tell you everything." Teresa says that her predictions are extremely accurate. She should know - she's been a palm reader "all her life."

"It's a gift. I didn't learn this in school or from a book. It's no game or joke."

she emphasizes. She learns about a person from the lines etched on their palm - she can see their past, present and future, and can advise them from there.

Teresa says that the cards tell her a lot more about someone's past and future than their palm does, but that it takes more time to read the cards than it does to read a palm. She estimates that it takes anywhere from 30 minutes to one hour for a card reading and from 15 to 30 minutes for a palm reading.

Those seeking assistance from Sister Teresa may call 729-2958 for an appointment. Her address is 310 Concho [off Hwy. 35].

Mayhood, doing business at 1724 Maple, Rockport, Texas, will be dissolved and that after March 31, 1983, the business will be conducted without change of name by Mayhood International Travel Agency, Inc., transferee, a Texas corporation, at 1724 Maple, Rockport, Texas. This notice is given pursuant to Article 1302.202 of the Texas Miscellaneous Corporation Laws Act and Section 6.103(7) of the Texas Business and Commerce Code.

PUBLIC NOTICE

CALLED MEETING
ADJUSTMENT
CITY HALL - APRIL 25, 1983 - 5:00 P.M.

Notice is hereby given that a Called Meeting will be held by the Board of Adjustment of the city of Rockport, Texas on the 25th day of April 1983, at 5:00 P.M. at the City Hall. The following will be heard at the Called Meeting.

Request of H.E. Butt Grocery Company, Charles F. Blackburn, Director of Real Estate, for the granting of a variance to the Rockport Zoning Ordinance No. 497, that would allow a sign approximately 45 feet in height, consisting of double pylon structure with a 226 sq. feet H.E.B. sign on the top and a 78 sq. foot sign, along with three 52 sq. feet signs below.

Rockport Zoning Ordinance Section 4-5.08 requires a maximum square foot area not to exceed a total of 100 square feet for all faces (dimensionally); and no sign shall be over 25 feet above ground level. The sign location will be at the site of the new H.E.B. Grocery Store.

Any interested party attending the Called Meeting shall have the opportunity to be heard.

Rockport Area Board of Realtors prepares Private Property Week

"As the members of this local Board of Realtors celebrate the importance of homeownership and the rights accompanying private property ownership April 10-16, designated by the National Association of Realtors as Private Property Week, we like to talk to the public about our professional goals. You see, we are not just real estate licensees. Not at all.

"Before we can call ourselves Realtors, we must join the National Association of Realtors and meet their strict professional standards of practice and we must swear by their Code of Ethics. We take a lot of pride in following these obligations because we are convinced that our clients receive excellent service because of these obligations." This comment came here this week from Meece Casterline, president of the Rockport Area Board of Realtors.

"Now that economic indicators are brighter for everyone ready to return to the home market, Realtors will be much busier, but that does not mean that we will forget what our Code of Ethics says. Let me run through briefly some of the charges that are made to new Realtors when they become members of the local board.

"Our board members are asked to keep themselves informed on matters affecting real estate in the community, state and nation, so they can give their clients reliable counseling. This includes knowing about real estate laws, proposed legislation, governmental regulations, public policies and market trends.

"It is the duty of a Realtor to protect the public against fraud in representation and illegal practices in all real estate.

"Here is something our clients should remember. Whenever a Realtor accepts the responsibility of becoming the agent for a buyer or seller, he pledges to protect and promote the interests of the client. This fidelity is primary. The Realtor should also maintain a climate of fairness to all parties involved in completing a transaction.

"It is also a fact that every Realtor or Associate should exaggeration, misrepresentation or concealment of pertinent facts. He has an affirmative obligation to discover adverse facts that a reasonably prudent and diligent investigation would disclose. This is actually quoting from the National Association of Realtors' Code of Ethics. You can see with such admonishments, why we stress our professional attitudes and why we are proud of our standards and guard their adherence. This explanation was of Meece Casterline's statement made in connection with PPW activities.

The NAR Code of Ethics contains numerous instructions. The comments made by the president pointed to some of the more important facets of the code governing all Realtors.

'Paper Chase' returns

The first episode of the newly produced "The Paper Chase: The Second Year" airs Friday, April 15 on Showtime.

Showtime's seven new episodes, the first hour-long dramatic series on pay-TV, were produced by Twentieth Century-Fox Television and features members of the original cast, including John Houseman and James Stevens.

Stevens, as second-year law student James T. Hart, recreates his role as leader of the student group striving for good grades from Prof. Kingsfield, the tough law professor played by Houseman.

"This will differ from the TV series in that it's the second year, so these guys have grown up a little, their relationships to law school have matured, and now they're no longer in a dorm, they have their own apartment," Stevens said in an interview in Los Angeles.

"Paper Chase" established its own cult following when it originally aired on CBS, partly because of the legendary Houseman who reprised the Oscar-winning role that he originated in the 1973 feature film.

"I don't know exactly what the appeal is," Stevens said. "I think anyone who's been to school has studied under someone with Kingsfield's power. That's why Houseman is such a focal point. People identify with me being a student because so many Americans go to school and they see me as a dramatic portrayal of themselves."

In the first episode, "Outline Fever," Franklin Ford, (Tom Fitzsimmons) and Willis Bell (James Keane) devise a scheme to auction off Hart's class outline from Contracts, the most grueling subject of the first-year curriculum taught by Kingsfield.

Week of April 10-April 16

ARIES

(March 21-April 20) Before you become involved in a new affair of the heart, make sure you understand all the pros and cons of this relationship before embarking on it wholeheartedly.

TAURUS

(April 21-May 21) A travel change could cause some upsets at home. Make provisions for your loved ones before you plan to leave for a period of time. Reschedule if you must.

GEMINI

(May 22-June 21) Affectional ties may be severed if you aren't careful with words. The old stick 'n stones theory will not apply in this case. You will end a loser most likely.

CANCER

(June 22-July 23) There will be much togetherness with an old flame who wishes to make up for lost time. You're going to need a lot of vim and vigor to maintain a new pace.

LEO

(July 24-Aug. 23) You can have some emotional upsets because of nosy neighbors who get involved in your personal life. Put people in their places once and for all.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24-Sept. 23) A mixture of petty annoyances and disturbing news could depress you more than necessary. Perk up your spirits and get out of the house—with friends.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24-Oct. 23) Develop confidence in your ability at work. A sense of duty accompanied by common sense should put you in the right frame of mind to succeed on a day-to-day basis.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24-Nov. 22) A loved one could be giving you the cold shoulder because of something you may have said in an off-moment. Make up by apologizing in a subtle way.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Share your innermost thoughts with someone you are close to. You need to confide your ideas in order to expand those horizons that are still out of reach.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22-Jan. 20) An influential contact will enable you to make progress in the area of financial gains. Treat a new romance with tender, loving care if you want it to grow.

AQUARIUS

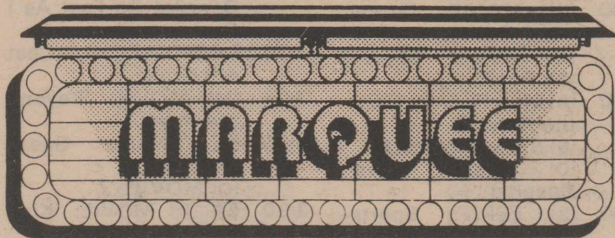

(Jan. 21-Feb. 19) Keep in step with the times and get yourself a new wardrobe. Your business success depends on the way you look. Change your hairdo and general appearance.

PISCES

(Feb. 20-March 20) Stimulating partnership matters will keep you on the go most of the week. Avoid daydreaming about situations that are unrealistic. Be more practical for your own good.

KING OF COMEDY, from 20th Century-Fox. Directed by Martin Scorsese, screenplay by Paul D. Zimmerman. Starring Robert De Niro, Jerry Lewis, Diahnne Abbott. Rated 'PG' ★ ★ ★

By J.T. YURKO

In "Taxi Driver," Robert De Niro played a disturbed, psychotic young man who ends up a hero almost by accident when his plans to assassinate a political candidate are upset. In "Raging Bull," De Niro as Jake LaMotta displayed the intensity that drove a man to become a world-champion boxer, the same intensity that drove away his wife, his brother and friends.

These men are outside the norm. They are special people who have the talent — or at least the perseverance — to achieve greatness.

Martin Scorsese, director of these films, again examines an individual and his need for recognition. This time De Niro wants nothing less than to become "King of Comedy." It is both interesting and ironic that Jake LaMotta, the real Raging Bull, ended his career as a boxer and became a stand-up comic.

In "King of Comedy," De Niro plays Rupert Pupkin, a man with delusions of grandeur who wants nothing more than to become a famous comedian. But he doesn't want to start at the bottom. He hounds

Jerry Langford (Jerry Lewis) to give him a spot on this film's equivalent of "The Tonight Show."

There's little doubt that Rupert Pupkin is "Taxi Driver's" Travis Bickle in a checkered coat instead of a checkered cab. Scorsese unfolds this cinematic portrait with the same care, and in much the same manner, as his examination of that particular taxi driver.

Pupkin has life-size cut-outs of Jerry Lewis and Liza Minnelli in his basement as he practices for his appearance on the talk show. It's quirky to the point of being outright weird, and with a subtext that more than hints of violence.

De Niro is, as usual, superb, and Lewis is equally good in what amounts to his first dramatic role.

"King of Comedy" is not a comedy, but there are some funny moments. It's difficult to categorize this film — and that's much to the film's credit. Guaranteed: You will not see another film like this for a long time.

Ask Kate

Question for Pete's sake

By Kate Woods

Help me win a bet. Harry Morgan played Pete in "December Bride." But didn't he also play Pete in a show of his own called "Pete and Gladys"? Also, who played Gladys? — P.N.S.

Right you are. Pete Porter went from being the next-door neighbor on "December Bride" into his own series on CBS in 1960. Cara Williams played his wife, Gladys, who was often the subject of conversation but never seen on "Bride." Actress Frances Rafferty was on both shows, but in different roles. And Hilda Crocker was played by Verna Felton on both series.

MURPHY IS GONE — My family and I would like to know what happened to "Father Murphy." Will it be on again? It was a favorite with us. — M.E.

It was a favorite with a lot of viewers who have written in, but unfortunately not with enough Nielsen families. The show was canceled and will not be back.

STEWART SAGA — How old is actor James Stewart and when is his birthday? — K.F.

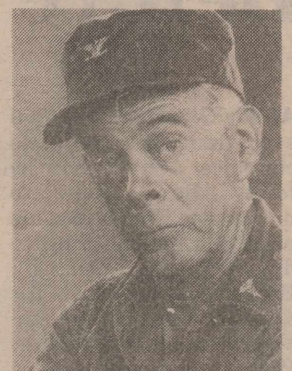

The Pennsylvania native will be 75 on May 20. He has nearly 50 years of movie-making behind him.

PLACE THE FACE — What is Face's (Dirk Benedict) real name on "The A Team"? I can't believe he had that on his dog tags in Nam. — K.L.

The character's real name, Templeton Peck, is only slightly less improbable for a mercenary.

BIG BOOM — "Cannon" was my favorite all-time show. William Conrad may not be young and handsome, but he has style, wit and class. Any chance of his coming back to TV? — M.K.

There's a good chance if a pilot he's doing for NBC sells. The comedy is called

Harry Morgan

"Yazoo." Conrad plays an ex-TV correspondent who stumbles upon a community of puppets, where he takes up residence. It sounds like an offbeat but interesting idea, so it may get a shot at a series run in the fall.

California became legends in their own land, and the vineyard became one of the best known and most respected in the country.

In 1981, an attempt was made by developers to build houses in the prime countryside where these vineyards are located. Due to the dedicated efforts of a coalition of citizen groups, wine lovers and grape growers, the encroachment of the developers was stopped and the vineyard preserved.

Stony Ridge has now bottled a special wine labeled "Save the Vineyards Commemorative Bottling," on their 1981 Chevrier, which is an often-used name for the Semillon grape in France. The wine was made during the year of struggle to save the vineyard.

Stony Ridge also produces an excellent group of wines designated as "The Pleasanton Collection," all of which sell for less than $4 a bottle, including a cabernet, zinfandel sauvignon blanc and an exceptional chenin blanc.

Vineyards along the south side of the Livermore Valley, where Stony Ridge is located, were first planted with Semillon grapes in the late 1800s from cuttings imported from Chateau d'Yquem, France's legendary Sauternes vineyard. The wines made in this part of

Soap Beat

This Preacher isn't a man of the cloth

By Connie Passalacqua

Soap opera casts like to think of themselves as ensemble companies with no particular member designated as a "star." But the phenomenal popularity of George Reinholt on "Another World" in the '60s, or more recently, Tony Geary on "General Hospital," shows that even soap operas are superstar material.

The latest potential superstar is Charles Flohe, the 22-year-old actor who has created quite a stir after playing "Edge" of

for only the past three months.

Preacher is by no means a man of the cloth. "He's a punk who has a good heart," says Flohe, "who was first brought on the show on a temporary basis to fatally beat an innocent girl."

But viewers cottoned fast to Flohe's Paul Newman-esque blue eyes and frequent displays of his hip-swinging dancing abilities as the proprietor of Monticello's Video Disco.

Charles Flohe

Viewers flooded the "EON" studios with fan mail, and Flohe was honored with both a two-year contract and a place in the show's opening credits.

"I grew up mainly in the South, so I can relate to Preacher's background," says Flohe, who traveled all over the country as the stepson of an Army officer.

Flohe, who initially wanted to become a model found himself becoming interested in acting. While studying his craft, he worked many odd jobs. For a while, he was a bouncer at Regine's, the New York high-society disco, which is quite different than the Video Disco.

Flohe says he loves working on "EON." "Nick (Nicholson, the producer) and the directors give me a lot of room to improvise. And the other actors are very giving in that they always find time to help newcomers like me. And I adore working with Lori (Loughlin, who plays Jody)."

Flohe's pairing with the beautiful Miss Loughlin is a wonderful combination in a medium that thrives on "teen romances." But they are much more than just an extraordinary looking couple — both have charisma and acting talent.

HONEST, ABE?

Steve Landesberg as Abraham Lincoln panics over what to wear when delivering the Gettysburg Address, while his wife, Mary, (Lisa Sutton) offers advice, in a comedy sketch on NBC's "The Steve Landesberg Television Show," airing THURSDAY, APRIL 14. CHECK LISTINGS FOR EXACT TIME

© 1983 Compulog

Dear Debbie

DEAR DEBBIE:

When the doctor told me I was going to have twins, I thought God had blessed me. But now that they're three months old and still not sleeping through the night, I think God is putting me through a test to see how long I can keep my mind.

We have no family here to help us and we can't afford to hire anyone to come in and help. And it seems like I'm always sick because I can't get enough sleep. But that's only a small problem for me. When I have to go shopping or take them to a doctor I fall apart. My oldest child is no problem because he's at school all day. But what can a mother of twins do? You hear about mothers who have three or more babies and how they get all kinds of help, but what about us who have twins? People say how wonderful, how lucky I am, but they are not there when you live on four hours of sleep out of 24 hours, when you break down at three in the afternoon in tears. I know you can't help me, but just letting people know that being a mother of twins is no bed of roses helps. I love my babies, but what I wouldn't give to sleep for three hours in the afternoon.

EXHAUSTED MOM

DEAR EXHAUSTED:

I can understand the frustrations and hard work that go along with being a mother of twins. Where is your husband through all of this? You didn't mention whether or not he does his share of the work. Why not alternate those 3 a.m. wake-up calls? What's more, there may be mothers in your area who have similar situations (with twins or just one baby) who would be happy to trade an hour of peace for an hour with babies. You can alternate afternoons and drop your twins off at her place. On the other days, you can mind her kids. I'll bet if you called your local newspaper (maybe even this one) and asked them to place an announcement for mothers of babies, you'd get a big response. And you may find that the women who respond are in similar predicaments. I'm sure that will open the door for some very therapeutic discussions.

* * *

DEAR DEBBIE:

I have a 12-year-old problem that is not unique. My solution is evident and I am not really thinking of myself. If what I say will help one person, I will be justified in doing this. My husband has been having an affair with a neighbor living only two doors from our home. This woman is a widow, attractive, intelligent, in a good financial situation and can attract men like honey attracts flies. Yet, she would rather disrupt many families with her illicit love affairs. My husband is a regular churchgoer and was brought up by good Christian parents. So he knows the religious implications of his actions. What advice can you give the mistress, the lovers and the wives?

CHEATED

DEAR CHEATED:

You say the solution to your problem is evident. Is it really? The solutions or advice I could offer to these others is evident as well. The question I ask is do they know that their acts are indeed known and indeed hurt people and indeed break up homes? I suggest that wives or husbands who are cheated on confront their spouses. If the spouse has no willingness to change, it's time to consider alternative arrangements between man and wife. Cheaters, beware! Cheating on spouses rarely satisfies in the long run. Ask yourself what you seek with your lover and try to find the same thing at home.
