Don't Look Back, Urges Rev. R. E. Day

Pastor, Speaking Before Club, Presents Scriptural Text

Members of the Kiwanis club in their luncheon session Thursday at the Crawford hotel, heard a practical sermon in an address by Rev. R. E. Day, pastor of the First Baptist church, a feature of a program arranged by Kiwanian Edward Lewis.

Mrs. Bruce Frazier, soloist and song leader of the Rotary club, sang a solo and led the club members in learning and singing "Bells of St. Mary," a popular melody among the country.

Rev. Day, prefacing and interspersing his remarks with choice bits from his wide repertoire of humorous stories, declared the following as his text:

"Brethren I count not myself to have apprehended; but this one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind and reaching forth unto those things that are before, I press toward the mark of the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus"—Philippians 3:13-14.

"Paul, the great preacher, teacher and writer, had many things to forget when he made that statement," said the pastor. He said that he was not perfect and had not achieved all that he might have but that, nevertheless, he was going to forget the past and look to the future with hope and confidence.

"Commodity prices have been rising, the stock market is improving. There is some real reason for optimism, he continued. "But, unfortunately, many of our people are stubbornly clinging to belief that the worst is yet to come."

"Business must forget the money they have lost in the past two or three years," he declared. "We must forget the deal we didn't make, the sale we didn't put over. Manhood will power, self-confidence, determination to face the future and come back are necessary and vital."

"I talked recently with a man who had held himself up as the sole hope of his community. He said the rest of the community did not do what he asked them to and that he was 'off by yourself. A man can do only one thing by himself and that is nothing. He can do nothing by himself any time. Lack of confidence, loss of hope by one individual affects others."

Guests of the day included Harold Miller, manager of the Crawford hotel at Carlsbad, N. M.; B. A. Donley, of the Trinity Insurance company, Fort Worth, Frank Morgan, Mrs. Frazier and Rev. Day.

Cotton Is Up $1.55-65 Per Bale At Close

Profit-Taking Sends Stocks Down Slightly; Some Issues Close Up

NEW YORK (AP)—Cotton again featured commodities on Thursday's market, again forging ahead to new heights for the year.

Gains at the close ranged from $1.25 to $1.85 per bale higher. Wheat lost about a cent; corn was up slightly at the finish.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market was given a sharp boost under leadership of rails and farm implements in the morning but buying soon dwindled and a growing feeling that the list is ripe for technical reaction brought considerable profit-taking and short selling.

Morning advances of one to four points were replaced with losses of one to three points. The result was a mixture of gains and losses at the finish, most narrow. The turnover was 4,200,000 shares.

Union Pacific rose two points on basis of the order of $1.50 dividend, then reacted five points from the top, recovering to close off a fraction. American Smelting rose nearly two points to the year's best price of 20 1/2. I. Case, after an advance of four points, lost more than of the rise. American Telephone lost a point; Steel, General Electric and Chrysler a fraction of a point.

Everybody has heard at some time in his life the old saying "as sure as death and taxes."

One of the anomalies of Democratic government is that citizens possessing right of self-government, always dislike paying the taxes that preserve that right.

Whether the tax rate is five cents or five dollars most of us complain about "the tax burden."

The city, county or state whose people are assessed taxes far above their ability to pay and the city, county or government which has failed to levy taxes sufficient to provide the things necessary to normal life of the present day, are equally unfortunate.

No government could exist without taxes in some form, or from some source.

It is, therefore, a direct blow at the existence of organized government to advocate refusal to pay taxes; that is, to urge those able to pay that to pay their portion of taxes.

This year, and every year, some property owners, for many reasons, are unable to pay their taxes. And, in this year more than in any past year, there are those who can pay but do not do so.

Two groups figure in the ranks of those who are delinquent in payment of taxes during lean seasons such as those of the past two years. One includes those unable to pay because of an apparent expectation that delinquencies will be more numerous and fall or refuse to pay all or part of taxes which they could pay if they chose believing it will be easy to "get by."

The same holds true in the unemployment situation. One group seriously and earnestly seeks employment but cannot find it. The other group takes advantage of widespread unemployment and attendant increase in charity and relief activities and lives off the public without making a serious effort to find employment.

There is no argument about the fact that government expenditures and costs have risen so rapidly in the past ten years. While many Howard county property owners have been unable to pay their taxes at the total of the tax "burden" on property in Big Spring and Howard county is far lighter than in many cities and counties.

If no effort had been made or no results obtained from efforts to reduce public expenditures the people would have ample reasons for organized protest. Since expenditures by our city, county and local school district have been or are being reduced 20 to 30 per cent we have but one question before us: namely, does the income from property or from other sources enable us to pay taxes as they now exist?

Agreement upon that question never has and never will be reached. While most of us pay our taxes at the present figures, some of us would not do so if the rate was ten or twenty or a hundred times lower.

The rule by which we must operate local government units is to buy and spend what you can afford. And "what you can afford"

Dallas Gives Babe Greatest Reception In City's History

DALLAS (UP)—Mildred Babe Dirrickson, sensational Olympic star, who captured two championships with world-record time in Los Angeles last week, came home Thursday to receive the greatest reception ever accorded a Dallasit.

She said she would entertain the women's national golf tournament at Peabody, Massachusetts, September 27.

Deputies Bob Wolf and Andrew Merrick spent Thursday morning at the scene investigating the murder. They announced they would conduct questioning during the afternoon.

Officers could not say whether his pockets had been rifled. They found some letters in his clothing, one dated 1912. They bore post marks of several West Texas towns, but contained no information that would lead to the location of relatives.

Members of the sheriff's department are inclined to believe the killing occurred Monday night. Rains fell Tuesday afternoon and no tracks were found. The sheep fold fence was trampled down where sheep evidently broke out Tuesday morning.

Hopes of finding finger prints on the axe handle were somewhat dimmed by rain fall.

The body is being held at the Eberly Funeral Parlor pending an effort to locate some relative. It was not thought burial would be held before Friday afternoon.

Florenz Ziegfeld

FLORENZ ZIEGFELD, gloriator of the American girl who died recently, had but two points of interest in selecting the beautiful girls who made up his Follies.

He looked first at the ankles, says one of his intimates, because the ankles of the chorus girls are level with the eyes of the audience, and are appraised first. Then he looked at the face. If ankles and face passed muster, Ziegfeld was satisfied. He argued that the calf was always the same size as the neck and he could judge that point when he looked at the applicant's face.

One other point Ziggy insisted upon. The girl must have intelligence. He had no use for the flapperish, nitwit type. He preferred tall, stumpy girls to the clinging-vine slummy charmers.

Many of the Ziegfeld girls married into wealth and society. Scarcely one was one of them caught in the net of scandal.

The man who discovered Will Rogers, Eddie Cantor, Ed Wynn and scores of other stage stars died at the age of 64.

He filled a definite niche in the American scene for more than thirty years. He set up a standard of excellence in stage presentations seldom equaled and never excelled. A place in the Follies was the zenith in stage ambition. In spite of the large numbers of stars he developed and managed, you never saw the name Florenz Ziegfeld even remotely connected with scandal. Considering the thousands of ambitious girls throwing themselves at his head, that is something.

Army Going Out Of Competition With Merchants

LEAVENWORTH, Kan. (UP)—The United States Army is withdrawing from competition with private merchants. It was learned here.

Within a few days after Leavenworth citizens protested against alleged unfair competition before the Shannon congressional committee, a war department order has been issued providing that army officers may not purchase food, clothing, cigarettes, gasoline, oil and other articles at the post exchanges at Fort Leavenworth.

Under terms of the new order, it was learned, only enlisted men and their families may make such purchases. The army also is forbidden to employ labor to operate the exchanges.

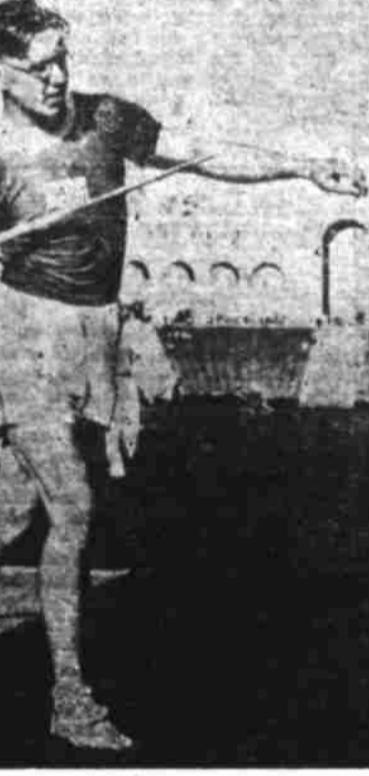

In effect, the order will compel officers and their families to pay state tax on gasoline, oil, and cigarettes through buying them from taxpaying merchants of Leavenworth.

Testimony of merchants before the Shannon committee, which conducted hearings in Kansas City, had been that many of them were being forced into bankruptcy through competition of the post exchanges which were enabled to sell many articles at considerably under the market price elsewhere.

Rep. Joseph B. Shannon, chairman of the committee, had expected to hear further testimony regarding the alleged abuses within a few weeks. He now is conducting hearings at Lawton, Okla., where merchants have complained of competition from the post stores at Fort Sill.

Rep. Joseph B. Shannon, chairman of the committee, had expected to hear further testimony regarding the alleged abuses within a few weeks. He now is conducting hearings at Lawton, Okla., where merchants have complained of competition from the post stores at Fort Sill.

Congressmen Carrying Kin On Payrolls Are Defeated

At Least Twenty-Three Fall By Wayside Thus Far; Fifteen Defeated For Party Nominations; Either Voluntarily Quit

WASHINGTON (UP)—Congressmen who carry relatives on the government payroll are being retired at a rapid rate.

At least 23 have fallen by the wayside thus far. Fifteen were defeated for renomination by their own parties. Eight saw the handwriting on the wall or for other reasons retired without attempting to come back.

Numerous others are due for retirement, as barely half of the states have held their congressional nominating primaries. All survivors must run the gauntlet of the voters in the general elections in November.

The casualty list spread over more than a dozen states, including North Dakota, Illinois, Tennessee, Indiana, Pennsylvania and several other states. Minnesota turned up four casualties, Mississippi three.

Issue Arises
The issue arising from the widespread existence of the family payroll racket has figured in numerous congressional contests since the House payroll records were thrown open to public inspection as a result of United Press dispatches last spring reporting the fact that more than 100 members of congress were supporting on the government payroll, wives, daughters, sons, and in-laws, some of whom never appeared in Washington.

One of the hardest fights occurred in Tennessee. Rep. J. Ridley Mitchell, Dem., has just been renominated by a close vote. He introduced a bill in congress last spring to abolish nepotism and to punish it by dismissal. By a close vote, which may be contested, he defeated Rep. Ewin L. Davis, Dem., who was charged with having sent two daughters to college while carrying them on the congressional payroll. Davis is a brother of Norman Davis, an American member of the American Geneva Disarmament delegation. Under the reappointment act, the districts of Davis and Mitchell were merged. They fought it out with Davis strongly favoring Davis until the vote was counted.

The most striking upset due to the issue of nepotism was the defeat of Senator Smith W. Brookhart, Rep., Iowa.

Aged Couple Involved In Death Probe

Nephew Of Noted Journalist Incriminated By Finger Prints

NATCHES, Miss. (UP)—The chain of "ghost feud" evidence in Natches' famous mystery case tightened about the tragic figure of Dick Dana, 61-year-old bearded eccentric.

Authorities announced they had found the fingerprints of this seton of one of the South's most prominent families, at the scene of the killing of Miss Jane Surget Merrill.

Dana is the nephew of Charles A. Dana, the great journalist. He is charged with murder, along with his housekeeper, Miss Octavia Dockery, who has been his companion for 40 years. They lived in Glenwood, termed "Goat Gables" by the neighbors.

Fingerprints of Miss Dockery, daughter of a confederate general, had already been identified as matching those found on a broken lamp that lay near the bullet-torn body of Miss Merrill, a 78-year-old recluse.

Until J. E. Chancellor, brilliant expert, made his new discovery today, there had been little evidence brought forth to connect Dana with the crime. The eccentric's prints, Chancellor said, were found on a lamp shade and chiffonette drawer in the room of Glenna Burnes, the Merrill homestead, where Miss Jane was shot to death last week and her body dragged from the house to a nearby thicket.

Duncan G. Minor, boyhood sweetheart of Miss Merrill today informed District Attorney Clay Tucker he had been spending nights at Miss Merrill's home for several years.

Minor is the fourth principal in the strange romance that enshrouds the mystery. He is a direct descendant of Don Augustin Minor, famous Spanish governor-general who ruled this country before the Louisiana purchase.

He, Miss Merrill, Dana and Miss Dickel, all of the finest lineage of the old South, retired from society almost 40 years ago and went into seclusion on adjoining plantations here. Dana sought solitude because his childhood sweetheart died and because he injured his hand and saw his ambitions of becoming a great pianist shattered.

Miss Dockery, a friend of the Dana family, followed him into seclusion and came to live as his housekeeper. Nobody learned why Miss Merrill retired, or why Minor left the social whirl and settled beside her. Community gossip said that Minor's relatives objected to his marrying Miss Jane, the "Belle of the South" who had been presented to the Court of St. James, and that the two mourned their thwarted romance in silence.

Personally Speaking

Mrs. Joe Davitte, of Fort Worth, arrived today to visit Mrs. W. D. McDonald.

Miss Roberta Gay and her brother, H. L. Gay left today for Texas-Kansas and De Kalb. Mrs. Morris Gay went with them to Fort Worth to visit her parents.

Mrs. B. E. Willis left Thursday morning for Los Angeles, Calif., where she will join Mr. Willis for the remainder of the summer.

Elmo Wasson went to Corpus Christi Tuesday and brought back Mrs. Wasson who has spent the last two months in that vicinity visiting friends and relatives.

Yiddish Pair Lead Exports To 5 To 0 Win

Longview 6, Steers 2; Cats 3, Sports 1, Pirates 7, Indians 6

BEAUMONT—The Yiddish duo of Isadore Goldstein and Hank Greenberg teamed up here Wednesday afternoon to lead the Exporters to a 5-0 victory over the Houston Buffs. Goldstein limiting the mighty Buffs to three scattered singles while Hank cracked out his 20th homer of the season with Fritz aboard in the third. It was Goldstein's first start for the Exporters since his return from Detroit and it wasn't until the fifth frame that the Buffs nicked him for a hit.

Key Strikes Out Six
Gold's great tossing elevated the Bakermen into a top place tie with the Dallas Mavs, who took a 2-0 licking at Longview. Fritz with a triple and two singles led the Exporter attack. Izzy whiffed six as he mowed down the Buff batting order. Beckman started for the Bison but gave way to Heusser in the third, who finished in great style after being shelled out of the box in the first inning Tuesday. Spectacular fielding abounded. Thursday the Buffs and Exporters will meet in the third and last game of the series.

CANNIBALS 6, STEERS 2
LONGVIEW—The Longview Cannibals took advantage of scoring opportunities here Wednesday and defeated the Dallas Steers, 6 to 2. Presnell scattered ten hits. Joining the Cannibals, Tony Kubek contributed the best catch of the season here, making a back-hand stab of Holman's drive in the sixth inning.

The second game was the long one, going 13 innings. Brooklyn had little or no trouble

Prohibition Discussed At Church Meet

Baptist Worker's Conference Speakers Deal With Subject

The Workers' Conference of the Big Spring Missionary Baptist Association which met Tuesday with the Forsan Baptist church took up the discussion of the prohibition measures with fire and enthusiasm. No doubt was left in the minds of their hearers that they had any idea of "meekly submitting to the demands of the wet."

Rev. Conger McGraw gave a brief history of prohibition. He said the whiskey makers and sellers had never been disposed to obey any regulations of prohibitions placed upon them. The first rebellion against the authority of the federal government was offered by the distillers of whiskey who refused to pay a tax of just a few pennies per barrel. This "Whiskey Rebellion" was put down after some bloodshed and an expense of $700,000 to the government, he declared. In discussing the advisability of governmental dispensation he showed by statistics that in North Carolina under such a dispensation there was actually more bootleg whiskey drunk than there was dispensed by the authority of the government.

"In 1914 there was sold legally in the United States two and quarter billion gallons of liquor. At the same time there was sold approximately one billion gallons of bootleg whiskey, making something like thirty-two billion gallons of liquor per person. According to Commissioner Woodcock's report to the federal government this exceeded by twenty-five gallons the combined estimated consumption of liquors for the year of 1931."

Rev. H. C. Reddock, pastor of the West Side Baptist church of Big Spring, spoke on "The Legal Status of Prohibition." He spoke of the necessity of electing good men to office, especially lawmakers. He warned his hearers of the dangers involved in the prerogatives of the Federal Congress in being able to determine the alcoholic content of liquors, thereby making it possible under the law of setting aside individual state regulations of the liquor laws. He showed that by this method of proceedings the Dean Law on the Texas statute might be made null and void.

Rev. Winston Boren, pastor of the First Baptist church of Midland, spoke on "Why Men Drink Booze." Rev. Boren recently sent out a questionnaire to his fellow townsmen asking that they express their opinion on the subject. He made a great many personal interviews among men of all walks of life. The answers, some of which he read, were varied and interesting. Rev. Boren pleaded for the rights of ministers to take part in politics, especially where moral questions are involved. He said ministers of the Gospel would have never been in politics had not the liquor traffic first sought protection from that source.

Mrs. J. M. White of the First Baptist church of Midland gave a very interesting review of the history of the work of the Woman's

Liberty Party Meeting Fails To Get Crowd

Coin Harvey Dissatisfied With Attendance At Dallas

DALLAS (UP)—William Hope (Coin) Harvey, 62-year-old presidential candidate whose name was a household word during national campaigns of two decades ago, showed displeasure at the small attendance at the first state convention of the Liberty party of Texas here.

The white-haired leader called the meeting to order after a futile attempt had been made to increase attendance. He temporarily adjourned the meeting after O. L. Heitt of Dallas had been named permanent chairman and J. F. Stortz, San Antonio, secretary.

The meeting held in Fair Park opened with 14 persons in attendance. Several were newspapermen and photographers. Harvey complained some delegates had believed the meeting was to be at the courthouse and he dispatched a runner to bring those gathered to the fair grounds. When the runner failed to reappear, Harvey called the meeting to order.

His forecast victory for the Liberty party in Indiana where he expects to defeat other candidates five to one. He promised a two to one vote for his ticket in Washington.

Endorsement of the national platform was quickly made and the state platform was outlined as follows:

Christian Temperance Union in Texas. She pointed to powerful influence of women, though denied the ballot, in past prohibition campaigns in Texas. She said that woman, the main sufferer from the liquor traffic, with the ballot, could be counted on in all future battles against "rum and its attendant evils."

"SIX CYLINDERS THE HAPPY MEDIUM BETWEEN TWO EXTREMES"

With more you sacrifice economy—
With less you sacrifice smoothness

CHEVROLET

It certainly does make a whole lot of difference—how many cylinders you have in that low-priced car of yours! With too many, you're bound to spend too much for gas, oil and upkeep. With too few cylinders, you're bound to get inherent engine-vibration.

But with SIX cylinders—no more, no less—you strike the happy medium between "too many" and "too few". Everything's in your favor—with a new six-cylinder Chevrolet!

Economy? Take the word of leading American business firms—the six-cylinder Chevrolet costs less for gas, oil and upkeep than any other car.

Smoothness? Take the word of motor car engineers: SIX is the fewest number of cylinders you can have in a car, and still get built-in smoothness. And built-in smoothness is vital to your satisfaction.

Durability? Take the word of millions of owners: the new Chevrolet Six stands up! Stays dependable and trouble-free season after season. Its high gas and oil mileage stays high. Its low maintenance cost stays low! Especially after ten thousand miles, you'll be glad you bought a Chevrolet Six.

Evidently, from the way sales are going this year, America knows the facts about cylinders. Because the records show that since January 1st, more six-cylinder Chevrolets have been bought than any other make of automobile!

In addition to a fast, spirited, six-cylinder engine, the Chevrolet Six has Free Wheeling, Syncro-Mesh gear-shifting, a new, stabilized, front-end construction, four parallel-mounted springs, four shock absorbers—plus the modern styling and fine car luxury of beautiful, new Bodies by Fisher.

CHAPTER XIV

It was not long before Steve telephoned Mona. It was as he had surmised. Her mother, it appeared, was not ill. She had been asleep when they arrived. Mona was going to bed and Bud had escorted Lottie home.

"Mum!" said Steve mutely. "Well, I'm glad your mother is all right. I'll call you tomorrow. Good-night."

As he put down the telephone he looked at Barry who was regarding him unsteadily.

"No, I don't think the girls were in on this," he said answering the unspoken question in Barry's eyes. "If that's what you want to know, somehow Harkins' gang knew—of course—that we had the Empress here. Before Bud leaves Lottie they know where we had it. Here! (indicating the door) "Get in side, where I can have a talk and you can thank you stars that Mona is your mother!"

"It was Lottie who told me where to find the Empress," Bud burst. "Sure, it was Lottie I expected to tell." For a moment Steve and Barry eyed each other.

"Get down, Dad," Steve said. "Let's talk it over. Sane?"

He held out his cigarette case and struck a match. The flame flickered and he tried to catch the flame, his hand trembled.

"Answer me for you, down below," Steve asked after a moment.

"Sure, Dad!"

"Did you see that?" Barry asked. "No, but I was watching when the block with the car came out."

Steve rose, threw off his dressing gown and disappeared into the bedroom. Steve returned in a few minutes, his face pale.

"I'll tell you what," he said. "I'll go with you to the garage. I'll see if I can't get a car. I'll be there, and the game can't find me. The Lady Harkins' will be in the street where they know you spot."

"In the 7th street garage," Barry said. "He told me that you had a car. If telephone, you have it, don't you?"

"Tell them the drug store on the corner around the block. We can go down the bay street and cut to the street. They'll never follow the car."

Steve turned to Barry. "Harkins' can't be night's disappointed."

Setting The Trap by Wellington

At length their vigil was rewarded. The cutter door opened and a loudly. A spot of light across the room, looking across the rug with startling clarity.

Footsteps—wavered their firm. The circle of light pecked out the divan, the patterned wall hung on the swinging door which led to the butler's pantry.

Crouching in their chairs, Steve and Barry held their breath.

Someone was walking in the wake of the flashlight, stepping on rugs and avoiding the polished floor. The door swung noiselessly in the dim light of the hallway.

"Moran!" Steve breathed scarcely by moving.

"How did he get in?" whispered Barry.

SPORTS ON PARADE

The tournament committee of the Country Club met as announced yesterday evening but was handicapped. For one thing G. R. Porter, the golf-playing lumberman, was sick. In addition Shirley Robbins was out of town. The meeting will be held later on in the week when all members will be able to be present.

Something has happened to the Mexican Tigers. Vega's henchmen have to date dropped five straight games, four at least should have been easy victories. The fire, the dash seems to be missing from the lineup of the Northsiders altogether. The starting lineup is ragged, Joe Valdes, Albert Garcia, Ferfido Fierro, and Mahoney all missing from the lineup.

Without wishing to arouse Mr. Vega's or any of his cohorts' enmity we say that when Albert Garcia and Fierro are not in the game over half of his offensive and defensive strength is not in the lineup.

The Cats play through a contest listlessly. Payne hurls effectively, but a pitcher can't win games by himself. Captain Hernandez, a fairly good second baseman earlier in the season, kicks 'em from base to base and hits practically nothing at all. Jack Dean is hustling in the outfield and strange to say, supplying most of the batting punch.

In an inner pocket, carefully protected from rain, curious searchers and etc., we have one complimentary ticket to a wrestling and boxing exhibition at the Casino dance hall Thursday evening. The comp comes with the best regards of T. O. Neill, the matchmaker, who promises a clean, active card for

Reduced 30 Pounds Never Felt Better

Safe Way To Lose Fat Take the case of Miss Madelon Crowley, for instance, who lives in Little Rock, Ark. Just read her letter: "I have used Kruschen Salts for one year-when I started I weighed 140 pounds-now I weigh 110 pounds and never felt better in my life."

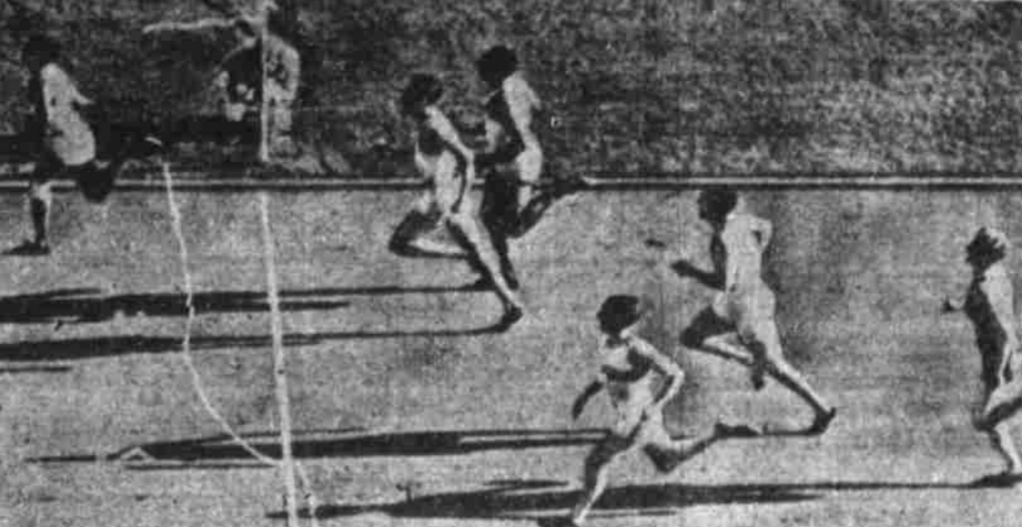

That's the big reason a host of men and women take Kruschen to lose weight-as the fat goes you gain in health-skin clears-eyes grow bright-activity replaces indolence. Take one-half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast-cut down on fatty meats, potatoes and sweets-a jar of Kruschen that costs but a trifle lasts 4 weeks-get it at Collins Bros. Yanks Pound Out 17 Hits; Walberg Wins

ST. LOUIS-The New York Yankees made a clean sweep of their series with the Browns by pounding Blasholder and Hadley for 17 hits and a 7-6 victory Wednesday. Fred Schulte hit a homer for the Browns. Detroit Takes Fourth In Row From Red Sox, Six To Two DETROIT-Detroit made it four in a row over Boston by winning the final game of the series with the Red Sox, 6-2, Wednesday. It was Boston's 11th straight defeat. Tommy Bridges, who allowed only one Washington player to reach first base on his last appearance in the box, was wild Wednesday and was saved from a rout only by excellent support. Although he allowed but three hits he gave came in the fourth and fifth innings in each of which the Sox scored runs on balls. Six of these ad.

CHICAGO-Rube Walberg hung up his 14th victory of the season Wednesday by pitching and battling the Philadelphia Athletics to a 6-3 triumph over the White Sox. The victory gave the A's a two to one edge in the series.

LUKE APPLING led the White Sox attack with two doubles and a single. The score: Philadelphia ... 330 110 020-6 12 3 Chicago ... 081 001 001-3 9 4 Walberg and Cochran; Gregory, Faber and Berry.

A LOAF of bread A JUG of wine

Old Omar had a great idea when he sang, "a loaf of bread, a jug of wine and thou, beside me, singing in the wilderness."

Of course, the jug of wine is "out." The price of bread is going up and we are coming out of the wilderness, but outside of that, Omar's picture is O.K.

Dealers in wheat, flour and bread all agree that, despite favorable crop conditions in the wheat belt, the price of bread is going up.

Mrs. Guy Tamsitt Is Hostess To 1932 Club

Mrs. Guy Tamsitt entertained the members of the 1932 Bridge Club Wednesday afternoon with a pretty pink and yellow party, in which these colors prevailed artistically in all the accessories.

The tallies were Spanish maidens. On the refreshment plate was a moulded desert, iced drink and cakes with pink roses as favors; they were moulded like nut cups and held yellow mints. Mrs. A. L. Kavanagh was a tea guest.

The high score for club members went to Mrs. West who received a pink bon bon dish. Miss Bowlius made visitors high and was given a strand of beads.

Mrs. Joe Ciere sent in her resignation to the club.

The guests who played were Miss Edith Bowlius, of Baird, and Miss Wynell Kavanagh. The members were Mrs. Cecil West, Carl Merrick, T. E. McGinnis, O. M. Waters and M. M. Manell.

Mrs. McGinnis will be the next hostess.

"muscling in." We could either split with them, take $100,000 and clear out or else... I said I wasn't interested in the proposition."

Immediately following the demand of the gangsters, Robert C. Fitch, president of the union, was kidnaped. Shortly thereafter a union officer was slain by gangsters at Shawano, Wis.

Armored Car

Sumner said the union had purchased an armored car fitted with bullet-proof glass to carry officers about the city.

Callers are received at headquarters only after they have been inspected through peep-holes.

Sumner said the gangsters, who included George (Red) Barker, since slain, Murray Humphrey, high in Capone councils, Klondike O'Donnell, south side beer "baron," and several others, informed him the syndicate was seeking new fields of operation.

"They told me, 'we figure the 18th amendment is going out soon and we have to have new sources of revenue. There's plenty of tribute to be gotten in the milk industry and we're going to get it.'" Sumner said.

Is another question that never has and never will be settled to the satisfaction of all.

While ability to pay—what we can afford—is the basis, the people must be assured that that which is bought for them with the money they pay in taxes is of use and benefit to them, that they get sufficient returns from their tax money.

When a property owner flatly advocates refusal to pay taxes he either wishes to see all organized government destroyed or he unthoughtfully or ignorantly contributes to its overthrow.

So long as the tax load is not too exorbitant the dollar we pay in taxes brings far greater returns than any dollar we can spend.

Taxes supporting government transformed narrow winding lanes into paved streets and highways, made possible development of motor transportation for the masses. Taxes make possible sound and efficient educational systems for district, county and state. Taxes enable us to draw water from faucets at will instead of dipping it out of a barrel by necessity. Taxes made possible modern sewer systems. Taxes help prevent and stop epidemics of disease. Taxes provide modern methods for protection of our houses and goods from fire. Taxes provide law enforcement agencies for protection of life and limb and property. Taxes preserve our right of free speech, free worship. Taxes preserve the right of direct suffrage. Democratic government.

We must be sensible in all things. That means also we must take care that cost of the many vital and necessary things our tax money provides must be kept within bounds of reason and ability to pay. That means also that we must always pay taxes. You cannot get around that.

Miss Edith Bowlius of Baird is visiting Mrs. Cecil West.

Tax Bill Runs US Receipts Up 4 Millions

First Six Days of August See $4,992,677 New Revenues

WASHINGTON (AP)—The new billion dollar tax bill contributed toward increasing collections from miscellaneous internal revenue during the first six days of August to $4,992,677, more than the same period last year.

Total receipts from this source the treasury announced today amounted to $14,740,839. Receipts from the new tax bill were reflected only in collections for the last nine days of June.

Income taxes collected were $1,800,000 less than for the same period last year. Custom receipts were $4,172,000 less.

Meanwhile, the government's deficit rose Aug. 6 to $316,433,821. The government collected from all sources $110,748,047 and spent $427,181,508 during the six days.

National banks have been taking advantage of the Glass-Steagall amendment to the home loan bank law permitting them to issue notes on the basis of government bonds bearing not more than 3 3/8 per cent interest and security.

Since July 30, national bank notes outstanding have increased $6,179,655 to $739,097,078 while the circulation has increased $5,724,517 to $724,937,668.

influence or financial fortune of those broken-hearted by his conviction or bowed down because he is behind the bars of a prison. Why shouldn't this modern system, this Christ-like system that shows mercy to all who merit it and a stern discipline to those who refuse to walk in the white light of the narrow road, be continued now and forever by the justice loving voters of this commonwealth?

Those who win high credit marked by their behavior and observance of prison rules should be given the helping hand and an opportunity to get out in the world and fight the battle of life as honest and law abiding men fight it from the beginning. There should be mercy for all as well as as justice for all. Christ taught that lesson on the cross of Calvary. He preached the gospel of the forgiveness of sin and the reclamation and regeneration of those who erred and had fallen by the wayside. Above the doors of a pen should be placed this inscription: "To err is human, to forgive is divine." Run back to the group, small but compact and ever in evidence, in recent campaigns. Pardons and paroles and furloughs should not be handed out in return for political support given to place any candidate for governor constitutional or proxy, in the highest office in the gift of the people of Texas. Never has the prison system been so scientifically and successfully as handled and directed in recent years and today by the men placed in authority by Moody and Sterling. WHY CHANGE IT? Let the voters answer on Aug. 27.

THIRD BLOC—

partial freedom to walk in the narrow path and do his level best to wipe out his sins of transgression as a violator of law. There is a pardon board today. There was a pardon board when Pat Neff came in. He ordered that it should cease to function. He said in his campaign for governor that he would abolish the board. As a Christian, Neff made good all his pledges. He did not believe in mercy to the fallen behind the bars. He would exact all that was due of the law. His successor resurrected the pardon board. What happened is a matter of history as well as a matter of fact.

Moody came in. He was for mercy tempered with justice. His lawmakers added a third member to the board known as the parole member. Political lawyers in the prison brokerage field of endeavor who believe that one good turn deserves another in the matter of pardons or recommendations for pardons have been on the outside looking in for years. They constitute a very amiable and very aggressive compact group in this campaign. Why shouldn't they be kept on the outside looking in? It is not the 999 acts of clemency that have aroused the anger of the people? It is the 900th act of clemency or pardons where a raviasher of woman, a murderer whose motive was money, a hijacker who takes life for coin, a stick up who slays for a few paltry dollars in the pockets of his victim, whose pardon or parole has angered millions of law-abiding people in this state. Why the necessity for pardon obtained through political influence and the scandals that follow.

Why should the homes and houses of misery be compelled to pay fat fees to political lawyers for the service they may have rendered in political campaigns or to perpetuate the system in vogue in the years gone by where the powerful of the rich or the influential could rake from behind the bars of prison members of families who have gone wrong and who had been given long or short terms of imprisonment after a fair trial by a jury of their peers.

There is a pardon board ever functioning. Three noted lawyers, men who were distinguished judges before they became members of the board, pass on all applications for executive clemency. This is the iron clad rule upheld by the board. Constitutionally elected governors do not violate it or seek to set it aside. A convict, without a cent in his pocket or a friend on the outside to intercede in his behalf, has the right of petition. He is placed on the same plane as the near-do-well of the family proud and rich. No favor is shown him on account of family prestige or political

White Collars, Catholics Tie

The Catholic Athletic Club and the White Collars battled to a 11 inning 5 to 5 tie Wednesday afternoon on the West Third diamond. The game was called on account of darkness after the Athletic club had retired the Jamesmen without a run in the eleventh.

The White Collars threw one of their "kicking" fits in the first and second innings to give the visitors four unearned runs. Errors by J. Bishop, Hartman and Murphy and a single by Valdez and Matinez accounted for the scores.

The Jamesmen tallied to spend the rest of the game, furnishing brilliant support to Pitcher Ray McMahon, who kept the eleven Catholic hits well-scattered and who deserved victory and trying desperately to score after the Athletics had come back to knot the count in the sixth. Jones, White Collar catcher, doubled twice in the last innings but was held on the sticks.
