RODEO CROWDS THRILL WHILE COWBOYS SPILL

3,000 or More Out For Opening Day At Ranch

COLORFUL AS EVER

Winners Announced As First Events Are Run Off

IOWA PARK, April 30.—Tom Burnett's third Triangle ranch rodeo opened here today with promise of developing into the most thrilling, colorful, sensational meet of its kind ever staged in the southwest. Before a crowd estimated at 3,000 nearly 100 of the cow country's best, men and women, attired in the gay, workday attire of the ranch and astride the best horses to be found on the plains, met in the friendly competition of cowboy sports, steer bulldogging, calf roping, bronco busting, and wild steer riding. It was the hey day of the Texas rangers over again, the cowboys' play day, a revivivification of the time when longhorn cattle roamed the Wichita county prairies.

He Leads March.

Tom Burnett himself led the grand march astride his cowhorse "Creamy," followed by the famous Texas cowboy, Foghorn Clancy, Tom Corridan, Hugh Strickland and the 77 cowboys and cowgirls from all over the west who were to participate in the contests.

The parade was a blazon of color, —Tom Burnett, millionaire ranchman and host to the thousands present, wore a brilliant rose colored silk shirt, Ruth Roach, cowgirl and trick rider from Lenapah, Okla., was attired in a spotless white silk riding habit topped by the usual ten-gallon hat of her brother cowboys.

Big Barbecue.

The ranch was host at a huge free barbecue at noon. Some 8,000 pounds of beef had been prepared for the occasion and a crowd estimated at about 3,000 people partook of the feast.

The rodeo will be continued today with new drawings on horses, steers, and the like, and the same contests to be staged. Saturday will be a big day with similar events scheduled, the final contests to come Sunday afternoon.

Bovolupus, wild bull with a national reputation for ferocity remained unridden at the end of yesterday's performances after a grueling minute for Oklahoma Cutley of Fairview, Okla., the only cowboy to make the

A REMEDY FOR EVILS SOUGHT AT P-T MEET

Georgia Educator Says Home Life Needed More Now

MANY DISCUSSIONS

"Modern Girl" Is Freely Discussed by Ill. Vice. President

AUSTIN, April 30.—(AP)—Remedy for the laxity of morals, said to exist among young people of today can be found in more home training, more outdoor activities, and more wholesome instruction, Dr. Willis A. Sutton, president of the Georgia Education association, said tonight before the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Dr. Sutton spoke on "Why There Is a Laxity of Morals and a Tide of Juvenile Delinquency, and the Remedy". John Bradford, a representative of the Playground and Recreation association of America, spoke before the body on "Recreation" and suggested better family unity could be obtained by family play.

The day was the fourth day of the convention, and throughout the sessions the delegates took advantage of their annual "round table day" to exchange ideas, and to tell other delegates of the enterprizes they had found successful.

The afternoon session was predominated by the group discussion on "Social Standards," led by Mrs. B. F. Langworthy of Winnetka, Ill., national vice president. Mrs. Langworthy guided the discussion principally upon the modern girls, and asserted their moral standards are influenced by their dress, manners and amusements.

Mrs. Langworthy urged mothers to begin early in training the girls to suitable dress and clothes, which can best be done by parental example. She declared a girl should never wear a party dress while doing office work, or run the chance of being misunderstood.

Manners are the keystone of the three prerequisites, she said, and declared Americans are but ancient foreigners, and that in our anxiety to restrain our individuality, we have lost all our manners.

The "social hygiene' group, under directions of Dr. Valerin H. Parker of the American Social Hygiene association of New York City, attracted much attention. She urged the mothers to teach knowledge of sex properly by early instruction to children, by clean healthful activities and wholesome play between the sexes during adolescence, and by home building.

Girl Rode a Bicycle In Knickers So Her Dad Took a Beating

SHREVEPORT, La., April 30.—That an organized band of terrorists and floggers existed in Cedar Grove, was indicated today in testimony brought out at the trial of W. E. Miller and W. C. Oliver, charged with assault and conspiracy to commit assault in connection with the flogging of John Barker of Cedar Grove, three weeks ago.

The sensation of the trial developed when C. A. Stewart, a surprise witness for the state, took the stand and told how he had been requested to assist in the flogging of Barker. He also told how he had been forced upon a former occasion to assist in an attempt to flog another man.

Stewart named Oliver as being one of the conspirators and also stated that Forrest Lee, U. N. Boatwright and A. H. Nettles were members of the gang who plotted to flog Barker. On the strength of Stewart's testimony warrants were issued for the arrest of the three men and Lee and Nettles have been taken into custody on charges of conspiracy to commit assault.

The name of the ku klux klan was dragged into the trial. Stewart said that a few days previous to the time he was forced by Nettles and Boatwright to accompany them on a "flogging party," the former came to him and gave him a blank for membership in the ku klux klan. A few nights after he said Nettles came to him and asked him to go up town.

"I thought I was going to be passed on by the klan," Stewart said, "and got in my car and went with them. We drove out with Boatwright near town and one of them pulled out a white robe and said: 'Now you see what a ku klux klan looks like.' The other man pulled out a black cap. 'We are going to beat hell out of a man and need your car because it is high-powered,' they told me, and put a gun in my ribs."

Stewart said they were unable to find their intended victim but later met another man whom Nettles and Boatwright decided should be flogged. The witness said that when the two men attacked their would-be victim, the man resisted and escaped.

Barker, the victim of the flogging, told how he was lured from his home and taken to a secluded spot and flogged.

"They told me they were beating me because I did not control my family and permitted my daughter, dressed in knickers to ride a bicycle," Barker said.

GOOD RECORD MADE BY NEW CONSTRUCTION

Building Permit Records For April Run To $451,722

With the largest permit for the entire month barely over the $50,000 mark, Wichita Falls in April made more building permit history by establishing a mark of $451,722, represented by an even 150 new structures.

The record for the past month was just about half that of its predecessor, March, when the permit mark soared to above $800,000. Of this, however, more than $300,000 was represented by a single building, and $200,000 more was accounted for by three other structures of unusual value.

Mostly Residences

On the other hand, 90 per cent of April's figure represents residences of the $5,000 class. Over 100 were started here during the month. Only five buildings of more than $10,000 cost were authorized, and of these the largest is to cost but $54,000.

May promises to be another high-water mark in the building line, for more than half a million is in sight already. The new Perkins-Snider building at Ninth and Indiana, a new school building, a new hospital and scores of smaller structures may send the figures above the $1,000,000 mark for the month.

BARNUM JUST A DUFFER AT CIRCUS GAME

Junior College And H. S. Classes Show How It Should be Done

BIG CROWD WATCHES

Boys Get The Laughs, Girls Applause At School

Last night was circus night at the Junior college. Over 2,500 people crowded into and around the auditorium to see what was advertised as "the greatest assortment of acrobats, bareback riders, tumblers, dancers, jugglers, prettiest girls, most unlifelike elephant and giraffe," and the most beautiful pageant ever to show in Wichita Falls.

It was the annual show put on by the Junior college and high school gymnasium classes under the direction of C. C. Frazee and Miss Beth Smith, physical directors at the school. The actors were all students in the schools, over 200 taking part.

"Dance of Nations"

The boys got the laughs and the girls got the applause. The climax to two hours of entertainment by clowns, 30 of them, by bareback riders, by gymnastics, Gymn Jams, and tumbling, came in the 150 girl personnel pageant entitled "Dance of the Nations."

Preceding each dance, in which, so the legend goes, the fairest dancers from each nation met in competition before the king, came an array of natives, all dressed in costumes peculiar to their country.

There were the Scotch, Irish, English, Belgian, Japanese, Flemish, Dutch, Spanish, and the American. Each troupe gave a group dance of their native land, after which the chosen dancer called for the spotlight and gracefully displayed her wares.

The following girls danced solos for the pageant:

Scotch—Vinesalsel Schottishe — Verna Brooke.
Irish—The Irish Jig—Elizabeth Burchenal.
English—Country Dance—Cecil Sharp.
Nauch—Solo—Anna Ruth Kahn.
Belgian Catendaise, Belgian Military—Louis H. Chalif.
Japanese—Japanese Group Dance—Louis H. Chalif.
Flemish—Flemish Folk Dance — Louis H. Chalif.
Dutch—Duet—Josephine Berryman and Isabel Waller.
Spanish—Flower of Spain — Louis H. Chalif.
American—Minuet.

The crowded auditoum was kept in continual laughter by the many acts which, true to circus life, were going on several at a time. Rudy, Barney Google's pet ostrich was there; the coterie of two-legged horses were there and they called them bareback riders. Then there were the tight rope walkers, only the rope was not so tight; there was the clown band, an assorted group of circus clown, the elephant, though some imagination was necessary to appreciate the impersonation, as was also the case in the giraffe.

Acrobats Get Applause

C. C. Frazee and his troupe of clown acrobats brought forth a considerable ovation in aerial and tumbling acts. Springing from a spring board the most adept of the hurdlers, led by Mr. Frazee himself, would turn consecutive somersaults in the air before they landed on mats some 20 feet away.

The girls came in for their share of laughter in the special "Spark Plug" number. Here, too, the imagination was necessary. Unusual dancing steps were stepped off by this acrobatic horse.

Two of the best numbers of the evening were in the girl gym drills, put on under the direction of Miss Smith. One was a drill act in which 50 gym girls gave a demonstration of the work they have in school. Uniform beating of dumb bells added much to this scene.

The prettiest drill and perhaps the best act of the night was that of the advanced gym classes with Indian clubs.

Music for the evening was furnished by the high school orchestra, disguised as clowns, under the direction of Miss Winifred Avis.

F. B. Creighton was official announcer for the circus proper.

Testimony of events leading up to and immediately preceding the shooting of Robert Glennie were related from the witness stand by persons at the scene. Chief of these was Mrs. Glennie, mother of the dead youth and divorced wife of defendant, who collapsed at sight of her ex-husband as he sat calmly and unmoved with his attorneys.

Glennie was captured in Oklahoma after a chase that started immediately after he had slain his son on the steps of their home at Byers. He was brought to Henrietta and has been held in the county jail here since that time.

YET TIME TO MAKE BUMPER CROP--TERRELL

Agricultural Department Head Insists Botton Can Break Record

NEED MORE FEEDS

He Warns Farmers That Increased Planting Unnecessary

AUSTIN, April 30.—(AP)—Because of the shortage of feed crops, Commissioner George B. Terrell of the department of agriculture today warned Texas farmers to plant more feed crops. He insists there is yet plenty of time to make good feed crops and a bumper cotton crop.

Because acreage cannot be determined before June 1, the usual report on condition and acreage scheduled for May 1, will not be published, until that time, he said.

"Reports from various sections of the state indicate that good rains have fallen in more than half of the state and lighter showers in other sections," he said. "Indications are strong that the drouth is broken and other sections will soon be blessed with good rains."

Mr. Terrell warned the farmers not to "go wild on cotton." Texas planted 16,000,000 acres of cotton last year and made about 4,800,000 bales, requiring almost three and a half acres to make a bale, he declared.

"The cost of producing cotton is too high under such conditions, about 28 cents last year," he said. "We should plant less cotton, plant a better variety, give it better cultivation and produce more per acre at less cost. This is the essence of good farming.

"The extended drouth has curtailed the planting of corn and many farms fear to plant corn so late and wheat and oat crops have failed in some sections, all of which will encourage the planting of more land in cotton with the probability that something like 18,000,000 acres may be planted. This, in my judgment, would be a calamity. If a bumper crop is made, the price will be reduced below the cost of production, and if we have a wet summer, the weevil will be destructive and the large acreage and small yield, with the loss of feed crops, will bankrupt the farmers.

"With a cotton crop of 12,000,000 bales we are sure to get 25 cents or 30 cents per pound, but with a larger crop the price will be reduced in proportion to the amount raised above the 12,000,000 bales."

Big Lake Area Is Defined Once More

SAN ANGELO, April 30.—The Big Lake field of Reagan county is denied another extension with the failure of McCamey and Johnson university No. 1, southeast corner of the southeast of the southwest of section 13, block 9, a mile north of the nearest production, to pick up the regular pay. Wednesday it was announced the well was 3,040 feet deep and drilling, expecting to go far enough to pick up the sulphur water which heralds failures there.

The well is two and a half miles north and a bit west of Best and a mile north and slightly east of Big Lake's No. 11 in the southeast corner of section 24. It follows upon the failure of two wells east of the field drilled by Texon No. 2 Oil corporation to pick up the pay.

P.)—The soviet government today made the largest concession it has ever granted in signing a 50-year contract with the British Lena Gold Fields Corporation for the exploitation of the Lena gold fields in Siberia, which are estimated to contain more than $100,000,000 worth of gold. American banking interests will participate to the extent of 50 per cent in the investment.

E. A. Landreth No. 1 Moberly, in the southeast corner of the northeast of the northwest of section 13, had gas between 800 and 900 feet and is drilling.

The oil well is Hope-Albany Oil company No. 1 Moberly, in the northeast of the southeast of the northwest of section 12, west of the Tannehill pool, but it is completing and no production figures are yet available, though it is estimated at 25 barrels.

LAREDO, Tex., April 30.—Henne, Winch and Fariss No. 1 well, block 13, survey 256, Jim Hogg county, blew in at 9 o'clock last night, marking either the discovery of a new pool or a wide extension of the Henne, Winch and Fariss pool. Oil was thrown over the top of the derrick and from indications it looks like a big well. Estimates are from 2,000 to 3,000 barrels up, but it is impossible to place an accurate estimate at present. EASTEN OIL SURVEY

Federal Order Calls For Hurry In Colorado

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Federal surveyors have been directed to hasten a re-survey of the rich Garfield county, Colorado, oil shale district which the interior department said today is expected to reveal fraudulant mineral locations. The field has a potential oil ouput estimated at more than 100,000,000 barrels. The re-survey will be expedited, the department said, "in view of the magnitude of the interests involved as well as to protect the interests of the government. Flappers to Flap Unmolested After House Bill Passes

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., April 30.—Designation of women of Florida as "flappers" may continue with impunity and cigar dealers will not be forced to place wooden likenesses of Indians in front of their stores as a result of action by the house of representatives today.

Consideration of bills dealing with these questions was indefinitely postponed which has the effect of rejecting the proposed legislation.

One bill would have provided that reference of any woman of the state as a "flapper" would have been construed as an offense against the peace and dignity of the state and the other if enacted into law would have resulted in the installation of a statue of a wooden Indian before each cigar store in the state.

THEY ARE COMING HOME.

American colonists from Bolivia, South America, landed in the city of New York the other day. It was a return trip. They had settled in Bolivia as farmers and lost all they had. They said they were starving when agents of the Standard Oil company advanced the money to defray their passage to the United States.

Not many years ago William H. Murray was a resident of Corsicana. He was known to fame as Alfalfa Bill and he pursued the law. Corsicana was a quiet place and Alfalfa Bill moved to the Indian territory where he married the daughter of one of the big chiefs of an Indian tribe, a woman of education and fine personal charm.

Statehood came and Alfalfa Bill was president of the Oklahoma state constitution convention in 1906. A year later he became speaker of the house in the first legislature which undertook to vitalize the constitution. Next he captured a seat in congress and held it several terms. In 1916 Alfalfa Bill was defeated for renomination by Tom D. McKeown, who has been holding the seat ever since.

Then it was that Alfalfa Bill said it was his ambition to have the reputation of establishing the first important colony in South America on a permanent basis. On the first tract for which he obtained a grant from the Bolivian government, Alfalfa Bill began settling American colonists with two to three hundred acres for each family.

Now the colonists are beating their way back. They say that the land was too arid and untillable and also too far from a railroad to market any crops that might be grown. Alfalfa Bill might have found a paradise in Texas. Opportunity was his. He might have found a paradise in Oklahoma. For years he was setting on the top of the Oklahoma world.

He had the wanderlust and South America caught him. He induced many Americans to go there. Now they are coming home. Alfalfa Bill isn't coming home. That is, the former colonists say that he isn't. He is organizing another colony of Americans to amass riches under the flag of Bolivia.

"What fools these mortals be." Why should a Texan desert his state for Bolivia? Why should a citizen of Oklahoma desert his state for Bolivia.

THE PARENT'S DEBT.

What do parents owe their children?

A sound mind in a sound body.

This is all.

He that has these two, has little more to wish for; and he that wants either of them, will be but little the better for anything else.

John Locke observed that men's happiness or misery is in most part of their own making—"he, whose mind directs not wisely, will never take the right way; and he, whose body is crazy and feeble, will never be able to advance in it."

"I confess," he wrote, "there are some men's constitutions of body and mind so vigorous, and well framed by nature that they need not much assistance from others; but by the strength of their natural genius, they are from their cradles carried towards what is excellent; and by the privilege of their happy constitutions, are able to do wonders.

"But examples of this kind are but few; and I think I may say, that of all men we meet with, nine parts of them are what they are, good or evil, useful or not, by their education."

Locke wrote this in the seventeenth century. In the light of our increased knowledge of men's minds and inner natures, we disagree with him today concerning the relative importance of heredity and eddcation, but the latter still is the greatest single factor in man's existence once he is born.

Education is not all a matter of books. The parent's duty is not done when he sends his child to school regularly.

We repeat, the parent's duty to his child is simple —a sound mind in a sound body; but this end is not to be gained entirely in the schoolhouse. The parent must accomplish the biggest part of the task.

The parent must always keep in mind that the little, or almost insensible impressions on our tender infancies, have important and lasting consequences; and there it is, as in the fountains of some rivers, where a gentle application of the hand turns the flexible waters in channels, that make them take quite ordinary courses; and by this direction given them first in the source, they receive different tendencies, and arrive at last at very remote and distant places.

MADDEN HAS A PLAN.

Congressman Martin B. Madden of Illinois is chairman of the house appropriations committee. He expects more than $350,000,000 surplus in the next fiscal year and a plan for a rebate of surplus to taxpayers each year has been revived by the Chicago lawmakers. He is of the opinion that the next congress should hand this surplus of $350,000,000 back to the taxpayers.

President Coolidge is said to be enforcing the strictest economy this year, and his leaders will exert every effort to make tax reductions which will reach from those paying in the high surtax brackets to the lowest taxpayers. Expenses of government will be reduced below the $3,000,000,000 mark this year.

There is a frugail economist at the head of the federal government. William Allen White of Kansas predicts that the president will have a rocky road to travel in the near future. "He will have a congress on his hands."

LO, THE POOR INDIAN.

Jackson Barnett, a 75-year-old Creek Indian of Oklahoma, reputed to be the richest Indian in the world, with a fortune estimated of about $5,000,000, "all done in oil," has appealed to the federal courts to rid him of a woman, with a grown daughter, who claims to be his wife. He alleges that she lured him into a taxicab, spirited him 40 miles away, forcibly married him and all to get possession of his fortune. And now the wrongs of poor Lo, the richest Indian in the world, will be given a federal court airing.

CONCEALED RICHES.

A story has been going the rounds of the press of a man by the name of Nils Fischer.

He is the son of one of the richest men in Sweden.

Some time ago he disappeared and for several months was advertised for by his family.

He seemed to be suffering some mental aberration. While hungry and in rags he read a notice posted up on the wall of the Y. M. C. A. This was after he had begged a meal at the Y. M. C. A.

"Aimlessly walking about the big room," said the press report, "the blond young man, ragged and penniless, a typical, futile derelict among the mass of human wreckage paused in front of the bulletin board.

"Directly in front of him was a large poster, a duplicate of the thousands which have been showered over the continent since December sixth."

Then his slumbering brain awoke. He reported to police headquarters and said he was probably the man who was advertised.

He was rescued by an agent of his father and placed under medical care.

Althought an heir to great riches he deemed himself poor and was leading the life of a tramp.

There are many more men and women in the city who are leading desperate lives who are moral millionaires.

They have stores of courage, faith and spiritual energy that they do not themselves suspect. All the world is theirs and they have only to go up and claim it.

The instrumentality by which a poor man or woman gets hold of these riches is called faith, or courage. It can be utilized at any time.

Those who give up to failure, commit suicide or otherwise yield themselves in the battle of life, are not aware of their hidden riches.

How few of us realize the amount of force contained within ourselves! How few have drawn on the resources of the universe which are ours to command.

MAGNUS WASN'T DRUNK.

Magnus Johnson was a senator from Minnesota. Now he is down on the farm. A reptile of the enemy press, one A. T. Jacobs by name, printed a cruel libel away back in March. He said that Magnus had come from the tall sticks to the bright lights in the city of Minneapolis loaded up on lubricating fluid, became as drunk as a bat, was hauled before a police court judge, entered a plea of guilty and paid a fine.

Back in the big sticks Magnus heard the story. He was as mad as a terrible Swede can get. He went before a grand jury and he had the reptilian writer of the enemy press indicted for criminal libel.

Now the reptile writer is under bond to appear in court when the case is called and tell to the world why he printed the story which made a howling drunkard of the farmer statesman who is a power in the farm-labor councils of Minnesota.

David Crockett had a famous motto, "Be sure you are right and then go ahead."

FIRST OF THE LIZZARD FAMILY.

How old is Ann? How old is the earth? An armored lizzard judged to be approximately 16,000,000 years old has been found by Leroy Kay of the Carnegie museum expedition of Utah. This new find is said to be one of the most perfect specimens in the world.

Reverend J. Frank Norris of Fort Worth is the most eminent geologist of Pantherville, and in the spiritual world he admits that he has no peer when it comes to the mysteries of the dead ages concerning the creation of the earth and all its inhabitants thereof.

Scientist Norris should preach a sermon on the Utah lizzard, how he happened, when he happened, why he happened and where he is going.

Uncommon Sense

By JOHN BLAKE.

The Pursuit of Happiness.

A baseball player, denied food during an attack of influenza, becomes hungry after the fever subsides.

He orders and eats a large beefsteak and a great many fried potatoes.

For three days thereafter he is sick—quite sick.

And all over America, and in England as well, people becoie greatly excited about his condition, madly peruse bedside buletins and think more about him than about almost any other topic of the day.

A criminal who has escaped from the penitentiary, where he is serving a long time as a robber, breaks out, and kills a policeman in a far away town.

After a long hunt he is recaptured and put on trial.

Again people become greatly excited, take sides as to his guilt or innocence, and follow every detail of the trial.

Naturally the newspapers print the news that people are interested in. If they did not they would cease to have readers very soon, and lacking readers they would have to go out of business.

The people are in pursuit of happiness. Reading stories of this kind apparently makes them happy.

Thinking about baseball players' stomach aches, and the trials of bank robbers gives them a thrill.

So do the divorces and remarriages of moving picture actresses, and a hundred and one things which do not affect them personally in the least.

Just why these things bring happiness is not always clear. It is also a little puzzling why a crowd gathers round to see a motorist change a tire, or to watch a man painting a flagpole high above the street.

And the most puzzling thing of all is how people find the time to do these things.

Few of them can get their work accomplished without working far longer than they want to.

Practically none of them are doing as well in business as they would like to.

And if you asked any of them what constituted happiness they would tell you it was the independence from worry which only a competence or a good prospect of a competence will bring.

Yet any little diversion will center the attention of a majority of people upon it, and hold it there until it ceases to be a diversion.

There was far more interest in the baseball player's stomach ache than there was in the sudden death of the greatest American painter. Plenty of time to find out just what the batter ate that made him sick, and how long he was in bed.

One wonders sometimes why it is that so many people are just a jump ahead of the wolf, and are never sure of maintaining that lead.

And yet when he thinks about what constitutes happiness and chains the public attention he ceases to wonder.

While people are thinking about things which are of absolutely no importance, opportunity knocks, rings the bell, and open breaks down the door to get in, but they are too busy being happy in their own way to pay any attention whatever.

Irrigation

The Quantity of Water Needed for An Irrigation.

Many experienced irrigators do not know just how much water should be applied to any given crop to get the best results. Yet there is a proper amount of water for each crop and each soil.

For the best plant growth the soil must be saturated. What is desired is that each soil particle be surrounded with a film of moisture, but that the spaces betwee neach soil grain be filled with air.

At any temperature below the boiling point there is a small amount of moisture in even the driest soils. Such moisture is called hygroscopic moisture No matter how dry the dust, is has this moisture in it. It amounts to from one to five per cent by weight of the soil. Hygroscopic moisture is not available for plants.

Depending upon the fineness of the soil and the kind of crop ideal growing conditions require that there be present from 7 to 25 per cent of moisture by weight.

The depth to which a soil should be moistened by irrigation water is equal to the depth of the penetration of the roots of the particular plants growing. Root penetration varies from as much as 50 feet in the case of alfalfa and trees to as little as one foot for some kinds of garden truck.

Suppose we have a crop which penetrates four feet in the soil; that our soil is getting dry, only having about 10 per cent of moisture; and that we want to increase this to 15 per cent which is the proper amount for this particular type of soil. The soil weighs 100 pounds to the cubic foot. Therefore the amount of moisture we wish to add is 5 per cent by weight of the soil or for a depth of four feet we need 20 pounds of water per square foot of land surface.

Water weights 62.5 pounds per cubic foot. So twenty pounds of water is equal to a bout four inches in depth. In other words for this particular crop and soil a four inch irrigation is needed. This of course, does not consider the losses from evaporatio

MATTERS OF HEALTH

Faulty living causes high blood pressure and high blood pressure is the precursor of apoplexy — hence the importance of the annual physical examination.

Too often the high powered aristocrat of the road leads a swift but short life while the cheap, chugging flivver reaches a youthful and useful age.

People who are indifferent about their health should plan to spend five weeks on their vacations — two on the road, three in the hospital.

'Twas Nature's intention.
To practice prevention
When she moulded the form of a man
But, with money and leisure,
The man wanted pleasure,
So nature abandoned her plan.

It is perfectly safe to eat fish and drink milk at the same meal, provided that neither is contaminated.

There's this about "rose fever," you can sneeze it with flowers.

POEMS THAT LIVE

TO THE FRINGED GENTIAN

Thou blossom bright with autumn dew,
And colored with the heaven's own blue,
That openest, when the quiet light
Succeeds the keen and frosty night.

Thou comest not when violets lean
O'er wandering brooks and springs unseen,
Or columbines, in purple dressed,
Nod o'er the ground-bird's hidden nest.

Thou waitest last, and comest alone.
When woods are bare and birds are flown,
And frosts and shortening days portend
The aged year is near his end.

Then doth thy sweet and quiet eye
Look through its fringes to the sky,
Blue—blue—as if that sky let fall
A flower from its cerulean wall.

I would that thus, when I shall see
The hour of death draw near to me,
Hope, blossoming within my heart,
May look to heaven as I depart.

What Today Means To You

By MARY BLAKE.

TAURUS.

The aspects of today are quite benign and indicate a general contented frame of mind without creating any special urge to do things out of the ordinary. This is a propitious opportunity for engaging in important correspondence and for entering into agreements or contracts careful and thoughtful deliberation. The vibrations indicate that many a problem that has vexed you in the past, will, under the favorable conditions of today, become easy of accomplishment and difficulties that have existed heretofore will be easily overcome. In the evening the same conditions prevail, and denote that you will expetience exceptional happiness and contentment in the home and social circle.

A child born today will be both physically and mentally erratic. At times it will inspire much hope and confidence by its wonderful physical condition. Just as suddenly it will create dismay and worry by transitory but none the less serious ailments. Exactly in the same way its characteristics will at times appeal to one and all, and it will then rank as one of the best. At other times, the things that it does will cause anguish and distress, if not despair. Its disposition will be complex — at times very gay, at other times depressed. Its character will be just as changeable at certain times dependable and reliable; at others, undependable and unreliable. At no time will it show for any considerable period constancy or continued force.

If today is your birthday, you should, by birth, be a leader. You have a great determination, remarkable will power, attractive personality, and possess the ability not only to play but to create. You are gifted with many talents, and have read very much and absorbed all that is good from what you have read. In spite however, of these assets, your material success has not been as great as your friends were led to believe it would be. This regrettable condition is only attributable to the fact that at times mercy is lacking in your decisions, as you fail to treat those under you with that consideration which they merit. They are attracted to you, but you are attracted to them; and unless there be a mutality of interest and recipirocal mutual respect and regard, any plan, no matter how well prepared, cannot be carried out to a successful finish.

Successful people born on this date are: Junius Brutus Booth, actor; George Inness, artist; Daniel B. Wesson, inventor and manufacturer; Robert Clarke, pioneer publisher; Wharton Barker, financier; Marie Cordelli, novelist.

HOW IT STARTED

"BUGBEAR"

Literally this word means "a bear goblin," or "a bear of a goblin"! To indulge a little further in slang, it is "a whale of a fight"!

"Bugbear" for an imaginary fear, a specter, ogre, scarecrow, takes its origin in the old and now obsolete significance of the word "bug" as a hobgoblin. Derived from the Welsh "bwg," which meant a specter or an elf, the word is found in several passages of Shakespeare used with this old sigificance.

So "bugbear" is simply a bear-goblin, something particularly frightful. And though its modern sigificance is in light vein it is the old form that the word has survived in our language

More Truth Than Poetry

AROUND AND AROUND

I worked through the years of my youth on a farm
But, though toiling from morning till night,
Put sweat on my forehead and strength in my arm,
It gave me but little delight.
I hated the meadow, I hated the wood,
And the cow with her discordant bell,
I loathed the whole place, and as soon as I could,
I came to the city to dwell.

I have toiled in the city for long weary years,
But life is still lacking in charm,
And often when spring with its sunshine appears,
I think of that lovely old farm;
I long for the song of the frogs in the dell,
As the light is beginning to wane,
And the thin distant sound of the musical bell
When the cow ambles home down the lane.

I dream of the scent of the newly turned soil,
And the orchards in blossom beyond,
I think—as I sit in the office at toil—
Of lilies that mantled the pond;
Of the hills that the showers have clothed with new green,
Of the song of the home coming wren,
And if ever I earn enough money I mean
To buy te old farmstead again.

Yet I know very well that if ever I do,
When I've lived in the country a while,
The skies will not seem to me nearly so blue—
Nor the orchard to wear the same smile,
The lure of the wildwood will not be as strong
As it was in the brave days of yore,
And I'll presently sell the old farm for a song
And come back to the city once more!

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

HAVE YOU WORKED AND SLAVED FOR THE CHILDREN WHO NEVER APPRECIATE YOU?—IF SO, YOU HAVE NO ONE TO BLAME BUT YOURSELF, FOR SELFISH AND UNGRATEFUL CHILDREN ARE MOTHER-MADE.

"My daughter is so selfish toward me," wailed a mother to me the other day, "she never consders my comfort or happiness in any way whatever. Since the day she was born I have never had a thought except for her.

"I have given her the best of everything. I have worn old clothes in order that she might have fine new ones. I have done without the things I wanted that she might indulge her every desire. I have gone to the places that she wished to go to, instead of the places where I wished to go.

"I have cooked and sewed and waited upon her like a salve, but instead of appreciating all that I have done for her she takes it as a matter of course. She thinks any old cast-off is good enough for mother, and never dreams of doing anything she doesn't want to do for my pleasure.

"And that is my reward for all the sacrifices I have made for her?"

"Say rather that, as the result of all the sacrifices that you have made for your daughter," I replied, "your girl is just exactly what you have made her. You have put in twenty-two years of conscientious work in erecting a monument of selfishness, and you have no right to complain because it turned out to be a Frankenstein instead of a fireside ornament.

"You wouldn't build a house of mud and garbage cans and expect it to be a white marble palace. How, then, can you expect to build up a child's character with all the meanest characteristics of human nature and expect it to be fine and noble. Impossible. And that is the sort of miracle that you parents expect from your children when you demand that they shall be something totally different from the thing into which you have made them.

"When your daughter was born, she was as plastic as clay in your hands. It was your privilege to mold her into any shape you pleased. You could have taught her to be unselfish, to be considerate, to think of other people, to love and honor and respect you. Instead of that, from her first conscious moment, you taught her to despise you, to think you of no account and not worth considering. You taught her to think only of herself, of her own pleasures and desires, and to get what she wanted at any cost to others.

"Now you whine because your teaching has borne fruit. you are unjust and unreasonable. What we sow, we reap inevitably. If you make yourself a doormat before your children, they will walk over you and kick you about, because they naturally think that you know where you belong in the household and have atken your proper place.

"They would just as naturally have looked up to you if you had placed yourself on a pedestal above them and demanded to be worshiped. Children don't reason about their parents. They just accept them as they are and hold them cheap, or dear, according to the amount the mother and father write on their price tags.

"I have no tears to shed over the sorrows of mothers who have selfish and ungrateful daughters, because every time it is the mother's own fault. She is to blame, not the girl.

"If she had spent part of the clothes money on getting herself some pretty frocks, instead of lavishing it all on daughter, daughter would be proud of mother instead of being ashamed of her. If she had made daughter help with the housework and the sewing, instead of slaving over the cookstove and the sewing machine so that daughter might go free, daughter would think about saving mother and doing things for her.

"If she had asserted her rights to her own personal tastes and pleasures instead of letting daughter's tastes and pleasures rule the household, daughter would show her some consideration and remember mother's likes and dislikes and cater to them.

"There are mothers who are queens int heir families, just as there are mothers who are nothing but the maid-of-all-work in their homes, and it rests with every mother to decide which she will be. And it is the queen mothers who are loved and appreciated, and who have dutiful, unselfish children. The drudge mother gets only the wages of the drudge from her children.

"In reality, the mother who rears her children up to be monsters of selfishness has no right to expect appreciation and gratitude from them because she has done them as ill a turn as one human being can do another. She has warped their characters. She has developed in them traits that mar their happiness and are a handicap to success. She has made them egotists, and they are never satisfied and continually at variance with those about them.

"In particular is selfishness a blight upon a woman's life, for the selfish woman finds it almost impossible to make the sacrifices that wifehood and motherhood demand of her. One of the main reasons why divorce is so prevalent is because when so many selfish girls find that they can't treat their husbands as they did their mothers, they throw up their hands and quit.

"And so," I said to the mother of the selfish daughter, "you are unfair to your daughter. Don't blame her for being what you made her. What else could you expect?"

Members of the Athenian club enjoyed their annual luncheon closing study activities for the year, at the Wichita club Tuesday. The table was beautifully decorated for the occasion, carrying out a color scheme of orange and lavendar, with roses tied with lavendar maline marking the places. Baskets filled with mints also in the favored colors were used.

Mrs. S. P. Jones acted as toastmistress and talked briefly of the Chautauqua course which she expects to direct for the club next year. Mrs. Frank Creighton led an interesting contest on advertisement interpretation. Mrs. H. G. Sub Rosa—Mimi

TOO MUCH PUBLICITY FOR THE GIRL FRIEND

"Hello, Mary. Been trying to talk to you all day. I was wondering whether you could get another girl for Saturday night. Billy Mack wants to come along with me up to your house, and I thought perhaps you'd get some one of your friends to make a fourth."

"Fine, Dick. I'll get Anne Johnson. She's a peach. But now Dick, I want you to promise me one thing—"

"Sure—anything you say," carelessly.

"Well, you mustn't fall for Anne. She's twenty times better looking than I am, and an awfully good dancer. And I know all the boys always fall for her in preference to me. I'll be awfully sore if you do."

Now Dick, being just an average young boy, who is at present not considering any one girl with serious thoughts, and is simply bent on having the best time possible, with the most attractive girls possible, pricks up his ears, when he hears this speech from Mary.

Disregarding the sentimental intimation of her remark, he goes straight to the most interesting part.

"Why—is Anne such a good-looker that she knocks them all dead?"

"She certainly is," this from Mary ruefully. "She's always vamping all my men away from me, and I'll be just furious if you get too interesting Dickie Halliday. I don't think I'll get her at all."

"Aw, come on," Dickie urges. Then realizing his mistake, "not that I'm particularly interested, but Billy likes good-looking, popular women, and I'd like to have him meet a nice one through you."

And that Saturday night, the fickle Dickie, making ready for the double date, attires himself with great care, preparing to meet the dangerous Anne.

And when he does meet her, attracted by the glamour which Mary's account has thrown about her, he is more than likely to fall—being at the age, when falling is not a difficult or a painful process.

Now, what's wrong with this little scene?

Only that Mary very kindly paved the way for Anne's new conquest by talking her up to Dickie in such a way that he couldn't fail to be interested.

Never give your best girl friend too much publicity—especially if she's good-looking. Always be loyal to her, and give her a fair amount of credit.

But don't advertise her so favorably that the fickle male will be instantly all agog.

If you once give him the impression that she's dangerous, your day is done. You're sure to lose him.

Remember that warning a man not to fall for some other girl is simply urging him on in that direction.

Send for "Mimi's Food for Conversation" and "How to Overcome Self-Consciousness," being sure to enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

THURSDAY SEWING CLUB ENTERTAINED.

Lanham Urges Close Acquaintance With Old Masters and Good Books

Recommending a close acquaintance of good books and of the old masters, Congressman Fritz G. Lanham of Fort Worth and Washington, D. C., told women of the Forum at their annual breakfast served at the Country club Thursday that we get first vocabulary, second, diction and third, literary style, from reading. "If we read ten minutes a day from good books, we will enjoy worthwhile recreation and at the same time in 20 years will have received a splendid education", the speaker continued.

"I think before a boy is allowed to see a screen version of a masterpiece, he should have read the book, because if he does not he loses the vocabulary, the diction and style of writing so essential to his education. He also becomes inclined to do his reading in that manner instead of, as he should, and I think that all boys through the adolescent age should be kept well acquainted with good books. I am truly sorry for the lad who has not made the acquaintance of such characters as Huckleberry Finn and Tom Sawyer and for the girl who does not know "Little Nell", Mr. Lanham said when he spoke on the subject, "My Hobby of Books".

Humorous Passages

His talk was filled with humorous bits of reading and he gave pleasing references to "Prue and I" and further suggested his complete familiarity with other masterpieces.

The diction, style and vocabulary of the speaker fully attested that he had the close acquaintance with good books that he recommended to others, and at every pause, his charming oratory received an ovation.

Closing his talk, he referred to the Bible, the great book, advised the reading of the memoirs of God.

The breakfast table was a bower of spring roses intermingled with lighted candles in crystal holders and pencils wrapped to form a rose and stem, marked the plates. Brown County Rains Will Help Drilling

Dispatches from Brown and McCullough counties indicate that heavy rains have fallen in that section. What little drilling has been contemplated for this area recently has in every instance fallen through and been delayed account the shortage of water, and a boom of small proportions has been freely predicted by oil men there if ever the drilling water situation could be relieved.

The shortage in this section was so acute a week ago that farmers were finding it necessary to haul water ten and twenty miles in barrels on wagons from the Colorado river for domestic purposes.

May Day

And the Fashion of Sport Wear!

(As Shown in Our Window)

—Today is May Day—The opening of the out-of-door season—colors—perennially the best for summer. Sport costumes—P. B. M. Company presents correct attire for every occasion and emphasizes the new costumes just bought by their Miss Bernard in New York and being shown now for the first time.

—As you will observe, sport costumes this year prove their greatest smartness by added touches of bright colors. In a gay hat, a tie, a scarf, or a frock this note appears.

Dresses

—On the country club porch any bright day you will find these fashions—Dresses of Kasha, Cashmere, Tub Silks, and Crepe with both long and short sleeves, buttons, tucks, pocket effects, roll collars or Peter Pan styles, circular flares, pleated godets, insets—all slender lines with or without belts. Colors are Maize, Orchid, Blues, Stripes, Prints, Crabapple, Tans, Browns, Reds, Greens, and the flashing high colors.

Coats

—Coats for motoring, boating and general wear will be found in materials of Wildwale, Padrone, Imported Tweeds, Kasha, Cashmere, and Twills. There are circular flares, manish roll collars, double breasted effects, tight sleeves, buttons, patch pockets, belted and unbelted models trimmed in braids, tucks, panels, and tiers, with linings to match.

Hats

—If you infer from the variety of names used to describe them, the different kinds of dressy sport hats as Veranda Hats, Pastime Hats, and Outdooring Hats. If you consider Millinery as music of apparel, then sport hats are the dance music of millinery and there are some rollicking jazz numbers in our stocks, among the good and joyous pieces.

—They are distinguished by audacity of design, or in the use of color and materials—by trimming effects that do not break the lines of the shape

The GILDED ROSE

by May Christie

WHO'S WHO IN THE STORY

Rosilyn Page, the hard-worked daughter of a Long Island inn keeper, finds herself on his death, heiress of a huge fortune. She is deeply in love with

Landis Ridgeway, a charming young fellow in financial difficulties, who visits the inn regularly for 10 years, and was always kind to the lonely girl. His heart has been broken by the faithlessness of

Lydia Harbrook, beautiful and utterly heartless woman of the world who is planning to marry

Stevie VanVorst, a wealthy old roue, although she is fond of Landis.

Mrs. Florence Ridgeway, Landis' mother fearing poverty invites Rosilyn to visit her and her son, and induces Landis to marry Rosilyn, although he loathes himself for taking her advice. Immediately after the ceremony, Rosilyn overhears gossip in which she learns that Landis has married her for her money—she hears herself spoken of as a Gilded Rose. Heartbroken, she prepares to leave on her wedding journey.

"God grant that Landis be good to her!" she murmured inwardly, praying that Lydia Harbrook might never cross his path again.

The ceremony over, the party proceeded to the little house in the East Eighties, and the wedding cake was cut. Everyone was very gay, including the bridegroom, whose laugh rang out oftenest, though a keen observer might have thought his gaiety a little forced. The dark eyes, too, seemed all burned out—although the rest of him, the lean brown face, the splendid figure, were extraordinarily alive and vivid—yet the eyes looked very weary, as though they had come to the end of a long and painful road, and nothing lay beyond, of adventure or of happiness.

"Is anything the matter, darling?" whispered Rosilyn, with love's keen intuition, pausing for a moment before she ran up stairs to change her frock preparatory to departure on the wedding trip. It wasn't possible he still thought of Lydia Harbrook, after having assured her—Rosilyn—that that affair was dead as last year's autumn leaves! He had told her that he loved just her, and only her, and no one else, and she believed him. He wasn't a demonstrative man—sometimes she had wished that he would kiss her oftener—but then men were not as demonstrative as women, were they? And he had paid her the highest compliment in asking her to marry him—and he was splendid, every way—

"Nothing's the matter, except that I have a bit of a headache. A man doesn't get married every day!" He laughed the question off. "Now run change your frock, dear. We've a long ride ahead." (They were going off in the magnificent Rolls Royce the bride had given the bridegroom.)

Rosilyn's happiness returned. She changed into the smart, three-piece suit that had cost six hundred dollars, and was a mere trifle in the marvelous trousseau Mrs. Ridgeway had helped her select.

Just as she was about to emerge to meet her husband, and go downstairs with him to the waiting guests, and off on the enchanted wedding trip—smothered in confetti—through the open cracks of the door she heard a feminine voice murmur—

"Dear Florence, we all congratulate you on your cleverness in bringing off the match. Of course the girl is crazy about him—who wouldn't be, with his good looks and charm?—but some of us were afraid he'd balk at the last minute. Indeed, Rupert tells me that he almost did. He's still mad about the Harbrook girl. Thank your stars she didn't get back from Europe in time to stop the affair—for, with her on the scene even your persuasiveness—"

Rosilyn stood, thunderstruck and taut, her face ashen white.

Then she heard Mrs. Ridgeway's answer.

"Yes, it's the only decent thing Lydia ever did. But Rosilyn is a sweet child, and in time Landis may grow to care for her—I pray he will—"

"Oh, don't worry!" cooed the other. "He's no fool. He'll stick to her, all right. He knows which side his bread is buttered. And she's been extraordinarily generous. But of course she had to be! Rupert calls her the Gilded Rose—it's so appropriate—though I hear some of the girls referring to her as the Sugared Pill—too bad. Ha! ha!"

The voices drifted off, unconscious of the terrible havoc they had wrought. And Rosilyn sank on the edge of the bed, her hands to her burning ears to shut out further ignominy, her brain afire, her eyes too agonized for tears.

The Gilded Rose! Cruel as it was, that had been the kinder name . . . Landis . . . her adored, her wonderful husband . . . had married her only for her money . . . God! How terrible!

CHAPTER XIII.

Lydia Harbrook, waking from sleep to an enchanted morn of spring in Paris, yawned, stretched herself, luxuriously, shook back a stray lock of her fashionably "shingled" head, then pressed the summoning button by the bedside for her morning rolls and coffee, and remarked aloud—(for the sound of her own voice pleased her mightily):—

"After all, there's no place in the world like Paris for a salamander-ish creature such as I!"

Toinette, her maid, appeared, all smiles. (That was one quite charming thing about the French....those smiling faces!)

Bon jour, madame. You have slept well?"?

"Like a top, Toinette. And you?"

The girl shrugged her shoulders, but the good-humored smile still lingered.

"I waited up for madame until half-past three. I thought madame might requere me—"

"Stupid child!" The tone was gentle chiding, but Lydia was flattered, none the less. In her own country, such devotion among 'mesniels' was a trifle rare. "After the Follies' our party visited Montmartre. 'Heaven' to begin with, where Saint Peter let us in with the famous keys. The waiters were dressed as angels, with trailing wings that would flop into the consomme or upset the champagne. It was too funny!"

Toinette shrugged again, ever so slightly, turning up the palms of her small, strong hands with adeprecatory gesture.

"We French....we do not think it droll. It is arranged only to please the visitors, madame."

"And to make money," supplemented Lydia cheerfully. "After all, it's hard cash, isn't it, that makes the world go round?"

Toinette would not venture on this dangerous ground. She asked:

"Did you go to 'hell,' madame, after 'heaven'? They say that one drinks beer out of human skulls, and sits on coffins, and the devil waits on one!"

"Something of the sort," sain Toinette's mistress, laughing. "At Pigale's and LeRat Mort, we danced to the 'ravis-sante' music of the contains. I adored it!"

A tap sounded at the door, and a decorus 'garcon' walked in, bearing a small tray with rolls and coffee. He deposited the tray beside the bed and made his exit.

Toinette fluffed up the pillows for Lydia's greater comfort, wrapped a negligee about her mistress's shoulder, drew back the blinds and let a flood of morning sunshine into the apartment.

Lydia, propped up in bed with the tray upon her lap, could see the wide sweep of the Place de la Concorde and the shimmer of young green in the exquisite gardens of the Tuileries.

Soft airs—albeit stimulating—drifted through the open casements, and the myriad sound of Paris that are like no other noises in the world.

"I adore this town. It goes to my head like wine," announced the lovely lady in the Louis XIV. bed. "Pass me the cigarettes, Toinette. Not these. The Russian ones. I like to smoke when drinking coffee."

Toinette did as she was bid, and then busied herself with tidying up the littered room.

Lydia puffed luxuriously.

Paris in spring time! Gorgeous clothes! Extraordinary chic! Gay times! Extravagance!

And money!

Principally money.

Barely realizing that she voiced her thought aloud, she said:

"In the last analysis, everything in this world hangs on money."

New Free Bridge To Be Strong Tie Between 2 States

Big Structure Crossing Red River Will Unite Texas And Oklahoma

The linking of Texas and Oklahoma with a free bridge at Burkburnett is now in sight and by July actual construction should be under way. The importance of this bridge is more than of local interest and will prove just as valuable to Oklahoma as Texas.

At this time there is only one free bridge under construction between the two states. This is across Red river between Hugo, Okla., and Paris. This bridge will not be completed for some months and pending legislation may delay completion for several months or years. This has been brought about by the attorney general of Texas ruling that it is unlawful to spend Texas money in another state. The bridge across the Sabine river, east of Beaumont is also affected by the order.

Line Is Settled.

Due to the settling of the boundary in Wichita county between the two states, as was done in the supreme court ruling some two years ago, the line has been definitely established, and, in addition, a permit has been secured from the interior Department in Washington for Texas to use the land for bridge purposes. This permit is nothing less than deeding the land to Texas and Wichita county.

The new bridge will be one of the greatest in Texas and perhaps the longest concrete bridge in the south. From abutment to abutment it will measure a trifle over 3,743 feet. The piers will consist of six concrete piles, 10 inches square and driven into the sand, to a depth of 8 feet. To drive the piling it will be necessary to drill an 8-inch hole for each pile. The outer piles will be batted, or driven at an angle of 2 inches to the foot in length. This serves to give added strength to the piers. The piers will be 43 feet apart. The supporting truss will be of concrete and steel, and poured around the piling, thus assuring perfect cementing of the concrete. The floor of the bridge will be of solid concrete and the outer edge of the floor will have a solid concrete buffing bar nine inches high. On top of this buffing bar will be the ornamental railing, also of concrete and steel.

To Cost $326,000.

The bridge will cost approximately $326,000. Of this sum the highway commission of Texas has granted aid to the amount of $163,000. The Oklahoma commissio nis paying $81,500 and Wichita county a like amount The cost of building approaches will be borne by the counties of Wichita and Cotton.

The location of the bridge at Burkburnett was due to the network of paved highways radiating out of Wichita Falls. This city is so situated that it can receive travel from every point of the compass and the state highway commission realizes the importance of this and in the future will have weight in decisions affecting disposition of state and federal funds in this immediate territory.

The new bridge will serve southwest Oklahoma, north and northwest Texas. It also opens the shortest avenue into Oklahoma from west and central Texas. Judge B. D. Sartin has realized the importance of the bridge and given much time and attention in having funds granted. The chamber of commerce of Wichita Falls, Burkburnett, Randlett, Walters and Lawton, the latter three being in Oklahome, have also aided, and the precinct and township commissioners of the counties of Wichita, Cotton and Comanche have given loyal support.

"Through co-operative effort and working in unison has this bridge been made possible. When completed and dedicated it should bring about a better relationship between the people of both states," says Fred L. Haskett, assistant manager of the Wichita Falls chambe of commerce, who with Judge Sartin and County Engineer J. M. Isbell, attended the conference held in Austin Tuesday morning, when funds were granted.

Miss Taylor Leads In Popularity Race For Shrine Rings

Miss Irene Taylor leads the race in the "Miss Wichita" popularity contest that is being held in conjunction with the Shrine circus. Miss Taylor won the 2,500 free votes that was offered to the young lady turning in the largest number of votes during the Shrine ceremonial. Gertrude Green was a close second and these two contestants have left the field far behind, although it looks like a real race for third honors between Maurice Franklin and Thelma Gregg. All are competing for three diamond rings that are offered to the three winners. The rings are now on display at Kluger's jewelry store.

The standing is as follows:

Irene Taylor	53,000
Gertrude Green	40,500
Maurice Franklin	22,000
Thelma Gregg	20,000
Lorean Raney	17,500

There are over 80 babies entered in the Baby show that will be held on Tuesday and Wednesday during the show and the four healthiest and happiest will receive prizes.

Tanner had intended to pitch Vic Pigg this afternoon in Forth Worth if Morgan got through yesterday's game all right. Just who will start now, Bud isn't sure. He doesn't want to use Bob Osborn out of turn, and the rest of the staff is more or less in a bad way.

* * *

Ripper Wheeler was back in uniform again Thursday, and it's possible the midget master may send him to the hilltop.

* * *

Golvin was limping around last night after the game, leading you to believe that he'll be back in the line-up right away. But this morning it's doubtful if he can walk at all. If you've ever jerked a ligament in your ankle you know what I mean, and how she feels the next day. Stiffens right up, sometimes no matter how much care you take of it.

Cowtown Scribes Wrong As Usual.

There Fort Worth scribes certainly do get their wires all crossed up, don't they! After that 14 scoreless innings of battle staged at the Spud plant Tuesday, Papa Boone palavered lengthily in his Fort Worth Record column about the "surprising" good sportsmanship shown by Spudder fans and players throughout. Can you feature that!

* * *

"Can you imagine 14 innings of scoreless baseball without a yelp from player or grandstand—especially in Wichita Falls?" That's Pop Boone talking, the scribe who reigns over a sport desk in the one Texas league city where the wolves howl the loudest, and the bleacherites make it tougher on umpires and visiting athletes than any other burg in the loop. That's pure acid gall for you.

* * *

'TAINT RIGHT.

Visiting players have told the writer that they get a squarer deal in Wichita Falls than in any other city over the circuit, that the fans here on the whole are by far better sports than anywhere else in the league. When the Cats don't win it's difficult indeed for Pop to find something to talk about. Too bad; so sad.

* * *

The Star Telegram yesterday had Carl Williams coming from Portland and making his debut in the Texas league Wednesday. But as all close students of Texas league baseball know, Carl came to the Spudders from Seattle, not Portland, and instead of making his debut Wednesday when he turned the Cats back, 6 to 2, he won his fourth straight Texas league victory. Incidentally, the Telegram would have you believe they don't turn out for baseball in Wichita Falls, for this worthy sheet declared "only 250 fans saw the game." Fact is, there were more than 2,000 present.

* * *

Fort Worth scribes are batting about the same percentage as their team.

* * *

ABOUT BILL DISCH.

Looking at the William J. Disch—L. Theo Belmont controversy from a Wichita Falls and North Texas angle, we would hazard the guess that Uncle Billy will come out on top, and that baseball will again be saved for Texas university.

* * *

The veteran varsity diamond mentor, the greatest college baseball tutor in the world—and that's no idle chirp, can't leave the Longhorns. Lettermen, alumni and students will see to that. Take Uncle Billy Disch, 12 times conference winner, away and baseball at the university will sink into the rank and file with second class college nines of Texas. For Disch on but few occasions has boasted a wealth of material to work with. Few stars have entered Texas university but many have departed after a regular span of training under the wizard coach. William J. Disch is the life of the diamond game down in Austin. Give him an ordinary makeshift squad, and he'll develop you a championship club. That's Uncle Billy, who by the way, time and again has been voted by students the most popular man on the varsity campus.

* * *

FAIR WITH CONFERENCE.

In declaring Henie Odom, classy varsity infielder, ineligible for signing a professional baseball contract, the varsity athletic council is shooting square with the Southwestern conference. No doubt about that, for L. Theo Belmont, athletic directer, and the rest of the council want to see the Longhorns win just as much as anybody else connected with the institution, and we are of opinion that the banning of Odom was a very unpleasant task for them. Odom possibly was the strongest cog in the present baseball machine at State.

DISCH ALWAYS RIGHT

But knowing Disch as closely as we do, having been very intimate with him for years, we don't hesitate in the slightest to declare that taking Henie from the team is not the real cause for Uncle Billy's announced resignation from the varsity athletic staff and subsequent signing with Southern Methodist university pending his possible refusal to retract the resignation. There are personalities and other grievances which have not come to the surface yet in open discussion of the case. For one thing, we know it to be a fact that Disch and Belmont have not been rocking along on a very even tenor, and all outward indications are that L. Theo has been more or less the aggressor. We say indications, for far be it from us to pass judgment on the varsity athletic head.

HAS SCHOOL AT HEART

There is no better man than Billy Disch, no squarer shooter, cleaner cut, nor more likeable a chap. Personally, in any kind of a controversy we would wager our coin on Uncle Billy against the Longhorn athletic council as being the one who is in the right. Uncle Bill is quitting—that is, if he really does so, because of insinuations cast and reflections made by the athletic council in its probe of the Odom case. There is not a man at Texas university who has the school at heart more than Uncle Billy. More power to him, and if the university cannot see its way to prevail on him to stay in Austin at any cost it will be a sad day in the history of varsity athletics.

WALT GOLVIN TURNS ANKLE IN CAT MELEE

Injury Puts Tanner Force In Bad Way For Next Week or So

PANTHERS GRAB FINAL

Cowtowners Pound Two Hurlers For 14 to 6 Victory

By BLONDY CROSS

Hopping on Dick Morgan in the first frame for a quartet of base wallops and the same number of runs, the Cats routed the big Spudder right hander in a hurry Thursday afternoon. Vic Pigg was rushed to the rescue by the midget master but Victor was returned no victor. He was exceedingly wild, and was touched up enough before the round was over to run the tabulation up to 7 to 0 Felines before our Spudders ever got a cut at the ball. Vic rocked along fairly well the rest of the way except in two stanzas, the fourth and the ninth, and when the melee had subsided in that final frame, Jakie Atz's kitten litter had grabbed off the fest 14 to 6. No alibi, the Panthers clawed a pair of hurlers with gusto, and punched the sphere to safe territory exactly 16 times. A couple of the blows were of the mangy type, and there was an element of luck attached to the tabulation of a pair or Cat markers. But that's to be expected when any ball club hustles out and gets runners on the paths with the frequency the stockyards brigade did.

A Real Loss.

Not only did the Spudders lose the ball game, but they're minus their first baseman now. The game doesn't matter. There are plenty more of those on the Texas league calender, but the loss of larruping Walter Golvin is nothing short of dire disastes. The brilliant fielding a d agate murdering initial station master severely sprained his left ankle during the third inning while getting back to the base. Walt had just biffed an infield single at the keystone, Dorman was on first and Bodie second. The hit was strictly an infield bingle, and the ball was stopped back of the middle sack by Windle. He couldn't make the play to first, but had Bodie attempted to leg it all the way from second to the platter no doubt would have cut him down with ease. Pingus held third, and Freddy ran up on him. Golvin took his turn at first. The Cat infield tried to hem Ping in between third and the plate. Dorman made it back to second. And Ping retained life at third When Dick Smith hit him in the back with the ball. Walt hustled back to first, hooked his foot on the bag, and turned his ankle.

The sprain probably will keep Golvin out of the lineup for a week or more. It is possible that he may return to the game inside the next few days, but it's doubtful.

Skipper Buddy ran for Walt, and played short the remainder of the game. Distel went to first. Looked like Hal Chase out there.

The Cats and Spudders will hook up in Cowtown Friday afternoon. From there the gang jumps to Dallas for a three-day stand, then returning to Wichita Falls with Beaumont for a trio. Houston, San Antonio, Waco and Fort Worth follow. Tanner may continue with the same infield lineup as he finished the game Thursday, but it is possible he will shoot Carl Williams to first. Williams is a general all-around player, and can hold down the initial sack almost as good as he can pitch. If Buddy should use Carl it will prove tough sledding for the big pitcher. Right now, Williams and Bob Osborn appear to be the whole Spudder mound staff, and Carl can't take his turn on the hill and at first daily.

Spuds Indicated for Awhile.

For a while there, it seemed the Spudders stood a chance of overcoming that first inning lead. They got to Jimmy Walkup in the second for a run on walk, infield out, and single at third by White, and then shook him up again in the third for three more. Double by Pigg and singles by Distel, Bodie, Dorman and Golvin punche dthe Cat southpaw groggy and had Atz warming up another pitcher. The round was fatal though and the trio of counters meant nothing for it was during this rush that Golvin was injured.

The Cats came back in the fourth, took advantage of walks, a jungle heave by Dorman, and a pair of onebasers to score three.

The Spudders scored in the fifth, and then sunk Walykup with three bingles in a row in the seventh. Atz yanked the left hander and sent Ralph Head back to the slab. The Spudders had chased Ralph the day before, but couldn't connect on this occasion.

Mullen and Sears of the Panthers fattened their slugging averages. Mullen poled three doubles and a single out of six times up. Ziggy hit one two-baser and a pair of bingles out of five. Bodie and Dorman were the only Spudders who didn't fall off a notch in their hitting. Ping rattled three singles out of five and Freddy poked two out of three.

LOUISIANA GETS CUP

CHICAGO, April 30—Louisville with more than 14,000 spectators at its opening American Association baseball game won the Thomas Hickey cup for largest opening day attendance in the league. Milwaukee the last club to open at home today had but few more than 5,000 due to cold weather.

While Master Charlie and Quatrain have been drawing the major portion of the attention directed to date toward the historic Kentucky Derby, to be run at Churchill Downs, May 16, there are six or eight other entries that have shown form that demands attention.

And, knowing the history of the Derby and the frequent upsets attending the renewals of the classic, close followers of the racing game are giving much thought to these nags.

It wasn't but a few days ago that the busy clockers caught Step Along, Fred M. Grabner's entry, stepping a workout mile at Lexington in 1:42 2-5. The young hopeful finished in easy fashion carrying close to the derby weight.

Some two weeks ago Almadel, Headley colt, circled the same track a second faster than the time Step Along hung up. This showing was entirely unexpected. The track was heavy. The son of Ultimus and Busy Lass was carrying around 118 pounds. Despite these conditions, he was fighting the bit at the finish.

By reason of his showing in running second in the Louisiana Derby in March, Col. E. R. Bradley's colt, Buttin' In, should carry considerable money in the Kentucky event.

Wise birds will tell you that King Nadi, J. J. Troxler colt, has been worked too fast—that he will be a bit stale when the barrier is sprung for the big event. The fact that a $40,000 offer for the colt, made a week or 10 days ago, was turned down, should refute this belief, however.

Then there is Hedgefence. This horse wasn't started last season but in the Louisiana races last winter showed his blood to advantage while Quatrain, ranking favorite for the Kentucky Derby, was hogging the limelight with his performances, of which the most impressive was the winning of the Louisiana Derby.

And how about Stimulus, winner of the Pimlico Futurity last year?

And Sunny Man, winner of two big events at Saratoga?

And Single Foot, winner of five important events last season, including the Saratoga special.

Then there are Our General, Swope, Nicholas, Kentucky Cardinal—a half dozen others who boast 1924 records that demand attention and careful perusal.

Cold Weather And Muddy Track No Terrors to Ponies

Kentucky Derby Entries Out For Warming up Process Thursday

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 30.—Cold weather and a muddy track five seconds slow to the mile failed to keep the Kentucky derby candidates, quartered at Churchill Downs, from working out today although diitle was asked of the colts in the way of speed.

Captain Hal showed he can run on any kind of a track when he stepped five-eighths of a mile in 1:03 3-5 and galloped out the three quarters in 1:17 3-5. While he never has been set down for the derby route, he has made many fast trials at shorter distances and apparently thrived on the mud.

Good as Ever.

Billy Walker, veteran jockey and trainer, remarked after the colt pulled up that his work was as good as he ever saw in the kind of going Captain Hal had.

The Cincinnati stable's Louis Rubenstein also showed a good trial in the mud when he stepped the quarter in :24 1-5; half in :49 2-5 and three quarters in 1:18. This colt seems particularly good over a soft track and stable talk has it that he will go in the derby should the course be heavy May 16.

Russell Cave, D. Borgemann's derby colt, went seven-eighths in the creditable time of 1:34.

Quatrain Out.

Quatrain was out for a gallop and opened up at a quarter in :25. The Louisiana derby winner looks to be in fine trim. Lee O. Cotner was sent at a canter around the course once. This colt looks as fit as hands can make him and may be sent to Pimlico to fill his engagement in the Preakness stakes.

Drowsy Waters was also out for a long gallop and Slice breezed three quarters. Boon Companion was out but was hustled back to the barn quickly when he showed signs of having a cold. Trainer Woodman placed him under observation.

Keotah to Meet Monte in Ranch Bout Friday P.M.

Good Boxing Bill Now Assured For Rodeo Visitors

Everything will be in readiness this evening for the big Rodeo boxing exhibition, which will be staged at the Triangle Ranch Friday night at 8:45 o'clock.

In addition to the two main events already anounced a match has been announced between Frankie Keotah of Anadarko, Okla., and Wildcat Monte of this city.

This is Keotah's first appearance before the local fight fans but from all indications he will prove a worthy opponent for the local featherweight flash. Keotah spent three years in the Carlisle Indian academy where he made an enviable record in various kinds of athletics. Later he spent six months in Leslie's stable of fighters in Chicago, where he received some good boxing instructions. An interesting card has been arranged.

KANE OFF TO N. Y.

CHICAGO, April 30.—Eddie Kane manager of Tom Gibbons left today for New York to select a training camp for the St. Paul heavyweight, who meets Gene Tunney in a 15-round contest to a decision in New York June 5.

Kane said he would pick out a camp in Long Island and that Gibbons would start east on May 5, so as to put in a month of hard training.

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, April 30.—Wet grounds prevented Texas A. and M. college from playing Arkansas university the second of a two-game series today. An attempt will be made to play the Arkansas nine a double header here Saturday or Monday.

The Razorbacks left late today for Houston where they will play Rice university two games.

Home Run Only a Double, But Scores Fire Department

VAN COUVER, B. C., April 30.—"Rusty" Bouting, the Babe Ruth of Van Couver's Sand Lots took a hitch in his belt, spat on his hands and twisted his cap rackishly over one ear when he stepped to the bat for the Van Couver Bear Cats this afternoon,—and then he broke up the game.

The hard smitten ball crashed against a fire alarm box a half block away, and rang in an alarm, which brought most of the city's fire department to the baseball lot. A minor panic in St. Luke's hospital, adjoining the lot, as the apparatus clattered about with firemen in the belief that a fire was hidden within the hospital's walls.

"Rusty" didn't complete his home run. When he reached second he turned right-about to join his fleeing companions.

Carpenter Beats Arnold in Legion Ten-Round Bout

Renato Torres Puts Night Punch to Battling Kinnard

Moco Carpenter, Wichita Falls lightweight outclassed Clude Arnold of Forth Worth in the American Legion ten-round main event Thursday night. Arnold was substituted for Loren Houtchens, Cowtown miller originally billed to scrap Moco who was injured yesterday morning.

Arnold proved a game and tough lad, also a willing scrapper. But he was not clever enough to cause Carpenter much trouble. The Fort Worth battler took gobs of punishment, but stayed the limit, and fought hard all the way.

Moco couldn't land on the button, and the only solid blows he got across to the head were too high to stop his opponent. He carried the fight to Arnold, however, in nearly every round, and won the bout by a goodly margin.

Legion officials uncovered a tornado in Renato Torres, Mexican battler, who put the dreams poke to Battling Kinnard in the second round of a scheduled eight-rounder. Torres looked as if he carries the real stuff with him. He probably will be matched with Duke Trammel next Thursday, said Promoter Wofford.

Battling Jennings, Henrietta welter, again came through with his hefty right for a knockout. The rugged and hard fighting Jennings stopped Whitey Martin of Wichita Falls in the first round of a scheduled six-rounder. Martin tried to box the slugging Jennings, instead of boring in with him, so the Battler put a quick finish to the proceedings.

Battling Martin beat Six-Second Smith in four rounds, and young Leo Voss won the decision over another midget in the curtain raiser.

DALLAS, April 30.—A misjudged line drive to the outfield that allowed Harris to reach third base on the resulting triple, and Leonard's long sacrifice fly to right that sent Francis into deep right to make a great catch, enabled Southern Methodist university to defeat Oklahoma A. and M. college 4 to 3, here today.

BILLY DISCH AND BELLMONT IRON OUT ROW

Veteran Texas U. Baseball Coach to Stay, He Says

HOLD A CONFERENCE

He And Athletic Director Come to Understanding On Quarrel

AUSTIN, April 30.—Billy Disch will remain as University of Texas baseball coach, it was virtually assured late today after a few minutes' conference between Disch and Athletic Director L. Theo Bellmont, in Bellmont's office.

Disch was reported in long distance telephone communication with Southern Methodist university at Dallas to obtain release from a contract promise, it was reported.

"Peace," between Disch and Bellmont was reached after a letter Bellmont wrote to Disch at noon. When Disch received the letter, he went to Bellmont's office and after only a few minutes both came out reporting an understanding had been reached.

Football Tackle Is Useful Adjunct In Halting Highwayman

NEW YORK, April 30.—A football tackle prevented the escape of Otto Schmidt, 38-year-old German waiter, after he had robbed a broker's messenger of securities worth $68,055 in a lower Broadway building today.

Schmidt waylaid Joseph Keough, the messenger and knocked him down as he stepped from an elevator on the fifth floor. Seizing the young man's satchel Schmidt ran down the stairs with Keough in pursuit, yelling, "stop thief."

On the third floor another messenger Joseph Kress, 19, tackled Schmidt, football style, and brought him down. The two messengers held their man until a policeman arrived.

In Tombs court Schmidt was held in bail of $10,000 for hearing Monday. Unable to furnish bail of $10,000 he was committed to the Tombs.

Travelers Nose Out American Refinery 3-2 In 10 Rounds

GARDEN ERROR OPENS WAY TO OIL DOWNFALL

Skeen Spills a Fly And a Safe Smack Wins It.

IS HARD FOUGHT

Teams Battle To a Scoreless Tie 3 Innings

Ronie Glidewell, American Refinery relief hurler dropped a hard luck contest to Monroe's Travelers Thursday afternoon in the tenth inning, 3 to 2. The trouble started in left field when Dudley Skeen spilled Dunn's fly ball. Dunn took second on the error. Delaney then slapped out the Travelers third hit that meant the winning of a hard fought battle.

Skipper Medford of the Refiners protested the game in the seventh inning on a claim of interference by Hicks, Traveler catcher. The grievance will be aired in special session of league managers tonight. Players other than the managers will be barred from the meeting.

Three Out of Four.

Dudley Skeen, American outfielder, led the hitters with three safeties in four times at the bat. Glidewell hit twice in three times up. Andy Taylor gave the fielding thrill of the game with a sensational stab of Coyal Francis' pop foul. Taylor was on the run as he rounded the seats placed in rear of the back stop and which project out toward third. Taylor caught the fly a moment before he collided with the wire fence and bounced back. His elbow bothered him somewhat throughout the remainder of the game.

Scoreless Tie.

The game remained a scoreless tie through the first three innings, but the Travelers broke the ice in the fourth and counted a pair of markers. Ivy opened with a single to left. Taylor hit a slow roller to Francis who let loose a jungle heave. Taylor went to second and Ivy to third. Rawls hit to the pitcher who nipped Ivy at the plate. Taylor went to third and Rawls to second. Belcher beat out an infield hit to short, scoring Taylor, Rawls took third. Hicks sacrificed Rawls over the pan with a neat bunt to the pitcher. Whatley popped to the catcher.

The Travelers held this lead until the sixth canto when the Oilers rallied to the front and registered a score. Andree watched four wide ones go by and took first. Windham sked to right. Francis singled to left sending Andress to third. Glidewell batted for Cannon and singled down the third base line, scoring Andree and sending Francis to second. Skeen hit to the pitcher who forced Andree at third. Short to second was the route by which Rounsaville forced Glidewell at second.

Count Is Knotted.

With one fina leffort the Refinery nine knotted the count in the seventh inning, which was slated to be the final frame. Ervin batted for Gregory and whiffed. Hefner singled to left. Medford singled to center sending Hefner to second. Andree stopped one with his hips and filled the bases. Windham grounded out second to first, Hefner scored and both other runners advanced a notch. Francis to Taylor.

The game stayed at this tie until the first of the tenth when the Travelers sent the winning run over the pan. Hicks fanned. Dunn took second on Skeen's error. Delaney singled to left and Dunn scored. The Americans collected two singles in their half of the tenth, but couldn't tabulate.

Ohio Governor Refuses Compulsory Bill Act.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 30.—The Buchanan Bible bill passed by the recent session of the Ohio general assembly to make daily reading of the Bible compulsory in all public schools of Ohio, was vetoed today by Governor Donahey because "it opposed the principles of civil and religious liberty which have made our government the model of the world."

The bill was actively supported by ku klux klan members of both branches of the assembly.

Lockhart Field Gets Two More Gushers

LOCKHART, April 30.—Two new oil wells, both gushers, were brought in in the Lockhart oil field last night and today. The Lucy Drilling company's Marland No. 1, came with an estimated production of 2,500 barrels daily. The United North and South Gomillion No. 1 blew in but no estimate of the production was given.

The depth of the United North and South well is a new low record, being 1,737 feet. As a result oil men now predict deeper producing sand and a big field.

New width of the field to the west was ascertained today when the Graybug-Beatty well No. 1 tested 60 bbls

Fairview High Plans Big Opening Program

CLARA, April 30. — An "opening program" will be given in the auditorium of the new school building at Clara on Wednesday, May 6 at 8 p. m., the program to consist of impromptu speeches and musical numbers, followed by a box supper and spread. The public is cordially invited.

The box supper is under the auspices of the P.-T. A. and the proceeds from the sale of the boxes will go to a good use in behalf of the schoo land community. Department Sales Show Big Rise, Is Business Report

DALLAS, April 30. — Department store sales jumped 19 per cent in the 30 days from March 15 to April 15, giving a further expansion to business activities in cities, according to the monthly review of the 11th federal reserve district issued today by the federal reserve bank of Dallas. The department store expansion was 12 per cent greater than for the same period last year.

While this increase in retail sales has been going on, wholesale business has been declining since January, hesitation in buying being the characteristic feature, the review said. Purchases in rural sections are being confined to actual day to day needs and collections are falling off, the report indicated, adding that the drouth had affected all business.

"There was a decline of approximately $21,000,000 in deposits of member banks during the month, but the demand for credti accommodations remains light," the review continued.

"Member banks borrowing at the federal reserve bank evidenced a further decline due to a liquidation of indebtedness by reserve city banks, but there has been an increase in borrowing by banks in the farming sections.

"The districts business mortality rate reflected a marked improvement during March, both the number of failures and the volume of indebtedness being the smallest of the current year and less than in March a year ago.

"Building operations as measured by the volume of building permits issued were on a larger scale than in February but were less than in March, 1924. The production and shipment of lumber and cement were larger than in either previous month or the corresponding month last year.

PRO AGENT RESIGNS.

California Agent Going Into Business For Himself.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 30—Don Okle, former United States captain, today resigned from the federal prohibition enforcement department as and "under cover agent," ostensibly to enter business for himself.

Unofficially, however, Okle disclosed that as an "under cover agent" he found it incumbent to consume on an average of 50 drinks of liquor daily. He said this had been going on for two years and that the sum total of drinks necessary for him to drink to obtain evidence reached an appalling total—about 36,400 every two years.

QUANAH BAPTIST PASTOR ACCEPTS SIMMONS POSITION

N. Y. Stocks

NEW YORK, April 30.—Price movements in today's stock market continued to lack uniformity, selling of the steels, equipments and sugars being conducted simultaneously with bullish operations in the motors, public utilities, rails and specialties. The volume of trading ran above one million shares, but the leading commission houses reported that the demands of the professional trad a comprised the bulk of the days business.

Trade news was rather pessimistic in character. It included another sharp increase in crude oil production for the week ended April 25; a further easing in raw sugar prices, which established a new low record for the year, and the omission of the dividend due at this time, on Hazeltine Radio. Reports that steel mill operations were now down to about 75 per cent of capacity and that another large increase in unfilled orders would be shown by the United States Steel corporation in its tonnage report next month, had a depressing effect on the steel shares. Gulf States Steel dropped 2 points to 67½, or within a small fraction of the year's low; Republic Steel touched a new low at 42⅛ and then rallied to 42¾, off 1⅛, and all the other independents yielded fractionally. U. S. Steel common sagged within half a point of the year's low at 112⅞ and then rallied a point, showing a small fractional loss on the day.

Withdrawal of syndicate support for the new Dodge Brothers preferred caused a break of 3½ points to 97½ in that stock. Maxwell Motors B was run up to 86⅛ at the expense of a short interest, and then sagged to 85¼, where it was up 2 points on the day. Maxwell B certificates jumped 5½ points to a new high at 85¼, but the A stock showed a net loss of 1 point at 107¾. Generals Motors 6 per cent debentures jumped 3 points to 91½ on a few sales. Studebaker lost ground on profit-taking, the report for the first quarter, issued today, showing net earnings $1.84 a share in the quarter as compared with $1.80 in the corresponding quarter of last year.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, April 30.—The cotton market today was comparatively dull with fluctuations reasonably narrow and with no definite trend. October which was naturally, the most active month, after making high early in the morning at 23.57, or only 1 point above the previous close, traded down to 23.31 but recovered a good part of the decline in the late trading, advancing to 23.48 and closing at 23.46, or 10 points down for the day. May made a new high right at the end at 24.06 and closed at that figure or 3 points net higher. July closed one down and December 7 down.

The market worked toward lower levels in the first half of the morning on private reports of rains in central and South Texas thoroughly breaking the drouth. This was confirmed by the weather map. The easier tone was helped by a private estimate for an increase in acreage of 6.3 per cent. Another private authority made the increase 4 to 5 per cent.

The decline was checked and a moderate rally induced late in the morning by the improvements in the market's technical position on theory that a large interest existed. During the last hour prediction of frost over the western and eastern belts caused a rally.

The foreign news was generally favorable and the stock market was rather firmer which helped the afternoon rally. Houston notified the exchange here of a minus correction in the stock there of 20,000 bales.

Exports today were 22,671 bales of which Houston contributed 10,582.

Last Attempt To Save Diamonds Fails

NEW YORK, April 30.—A final attempt to save Morris and Joseph Diamond from execution at Sing Sing prison tonight for murder, failed late this afternoon when Justice Manning of the appellate division in Brooklyn refused to grant a stay of execution, which was sought by lawyers representing the Diamond family.

REPORT CHILD ABDUCTED.

Ten-Year- Boy Reported Taken Away By Boy's Aunt.

SHREVEPORT, La., April 30.—A theory that 10-year-old Jimmie Linn Herring, who disappeared last Saturday from St. Vincent's academy convent here, was kidnaped by a woman who claimed to be the boy's aunt was being investigated today by Caddo parish authorities. The child left the convent with the woman ostensibly to accompany her to a street car.

RODEO

attempt. Curley was bucked and pitched four or five times before finally leaving the bull, landing head down some 10 or 12 feet away while Vovolupus cavorted on down the arena to the gate at the further end, still the victor.

The steer bulldogging was the feature event of the day. The sport, demanding the maximum of courage and skill, provided thrill after thrill as a cowboy would make the leap from a galloping horse to a rampaging steer, break the speed of the steer with his feet while he held the head of the animal by the horns and slowly twisted it until the steer fell to the ground, powerless.

Dee Bibb of Las Vegas, N. M., won first in this contest today, getting his steer down in 21.4 seconds. Nowato Slim of Lenapah, Okla., was second with a time of 23 seconds. Blacky Russel of Grandfield, Okla., came third with a time of 25 seconds.

Woman Wins.

A crowning event to this dangerous sport came when Fox Hastings of Fort Worth, reputedly the only woman steer bulldogger in the world, made her try at the man's game and downed her steer on the second trial in a time of a little over a minute.

The bronco busting provided plenty of spills and several displays of masterful horsemanship. Shorty Gideon, of Abilene, Texas, riding Grey Eagle, was slightly injured in this contest when he was thrown on his left shoulder. The injuries, thought for a while to be serious, amounted to minor bruises.

The judges awarded first in this contest to Bryan Roach of Ft. Worht riding Jack Dempsey, second to Paddy Ryan of Miles City, Mont., riding Sky Blue, and third to John Henry of Cheyenne, Wyo., atop Fatty Arbuckle.

Ike Rude won first in the calf roping contest with a time of 23.2 seconds; Roy Quick was second with a time of 26 seconds, and Roy Adams was third with a time of 26.4 seconds.

Decision of the remainder of today's contests was withheld until Friday by the judges, Floyd Randolph, Ward Farmer, and Bill Kingham. These other contests include the wild steer race, the wild bull riding, the fancy roping, the cowgirl's bronco riding, the wild brahma steer riding and the trick riding.

The trick riding contest was one of the prettiest events of the afternoon. Sleek horses carried daring cowboys and cowgirls through a series of performances as beautiful and graceful as they were thrilling and sensational.

An additional feature of Friday's program is a game of polo between the Kinmere club team of Wichita Falls and a team of the cowboys early in the afternoon and boxing matches in the evening.

BOK FORGER SENTENCED

Gets Eight Years; He Gave Rupert Hughes Bad Check

NEW YORK, April 30.—Victor B. Hedman, a musician, who presented a $125 check bearing the forged name of Edward W. Bok to Rupert Hughes, playwright and author, today was sentenced to a maximnm term of eight years and six months in Sing Sing prison.

Judge Mancuso called Hedman "an aristocrat of crime" when a representative of the district attorney's office recited a long list of alleged forgeries and bogus check transactions the prisoner was accused of having negotiated

CROWN FOR AMBASSADOR.

Riano Honored by Order From King; Award Made by Spanish Residents.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Ambassador Riano of Spain was presented today with the insignia of the Order of the Grand Crown of Charles the Third, the highest decoration of Spain, by a commission of six Spanish residents in New York including the Spanish consul general there. The honor was awarded by the king of Spain and funds for the decoration itself were paid by subscription among Spanish residents and sympathizers in New York.

Star Convict Gets Pardon; His Record A Lengthy One

AUSTIN, April 30. — (AP)— Charley Mims, whose prison record furnished one of the contested pages in the recent prison investigation, and the recount of whose record in the hall of the house of representatives by Representative T. K. Irwin of Dallas, thrilled the solons, has been granted a conditional pardon by Governor Miriam A. Ferguson.

Mims, of Eastland and Tarrant counties, in 1920, was convicted on charges of assault to murder, robbery with firearms and burglary, and given ten years. According to his prison record made a part of the evidence in the recent prison investigation, he was punished for breaches of discipline, including drunkenness, cursing, fighting and killing of a fellow convict.

His record was cleared and all of his lost time was restored by the prison commission Oct. 6, 1924, on motion of former Commissioner H. L. McKnight.

With commutation and over time for extra work, Mims' sentence was due to expire May 16, 1928 the certificate introduced into evidence showed.

The governor also included in her list of executive clemency, restorations of citizenship for the following: Henry Rice of Bosque county; John Zack, Dallas county; Ed Williams, Crosby county; and Lloyd Wagley of Wichita county. The parole of Joe Winfrey of Harris county, convicted of burglary and theft, was ordered revoked.

COPELAND CASE MONDAY.

Waco Pastor to Go to Trial Again for Criminal Libel.

WACO, April 30.—Rev. A. Reilly Copeland comes up for trial in the county court next Monday on the second of eleven indictments charging him with criminal libel of various city, county and district officials.

Monday's case will involve alleged libel of Miss Adelaide Hague, city nurse, by circulation in a mimeographed sheet of a copy of a letter sent to James W. Tinsley, former city commissioner. The actual letter was the basis for the first trial, in February, when Copeland was found guilty and fined $1,000 and costs. He has appealed.

Man Injured as He Escapes From Fire

HENRIETTA, April 30.—R. H. Wyatt was painfully burned and his leg broken in escaping from a burning building at Henrietta, 18 miles south of here Thursday morning.

The building was a two-story stone structure occupied by a blacksmithing and machine shop. Wyatt roomed on the second floor. Fire broke out in the machine shop about 8 o'clock and spread rapidly to the second story. The proprietor of the shop ran to Wyatt's room, kicked in the door and alarmed Wyatt. Wyatt, clad in a bathrobe, made his way to an outside stairway and blinded by the smoke fell on the stairs and broke his leg.

EXTEND RENDITION PERIOD

Tax Period Is Extended Over Few Days; Yesterday Was Last Day.

Wichita Falls property owners will be given a few more in which to render their property, although yesterday was the last official day in which to make renditions, according to City Tax Collector W. R. Hyer.

The extension of time was allowed, Mr. Hyer stated, to allow those owners who had not turned in the property to do so. The extra period, however, will only be allowed while the tax books are being prepared, as it is necessary that all renditions be ready for the May meeting of the assesment board.

Turner at the present time is recuperating from a serious operation to his eyes in the John Hopkins sanitarium at Baltimore.

Bi-District Debates At Vernon Today For Two Wichita Teams

Four debaters from the Wichita Falls high school, winners in the district contests last week at Iowa Park, accompanied by Miss Juanita Kinsey, public speaking instructor at the school, will journey to Vernon this afternoon where they will attempt to annex bi-district titles to their lists.

The boys' team, composed of Emmett Baukknight and Price McCullough, will debate the Childress team, winners the past week in district 3, while the girls will compete against Memphis girls, also winners in district 3.

The bi-district contest is the first of the sort ever held under the auspices of the Interscholastic League, the winners in each district before this year being allowed to go to Austin to compete in the state meet the first week in May. This year though the teams are forced to win the championship of two districts before they can go to Austin.

Miss Kinsey is highly elated over the progress made by Wichita Falls contestants in the league contest so far this year, the school having literally walked away with the district literary meet last week.

Literary contestants from the school who have already won the right to go to Austin next week are: William Atkinson, extempore speaking; Grace Simms, junior girls declamation; and Dorothy Reed, senior girls declamation.

MASS MEETING CALLED.

A mass meeting of all Sibly-Taylor residents who are interested in the proposed extension of the Wichita Falls Traction company to that section of the city has been called for 8 o'clock tonight at the South Side Baptist church, 2208 Holliday street.

At this meeting it is thought that definite conclusions will be reached as to the need of this addition for a street car line.

California Capitalist Visits Wichita Falls

Alex. Davidson, prominent capitalist of San Francisco, Cal., is in Wichita Falls for a few days' visit. Many years ago Mr. Davidson resided at Henrietta and from there moved to Childress, later to Amarillo, now having business interests in the latter cities.

"Wichita Falls has made a wonderful growth during the past few years," said Mr. Davidson. "I am sorry that I did not make extensive property investments in the city but feel that there is yet time to make money in Wichita Falls. I see no reason why your city should not continue to grow and be the wholesale center for Northwest Texas and Southwest Oklahoma, two of the richest sections in America.

"It has been forty-four years since I first visited Wichita Falls. I return every few years but the past four years of progress is nothing short of marvelous. With more factories, wholesale houses and jobbers Wichita Falls will continue to grow. Oil and agriculture produce great wealth but there is a period in a city's growth that only industries and wholesale concerns can keep it growing."

Mr. Davidson is a close friend of Morris and Abe Marcus. He has known them for a number of years and spoke very complimentary of the Marcus Brothers industries, which are operated in Wichita Falls.

Mrs. W. F. Mullins, charged with perjury in connection with habeas corpus hearing evidence in the Frank Collier murder case, will go to trial this morning at 9 o'clock in the 30th district court room, it was learned yesterday.
