Harlingen Homes Are Roof Deep In Water

By GARY GARRISON
Associated Press Writer

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP) — Surging waters of the flooding Rio Grande, swollen by Hurricane Beulah's massive rains, swept roof-deep through fine homes in this South Texas city today after bursting through a flood control dam.

The Texas Department of Public Safety said 5,000 persons in Harlingen had fled their homes as record torrents raged down Arroyo Colorado, a side channel of the Rio Grande.

Warnings also were issued for four other communities on the arroyo, including Mercedes, with a population of 11,143. Similarly imperiled were the small trading centers of La Feria, Rio Hondo and Lozano.

Water in the arroyo was a record 39. 1 feet deep at 9:30 a.m. (CDT), a rise of almost a foot in three hours, and was still rising at this city of 41,100.

A call went out for more volunteers to help crews who worked through the night throwing up sandbag dikes around $50,000 homes and trying to plug storm sewers that led to the arroyo.

The Department of Public Safety said Harlingen was in the greatest danger of the five communities threatened by the rampagning arroyo.

The Coast Guard said its helicopters had evacuated 635 Mexicans surrounded by Rio Grande waters elsewhere by dark Sunday.

Tremendous water pressure from the Rio Grande ripped out the flood control dam at Mercedes Sunday night, opening the arroyo to the boiling, debris-littered river.

A state official said that since the Rio Grande was expected to stay at high water for several days, so would the arroyo, as it had become in effect a parallel river channel.

The arroyo carried a flood crest of 34.2 feet in 1958. After that flood the 300-foot wide steel and concrete dam was built near Mercedes to turn floodwaters into a man-made channel and away from the arroyo and the cities bordering it.

The State Highway Patrol set up road blocks to keep refugees from returning to the Rio Grande Valley. Most roads were either impassable or extremely difficult, anyway.

Reports of heavy rains upstream Sunday afternoon in the Rio Grande watershed on both sides of the border kept officials doubtful about the amount of water that would finally roll down the border river.

Meanwhile, 150 miles north of here, new rains in the Nueces River watershed sent fresh flooding into the little town of Three Rivers, and people trying to start cleanup work were driven back to high ground. A record flood crest on the Nueces bore down on Corpus Christi Monday.

Throughout a 40,000-square-mile area in towns whipped by Beulah's winds, drenched by her rains, overrun by flooding streams and slashed by tornadoes, thousands remained in shelters—some of them short on food and water. But the water was receding in many places.

Beulah's death toll stood at 44—24 in her first sweep sweep through the Caribbean and the Yucatan Peninsula, 11 in Texas and nine in northern Mexico.

Boiling, brown and bouncing debris, the Rio Grande ripped out the steel and concrete dam near Mercedes, 14 miles upstream from here.

The dam was built at this point to turn flood waters away from the Arroyo Colorado into a man-made diversion channel which flows north, then east to the spongy coastal plain on the Gulf of Mexico.

Arroyo is a Spanish word for dry creek. Because Arroyo Colorado parallels the Rio Gande to the Gulf it often carries a trickle of water. Some fine homes are built on the north bank of the arroyo in Harlingen.

$30 Million To Develop New Aircraft

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force is spending $30 million this year to develop a high-speed aircraft with advanced radar to detect bombers attacking the United States.

Called AWACS — for airborne warning and control system — plane would pick up approaching enemy aircraft, track them and send out supersonic U.S. fighters to destroy them.

Defense planners believe the development effort will lead to a revamping of the existing continental air defense composed of ground radars and older interceptors.

The cost could range up to $4 billion if a decision were made to proceed with production and deployment of the system, now in the research state. Protection against the bomber threat is vital in the missile area.

Military men say an attacking enemy likely would hit the United States first with ballistic missiles then send in manned bombers to complete the destruction.

The airborne warning aircraft will, it is hoped, carry what the Pentagon calls "overland radar," computers, information display systems and far-reaching communications to command squadrons of jet interceptors with speeds up to 2,500 mph.

The overland radar, being evaluated this year, is designed to be able to detect and track flying targets over vast areas of land despite severe ground clutter.

After-Effects Of Storm Pose Threat

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — The torrential rains and flooding produced by Hurricane Beulah have created conditions which subject Texas livestock to the worst disease threat in many years, Dr. C. M. Patterson, Extension veterinarian at Texas A&M University, said today.

The after-effects of Hurricane Carla were mild compared with what can be expected this year, he said.

Disease-producing bacteria that survive for a long period of time in the soil, such as anthrax, blackleg, malignant edema and clostridial redwater, become severe threats to livestock enterprises following heavy rains and flooding, he said.

"Silt covers vegetation and causes it to decompose. The moisture and warmth provide ideal conditions for the bacteria spores to sprout into vegetative forms and reproduce rapidly," he said. "This situation provides animals with the threat of massive disease exposure wnen grazing pastures that are drying out following overflow."

Patterson suggests that livestock owners in the affected areas consult immediately with their veterinarians as to the needed precautions for their livestock.

Patterson said that the aftermaths to the hurricane also posed threats to the human population.

"Our normal protective systems for preventing spread of disease from animals to man break down during periods of floods," he said. "Rats and mice are driven from their normal habitations and frequently move into closer proximity to humans. Diseases such as bubonic plague, virus meningitis, tularemia, salmonellosis, and many other serious diseases become a hazard."

These diseases are transmitted to many by bites of fleas or other insects leaving a drowned animal, or by contamination of food or drinking water by these animals, said the veterinarian.

Eight-Year-Old Saves Fathers Life

STIBBINGTON, England (AP) — An 8-year-old boy freed his father from a crashed and burning plane Sunday by cutting through a safety harness with a pocket penknife.

Young Christopher Cotton and two other relatives were flying in Dennis Cotton's plane when one of its engines caught fire.

Cotton crashed the plane at a private air field and it nosedived, trapping him in his pilot's seat. The other three escaped, only slightly hurt.

Christopher whipped out his knife and sliced through the seat belt. His father piled out and extinguished the fire.

Car Plunges Off Viaduct

An Odessa family of five was hospitalized here late Sunday after a harrowing traffic mishap which sent their 1964 Mercury station wagon plunging from the U. S. 180 viaduct onto the Santa Fe Railway right-of-way at the southeast edge of town. The mishap occurred at about 6:30 p.m.

Thurman W. Ray, 36, of 2415 Windsor Drive, Odessa, was driving the station wagon which was towing a trailer. City police, who investigated, said Ray told them he had turned to say something to other members of the family when he lost control of the vehicle and it leaped the viaduct railing and crashed on the railway right-of-way.

Mrs. Victoria Ray, 33, wife of the driver, was listed in critical condition today at Cogdell Hospital. She suffered a crushed leg and head injuries. Her husband, whose condition was listed as serious, suffered a fractured leg and multiple cuts and bruises.

Also in serious condition was their daughter, Cindy, 11, who suffered internal injuries.

Two sons, Randy Ray, 16, and Terry Ray, 14, were taken from Cogdell Memorial Hospital here to Midland Memorial Hospital at 9:30 p.m. Randy suffered a broken arm, and Terry's injuries had not been fully determined.

Mrs. Ray was trapped in the station wagon for a time before she was freed by investigating police officers and Snyder Ambulance Service personnel who had brought vehicles to the scene to take the injured to the hospital.

Both the automobile and the trailer it was towing plunged from the viaduct.

Girl Quadruplets Born In Japan

FUKUOKA, Japan (AP)—Girl quadruplets were born Sunday and reported doing well, although birth was premature by 45 days and each weighed only 3.3 pounds.

The mother, Mrs. Mutsuko Munakata, 28, was also reported in fine condition.

Doctors at National Central Hospital in this southwestern Japanese city said that if the quadruplets, now in incubators, maintain their present condition for another day, their chances of survival are excellent.

WESTMORELAND CITES VICTORIES

Vietnam Success Shaping

SAIGON (AP)—As the blasting back and forth across South Vietnam's northern frontier went into its third week, U.S. planes dropped leaflets urging North Vietnamese villagers to join the South, officials said today.

In an unprecedented move, some 240,000 leaflets were dropped in a village just above the border warning of "the terrible rain of death and destruction" caused by B52 bombing attacks in the area.

Meanwhile, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the U.S. commander in Vietnam, said because of allied victories over the last two years, "We are now in a position from which the picture of ultimate military success may be viewed with increasing clarity."

He told South Korean troops in Saigon the allies "have taken tremendous strides toward military victory over the past two years."

In the border battle, Communist gunners fired more than 300 rounds today at Con Thien, a U.S. Marine outpost just 2½ miles below the demilitarized zone. Marine commanders refuse to give up the post, saying it holds a commanding position overlooking Communist infiltration routes down from the DMZ, where North Vietnam reportedly has perhaps 35,000 troops.

The B52s mentioned in the leaflets have been trying to take Communist pressure off Con Thien.

The eight-engine B52 Stratofortresses struck twice Sunday night and again today at Communist gun positions buried inside the DMZ. The bombers now have flown 79 strikes since mid-August in support of Con Thien and nearby outposts, unloading perhaps 12 million pounds of bombs.

Associated Press Correspondent Edwin Q. White, with the Marines at Con Thein, reported that Marine casualties from today's shelling, although not officially disclosed, were relatively light.

White said this apparently was because the barrage came in the early morning when the Marines were still in their muddy bunkers and foxholes and not moving about the three small hills that make up the Con Thien base.

Con Thien and another Marine outpost, Camp Carroll, were hit with about 125 rounds of artillery and rocket fire Sunday that left four Marines dead and 48 wounded, the U.S. Command said.

The marines have suffered, by unofficial count, 61 dead and 785 wounded since Sept. 1 in shellings of the outposts. Most of the casualties have been taken at Con Thien. The Communists reportedly have about 100 artillery pieces aimed at the American positions.

Castro's Rule Condemned

WASHINGTON (AP) — With a blast at Castro-Communist subversion in Latin America, the Hemisphere foreign ministers signed early today a resolution recommending that the American republics apply limited sanctions against non-Communist ships which sail to Cuba.

The 20-0 vote "to condemn forcefully' Fidel Castro's regime for "repeated intervention and aggression" in Venezuela, Bolivia and other hemisphere countries was a highlight of the debate-filled, three-day Organization of American States conference on the Cuban threat.

The closer 15-0 vote, with six abstentions, for the U.S.-proposed shipping penalty was an especially sweet victory for weary U.S. diplomats.

After long hours of negotiating they lost a bid for hemisphere blacklisting of non-Communist firms doing business with Cuba.

Under the shipping proviso, part of a 15-point resolution aimed at confining the Havana menace, non-Communist vessels going to Cuba would be denied fueling facilities in Latin American ports and would get no government-financed cargoes.

The United States itself has long applied this penalty. Under the new OAS recommendation, which is not mandatory, it is up to the other American republics to follow suit.

The idea is to put more teeth into appeals by OAS members—who have barred their own trade with Cuba—to other non-Communist nations to quit dealing with Castro so long as he pushes insurrection in the Americas.

Another point in the new resolution repeated the OAS appeal to "friendly states" to curb their commercial transactions and government credits in Cuban trade. But it was watered down with elimination of the blacklisting proviso.

Since January, 1963, calls by non-Communist ships at Cuban ports have dropped by one third with the U.S. blacklisting of some 270 vessels. Cuba's trade with the West has slipped to about $350 million a year, but countries such as England, France and Spain continue to do business with her.

It was past midnight—half a day behind schedule—when the foreign affairs chiefs finally signed the resolution after long-winded debate in closed and open sessions.

To Venezuela, which called the conference over persistent Havana- backed terrorism in that country, the declaration was an "enormous satisfaction."

U.S. diplomats hailed the 20-0 tally as evidence of hemisphere solidarity against Castro. Only Mexico abstained from the vote. Mexico is the sole American republic which has maintained relations with the Havana regime since the OAS voted for a break in 1964.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk said: "Today the hemisphere is more unified than ever, more determined than ever to assure the peace, security and tranquility to which all of us aspire."

In most respects, the 15-point resolution breaks no new ground beyond recommendations made by the Inter-American body in past years.

Penalty For Contractor Is Pondered

Whether to exact a penalty from the general contractor on the coliseum construction project was pondered this morning by Scurry County Commissioners.

Rose Construction Co., the contracting firm, urged that no penalty be assessed, although work extended well beyond 400 days listed in the specifications for the job. Some extensions were approved, but the contractor claimed that not enough credit was allowed for loss of time during a lathe workers walkout. Moreover, the contractor contends that additions to the contract (items not specified but handled via negotiation) necessary for a first class job had probably caused some of the delay.

Commissioners indicated that they would meet again this afternoon to discuss the issue further.

L. M. Dawson told commissioners that an area survey committee, backed by at least two local government agencies, needs to be appointed to fulfill requirements for the Union - Fluvanna Water Authority to finalize its grant.

The Farmers Home Administration has approved a grant and loan for the project which is designed to furnish water for some 160 families in Union and Fluvanna areas. However, a survey committee is needed to meet all requirements for the grant.

United Fund To Launch Campaign

Approximately 150 workers will meet Tuesday morning to launch the 1967 campaign of the Scurry County United Fund.

A kickoff breakfast for the campaign has been scheduled for 7 a.m. at the First Baptist Church. United Fund President Gary Stevens and the campaign co-chairman, Rev. John Bollinger and John Jarrell, have urged citizens to be ready when workers call and they are hoping that response will be adequote to quickly reach the goal of approximately $40,000.

The United Fund here will support six participating agencies in its budget. Funds are alloted to the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Scurry County Boys' Club, Salvation Army, American Red Cross and to the USO.

Campaign leaders have been encouraged by recent response in other community activities, including industrial work, and they have expressed hope that the same type of community interest and cooperation will endure through the United Fund campaign.

"We are getting a reputation for being able to do a complete job when called upon," a campaign leader said. "We have just seen what could be done by our industrial corporation and many of us saw what a strong will and cooperation produced on the football field Friday night. That is the type of determination and cooperation we need to raise the approximately $40,000 in the next two weeks."

It was emphasized that workers who call on prospective contributors will be volunteers and they will ask for pledges. The normal United Fund standard of a day's pay is being sought wherever possible. Good repsonse on that basis would enable the campaign to reach its goal promptly, it was pointed out.

DEAR ABBY: Like so many others, I never thought I'd be writing a DEAR ABBY letter, but here I am.

When my husband calls and says he's going to be late because he's going out with his boss, don't you think he should call me if he knows he's going to be late? Or should let her know he's going to be late? When I complained because he said he'd be home about 10 p.m. but he came in at 2 a.m., he said, "You're not my mother! What am I supposed to do, get up and say, 'I have to call my wife' . . . like a child calls his mother?" Abby, I just want to be sure he's not in a hospital, a ditch or jail. I trust him concerning other women, but because I was very jealous before we were married, he thinks I still am. I really do trust him, but don't you think a husband should call his wife to let her know he's going to be later than he says he'll be?

DALLAS WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Yes. And he should let her know. He's going to be dejected longer than he is.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter, Rene, was to have been married in four weeks to Max who is in the army.

Plans for the wedding had been completed. The bridesmaids had bought their dresses, and the wedding invitations were ready to be mailed. Two showers had already been given for Rene, and she received many lovely gifts.

Then Max called and said his orders had been changed and he was being shipped to Viet Nam for a year. Max then said that he had decided to wait until after Viet Nam to be married.

Abby, Rene and Max are very much in love and they say that nothing short of a catastrophe will prevent the wedding next year. Under the circumstances should the shower gifts be returned? What about the bridesmaids who paid for their dresses? Max and his parents decided to postpone the wedding without even consulting Rene and her parents. Do you think that was right? It seems that the bride's parents should have had something to say about it.

PLANS SPOILED

DEAR PLANS: Max should have given Rene an opportunity to express herself. However, if only one of the principals decides to postpone a wedding that one constitutes a majority. Keep the shower gifts, since the wedding was not canceled — only postponed. And unless the bridesmaids save the dresses to wear next year, they are out of luck.

DEAR ABBY: I am a P.K. (Preacher's Kid) and I sure wish you'd put this in your column for other P. K.s because I'm sure we all have the same problem.

Abby, we want to feel that we belong to the crowd and we want other kids to act the same around us as they would act around any other kids. We are human beings, we aren't perfect, and nobody has to feel uneasy around us in case he makes a slip of the tongue. We make them, too.

We just want to be accepted like everybody else, but most of the time we are left out because lots of kids don't want us in the crowd. Once I was out of town and a kid asked me what my father did. For a joke I said he sold fire insurance and I never had such a wonderful time.

Big Advance In Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market staged a strong advance in active trading early this afternoon.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was up 8.67 at 943.02.

The New York Stock Exchange ticker tape caught up after trailing by two minutes in reporting floor transactions for a considerable time during the morning. Trading also was heavy on the American Stock Exchange, where the tape was 28 minutes late.

Brokers said optimism was spurred by the year-to-year gain in new car sales despite the strike against Ford and the fact that time is beginning to run out on tax increase possibilities this year.

Motors, rubbers, aircrafts, airlines, tobaccos and building materials were mostly higher.

A gain of more than 5 points by Du Pont helped the averages.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was ahead 1.0 at 341.8 with industrials up 4.1, rails off .7 and utilities off .5.

Gainers among individual stocks outnumbered losers by nearly 2 to 1.

Opening of trading in IBM was delayed on the New York Stock Exchange. It opened with a gain of 7½ and later stretched it to 12½. Brokers said the delay was partly due to news that American Telephone & Telegraph Co. is launching one of the biggest computerization programs.

Prices advanced on the American Stock Exchange.

Many Trees May Survive Big Blow

AUSTIN (AP) — Agriculture Commissioner John C. White, who toured the hurricane-ravaged Lower Rio Grande Valley over the weekend, said today damage to citrus groves was not as great as originally believed.

"There weren't as many trees down as we at first thought," he said, "but a lot of limbs were broken and will take lots of pruning down."

The commissioner confirmed, however, that this year's $15-20 million citrus crop was lost, with tree losses not reaching expectations. White said his earlier estimate of a total of $50 million loss to fruit and trees probably would hold, because of the cost of needed work on trees.

White also said the loss to Valley vegetable crops was around $4-5 million. An accurate assessment has not been made.

"We are out of tomatoes and peppers, and will be late on carrots, if they are planted. We may not get in the carrot business too much," he said.

Peppers and tomatoes were just maturing when the storm hit.

But the Valley cabbage crop was about ready to harvest when the hurricane and floods struck, inundating all but isolated fields, White said.

"It looks like most of the cabbage will be rotted before we can get to it," he said.

White said agricultural damage in the Valley must also include untold damage to land from erosion.

He said a lot of areas are still so flooded that even the owners can't get in.

White said, meetings will be held later with farmers and more accurate accounts of damages will be made.

AMC To Hike Prices 3.8 Per Cent

DETROIT (AP) — American Motors said today its 1968 cars will carry price tags averaging $89 or 3.8 per cent higher than those on comparable 1967 models.

AMC thus became the fourth U.S. car maker to increase prices on its 1968 models.

AMC's price hike was smaller in terms of dollars than the increases announced by the Big Three but on a percentage basis it was nearer their figures.

AMC's price picture was complicated by the fact that on its 1968 Ambassadors, or top-of-the-line models, air-conditioners will be standard equipment. They were a $350 option in 1967 models.

AMC said that the change in air-conditioners and in dealer discounts "does not lend itself to a meaningful comparison of price changes. However, the prices of 1968 Ambassadors compared with comparably equipped 1967 models are significantly lower."

Medicine For Fear

(Editors Note: The Snyder Daily News is sponsoring a Dale Carnegie course as a means of training and developing community and area leaders. This article is one in a series written by Warren Quinlan, director of the Dale Carnegie Training Progams in West Texas.)

By WARREN QUINLAN

Ralph Waldo Emerson once said, "Fear defeats more people than any other one thing in the world."

Many persons have become aware of the stinging truth of this statement, by seeing only the difficulty in opportunity, instead of anticipating the opportunity in difficulty.

Success engineers have proved that learning to speak in public — at meetings, social groups, conferences — is nature's own method of overcoming self - consciousness, and building up a reserve of courage and self-confidence. How so? Because speaking in public forces us to do one important thing — come to grips with our fears.

Earlier this month a speaker impressed me with his increased poise and self-assurance. Only three months prior his hands trembled, his voice quivered, he was paralyzed with fear of his audience.

Like other success minded persons, he accepted four "fear medicine" facts which connected him to the habit of success. First, he became aware that his fear was not unique, because more than 90 per cent of all adults suffer from one form or another of stage fright.

A second fact which helped overcome his inner doubts is that a certain amount of stage fright and anxiety actually is helpful. He discovered painful fear is nature's way of preparing us to meet unusual challenges. Consequently, he quit being alarmed with hurricane pulse beats and faster respiration because these physical preparations helped him to think faster and be more aware.

In addition to this, he assured me that the better speakers and communicators never completely lose their jitters.

"A calm race horse," he said, "never won a race."

He certainly was correct because an inspirational speaker delivers a winning talk with his emotional drive.

"Last of all," he said, "I stopped memorizing my talks word for word, because this type of preparation was destroying my effectiveness and my confidence . . . . causing me to dread every forthcoming talk.

Let's take a second look at our fear factors, and use our "fear medicine" as a springboard to greater confidence and platform poise.

Anguilla, the little Caribbean island that has been so much in the news lately, was very important to the economy of America's south. Long fiber cotton imported from the 35 - square - mile island turned plantation owners in Georgia and South Carolina into millionaires.

Reds Win In Voting

PARIS (AP) — Communists who campaigned against President Charles de Gaulle's domestic programs claimed surprising successes today in French regional council elections, including a near sweep of Paris' working class suburbs.

Gaullists scored gains too, particularly in country areas, but the Communists took 45 of the districts around Paris and backers of the French president only three in the first round of voting.

Communist influence in the industrial suburbs, often called the "Red belt," is traditionally strong, but their success surprised most observers.

Partial official statistics from the Interior Ministry showed that, outside Paris, Communists won 23 per cent of the vote as compared to 21.6 in the last district elections in 1964. The Gaullists got 17 per cent which compared with a previous total of 12.2.

A second round is scheduled for next week in races where there was no clear majority. This run-off affects 123 districts around Paris.

Snyder, Roby, Texas

Either we're charging too little, or everyone else is charging too much.

Rambler American. The only U.S. car that could stop you from buying an import.

At a price very close to the leading import, the American seats six people instead of four.

It gives you nearly twice as much room in the trunk and more than twice as much engine under the hood.

Like the imports, the American doesn't change its style every year, gets about 20 miles on a gallon of regular gas.[1]

Unlike some imports, it never gives you the feeling that you're driving a toy.

Rebel. America's most underrated car.

The Rebel 550 Hardtop is the lowest priced intermediate sized hardtop in America.[1]

It looks sporty, drives sporty and still gives you all the things that most people buy a car for.

The Rebel—Hardtop, Wagon, Sedan or Convertible, V8 or 6—is everything we think a car should be.

Before you pay more for an intermediate, make sure you get as much.

Ambassador. The car with air conditioning as standard equipment.

Air conditioning has been around for a long time, but so far only a few companies—the people who make Rolls Royce for one—have had the good sense to include it in their cars at no extra cost.

We're another.

We just don't understand why someone should be asked to pay a lot of money for a luxury car and then be asked to pay over $300 more for the luxury of air conditioning.

Introducing the Javelin.

Although we've always had the reputation for making sensibly priced, well-built cars, we've never had the reputation for making hot, sporty cars.

We'll soon have the reputation for making hot, sporty cars.

The front and rear bumpers on the Javelin are massive. Unlike thin blade bumpers, these give the car a rich, racy look.

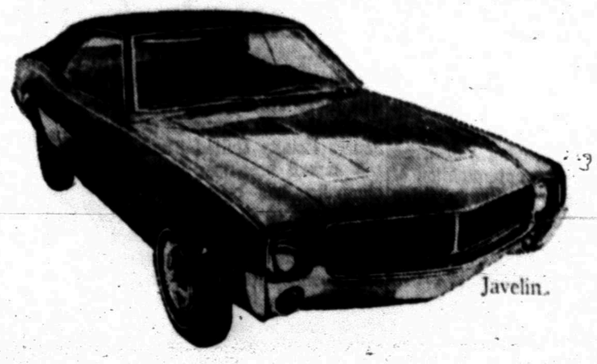

The side windows on the Javelin are solid sheets of curved glass, without vents to break up its fast lines.

The Javelin SST comes with wheel discs, special exterior trim, reclining bucket seats and a woodgrain steering wheel, all standard.

And all for a lower price than the other sporty hardtops.[1]

Auxiliary Of VFW Sets New Project

The Scurry County Ladies Auxiliary to Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 8231 has lauched a project called "The Helping Hand." This project is designed to protect children of the community from menacing strangers, neighborhood bullies, vicious dogs and to provide them with a haven in the event they become lost or become involved in an accident.

"One or two houses in each block will be designated as a helping hand island of safety for children needing air of any kind," declared Mrs. Bonnie Pinola, president of the Auxiliary.

"Signs placed in the front windows will be easily recognizable by children," she added, pointing out that white hands will appear on a blue background.

She also observed that the project has been endorsed by the Snyder Public Schools, the Police Department and the Chamber of Commerce.

Parents also were urged to cooperate. Anyone wishing to designate his or her home as "an island of safety" was asked to contact Auxiliary representatives at any of the following telephone numbers: HI-3-9826, HI-3-4256, HI-3-3845 or HI-3-5346.

Persons at the "helping hand" homes would notify parents of any child in need. In the event of a crime, they could call police.

Other Auxiliary officers helping organize the project are Idell Clay, senior vice-president; and Sue Lee, community service chairman; and, Ethel Sowell, youth activities chairman.

Golfer Sam Snead, a native of Hot Springs, W. Va., reached his 55th birthday last May 27.

Reagan To Wear Favorite Son Tag

By BILL BOYARSKY

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — California's Republican party organization is ready to go to the GOP national convention backing Gov. Ronald Reagan as a favorite son presidential candidate.

A few hours before a poll was released showing Reagans popularity had slipped a bit this summer, the Republican State Central Committee unanimously supported the first-term governor as California's favorite son.

State GOP Chairman James W. Halley told the Republicans Sunday: "The eyes of the nation are indeed on this state and on Ronald Reagan."

Mervin D. Field's California poll indicated California voters are finding more fault with Reagan. Field's figures show 37 per cent thought Reagan was doing a job as of this month, compared with 41 per cent in June. In both polls 33 per cent felt he was doing a fair job.

Those finding him doing a poor job jumped from 17 to 25 per cent.

Field said voters in the earlier poll were judging Reagan more on style and personality. It now appears, he said, that Reagan's handling of state problems has begun to affect his popularity.

Field said Reagan is being criticized chiefly for proposing cuts in the state health program, raising taxes, cutting mental health funds and proposing tuition and fee increases for the state university.

The Republican party's state policy-making body gave its blessing to Reagan as the state's favorite son candidate for president next June as the head of an 86-vote delegation in the state's presidential primary election.

As of now no opposition is in sight for the Reagan delegation, and none is expected since both moderate and conservative wings of the party endorsed Reagan as a favorite son.

Reagan insists he is not an outright candidate for president, but just wants to be a favorite son to unify the party in his home state.

The Central Committee praised Reagan for "a job well done "as governor and unanimously supported his economies in such state welfare programs as medical aid to the poor.

Adoption of the resolution followed an unexpected debate in which two Negro Central Committee members pleaded that their race be given a place on the Reagan delegation.

One of them, Benjamin Perry from the South Central Los Angeles district hit by the Watts riot of 1965, noted that California's 1964 Barry Goldwater presidential delegation had no minority group members.

Later he told reporters that Negroes "are tired of being treated as wards in the Republican party, and it is high time the party began treating us as people."

State GOP Chairman James W. Halley pointed out that the Central Committee does not pick the delegation. Under the law Reagan will pick a three-man steering committee to name his delegates.

Cupboards A Problem For Tehran Residents

SAN ANGELO (AP) — Mrs. Andrea Alemazkoor, a San Angelo girl who married an Iranian engineer and now lives in Tehran, says finding an apartment with kitchen cupboards has proved to be the greatest inconvenience she encountered in the Persian country.

Here for a visit, Mrs. Alemazkoor said she and her husband hunted for weeks for an apartment with cabinets. "Most we looked at had just a tiny cupboard because refrigeration and canned goods are relatively new items, and people were used to shopping every day."

AUSTIN (AP) — Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., has reported that a bird species believed extinct — the ivory-billed woodpecker — has been discovered in the Big Thicket area of East Texas.

The report came from the Interior Department to Yarborough because of the bill to create a Big Thicket National Park to preserve this area of shrinking wilderness.

Sundaco May Face More Legal Action

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sundaco, Inc., operated stores Sunday in Fort Worth and Dallas with "fair business" and indications that new efforts would be made to close the operations.

The firm, which Dist. Atty. Henry Wade of Dallas said was formed "to get around" Texas' new Sunday closing law, opened Levitz Furniture in Dallas and the Ridglea Branch of Clark's Discount Stores in Fort Worth.

In Fort Worth Dist. Atty. Frank Coffey said his office "does intend to take some type of legal action this week." He drove past the Fort Worth discount store.

Persons who tried to telephone Levitz in Dallas while Sundaco was opearting the huge furniture house heard a recorded message. It said merely that the store was being operated by Sundaco.

Coffey would not say what legal action he would take. He could seek a civil court order for the stores not to operate on both Sundays and Saturdays.

Wade said in Dallas earlier that "while we are still working the laws involved" his office would not attempt to halt sales by Sundaco.

The new Texas law forbids a store to sell non-essential items on both Saturday and Sunday. A spokesman said when Sundaco, Inc., was formed that it would buy the stores at 12:01 a.m. each Sunday and sell them back to the original owners by Monday morning.

In Abilene, Dist. Judge Austin McCloud refused last Wednesday to grant an injunction halting Sundaco's operation. The decision lifted a temporary restraining order issued by Dist. Judge James R. Black, also in Abilene, and Sundaco officials considered the ruling a triumph for them.

Bakken Was Looking Hard For His Record

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jim Bakken was looking so hard for the end—a National Football League field goal record—he almost lost sight of the means—the ball.

The football-style kicker set a record of seven field goals Sunday in nine attempts, also a record. His kicking also carried the St. Louis Cardinals to a 28-14 upset of the Pittsburgh Steelers.

"I knew about the record, and it almost cost me," Bakken said. "When I kicked the seventh one, I wanted to see if it was any good almost before I kicked it. So I looked up and almost dubbed it. I just made it."

It just made it 23 yards and broke the mark of six set last season by soccer-style kicker Garo Yepremian of Detroit.

Don Chandler, another conventional-style kicker, didn't set any records, but he did save Green Bay from defeat for the second straight week.

Chandler, who booted an 18-yarder with 1:43 left to gain Green Bay a 17-17 tie with Detroit in their season opener, kicked a 46-yarder with just 63 seconds remaining Sunday, giving the mistake-prone Packers a 13-10 victory over the underdog Chicago Bears.

In other NFL games, Johnny Unitas boosted his career passing yardage past the 30,000-mark as Baltimore clobbered Philadelphia 38-6, Washington drubbed New Orleans 30-10, Dallas clipped the New York Giants 38-24, Detroit topped Cleveland 31-14 and San Francisco trounced Atlanta 38-7. Los Angeles outclassed Minnesota 39-3 Friday night.

Boston blanked Buffalo 33-0, Kansas City whipped Miami 24-0, San Diego outlasted Houston 13-3 and the New York Jets scrambled past Denver 38-24 in the American Football League.

The Cardinals, who stymied Pittsburgh with three interceptions and a fumble recovery which they converted into 16 points, scored their only touchdown on quarterback Jim Hart's 23-yard run in the first quarter.

Although Green Bay never could get rolling—Chicago intercepted five Bart Starr passes and recovered three fumbles—the Packers led 10-0 at halftime on the strength of Jim Grabowski two-yard touchdown run and Chandler's 20-yard field goal.

Chicago got a 22-yard three-pointer from Mac Percival in the third quarter and tied it on Gale Sayers' 13-yard TD dash just minutes before Chandler's winning kick.

Unitas passed 10 and 31 yards to flanker Willie Richards and Tony Lorick scored on a pair of three-yard runs in Baltimore's romp. Sam Baker kicked two field goals for Philadelphia's points.

WASHINGTON APPLIES PRESSURE

Tigers Shoved To The Door

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Washington's unromantic Senators have shown Detroit to the door and now Tiger Manager Mayo Smith must figure out a way to keep his foot in it.

Paul Casanova and Fred Valentine were the chief cads in this tale of a broken affair and although Dan Cupid might not approve, Gil Hodges certainly did.

Casanova and Valentine delivered key singles in a three-run ninth inning rally that gave the Senators a 5-4 victory over Detroit Sunday. The loss shoved the Tigers into fourth place, 1½ games behind as the torrid American League pennant race moved into its final week.

Minnesota retained its one-half game lead, beating New York 9-4 for Dean Chance's 20th victory. Boston stayed right behind the Twins by walloping Baltimore 11-4 with an 18-hit attack. Third place Chicago used four pitchers to stop Cleveland 3-1 and stayed one game behind. In another game, California edged Kansas City 2-1.

In the National League, Houston topped New York 4-2, Cincinnati edged Chicago 3-2 in 10 innings, St. Louis nipped Atlanta 5-4, Pittsburgh shaded San Francisco 2-1 and Philadelphia defeated Los Angeles 5-1.

The Tigers carried a 4-2 lead into the ninth inning against Washington and were looking forward to their third straight victory over the cooperative Senators.

But Mike Epstein and Frank Coggins opened with singles. After Ken McMullen bunted into a force out, Casanova singled home the tying run. The Senators were getting too cozy for Smith. He brought in reliever John Hiller who retired Cap Peterson on a line drive for the second out.

Hiller got the first two strikes over to Doug Camilli, who had driven in only four runs all year. But Camilli worked the count to 3-2, fouled off several pitches and finally singled the tying run across. Valentine followed with the fifth single of the inning, scoring Casanova with the winner.

End of game and end of romance.

A giant roar went up at Metropolitan Stadium in Minnesota when the Detroit score was posted. The Twins, despite a somewhat shoddy performance by Chance, were coasting past the Yankees and protecting their lead.

Bob Allison walloped a three-run first inning home run and Harmon Killebrew tagged his 41st of the season, making it easy for Chance, who allowed 12 hits.

Detroit's trouble in Washington was greeted serenly by the Red Sox when it was posted at Baltimore. "We knew about it already," smiled Carl Yastrzemski. "My brother was sitting next to the dugout with a radio and he told us minutes before it was up on the scoreboard."

Boston tore into the Orioles with Dalton Jones, George Scott and Jerry Adair smashing four hits apiece. Jones drove in five runs, giving him nine in the last week and 25 for the season.

Jim Lonborg allowed just two hits in the six innings he pitched and won his 21st game. He is expected to start two of Boston's four remaining games.

Don McMahon pitched five innings of perfect relief and then Gary Peters and Bobby Locker bailed him out of an eighth inning jam as the White Sox topped the Indians.

Chicago was leading 3-0 in the third when Cisco Carlos gave up a single and a walk. Eddie Sanky called for McMahon, who retired 14 straight batters until the eighth. Then consecutive doubles by Richie Scheinblum and Joe Azcue knocked him out.

Peters came on to get pinch hitter Tony Horton and then Locker retired the last two batters without further damage.

Lamar 9th Rips Ponies

A strong Lamar 9th grade team blanked Sweetwater 22-0 in convincing fashion on the Junior High turf here Saturday night.

Three Texan backs got into the scoring act as the hosts completely dominated play, moving the ball with finesse while the defense threw up an impenetrable barricade to nip every Pony threat.

Lamar scored its first touchdown with only 57 seconds remaining in the first half following a short punt that set up first and 10 at the Sweetwater 26. On the first play quarterback Bid Cooper rolled left and lofted a pass to the flat as he was falling. Thompson pulled it in about the 15 and was cleared to the five with good blocking. At this point, he was challenged by the safety but the defender fell to the ground after a good fake and Thompson scooted on into the end zone. Cooper skirted right end for the extra points as the lead went to 8-0.

The Texans almost tallied again before intermission as Shields leaped high in the air to claim the pigskin for Lamar following a perfectly executed on-side kick. Operating then in Pony territory at the 44, Cooper faded back and spiraled a soft floater to Tony Breedlove who made an easy one-handed catch at the 35. Tony tucked the ball under his arm and headed downfield but was bounced down at the 28. The Ponies got tougher in the trenches and held on until the gun signaled halftime.

Following a fumble recovery at the Pony 34 in the third quarter, Breedlove took the ball into the end zone in two carries for the second touchdown. On first down, he went up the middle, cut towards the west sidelines and dove out of bounds at the five yard stripe as he was hit by a defender. Tony apparently thought the five was the goal or he would have remained on his feet and tried to carry the defender over with him. However, it made no difference as he crashed the barricades up the middle on the next try for six more points. Cooper passed to Shields in the northeast corner of the end zone for bonus points as the count went to 16-0. A defender bumped into Shields prior to the reception, but Shields made the catch anyway.

The Texans required just three plays to span 37 yards for their final touchdown following a brilliant 28-yard runback of an interception by Shields in the fourth quarter. He speared the enemy aerial on his own 35 and chugged down the west sidelines to the Pony 37. Cooper gained two to the 35, then Branson, the alternate quarterback, gained five on a quick keeper to the 30. This set the stage for a fine gallop by Shields. He sprinted around left end and burst into the clear when a crisp block cut down the defensive cornerback. It was just a matter of speed after that as Shields won the race to the southwest corner of the field. A pass for extra points failed to click as the final margin remained at 22-0.

The Texan defenders were aggressive and contained Brown, the heralded Pony running back, each time he threatened to emerge into the clear. This Sweetwater team was the same one that had defeated the Big Spring team that held the Texans to a scoreless tie last week in the rain.

All of the Lamar defenders reacted well on defense.

Subdued Duffy, Bear Look Over Wreckage Of Weekend

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

There's a decided new look to the young college football season today—Michigan State trampled, Alabama tied by a three-touchdown underdog and the West Coast powers suddenly in a position to challenge mighty Notre Dame for No. 1.

And, too, there's upstart Houston, suddenly thrust into the spotlight on the strength of a fantastic 37-7 rout of Duffy Daugherty's Michigan State crew, ranked third nationally going into the game and all-winning in 1966.

"It's been a long time since we've taken our lumps like that," a subdued Daugherty said after the stunning reversal of form in Michigan State's opener. "But I've seen sicker cats get well."

But Alabama's Bear Bryant couldn't be even that optimistic after his second-ranked Crimson Tide was tied 37-37 by surprising Florida State in their opener.

"This is the weakest defensive team I've ever put on the field," he said. "Everything about the defense was poor. They've forgotten what it takes to play defense."

Of the top three, only Notre Dame won, an easy, 41-8 opening triumph over California.

Coach Ara Parseghian had words of praise for quarterback Terry Hanratty—"He ran the ball club well, he hit his targets and he ran with the ball well"—but otherwise wasn't very pleased.

"We dropped far too many passes. Our defensive line is green yet. We have lots of work to do."

West Coast powers Southern California and UCLA turned in impressive victories, the second straight for each. No. 4 Southern Cal, operating behind quarterback Steve Soggro held off fifth-ranked Texas 17-13, and sixth-ranked UCLA, with Gary Beban and Greg Jones again starring, crushed Pittsburgh 40-8.

No. 7 Georgia opened with a 30-0 shutout of Mississippi State and No. 9 Colorado edged Oregon State 17-13, but eight-ranked Miami, Fla., was upset by Northwestern 12-7.

Some other major upsets included Memphis State's 27-17 decision over Mississippi, Oklahoma State's 7-6 verdict over Arkansas and Navy's 23-22 thriller over Penn State.

Nance, Patriots Have A Good Day

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jim Nance has had a better day, but Boston Coach Mike Holovak says his Patriots never have.

Nance piled up an awesome total of 185 yards in 34 carries Sunday, leading Boston to a surprising 23-0 victory over Buffalo, the first shutout the Bills have suffered in 137 American Football League games.

Nance's best day? The league's 1966 Player of the Year gained 208 yards against Oakland last year. But his performance Sunday was enough to get him the game ball and to get Holovak thinking in terms of superlatives.

"It was our best game," the Boston pilot said succinctly. "We didn't have any interceptions or fumbles, and the Bills still are the toughest club in the league defensively."

In their first three games, all defeats, the Patriots fumbled five times and had 11 passes intercepted. Now their thoughts are rambling back to last season when, after a bad start, a victory over the Bills spark second place in the Eastern Division.

In other AFL games Sunday, New York beat Denver 38-24, Kansas City blanked Miami 24-0 and San Diego upended Houston 13-3.

In the NFL, San Francisco pounded Atlanta 38-7, Baltimore bombed Philadelphia 38-6, Green Bay survived Chicago 13-10, Detroit crushed Cleveland 31-14, Dallas topped New York 38-24, St. Louis beat Pittsburgh 28-14 and Washington smothered New Orleans 30-10.

Joe Namath had a marvelous day for the Jets, completing 22 of 37 passes for 399 yards and two touchdowns. Emerson Boozer ran for three touchdowns. Also impressive about Namath's performance was the fact that in the second period the Broncos had a 24-7 lead.

Mike Garrett gained 133 yards in 20 carries for the Chiefs and caught a 34-yard scoring toss from Len Dawson. Otis Taylor caught a Dawson pass for a 57-yard scoring play.

Dick Van Raaphorst kicked a pair of field goals and Lance Alworth made a leaping catch of a pass from John Hadl for a 44-yard touchdown for the Chargers. Alworth caught 10 passes altogether, good for 121 yards.

100 To Compete In Oklahoma Open

ENID, Okla. (AP) — A field of 100 golfers, headed by British and U. S. Amateur winner Bob Dickson, will tee off Tuesday in the Oklahoma Open Golf Tournament.

Dickson, who was released from the Army Friday, will be making his first appearance since winning the National Amateur at Colorado Springs early this month.

Ohio State will lead Big Ten teams in sophomore football players this fall with 42.

Sweetwater Nips Lamar 8th, 18-8

A bulldozer named Houston led Sweetwater 8th grade to an 18-8 triumph over Lamar 8th here Saturday night in a stubbornly contested football game in Junior High Stadium.

The visitors scored early in each of the first two quarters to lead 12-0, then Lamar posted its tally to cut the lead to 12-8 at halftime. After a scoreless third quarter, the Ponies put it on ice with a fourth quarter touchdown.

Three of the four goal crossing were of the spectacular variety and another outstanding offensive maneuver set up the fourth one.

Sweetwater took the opening kickoff and marched 55 yards. Houston sacked up the first TD with an awesome display of power on a 38 yard run. He simply went up the middle and ran over the defenders. He kept digging until he came into the clear at the 20. Several defenders hit him on the run, but none of them could bring him down. A run for extra points was stopped short.

Lamar almost scored following the kickoff as Travis Bunch broke on a 45-yard gallop to the Pony 16. However, a penalty and a fumble killed the drive and the visitors took over on the 17. They spanned the remaining 83 yards in six plays. Houston set up the score with another bulldozer plunge on first down to the Texan 23. Turner capped the drive with a 12-yard run around left end, but a fumble spoiled the bid for extra points.

Steve Norred took the kickoff back 18 yards to his 48, then Bunch crossed midfield on a 5-yard romp to the 47. Arnold then put the Texans on the scoreboard with a thrilling touchdown run on a tricky double reverse. He took the ball on the second handoff going wide towards the east sidelines and cut upfield. The defense was fooled completely on the play, and Arnold crossed the goal untouched. Norred chugged across for the bonus points.

Two blocked kicks highlighted the third quarter, although there was no scoring. The Texans blocked a punt and took over on the Pony 11. However, they couldn't move, and the visitors turned the tables to block a field goal attempt from the 13.

That fourth quarter Pony tally resulted from a 77-yard pass and run play with Williams taking it over. He got behind the Texans and went all the way. A pass for extra points failed to click.

Norred fielded the kickoff and made a brilliant 34 yard runback to the Sweetwater 36. Arnold gained three to the 23, then Norred scooted to the 20 for a first down. With time running out, the Texans had to pass, but Thompson was spilled twice when his receivers were covered as Sweetwater held on.

Lamar did a great job containing Houston in the second half.

Struggle Continues Over Power In Foreign Affairs

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—If President Johnson thinks he has it bad, he should have seen what happened to the first president. George Washington got so fed up with abuse, not for getting the country into a war but for trying to keep it out of one, he said he'd rather be dead.

That was the start of the All-American game of heckling presidents over foreign policy but few have been hit harder than Johnson for the war in Vietnam. His critics are a mixed lot of doves who want a softer war or none and hawks who want a tougher one.

One of the most critical doves, Sen. J. W. Fulbright, has come up with a plan for clipping Johnson's wings, although he says it isn't meant to. But the resolution the Arkansas Democrat proposed in the Senate speaks for itself.

It would give the Senate a lot more say in foreign affairs than the Constitution provides and, therefore, Johnson less. If the Senate approves the resolution, Johnson can ignore it, and probably will, since it does not have the effect of law. But ignoring it would irritate the critics even more.

While Fulbright's move reflects dissatisfaction with Johnson's role in the dragged-out war in Vietnam, it's just one more ploy in the old and endless struggle between the White House and Congress over which has the right to do what in foreign affairs.

Its roots are in the Founding Fathers' vagueness. They were muddle- headed, inexperienced and superficial in foreign affairs when they laid down the rules for the new government in the Constitution of 1787.

After their resentments and frustrations with the British royal governors in Colonial days, they were bent on separating the powers of the various branches of the new government through checks and balances.

But, while they were almost four months debating everything else, they spent only a small part of three days on future foreign problems and then didn't seem to think any further than treaty-making. This was one of the most loosely drawn sections in the Constitution.

This is about all it said: While only Congress can declare war, the president is commander-in-chief of the armed forces and can make treaties with the "advice and consent" of the Senate, provided two-thirds of the Senators agree. The struggle has been going on ever since over all the things left unsaid.

The founders didn't raise or answer questions like these: Can a president make a decision in foreign affairs without first consulting Congress? Presidents have done so. Can a president send troops into war in a foreign country without a formal declaration of war by Congress, as Johnson did in Vietnam? Other presidents besides Johnson have done so.

Washington was the first to run into the rumpus over questions like those because he was the first president who felt he had to make a foreign decision without consulting Congress. This was in 1793 when France and England went to war and he wanted to keep the young and feeble United States out of it.

Congress was not in session, yet he thought he needed to act fast. But did he have a right to, since the Constitution was silent onsuch a problem? He took a chance, consulted his cabinet, and announced the United States would stay neutral. The roof fell in.

He was denounced, reviled and ridiculed for doing what some thought only Congress had a right to do, although the Constitution didn't say the right belonged to Congress, either. Pro-English Americans wanted to line up with the British; pro-French Americans wanted to line up with the French.

Johnson has been plagued and besieged by antiwar-in-Vietnam demonstrators. Washington got the same treatment from anti-neutrality demonstrators, but worse. Vice President John Adams wrote later that mobs by the thousands stormed through Philadelphia, threatening to drag Washington out of his house and start a new revolution.

It was at this time Washington said he'd rather be dead. But just then a yellow fever epidemic swept Philadelphia and Adams thought later this was the only thing that saved Washington. In the end Congress, a year later, backed up the new president by passing a Neutrality Act.

Junior Editors Quiz on SKY

QUESTION: Why is the sky blue?

* * *

ANSWER: Our earth is covered with a dense layer of the precious atmosphere we must have in order to breathe. Suspended in this are countless specks of dust and other materials. It is the sunlight, glancing off these specks, which makes the sky look light. Without our atmosphere of air, the sky would appear black as it does in outer space. The white light from the sun holds within it all the colors of the rainbow. But the particles in the air bend or refract this white light and so scatter the rainbow colors. Blue is the color which, because of its short wave length, is more widely scattered than the other colors, and this is why the sky appears blue on a sunny day. When you look at something distant, you are looking through air with its widely scattered blue rays, so things far away take on a faint bluish tinge. Since there is always some water vapor in the air, distant things will also look lighter. A great deal of water vapor in the air, as on a cloudy day, will overcome the blue rays and the sky and distance will look gray.

A Day In The Life Of Born Losers

By HAL COOPER

NEW YORK (AP) — Well, it's enough to make you antiunion. Because, after all, if the United Federation of Teachers doesn't call this strike against the New York school system, it never happens.

No strike, and Public School No. 44 will be open. If No. 44 is open, Jeffrey, aged 11, will be in class instead of putting his trousers on at 10 a.m. And if Jeffrey is not putting his trousers on at 10 a.m., what comes does not occur.

First word of what has taken place comes in the form of a telephone call to the office from Jeffrey's brother, Nick, aged 10.

"Daddy," says Nick, "Jeffrey is in trouble. He was putting his pants on and, you know, something happened which is a man problem. That's why we didn't call Mommy at the university."

"It involves the zipper?"

"Yes, Daddy. We've tried everything but it's no good. Jeffrey is being very brave, but . . ."

"Hold everything. Daddy will be home cabwise forthwith."

The cab delivers Daddy at the apartment house in Manhattan and it is quickly evident that this is a contretemps which will require professional assistance.

So a telephone call is made to the family doctor.

"Oh, my goodness," says the family doctor. "Bring the poor little fellow over immediately."

After a somewhat tiresome interlude a cab is captured and the trip is made to the doctor's lair on Central Park West.

"Hmm," says the doctor. "You don't particularly care what happens to the pants?"

"No, doctor. The important thing is to release the captive."

"Very well. Now, you take the right-hand side of the zipper and I'll take the left and—there we go! All right, Jeffrey?"

"Yes, doctor, and thank you," says Jeffrey, being brave.

Jeffrey, Nick and Daddy then repair back to the apartment building in a cab and another day in the life of a bunch of born losers is history.

We do not know how much money the United Federation of Teachers may have, but we sincerely hope it is plenty. Because we are going to sue them for every dime they own, unless we cool off quite a few degrees in the near future.

Auto Mishaps Kill Eleven In Texas

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Auto accidents took 11 lives and the over-all toll from violence was 19 in Texas during the weekend.

The deaths occurred between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Sunday.

Four members of an Irving family died in the worst crash, which occurred Friday night when a car dodged a stray calf and collided with a truck. The victims were Ray G. Harman, 36; his wife Sue, 35, and their sons William, 9, and Ray Jr., 11. These were among the others dying violently.

William Mercer, 18, was shot and killed Sunday during an argument at his girl friend's home. Police held a man for questioning.

Officers charged Joseph Rogers with murder after his wife Jeraldine, 43, was beaten to death early Sunday in her Houston apartment. Rogers was held without bond.

Pfc. Thomas Ray Oliphant, 24, an Army reservist, was crushed to death Sunday when a truck overturned at a curve 10 miles north of Decatur as he drove to pick up a special forces parachute team. He and Pfc. Chris Bowers, also 24, were pinned under the vehicle. Bowers, suffering only minor injuries, dug clear and summoned aid.

Nichlos Jianfortoni, 18, was killed by a bullet as he listened to an argument early Sunday while attending a trailer house party in Houston. Police sought a suspect.

Robert Charles Andrews, 18, was killed and two companions suffered critical injuries as their car hit a bridge railing Sunday in Dallas. Police said the crash occurred during a highspeed chase involving several patrol cars. The injured youth were Wilson Eliott and Charles Carpenter, both 17.

Broadcasters Wind Up Convention

AUSTIN (AP) — Federal Communications Commissioner Nicholas Johnson was the principal speaker today as the Texas Association of Broadcasters wound up its 31st annual convention.

Johnson was to have shared the speaker's stand with Gov. John B. Connally, but the governor was forced by flood conditions in South Texas to cancel his appearance.

Connally flew to Kenedy, from where he was to take a helicopter to flood-ravaged Three Rivers and then go to Corpus Christi for the night.

The broadcasters heard warning Sunday about the new FCC rule on antismoking message.

Douglas Anello, general counsel of the National Association of Broadcasters, said Sunday that unless the courts knock down the new rule, radio and television stations might some day have to carry warnings about cars and beer.

"Once the commission starts applying the fairness doctrine to any product, they can't stop with cigarettes," he said.

Anello told the broadcast executives that he expects a final court decision, including U.S. Supreme Court action, within 15 to 18 months on a suit filed in Richmond, Va., challenging the FCC rule.

"We think we have a pretty good chance of slowing the commission down in this area," he said.

Hippies Are Hippies The World Around

MEDFORD, Ore. (AP) — Koichi Watanabe says hippies are the same all over the world.

The Sendai, Japan, student is spending the year at St. Mary's High School in Medford. He says there isn't much difference between a Tokyo hippie and a Portland hippie.

"And what do they call hippies in Japan?"

"Just hippies, of course."

Thieves Return To Get Small Change

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — Thieves returned to the Topping Heating Co. to steal small change they rejected one day earlier.

The thieves broke into the shop Friday and stole $150 in currency from the cash drawer. They left $6 in change untouched.

The following night, they broke into the shop again and made off with the $6 in change, police said Sunday.

SETS STRATEGISTS WONDERING

Romney Blazes New Trails

By HARRY KELLY

LOS ANGELES (AP) — If Michigan Gov. George Romney's cross-country tour is any standard, American politicans face some new hazards and experiences in the 1968 campaign.

Political strategists looking for new gimmicks may face the question, "How do we top George?"

However, as Romney prepared to tour the predominantely Negro district of Watts in Los Angeles today, even his aides were wondering if his visits could backfire among party conservatives.

Although the Michigan governor says his urban tour is "nonpolitical," the undeclared candidate for the Republican presidential nomination is blazing some unusual trails for politicians more accustomed to airport rallies or flag-draped platforms in cornfields and coliseums.

Romney has done some of the usual things—climbing up rickety ladders to give painters a helping hand with the brush, flying through the Catskill mountains in rainshowers to give a sermon at a boys camp chapel, and climbing down into a subway being constructed 50-feet under San Francisco Bay.

But in the new politics, Romney has also:

—Sat in the gloomy storefront headquarters of black militants to defend himself against charges that his Mormon religion is racist.

—Climbed to the roof of a four-story walkup in Spanish Harlem to peer down at a garbage strewn yard because a woman dared him to visit her home.

—Eaten watermelon with former black nationalists and hippies in a flat decorated with a flag of a coiled snake the motto, "Don't Tread on Me."

—Stepped in to the middle of several hundred hippies in San Francisco's Haight-Ashbury district where, he told newsman later, he was offered marijuana as a gift.

Romney's stated mission is to learn first hand about the problems of the cities and the programs being tried to solve them.

But the Michigan governor is also interested in lining up support and delegates for the 1968 GOP presidential nominating convention.

And his aides acknowledge that his travels through slums and hippiedom could backfire, particularly among party conservatives.

Romney, no darling of the conservatives because of his refusal to support Barry Goldwater in 1964. But at least one Romney strategist feels the governor will have to get some conservative support in order to win the nomination.

British Prisons End Corporal Punishment

LONDON (AP) — Canes, birch rods and cats-o-nine-tails will go up in smoke at prison yard bonfires Sunday, the Home Office ordered today.

The fires will mark the official end of corporal punishment in British prisons, although the last man to feel the birch whip got 15 lashes in 1962.

The order applies to 40 prisons that keep the implements in case a visiting magistrate orders their use. A flogging could be performed only if magistrate ordered it for gross violence on a guard or incitement to mutiny.

Metal triangles to which men were tethered by their ankles when whipped will be beaten into scrap iron. Cloth and leather pieces used to bind prisoners will be burned.

Ohio State will have only 11 seniors playing football this fall.

Huge Vine A Wonder

FT. BELKNAP, Tex. (AP) — What many tourists consider one of the wonders of the great Southwest is the 35-year-old mustang grapevine which covers an arbor at Ft. Belknap, three miles south of Newcastle.

It measures larger than most Young County native trees. The 20 grapevine trunks are 8 to 10 feet tall.

Early Spanish missionaries brought the grape to America and Spaniards introduced it to the Southwest. The vine requires little care.

The Cox Grape Arbor, as it is known as Ft. Belknap, historic old Army post, was started 30 years ago by the late Burl W. Cox, a farmer in the community. He planted grape cuttings he got from Jack County.

Cox planted the cuttings in rows, and the vines soon entwined around wooden fences he built.

In the 1940's, the trunks had grown to such proportions that a heavy metal structure was needed to hold the weight. Government welding classes built the present metal structure.

Transit Workers Accept New Contract

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The nearly 500 bus drivers and hourly workers at San Antonio's city-owned transit company accepted a new contract with a 24-cent hourly wage increase early today.

The drivers are unionized but under Texas law cannot strike against the public-owned company. Many had threatened to "go fishing," however, if a contract was not agreed upon.

The contract guarantees a 4-cent hike by next May, a 90-day accumulated sick leave and a $50 annual uniform allowance.

Some Basic Commodities Show Big Price Decrease

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — A glance at the prices of some commodities, which are the basic goods from which other goods are refined, processed or manufactured, could hardly convince you that inflation is threatening.

The wholesale prices of some of these items are much lower than they were a year ago. Coffee, corn, wheat, zinc, tin, rubber and hogs are among them. Even some steel prices were lower last month than a year earlier.

The same state of affairs exists also in some of the large commodity trading centers abroad. The price of copper, which is in great demand in this country because of a shortage, is among those lower at London.

The implications of this trend are ominous for some underdeveloped nations, a few of whose economies exist on the income from selling their one major crop or product to the developed nations.

Domestically, some of these prices provide documentation of the farmer's complaint that he is not sharing to the same extent as his city cousin in the nation's expanding economy.

In August, for example, the price of No. 1 northern spring wheat at Minneapolis, Minn., was just a bit more than $1.63 a bushel. A year earlier it sold for more than $2.02 a bushel.

Corn could be purchased at Chicago for about $1.22 a bushel last month. But a year earlier the price was about $1.50. Colombian coffee sold for between 40 and 41 cents a pound at New York late last week. But in late September a year ago this commodity brought more than 45 cents a pound.

Some products, such as cocoa and sugar, are selling higher. But for each of these increases, a comparable decline can be found—the price of butter and eggs in some areas, for example. The question naturally arises as to why so many economists in government, academia and business are shouting that inflation is coming if we don't watch out. Why should prices for finished goods rise?

The most plausible explanation is that the increases will be somewhere in the processing, manufacturing, packaging, transporting and retailing of these products.

Each step in the development of a product adds value to it; the greater the value added the more cost might also be added to the product by the time it is retailed.

This curious situation of low prices for basic commodities and relatively high prices for the finished products is bound to create tension in the poorer nations, with some of it liable to explode in the face of developed nations.

But the industrialized nations have had their problems, too. It was the slowdown of some of these developed economies that helped produce the current problem. As they lessened their demand for many basic goods, surpluses piled up. And as these piles grew, prices shrank.

Synthetics also have played a role, especially in providing price-shrinking competition to products such as wool and natural rubber. This competition is hardly expected to diminish, either.

The entire complex situation is a serious one, loaded with problems both domestic and foreign, pulsing with implications that are not just economic, but political and moral also.

Acreage Cut Expected For Feed Grains

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government, farmers and the grain industry are considering the probability of sharp cutbacks in acreage allotments for feed grains and soybeans in the coming year.

The Agriculture Department gave advance warning of the prospect in announcing that the feed grain program will be the major topic for consideration in the two-day meeting here of the National Advisory Committee on Grains. This announcement specifically included soybeans, for which the first billion bushel harvest in history is predicted for this year.

The government already has cut the 1968 wheat allotment by 8.9 million acres, down to 59.3 million. This was done in anticipation of a bumper harvest this year—now estimated at a record 1.5 billion bushels.

The grains committee will make recommendations to the government. Then Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman plans about a dozen field hearings before making the big decision, which could mean a feed grain acreage cut of around 10 million acres.

The outlook is for soybean acreage trimming through eliminating the option farmers have had of producing soybeans on acreage retired from feed grain growing.

Farmers this year have held about 21.5 million acres of feed grain land in reserve, well under the 35-million level of the previous two years. Reserve acreage in 1968 may well go back up nearer the 1965-66 level.

During his sextended Western tour last week, Freeman repeatdly warned that acreage reductions probably will be made for feed grains and soybeans next year.

An early announcement for the 1968 feed grains program—possible by mid-October—is expected. This would give farmers time to plan for the coming season and would tend to strengthen prices for the 1967 record crops.

Landmark Renovated

OZONA, Tex. (AP) — The Crockett Hotel, one of Ozona's oldest landmark buildings, has undergone a complete renovation by its new owner, J.B. Miller. Built in the 1890s, the old hotel now has for the first time central heating and air conditioning, plus an all-new interior which boasts 18 rooms with tile baths and television.

Huge Vine A Wonder

FT. BELKNAP, Tex. (AP) — What many tourists consider one of the woners of the great Southwest is the 35-year-old mustang grapevine which covers an arbor at Ft. Belknap, three miles south of Newcastle.

It measures larger than most Young County native trees. The 20 grapevine trunks are 8 to 10 feet tall.

Early Spanish missionaries brought the grape to America and Spaniards introduced it to the Southwest. The vine requires little care.

The Cox Grape Arbor, as it is known as Ft. Belknap, historic old Army post, was started 30 years ago by the late Burl W. Cox, a farmer in the community. He planted grape cuttings he got from Jack County.

Cox planted the cuttings in rows, and the vines soon entwined around wooden fences he built.

In the 1940's, the trunks had grown to such proportions that a heavy metal structure was needed to hold the weight. Government welding classes built the present metal structure.

Transit Workers Accept New Contract

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The nearly 500 bus drivers and hourly workers at San Antonio's city-owned transit company accepted a new contract with a 24-cent hourly wage increase early today.

The drivers are unionized but under Texas law cannot strike against the public-owned company. Many had threatened to "go fishing," however, if a contract was not agreed upon.

The contract guarantees a 4-cent hike by next May, a 90-day accumulated sick leave and a $50 annual uniform allowance.

Some Basic Commodities Show Big Price Decrease

By JOHN CUNNIFF
—AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — A glance at the prices of some commodities, which are the basic goods from which other goods are refined, processed or manufactured, could hardly convince you that inflation is threatening.

The wholesale prices of some of these items are much lower than they were a year ago. Coffee, corn, wheat, zinc, tin, rubber and hogs are among them. Even some steel prices were lower last month than a year earlier.

The same state of affairs exists also in some of the large commodity trading centers abroad. The price of copper, which is in great demand in this country because of a shortage, is among those lower at London.

The implications of this trend are ominous for some underdeveloped nations, a few of whose economies exist on the income from selling their one major crop or product to the developed nations.

Domestically, some of these prices provide documentation of the farmer's complaint that he is not sharing to the same extent as his city cousin in the nation's expanding economy.

In August, for example, the price of No. 1 northern spring wheat at Minneapolis, Minn., was just a bit more than $1.63 a bushel. A year earlier it sold for more than $2.02 a bushel.

Corn could be purchased at Chicago for about $1.22 a bushel last month. But a year earlier the price was about $1.50. Colombian coffee sold for between 40 and 41 cents a pound at New York late last week. But in late September a year ago this commodity brought more than 45 cents a pound.

Some products, such as cocoa and sugar, are selling higher. But for each of these increases, a comparable decline can be found—the price of butter and eggs in some areas, for example. The question naturally arises as to why so many economists in government, academia and business are shouting that inflation is coming if we don't watch out. Why should prices for finished goods rise?

The most plausible explanation is that the increases will be somewhere in the processing, manufacturing, packaging, transporting and retailing of these products.

Each step in the development of a product adds value to it; the greater the value added the more cost might also be added to the product by the time it is retailed.

This curious situation of low prices for basic commodities and relatively high prices for the finished products is bound to create tension in the power nations, with some of it liable to explode in the face of developed nations.

But the industrialized nations have had their problems, too. It was the slowdown of some of these developed economies that helped produce the current problem. As they lessened their demand for many basic goods, surpluses piled up. And as these piles grew, prices shrank.

Synthetics also have played a role, especially in providing price-shrinking competition to products such as wool and natural rubber. This competition is hardly expected to diminish, either.

The entire complex situation is a serious one, loaded with problems both domestic and foreign, pulsing with implications that are not just economic, but political and moral also.

Acreage Cut Expected For Feed Grains

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government, farmers and the grain industry are considering the probability of sharp cutbacks in acreage allotments for feed grains and soybeans in the coming year.

The Agriculture Department gave advance warning of the prospect in announcing that the feed grain program will be the major topic for consideration in the two-day meeting here of the National Advisory Committee on Grains. This announcement specifically included soybeans, for which the first billion bushel harvest in history is predicted for this year.

The government already has cut the 1968 wheat allotment by 8.9 million acres, down to 59.3 million. This was done in anticipation of a bumper harvest this year—now estimated at a record 1.5 billion bushels.

The grains committee will make recommendations to the government. Then Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman plans about a dozen field hearings before making the big decision, which could mean a feed grain acreage cut of around 10 million acres.

The outlook is for soybean acreage trimming through eliminating the option farmers have had of producing soybeans on acreage retired from feed grain growing.

Farmers this year have held about 21.5 million acres of feed grain land in reserve, well under the 35-million level of the previous two years. Reserve acreage in 1968 may well go back up nearer the 1965-66 level.

During his sextended Western tour last week, Freeman repeatdly warned that acreage reductions probably will be made for feed grains and soybeans next year.

An early announcement for the 1968 feed grains program—possible by mid-October—is expected. This would give farmers time to plan for the coming season and would tend to strengthen prices for the 1967 record crops.

BUSINESS and INDUSTRIAL NEWS

QUALITY CLEANING — Mrs. Orville Taylor displays a knit garment. Personnel at Highland Park Cleaners, 3803 Big Spring Highway, take special care with knits, woolens, leather coats and suede coats with mink collars.

Expert Care Featured At Highland Park Cleaners

Clothes entrusted to the care of the responsible personnel at Highland Park Cleaners, 3803 Big Spring Highway, are treated with the same care that the owner would give them.

A perfect example of the care taken with clothing is the popular knit dresses. Many of these dresses are made of yarns imported from Italy and Belgium. This fact, along with the natural tendency of knit garments to lose their shape, demands that careful handling be given each piece.

The experts at Highland Park Cleaners take the measurements of each knit garment before they do anything else to it. Then, after the careful hand cleaning of the garment it is finished out to exactly the same measurements.

The customer often does not realize the effort that has gone into the preparation of her dress, said Shelby Coker, owner of the firm. "But she sure would know the difference if we didn't take the extra care with it," he said.

Another specialty of Highland Park Cleaners is in the care and cleaning of woolens and leather coats. They can refinish either leather or part-leather clothing and restore that "new" look.

Kid gloves, too, are cleaned to perfection at Highland Park Cleaners. In years past, once a kid glove was cleaned, it was never as soft as when it was new. But now those days are gone. Gloves cleaned at Highland Park Cleaners are returned to their owners, not only clean, but soft and supple.

Persons who take their clothing to Highland Park Cleaners discover that shrinkage is reduced to a bare minimum; and that stains are not set into the fabric.

Special care also is taken with suede coats with mink collars. You don't have to go out of town to have this type of clothing cleaned properly.

Many other services are offered by the firm, including refrigerated storage for furs and woolens, free pickup and delivery, use of plastic protector bags. There are ample parking facilities for patrons, and a night deposit box for their convenience.

For prompt attention to your cleaning needs, just dial HI-3-7261. You'll find they do quality work at reasonable prices.

Police Looking For Honest Burglar

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP) — Police in East St. Louis are looking for an honest but unsuccessful burglar named Mike.

Officers said a man broke into a supermarket Sunday, knocked the combinations off three safes, but couldn't get into them.

Police said the same man penciled this note on a paper bag and left it, along with three dimes, on the check-out counter:

"To whom it may concern. I bought a 29-cent pack of safety pins but there was no one here to check me out. So here's the 29 cents plus one cent for tax. Thank you very much. Your're chum and friend, "Mike."

Officers Forced To Shoot Pet Baboon

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A pet baboon is dead because vandals couldn't keep away from his cage.

Three policemen shot the baboon to death in North Mountain Park Sunday after chasing it up a mountain.

Dr. Kenneth Hall, owner of the baboon, asked police to kill it because he feared it would become dangerous if left to roam. The animal escaped from a cage at North Mountain Hospital after vandals cut a hole in the wire.

Hall said the wire had been cut four times previously, but he had always managed to coax the baboon back inside. This latest time the baboon was frightened and fled.

MANY TEXANS STILL HOMELESS

Relief Workers Stay Busy

BROWNSVILLE (AP)—"When the need arises, it's surprising how many people come forward and volunteer," says the Red Cross coordinator for operations in this hurricane-battered city.

And the crushing load on both regulars and volunteers carried over into a second week today as the flooded Rio Grande pushed through a diversion dam at Mercedes. Thousands fled to shelters.

The Red Cross fed 100,000 persons and sheltered 49,897 in 133 centers Saturday night, the last statistics available and now out of date because of the new refugees in middle Valley towns.

H. H. Gilliam of Brownoowd, coordinating the Brownsville Red Cross activities, said his command issued a week's supply of food to 1,600 families in Brownsville Saturday and Sunday which the families took back to their water-soaked homes. They preferred going home rather than staying in the centers.

"We have only one shelter operating now with about 200 persons in it," Gilliam said Sunday night. Most can't go home because their houses are too badly damaged or still afloat in the aftermath of Hurricane Beulah and the mammoth rains.

"When we wind up the emergency mass care—that's meeting the food, clothing, medical, and shelter needs—then we'll go into the rehabilitation long-haul, individual-planning stage," Gilliam said.

Barring new rains or major from the Rio Grande, the rehabilitation stage may come within 3 to 5 days, he said, at least in Brownsville.

In Port Isabel, mobile food units are kept in operation "because the buildings are not in any shape for us to set up feeding in them yet. The situation is not such that people can stay. They commute back and forth to Harlingen, going to Port Isabel to do repairs in the days and then back to the shelters at night," he said.

Gilliam said the volunteers, as well as the professionals, have been working 20 and 22-hour days, catching a nap on a cot for a half hour or so occasionally.

"But you can't imagine the volunteer support we're getting from business and labor and churches and Boy and Girl Scouts, and clubs such as the Jaycees.

"Businessmen have loaned us people off their payrolls to do whatever we need. The AFL-CIO is providing us with a series of trucks. The scouts are doing the legwork in relaying messages that are so valuable since much of our communication system is still out," he said.

He said Brownsville schools were tentatively set to reopen Tuesday, unless new flooding forced great numbers of persons from Matamoros, across the Rio Grande in Mexico, to seek refuge in Brownsville schools.

Five Harlingen schools were used as refugee centers Sunday night when the diversion dam broke at Mercedes and more than 2,500 persons were alerted to flee from the potential new floods.

Palmer Simpson, regional manager of the southwest region of Red Cross in Houston, said an on-foot survey of houses and businesses in the flooded regions will begin this week. An aerial survey taken by the Red Cross Friday and Saturday will be used as guidance.

Simpson furnished the statistics on Red Cross shelters this weekend and gave this breakdown, also as of Saturday:

Brownsville 800 persons; Harlingen 225, Hidalgo County 25,000; Raymondville 1,500; Roma 4,000; Rio Grande City 4,500; Aransas Pass 25; Corpus Christi 200; Pettus 200; Sinton 500, Beeville 100; Georgewest 2,000; Robstown 1,250; Rockport 100; Alice 200; Three Rivers 600; San Antonio 600; Pleasanton 70; Victoria 510; Calhoun 75; Gonzalez 52; Karnes 245; Yoakum 45; Falfurrias 1,500, and Mathis 100.

Embezzler Miss Minnie Dies At 71

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP) — Miss Minnie Mangum, spinster Sunday school teacher who embezzled nearly $5 million is dead at the age of 71.

She became ill Sunday at the church where she had taught for more than 25 years, went home to bed and apparently died in her sleep. She was dead on arrival at a Portsmouth Hospital.

Her sister, Mrs. Lillian V. Eure, with whom she lived, said she apparently suffered a stroke. She had one in prison several years ago.

Miss Minnie, as she was called by her many friends and business aquaintances, was paroled 2½ years ago after serving nine years of a 20-year prison sentence.

Her arrest in December 1955 and the disclosure of embezzlements totaling nearly $3 million brought ruin to the Commonwealth Saving and Loan Association in nearby Norfolk where she had been employed for 28 years.

It was the largest embezzlement in Virginia's history and one of the largest on record in the nation.

A plump and jolly woman dedicated to church work and charitable activities, Miss Minnie appeared to live well within the income she earned as assistant secretary treasurer of the bank.

At her trial she said most of the money she took went to friends and family members as gifts and loans and to charity.

Early in 1956 she was tried on 16 indictments alleging the theft of $2,884,957.06. She pleaded guilty to 12 counts, including one of embezzling more than $1 million.

She quickly established a reputation as a model prisoner at the State Farm for Women in Goochland County, but was turned down by the State Parole Board three times before parole was granted in 1965. A former governor also had refused to grant her a pardon.

Much of the missing money was recovered in a series of federal suits brought against the recipients of Miss Minnie's generosity.

About $1 million was never accounted for.

Israel Tells Plans To Settle Areas

TEL AVIV (AP)—Israel, indicating plans to stay put in some captured Arab lands, has announced it will move Jewish settlers into occupied Syria and a captured Jordanian section where Israeli troops and helicopter gunners wounded 11 Arab terrorists Sunday.

Meanwhile, the Arab stepped-up terror campaign claimed its first Israeli victim, a 3½-year-old boy whose home was wrecked by explosives planted next to it. The attack in central Israel, near the old Jordan-Israel frontier, also wounded his parents.

Prime Minister Levi Eshkol announced Israel will resettle the area on the west bank of the Jordan River between Bethlehem and Hebron where Jewish pioneers lived until the first Arab-Israeli war in 1948.

Young, army-trained pioneers already were heading into the craggy Golan Heights just beyond Israel's old border with Syria to start a new community. They will live in concrete huts along the Bnias ridge, a protected fortification for Syrian artillery firing at Israeli farms until the six-day June war.

The return to occupied Jordan by sons and daughters of old Jewish settlers in the Hebron area is within 40 miles of Nablus, an Arab town where Israeli army units said they captured 13 El Fatah terrorists and Soviet automatic arms, Czech mines and Syrian hand grenades Sunday.

Gun battles around the town continued for the second straight day. The area has been a stronghold of resistance against the Israeli occupation and scores of terrorists have been rounded up during an increase of bombing and sabotage over the past two weeks.

Israeli security patrols flushed out El Fatah squads, believed to be infiltrating across Jodr aRive neitrhrtorenihwt the Jordan River frontier with Jordan, from hills along the west bank while military authorities clamped down on businessmen believed to be financing them.

Northern Areas Get Winter-Like Weather

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Northern Great Lakes and Northern Appalachians felt winter-like weather today and three inches of snow fell atop Mt. Washington in New Hampshire.

Snow piled up in the higher New England mountains, and flurries fell over Upper Michigan.

Clear and cool weather prevailed over the remainder of the eastern half of the nation except for the Gulf Coast region. Milder conditions prevailed in the West.

Cold Weather Stops Trip To Arctic

INUVIK, Northwest Territories (AP) — Luther Meyers, 71, a retired San Francisco newspaperman, has returned to Inuvik, prevented by the approaching Arctic winter from completing 2,700-mile solo canoe trip.

Meyers was halted by snow, 200 miles short of his goal, at Reindeer Station on the Mackenzie River.

He set out in a 17-foot plastic canoe June 21 from Summit Lake, 40 miles north of Prince George, B.C., and followed the Crooked, Parsnip, Peace and Slave rivers to Great Slave Lake. Then he pushed north on the Mackenzie.

It was Meyers' fifth trip in the Arctic.

Solons Propose Review Of Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress needs to take a formal look at U.S. policy in the Vietnam war, 50 House members suggested today.

The 46 Republicans and 4 Democrats proposed a resolution asking Congress to decide "whether further congressional action is desirable in respect to policies in Southeast Asia."

As they prepared their move:

—Arthur J. Goldberg, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, said Sunday he does not believe Soviet rejection of his bid for help in getting North Vietnam to the conference table has wrecked peace hopes.

—Sen. Karl Mundt, R-S.D., said Saturday night the United States indirectly told Red China several years ago it would face massive retaliation, including nuclear firepower, if it entered the war in Vietnam. The State Department said no one has been threatened and the White House declined comment on Mundt's remarks.

—Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., said Sunday night the Soviet Union might send pilots to fly the MIGs it is supplying North Vietnam.

—Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Automobile Workers, advocated a pause in bombing of North Vietnam "for a period until I think that we have done everything reasonably possible to exhaust the possibilities of new initiatives that might lead to the conference table."

Signers of the latest move in Congress to test U.S. policy in Vietnam range in political philosophy from conservative to liberal.

Rep. Paul Findley, R-Ill., said: "This resolution arises, in my opinion, from deep-seated conviction that the Congress itself should deal at this time with questions of basic policy in regard to the Vietnam war. It provides the means through which the Congress can discharge responsibilities in foreign policy clearly placed upon it by the Constitution."

The resolution, if approved by the House and Senate, would call upon congressional committees to consider the questions and report their findings to the two branches.
