Registration Work Near Finish In County

THESE MEN HELP WITH THE SELECTIVE SERVICE DRAFT ACTIVITIES

Collingsworth County's legal advisor, examining physicians, and appeal agent to supplement the work of the local draft board were named during the last week by Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel. Judge R. H. Cocke, left, was selected as legal advisor, while Dr. John Harper, second from left, and Dr. E. W. Jones were named the examining physicians. Judge C. C. Bishop, at extreme right, was announced as the appeal agent for the county.

Enough Milk For Cheese Plant Is Assured Here

"What we need to do to get the cheese plant at Wellington is for all of us to get behind and push!"

This, in the belief of W. K. Cottingham, county agent, is mainly what needs to be done to secure the proposed Kraft cheese plant which the Chamber of Commerce is endeavoring to secure for the county.

A survey completed late last week shows that at present there are 2245 head of dairy cattle in herds of four or more in this county.

"That is enough cattle to get the 20,000 pounds of milk per day which is the minimum requirement for securing a plant," he said. "There must also be at least 40 registered bulls in the county, and I am sure that there is almost that many in the county now if we'd get out and locate them."

"From the reports of officials of the Kraft plant at Hollis, we believe that there will be little difficulty in securing a plant for Wellington if sufficient interest is shown to convince that company that we really want the plant," the agent commented.

Further action on the cheese plant was taken at a Chamber of Commerce meeting Tuesday night, October 15, when Sandy Parsons, president, named Earl Breeding of Samnorwood, G. S. Dowell of

National Draft Lottery Is Set For October 29

Eleven hundred and seventy-three Collingsworth County men, between the ages of 21 and 35, inclusive, were registered Wednesday, Oct. 16, in the nation's first peace time selective service draft. Lee C. O'Neil, chairman of the local draft board, revealed after the registrations were counted and listed late Thursday.

This number included both those who registered in the county and a number whose cards were sent to the local board from out of the county.

On the following day, announcement was made by Governor W. Lee O'Daniel that Dr. J. W. Harper and Dr. E. W. Jones had been named medical examiners for the board; Judge R. H. Cocke the legal advisor; and Judge C. C. Bishop the appeal agent for the county.

Those men will assist the local board, Mr. O'Neil, Clark Anderson, and Luther Gribble, in the carrying out of the work relative to the draft.

Information released from Washington early Tuesday stated that the national draft lottery will be held at noon Tuesday, October 29, and that Secretary of War Stimson will draw the first number. The men will be called to training—800,000 by next June 15—in the order in which their numbers are drawn from the big goldfish bowl in which the capsules containing the numbers are to be placed, unless they volunteer without waiting to be called, or unless they are deferred from service.

"The list released this week is not necessarily a complete registration list," Johnny Wallace, draft board clerk, pointed out Tuesday. "It is likely that we will receive other cards of men who were registered out of the county during the next week or two."

This county's registration on Registration Day included a total

20 New Trench Silos Are Built In County

"Your feed's better off under the ground,"—the idea behind the movement that has built thousands of trench silos over Texas, is working in Collingsworth again this fall, as 20 new silos went under construction during recent days.

So effective is this method of storing feed that one builder, Pat Bradley of the Abra community, working with A. J. Laycock of Shamrock, is preparing six new silos this year, in addition to the three on the farm last year. From these silos, they will carry between 700 and 800 head of white face cattle through the winter, Mr. Bradley told W. K. Cottingham, county agent, recently.

Building silos this year are B. D. Burden, O. W. Peoples, C. W. Bradley, J. G. Kimbro, W. M. Davis, B. H. Walker, T. N. Hoover, Chester Fires, J. C. Breeding, B. D. Glazner, Mr. Bradley, Guy Beasley, W. R. Breeding, W. W. Breeding, and Sherm Henard. Only three of the group have used the trench silo method of storing feed before. They are Mr. Beasley, Mr. Bradley, and W. W. Breeding.

Only 47 trench silos were in use in the county last year, Mr. Cottingham said.

The average size of these silos is six feet deep, eight feet wide, and 100 feet long. The capacity of each is about 80 tons. Mr. Bradley, however, will have a total of around 1,000 tons of feed stored in all silos. His silos are being filled with atlas sargo and red

Rotarians Hear Governor Roberts

Stressing the four principles of Rotary, District Governor Frank S. Roberts spoke before members of the Rotary Club in a meeting Tuesday evening, October 22.

After bringing greetings to the club from Ed McLaughlin, internationally known Rotarian, Mr. Roberts named the points on which he spoke: service to one's profession, extending acquaintances, community service, and good international relations.

"Service of the member to the club makes the club what it is," he told the group, and explained how the work of the clubs benefits the national organization, and it in turn the international body. And through the international Rotary office, this good work comes back to the individual, he pointed out.

Mr. Roberts expressed his belief that in those countries where Rotary has a progressive program, and is permitted to exist, those are the happy nations who have liberty and the right to worship as they please.

Rotary, he reminded, has a mission, and it means an American

Tigers Spin To 47-0 Win Over Rockets

Lady Luck left the Rockets in the lurch Friday night, while an overpowering McLean Tiger eleven scooted over the Rocket goal line seven times and converted for enough extra points to bring their score up to 47 points to their opponents' 0.

Sensation of the game was John Kelly Lee, agile Tiger right half, who amassed a total of 240 yards on four touchdown runs—65 yards on each of the first two, 60 yards on another, and 50 on the last. On still another touchdown, he went over from the three-yard line. The other two touchdowns were made by Joe Cooke, fullback, one on a 6-yard run and the other on a 17-yard sprint. Both were around the right end.

Two of the touchdowns came in the first quarter, one in the second, two in the third, and one in the fourth.

Twice the Rockets went deep into Tiger territory, the first time just after Lee's first 65-yard run. This was stopped near the center of McLean territory when Cooke intercepted a pass from Gribble. Again, at the opening of the fourth, after a 15-yard penalty and a series of losses by the Tigers, the Rockets took the ball and drove to the Tiger 10-yard line before they lost the ball.

FIRST QUARTER

McLean received the ball on their own 25-yard line, with Braxton making a 12-yard return. In a series of short drives, Cooke added 2 yards through center, Lee 7 yards at left end, Back a yard at right end, and Cooke another 9 yards at right end. A pass from Cooke to Lee fell incomplete, but a 5-yard penalty given Wellington set the ball up to the Rocket 39-yard line. Here, however, the Tigers were unable to make the necessary yardage for a first down, and the Rockets took the ball on their own 30-yard line.

Attempts by Cox and Young failed to penetrate the Tiger line, and Cox punted to the McLean team on their 35.

At this point Lee, crafty right half for the Tigers, went over center, evaded his opposition, and behind effective blocking by his team mates, broke loose down the field 65 yards to a touchdown. Back converted for the extra point.

Gribble received the kickoff for Wellington on his 30-yard line and returned 19 yards. A pass from Cox to Goodner added 3 yards, while Cox took another 16 yards around right end. Two attempts failed to net the Rockets any gain, and on the next play a pass, sent down the field by Cox, was intercepted by Cooke, Tiger back. A center plunge by Lee netted 7 yards, and two right tackle plays by Back added an additional 12 yards. Here Lee broke loose for his second 65-yard run of the evening for the second Tiger touchdown. An attempt to add the extra point failed.

Cox returned the ball from the 15-yard line to the 35. Gribble attempted to pass, was rushed, and attempted to circle left end, but was stopped without gain as the quarter ended.

SECOND QUARTER

Two tries by the Rockets failed to make the first down, and Cox punted out of bounds on the McLean 32-yard line. Two tries gave the Tigers 10 yards, but a pass from Back was intercepted by Gribble. On the next play, however, a pass from Gribble was intercepted by a McLean player who returned the ball to the Wellington 29-yard line.

Taking the remaining distance to the goal line by short gains, the Tigers set the ball down on the 3-yard line, from where Lee went over for the touchdown. Back added the extra point.

Wallace received for Wellington on the 15-yard line and made a 7-yard return. Cox opened an aerial attack for the Rockets by a pass to Gribble which netted 2 yards, a second long one to Wallace which was good for 35 yards. A 15-yard penalty on the Wellington boys, set the ball back in the edge of their own territory. Cox passed to Gribble for 4 yards, but on a second try at this combination, the pass fell incomplete. A third pass, from Cox to M. Wallace gave the Rockets 3 yards. On the next play Cox punted to the McLean 10-yard line. Back's 1-yard return was followed on the next play by his plunge through center for 13 yards, as the half ended.

THIRD QUARTER

A 9-yard return was made by Cox from the Rocket 20. Two plays later, a pass from Cox was intercepted by Back. Braxton pulled around left end for 14 yards, and a series of short gains again put the ball inside the Rocket 10-yard line. The touchdown play was made by Cooke, on a 6-yard right end run. Back converted for the extra point.

Wellington received the ball on their own 20-yard line. Brewer added 17 yards. Two plays later a pass from Cox to Gribble was good for 15 yards. Five passes followed, with but one complete, and the ball went over.

Lee picked up three yards, but a pass from Braxton to Bond was incomplete, and on the next play, Braxton lost 11 yards when he attempted another pass. The ball was punted to Cox on the Rocket 40 and returned 17 yards. Here Lee again stepped in, snatched a pass from Cox on the Tiger 40-yard line, and sprinted 60 yards to the goal line. Isom, substituting for Back, converted for the extra point.

Gribble received the ball for the Rockets on his 30, and returned 11 yards. A 5-yard penalty was assessed against McLean. Dwight intercepted Cox' pass in midfield, and returned 20 yards. In two more plays the Tigers had the ball on the goal line for their sixth touchdown of the evening. Cooke made the score. Braxton's attempt to kick the extra point, was blocked.

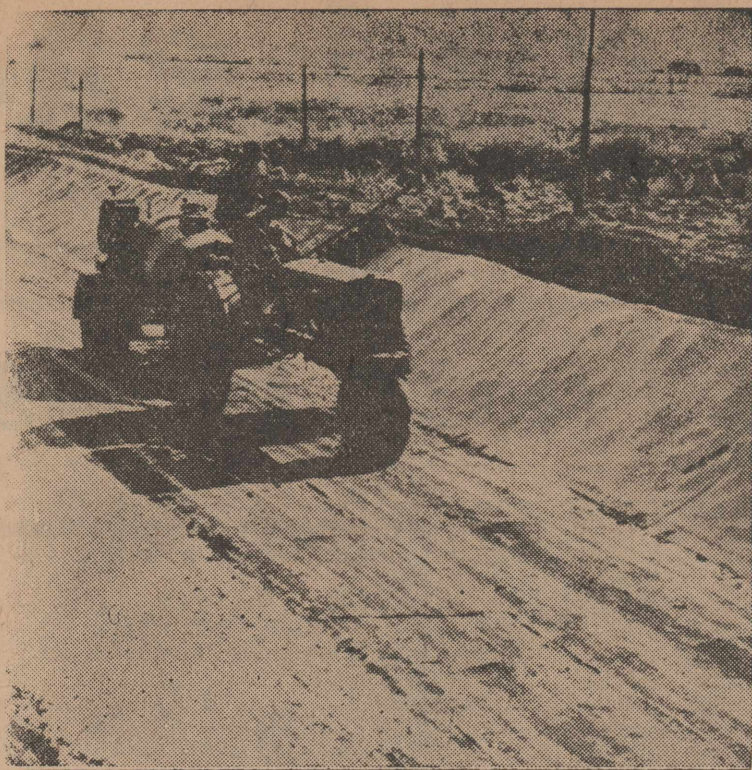

Wellington received the ball on their 25-yard line, with Brewer making a 20-yard return. Cox' pass was intercepted by Lee, who returned 13 yards. This same player, however, lost 4 yards on the next two plays, as the quarter ended.

FOURTH QUARTER

McLean received a 15-yard penalty as the quarter opened, and before further gain could be made Cooke fumbled and lost 18 yards, and the ball went over to the Rockets, deep in Tiger territory. The Rockets advanced 14 yards before the ball went over and Cooke, on a right end run, backed the ball up 16 yards. Back's pass was intercepted by Brewer, but on the next play Cox' pass was intercepted by Lee who went 50 yards for a touchdown. Isom converted for the extra point.

Melton received the ball on his 10-yard line and made an 8-yard return. Unable to gain the necessary yardage, Gribble punted to his 45-yard line and Wellington recovered the ball. Here again the Rockets stalled, and Gribble was again forced to punt. McLean received a 15-yard penalty back to their 32-yard line, and Isom lost an additional yard around right end. Cooke punted to the Wellington 15-yard line. Melton and Young made two yards, a Rocket

Cotton-Lined Irrigation Canal

Comparatively inexpensive and virtually as effective as concrete, a lining of cotton fabric and asphalt is being laid in this irrigation ditch near Grace, Idaho. Prior to this lining the canal sustained a water loss of from 20 to 30 per cent for years. After being lined with cotton fabric and asphalt, the average annual loss was only four tenths of one per cent. The National Cotton Council points to irrigation ditch lining as one of many new farm uses for cotton which may eventually consume hundreds of thousands of bales a year.

pass fell incomplete, and a second pass attempted was fumbled and recovered by McLean on the Rocket 10-yard line. Back failed to gain at right end as the game ended.

Liberality As Applied To Banking

In previous issues of this paper, in this space, the elements of financial STRENGTH and STABILITY as necessary requisites to dependable banking service were discussed.

LIBERALITY in bank management should also be applied to financial strength and stability. Not, however, in the sense that the term may be associated in other things. The policies of a bank may be liberal, yet conservative. And what is meant here is liberality in the sense of adjusting its service to changes in business and economic conditions. To illustrate the point more clearly: As our neighbor across the square, Bud Manzer, has said in these columns on more than one occasion heretofore: "METHODS CHANGE, BUT PRINCIPLES NEVER DO." No greater truth was ever uttered by man.

It is the policy of the management of this Bank to maintain its services in keeping with the changing financial and otherwise conditions; to be as liberal in its loaning policy, within the bounds of reasonable interest charges, as reasonably sound banking will permit.

Food Standard For Texans Set

COLLEGE STATION.—A Texas food standard designed to aid Texans in knowing what should be included in a good daily diet was tentatively accepted last week by representatives of all agencies and organizations in the state working in the field of nutrition. The group which passed on this brief dietary code was the Texas state-wide nutrition committee in session on the University of Texas campus at Austin.

Members of the sub-committee who assisted in drawing up the standard were appointed by the chairman, Mildred Horton, vice director and state home demonstration agent of the A. and M. College Extension Service. The sub-committee included Jennie Camp, extension specialist in home production planning, as chairman; Mattie Trickey, associate state director of the Farm Security Administration; Ruth Huey, director of homemaking education, State Board of Vocational Education; Elizabeth McGuire, consultant in community organization for the State Health Department; and Dr. Jessie Whitacre, chief, division of rural home research, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

As soon as the standard is acceptable to all nutrition agencies, institutions, and organizations in the state, it will likely be made available to the public in large quantities in an effort "to help people keep physically fit—their first job in national defense," Miss Horton pointed out.

The committee also will consider production of movies and distribution of radio scripts as part of their program for encouraging citizens to eat the right food. In addition, another sub-committee is considering suggestions for aiding low income groups in the state to have better diets on as little as 10 cents per person per day.

Next meeting of the committee was set for November 23 in Fort Worth.

Lelia Lake Family Named All-American

Meet this West Texas typical American family—D. E. Leathers, wife, two children, of Donley county—who have surely earned the right to smile at you. For they have been acclaimed by a committee of judges representing the New York World's Fair as the Typical All-American Family. Soon they will be returning to New York on another expense-paid trip to receive the highest honors in the national competition.

The all-American typical family award to Mr. and Mrs. Leathers and their children, Johnny, 19, and Margaret Jean, 16, is recognition of West Texas as the home of pure Americanism, living and exemplifying the American way of life. So said George Jones, ranchman of Marfa, second vice-president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, which sent the Leathers family to the World's Fair as West Texas' bid in the all-American family competition.

"We expected all along that this fine West Texas family would go on and win the national award," said Jones. "In all things they met the high standards set up by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in conducting our regional contest last April and May, which resulted in more than 1,000 West Texas families being entered. When the Leathers family won the West Texas title, and came to our Big Spring convention for feting and personal appearances, we all fell in love with them. When we sent them on to New York our representatives felt that West Texas, with its record of a citizenship 97 per cent American born white Anglo-Saxon, held the edge over all other sections of the United States. We felt more certain of this when the committee of judges for the World's Fair adopted our standards almost without change in the national competition."

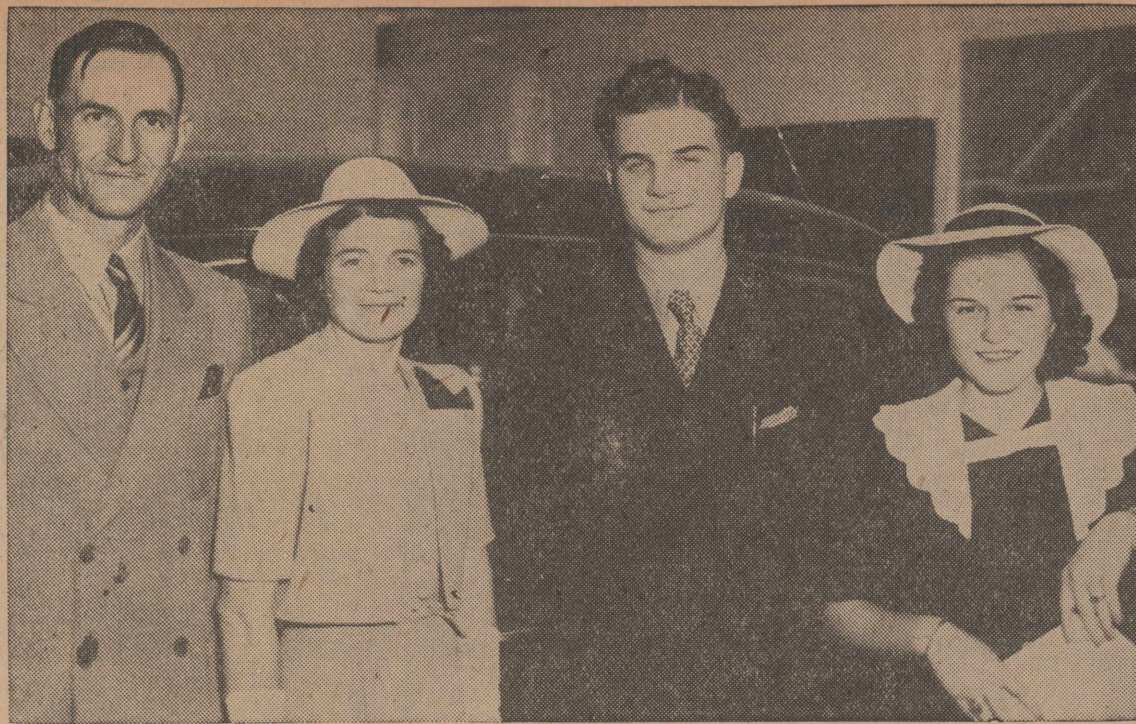

George Jones, who is also president of the Highland Hereford Breeders Association, was one of a committee of three top West Texans judging the finalists in the WTCC competition. Associated with him in the final judging were J. Walter Hammond of Tye, president of the Texas Agricultural Association, and Charles C. Thompson of Colorado City, vice-president of the Permian Basin (oil) Association. Before this trio of judges swung into action, committees headed by district directors in the ten West Texas Chamber of Commerce districts had conducted contests in the bulky entry list with designation of one winning and one alternate family for each district. Out of these district winners came the culminating designation of the D. E. Leathers family of Clarendon as the winning West Texas typical American family, and the John Prude family of Rankin and Fort Davis as alternate.

The two families, Leathers and Prude, were brought to the WTCC convention on opening day, May 16. The Leathers family were sent away from the convention Friday afternoon, May 17, on a fast drive to the New York World's Fair, where, in the week following, they were by all accounts the hit of the show.

Standards adopted by the executive board of the West Texas chamber for appraising and analyzing the more than 1,000 families entered, were:

First, as to longevity and permanency of residence in West Texas and as to Americanism of name and ancestors. Second, as to typically West Texan in height, weight, colorfulness and physical appearance. Third, as to exemplifying in interests, work and environment the major economic resources, production activities and prevailing viewpoint of West Texas. Fourth, as to cultural, religious, civic and moral attainments best exemplifying West Texas' high and progressive standards.

The Leathers family met these specifications impressively. The Donley county man is six feet one and a half inches in height, weighs 165 pounds and is as straight as a ramrod. He was born in the county 39 years ago of pioneer West Texans. Mrs. Leathers, six months her husband's junior, has lived in the county all but one year of her life. The two children were born there. Health of the family is perfect. Leathers is a stock farmer, owning his 200-acre place at Lelia Lake, near Clarendon. He is a Mason, a director of his county fat stock show, member of his school board. Mrs. Leathers and daughter Margaret Jean are accomplished in housewifely tasks. Margaret Jean is a senior in high school. The son, Johnny Leathers, works in his county agent's office in spare time, is president of his 4-H Club and has received the Lone Star state farmer's degree. He is a sophomore in Clarendon Junior college. The family ancestry is pure English.

Former County Youth Loses Arm in Ranch Accident

Wade Brewer, 21-year-old Grady, New Mexico, youth, had his right arm amputated in a Clovis hospital Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 16, following an accident earlier in the day. Brewer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elisha Brewer of this area, and formerly made his home in this county.

The accident occurred at the Sun Lewis Ranch, north of Grady, where Mr. Brewer is employed. He was grinding feed when the belt slipped from the machine, and upon reaching to replace the belt, Brewer's arm became entangled in the grinder. It was almost severed.

After hearing of the accident, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elisha Brewer and family, and his sister, Mrs. Ira Welborn and Mr. Welborn, left for Clovis to be with him.

At last report, the youth was said to be resting fairly well.

Oil Mill Offers Help In Use Of Home-Grown Feed

Copies of the new "1941 Feeding Practices" bulletin are available to help livestock raisers in the efficient use of their home-grown grains, roughages and cottonseed products, Arthur Power, Manager of the Childress Cotton Oil Mill, has announced.

"Free copies of the bulletin will be furnished to livestock feeders who will write or visit our mill," he said. "Practical feeding information, using home-grown feeds of this area, is given in the bulletin for dairy and beef cattle, horses and mules, hogs, sheep and goats, chickens and turkeys."

A natural-color photograph on the cover, and many pictures of Southern livestock scenes add to the interest of the feeding information, which is based upon Experiment Station and College recommendations and feeding experience. The 1941 edition is dedicated to the Future Farmer and 4-H Club livestock raisers, their leaders, and the farmers and ranchmen in whose foot-steps they follow.

"Our mill is glad to join other cotton oil mills of the nation in making this practical feeding information available, without charge, to livestock producers," the local manager commented. "We recognize the importance of aiding farmers and stockmen in making efficient use of their feeds, and the fact that thousands of copies of this annual publication are used each year by feeders, County Agents, Vocational Agricultural Teachers, Colleges and others, is evidence of the practical value of the information that it contains."

Little Rockets Win Over Kittens

A Skyrocket game in miniature—that was how things turned out when the Little Rockets, Wellington Junior High School football team, met the Kittens of Childress Junior High, at Childress Thursday afternoon, October 17, and took the game by a score of 13 to 0.

The first touchdown of the game came during the second quarter, and was made by Teddy Wayne Brock on a 25-yard run to his opponent's goal line. The third quarter remained scoreless, but in the fourth, Don Smith, playing right half for the Little Rockets, broke away from his opposition and raced 43 yards for a touchdown.

Starters for the Bobkittens included Madison and Shoults, ends; Mitchell and Shackleford, tackles; Goodwin and Dunnam, guards; Blair, center; Barry, Hays, Mills and Galyean, backs.

Insured Fire Losses Mount In Two Year Period

AUSTIN.—An increase of approximately 19 per cent in insured fire losses for the first eight months of 1940 over the corresponding period of 1938, was reported today by Marvin Hall, state fire insurance commissioner. The figures were based on fire reports or city fire marshals.

There was an increase of 67 per cent in insured fire losses in 1939 over the year 1935, and each year has brought a decided gain in losses. The total for the first eight months of this year is $3,827,814. January, with insured losses totaling $1,003,598 was the worst month by a margin of more than a half million dollars. Best month so far this year has been June, when losses totaled only $293,251.

The Commissioner listed four things that should be done in each Texas community annually as a fire prevention measure to maintain a low loss level, (1) one or more inspections each month of mercantile and manufacturing districts, (2) a vigorous investigation of suspicious fires, (3) a dwelling house inspection, (4) and careful underwriting by local fire insurance agents and representatives of fire insurance companies for two reasons, (a) to determine moral hazard, (b) and the inspection of the risk involved will reveal the physical hazard and the sound value thereof.

WELLINGTON, TEXAS

Deck's DIDACTICS

By H. D. W.

School officials and teachers are planning a show for November 11 that will be a show. The title is: "I am an American." It will be a patriotic pageant, and I am of the opinion that it will be the best show that has been put on in Wellington in quite a time. You will hear more about it in the next two weeks.

This is the time for Wellington to start thinking about the Christmas program. The town looked lovely last year, but this year it could be connected with an efficient merchandising campaign. People are so filled with hatred of Hitler, Mussolini, bombs, treason and slavery that it stifles buying. The town that does the best job of making them think of Jesus Christ and Santa Claus is going to reap a harvest of business. Rather low-down — commercial, you say. Certainly, but I have no apologies to make. Commerce is an honorable estate when conducted honorably.

This is a dry year. Seldom have we seen one that was worse. It seems to me to be a good time to think of beautifying the town. Several years ago I suggested to the Council the idea of making parks out of vacant lots in certain areas in Wellington that are conspicuous for the weeds and the trash. The sight just south of the Baptist Church happens to be one.

Suppose that small plot of ground, which the City can buy for taxes, were converted into a public park. Suppose that trees and grass and flowers were planted. Suppose that it were watered liberally during the dry months. Every residential owner around that park would take enough pride in his own premises to beautify his own lawn. They would spend enough money for water to justify the city in watering the small park at city expense. Amplify this to a dozen small parks over the city and imagine the difference it would make in the looks of our town.

Ordinarily you would expect this sort of suggestion in the spring. I am writing it now because I have been looking at my own trees and shrubs. Unless you want to lose them, pour the water to your trees now. Since 1933 it has been terrible in Collingsworth, but the wet years will come again.

Personal note to Tom Crabtree out at Quail: If you are going to buy my loudspeaker you had better hurry. I may decide to keep it. I have made $7.50 out of it in the last three weeks.

Bill House has just returned from California. He did not like the climate. He says that if the Japs ever start to take California that he won't go one foot farther west than the Rocky Mountains to shoot at the little brown men. Bill is out of step with the popular thought in this Southwestern area. Sometimes I get the notion that a number of our citizens would go anywhere just to shoot anybody.

This is a sad time for every one who loves peace.

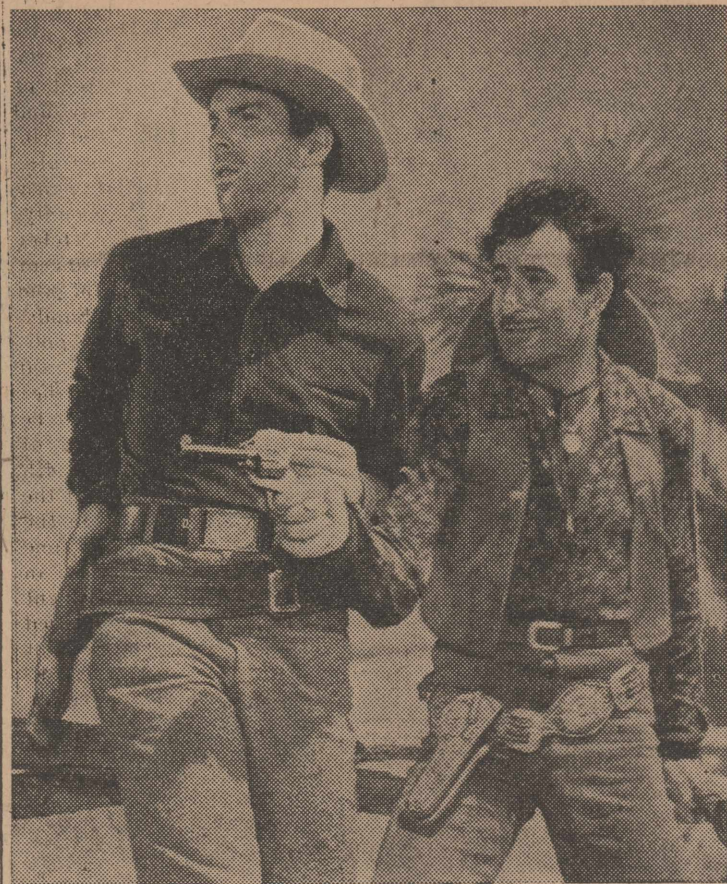

William Jennings Bryan once spoke of a million men springing to arms overnight. It is not a question of the willingness of our men to spring to arms. The registration October 16 proved that. It is a question of them having arms to spring to.

The barber shop wits have been wanting me to write to Dalhart and see if we couldn't match a game with the Dalhart Wolves. Dumas beat them 50 to 0 while McLean managed to eke out a bare 47 to 0 win over us.

The truth of the matter is that the Rocket fans have nothing but praise for the McLean Tigers. It is a well balanced team, and in John Kelly Lee the Tigers probably have the outstanding back in the district. Furthermore they have three other mighty good backs to run with him.

Here in Collingsworth we bemoan our hard times. The plain facts happen to be that we are making better crops than any of our neighbors. They are better than the crops in Wheeler, Greer, Harmon, Childress, Hall, or Donley. Not much better, but better. To cheer you up I give you a report of the hard times in our adjoining county of Donley.

Not Much Cotton

The Donley County Leader: If you don't believe Donley County is billed for a short cotton crop, here's proof.

Stanley Carlile of the City Hall says, he encountered a farmer bringing a load of cotton to a Clarendon gin.

"How much cotton you got there?" Carlile asked.

"Fifty acres," was the reply.

"Not much profit," opined Carlile. "What are you paying pickers?"

"Two-bits a mile," was the answer.

Clark Child Is Recovering After Drinking Coal Oil

Don Clark, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lucian Clark of Dodson, was brought to St. Joseph's Hospital in Wellington for treatment after drinking coal oil at the home of his parents. His condition was complicated by intestinal obstruction which developed.

The child was removed to his home early this week, but was returned to the hospital a short time later. An attending physician said late Tuesday that his condition was improving.

School Queen Candidates Picked

The School Queen will be elected by popular vote of the student body, and the results of the election will not be known until immediately preceding the Halloween Carnival at the High School Thursday, October 31.

Four County Girls Enrolled In TSCW

DENTON.—Four Collingsworth County girls are enrolled at Texas State College for Women. With an approximate enrollment of 2500, T.S.C.W. retains its position as the largest residential woman's college in the United States, having students from 215 counties, 30 states and 7 foreign countries.

Collingsworth County students are Misses Irene Inez Ball, Eddie Jo Gilbert, Frances Matilda Stevenson, and Patricia Barclay Sullivan of Wellington.

The growth of T.S.C.W. in the short span of 37 years to a place of prominence among the nation's colleges is attributed by authorities to the ability of the college to anticipate the needs of women in the world of today and to prepare them to best meet these needs. Unusual in its effective combination of practical and liberal arts courses, T.S.C.W. has during the past five years sent an average of 507 young women graduates each year into important positions throughout the nation and to many foreign countries.

Because of the extremely acute condition of international affairs, President L. H. Hubbard has announced that special emphasis is being placed this year on courses that will prepare young women to assume positions of responsibility in the event of a national emergency.

TOUGHER AMERICANS

One phase of the national defense program which, perhaps more than any other, requires the cooperation of every citizen is the program to "toughen up America," being directed by John B. Kelly, of Philadelphia, former Olympic sculling champion.

Unlike so much of the defense program, this phase won't cost much. It requires only that every American give a little time and thought to keeping his body in the same tip-top condition in which the army keeps its military machines.

At the time of the World War draft, the country was startled to find how many citizens were unfit for service—how many had bad eyes or bad teeth or diseases which rendered them unfit for active duty. It was a startling lesson, but too many of us forgot it after the war.

This "toughening" program will call for more exercises for school children, more walking for adults, possibly adult classes in physical education and plant-sponsored athletics in industry. Instruction will probably be given in matters of diet and home first aid.

Although it is true that the human element is becoming less vital in war as fighting forces become mechanized, a sturdy soldiery is still highly necessary, as the dictator nations have long realized.

But a healthy nation is desirable not only in war. A program which would generally toughen up the average American is bound to have beneficial effects in time of peace as well. We have gone far in eliminating certain diseases and increasing the life span, but much remains to be done. Such common ailments as indigestion and headaches and the common cold take a great toll in the nation's efficiency.

That toll can best be reduced in city and country alike by any program which will actually produce tougher Americans.

ACID AND COLDS

One of the most baffling, as well as one of the most prevalent, of human diseases is the common cold, and results of researches concerning it are of interest to everyone. In recent years various "shots" for the prevention and cure of colds have been experimented with, but whether they are of any benefit seems to be doubtful.

A new theory concerning colds, advanced by Dr. Noah D. Fabricant of Chicago in a report to a medical society recently, is that an acid condition of secretions of the nose and sinuses tends to protect one against colds, while alkaline secretions are found when a patient is suffering from a cold. This, he declares, has been determined to his satisfaction after the examination of hundreds of persons with and without colds.

This being the case, Dr. Fabricant recommends that nose drops consisting of acid solutions be used to prevent or cure colds, while those of an alkaline nature should be avoided. By means of a new kind of glass electrode the acidity or alkalinity of the secretions may be determined at any time.

By this method it was found that acidity of the body changes in a regular rhythm, and is much affected by heat, cold and the taking of drugs.

All this is somewhat vague to the layman, but it is some satisfaction to know that efforts to solve the mystery of the common cold are being continued, giving hope that some day a means of preventing this distressing malady may be found.

TELL YOUR STORY

Some sound advice to business men, especially those charged with the management of the larger enterprises, was given recently by H. A. Batten, president of the country's biggest advertising agency, in an address before a national advertising association.

He declared that the immediate and pressing need of American business is to get back the lost friendship and confidence of the public through advertising.

"If, like the telephone company," said he, "you had told the people of the United States all about your company—your basic policy, your stock structure, your operating methods, your employee relations, your services to the community—if, like the telephone company, you had done this from the beginning, year after year, so that each upcoming generation would learn about it in turn, then you would not today be in the position of having to approach the public as a comparative stranger and to sue for its confidence, for if you had done that you would already enjoy that confidence as a friend."

Many industries and utilities have been following the course Mr. Batten suggests for many years and have profited thereby. But many neglect to tell their story until they are attacked, often by political demagogues, and thus placed on the defensive. The public wants to be fair, but in order to do so it must have all the facts.

It was big news, principally because so many thought the National League could never win another world series.

An Oregon man ate a big mess of garlic in an unsuccessful attempt to ward off influenza. Now he has the flu, indigestion and halitosis.

Caught with a flat tire and no patching equipment, W. L. Hayes of Wenatchee, Wash., licked a postage stamp, put it over the tiny hole in the tube, inflated the tire and drove several miles before the patch gave way.

U. S. Plans Vast Program To Fight Farmer's Ills

WASHINGTON.—A new program to bring the American farmer out of the doldrums in which he has been languishing for the past 10 years is being mapped in the Department of Agriculture.

The program is the outcome of a comprehensive survey of the national farm picture, made by a special departmental committee of farm experts. They found that many of the farmer's troubles can be laid to recent technological changes.

This survey lists these principal troubles:

1. There are 1,500,000 farm workers totally unemployed, and that many more are getting less than a subsistence wage.
2. New machinery and methods will displace an additional 350,000 to 500,000 in the next 10 years.
3. By 1950 the nation's farm population will have increased by at least 2,000,000.
4. Better varieties and methods will increase production in fields where over-production is already a problem.

To combat these threats to the farmer's welfare, this survey calls for a number of steps. It recommends a giant rural works program to employ idle farm workers. They would be given jobs on soil conservation and reforestation projects.

Other recommendations call for extension of wage-hour and social security benefits to agricultural workers, as well as an increase in the help being given migrant farm workers.

Believing the family-size farm best suited to the nation's needs, the department's report calls for expansion of the tenant purchase program, appropriation of funds to aid young men in buying farms, and the cutting up of large farms into smaller units.

The report also urges that consumption be boosted by the expansion of such plans as the food stamp program, and that commodity loans, acreage control and similar projects be continued.

Possible outright subsidy to industries in rural territories is suggested in the report as a way of developing farm areas further.

That all adds up to a pretty sweeping program—far more widespread than anything Washington has done for the farmer in the past.

What becomes of the program depends on a number of factors. It will be affected by the outcome of the war in Europe, the vigor with which the Department of Agriculture pushes it, and—perhaps most important of all—the November election.

The Motive Of Moral Discipline

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Oct. 27.

Text: Luke 1:13-16; 2:40; 4:4; 6:21, 25, 43-45.

This fourth lesson on temperance is assigned for National Temperance Sunday. There are various motives for abstaining from the use of intoxicating liquor, but the motive in this lesson—moral discipline—is the highest motive of all.

Various motives have influenced those who have followed abstinence without this motive in mind. There has been the motive of economy, the motive of good health, of unwillingness to take into the body anything that is harmful in its effects, the motive of care and avoidance of evil consequences, and the motive of common sense which has enabled many to see that indulgence in alcohol is a needless and useless, if not an actually harmful, thing.

No one ever suffered from temperance and total abstinence, but thousands—millions, in fact—have suffered from intemperance.

The motive of moral discipline, or, as it is put in the title of the lesson, "The Christian Motive for Abstinence," finds its exemplification in the lives of individuals who have been conspicuous for the purity of their lives and their devotion to the highest ideals.

The example of this in our lesson is John, the Baptist, who was not a "Christian" in the technical sense, but who was the forerunner of the Christ who brought in the Christian era. But John is only one example in the Scripture of this moral discipline in abstinence from intoxicants on the part of those who were called to religious service and leadership. There were the Rechabites, and others, who imposed upon themselves this rule of abstinence.

Our lesson fortunately suggests that abstinence is a larger matter than non-indulgence in alcohol. Temperance and abstinence are essentially related to the whole discipline of a well-ordered life. In a time like today, the courses of foolishness and evil that are open to the individual are greatly multiplied. We are tempted almost every day to indulgences, often harmless enough in themselves, that tend nevertheless to weaken the body and break down morale.

Apart altogether from what we ordinarily call "intoxicants," there are intoxicating aspects of the whole environment of life, and discriminating judgment and well-disciplined will are important if one would preserve even his physical health, not to speak of the more important things of moral and spiritual health.

A scientific age in the midst of this dissipating environment is teaching us a great deal concerning food, diet, and what constitutes normal and healthful living.

Happy is the man who, in the midst of these conflicting forces, can find for himself the highest and the best way. In the discovery of the way there is nothing that will prove so helpful as the great examples of those who have kept their lives clean and strong, and full of helpfulness toward their fellow men.

Mrs. John Bullington and Mrs. Alexander were given a cup towel shower.

Those present were Mmes. Frank Moore, Atchison, Jewell Hooper, Alton Burkhalter, J. T. Edwards, Velma Kizer, Lewis Tingle, B. H. Givens, Buster Barker, Austin Harris, J. D. Woods, M. A. McQuerry of Houston, Bullington, J. G. Gardner, and the hostess, Mrs. Alexander.

Miss Lola Mae Lindsey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Lindsey of Wellington, was married Saturday, October 19, to Rodman E. Stafford, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Stafford, also of Wellington. The ceremony was performed at 10:15 p. m. in Childress with Rev. Orion W. Carter of the First Baptist Church officiating.

The bride attended Wellington High School, and was active in school work. A member of the pep squad, she also played baseball. Her parents have lived in Wellington for the past seven years, having moved here from Denison.

The groom, who also attended Wellington schools, participated in various school activities, and was a member of the Skyrocket football team for one year. His parents have lived in and near Collingsworth County for many years. Mr. Stafford is employed as a truck driver.

The bride's dress was moss green alpaca, with matching accessories. Accompanying the couple were Misses Mary Alice May and Bonnie Glenn and Messrs. Eugene Lumpkin and Howard Elbert of Childress.

After a short trip to Fort Worth, Mr. and Mrs. Stafford returned to Wellington, where they will make their home.

"Get Astride Your Hobby Horse And Ride"

This is the plea of the members of the American Legion Auxiliary who have completed plans for a hobby and antique show to be held on November 19, at the American Legion Hall. The show will begin at one o'clock in the afternoon and continue through the evening.

There will be four divisions. They are: Women's Division, with a prize for the most unusual collection or hobby, and a prize for the most complete collection.

In the Table Setting division a prize will be given for the most beautiful table set using service for two, four, or six.

In the Men's Division a prize for the most unusual collection or hobby, and a prize for the most complete collection.

There will be a Children's Division with prizes for the most unusual collection or hobby and also a prize for the most complete collection.

Any person who has an object or objects which he enjoys and prizes and which he wishes to share with others, is invited to enter it. Nearly all great characters have some kind of a hobby. The great value in the pursuit of some hobby lies in its interest-arousing function, and in its ability to put tired and shattered nerves to a restful sleep. The late Dr. Frank Crane collected canes and he had them by the score from all parts of the world, and he knew the history and meaning of every one of them. Robert Ripley's favorite hobby has been the collection of steins, and he has the finest and the largest in the world.

Old photographs make an interesting showing, especially if they include old tinctypes. Heirlooms, glass and china, salt and pepper sets, vases, old jewelry, Mexican articles, needlework, pitchers, miniature animals, etchings, period costumes, metal craft, hooked rugs, stamps, flowers (as a hobby), pipes, ship models, arrow heads, woodcraft, display of indoor gardens, quilts, book matches, doll collections, scrap books, fans, old laces, leather work, objects from foreign countries, old documents or papers and many, many others make interesting hobbies if you are a collector.

So, let's all get astride the hobby horse and ride down to the hobby show.

Reporter, Mrs. S. G. Henry.

Miss Marie Harwell of the Little community underwent an appendicitis operation Thursday, Oct. 24. Miss Harwell is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Harwell.

What Numbers Mean

These registration serial numbers, printed opposite the name of each registrant in the list from Collingsworth County, are the identification numbers assigned to the men who registered here Wednesday.

The numbers are for indexing and identification purposes and each registrant is to remember his number. They were obtained by shuffling all cards together and numbering them in the order in which they fell.

These are the numbers that will be used in the national lottery, October 29. When the lottery numbers are drawn and announced, their order will determine the order in which registrants are to be called for classification.

These numbers and names are also posted in the hall of the court house.

Women's "Build-Up"

Women's headaches, nervousness, cramp-like pain may be symptoms of functional dysmenorrhea due to malnutrition, so often relieved by CARDUI. Principal way it helps is by increasing appetite, stimulating flow of gastric juices and so improving digestion and helping to build physical resistance. Another way you may find CARDUI helpful in reducing periodic distress: Take it a few days before and during "the time." Used for 50 years.

Young Farmers To Organize Thursday Night

Young Farmers of America, designed for boys and young men between the ages of 16 and 26, who are interested in farming, will be organized at the Wellington High School Thursday night, October 24, under the direction of Ronald Davis, vocational agriculture teacher at Wellington.

"We are especially interested in having those boys who have already graduated from high school, those who were unable to finish high school or go to college, along with those who have done college work," Mr. Davis said.

"We'll study those phases of farm work that the boys are interested in—they'll decide on that," he added. As examples of what might be picked for the work, Mr. Davis named killing and dressing of beef, pork, and mutton; simple feeds and feeding practices adaptable to Collingsworth County; selecting, fitting, and showing livestock; and restoring and maintaining the fertility of the soil.

"This will touch a large number of boys in this section of the county who have not been in school since vocational agricultural work and the Future Farmer Chapter has been organized here," Mr. Davis continued.

Athletics and social activities will be brought into the Young Farmers organization, along with the more serious study of the group.

All officers will be elected at Thursday's meeting, and the program of work will be set up. The group will meet in the agricultural room of the school at 7:30 o'clock.

Much new equipment, both in the hatchery and produce line, has been installed by Mr. Davenport, and his produce and hatchery will be among the most modern in Wellington upon its completion.

this week.

"A group of players are coming out from Shamrock, and plans are being made for a team from Quail to play one from Samnorwood. There will be plenty of spills and that means thrills and laughs for everyone," Mr. Morris said.

Following the Donkey Basketball game, two hours of skating is scheduled. Skating has been a regular Saturday night event at the Samnorwood gym during recent months.

Donkey Basketball was first introduced here two seasons ago, and from the first has had an enthusiastic and large following over the county. Players in the game are mounted on small, rubber-shod donkeys, especially trained and brought here for the purpose.

A cordial invitation has been extended to the people of the county to attend this first Donkey Basketball game of the season.

The game will start at 8 o'clock.

ment by the school board to file suits against delinquent tax payers but after going into the matter thoroughly with the board and realizing the absolute necessity that these taxes due the school be paid or our school system suffer such calamity, I do think it is my duty as a citizen to do so.

"I fully realize that it will work a considerable hardship on some of those owing taxes but this is the only means by which the school system can be maintained and operated. It appears that many owing these taxes are abundantly able to pay and for those who are not able to pay I am going to give an opportunity to pay some now and some later and thereby avoid filing suit against them.

"The necessity of the situation makes this action necessary and while I would much prefer not to have to take this action, yet because it is necessary I shall proceed at once to my duty. Our schools must be maintained. They are the foundation of our civilization and I sincerely hope that those who owe taxes will not wait for their property to be foreclosed or even for me to notify them but will come up as good citizens and pay in full or pay in part and arrange for later payment for the balance.

"As much as I regret the situation which makes the filing of foreclosure suits necessary I shall proceed with action in this matter as vigorously as the emergency demands."

"While I know most of the people in the county, there are a few with whom I am not yet acquainted, and I especially want to meet these people and get to know them," Mr. McKinney said.

Seniors Sponsor Carnival Oct. 31

A Hallowe'en Carnival will be sponsored Thursday night, October 31, by the senior class of the Wellington High School at the school auditorium.

Climax of the event will be the crowning of the School Queen, whose identity will remain a secret until shortly before the coronation.

"There'll be games for everybody—bingo, a fish pond, a food stand, archery, a hula-hula dancer, and others. Everybody come for a good time," those in charge of the event urged.

of 1282 registrants, 1106 of whom were listed for this county, while the remaining 176 were listed as transients and their cards sent to their home boards. Since that time, cards from 67 men who were registered out of the county have been received here.

"Every registrant should know where his card is, which will be with the local board of the county in which he listed his home address. Moreover it is very necessary that he keep that registration board advised as to his whereabouts at all times," Mr. Wallace warned.

Explaining how the national lottery, at which time the order numbers will be drawn, will work, Mr. Wallace said:

"Those in charge of the lottery will find the board that has the largest number of registrants in the U. S. They will then take numbers from one to that number and put each in a capsule. These will be placed together in a goldfish bowl and the first number drawn out will be order No. 1 all over the United States. The second will be order number two. The local board will then take these numbers, and for convenience, let us say the first number drawn is 500. Then the man who has serial number 500 will be order number 1—or the one whose questionnaire will be mailed to him first.

"If the second number drawn is 1500, that number will be struck from the list of the local board, as we do not have 1500 registrants. Should the next number be, let us say, 800, that will be Order No. 2 for Collingsworth County, and the registrant holding that serial number will be Order No. 2."

All farmers building silos, and those contemplating building one this fall, were warned by the county agent that the needs of the individual farmer should determine the size of the silo, since at least six inches of feed should be taken off the entire cross section daily to prevent spoilage.

Quail, E. J. Davis of Dodson, J. L. Beard, Ronald Davis, and Mr. Cottingham of Wellington as a committee to contact boys of their area in an effort to stimulate the raising of dairy cattle as FFA and 4-H projects.

Explaining the plan under which a cheese plant works, Mr. Cottingham pointed out that the whole milk is collected each morning along a milk route, which would go into any section of the county where the demand is sufficient. On the following morning, the whey from the milk collected is left. This whey, Mr. Cottingham explained, is of almost equal feed value to skim milk when fed to hogs, although the food value is lower for feeding calves.

Only green cheese is made at the various Kraft plants over the state, and the cheeses are then sent to a central point, where it is ripened.

As to the financial benefit which farmers of this county would receive from a cheese plant, the county agent pointed to the experience of A. F. Knoll of the Nicholson community.

"My check from the cheese company amounts to twice as much as it did before I started selling to them," Mr. Knoll reported. "Then every morning, I get back ten gallons of whey to feed my hogs. I'm just milking three cows, and I'm highly pleased with the price the company has given me, and the whey seems to be as good for my hogs as the regular skim milk is," he said. Mr. Knoll's whole milk is picked up each morning by the milk route running through the north and east parts of the county for the Hollis plant.

The Broncos possess a strong line, those who have watched their games report, along with a backfield that clicks fairly well. A ball carrying combination of Hermesmyer, a blocking fullback; Hartzog, left half; and McCrary, left end, has accounted for much of the gain in their games thus far.

Altogether, this is designed to be one of the outstanding pageants given by school children in the Panhandle this year, school authorities said.
