Tomorrow winds up one season and begins another. It is the last day for candidates for public office to file for places on the ballot in primary elections.

It is the first day for automobile tags to go on sale. This time, the tags are dwarfs. There's only a small piece of metal with the year on it to be attached to your old plates.

This will save metal, and we assume, some labor in making the plates, although there never has been a shortage of labor on that project, since vehicle tags have been made by inmates of the Department of Corrections.

They certainly require less storage space and should be easier to ship than the old, full-sized plates.

The University Interscholastic League has recently published an Athletic Records Supplement book to bring the UIL athletic records book up to date. It includes contest results, records and statistics in all UIL sports. The original record book contains records from 1911 to 1970 and the supplement contains records for the 1970-75 period. The supplements are $2 each and the UIL Athletic Records Book 1911-1970 is priced at $5. You can order them from Publications Order Library, University Interscholastic League, Box 8028, University Station, Austin 78712.

Speaking of school athletics, Speedy Moffett was visiting over at Big Spring recently (he's well-known over there having coached there way back when) and some of his acquaintances immediately decided that he was there seeking the football coaching post at Big Spring High. That was a few days before the school board there announced that Don Robbins had been hired for the post. It will be Don's second time in Big Spring. He went there back in 1959 after serving as line coach at Snyder High, ultimately became head coach at Big Spring, an assistant at University of Texas at El Paso, an assistant at Idaho University and finally head coach at Idaho U. One of his Idaho teams set a record for victories for that school.

Roy Carter reminded that there is yet another election to be held on the first Saturday in April. We mentioned in a column the other day that Snyder voters will elect councilmen on the first Saturday rather than the first Tuesday in April, due to a change in the state election code. Added to public school and junior college trustee elections, already scheduled for the first Saturday, it will add up to a lot of voting. Carter noted that we failed to mention that county school board members also will be elected on that date. All of these school elections, including county, independent public school districts and the junior college district will use the same polling places and the same set of officials.—WACIL McNAIR.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Sunday, Feb. 1, the 32nd day of 1976. There are 334 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1790, the U.S. Supreme Court held its first session, meeting in the Royal Exchange Building in New York City.

On this date:

In 1587, Queen Elizabeth I of England condemned Mary, Queen of Scots, to death.

In 1861, Texas voted to secede from the Union.

In 1893, Thomas Edison completed work on the world's first motion picture studio, at West Orange, N.J.

In 1946, a Norwegian statesman, Trygve Lie, was elected secretary-general of the United Nations.

In 1956, Autherine Lucy became the first black to be admitted to the University of Alabama.

In 1958, Egypt and the Sudan proclaimed a union as the United Arab Republic.

Ten years ago: Several cities in north central New York were paralyzed by the worst snow storm in the region's history.

Five years ago: The U.S. spacecraft Apollo 14 was cleared by ground control to make a landing on the moon.

One year ago: President Ford presented a federal budget calling for a $52 billion deficit.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, Benedict Arnold, whose small force was besieging Quebec, reported to the Contintental Congress in Philadelphia that he had received only 150 men as reinforcements.

JUST STICK IT ON—A little stick-on plate with a "76" on it is all you get when you register your car this year. The tags purchased in 1975 will be used again, with only the date changed by adding the new sticker. Registration of motor vehicles begins Monday and the new stickers must be on the tages by April 1.

Mother Of Lost Child Is Hunted

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Police are looking for a California woman they say is believed to have dumped her young son in the French Quarter here during a cross-country hitchhiking tour.

The woman, known only as Pat, is believed heading toward San Diego, Detective Ronald Cannatella said today.

The little boy, about 3 years old, remained unidentified for the past week, happily playing on swings and slides at the Volunteers of America Home and downing hearty meals.

Then free-lance photographer Salvadore V. Gagliano saw pictures of the abandoned child in local papers and recalled a few pictures he had taken of a sleeping woman and a child in a park a week before.

The child was obviously the same and in today's editions, the Times-Picayune ran a copyright picture and offered prints to the New Orleans Police Department.

"I spent all day passing out that photo and talking to people, and I finally managed to meet their running mates, a white woman and a black dude who had decided they were going to stay here a few days more," said Cannatella.

"They said they'd been hitchhiking with Pat and a black guy named Shenandoah for about two months and that Pat kept complaining about the child, saying she was going to dump it someday.

"Then they didn't see Pat for a day, and the next day she didn't have the child," said Canatella. "They asked her where it was and she said she didn't know."

Canatella said the pair here knew only that the child's name is Clifford and that he was born in Mercy Hospital in San Francisco.

"We'll be sending hand prints and foot prints to the hospital later today to get a positive identification," said Canatella. "In the meantime, we hear the mother is headed back to San Diego."

As police search for the baby's mother, the toddler seems perfectly happy in the VOA Home nursery.

After asking the child his name, nursery staffers called him Kenny.

Russian Art At Houston Museum

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Museum of Fine Arts is preparing for its largest crowds and tightest security in history.

On loan to the United States from Russia, 43 paintings by such masters as Rembrandt, Gainsborough, and Van Dyck go on public exhibition Wednesday.

The exhibition includes 30 masterpieces from the Hermitage, once the Winter Palace of the Czars, and 13 Russian paintings from the State Russian Museum.

Houston will be the next to the last stop on the tour of the first loan exhibition of Old Master paintings from the Soviet Union to the United States.

Arranged by the Armand Hammer Foundation, the exhibition has been designated an official event by the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration.

Exhibitions already have been held in Washington, New York, Detroit and Los Angeles. The tour ends in San Francisco after the March 16 conclusion of the Houston exhibition.

At least 200,000 persons are expected to see the paintings in Houston.

"It is difficult to estimate but the exhibition drew 310,000 in Washington," a museum spokesman said. "We think Houston will draw 200,000 and we believe the museum can handle 300,000."

Exhibition hours will be noon to 6 p.m. Sundays, 0:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. Tuesdays and Fridays, and 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Wednesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays. Admission is $1.50, with children 12 and under accompanied by an adult free.

The Hermitage art collection was established by Catherine the Great.

Two Rembrandts are among the tour masterpieces, including "Saskia as Flora," a portrait of his wife as the Roman goddess of flowers and spring.

Pope Paul VI CautionsWomen

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI today cautioned women to be on their guard against movements for equality that run the risk of "virilizing" and "depersonalizing" them.

Vatican observers said the pontiff's remarks were aimed at women's liberation movements, in Italy as elsewhere, advocating divorce, abortion and promiscuity.

While men and women are equal, or should be if they are not, the pontiff stated that women's "essential" role is motherhood, "that ... of preparing the generations of tomorrow."

"The equalization of rights must not degenerate into an egalitarian and impersonal leveling," the pontiff said in an address to his Commission on the Role of Women in the Church and Society and to the Committee for International Women's Year.

"Egalitarianism, which is blindly pushed forward by our materialistic society, is little concerned with the specific welfare of persons and contrary to appearances, it takes no notice of what is suitable and what is not suitable for women," the Pope said.

"It thereby runs the risk of either virilizing women or depersonalizing them. In both cases, it does violence to women's deepest qualities."

Faith Has Sustained Schnabel

By ROBERT HEARD
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Senate Secretary Charles Schnabel says his religious faith has sustained him through four months of what he sees as trial in the media.

"I don't think there's any question about it," Schnabel told The Associated Press. "There's no question that faith has bolstered me and sustained me in the face of the pressures of being called a thief when I know it's not true."

Schnabel is active in the Church of God. Despite the notoriety of his troubles, his congregation re-elected him to its board of trustees last Sunday! There were three other candidates for the post.

Daily stories on Schnnabel's case have been printed and broadcast for the past several weeks. Some of his friends say he has aged 10 years in that time.

In addition to his religious faith, his obsession with physical fitness keeps him going. For years, Schnabel has jogged daily on the track at Memorial Stadium at the University of Texas.

He has encouraged new senators to join him, warning them that their new eating, drinking and sleeping habits in Austin would quickly lead to overweight and general physical deterioration.

Now a handsome 43, Schnabel has held his post for 20 years. The Senate steadily raised his pay to the present $37,500 a year.

Close friends have stuck by Schnabel. Recently, he and his wife were invited to dinner at the Glenn Ivys. Ivy is a top executive for the Texas Research League.

Evelyn Ivy insisted after the dinner that Schnabel's splendid, mane-like hair needed cutting. Schnabel normally cuts his own hair. He conceded his wavy, salt-and-pepper locks needed a trim, and after repeated urgings permitted Mrs. Ivy to cut it, which she did, severely.

Indicted on two counts of theft and one of official misconduct, and with a holdover Travis County grand jury still investigating his office, Schanbel who have pressured him to hire people they recommended.

Sen. Jack Ogg, D-Houston, says employes in the Capitol have always been "stacked to the ceiling. They were under (former Lt. Gov. Ben) Barnes. They were in the House. There's a lot of gold-bricking.

"Senators come to Charlie and plead for him to put one more on the payroll."

Schnabel told a reporter three years ago, "We are a political system, and no reasonable person would think it would be othersise." It is unrealistic to "think politicians would not try to get jobs for "family friends, or children of family friends, or campaign workers," he said.

Ford Challenges Congress On Jobless Issue

By FRANCES LEWINE
Associated Press Writer

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — President Ford challenged Congress on the unemployment issue today, saying his idea of stimulating private industry is better than "another quick-fix public jobs program."

Taking his case to his home state, where automotive workers have been hard hit by recession, Ford said, "Public service jobs have the ring of an instant solution, but they won't solve the problems and may well inhibit the restoration of a healthy economy."

He said his plan to encourage job creation in private industry through tax incentives might not get the unemployed back to work overnight, "but it will get them back to work with lasting and secure jobs, not dead-end jobs supported by the government."

Ford's comments were prepared for delivery at the Midwestern Republican Conference, where 1,000 GOP delegates gathered from 13 states for a two-day conclave. It was the first stop of an 11-hour speechmaking tour that was also to take him to Williamsburg, Va.

"Continuing economic recovery and the creation of more meaningful and rewarding jobs must have our highest priority in 1976 and beyond," the President said. "It is a question of which way to go. A federal government can create the economic climate and the incentives, through changes in its tax policies and other programs which encourage and expedite the creation of productive, permanent, private jobs."

Or, Ford said, as the Democratic opposition proposes, "The federal government can try to create jobs itself."

Ford was carrying forward the battle he launched earlier this week when he threatened to veto a $6.1 billion public works bill, proposed in Congress. Backers of the measure say it would create 800,000 jobs.

The bill breezed through the House on Thursday, 321 to 80, a margin of 54 votes more than would be needed to override a veto.

Ford said such "make work programs take months and years to get started — and once begun even when they fail, or are no longer needed, the programs go on and on. Such dead-end jobs seldom lead to regular promotion or a meaningful career in the way private employment usually does."

Citing statistics that five out of six jobs in the country are in the private sector, Ford said, "Simple arithmetic tells us this is the place to look for new and for more and better jobs. This is where people have been laid off and where they must first look back on the payments.

Ford said the nation has "recovered three-fifths of the jobs lost to the recession and people are now being hired much faster than they are being laid off." He said automobile sales are starting up again.

"But," Ford said, "even the most sincere proponents of federal public works and public service job programs don't contend the cure for unemployment in the American automotive industry is to build federal factories to make federal cars. I doubt if the U.S. government could make a Model T for less than $50,000."

Ford was accompanied on the Michigan trip by Howard Callaway, manager of his presidential campaign, presidential counselor Rogers C.B. Morton and Rep. Guy Vander Jagt, R-Mich., chairman of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee.

They were greeted at the Detroit Metropolitan Airport by Michigan Republican Gov. William Milliken, Peter Fletcher, chairman of the Michigan President Ford committee, and GOP committeemen from Ohio, Nebraska and Indiana.

Mrs. Ford had planned to join the President on the Williamsburg leg of the trip, but Press Secretary Ron Nessen said she remained in Washington suffering from a flare-up of osteo-arthritis.

"Her neck is acting up a bit," Nessen said of Mrs. Ford's recurring ailment. She had to cancel an appearance with the President at a reception given Thursday night by visiting Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin.

Few Local Contests Are Expected For Primaries

Few contested races at the local level loomed this weekend as the deadline neared for candidates to file for places on the ballot for the primary elections.

The primary voting is set for Saturday, May 1, and candidates must file by Monday, Feb. 2, to get their names on the ballot.

By the end of the week, only one contested race for a county office and one for a district office had developed here.

Bill Atwood Jr. of Snyder announced that he would seek the office of State Representative for the 63rd District in the Democratic Party Primary. He will oppose Mike Ezzell, also of Snyder, who is completing his first term in the legislature.

Clarence Minton announced Saturday that he had filed as a candidate for Scurry County Tax Assessor-Collector in the Democratic Party Primary. He is opposing the incumbent, Don Adams, who had announced several days earlier.

District Attorney Pete Greene and County Attorney George Killam announced at the end of the week that they would seek those offices again in the Democratic Primary, and indications were they they would run without opposition.

District Judge Wayland G. Holt announced earlier and also appeared to be headed for the primary with no opposition, as did two county commissioners, Eldon Perry in Precinct No. 1 and Charlie J. Yoast in Precinct No. 3.

W.D. (Bill) Love, who is completing an unexpired term, was unopposed in the race for Constable in Precinct No. 1.

By Saturday, there had been no word on any possible candidates for state representative from other counties in the 63rd District. The district is composed of Scurry, Borden, Dawson, Howard, Sterling and Coke counties. Ezzell won the office two years ago in a three-candidate race which had entries from Scurry, Borden and Howard Counties.

CLARENCE MINTON

Minton Seeks Tax Office

Clarence Minton has filed as a candidate for the nomination of the Democratic Party for the office of Scurry County Tax Assessor-Collector in the Democratic Primary to be held May 1.

Minton is a native of Scurry County and is now employed as a salesman with Ezell-Key Feed and Seed. He attended Snyder High School, Howard College and Western Texas College. He is a veteran of the Korean War.

Minton's wife, Dorris, is employed by Rachel's Dress Shop in Snyder. Their son, David, and his wife reside at Hermleigh. David Minton is employed by Monstano.

Their daughter, Cathy, is a senior in Snyder High School.

"I elected, I will to the best of my ability perform the duties of the office, friendly and effectively," said Minton in announcing his candidacy.

Atwood Seeking Legislative Post

Bill Atwood Jr., 29, has announced that he has filed as a candidate for State Representative for the 63rd District of Texas in the Democratic Primary election.

The district includes Scurry, Borden, Dawson, Howard, Sterling and Coke Counties.

"I believe the people are sick and tired of what is happening and it is time for a change," said Atwood. "We've got to have rules and regulations governing the people, but this does not mean the government should control the people as a whole.

I believe the people should control the government at all levels and to do this, you, the people have got to be represented in our state capitol as an individual and in all phases of industry.

"I am looking forward to this campaign as a citizen who is willing to get involved and would like to get others involved so that this can be a stronger district. I do not believe you can represent people well unless you keep in touch with their needs and interests. I plan to meet with the people in every part of the 63rd district frequently during the next three months."

BILL ATWOOD JR.

Atwood has been a resident of Snyder for the past 27 years. He is a graduate of Snyder High School and attended Allen Military Academy.

For the past few years he has been associated with his father, Bill Atwood Sr., in operation of an oilfield construction firm in Snyder.

VIEWPOINT

Campaign Funding

Who should decide how much a candidate may spend from his own pocket in his campaign?

The U.S. Supreme Court says it's up to the candidate himself. Thus, the highest court in the land struck down a portion of the federal law governing campaign funds, and it appears to be a correct decision. In its zeal to correct faults, Congress often over-reacts, and it obviously did when the campaign fund law was enacted.

The objective in most legislation of this type usually is to give each citizen an "equal" chance to take advantage of opportunities that exist, such as running for office. It is clear, of course, that a wealthy man can out-spend a candidate of limited means, unless the latter gets plenty of help. But it also is clear that merely denying the wealthy man the right to spend his own money is not the answer. Contributions by outsiders are limited to $1,000 each, and it is obvious that the wealthy man would likely have a better opportunity to line up more $1,000 contributors than a lesser known man of limited means.

Moreover, giving the wealthy man the authority to spend his own money without restriction gives the candidate of modest means more ammunition for the campaign. Americans usually go for an underdog, especially where finances are involved.

American Dictators

America is becoming a nation of dictators.

Shocking but true, if the growth of the dictating equipment industry is anything to go by.

Interestingly enough, the recession has had a lot to do with it. As busineses strove to trim costs and increase productivity, dictating equipment displaced many ubiquitous Gal Fridays in the offices, plants and factories. Studies have shown that the volume of letters and reports generated by executives can be increased as much as five times using machines.

Another reason, according to the head of a company that claims a lion's share of what has become a $200-million market, is that the machines are always there. Secretarial absence, with steno symbols locked undeciphered in notebooks, costs business millions of dollars annually in lost man hours and reduced productivity, says Sartain Lanier.

Maybe so, but they haven't built a dictating machine yet that can remember to send flowers to the boss's wife on her birthday.

County Court Pleas Heard

Several pleas of guilty have been heard in county court during the past week.

James Auburn Pirtle pleaded guilty to driving while intoxicated and received a $100 fine, plus costs, and a 30-day jail term probated for six months. He was arrested Jan. 28 by highway patrolmen.

Joe Olivas pleaded guilty to DWI and received a $100 fine plus costs and three days in jail. He was arrested Jan. 25 by highway patrolmen.

Robert Wayne Highfield pleaded guilty to DWI and received a $100 fine plus costs and 30-day jail term, probated for six months. He was arrested Jan. 29 by city police.

John Franklin Pedigo pleaded guilty to DWI and received a $100 fine plus costs and a 30-day jail term probated for six months. He was arrested Jan. 24 by city police.

Carl Radford Turner pleaded no contest to a charge of possession of marijuana. He was found guilty by the court and received a $250 fine and 180-day jail term.

Vernon Eugene Wade Jr. and Jimmy Dean Harris pleaded guilty to theft charges and each was fined $100. Both made restitution.

Autry Rites Here Today

Funeral service has been set for 2 p.m. today at the Bell-Seale Funeral Home Chapel for James Alton Autry, 89, of Abilene. Mr. Autry died at 8:55 p.m. Friday in Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

The Rev. Ken Andress, pastor of First Baptist Church, will officiate at the funeral service and burial will be in the Snyder Cemetery, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

Mr. Autry, a former Snyder resident, is survived by his wife; two sisters, Mrs. J.T. Rosenburger of Houston and Mrs. A.N. Harkrider of Dallas; and a brother, Malcolm M. Autry of Stephenville.

Orientation For Scuba Diving Set

An orientation session for persons interested in skin and scuba diving classes will be held at 7 o'clock Tuesday night in the Science Lecture Hall at Western Texas College, Carl Barber, instructor, has announced.

Members of the Snyder Deep 6 Diving Club will be present for the meeting and will be discussing plans for spring outings. Persons who successfully complete the new diving course may join the club for those outings.

Also planned for the meeting is a film, "Tongue of the Ocean," showing diving off the Bahamas.

Skin and scuba diving instruction is offered through the Community Services department of Western Texas College. Classes in the new session are to start Feb. 7. Working with Barber as instructor will be Jerry Bell of Arlington.

"We have already turned out 30 safe divers," Barber said, "and are looking forward to working with a new group. We must have at least 12 people signed up and ready to go before we can begin classes as scheduled on Feb. 7, so we need to hear from those interested by Tuesday night."

Students signing up for scuba diving will pay $105 each, while skin divers pay $28 per person. Students must furnish personal gear, and this can be purchased from the instructors if it is not already owned. It is important that each diver have gear ready for use as the classes begin, Barber emphasized.

Students receive classroom instruction along with diving practice in the indoor pool at WTC. Water safety is emphasized throughout the classes.

Persons wishing further information may contact the Community Services office at extension 237 at WTC or may contact Barber. Everyone interested in diving is invited to attend the orientation meeting Tuesday night.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Baker of Clovis, N.M., are parents of a son weighing 8 lb., 7½ oz., born Saturday, Jan. 31, at Clovis, N.M. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Lester Baker and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hood of Snyder are grandparents.

The first paint prepared from standard formula for floors, woodwork, furniture, walls, etc., was manufactured by the Sherwin-Williams Co. of Cleveland, Ohio, in 1880.

Chairman Of GM Optimistic

DALLAS (AP) — General Motors Corp. Chairman Thomas Murphy says 1976 will be a good year for the auto industry despite recent indications that car sales are slowing down.

Speaking before the National Business Leadership Conference Friday, Murphy said that year-to-year comparisons will be misleading because "we are being compared to the rebate program, which artificially propped up prices last year. But our seasonally adjusted rate of sales is holding up and will continue to do so."

Murphy also criticized recent legislative efforts to mandate fuel economy (27.5 miles per gallon average for each manufacturer by 1985) and to tighten exhaust emission standards.

Murphy noted that more than 20 per cent of U.S. families have five or more members. "Those families need the option to buy a full-size car. The government doesn't have to mandate fuel efficiency because the customer will make that decision," he said.

Meanwhile an official of the United Auto Workers Union said the American system of free enterprise produces "enormous wealth, but it has failed society in certain major aspects."

Irving Bluestone said free enterprise has failed to bring full employment and that "socially responsible action with regard to natural resources, air and water pollution and other basic needs do not come naturally as a result of the system, but must be legislated."

Bluestone claimed that the economic power of the nation is becoming increasingly concentrated. He suggested three basic chances that should be made.

66 Inducted Into Phi Theta Kappa

Sixty-six new members have been inducted into the Psi Zeta Chapter of Phi Theta Kappa at Western Texas College.

Phi Theta Kappa is a national honorary fraternity for two-year college students who rank in the top 10 per cent. To be eligible for membership, students must be full-time students and must maintain a 3.2 grade point average.

John Robbie Sterling of Ira; Vickie Berryman of Knox City; Wayne Barron of Loraine; Jeffrey G. Matsler of Lubbock; Tiny Ann Smart of McCaulley; Becki Cranford of Midland; Kerry Harston of Southlake; Stacy Payne of Stanton; Becky Sledge and Ann Lobdell of Sweetwater; Marketa Sissom of Van Horn; Stephen D. Hines of Westbrook; Ronnie Stephens of Winters and Dennis Bellah of Woodson.

Snyder students inducted were Amy Bollinger, Jerry Wade Boyd, Eloisa Breiseno, Danny Brumley, Roy Lee Carter, Sorita Clinkenbeard, Roy Alan Cole, Kellye Crenshaw, Jamie Derringer, Tyra Elkins, Amy Ellison, Cynthia Ferrell, Stan Ferrell, Ronald George, Charles Greenfield, Beth Harrington, Melissa Henderson, David Herrera and Carla Sue Hicks.

Flu Bugs Hit US

ATLANTA (AP) — Two troublesome "flu bugs" have hit the United States in the past few weeks, but they show few signs of causing a widespread epidemic, officials at the national Center for Disease Control say.

A familiar virus and a newly identified culprit are causing the outbreaks, but a CDC spokesman said: "In fact, flu is flu; they both make you feel bad."

CDC statistics, which rely on state health departments to report illnesses, show one fatality so far this year and nine states with confirmed flu cases, the spokesman said. CDC figures generally are about one week behind occurrences of disease.

The CDC defines an epidemic as an outbreak that results in more deaths than expected. The center did not say how many deaths from flu it estimated would occur this year.

Type A-Port Chalmers flu, which caused an epidemic last year, has been reported at a New York City prison and in a number of eastern Massachusetts schools.

Farm Prices Off

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prices paid to farmers for their produce have dropped in three of the past four months, including a decline of one-half of 1 per cent from Dec. 15 to Jan. 15, says the Agriculture Department. But farmers' expenses were up.

The latest drop was sparked by lower prices for cattle, eggs and apples, the department's Crop Reporting Board said Friday. Higher prices for corn, soybeans and potatoes failed to offset the reductions.

Even so, officials said, the over-all farm price index averaged 8 per cent more than it did on Jan. 15 of last year. However, farm expenses were up 6 per cent from a year earlier, including a 1 per cent gain the past month.

Pastoral Counseling Is Discussed In Session

Richey, a Church of Christ minister, is a chaplain at Big Spring State Hospital. He has been developing a program of clinical pastoral education there in which he trains ministers to be aware of the emotional needs of people, and to be understanding of those needs.

Also present was Rev. John Gaston, lately the pastor of the Presbyterian Church. Rev., Gaston, a member of the American Association of Pastoral Counselors, is working with the Pastoral Care and Counseling Center of Scurry County, which is housed in the old Manhattan Hotel on the south side of the Snyder Square. Gaston, before coming to Snyder, was a pastoral counselor for six years in Houston. Also present was Rev. Henry J. Hartman, pastor of the Grace Lutheran Church. Rev. Hartman has been in Snyder for over five years, and has been instrumental in the organization of the Day Care Center and Family Planning. He has also worked with Goodfellows, has been President of the Sunrise Kiwanis Club, and has been active in many other civic affairs.

A number of other citizens were present.

Richey introduced the topic by discussing the increasing specialization of the ministry. "I have served several churches," he said, "and was continually impressed by the fact that there was so much that needed doing that I couldn't do."

So many different things need to be done in the ministry, among which are meeting people in crisis situations: Marriage, birth, death, and times when emotional pressures rise within the family. It takes special kinds of people with special skills to be genuinely helpful in these deeply emotional occasions. Ministers have become more and more aware of their need for special skills. As a result, there are now nine pastoral counseling centers in Texas, and there will soon be four more. Most of these centers have sprung up in the last five years.

"I counsel one day a week at the Midland Counseling Center," Richey continued. "I see that people with faith convictions will come to a minister for help. Some may be hesitant to go to their own minister, for fear of hearing of themselves from the pulpit, but they go to ministers."

Richey went on to tell that ministers are sending people to the center because of the more skilled help that is available: Marriage problems, teen problems, and drug and drink involvement.

"We have had to set up a Teen age Group in Midland to deal with the problem of teenagers coming home from school drunk. Individual ministers sent some of their members to the counseling center, which soon realized that it was a community problem, rather than an individual.

"The pastoral counselor is not an alternate to the pastor, but rather is his assistant," asserted Richey. "Unlike Psychiatrists and Psychologists, who sometimes regard an expression of religion with suspicion, a pastoral counselor like Mr. Gaston is able to understand the language and reality of faith, and use it as part of the healing process. The pastoral counselor's training includes a great deal of psychology, but it also includes a lot of work on how these things relate to his faith."

Pastor Hartman said, "Not only that, but the pastoral counselor does not steal a church's members. I have sent some of my members to him, and they have come back better, and more active members of my church."

During the question period, there were a number of important questions, like: "What advantage would there be to having a pastoral counseling center in Snyder?

Richey answered, "A good many people are going to psychologists and psychiatrists out of town. Many others are just suffering because they do not realize that help is possible.

"In addition, a good many ministers, who are doing their best, could feel much more confident, and actually serve their own people better, if they have someone nearby who can give them the boost they need.

"Also, if the community decides to back this with endowment funds, then the center could serve those who could not afford it. When my wife and I were newly married, we had some trouble, and as college students we could not afford much. I don't know what we would have done if the Pastoral Counseling Center in Dallas had not told us, 'We can give you the counseling you need for five dollars an interview, and you can pay it back at two and a half a month until it is paid.' Our counseling was paid for by endowment funds."

Another question was, "How many people could profit from this service in Scurry County?

Richey replied, "That is a hard one. But think of this one figure: 60 per cent of the beds in most community general hospitals are occupied by people with unresolved emotional conflicts. Stomach ulcers, much heart trouble, hypertension: these and many other psychophysical problems can be relieved or prevented by proper counseling."

A number of people were willing to serve on the board of directors immediately, while others wanted to hear more. There will be a community information meeting at the Snyder Savings and Loan Community Room at 7:30 p.m. on Monday, Feb. 23.

For more information, call the Pastoral Care and Counseling Center at 573-8222.

Public Show Set At Planetarium

The Western Texas College planetarium will have a public show at 2 o'clock this afternoon, Mickey Schmidt, director, said.

Tickets for the show, titled "Winter Skies," are to be purchased at the planetarium in advance of the show. "Winter Skies" details the skies as they appear in this area during the winter season and has been a popular show with audiences in the past.

Admission prices are $1 for adults, 50 cents for children or $2 for family groups.

Exhibits Are Continuing At Museum

Exhibits of firearms and art are continuing to attract visitors to the Scurry County Museum.

The exhibits opened last week and may be seen today from 1-5 p.m. There is no admission charge to the museum. The museum is open each week day from 8-5 except on Friday when it closes at 4 p.m.

The art show is made up of 23 paintings which were winners in the 1975 show of the Big Country Chapter of the Texas Fine Arts Association. Eighteen artists are represented in the show, which includes a variety of media.

Fifty-one guns are included in the firearms collection loaned by Jackie Williams fo Hamlin.

More than 125 visitors have registered in the museum since the dual exhibit opened.

The Karakoram range guarding the crossroads of China, Afghanistan, Pakistan, India and the Soviet Union forms the mightiest concentration of mountains in the world. Nineteen peaks exceed 25,000 feet, including 28,250-foot K2, second only to Mt. Everest.

For Sunday, Feb. 1, 1976

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Don't make heavy plans for the p.m. involving too many people. By then you might be looking for quiet and seclusion.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Friends will enjoy having you around today. Whatever they want to do will be okay with you.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) An opportunity may present itself today enabling you to push an important plan you've been considering.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Mutual benefits should result today from an arrangement you share with one you love. Each will look out for the other.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Take a firm stand today on issues you feel strongly about, especially where you are more familiar with the problem than others.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your time and talents can be put to very profitable use today if you choose to apply yourself.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Your personality has an extra dynamic dimension today. You may not even be aware of, though others will be.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You're up to handling very challenging situations today. You have a great deal of inner resolve to draw upon.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You'll feel best today and have the most fun doing things that permit you to move around both physically and mentally.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Matters relating to your resources or career should still be given top priority today while the influences continue to favor you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Usually your thought are a step or two ahead of others, but today ideas you come up with will be real pace-setters.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) To be your most effective today, function as the power behind the throne. Make your suggestions so that others will think they conceived them.

your birthday

Feb. 1, 1976

There should be a more profitable market for your talents this coming year than in the past. Keep abreast of your particular field.

NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN

For Monday, Feb. 2, 1976

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Sticky situations that you find yourself in today are likely to be of your making. Look carefully before you leap.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Someone else may look upon your resources today as if they were his own, unless you set limits on your generosity.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Don't let self-doubts curb your ambitious thrust today. Goals can be attained, at least partially, provided you try.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Consider the alternatives before making important moves today. What appears to be most expedient may not be the best ultimately.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Don't conduct business hastily today, particularly if transactions are with persons you don't know too well.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Keep priorities in order today so you don't scatter your forces trying to cover all bases at one time.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You'll have some minor frustrations to contend with today workwise, but don't use them as excuses to lay down the tools.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Extravagant whims could easily gain the upper hand today if you're not careful. Buy only what you need.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Be the one who helps bring and maintain harmony on the home front today. Don't add to the tensions and confusions.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Use charm, not coercion, to get others to co-operate today. Kind words and courtesy will work if given the chance.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Today you may find the opening you've sought to remind a friend of an obligation she owes you.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't let another dissuade you today from doing something for your own best interests, just because it doesn't benefit him.

If you grow sorghum on sandy soils, it's time you tried Igran.

Because Igran® is the sorghum herbicide that really fits the sandy soil conditions in the South High Plains and South Rolling Plains.

And because it fits, Igran is easier to use. There's no guesswork or experimenting with rates. Just follow the label directions.

Then watch your sorghum come through clean and healthy. Because Igran controls those tough broadleaf weeds like carelessweed and annual morningglory. Controls them early, before they have a chance to rob your crop of vital soil moisture and nutrients.

Igran. Once you try it, you'll keep on using it. Because now you've got a sorghum herbicide that really fits your sandy soil conditions.

6 Community Courses To Be Added At WTC

The Community Services department of Western Texas College has announced plans for six new courses to be starting soon.

Courses previously announced are skin and scuba diving and radio communications, both starting this week. An orientation session for the diving course is planned at 7 o'clock Tuesday night in the WTC Science Lecture Hall, while the radio communications class is to begin at 7 o'clock Thursday night in the EMT lab.

Courses planned to begin in February are Hymm Appreciation, Aerobic Dance and Aviation Ground School. A Banking Seminar is being planned March 1 and 8.

Dr. Sue Coffman is to be the instructor for the Hymm Appreciation program. It will offer 10 hours of instruction in five class meetings with the first meeting planned on Feb. 10. The course is designed to acquaint the layman with the tradition of hymn singing in the Christian church and with the great hymns of the church.

Patsy Rainwater will again be the instructor for Aerobic Dance. Classes are to begin Feb. 10 in the high school gymnasium. Two sessions are tentatively planned for the course, one meeting on Tuesday night and one on Thursday night. Students may attend both sessions if they choose by paying additional fees. Ms. Rainwater requests that students register in advance of the first class so it can be determined if there will be sufficient demand to form the Thursday night class.

Aviation Ground School with Rex Hopkins as instructor is to begin Feb. 17. A minimum of 10 students will be required to form the class, and fees will be $35 per person. Classes are to meet on Tuesday and Thursday nights.

The Banking Seminar will be taught by Robert Pinkston and will offer discussions of a variety of banking activities which affect the bank customer. The class is to meet for two hours on March 1 and 8 and persons enrolling will pay fees of $4 each.

Information on any Community Services course may be secured by calling the Community Services office at extension 237 at WTC, 573-8511. Community Services courses do not carry college credit. Courses currently in progress include a macrame course and a guitar course. Persons interested in having Community Services courses arranged are invited to make their interests known so that classes can be scheduled if there is sufficient enrollment.

Ira School Meal Policy Announced

IRA—The Ira Independent School District has announced its policy for reduced-price meals, in addition to their free lunch program, for children unable to pay the full price of meals and milk served under the National School Lunch Program. The reduced price of lunch is 20 cents.

Local school officials have adopted the following family size income criteria for determining eligibility:

Family Size	Reduced-Price Meals
1	$2,590- 5,040
2	3,390- 6,620
3	4,200- 8,200
4	5,010-9,770
5	5,750-11,210
6	6,490-12,650
7	7,160-13,970
8	7,830-15,280
9	8,440-16,460
10	9,050-17,640
11	9,650-18,820
12	10,250-20,000
Each Additional Family Member	$1,180

Children from families whose income is at or below the levels shown are eligible for reduced-price meals. Families not meeting these criteria but with other unusual expenses due to unusually high medical expenses, shelter costs in excess of 30 per cent of income, special education expense due to the mental or physical condition of a child, and disaster or casualty losses are urged to apply. In addition, children having parents or guardians who become unemployed are eligible for reduced-price meals provided that the loss of income causes the family income during the period of unemployment to be within the eligibility criteria of the school district.

Applications forms are being sent to all homes in a letter to parents. Additional copies are available at the principal's office in each school. The information provided on the application is confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility. Applications may be submitted at any time during the year.

In certain cases foster children are also eligible for these benefits. If a family has foster children living with them and wishes to apply for such meals for them, it should contact the school.

In the operation of child feeding programs, no child will be discriminated against because of race, sex, color, or national origin.

Under the provisions of the policy the principal will review applications and determine eligibility. If a parent is dissatisfied with the ruling of the official, he may make a request either orally or in writing to Myron M. Crawford, Superintendent, P.O. Box 248, Ira, Texas; or call 573-5064 for a hearing to appeal the decision. The policy contains an outline of the hearing procedure.

The school has a copy of the complete policy which may be reviewed by any interested party.

Applications For Scholarship Due

SAN ANGELO—Students interested in majoring in Journalism at Angelo State University in San Angelo may begin applying for the $300 Millard Cope Memorial Scholarship according to Dr. Harvey Saalberg, head of the ASU Journalism Department.

The scholarship is awarded each year to a freshman journalism major entering Angelo State. A student receiving the award as a freshman is eligible to apply for renewal each year providing the student maintains a good academic standing and makes significant contributions to the ASU journalism program.

Students who are selected for the scholarships must enroll in ASU as journalism majors and must agree to work as staff members on one of the campus publications.

At least four awards are made each year by the selection committee with scholarships going to a freshman, a sophomore, a junior and a senior journalism major. Last spring, a total of seven Millard Cope scholarships were awarded with two going to entering freshmen and five to students who were renewing their awards.

In addition to the Millard Cope awards, the University may provide additional special ASU journalism scholarships to outstanding entering freshmen who are not selected for the Millard Cope Scholarships.

The Millard Cope scholarships are financed from the proceeds out of a $25,000 trust fund established by the late Houston Harte and his wife as a memorial to the late Millard Cope, publisher of the San Angelo Standard Times at the time of his death Jan. 4, 1964.

A former publisher of the Marshall News-Messenger, Cope was also president of the Southern Newspaper Publishers Association and a director of the Associated Press at the time of his death.

The winner or winners of the 1976 freshman award as well as the renewal of the upperclassmen awards will be determined by a selection committee made up of Angelo State University President, Dr. Lloyd D. Vincent; Tucker Sutherland, publisher of the San Angelo Standard Times; and the president of the West Texas Press Association.

Application forms for the scholarship may be obtained by writing to the Office of Financial Aid, Angelo State University, San Angelo, Tex., 76901. Deadline for applying for the scholarships is Monday, March 15, 1976. Additional information about the scholarships may be obtained from Dr. Saalberg.

Freshmen awards last year went to Coleen Berger of San Angelo and Robert Dierschke of Wall. Special ASU Journalism Scholarships went to Billy K. Murray of Snyder, Juan Sanchez of San Angelo, and Billy Templeton of Amherst.

A Little About One Or Two Hundred Things

By JEAN EVERETT

Once upon a time (as all good stories begin) when the world was young, an old sage wandered over the face of the earth looking for the perfect place to settle down.

First of all he saw a beautiful, green grove of palm trees. A cool breeze was blowing in from the southern sea. "Ah", he said, "this is what I have been looking for. I'll build a sand castle and live on the beach."

But as he began to scrape up sand and other materials for his home, the people shouted: "No! No! You are trespassing on our property." "That is my pile of sand". "No, you can't build there; it is restricted."

Disappointed, the sage reluctantly moved away. After days and days of searching, he saw blue hills looming in the far distance. Though tired and weary, he became excited thinking that those foothills would be his long-dreamed-of destination. His heart began to sing and his steps lightened as he raced toward them.

When he arrived at the place, he saw the perfect picture of heaven. Snow from the mountains melted into a cold, clear stream that gurgled through the valley. Fish swam past as he knelt to take a drink. On the other side a deer raised his head to watch the man. Yes, this was it!. Here was water, food for the catching, and wood to build a shelter. Later, as he began to hew logs, he felt the presence of other beings. He heard movement, too. Looking up from his work, he saw eyes peering at him from the forest. He shouted a greeting. No answer. "Who is there?" No answer.

Finally, he went back to his work, thinking that he had frightened whoever it was. So he whistled and hummed awhile, hoping to dispell their fears. "It will be good to converse with a fellow human again," he thought.

He completed his shelter. A week—then a month—elapsed. Still no one came to talk, although he felt that he was being watched every day. One evening as he picked up firewood, a snake struck him on the hand. Almost immediately he became ill. He had nothing with which to treat himself, so he shouted out his dilemma to that unseen presence. Suddenly, hundreds of people emerged from the woods and formed a circle around him. But no one offered a helping hand. They merely stared at him. Silence hung heavy on the wind. Unconsciousness took over.

When he awoke, the morning sun was high in the sky. His strength had returned, so he arose. The crowd still circled about him, still mute. Dusting himself off, he walked through their barricade. In one swish, they turned to watch him go.

Much, much later, the sage, being very weary and almost ready to die, decided that he would have to stop where he was. The place didn't look like much. A hot wind whirled dirt and gravel in his face. The only vegetation seemed to be around a distant waterhole, so he headed there.

When he stumbled into camp, a bewhiskered giant growled, "Howdy, stranger. Here, sit a spell and have some coffee and beans. Zeke, call Mama Remedy. I see this fellar's in need of fixin' up a bit."

Home, at Last!

When I was a teenager, I observed that many of the young people who went away to college came back to Snyder to start their businesses, buy their homes and raise their families. I wondered why. What was so great about this place? But then, I grew up, went away, and returned, too. Not because of the place, I said, but because of the people and loved ones.

But what drew those first settlers to this area in the latter 1800s? A sense of adventure? A longing for a new start, agitated by crop failures and despair? Perhaps for those reasons and for as many others as there were people who came.

I, for one, am grateful. Whatever brought them here, they had the stamina and foresight to change a wilderness, inhabited only by buffalo, wild animals, renigades and lawbreakers, into a place called "home" by several thousand citizens.

I surmise that every place has its own special atmosphere. Snyder's seems to be one of "helpfullness." Quite possibly, I see Snyder through rose colored shades; but evidence points out that others have looked through the same glasses. From a 1929 Scurry Co. Times and Snyder Signal, dated April 18, I found this item: (I quite verbatim)

GENEROUS FRIENDS ANSWER THE CALL

"Snyder sent out a call for help Saturday to the outside world, and the call was answered right here within the county limits when S.G. Lunsford and Stewart Womack presented "Uncle Billy" Nelson with a thoroughbred collie pup.

The editor of the Times-Signal sent out a wire to the Star-Telegram and Abilene Reporter-News reciting that 'a small collie pup capable of being trained to lead him about the streets of a town he helped to lay out is the modest wish of Uncle Billy Nelson, old pioneer buffalo hunter, cowboy, and the first sheriff Scurry County ever had. Uncle Billy came to West Texas when the war-whoops of wild Comanches echoed back from the caprock over Scurry County. His first job was a buffalo skinner at $25 per month. He made a fortune and lost it and made another in the wide open days when Scurry County was the blazing frontier. His declining years have brought him adversity. For years he had earned a modest livelihood as agent for the Star-Telegram and Reporter-News as well as operating a small confectionery wagon. He has been blind for years. But a faithful dog had guided him on his rounds of the square, and a loving wife cared for him at home.

A man of great pride and spirit, he has made his own way when others would have quit. Recently his wife died and his dog was all he had left to care for him. Now the dog has reached his end and is dying, following a hurried trip to the best veterinarian in Abilene where Snyder friends rushed the dog when she became ill.

Uncle Billy—blind, but courageous—wishes to "carry on" and Snyder friends want to help him. Unfortunately no pups of the proper breed are available here, hence the spirit of the Old West issues a call for someone to supply the Indian fighter his modest need and friends in Snyder will gladly underwrite the expense if the right dog can be found. Uncle Billy wants to "carry on."

Many offers were received here, but Scurry County men responded to the call and gave Uncle Billy the thoroughbred collie pup that he was wanting."

It seems to me that Scurry Countains have always "gone the second mile" whatever the call: for men to serve their nation; for money for arms and food; drives for scrap iron, war bonds, blood; clothing and supplies for flood and storm victims for people around the world as well as for local sufferers from tornados, floods, fires, and illnesses.

Whether working to relieve someone's hurt, or planning for the future, or playing, the people seem to pull together. Being an All American City doesn't just happen. It comes about from planning and work. And a spirit of love.

I think a fourth grader said it best in Jan., 1972:

"When I came to Snyder, I made so many friends. The people are very nice. They make you feel comfortable and wanted. When someone gets sick, they all want to help. I think Snyder is a wonderful town. I'm sure you would think so to. I have lived in seven different towns and cities. I like Snyder the very best, because it's nice, clean and peaceful. If you have a friend from Snyder and they talk about how great Snyder is, don't just think they are bragging. Take their word. It really is a great town."

SEEKS SUCCESSOR—Miss Ford Country, Sandy Lankford, poses is her "Spirit of '76 outfit on her current PR tour promoting the campaign to select a new Miss Ford Country.

New Miss Ford Country Sought

That attractive blonde that you have seen on television, in the newspaper, and on outdoor billboards could very well be a redhead in 1976...or a brunette...or perhaps another blonde. "The verdict will be out by mid April when the "Spirit of '76 Miss Ford Country is chosen", a contest official said.

The current Miss Ford Country, Sandy Lankford from Graham, will assist in the selection, visiting major markets to publicize the program.

"Being Miss Ford Country has been a lot of fun....I have learned a lot and meeting so many nice people throughout my travels has been just great", Sandy said... she continued "it's a lot of hard work but it's a great opportunity for a girl to get valuable experience, making television commercials, personal appearances and working with so many talented people."

"We are encouraging everyone to enter, and the contest itself will be a lot of fun. You can register at your local Ford dealer, include a recent picture and then get ready for a call to come to the regional contests in early April and the final judging in Dallas on April 16 ... I have had a great time and look forward to crowning the new Miss Ford Country"....Sandy concluded.

The contest closes on March 27 and will be followed by regional contests in Lubbock, Waco, Odessa, San Angelo, Longview, Sherman and Wichita Falls during the first week in April. Regional winners and runnerups will then travel to the Le Baron Hotel in Dallas, contest headquarters, for the final judging April 16 and 17.

In 1973 nearly 35 million American women were working.

Dr. Lamb

Device aids the impotent

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—This past year a letter written to "Dear Abby" appeared in our paper. It was a letter by a doctor about impotence. The doctor wrote that a small device has been developed that can be surgically implanted into the male organ of men who are unable to obtain an erection. With this device the patient is able to pump fluid into the penis, thus producing an erection at will as long as desired.

He said that work on this is going on in medical centers but began at the Urology Department of St. Lukes Episcopal Hospital in Houston, Texas.

My husband is a diabetic. He takes insulin. He never had any sex problems until last January. On the advice of his doctor he was circumcised. As soon as he was released from the hospital his father became very ill and he started to be nervous and depressed. Then he lost his job which really did send him into a depression.

After the depression got better he found he was impotent. He believes this was because of the operation he had. The doctor that performed the operation said no, that it could be from his diabetes and high blood sugar. His sugar was high and I might add that he can keep his sugar down if he doesn't cheat on his diet.

I would like to know what you think caused this and if the new device could be used on him. Also please tell us if you think his impotence was caused by being circumcised or because of the high sugar not being regulated.

He worries over this constantly and gets depressed from time to time. I need to know some way to encourage him. He is only 37 and has had diabetes for nine years.

DEAR READER—I discussed this device in this column some time ago. Yes, the device you refer to does work. It consists of two flexible cylinders implanted into the shaft of the penis and these cylinders can be filled mechanically at will or emptied. It is a great device for those who need it when the problem is in the actual nerve control of the erection mechanism (nerve control does not mean nervous in this instance.)

In diabetes the actual nerve fibers to the blood vessels that control filling the penis with blood can be damaged and the normal erection process ceases to function normally or at all. These men continue to have normal sex drive and are masculine in all ways but lack the ability to have an erection to carry out the usual act. Incidentally they still respond to stimulation and can have an orgasm despite the absence of an erection.

To answer one of your questions specifically, no I do not believe your husband's problem was related in any way to his circumcision. If circumsicion caused impotence, society would be in a bad way. And age at time to circumcision in this regard makes no difference. Tell your husband not to attach too much importance to a small bit of skin.

What your story does suggest to me is that your husband may have had impotence in response to depression. One of the common symptoms of depression is loss of sexual desire or sexual capacity. It is one of the first things the doctor should suspect when a man or a woman has a sudden loss or usual sexual interest or capability. If your husband's problem is a depression, rather than diabetes, he doesn't need the device, he needs a psychiatrist who can help him through his emotional crisis.

Before doing anything else I would recommend careful evaluation by a psychiatrist. If it develops that his problem is mechanical because of his diabetes then at his age I would think such a device as you asked about should be seriously considered.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I am writing this letter to you about my wife. She has been to the doctor about being always tired and run down. She can sleep through the night until 10 or 11 the next morning and get up and says she is tired. During the day she is dragging herself. She looks tired and worn. She will lie down for an hour or so and get up. About an hour or two later she is all tired out.

She has had the doctor check her over, blood test and all and he finds nothing. Can you please tell me anything the doctor may be overlooking or not checking for?

DEAR READER—Fatigue can be caused by many things. Most of the causes of fatigue from disease or abnormal functions would be picked up by the doctor on his examination. Since he found nothing and combined with your description I would be suspicious that she is having a depression.

Depression is common. It will certainly sap a person's energy level. The depressed person may be just barely able to cope with the day's demands.

Unfortunately the person doesn't always realize that he or she is having a depression and others around the person may not fully be able to separate this problem from the normal ups and downs of living. A depression can be caused by loss of a loved one or more subtle factors in life. The person is not able to shake off this feeling spontaneously. It does no good to say "snap out of it" or insist on "getting hold of yourself."

What is needed is good professional help and perhaps your doctor will consider referring your wife to a psychiatrist for evaluation of the role of her emotions in causing her fatigue.

Some depressions are short lived. They offer a unique opportunity to the person to find out what factors in their life peed changing or managing. In this sense they may help a person develop a much better life for the future.

Not all depressions are swings between manic over-active behavior and deep depression. The plain simple depression that is so common may never be associated with a swing to manic behavior. Often a skilled professional can get at the cause of the depression fairly soon, and with a limited number of sessions provide enough support to work through the problem.

Not all professionals handle a depression properly. It is not a time for a silent uncommunicative doctor. The doctor must take a more positive approach and provide some meaningful support to bring out the problems and allow the patient to work through the cycle. If a patient with a depression gets an unresponsive uncommunicative person he or she cannot relate to, the best approach is to find a doctor one can relate to.

The presence of modern drugs makes it possible for patients to receive some relief rather early in treatment, when that is indicated.

Now I don't know that your wife really has a depression but it is certainly the one thing that is often missed. While focusing on the possibility of cancer, anemia, thyroid disorders and the countless things that structurally go wrong with the body, the doctor may not always give proper weight to the influence of the emotions in creating real pain and exhaustion in a patient. So it is at least worth considering.

Weekly Cotton Prices Mixed

NEW YORK (AP) — Prices of active cotton futures were mixed at the end of the week after slightly lower trading volume.

No. 2 contracts on the New York Cotton Exchange were up 20 to off 45 points at the close Friday, following advances of 60 to 90 points the week before.

Volume was estimated at 2,465,600 bales for a daily average of 493,100 bales.

H. W. Cargile

Chairman Of Board of Directors
West Texas State Bank

Business conditions in the Scurry County area continue to be excellent.
The national economic recovery is proceeding reasonably well. The outlook for the year 1976 is exceedingly improved.
Last year inflation was rampant, but seems to be levelling off. Interest rates are down which should cause business expansion.
The increase in the price of oil along with a good grain and cotton crop is revealed in the increase of approximately $15,000,000.00 of deposits in the three local financial institutions for the year 1975.
Since Scurry County is the largest crude oil producing county in the state and with the anticipated expansion and exploration program of our oil companies, should make 1976 an outstanding year.

H W Cargile

Mal Donelson

Owner
Mal Donelson Chevrolet Co.

My Family & I have lived in Snyder & Scurry County since 1967 where people are historically a very optimistic and aggressive people, but most of all we are a very proud people, and we have a right to be.
Our area enjoys a great diversified strong economy. With the Farmer, Rancher and oil industry which makes us the envy of all our neighbors.
Wise planning plus faith in our American System, we will continue to grow and prosper.
HOW DO YOU STOP A PROUD PEOPLE.

Mal Donelson

Howard Limmer

Manager
C.R. Anthony Co.

My outlook for Snyder, Texas, and the surrounding area in 1976 is very optimistic.
This area is very fortunate to have a good stable economy. The variety of employment opportunities available in Snyder and Scurry County are such that I feel every person who wants to work is employed, making our employment rate very low. This is one of the reasons the economy is good. People working and circulating their incomes in their community makes for a stronger community.
I am also optimistic about retail sales in this area. I believe any merchant in Scurry County can reach a high goal if he offers for sale quality merchandise at a fair price, with good customer service.
The Anthony Company sees business to be good in 1976. We have just finished a good year, however optimism and determination are the key to success, and I think 1976 will be a record year.

Howard Limmer

Roger B. Mize

President
Snyder National Bank

We here in Scurry County enjoyed one of our better years in 1975 and the year 1976 looks very promising for our merchants and industry and if proper moisture is forthcoming, our ranchers and farmers should do well. The way I see it, our problem here in Scurry County is that we have too much interference from the bureaucrats in Washington and our people who are making our decisions have lost track of the old four letter word "work." Consequently, due to their being so liberal with welfare and other give-away programs which we will be faced with in 1976 as in the past, however, we should keep in mind that major problems and uncertainties face this nation, and we here in Scurry County would be affected by any major crisis which could come forth in the year 1976.

Roger B Mize

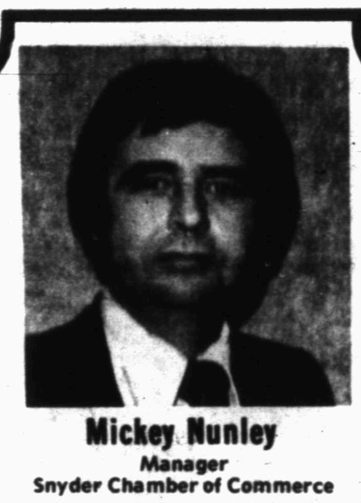
We are very fortunate to live in this area - this is one of the strongest economical areas in the United States.
Overall there are still price increases but neither the amount of the increase or number of increases are as great as earlier last year. This year our nations 200th Brithday promises to be a good one!

Dean Floyd



Mickey Nunley

Manager
Snyder Chamber of Commerce

I now of no other county that can look to the future with the optimisn we can in Scurry County.
The Architect of our universe chose to bless our county with an abundance of the commodities greatest in demand wold wide. These two, Energy and Agriculture Products, are the major contributors to our economic structure. Both are operated by experts and use thelatesttechnology which results in near peak production. New manufacturing industry, a growing retail trade and education supplements these two giant industries to give us one of the strongest local economic conditions in the nation.
Efficiency in our public schools, county, and city governments allows us to grow in public facilities as we grow in population yet maintain a tax structure attractive to new industry and commercial businesses.
Scurry County's economic condition can suffer only if we fail to remain aggressive in developing our potential to the maximum.

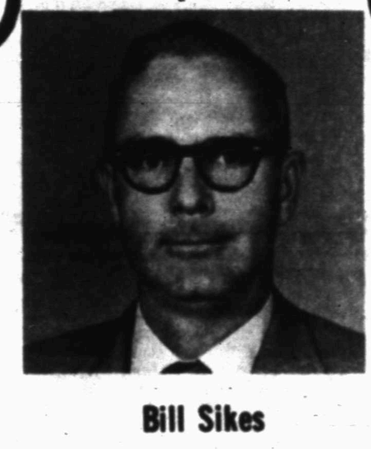
Mickey Nunley

Truett Bryan

Manager
Snyder Motor Co.

Snyder Motor Company views the new year in Snyder and Scurry County with a lot of optimism. "Although the nation-wide economy has been in a slump, we are fortunate in our area to have many diversified industries. This strong economy hasn't let us drop anywhere the national level. Snyder has all the assets to move ahead, it's people, needed oil production, farming, industry and excellent educational opportunities; all lead us to believe a record year is in store for Snyder in 1976."

Truett Bryan

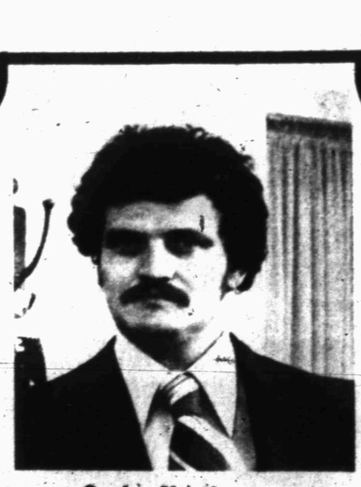


Bill Sikes

Executive Vice-President
Snyder Savings & Loan Assn.

Our past year was one of the most prosperous years that we at Snyder Savings & Loan and our community have had since our organization began almost two decades ago. With a strong and healthy demand for homes still remaining, we are looking forward to another good year in 1976 for our community.

Bill Sikes

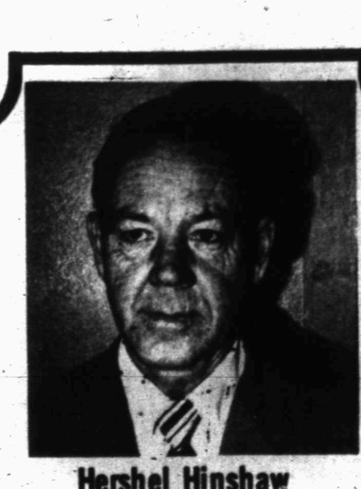


Corky Northerns

Manager
The Haberdashery

The United States seems to be successfully combating the economic recession of the past few years and is showing signs of returning economic normalcy.
Thankfully Snyder and West Texas were not as severely affected by the recession and consequently are showing immediate positive growth in most areas.
I'm very optimistic about the coming year and feel that it will be a productive and profitable one indeed.

Corky Northerns



Hershel Hinshaw

Owner
Hinshaw's House of Flowers

In a nation experiencing a recession and world wide energy crisis - Snyder, Texas is a very nice place to be.
While many businesses, industries and cities around the nation are having serious problems with a sagging economy and high unemployment rate, the picture in Snyder could hardly look better.
Our city and county is in great financial shape and environmently we have a good clean town with outstanding leadership in our city and county offices, plus the agressive leadership in our Chamber of Commerce and Industrial Development Boards. I see nothing but continuous progress in the future for Snyder.

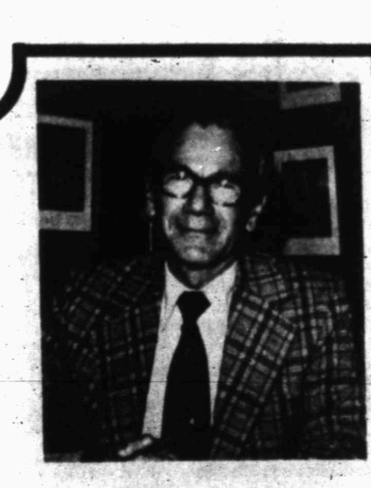
Hershel Hinshaw

Wendell E. York

Owner
Top Acidizers, Inc.

We think that the business outlook in Snyder for 1976 is great. We are in an area with one of the e lowest unemployment rates in the nation as you have probably already discovered if you have tried to hire hands recently. The oil industry has never looked better. With this fuel shortage the oil companies have tightened their belts and are starting work-over programs to increase their oil and gas production. We are proud to be a part of the oil field industry of Scurry County which by the way is the largest oil producing county in the state of Texas. We believe that we are working for the top oil field personnel in the nation right here in Scurry County. The oil companies have had some hard knocks in the past years, but they are run by rugged and determined people that will see that our future generations have the fuel that they need.
We have a saying in the oil industry that says, "Anything that can't be done, we'll do right away, but the impossible will take a little bit longer."

Wendell E York



William H. Wilson, Jr.

Owner

"76" it looks like another good one, for Scurry County & West Texas. Our major resources & products (oil, cotton & cattle) are much in demand so strong market should continue -- Bank Deposits keep climbing -- money available at reasonable rates for growth with much determination a sure winner.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

At first glance Judy (Mrs. Jim) Jacoby was unhappy with the dummy. Here she was in a conservative six diamonds and it looked as if seven diamonds, seven spades, or six notrump would make easily. Then she remembered something we have been stressing for years.

Make sure of your contract before you worry about other contracts. She cashed dummy's ace of diamonds at trick two and was delighted to see that there was a sure diamond loser. How could she protect against a spade loser in the event that spades failed to break?

Her first step was to lead a diamond to her king. Then she ruffed her last club and came back to her hand with the king of hearts. It seemed safe to assume that hearts would not break 8-0.

Then came the key safety play. She led a low spade toward dummy's queen. West couldn't ruff since Judy would play a low spade from dummy. So he discarded. Now Judy cashed the ace of hearts, ruffed a heart and threw West in with the high trump to force him to give her a ruff and discard and a top score.

Note that by leading that spade to the queen Judy guarded against all bad breaks in spades.

Ask the Jacobys

A New York reader wants to know the correct response to partner's one-notrump opening when you hold: ♠ J x ♥ x x ♦ x x x ♣ A K 10 x x x.

Assuming you are playing standard notrumps, the correct response is three notrump. Don't waste any time experimenting with clubs and go after the notrump game.

(Do you have a question for the experts? Write "Ask the Jacobys" care of this newspaper. The Jacobys will answer individual questions if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are enclosed. The most interesting questions will be used in this column and will receive copies of JACOBY MODERN.)

Presents Cosmetic Program

The Scurry Charter Chapter of the American Business Women's Association held their regular dinner meeting at the Martha Ann Womans Club on January 22. The program was introduced by Inez Teaff and presented by Irene Brooks, owner of Merle Norman Studio. She gave a very interesting talk on cosmetics and make-up and included some samples of some of the newer make-up items. A vocational talk was given by Barbara York, who with her husband, Wendell, operate Top Acidizers.

The business meeting was conducted by Mary Faver, president. Among other items of business, a Valentine's Day candy sale was approved by the organization which will be held Saturday, February 14, at the Merle Norman Studio featuring home-made candy. The benediction was given by Ileta Hall.

Beta Sigma Phi Plans Valentines Dance

Beta Sigma Phi met Jan. 20 at Martha Ann Woman's Club with president Laura Greene presiding. The January social, a tasting party, was termed a success and had excellent attendance.

The Feb. 6 Valentine Ball was discussed. The ball, a Beta Sigma Phi tradition will be held at the armory with Frank Trevino's band providing the music. Each member will be selling tickets to the event with no tickets being sold at the door. Decorations for the ball were also discussed. The next order of business was to select by secret ballot the Valentine queen who will be kept secret and revealed and crowned at the Valentine Ball. The queen will also represent Lambda Kappa at other area Valentine balls, including the Queen of Hearts Ball in San Angelo.

Members were reminded that the Heart Fund Drive is coming up during the month of February and to make plans to work.

Mickie Baird reported on the Woman of the Year program and a reminder that the outstanding woman of our community nominee must be accompanied by a resume of the nominee's achievements.

Bette League presented the program Vive La Difference, stating that men and women should compliment each other not be at odds. Bette had previously had questionaires filled out by men, women and children which asked a variety of questions. The results of the questionaires were revealed and contained many interesting and surprising answers. Bette concluded the program by saying "Brains have no sex. We are responsible for ourselves and should make our own opportunities."

Shrimps become tough when overcooked. Depending on the size of the shrimps, adding them to seasoned water that has been brought to a boil and simmering them for three to five minutes should be sufficient cooking.

Bicentennial Inspires Fantasy

1776 — AND ALL THAT. By Leonard Wibberley. Morrow. 96 Pages. $5.95.

In this pleasant little fantasy, Leonard Wibberley pokes some gentle fun at the various forms of government men have designed.

To do so he employs such towering figures as George Washington, Thomas Jefferson and Voltaire. All are saints in an amusing Heaven created by Wibberley that is also populated by beautiful angels, innocent animals with a penchant for leaping into the air and acre after acre of lovely flowers.

Wondering what the experiment in democracy that they were in on at the beginning has led to, Washington and Jefferson decide to drop in on contemporary America. Their form of transport into time — time does not exist where they are — is an old grandfather's clock. Accompanying them to present-day Washington are Voltaire and, rightly so, England's King George III, ruler at the time of the American Revolution.

Descending on the White House, the odd quartet are just in time to take part in a costume ball celebrating the nation's Bicentennial. As they mingle with the crowd, including the President himself, they discover that while democracy isn't what they thought it would be it hasn't turned out all that badly.

An amusing, but also thought-provoking, book.

MR. AND MRS. JIMMY DIGBY, JR.

Shoemaker, Digby Exchange Vows In Church Ceremony

Wedding vows were exchanged between Helen Sherene Shoemaker and Jimmy Ray Digby, Jr. Jan. 16 at 7:30 p.m. at the Bethel Baptist Church. Rev. Virgil Mott, pastor of the church, officiated at the single ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Diane Shoemaker, 3309 Twenty-third St. and O.W. Shoemaker, Jr., of Glorietta, N.M. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Digby, Sr., 216 Thirty-fourth St.

Given in marriage by her grandfather, Dick Fowler, the bride was adorned in a white floor length gown featuring full puff sleeves. The train was trimmed in pearls and lace. The long veil was attached to a pearl headpiece.

The bride carried a cascade of white carnations and baby's breath.

Lora Sutton of Snyder was maid of honor. She wore a blue formal gown and carried a nosegay of white carnations with blue ribbon streamers.

The church altar was decorated with white baskets of gladioli with blue ribbons.

Mrs. Virgil Mott, organist, played "The Bridal March."

A reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church immediately following the ceremony.

The serving table was covered with a white satin cloth and overlaid with white net. Carol Faulkenberry presided at the three tiered wedding, topped with a miniature bride and groom. Rita House served punch.

Following a short wedding trip the couple will be at home at the Bel-Air Village Apts.

The bride attends Snyder High School and is a member of the Sundowner's Riding Club.

The bridegroom also attended SHS and is currently employed by Snyder Well Service.

Oberlin President Giving NY Concert

OBERLIN, Ohio (AP) — Emil Danenberg, president of Oberlin College, will give a piano concert in New York's Alice Tully Hall on Feb. 17. Danenberg will play Brahms's "Piano Quintet in F Minor" with the New Hungarian Quartet, which has been in residence at Oberlin College since the quartet's founding in 1972.

This is Danenberg's first New York concert since becoming Oberlin College president last April. He has been a concert pianist since receiving an advanced degree in music from the University of California at Los Angeles in 1944. He was born in Hong Kong in 1917 and made his piano debut there at the age of 5.

from DEAN

"The total life span of man could be 115 years", states Dr. Jean Mayer of Harvard. "Americans don't die of old age", he says, "they die of heart attacks, strokes, cancer - diseases probably brought on by improper diet." Dr. Mayer suggests on living better and longer: "Eat less salt - this would likely prevent hypertension, high blood pressure. Cut down on fats and starches. A diet lower in fats and carbohydrates would likely avoid obesity and high cholesterol, the cause of heart and blood vessel diseases."

The Anne Pettus Shelburne Society of Children of the American Revolution was organized in Rotan in 1973 with Mrs. Bennie LeBleu as Organizing Senior President. In December of 1975 Miss Delila Baird was appointed by the National Board as the senior leader. On January 25 the group met in the home of Miss Baird for the purpose of making plans for the remainder of the current year.

Presiding at the meeting was the C.A.R. Society president, Steve LeBleu, who is a senior in Rotan High School. Rebecca LeBleu, Color Bearer, led in the Pledge to the Flag of the U.S.A. Ricky LeBleu in reciting the C.A.R. Creed. A special prayer was voiced for guidance in the work of the local group and of the state and national societies.

During the business meeting plans were discussed regarding the Society's participation in Fisher County Bicentennial Celebration, state and national projects, and the forthcoming State Convention in Austin.

Purposes of the Society of Children of the American Revolution were reviewed. These are: (1) To acquire knowledge of American History; (2) To preserve and restore places of historic importance; (3) To ascertain the deeds and honor the memory of men, women and children who rendered service to the cause of the American Revolution; (4) To promote and celebrate patriotic anniversaries: (5) To honor and cherish the Flag of the United States of America above every other flag; and (6) To love, uphold and extend the principles of American Liberty and Patriotism. The C.A.R. Motto is, "For God and My Country."

A Slide Program titled, "Washington, D.C.—Bicentennial City" was presented. Shown were pictures of our Nation's Capitol, White House, National Archives and selected exhibits including our "Documents of Freedom:, Smithsonian Institution with selected exhibits, Department of Justice, Washington Monument, Lincoln Memorial, Jefferson Memorial, and Changing of the Guards at the Grave of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery. The last picture shown was of the Headquarters of the National Society of Daughters of the American Revolution which also houses the Museum and officers of the C.A.R.

The National Society of Children of the American Revolution was organized in Washington, D.C. on April 5, 1895 for the youth of America. Any person under the age of twenty-one is eligible for membership if lineally descended from any person who assisted in the cause of American Independence, provided that the applicant is personally acceptable to the Society.

The Rotan C.A.R. Society is sponsored by Anne Pettus Shelburne Chapter of Daughters of the American Revolution.

CHECK BLOOD PRESSURES—Willa Mae Booth, LVN and Certified Medical Assistant (clinical), is pictured as she takes the blood pressure of Mrs. Maggie Boone, RSVP member. Mrs. Booth, who serves as office nurse for Carl Dillaha, M.D., volunteered her time to check blood pressures of RSVP members Friday at their monthly luncheon meeting held at WTC. Also pictured is Rosa Walker (center) who assisted Mrs. Booth.

DR. JOE REAVES

East P-TA To Hear Dr. Reaves

The East Elementary PTA meeting Monday evening will feature Dr. Joe Reaves, Associate Professor of Psychology at Western Texas College, according to Evelyn Malone, program chairman.

Dr. Reaves, who teaches psychology and sociology at WTC, also maintains a marriage and family counseling service, and is a frequent speaker at Family Conferences around the Country, will address the PTA on the subject, The Child, the Parent, and the Teacher--a Biblical Perspective.

He states, "too often the three main teaching agencies--the home, the school, and the church--are communicating conflicting viewpoints to the child, leaving him confused and bewildered. He is forced to reject one in order to accept the other."

Parents, teachers and other interested parties are urged to attend the meeting in the East Elementary Cafeteria, Monday at 7:30 p.m.

WTC Sets Aerobic Dance Classes

The aerobic dance course is offered through the Community Service program at WTC. Two sessions are tentatively planned for the spring semester, a class on Tuesday night and one on Thursday night. The cost of each session is $8 for 14 lessons. Persons may enroll for both nights, or 28 lessons for $16. The classes will run through May.

Persons who plan to enroll are asked to pre-register by Monday, Feb. 9 by calling WTC 573-8511, Ext. 237. They should tell what sessions they plan to attend. According to Miss Patsy Rainwater, instructor, the pre-registration is a "must" so she can see if there is a demand for the second session on Thursday nights. Students are asked to come to the first class meeting at least by 6:45 to pay the class fees.

According to Miss Rainwater, a good aerobics exercise program should include exercise (such as jogging, swimming, or any activity which stimulates the cardio-vascular system over an extended period of time) at least two or three times a week. Several people have asked for aerobic dance for at least two class meetings per week.

In the aerobic dance program last semester, 48 women were enrolled. Miss Rainwater feels like offering the course twice a week will be an improvement for the program. Also, the classes will be taught at the high school gym.

Miss Rainwater stressed that aerobic dance is not "belly dancing," but is exercise involving all kinds of movement: walking, marching, hopping, skipping, jumping, etc. The routines are set to music for the enjoyment of the participant.

The class is open to women and men, boys and girls.

TO WED—Lt. Col. and Mrs. Henry B. McInerney of Bethesda, Maryland, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Anne Margaret, to Jerry Wayne Cochran, son of Mrs. Annie Cochran, 2303 Ave. M, and the late Frank Cochran. The couple have chosen March 13 as their wedding date.

The high price of home repairs is forcing more and more home owners into the do-it-yourself arena. But there remains a hard core of holdouts who insist they do not tackle repairs because they haven't the time or the skill.

Those who say they haven't the time are, in the great majority of cases, fooling themselves or you. Those who say they haven't the skill really mean they haven't the will, because no one has the skill until he or she acquires it by learning and doing.

A common mistake — and one that makes some persons believe their initial opinions about their inabilities were correct — is to tackle something too complicated too soon. Begin with small projects, like changing the washer in a faucet or putting up shelves. And if you want to get into wood finishing, delay refinishing that costly dining room table until you have practiced on a shoebox or a bookcase or a child's bureau or anything which doesn't demand near perfection. You'll make a mistake now and then, but most of the time the result will be better than you expected.

It won't be long before you'll be ready to take on challenging tasks. Instead of ducking repair jobs, you'll begin looking for them. You will be a confirmed do-it-yourselfer when you get as much kick out of getting a good result as saving money.

(Do-it-yourselfers will find valuable information in Andy Lang's handbook, "Practical Home Repairs," available by sending $1 to this newspaper at Box 5, Teaneck, N. J. 07666.)

Country Joe And Fish Are Reunited

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Country Joe McDonald and Barry "The Fish" Melton have announced the reformation of their band, Country Joe and the Fish.

The band, considered a leader of the "underground sound" of the '60s, appeared on New Year's Day at the Crater Festival in Hawaii. It was the first major appearance since they disbanded following their triumphant appearance at the Woodstock Festival.

Aunt's Birthday is Fit for a queen

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1976 by Chicago Tribune N. Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 17-year-old boy who has what I think is a rather unique plan.

My Aunt Shirley is going to be 50 years old in April. Her birthday falls on the same day as Queen Elizabeth's. In fact they will both be 50 on that day.

I had in mind to send Queen Elizabeth a very elaborate birthday card and in it, ask her if she would please send my Aunt Shirley a congratulatory letter on her official stationery.

My friends and relatives to whom I have confided my plan think I am crazy. They say Queen Elizabeth wouldn't be bothered with such a ridiculous request, but I want to give it a try all the same.

Do you think I'm crazy?

CRAZY OR NOT

DEAR CRAZY: I think you are an imaginative young man. Write to the Queen. You and your Aunt Shirley may get a royal surprise.

DEAR ABBY: Please settle something. My lady friend and I and another couple went to a supper club. When we came in, the other couple saw a gentleman they knew, so they stopped to greet him and introduce him to us. (He was alone.)

After we were seated, this newly introduced gentleman came to our table and asked me if I minded if he danced with my date. I very politely said, "Yes, sir, I do mind." Of course, he left.

I am now a "bad guy," according to my lady friend. She thinks I should have given her the privilege of deciding whether or not she wanted to dance with this man.

I told her that he didn't ask HER—he asked ME, and I felt that he was intruding.

Please give me your opinion. We are both in our mid-50s.

PENNA. READER

DEAR READER: When he asked you if you minded if he danced with your lady friend, you should have asked HER if she wanted to dance with him.

DEAR ABBY: I was married for just 11 months and now my husband and I are separated. I am sure we will be divorced.

The problem is what to do about our wedding gifts. I know that the etiquette books say that all the gifts that are returnable should be returned, but so far everyone to whom I mentioned returning their gifts says, "Please, forget it!"

Some of my linens are still in their original boxes, but they are monogrammed. What would the givers do with them?

Should I reimburse the givers of used appliances?

I don't know what to do. Please help me.

STUMPED

DEAR STUMPED: Since it's been nearly a year, I say, keep the gifts. But should you marry again, don't expect those who gave you a gift to give you another.

National Scout Council Honors Snyderite For 50-Year Service

Lyle Deffebach, longtime Snyder resident and Scouter, was presented the rare 50-year service pin at the Buffalo Trail Council Annual Banquet held Jan. 22 in Odessa. Deffebach has held such positions in Scouting as Cubmaster, Assistant Scoutmaster, District Chairman, Council President, National Council Representative and Council Executive Board member. Along with the pin came a letter of congratulations and thanks for the years of service to boys from Alden Barber, Chief Scout Executive, and Arch Monson, Jr., National Council President for the Boy Scouts of America. It is rare for a leader in Scouting to be presented the 50 year service pin.

Lyle Deffebach lived in Snyder from 1909 to 1916, and again from 1940 to the present. He joined Scouting in 1915 under the leadership of Porter King, Scoutmaster of the troop sponsored by the Methodist Church in Snyder.

"It was one of the first troops in this part of the country," Lyle says proudly.

He left Snyder in 1916 and moved to Ranger where there was no Scout program at that time. In 1926 he moved to Winters where he again reaffiliated with Scouting as an Assistant Scoutmaster with the troop sponsored by the Methodist Church.

In 1939, Lyle began to have a special interest in the Scouting program as he took the Cubmaster job of the Cub Pack of which his son, Bill, was a member. This occurred in Sweetwater and soon after, on Sept. 13, 1940, the Deffebachs moved back to Snyder where he now resides.

Lyle soon became active in Cub Scouting in Snyder with his wife, Rene. She was the Den Leader for Bill's Cub Den. Lyle, then Cubmaster for the Pack, recalled some of the boys in that den. He recalled Charles Blakey was the Den Chief and the Cubs were Jack Gorman, Joe Sentell, and his brother Marvin, Billy Don Burke, Robert Pruitt, the Gibson twins, and Bill, their son.

"The striking thing about those boys," Lyle said, "was they nearly all made Eagle Scout, and if you follow their business and professional careers, they are all successful." "Rene was proud of those kids", Lyle said.

Lymon Wren, then of Snyder was elected Council President of the Buffalo Trail Council around 1950 and Lyle followed him as the District Chairman for the Lone Buffalo District. Then in 1954 and through 1956 Lyle Deffebach served as Council President, and was awarded the Silver Beaver Award for distinguished service to youth and the community in 1947.

Lyle served as National Council Representative from the Buffalo Trail Council for several years and attended the National Council Meetings in Santa Anna, California as the Council President, in Denver, Colorado, in Los Angeles, Calif., and in Minneapolis, Minn.

"You get to know men pretty well when you go with them to something like this',, Lyle recalled with a chuckle recalling memorable experiences of the past at the meetings.

Other positions Lyle has held on a Council level are on the Council Finance Committee, and on the Advancement Committee. He also helped raise the money to build Camp Ed Murphy, one of the council camps, located on Lake Thomas, and the Buffalo Trail Scout Ranch in the Davis Mountains. He was among the first to make an inspection of the proposed site for the rugged Scout Ranch in the Davis Mountain.

"As I recall", Lyle said, "We payed $72,000 for that camp. We payed $10,000 down and payed off the remaining $62,000." Camp Ed Murphy, on Lake Thomas, took much of Lyle's time and efforts for he handled much of the work on that camp, as much as possible, from here. Camp Murphy was one of the finest camps in this part of the state for aquatics until the lake went down.

In addition to his Scouting, Lyle has been President of the Scurry County United Fund from 1955 to 56, from 1968 to 69, and in 1975. He has been President of the Chamber of Commerce from 1943 to 45, was awarded the Businessman of the Year Award by the Chamber of Commerce in 1957, was President of the Snyder Lions Club in 1943, is in Who's Who in Texas, Who's Who in the Southwest in 1961, and Who's Who in the Methodist Church in 1966.

In the Methodist Church, only a very few of the services were: in 1953 Lyle was on the Board of Lay Activities, in 1956 to 64 on the Board of World Service and Finance for the Northwest Texas Conference, was Conference Lay Leader from 1964 to 68, Chairman of the Official Board for First Methodist Church in Snyder from 1960 to 62, and was a delegate to General Conference in 1968 to 72.

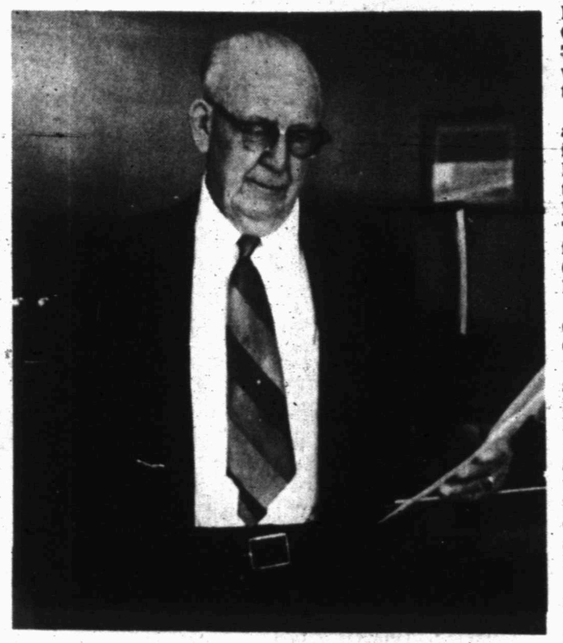
Scouting has taken only a second to the church work for Lyle. In most jobs, a person can look forward to retirement. Not not so for Lyle in his church and Scouting work. "When I joined the church and Scouts, there was no clause for retirement in either one", he said. And he is still very active in both of his life's avocational endeavors.

"One of the things I enjoy most is seeing young men come before an Eagle Board of Review and see the wide scope of their experiences and knowledge." He recalled two recent boys from Snyder who received their Eagle Award which he termed "smart cookies" due to their intelligence and education from Scouting. "These Eagles usually go on to do something worthwhile and keep their Scouting direction," Lyle said proudly.

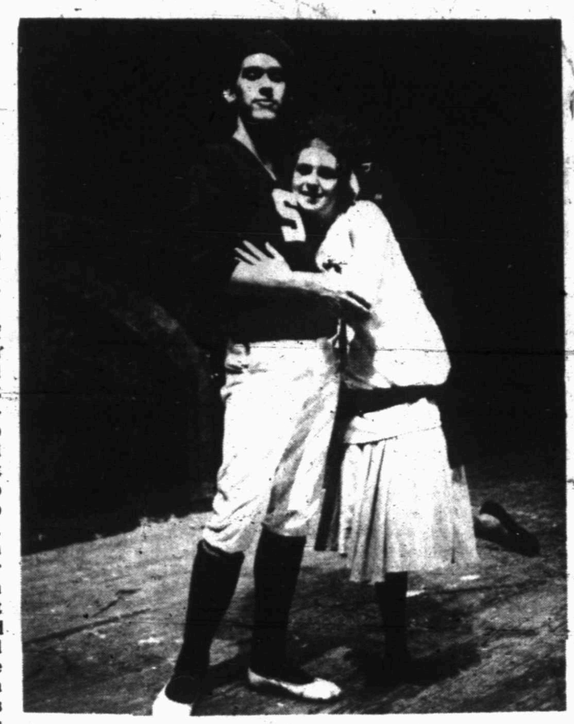
Another very impressive thing Lyle recalled was watching the older Scouts from all over the council handle the operation of camp at the Scout Ranch. Teaching responsibility, "thats what it's all about," said the Scouter.

Lyle has a concept of the Scouting program which few reach in their years of service to youth. To Lyle, to "see a kid grow morally and spiritually and really get to be a man" sums up the Scouting program pretty well. Scouting builds tomorrows leaders who are morally and spiritually fit to lead our great country.

Fifty years of service to any organization is quite an accomplishment, yet for a man to give 50 years of his life to an organization which pays no money to its volunteer workers, and it actually costs them to belong, is rare. But for Lyle Deffebach, the pay is great; seeing young men, and now women, grow into productive adults with a purpose in life to help mankind, serve mankind, and to serve God in a way which is beneficial to everyone.



EARNS HONORS—Lyle Deffebach, long-time Snyder Scouter, looks over the letter of appreciation and congratulations presented him by Alden Barber, Chief Scout Executive, and Arch Monson Jr, President of the National Council, Boy Scouts of America, for his 50 years of dedicated service to youth through Scouting. He also was presented a rare 50-year service pin. The presentation took place at the Buffalo Trail Council's annual recognition banquet in Odessa.



GREG KANE AND SUSAN SEARS

Kane, Sears Lead Dancers In Play

Greg Kane and Susan Sears lead off a troupe of 14 dancers who appear in the SHS Musical, "No No Nanette" which opened last night on the High School stage. Kane is a senior and President of the National Honor Society, as well as a National Merit Scholar. He has appeared in numerous dramatic productions at SHS. His college plans are to study engineering at Rice University. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Art Kane of 2708 Twenty-eighth Street.

Miss Sears, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Sears, of 3818 Highland Drive, has played a number of prominent roles during her high school years. She was named to all-star casts at all levels of competition in last years one-act-play contests for her portrayal of Ariel in the TEMPEST. Her college choice is Texas Tech and she is a member of Colonial Hills Baptist Church.

Choreography for the show was done by Roy McCormack and Elaine Lambert of Lambert Studios. McCormack recently returned from New York City where he has been studying with American Ballet Theatre.

Final performance of "No No Nanette" will be tommorrow night at 7:30 p.m.

What Happens After Quitting?

By ROBIN FRAMES and MARK FUERST
(Seventh of 10 Parts)

What happens now that I've quit? Will I get painful withdrawal symptoms, and if so, are they dangerous and how long will they last? Will I always crave cigarettes? What if I fail and go back to smoking?

These are some of the more common questions that crop up at quit-smoking clinics as smokers go on the wagon.

Giving up cigarettes affects different people in different ways, but essentially the "withdrawal" is much closer to the discomfort of dieting than to the agony of breaking drug addiction.

The cigarette smoker stands a better chance of staying off nicotine than does the heroin addict who has kicked the habit, says Julius Fast, author of "How to Stop Smoking and Lose Weight." But in both cases the withdrawal symptoms are real.

The crucial period without smoking is the first 48 hours. After that, the chances of returning to your old habit decrease with each day. Symptoms – if you have them – could include headaches, increased tension, shortness of breath or tightness in the chest. But none of these is dangerous and all should disappear within a week. You should soon feel much better than you have in years.

After two or three weeks, you may still want a cigarette, but the craving will be gone. Because cigarettes will continue to be rather attractive, keep them out of reach.

You may become so impressed with your initial progress that you feel it's safe to take a cigarette now and then. Don't. For most people it's an almost certain way to slide back into the habit.

"You can't take just one cigarette or you'll be back to 20 in no time," says June Walzer, director of the American Cancer Society's New York cigarette withdrawal clinics. "Cigarettes help people cope with life – they think. They must be able to prove to themselves that they can stop."

What if you do return to regular smoking? Don't consider yourself a failure. You aren't alone. Just repeat the process that worked for you once, evaluating the reasons for smoking and quitting and using the kinds of quitting aids that suit you best. It will work again, and each time is easier than the last.

Once you have quit, you will discover there are a lot of benefits going for you that will make it easier to live your new life as a nonsmoker:

1. No early morning cough.
2. Less tension.
3. Fewer colds and sore throats.
4. More active sex life.
5. Sounder sleeping.
6. Improved senses of smell and taste.
7. Greater endurance for all activities and sports.
8. Money saved every day.
9. Over-all feeling of well-being.

You will have all these immediate benefits, plus important long-term advantages: reduced risk of heart attack lung cancer and other serious diseases, and a generally longer life.

CELEBRITIES ON THE COUCH

By Dick Maurice

At the tender age of five, he was peddling a neighborhood gossip sheet. By the time he reached high school, he was voted by his classmates as "The most likely to sell the Brooklyn bridge." Dick Clark is his name and his syndicated rock program, "American Bandstand" has been television's longest running show. Besides his duties on "American Bandstand", he hosts the hit game show, "$20,000 Pyramid".

MAURICE: What was Dick Clark doing before "American Bandstand?"

CLARK: Do you know, I was once a newscaster. My greatest ambition was to do news in a conversational way. This was back in the early 50's. I worked in Utica and I was a big hit there.

MAURICE: Is it not a fact that at one time your telephone was tapped?

CLARK: That's true. Around 1959 I was heavily involved in the music business. As a matter of fact they tried to make me out as the "Baby Face Nelson" of the music business. And it was the first time I had ever gotten into the hairy end of politics and the world of government. Mind you how naive we were in the 50's. It would never occur to me that anyone would tap my phone nor much less break into my house. And both of those were done to the best of my knowledge.

MAURICE: What were they looking for?

CLARK: They were trying to find out if I took money. In those days it was not illegal to take money to play records. That I never did. I gave money. See, what they didn't realize was that I was an entrepreneaur. I ran my own record companies. Here I was only 28 years old making close to a million dollars a year. They thought the only way you could make that kind of money was illegally.

MAURICE: What are some of the advantages of being a celebrity?

CLARK: I can't think of any right off hand. No, seriously. Recognition is probably on the top of the list. Two years ago the three best known male television personalities were, in this order, Johnny Carson, Jerry Lewis and Dick Clark.

MAURICE: How has your success effected your youngsters?

CLARK: I think probably because of the nature of my business we are closer because I have always dealt in the kid business. So we've always had a very open communication. I've had two unsuccessful marriages but I've had great kids and great ladies that I've been married to. I make jokes about it but I firmly believe in marriage.

MAURICE: Do you have to be a hustler to be in television?

CLARK: Some say I'm the world's greatest commercial prostitute. Anybody in television is a hustler—that's the cost of doing business. You can criticize it if you want to, but I guess that's one of the reasons we continue to do business.

MAURICE: Are your friends basically show people?

CLARK: Most of my friends today are not in the entertainment business. My friends are my next door neighbors—regular, ordinary people—people who aren't insane. People in our business are a little out of it.

MAURICE: Do you think you are a little out of it?

CLARK: Sure! Anybody who would do this for a living has got to be a little odd. On the other hand, I can't think of anything I would rather do.

MAURICE: If it hadn't worked out for you, what do you think you would have done?

CLARK: Probably what I'm doing now. That is 90 per cent of my time is spent producing television shows.

MAURICE: You look great for a man who has kept your pace for so long.

CLARK: I'm 46 but I don't think it matters how old you are chronologically but rather how old you think you are, and I'm young at heart.

PRESIDENCY MAIN ATTRACTION

Monday Is Deadline To File For Texas Primaries

An AP News Analysis
By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Most Texas voters will have at least six different ways of expressing themselves about the next U.S. President in the May 1 primaries.

Last minute filings for delegates to national political party conventions before the 6 p.m. Monday deadline indicate that supporters of Lloyd Bentsen, George Wallace and Jimmy Carter will be on the ballots in most, if not all, polling places for the Democratic primary.

In selected areas, there will be candidates supporting Sargent Shriver and Fred Harris.

And still another Democratic choice in at least 20 state senatorial districts will be candidates who say they want to go to the national Democratic convention "uncommitted."

In all Republican polling places the voters will have the choice between delegates supporting President Gerald Ford and Ronald Reagan.

For the first time since state primaries began in 1907, the main attraction in Texas primaries will be presidential politics instead of the governor's race.

Voters changed the constitution in 1974 to provide for four-year, instead of two-year, terms for Texas governors. Gov. Dolph Briscoe began the first four-year term in January 1975.

Only five statewide races will be on the May 1 primary ballots, and in two of them there will be only one candidate.

In the U.S. Senate race, Bentsen, 55, is also running for re-election on the Democratic ballot against Phil Gramm, 33, College Station, a Texas A&M University economist on leave.

The Republicans have an unusual primary contest between U.S. Rep. Alan Steelman, 33, Dallas, and Louis Leman, 35, Crosby oil executive, for the U.S. Senatorial nomination.

The hottest statewide race apparently will be for the Railroad Commission seat vacated by retiring Ben Ramsey, a Democrat. Fellow Democrats seeking the position are Rep. Lane Denton, 36, Waco; Rep. Jon Newton, 35, Beeville; Houston attorney Terence O'Rouke, 28, and Rep. David Finney, 42, Fort Worth.

Republican Walter Wendlandt, 46, former commission executive who switched from Democrat to Republican after announcing, is another candidate.

Chief Justice Charles W. Barrow, 54, of the San Antonio Court of Civil Appeals is seeking the Texas Supreme Court, Place 2, seat of retiring Associate Justice Ross Doughty. Also seeking the Democratic nomination is Donald B. Yarborough, 35, Houston attorney.

Associated Justice Jack Pope is seeking re-election to Place 1 and Associated Justice James Denton wants re-election to Place 3 on the Supreme Court.

The one-time presidential primary bill was passed by the 1975 Legislature with the urging of Bentsen supporters and after considerable controversy. Under its provisions, recently approved by the Federal Voting Rights Act, Democrats will elect 75 per cent of their national convention delegates, or a total of 98, by a winner-take-all popular vote in the 31 state senatorial districts. The other 25 per cent, or 32, will be picked at the state convention. The Republicans will elect 96 of their 100-member national convention delegation by popular vote.

Bentsen and Wallace have claimed for several months they would present a slate of delegates in each senatorial district. Both sides have said repeatedly this would be the big test in Texas for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Bentsen has said several times that if he cannot get a majority of the delegates from Texas he might as well get out of the presidential race.

Carter jumped into the Texas primary picture as a result of his good showings in Iowa and Mississippi political caucuses and Bentsen's unexpected poor showing in Mississippi. Carter told a news conference Friday that he thinks he and Wallace will be the leading contenders in the Texas primary, particularly if Bentsen falters in the Oklahoma caucuses Feb. 7.

A Bentsen source said if Bentsen finishes behind Carter and Harris in Oklahoma, the Texan might have to drop out of the race.

Bentsen, Carter and Harris all have extensive campaign travels set the next week in Oklahoma.

Carter told a news conference that it was definite he would have a delegate slate on the ballot in at least 24 senatorial districts and hopefully in all 31.

Harris said he has five definite district slates authorized and expects to get five more.

Shriver reportedly plans to field delegates in eight senatorial districts.

In the Republican primary, both Ford and Reagan promise their delegates will be on the ballot in every congressional district holding a GOP primary.

However, State GOP chairman Ray Hutchison, Dallas, said earlier in the week that the GOP party had no county chairman or county party organizations to hold primary elections in 80 counties.

Election Law At A Glance

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here at a glance are the new ground rules for the 1976 presidential and congressional campaigns, based on Friday's Supreme Court ruling:

SPENDING: Senate and House candidates may spend unlimited amounts in their primary or general election campaigns.

Presidential candidates may also qualify for unlimited spending, but only if they do without federal subsidies.

Individuals and political groups may spend unlimited sums for independent expressions of political support for candidates, although direct donations of money remain subject to limits.

DONATIONS: Individuals may give only up to $1,000 in direct donations to a candidate's primary campaign, and another $1,000 to the general election campaign. Individuals can't give more than $25,000 a year in direct political donations to federal candidates.

Qualified political committees, such as those run by labor unions, special interest groups and business and professional organizations, may give up to $5,000 per candidate per election.

ENFORCEMENT: The Federal Election Commission may operate only for another 30 days with its present powers. Unless Congress changes it to allow the President to appoint all six voting members, it will lose the power to sue candidates accused of violations, to disqualify candidates who fail to file reports, or to make binding regulations. It would retain only the powers to investigate and to publish information.

DISCLOSURE: Candidates and political committees must disclose publicly any expenditures over $10 and any receipts of $100 or more. Any individual or association must also make a public disclosure when spending more than $100 a year independently to urge election or defeat of a federal candidate.

PUBLIC FINANCING: Public subsidies will continue for presidential campaigns and for the Republican and Democratic political conventions.

Tradition Threatened In 12th Winter Games

By GEOFFREY MILLER
AP Sports Writer

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP) — A pair of teen-agers—a new Swedish heart throb and an Austrian daredevil—threaten to turn tradition upside down as the controversial Winter Olympics resume their fight for survival Wednesday on the slopes of the Tyrolian Alps.

The United States' contingent if 115 athletes, meanwhile, is pinning its slim hopes for gold medals in this 12th quadrennial festival of winter sport on four women—speed skaters Sheila Young and Leah Poulus, downhill skier Cindy Nelson and figure skater Dorothy Hamill. Miss Young, 25, of Detroit, has the best chance, being the only American to carry a favorite's role.

Once again, two Communist bloc countries—the Soviet Union and East Germany—are expected to finish one-two in the medal race in these Games staged amid a series of concerns: the fear of terrorist attack, the spectre of commercialism and professionalism and the charges of politically based judging in the sport of figure skating.

But these Games are also simple—Innsbruck has spent $148 million to put on low-key competition, and the Austrians appear ready to pull it off well.

The facilities are ready, a thick layer of snow covers the key ski trails and about 1,400 athletes carrying the hopes of 36 nations will march on Wednesday through a ski stadium as the Olympic flame is lit.

The two youngsters who could steal the show are Ingemar Stenmark, a 19-year-old freckled blond Swedish slalom skier who leads the World Cup Alpine standings, and Toni Innauer, a 17-year-old Austrian who could excite the world with his daring ski jumps.

Stenmark is the new idol of every fraulein in this ski-crazy country. No Scandinavian has ever won a gold medal in Olympic skiing. But Stenmark is rated a strong bet to win both the slalom and the giant slalom, upsetting the traditional favorites from Austria, Switzerland and Italy.

Innauer leads a strong contingent of Austrian jumpers, and tens of thousands of his countrymen will be on the slopes screaming for their young sensation.

The 12 days of competition which begin Wednesday could be vital in the history of the Winter Games. The International Olympic Committee—IOC—will be watching to see if the Games have finally cleared their reputation of suspected commercialism.

Opponents of the Winter Olympics have campaigned for years to get them abolished, claiming skiers made money from the sport and were not genuine Olympic competitors.

Four years ago, the late Avery Brundage, then president of the IOC and the most outspoken opponent of the Winter Olympics, said he hoped the Games would be given "a decent burial" when they were held in Denver.

Then they suffered another blow. Denver pulled out. Some members of the IOC voted to kill off the Games when that happened. But they decided to hold them in Innsbruck, the successful host city of 1964.

Now the IOC has adopted a new eligibility rule, under which skiers may accept payments for time spent in training and have prize money held in trust for them. Some members of the IOC are still suspicious about the way things will turn out.

Meanwhile, Innsbruck has other worries.

A tight security screen—manned by more than 2,000 helmeted, machine-gun carrying police and backed by 2,500 Austrian soldiers—has been thrown around every competition site, the Olympic Village and the hotel where the IOC is meeting.

This was inevitable after the Arab terrorist attack at the Munich Summer Games in 1972, when 11 Israelis died. But tension in Austria peaked after terrorists kidnaped and held captive oil ministers at a conference of oil producing countries in Vienna six weeks ago.

Any violence here could mean the end for the beleaguered Summer Games in Montreal. Meanwhile, this is how the competitive picture looks for these Games:

Speed Skating

Two of America's three gold medals from the 1972 Winter Games were in this sport. And if the United States is to match its Sapporo performance, the strength will have to be in this sport again.

Miss Young carries a co-favorite role in the 500-and 1,000-meter events. She will have to defeat Tatjana Averina of the Soviet Union, owner of the world record at 500, 1,000 and 1,500 meters.

Miss Poulus, 24, of Northbrook, Ill., defeated Miss Young a week ago in a 1,000-meter event in Italy and posted a time that makes her a medal threat.

On the men's side, Ard Schenk, sensational triple gold medalist at Sapporo, has retired. It is now up to Sten Stensen, a lieutenant in the Norwegian Army, to challenge the strength of Russia and East Germany in the men's races.

The Soviet Union's Evgeni Koelikof, world record holder for the 500 meters, is rated one of the best gold medal bets of the Games. Two Americans, Peter Mueller, 21, of Madison, Wis., and Dan Carroll, 26, of St. Louis, have medal chances in the sprint races.

Figure Skating

Diane de Leeuw, who lives in Los Angeles but competes for the Dutch, recently added the European championship to her world title and is the No. 1 hope for the West against accomplished skaters from the East, particularly Christine Errath of East Germany.

Miss Hamill, 19, of Riverside, Conn., is ranked No. 2 in the world and stands a chance at the gold medal if she does well in the compulsory events.

John Curry of Great Britain is favored on the men's side, with Terry Kubicka, 19, of Long Beach, Calif., the best U.S. hope, but probably out of the medals race.

The Soviets are heavily favored in the pairs and in ice dancing. But the American dance team of Colleen O'Connor, 24, of Chicago, and Jim Millns, 26, of Toledo, Ohio, is given a shot at the silver.

WTC, Amarillo Face Showdown

The Western Texas College Westerners held a slender lead in the Western Junior College Athletic Conference basketball race at the end of the week, and the stage apparently is being set for a showdown here Thursday night between WTC and Amarillo College.

The Westerners own an 8-2 conference record, while Amarillo is half a step behind at 7-2. Amarillo hosts Frank Phillips and WTC goes to New Mexico JC for Monday games. If both win, Amarillo could be battling for a tie here Thursday. If WTC loses and Amarillo wins Monday, the visitors would be half a game ahead when they arrive.

Meanwhile, New Mexico Military Institute, at 7-3, is very much in the picture. NMMI visits Odessa on Monday and hosts Clarendon on Thursday.

Regional notes: McLennan is now 19-1 for the year, having won its last 15 in a row after losing to San Jacinto. MCC and Grayson are 6-0 and play for the Northern Conference lead Monday night. They are the only two teams with conference records better than .500. Grayson strengthened by mid-term additions. I've heard two proposals for regional tourney, (1) top four teams from both conferences; (2) Top three from each conf. plus two wild cards. appreciate help on this and when teams will be picked since tourney is in Abilene. Audie Apple says Joe Holmes quit after the Clarendon game. SPC's Shoemaker is hurt.

MEET JOE SENTELL

Is Joe Sentell a student of Washington, our first president? That's an interesting question, by George. He figures Washington may have tossed a dollar across the Rappahannock (or was it the Potomac?), but he would like to see someone make a buck go that far these days.

Which brings to mind: How are your insurance costs these days? Are you first in protection and first in savings, too? Why not talk it over with Joe Sentell. He's the chap who provides top coverage for the lowest possible premiums. Get together with Joe Sentell soon. We can't tell a lie; he'll be looking for you at 2615 College, 573-3742.

Things Really Did Turn Sour

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP) — "We knew it was going to be bad," lamented coach Kirby Bruchhaus after his South Cameron Tarpons were devastated by Boston 198-34 in a high school basketball game.

"Every time they'd take a shot those big boys would just tip it in," said Bruchhaus, whose tallest player stands 5-10.

Coffey Is Favorite

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP) — Billy Bob Coffey, despite recent claims of a "balky putter," once again figures as the man to beat when the 24th annual Life Begins At 40 Golf Tournament opens here Monday at the Harlingen Country Club.

Coffey, the 1939 Texas Open Champion and two-time winner of the Texas Amateur over 30 years ago, rode a sterling short game to a 4-and-2 victory over Dr. John Kennedy here in last year's finals of the 32-man championship flight. It was the second straight LBA 40 championship after 17 frustrating attempts for the 59-year-old Fort Worth native.

Curtis Person of Memphis, Tenn., five times named by Golf Digest Magazine as the country's No. 1 ranking senior amateur, and Dallas entry Maurice Wilson once again figure as leading challengers to snap coffey's winning string.

Person, 65, is the only player claiming four LBA 40 championships while Wilson has three wins in this long running senior amateur tournament.

Kennedy, who has lost in the finals here three years, and Jacksboro rancher Henry Richards, king of LAB 40 runners up with four second place finishes, could once again make a serious run for the championship along with the 1972 winner Jim Cason of Harlingen.

Jack Williams of Plainview, Tex., who advanced to the semifinals in his first appearance here last year, and Houston entry John Townsend, who lost in the 1968 finals to Person, also figure to challenge for the title.

Acclaimed as one of America's most popular fun tournaments, the LBA 40 week actually opens Sunday with the annual 18-hole Florida Scotch, an event which gives the wives of the competitors a chance to join in the golf action. A mixed field of more than 300 will participate in this event.

The golf takes the center stage each day, but there are parties each night of the tournament and sightseeing trips to Mexico for the wives.

Snyder's Title Hopes Are Jolted By Estacado

LUBBOCK—Snyder High School's basketball team saw its title hopes get a severe jolt here Friday night as the Lubbock Estacado Matadors tied the game and then went on to capture a 74-66 victory in double overtime.

Ronnie Phenix, the Matadors' elongated senior scoring star, who poured 26 points through the hoop, saved Estacado in the first overtime by cashing in on two free shots after time had run out to keep the score knotted.

Snyder had tried desperately to break a 56-56 tie near the end of regulation play. The Tigers stalled off some 25 seconds on the clock, working for a last-second basket, but could not get a clear shot.

Then, in the first overtime period, the Bengals had a two-point advantage at 62-60, when the Matadors stole the ball and got it to Phenix with only a tick or two left on the clock. Snyder fans thought the buzzer sounded before the 6-6 Matador got his shot off, but he was fouled as he attempted to lay it up for the tying points. His first free shot finally dropped through the net after some hesitation that kept fans on their feet, and then the second shot went through the hoop perfectly to send the game into a second extra period.

The Matadors then proceeded to score quickly and built a commanding lead in the second overtime.

Snyder led, 18-12, after one quarter, but Estacado cut it to 25-24 by half-time and then outscored the Tigers, 19-13 in the third period.

The loss evened Snyder's second half record in district play and put their season mark at 16-8. Estacado is 2-0 in second half play and in an excellent position to challenge Dunbar for second half honors in district play.

Chester Cobb led Snyder in scoring with 24 points, while Tony Cobb had 16 and Randy Gressett had 11.

The Snyder Junior Varsity ran its record to 20-2 with a 69-48 victory over the Estacado JV in the preliminary game. Kirk Johnson scored 22 points for Snyder JV., while Michael Sims had 20 points to pace Estacado JV.

Ags, Bears, Horns Due To Lead Year's Harvest

By The Associated Press

Southwest Conference schools harvest the state's talented schoolboy football crop Tuesday and early indications point to Texas A&M, Baylor, and Texas as the Big Three with the prospects.

Texas A&M, despite a recent marijuana raid which involved several of the school's sports stars, has received promises from some of the bluest of the state's blue chip players.

Running back Curtis Dickey of Bryan, a schoolboy All-American and almost a surefire starter as a freshman, heads the impressive list.

Other top schoolboy starts expected to sign with Texas A&M include linemen Paul Hagerty of Corpus Christi Zach Guthrie of Tyler John Tyler, and linebackers Frank Lemons of Pampa and Dick Frazee of Houston Westchester. Wide receiver Johnny Johnson of LaGrange also was expected to tab the Aggies.

Baylor has received commitments from such stars as quarterback Sammy Bickham of Plano, another schoolboy All-America, tackle Mark Moore of Fort Worth Eastern Hills, and James Rowell, an all-state defensive lineman from Angleton.

Texas has been given the OK from running back Johnny Jones of Lampasas, and highly rated quarterback Jon Aune of Dallas Hillcrest.

Each SWC school has 30 scholarships available except for SMU which can offer only 29 because of an NCAA edict which said the Mustangs gave 31 last year. New Coach Ron Meyer, off to a late start, has been blitzing the state spreading the Methodist gospel of wide open football.

Texas Christian has signed one of the top running backs out of the California junior college ranks in Tony Accomando, who rushed for 1,200 yards last year at Orange Coast Junior College, the nation's No. 1 ranked JC school.

Oklahoma's presence was expected to be as severe as in recent years in the state.

One Oklahoma recruiter said "This could be the worst year we've had in Texas in the last five seasons."

Arkansas was expected to make something of a dent in the state. The Razorbacks have received an oral commitment from defensive end Marty Mitchum, a highly rated All-District prospect from Richardson Pearce.

Once signing day is over the SWC then must protect their prospects through the Feb. 18 national letter date.

No-Cut-Rate Tickets Left

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Legislators and representatives of news media will be denied cut-rate tickets to University of Wisconsin football games under action taken Friday by the UW Athletic Board.

With one dissenting vote, the board approved a recommendation from its ticket policy committee to discontinue the practice of offering $4 tickets to politicians and press members.

"It is a response to the tightened sensitivity for ethical conduct," Board Chairman Frederick Haberman said. "Watergate has made us all aware of the need to examine anything that smacks of favoritism."

However, lawmakers and sports writers would be treated as past ticket buyers, making them eligible to purchase seats at the regular $7 price on a priority basis.

Lake View Takes 79-22 Decision

Lake View's Maidens took a firmer grip on first place in District 3-3A girls basketball here Friday night when they raced to a 79-22 victory over Snyder High.

The Lake View team took a 20-2 lead in the first period and then, after Snyder had battled them on even terms in the second quarter, they extended their advantage rapidly. They wound up scoring 29 points in the fourth quarter of a game that obviously had been wrapped up much earlier.

Loann Phillips, the Maidens' shooting star, hit for 27 points on 11 field goals and five free shots, with 12 of her points coming in the fourth period.

Cathy Minton hit five field goals and four free throws for 14 points to lead the Snyder girls.

Lake View also won the junior varsity game, 81-33. Munoz scored 22 points to lead the Lake View JV, while Debra Newman scored 16 to pace the Snyder scorers.

Snyder High's girls teams go to Roscoe Tuesday evening for non-conference games. A junior varsity game will tip off at 6 p.m. and will be followed by a varsity tilt.
