Cavalrymen Threatened By Red Trap

By THOMAS A. REEDY

SAIGON (AP) — Two hundred U.S. cavalrymen battled against entrapment by a strong Communist force tonight in the central highlands 12 miles southwest of Pleiku. American artillery hammered at the Red lines.

Several troop-carrying helicopters were shot down. One was a heavy-duty Chinook that exploded over the cavalrymen's landing zone in a clearing of the Chu Phong Mountain range, complicating further helicopter landings.

"We're taking a lot of Spook fire," a lieutenant reported by radio to his headquarters in Pleiku, 240 miles north of Saigon. This probably meant the enemy was shooting at the cavalrymen from all directions.

AP photographer Rick Merron reported in a dispatch from Pleiku that the fight started at noon when a detachment of about 50 men from the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Divison ran into heavy enemy fire. A 150-man company flew in to help.

A North Vietnamese soldier was captured and he told the Americans there were 1,000 well-armed Viet Cong in the sector.

Elsewhere U.S. planes destroyed at least 150 Communist buildings, set off 14 big explosions and killed 35 or more Viet Cong in 24 hours of intensive bombardment in South Viet Nam a U.S. spokesman announced.

Four planes were lost, three to enemy fire.

Although poor weather continued to hamper air activity against North Viet Nam, Navy carrier planes claimed five junks and three sampans destroyed on strafing missions against waterways in the North.

A big Air Force C130 transport also peppered the North — with 10 million propaganda leaflets dropped just over the 17th Parallel frontier. They warned North Vietnamese troops reported massed there that they face destruction if they cross the border.

There have been reports of heavy troop concentrations in that part of the North Vietnamese panhandle, which has been a target for heavy American air attacks since the resumption of the raids two months ago.

Terrorists set off a bomb at a U.S. military billet in Saigon this morning, but inflicted little more than scratches on four or five Americans. The blast, which tore a 20-foot section out of the concrete and brick wall surrounding the downtown villa, came on the anniversary of the explosion at the U.S. Embassy a year ago. Two Americans and 20 Vietnamese were killed in the embassy bombing and 175 persons were wounded.

Different trouble faced a small U.S. Marine billet in Da Nang, scene of recent political unrest following the dismissal of the area's Vietnamese army commander.

Two thousand Vietnamese jeered and shouted anti-American slogans at the 35 or so Marines after a collision between a Marine truck and a civilian bus. A demonstrator charged the Marines beat him with their rifles in an argument following the crash, but some witnesses denied this.

The demonstrators said they would cable President Johnson demanding an apology within 48 hours. They threatened "we will do something" if the President does not comply.

Land-Buying At Dam Site Continues

Still aiming at a mid-year start on construction of a dam above Robert Lee, the Colorado River Municipal Water District is pushing ahead on land purchases.

Recent agreements have brought to 3,130 acres of land the CRMWD has acquired from 14 land owners. Most of the acreage is in the dam site. Also included in the agreements is a total of 750 acres of minerals where for one reason or another is was advisable to obtain them. Thus far, purchases have held within values fixed by appraisers, said O. H. Ivie, CRMWD manager.

He added that negotiations are underway concerning approximately 4,000 acres. The entire project will embrace around 16,500 acres for the dam and the lake basin.

While steadily seeking to get as many land agreements as possible, the district is continuing talks with the City of Midland relative to a water sales contract. Ivie said that prospects of an agreement here appeared favorable.

Plans are being shaped for advertising for sale of revenue bonds. The amount will depend on whether Midland contracts for water. Engineers are confident of a July letting on construction.

Hint Of Tax Increase Stirs Political Uproar

Early Hike Is Indicated

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's broad indication that he may ask an early tax increase to combat threatened inflation touched off a political uproar in Congress today.

Johnson told a group of young interns finishing a year's government service Tuesday that if prices continue to rise he faces three choices: government controls, a $5-billion-to $10-billion cut in federal spending or a tax hike of roughly $5 billion.

He added no one likes controls. He said he doesn't believe spending can be reduced without damaging "necessary or popular programs that Congress wouldn't go along with." He said agencies will report to the Budget Bureau next month on possible economies.

If such reductions are not enough and "if prices are still going up, we will have to have a tax bill," he said. A decision may be reached next month, he told the interns.

This brought an assertion from Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen that Johnson is in for "a tug-of-war, a test of strength" with Republicans and conservative Democrats who will fight to cut spending rather than increase taxes.

"This is going to stimulate an economy hunt such as we haven't seen in years," Dirksen said in an interview. "Every buck we can save will mean a buck less in taxes and believe me we're going to hunt for those savings."

Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin, top Republican on the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, said he is not going to support any tax increase "as long as the administration continues to press for expenditures that certainly can be deferred."

Rep. Hale Boggs of Louisiana, assistant House Democratic leader, said he thinks because of the pressure of Viet Nam war expenditures on the economy, taxes may have to go up.

"We might have to increase taxes," he said. "Now the President is saying it and I agree with what he's saying. I hope we don't have to do it."

In the same frame of mind, Rep. George H. Mahon, D-Tex., chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, said he had hoped a tax increase could be deferred.

In an obvious reference to possible budget cuts, he added: "Let's be sure and see which way the wind is blowing."

Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., a Senate Finance Committee member, also was in a wait-and-see mood.

"I want to see specifically what the President recommends and study the alternatives," Ribicoff said.

Draft-Dodge Ring Broken

NEW YORK (AP) — In a swift daybreak roundup centered in the New York metropolitan area, FBI agents arrested more than 30 men today and charged them with participating in a draft - dodging scheme.

More arrests were expected.

A federal official here said the participants paid up to $5,000 for phony statements of an individual's military status which were forwarded to local draft boards. He said the scheme had taken in up to $80,000 since 1963.

The FBI agents quickly picked up 33 persons — including nine fathers and eight of their sons — and were looking for several more.

Senate Oks Bill On Tire Safety

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate approved 79-0 Tuesday and sent to the House a bill authorizing the secretary of commerce to establish tire safety and grading standards.

Commerce Secretary John T. Connor, meanwhile, urged a Senate public works subcommittee to enact legislation that would provide for closer checks on cars and drivers and for better road construction.

A third highway safety bill received a Senate hearing. The Commerce Committee heard Howard Pyle, president of the National Safety Council, oppose an effort to impose compulsory federal safety design standards on auto makers.

The Senate-approved measure directs Connor to establish minimum safe performance standards for new passenger car tires by Jan. 31, 1967, on the basis of existing private and public standards.

In addition the bill provides for a two-year program of testing and research. At the end of that time, Connor is to issue revised standards for both new tires and retreads. The standards are to include maximum permissible loads for each size of tire.

Blaze Damages Famed Brown Derby

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A fire late Tuesday night caused extensive damage to the famous Brown Derby Restaurant, one-time gathering place for movie stars.

The fire broke out in the coffee shop in a grease trap above a stove, the fire department said. Firemen had the blaze under control shortly before midnight.

The main dining area was not damaged, firemen said.

AT MIDLAND

Court Test Due For Precincts

AUSTIN (AP) The Texas Supreme court agreed today to hear arguments in Midland Mayor Hank Avery's case to force reapportionment of Midland County commissioner's precincts along population lines.

The high court's decision brought the "one man, one vote" issue down to the precinct level and was the first known instance where the court has accepted such a case.

The court granted review of an El Paso Court of Civil Appeals ruling that the commissioners were not compelled by the state and national constitutions to create precincts of substantially equal population.

Avery brought the suit in 1962, contending that 97 per cent of Midland County's population was in commissioner precinct No. 1, which embraced nearly all of the City of Midland.

The commissioners reapportioned in August, 1963, but Avery, and the Midland district court said that redistricting was insignificant. The district court said it still left 95 per cent of the county's people in precinct No. 1.

The Supreme Court set a May 4 hearing of the case.

The district court ordered the commissioners to establish new precincts of substantially equal population under a section of the Texas Constitution providing that commissioners precincts must be "for the convenience of the people."

In reversing the district court decision, the El Paso Court of Civil Appeals said the lower court ruling that precincts must have equal population "exceeds the admonition in the Texas Constitution . . . ."

The appeals court upheld the county's 1963 commissioner precinct reapportionment.

The Supreme Court granted its writ of error on all six contentions made by Avery and his attorneys. These included arguments that both the state constitution and the 14th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution are involved. The peition also argued that the court of civil appeals erred in holding that the district court lacked author ity to enter its order and that the 1963 county redistricting was for the convenience of the people.

The high court's eventual ruling in the case will have major significance over the state. Commissioners courts make major decisions including local road maintenance, operations of sheriffs' departments, salaries for district attorneys and other county officials and other matters.

Citizens of a number of counties have complained that precincts are inequitably drawn, giving residents of some parts of a county a greater voice in county decisions than others.

More Grain Is Offered To India

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson offered India today an extra 3.5 million tons of grain to help head off hunger for a friendly people.

His offer came as Mrs. Indira Gandhi, prime minister of India, took off for New York ending two days of talks with the President and other top U.S. officials.

In those talks, Johnson had given her strong assurances of U.S. help in meeting India's food emergency and long-range needs for economic development.

In addition to the grain, the President also proposed allotting 150 million pounds of vegetable oils, up to 125 million pounds of milk powder, 325,000 to 700,000 bales of cotton, and 2 million to 4 million pounds of tobacco.

In a special message to Congress, Johnson asked for endorsement of this action and "the strong and warmhearted and generous support of this program by the American people."

"India is a good and deserving friend," he said.

The extra 3.5 million tons of grain he offered India would be bread grains, mainly wheat. He invited other nations to match that amount and voiced delight that Canada was prepared to provide a million tons of wheat and flour.

India, the President said, estimates 6 to 7 million tons of food grain will be necessary through next December beyond amounts already committed or expected.

Mrs. Gandhi, before leaving for New York and Home, said the talks with Johnson brought closer understanding and renewed friendship.

Mrs. Gandhi and her official party used a presidential jet plane for the flight to New York.

Kidnaper Silent As Leads Fizzle

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Friends have started a drive to raise a reward for the return of a teenager whose kidnaper has remained ominously silent.

Police chased down dozens of leads, poured over boxes of photographs and even made two fruitless flying raids in their search for 18-year-old Daniel Goldman.

But apparently they were no closer to a solution than they were Monday morning when a heavy-set middle-aged man in a baseball cap forced him to leave his home at gunpoint.

Friends in the tiny, exclusive community of Surfside on Miami Beach formed a committee to raise $50,000 for information leading to Daniel's safe return. Police approved the idea. They said a reward often produces vital information in major cases.

A prayer service on behalf of the quiet, studious high school senior was set at Temple Raphael, which was built by Daniel's father, Aaron, a wealthy contractor who is also a principal in at least six firms.

One police officer suggested that business dealings might be a factor in the kidnaping. Sgt. Warren Dalrymple said the kidnaper told the father, "You don't remember me, but you cheated me out of some money."

At one point Tuesday, police carried six boxes of what appeared to be business records into the Goldmans' luxurious home which is built around an enclosed swimming pool just off Biscayne Bay.

But police, who were talking very little about the case in hopes of protecting Daniel's life from what they described as an extremely dangerous kidnaper, indicated that this line of investigation had not been productive.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a landlord who turns down the heat every time he leaves the premises and does not turn it up again until he returns? Meanwhile the tenants are freezing, whether its a few hours or the whole day. We understand he goes to church every Sunday.

C. M. W.

DEAR C. M. W.: Going to church won't save him. The man who doesn't love his neighbor as he loves himself can expect to get considerably more heat than he finds comfortable in the hereafter.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: My 15-year-old daughter came to me with tears in her eyes and said, "Mother, I called Suzette and asked her to go to the show with me, and she said she was sorry but her mother said she couldn't be seen with me any more because my mother and daddy are getting a divorce."

I am so hurt and heart-broken I would like to call this woman up and tell her what I think of her. Would you, if you were me?

HURT

DEAR HURT: No. The woman is obivously ignorant. Pity her daughter. I hope she enjoys solitude because if she must limit her friends to those with no divorce in the family, she'll be spending a lot of time alone.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: Shame on that mother who told her daughter she never again wanted to hear her say, "I can't afford it." What is a person supposed to say when he is shown something he can't afford? One of the most refreshing qualities found in our teen-agers today is their forthright candor. The affectation of pretending to have more than they have, and to know more than they know, they acquire from adults.

FOR TEENS

• • •

DEAR ABBY: Hats off to that teen-ager who wasn't ashamed to say, "I can't afford it" when it was suggested she buy something that was beyond her means. I work in a store which carries very expensive merchandise as well as moderately-priced clothes, and you'd be amazed at some of the excuses people make for not buying because they won't admit they can't afford it. ("I don't like the color." "It doesn't fit." "I have one at home exactly like it.") They could save themselves (and me) a lot of time if they took a lesson from that teen-ager who simply said, "I can't afford it."

Raid Breaks Two-State Whisky Ring

HUGO, Okla. (AP) — State and federal officers made eight arrests Tuesday night and claimed they broke up a huge illegal whisky ring near the Texas-Oklahoma border.

Agent Bob Gillespie of the alcoholic tax unit, said one of those arrested was a Choctaw County constable, John H. Davidson. Davidson was arraigned before U.S. Commissioner David A. Stovall on a charge of possessing and selling non-tax paid distilled spirits.

Gillespie said two automobiles and two pickup trucks were confiscated in the raid which climaxed two months of undercover investigation. No other details were disclosed.

Davidson asked for a preliminary hearing which was set for April 30. He was released on a personal recognizance bond.

Others similarly charged were Ann and Leo F. O'Quinn, owners of a night club in Choctaw County; Clarence Thompson, Arthur City, Tex.; Melvin A. Deaton, Ratan, Okla.; Pete Rhodes, Spencerville, Okla. and Carl F. McCleary, Soper, Okla.

Ray Paschall, Grant, Okla., was charged with carrying on a business of retail liquor dealer without paying a special occupational tax. Paschall was jailed in lieu of $1,000 bond.

The others made bonds and were released.

Cotton Planting Deadline Extended

AUSTIN (AP)— Cold, wet weather has forced a 15-day extension of the cotton planting deadline for four Rio Grande Valley counties.

State Agriculture Commissioner John C. White moved the deadline from March 31 to April 15 in Cameron, Willacy and the southern portions of Hidalgo and Starr counties.

White said about 30,000 acres are expected to be planted in the four-county area this year. About 40 per cent of the Hidalgo and Starr county crop is unplanted and about 15 per cent of the crop has not been planted in Cameron and Willacy counties, he said.

Viet Pilot Agrees Time To Retire

By THOMAS A. REEDY

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — They've grounded Capt. Jack Spey, and he agrees it was high time.

The big, blond pilot from Southern Pines, N.C. has flown his last C123 mission in Viet Nam and will return to the United States as an instructor.

"It was time, I guess," the veteran of four years in the war theater said. "I've been under fire just about enough and have seen a lot of buddies hit. That can get to be an emotional problem."

Spey's major task was the defoliation program, with his duties among the most dangerous in the fight against the Viet Cong. To defoliate, he had to bring his twin-engine cargo plane "right in on the deck," at tree-top level and hold it there for about four minutes to unload the chemical that withers the jungle and deprives the insurgents of protective cover.

At that level and flying pretty slowly, the C123s are tempting targets for groundfire even though they are accompanied by fighter cover.

Spey's squadron has collected 17 Purple Hearts, but look at the captain's record: Combat hours in Viet Nam, 1,750; craft hit by Viet Cong fire, 300 times.

Spey's crew has been hit but he never got a bullet.

He and his various copilots always alternated in their jobs. One day he would fly the craft while the copilot worked the engines, a difficult job at low level. Next time he would take the copilot's seat.

"The copilot really has the harder job," he said. "It's real teamwork and both of you must know just what the other one is thinking. You don't make preplanned strategy. It all depends what you run into down there. Then it takes split-second adjusting to the situation and that copilot has to give you the thrust you need for the tactic you've adopted. There's no time for talk, it must be instinctive."

The captain, 27, won the Distinguished Flying Cross last year. His plane was clobbered by groundfire. One engine was shot out.

WON'T HUSH SAUCER TALK

AF Open Minded About UFOs

By BOB HORTON

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force said today it has an open mind about unidentified flying objects — UFO's — and makes no attempt to hush talk about flying saucers.

A spokesman, asked about allegations that the Air Force tries to squelch UFO reports, said:

"In the first place, we'd be utterly foolish to try to keep people from telling about something they've seen with their own eyes. Our job is to explain what is seen — not necessarily to change anybody's mind."

Retired Marine Maj. Donald E. Keyhoe, head of a group called National Investigations Committee on Aerial Phenomena, told newsmen this week the Pentagon has a top-level policy of discounting all UFO reports. He said the Air Force over the years has used ridicule to discredit sightings.

Keyhoe made the assertion while endorsing a suggestion by House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford that a congressional inquiry into the flying saucer matter might be a good idea.

The Air Force has a special public relations office which answers thousands of letters a year from inquisitive persons — among them, school children, corporate officials, housewives, flying saucer club members and foreigners.

Last year it turned out 3,717 replies to letters about UFO's. The count for January and February already has run over 800 requests for information or explanations, and scores are being received in the wake of recent Michigan sightings.

Some replies by the Air Force are practically a form letter which says that the Air Force has no pictures of flying saucers, that it does not censor or keep secret reports about UFO's and that Congress has not yet seen fit to conduct an investigation in the matter.

Other replies give specific explanations to people who report seeing strange lights or mysterious objects.

Virtually all are accompanied by an annual report of Project Blue Book.

This project, started in 1947, has produced explanations for 9,501 of a total 10,147 sightings reported through 1965.

Project Blue Book has been unable to explain the 646 other UFO incidents and of these merely says: "The description of the object or its motion cannot be correlated with any known object or phenomena."

Recovery Team Tries New Device

PALOMARES BEACH, Spain (AP)—The U.S. Navy H-bomb recovery task continued preliminary work today with a new recovery device off the southern coast of Spain.

Some sources ashore said a new attempt to bring up the lost American bomb from more than 2,500 feet down in the Mediterranean might be made Thursday. Others said they expected no major developments before the end of the week.

Mrs. McKanna Hostess For Meeting Of Garden Club

The Snyder Garden Club met Friday at Rock Ledge Farm at Fluvanna, with Mrs. Edith W. McKanna hostess.

Mrs. Frank Miller discussed the care of African violets and presented plants to members, and Mrs. S. L. Terry discussed the three basic methods of propagating chrysanthemums and presented members with plants.

A highlight of the program was a talk by Mrs. McKanna, titled One Woman's Bonsai."

"Bonsai is an art form which has developed and matured over the course of eight centuries," Mrs. McKanna said. "It is the growing of a miniature living tree to great age in a handful of earth in a small, shallow container, telling nature's thrilling story of the struggles waged against the elements.

"In Japan, a Bonsai is often started by a man to be enjoyed by his grandson some 50 years later, grown to be about 15 inches in height. The technique of growing miniature trees in clay or bronze containers crossed the East China Sea in the 13th century. A part of the broad stream of cultural ideas moving from the mainland to the Japanese Islands, the stream brought to Japan the Buddhist religion and the Kanjii characters that compose the Japanese language. Until recent years, however, the art of Bonsai remained a specialist art.

Since World War II, interest in the little trees has swept ahead in Japan, creating great interest in the thousands of Americans stationed there. Now, the ancient art has made its way across the Pacific. Bonsai clubs are numerous and exhibitions are well attended, with many of our cities now boasting Bonsai nurseries.

"The most popular varieties for planting are the Japanese black pine, the juniper, spruce and our flowering trees. Flowering cherry is valued for its shapeliness and colorful blossoms, as is the plum tree, which blooms on New Year's Day in Japan to bring a bright and colorful New Year.

'Among deciduous foliage trees, one has an endless choice in our country. Also, Azaleas and camellias make excellent subjects, as do our mesquite and rock cedars."

Luncheon was served to 16 members and five guests. The guests included Mrs. Roy McKanna of San Antonio, Mrs. P. W. Cloud, Mrs. Josephine Randals, Mrs. Charles Hartman Sr. and Mrs. Charles Hartman Jr.

Johnson Eyes Tax Boost; Poison In An Election Year

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is in a box.

Last January he laid down guidelines for business and labor to prevent inflation. He wanted wage raises limited to 3.2 per cent with no price increases. This was his guideline for both sides.

But prices have gone up. February showed the steepest rise in living costs since the Korean War, with food prices leading the upswing.

Although the rise was only half of 1 per cent it was part of a fairly steady climb, for living costs now are 2.5 per cent above a year ago, the biggest annual increase since 1958.

In the past few days he has telephoned over 25 leaders to ask them to go easy on any spending that might produce inflation. And he invited a number of top businessmen to a White House dinner tonight.

He'll no doubt burn up businessmen who, if they see a chance to make big profits, won't be happy to have Johnson bending their ear about going easy.

Meanwhile, labor is publicly burned up at him for insisting wage increases, when living costs and business profits are going up, must be held to a 3.2 per cent limit.

Labor, which has consistently backed the Democrats, is crucially important to Johnson's party which faces the voters next November in the congressional election, particularly when politician Johnson remembers that the party with a majority in Congress, such as the Democrats have now, traditionally loses seats in an election year when the presidency is not at stake.

No one knows better than Johnson that a tax boost can be poison in an election year.

Slowly and steadily, Johnson has been saying he would propose a tax boost — on individual and corporate income — if he found it necessary to fight inflation.

Tuesday, perhaps, he said it more strongly than ever: "Congress would rather have a modest tax increase of 5, 6 or 7 per cent. . .than to see inflation and the value of the dollar go down."

If there is to be a tax increase, he said, his advisers figure it ought to bring in around $5 billion. And, he warned, if prices continue to go up, he would ask for a tax bill.

But already this year Congress has boosted taxes to bring in about $6 billion over the next 15 months to help finance the Viet Nam war. That was done this month.

It boosted the automobile excise tax, which manufacturers have to pay, and upped the telephone tax. At the same time it provided for tighter pay-as-you-go tax withholdings from individuals and faster tax collections from corporations.

And while Johnson was warning against inflation and the possible need for a tax boost, the House at Johnson's request approved $12 million to provide rent subsidies for poor families — although Johnson had asked more — and $10 million for a Teachers Corps program. Both are part of Johnson's "Great Society" plan.

It was just two years ago that Congress, at Johnson's urging, voted a 19.2-billion tax cut for individuals and corporations extending over 1964 and 1965.

It came out at about an average 19 per cent reduction for individuals and 9 per cent for corporations. When he signed that tax-cut bill in 1964 Johnson said it was the "single most important step we have taken to strengthen our economy since World War II."

Until he actually asks Congress for a tax boost now, it's possible Johnson is using the threat of a boost to persuade business and labor to stick to his guidelines.

Kirk Douglas Has Drive Of Winner

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — All of his life, Kirk Douglas has believed in the cult of the champion, whose only success lies in constant victory.

Lately, however, the actor confesses to having some second thoughts.

"Something happens in this quest for success. Sometimes you can lose yourself along the way," he said.

"I'd like to be able to afford the luxury of failure. You have to feel free to do what you want to do, although this is hard to attain in any field.

"But I feel most people can come pretty close to getting what they want out of life—if they are really ready to pay the price.''

After acting in some 40 pictures Kirk would like to gamble, win or lose, on becoming a screen and Broadway director.

The drive to win has been a part of his nature ever since, as the son of immigrant parents from Russia, he worked his way through college.

He became a top debater, president of the student body, and a champion intercollegiate wrestler.

After slinging hash part-time here and appearing in several Broadway plays. He did a wartime Navy hitch, then went to Hollywood and quickly became a star.

"To me, New York is the greatest city in the world because it has a kind of frightening power, an indifference to everybody except the winner that makes it awesome," Kirk said. "From my youth I also remember the throb of it, your ability to get lost in it."

Kirk also remembers as a chief turning point in his life an English class taught by Louise Livingstone at the high school in Amsterdam, N.Y.

"She convinced me I should get an education," he said.

Here are a few of the things Kirk Douglas likes:

"Excellence, the ballet grace of pro athletes, being alone and surrounded by music, peasant food of almost any country but particularly plain spaghetti with butter; yellow, because it's supposed to be the color of friendship; contrasts, such as sunny and rainy days; big storms, because they make me think there's somebody up there really running things; the feeling of cleanliness, walking at night, swimming, hitting a long ball off the tee, reaching for something out of reach, seeing the American Flag wave in a breeze."

These are his dislikes:

"Mediocrity in myself or anybody else, the taste of turnips; exercise, which I do as a form of penance; critics, because they can make me feel so good or so lousy; shopping, double-breasted suits, pompous people, and those who think patriotism is corny.

"I also hate doing homework for my kids. To me, making a new movie is easier than solving problems in the new math. There life has rumbled on by me."

Junior Editors Quiz on EARTH

QUESTION: Why isn't the earth named after an ancient god or goddess like the other planets?

• • •

ANSWER: The ancient Greeks noticed points of light which seemed to wander among the fixed stars and they called these planets, which meant wanderers. They gave each one the name of one of their mythical gods and goddesses. In those days, it was not realized that the earth also was a planet. Nevertheless, the Greeks did give the name of a goddess to the solid ground. They called it Gaea; the earth goddess. When the Romans took over Greek mythology, they called this goddess Terra, which was their word for earth. In the Greek creation story, first there was an empty void named Choas (upper left). Out of this, Gaea was created, and she brought the solid earth into being. This goddess was not as definite as the other ones, and so our artist has drawn her vaguely. In the Latin form, as Terra, she becomes more familiar, for we often speak of Terra Firma, solid ground. The god in the back of our picture is Uranus, or Heaven, also created out of Chaos. He is sending down rain on the earth. Our word "earth" comes from other sources; especially from the German "erde" which became the Anglo-Saxon "eorthe," leading to the English word we use.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: It is most interesting to see how many familiar words have come from old legends and myths. Open a dictionary and look for words beginning with "terra" to see how they are connected with the idea of solid ground or the earth. An example is "terrain." 3-30

Whirpool Leaves Big Gulf Stream

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY

WASHINGTON (AP) — To the delight of oceanographers, a piece of the Gulf Stream has broken loose from its parent current and is going 'round and 'round 600 miles east of Boston.

The reason the scientists are pleased is this:

The newly discovered eddy — or whirlpool — of warm water, about 50 miles in diameter, is a kind of made-to-order laboratory to help them in complex studies which could some day result in accurate long-range weather forecasts and — who knows? — maybe weather controls.

The elaborately equipped ship Explorer, of the Coast and Geodetic Survey, which has recently been at Norfolk, Va., is due to take to sea again soon to study the eddy in detail. And a special plane from the naval air station at Patuxent, Md., is expected to cooperate. It can spot the eddy by means of an infrared radiation thermometer.

The Gulf Stream is a gigantic current of water which issues from the Gulf of Mexico and proceeds northeastward to a point east of the Grand Banks off Newfoundland. It has a marked effect on the weather, especially the climate of Europe. The weather of that continent is affected, in large part, by conditions in the Atlantic Ocean, while United States weather often bears the label "made in Canada."

Lt. Cmdr. Ray Moses of the Coast and Geodetic Survey, who is coordinator of a Gulf Stream study project now under way, explained how the eddy broke loose.

The Gulf Stream is in some ways like a river in the ocean. And those who remember their elementary geology will recall how rivers, especially those that are in their old age geologically speaking, tend to wander or meander.

Sometimes they curve right back on themselves, and then go on their way, leaving a doughnut-shaped body of water behind, totally separated from the parent stream.

This is what happened recently with the Gulf Stream; it left behind a warm water eddy or meander, for the first time, so far as is known, in at least 10 years.

The eddy is too small to have any appreciable effect, in itself, on the weather. But scientists hope to learn more from it about how warm and cold water mix in the oceans, which largely control the temperature and moisture content of the air.

Letters To Editor

To The Daily News:

The decision of the Commissioners' Court to give the bid of the electrical wiring and construction of the new county coliseum to a firm in Lubbock has greatly distressed me. I wish to bring this decision to the eyes of Scurry County.

In recent months there has been much talk concerning the building of our city and county in the industrial aspect. I, as a tax-paying citizen for over twenty years, wish that such steps be taken.

We, as citizens and city and county governmental officials, can do much talk. But nothing will be evident of our desires until we take steps to bring industry as well as keep our money within our community.

I mention the keeping of the local dollars within our community. This is the matter that conerns me. I recently gave the financial backing of a local electrical firm to enable the company to make a bid for the electrical wiring of the new coliseum to be built. Our bid was turned in to the Commissioners Court as well as the bid from Lubbock. Our bid was two hundred ($200) dollars higher than that of the firm from Lubbock. Upon the decision of the County the contract was given to the out of town firm.

I do realize that perhaps $200 could have been saved by the hiring of the Lubbock company. This would have been a direct savings. But I do believe that the merchants of Snyder will be losing much more than the mentioned $200. The employment to handle the job will primarily be from Lubbock. I believe that some men will miss the opportunity to work.

Do you believe the profits from the business endeavor will be spent here in our community? I dare to say that the majority of the profits will be spent in Lubbock. The laborers will bring their lunches made from food purchased in Lubbock. The gasoline to bring the laborers from Lubbock to Snyder will more than likely be purchased in Lubbock.

They are probably like the majority of you. When you travel, you try to make it home and fill your car at your favorite service station. I have already mentioned two establishments in our community that will miss the profits of this money. If the job had been given to the local firm, the money would have been spent in our own community. Now the profits of this business endeavor will not be spent here nor will it build up our county or city as we interested local citizens desire.

I want you as interested taxpayers and Snyderites to know of the injustice that I feel has been done to our community. I feel we can only build up our industry by seeing that the money being spent on large business endeavors be spent here in our own community if we have the facilities to accomplish what needs to be done. Our city government should help us see that this is done.

If you feel as I do, we can do something about it. In May we have our local election to prove to our governmental officials that we will not permit their jeopardizing of our community's progress.

Asks Time Extension

WASHINGTON (AP) —Rep. Henry Gonzalez, D-Tex., has asked the Justice Department to see that more time is given for Texas voters to register.

Gonzalez, in a telegram to Attorney General Nicholas Katzenbach, said that more than 600,000 persons registered to vote after the poll tax was voided as a Texas voting requirement.

A three-judge federal court ruled last Friday that the government has five days to ask for additional registration time. It would supplement a 15-day registration period earlier in March.

"What remains to be done" Gonzalez said, "is to follow through with an even longer special registration period before the May primary."

The congressman from San Antonio added:

"For those unenlightened souls who object to the cost of the...registration, let me say that freedom is never free."

Hightower Named To Study Commission

AUSTIN (AP)—Lt. Gov. Preston Smith appointed Sen. Jack Hightower of Vernon Tuesday to the interim committee to study the nursing profession.

Hightower will replace Walter H. Richter of Gonzales, who resigned from the Senate to take the job as director of the Texas Office of Economic Opportunity.

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

MEXICO CITY — The poor Beatle - type musicians here are getting a rugged harassing from all corners.

Shaggy imitations of the British group (they got made knights!) have been threatened and in some cases attacked — by gentlemen and school lads wielding scissors.

Here in the big city, Mayor Ernesto Uruchurutu shut down some of the Beatlenik coffee houses because they were centers of perdition and bad examples of everything to children of both sexes.

I have seen a few of these long - haired entertainers. How can you tell to which sex they belong, Mayor?

It must be a sad experience for the epileptic lads. They see the British Beatles honored by the Queen and unmolested by the nation.

And here, the city fathers stamp CLOSED on their little swinging doors and the country goes up in arms.

Officials of the big Televincentro (Television Center) here posted a warning saying no mop tops would be permitted to perform over the local airways.

And now they are driving the shags underground. In difiance to the mayor's order, some of the coffee go-gos operate like speakeasies. A guard on the door just like the days of Chicago.

You want a cuppa coffee with some wild - haired music, you have to side up to the portals and whisper, "Jose sent me."

The excuse for all this harassing is that officials demand the Mexican entertainer look and act like men. In this day and age it is a silly notion. But they are following it through.

Monterrey has started an anti-Beatle drive. City treasurer Reinaldo Garcia warned the authorities would shutter all the go-go coffee houses and then start on the radio and television programs.

"Who authorized these programs, anyhow?" he asked.

Not me, sir. I'm just a bystanding reporter and keep my hair cut (what there is left of it) to Marine Corps regulations.

One group known as Les Yaki had a rough go. The singer (a boy, I think) looks like an unclipped french poodle.

And recently a mob of Monterrey school kids wielding scissors broke into a television station to cut up the singer and his companions. Their hair, that is.

Fortunately, a disaster was averted. The irate young gentlemen said they had come to "cut their hair down to masculine size."

I am wondering how the conversation would go on a date between one of the Beatle-tops and a young lady.

Probably the boy would say, "Dear, your hair always looks so gorgeously sloppy and out of place. What do you use on it?"

And the girl would answer, "Oh, I just put on a little Straw Stack hair groom (without lanolin) and shake my head vigorously a few times in front of an electric fan. It's really so simple."

Of course, this is for people who care. For those who don't you can just comb your hair back and pin it neatly.

And grow a mustache so they can tell the girls from the boys.

Paratrooper Safe After Close Call

FT. CAMPBELL, Ky. (AP) — After flying like a kite behind an airplane traveling 135 miles an hour, a young paratrooper freed himself and landed safely.

"It was like getting a second chance," said Pfc. Michael A. McDonald, 17, of Missoula, Mont.

McDonald, a member of the 101st Airborne Division hero, landed in a pine tree after freeing himself from tangled parachute lines during a training exercise over North Carolina Tuesday.

The static line connecting the soldier's parachute to a C119 transport failed to disconnect during the practice assault, the Army said, and McDonald flew behind the plane for nearly seven minutes.

One of 224 Ft. Campbell troopers taking part in the exercise, he had leaped from the aircraft at 1,500 feet.

Crewmen on the plane were unable to haul McDonald aboard because his arms had become entangled in lines connecting his shoulder harness with the parachute canopy.

After clearing his arms, he signaled the crewmen he was conscious, the Army said, and the static line snapped, enabling him to fall free of the plane.

His reserve parachute opened at 300 feet, McDonald said.

CLAY STOPS CHUVALO IN 15 ROUNDS

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

TORONTO (AP) — It was like a fight between a matador and a bull, only the bull didn't have any horns. That was heavyweight champion Cassius Clay's lop-sided victory in 15 rounds over game, iron-jawed George Chuvalo of Canada Tuesday night.

The 14,500 partisan fans — 13,900 paid — at Maple Leaf Gardens gave the plucky Canadian champion a roaring ovation for maintaining his record of never having been knocked off his feet although he must have taken at least 1,000 punches on the head from the unbeaten American.

Now the 24-year-old champion hopes to get into the ring within two months, either in Toronto or London, against Henry Cooper, the 31-year-old British ruler from London.

Old 'Enry isn't in gutty George's class when it comes to soaking up punishment but he can hit pretty good. He floored Clay with a left hook before being stopped in the fifth round at London on June 18, 1963. Clay has been dropped only twice in his 5½-year career.

The big drawback with Cooper is that he has a push-button on his chin. He has a 31-11-1 won-lost-draw record, including 21 knockouts. But he has been stopped six times — by Zora Folley, former world champion Ingemar Johansson, Clay, and some characters named Uber Bacilieri, Peter Bates and Joe Bygraves.

"We haven't got anything set yet," said Clay, whose face was virtually unmarked. "But Cooper might be a good one. He knocked me down once."

Arthur Grafton, the attorney for Clay's Louisville sponsoring group said they were considering Cooper and anyone who might be available, including Ernie Terrell. Terrell, the World Boxing Association champion from Chicago, withdrew from his title showdown here with Clay, recognized as champion everywhere but in WBA territory, when his guarantee was slashed.

"Terrell can show up or shut up," said Grafton.

It was Grafton and Edward Jacko Jr., Clay's personal attorney, who said Tuesday that the champion figured to have from 30 to 60 days before his appeal from a 1-A draft classification normally would be heard by the state board in Kentucky. Earlier it was reported the fighter's case would be heard within a few days.

The middle knuckle of Clay's right hand was swollen from the steady stream of punches he fired at Chuvalo's battered but unbowed head. Chuvalo bore nicks over and under both eyes, on his forehead and had a huge lump under his right eye about the size of a lemon.

The officials had the following winning scores for Clay on the five-point must system: Referee Jackie Silvers 73-65, judge Tony Canzano 74-63, and judge Jackie Johnston 74-62. The Associated Press had it 73-62 for Clay and 13-2 in rounds, giving Chuvalo only the second and fourth. By rounds, Silvers had it 9-2, with four even, Canzano had it 12-1 with two even and Johnston had it 13-1 with one even.

After the fourth round it was all Clay with his popping lefts and left-right combinations. Chuvalo battered Clay's ribs and back and admittedly strayed low with some of his blows. Although he constantly stalked the dancing, sidestepping, circling champion the challenger couldn't slow him up. Chuvalo's punches had the effect of a wet noodle.

In the eighth round, by actual count, Clay popped his bull-necked, husky for 148 times with his left hand. In the 11th, when he apparently made his final all-out effort to make good on his ambition to floor Chuvalo, he scored with more than 200 blows.

Chuvalo absorbed them all and kept coming. It looked like he was being paid piece work for the number of shots he could take.

The Gardens said the gross gate was $165,000 and the net $150,000. The ancillary rights, including closed-circuit television, radio broadcasts and television tape shows may bring another $200,000 into the promotion.

It appears to be a financial flop for Main Bout, Inc., which had the ancillary rights.

Thus Clay, on his 50 per cent probably will gross $175,000 and net about $50,000 — after paying his backers and his taxes — for a bout that was called a mismatch by most experts and by various boxing organizations.

Chuvalo, on his 20 per cent, may be in for a $70,000 purse, about $45,000 more than he's ever earned for a fight before.

Clay, weighing the heaviest of his career at 214½ pounds, now has a 23-0 record, including 18 knockouts. Chuval's record is 34-12-2. He weighed a hefty 216, about seven more than he's scaled for most of his recent fights. In his last fight before Clay, he weighed 206 when he was outpointed in 10 rounds by Argentine Eduardo Corletti in London.

Off his showing against the unknown South American, Chuval was made a 7-1 underdog with very little betting reported anywhere.

Valentine Is Top Shooter

Tommy Valentine won the first place trophy of the Canyon Gun Club shoot Sunday with a score of 99, hitting five bullseyes. He fired a .222 Remington standard.

The rules call for .222 caliber or over weapons at 200 yards.

The second place trophy went to Billy Don Martin. He had three in the center of the target with a 99 score.

Pat Gilstrap took the third place trophy with a 98 score, hitting four in the bullseye. Both Gilstrap and Martin used .222 Remington standards.

Leroy Key won the "crying towel" award with a .222 Remington Magnum. He fired 98 with none in the center of the target.

Shooters were hampered by wind changes and "heat waves."

The next Canyon Gun Club shoot is set for Sunday, April 3 at 1:30 p.m. at the Club Range. Rules call for a trap shoot at 16 yards. Awards will go to the top three contestants.

Club members and the public are urged to attend.

Nats Nip KC, 6-4; Twins Blank LA, 2-0

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Rain wiped out five exhibition baseball games Tuesday but Ken McMullen brought a ray of sunshine through the clouds for Washington Manager Gil Hodges.

McMullen pounded two home runs and drove in five runs as the Senators whipped Kansas City 6-4 in a game called after eight innings because of rain.

Elsewhere, Minnesota blanked Los Angeles 2-0 in a rain - shortened, five-inning game; Pittsburgh shaded the Chicago White Sox 6-5, San Francisco downed California 2-1 and Chicago outlasted Cleveland 12-10.

The New York Mets-New York Yankee, Baltimore-Detroit, Boston-Houston, St. Louis-Cincinnati and Atlanta-Philadelphia games all were rained out.

McMullen, who was the Senators' regular third baseman last season after coming over from Los Angeles in the Frank Howard-Claude Osteen deal, continued to flash the muscle that made him a Senator favorite in 1965.

The husky infielder walloped 18 home runs last year, second on the club only to Howard's 21, and drove in 54 runs in 150 games.

Hodges, who had batted him in the No. 2 spot most of last year, dropped him to No. 6 Tuesday, hoping to capitalize on his RBI potential, and the move paid off handsomely.

McMullen connected with one man on in the fourth and then with two on in the eighth as the Senators, who had lost their first nine exhibitions, won their fifth straight.

The output hoisted McMullen's spring figures to six homers and 11 RBIs. He leads the club in both departments.

Ken Harrelson and Dick Green homered for Kansas City.

The Twins pushed across two unearned runs to beat the Dodgers in a rematch of last season's World Series opponents.

Harmon Killebrew started the Twins' rally with a fourth-inning single. He moved to second on a wild pitch and then scored on Peewee Oliver's boot of Earl Battey's bouncer. After Jerry Kindall singled Battey to second, Andy Kosco's pinch double brought him home with the second Minnesota run.

Ags Put Lead On Line

By The Associated Press

Texas A&M puts its Southwest Conference baseball leadership on the line today against Rice at College Station.

The Aggies could lose the top rung if they fell to Rice since Baylor, in second place, is a half-game away and doesn't have a game. Rice faces elimination from the championship race. It already has lost three games.

Southern Methodist and Texas clash at Austin in another conference game on the schedule.

Texas Christian meets Kansas State at Fort Worth in an intersectional double-header.

Baylor split even with Kansas State Tuesday, winning the first game 2-0 behind the one-hit pitching of Rod Robinson and dropping the nightcap to the steady hurling of Kansas State's Dennis Erkenbrack.

What Makes A Ball Bounce? Answer Wins Physics Award

DURHAM, N.C. (AP)—What makes a ball bounce? What makes a rubber band snap back when you turn it loose?

From a scientific viewpoint, it's because the tiny molecules that make up such synthetic substances are "wriggling and writhing, like a den of rattlesnakes."

A study of the motions of these molecules and the relationship of these motions to such valuable mechanical properties as stiffness, flexibility, rebound, shock absorption and strength in polymers—plastics, elastics, synthetic fibers—brought a distinguished award to Dr. John D. Ferry Tuesday.

He received the $1,000 American Physical Society high polymer physics award, sponsored by the Ford Motor Co., at a banquet at the Durham Civic Center.

Earlier in the day, he delivered the "Ford Prize" lecture at a meeting of the American Physical Society now underway on the Duke University campus.

Among those due to attend the meeting was William N. Furey Jr., a graduate student at Harvard University and son of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. (Dub) Furey of Mount Pleasant, Tex.

"Polymer molecules are an extremely long-lived snake," the University of Wisconsin scientist said in an interview. "The molecules are always in motion. It is the rates and details of these motions that to a great extend determine the mechanical properties."

It is the mechanical properties of such polymers as plastics and fibers that largely determine their usefulness to man.

"We are a long way from being able to sit down and make a polymer to fit certain specifications," Dr. Ferry said. But he agreed that as scientists develop a better understanding of the molecular motions that produce certain properties, they will be better able to manipulate the motions and produce better synthetics.

Students Launch Own Fleet Of UFOs

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The ivy-clad halls of California Institute of Technology have launched a high-level hoax.

Two Caltech students admitted Tuesday they and others were responsible for flying objects sighted by hundreds Monday night.

The objects, on 8-foot-diameter plastic balloons, were red flares hanging from rotating blades. The contraptions were launched behind Fleming House dormitory by students using walkie-talkies to observe the movements of campus guards.

Residents of Fleming House made four of the "unidentified flying objects" in steampipe tunnels beneath the campus, equipping them with aluminum foil streamers so that on radar screens they would seem to be a speck.

The most successful was set free Monday night. Police reported hundreds of calls from residents who had sighted a UFO "zipping along at fantastic speed."

Although the boys escaped detection by campus guards, they were spotted by an unidentified woman employe of Caltech who told police.
