Vast Crowd Cheers Nominee In Madison Square Garden; Ovation Lasts For Nineteen Minutes

Eleven Thousand Mile Tour Ended; Governor Gives Every Notch of Vocal Power In Last Address

BY WALTER CHAMBLIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 3. (AP)—Alfred E. Smith, in his final personal appeal to an audience in this campaign, tonight raked his republican opponents for their stand on prohibition, farm relief, water power and a number of other issues and had a home crowd cheering, shouting, yelling and tooting horns from almost the moment he entered Madison Square Garden until he left.

Declares He's Amused

Speaking in "Ole New York", as he describes America's largest and his native city, the democratic chieftain accused the republican party of being under the "powerful and dominating influence" of the anti-saloon league and then declared he had been amused watching that party try "to disclaim responsibility for the antics" of the league and the Ku Klux Klan.

On his arrival at the Garden, the governor was cheered for 19 minutes by a crowd which packed every one of the 18,000 seats in the building and likewise clogged up all space in the many aisles.

Standing at the front of the speakers' platform, the nominee looked out on a crowd of brother New Yorkers who turned on every notch of vocal power to welcome

Eight Are Hurt In Plane Crash

Transport Passenger Plane Crashes But Heady Pilot Saves Group From Death —Plane Demolished

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Nov. 3—Eight persons, injured when a West Coast air transport passenger airplane crashed near De Sabla, 20 miles northeast of here late last night, were alive today because Louis G. Goldsmith, San Francisco, the pilot, "used his head."

The plane, en route from Portland, Ore., to San Francisco, was forced down in rough country by bad weather and poor visibility. Goldsmith manipulated the controls so his machine struck the earth with the least possible force, although it was demolished.

Only Slightly Injured.

Goldsmith escapel with a bruised nose. His relief pilot, Noel B. Evans of Portland, also was bruised. The six passengers, all but slightly injured, were: Mildred Devitt, Los Angeles, only woman aboard; Ben Silver, San Francisco; A. S. Whitmore, Redwood City, Cal.; H. H. Putman, Burlinggame, Cal.; Malcolm Rigby, Seattle weather bureau expert, and Frank B. Jeffrey, Seattle attorney.

County Leaders Prepare For Big Battle Of Votes

Young Stowaway On German Graf

Clarence Terhune, 19-year-old New York caddy, will have plenty to tell about when he next appears at the Rye (N. Y.) Country Club, where he has been employed. He stowed away in the big dirigible Graf Zeppelin, at Lakehurst, and made the trip across the Atlantic to Germany as an uninvited passenger. With him he took all his savings—$50—but it was considered unlikely he would be charged anything for his passage.

Local Man Feared Foul Play Victim

Fear is being held for the safety of W. W. Chancellor, 611 Avenue M, who has been missing from his home here for the past six weeks.

Mr. Chancellor left here six weeks ago for Dallas and no word has been received from him. His wife, whom he left here, fears that fowl play has befallen him.

Been Here Nine Years

Mr. Chancellor is described as fair complected, slightly more than six feet tall, with blue eyes, and almost bald headed. He has worked in and around Lubbock for the past nine years. Other than his wife, Mr. Chancellor has five children at his home here. He has been employed for some time by the H. H. Lawler company of Dallas, a wholesale extract establishment.

Views of Victory Are Conflicting Even Greater

By AL HILL
Avalanche-Journal Staff

Expressions from both political camps speak of county, state and national victory at the ballot boxes Tuesday. Only the count of votes after seven o'clock Tuesday evening will settle the argument.

"I still stick by my prediction that Hoover will carry Lubbock county by 979 votes, out of a total county vote of around 7,225, and that Texas will go for Hoover by 18,789 majority," declared Charles F. O'Neall, chairman of the Thirtieth Senatorial District Anti-Smith organization. "And, I still give Smith only six of the 48 states, Hoover to get the other 42 with their electoral votes."

Mr. O'Neall's figures give Smith the states of Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina, or an electoral vote of 72, as compared to Hoover's 42 states and electoral vote of 459.

Demos Sure Of Victory

Both Pink Parrish and J. A. Humphries declare with as much vehemence that Lubbock county will roll up a democratic majority for its nominees, Governor Alfred E. Smith and Senator Joseph T. Robinson, of around 1,000; that the state will go democratic with a majority of between 150,000 and 200,000, and that he will win the election with a total of 301 or more electoral votes.

"I believe State Chairman Wilcox's announcement as to his ruling about barring bolters from participating in party primaries in 1930, will add to the expected majority in Texas," Senator Parrish said. "There are great many voters whose consciences have been telling them that it is wrong for them to go back on the party by bolting to the support of the republican party's national nominees, and the thought that by

(By Associated Press)

BOSTON, Nov. 3.—Twenty-three men and women, including a 16-year-old girl high school student were arrested here today while engaged in a Sacco-Vazetti demonstration in front of the state house. They were charged with violations of city ordinances and later were released on bail.

Candidate Is Leader

The party, headed by Harry J. Cantor of Boston, candidate for secretary of state on the workers' party ticket, had marched from Boston common where a meeting had been scheduled and, bearing placards, began a slow procession back and forth on the sidewalk in front of the capitol. State and municipal police, forewarned of the demonstration, were on hand and after permitting the demonstration to continue for ten minutes arrested the participants.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Senator George H. Moses, chairman of the eastern advisory committee of the Hoover-Curtis campaign, made public today his calculation of election results and predicted a victory for Herbert Hoover.

"Mr. Hoover has 267 electoral votes which cannot be taken from him except by a miracle," said a Moses statement, "and the ace of miracles came to end at Houston when a southern democracy permitted Governor Smith to be nominated."

The Senator figured that altogether Hoover would have 409 votes in the electoral college as the result of Tuesdays' election. In addition to 26 states which he said Hoover was certain to carry, he predicted the republican nominee would win Missouri, Wisconsin, New

C. A. Howard Meets Instant Death As Gun Is Discharged

Was Preparing Shotgun For Hunting Trip Sunday When Tragedy Occurs; Dies Instantly

Load Strikes Head

Victim Is Almost Decapitated by Discharge; Had Gone Off Previously; Funeral Not Set

C. A. (Jack) Howard, local man, met instant death last night shortly after 11:30 o'clock when a shotgun was apparently acidentally discharged as he was cleaning it at his residence, 1317 Avenue E, in preparation to a hunting trip Sunday. The discharge of the gun struck Howard full in the left side of the head, almost completely decapitating him.

He was dead when members of the family rushed into the room, seconds later. No inquest was held over his death.

Details Are Unknown.

Howard had planned to go hunting with his brother, Jim, of this city, and was cleaning his gun, it was stated by members of his family following the tragedy. Just how the gun went off, everyone was at a loss to explain, but it was presumed that the butt of the gun struck the floor as he bent over in cleaning it.

Howard is survived by his widow, his mother and two brothers, Bill and Jim, all of this city. An uncle, J. G. Boudine of Abernathy, also survives.

Had Previously Gone Off.

According to his brother, the gun had previously gone off with, Howard only recently and blown a hole in a wall in the residence.

Howard had been a resident of Lubbock for several years, formerly

Weather Retards County Ginnings

Total Increases Only About 500 Bales During Week; 1928 Total Is Estimated At 8,750 Bales

Rain and inclement weather of the past week brought picking and ginning practically to a standstill in Lubbock county and this week showed an increase of only a few hundred in ginnings for the county. The total this week is unofficially estimated at 8750 bales, an increase of about 500 bales over the official 8200 for the past week-end.

The ginnings in Lubbock county were about 200 for the week at the eight gins here. At Idalou only a handful of bales were brought in and Shallowater said that not a bale was ginned. At Slaton ginnings for the six gins totalled 27 bales.

Picking and ginning was expected to take a substantial spurt next week, however.

AUTHOR OF "WHEN A GIRL LOVES" "LOVE FOR TWO" etc.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

JERRY RAY decides that love is a delusion and makes up her mind to marry for money. She works in a store and denies herself petty luxuries in order to save for a vacation at Atalntic City in "the best hotel." But her money is stolen the night before her departure and she is stunned by the loss. Nothing remains but to go camping with her roommate, MYRTLE, on the north shore of Long Island.

But their camp is wrecked the first evening when an airplane crashes into it. Wealthy young ALESTER CARSTAIRS, from an adjoining estate, was taking a lesson from his pilot, DAN HARVEY. They escape injury; also Myrtle, but Dan picks Jerry up unconscious from a blow on the head. He is holding her in his arms when she comes to. Then Alester sends him for the doctor and pays Myrtle for the damage done.

The doctor finds Jerry not seriously injured, but desires to make a fuller examination next day. Alester claims the right to drive her there and afterward insists on taking her to an inn for dinner. Jerry refuses to drink the liquor set before her, which seems to amuse Alester. He introduces her to LEONTINE LEBAUDY, hostess, and Jerry senses the fact that Leontine is jealous of her. She is glad to see Dan enter and come to their table, although this gives Leontine a chance to dance with Alester.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER VII

"All right," Alester said grudgingly, "I'll come to your party since you're so irresistible, but only upon one condition."

Leontine caught her breath. She did not like the firmness in his voice.

"You'll have to ask Miss Ray also," Alester added after a significant pause.

Leontine flashed daggers at him, but she said nothing until she could force herself to speak indifferently. Whatever else Leontine Lebaudy was capable of she could practice self control. But she wouldn't give in without a struggle.

"Really, Alester," she said with a nervous smile, "Miss Ray is hardly the sort of person to ask to one of our parties."

Alester did not smile back at her. "Why?" he asked.

Leontine shrugged.

"Well . . . . her appearance for one thing. She looks like a rummage sale and she's a complete washout as far as pep goes. She'd be a wet blanket."

"You're jealous," Alester told her brutally. "Miss Ray had a nasty blow on the head yesterday. You'd go to bed for a week if anything like that happened to you."

Leontine bit her lip.

"Just the same . . . " she began.

"Just the same you will have to ask her if you want me," Alester interrupted.

"Oh, all right," Leontine flared. "Bring her. But see that she has something decent to wear."

"Leave that to me," Alester replied.

Leontine was now thoroughly aroused over Jerry. She guessed that Alester had brought the girl to the Rolling Stone Inn just to torment her, but he was carrying his interest in Jerry a little too far, she thought, when he insisted upon having her at a party in which she could not possibly fit.

How had he met a girl like that, anyway? A 10 cent girl who didn't drink! She'd never known Alester to care for anything so simple before.

She put the question to him but Alester would not tell her how he had crashed the girls' camp. Very well, she told herself, she would get the information from Jerry! And spike any growing ambition the girl might have at the same time.

"I'm sorry I didn't know you had an accident," she said sweetly to Jerry when she and Alester returned to the table. "Stupid of me not to see that you have a bandage under your bandeaux."

Jerry regarded her in surprise. Her sudden pleasantness was puzzling.

"Miss Ray ought to go home," Dan said crisply.

Leontine smiled at Jerry.

"But I wish you'd come up to my rooms first," she said. "You can rest a few minutes. It would refresh you for the drive back to . . . where is it you are living?"

"New York."

It was Alester who gave the information before Jerry had a chance to speak. She did not correct him to say that she was camping on the North Shore. She knew that these two were thrusting at each other with double edged words. Jerry had enough sense to keep quiet when she did not know the ground.

But Leontine's invitation to rest in her room appealed to her. She felt queerly weak and faint. She rose and while Dan stood, watching grimly, and Alester turned a bemused expression upon them, she walked off with Leontine.

They passed up broad, uncarpeted stairs to a long and wide upper hall. Open doors offered glimpses into private rooms luxuriantly furnished. In one suite waiters were preparing for a private party. Jerry saw a bowl of orchids on the table and thick yellow candles in silver candlesticks.

She realized then that Leontine's place was a rendezvous for smart people. No wonder the waiters had looked askance at her.

Leontine threw open a heavy mahogany door and stepped into a large room, holding the door open for Jerry to follow.

"Lie down on the chaise longue," she said hospitably and motioned toward what Jerry would have called the sofa. It was covered with a lace spread and many small silk pillows. Jerry knew something about lace and the idea of reposing upon a spread such as this seemed almost sacrilege to her—until she reminded herself that wealthy people used their best things.

"Have you any smelling salts?" she asked Leontine, remembering those the Carstairs butler had brought to camp.

"I'll get you some eau de Cologne," the other replied and closed the door. Jerry sank upon the chaise longue and breathed a sigh of relief. She had not known how weak she really was.

Leontine hurried into an adjoining room. In a moment she was back with a large crystal bottle. Some of its contents she poured on a soft linen towel and began to bathe Jerry's forehead. She had wondered about the girl's complexion. It was almost too perfect to be natural. And yet Jerry obviously was not a patron of a beauty parlor capable of imparting such magic smoothness and luscious color to her skin by artificial means. Such service would be priceless, Leontine knew, if it could be found.

Still it surprised her to discover that Jerry had no makeup at all on her face. The light powder she used came away with the cologne only to reveal a skin which made Leontine think that powdering it was indeed an instance of gilding the lily.

Jerry lay with her eyes closed, unaware of Leontine's critical yet reluctant admiration and growing hatred. The cool, quiet room and soothing fragrance of the cologne helped her to relax.

Leontine left her for a moment and when she returned Jerry opened her eyes. Leontine was smoking a long, brown cigaret.

"Have one?" she invited. Jerry shook her head and Leontine smiled crookedly. She was beginning to see, she told herself, what there was about Jerry that intrigued Alester. Novelty, of course.

She doubted it, in all his acquintances, there was a girl who neither smoked nor drank. Until he met Jerry. Other nice girls—how she despised that word—might exist in his set. Leontine supposed that they did, but Alester, she knew, had not been interested in them.

It would be easier now to know what to do. If she could only get Jerry to talk, to tell how far matters had gone between them—Jerry and Alester. She was gratifyingly certain that Alester had not entirely lost his interest in her; his jealousy proved it. He could enjoy the novelty of Jerry without bringing her to the Rolling Stone Inn, Leontine assured herself. His doing so convinced her that he wanted to hurt. But she knew that a casual interest in the beginning often times leads to a deeper attraction.

Jerry's novelty must be destroyed!

"I must go now," Jerry said, sitting up.

"Are you feeling better," Leontine inquired.

Jerry nodded.

"Much, thank you," she said.

"I hope you will be in shape for a party on the fifteenth," Leontine said cordially. "It's going to be quite an affair. Alester wants to bring you. He seems to be pretty much enamored," she added, watching Jerry closely from behind a smiling mask.

Jerry hesitated to answer. She felt at a loss with Leontine. Finally: "He hasn't asked me," she said simply. That would not commit her.

"He will," Leontine replied laconically. "Rather unusual, your meeting, wasn't it?" she added, hitting in the dark. It must be so, she believed, and if Jerry could be led to think that she knew about it she might talk.

Jerry was taken in by the trick. She knew that Alester had told Leontine of her accident. It did not occur to her to suppose that he had omitted the story of the crash.

"Yes, it was," she admitted, and then because she felt that she had not been sufficiently appreciative of Leontine's kindness she told her how Alester Carstairs and Dan Harvey had dropped in from out of the sky on their newly erected camp and destroyed it.

It was only after she had come to the end of her narrative that she remembered Alester's answer to Leontine's question about her residence. She wondered if she had said too much. And Leontine could get no more information from her.

Leontine had been sitting by her.

"Well," she said, getting up. "I hope nothing will keep you from coming to my party. It's my birthday."

Suddenly she lifted an arm and drew Jerry's attention to an inch-wide diamond bracelet that she had put on since coming upstairs. "Alester gave me this last year," she said boastfully. And then, looking curiously at Jerry, "He's very generous, but I suppose you know that."

Jerry flushed.

"He's been very generous in settling for the damage his plane did," she said coldly.

She more than suspected now that Leontine was a first class gold digger. "If she thinks she can put me in that class she's mistaken," Jerry told herself.

Leontine smiled secretly over Jerry's obvious resentment. She had wanted to make it difficult for Alester to see that Jerry was properly gowned for the party. If Jerry came, looking like a frump. .

Leontine believed she had scored a trick.

Bombing Outburst Sends Riot Squads On Chicago Search

Four Parts Of City Are Rocked By Explosions, Believed To Be Work Of Gangsters

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—An outbreak of bombing which erupted in four parts of the city had sent police on the trail of beer runners, outlaw labor antagonists and political terrorists today.

One bomb exploded in the doorway of Walter Staley's restaurant on Madison street, near the loop and a hundred yards from Central police station. Guests in the Weston hotel next door were routed to the street by the blast. Patrons of the restaurant were constantly using the doorway where the bomb was planted, but none was injured. "The beer war" was the police explanation for that explosion.

On the North Side a bomb wrecked the front of a poultry shop. Mrs. Hani Berkovitz, the proprietor, said she had been warned because she had reduced prices and had failed to employ union chicken killers.

The soft drink parlor of John Wojik on Fullerton avenue was the third bomb's target. Stanley Mendala was cut by flying glass. Windows for a block were shattered.

A dynamite bomb was tossed from a passing car in front of the twenty-sixth ward Republican headquarters on South Ashland avenue early today for the fourth attack of the night. Windows of the building were blown out but none of the several men inside headquarters office was injured. Thomas Curran, ward committeeman, lives in a flat on the second floor of the building but was not home at the time.

Southeast Coast Towns Rocked By Earth Temblors

Two Light Quakes Are Felt In Towns On Seaboadr; Damage Negligible But Residents Alarmed

(By Associated Press)

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 3.—The southern tip of the Appalachian mountain chain was shaken by two light earth shocks last night, and the Piedmont regions further south felt a single and lighter shock. Damage was negligible but residents were alarmed.

Slight tremors were noted as far west as Frankfort, Ky., the disturbances being recorded at 10.03 and 10.05 o'clock. No damage resulted.

Ashville, N. C., 50 miles south of Mount Mitchell, highest peak in the Appalachians, reported the heaviest shocks. They came in succession at 11 and 11:05 p. m., interrupting telephone communication in isolated instances.

At Chattanooga, Tenn., on the tip of the Blue Ridge, residents fled from one apartment house, when a tremor was felt. Many residents reported their homes were rocked. Newspaper offices at Bristol, Va.-Tenn., were called frequently by frightened residents when the temblor was felt there. Two distinct shocks were felt at Spartanburg, S. C., Asheville, Kingsport, Tenn., and Greenville, Tenn., also reported a slight tremble.

A score of more calls were received at Atlanta police headquarters reporting the shock in the higher sections of the city. Occupants of the higher floors of tall apartment buildings reported that furniture moved about on floors, and dishes rattled in many parts of the city.

BALE GETS HONOR

Much Attention Is Paid To Zeppelin Cotton

BREMEN, Nov. 3. (AP)—Never before have such honors been accorded a bale of cotton as were extended today to the bale which the Graf Zeppelin brought from Lakehurst, N. J.

An automobile truck adorned with the flags of Germany, Bremen and the United States and flowers in profusion met the bale at the railway station. As thousands cheered and cameras clicked, the cotton was hoisted out of a freight car and onto a raised platform on the truck.

The truck then proceeded with a solemn procession accompanying it through streets which were lined with people. After the town had paid the bale due honors it was placed in the cotton exchange where it will be auctioned off on Tuesday for the benefit of the airship's crew.

Earl Hunt Joins C. E. Stone Store

Addition of Earl Hunt to the C. E. Stone retail clothing store here was announced yesterday by the management.

Born here in 1897, Mr. Hunt has been a resident of Lubbock for virtually all of his life. For the past twelve years he has been connected with retail business establishments. Seven years of that time he was owner and manager of his own store, the L. E. Hunt Clothing company, which handled men's clothing exclusively.

Assumes Duties Nov. 1

For the past five years Mr. Hunt has been connected with Barrier Brothers here. His addition to the C. E. Stone company became effective November 1.

Mr. Hunt declared yesterday that he planned to be with the C. E. Stone company permanently. He said that, in his opinion, this was the fastest growing chain store concern in the nation.

Started only three years ago at Wellington, Texas, the C. E. Stone company now operates thirty-two retail merchandising clothing stores in three states—Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico. Most of the stores however are located in West Texas. An additional expansion is planned by the company in the near future.

doing so will probably read them out of the democratic party will keep some from voting in this election at all and cause others to remain true to their own party and its nominees, from constable to president."

Who'll Do The Shouting?

If it were at all possible to settle an election in any other method than by casting our ballots, it's all over but the shouting. But, with the difference of opinion as to who will do this shouting, nothing remains except scratching off the general election ballot those names which are not wanted. This procedure will leave in clear print all names for which you will desire to vote.

There is proof of doubt on both sides, however, because both parties are fighting for votes up to the final scratch.

The Democratic Band Wagon will make its first and only appearance in Lubbock on Monday night at the Ninety-Ninth district court room, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. Stevens acting as band master. Several unique and new musical numbers are being prepared which have not before been heard, it is stated.

On Tuesday, the Hooverites are going to do all they can to get all they can to go to the polls and vote.

Tuesday night telegraphic returns will be received at Hoover headquarters, a direct wire to be run there and reports received from time to time on county, state and national returns.

Saturday both camps sent foragers into friendly and enemy territory after votes for their respective causes. At 3 in the afternoon, Hoover speakers, including John L. Ratliff and W. M. Smith Speech back from an 11,000 mile campaign tour a native son.

Ovation Is Great

From the balconies which surround the Garden, storms of paper came floating down during the ovation. The crowd, as it cheered, waved American flags and until finally subdued refused to cease its racket except upon two occasions when it helped out the band by singing "The Sidewalks of New York."

Before the governor reached the hall the gathering stopped its racket-making long enough to sing "Dixie" and the "Sidewalks" and later in his address the governor said that while in Tennessee and North Carolina he had mentioned that the two tunes blended well.

Makes Final Appearance

The speech tonight was the last the governor will deliver before an audience between now and election day. Monday night he will make a final appeal to the voters over the radio.

The nominee also may make another brief radio address some time Monday afternoon to the farmers of the nation.

He accused the republican organization of accepting support from the anti-saloon league, which organization he charged with setting at "naught all great declarations of political faith," and with the sweeping aside of "all men and measures not in sympathy and in step with their narrow, bigoted ideas."

Rurther, he declared, it would be difficult to speak of the anti-saloon league without saying something about "its twin brother for the destruction of American principles and American ideas, the Ku Klux Klan."

Made Feeble Attempts

"The republican party has made feeble attempts" he continued, "to disclaim responsibility for some of the activities of the Klan."

He added this had been "laid bare before the eyes of the American people when Senator Moses, the eastern manager of the Hoover campaign, mailed scurrilous literature to be published in the state of Kentucky, making an attack upon me because of my religious faith."

The governor in the sweeping roundup of his position on various issues reiterated a demand for a change in prohibition and again promised to take this issue to the American people. He argued two duties with respect to the laws on this subject devolved upon the president. These he set forth as follows:

"The first is to enforce them. That I promise to do to the best of my ability. The second duty is to recommend the changes deemed advisable. I will recommend to congress the changes I have indicated in accordance with my speech of acceptance."

Reaffirming his position on the tariff, the governor again emphasized opposition to a general revision of the tariff laws. He said more than "ninety per cent" of the democratic candidates for congress had approved his position.

Continuing, the nominee accused his opponents of raising a smoke screen" as to his position on immigration.

"It is not an issue," he went on, "I stand squarely upon the democratic platform, which pledges a continuance of the present restrictive laws, except where they divide families. Mr. Hoover and I are in agreement on this point and it is only brought into the campaign to befog the issues."

He added the republicans were up to "old tricks" and in addition to immigration also had "sought to set up a smoke screen behnd which they hope to hide the record of the last seven years."

"To perfect the smoke screen," he declared "they use the time-worn and broken down cry of prosperity as thought there were some patented formula by which the republican party alone promotes the prosperity of this country."

Good Roads

$325,000.

Texas State Highway No. 9, via Woodrow, Lubbock and Monroe to Abernathy, $275,000.

Texas State Highway No. 53 via Idalou, Lubbock and Wolffarth, $371,000.

Road west from Slaton to Highway No. 9, via Union School, $135,000.

Road north from Lynn county line thru Slaton, Idalou and Becton $476,000.

Road east on Broadway from Lubbock, via the south side of the Panhandle South Plains Fair grounds, thru Canyon and Acuff to Crosby county line, $263,000.

Road west from Lubbock to Hockley County line, $137,000.

Bonds Taken Up

This totals $1,982,000, which plus $22,000 of road district No. 1 bonds, which must be taken up in the county issue, gives a total of $2,004,000, the amount of bonds the voters will vote on December 1st.

This total system of roads will cost approximately $4,000,000. The total cost of State Highways Nos. 7, 9 and 53 will be right at $3,000,000. The county will pay approximately one third or $1,000,000 of this amount. On highways Nos. 7, 9 and 53 northeast from Lubbock, these being both Federal and State Highways the county will pay one third the cost and the State and Federal governments two thirds the cost. On State Highway No. 53, southwest from Lubbock and on the Highway from Lubbock west to the Hockley county line, these two Highways being on the State system only, the State will pay one half the cost. On the other three roads, none of which are on the State or Federal system, the county will pay the entire cost.

The vote will be on the entire bond issue for $2,004,000. The vote will not be on separate roads, that is, a voter cannot vote for one road and against another. The vote will be on the entire system.

Court Rules Amounts

The Supreme Court has ruled that where definite amounts are set out for definite roads, that as much of the money as necessary for said roads must be used to build each road. The Attorney General has approved the proceedings in connection with this election in accordance with this decision, which means that each and every road will be built if the bond issue carries.

How much will taxes be increased if this bond issue carries? This is the big question everyone wants to know. The most that taxes can be increased will be 53c on the $100 valuation. $5.30 on the $1,000 assessed valuation. This means that if a person owns 160 acres of land assessed at $12.00 per acre, the most his taxes can be increased will be $9.65 per year for this road bond issue. If his 160 acres of land is assessed at $20 per acre, the most his taxes can be for this road bond issue will be $16.96 a year.

Never Reach Amount

As a matter of fact the taxes for this road bond issue should never be this much. In the first place, the bonds can only be sold as contracts are let or aid received from the State and Federal governments. It will take several year sto let the contracts and get State and Federal aid for these roads. The bonds will be sold only as they are needed and taxes will be levied only to pay the interest and sinking fund on the bonds as they are sold, which means that it will be several years until we will be paying taxes to pay the interest and sinking fund on the entire issue of $2,004,000.

The taxable valuation of Lubbock county are increasing at the rate of around $2,000,000 a year, which means that the rate per hundred dollars, or per thousand dollars, will decrease proportionately each year. There are other ways of handling the sale of these bonds also which will make a lower rate of tax possible.

What kind of roads will be built? The estimates for Highways Nos. 7, 9, and 53 are figured on the basis of concrete roads. The estimates for the county roads are based on an 8-inch Caliche Macadam base with a two-course inverted penetration asphalt topping. The latter road is as good as many counties are building on their State and Federal highways. This does not mean that these types of roads have been definitely decided on, but that sufficient money has been included to construct roads of these types or better.

Police found two .32 calibre slugs in the car and in an abandoned automobile nearby they found two .32 calibre cartridges for a revolver, a pair of army unionalls, other pieces of army equipment, and a map of army encampments at San Antonio.

Officers found $8.20 in currency, a watch and a pistol that had not been used in Cole's clothes and cashbox. He had gotten the pistol, friends said, when he was held up several weeks ago.

Pony Line Stands Firm Against The Assaults of King

With Hume On Sideline His Mates Manage To Defeat University Eleven; Game Is Hard Fought

(By Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Nov. 3.—Sammy Reed replaced Redman Hume in Southern Methodist University's football line-up today and filled the de-doubtable quarterback's shoes so well that he was largely responsible for the Methodist's 6 to 2 victory over Texas University here today.

Hume, around whom the Methodists have centered their offensive this season, was forced out early in the game with an injured leg.

It was a fast bewildering exhibition of passing. Fifty-one passes were attempted and 21 completed, seven by Texas and 14 by S. M. U.

Ponies Pass To Touchdown

Passes accounted for the Methodist's touchdown. A 40-yard pass, Reed to Love, and a 35-yard heave, Reed to Schaerdel, the latter wiggling five more yards, did the work. Two incomplete passes intervened between the two long ones.

Many of the 16,000 spectators thought Texas had scored a touchdown in one of its two disappointing stands on the edge of the enemy goal. Near the end of the game, with the ball almost touching the S. M. U. goal, Captain Rufus King lunged mightily for a score. He was borne on top of the seething mass of players, apparently going over, as some saw it, but when Referee Ben Lee Boynton untangled the pile, the ball still was short of the goal. Boynton said afterward that before ruling "no touchdown" he was assured by both the umpire and head-linesman that the ball never did cross the line.

Longhorns Play Well

Texas came within three yards of scoring in the first quarter when Gordy Brown, one of the game's outstanding players, blocked Hume's punt and sprinted to within four yards of the goal. Two plays left the ball three yards short, and Shelley failed to gain as the line gave way. Penalized five yards for delaying the game, Texas failed at a short pass and the ball went to the Methodists.

Reed and Love dominated the game with their passes and runs, and the Methodists clearly outplayed Texas. On other hand, Texas' defensive rarely has been better. Mac Burnett, who replaced the injured Wray at center, played a star defensive game, as well as Gordy Brown. The Methodists were unable to gain much through the line, although Baccus, Powell and Sanders of the Methodists frequently opened the way for their backs.

A new potential star was unoovered in Perkins of Texas, who went in for Shelley in the second half. Perkins figured in one of the most sensational plays of the game, a triple pass. Shelley, back in the game again, passed to King and King passed to Perkins for a 56 yard gain. Perkins was a formidable ground gainer for the rest of the game.

Texas got its two points after the near-touchdown by King. With the ball right on his goal line, Reed of S. M. U. chose, instead of punting to get out of the dangerous position by touching the ball to the ground for a Texas safety, giving S. M. U. the ball on its 20 yard line for a free kick.

Line-ups:

S. M. U.	Pos.	Texas
Hammon	Left Tackle	G. Brown
Baccus (c)	Left Guard	Phillips
Powell	Center	Wray
Sanders	Right Guard	Sewell
R. Brown	Right Tackle	Cowley
Schaerdel	Right End	Ford
Hume	Quarter Back	Beular
Love	Right Half	Shelley
Hopper	Fullback	King (c)

Officials: Referee, Boynton, (Williams); Umpire, Kenney (Miss.); Headlinesman, Braun (Sewanee); Field Judge, Arbuckle (Illinois).

Scoring: S. M. U.—Touchdown—Schaerdel; Texas—Safety (Reed, S. M. U.); first downs, S. M. U., 17, Texas 8. Texas punting, Shelley 8, for average of 42 yards; King, once, 30 yards, Perkins 2, average 50 yards. S. M. U. punting, Hume 3, average 35 yards; Reed 3, average 36 yards. Passes—Texas attempted 30, completed 7 for 173 yards; S. M. U. attempted 31, completed 14 for 250 yards.

St. Eds Loses To Loyola Team, 28-0

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 3. (AP)—Beneath the chilly, clear roof of the first real football day of the season here, Loyola's team met the second invasion of St. Edward's university this afternoon and turned it back as almost 5,000 persons sat banked in the double-decked stands of Loyola stadium.

The score this time was 28 to 0.

Princeton Draws Tie With Ohio U.

OHIO STADIUM, COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 3. (AP)—Princeton and Ohio State fought out a bitterly contested six to six tie today in a game marked by brilliant and mediocre play.

The Tigers scored first at the close of the third period when Ed Wittmer plunged six yards for a touchdown after Princeton had driven from the 33-yard line where Ohio State fumbled.

The Buckeyes came back in the fourth period with an offensive that resulted in the tying score when Byron Eby dashed 13 yards on a run utside his own left end, culminating an uninterrupted drive from midfield.

Denton Pedagogs Are Trounced By Revamped Aggies

New Forward Wall Big Help As Farmers Smother Lads From North Texas 44-0 On Home Field

(By Associated Press)

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 3.—Coach Oana Bible's revamped Texas Aggies smothered the North Texas Teachers' college Eagles, 44 to 0, here today. The Aggies displayed a slashing offensive and scored almost at will, making at least one touchdown in each quarter.

The Farmers' first two touchdowns came within 10 minutes of play. Davis counted first when he crossed the Eagles' goal line after he, Burgess and Conover had carried the ball down the field on end runs and line plunges. The second counter resulted from a 35-yard pass by Davis to Alsabrook, who ran the remaining five yards over the line.

Long Passes Scores.

Alsabrook scored again in the third quarter, when he snared a 35-yard pass from Davis and romped 35 yards more. Petty also scored on a long pass when he took a 30-yard heave from Davis and ran 15 yards. Other Aggie touchdowns were made by Mills, Conover and Dorsey, all of whom turned in excellent games against the bewildered Teachers. Burgess gained ground consistently all afternoon.

The Aggies' remodeled forward wall showed to advantage against the Eagles, Captain Bartlett, Delary, Brown, Snead, Richter and Vanzant all turning in good games.

Crabtree was the outstanding back for the Eagles, while Moore played an excellent game at guard.

The lineups:

Teachers	Pos.	Aggies
Browning	Left End	Petty
Rice	Center	Brown
Echols	Right Guard	Vanzant
Lindon	Right Tackle	Bartlett (c)
Jones	Right End	Alsabrook
Crabtree	Quarterback	Davis
Reeman	Right Half	Zarafonetis
York	Fullback	Burgess

Scoring: Touchdowns, Davis Alsabrook 2, Dorsey, Petty, Conover, Mills. Points after touchdown, Zarafonetis 2. Officials, Moore (Vanderbilt), referee; Bronson (Illinois), umpire; Graham (Iowa), head linesman; Morrison (Oklahoma), field judge.

Expect Records To Be Smashed In Turkey Day Tilt

Heavy Demand for Tickets Indicate Aggie-Longhorn Clash Will Draw Greatest Gate Thanksgiving

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 2.—Heavy demand for tickets for the Thanksgiving Day battle between the Texas Aggies and the Texas Longhorns, to be played at Austin this year, indicates that the forthcoming Turkey Day tilt will break all attendance records for an Aggie-Longhorn clash, James Sullivan business manager of athletics has pointed out. If a new record is set it will be a formidable one for the Thanksgiving Day game played at Austin in 1926 showed gross gate receipts of more than $76,000.

Growth Is Remarkable

Illustration of the growth in attendance through the years at Aggie-Longhorn Thanksgiving Day games is given in figures on receipts at some of the past games which Mr. Sullivan has in his files. For instance back in 1909, nineteen years ago, when the Aggies and the Longhorns met in that memorable Thanksgiving Day battle at Houston, total receipts from the game were only $6,751.50. The Aggies proportion amounted to $2,194.24. The game in 1910 at Austin grossed $6,078.50. A. and M.'s share of the net receipts amounted to $2,917.03.

Figures for 1926 reflect the increase in popularity of the game through the years, particularly the increase in the Aggie-Longhorn game. Gross receipts of the 1926 game, played at Austin, were in excess of $76,000, A. and M.'s share of the net being around $31,000.

Total receipts of the game played at College Station in 1927 amount to nearly $51,000. A. and M.'s share of the net was nearly $25,000.

Inspired Baptist Eleven Ruins TCU Hopes for Season

Gilliland's 80-Yard Gallop And Lucky Kick Put Frog Machine On Blink; Hopes For Perfect Year Fade

FORT WORTH, Nov. 3.—In a contest replete with spectacular dashes, Baylor university abruptly halted Texas Christian university's march toward the Southwest conference title with a 7 to 6 victory here today.

The driving Frog offense which had battered six other opponents into submission this year failed at critical stages and when Christian ball carriers did crash through the staunch Bruin line, their thrusts were checked by a secondary defense that seemingly played an inspired game throughout.

Gilliland Is Star

Gilliland's speedy dash of 80 yards for a touchdown in the first quarter and Potter's kick that struck the uprights, but fell across the goal for the extra point brought the margin of victory.

After Nobile, Baylor back, and Moore, of T. C. U. had engaged in a punting duel early in the game the Bears took the ball on their own 15 yard stripe. Washam reeled off a five yard gain and Gilliland brought spectators in the packed stadium to their feet by out sprinting the entire Frog eleven and dashing over the goal line. Akers the only player between the Baylor back and the goal slipped on the turf when he attempted to leap at the flying figure.

Frogs Threaten

T. C. U. threatened shortly after when a succession of passes put the oval on Baylor's 20-yard line, but Paradeaux batted down one of Grubb's tosses and the drive ended.

Toler accounted for the Frog touchdown in the second quarter when he took the ball on the victor's 35 yard line, raced past Wilson, the Bear safety man, and downed the pigskin behind Baylor's goal line.

With but three minutes to play and defeat looming ahead of them, the Frogs launched a desperate passing game that sta one time carried them to the 10-yard line. When the big Baylor forwards smeared an attempt to batter the line, Atkins, Frog center, dripped back and attempted to boot a field goal at 20 yards. A wave of Green and Gold Bear linesmen filtered through, however, and blocked the kick.

The line-up:

Baylor	Pos	T. C. U.
Paradeaux	Center	Atkins
Witcher	Right Guard	Reynolds
Bullock	Right End	Alexander
Washam	Quarterback	Akers
Nobile	Left Halfback	Eddleman
Gilliland	Right Halfback	Leland
Kathcart	Fullback	Thompson

Officials: Rix (Dartmouth) referee; Minton (Indiana) umpire; Lipscomb (Centre) head linesman; Boswell (Centre) field judge.

Score by periods:

Baylor	7	0	0	0	—7
T. C. U.	0	6	0	0	—6

Touchdowns: Gilliland, Toler (sub for Akers); Point after touchdown—Potter.

First downs: Baylor 4, T. C. U. 13. Yards gained from scrimmage—Baylor 175, T. C. U. 308.

They Fail Before Mustangs of SMU

"Rammin' Rufus" King, star Texas university fullback, and Ed Buelar, quarterback, shown top to bottom above, are good football players, but they and their mates were not good enough yesterday as the Longhorns bowed to the Mustangs of S. M. U., by a 6 to 2 score. King, a great line plunger, had a chance to cover himself with glory and give his a team a victory but he faltered on the 1-yard line when a gain was needed.

Erect Memorial To Walter Camp At Yale Stadium

Tribute Paid to Father Of Modern Football As American Colleges Dedicate Memorial Gateway

(By Associated Press)

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 3.—With tribute paid to the sportsmanship of the late Walter Camp, a great memorial to the father of modern football was dedicated at Yale today.

A passive gateway leading to the Yale bowl and athletic fields forms the memorial given by American colleges and schools uniting with graduates of Yale to honor Camp "and the traditions of American college sport which he exemplified."

Delivering the principal address, R. K. Hall, of Dartmouth, chairman of the National Collegiate Athletic Association committee in charge of the plans for the memorial, praised the spirit prompting participation by other colleges and schools.

Hall Pays Tribute

Mr. Hall, a life long friend of Walter Camp, and head of the football rules committee, came, he said, to speak of a man who understood as few men have the American boy.

"No man has done more for American sport than Walter Camp but his greatest contribution to sport is the standards of sportsmanship," he declared. "Non man has done more to build up the code which, if we preserve it, will keep our sports clean and wholesome for all time and maintain these sports as one of the powerful sources of our nation's strength and our national character.

"That is why this monument is here. That is why the schools and colleges of the country rejoice today in having shared the privilege of building this memorial."

Thirteenth Pass Jinxes Louisiana And Porkers Win

SHREVEPORT, Nov. 3.—Louisiana's thirteenth attempt to execute a forward pass jinxed the team here today, when Jack Dale, fleet-footed Arkansas back, intercepted the heave and raced 55 yards for a one touchdown victory, adding the extra point himself to make the score 7 to 0 in favor of Arkansas.

Gov. Huey P. Long of Louisiana was on the sidelines with a number of prominent spectators.

Louisiana State then threw a scare into the Arkansas team in the first minute of play, when Brown circled the Razorback left end and was not brought down until he had covered 53 yards. The Arkansas forward wall tightened, however, and the Louisiana threat passed.

Arkansas bobbled two chances to score in the first half, when Dale missed an attempted field goal and Lambert caught and then dropped a pass behind Louisiana's goal line.

In the closing quarter, Louisiana abandoned defensive play almost entirely and sought to pass her way to a victory, but could not complete the tosses consistently enough to make much headway. Arkansas' secondary defense kept the passing offensive under good control at all times.

Bevo Beavers, Arkansas fullback, was the most consistent ground gained of the game and Van Sickle, Razorback tackle, the outstanding defensive man of the day.

The lineups:

Arkansas	Pos.	La. State U.
Schoonover	Left End	Mason
Winters	Left Tackle	Neson
Creighton	Left Guard	Ellis
Buckalew	Center	Huffman
Vansickle	Right Guard	Wilson

Hume May Be Out Until Turkey Day

AUSTIN, Nov. 3. (AP)—Redman Hume, star player of the Southern Methodist University football team, injured in the game this afternoon with Texas University, may not be back in the lineup until the Mustang's Thanksgiving game Christian University.

Hume was on crutches tonight with a strained leg and twisted ankle.

Coach Morrison could not say whether Hume will be available before Thanksgiving, but was inclined to think the chances are against it. Extent of the wound had not been fully determined.

S. M. U. fans said it was the first time Hume ever had been out with injuries, either in high school or university.

ELECTED CAPTAIN

Dallas Boy Heads 1928 Aggie Carriers

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 3.—George Moore, Dallas boy who was a squadman on the championship Texas Aggie cross country team last season, has been leceted captain of the 1928 Aggie harriers to take the place left vacant by J. P. Avila, captain-elect from San Antonio, who did not return to school this year. Moore was a consistent runner last season and this year in practice competitions has shown a marked improvement, finishing close to the top on every occasion.

Superior Passing and Running Attack of Visiting Team Results In Hard Fought Victory; Lighter and Less Experienced Westerners Glorious In Defeat

BY ALLAN CARNEY
Avalanche-Journal Sports Editor

Fighting against overwhelming odds, the Lubbock Westerners went down vloriously in defeat before the vaunted Amarillo Golden Sandstorm football eleven on the Tech gridiron Saturday afternoon in the most thrilling exhibition of football strategy shown on the local field this season. Approximately 5,000 were on hand to witness the high school classic of the year in which Lubbock high held the powerful Sandies as no other team in the state has done this year. The score was 32 to 6.

A superior passing and running attack spelled defeat for the Gold and Black warriors from Lubbock High. Dazed by two touchdowns which were scored by the visitors in the first two minutes of play, the Westerners came back fighting, but were unable to cope with the dazzling aerial display. Fleet-footed backs ripped off sensational gains through and around the Lubbock line, while Walker and Travis took the lead in toting the leather and heaving passes into the waiting arms of the Amarillo ends and backs.

Gas Was Thriller.

The game was much closer than the score indicates. After getting the jump in the first two minutes of play, the Sandies were held on even terms by the fighting, charging Westerners except for occasional breaks when Travis, Gibson or Hudgens broke loose for long gains around the Lubbock ends, or one of Travis' passes found its mark.

Although going down in defeat the Lubbock aggregation exhibited a plunging, running and passing attack which swept the Sandies off their feet during the second quarter, and threatened to score on several occasions during the final periods. Smith, Dowell and Pierce shared honors for Lubbock in ball carrying. In the line, Captain Barton, Wilson and Castleberry stood out with their brilliant defensive work. Barton played stellar football in spite of a painful injury.

Moody Smith Is Great.

To Moody Smith goes the honor of throwing scare after scare into the Amarillo camp with his sensational off-tackle smashes and sweeping ends runs. In the second quarter when the Westerners staged their most impressive drive against the Sandies, Smith carried the heavy end of the Lubbock attack and gained almost at will against the invaders.

Amarillo scored its first touchdown within the first minute of play, after both teams had fumbled. Barton kicked off to Larsen to begin the game and on the first play Bob Walker fumbled, Lubbock recovering on the 35-yard line. Powers of Lubbock started on the first play for the locals and fumbled, Larsen recovering for Amarillo. After Walker had rammed the line for three yards, Kenneth Travis, fleet-footed quarterback, broke through Lubbock's right tackle and raced 53 yards across the last white line for the first touchdown of the game.

Fumble Is Disastrous.

The second marker came a few minutes later when Walker recovered a Lubbock fumble on the latter's 16-yard line. Walker ripped off eight around the end and Hudgens carried the ball over on the next play. Travis missed the try for point after both markers.

A pass, Travis to Walker, netted the third counter for the Sandies late in the first period, after the oval had been advanced to the 10-yard line by a series of passes and off-tackle bucks. Travis was successful this time and the score was 19 to 0, as the first quarter ended with the ball in mid-field.

Lubbock Fights Gamely.

A determined Westerner eleven came back in the second period to show the most brilliant football of the day. With Moody Smith carrying the ball most of the time, Lubbock marched down the field, registering first down after first down. Taking the oval on the 20-yard line the Westerners staged a drive that would not be denied. Three beautifully executed forward passes turned the trick for the Westerners and the touchdown was soon forthcoming. The first was a 16-yard heave, Smith to Castleberry which the rangy end grabbed with his fingertips. Another Smith to Rich for 20 yards put the ball on the Amarillo 25-yard line. The scoring play caught the Sandies off guard. As the interference started to the right, H. A. Castleberry, Lubbock left end, darted far out to the left and had an open field ahead of him as he gathered in the pass from Smith.

The Westerners were in possession of the ball as the half ended.

Sandies Score in Third.

With the same combination back on nthe field in the second half, the Westerners were able to hold the stampeding Sandies until the final minutes of the third quarter.

Travis was again responsible for the Amarillo score. After holding the Westerners for downs on the Amarillo 15-yard line, the Sandies started a crushing drive with Travis, Hudgens and Larsen in the stellar roles. A pass, Travis to Larsen across the Lubbock goal was complete and the score stood at 26 to 6.

Pierce Plays Well.

The feature of the last quarter was the performance of George Pierce, Lubbock quarterback, who went in for Dowell in the final period. Pierce got loose on several occasions for substantial gains through and around the Sandies line and also showed up to advantage with his passing and kicking.

One of Pierce's passes, however, was turned into the final touchdown for the Amarillo crew. Travis intercepted one of the last-minute heaves on the Lubbock 28-yard line and on the next play passed over the goal line to Larsen.

Waivers Reported On Three Players

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 3. (AP)—Reports from sources close to Connie Mack that Ty Cobb, Tris Speaker and "Bullet Joe" Bush, all with the Athletics last season, were to be waived out of the American League and given the unconditional releases brought baseball out of winter storage today.

Mack, when pressed for confirmation of the story, declined to affirm that the trio of veterans would be given unconditional freedom, but at the same time would not deny that waivers for them had been asked.

The silence in the Rocky mountains is so great that the flapping of partridge wings may be heard for several miles.

Sidelights On the Clash Between the Westerners and the Sandies

Amarillo coaches and players were high in their praise for the Westerner football machine after the game yesterday, and well they might be. Those Gold and Black warriors of Lubbock High put up a much better fight than the score indicates. Outweighed and overpowered in almost every department of the game, the Westerners gave the gamest exhibition seen on the gridiron in many seasons.

While the Amarillo team was dangerous because of the performance of a few outstanding men, Lubbock displayed a fighting unit with every member of the team playing stellar football. A few, however, stand out above the rest with their brilliant play.

Moody Smith played one whale of a game for the Lubbock cause. Already considered one of the shiftiest backs in the district, Smith now looms as an outstanding contender for all-district honors. Not only did he bring the stands to their feet time after time with his spectacular runs, but his passes were tossed with uncanny accuracy.

George Pierce didn't get into the fray until the last quarter, but he was in there long enough to show the Amarillo gridders plenty of tricks about toting the pigskin. The little 125 pounds of dynamite slipped through tackle, skirted the ends and directed the team's play in the most impressive manner. With the Lubbock punts falling far below normal, Pierce took over the kicking duties in the final period and boosted the team's average considerably.

Speaking of lasting fortitude, Capt. Raymond Barton displayed a fighting heart in the game yesterday that is seldom seen on the high school gridiron. With an injured shoulder that would put the normal man in the hospital, the red-headed line captain led his teammates on defensive play when every down meant added suffering for him.

After the brilliant Bob Walker was taken from the game with an injury, the Amarillo team showed a letdown in its driving power, as well as defensive play. Walker is one of the greatest broken-field runners seen in this section of the state and should make some college a valuable backfield star after this year.

As we have said before, Walker isn't the whole show on the Amarillo aggregation. Travis was equally as dangerous as Walker with his sensational runs and accurate passing. Hudgins and Gibson also showed their heels to the Lubbock gridsters on several occasions.

The Amarillo pep squad gave the spectators a beautiful performance between the halves with their formations. And they were especially attractive, mainly, because of their colors—gold and black—which happens to be the Lubbock High school colors.

Never once letting up, the Lubbock High school cheering section gave the best exhibition of team loyalty that has been shown this year. With certain defeat staring them in the face, the high school pepsters kept up their cheers to the end.

The game yesterday was well "covered" by visiting scouts. Wichita Falls, Cisco and Abilene were represented by football experts who were on hand to take down the strong and weak points of the teams in action. Lubbock meets the Wichita eleven on November 17, in Wichita Falls.

Bucs Take To Air To Clip Wings Of Houston Gridmen

Swashbuckling Crew Sweep Down Upon Birds And Win Battle With Hard Drives and Aerial Flips

(By Associated Press)

HOUSTON, Nov. 3.—Opportunity sailed with Coach Edens' swashbuckling Southwestern Pirates today and the Buccaneers, quick to grasp it, shattered the hopes of the Rice Owls for victory in a stunning 14 to 6 upset.

While more than 4,000 rabid football bugs alternately shivered and cheered, an alert Southwestern seven came back fighting in the third quarter of the hotly-contested affray with a few spectacular flourishes that pushed over two touchdowns and sank the Owl ship.

Owl Hopes Blasted.

The Owls had dearly hoped to lay the Pirates low, but a frantic closing rush in the final chapters by Southwestern, coupled with a rare ability to capitalize on the breaks, completely demolished Rice.

It happened in the third quarter, with the swiftness of fate. The period was hardly five minutes old when Allnoch kicked out on Southwestern's own 47-yard line. Young, star of the steady line hammering of the Pirates, launched an aerial attack that started the Blue and Gray on its downward path.

Passing Game Wins.

A beautiful pass, Young to Brannon, gained 35 yards, placing the ball on Rice's 14-yard marker. From there, Janick took the ball over on four terrific smashes off tackle.

Just a few moments later, Allnoch got off a miserably short 14-yard kick that sailed out on his own 34-yard mark. Young took to the air again, heaving a sharp pass to Brannon, who was off like mad to the 10-yard line, where Brannon, with a lightning plunge, scored.

Rain Splattered Gothamites Lose On Fumbled Ball

Hopes Of New York for An Undefeated Season Sent Glimmering As Giant End Runs for Touchdown

BY ALAN J. GOULD

YANKEE STADIUM, NEW YORK Nov. 3.—New York university's high hopes of championship football honors were smeared in the mud and gloom of the Yankee stadium today by an alert, scrappy band of opportunists wearing the Blu and Gray of the undefeated Georgetown university eleven. The score was 7 to 2, after one of the most desperately fought gridiron battles the East has seen this year, played in a steady downpour before a crowd of 50,000.

End Is Hero

The mud spattered hero of Georgetown's triumph was Kenneth Provincial, 183 pound end, who picked up a fumble by O'Herin, Violet quarterback, in the first five minutes of the game and raced 87 yards for the only touchdown of the game, aided by a screen of fine interference.

Score by periods:

New York U.	0	0	0	2	—2
Georgetown	7	0	0	0	—7

Scoring: New York safety (by Schmidt, sub for Bozek). Georgetown touchdown, Provincial; extra point Mooney, (placement).

Follows in Brothers' Steps

COLUMBIA, Mo., Nov. 3. (NEA)—For the seventh year in succession, a member of the same Smith family from Sapulpa, Okla., is playing center for the University of Missouri football team.

In 1922, when he was a sophomore, Clyde Smith won the job as center of Missouri's eleven. He played all the year and the next two years, gaining a place in his final year on the all-Missouri Valley team.

Old grads returned in 1925 and learned that Smith was still playing center for Missouri. However, it was Glenn Smith, a brother of Clyde, who won his job as a sophomore and held it until he finished school last June.

With his departure, the third of the Smiths came into prominence. His name is Raymond and he is a sophomore and he is playing center for Missouri this year. Missouri officials predict a brilliant future for him.

It looks like a thickly laid plot, this always having a member of the Smiths from Sapulpa playing center for Missouri.

And Gwinn Henry wonders if there are any more Smith boys at home.

School Authorities Disapprove Of Monday Games for Bulldog Eleven; Will Find Substitute for Bulldogs

A telegram late last night from Frank Stocking, coach of the Clarendon college Bulldogs, called off the football game tomorrow between the Tech freshman football eleven and the Clarendon aggregation. Disapproval of Monday games by school authorities was given as the reason for the second change in the date of the contest.

Originally scheduled for last Friday and changed to Monday because of the condition of the roads the last week, the news of further postponement came as keen disappointment to the coaches and members of the first-year squad. With five weeks of strenuous training behind them, the freshman gridsters were in prime condition for the tilt with the junior college team and were anxiously awaiting the opening whistle Monday afternoon.

Coach Grady Higginbotham was unable to say last night when the game would be played. In case the Clarendon eleven cannot come anytime this week, another game will be arranged with a nearby college, he said.

Lineup Uncertain

Coach Ingerton was uncertain last night as to the starting lineup for the freshman team tomorrow. It is entirely probable that all the candidates for the team will be given a chance to prove their mettle. The scrimmage sessions with the varsity have been short, and as yet little is known about the respective strength of the men.

Michigan Wins Over Illini, 3-0

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 3. (AP)—Smothering Illinois' vaunted line crushing attack and seizing a break to score a field goal, Michigan won its first game of the season today and virtually wrecked Illinois' big ten title hopes. The score was 3 to 0.

YALE 18; DARTMOUTH 0

Elis Win Before Crowd of 45,000 Persons

YALE BOWL, NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 3. (AP)—Yale defeated Dartmouth 18 to 0 in their annual battle today before 45,000 rain-drenched spectators. Capt. Eddy and Nutchloud scored for the Elis in the second period and McEwen took over Yale's third marker after catching a 20-yard pass in the fourth quarter.

ARMY 38, DEPAUW 12

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 3. (AP)—A team of Army triumphed over DePauw today, 38 to 12. The team for the little Indian college threw several scares into the Cadet second-string players, holding them to a close score for the first three periods and putting over two scores.

A menu of both fried and roast chicken, dressing, creamed peas, mashed potatoes, pickled peaches, fruit salad, ice cream and cake was thoroughly enjoyed by the hungry lads. The entire affair was one of fun, and good will that it so noticeable among the football boys. ATTENTION! LABORING MEN & WOMEN
DO YOU WANT AMERICA FLOODED With Cheap Labor?
If Not, Vote for Herbert Hoover

Al Smith in his acceptance speech said:

"I am opposed to the principle of restriction (of immigration) based on the figures of immigrant population contained in a census thirty-eight years ago."

This necessarily implies that he prefers using the census of 1920 as a basis of immigration restriction, instead of that of 1890 as now provided by law.

This change in our immigration law would largely increase the immigration permitted from Italy, Russia, Poland, Hungaria, and other countries of Southern Europe where cheap labor immigrates to the United States, and would largely decrease the immigration permitted from Germany, England, Ireland, from which countries high priced labor immigrates to the United States.

The change from the census of 1890 declared for by Governor Smith in his speech of acceptance is illustrated by the following table showing the number of immigrants permitted by the present law, and the number that would be permitted by using the census of 1920 as a basis.

Nationality	Census of 1890 (Present Basis)	Census of 1920
Germans	51,227	33,447
English	34,007	27,306
Irish	28,567	16,419
French	3,954	3,100
Italian	3,845	32,246
Russians	2,248	25,049
Poles	5,982	25,325
Hungarians	473	7,412
All others	34,364	71,122
TOTALS	164,667	241,426

Every Tammany Congressman has always voted against proposed restrictions on Foreign Immigration.

If you are opposed to distributing our Immigration Laws vote for Herbert Hoover.

Niacaragua Will Elect President In Voting Sunday

Americans To Supervize Selection Of New Chief Official Of South American Republic

(By Associated Press)

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Nov. 3.—Under supervision of American Marines and an American election board, Nicaraguans tomorrow will elect a president in a general election for which the registration has been the largest ever known.

The country was described recently by marine headquarters as peaceful, with General Augustino Sandino, who a year ago was actively leading a rebel movement, stated to be no longer a factor.

Prohibition has been established for the period of the election by presidential decree. Manufacture of brandy is a government monopoly and large amounts of it have been handed out in previous elections by the government in exchange for votes. This year all government liquor warehouses have been padlocked and possession or sale of brandy by private individuals was prohibited.

The election board has taken over supervision of the government telegraph lines which in previous elections had been used by the government's political workers free of charge while the opposition party was denied the right to send telegrams to members of its own organization.

In order to prevent repeating, every voter will be marked on the hand with a chemical stain as he casts his ballot. Details of the method to be used have been withheld by the election board since it was thought that both parties might try to mark opponents in advance of the election to prevent them from being allowed to vote.

The candidates are: Conservative, Adolfo Benard of Granada, for president, and Julio Cardenal, for vice president; Liberal, General Jose Maria Moncada, of Managua, for president, and Enoc Aguada, for vice president.

American supervision came as a result of a revolution by liberals which broke out on May 2, 1926, when they captured Bluefields and fighting continued throughout the summer. Senator Adolfo Diaz, conservative, was named president by congress on November 14 and three days later was recognized by the United States.

Dr. Juan B. Sacasa, the liberal leaders set up a government at Puerto Cabezas. Civil war broke out and American marines were landed to protect American interests.

Colonel Henry L. Stimson, former secretary of war and now governor general of the Philippine Islands, was sent to Nicaragua by President Coolidge on April 9, 1927, as a peace emissary. He induced conservative and liberal leaders, except General Sandino, to accept peace terms by which both sides were disarmed an amnesty was proclaimed and American supervision for the election was provided.

General Sandino continued warfare in the north and a large number of marines were sent to Nicaragua to end this rebel movement. A considerable number of marines and members of the Nicaraguan constabulary were killed or wounded

MISS BUCK ENTERTAINS PUPILS

Miss Pauline Buck entertained with a delightful Hallowe'en party Wednesday afternoon at her home in West Crosbyton for her music pupils.

The Hallowe'en motif was used in the decorations and also the delicious salad course served by the hostess, assisted by Miss Cora Lee Woody. Witches and ghosts were very realistic as the guests listened to their tales in darkened rooms and participated in various Hallowe'en games.

Those enjoying the happy occasion were: Miriam Cooper, Marguerette and Kathleen Mabe, Louise Curry, Elizabeth and Jane Fuller, Francis and Jean Carter, Hazel Dell Dunn, Irene Dendy, Olivia Taylor, Jake and Bobbie Mabe, Marcella Tipps, Jean Selber, Francis Oldham, Norma Smith, and Ruby and Melba Pauline Collier, guests.

MRS. J. A. PARKS IS CLUB HOSTESS

The Hallowe'en spirit was very effectively carried out in the decorations and table appointments when Mrs. J. A. Parks entertained members of the Wednesday Bridge club at her home on Fifth street, Wednesday afternoon. The entertaining rooms were "spooky" with Hallowe'en symbols adding a zest to the games in which Mrs. Sep Smith scored high.

A delightful refreshment course carried out the Hallowe'en motif. Included among the guests and club members were Mesdames W. R. Davis, Sep Smith, J. A. Buck, G. M. McKee, R. C. Carter, F. A. Green, J. J. Taylor, Leslie Mitchel, Ira Taylor, Roy McDaniel, Zugg George and Jake M. Mabe.

MRS. GREEN HOSTESS AT BRIDGE CLUB

Mrs. F. A. Green was a gracious hostess to the Ace High Bridge club, when she entertained with a Hallowe'en bridge party Tuesday afternoon on third street.

The home was attractive with Hallowe'en colors. Cats, witches and owls seemingly prowled about, adding to the merriment of the occasion.

In the games Mrs. Zugg George scored high and Mrs. John Heard received the cut prize. A refreshment course, suggestive of the season, was passed to Mesdames H. C. Oldham, C. R. Owen, Edgar Hutchins, John Heard, C. M. Huddleston, Zugg George, R. C. Carter, W. P. Walker, Roy McDaniel, R. C. Westerman, club members; Mesdames Ira Taylor, and Leslie Mitchell, guests.

We were informed yesterday by Mr. Thorp, district manager of the State Telephone company, that they would build a phone line to Watson in the very near future.

A line is now being built by this company from Dougherty to Crosbyton, and just as soon as this line is finished, which will probably be within the next two or three weeks, the line will then be commenced to Watson.

FIRST FREEZE OF SEASON HERE THURSDAY NIGHT

The first freeze of the season visited this section on Thursday night, November 2, when the thermometer registered 28 degrees. It is not known at this time just what effect the freeze will have on some of the late cotton, but it is said that the freeze is pretty hard for the first of the season.

MRS. C. C. WILLIAMS SPEAKS AT ROTARY CLUB

A good program was rendered Tuesday at the meeting of the Rotary club by the Sixth Object committee, its primary object being educational. W. P. Walker is chairman of this committee, and after a short talk announced the numbers for the occasion, which consisted of music by the Crosbyton orchestra, and an interesting address by Mrs. C. C. Williams on observations of the foreign countries. This address had to do with a ten weeks trip to Australia, that Mrs. Williams had the pleasure of taking while teaching in the Philippine Islands.

The members of the Crosbyton orchestra, who were present and furnished music for the occasion were: Prof. John C. Allen, Bowman Dorsey, Hubert Curry, Roy Heath, and Mrs. Albert Littlefield.

The attendance campaign that has been in progress for some time between the two sides in the club, came to a close Tuesday, and the result will be announced at the next meeting. The defeated side will entertain the winners and their Rotary Anns.

FISH'S FEELINGS DISCUSSED

Do fish suffer when caught on a hook, is a question being discussed in Europe following the decision of a German judge that fish have no feelings and cannot suffer pain. One authority declares that fish undoubtedly have a sense of touch and, therefore, a sense of feeling. Another says that they have a highly-organized sensatory system, and the fact that they dance about after being caught seems to suggest pain. There have been a number of convictions in Europe for cruelty to fish.

SUMMARY

Market practically unchanged from Friday's close. Liverpool closed worse than due because of liquidation of long cotton and the American market opened easy. Trading was dull during the two hour session and the only high spot was the issuance of a private estimate by the Japan Cotton company. This firm lowered its last month's figures of 13,816,000 bales for the indicated yield to 13,789,000. The general trend of the market leans toward continued liquidation pending the election and the government report of November 8. At best it is a trading market.

Carter of New York said today: "The demand for cotton is restricted at the moment because the average buyer is waiting until after the government issues its crop guess on November 8. A constant pressure of hedges which is arresting the movement of the crop and liquidation of scattered holdings causes a sagging market in the absence of a normal demand. A larger interest in cotton with a better demand will no doubt be in evidence after the 8th. The uncertainties of the election are also restricting business to some extent, but with both parties pledged to protect American products with a tariff the election is not an important factor in cotton as we see it. Both democratic party and the republican party are rather certain to protect fully the cotton business of this country to the greatest extent."

LONDON CABLE

London cabled: "Steady cloth business is pressing in Manchester but buyers are acting cautiously fearing a decline in the price of raw material. When confidence is established a larger business is expected with Indian and China. The demand for American yarns is much improved and margins for spinners are much better."

New York:—Textile works analyses say that as domestic consumption plus exports will probably be a little larger, the carry-over should be reduced further and thus prices should rise above the 20 cent mark again and may touch 22 cents by spring.

Proctor & Gamble also issued their private estimate today. They place the indicated yield at 14,250,000 bales against their figures of 14,175,000 bales last month.

Snow was reported at Independance, Okla.

New Orleans —Week-end reviews of the country's general trade say that retail trade has been quickened, which in turn has stimulated wholesale business. Domestic cotton goods markets report fair trade.

Exports of cotton today at New Orleans 11,473 bales. Total spot cotton sales in southern markets yesterday was 36,641 bales against 33,756 same day last year.

Total spot cotton sales thus far this week 217,131 bales against 185,949 bales same time last year.

Total spot cotton sales in southern markets thus far this season are 3,219,404 bales against 2,877,887 same time last season.

Exports of cotton at Galveston today 35,415 bales.

WEATHER

Early reports indicated that the eastern half of the cotton belt was wet and that the western half was dry, with temperatures lower and frost and freezing in the northwest. There was a low barometer over the Great Lakes that reached southward into the cotton region. High area was over Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas 30.3. Forecast: Eastern belt; North Carolina and S. C. cloudy with occasional rains this afternoon and possibly tonight. Colder tonight. Sunday fair and colder. Georgia, cloudy with rain this afternoon and possibly in south and extreme east portion tonight. Colder tonight. Sunday fair. Alabama, partly cloudy and colder. Probably light frost tonight. Oklahoma, tonight fair not so cold in west and central portions. East Texas, tonight fair frost in north and west portions and near the east coast. Heavy frost in north portions. Sunday fair. Daily Markets

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Nov. 3. (AP)—The stock market easily absorbed the weekend liquidation today, which was augmented by future pre-election evening up of accounts. A few specialties and oils made moderate gains, while a wide assortment of losses extending from fractions to 3 points cropped out at the close.

The market was generally regarded as holding remarkably steady during the 2-hour session, in the face of the proximity of the national election, and the high total of brokers loans. The fact that the stock exchange total of loans was but slightly higher than the federal reserve total, however, was an encouraging factor, as was a further drop in sterling exchange to the previous year's low, foreshadowing further gold shipments.

Utilities encountered good demand and accumulation of oils continued. American Power and Light and Public Service of New Jersey forged ahead 3 points, and Commonwealth Power, Electric Power and Light, and National Power and Light recorded gains of more than a point.

In the oils, Sinclair was again heavily bought, gaining about a point and closing fractionally higher. Pan American Petroleum jumped more than 2 points, and Richfield more than a point. Marland made a small gain, but fell back fractionally lower.

Woolworth climbed 6 points to a new high at 209 1-2 and Buffalo and Susequehanna shot ahead 7 points to a new peak at 57. Warner Brothers issues made gains of about 5 points, and Industrial Rayon of 6 points. Number of gains of a point or so made earlier in the session were replaced by moderate recessions in the closing transactions, in such issues as General Motors, Chrysler, Radio, and International Telephone.

Dunhill International stepped up 2 1-2 points to a new high, while Colorado Fuel and Iron, Federal mining and Smeltering, General Refractories, International Match preferred, and Timken Roller Bearing made gains of 2 to 3 points. Express shares were sharply irregular, American gaining 12 and Adams losing 11 1-2 points. The coppers were generally steady. In the rails, Union Pacific improved fractionally, and Gulf Mobile and Northern climbed more than 3 points.

Allied Chemical American Bank Note, Barnet Leather, By-Products Coke, International Harvester, Montgomery Ward, and Motor Products yielded 3 to 5 points.

The slight easing of sterling to the years low was the feature of the generally steady foreign exchanges.

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, Nov. 3. (AP)—The hog market here today was steady. A top price of $9.25 was paid, and the bulk sold from $9.00 to $9.20. Sows traded from $7.50 to $8.00.

The usual nominal Saturday trading conditions prevailed in the cattle and sheep markets.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Nov. 3. (AP)—Jolted by a straight-from-the-shoulder notice that Russia is not to be a buyer wheat prices today flattened out. The notice came as a surprise to wheat bulls who recently have been making capital of reports that large purchases of wheat for Russia would be witnessed. Closing quotations on wheat were heavy, 1 1-2c to 2c net lower, with corn 5-8c to 7-8c off, oats showing 1-8c to 1-4c to 3-8c decline, and provisions varying from 2c setback to a rise of 15c.

KANSAS CITY LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 3. (AP)—Cattle around the 11-market circuit this week was featured by a reaction on beef steers, better grades closing unevenly higher, and at some points a mederate upturn was shown on the less desirable kinds, short fed light yearlings and she stock were under pressure at most points with maxium losses of 50c on the in-between grades yearlings and the lower priced cows, stocker and feeder steers moved slowly at steady to slightly lower figures, curtailed receipts prompted sharp price upturns on vealers and weighty slaughter calves, choice fed steers and yearlings in Chicago scored 18.00 the weeks top; aggregate receipts were estimated at 262,800 exclusive of 68,300 calves as compared with 305,825 cattle last week and 223,463 a year ago.

Hogs opened the week sharply lower but curtailed receipts on late days stimulated demand with prices working to levels 15 to 40c higher than a week ago.

A decided weak undertone prevailed on fat lambs after midweek and price declines of 50 to 1.00 were enforced aged stock was less active but no material changes were registered.

GIRL COCKTAIL CHAMPION

A girl in her 'teens was adjudged the best cocktail mixer in a contest held recently at Biarritz, France. It was a society event, and there were more than a hundred entries. The vote was for the most original flavors. The contestants stood behind a bar and mixed their entries as rapidly as possible, passing them to the spectators, who voted on the merits of each concoction. Some of the judges became rosy in their decisions as the contest and sampling progressed. The prize was a miniature cocktail bar to be fitted in an automobile.

PICTURE GIVEN SCHOOL

LITTLEFIELD, Nov. 3.—The Littlefield high school has just lately been presented with a picture from the collection of Miss Eva Fowler, who is head of the Department of Art in Kidd-Key college at Sherman. An exhibition of some of Miss Fowler's works was given here some weeks ago and attracted much favorable attention. The picture which has just been presented will be hung in the study hall.

Lubbock County School Board Favors Two Educational Amendments U. S. Constitution; Ask For Their Support

Group Meets In Session To Pass Resolutions Favoring Changes; Terrell's Opinion Opposed

The Lubbock County Board of Education at a meeting Friday afternoon, voted unanimously as favoring the two amendments to the Texas state constitution, which will be voted on at Tuesday's general election, both relating to school affairs.

The motion to endorse the amendments, made by W. O. Sheely, seconded and made unanimous, included also a statement that the board asks the people of Texas to give their support to the two amendments. Belief that the amendment calling for the terms of trustees being fixed at six years, instead of the present term of two years, was expressed as being of untold benefit to our schools, if it is incorporated in the laws of Texas, and hopes that it will be passed.

Second Amendment Favored

The other amendment, likewise, was heartily favored. This creates a state board of education and the county board desires its passage because they believe in removing the state board from the influence of politics. This, in itself, will be of great value to Texas schools.

In addition to Mr. Sheely, the county board of education is composed of Bob Crump, J. L. Benton, T. S. Reynolds and W. A. Fincher.

County Superintendent William M. Pevehouse stated Saturday that he is highly in favor of both amendments and urges that those people who have not made the matter a close and careful study, take into consideration that he had been a rural school man for 17 years and believes this is a forward step in the advancement of all schools throughout the state.

Objects to Terrell's Opinion

"Many people have expressed objection to George B. Terrell's statement, made a few days ago," said Mr. Pevehouse, "in which Mr. Terrell opposes these amendments. Some think that he was not able to see in these amendments what the ordinary school teachers and board members can see, and they can not see his reason for opposing them, when he contends that because the amendments do not say who will compose these boards, nor where he can construe the trustees amendment as he does."

PITTENGER FAVORS CHANGES

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

AUSTIN, Nov. 3.—In commenting on the proposed educational amendments to the State constitution, which come before the voting public on November 6, Dr. B. F. Pittenger, dean of the School of Education at the University of Texas, expressed his hearty approval of the amendments.

Looking Into Real Estate Purchase

A Series Of Articles Dealing With The Problems Surrounding Home-Owning

STORY V—WHAT MAKES URBAN REAL ESTATE VALUES

This is the fifth of a series of arficles prepared by the National Association of Real Estate Boards to be published weekly in this newspaper for the information of its readers on real estate matters.

Such seemingly remote factors as the wages of obscure mechanics and the number of art galleries in a city are some of the many things which determine its real estate ground values says the National Association of Real Estate Boards in its weekly bulletin on real estate matters.

Land in modern cities is valuable in proportion to its ability to return income, comfort, pleasure and service to its owners, points out the association. The opportunity for people to make a livelihood in or near a city, the east with which they can reach their work from their homes, the chances they will have for recreation in a given locality, the advantages offered for welfare and municipal services, such as police and fire protection, proximity to industrial and business sites.

Land is Limited

This is because land possessing all of these attributes is limited in quantity in comparison to the number of people who want all of the advantages they can get. The presence of factories that can produce many pay envelopes or of theaters that can produce amusement usually attracts a great number of people who want to live in the same site.

The desire of the public to work in centers where there are many opportunities for employment and the desire of the public to play in places where the surroundings are the most pleasant creates a kind of silent "auction" for what might be called select locations.

And the basic thing that determines realty is the number of people who want the same type of ground in relation to the available supply of that type of ground. If many people want to buy land in a certain locality where the supply is limited the "auction" is a big one and the value of the land is high. If, in another place, land that will serve the same purpose can be had for all buyers, then the "auction" is a little one and the value of the land is lower.

The law of supply and demand does not apply to industry alone. It has always been equally basic in the real estate market.

The ground value of all real estate in these days is profoundly affected by the opportunity to make a living on or near it. People will crowd into a small area, such as on the limited space of Manhattan Island or the Chicago loop because that area holds out promises of gain in an almost infinite variety of fields. People will live as close as possible to such areas and pay high prices for home sites, and office and factory locations having access to the facilities of such areas because they expect to make enough by being there to justify the cost.

Combination Qualities Seen

In great cities offering simultaneously such resources that large industries can be developed, domestic or foreign trade carried on, artistic pursuits followed, the land is greatly in demand and values are consequently high. Such localities have a combination of excellent qualities that makes real estate desirable.

And on a miniature scale, the great silent real estate "auctions" of the metropolitan centers are repeated in the smallest towns. If a certain portion of a village is highly desirable for residences and the supply of ground in this section is limited in comparison to the number of people who would like to make their homes there, the same competition that sends values up in great cities because millions of people want to liye in them, also can make values soar in the small town.

Land that opens opportunities for recreation possesses qualities desired by many people who create an "auction" for land of this type. Land in places where people can drive or swim or play golf or sit in the sun has attributes that can make its value high, particularly if the supply in a given section is limited to relatively small areas.

Scenic qualities also enter in to heighten the competition for available "select" pieces of real estate. Seaside, lake and river property, forests, trees and rolling land have elements contributing to pleasant life, and these elements set up special "auctions" for ground having these qualities. If lakes are rare in the vicinity lake frontage of course adds proportionately the more to lot values.

Museums, art galleries, concert halls, symphony orchestras, and universities can, and do add value to the real estate in cities where such places can be found because thousands of people want to live in centers offering the advantages of these amenities.

Efficient city government, police protection, traffic provision and the like, tend to attract home owners or workers, and affect the value of the ground accordingly.

Less Competition Here

It might be said that the real estate market is made up of many separate silent "auctions" regulated by the quantity of land possessing certain qualities. In all of this computation of the cash value of sunshine, payroll and landscape, the great army of modest residential property owners gets off with the least intensive competition.

The rank and file of real estate buyers are the hundreds and thousands of people who purchase land for the construction of six and eight room houses. The constant but silent bidding for store, apartment house and industrial sites is an "auction" quite separate from the one in which they are interested. The bidding for the city's most exclusive residential sites is also a separate "auction."

Land having qualities which make it valuable for the construction of modest home exists in greater quantity than land having the combination qualities demanded, for example, for a chain drug store. It exists in greater quantity than land having the combination that would make it an available site for a millionaire's town house.

The people who build or buy small homes exist in great numbers, but they are all limited in something the same way in the amount that they can expend for a home. The man with a modest income will pay so much for a lot and beyond that he cannot go. The man with the larger income will not outbid him, because he is not in the same "auction." He is interested in another type of location.

The constant search for low and moderately priced residential sites is the "auction" which is the largest of all, but the one with the most elbow room in it. An this is the reason why the man of modest wages can and does own his own home.

City Light Bills Face Short Delay

Users of city lights and water need not be overly worried if there should be a delay in receipt of their monthly statements from the city, it was stated at city hall Saturday. A delay in several instances is evident, because of the time needed to change over from the old system of billing, great care prevailing upon part of clerks in keeping the records straight. Transfer of these records from the old to the new records, and installation of the new arrangement is merely a matter of course.

Upon receipt of their bills customers will be given the same period of time before the last discount date, as formerly.

With the new system the city has been divided into 12 districts, meter readers checking these districts and statements being sent to them at 12 periods in the month.

M. Raymond Briez, aged 30, of Paris, recently gave blood for transfusion to hospital patients for the 264th time, he having supplied a total of 116 pints of blood.

Decreeing a New President in Mexico

With a picturesque ancient ceremony and military parade, the decree appointing Emilio Portes Gil as provisional president of Mexico, was read to the people by the district officials the other day, and the signs placed in conspicuous places in the capital. The arrow above points to the placard, being fixed on the corner of a building. In the picture below Governor Primo Villa Michel is just behind the secretary, who is reading the declaration to the people.

MONTGOMERY WARD & CO.

107-13TH STREET LUBBOCK, TEXAS PHONES 816-817

ARE YOU A SLAVE TO PARTYISM?

D. M. Wilcox, Democrat Chairman, threatens the FREE men of Texas with loss of their vote in 1930! A Lubbock Judge, in Tahoka speech, hoped "the hand would be palsied that scratched the Ticket!! The Democrats supporting Hoover will not be frightened by this wail of the loser.

We will know how to take care of our vote in 1930 and intimidators or browbeaters can remember the date, 1930.

In this year of 1928, the Constitution of the United States and the Law of Texas says every voter has the RIGHT TO VOTE ACCORDING TO THE DICTATES OF HIS OWN CONSCIENCE. Let no threats intimidate or swerve you. WE ARE TEXANS—NOT RUSSIANS.

TO TEXAS VOTERS

Hesitate long before you vote liquor back (and Al Smith in), now that it is out-lawed. Don't trust it. It is the foe of the humble cot or the spacious mansion. It takes the bloom of happiness from the face of women, it challenges the Congress of America.

There is no home too humble to escape it—no place strong enough to bar its way. It is merciless in victory. It has dug more graves and sent more men unsaved to judgment than all the pestilences since God sent the plagues to Egypt, and all the wars since Joshua stood beyond Jericho! It is Society's Enemy.

IF SMITH AND RASKOB PREVAIL—The United States will go into the liquor business. We will compromise with evil. Hesitate before you vote. Do not bring this great country of ours under such dominion. Liquor can profit no man. Its return will harm industry, peace and morals. It will convert the wife's love to despair and her pride to shame. It will stifle the music of the home and fill it with silence and desolation.

Can you vote to put it back through Smith? Vote for Herbert Hoover. Forget such trifles as "I am a Democrat." Be a Home-loving American first. The crying need in this hour is for He-men, who believe in High Ideals, Men who cannot be bought by Office or Hope of Reward. To such Men we offer:

HERBERT HOOVER.

YOUR FLAG AND MINE

Fellow Texans, let me remind you of the Glories of America, as portrayed in our Stars and Stripes.

It was born amid suffering. It waved over the heads of heroes who are now immortal. It was bathed by the tears of women and consecrated with the blood of our forefathers. It is the symbol of a Great Free Nation. It is the Emblem of Liberty, Equality and Enlightenment.

It bears in its folds of Red and White and Blue, a message of Hope to the sons of men in every clime, bidding mankind to stand erect before Prince or Potentate and to proudly declare our God-given Truths—that ALL MEN ARE CREATED EQUAL AND MAN OF RIGHT OUGHT TO BE FREE.

Kings gaze upon it with awe, reading in its free institutions the downfall of their despotisms. The down-trodden of Earth see in old Glory the Hope and the Light of Freemen, of Right Living and of Happy homes.

It says to the World: We are a Sober Nation, we have outlawed the age-old enemy of man—Liquor.

Such is our Flag, handed down to us by fathers and mothers who gave blood and tears to establish it in purity of purpose. Let us, as worthy sons, carry on to greater glory—let us make it so glorious that on the Judgment Day, it may be found worthy to use its blue field as a part of the Canopy of Heaven, its bright stars be transplanted to shine in everlasting glory and its silken Stripes be used as ribbons to bedeck the Garments of the Prince of Peace when he shall come in His Glory to judge the Nations.

A vote for Herbert Hoover will help in upholding the ideals of America.

Rain Is of Much Benefit to Crosby County; Wheat Has Fine Prospects Freeze Is Aid To Cotton Maturity

Crop Is Turning Out Better Than Was Expected And Pickers Flock Into Area For Work

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

CROSBYTON, Nov. 3.—A nice slow rain fell here the first three days of this week amounting to one and six-tenths inches which will be worth many thousands of dollars to the wheat crop, much of which was up and doing fine. There has been a large acreage planted to wheat this fall and the farmers are jubilant over the late rain.

Cotton Is Better.

The cotton crop around the place is turning out much better than was expected before picking started. Before the rain started all of the five gins of Crosbyton were ginning until after midnight in order to keep up with the pickers. Many farmers were afraid two weeks ago that they would be unable to get sufficient pickers to gather their crop, but the situation has been greatly improved since the pickers have began coming in from the south and east. Hundreds of people have come to this section to pick and pull cotton from the eastern and southern part of the state.

Freeze Hits Section.

The year's crop growing season in this section was stopped last night by a freeze which sent the mercury down to 28 degrees. The records of the United States weather bureau located here shows that on the same date last year the mercury went to 31 degrees for the first time that season. The records also show that on November 2, 1926, the mercury dropped to 33 degrees and reached 31 degrees on November 4.

Damage Is Light.

It is estimated that the damage to cotton will be very slight, as most of it is far enough advanced to open. However, in a part of the county there was quite a large top crop which would have made good cotton should the freeze stayed off another week or 10 days.

In New York

By Gilbert Swan

Swan

NEW YORK, Nov. 3—The Broadway night clubs, already nursing a number of old black eyes, find themselves beset on every hand as a new "sucker" season gets under way.

From behind the tawdry scenes have been coming many grim and brutal tales, reminiscent of those hectic dramas of the night life so popular during the past seasons. The cry of "clean up" has been taken up by several of the major New York newspapers. Each day some new tale of terrorizing creeps from the vice-infested haunts.

One of the favorite practices, it develops, is to "raise" checks presented by customers who have no business being where they are and doing what they're doing.

The harpies of the "racket" cash in handily on their "Oh, what I know about you" attitude.

There are, for instance, wealthy business men who "step out" without their wives. There are men whose reputations can not stand being involved in night club gossip. There are any number of kindred situations.

At any rate, when such a "prospect" is spotted, his bill is generally made out for a sum likely to be a bit larger than the amount of cash carried by an average man when he goes "stepping." Quite naturally, the "victim" asks if he can cash a check. Why, of course he can! Glad to do it.

The check, let us say, is for $150 or so. But when it appears at the bank it is a check for $650 or so. It has been deliberately lifted $500.

And they've been getting away with this for years. The man does not complain to the police, for he fears the consequent publicity and will stand his loss rather than start trouble.

Which, of course, the racketeers already knew!

The "betting squad" is another refined little addition to the night club. This is made up of plug-uglies who "take care of" persons objecting to the size of the check, or unable to pay.

A young member of a prominent family can be seen limping about on crutches as the result of such an encounter.

With a few speakeasy beverages under his belt he wandered into a "racket" resort and when the bill came he didn't have quite enough money to meet it.

A waiter suggested that he go in the back room and quietly settle the matter. There the plug-uglies were waiting. They stripped him of every valuable in his possession and then gave him a beating "to teach him a lesson." He may be crippled for years as the result of his treatment.

One of the most recent instances of these playful tactics has led to the newspaper headlines.

A former actress happened to be in a night club when a stranger at another table "passed out" from over-indulgence. She resented the manner in which the paron was being treated, and interfered. Wherewith she was struck in the face, the shock precipitating a heart attack from which she later died. Efforts were made to connect her death directly with the blow, but the case had to be dropped.

The woman slugger, by the way, was a club attendant, meticulously attired in his evening clothes and stiff cuffs.

A score of such incidents, one piling upon the other, have put the night clubs on the flimsy scaffold where now they totter between life and death.

They have brought about their own end and have no one to blame but themselves.

Lubbock Goes Football Mad In Annual Tilt With North Plains School

Pep Is Unleashed In City As 650 Fans Parade Form Amarillo with Local Students; Approximately 1,000 Visitors Present; Rotarians Give Cars

Junior Matadors Ready For Opposition; News Is Disappointment To The Gridders

Lubbock was football mad yesterday—mad with the pageantry of the steady tread,tread of the marching feet of hundreds high school football enthusiasts. It was a time of gayety, of yelling, of victory, of defeat.

Arriving here shortly before noon yesterday the 650 Amarillo boosters on the special train unleased a variety of "pep" that surpassed that of any other visiting team of the season.

Students March Together

Students of two rival high schools marched together, each with a hope of victory and each with a yell of either "Beat Amarillo" or "Beat Lubbock."

A pigantic parade, led by the Amarillo high school band, and followed first by the visiting pep squad of 116 members, then other boosters of Amarillo, then by the Lubbock delegation, consisting of the school band, pep squad, and other followers, wended its way between two solid walls of humanity along the streets of the business section of Lubbock.

Hundreds of yelling, screaming, hollering, stamping, school students marched in tribute to their opposing teams—the Lubbock Westerners and the Amarillo Golden Sandstorms. Bands were playing wildly, yell leaders were directing activities, and the whole town appeared under the spell of the spirit of football which pierced the air.

Bands Give Concerts

The parade marched down Main street to Texas Avenue, then across to Broadway, down Broadway to Avenue M, where the two bands disbanded after a series of yelling and band music.

The special from Amarillo, with its 650 occupants, is the largest ever to attend a football game in West Texas. It is estimated that with the innumerable cars from the West Texas metropolis that the visiting delegation numbered at about 1,000.

Following the game, the pep squad formed in parade formation, marching in tribute to their victory again led by the school band.

Rotary Gives Rides

Transportation to and from the ball game was furnished for the Amarillo pep squad by the Lubbock Rotary club. Homer Dave Grant was in charge of arrangements for the rides.

The Amarillo special departed at 7:30 o'clock last evening although tired and worn out from a full day of activity the Sandie Boosters were yelling with renewed vigor at their departure.

Sunday-School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON, NOV. 4, 1928

General Topic: World's Temperance Sunday.

Scripture Lesson: Rom. 13:1-14.

1. Let every soul be in subjection to the higher powers: for there is no power but of God; and the powers that be ordained of God.

2. Therefore he that resisteth the power, withstandeth the ordinance of God: and they that withstand shall receive to themselves judgment.

3. For rulers are not a terror to the good work, but to the evil. And wouldest thou have no fear of the power? Do that which is good, and though shalt have praise from the same:

4. For the is a minister of God to thee for good. But if thou do that which is evil, be afraid; for he beareth not the sword in vain: for he is a minister of God, an avenger for wrath to him that doeth evil.

5. Wherefore ye must needs be in subjection, not only because of the wrath, but also for conscience's sake.

6. For this cause ye pay tribute also; for they are ministers of God's service, attending continually upon this very thing.

7. Render to all their dues, tribute to whom tribute is due; custom to whom custom; fear to whom fear; honor to whom honor.

8. Owe no man anything, save to love one another: for he that loveth his neighbor hath fulfilled the law.

9. For this, Thou shalt not commit adultry, Thou shalt not kill, Thou shalt not steal, Thou shalt not covet, and if there be any other commandment, it is sumed ump in this word, namely, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.

10. Love worketh no ill to his neighbor: love therefore is the fulfillment of the law.

13. Let us walk becomingly, as in the day; not in revelling and drunkenness, not in chambering and wantonness, not in strife and jealousy.

14. But put ye on the Lord Jesus Christ, and make not provision for the flesh, to fulfill the lusts thereof.

Time: The Epistle to the Romans was written near the close of Paul's stay in Corinth, A. D. 57.

Place: It was written in the great commercial city of Corinth.

Golden Text: Love worketh no ill to his neighbor: love therefore is the fulfillment of the law.—Rom. 13:10.

Introduction.

"Now obey me, says the mother to the stuborn child, and if the mother is firm of purpose and of muscle the child will obey and learn that peace and success are obtained along the road of obedience. There are great powers and wise minds which influence any individual. There are time-honored customs and formal group expressions of will with which each individual is constantly faced. There are immutable laws of nature which are ignored at great peril. A man's willingness to obey these many forces determines the quality of his life."

"'Obey the law,' says the nation, meaning, of course, the laws that have been enacted by Congress and the legislatures as the rules and regulations for the life of the people. These laws are numerous, frequently unknown, and often broken unintentionally. Yet, ignorance is no excuse and the penalty must be paid—unless one can escape on a technicality."

From childhood to senility one hears on all sides and from within the command to obey. Whom, what and how should a person obey?

The Epistle to the Romans.

Paul, when he wrote the letter to the Christians in Rome, expected to go to that city soon, and sent this missive in advance to herald his arrival. He wrote it during his long first stay at Corinth, and it's amanuensis was Tertius. The epistle sets forth more fully than any other writing Paul's entire system of theology, the grand resultant of his experience and his thinking. Luther called it "the most complete epitome of the gospel." Melanchthon called it "a compendium of Christian doctrine." Findlay says of it, "for the purpose of systematic theology, it is the most important book in the Bible." Chrysostom had it read to him twice a week. Calvin said that "it opens the door to all the treasures of the Scriptures." Godet declared it to be "the cathedral of the Christian faith." Farrar considered it to be "the greatest of Paul's Epistles and one of the greatest and deepest and most memorably influential of all compositions ever written by human pen."

Obedience to Authority. vs. 1, 2.

"Let every soul be in subjection to the higher powers." Whoever rule, whoever exercise authority, are to be respected because of their office, though in themselves they may not be worthy of honor. It is the authority they hold which we honor, for they are, for the time, an embodiment of law and order; and, however unworthy, they may be, and however faulty may be their government, they are infinitely better than anarchy. "For there is no power but of God." Since God is the source of all human authority, it is to be honored as coming from him. But earthly rulers are not to be obeyed if their commands conflict with his. As the apostles said when bidden by the rulers to desist from preaching, "We must obey God rather than men." (Acts 5:29).

Government Protects and Punishes. Vs. 3, 4.

"For rulers are not a terror to the good work, but to the evil." The theory and object of civil government is to protect the good against the evil, to put down uprightedusness and promote righteousness. Even when a Nero persecuted the Christians, he did it nominally in order to preserve order. We must remember how often in Paul's own career the authority and power of Rome saved him from death at the hands of Jewish mobs. On the whole in the numberless details of countless lives, the Roman rulers worked for safety and justice. And this is not to palliate in the slightest degree the horrible barbarities of which they were guilty, and the many abuses of their power. "Do that which is good, and thou shalt have praise from the same." Do evil, and you are sure of punishment; do good, and you are sure of commendation: that is Paul's optimistic philosophy; and, with some exceptions that "prove the rule," it is borne out by human experience."

Why Obey the Prohibition Laws?

Because they are the laws. Even if one does not regard them as wise, they should be obeyed while they remain on the statute book. To propose and advocate a referendum which if adopted would contradict their manifest intent and render them nugatory is to seek to nullify the constitution. The patrons of bootleggers are as much law-breakers as the bootleggers themselves. The newspapers and comic weeklies that ridicule and misrepresent the law and encourage its violation are serving the interests of anarchy. The law should be obeyed strictly even by those who oppose it, because, if they are right, the more strictly it is obeyed the more readily can the people be persuaded to repeal it. As a lesson to youth, as a matter of pure citizenship, and to maintain public decency, all patriots will stand firm for obedience to the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Act.

Results of the Prohibition Laws.

Irving Fisher, professor of economics in Yale University, finds that workers of all kinds are under prohibition ten per cent more productive than before.

He finds that the real wages of workmen have been increased under prohibition 38 per cent above the level they have maintained for more than a quarter of a century—the "real" wages, making allowance for the lessened purchasing value of money. Profits have risen enormously, and the country is amazingly prosperous. Personal savings, as shown by savings banks, life insurance, and building and loan associations, have increased very largely under prohibition

It has been proved that the enormous number of saloons that have ceased to exist have been replaced by groceries, restaurants, shoe stores clothing establishments, banks, and the like, employing far more workers than the saloons. School teachers everywhere report that children come to school better fed and better clothed than before prohibition. Charity organizations report much less work to do in caring for the poor. Hospitals report a marked diminution in the diseases caused formerly by drinking. Jails have been closed up in all parts of the country.

Put on the Armour of Light. vs. 11-14.

The Sun of Righteousness has risen upon the earth. "Awake from your slumber!" cries the apostle. "Cast off the works of darkness! Put on the armour of light!" Accoutered in this light of gospel truth as a valiant soldier of Christ, leap into the warfare of the new days! It is a trumpet call to brave and true living, and sounds today over the world as clearly as two thousand years ago.

How Enforce The Prohibition Laws?

"If we want to make the country distinctly dry we must begin now an educational campaign that shall be as thorough as that by which we won prohobition:

"First, for law obedience, until we create a conviction that will make people wish to obey the law and use their personal influence against its violation.

"Second, for law enforcement that shall take charge of the criminally disposed and make them obey the law.

"Third, for law respect, until the whole public shall see that prohibition has not been a detriment to the state, but that it has been a tremendous benefit to the individual and to society.

"To this end the pulpits, the Sunday schools, the day schools, the independent and respectable newspapers, should renew their lessons of temperance, abstinence, and prohibition."

Where 30 Died As Building Fell

Thirty persons were killed in the town of Vincennes, France, a suburb of Paris, when a seven-story building collapsed while in process of construction. The catastrophe has been attributed to the use of poor construction materials. Photo shows rescuers searching the ruins for bodies.

SLATON, Nov. 3.—Ben R. Vardaman, of Chicago, nationally known business and community expert, is to be in Slaton from November 4 to November 11 to conduct a "community and Business Institute." His lectures are being arranged through the work of the Slaton Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Vardaman, who recently closed an institute in Lamesa, is to give a lecture on each night to the business men of the city. Business men from Lubbock and 19 other South Plains towns have been invited to attend the sessions. Community citizens have been invited also.

COULDN'T MAKE HIS TEAM

Bucky Harris, assuming the management of the Detroit Tigers, announced that he would direct the team from the bench and that he would get into action only occasionally as a substitute.

It was generally thought that the Detroit owner was after a playing manager when he opened negotiations with Harris, but Harris had no intention of doing a two-part job.

Late in the season when it became known that Harris was going to Detroit he was asked if he expected to play second base.

"I don't expect to play regularly," he said. "I don't believe I am good enough to take the job away from Charley Gehringer. I think he is one of the best infielders in baseball."

NOMINATIONS NOW IN ORDER

Ohio State may not realise its ambition to beat Princeton and win the Western Conference championship but the Columbus university may succeed in getting two men on some All-American teams.

If there is a better center in the country than Barrett, a 235-pound sophomore, he deserves to be rated as the greatest center since Bill Cunningham. Barrett is unusually fast for his great bulk and he is of the same aggressive hustling type as Cunningham and Adam Walsh, who starred with Notre Dame a few years ago and who played through the greater part of a game against the Army with two broken hands.

Leo Raskowski, the Ohio tackle, made several All-America teams last year and he is playing the same kind of a brilliant game this year.

They are perhaps as great a pair of linemen as can be found on any team in the country.

MINNESOTA HAS ANOTHER

Minnesota also has a candidate for national recognition in Bronko Nagurski, a smashing fullback, who was assigned to the hard task of making the campus forget Herb Joesting.

Nagurski hasn't drawn the public attention that was directed to Joesting, but the players on the Western Conference teams who have played against him have plenty of respect for him.

The Purdue players, for instance, say that he hits the line harder and is more difficult to stop than Joesting was in his best games.

SMART IF IT WORKED

Coffee, one of the Ohio State backs, was criticized for making a bonehead play in the Michigan game that gave Michigan its one touchdown. It wasn't a boner. He tried to make a smart play and was outsmarted by one of the Michigan players.

Michigan punted to within a few yards of the Ohio line. Coffee wanted it to roll over the line, but three Michigan forwards were running him down to ground the ball on the goal line. He tried to take out the nearest man, but his man outsmarted him and hit him so hard that the Ohio safety man's body hit the ball and knocked it over the goal line. Traveling the Michigan end, and a very good one, fell on the ball for a touchdown.

LEWISTON, Pa.—The state game commission has a puzzle to solve. It will classify an animal resembling a rabbit except that it has five curved horns on the head more than in an inch long. It was shot here by Ellwood Harmon, 18-year-old hunter.

The Issue

To those who think prohibition is all there is to America:

Fifteen years ago we had local option and Texas was 90 per cent dry. For eight year we have had Hoover prohibition, "a noble experiment," and Texas is 90 per cent wet. Lubbock is no exception. There are many things going on in our midst that need the attention of all good people. The Democratic Party today has a great opportunity.

First, to establish States Rights permanently.

Second, to solve the Farm Problem.

Third, to solve the Water Power Problem.

Fourth, to solve the Tariff Problem.

Sixth, to solve Religious Tolerance.

ELECTION NOTICE
THE STATE OF TEXAS,
COUNTY OF LUBBOCK,

To the Resident Property Taxpaying Voters of Lubbock County, Texas:

TAKE NOTICE that an election will be held on Saturday the 1st day of December, 1928, within Lubbock county, Texas, to determine if said county shall issue bonds and if a tax shall be levied in payment thereof in obedience to an election order entered by the Commissioners' Court on the 30th day of October, 1928, which is as follows:

ELECTION ORDER

On this the 30th day of October, A. D. 1928, the Commissioners' Court of Lubbock County, Texas, convened in special session at the regular meeting place thereof in the Court House, at Lubbock, Texas, all members of the Court, to-wit:

Charles Nordyke, County Judge.
N. A. Payne, Commissioner, Precinct No. 1.
J. T. Pinkston, Commissioner, Precinct No. 2.
W. L. Brashear, Commissioner, Precinct No. 3.
L. C. Denton, Commissioner, Precinct No. 4.

being present, came on to be heard and considered the petition of J. A. Rix and more than 250 other persons, praying that an election be ordered in said county for the purpose of determining the following proposition:

Whether or not the bonds of said county shall be issued in the sum of $2,005,000.00 for the following purpose, "The issuance of county bonds for the purchase of district roads and the further construction, maintenance and operation of macadamized, graveled or paved roads and turnpikes, or in aid thereof, throughout such county," and whether or not an ad valorem tax shall be annually levied upon the property of said county, subject to taxation, for the purpose of paying the interest on said bonds and to provide a sinking fund for the redemption thereof at maturity; and,

In appearing to the court that said petition is signed by not less than two hundred fifty (250) resident property taxpaying voters of the county; and,

It further appearing that the amount of bonds to be issued will not exceed one-fourth of the assessed valuation of the real property of said Lubbock county; and,

It further appearing that Road District No. 1 of Lubbock county, Texas, has heretofore issued road bonds under the provisions of Constitution and Laws of Texas as follows:

Date of bonds September 11th, 1922; numbered consecutively from one (1) to fifty (50), inclusive, for the sum of $500.00 each, aggregating to $25,000.00, payable at the Hanover National Bank, New York City, New York, and payable serially one bond, $500.00, September 11th of each of the years 1923 to 1931, both inclusive, two bonds, $1,000.00, September 11th of each of the years 1932 to 1951, both inclusive, and one bond, $500.00, September 11th, 1952., bearing interest at the rate of five and one half per centum (5 1-2 per cent) per annum, payable semi-annually on March 11th and September 11th of each year.

and that bonds numbered from one (1) to six (6), both inclusive, have been finally paid off, thereby leaving outstanding against said Bond District a bonded debt aggregating $22,000.00.

IT IS THEREFORE CONSIDERED AND ORDERED by the court that an election be held in said county on Saturday the 1st day of December, 1928, which is not less than thirty (30) days from date of this order, at which election the following proposition shall be submitted:

Greatest Cooking School Here Ends For City Women

Expert Who Conducted Free Cooking Exposition For Avalanche-Journal Liked By Lubbock Housewives

Another free cooking school has passed into the history of Lubbock for women here and already these women are talking of the time when the Avalanche-Journal will bring another home making expert to the city to give them intensive instruction in the arts of their vocation.

The Avalanche-Journal office received call after call yesterday from housewives of Lubbock who were expressing appreciation for the five-day day school conducted last week in the Up-Town Dance Palace by Mrs. Myra Oliver Dougan, pronouncing this school the most successful of the six annual expositions sponsored in the city by the daily newspapers.

Others lingered in the palace Friday afternoon at the close of the last lesson to talk with Mrs. Dougan and to tell of the assistance that cooking lessons had been to them.

Liked Combinations

The practicality of Mrs. Dougan's food combinations and her use of staple and inexpensive foods in the making of savory and unusual dishes were factors which have created the most comment among those who were in the school.

In spite of rain and cold that prevailed through the five days of the week when this school was in progress, each afternoon found hundreds of women filling benches and chairs in the dance palace eager to hear Mrs. Dougan in her talks. And vocal expressions alone did not testify of their enjoyment of this school for there was an earnestness and fervor among those attending that bespoke a desire to hear all that the expert had to say.

And Mrs. Dougan felt this spirit. "I wish that in every town I could meet such women as there are in Lubbock," she said Friday afternoon as she concluded her lesson and started packing to leave for her home in Dallas.

"I hope that I have brought them some helpful suggestions in cooking because it is my desire to assist the women in their home making problems. I wish that those who attended the school would write to the newspapers telling them the things that were most helpful in the school in order that I might know what has the most appeal and stress in my lectures."

If every young woman of this day is not an expert cook it is because she has failed to grasp her opportunities, one matron said after she had attended the school last week.

Help for Brides

"I wish every bride who is having difficulties with her cooking could hear Mrs. Dougan in her schools," Mrs. Pat Magee said Friday afternoon at the close of the school which she had attended daily. "This has been the most practical and helpful exposition I have attended," she continued and was joined by her sister, Mrs. J. H. Whiteside, in expressing appreciation for the school.

"The lesson on breads was most helpful to me," Mrs. G. W. Scott said yesterday, "because I learned things that day about breads that I had never known before and her recipe for light bread seemed so much more simple than recipes that I have known of."

"Let me tell you again how much I appreciated the free school." This came yesterday from Mrs. R. D. Moxley who was an enthusiastic follower of Mrs. Dougan throughout the week, and Mrs. C. Y. Partain, another of those who came daily to the school, was expressing gratification for the help of this home economist at the close of Friday's lecture.

"Instruction in the making of fancy dishes for parties is very well but I liked the good practical foods prepared by Mrs. Dougan in this school," Mrs. J. M. Ottinger said yesterday. "If I prepare fancy dishes which my husband will not eat I have gained nothing, but I can use the recipes that I was told in this week's school. And Mrs. Dougan was so charming in

Suits Have Flair For Color And Daintiness, Fur Is Used More As Costumes Grow Elaborate With Season

Miss Ruth Ledyard

By BETSY SCHUYLER
NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Life gets more complicated for the society-minded, these autumn days, with the social calendar getting fuller and fuller.

The costumes that the fairer of the society-minded wear grow more complicated too. For verily, it's a season of formal, elaborately elegant clothes.

Even suits have their little flair for color and beauty in the dainty blouses they inspire. With a bright dark-blue long-coated suit, Louise Burke wears a handsomely embroidered matching blue crepe blouse, with Egyptian figures coming and going in silver and three shades of blue lighter than the suit. A deeply pointed collar of the suit's blue is a distinctive touch. Her silver fox scarf is a superlative addition, too.

Fur On Sport Clothes.

The most sportsy suits use fur with discrimination. Ruth Ledyard wore a very smart grey tweed to the Ritz for luncheon, a little svelty tailored suit with a narrow, shawl collar of curly lamb in a silvery grey tone. And fine worsted coats seem inclined to feel the need of some intricate decorative stitching or the introduction of some color into their scheme of chic. Natalie Hess wore a very lovely beige coat to the Mineola horse show that had its squarish collar faced with beige silk figured in autumn colors.

Of course all these are costumes for daytime wear. When it comes to evening the mode grows delicately sheer and colorful. Satin is quite as chic as chiffon, fashioned with smart tiers, elaborate poufs at the right spot, peplums and so on. Velvet is seldom seen, though will be popular later, I imagine. And there's a premium on glitter right now.

Green, Gold and Yellow.

I saw Mrs. Frederick Cameron Church, Jr., at the Empire Theater the other night in a lovely pale yellow satin, with a squarish neck and very chic side tiers to the skirt. Her jewels were lovely earrings, necklace and a very wide bracelet. She wore an evening coat of green and gold with a collar of green velvet finished with fur tabs.

At the premier of "Olympia" last week, Mrs. Alan Raymond looked charming in a black chiffon gown with wide decolletage and swaying skirt. On one shoulder she wore a diamond ptn. Mrs. Brock Pemberton's white satin gown had a regular cowl collar that dipped in the back for a generous decolletage.

Mrs. Vincent Astor wore a gorgeous cape coat to the Ambassador one evening, a cape of gold with a self collar draped with real grace and caught by a jeweled buckle.

At the Paramount dinner dance for the celebrated M. Maurice Chevalier, pastel shades won, with off-white very popular. Irene Bordoni looked distinguished in an off-white moire, with crisp tiers flaring on the sides. Elsie Ferguson was her charming delicate self in an exquisitely fragile looking cream lace gown, over pink chiffon.

More Celebrities.

Fannie Brice wore a startling gown of black and silver sequins, Little Helen Ford looked demure in white tulle full and very long. Fannie Ward chose a stunning white chiffon, with crystals from the hip-line down. She wore an elaborate jeweled band around her auburn hair. Ina Claire looked stunning in a pale yellow chiffon with molded lines and gorgeous sparkling jewels.

The reception for Mrs. Herbert Hoover at the Republican Women's club was no dressy affair. But some lovely costumes for older women were noted. Among these was one dark blue ensemble, with the blouse hand-embroidered all over in a lighter, brighter blue. Mrs. Hoover wore black georgette, with stripes of dark gold for its only trim. Her jewels consisted of a sparkling elephant with ruby eyes, on her left shoulder.

Women In Acuff Club Among Most Active In County

Club History, Written By Mrs. Douglass Pounds, Indicates Progressiveness of Community

A record of the activities and accomplishments of the Acuff Home Demonstration club sent to the Avalanche-Journal by Mrs. Douglas Pounds, indicate that this is one of the most progressive women's organizations in Lubbock county.

This society, which was organized with a membership of 14 women, has now a membership of 33, all of whom planted spring and fall gardens this year and commercial fertilizer was used by 8 women.

There is a total of 4,950 standard bred chickens in the flocks of these club women and during the last year chickens were sold and used that were valued at $3,569.43 and 7,170 dozen eggs were produced, valued at $2,443.07. Incomes in 30 of the homes were directly helped through poultry raising.

Unique Plan.

A unique plan was used by these club women to raise money to send a delegate to the A. and M. short course in the summer. At the first of the year the members agreed to sell eggs gathered on Sunday and donate the money to the short course fund. Mrs. Earl Davis was a delegate to this meeting.

Through the home demonstration club, 90 per cent of the yards of club women have been beautified with shrubs and flowers and each members has planted at least one tree. Arbor Day was observed with a program.

No one from this club entered the betterliving room contest sponsored in the county by a number of living rooms were rearranged and made more comfortable and livable. Bed rooms were beautified through the use of paints and hangings and the renovation of pieces of furniture.

One of the largest activities of these club women was food preservation. A total of 10,123 quarts of vegetables, pickles, meats, and fruit preserves, jellies and other foods were canned by these women and 6,600 pounds of meat were cured. About 12 pressure cookers were placed in the homes after the women had found the convenience of these utensils in preserving products raised on the farm and in cooking foods for meals throughout the year.

Twenty-four homes represented in the membership of 33 received labor saving devises for the first time after the women had joined the home demonstration club.

Activities Are Many.

Miscellaneous activities of the Acuff club women filled the remainder of last year.

Husbands of members were invited to a Thanksgiving feast at which turkey was the principal dish; luncheons were served to the school, the school board, state inspector of schools and other visitors; the Lubbock Kiwanis club was served in March and $71.25, the amount cleared, went into the club treasury; 22 members attended the spring meeting of the County Federation of Women's clubs; Acuff had the most complete club exhibit at the Panhandle-South Plains Fair this fall and this exhibit was sent to Dallas where it won first place in canned fruit and vegetables at the state fair.

This club won second place in the contest sponsored in the county by the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce.

Two prizes were won by women in this organization in the dress carnival in June at the Boys' and Girls' encampment. Mrs. Pounds winning third and Mrs. Davis fourth place.

Continuing their civic activities, the Acuff community auditorium is to be painted through the club women and paint has already been purchased for this improvement.

Pageant Tonight Presents Church Women's Work

Mrs. T. A. White Directing Pageant Which Will Be Shown At First Methodist Church Tonight

Depicting the fifty years of women's work in the Southern Methodist church, showing outstanding women in the church and accomplishments of the church through the women's societies, a pageant, "Methodist Womanhood" is to be presented this evening at the First Methodist church.

Mrs. T. A. White is directing this production, which is sponsored by the Mary Helm Auxiliary and in which about one hundred women and children will participate.

In Two Parts

The show will be in two parts. In the first scene the Divine Spirit causes to appear, one by one, the women of the past whom she has inspired. In the second part are two scenes, the first devoted to the "seven sabbaths of years," called by the Herald to present their gifts to Methodist Womanhood, the second being devoted to showing things that have been accomplished and the setting forth of a challenge to the women which is accepted as the pageant closes with a final tableaux.

Special lighting and costumes of characters in this pageant will add to its attractiveness, Mrs. White said yesterday. The overture from "The Messiah" (Handel) will be played as the pageant opens and this will be followed by a contralto solo "O Thou that Tellest Good Tidings" by Mrs. J. T. Shaver.

Arrange Music

Mrs. Carl Scoggin is in charge of the music for this production and Mrs. Mamie I. Neal and Mrs. Will Tucker will be at the organ and piano respectively.

Mrs. Marvin McLarty has the part of the Spirit of Truth and Light before whom all gifts are laid by those who pass in the pageant. Mrs. J. F. Frye has the part of the mother of Jesus while Mrs. W. P. Knox and Mrs. C. G. Stinson are cast as narrators. Miss Louise Hauk has the part of the herald symbolizing eternal life.

All nations in which the Southern Methodist church does missionary work will be represented and local Mexican and negro children are to appear.

How to Achieve Beauty

BY MME. HELENA RUBINSTEIN

Laura Lee Rogers whose personalities make her home one of the nation's best known gathering places.

I could take up every region, commenting on its distinctions in personality and suggesting the homes that compliment its individualities, but I'm afraid I should never get through.

MME. RUBINSTEIN

Instead, by touching a little here and there, I shall cover the ground more sketchily but more completely — and every type will come in for at least a little consideration.

To begin with, let me give you the word of advice. Don't start by thinking yourself ordinary. Say, instead, "I am distinctive. There is no other ME—there is no one in the world even a little like me. Thousands of women, of course, may have brown eyes, but my eyes carry the shadow of yesterday's sorrow, the shine of tomorrow's hope, the glow of today's courage and achievement. And just as my eyes show myself, so my home should show it. Perhaps I'm a maternal woman. Then I want wide chairs with opening arms. I want good, sturdy, sensible rugs. I want a hearth fire, and I want my picture to tell the wayfarer that my hope and my dream and my ideal centers around the crowning achievement of woman—motherhood. Perhaps I'm a fragile, delicate, Dresden china beauty. Then I want the delicate line and curves of Duncan Phyfe or Sheraton. Perhaps maple or red mahogany delight me. I want organdy in my bedroom and pastels all through my house. I want Corots-like paintings on my walls and the bright sheen of silver in my dining room. My kitchen will be a play house, with colored pots and pans and gingham at the windows.

On the other hand, let's suppose I'm one of the home makers of the world. My home must show that I am of the elect. I should choose Chippendale, I'm sure, with velour and damask in my living room. It would be so comfortable that all the male world would congregate to do me honor.

Nothing slim-legged or shaky or useless would have a place in my living rooms. Rich colors—Rembrandt and Franz Hals reproductions would be my selection for walls, and I know I should cherish a secret passion for etchings—and foot stools.

Finally, let us suppose—and quite rightly—that the modern art and the modern attitude delight me. Let me lead you into my reception room. Outside the chic sophistication of Fifty-seventh street is passing its imported cars. Inside—you have entered a world apart—and most distinctive. There is purple and Chinese red and a glorious blue in this room of mine. On the polished floors are rugs of silvery gray; on the walls are the latest expressions of modern art and some of the walls are papered in a bold black and white patterned paper.

The furniture is low and wide. A great sofa that almost passes for a divan, a matching easy chair in Chinese red, another repeating the purple of the stripe which binds my heavy net window curtains. Oh, it is modern and extreme and so sophisticated and chic that it delights me and my contemporaries. And it expresses me; you see each color is a mood and a physical gratification.

That is what your home must be. And that only you can make it.

Accounts Of Miss Eugenie Marshall's Wedding Received

Miss Bessie League Attends Former Instructor Here In Marriage Last Month In Hearne

Accounts of the marriage of Miss Eugenie Marshall, of Hearne, who was a member of the Technological college faculty until last spring, have been received here by Miss Bessie League, a member of the college faculty who was a bridesmaid in the wedding.

Miss Marshall was married to Drew Ellis Lockwood Allen, of Port Arthur on October 22 in St. Phillips Episcopal church in Hearne with Rev. Charles Sumners, of Houston, joined in reading the ritual by Rev. Tom Sumners, of Texas City.

With Southern smilax, ferns and snowball chrysanthemums providing a lovely bridal setting, this was an exceptionally lovely wedding, according to the accounts received here. The groom's sister, Mrs. W. A. Rinker, of Dallas, played the wedding music, playing an organ program preceding the ceremony; Miss Ann Marshall, of Stephen F. Austin college at Nacogdoches and the bride's sister, attended her as maid of honor; Miss Bernice Allen, Dallas, the groom's sister, and Miss League were bridesmaids; Dr. Russell Bellamy, of Dallas, served as best man with Patrick B. Hall, of Hearne, as usher.

Mrs. Allen was extensively feted before her marriage. She holds B. A. and M. A. degrees from Texas University, is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and taught in Gainesville before coming to the Tech. She spent one summer travelling in Europe and another studying French at the Sorbonne in Paris.

A salad collation was served.

Affairs Of Week Devoted Chiefly To Ghost Parties

Few Large Parties Are Given Last Week Which Is Given Over Mostly To Hallowe'en Parties

Except for the large number of Hallowe'en functions which came during the middle of the week, there were few social functions in Lubbock during last week and fewer club meetings.

Since this came as the fifth week in the month and most societies have meetings scheduled to fall within the first four weeks, there was a scarcity of club meetings. And some of the regular meetings were postponed because of the free cooking school sponsored by the Avalanche-Journal.

Deaths during the first of the week were responsible for the postponement of many social functions among college people particularly.

Largest Affair

Probably the largest affair of the week was a bridge party given in the Country Club halls on Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. Floyd Bowen, a charming young matron of the city, for three women who have recently moved here: Mrs. C. E. Gough and Mrs. D. E. Bibbee, who were formerly of Dallas, and Mrs. R. L. Stephenson, whose former home was in Ballinger. Twenty-one tables were arranged for games on this afternoon.

Mesdames Granville Johnson, Floyd Beall and Fred Snyder entertained yesterday with large morning and afternoon parties in the Johnson home south of the city. Bridge was played at these affairs.

Affairs that promise to be attractive next week are luncheons that have been announced for Wednesday and Thursday in the H. H. Griffith home by Mrs. Griffith, Mrs. J. Edd McLaughlin, of Ralls, Mrs. J. V. Spikes and Miss Virginia Johnson.

An informal tea for members of the A. A. U. W. last Sunday afternoon and an open meeting of the university's women's organization on Monday afternoon at the Tech home economics practice house honored Mrs. H. C. Burke, of Fort Worth, who is past president of the state organization and regional director, and Mrs. E. H. Sellards, of Austin, who is the new state president. These were delightfully informal social occasions.

Forty-Two Popular

Forty-Two has been a popular party diversion during the last week. On Tuesday evening women in the Jolly Dozen club entertained their husbands with a Hallowe'en party in the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Goad on 9th Street and forty-two was played.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Sims entertained with a forty-two party on Thursday evening and Mesdames W. N. Lemmon and J. B. Rountree were hostesses on Friday afternoon honoring two California visitors, Misses Minnie Rogers and Margaret Karnes.

On Tuesday and Wednesday ghosts walked at the proverbial parties of Hallowe'en season, and throughout the week party appointments have principally favored this season of the year.

Mr. and Mrs. Hurd Jones were gracious hosts on Tuesday evening, entertaining a number of friends with a bridge party. Organizations entertained throughout evenings of the week and a number of smaller affairs were given.

AUTUMN PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Trice Entertain Friday

Red berries and autumn leaves combined with chrysanthemums and other cut flowers were a lovely addition to a forty-two party given Friday evening by Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Trice in their home at 1921 10th street.

Those participating in the games during the evening were Messrs. and Mesdames J. M. Denman, A. H. Travis, J. G. Biffle, Frazier McCrummen, Sidney Oglesbee, C. A. Paulger, A. L. Hawkins and Mrs. W. Green.

Pumpkin pie was served with whipped cream, coffee and blanched almonds.

Mrs. Howard Langston, of Amarillo, is visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Ottinger.

The Morning Avalanche Menu for the Day

BREAKFAST—Orange juice, cereal, cream, baked French toast, brown sugar syrup, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON — Cream of onion soup, croutons, tomato and cabbage salad, rice pudding, grape juice.

DINNER — Smothered chicken, twice baked sweet potatoes, French fried onions, apple, celery and nut salad, vanilla ice cream with caramel sauce, milk, coffee.

The following method of cooking chicken is quite novel and decidedly worth while when one chicken must serve many. The tomato sauce with mushrooms may be omitted but really adds much to the savoriness of the dish. The chicken can be disjointed for serving before cooking if preferred.

Smothered Chicken.

One chicken weighing about 4 pounds, 4 or 5 thin slices bacon, 1 onion, 1 carrot, 1 cup diced celery, 1 slice smoked ham, 4 tablespoons sifted tomato pulp, 4 tablespoons chopped mushrooms, 1-4 teaspoon pepper.

Trus chicken as for roasting or disjoint for serving, cover bottom of closely covered kettle or small roaster with slices of bacon and add chicken. Chop onion, carrot, celery and ham adding the "giblets"—hear, gizzard and liver—of the chicken and cover kettle.

Cook over a medium fire until bacon is brown. Add boiling water to half cover chicken, cover closely and cook in a slow oven for two hours. Remove chicken to hot platter, add tomato and mushroom sauce and bring to the boiling point. Serve the sauce in a gravy boat.

New Art Becomes Strictly American As Modernism Is Made Restful By Its Striking Simplicity Of Design

By JULIA BLANSHARD
NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Modern art has angled and circled its way successfully into the very dreams of contemporary America.

For, in all the interiors done in the modern manner with geometric designs, nothing is more happily executed than modern bed rooms. Especially is this true in bed rooms for the American boy or for the American man.

Simplicity of line, inherent strength, comfort and a charming blending of colors to give life and yet subdued beauty to the scheme—these are some of the qualities of modern bed rooms for men.

American now fashions it own modern furniture, without relying upon Europe for design, materials or color schemes. From the delicate new modern wall paper, carpets and rugs, through the whole house down to the least candle stick used at dinner or the after dinner coffee spoon, one can have a 100 per cent American home, done in the modern manner.

And in fashioning its own things in contemporary manner, American manufacturers take into consideration the characteristics of those who will use the various things. Furniture and furnishings for men's rooms, for instance, reflect the comfort, practicality and interesting design Americans like as background for their personalities. Decorative schemes employ the soft nuances that today produces, but use colors that avoid any suggestion of effeminacy.

Browns, tans, soft greys and silvers are the favorite backgrounds for men's bed rooms. Of course there are lively touches, red, yellow, blue or green. Angles, circles and other geometric designs are starting place in most decoration on modern things. But ingenuity in design produces some very interesting figures that seem remote from a simple angle or circle.

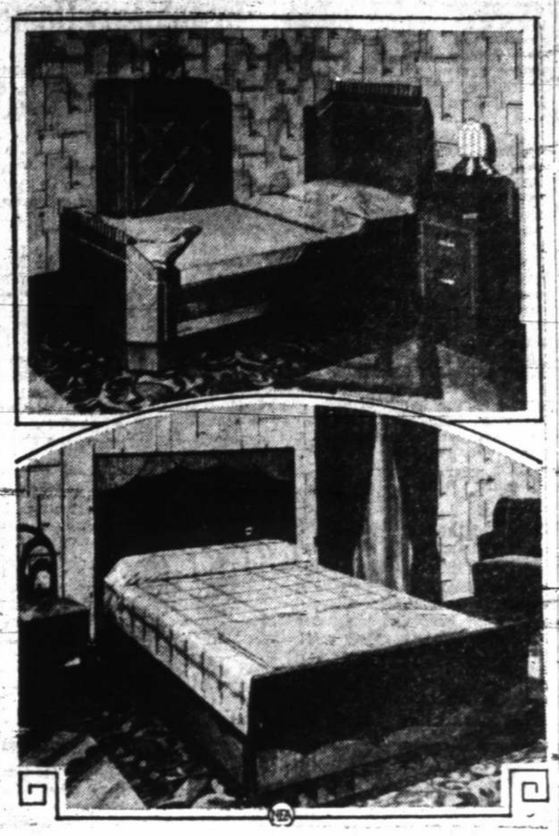

In a bachelor's room, for instance, the entire motif of design is some geometric figure. The wall paper is a soft silver with an intricate, almost invisible, pattern in browns and grey, with a little touch of green. The carpet of a brown foundation is woven with geometric curves and crossing angles in tan, grey and green. The hooked rugs use angles and straight lines, in the same shades.

The bed is the outstanding piece of furniture, a very restful, comfortable, low swung bed of finely grained maple and birch, with a geometric design inlaid in silver sides of the frame and the two ends have step-downs, like skyscrapers, only they are done more gracefully on the slant.

There is a novel chiffonier of matching woods, with an inlaid front of great beauty, in a lattice effect, with silver, ebony and ivory. A low bedside table, with modernistic lamp atop it, has two deep drawers for economy's sake.

For a man who avoids too much novelty, another bed has almost severe outlines and an inlaid silver patterns in gently curving arcs. This bed has a checked coverlet in tans and silver and uses the new colored sheets in a very masculine tan shade.

Not only are these modern bed rooms extremely comfortable, restful in color and vastly interestin., they are really a national achievement in the way they catch the stimulating spirit of modern art and make it truly expressive of the energetic quality that is typical of American men today.

Angeles, lines and circles are used in dozens of different ways to decorate everything in the man's modern room pictured at the top. From the silver and tan wall paper to the deep brown rug with touches of green, all designs are geometric. Below, for a more conservative modern, this bed takes a severe design for its frame, with artistic inlays of silver wood and ivory in billowing arcs.

The Woman's Day

By Allene Sumner

Sumner

"Curves," say the papers, "are coming back.' The girl who wants to be in style no longer has to take the string bean for the model of her figure. A bit of plumpness won't hurt at all.

That, at least, is what we read. But I imagine the urge to take off weight, which has been upon the women of this land for quite a time now, will continue to operate. However much the papers may print about curves, the slender figure will continue to be the goal for a great many.

Under such circumstances, a little warning recently written by Prof. Ivor Griffith, chemist, in the current American Druggist magazine, is not amiss.

Prof. Griffith takes a shot at the sellers—and users—of medicines which are guaranteed to reduce one's weight. Most of these medicines contain thyroid extract, on the theory that those of us who are a bit stout got that way because our Thyroiad glands were subnormal.

"Now, says Prof. Griffith, to begin with, it is by no means by a subnormal thyroid. And, even if it were, thyroid is altogether to powerful a drug to use without a doctor's direction. Not only may it fail to reduce your weight; it may actually turn you into an invalid.

"Thyroid should not be self-administered," he writes. "Even the doctors hesitate to use it simply for reducing ponderosity."

Apparently trying to reduce by taking medicines is much like trying to reduce by dieting; a doctor's advice is a pretty good thing to have in either case.

For a good many years (to get away from weight reduction) the chaperone has been a social institution more or less resented by the younger generation. When a chaperone goes on a party, one of two things usually happens: the gaiety is kept pretty subdued, or the or the chaperone is hoodwinked and everything goes about as it would have if she were not present at all.

In Chicago, however, there has popped up a chaperone of a new kind.

This lady was employed by a wealthy broker as a companion and mentor for his 18-year-old daughter. The daughter fell in love with a $24-a-week clerk. The clerk, as it happened, was woefully bashful; the young heiress was sure that he loved her, but he would not speak.

Enter, then, the chaperone. She explained to the young lady that the young swain needed instruction and she offered to furnish it. It was agreed. The chaperone had three or four dates with the impecunious young clerk, after which she reported to the girl the young man was bashful no longer.

Shades of Mrs. Grundy! you cry, and I quite agree. But listen further.

Properly instructed, the young man avowed his love to the girl. Then the two consulted the chaperone again. This time she helped them elope to Kansas City, and got them neatly married and established in an apartment there.

That sounds as if it might have worked out pretty well, after all. But that isn't quite the end of it. The father hired detectives, trailed the elopers, and hauled his new son-in-law back to Chicago, while a policewoman took charge of the chaperone. For the chaperone, it seems, was a woman on probation form the city court for some previous offense. And that's that.

I'm not sure just what the moral of it all is. Perhaps, for all I know, it may indicate the need of a campaign to have the chaperones chaperoned.

YOUR CHILDREN

by Olive Roberts Barton

©1928 by NEA Service, Inc.

A certain doctor rebuked a mother who had selfishly commandeered her son's free moment, by the sharp words, "Excuse me, Madam, but you know you don't own your boy."

What he meant was, of course, that no human being can regard another human being as chattel.

In this case there had been trouble. The son, a generously inclined boy had been continuously deprived of every second of free time for years.

As he grew older his mother's demands had grown accordingly until in very truth he couldn't call his soul his own.

Then finally had come rebellion. His mother's bessing then allied itself with scolding and threats. What he had given willingly at first she obtained now by more strenuous methods.

One day when he had been given a prize of five dollars for a composition in a contest at school and proudly announced that he was going to buy a long-coveted fountain pen with it she took the money. Then trouble started in earnest. The case became complicated.

And it was in answer to the mother's statement, "He's my boy and I shall do as I please with him," that a member of the school board, a doctor, made the above statement.

If a parent takes the attitude that everything a child does, every thought he thinks, every breath he takes, and every object he owns belongs to his parents, there is probably no law in the land to dispute it.

But morally it is wrong.

He has time for school, and time for chores, and time for his studying. He still should have a few minutes a day to live for himself. He has a right to that . . . Everybody has a right to that.

Not only that but he should have rights of possession. Certain things should be his sacred property. That money morally belonged to the boy. The mother actually did not need it.

Some mothers dread the moment when their children achieve independence and start to think and act for themselves. Perhaps that is accountable for just such instances as this.

It probably is caused primarily by a mistaken mother love that tries to keep "her baby" on into maturity. She will sacrifice his happiness to do it.

Children must have supervision. They must have certain laws to live by, and certain obligations to live up to. But their lives are their own. Neither age, custom, nor sentiment should cause us to lose sight of that.

conducting the lectures."

Best School of All

"I have received more help from this school than from any in the past," Mrs. John Dalrymple said yesterday in discussing the week's exposition. "The food preparation was so practical and the presentation so pleasing that I enjoyed every day of the school."

All of the school was not devoted to the practical dishes, however, for fancy salads, cake decoration, the preparation of expensive meat cuts, fancy breads and cakes were demonstrated. Even the simplest foods were attractively arranged on the dish, colors and flavors blended to form the most appetizing of foods.

With Monday's lesson on salads Tuesday devoted to the vegetables and miscellaneous dishes, Wednesday given over to the making of yeast and quick breads, cake making on Thursday and an intensive study of meats on Friday, a well-rounded course in the preparation of foods was given during the week. For some dishes only the recipe was given but Mrs. Dougan prepared and displayed the majority of the foods of which she spoke in her school.

Competing in the annual deep sea angling contest for women at Deal, England, recently, a miss hooked and landed a canvas kitbag that had been lost from the pier several days before.

CRIME PAID BEST

But Officer Finds Death At End Of Spree

CHICAGO, Nov. 3 (AP)—Patrick McIntyre, who had been dismissed from the police department, theorized that crime paid better than law enforcement. Today he was dead from wounds received in a gun fight with two policemen.

McIntyre entered a cigar store yesterday and hit Louis Van with the butt of his pistol. Vann called for help, but McIntyre "covered" two officers who responded.

As he fled from the store, McIntyre shot at one of the officers. They returned the fire and the former policeman was fatally wounded.

MALTA BUSY, RENTS SOAR

Malta, with its Mediterranean scenery and climate, is attracting such crowds this season that habitations have become scarce. As a result, rents of furnished houses and apartments have been doubled in the last year. Among the visitors are many rich Americans. British naval officers stationed there are having the hardest time because their salaries barely pay for the expenses of themselves and families.

Powerful Sets On Navy's Dirigibles

Powerful Transmitters Are Ordered For Two Largest Craft Used By American Naval Forces

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—Radio transmitters capable of sending signals to virtually every part of the world will be installed in the two mammoth dirigibles the ZR4 and ZR5 to be constructed for the navy.

It is the desire of the navy department that the new rigid airships be equipped with apparatus which will have a communication range equal to their cruising radius, which will be more than 8,000 miles. In case either ship should make trans-Pacific flights its crew could keep in communication with Lakehurst or Washington virtually all the way.

It has been decided to use the Los Angeles as an experimental ship in determining the designs for the radio equipment. Steps are being taken to develop equipment which will replace that now installed on the Los Angeles. Both the intermediate and high frequency sets will be replaced by the latest type transmitters, and the present wind driven power generator will be removed and engine driven power units substituted. Navy engineers say the present radio compass will be allowed to remain intact, as it has given satisfactory service, although it is possible that the receiving equipment may be replaced by some of more modern design.

The ships are to be powered with eight engines instead of five, as in the case of the Los Angeles, and the ignition systems of the engines will be shielded to improve radio reception on board. The ships are to be of 6,500,000 cubic feet capacity, which is approximately three times the size of the Los Angeles.

Balsa is the lightest wood known, weighing only 7 pounds per cubic foot.

300 TEXAS MOTHERS Make Final APPEAL

In the closing hours of this critical campaign, we address this earnest personal appeal to the womanhood of Texas. On Tuesday next a President of our great Nation is to be selected. The choice must be made from two men, and in the casting of our ballots we should ask ourselves one question: Which of the two candidates represents the best ideals of America? Let us compare their records and lives on points that are vital and that are so personal as to touch every home in America.

What Hoover Stands For:

Opposing Governor Smith is Herbert Hoover. Let us look at his record. He was born out in the great open spaces of the West—in Iowa; reared on a farm as an orphan; worked his way through college; became an engineer by profession, and at an early age achieved worldwide distinction in his profession. At the outbreak of the World War he became Administrator of Food Relief for Belgium, and later Food Administrator of the United States under President Wilson. Following the World War he was head of the commission to feed the starving millions of Central Europe. He then became a member of the Cabinet as Secretary of Commerce and during his administration has helped our foreign trade to expand more than at any other time during the Nation's history. Two years ago he became head of the relief expedition for the Mississippi flood sufferers, and his service to the South in this capacity was so noble and praiseworthy that the Mississippi Legislature by unanimous vote passed a resolution commending Mr. Hoover for the great service that he had rendered the flood-stricken area. Moreover, Senator Joe Robinson of Arkansas, on the occasion of a banquet given in honor of Mr. Hoover, paid a great tribute to this outstanding American for his great work in relieving the Mississippi flood sufferers, and for other public achievements.

The American home. In all of his public utterances he places emphasis on the homes of this country and when he considers public questions he considers them in relation to their effect on the homes of America.

He is in favor of maintaining the Eighteenth Amendment and strictly enforcing it. He wants it to succeed. As a public official he has respected the Constitution of his country by completely abstaining from the use of intoxicating liquor in all forms. Therefore, his advocacy of prohibition is consistent with his own life.

He has the ability, by reason of his training and wide experience, to be the greatest constructive builder this country has ever produced. He has a world-wide, intimate and personal knowledge of the conditions and governments of foreign nations. He is perhaps the best loved and most highly respected American in all foreign countries. He is pre-eminently the outstanding man in America today that is qualified in every way to be our next President.

Al Smith's Record:

One of the candidates, Governor Smith of New York, was born in New York City. His entire life has been spent in that city, except the time he has served in the State Capitol at Albany. As a youngster he worked in a fish market, and from that position worked himself up until he atracted the attention of Tom Foley, a Tammany saloonkeeper, who was instrumental in getting Smith elected to the New York Assembly. Governor Smith is now, and from the beginning of his public career has been, a member of Tammany Hall, the most corrupt political organization ever known to American history. Every public office that he has held has come through the influence and votes of Tammany, and in his first public address following his nomination at Houston he proudly proclaimed his official connection as a sachem of Tammany.

The records of the State of New York show that as a member of the New York Legislature, and later as Governor of New York, Smith has been the ever faithful friend of Tammany, using his vote and influence always in the interest of the saloons, before national prohibition. Since national prohibition he has been its most avowed enemy, and was elected to the Governorship by the Tammany vote on the strength of his promise to repeal what was known as the Mullen-Gage law, which was the statute of New York that provided for the enforcement of prohibition. He made good this promise, and had this law repealed upon his election as Governor.

As a candidate now, Governor Smith makes the main issue of this campaign his proposal to destroy prohibition by the use of the great office of President, in a direct personal appeal to the people to bring about the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, or to have it so amended as to make its purpose ineffective. When his friends say that Governor Smith can not change the prohibition laws of this country, Governor Smith himself answers in his Philadelphia speech that his assaults upon prohibition are certainly not to be considered as a sham battle.

Governor Smith's entire public record and the major issues that he has injected in the present campaign are directly in conflict with the noble and traditional ideals of Southern womanhood. His public viewpoint is no doubt influenced by his alien environment in New York City, and his constant association with corrupt Tammany.

Certainly, with records such as are offered by the two candidates for President, the womanhood of America will have little difficulty in determining their patriotic duty: One candidate's record and present purpose is the very negation of all that is dear to our hearts. The other has by a long and useful public service shown himself to be the greatest humanitarian of all ages—worthy of the highest trust in the Nation. The vital issue is: The outlawed liquor traffic against the American home. We urge the womanhood of Texas not to fail to go to the polls on November 6th and register their votes for Herbert Hoover, the great American. He was good enough for Woodrow Wilson and he is good enough for us.

Radio Acts As Paul Revere On Dirigible Flight

Announcers Cling To Skyscrapers To Keep Story Going

Pilot In Plane Sent Best Story, Describing Action Of Dirigible From View Of The Airman

NEW YORK, Nov. 3 — Radio played the role of Paul Revere as it never had been played before when the German airship Graf Zeppelin made its Friedrichshafen-to-Lakehurst flight.

Never before was listening America kept so thoroughly informed about a great event the very time it was transpiring. The manner in which graphic news of the Zeppelin's movements was flashed to receiving sets the country over was a broadcasting accomplishment without parallel.

The climax came when the Graf Zeppelin life the Atlantic and sailed inland over Virginia. Announcers thereafter did not have to wait for the airship's radio room to supply them with data. From telephone and telegraph outposts, from skyscraper roofs, from radio-equipped airplanes came a vivid flow of first-hand description.

From Washington, Philadelphia, Trenton and finally New York flashed narratives of the flight's progress in highly dramatized language. Scheduled programs went by the boards when there was more to tell about the Zeppelin.

Heralded From Plane

Louis A. Witten, announcing for WOR, functioned in the most distinctive of all the day's achievements. Witten rode the skies for nearly four hours in a plane equipped with a short-wave transmitter so he could tell about the Zeppelin from the best of all vantage points. His words, sent on a 62 1-2 meter wave, were received at the WOR studio, amplified and fed to the station's regular five-kilowatt transmitter.

A receiving set aboard the plane enabled Witten to keep in constant touch with Announcer Bosworth at the studio.

Station WRC at Washington started the first-hand reports of the National Broadcasting Company. Stations WBAL and WLIT came in while the ship was over Baltimore and Philadelphia respectively.

Chains Hot After Her

As the Zeppelin reached New York, NBC announcers scrambled from one skyscraper roof to another to keep her in eyesightview for themselves and radio view for customers of the many stations on the NBC hook-up.

For WABC, Announcer Edward Husing gripped a microphone in one hand and a ledge on the roof of New York's Steinway Hall in the other as he gave a near-television recital for the Columbia system. At one time Husing almost fell off—into space that would have lasted 20 stories.

Phillips Carlin headed the NBC staff at Lakehurst. After long hours of waiting there, they put in two hours of telling of the Zeppelin's twilight arrival and landing.

Thousands of congratulatory messages reached the New York offices of the big broadcasting concerns.

Zepp's Radio Room

The Zeppelin's flights was a commercial one and its radio room conformed strictly to this aim. Save for press matter dispatched in code, its output of information was extremely meager.

Installations on the Graf Zeppelin included a main transmitter with 130 watts power and an auxiliary transmitter of about 60 watts. The main transmitter operates on wavelengths of 576 to 2800 meters, and the auxiliary 300 to 1300 meters. Both are capable of voice as well as code work, the voice ranges being 240 and 100 miles respectively and the code ranges 1,000 and 45[illegible] miles respectively.

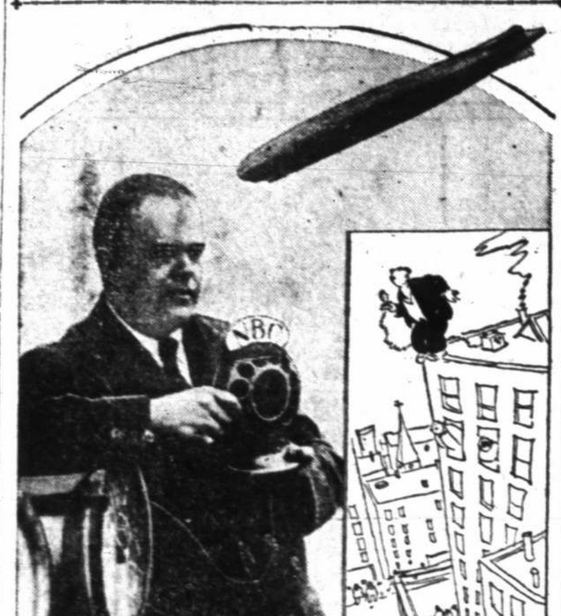

There is a radio compass, but on the flight to America it was used little, if at all.

Receiving equipment aboard the Zeppelin has three tuning systems, covering wavelength groupings from 180 to 25,000 meters.

Electricity today is estimated to be 50 per cent below pre-war levels when figured on a cost-of-living basis.

Announcer-Reporters

Phillips Carlin, heading the NBC announcer-reporters, broadcast occasional descriptions of the gaping crowds welcoming the Graf Zeppelin to America while other announcers kept their eyes glued to the big ship no matter what their own hazard.

BEFORE THE MICROPHONE

Programs for the night of Nov. 6 will resolve themselves into the single feature of broadcasting the election returns. The NBC has arranged for a gala event with reports of voting interspersed between music picked for the occasion. The Columbia system will do likewise and independent stations may be expected at least to give figures between numbers.

F. R. Sylvestre, who sponsors the Sylvestre Cory Hour on the NBC system, has a unique claim to distinction. He has had no technical training in music. He can't read a note. Yet he builds the programs that are delighting thousands of fans. The reason is he is an inveterate concert goer and knows the masterpieces as few other laymen do. His Sunday concerts benefit by his knowledge.

Radio Will Carry Detailed Reports On Election Night

Listeners From Coast To Coast Will Get Accurate And Complete Returns Via the Ether

NEW YORK, Nov. 3 (AP)—Election night on the radio will bring to listeners from coast to coast a detailed story of the nation's vote.

Elaborate plans are being made by stations in all sections of the country either to participate in two chain broadcasts or to give individual service that will consist of tabulations of the national as well as local balloting.

Starting early in the evening, the broadcasts are to continue until the stations sign off. In some cases this may not be until long after midnight.

The giving of the returns is to be interspersed with musical programs, their length to be determined by how fast the vote is received. On the chains, certain periods have been set aside for the various stations to drop out to announce local figures. The national tabulation will come from New York.

The National Broadcasting company hookup will include these stations: WJZ WEAF WBZ WBAL WHAM KDKA WJR WLW KYW KWK WREN WHAS WSM WMC WSB WBT KOA WTMJ WCCO WHRM KVOO WFAA KPRC WOAI WEEI WTIC WJAR WTAG WSCH WRC WGY WGR WCAE WTAM WWJ KSD WOC WHO WOW WDAF WEBC KSL KPO KGO KFI KGW KOMO KHQ WRVA. This broadcast is to open at 7 o'clock, Eastern Time.

Associated with the Columbia System, will be WBAC WAIU WFAN WNAC WEAN WFBL WMAK WJAS WADC WKRC WGHP WOWO KMOX KMBC WSPD WICC WHK KOIL WBBM. The first returns are scheduled to be given at 8 o'clock.

Among stations planning individual service are WMAQ WGN KTHS WJAX WOR WFI KSTP WPG and WLS, starting early in the evening.

The radio commission has asked amateur and experimental stations, including television sets, to cease operation while the vote is being given, if they cause interference with broadcast reception. Broadcast stations not handling the returns were asked to operate with a minimum of interference.

RADIO ON SHIPS

Wireless Equipment Is Ordered For Craft

SHANGHAI, Nov. 3 (AP).—The Ministry of Communications has ordered all Chinese ocean-going steamships of 500 tons and over to install radio equipment.

Wireless stations are also required on the following: All steamers above 300 tons having accommodations for 100 passengers or more, plying between places at or more than 130 nautical miles from the coast, and covering more than 500 nautical miles each trip; all pilots boats. Steamers not equipped with wireless sets will not be permitted in Chinese waters.

COMBINATION SPEAKER

Paris Invention Shows A Great Volume

PARIS, Nov. 3 (AP).—A Panorgranum, which is a megaphone of great power, a radio receiver and a phonograph, has been invented at the Paris Museum of Arts and Crafts.

No bigger than a portable harmonium, the Panorganum can fill the biggest hall with sound, carrying the voice of a lecturer, the notes of a phonograph disc or music from a distant radio station greatly amplified.

Public speakers may make their speeches before an ordinary telephone receiver placed on the Panorganum, and, although speaking softly and easily, their words will be clearly audible in any part of the largest building, while by means of relays and other Panorganums they may be reproduced throughout the country, either in halls or the open air.

New Music Stars Helped By Radio

Broadcasting Will Furnish Impetus Needed To Start Young Musicians Up Ladder Of Success

NEW YORK, Nov. 3—Radio again steps to the front for the advancement of music. This time it is to aid new artists begin their musical careers with some hope for success.

The opportunity is presented by co-operation of the National Broadcasting company and the National Music league. Henceforth, promising artists will make their debuts into music under sponsorship of these organizations and in such a way that music critics throughout the country may comment on their work.

According to Mrs. Otto Kahn, who represents the music league, the cost of a musical debut has sometimes hindered novice artists from becoming recognized. George Engles, head of the NBC Concert Bureau, says it averages between $600 and $1,000. Under the new arrangement, the NBC will defray all the costs of the debut. The artists will appear in the large studio-auditorium of the NBC before some three hundred persons, including the New York music critics, and will at the same time broadcast their selections to thousands of fans and radio and music critics.

Selection of the artists, says M. H. Aylesworth, president of the NBC will be made by an audition committee of the National Music League.

"It is intended that three debuts be grouped into a single concert, possibly one vocal, one violin and one piano or some other varying combinations," says Aylesworth.

"Following the debuts such artist as it is believed will be successfull professionally will be aided in starting their careers both by the National Broadcasting company and the National Music league."

Youth Holds Radio Talk With Members Of Byrd Expedition

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa, Nov. 3 (AP)—Bertram Puckett, 17-year-old Cedar Rapids high school student, has added communication with the Byrd Antarctic expedition to his ether adventures into far-away places.

With a home-made set he first picked up the "Elinor Bolling" and the "City of New York," ships of the Byrd party, while they were near the equator, sailing southward in the Pacific ocean. He arranged to pick up their call letters regularly. The Bolling operator told Puckett he was the only person he had talked with since the North American shoreline had dropped from sight.

Puckett had heard stations in Hawaii, Japan, Moscow, Russia, Berlin, Paris and London.

He uses a 75-watt short wave set. He has been a radio enthusiast about two years.

Soon after the ships of Commander Richard E. Byrd sailed from San Francisco, Puckett began trying to pick them up. At last he was able to catch their call letters in the early morning hours.

The Bolling operator arranged for Puckett to relay messages to friends. He said that as soon as the ship reached the southern ice fields messages would be sent regularly.

In discussing his radio adventures Puckett said:

"A short time ago I talked with a friend whom I met here several years ago. He is now in the Polynesian Islands, 8,000 miles away. We heard each other as distinctly as if we had only been separated by a few miles."

In the manufacture of a telephone receiver there are employed aluminum, silk, copper, rubber, flax, nickel, mica, shellac, lead, cotton, silver, iron, platinum, zinc and gold.

Babbitt metal obtained its name from Isaac Babbitt who invented the alloy.

ELECTION DAY
November 6, 1928

The Banks of Lubbock are anxious that every citizen exercise his voting franchise today, the keystone upon which the structure of democratic government is founded.

Every citizen should consider it both a privilege and a duty to exert his voice in the government, "of the people, and by the people."

Cast your ballot — whether it is to be for a republican or a democrat, and thus do your individual part in the maintenance of government according to the will of the majority.

At no time in the history of the American Republic has there been as many vital issues and principles at stake as there is in the present presidential election. The selection of a president of this great empire is the greatest duty the American citizen is called upon to carry out and it is especially imperative that every red-blooded American assert his rights as a voter on November 6. If you are not interested enough to vote, you do not deserve the name of an American citizen.

NOTICE—It is not the intention of The Avalanche-Journal to cast reflection upon the character of anyone knowingly and if through error we should, the management will appreciate having our attention called to same, and will gladly correct any erroneous statement made.

The Avalanche-Journal is an Independent Democratic newspaper, supporting in its editorial columns the principles which it believes to be right and opposing those questions which it believes to be wrong, regardless of party politics; publishing the news fairly and impartially at all times.

When I consider Thy heavens, the work of Thy fingers, the moon and the stars which Thou hast ordained, what is man that Thou art mindful of him?—Psalm viii, 3. void of understanding.—Proverbs XII, 10-11.

SO THE PEOPLE MAY KNOW

(Publisher's Statement)

At the outset of the present Presidential campaign, the Avalanche and Journal took the position that the principal function of a newspaper is to print the news. Realizing full well that the present campaign would be one of bitterness and that personalities would enter into the campaigning as never before, the Avalanche-Journal papers decided that they could best serve the readers of the South Plains as a non-partisan or omni-partisan medium, with specified columns open for any public expression of interest. These columns have been used to a remarkable extent by leaders wishing to make their views known through the press.

The Avalanche-Journal papers have been criticised by both democrats and anti-Smith proponents, which is an indication that the campaign news has been handled fairly and impartially. Before the campaign started, the Publisher of the Avalanche-Journal papers in conference with their editors and editorial writers outlined a non-partisan program of handling both news and editorial comment. It was a disappointment to read the editorial in the Sunday Avalanche-Journal of October 27, written by the editor of the Morning Avalanche, decidedly partisan in its stand. While it represented only the views of the editor as he stated, the editorial appeared contrary to the announced policy of the Avalanche-Journal for handling campaign material.

The day of the old-time political party organ is a thing of the past, its star having waned with the passing of Horace Greely and his contemporaries, when mud-slinging and fist fights were the order of the day. In a progressive section like the South Plains it is more essential that peace and harmony, which make for civic and regional progress, prevail. The greatest single factor in the growth of Lubbock has been that same absence of factionalism, which has retarded the growth and prosperity of many communities.

The Avalanche and Journal are the people's newspapers. If they had thought the best interests of all the people would have been better served by months of highly opinionated editorials on on side or the other, they would have adopted this policy. The Avalanche-Journal has the utmost confidence in the intelligence of its readers, who are buying the Avalanche and Journal every day for information and entertainment.

Thousands of the finest people in the land will cast ballots in the national election Tuesday and certainly not all of them will be on the same side. With continual charges, counter charges, issues, arguments, speeches in the press and on the air, this year we have an enlightened and well informed electorate. The Avalanche-Journal papers have a mission to perform—that of informing the public. This they will always do without fear or favor. The Avalanche-Journal papers have no axe to grind, no selfish interests to serve, no ambition to fulfill save to promote the happiness and prosperity of the people of the Plains.

The Avalanche-Journal papers are not political organs serving part of the people but NEWSpapers serving ALL of the people.

THE FRUIT OF THE SPIRIT

It is obvious that these values of the spiritual life overlap. Each has in it something of the others, or, perhaps better, through all of them runs the first—love. They constitute a harmony in which the love theme is the concordant element. Paul was not carelessly redundant in thus listing them. He was not merely repeating words. Related though they may be, each has its own peculiar significance. And that which we consider today is one of the most significant. There is a famous triad—Truth, Goodness, Beauty. The Greek philosophers celebrated it, and modern philosophers, concerned to discover the eternal realities, the supreme values of life, often follow the Greeks in thus describing them—Truth, the high aim of intellectual life; Goodness, the goal of the moral life; Beauty, the ideal of the esthetic life. Goodness, declares Paul, is a fruit of the spirit. It is less easy to define than some of the other terms which we have discussed, because it is more comprehensive, and, in certain senses, more profound. There is not a value listed in this catalogue of nine which does not enter into the making of goodness. We may regard it as a synthesis of all the others, and of some which are not here included. And yet, like most synthetic compounds, it has a quality of its own. The idea of goodness suggests to us the idea of soundness, of spiritual health and wholeness. A good apple is one that has no worm at its core, no spot of decay. There is an excellence which pervades it from the center out, and which gives to it firmness and flavor. Its surface beauty, tinted with the colors which the sun has painted, does not deceive. It is the index of an inner worth. That is a homely illustration of what seems to us an important meaning of goodness. It is that quality of the spiritual life which will stand test at any point, and however deep the probe may go. It is not a matter of fitful mood or circumstance. It is not the geniality which is shown when the conditions are propitious and the humor right. It is not the spasmodic kindness of emotion. It is not a sentimental sympathy. It is not a moral attitude which depends upon external stimuli and props. It is not a distaste for certain forms of evil and a tolerance for others. We heard one man say of another recently, "I have known him for years. I have seen him in poverty and prosperity, in sickness and health. I have gone to him when he was burdened with cares and disturbed by anxieties. I have watched him when he was assailed by temptations; when lures which drag other men from decency laid their traps for him. I have never known him to be anything but true, kindly, clean-hearted. He is pure gold through and through. That is goodness. There is no rot of envy in such a life. It can see the happiness and success of others without resentment. It rejoices in them. There is no rot of cynicism. Goodness believes the best about its world, about its neighbors and associates. It is not looking for the weak spots in men, but for their hidden strength. It takes no pleasure in exposing their sins; it seeks, instead, their buried virtues. Its attitude is appreciative, not censorious. It has faith in the possibility that men can be better than they are, and by that faith it helps them to be better. There is no rot of uncleanness. Goodness is antiseptic. It has the tang of the sea breeze, or the odor of spring as the wind sweeps the cherry orchards. It is hygienic, stimulating, fresh as the blue of the rain-washed sky. But that is not all. Goodness—and the Greek word used by Paul carries this connotation—is a working and achieving quality of the spiritual life. It is not satisfied to be negative. It does not rest with the avoidance of evil. It is an active force for righteousness in the world. It propagates itself. It rebuilds the altars which have been torn down; it repairs the breach in the city wall. Goodness employs every interest in life as a means for promoting the kingdom of God. It works through the channels of business, of social contacts, of civic opportunity and obligation. And it works effectively because it works intelligently. Perhaps a little stress ought to be put on that last characteristic. It is sometimes overlooked as an element of goodness, and there is much that is well-intentioned in the world which fails of measuring up to the full requirements of this quality because it is ill-judged. A primary requisite of goodness is that it should be able to judge wisely, to discern clearly, to act with understanding. Goodspeed translates I Cor. ii. 15, "A spiritual man is alive to all true values." That is a most suggestive saying, and aptly fitted to our consideration of goodness. Jesus said of his followers that they were the "salt of the earth." That is a parable of goodness, if it be expanded. The saving, healing, cleansing, pervasively savoring salt of the good life is what keeps the whole structure of society from decadence and decay.

On the Firing Line at the Nation's Capital

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of several stories outlining the political situation in various states during the closing days of the campaign.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer.

ASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—New York has 45 electorial votes, New Jersey 14, Maryland 8 and Delaware 3.

The most convincingly sound reason why the democrats nominated Gov. Alfred E. Smith was that he had a good chance to carry New York. Without New York he can't win. It is important, though perhaps not necessarily essential, that he also carry New Jersey. Maryland also enters into most of the democratic figuring in attempts to compute the apportionment of electoral votes required to elect Smith.

At this writing it appears probable, though far from certain, that Smith will win New York. He may also be conceded a shade in Maryland. But Hoover appears to be a safer bet in New Jersey and Delaware. None of these states, however, can be placed definitely in either candidate's column until election day.

Smith's difficulty in his own states is that, presidentially speaking, New York has long been republican. He has won his gubernatorial fights with the votes of men and women who have always voted for the G. O. P. national ticket. The tariff and national prosperity have meant a lot to New York; she has had no major depressions.

Smith has made himself clear on the tariff, but some of the voters who wanted him for governor will vote for him for president and some of them won't. How many will? And how many can Smith poll on the wet issue? Those will be the deciding factors—New York is overwhelmingly wet.

As usual, it is conceded, Smith will be licked upstate. But one hears that New York City will produce a Smith majority of 500,000 or 600,000—a partisan claim, of course.

Conditions are certainly ideal for the democrats if they are to carry New York for the first national election since the Roosevelt bolt of 1912. Their state organization is naturally pepped up tremendously.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, their gubernatorial candidate, is a tower of strength. Neither Roosevelt or Senator Copeland, their candidate for re-election, is affiliated with Tammany or the Catholic church. Roosevelt accepted the nomination solely because he knew he could help Smith carry New York.

The New York republicans are not in such good shape. Their machine is in charge of "stop Hoover" leaders of Kansas City fame like National Committeeman Hilles and ex-Senator Wadsworth. Machold, the new state chairman, is of that group. Hoover's real friends are working their heads off for him, but the reins are held by those who, though unquestionably doing their best, haven't quite got their hearts in their work.

Attorney General Ottinger, Roosevelt's opponent for the governorship, has been deserted by some of the strongest Hoover supporters and is very likely to be licked. Ambassador Houghton, opposing Copeland, is conceded to be a good statesman, but apparently isn't a strong candidate.

Nevertheless, Harding's plurality in 1920 was 1,140,000 and Coolidge's in 1924 was 870,000. That's why a Smith victory is not considered a sure thing.

In New Jersey Smith must overcome Harding's 353,000 majority and Coolidge's 270,000 over both Davis and LaFollette. Somehow or other, it has been thought that his chances of doing so were less than in New York and democrats of New Jersey fell back on the hope that Smith's personal appearance in the state would swing the tide.

Smith's New Jersey hopes are based on the fact that the state is wetter, if possible than New York. Hoover's fate hinges on whether or not the republican voters prefer to vote on the prosperity issue.

New York and New Jersey generally vote in a national election together, but republican wets in the latter state are not flocking to Smith as they are across the river. The fact that Senator Edge, an extreme wet, has plugged for Hoover from the start apparently has had a restraining effect.

The political power of Governor Ritchie and Senator Bruce in Maryland may decide the Maryland result. Here, as in so many other states, prohibition and religion are the dominating issues. Ritchie appears to have effectively settled what threatens to be a serious bit of democratic factional strife and Smith's chances are thought to have improved since. But Hoover is due to run up a healthy majority outside Baltimore which may go as high as 30,000. The democratic city organization will have to overcome that and the result seems bound to be close.

Delaware, with its three votes, is in doubt with possibly a slight edge for Hoover. When the du Ponts disagree, as Pierre and Coleman have, one never knows what will happen in Delaware.

Al Smith says he cannot understand Mr. Hoover's words. The general language of the Sidewalks of New York, is possibly not just the same of the English Language anyway. But why worry about that one or the other of those boys are going to be our president, and we will have to put up with Al or Herbert one or the other after the fourth of March 1929, for awhile at least.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson has returned from Europe and announces that Al Smith will be elected. Possibly this was her recollection of how the people in Europe felt about it.

Vote For Your Favorite Tuesday

SO THINK WE

It was a big crowd that came down from Amarillo Saturday to witness the game between the high schools, and the Lubbock people appreciate the visit of this large delegation. Though the game was hard fought, and you know the results, the presence of so many fans backing their team, showed the proper spirit and it makes winning teams, even if they lose occasionally.

—o—

We think if you have not studied the ballot that is to be used in the general election that you should find out something about it before you go to the polls. Its a great big affair and contains a lot of names. It has five columns on it representing four parties and one blank. Only four of these have a state ticket on them, and only one has a county ticket. When you vote a straight democratic ticket you run a pencil mark through the entire ticket of the other parties and if you vote a straight republican ticket you will mark the other tickets leaving the one you wish to vote without any marks on it. A mixed ticket is suggested by the controversies that have come up and the bolting voters, and it has been held legal that if you want to vote the democratic ticket except for president that you scratch the names of the electors on all of the tickets but the group you wish to vote for, and leave the state officers intact on the democratic ticket, or vice versa. If a republican wishes to vote for the Smith electors they may do so and scratch the ticket through the list of state nominees.

—o—

We think it won't be long now till we can all settle down to thinking about what we shall buy our relatives and friends for Christmas. The election will be over, and we will all have had an opportunity to present our views on the political situation at the polls. The majority of the states will express the desires of the people by states, and therefore will represent the majority of the people according to the system of the nation. We will have many things to forget, and some to forgive, and Christmas time will be a fine time to forget all political differences and get down to real Christian-like citizenship, that we should enjoy in this great country of ours.

—o—

We think that all of the people of the South Plains should be truly thankful this year. There are many sections of the country that have not yielded the wonderful crops that this country has produced this year and there are sections of the country that have not enjoyed the fine weather and general conditions that the South Plains has, and we are of the opinion that in Lubbock there should be a great union thanksgiving service held Thanksgiving Day, and show our appreciation to the Allwise Creator, and Giver of all good gifts.

—o—

We thing the South Plains of Texas will harvest one of the biggest crops of cotton and grain that has ever been harvested, but we do not want to go wild over either, for diversification is the kind of crops that we must grow if we shall continue to prosper, and bring out the very best things in this section.

—o—

We think that whether we complied with the rules of the contestants in the agricultural exhibits at the State Fair or not, this county, and the South Plains possibly got more real constructive publicity than any other section of the country through the uniqueness of the display. This display has been reproduced in the city, remaining on display at the Rix furniture store for several days, and many people even in Lubbock have looked upon it and marveled at the wonderful showing of products and complimented the splendid arrangement, and the attractiveness of the scheme.

—o—

We think the interest in the general election is possibly greater this year than it has been for the last twelve years, and it is a pretty good indication that the people of America are at last waking up to a greater sense of duty, and will exercise their privilege of voting.

The Way Of The World

BY GROVE PATTERSON

IT TAKES NERVE

Captain Street and Captain Stevens, two flying men, have been climbing almost eight miles into the skies. Up there, at the highest, it was 76 degrees below zero. The throttle on the plane froze. Finally they got it to working. Then they ran out of gas and were forced to land in a field. While at great heights they took pictures, the first ever taken from such an altitude. They carried 40 pounds of liquified air, otherwise they could not have lived very long.

Not many of us would care to do that sort of thing even if we knew how. It takes physical courage of a high order. Initiative and adventure, worked out in various lines, represent leadership. It would be a pretty sad and weary procession that would be stumbling along the road if it were not for those who take a chance, who learn, who transmit what they learn and who lead.

RADIO'S RISE

The rise of radio from an interesting experiment to a giant industry in eight years is largely a triumph of newspaper publicity. G. Clayton Irwin, general manager of the Chicago Radio show, tells his hearers that" while the radio industry was in the process of formation, growth and transition, the radio men learned to depend upon advertising as their chief ally in making America radio conscious. Those who did not do so are among the skeletons which lie unnamed along the highway of radio progress.

"It is not too much to say that in this fast-stepping industry a manufacturer must advertise to live, let alone make progress. I think that newspaper advertising is the backbone of radio advertising. By that I mean specifically that if an executive had to choose but a single medium to help his sales that medium should be the newspaper."

FLYING ALONG

Three or four years ago five million dollars would have bought the entire commercial aviation industry of the United States. Today it would take a hundred million dollars to do that. Two years and a half ago mail planes carried 19,000 pounds of mail a month. This last August they carried 419,000. In 1925 seven hundred and eleven planes were built in the United States. This year the number will be between 6,000 and 8,000. There are now in the neighborhood of 9,000 planes owned by civilians and commercial companies in this country.

What we shall have to be thinking of is improving ground transportation to such a degree that th etime gained by air travel won't all be lost on arrival. The other day McCracken, assistant secretary of commerce for aeronautics, flew from Cleveland to Chicago in 175 minutes—but it took him 75 minutes to get from the Chicago airport to his hotel.

PUBLIC OPINION

THE MAIN ISSUE

The Avalanche-Journal papers have been most indulgent in this campaign. As a citizen I most deeply appreciate this. For some reason my last article was signed with a degree and my official position. This was not authorized by me but I have no criticism. However when I speak and write on this campaign I do it only as a citizen. I neither lost my manhood nor my American citizenship when I entered my present calling. When some matter vitally affecting the high ideals of the medical profession is at stake every one admits that those who have given a life time study to the question should be heard. It is true in the realm of education. Why not hear from those who have given their life to moral issues? In fact our people who are studying the issues in order to cast an intelligent vote have a right to hear all sides and every point of view.

The religious issue has had enough attention. I voted against two Baptists, Hughes and Harding. I would vote against Smith if he were a Baptist and held the same views he now supports.

The prohibition issue is vital. Shall we admit that the moral stamina of our nation is so bankrupt that we must surrender to the lawless liquor crowd that threatens to have a balance of power due to the presence of a large group of aliens in our midst? Every great movement has its crisis and reaction. If the moral stamina of the people is sufficient to stem the tide then it comes out with new strength and permanency. Otherwise that nation heads for the rocks. Federal enforcement is not the only weak point. Governor Neff found his efforts to enforce the law blocked by so many local officials that he asked for a law giving the governor authority to remove any showing themselves out of sympathy with enforcement.

The Mellon cry has been greatly overworked. According to the Dallas News, a Smith paper, Mr. Mellon owned a small stock in a brewery that ceased operation two and a half years before prohibition went into effect and that Mr. Mellon disposed of his stock before becoming Secretary of the Treasury. If you are going to excommunicate all exsaloon men and distillers, you will annihilate Mr. Smith's political godfathers, destroy some of his chief advisors and leave only the hide of the Tammany Tiger. With all his faults, Mr. Mellon has done twice as much to enforce prohibition in the nation as Mr. Smith has in the state of New York.

It is argued that prohibition has increased more drinking among young people and women. This is neither logical nor true. Is the violation of the liquor law the only bad tendency that has developed in the last few years? You had just as well say that the Ten Commandments and the law against stealing have created the epidemic of stealing among boys. What about drinking among young people and women in nations that have legalized liquor? I could give scores of quotations from public officials and eminent citizens from several nations that have legalized whiskey that would make you think it was Al Smith describing the fearful condition in the United States. I have seen with my own eyes a horrible drinking scourge in several foreign countries among the young people and the women. It is even far worse than in the United States.

The party platforms are alright. The personal platform of one man has forced a referendum on the American people. He alone is responsible for this phase of the conflict. The rising tide of liquor and lawlessness is going to be hurled back by the aroused moral conscience of the American people as we follow the leadership of a man who promised his sainted mother that he would never touch a drop of the accursed stuff, Herbert Hoover.

RACE BETTERMENT PROGRAM AIMS TO MAKE FINER MEN

Race Betterment Movement

In January of this year, the third Race Betterment Conference was held at the Battle Creek Sanitarium at Battle Creek, Mich. I am going to give you an excerpt from the address of welcome of Dr. John Harvey Kellogg, who is superintendent of the sanitarium.

LULU HUNT PETERS, M.D.

"The Race Betterment Movement, of which this conference is an outgrowth, is an effort to find a program having for its aim the salvaging of civilization and the creating of a superior human race. It aims to find some means whereby the degenerative influences that are dragging down the race may be successfully combatted through the application of science. It aims to make our modern so-called civilized life as biologic and health-promoting as is that of the savage living under ideal conditions.

"Why may we not do as much for ourselves as we have done for our domestic animals and our farm crops and garden products? We have fleeter horses, finer cows, more industrious hens, more delicious fruits, more wonderful flowers than the world has ever known before. Why not, through the same means that have produced these marvellous betterments, applied by tactful and subtle methods adapted to human conditions, not only stop the downward trend, but start an upward trend, which by small increments accumulating through many generations, may create a new race of men as much superior to the finest representatives of the race today as our highest types are above those lowest in the scale?"

Dr. Kellogg's inspirational words stimulate us. The factors resulting in race betterment in animals and plants are numerous and of great importance, covering the field of selective breeding, insuring good heredity and environment factors. Can they be applied to the human family? Yes, and some we can apply right now to ourselves. We are already bred and nothing can be done about that, but we can be thinking of how we can improve our mental and physical health. Are we following the known health laws? Are we careful to get the vital elements necessary for good nutrition, daily? Are we having some daily vigorous exercise to help keep our muscles and our organs in good physical shape? Sufficient sleep and rest and avoidance of habits that are harmful?

If you are in doubt to what good nutrition means, I suggest you send for our article on Balanced Diet, and for some vital exercises ask for the article on the Atonic Adbominal Wall.

Ulcers

A—One who has had a duodenal or stomach ulcer always has to take thought of his hygienic habits, especially his diet. If the ulcer is of dietary origin originally, a recurrence of the dietary habits that brought it on will cause it to become active again.

Most stomach and duodenal ulcers are curable with the right diet and medication. The diet is very strict at first and later enlarged. It must be prescribed by a physician.

Duodenal ulcer seldom goes on to cancer. No, there is no danger of children's inheriting this ailment.

Overfat Children

Overfat children are more susceptible to many disorders, and there is no reason at all why they should not be reduced to normal weight. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining weight gives instructions which can be used for children.

Editor's Note—Dr. Peters can not diagnose, nor give personal advice. Your questions, if of general interest, will be answered in the column, in turn. Requests for articles must be accompanied by a fully self-addressed, stamped envelope and 2 cents in coin for each article, to cover cost of printing and handling. For the pamphlet on reducing and gaining, 10 cents in coin, with fully self-addressed, stamped envelope, must be enclosed. Address Dr. Peters, in care of this paper.

Who's Who and Timely Views

CONTINUANCE OF PROHIBITION SEEN AS VITAL

By
DR. HARRY EMERSON FOSDICK
Pastor, Park Avenue Baptist Church
New York City

(Harry Emerson Fosdick was born in Buffalo, N. Y., in 1878. He was ordained to the Baptist ministry in 1903 and in the following year became pastor of a church at Montclair, N. J., serving there until 1915. He now is pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, New York city. From 1908 to 1915, Dr. Fosdick was instructor in homiletics at the Union Theological seminary, and he has been professor of practical theology in the same institution since the latter year. He is the author of many books on theological subjects.)

There are some things that should be said to both Republicans and Democrats, both conscientious wets and drys. Here we are in New York city. It is one of the wettest places on the continent, its large foreign population makes it unrepresentative of many areas of America. Its newspapers, reflecting the local prejudices, pour into us daily a stream of propaganda, most of it tending one way. As a result, we are encouraged to forget some things we ought to remember. In this non-partisan place I beg leave to try to state them.

DR. H. E. FOSDICK

First, we are constantly reminded of the utter unsatisfactoriness of the present situation. In any discussion it is well to find some point of agreement from which to start, and we may well agree on this, the present situation is very unsatisfactory.

This side of the matter has been so emphasized that we forget there never has been a time when the handling of liquor traffic was not unsatisfactory. It always has been unsatisfactory, and what we have now in the United States, bad as it is, is better than the old days we escaped. Some of you should remember back as far as 1884. That was the year of the Boodle Board of Aldermen—twelve saloon keepers, four saloon controlled politicians, sixteen in a total membership of twenty-four. That same year, out of 1,002 Republican and Democratic conventions and primaries in this city, 633 were held in saloons, and 96 in places nevt door to saloons.

The younger generation never saw those places, never lived, as some of us did, in towns where, as in Boston, there was a public liquor license for every 310 inhabitants. The generation that never saw all this looks on prohibition and says "See the bootleggers, hijackers, racketeers, with lawlessness rampant everywhere." Agreed! But the liquor traffic always has been lawless, always has violated criminality across the community, it always has conspired against any government that licensed it, and any laws that controlled it.

In the second place, to awaken dislike for the prohibitory laws, the familiar agency of caricature has been ingeniously employed. The picture of a dreary, hideous fanatic, with high hat, black tie, and rumpled umbrella, has been made symbolical with prohibition. It was this kill-joy spirit of bigoted puritanism, they say, which gave us the prohibition law.

That is nonsense. Who put the prohibitory law on the statute books? In the last analysis, Big Business. One basic fact commonly forgotten is that American business found it impossible to run modern machinery with drink befuddled brains.

MEDITATION

HE GOES BEFORE

Sunday. Meditation for the day (to be read aloud) as part of the Sunday Home Service, see page 1097. John 10:1-6. "He goeth before them and the sheep follow him." An Eastern shepherd does not drive his flock before him, as Western shepherds, but goes before them, and they follow him as their leader. So it is with our divine Shepherd. As Dr. F. B. Meyer says: "There is no path of legitimate duty into which we are called to go, in which He does not precede."

As we start out on each day's toil, however commonplace and humdrum it may be, we can see Him striding patiently on ahead. He has made our labor His labor. He has taken our load on His shoulders. He wields our tools, whatever they may be. Not a perplexity of our lot but He shares it. Not a weariness of our work but He feels it. Not a hope for our success, but He entertains it with us.

He has gone on before. Who knows how many obstacles He has thrown out of our way, how many brambles He has cut down, how many waters He has bridged, how many ravening beasts He has slain? He has gone on before, but not so farm ahead that we can not keep Him in sight, to cheer, to encourage, to inspire. He has gone on ahead, and He will reach the green pastures a little before us, and be waiting there for us with a smile.

Who would not travel far with such a Leader? Who would not brave any wilderness with such a Guide? Who shall falter when the Shepherd goes on before?

Today's Poem

A ROSE TO THE LIVING

A rose to the living is more
Than sumptuous wreaths to the dead:
In filling love's infinite store,
A rose to the living is more,
If graciously given before
The hungering spirit is fled,
A rose to the living is more
Than sumptuous wreaths to the dead.

The ghastly maneuverings of air war, the story of a dancing girl, the childlike belief in a pot of gold at the end of the rainbow, the sweet atmosphere of "Lilac Time," the roaming life of a tramp—these, and several others, are listed among the theater offerings of Lubbock for the week.

A common tramp, hoboing it from one state to another in the belief that some time he would find his "pot of gold," had ambitions to become an artist—a writer who could depict life as it really is with all of its cold ghastly aspects. That tramp, Jim Tully, realized his ambition as if by magic. He immediately stepped into the spotlight of writers fame, and came to be recognized by critics as one of the leading novelists and short story writers of the time.

One of Tully's best books, "Beggars of Life," which deals with his own life begins a two-day showing at the Palace Theater today. Wallace Berry, Richard Arlen, and Louise Brooks head the cast. The Paramount production is directed by William Wellman, director of "Wings."

In addition to this production, a variety of short vaudeville acts features the matinee showing of the Palace this afternoon. Marty Young and his Youngsters, a victor recording orchestra band which plays at the Uptown Dance Palace Monday night, will comprise a versatile entertainment of music in a pot pourri of music, melody and fun. The band will appear at 3 and 5 o'clock.

Margaret Livingston has the leading part in the drama, "A woman's Way" which shows at the Lindsey Wednesday and Thursday of this week. This is a Columbia production, pictures the life of a charming dancing girl who is indifferent to men until she meets an attractive young American. The awakening of love in the young dancer, her fear of an apache and her rise to the Paris Opera forms the basis for an intriguing and fascinating photoplay. Warner Baxter has the role of the dashing young American who captures the heart of the dancer.

Heralded as one of the outstanding move dramas of the year, "Lilic Time" now is to be shown for the approval of the Lubock Theater-goers. With the demure little Coleen Moore in the leading role, the photoplay shows the famous Flying Corps in all of its colorful reality. The production will begin a three-day showing at the Palace Theater next Thursday. War is made the starkly realistic background for this beautiful romance. Assistance of the best available technical advise was used to make this production the super success that has proven its other showings throughout the country.

Veterans of the world war who experienced all of the sensations or war have been placed in minor parts in the production to avoid any technical mistakes in the depiction of the warfare.

Coleen Moore plays the part of Jeannine, a wistful young French girl who has seven brothers in the flying corps.

"The House of Scandal," famous novel of Emerson Hough's is scheduled for the first-of-the-week showing at the Lyric Theater. The production will be here Monday and Tuesday. Dorothy Sebastain is starred in the production.

Wednesday and Thursday the Lyric will present the well known novel of Gene Stratton Porter's, "Freckles."

"Rex, King of the Wild horses," will come into his own in the showing of "Guardians of the Wild" which shows at the Rex Theater here Monday and Tuesday. Jack Perrin is the star of the photoplay.

Eddy Brown at Tech

On Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, Eddy Brown, internationally famous violinist, and his stringed orchestra will entertain at the gymnasium at Texas Technological college.

The entertainment is under the auspices of the college and the proceeds will go to the Arena Ritas, Tech girls' pep squad. The girls went into debt to accompany the Matadors to Fort Worth last year and the leaders of the organization hope to recoup their finances through the entertainment Wednesday.

"FADING SPOT"

Queer Phenomena In Illinois City

By NEA Service

DECATUR, Ill., Oct. hrdluetao.v fans of this city have struck a snag in radio reception. They experience fading of stations, even those close by, at such unequal intervals in so general a manner, that they believe Mother Nature is playing a trick on them.

Interference experts have come in to learn the cause of this fading, but to no apparent avail. It's still a mystery.

There's only one clew. That is a 60,000-volt power line that encircles the city and that, at least one expert says, is absorbing the radio waves that ordinarily should go to the receivers within. The power line can't be junked, for it supplies Decatur with its electricity.

So Decatur fans must get along the best they can with fading.

GIRL STRANGLED

Detectives Are Puzzled At Staten Island Case

NEW YORK, Nov. 3 (AP)—Detectives were puzzled today by the strangling of Alice Jossi, 15-year-old State Island school girl.

Her body, a piece of insulated electric wire twisted around the neck, was found by the mother last night on her return from work. The body was on a bed, fully clothed. The furniture of the room was disarranged, but there were no signs of a struggle, police said. There was a bruise on the head such as might have been made by a blunt instrument.

The girl was last seen alive at 3 p. m., when her mother, Mrs. Lucy Jossi, a widow, left for work.

PRIZED MEDAL TAKEN

Gold Awards Stolen From Zach Wheat

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 3 (AP)—Two prized gold medals given him for services on the pennant winning Brooklyn baseball teams of 1916 and 1920 were stolen from the home of Zach D. Wheat, when two robbers ransacked the house last night after choking Mrs. Wheat into unconsciousness.

A $100 diamond stickpin and clothing also was taken. Mrs. Wheat was alone when the men forced entrance and demanded her jewels. When she told them they were not in the house, the men seized and choked her, then made a hurried search of the place.

Childlike Faith Leads Wanderers Along Their Way

Tully Describes Hoboes In "Beggars Of Life" Which Shows At Palace Through Sunday And Monday

A childlike belief in the pot of gold at the rainbow's end is responsible for the existence of a half million tramps in the United States today, according to Jim Tully, who emerged from hoboland a few years ago to become one of America's outstanding authors.

"Nearly all of us feel that things would break better for us in some other part of the country," says Tully, "but we seldom break the ties that hold us to one spot. The hobo has no ties and he is always on the move.

"Tramps sit around a campfire in a California hobo jungle and agree that 'things are opening up' in Vancouver or in the south, or somewhere else. At the same moment there are groups of these wanderers in Vancouver and in the south agreeing that California or the north is the place where they will find their fortune.

"Utopia, where the police hand a dollar to every tramp, where free lunches or free beer are offered at every corner, is always some place else, generally at the farthest part of the country."

Tully's best known novel, "Beggars of Life," has been filmed by Paramount with a cast headed by Wallace Beery and including Richard Arlen and Louise Brooks. William Wellman, who made the air epic, "Wings," directed the picture, which will be the Palace theater feature today and Monday.

A variety of short subjects complete the screen bill. Sunday matinee only.

A special stage offering featuring Marty Young and his Youngsters a Victor recording band, comprised of versatile entertainers in a potpourri of music, melody and fun. The band will appear at three and five o'clock. Young opens an engagement at the Uptown Dance Palace starting next Monday evening.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3 (AP)—Bodies of two unidentified men were found in the ruins of an East Side garage that was swept by fire early today. The bodies were discovered under two of the 200 automobiles that were destroyed.

Graphic Picture Of Paris And It's Underworld Shown In 'A Woman Way'

"A Woman's Way," the Columbia production at the Lindsey Theatre, Wednesday and Thursday, gives a vivid picture of the Parisian underworld and the colorful life along the boulevards. It is a drama which revolves around a dancing girl, known as the "Frozen Flame." This girl, charmingly portrayed by Margaret Livingston, is utterly indifferent to men until she meets an attractive American.

The awakening of love, the fear of the girl for an apache and her rise to premier danseuse at the Paris Opera furnish material for an intribuing and fascinating photoplay. There are thrilling sequences on the housetops in the Latin Quarters, tense moments in night clubs and beautiful scenes amid the luxury of Paris mansions.

Columbia deserves great credit for bringing to the screen a film of the French fashion capital which gives a true picture of life there. The bath establishments, quaint apartments in the Latin Quarter, and cafes are so natural that one might imagine the film was made in France.

The plot is consistent and worked to a logical conclusion. "A Woman's Way" was adapted from a magazine story by Isola Forrester and picturized under the direction of Edmund Mortimer.

Warner Baxter has the leading masculine role. As the dashing young American, who faces death for the woman he loves; Baxter gives an excellent performance. Armand Kaliz, the lovable villain, portrays an apache after the manner of a master. He is debonair, sly and quick with the knife. The apache is in love with the dancing girl and resents the attentions of the American. For years this French lad has been striving to win the heart of Liane, the dancing girl; and all he has succeeded in doing is to arouse her fear of him.

The picture gradually increases in intensity until the climax is reached in a dramatic encounter in a private room at a notorious cafe. The apache bests the American in a realistic conflict and is about to put an end to the hero's career when a surprise element is introduced. You will like "A Woman's Way."

CASHIER HELD UP

$10,000 Seized In Raid By Indiana Bandits

GAS CITY, Ind., Niv. 3 (AP)—J. W. Ball, cashier of the Gas City State Bank, was held up and robbed of a $10,000 payroll Friday by three men who escaped in an automobile.

The cashier had just come from the postoffice, across the street fro mthe bank, where he had obtained the payroll money for the Illinois Glass company. As he stepped on the sidewalk in front of the bank, a young man jumped out of an automobile, and pointing a gun at him, grabbed the payroll. Two other men were in the automobile and the three drove away. All were unmasked.

OPEN NEW PAVING

24-Mile Stretch Of Hard Surfaced Highway

SAN ANGELO, Nov. 3.—With the opening of the new pavement from Wall to the Tom Green eastern county line, a stretch of 24 miles is now paved from this city toward Brady.

United States Helps Canada In Auto Business; Capital Of Ten Companies Runs Into Millions, A Survey Shows

Parts Industry Now Being Encouraged As Business Thrives Over Neighboring Country To North

TORONTO, Nov. 3—The Canadian motor car industry, primarily formed to evade the heavy duties on complete automobiles, is now one of the largest in the dominion.

During the first eight months of 1928 the number of cars produced in Canada amounted to 187,459 with a factory value of $116,209,841.

There are ten active motor car factories in Canada, all in southern Ontario. Opposite Detroit on the Canadian side the main factories are found. Here are Chrysler, Ford Gotfredson and Studebaker. Toronto has a number of factories, there being a branch Ford plant, Willys-Overland, Durant and Dodge factories.

The other factories are at Oshawa, Hamilton and Chatham. Oshawa is practically a General Motors town, all cars of this line except the Cadillac being manufactured there. The National and International trucks are made at Hamilton and Chatham respectively. A new General Motors plant to manufacture car bodies exclusively is to be opened soon at Regina.

Runs Into Millions

Capital employed in the Canadian motor car industry comes to nearly $90,000,000. Half of this is employed in land and factories. Over eleven thousand people are employed in the industry drawing salaries and wages amounting to nearly $20,000,000.

The industry maintains but one Canadian car, a truck, the Gotfredson. Everything else is similar to that found in the United States. There are only a few minor differences between some of the automobiles manufactured in Canada and those made in the United States. The one main difference is that Canadian cars are nearly 80 per cent of Canadian manufactured parts.

A few high priced cars made in Canada are put together with a small percentage of Canadian-made fittings, perhaps not more than 25 per cent. But the cars which are the biggest sellers and come in the more moderate field are made as high as 80 and 85 per cent in Canada. At one time 90 per cent of the Ford was made in the dominion.

One-Fifth Is Duty

Cars with a list price of less than $100 come in with a 20 per cent duty. Other above this price have to pay 27 1-2 per cent duty.

British cars, of which there are less than 100 a year, have a preferential tariff of 15 per cent. Other foreign cars pay 25 per cent customs duty.

Canada's export trade amounts to a little more than her import trade. This is chiefly of Canadian-made American cars to British dominions, the United Kingdom, British protectorates and dependencies to South America and the Orient. Due to the preferential tariff, American cars are shipped to these and other British countries after being made in the dominion.

Australia took nearly 8,000 cars last year, while India took 12,000 and the United Kingdom 7,500. South Africa with 2,500 and New Zealand with 2,000, complete the bigger customers among British possessions.

Parts Industry Encouraged

If an American car is more than 50 per cent of Canadian parts, an allowance is made on the excise duty paid by manufacturers bringing cars into Canada. This rebate has drawn many American manufacturers to open up Canadian factories and more are expected to follow.

These requirements have stimulated a parts industry of no mean proportion. Seventy-seven factories are making automobile parts of all sorts. Forty-five of them are in Ontario, with the others spread through every province but the Maritimes. Annually 3000 people are employed in this business and the amount given out in salaries and wages is close to four million dollars every year.

Many parts and fittings that can not be obtained here are allowed feee into the country if used solely for the completion of new cars. Such parts are speedometers, motometers and certain other accessories.

Canadian-made automobiles are selling in all parts of the world. Even the United States takes some!

HOW'S SHE HITTIN'

The motor having been prepared mechanically for the winter, the next step is to prepare against freezing of the cooling system.

This means consideration of the use of alcohol or glycerine or some other anti-freeze solution with the water in the radiator and motor jacket. It means also, even before using an anti-freeze, strict assurance of a leak-proof and proficient cooling system.

The matter of preparing the cooling system for winter has been taken up before, but it is never amiss to emphasize by repetition the importance of seeing that every connection, every part in the system, is in good condition. If glycerine is to be used this precaution becomes doubly important, for this liquid has a habit of creeping through the minutest holes or cracks and thus losing itself outside.

To be certain that there is no leak whatever, the cooling system should be flushed out thoroughly. The rust that has accumulated inside should be cleaned out by several flushings of baking soda solution, until the water comes through the drain below the radiator clean while the motor is running.

The motor should be kept running for a short while after all the water has been drained out, in order to dry up the entire system by heat. Then fresh water should be poured in with the engine still going.

If there is the slightest hole or leaking crack, it will reveal itself by moisture accumulating outside. If this happens at a connection, the connection should be tightened. If it appears on the radiator, the crack or hole should be soldered up. If the moisture appears on the outside of a hose connection, a new connection should be installed.

This extreme caution is necessary for the use of glycerine or any similar anti-freeze like ethylene-glycol. But if alcohol is to be used, there is less liability of its seeping through.

Alcohol, however, is lost by evaporation, while glycerine has a higher boiling point than water and therefore is retained throught the winter without loss.

As an aid to proper cooling through cold weather, a radiator shutter is found highly useful. The radiator at this time of year has so high a cooling efficiency that it is difficult to bring the temperature of the engine up to its best operating point. The shutter helps this.

By keeping the shuttter closed until the engine temperature has risen to its most effective mark, much gasoline will be saved and dilution of the crankcase oil will be prevented. Choking of the carburetor feed will be limited and all the fuel going into the combustion chamber will have a god chance of burning rather than flowing down the cylinder walls.

Once the engine is warm enough, the shutter may be opened just enough to keep the solution in the system from cooling down too quickly.

If you have a radiator shutter that is thermostatically controlled, the engine will take care of that. But in case of a mechanically or hand controlled shutter it is up to the driver to judge the point at which the temperature of the engine can be kept at the proper operating line.

With the shutter keeping the engine up to the right heat and the ahti-freeze mixture preventing trouble from cold weather, motoring in the winter should be a pleasure.

Do your brakes ADD .. to the DIN of traffic ?

. . . Drive a new Century Hupmobile and note the difference

Silence is so much a built-in feature of steeldraulic brakes, first adopted by Hupmobile a year ago, that the contrast is startling with other cars. Thousands who are driving their first Hupmobiles tell us that now, for the first time, they enjoy positive brake action without trace of squeak or chatter. Hupmobile brakes have 6 times the clearance of average brakes. Dragging or brake friction is thus eliminated and effective power increased from 10 to 15 per cent. In addition, the special moulded asbestos lining of Century brakes has three times the life of ordinary brake lining. Cars have been driven for 18 months without a single brake adjustment. These are facts you should know in selecting your next car. They will lead you straight to Hupmobile for the finest of mechanical qualities as well as undisputed leadership in style and beauty.

Aluminum Piston Featured By New Chrysler Models

Chrysler Engineer Pictures Better Performance, Long Life, And Economy With Latest Improvement

Quietly and rather unobstrusively, one of the motor car improvements that has been going on for five years and is today beginning to receive wide recognition is the development of pistons from the older cast iron design to aluminum alloy of the Iso-Therm Invar type. This piston is one of the features in the recently announced new Chrysler "75" and "85", which have attained even greater success than any previous Chrysler cars.

Fred M. Zeder, vice-president in charge of Chrysler engineering, and head of the group which pioneered these and many other modern-day motor car developments, points out that the piston is one of the busiest and most important parts in a motor car. Each piston starts and stops some 6000 times for every mile an automobile is driven. Any discovery that increases their efficiency or lengthens their life is therefore of first importance.

Aluminum Alloy Used.

"Automotive engineers have long recognized that aluminum alloy, as piston material, possesses two fundamental advantages," says Mr. Zeder. "These are its light weight and high rate of heat conductivity. Light weight is essential to overcome inertia, to produce a smooth and vibrationless flow of power, and to reduce pressures on connecting rod and main bearings to a minimum—particularly so because the stresses which result from the reciprocating parts of the engine increase as the square of its speed. High rate of heat conductivity is essential to maintain piston head temperatures below the point at which detonation or pre-ignition occurs, and below the heat at which lubricating oil will 'crack' and carbonize. Piston rings will not seal effectively against compression and explosion pressures unles skept at temperatures below the oil's carbonizing point.

"Oil carbonizes on the under side of a hot piston head. Flakes of carbon drop into the crank case oil. The lubricant deteriorates rapidly, clogging the small oil passages, oil filler and other vital points, resulting in faster bearing wear and even bearing failure.

"Aluminum alloy pistons, consequently, began to appear in one car after another. The big objection to their earlier designs was their expansion under heat, necessitating explosion pressures unless kept at suited in piston slap and difficulties in oil control. It became evident that an ideal piston must be so designed that advantage could be taken of its lightness and high rate of heat conductivity, combined with an expansion control of the skirt portion permitting a very small clearance—as low as half the conventional cast iron piston clearance of .001 of an inch per inch of piston diameter. This accomplishment unquestionably would result in eliminating piston noises and add materially to piston life.

Old-Time Democratic Eloquence Rings From Rally In Senate Chamber

Party Is More Than One-Plank, One-Idea Party, Cullen F. Thoms, Dallas Pioneer Prohibitionist, Says In Rally In Capital; Scores Hoover Stand

(By Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Nov. 3 — The democratic party is more than a one-plank, one-idea party, Cullen F. Thomas, prominent prohibitionist of Dallas, told a comfortably filled State Senate chamber tonight in an appeal of old-time eloquence for support of the Democratic national ticket.

He deplored attempts to make prohibition the sole plank. He declared that Governor Smith, Democratic presidential candidate, cannot change the dry laws.

Hoover Is Pussyfooter.

Probably the heartiest of the numerous rounds of applause came when Thomas, a striking, black-clad gray-haired figure, speaking under a large National Flag, declared that Herbert Hoover, Republican presidential candidate, is "a pussyfooter on the prohibition question." This declaration came after Thomas had questioned the judgment of Democrats bolting to Hoover on the prohibition issue.

Numerous state officials were in the audience, and one of them, State Treasurer W. Gregory Hatcher, was on the speaker's platform.

Thomas was applauded when, at the outset, expressed hope that if "our friends of the opposition" ask for the Senate chamber for an anti-Smith rally, the request be granted. He regretted the question raised by efforts of anti-Smith campigners to get the hall after Lieut. Gov. Barry Miller requested that he (Thomas), be accorded its use. The State Board of Control was referred the anti-Smith workers to Mr. Miller, whom they declared today, said he has "nothing to do" with the hall.

Steep Grades Are Used To Test Out New Victory Six

Hill and Mountain Climbing In All Parts Of Country Proves Performance Power Of Latest Dodge Cars

Automobile hill climbing feats, heretofore confined to certain mountains, have been nationalized by Dodge Brothers in a series of tests to obtain a composite picture of Victory Six performance. Paved and unpaved inclines throughout the country, known to native motorists as "Show Me" grades, were picked to test the Victory's ability. All records were made by different cars and drivers under varied conditions. Some of them follow:

In Pennsylvania, the Victory Six started at the foot of the famous Uniontown hill in high gear with a speed of 8 miles an hour. The three mile climb to the submit around sharp curves and up grades of more than nine per cent was finished in high gear at 42 miles an hour.

Climbs Lookout Mountain.

Lookout Mountain near Chattanoga, Tenn., was the scene of another test in which the Victory carried the driver and four passengers up the 4 1-2 mile climb in eight minutes. The winding highway to the top leads to an altitude of 2,300 feet, and the entire trip was made in high gear, the speed at some points reaching 45 miles an hour.

In the Rockies, Cheyenne Mountain, towering 9,200 feet above sea level, was easily conquered with a car load of passengers without the use of low gear. The road to the top is six miles long, and reverse turns make the climb unusually difficult.

Corey Hill, known to every Boston motorist and many tourists, was negotiated in high gear all the way. The hill rises 187 feet in 2,000 feet of highway, and at one point the grade is more than 15 per cent.

Records Set.

New York reported a test run up Fort George Hill, which is 4-10 of a mile long with a 9 1-2 degree grade at the bottom and 11 degrees at the top. The start was made at five miles an hour in high gear at the bottom, and car speed reached 25 miles an hour at the summit.

It required just four minutes for the Victory to negotiate the two-mile winding highway up Mt. McGregor in New Nork States. The speed at the top was 25 miles an hour. Steep grades and hairpin turns make the climb one of the hardest east of the Rockies.

Ascending Stone Mountain near Atlanta, Ga., proved a novel but successful venture. There is to road to the summit, and at one point it was necessary to go up a rock incline with a 25 per cent grade.

Various drivers making the tests rated the car's roadability and low center of gravity permitting safe speed on turns, as ranking next to engine performance in establishing the records.

MMES. SHELL AND ASHLEY HALLOWE'EN HOSTESSES

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Shell was the scene of meriment Wednesday evening when Mesdames Shell and Garnet Ashley were joint hostesses to a number of their friends with a Hallowe'en party.

The house was cleverly decorated throughout with suggestions of the occasion. Weird lights faintly gleaming from sunflowers in orange and black; black cats, witches, bats and other gruesome Hallowe'en figures adorned the walls, while the floor was strewn with autumn leaves, corn stalks and pumpkin heads, all added to the setting.

The guests were greeted at the door by a ghost that conducted them through a semi-lighted hall to an "old well" where delicious punch was served by a dainty little fairy, Little Miss Eunice Joyce Ashley, assisted by Miss Corine Henry.

In a contest of pitching balls into a pumpkin head, Miss Bernice Tidwell scored high and was awarded a pumpkin pie which, when opened was found to contain lizards, frogs and other gruesome objects.

Woman Driver In Trans-Continent Endurance Jaunt

Miss Telle Glyndon Drives Chevrolet Sedan Across Nation In About Eight Days and Eight Hours

It was perhaps only fitting that during the same year that a woman for the first time flew the Atlantic another woman should record what is claimed to be the all-time woman's record for a trans-continental automobile journey. At any rate, Miss Telle Glyndon, of Atlantic City, driving a Chevrolet Sedan, completed on September 9th, the 8468 miles that separate her native city from San Francisco. The expired time for her "non-stop" journey was eight days, eight hours and 15 minutes.

Miss Glyndon was accompanied on her journey by her brother-in-law, and a friend, neither of whom has ever driven an automobile. Alone it was up to her to drive every inch of the distance, and this she did.

"It was an endurance test solely," she explained when she checked in at the San Francisco ferry. "I did it to prove that woman's endurance is as great as man's and I think the result of my journey has done this."

Miss Glyndon's trip was given official endorsement by Mayor Anthony M. Ruffu, Jr., of Atlantic City, who time her start and bade her bon voyage with message of greeting to the official key of Atlantic City for delivery to Mayor Rolph, of San Francisco.

Became Sleepy.

"I got so sleepy at time, especially the third night out, that I thought I would have to quit," Miss Glyndon said. "I don't feel as though I ever again want to drink a cup of commie or inhale from a bottle of smelling salts.

"It was detours that delayed us. Out of Pittsburgh was a terrible stretch of road, necessitating a long detour. Also, in certain sections of the far west, we encountered more than one heart breaking detour."

Stayed At Wheel.

Not once during the trip did Miss Glyndon enter a hotel for food or sleep. Ten minute nods at the wheel sufficed for rest. Sandwiches and coffee eaten with one hand, while the other steered, were her only refreshments. She is an experienced drive, and for the last six years has driven Chevrolets exclusively. Just before the trip she purchased a new sedan and drove it 1,200 miles before starting on her record breaking journey. The only stops the car required were those made to take on gasoline, oil and water. No change of tires or adjustments of any description were necessary.

SEEKS DIVORCE

85-Year-Old Widow Is Tired Of Waiting

CHICAGO, Nov. 3 (AP)—After 39 years of waiting Mrs. Salome Jane Crawford, 85 years old has decided to seek a divorce.

Mrs. Crawford was married to a Union Army soldier in 1865 and he died in 1883. Five years later she was married to Charles Crawford. He left her the next year, she said, and never came back.

"I've waited 39 years," she told the court.

"So you want a divorce, so you may remarry?" Judge Joseph Sabath asked.

"Mercy, no," the little old lady smiled back at him. "Not me, any more."

The divorce, she said, was necessary to obtain a government pension provided in certain cases for remarried widows of Civil War veterans.

Change In Style Of Auto Seen By Fashion Creator

Lines Of New Buick Said By Travis Banton, Hollywood Style Authority, To Show Trend Toward Curves

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 3.—City motorists touring the country often are amazed at the quick adoption of the latest style in dress in even the more remote sections. Easily explained. As the motor car has pushed back confining horizons and broadend communication so has the motion picture broken down provincial isolation and brought the world all dressed up to parade before "rural" eyes.

Hollywood broadcasts the styles with meticulous authority. Hollywood, besides contributing its own creative ideas, maintains intimate contact with European style centers to gather, month in advance, the coming changes in modes.

Goes Abroad Often.

How seriously Hollywood regards its responsibility in the matter of style portrayal is shown, for instance, in the frequent trips abroad of Travis Banton, creator of fashions at the Paramount studio. He has just returned from Paris, London, Vienna and like style centers, conferring with other famed authorities who are contriving the new in line and beauty. So Banton knows what is what and what is to be. And his translation of styles to the screen carries to every section of the world.

"Fashions of the immediate future will accentuate curves, spelling the downfall of the popular straight lines with which we have so long been familiar," says Banton. "We are definitely entering a new style era.

Predict Auto Change.

"That the change will affect motor car styles as well as dress is shown in the Silver Anniversary Buick which already has captured the idea and boldly broken away from the lines of yesterday."

The paramount style expert was viewing a new Buick sedan, critically sizing up the contours, increased body room, luxury in appointments and the striking effect of the advancement into the new vogue.

Metal Trend Shown.

"It is most interesting that artisans in metal can achieve such striking effects in the very latest fashion trend. It is a tribute not only to American designers but also to the spirit of progress which seeks the new. Style evidently is a powerful factor today in motor cars. No longer are the makers content with providing transportation alone. I glory in this recognition of style importance.

There always is an added distinction in being first. That is one of the rewards of creation. I appreciate what a pride Buick must have in its latest achievement.

Marmon Modeler To Eliminate All Engine Vibration

Perfection Of Machine Is Said To Be Foremost Of Automotive Developments Of Year

What is regarded as one of the foremost contributions to automotive development this year is announced by G. M. Williams, president of the Marmon Motor Car company, with the perfection of the new Marmon High Frequency Oscillating Modulator, designed to completely eliminate torsional vibration from automobile engines. The new device is now being incorporated on the New Series Marmon 68, one of the company's two lines of straight eight cars.

The modulator, despite its technical length of name and the important function which it performs, is remarkable for its simplicity of construction and ingenuity of design. It is the development of Thomas J. Litle, Jr., chief engineer of Marmon, and marks his two hundred and twenty-fifth invention in the automotive field and in the field of gaseous combustion devices.

Discs Rotate.

Consisting of a relatively light metal disc, accurately balanced and mounted on scientifically prepared rubber discs, all of which rotate at high speed, the modulator is mounted on the front end of the crankshaft. At the first indication of vibration in the crankshaft, it automatically begins an oscillating movement which counteracts crankshaft vibration at an early stage or before it has reached an annoying degree.

This counteraction of crankshaft vibration reoccurs at regular intervals throughout the entire speed range of the engine, thus insuring a remarkable and heretofore unattained smoothness of operation, no matter whether the engine is idling, operated at moderate speed or run at its highest speed.

Simple In Construction.

So simple is the construction of the new Marmon modulator that it contains no adjustments whatever, has no wearing parts, springs, bearings, friction surfaces or points to be lubricated. Moreover, the operation of the device is not affected by atmospheric or temperature changes.

In emphasizing the importance of employing means to eliminate torsional vibration from automobile engines, Mr. Litle pointed out that this type of vibration is one of the most disturbing of all types coming from the power plant of the modern motor car.

"Elaborate apparatus, built up in some of our best equipped research laboratories, prove conclusively that torsional vibration is one of the greatest obstacles against smooth operation of a gasoline engine, the Marmon chief engineer said. "These vibrations have been carefully recorded, both as to their frequency and magnitude and it was the task of the automotive engineering fraternity to devise means for counteracting the effect of the shaft twisting under the load, known in engineering terms as torsional vibration.

CHEVROLET

CONSTANT EXPANSION

—to serve Chevrolet owners better

SINCE January 1st more than a million new Chevrolets have been delivered to owners—making the Chevrolet Motor Company, for the second consecutive year, the world's largest builder of automobiles! This outstanding achievement has been attained not only because of the quality and value of Chevrolet cars—but also because there has been a constant expansion of Chevrolet service facilities.

In order to bring the mammoth resources of the Chevrolet factories to Chevrolet dealers and owners everywhere, there have been erected 26 huge parts warehouses in the principal centers of distribution. This expansion program is continually going on—for four great additional warehouses will be in operation by January first and seven more by the summer of 1929.

Into the service departments of all Chevrolet dealers, Chevrolet has brought special tools and shop equipment—designed under the supervision of Chevrolet engineers. This equipment definitely assures maximum speed and precision and the lowest possible cost in the performance of every service and repair operation—which are charged for on a flat rate basis.

Furthermore, all of these tremendous facilities have been made available to 15,000 authorized service stations manned by skilled mechanics—over 25,000 of whom have been factory trained to efficiently handle every repair operation on a Chevrolet car.

Uniformly efficient, uniformly reliable and within easy reach of everybody everywhere—this great service organization is assuring continued satisfaction to millions of Chevrolet owners. It is maintaining at peak efficiency the fine performance for which Chevrolet cars have always been renowned. And it is giving a new and broader significance to the world-famous Chevrolet slogan—"Quality at Low Cost."

We cordially invite you to come in and see how our service department reflects the influence of this great national service program.

QUALITY AT LOW COST

Cost Of Bus Operation Is Less Than Half Of Cost Of Operating Private Automobile, Says AAA Bus Division

Bus Driving Cost Averaged About One Cent Per Mile As Compared With The 2.6 Cost For Each Car

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 3.—The average cost of operating buses in the United States in 1927 was 1.1 cents per seat for every mile as compared to 2.6 cents per seat for private automobiles, according to the Bus Division of the American Automobile Association.

The statement by the A. A. A. Bus Division is based on a study of motor bus operating costs of 66 representative companies which carried more than 400 million passengers at an average fare of 10.1 cents.

"Fares constituted about 95 per cent of the total revenue of the average company in this group, while it paid $6,700 for its insurance, and almost $37,500 of 1.6 cents per bus mile for taxes.

Buses In Infancy

"Although bus transportation is still in its infancy, the average age of the 66 companies at four years." It is stated, "the miles of route covered by the common carrier motor bus exceeds by five per cent the route mileage of the railroads and by 463 per cent that of the electric railways."

The A. A. A. Bus Division says this tremendous and sudden popularization of the bus which has been due to an increasing demand for public conveyance by automobile, has led to a wide-spread need on the part of operators, manufacturers, financiers, as well as regulatory and legislative bodies, for data on the costs of operation.

Makes Statement.

The statement of the Bus Division continues:

"Steady progress has been made in adapting the motor bus to the transportation needs of the country. Bus registration has reached a total of about 86,000 units. This total is not large compared with automobile registration, but to appreciate its full significance, it must be compared with the number of units in the electric railway industry. In the heydey of the trolley, after two decades of expansion, about one hundred thousand were in use.

"The bus companies used in obtaining figures range from the operator of but a single bus to the operator of 1,389 buses, from the operation of 42,178 bus miles to the operation of 46,293,358 bus miles, from the accommodation of 7,000 passengers to the accommodation of 261,548,808 passengers, and reveal the same wide variation from almost any other point of consideration.

"The motor coach is the natural result of the demand created by the private passenger car for swift, comfortable and economical transportation. Many steam and electric lines have realized this and substitution of the motor coach for non-paying train and trolley service has during the past few years, been the rule rather than the exception."

Oakland Pontiac Inspection Rigid

Many Precision Operations Are Limited To One Ten-Thousandths Of An Inch In Intensive Testing

Thousands of visitors who have gone through the recently opened plant of the Oakland Motor Car company, at Pontiac, Michigan, have received an accurate conception of the meaning of "precision manufacturing" — a little-understood phrase that for a number of years has been identified with the automobile industry.

In this plant, where nearly all buildings are completely new within the past two years, and where equipment is of the finest "precision" type yet devised, light rays and diamond recoil tests, and many other methods of measuring accuracy, combine to hold a number of manufacturing operations accurate to within one ten-thousandth of an inch, the equivalent of less than seven inches in a mile.

500 Inspectors

To achieve this exactness, an army of upwards of 500 inspectors check every operation in the Oakland and Pontiac motor building and car assembly lines, using for this work guages far more exacting than the human eye. Every one of these guages periodically is subjected to the inspection of the Johansson master block guage which correctly measures limits up to two-millionths of an inch.

Inspection of small parts received at the unloaded docks is done through a device of such accuracy that the recoil of a tiny diamond suspended from a fine watch spring correctly notes the slightest deviation in the hardness of the metal tested.

Accuracy Demanded.

Crankshafts and flywheels are balanced by an ingenious machine which utilizes the unerring accuracy of a reflected beam of light. The operator can tell at a glance how much the shaft or wheel is out of balance, at what angle and marks it for the machine operator who removes the excess stock by grinding. Crankshafts are tested for a balance variation of not more than three-eights of an inch-ounce.

Camshafts, after being checked for size, finish and hardness, are held to a limit variance in the lift curve of not more than one ten-thousandth per degree for twenty-degree angle of lift.

Diamond Process Used.

A special diamond boring process holds the fit of the piston pin bushing and the pin to a limit of three ten-thousandths of an inch. A diamond is used as a cutting tool by the Oakland Car company because its hardness insures a perfect taperless bearing surface at this vital point.

In addition to tests for harness, pistons are held to further limits for weight and size. Both pistons and rods are weighed for center of gravity and held to a limit of not more than one-quarter of an inch-ounce in mass weight, while further tests hold them to a limit of five ten-thousandths of an inch for out-of-round and taper.

Sales of cars to dealers and dealers' sales to users in these nine months also exceeded any entire previous calendar year.

"Net earnings of General Motors corporation, including equities in the undivided profits of subsidiary operations not consolidated, for nine months ended September 30, 1928 were $240,534,613. This compares with $193,758,302 for the corresponding period a year ago, an increase of $46,776,311, or 21.1 per cent. After deducting dividends on preferred and debenture stock, amounting to $7,053,260, there remains $233,481,353, being the amount earned on the common shares outstanding. This is equivalent to $13.42 per share on the common stock as against $10.75 per share for the first months of 1927 calculated on a comparable basis.

"Earnings for the third quarter, including all equities, totalled $79,266,639 as compared with $64,506,095 for the third quarter of last year, or a gain of $14,758,544. After deducting $2,351,260 on account of dividends on preferred and debenture stock, there remains $76,915,379 applicable to the common stock. This is equivalent to $4.42 per share on the common stock compared with $3.57 for the third quarter of 1927 calculated on a comparable basis.

"For the nine months ended September 30th, retail sales by General Motors dealers to users were 1,376,708 cars compared with 1,268,445 cars in the corresponding period of 1927—an increase of 24.5 per cent. General Motors sales to dealers for the nine months totalled 1,606,902 cars, compared with 1,316,597 cars in the corresponding period of 1927—an increase of 22.0 per cent. The corporation's sales to dealers and dealers' sales to users during the first nine months of 1928 were greater than the total figure for the entire twelve months of 1927, the previous record year.

"Cash, U. S. Government and other marketable securities, at September 30, 1928, amounted to $263,864,484.

"Current conditions are unsatisfactory. Detailed statements will be forwarded to stockholders in due course."

New De Soto Six Has Quick Start

Latest Chrysler Built Car Has Immediate Response To Throttle And Brake; Has Easy Driving

The spirited and instant response of the new Chrysler-built DeSota Six to both throttle and brake has brought an entirely new driving sensation into the field of moderate priced sixes, it is asserted by officials of the Caprock Motor Co.

"This new ease of driving in the DeSota Six has found immediate favor with motorists," the local deal continues. "With traffic congestion and high speed the rule rather than the exception, drivers are demanding cars which leap smoothly into action and which can be stopped immediately without shock or vibration.

"The secret of DeSota Six performance lies in the design and engineering of the car. Chrysler-built cars have always been noted for their spirited performance and Chrysler engineers have provided the DeSota Six with a responsiveness fully in keeping with this tradition.

Special Cylinder Head

"For example the DeSota Six is equipped with the Chrysler-designed 'Silver Dome' head compression cylinder head, which utilizes any grade of gasoline and extracts efficiently the maximum in speed and power from each type of fuel. The famous 'Red Head' obtains even greater speed and power from high compression fuels.

"The motor has the new type Iso-Therm, Invar-strut aluminum alloy pistons. They are extremely light weight and are fitted with rings of the new tongue and groove construction. Inlet valves are of crome nickel steel, while exhaust valves are of silchrome steel.

"The DeSota Six crankshaft is very short, heavy and rigid for the size of the engine. It is provided its centrifugal forces, thus reduced with counterweights which neutralize bearing pressures. The strength of this crankshaft is but one explanation for the smooth flow of power at all speeds which the driver of the DeSota Six experiences.

$100 REWARD

REWARD FOR EVIDENCE OF VIOLATION OF ELECTION LAWS

I have received reports from some counties that officials are threatening not to count the split ballots marked for the Hoover Electors and the Democratic State and Local Candidates in next Tuesday's election. The Attorney General has held that this is a violation of the law.

The Federal Courts have held that any threat or intimidation intended to prevent a lawful voter from casting his ballot at such an election is a crime under the Federal Laws.

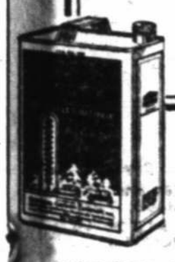

Out of funds contributed for that purpose, I hereby offer a reward of $100 for evidence resulting in the conviction of any election officers or other persons, violating the Federal or State Laws protecting the Presidential Election to be held in Texas on next Tuesday, November 6th, 1928.
