Don Hickson Still Spelling 'Em Right

Don Hickson of Big Spring was one of 52 spellers remaining, out of 79 starters, at the end of the fourth round of spelling at the National Spelling Bee in Washington, D. C. this morning. He was one of nine Texas spellers starting, and the remaining six Texans when the bee recessed at noon today. Spelling was to resume after noon and run until about 4 p.m.

Don is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Hickson of Big Spring, and won the right to enter the national spelling bee when he won the 23-county district bee in Lubbock May 1. He is sponsored by the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, and was sponsored locally by The Herald.

"Don spelled 'adequate,' 'legitimate,' 'leeward,' and 'benighted' in the first four rounds," his mother said this morning. "The pronouncer gave the definition of the last word."

She said Don had gained more confidence after standing through four rounds which saw 18 spellers fall out. These included Texas spellers sponsored by the Houston Chronicle, Corpus Christi Caller-Times, and the Fort Worth Press.

Texas going down in the second and third rounds at the spelling bee were: Bruce Manning, 13, of Corpus Christi who went down on "eminent," which he started with an "i"; Fred Hoffman, 13, of Fort Worth, who went down on "sholl," which he spelled as "sholl"; Keithy Fusan of Hankamer spelled "elegy" as "ellagay."

There were 35 boys and 35 girls starting the spelling bee this morning. Twenty-seven boys and 25 girls remain. "Don spent two days in sight-seeing, including a visit to Congress," Mrs. Hickson said. "He

Gee Whiz, And Figures Too

Don Hickson, Big Spring's regional spelling champ, is accustomed to thick books when he goes to the dictionary during practice, but when Rep. George Mahon pulled a copy of the federal budget on him Monday in Washington, the array of figures was amazing. Sticking to words, Don sailed through the first round of the national contest Wednesday morning.

also visited with George Mahon at the capitol. Perhaps the highlight of his visit to the capitol was going to both houses of Congress, sitting in the Speaker's chair, and standing at the podium used by every president since Woodrow Wilson.

Claims Cuts Are Too Big

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Harry F. Byrd said today the Johnson administration is cutting taxes too fast and is piling up a backlog of massive expenditures for the future.

TOO BIG
Byrd, Virginia Democrat who heads the Senate Finance Committee, said that while some excise levies undoubtedly ought to be removed, the $4.8-billion tax reduction bill before his committee is too big at a time when he can find no comparable decline in spending.

"The administration claims it is cutting expenditures, but I can find no evidence of it," he told a reporter. "Instead it is adding to the deficit and bringing out many new programs that are going to call for massive spending increases next year."

Noting that the stock market took one of its worst declines of 1965 Tuesday, Byrd said he thinks William M. Martin, Federal Reserve Board chairman, was on solid ground when he said last week that there are some similarities between the present situation and that of 1929 prior to the depression of the 30s.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler, recalled for testimony today, told the Finance Committee Tuesday that while he wasn't an expert in this field the dissimilarities were greater than the similarities.

Fowler said the impact of proposed excise tax cuts in the fiscal year which begins July 1 would be only $600 million. He estimated that other revenues would increase so that the previous estimate of a $3.3-billion deficit for the year would be reduced to $4.3 billion.

HOLD LINE
Fowler said he based these estimates on a rising economy, revenue increases and strong action by the President and Congress to hold the spending line.

Byrd said this was fine, but didn't go far enough. "We can't keep on having deficits forever," he said. "Sometime we have to begin to reduce the debt."

Local Persons Are Injured

An accident Monday in Fontana, Calif., severely injured four Webb-Big Spring persons, according to base ground safety personnel.

In serious condition at Kaiser Hospital in Fontana is S. Sgt. Edward S. Mikolajczyk, (pronounced Mike-o-logic). Officials of the hospital said Tuesday that his condition is critical, and that he will not be moved to a military hospital until he improves.

Also injured, less severely than the others, was Sgt. Mikolajczyk's wife.

Mrs. Geneva Rogers, Big Spring, and employed at the base, and her daughter were also in the automobile. They are reported to have extensive injuries and multiple lacerations. The car in which these four were riding collided with another automobile that was stalled at a stop sign Monday at approximately 4:30 p.m. (PST). It has not been determined who was driving the car in which the locals were riding at the time of the mishap.

U. S. Forces To Fight Only When Asked

Engineers Landed To Build Airfield

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — About 2,500 U.S. Army combat engineers landed today at Cam Ranh Bay, 190 miles northeast of Saigon, to build an airfield, port and supply center there, a U.S. military spokesman announced.

The spokesman hinted that more engineers were on the way. "Don't hold me to the 2,500 figure," he said.

BRIDGES

The spokesman said the project, being undertaken jointly by the U.S. and South Vietnamese governments, would include a bridge to link the harbor area to a highway and railroad.

The new base is expected to play a key role in the U.S.-Vietnam war effort in the central and northern parts of South Viet Nam, the spokesman said.

The engineers bring the U.S. military force in South Viet Nam to nearly 34,000 men.

In the air war against North Viet Nam, U.S. planes attacked the big port of Vinh for the fifth straight day and the pilots claimed light to moderate damage to an army barracks area.

A U.S. military spokesman announced that government forces suffered their heaviest casualties of the war — 1,875 South Vietnamese and 51 Americans in the week that ended last Saturday. Viet Cong losses for the week were 1,305, the spokesman said, but these included no wounded.

330 KILLED

The spokesman said 330 South Vietnamese troops were killed, 710 wounded and 635 either missing or captured. Ten Americans were killed, 6 were missing and 35 wounded for the same period.

The Viet Cong had 1,221 killed and 84 captured, the spokesman said.

Two more American advisers were killed today and 138 South Vietnamese troops were killed or missing in bloody actions north and south of Saigon.

This brought American combat casualties in Viet Nam to 404 since December 1961.

The Americans were killed when Communist guerrillas overran a training center for militiamen at Gia Ray, 50 miles northeast of Saigon near Xuan Loc. Fifty Vietnamese were reported killed and 24 Vietnamese and an American wounded, while 30 government troops were reported missing. Officials said two Viet Cong were believed killed.

NO CONTACT

After burning much of the camp, the Viet Cong withdrew. A relief force was sent to the area but made no contact with the enemy and the station was abandoned.

In another heavy action, the government suffered 60 killed, 18 missing and 95 wounded in Phong Dinh Province, 95 miles southeast of Saigon. Viet Cong casualties were estimated at more than 50, but this was not confirmed.

Government troops and guerrillas clashed in the area Tuesday. As the fighting grew more intense, Vietnamese ranger units were airlifted into the battle.

A spokesman said the operation continued today.

DESTROY CAMP

Military sources said a Vietnamese unit, tipped off by defectors from the Viet Cong, destroyed a Communist training camp 40 miles north of Saigon in Binh Duong Province. Three Viet Cong were killed and two captured, officials said.

U.S. helicopters rescued three downed American airmen Tuesday north and south of the 17th Parallel dividing the two Viet Nams.

Premier Asks Generals To Mediate Crisis

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Premier Phan Huy Quat declared today that his government could not solve the current political crisis and that his generals had agreed to mediate.

He said he had asked the army to step in as mediators between the government and opposition groups, including Roman Catholics, now threatening to throw the nation into chaos. Quat said he was assured the generals all supported a strong civilian government and that this would not mean a return to military control of the government.

It was clear the Vietnamese military establishment was moving back into the political arena.

Quat and the chief of state, Phan Khanh Suu, have been feuding for three weeks over two Cabinet changes Quat wants to make. Suu has refused to approve them.

No Change In Viet Nam Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said today that U.S. forces can go into action on behalf of the South Vietnamese only if the latter request it and are in trouble.

It said this represents no change in policy — that Gen. William C. Westmoreland, head of the U.S. Military Assistance Command in South Viet Nam, has had such authority since Marines were landed in the Southeast Asian nation in March.

PULLBACK

Nevertheless, the White House statement represented a pullback from implications of a State Department declaration Tuesday. That statement was interpreted as opening the way for troops in Viet Nam to go on the offensive.

The State Department pronouncement from press officer Robert J. McCloskey stirred up something of a storm. It brought huddles at the White House this morning and an official statement, read to newsmen by press secretary George E. Reedy.

The key part of the White House statement said:

IF ASKED

"If help is requested by appropriate Vietnamese commanders, Gen. Westmoreland also has authority within the assigned mission to employ these forces faced with aggressive attack when other effective reserves are not available and when in his judgment the general military situation urgently requires it.

"If Gen. Westmoreland did not have this discretionary authority a situation could easily arise in which heavy loss of life might occur and great advantage might be won by the Viet Cong because of delays in communications."

Military officials said the decision to commit U.S. forces to "support" fighting upon request is "a logical extension of what we've been doing out there."

The decision coincided with a Saigon announcement that government forces had suffered their heaviest casualties of the war in the week that ended last Saturday.

But military officials here said this was purely coincidental. They said the decision had been made well before last week.

Over the past three months, operations of U.S. ground units have progressed gradually from a relatively static perimeter defense of the key base at Da Nang to aggressive patrolling variously called "combat kill" and "search and destroy" missions.

"In any good defense, you've got to move out and find the enemy — and that's what we're doing in Viet Nam," one veteran officer said.

FARTHER

Patrols of Marines and Army paratroopers have ranged farther afield in seeking contact with the Communists. So far the action has been on a relatively small scale.

The decision to commit U.S. fighting units as "fire brigades" to help the South Vietnamese raises the possibility that Marines and paratroopers may become involved in major action in battalion strength and perhaps larger.

Acknowledgement by the State Department Tuesday that American fighting units are available for what is called "combat support" is a further retreat from the original U.S. position that American troops are in South Viet Nam not to wage war but to advise the South Vietnamese on how to win their own fight for security.

STICKY

The new development could present a potentially sticky problem in relations between U.S. and Vietnamese officers.

DUE HOME THURSDAY

Round Of Welcomes Await Gemini Twins

ABOARD THE WASP (AP) — James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White II, now close enough to home to see their own historic space-walk film on shipboard television, began their final festive day at sea today and got set for a round of welcomes awaiting them ashore.

Almost all of the intensive medical testing behind them, the astronauts' schedule today called for "technical debriefing" — talking into tape recorders at length about their four-day mission and being questioned in detail by space experts.

MEMORABLE

The Gemini 4 twins said their most memorable moments of the flight were, for White, his 20-minute stroll in space, and, for McDivitt, the capsule's re-entry through the earth's atmosphere.

They were among the millions who thrilled at the sight of vivid movies of the space stroll. The films were released Tuesday in Houston, Tex., and the astronauts saw a televised version late Tuesday night.

Space doctors also continued to be mildly amazed at the astronauts' fine physical condition after their arduous journey.

Medical tests showed little ill effects on the astronauts' hearts from four days of weightlessness, though there was one minor health problem Tuesday. McDivitt had a nosebleed.

Doctors said the nosebleed probably resulted from the drying effect of breathing pure oxygen for nearly 98 hours. They said future astronauts might take along something to lubricate the inner nose.

WELCH HIT

Menacing Hail, Tornadoes Lurk

By The Associated Press

Menacing tornado funnels and hail-packing thunderstorms continued their almost nightly rambles Tuesday over much of the Panhandle-Plains area in West Texas.

One twister demolished a home in the Welch community 10 miles north of Lamesa. Eight persons suffered injuries, mostly minor.

SCATTERED

The turbulence lasted into early morning at scattered points in far West Texas, and the Weather Bureau looked for still more thunderstorms to range the northern half of the state through Friday.

Tuesday's rough weather capped one of the hottest days so far this month in parts of West Texas. The mercury soared to 108 degrees at Presidio in the torrid Big Bend country and 104 at Wink.

There were reports of additional tornadoes—all staying aloft—in areas west of Amarillo, south of Amarillo near Happy, near Seminole, southwest of Lubbock and close to Wellman in Terry County.

Hailstones up to five inches thick battered parts of Amarillo and forced postponement of a Texas League baseball game. At Canyon, 20 miles south, there was hail up to the size of hen eggs.

On the South Plains, 2.50 inches of rain accompanied by fierce winds and hail drenched an area near Andrews. Scattered showers fell in Northeast Texas during the night.

STILL WARM
Skies were at least partly cloudy throughout the state by morning and it was still warm in all sections.

Extended forecasts, covering the next five days, called for temperatures around normal to a few degrees below and a slow warmup by the weekend. Scattered thunderstorms were predicted over the north half of Texas through Friday and showers late in the week over the south.

Red Rocket Working Well

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union's latest moon rocket, Luna 6, which is expected to try a soft landing, is working well as it speeds away from the earth, Tass said today.

An official announcement after more than 24 hours of flight said that at 4 p.m. Moscow time (9 a.m. EST) the unmanned spacecraft was 142,915 miles from earth.

Information was radioed back four times in the first day of flight, Tass added.

Britain's Jodrell Bank Observatory said its giant radio-telescope picked up strong signals from the Soviet moon probe Tuesday night.

Morning newspapers in Moscow carried only the original announcement of the launch Tuesday. There was no further information on the distance the automatic space station has traveled from the earth or whether it is still close to the planned flight trajectory.

The satellite, believed to be the second Soviet attempt in a month to try a soft landing on the moon, is expected to reach the lunar surface Friday night.

Soviet officials may not announce the purpose of the flight until they are sure Luna 6 will hit the moon or until after the landing.

In the previous attempt by Luna 5, the Soviets announced about 20 hours before the satellite was due to hit the moon that it would attempt a soft landing. It was the first time they had called a shot in advance.

The soft landing failed and Luna 5 crashed into the moon on May 12.

BETTER PHOTOS

A soft landing could produce better photographs of the moon's surface than previous moon shots which crashed into it. The satellite's radio system would function even after it had landed and it could also radio back information on the composition of the moon's surface.

Nature's Air Conditioning

Today, with the mercury soaring and the wind blowing, it's difficult to believe that Monday nature furnished air conditioning of her own in eastern Big Spring. This peppering of hail eventually all but covered lawns, and in some places the hail was large enough to cause damage. About 4 of an inch of rain accompanied the shower of ice.

Annual Audit Shows City In Good Financial Shape

The City of Big Spring's financial condition was termed sound and all funds are solvent, Neil Hilliard, local accountant, declared in the annual audit of city books. He reported to city commission Tuesday night.

Hilliard said the income from both the general fund and the water and sewer revenue fund had exceeded anticipated revenue, and expenditures of both funds were within the budget.

Total general fund disbursements during the past fiscal year ended March 31 were $1,329,844. For the previous fiscal year, the total was $1,257,322. Total receipts under the general fund this past year were $1,348,954, or $19,109 above expenses.

Hilliard noted that bond and interest requirements of the city had been met promptly and adequate provision was made for debt retirement.

WATER FUNDS

Under the water and sewer revenue fund, he reported operating revenues from the two departments of $1,178,450, with total disbursements of $1,126,554.

The city's total cash receipts for construction funds were listed at $994,807 for the fiscal year with $610,137 in disbursements, and cash on hand of $384,669. The disbursements included $321,477 for general improvements, $25,043 for park improvements, $3,325 for water and sewer construction and $257,292 for water and sewer improvements.

Concerning the water and sewer revenue, Hilliard recommended that separate fund accounts be set up, noting that no clear record was present as to how much of interest received and credited to the general obligation interest and sinking fund was from interest on water and sewer revenue interests. He noted it was possible that tax money revenues could be spent contrary to provisions of previous ordinances. He also recommended a separate fund be established for water and sewer improvements to prevent any improper allocation.

PAID BUDGET

Hilliard praised the 1965-66

Titan Rocket Being Groomed

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Titan 3C, America's most powerful rocket, is being groomed for a scheduled flight June 17.

Technicians ran through a dress rehearsal Tuesday.

The Titan 3C, which generates nearly three million pounds of thrust, is capable of placing 25,000 pounds into orbit. Studies are being made by the Air Force to determine if the payload can be increased to between 30,000 and 40,000 pounds.

Oklahomans Eliminate County Attorney Post

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—The Oklahoma Senate has joined the House in voting to discard the county attorney system and replace it with 27 district attorneys.

Senators approved 33-12 Tuesday a House-passed bill making the changes.

The measure, described by supporters as the major reform of this legislative session, touched off a three-hour floor fight in the Senate.

A dozen amendments were submitted and seven were approved. One forbids a district attorney to stay on the payroll if he runs for another office at mid-term. Others juggled district boundaries.

Sen. John Lutton, chief Senate sponsor of the measure, said because of inexperienced county attorneys "hundreds if not thousands of men are walking the streets of Oklahoma that should be in the penitentiary."

Sen. Boyd Cowden branded the bill "an aftermath of reapportionment" and said "nobody knows for sure how much it will cost."

Supporters pegged the cost for the next biennium at $200,000 and $1.2 million in succeeding bienniums.

The 27 district attorneys would be picked in the 1966 elections and would begin four-year terms the following January. Salaries would range from $10,500 to $15,500 a year, depending on a district's population.

Each district attorney would appoint at least one assistant for each county in his district.

Cafe Reports Loss Of Beer

A window was broken and three packs of beer taken in a break-in reported to police Tuesday morning, at Ann's Cafe, 205 N. Benton. Officers said apparently the beer was the only item taken from the firm.

R. B. Oliver, Houston, told police a transistor radio, valued at about $65 when new, was taken from the rear seat of his car.

An electric skill saw, valued at about $40, and a box of cigars were taken from a tool box in the rear of his pickup, Joel Strait, of Roswell, N. M., told police.

Rehabilitation Center Gifts Show Good Increase

The campaign to raise equipment funds for the new Howard County Rehabilitation Center was given a boost of some $2,800 Tuesday. A televised appeal on Channel 4 bringing in pledges of $2,362.75, and of the total pledged in the television appeal, $1,033 had been collected at the center this morning. Other donations received Tuesday totaled $448. Gound's Pharmacy donated an adult wheelchair, $240, and Mrs. A. L. Cooper and Warren Lee Cooper a pair of quad canes for adults, $26.

Cash contributions Tuesday were from Mrs. H. M. Rainbolt, $100; Gene D. Fields, $25; Walker Implement Co., Charley's Package Store, Mrs. Guy Guffee and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Gibson Jr., $10 each; Dub Coates, and Mr. and Mrs. M. B. McFall, $5; and Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. Bankston, Mr. and Mrs. Jerrold Walker and Carrol Walker, $2.50 each.

Persons whose donations have not been collected can mail them to Box 981 or bring them to the center, at 402 Edwards.

Members of the 5-Waters Club, a local radio club, assisted during the television appeal Tuesday night.

LETTER

Has Garbage Can Problem

To the Editor:

I have been wondering why something hasn't been done about the garbage that is scattered all over the alleys. I'm talking about what is scattered by dogs after people put their garbage cans in the alley. Down my way it has been going on for seven years that I know of. I bought this house new, and I intend to live here what few years the good Lord has allotted to me, and I would like for the people around to clean up their built garbage racks and put a lock on it so garbage won't get scattered. Everyone else can do the same. I've called the city several times on this subject, so far they have not come out to see about it. Garbage from some houses on Morrison and Alabama streets are the ones that are scattered every week. I wish something would be done about it.

Curtailment Of Oil Imports Urged By Mahon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. George Mahon, D-Tex., says Undersecretary of State Thomas Mann made no commitments but promised Tuesday careful consideration of a request for curtailment of petroleum imports.

Mahon was in a group of southwestern congressmen who urged Mann to do what he can to reduce the imports.

The congressmen seek a reduction of incoming petroleum shipments during the six-month quota period beginning July 1.

Exchange Student Is Commended

The city commission passed a resolution of commendation Tuesday night for Klaus Limbacher, Big Spring's first exchange student.

He will complete his residence in the city with the R. J. Ream family of 508 Highland Drive later this month and return to his native city of Wesel, Germany.

Mayor Pro Tem John Stanley expressed the city's appreciation and best wishes to the youth during the regular commission session Tuesday at city hall.

A copy of the resolution will be sent to the mayor of Wesel.

Bids Delayed For School Project

The bid opening date for additions to and remodeling of Big Spring High School was changed from 7:30 p.m. June 18 to June 22 at 8 p.m., by school board action Tuesday night. The change was made on request of several contractors who said the allotted time was too short for figuring costs in all areas of the big building project. These contractors and the architects reached a mutual agreement for June 22.

Architect Atmar Atkinson had told the board at previous meetings that only a few contractors in the Southwest could handle the $3.5 million job.

No change has been made in the date set for bid opening on the new field house at Memorial Stadium. A joint meeting of the school board and Howard County Junior College board has been scheduled for 5 p.m. June 15 in the school board room. Several contractors have called for plans and specifications for this building, including local firms. The school board will return to the meeting place at 8 p.m. that day to take up the study of a budget for the 1965-66 school year.

In other action the board accepted resignations of nine faculty members. These were Robert C. Moore, first assistant coach and teacher; Mr. and Mrs. Gayle Brogden, employed but not yet assigned, for personal reasons; Mrs. Ita Cole, high school English; Mrs. Lavelle Nix, high school social studies, to Department of Defense Dependents Schools, Okinawa; Anne Margaret Homan, elementary Spanish, to work on master's degree; Sue Gale Mock, high school English; Mrs. Elizabeth Porter, high school French; and Doyle H. Sparks, science, all for personal business.

Texas Colleges Receive Grants

WASHINGTON (AP)—Grants and loans totaling $39,406,679 to 75 schools for construction were disclosed Tuesday by the Office of Education.

The funds were provided under the higher education facilities act.

Texas grants were to San Antonio College, $1,739,794, multipurpose, library, and the University of Houston, $1,106,620, library.

Texas loans were to Hill Junior College, $133,000, library; Texarkana Junior College, $75,000, science; Panola Junior College, Carthage, $220,000, library.

The application of Howard County Junior College for a grant of $304,000 is not due for action until July under the new fiscal year, said Dr. W. A. Hunt, HJCJC president.

Other speakers included Dr. W. E. Drummond, professor of physics at the University of Texas, one of the nation's outstanding authorities in the field of plasma theory as applied to nuclear research.

The TAERF, composed of 10 investor-owned electric power companies in Texas, including Texas Electric Service Company, is supporting a major research effort aimed at harnessing the thermonuclear (fusion) reaction—the source of power of the hydrogen bomb—for the eventual economical generation of electricity.

This research is being carried out in the laboratories of the General Atomic division of General Dynamics Corporation at San Diego, Calif., and at the University of Texas and Texas A&M University, where Texas scientists work in cooperation with General Atomic scientists in the long-range fusion effort.

Big Spring, Coahoma and Forsan high schools have been represented in the symposium.

Boundary Line Marked Off

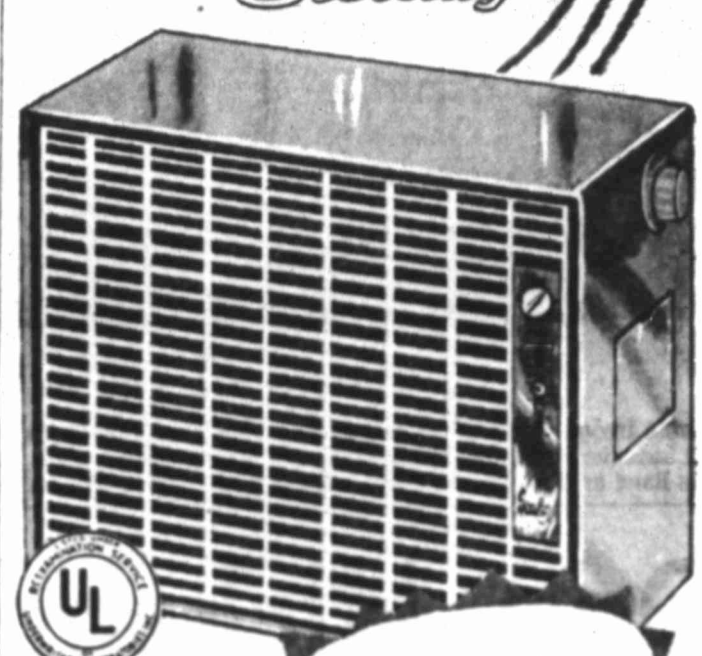

AUSTIN (AP) — Negotiators for Texas and Louisiana agreed on where to put their boundary line, State Land Commissioner Jerry S. Miller reported Tuesday.

He said the next step is for the two governors to name a boundary commission and submit the agreement for acceptance by the legislatures. Congress also must approve. Louisiana has claimed ownership of all land extending to the west bank of the Sabine River and Sabine Lake into the Gulf of Mexico. Texas claims territory out to the middle of the Sabine River and Sabine Lake outward into the Gulf of Mexico. Part of the area contains valuable minerals.

Pop's Schoolwork Inspires Children

NEW YORK (AP) — There were days in the Crowley household when some of the 14 children would come home from school troubled by an assignment.

The mother, Helene Crowley, would hear these words: "Ma, I can't do it."

"I don't know why you can't," she'd say. "Your father can do it."

Helene Crowley can hold up husband Steve as an example and an inspiration even though he is a high school dropout.

Steve Crowley — at age 42 — will receive his Bachelor of Arts degree in social science from St. John's University Sunday.

Crowley, holder of the Purple Heart and veteran of six World War II battles, has been a New York City policeman for 14 years. He won a department scholarship to college and became eligible for admission by passing a high school equivalency test.

At St. John's, he completed the six-year evening class program in five years.

During those years, he worked a full schedule, sometimes 15 hours on a weekend to compensate for five hours off during the week.

"After the first year or so, I became accustomed to the routine," said Crowley, who has won seven commendations for police work.

Crowley gives a lot of credit to his wife, whom he met at a parish dance. She encouraged him to go to school, and wants him to continue his education.

"It was something he always wanted to do," said Mrs. Crowley. "I felt it was good for the children and himself."

The Crowleys have seven boys and seven girls, ranging in age from 7 months to 16 years. The oldest, Michael, is studying for the priesthood.

"The children's marks have greatly improved since he went to school," said Mrs. Crowley. "Frankly, it inspired them

(the children) a little bit," said Crowley. "They could see that it was an effort. We pooled our resources at homework time. They'd help me with math; I'd help them with English and composition and things."

Crowley plans to go to law school or graduate school.

"I hope to advance in the police department primarily," he said.

AFTER SHARP CLASH

Johnson Orders VA To Keep Some Open

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has ordered the Veterans Administration to keep open five of 11 hospitals it planned to close, and two of four soldiers' rest homes that were to be closed.

The original closing orders struck sparks in Congress and produced one of the President's sharpest clashes with the legislative branch. Johnson defended the orders then on grounds of economy and efficiency.

He agreed, however, to name a special committee to look into the protested closings, and he followed its recommendations Tuesday in his order to the Veterans Administration.

He also accepted a recommendation to keep open eight

VA Regional offices and consolidate others to provide each state at least one office.

As the President was acting, the House Veterans Affairs Committee unanimously approved a bill which would give Congress the power to veto any VA hospital closing.

This bill could keep the controversy alive and prolong the tug of war between Congress and the executive.

The committee voted minutes before Chairman Olin Teague, D-Tex., was called to the phone and told by a White House aide that the President opposed the committee bill. Teague told the caller he was too late—the committee had already acted.

The bill still must be approved by the full House and Senate and signed by the President.

VA administrator William Driver said the VA will keep open hospitals at Lincoln, Neb.; Grand Junction, Colo.; Castle Point, N.Y.; Bath, N.Y.; and Miles City, Mont.

Miles City is the home of Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield. His was one of the voices protesting the original shutdown order.

VA hospitals to be closed are in Dwight, Ill.; Rutland Heights, Mass.; Fort Bayard, N.M.; and McKinney, Tex.

Rest homes to be kept open are at White City, Ore., and Bath, N.Y. To be closed are those at Thomasville, Ga., and Clinton, Iowa.

Driver said the VA is still setting target dates for the closings and some may not be phased out until next year.

He estimated the closings will result in an annual saving of $10 million.

Zale's Buys Drug Chain

DALLAS (AP) — Zale Jewelry Co. said today it is buying the Skillern Drug Store chain for an undisclosed amount of cash. The transaction marks the first full-scale diversification for Zale, the world's largest retail jewelry firm, with 411 stores in 39 states.

No changes are expected in Skillern's operations other than the retirement of Sam Leake, chairman, and William Weatherford, vice chairman.

The announcement came from Leake and Morton Miller, president of Skillern's, and Morris Zale.

Skillern operates 45 drug stores in Dallas, Fort Worth, Tyler, Denton and other places.

Insurance Man Stabbed Fatally

LONGVIEW, Tex. (AP) — Jackie Franklin, 29, a Longview insurance salesman, was stabbed fatally as he slept at his home about 2:30 a.m. today.

Police held his wife Betty, 26, without immediate charge. They said friends reported she had been in poor health.

Franklin was stabbed seven times in the chest.

Arrangements were made for the couple's five children to stay temporarily with a neighbor.

Baptists Praise Legislative Action

DALLAS (AP) — Texas Baptists have adopted resolutions praising and thanking the Texas Legislature for rejecting legalized pari-mutuel betting and sale of liquor by the drink.

The action came Tuesday at a meeting of the Texas Baptist Executive Board. The 192-member board conducts business of the Baptist General Convention of Texas between the larger group's annual meetings.

The board also named four men to positions.

The Rev. William Tomerlin, director of the Baptist Student Union at San Antonio College, was named associate director of the Texas Baptist division of student work.

The Rev. M. C. Mojica, associate director of language missions for Baptists in New Mexico, was elected language missions associate to work with nearly 500 Latin American Baptist churches in Texas.

The Rev. Earl Allen, pastor of Martin Springs Baptist Church at Sulphur Springs, was elected the first director of the Texas Baptist historical center at Independence, near Brenham.

The Rev. Mr. Allen also will pastor the Independence Baptist Church, oldest Baptist church in the state.

In other action the board: —Authorized a 200-bed addition to Baptist Memorial Hospital in San Antonio.

—Approved a $330,000 loan for construction of a boy's dormitory at San Marcos Baptist Academy.

—Heard plans for an occupational therapy wing at Baptist Memorial Geriatric Hospital, San Angelo, and a three-story building at Hendrick Memorial Hospital, Waco, to house a library, blood bank and school of vocational nursing.

—Heard reports from visitors from Southern Baptist foreign mission fields and from a recent Texas evangelistic crusade conducted by Baptist churches of the Lubbock area.

A Devotional For The Day

Know ye not that ye are the temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you? (I Corinthians 3:16)
PRAYER: We praise Thee, our Lord, and come with thankful hearts for the gift of the Holy Spirit. We pray for Thy help in making a surrender to Thee that Thy will may be done and all glory given Thee, through Christ, our Savior. Amen.

Crux Of The Issue

First reports said that the Supreme Court had outlawed television in the courtroom, but more detailed studies of the opinions of justices (and almost everyone wrote one of his own) revealed that the court was ruling in the Billy Sol case alone.
Justice Harlan put his finger on the crux of the issue, declaring that the Estes trial "was a heavily publicized and highly sensational affair." Then he added: "I therefore put aside all other types of cases."
This seems to be a wise course to follow in consideration of the larger issue of television coverage in the courtroom. To the extent that television cameras and technicians are distracting and create emotional and nervous pressures upon a defendant, they interfere with the achievement of justice. In all candor, the Estes case, because it was the biggest news story going at the moment, fit into that category.

The thesis of Justice Clark that television does not belong because it adds nothing to justice is not deeply conceived. A lot goes on in the courtroom which does not remotely add to justice, on the contrary it obstructs it, yet it is tolerated.

Down through the years, much faster than we think, it will be possible to record everything that goes on within a courtroom without anyone being aware that the proceedings are being pictorially or electronically recorded. When that point is reached, perhaps television will, under Justice Clark's definition, add to public understanding of what goes on in the courtroom. It's hard to say, however, if this will lead to reforms or to a new breed of actor-lawyers.

Another School Case

Looks like the tough test cases in school matters head up out here in an area where the issues are not really as intense as they are in other sectors.
It will be recalled that the basic question of integration in Texas schools came to a test in 118th District Court here. The specific issue was whether schools electing to integrate in compliance with the U.S. Supreme Court edict against segregation could continue to receive aid from the state, whose laws forbade integration. The decision here in effect said state statutes would have to conform to the federal court ruling, and the state supreme court quickly upheld this view.
Now another test case has developed. A Negro couple who taught in the Stanton elementary school for Negro children, has claimed in Federal District Court at Pecos that constitutional rights were violated when they were not rehired. Stanton school officials say that this is not the case; their jobs simply played out when two schools were consolidated into the others for reasons of economy.

This test had to come sooner or later, for all over Texas and other states this problem will arise as more of the all-Negro schools are abandoned. Some Negro teachers have enjoyed a sanctuary in these schools. Now, cast upon the open field, they may find the competition substantially tougher. Some of them are excellent teachers; and some of them are not, and thus will lose out. Will it take a court case in each instance to settle the issue? We hope not.

David Lawrence Johnson Urges The Negro Onward

WASHINGTON—President Johnson has just made perhaps the best Negro speech any politician has ever made. Indeed, his address was shown in advance to Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the NAACP, and Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. who were both in enthusiastic accord with it, as disclosed in an article by Mary McGarry, staff writer for the Washington Evening Star. For, in speaking at Howard University last Friday night, the President blasted almost everything on the white population, praised the Negroes for their demonstrations, and, in effect, gave them the signal to go ahead with more of the same.
MR. JOHNSON spoke approvingly of revolutions throughout the world and said that on every continent men "reach for new weapons" so that they may attain freedom. He then applied the concept of revolution to this country, as he said.
"But nothing, in any country, touches us more profoundly and nothing is more freighted with meaning for our own destiny, than the revolution of the Negro American . . .

"Heroically, the American Negro—acting with impressive restraint—has peacefully protested and marched, entered the courtrooms and the seats of government, demanding a justice that has long been denied. The voice of the Negro was the call to action. But it is a tribute to America that, once aroused, the courts and the Congress, the President and most of the people, have been the allies of progress."

BUT MR. JOHNSON didn't explain why it was necessary to arouse passions which sometimes incited violence and why debate and discussion in the public forums and the persuasive powers of free men were inadequate or ineffective to sway the courts or the Congress or the President.

The President hinted that the demonstrations hadn't yet achieved all that they may in the future. He said:

"BUT FREEDOM is not enough. You do not wipe away the scars of centuries by saying: 'Now, you are free to go where you want, do as you desire, and choose the leaders you please. You do not take a person who, for years, has been hobbled by chains and liberate him, bringing him up to the starting line of a race and then say 'You are free to compete with all the others' and still justly believe you have been completely fair."
"Thus it is not enough to open the gates of opportunity. All our citizens must have the ability to walk through the gates. This is the next and the more profound stage of the battle for civil rights. We seek not just freedom but opportunity. We seek not just legal equality but human ability—not just equality as a fact and equality as a result . . .

"TO THIS END equal opportunity is essential, but not enough, not enough. Men and women of all races are born with the same range of abilities. But ability is not just the product of birth. Ability is stretched or stunted by the family you live with, and the neighborhood you live in—by the school you go to, and the poverty or the richness of your surroundings. It is the product of a hundred unseen forces playing upon the infant, the child, and finally the man."

The President also declared that "unemployment strikes most swiftly and broadly at the Negro" and that blighted hope brings despair which in turn produces "indifference to learning." He said that despair coupled with indifference is often "the source of destructive rebellion against the fabric of society." He added:

"THIRTY-FIVE YEARS ago (1930) the rate of unemployment for Negroes and whites was about the same. Today the Negro rate is twice as high."

Is this the result of the hatred and bigotry and discrimination arising in the last few years? Mr. Johnson says further that "in 1948 the 8 per cent unemployment rate for Negro teenagers was actually less than that of whites" and that "by last year it had grown to 23 per cent, as against 13 per cent for whites unemployed."

These statistics could be interpreted to mean that racial prejudices of centuries past may have been of lesser significance in employment practices in America prior to 1930 and only now are beginning to interfere with "freedom of opportunity." It's a strange paradox—a seeming contradiction of the main thesis of the President's speech.

A Clear, Concise Opinion

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court would be better understood, and more easily, if all its opinions were like the one it gave this week in the case of Billie Sol Estes.
The court overturned his conviction at a Texas state trial on a swindling charge because the proceedings were televised against his wishes.
IT WAS A TIGHT decision, 5 to 4, but was one of the clearest, simplest and best organized the court has ever handed down, even though some people reading it, including the dissenting justices, don't agree with the conclusions.
In addition, and this was almost startling, the decision and the basic reason for it were summed up in the first paragraph. Finding the decision in an opinion is often like searching in a labyrinth.
AND, WONDER OF WONDERS, the opinion was almost totally free of legal jargon and citations of other cases. One reason may have been that this was the first time the court had ruled on the effect of television at a trial.
The court reasoned that televising his trial deprived Estes of a right guaranteed by the 14th Amendment: due process of law which, in this case meant a fair trial.
Does this mean there won't be any more televised trials in this country? The answer is probably yes for a long time. Television cameras already are barred from federal courts.
IT'S POSSIBLE that in some other case, under other circumstances, the Supreme Court might not rule the same way.
But the explanation it gave for its action in the Estes case covered so much ground—particularly the psychological effect of television cameras—that no state judge is likely to risk a rebuff by permitting television in his courtroom.
Television coverage of the Estes proceedings was handled two ways and the Supreme Court, in the opinion delivered by Justice Tom Clark, condemned both.
First, there was a two-day pretrial hearing in September 1962, before the trial started in October. Estes' lawyers asked that telecasting, radio broadcasting and news photography be barred.

THE TRIAL judge turned down this plea. What followed, judging from the court's opinion, must have been a hubbub.

The court said: "The courtroom was a mass of wires, television cameras, microphones and photographers. . . cables and wires were snaked across the courtroom floor, three microphones were on the judge's bench, and others were beamed at the jury box and the counsel table."

When the actual trial began Oct. 22 television and newsreel cameramen—because the judge by then had second thoughts—were restricted to a booth in the back of the courtroom. But the Supreme Court found this no better.

Takes Pride In Base

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP)—The jet planes raced down the runway with an ear-cracking roar. They rose gracefully, then, like angry hornets, darted toward their targets in North Viet Nam.
The sight gave a thrill to Col. William O. Ezell, 44, Chattanooga, Tenn., the base commander. It always does.
HE TAKES a paternal pride in the huge air base here which he believes now is one of the 10 busiest airports in the entire world.
"Less than a year ago this wasn't much more than just a country airstrip," he recalled. "In terms of traffic, we've gone up 10-fold in the last 11 months. We average more than 25,000 landings and takeoffs a month, not counting our helicopter operations. We can hardly keep track of them."

The base is full of ironic contrasts between the old and the new. The 10,000-foot runway is in the suburbs of South Viet Nam's second largest city.

THE BASE lies in a stretch of sand and dust between green hills, laced with white mist, and the endless blue waters of the South China Sea. It is bordered by crumbling old French forts, a poverty-stricken, one-street village known as "Dogpatch," and a cemetery watched with forgotten tombs over which lonely winds blow eerily.
On the 34-square-mile area of the base ironic dramas of life and death are enacted daily. In a five-minute period a helicopter may whirl down with dead and wounded. A C123 supply plane may bring in an ailing Montagnard soldier from an isolated mountain camp. A civilian Caravelle, staffed by pretty, blue-uniformed Vietnamese hostesses, land with a group of Saigon businessmen. A squadron of propeller-driven Sky-raidiers takes off to strafe enemy Viet Cong only a few miles away or flights of jets zoom up on a three-hour mission against bridges in North Viet Nam.

"WE THOUGHT we had reached our capacity six months ago, but now I think we can expand considerably more," said Ezell, who flew 394 combat missions in the Far East as a B29 commander in World War II.
The booming base is a bewildering maze of revetments, ammo and fuel dumps, and some 40 buildings in various stages of construction. A shortage of building materials and skilled labor has been the colonel's biggest problem.

About 3,000 of the 6,000 U.S. Air Force men still sleep in tents. The Vietnamese fliers and hundreds of their dependents also are housed on the base. The wives have created a flourishing industry by doing the American airmen's laundry.

THE BASE has an excellent safety record. Ezell, knocking three times on wood, said: "This field never has been hit by the enemy—not as of today, anyway."

U.S. Marines who surround the base intend to keep that record intact.

To Your Good Health

Cystocele And Rectocele Can Vary In Degree

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: I have recently been told that I have a cystocele that may require surgery. My gynecologist wants me to have additional X-rays to confirm his belief that I also may have a rectocele.
I have never heard of either of these before. Would you explain them? Is such surgery usually done by a gynecologist? Support is provided for the damaged tissues, thus correcting the bulges and displacement. Under most circumstances the two would be corrected in a single operation, and at times additional surgery, if required, is included in the same procedure. Results usually are excellent.

The usual cause of these conditions is strain from childbirth. Certain tissues of the pelvic floor are torn or stretched.

The front wall of the vagina becomes weak. The wall sags and lets the urinary bladder fall out of its normal position. This is cystocele.
The back wall of the vagina may also be damaged, resulting in a bulge of a part of the bowel into the canal. This in turn can contribute to constipation and rectal troubles. This is rectocele.

Like so many other things, these vary in degree. Mild cases give no symptoms and no trouble. Others cause discomfort or congestion and a sense of pressure.
Corrective surgery is customarily done by a gynecologist. Support is provided for the damaged tissues, thus correcting the bulges and displacement. Under most circumstances the two would be corrected in a single operation, and at times additional surgery, if required, is included in the same procedure. Results usually are excellent.

Dear Dr. Molner: We read your articles on PKU with great interest because we were told that our small daughter had this, and then later that she did not. What should we believe? How could such a mistake be made? Should we have more tests?—J. L. P.

This is only one of quite a number of tests which can have "false positives." Cancer and syphilis are two outstanding ones among such—and naturally a patient (or the patient's parents!) will be terrified when the false positive is reported. Every doctor, not to mention every patient and every parent, wishes that these occasional false positives would not occur. But they do.

As to PKU, an excess of aspartic acid, and an excess can cause such a result. It doesn't happen often, of course, and there are other causes, but when it does happen, the only answer is to continue tests and finally be sure.

Diverticulosis is a bulge in the digestive tract. To become more familiar with the subject, write in care of The Herald, for my booklet, "Don't Let Diverticulosis Throw You," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim

Exit Last Of Flat Theorists

One good thing about these space adventures, and the most recent feat of having our man walk in space, is that it should end one of the most senseless yet tenacious arguments extant. I speak of those few die-hards who, in the face of all logic and proof, continued to contend that the earth was not really a sphere, but merely round like a plate.

LONG BEFORE the time of Christopher Columbus, astute observers had reasoned that the earth was like a ball. Chris' arch across the Atlantic seemed to prove this, and along came Ferdinand Magellan to circumnavigate the globe.

BUT THERE were those who looked upon this as nonsense if not sacrilege. The world was not spherical, they argued, maybe round like a plate, but definitely not like a ball. Some power kept you from sailing off the edge of the saucer, so to speak, and kept pulling you around the rim and back to the starting point, hence the illusion that the earth was a ball. They also contended that if the earth were a sphere, we would all be upside down about half the time.

ACTUALLY, only a handful held to this archaic idea, but brother, they held. They were shaken about 20 years ago when rockets zoomed several miles into the air with cameras whirling. Parachuted back to earth, these stratospheric shots revealed the curvature of the world. "A camera trick or distortion," cried the world-is-flat school.

MORE RECENT space explorations with their attendant pictures has made the point moot, and the extraordinary movies and stills of our man walking in space has cut all the ground from under the flat theorists. Not only do some of the pictures reveal the curving horizon, but they also show curving land masses nesting to the big ball. The panorama is fantastic. In space, our men revealed there is no sense of being upside down.

ANOTHER GOOD thing about this is that we got television closeups of the moon before we had the latest batch of pictures. Were this not so, the world-is-flat nuts would take up that old quip about the moon being a round of green cheese. They would have to argue, at least, in light of those closeups, that it was Swiss cheese.

Privacy Of Different Sorts

WASHINGTON—Privacy is next to motherhood these days.

No less than three House committees, on the same morning and in the same Rayburn Building (itself a victim of merciless probing), were examining the federal government's propensity for invading privacy. Two of the hearings were fairly routine. They dealt with the rights of individuals to be reasonably free of inquisition. But the third hearing was different—as we shall see.

CIVIL SERVICE Chairman John Macy Jr., undoubtedly the most prolific employer in the nation, was sitting before the House Committee on Government Operations, which is holding a "special inquiry" into federal use of "psychological questionnaires." Macy is a graying public servant who stands high in Washington. He has the responsibility of hiring, firing, promoting and reassigning thousands of federal workers, and of getting the best results from the taxpayers' dollar.

Macy is in the delicate position of trying to be fair both to the private man and to the public boss. Should he use psychological tests that might reveal personal secrets? The answer was—Yes and No.

"IT'S LIKE THIS," The Commission said Macy, "does not itself use 'personality tests.' On the other hand, he said, 'our policy does not interfere with the use of psychological tools when they are needed in medical evaluations.' . . . In brief, Civil Service doesn't let just anybody perform psychoanalysis upon an applicant, but it does permit 'medical specialists' to weed out 'demonstrable emotional or behavior disorders.' A certain amount of probing, it seems, is absolutely necessary.

IN ANOTHER parlor of the ornate Rayburn Building, witnesses were being heard on Compulsory Unionism. Several have complained that the working man's privacy would be violated by a proposed repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act's Section 14-B, which permits states to ban the union shop. Howard Jensen, a Dallas steel maker, likened forced membership in a union to forced membership in a church. He quoted Jefferson on religious freedom: "To compel a man to furnish contributions of money for the propagation of opinions which he disbelieves and abhors is sinful and tyrannical."

MUCH MORE unusual was the hearing before a military operations subcommittee under the chairmanship of the much-admired Chet Holifield (D., Calif.). It was unusual because the privacy in question was that of corporate persons—in fact some 400 of them.

A group of companies engaged in Defense Department work had come to complain about "snooping and fishing" by the General Accounting Office of the federal government. It appears that the GAO, one of the most respected investigators in town, was not only auditing the businessmen's contracts and performance charts, but giving "confidential and proprietary" information to the press. Speaking for the aggrieved contractors, R. N. McFarlane declared:

"THE FACT THAT a company takes a government contract should not mean that he thereby loses his right to privacy."
Each hearing, in a different way, was looking to the protection of intimate matters within the minds, the creeds and the pocketbooks of free men.

Blighty's In Trouble, For Sure

WASHINGTON—My colleagues from Fleet Street, gave me a proper wiggling last winter, simply because one of my pieces on the passing of Mr. Churchill had innocently observed that England was washed up.

The piece was well-founded, which was doubtless the cause of all the anguish. The pound sterling was about to go down for the last time, the mighty British industrial plant was suddenly discovered to be largely obsolete (and no match for Europe's ultra-modern works), and the British weekend had gradually expanded until it very nearly met itself coming back. What with weekends, tea breaks, labor contracts that were nightmares of duplication, overlapping and impossible ground rules, plus a national mania for gambling, very little real work ever got done.

ALL OF THESE untidy realities contributed to a balance-of-payments problem that had poor Prime Minister Harold Wilson climbing the walls. It was enough to give one visitor from overseas the Joe Blakes, it was, and he promptly got himself in all manner of tepid water (hot water is impossible to find in England) with a col.

averring that fair Blighty was about to sink without a trace.

Not so, cried the wounded chaps from Fleet Street. The cad deserves a caning, or de-bagging (an operation in which the offender's trousers, or "bags," are removed in public) or some other such condign punishment.

NOW THE SCENE changes. The wretched drones who march and protest interminably in Trafalgar Square are no longer bundled in greasy scarves against the winter's chill. The pretty girls are spending their lunch hours sunning those lovely complexions and frightful legs in Hyde Park. Catarrh has disappeared from the land.

But one thing that hasn't disappeared is economic crisis. "Three Times Round Went His Gallant Ship" is the heading that London's respected Economist has on a current account of the vicissitudes of the Labor government. Price inflation, falling production and the pound on the skids is, the Economist thunders, "an achievement of nihilistic genius after seven months of Labor's economic planning."

ADDED TO THE major difficulties listed above are a host of nagging minor troubles that plague Labor's razor-thin majority. England has awakened to discover that her black immigrants need the protection of a civil rights bill, and the government is mired deep in a hopeless attempt to write a law that will satisfy its own left wing without affronting the Conservatives. Balancing the beleaguered economy against left-wing demands for everything from bigger pensions to steel nationalization is proving to be another impossibility.

It takes no soothsayer teetothed on an abacus to suggest that the root of Great Britain's plight is to be found in the simple proposition that she is unable (or unwilling) to produce enough to pay for the Utopia her economic theorists have laid out.

THE SOLUTION is equally uncomplicated—a government led by some man of stern stuff, who can demand blood, tears and sweat, and possibly even hard work, from the nation that once spawned the Magna Carta and now breeds Beatles.

Newspapers Utilized To Protect Gardens

Dear Heloise: There is an excellent use for old newspapers:

I have a garden at our cottage, and as we are only at the cottage for a few days at a time, weeds often get ahead of us.

I solved this problem by spreading old newspapers out between the rows, using about three thicknesses of newspaper.

After laying the papers out, spread some soil or lay rocks on top of them to keep them from blowing away or looking too unsightly.

I also use any old plastics such as curtains, tablecloths, etc., which are to be discarded.

This not only kept down the weeds, but it served as a "mulch" to keep the ground from drying out.

I found it well worth the effort... Jean D. Thompson

Dear Heloise: My husband wears khaki pants for every day.

Several days ago, I discovered some rust spots on a new pair.

Before I try anything which might ruin the pants, can you please tell me the best method to remove these rust marks? Esther

Just apply commercial rust remover.

Or: use one tablespoon oxalic acid (drugstore) in one cup hot water; and sponge area. Rinse with a solution of baking soda and warm water. CAUTION: Do NOT use oxalic acid on Nylon or synthetic fabrics, etc.

Never use bleach on rust spots in fabrics.

Always be sure to test spot a hidden spot first and to follow instructions and cautions on the container... Heloise

Dominican Rebels Plan To Release U.S. Soldiers

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The Dominican rebels said they would release three captive American soldiers today to the Organization of American States.

The three Americans, captured when they drove into rebel territory Tuesday by mistake, were Lt. Henry Cephus Leflore, 24, of Nash, Okla.; Spec. 4 Alton P. Blakely, 21, of Richmond, Calif.; and Pfc. Nelson Belengeri, 21, a Peruvian citizen whose uncle lives in Belleville, Ill.

Leflore told newsmen they were on their way to investigate a claim that an American truck had been damaged when they wandered into rebel territory.

"I assumed there would be a sign telling us when the international zone ended," Leflore said. "But when we had gone two blocks, a jeep with a 50-caliber machine gun mounted on it pulled out of a side street and stopped us. There was not much we could do."

The rebels customarily release American troops who wander into the rebel sector of downtown Santo Domingo.

Col. Francisco Caamaño Deno, the rebel leader, rejected proposals for an interim government which he said had been brought to Santo Domingo by an OAS mediating team that arrived June 4.

"We have gone through 45 days of pain and blood," said

Caamaño in a broadcast. "Those who think that time can weaken us are wrong."

A member of exiled President Juan Bosch's Dominican Revolutionary party told a news conference there eventually will be a Communist revolution in the Dominican Republic unless the 1963 constitution is restored.

Jose Francisco Pena Gomez said his party had political control of the rebel movement while Caamaño had "military and economic" control. The 1963 constitution was scrapped when the military ousted Bosch the same year.

Unconfirmed Tornado Injures 7 Near Welch

LAMESA (SC) — A reported, but unconfirmed, tornado struck a home three miles southeast of Welch, on the Ronnie Jayroe farm, and injured seven persons about 4:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Bernardo Martinez, and his five children were treated and released at a Lamesa hospital.

Mrs. Martinez's sister, Mrs. Pedro Escobar, 51, was hospitalized at Medical Arts Hospital for treatment of cuts, abrasions, and a fractured leg.

The husband and father, Bernardo Martinez, had been away from home, but drove up just as the storm hit. He said the roof of the house was lifted up, the walls collapsed, and then the roof fell back on top of the house.

From 2-8 inches of rain, and lots of hail, fell across a large area, and reports indicated that young crops from east of Welch to within eight miles of Seminole, were ruined. Reports also said about eight inches of hail was measured in some areas, especially in the New Moore Community.

A barn was torn down, a cotton trailer overturned, and other damage occurred at the Jack Warren place in the Sand Community. Another tornado was reported, but also unconfirmed, near the Cotton King gin, 15 miles west of Lamesa.

South of the gin, some two inches of rain fell, with no hail or damaging winds.

Warning systems in Dawson County were working during the alert which lasted until about 7 p.m.

Refuses TV Employees Bid

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court refused to consider today an appeal by former employees seeking payment from a profit-sharing plan in a television station formerly owned by President Johnson's family.

The high court said it could find no error in lower court judgments. There was no written opinion.

Thirty-nine former employees of KRGV-TV in Weslaco, sold by the Johnson family interests in 1961, contend a profit-sharing and incentive trust owned by President Johnson's family, accumulated in the company-financed plan. Johnson family interests had bought the Rio Grande Valley station in 1958.

The trustees contended, however, the employees lost their right to the funds when they declined a company offer to work at KRGV-TV in Austin, also owned by the Johnson family, when KRGV-TV was sold.

James D. French, 28, was found guilty in District Court in the Oct. 21, 1961, strangulation of an Oklahoma penitentiary cellmate, Eddie L. Shelton.

Judge Robert Bell set formal sentencing for June 18.

On Feb. 24, the 3rd Court of Civil Appeals split 2-1 in upholding Austin Dist. Judge Herman Jones' summary judgment for trustees of the company.

Deny Report

A spokesman for actor Peter Lawford denied a published report that he and his wife, Pat, sister of the late President John F. Kennedy, plan a legal separation. The couple, shown arriving at a movie premiere in Beverly Hills, Calif., in 1960, have a home in Santa Monica and keep an apartment in New York where three of their four children attend school. The spokesman said that Lawford explained the separation is strictly geographic while he is working on the West Coast. AP WIREPHOTO

Bill Will Kill Right-To-Work

WASHINGTON (AP) — A union and Labor Committee bill that would repeal a section of the Taft-Hartley law that permits states to outlaw the union shop was approved today by a House Labor subcommittee.

The action, taken by a 6-3 vote, moved the controversial legislation along to the full Education and Labor Committee, which will take it up Thursday.

The bill faces a tough fight on the House floor but the committee breakdown of 21 Democrats and 10 Republicans heavily favors it.

Under a union shop, employees must join a union. Section 14B of the present Taft-Hartley Act permits states to forbid unions and managements from making union shop contracts.

The bill approved by the subcommittee would repeal 14B.

Rep. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., offered a substitute for the administration bill but it was defeated by voice vote.

Griffin proposed to repeal the Taft-Hartley section but add new safeguards to protect workers against union abuses. He said he would offer the substitute again in the full committee.

The State Court of Criminal Appeals twice reversed lower court verdicts which found French guilty and sentenced to death.

Proposed Four Million Budget Goes To Board

Trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District Tuesday evening received a draft of a proposed budget for the 1965-66 school year. It envisions revenues over four and a quarter million dollars. Disbursements are pegged at $3.8 million.

The board also voted to continue the $650 annual local payment in addition to state foundation salary schedules for teachers. Additional supplements will be paid to beginning and relatively new teachers. State schedules take care of the more experienced teachers.

The board also fixed the tax rate for the district. With an estimated $107 million assessed valuation for the year, the board set the local maintenance tax rate at $1.34 per $100 valuation and at 36 cents for interest and sinking fund — a total rate of $1.70. Estimates are based on 95 per cent collection of taxes.

The tax rate was approved last night to give the tax office time to begin preparation of several thousand cards to taxpayers in the district.

SALARY ADDITIONS

The teacher salary supplement was set to enable the administration to give applicants definite answers to salary questions. Teachers with bachelor's degrees, under the foundation schedule plus the $650 annual local supplement, will also be supplemented as follows: No experience, $4,754 plus $146 for $5,000; one year, $4,871 plus $129 for $5,000; two years, $4,988 plus $112 for $5,000; three years, $5,105 plus $95 for $5,200; four years, $5,222 plus $78 for $5,300; five years, $5,339 plus $61 for $5,400; six years, $5,456 plus $50 for $5,500; seven years, $5,573 plus $27 for $5,600; eight years, $5,690 plus $10 for $5,700.

Following the eighth year no supplement will be paid, and at the end of the 12th year bachelor degree teachers' salaries will remain static at $6,158 per year.

GRADUATE DEGREES

Master degree teachers will begin at the regular foundation salary.

Summer Program Signup Grows

Enrollment for the Summer Fun Clubs, part of the Citywide Summer Recreation Program, continues to climb.

Wednesday morning 171 elementary-age children had signed for the Monday-Wednesday schedule, and the 130 had signed for the Tuesday-Thursday meetings. Another 66 have enrolled at the Lakeview Y for the Fun Club serving that area. First sessions begin Monday and parents may register children at the YMCA. The activities and instruction are all free, although those in handicraft will pay $1 for material if they are able.

The learn-to-swim program continues with 160 enrolled at the City Park pool. Delayed by one pool not being ready, the program was hitting high gear on North Side Wednesday.

Several changes in the budget, anticipated but not yet included and approved by the board, may be made at the next meeting. The totals include the athletic budget figures. When the firm, assessed valuation figure comes later the revenue figures may be changed.

Court To Review Case At Rice

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court agreed today to review a lower court's refusal to decide an appeal in the Rice University desegregation case.

The court granted a request by several Rice ex-students that it hear arguments on whether the Houston Court of Civil Appeals erred in dismissing the case. The ex-students also are asking the Supreme Court to direct the appeals court to hear the case on its merits.

A trial court ruled March 20, 1964, that the trustees of Rice may admit Negroes and charge tuition.

The Houston Court of Civil Appeals dismissed an appeal from the order because the state attorney general did not take part in the appeal. The appeals court said only the attorney general has authority to appeal such a decision.

The trial court acted on a request by the trustees of Rice that they be allowed to disregard racial and tuition restrictions imposed in 1891 by the school's founder, William Marsh Rice.

Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr filed a "friend of the court" brief with the Supreme Court challenging the appeals court's contention that only the attorney general has authority to sue to enforce charitable trusts.

Carr said that "those individuals who contributed to Rice under the assumption that the original conditions would continue have a right to challenge changes that are made."

Junior Rodeo Board Picked

Five 4-H Club Junior Rodeo directors were named, and five adult members were named to a committee at a county-wide meeting in the Howard County district court room Saturday night with the largest attendance ever recorded. Lawrence Long, chairman of the Howard County 4-H Clubs, presided.

He is automatically a member of the Junior Rodeo board of directors.

New directors, in addition to Long, are Gary McNew, Buzz Mann, Mark Barr, Danny Fryar, and Mack Frazier.

The five-member adult committee, which acts in an advisory capacity in carrying out activities for the year, is made up of Robert Brown, Knott; Niel Fryar, Lomax; Raymond Phillips, Big Spring; M. H. Boatler, Big Spring (held over from last year); Donald Webb, Coahoma.

Retiring members were James Barr, R. E. Haney, Eddie Mann, and R. W. Harrison.

Elks Have Busy Session

Members of the Elks Lodge elected a new two year trustee, heard appointment of a new Esquire, looked over plans for their new building, and heard highlights from the state convention in a lengthy session last night.

A M. Farris was elected to the trustee post to replace Joe Clark, who resigned. Neel Bumgarner was named Esquire to replace Bob Rogers.

James Brooks, local architect, presented plans and sketches for a proposed new building and was given the go-ahead on a building containing about 1,000 square feet of space. It will be built on lodge property south of town on US 87.

Exalted Ruler Dudley Jenkins gave a brief report on the convention held last week in Longview. Glen Gale, lodge, was named to a one-year term on the board of state trustees. Charles Elliott, Midland, was elected state president for this district. Phil Cleator, Dallas businessman, is the new president. Fort Worth will be the site of the 1966 convention.

Ervin Vetter and William Murray were presented membership pins. Jenkins reminded members of the building committee meeting Thursday night at 7:30 at the lodge.

The lodge also voted to donate $25 to the Crippled Children's Center.

Plainview Child Dies In Wreck

PLAINVIEW, Tex. (AP) — The 2-year-old daughter of the principal of a Plainview school was killed and her parents seriously burned early today in a two-car accident two miles south of Plainview.

Killed was Carol Peck, daughter of John Peck, principal of Hillcrest Elementary School. Peck and his wife, Nida, were hospitalized.

The driver of the second car, Rodney Garrison, 21, of Ada, Okla., suffered facial cuts.

Investigators said the Peck car burst into flames after being knocked 134 feet into a ditch.

The accident occurred shortly after midnight.

Neighbor Finds Woman Beaten

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — A neighbor dropping in for coffee found Mrs. Ethel Lynch, 83, beaten to death Tuesday in the home where she lived alone.

The body, wrapped in a sheet, lay on her bed.

City detective Chris Rachal said marks on the head indicated she was beaten with a fist and officers believe she was raped. Justice of the Peace Peter Dunne ordered an autopsy.

Police held a man for questioning.

GOP Jubilant Over Victories

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Jubilant Republican leaders looked confidently to the future today after GOP victories in mayor's races at Columbus and Hattiesburg — the first major municipal triumphs in Mississippi party history.

Former Democrats Paul E. Grady of Hattiesburg and R. D. Hammond of Columbus were the causes of the big Republican cheers.

Grady unseated Democratic Mayor Claude Pittman Jr., 2,438 votes to 1,836, while Hammond whipped Democratic Mayor William Propst 1,394 to 1,191 in Tuesday's municipal elections.

The GOP also won two alderman posts at Drew, two at D/Lo and one at Magee, and a council seat at Columbus. A Republican also captured a non-partisan aldermanic race at Hollandale.

Republican State Chairman Wirt Yerger Jr. called the triumphs "a history-making breakthrough — particularly significant because they were at the grassroots level, the greatest source of any party's strength."

Only four years ago, he said, there was not a single Republican municipal candidate in Mississippi.

Grady and "I am awed by the progress we have made. The victories will have a tremendous impact on the progress of our state. They have paved the way for many future victories."

The Republican surge in this Deep South state first came with widespread dissatisfaction over trends in the national Democratic party, particularly under President John F. Kennedy.

L. L. McAllister, a personally popular young Meridian businessman, won a special election for state representative in February 1963, to give the GOP morale a boost and its first legislative post.

Last fall, Barry Goldwater won the state for the Republicans for the first time since Gen. U.S. Grant and Reconstruction.

The Goldwater surge, which got him almost 90 per cent of the vote, also carried Republican Prentiss Walker to victory over veteran Democratic Congressman Arthur Winstead.

The GOP fielded 46 candidates Tuesday in 18 municipalities, including seven for mayor and the rest for councilman, alderman, commissioner posts.

Welcome TO BIG SPRING WEBB PILOT TRAINING CLASS 66-H

Big Spring and all its people extend the friendly hand of a West Texas welcome to the student pilots of Webb's Class 66-H. These young men, here for a complete course of primary and basic jet-flying instruction, become citizens of our city for more than a year, and it is our earnest hope that they will find here a helpful, cheerful and hospitable atmosphere; and that when they must leave, they will do so with a kind feeling in their hearts for Big Spring, its business establishments, and all its population.

May we urge our new student pilots, as time permits them, to become acquainted with our town, to know about the churches and the schools, the facilities for leisure and enjoyment, the shops and the service establishments.

Particularly do we ask them to drop in and see us, just to let us get acquainted, and say in person what we are saying here. There's no obligation to buy at any time . . . we want to be of service, and of assistance if we can.

Yes, it's all wrapped up in one wholesome, hearty word . . . "WELCOME!"

A
"HOSPITALITY GIFT"
For New STUDENT PILOTS

If the Webb student pilot or his wife will call within the next 10 days at the store or service establishment whose name appears with his under his picture (bringing this page with him for identification), he will be given a "welcome gift" by that firm. There is no obligation, and we simply ask that the visit be for getting acquainted. Be our guest!

Deadline For Entry Into Open Nearing

Deadline for entry into the third annual Big Spring Golf Open is dead ahead. Linksters planning to register for the two-day partnership low-ball meet should pay entry fees by 6 p.m. tomorrow. The pairings for both days will be drawn Thursday night by a committee headed by Jerry Green, pro at the Country Club.

Pointing For Open

Jackie Touchstone prepares to try and get out of the rough in a recent practice round at the Big Spring Country Club. He's practicing for the third annual Big Spring Open, which starts Saturday and continues through Sunday.

Oilers Visit Merkel Field

The Gage Oilers of Big Spring, winners of five of six baseball starts, visit Merkel Thursday night for an 8 o'clock game with that city's Lobos.

Merkel has won eight of 11 assignments. Manager Jim Baum of the Gage team will probably send Roy New to the mound. New ordinarily plays the outfield but he was a pitcher in high school.

Snead Thinks He Can Win Open

NEW YORK (AP) — Can Sam Snead at 53 still win the Open?

Sam thinks he can — and there's not a man swinging a club who dares say he cannot.

"All I need is a good start," the astounding slammer from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., drew after firing rounds of 67-70 for 137 over the par 71 Birmingham, Mich. Country Club Tuesday that qualified him for his 25th shot at the Open title.

Snead, who has won more than 100 PGA tournaments and the last as late as this past spring, scoffs at the suggestion that the Open has him jinxed.

"It's just like any other tournament — there are 18 holes and the same players," Sam said. "I have kept tensing up. It doesn't scare me. If I can get a good start and get my confidence going, I think I can do all right."

"I'm playing as well as I ever did. It's just the putting that gets me."

The 65th Open is scheduled June 17-20 over the Belvedere Country Club course in St. Louis. Thirty-one players, including defending champion

Ken Venturi and such stars as Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer, Bobby Nichols and Gary Player, were exempt from qualifying.

One hundred and 19 players had to earn entry into the tournament field in a scramble involving 459. One of these was Snead, who has won three Masters, three PGAs, the British Open but never the U.S. Open although he was four times a runner-up.

Snead's 137 was just one shot shy of the low qualifying figure during the two days of sectional tests. Leaders with 136 were Deane Beman of Bethesda, Md., twice the National Amateur champion who led the list at Chevy Chase, Md. Howie Johnson of Palm Springs, Calif., who beat out Snead at Birmingham, Texas, who placed the 106-man field at Cleveland, and Duff Lawrence of Columbus, Ohio, leader in Monday's trials. All had 68-68-136.

The list of those who failed to make the grade was almost as imposing as that of those who did.

Draft Could Cost Owners Some Money

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball executives may have some persuasion problems ahead of them but they expressed confidence today that virtually all of the 20 high school and college players picked in the first round of the free-agent draft will be signed long before the six-month deadline.

It won't be smooth sailing all the way for the baseball clubs who selected 320 youngsters Tuesday and may pick at least that many more today in the unprecedented draft.

The baseball owners may have to pay out more money than they figured in some cases. They may yield thousands of dollars here and there because there are some people in baseball and in Congress who doubt the legality of the draft.

Minnesota's Twins may have to up their bid to Eddie Leon, an 18-year-old shortstop from the University of Arizona. The youngster was quoted in Tucson as saying he would remain in school unless he was offered more than $20,000.

Calvin Griffith, president of the Twins, acknowledged Leon had been contacted but he declined comment on whether a definite offer had been made to the talented sophomore.

SOME BONUSES

Other first-round picks appeared set to sign for bonuses ranging up to $100,000.

Catcher Ken Plusha, who just completed his sophomore year at Notre Dame, already has been signed by the Chicago White Sox. The figure was believed to be around $25,000.

Another, highly publicized selection, Rick Monday, was expected to sign a Kansas City contract just as soon as the College Baseball World Series at Omaha, Neb., comes to an end.

Monday, a 19-year-old sophomore outfielder at Arizona State U., was the No. 1 draft choice.

Hank Peters, general manager of the A's, said he planned to fly to Tempe, Ariz., next week.

He indicated he would offer Monday about $100,000 and smilingly added that he anticipated no difficulty in signing the left-handed hitter.

The New York Mets, who had second choice because of their last-place finish in the National League — the clubs picked in inverse order of their 1964 finish — chose Les Roh, a highly regarded left-hander from West High School in Billings, Mont.

President of the Mets, spoke with Roh and his father even before the second round of the draft was concluded and indicated he expected no trouble in signing the 6-foot-5, 19-year-old pitcher. An educated guess is that Roh will receive a bonus of $50,000.

Rick Aslin of the Hawks, the league's top home run hitter, drove out his fourth four-master of the year in the sixth with one on.

Zane Anderson accounted for four of the losers' nine hits.

OCEANPORT, N. J. (AP) — N. J. was awarding a franchise to Atlanta Tuesday, National League Commissioner Rozelle said in the Southern city, waving the NFL flag while stating, "Atlanta is a prime prospect for NFL expansion. We could expand with no trouble in 1966. We have discussed this."

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Area golfers showed absolutely no interest in the Sectional round of the National Public Links golf tournament so, for the first time in seven years, tournament director John M. Pipes won't stage one this summer.

Pipes had originally planned to conduct the 36 holes of play June 21 at the Big Spring Country Club. The winner here would have qualified for the Nationals, which will be held July 12-17 in Pittsburgh.

When Pipes sought entries for the Sectional, a few of the linksters acted as if he were trying to peddle snake oil. Incidentally, columnist Gene Ward of the New York Daily News has asked Pipes to serve on a committee which will pick a Collegiate All-America team.

Pipes recommended Randy Petri and Jim Grant, both of the University of Houston; and Oklahoma State's Dave Eichelberger (a native of Waco) for the elite group.

Dave Williams, the University of Houston links coach, says that if he were picking an All-America squad he would include those three, as well as Oklahoma State's Bob Dickson, Marjory Fleckman of Houston and Hale Irwin, Colorado University.

Dickson, the boy Big Spring Golf Open officials hope will show up for their tournament this week, won the Southern Intercollegiate tournament this spring.

Charley Johnson, Big Spring's gift to pro football, posed for that picture advertising sweaters (Jantzen) which appeared in several magazines with national circulation when he arrived in Los Angeles for the Pro Bowl game last year.

The picture was snapped in January but didn't appear in print until the following fall.

Posing with Charley were Frank Gifford, Terry Baker, Paul Hornung, Abe Woodson, Buddy Dial, Jess Whitenden (another native Big Spring), Dick Bass, Jim Taylor, Terry Barr and Tommy Mason.

Gordon (Moe) Madison, who grew up here and who is now head basketball coach at Odessa Ector High School, says he hasn't played golf in two years.

Time was when Moe tried to play several rounds a week.

Kermit and Snyder coaches dipped into local umpiring ranks to work their entire Class AAA Regional baseball series this week.

The Columbia Broadcasting System, which bought the Yankees last August, is now embarrassed by more than their lowly standing.

The latest Neilson ratings show that the Mets are drawing a bigger TV audience than the Bronx Bombers.

Golf Digest magazine lists Arnold Palmer as a 4-1 favorite to win this year's National Open but the gamblers are more hard-hearted about it.

The line on Jack Nicklaus is 5-1 and no one is ahead of Ohio Fats in the eyes of the bookies.

Did you hear about the athlete who enrolled at Brandeis University and made Phi Beta Kappa?

Frank Peralta Standout In Talons' 9-7 Victory game here Tuesday night.

Peralta came on in relief of Bobby Davis and received credit for the win. In addition, he drove out a one-on home run in the third, along with a single.

Oscar Del Bosque, the losing pitcher, smashed three safeties for the Comets.

In all, the Talons collected 11 hits while the Comets accounted for eight blows.

A four-run fifth inning enabled the Talons to come from behind and nail down the win.

The Kiwanis slaughtered Big Spring Hardware, 23-3, in a Hi-Junior baseball league game Tuesday night that was called after 4½ innings, at which time the ten-run rule was invoked.

The Kiwanis struck for 11 runs in the second inning and followed up with nine in the fourth.

Dean Gilstrap had an easy time notching the mound win. He set the Hardware gang down with three hits.

Gilstrap, Junior Mendosa and Rod Roberts each smashed three hits for the winners and one of Mendosa's blows went for a home run. Gilstrap had a triple.

Horlen Seeks To Take Over As Sox Ace

By The Associated Press

Staging a revolution from the right, Joe Horlen has begun phase two in his attempt to overthrow lefty Gary Peters as strong man of the Chicago White Sox pitching staff.

Horlen pushed Peters closer to the brink Tuesday night, continuing his masterful pitching while adding a potent offensive weapon in Chicago's 7-2 victory over Boston.

The 27-year-old right-hander ignited his operation last season in taking the team lead in earned run average away from Peters. He hasn't let up at all this year and now is threatening to surpass Peters as the team's best hitting hurler.

Horlen collected three singles, the second driving in a sixth-inning run that snapped a 2-2 deadlock and put the White Sox ahead to stay. The performance shot Horlen's batting average to .250 compared with .138 for Peters, who often has been used as a pinch hitter.

His four-hit pitching, meanwhile, brought Horlen his sixth triumph, most on the team, against three defeats.

Mike Bethell walked and crossed the plate in the seventh inning on a bobbie to give the Red Sox a 3-2 victory over the Yankees in Sophomore league play here Tuesday night.

The Yankees outthrew the Sox, 3-2, Clayton McKinnon getting two blows for the losers. One of those was a double.

Gary Chrane pitched the win. He yielded a first inning run to Bruce Hutto after Hutto had walked Terry Wooten counted the other run for the Yanks in an error.

Chrane fanned 14 and issued only three walks. The losing pitcher was Ford Farris, who divided time on the mound with McKinnon.

Bill Bailey scored the Sox's first run in the third after walking while Rocky Wooley reached base on a miscue in the fifth and went on to score.

Unionists Urged To Defeat Two Proposed Amendments

AUSTIN (AP) — Unionists were urged Tuesday to help defeat proposed constitutional amendments which would enlarge the Texas Senate and doubling the governor's term to four years.

"If the four-year term proposal goes through, the liberal forces will be completely undermined and undercut in this state," asserted A. N. Slough of Austin, executive secretary of the Texas State Industrial Union Council.

He spoke at a Texas AFL-CIO Advisory Council meeting to analyze the work of the 59th Legislature.

State AFL — CIO President Hank Brown joined Slough in criticizing the amendments, both due to go before voters next fall.

Criticism of Gov. John Connally and the legislature's plans to reapportion the state's seats in Congress and the Texas House and Senate also was sprinkled through the meeting.

Official stands on the constitutional amendments will be taken at the labor federation's August convention in El Paso, Brown said.

He called the plan to increase membership of the Senate from 31 to 239 a "pig in a poke."

Lawmakers failed to agree on a bill cutting the state into 39 senatorial districts and they are asking the voters to sign a blank check, Brown said.

"We don't take kindly to it one bit, and I don't think the people will either," he said.

Stock Market Takes Beating

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market has taken a severe beating in the past four weeks. Its slide has been almost steady with only a few interruptions.

Some brokers said the confidence of investors in the outlook for the economy appeared to have been weakened.

Tuesday the market, as measured by the popular averages, suffered its worst loss since the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, Nov. 22, 1963.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials fell 13.10 points to 89.05. Since May 14, when it reached an all-time peak, this average has tumbled 50.57 points.

The Associated Press 80-stock average dropped 4.4 to 323.7. Brokers said one favorable factor was that the slump came on moderate trading. Volume Tuesday was 4.67 million shares. The daily average for the year to date has been about 5.6 million shares.

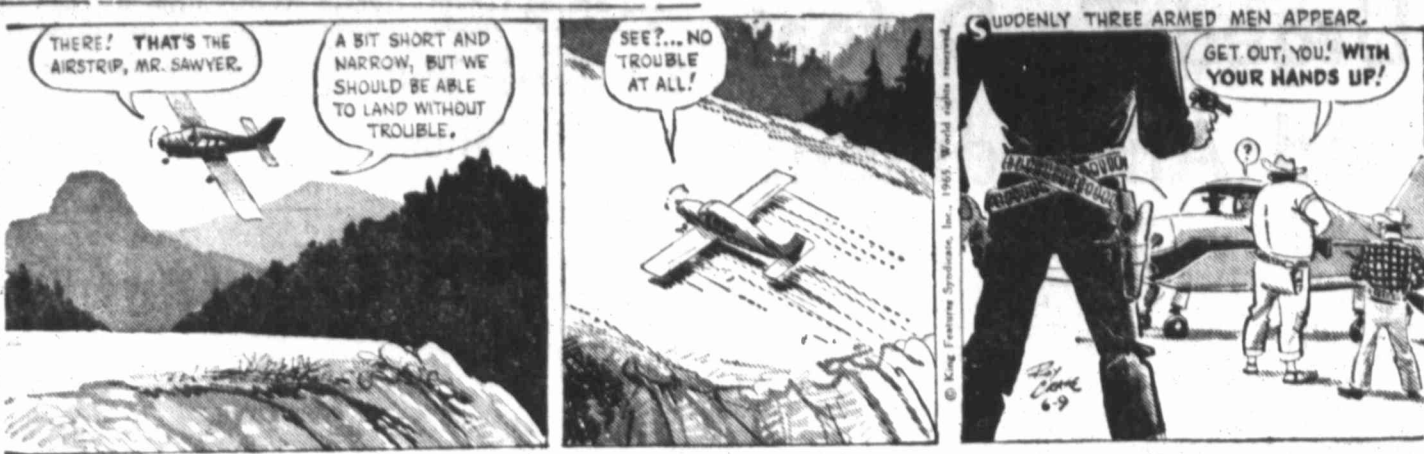

In view of the sluggish trading, brokers said the situation appeared to be more of a case of unwillingness to buy than eagerness to sell.

Some said the slide had been accelerated by the statement last week by William McChesney Martin, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, who said he saw "disquieting similarities" between present business conditions and the boom that preceded the 1929 crash.

Brokers say disturbing factors include talk about tight money, a lot of secondary issues coming on the market and permission for U.S. troops to engage in combat in South Viet Nam.

That Long Lonesome Road

Trail Riders, bound from Lubbock to Johnson City, ride down that long, "lonesome" road Tuesday as they completed the first major hitch of the 400-mile ride. Actually US 87 north was far from lonesome, but this shot by Ken Good, Herald photographer, fits the classic line: "They rode slowly into the sunset."

Trail Riders Rest A Day After First Long Hitch

By TEX ROGERS
With the Trail Riders
The Johnson City Trail Riders, resting today in Big Spring after clippety-clipping more than 120 miles on their journey from Lubbock to Johnson City, will move out Thursday for a campsite between here and Sterling City.

Entertainment for the riders and Big Spring people include two Ernest Tubbs shows today in the city auditorium, beginning at 7 p.m. and 9:15 p.m. Tubbs is one of the leading country and Western singers and Grand Ole Opry stars, and his appearance here is sponsored by the trail riders.

As the riders moved into Big Spring about 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, they were met outside the city limits by several riders. They pitched camp in the scenic mountain area, then attended a street dance held on Main Street between Third and Fourth Streets.

Blackie Allen, trail boss of the ride, said today that many inquiries have been made about joining the ride. He said people may sign up for the ride tonight at the Ernest Tubbs show, or at the trail ride campsite at the rodeo grounds before 8 a.m. Thursday. Persons are also invited to attend the campfire at the trail ride campsite Thursday night, midway between Big Spring and Sterling City.

Fee for joining the ride is $5.00 per day, which includes horse, saddle and meals. The trail ride personnel also feed and give complete care for horses. Those riders furnishing their own horses may join the ride for $6.50 per day, which also includes meals, and care and feed for the mount.

"I don't think there is a better way for people to have a good time than on a horse going through the country," said Allen.

"We'll be pulling into Sterling City Friday and then into San Angelo Sunday for a three-day rest," Allen said. "Hank Thompson will play a show at 3 p.m. Sunday in the coliseum. Then we will have fishing in the Concho River and more entertainment."

The trail ride will go into Vick on June 16 and move to Eden June 17. Other stops along the way include Brady, Mason, Fredericksburg, Stonewall, and finally Johnson City on July 1 for three big days of celebration and a big rodeo.

MEN IN SERVICE

Sp. 5 Gustavo Ochotorena, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gustavo Ochotorena, 405 NW 11th, has re-enlisted in the Army for three years through the Big Spring Army recruiting office.

The soldier has been assigned to the 6th Missile Battalion (HAWK), at Fort Bliss, and will report for duty May 31. His wife, the former Gloria Sosa, also of Big Spring, and their daughter Teri, will go with him to make their home in El Paso.

Specialist Five Billy O. Copelin completed a 19-week single-engine single-rotor helicopter repair course at the Army Transportation School, Fort Eustis, Va., June 4.

During the course Specialist Copelin was instructed in the repair of rotary wing aircraft of the reconnaissance type by inspecting, adjusting, removing, and replacing helicopter assemblies and sub-assemblies.

The 23-year-old soldier, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Copelin, 702 1/2 E. 17th, Big Spring, entered the Army in December, 1961 and was last stationed at Fort Hood. He attended Big Spring High School.

John Patrick Flynn, son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Flynn, former residents of Big Spring, will graduate from the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., next Wednesday.

Ensign Flynn graduated from Big Spring High School in 1957 and attended Texas A&M for two years before joining the U. S. Navy in the nuclear submarine program. From there he entered the Naval Academy in June, 1961. While attending school here, he was employed by the Cunningham & Phillips Drug when one of the stores was located in the Petroleum Building. His parents now reside at 703 Rosewood Lane, Arlington.

DEAR ABBY

Give Your Own Gift

DEAR ABBY: A niece of mine, whom I'll call Sally, is graduating from high school in June. She plans to be married soon after graduation although as yet no date has been set for her wedding.

This morning I received an invitation to her graduation. Enclosed was a hand-written note from Sally. It read, "For my hope chest: Please go to Sears and ask for Mrs. Briggs. Tell her your name and she will give you a package. Price $10.95."

I've never heard of anyone doing such a thing, have you? What do you think of a girl like Sally, and what should I do about it? I planned on getting her a graduation gift, and when the time came for her wedding, I surely would have given her a wedding gift, too.

BEWILDERED AUNT
DEAR AUNT: Sally has shown herself to be extremely presumptuous and tasteless as well. Feeling as you do, ignore her "instructions" and buy her a graduation gift of your own choice—if, indeed, you wish to buy her a gift at all.

DEAR ABBY: I have been living with George (not his real name) for three years, but we are not legally married. We have two children under three. We love each other and would be married, but he is still married to Number One, and I am in the same predicament. We have lived in five different states so far and I am tired of moving. George is a good salesman and can get a job anywhere. Lately I suspect him of running around. He has stayed out all night many times. He says there is no other woman, but what am I to think? I left him once, but I took him back. I can't take any more of this kind of living. I am beginning to think we will never be married. I want to leave him for good, but he says if I do, he will put our children in a home and charge me with being an unfit mother. Can he do this? I'll sign myself "Miss Pennsylvania," as that is where we are living now. "MISS PENNSYLVANIA"

DEAR MISS PENNSYLVANIA: Only a lawyer can tell you whether, according to law, you are an "unfit mother," and the penalty for same. If indeed you are found to be one, I am not a lawyer and neither is George, so don't let him bully you. Your man sounds like no bargain, but he is the father of your children, so perhaps this mess is worth straightening out. How fortunate for you to be in Pennsylvania. You might need a Philadelphia lawyer to untangle your legal complications.

DEAR ABBY: I am highly allergic to tobacco smoke. In order to discourage guests from smoking in my home I have no ash trays in sight, but that does not stop some people. One man lit up a cigarette and, when he didn't see an ash tray anywhere around, he used the cuff of his trousers to store his ashes. A college girl, who called on me with her mother, smoked one cigarette after another and she used my plants! Don't people know that when there are no ash trays in sight it is a polite way of saying, "please do not smoke in this house"? Or must people be told outright?

ALLERGIC
DEAR ALLERGIC: Some people must. In which case, do.

Problems? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Donna's With Elvis

Donna Douglas of "The Beverly Hillbillies" is vacationing from the television series for hand-holding scenes like this in the role of "Frankie" with Elvis Presley playing the part of "Johnny." When Donna is finished with her work in "Frankie and Johnny," her first starring movie, she'll head back to her work as Elly Mae in the television series. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Donna Douglas Takes Part In Elvis Presley Picture

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Donna Douglas is vacationing from "The Beverly Hillbillies" to play Frankie to Elvis Presley's Johnny.

It's a big step for a girl whose last movie role was as a secretary in "Lover Come Back." But her first starring film finds Donna in her usual condition: "With my head in the air and my feet on the ground."

You might as well know that Donna is a mystic, a girl with a philosophical approach to her life and work unusual for one of only 24 years. Her conversation is studded with observations like: "You can have success if you can handle it."

She seems to be handling hers. She came up the hard way, from beauty contests to letters girl on the Perry Como Show to bits in movies like "Career" and "Li'l Abner." Then producer-writer Paul Henning asked her if she could handle the role of Elly Mae in "The Beverly Hillbillies."

"I just looked at him and grinned," recalled the pride of Baywood, La. "Could I handle Elly Mae? Why, it was just like my own life."

Donna, who had struggled to erase her cornpone drawl, had to recover it for the series. In the face of sneers from the critics, the "Hillbillies" became the No. 1 show in audience ratings. That meant instant fame for Donna Douglas, born Doris Smith.

"Some people can't handle success; it's too much for them," she opined. "They aren't willing to give as well as receive. It's important to do both."
