DRYS PREPARE FOR WORD WAR AGAINST WETS

BUT ANTI-SALOONERS WON'T BACK BOLT FROM DEMOCRATS

(By The Associated Press)
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Mar. 6.—The Anti-Saloon league will not seek to organize a bolt in the democratic party ranks in the approaching Presidential election. F. Scott McBride, general superintendent, declared here today in a statement issued in connection with the organization's southeastern prohibition convention.

"His comment was made in response to published reports that the convention intended to foster a movement for a split from the party of southern democrats in the event Al Smith receives the party's Presidential nomination."

Explains Stand
"We do not make up tickets nor do we pick candidates," Dr. McBride's statement said. "That task belongs to political conventions and not to prohibition organizations."

"The democrats of the south are eminently able to make their own decisions without assistance or leadership from any one. Whatever contingencies may arise, I am confident that the responsible leaders of that party will be prepared to act with wisdom and discretion."

"I do not believe that there will be any necessity for the dry democracy of the south in particular or of the nation in general to even consider bolting a party ticket. The chance that any wet candidate will be named by the Houston or Kansas City conventions is extremely remote that it is hardly a vitally important factor."

Resolutions To Be Drawn Up

MRS. WEST IS FOUND GUILTY

HAMMER SLAYING BRIDE MUST SPEND LIFE IN JAIL FOR MURDER

(By Associated Press)
PAINEVILLE, Ohio, Mar. 6.—Velma West, 21-year-old hammer slayer of her young husband, Thomas Edward West, was sentenced to life imprisonment in Marysville reformatory today a few minutes after she pleaded guilty to second degree murder.

The girl received her sentence in tears. She slumped into her chair after a few brief remarks by Common Pleas Judge J. D. Barnes, and her father, B. L. Van Woert, of Cleveland, rushed to her side.

Mother Not In Court
Velma's mother was not in court to hear the sentence.

Defense Attorney Francis W. Poulson had informed the court that Velma was willing to plead guilty to second degree murder, thus obviating the necessity of standing trial on a first degree charge.

Prosecutor Seth Paulin told Judge Barnes the state had thoroughly considered the plea and had agreed to accept it.

TORCH MURDER STILL PUZZLE

SUSPECT, 'DR.' LOUIS CLEMENT, PROVES AN AIRTIGHT ALIBI

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Mar. 6.—An alibi established by Louis Clement has convinced police that it would have been impossible for him to have been near Bernardsville, N. J., when Miss Margaret Brown, Park Avenue governess, was beaten and burned to death on February 20.

Clement surrendered to police yesterday after authorities publicly had assured him they had no evidence connecting him with the killing. After long hours of questioning police said a check up of his story proved his alibi.

Wife Appears At Station
Clement's estranged wife, Mrs. Theresa Flower Van Norden, a show girl, met him at police headquarters.

Penney company store here a year ago last December, returned a verdict of not guilty in 99th District court shortly afternoon today. Judge Clark M. Mullican presided.

There was no direct proof produced by the state throughout the trial, the evidence being of a purely circumstantial nature. The case was opened yesterday afternoon and went to the jury about noon today after an early recess yesterday afternoon.

ANOTHER CHANGE IN CONSTITUTION IS FACING CONGRESS AS DEBATE IS SET ON ABOLISHING 'LAME DUCK' SESSIONS

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Mar. 6.—The advisability of another change in the Constitution framed by the nation's founders, an amendment to abolish the "lame duck" or bi-annual three month sessions of congress and clarify provisions dealing with presidential succession—today was the question facing the house.

Under a previous agreement the White-Norris resolution, that the terms of president and vice president end at noon January 24 and those of senators and representatives at noon January 4, instead of March 4, was the special order of business with leaders of the opinion that a final vote would not be reached until Thursday at the earliest. Five hours, or insufficient time for each of the 435 members to speak for one minute, had been

The plane took off from Mitchell field, New York, at 10:30 o'clock last night.

The decision to hop after more than two months' delay was made when Dr. James H. Kimball, meteorologist of the United States Weather bureau, informed the fliers they would have a full moon and light tail winds.

Miss Bali, a former resident of Rochester, N. Y., who in Paris last summer offered as much as $50,000 to be piloted across the Atlantic, arrived at the flying field shortly before 11 o'clock with Levine and her mother, Mrs. Josephine Bali.

The woman, known as the "Queen of Diamonds" because of the profession of her husband, brought with her two suitcases, a large hat box and a vanity case.

Tech Gives Order For Cotton Samples

In anticipation of a large enrollment during the coming summer in the special cotton classing course offered in the Tech textile department, 3000 cotton samples have been ordered for laboratory work. It was learned today from the office of Prof. E. W. Camp, head of the department, who will have charge of the work. This will place 4,500 samples in the Tech textile department, which charged Stewart with the task of securing the samples.

Mr. Camp will again be assisted in the work by Harry E. Blocker, local cotton man, who aided in the classes last summer. Forty-three men are enrolled in the class this summer and Mr. Camp is looking forward to a large increase during the next session.

Special emphasis will be laid on stapling and grading in the course Mr. Camp says. Efforts will be made to have the students grade as much as three thousand bales during the term.

Lind's Plans Are Deep, Dark Secret

WASHINGTON, Mar. 6.—War department officials said today that Col. Charles A. Lindbergh landed at Bolling field at 6:30 o'clock this morning, but they had no knowledge of his plans here. Bolling field officers said Lindbergh's return so soon after his trip yesterday to St. Louis came as a surprise and caught most of them in bed. He left his plane as soon as he reached here and went to a club for rest. He had just returned from a flight to Illinois.

OHIO BANK IS BANDIT VICTIM

$30,000 LOOT IS SEIZED BY FOUR MEN WITH SAWED SHOTGUNS

(By The Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, O., Mar. 6.—Four men robbed the Columbus Savings bank, at the edge of the downtown district, of $30,000 today and escaped in an automobile.

The robbers, according to employees of the bank, entered the lobby carrying sawed-off shotguns, and forced Benjamin S. Dickson, president and cashier of the bank, four employees and five customers into a back room.

They Scoop Up Cash
Then they climbed over the teller's cage, scooped all the cash within reach, and fled.

Dickson was in his cage. One of the bandits climbed inside and attacked him finally forcing him into the back room with the others after a fight.

The attention of passersby was attracted by T. E. Stevenson, a teller, who threw an ink bottle out a window.

After grabbing their loot the bandits ran outside to their car, which was parked nearby, and fled.

SHOW ME BOY!

Missourian Tests Texas Highway License Law

(By The Associated Press)
AUSTIN, Mar. 6.—John H. Taylor, president of the Sowers-Taylor Lumber company, of Kansas City, Mo., called at the state highway department Tuesday to present his recent arrest and "fine" of $16 at Sanderson, for failure to have a 1928 automobile license on his Missouri car in which he was returning from California.

Mr. Taylor exhibited letters from the Missouri secretary of state and the automobile license commissioner at Kansas City showing that Missouri tags do not go on sale until February 1, and that no arrests are made until March 15 for failure to have them. The license commissioner at Kansas City said it would be impossible to complete distribution of Missouri plates before March 1, "if the people stood in line."

Mr. Taylor, who was a member of the Missouri legislature for 10 years, said he was arrested in Sanderson February 28 and told he could "square off" for $16. No charge was docketed, he said, and no process issued. After paying the "fine" and getting a receipt, on request, from E. F. Howard, Justice of the Peace, precinct one, Terrell county, Mr. Taylor said he found the fine was $1 and the "costs" $15. The entire proceedings, he said, were had at his hotel.

(By Associated Press)

Mrs. Piner said her brother's boyhood was spent on the shores of the Mississippi and Twain first saw him aboard a steamboat. He grew to manhood while working on the river and finally turned to the west for adventure and livelihood.

AUSTIN, Mar. 6.—Armed with data gathered in several hearings, the state pink boll worm commission Tuesday began discussing with Governor Moody methods of eradicating the West Texas worm infestation.

A total of 15 counties are affected, eight of them being among the "new" list. The original seven have been battling the pest for years.

When the smog got under way, Homer D. Wade, manager of the West Texas chamber of commerce, predicted a non-cotton zone would not be recommended. He believed that the commission would decide to establish regulations but not seek to prevent entirely the planting of cotton in the territory under consideration.

Wants Special Session
Mr. Wade reiterated the belief that a special legislative session ought to be called in the event of a "non-cotton zone," or perhaps even if only a "regulated zone" is called. The latter course, he explained, would not necessitate a session unless the federal government is "too slow" in providing appropriations. The Governor has indicated he does not believe a session desirable.

Wade Declared Interests "Allied"
Wade declared interests "allied" to the cotton grower also ought to be compensated, if growing is prohibited. He referred to such industries as gins and compresses.

Terrell May Talk
Agriculture Commissioner Geo. B. Terrell expected to have an announcement after the commission's meeting was finished. He has asked the Texas Congressional delegation to seek a $10,000,000 federal appropriation to throw in the breach if the non-cotton course is decided or hand has indicated he does not believe even that sum would be sufficient.

Rails Continues Its Improvement Plans

RALLS, Mar. 6 (AP)—The $40,000 paving program for Ralls got under way Monday morning. Delay has been caused because of cold weather but with the help of men and teams which the Ralls Construction company is now on the job the work is being progressed very rapidly.

The city officials have recently signed a contract for nine blocks of white way lighting to be installed by the Ralls Utilities company before the paving is completed. With the present twenty-eight street lights together with the extra thirty-one to be added by the white way system Ralls night visitors will have little trouble finding their way.

Over Six Thousand Cars In The County

Lubbock county now has 6,801 automobiles in operation upon its highways, the records of County Tax Collector I. F. Holland show. With approximately 15 cars being registered daily, the total is expected to exceed the 7,000 mark before the first quarter, officials in the office say.

DETROIT, Mar. 6 (AP)—For a minor accident which resulted in slight damage to their monoplane today delayed the take-off of Eddie Stinson and George Haldeman on an endurance flight in which they hope to set a new world record for sustained flight.

HUGGINS SIGNS LAZZERI BUT HOYT AND SHOCKER YET UNSIGNED

LUBBOCK'S BASEBALL FATE WILL BE DECIDED ON TONIGHT

MITE MANAGER WILL TALK TO HURLERS SOON

AND BOTH WILL ENTER FOLD, BELIEF; TONY TWO YEAR SIGNER

(By The Associated Press) NEW YORK, Mar. 6.—Miller James Huggins, field general and developer of the world's champion baseball team, is equally adept in the arts of mediation, conciliation and arbitration.

In other words, the little manager of the Yankees knows how to bring recalcitrant holdouts into line and make 'em like it.

Last year Huggins suggested the terms that resulted in Babe Ruth placing his famous autograph on something else besides a souvenir baseball. After the world's championship was tucked away last season, quite a few of Mr. Huggins' athletes began planning additions to their financial armories.

Many stars have dreams. These dream builders included Tony Lazzeri, Earle Combs, Mike Gabelia, Mark Koenig, White Hoyt, and Urban Shocker.

The Yankees' business office failed to satisfy some of these young men to the suave and astute Mr. Huggins took up the parley. Lazzeri, who it is reported wanted to be the highest salaried second baseman in baseball, yesterday succumbed to the crooning argument of little Bug. Tony signed a contract for two years at a reported figure of $12,500 per annum which is considerably under Rogers Hornsby's $40,000.

Huggins has reserved two seats at the council table for Pitchers Hoyt and Shocker, who are reported approaching the mood for palaver.

Indians Battle For Centerfield

NEW ORLEANS, Mar. 6.—A three-way battle for the centerfield post, an unsatisfactory spot in the lineup of the Cleveland Indians since the departure of Tris Speaker, temporarily is holding major interest in the club's training affairs here.

Eddie Morgan, New Orleans college boy, at present is the favored candidate as a result of his showing in first real workout of the season but he faces stiff competition from George Gerken, back after a year with Milwaukee in the American Association, and Frank Wilson, a teammate of Gerken last year.

Cardinal Regulars Fail With Stick

AVON PARK, Fla. Mar. 6.—The old batting slump which gripped the St. Louis Cardinals last season showed its head again in a yanigan game here yesterday when the regulars went down by a 12 to 3 score.

It seemed an easy matter for the recruits to hold down the regular hitters. Frankie Frisch and Jim Bottomley the big guns of last season's Cardinal attack were quelled by the youngsters and the other regulars apparently weren't playing big league ball.

Phillies Ready To Meet Macks

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. Mar. 6.—The Phillies were pronounced ready today for their opening game with the Athletics tomorrow. In the camp duel yesterday the regulars tossed out the juveniles, 4 to 3, in six innings.

Thompson, Wrightstone, Kelley and Whitney led the regulars at bat with two hits each.

Tris Speaker Is Same Old Star

PORT MYERS, Fla. Mar. 6.—Tris Speaker, the Athletics' center fielder, is on his game. Getting into the first nine inning game yesterday between the regulars and yanigans, Tris helped the regulars to a 11 to 9 victory by crashing out four hits in four times up. He stole the only base of the game and dashed about the field pulling down flies from every angle.

Joe Hauser, first baseman, crashed out two triples.

Rain Gives Cubs Day Of Rest

AVALON, CALIFORNIA ISLAND, Cal. Mar. 6.—Rain yesterday gave the Chicago Cubs their first day of rest since the day three weeks ago when the batterymen and a handful of rookies reached the island.

Having had full practice games Saturday and Sunday, the players wanted to keep up. Manager Joe McCarthy has scheduled two nine inning games for Wednesday and Thursday in preparation for the Cubs' first meeting with league opposition Saturday and Sunday at Los Angeles.

Pirates Held In By Rainy Day

SOONERS' BEST

VICTOR HOLT

Playing with the undefeated University of Oklahoma basketball team, Victor Holt, six-footer center, is regarded as the outstanding cage star of that section this year. He led the conference in scoring points.

He confirmed their practice sessions to eight drills and Manager Bush decided to postpone the first intra-club game, scheduled for today, until later in the week.

Much attention is being paid Adam Comorosky, youthful outfielder, who alternated with Bartlett last year before the World Series. Comorosky has improved rapidly and is expected to provide some stiff opposition for the regular left field position.

Newcomers Please Manager Howley

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. Mar. 6.—A yanigan game has brought seven promising recruits who pleased Manager Dan Howley of the St. Louis Browns by their performance yesterday. They are Dick Coffman, Earl McNeely, Otis Brannon, Guy Sturdy, Ralph Kress, and Clyde Manion, who played with the regulars and Ed Strelak, the second hurler employed by the yanigans.

Moriarty Worried Over Pitchers

SAN ANTONIO, Mar. 6.—Manager Moriarty of the Detroit Tigers, who has decided to carry 10 pitchers this year, is confronted with a difficult task in making his selections.

There are 14 hurlers in camp. Seven of them, Whitehill, Gibson, Stoner, Holloway, Carroll, Billings and Smith are holdovers from last year's squad, and with Elam Vinzler, obtained recently from the St. Louis Browns, appear certain of berths. This leaves six men competing for the two additional places, all of whom are rated about equal. They are Charley Sullivan, Walter Newman, Jack Irwin and Vic Sorrell, right handers, and Arthur Teachout and Carl Hubbell, left handers. Gene Ford, a right hander, was released yesterday.

Red Sox Pleasing To Bill Carrigan

BRADENTON, Fla. Mar. 6.—The Red Sox regulars made a start yesterday that augured well for their initial big team tilt of the season off Wednesday when they take on the St. Louis Cardinals. They defeated the second team 7 to 0 in a way that pleased Manager Bill Carrigan. Outfield play was especially good. Ken Williams, Flagstead and Denny Williams dashed around in mid-season form.

SLATTERY AND HORNSBY HOPE BETTER TIMES

BOSTON BRAVES OUGHT TO DO BETTER, THE BOSSES BELIEVE

BY BRIAN HELL

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. Mar. 6.—With a new manager and a new captain the Boston Braves are starting out with high hopes of improving their seventh place position of last year in the National League. The Redskins are cheered, too, by the presence of a shortstop they did not have in the training camp last spring.

The addition of Rogers Hornsby at second base has encouraged Manager Jack Slattery, promoted from scout to manager, as he starts his first season as head of a major league club. With Eddie Farrell to work with the former Gotham Giant captain, Slattery thinks he will be able to show a tight defense at second and short.

Crops About Same

With these exceptions and a number of pitching recruits the crop of athletes is the same this year that it was last. Zach Taylor, returning to the Giants to attempt to catch a majority of the games about 125 if he escapes injury, and Eddie Moore, young in years but a veteran player, are definitely assigned to an outfield post after playing in and out of the infield.

Burrus will again play first and Andy High seems to have the call at third. Hornsby at second and Farrell at short are set. Jimmy Cooney and Walter Gautreau, baseball's smallest exhibit, will take care of the emergency assignments.

Moore, the handy man, Ed Brown, who plays day in and day out, and Lance Richbourg, the Florida Flash, may make up the outfield combination with Jack Smith subject to call. Another place will be reserved on the bench for either John McNamara or Earl Clark, the latter only 20 years of age and regarded as a definite corner, now or later.

The pitching candidates have shown enough to draw smiles from the dignified Slattery and reserved Hornsby. President Emil E. Fuchs, who smiles with less effort than his active aides on the field, fairly beams as he sees the pitchers display their wares.

The optimists will grow to a decided majority if Johnny Cooney's continued tests of his arm show that it is well again. Greenfield Genewich, Smith, Wertz and Robertson are assured of first line places. Hearn, Mills and Edwards have been Braves before and may be again. And Guy Morrison, student of books as well as baseball, who finished with the Braves after a season at Waterbury, has a chance to stick. Morrison left his studies at Columbia University to report.

One of the best prospects from the minors is Eddie Brandt, a big southpaw from Seattle. Only 23 years old but looming up an inch and a half over six feet and scaling 185 pounds, Brandt on his early season showing will be taking his turn on the mound from the outset. Arthur Delaney, another Pacific Coast recruit, has also made an impression as has Bill Dunlap, who threw them for Lynn last season. Dunlap is only 18 years of age and may be required to live and learn a while yet but he is sent to the minors, a rope rather than a string will be attached to draw him back.

The rugged Taylor will have two understudies but the nominations will not be made for a while. Luke Urban, former Boston College football star, advanced from Toledo to the Braves last season and will probably be one of the catchers. Either Baxter Williams, a big fellow from Asheville of the South Atlantic association, or Bill Cronin, who caught for Providence last season, will see lots of the Boston bullpen this summer.

DIFFICULT STRETCH FACES RUNNERS IN PYLE MARATHON TODAY; NEW YORK FINN CONTINUES TO SET HARD PACE

(By The Associated Press) BLOOMINGTON, Cal., Mar. 6.—One of the most difficult stretches of an arduous trail today confronted the 150-remaining entrants in the Los Angeles to New York marathon, two laps of which the athletes have put behind them, at the expense of muscle weary limbs and blistered feet.

Victorville, on the edge of the Mojave desert and just 44 miles from here is the next stop on the trail that supposedly leads to $48,000 in gold and fame.

The course led over Cajon pass, so steep that many automobiles barely make it in high gear. It is estimated that some 20 miles of the distance lies up-grade.

Many May Quit Many of the 150 contestants were expected to give up the ghost before Victorville was reached. The next two or three days progress—mostly through desert country—probably will leave only the hardiest of the entries in the race.

A sturdy finish runner, Willie Koehlmann, hailing from New York City, was confident that he could keep up his flying pace of the last two days to maintain his lead in the grind. When the wing footed Finn checked in at the control station here yesterday after the 34.7 mile dash from Puente, California, he was dripping wet, but he flashed a wide grin to show that he found that leg of the journey not very difficult.

The flying feet of the 135-pound Finn covered yesterday's stretch run in the rain in four hours, 12 minutes and 30 seconds, and brought him in more than a half hour ahead of his nearest rival, Eddie Gardner, Seattle negro, was second.

WESTERNERS WILL MEET RAIL'S CAGE QUINTET TONIGHT

The Westerners, champions of the Panhandle and South Plains interscholastic League sections, and the Ralls high school Jackrabbits, last year title holders, will meet in an exhibition tilt this evening at 8 o'clock on the Texas Tech gymnasium floor. The game will be the farewell performance for the local high school champions and promises to be a much more interesting game than the deciding game of the district meet, in which the Westerners scored, a 28 to 15 victory over the Rabbits.

The receipts of the gate will go towards defraying the expense of the Westerners to the annual Texas Interscholastic League meet, which will be held in Austin on Friday and Saturday of this week.

LUBBOCK'S ENTRY INTO CIRCUIT DEPENDS ON FANS' INTEREST

Within a few minutes of time at 7:30 o'clock this evening in the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce rooms local fans of baseball may assure Lubbock's entry in the West Texas Baseball League. Should the interest be sufficient, then the Lubbock franchise in the West Texas league will be secured, owned, operated and supported by local men.

The meeting has been called solely for the purpose of determining the expression of the local fans and not one thing will be mentioned about the financial part of the franchise. Many prominent business men of this city are expected to turn out for the meeting since it gives Lubbock a chance for some real summer amusement and, too, allows the Hub city to secure added publicity.

TAYLOR TO MEET FILIPINO BOXER AT LOS ANGELES

LOS ANGELES, Mar. 6.—Bud Taylor, blonde haired bantamweight ringster, will step into the ring here tonight with Ignacio Fernandez, Filipino, to settle a question that has been troubling his followers in this section—is the Terre Haute "terror" slipping?

Since Taylor was stopped by Joey Sangor recently in Chicago, the impression has been strengthened that he is not the demon ring man of a year or so ago. Taylor, who is recognized by the National Boxing association as the bantamweight champion, steps out of his class to take on the Filipino. The latter will have an advantage of several pounds in weight in the scheduled tenround go.

City Cage Crown At Stake Tonight

Following the exhibition game between the Ralls high school and Lubbock high school cagers the city league title game, between the Pedagogues of the high school and the Super-Main service basketballs, will be played. Neither the Service men nor the Teachers have been defeated this season and the game tonight will determine the city loop champions. The Anderson Brothers award, which is a large silver basketball, will be given to the winner of this game.

SPOODER BOSS THINKS YOUNGSTERS ARE TO BOLSTER CLUB

(By The Associated Press) WICHITA FALLS, Mar. 6.—A bright sun plus unusual ability on the part of a half dozen youngsters to Spudder training camp brought a broad smile today to the face of Skipper Carl Williams. Two days of makeshift training Sunday and Monday, one indoors and another on improvised field just outside Athletic park, have kept the athletes at work, but the sun presages a return to the park and real workout this afternoon.

Among the most promising of the recruits are two youngsters from the sunbats of California. Ray Fitzgerald, a left handed hitting-outfielder, has been murdering the ball and Roland Roberts, right handed pitcher, has looked good on the mound.

Wilhelm of Germany, when he fled to Amerongen, Holland, today pictured the former ruler as a kindly, gentle old man who bears no malice or resentment to the allies for his exile.

Count Johann, who arrived on the liner Dresden for a short visit in this country, said the former kaiser believes it was the fate of Germany to lose the war and asserted he has no ambitions to re-ascend the throne.

(By The Associated Press)
PEKING, Mar. 6.—Official and other dispatches from Swatow describe an intensification of communist terrorism in the country districts in northeastern Kwantung, causing the wholesale exodus of refugees toward Swatow and to the sea.

It is estimated that there are 30,000 refugees in Swatow. Streets are thronged with men, women and children facing misery, giving the city the appearance of the Black Sea cities to which the white Russians fled after the Bolshevik revolution. All steamers going to Indo-China and the Dutch Indies are said to be crowded with refugees.

Town Is Exterminated
The dispatches state that reliable information indicates that an entire town of several thousand inhabitants, mostly Roman Catholics, in the region of Hweilashien, south-east of Swatow, was exterminated by the communists, the alleged reason being because they were Christians.

The country districts near Swatow are believed to have been stricken the hardest, but other terrorism is reported from the southern and central provinces. The dispatches say that the authorities were helpless or unwilling to cope with the situation.

Thus far there has been no anti-foreign activity.

Troops Called To Protect Canton

CANTON, Mar. 6 (AP).—Acute communist activities have broken out in the East River district to the east of Canton and today the Reds were threatening to advance on Canton.

The Canton government recalled 25,000 troops from Kweilin, the old capital of Kwangsi province, where they had gone to protect that city from communists. These troops were rushed to the east to meet the Reds who boast that they will be in Canton again within a month.

The government forces outnumber the communists but the latter are well organized and their aims make government operations difficult.

These scattered campaigns have renewed uneasiness in Canton.

National officials of the league in attendance who have assailed Governors Smith, of New York, and Ritchie, of Maryland, had Senator Reed, of Missouri, for their reputed "wet" leanings and warned southern democrats not to sacrifice their moral convictions by voting for them if one is nominated, will be members of the committee as will various state superintendents of the league in attendance.

Whatever measures they endorse, it has been announced, probably will be at the closing session of the convention tomorrow night.

Mr. Clemens said he had never heard of Mrs. Flavilla Pinero of Couer D'Alene, Idaho, nor Thomas Sawyer, her brother, who died February 7 at Tucson.

"The only actual living character of the book is Mrs. Frazier, of Hannibal, Mo., which was the setting of the adventure stories and early home of the writer. Mrs. Frazier was the original 'Becky Thatcher'."

Costes And LeBrix Start To Cheyenne

CHICAGO, Mar. 6 (AP).—Distinguished Costes and LeBrix, French aerial globe trotters, hopped off from the municipal airport at 6:45 a. m. today for Cheyenne, Wyo.

The flyers have booked steamship passage for Tokyo, Japan, out of San Francisco March 18, and explained they must be on the coast by March 10 to dismantle and pack their plane, "The Nungesser-Collie," for the trip across the Pacific.

Capt. Costes, who is reported to be suffering an attack of appendicitis, slept under an ice pack last night, but reported that he was feeling better today and under no circumstances would he consent the postponement of the flight to Cheyenne.

C. L. Williams, manager of the Palace confectionery, who was burned when filling a cigar lighter late Sunday, was reported to be slightly improved today. He is suffering from burns on the back, right shoulder and arm and both hands received when the gasoline overturned and became ignited.

The quick action of a friend in the confectionery who threw a short fur lined coat about Williams saved him further injuries.

Bank Is Closed After Aged President Of INDIANA TOWN AGHAST AT NEW DISCLOSURES Institution Leaves To Make His 'Vacation'

(By The Associated Press)
SULLIVAN, Ind., Mar. 6.—While "Col. Jimmy" Lang, 73-year-old banker, was on his vacation for a month his friends in Sullivan hoped his trip might be enjoyable, but today, the bank closed by state examiners, they shook their heads, sadly puzzled.

A reward of $10,000 has been offered for Col. Jimmy's arrest. Police in Chicago have been asked to look for a white-haired, stoop-shouldered man about five feet, five inches tall, carrying a weather-beaten black bag.

Old-timers who knew Jimmy when he came here as a "fresh air kid" from New York could not believe the charges true.

"Geek" one man commented. "That couldn't have been Jimmy. Why, Jimmy himself was a fresh air kid. He couldn't have taken the money of poor people."

But the Citizens' Trust company doors have been closed. Bank officials, who grew up under Jimmy, reluctantly related that everything was not right. Mayor Richard L. Bailey, vice president of the bank and life-long friend of Jimmy's, said there was an estimated shortage of $250,000, with indications that Jimmy had about $75,000 of it.

The second team was baffled throughout by the pitching of Wilson and Cremins.

Bucky Harris Sees Another Pennant

TAMPA, Fla., Mar. 6 (AP).—Flashed over his pitching prospects Bucky Harris, manager of the Washington Senators, has visions of a pennant this year.

While not discounting the strength of the Yankees, he figures he has a fairly good ball club in training at Plant field here and says no charge of listlessness will be justified if Washington fails to win first place.

Bucky inaugurated the double shift training schedule yesterday, sending half the squad to practice in the morning and the other half in the afternoon.

Braves Play Well On Defensive

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Mar. 6 (AP).—Tight all around defensive work combined with good pitching kept the interteam play of the Braves to a six inning scoreless tie yesterday. The only hit of the encounter was a single by Eddie Moore in the fourth inning off Hal Goldsmith. The hurling staff was allowed to curve its deliveries for the first time this season.

George Kelly Is In Fine Form

ORLANDO, Fla., Mar. 6 (AP).—George Kelly was reported at the Cincinnati Reds training camp in top condition and expects to have first call this season at first base. Last season Kelly had a long stage of illness and did not show to good advantage.

Pitcher Carl Mays has been given a contract, which he is expected to sign.

Mel Ott Looking Good At Second

AUGUSTA, Ga., Mar. 6 (AP).—Snappy play by Mel Ott at second base gives promise of a great struggle between the 19 year old infielder and Andy Cohen for the task of filling the Giants' gap made by Hornsby's departure to the Braves. Ott impressed McGraw in yesterday's workout by snaring some hard rollers and starting a fast double play.

In a seven inning fracas between makeshift teams, George Harper cracked out a home run. Lefty O'Doul, Pacific Coast league star, connected with a pair of singles and a long drive which turned into a foul instead of a homer.

Yankee Infield Is Back On The Job

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Mar. 6.—With Jumping Joe Dugan on third, Koenig at short, Lazzeri on second and Gehrig on first, the infield gang of the Yankees is now complete. Dugan spiked the talk about his trick knee saying he forgot it after an operation more than a year ago.

"Not a thing the matter with me," he said. "That trick knee stuff is the bunk. I'm only 30 years old and ready to go."

Rookie Swatters Please Robby

CLEARWATER, Fla., Mar. 6 (AP).—Manager Robinson's ventures into the minors for slugging talent are bringing the desired result in the training of the Robins here. Al Tyson, who batted 377 with Buffalo, cracked out several drives good for base hits in practice yesterday. He is expected to land a berth in the outfield with Carey and Stutz. The last named is on his way to camp from California.

Del Bissonette, another product of Buffalo, along with Harry Fricke, a 333 hitting third baseman with Milwaukee last year, and Max West, former Waco performer, show hitting ability.

DAILY MARKETS

Cotton Markets

NEW ORLEANS FUTURES
NEW ORLEANS, Mar. 6 (AP).—Cotton futures opened steady; Mar. 1921 bid; May 18.17; July 16.00; Oct. 17.73; Dec. 17.74 bid.

NEW YORK COTTON
NEW YORK, Mar. 6 (AP).—The cotton market opened steady at an advance of 2 points to a decline of 3 points and eased off in early trading under liquidation, with some local selling inspired by relatively easy Liverpool cables.

Trading was very quiet on the early decline which extended to 12.47 for May and 17.99 for October, or about 7 to 11 points below yesterday's closing quotations.

About 30 March notices were reported in circulation during the early trading, which apparently caused some near month liquidation. The decline extended to 12.47 for May while October sold off to 17.99 or 7 to 13 points net lower. Offerings were light, however, and the market steadied on covering. May selling up to about yesterday's closing quotations while later deliveries were 2 to 4 points net higher at midday. March was relatively quiet and easy but rallied 2 or 3 points from the lowest.

LIVERPOOL SPOTS

LIVERPOOL, Mar. 6 (AP).—Cotton spot steady; American strict middling 11.00; good middling 10.70; strict middling 10.55; middling 10.45; strict low middling 10.35; low middling 10.30; strict good ordinary 10.65; good ordinary 9.75; sales 8,000 bales; 5,500 American. Receipts 2,000; America 16,700; futures closed quiet. March (1929) closed 9.42.

NEW YORK FUTURES
NEW YORK, Mar. 6 (AP).—Cotton futures opened steady; March 12.42; May 12.38; July 12.40; Oct. 12.08; Dec. 12.03.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Mar. 6 (AP).—Cotton prices were somewhat erratic in early trading today and following a recovery from an opening decline eased off again to levels 11 to 12 points under the previous close.

First traders showed losses of 6 to 8 points in sympathy with lower Liverpool cables. This loss was promptly recovered, however, on shorts covering, induced by fears of a bullish consumption total. Later the market turned easy again on the unfavorable outlook in Lancashire as the result of the failure of the labor conferences there. May traded off to 18.12 and July 17.96, 11 to 12 points net down.

Toward the end of the first hour the market was a shade steadier. Continued unsettled weather in the belt and expectations of bullish textile statistics held the market steady for the remainder of the morning. Prices gradually worked upward until near noon May traded at 18.27, July 18.12 and October 17.82, 15 points above the low and 3 to 10 points over the previous close.

The undertone at noon was fairly bullish.

MARYE and MOM
Their Letters

BY RUTH DEWEY GROVES

Marye Dear:
If you were a little girl at home I'd paddle you good for your behavior. As it is I hope you will pay attention to what I have to say to you. I'm not going to scold you because I want you always to tell me your experiences and I'm afraid you wouldn't do that if I censured you. But I must warn you against deceiving Alan even in little things. Marye. Breaking a promise isn't a little thing; though, and I'm sorry you treat it so lightly.

Suppose he learns that you permitted someone to drive you at eight miles and hour after you had promised him you wouldn't speed? He won't have any peace of mind when you're out of his sight. You're perfectly willing to give up security for thrills. I know, but there isn't much consideration for those who love you in the recklessness of you young people. I almost feel like writing Alan not to let you have a car but I guess you would manage to talk him into it anyway. And you might think I'm trying to meddle. Parents often have a hard decision to make in regard to their married children. Marye. Our advice to you is sometimes construed as interference but I must risk it now to warn you against the dangers of

Flashes Of Life
(By The Associated Press)

Jimmy Confesses

NEW YORK—Mayor Walker knows of no coward in the world quite as great as he is when his eyes are closed in the dark. He told blind newspapermen so in expressing admiration for them. "I once tried to smoke a cigarette in a dark room with my eyes closed and I made a failure of it," he said. "I actually cringe at closing my eyes in the dark and thinking about it."

Passes The Test

ANNAPOLIS, Md.—Hecatom is its own reward. For three years Midshipman Oscar L. Otterson, of Butler, Pa., failed to pass the Naval academy's life-saving test. But now he has done so with a perfect mark. G. R. Williams, Georgetown student, weight 200 plus, fell into the Severn river. Otterson, weight 115, saved him from drowning.

More Trouble

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J.—Resigned to automobile rides Mabel S. Douglass, dean of the New Jersey College for Women, fears she will be quite powerless soon to stop her girls from skylarking in planes on moonlight nights. A campaign against cars was abandoned when the college authorities decided that the automobile is simply a part of the present generation and must be tolerated.

A New Stunt

NEW YORK—To be in style send flowers to seagull friends by plane. Seven packages of roses were dropped on the steamship President Harding from the air. Two of them hit the deck; the fishes got the rest. They were from Chauncey D. Stillman and Bayard Schiffelin, respectively for Miss Elizabeth C. Stillman and Miss Barbara Schiffelin.

SOUTH RIVER, N. J. The record of a town is tarnished. South River was mentioned by Norris of Nebraska in the Senate as a perfect example of municipal ownership, with all expenses paid from profits of a lighting plant. But Mayor Allgaier says there must be a local tax of 20 cents per $100 this year because of $150,000 street paving bonds. South River, population 10,000, has an assessed valuation of $4,500,000. There have been no local taxes for three years.

MARRS APPROVES
TEXANS STUDYING
SCHOOL SYSTEMS

AUSTIN, Mar. 6 (AP)—City school systems of Texas owe their advanced stages of development largely to the fact that the superintendents are able to attend the conventions of the National Education association and its branches, according to State School Superintendent S. M. Marrs.

He and Assistant Superintendent L. W. Rogers had just returned from the convention of the department of superintendents of the association, at Boston, which was attended by 150 Texas school officials. Marrs said he hopes to see provision made soon for county superintendents to travel and study rural school administration methods and problems in other states. The city superintendents pick up valuable ideas at the conventions and put them in practice in Texas, he said, with the result that this state's city school systems rank among the best.

League Discussion Becomes Boisterous

GENEVA, March 6 (AP)—A lively discussion on the non-ratification of conventions, particularly the Geneva opium convention of 1925 took place at the meeting of the council of the League of Nations today.

Sir Austen Chamberlain, British foreign minister, pointed out that ratification by seven members of the council was necessary to bring the opium convention into force. Representatives of Rumania, Holland, Canada and Japan explained the delay of their countries and announced that ratification by these countries would take place shortly.

The whole question of ratification was placed on the agenda of the next session.

A report presented by Carlos Cespedes, Cuban representative, approving plans for the new league secretariat and assembly hall, subject to certain modifications, was adopted by the council. The buildings will cost $4,000,000 apart from the library presented by John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

THE JAZZ SINGER

SYNOPSIS

Cantor Rabinowitz, who has trained his son, Jakie, to be a cantor, finds the boy singing rag-time in a beer garden. He whips the child and Jakie runs away. Ten years elapse. Jakie, now Jack Hobin, obtains a part in a New York musical show through Mary Dale, a dancer. He returns home, but when his father learns he is a jazz singer he drives him out. At dress rehearsal Dillings, the backer of the show, withdraws his money because of his jealousy of Mary's love for Jack. Yudelison, the cantor's friend, arrives at the theater with a message from Jack's mother.

"Oh, I see," Jack looked at Mary and laughed. "That's all right, Yudelison. This is Miss Mary Dale. Mr. Yudelison, he introduced the two. 'Miss Dale is the leading lady in this show.'"

"How do you do, Mr. Yudelison," Mary shook hands with the jeweler. "It's a pleasure I should meet you," Yudelison clapped Mary's hand gravely, and looked aside at Jack. So this was the girl who ever since Jakie had written. This was the one who had got him his job on the stage. But this was no Jenny Levi—this was a real "shiksa." He looked around him a little overcome. Chorus girls peered at him from the wings, he stared, fascinated at all these strange sights—so fascinated that he was almost forgetting his message.

"Mr. Yudelison is an old friend of my family," Jack was explaining to Mary. "He's known me ever since I was a child. He's a great friend of my father's."

"Sure, sure," Yudelison nodded, catching the tail end of Jack's remarks. "Cantor Rabinowitz and me are such friends like we was born together."

At the words "Cantor Rabinowitz" Mary gave a little start of surprise. So—that explained a great deal. Now she understood what Jack meant when he spoke of his family's aversion to the stage. He was the son of a cantor. Jack looked at Mary confused. At first he didn't know quite what to say. He didn't know what Mary's reactions would be to this sudden acquisition of knowledge concerning his parentage. But his hesitation was only momentary. He drew himself up proudly.

"Yes," he said simply, "my father is the finest cantor on the East Side. There, it was out at last. Jack relieved. It was like getting rid of a long-aching tooth. Mary had always taken him for what he was—without question or query. He was a good actor with a fine voice, and she was in love with him—that was all that was necessary. Jack had always sensed this attitude in Mary, and what he had told her of his past had come from him voluntarily. But having been raised in a good Hebrew family, he knew the storms that arose over the marriage of Jew with Gentile. He knew the prejudices, the dogmatism of both races.

Furthermore he could realize, having learned much from his ten years of experience out in the world, that a girl raised as Mary obviously had been, might easily make social distinctions which would be detrimental to his cause. His father was a Jew and a cantor, a learned man and as such respected and held in high esteem by the people of his race and his section of the city. But Jack had long ago found that very often an inability to speak the English language correctly meant more to some people than any amount of learning. His mother would probably not agree with him because she was a Gentile and of society and the theatre, any more than Mary's mother would approve of him because he was a Jew and of the Ghetto.

"Did you never hear of Cantor Rabinowitz of the Orchard Street Synagogue?" Yudelison he could hear Yudelison's voice fraught with surprise at the very fact that anyone should never have heard of such a famous personage. "He is a great Cantor," Yudelison was expounding on the virtues of his friends. "The best by any synagogue. He sings just like he was talking to God. And the 'Kol Nidre'—you should hear him sing. Oh, a voice he has got."

"I should like to hear him sing very much, Mr. Yudelison," Mary said. "I'll come down to the synagogue some time if I may. But I know you want to talk to Jack, so I'll run along. I'm so glad to have met you," she smiled and stretched out her hand to Yudelison.

"By me it's all right, too," Yudelison seized her slender fingers and shook them heartily. As Mary moved away Jack took Yudelison by the arm and piloted him around and across the stage behind the backdrop.

"There's a little more room over here," Jack explained. "The girls exit on that side after this number. But how in the world did you ever happen to come up here?" he continued after they had reached a more quiet spot.

"Well, Jakie, I come up to tell you tomorrow is the Day of Atonement—Yom Kippur—and we want you should sing Kol Nidre by the temple tonight."

"Sing? In the synagogue—tonight? But don't you know, Yudelison—why isn't my father singing tonight?" Jack's heart jumped. At first he been thinking only of the absurdity of his singing in the synagogue when his show was opening that same night. Then he suddenly realized that something must be wrong, otherwise Yudelison wouldn't have come for him. "What's the matter with my father?" he repeated.

"Bo! Is what I come to tell you, Jakie. Your papa is sick. He can't sing."

"Say, how long has he been sick? What's the matter with him? Has he got a good doctor?" Jack questioned with a worried expression. "Sure, the best doctor in New York—Dr. O'Shaughnessy from the Rockefeller Institute. But he ain't no better. He has been sick since the day you was there," Yudelison told him. "And now tonight starts the Day of Atonement and this is the first time in your papa's life what he wouldn't be able to sing in the synagogue on Yom Kippur. So we had a meeting from the committee who should sing in his place. So I ask your mama, and she thought it would please your papa if you sing tonight."

"But my God, Yudelison, he threw me out of the house only two weeks ago," Jack bitterly reviewed that scene in his mind.

"Oh, Jakie, don't be foolish. How much time would you throw out—one time?" Yudelison argued. "A son could be threw out twenty times by the papa, and yet a son is a son. And it would make such a surprise for your papa if you sing tonight."

"Yudelison, I'm sorry, but I can't do it." "Ach, now Jakie such a time I had with the committee—you know how it is a committee—they wanted him. I'm the chairman and they all owe me money, so they voted it was the way your mama and me wanted. I told them 'Jakie, when he was a little boy and he sang in the choir, his papa learned him all the words of all the prayers, and what a little boy learns he never forgets.' And even if maybe a few words you should forget you can look in the prayer book. See, I go confidence in you, Jakie, and so has your mama."

"But don't you understand, Yudelison? Our show opens tonight. It's the chance I've dreamed of for years."

"Sure, but Jakie, ain't I telling you your papa is sick, and you are his son. He learned you should be a cantor, and now you should come back to the synagogue." To Yudelison there was only one answer to his plea. Nothing should stand between a son and his filial duty. Thousands of years of beliefs were in his attitude—beliefs which from time immemorial have held the desert tribes together and furthered their existence. And the belief was inherent in Jakie, save that he armed himself against it with the armor of his ten years' training in the theatre.

"Yudelison, the show business is different from every other kind of business," he tried to explain his attitude. "Even if there is a death in the family an actor plays his part—the show goes on. No one out front knows what's happening back here. The actor mustn't allow anyone to know it's just like religion—like soldiers trained in an army."

LITTLE THEATRE SCORES AGAIN WITH PRESENTATION OF TRAGEDY; CROWD IS ON HAND FOR "BEYOND THE HORIZON"

Shadowed by a tragic theme but presented in an excellent class of amateur drama portrayal, members of the Lubbock Little theatre scored another remarkable success last night with the production of Eugene O'Neill's "Beyond the Horizon" in the high school auditorium.

Carrying a gruesome allotment of realism in their parts, ten players did justice to the direction of Mr. E. E. White and won much approval from a packed house. The difficulty of the production was apparently overcome with ease by the players and the plot, unusually thespian in nature, seemed to have been well received by the audience.

Consumption of too much time during the production was the only detracting feature of evening.

Unhappiness was paramount throughout, from the first unfortunate love scene in which Ruth Mayo pleaded her love to Robert Mayo, the man she never loved, to the last tragic act in which Robert died and Andrew, a brother, the man whom Ruth really loved, cursed her for the workings of fate, the tragedy was inevitable.

Admiration from the audience went, not to the characters, each cast in a miserable role, but to the splendid nature in which the abhorrent roles were portrayed.

Leading the grim parade and seemingly in better accord with the stark realism of O'Neill was Horace Grady Moore, cast as Robert Mayo, the dreamer who looked constantly beyond the horizon for happiness which he never found, which brought failure in everything. Playing as Ruth Mayo, his wife, Mary Scott, was equally as strong in her role, a symbolical of hopelessness in her drab farm life. Their daughter, Mary, played with unusual understanding for a young actor, by little Mollie Davis, was the only ray of happiness in their lives, her death crushing Mary's only hope of his dreams.

Death stalks play

Buckin predominated and no character was cast in a happy role. Stung by Ruth's profession of love for his brother, Andrew Mayo, played by John Burroughs, seemed to find forgetfulness and success beyond the horizon only to discover it was short lived when death stalked in his farm home, taking first his father, James Mayo, then his mother, Katie Mayo, and finally his brother, Burroughs carried the part seemingly in sympathy with mood of the young man whose act he lived.

W. W. Campbell and Mrs. W. C. Rylander, playing the parts of James and Katie Mayo, parents of the boys, although an unpleasant part, drew for that reason more credit for their work.

To Mrs. Fred Stubbs fell the lot of carrying the least loved role in the entire play, that of the mother of Ruth, a nagging invalid whose every word carried a sting and whose faith was always pinned on the works of God. Her work was excellent.

Constantly using nautical terms and philosophies, Harold Gordon, as Captain Dick, a seaman, carried perhaps the lightest part in the play. Grim tragedy, wrecking other lives, seemed to influence him also.

John T. Fulcher and Sam J. McFarland, in lesser parts, of a farm hand and a doctor, were all that could be asked.

Between the acts of the evening Miss Dorothy McDonald, accompanied by Prof. W. R. Waggoner, gave a number of violin selections.

Lighting effects played an important part in the success of the production as well as the scenery. Copass Bowen had charge of this.

MARINES ADD TO OUTPOSTS

YANKS, DETERMINED TO HALT NICARAGUANS, BOLSTER SUPPLY

(By Associated Press)

MANAGUA, Nic., Mar. 6.—American marines, determined that rebel activities shall not interrupt the steady flow of munitions and provisions to marine outposts in northern Nicaragua, have enlarged their service of supply.

From Leon, which is connected by railway with Managua and the Port of Corinto, communication by automobile truck was extended to Occotal, northernmost base of the marines. Heretofore Occotal could only be reached by ox carts and pack trains, both slow and hazardous methods of communication because of the possibility of their being ambushed in the jungle country, and by airplane.

A report was current in the capital that marines had again come into contact with followers of the rebel general, Augustino Sandino. No information, however, reached

Holding their regular monthly meeting, members of the Lubbock County Farm Bureau association will gather at the Tech gymnasium Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock for an educational program, featuring a visit through the textile mill of the college where first-hand information regarding the disposition of their product is to be gained.

Included in the program in the gym will be a talk by Dean A. H. Leidigh, of the school of agriculture, who will present the cotton outlook while, L. D. Howell, who has been doing research work in marketing, will discuss phases of the cotton market. Douglas Pounds, president, will open the meeting and Mrs. A. R. Pendley is to be the chairman of the program.

Following the program in the gym, E. W. Camp, head of the textile department, will conduct the group in a tour of the mill, explaining and demonstrating the process of making cotton into cloth. Visitors are to be present from Hockley, Lamb, Hale, Crosby, and Garza counties.

Cultivation Work In Castro County

Carrying out the program of putting more soil on the South Plains under the plow, thousands of acres of barren pasture land are now being broken for cultivation during the coming season.

It is estimated that at least 27,000 acres additional land will be used for agriculture this year in the northern part of Lamb and the southern part of Castro counties. More than 100 tractors in addition to a dozen or so of teams are reported to be busy in that section breaking the ground. As many as 20 tractors can be seen at work from any one point, it is said. Not only is the work being carried on during the day but the tractors, many of them, are being operated during the night also.

Lucky For Him

NEW YORK—Charles Cook Paulding, 58, vice-president of the New York Central, who would rather die than be without his right arm, apparently is to live and have it. He is out of a hospital where he refused to permit amputation because of a gangrenous condition.

WEST TEXAS OIL FIELDS DROP TO LOWER POSITION

TULSA, Mar. 6 (AP)—Although Seminole field production suffered another slight slump during the week ending March 3, it regained the lead for all fields as the West Texas fields, which led the previous week, suffered an even greater slump. The Oil and Gas Journal will say today.

Seminole's estimated average daily production for the week was 305,380 barrels against 306,910 barrels for the week ending February 25. The West Texas fields, on the other hand, slumped from 310,669 barrels two weeks ago to 293,880 barrels last week. This slump was reflected in the total for the United States, which showed a decrease of 17,176 barrels for the week.

Practically all Oklahoma fields held steady for the week, although some suffered small losses. North Central Texas, Kansas, and the Gulf Coast fields had small gains.

Oregon Cannot Go To Waco Cotton Fair

MEXICO CITY, Mar. 6 (AP)—General Obregon, asked yesterday if he would accept an invitation to attend the Waco, Texas, Cotton Palace, said he greatly appreciated the honor but that it was impossible for him to say at present whether he can accept because his future program depends upon political developments in Mexico.

DON'T STAY FAT IN THESE DAYS

You see countless people who have gained new beauty, new health and vim, by fighting excess fat. Some have done this by abnormal exercise and diet, some in a modern, scientific way. Why not follow their example?

There is a way based on scientific research. It combats a cause of excess fat which starvation cannot fight. That method is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets, now used for 20 years. Millions of boxes of them. The results you see wherever you look should induce you to accept them.

Each box of Marmola contains the formula, also the reasons for results. So there is no secret, no reason to fear harm. You will know that all the good results come in a natural way. Go learn them now, by asking your druggist for a $1 box of Marmola.
