Putting the oil industry in the limelight at the Snyder Chamber of Commerce banquet Feb. 18 will make it seem like old times to some local residents. There was a time, several years ago, when the word Snyder was almost synonymous with oil, and all of the visitors who came to Chamber of Commerce banquets and other functions knew full well that they were coming to an "oil town."

As the years went on, the oil industry did not exactly diminish here, but the industrial picture became more diversified and community celebrations became more general in nature.

Scurry County, of course, still is one of the top oil producing counties in the state and even the nation, and the appearance of R. J. Becker, President of Chevron Oil Co., as the banquet speaker, offers an appropriate event to turn the spotlight back on petroleum.

The death of Frank Kimbrough at Canyon the other day undoubtedly stirred some memories for many Snyder area residents. I know that such local personalities as John Boren and Leon Autry knew him very well indeed, as did this writer, in an earlier era. As one associated with athletics, football in particular, his approach would have made the late Vince Lombardi smile, I am sure.

He is probably best remembered now as coach and later athletic director at West Texas State University where he had served for some 24 years. But he made a mark for himself before that. He had two unbeaten football teams in a six-year tenure at Hardin-Simmons, and later one of his teams figured in one of the biggest upsets in Southwest Conference history.

His 1941 team at Baylor fought Dana Bible's Texas Longhorns to a 7-7 tie for the first blemish on the record of a great Texas team. Baylor had just lost four in a row, including a 48-0 pasting by the Aggies, while Texas had not scored less than 34 points in any previous game and had not had more than 14 points scored against it. Still in shock the next week, Texas lost to TCU, 14-7, but came back to down the Aggies, 23-0, and then mauled poor Oregon, 71-7.

Some observers felt that the lopsided victory over Oregon kept Texas out of the Rose Bowl because it had humiliated a West Coast team.

Anyway, Frank Kimbrough contributed much to college football history, especially in the Southwest, and there are a lot of his former pupils still in the business. One of them is employed down at Brownwood nowadays.

AT CHAMBER BANQUET

Tribute Going To Oil Industry

"Oil Appreciation Week" has been proclaimed here for Feb. 14-20, and the observance will be climaxed by the annual banquet of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce on Feb. 18.

Citing the importance of the oil industry to the Snyder area's economy and its growth and development, Mayor Bobby McCormick officially proclaimed the special week in brief ceremonies at the city hall.

Appropriately, the guest speaker for the banquet will be R. J. Becker of Denver, Colo., President of Chevron Oil Co. Chevron operates extensive producing properties in this area, including the big SACROC repressuring unit.

Officials and other respresentatives of all companies who have been associated with the development of the oil industry in Snyder will be invited to attend the banquet, and plans are being made to recognize each delegation.

In addition to Becker's address, the banquet program will feature Miss Texas, Billenda Myrick. Miss Myrick, a student at Texas Christian University, is an accomplished singer and will present the special entertainment at the banquet.

Tickets for the banquet are priced at $3.50 each and they are now on sale at the Chamber of Commerce office at the city hall. Ernest Sears and Jimmy McFarland are co-chairmen of the ticket sales committee, while the banquet arrangements committee is headed by E. W. Schrader and C. T. McLaughlin. Also working with the committees planning the banquet are Max von Roeder, the 1970 Chamber president, and Mel Gilbert, the 1971 Chamber president.

Riots Erupt In North Ireland

By COLIN FROST
Associated Iress Writer

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Religious rioting threatened to erupt into civil war in Northern Ireland today after a British soldier and two Irishmen were killed in a shootout between British troops and members of the outlawed Irish Republican Army. Another civilian blew himself up when a bomb he was about to throw exploded.

The three hours of fighting began in Belfast's Roman Catholic district shortly after midnight and was one of the worst outbreaks in two years of strife between the Catholic minority and Protestants in the British province. The IRA is trying to drive the British from the six northern counties and bring them under the predominantly Catholic Irish Republic.

Six civilians were wounded when a bomb went off in the Stankill Road area, a Protestant district, and terrorists blew up a major water main in Belfast's suburbs.

Police said 37 persons were arrested, 11 juveniles.

The latest trouble started four nights earlier when British soldiers searched for hidden arms in Catholic districts. Increasingly bitter clashes between civilians and soldiers have occurred each night since.

Thousands of troops remained on alert in the province at dawn. The troops appeared shocked by the death of their first comrade killed in action since the army came to Belfast to put down rioting in August 1969.

The soldier was on a foot patrol that came under machine-gun fire in the Ardoyne district. Four other soldiers were wounded, two seriously. British officers said both the civilians who were shot dead were snipers picked off by British marksmen.

A witness described a street in Ardoyne as "like a valley of lead—bullets were dipping and spraying from one side to the other."

Fighting Heavy In Cambodia

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese gunners opened up today on allied forces maneuvering in the northwest corner of South Vietnam near Laos.

A U.S. spokesman said an American soldier was killed and three others were wounded when an undetermined number of artillery shells hit the Rock Pile, an outpost nine miles northeast of Khe Sanh, an abandoned base now rapidly being rebuilt. It was the first U.S. combat death in the week-old operation.

Mortar shells rained down on three South Vietnamese outposts or bases in the operation area, and eneny shellings increased at other points.

Far to the south, South Vietnamese forces sweeping through eastern Cambodia encountered a battle-tested North Vietnamese unit and reported 91 enemy killed in one of the biggest battles since the allies crossed the Cambodian border last May.

South Vietnamese headquarters said one prisoner and 27 weapons were captured, and 10 South Vietnamese troops were killed and 37 wounded.

The fight was triggered early today when North Vietnamese troops from the 9th Division used mortars and ground troops against the command post of a South Vietnamese task force near the Chup Rubber Plantation east of Kompong Cham.

Behind allied air and artillery support, the South Vietnamese tanks, armored personnel carriers and 400 rangers repulsed the attackers before dawn, the command said.

A Saigon spokesman said the prisoner identified the enemy force as part of the 272nd Regiment of the 9th, a veteran of combat against Americans in South Vietnam. The 9th Division entered Cambodia last May after the allied incursion and is now near the rubber plantation about 25 miles from South Vietnam's border and 110 miles northwest of Saigon.

Twenty-thousand South Vietnamese began a campaign this week against North Vietnamese base areas and sanctuaries in eastern Cambodia to pre-empt any dry-season offensive planned by the Communist command. The move also is to protect Saigon during withdrawal of 20,000 U.S. troops from the capital area during the next three months.

There have been indications that the North Vietnamese 9th and 7th divisions have been trying to re-establish sanctuaries in Cambodia.

North Vietnamese gunners sent 70 mortar shells into the South Vietnamese ranger and armored cavalry positions, Friday, but headquarters said South Vietnamese casualties were light.

A companion sweep of northern South Vietnam near Laos by 29,000 U.S. and South Vietnamese troops was stalled for a second day today by rain and turbulent winds, but U.S. commanders said little indication of recent North Vietnamese activity has been found.

Their assessment and a statement by the U.S. Command that the drive was to counter an enemy buildup threatening northwestern South Vietnam underscored doubts by observers as to the true objective.

MISS TEXAS TO APPEAR — Bellinda Myrick, Miss Texas of 1970, will be the featured entertainer at the Snyder Chamber of Commerce banquet set for Feb. 18. Miss Myrick became Miss Texas after Phyllis George was named Miss America. She is a graduate of Odessa High School, attending Odessa Junior College and the University of Texas at Austin, and is now enrolled at Texas Christian University.

Israel Urged To Reopen Canal

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Middle East cease-fire entered its second extension today as pressure increased on Israel to comply with an Egyptian proposal for a partial pullback of Israeli troops from the Suez Canal.

There was concern at the United Nations in New York that a refusal by Premier Golda Meir's government would deadlock indirect peace negotiations being conducted by mediator Gunnar V. Jarring.

Diplomatic sources said France and the Soviet Union were pressing hard for acceptance. The withdrawal was a condition set Thursday by President Anwar Sadat of Egypt to reopening the Suez, closed since the 1967 war when Israel occupied the Sinai Desert to the canal's banks.

Mrs. Meir did not reject the plan in a taped American television interview Friday, but she said she didn't know "why Sadat thinks that the opening of the canal is something he is giving to us."

Israel would like the waterway reopened with "only one little condition," she said: "If the canal is opened, it should be opened also to Israeli shipping."

In his speech announcing Egypt's agreement to a one-month truce extension, Sadat made no specific reference to use of the canal by Israeli ships. But since it has controlled the waterway, Egypt never has permitted Israeli craft to use it.

The position of Egypt after the 1967 war with Israel was that the canal would not be reopened until all Israeli troops were withdrawn from the entire Sinai.

The 100-mile-long strip of water linking the Red Sea to the Mediterranean is blocked by ships sunk during the six-day war. Experts estimated today it could be opened to navigation in less than six months.

Cold Air Hits State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A new cold air mass poured across the Texas Panhandle today as cloudiness developed in southern and coastal regions.

Skies were mostly clear elsewhere.

Forecasters said low clouds would form ahead of the cold front as it pushed downstate toward the Gulf of Mexico.

Temperatures near dawn varied from the teens in the Panhandle to the upper 60s in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Scattered snow is expected Sunday in Northwest Texas. Generally clear to partly cloudy weather was predicted elsewhere in the state.

Astronauts End Long Moonwalk

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 14's explorers completed man's longest moon walk today but a gasping struggle to climb a steep slope halted them short of a prime goal, the rim of a crater named Cone.

Alan B. Shepard Jr. and Edgar D. Mitchell returned to the lunar lander Antares after 4½ hours on the moon and prepared themselves and the ship to start the return voyage to earth.

The second walk lasted as long as the first one had on Friday.

Despite their disappointment in not reaching Cone Crater as part of their geological field trip they did gather ancient rocks, dig trenches and sink core tubes four feet into the soil.

More than anything else, however, they wanted to reach the rim of Cone. They had bet many of their fellow astronauts on earth that they could do it.

But as they climbed higher and higher on the long boulder's strewn slope they became more and more exhausted. They breathed heavily and their heart beats nearly doubled.

Mission Control advised them to stop about two-thirds of the way up the 400-foot-high moon mountain.

"That's the order of the day," Shepard lamented.

"It's farther than it looks," said a disappointed Mitchell.

So they came back down the slope and continued their scientific expedition and by the time they were back at Antares, they were in a jovial mood.

Once back inside the LM, Shepard and Mitchell reported they collected 108 pounds of rocks. There is a scale on the lander's exterior. That's almost as much of the combined total of the Apollo 11 and 12 astronauts; 122.5 pounds.

Scientists at the Space Center were pleased with the day's expedition.

"I would say results of the geology traverse were excellent," said Dr. Robin Brett, chief of the center's geochemistry branch.

"They seemed to have covered the traverse well ... and they saw a variety of material and terrain."

Brett said of the failure to reach Cone Crater's rim, "Obviously we're disappointed. If it wasn't important we wouldn't have sent them there."

He added that the astronauts' reports of the rocks they did bring back sounded interesting although it was impossible now to tell whether any of the samples date back to the moon's origin.

Shepard said many of the rocks were "very fine grained crystalline, very smooth on the outside.

"Ed got a small piece of white rock and we brought back one typical of other reddish brown rocks," he added. "The smaller boulders closer to the ground were covered with dust. Those sampled near Cone Crater had no appreciable dust."

Chavez Chats With Governor

AUSTIN (AP) — Cesar Chavez, Mexican-American farm labor leader, talked with Gov. Preston Smith for 25 minutes Saturday. Chavez later said Chicanos are "much more advanced" politically in Texas than in other Southwestern states.

The Californian was here to speak to strikers at the Economy Furniture Co. and walk their picket lines with them.

Chavez said he and Smith, meeting privately in the governor's office, "talked a little bit about the Chicanos' problems, about poor peoples' problems...We tried in the short time available to convey to him the problems and aspirations of the Chicano community and the needs they have."

Father needs to practice fatherhood

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: Is it possible for a man to be the father of four wonderful children and not have one ounce of paternal instinct? I think that's the case with my husband. He has four children any father would be proud to claim, yet if I ever heard him give any one of them a compliment I think I would die of the shock. The only time the children have known for sure that they had a father is when they did something he didn't like, and then he'd hit them.

Don't suggest professional help. My husband knows more than the experts. Maybe if you print this letter he will see it and realize it's meant for him. LONG SUFFERING WIFE

DEAR WIFE: I doubt if anyone as insensitive as your husband would get the message. I hope it's not too late for him to thaw out a bit and show some signs of affectionate fatherhood. The father who functions only as a prosecutor and disciplinarian had better prepare for a lonesome old age.

DEAR ABBY: I have had this problem for five years but I never wanted to admit it to myself. Well, today I finally did.

Everytime I get mad at myself I take it out on my hair. What I mean, exactly, is that I cut it. I know that I look much better with long hair, but I keep cutting it anyway and then I am sorry afterwards.

I don't do anything else to myself along the line of destroying my looks, but this is bad enough because I know my hair is my best feature—when it's long. It's an unusually pretty color, naturally curly, and it's very shiny, so why do I do this to myself?

Please tell me what I can do to stop cutting my hair all the time? One of my friends suggested I see a psychiatrist, but he would have to cure me in one hour at the rates psychiatrists charge. What do you think?

SCISSORS IN MY HAIR

DEAR SCISSORS: You've practically answered your own question. Cutting your hair is your way of "punishing" yourself. A psychiatrist could probably tell you more specifically why you feel the need to be punished, and thereby put an end to it. Inquire about the Mental Health Clinics in your area. It's well worth the try.

DEAR ABBY: I am a young adult. Last night when I was driving a friend home, I struck a dog in the street. I wasn't going fast, Abby, and I honestly did not see the dog until after I had hit him. I immediately stopped and looked at the poor dog, but I couldn't tell if it was dead or just unconscious so I ran quickly to the nearest telephone and called the Humane Society. They were closed, so I called the Police Department, and they said they would send someone to the scene of the accident and do what they could.

I went back to see how the dog was, and it was gone! I don't know whether it crawled away, or if someone stopped and took it away. There was so much blood where it had been lying, I can't imagine how it could have crawled away by itself.

Abby, I feel so sick about this, I just hope you will print my letter asking dogowners to keep their dogs tied up. I have a dog, and he is never left to roam around and get hurt the way this one was. Thank you, Abby. DIANA

CONFIDENTIAL TO MONTANA MOTHER: Go to school and talk to the teacher personally! This is one matter you should dig into until you are satisfied that you know all the facts.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Minor damage resulted from a one-car mishap at 1:30 a.m. Saturday on the Towle Park Road near Avenue S.

The 1969 Model Ford of Pablo Rodriguez Luna, Box 223, Ira, was in collision with a tree. The mishap was investigated by officer Nick Martinez.

The 1966 Model Buick of James Lynn Hargrove, 1906 Twenty-ninth Street, was in collision with the parked 1958 Model Chevrolet of Walter R. Goebel of Sweetwater in the 1900 block of Twenty-ninth Street at 4:10 p.m. Friday. Officer Brian Blair investigated the collision.

Extortioner Convinces Banker

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — An anonymous caller who tapped a banker's home telephone escaped with a reported $25,000 Friday after telling the executive that his family was being held captive.

Guy Coffee, president of the Gulfway National Bank, told police he left money in his car in a shopping center.

Mrs. Coffee and a granddaughter were at home when Coffee received the first call from the extortionist and were never approached by anyone, police said.

Commander C. W. Tackett, head of the police department criminal investigation division, gave this account:

A woman bank employe received a telephone call from an unidentified man Friday afternoon and was told to have Coffee call home.

When told the banker was available, the caller refused to talk to Coffee.

Coffee dialed his home telephone number and a man answered, "You know where I am at, don't you?"

The man told Coffee he was holding his family and ordered him to get a specific amount of money from the bank.

Tackett said only that the sum was several thousand dollars, but other sources estimated the payoff at $25,000.

As ordered, Coffee made his first stop at a telephone booth near the bank and called home. The man told him to go to another booth adjacent to a service station in the southside shopping center.

The telephone in that booth apparently was out of order and Coffee made the call from the service station.

The man warned the banker not to tell the service station employes what was taking place, instructing him to park his car near a garden center.

Coffee was told to roll down the car windows, put the money in a small box on the floor behind the driver's seat and return to the service station.

Part-Time Jobs Can Help Beat Inflation

NEW YORK (AP) — The hand that rocks the cradle these days often is apt to be busy counting up the pretty penny raked in from part-time earnings.

With women in the work force to stay, and a chronic labor shortage in just about every field, part-time jobs for women have become an established thing.

Usually the part-time workers are wives and mothers who don't have the time or the inclination to get into the work force full-time—but don't want to stay out of it either.

Their goal, more often than not, is the obvious one: money—either for a specific project like a vacation or simply to keep family earnings apace with inflation.

How much can a wife earn in a part-time job? It depends, in part, on how much time she puts in—but beyond that there's a wide variation in hourly pay from one field to another. Here's a breakdown on some of the usual part-time jobs held down by housewives—and what they pay.

Baby-sitter—This is one of the most usual part-time jobs, but one of the lowest paid. The responsible adult earns more than a teen-ager but it's still only about $1.25 an hour.

Care of the elderly—This pays a little more, $1.50 an hour.

Addressing envelopes—About $1.85 hourly.

Home typing—Usually it's term papers and manuscripts, and students and writers traditionally are not rich. The hourly rate is $1.25.

Secretary—The temporary secretarial services that help business and industry fill vacation and seasonal vacancies depend largely on housewives for personnel. A starting secretary earns about $2.50 an hour.

Switchboard operator—The Bell Telephone Company, for instance, maintains a "stable" of ex-operators available for part-time pinch-hitting, and the pay is $3.00.

One of the newest part-time fields for housewives, and one of the highest paid, is home selling—with everything from jewelry, toys, housewares and clothing available via the home party method. Beeline Fashions, a company that sells clothing entirely through fashion show parties, says that stylists who display their newest fashions in parties in private homes can figure on about $25 a night profit from a three-hour party.

Supermarket checker—There's more than one way to bring home the groceries from the neighborhood supermarket. About $2.50 an hour.

ON THE HOUSE

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

While it generally is believed the bleaching of wood is necessary only when it is desired to produce blond or novelty finishes, its main purpose throughout hundreds of years was quite different.

The old-time wood finishers bleached for the purpose of creating a light, even tone that could be successfully stained without danger of getting multi-colored results. It was especially useful when the intention was to make inexpensive wood more closely approach the tone and appearance of the better woods.

In those days, the finishers made their own bleaches, some of them mixtures and some solutions of oxalic acid. While home-made bleaches are still in use to some extent, it is generally recognized now that the commercial bleaches, usually consisting of two solutions applied separately, produce a more consistent result.

A bleach is sometimes the only answer when a piece of wood or furniture has had the old finish removed, only to leave a reddish or other mark that is the residue of the original stain. While this occasionally can be removed with sanding or steel wooling, it often is so deeply imbedded in the wood that it cannot be made to vanish. In this event, bleaching will produce the lightness that will serve as a base for the new finish.

There are a few important fundamentals that must be followed by anyone who uses a bleach, home-made or commercial. From the standpoint of safety, the most vital of these is a respect for the product. It is a strong chemical that must be handled, literally, with gloves, not kid, but rubber. And the user must be very careful not to spill any of the bleach on any exposed part of his body or his clothes. It also must be used in an area where there is plenty of ventilation.

While bleaches are fairly much the same, the few differences that exist among brands make it necessary to follow the instructions to the letter. Among these instructions are the amount of time that must elapse between applications of the two solutions and the kind of liquid, usually water, that must be used to rinse off any traces of the bleach after the operation is completed.

Since the combination of bleach and water has a tendency to raise the grain of the wood slightly, the wood must be sanded before proceeding with the new finish.

One other point, which may or may not be explained on the label of the bleach you buy, bleach may be poured into glass or earthenware containers, but never into anything made of metal.

(Fixing marred finishes, regluing wood veneer and patching concrete are among the 35 household problems handled in Andy Lang's "Practical Home Repairs" handbook, available by sending $1 to this newspaper in care of Box 5, Teaneck, N. J. 07666.)

1 cup fresh ginger root, sliced across the grain
½ cup sugar
¼ cup water
¼ cup instant superfine sugar

Wash, scrape and slice ginger root into thin slices cutting against the grain. Cover with cold water and boil for 5 minutes, Drain. Cover with cold water again and boil for 5 minutes. Drain, then spread ginger pieces on a clean dry towel. Prepare syrup by combining ½ cup sugar and ¼ cup water. Stir till sugar dissolves. Add ginger and cook over low heat till syrup is absorbed. Shake the pot occasionally so that the ginger won't burn. Place ginger slices on rack to dry for at least an hour. Roll in instant superfine sugar. Let stand till sugar crystalizes. SHAMROCKS ARE LUCKY AND UNLUCKY

Everyone knows the leaves from a four-leaf clover are accepted as a token of good luck, while the five-leaf clover is said to be exactly opposite.

The yellow rose is said to denote jealousy. The sturdy and dependable ivy leaf indicates trustfulness-maybe this is the reason ivy is so popular in wedding decorations.

We love to decorate for weddings. Whether yours is to be an elaborate one or a simple gathering, we will be happy to handle the floral arrangements.

Livestock Values Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — The value of all livestock and poultry on the nation's farms Jan. 1 was a record $23.8 billion, one per cent more than the previous high of a year earlier, the Agriculture Department reported Friday.

Cattle and calves, with a total value of $21.1 billion, showed the largest gain, up 5 per cent from Jan. 1, 1970.

Hog values, reported as of last Dec. 1 and reflecting lower market prices, were estimated at less than $1.58 billion, compared with $2.2 billion a year earlier.

The estimates were included in the department's annual inventory of livestock and poultry.

Sheep and lambs were valued at $462.9 million, down 9 per cent from a year earlier. Chickens were valued at $537.4 million, a drop of 8 per cent, but turkeys increased 6 per cent to a value of $39.6 million.

On a head-count basis, increases were shown for cattle, calves, hogs, chickens and turkeys, while numbers of sheep and lambs were down from last year.

There were 114.6 million head of all types of cattle and calves on farms and ranches Jan. 1, 2 per cent more than a year earlier, the report said.

Mature cows and heifers, those that had calved, increased 2 per cent during the year, including a 3 per cent gain for beef cows but a 1 per cent cutback in the number of milk animals.

Sheep and lambs totaled 19.6 million head, 4 per cent fewer than a year earlier.

Hogs and pigs on farms, based on the Dec. 1 report, were put at 67.5 million head, up 19 per cent from the year before.

LTV To Cut Work Force

DALLAS (AP) — LTV Aerospace Corp. plans to reduce the work force of its hourly paid employes at Grand Prairie by about 1,500 before the year ends, a United Auto Workers (UAW) union spokesman says.

Billy J. Meeks, president of UAW Local 848, said Friday that a 1,500-worker reduction would leave about 6,000 hourly paid employes in the Grand Prairie plant.

"This should be the end of continued layoffs for over two years," Meeks said. "I don't see how they can go much lower than 6,000 employes and still perform the work they have now under contract."

About 4,260 hourly employes have been cut loose either by layoff or attrition during the past year, according to UAW figures.

An LTV spokesman said he could not verify Meeks' figures, other than to say employment in all categories of LTV employment dropped from 26,500 to 22,000 during the last seven months of 1970. Most of the reduction occurred at the Grand Prairie plant, he said.

Syrup Used On Tobacco

12 Wells Drilled In Texas

AUSTIN (AP) — The Corpus Christi district was the scene of nine of the 12 oil and gas wildcat wells drilled in Texas during the past week, the state Railroad Commission said Saturday.

All seven of the wildcat gas wells were in the Corpus Christi district as well as two of the wildcat oil wells. The other three wildcat oil wells included one each in the Abilene, Midland and Pampa districts.

A total of 28 wildcat oil wells have been drilled this year, eight fewer than at this time a year ago. Forty-seven wildcat gas wells have been drilled this year, seven fewer than a year ago.

The commission reported 110 oil wells and 30 gas wells were completed in the state during the past week. This raised the yearly total of oil well completions to 599, or 54 more than a year ago, and the total of gas wells completions to 157, or 32 fewer than a year ago.

Scientists Hit Moon Reflector

FORT DAVIS, Tex. (AP) — Scientists at the University of Texas McDonald Observatory made laser contact with a reflector placed on the moon by the Apollo 14 astronauts in 75 minutes Friday night.

After astronauts placed the first reflector on the moon in July 1969. McDonald Observatory scientists worked a month to locate it.

Experiments since then have established that the moon, generally 238,000 miles from earth, is 1,060 feet farther away and that this distance is accurate to within one foot.

Through future laster experiments with the reflectors on the moon scientists hope for better understanding of continental drift, polar motion of the earth, the length of a day, gravity and relativity.

A scientist has described hitting an 18-inch square reflector on the moon with a laser beam sent from earth to hitting a dime with a rifle at a distance of one mile.

Record Breaker

KNOTTINGLEY, England (AP) — Arthur Armitage's name has been removed from the Guinness Book of Records, and he couldn't be happier.

He was Britain's heaviest man at 560 pounds. But the Yorkshire man has shed 224 of them. Now he hopes to get back on the records as Britain's champion slimmer.

HouseSubsidies Are Reinstated

WASHINGTON (AP) — A portion of the government's mortgage subsidy program—40 per cent of which was suspended three weeks ago—has been reinstated by George Romney, secretary of Housing and Urban Development.

Just 21 of HUD's area and Federal Housing Administration offices are being allowed to resume issuance of mortgage commitments on existing housing, Romney said Friday.

He stopped the program in many areas after it was said by the House Banking and Currency Committee to be moving into the hands of land speculators.

At first, Romney defended the program in light of the committee report, but on Jan. 14 he said it had become apparent "abuses in the ... program are more prevalent and widespread than had been previously evident."

Friday's renewal of subsidization had no effect on the remainder of programs held up Jan. 14.

Romney said when he stopped the program that "quick-buck artists and horse traders" making large speculative profits, as well as poor persons unprepared for home ownership, had shaken confidence in the program. And, Romney said, some FHA inspectors had "not done an adequate job," leaving poor families in houses needing repair.

The offices authorized to resume issuing mortgage commitments are Bangor, covering all of Maine; Providence, controlling all of Rhode Island; San Juan for Puerto Rico; Albuquerque for New Mexico; Des Moines for Iowa; Omaha for Nebraska.

Helena, for Montana; Fargo for North Dakota; Sioux Falls for South Dakota; Salt Lake City for Utah; Casper for Wyoming and Boise covering Idaho.

Also the following cities for the counties in their respective jurisdictions: Albany, Hempstead and New York City, N.Y.; Tampa, Fla.; Memphis, Tenn.; Shreveport, La.; Tulsa, Okla.; and Houston and Lubbock, Tex.

Hutto Due Sanity Test

HOUSTON (AP)—Jimmy Ray Hutto, 24, charged with conspiring to blow up radiosstations in California owned by the Pacifica Foundation, will be sent this weekend to a federal hospital in Springfield, Mo., for psychiatrist testing, federal officials said.

Hutto, of Pasadena, Tex., was arrested Jan. 25 as he and two other persons were traveling west about 20 miles out of Houston. The FBI said they made the arrest on the basis of a tip from an informer.

Hutto was ordered to the hospital for a 90-day confinement to see if he is mentally competent to assist in his own defense, but the order was stayed for appeal.

Friday, Hutto's attorney, David Berg, learned the supreme court had refused to stay the commitment.

MRS. KINNEY HART (Photo By Craft)

Howard, Hart Pledge Vows In Double Ring Ceremony

Rev. Jesse Dea, minister of Union Methodist Church, officiated at double ring rites Jan. 29, at 8 p.m. uniting Sandra Lee Howard and Kinney Hart in marriage in the home of the grooms' parents.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. Paulene Rogers Howard, Rt. 1, Snyder, Melvin A. Howard, Monsanto Camp, and Mrs. and Mrs. W. C. Hart.

An antique bronze candelabra with white tapers entwined with ivy and greenery formed the background for the service. A memory candle of white placed on a brass pedestal entwined with holly completed the background.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length gown of silk organza. The bodice and sleeves, which came to a tip over the wrists were of chantilly lace adorned with tiny seed pearls and French sequins. The modified A-line skirt was appliqued with sequin and pearls embroidered on lace motifs. The silk organza chapel train was of chantilly lace and organza with tiny seed pearls and sequin trim. The headdress was a white stain bow centered with a flower of seed pearls with a shoulder length veil of organza. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and red sweetheart roses atop a white Bible.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Ted Winter of Abilene. She wore a street length dress of pink shantung with puff sleeves and sequin trim at the collar. A nosegay of pink and white carnations trimmed in ivy completed her costume.

Mr. W. C. Hart, father of the groom, served as best man.

Pianist and solist, Miss Wayla Walton, played traditional wedding music before the ceremony. After guests were seated Miss Walton sang "Bridge Over Troubled Water" and played the processional "Wedding March." "The Wedding Prayer" proceeded the recessional.

A reception was held in the dining room of the grooms' parents home. The table was covered with a white lace cloth with a pink underlay and held appointments of crystal and silver. The centerpiece was of white and pink carnations and green foliage. The 3-tiered wedding cake was decorated with pink roses and topped with satin wedding bells and a background of a pearl archway accented with pink and white roses. Mrs. Tim Prather served cake and Mrs. Robert Hicks ladled punch. Mrs. Rufus Hart registered wedding guests.

For the tradition of something old, the bride wore her grandmothers' wedding band; something new was pearls given to her by the groom; something borrowed was a lace handkerchief from the grooms' grandmother and something blue was a garter.

For a wedding trip to Ft. Worth the bride chose a blue empire double knit dress with puff sleeves and gold and white accessories.

The bride is a 1969 graduate of Snyder High School and a 1970 graduate in Secretarial Science at Abilene Commerical College.

The groom is a 1968 graduate of Snyder High School and attended South Plains College in Levelland and Tarleton State College in Stephenville.

The couple will be at home on the Hart Ranch in Snyder.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the parents of the groom Jan. 28 at the Snyder Country Club.

Some quotable quotes from women during the week:

"I've never had a career. I've been content to be a mother and housewife because that seemed to be the best way to help my husband."—Eleanor McGovern, wife of Sen, George McGovern, in an interview.

"Some people talk about the dance on Broadway contemptuously, but I won't accept it. It has to be briefer, and it has to be clear. In my book, those are virtues."—Choreographer Agnes de Mille, in an interview.

"We can fall into the trap of confining ourselves, and just to live a show business life is to limit yourself to a pretty small world. I want to explore my environment and learn anything that will help me grow."—Actress Judy Carne, in an interview.

"I know a lot of actresses are doing it now (playing nude scenes). But they're doing it so they can get jobs. It's sad."—Actress Rita Hayworth, in an interview.

"I don't endorse the activities of the women's liberation movement. They are rather unseemly and unladylike. This bra burning is nonsense."—Helen Delich Bentley, chairman of the Federal Maritime Commission, speaking to newsmen before the annual luncheon of the Women's National Republican Club.

"It's a little scary to be approaching the twilight of life, but I just don't give it a thought. People make too much ado about age. I'd rather be getting older and feeling well with every passing day than be a beautiful 25-year-old corpse."—Hildegarde, on her 65th birthday.

Man, Wife Are Mayor Candidates

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Former University of California student leader Mario Savio and his wife Suzanné both have filed as candidates for mayor in Berkeley's April 6 municipal election.

Savio, now 27 and a junior in biology at the university, led the so-called Free Speech Movement in 1964 which initiated years of student protests and turbulence on the 28,000,000 student campus. He dropped out in 1965 and re-enrolled last fall.

The two Savios joined Thursday a roster of 13 declared candidates for the mayor's post, which the present mayor, Wallace Johnson, has said he will not seek again.

There was no explanation of why both Savios filed.

AP SURVEY SHOWS

Texas Can Meet Long Range Water Needs

By MIKE COCHRAN
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — Despite the magnitude of the task, the complexities, problems and politics, Texas quite likely can meet its sweeping, long range water needs, an Associated Press in-depth survey shows.

Perhaps not as envisioned in the Texas water plan, although it is a monument to its architects and remains a flexible guide for orderly development, conservation and management.

It may well be without Mississippi River water, the proposed importing of which sparked much controversy, not all of it in Texas.

But Texas has a great deal going for it waterwise, not the least of which are:

1. The rich resources of East Texas, where some signs indicate there is an erosion of reluctance to share its surplus waters with less endowed areas of the state.

2. Gifted, capable water planners, not without some personality conflicts but with foresight of an extraordinary nature.

3. A growing awareness that water development is a statewide problem, confined to no specific area and one which must be tackled in harmony.

4. A willingness on the part of High Plains irrigation farmers to make more efficient use of their underground water—even to the point of stringent, self-imposed regulation.

5. Recognition by Gov. Preston Smith and other state leaders of the water problem, and their vigorous efforts to carry out development programs.

6. The simple fact that Texas food and fiber production is vital not only to the state and nation but, with a pending population explosion, also the world.

In the end, it may well be international needs that dictate importation of water into Texas, whether it be from the Far West, the Mississippi, Canada or elsewhere.

One of the more provocative theories on this possibility was advanced by Col. R. S. Kristofferson, who heads the Fort Worth district of the Army Engineers.

"As I see it," he said, "the problem which we as a people must eventually face is not only how to feed, clothe and support just our own nation, but also to determine the responsibility we have in the same regard for other nations.

"I would submit that the rest of the world will not leave us in peace to enjoy our prosperity while they suffer for lack of essentials which we may have in relative abundance.

"This leads me to the thought that we will need to have every acre of arable land in production to provide food for ourselves and part of the rest of the world.

"We will probably need food to feed our friends and possibly to bribe our enemies.

"It seems plausible that a shipload of food may be more valuable in conducting international negotiations 50 years from now than an H-bomb is today.

"... The irrigated lands in the High Plains area are some of the most productive in our nation. It may turn out that we cannot spare their productive potential in the future and that we must import water to permit continued production.

"The real value of transporting water to the High Plains may not lie in preserving the status quo of an agricultural economy, or in providing jobs, or in resettling urban populations in rural areas, but in providing invaluable food and fiber for our long-term needs and national survival."

State agencies, the Reclamation Bureau and others are anxiously awaiting completion of an economic "in-put, out-put" study being conducted by Dr. Herb Grubb, on loan to the state from Texas Tech.

Grubb is seeking to determine, among other things, the distribution of the state's resources and what overall economic impact would be if the High Plains economy was destroyed because of lack of water.

"People don't realize this," says Rep. Bill Clayton of Springlake. "The majority of the people in Dallas and Fort Worth don't realize this, and certainly in Houston and San Antonio, but the No. 1 industry in Texas today, dollar volume wise, is agriculture.

"It surpassed the oil and gas industry about a year and a half ago."

The conclusion is simple enough. Without adequate water, not only in West Texas, the state's great prosperity will be shot to pieces, the economic impact affecting all Texans.

The High Plains is by no means the only area of crisis, but as one government engineer says, "The plains is the gut water problem, the toughest one and the one with the most immediate sonial and economic impact."

"This state can indeed meet its long range needs," said one of the governor's consultants, Tom McFarland. "But it can not do so from water within the state. We've got to get out-of-state water."

Taking the plains and Mississippi water as an example, Harry Burleigh of Austin, the Reclamation Bureau's top engineer in Texas, posed this question:

"What is it worth to this nation socially, environmentally, economically and everything else to pay for that water? In other words, it it a national value to subsidize that damn thing? I don't know.

"Here is a little chunk of the United States that is enormously productive. Cattle, Beef, all the things that New York and Philadelphia and San Francisco need.

"That's the best feeding area in America. It's the biggest feeding area in America. In the last 15 years, that's become the beef center of America: Cattle feeding. Irrigated cattle feeding. What's it worth?

"Here's a little chunk of America that produces an incredible amount of goods—food and fiber that the country needs. But it's going out of business.

"Is it worth it to bring Mississippi water out there in the national interest? Perhaps they can't pay for it themselves,"

It could be, he said, "a tragedy of our times....a tragedy of our history."

Junior Editors Quiz on FLAG

QUESTION: What can a young person do to show his respect for his country?

* * *

ANSWER: We are glad to have this question. This country has been going through some tough times. But isn't it just when the going is rough that loyalty, determination and courage are needed? We believe that most United States citizens have a very deep and long-abiding love and respect for their country. They know their country's ideals are right, that they are founded on justice and freedom for all citizens, no matter what color or creed. And they know that the idea of the law is to make certain that every citizen obtains these benefits. We suggest two ways in which a young person can honor his country. First, show respect for the flag — the emblem of what we U.S. people stand for. When the flag comes by on parade, come to attention, place your right hand over your heart until the flag has passed. Check with your local Boy Scouts to find out the correct way the flag should be folded and displayed. A second way to show respect: always obey the law, for the laws are your country's ideas in action. Remember that when you obey the law, you, yourself, truly become a part of the United States.

(Matthew Kelly Cummings of Riverside, Conn., wins a prize for this question. You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

Four Amendments To Be On May Ballot

By ROBERT HEARD
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — Voters who want to support a code of ethics for state officials also will have to be willing to relinquish control over the size of legislators' paychecks.

The Senate knocked down a threatened filibuster Friday and approved House amendments to the ethics code proposal.

The measure now goes on a special constitutional amendment ballot May 18.

Republicans in both houses charged it was primarily a device to get a raise in the $4,800 yearly pay of legislators.

Texas voters several times have turned down pay raise proposals for legislators.

"This is a fraud and all of you know it," said Sen. Henry Grover of Houston, just before he was crushed under a 25-1 vote.

Grover's remarks were characterized by Sen. Chet Brooks of Pasadena as a "vicious partisan attack."

The nine-member Ethics Commission—three each being appointed by the chief justice of the Texas Supreme Court, the presiding judge of the Court of Criminal Appeals and the chairman of the State Judicial qualifications Commission — will be assisted by a representative and a senator, who will have no vote.

The commission may recommend a pay raise, with more for the speaker and lieutenant governor, but both houses must vote for it before it becomes effective.

It is certain that a record vote would be called for, so voters could identify which legislators voted themselves a pay raise.

The commission also would write an ethics code for all elected or appointed state officials, and it would be voted on section by section, with a negative vote in either house on any section killing that section.

A financial disclosure provision in the amendment requires lawmakers to list all their assets and liabilities within 10 days of their election.

Only the commission could look at the statement, however.

The House accepted the Ethics Commission amendment 106-16, six more votes than the 100 needed.

It also accepted, 112-8, the Senate version of a proposal to sell $100 million in bonds for waste water treatment facilities.

Rep. Bill Clayton of Springlake said the state would finance 25 per cent of the waste treatment facilities, with local government picking up 20 per cent and the federal government paying for 55 per cent.

If voters reject the amendment, Clayton said, the legislature will have to come up with $40 million in new taxes for the next biennium alone to build facilities needed to meet federal water quality standards.

The May 18 ballot will carry four amendments, in this order:

—Ethics Commission.

—Authorizing Constitutional amendments to be submitted in even-numbered years as well as odd-numbered years.

— Removing the $80 million yearly ceiling on welfare spending, except that a $55 million ceiling would remain for the program of assistance to families with dependent children.

Kerrville Complex Planned

KERRVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Development of a $20 million residential community and country club complex in the rolling Texas Hill Country was announced here Saturday by golf provessional-investor Don Collett of Houston.

When completed, the 1,500-acre project, to be known as Kerrville Hills, will feature an 18-hole golf course and country club, lakeside luxury cottages for tourists and vacationers, apartments and townhouses, and scores of scenic homesites overlooking the golf course and the Guadalupe River Valley.

Nine of the first 18 holes on the lakewood course have already been completed and will be opened to play within 60 days.

Collett, executive vice president of the Kerrville Hills Development Co. is one of seven investors in the project. Others involved are R. E. Owens, president, of Beaumont; Carl Meek, secretary - treasurer, of Kerrville, and directors Ray Moore of Beaumont, and John McCollom, Gerald James and Tom Sytan, all of Kerrville.

'Juice' Causes Heavy Damage

LONDON (AP) — The 72 cent bottle of grape juice Don O'Donaghue bought for his grandchildren was an expensive treat. The children drank half of it and O'Donaghue left the bottle on a living room shelf. Two months later the fermenting juice exploded, shattering a fish tank, killing 30 fish, spilling 100 pounds of gravel on the rug and flooding a downstairs neighbor out of bed with 35 gallons of water.

Veterans In County Aided

The Veterans Administration has announced that expenditures for Texas for fiscal 1970 totaled $522,997,791 of which $671,238 was for Scurry County.

Jack Coker, Director of the VA Regional Office in Waco, said that the bulk of the money was $311,680,001 in disability compensation and pension payments for Texas veterans—$492,454 for Scurry County veterans.

Other VA expenditures in Scurry County for fiscal 70, Coker said, were for GI Bill and other VA education programs, $94,271, and insurance and indemnities, $68,438.

In announcing these figures, Coker invited Scurry County veterans to contact the nearest VA office for information on any program, including the GI Bill.

Minisub Tests Are Successful

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The Navy says its first rescue minisub has demonstrated it can locate a submarine trapped underwater, lock onto it and pluck its crew to safety.

The $41 million deep-submergence rescue vehicle, known as DSRV-1, performed the crucial tests this week at a depth of more than 150 feet off San Clemente Island, the Navy reported Friday.

"This is a major step forward as the ability of the sub to spot and mate with a stranded submarine is the key element in the Navy's global rescue system," a Navy spokesman said.

Under development since 1963, when the atomic submarine Thresher sank off New England with the loss of 129 lives, the DSRV can be airlifted almost anywhere in the world.

In this week's trials the 50-foot-long sub located a metal structure representing a stranded submarine, locked its transfer hatch over it and passed a man through the connection.

The rescue vessel, dubbed "Green Torpedo" because of its bullet-like shape and color, was developed by Lockheed Missiles & Space Co. at its Sunnyvale plant south of San Francisco.

"It performed real well," said Ronald E. Rau, Lockheed's test pilot. Also aboard during the dive were Lockheed's chief pilot, Larry Shumaker, and Lt. Cmdr. D. Pat Raetzman, the skipper.

"These tests," Raetzman said, "prove we can mate with a downed submarine and get the perfect watertight seal we need to bring off rescues."

When the DSRV seals its bell-shaped transfer skirt over the escape latch of the stranded submarine, he explained, the connection is blown dry and pressurized before the crew is transferred.

Abilene Seeks Funds

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — This West Texas city will seek state funds to fight what it calls a potentially dangerous rise of chloride in the city's water supply.

City Manager H. P. Clifton said Friday that a delegation will go to Austin Feb. 17 to ask the state Railroad Commission for money to plug abandoned oil wells in the area.

The Abilene City Council approved on Jan. 15 the spending of $4,000 to plug three abandoned oil wells.

Clifton said then the city believes some old, unplugged wells have been allowing chloride to seep and in some cases spill into creeks which carry the salt into the water supply. The wells discovered so far, he said, have been 30 to 50 years old.

Snyderites On ACC Honor Roll

ABILENE—Two Snyder students are among 378 students to be named to the Dean's Honor Roll for the fall semester at Abilene Christian College. To be eligible, a student must have taken at least 12 semester hours and had at least a 3.45 grade average on a 4.0 scale.

Loretta Bryce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester C. Bryce of 108 Chestnut, is a junior speech therapy major at Abilene Christian. A 1968 graduate of Snyder High School, she is a member of Alpha Chi honor society and the speech therapy club.

Joe Coronado, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pablo Coronado of 1904 Scott, is a junior social work major at ACC. A 1969 graduate of Cherokee High School, he is a member of Omega Rho Alpha English fraternity.

Hall Can Thank Computer

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho (AP) — Cecil A. Hall, 68, nearly blind since a 1957 accident and suffering from arteriosclerosis, thought somebody had made a mistake when his mail brought two checks totaling $7,237.20.

It turned out that when Hall started receiving Social Security payments after he accidentally shot himself in a temple 14 years ago while cleaning a rifle, his monthly stipend wasn't set as high as it should have been.

The error wasn't discovered until Hall's records were checked against insurance and medical records. He underwent surgery 16 months ago at Houston, Tex., for an artery blockage in his legs.

"Some computer in Kansas City caught the mistake Wednesday," Hall quipped Friday.

One of the checks was for $4,000 and the other for "a little over $3,000," he said.

Hall, who has 10 per cent vision, had asked his son to examine the checks to see if they contained an expected 10 per cent raise.

"You got one heck of a raise," the son exclaimed. "It's for $7,000."

After Social Security workers doublechecked his records, they also informed Hall he can expect three more checks totaling $2,000.

Hall's monthly benefits now total $264.

Hall's wife works in a laundry to help support their three teenage children.

One of his three grown children by a previous marriage is a heart specialist in Houston.

Hall, a former painter, hasn't worked since the accident. "I still have the bullet in my head," he said.

Asked what he would do with the money, Hall said: "I'll pay off my debts and my home. The money's nice but I'd much rather have my sight back."

Robinson Gets $100,000

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Lou Brock, who stole 51 bases, and Brooks Robinson, who stole a World Series, have made two more big hauls in the 1971 baseball salary sweepstakes.

Robinson, Baltimore's brilliant third baseman, signed for the coming season Friday at a pay increase of about $20,000 that put him in the elite $100,000 per-year bracket.

Brock, St. Louis' swift outfielder, accepted a Cardinals contract calling for an estimated $95,000.

Robinson batted .276 during the 1970 season, hit at a .583 clip in the Orioles' pennant playoff sweep of Minnesota and then personally flattened Cincinnati in the World Series with a .429 batting mark, two home runs and half a dozen amazing fielding plays.

The 33-year-old veteran joins Frank Robinson in the Orioles' $100,000 club—a figure first baseman Boog Powell and pitcher Dave McNally are expected to shoot for in salary negotiations.

Brock batted .304 for the Cardinals and set a nodern record by stealing 50 or more bases for the sixth consecutive season.

The Chicago White Sox signed six players, including shortstop Luis Alvarado, obtained in the winter trade that sent Luis Aparicio to the Boston Red Sox.

Boston superstar Carl Yastrzemski, meanwhile, predicted that he'll become the highest paid player in the game when he comes to terms with the Red Sox. Yastrzemski reportedly received $130,000 last season, when he socked 40 homers, delivered 102 runs and hit .329.

Rico Carty, Atlanta's hard-luck slugger, landed in a hospital again. The National League batting champion, recuperating from a December knee operation after he suffered torn ligaments and muscles in a Winter League collision, was stricken with pleurisy in the Dominican Republic.

The Braves said the ailment has no relation to the tuberculosis attack that sidelined Carty for the entire 1968 season.

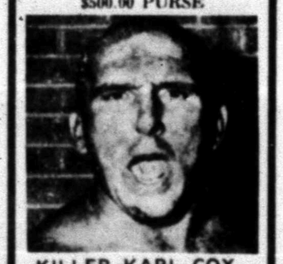

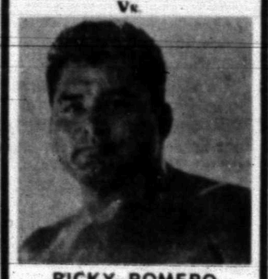

In other baseball developments, San Francisco owner Horace Stoneham rejected a New Jersey state senator's suggestion that the Giants relocate in Hackensack, N.J., and the opening games of the Caribbean championship series in Puerto Rico, attended by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, was postponed until Saturday because of heavy rains.

C. Roland (Rollie) Stichweh, captain, quarterback and outstanding player for Army in 1964, is the new director of Camp Dudley, a boys camp, Lake Champlain near Westport, N.Y.

Texas Stadium Dedication Set

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League will dedicate their new home—Texas Stadium—with a pre-season game against New Orleans on Saturday night, Aug. 14th.

The Cowboys will open at home a week earlier this year. They open the pre-season Aug. 6 in the Times Charity game against the Los Angeles Rams on the road.

The other two road games are at Houston Aug. 26th and another game to be announced later.

Other home pre-season games will find the Cowboys hosting long-time rival Cleveland Aug. 21st with the final tuneup against Kansas City on Sept. 11.

Reds Got A Fast Start

By HAROLD HARRISON
Associated Press Writer

CINCINNATI (AP) — The "advance man" is well known in the circus and show business. He is the fellow who shows up early to promote interest and ticket sales in the show.

They're seldom very well known except in the news media and they don't receive any awards.

The Cincinnati Reds of the National League have a different kind of "advance man" in Ray Shore and he is being given a lot of credit for the 1970 success of the Reds.

Shore's job is to travel a hop ahead of the team, check on the opponent and report his findings to Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson.

Anderson is sold on the advance scouting idea.

"It's one reason why we got such a fast start last season," he said. "Ray picked up the Los Angeles club late in the spring in Albuquerque, then stayed with them in California. By the time we arrived he had a pretty good book on them. You know we played them five times within the first 11 days of the season and won each time."

Shore's "book" includes a report on each opposing player's throwing ability, running speed, hitting and suggestions for pitching to each hitter.

"I've devised my own reporting system," said Shore. "I fill in the pertinent information on the form—how to play the hitter by position, how he's throwing, how he runs, whether he'll hit or run, bunt and how a left hander and a right hander will have success pitching to him."

Of major importance, too, is the information on a current situation. That includes the information about a hitter who may be in a slump or perhaps a strong-throwing outfielder who may have a sore arm that hasn't been publicized.

An example was an incident during the 1970 season involving Hank Aaron of the Atlanta Braves.

Aaron had injured his arm in a collision. Shore, checking the Braves at Houston, noticed opposing players were running on Aaron and scoring "when they wouldn't ordinarly do this."

He relayed the information to Anderson and said, "Sparky claims we capitalized on it greatly in running the bases."

Anderson called Shore's reports "one of the big reasons why we won."

"Ray and I have excellent communication," he said. "He'll telephone me and go over his report, then I'll pick it up when we arrive at the city. When he explains something to me I can see the player. I know him in my mind."

Shore, who stands 6-3 and weighs 230, spent 11 years as a minor league pitcher plus parts of three years with the old St. Louis Browns. From 1961 through 1968 he variously was a Red batting practice pitcher, coach and minor league pitching instructor.

Then he started his advance scouting career on the proposal of Cincinnati general Manager Bob Howsam.

Howard Payne Plans Party

BROWNWOOD—One of the biggest parties ever planned for this part of Texas is slated for Monday night. (Feb. 8)

Coach Ken Henson's Howard Payne College Yellow Jackets will be playing the school's game number 1000 and following the tilt the entire crowd expected to be the largest of the season will be invited to remain for post game entertainment.

A giant cake decorated with the school colors, blue and gold, and bearing Game Number 1000 markings, is being prepared.

Everyone will be invited to enjoy a slice of the delicacy.

Serving as the opponent will be Texas A&I, and judging by an earlier contest played between the two Lone Star Conference teams, it should be a dilly.

Last Monday, the Yellow Jackets played their 998th contest against McMurry, and Saturday the Jackets met Southwest Texas State in another LSC contest.

The Yellow Jackets will be playing their 24th game of the season.

Moon Golf

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Al Shepard, who is not a golfer on earth, became one on the moon today. A space first.

He's not a javelin thrower either. But he was one on the moon.

Using a club-like handle from his tool cart, Shepard drove off two golf balls, apparently concealed aboard the space ship. And then he heaved off a spear-like part from their solar wind experiment.

"I'm trying a sandtrap shot," he said. "I got more dirt than ball."

"Looked like a slice to me, Al," said Mission Control, observing the shot.

"There we go, one more," said Shepard as he hit the second ball.

"It goes miles and miles and miles." With no atmosphere and one-sixth gravity an object travels far on the moon.

There was no need to yell "fore," the traditional warning to other golfers.

Conigliaro Is Bitter

By LEE GOULD
Associated Press Writer

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Tony Conigliaro, comfortably adjusted to his trade to the California Angels, still is bitter about reports his trade by Boston was hastened by personnel problems.

The mod outfielder, competing in the $30,000 Astrojet Golf Tournament for baseball and football players, took time between holes to refute allegations in a recent magazine article that he was a "club house lawyer" and was more interested in a career in acting than in baseball.

"I'm going to cut another recording in two weeks," Conigliaro said. "But I'm not planning any serious career in entertainment. It's just an off-season thing."

He said to other suggestions that he contributed to a lack of team harmony were "completely untrue."

Conigliaro, who said he was at first "shocked" with his trade to the Angels, said he is now comfortably settled in Newport Beach, Calif., overlooking the Pacific Ocean.

"I had a long talk with Jim Fregosi (Angels' captain) and I'm ready to play," said Conigliaro. "We can win it all this year, but only if we play together.

Conigliaro, the Red Sox leading RBI producer last year with 116, hopes to make it a brother combination at California. His younger brother, Rich, is going to try out for the team this spring, "and I think he has the stuff to make it."

Football Returned

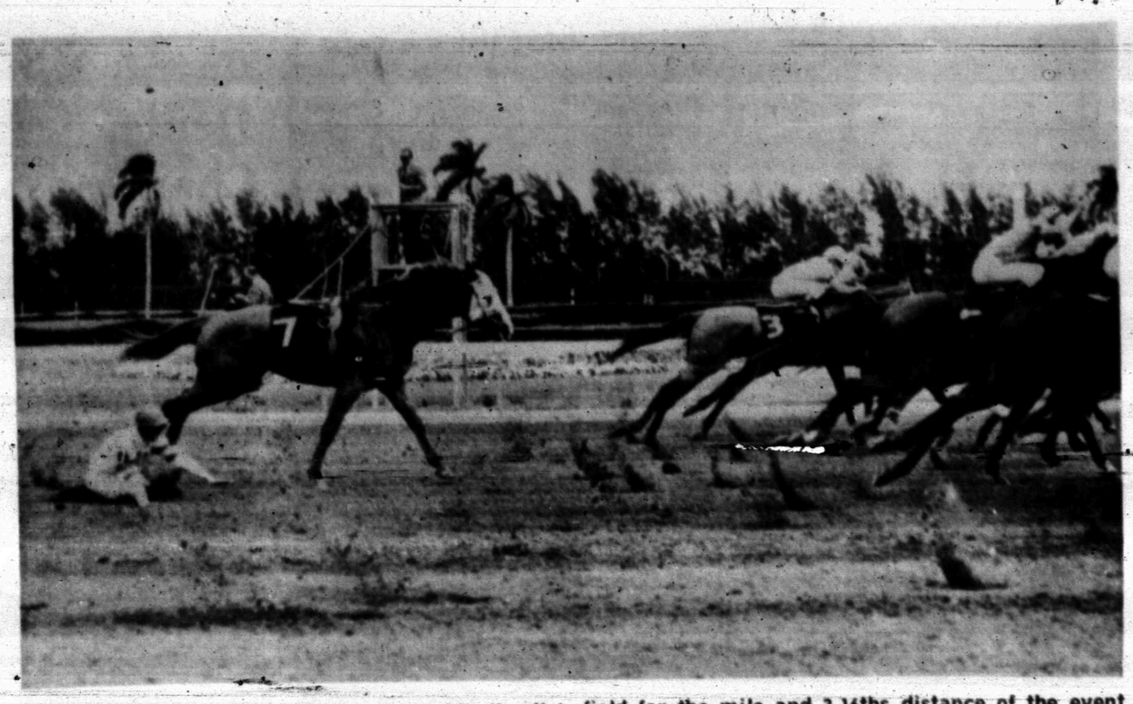

CHILTON, England (AP) — Ten-year-old Jack Usher wept when his football got stuck in the chimney of his Buckinghamshire home. That was 32 years ago.

Now Usher has his ball back. He got it when the house was demolished. "The bladder had rotted and there was a small hole in the case, but apart from that it was fine," he said.

Wins On Coast, Too

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — Trainer Frank (Pancho) Martin, who had his best year on the New York tracks last season, is doing almost as well with Sigmund Sommer's horses at Santa Anita.

On a recent Saturday, Martin saddled Scurry Back and Pete Rose to win successive races at Santa Anita. Scurry Back returned $6.60 and Pete Rose, a 3-year-old colt, paid $19. Both winners were ridden by Laffit Pincay.

Bengals Bombard Lake View 87-59

SAN ANGELO — Snyder's Tigers bombed Lake View 87-59 here Friday night in a District 3-AAA basketball tilt. The win upped the Bengals district mark to 3-1 in the second round, and boosted the season record to 20-5.

Snyder took a 19-12 lead in the first quarter and boosted it to 44-26 at halftime. Snyder outscored the Chiefs 26-18 in the third quarter and 17-15 in the fourth frame.

Five Bengals hit in double figures, led by Dubby Preston with 30 points. Bid Cooper roped 12, Jerry Brooks and Gary Brooks each scored 11, and David Thompson netted 10.

Only two Chiefs were in double figures — Johnny Paul Lee with 16 points and Martin with 11.

The Tigers had a good night from the field, sinking 16 of 34 for 47 per cent in the first half and 12 of 20 for 60 per cent from the line. In the second half, they hit 16 of 33 from the field for 49 per cent and nine of 11 for 82 per cent from the line.

Wildlife Facing Possible Extinction

PLACERVILLE, Calif. (AP) — Human encroachment in the Lake Tahoe basin is giving a dozen rare or endangered species of wildlife little chance of survival, says a report released by the Tahoe Regional Planning Agency.

The report urges buffer zones around nest trees of birds such as the golden and bald eagles because land grading, paving, noise, use of chemicals and controlled burning, insects and disease hurt the wildlife survival rate.

Lake View didn't fare quite that well as the Chiefs hit eight of 20 from the floor for 40 per cent in the first half and eight of 21 from the free throw line for 38 per cent. In the second half, they connected on 11 of 29 for 28 per cent from the field and 11 of 22 for 50 per cent at the line.

The battle of the boards was as close as it could be with each team taking 37 rebounds. Dubby Preston led the Snyder lads with eight rebounds. Kevin Jones was runnerup with six.

In the B team game, the Kittens prevailed by a 67-41 count. They took a 17-9 lead in the first quarter and boosted the score to 29-12 at halftime. The third quarter was in the Kittens' favor, 25-11, but the young Chiefs held an 18-13 lead in the last quarter.

Charles Anderson and Jackie Hartsfield shared scoring honors for the Kittens, getting 12 points apiece. Smart led the Lake View team with 10 points.

Elsewhere in District 3-AAA Friday night, Estacado beat Colorado City 92-82, Dunbar defeated Sweetwater 80-67, and Lamesa blasted Brownfield 58-47.

Australia Attractive

LONDON (AP) — Britain's latest line in exports is boxers —to Australia.

In six months starting last May nore than 20 British fighters made trips to Australia. Most of them were below championship class but met Australian opponents in eight or 10-round contests.

British boxing has never known such a demand for its young men before. It brings them experience which they would not have hoped to get a year or two ago.

The man behind the export boom is London manager Denny Mancini, who worked closely with Australia's former world featherweight champion, Johnny Famechon, on a tour of Britain. Famechon's manager, Ambrose Palmer, is the link between Mancini and the Australia promoters who operate in Melbourne, Sydney and Brisbane and stage a weekly television boxing show sponsored by brewers.

Australian promoters like to stage international fights if possible, and Australian fans have a soft spot for British boys.

Some boxers fly out for just one fight, others stay for two or three. They get paid between 260 and 400 pounds—$624 and $960—per fight, plus air fare and expenses, and that is more than most of them could hope to get in Britain.

The airlift to Australia has brought about a small boom in commonwealth title fights. Eddie Avoth of Wales captured the light heavyweight title from Australia's Trevor Thornberry. Middleweight champion Bunny Sterling, an immigrant to Britain from the West Indies, defended his crown successfully against Maori boxer Kahu Mahange.

Ralph Charles, welterweight, and Alan Rudkin, bantamweight, are other champions who are planning to fly to Australia to fight for their crowns.

But most of the Australian-bound fighters are young men who are still making their names—rising young boxers like Des Rea and Frank Young of Ireland, John McCluskey, John Kellie and Hugh Baxter of Scotland.

Baltimore Beats Braves, 98-90

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hot and cold was half the story for the Baltimore Bullets in a battle of extremes at Buffalo.

The Bullets sizzled in the first quarter, fizzled in the second and finally held off the Braves 98-90 behind Fred Carter's career high 29 points Friday night to snap a three-game National Basketball Association losing string.

Elsewhere, Detroit upended New York 108-99, Boston tipped Cincinnati 114-110, Chicago trimmed Philadelphia 114-102, Los Angeles pounded Milwaukee 116-93, San Diego beat Cleveland 116-105, Portland outscored San Francisco 123-117 and Atlanta nipped Seattle in overtime 121-120.

In the American Basketball Association, Carolina bombed Kentucky 56-139, Virginia shaded Pittsburgh 122-119, Utah drubbed Texas 138-117 and Denver topped the Floridians 132-120 in overtime.

Carter connected on his first seven shots from the floor and the Bullets hit on 15 of 21 overall in building a 34-18 first quarter margin. They led 17-1 before the Braves finally hit from the field with 4:36 gone.

But Baltimore hit a deep freeze in the next 12 minutes and fell behind 44-43 at halftime after a 3-for-23 shooting debacle.

The Bullets regained their touch after intermission, raced to a 66-55 lead and were never headed again. Wes Unseld paced the surge and finished with 24 rebounds, while holding Buffalo ace Bob Kauffman to nine points—11 under his season average.

Dave Bing and Jimmy Walker, Detroit's backcourt partners, clicked for 31 and 21 points, respectively, as the Pistons zipped to a 21-point lead in the first half and went on to hand the Knicks only their second setback in the last nine games. Willis Reed of New York was the game's high scorer with 35 points.

Jo Jo White scored 26 points, and eight of Boston's last 12, in the victory over the Royals. His jump shot with three minutes to play broke a 104-104 deadlock and the Celtics repulsed a one-man rally by Tom Van Arsdale, who hit Cincinnati's last nine points for a game-high of 27.

Bob Love tallied 23 of his 37 points in the second half, leading Chicago to its fifth straight victory. Chet Walker scored 27 for the Bulls, handed out 14 assists and held Philadelphia hotshot Billy Cunningham to 14 points.

Happy Hairston, Jerry West and Gail Goodrich teamed up for 70 points as the Lakers erased a 48-45 halftime deficit to bring down Milwaukee. Hairston scored 24 points, West and Goodrich 23 apiece. The Bucks' Lew Alcindor was high with 27.

Elvin Hayes' 32 points helped San Diego snap a six-game losing streak and hand the Cavaliers their 50th setback in 61 games. Dave Sorensen topped the losers with 25 points.

Gary Gregor popped in 12 consecutive points in a four-minute fourth-quarter spree that shot the Trail Blazers past San Francisco. Gregor finished with 24 points, one less than teammate Jeff Petrie. Jeff Mullins scored 27 for the Warriors.

Two free throws by Pete Maravich with nine seconds left in the extra period won for the Hawks before a record Seattle crowd of 13,136. The former LSU star scored 12 points, six in the overtime.

Atlanta's Walt Bellamy was the game's high scorer with 39 points. Lenny Wilkens led Seattle with 30.

Wrestling Planned Feb. 12

Wrestling returns to the Scurry County Coliseum at 8 p.m. Friday, Feb. 12, after a long absence. There will be a four bout card.

The last match on the card will be an eight-man over the top battle royal. A $500 purse will go to the winner. To be eliminated, a man must be thrown over the top rope onto the floor. The participants are Man Mountain Mike (640 pounds), the Beast, the Butcher, Ricky Romero, the Lawman, Bull Ramos, Pak Song and Killer Karl Kox.

Man Mountain Mike, the largest man in wrestling today, says this type of match is his specialty because of his weight advantage.

The main event will be Crazy Killer Karl Kox going against Ricky Romero. Killer Karl Kox, the craziest and wildest man in wrestling today, will be making his first appearance here Friday night. He is the "most vicious" wrestler ever to crawl into a wrestling ring. He is notorious for using a black glove on his opponent to beat him. When he tangles up with Ricky Romero, the most popular wrestler ever to appear in Snyder, he will be in for a rusy night. The fans will long remember this match.

The semifinal will be a tagteam—the Beast and the Butcher Vs. the Lawman and Man Mountain Mike. The beast and the butcher are the new Western States Tagteam champions and they are a rugged team. The Lawman says he is going to hold them down while his partner, Man Mountain Mike, gives them his famous belly squasher.

The special event will be Pak Song Vs. Bull Ramos. This is the match the fans have been waiting for, as these two "hated" wrestlers square off and try to tear each other apart.

A huge crowd is expected for these matches. For reservations, call the Scurry County Coliseum. Tickets cost $2.50 for ringside, $1.75 for general admission, and $1 for children of ages four through 11.

Ira Girls Win, 39-37

ROBY—Ira's girls, champions of District 10-B, played Weinert, Zone 1 champion in District 26-B, in a practice game here Friday night and beat them 39-37.

The Ira girls had to come from behind to get the victory. They trailed 13-5 after one quarter and 22-17 at halftime. However, they went ahead 28-27 in the third quarter and held onto their lead.

Jan Kruse sparked the Ira attack with 22 points. Janie Roddy put in 10 points. For Weinert, Brenda Boone tallied 14 points, and Walene Bredthaver roped 12 points.

Beverly Autry, Gail White and Debbie Sterling did an excellent job on defense for Ira.

IRA (39)—Roddy 4-2-10; Kruse 8-6-22; Payne 1-1-3; Erwin 0-4-4; totals 13-13-39.

WEINERT (37)—Bredthaver 6-0-12; Boone 4-6-14; Mayfield 3-3-9; Earp 1-0-2; totals 14-9-37.

Matson Wins In Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Randy Matson settled another score with Al Feuerbach Friday night at the Fort Worth Coaches Indoor Games in their continuing shot put feud, but the distance was still far short of the goal the Pampa, Tex., ace wants.

The massive Matson flipped the indoor shot—bigger and softer than the regular outdoor variety—68-feet, 4-inches to easily take the first place medal.

Feuerbach of Los Angeles, who set a world indoor record of 68-11 in San Francisco in January, could propel the shot only 66-7 ½.

Matson, the Olympic champion and a former star at Texas A&M, wants to hit the 70-foot mark indoors. He holds the world outdoor record of 71-5 ½.

Matson said there was more pressure on him than usual at Fort Worth.

"I would hate to get beat in Texas and Fort Worth," he smiled. "I'm disappointed I didn't get 70-feet."

There are a number of spotlight events tonight including a duel between John Pennel and Olympic king Bob Seagren in the pole vault; Dick Fosbury in the high jump; the Mills brothers, Curtis and Marvin, versus Joe and Gene Pouncy of Southern Methodist in the 60-yard dash, and Tom Van Ruden in the mile.

The only meet records set in Friday night's preliminaries was a 30.6 in the 300-yard run by Robert Mitchell of the University of Houston and a 43.1 by Jimmy Evans of Dallas Baptist in the 400.

Mike Branch, a Fort Worth Southwest High School student, set a new indoor state record in the high jump with a leap of 68-¼.

Matson's series started at 65-10, increased to 67-3, dropped off to 67-1 and 66-6 ¾. He climbed to 67-8 before he made his winning toss.

In the only other open division final event, Oklahoma State went to a victory in the two mile relay in 7:35.7.

Interviewers Not Perfect

Career Corner
by Joyce Lain Kennedy

When you're in the job interview chair (hot seat), you may not realize that the employment interviewer doesn't always do HIS job right. Interviewers are not 100 percent perfect — they can flub, too. If you've carefully thought out your goals in advance, you may be able to subtly correct an interviewer's mistakes by tactfully offering pertinent information.

ARTHUR ECKBERG, director of placement and career planning for Roosevelt University in Chicago, has identified these common faults of interviewers who recruit on college campuses:

1. Failure to properly identify job structure and applicant qualification for positions.

2. Failure to keep applicants informed about job possibility following the initial interview. When there is no match whatsoever, it behooves the interviewer to clarify the situation at the end of the campus interview.

3. Failure to make decisions based on fact, but rather upon emotions and intuition. Too frequently candidates are judged on the basis of what they have done – not on what they might be able to do.

4. Some interviewers are not thoroughly conversant with their organization and its particular needs.

5. Failure to really seek out the adventurer or entrepreneur type, even though their publicity extolls these virtues.

6. Failure to relate effectively to students because of poor interviewing attitudes. Often this type of recruiter talks too much, and as a result, can't possibly assess the various student interviewees.

7. Failure to listen carefully to students. Listening is more than refraining from speaking.

8. Too much chit-chat. Possibly this type of interviewer really doesn't know the job requirements and is trying to fill the interview time.

9. Failure to understand the college, its students, its faculty, and its academic efforts.

10. Failure to consider how an applicant would fit in with the "home team." If the recruiter makes decisions based only on the job requirements – "by the book" – he may overlook a vital personality ingredient in an applicant that would make for a happy and productive working association with those already employed by the company.

SECOND TRY. If the interview goes badly, and you believe the interviewer handled his end ineptly (discuss with your school's placement personnel) – or, if you didn't do your best – you have little to lose by trying a salvage operation. Write an excellent letter to the recruiter. Do not knock his performance. Say something like, "Because I'm very interested in your company, I've reflected at length on our interview with the unhappy conclusion that I did not properly present my qualifications. I realize that your time is limited but I would greatly appreciate the chance to rediscuss with you the prospects of employment with your firm."

SUMMARY. Eckberg makes 2 observations in summarizing his counsel to job shopping college graduates that have broad application to all job hunters: First, people initiate and respond to communication in terms of their basic needs and wants. As a result, a job interview will flow with greater ease when the applicant is motivated on the basis of his interest in the employer and the job, rather than from the standpoint of having to be sold or persuaded by the interviewer.

Second, the art of effective communication depends on the ability of the interviewer to establish rapport. His approach must be honest, sincere and enthusiastic. He must abandon any stereotyped pattern of initiation and response in his approach to communicating with the student.

Queen Is Most Pictured Woman

By THOMAS A. REEDY
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — This week Elizabeth II is starting her 20th year as queen of Britain. Thanks to farflung post offices and mints she has become the most-pictured woman in the world—and probably the most-pictured person in history.

Leaders from Caesar to Hitler and Stalin have sought to popularize their images, but none has reached the pinnacle attained by Elizabeth II. This is not by her decree, but because custom calls for it.

Five billion new decimal coins will be in circulation by next week. That means five billion more portrayals of the queen.

In this country every coin, every piece of paper money, every stamp bears her likeness. Canada, where she is also queen, has her picture on money and on regular issues of postage stamps—not usually on commemorative issues. Many other Commonwealth countries use the likeness in one way or another.

Elizabeth's picture varies only slightly on stamps and paper money. On higher-value notes, those for 5, 10 and 20 pounds, she is facing forward, looking regal in formal gown and state robes.

The differences represent photo sittings over the years. The one-pound image is from a 1955 photo. The others are based on photos taken in 1959, 1961 and 1966.

On coins, the sovereign's portrait is a complete profile.

"There is a simple reason for this," a mint expert said. "If she were full-faced her nose would get rubbed off."

The decimal coins now being issued carry an image of the queen sculptured in relief by Arnold Machin and approved by the monarch in 1964.

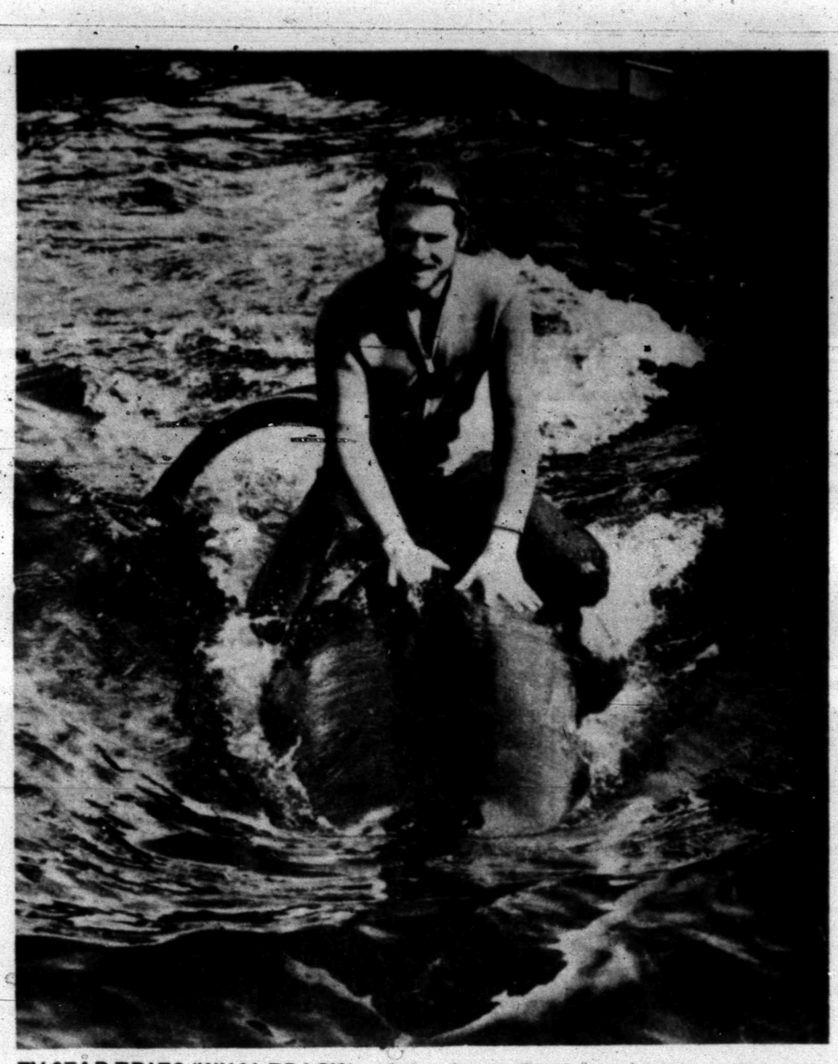

Every year or so, usually just before a state trip abroad, the queen has fresh portraits made. Autographed, these are given as gifts to the people she meets abroad.

The photographer usually takes one or two extra pictures which are set aside for use in stamp-making. Sometimes these are used in Britain; sometimes they are sent to a requesting Commonwealth country.

The queen has favorite photographers like Anthony Buckley and Cecil Beaton. When she is ready for a photo one or another is called in. Like any commercial photographer, he takes a variety of pictures. The queen makes the final selection, with the help of confidants including her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh.

There are many portraits too. Some were painted from photos. She sat for others.

Several of her sittings have been criticized over the years but the queen maintains a discreet silence about it all. She is a modest person at heart and associates close enough to know are certain she gets rather sick and tired of seeing herself everywhere.

TV STAR TRIES 'WHALEBACK' — Actor James Brolin of television's "Marcus Welby, M.D.," accepts a challenge and rides the back of a big trained whale as he and his family visited Marineland of the Pacific near Los Angeles. Whale-rising usually is done by two regular whale-trainers as part of an aquatic show at the huge oceanarium. (AP Wirephoto)

Michigan, Maine Get More Snow

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Arctic cold settled into a widening stretch of the midcontinent today while the remnants of a fading winter storm heaped more snow onto Michigan and Maine.

Heavy-snow warnings remained out overnight in Maine, where fresh accumulations in excess of 6 inches were forecast.

Considerable blowing and drifting, together with more snow, extended travel warnings through northern Lower Michigan and the state's entire Upper Peninsula.

A foot of snow fell across much of Upper Michigan Friday and forced scores of schools to close. At Ironwood, it was becoming a problem where to put new snow. Roads coursed through 8-foot-deep snow canyons as a result of a season total of 194 inches thus far.

A weak storm system over the Texas Panhandle scattered snow westward into New Mexico and northwest into Colorado, but most other sections of the nation were dry and there was an abundance of clear or clearing skies.

Temperatures dipped to zero and below from the northern Rockies to the Great Lakes and south into the Plains and Midwest.

Generally, however, the chill was less severe than a bitter-cold snap that rolled through the same region a week ago.

Fair and mild weather prevailed in most of the Far West.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from -7 at Fargo and Williston, N.D., and Glasgow, Mont., to 75 at Key West and Miami, Fla.

The Democratic Republic of the Congo has an annual economic growth rate of approximately seven per cent.

1,600 Indians Form Council

CHILLIWACK, B.C. (AP) — Representatives of 1,600 Indians in the Lower Fraser Valley area of British Columbia have formed a regional government-type council that represents 21 different bands.

It is hoped the council will be able to take over complete administration of major Indian problems in the area from the department of Indian affairs within two years.

Carr Denies Charges

DALLAS (AP)—Former Texas Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr says that the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission suit against him and others is a "blunderbuss" complaint.

In papers filed Friday, Carr asked U.S. Dist. Judge Sarah Hughes to deny the SEC request for a temporary injunction against him.

Carr and other defendants face a hearing Monday on the motion in the federal civil suit.

Carr said he never had "any connection whatsoever" with three defendant firms the SEC alleges are either controlled or owned by Houston businessman Frank W. Sharp, another defendant.

The firms are National Bankers Life Insurance Co. (NBL) of Dallas, Master Control Inc. and Olympic Life Insurance Co. of Fort Worth.

The former attorney general's claims are supported by his Austin law partner, John Osorio, another defendant in the suit. Osorio, president of NBL from 1963 to June 1970, filed an affidavit here Friday.

Both defendants assert Carr spent only one hour talking with "two or three" state senators in the fall of 1969 in an attempt to secure banking legislation sought by Sharp. Both said Carr discussed the bill with the unidentified senators at Osorio's request.

Carr said Osorio thought it was "a good bill, one which would be beneficial to small state banks who had experienced difficulty in competing with the larger banks for deposits, particularly those in excess of Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. limits.

Carr said he met with Sharp on "I think three occasions."

"The longest association I have had with Mr. Sharp was a period of approximately two hours, including lunch," he said, "when I traveled to Houston to inspect an apartment project on behalf of RIC (International), which RIC proposed to acquire."

Oilmen Seek New Reserves

HOUSTON (AP) — Natural gas pipeliners and distributors are taking actions of their own to halt as quickly as possible the growing national gas supply shortage.

They are pouring millions of dollars into the search for new reserves, either directly or indirectly.

Some are planning exploration programs of their own while others are providing cash for the industry producing segment that traditionally has supplied the bulk of the nation's reserves.

The Oil Daily says the equivalent to a 180-degree turn in operations by many pipeliners and distributors results not only from the gas supply shortage but from a significant Federal Power Commission rule change.

The FPC change made late last year now is undergoing study for possible revision but it permits the inclusion of exploration and development advances in gas rate bases.

"How far the new trend will go is debatable," The Oil Daily reports in a two-part special series on the new trend in gas explorations.

"Some authorities feel it will be restricted only by the amount of transmission and distribution cash available for gas exploration and development," the industry publication reports.

"A pipeline executive estimated the upward limit of this money at about 10 per cent of the gross revenues of the two gas industry segments. If the estimate is correct, this means they could pump hundreds of millions of dollars into the lagging search for gas. More conservative-minded observers say it's too early to tell how many pipeline and distributor dollars will go into the gas fields and prospective gas fields," the publication said.

The Oil Daily says the natural gas pipelines and their distributor customers are moving in the direction of buying their gas reserves before they are developed or, in many cases, before they ever are found.

The publication reports that recent FPC decisions are said to have cast some doubt on the kind of advances which will be allowed but that one of the latest types to come to light is a large interest-free loan from a pipeline to an operator for the development of a gas area in the Gulf of Mexico off Texas.
