Consumer prices show slight gain

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumer prices, spurred by the first food price hike in four months and a record gain for oranges, rose a tiny 0.2 percent in June, the government said today.

The gain, which left inflation running at an annual rate of 4.1 percent so far this year, came despite the first drop in gasoline prices since February.

Food prices overall rose just 0.1 percent last month and would have posted a drop without the 22.5 percent gain in orange prices, the Labor Department said.

Indeed, egg prices were off a sharp 13.1 percent and beef prices fell 2 percent.

Gasoline prices, meanwhile, fell a sharp 1.5 percent to stand 13.2 percent below their peak of March 1981. The unusual summertime drop was attributed largely to the lingering glut on the worldwide oil market.

The economy's performance through the year's first half is better than analysts expected. Most, though, still foresee consumer prices rising in the neighborhood of 5 percent for the full year.

Consumer prices advanced 3.8 percent last year, the best pace in a decade.

Today's report, which showed inflation running at the same pace as in May, was the second bit of good news for the Reagan administration in two days.

On Monday, the Commerce Department said the gross national product rose at a surprisingly healthy 7.5 percent annual rate in the April-June quarter — even as inflation remains under control.

Analysts attribute some of the good inflation news to the strength of the dollar in comparison with other currencies. A strong dollar makes foreign goods cheaper to buy in the United States and also keeps pressure on U.S. manufacturers to price goods competitively.

Inflation, as measured by the Consumer Price Index, ran at a 5 percent annual rate in the first quarter and slowed to a 3.3 percent pace in the second quarter, mostly due to an easing in food prices.

Prices for food bought at groceries had soared at a 12.2 percent annual clip in the January-March period, the sharpest rise in nearly four years, but tumbled at a 3 percent rate in the following quarter.

For last month, the department offered these details:

—Fruit prices rose 3.1 percent and vegetable costs climbed 1.2 percent. Pork prices were up 0.3 percent while poultry prices gained 0.7 percent. The cost of meals at restaurants rose 0.3 percent and alcoholic beverage prices rose 0.5 percent.

—Transportation costs, driven down by the fall in gasoline prices, fell 0.2 percent. Used car prices were up 0.1 percent.

School post filled

School officials announced Tuesday the hiring of a new assistant superintendent for business operations for the Snyder Independent School District.

Newly employed is James A. Butler, currently the director of finance for the Abilene ISD.

He will replace E.D. (Doug) Flynn, who will retire this Aug. 31.

Butler, age 36, is expected to report for work locally Aug. 1, but will be "back and forth" until the beginning of school, assisting at both Snyder and Abilene.

His was employed for the Snyder position at a salary of $41,800.

He is a high school graduate of Colorado City, earning his diploma there in May of 1966.

He attended Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos, receiving his bachelor of business administration degree in 1970.

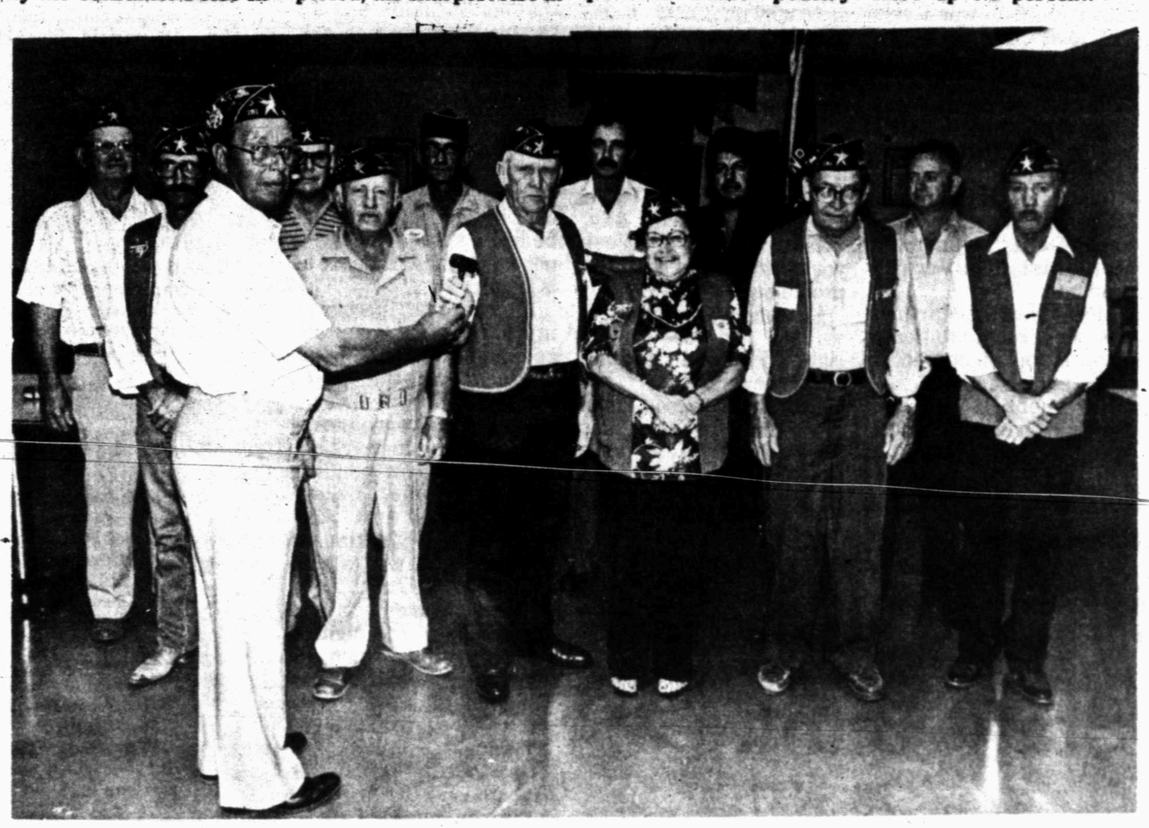

He also holds a master of education degree in school administration from Abilene Christian University. He is also a certified teacher at the secondary level.

From June of 1970 until October of 1972, he worked as a public accountant with the Midland firm of Peat, Marwick, Mitchell and Company.

In the fall of 1972, he joined the Midland ISD as supervisor of accounting, serving there until July of 1976.

He joined the Abilene ISD in August, 1976.

He and his wife Lucille have one son, Brian, age 10.

Search for missing continues...

9 dead in refinery explosion

ROMEOVILLE, Ill. (AP) — Rescue workers searched today for seven Union Oil Co. workers still missing following a refinery explosion that killed at least nine people, injured 23 others, cracked concrete foundations 15 miles away and cut off power to 10,000 homes.

The blast Monday evening was felt for 35 miles and left the refinery looking like "a giant erector set that had been stepped on," said Romeoville police Lt. Andy Barto.

Rescue workers were hampered for hours from recovering charred bodies at the site by the choking smoke and intense heat.

Officials early today had no information on what might have caused the explosion, which firefighters said occurred inside the refinery's coke plant.

Firefighters from about 30 communities battled five separate fires, which sent smoke swirling thousands of feet into the air. By early today, only one fire was still burning, and that was under control, said Romeoville police Sgt. Richard Nugent.

Nugent said the bodies of nine badly burned victims had been recovered from the explosion site, but none had been identified. There were 48 workers at the plant when the explosion occurred shortly before 6 p.m. Monday, he said.

Twenty-one workers were injured, two of them critically, in the blast and ensuing fires, area hospitals reported. Two Romeoville firefighters also suffered minor injuries fighting the blazes, said Assistant Chief Stephen Clancy.

The refinery straddles Romeoville and Lemont, about 25 miles southwest of Chicago. About 15,000 people live in Romeoville.

The explosion blew out windows and cracked building foundations in Joliet, said Sgt. Paul Dixon of the Will County sheriff's office.

"I was talking on the telephone," said Angela Schmidt of nearby Lockport. "The door blew open like someone threw something at it."

Some witnesses reported a second explosion shortly after the first, and others said there were also a series of smaller explosions.

"I heard the explosion, I turned around and hit the pavement," said Virgil Powell, a truck driver who was unloading a shipment inside the refinery's main gates.

Truck vendor 'bells' okayed

The "tinkling bell" which announces a traveling ice cream vendor will soon be heard in Snyder.

Monday night, city council members decided to amend a city ordinance which prohibits such bells — a change brought about by a second request from two individuals who have begun this type business in the city.

To make the change, council members had to delete a portion of an existing ordinance. Such an amendment requires two readings and technically the bell systems are still prohibited here until a second reading and vote can be taken.

City officials said Monday the next scheduled meeting is two weeks away, but indicated the amendment would be placed on a city agenda sooner if other meetings are required.

Requesting the action were Melissa Doty and Charlotte Greene, the operators of the two ice cream trucks.

It was their second such request to the council. An earlier one had been denied.

They went back to the group Monday noting that their experience to date indicated a sound system was an essential part of such an operation.

Greene commented, "It's a business that can't sit back and wait for the customers to come to it."

The safety factor of children running into the street in response to "a bell or music" had been cited earlier as the reason for denial.

Councilman Mickey Nunley, who made the motion to alter the ordinance Monday, noted that this could likely be better addressed with "common sense" on the part of the operator.

A more detailed ordinance related to the issue is expected to be passed during the next two months.

City council members present Monday were Mayor Rod Waller and Councilmen Don Osborn, Mickey Nunley, Troy Williamson, Truett Bryan and Gene Thomas. Tommy Davis was absent.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Life is funny. If we're smart, we have what it takes. If we're not, it takes what we have."

After Miss American got in the predicament about having those nude photographs published, it has caused a rash of telephone calls home to mom.

In every instance, the plea has been the same. "Please destroy those baby pictures with me lying on that bath towel."

It's been the American way to grow up and to discover with horror that your parents took your picture right after the Saturday night bath. If your parents won't cooperate by destroying both prints and negatives--you have legal grounds. You certainly were too young to have given your written permission.

It seems that the only ones to profit by the Miss American flap is the magazine publisher. Reports across the country indicate the "news" has resulted in a sellout.

If you think things haven't changed you might consider the evolution of boy-girl relationships. Today, a woman wouldn't think twice about stopping a male on the street to chat. If the year were 1884 instead of 1984, no wellbred lady would dare speak with a gent in public.

A century ago, there were some 40 etiquett books published to tell people how to behave properly. For example, "Ladies should avoid walking rapidly as it is ungraceful and unbecoming. Staring at people, spitting, looking back, saluting people across the street, calling out loudly or laughing at people, swinging the arms when walking, eating in public, and whispering in public conveyances are all evidence of illbreeding.

"When crossing the pavement, the lady should lift her dress with the right hand, a little above the ankle. To raise the dress with both hands is vulgar.

"No young girl would think of going out unattended by her mother. A man of honor does not, unless lacking in rudimentary social knowledge, compromise a young woman by being her constant escort for a long time without having some serious intention."

Yep, Geraldine, you've come a long way.

New sub-division plat is withdrawn

A development plan for a new sub-division in the Cedar Creek area has now been withdrawn and involved individuals say negotiations are now underway between the proposed developer, land seller and adjacent home owners.

The development plat was to be considered by the Snyder city council Monday, but was withdrawn as an agenda item at the request of developer Mike Graves.

Graves said Tuesday morning that talks are now underway between involved parties and that an announcement regarding future plans for the subdivision should be made soon.

The plat for the Cedar Creek Subdivsion Unit II was first submitted to the council July 9. At that time, opposition to the development was raised by a group organized as the Cedar Creek Homeowners Association.

David Strelecki, spokesman for the group of property owners, echoed Graves' comments Tuesday morning. He said negotiations regarding the proposal were underway and that he expected plans for the property to be announced later.

At the July 9 meeting, concern expressed by the homeowners involved possible drainage problems related to the project and square footage requirements of proposed residences.

The proposal had included requirements of 1,850 sq. ft. Existing homes in the Cedar Creek addition have a minimum requirement of 2,500 sq. ft.

Ask Us

Q. — Sunday's Ask Us question indicated that the tax amount for individuals age 65 or older was frozen for the Snyder school district. What about Ira and Hermleigh?

A. — Tax charges to senior citizens for all Texas school districts are frozen. This is the tax charge rather than the tax value, however.

In Brief

Bullock pulls out of race

AUSTIN (AP) — State Comptroller Bob Bullock says the message is clear: Texans aren't very excited about his running for governor — so he won't run in 1986, or ever.

"Frankly, there has been no great public clamor for my services as governor," Bullock said Monday. "If I were looking for a draft, I think I can now quit waiting."

Bullock's likely opponent, Gov. Mark White, responded, "I'm glad he did not receive a huge public clamor. I would have been disappointed if he had."

White said Bullock told him of his decision while they were at the recent Democratic National Convention in San Francisco, "and was very gracious. I am delighted with his announcement and look forward to continue working with him."

Debate black ink divisions

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp. and the United Auto Workers may be on their way to defusing health care as a bargaining issue, but job security and wages still loom as the biggest obstacles to avoiding a strike this summer.

GM and the UAW opened talks Monday on a contract for 350,000 workers to replace the historic 1982 accord which provided union concessions to the ailing automakers.

Second theft arrest made

Snyder police made a second arrest Monday in connection with the theft of a pickup owned by J.C. Herrera of Snyder Saturday afternoon.

Jailed on a charge of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle Monday afternoon was 43-year-old Elroy Duval McBride of Austin.

McBride remained in the Scurry County Jail Tuesday morning in lieu of $1,500 bond.

The Herrera truck disappeared from the parking lot of the Scurry County Coliseum Saturday afternoon. A 17-year-old suspect in the theft was arrested when the truck was recovered south of the city early Sunday morning.

Gramm to visit Sunday

Congressman Phil Gramm, Republican candidate for the United States Senate, will be in Snyder Sunday and is expected to announce the membership of his Scurry County steering committee.

A reception for him will be conducted in the community room of Snyder National Bank beginning at 6:30 p.m. with the public invited.

Refreshments will be served and Republican County Chairman Roy Baze has extended a welcome to all interested voters. "Although the time of day for the visit is not the most convenient for everybody, I hope a number of people can attend and talk to the Congressman," Baze said.

Property review Wednesday

The three-man board of review for the Scurry County Appraisal District will be in session beginning at 9 a.m. Wednesday to hear questions regarding real and personal property values.

Board members include Ross Carroll Jr., Harold Lacik and Walter Stirl. The board will be in session "as long as required," according to Chief Appraiser Ray Peveler.

A similar hearing related to oil values was conducted July 11 by the review board.

Street meeting tonight

A public meeting to allow comment regarding the extension of Houston St. is scheduled Tuesday at 7 p.m. at city hall.

The project is being funding by urban grant monies from the Federal Highway Administration. These funds are being channeled through the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation and personnel with the local state office will conduct Tuesday's session.

Laura Martinez named 1984 Miss Texas USA

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Laura Herring-Martinez, a 20-year-old model from El Paso, said her ability to stay cool helped win her the Miss Texas USA crown.

Miss Herring-Martinez, a native of Los Mochis, Mexico, was crowned Monday night by Laura Shaw, the reigning Miss Texas USA. She will represent Texas in the Miss USA pageant next May.

"My interview was strong. It comes really natural to me," she said. "I really don't get nervous. That and the eye contact."

Miss Herring-Martinez is the first Hispanic to win the title, said Richard Guy, director of the Miss Texas-USA and Miss El Paso pageants. She also was named Miss Photogenic during the pageant.

Interviewed by telephone from backstage at the Cockrell Theater in San Antonio before leaving for the coronation ball at the St. Anthony Hotel, Miss Herring-Martinez said she wasn't sure until the end that she would win.

"I was just thinking positive," she said. "I was gettting so nervous that my name wouldn't be called out, but it was.

"My first impression was compete shock. I was just crying. I couldn't believe it."

Miss Herring-Martinez, whose winnings include diamonds, a fur, a car, clothes and a scholarship worth a total of $80,000, is the stepdaughter of Manuel Martinez, a West Texas cattle rancher, and daughter of Maria Elena Martinez, a psychotherapist. Her parents were in the audience when she won. Her father is Raymond Herring.

First runner-up was Tonya Beddingfield, Miss Harris County, a University of Houston senior. Second runner-up was Karla Self, Miss Clear Lake City, a sophomore at the University of Houston.

Third runner-up was Angel Hightower, Miss Metroplex, a University of Dallas senior.

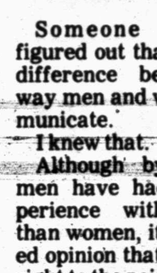

Fourth runner-up was Leigh Ann Medaris, Miss North Dallas, a Southern Methodist University graduate.

Miss Herring-Martinez said her career ambition is to be a top photographic model and an actress.

At Wit's End

by erma bombeck

Someone has just figured out that there is a difference between the way men and women communicate.

I knew that.

Although by tradition, men have had more experience with speaking than women, it is my biased opinion that women get right to the point faster.

My husband will walk into the house and I will say, "Why do you want me dead?" this not only gets his attention, it gets right to the heart of the matter as to why he insists on setting the air conditioning to 82. The man has eaten steaks cooked a a lower temperature than that.

Anyone who has ever read the Constitution will know that men are not tight with a phrase. First, my husband will say, "Had a busy day? I see you took the car out. Any problems?"

Fifteen minutes later, he will get to, "Why is the right headlight hanging out of the car?"

For some reason, men are not direct. This possibly comes with games businessmen play where they answer every question with another question.

I say, "How do you like my dress?"

He answers, "Are they wearing that style this year?"

I ask, "How do you like my haircut?"

"Are you pleased with it?" he asks.

"What time do you want to go to dinner?"

He replies, "What time do you want to eat?"

It's also been pointed out that our vocabulary is different. When women ask, "What do you think of this casserole?," "Interesting" is not the reaction we are looking for. On the other hand, when men point out the greatest quarterback who ever lived, and we remark he has a "cute tush," it is not exactly the response he is looking for.

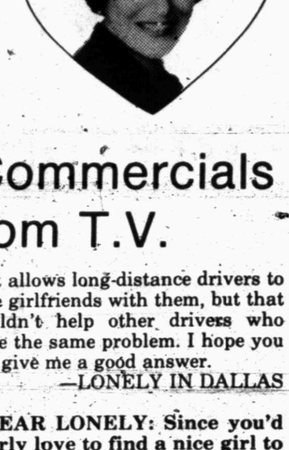

If you think there's no mystique about men who communicate, just listen to them on the phone sometime. They will carry on an intense conversation with a phantom voice for 20 minutes responding with, "No! I don't believe it. How could that have happened? What kind of numbers are we talking about? Wiped out, huh? Keep me posted. Call in the middle of the night if you have to." When he hangs up you aks, "What was that all about?" He shrugs and says, "Nothing."

One of the traits I've never been able to figure out is why men look at you like they're hanging onto your every word, when in reality they have tuned you out and have no idea what you have just said. Women have been trained to listen. When I asked my husband about this he said, "This is true because if women stopped lstening, they might miss something very important.

I don't know why more women don't get their own column. It's the only way I've survived.

Embarrassing Commercials Drive Family From T.V.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell me what can be done to stop the advertising of personal feminine products on television.

Last night my family and I were watching a good, clean movie at 9:15 when a commercial for "panty liners" came on. Our 13-year-old son was so embarrassed he got up and went to the kitchen for a snack. Our 16-year-old daughter put her head down pretending to clean her fingernails.

The next commercial was for a douche! I became so disgusted I turned off the TV.

I find such commercials embarrassing in mixed company, and degrading to women. Is nothing sacred anymore? My daughter says it's impossible to watch TV with her boyfriend because of these commercials.

Please address this issue, Abby. I'm sure most mothers feel as I do about it.

—DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: Write a letter of complaint to the president of the company that manufactures the product whose TV commercials you find offensive.

Also write to the TV network that aired those commercials:

Audience Information, ABC-TV, 1330 Avenue of the Americas, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Audience Services, CBS Television Network, 51 W. 52nd St., New York, N.Y. 10019.

Audience Services, NBC-TV, 30 Rockefeller Plaza, New York, N.Y. 10020.

Please keep the above addresses, and send your gripes, praises and questions to them.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I'm a professional truck driver. I run 48 states, and if I'm lucky, I get home every 35 to 40 days. I make real good money, but it's not real good for my love life. You see, I'm a 30-year-old single man and I'd dearly love to find a nice girl to share my life with, but it's impossible with my schedule.

The company I work for is a good one, but its policy is: "No riders unless it's your spouse." But with my schedule, how can I get to know a girl well enough to marry? If I met a girl I liked, I couldn't expect her to wait one, two or maybe three months to see me again.

I probably could find a driving job that allows long-distance drivers to take girlfriends with them, but that wouldn't help other drivers who have the same problem. I hope you can give me a good answer.

—LONELY IN DALLAS

DEAR LONELY: Since you'd dearly love to find a nice girl to share your life with, you could either enlist the support of other single drivers and petition your company to change the rules, or you could get another job. What good is "good money" if you're lonely?

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Recently a revelation occurred in the parking lot of a large supermarket, and I thought you might like to share what heretofore has been a closely guarded secret.

It has always disturbed me that shopping carts, after use, were left carelessly unreturned to the store from which they were borrowed.

The other day, while getting out of my car, I saw a gentleman start to push a shopping cart back to the store. His wife leaned out of the car window and yelled, "Don't bother, Honey. They hire yahoos to take those carts back!"

And all these years, I thought it was my responsibility!

—DENTED BY A RUNAWAY CART

DEAR DENTED: You were right. It always was—and still is—the responsibility of the customer to return the shopping cart, but because of "yahoos" like the woman in the parking lot, people are hired to round up abandoned carts and return them to the store.

NoDoz incident bars student from participating in sports

SAN SABA, Texas (AP) — A 17-year-old student who transferred to San Saba High School after being punished at his old school for taking a caffeine pill will be barred from sports during his senior year, the University Interscholastic League has ruled.

Charles Hardy was accused of taking or possessing the over-the-counter stimulant NoDoz while a student at Early High School and was suspended from extracurricular activities.

After transferring to San Saba, the UIL ruled him ineligible to participate in sports.

Hardy contended he did not take the stimulant and his family claimed the boy did not move for athletic reasons, but a UIL executive committee decided otherwise Monday.

On Monday, the panel ruled that Hardy transferred specifically to pursue athletics, a move prohibited under UIL rules, and is therefore ineligible to participate in sports.

Hardy, who will be a senior this fall, transferred to San Saba in April after being disciplined three months before.

Early Superintendent Bobby Beard said he refused to sign a waiver allowing Hardy to participate in sports at San Saba because he felt Hardy moved to avoid the punishment.

Hardy was one of ten students — five boys and five girls — banned by Early school officials and the school board in February from participating in extracurricular activities for the remainder of the school year because they were accused of taking or possessing NoDoz.

School officials said the students were in violation of the school's athletic code. The code states in part that "any student found to be using or handling any kind of alcohol or illegal drugs is subject to dismissal from the school."

Officials acknowledged that NoDoz is not an illegal drug, but said that in taking it, students violated the intent of the rule.

Jerry Biehl, Early school board president, at the time said he believes the students took the tablets thinking they would act as a stimulant during basketball games.

Hardy's family contended the boy moved because his father did, not as a reaction to the disciplinary action. The family has owned land in San Saba for quite some time, said Jean Hardy, the student's mother.

William Grusendorf, superintendent of schools at San Saba and chairman of the UIL executive committee, said the three voting members of the committee decided unanimously that Hardy would be ineligible. Grusendorf and the Early representative to the committee did not vote.

"It was the feeling of the three that voted that he moved for athletic purposes," Grusendorf said.

In May, the UIL committee voted to make Hardy ineligible, but decided to hold a second hearing after the Hardy family said the first was not conducted fairly. The family filed a lawsuit against the UIL in state district court.

Mrs. Hardy said she did not know whether the family would continue to pursue the suit.

Exhibition scheduled

LUBBOCK—Lace, once as desired as gold and smuggled throughout Europe, will be featured in a major exhibit and a special clinic at The Museum of Texas Tech University, beginning in August.

The six-month exhibit, "The Language of Lace," will open with a public reception from 2:30 to 4 p.m. on Aug. 26.

International lace expert Pat Earnshaw of Guildford, England, will speak at a Sept. 24 luncheon and will conduct the clinic on Sept. 25. Cost for the meal is $8. The clinic will be available to the general public for $35, to members of the Women's Council of the West Texas Museum Association for $30 and to students for $25.

Since enrollment is limited, reservations for either event must be made by calling (806) 742-2443 or 742-2461.

Clinic participants will receive an illustrated lace reference manual which will also be on sale throughout the exhibit.

The exhibit includes both antique and machine laces from the 16th century to the present, most from The Museum's collection.

Exhibit creator Betty Mills, curator of costumes and textiles, said The Museum has exquisite examples of handmade laces.

Sixteenth century laces in the exhibit are on loan from the Art Gallery at Syracuse University. Other laces on loan from Syracuse strengthen the exhibition, particularly early bobbin laces of the 17th and 18th centuries.

The show includes both men's and women's lace fashions from the 16th to 18th centuries, considered the Golden Age of Lace.

"At that time," Mills said, "lace was considered more valuable than gold and was even made of gold and silver. It was smuggled in and out of most European countries."

Clinic participants and those who buy the reference manual will learn the history of lace and how to identify authentic antique lace. Earnshaw will consult on individual's lace pieces and on pieces in The Museum's collection.

Earnshaw has written three books on lace; collected and studied lace for 14 years; has been a lace consultant to Phillips Fine Art Auctioneers and Sotheby's Belgravia in England; and has been a lecturer for England's National Association of Decorative and Fine Arts Societies and the Victoria and Albert Museum.

Reunion slated

The reunion of the children of James, Ernest and Effie Lee is set for Saturday and Sunday, July 28 and 29, in the Towle Park Barn. All family and friends are invited to attend.

An obvious advantage to playing a suit contract is that you can trump losers in side suits that the dummy is short of. When the bidding indicates that the declarer will be ruffing in dummy, the wise defender attempts to cut down on the number of dummy's trumps.

On the given auction, West had no clue as to the best attacking lead. Accordingly he decided to decrease dummy's ruffing power. South won the opening trump lead in his hand and took stock. He had five black suit losers. If he could ruff four of these with dummy's trumps, he would make his contract. Unfortunately the strong probability was that West would win a club trick and be able to lead trumps once again.

It would be easy if a club trick could be given up to East, who showed out of trumps on the first round. But West certainly would not cooperate in that scheme. So declarer looked to his spade holding for the solution. It was there for the taking. As long as West did not hold both the king and the queen of spades, the contract was safe. The ace of spades was played and then the 10. West covered this with the queen and declarer trumped in dummy. He returned to the closed hand with the ace of clubs and led the spade jack, matching it with dummy's club jack when West followed low. Now communication was secure for declarer to ruff all his club losers in dummy.

Family soup industry

By TOM HOGE
AP Wine & Food Writer

Back in 1905, a Russian immigrant named Louis Tabatchnick came to America, pockets crammed with recipes from his homeland's Jewish community, including the family formula for vegetable soup.

Tabatchnick eventually set up a chain of delicatessens in New Jersey featuring pickled herring, smoked salmon and other native specialties. To wash them down, his wife brewed a daily pot of the family soup.

Years later, grandson Seymore Tabatchnick opened a delicatessen chain of his own in New York and New Jersey, featuring the Russian delicacies, plus the soup.

So popular did the soup become that Seymore's wife, Isabel, began brewing a dozen varieties, ranging from the original vegetable, to chicken dumpling, barley and cabbage. Soon she was making a hundred gallons a day.

Today the family is turning out soups in 500-gallon drums in a factory, packaging them in boil-in bags, and shipping them to supermarkets in many states.

Mrs. Tabatchnick and her mother still test new soups in the family kitchen and try them out on customers in the family delicatessens before brewing them in bulk.

"There are problems," she told me recently. "To go from a pot of homemade soup to a 500-gallon drum involves more than multiplication. It never comes out right that way. You have to keep testing as you increase the amount, to retain the original flavor."

They freeze the soup in bags before shipping, she told me, because to can it would necessitate using stabilizers and other additives.

The soups are made along kosher guidelines and are generally low in fat.

Quite naturally, Mrs. Tabatchnick will not reveal the recipes for her soups. But she did give me the formula for a curry stew in which her chicken soup is used. Here it is.

Whole chicken (about 2 pounds) cut into eighths
2 packages of the family's frozen chicken soup with noodles and dumplings
2 small onions, quartered
1-3rd teaspoon yellow curry powder
1 pound frozen peas
2 cups chunky apple sauce
1 red Delicious apple, unpared, sliced and cored

Brown chicken. Defrost soup and heat. Drain soup, taking out noodles and dumplings and setting aside. Add soup to browned chicken. Add onions and cook 30 minutes. Add apple sauce, the sliced apple, peas and curry, which has been mixed with 1 cup broth from pot. Cook 15 minutes. Add the noodles and dumplings, cook 5 minutes more and serve. Serves 4.

WEEDERS GUIDE

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

The safflower seed yields an oil that doesn't become absorbent in the digestive system. The American Heart Association recommends highly polyunsaturated oils and lists safflower in the top echelon.

The 100,000-acre safflower fields of the Northern Plains and Consolidated Grain Co.'s Culbertson, Mont., plant, which I visited recently, resemble a huge checkerboard, the patterns due largely to crop rotation blocks of golden wheat and small grains, darker safflower, and fallow.

General Manager Jimmy Segar says his mill's storage capacity is 4,000 tons of meal, 20,000 tons of seed and 1.2 million gallons of oil. It can process 240 tons of seed each 24 hours, getting 85 to 90 tons of oil. About 5.6 pounds of seed bring a quart of oil. There are about 15,120 seeds per pound.

Larry Rasmussen, head of quality control, says no preservatives are added to the oil, almost colorless and odorless after the final refining. He recommended refrigerating containers after opening and says safflower may be frozen.

A computer now analyzes seed and oil in five minutes, a chore that takes five hours manually.

Planting seed is coated for disease resistance. He says their best variety yields up to 45 percent oil, depending on growing weather.

Rasmussen says safflower oil gives popcorn a buttery flavor, so less butter is needed.

Some oil is left in the seed mash, bought by a neighboring mill where it is fortified and sold for cattle and poultry feed.

Ronald L. Anderson, senior vice president, said the area climate was excellent for safflower, which likes a hot, dry, sunny July and August. Safflower, he related, mellows the ground for other crops, returns some nutrients to the soil and eases salinity problems.

Safflower was introduced to the U.S. in the 1700s when immigrants brought seed from eastern Europe, mostly for use as a dye. The first study of safflower cultivation in this country was in California in 1899 and the first effort to grow it in Montana took place in 1928. California and Arizona are large growers. Mexico raises most.

Safflower's recorded history dates back 2,000 years to the Han Dynasty in China, where the dried flower continues a herbaceous medicine. For centuries it has dyed food and clothing, and was a less expensive substitute for saffron.

In Egypt, mummies were found in bindings dyed with safflower orange. A Greek Army doctor (about A.D. 60) described and illustrated 600 medicinal plants, including castor, safflower and sesame, the latter two used to color soup and rice dishes.

Iranians and Afghanistanis used it as carpet dyes; in India it preserved leather and waterproofed cloth. Ancients claimed a brew made from the foliage prevented abortion and barrenness. Charred safflower oil was used to treat sores and rheumatism; seeds were used in a tonic, and the blossoms in rouge and as a mild laxative.

Family to meet

Members of the Robinson family and their friends will gather at the Northeast Community Center on Sunday, July 29, for a family reunion.

Family history workshop set

LUBBOCK—A free, genealogical workshop featuring research books and maps, classes and a sale of genealogical and historical books and magazines will be presented by the South Plains Genealogical Society (SPGS) from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Saturday, August 4 in the Municipal Garden and Arts Center located at 4215 University Avenue.

Two classes for beginners in genealogical research are scheduled for 9:30 a.m. and 2 p.m. with an advanced class slated for 10:35 a.m. Instructors for all sessions are SPGS members who are experienced genealogists. Other members will be available throughout the day to help answer questions.

In addition to books and periodicals available for individual research, other materials will be available for purchase. Persons wishing to sell related books and magazines may add them to the book table. A ten percent commission will go to the Garden and Arts Center and ten percent will be given to the SPGS.

Workshop researchers may bring sack lunches. Coffee and cold drinks will be available.

PUBLIC NOTICE

AT&T Communications has filed with the Public Utility Commission (PUC) of Texas to introduce a new intrastate, optional long distance service to begin August 1, 1984, the same date "Reach Out® America" plan will be available for interstate calls.*

A new service designed to give customers the opportunity to reduce the cost of long distance in Texas has been filed with the state PUC by AT&T Communications of the Southwest, Inc.

"Reach Out® Texas" is an optional calling plan which will provide additional discounts on long distance rates for Texas customers who frequently place calls in the evening, weekend, and night time calling periods.

The new "Reach Out® Texas" plan for the first time extends the benefits of competition to many Texas consumers who previously have not had any discounted long distance service available to them.

AT&T Communications customers who choose this new optional service will pay a monthly charge of $14 which entitles them to one hour of intrastate "Direct Dialed" (1+) calling during the weekend and night rate period.

An additional customer savings for those participating in the plan will be that any Direct Dialed calls placed during the weekend and night rate period that exceeds the one hour period will be charged at an hourly rate of $12, or $ .20 per minute.

Customers selecting this option also receive an additional 15 percent discount for intrastate Direct Dialed calls during the evening discount rate period for a total savings of approximately 38 percent.

A one-time charge of $6 is billed when a customer orders the "Reach Out® Texas" plan. The $6 is collected by AT&T Communications and paid to the local telephone company to establish the service. This charge will be waived during the first 90 days that the offering is available.

AT&T Communications is proud to offer this optional service for its Texas long distance customers and will in the future continue to introduce cost cutting programs to help Texans reduce their long distance bills.

A complete copy of the "Reach Out® Texas" tariff and rate schedule is on file with the Texas Public Utility Commission at Austin, Texas.

AT&T Communications estimates that the revenue impact of this new service would be significantly less than 2.5 percent of annual gross revenues.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene or participate or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information also may be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division at (512) 458-0223 or (512) 458-0227, or (512) 458-0221, teletypewriter for the deaf.

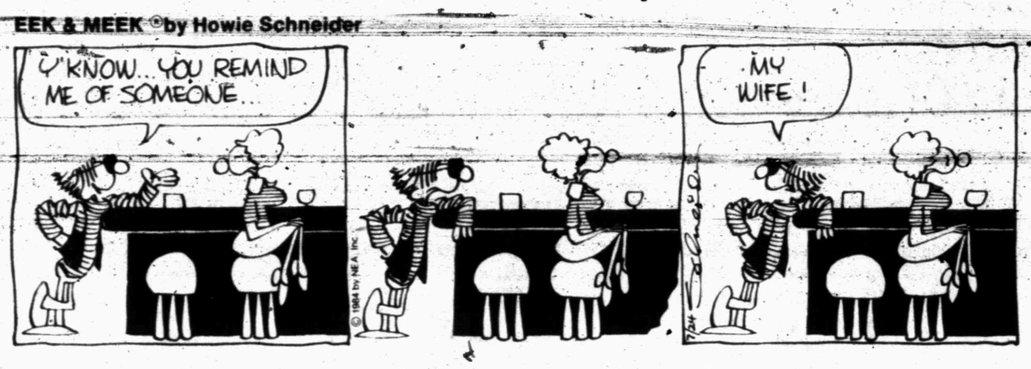

*Customer billing for the optional calling plan will be provided for AT&T Communications through billing contracts with the local telephone companies. Therefore, the introduction of these rate plans into a specific area is contingent upon local company billing capabilities. Southwestern Bell Telephone Company has agreed to handle the billing in its service areas effective August 1, 1984.

Diet pinpoints food intolerance

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a 30-year-old female and have been suffering from diarrhea for more than two years, since my last child was born. My gynecologist put me in the hospital for an upper and lower GI series and gall-bladder test. Nothing was found. He prescribed Lomotil, which I took for a while and then couldn't take anymore.

Then I went to a specialist and he gave me every kind of test, including another upper GI with small bowel studies and various lab work. Just recently I had a very painful colonoscopy. The doctor said everything looked fine except for some inflammation of the colon. He prescribed Imodium, which I am taking.

Could you please tell me what causes this diarrhea and why it isn't getting any better? My doctor doesn't seem to offer any answers.

DEAR READER — Evidently, despite rather extensive evaluations, no cause for your diarrhea has been found. Sometimes even repeated stool cultures fail to identify various organisms that can cause diarrhea. Giardiasis is one example. The organism is found in some drinking water and may be one cause for "traveler's diarrhea."

If there is no infectious process present, then you need to think about substances that are a common cause for unexplained bowel complaints. The best known is lactose intolerance. Individuals with this problem often stop having problems by eliminating all milk and milk products from the diet.

A more rare problem is intolerance to gluten, which is found in all cereals except rice and corn. Soybean products may be used as a substitute in most of these cases, too, even though they are not cereals.

After such an extensive negative evaluation, you are justified in trying some strong measures. An elimination diet may help you find out if food intolerance is the cause. Eat and drink nothing but distilled water, lean beef and rice for several days. Use no seasoning but salt. If your symptoms disappear, you are on the right track. Gradually add food items one at a time to find out what you can and cannot tolerate. I hope that this will include enough to build a balanced diet.

I have discussed other details about diarrhea in The Health Letter 13-8, What You Need to Know About Diarrhea, which I am sending you. Others who want his issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I would like to know whether lemon juice reduces one's cholesterol level.

DEAR READER — I wouldn't think so. The only possible way it could help would be from its vitamin C content. There is some evidence that guinea pigs, and perhaps humans, that are truly deficient in vitamin C will develop fatty-cholesterol deposits in their arteries. But these animals were so low in vitamin C that they had scurvy. Arteries in that condition are damaged from the lack of vitamin C and are more prone to develop fatty-cholesterol deposits.

Of course, you could get vitamin C from many other sources, including oranges, grapefruit and tomatoes. You might eat more of these rather than using a lot of lemon juice.

Some people seem to think that because a food is acid it will dissolve cholesterol in the body. But the stomach already produces more acid than one gets from such food items. And all that acid is neutralized in the small intestine.

Your Birthday

July 25, 1984

There is a good chance you'll be meeting numerous new people in the year ahead, many of whom will become fun-loving buddies. However, take care not to get close to any troublemakers.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) A dilemma involving several friends can be solved today through a good brainstorming session. However, focus only on the problem, not on personalities. Want to find out to whom you're best suited romantically? Send for your Matchmaker wheel by mailing $2 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. Reveals compatibilities for all signs.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your chances for success today are excellent if you first take the necessary time to study conditions carefully. Don't make any assumptions.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Persons who can help you achieve your aims or goals may offer you some much-needed advice today. Don't be too proud to listen attentively.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You're an excellent salesperson today, but you're also easy to sell. Make sure any presentations or demonstrations are done only by you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) If you don't try to pretend to know more about a subject than you really do, a meeting of the minds with important associates can be achieved today.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) This is an excellent day to accomplish many mental tasks with co-workers. Don't let little aches or pains keep you away from your desk or workshop.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Be forthright in your dealings with your friends today, so that no minor misunderstandings could arise from something carelessly presented.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) There is still a nosy busybody trying to mingle in your family's intimate affairs today. Keep this person away until the matter is settled.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) The communication lines with a pal are now open for you to discuss a matter of importance. Don't be sidetracked by busy signals.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If you put your ingenuity to work for you today, there's little doubt that you should be able to turn a profit no matter how dire things appear.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your common sense should be able to filter out hearsay today from realistic facts. This valuable asset will help in personal matters.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) As long as you don't get careless, follow your intuition today, especially in ways to turn a profit.

Diplomat dies, more than 100 injured as trains collide

NEW YORK (AP) — Investigators were trying to determine whether a broken signal or human error caused two passenger trains to collide head-on, killing one rider and injuring 115 in Amtrak's fourth fatal accident this month, officials said.

The collision Monday on elevated tracks in the borough of Queens occurred when the Boston-bound Zip failed to wait for the southbound Shoreliner to pass, said Amtrak spokesman Clifford Black. The trains were traveling on the same track because of repairs, he said.

The impact derailed both locomotives and four cars on each train. Firefighters had to break windows to rescue trapped passengers, and the most severely injured were lowered in cherry pickers 80 feet from the tracks to waiting ambulances below.

Others were evacuated into another train that pulled alongside the derailed cars and taken to Pennsylvania Station. Traffic started moving on the line again a little over three hours after the 10:45 a.m. accident.

Kidnapping...

Houston man charged

HOUSTON (AP) — A Houston man accused of threatening an associate at gunpoint until he wrote checks totaling $20,000 was charged in the kidnapping of a Mexico City millionairess and was being held on $1.5 million bond, authorities said.

U.S. Magistrate Patrick J. Attridge Monday set July 30 as a preliminary hearing date for Glenn I. Wright, 42, and his two alleged accomplices, Orland Tolden, 25, of Houston, and Dennis Moss, 26, of Cocoa, Fla.

Attridge ordered set bond for Moss at $1 million and Tolden at $500,000.

The trio is charged in the kidnapping of Edith Rosenkranz, 60, who was abducted Thursday in Washington D.C. and then driven around the area for two days.

She was released Saturday night three blocks from the White House after her husband dropped a briefcase containing $1 million at an Alexandria, Va., parking lot. The woman was not hurt and the money was recovered, authorities said.

Special Agent Norman Zigrossi of the FBI's Washington office said the Rosenkranzes were selected because the abductors "knew they had money and thought they would pay the ransom."

An affadavit filed by FBI Agent Laroy Cornett with U.S. Magistrate H. Lingo Platter claimed Wright was the mastermind for the abduction.

FBI agents searching the condominum of Wright and Tolden Sunday found only one possible clue in the case — a blank yellow piece of paper, according to federal sources quoted in the Houston Chronicle.

FBI officials would not say whether possible evidence was found in the search.

But the Chronicle quoted sources as saying the paper may contain indentations admissible in court.

W. Douglas Gow, a special agent with the FBI's Houston office, would not confirm the results of the search, but said that even one piece of evidence could be crucial in the kidnapping case.

"It all depends how it fits in the scheme of things," Gow said.

Joyce said any seized documents will be sent to the FBI office in Washington, where they would be examined "for such characteristics as indented writing and latent fingerprints."

In the affidavit in Houston, Cornett said Rosenkranz — founder of the Syntex Corp., which developed the oral contraceptive — was contacted by the kidnappers on Friday, the day after the woman was abducted, and told she would be killed unless $1 million was delivered July 21 to a prearranged spot.

A man, later identified as Moss, retrieved the money on July 21 as federal agents watched. After driving "in a circuitous fashion," Moss met Wright and Tolden at a Holiday Inn, the affidavit said. Some time later, the woman "was pushed from the van and the three were arrested soon after," the document said.

Tolden made a "detailed signed statement" implicating Wright and Moss, the affidavit said, adding that the scheme was drawn up two weeks ago and that the three left for Washington on July 12.

Wright's father, R.H. Wright, described his son as a concert pianist, music teacher and acquaintance of the Rosenkranzes.

The elder Wright said he and his son argued over "personal matters" seven months ago and had not spoken since. He said, however, that Wright's mother gave the son $60,000 to $100,000 before she died last year.

But the elder Wright said his son was "the best person you could know. As far as I know, outside of some speeding tickets, he's never been arrested."

Houston police said Wright was questioned early last year after his roommate, Tony Ivey, 23, was shot and killed. Homicide Sgt. G.T. Neely said Ivey was shot in the back and lower body three times. Wright discovered the body in the bathroom and called police. No charges ever were filed in Ivey's death.

Refinery should have been closed

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — A Chevron USA Inc. refinery should have been shut down for "humanitarian" reasons rather than spew illegal levels of sulfur dioxide into El Paso's air seven years ago, a federal official has testified.

The refinery emitted an extra 20 to 25 tons of the pollutant a day during an 18-month period that began in October 1977, said John Hepola, an official from Environmental Protection Agency's regional office in Dallas.

Hepola's testimony came during the opening day of a federal district court trial in El Paso in which Chevron is being sued by the federal and state governments and the city of El Paso.

Government officials are contending that because of a dispute with a subcontractor, Chevron operated the refinery without emissions controls from October 1977 to March 1979.

Maximum penalties could range up to $25,000 for each day of illegal emissions.

"It was something that didn't take a genius or the PhDs we had to realize it was a horrendous increase of (sulfur dioxide)," Hepola said.

Sulfur dioxide has been linked to higher rates of mortality, hospitalization and respiratory conditions, he said.

Hepola testified Chevron had other options in late September 1977 when the firm that collected its sulfur pollutant ceased operations.

When Chevron could no longer depend on El Paso Acid Co. to remove the sulfur, Hepola said, the refinery could have had taken over the defunct company's operations or switched to using a lower sufur content fuel.

New cancer cause may have been discovered

BAR HARBOR, Maine (AP) — The discovery of a genetic defect in children with bone cancer suggests that researchers may have stumbled on a pervasive cause of many types of cancer — damage to or lack of a gene that protects against the disease.

"I don't think all tumors will be caused by these mutations but I think a sizable proportion will be," said Dr. Thaddeus Dryja, an ophthalmologist at the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary and one of those who discovered the new class of cancer-causing genetic defects.

The defects are of a type that until a year ago had never been seen.

Unlike cancer genes, which when altered can trigger cancer, these genes protect against cancer. When the protective genes are missing or damaged, the cancer can then appear.

Webster Cavenee of the University of Cincinnati described the findings at a news conference Monday at Bar Harbor's Jackson Laboratory, where he is taking part in the annual Short Course on Genetics. The privately funded laboratory is a leading center for genetics research.

Children who survive a rare hereditary eye cancer called retinoblastoma often develop a bone cancer called osteosarcoma as teen-agers, Cavenee said.

When he examined the genetics of this hereditary form of osteosarcoma, he found that it was caused by the identical defect responsible for the eye cancer.

That defect, in a gene on chromosome 13, was originally identified in the eye cancer last year by Cavenee and Ray White of the University of Utah. Humans have 23 pairs of chromosomes.

Earlier this year, Cavenee reported finding a similar defect on chromosome 11 in Wilms' tumor, a hereditary children's kidney cancer.

Once Cavenee found that the eye cancer defect also caused hereditary osteosarcoma, Dryja started to look at osteosarcoma that was not hereditary, and preliminary results show that it, too, is caused by the identical genetic defect.

Osteosarcoma strikes 700 children per year in the United States.

Officials at the National Institutes of Health have given Cavanee about $2 million to begin searching for similar genetic defects in virtually every form of childhood cancer.

At the same time, White is searching for such a genetic defect in adults with breast and colon cancer, two of the leading cancer killers.

Inmate is stabbed at prison

PALESTINE, Texas (AP) — Texas prison officials said an inmate was stabbed Monday afternoon at a prison unit where guards only last week conducted a cell-by-cell search for concealed weapons.

Prison spokesman Charlie Brown said an inmate identified as Don Clay was stabbed four times at the Coffield Prison Unit. Clay was in stable condition at a Plaestine hospital, said Brown. Clay, 26, is serving a seven-year sentence on a robbery conviction from Travis County.

Former prison director harbors no ill feelings

WACO, Texas (AP) — Former Texas prison director W.J. "Jim" Estelle says he harbors no ill feelings toward those who figured in his departure from the state corrections system last fall.

Estelle, who resigned last October amid allegations of wrongdoing, mingled freely with law enforcement officials Monday at the Sheriff's Association of Texas convention, where old friends from across the state sought him out.

Estelle is a lifetime member of the association.

"My life is too short to engage in regrets," he said. "I must look forward. I have confidence things will level out and continue to progress."

Estelle, the son of a California prison guard, joined the First National Bank in Huntsville last month after serving as prison system director for 11 years.

Estelle declined to talk about his former job except to express a lingering frustration.

"The Legislature has tremendous responsibilities for all of Texas," he said. "My job was to get the priorities of the agency high on their list of priorities.

"Any frustrations I have now are directed inwardly at my inability to communicate that effectively," Estelle told The Dallas Morning News.

Estelle, who previously served on the bank's board of directors, is now undergoing several months of bank training.

"The pace is somewhat different," Estelle said. "I'm learning a new language. And I'm being involved in the community in a different way than I was before. I'm involved with a pretty specific market area now."

Estelle said he misses his former colleagues.

"I didn't count on losing my friends when I changed jobs and I don't believe I have," he said.

After four months of silence, Estelle said last February that he was "just angry" about allegations of wrongdoing and mismanagement within the prison system.

"I have never knowingly or willingly broken the law," he said then. "I do not lie or steal."

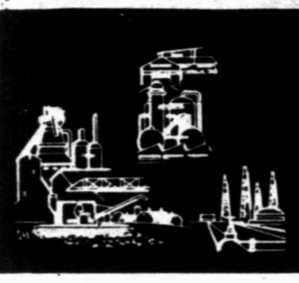

FCC actions announced

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission said Monday it had taken the following actions over the past week involving Texas broadcasters:

—Issued a construction permit for a new FM radio station on 103.7 megahertz in Hamlin, Texas, to the Grande Broadcasting Co.

—Ordered the start of hearings to compare the qualifications of three applicants competing for the right to build a new TV station on UHF Channel 55 in Lake Dallas, Texas.

Love, Medicaid combined on successful liver transplant

MINERAL WELLS, Texas (AP) — Thanks to a ruling earlier this year making liver transplant patients eligible for Medicaid coverage, a 5-year-old girl has a new lease on life.

Mary Evelyn Mosqueda returned home last week with a new liver and an $86,553.00 hospital bill, of which state Medicaid covered the first 30 days, or $82,104.23.

It was the first Medicaid-funded liver transplant in Texas history, and in the eyes of the child's adoptive mother, a miracle.

Nadine Brown smiled as she watched her daughter play. Almost five years ago, Mrs. Brown was told the child would die of a congenital liver ailment.

"Love works miracles," Mrs. Brown said Monday. "I wasn't going to let her die. It worked, didn't it?"

Earlier this year, Medicaid officials ruled that liver transplants had moved out of the realm of experimental surgery and therefore could be covered by insurance payments.

The remainder of Mary Evelyn's transplant will be paid for by a fund raised by the Ector County Children's Services board of directors.

Board President Vella Conally said $7,150 had been raised. Ector County authorities became involved in the case because Mary Evelyn was born to an unwed Odessa woman, who relinquished custody to the Browns almost immediately after the child's birth.

The Browns learned a few weeks later that the child suffered from biliary atresia, a fatal disease.

New Miss America will 'uplift' pageant image

NEW YORK (AP) — The new Miss America promised to spend her 7½-week reign trying to "uplift" the pageant's image after her predecessor, Vanessa Williams, reluctantly surrendered her beauty crown over the publication of sexually explicit photographs of her.

At a news conference Monday, a poised and smiling Miss Williams said she had wanted to complete her year as the 1984 titleholder, but realized that "because of all that has happened during the past week, it would be difficult for me to make an appearance as Miss America."

Miss Williams, 21, of Millwood, N.Y., the first black Miss America, thus became the first in pageant history to be forced to quit.

Suzette Charles, 21, of Mays Landing, N.J., the first runner-up in September's pageant, is also black. She said she was "excited" about becoming the 58th Miss America, but added, "It's unfortunate it had to be under these circumstances."

"We will move on and we will try to uplift the image of Miss America," Miss Charles told a news conference in Atlantic City after learning of Miss Williams' decision.

Miss Charles, a singer-dancer, will make her first official appearance in Huntsvile, Ala., on Aug. 1, pageant promoters said.

Although she assumed the title Monday, Miss Charles was not presented a crown. "We don't believe this is the time for that kind of symbolism," said Albert Marks, pageant executive director.

There was one bit of symbolism, however: The portrait of Miss Williams which had hung in pageant offices was taken down.

Marks said the pageant regrets "that circumstances ... have caused Miss Williams to relinquish her title." He said in a statement released in Atlantic City that she had "fulfilled all of the duties and responsibilities of her position in exemplary fashion."

He said no deal was struck with Miss Williams to get her to resign. She will be allowed to keep her rhinestone-studded crown, about $125,000 in personal appearance fees and a prorated amount of the $25,000 in scholarship money which was part of her prize, he said.

Miss Williams, a singer, said she would devote the rest of what she called "the most difficult year of my life" to "establishing what I hope will be a successful career in the entertainment business."

The pictures were taken in 1982 by a photographer in Mount Kisco, N.Y., where Miss Williams worked for a summer, and Miss Williams reiterated that she does not recall signing a release form allowing the pictures to be published.

Libertarians file suit against state

HOUSTON (AP) — Members of the Libertarian Party of Texas filed a federal lawsuit against two state and county officials Monday claiming the party was unconstitutionally denied a chance to be on the election ballot.

The party, 1984 Libertarian presidential candidate David Bergland and Harris County school board trustees Honey Lanham, William Fraser and Jeff Calvert filed the suit in federal court in Houston.

The suit against Secretary of State John W. Fainter Jr. and Harris County Clerk Anita Rodeheaver alleges the party was denied access to the ballot though its candidates in two of the last statewide elections received enough votes for ballot status.

Nurse thought woman was hyperventilating

DALLAS (AP) — Former nurse-dispatcher Billye Myrick says she delayed sending an ambulance to a 60-year-old because she thought the woman was hyperventilating and not dying.

Mrs. Myrick, who is trying to get her job back, testified at her appeal hearing Monday. Mrs. Myrick, who was dismissed March 16, told the city trial board that she may have erred in not sending an ambulance sooner to Lillian Boff.

But the medical director of the city's medical services testified that the nurse didn't ask enough questions to determine if Mrs. Boff was hyperventilating.

The hearing is scheduled to resume today.

On Jan. 5, Larry Boff called the Dallas Fire Department Jan. 5 seeking an ambulance for his stepmother. But Mrs. Myrick testified Monday that Boff's answers to her questions led her to believe the woman, who suffered from a heart ailment, was hyperventilating.

"On the second part of the call, I might should have sent (an ambulance) quicker than I did," Mrs. Myrick told the trial board.

But Dr. James M. Atkins, an associate professor at the University of Texas Health Sciences Center, testified that he believes Mrs. Myrick should have sent an ambulance as soon as she learned Mrs. Boff was 60 years old and was having difficulty breathing.

Atkins also said there "doesn't seem to be any logical sequence" to the questions Mrs. Myrick asked Boff and criticized her for making insufficient efforts to find out why the woman was having trouble breathing.

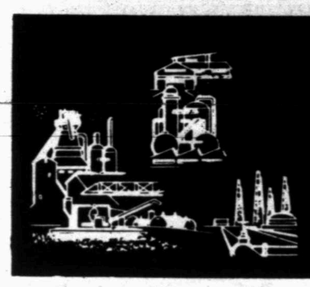

"She asked relatively few questions other than her age and what was the problem," Atkins said. "Hyperventilation would be my last consideration."

After cursing several times, Boff was turned over to fire Capt. Donald Greene, who instructed Boff to answer Mrs. Myrick's questions and not to curse. Mrs. Myrick returned to the phone, but when she asked for Mrs. Boff, Boff hung up.

Mrs. Myrick dispatched an ambulance after Boff's roommate called back, saying he thought Mrs. Boff was dead.

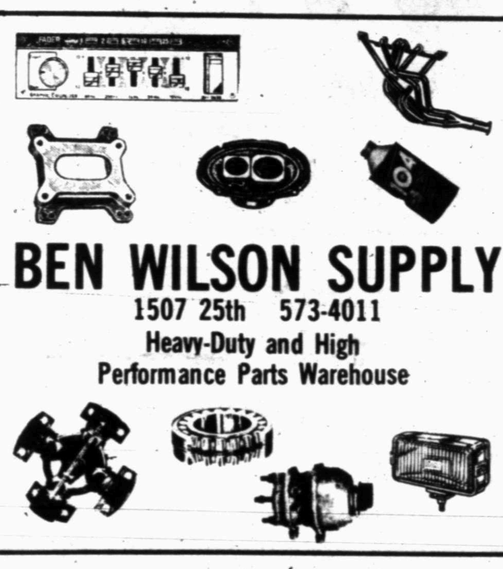

Greene was demoted but was later reinstated by a separate city trial board.

Citrus, petroleum, the movie industry, water projects and the automobile all had key roles in the booming growth of Los Angeles, according to National Geographic. Los Angeles began in 1781 as a Spanish pueblo.

Gary Busey prepared to play the title role in "The Bear," a film biography of Paul "Bear" Bryant, by studying 100 hours of videotapes of the late Alabama football coach. Gene Stallings, a Bryant protege, served as consultant to the film which is expected to be released in September.

Heat, freeze combo kills trees

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — In the midst of sweltering summer heat, Fort Worth's evergreen trees, damaged by last winter's record-setting freeze, are dying by the hundreds.

Nearly all of the 400 Italian cypress trees, carefully picked for a 1975 bicentennial planting project, have turned brown and lifeless. Only 16 are still alive, but dying slowly every day, officials said.

"We're still finding stuff dying day to day," said Charles Campbell, Fort Worth Parks and Recreation Department director. "We can't even assess this thing."

McDonald's emblems removed

SAN YSIDRO, Calif. (AP) — A crew working before dawn today removed the "Golden Arches" and other signs from the McDonald's restaurant where 21 people were killed by a gunman last week.

The crew also dismantled a small playground next to the restaurant. But the workers left undisturbed the flowers and signs left by relatives and friends of the victims.

About 70 people had held a candle-light vigil in front of the restaurant Monday night.

In the past decade, a record 20 million jobs were created in the United States while Europe lost 2 million. Continued U.S. job growth is expected between now and 1990, with the greatest occurring in service industries.

Artist will do portrait of La Grange

AUSTIN (AP) — An artist who painted the official portraits of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and his wife, Mamie, has been commissioned to do a portrait of the late Sen. John Wilson of La Grange.

Sen. J.E. "Buster" Brown of Lake Jackson said artist J. Anthony Wills was selected for the Wilson portrait by a committee that included Brown; Wilson's widow, Mrs. John "Pinky" Wilson; and Wilson's sister, Judy Walsh.

The 1983 Legislature directed the committee to select an artist to do a painting in memory of Wilson, who died of cancer at the age of 43 in 1982.

Wills, who lives in Houston, has paintings at the Eisenhower and Lyndon B. Johnson presidential libraries; Kennedy Center; and the Pentagon, Brown said.

Neither Israeli party wins majority

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Israel's two main political parties battled to a virtual stalemate in the general election, raising doubts today that either could forge an effective coalition with smaller parties.

Both Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir of the Likud bloc and Shimon Peres of the Labor Party claimed success in Monday's election. But both fell far short of an outright majority in Parliament, while smaller parties gained additional seats.

The Central Elections Committee, in the first official tally, said today that Labor edged Likud by 35.4 percent to 31.9 percent in total votes, based on a full count from all but 14 of 4,859 polling stations.

The percentages translate into 42 seats for Labor in the 120-member Knesset against Likud's 38, with some seats not yet apportioned, but several Israeli newspaper said today that Likud appeared to have the best chance of forging a new government with support from religious parties.

Actual vote totals were not available, but the election committee said about 80 percent of the 2.65 million voters cast ballots.

The results indicated that 13 small parties would win seats — the most since 1951 — and their support will determine which large bloc heads the next government. Those winning seats ranged from pro-Arab leftist parties to U.S.-born rabbi Meir Kahane, an anti-Arab extremist, but the most influential bloc may be the six religious-oriented parties who together won a projected 14 seats.

After consulting all the parties, President Chaim Herzog will assign either Shamir or Peres the task of building a coalition. The nominee has three weeks, with a possible three-week extension, to complete the job.

Peres, as leader of the largest party, claimed the right to try first. But Shamir is more likely to win the backing of the religious parties since they nd Likud share a belief that the West Bank belongs to the Jews by historical right.

Most pre-election polls forecast a comfortable win for Labor, and the relatively disappointing showing prompted some dejected party leaders to speak openly of ousting Peres, who led Labor to two previous election defeats.

Shamir, greeted by a thunderous ovation at Likud headquarters, renewed his offer to form a joint government with labor. If Labor refused, he said, "I am convinced I have the best prospect of forming a government."

Peres told supporters at Labor headquarters that he could form a coalition without Likud. His campaign manager, Mordechai Gur, said later, "We have to try to form our own government. If it doesn't work we have time to discuss" a power-sharing arrangement.

The campaign was fought mainly over the inflation-wracked economy. But the results showed the deep rift between those who support Likud's refusal to yield war-won Arab land and those who backed Labor's concept of immediate negotiations with Jogdan based on a land-for-peace compromise.

"The people are divided into two solid blocs. Maybe we should look for a new system of elections so that one party can govern even when the election is close," said Gur.

Any combination of parties that emerged to form a working majority of 61 seats was almost certain to be unstable, under constant threat of defections that could throw Israel into political chaos.

As the ballots were counted, both Peres and Shamir made overtures to the small parties, each hoping for a quick agreement to pre-empt his rival.

Negotiations could take weeks, or perhaps months, before a new government is installed. Until then, the Shamir Cabinet stays in office with full authority.

Likud has a natural alliance with the right-wing Tehiya Party, which won 4 seats; Morasha, a new religious right-wing party which won two seats; and Kahane, who won a seat.

All four parties advocate annexing the occupied West Bank, which was captured from Jordan in 1967, and building Jewish settlements there.

Overturned auto found

Snyder-based highway patrolmen investigated a one-vehicle accident south of the city on Texas Highway 208 at 1 a.m. Tuesday.

Officers reported discovering a 1975 Pontiac overturned in a field beside the highway just south of the city.

No one was found near the car and a check of the registration showed the vehicle to be owned by a Colorado City man.

Membership drive slated for lodge

SAN ANTONIO–A campaign to make Hermann Sons Lodges gain. new members will be conducted from Aug. 1 to Nov. 10 in all 159 lodges of the 80,000 Order of the Sons of Hermann in Texas, Louis B. Engelke of San Antonio, grand president, has announced.

The lodges are located in 141 cities and towns across the state. Lodge membership representative in Snyder is Anna Rose Kuss, Hermleigh Lodge No. 256.

On July 15 more than 800 lodge leaders from around Texas met in San Antonio, home office of the fraternal society, in a rally for the campaign. This rally followed a seminar attended by some 135 local lodge membership representatives.

Hermann Sons in Texas dates back to 1860 when Harmonia Lodge No. 1 was being organized in San Antonio. The lodge was officially chartered July 6, 1861.

Originally part of a national society founded in New York in 1840, Herman Sons in Texas became autonomous in 1921. Headquarters are located in San Antonio where the Grand Lodge was established in 1890.

The order in Texas operates a youth summer camp and a retirement home for aged members near Comfort and sponsors 27 dancing schools for junior members. Local lodges sponsor both social and benevelent activities. As required by law, the fraternal benefit society also provides life insurance for the benefit of adult and junior members.

Grass fire beside track

Snyder firemen were called to extinguish a grass fire on the Santa Fe right-of-way 14 miles southeast of the city at 2:35 p.m. Monday.

No substantial property damage resulted from the blaze.

Obituaries

Lyons

Services for Mark R. Lyons, 47, of Snyder will be at 2 p.m. Thursday at Bell-Seale Chapel with the Rev. Buck Hatfield, pastor of Faith Baptist Church, officiating. Burial will be in Snyder Cemetery under the direction of Bell-Seale.

He died at 7:45 a.m. Tuesday at Cogdell Memorial Hospital. He was born July 30, 1936 in Scurry County and had lived here all of his life.

He married Barbara McHannah Sept. 18, 1957 in Clayton, N. M. She survives.

He was a Baptist, U. S. Navy veteran and a member of the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

He is survived by a son, Roger, and daughter-in-law, Tori, two granddaughters, Tiffy and Terra, all of Snyder; his mother, Mrs. Bonnie Lyons of Snyder; a sister, Bonita Floyd of Humble; a brother, Charles Ray Lyons of Onalaska, Tex.

Quarter's drink tax returned

The City of Snyder has received a $20,844 check as its share of the 10 percent mixed drink tax collected during the second quarter of 1984.

In all, $24,139 was returned to Scurry County for the quarter. The county retains 1.5 percent of this remittance, which equaled $3,620 for the three-month period.

It was part of checks totaling $11.8 million sent to 222 counties and 426 cities. The state collection a total of $40.9 million in taxes on the sale of mixed drinks during the quarter, up 5.5 percent over the same period last year.

Texas cities and counties each receive a 15 percent rebate on the tax collected on mixed drinks sold within their boundaries under the law that legalized the sale of mixed drinks in the state. The state's general revenue fund receives the balance.

Vet Board sets new rate

The Veterans Land Board has set a new 9.25 interest rate for 30-year loans made to Texas veterans for the purchase of land, Garry Mauro, Texas Land Commissioner, has announced.

The new rate will be effective Aug. 1.

There is still money available at the old rate of 8.5 percent, Mauro said, and applications received by the Veterans Land Board postmarked by July 31 will be processed at that rate.

The Veterans Land Board offers loans up to $20,000 to eligible Texas veterans for the purchase of a minimum of 10 acres of land. More than 83,000 Texas veterans have participated in the program to date.

Veterans who would like additional information about the land program may contact the office of E. H. (Dan) Dever, Jr., Scurry County Veterans Service Officer, at Western Texas College.

Tax shelters, which provide significant financial breaks, have been a frequent target of the Internal Revenue Service. Now Congress is working on a bill to eliminate many of the abuses.

Little League playoffs...

Northern nips Snyder

ROTAN -- A bases-loaded sacrifice fly provided the scoring difference as Abilene Northern edged Snyder 2-0 in Little League post season play here Monday, earning the right to go against Lubbock Western.

Eric Gant's third-inning shot to centerfield was the green light teammate Chad McBride needed to scamper home, and he did, providing one of the few offensive moments in a defense-dominated contest. Abilene added one other run in the fourth inning on errors.

Northern will advance in the playoffs to challenge Lubbock Western at 8 p.m. Friday at Snyder's Logan Field. A second game will be held Saturday at 8 and a third, if necessary, at 8 p.m. Monday. Winner of the best-of-three series will earn a berth in the state tournament at Waco.

Both Snyder and Northern, normally solid hitting teams, were handcuffed by some fine pitching and fielding. Snyder offered Tracy Braziel while Northern countered with Matt Sherwood on the mound. Each pitcher relinquished only two hits - none of which figured in the scoring.

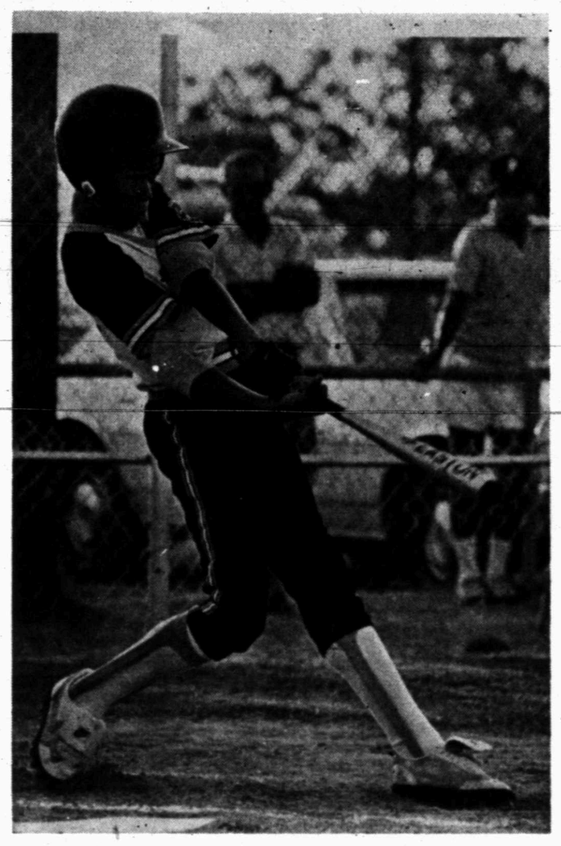

Sherwood began the game by striking out Snyder's first three batters. For the night, he fanned seven; Braziel struck out five.

Braziel got into trouble only in the third, and Northern took advantage. He handed out three straight walks before striking out Andy Gilbreth. Next-up Gant lofted a fly ball into centerfield for out No. 2, but baserunner McBride took the opportunity to sprint home.

In the fourth inning, Sherwood reached on an error, went to second as Joseph Escobedo walked, to third on a fly ball and came home on after back-to-back throwing errors.

Snyder threatened in the fourth when Braziel walked and Brandon Martin followed with a one-out bunt. Sherwood got Randy Morris to strike out, however, and Jason West hit a ball to the first baseman to retire the side.

In the sixth, Marcus Greene singled, advanced to second on a ground out by Willie Garcia and took third on a passed ball. But Braziel was another Sherwood strikeout victim and Martin lined out to short stop Gonzales to end the game.

Angels' Witt guns down 16 in win over Mariners

by The Associated Press

The Seattle Mariners were no match for Mike Witt, who had his control, concentration and strikeout pitch going for him.

Pitching what he called his best game of the season, the American League strikeout leader fanned 16 batters Monday night while hurling a five-hitter and leading California to a 7-1 decision over the Mariners.

"I had good control because I concentrated better than in recent games," said Witt, who won his sixth straight game to improve his record to 11-7 and boosted his AL strikeout lead to 127.

In other American League action, Detroit beat Cleveland 4-1, Kansas City took a double-header from Toronto, 9-8 and 7-2, Milwaukee turned back New York 6-4, Baltimore hammered Texas 9-5 and Minnesota crushed Oakland 14-4.

In the only two National League games played, the New York Mets edged St. Louis 4-3 in 12 innings and the Cubs defeated Philadelphia 3-2.

Witt had seven strikeouts by the end of the third inning and by the time he had faced 12 men, had struck out everyone in the Seattle lineup once. He fanned the side in both the second and seventh innings, both times getting Al Cowens, Dave Henderson and Jim Presley.

The 16 strikeouts set the 1984 major league high. Fernando Valenzuela of the Los Angeles Dodgers had struck out 15 in a game earlier this season.

Coupled with the 10 strikeouts by the Seattle pitchers, there were a total of 26 in the game, one short of the American League record for a nine-inning game.

The Angels made it easy for Witt, erupting for five runs and eight hits in the second and third innings against right-hander Mike Moore, 4-9.

Tigers 4, Indians 1

Kirk Gibson and Lance Parrish hit consecutive first-inning home runs and Jack Morris gained his 13th victory as Detroit beat Cleveland.

Morris, 13-6, limited the Indians to five singles in six innings, walking five and striking out five in picking up his first victory since he notched his 100th career triumph on June 24.

Aurelio Lopez and Doug Bair pitched the final three innings for the Tigers. Bair pitched out of a one-out, bases-loaded jam in the eighth, but gave up Andre Thornton's 22nd homer in the ninth before recording his fourth save.

Detroit, 10-2 since the All-Star break and 38 games over .500, jumped on Bert Blyleven, 9-4, for three runs in the first inning.

Royals 9-7, Blue Jays 8-2

Steve Balboni homered and drove in four runs and Greg Pryor singled in two runs in a five-run eighth inning to lead Kansas City over Toronto in the first game of their double-header.

George Brett doubled home one run and Jorge Orta tripled in another in a three-run third inning to carry the Royals in the second game.

Orioles 9, Rangers 5

Gary Roenicke and Rick Dempsey each drove in three runs and Cal Ripken went 3-for-4 to lead Baltimore over Texas. Ripken lacked only a home run to hit for the cycle for the second consecutive game in Arlington Stadium this season. Oriole starter Mike Boddicker, 11-8, got the victory, allowing 2 hits and four runs in 7 1-3 innings. He struck out four and walked none beore Tippy Martinez came on for his 14th save.

Twins 14, A's 4

Darrell Brown hit a three-run double and five teammates each drove in two runs as Minnesota scored a season-high 14 runs and banged out 17 hits, tying a season high, to overpower Oakland.

IOC board proposes future boycott penalties

LOS ANGELES (AP) - The Executive Board of the International Olympic Committee has unanimously decided "in principle" to penalize any country that boycotts future Olympic Games, according to IOC Director Monique Berlioux.

Berlioux told reporters Monday that the nine-member Executive Board recommended the change in Olympic rules to the full session of the 88-member IOC opening here today, but failed to spell out how the new rule should be enforced.

The change was prompted by the boycott by the Soviet Union and 13 of its allies of the Los Angeles Games, which open Saturday. None of the boycotting countries is represented on the Executive Board, although most of them are full members of the IOC.

IOC officials said the new rule could come into effect by the 1988 Summer Games in Seoul, South Korea, which are also threatened by a Soviet-led political boycott. None of the Soviet bloc nations has diplomatic relations with South Korea.

The three-day IOC session, meeting under the chairmanship of IOC President Juan Antonio Samaranch of Spain, was expected to eneorse the proposal, but may postpone detailed discussion of how to implement it, according to the IOC officials who requested anonymity. The 10 Soviet-bloc IOC members were likely to express vigorous objections to the idea.

Oiler staff impressed with rookie's potential

SAN ANGELO, Texas (AP) - Dean Steinkuhler is destined to become one of the young giants who will provide the Houston Oilers with an outstanding offensive line for many years.

All he asks is a little time.

"Not right now," Steinkuhler answers quickly when asked if he's ready to assume a starting position.

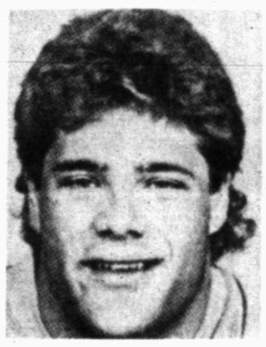

But the 6-3, 285-pound Steinkuhler - the winner of the Outland Trophy and Lombardi Award - doesn't lack confidence.

"But hopefully by the end of camp, I'll pick up enough mentally that I'll be ready," he said. "Physically, I've got all the tools, so at the end of camp, the coaches will know and I will know. Then, it will just be a matter of a decision for the coaches."

Oilers coaches are so impressed with Steinkuhler's athletic ability they are attempting to move Steinkuhler from guard, where he played throughout college, to right tackle.

Offensive line coach Bill Walsh thinks it will work.

"We know he (Steinkuhler) can do the stuff at guard so we'll give him a good go (at tackle)," Walsh said. "We're looking at him at live pass rush now. He's a good run blocker and has done all that we are asking where we do combination blocks with the guards."

DEAN STEINKUHLER

Steinkuhler didn't get much experience protecting a passer at Nebraska.

"Everything they (Nebraska) did up there was roll out," Walsh said. "I looked at four or five films and I don't think they had one drop back. But listen, he's done a fine job with our pass blocking and he's just going to get better. He's picked it up real quick."

Steinkuhler said his major concern learning pass blocking techniques.

"At Nebraska we ran the football 90 percent of the time and with with the Oilers we will probably pass 60 to 65 percent of the time," he said.

"So the pass blocking technique is something I'll definitely have to work on. I am farther behind on pass blocking than any of the other linemen that have come in here in recent times," he said.

Head Coach Hugh Campbell thinks it's only a matter of repetitions before Steinkuhler takes his place on the starting line.

"He has everything we are looking for athletically," Campbell said. "He will get stronger in the next two years. He's got all the mobility, agility and brains."

Legislator will confer with concerned coaches

HOUSTON (AP) - A state legislator who helped write a recently passed school reform bill will meet with school athletic officials next month in an attempt to dispel confusion over a law dealing with extracurricular student activities.

Rep. Bill Haley, D-Center, will meet with members of the Texas High School Coaches Association during a coaching school which runs from July 31 to Aug. 2.

Haley and more than 8,000 athletic directors and coaches attending the meeting will discuss conflicting interpretations of House Bill 72, which goes into effect on Jan. 1.

The bill requires junior and high school students to pass, within a set grading period, all academic classes with a mark of 70 or better on a 100-point scale. Failure to do so would make a student ineligible for any type of extracurricular school-sponsored activity.

Students who failed to meet the grading criteria also would be ineligible to participate in outside activities until the next grades are released.

Most schools release grades every six weeks.

The Coaches Association vehemently opposed the bill, which was passed during the special legislative session earlier this summer and signed into law by Gov. Mark White.

The new requirement won't have much impact on the strong academic student, but coaches and athletic directors say they are more concerned with the weak student who is trying to avoid the more difficult courses.

"It's unrealistic to think a 15- or 16-year old child is not going to stub his toes somewhere along the line," said Eddie Joseph, executive vice president of the high school coaches association, who led the association's lobbying effort against the eligibility requirement.

Before the bill became law, high school athletes were required to pass three courses, not including physical education, and received eligibility updates every seven days.

In football, for example, a student-athlete could miss one game because of academic deficiencies, but return to action the following week if his grades improved.

The University Interscholastic League, which oversees high school extracurricular activities in Texas, revised its rules for this year, requiring passing grades in four of five classes.

'Too-Tall' wants pact renewed with Cowboys

In the Dallas Cowboys' silver anniversary training camp, there has been the "quarterback watch" and the "Randy White watch."

With Danny White and Gary Hogeboom competing for the No. 1 quarterback job and All-Pro defensive tackle Randy White holding out, some notice is being paid to the possibility of Jones walking out of camp.

Jones is on the third year of a five-year contract which pays him $305,000 this season. He wants his pact renegotiated.

Randy White is on the option year of a contract which pays him $350,000 this season and he wants it changed.

What started all the more money talk was a contract giving Mark Gastineau of the New York Jets $800,000 this season.

Various camp rumors have had Jones either walking out of camp or demanding to be traded to another team, neither of which has come to pass.

Jones said, "I'll do what I have to do" but stopped short of asking for a trade.

"I haven't said anything to anybody about that," said Jones. "Right now I have a positive attitude. Nothing has ever been easy."

Jones said he never considered walking out with White in a dual holdout.

"I have a lot of respect for Randy and what every he gets he deserves twice," said Jones.

"I wish something would happen so Randy could come back," Jones said. "This team needs for him to be here particularly with new people at right end."
