

SEEN OR HEARD

So came the rains—at least 45 of an inch Sunday, followed by cold weather Monday and continuing through today at least.

Some wide awake citizens stated that it hailed during the high winds Sunday night—we wouldn't know—sleeping is more enjoyable than watching a storm.

No wind damage was reported during the rain and wind storm Sunday night.

Dr. Harris and "Rip" Gallo-way got a head start on this banquet going by attending the Abilene Chamber of Commerce annual affair last night. "Rip" stated that they had a very nice time and Abilene had a wonderful banquet.

We're not trying to start a scare program about the tickets to the Chamber of Commerce banquet, but it might be a good idea if you buy yours early. They are only selling 300, due to space limitations, and with Governor Shivers speaking there will probably be a full house.

This is public school week in Texas. Plan now to visit your schools and see what is being done for your children while they are away from home.

There will be a program of some sort this week no details are available yet, in conjunction with Public School Week.

Each cold spell that comes blowing in staves off fishing activity for a few more days. Sunday the local anglers were out after the big ones. Now most of them will have to wait until it warms up before they can summon enough courage to wet a line.

We heard Sunday afternoon that one local fisherman went out last Wednesday when it was so cold, and caught 20 good crappies. If that's when they bite, then everyone we know will never catch anything.

The Red Cross workers coming here with the Bloodmobile are sure to have a pretty busy day today. The appointment list showed that they were booked up for nearly all Tuesday. But now Wednesday is a different story, call Jess Cole at the National Guard Armory, or someone at the First Methodist church this evening, or after nine tomorrow morning and find out when you can come in and give a pint of blood.

They will be open until seven o'clock tonight if you want to run down and start some blood on its way to Korea.

From the way the truce talks are stacking up they're going to need it—and quick.

Fire Chief Charlie Isbell showed us a piece of wiring from a house that had had a penny used for a fuse. The insulation was all burned off, and the wire was nearly gone. He said all the wiring in the house looked like that after they got it cooled off when they made the call.

Take it from me, the chief is very much "against" using pennies in a fuse box. Very little damage was done to the residence.

March 1-9 Will Be Observed As 4-H Club Week

COLLEGE STATION, March—Two million 4-H club members across the nation this week, March 1-9, are observing National 4-H Club Week. Governor Allen Shivers put the spotlight on Texas' 116,979 4-H members on February 6 when he issued a proclamation designating this same period as 4-H week in Texas.

The state 4-H sectors of the Agricultural Extension Service say objectives of the week are to provide 4-H members a special occasion for checking their efforts in relation to the needs of the community and country; to acquaint the public with the 1952 4-H theme—"Serving as Loyal Citizens Through 4-H"; to inform all parents of the objectives of the 4-H clubs; to encourage members to interest other young people in enrolling and assisting new members to get started in their 4-H work; and to enlist more public-spirited citizens to serve as voluntary leaders or sponsors of 4-H clubs.

4-H members learn to do by doing and as the gain experience, each becomes better equipped to serve as a loyal citizen. Present day 4-H programs are not limited to the production of better crops and livestock nor to better ways of doing the job in the home but includes actual participation in studies and programs with international significance. Their International Farm Youth Exchange program is an example.

In addition to their regular demonstrations, Texas 4-H members last year received training in fire and accident prevention, health, recreation, leadership, conservation and various judging contests. They believe in hard work. They attend county and district camps, state and national meetings and are usually well represented at the major livestock shows of the nation. Their income from demonstrations and the value of the things they own amount to several million dollars annually, say the state leaders.

The members get assistance from their local leaders, parents, businessmen, county extension agents and others. Together this group makes up the 4-H team. The combined efforts of this team are displayed during the week in the form of exhibits, stock shows, public meetings, special radio programs and with 4-H members appearing as guests speakers before civic clubs, farm organizations and other groups.

President Truman in his letter to the 4-H Clubs of the nation said, "You are doing things that make our country strong in the struggle for peace and understanding. There is strength in our youth, in our soil and in our working together. Our country and the world need now, more than ever before, the kind of work you are doing to unite those pillars of strength in the interest of world peace."

4-H clubs members invite every citizen to join with them in their observance of National 4-H Week.

Slogan for the Anniversary Year is "Girl Scouts—A Growing Force for Freedom." Mayor Edwards and Amon G. Carter will welcome the cattlemen to Fort Worth at 9 a.m. in the Crystal Ball Room, Hotel Texas, Tuesday, March 18th, when president Willoughby calls the meeting to order. A board of directors meeting will be held on Monday, March 17th.

Hope Aroused For Release Newsman Oatis

PARIS, March 4 (UP)—Informed sources said the United States has made proposals to Communist Czechoslovakia for the release of American newsman William Oatis, who was sentenced to 10 years in jail on so-called "spy" charges. No details of the recent American approach for Oatis' freedom was disclosed. But the fact the Communists consented to receive the proposals at all is considered cause for "slight encouragement."

Meanwhile, in Washington, diplomats warn against over-optimism. They say a major break in the case is not expected immediately.

Texas Leader Production Of Wheat Is Claim

Texas farms produced 22,712,000 bushels of wheat in 1950, discloses a survey compiled by the research staff of Capper's Farmer. The crop was harvested from 2,839,000 acres of 331,494 farms.

The nation's total production of wheat in 1950 was 1,026,755,000 bushels, and 69 percent of this crop was harvested on farms of Mid-America. The '51 crop is also estimated at close to 1 billion bushels with a production goal of 1.2 billion bushels set for 1952, says the analysis based on USDA figures.

Wheat, the nation's second largest cash crop, brought in more than $1.8 billion in 1950. In Mid-America wheat was the top revenue producer among crops, with 1950 cash receipts running close to 1.5 billion. This represents 70 percent of the country's total cash income from wheat.

The fire department answered the call about 5:15 p.m. and according to Mrs. Rush was at the scene in about three minutes. She credited their quick action with avoiding the loss of all her home and its possessions.

Directors For Water District Are Sworn In

EASTLAND, Tex. (Special)—

Everything is working harmoniously, so far as Eastland's water committee is concerned. At a meeting of that group Saturday night, three new directors were sworn in for the Eastland County Water Supply District. They are Grady Pipkin, L. E. McGraw and Dr. Jas. C. Whittington.

The group also accepted the gift from the Brazos River Board, who will work with us in our efforts to get the new lake. The very fact that this board favors the movement means a lot, financially and otherwise.

Detail work is slow at times, and the detail period is with us at this time. However, work is going forward as rapidly as possible, and it will not be long until preparatory work for final construction will begin.

The lake will be built, and at no distant date.

Directors C of C Meet Tonight

He requested that anyone planning on attending to get their tickets now. Harris stated that the chamber is keeping a close check on how many tickets are sold as to make arrangements for the affair, and if the 300 is sold early they will be more able to make the arrangements.

The Senate opened debate on the bill yesterday. However, there has been no indication as to when the Texans will call up the "quit claim" measure for a vote. A similar bill already has passed the House.

Water-Flooding Proves Very Successful In Okla. Fields

AMARILLO, TEXAS, Feb. 27.—Approximately 33 million barrels of oil were recovered in Oklahoma by water flooding up to December 31, 1949, according to a Bureau of Mines report released today by Secretary of the Interior Oscar L. Chapman.

The report supplements a previous Bureau of Mines report issued in 1943. It describes water-flooding activities in Oklahoma from July 1, 1942 to December 31, 1949, and contains detailed information and charts on Nowata, Rogers and Craig Counties. A similar report covering counties other than these three already has been released. Dr. C. W. Seibel, Regional Director, Region VI, Bureau of Mines, pointed out.

The survey released today was written by John F. Powell and Kenneth H. Johnson, petroleum engineers of the Bartlesville, Okla., Bureau of Mines experiment station.

Water flooding, the report declares, is a valuable conservation measure, not only preventing premature abandonment of stripper leases but also reviving interest in many areas previously abandoned.

The use of water flooding as a means for recovering oil from partly depleted oil-bearing formations was first tried in Oklahoma in 1931. Early water-flooding operations were confined to the area of the shallow Bartlesville sand formations in Nowata and Rogers Counties. The result of these operations stimulated activities in other pools in Oklahoma, and by the end of 1949 water flooding had been tried in 25 of the 49 oil-producing counties in the state.

The report summarizes the results obtained by water flooding, and the discussions give information on the producing formations, methods of development, production practices, and source and treatment of water on the many projects in Oklahoma. Maps and curves showing the production history of several of the projects also are contained in the report.

The writers compiled the report primarily from records of the operators of the respective projects.

jects or of the oil producers. Complete records of the oil-producing history of the acreage being flooded are given wherever possible.

Many of the properties effected were developed more than 40 years ago, and have had several owners. Consequently, complete production records were not always available. The production records from the start of water injection were available and are presented in the report.

The survey of water-flooding operations in Oklahoma was made by the Bureau under a cooperative agreement with the State of Oklahoma.

Prospective flood operators should review carefully all facts and conditions before starting a recovery project. Not all water-flooding projects are successful.

However, water flooding recovered more than three million barrels of oil in Oklahoma during 1949.

A free copy of Report of Investigations 4831, "A Survey of Oil Production in Oklahoma by Water Flooding, Part I, Nowata, Rogers and Craig Counties," may be obtained from the Bureau of Mines, Publications Distribution Section, 4800 Forbes Street, Pittsburgh 13, Pa.

Five Experts Take A Look At Next 5 Years Of Your Life

What do the next five years of your life hold in store for you? Outstanding experts in five different fields have come up with some predictions about what will be happening to your home, your livelihood, your fun, your health and the world in general between now and 1958. Here are some of their predictions, which appear in the March issue of Pageant Magazine.

YOUR HOME—Russell Wright, industrial designer, says, "Let's face it. Our houses will become smaller because material costs are very high, labor costs are up and servants as our parents knew them almost completely vanished." Dining rooms have almost disappeared and in the next five years so will the "sitting room." It will be come a working room, eating room, playing room, music room and game room—in fact, a real living room.

YOUR LIVELIHOOD—Stuart Chase, expert economist, feels the chances are 80 out of 100 that the cold war will continue for the next 5 years. If it does, he predicts that your overall standard of living will remain high enough to beat out the creeping inflation and increased taxes. Stuart Chase also predicts, according to Pageant, that you'll end up with more savings than you have now.

YOUR FUN—Gilbert Seldes, surveying the lighter side of your life, foresees "pay-TV." You'll phone to a central office, announce your pick from a list of recent movies, and then tune in, receiving a bill for the service at the end of the month. This he says, will mean the disappearance of thousands of neighborhood movie houses.

YOUR HEALTH—Medical reporter Lawrence Galton promises you less tooth decay (with anti-decay chewing gum) and an end to dandruff (by using selenium sulphide in your shampoo). The treatment of mental illness with chemicals will be a revolutionary development in mental health.

YOUR WORLD—Famed fore-

Arlington State Cops Pioneer Title; Ranger In Fourth Spot

ARLINGTON, March 4—Coach Tom Tinker's Arlington State College Rebels last week annexed the Pioneer Conference basketball championship by defeating their traditional rivals, the Tarleton State Plowboys at Stephenville, 51-31.

The San Angelo Rams won second place by virtue of a 72-59 win over Schreiner Institute last week.

The Rebs owed their title as much to their brilliant defensive record as to their competent offensive powers. In the full season's play the ASC quintet allowed an average of 39.5 points per game against it in 22 contests. Offensively the Rebs averaged 63 points per contest.

Over the season the third place Schreiner Mountaineers had the best offensive record, averaging 58 points per contest against 24 foes. ASC and San Angelo, first and second place winners, respectively, averaged 54.5 points per game offensively.

In conference play, however the Rebs led the league both offensively and defensively. Winning seven of eight contests, they averaged 63 points offensively and held all league opponents to an average of 42 points per game.

Glen Lewallen, San Angelo's center, topped all conference scorers with a total of 465 points throughout the season and led in conference scoring with a total of 117.

Life After 40 Begins Getting More Complex

AUSTIN—From a literary point of view life may begin at forty, but from a health standpoint, life after forty begins to be more complicated for the average individual, than it was in his earlier years. According to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, the principal health foes confronting people in middle life are heart disease, cancer, kidney disease, high blood pressure, hardening of the arteries, apoplexy, diabetes, and arthritis.

Middle aged people of today are healthier than were those of preceding generations, and the present generation, when they reach middle age, should enjoy even better health than their parents of today.

Medical care in middle life has two important phases. The first is going to the doctor at regular intervals for a complete physical checkup, whether or not there have been symptoms that suggest the need for medical attention. The second is prompt attention to any illness which may mean the difference between prompt recovery and continued good health and prolonged invalidism. It is difficult to say which of these phases is the more important.

It has been found that men and women who faithfully pursue the habit of regular health examinations and who follow the advice arising from them tend to live longer, more satisfactorily, and freer from disease than those who simply take a chance and go to the doctor only when pain or disability forces them to give up their normal activities.

It is also a fact that many diseases of middle age respond to treatment in early stages whereas if neglected until later stages they often cause permanent invalidism and even death.

Good advice for persons over forty is that they have regular physical examinations and obtain prompt medical attention for any and all illnesses.

OILMEN WILL HEAR WINDFOHR AT ABILENE MEETING TODAY

ABILENE, Texas, March 4—West Central Texas oil men will get a look at several current problems affecting the petroleum industry when they gather in Abilene today to honor Robert F. Windfohr of Fort Worth, President of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association.

French M. Robertson, Abilene independent producer and the Association's District Vice-President, said Windfohr would address oil men and civic leaders from West Central Texas at a reception and dinner at the Windsor Hotel, beginning at 6 p.m. Robertson and local directors of the Texas Mid-Continent will be hosts for the occasion.

"Mr. Windfohr is touring the state to discuss the Association's program with petroleum industry leaders in the various regions," Robertson said. "Because he is looked to as a spokesman for the industry in Texas, we expect a large turnout."

Windfohr will be accompanied to Abilene by two of the Texas Mid-Continent's administrative officers, Andrew M. Howsley of Albany, Vice-President and General Counsel, and Charles E. Simons of Dallas, Executive Vice-President.

The Texas Mid-Continent chief, an independent oil operator, was elected to his present post last October at the Association's annual meeting in Beaumont. He succeeded R. B. Anderson of Vernon. He is a partner in the oil firms of Nash and Windfohr, and Nash, Windfohr and Borwn. He entered the oil business in 1921 at Breckenridge and drilled his first well at Graham, where he lived before moving to Fort Worth a few years ago.

Constantly active in petroleum industry problems, Windfohr was one of the original committee of 55 Texas oil men who championed the state conservation laws at the time of their initiation during the turbulent 1930's.

Marking Time in the March of Time—

... is somewhat like fishing without luck—there's no thrill to it. But there is real thrill in moving forward, serving humbly and doing some one thing well. We never heard of an abstracter getting rich as such, but we have heard of those who have spent a life-time, as we have, building up title institutions that are assets to their communities. Yes, we get a thrill out of every order and a real joy in producing it into a quality product.

English Teacher In Cisco Has Volume Of Poems Published

Miss Doris Joe Pyle, teacher of English at Cisco high school, and sister of Mrs. S. J. Hefner of Ranger, has had published a volume of lyric poetry which has just come off the press. The book, published by the Poetry Digest of New York City, contains 66 poems and is called "Crushed Opals."

One of the most interesting parts of the book is the use of the cinquain, a verse form introduced by Adelaide Crapsey but used frequently. The cinquains are five line poems and Miss Pyle has made her book more entertaining by their use.

The poems in the volume are divided into four groups, Heart Songs, Nature, Miscellaneous and Cinquains.

The honor of having her poems published is nothing new to Miss Pyle. While attending college at Howard-Payne in Brownwood she wrote and had published her first effort. The poem a sonnet "To Ruskin", won first prize in the school paper's poetry contest. Her second prize winner was "Your Handclasp", which was entered in the Tri-State Fair poetry contest held in Amarillo in 1931. The poem won third prize in the contest which was entered by writers from Texas, New Mexico and Colorado.

She has had poems published in "The Poet's Scroll", "The Lantern", "Delta Kappa Gamma Bulletin", "Texas Parent Teacher", "Texas Outlook", "Poets on Parade", "Wings Over the Classroom", "National Poetry Anthology" and "New American Poetry."

Four poems published in "Wings Over the Classroom", "On Sending Out My First Manuscript", "Pagan Worship", "Vignettes", and "Futility", won honorable mention and words of commendation from the editor of the publication who said: "It has been a great delight to read and publish your work."

Miss Pyle is a member of the Texas Poetry Society. She is past president of Beta Upsilon Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, and a member of Alpha Chi, honor society.

Annie Armstrong Program Held

The Women's Missionary Society of the First Baptist Church met Monday afternoon at 3 p.m., at the church, for the first program in observance of the Annie W. Armstrong Week of Prayer program, with the Ann Margaret circle in charge. Mrs. Earl Blackwell, Jr., was the leader.

The song service was under the direction of Mrs. Earle Pittman with Mrs. F. P. Brashier, Jr., at the piano. The song "We're a Story to Tell" was followed by a prayer led by Mrs. O. L. Robinson.

The theme for the program was "Go View the Land". Mrs. Pittman gave the devotional on "For This Cause", based upon Ephesians 3:14-21. She stressed the need of world-wide evangelism and led the group in repeating the Model Prayer in unison.

The meaning of the Annie Armstrong Offering was discussed by Mrs. Blackwell and a pageant on "Go View the Land" was given. The first epoch was in Joshua's Day with the characters Doubt, Determination and Victory taking part. Preceding the second epoch on "America, Our Responsibility and Our Heritage", Mrs. David Fawcett sang "America's Speak". The third epoch "Fling Out the Banner" by Mrs. Fawcett, the fourth epoch was "Home Missions", brought by six representatives from the mission board and the closing song, "O Zion Haste", by the soloist.

Those taking part in the pageant were Mrs. Earl Blackwell, Jr., Earle Pittman, J. W. Elder, Jr., Walter Ararburn, Bill Bullock, Carvis Beck, Marshall Jolly, Wilson Guest and David Fawcett. Mrs. Ralph Perkins led the prayer in behalf of Home Missions and the missionaries.

Announcements were made by Mrs. Lloyd Clem concerning the meeting of the week.

The meeting was dismissed with a prayer by Mrs. Roy McCleskey.

Those present were Mrs. Joe Tullis, J. A. Estes, W. W. Smith, Hugh Smith, O. L. Robinson, Earle Pittman, J. B. Houghton, Sr., Ralph Perkins, F. E. Langston, E. L. Hargraves, Mamie Ruth Hamrick, H. E. Attendance Goal Set By Methodist

The Board of Education and Worker's Council met in joint session at the Methodist Church Monday evening with H. C. Henderson, General Supt., in charge. A good percentage of Officers and Teachers of the Church School were present. The teachers who could not be present for the meeting had representatives on hand to discuss problems and possible solutions for their respective classes. In addition to the matter of an increase in attendance at the Church School and preaching services, plans were made for the Vacation Bible School to be held soon after the closing of school.

After the opening of the meeting with prayer by Mrs. Leslie Hagaman, and general remarks by Mr. Henderson and the pastor, the workers of the various departments met for council and instruction in separate sessions. The workers were then called back into a general meeting at which time some attendance goals were set which should challenge every person in Ranger whose name is carried on the Methodist Church roll.

"Let's get behind our Church School and make it what it ought to be in this community," says H. C. Henderson.

Rev. Henry Spraggin Spoke At The Adult Banquet Monday

The Brotherhood organization of the First Baptist Church held their annual Ladies Night in the newly decorated lower auditorium with some two hundred adults attending Monday evening.

Evangelist Henry Spraggin of Ft. Worth brought a message to the group that will not soon be forgotten. Brother Spraggin told of his conversion after hearing his little girl pray for him while he was still lost and was the owner of a large night club boat that operated off the coast of Texas.

He was converted and surrendered to preach, however, he had to return to high school and at the same time he attended Howard Payne college.

In January, 1943 he entered the United States Army as a chaplain and served with the 90th Infantry Division in Patton's 3rd army in four major European operations, during which time he had many marvelous experiences with the marvelous grace of God.

He was first taken prisoner between the Saar and Rhine rivers but escaped and was behind the enemy lines for seven days before finding his way back to the American lines. During this time he saw all the men who had escaped with him from the German captors killed.

Later he was wounded by a hand grenade thrown into his fox hole. While he was waiting for aid from the Medics he crawled out to help another man and was again taken prisoner. This time he was captured by two S. S. men. They beat him over the head with the butt of a rifle and stomped him in the stomach, breaking several ribs. Still refusing to reveal secrets that would bring disaster to his own men, they put the muzzle of the gun into his face threatened to blow off his head. When it seemed all hope was gone and he was sure to die, Chaplain Spraggin gave a message to him clear and plain, "Be still and know that I am God." He heard a shell coming and judged from its sound it would be very near; he blacked out from the explosion and the next day the medics found him unconscious with a dead German on both sides of him.

Brother Spraggin went on to tell of more of his experiences and how the power of the God that he served was just as strong today as in the time of Job, Abraham, Moses, Paul, and others. Then Spraggin sounded a note of solemn earnestness. He said "I had the privilege of seeing the installations there and the preparation that is being made to stave off the attack from Russia just across the straits my word to you is this, if you have wrongs to right you had better be about it, if you need to get right with God you had better do it now, if you intend to do anything at all you had better get to doing it for the time grows short and the power of the enemy grows strong. Now is the time to get right with God."

Lem Rushing, president of the Brotherhood, presided over the meeting and called on the various officers and committee chairman for reports. Dr. Marshall Jolly, attendance vice president, called for reports from the group captains and awarded the "booby" cup to Robinson because Jolly's own group had been in possession of it for a month. A. G. Koenig was commended highly for the preparation and the serving of the food, he was in charge of those arrangements.

The meeting was very successful and was enjoyed by those present.

Capt. J. L. Ervin Home From Korea

A happy homecoming was experienced in the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Ervin Thursday, Feb. 28, when their son, Captain J. L. Ervin arrived from Korea. He was accompanied by his wife, Bonnie, of Corsicana, who had met him in San Francisco. Capt. Ervin has seen two years of hazardous combat duty in Korea. He flew many missions and given the name, "The Korean Lamplighter", because of a technique that he developed and used for dropping flares to provide illumination for ground troops who were fighting at night.

He was a lieutenant when he started his tour of duty in Korea. His mother reported that he would be home about a month before reporting to Baltimore, Maryland, for reassignment.

You'll never know what she means till you try Chrysler's Full-Time Power Steering yourself! Even other cars with so-called power steering don't offer as much new safety and ease as she gets!

On every turn, hydraulic power does 4/5 of her work, her hand does only 1/5! On every turn, she turns her wheel 1/3 less distance than other cars! At every instant, turning or not, her hands have 5 times her former power to hold and control her car's front wheels!

She comes into parking places you wouldn't even try. She slips through traffic with the precision of a watch. She breezes over bad roads with never a feel of wheel fight, car under control as never before!
