Final House Vote Due On Poverty Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson faces one of his biggest legislative tests today as the House puts his $947.5-million anti-poverty bill up for a vote. Republicans, who have branded it an "election-year gimmick," are almost solidly against it, leaving Southern Democrats holding the key to Johnson's success.

Several hours of debate were scheduled before the vote comes, probably late in the afternoon.

House leaders predicted a narrow victory. But one administration source said he was afraid the bill would lose by 40 or more votes.

The bill would commit the federal government to the task of trying to break the cycle of poverty that has kept some families on the relief rolls for as long as three generations.

Republicans have praised the goal of the legislation, but say it is poorly drawn and would fall far short of its sponsors' hopes.

The bill combines in one package a number of programs designed "to mobilize the human and financial resources of the nation to combat poverty in the United States."

A major section authorizes $412.5 million for various youth programs.

Another major provision authorizes $340 million for grants to stimulate community action projects designed to combat poverty.

Plenty Of Action, Excitement For Junior Rodeo Contestants

Hard-driving stock and a threat of rain failed to dampen determined efforts of more than 100 youngsters competing in the opening night's action of the 19th annual Howard County Junior Rodeo Thursday night before some 3,000 persons in the Rodeo Bowl.

Most of the opening night crowd braved the brief shower to watch the final events of the opening night's action of the 19th annual Howard County Junior Rodeo Thursday night before some 3,000 persons in the Rodeo Bowl.

The opening night performance was preceded by a parade of more than 250 riders and horses through downtown Big Spring Thursday afternoon, preceded by a green and white floral float prepared by the Howard County 4-H Club.

The night's events were marked by lack of any injuries, though several youngsters walked off from some rough spills in the arena dirt. Two crowd-pleasing features of the action were a wild calf race, with four teams of four 14-year-old boys trying to saddle and ride calves, and a goat-sacking race.

Three youths from Lomax successfully steered their saddled calf across a finish line to win the purse in the calf riding battle. The youngsters were Wellington Posey, Albert Posey and Eddie Henderson.

Among the top times of the night's action, including both the regular show events and later events run after the regular performance, included an 11.1-second time turned in by James Shepard in the calf roping and 8.8 seconds chalked up by Terry Wall, Evant, in bull dogging.

Points earned here will count toward the year's total, with several contestants here in first and second places in national standings for some events.

The rodeo opened with the traditional grand entry's colorful array of several hundred horses in the arena.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Premier Nguyen Khanh decreed a state of emergency today and ordered general mobilization of manpower and resources with a declaration that "the coming weeks will be decisive" in South Viet Nam's struggle against the Communists.

Military courts were empowered in this offshoot of the Tonkin Gulf crisis to impose summary death sentences on all terrorists, saboteurs and black-market speculators, with no right of appeal.

A tense night passed quietly on the northern frontier and American advisers with the Vietnamese 1st Division in that danger zone said they doubted that the Communist North Vietnamese would attempt an invasion.

IN ANGER "If they had moved in anger, they would have hit us one way or another by now," said Maj. William McMullen of Long Island, N.Y.

But reinforced defense units kept up a sharp watch all along the 50-mile border, which cuts across inland mountains to Laos from a swampy plain on the South China Sea. Tanks, artillery and camouflaged riflemen stood guard around; U.S. reconnaissance jets sped constantly overhead.

Across the way, North Vietnamese regulars presumably kept a similar watch. At North Viet Nam's front-line posts visible from 1st Division positions, people could be seen moving about freely.

WORD WAR Behind the Red lines, the Hanoi regime pursued a word war against the United States and South Viet Nam.

Radio Hanoi attributed to the Viet Cong command in South Viet Nam a broadcast statement calling for intensified guerrilla action.

North Viet Nam's cabinet, without mentioning the damage incurred in American retaliatory strikes against North Vietnamese PT boats and bases Wednesday, said, "All provocations and aggressions against the Democratic Republic of (North) Viet Nam will certainly be defeated by the strength of the entire Vietnamese people."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Vietnamese border crisis appeared to ease today as another night passed without a Red attack from the north. But there were continuing reports of U.S. and Red Chinese buildups in the explosive Southeast Asia.

And although the only Peking response to the U.S. air strike against North Vietnamese PT boat fleet has been a torrent of flaming words, President Johnson — as the rest of Washington officialdom — had his fingers crossed.

Government forces and their American advisers along South Viet Nam's heavily reinforced northern frontier were reported in dispatches today to have been anticipating a massive Red attack in reprisal. But U.S. operations officers said only "routine" fighting was reported throughout South Viet Nam.

The South Vietnamese forces remained on full alert near the frontier but American advisers with the government's first division at Gia Linh expressed doubt the North Vietnamese would launch an attack.

FROM HAWAII From Honolulu came reports that more than 100 U.S. jets swept aloft from Hickam Air Force Base Thursday, heading toward undisclosed bases in Asia.

Thursday afternoon, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara called a news conference at the Pentagon and said that while he assumes Peking may send in some combat aircraft to help North Viet Nam, there have been no indication of any substantial Chinese military movements in the last few days.

What's more, McNamara said there is no evidence the Chinese helped the North Vietnamese in the attacks on the destroyers Maddox and Turner Joy.

Still a regiment of North Viet Nam's infantrymen faced Saigon's reinforced 1st Division at the Ben Hai River border Thursday night. And if China sends combat aircraft to North Viet Nam, they will be the first such planes for the small Red nation which has been pressing a guerrilla war on U.S.-supported South Viet Nam.

OVER BRINK China took an ominous stance in the wake of the American strike. It declared "U.S. imperialism" had gone over the brink of war and pledged "the Chinese people will absolutely not sit idly by" while North Viet Nam was being "subjected to aggression."

Thursday, Peking was silent, although two of its satellites took to the air — North Viet Nam to claim its batteries had shot down eight American planes in Wednesday's assault and North Korea to promise full support to North Viet Nam against U.S. "provocative armed aggression."

In a separate broadcast, Hanoi Radio said the American pilot captured by one of its anti-aircraft units has been identified as Lt. J.G. Everett Alvarez Jr., 26, who flew his sortie from the carrier Constellation.

McNamara has said two U.S. planes were shot down and a third damaged. He said efforts will be made to win freedom for Alvarez, listed as missing by the Navy along with Lt. J.G. Richard C. Sather, also 26, Alvarez is from San Jose, Calif., and Sather from Pomona, Calif.

Four Georgians Booked In Murder

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — Four white men identified as members of the Ku Klux Klan were charged with murder today in the slaying of a Washington, D.C. Negro educator.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover announced the arrests Thursday night after an intensive hunt for the slayers of Lemuel Penn, whose car was blasted with shotgun fire July 11 as he drove along a rural northeast Georgia highway.

U.S. Commissioner G. Richard Hawkins said one of the men, James S. Lackey, 28, a gas-station attendant, admitted complicity in the slaying. The others, jailed on charges brought under the Civil Rights Act, were identified by the FBI as Herbert Guest, 37, garage operator; Cecil William Myers, 25, laborer, and Joseph Howard Sims, 41, a machinist, all of Athens.

A deputy sheriff from Madison County appeared at the Clarke County jail here with murder warrants, but said no information on the warrants would be disclosed immediately.

Both Gov. Carl Sanders and Solicitor General (prosecutor) Clete Johnson, whose judicial circuit includes Madison County where Penn was slain, promised state court action if they determined the men were responsible.

"The state most certainly will prosecute the murder charge very vigorously if the evidence is there," said Johnson. He said he first would have to determine what evidence the FBI has.

The federal charge against the men carries a maximum penalty of a $3,000 fine and 10 years imprisonment while a first-degree murder charge filed under state laws can carry the death penalty.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover announced the arrests in Washington climaxing an intensive three-week hunt for the slayers.

TWO BLASTS Penn was killed when a vehicle pulled alongside and two shotgun blasts were fired into his car. One blast struck him in the left side of the neck and he died instantly.

The FBI complaint "aid three of the men, Lackey, Myers and Sims 'did shoot and kill' Penn. All four were charged with conspiring to "injure, oppress, threaten and intimidate" Penn and his companions, Charles E. Brown and John D. Howard, also reserve officers.

Hoover said Sims was arrested at the Athens headquarters of the Clarke County Klavern, No. 244, of the United Klans of America, Inc., Knights of the Ku Klux Klan.

Paula Bauer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Bauer, 600 Steakley, proves the old adage that "it's hot enough to fry an egg on the sidewalk." During Thursday afternoon's 106 temperature, she demonstrated for the Herald photographer that an egg would cook on the street in front of her house—sunny-side up, of course.

House Adds Backing To Asia Action

Viet Nam's Premier Cites Emergency

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House approved today the resolution backing President Johnson's actions in the Southeast Asia crisis.

The resolution had the support of Republican as well as Democratic leaders.

The House vote was 414-0. One member—Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., voted "present" but there were no negative votes.

"This is one of those occasions when all of us, whatever our political persuasion, unite behind our commander in chief," said Rep. Frances P. Bolton, R-Ohio, ranking Republican on the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

ALSO CERTAIN Senate action — with overwhelming approval also certain — was expected this afternoon.

A long speech of opposition from Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., delayed action.

House discussion of the resolution was brief with the majority of the speakers, both Republicans and Democrats, expressing firm support for it.

There were exceptions. Rep. Ed Foreman, R - Tex., drew boos and groans of disapproval from the Democratic side when he said: "We've heard an awful lot in the last few weeks about trigger-happy irresponsibility. I say, 'What is this?'"

Foreman referred to a news report that President Johnson had announced the air strike in North Viet Nam on nationwide television an hour and a half before the raid actually occurred.

"What kind of responsibility is this?" Foreman shouted. "The parents and wives of the boys who were killed in those strikes are going to be asking."

AIR RAIDS The Pentagon has denied that the North Vietnamese made any preparation for air raids on their torpedo-boat installations.

In the Senate, Morse was given two hours of time for his protests.

But few listened to him. At one point, only two other senators were in the chamber — Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and newly-appointed Sen. Pierre Salinger, D-Calif., who acted as presiding officer.

Morse said that Congress was abandoning its constitutional duty to decide upon declarations

Morse said that Congress was abandoning its constitutional duty to decide upon declarations of war through this and similar recent resolutions.

"The White House now has plenty of power," Morse said. "I oppose granting any more."

PT ATTACK The bipartisan document cites North Vietnamese PT boat attacks on American destroyers in the Gulf of Tonkin and states: "The Congress approves and supports the determination of the President, as commander in chief, to take all necessary measures to repel any armed attack against the forces of the United States and to prevent further aggression."

The President had asked for this expression of approval after ordering Tuesday a naval air strike against the Communist North Vietnamese PT boats and their shore facilities in retaliation for attacks on the destroyers Maddox and Turner Joy.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield called an early start of the session to allow Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., two hours in which to spell out his opposition to the resolution, and an hour for other senators to speak.

Morse has denounced the resolution as a "predated declaration of war" and said "the only solution now is to take this to the conference table immediately."

High Reading Hits Record

Thursday's high temperature of 106, recorded at the Big Spring Experiment Station, tied the 64-year record set on the same day in 1911.

"It was so hot, I couldn't walk on the parking lot pavement," Charlie Johnson, at College Park Barber Shop, said.

Reports of showers in the area last night gave rise to hopes of some rain. Some showers fell at the ball game, at the rodeo, and on a stretch between Fairview and Big Spring, although no measurements were reported.

The forecast for today was for more of the same, with temperatures from 100 to 105. Some respite is promised for tonight and tomorrow with a low of around 70 and high between 95 and 100.

Spence Tells Kiwanians Of Water District Plans

The story of the Colorado River Municipal Water District and how it has grown and prospered was told to the Kiwanis Club Thursday by Col. E. V. Spence, general manager, and O. H. Ivie, his chief aide.

In the discussion the speakers told the club of the plans the CRMWD has to build a new and even bigger lake than J. B. Thomas at a site near Robert Lee.

The speakers displayed a huge scale map on which was shown the various properties owned and operated by the district. The three cities which cooperatively worked out the origin of the district—Big Spring, Snyder and Odessa—were shown with the present lake, the several pipelines and the well fields which the CRMWD owns and operates.

Spence told the club of the solution the district had reached on how to cope with the salt problem and of the deals made to supply water to certain oil companies for repressure programs. The location of the proposed new dam, a few miles west of Robert Lee in Coke County, was indicated and statistics given on its potential size.

Spence explained that the district had hoped to build the second lake in Mitchell County at a site selected some time ago. An extensive study of this site, he said, proved that a dam could not be built there and it was also demonstrated that the salt problem was sufficiently grave to make the site unsatisfactory.

The new site, he said, offers a proper base for the type of dam needed. It will provide the deepest lake in the state and store much more water than the present Lake J. B. Thomas. The salt problem is of no significance at the new site.

"We wanted to build in Mitchell County," he said, "but it proved that we could not so we had to find a new place." Ivie said that studies showed that the new lake would amplify the available water supply of the district to meet the potential needs for the nine county area in the CRMWD through

This estimate is assuming the population increase in the area comprising Ector, Glasscock, Sterling, Coke, Runtels, Mitchell, Midland, Martin, Howard, Scurry and a portion of Nolan, will increase by 3.25 per cent in the period to 1987.

The program the CRMWD is pursuing of storing water during the winter underground in well fields was described and its effectiveness described.

The speakers said that the program is one developed by the sale of revenue bonds alone. No money comes from the people for taxation nor are any grants given the district by state or federal government. The source of income by which the bonds are retired and the system maintained comes solely from the sale of water to the three cooperating communities and certain other oil field and industrial users.

The CRMWD has been paying off its indebtedness at a steady pace and has succeeded in reducing its obligation as to free it to issue new revenue bids for the proposed new lake.

Roy Rogers In Surgery For Vertebrae

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Roy Rogers, king of the Hollywood cowboys, underwent surgery Thursday to correct fused vertebrae in his neck.

The 52-year-old actor-singer was reported in satisfactory condition today.

Rogers' wife, actress Dale Evans, said the condition developed about 10 years ago, after Rogers fell from a horse.

ATHENS (AP)—Queen Mother Frederika of Greece has recovered from a high fever caused by a virus infection, the royal palace announced today.

The announcement said the queen mother, 46, had been confined to bed, but that her temperature returned to normal Thursday. It gave no other details.

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP) — Nepal's ambassador to the United States, M. P. Koirala, has resigned, the Foreign Office announced today. The announcement gave no reason, saying only that King Mahendra had accepted Koirala's resignation effective Aug. 18.

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard Burton has set a record. He's played "Hamlet" more times in New York than any other actor. Burton's performance Thursday night at the Lunt-Fontanne Theater was his 133rd, one more than the 1936-47 run of Sir John Gielgud in the role.

Gielgud, incidentally is directing the current production.

Parents Knifed; Youth Arrested

LEADVILLE, Colo. (AP) — James Bresnahan, 16, jailed since Wednesday in his parents' knifing deaths, has made "a full statement," Dist. Atty. Harold Grant says.

Dr. and Mrs. William Bresnahan, both 39, were found beaten and stabbed to death Tuesday near their campsite in the central Colorado Rockies. Their three youngest children were locked unharmed in the family camper.

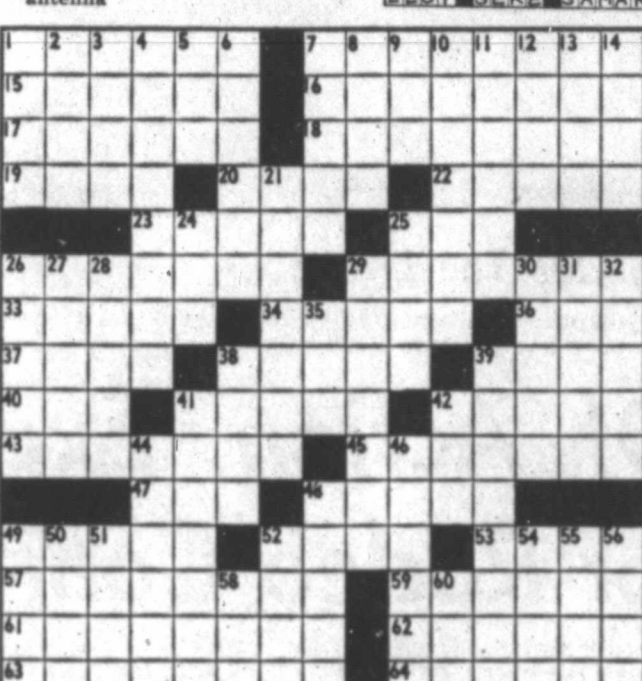

After being treated in a Denver hospital for superficial knife wounds, James Bresnahan was taken to the scene Wednesday. He told authorities a slightly built man attacked his family with a knife and club. The family is from Broomfield, Colo.

Zsa Zsa In Riviera Bout

LONDON (AP) — Zsa Zsa Gabor threatened today to sue a wealthy British woman who she said called her a "cheap Hungarian."

Miss Gabor tangled Thursday at Nice, on the French Riviera, with Hannah Marcov, daughter of Lord Marks. There was an argument about jumping the line in leaving an airplane.

"I said she was behaving like a cook," the actress said.

Mrs. Marcov denied she had insulted Miss Gabor, but the latter insisted she had.

Miss Gabor said Prince Rainier, the ruler of Monaco, told her the remarks had reached the ear of Hollywood producer Sam Goldwyn "who is in Monte Carlo and he said I would not get any work in America."

Miss Gabor said as a result she withdrew from a Red Cross gala in Monaco in which she was to appear tonight before Rainier and Princess Grace. The actress, her husband and her daughter took off today for New York.

A House Divided, Politically

50 Years Ago German Lancers Opened War

GEMMENICH, Belgium (AP)—It was a fresh sunny morning on Aug. 4, 1914 when a company of German cavalry trotted through this border village in the green foothills of the Ardennes Mountains.

The first campaign of World War I had opened.

The Uhlands, despite their spiked German helmets, were flying Belgium's black, yellow and gold from their steel-headed, 12-foot lances.

Said the war manual of the German General Staff:

NEW LEATHER

"The wearing of enemy uniforms and the use of enemy or neutral flags or insignia with the aim of deception are declared permissible."

Antoine Reynders is 75 now and still lives in Gemmenich. He remembers what the Uhlands looked like, and the strong smell of new leather from their belts and straps and saddles.

"We were not expecting them," he recalls, "but we didn't believe them either when they handed out tracts saying King Albert of Belgium had asked their help to fight the French."

Nor had the king who just 25 hours earlier had turned down a German ultimatum, taken command of the Belgian army and ordered the bridges over the Meuse River to be blown up.

The following evening, Britain sent Germany an ultimatum of its own: Get out of Belgium or we fight. Theobald von Bethmann-Hollweg, the German chancellor, was angry with the British ambassador who delivered it. He accused Britain of going to war "all for just a word—'neutrality'—just for a scrap of paper."

PEACE TREATY

The scrap of paper—a description that echoed around the world—was Belgium's peace treaty with Holland, signed 75 years before and guaranteed by all the great European powers, Prussia as well as Britain.

"Belgium is an independent

Rites Set For Mrs. C. E. Short

Funeral rites will be said for Mrs. Charles E. Short, 27, the former Carolyn Mae Ripps, at Carson Funeral Home in Raytown, Mo., at 1 p.m. Saturday. She died Thursday morning following complications after surgery. Burial will be in Evergreen Cemetery.

Mrs. Short is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Ripps. She was born here Oct. 14, 1936 but had lived most of her adult life in Kansas City.

Surviving her are her husband, Charles Short; a daughter, Rebecca, 9; two sons, Charles Jr., 7, and Louis, 3; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James L. Ripps, Hurst; three brothers, Jim Tom Ripps, Kansas City, Mo., Mike Ripps, in the Air Force at Biloxi, Miss., and Mike Ripps, Hurst.

state, perpetually neutral," the treaty said.

Britain was bound to defend this neutrality and it did, though it was not pure indignation that drove Britain to fight. A successful campaign by the Germans would have put them in possession of the Belgian and French ports on the English Channel, an hour's steaming from the British coast.

Germany had been building up its navy to challenge Britain's. German command of the channel ports would have laid Britain wide open to invasion.

Bad German behavior in Belgium, diligently publicized and often exaggerated by propagandists, added every day to the strong feeling aroused by the invasion.

FEAR OF SNIPERS

The German troops had a neurotic fear of snipers. They also resented Belgian military resistance as a kind of affront, feeling that the Belgians should not have interfered with passage through their country to attack France.

Antoine Reynders remembers the "Death's Head Hussars"—their insignia was a skull and crossbones—who came to Gemmenich two days after the war started.

"They knew the troops before them had met with strong resistance at Liege," he remembers. "Gentleness and charm were gone."

During the first month of the war at least 5,200 Belgian civilians were executed and more than 25,000 buildings destroyed, mostly by fire.

What brought world indignation to a climax was the destruction of Louvain, a university town; where German anger turned against bricks, books and art treasures.

The Germans razed Louvain, including the library of which nothing was left but ashes. They killed 218 people, including 20 women and 11 children.

HORROR REACTION

The world reaction was one of horror, and the Germans felt moved to reply. The emperor explained that what his army had done in Belgium was the "result of the criminal and barbarous action of the Belgians." A group of world-renowned Germans issued a denial that German troops had brutally destroyed Louvain. They were not believed.

Less than a week after the destruction of Louvain, the British, French and Russian governments signed a pact barring a separate peace. Belgium had clarified the issues.

King Albert carefully conserved his limited resources of men. He refused to have them join the Allied offensives and sent them forward only in the final, victorious drive of 1918. Belgium lost about 40,000 men in the war, but its percentage of loss was low compared to the major belligerents.

When it ended, Belgium was awarded 382 square miles of territory that had been held by Germany—the cantons of Eupen, Malmedy and Moresnet, not far from Gemmenich.

FBI Pushes Search For Trio's Killers

PHILADELPHIA, Miss. (AP)—The FBI kept up relentless pressure today in an effort to uncover the killers of three civil rights workers.

Agents were busy around the back-country, swamp-dotted area southwest of here, where they dug three bodies out of the red clay of a nearby watershed dam Tuesday.

Residents in the dam area were being questioned. Agents also interrogated workers at the truck company operated by Olen Burrage, who owns the farm where the dam is located.

Sheriff Lawrence Rainey and Deputy Cecil Price, who have had several sessions with FBI interrogators, conferred with an investigator for the State Sovereignty Commission—the state's official segregation watchdog.

Price was the last to see the three civil rights workers before they fell into the hands of killers last June 21.

He arrested them on speeding charges as they were en route to investigate a Negro church burning. He said they were held six hours for investigation, then released on bond at about 11 p.m.

Gardeners Hear Talk

Mrs. C. A. Tonn and Mrs. V. A. Whittington contrasted the methods of table settings for home and flower shows at the Thursday meeting of the Spaders Garden Club. Miss Bo Bowen, 2509 Fisher, was hostess.

Mrs. Tonn noted that the secret to table appointments and decorative units was in the planning of design and function. She set a table for general home use.

Mrs. Whittington outlined the special requirements detailed by the Garden Club handbook for shows in Texas and covered the various appointments for cocktail, coffee and tea tables. She pointed out that initiative and the use of color counted in the judging of table arrangements.

At the business session, plans were made to sell wrapping paper and arrangement calendars as the fund raising project for the group. Year book plans were completed.

Miss Bowen was assisted by Mrs. Don Williams in serving refreshments to eight members. The buffet was appointed in china and silver and centered with an arrangement of summer flowers.

Remove Pockets For Patching Blue Jeans

Dear Heloise: I am the mother of several small boys and they all wear blue jeans.

Instead of running to the dime store or searching for patches for their blue jeans, I remove one of the many pockets (usually the back), and cut it to the size needed. This makes a wonderful patch that is both economical and a perfect match in color with the blue jeans which which have faded.

The boys never miss that extra pocket and there is usually a piece left over for the next mending job. An avid admirer, Mother.

Dear Heloise: For the homemaker who likes spray starch, may I suggest liquid starch diluted to desired strength and an old spray bottle. I've found it easier on the budget and you are less likely to run out of starch in the middle of ironing.

By LYDIA LANE ROME—We drove from Rome to a tiny village nearby where United Artists was shooting "The Pink Panther." As I watched a scene of Claudia Cardinale hiding a famous jewel, I felt as so many others that she was destined for stardom. Later I asked how she acquired her naturalness.

"I remove my make-up with pure mineral oil and soft toweling. And then I wash my face with an unscented soap and rinse it with lots of cold water."

"I also prefer a suntan to make-up, and I keep my skin soft with a formula my mother was given when we were living in Tunis. ## Fasting Rabbis Released, Head For Steak Dinners

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Two rabbis, who were jailed Monday along with seven other clergymen on a three-year-old sit-in charge, got out Thursday night and headed straight for the dinner table.

They said they had been fasting for the four days.

Each ate a big steak, and they were still sitting at the table when the seven other clergymen left the usually segregated hotel dining room for a news conference.

"It was the best fast I ever had," said Rabbi Israel Dresner of Springfield, N.J.

He and Rabbi Martin Freedman of Paterson, N.J., said the fasting had been a personal protest against racial injustice.

The clergymen — six whites and three Negroes — were released from jail Thursday night by the same judge that had found them guilty of unlawful assembly in 1961 during a "freedom ride" testing an Interstate Commerce Commission order wiping out segregation at transportation terminals.

"The judge, in effect, threw us out of jail," said the Rev. John W. Collier of Newark, N.J., Negro pastor of the Israel Memorial AME Church. "He said we were not needed in Tallahassee. He said we were needed in the North to quell riots." The clergymen, still in blue denim uniforms, were taken from jail to the courtroom late in the day. Municipal Judge John Rudd read an order reversing a previous decision on a petition for mitigation of sentence.

He reduced the 60-day sentence, which the clergymen had chosen over $500 fines, to the time they already had served. The surprise action ended three years of fruitless appeals and came just as new appeals were being started.

"One result of Judge Rudd's action was that each of us now has a permanent criminal record, a fact that Judge Rudd informed us about with considerable relish," the clergymen told a news conference in a prepared statement.

However, they said: "We interpret our release as a victory for the cause of civil rights and an admission by the city that the original case was without foundation."

They said they had been treated fairly in jail, although the Negroes were cursed one day by a guard while stacking bricks. They said a complaint had been made to prison officials and profanity had stopped.

Their only objection to the four-day stay in prison was the segregated cells, Collier said.

Dogs, Cats Get Trust From Will

AMESBURY, Mass. (AP) — Two dogs and two cats have a trust fund of more than $50,000.

Annie E. Webster, 84, of Amesbury, who died June 8, directed in her will that the bulk of her $68,000 estate, after $14,000 in charitable bequests, should be placed in trust for pets.

The will directed that the dogs and cats be permitted to live the rest of their lives in her home and that they are to be given "a proper burial when they die."

Jobs Rise, Unemployment Drops Below Five Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unemployment dropped to 4.9 per cent in July and total employment rose to 72.4 million. That's the first time the jobless rate has been below 5 per cent since February 1960. And it's the first time ever employment has been as high as 72 million.

But Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz and George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, weren't doing handclapping over Thursday's announcement.

Said Wirtz: "The drop in unemployment from 5.3 per cent to 4.9 per cent means that 3,813,000 people are still out of work. That's an awful lot of people to be left out of a record high prosperity."

Said Meany: "With both productivity and the labor force increasing rapidly, many additional months of continued improvement are needed before an approach to full employment can be reached."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate sent to President Johnson Thursday a bill designed to improve protection of investors in securities, particularly over-the-counter items.

There's no doubt the President will sign the measure into law. It is on his list of 30 "must bills" and carries out many of the recommendations made by the Securities and Exchange Commission after a two-year study.

The requirements now covering issues listed with stock exchanges would be extended to securities traded over the counter. These include registration with the SEC, periodic reporting to keep current the information in the registration statement, and proxy solicitation and insider trading control.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has sent W. Averell Harriman, undersecretary of state and veteran trouble-shooter, to Brussels to confer on the Congo situation.

And the State Department announced earlier Thursday that the United States is discussing the question of military assistance to the Congolese army with officials of the Leopoldville government.

It is understood that additional trucks and aircraft may be made available to help the government forces.

Garage Destroyed

FORT WORTH (AP) — A three-alarm garage fire did an estimated $100,000 damage here Thursday. Nine cars and two trucks were destroyed and several other cars damaged. Two firemen were slightly hurt in fighting the blaze in 108-degree weather.

CHRIST'S UNCHANGEABLE PLAN FOR HIS CHURCH

1st Century	PURPOSE	Ephesians 3:10,11
	AUTHORITY	Matthew 28:18
	NAME	Romans 16:16
	GOVERNMENT	Ephesians 4:11,12
	DOCTRINE	Matthew 17:5; 2 John 9
	CONVERSION	Acts 2:38; 22:16
	WORSHIP	John 4:24
	SPIRITUALITY	Romans 8:9
	MANNER OF LIFE	Titus 2:12

THE SAME IN SPIRITUALITY

Early Christians were guided and motivated by the spirit of Christ. They were obedient to both the letter and spirit of Christ's teachings. The Lord's unchangeable plan for His church requires that Christians today also be guided and motivated by the spirit of Christ.

The New Testament is clear on this point:

"Now if any man have not the Spirit of Christ, he is none of his" (Romans 8:9).

What is the spirit or mind of Christ? What are the characteristics of the spiritual mind? Definite and specific attitudes which control the inner spiritual man make up the spirit or mind of Christ. Consider the spirit of Christ.

Christ's spirit was one of faith, never doubting the power and wisdom of the Father in heaven (Matthew 4:1-11). As Christ looked to the Father in faith, Christians today are to look to Jesus in faith (Hebrews 12:2).

Christ's spirit was one of humility (Philippians 2:8). He depended greatly on God. Christians today are to depend greatly on God by drawing spiritual strength from Christ (Philippians 4:13).

Christ's spirit was one of purity (Matthew 5:8). Jesus' life was a perfect life. His purity in heart and life contributed to His perfect peace of mind and mastery of self.

Christ's spirit was one of love (Matthew 22:36-40). No greater love for man can be expressed than the love Christ had for man (John 15:13). Our love likewise must be sincere and faithful and must be directed toward God, Christ, the church, our neighbors, and even our enemies.

Christ's spirit was one of zeal and sacrificial service (Hebrews 9:26, 10:10-12). He gave himself to die on a cross for the benefit of the whole world. The true spirit of Christ today will be a spirit of giving and serving.

Christ's spirit was one of mercy and forgiveness (Matthew 6:14). The Christian spirit must grow out of a heart full of compassion.

Christ's spirit was one of obedience (Hebrews 5:8,9). Jesus demands the same obedience of His disciples (John 8:31;14:15).

These great marks of spirituality—faith, humility, purity, love, zeal, mercy, and obedience—must truly characterize the minds, hearts, affections, and dispositions of Christians today if we are to genuinely respect and honor Christ's unchangeable plan for His church.

Service, Reunion Honor Memory Of Pastor, Wife

The influence of the late Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Copeland will live on Sunday in services of the First Methodist Church at Coahoma where one of their sons, the Rev. C. Ray Copeland, is pastor and where Bishop Kenneth W. Copeland will speak at 10 a.m.

The occasion is the annual reunion of the seven sons and two daughters of the Methodist couple who devoted their life in service of the Texas conference. Mrs. Copeland had taught her husband to read and write and encouraged him in his struggle to become a minister. Both of them loved music, and a tape recording of them singing together is a feature of the family gatherings. Just before their death, they pledged their children to meet together annually.

Bishop Copeland serves the Nebraska area of the Methodist Church. He will be remembered here especially because he was the conference preacher at the annual meeting of the Northwest Texas Methodist Conference which met in Big Spring in 1963. The public is invited to join with Coahoma Methodists in hearing him Sunday morning.

The choir will be made up of the Copeland family, and four of the sons, Bill, Cleve, Otto and Buck, will comprise a quartet which will present special music. Otto Copeland will lead the congregational singing.

Actually, the reunion will get under way with a family dinner in the fellowship hall of the church at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, followed by singing hymns that the Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Copeland once sang. After the Sunday morning worship, there will be another dinner in the fellowship hall, and members of the congregation are invited to bring their baskets and share in the happy occasion.

The children include Cleve Copeland and Otto Copeland of McAlester, Okla., Buck Copeland, Corsicana, Bishop Ken-

HEARTFELT STEWARDSHIP PART OF GOD'S PLAN OF WORSHIP

Stewardship, the administration of God's gifts to His glory, is the important and basic doctrine in the Christian gospel. This was taught to Moses and his people when the Lord asked for gifts and offerings "from the heart only," before the building of the tabernacle.

"God's People Learn to Worship" is the theme of the International Sunday School Lesson for Aug. 9, based on Exodus 25:1-2, 8; 35:20-22; 40:12-15, 34-38, and deals with voluntary giving and stewardship; the Tabernacle and its construction; the elaborate plan for worship; the preparation and consecration of the priesthood for leadership in worship, and God's leading by pillar of cloud and fire.

The lesson presents the relationship of articles of furniture and the ritual of worship as symbols and types of Christ and His offices and atonement for sin, and fellowship with God, under the new Covenant.

Citizen Joins Speeders' War

TUCUMCARI, N.M. (AP)—New Mexico State Police have announced the arrest of an Oklahoma City man, whom they said, told them he saw no patrolmen along a certain section of U.S. 66 and took it upon himself to stop speeding motorists and issue citations.

Dist. Atty. Victor Breen identified the man as Garrett B. Trapnell, 26, New Mexico official said the man was arrested by the Texas Highway Patrol Thursday and placed in jail at Hereford, Tex.

Breen said the man was charged with extortion and impersonating an officer.

Breen said the man maintained he had no intention of defrauding anyone. The district attorney said the man told officers he stopped speeding motorists as a public service and that he let several go with only a warning.

The motorists were stopped between San Jon, N.M., and the Texas line.

Breen quoted Trapnell as saying he ticketed about 10 motorists.

Water District Directors Plan Joint Meeting Here

Directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District and those of the Upper Colorado River Authority will meet together in Big Spring at noon Aug. 14.

E. V. Spence, general manager for CRMWD, said that the UCRA group had accepted an invitation to talk about the district's plans for seeking a dam on the upper Colorado River above Robert Lee. UCRA had suggested such a meeting previously, but at that time studies had not been complete, Spence said.

CRMWD directors will hold a brief session prior to the joint meeting to attend to routine business matters. The two boards will meet at Cosden Country Club.

Mitchell County interests, protesting plans of the CRMWD for a dam in Coke County rather than Mitchell County, have indicated plans to seek court action to keep CRMWD from pursuing plans for developing the Robert Lee site.

Mitchell County Judge Elmer Martin said at Colorado City that an out-of-town attorney has been asked to ascertain possible courses of legal action.

"We are not fighting them (CRMWD) on the dam or any city's receiving water from it," he declared. "We just feel they shouldn't move the site after it was approved, and we worked so hard to help them secure the application on the Mitchell site."

Originally a site in southern Mitchell County, about a mile north of the Coke County line, was studied as a potential site. When the consulting engineers report reflected a more satisfactory foundation and about twice the yield and quality of water at Robert Lee, an amended application was filed to change the location.

Space Center Boosts Economy

HOUSTON (AP)—Spending by the Manned Spacecraft Center reached a $1.45 billion total for fiscal year 1964 with Texas firms getting $16.9 million in procurement contracts.

The Houston and Gulf Coast area enjoyed the greatest slice of the Texas spending with $11.5 million. This does not include $35.17 million for wages of the more than 3,600 space agency employees.

Dave W. Lang, MSC procurement officer, told a meeting of the Houston Chamber of Commerce Wednesday he expected the level of spending to remain the same through 1970.

Mexico's Chief Disclaims Ambition For Leadership

EL PASO (AP)—Gustavo Diaz Ordaz, president-elect of Mexico, says his country has no intention of striving for the leadership of Latin America. Instead, he says, Mexico will seek to strengthen the ties between all American nations.

Diaz Ordaz made the comments in reply to questions submitted by Marjorie Graham of the El Paso Times.

The new leader of Mexico's 35 million people said steps will be taken to develop the West Coast port of Topolobampo as an export-import center; that foreign investment is welcome so long as it plays a secondary role in the Mexican economy; and that Mexican women can expect increased opportunity to participate in public affairs and politics.

IMPROVE RELATIONS
Answering in writing the question as to whether Mexico will use its central location and stable political climate to improve inter-American relations, Diaz Ordaz said:

"Mexico does not seek to be the leader of Latin America. It places itself on the same level as the other American nations. Mexico is not greater than, nor inferior to, any other nation. However, Mexico strongly advocates international friendship and will strive constantly to promote and maintain peace, based on mutual respect. We are confident all conflicts can be resolved by adherence to the principles of international law. "Based on these considerations, Mexico will seek to strengthen the ties between all American nations and to promote friendship between the countries of the American continent."

Diaz Ordaz won the presidential election in July by a margin of more than 7 million votes. He will succeed his long-time colleague, Adolfo Lopez Mateos, and is expected to continue present foreign and domestic policies.

Judge To Rap Appeal Moves

DALLAS (AP)—Judge Joe B. Brown says he will challenge statements made by defense lawyers when they cited 15 reasons why they think Jack Ruby should get a new trial.

"The trial record does not support some of the statements which they made," Judge Brown said, adding that he would file the court's answer today.

The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals must decide whether to throw out the death penalty which Ruby received when convicted of slaying Lee Harvey Oswald, accused presidential assassin.

Defense attorneys in their formal bills of exception filed July 28 were highly critical of rulings made by Judge Brown during Ruby's trial.

The defense attacked Judge Brown's failure to move the trial to another county and his refusal to disqualify prospective jurors who saw the shooting of Oswald on television. They also contended that testimony by Police Sgt. Patrick Dean was untrue and that jurors should not have heard it.

Times, Diaz Ordaz restated his position that the Cihuahuapacific Railroad project should be expanded to increase trade.

"An auxiliary network of highways and railroads, including communications of the highlands and valleys, will be constructed," he said. "Gas, oil and their byproducts will be produced, thus increasing sources of power in that area in order to promote future industry in this state. The railroad permits Topolobampo, as a free port, to stimulate commerce, since the distance from Los Mochis via North American Pacific ports of entry to the center of the United States is reduced by 800 kilometers (490 miles)."

Speaking of his attitude toward foreign investment," the president-elect said:

"The economic development of Mexico will be brought about fundamentally by personal sacrifice on the part of Mexicans, although we realize that foreign capital through investment and government loans is necessary. We will admit foreign investment as long as it plays a supplementary and not a fundamental role in the Mexican economy, and as long as it complies sine qua non with legislation that regulates investment."

WOMEN'S ROLE
Women will play an ever-larger role in Mexican political life, Diaz Ordaz indicated.

"In the past, the general attitude was that she could afford to be indifferent or negligent with regard to her duties as a citizen. She has proven otherwise, as she now plays an important role in Mexican national politics. Although this is only the second time that she has voted in presidential elections, the Mexican woman has attained a self-confidence not common to a newcomer in politics, but characteristic only of politically mature citizens. . . . The Mexican woman can expect increased participation in public affairs and in Mexican politics."

Diaz Ordaz formerly was minister of the interior.

Kiwanians, Dallas Still Undeclared

By TOMMY HART
Big Spring and Dallas strong clubbed home runs for the teams to beat in the Texas State Hi-Junior Teen-Age Baseball tournament here after the completion of the second day of play Thursday.

Second Of Back-To-Back

Pat Armstrong, Big Spring third sacker, is shown being congratulated at home plate by a teammate after hitting a home run in the fourth inning of Thursday night's State Hi-Junior Teenage Baseball tournament game with Texarkana here.

BIG SPRING, DALLAS COLLIDE IN HEADLINE BATTLE TODAY

The Big Spring Kiwanians bid for a place in the finals of the Texas State Hi-Junior Teenage Baseball tournament in a 5:30 o'clock game with the Dallas Police Association team on the North Side diamond today.

A victory would qualify the locals to return to competition at 7 p.m. Saturday. A loss would send them back to the field at 10 a.m. tomorrow.

Six teams were left in the tournament when the action ended Thursday night and three more clubs will drop by the wayside today.

Here's the schedule for today: Fort Worth North Side Raiders vs. Texarkana, 10 a.m. (loser's bracket); Odessa vs. Pasadena, 2 p.m. (loser's bracket); Dallas vs. Big Spring, 5:30 p.m. (winner's bracket); winners of Fort Worth-Texarkana and Odessa-Pasadena games, 8:30 p.m.

No game is scheduled for Saturday afternoon. Action following the morning contest, will be resumed at 7 p.m. tomorrow. If a third game is needed, it will be unrec'd at 9 p.m.

Ed Dunn In Full Charge As Abilene A's Triumph

BROWNWOOD—Ed Dunn was master of the situation as the Abilene A's topped the Big Spring Merchants, 7-0, in the first round of competition in the State ASA Softball tournament here Thursday night.

Dunn set the Big Springers down with four hits, fanning four and walking one.

The Abilene crew had two big innings, scoring three in the initial inning and the other four in the fifth.

Wally Jordan smashed a two-run homer for Abilene in the first with Bill and George Williams on base.

Dunn himself drove out a four-master in the fifth with Bill Williams ahead of him.

Big Spring returns to competition at 4 a.m. Saturday, playing the loser of tonight's contest between the Refugio Raiders-Lubbock Cecils contest.

Big Spring's other team in the tournament, Skateland, tangles with Holt's of Wichita Falls at 8 o'clock this evening in a first round engagement.

In other games on the opening day of the state playoffs, Conoco of Abilene thumped Goodfellow Air Force Base of San Angelo, 5-0; defending champion Striplin-Blake of Austin topped the Abilene Merchants, 10-0; Brownwood thundered past Killien First State Bank, 4-0; and the Killien Merchants dropped the San Angelo Merchants, 5-2.

The Big Spring Karting Association will hold short track races Saturday night at 7:30 at the track across from the Sahara Drive in west of town.

There will be four classes with three 10-lap heats to each class. The top three drivers in each bracket will receive trophies.

The public is invited to watch free with refreshments to be pro'd by the Jaycees. Anyone wishing further information should contact Wallace San Angelo, 3-0; defending

Bailey, Rains Play For Title

It's almost as if the calendar had been turned back one year. In Thursday's action in the championship flight of the 16th annual city golf tournament, Charles Bailey thundered past Dan Lewis, 6-5, while Bernard Rains came from behind to nip Jimmy Newsom, 1 up.

That will wind up the season's business for the Yankees with the competitors. They will see either team again.

The Yankees are 5-6 against the Orioles, and 10-0 against the White Sox, going into the big fortnight, but they are not certain at this stage if their ace, Whitey Ford, can be counted on for regular work. He has an ailing hip.

That made the continued rehabilitation of onetime ace Ralph Terry good news for the Yankees. Terry got the victory, his third in a row, against the Athletics, although he needed help when the home run ball started to catch up to him again.

Nellie Mathews homered in the fifth and Rocky Colavito hit his 27th, a two-run shot, in the eighth, against Terry.

Roger Maris got the Yankees off in front with a homer in the fifth, and Tommy Tresh hit a two-run triple in the seventh. Elston Howard's wrong field homer in the eighth proved to be the winning run.

Yanks Forego Batting Drill, Defeats A's

By The Associated Press
The biggest two weeks of the year in the American League start today, and the New York Yankees got ready for them by leaving their bats in the rack.

That should be bad news for the Baltimore Orioles and the Chicago White Sox.

The last time the Yankees did that they won five straight.

And this time they pulled out the finale of a three-game set in Kansas City, 5-3, by using the dusty bat act that was dreamed up by Manager Yogi Berra as a slump-killer.

The victory put the Yankees four percentage points ahead of the Orioles, with the big series coming up between the two clubs at Yankee Stadium tonight.

The third-place White Sox dropped 1 1/2 games back, when they dropped a 5-2 decision to the Detroit Tigers. The Minnesota Twins edged the Boston Red Sox 6-5 on a fly ball that was lost in the sun, in the other game.

The Orioles were idle, along with the Senators, Angels and Indians.

The Yankees snapped out of their slump in Kansas City by using Yogi's recipe for weak hitting — not batting practice. It was the second time this year that Berra had ordered his team to skip batting drill, and the second time they responded.

The same kind of response would come in handy in the next two weeks — which are being billed as pennant weeks. The Yankees meet the second-place Orioles for four games at home, and then the White Sox come in for four.

Then the Yanks go to Baltimore for three and Chicago for four.

That will wind up the season's business for the Yankees with the competitors. They will see either team again.

The Yankees are 5-6 against the Orioles, and 10-0 against the White Sox, going into the big fortnight, but they are not certain at this stage if their ace, Whitey Ford, can be counted on for regular work. He has an ailing hip.

That made the continued rehabilitation of onetime ace Ralph Terry good news for the Yankees. Terry got the victory, his third in a row, against the Athletics, although he needed help when the home run ball started to catch up to him again.

Nellie Mathews homered in the fifth and Rocky Colavito hit his 27th, a two-run shot, in the eighth, against Terry.

Roger Maris got the Yankees off in front with a homer in the fifth, and Tommy Tresh hit a two-run triple in the seventh. Elston Howard's wrong field homer in the eighth proved to be the winning run.

CHICAGO (AP) — Chi Chi Rodriguez, the pookish Puerto Rican whose continuous jabbering with the gallery has been frowned upon by many of his golfing colleagues, is back at his old tricks.

This means he still is being the poll parrot of the links and has returned to his scoring groove.

"For three weeks I've been in a slump," he said after tying Billy Casper for the first round lead of the Western Open Wednesday with a seven-under-par 64 at Tam O'Shanter.

"I tied for 40th in the PGA. I tied for 31st in the Insurance City Open. I was so bad in the Canadian Open last week I didn't make the 54-hole cut."

"All during this time, I haven't been criticized for being a friendly fellow with the galleries. I just like people. Now that I've made a good start in this tournament, they take a poke at me for too much talking. But it's been awfully quiet for three weeks."

Chi Chi, a stringy 25-year-old who amazes his followers with 300-yard plus drives, was among 25 players cranking Tam's 35-36 — 71 par. He strung out five consecutive birdies during a dazzling front nine of 39 and came back in 34 to miss the competitive course record by one stroke. Twice he failed to drop three-foot putts for eagles.

North Wins, 23-14, In All-Star Game

FORT WORTH (AP) — The Texas Coaching School all-star football game in 30 years of the record crowd of 39,233 saw what it had come to see—Warren McVea's twisting, fantastic runs; a 52-yard touchdown dash, a 78-degree heat and excitement at yard quick kick and the finest the finish Thursday night as the North won the game 23-14 and increased its lead in the series to 17-10.

But the acclaim was for McVea, the litle Negro star from Brackenridge of San Antonio, although he played on the losing team and also was held scoreless for the first time in three years.

He was so good he was voted outstanding back of the game but only by two votes over that rampaging fullback for the North—battering Ralph Weaver of Garland.

Ines Perez, the diminutive quarterback from Corpus Christi Miller, was the passing star and also the passing goat—three of his throws were intercepted and they led to the South's downfall.

Greg Lott of Lubbock intercepted a Perez pass out of the hands of McVea to prevent a South touchdown in the end zone. Jackie Anderson of Rockwall intercepted a Perez pass to set up a North touchdown and Larry Gilbert of Kilgore intercepted one to set up a second North score.

Baylor University's head football coach JOHN BRIDGERS, who is noted for his passing teams, commenting on Texas coach DARRELL ROYAL'S saying: "When you put the ball in the air, there are three things that can happen and two of them are bad."

"Aw, I think that's a play on words more than anything. I could say the same thing about running. I could say four things can happen when you run the ball, and three of them are bad. You could fumble, you could lose yardage, you could fall to gain, or you could gain."

"Take the Baylor team last year. Counting the Bluebonnet Bowl, we threw 357 passes and had 14 intercepted. That's losing it one out of 25 times. You're liable to lose a fumble once in 25 running plays."

FRANK BROYLES, head coach of the Arkansas Razorbacks, explaining what he has to have in order to produce a winning team.

"You need seasoning and maturity more at quarterback than at any other position on the team."

SMU coach HAYDEN FRY: "We're going to open our offense up a bit, and try to stabilize our defense. I've heard people say they've sat up in the stands the last two years, looked at our little kids and actually felt sorry for us. I appreciate that, but what we're looking for is less sympathy and more points. Each year, our players get a little bigger, a little quicker, and there are more of them. By next year I think we could contend. But right now, we have only nine seniors on our top 48. You need more to have a sound program."

ABE MARTIN, head coach of TCU: "This isn't the most complicated life in the world. A coach doesn't take his team up or down, the team takes him. It's about that simple and the worst thing a coach can do to himself is run out of football players."

A Devotional For The Day

In quietness and in confidence shall be your strength. (Isaiah 30:15.)

PRAYER: Eternal Father, we would pause each day in quietness and in confidence before Thee. Because our lives are so filled with haste and hurry, we need Thy peace to give us poise and Thy power to help us in the duties of the day. Grant us Thy peace promised through Christ, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

Pay The Fiddler

Russia again has declined to pay its special assessments for peace-keeping missions to the United Nations. This action apparently is on the grounds that these missions were not with the blessing, and indeed in the face of opposition, of the Soviets.

There are two offsetting factors, one being the charter provision which requires participating nations to pay up or lose the power of voting on the security council. The other is that most of the missions were occasioned by the agitation and encouragement, if by subversion, by the Russians. There should be constant pressure upon the Russians to lick the log or be exposed as welchers and free-loaders, or even as former members if necessary.

Youth Puts On A Real Show

We always recommend the Junior Rodeo to fans.

This event offers an evening of relatively inexpensive entertainment for the family under pleasant circumstances. It promises action in abundance, and above all the old college try on the part of participants. What these youngsters may lack in professional polish, they make up in pure daring and all-out effort.

True, there will be some misses and some falls, but there also will be some sparkling catches and ties, some brilliant rides.

You can't beat the enthusiasm and dauntlessness of youth, and therefore you can't beat the show for fun. And while you're at it, you will be helping the county's 4-H Club programs.

How about making it tonight or Saturday night?

Development Of National Culture

WASHINGTON—The convention, the Vice Presidency, the campaign, the war in Viet Nam—these are the preoccupations high on a list that keeps President Johnson in constant motion 12 to 14 hours a day. But he finds time, nevertheless, to consider details of his Great Society.

ONE OF HIS earliest acts when he became President was to push the Congressional appropriation of $15,500,000 matching public contributions to build the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts. He put Roger Stevens, theatrical producer and real estate developer in charge of the center. This gives Stevens culture, in its relationship to government, as his province.

No word in the American vocabulary is more treacherous than "culture." The claim of the elect to a monopoly on the more rarefied aspects of the arts raises the fiercest jealousies. There is a singular kind of satisfaction in casting into outer darkness the uninitiated.

BUT STEVENS is wading in bravely with the hope of expanding the cultural horizon. One aim is to use resources in the arts which have fallen into neglect. The immediate goal is to persuade Congress to authorize the creation of an Arts Council. The council was to have been created by executive order, but with Congressional approval, as the President realized, it would have broader authority.

Stevens is battling up a series of ideas for Johnson's consideration. He has pointed out that on government buildings built by the government, one-half of one per cent of the cost may, under law, be spent on the arts—sculpture, murals, fountains. If this were taken advantage of, the monotonous cubes currently being put up would look somewhat less like the beginning of an Orwellian city of 1984.

ON THE NEW $100,000,000 Post Office building in New York City, one-half of one per cent would be a substantial investment in the arts. Similarly on Federal Housing Administration loans for apartments and other projects, the law says one per cent can be spent on the arts. Stevens believes that with a little prodding by FHA, builders would use this provision.

One of his long-time concerns has been the slow death of the living theater. Except for New York and sporadically in a half dozen other cities, the theater has all but disappeared. As the urban population moves outward to the suburbs, downtown theaters moulder in empty darkness and no banker in his right mind would lend a nickel to any builder mad enough to propose putting up a theater for live actors.

AS ONE WAY to try to bring back live theater, Stevens proposes FHA loans to build standardized playhouses in — as one possibility — shopping centers. Touring companies would use standardized sets. In this way costs could be pared down so that the price of a ticket could be $2 or $2.50. In suburban neighborhoods with free parking, the cost of a long trek to the center of the city would be eliminated.

Stevens gives high priority to enhancing the role of the artist in American life and enlarging his function at every level. Too often government has simply ignored such considerations.

Billy Graham

There have been several articles in the newspapers recently about some preachers who do not believe in the Virgin Birth. If we believe in Christ what difference does that make? P.P.L.

To me and many others it makes a great deal of difference . . . a number of things are involved. First of all, the integrity of the Bible is at stake. If Christ was not Virgin Born both Matthew and Luke made false statements. Also, it is the most satisfactory explanation of how God became man — the incarnation. The Church has held this doctrine in unbroken sequence down through the centuries. It is not one whit more remarkable than the resurrection of our Lord, a fact as fully attested to as any in history. We believe that Jesus Christ was Creator of the world, pre-existent with God. The Virgin Birth explains His transition into this world.

A careful reading of the accounts in Matthew and Luke carry great conviction. Nowhere can one find as fine example of a profound and difficult truth (for Mary as well as Joseph) explained in language which carries conviction and avoids giving offense. Today, the slender, grizzled, 57-year-old director is regarded as one of the half-dozen or so master magicians of screen drama—sensitive, poetic, imaginative.

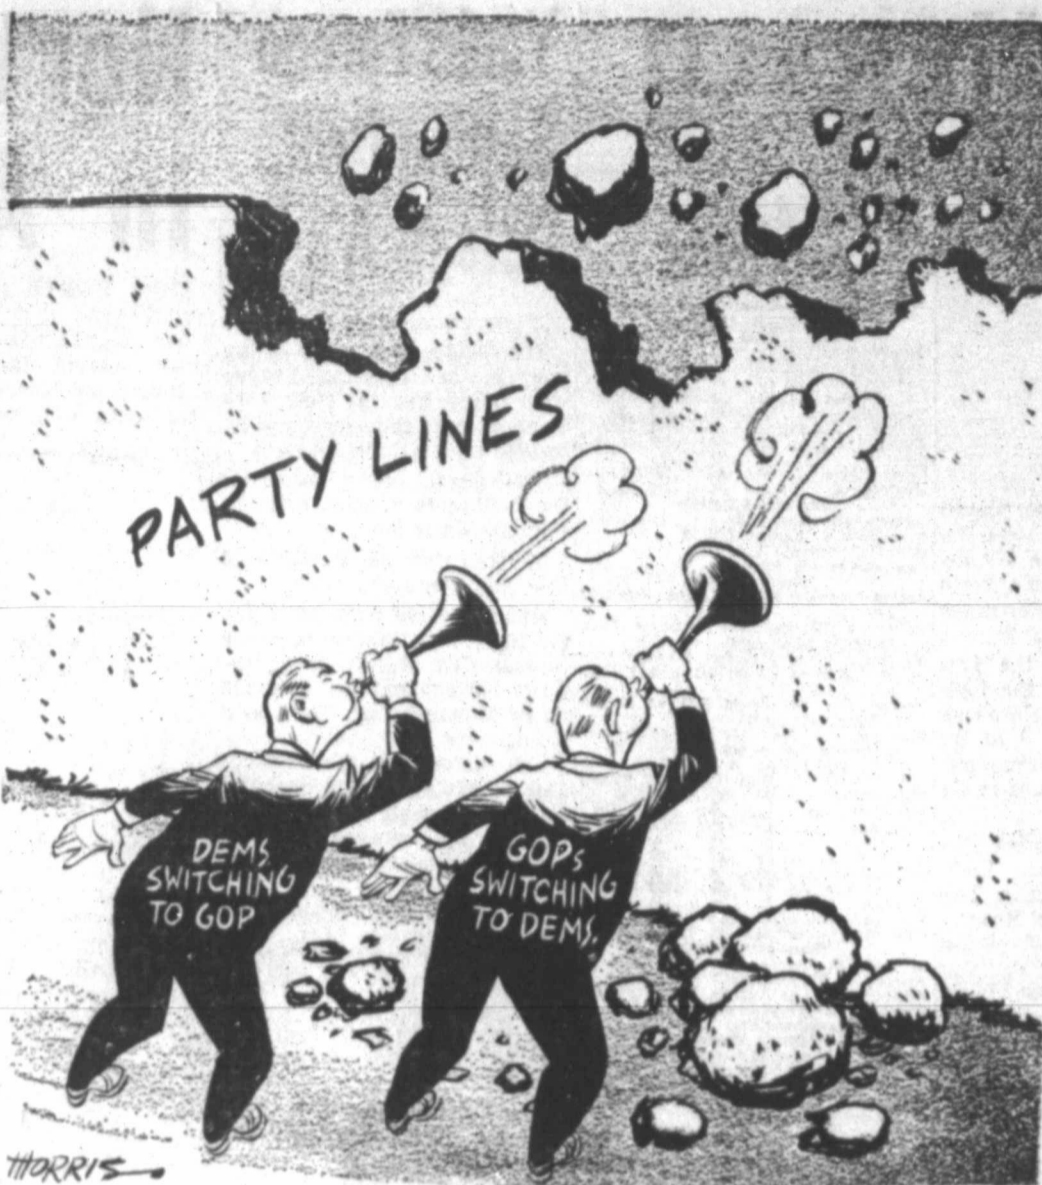

His plans? Take a "whinging of a vacation" and go back to carrying the mail.

ASHLAND, Ky. (AP)—The residents of the 2300 block of Smith Street in Ashland are proud of their do-it-yourself street paving job.

A contractor don't enough asphalt, left from a nearby job, to pave a 30-foot strip; then sold enough material at a discount to finish the job.

The residents pitched in with rakes and a hand roller to spread the asphalt.

Preservation Of Wilderness Near Reality

WASHINGTON (AP) — After years of consideration and controversy, Congress is about to agree on something called the wilderness bill.

What's it all about?

It is a bill that would provide for preservation of a vast system of wilderness areas in as nearly their natural state as possible. Soothing of men's souls is one of the objectives.

The stated purpose is to keep for present and future generations areas of unspoiled, pristine wilderness, unmarred by roads, buildings, automobiles or motorboats.

SYSTEMS OF trails would provide access for hikers, mountain climbers, hunters, fishermen and—as Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, once put it in Senate debate—for "all those who find, in high and lonely places, a refreshment of the spirit and life's closest communion with God."

Only minor differences remain to be smoothed out between bills passed by both Houses and Senate before Congress sends the Wilderness Act of 1964 to the White House for President Johnson's certain approval.

What lands would be included in the system? Initially, more than 9 million acres of National Forest lands, principally in Wyoming, Montana, California, Idaho, New Mexico, Washington, Oregon, Arizona, Colorado, Minnesota and Nevada. An additional 5 million acres, including some forest lands in North Carolina and New Hampshire, may be added later.

SINCE THE Forest Service, an agency of the Agriculture Department, now has control of the areas, why is the legislation needed? Because, in the words of Rep. John P. Saylor, R-Pa., "such areas now enjoy only the protection of the secretary of agriculture, who at some future time, remove all or part of such areas" from what "protection they now enjoy."

What about commercial activities in the wilderness areas? Provision is made for commercial services necessary "for activities which are proper for realizing the recreational or other wilderness purposes."

Who opposed the legislation? Such groups as livestock grazers, miners and loggers. They feared loss of rights to use of federal lands.

WHAT OF THEIR rights under the Wilderness Act? Provision is made for such activities under controls designed to keep them compatible with preservation of the wilderness character.

What about the cost? The legislation does not call for any money. It would simply give statutory protection to existing wilderness areas, establishing a national policy to be carried out by existing agencies. Congress would have the power, however, to vote future appropriations for acquisition of privately owned lands within the boundaries of any wilderness area.

Now Is The Time

NEW YORK (AP) — Young man, if you want to storm the gates of Hollywood, now is your time to march.

"Young people are welcome now, because everybody realizes we must have new blood," said veteran producer-director Fred Zinneman.

"Talent is the thing. If you have talent, you are very much needed. If not, you might as well beat your head against a wall."

There was no welcome mat out for Zinneman, when he came to the film colony from Vienna, Austria, after he abandoned earlier plans to become either a concert violinist or a lawyer.

"When I first set foot in Los Angeles," he recalled, "there was still an obsolete ordinance in effect making it illegal to shoot rabbits from the rear platform of street cars."

"It was very hard to become a director then. Everything was channeled. The big studios weren't taking chances on young people."

"It's completely changed now. There is no central authority, no front office anymore. Everything is more wide open."

Zinneman started as an extra and also worked as a script clerk.

Although he won an Academy Award in 1938 for a film short, it wasn't until he made "The Search" in 1948 that his directorial genius was fully recognized—19 years after he arrived in Hollywood with high hopes and empty pockets.

His hopes are still as high, but his pockets are no longer empty. Today, the slender, grizzled, 57-year-old director is regarded as one of the half-dozen or so master magicians of screen drama—sensitive, poetic, imaginative.

"Nor can I put my philosophy into words. I try to put it into my pictures. Essentially, I suppose it is this: A man has to live up to his convictions in this world—or be lost."

Renal Glycosuria Mistaken For Diabetes

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: My son is 22 and when he went for his army physical, they found sugar in his urine. We had a blood sugar test made and the doctor said he had renal diabetes, and there wasn't anything that could be done except diet."

Could a kidney specialist do anything?—MRS. L. W.

Relax. You are too much upset over something that doesn't warrant it. For that matter, suppose your son had real diabetes? It's not "good" but it isn't tragic, either. Even with diabetes mellitus, people now live useful and happy lives. Thirty or 40 years ago, no. But now,

But you aren't even confronted with a real case of diabetes. Perhaps no diabetes at all. But I'll explain.

With diabetes, the body cannot make use of the sugar in the diet. Instead of being used, the sugar first accumulates in too large concentrations in the blood. After that the excess sugar begins to "spill over" into the urine. We had a blood sugar test made and the doctor said he had renal diabetes, and there wasn't anything that could be done except diet.

Your son has been found to have what you call renal diabetes, but a much better term is renal glycosuria. (Glycosuria means "sugar in the urine.")

This does not necessarily mean too much sugar in the blood. What happens is that the blood sugar "spills over" at a lower level, but because of the normal level, but because of the "spilling," the sugar in the urine can be higher than usual.

This situation is a peculiarity rather than a disease.

Thus with renal glycosuria, the urine always shows too much sugar and the immediate thought is, "This must be diabetes." But when further tests are made, it turns out that it is not diabetes; it is that rarer condition, renal glycosuria.

There is no treatment for renal glycosuria. It is NOT a kidney disease.

Most people with renal glycosuria do not develop diabetes. A few do. Therefore, there are two things which a person with renal glycosuria should do:

1—Realize that it is not diabetes mellitus.

2—Realize, also, that in a few cases diabetes may develop anyway but is unrelated to the renal glycosuria. Diabetes is a very common ailment. It occurs in 3 to 5 per cent of the population.

3—Play safe, and have the sugar tolerance test repeated at intervals—every few years—to make sure that real diabetes isn't developing, yet masked by renal glycosuria.

Tic-Tac, And Where Did It Go?

Back in the old days (and draw your own conclusion as to when this elusive date begins), there was a good deal more leniency with childish pranks—now called juvenile delinquency.

We came along in our prankish teens in the days of sometimes faulty but still workable indoor plumbing, so it was Dad who told all the Halloween tales of turning over outhouses or carting them to conspicuous locations, like the lawn of city hall.

BUT ONE PRANK which our close-knit group of healthy young boys (we'd be termed juvenile delinquents now, too) specialized in was the tic-tac.

Now, this interesting little game may be labeled by different names around the country, and somewhere in this land, the frowned-upon practice may still live. Personally, we have not heard of the tic-tac since we showed it to a group of wide-eyed and doubting freshmen in college, at the expense of a sleeping sorority house.

TO THE UNINFORMED, the tic-tac is a simple, harmless but sometimes side-splitting stunt. It is done solely at night, moonless nights much the better. Equipment consists of one spool of silk thread, heavyweight, or fishing line will do if you can afford it; a piece of resin (we usually scrounged up a pitcher's bag from a baseball team), and a bent straight pin.

The scheme is to sneak to a sleeping house, with the thread tied to the end of the bent pin, hook the pin through the middle of a window screen then resin, unwinding the spool of thread to a clump of bushes—making sure no other bushes interfere with the thread. The distance from the screen to the hiding place varies widely, and a skilled tic-tac operator can work sometimes 100 to 150 yards away. It's much safer this way.

SECURELY HIDDEN, the tic-tac man pulls the thread taut, then rubs the resin back and forth on it. The comparison is crude but the principle is the very same as a violin, resin upon a taut string, and the window screen, connected to the whole house, acts as the sounding board.

Outside the house, there is little noise. Inside the house, depending on the skill and manipulations of the tic-tac operator, there comes an unearthly combination of screeches, ripping sounds, squalls, ear-shrieking screams and the like. Obviously, a sleeping family finds all this slightly disturbing, lights flash on, Dad peers out the door, flashlight and gun in hand, and often times a police prowler car soon eases down the street, playing its spotlight back and forth.

WE FANCED ourselves as quite the skillful tic-tac operators when we were 15 or 16. There was one boy in the crowd who was the best—by maneuvers of tension on the thread and variance of the resin-rubbing, he could first make a sound like a window screen being slit with a knife, followed by ripping noises like a sash's nails being pulled out and top it with a high-tension panther (or woman) type screaming sound. This was always guaranteed to rouse the household and bring on the police.

ONE OF THE BEAUTIES of the tic-tac game was that it was virtually undetectable. You used black thread and by suddenly letting off all tension and then pulling, the pin would come out of the screen and you could scamper safely away. A flashlight's beam wouldn't disclose the thread or the pin (painted black with model airplane dope).

As the saying goes, we've put away childish things now that we've reached manhood. Still, we wonder once in a great while, whatever happened to the old tic-tac stunt? —JOE MOSBY

The World Looks At Us

WASHINGTON — The specimen American voter can survive a diet that an ostrich with a craw full of plowshares and discarded bedsprings would quickly succumb to.

Old Boobus Americanus can listen to the most lunatic manderings since Sister Aimee went keening off to her reward, and react only with rustic gurgles of approval.

FOR EXAMPLE (and the midden from which examples could be drawn is boundless), windy hucksters of instant stearcraft enliven the dog days by warning Europeans to keep their effete noses out of the Republic's election-year convulsions.

This is a ploy that wins approbation from clods of every political hue—from yahoo racists planning to vote for Barry to ne'er-do-well relievers whose hairy belongs to Lyndon. No one pauses to reflect that Europeans, and other civilized persons, are properly concerned at the prospect that our election may bring them a measurable step closer to annihilation without representation. It is nonsense to contend that outlanders have no right to an opinion on an issue that inevitably will affect them almost as much as it does ourselves.

ORDINARY enlightened self-interest entitles the rest of the world to be concerned at our antics, but there is more to it than that—there is quid pro quo in it as well. If Le Monde goes into shock over the nomination of Sen. Barry Goldwater, how many acres of wood pulp has the Chicago Tribune consumed decrying the egocentricities of Gen. Charles de Gaulle?

Military Action In The Field

WASHINGTON — From the waters of the far Pacific has come a piece of news that, oddly enough, clarifies a lot of the debate surrounding the Johnson-Goldwater political campaign.

A U. S. Navy destroyer was attacked by armed vessels of the North Vietnamese and fought back immediately. The enemy ships were repulsed and one was put out of action. There was no telephone call to Washington to ask the civilian commander-in-chief in the White House what to do. The naval commander "in the field" had to use his own discretion, and he quickly ordered the firing of his ship's guns.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON not only confirmed at once the field commander's right to shoot back, but has since supplemented instructions to the naval forces with orders to destroy any enemy ships that attack them in international waters. The order presumably applies to any Soviet ships as well.

This is analogous to what Senator Goldwater, the Republican presidential nominee, has been saying about instructions that should be given to the commander of our forces in Europe. Yet he has been bitterly assailed by Secretary of Commerce Hedges and by Secretary of Agriculture Freeman as "trigger-happy," as "reckless," and as being ready to plunge America into a nuclear war.

ALL THAT the Arizona senator has said is that the supreme commander of NATO should have direct command over the tactical nuclear weapons which are a part of the battlefield arsenal of NATO forces in Europe. These, of course, aren't the same thing as mammoth nuclear bombs, but are essentially artillery pieces of one kind or another with nuclear warheads of generally low-yield power. They are designed not to wipe out vast areas but to be effective in deterring the advance of enemy armies. Frequently only the commander on the scene would know whether and when they should be used.

SENATOR GOLDWATER on July 13 said: "I have suggested that we never remove this responsibility from the President, but that the commander of NATO have a little more leeway in the election of weapons and the timeliness of the weapons."

All that Senator Goldwater has urged has now been confirmed in principle by President Johnson in issuing a blanket instruction to the Navy "to attack any force which attacks them in international waters, and to attack with the objective not only of driving off the force but of destroying it."

IT IS PUZZLING why Senator Goldwater should have been so vehemently criticized for recommending the same kind of discretion for the commander in the field as Mr. Johnson has authorized.

Reward For Cook

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A $2,500 reward is being offered any Kentuckian who can find the whereabouts of Daniel Pope Cook.

The Cook County, Ill., Historical Society put up the money. It wants to find the plot where Cook is buried and erect a $5,000 monument at the site.

Cook was a leader in making Illinois a state but died in Kentucky.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

Psychiatrists who have examined Jack Ruby, convicted killer of Lee Harvey Oswald, are practically unanimous in recommending that he be treated for developing insanity. They also agree that proper treatment is impossible in a jail cell.

District Attorney Henry Wade has opposed the removal of Ruby to a hospital for psychiatric treatment. The trial judge, Joe B. Brown, has refused to permit treatment of Ruby except in his Dallas County jail cell.

The result is that Ruby seems to be undergoing a progressive mental deterioration. He is in what psychiatrists call a "paranoid state," suffering from delusions of persecution and hallucinations.

No useful purpose can be served by delaying institutional treatment for Ruby.

RANCH INN OPERATES PIZZA HOUSE
Steaks, Chops, Salads included in menus for diners on US 80 West

Pizza House Featuring Fine Italian Foods Here

If you are a gourmet of Italian foods, you probably know about the Ranch Inn Pizza House at 4600 US 80 West. If you like good old American foods, such as fine steaks, they are available too. In fact you can be choosy about what you order and get what you want.

LaWanda Yager, owner, says the Ranch Inn Pizza House is open from 6 a.m. to midnight, and serves buffet lunches from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. on weekdays.

The building is located across US 80 from the Webb AFB runways, and a large window on the south gives a good view of jet aircraft taking off and landing, without the "benefit" of too much noise.

Italian dishes include pizzas, baked lasagna, veal parmigiana, veal scaloppine, calabrese, chicken cacciatore, chicken tetrazzini, Italian style pork chops, deluxe spaghetti.

There is a special gourmet dinner for four. This includes appetizers (which a choice), antipasto salad, bread sticks, garlic toast, combination pizza, lasagna, veal scaloppine, ravioli, dish of spaghetti, chicken tetrazzini, coffee or tea, and dessert. The dinner features some of each of these and can be divided, according to taste, for a reasonable price.

"We also have a catering service for parties, club meetings, and groups," LaWanda said. "All you have to do is call us at AM 4-9311 or AM 4-9059, and tell us what you want and when and where you want it."

"In addition we prepare lunches for working people or for individuals to take home. Each is wrapped in foil to maintain the warmth and juices of the food. Just telephone your orders and they will be ready when you come by," she said.

Other food served at Ranch Inn Pizza House include "Bambino Specials" (children's plate); American style sandwiches; all kinds of salads and appetizers; sea foods, and choice steaks.

Beverages of all kinds are available to go with food, if more than coffee, tea, or milk is wanted.

Parking is no problem around the Pizza House because there is a large area for "off-the-highway" parking around the establishment.

"We plan soon to do some re-finishing and decorating on the interior," LaWanda said. "We have had to build this business almost from the ground up, and we feel that our customers have been kind in making it possible to improve as we go along."

An invitation is always out to stop by the Ranch Inn Pizza House for coffee, full meal, or cold drink. The service must be good.

Carver Drive-In Prescription Pharmacy is located at Tenth and Nolan

Carver Pharmacy Built For Patron Convenience

Carver Drive-In Prescription Pharmacy, located at East Tenth and Nolan, was built for the convenience of its customers, and was the first in Big Spring to feature a drive-in prescription window.

This enabled patrons, wanting to pick up prescriptions in a hurry and without having to worry about dress, to drive around the building from Nolan, pick up their items and drive off on Tenth Street without having to worry about a parking place.

As a licensed pharmacist Milton Carver believes every person should have a regular physical check up and should use pharmaceuticals prescribed by qualified physicians and properly compounded. A physician's advice is paramount where questions of health are concerned.

Carver and Jack Magee, also a registered pharmacist, keep abreast of the latest developments in prescription drugs and the trusted patent medicines. They also save the customer money by not tacking on added costs for "free" delivery service.

Carver also calls attention to the fact that the pharmacy stocks thousands of items besides medicinal supplies.

Rights Bill Backer Scores Tennessee Senate Victory

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Tennessee Democrats nominated Rep. Ross Bass Thursday for a U.S. Senate seat over two opponents who made his issue in the primary campaign.

Bass, 46, son of a circuit-riding Methodist minister was one of the first members of Congress to face statewide election since voting recently for the controversial bill.

He handed Gov. Frank Clement his first political defeat, carrying seven of the state's nine congressional districts.

In a Fayette County general election held concurrently with the statewide primaries, Negro-backed candidates lost overwhelmingly in sheriff and tax assessor races billed as tests of their voting strength in the rural South.

Negroes outnumber whites 2-to-1 numerically in the county, located on the Mississippi border, and voter registration drives by northern college students put hundreds of Negro names on registration books for the first time.

Negro attorney A. W. Willis scored an apparent Democratic nomination in the state senate from Memphis, however, and could become the first member of his race to win a state elective office in this century in Shelby County should he win in November.

Democrats also renominated Sen. Albert Gore for a third term. He won easily from three political unknowns but faces a

Oil Committee Reviews War Preparedness Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Are the government and the oil industry ready to move instantly should the alert button be pushed for a national emergency?

Generally speaking, the answer is yes, a committee of the National Petroleum Council reports. But it recommends strengthening of the preparedness plans.

The study, undertaken at the request of Assistant Secretary of the Interior John M. Kelly, dealt largely with the organization and planning of the Emergency Petroleum and Gas Administration (EPGA). This agency, inactive in peacetime, has responsibility for filling the nation's oil and gas needs in an emergency.

The committee recommended the EPGA be made an independent agency, headed by the secretary of the interior as national administrator, to provide "freedom for flexibility and im-determined Republican bid in November.

Dan Kuykendall was unopposed in the Republican primary but has been campaigning for months against Gore.

Bass indicated he did not feel his civil rights bill vote hurt his campaign for the two years remaining of the term of the late Sen. Estes Kefauver. But his opponents hammered away at that issue. He said he considered the heavy vote for him an endorsement of his record, which has followed closely the programs of the Kennedy and Johnson administrations.

With 2521 of 2702 precincts reporting, Bass had 300,780 votes to 210,348 for Clement and 77,398 for Bullard.

Six incumbent congressmen — two Republicans and four Democrats — won renomination, but Clifford Davis, the dean of the Tennessee delegation, lost to George W. Grider of Memphis, a World War II submarine commander.

Howard Baker Jr., whose late father was a long term congressman, steamrollered nominal opposition for the right to face Bass in the general election.

The committee recommended that the chief operating executive of EPGA, under the secretary of the interior, be a man "who has wide knowledge of petroleum and gas operations and who has the full confidence of industry and government." Further, it said no other key positions in EPGA should be filled on an ex officio basis by government executives.

The committee said it "recognized that the private enterprise system could be drastically altered following widespread destruction." Because of this possibility, it urged that appropriate government agencies "give thought to the problem of re-establishing the industry on a competitive basis following the aftermath of a major nuclear attack."

Wadley Blood Bank Seeking New Members

Friends of the Wadley Blood Bank in Dallas are seeking members of a new blood plan inaugurated several months by the world-famous blood center.

Basically, enrollment (for a $1 fee and a $1 annual membership) obligates the member to give a pint of medically acceptable blood when asked or make a cash payment of $30 if unable to give the blood. In turn, the member and his or her family (those listed as dependents on the income tax return) are entitled to receive blood that may be required during accident, illness or surgery without need of replacing blood used or paying the non-replacement fee. No member will be asked to give blood oftener than once every three years.

Thus, the plan is designed as a family blood reserve account for persons not enrolled in blood reserve accounts through companies, churches, clubs or other organizations. Membership is open to any person over the age of 18 except those afflicted with hemophilia, leukemia or aplastic anemia. Dr. Joseph M. Hill, director of Wadley Research Institute and Blood Bank, said that membership restrictions would be eliminated when membership reaches 200,000.

Persons interested may contact the Wadley Blood Bank at 3600 Gaston, Dallas, Texas, 75210. Enrollment information and forms will be furnished.

Injured In Plane

FORT WORTH (AP)—Three Aspermont, Tex., men were injured Thursday night in the crash of a light plane at Russell Field here. Gariand O. Mason, 54, and Homer Rickabaugh, 44, were reported in fair condition and Gerald Jones, 22, was treated and released.

Weekend Shower Chance Watched

The worst heat wave in 10 years clings on in Texas but the Weather Bureau held out hope for weekend showers.

Thursday's temperatures shot to 116 degrees at Quanah, 114 at Seymour, and 113 at Wichita Falls, the highest ever recorded there and the 33rd straight day of over-100 degree marks.

A damage-dealing thunderstorm hit San Antonio Thursday night but the rain dropped did little to counteract the worsening drought, which costs Texas more precious water, pasture, and rangeland daily.

The heat has claimed victims, the latest being Elmer Allen, 44, who dropped dead while spreading gravel in 105 degree weather at Fort Phantom Lake, near Abilene.

FALL PREY
Animals also fell prey to the prolonged sweltering heat. In the poultry-raising area of East Texas, a round Nacogdoches, thousands of chickens died due to heat. One poultryman said "this hot weather is burning a hole in our pocketbooks." The city is restricting water to essential uses only.

The San Antonio storm blew

DEAR ABBY

Mother, Daughter

DEAR ABBY: I was going through my daughter's dresser drawers looking for something I had misplaced when I came across a letter she had written to you, but not mailed. In it she thanks you for helping her out of some "mess" she had gotten herself into. We are very close, my daughter and I, and she has always come to me with all her little problems. I don't want to ask her what the "mess" was she had written to you about because I don't want her to get the impression that I was snooping through her things, but I want your explanation of that "mess" whatever it was. Please don't feel that you would be betraying her confidence by anything you tell me, Abby, because we are just like sisters, and she tells me everything anyway. She signed herself "OLD ENOUGH."

HER MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: Since she tells you everything, why don't you ask her?

DEAR ABBY: Will you please help settle an argument between my mother and me? A friend of ours to whom I had sent an announcement of my high school graduation sent me a very nice card and on it she wrote: "I did not know what to get you so I have enclosed a five dollar bill." Abby, the envelope was sealed up tight (I opened it myself) but there was no five dollar bill inside. I am writing my thank-you notes and my mother says I should just thank her for the gift and let it go at that. I think I should tell her there wasn't any five dollar bill inside because maybe she forgot to put it in, or someone opened the envelope, took it out and sealed it back again. What do you think? I don't want her to think I am hinting for the money.

PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: Write and thank her for remembering you on your graduation, and tell her frankly that no money was enclosed.

DEAR ABBY: I was asked to be a bridesmaid. The bride's mother is making all the bridesmaids' dresses in the same style, but in different colors. I am the only redhead in the bunch, and she gave me the pink dress to wear. Abby, redheads can't wear pink! I asked her if I could have another color, but she said all the other colors were taken. Should I wear pink and look terrible or should I drop out of the bridal party? I've never been a bridesmaid before and hate to pass it up, but I am afraid I'll look like a freak.

HATES PINK
DEAR HATES: You just think you can't wear pink. Thanks to modern art, colors that have been clashing for years are now on good terms, and very smart. Wear pink, and think Picasso.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "MINDING MY OWN BUSINESS": If you truly believe that it is no business of yours if your neighbor is mistreated, and that there is nothing one man can do about his government, then you had better teach your children to count in rubles.

Troubled? Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069.
