Big Three Drafts 9-Point World Plan

Pruem, Kleve Taken By Rampaging Allies

Reds May Outflank Berlin From South

By W. W. HERCHER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Tuesday, Feb. 13.—Russian troops swept to within 74 miles of the Saxony capital of Dresden yesterday, capturing the Bober river stronghold of Bunzlau in a swift 15-mile drive is Silesia that slashed one Berlin-Prague highway and threatened to outflank Berlin on the south.

Simultaneously Moscow announced that the end of the long, bloody siege of Budapest, Hungarian capital, was very near. Soviet troops captured the royal palace and ancient fortress on the high bluff on the west bank of the Danube in the Buda section, smashing the core of organized enemy resistance and taking 30,000 more prisoners Sunday and Monday.

Prisoner Toll Heavy

Final figures for prisoners alone are expected to exceed 100,000 and German dead also will run into the thousands. Budapest, gateway to Vienna and Bratislava on the plains to the west, has been under direct siege 47 days since Dec. 27 when the Russians surrounded the city and broke into its streets. Soviet planes and artillery had been bombarding it since the first week in November.

Fresh Russian gains were made in Pomerania and in the Polish corridor during the day. Col. Gen. Ivan Petrov's Fourth Ukraine Army drove to within 20 miles east of Moravaska Ostrava, Czechoslovakia's third city and guarding the northern gateway to the Moravian gap leading to Vienna and Prague, with the capture of Strumien. This represented a seven-mile advance southwest of Pszczyna, taken Sunday.

Berlin said other Soviet units were attacking near Ratibor, 16 miles north of Moravska Ostrava, known as the Pittsburgh of Czechoslovakia.

Near Big Coal Center

Petrov's troops operating south of Pszczyna also drove to within 13 miles of Cieszyn (Teschen), big Silesian coal center in southwestern poland, with the capture of Jasienica, and also toppled the key rail junction of Bielsko (Beilitz), four miles to the east.

Marshal Ivan S. Konev's First Ukraine Army reached the Bober river on a 15-mile front from captured Bunzlau northward, cutting

Major Smash On Entire Western Front Indicated

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Feb. 12—Kleve and Pruem—fortresses of western Germany's front line of defense—fell today before the onslaught of two Allied armies striking 115 miles apart in the forefront of an expected great push from the west.

The Canadian First Army engulfed devastated Kleve, northern anchor linking the Westwall with the Rhine, then pressed on two miles southeast within 22 miles of Wesel, in the northwest corner of the Ruhr industrial basin, last great source of German war power.

May Loosen North Flank

This city of 20,000 was the first major prize taken in the Canadian-British five-day old offensive. Its capture threatened to turn the Allies loose around the north flank for a slashing drive behind enemy forces defending the Rhine plain.

Pruem, a stronghold in the Eifel mountains 115 miles south of Kleve, was captured with surprising ease by the U. S. Third Army, which thereby seized control of the entire highway network east of its ten-mile breach in the Siegfried line.

Only a few isolated snipers along the Pruem river still contested American control of this highway hub with a peacetime population of 10,000. Heavy fire east of the river showed that the enemy meant to contest any attempt to plunge deeper into the mountains toward the Rhine.

Stood Firm Earlier

Both Kleve and Preum stood firm when the Allies were rampaging through western Europe last fall. British and American forces got no closer to Kleve than the edge of the Reichswald—now largely overrun—and the U. S. First Army was stopped west of Pruem.

The hard-hitting Third Army also was challenging the enemy hold on the Westwall southwest of Pruem along the German-Luxembourg border. It threw pontoon bridges across the Our and Sure rivers at several points and sent tanks and tank destroyers across in a mounting drive.

The path ahead of the Americans was mountainous, and the Germans showed more alarm at the Canadian drive on the Rhine plain. A front dispatch said the enemy had brought up armored units to bolster their sagging lines southeast of Kleve and that four Panther tanks were knocked out.

Nazis Fear Breakthrough

One enemy broadcast admitted Field Marshal Montgomery was breaking through the Kleve defenses and another expressed fear that Gen. Eisenhower was massing tanks for a Rhine breakthrough.

Other German accounts said a large-scale offensive was impending farther south in the Aachen area, where the British Second and U. S. Ninth armies are deployed on the flooded Roer -4 miles from the Ruhr city of Muenchen-Gladbach.

The powerful U. S. First Army on the upper Roer likewise was idle as rains poured down on that front, adding to the flood of the river.

The crest of the flood caused by enemy dynamiting of the Roer dam floodgates had been reached without too much damage to Allied positions, and Schwammenauel reservoir's water level had dropped 46 feet.

Gen. H. D. G. Cregar's Canadian First Army, without waiting for final mop-up of holdouts in Kleve, swung on southeast and captured Hau, two miles below the city.

By nightfall they had cut the railway leading to Goch, a second important communications center seven miles south of Kleve, and were possibly less than three miles from Goch.

A front dispatch said the southern half of the Reich forest, which ends two and a half miles north of Goch, had been virtually cleared and that the enemy had fallen back to the east.

One column was closing on Goch from the north and another from the northwest.

SQUEEZE TIGHTENS ON NAZIS—While the Big Three reaffirmed plans for unconditional surrender of Germany, armed might tightened pressure on the Nazis from every direction. The Canadian Army captured Kleve and Gen. Patton's U. S. Third Army took Pruem, two major Nazi pivots, as a major offensive from the west began to unfold. Soviet froces plunged westward in nearly all sectors of the Eastern front.

36 Die As Tornado Sweeps Two States

(By The Associated Press)

At least 36 persons were killed and more than 200 injured, most of them on the outskirts of Montgomery, Ala., in a series of tornadoes which swept across Alabama and Mississippi yesterday.

Twenty-two bodies, 15 of them negroes, had been brought to Montgomery undertaking establishments four hours after a tornado cut a half moon path around the Alabama capital city's western and southern edge.

Mississippi Area Lashed

At least seven were killed and more than 45 injured in two small communities near Meridian, Miss., when the storm struck there an hour earlier.

One negro was killed and between 15 and 20 other negroes were injured at York, Ala., 125 miles west of Montgomery.

Two trainmen were killed south of Livingston, Ala., when tornadic winds blew 39 cars of a southbound freight off the tracks. Four other persons were fatally injured there.

At Montgomery, more than 50 cars of the Louisville & Nashville and Atlantic Coast Line railroads were wrecked by high winds and main line tracks were blocked by debris.

Highway Patrolman Joe Melton, in a car near Montgomery, said he "thought it was an explosion when a saw à sawmill "torn to pieces," by winds.

A&M Directors Are Confirmed

AUSTIN, Feb. 12. (AP) — The Senate committee on governor's nominations today approved the names of R. W. Briggs of San Antonio and Neth Leachman of Dallas as members of the board of directors of Texas A. and M. college.

Briggs, who spent more than an hour closeted with the committee said that ousting of T. O. Walton as president of the college was not an issue. He said his qualifications as a member of the board were discussed.

Leachman, who was reported out by the committee last week and was returned to committee spent a brief period with the committee. He made no statement.

Others Approved

Other appointees of Governor Coke Stevenson who received approval by the committee were:

J. W. Pritchett of Austin to the state board of water engineers.

D. Davenport of Mission, state game fish and oyster commission.

H. Bayne Satterfield of Austin, firemen's pension commissioner.

Judge Gilbert Smith of Anson, post-war economic planning commission.

H. A. Jamison of Boyd, state banking commissioner, a nominee of the state finance commission submitted by the governor.

H. L. Winfield of Fort Stockton, chairman of the committee said that he planned to ask for an executive session of the Senate to take up his committee's report within the next few days.

Hillman Urges New World Labor Set-Up

LONDON, Feb. 12. (AP) — Sidney Hillman proposed today a new world labor organization including the American Federation of Labor.

The chairman of the CIO political action committee said the organization should be voted upon as soon a spossible by trade unions in the 40 countries represented at the world trade union conference, in session here.

FDR, Churchill Fly From Malta

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (AP) — President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill made a night flight from the war-battered island of Malta in the Mediterranean to their historic conference with Marshal Stalin.

The White House, in disclosing late today some of the details of the Big Three meeting not covered in the official communique, also revealed that Edward J. Flynn, New York Democratic leader, was a guest of Mr. Roosevelt at the meeting but took no part in the deliberations. A White House spokesman said that Mr. Roosevelt invited him "as an old friend" when he learned that Flynn had planned a trip to Moscow.

Reason Not Known

The White House said it did not know why Flynn went to Moscow.

The conference itself was held at Livadia, former summer home of Tsar Nicholas II, located on the Black Sea about two miles southwest of Yalta.

The actual talks began Feb. 4 and ended Feb. 11. They "proceeded continuously day and night, during that period, the White House said.

Mr. Roosevelt and members of his party arrived at Malta Feb. 2 and were met by Churchill, Secretary of State Stettinius, Ambassador W. Averell Harriman,

Germans Given Stern Notice To Surrender

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Diplomatic News Editor

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—The Big Three, winding up an eight-day conference around a white draped table in an old play spot of the czars, announced tonight their formula for the triumphal conclusion of a war and the beginning of organized peace.

Their nine-point program, announced at the end of the fateful day-and-night sessions, projected this nation fully on to center stage in European affairs.

That in outline is the record of the meeting concluded yesterday in the one-time summer palace of Czar Nicholas II on the Black Sea at Yalta in the Crimea, a conference that may shape tomorrow's world.

The decisions were announced today in a joint communique from the participants, President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill, and Premier Stalin.

First Reaction Favorable

Here at home first reaction in Congress and elsewhere was overwhelmingly favorable for the report of the leaders of the three great powers. That report covered these prime resolves:

Final extirpation of Naziism and militarism; eliminaton or control of all German industry usable for

STETTINIUS IN MOSCOW

MOSCOW, Feb. 12 (AP)—U. S. Secretary of State Stettinius has arrived in Moscow for a short visit.

An official announcement said: "At the invitation of (Foreign Commisar) Molotov, Mr. Stettinius arrived in Moscow this afternoon by plane from the Crimea. He was accompanied by (W. Averell) Harriman, the American ambassador. His visit will be a brief one."

war; no softening of unconditional surrender; and no break in the Allied front.

Collaboration in peace plans to be formally drafted at a United Nations conference at San Francisco April 26; and a settlement (its nature not yet disclosed) of the question of veto power for the great nations on peace council actions.

Self Government

Joint action to effectuate the Atlantic Charter principle of self-government for liberated peoples, with U. S. participation on a far larger scale than heretofore.

On only one point that had figured in preliminary speculation did the three leaders fail to report agreement or action. That was the question of possible Soviet participation in the war against Japan. Pointedly, Japan went unmentioned in the announcement.

However, the Japanese war had a high place in strictly British-American conferences at Valletta, Malta, preceding the Crimea session.

Conferred at Malta

The President and his chief military and diplomatic advisors stopped off in Malta and conferred there with Churchill and other British officials.

The emphasis on Japan in the Malta sessions was shown by the personnel of the parties. Prominent in the British group were admirals who likely would have a part in a stepped-up war against the Oriental enemy. Dispatches from Malta said there was an unconfirmed report that Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, American leader of the sea war against Japan, was present.

The nine points of the Big Three communique are:

1. Detailed agreement among the United States, Britain and Russia on military plans against Germany which "will result in shortening the war." As if speaking to the German people over the head of Hitler, the communique warned them the "Nazi Germany

Crumbling Reich To Face Tough Slate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (AP) — The Big Three laid a hard peace on the line for Germany.

They told the German people that the compelling reason for them to surrender now is to lighten, in so far as they still can, the cost of their defeat.

They apparently removed the last faint hope of the Nazi high command for a peace short of unconditional surrender.

One of the main Nazi arguments has been a hope that in the closing days of the drive to crush Germany the Allies would strike some obstacle that would break their unity and fatally divide Russia from the Anglo-American and Allied forces.

Here are the plans for Germany as outlined in today's communique on the Roosevelt-Churchill-Stalin conference:

The Big Three agreed that there shall be the closest coordination of military effort in these last battles against Nazi Germany. Then they turned over the decisions to their staff chiefs who worked out the details.

As a result the three leaders declared that the military cooperation now in prospect "will result in shortening the war," and for the first time it was announced that from now on all three Allied states will meet for joint discussions as necessary.

"Nazi Germany is doomed," the leaders declared, "The German people will only make the cost of their defeat heavier to themselves by attempting to continue a hopeless resistance."

After victory, it was agreed, all three powers and France, to be be invited as a fourth power, will impose common terms of unconditional surrender but those "will not be made known until the final defeat of Germany has been accomplished."

For the purposes of occupation, the Reich will be split up into Russian, British and American zones—and a French zone too, if France joins in—and each zone will head up under a supreme commander in Berlin. The supreme commanders will form a "central control commission."

The limits of the three zones already have been decided but if France comes in the British, American, Russian and French governments will readjust them to create the French zone.

Beyond that the communique made the most definitive statement yet on what will happen to Germany during the period of occupation "to ensure that Germany will never again be able to disturb the peace of the world."

Britain Welcomes New "Crimea Charter" And Drawing U. S. Into European Field

By JOHN F. CHESTER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Feb. 12— The new "Crimea Charter" drew immediate favorable reaction in Great Britain tonight on grounds that it firmly pledged the United States to full participation in the redrawing of the political as well as the geographical map of Europe.

This was particularly welcomed in London to the fact that a new stirred both here and abroad by Britain's single-handed intervention in Greece, Italy and Yugoslavia, and by Russia's all-alone recognition of a Soviet-sponsored Polish government.

Polish Settlement

Immediate attention was drawn in London to the fact that a new Polish settlement— a compromise of Russian and British views—commanded more space in the so-called "Crimea Charter" than any other single subject.

Initial reaction held the Big Three solution of the Polish tangle was "realistic" in that it recognized the so-called Lublin government sponsored by the Soviet Union but agreed that this government should be broadened to include other Polish leaders—perhaps some from among the Polish exiles in London.

Death Knell Of Exiles

The agreement reached by President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Marshal Stalin sounded the death knell of the London exile government. The position taken here was that the London Polish government no longer represents the Poles who are inside Poland, and hence must be dissolved.

Britain has favored Russian acquisition of Polish territory up to the Curozn line, and the Crimea decision has pledged all three big powers to this with the exception of boundaries which will run a few miles either way.

At the same time, the Big Three apparently failed to agree on just how large a slice should be taken out of Germany and given to Poland, as it was decided to let this issue rest until the peace confer-

Yanks Link Up, Tighten On Japs

By C. YATES McDANIEL
Associated Press Staff Writer

MANILA, Tuesday, Feb. 13. — Three Yank divisions linked forces Monday in a solid line which hemmed a furiously fighting Japanese suicide garrison against the shell-wrecked bay front of Manila south of the Pasig river.

The enemy's only possible means of escape would be across the bay to Corregidor and Bataan, which bombers of all types battered with a record weight of nearly 1,000 tons of explosives in a 48-hour period ending Sunday night.

35 Barges Sunk

The hazards of such a flight were emphasized in today's communique which reported American fighter planes sank 35 barges, loaded with 2,500 Japanese, off the shores of Bataan peninsula Sunday.

It appeared more likely the Nipponese in south Manila would stand and die in the rubble-strewn area they hold, already compressed to less than five square miles.

There they were carrying out a carefully calculated plan to set the price of the city's capture as high in lives and property as possible. They fought behind thick walls. They used every known type of mine and explosive. They still poured artillery shells on vital pontoon bridges over the Pasig across which the Americans were bringing tanks and guns.

Fire On Water System

Some Japanese shells yesterday fell around the water reservoir northeast of Manila as the enemy attempted to do what a demolition squad tried and failed — cut off the Manila water supply.

The American bombers, attack and fighter planes which spilled destruction on the Japanese at Corregidor and Bataan made 500 sorties in the 48-hour period.

German Women Called To Arms

By RICHARD KASISCHKE

LONDON, Feb. 12 (AP) — The Nazis conscripted all German women and girls for the volkssturm today, and vaguely promised that the silent Hitler might have some plan "to get us out of this situation if we throw in all our national passion and do not despair."

Women were summoned for auxiliary work with the "16 to 60" volkssturm by a decree from Heinrich Himmler. For the present their duties will be supervising the issuing of supplies and equipment to the home guard, Berlin radio said, but the decree empowered local gualeiters to assign them to other work and said "further assignments" might be made.

More Belt-Tightening

The new call-up of women was accompanied by further belt-tightening on the homefront, by propagandists' cries to "hold on," and by Moscow reports of further unrest inside the Reich.

The German news agency DNB declared that Hitler's "silence during these days is very significant," and added: "The hour demands action, not talking. The day will come when we shall be most happy about our steadfastness and celebrate a great triumph.

"But until that day and beyond that day we must throw all our national passion into the scales of fighting and into our work. For what good would the most ingenious plan of the fuehrer be unless

Texas Legion Maps Legislative Program

AUSTIN, Feb. 12. (AP) — The state executive committee of the American Legion has adopted the following four-point legislative program:

1. Increased emergency appropriation for the state veterans service office.

2. A revised county service officer law to permit counties that so wish to increase the pay of county service officers.

3. An amendment to the present law, to permit members of the armed forces to obtain certified copies of such papers as birth certificates without payment of fees.

4. An amendment of the veterans preference law to encourage employment of a larger percentage of veterans in state and municipal governments.

Paper Salvage Set At 150,000 Pounds

An estimated 150,000 pounds of waste paper was collected from Lubbock residential districts during the two-day salvage drive by trucks from Lubbock Army Air field, it was reported Monday night.

Better cooperation from the public was received during this campaign, a salvage official stated, as the bundles of paper were smaller and were tied more securely.

The amount of paper collected, while falling short of the goal of 200,000 pounds, surpasses by about 20,000 pounds the total gathered during the last drive held here early in December.

William And Mary College In Uproar

Students Uphold Editor In Plea For Racial Equality

WILLIAMSBURG, Va., Feb. 12. (U.P.)—Students at William and Mary college voted unanimously today to uphold their student newspaper in its editorial suggesting that "Negroes attend our school . . . marry among us . . . and be our roomates."

The editorial, scheduled to have appeared in this week's issue of The Flat Hat, was written by Marilyn Kaemmerle, 22, of Jackson, Mich., editor.

Publication of The Flat Hat temporarily was suspended by the faculty because of the proposed editorial.

A mass meeting of the student body was called today by Bill Williams, president. The students, by voice vote, agreed to uphold the paper in its "fight for freedom of speech." In addition they decided to present a written petition to the board of visitors and to newspapers throughout the state, appealing for support.

A faculty meeting will be held tomorrow to consider a course of action, Dean James Miller said.

The editorial said, "We believe and know that negroes differ from other people only in surface characteristics; inherently all are the same. The negroes should be recognized as equals to our minds and hearts. For us this means that negroes should attend William and Mary, they should go to our classes, participate in college functions, join the same clubs, be our roommates, and marry us."

Miss Kaemmerle's article was titled "Lincoln's job half done," and said her program for brotherhood and intermarriage "cannot be done today or tomorrow but

Food Shortage Due To Draft Forecast

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12. (AP) — Senator Reed (R-Kas) told the Senate today that food production will be reduced substantially due to drafting of farm youths into the armed forces.

Protesting that Selective service was carrying out the draft in "deliberate violation" of laws enacted by Congress, he said "it apparently does not class food among the essential commodities."

"If we should encounter a year of severely bad weather, either too wet or too dry," he added, "the country may, and probably will, face a food shortage such as it has never known."

Senator Tydings (D-MD) said there seemed to be "studied confusion" in the administration of the amendment.

Lower Reserves For Federal Banks Asked

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12. (AP) — Senator Wagner (D-NY) today introduced legislation to reduce minimum required reserves of federal reserve banks to 25 per cent of combined note and deposit liabilities.

The present requirement is 40 per cent in gold certificates against federal reserve notes in circulation and 35 per cent in gold certificates or other lawful money against deposits.

Wagner is chairman of the Senate banking committee.

The bill also would extend indefinitely the authority of the federal reserve banks to pledge U. S. government securities against federal reserve notes issued by fede l reserve agents. Existing authority expires June 30.

Aerial Photos Show Japs Moving Plants

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12. (AP) — Aerial reconnaissance during the last three days shows that some of the largest aircraft plants in the Japanese home islands are being at least partially dismantled.

Brig. Gen. Lauris Norstad, chief of staff of the 20th Air force, told a news conference today that at least some of these plants are installations not yet attacked by B-29s.

It has been known for some time that the Japanese were transferring some heavy industries to Manchuria, but this is the first indication that home island aircraft plants are being moved.

MORE ON CHECKS

A reader in Southland writes a comment on a recent column on allotment checks and although she asked to remain anonymous and did not write for publication, we are taking liberty of quoting from her letter:

I have often wished that some action would be taken by the government to do away with the "allotment bride." We all know girls who are well and able to work but who refuse to take a job, simply because they married a service man and are getting $50 a month from Uncle Sam. So why work! It doesn't bother them that there are "Help Wanted" posters everywhere.

Why is it that girls are so crazy about men in uniforms? There wouldn't be so many marriages if these girls would not run after the men, hang on to them and drag them to the altar. I have a son in service myself and I am proud to say he is still single, although he would like to marry and settle down IF he were free but as long as he is in the service he doesn't see any reason to get married because he knows he could not live with his wife. And I might add, more than one girl has tried her best to marry him.

If a young woman has a child to rear by herself, (or with the help of her mother) she certainly should get paid by Uncle Sam, but why pay them when they are able to go to work?

DEAR READER: We think you may be correct in your suggestion that women want war weddings. At least this is the opinion of service men who seem to have little doubt that the insistence of women is responsible.

The American Institute of Family Relations had 500 questionnaires filled out anonymously by service men in one of the large USO canteens. One question was, "If any of your close friends married before going into the service, or just afterwards, and if you are sufficiently familiar with the circumstances to have an opinion on the point, do you believe the wedding was pushed by the man or the woman?"

Of 232 answers, the opinions were: Man, 48; woman, 135; both, 41; family, 3; circumstances, 5.

One letter received from a soldier in camp may be symbolic. It arrived in an envelope plastered with air mail and special delivery stamps. The message read: "Dear Sirs: Enclosed please find ten cents. Please send me your pamphlet "How To Make Her Let Go."

DRAWING A BATH

DID you know there is a right and a wrong way to draw a bath?

If you follow the procedure of the writer it is to let a mixture of hot and cold water into the tub with no further attention given it until the water reaches the desired height. Then cold water or hot water is added, depending on the temperature of the water already in the tub.

We've been following that routine since the time Mother decided we could take that responsibility and learned only yesterday we're all wet on the subject. That method it seems causes the temperature in the bathroom to rise, the humidity becomes very high and soon can reach a temperature wherein the bather becomes uncomfortably overheated.

Here's the right way: Allow the cold water to flow into the tub until a four or five inch level is reached; then shut it off. Just before adding the hot water, pour in your bath salts, oil, bubble bath and then let the hot water flow into the tub, mixing it thoroughly by using your hand. When the desired temperature is attained, turn off the hot water. Your bath is now ready. No unduly raised temperature, if you please, no humidity in the air. The chances of taking a cold are reduced to a minimum and the pleasure of bathing is increased.

That is the pleasure of bathing is increased unless bending over the tub is as hard on your blood pressure as climbing the stairs at the Avalanche-Journal seems to be for many of you. Then we'd suggest you follow the old method and as a matter of fact we imagine most of you will anyway.

ADOLESCENT FADS

Call them half-pints, juniors, 'teen-agers, problems or just plain adolescents—girls and boys from 12 to 16 are a major concern of the older generation. This is the age when eccentric fads of dress and manner take hold most firmly, causing elders who have forgotten their own youth to shake their heads sadly and wonder what the world's coming to anyway.

What these youngsters want most is notice. When sloppiness of dress and general carelessness about personal appearance are affected to gain attention, reforms can be accomplished by the simple trick of giving approval to orderly habits, neat grooming and good manners.

At least this will work in most cases. Possibly no appeal would affect the high school girls who kicked off their shoes and danced in their barefeet at a formal dance in Lubbock not so long ago. But we are talking about the average youngster when we suggest a word of praise for clothes that are always spic and span, a compliment for clean nails or a sleek haircomb, show the young person that he or she can stand out as an individual without resorting to oddities of dress or manner.

Women's U.S.M.C.R Observes Birthday

The United States Marine corps Women's Reserve, which today observes its second anniversary, has several South Plains women among its personnel of 19,000.

Thirteen women of this area are shown in records of the local recruiting office to have enlisted in the Reserve.

Five from Lubbock are Ruth Merriman, who enlisted March 7, 1944; Dorothy F. Jennings, April 8, 1944; Norma A. Day, May 12, 1944; Constance W. Hamby, Jan. 30, 1945, and Georgia L. Whitehead, Feb. 3, 1945.

Others from this area are Eva Nell Barrett, Ralls, who enlisted April 7, 1944; Winonah L. Ward, Crosbyton, April 7, 1944; Helen M. Weaver, Levelland, April 8, 1944; Martha Lou McBride, Anton, Nov. 8, 1944; Emily G. Green, Morton, who enlisted at Los Angeles; Alma and Audrey Kitten, Slaton, Nov. 25, 1944, and Esther L. Rudeseal, Ackerly, Feb. 2, 1944.

Today's anniversary will be observed by the Reserve with "business as usual," women quietly carrying on with duties for which they enlisted.

Women Marines are doing various jobs, at desks, at tletype machines, in repair shops, control towers, hangars, and other phases of service in which they have released Marines for combat duty. Recently the first contingent of women Marines arrived at Pearl Harbor, the vanguard of more tha na thousand to follow.

War Food Committee To Meet Wednesday

A regular meeting of the Lubbock county war food committee will be conducted at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday night in the main auditorium of the agricultural building at Texas Technological college, Mrs. J. C. Bateman, secretary, has notified members.

Subject to be discussed is "What Shall We Do with the Returning Veterans to Agriculture?"

VISIT HERE

Mrs. D. H. Spencer and daughters of Albany are visiting Mrs. J. E. Murfee and family, of 1923 Fourteenth. Mrs. Murfee fell recently and fractured her right hip.

Mrs. Spencer is a former student in Texas Technological college and now is teaching in Albany schools.

ADOLESCENT FADS

Call them half-pints, juniors, 'teen-agers, problems or just plain adolescents—girls and boys from 12 to 16 are a major concern of the older generation. This is the age when eccentric fads of dress and manner take hold most firmly, causing elders who have forgotten their own youth to shake their heads sadly and wonder what the world's coming to anyway.

What these youngsters want most is notice. When sloppiness of dress and general carelessness about personal appearance are affected to gain attention, reforms can be accomplished by the simple trick of giving approval to orderly habits, neat grooming and good manners.

At least this will work in most cases. Possibly no appeal would affect the high school girls who kicked off their shoes and danced in their barefeet at a formal dance in Lubbock not so long ago. But we are talking about the average youngster when we suggest a word of praise for clothes that are always spic and span, a compliment for clean nails or a sleek haircomb, show the young person that he or she can stand out as an individual without resorting to oddities of dress or manner.

A Vital Message To Men Who Feel Old
Why not regain the vim and vitality you once enjoyed?
If life apparently has lost its zest, you again may be able to enjoy life as you did in your youth. If added years have slowed down your vim, vitality and youthful pleasures, here is a simple method that may change your whole outlook on life. Just ask your druggist for CASELLA stimulating tablets. Take as directed on label. Don't feel old and worn out at 40, 50 or more. Take these tablets regularly until you feel that you have regained the pleasure of living you once enjoyed. Why be discouraged? Why not try CASELLA tablets and regain the nerve and zest of a much younger man? There is nothing harmful in these tablets. They contain Celery seed, Thiamin Chlorida, Passion Flower, Iron Ask your doctor or druggist about this formula. Mere Helper Drug and all other druggists. Adv.

AAUW Gives Dinner For Judge Hughes

At a dinner given for Judge Sarah T. Hughes of Dallas by the local branch of the American Association of University Women at Hilton hotel Saturday night, she spoke on the question of Women's service on juries.

Judge Hughes expressed herself highly in favor of women's service on juries, saying such service is a responsibility of citizenship women should assume and stating women are competent and capable of serving on juries. She urged women to support state legislation for women's jury service.

Approximately 80 persons attended the dinner. Jasmine and jonquils were table decorations.

B. And P. W. Attends

Members of the Business and Professional Women's club attended.

Mrs. James G. Allen, president of the AAUW, welcomed guests and presented special guests. Mrs. William G. Dingus, local chairman of the economic and legal status of women, introduced Mrs. Vera Chapman, who presented the speaker.

Mrs. W. P. Clement was chairman of the dinner committee.

Mrs. Hughes left Saturday night. She had spoken on the legal and economic status of women in a lecture sponsored by the AAUW Saturday afternoon at St. John's Methodist church. Following the lecture, a session of the Better Citizenship conference was conducted and a board of directors elected to acquire, maintain and operate a club house to be used as headquarters for the activities of Lubbock club women. Twenty-one clubs and individuals already have pledged $2,800 toward purchase of a club house.

Millions Switch To Mutton Suet Idea For Chest Cold Aid
Soothes Rawness Due To Throat and Bronchial Irritations
Many mothers all over America are switching to this idea of getting fast relief for these chest cold miseries. They are simply following Grandma. For years she counted on mutton suet to help carry her home medication to do its pain-easing work on nerve ends in the skin. No wonder so many more now welcome Grandma's idea as improved by science—Penetro, with its multi-medicated formula in a base containing mutton suet—that acts both as counter-irritant and pain-reliever when you spread it on, and as a soothing aromatic when breathed in. And so today Penetro hurries along newer help in the old reliable way—help that eases painful misery, lessens coughing, loosens phlegm, soothes chest rawness—so that you can rest more comfortably and give nature a chance to restore vitality. That's why millions are switching to Penetro today—why druggists are recommending it. 25c, double supply 35c. For all your family's chest cold miseries, be sure you get white, easy-to-use Penetro.

TRY THIS AMAZING BARCEL RECIPE TO TAKE OFF UGLY FAT
Right in Your Own Home, You Can Lose Pounds of Excess Weight Without Starvation Diet or Strenuous Exercise
It's simple. It's amazing, how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy — no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcel Concentrate. Pour this into a bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it.
If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.
Perhaps you are overweight due to over indulgence in food or the wrong kind of food. With the Barcel home recipe method, you do not have to starve yourself or go hungry. Just follow the simple instructions given on the label and you should get satisfactory results quickly. The very first pint you make up should show results.
LOSE UGLY FAT WITH BARCEL
Why not slim down your figure without a lot of fuss and bother? Try the Barcel way. Wear your streamlined frocks and slacks gracefully. Remember, if the very first bottle of Barcel doesn't show you the sensible way to lose weight, your money will be refunded.

Relocation Of Medical Branch Of University Proposed In Senate

AUSTIN, Feb. 12. (U.P.)—Relocation of the medical branch of the University of Texas, with the site to be fixed by vote of the Texas legislature in any urban center, was proposed in a resolution for a state constitutional amendment offered today by Sen. Fred Maruitz, Gando. With it would go authority to locate other branches of the state university and provision for hospital maintenance.

Another proposed constitutional change would extend the poll tax payment time with voting privileges to June. Now poll tax must be paid before Jan. 31 to vote.

Would Regulate Explosives

Rep. Roger Q. Evans of Denison introduced in the House a bill providing strict regulations for transportation of explosives by motor vehicles.

The act provides that vehicles transporting explosives materials must be plainly labelled with the words "explosives" printed six inches high. It further provides that such vehicles shall avoid congested places, forbids smoking by the driver and sets up other safety measures.

Inflamable liquids or solids, corrosive liquids, compressed gases and poison were among the materials classified as explosive under terms of the bill.

Would Increase Taxes

Bills providing for an increase in the occupation tax on sulphur and setting up a tax on salt production were introduced in the House.

The sulphur tax would be increased from $1.252 per long ton to $5. The salt tax was set at $1 per long ton. There is no occupation tax on salt now.

Bills offered in the legislature:

Authorize sale of the state railroad running between Rusk and Palestine.

Aeronautics Division Proposed

Set up an aeronautics division in the State Railroad commission.

Require electric lights on cabooses.

Require hospitals that are tax-free to admit all licensed doctors to practice in them, including osteopaths.

Authorize removal of all disabilities but those of voting for veterans on the 19th birthday.

Revise vocational education laws.

Time Is Extended

In adopting its rules of procedure for the session, the House extended the time for introduction of bills from 45 days as temporary rules to 60 days after the session opening.

At 11 a. m. House members stood for 30 seconds in silent prayer for victory, a practice which will be followed through the session.

Reps. Fred Jones, Lone Oak, and Cecil H. Barnes, San Angelo, were named to attend a ceremony at Greenville where a group of Mexican aviators have completed a training course and will be honored.

A choir and orchestra from Texas State College for Women, Denton, entertained a joint session of the House and Senate. Introduced with the group were Dr. L. H. Hubbard, TSCW president, and Mrs. Florence Fenley, Uvalde representative, a TSCW exstudent.

The program consisted of numbers the choir and orchestra have presented at army camps and hospitals throughout the state.

The House and Senate adjourned until Tuesday morning.

Taxas Ranges, Cattle Said About Average

AUSTIN, Feb. 12. (U.P.)—The condition of Texas range and pasture feeds on Feb. 1 was somewhat above the average and much better than a year ago, the USDA bureau here reported today. Cattle have wintered in good shape, the report said.

Old grass was still available in most areas, although there was some rotting from excessive moisture, particularly in central and eastern districts. Wheat pastures still were short but were recovering from freezes and were expected to prove good grazing during the month.

Oat pastures in the Southwest were good.

Cattle condition as of Feb. 1 was reported at 80 per cent, compared with 73 per cent a year ago, and 79 per cent for a 20-year average. The winter has been mild and losses have been light, with some shrinkage from frequent and heavy rains.

The average condition of Texas sheep was reported at 84 per cent on Feb. 1, the same as a month ago and two points above the 20-year average.

Citizens Are Asked To Preserve Ration Books

The Lubbock district Office of Price administration today cautioned that ration books are property of the United States government and should not be mutilated. Owners should take the utmost care to see that their ration books are kept in good condition.

Owners should paste back in the book with tape or paste on a piece of plain paper any stamps that might come loose, the OPA advised.

Merchants should not send customers with mutilated books to the local board to ask for a replacement, OPA officials said, pointing out that this would only cause an unnecessary workload on board clerks.

Time Extended For Additional Charges On Cotton Storage

Extension of the temporary period in which an additional receiving charge may be made by warehousemen in 12 states for the storage of raw cotton in emergency open yards was announced by the district Office of Price administration Monday.

This extension, which is made retroactively effective on Jan. 31, 1945, applies until April 1, 1945. The temporary period was previously scheduled to expire on Feb. 1, 1945.

Monday's action was taken at the request of the Commodity Credit corporation, the Federal government agency handling government-loan and government-owned cotton. This agency has advised OPA that the emergency need of open yard storage facilities for raw cotton has not fully passed, and that these facilities must continue to be available during February and March.

The special ceiling prices permitted for emergency open yard storage are the existing ceilings for cotton storage in regular enclosed warehouses, plus 60 cents a bale in Oklahoma, and plus 25 cents a bale in Texas and the other 10 states.

The extra amounts are to compensate warehousemen for expenses in making new open yard facilities available for the storage of cotton where shortages exist in regular warhouse storage facilities.

John Collier Resigns Indian Affairs Post

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12. (U.P.)—The White House today announced the resignation of John Collier as commissioner of the Interior department's office of Indian Affairs.

Collier has held the post since soon after President Roosevelt's inauguration in 1933. He has effected many reforms in the federal handling of Indian problems. Some of his program aroused bitter opposition among certain tribes and groups.

He was born in Atlanta in 1884. He spent several years in New Mexico, studying Indian folklore and culture, then organized the American-Indian Defense association which forced a congressional investigation of Indian affairs.

Problem Called "No Greater Than Ever"

Women-In-Industry After War Surveyed By Gallup

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J.—Post-war job planners will be encouraged by the fact that substantially fewer women say they want to work after the war than are working now.

Projecting from Bureau of the Census special surveys on employment, there are an estimated 15,000,000 women of 14 years or over working in some kind of job today.

GALLUP

An Institute survey just completed across the nation finds that only about 11,000,000 adult women say they plan to work in any job after the war. This includes women not now working, as well as those employed at present.

This 11,000,000 is just about the same number of adult women in the labor force in 1940, before our entry into the war, but after defense production had been boosted.

At the same time, the 11,000,000 is roughly two million fewer than the Bureau of Census estimates indicated would normally be in the adult female labor force in 1945-46.

These findings are based upon a survey in which a cross-section of women were asked:

"Do you plan to work in any job after the war?"

The replies of those already employed are as follows:

Yes, Plan to Work	61%
No, Do Not Plan to Work	29
Uncertain	10

It should of course be noted that one in ten—roughly, 1,500,000 — are uncertain about what they will do after the war. Many among these are undoubtedly women who think they may get married and become housewives after the war.

A survey taken in 1943 among women working in war plants showed that only about one-third of the married women wanted to work after the war, compared to three out of four among the single women who said they wanted to keep on working when the war ended.

Three Killed When Marauder Crashes

DODGE CITY, Kan., Feb. 12 (U.P.) — Three men were killed when a B-26 Marauder bomber crashed and burned seven miles south of the Dodge City Army Air field yesterday, Col. C. B. Root, commanding officer, said today.

The victims included S/Sgt. Lionel Fincke, husband of Mrs. Edith Fincke of San Antonio.

The plane was on a routine combat training flight.

WFA Warns Of Meatless Days

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12. (U.P.) — War Food Admnistration officials warned civilians today that more meatless days are ahead.

The meat scarcity, they said, will grow progerssively worse in the next few months and by August civilians probably will experience the shortest supples in 10 years. More stringent ration of meat appears inevitable.

Major Reasons Given

Major reasons for the meat scarcity are a sharply slackened production and large government purchases for war purposes. The Bureau of Agricultural Economics, a statistical bureau of WFA, said that meat output in 1945 may not total more than 22,000,000,000 pounds, compared with 24,700,000,000 last year. The burau previously forecast 22,750,000,000 pounds production for this year.

The bureau now fears that civilian consumption during 1945 may sink to about 120 pounds per person or 27 pounds less than last year. Earlier estimates placed this year's consumption between 125 and 132 pounds. The revised forecast would bring consumption to the lowest point since 1935 when Americans ate at an average of 116 pounds.

WFA said August would be the low point for meat because both beef and pork slaughter is seasonally low at that time. Supplies are expected to pick up during the fall months as animals move from farms to market.

Big Three Adopts 7-Point Program To Stamp Out Prussian Militarism

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (AP) — A seven-point program designed to insure that Germany "will never again be able to disturb the peace of the world," has been agreed upon by the Big Three for imposition on the Reich after unconditional surrender.

The specific terms were not disclosed in a communique from the historic Crimea meeting of President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Marshal Stalin. But under the agreement, the forces of the three powers will each occupy a separate zone of Germany and their supreme commanders will constitute a control commission in Berlin.

France May Join In

The communique added:

"It has been agreed that France should be invited by the three powers if she should so desire, to take over a zone of occupation, and to participate as a fourth member of the control commission."

"It is our inflexible purpose," it continued, "to destroy German militarism and Nazism and to insure that Germany will never again be able to disturb the peace of the world."

To carry this out, the communique said that the Big Three are determined to:

1. Disarm and disband all German armed forces.

Break Up General Staff

2. "Break up for all time the German general staff that has repeatedly contrived the resurgence of German militarism."

3. Remore or destroy all German military equipment.

4. Eliminate or control all German industry that could be used for military production.

5. Bring all war criminals to "just and swift punishment and exact reparation in kind for the destruction wrought by the Germans."

6. Wipe out the Nazi party, Nazi laws, organizations and institutions, remove all Nazi and militarist influences from public offices and from the cultural and economic life of the German people.

7. "Take in harmony such other measures in Germany as may be necessary to the future peace and safety of the world."

Not To Destroy People

"It is not our purpose to destroy the people of Germany," the communique said, "but only when Naziism and militarism have been extirpated will there be hope for a decent life for Germans, and a place for them in the comity of nations."

The document said the specific terms for carrying out the surrender policies and plans "will not be made known until the final defeat of Germany has been accomplished."

Mrs. Stiles Named Red Cross Secretary

Mrs. J. H. Stiles, for two years Lubbock chairman of the Junior Red Cross, has accepted the position of executive secretary of the Lubbock County chapter of American Red Cross, it has been announced by W. C. O'Mara, Lubbock county chairman.

Mrs. Stiles will fill the position vacated by Mrs. Teressa B. Gegg, who resigned effective Feb. 1. Miss Esther Talley Roettinger, field worker from the Midwestern area office in St. Louis, filled the position as acting executive secretary until Mrs. Stiles' appointment was made.

A resident of Lubbock for a number of years and a prominent worker in civic affairs, Mrs. Stiles has done home service and Junior Red Cross work since the beginning of the war. In addition, she was held the chairmanship of the co-ed committee of the City recreation department in USO work since 1942 when the USO was established here.

Mrs. Stiles will attend classes at Red Cross headquarters in St. Louis within the next few months for a detailed study of the duties of an executive secretary. She is a graduate of Trinity university and has done graduate work at Texas Tech. Before her marriage, she was auditor for Texas Tech for eight years.

Mrs. Stiles, wife of a prominent Lubbock physician, lives at 3002 Twenty-second and is the mother of four children, S 2/c James Hooper Stiles, stationed at San Diego, Mrs. James A. Stuart of Columbus, Ohio, Nancy and Rossi Stiles.

HOUSTON, Feb. 12 (AP) — Ordinarily, a pair won't take the pot in a poker game. But it (rather they) did early Sunday morning. The pair, one armed with a mean-looking shotgun, broke into a friendly little game, scattered buckshot around just for the heck of it, and scooped up the pot—$88.

Nearly 9,000 Units Registered In Rent Control Office Here

With nearly 9,000 residential rental units registered with the local OPA rent office, George S. Bond, director of the Lubbock Defense-Rental area, said today that his office was attempting to bring the registration as near to 100 per cent as possible.

Bond spoke specifically of those tenants who sublet their places for a month or two during the winter or summer months while they go away for a vacation. "Just as soon as a person sub-lets his home," he said, "he becomes a landlord, even though he himself is also a rent payer.

"In such cases, he continued, "unless the person who sub-lets registers the rental with the area rent office, he is in violation of OPA's rent regulations, and subject to the penalties of the Emergency Price Control act.

"Registration of rental units," Bonds said, "is the keynote of the success of the rent program. For effective control of the second largest item in the average family's budget—rent—we must have a maximum legal rent established for every unit in Lubbock county."

Registration forms are available at the area rent office, 1415 Ave. Q.

Investigations Asked By Labor

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12. (U.P.) — An investigation by the new House Committee on un-American Activities into conduct of the old Dies committee and records of former Rep. Martin Dies, D., Tex., was suggested today by the nation's labor leaders.

The Federated Press, a non-profit organization owned by some 200 CIO, AFL and Independent Unions, reported, however, that the Christian American association, "enthusiastically backed" by Sen. W. Lee O'Daniel, D., Tex., was the first choice of 366 labor papers answering a questionnaire.

Association Top Choice

"The replies showed that the top choice for a federal investigation of thorough proportions is the Christian American association, an organization headed by Vance Muse of Houston, Tex.", the press said. "The association is sponsoring anti-labor laws in various state legislatures and is enthusiastically backed by Sen. O'Daniel of Texas."

Close behind, the paper said, are international cartels and the "Hearst-Patterson-McCormick axis," each tied for second on the basis of all returns. However, Col. Robert McCormick's Chicago Tribune "was ranked as the first menace," it said.

Other suggested subjects for the new committee were the Scripps-Howard chain of newspapers, the use of war prisoners in civilian jobs, U. S. seizure of civilian industries, the work of "lying columnists and commentators," and the records of Jesse Jones, former secretary of commerce; Sen. Burton K. Wheeler, D., Mont., and Rep. John E. Rankin, D., Miss.

GI's Are Strong For Compulsory Training

DALLAS, Feb. 12 (AP) — Capt. Richard Blake Hawk, recently returned from action with the 36th division in Africa, Italy and France, said compulsory military training after the war is considered a "desperate necessity" by most of the boys fighting today's battles.

"There'll have to be a change in the Statue of Liberty after this war," he said. "She stands in New York harbor holding a torch in one hand and a tablet in the other. There are thousands of GI Joes who believe the tablet must be discarded in favor of a shotgun."

Hawk, holder of the Distinguished Service Cross, the Bronze Star medal, the Purple Heart with two clusters and the Italian Medal of Valor, said German prisoners are not referring to World War II as "the" war, but "this" war.

"We are fooling ourselves if we think the Hun intends that this shall be the last world conflict," he said.

GI's Send Assortment Of Souvenirs Home

NEW YORK, Feb. 12. (AP)—The gifts sent home by GI's have convinced Captain Harry Krieger, Army officer in charge of baggage and effects at the New York port of embarkation, that "our soldiers around the world must be walking hock shops."

Capt. Krieger, appearing last night on the "We, The People" program over CBS, enumerated a few eye-popping items sent home as "souvenirs:" a whale's tusk, a harem houri's slippers, a stuffed seal, a camel saddle.

One sergeant, he reported, sent back a completely dismantled jeep, which trickled in, a part at a time. The Army let the whole kaboodle pass when they learned that the sergeant had bought the parts indivdually and had bills of sale for each.

For Joyful Cough Relief, Try This Home Mixture

Real Relief. Big Saving. So Easy. No Cooking.

This splendid recipe is used by millions every year, because it makes such a dependable, effective medicine for coughs due to colds. It's so easy to mix—a child could do it.

From any druggist get 2½ ounces of Pinex, a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well-known for its soothing effect on throat and bronchial membranes.

Then make a syrup by stirring two cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. It's no trouble at all. No cooking needed. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Put the Pinex into a pint bottle and add your syrup. This gives you a full pint of very effective and quick-acting cough medicine, and you get about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and is very pleasant—children love it.

You'll be amazed by the way it takes hold of coughs, giving you delightful relief. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Money refunded if not pleased in every way.

New Variety Of Wheat Is Found

COLLEGE STATION, Feb. 12.—A new variety of hard red winter wheat of high quality has been developed for the Panhandle Plains section of Texas.

The wheat has been named Westar (a contraction of Western and Lone Star) and is the third new variety for Texas developed and distributed in a program of hard red winter wheat improvement which is conducted cooperatively by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and state agricultural experiment stations in the Southern Great Plains.

Provide High Yields

"The three new varieties, Westar, Comanche, and Wichita, will now provide farmers of the hard winter wheat belt of Texas with high yielding wheats of approved milling and baking quality," says a progress report from the Texas Agricultural Experiment station.

Authors of the report are I. M. Atkins and David A. Reid, agronomists. They tell how Westar wheat was developed from the cross Kanred X hard federation 25007 X Tenmarq.

Breeding Done At Denton

Early breeding work was done at the Denton, Tex., substation, with preliminary testing of hybird lines conducted at price memorial college at Amarillo from 1930-1935, and in 1936-1938 on city owned farms at Amarillo.

With establishment of the Amarillo experiment station in 1939 the work was transferred there. Additional testing of Westar and other strains has been accomplished through co-operation of Texas substations at Chillicothe, Iowa Park, and Spur.

"Outstanding characteristics of Westar wheat include high yield, high test weight, good milling and baking characteristics, and very high resistance to leaf (orange or red) rust. Westar is highly susceptible to stem (black stem) rust," says the report.

"In general appearance westar is similar to Tenmarq and Comanche. It matures about one day later than Comanche, three days earlier than Tenmarq and five days earlier than turkey under Panhandle conditions. . . ."

The report says Westar wheat is being increased for distribution in 1945 by the Amarillo Soil Conservation experiment station, and by selected farmers in 11 counties in the Panhandle area. Approximately 225 acres have been planted, but individual farm acreages are small so there will be only limited surplus seed for sale in 1945.

Red Cross First Aid Courses Are Being Conducted In Schools

American Red Cross first aid instructors of the Lubbock county chapter have reported four standard first aid courses in progress in the schools here; that 33 courses were taught in the county last year.

W. A. Hood, chairman of American Red Cross First Aid committee of Lubbock county, reported there are 12 certified instructors in Lubbock. Plans are being made for a course to be offered at New Deal and for Lubbock General hospital nurses, he said.

American Red Cross certificates will be awarded 17 girls who recently completed a course in Lubbock High school under the direction of Mrs. John Wilson. They are Mary Berry, Joy Bowles, Geraldine and Murlene Bullock, Louise Caraway, Ellen Carroll, Elizabeth Holman, Lyn Lowrey, Francys Peters, Billie Rosenthal, Mary Lee Royalty, Betty Sue Tippitt, Juanita Thomas, Frances West, Brentie Sue Thompson, Jane Williams, and Patsy Bowen.

Standard courses in progress are three in Junior High school, directed by Mrs. Isabel Garrison, and one in Roscoe Wilson school, with Chairman Hood as instructor. Texas Tech girls recently completed a course instructed by Mrs. Velma Harrison, and merit badges were awarded a group of girl scouts who completed a course taught by Ceril Batton.

Other certified instructors in Lubbock are Mrs. C. E. Roberts, Chief W. E. Twitty, Mrs. Joe Arrington, E. L. Price, H. J. Kendrick, J. R. Whitmire, and Kathleen Ingram.

Reaffiliation Terms Outlined For AFL

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 12 (AP) — The AFL was given John L. Lewis' reply today to its request for his terms for reaffiliation of the United Mine Workers.

Both Lewis and President William Green of the American Federation of Labor remained silent on details of the mine workers' conditions for returning to the parent organization they left more than eight years ago, pending a meeting of the executive council.

The council was prepared to accept the terms as understood by Green in verbal discussions with Lewis—that the miners would come back as they are constituted today, with a sizeable miscellaneous group of unions in his catchall district 50, leaving jurisdiction problems to be worked out by the council.

THE MEAT SITUATION

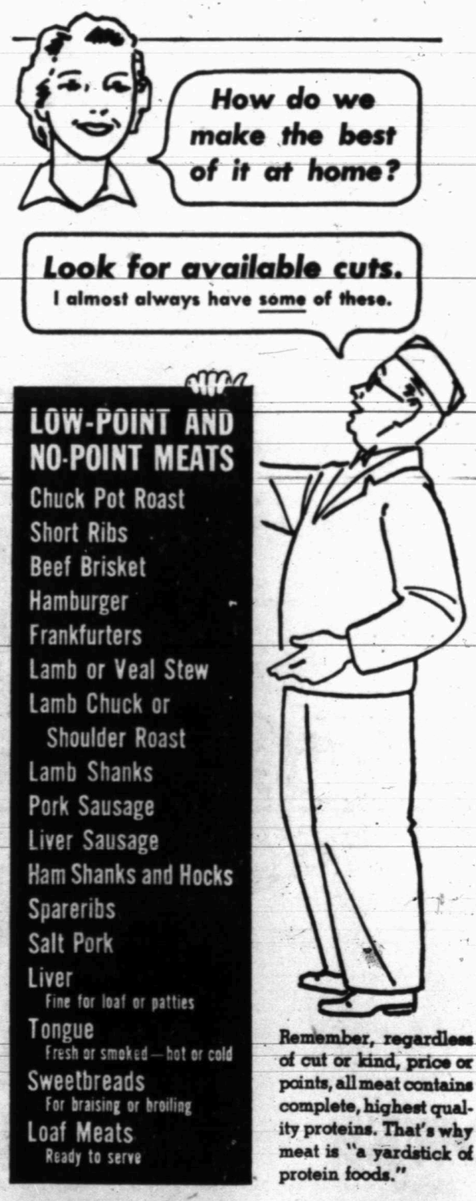

What's ahead?

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb., 1945

The meat needs of the Government for war purposes continue up. They are expected to stay up, regardless of how the fighting goes. Fewer meat animals are coming to market. . . . The Army Quartermaster Corps and the Navy Bureau of Supplies will see that our forces get the meat they need. This means:

At least for the next 90 days civilians will get much less meat than at any time since the war began.

Mexico Honors Texan In Colorful Ceremony In Halls Of Legislature

AUSTIN, Feb. 12. (AP)—The 40th Texas Legislature set aside its regular business today to witness an act of the government of Mexico honoring a Texas citizen in recognition of his service in furthering the good neighbor policy.

The Mexican order of the Aztec Eagle, the highest honor available to a citizen, was ceremoniously presented P. L. Anderson of San Antonio by Carlos Calderon, Mexican consul general at San Antonio. The ceremony was held before a joint session of the House and Senate, in the hall of the House of Representatives.

Now A City Official

Anderson, a former member of the House, is fire and police commissioner of San Antonio.

Gov. Coke Stevenson presented Calderon. Mexican military guests included Brig. Gen. Arnulfo Palomera Lopez, and Mrs. Lopez, Brig. Gen. Felipe Montiel Jasso, Col. Crisoforo Ramos Median, Col. Jose Miranda Alvarado. Among the United States Army officials present were Lt. Gen. George Grunert, Brig Gen. Raymond E. McQuillan, Brig. Gen. Laurence B. Keiser.

The House, with the general session starting its sixth week, finally adopted permanent rules for the session. It rejected a proposal creating a new committee on veterans affairs and ordered that all legislation which it might have considered be sent to the military affairs committee.

Number Of Proposals

Both House and Senate, loaded with committee work, adjourned until tomorrow after introduction of a number of bills and proposed constitutional amendments.

Sen. Fred Mauritz of Ganado offered a resolution in the Senate, calling for submission of a constitutional amendment permitting a majority of the House and Senate to re-locate the medical branch of the University of Texas, now in Galveston, "in a large urban center of population" and to locate other branches, post graduate schools or special schools wherever deemed appropriate.

Relocation of the medical branch was one of the points of difference between former President Homer P. Rainey and the board of regents of the University of Texas. Rainey favored moving the medical school. It is located in Galveston by constitutional direction.

Heavier Taxes Asked

Bills hiking the occupation tax on sulphur from $1.252 per long ton to $5, and setting up a tax on previously-untaxed salt of $1 per long ton, were introduced in the House. Other measures of statewide interest offered there included proposals to strictly regulate vehicular transportation of explosives and to regulate containers for storing liquified petroleum gas.

Senate bills included these:

By A. M. Aikin, jr., of Paris, Kyle Vick of Waco and James Stanford of Austin, designating the state superintendent of public instruction as the administrative and executive officer of the state board of vocational education.

Recovery Of Pensions

By Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo, permitting the state welfare department to institute suit for recovery of funds from recipients of monies granted for old age assistance, needy blind or aid for dependent children, if such assistance was obtained by concealment of resources or failure to report receipt of resources.

By J. Franklin Spears of San Antonio, giving the state railroad commission authority to issue permits for operation of common and contract carrier airlines.

By Mauritz to permit the state board of control authority to advertise for sale the Texas state railroad operating from Rusk to Palestine. A second bill by Mauritz would permit the state park board to take over all state public parks now under the board of control

Aged Woman Found After 40-Hour Search

MADISONVILLE, Feb. 12. (UP) — Mrs. Ola Lake, 72-year-old grandmother, was recuperating today from a week-end ordeal in which she became lost Friday afternoon and was found Sunday after having been the object of a 40-hour search by more than 700 persons.

The aged woman, member of a pioneer family of Madisonville, was found in a semi-conscious condition yesterday morning, entangled in a barbed wire fence eight miles south of her home.

Mrs. Lake, unusually active for her age, said she became lost while taking a walk Friday and that she had stopped by the wire fence in the Caney Creek bottoms.

She was found by three Madisonville boys after the some 700 persons had combed the vicinity in their frantic search.

RUSSIANS FIGHT HARD

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 12. (AP)—Luis Quintanilla, who returned yesterday from Moscow, where he was ambassador for two years, commented today that "the Russian people and government are doing something almost unbelievable to end the war as soon as possible."

and a third bill setting ten years for right of recovery of lands "after course of action has been accrued."

Another Senate joint resolution by Hazlewood would permit the payment of poll taxes up to June, 1, prior to the next preceding election.

Streets Of Manila Filled With Horrors From Jap Shellings

By FRED HAMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

MANILA, P. I., Feb. 11 (Delayed) — Battle street scenes:

The streets were crowded near the blown Santa Cruz bridge when a Japanese shell from the waterfront hit. The crowd scattered and the shell exploded. A Filipino woman sprawled amid the debris, her bundle of belongings beside her. At her feet lay a tiny baby she had been carrying. It was dead and its body was burning.

Just across the Jones bridge a shell burst. A dozen bodies slumped about the street. An old Filipino struggled toward the bridge, carrying his wife. He approached a Military Policeman. "A doctor, sair," he beseeched. The MP looked at the woman and said: "sit down there," motioning toward the curb. The MP muttered to his companion: "a burial detail is coming. Let them tell him. I haven't got the heart."

A soldier in a courtyard bivouac heard a mortar shell screaming toward him. He leaped against a tree so hard he cut his leg. The shell burst but he was untouched. "I I had stayed where I had been," he said, "I would have been killed." A companion pointed to the ground. A hot, jagged half pound mortar fragment lay on the grass exactly where he had been standing.

But habit is strong and life must go on. Shopping stalls at the edge of burned out downtown Manila are reopening with what meager stock can be salvaged. Bargaining, buying and selling goes on. The girls talk to the soldiers. The barriers trim hair. An old man sweeps rubble off his shop sidewalk. All the while the buildings tremble to artillery percussion and shells whine overhead. Machine guns chatter. The city shudders to demolition blasts and the fires burn on.

Benjamin Franklin made no money from his inventions; he believed that they should be contributed to the public and refused patents.

Permanent GOP Being Organized In Texas

HOUSTON, Feb. 12 (UP)—Texas Republican leaders gathered here today for a meeting to formulate plans for the creation and operation of a full-time party organization in Texas.

Among other matters, discussions will include the possibility of amending the Terrel election law, which, since more than 100,000 GOP votes were cast in the last general election, means the Texas Republican party must hold primaries in 1946.

Prominent state Republican leaders here for the meeting of the GOP Headquarters committee include: National Committeeman R. B. Creager, Brownsville; Peasley Hobart McDowell, San Antonio; Eugene Nolte, San Antonio; L. J. Benckenstein, Beaumont; Walter Rogers, Dallas; Orville Bullington, Wichita Falls; Alvin H. Lane, Dallas; John W. Philps, Dallas; Mars McLean, San Antonio; Mrs. Lena Gay Moore, Brownsville, and Mrs. Carl G. Stearns, Houston.

FDR Urges Full Acceptance, And Funds For International Program

By MAX HALL
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12. — President Roosevelt urged Congress today to accept the Bretton Woods agreement lest the world drift again toward "the maelstrom of panic and economic warfare."

In a special message he gave Congress a many - sided plan of economic cooperation with other nations — because political cooperation, he said, won't be enough."

The President replied to criticism of certain parts of the agreement reached by delegates of 44 nations at Bretton Woods, N. H., with this assertion:

"It would be a tragedy if differences of opinion on minor details should lead us to sacrifice the basic agreement achieved on the major problems."

Billions Involved

He asked approval of the $8,800,000,000 "international monetary fund" and the $9,100,000,000 "international bank for reconstruction and development." He said they are the "cornerstone" for international economic cooperation, though not "perfect in every detail."

Senator Wagner (D-NY) said he and Senator Tobey (R-NH) will introduce a bill Thursday for U. S. membership in the "fund" and the "bank." They are the leading Democrat and leading Republican on the Senate Banking committee.

The President said he expects to submit to Congress shortly these additional proposals for economic legislation:

Establishment of the food and agriculture organization of the United Nation; broadening and strengthening the trade agreements act of 1934; international agreement for reducing trade barriers, controlling cartels, and the orderly marketing of world surpluses of certain commodities; a revision of the export-import bank; and international oil agreement; and proposals in the field of international aviation, shipping, radio and wire communications.

"It is time for the United States to take the lead in establishing the principle of economic cooperation as the foundation for expanded world trade. We propose to do this, not by setting up a super-government, but by international negotiation and agreement."

Mr. Roosevelt said a good deal has been done in that line during the last ten years, but the trouble was — our present enemies were at the same time devoting all their efforts to the very opposite of international collaboration.

Must Be Ready

"When victory is won we must be ready to go forward rapidly on a wide front," the President said. "We all know very well that this will be a long and complicated business."

The international monetary fund, he said, "will put an end to monetary chaos." He described the fund as an institution to preserve stability and order in the exchange rates between different moneys, and summarized it thus:

"In a nutshell, the fund agreement spells the difference between a world caught again in the maelstrom of panic and economic warfare culminating in war — as in the 1930's — or a world in which the members strive for a better life through mutual trust, cooperation and assistance. The choice is ours."

Navy Yard Workers to Be Sought Here Today

Qualified workers urgently needed at the Bremerton, Wash., Navy yard will be interviewed today at the U. S. Employment service, at 1207 Thirteenth, by Ronald A. Beckman, M. W. Waldron, Lubbock USES office manager, said.

Naval establishments on the West coast and at Pearl Harbor are still in need of skilled workers to help repair battle damaged ships and journeymen in most of the metal working trades are needed at the West coast Navy yards, Waldron said. A number of qualified men is being sought for ordnanceman, powder, which is the only opening at Pearl Harbor.

Persons not employed in essential industry at highest skill and who have necessary qualifications for these jobs are requested to contact Beckman today. Applications also may be filed with the USES offices at 323 West Seventh street, Amarillo or regional director, Tenth Civil Service region at 210 South Harwood street, Dallas, 1, Texas.

Whitharral Man Is Found Dead Sunday

LEVELLAND, Feb. 12 (Special) —A verdict of death by natural causes was returned by Justice of Peace A. F. Odell after Henry Bazman, 62-year-old resident of the Whitharral community, was found dead Sunday morning.

Hockley County Sheriff Ed Hofacket said Bazman was discovered at 10 o'clock Sunday morning by neighbors.

The funeral was held here this afternoon with Plains Funeral home of Levelland directing.

PAY DIRECTOR NAMED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12. (AP) — President Roosevelt today nominated Rear Adm. William D. Young of the Navy Supply corps to be a pay director in the Navy with the same rank he now holds.

Current War Cost To Date Is Seven Times Last One

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12. (U.P.) — World War II already has cost the nation seven times as much as did World War I through June 30, 1919, according to Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, jr.

He said yesterday that the speeding tempo of the war in Europe can best be measured by the fact that more supplies were sent there in two months than during all of the first World war.

Morgenthau said taxes were paying 46 per cent of current war costs. The people also are "sharing on a vast scale" by lending money through bond purchases, he said.

Americans Increase Spending In 1944

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12. (AP) — For the sixth straight year, Americans increased their spending at retail stores in 1944.

The Commerce department said today 1944 retail sales were $69,275,000,000 — a new record and nine per cent more than the $63,680,000,000 spent in 1943.

Dallas Man Dies In Shooting; Wife Hurt

DALLAS, Feb. 12. (U.P.) — The author of a sports item titled "Selecting The Proper Gun," published in Esquire magazine in 1938, was dead today in what his wife described as an attempt to kill her and then commit suicide with a .38 revolver.

The body of Monroe H. Goode, 40, a firearms authority, oil operator and former vice president of the Maryland Oil Co., was found at his apartment yesterday with half the head shot away.

Treated at a Dallas hospital for a two-inch gash in her head, Mrs. Goode told officers that after an argument, her husband slashed her with a knife. He then shot at her with the revolver, missed and turned the gun on himself.

Mrs. Goode said they had been married, divorced and married again.

ITALIAN NAVY BUSY

ROME, Feb. 12. (AP)—The Italian Navy carried nearly 4,000 missions in the Atlantic and the Mediterranean from September, 1943, when the fleet went over to the Allies, to the end of 1944, Navy Undersecretary Carlo Bassano said today in a Rome newspaper interview.

Westerners Play Brownfield Cubs

The Lubbock Westerners will likely close the 1945 basketball season tonight at the Brownfield High school gym, playing an A and B game double feature with the Brownfield Cubs to close the Westerner's bid to repeat as cage champions of District 1-AA.

No other games remain on the schedule of Coach Dixie White's lads, and no more will be played unless the cage race should be thrown into a tie, which is possible, but not considered too likely.

Several Ties Possible

The race presents a number of likely situations for the dopesters to puzzle over, the only hopes of the Westerners resting on the chances for a three-way tie between the three clubs in the south half.

The Plainview Bulldogs took the favorites roll last week by beating the Westerners twice. The Bulldogs play Brownfield Friday night at Plainview, and need this victory to clinch the south half title.

Should the Westerners defeat Brownfield, and Brownfield beat Plainview, as the teams did in the first round, the race would be thrown into a three-way tie, and thet Westerners would be back in the running.

Cubs Could Cop Title

Should Brownfield defeat Lubbock and Plainview this week, they would cop the south half crown, and enter the playoff with the north half winner, with the district champion to enter the bi-district playoff with the winner of District 2-AA.

The north half race is tied up for the lead, with Amarillo and Pampa both having beaten Borger once, and split two games with each other. Both have Borger yet to play in an effort to untangle the race.

The Westerners defeated Brownfield at Lubbock, 32-26, in the first meeting between these two clubs. But the Lubbock lads will be facing a tough battle tonight to keep alive their hopes of getting back into the playoff.

Coach Aubra Nooncaster's Cubs will have their sights set on the south half title. Coach Nooncaster's likely starters will be Byler and Moore at forwards, Kempson at center, Wheatley and Franks at guards.

Coach Dixie White will very likely rely on his regular five starters, George Brewer, Lonnie Balch, Verdell Turner, Charles Pressley and R. W. Moyers.

Cowhands Gold Play Boys Club Tonight

Lubbock Boys club cagers will invade the Westerner gym tonight at Lubbock High school to play Coach Marlin R. "Shorty" Hayhurst's Cowhands Gold and Coach Bob Parker's Cowboys Reds in a triple header, the junior game schedules to start at 6:30 o'clock.

The Cowhands five has been showing rapid improvement on the court in recent weeks, and have been giving a good account of themselves against strong opposition.

The Boys club fives have been listed among the most powerful in this area, and have been consistent winners. The club dropped a pair of tough games at Wichita Falls last Saturday night, but drew lots of praise from the showing they made in the Wichita county city.

Former Oklahoma All American Is Missing

A B-29 BASE, SAIPAN, Feb. 8. —(Delayed) (U.P.) — Big grinning Waddy Young, who formerly ran interference as an All-American end at the University of Oklahoma, has been listed as missing since a Tokyo raid a month ago — missing because he still insisted on running interference for his team mates.

The files list him as Walter Young, but for years he has been known as "Waddy." A 1939 All-American he was one of the most popular plane commanders at this base and his flying mates still think "Old Waddy will probably show up one of these days."

Playoff Near In 2-AA Cage Race

WICHITA FALLS, Feb. 12 (Special)—The Childress Bobcats are expected to sew up the title for the Western half of District 2-AA Tuesday night when the Bobcats invade the Vernon Lions gymnasium for the second game of the season for the Lions.

Childress defeated the Lions easily at Childress early in February. The Bobcats, with four victories and no losses has won at least a tie for the divisional title. A victory either Tuesday night, or Friday night when they play Electra at Childress would clinch the flag.

The Burkburnett Bulldogs, who defeated Graham at Graham last Friday night, assured themselves of at least a tie for the eastern half of the district. The bulldogs are expected to have an easy time against the Olney Cubs in their final game at Olney Friday night.

Burkburnett and Childress, at this point, seem sure and easy winners of their divisions and are expected to start the playoff Tuesday night, Feb. 20.

Burkburnett has won four and lost one game this year. Graham, the only team still having a mathematical chance to catch the Bulldogs, have won three and lost two games.

Burkburnett, Graham, Witchita Falls and Olney make up the eastern half, with Electra, Vernon, Childress and Quanah playing in the west half.

Windsor Races Keep London Taxis Busy

LONDON, Feb. 12 (U.P.)—Thousands of Londoners flocked to Windsor Saturday for the steeplechase races. They used all means of transportation including 200 taxis and virtually denuded London streets of much needed vehicles.

London cabs are allowed three gallons of gasoline each day which enables them to operate 48 to 51 miles. From central London to Windsor, round trip, is 46 miles.

London cabbies are allowed, by law, to drive five miles beyond the area in which they are licensed. From the London city limits to Windsor is just five miles.

A ministry of fuels spokesman said the taxi drivers were fully within their rights in chauffeuring Londoners to the races which are not illegal in England. He could not say whether or not the gasoline was lend-lease.

Texas Mines Cagers Nose Cowboys, 42-36

ABILENT, Tex., Feb. 12 (AP)—Texas College of Mines rallied in the closing minutes of play here tonight, beating Hardin Simmons university, 42-36.

The basketball game was a see-saw affair, with the score deadlocked at the half, 17-17.

Salas Porras, of the College of Mines, was high point man with 13 points. Billie Sorrel and Charlie Baker paced the Cowboys with nine points each.

The Miners will move into Lubbock Wednesday and Thursday nights to battle the Texas Tech Red Raiders in a two game series.

SAMUELS IN AAU

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 12. (AP) — Perry Samuels, Jefferson High school (San Antonio) sprinter, will compete in the National AAU indoor track meet Feb. 24, in New York, Coach Barlow Irvin revealed today.

Samuels will compete in the 60-yard dash only.

FIGHTERS IN SHAPE

HOUSTON, Tex., Feb. 12. (U.P.) —Punchin' Paul Altman and Bill (Not-So-Wild) McDowell were in tip-top shape today for their 10-round main event bout here Tuesday night. Local fans picked Altman over the erstwhile "Wild Bill" of the fight game.

Jug McSpaden Tied By Nelson

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 12 (AP) — Gangling Harold (Jug) McSpaden faltered in the final round of the New Orleans Open golf tournament today, staggering in with a four-over-par 76 for a 284 total to end in a first place tie with Bryon Nelson, Toledo, Ohio.

McSpaden shot his first over-par round of the $50,000 tournament on the final 18 holes and had to score a last-hole birdie to gain a tie with Nelson who had finished earlier with a one-under-par 37-34 —71.

At the 16th hole and needing three pars to win, McSpaden pushed his second shot into a trap and finished the hole with a bogey 5. He missed a short putt for another bogey on the 17th and made a great approach to his tying birdie.

McSpaden and Nelson will play one 18-hole round for the championship starting at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow.

Claude Marmon, Grosse Point, Mich., finished the difficult 6,539-yard course with a third place total of 289 one stroke better than Sammy Snead, Hot Springs, Va., who made a great comeback after a poor opening round. Harmon shot the final round 3-over par 75. Snead traveled the final 18 holes in 3-under par 69 to tie for low score for the day with Sam Schneider, Corpus Christi, Tex., and bring his total score to 290. Snead and Schneider were co-winners of the $500 bonus for the best round today.

The touring pros played under a handicap of the worst weather of their winter series. Clouded skies, occasional sprinkles and a stiff wind made every hole a real test.

Schneider, who finished 14th, gave the finest exhibition today, goinf the first 18 holes in two-under par 70 and then the last round in 3-under 69.

The top 20 players included Sam Schneider of Corpus Christi, Tex., who shot 155-70-69-294. He won $180 in war bonds.

Camp Claiborne Cops Louisiana Cage Title

CAMP LIVINGSTON, La., Feb. 12. (AP) — Camp Claiborne's basketball team won the Army Service Forces' basketball championship of Louisiana by defeating the Transportation School of New Orleans 58-34 here yesterday in the finals of the state tournament.

Claiborne, undefeated in the double elimination meet, will represent Louisiana in the Eighth Service Command service force tournament at Longview, Texas, Feb. 23.

Abilene Cagers Win Temple Tournament

TEMPLE, Feb. 12 (AP)—Controlling tipoffs and rebounds, the Camp Barkeley Army Service forces team made its height pay off here tonight, beating McCloskey Red Macs, 43-30, for the Eighth Service Command district six title.

The game was a see-saw affair up until the last five minutes. Sanford led the victors with 16 points for high point honors. Lt. Dickerson, McCloskey coach, was second with 12 points.

SLOWBALL CHUNKER DIES

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 12. (AP) —Herman E. (Ham) Iberg, credited by some old time baseball men with originating the "slow ball" while with the Philadelphia Nationals in 1907, died here last night at the home of his sister. He was in his late sixties.

RUNNER IS HONORED

BOSTON, Feb. 12. (U.P.) — Jimmy Herbert of New York, winner of the 600-meter run at the Boston Athletic association indoor meet, took home the John J. Hallahan Memorial trophy today as "the most outstanding athlete" to compete.

Porkers, Mustangs Battle For Runner-Up Cage Honors

(By The Associated Press)

Southwest Conference basketball still has a couple of weeks to go and there are still a couple of ipteresting developments to watch. But Rice neatly choked off most interest by wrapping up the championship Saturday night.

The Owls thumped Southern Methodist university 72-53 for their tenth straight conference victory. The triumph clinched the title and gave the Birds championship glory three years running. They shared it with Arkansas last year, however.

No. 1 question at the moment is which club will finish second and which will represent the conference in the National Collegiate Athletic association regional tournament.

SMU and Arkansas can answer the first with their week-end series in Dallas and in all probability the Porkers can answer the second.

Rice, loaded with Naval trainees, announced yesterday it would not be able to play any post season games. SMU is in much the same position, although it has some non-trainee players. Arkansas is devoid of trainees and appears the logical choice.

Big Bill Henry, the Owls' scoring ace climbed within seven points of his all-time record and has a couple of more games to go. He is ahead of his season scoring record for last year. In 19 games this season he scored 392 points against 348 in 20 games last year. George Kok, of Arkansas, is near the old season record, with 320 points in 19 tilts.

The week's schedule calls for Baylor meeting Texas A and M Wednesday. This can decide the cellar champion. Texas also plays Rice at Houston Wednesday, and Arkansas and SMU battle Friday. Saturday, the Porkers and Mustangs play again, and Baylor is host to Rice at Waco. Texas A and M play at Austin.

Garden Tilts Pay Off For Brooklyn Cagers

NEW YORK, Feb. 12 (U.P.) — Brooklyn College publicity endorsed big time college basketball promotions today and stressed in an official letter that it placed no blame on such enterprises for the recent gambling scandal which involved five of its players.

The letter was written by Benjamin R. Coonfield, chairman of the faculty-student committee on men's athletics and Dr. Richard Boyce, faculty manager of men's athletics. It was directed to College President Harry Gideonse, who in turn endorsed it and released it for publication.

The letter defended the school's athletic program, describing it as "in every sense amateur" and revealed that through its participation in major basketball double headers at Madison Square Garden, enough revenue was produced to support other sports. These included football, swimming, track, cross-country, tennis, wrestling and a general intramural program.

It was revealed that seven basketball games played at the school gymnasium during 1943-44 brought a profit of only $44.44, whereas in five games at the garden, there was a profit of $4,128.37. During this season to date, the school has a $506.35 profit on nine games at home compared to $3,468.82 for three at the Garden.

Therman Gibson Cops Top Bowling Honors

CHICAGO, Feb. 12. (AP) — The thunder of tumbling ten-pins was stilled here today as bowlers from Detroit, Pleasantville, N. J., and New York state rested after winning the gold and glory in three big tournaments that made this city the world's bowling capitol for 16 days.

Early this morning husky, 28-year-old Therman Gibson of Detroit came up with the prize plum of bowling when he was named winner of the Petersen Bowling classic. Gibson, who moved into first place with a score of 1,615 on the next-to-last squad last night, took with him a cash prize of $5,100.

Tilton Lake of Pleasantville, N. J., meanwhile, was collecting $2,000 cash and a $300 gold ring for winning the Dom DeVito tournament with a score of 1,793. The De Vito tournament, sponsored by a three-time winner of the Petersen classic, runs parallel with the latter, and the majority of the bowlers entered in one bowl in the other.

At the same time, Fred Vopel of Laurelton, N. Y., and George Young, of Baldwin, N. Y., were picking up $1,000 as winners of the Petersen Doubles tournament. They turned in a combined score of 1,621 for the four games each rolled.

Bill Flesch and Buddy Bomar, Chicago, took the $500 second prize money with 1607. Bomar is a former Texan, and well known throughout bowling circles in the Lone Star state.

The "big names" of bowling all were outclassed in the Petersen tournament. Johnny Farkas, last year's winner, finished sixth in the final squad of 32—the last of the 1,728 entrants — with a score of 1,429. Billy Sixty, Hank Marino and dozens of others whose names have been at, or near, the top of many of the nation's biggest tournaments for more than a decade, were badly outclassed.

Basil (Buzz) Fazio, of Akron, O., collected the $2,500 second prize in the Petersen classic with 1,607, and third prize of $1,000 went to Frank Van Dalen of Niagara Falls, N. Y., who had an even 1,600 for the eight games each competitor had to roll.

Those three were the only ones of the 1,728 entrants to turn in a 2000, or better, average for the 16 days of competition.

In the De Vito tournament, Ray Schanen of Milwaukee took the second prize of $1,500 with the 1,754 score he turned in last week. Buddy Bomar of Chicago, national match game king, collected $1,200 for third place with 1,750, and Alex Arvia of Chicago took $1,000 for fourth with 1,740.

Capital Expects Baseball Leaders

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (AP) — The capital now is expecting an early visit by baseball representatives to look into the probability of further big league travel curtailment next season.

Government sources have suggested that the major leagues be divided into East and West divisions to save approximately 2,000,000 passenger miles.

Ford Frick and Will Harridge, big league presidents, have been appointed to confer with government officials on conditions affecting the game's continuance.

Reaction among baseball men was varied to the suggestion that the majors divide into two divisions to eliminate the long east-west hauls.

Such a merger was broached over a year ago, Harridge disclosed, but there was no public mention of it.

Government sources, in suggesting the plan, praised baseball's cooperation, acknowledged its value in keeping persons in the bleachers and off the trains, and said that the game should be continued.

Lowrey Field Defeats Amarillo Sky Giants

DENVER, Feb. 12. (AP) — Lowry Field of Denver paid off an old score tonight in defeating the Amarillo, Tex., Skygiants 77 to 63 in an Army Air Forces basketball game.

Lowry bowed to the Skygiants at Amarillo in their first meeting.

Ray Suddarth, Amarillo forward led the evening's scoring with 24 points, and John Vinson of Lowry was next with 18 points.

The Lowry club took the lead early in the contest and held it throughout the game.

YANKEES LOSE PITCHER

Big Names To Teach Coaches For Army

NEW YORK, Feb. 12 (AP)—Eight widely-known athletic figures soon will leave for the Mediterranean war theater where they will conduct coaching schools for athletic officers of the Army.

Cecil Isbell, football coach at Purdue and former National Leaguer, will demonstrate the correct gridiron tricks to the officers, who will relay their knowledge to the servicemen at rest camps and other bases.

Howard Hobson, Oregon university basketball coach, will tutor the soldier athletes in the cage sport; William J. (Billy) Cavanaugh of West Point, will teach boxing and H. William (Bald Bill) Hargiss, formerly of Kansas university, will dispense track and field information.

Others in the troupe are Seward Charles Staley, director of physical education at the University of Illinois; Dean Nesmith, Kansas university trainer; and George White of New Haven, Conn., a top-flight Eastern Intercollegiate official.

Maj. Fran G. Welch, peacetime football coach at Emporia, Kas., State Teachers, will be the military officer in charge of the eight civilians, whose tour is expected to last 60 days.

The group is the second sent out by the athletic branch of the Army's service forces of which Col. Henry W. (Eskie) Clark of Lafayette, is chief.

Red Rolfe of Yale; Charles Berry, American League umpire; and Leo Hauck of Penn State, are among the members of that unit, which was sent to Greenland and Iceland.

Clark, who recently returned from a visit to the war fronts, said that at numerous stops he saw troops returning from a long stay at the front, turn immediately to a sports contest for relaxation.

"I figured that if they got that much good out of sports, they are entitled to the best instructions available," he said in explaining the reason for the coaching clinics.

Section A, Line Top LAAF Squadron Loop

Section A and Section C Line basketball fives continued to pace the Lubbock Army Air field squadron basketball league race, with the Line five knocking over the Section C Hanger five, 39-30, to knock Hanger from the unbeaten list, in the feature game of the night.

Guida Colla looped in 18 points for the scoring honors of this game, while Cecil Hefner paced the losers with 16 points.

Section A was hard pressed to nose out the Finance five, 24-22, to keep pace with the Liners. Section B romped over Section F, 32-21, with John Bounds looping in 13 points to pace the winners. Section I nosed out the Flying Officers in a defense duel, 19-17.

Accident Toll Is Heavy

Home Front Safety Record Bad

AMERICANS are making progress in the war against accidents, judging from figures on the 1944 accident toll released by the National Safety council. But the struggle against the carelessness that causes deaths, injuries and heavy financial loss is an uphill battle.

The National Safety council reports that the nation's death rate from accidents fell 5 per cent last year—a drop representing a saving of 5,000 lives — and was the lowest since 1922. Yet there were 94,000 persons killed, the injured numbered 9,750,000, and the cost in wage losses, medical expense, overhead costs of insurance, production delays, damage to equipment and property damage from traffic accidents and fires is estimated at $4,850,000.

Put another way, the economic cost of carelessness stands out even more clearly. The report points out that the time lost last year, due to accidents, was equal to a year's complete shutdown of plants employing a total of 1,000,000 workers. If that time could have been saved, it would have produced 29,000 heavy bombers.

The American people have a long way to go before they can afford to take a complacent attitude toward accidents. Still, it is encouraging that it was possible for the nation to go through a year of full employment, under the stress of wartime demands for production, and still reduce the accident rate.

That result must be attributed in large part to the National Safety council and its branches throughout the country. The job that has been done deserves a salute.

Postwar Communications

BECAUSE most of the gadgets being used in war have a civilian application, the mechanical and scientific nature of the coming peace era is a source of constant speculation. The so-called "walkie-talkie" is an example.

Pilots in airplanes are in communication with commanders on the ground. One tank crew talks to another. Outlying patrols keep in constant touch with headquarters. And already men in the caboose of a long freight train are experimenting in conversing with locomotive engineer.

The possibility is advanced that in the future a doctor making his calls will be in contact with his office or his hospital, that business firms need never be out of touch with delivery vehicles and traveling salesmen, and that a farm wife will not be compelled to venture into the fields to impart some urgent information to her husband.

All this is due to the increased efficiency of the portable radio. Until the war it was too heavy to be practicable. Now equipment is compact and light, and methods have been discovered to handle radio frequencies on battle fronts without cluttering the air. All this holds out the promise human communication in the most isolated places far beyond the former dreams of man.

Too Much Deficit Spending

DEFICIT spending is a tough habit to break. It is now 15 years since the federal government showed a surplus at the end of a fiscal year and the prospect is that the balance sheet will keep on showing huge deficits until the war is over. But if the history of the past is to be relied upon, there is a fair chance that Uncle Sam will regain his financial balance after peace returns.

The Civil war, for instance, was expensive by the standards of that day, but it also ushered in the nation's longest, unbroken period of governmental surpluses. From 1866, when Andrew Johnson lived in the White House, the government ended each fiscal 12 months with a surplus for 28 straight years until 1893, when Grover Cleveland was President.

That era following World War I was also marked by a fairly lengthy period when government revenues were comfortably higher than government outgo.

After the present conflict there will be more pressing reasons than ever before for keeping the federal government on a strictly paying-as-you-go basis. The national debt will be stupendous, even for a nation as wealthy as the United States.

In the face of this outlook, there is only one sensible thing for an individual or a nation to do and that is to stop spending beyond its means.

"Next to eating, smoking is the hardest habit to break," says a paragrapher. He's mistaken. A person may stop smoking 60 days and still want to moke, but if he were to stop eating for 60 days, he would never want to eat again.

To argue is to concede that the other fellow may be right. You wouldn't argue with a blind man about the color of a rose.

WHEN NEW YORK WAS YOUNG
III

Miss Fraser was a slender woman of about 32. Her hands were large, her features were plain and her blue eyes shone with a quick and lively intelligence. Living in an era when any woman of over 25 was considered an old maid, Miss Fraser was a spinster who expected to remain so.

She wore a sage green cloak that covered her from head to foot. On her head was a blue silk cap of bonnet shape. When she had it on only her face was visible. It was fastened by ribbons tied under the chin. Upon entering she took off her hat and cape, and laid aside the muff that she was carrying. Her bell-shaped skirt, made of dark linsey-woolsey, was stiffened by whalebone sewed into the skirt itself and not separately as a hoop. Her green silk bodice was plentifully supplied with lace on the collar and the sleeves. The skirt was not long; it showed about three inches of leg above the shoe tops.

"How did you come?" the Major inquired. He glanced at the delicate, high-heeled shoes, made of damask. "Didn't walk, I hope."

"Oh, dear me, no!" she replied. "With these shoes!" She held out her feet. "Ned and Fanny Humphrey took me for a sleigh ride—a lovely ride over the clean, glittering snow—and I asked them to let me down here on the way back." There was a thin trace of excitement in her voice, in everything she said. The Major had often noticed it, and wondered as to the cause. "They had quite a party," she continued. "Six people besides myself, with just room enough for me to squeeze in—"

"It's a fine day for sleighing," the Major said.

"Yes," answered Miss Fraser absent-mindedly. "Well, as I was saying, there was just room for me in the Humphrey's sleigh, and I was squeezed almost flat between Alice Knight and Mr. Stevens—you know that bachelor—Mr. Stevens—the lawyer—"

"Did you cross the Kissing Bridge?" Major Lawrence asked, with a smile.

"Yes, we did, and we dined at the Two-Mile Tavern. Had turtle soup—"

Major Lawrence raised his hand and said with a laugh. "You're leaving out something. When you crossed the Kissing Bridge who kissed you?"

"Oh, that," she answered slowly, and her face flushed a little. "I knew you'd ask that question. Why do men always think of such things? I try to be polite, and one is expected to kiss at that bridge. A foolish custom. Why, to answer your question, Major, I was kissed by Mr. Stevens both coming and going."

"Do you like Richard Stevens?" The Major asked this question with a twinkle in his eye.

"Ah—why—I suppose so," Miss Fraser replied. "I hardly know him. Now, don't imagine things, Major Lawrence, you teaser. Just remember that we're living in the year 1750. In this modern time women don't fall in love with every man who looks at them."

"Or who kisses them," the Major said with a laugh. "Did you bring your monthly report with you?"

"Oh yes, I have it here."

Women did not carry handbags in those days. Instead, they had voluminous pockets in their skirts. Miss Fraser delved into a pocket and brought out a folded blue paper which she handed to the Major.

Miss Fraser was the principal of a girls' school of which Major Lawrence was the chairman of the board of trustees. The school had a small endowment that was supplemented by voluntary contributions from the six trustees.

At that time general opinion, both high and low, was opposed to the higher education of women.

In many communities the girls did not attend the regular schools; they went instead to a dance school where a little primary education was given to them. When a girl had learned to read, to spell simple words, to write fairly well, and to know arithmetic up through the multiplication table, her school days were over. But her education in the arts of homemaking went on much longer.

Every young woman of a well-to-do family was taught how to knit, how to embroider, how to do fancy sewing; and most of them were taught the art of preparing meals. Also there was music and dancing. A girl of 18 was supposed to be able to play the spinet or the harp, and to know how to dance the intricate figures of the period.

Girls of poor families did not go to school, as a rule, for there were no free schools and all pupils had to pay partly or wholly for their instruction. The laboring classes could not afford to pay the fees; and, besides, their children were usually hired out at an early age.

Miss Fraser's father, who died when she was 20 years of age, was a professor at Oxford in England. Nearly everything she knew had come from him. In the New York school she did most of the teaching, although she had a young assistant. The girls learned a little history, enough geography to give them a fairly good idea of the continents and countries, and a bit of grammar, rhetoric and composition. Literature and the lives of authors also had a place in the curriculum. Every pupil paid a monthly tuition fee, as the income from the endowment, with the gifts of the trustees added, did not provide sufficient income to carry on the work of the school.

Discharged Vets, Job Seekers To Get Gas

Ely Fonville, district rationing executive of the OPA, said special gasoline rations to aid in reemployment of discharged war veterans and displaced civilian workers have been provided.

These rations will be allowed war veterans and civilian employes who must use a passenger automobile to travel to a job interview arranged for them by the U. S. Employment service, the Railroad Retirement Board Employment service, a county agricultural agent, an Agricultural Extension labor office, or by a union designated by the War Manpower commission to recruit labor. The amount of mileage allowed is limited to 400 miles in any 30-day period, and it must be shown that there are no adequate alternative means of transportation.

A person applying for this ration at his local War Price and Rationing board must present a referral card or a written statement from the person or agency by whom the interview was arranged, showing the name of the prospective employer and the place of interview.

Looking At Life - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

A LITTLE spitz by the name of Butch didn't like the cold in the home of his owner, who had read something about the coal shortage and kept the heat way down.

So while the master was away, Butch tried to find a warm spot and crawled behind a radiator.

It was pretty nice back there, but when he got thirsty and started to go for a drink of water he found himself wedged in between the wall and the radiator and couldn't get out.

BRANDEIS

Nobody was at home, so Butch started to howl. He howled and howled, until finally he attracted the neighbors' attention and one of them called the police.

The cops arrived on the scene, broke down the door and got Butch out somehow.

He shook himself, got his drink and found a safer place.

When I read this little story in the paper I thought of a little mutt by the name of Mickey we used to have as a pet quite a few years ago, long before our present Deuce was born.

We lived in New York at the time and Mickey and my wife were out for a walk when suddenly a thunder shower came up.

Now, if there was anything Mickey was afraid of it was thunder.

So, when a terrific crash seemed to tear the sky apart, Mickey made one wild leap and ran.

My wife ran after her, but Mickey had disappeared in New York's traffic. My wife and I—both of us loved the little mutt an awful lot — were frantic.

We called the police and the animal society, but there was no trace of Mickey.

We didn't think we would ever see her again and my wife was heartbroken.

* * *

THEN at about nine o'clock in the evening the telephone rang.

It was the clerk at a very swanky uptown hotel.

"A very dirty little dog came in here about an hour ago," said the man" and deposited himself in front of a radiator right on one of our best rugs. We got your name and address from his collar and figured that you might want to come up and get him."

Well, you can imagine our joy. In the excitement we even forgot to tell the clerk that Mickey wasn't a "he" but a "she."

We hopped into a taxi and got Mickey gack home. The thunderstorm had stopped by that time and she got a swell meal and a bath.

That's all there is to the story —but I thought you might like it.

I don't know why so many dogs are so terribly afraid of thunder.

Little Deuce, our Sealyham who has taken Mickey's place (she died a few years ago), is about as rambunctious and spunky a little fellow as you ever saw.

But the moment there is a thunder clap he is the worst little baby you ever saw. And, strangely to say, while most dogs crawl under a bed — or like the fox terrier owned by Ward Greene, the author, into the bath tub—Deuce climbs on top of tables or sofas and tries to get as high up as he can, and he trembles all over and pants until the storm is over.

And strange to say, he'll start his trembling and climbing long before any of us hear the thunder.

Another thing, Deuce will invariably run to the telephone a few seconds before it rings.

Don't you call me a liar—it's as true as that the telephone is ringing right now.

The National Whirligig

The GOP And The Wallace Case

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

CAPITOL Hill Republicans' aching to mix in the Democratic free-for-all over the nomination of Henry Wallace as Secretary of Commerce led them to abandon the parliamentary strategy which they framed before the opening of the Seventy-ninth session.

The three Senate leaders—Robert A. Taft of Ohio, Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan and Wallace H. White of Maine—originally agreed that they would refrain from open warfare against the administration. They decided not to adopt a formal caucus policy that would commit their group to an aye or nay attitude. It would be every man for himself.

TUCKER

They followed this course on the George bill and on the move for immediate consideration of the Wallace appointment, although all save a few lined up against the White House. But Mr. Taft and others could not resist the temptation to make political capital of the supplanting of Jesse H. Jones by the Iowan. Minority House Leader Joseph W. Martin, jr., of Massachusetts, who has preferred to play a quiet game in the past, also jumped into the fight.

Few weeks ago, when Sen. Hugh A. Butler of Nebraska wanted to father an investigation of federal corporations' unchecked handling of funds, the leaders deterred him. They pointed out that Sen. Harry V. Byrd of Virginia was dealing with that issue, and they suggested that it would be more effective to let a Southern Democrat plague the administration. The Nebraskan held off, but now he is co-sponsor with the Virginian of a bill to reorganize the lending agencies not affected by the George bill.

The explanation is that the opposition thinks it sees a chance to widen the cleavage between Democratic conservatives and liberals, and is willing to give a helping hand to the cause.

OCCUPATION: American military leaders do not share the general belief that mopping-up operations in Germany and in the Philippines will be ardous or protracted. They believe that a comparatively small force of mechanized and aerial units will be sufficient to disperse hostile groups which offer last-ditch resistance.

The plane, the tank, heavy and mobile artillery and modern means of communication provide the occupying powers with weapons for quick and effective concentration against enemy groups. By the same token, the cumbersome size of the facilities essential for waging even guerilla warfare will make it easy to confiscate German or Japanese arms.

Our experience in territories that the Allies have already occupied reveals that the civilian population has no heart for further suffering. Although sullen and noncooperative, even in such a region as Alsace-Lorraine, the people offer no serious opposition once Nazi troops and Gestapo agents are expelled from their midst.

Special American, British and Russian units have not been waiting until a German surrender to prepare for the tasks which actual occupation will present. They have been making preliminary studies since before D-day in Europe and Gen. Douglas MacArthur's return to the Pacific archipelago. Last, the United Nations Army of Occpation counts on assistance from anti-Hitler factions on the continent and friendly Filipinos in their area.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

A SURVIVOR of the Santo Tomas camp of internees in Manila says that the prisoners could gauge the progress of the war by their treatment.

If things were on the up and up for Tokyo, the American civilians were not abused. When they were bullyragged and punished, the victims knew that somewhere the Jap army or navy was being given a pasting.

Military psychologists gather reports of such incidents in an attempt to fathom the minds of our inscrutable foes—for if we can forecast their behavior, we can better prepare to deal with them as our armed forces advance on Nippon. We have not yet plumbed the depths to which this strange race may go.

LEMAN

"Their fanaticism on Saipan and Luzon," declares a correspondent who spent more than a score years in the Orient, "will be nothing compared with the madness they will display in their home islands."

One of a small band of newspapermen captured at the outbreak of the war is now in New York recuperating. While in prison the Japs made him squat on his heels for days; every time he toppled over from exhaustion they beat him with clubs. As a result he became paralyzed and was repatriated. On his release the Nipponese jailer blandly asked him to sign a paper stating that at all times kindness was shown to him.

NURSES: The practice of employing "suicide squads" to crash their planes against American warships is now extended to the land forces. We did not meet much formal resistance from enemy divisions on the march to Manila, but we more than had our hands full.

The Japs devised a novel system of defense; men armed with grenades in covered foxhiles were left behind. They lay concealed while advance guards passed over their hiding places.

Then, when a group of soldiers or a supply vehicle approached, they rushed out, pulled the pins from their bombs and willingly blew themselves to bits in an attempt to wipe out their targets. Others hid in grounded American planes and patiently waited until crews climbed aboard before they exploded their "suicide grenades."

An officer in New York back from the Pacific relates that our troops surrounded a field hospital. The Japs sent out five women nurses. Our patrol went forward to escort them to our lines. As the two parties met the monkey men opened fire, deliberately killing their own women to have a crack at the Americans.

SAVAGERY: And yet the other day Federal Communications commission monitors picked up a Tokyo broadcast in a Filipino tongue in which the speaker berated the 'brutality" of the people of the USA. He said he had before him one of our magazines containing the photo of a convict on a scaffold.

'Beside this person stands the executioner with an ugly, terrible-looking face!" he exclaimed. "In Japan hanging is not allowed. Moreover, we would not print such awful pictures." This came from a people whose monstrous savagery is again being pictured in specific occurrences by those who lived through horrible experiences in Manila concentration pens and on the Bataan Death March.

GERMS: The Japanese Board of Technology has announced that all scientists will be mobilized. Already, it boasts, they have invented new weapons that will "pulverize the enemy."

This is probably bluff. But our medical men are somewhat disturbed by a hint that the enemy may resort to bacteriological warfare—the organized spreading of disease.

Rumors are afloat that the Nazis will use this as a recourse in a last-ditch horror. The threat is discounted in medical circles as the Germans are fighting on their own soil. The wholesale scattering of germs would be a boomerang.

But top-flight New York physicians frankly admit that such a diabolical scheme might work in the crowded, insanitary cities of Asia which Allied troops must some day occupy. Germ-laden capsules could be dropped by plane or placed in water reservoirs, "swimming holes" and food supplies. An even more macabre method would be for Jap doctors willfully to infect "suicide agents" with bubonic plague and set these "typhoid Marys" loose in the teeming slums of China.

Here And There In Texas

Illogical Legalities Numerous

By GORDON SHEARER
United Press Correspondent

AUSTIN,—There must be something wrong with Texas law or its lawyers.

Either the law itself is so obscure that it needs some drastic revisions, or attorneys are not keeping up with it.

Striking instances of the confusion have been given by the current agitation for a special session of the legislature to excuse soldiers from poll tax so they may vote, and a dispute over whether the governor must appoint a district judge when there is a vacancy.

The late Chief Justice C. M. Cureton of the State Supreme court, when he was attorney general, advised the legislature in 1919 that it was powerless to exempt soldiers from poll tax, but the legislature nevertheless passed an act doing so.

Atty. Gen. Grover Sellers has advised that the present legislature could not free soldiers from poll tax, but again legislators are disputing the decision.

Everybody Confused

For 16 years the state has had an administrative court district system, suggested by the state bar, and given at least tacit approval by the courts. Its validity now has been put to test before the State Court of Criminal Appeals, and the state's attorney has confessed error in that procedure.

How far the laws are confusing even to lawyers is illustrated by the instance of a rather prominent attorney soliciting appointment to a vacant place in the State House of Representatives, though all such vacancies must be filled by election.

IT is the belief of Jeweler Ralph Roessler of Marion, Indiana, that Texas should be embarressed, and possibly a number of Texans might agree with him.

Expressing his upset sentiments in a letter to State Treasurer Jesse James, Roessler said that in April, 1942, he was issued a check on the state for $6.82 "for witness fees after I traveled the many hundreds of miles from northern Indiana to your state to testify for the state in a murder case.

Roessler continues: "When I put this check through our bank, imagine my amazement to have it returned marked 'No Funds.' I was amazed at two things: first that the great Democratic State of Texas didn't have six dollars to its name; second, that anyone representing it would draw a "rubber' check on its funds, something we Hoosiers would be rather hesitant about doing. You know we have laws up here."

It's Good Now!

Still trying to get his check cashed, Roessler says he wrote George Sheppard, state comptroller, who said "I could cash it if I would pay some broker a discount. Checks on the State of Texas being handled by scalpers! Amazing!

"Not long ago I was with a New York publisher who urged me to turn this over to Ripley as a splendid 'Believe It or Not' which I believe would be quite amusing.

"However, I am still holding the check. Maybe you have six dollars in your treasury by now."

As a matter of fact, the general revenue fund warrant which was issued to Roessler is good now, and James has notified him to take it to the bank for cashing.

HOOSIER Roessler, however, was mistaken in at least one of his assumptions — that the "great Democratic State of Texas didn't have six dollars to its name."

Expenses of Texas' state government are paid out of more than 100 special funds. It so happens that the General Revenue fund is the only one of the group which has a deficit, which is now at its lowest level in many a decade.

In fact, majority of the other special funds are flush. During the last legislative session a law was enacted to transfer sizeable fiscal year balances of about 17 special funds into the general revenue fund with the idea of dissolving the deficit.

The balances eventually would have turned the trick, but court action prevented the transfer.

Plan Fails to Work

Beginning January 1, 1945, Texas was supposed to go on a pay-as-you go basis, sometimes referred to as "cash on the barrelhead before merchandise leaves the place." But that isn't possible.

When the cash basis constitutional amendment was adopted by the electorate several years ago, there was a loophole which allows the legislature by four-fifths vote to make appropriations whether or not funds for payment are on hands. At present a majority is required.

The last legislature balked over a proposal to have $20,000,000 state funding bonds issued to pay off the general revenue deficit.

AS to Texas' wealth there is no dispute despite an addendum by Hoosier-Jeweler Roessler which reads:

"Recently at a dinner in Chicago, I heard one of my dear Texas friends expounding upon the magnitude and wealth and resources of the 'Great State of Texas' and I had a 'kick' out of it. Was his face red! Do I get my $6.82?"

Fair Play Demanded

A citizen created a new state department recently — at least he addressed a complaint to a new agency.

It was a telegram addressed to the "State Gambling commission."

The message said there was not fair play at a gambling place in South Texas.

Big Three Maps World Program

is doomed. The German people will only make the cost of their defeat heavier to themselves by attempting to continue a hopeless resistance."

2. A final decision to split Germany into zones of military occupation after victory. The United States, Great Britain and Russia each will occupy a zone, and France will be invited to occupy another. If she accepts, as she is expected to do, the control commission will be expanded to include French members. Victory is to be followed by destruction of Nazism and militarism and elimination of control of German industry capable of war production.

3. A commission will be set up in Moscow to consider the amount of German reparations, and how they should be paid. The communique spoke especially of reparations in kind—presumably labor and goods.

Rankling Polish Issue

4. A formula for settling the rankling Polish issue was agreed upon. It provides for merging the provisional government now recognized by Russia with certain unnamed "democratic leaders" from within Poland and from exile Poles abroad. It also provides that Churchill and Roosevelt recognize Stalin's insistence on the Curzon line as Poland's eastern boundary which gives Russia huge chunks of so-called old Poland including the cities of Vilna and Lwow.

5. Another formula along the same line was disclosed from Yugoslavia. The Big Three said Marshall Tito, who is now running the country from the inside, and Dr. Subasic, the prime minister of the exile government at London, should immediately set up their coalition government as previously agreed on.

6. To provide continuing consultation of the Big Three the chiefs of state agreed that their foreign secretaries should meet every three or four months, beginning in London about the middle of the year.

World Organization

7. The Big Three also made up their minds on the big issue still unsettled in the Dumbarton Oaks plan for world organization and agreed that the United Nations should hold a full dress conference on this plan in San Francisco beginning April 25. The formula for settling the issue which had previously led to disagreement was whether a big power, if accused of aggression, should have a veto power on any action against itself. The formula for settling this dispute will be made known as soon as China and France have been consulted.

8. It was agreed that the Big Three powers should join in assisting any of the liberated or former Axis states of Europe in carrying out measures designed to guarantee the peoples' right to choose their own government. This is one of the most far reaching decisions for it means that from now on the United States may have a direct hand in every European settlement pending the proposed creation of the world security organiation which will give it an even greater role in world affairs.

Great Opportunity

9. The Big Three summed up by perdicting that victory and the Dumbarton Oaks plan together "will provide the greatest opportunity in all history to create a lasting peace," with freedom from fear and want.

The full names of all three of the chiefs of state were fixed to the communique. They appeared in this order: "Winston S. Churchill, Franklin D. Roosevelt, J. Stalin." The document was dated February 11, evidently the day on which it was completed and signed.

It was issued at the White House by Jonathan Daniels, administrative assistant to the President, who for the last two weeks has been telling newsmen that there was nothing he could say about the meeting except for last Wednesday's formal announcement that it was in progress.

Distributed For Release

Today as newsmen pushed into this office, Daniels opened the conversation by saying "Gentlemen, this is it." He then laid down restrictions on release at 4:30 p.m. and distributed copies of the six-page document.

This opened with the statement that for the past eight days the Big Three had been meeting in the Crimea, which is a Russian resort area on the Black sea. There were listed the names of 13 American, 12 British and eight Russian officials, military and civilian, who participated in the talks. It was the military members of the delegations who did the detailed planning for defeating Germany.

While there was no statement that the Russians were joining the British and American military people as members of the combined chiefs of staff, it was said that all three groups would continue to meet in the future whenever the need arises.

Closer Understanding

This made it evident that the conference had succeeded in obtaining closer military understanding and confidence among the Big Three.

It appeared that on many issues each of the leaders had scored a point. The Polish settlement gives Stalin the boundary he had insisted on all along—the Curon—and appears to give a position of primary importance to the Soviet-supported provisional government of Poland, in conflict with the exiled government at London recognied by Britain and the United States. Moreover, Roosevelt and Churchill said that when the present provisional government is reorganized into a "national unity" regime they will establish diplomatic relations with it.

But it was stated that this national unity regime "shall be pledged to the holding of free and unfettered elections as soon as possible on the basis of universal suffrage and secret ballot." And that "all democratic and anti-Nazi parties shall have the right to take part and to put forward candidates."

This insistence on the right of people to vote regardless of political affiliation so long as it is not pro-Nazi, was threaded through the communique and evidently represented a point for Roosevelt who went to the conference primarily to seek agreement on practical application of such Atlantic Charter principles.

The right to vote is one of those set forth in the declaration of liberated Europe as being within the joint protective action of the Big Three.

"The establishment of order in Europe and the rebuilding of national economic life," the declaration said, "must be achieved by processes which will enable the liberated peoples to destroy the last vestiges of Nazism and Fascism and to create democratic institutions of their own choice.

Principle of Charter

"This is a principle of the Atlantic Charter — the right of all peoples to choose the form of government under which they will live—the restoration of sovereign rights and self government to those peoples who have been forcibly deprived of them by the aggressor nations."

The three governments, which will be four if France consents to join them, agreed through Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin, that they would "jointly assist" liberated or former Axis satellite peoples to (1) establish internal peace (2) take emergency relief measures (3) form interim governments representatives of all "democratic elements" and (4) facilitate the holding of elections.

The bluntest statements of the entire communique concerned Germany. There had been much speculation that the Big Three might promise the German people some future conditions which would in effect constitute an appal to them to end the war. But there was no such promise: Only a warning that the longer the surrender is delayed, the worse will be the Germans' plight.

Militarism Must Go

"It is not our purpose to destroy the people of Germany, but only when Nazism and militarism have been extirpated will there be hope for a decent life for Germans, and a place for them in the comity of nations."

After outlining half a dozen specific measures to break up Nazism and German militarism the Big Three reserved the general and unspecific right to "take in harmony such other measures in Germany as may be necessary to future pace and safety of the world."

There was no specific definition of the compensation to be demanded of Germany but it appeared that many demands previously made by the Allies and particularly Russia will probably contribute to the decisions of the proposed reparations commission.

Rebuilding Wrecked Areas

These include the right to use millions of German Nazis to help rebuild Russia and the right to draw heavily on the resources of German industry for help in rebuilding the areas which Hitler's hordes overran. There is no doubt also that Germany will lose some territory, certainly enough of her eastern areas such as East Prussia and most of all of Silesia to compensate Poland for the loss of territory to Russia.

On this latter point Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin expressed agreement in principle but said "they feel that the opinion of the new Polish provisional government of national unity should be sought in due course on the extent of these accessions and that the final deliminaion of the western frontier of Poland should thereafter await the peace conference."

General Peace Parley

This, incidentally, was the only hint in the lengthy document that the Big Three discussed and evidently tentatively agreed upon the need for a general peace conference to liquidate the boundary and other problems of this war.

The section on United Nations organization to preserve peace after the war was the first one of the political problems listed in the communique—a fact which was regarded as significant since it provides the basis for long-range political, economic and social collaboration among nations large and small.

The implication was that the tough issues of immediate cooperation in liberated Europe, such as over Poland and Yugoslavia, had been resolved against a background of agreement among the Big Three that they could attain at least a measure of long range security in the Dumbarton Oaks plan.

Yugoslav Settlement

The settlemen on Yugoslavia appeared to deal chiefly with relatively minor technical problems although there was agreement that the assembly of national liberation should include members of the old Yugoslav parliament "who have not compromised themselves by collaboration with the enemy."

In the main the Yugoslav settlement appears to imply an endorsement by President Roosevelt of the agreement previously worked out by Churchill and Stalin in their meeting at Moscow last fall, except at this time the agreement is set up against a three power guarantee to the Yugoslav as well as all other liberated peoples that when conditions permit they will themselves control their government's through free elections.

Nazis May Be Issuing Fake Death Notices

LONDON, Feb. 12 (AP)—Increasing skepticism over Berlin announcements of deaths of high Nazi officials has led to the conviction here that in the future Allied authorities should check thoroughly before accepting such German claims.

A flurry of synthetic death notices of Nazis high on the war criminal lists is anticipated as the German postion becomes more acute.

Last week Berlin announced that Roland Freisler, president of the so-called people's court, was killed in an American air raid on the German capital. Freisler sent hundreds of persons opposed to Hitlerism to the gallows.

The possibility exists that in this case, and other similar instances, there may have been a delberate death report, followed by a fake funeral, to allow Freisler to start a new life outside of Germany.

Soviet Advances

the Breslau-Berlin superhighway and trunk railway at many points.

Berlin said his tank spearheads already had crossed the Bober at two points near Bunzlau and were rolling on toward the Saxony frontier only 28 miles away.

Sixty-two miles behind Benzlau the imperilled German garrison of Breslau, almost encircled Silesian capital, was fighting desperately to keep the Russians from closing a 15-mile escape gap southwest of the city.

27 Miles From Juncture

Berlin said the northern prong of Konev's offensive had raced up to the Bober river in the area of Naumburg, 40 miles northwest of fallen Bunzlau, and 76 miles southeast of Berlin, putting it only 27 miles from a junction with Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's Berlin front Army menacing Crossen on the central Oder.

These mobile columns, operating 12 miles north of the rail center of Sagen, were cutting in behind German forces anchored between the Bober and Oder rivers in an 865-square-mile rectangle formed by Crossen, Zuelichau, Sagan and Glogau, thus turning the flank of the enemy's Berlin front southwest of Frankfurt.

German broadcasts indicated that the northern flank of Marshal Zhukov's First White Russian Army had pushed to within 15 miles of Stettin, Bedlin's Baltic port at the mouth of the Oder river in Pomerania.

Enter Fortress City

The German high command also announced that Russian siege forces had broken into the center of Schneidemuehl, German rail center and fortress city 90 miles east of Stettin near the Polish frontier.

Fifty miles south of Schneidemuehl the encircled bastion of Poznan was "ablaze from end to end," Berlin said, as Russian shock troops also broke into the heart of that last big Polish city in German hands.

The Germans reported heavy but localized fighting around Frankfurt and Kuestrin on the Berlin front.

Moscow dispatches said that Soviet artillery was pumping shells into Frankfurt day and night.

The Russians also were threatening to encircle Kuestrin, 16 miles to the north, fighting near the railway bridge which crosses the Oder from Berlin to Kuestrin.

the people were behind him resolutely to carry it out?"

Remember The Russians

"Remember," said Dr. Rudolf Semmler, "our troops once were eight kilometers from Moscow and could see the Kremlin. . . . the defense by the Russians of Moscow, Leningrad and Stalingrad is a measure of the efforts we have to make in order not to be put to shame by the endurance of the enemy whose main strength was his fanatical will to live. The British took strength from the same source in 1940."

Semmler declared the Germans still had "quantities of raw materials hoarded in safe places inside the Reich."

Moscow broadcasts reported new clashes and unrest inside Berlin and other cities.

Repatriated Swiss refugees said the German people were too tired and numb to organize a revolutionary movement, but that there was great fear of a foreign wroker's revolt.

their newest blow today at the island outpost of Iwo Jima.

The operation, third major effort by the 20th Air force in as many days, came in the midst of a flurry of enemy radio plains that the B-29s in small force were making tentative pokes at home island points.

Fear Fire Cascade

Another Japanese radio broadcast pointed up enemy fears that a real cascade of fire and demolition from the skies is not far off.

That report told of the establishment of a new air attack warning system for Tokyo and nearby areas.

The first announcement gave no details on the strike at Iwo Jima, 750 miles northwest of the Superfortress Saipan base, half-way to Tokyo. It was a daylight operation. The island, strategic point for interception and warning when the super bombers hit at the main Japanese islands, have been heavily hammered for many weeks.

VATICAN DENIES CHARGE

Elliott's Promotion Confirmed By Senate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12. (AP)—The Senate confirmed today President Roosevelt's nomination of his 34-year-son, Elliott, to the rank of brigadier general in the Army.

The action came on a 53 to 11 vote after the Senate had turned down, 49 to 14, a motion by Senator Bushfield (R-SD) to send the nomination back to the military committee.

Previously, some Republicans charged and Democrats denied that favoritism was shown Elliott over 9,600 army colonels awaiting promotion.

The Democrats also denied charges by Bushfield that Elliott was guilty of conduct unbecoming an officer in the cross-country plane shipment of his dog "Blaze."

Close Working Partnership Seen As Big Step To Speed War's End

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

Of outstanding importance in the final Crimea conference communique of Messrs Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin is their announcement of a joint military staff "close working partnership."

SIMPSON

It bodes ill for Nazi hopes of long staving off a complete military collapse.

That was the basis of the confidence expressed in the "Big Three" summary of the conference that it would "result in shortening the war" in Europe.

It was fairly certain when the first "Big Three" announcement revealed full agreement on concerted military operations as the first action taken that a three-way overall staff control system had been included.

Can Act Quicker

With huge Russian armies breasting or beyond the Oder in the east and American-British-French forces closing in on the Rhine throughout its whole length, direct personal inter-staff communication between the two fronts is possible. Joint operational directives integrating troop movements can now be put into quick execution. Strategy can be reduced to its tactical application and made effective in a matter of hours, not days or weeks.

With the east and west battle lines hardly more than 300 miles apart now at their point of closest approach to each other on the central Oder and the lower German Rhine, intimate collaboration is feasible. That is hardly an hour's flight by a fast military plane.

Armies Come Through

At the very moment that the "Big Three" made public their final communication promising "new and even more powerful blows . . . into the heart of Germany from east, west, north and south," the armies in the field on both sides were making good on that pledge. The Kleve and Pruem bolt positions west of the Rhine fell respectively to Canadian and American armies. Their capture obviously paved the way for a major British-American offensive drive into the Cologne plain from the Roer-Maas line in the center once the Nazi-released flood waters of the Roer subside.

Celestial Navigation Declared Simplified

HOUSTON, Feb. 12. (U.P.)—Simplification of celestial navigation for modern combat use has been achieved in an invention called the astro-bine by Lieutenant John C. Cable of Ellington field, it was revealed today.

The new contrivance, to be described in the February issue of the "Log Of Navigation," navigation organ of the AAFTC, may mark the opening of a new era in air flight, in the opinion of air force officials.

Cable's invention simplifies celestial navigation by sighting two stars simultaneously, giving a "fix" directly, without further manipulation.

Examinations for State Positions Scheduled

AUSTIN, Feb. 12. (AP) — The merit system council today announced it would hold examinations for positions in the State Department of Public Welfare, the Texas Unemployment Compensation commission and the United States Employment Service March 17.

Candidates are urgently needed for field workers, junior claims examiners, claims interviewer and other positions, said Dr. Charles S. Gardiner, supervisor.

Oil Transport Truck Operators Asked To Extend Week Hours

Petroleum truck operators are asked to put the nation's 16,000 over-the-road tank trucks to work a minimum of 130 hours a week moving vitally needed petroleum supplies, N. F. Nelson, Lubbock district director of the Office of Defense Transportation, said Monday.

Where operators use equipment less than the desired mimimum hours, they are urged to lease such equipment to any pertoleum carrier or shipper who can utilize it when idle.

Nelson said that a recent survey revealed that there are approximately 800 over-the-road petroleum tank trucks of more than 3,000 gallons capacity in operation in this six-state region. The survey also showed, he said, that these recently have been operated an average of 110 to 115 hours a week.

Average Increased

Nelson said the average had been increased by for-hire operators of over-the-road trucks because most of them are in use as much as 150 hours a week. These operators, he said, have been doing their utmost to relieve the railroad tank car critical situation.

"We understand the Washington order to apply to those who have operated tank trucks principally in their own businesses the number of hours most convenient without regard to the war need," Nelson said.

Cooperation with the request to fully use tank truck equipment is imperative, he said, because of the serious reduction in petroleum stocks brought about by the current rail transportation crisis and increased military requirements.

Shortage Acute

He pointed out that failure of a number of owners of tank truck equipment to lease equipment on a part time basis has forced the granting of a considerable number of ODT permits for the use of rail tank cars on short hauls, thus depriving the armed forces and the public from the use of these cars in long hauls.

He added that the ODT does not wish to indirectly penalize operators willing to lease equipment and is taking appropriate steps to aid such operators in meeting their manpower, tire, replacement parts and equipment needs.

Tank truck operators were warned, however, that present equipment be fully used before permission to acquire new equipment is granted. Petroleum carriers and shippers were requested to notify the ODT Liquid Transport department in Washington of refusal of any concern to lease idle or partially idle over-the-road tank truck equipment.

Production Of Bomb Containers Revealed

BEAUMONT, Feb. 12. (U.P.) — Two Gulf Coast plants — one at Beaumont and the other at Port Arthur—have been producing for the last year special watertight containers in which to float anti-personnel bombs ashore from invading warcraft.

The U. S. Steel corporation said today that Beaumont and Port Arthur plants of its petroleum iron works division make the bomb containers from steel oil drums, making it possible for 500-pound fragmentation bombs to be floated onto invasion beaches from cargo ships.

From the Gulf Coast area, it was said, the containers go to the Lone Star Defense corporation's plant at Texarkana, where they are equipped with death-dealing explosives.

CIO Favors Economic Subjugation Of Reich

LONDON, Feb. 12 (AP) — Complete economic subjugation of Germany for years to come was endorsed by the CIO today before the world trade union conference.

J. B. Carey, secretary - treasurer of the CIO, said the organization favors internationalization of a part of the Reich's industrial areas, and believes German labor should be required to rebuild war-wrecked Europe.

Sometimes there's an extra rush on Long Distance

Every day, millions of hands reach for the telephone to use Long Distance. Most of those calls go through quickly.

But sometimes there's a crowd on certain lines. Then Long Distance will say, "Please limit your call to 5 minutes."

That helps everybody.
