UN General Assembly Meel Due

By BRUCE W. MUNN
United Press International

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—Western diplomats predicted the U.N. Security Council would act quickly today to set up an emergency session of the General Assembly on the Middle East beginning Friday. Indications were the session would be on U.S. terms. The council, summoned by Russia, was scheduled to meet this afternoon.

It had two resolutions to consider, one by the United States and the other by Soviet Russia, both calling for an emergency convocation of the 51-member assembly.

The U.S. resolution will be taken up first and appeared certain to be approved by the 11-member Security Council. The Russian resolution was as certain to be rejected. There can be no veto on the vote.

Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev dumped the Middle East issue into the lap of the General Assembly in a sudden shift in tactics, apparently a result of his talks with Chinese Communist leader Mao Tse-tung in Peiping last week.

In so doing, Khrushchev rejected Anglo-American proposals for a summit meeting within the council which he denounced as a tool of the United States.

But Soviet and Red Chinese propaganda machines were going all out to put the blame on the West for torpedoing the summit talks. The official Communist Party newspaper Pravda asserted Russia "has emphasized that in the present tense situation the swift summoning of a conference of the heads of government at a summit level is particularly necessary."

Red Chinese newspapers supported Khrushchev's opposition to a summit-council meeting and criticized the United States for insisting the assembly should discuss its resolution ahead of the Soviet resolution demanding withdrawal of U.S. and British troops from Lebanon and Jordan.

Officers Probe Shooting Here

Deputy Sheriff Buck Haggard said today that the T. J. Veal home, located seven miles northwest of here, was shot at last night. Haggard said that three .22 rifle bullet holes were found at the Veal home this morning.

He said that one of the bullets went through the bedroom of the house and destroyed a mirror. Sheriff's officers are still investigating the incident.

Explorers IV Sending Back Information

IOWA CITY, Iowa (UPI)—Data from America's newest satellite, Explorer IV, has disclosed the band of intense radiation surrounding the earth is composed of an invisible rain of charged particles "probably from the sun."

Carl E. McIlwain, research assistant to space scientist Dr. James Van Allen, said Wednesday the particles "readily" penetrate a 1-16-inch lead coating over one of the geiger counters in the satellite.

Witness Is Held In Custody In The 'Human Torch' Case

By JERRY CHIAPPETTA
United Press International

FLINT, Mich. (UPI)—State Atty. Gen. Paul Adams said today police have in custody a witness who saw the attempted bombing of a Flint dry cleaning shop where Frank Kierdorf apparently was turned into a human torch.

Adams said "We do have such a witness in protective custody. We prefer not to say where. He came in voluntarily to police. We interviewed him last night in Flint."

He refused to say whether the witness had identified either of the two men he saw.

Kierdorf, 36, an ex-convict and Teamster business agent for Flint Local 332, staggered into a Pontiac hospital about 1 a.m. Monday, his body blackened and charred by burns from head to foot.

The expected complications from his horrible burns have set in. He has "serumic snow" on his skin and doctors say his kidneys are not carrying away the poisons in his system.

Kierdorf told police through his swollen lips late Monday that two unidentified men had taken him "for a ride," and threw fuel on him and set fire to him.

But authorities spotted discrepancies in his story and later police found evidence of an attempted bombing of the dry cleaning shop.

The witness turned himself in to police at Port Huron Wednesday night and was rushed to Flint to confer with Adams.

He was driving on a highway which runs from Flint to Port Huron about midnight Sunday when he heard the explosion at the cleaning establishment.

The witness stopped his car and saw the two men running from the building. Then he heard the anguished screams of a third man inside.

It was after Adams conferred with the witness that the attorney general held his early-morning news conference and announced his belief that Kierdorf was a victim of his own arson attempt.

Parade Winners Named

Second Rodeo Show Tonight

Spurred by the big parade, the 14th Top O' Texas Rodeo burst into the arena last night, opening its four night run in Recreation Park, east of Pampa. Tonight, cowpokes will complete the first go round of bareback and saddle bronc riding, calf roping, double muggin', bull doggin', bull riding, cowgirl and cutting horse contests.

Winners in yesterday's parade, announced during the performance, were the Childress Jaycees' float, Girl Scout float, Roberta's Flowers, Tom Rose Motor Company, country doctor and wife in black buggy, Boys Ranch wagon, Wheeler County Sheriff's posse and the Erick (Okla.) Riders.

The opening show mixed F. T. Barnum with Buffalo Bill. The bucking broncs that have become a rodeo trade mark left the chute to the music of the Ruby Nance Band and the bulls who "don't like anything that moves," said the announcer, went crazy trying to catch two clowns.

Kelly and Timber, with their trainer Ernie Smith, showed what a couple of smart movie dogs can do.

The afternoon's parade, with bands, banners, floats, girls and horses, wound up on Brown after its triumphal push down Cuyler. With the Amarillo Air Force Base Band in the lead, the procession merged into the Shamrock and Erick (Okla.) Riders, Hutchinson and Wheeler Counties Sheriff's Posse, the Pampa and White Deer Roping Clubs, wagons from Boys Ranch and the Flying Y's. Then came the cars loaded with Kit Kats, Hep Cats, Altrusa Senior Girls, Las Creas girls.

There was Linda "Miss Pampa" Steele in a motor boat, pistol packing Kit Kats on their Club float and Sub Deb Clubbers on another float.

Other attractions were the Atlas missile on the Air Force truck and the girls in the crown of the Childress Jaycees' float.

Two go rounds will get the winners in the Top O' Texas World's Champion Amateur Rodeo. Last night, judges named the top cowboys in all but the bull riding event. There will be no winners until tonight's show completes the first go round. "No riders" was declared in the Bull Riding Contest last night.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI)—The Air Force fired a Boreas intercepter missile by remote control today in a test of both the weapon and the nation's new automatic detection and firing system.

The band of radiation was uncovered by earlier satellite information. It begins about 600 miles above the earth and, McIlwain said, appears to double in intensity about every 80 miles.

He said Explorer IV has transmitted data which show intensities 1,300 miles above South America equivalent to 10 roentgens an hour.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Eisenhower administration drew near a major legislative victory today as the House called up for certain passage a bill to extend the reciprocal trade program for an unprecedented four years.

The trade program has been extended 10 times before in its 24-year history but never for more than three years at a time.

The current bill would authorize the President at any time up to June 30, 1962, to negotiate and sign trade agreements carrying tariff cuts of up to 30 per cent.

The House also was slated to consider a bill to provide 20,000 four-year college scholarships for bright students in the fields of science and foreign languages.

Welfare funds: The House passed a bill to force public operation of employ welfare and pension funds after beating down a Republican move to exempt management-run plans. The bill now goes to the Senate which passed a different welfare fund disclosure bill last April.

Farm: Republican leaders lost a gamble when they engineered defeat of a new farm bill which would have provided some of the price support reductions the President wanted. They pushed for a quick vote on the measure in hope of getting action later on a bill containing even more concessions to Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson's demand for lower price props. But Speaker Sam Rayburn said no new farm legislation would be considered this year.

Debt: The House voted to grant President Eisenhower's request to raise the temporary national debt limit from 280 billion dollars to a record 288 billion dollars and the permanent ceiling from 275 billion to 285 billion. The measure now goes to the Senate where it seemed certain to pass.

Defense: President Eisenhower signed the defense reorganization bill and hailed it as "a major advance in our organization for defense." The signature ended one of the hottest disputes of the current legislative session between Congress and the administration. The final version gave Eisenhower most of the power he wanted to streamline the Defense Department.

19 Are Missing, 25 Hospitalized

By JOHN M. LANGONE
United Press International

NEWPORT, R. I. (UPI)—Two tankers, one loaded with a million gallons of gasoline, collided in dense fog and burst into flames off Ft. Adams, spilling crewmen into a fiery sea.

Of the 50 men aboard the two ships, 6 were known dead. Nineteen were listed as missing and 25 were taken to hospitals, several critically burned.

The larger ship carried 38 men, the smaller 12.

The larger of the ships, the 10,000-ton S.S. Gulfport out of Philadelphia, still was burning out of control at 9:30 a.m., 2½ hours after colliding with the coastal tanker S.S. Graham in a half-mile wide channel at the entrance to Narragansett Bay.

The flaming 501-foot Gulfport went aground not far from the wreckage of the Norwegian tanker Belleville which ran aground last September during President Eisenhower's vacation here.

The Graham went aground at the southern tip of Rose Island. Like Shell of Dynasite.

Preliminary reports indicated both ships exploded on contact; the Coast Guard said at Boston. A spokesman said neither ship had time to put lifeboats in the water.

Rear Adm. E. J. Roland, commandant of the 1st Coast Guard District at Boston, said an investigation board would be set up at once.

Engineer Melvin J. Wroten, aboard the fully loaded Graham, said "It was like a stick of dynamite. It was awful and it was beautiful and, oh my God, I lived through it."

Wroten was the last to leave the Graham with Capt. Karl Anderson of Chester, Pa. He said the fire flashed along the port side of the ship, then gasoline-fed flames licked to the starboard side where the men were attempting to launch a lifeboat.

"We all ran forward," he said, "and dove into the water. By the time the lifeboat hit, it was all aflame. But most of the men were saved and all but one boy wore lifejackets. I got to him a few minutes after we were in the water."

"Fire was everywhere, I didn't even see the other ship."

"That Terrible Fog!"

The Gulfport, owned by the Gulf Oil Corp., delivered 120,000 barrels of oil Wednesday. Providence and was sailing for Port Arthur, Tex.

The Graham is owned by the S. E. Graham Transportation Co., of Gladwyne, Pa. The Graham, a 1,500-ton, 250-foot vessel, was loaded with gasoline.

Capt. Clay T. Evans of the ferry boat Newport, which interrupted its run to Jamestown Island opposite Newport to pick up survivors, said "There was fire all over the water."

"You couldn't see more than 100 feet," he said, "the fog was so bad. The traffic from the rescue boats was terrific. We had to detour around the area. There was so much fire but you just couldn't tell how much because of that terrible fog."

US Proposal Discussed In IGY Meeting

By ROBERT MUSEL
United Press International

MOSCOW (UPI)—Scientists meeting here have discussed a U. S. proposal which could put Americans and Russians side by side in the first ship that carries a crew into outer space, it was reported today.

American sources said the plan, proposing cooperation rather than competition in some areas of space research, was mentioned—but not formally submitted—to the resolutions committee of the International Geophysical Year Assembly at a meeting Wednesday.

They explained the proposal will not be introduced formally here because it is already pending before the International Council of Scientific Unions.

Foreign delegates expressed some interest in the plan.

"The United States appears to think there are certain spheres of space research where there should be international cooperation rather than competition," one foreigner said.

"I have the impression this would extend even to the first space flights."

No Soviet comment could be obtained immediately, but some foreign observers pointed out Russian space pioneer Konstantin Tsiolkovsky urged years ago that the first space ship should carry scientists of all nations.

The Russians already have registered their willingness to cooperate in a continued exchange of scientific information after the International Geophysical Year formally ends on Dec. 31.

The resolutions committee voted Wednesday to extend the scientific exchange for at least a year, under the name of "International Geophysical Cooperation 1958."

TOURIST 'ARREST'

The Childress Jaycees took first and the Top O' Texas Girl Scouts, second, of the civic club or organizational entries in the parade. Roberta's Flowers was first in the commercial categories; Tom Rose was second. The doctor's buggy, riding Mr. and Mrs. O. Mangold, was judged the "Most Typical Ranch Entry" and the Boys Ranch wagon, second most. First of the riding clubs was the Wheeler County Sheriff's posse with the Erick Riders, number 2. Three hundred dollars is still riding the horns of a Brahma in the gold rush. Anyone entered in the Rodeo may make a dash for the ticket but so far no one has gotten close enough to get rich or go red. Every night that the ticket remains on the bull's horns, the gold rush pot goes up. A special feature of tomorrow night's performance will be the Beef Calf Scramble which is expected to be a melee between Panhandle farm boys and the calves they hope to secure.

California Couple First 'Tourist-Of-Day Captives'

Pampa's first Tourists of the Day for 1958 enjoyed a gala round of entertainment and other courtesies presented by Pampa's merchants Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Wingard of San Diego, Calif., were "arrested" at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday afternoon by Pampa Chief of Police Jim Conner and Deputy Sheriff Shirley Nichols. After the officers explained the Chamber of Commerce tourist program, the Wingards, en route to Pine Bluff, Ark., gladly accompanied their "captors" to the "L" Ranch Motel, the Chamber host for the day.

Also on the Wingard itinerary Wednesday were the Top O' Texas Rodeo yesterday evening at the rodeo arena east of Pampa and supper at the Colonial Inn on North Hobart. The Wingards also received red roses from Roberta's Flowers and a wash and grease job and a full tank of gasoline for their automobile, courtesy Murphy's "66" Service.

The show at the rodeo arena Wednesday evening was the first rodeo Mrs. Wingard, a native of Wichita, Kans., had ever seen. It was Wingard's first Texas rodeo. He is presently stationed with the U.S. Navy at San Diego, holding the rating of sonarman first class. The Wingards are en route to Pine Bluff to visit Mr. Wingard's parents.

The Pampa tourist program came at an especially opportune time for the Californians, as the couple had been driving since early Tuesday morning. Both guests were presented with maps of Pampa, as well as rodeo pamphlets, decals, and stickers for their auto. Mr. and Mrs. Grant Anderson, official hosts for the day to the Wingards, also presented the visitors with a souvenir plate trimmed in gold and depicting Pampa industries.

Pampa and Gray County officers were to make another arrest this afternoon in connection with the Chamber of Commerce Tourist Development Committee program. Jim Poole is the committee chairman.

Scheduled for today to insure a festive stopover in Pampa for the second day of the Tourist of the Day program are dinner at Johnson's Cafe, lodging at the Pampa Hotel, car service courtesy of Kemp's Humble Station, and a gift bouquet from Redman's Gardens. Today's visitors will also be guests of the Top O' Texas Rodeo Association for the 8 p.m. performance. Official hosts for the occasion will be Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Trimble.

The Present Tourist of the Day program is a refinement of the Chamber's Tourist of the Week program begun in the summer of 1952. Formerly, local officers "arrested" out-of-state visitors once each week during the summer. However, since the rodeo now provides entertainment particularly representative of the Panhandle area, the present Chamber committee's plan calls for a condensed program limited to rodeo week.

COLLISION

First to reach the scene was the Coast Guard cutter, Laurel from Castle Hill, R.I. Other cutters from New Bedford and Woods Hole, Mass., joined fire, Navy and Coast Guard cutters from Newport and other nearby bases. Army helicopters from Otis Air Force Base, Mass., also were summoned.

Scene of the crash today was about 70 miles from the spot south of Nantucket Island where the liners Andrea Doris and Stockholm collided in July, 1956, sending the Doris to the bottom with a loss of more than 50 lives. The rescue of about 2,100 passengers from the stricken vessels was called the greatest sea rescue in history.

Jake Erwin Rites Set Tomorrow

Jake Erwin, 420 N. Warren, who had been in ill health for the past five years, died at 4 p.m. yesterday in his home.

Mr. Erwin, born June 21, 1902 in Cisco, was a carpenter and contractor and had done contracting in New Mexico, Oklahoma and Pampa. He was married in Oct., 1938 to Minnie Harmon, who survives him.

Other survivors are his mother, Mrs. Pearl Erwin, Pampa; one brother, Russell of Odessa; one sister, Mrs. Lillian Wade, Snyder. Funeral services will be held at 3 p.m. tomorrow in the Central Baptist Church with Rev. Thurman Uphaw and Rev. Carroll B. Ray of the Perryton Baptist Church officiating. Burial will be

MENTAL DISEASE HOSPITALIZATION IN THE UNITED STATES

MENTAL DISEASE PICTURE—Newsmag above shows the geographic variation in number of mental patients in state, county and Veterans Administration hospitals throughout the U.S. New York outranks every other state. Its rate was 648 per 100,000 population. At the other end of the scale are New Mexico and Arizona, only about one quarter of the New York rate. Variations are accounted for partly by differences in the age and sex composition of the populations, but mainly by differences in the availability of hospital facilities. In 1956 and 1957 there were decreases in the number of resident patients, although the number of admissions continued to increase. This indicated that more patients, though not cured, were spending more time out of hospitals. Data from Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.

Naguib Is Egypt's 'Forgotten Man'

By WILBUR G. LANDREY
United Press International
CAIRO (UPI)—What has happened to Gen. Mohammed Naguib, the forgotten strongman of the Egyptian revolution?
Chances are you'll find him playing tennis or reading newspapers at the Al Marg mansion in a northeastern suburb of Cairo.
It was Gen. Naguib, then 51, who led the revolt that deposed King Farouk late in July 1952, and later became president and premier of Egypt.
But the shaggy-haired, rugged-faced general was in turn ousted by Gamal Abdel Nasser and put under arrest in November, 1954.
Nasser said in an interview last year that Naguib had been sentenced to 10 years' house arrest by a military tribunal.

Now, Naguib lives a life of ease at the mansion. He cannot leave the grounds, but he is completely free. He even sends out for meals from Cairo's best restaurants to vary his fare.
There are reports he talks to Nasser by telephone. But Nasser last year told an interviewer that he does not see Naguib.
The Al Marg "palace" has over 20 rooms surrounded by gardens and farm plots where Naguib spends most of his day playing tennis with the officers guarding him or receiving friends and relatives who are allowed to visit.
Occasionally he hunts pigeons and ducks.
The general still rises early every morning to play tennis, read the papers and have breakfast with his family. The newspapers and magazines he reads come from all over the world—no reading matter is withheld from him.

Naguib never misses a radio news bulletin and was reported joyous the day of the Iraqi revolt. He has three wives. Each spends a week with him in turn.
Most of his children are abroad at foreign schools—studying at government expense. Naguib himself wanted them to study abroad and often calls them by long distance telephone.
Naguib writes and receives frequent letters from relatives and friends.
But otherwise, he is the forgotten man of Egypt. The local press no longer mentions him.
"I do not seek personal power," he once said. "I want to rid Egypt of its enemies. I must, because if I fail Egypt will fall to dust."
Now he has finished his job, forced out of the way while Nasser seeks to solidify the Arab nations.

AN UNHAPPY ERROR—BILLINGS, Mont. (UPI)—After Pepe le Pew, a tame, deodorized skunk, escaped Monday night, his owners were happy to hear a skunk had been spotted in the basement of a nearby residence.
The owners, telephone operators Frances Moore and Jessie Guthrie, went to the scene and captured the skunk.

Segregation Is Still A Hot Political Issue In The South

By RAYMOND LAHR
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler has driven the South wing of his party to avoid another Dixie walkout in 1960.
And Democrats in parts of the South, notably Georgia and Alabama, already this year have sharpened the tools to cut loose from the national party in 1960 if they feel they cannot swallow the civil rights plank of the platform.
Butler has repeatedly predicted the Democrats will approve a strong racial rights plank at the convention when they nominate their 1960 presidential candidate.
In a radio interview this week, he visualized it as the most "positive and forthright" in the history of the party. He scoffed at the possibility that it might be softened as a gesture to the southern feeling indicated by Gov. Orval Faubus' spectacular renomination in the Arkansas primary last week.
Mixed Voting Trends
Reflecting southern white resistance to mixing races in public schools, Faubus' victory is bound to stiffen the backs of both wings of the Democratic Party on the civil rights issue. It was fresh evidence for many Southerners that no retreat on the segregation issue is almost indispensable to political survival.

It also will encourage northern Democrats to take a firmer position on the civil rights issue lest they become identified in the minds of Negro voters with the southern Democratic Party now symbolized by Faubus.
Much can happen in the two years between now and the 1960 convention. However, continuing Federal Court pressure to end race segregation in schools leaves the Democrats little hope that the issue will somehow vanish before they next meet to nominate a candidate for president.
Southern primaries have shown mixed voting trends so far this year. Before Faubus' renomination, Texas Democrats renominated Sen. Ralph Yarborough, a moderate who voted for the civil rights bill last year. But they gave control of the party machinery to the conservative faction.
Rugged Battle in 1960
In the Alabama primary, Democratic loyalists lost control of the party machinery to conservatives who want to keep the door open for possible withdrawal from the national party in 1960.
The next big southern test comes Thursday in the Tennessee primary, where Sen. Albert Gore, another moderate who voted for the civil rights bill, is fighting for renomination. Democrats here view Gore as the favorite, but incumbents normally are favored unless a political upheaval is in the offing.

In any case, the 1960 Democratic convention shapes up as another rugged battle. There will be southern delegates eager to walk out and Northerners eager to push them out, hoping that Faubus will go out with them.
A southern bolt in 1948 led to formation of a third party, which failed to prevent the re-election of President Truman. The peacemakers foiled efforts to throw out some of the southern delegations in 1952.

Chapter VIII in the Borden Quality Story

Cindy finds out why Borden's is the best-tasting milk!

"I know where a real cold room is. At the Borden plant. The nice Borden man told me milk tastes better when it's kept real, real cold. I took my ear muffs and gloves 'cause I had to help push things. I simply love Borden's Milk."

Here in Pampa ...

The best-tasting milk is Borden's! It's rich and creamy—thanks to a quality control program that starts with the fine dairy herds on farms in this area and doesn't end until the pure, fresh milk reaches your family. No wonder so many families drink Borden's—the best-tasting milk in town!

Walter Rogers Reports:
Agency Is New Approach In Political Philosophy

Air Problems
The Congress last week, acting through the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, of which I am a member, favorably reported a bill designed for the purpose of meeting the challenges posed by the air problems of the future. Cumbersome methods of procedure, involving endless red tape in many instances, have been blamed by a number of air-minded people for the difficulties experienced in recent years in air traffic. These problems, of course, include the traffic crashes that resulted in the loss of many human lives.

The proposed bill is, in many respects, a new approach in political philosophy. Much power has been concentrated in one individual, probably more than has ever been concentrated in an individual regarding any single segment of the economy. We have tried to temper these concentrated powers with certain safeguards that will prevent abuses or encroachments upon the constitutional rights of our people. But, I must warn that we are embarking upon a trial and error procedure that may produce many faults. The operations of this new agency, known as the FAA, must be watched with the greatest alertness and vigilance.

We have undertaken to prevent its domination by the Military. Actually, the primary responsibility of the success of this operation will lie with the head of the civil government, to wit, the President of the United States, who, incidentally, is also Commander-in-Chief of all the armed forces of this nation. Under our political philosophy, it must be remembered that the President is the Commander-in-Chief of the armed forces of this nation because he is the head of the civil government. He is not the head of the civil government because he is Commander-in-Chief of the Armed Forces. In other words, it is highly important that this vital mode of transportation, which is not only interstate by its very nature, but also international and inter-continental, be controlled by the civil government; and, of course, that the Military demands yield to the requirements of the civil government. Ample provision is made in the bill for full and complete use of air space for the defense of this country.

The bill is the product of the minds of the Administration, both civil and military; the air industry, itself, both in the production of aircraft and in the use of the same for commercial purposes; the private aircraft owners and pilots, and the Members of Congress who have given much study to these problems through the years. The agency will be a highly technical agency whose primary responsibility will be the lives and safety of those using the airways of this country.

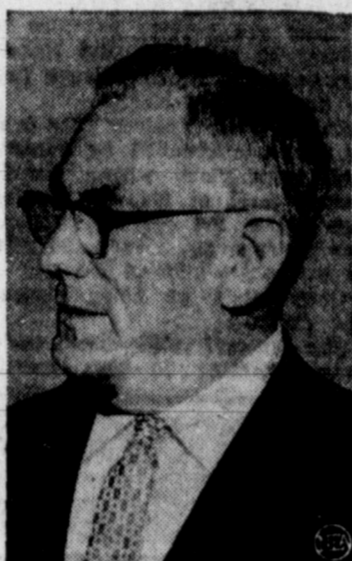

We are presently on the horizon of the age of jet propelled commercial aircraft. By this means we will be able to travel from coast to coast and from continent to continent in a space of a few hours, if not minutes. Our next horizon will be the advent of space travel. It is a matter of life or death for our country, if not to us as individuals, that we keep abreast of the advance of civilization, particularly in this field.

Local Air Matters
Speaking of air matters, I received a letter from the CAA advising that, because of the air traffic growth at the Amarillo Air Terminal, a new approach lighting system has been allocated to that terminal. This system offers the pilot of a plane a vital margin of safety while landing the aircraft at night and during bad weather.

er. It also makes the airport capable of a faster aircraft acceptance rate. Our section of the country is particularly adapted to the use of air travel because of our widely advertised great open spaces; therefore, all air accomplishments and betterments are of tremendous importance to us, as will be evidenced by future developments.

Other Transportation
Legislation for the purpose of shoring up and stabilizing another mode of transportation was given final approval by the Congress last week. I refer to the Transportation Act of 1958, which reached its final form only after exhaustive research and study on the many problems plaguing the common carrier system of this nation. Although I was not in complete agreement with the manner in which some of the problems were attacked, it is my feeling that the bill, as a whole, will provide the necessary balance that will enable the railroad industry to continue to successfully operate, and avoid the need for the nationalization of any segment of that industry. A common carrier transportation system is as vital to a nation as the blood system is to a human being. Under the circumstances, when any branch or portion of that over-all circulatory system becomes impaired to the extent that those operating that particular branch can no longer do so as a private enterprise, the burden falls upon the government to assume the operation thereof in order to provide the complete system necessary. This, of course, is the first

A Family Outdoor Breakfast

Some lovely Sunday morning, try preparing breakfast on your outdoor grill! Cook everything from delicious roasted apples to crisp brown sausages with egg and a buttery hot bread to go with it all!

Apples... fix them the night before with orange marmalade, walnuts and lemon juice. The bread... an unsliced loaf cut in thick slices, spread with softened butter and poppy seeds. Both of these get wrapped in foil and stored in the refrigerator, ready to put on the grill in the morning. Sausage and eggs cook in pans... one for each person... that you shape from foil.

It's Fun and Easy

All of this breakfast is easy and fun. Even the fire is easy to build... all you do is sprinkle charcoal briquets and granular starter from a clean foil package into the grill. Touch with a match and while you're assembling the food the fire will get going into a nice bed of hot coals. You won't so much as soil your fingers using foil packaged briquets!

After breakfast, cleaning up is no chore since everything gets served in its own silvery holder with paper plates and cups to help out. And the whole beautiful outdoors makes breakfast so much more enjoyable! Just try it some time soon.

Core large baking apples and peel skin from upper part. Place on squares of heavy duty aluminum foil. Fill centers with orange marmalade, top with chopped walnuts and sprinkle with lemon juice to keep cut surface from discoloring. Wrap up in foil, twisting at top to close. Store in refrigerator until ready to cook. Place on the grill over medium heat and cook about 45 minutes. Test for doneness by piercing with fork through foil. To serve, turn back the foil attractively to form foil dish.

Poppy Seed Bread

Buy an unsliced loaf and cut in thick slices down to, but not through, the bottom crust. Stand on a large sheet of foil. Mix softened butter with poppy seeds, or sugar and cinnamon, if preferred. Bring the foil up over the bread and wrap, but leave opening at top for steam to escape. Heat for about 20 minutes on the grill over medium heat. Tip over on both sides for part of time for even heating. Serve from foil.

Breakfast Eggs and Sausages in Individual Pans

Brown and serve sausages butter or margarine eggs salt and pepper

Make double thick squares of heavy duty foil 5 x 7 inches. Turn up edges 3/4 inch all around and mitre corners to hold firm. Brown sausages quickly right on the grill over direct heat. Place little pans on grill and add a dab of butter or margarine to each. Place the sausages in pans and break in the eggs. Let eggs cook until firm. Sprinkle with seasonings. If the day is breezy, cover pans with foil so eggs will cook on top. Transfer pans with broad spatula to paper plates for serving.

Though Weather Outside Is Hot, Muggy Dessert Indoors Can Be Really 'Cool'

Although it's hot and muggy outdoors, you nevertheless want to try to keep the summertime meals you serve your family up to your rest-of-the-year standards. That extends all the way to the crowning touch for any repeat, dessert.

They needn't be complicated or time-consuming to be good. Jiffy Brownies, for instance, go together in minutes in just one saucepan. Serve them as is, or top each fudgey square with a scoop of pink peppermint ice cream.

A "freezable" dessert is sure to be a success with the homemaker who makes good use of her food freezer. Such a dessert—or, at any rate, the important part of it—is Butter Crunch Pastry. Make the tart shells to freeze. When you're ready to use the rich, fragrant pastries, fill them with a simple packaged pie filling and top with a sprinkling of toasted almonds or shredded coconut.

The fascination of a Baked Alaska lies in its contrast of hot meringue on the outside, and cold ice cream within. Serve it straight from the oven for a really dramatic dinner finale.

JIFFY BROWNIES

1 cup sugar coated corn flakes
2 squares (2 oz.) unsweetened chocolate
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla flavoring
1/2 cup sifted flour
1/2 cup chopped nuts
Crush sugar coated corn flakes into medium fine crumbs. Melt chocolate and butter together in heavy 2-quart saucepan over low heat; remove from heat. Add sugar and stir until well-blended. Add eggs and vanilla; beat well. Stir in flour, sugar coated corn flakes, crumbs and nuts.

Spread in greased 11 x 7-inch pan. Bake in slow oven (325 degrees F.) about 30 minutes. Cool and cut into squares.

Yield: 35 1 1/2-inch squares

BUTTER CRUNCH PASTRY SHELLS

4 cups corn flakes
1 1/2 cups sifted flour
1/2 cup butter or margarine
3-4 tablespoons cold water

Crush corn flakes into fine crumbs. Place flour in mixing bowl. Cut butter into it with a pastry blender or two knives until the mixture resembles coarse corn meal. Add water until the dough clings together. Mix in corn flakes crumbs. Turn onto a lightly floured board and roll out. Cut into circles and shape into tart shells.

Prick shells with a fork. Bake in a very hot oven (450 degrees F.) about 10-12 minutes or until lightly browned. Let cool slightly, or freeze right on pan and take off frozen. Then remove from pans. Fill with suitable filling. Handle carefully, as these are fragile.

Yield: 12 shells

BAKED ALASKA A LA CORN FLAKES

4 cups corn flakes
1/2 cup butter or margarine
2 tablespoons sugar
1 quart ice cream
3 egg whites
6 tablespoons sugar
Dash salt

Crush corn flakes into fine crumbs. Blend butter and sugar. Stir in corn flakes crumbs; mix well. Press evenly and firmly around sides and bottom of a 9-inch pie pan. Chill. Pack ice cream into chilled pie shell; freeze until very firm. Beat egg whites with salt until soft peaks form. Gradually beat in sugar. Spread meringue over ice cream, being sure ice cream is completely covered. Brown in very hot oven (450 degrees F.) about 6 minutes. Cut into wedges and serve at once.

Yield: 6 servings

Chicken Pilaf Has Foreign Glamour With Down-To-Earth Nourishment

Don't let the summer doldrums creep into family menu planning. Use top of stove cooking—or an electric skillet for cool preparation of hot dishes. And now to perk up lagging appetites, look for a recipe that has added dash. Do we have a suggestion? Yes—the answer is Chicken Pilaf.

Serve Chicken Pilaf with a crisp green salad and you have the basis of a menu interesting enough to entertain guests.

Chicken Pilaf has a hint of foreign glamour, but it has down-to-earth nourishment for it is enriched with instant nonfat dry milk—the "heart of milk." Instant nonfat dry milk is top-quality pasteurized milk with only the fat and water removed and it is an important source of vital milk nutrients—protein, calcium and riboflavin. It is extremely economical for the family-size package makes 12 quarts of nonfat milk for as little as eight cents a quart.

CHICKEN PILAF
(Makes 6 to 8 servings)

4 tablespoons butter
2 cups sliced cooked chicken
1/2 cup chopped onion
4 tablespoons butter

1 1/2 cups uncooked rice
3 chicken bouillon cubes
3 cups boiling water
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon thyme
1/2 teaspoon poultry seasoning
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 cup coarsely chopped walnuts
2 cups liquefied instant Starlac nonfat dry milk
Melt 4 tablespoons butter in skillet; saute chicken and onions in butter until onions are tender. Remove butter from skillet; saute rice in butter over medium-high heat, stirring constantly, until golden brown. Dissolve bouillon cubes in boiling water. Stir chicken-onion mixture, seasonings, makes 12 quarts of nonfat milk for as little as eight cents a quart. has been absorbed. Stir in liquefied instant Starlac nonfat dry milk; cover; simmer until chicken-riced mixture is just moist. Garnish with chopped green pepper and pimiento, if desired.

'Minute' Steaks Take A Minute

Any type of short order sandwich is a valuable aid to the modern-day homemaker.

With August being Sandwich Month, it goes without saying that the average homemaker will be on the lookout for interesting ways of creating a new sandwich. To help you along in this endeavor Reba Staggs, home economist well known in the field of meat cooking, suggests "Minute" Steaks.

It takes just a minute to prepare and the list of ingredients is indeed short. "Minute" steaks, French dressing, lard or drippings and hamburger buns—that's all there is to it. Just wait until you taste that tangy French dressing flavor on the meat. It's a short order sandwich recipe you're sure to keep handy.

"MINUTE" STEAK 'BURGERS

4 "minute" steaks
1-3 cup French dressing
1 tablespoon lard or drippings
4 hamburger buns, split and tasted

Dip steaks in dressing to coat both sides. Brown quickly in lard or drippings. Serve in toasted buns. Yield: 4 sandwiches.

Jim 'Maverick' Garner Is The Scourge Of Warner Brothers

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Jim (Maverick) Garner is the scourge of Warner Brothers Studio where moduls and fellow actors constantly attempt to dodge his rollicking sense of humor.

One day this week Jim stationed himself at a table just inside the studio commissary. Anyone entering or leaving was fair game.

First to walk by was Gary Cooper.

"They wanted him to play my brother in 'Maverick,'" Jim observed in a loud voice. "But he wasn't tall enough. No talent."

Coop blushed and moved to a remote table.

Garner spotted little Nick Adams, an eager youngster with a large teen-age following, and motioned him to the table. Beaming hopefully, Nick rushed over.

"You did a great job in 'No Time for Sergeants' kid," Jim said expansively. "You'll go far."

"Gee, thanks, Jim," Nick answered, preparing to stick around for further praise. But Adams

Inflation Haunts Congress

By VINCENT J. BURKE
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The specter of a new price-boasting wave of inflation today haunted a Congress which devoted much of its energy this year to anti-recession spending.

There was growing belief among many lawmakers — and it was voiced publicly for the first time Tuesday by an influential Democrat — that the real danger now facing the country is the prospect of a new upsurge in inflation rather than further deflation.

The shift in attitude now under way placed in doubt the fate of half a dozen proposed new spending programs on which Congress has not yet completed action. But there was no sign that their backers planned to give up the fight for them.

The new concern over inflation was compounded by last week's boosts in steel prices which will increase the cost of many goods and services; the current stock market boom; and — perhaps most important of all — the disclosure nine days ago that the federal government now expects to put 12 billion dollars more into the economy through its spending programs than it collects in revenue this fiscal year.

Barbara Burns Pleads With Mother To Take Her Back

By RICK DU BROW
United Press International
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Barbara Burns, 20-year-old daughter of the late comedian, Bob (Bazooka) Burns, pleaded with her mother today to take her back "now that I've licked the narcotics habit."
"I'm trying to set my life in order, and the love of my mother comes first," the tall, slender, au-burn-haired girl told United Press International.
"I guess I disappointed mom and dad from the beginning," she said. "They wanted me to go into high society and that sort of life, but I wanted to be a singer and actress and they couldn't understand it."
"Maybe it was because I was so heavy. I was always being teased about being fat and had such a complex that I was ashamed to go into our swimming pool. I lost 45 pounds taking narcotics, but it's better to be fat than to do it that way."
Barbara, who was placed on two years' probation after being convicted of a misdemeanor narcotics charge last June 9, said the last time she saw her mother was in March, 1956, shortly after her famous father died.
"That was before the narcotics," she said. "I just decided I had to leave home and seek my career my own way."

"I took an apartment in Hollywood, but I had led such a sheltered life that I was naive. Before long, I was hanging around with addicts in the places along Sunset Boulevard and elsewhere. Soon I was one of them. They promised me I could lose weight fast that way."
Last Jan. 7, Barbara was seized with two men in a raid on her apartment.
Several months later she married the man convicted of being her supplier, film technician David J. Mack, 27, during his trial.
"I was warned not to testify against him and was scared," she said. "So I married him. But I'm having the marriage annulled. I haven't seen him once since he's been in jail."

Abraham Lincoln received his license to practice law in 1836.
Dwight D. Eisenhower, in 1956, received the largest popular vote in U.S. history.

The tornado and tidal wave that struck Galveston, Tex., in 1900, claimed 6,000 lives.

IT'S A FOOLER—National TV is giving the country a look at a show that has fascinated Los Angeles for some time. "Traffic Court" is a re-enactment. But it is so cleverly done that one case, when it was a local show, drew 250 phoned offers to help a defendant, plus $3,750 in cash. "Judge" is Edgar Allen Jones Jr., of a law school staff.

Business Views

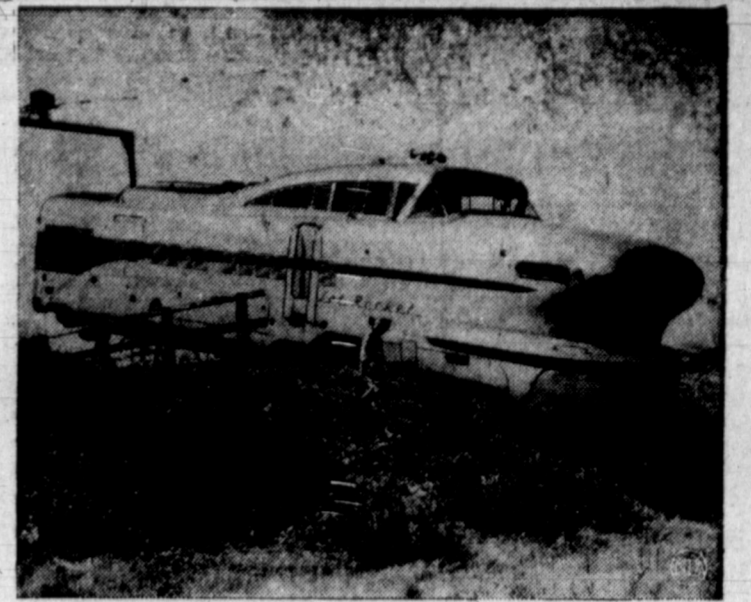

United Press International
Stockholders of the New York Central and Pennsylvania railroads may be asked to approve a merger of the two roads by the end of this year, Alfred E. Perlman, Central president, said. He said one major detail yet to be ironed out is an "equitable" exchange of stock by the two railroads.

E. R. Quesada, President Eisenhower's special aviation assistant, says higher airline fare may be required to enable the industry to attract outside financial backing for the four billion dollars it plans to spend on jet equipment. In a formal report he also said success of the transition to jets depends partly on whether air transport firms "vigorously develop new travel markets."

The steel industry is "well armed with evidence" to justify the latest round of price increases averaging $4.50 a ton or 3 per cent, Iron Age said. One of the biggest weapons, the magazine said, is the fact that at least five companies were in the red during the first half of 1958.

Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. says August will be a better month than July and September will show further improvement. Chairman J. L. Mauthe said he is convinced the industry is moving out of its recession and that a period of "good healthy growth" lies ahead.

Sears, Roebuck & Co. is planning the largest underwritten debenture offering ever made by an industrial company—350 million dollars to be used partly for continued expansion of the retail and mail order divisions. The offering would exceed the 300-million-dollar debenture offering by U.S. Steel Corp. last month.

ROCKET SLIP—No outer space craft in the wrong orbit, this "Jet Rocket" is actually the diesel locomotive of a Rock Island Railroad train. It wound up in this embarrassing position after accidentally sliding off a turntable in Chicago, Ill., while being turned around.

Meat Muffins
 It's true... here's a recipe for tasty Ham Muffins. Simply combine 1 pound ground smoked ham, 1/2 pound ground lean pork, 2 cups cooked macaroni and cheese and 1 egg. Grease 12 small or 8 medium size muffin cups. Fill cups with meat mixture and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 45 minutes.

dew tell!

by Doris E. Wilson

Pampa News Women's Editor

Lots of nice things have been happening in Rodeo Town this week. For instance, friends and neighbors of Marilyn Bell out in the 1900 block on North Nelson really surprised her with a party on Tuesday morning in the home of Marion Pharr, 1923 N. Nelson. The party was in the form of a Farewell Coffee to show Marilyn, who taught school for a time at Horace Mann, how much they had enjoyed knowing her during her residence here. The hostesses, Marion, Martha Morgan and Ann DiCosimo presented Marilyn with a set of TV trays.

The Bells are moving to Pecos, where Frank has been transferred by Core Laboratories Inc. Having as much fun and enjoying the party as much as any of the adult guests was the brown-eyed, 17-month-old Bell heir, William, who toddled around greeting and smiling at everyone!

Looking as radiant as a bride-elect should look, Miss Wanda Wehrung was honored with a bridal shower on Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. John Haggard, 1301 N. Russell. She is the bride-elect of Bob Bradshaw of Amarillo, whose wedding is to take place on August 14 in Amarillo. Wanda and her mother, Mrs. W. E. Laughter, are former residents of Pampa, now living in Amarillo.

Ceta Canyon, where a group of local junior Methodists are spending this week, is a lovely spot for "camping - out." From the rim of the canyon, where a large cross, lighted at night, stands, you can see the white buildings trimmed with green, nestled on the floor of the canyon. Tall, tall trees, winding roads, huge rocks form a primitive setting for the very modern camp. Our high heels didn't permit much scouting around to see all of the camp-site, but we were impressed with the tennis and volley ball courts, the swimming pool built in natural surroundings, the open-air church, the recreational building, the dining hall, and the cabins. Some of the out-door worship centers around the camp are imaginative. One called "The Green Cathedral" and "Alibi Rock." The local group attending are expected to return on Friday afternoon, following parent visitation and luncheon.

Old Doc Stork, complete with high silk-hat and a pince-nez perched on his bill, stood gracefully in the center of the dining table at the Lullaby Shower given Tuesday evening in Johnson's Restaurant for Mrs. Cecil Tedrow. Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. Kerwin Kaaz and Mrs. Ray Deisher; guests attending were members of the Tops O' Texas Club.

From a free-hand drawing, Mrs. Kaaz created Doc Stork wearing the high hat, nose glasses, a yellow vest with gold buttons and the ever-ready "little black bag" tucked under his wing. Gaily decorated ceramic baby-shoes held yellow and white daisies. Plate favors were stick-shaped safety-pins standing in yellow, coconut-bon-bons. To enhance the color scheme of yellow and white, miniature baby-shoes, fashioned from a felt-like material, were filled with yellow and white mints and nuts. Every other place setting had a yellow shoe tied with white pickled-ribbon; alternating places had white shoes tied with yellow ribbon.

Mrs. R. H. St. Aubyn, former Pampa resident and club member, now living in Ferris, was a special guest.

Following dinner and a social hour, during which games were played, Mrs. Deisher presided during a brief business meeting as new club officers were elected.

Bride's Shower For Miss Maul

Miss Barbara Maul was honored by a group of her friends with a bridal shower given in the home of Mrs. W. B. Archer, west of the city, recently. Assisting hostesses were Misses T. R. Archer and Haldene Suttle.

The honoree and her mother, Mrs. George Maul, were presented with white carnation corsages.

Mrs. Suttle presided at the register after guests were received by Miss Maul and Mrs. Archer. Games comprised the entertainment with prizes won by Mrs. Bert Robinson and Mrs. Ralph Byrum.

The serving table was covered with a lace cloth over blue centered with a blue and white carnation arrangement in which daisies floated at the base of the crystal bowl.

Two heart-shaped cakes inscribed with Barbara and Bob were served by Mrs. W. B. Archer, while Mrs. W. H. Suttle presided at the punch service.

Guests were Misses Virginia Sloop, Sharon Maul, Donna Byrum; Misses Mena Paterson, Leona Willis, Bert Robinson, Chester Nicholson, Bobbie Brunnett, Ralph Byrum, George Maul, Mrs. Allie Byrum, bride-elect's grandmother, Bill Maul, W. B. Archer, T. R. Archer, Haldene Suttle.

Sending gifts but unable to attend were Misses H. W. Waddell, Cecil J. Bryan, Neal Britnell, and Jesse Brown.

Mrs. Kaaz was elected to serve as president of the group with Mrs. Jack Hall named to the office of vice president. Mrs. Randall Schultz is to serve as secretary-treasurer.

Attending the party in addition to those already mentioned were Misses Mary Keith, Betty McGuire, Beth Killingsworth, Ruth Rice, Kay Harris, and Shirley Laminack.

And news of note from the four-legged Animal Kingdom in keeping with Rodeo season, is that Chico is a mighty lonesome little Chiquita this week. It seems that his mistress, Mrs. Lydia Nichols, 2309 Mary Ellen, is off vacationing in Truth Or Consequences, N.M. and Chico is wearing the carpeting thin making several rounds a day checking all the spots in the house where he is accustomed to seeing her. Chico has been left in good care, but her appetite and general good-naturedness won't return to normal until he sees his mistress again.

And Hell's fire, fine, old family cow, belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Walker, stopped her grazing in sudan last week, long enough to give birth to a bright-eyed, bushy-tailed heifer. Hell's Fire has mooded her consent to naming the new baby, Tinker Bell.

Miss Smith Feted At Bride's Party

A bridal shower honoring Miss Johnnie Lee Smith, bride-elect of Gary Griffin, was given recently in the parlor of the First Methodist Church. Hostesses for the party were Misses Walden Moore, Cecil Williams, Leroy McBride, Aubrey Jones, Joe Massengale, R. T. Coley, Sharon Haralson, J. T. Wells, L. T. Clyburn, Lee Garrison, M. S. Heard, Hubert Phillips, Coy Palmer, and Willard Henderson.

The bride-elect's table was spread with a white organdy cloth over yellow centered with a floral piece of Killian daisies and yellow mint wedding bells. The focal point of the table was the white cake decorated with yellow wedding bells, yellow roses and the yellow-tinted punch containing an ice-cream of white daisies, to carry out the honoree's chosen colors of white and yellow.

Serving at the table were Mrs. Richard Morgan, Anita Wedgeworth and Mary Young. Mrs. Morris Wilson of Canadian was guest registrar.

Assisting Miss Smith with her gifts was Miss Nita Joe Massengale. Approximately eighty guests called or sent gifts during the evening.

Confidential To "Lonesome" one thing that's worse than being alone is being with someone who makes being alone a pleasure.

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend who has a 12-year-old daughter who isn't even five feet tall and I'll bet this kid weighs over 200 pounds. My friend says a growing girl has to eat so she lets her eat half a cherry pie with a quart of milk at one sitting. I have seen this same child put away six pork chops with half a bottle of chili sauce, and six slices of bread. Maybe it's none of my business, but if you were me would you say anything? The child has a pretty face, but she is in such bad shape they can hardly find clothes to fit her.

SILENT FRIEND
 Dear Silent: A real friend should remain silent any longer. No child needs food in these amounts to "grow." The mother should take this youngster to a doctor immediately. The "reason" for over-eating is an illness in itself, which can be cured.

DEAR ABBY: I am in my late thirties. There is a man about 50 who is interested in me. He says he loves me but he can't see me in public as he has to protect me from some woman he has been going around with for about 15 years. Should I go with other fellows or stick with him? Please advise me.

HIDING OUT HIMSELF? He sounds like a pretty shady character. There's no future in seeing a man who can't take you out in public. Lose him.

DEAR ABBY: We'll be married forty years the 10th of October and here is my problem. My old man starts looking out our dining room window every evening at 5:30 p.m. and doesn't quit looking until 5:55. When I ask him what he's looking for he tells me he's enjoying the view. The only view we've got from that window is the view of the bus stop. Why do you think he does this? Do you think he could be looking to see one certain woman or do you think he is looking them all over in general? This has me worried.

WORRIED
 Dear Worried: There's no harm in looking, but if you are really worried, why don't you join him and enjoy the "view" together? After 40 years you should know from what you see if your husband is enjoying someone in particular or everyone in general.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is charge accounts. My wife and two daughters seem to think that if they charge something they are getting it for nothing. When the bills come at the first of the month we have a big argument. They say they will not charge any more, but they forget their promises as soon as they get downtown again. Any suggestions you have will be appreciated.

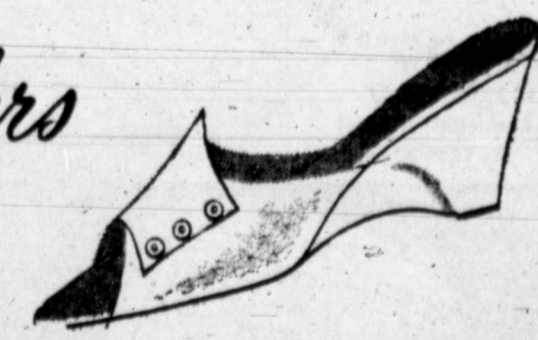

IN HOCK
 Dear In: Close the charge accounts and put the "girls" on an allowance.

DEAR ABBY: I want to ask you a question. If Santa Claus brings us the presents, and the Good Lord gives us our daily bread, and the stork brings the babies, what do we need men for?

LITTLE GIRL
 Dear Little Girl: When the present is the wrong size, the bread

Atom Bomb Didn't Create Birth-Freaks

By DAY INOSHITA
United Press International
Hiroshima, Japan (UPI) — The Hiroshima and Nagasaki atom bombs did not create dwarfs or freaks.
So far, there is no evidence that they have affected the growth of children, either physically or mentally.
These opinions were concurred in by both Japanese and American doctors in Hiroshima and Nagasaki on the 13th anniversary of the Hiroshima A-bomb.
Their observations were based on independent and joint scientific studies into one of the most widely feared effects of nuclear warfare today — the nightmare birth of a race of freaks.
The studies are still in progress. The results of one of the most extensive studies along this line — the biochemical assay of hormones of 1,700 children exposed to A-bomb radiation in their mothers' wombs — by the U.S.-directed Atomic Bomb Casualty Commission and an unnamed Japanese university is to be made late next year.
But the scholars believe their tentative conclusions are based on sound foundations.
The timing of these investigations is especially significant because the unborn children of Hiroshima and Nagasaki are now entering puberty — that stage when children grow into adults.
"This is the period when any evidence of any change should be measured," said Dr. George Darling, director of the ABC. "It would have to be within the next year or two that this study would have to be carried out."

Japanese research into the effect of radiation on schoolchildren has been concentrated chiefly in Nagasaki.
Dr. Nariyuki Izumi, director of the Nagasaki University Hospital and a leading authority on children's diseases, said, "Our studies of children in Nagasaki show almost no difference among children exposed to the atom bomb and those who were not in weight, height, resistance to illness and immunity. We found it difficult to believe but that is what our studies showed."
Dr. Ichiro Hayashi, professor of pathological anatomy at the same university, said, "There may be some individual cases of feeble-minded children and other freaks. But I found no extreme effects attributable to the atom bomb."
Darling commented, "When the results are in on our study, we may have scientific basis for a definite reply. But our studies so far agree with those of the Japanese doctors in Nagasaki. We don't expect any real difference one way or another."

"OPERATOR!" — A mazing scene like this one of a dog using the phone will add hilarity to a forthcoming Walt Disney movie, "The Shaggy Dog." It's built around a 17-year-old who discovers he can change himself into a sheepdog. The dog even drives a hot rod.

JAY STARTS TREATMENTS

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — Milwaukee Braves pitcher Joey Jay has been ordered to start heat treatments for the pulled tendon in his right elbow. Jay sustained the injury in a game against the Los Angeles Dodgers Tuesday night. He will be re-examined Saturday.

TV Is So Bad This Year That 'Masquerade Party' Welcome

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — "You know how bad this TV season is?" a friend said the other day. "I'll tell you — I'm actually looking forward to the summer debut of 'Masquerade Party'."

Well, Monday night was the night wishes came true. "Masquerade Party," a show that pops in and out of TV, popped in with the regularity of little liver pills. Over the past couple of seasons, the show has been on NBC-TV and ABC-TV and Monday night, it migrated to CBS-TV. About the only outlet left is the Siamese booth at the Brussels World's Fair.
"Masquerade Party" weighed in with emcee Robert Q. Lewis and a painless panel made up of Jonathan Winters, Pat Carroll, Eugenia Falkenburg and Johnny Johnston. It was their chore to guess the identities of celebrities who showed up in disguise.
Among the celebrities were Louis Nye, Tom Poston, Don Knotts and Peter Lawford, all of them fugitives from NBC-TV and very nice of CBS-TV to have them around, I must say. However, their appearances made for some pretty tame stuff.
Not so with the appearance of another guest, Kathryn Grayson, who was dressed as a harem queen. Miss Grayson, of course, is the former wife of panelist Johnny Johnston. This bit of casting may strike you as a rather incredible piece of bad taste, but then the ways of show business are mysterious and unfathomable to day people.
Anyway, Miss Grayson was all finger and jolliness with the panel until Johnston's turn came around and he gracefully refused to play. After that, Miss Grayson turned kind of short and snappish in answer to questions. I would say it was an almost excruciatingly embarrassing moment for the viewer.
However, emcee Lewis was not quite ready to drop it. "I'm curious to know why you passed," Lewis said to Johnston after Miss Grayson's identity had been guessed.

"Well, when you're married to someone for five years, you get to know their points pretty well," choked out Johnston in part.

Miss Grayson playfully swatted her former husband on the cheek and flounced off — stage in the wrong direction.

I guess in a way you could say it was the highspot of the television evening.
Short Shots: Dennis Hopper and Vivian Nathan turned in good performances Monday night in a moving CBS-TV "Studio One" drama, "The Last Summer" . . . One of the highlights of ABC-TV's "Stars of Jazz" was the showing of an X-ray of tenorman Charlie Ventura's rib cage — Ventura recently broke five ribs in a fall from the bandstand.

The Channel Swim: Talent Associates, the outfit that produces the CBS-TV "Du Pont Show of the Month," is planning "Ben Hur" as a February spectacular. . . CBS-TV's "Your Hit Parade" will feature such guests next season as Billy Eckstine, Andy Williams, Helen O'Connell, Cab Calloway, Bob Crosby, Tony Arden, Georgia Gibbs, Joni James and Les Paul and Mary Ford.

CBS-TV is burying its afternoon daily, "Beat the Clock," after Sept. 12. It'll be replaced on Sept. 15 by the "Jimmy Dean Show." George Hamilton IV will take over Dean's Saturday afternoon CBS-TV show.
John Wayne's son, Pat, is ticketed in for the ABC-TV "Dick Clark Show" on Aug. 16. . . CBS television film sales division is now offering CBS-TV public affairs reruns of such shows as "See It Now" and "Conquest" is stations around the nation. . . Cy Howard, creator of "My Friend Irma" and "Life with Luigi," will write "Music U.S.A.," a special that CBS-TV will deliver on Sept. 8.

TIME ON HIS HANDS—West German Postmaster General Richard Stuecklen is allergic to ear-benders. So he worked up the gimmick he holds above. His "brush-off machine" consists of four hour glasses of the type used to time three-minute boiled eggs. Underneath each is a label reading, in order, Introduction; Get to the Point; Hurry Up; and Finish. When the sand runs out in the last one, the visitor is politely ushered out.

Record Number Of Prisoners

WASHINGTON (UPI) — There were more inmates in U.S. prisons last year than in any other year in the nation's history, the Federal Bureau of Prisons reported.

But the number of women prisoners declined.
In a year-end review, Bureau Director James V. Bennett reported that there were 195,414 prisoners confined in state and federal jails and reformatories on Dec. 31, 1957.

The growing prison population, 5,849 inmates or 3.1 per cent over 1956, was due partly to an increase in commitments to state institutions, Bennett said.

It means there were 116 prisoners for every 100,000 persons in the country as a whole.

Verdi's opera "Aida" was commissioned for use as part of the festivities celebrating the opening of the Suez Canal.

Actress Wasted On NBC Tuesday Television Show

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — Views and Reviews: Beatrice Straight was wasted on pretty funny boo-boo: An actor walked into a scene with a knife handle, plainly sticking out of his back — 20 seconds later, he was stabbed and turned to reveal what was supposed to be the just-planted weapon.

UNDERCOVER WORK—Lindy Boody appears really stretched out as she takes it easy in a circular bed ten feet in diameter in Miami, Fla. Actually, the foreground feet belong to her 13-year-old sister, Diane. Their father, Charles Boody, isn't too happy about the $1,750 bed, which he won on a TV show. He wants to sell it, since he can't figure out how to get it in the house.

I caught a few moments of CBS-TV's "Keep Talking" during "The Investigator" commercials and the show still strikes me as a pleasant exercise in tomfoolery... one further thought on Monday night's "The Last Summer" on CBS-TV's "Studio One": I can't recall montage ever being used on TV as effectively as it was by Director John Frankenheimer — he inserted three or four montage sequences to set the mood of scenes and they were done with awesome skill.

Democrat Sam Rayburn's face was used as a clue on Monday night's NBC-TV "Haggis Baggis" and the Republicans got equal time — Joe Martin's face was used as a clue on CBS-TV's "Bid 'N' Buy". The Charlie Ventura group on ABC-TV's "Stars of Jazz" Monday night had a drummer with a skinhead like Yul Brynner: Wild.

My friends assure me it's a defect in my critical equipment, but I continue to be entranced by ABC-TV's "Pantomime Quiz." I think watching celebrities play charades is a fascinating insight into their character — Eva Gabor is impatient and breaks the rules, Elaine Stritch is grimly aggressive, Howie Morris is feverishly wacky, Dorothy Hart is happily efficient, Dick Clark is well-mannered and terribly self-controlled and Mill Kamen is not of this world, but in the best possible way.

TIRING WORK—This inquisitive youngster is going to be a "tired" young man before he succeeds in moving this 3,355-pound giant at the Firestone plant in Akron, Ohio. The world's largest production tires, they are nine feet tall and each one contains 1,763 pounds of natural rubber, 418 pounds of fabric and more than five miles of bead wire. The huge tires are used in transporting complete pumping stations over the Saudi Arabian sands.

Brown, Star Starter Tomorrow

By ED FITE
United Press International
HOUSTON (UPI)—The North will have a slight height advantage over the South when the two teams take the floor for the 14th Samueli for the North and George

Carlisle of Clear Creek for the South — announced their starting lineups. Carlisle's decision to start his two shorter outside aces, Billy Wilbanks of Belton and Troy Hinson go with his other tall boys wiped out what had been expected to be Wilbanks and Hinson are only six footers and will match in size the North's two six-foot guards—Bill Brown of Pampa and Phil Reynolds of Waxahachie.

Little Difference
Black reinserted 6-4 Jim Curtisinger of Hereford into his North lineup to go with forward Bobby Bernard of Graham (6-5) and post man Jan Loudermilk of Big Spring (6-6) after Curtisinger's ankle injury healed.

Wednesday with the South having the worst of it this time. Tackle Wiley Hart of Glen Rose, a 6-2, 215-pound Class A all-state star, was knocked out of the Saturday night classic when someone stepped on his right hand in a blocking drill and fractured a small bone in the back of the hand. The break was placed in a cast.

Venturi's Putting Is Back On Its Target As He Eyes Miller Open

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—Slim Ken Venturi's putter is back on target again to make him the favorite for an unprecedented second straight title in the $35,000 Miller Open golf tournament starting today at Tripoli Country Club.

The slightly built San Franciscan said the tourney was "wide open," but fellow pros considered him the man to beat in the 72-hole medal tournament which ends Sunday.

Every top name in golf, except PGA champion Dow Finsterwald, was in the 150-man field shooting for the $9,000 prize. Finsterwald withdrew late Wednesday because of business in New York.

Out Of The Past

Whatever Happened to JESS HARPER
United Press International
Most every student of football knows the spiral forward pass became a popular offensive weapon in 1913 when Notre Dame half-back Gus Dorais kept firing the ball to end Knute Rockne in a 25-13 upset of Army. What may have been forgotten is that a grid genius named Jess Harper coached that famed Fighting Irish team. Harper led the Irish to 32 victories, only five defeats and one tie in a five-year coaching span at South Bend, Ind., and when he retired in 1917 he nominated Rockne as his successor. After Rockne's death in a plane crash, Jess returned briefly as Notre Dame athletic director but retired again after two years.

But, when the coaches start pouring the reserves into the contest, the height edge will revert back to the South because of taller reserve players.

HERB ELLIOTT... runs again tonight

Prospecting while wondering whatever happened to Pat Patton.

IN MILE, 3:54.5

Herb Shatters World Record

DUBLIN, Ireland (UPI)—Without any time off to celebrate his astounding new mile record of 3:54.5, Australian running machine Herb Elliott heads right back to the track tonight for another race, this time at either a half-mile or two miles. Elliott's statement to meet officials that he's ready for another top-flight race flabbergasted them almost as much as his "miracle mile" Wednesday night amazed the crowd that came to root for Ron Delany and stayed to cheer Elliott to the echo.

Sports Shorts

Campy Works

NEW YORK (UPI)—Roy Campanella begins a new career as sportscaster on Aug. 11. The hospitalized former Dodger catcher will serve as host on a five-minute sports show to be aired by radio station WINS from 6 to 6:05 p. m. e.d.t. five days a week.

Changes were good that Elliott would hook up in another duel with Delany tonight, especially if the Aussie elected to run the half-mile. Elliott's triumph goes into the books as the most amazing mile race in history since five runners all broke the four-minute barrier. Four of them were under the accepted mile mark of 3:58.0 held by Australian John Landy. Elliott said today the record was due to "perfect conditions."

Yogi Walloped

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Well, it happened—Yogi Berra was hit on the face while trying to catch a ball in the outfield. The wags around the American League had predicted the Yankee catcher might be injured when he switched to the outfield last month. During pre-game practice Wednesday night, while Berra was shagging balls in the outfield, a fly ball struck his glove and hit his left eyebrow causing a wide gash.

He listed: (1) the track, which was firm and springy after a light rain; (2) the pace — "just terrific"; (3) the competition; (4) "The wonderful enthusiasm of the Irish crowd for their terrific applause on my last lap."

Giant Killer!

SOUTH ORANGE, N. J. (UPI)—John Cranston, the left-handed "giant killer" from San Marino, Calif., goes gunning for his third major upset in as many days today when he opposes Ham Richardson in the quarter-final round of the Eastern grass courts tennis championships. Cranston turned in his second straight upset Wednesday when he eliminated Wimbledon and Australian champion Ashley Cooper.

Three stitches were necessary to close the wound. Elliott's fractional times were: 58 seconds for the first quarter; 1:58.0 for the half; 2:59.0 for the three-quarters. He ran the last quarter in 55.5 seconds.

Hither & Yon

Sev-hey: Willie Mays admits on a recent leaves show that his famed basket catch is partly influenced by the fans' approval of same. The fans might not be so enthusiastic about the style if Mays dropped a fly ball in a crucial spot. But he never seems to fail.

Racing Shift

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (UPI)—The New Jersey racing season shifts to Atlantic City today when the seaside race track opens a 90-day program that runs through Oct. 4.

The program will be highlighted Sept. 13 by the $100,000 United Nations Handicap which may bring together Round Table and Gallant Man in what can be the race of the year.

Oh, Pain!

What price glory? They tell a story around the locker rooms of the Apple Creek Country Club in Bismark, South Dakota, about a hole-in-one, but had to get down a five on his score-card.

His first two shots on the 120-yard No. 7 landed in a creek, costing him two strokes. On his third drive, he connected for a hole-in-one.

Davis Ranks Tops As US Cinder Star

BUDAPEST, Hungary (UPI)—Glenn Davis' unbroken string of victories capped by a new 400-meter hurdles world record established him today as the top star of the United States track team's tour of Europe.

Davis has won all six individual events he entered in meets at Moscow, Warsaw and here, plus other victories in relay races. In addition, he's expected to score another "double" in the United States vs. Greece meet at Athens on Saturday and Sunday. The U. S. squad was scheduled to leave by plane today for that city, winding up its brilliant tour in the country that gave birth to the Olympic Games.

Davis zoomed to a new world mark of 49.2 seconds for the 400-meter hurdles Wednesday. That clipped three-tenths of a second off the record of 49.5 seconds that Davis established during the tryouts for the 1956 Olympic Games.

It also led the United States men's team to an unofficial 127-68 victory over the Hungarian men's team in the two-day competition at Nep-Stadium. No official count of points was made.

In addition, the U. S. women's team, which had been outscored both by the Russians in Moscow and the Poles in Warsaw, outpointed the Hungarian girls, 64-54. U. S. men won 14 of 17 events, U. S. women seven of 12.

Tom Courtney of Livingston, N. J., won the 800-meter event but failed in possibly his last real attempt to break the world record of 1:45.7 held by Belgium's Roger Moens. The U. S. Olympic champion won the event easily but had to settle for a clocking of 1:47.0.

Other records were set by Margaret Matthews of Atlanta, Ga., who established a new American record for the broad jump when she won that event with a leap of 20 feet, 3 1/4 inches; and Earlene Brown of Los Angeles, who set a stadium record in the women's shot put with a heave of 52 feet, 11 1/4 inches, and Al Hall of Hanson, Mass., who won the men's hammer throw with a heave of 214 feet, 3 1/4 inches, another stadium record.

Was Bethea Bout 'Bagged'?

CHICAGO (UPI) — Tony Vone, co-manager of conquered heavy-weight Wayne Bethea, charged today his fighter's defeat by Sonny Liston Wednesday night was "bagged."

"The referee never should have stopped the fight," Vone said. "Sure, he was bleeding, but it was from the gums and not from cuts, and he wasn't hurt."

Vone charged after referee Bernie Weissman in the ring after he halted the bout at 1:09 of the first round yelling it was "in the bag. I can see it in your face. I can see it in your eyes."

Betha, "knocked down" for the first time in his 28 pro fights, said he never was groggy or hurt, and "he never should have stopped the fight."

Frank Gilmer, chairman of the Illinois Athletic Commission and a former referee, said "If I'd been the referee, I'd have done exactly the same thing."

"When a boxer is hit and turns completely around and makes no effort to face his opponent and staggers off to the side still with his back to his opponent and gives every appearance of not having his faculties, the only thing a referee can do is protect the fighter from possible serious injury," he said.

Gilmer said that if Vones does not bring his charges before the commission, he would be requested to appear for a hearing to show proof of his charges or his license would be revoked.

Truman Gibson, president of the International Boxing Club, offered champion Floyd Patterson $250,000 to defend his title against Liston because "he's not one of those slappy guys, but a real puncher and the kind of fighter who can breathe life into the division."

Wheeler Faces Fladoos Today

CHICAGO (UPI) — Defending champion Shery Wheeler, Glasgow, Ky., faced Sharon Fladoos, Dubuque, Iowa, today in the semifinals of the Women's Western Junior golf tournament.

Miss Wheeler, a 17-year-old Arizona State College coed, continued her drive toward a second straight title Wednesday by outting Patricia Dailey, San Antonio, Tex., 5 and 3.

Miss Wheeler took the lead on the second hole at Inverness Country Club and stayed in front of Miss Dailey throughout.

Miss Fladoos advanced with a come-from-behind win over Joyce Denson, Atlanta, Ga. Miss Fladoos was two under women's par on the ninth with a 35, but gained ground on the back nine to win, 4 and 2.

The other semifinalists are Carol Ann Mann, Olympia Field, Ill., and Carol Sorenson, Janesville, Wis.

Miss Mann was extended to 19 holes Wednesday in beating Patti Shook, Flint, Mich. Miss Sorenson, winner of the Wisconsin Junior championship, stopped Louise Dumler, Cincinnati, 4 and 2.

CHAMP SIDELINED — ST. JEAN DE LUX, France (UPI) — World bantamweight boxing champion Alphonse Halimi may be sidelined from ring activities for months. The Algerian boxer cut an artery in his left hand Tuesday while slicing bread and lost a great deal of blood.

BOUT POSTPONED — SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI) — A sponsor withdrawal has caused promoters to postpone indefinitely Saturday's scheduled featherweight 10-rounder between Collier Cox of Los Angeles and Felix Cervantes of Mexico.

NICKS SIGN FARMER
NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Knickerbockers have signed San Francisco's Mike Farmer to a contract. The six-foot-seven forward was top choice of the Knicks in this year's National Basketball Association draft.

Look ma, no race! Not only in the American League, but in the National as well.

It's all the fault of Milwaukee's business-like Braves, who have opened up a six-game lead and just about put an end to all that propaganda about a close race in the National League.

Rookie pitcher Carlton Willey and Hank Aaron helped widen the gap Wednesday night when they combined in a 2-1 victory over the Pirates.

Willey pitched a three-hitter for his sixth victory while Aaron belted his 28th home run with one out off Vern Law in the first inning. Aaron's blow ended the scoring for the night after Bill Virdon had homered for Pittsburgh in the top of the first.

The Cardinals handed the second-place Giants their eighth loss in the last nine games, 8-7; Philadelphia topped Cincinnati, 8-5, and Los Angeles defeated Chicago, 5-2.

In the American League the Yankees maintained their 16-game spread over the rest of the field with a 3-1 win over the Orioles; the White Sox beat the Athletics, 4-2; the Red Sox stopped the Senators, 8-2, and rain washed out the Detroit-Cleveland contest.

Stan Musial drove in three of the Cards' runs and Don Blasingame two more with four hits as St. Louis overcame an early five-run deficit to subdue San Francisco. Reliever Chuck Stobbs received his first National League victory since being obtained from Washington. Willie Kirkland had a homer, triple and a double for the Giants.

Ted Kazanski drove in four runs, three of them with his third homer, as Robin Roberts posted his 12th triumph at the expense of the Redlegs. Roberts was nicked for homers by Bob Thurman, Frank Robinson and Don Charlie Neal's homer highlighted a three-run, sixth-inning outburst that carried the Dodgers to their victory over the Cubs. Neal hit his homer off loser Johnny Briggs following Norm Larker's single.

Haney Ain't Rejoicing Yet For Twin-Bills

By FRED LINDECKE
United Press International
MILWAUKEE (UPI)—The biggest thing on Fred Haney's mind is double-headers. Until the Milwaukee Braves run the gamut of four twin bills in the next 20 days, manager Haney says he isn't going to predict a thing about the Braves and the National League pennant.

Last Sunday, when the Braves finished beating the San Francisco Giants and took a five game lead in the pennant race, Haney was worried about double-headers. Wednesday night his Braves beat the Pirates while the Giants lost to St. Louis, raising the lead to six games, but Haney was still worried about double-headers.

"We've got four double-headers in the next 24 games. I'm not going to say a thing until those 24 games are over," he said.

Asked if he didn't have a nice pitching rotation going now (Lew Burdette, Warren Spahn, Juan Pizarro and Carlton Willey), Haney replied, "sure, and one double-header can wreck the whole thing."

Well, who would he use to fill the double-header duties, Bob Rush, or maybe give reliever Bob Trowbridge a starting assignment? "Let's not worry about that until Sunday," he said, referring to the first of the four double-headers this Sunday at Philadelphia.

Haney scoffed at the idea that the Braves finally had their pennant drive going.

"A pennant drive is a figment of the imagination. There isn't a game this year we didn't try to go out and win. You don't drive to win so many games in a row. They just fall into place for you."

And then he got back to his chief nemesis, the schedule. "No sir, it's foolish to say anything about how this race is going to go until those 24 games are over."

Shoot! Now There's No NL Race

Stan Musial drove in three of the Cards' runs and Don Blasingame two more with four hits as St. Louis overcame an early five-run deficit to subdue San Francisco. Reliever Chuck Stobbs received his first National League victory since being obtained from Washington. Willie Kirkland had a homer, triple and a double for the Giants.

No Panaceas

Hope, the poets sang, springs eternal. Could this be the reason so many good Americans cling to the absurdity of political panaceas? It could be. One of the panaceas about which we have heard a great deal goes like this: "If we could only get good men into office, our worries would be over." This is simply a revision of the prior panacea which was, so widely in vogue prior to the 1952 elections. That one went like this: "The Democrats have betrayed us. If we ever get the Republicans into power, our worries are over."

It follows that in 1952 the Democrats were thrown out of power. Did the GOP eliminate our worries? Of course not. So, now the theme goes, the Republicans we got into office were not "good" men. Had they been, our worries would be over.

But there are at least a score more of these same silly ultimates being voiced. Some of them are: If we could pass the Bricker Amendment our worries would be over. If we could repeal the federal income tax, our worries would be over. If we could repeal the draft, our worries would be over. If we could end farm subsidies and crop controls, our worries would be over.

Always it seems that we long for that state of mental oblivion in which our worries will be over. But isn't it, rather, true that this seeking for some kind of a panacea which will end our worries, is the spawning ground of the worries we have?

Liberty is sorely threatened today. And the reason it is threatened above all other reasons, is because we have desired so ardently not to have to worry about it. What Americans seem to desire is a state of torpor in which others, preferably our politicians, will create just the right atmosphere of protectionism so that liberty can be protected. Once the politicians take over, we can all go back to sleep.

While hope for a worry-less climate may spring eternal, one of our earlier patriots had it that the price of liberty is eternal vigilance. And this does not mean that the politicians have to be vigilant, but that we non-politicians must be.

It means that sleep is impossible for us or our liberty will be stolen from us while we place our trust in others.

When can we learn as Americans, that we cannot trust any politician of any hue, to do for us that which we are too indolent or too preoccupied to do for ourselves?

If liberty means so little to us that we will trust others to preserve it for us, it follows that we neither deserve nor will long have liberty. And politicians, history tells us with much repetition, cannot protect liberty. Rather, if we care to learn from the human record we can discover with ease that the rise of political dependence marks the decline of liberty.

Dependence upon government does not provide a guarantee of liberty. Rather, each new form of dependence marks additional erosion against our personal independence and self-reliance. Liberty is guaranteed by each restraint placed upon government. The destruction of liberty is guaranteed by each new advance of governmentalism.

Let us have done with panaceas. Let us no longer imagine nor vainly hope that some particular form of government or some particular personality in high office can or will protect our liberty. Liberty and government are deadly enemies. They do not both flourish at the same time in the same place.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES

Little Hope Congress Will Pass Just Labor Laws

At this writing the House is reporting on the Kennedy-Ives labor bill recently passed by the Senate. The wire report says there are few changes.

If it is to be a bill of any use to reduce unemployment and promote justice, there will have to be a lot of changes made in the bill passed by the Senate known as S.3973.

The National Small Business Men's Association has issued a Special Bulletin on this bill. It puts it this way:

"Far from being an effort to bring out effective labor reform, this bill carefully avoids the areas of flagrant abuse by labor—the contrary it undermines the position of employers safeguarded under the Taft-Hartley law.

"This bill, if enacted, will be used to mislead the public under the pretention that it is a result of an honest effort to cope with the revelations before the McClellan Committee.

"What does this bill do? The first five titles of the bill generally relate to protection of the democratic process in internal union affairs. The business community generally feels that such matters as reporting and disclosure, trusteeships, elections and codes of ethical practice are matters between the unions and the supervisory authorities, and we make no comment on these sections.

"Title 6 of the bill on the other hand would amend the Taft-Hartley Act and instead of placing reasonable restraints on labor would actually have the effect of increasing the power of labor unions. It is reliably reported that the unions helped write this section of the bill. The result speaks for itself.

"Section 605 of the bill, for instance, would give to economic strikers the right to vote in a representation election even though they have been permanently replaced. Thus, a union conceivably could be certified as the exclusive bargaining agent even though representing none of the active employees.

"Section 103 would require employers to report all expenditures, aggregating in excess of $5,000.00, made to influence or affect employees in the exercise of rights guaranteed by Section 7 of the National Labor Relations Act. The scope of this requirement could probably be extended to any company effort to inform its employees on any subject remotely connected with labor-management relations. Failure to comply with this requirement would be a federal crime. Leading labor experts agree that this provision could be a vicious curtailment of freedom of speech.

"The bill also would permit several types of supervisors to be included in bargaining units.

"Section 604 of the bill would give legal status to 'pre-hire' contracts in the building trades, thus giving sanction to the illegal closed-shop activities in that industry.

"The bill also contains numerous provisions which appear to restrict labor abuses, but which in fact do not reach any of the serious matters brought out before the McClellan Committee. Most of these relate to acts prohibited by other sections of the law which are not now enforced.

"Continue to press for: 1. A ban on organizational and recognition picketing 2. A ban on secondary boycotts 3. A ban on compulsory membership 4. Reasonable restraints on the monopoly power of labor unions comparable to the monopoly restraints imposed on business under the antitrust laws 5. Affirmance of the right of the States to take jurisdiction of labor matters in the areas where protection is now denied because the federal authority declines to take jurisdiction."

About the only hope of improving the lot of free men is to have states pass laws to give the non-union man the same rights as the man who has an union card in securing a job. At present unions can fine and discharge workers in intrastate businesses and the worker has no redress.

If the right-to-work law is passed unions would have to be more realistic, more rational and have more respect for the creative energy of every worker than they do under the present, where the worker is the surf of the unions. He must comply with their orders or lose his job.

The more we bring our problems to the states and to our own communities, the more hope there is of justice and equity prevailing.

Airlines Public Relations Could Stand Improvement

by WESTBROOK PEGLER

LOS ANGELES — "Public Relations" is a spread-eagle term which refers to relations between a principal, such as a public utility, and the public, composed of people. The airlines individually maintain departments for this purpose, composed mainly of charming gentlemen and ladies whose courtesies to a limited element of their customers are lavish. I have walked on red carpets and only my own improvised hypocritical obligation, there being no such vows in journalism, pedagogy or prostitution, acquits me of ingratitude in the observations which ensue.

The relations of the air travel industry with the public are bad. The public relations departments seem to proceed on a theory that if they put the press and as many politicians as they can reach under personal, social obligations for pleasant favors, they need not concern themselves with the convenience of the other 99 per cent or more of the people who pay the same rates for the same accommodations.

The airports are crowded and are obsolescent almost as soon as the appropriate politicians cut the ribbons. When the big jets begin to boom across the country at 600 miles an hour a few months hence, sharing the air with slower but monstrous planes, the congestion both aloft and on the ground will be worse and the people who write the tickets, weigh and handle the baggage and guide passengers to and from the ships will be driven close to the barrier beyond which nerves and capacity blow up.

This venture past a relatively old frontier into the jet phase of passenger transport will strain the great ability already demonstrated by all concerned, including Public Relations. But it will try the nerve of the passengers as well who long ago earned recognition for actual bravery in their eagerness to pile aboard the successive new types of passenger liner — Fokkers, Fords, Condors, and the DC's, clippers and constellations, all of which originally had bugs except, I believe, the DC-3. The passengers will be stomping at the gates to ride the jets, ignorant of the technical problems and serenely confident that the men up front will put them down whole. Many of the pilots will have had little or no experience in a ship that will soon relegate the DC-7 to museums with the ox-cart, the covered wagon, the wheelbarrow and the stone-boat, but that will not discourage the public. The public is a Good Joe.

Public Relations has forgotten that the passengers in their thousands, in all the stages of age and health, many of them novices at air travel, so vastly outnumber the VIP's who get the special attention. The indifference the public is now submitting to could be cured by a few staff meetings on courtesy. The examples of some railroads—which have driven off their passengers by rudeness, dirtiness and a hostility which in some cases has been intentional, should be formally noted. The public has committed itself to air travel to such an extent that many railroads have written off passengers and don't want them back.

Meanwhile, however, the airlines, realizing that people must go by air, have become inconsiderate. A flight is delayed for 30 minutes or as much as an hour without a word of explanation or, in some cases, without even a statement to that effect although the management knew an hour of more beforehand that the ship could not be ready and that customers were gathering in the crowded tunnels — to wait.

Not all passengers are exuberant youth. Many are tired from a day's work and counting on an airline to get them home, only to be held in jumbled herds, with no attempt at priority in line, waiting for a ship that shows up late without apology or explanation. Midnight is not 2:30 or 4 in the morning. Air travel is a hardship in many cases where it should be a marvel of speed and comfort.

Often a delay is equal to the time of the actual flight. Passenger runways are dirty, unventilated and jammed with idling tourists. And stewardesses neglect young mothers with babies and the hand baggage pertinent thereto and let them toll down the shaky ladders unassisted except by other passengers. Originally, stewardesses were registered nurses and especially helpful.

This is where Public Relations should exert itself. These people are the public.

Determined To Drive Ourselves To Destruction

By Thurman Sensing

ECONOMIC DIOCRACY

We seem determined to drive ourselves into economic destruction. We are acting like economic idiots. But that is nothing new; we have been driving down that road and we have been acting that way for most of the last quarter of a century.

It did seem for a while a few years ago that we were recovering our economic sanity, but it did not last long and the relapse we are having seems destined to be worse than anything experienced thus far.

This is not just scare-talk; it is based on what has already happened, on what is happening and on what is quite apparently going to happen. The outstanding symptom of our economic illness has been, and continues to be, the spending fever. Including the next fiscal year, when we are faced with an $11 billion deficit, our federal government will have for 23 of the last 25 years spent more than its income, lived beyond its means. This has resulted in increasing the national debt from $19 billion to $275 billion, with the debt ceiling already increased to $300 billion, and after that surely to $300 billion, and from then on no one knows where.

The facts cannot be known, but it is generally reported that our national debt is more than the combined debts of all the other nations of the world. And yet our government keeps borrowing more money from its taxpayers to give away to these other nations and thereby increase our debt just that much more! Strange hallucinations seem to catch hold of those suffering from this spending fever — and it does not seem to be confined to the leadership of either political party — as to just what this profligate spreading of borrowed money will do for us.

First, the idea was to rebuild the world from the ravages of the Second World War with American dollars. Then it was to gain friends and influence peoples, to strengthen allies in a common defense against communism, to win the cold war — which at times is not so cold. Then — and just lately — the main idea seems to be that we will continue to borrow at least $4 billion a year and increase our debt by that amount and give the money away in order that the money may perhaps be spent here and thus sustain what seems to be our slipping economy.

Brussels Sprouts And The Brussels World Fair

By HENRY McLEMORE

Brussels sprouts and the Brussels Fair.

One is a bore to eat and one is a bore to read about.

Up until noon yesterday 16,000,000 million words had been written about the American exhibit, most of them lambasting our effort and praising the exhibit of the Soviets.

It has been reported, over and over, that we have lost another propaganda war to the Communists, and that thousands upon thousands of men and women will leave Brussels ready to swing from the Free World to the Iron Curtain.

What nonsense! Triple distilled nonsense, too.

In the first place, it must be remembered that the world's masses are not represented in Brussels by any tourists. Millions and millions of people will not only not see the Brussels Fair, but millions and millions will not even have heard of it once during the time it is open.

Of the visitors to the Fair, 99 and 99 one-hundredths per cent will be well-heeled individuals financially able to travel, who are literate and knowledgeable. They already know about the United States. They know what it stands for, what it has stood for all along, and all about its production, culture and progress.

What would be the use, I ask you, for the United States to show off steel mills, locomotive works, electrical machines, automobile plants and the like? These things are old stuff with us, and the fact that we have them is old stuff, so the rest of the world.

So many people think we should ape Russia all the time. What Russia does, we must do. A Diesel locomotive plant is fairly exciting stuff to a Russian, and so is, I suppose, a modern filling station. For us to put such everyday things on exhibit would be to indicate that we, like the Russians, were amazed by such symbols of progress.

The Russians have steam shows in their pavilion, but I'd hate to have us exhibit steam shows.

els. They have been kids' toys on this side of the water for longer than I can remember.

Let's develop in America more of a spirit of "here we are — like it or lump it." Any visitor to Brussels who, after seeing what we have, goes away thinking America is a backward nation is pretty backward himself, and probably will get lost getting home and never have a chance to tell how Russia is ahead of us.

I wish we hadn't even gone to the trouble we did, and had limited our exhibit to, say, a pile of money (well guarded, of course), equal to the amount we have given away since 1940, including the bushel that went to Russia during World War II.

Or, just as good, a couple of machines from the mint turning out money at the exact rate at which we are giving the stuff away today with the passing of each minute. That would be every bit as impressive as the Soviet show of harvesters, cranes, bulldozers, etc.

On the literary side, there could be a wall on which were tacked the original cables from Stalin to Presidents Roosevelt and Truman asking for more, more, and more aid for the Comies fight against Hitler.

I may very well start my own Fair. I think I'll call Washington and see if I can borrow one of those money machines. It would be fun to run it, anyway.

The Nation's Press

THE RIGHT TO WORK

(Daily Oklahoman)

Eighteen states already have the right-to-work law.

Kansas and Colorado are among the neighboring states that will vote upon such measures this year.

In both states, as in previous instances, the rule-or-ruin labor bosses have set up a great hue and cry that it is "anti-labor." This is patently false.

One favorite way of trying to undermine the campaign for such measures is to refer to them as "so-called right-to-work" laws. The fact is, however, that those who actively promote such measures have been careful not to inject any provision that can be interpreted as being "anti-labor," even by the wildest stretch of imagination. So the alleged disadvantage of the proposed system is nothing but a flimsy straw man.

The right to work means just that, and such a right is important as any stipulations that were incorporated into the Bill of Rights which is an integral part of the American philosophy of free government.

You may search through our Declaration of Independence, and our Constitution and analyze every provision with extreme care, and you will not find anything but rebuke for those who seek to set up a tyrannical organism where by a small minority can dictate the facts of life to the majority. Compulsion is abhorrent and foreign to the American way of life.

The right to work is as self-evident as the rights of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. Those who do not have the right to work are slaves, just as truly as the new serfs in the Russian system of tyranny. Those who cannot work except under conditions imposed by ambitious and power-hungry bosses are not free men.

Apparently the right to work is being kept out of the 1958 campaign in Oklahoma, and that is unfortunate, for the people ought to have every opportunity to express their views. But this is a good time to view the situation dispassionately and calmly, watching the results in neighboring states.

No one knows just how many Americans are held prisoner in Red China. Or in the Soviet Union. But John Noble in his book, "I WAS A SLAVE IN RUSSIA" (Devine-Adair publishers) says his Communist guards taunted him daily by saying "If you had a government in America, it would get you out."

Isn't this what the Reds have been trying to prove by kidnapping Americans in East Germany, Armenia and Cuba? Isn't that what Henry Cabot Lodge helped prove when he talked Ike out of backing up France, Britain and Israel in the Suez crisis? And when he talked Ike out of sending Marines to Lebanon despite our pledged word? JACK MOFFITT

Back Stairs At The White House

By DAYTON MOORE
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Back stairs at the White House, President Eisenhower and his chief aides are stepping up efforts on the propaganda front in the cold war battle over a Midwest summit conference. A White House source said the President is determined that the U.S. propaganda position will be as strong as possible.

Two recent actions make clear the importance Eisenhower attaches to the propaganda aspect. C. D. Jackson, his former special advisor on psychological warfare, has been recalled as a consultant to Secretary of State John Foster Dulles on summit conference preparations. Jackson, now with Time Inc., participated in behind-the-scenes work on the summit meeting at Geneva, Switzerland, in 1955. It was there that Eisenhower unveiled his surprise "open skies inspection" disarmament plan.

Secondly, news leaks are being used with the obvious approval of the President and Dulles. The first came when a high U.S. official spilled out in advance what Eisenhower would say in his most recent note to Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev. It was designed to meet criticism that the President was playing second fiddle to the British in negotiations toward a summit meeting.

The second leak was prompted by charges in the press, both here and abroad, that Eisenhower lacked a definite, long-range policy and would be on the defensive. A high official countered that Eisenhower would have a constructive program to put forward. The official said it would include more surprise proposals although they might not be as spectacular as the open skies inspection plan.

The term "synarchy" denotes government by a woman or women.

Sunday TV Is Study Of Show Business Styles

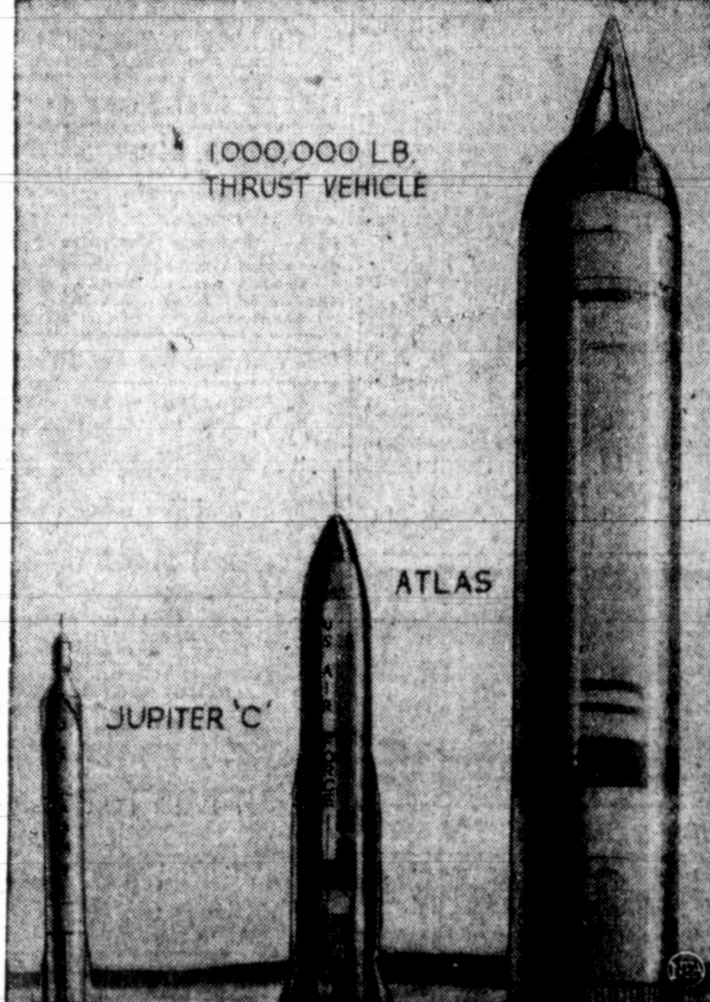

Television in Review
By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — Sunday night on NBC-TV is a study in show business styles. One show, the Steve Lawrence, Eydie Gorme hour typifies new show business — intimate, low-keyed, pliable. It is with it, it's next door neighbor, the summer "Chevy Show," is old show business, influenced by the more flamboyant musicals of Broadway and Hollywood — hard formal, broadly socked home, fiercely self-conscious in its pursuit of fun. Steve and Eydie are children of television. They understand the medium. There is a lack of push and stress and brass about their efforts. The key word is "ease" and as a result, their show is a TV charmer. I don't think there's any doubt that Steve and Eydie now rank among the most knowledgeable and swinging singers in the trade. They read a lyric with understanding and their approach is fresh, unhackneyed. Sunday night, for example, Lawrence with "I've Got You Under My Skin," and Eydie with "I Won't Dance," turned in beautifully probing jobs — Lawrence, wry and insinuating; Eydie, romping and very, very right. Have "Niceness" But more than that, Steve and Eydie play to the living room. Their show is stamped with sincerity and what for lack of a better word I'll call "niceness." On the other hand, the summer "Chevy Show" — except for Edie Adams — is made up largely of cardboard performers. It's almost impossible to feel any rapport with John Raitt and Janet Blair and Dorothy Kirsten who appear as regulars. They seem to stand a little apart from the rest of us. They perform with the ferocious elan of someone determined to prove he is an extrovert. To compound the difficulty, their singing is all very square. In a way, the comics hooked into each hour are the handiest tip-off on the character of each show. The Lawrence-Gorme effort offers people like Paul Lynde, Don Adams and next week, the Compass Players, all of whom credit their audience with some intelligence. "The Chevy Show" has Rowan and Martin, prop-breakers and screamers, pallid imitations of Martin and Lewis. They work to the near-derthful members of the audience.

May Get Own Show There is some talk that Steve and Eydie may land a fall show on NBC-TV as a result of their success this summer. I hope so. If true, I would say there is still some hope for the future of television. One word review on the revamped "ESP" on ABC-TV Friday night: No. The Channel Swim: John Daly will narrate the ABC-TV "Voice of Firestone" shows next fall. CBS-TV is considering another new western for its Wednesday night schedule — "Wanted Dead or Alive" with Steve McQueen. Jackie Gleason will take a break from his golf on Aug. 18 to cut an al-

Lunar Probe Rocket Is Being Pushed

By DARRELL GARWOOD
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon's space agency and the Air Force pressed an eleventh-hour drive today to launch the first U.S. lunar probe rocket between Aug. 17 and Aug. 20. Space chief Roy W. Johnson gave the drive only a "slight possibility of success" because he expects technical difficulties to force a delay into September. But experts in charge of the huge three-stage moon rocket as yet have encountered no insurmountable barrier to an August launching at Cape Canaveral, Fla. Johnson, director of the Defense Department advanced research projects agency, revealed that the third stage to be added to the Air Force's Thor-Able rocket for the lunar shot was selected late Tuesday. The third stage was described as an "advanced version" of a solid-propellant rocket originally developed by the Allegheny Ballistics Laboratory, Cumberland, Md., for the Vanguard earth satellite launcher. One of Johnson's aides said the Lunar launching could be conducted in as little as five days after the final go-ahead is given. A final decision on the launching time may be reached this week. The black Jewish sometimes weighs as much as 500 pounds.

AIM AT SIX-MILLION-POUND THRUST—Sketch shows, at right, a projected missile that can be boosted with a million-pound thrust engine. It is compared for size with well-known existing missiles. Rocketdyne division of North American Aviation, Inc., has just received an Air Force contract to build major components for the unprecedented engine. An essential step toward interplanetary exploration, the development of a single-chambered engine in the one-million-pound class will make a cluster of six for a six-million-pound thrust relatively easy. The million-pound engine will have a liquid propellant system, similar to those used in the Rocketdyne engines for the Atlas ICBM, the Thor and Jupiter IBMs and the Redstone missile that provided the first-stage boost for the satellite-launching Jupiter-C.
