JUNCTION EAGLE

Volume XXXVIII.

Junction, Kimble County, Texas, Friday, April 14, 1922.

Number LI.

S. A. DETECTIVES HERE SEEKING STOLEN AUTO

Man Reports to Officers That He Sold Stolen Car To A Citizen of Junction.

Chief Detective Van Riber and Duke Carver, of the Alamo City, were in Junction Sunday in an effort to locate and identify a Ford touring car that was stolen from a constable in San Antonio in November of last year. It is stated that one Rex Lewis, reported as living near Brady, has given them the information that he had sold the stolen car to W. H. Taylor, of Junction. Mr. Taylor purchased the car from Rex Lewis here in Junction some time in November, but the description of the car, numbers, etc., do not correspond with the one the detectives are seeking. The number plate on the engine does not appear to have been defaced or changed in any way. A comparison of the date of manufacture of the car in question and another car made some three months earlier showed a difference in the number that practically corresponds to the output of the Ford factory for that length of time. The San Antonio gentlemen wanted to take the car back, but Mr. Taylor is holding the car until it is shown that it was a stolen one, and he is taking steps now to trace the car from the original sale from the Ford dealer. He states that he has the transfers from the time of its original purchase, and it will be only a matter of verifying the records of the district Ford distributor and the records on file in the highway department. At the time Mr. Taylor bought the car, he states that the tires were practically worn out, and he has since put on a new set. The car that was stolen, it was stated, had a new set of casings on it, and was only run from San Antonio here before being sold. Telephone messages to Brady failed to locate the vendor, Rex Lewis. His father was communicated with, but did not know of his whereabouts.

TEXAS LEADING IN BEE AND HONEY INDUSTRY

The State of Texas, with 235,111 hives of bees, leads the nation in bee production, and with 5,026,095 pounds of honey in 1919, stands second only to California, where the production amounted to 5,501,738 pounds. Arkansas is also becoming prominent in the bee and honey industry and had 112,475 hives of bees in 1920, which produced 791,298 pounds of honey.

The census of 1920 shows 3,476,346 hives of bees in the United States, the honey production amounting to 55,226,552 pounds and the wax production to 826,539 pounds.

THE STEADY SUBSCRIBER

How dear to our heart is the steady subscriber,
Who pays in advance at the birth of each year.
Who lays down the money and does it quite gladly,
And casts round the office a halo of cheer.

He never says: "Stop it; I can not afford it,
I'm getting more papers than now I can read."
But always says: "Send it; our people all like it—
In fact we all think it a help and a need."

How welcome his check when it reaches our sanctum,
How it makes our pulse throb; how it makes our heart dance.

We outwardly thank him; we inwardly bless him—

TEXAS ROAD PROJECTS GIVEN APPROVAL BY FEDERAL OFFICIALS

From Austin Statesman.

J. D. Fauntleroy, state highway engineer, has returned from Washington, where he has been in conference with the chief engineer of the federal bureau of public roads relative to the proposed seven per cent system of designated highways in Texas, upon which all future federal aid will be expended. With few exceptions, Capt. Fauntleroy, the chief engineer, expressed his satisfaction with the road map showing the seven per cent system of highways in Texas. This system contains approximately 12,000 miles of roads, which is only seven per cent of the mileage in this state. The federal government will not aid in the construction of any road not on this seven per cent system, Capt. Fauntleroy said.

While in Washington, Capt. Fauntleroy secured some additional surplus war equipment for Texas. He got 24,000 pounds of nails, 2,000 pounds of staples, 5,000 square feet of mesh; 5 wrenches, 100 steel squares; 20,000 square yards of duck, and 4 airplane hangars.

WOOD-REMBOLD.

Last Sunday afternoon, at 5 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. Adie Reubell, 121 Goliad street, San Antonio, Texas, Miss Josephine Rembold became the bride of Mr. Emmett Wood, in the presence of a few friends. Rev. Patrick Henry, of the South Side Christian Church, performed the ring ceremony. The bride was becomingly gowned in a dark blue georgette dress with accessories to match.

Mr. Wood is a prominent and well-to-do man of the Aerial Pursuit Group, formerly of Chicago, and is a man of honor and integrity and is prized most by those who have known him longest.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Rembold, of Segovia, Texas. She is a lady of culture and refinement and has an innumerable host of host of friends.

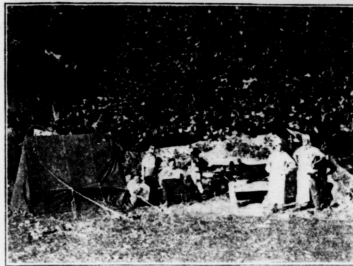

After a short honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Wood will be at home to their many friends at San Antonio, Texas.

BROWNWOOD MAN MUST PAY DEATH PENALTY

Neff Expresses Horror In Characterizing Crime Committed By George Hornsby.

From Austin Statesman.

George Hornsby must hang. For the murder of J. M. Weatherby of Brownwood, Hornsby must pay the death penalty assessed against him by a jury in the Belton court where he was tried in March, 1921, on a charge of venue from Brown county. That was the verdict Saturday afternoon of Governor Pat M. Neff before whom the condemned man's plea for commutation of sentence to life imprisonment had been placed over a week ago.

That nothing stands between him and death on Good Friday except a few short days of speeding time has not yet been told Hornsby.

"We don't want him to know what the governor has done until we get him transferred back to Belton," the Bell County deputy said.

"If the death penalty is justified in any murder case, the slayer of Mr. Weatherby should be hanged. It was an awful murder. We should not too forget the crime committed against society by those who stain their hands with the blood of their brother," says the governor in announcing his decision in the Hornsby case.

TEACHERS' PAY WAR- RANTS BEING RUSHED

From Austin Statesman.

In order that there may be no delay in Texas school teachers getting their salaries under the $6,450,000 apportionment made Saturday by the state board of education, Comptroller Lon A. Smith announced that he placed the entire available force in the department writing these warrants. There are a total of 1100 warrants to be written and mailed to county and independent school districts of the state. These warrants are then placed in the county school depositories and paid out to the teachers. There are ample funds in the state treasury with which to promptly pay all such warrants.

The apportionment made last Saturday was $5 per capita based on 1,290,000 scholars in Texas and was the largest single apportionment ever made of the available school fund.

PARENT-TEACHERS' ASS'N.

Please remember the fourth Monday of this month is the time to elect new officers for the year. Hope all interested will be there.

THOMAS BOND DIES IN SUTTON COUNTY

Thos. Bond, Sutton County ranchman and one of the earliest settlers of Kimble County, died Thursday, April 6th., at his ranch about thirty miles southeast of Sonora. Mr. Bond was born in Belfast, Ireland, about seventy-five years ago. He came to Kimble County and settled on Copperas Creek in 1877, later moving to Ft. Terrett, and then on to his present ranch location in Sutton County.

He has been in bad health for more than a year, having spent several months, recently, in a hospital in San Antonio, and returned about two months ago, apparently much improved, but was never able to fully recover from the long illness.

He is well known to all the early settlers of this county and has many close friends all over this section of the state that will regret to learn of his death.

This is the largest fish we have heard of this year, that was caught in the Llano.

MAN INDICTED HERE FOR THEFT IS LOCATED

Arlie Terry, Indicted Here For Theft of Sack of Mohair
Is In San Angelo Jail.

Arlie Terry, indicted in this County by the Grand Jury last fall for the theft of a sack of mohair from C. A. Stapps, Sr., in the east end of the County, is in jail at San Angelo. Sheriff Taylor went to that city Tuesday with Walter Parker to have Mr. Parker identify the man. Some two years ago, a brother of Terry and Doc Parker were indicted for the theft of the sack of mohair. Arlie Terry was the main witness against them, but he could not be found when the time came for him to testify against them. The case against the two men was dismissed.

Sheriff Taylor states that there is some case against him at San Angelo that will come up in September, after which he will be brought back here for trial. The Sheriff's department here has been trying to locate him since last fall and has heard of him several times, but when they would get in touch with the authorities at the place where he was heard of, he would not be found, until this last time, when he was located in San Angelo.

NEGRO INSULTS WHITE WOMAN AT WINTERS

Winters, April 5.—Sheriff J. P. Flynt, sheriff of Runnels County, was called to this place Monday afternoon to quell what threatened to be serious trouble growing out of a negro insulting a white woman. The negro was held in the Winters calaboose following arrest and identification.

A committee of citizens later appeared, took the black from confinement, and administered a thorough flogging. He was later taken to Ballinger by Sheriff Flynt.—San Angelo Standard.

TEMPLE WOMAN OFFERS GO TO NOOSE WITH MAN

Austin, April 11.—Mrs. Bennett Smith, of Temple, has informed George Hornsby, sentenced to hang at Belton Friday, that she will stand on the platform of the gallows as he pays the supreme penalty if he so desires. Mrs. Smith has taken a leading part in the effort to have Governor Neff commute Hornsby's sentence to life imprisonment. He was convicted of the murder of J. H. Weatherby at Brownwood.

THE COWBOY

I've heard the winds at sundown sweep
On a lonesome stretch of trail,
As I trekked along through the silence deep
In a wild, rock-capped vale;
And heard the wolf howl out the gloom
By the wings of the night wind fanned
From the rim of the plains where the foothills loom O'er a moon washed belt of sand.

I've seen the sky line fade from sight
O'er the leagues of sage and stone,
And heard the reeze in rapid flight
Cleave on from zone to zone.
I've seen the stars on cactus gleam,
And heard the night bird's cry.
Or camped by some cool starlit stream
And watched the embers die.

Thank God, for me no puny pen
Nor stifling walls of stone,
But an open road, red-blooded men,
And a soul to call my own.

ATTORNEY GENERAL TO PASS ON LEGALITY OF DISTRICTING BILL

Since it is becoming apparent that no test is to be made of the constitutionality of the representative redistricting act passed by the last legislature, before the democratic primaries, the attorney general's department has decided to write in opinion on the validity of the act, it was learned.

There are divers views on the validity of this law because of the omission of Swisher county from its provisions. In certain quarters, it is maintained that the law is constitutional as it was clearly the legislative intent to include Swisher county, while on the other hand, it is contended by others that the act is invalid because of this omission.

Assistant attorney general Bruce W. Bryant, it is learned, is to write the opinion of the department and the opinion is expected to be made public within the next three weeks. The attorney general's department has heretofore refrained from rendering an opinion on this measure as it was generally believed that a legal test of the act would be made in the courts. Not to pass on the act until after the primaries, it was pointed out, would result in many complications which would probably have to be solved by the next legislature.

E. W. and Joe Wyatt, from their ranch on the line of Mead County, were in Junction Saturday, reporting a rainfall of better than an inch Saturday morning.

ONE DAY

One day a little hour of triumph will be yours

The thing you've dreamed and longed for will come true;

And in the wondrous ecstasy and mad acclaim

Will you forget that after all it's only you,

Who ere this have trod a path of sorrow

And known the bitter pangs of dire defeat—

Will laurel wreaths forget to leave you humble

Will triumph fail to leave your nature sweet?

One day will come a cup of bitterness to you,

The unknown depths of heart-ache and despair—

Will you forget that once upon a pinnacle

You claimed the world and everything was fair?

'Twas you who set to sea in ships of glory

And sailed upon a radiant sunlit main—

Will hoping fail to teach the brow of sorrow,

Will faith forget to slack the poignant pain?

When Love Is Done.

By Phebe K. Warner.

"The night has a thousand eyes,
And the day but one;
But the light of the whole world dies
With the setting sun.
The mind has a thousand eyes,
And the heart but one;
But the light of a whole life dies
When love is done."

What's the matter with this old world today? We don't love one another enough. There are millions of souls in this world right now that feel of all the billion people in it, not one human being truly loves them. Then what is there worth living for? God was the designer and the creator of a human being. We are told that He created us in His own image. And God is LOVE. Then what should every one of us be? We should be personified spirits of love and kindness and gentleness and mercy. God never intended a human being to be any other way. How many of us have lost our God-like identity?

What becomes of our love, anyway? Where did we lose it? Why do so many people feel like they haven't a real friend in all this world? Why do so many commit suicide? Every year, in the United States, thousands of people take their own life. And thousands of others commit other crimes. Why is it? Every one of us was born into this world for two definite purposes. And those two greatest of all reasons are to love and to be loved. And there never was a child born in all the realm of life that did not have the element of love born in his soul.

"They Satisfy"

Community Building and The Home Newspaper

Every right-minded man or woman is proud of their home, proud of their town and community and proud of their immediate section of the State. Those not so disposed should move away from it. Also, every man or woman is constantly striving to improve their own condition, by working for the common good of the community. The condition of the individual is in a large measure left to himself to deteriorate or improve, but the stability, progress and desirability of the community is dependent on the combined efforts of all the members of the community and the institutions within it.

When properly supported and properly managed, what other institution in a community can perform a more necessary service in its development and progress than a newspaper? The loyalty of the people of this community to The Junction Eagle cannot find an equal in the entire country. The support it receives from the people of Kimble County is a constant incentive to create the very best that can be had in the way of a newspaper that will serve the needs of the community.

During the past two decades, Kimble County has made unusual progress towards a better and happier life for all. During the next few years, it will make even greater progress. The Eagle will keep pace with this onward march, and will direct every effort to giving the people a newspaper that will serve their needs and merit their continued unqualified support.

The progress of the community will depend on your knowledge of what is going on at all times. When you know what other people are doing, you will know better what to do yourself. There can be no better way of obtaining this necessary information than through the columns of the Eagle.

with him. It is one of the surest tests that there is a great good God ruling our every life, no matter what the circumstances of its origin may be. And there never was a mother who did not love her child if given a fair chance. Why even the wild beasts of the field love their children and will fight for their safety and protection. Mother love is the greatest thing this side of Heaven. It is the only kind we have ever seen that would stand the tests of the thirteenth chapter of I. Corinthians.

Love seems then to be the universal heritage of us all and yet there seems to be so little of it in the world. Not nearly enough to go around and give us all a little bit. Why is it? What becomes of it? Now if love were a concrete article composed of gold or silver or paper with only a limited supply in circulation we might understand why many of us are without love in our lives. Somebody got more than his or her share and the supply was exhausted. But love is not that way. The more you have the more you get; and the more you give away the more you have. Love is inexhaustible. Whoever heard of a mother running out of love for her child?

And another strange characteristic of love is that death cannot destroy it. Our children may go out into the unknown world, our fathers and mothers and friends may go, but we never cease to love them. Death would truly be unbearable if it were not for this great plan. But as long as we live we can still love them. They live in our hearts through all the years.

Then what has happened? Why is not everybody loved? Why are some lives so empty and lonely that they even get tired of the sunshine and the stars and the flowers and the fields of waving grain, and nothing in all this big beautiful world interests them enough for them to want to stay in it? The poet says, "Love dies," and that, "The light of a whole life dies when love is done." Our limited observation has led us to believe that the most effectual way to destroy love is to starve it to death. Just neglect it. Forget it. Never show any appreciation of it. Never sacrifice anything for it. Give all your thought and time and interest and money to something else. Do everything you can to get it, but never do anything to keep it, and it will after a few or many years die a slow death. And once it is gone there is no way of ever getting back the genuine article. And this is just why so many people find themselves without any love in their lives. They have starved it out. They have frozen up the fountain of love that once flowed full and free for them. The only way to be loved is to love. "But you can't get lovin' where ain't any love."

Baptist Church
Weekly Notes

Mr. L. E. James, of the State Department of Education, spoke at our church Monday evening to a good audience. His address was entertaining and suggestive of what communities may do for the improvement of their schools.

All services were well attended last Sunday. We thank you.

At the seven o'clock service we were entertained a few minutes by Brother Terrill of Austin, who was in our community representing the internal revenue service. Mr. Terrill is a member of the First Church of Austin, and he brought us encouraging news about our work in that city.

On invitation of Mr. Barnett Mr. Archer taught the adult class of the Sunday school.

The B. Y. P. U. had charge of the entire evening service. A play, "The Trial of the Robbers," which sets forth the scriptural teaching on tithing, was presented. All the parts were well rendered by the following: Shriff, Floyd Richardson; Judge, Lawrence Johnson; Clerk, Louise Ragland; Prosecuting Attorney, Nan Swayze; Attorney for the Defense, Ruby Duderstadt; the Defendants, John Rich and Mary Stingy; were Grady Kindrick and Mary Swayze. Homan Johnson, L. R. Hodges, Ada V. Foley and S. F. Marsh were called as witnesses. Twelve good men and women true sat on the jury. The Judge's exhaustive knowledge of the law and the speeches of the attorneys were the outstanding features of the play.

A letter from the state headquarters tells us that the whole south is looking to Texas on the spring cash round up. The boards are desperately in need of the money now due on the five-year pledges if our far-reaching work in many fields of activity is to be continued without retrenchment. Pay all you possibly can.

The daily papers report that Dr. L. J. Mims has resigned as president of Howard Payne. It is not known what work Dr. Mims will take up when he leaves Howard Payne the first of June, but as he formerly held important pastorates, it is presumed that he will reenter that work.

All services will be held at the usual hours next Sunday.

THREE DOORS SOUTH OF STATE BANK.TEXAS LEADING NATION
IN CROP VALUES

Washington, March 26.—Texas ranks first among the States of the Union in the value of all farm crops, according to the last figures received by the Census Department—those for the year of 1919—and the State ranks only third in the value of all farm property, but is twelfth in the line in the column giving the relative value of all livestock products in 1919.

The data were surprising both in putting Texas at the first in all farm crops—because this is the first time that Texas has taken this position—and the fact that it is twelfth in the value of all livestock products. The assumption would have been that the state would be nearer the top in the latter than the first.

Of the $14,755,365,000 worth of farm crops produced in 1919—the boom year—Texas produced $1,071,542,000, leading Iowa, the nearest competitor, by a big margin. Iowa produced $890,391,000 in farm crops, and Illinois was third with $864,738,000. Ohio, California, Kansas, Missouri and Georgia ranked after Illinois in the order named. Oklahoma's crop value was $550,085,000.

Texas was third in the value of all farm property. Iowa was first. Iowa's farm valuation was $8,524,871,000 of the total of $77,924,871,000 in the United States. Illinois with $6,666,767,000 was second, and Texas with $4,447,420,000 was third. It is interesting to note—and the fact is familiar to all who know Texas—that Texas with a farm valuation of only $4,447,420,000, produced in value $1,071,542,000 in farm crops, while Iowa, with $8,524,871,000 tied up in farm property, produced but $890,391,000 in crops. In other words, the Texas farmer got a return in that year of 25 per cent of farm value, while the Iowa farmer got about 10 per cent.

New York led the nation in the value of all livestock products. Of course it must be borne in mind that in the gathering of livestock products the term was used in its most general sense—inclusive of dairy products and even poultry. The value of the New York livestock products was $225,466,000, or one-tenth of that of the United States. Wisconsin is second with $213,022,000, and, of course, the readers' olfactory nerves register cheese. Even Missouri leads Texas, as does California, and Texas is just ahead of Kansas. Oklahoma is seventeenth in the list. The value of the Texas livestock produces was $87,762,000.

GONE TO REST

Beautiful toiler, thy work all done;

Beautiful soul into glory gone,
Beautiful life with its crown now won

God giveth thee rest.

Rest from all sorrows and watching and fears,

Rest from all sighing and tears,
Rest through God's endless, wonderful years.

At home with the blest.

Beautiful spirit free from all stain;

Ours all the heart-ache, the sorrow and pain.

Thine is the glory and infinite gain.

Thy slumber is sweet.

Peace on thy brow and the eye lids so calm,

Peace in the heart 'neath the white folded palm,

Peace dropping down like a wondrous balm,

From the head to the feet.

It was so sudden, her white lips said,

How we shall miss her, the beautiful dead,

No one can take the place of precious one fled.

But God knoweth best.

We know that He watches the sparrows that fall,

Hears the sad cry of the grieved hearts that call:

Friends and husband, He knows them all.

So long have we journeyed together on earth,

Receive us together in Heaven.

SPUR FETERITA A FAVORITE GRAIN SORGHUM

Spur Feterita is the name of a new and distinct variety of grain sorghum developed by plant breeding work by the Texas Experiment Station at Spur, Texas.

Spur Feterita is the first highly improved named variety of feterita which has been developed and widely distributed in the United States.

The unimproved feterita, commonly grown, possesses certain defects and its improvement is highly desirable.

Spur Feterita has a thicker stalk than kaffir, milo, or unimproved feterita. It stands up better in storm or at maturity than the unimproved feterita, and does not grow so tall as the unimproved feterita. Spur feterita has a compact well filled seed head and it produces a high percentage of grain. It is well adapted not only to planting in season, but, also, a very late planting.

Its yields have exceeded yields of unimproved feterita by approximately eight bushels to the acre.

We have one thousand pounds of this seed on hand that will be sold to our customers at cost.

SOUR STOMACH INDIGESTION

Thedford's Black-Draught Highly Recommended by a Tennessee Grocer for Troubles Resulting from Torpid Liver.

East Nashville, Tenn.—The efficacy of Thedford's Black-Draught, the genuine, herb, liver medicine, is vouched for by Mr. W. N. Parsons, a grocer of this city. "It is without doubt the best liver medicine, and I don't believe I could get along without it. I take it for sour stomach, headache, bad liver, indigestion, and all other troubles that are the result of a torpid liver."

"I have known and used it for years, and can and do highly recommend it to every one. I won't go to bed without it in the house. It will do all it claims to do. I can't say enough for it."

Many other men and women throughout the country have found Black-Draught just as Mr. Parsons describes—valuable in regulating the liver to its normal functions, and in cleansing the bowels of impurities.

Thedford's Black-Draught Liver medicine is the original and only genuine. Accept no imitations or substitutes. Always ask for Thedford's. E. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Emsley hospitably entertained quite a crowd of them that night.

DOES EACH ADVERTISE- MENT PAY FOR ITSELF?

An Eastern merchant of a national reputation stated that his advertising had accomplished three outstanding things:
It had built the business to remarkable proportions; it had improved the class of merchandise carried; and lastly, the most important of all, it had made a better man of him!

This was more than a glowing tribute to advertising—it struck a deep fundamental truth—that advertising, aside from increasing sales, exerts a powerful influence on business.

The advertiser takes on new responsibilities and he has responsibilities thrust upon him.
His light is no longer hidden under the proverbial bushel. All that he is and hopes to be;
what he sells and how he sells it; the kind of service he gives and the way he gives it; the people he employs and what they say about him—all these are brought under the minute public scrutiny.

Advertising is an investment.
It is the source of the greatest commercial asset—public friendliness. And this business good will is the principal that bears a cumulative return, produced by the advertising.

The advertiser who looks no further than the creating of today's sales sees no further than the nose on his face. His vision is warped by the most obvious fact that the advertising is producing results—today.

is too concerned that each advertisement pays for itself in a visible and immediate return.

This does mean that he should substitute good-will advertising for that actually selling the merchandise. Each advertisement must pay for itself, where direct sales are desired.
But the selling of merchandise must be combined with selling good-will, which is building sales for the future.

which the public spends its money—goods and service. And service in the broader sense includes the right kind of merchandise at the right price, in that that is really serving the customers' best interests. And in really serving the public, their friendliness is brought around to the extent that they buy, not because they want them to, but because they want to buy from you. And advertising is not securing maximum efficiency if it disregards goodwill in the sole endeavor to make sales.

Such advertising as does not pay, should never be condoned under the guise that it is good publicity. Each advertisement must have a specific and definite purpose, and be part of the entire campaign. Each advertisement must pay for itself—and does, when properly executed, either in immediate dollars and cents or in unearned increment. So all advertising must produce earned and unearned increment.

The time to re-creating in on the unearned increment is when it is needed. Many fore-sighted firms continued their advertising during the war when they were far over-sold, and they were creating an unearned increment or good will. Now is the time they are cashing in!

A MERCHANT PRINCE

There was an old geezer and he had a lot of sense;
He started up a business on a dollar-eighty cents.

The dollar for stock and the eighty for an ad Brought him three lovely dollars in a day, by dad;
Well, he bought more goods and a little more space
And he played that system with a smile on his face.

The customers flocked to him
two-by-four
And soon he had to hustle for a regular store

Up on the square, where the people pass
He gobbled up a corner that was all plate glass.

He fixed up the windows with the best that he had
And he told 'em all about it in a half page ad.

He soon had 'em coming, and he never, never, quit,
And he wouldn't cut down on his ads one bit.

Well, he's kept things humming in the town ever since
And everybody calls him the Merchant Prince.

Some say it's luck, but that's all bunk—Why, he was doing business when the times were punk.

People have to purchase and the geezer was wise
For he knew the way to get 'em was to advertise.

THE 20-FOOT ROAD.

The twenty-foot road as a main American highways is one of the propositions favored at the road builders' convention in Chicago. It is only one of many important recommendations made at the gathering, but it is especially deserving of attention. What is more, the policy of ample width should not be confined to the main road, but should include almost every surface paved, for in these days to pave any road seems automatically to include it in the heavy travelled class.

The narrow road is costly in original construction for the service that it renders. It wears out faster than the wider thoroughfare. The wear on vehicles is greater because of the continual dropping off into the ruts or rubble at the side turning out. It is dangerous because of traffic congestion.
Sooner or later it usually has to be widened, and experience has proved that this costs more than it would have cost to build the road wide enough at the start.

The very building of a road presupposes growth and is done to encourage it. Yet too often those who direct the highway policies are lost in the vision of length and forget the other great essential to safe and free traffic upon any road—width.

ANOTHER story of the eternal boy—this time grown up and man enough to face the big reality.

¶ It is a story of a girl too. They grow up together—opposites. The girl talks. She has a passionate soul and a tongue to give it utterance—and the boy has his boy's reserve.

¶ The days come for long walks together. The girl talks him into silence. But it is a silence that has its meaning. When the big reality comes the silence becomes clear. In the revelation the girl finds herself growing equally fit for it. The boy has become a man and the girl a woman.

¶ A story as typical of American life as "The Magnificent Ambersons" and as much an expression of youth as "Penrod" or "Seventeen."

FATTY ARBUCKLE FOUND NOT GUILTY

Star-Telegram.

San Francisco, April 12.—Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle, the well known film comedian, was acquitted this evening of a manslaughter charge growing out of the death of Virginia Rappe during a gin party at Hotel St. Francis, on Labor Day.

The case went to the jury at 5:06 o'clock. It was a short time after that that the verdict was announced.

This was the third time that Arbuckle had been tried. In the other trials the juries disagreed.

Bandera County's next fair will take place September 6, 7 and 8. It's time active steps were being taken to get the work incident to arranging the fair under way. Marcus Thalmann, chairman of the advertising committee, is pushing the work on getting up the catalogue for the fair. His efforts in soliciting advertising for the catalogue are meeting with good success and he hopes to be able to turn the catalogue over to the printer about the middle of May. A meeting of the executive committee should be held soon to attend to other matters connected with the fair.—New Era.

ON THE "OLD SPANISH TRAIL"

JUNCTION, TEXAS

An editor has been inspired, after looking over his list of delinquent subscribers, to compose the following: "How dear to our heart is the old silver dollar, when some kind subscriber presents it to view; the Liberty head without necktie or collar, and all the strange things which to us seem so new; the wide-spreading eagle, the arrows below it, the stars and the words with the strange things they tell; the coin of our fathers, we're glad that we knew it, for some time or other 'twill come in right well; the spread-eagle dollar, the star-spangled dollar, the old silver dollar we all love so well." The Troy Times.
