Nov. 3 early voting period will end Friday at 5 p.m.

Early voting continues at a steady pace for next Tuesday's general election as over 800 ballots had been cast through Monday.

County Clerk Joan Bunch said 774 people have voted in person, while 60 had mailed in ballots.

"Interest in the election remains high," said Bunch.

Early voting ends Friday.

The early voting booths are located on the third floor of the courthouse and voters may cast their ballots from 8:30 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Voters need to bring their voter registration cards or another form of identification, said Bunch.

There are contested races for two seats on the Scurry County Commissioners Court, while incumbents in the State Legislature and U.S. Congress are facing serious challenges.

In Scurry County's Precinct 2 commissioner election, incumbent Republican commissioner Roy Idom is being challenged by Democrat, Linda Sellars.

Idom has served as the commissioner for the past seven years, while Sellars is a 14-year employee of the county tax office.

Idom is basing his re-election campaign on a record he describes as conservative, while Sellars has drawn the support of a Political Action Committee headed by former sheriff Keith Collier.

In Precinct 4, Chloanne Lindsey and Milton Adams are vying for the commissioner's spot now held by Jerry Gannaway, who chose not to run for re-election.

Mrs. Lindsey, a Democrat, has been deputy county auditor for nine years. Adams, a Republican, is a farmer and oil company consultant. He is a former president of the Hermleigh school board.

There are a total of 3,311 registered voters in Precinct 2 and 2,798 in Precinct 4.

There is also a contested race for Justice of the Peace Precinct 2 as Democratic incumbent John Williamson is being challenged by independent candidate Pamela Bryant.

In the District 70 race for State Representative, incumbent David Counts (D-Knox City) is being challenged again by Scott McLaughlin (R-Big Spring).

This is the second time Counts and McLaughlin are meeting at the polls, as Counts defeated McLaughlin in 1996.

The race for U.S. Representive in the 17th District is also a repeat of 1996.

Incumbent Charles Stenholm (D-Stamford) is facing Rudy Izzard (R-Abilene).

Blood drive continues here through Friday

Texas Blood Institute and the Scurry County blood drive advisory council will continue this week's blood drive on Wednesday at Cogdell Memorial Hospital with employees and their families being able to donate blood from noon until 5 p.m.

On Thursday, the drive will move to the Price Daniel Unit as employees will be donating blood from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m.

The Western Texas College Student Center will host the blood drive on Friday as college employees and students will be able to donate blood from 8 a.m. until 1 p.m.

All volunteer blood donors will receive a complimentary T-shirt as a thank-you gift from TBI.

All donors will also receive a free mini-physical, including blood pressure, temperature, pulse rate, iron and cholesterol level checks.

Written cholesterol test results will be mailed to the donors.

TBI also offers men a prostate-specific antigen (PSA) test for a nominal fee of $15 for donors and $20 for non-donors.

TBI services 21 hospitals, including Cogdell Memorial Hospital, in 16 counties.

Harris said the increased useage of blood products for the past several years has been a challenge for the community to maintain a safe and adequate blood supply.

The blood service needs a minimum of 150 units of blood daily to meet the demands of area patients, said Harris.

For additional information, contact the Texas Blood Institute at 1-800-333-6929, extension 3109.

This week's blood drive is sponsored by Cogdell Memorial Hospital Auxiliary and the Scurry County advisory council for TBI.

Focuses on Social Security...

Sen. Gramm speaks for Izzard during meeting here Monday

U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm joined Rudy Izzard and Scott McLaughlin in Snyder Monday as the two Republican challengers began their final full week of campaigning for next Tuesday's general election.

Izzard is challenging incumbent Charles Stenholm for a seat in the U.S. House of Representatives, while McLaughin is running against David Counts for a spot in the Texas Legislature.

Both challenged the incumbents in 1996 and each lost by a narrow margin.

Gramm addressed a group of some 65 people at the Snyder Senior Center in hopes of putting the Republican duo on top this year.

Gramm told the gathering that he and Stenholm had been friends since both were elected to Congress in 1978.

"Charlie Stenholm is a very good friend of mine," said Gramm. The senior Senator said he would be proud to have Stenholm as a neighbor, or even to have his son marry into the Stenhom family.

"When Charles Stenholm and I went to Congress, we both voted alike," said Gramm. "Now we don't."

"Kay Bailey Hutchison and I vote one way and Charles Stenholm votes another way," said Gramm.

Gramm did say the voters in the 17th Congressional District were lucky in that they had two good men to choose from.

"But when it comes to key votes, Charlie is not on our side," said Gramm.

Gramm was quick to touch on the issue of Social Security.

"The day that Rudy takes office, he will introduce a bill that will stop the raiding of the Social Security system and provide for a balanced budget," said Gramm.

The Senator joined Izzard in claiming that Stenholm has proposed reducing spousal benefits and raising the retirement age to 70.

Monday evening, Stenholm said in Abilene that any changes in the system that he has proposed would not impact anyone over age 55.

He also said that his proposal to reduce spousal benefits would affect only the spouses of higher-income workers who earn at least $70,000 annually.

Gramm said the Republicans were opposed to cutting spousal benefits at all.

Gramm also stressed the importance of everyone voting.

"When I was elected in 1978, I won by 122 votes."

Gramm said he expects a close vote between Izzard and Stenholm on Tuesday.

"My message is this: If you are happy with the way things are, go and re-elect Charles Stenholm. If you want to change things, vote for Rudy Izzard," said Gramm.

Hurricane roaring through northwestern Caribbean

LA CEIBA, Honduras (AP) — Hurricane Mitch roared through the northwestern Caribbean with heart-stopping strength today, churning up high waves and intense rain that sent coastal residents of Honduras fleeing for safer ground.

President Carlos Flores Facusse declared a state of maximum alert and the Honduran military sent planes to evacuate residents from their homes on islands near the coast. Floods struck poor coastal neighborhoods.

At 11 a.m. EST, Mitch was 90 miles north of Honduras and moving west, parallel to the coast, at 6 mph. With winds near 165 mph, and even more violent gusts, the 350-mile-wide hurricane was a Category 5 monster — the highest, most dangerous rating for a storm.

"Mitch is closing in," said Monterrey Cardenas, mayor of Utila, an island 20 miles off the Honduran coast. "And God help us."

The U.S. National Weather Service said only three Caribbean storms were stronger than Mitch — Gilbert in 1988, Allen in 1980 and an unnamed 1935 storm.

Forecasters expected Mitch to swirl parallel to the Honduran coast and then turn northward over the next two days and head for Mexico's Yucatan Peninsula and its resorts of Cancun and Cozumel.

Mitch posed no immediate threat to the United States, forecasters said.

The weather service in Miami said the storm could weaken somewhat. "It is very unusual for hurricanes to reach and maintain such great intensity for very long, but hurricanes such as these are rare events themselves," it said in a statement today.

In La Ceiba, on the western Honduran coast, people waded knee-deep to their houses after rains from Mitch's outer swells sent rivers rising.

Many people took refuge in fire stations and schools. At one shelter in a fire station, about 150 people huddled in the damp, with nothing dry to cover themselves.

Blanca Almeida Ramirez, 22, said she and her three children fled in the middle of the night when water began to seep into her wooden house. "The wood is all rotten inside," she said. "I couldn't stay any longer."

In the nearby village of Jutiapa, two brothers were electrocuted Monday when they tried to remove a TV antenna from their roof in preparation for the storm.

Snyder ISD to host team building meet

Superintendents and school board members from several area school districts will be in Snyder this evening as the local district hosts a team building session.

The state-required three hour course will be taught by Carroll Tatom of the Region 14 Education Service Center in Abilene.

Attending from Snyder will be Supt. Gayle Lomax and board members Luann Burleson, Richard Chambers, Bill Moss, Mark McCormick, Glenn Clarady, Mike Levens and Janet Stribling.

Other schools to be represented are Roscoe, Sweetwater, Roby, Abilene, Ira, Hermleigh and Colorado City.

Porter close to perfect in contest

The Pittsburgh-Kansas City pro game played last night was the only thing that stood between Charles Porter and a $250 perfect score.

Porter, of 308 36th Place was the first place $50 winner, missing only the one game.

The tie-breaker procedure was used to determine second and third place winners, as six entrants had only two misses.

Sid Villasana of 2204 Ave. I won the second place $25, and David Cain of 4112 Jacksboro won the third place $15.

Winners will be mailed their checks. Another contest appears in this issue.

Memento-laden fence is split up, moved for new memorial

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — It's been more than three years since Ryan and Donquey Hammons' day at a YMCA day care center was torn apart by a bomb outside the Alfred P. Murrah Federal Building across the street.

The 5-year-old twins, who suffered head and upper body injuries, returned Monday to help move the symbolic chain-link fence originally put up to keep the public from the ruins of the Oklahoma City bombing.

Some 300 survivors, victims' relatives and rescue workers gathered just before twilight to help relocate the memento-laden fence that for months has somehow provided comfort to mourners. It is being moved so that construction can begin on a $24.1 million memorial to the 168 people killed in the 1995 bombing.

The memorial will include a reflecting pool, an interactive museum and 168 stone chairs built atop glass bases. And it will include part of the fence.

Workers clipped thick wires that attached the fence to supporting poles. Then the group lifted 10-foot sections and carried them about 20 feet to poles set up along a street on the site's western edge.

The public will be able to view the fence while the memorial is constructed. Once it is complete, a year to 18 months from now, sections of the fence will be mounted on a wall lining both sides of the entrance.

The tone of the event appeared lighter than other bombing-related ceremonies. Some cried, but others joked about holes left in the grass during Sunday's groundbreaking ceremony and laughed as they maneuvered the fence sections.

After the sections were moved, the group returned to the grassy site, lit candles and sang "God Bless America." Children rolled on the grass and ran around the area where some suffered injuries, physical and psychological, from which they still have not recovered.

"Ryan still has something embedded in the back of head that's pushing against his skull," his mother, Rashell Hammons, said. "The day before school started, Ryan was up all night worried that the bad men were going to find his new school and come and blow him up again."

Ryan has the most trouble dealing with what happened.

"He still thinks, no matter how many times I tell him, 'no, you were not killed.'"

Case against MIT fraternity placed in permanent limbo

BOSTON (AP) — The decision by an MIT fraternity to disband after it was indicted in the drinking death of a pledge has effectively wiped out the manslaughter case.

The Phi Gamma Delta chapter at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology — the organization, not its members — had been charged in the case of 18-year-old Scott Krueger, who drank himself into a coma at a 1997 party and died.

But because no individual members were named in the indictment, no one could be forced to answer charges after the chapter ceased to exist.

"The criminal justice system has failed," said Brad Henry, a lawyer for Krueger's family.

"Does it strike anyone as odd that it was not until Sept. 15, the day after the indictment, that the Fiji house was disbanded?" he asked. "It wasn't disbanded because of its role in Scott Krueger's death, it was disbanded because it got caught."

The Superior Court magistrate who issued a warrant against Phi Gamma Delta filed it away Monday in case the fraternity tries to reorganize at MIT.

Prosecutor Pamela Wechsler said the case wasn't a failure: The charges drove the fraternity off campus and prompted MIT to change its alcohol and disciplinary policies.

"A lot of things have happened as a result of the investigation and indictment," she said.

The national fraternity had disassociated itself from the local a year ago. Last week, a lawyer for the fraternity informed the court that he was not authorized to represent the local chapter in court. Until that notice, prosecutors had expected the local chapter to be represented.

Annual CROP Walk planned here Sunday

Snyder's annual Crop Walk is set for 2 p.m. Sunday. Walkers are asked to gather at the gazebo near the courthouse at 1:45 p.m.

Bill Covey is heading this year's walk. The goal is to raise $6,000, that's $2,000 above last year's total.

To obtain sponsor sheets, call the First Presbyterian Church at 573-6915.

One-fourth of the money raised this year will benefit the Food Cupboard which was established in October of 1992 at the old Kentucky Fried Chicken building.

Mabel Covey and Marie Armstrong serve as co-directors.

The Food Cupboard is supported by 12 churches and countless individuals. It serves from 600-1,000 people each month.

The Food Cupboard is helped by drives within the community conducted by scouts, the post office, KSNY, IGA, plus various businesses and individual donations.

Besides the Crop Walk, additional funding comes from various service clubs, and the United Way. Last year about 400 volunteers gave away 15,400 boxes of food.

The community garden also benefits the Food Cupboard. It has produced well over 3,000 pounds of food since it was started.

The CROP Walk is the community hunger appeal of Church World Service. Each year more than 3- million friends and neighbors across the country walk or sponsor a walker to help stop hunger around the block and around the world.

The Church World Service is a ministry of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S. In partnership with indigenous organizations in more than 70 countries, CWS supports sustainable self-help development, meets emergency needs, and helps address the root causes of poverty.

Report: Pilots warned about using Viagra

DALLAS (AP) — Airline pilots are being warned that Viagra can impair the ability to distinguish between blue and green, colors frequently used in cockpit instrument displays and taxiway lights at airports, The Dallas Morning News reported today.

Officials with the Federal Aviation Administration say flight doctors are being urged to tell pilots not to fly within six hours after a dose of the impotency treatment drug.

"Although only 3 percent of all patients report visual disturbances, this blue-green impairment could be dangerous," while flying at night or in bad weather, said Air Force Dr. Donato Borillo, who wrote about the subject in the fall edition of the Federal Air Surgeon's Medical Bulletin.

In addition to problem with colors, "full attention to the instrument scan and the task at hand may be compromised," Borillo wrote.

RESOLUTIONS

I don't know the author but I'm guessing most of you can relate to this little poem.

Here's a thought to leave one sober,
It's the ending of October!
My plans and goals were very, very
Upbeat back in January

February seemed to fade away
As I Marched through April into May.
The way things went down over Summer
Left me feeling ever glummer.

And I confess I can't remember
Whatever happened to September.
Gotta get crackin'! Get in gear!
...Well, if not now, maybe next year!

OK, I can relate to this. But, you know Folks, it's never too late to start over. God is waiting to help you. Don't wait until January. You can finish that project. You can lose those pounds. You can be a better husband. You can get things right with God. Go ahead. Start over. You'll find Good News there!

Special Halloween treats

By Marialisa Calta

I've been haunted for months by Halloween recipes sent to me through the mail, all of them involving packaged mixes, nondairy toppings, premade cookie dough and the like, and tarted up into spooky shapes with candy and prepared frostings.

As you can tell, I'm a purist about Halloween. I believe in homemade decorations and costumes (although I don't sew, I've managed to duct-tape together some pretty cool outfits), lots of candy (DON'T be one of those people who hands out little boxes of raisins), and parties featuring all the old-fashioned treats: punch, popcorn balls, caramel and candied apples. I had to look in some pretty old-fashioned books to find the recipes: "The Joy of Cooking," a 1961 Betty Crocker cookbook and a candy book written by the editors of Farm Journal in 1970. The punch came from a relatively new book, "The Penny Whistle Halloween Book," which has an old-fashioned ethos.

Note: If you are throwing a kids party that involves serving a meal, do get a copy of "Roald Dahl's Revolting Recipes." Readers of Dahl classics — "James and the Giant Peach," "The BFG," "Charlie and the Chocolate Factory," — will relish the chance to try some "Snozzcumbers," or "Frobscottle," "Crispy Wasp Stings," "Mud Burgers" and "Stink Bug's Eggs."

Happy Halloween!

BOBBING APPLE PUNCH

- 1-1/2 cups orange juice
- 4 cups apple cider
- 1 cup pineapple juice
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 4 cups ginger ale, chilled
- 6 to 8 small, red apples
- 1 orange, sliced

In a punch bowl, mix the orange juice, cider, pineapple juice and sugar. Chill for a couple of hours. Just before serving, add the ginger ale, apples, orange slices and ice cubes. Garnish with plastic spiders or bugs, if desired. Yield: 10-1/2 cups.

— Recipe from "The Penny Whistle Halloween Book," by Meredith Brokaw and Annie Gilbar (Fireside, 1991)

CANDIED APPLES

- 5 medium apples, washed
- 2 cups sugar
- 1 cup water
- 2/3 cup light corn syrup
- one 2-inch cinnamon stick
- 3 or 4 drops red food coloring (optional)

Line a baking sheet with aluminum foil or waxed paper (if using foil, butter it generously). Remove the stems of the apples and insert a wooden skewer into the stem end of each apple.

Boil several inches of water in the bottom part of a double boiler. Keep it simmering until you need it.

Meanwhile, in the top part of the double boiler, combine the sugar, water, corn syrup and cinnamon stick. Stir until sugar is dissolved. Put the pot on the heat, cover and bring to a boil; boil without stirring for 3 minutes, until the steam has washed down any crystals that may have formed on the sides of the pan. Boil the syrup until it reaches 290 degrees on a candy thermometer (this is the "soft crack" stage, which means that if you drop a teaspoon of the syrup into cold water, it should form strands that can be stretched and bent when removed). Remove the pot from the heat, remove the cinnamon stick and add the food coloring, if using.

Set the pan over the bottom part of the double boiler, over — not in — the boiling water. Working quickly, dip each apple, one at a time, and coat evenly with the glaze. Twirl the apple at the end so the extra drips off. Set each on the prepared baking sheet.

Note: If you'd like, dip each apple before it hardens in chopped nuts or coconut. Yield: 5 apples.

Pennies to help people

HAZLETON, Pa. (AP) — A 10-year-old boy's dream of collecting a million pennies for charity came true — and then some.

Matthew Nonnemacher of Hazleton gave $18,196.91 to the United Way of Greater Hazleton after the community-wide penny drive he created for Saturday's Make A Difference Day.

That's 1,819,691 pennies.

Most of the pennies were counted by employees at First Federal Bank, and it took a while — more than a dozen hours late last week.

Asked why he went to all the trouble, Matthew kept it simple: "To help people."

Up the garden path

Here's an unusual piece of prose: "So she went into the garden to cut a cabbage leaf to make an apple pie; and at the same time a great she-bear, coming up the street, pops its head into the shop. 'What! no soap?' So he died, and she very imprudently married the barber; and there were present the Vicninnies, and the Joblillies, and the Garyalies, and the grand Panjandrum himself, with the little round button at top, and they all fell to playing the game of catch as catch can, till the gunpowder ran out at the heels of their boots." Why did Samuel Foote write this?

Today's deal features some aggressive bidding. Perhaps, if you held that North hand, you would have wondered how high to go in spades — a reasonable thought, to be true. But when you have a long running minor, always think three no-trump first. Note that four spades will probably go three down. One last point about the auction: I think it is right to play that North's two-diamond bid is forcing.

True, three no-trump is no bargain, but South found a clever play. Under East's club ace at trick one, he dropped the jack. Suitably encouraged, East continued with another club. But South promptly claimed nine tricks: two spades, six diamonds and one club. Of course, given those juicy diamonds in the dummy, East should have switched to hearts, but that doesn't detract from South's play, which led East up the garden path.

The piece of nonsense was written by Samuel Foote to test the boasted memory of Charles Macklin, an 18th-century Irish actor.

A Man With Honesty and Integrity

Friends, voters and taxpayers of Scurry County...

Roy Idom is the best commissioner Scurry County has ever had. He is the only one who has ever printed what he has done. (We have all watched his voting record and driven his roads and know the truth.)

Attacking a good man and trying to tear down the good things he has done is exactly why it is getting harder and harder to get good, honest people to represent us. We have all heard that George Bush may not run for President because of the type of mud-throwing that has happened in our own town.

Report: women have spread their genes more than men

NEW YORK (AP) — When it comes to genes, women seem to get around more than men.

A new study suggests that women have done better than men at spreading their genes around the globe. For the most part, researchers say, the explanation is fairly mundane: Women through history moved to their mates' communities to start families.

Over thousands of years, these short migrations apparently enabled women's genes to get around more than men's, researcher Mark Seielstad said.

Seielstad, a fellow in the program for population genetics at the Harvard School of Public Health, did the work with L. Luca Cavalli-Sforza and Eric Minch at the Stanford University School of Medicine. Their findings were published in the November issue of the journal Nature Genetics.

The study used data on modern-day genes. It looked for the effects of men and women moving away from their native communities in ancient times and producing children somewhere else.

It relied on the fact that the Y chromosome is passed on only by fathers. In contrast, genetic material called mitochondrial DNA, or mtDNA, is passed along only by mothers.

Both kinds of genetic material contain tiny variations that can be tracked in different populations. The more a specific variation is confined to a particular population, the less chance it has had to spread elsewhere through human migration.

The researchers found that Y chromosome variations tended to be much more localized than mtDNA variations — a sign that men weren't migrating as much as women. The difference showed up when different populations on a single continent were compared, as well as in comparisons between inhabited continents.

The biggest reason is probably women moving to their husbands' communities to start families, the researchers said. A smaller factor might be men with multiple wives, which would also suppress variation in Y chromosomes, but very few men have been able to afford that arrangement, the researchers said.

Seielstad said he and colleagues weren't surprised by the result, because the idea of women moving to their husbands' community is so common across cultures.

Another genetics expert said he suspects there's more to the story.

Michael Hammer, a University of Arizona geneticist, said that Seielstad's conclusions make sense but that his own work suggests an additional twist.

Hammer's genetic evidence agrees that women may have migrated more than men within continents. But between continents, it appears that occasional long-distance migrations by men have let them spread their genes more than women, he said.

2 firefighters on racist parade float are fired

NEW YORK (AP) — Two firefighters who wore blackface on a Labor Day parade float that depicted the dragging death of a black man have been fired.

Fire Commissioner Thomas Von Essen, accepting an administrative judge's recommendation, said the off-duty behavior of Robert Steiner and Jonathan Walters deserved the most severe penalty.

"I significantly noted the egregious nature of the actions, their unwillingness to accept responsibility for their actions," Von Essen wrote Monday.

The judge, Rosemarie Maldonado, said she had no option but to recommend dismissal because her other two choices under the law — reprimand or 10 days loss of pay — were too lenient.

The men, both 29, had returned to their jobs Oct. 19 after 30-day suspensions.

IHSS makes heart work too hard

DEAR DR. GOTT: I was recently diagnosed with idiopathic hypertrophic subaortic stenosis. What is this?

DEAR READER: IHSS is an inherited disorder marked by enlargement of part of the wall (septum) of the left ventricle, the major cardiac chamber.

Blood is pumped directly from the left ventricle into the aorta, where it fans out to supply oxygen to various parts of the body. In patients with IHSS, a portion of the outflow tract is obstructed, forcing the ventricle to work harder during each beat. This leads to shortness-of-breath on slight exertion, fainting, palpitations, a murmur (extra heart-sound) and cardiac enlargement. Treatment must be given, or the heart will literally work itself to death.

Two types of drugs (beta-blockers and calcium-channel blockers) help relieve the obstruction and reduce cardiac work. In the 10 to 15 percent of patients who do not respond to medical therapy, removal of the obstruction may be necessary.

Most patients with IHSS are free of symptoms for years. Treatment is not necessary until a person develops the symptoms of this disorder.

To give you related information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Understanding Heart Disease." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2017, Murray Hill Station, New York, N.Y. 10156. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: What is "organic brain syndrome?"

DEAR READER: This term means that a patient's mental powers, memory and judgment are diminished because of physical changes in the brain. Multiple strokes, senility, senile dementia and many degenerative diseases of the nervous system — including Alzheimer's disease — are classed under the broad heading of organic brain syndrome, which is a chronic condition.

Patients with organic brain syndrome usually show shrinkage of the brain. Because this change is permanent, they suffer progressive loss of cognitive function, eventually needing nursing care and assistance with the activities of daily living.

In contrast, there are acute brain syndromes, such as drug or alcohol intoxication, that are temporary.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Do copper bracelets help ward off arthritis?

DEAR READER: I'm afraid not. They were quite the rage several years ago, until medical studies proved that they were ineffective. The newer anti-arthritis drugs are much more useful than bracelets in combating painful arthritis.

Baby born to rape victim highlights abuse concerns

BOSTON (AP) — Weekend headlines expressed shock and outrage over the comatose woman in Massachusetts who gave birth after apparently being raped in a nursing home. But critics say she is just one among scores of patients vulnerable to sexual predators in a poorly monitored industry.

"Sexual issues and problems in nursing homes are a real serious problem and no one wants to talk about them," said Faith Fish, New York State ombudsman for nursing homes. "It's more prevalent than I realized it was."

The most recent statistics show there were 548 complaints of sexual abuse in the year ending Sept. 30, 1996, according to a draft report by the U.S. Administration on Aging.

The same week the Massachusetts woman gave birth, two catatonic women were allegedly abused in their beds in a New York City hospital. And the week before, the state of Michigan closed a Detroit nursing home after an investigation found that one resident drowned in a bathtub of scalding water and another was allegedly raped.

There are already 1.6 million people living in 16,700 nursing homes. By 2030, the number of Americans aged 85 and over is expected to double.

Many nursing home patients are young but seriously disabled women. Patient advocates say the absence of uniform regulations governing homes puts them at particular risk.

"There isn't an appropriate way to monitor nursing homes," said Sara Foer, spokeswoman for the American Nurses Association, which is developing its own credentialing program for the homes.

In Maryland, a recent audit of eight nursing homes by the Office of the Inspector General found 51 employees had criminal records, many for serious offenses.

Enforcement on many fronts has begun to pick up since last July, when President Clinton expressed concern over patient abuse and announced a crackdown on states that do a poor job of regulating nursing homes.

Investing Time With Youth Pays Off With Huge Returns

by Abigail Van Buren

© 1998 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: In a recent column, both "Colleen in California" and "Giving Grandma" wrote eloquent letters about the rewards of spending time with their grandchildren, helping them connect with positive activities. They and other readers may be encouraged to know that research shows when caring adults become involved with young people in such ways, these youth are far less likely to use illegal drugs or alcohol, skip school or hit someone. They show more confidence in their school performance and are more likely to get along with their families.

Unfortunately, more and more young people share the problems of "Stressed Out," the teen-ager who appealed to you last June because he felt excluded from peer social activities because of his commitment to avoid alcohol. Important studies indicate that the increasing hours today's children and teens spend without adult supervision and structured activity are one of the major risk factors for early substance abuse, sexual experimentation and involvement in crime and violence.

The Department of Health and Human Services is issuing a national call to action to raise awareness about the connection between youth involved in positive, skill-building activities and reduced substance abuse. We want to increase the number of adults participating in fun, positive, challenging, structured activities with youth. "Your Time — Their Future" is a positive activities campaign that encourages individuals, membership-based organizations and corporate America to make modest investments of time and resources. It promises enormous returns in the health and well-being of today's children and tomorrow's families, communities and businesses.

Please, Abby, ask your readers to find out how they can put positive activities to work in the lives of young people by calling (800) 729-6686, or visiting the campaign's Web site: www.health.org/yourtime.

NELBA CHAVES, PH.D., ADMINISTRATOR, SUBSTANCE ABUSE AND MENTAL HEALTH SERVICES ADMINISTRATION

DEAR NELBA: I wish you the best of luck in this worthwhile effort. America's youth deserve to have more positive mentoring than a television set or a peer group between 3 and 7 p.m. daily. "Getting involved with kids" does not necessarily mean driving them 20 miles to some sports event. It can be as simple as helping with a stamp collection, nature walks, baking cookies, or doing a homework assignment at the library.

You, my readers, are the most generous people in the world. Now I'm asking you to give again. Please pick up the phone today and volunteer your time. America's children need you. The slogan "Your Time — Their Future" is a recipe for saving our children. Get involved and assure our young people a safer, brighter tomorrow.

DEAR ABBY: Please help. I've kept a diary for most of my life. I am now 50 years old and I don't know what to do with it.

I had a son who died in a car wreck. He was my only child.

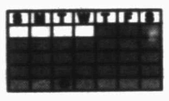

This has become a mental burden and I'm ready to carry the diary to my back yard and burn it. Any suggestions, Abby, before I start the bonfire?

TEMPTED IN TENNESSEE

DEAR TEMPTED: Please accept my deepest sympathy for the loss of your son. If there is anything in your diary concerning your friends and relatives that could be hurtful or damaging, I urge you to destroy it. However, if it is just a record of your everyday activities, some family members might treasure it.

Aging studies key to new mission, not Glenn

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — NASA always planned to study the problems of aging in space on the upcoming shuttle mission. Putting John Glenn aboard was an afterthought, and his advanced age will be of relatively little scientific benefit.

"This was never designed as a flight to study a 77-year-old astronaut," said Dr. Richard Hodes, director of the National Institute of Aging, a partner with NASA in the medical studies of the space mission set to begin Thursday.

"The scientific studies for this flight were approved long before there was any crew selection," he said.

Researchers say the space agency is not really looking for ways to fly the elderly in space, but is trying to learn how young and healthy astronauts could medically endure a long mission to other planets.

Flying in space causes astronauts to rapidly and temporarily develop many of the same disorders that strike the elderly on Earth. The institute formed a partnership with NASA in hopes that the space research will discover ways to treat aging disorders on the ground.

NASA needs to find ways to prevent the serious deterioration that weightlessness causes to the human body. If answers are not found, experts believe, humans will never be able to fly to Mars or beyond, missions that would require two years or more in weightlessness.

Valery Polyakov, a cosmonaut on Russia's Mir space station, holds the record for the longest span in space — 438 days in 1994-95.

Glenn, who had persuasive clout as a U.S. senator from Ohio and as one of America's space heroes, is sort of an extra added attraction — and the reasons for his presence aboard Discovery perhaps have more to do with symbolism than science.

"I felt America owed John Glenn a second flight," said NASA administrator Daniel Goldin.

During his nine days in space, Glenn will be a medical guinea pig, a role that any astronaut could have fulfilled. The fact that he is 77 contributes little to the basic experiments, experts say.

Dr. Kenneth Baldwin, a NASA researcher and a professor of physiology at the University of California, Irvine, said Glenn will provide "only a single data point" and no final answers about aging in space.

Baldwin said to draw broad conclusions about the effect of spaceflight on older people would require many experiments over many flights. Right now, NASA has no plans to fly any other old astronaut.

Hodes said that Glenn's research "can't be representative of all people in that age range" because the astronaut is unusually fit for his age. One researcher said the senator has the body of a 60-year-old.

Space fliers and the elderly on Earth suffer the same general health effects. There is a serious loss of muscle mass and strength. Bones leak minerals and become more brittle. Sleep is short and restless. The immune system weakens. And about 70 percent of astronauts, once they return to Earth, experience spells of dizziness, a common problem among the elderly.

Because of these problems, Baldwin said NASA is unsure astronauts could even survive the long weightlessness of a Mars mission. There could be too much loss of muscle and bone strength to safely return to Earth's gravity.

"We've got to learn how to counter the effects of microgravity (weightlessness), said Arny Ferrando, a scientist at the University of Texas Medical Branch, Galveston, and one of the prime researchers on the Glenn mission. "Right now, we don't know the answers."

Researchers have not suggested that the debilitating effects spaceflight pose a health risk for people the age of Glenn, but the space agency is taking some precautions.

A machine that revives an ailing heart, called a defibrillator, will ride into space with Glenn. The machine has only rarely flown on shuttles in the past.

Your Birthday

Wednesday, Oct. 28, 1998

In the coming year, friends in the right places will help you down the path of success. They will enable you to set objectives for yourself that you might have never dared to do before.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) By using your ingenuity today you should be able to find new, clever ways of refurbishing items or rooms in your household. Put your talents and skills to work for you. Scorpio, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send the required refund form and for your Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $2 and self-addressed stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 1758, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. Be sure to state your Zodiac sign.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) That mental antenna you possess for ferreting out valuable facts from conversations with others might be in full force today. It might grant you an advantage you shouldn't treat with indifference.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Explore all avenues that could lead to discovering new ways to add to your resources. There are hidden opportunities today for uncovering unique ways to approach things.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Don't let any grass grow under your feet if you get an idea that could further your personal ambitions today. The opportunity to put it into action could be fleeting.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Something you learn by accident today could prove to be very valuable. The trick might be in figuring out ways to take advantage of the knowledge.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Don't allow past defeats make you hesitant today. Go tackle a project you haven't attempted previously. Your proficiency with this new venture might even startle you.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If you're not on your toes today, promising developments which could help your career might escape your attention. Don't be caught napping.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) An exciting idea could start to swirl around in your head today. Chances are it'll be something you'll be able to accomplish quickly in the very near future.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Although conditions might not have been stable in an involvement you had with another, something could suddenly put an end to that tenuousness today.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) The very persons who are supportive of your plans and ideas today might not be equally as enthusiastic about them tomorrow. Hence, don't waste any time getting their allegiance.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Just because old, tried habits are easy and require little effort, it's no reason to stop looking for better ways of doing things. Be adventurous in your working procedures.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Unique currents might prevail within your social circle today, bringing about a plethora of pleasant experiences you'll long remember.

Linda Sellars

I'm proud to be a life-long resident of Scurry County as was my late husband, Clinton Sellars. My parents, Roy and Ada Staton, still live on the family farm northeast of town and have for over 50 years. My late husband's mother, Ruby Sellars, is also a long-time resident and still lives in Snyder

I have been involved in county government for 14 years. I know I can do a good job as Precinct 2 Commissioner - but not without your help. It will be my full-time job and I am committed to serving you. I pledge to listen and represent your needs and concerns to the best of my ability.

I cannot do this without your help, so please support me with your vote. Together we can make Scurry County grow and prosper in the future.

I truly appreciate your support.

Lady Tigers begin hoops preparation

Lady Tiger hoop coach Rick Archer believes experience and athleticism are key attributes to an improved Snyder squad — if it can survive a tough non-district schedule.

"We're more athletic than we have been in years past," Archer said Monday, following the first official day of basketball workouts. "This is probably the most athletic team we've had since I've been here."

Another plus for the Lady Tigers is experience. Three Lady Tigers return for their senior seasons, while four sophomores are back with a year of varsity knowledge under their belts.

"Having the experience and the athleticisim should help us in some different aspects this year," Archer stated. "We'll be able to post up some of our guards who usually have more heighth than the girls defending them. Also, it helps us in our full-court press."

Snyder's skills will be tested early on as the Lady Tigers open the season with a tough Plainview squad, before facing a tall Clyde ballclub. SHS also has non-district contests scheduled against 5A schools Abilene High, Lubbock High, Abilene Cooper and Midland High.

"We're going to work on our fundamentals between now and the start of the season," Archer said. "We might take our lumps a little bit early on, but that's why we schedule the tough teams. We want to be ready to play come district."

With some players getting ready for the volleyball bi-district match-up Saturday against Crowley, Snyder had 16 girls report for the opening workout.

Back for their senior season will be Shannon Hall, Mandy Hess and Alicia Peoples, while Callie Bane, Ashley Delce, Kristin Murray and Kameron Kallemeyn will suit up as returing sophomores.

Snyder hoopsters hold first workout

In its opening workout of the season Monday, the Snyder Tiger basketball squad heard what will likely be a recurring theme from head coach Bud Birks.

"Pick up your defensive intensity," Birks said to his players. "Be more physical. Be more aggressive."

With the opening of high school hoop workouts around the state, Snyder began what it hopes is a journey which will lead them back to the postseason.

Somewhat smaller than last year's playoff squad, this year's Tigers will have to rely on quickness, intelligence and most of all defense, according to Birks.

"We're definitely not as tall," Birks admitted following the workout. "But I think we're quicker and this is a smart group of players with a few guys who like to get after it on defense.

"And that will be key for us. We have to be able to get after people. We don't have Jimmy (Taylor) anymore that we can just throw the ball into in the post. So we have to limit the other team's scoring chances to really benefit us."

With some still participating in football, 15 players suited up for the opening practice. Snyder returns six players from last year's squad as Tyler Warren, Brock Durham, Cory Mandrell, Justin McNair, Brady Cobb and Jacob Hodges will be back for their senior seasons.

The Tigers' first scrimmage will be Nov. 10 against Abilene High, with the season opener slated for Nov. 17 at San Angelo Central.

Frosh end year with win over Lady Prowlers

Eleven players registered service points Saturday, leading Snyder's freshman volleyball squad to a season-ending victory.

The Lady Tigers knocked off Ft. Stockton, 15-6, 10-15, 15-7, to finish 5-3 against district opponents and 11-14 overall.

Kate Wright led all servers with seven points, while Ashley Owen was only one off Wright's pace with six.

Meagan Hatley and Kasey Collier served up five points apiece, with Vanessa Freeman and Mary Wesson posted four each.

Taylor Daniell finished with three points, while Lori Chesser and Laura Billingsley chipped in two apiece. Jaci Smith and Leticia Martinez registered one point each.

SHS girls nab long-distance win

EL PASO — The team that went the farthest, shot the least.

The Lady Tiger golf squad captured its first tourney title of the year over the weekend, traveling about 425 miles to win the El Paso Invitational by 40 strokes.

One of only two 4A teams in the event, Snyder posted a 359 in the opening round, before carding a 337 on the final day for a 696 total.

Placing runner-up to the Lady Tigers was El Paso Hanks at 736, with Midland Lee taking third at 744.

With the opening round being played on the long, demanding Vista Hills CC course, scores were considerably higher the first day.

"I wasn't real pleased with the way we played the first day," Snyder coach Matt Glenn said. "Our veteran players didn't shoot quite what they needed to, but we'll keep getting better as the year goes on."

Playing at Emerald Springs CC in the second round, the Lady Tigers shaved 22 shots off their opening score, paced by Keisha Gafford's 76.

Gafford finished fifth in the medalist race after carding rounds of 92 and 76.

Sophomore Kara Harrison, who found out she'd be making the trip only two days before the event, turned in rounds of 87 and 88.

"Kara played fantastic under those conditions," Glenn said. "That was her first ever varsity experience and she had to get it on some tough courses against some solid competition. I couldn't ask for her to do any better."

Lacey Kidd followed up a 93 the first day with an 86 in the second round. Stephanie Alderete finished with rounds of 87 and 95, while Sally Barham turned in scores of 100 and 87.

"It was a good win for us," Glenn said. "It's always good to get that tough tournament experience early in the year, but I still think we can play better."

Who's in and who's out? A glance at the 5-4A race

With two weeks left in the District 5-4A football season, it's time once again to traverse the mine field of possible playoff scenarios.

With a pair of contests remaining for each squad, there are 64 possible versions of how things will turn out over the next two Friday nights.

But its somewhat easier if all scenarios are ruled out involving Ft. Stockton beating Andrews in the season finale.

Sorry Panthers. The story of David defeating Goliath is well known, but if the little underdog hadn't caught up to the giant he wouldn't have won. And in a foot race I'll take the fleet-footed Shaud Williams over the hairy-knuckled Goliath, any day.

Ruling that situation out, there are only 32 possible scenarios. But still, decifering all of those is about as easy as reading a Shakespearean play — in Arabic.

So here are just some of the major things to remember.

First place aspirations: To have a shot at earning the No. 1 spot coming out of the district, Snyder must win out and Sweetwater must beat Andrews by at least two touchdowns this Friday, then knock off Big Spring the next week.

That would leave the Tigers, Sweetwater and Andrews all tied at 4-1 as co-champions with zero positive points each. Then heads or tails would decide the top seed.

Better find that lucky coin.

Results of a Snyder win against Ft. Stockton: If the Tigers take care of the Panthers, it will lock up at least the third slot for Snyder in all but one of the 32 possible outcomes.

The only way a victory Friday night doesn't guarantee a playoff spot is if Sweetwater beats Andrews and Big Spring, with Lake View beating Big Spring and Snyder. In that case the Chiefs and Tigers would finish tied at 3-2 and Lake View would advance, having won the head-to-head battle.

But a Snyder win combined with an Andrews win Friday night or a Big Spring victory next week, and the Tigers are in.

An easier way to remember it — root for everyone wearing black and gold.

Multiple ties: Here's what happens should the Tigers finish in a three-way tie.

If Snyder, Sweetwater and Lake View finish tied for second, then the Tigers advance as the second place team unless they fall to the Chiefs by eight points or more. Then they would be the third-place squad.

If those three squads are tied for third place, then Lake View must defeat Snyder by eight or more points to knock the Tigers out.

Next, in any situation where Snyder, Sweetwater and Big Spring are knotted, Snyder gets the nod regardless of the Sweetwater-Big Spring score. The Tigers have 21 positive points against those two schools, while the Mustangs and Steers are currently in the negative numbers. With the cap of 14 positive points per contest, there's no possible way Snyder can get edged out in that situation.

As for a dead heat between Snyder, Lake View and Big Spring, there's no way to predict an outcome. Since Lake View hasn't played the Tigers or the Steers yet, positive points are impossible to determine.

But keep in mind, if all three schools finish at 2-3, with Big Spring topping Lake View by seven points, and Lake View winning by seven over Snyder, then all three teams finish with zero positive points.

Better find two of those lucky coins.

BCS poll bucks Buckeyes; Bruins garner top ranking

By RICHARD ROSENBLATT
AP Football Writer

The No. 1 team in the nation is No. 2 in the Bowl Championship Series standings.

The BCS brought the computer age to college football on Monday, releasing its first standings with UCLA No. 1 and Ohio State No. 2.

Since the preseason, Ohio State (7-0) has been an overwhelming No. 1 choice in The Associated Press' media poll and the USA Today/ESPN coaches' poll. UCLA (6-0) has been No. 2 in the polls the past three weeks.

The new standings, which use polls, computer ratings, strength-of-schedule and win-loss records, will determine which teams play in the Fiesta Bowl on Jan. 4 for a chance at the national championship.

In the BCS, who's No. 1 isn't the major objective since the top two teams in the final standings on Dec. 6 get tickets to Tempe, Ariz. The BCS will list 20 teams in its standings each week, assigning a point total based on the averages of each of the four categories. The team with the lowest point totals is rated highest.

"We can't worry about the BCS ratings, just like we can't worry about our rankings in the national polls," Ohio State coach John Cooper said. "I can say that we are happy to be ranked as high as we are in the polls. We've been the No. 1 team in both the major polls all season and we are just going to keep working hard to try and win football games. Winning takes care of everything."

Although the Bruins were No. 2 in both polls, they were No. 1 in the three computer ratings and listed as having the toughest schedule.

UCLA leads the standings with a 3.04 point total — two points for poll average, one for computer average, 0.04 for strength of schedule and zero for losses. Ohio State has 4.31 points — one for poll average, 2.67 for computer average, 0.64 for strength of schedule and zero for losses.

"It really doesn't matter to me whether we are ranked first or second in the BCS poll," UCLA coach Bob Toledo said. "The important thing is to have a chance to play in the championship game and you can do that being ranked first or second."

Tennessee was third, followed by Kansas State, Florida State, Nebraska, Florida, Texas A&M, Wisconsin and Penn State.

The standings select the Fiesta Bowl teams only. The other BCS bowls — the Rose, Sugar and Orange — then follow a predetermined selection process.

Cancer drug helps spine-damaged mice

WASHINGTON (AP) — A drug being tested in the battle against cancer is showing promise for the treatment of spinal injuries, according to researchers at Vanderbilt University.

Of 26 mice with spinal cord injuries, 24 recovered the ability to walk within 12 days after treatment with the drug CM101, according to a report in Tuesday's Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences. One died and one remained paralyzed.

By comparison, of 14 mice with similar injuries that did not receive the drug, eight died and none of the six survivors recovered the function of paralyzed limbs.

"We are encouraged by the research," said Thomas H. Countee Jr., executive director of the National Spinal Cord Injury Association.

But he cautioned that a lot of work remains to be done before the results might be extended to humans.

"This is just a few mice; then you have to go to cats and perhaps primates and then, finally, to the human model," he said.

But since its use in cancer research has already shown the drug to be safe for humans, tests on people with spinal injuries might occur as early as late next year, said Carl G. Hellerqvist, one of the researchers.

CM101 has shown promise in fighting cancer by blocking the formation of new blood vessels, which are needed by rapidly growing tumors.

In the tests on mice, CM101 "significantly reduced the compression-induced scarring" around the spinal cord following injury, reported researchers Artur W. Wamil, Barbara D. Wamil and Hellerqvist.

In the injured mice the drug was given within an hour after injury and doses were repeated every other day.

"THE LORD KNOWS HIS OWN"

Paul wrote, "But God has laid a foundation, with this inscription: 'The Lord knows His own' (2 Timothy 2:19). The prisoner of war returned home from North Vietnam and met his son, but he didn't know him. When he was captured, his son was 12 years old, freckled, and playing little league baseball. Now the son was in college and married. A lot of things had changed while he was a P.O.W.: attitudes and ideas--history had been made--a president was murdered--there had been violence on the campus and in the cities, and he was out of contact with it all.

Thank God that He has never lost contact with this world. He sent Jesus as His representative to keep His contact, and Jesus sent the Holy Spirit to stay in contact with God's sons and daughters! And because He has never left us nor forsaken us, He knows all about us. He understands!

Default rate falls for sixth straight year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Stricter controls and an improving economy have lowered the share of students defaulting on their federally backed loans from nearly one out of four early this decade to less than one in 10 in 1996, the Education Department says.

"The student loan program is now a shining example of government providing opportunity with accountability," President Clinton said Monday after the department announced a 9.6 percent default rate for fiscal 1996. It was the sixth annual decline in a row and the first time that the rate was below 10 percent. Rates peaked at 22.4 percent in 1990.

Congress passed legislation in 1990 and 1992 to crack down on borrowers and trade schools such as beauty colleges and truck-driving schools that promised more job training than they delivered. And the country began to pull out of a recession in early 1991.

The department noted that the default rate has declined even though the volume of loans has risen dramatically, from about $14 billion in 1992 to $38 billion in the 1998 fiscal year. Because of the volume, actual dollar savings aren't as dramatic as they could have been.

In 1991, for example, the department had to repay $3.6 billion in default claims to lenders. In fiscal 1998, the department had to repay $2.8 billion.

A new higher education bill approved by Congress will further streamline the program and make it more accountable, said Rep. Bill Goodling, R-Pa., chairman of the House Education and Workforce Committee.

"Less time and money spent on delinquent loans means more time and money to help needy students receive financial assistance," Goodling said.

Education Secretary Richard Riley said current borrowers can lessen the chance of default by consolidating loans under a new rate of 7.46 percent, made possible under the newly enacted Higher Education Amendments of 1998.

GM recalling 400,000 cars

WASHINGTON (AP) — General Motors is recalling about 400,000 cars that exceed federal health standards for emissions of carbon monoxide exhaust, the government said Monday.

The affected cars are 1993 Chevrolet Luminas, Oldsmobile Cutlass Supremes, Cutlass Supreme convertibles, Pontiac Grand Prixs and Buick Regals — all with six-cylinder, 3.1-liter engines.

The Environmental Protection Agency, announcing the recall, said routine emissions tests identified the higher levels of carbon monoxide and GM agreed to notify owners by mail and fix the problem for free.

GM will replace a defective part of the emissions control system called the evaporative purge solenoid. In addition, the automaker will reprogram a computer memory chip in the Cutlass Supreme convertibles to bring down emissions further.

Arabs urged to deal with Netanyahu

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Madeleine Albright is urging Arab leaders to recognize Israel now that it has agreed to cede more land to the Palestinians.

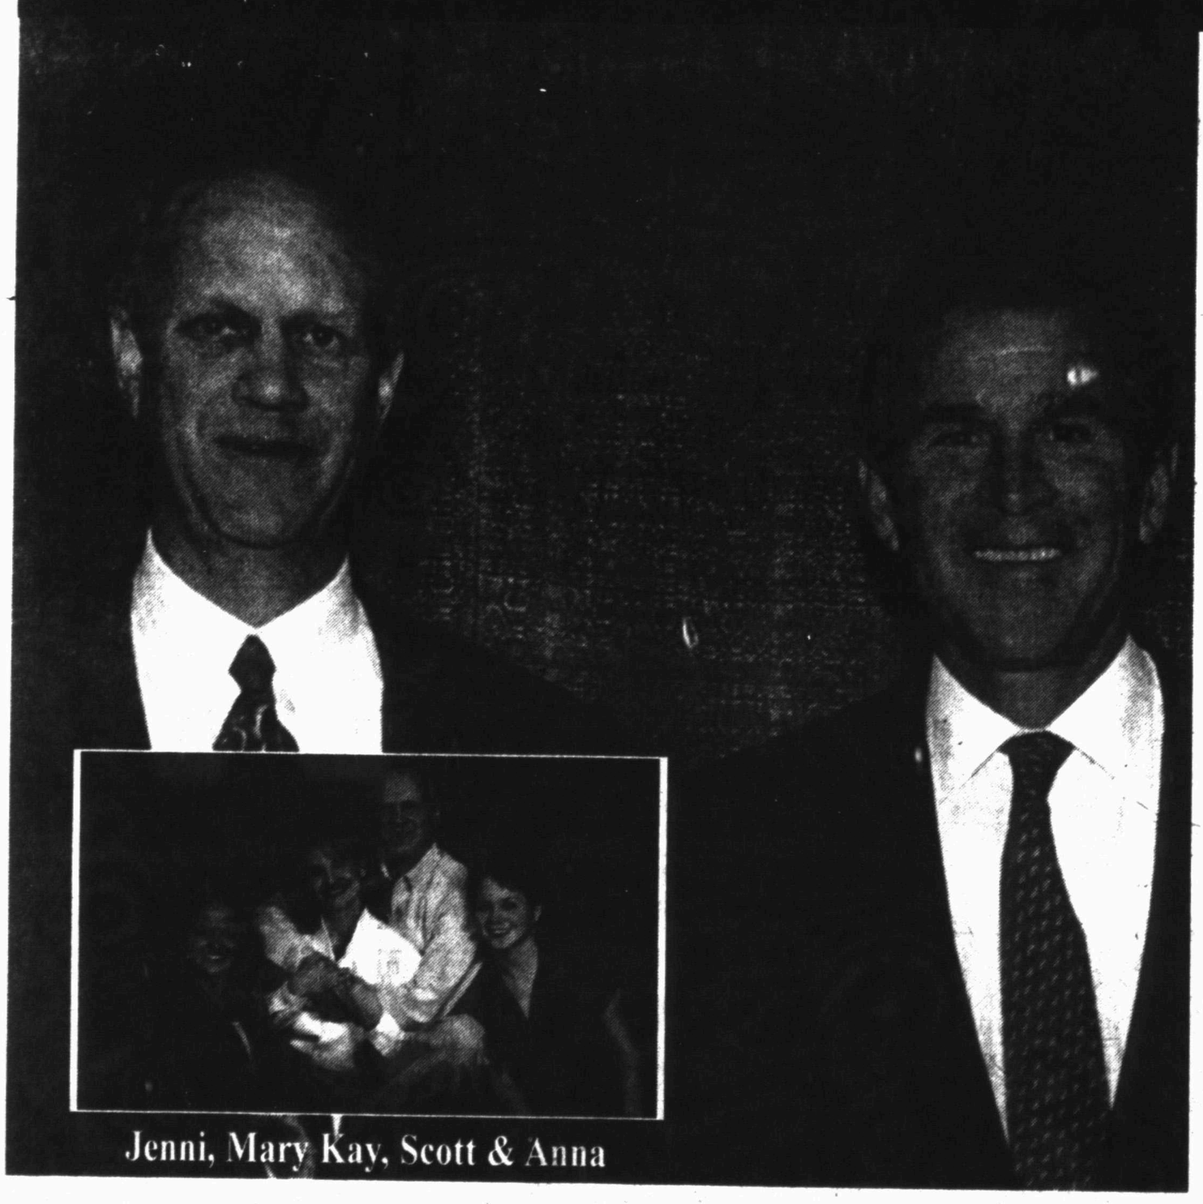

She also wants them to help the Palestinians develop the West Bank and Gaza.

Arab momentum in establishing diplomatic and economic ties to Israel was halted after Benjamin Netanyahu and his Likud coalition ousted Shimon Peres as prime minister in 1996 elections.

Netanyahu's refusal to relinquish more land and his opposition to a Palestinian state prompted the Arab freeze.

But now that he has signed an agreement with Palestinian leader Yasser Arafat to give up to the Palestinians another 13 percent of the West Bank, Albright wants the Arabs to reciprocate.

Ileta Hall

1910-1998

Ileta Henry Hall, former longtime resident of Snyder and Hermleigh, died Sunday, Oct. 25, in C.C. Young Memorial Methodist Retirement Home in Dallas where she had been a resident since April of 1997.

Graveside service for Mrs. Hall, 88, is set for 3:30 p.m. Wednesday at Hillside Memorial Gardens. Charlie Reynolds will officiate. Bell-Cypert-Seale Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Born on May 13, 1910 in Eastland County, she married C. Emery Hall on July 27, 1928 in Midland. He died in 1970. Mrs. Hall moved to Hermleigh as a young child and moved to Dallas from Snyder two years ago. Ileta and Emory Hall moved to Snyder during the oil boom in 1948. They owned and operated Hall Drug Inc. on the east highway until his death in 1970.

A homemaker, Mrs. Hall was a member of Snyder's First United Methodist Church.

Mrs. Hall was a past Worthy Matron and life member of the Hermleigh Eastern Star, a charter member of Scurry County Chapter of ABWA, and a member of Cogdell Memorial Hospital Auxiliary.

Mrs. Hall was preceded in death by a brother, Elmer Henry; and her parents, J.J. and Nancy (Kimbrough) Henry.

Survivors include one son and daughter-in-law, Larry and Janet Hall of Snyder; two granddaughters, Jody Hall and Becki Jackson; one great-granddaughter, Claire Jackson; and one great-grandson, Hunter Hall, all of Dallas.

The family suggests memorials to the Dar Gift Foundation; in care of Dr. Wylie "Buff" Hearn, Grace United Methodist Church, Alamogordo, N.M. 88310, or to a favorite charity.

Monday quiet day for police

Monday was a quiet day for local peace officers as no arrests were made and only one offense report was filed.

At 4:24 p.m., Keith Mathis requested an officer in reference to the theft of tools from 1606 30th Street. An offense report for felony theft was submitted.

In other activity, at 10 a.m., a woman requested an attempt to locate on a 14-year-old female.

Snyder Fire Department responded to a vehicle fire this morning 12 miles east on Hwy. 180.

The department received the call at 5:18 a.m. that a 1980 Ford welding truck was on fire.

Cause of the blaze is under investigation.

Kevorkian on trial on assault charge

ROYAL OAK, Mich. (AP) — Dr. Jack Kevorkian's lawyer told jurors today that police had no reason to stop his client in a confrontation that led to misdemeanor charges.

Kevorkian and associate Dr. Georges Reding are charged with obstructing police and resisting arrest. They face up to 90 days in jail and fines of $500 each if convicted.

The confrontation took place May 7 outside William Beaumont Hospital, where the two had taken the body of Matt Johnson, 26, of Aptos, Calif. He is the last known of about 120 people who Kevorkian says he has helped commit suicide.

"Dr. Kevorkian is allowed to resist an unlawful arrest," lawyer Michael A. Schwartz said in opening arguments. "It was an unlawful arrest."

Reding's lawyer, Rebecca Walsh, said her client was arrested because of a police vendetta against Kevorkian.

In each advertisement on this page you will find the contestants in a prominent football game being played around the country this weekend. On the entry blank at the bottom of the page, fill in your selection of the WINNING TEAM only...opposite the name of the business firm on the entry blank. Then clip out the entry blank and send it to FOOTBALL CONTEST EDITOR, Snyder Daily News, Box 949, Snyder, TX 79550, or bring it by the news office at 3600 College Ave. Entries must be in the hands of the editor by 5:00 p.m. Friday. Games ending in a tie must be specified as a tie or else it will be considered a miss.

To avoid splitting the prize money a TIE-BREAKER slot will be provided on each entry blank. Pick the total points of the score for that game and in case of a tie the one who picks the winner and the nearest number of total points will receive the prize money. The same formula will apply to second and third place winners. In the case of a perfect score, the formula would apply for the $250 cash prize. To win the $1,000 cash prize, all twenty games must be picked correctly, plus the exact score must be predicted on the tie-breaker.

There will be fun for the entire family. Only one entry blank will be permitted for any one person. More than one will disqualify all that person's entries. Entries must be on the official entry blank (No Copies Please). Scores listed on the entry blank will have no bearing except in the case of the tie-breaker. Sign your entry blank and list your address and phone number and watch for the winner's story in next Tuesday's SDN. Employees of the SDN and their families are not eligible to enter.
