Volume 8 Number 38 | CLARENDON, DONLEY COUNTY, TEXAS, NOVEMBER 19, 1936 | A Common Paper For Common People

Beloved Donley County Ranchman Dies Sunday

Funeral services for W. D. Jorden, 81, were held at the Blackburn-Shaw funeral parlor in Amarillo Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock. He had been in failing health for several months, and was taken from Amarillo to Marlin just a few days before his death from heart failure.

Jorden was reared in Chicago and came to Oklahoma in 1878. He worked for Dean Brothers for about 12 years. In 1890 he went with the Bureau of Animal Industry as Livestock inspector, being located at St. Louis and later at Quanah.

He had charge of the eradication of the Texas fever tick from South Texas to the north line of Texas and Oklahoma, and continued in this line of operation for about 15 years.

He then became associated with the American Livestock Loan Company of Denver until 1917, being general superintendent of all of their ranches located in the Panhandle. Later Jorden formed a Partnership in the ranch business with M. K. Brown at Pampa. They operated the 2-Bar Ranch, which was located north and west of Skellytown.

They sold an interest in their ranch and became associated with Ware, Ware & Gardner.

At the time of his death he had a large amount of oil development on his property and he owned a ranch at Ashtola. He also continued to lease joint properties located in Carson and Hutchinson counties operating there with John McClellan.

He has educated a number of young boys and girls and has three proteges in school at the present time, one of whom finishes New Mexico Military Institute this year.

He has always donated liberally to all worthy charitable causes and has rendered aid to a number of worthy people, but never was inclined to publicize his philanthropic deeds.

He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Harry Long, her two children who live in Arkansas City, Kansas, and by a brother R. P. Jorden who lives at Norman, Arkansas.

The acting pallbearers are: John McClellan, R. C. Ware, Hall Medfoed, Charles Ware, M. K. Brown, C. R. Garner, Theodore Pyle and Cecil Buckler.

Honary pallbearers are: Jim Bolton, Charles E. Collins. A. E. DeRicqles, George Watson, W. H. Ingerton, Sr., B. T. Ware, G. T. Wiley, Glen Coffee, Fred Hobart, Harry Roberson, Joe Sneed, W. H. Patrick, Joe Horn, W. J. Lewis, Charles McMurtry, Bill Cravens, Bob Muir, Rube Music, Ray Poole, D. P. Seay, Clinton Henry, John Blocker, John Molesworth and Jack Roach.

Interment will be in Arkansas City, Kansas.

Other friends attending the funeral service from this section were J. W. Kent, M. H. W. Ritchie, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Haile, Mr. and Mrs. E. H Estlack, Hugh Brown, Mr and Mrs. Hubert Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Noland and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Brown and son, O. L. Smith, Mrs. L. B. Merrell, Mrs. J. T. Sims, Mr. and Mrs. Lu McClellan, Mr. and Mrs. John McClellan, O. H. Bellamy, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Thornberry, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Pyle and others.

Commissioners Say County Needs Tax Money

The statement by the county commissioners relative to the hospital as published in the Leader last week is but one indication of the plight of the county government financially right now.

One commissioner stated Monday that taxes were coming in very slowly, and that the needs were great. In this issue of the Leader an advertisement calls attention to the fact that split tax payments may be made up to the evening of the 30th of this month.

If half of the taxes are paid now, the other half may be paid any time up until June 1st. If half is not paid this month, the whole amount becomes due after the first, and the penalty is attached after January 1st.

NUTS AND DOLTS

By RAY ALLEN

Nocturne—B Sharp or B Flat

The curtain never drops on that great American tragedy known as "Death on the Highways." Night falls and the stage is darkened, but Death stalks on. Indeed, the drama quickens, for under cover of darkness the grim villain of the piece exacts his heaviest toll.

Danger looms too suddenly out of the shadows. There often isn't time to avert it. Careless pedestrians fall under speeding wheels. Bright lights glare. Drivers crash into fixed objects and into each other.

Statistics prepared by the Travelers Insurance Company show that deaths after dark last year numbered 21,480, while deaths during the normal hours of daylight, when traffic was much heavier, numbered but 14,620.

The moral is clear: When the sun goes down, slow down.

MARTIN SCHOOL WILL CELEBRATE

Will Have Thanksgiving Program in School Auditorium 26th

The enterprising citizens of the Martin community propose to observe Thanksgiving Day with an appropriate program in which the ladies will "bring several baked turkeys," according to our informant. Mrs. Richard Cannon is chairman of the arrangement committee in seeing the dinner served most satisfactorily.

A big crowd is expected for none other than W. H. Morrow and George Bulman have been selected to "oversee" the cleaning up process after the dinner hour.

By way of amusement, a basketball game has been arranged for at the two o'clock hour, "if a team can be induced to invade the community." That challenge will prompt plenty of "invaders," more especially since the turkey feed has been announced.

The tentative program is as follows:

History of Thanksgiving—Mrs. Jim Baker.
Poem—Sixth Graders.
Why should we be thankful—Mrs. Talley.
Song—Thanksgiving, by girls of 7th and 8th grades.
How we should be thankful?—Mrs. Noel Harvey.
Reading—Third grade.
Are we thankful?—Mr. Brown.
Further announcement will appear in the Leader next week.

Clarendon Couple Makes Mexico Trip

History of the Ages Viewed In Visit to Toltec Ruins Near Mexico City

At the close of the Methodist conference at Houston, Rev. and Mrs. T. S. Barcus in company with Rev. and Mrs. E. Gaston Foote of Little Rock made a tour of Old Mexico.

Monterey and Victoria were among the first towns visited. As the old Indian city of Tamazunchale came into view, the trip took on a decided interest.

Some time was spent in Cuernavaca, the home of the Morrows while he was American ambassador. Morrow gave the town paintings of great value, but his daughter, Miss Elizabeth Morrow, gave the town a school building complete, said to have cost $20,000.

Making the trip by auto over the national highway, hardsurfaced all the way except for about sixty miles, Mexico City soon came into view. Many were the delights of the Mexican capital, but no trip is complete until Teotihuacan is visited. Here are located the ancient pyramids of the Toltec Indians, constructed approximately 1500 years ago.

Mrs. Barcus states that soldiers patrol the highway across the nation, there being no danger from rebel attack. Her greatest thrill over the long ribbon of new highway was over a pass at an altitude of 8,800 feet. She learned that Mexican engineers planned and built the highway, and that the first engineering school of this kind on the north American continent was in Old Mexico.

Not more than a half dozen residents of Clarendon have made the trip to Mexico City, but many will during the next two years with the completion of the national highway.

ATTENTION OF OFFICIALS IS BEING CALLED TO IMPORTANCE HIGHWAY 88

Three Federal Highways, And Proide North-South North-South Highway Would Provide Outlet To South for Highway in Gap of 110 Miles Between Estelline and Turkey

At a called meeting of the directors of the 88-18 Highway Association held here Thursday of last week, it was voted to send a large delegation to Austin to appear before the State Highway Commission on November 23-24. This delegation representing every county interested, was instructed to ask for a designation of a north-south highway from the state line south through Ochiltree, Roberts, Gray, Donley, Hall, Motley and Dickens counties, and as far south as the Commission saw fit to designate.

A committee composed of A. L. Chase, G. G. Reeves, J. M. Hill was appointed to draw up a brief to be presented at the hearing, with A. L. Chase as spokesman.

It was also voted to ask President Odos Caraway to make an appointment with Hon. Harry Hines of the State Commission for a conference at Dallas. This committee composed of Jim Collins and Garnet Reeves of Pampa, G. G. Reeves of Clarendon, J. A. Lacy of Turkey, Judge Commack of Matador, met with Mr. Hines Friday. From this meeting, the committee was impressed with the importance of having a large delegation at the Austin meeting.

Project No. 1 set out in the recommendations of the special committee asks for a closing of a gap from Highway 18 at Turkey north to Clarendon connecting with Highway 88, a distance of 39 miles.

Project No. 2 asked for would connect Highways 33 and 83 extending from a point nine miles east of Pampa to a point approximately seven miles south of Perryton, Texas.

It is further pointed out by the committee that the designation of these two projects will complete a north and south highway from Federal Highway No. 83 to Del Rio, Texas, forming a continuous highway from Canada to Old Mexico. This is the ultimate object of the "88-18 North-South Highway Association."

There are thirty members of this troupe of Farley's that has made a reputation for a good, clean fun making circus over the Panhandle for the past three years.

They have staged a frolic at Lelia Lake and Hedley this season, and the folks down that way state that the troupe certainly made good. Singing, dancing and plenty of music in a big variety are on the list of amusements.

PANHANDLE PRESS ASSOCIATION

HIGHWAY NEEDS ARE EMPHASIZED.

The unselfish emphasis placed upon the importance of a north-south highway, and the fine cooperation of the citizens of the various counties through which the proposed highway will pass, will go a long way toward impressing those in authority with the worthiness of the project.

The logic of a proposition is generally considered first. In this respect, the North-South Highway Association has admirably set out the needs and value of the proposed 88-18 route from Clarendon south, as well as the 33-83 route to the north.

Across a stretch of 110 miles east to west, there is no north-south highway through this section. Detours must be made which detracts from the value of federal and state highways already constructed.

A direct highway route from Canada to Del Rio through this section would soon become one of the leading highway arteries of the nation. Citizens of Old Mexico have expressed a willingness to continue the highway from Del Rio on our border, across their nation possibly connecting with Mexico City.

BETTER LIVING AT HOME.

A farmer friend came in Tuesday and announced that he did not make near as much cotton as he had expected to make. After some conversation, he disclosed the fact that he had killed six meat hogs for a family of five. His wife has put up 864 quarts of canned food. He has nine Jersey cows, fine milk stock, and sells cream. That means a weekly pay check. He has about 150 hens and is selling an average of 46 dozen eggs a week for which he receives better than 30 cents a dozen. Except for cotton seed meal for his cows, he has produced far more than enough feed to run him until the next crop. He has paid all debts made this year, and some on his old debts. He doesn't think he is "getting anywhere" at this rate. What do you think about his "awful" predicament?

W. D. JORDEN

With the passing of Mr. Jordan Sunday, the heaviest loss was sustained by boys and girls of school age, and by little tots who look forward to Christmas time with anxious anticipation.

He loved children with an intense love seldom found in any one. Even those who did not know him personally,. benefitted through his generosity and affection at Christmas time. Motherless children especially touched the finer sensibilities of that rugged western ranchman.

He made it possible for hundreds of little folks to share in the joys of a Christmas tree. To those whom he had known for a time, he often sent five dollars, or ten dollars, merely as a gift.

To the young men and women struggling to secure an education, he lent a helping hand. Many were his benefactions. Some repaid him. Some did not. He seemed to care little being concerned most in their success, and reaped pleasure from seeing them build upward.

In speaking to the writer in 1933, Mr. Jordan enumerated his great financial loss in the depression. After discussing this phase of the matter at length, he calmly remarked: "It may all go that way, and all that I will have left is what I have given away to the needy."

He shunned publicity. He cared not for the plaudits of the public. His was a life serene and calm. He faced eternity that way. He had no misgivings of what was on the other side, as he expressed it, but expected to leave this plane of action most any time.

He accumulated a large fortune. He gave away several. He was a big man with big ideas. He was a devoted friend, a prince among men. But above all, he liked children and proved it. They were his friends, and today, they miss him and mourn his passing most. Mr. Jordan lived an eventful existence crowned with success. He left behind love and affection, a pattern for doing good deeds, the most enduring monument of all.

By the Apostle

The biggest story breaks in New Mexico the location being somewhere near Clovis. It has to do with the duck crop, wild ones. They are said to be lighting on the lakes in such great numbers that the water is mashed down and the fish "squashed" out on dry land. This calamity was remedied by pumping more water into a certain lake, or at least that is the story.

At this time of the year, Texas weather is tropical between northers. Further than that, only dumb animals know much about the weather, and they can't sense a change more than a few hours ahead.

Our old-time blue northers took out when the black carbon plant smoke gummed up the atmosphere. There was a time when "northers" would appear at the northern horizon as a cloud of blue or black color. Within a few hours, the wind from the north would be taking wash tubs to the canyons, and hats too, if one happened to get loose.

There was a time when a woman was disgraced if she dropped in with the young man into a strange place for a cup of coffee and a cookie. Now she drops in for several shots of gin and a bridge game and nothing is said about it.

There was once music that had tune, melody and rhythm no matter what kind of instruments were used. Now we have radio orchestras made up of mental gymnasts making a sound like a bunch of kids dragging a board over the ribs of a picket fence with a few more pounding on washtubs. The leader is apparently as crazy as any of them when he stands in front waving a trombone, hat on one ear, and antics that would put a Mexican jumping bean out of the contest. A modern orchestra using a piano is not getting anywhere unless the piano is decidedly out of tune.

Early Egyptian history, recorded in the Bible, relates an age of the same thing. The girls wore bells on their toes, and thus went barefoot. In this respect, the gals have something left yet to pull on us.

Every town almost has its important racial connections, and remote scions of nobility. It's not our fault, fate just handed it out that way. For instance, Jim Patman is a cousin of Congressman Wright Patman, my choice of that body. Tom F. Connally is a cousin of Senator Tom Connally. While he modestly admits it, Frank Whitlock is a blood nephew of ex-Gov. Ross S. Sterling. Then coming on down the line with surprises, a lot of us are mixed up with the Indian tribes. My maternal great grandmother was a Cherokee squaw of that branch left in Virginia. On the other side, the name was "Eastlake" until grandfather fell out with his brothers over some property. The history of the name is given in the Encyclopedia Brittancia tracing it back to Sir John Locke of England, the original English being the same stock as the Germans. My maternal grandfather came from the Baron Von Tries and Baron Von Biels of Alsace-Loraine. A fellow's ancestry will not buy a biscuit today, and the fellow who tries to live on his granddaddy's reputation, is in darn hard shape. This bit of history is given only to interest the curious. Is there any other "nobility" in Donley county outside the Beau Braummels of the Hereford family?

Then there is C. L. Polk, esteemed fellow-townsman who recently went back to Arkansaw. He is said to have discovered, explored and named Polk county, Arkansaw, but quit that country and came to Texas when they changed the custom to cooking bacon with poke greens instead of hog jowls. His recent trip back there found no change in the custom, and he returned to live in grand old Donley county where he expects to see a hog jowl cooked with poke greens next spring. The writer grows the poke, Brother Polk, but it's up to you to get the jowl.

Mr. Polk says he never discovered the greens bearing a similar name, else it would be spelled differently.

Newspapers pay out thousands of dollars each year to slip to their readers scandal of the movie actors in which respectable readers are not even remotely interested.

Today a fellow made the statement that those who lived in rented houses were treated like they could get off the earth if they didn't like it. It might be added that the owner will be getting off at the same time if taxes keep increasing.

Then there was the sympathetic man with a Bible under his arm buying a bottle of booze to help the aged pensioners.

There are a lot of things gotten up these days to relieve mothers of the annoyance and care of their children, but the mother who wrapped her baby in a newspaper and mailed it to a fictitious person in a distant city last week, appears to have won the prize.

Some years ago my second son imported a female police dog from South Dakota. She instantly 'took up' with the family upon her arrival as a half grown puppy. In due time she was raising pups for the market. As Pal, the mother dog, saw her brood diminish tho they were slipped away from her, she grew sad. It was her custom to take them out for exercise and training. She carefully guarded them from danger of cats, other dogs and the street. After the last of the litter was sold, Pal was sad and pensive for days, whining and hunting for her babies. She finally went the way of all good dogs. A "civilized" human being gave her poison. In looking at the mother instinct displayed by Pal for her babies, and seeing her sadness as they were gradually being taken away from her, I often wondered if it would not be best for mother dogs to go in for cocktail parties and forget their babies as some "human" mothers do.

Then there has been some deserting done on the other side, entirely too much, and as is usually the case, the innocent suffer most. Mothers and children have been deserted. In one store alone in the Panhandle are eight deserted widows, five of whom have children. Some of these mothers with children of school age, are given two days work clerking each week for which they are paid two dollars a day. Out of this the mother must pay rent, buy food and keep two or more children in school. Some day a "charity" organization will make a "survey" of conditions in the larger Panhandle towns, and when that report is printed, the lid will fly off. Some of the most atrocious forms of white slavery will be exposed. Women who are forced to entertain traveling men and store managers at a hotel over night in order to hold a job and feed their children, is the worst form of white slavery, and the guilty parties who spread these slimy trails over the Panhandle aught to be made to pay a dear price for their perfidy. Some of the best "entertainers" are said to be able to hold a steady clerkship at $40 a week. It is not the nicest subject to discuss, but so long as such conditions obtain, let's discuss it until it is cleaned up. The fear of advertising loss prevents a number of newspapers from turning on the light, but if the respectable element lacks backbone, who is going to get the job started?

The month of November will soon be gone, and with it that special rate of $1 a year for the Leader. If your time is up, or about up, get that dollar to the Leader right now before you forget it. The rate outside Donley county is $1.50 due to the extra postage.

Col. Jack Stricklin down at Brownfield seems to think that Rev. J. M. Fryar should pay extra because he gets his mail at Pea Ridge, Arkansaw. As one who looked over the old battlefield at Pea Ride around Elk Horn Tavern years ago, there was a lot of veneration for the sacred spot. A relative fought there three days under Major Van Dorn. The yankees under Gen. Siegel gave them plenty to do. The trees still showed the marks of the "minnie" balls and bullets. The Elk horns were still on the tavern. Yes, Jack, it is a sacred spot where poor men had a fight in a rich man's war, just like all the rest of the wars. Ask the preacher to write up the Pea Ride battle, Jack. It would make a great story.

Well, folks, after feeling like a republican for two weeks on account of the flu, the old man is back on the New Deal this week. Thanks a lot folks, for spare ribs, backbones and sausage. It all helped.

Oh yeh, and Ima Fizzle's friend, Sally Patica, was over too.

Our Georgia friends may secure a copy each of the pardon law, the law governing stock on the highway, and the county parole board plan by writing the Secretary of State, Austin, Texas. This will answer several inquiries.

Having heard that our forefathers turned over in their graves when state's rights were being trampled upon, there must be a dust cloud over cemeteries back in the older settled sections all the time.

A son of the king of Spain came to this nation practically broke. That was a few months ago. His first job was that of auto salesman. In taking a car to a prospect, something went wrong and he got under the car to fix it. When he arrived at the home of the prospective purchaser the man remarked: "I don't want to buy a car from a tramp." The next day when that snooty guy found out he had been talking to the son of a king, he came in to apologize. The king's son refused to see him saying, "the son of a king is just a human being, and it merely showed up the ignorance of the prospective buyer."

Bill Greenwood up at Olympia, Washington is building an ark in preparation for the second big flood that will come Noah-wise in 1938. He eats raw potatoes. One thing may be said in his favor, he spends his own means on his nutty hobby, and does not make his state pay for keeping him hemmed up in a lunatic asylum.

Some fellows don't know success when they see it. Down in New Mexico a man ate beans for years, went east every fall to pick cotton taking his family along, and just barely got by. Now he is in the middle of an oil field and kicking about his income tax.

A recent request for change of address on the Leader locates Mr. Spitzer and son Floyd at 13 Elati street, Denver where they are getting along nicely.

Manufacturer Believes We Need Lower Prices

New York, Nov. 12.—More inventions, not fewer, are needed to gear the wheels of mass production to greater speed and provide additional production that will bring unemployment to a minimum, M. E. Coyle, president and general manager of the Chevrolet Motor Company, told members of the Advertising Club of New York at its annual automobile meeting here today.

Mr. Coyle, who was introduced to the advertising men and automotive leaders by Henry T. Ewald, president of the Campbell-Ewald Company, urged a greater use of machinery to lead mass production industry to even greater heights in the future.

"We need more, not less, new inventions," Mr. Coyle declared. "We need more goods at a lower price, within a range where more of our people can be induced to buy, and can afford to pay—not less goods at higher prices. Our unemployment problem cannot possibly be solved by any other method."

Mr. Coyle drew a picture of the economic laws that determine the effect of production costs on selling price, of selling price on volume, and of volume on employment figures, citing the history of Chevrolet as an example of how mass production works.

"Twenty years ago Chevrolet was producing an open touring car at a price of nearly $2200 list," Mr. Coyle said. "It produced approximately 3,000 units a year, employed a few hundred men, and its purchases and freight tonnage were not particularly important either to the sources of supply or to the transportation companies. Only a small number of dealers and salesmen were required to distribute its cars.

"Today Chevrolet is offering an infinitely better product at prices below $700 for even the most expensive model. The annual production for 1936 will exceed one and one-quarter million units, with many daily records above 6,400 cars.

"This means that more than the annual production of twenty years ago is now built in the morning of each working day, and an equal quantity in the afternoon. Even this rate of production is not always sufficient to supply the field demand during the high volume months.

"More than 60,000 persons are now employed on Chevrolet's payroll—the company requires 10,000 tons of material each working day—and it would require 45 complete freight trains, of 50 cars each, to handle inbound and outbound shipments necessary for one day's production.

"There are now also 10,000 dealers, with their 80,000 employees, engaged in the distribution of this one line of cars.

"The increase in the direct and indirect employment that has been accomplished was made possible only through offering improved product at lower prices—prices so low that many people desired to buy and could afford to pay.

"Lower prices were attained by cost reductions, and cost reductions were principally due to improved manufacturing methods and the use of so-called labor-saving machinery. This demonstrates the practical operation of the cycle—reduction of cost and price, increase in volume and employment—and without machinery this result could not have been attained."

With the increased use of machinery, and the consequent decrease of manufacturing costs, Mr. Coyle explained, the total labor requirement is increased through higher volume.

"The fact that the hourly wage rates of the automotive industry are the highest of any industry in the world today shows the effect of this practice over a period of time," declared Mr. Coyle.

He credited the use of machinery which has so deeply influenced the four factors of cost and price, volume and employment, for the unusual advances that have taken place within the automobile industry.

Mr. Coyle declared that the industry has every reason to believe that America will in the future require more, not less, motor cars.

PATHFINDER CLUB

This Club met in regular session at the Club Room Friday, with Mrs. J. W. Evans presiding in the absence of the president, Mrs. L. N. Cox who was attending the States Federated Clubs convention in San Antonio.

Miss Lottie Lane was elected treasurer to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation and removal of Mrs. John Bass, who now resides in Lubbock.

Mrs.C. A. Burton voiced the appreciation of the City Commission to the Pathfinder club for its loyal support to "our library," which was sponsorsd by the Pathfinders, and to which they continue to contribute one dollar for each member.

The Travelogue was resumed under the able leadership of Mrs. J. W. Evans who took the members on a visit to the famous shrines of Virginia, and their number is legion.

Mrs. Fred Buntin gave a resume of Philadelphia, the "City of Brotherly Love," from its inception by William Penn in 1682, until the present time. From her paper we leared the city was first in many things: established the first circulating library, fire insurance company, first public water works, first volunteer fire commission, had the first paved and first lighted streets, and the old Walnut street theater was the first in America.

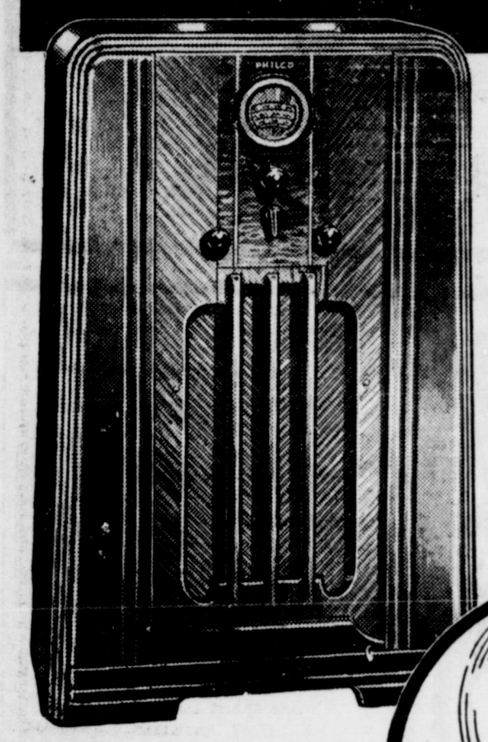

The first stock exchange was started there, and it may be of interest to many to know that the first ice cream soda was concocted by a Philadelphia druggist to alleviate the thirst of the nation.

Mrs. W. C. Stewart took the members on a mental visionary trip to Washington who vividly pictured the exciting and romatic scenes from 1800 when the government house was completed, Washington himself having laid the corner stone of the north wing with Masonic ceremonies in 1793. She related Washington landscape according to plans of L'Efants, the noted French landscape engineer, who used the Capitol Hill as a pivot to branch the streets in all directions that a plain view of the capitol might be had in case of military invasion. Her description of the main buildings were most vivid, and far too numerous to mention.

Hostesses were Mesdames L. E. Thompson and H. T. Burton, serving dainty refreshments during the social hour. Mrs. Thompson's mother, Mrs. J. M. Neel, was a guest of the club.

STORY, SONGS, DANCES MAKE 'DIMPLES' SHIRLEY TEMPLE'S GREATEST TRIUMPH

* * * * * * * * * * * *

Singing, dancing and dimpling her way once more into millions of hearts, Shirley Temple's new Twentieth Century Fox triumph, "Dimples," opens Wednesday and Thursday, November 25-26th at The Pastime Theatre.

Hailed as Shirley's wonder show, and featuring swingy new song hits and brand new dance steps, "Dimples" is heralded as the outstanding hit in the little star's parade of brilliant triumphs.

An exceptional cast, headed by the irrepressible and inimitable Frank Morgan, supports Shirley in the film, with Helen Westley, Robert Kent, Astrid Allwyn, Delma Byron, the Hall Johnson Choir and Stepin Fetchit prominently featured.

Replete with laughter, romance and drama, "Dimples" tells the story of a lovable little street minstrel, Shirley, and her incorrigible but irresistibly funny guardian Frank Morgan.

The film opens with Shirley leading a group of young sidewalk minstrels through songs and dances. As they conclude their performance Morgan pushes through the crowd and starts off the "contributions." This is how he and Shirley eke out a precarious livelihood.

Morgan has a penchant for other people's belongings and his nimble fingers fasten on anything of value with which they come in contact. His peccadillos eventually lead him into trouble but he goes scot free through Shirley's winsome smiles and pleas.

With Shirley mothering and caring for the irresponsible scamp, the film moves through its highly entertaining story, climaxed with Shirley being cast in the starring role in a presentation of "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

With Morgan and Stepin Fetchit contributing hilarious laughter, Robert Kent, Astrid Allwyn and Delma Byron youthful romance, Helen Westley and Berton Churchill providing stirring drama, and Shirley better than even her previous "bests," "Dimples" is the greatest in the succession of Shirley Temple pictures.

Darryl F. Zanuck selected William A. Seiter director and Nunnally Johnson associate producer for the film.

Arthur Sheekman and Nat Perrin authored the screen play and Jimmy McHugh and Ted Koehler wrote the music and lyrics.

ARE YOU ONE?

Are you one of the folks who always kick,
No matter what is done?
Do you growl at the cold of the winter wind
And the heat of the summer sun?
Do you throw cold water upon the hopes
And plans of your fellowmen,
Or if they ask you advice and help
Do they find you kicking them?
Perhaps they are planning for something big;
Do you tell them it can't be done
Or pitch right in with might and main
And see that the job is begun?
When you get to heaven are you going to say
That the angels sing too loud?
Will you find something wrong with everything
In that place where there's never a cloud?
Will you say that the harps are all out of tune,
And the mansions are not built right?
Are you going to be dissatisfied then
With the style of your robe of white?
Do you think you will kick when you go up there
And say your crown is too small
Oh no! You're going to be thankful then,
That you got into heaven at all.
So if you're a kicker, you'd best call a halt,
And look at the bright side of life;
Then you'll change your frown to a cheery smile
When you bear your share of the strife,
For optimism and pessimism
Are two things that just won't mix.
Not to him who eternally kicks.

—DELLA M. BLAIR.

Dean of Meat Cutters Gets Back on Job Again

The familiar face of J. M. Baxter is behind the block at the City Grocery market to welcome his many friends and customers.

Mr. Baxter was ill for a number of months due to a foot infection, but is his old self again, wearing the smile that won't come off. He is the oldest meat cutter in the county in point of years and in years of experience. That is why the other boys refer to Mr. Baxter as "the dean of meat cutters."

Mrs. Jessie Proctor of New Mexico, spent over the weekend with her sister, Mrs. Bill Hardin. Mrs. Proctor was on her way to Colorado where her husband is, to make their home.

Miss Ruby Dell Scoggins, student of West Texas College at Canyon, spent the week end with relatives and friends here.

Tickets for the Father-Son banquet next Monday night may be had at Norwood Pharmacy, or at the Rexall store. Price is 50 cents.
