GOP Will Try To Pass New Soil Bank Measure

FLOODED OUT—Rescuers carry a woman from her home in a flooded section of Corpus Christi, Tex., shortly after seven inches of rain fell in a six-hour period, flooding homes, business firms and streets throughout the city. Water was four feet deep in some sections of the city and hundreds of motorists were marooned in stalled cars.

Flood Water Drops

By The Associated Press

Flood waters from torrential rains that dumped as much as 10 inches in South Texas were receding Tuesday.

More showers and thundershowers were forecast for most of the state Tuesday night and Wednesday.

The downpours Monday, which the Weather Bureau termed practically cloudbursts, threatened young crops from Corpus Christi to Brownsville.

In contrast to the deluge in South Texas, a sandstorm forced postponement of a West Texas baseball game at Pampa Monday night.

The Weather Bureau said that there was practically no chance for general rains, badly needed to break the drought which had become nearly statewide.

Overnight showers fell at Beaumont, Galveston, Houston, Laredo, Amarillo, Childress and along the Red River Valley.

The heaviest rainfall Monday was in the Taft-Sinton area a few miles northeast of Corpus Christi. There 10 inches or so fell. Corpus Christi itself received 7.14 inches with 4.5 inches cascading down in two hours.

Port Isabel had 7.02 inches, Brownsville 2.10, Los Fresnos 2.20, Raymondville 1.72 and Jourdanton 2 inches. Lighter amounts were received at Kingsville, Fentress, Luling, Martindale, San Marcos, San Benito, Harlingen, Weslaco, Edinburg, McAllen, Palacios, Beeville, Cotulla and Austin.

Water rose in many stores and some homes in the flood area but only a few families were forced to leave their homes temporarily. Some highways were closed and hundreds of cars were trapped for a short time.

Cloud weather prevailed over the state early Tuesday the except in far West Texas and the Panhandle.

Pre-dawn temperatures ranged from 33 degrees at Dalhart to 69 at Brownsville.

HAPPY COUPLE—Rev. and Mrs. H. C. Foster smile as they come out of the St. John's Baptist Church in Dallas, Tex., after their marriage. Mrs. Foster, the former Autherine Lucy, who was expelled from the University of Alabama after her attendance at the all-white school caused campus riots, said she would try to re-enter the University after a brief honeymoon and a membership tour for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Cut In Tax Is Studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican congressional leaders decided at a White House conference today to seek passage of a $1,200,000,000 soil bank bill within the next 24 hours.

The GOP leaders said tax reduction also was discussed at their weekly meeting with President Eisenhower. They indicated the feeling was that prospects are dim for a tax cut even if the government winds up the fiscal year with a larger-than-expected two billion dollar surplus.

House GOP leader Martin (Mas.) said he is "very hopeful and confident" Democrats will get behind the soil bank proposal which, among other things, would authorize the President to start making 500 million dollars in advance payments during this crop year to farmers who agree to participate in the program.

Martin said he was counting on support from some Democrats "knowing they want to help the farmer this year and not next year."

The Republicans said they will make their big push for the soil bank in the form they want by some parliamentary technique to produce a bill giving the President special authorization to launch the program.

Democrats have not objected to voting $1,200,000,000 to get the program started but many contend Eisenhower already has authority to launch the program itself under existing law.

Sen Johnson, Democratic leader in the Senate, spoke for his party last night in a nationwide radio-TV speech replying to Eisenhower's address a week earlier explaining his veto of the election-year farm relief bill.

The Texas Democrat contended that when Eisenhower first ran for the presidency four years ago, he campaigned for high supports as "the best thing for the farmer." After the Republicans won, Johnson said, "this promise was forgotten."

Then, after vetoing the farm bil largely because of high support provisions, Johnson said Eisenhower "completely abandoned his flexible supports" by raising price props for cotton, wheat, corn and rice above previously announced or anticipated levels for this years crops.

"In 1952 and in 1956 the Republicans favor high supports," Johnson told his audience. "In 1953 and 1954 and 1955 the Republicans favor low supports. They favor high supports in election years and low supports in nonelection years ... If the past is any guide to the future, Gen. Eisenhower's Republican administration will go back to 75 per cent next year — if it is still around at that time."

Sen. Aikin Scheduled To Speak Here

State Senator A. M. Aikin, Jr., of Paris, co-author of the Gilmer-Aikin school laws, will be main speaker at noon tomorrow at a joint meeting of Snyder civic clubs.

Aikin is also scheduled for two other talks in this area, both dealing with public school education. One is at Sweetwater tonight at a meeting of the Oilbelt Schoolmasters Association, while the other will be at 3 p.m. tomorrow before the faculty of the Snyder school system.

The senator has announced his candidacy for the office of lieutenant governor. He has been a member of the Legislature since 1932, when he was elected to the House of Representatives. He has been in the Senate 19 years.

Aikin has been a member of practically every commitee in the Senate and has been chairman of commitees on finance, state affairs, employment, contingent expenses, general investigating, and others.

He has sponsored legislation on farm-to-market roads, education, state hospitals, schools for blind and deaf, special education for retarded children, junior colleges, rural aid appropriations, salary increases for state employes, firemen and policemen, National Guard armory board, and others.

Aikin is senior member of a law firm at Paris and senior partner in a men's apparel store there. He is a director of the Liberty National Bank in Paris.

Segregation On Buses In Montgomery Halts

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Montgomery's embattled bus company ended segregated seating this morning despite a City Commission warning to continue separate facilities for white persons and Negroes.

An elderly Negro woman, unaware she was taking part in an unprecedented occasion, became the first of her race to ride on an unsegregated bus in Montgomery.

But the unidentified woman moved to the formerly segregated section in the back after boarding the bus in the chill dawn at historic Court Square, where the first buses of the day make the initial stop to take on passengers. She was the only person waiting at the bus stop.

Montgomery City Lines, target of a crippling Negro boycott that became part of a nationwide anti-segregation crusade, posted a notice last night saying it would comply with the U. S. Supreme Court ruling holding bus segregation unconstitutional.

The first buses to roll under the tradition-smashing edict did not begin operating until after 5 a.m. CST. Most of the drivers first learned of the company's desegregation order when they reported for work at dawn.

The order to stop assigning seats according to race put the bus company squarely in the middle between the Supreme Court ruling and a stern warning earlier yesterday from Mayor W. A. Gayle that the company continue to maintain strict racial segregation in its vehicles.

The company's directive bere the name of Manager J. H. Bagley, who was unavailable for immediate comment.

Before the desegregation order was posted, Gayle hinted that legal action might be taken if bus officials disregarded state and city laws requiring segregation. He could not be reached early today for comment on what steps if any were planned now that the company has done away with racially separate seating requirements.

City police said that they had no orders to make any arrests of drivers or bus company officials.

Two Injured In Accidents

Two one-car accidents early yesterday morning here resulted in only slight injuries, according to Bill Zimmerman, highway patrolman who investigated both accidents.

The first occurred at 12:20 a.m. two miles north of Ira on State Highway 350. Max Eugene Preston, 23, of 218 Thirty-first Street, was driving a 1956 Pontiac sedan when it ran off the pavement on the right side of the road and then crossed the pavement to the lefthand side, where it overturned. Damage to the car was total, but Preston was not injured enough for hospitalization.

The second accident occurred at 4:30 a.m. about a mile east of Snyder at the intersection of one farm road with another. Bobby Bates Edmiaston, 26, of Rainbow Courts, was driving a 1956 Ford coupe and failed to make a turn. The car struck a dirt embankment on the right-of-way. There was considerable damage to the car, but Edmiaston was only slightly injured. He was still in Cogdel Memorial Hospital today.

One Person Indicted By County Grand Jury

The Scurry County grand jury was in session all day yesterday and after the day's work indicted one person.

The group will report back at 9 a.m. Friday to continue its present session.

James Doyle of Snyder was re-indicted by the grand jury on a charge of murder with a motor vehicle in connection with the death April 10 of Mrs. W. H. Talley of Camp Springs. The two were involved in an auto collision of a farm road east of here. Doyle had been indicted previously by the group, but the original indictment was not complete.

Rodney Puts Bow And Arrow To Use

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — Rodney Klomp's parents gave him a bow and arrow for his eleventh birthday.

Rodney headed for the Verdugo hills in search of big game. He found himself face to face with a coiled ratlesnake.

With the coolness and aplomb of Frank Buck, Rodney drew his bow and let fly just as the reptile rattled. Z-O-O-M! The arrow struck the snake in the head.

Rodney thinks he'll never have a greater thrill.

Plan To Broaden NATO Announced

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles said today the United States will propose in Paris next week some ways of broadening and strengthening the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Any organization must either grow or dry up, he said.

Dulles told a news conference it is natural and proper that the United States and its allies adjust their tactics to the changing tactics of the Soviet Union. He pointed out that the Reds are now emphasizing economic and political rather than military weapons in the cold war.

Dulles also made these other points on world affairs:

1. Soviet Premier Bulganin and Communist party boss Khrushchev may not be so interested in visiting the United States in view of the kind of reception they have had in Britain. They have been criticized and booed on occasion by British crowds.

Dulles answered in that vein when told that the Russian leaders had been reported to consider London a kind of half-way stop in their ambitions to visit Washington. He said that after their recent experiences they may not be ready to go the whole way.

2. Dulles' intelligence advisers have told him that the Soviet radio has broadcast a more moderate version of Khrushchev's remarks about guided missiles than that which was widely reported in the Western press from Birmingham, England.

Khrushchev was quoted as saying Russia is working on the hydrogen bomb guided missile, with the implication that it would be accomplished soon. But the Soviet radio was quoted to Dulles as saying Khrushchev simply insisted that the Russians "are not behind in the development of guided missiles."

3. President Eisenhower's call in a speech Saturday night for a "rotating advisory board" of citizens to advise the government on foreign affairs actually means the President is thinking of setting up a study group to consider all aspects of U. S. foreign aid policy. Some decisions on this may be disclosed in a few days.

Snyder Man Being Held For Attack

A Snyder man was being held in the county jail here this morning, possibly to be charged with rape.

A charge may be filed this afternoon against the man, a roughneck, who was arrested at about 1 a.m. today by Bill Love, chief sheriff's deputy, after a complaint had been called in to him by telephone.

The alleged offense occurred sometime between 10 o'clock last night and 1 o'clock this morning, but it had not yet been determined late this morning whether it was in Bordon or Scurry County.

The alleged victim is an 18-year-old drive-in carhop who recently moved to Snyder. She reported Love that she broke away from the man's car near the Lemons Lease oil camp west of here and went to a farmhouse near there, from where Love was called.

Love arrested the man on an oil lease road near the camp later.

The offense was alleged to have occurred in the Lake Thomas area. Lake Thomas is in both Scurry and Borden Counties, and the charge, if filed, must be filed in the county in which the offense was alleged to have occurred.

Candidate's Forms Are Available Here

Prospective candidates in the Democratic primaries may obtain necessary forms for officially filing for places on the ballot in the County Clerk's office, Frank A. Wilson, County Democratic Chairman, has announced.

Wilson said he was leaving copies of both forms required in the clerk's office, and that candidates may either leave them there for the chairman to pickup, or they may be mailed to Wilson, after they have been signed and notarized.

Wilson's address is Route 3, Box 193, Snyder.

May 7 is the deadline for candidates to file with the County Chairman for a place on the ballot in the Democratic primary.

Israelis Murdered In Border Ambush

JERUSALEM (AP) — Shots from ambush killed four Israeli water authority men in the Negeb Desert a few hundred yards from the Jordan border last night.

The killings tightened the Arab-Israeli tension that Dag Hammarskjold's mission is seeking to abate.

The victims' command car was set afire.

"This outrage bears all the signs of another fedayeen action, from whatever territory the murderers may have come," Israeli Foreign Minister Moshe Sharet protested to the U. N. secretary general.

Fedayeen Arab suicide raiders last infiltrated Israel from the Egyptian-held Gaza Strip in a series of night attacks preceding the April 18 cease-fire on the frontier shared by Israel and Egypt. Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion said Sunday 11 of them had been killed. He put Israeli deaths for the month at 18.

The Israeli water party—made up of three engineers and their driver — was reported attacked shortly before sundown on the Beersheba-Eilat road not far from Scorpion Pass, where Arab infiltrators shot up an Israeli bus in 954 and killed 12 of its passengers.

Israeli spokesmen said the four were cut down by automatic fire.

The killings followed closely on fresh trouble between Israeli fishermen and Syrians on the Sea of Galilee, the historic fresh water lake that Israel claims is wholly within Israel's frontiers.

Israeli sources said Syrians fired on a large fleet of Israeli fishing boats in the northeastern section of the sea, where Syria's frontier overlooks the shore, and the boats were forced to flee, abandoning 22 fishing nets.

The ambush occurred about 6 p.m. on the Beersheba-Eilat road, not far from Scorpion Pass. It was there that Arab infiltrators attacked an Israeli bus in 1954 and killed 12 of its passengers.

The outbreak on the Jordan border raised new problems for U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold in his mission to put an end to shooting incidents between Israel and her Arab neighbors.

Hammarskjold today was in Damascus trying to secure Syrian agreement to an unconditional cease-fire along the Syrian-Israeli frontier formed by the Jordan River and the Sea of Galilee.

Recent serious Arab - Israeli clashes have occurred along Israel's borders with Egypt and Syria. The frontier with Jordan has been generally quiet for months, and that with Lebanon even quieter.

Egypt and Israel agreed to observe an unconditional cease-fire last week. Lebanon subsequently promised to cooperate in reducing tension.

County Man Found Dead Early Today

A Scurry County man died early this morning from a shotgun wound at his home three miles west of Hermleigh.

He was Harvey Myers, about 35, who was found lying in front of his garage at about 8 a. m. today, a .12-gauge shotgun lying nearby. Evidence, incomplete, pointed toward the shot being apparently accidental. Sheriff Homer Whisnand and Bill Zimmerman, highway patrolmen, were investigating the case and had not completed the investigation late this morning.

Myers was reported apparently preparing to get into his pickup, which was inside the garage, to go to a well being drilled nearby.

Myers was taken to Battenfield-Jones Hospital, where he was declared dead on arrival. Indications were that the shot killed him instantly.

The body was reported found by a son of Myers.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Bell Funeral Home.

WEATHER

SNYDER TEMPERATURES: Yesterday's high 87; Low 47; Today's 7:30 a.m. reading 49.

WEST TEXAS: Partly cloudy in El Paso and Big Bend Country and considerable cloudiness with widely scattered thunder-showers elsewhere through Wednesday. Warmer Wednesday from Pecos Valley northward.

Bond Issue Voted

DENISON (AP)—A $964,000 long-range school bond issue was voted on today.

3,550 Enrolled In Local School

Reports on expected scholastic enrollment next year and dividing the school district area for the various elementary schools were heard last night by the Snyder school board in a special meeting. M. E. Stanfield, assistant superintendent of schools, made the report to the board. School enrollment in all the schools now stands at 3,550 here, Stanfield's report, however, is only with elementary grades.

Stanfield said that in 1954 school administrative officials completed a five-year projection showing the estimated number of students the school would have with normal growth for each year. While they knew the estimates were fairly conservative, the officials had no idea elementary school enrollment would reach in two years what they had been estimated to reach in five.

Now, with numerous new classrooms being completed here for the elementary grades, including one new elementary school in the northeast part of Snyder under construction, every available permanent classroom in the system will be full when the school term begins next year. Stanfield based this information on the school census completed several weeks ago. There was an estimate of 2,701 elementary students for next fall. Since present total school enrollment, however, is about 100 students below what the census shows should be in school, this estimate was dropped to 2,600 elementary students.

The board, after hearing the report, approved plans being made by Dr. Cecil Yarbrough, superintendnt of schools, and Stanfield for personnel for the elementary schools next year. The schools are attempting to maintain enough staff in the elementary schools for an average of 25 students per teacher, which is the present average.

There were 2,207 students in the elementary grades here last fall, so the estimate shows there will be an increase of about 400 students in those grades, or approximately enough students to fill one elementary school building.

Frank Wilson, school director of curriculum, made a report to the board on the annual high school career conference, which will be held here next Monday. The conference is held annually to help acquaint high school students with various careers. This year there will be 33 areas covered in the conference, with students able to participate in two areas each. Each area will have a student leader, adult leader from that area or vocation, faculty advisor, and resource people familiar with the areas.

D. V. Prichard, local representative for the Dallas firm of Buford & Feinberg, the schools' architects - engineers, reported to the board on construction work on the new shop - music building at the junior high school, and asked the board to make an inspection of the buildng today. The building is complete except for several items which are to be done later. The board was to make the inspection this afternoon.

Discussing pay of school personnel, the board decided to raise the pay of school cafeteria workers from $6.25 to $7 daily, which would make the wage of workers about $1 per hour. The board is studying the school cafeteria program and hopes to eventually come as near to 'breaking even" as possible. The cafeterias here, and those in most schools, operate with a slight deficit as they maintain wholesome lunches at moderate prices for students.

Bond Vote Canvassed

The Scurry County commissioners court yesterday afternoon completed its canvass of the Saturday $205,000 bond election and found only slight change from the unofficial vote totals.

The election included three proposals, and voters approved all three, those for a county library, an additional runway at Winston Field, and park improvements.

The canvass showed that the library proposal passed by a vote of 923 to 654, compared to the 923-650 unofficial total.

The park proposal carried by 919 to 644, while the unofficial tally was 919-646.

The airport was approved by a vote of 833 to 736, while the unofficial total showed 833-737.

Preliminary action has already been taken by the commissioners toward carrying out some of the projects approved.

Hopes For British And Red Agreement Slowly Fading

LONDON (AP) — Soviet Premier Bulganin and Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev strode grimly from a crucial meeting today with Prime Minister Eden, amid plummeting hopes for any solid British-Soviet agreement on world issues.

Moments later the Soviet leaders postponed for 36 hours a news conference they had scheduled for tomorrow. A British Foreign Office spokesman said he could not explain the reason.

British alarm and resentment mounted as a result of Khrushchev's two speeches yesterday in which he bragged about Soviet guided missiles with H-bomb warheads and talked tough to Labor leaders critical of Communist policies.

"Khrushchev drops the mask," said a typical headline describing the acrimonious clash last night between the Soviet party head and Labor party leaders over the status of Socialists and Jews in Russia and the Red bloc nations.

Even the most leftist of the Socialists seemed shocked.

Informed opinion here traced Khrushchev's new tone to a combination of irritation over the cool reception he and Premier Bulganin have received and their failure to break down Britain's determination not to trade in strategic goods.

There had been reports that some progress was made on the Middle East problem but there appeared to be a deadlock in matters of trade and East-West contacts.

Bulganin and Khrushchev wore fixed smiles as they left their hotel headquarters for the session with Eden. Their faces were puffy and they looked tired. Eden did not go to his door to see the Russians off.

Moscow radio, meanwhile, bolstered speculation that the Soviet Union expects Britain to help the Russians make closer contact with the United States.

The Moscow broadcast quoted Khrushchev as contending that the Soviet government would like good, friendly relations with all powers, including the United States.

There have been reports here that Bulganin and Khrushchev are fishing for an invitation to visit the United States and are hoping the British might help them get it.

AREA OIL ROUNDUP

Runnels Logs Capps Lime Show

Sequoia Oil Co. of Abilene No. 1 W. J. Yates, North Runnels County project, four and one-half miles northeast of Winters flowed an unreported amount of oil from the upper Capps lime in a drillstem test at 3,907-29 feet.

The tool was open 40 minutes. Gas surfaced in two and one-half minutes and oil came to the top in 32 minutes. The section was flow to pits for the remaining eight minutes of the test, with no gauge or estimate being made on the production.

Recovery was 290 feet of pipe line oil. There was no water. Flowing pressure was between 350 and 560 pounds. Shutin bottom hole pressure in 35 minutes was 1,370 pounds.

The operation was making hole below 4,000 feet. It is contracted to 4,400 feet to test the Gardner lime.

Location is 4,104 feet from south and 2,295 feet from east lines of the F. J. Ford survey 318, block 64. It is one location south of Sequoia and Ada Oil Co. No. 1 Mills, a Gardner lime discovery, which flowed oil at the estimated rate of 10 barrels per hour from the upper Caps lime in a drillstem test at 3,916-26 feet.

Southern California Petroleum Corp. No. 4-J M. S. Jones, East Borden County wildcat, 12 miles northeast of Gail drilled to 8,373 feet in barren Elenburger.

The duster has been abandoned and plugged. It was 1,980 feet from north and 2,080 feet from west lines of section 421, block 97, H&TC survey.

In Southeast Ector County, Central Drilling Co. of Midland has abandoned and plugged its No. 1-A Edwards, wildcat operation at total depth of 4,491 feet in lime. It was nine miles south of Odessa and 1,980 feet from south and 2,037.2 feet from west lines of section 4, block 43, T-4-S, T&P survey.

Anderson-Prichard Oil Corp. has temporarily abandoned its No. 1 Sims, South Terry County wildcat at total depth of 9,708 feet in the reef lime formation.

It ran a four hour drillstem test at 9,578-9,615 feet. Recovery was 450 feet of drilling fluid and 7,290 feet of salt water. There were no shows of oil or gas.

Operator then deepened to 9,708 feet, ran logs and set a temporary. This wildcat originally was started out to drill to 13,500 feet to explore the Devonian.

It may be deepened to that formation at a later date.

Shell Oil Co. N. 15 Dora Roberts, Southwest Yoakum County wildcat, was making hole below 8,962 feet after a drillstem test covering the lower Wolfcamp and upper Pennsylvanian developed water.

Two-hour and 45-minute test from 8,780 to 8,880 feet recovered 450 feet of slightly gas and mudcut sulphur water, 4,230 feet of slightly gas-cut sulphur water with a scum of oil and 300 feet of sulphur water from below the circulating sub.

Location is 2,310 feet from north and 1,650 feet from east lines of section 793, block D, J. H. Gibson survey, eight miles west and slightly north of Denver City.

Lamar H. Moore Drilling Co. of Abilene, No. 1 Norman Carlton, East Fisher County wildcat has been abandoned at total depth of 5,571 feet.

The operation found no shows of oil or gas and developed salt water in a drillstem test at 5,550-71 feet.

It was eight miles west of Hamlin and 330 feet from south and west lines of the northeast quarter of section 91, block 1, H&TC survey.

Red Cruiser Reported To Have Sunk

ROME (AP) — A responsible informant said today that a Soviet cruiser was sunk by a Soviet minefield in the Baltic harbor of Kaliningrad recently with heavy loss of life.

The disaster precipitated an intra-government dispute which led to the firing of Adm. Nikolai Kuznetsov as commander in chief of the Soviet navy, the source reported.

A dispatch from Moscow April 7 reported that Kuznetsov had been replaced as Soviet navy boss by Adm. S. G. Gorshkov, wartime commander of the Soviet Black Sea fleet. The dispatch, which passed through the Russian censorship, said Kuznetsov, was officially described as too ill for the job. The real story was described as entirely different.

The informant said that the lost cruiser was a former Italian vessel turned over to Russia as war reparations. He gave the name as the Novis Yiebersk.

Naval sources in Rome said Italy turned over the 7,300-ton cruiser Duca d'Aosta in 1948 to Russia. It had a normal complement of 56 0men.

The Russians renamed the vessel the Stalingrad. However, in view of the de-emphasis of Stalin, diplomatic sources said the name may have been changed again. While Jane's Fighting Ships lists no Novis Yibersk, the Duca d'Aosta was the only Italian cruiser given the Russians.

The informant said the cruiser was blown up in a forgotten mined area and that many crew members died because the captain refused to let the crew take to the lifeboats until too late.

Kaliningrad is the port from whch Soviet Premier Bulganin and Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev sailed on their present visit to Britain. It is the former East Prussian city of Konigsberg which Russia took over after World War II.

Snyderites Return Following Funeral

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Kincaid, 3108 Avenue T, Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Kincaid, 3726 Avenue V and Mrs. Dell Smith, 3108 Avenue T were called to Plainview Friday night due to the death of the A. C. Kincaid's son-in-law, Kelly Harrison.

Harrison was killed in Paducah, when he was thrown from a horse and hit a telephone post.

The Kincaids returned home Sunday after the funeral and Mrs. Smith stayed in Plainview to be with Mrs. Harrison, who is her sister.

Killed In Accident

SAN MARCOS (AP)—Carla Nitchmann, 2, daughter of Mrs. Ruth Nitchmann of Baytown, was killed last night when the car driven by her mother collided with another near here.

Escapee Arrested

MT. PLEASANT (AP)—Highway Patrolman Jay Mayse arrested yesterday four youths who escaped from a Tennessee reformatory at Nashville Saturday night and stole two cars.

Milk Price Hike Asked

AUSTIN (AP) — Milk producers from six Southwestern states asked the U.S. Department of Agriculture for a price increase today which will mean about a one cent increase per quart for the consumer.

Harold Nelson, general manager and attorney of the Texas Milk Producers Federation, said the emergency meeting was called to align the Southwestern milk market with the Midwestern market.

"Chicago, the center of the Midwestern market, has had an increase in its price. The Department of Agriculture has always said in the past that the Southwest market should be in alignment with Chicago prices," said Nelson.

The increase would be 46 cents per hundred weight for Grade A fluid milk. Nelson said producers will ask the department to make the increase effective no later than May 1.

Nelson said farmers have always asked the Department of Agriculture to set the price they should get for their milk. The reason, he said, is to protect the supply of Grade A fluid milk.

Production Of Crude Oil Down During Week

TULSA (AP)—Daily average production of crude oil and condensate fell 16,650 barrels to 7,177,150 during the week ended April 21, the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

Production was unchanged in Texas at 3,035,025 barrels.

Oklahoma accounted for most of the loss, dropping 12,900 barrels to 594,600. Arkansas had the best gain, up 4,350 to 76,900.

The week's output lifted the Journal's estimate of 1956 production to 797,327,230 barrels compared to 758,845,980 a year ago.

Colorado was off 700 to 162,800 and New Mexico, 100 to 253,300. Louisiana was up 600 to 826,900.

Small Vessel Sinks After Hitting Ship

ROTTERDAM (AP) — The 499-ton Swedish coastal vessel Kare rammed into an anchored freighter 22 times her size early today and sank quickly in the deep water approach to Antwerp.

Reports said swift rescue operations in dense fog saved all but one crewman.

The small coastal freighter collided with the 11,000-ton Holland-America Line's freighter Dongedyk, which was riding out the fog at anchor in the western Scheldt, about 30 miles from Antwerp.

Returns From Dallas

Johnny Harry, 3010 Avenue E, was returned to the Battenfield-Jones Hospital Clinic yesterday from a Dallas Nursing Home in Dallas by a Bolger Ambulance.

He is the son of Mrs. J. M. Breland, 3010 Avenue E.

START CMA DRIVE—Four of the workers in the Snyder Civic Music Association's annual membership drive who began their week's work last night are shown above comparing telephone lists. The drive has as its goal 1,200 members for this year. From left are: Mrs. Juanita Hickman, Mrs. Robert G. Wilson, Mrs. Ed Schulz, and Mrs. DWane Collins. (Lee Watson photograph)

Hidden Money Put In Bank

VAN NUYS, Calif. (AP)—For several years Jess Leon has been saving for the day he could buy the little farm he and his wife wanted.

He got together $3,000, hid in it in a small purse which he placed in a coffee can, and then put the can inside an old stove in the garage.

Last Friday a salvage truck stopped and Mrs. Lupe Leon thought of that old stove in the garage. Next day Leon noticed the stove was gone, and his secret came out. He and his wife searched frantically for the salvage man. They asked police help and, finally, after five salvage yards had been searched, the stove was located.

Leon opened the door of the stove and—

Oh, the money was there, all right. He packed right down to a bank and deposited his $3,000 in a savings account.

Warrant Is Issued For 7-Year-Old Girl

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A warrant is out for 7-year-old Christine Diane Walk.

She hasn't violated any law. Her father, John Henry Walk, got the warrant yesterday, asking that his daughter be placed in Juvenile Hall pending outcome of a custody contest with his divorced wife, Mrs. Beverly Walk. The mother refuses to disclose the whereabouts of the girl, claiming that she was awarded custody in Burlington, Iowa, in 1952, and that Walk, an aircraft engineer, once stole the child.

Walk asks custody on the ground he and his present wife, Kathy, can provide a good home.

Decision On Race Question Studied

By The Associated Press

Bus operators in about a dozen Texas cities studied Tuesday the Supreme Court's ruling on desegregation of passengers. Most withheld comment.

One municipal and one intercity bus company said the ruling would not affect them because segregated seating of white and Negro passengers had already ended on their lines.

An aide in the attorney general's office said the Supreme Court ruling, which knocked out state laws, applied to both city and inter-city buses.

Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd joined with the attorneys general of Virginia and South Carolina in declaring the ruling was "another unwarranted invasion of state and municipal rights." They are attending a meeting of attorneys general at Old Point Comfort, Va.

Last year's ruling by the Interstate Commerce Commission that there could be no segregated facilities for interstate passengers dented the color line in Texas. That ruling, which did not apply to intra-state passengers or municipal bus lines, resulted in some mixing of passengers on trains and buses and also in some stations and waiting rooms.

At Fort Worth, O. Massey, vice president of the Southwestern Greyhound Lines, said "We are not actually enforcing segregation."

W. M. Bailey, Greyhound bus terminal manager at Dallas, said "We saw the handwriting on the wall last year. Our men have had insructions since then to ask a Negro sitting in a white section of the bus to move to the back. But they are left alone if they don't want to move."

"We don't want to be responsible for creating disturbances and possibly bloodshed. We let the colored and white folk go on their way and do as they please," he said.

San Angelo City Manager Del Green said the buses in that city have been considered desegregated for some time and "We anticipate no change in the feeling that we have passed the segregation point some time ago."

"Our bus drivers have been instructed that if a Negro sits toward the front of a bus, that's his business. Otherwise drivers merely attempt to maintain order on the buses," he said.

William Robertson, president of the Fort Worth Transit Co., said his firm would continue its present segregation policy for at least 30 days.

"It is my understanding that nothing in this decision will be effective before 30 days," he said.

A vice president of the Continental Trailways Bus Systems, A. J. Emery of Dallas, reserved comment.

Officials at Sherman, Marshall, Texarkana, Greenville, Dallas, Temple, Tyler and Bryan also indicated they wanted "to wait and see" before commenting.

Texas, like other states in the South, has had a law for many years requiring segregation of white and Negro passengers on public conveyances.

The ruling is expected to have little or no effect in Houston, city public service director J. B. White said today.

Segregation has not been enforced in Houston since 1954, White said, when city officials quietly decided not to prosecute bus segregation violations.

Rudder To Run Again

AUSTIN (AP)—Land Commissioner Earl Rudder paid an $875 filing fee yesterday and said he will seek re-election.

Rudder said he wants to complete the task of "restoring Texans' confidence in their General Land Office."

"To refuse to offer my service for two more years, in my opinion, would be to shirk an important public duty," the Brady farmer, rancher and merchant said.

One of the most decorated Texas officers in World War II, Rudder, 46, was appointed land commissioner in January, 1955, by Gov. Allan Shivers. He succeeded Bascom Giles, who resigned Jan. 1, 1955, while investigation of the 100-million-dollar veterans land program was under way. Giles is serving a six-year sentence at Huntsville penitentiary. He was convicted 12 times on charges of fraud and bribery in the veterans land scandals.

Tax On Crime Used In Kentucky Case

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky's new "tax on crime" cost Alden K. Young an extra $2.

The law, apparently being applied for the first time, provides that a $2 tax be imposed in cases involving fines to be paid into the state treasury. Young was fined $100 for reckless driving yesterday and Judge Frank A. Ropke immediately tacked on the tax.

Scouters Set Meet Tonight

Several local scouters will go to Midland tonight for a program and budget planning meeting of the Buffalo Trail Boy Scout ouncil.

The meeting will be held at 7 p.m. in the youth building of the First Christian Church there. The group will develop a proposed program and budget for the next fiscal year, which begins Oct. 1, and make recommendations to the council executive board.

Going from here are Nolan von Roeder, district organization and extension chairman; Dr. Thomas Hartley, district health and safety chairman; Ray Lashaway, district advancement chairman; Lyle Deffebach, district public relations chairman; Ray Devers, assistant chairman of the district camping and activities committee; W. W. Park, district chairman; W. A. Smallwood, district commissioner; Dr. Cecil Yarbrough, council public relations chairman; and Joe Bohannan, district scout executive.

The leadership training committees have already developed their programs. T. D. Wiman, Jr., is district leadership training chairman.

Information Given On Cancer Treatment

GALVESTON (AP)—A New York cancer expert said yesterday 80 per cent of the liver can be removed and the patient will survive.

Addressing the Texas Medical Assn., Dr. George Pack of the Cornell University School of Medicine said the surgery could be done because the metabolic changes and factors influencing the regeneration in the left lobe of the liver are now known.

Until three years ago any person found to have cancer of the right lobe of the liver, which is about 80 per cent of the entire organ, faced death because doctors considered it too risky to remove that part.

Pack said it has been found that after the right lobe has been removed, the left lobe will grow to take up the functions of the normal liver.

WOMEN

american designer pattern

Svelte, sophisticated and simple all at once, this latest Alan Graham design with its coat dress effect has one of the most interesting necklines of the season. Worn folded over, or wide open with lapels, it is a neckline that every woman can adjust to suit her mood, the time of day, and, of course, her own features. The buttons open down to the hip, then there is a deep pleat in the skirt for graceful walking. Belted only in back, the waistline seems slightly relaxed, and illusion helped by the little released peats in the bodice back. A custom cut pattern, you'll find it as easy to make as it looks. Choose serge, alpaca, gabardine, worsteds, faille or shantung. Come summer, you'll want the short sleeve version in pique, linen or novelty cotton. This pattern is cut to Designer Measurements, not Standard Pattern Measurements. To order Pattern No. S-295, state size; send $1.00; address International Designer Patterns, P.O. Box 993, G.P.O., Dept. SX-13, New York 1, N.Y. Add 25c for Airmail handling. International Designer Pattern Booklet "B"—50c. Add 4c if paid by check.

Cast-Iron Cleaning

Cast-iron utensils should not be washed with a synthetic detergent. Only soap will protect the seasoning (absorbed grease) the iron needs as a guard against rusting. If you use a detergent for general dishwashing, keep granulated soap handy at the sink in a shaker or a cafeteria-style sugar dispenser for washing cast-iron utensils.

Bleach Is Needed

A regular sink cleanser will remove the black marks made on a skin; but it's a waste of time to try using the same cleanser for an allover yellowish discoloration. A bleach is needed. Use a chlorine bleach (liquid or powdered). Spread it around the sink; let it stand a few minutes; then rinse the sink thoroughly.

WHAT'S GOING ON

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Multey and family of Brownfield visited over the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Reese, 2406 Peyton Avenue. Mrs. Reese is the sister of Mrs. Multey.

Brighten Pan

To Brighten an aluminum pan darkened from cooking, put into the pan a mixture of 2 teaspoons cream of tartar to 1 quart water, and boil about 10 minutes. NOTE: Cooking eggs in the shell in an auminum pan darkens the metal badly. Use a stainless-steel, enamel, or glass pan for this job.

Slicing Vegetables

A French knife is fast and efficient for slicing vegetables. Next time you slice celery, do it this way: Place 2 celery stalks side by side on the cutting board. Keep the tip of the knife blade on the board-raise and lower the knife handle, slicing as you feed the celery under the blade.

Keep Recipe Cards

To keep a recipe card or cliping from being spattered, and to make it easier to read, slip it between the tine of a fork and invert the fork in a glass.

Use Aluminum Foil

Shape all the cookies on pieces of aluminum foil cut to fit your cookie sheet. When one batch finishes baking, another will be ready to slip into the overn.

Don't Underestimate The Genius Of Our Housewives

CHICAGO (AP)—History may record an Einstein or an Edison as geniuses, but Lou Payne claims housewives are the unheralded geniuses of our times.

Conductor of a television show for housemakers, the Jackson, Miss., singer mixes music and household hints for her audience.

Between songs she gives housewives such hints as:

"To prevent the bottoms of duble boilers burning out, put a few marbles in the bottom half—when the water is low, the marbles will rattle.

"Put transparent adhesive tape over the place you want to hammer when nailing picture books to walls and you will keep paint from cracking and plaster from loosening.

"You can give your dog a thorough 'dry' cleaning by gently running the nozzle of a vacuum cleaner along his body. It's less trouble than washing and just as effective."

Most of these hints come from the housewives themselves and that's why Miss Payne thinks housewives are pretty smart. As she puts it:

"These may not be world-shaking ideas, but they sure help make things easier and simpler around the house. The housewives are always trying to do different things. They're always experimenting to find ways of making housekeeping more pleasant. And that's quite a job. After all, what has the husband to do? All he has to do is go out and make the money. The wife has to do everything else."

Lou, who is 30, isn't married but she says she tries out suggested hints in her own apartment. The ones that work and tend to simplify housekeeping, she passes on to her audience.

Before taking over as conductor of the show, Lou was a night club entertainer—mostly in the South—and worked as part of a dance team, then a ventriloquist and then a band vocalist.

Saving Scrubbing Job

Wipe up rangetop spills immediately with a paper towel—and save yourself a tough scrubbing job later. Prompt cleaning also protects the top from permanent stains.

Kitchen Notebook

A notebook for making up menus and marketing lists can become an invaluable memory jogger. For inspiration on what to buy, look over plans for previous weeks and months.

Collect Parings

Spread paper towels on countertop to collect parings, meat trimmings. Then throw out both paper and scraps—much quicker and tidier than cleaning scraps out of the sink.

FOR GOOD EATING

Roast Beef
Spinach Casserole
Parker House Rolls
Carrot Sticks
Fudge Sundae

* * *

SPINACH CASSEROLE
2 cups cooked fine noodles
2 cups drained cooked spinach
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ pound American cheese, grated
2 cups thin white sauce

Place noodles and spinach in alternate layers in buttered baking dish; sprinkle with salt, pepper and cheese. Pour white sauce over spinach. Bake in moderate oven (350 F.) until browned. Serves 6.

* * *

PARKER HOUSE ROLLS
2 tablespoons shortening
1 teaspoon salt
¼ cup sugar
1 cake yeast
1½ cups lukewarm water
3½ cups sifted flour
1 egg, well beaten
melted butter

Add shortening, salt, sugar and crumbled yeast cake to water; stir until shortening is melted. Stir in sifted flour, cover and set in a warm place free from drafts, to rise. When doubled in bulk, add egg. Knead lightly and let rise again until doubled in bulk. Roll out ½ inch thick on well-floured board. Cut with biscuit cutter 2 inches in diameter, crease in center with a dull knife, brush with melted butter and fold over, pinching the dough at sides to make a pocketbook. Place on baking sheet and brush tops with melted butter. Let rise and bake in hot oven (400 F.) about 20 minutes. Makes 24.

Sandwich Strategy

Sandwich strategy for making a number of sandwiches in a hurry. For example, to make four sandwiches, place 8 slices of bread on a breadboard. Spread all the slices with butter; then place the filling on the four bottom slices; slap on the top slices, cut the sandwiches, and you're done.

Gauge For Coffee

Do you count tablespoons of coffee as you fill the pot? An easier and often more accurate way (you can't lose count) is to gauge the coffee in a measuring cup—each ¼ cup mark provides 4 tablespoons coffee.

Double Coffee Supply

Double your coffee supply by making a pot of coffee ahead of time and keeping it hot over very low heat. A large (12-cup) carafe of heat-resistant glass, on a candle-warmer base, is excellent for this purpose.

Johnson Bandwagon

The list of 183 Texas men and women who make up the leadership of the Johnson-for-President organization includes some of the best-known names in Texas politics, among them some members or former members of the Democratic Executive Committee who have ben stanch Shivers supporters. Some of them are still Shivers supporters—except in this particular contingency.

Among the 183 are three former attorneys general—Gerald C. Mann, Robert Lee Bobbitt and Grover Sellers. Also Mrs. M. A. Ferguson, a former governor, and John Nance Garner, former vice president; former Rep. Lloyd Bentsen and former Rep. Lyle.

Some, like C. T. McLaughlin, Snyder oil man, were ardent Shivers supporters; indeed, many were friends and supporters of both Shivers and Johnson, and their decision to support Johnson in this situation must have cost them a wrench in loyalties.

However, Senator Johnson himself has cast the situation in terms of practicality and the realities of politics. He has said the question is whether Texas will have a unified, effective organization at Chicago that would be accorded a respectful hearing," since the alternative is "to use the delegation as a vehicle for carrying on personal fights and old political grudges."

The use of familiar alphabetical smearwords won't change the practical aspects of this situation in the slightest, and the able and prominent men and women who have always been identified with the conservative wing of the party in Texas and who have now identified themselves with the Johnson-for-President movement are sufficient guarantee that sticks and stones will break no bones in this case.

The best thing all factions of the party in Texas can do is to get behind Johnson in a unified effort to make the voice of Texas heard at Cricago, and thereby be able to influence both the platform and the selection of a nominee acceptable to Texas and the South. Senator Johnson and Speaker Sam Rayburn, who has again been chosen permanent chairman of the Chicago convention, will be in position powerfully to affect the outcome. Both are Texan and Southern to the core.

Bar Recommendations

First preliminary report on a special committee set up by the State Bar of Texas to study and report on lawyer-client relations as it involves lawyer members of the State Legislature has now been sent to the appropriate investigating committees of House and Senate by Maurice R. Bullock of Fort Stockton, president of the Texas Bar. The special committee is continuing its work and further reports will be made.

In this first report the special committee recommends two bills and one resolution which have been endorsed by the Board of Directors of the State Bar.

The first bill would prohibit any member of either legislative house from taking any money or property for appearing before any board, administrative body, agency, commission, etc., for the purpose of influencing any action by such body, or doing so while on regular or irregular retainer. The bill would provide punishment of fine or imprisonment, or both, for violation.

The second bill would permit judges to grant continuances in any case in which a lawyer-member of the Legislature may be involved where it would interfere with legislative duty.

The resolution proposes a constitutional amendment which would make the pay of a legislator $50 per day for 120 days (present compensation per day for 120 days) with travel allowance of $2.50 for each 25 miles going from and back to his place of residence to attend a legislative session.

The quality of the special Bar committee warrents serious consideration of these and other recommendations the committee may make and the Bar endorse. Former Governor Dan Moody is chairman, and the other members are Albert P. Jones of Houston. W. Page Keeton of Austin, William A. Kerr of Midland and Hatton W. Sumners of Dallas.

"It is realized that any corrective legislation will not likely be passed by the Legislature without the support of the citizens and press of this state," says a letter to editors by Mr. Bullock. "Consequently, I hope you may find time to give serious and careful consideration to the enclosures."

We promise to do just that.

Counting On A Big November Harvest

Kefauver's Lack Of Eloquence Tells Little Of His Ability As Politician

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON, Apr&il 24 (AP) — A handshake . . . a coonskin cap . . . a TV image . . . and, presto, you think of Estes Kefauver.

These are symbols readily associated with the 52-year-old Democratic senator from Tennessee who, once again, is off to a fast start in the presidential sweepstakes.

But how much do they tell about this big, drawling, dogged man who has soared to political heights in defiance of the odds against him?

They help to dramatize some of the highlights of his career but they scarcely explain the political phenomenon that is Kefauver.

Here is a man who, despite a plodding, pedestrian manner, has been there "fustest with the mostest" when the votes were counted in election races which, at the outset, he was given no chance to win.

A dull speaker, woefully lacking in eloquence, he has nonetheless succeeded in impressing himself on the people in the face of the hostility of party professionals and organization leaders.

Now in his 18th year in Congress he has compiled a voting record his supporters call unusually consistent and liberal—whether "liberal" be used in the sense of supporting New Deal-Fair Deal programs or in the sense of safeguarding individual liberties.

His support of antipoll tax and antilynching legislation and of reforming Senate rules to curb filibusters has caused some of his Dixie colleagues to regard him as an un-Southern Southerner.

More recently he was one of the few Southerners in Congress who refused to join in a manifesto pledging to use all legal means to upset the Supreme Court's 1954 decision banning racial segregation in public schools.

Kefauver himself recently threw down the gauntlet to those who contend he would be unacceptable to the South as a presidential candidate. He described this talk as "hogwash" and "political propaganda."

He said that while he has taken what has been referred to as a "national viewpoint" from the begining of his career, he has been elected and re-elected to public office from Tenessee.

Kefauver first caught the nation's eye in 1948, in winning a seat in the Senate with an upset victory over the E. H. Crump organization in Shelby County (Memphis) which long had dominated Tennessee politics.

When Crump compared him to a pet coon, Kefauver shrewdly turned the tables by donning a coonskin cap, using the pioneer headdress as a symbol of freedom from domination and vowing he would "never be Mr. Crump's pet coon."

Kefauver won by more than 40,000 votes over the incumbent senator, and Crump's candidate came in a poor third. It was the first setback suffered by Crump in a statewide race in 20 years.

At that time Kefauver was rounding out 10 years in the House where, as congressman from the 3rd (Chatanooga) Tennessee District, he regularly supported the New Deal and built up a prolabor, propublic-power, antimonopoly record.

After Kefauver's election to the Senate in 1948, his next big step up the political ladder came in 1950-51 when, as chairman of the Senate Crime Investigating Committee, he entered millions of the nation's homes by television.

Kefauver's name (French Huguenot) and his face were linked with the word crime-buster as the committee delved into the ways of gangsters, gamblers and assorted hoodlums. But the hearings also brought out political - underworld tie-ups and as a result soured some Democratic leaders on Kefauver.

In 1952, his name having become a household word, Kefauver plunged into the race for the Democratic presidential nomination, he won 14 of the 16 primaries he entered and, at the party convention, led all contenders on the first two ballots.

But victory eluded him. On the third ballot, he lost out to Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, who professed not to be a candidate at all and who had entered none of the presidential primaries.

Kefauver went back to Washington, won re-election in 1954 by a quarter of a million majority, and is now out stumping the country again in quest of his party's presidential nomination.

Red Team In New Try To Dent Strength Of West

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

When Soviet Communist boss Nikita S. Khrushchev and Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin visit London this week they will be carrying out an important part of a Sovie drive whose ultimate aim is to dent the Western world's positions of strength.

The primary target of the visit to Britain is not Britain herself. The trip seems to be made with these things in the Soviet mind:

1. The German question.
2. The effect of the visit on Social Democrats — the non-Communist Socialists—on the European Continent.
3. The continuing attrition on the West's position of strength.
4. The extension to Britain of attractive business lures which may tend to reduce British animosity toward Soviet policy and make the British more amenable to Soviet peace overtures.

The visit raises a real possibility that the Soviet Union is ready to propose a settlement of the German unification problem along lines different from its stubborn stand at the meeting of the four-power foreign ministers in Geneva last October.

At this moment, such a move would seem logical, and the Russians are being more logical with each passing year after the departure of Stalin.

It is known in Europe that the Soviet Union is thinking along these lines with regard to Germany:

The Russians will never agree to the surrender of the German territorities now part of Communist Poland. But there may be gain for Soviet policy for example, in returning the city of Stettin to a reunified Germany and then offering to settle the question of territory along the Oder-Neisse line after negotiations and Russian-style elections.

This would put the present West German government at Bonn in an awkward position. Publicly it woud have to say "no" to surrendering the German claim to the land held by Poland. Privately it would be sure no other possibility existed for reunification. If the Bonn government said "yes" to such a proposal it would be the immediate target of Socialist attacks. If it should reply in the negative, it would be in the position of balking at reunification. One way or the other the Socialists—the chief government opposition—stand to win.

Some sort of grandstand play for the sympathies of the European Continent, such as a new approach to the German question, would go a long way toward undermining Western positions of strength politically.

There are other reasons behind the Soviet leaders' visit. The reception the visit has been given, particularly in the British press, has been far from friendly.

Signing Of Farm Bill Would Have Been Repudiation Of Agriculture Secretary

By WALTER LIPPMANN

The president had no choice but to veto the farm bill that Congress sent to him. Had he signed it, he would have had to repudiate not only his own public statements but the whole record of his Secretary of Agriculture and the actions of the two Republican leaders in Congress, Sen. Knowland and Rep. Martin. Does it follow that the original program which he sent to Congress in January was adequate and satisfying and that all would be well if only Congress had accepted it?

It does not follow. The President's own actions when he vetoed the bill recognized that the basic complaint of the Congressional opposition to his original program was about halfway justified. Where the bill would have subsidized farm prices to the tune of about $1,000,000,000, the President is going by administrative action to subsidize farm prices to the tune of about $500,000,000. He has vetoed very high and rigid price supports. He is going to put into effect high but not quite so high theoreticaly flexible supports.

The issue between the President and the Congressional opposition is not really one of principle. It is whether farm income shall be subsidized at the Congressional rate or at the Administration rate.

* * *

The farm bill is in its details a very complicated business. But what has happened since the President's special message in January comes down, I think, essentially to this. In the administration's mind the crucial and fundamental "problem is" as the President said in his veto message, "price depressing surpluses," caused by "wartime incentives too long continued." From this it follows that the basic principle of a sound farm policy is to reduce production in order to reduce the surpluses.

The opposition in Congress, consisting of the Democrats and most of the Republicans from the farm states, is primarily concerned with the decline of the incomes of the farming population. Their total income from farm and non - farm sources has declined 26 per cent since 1947 while the total national income has increased by 36 per cent. The Congressional opposition recognizes that there is a problem of surpluses. It does not accept the view that it is the only or the paramount problem. The paramount problem is the decline of incomes which may be due not only to the war-time supports, but to the technological revolution which has increased so enormously the productivity of agriculture.

The administration, its eyes fixed on the surpluses, has been interested primarily in the soil bank, which is a device for reducing production. The opposition, its eyes fixed on the fall in the income of the farming population, wrote a bill which used every available gadget for pumping out larger subsidies to the farmers.

The President, though he has vetoed the bill, has tried to go about halfway as far as the bill.

In the long run, it may well be that the character of the President's veto marks the acceptance of the principle that in the great transition through which agriculture is passing, it is a national obligation to cushion the effects on the farmers. There is a stern theory that prices should be set in the market and that in this price structure the more efficient farmers should survive and the less efficient farmers be forced out of farming. But no public man could or would think of acting on this theory, no mater how many times he has made speeches about free enterprise. The hazards of farming during the technological revolution now in progress have become a social obligation, in principle akin to the Social Security System which deals with unemployment and old age.

The day will come, let us hope, when we shall have a farm policy based candidly on this principle of social security. The enormous increase of agricultural productivity in this generation, even more than the high parity supports, is producing the great price destroying surpluses. To eliminate these surpluses, millions of acres now in wheat, corn and cotton, will have to be taken out of production. This will mean that several million farmers will have to go off the farms. It is to slow up, to soften, to alleviate this painful human readjustment that the social security principle will have to be applied to farming.

* * *

When it is applied, then it will no longer be necessary to maintain artifically high farm prices. For the artificial prices are only an indirect and cumbersome way of subsidizing farm incomes. It will be better to support the incomes of the farmers, as we do those of the industrial population, on the principle of social security, and to let prices become genuine as determined by the markets.

Big Shot Romeos Merely Bunch Of Fading Wolves

By INEZ ROBB

MONTE CARLO — Well, sir, as you can plainly see, I am still here. Trapped, that's what I am, in the rush of wedding guests and jewel thieves to take it on the lam, now that the big event is over.

It is true, all right, that love and marriage go together like a horse and carriage and likewise that jewels and thieves go together like a horse and heaves.

But once the jewels leave, so do the secondstory men. The departure of both has caused such a demand for rail, plane and train tickets that it is almost impossible to leave town, even by thumb.

However, I am not wasting my time here in idle pleasures, but in testing a scientific theory that if I stick around here long enough, Judge Crater will turn up. Or even little Charlie Ross, the only Philadelphian of prominence who failed to show for the royal wedding.

Monte Carlo is certainly the Times Square or crossroads of Cafe Society, International Local 111. Obviously, I lead a sheltered life, for not until I came here a fortnight ago had I ever seen Porfiorio Rubirosa, ex - King Farouk or Pietro Mele, three of the world's great Romeos. They only need Casanova to make a fourth at bridge.

Maybe it is because I have long ceased to stand where the brook and river meet, or perhaps at the moment I am tired of it all. But let me tell you something, my friends. In my salad days, girls didn't leave home for guys like the above.

If these are dream - boats, make mine Boris Karloff with vanilla. Or give me a back-country rogue from Reading, Pa.

Let me toss into the pot, while I am about it, the fourth great lover-boy, Ali Khan, who lives just down the road on the Riviera. All of them —Porfirio, Farouk, Mele and Ali—bear approximately the same relationship to Romeo as Ma Kettle to Juliet.

One and all, they are fighting middle age and rapidly losing the decision. Retreat sounded long ago for their hair. If they ever had charm, it is wearing mighty thin. Money they have, but tall, dark and handsome? No, no, no!

When I was mooning over the fellers, if anyone in my mob had sighed over any of the above quartet, she would have been set down as scraping the bottom of the barrel.

We swooned over Clark Gable, Valentino, Leslie Howard, John Gilbert, Raymond Navarro and Ronald Colman. And they were worthy of our devotion. They were handsome, magnetic, debonair and gallant.

In those days, Porfirio, Farouk, Mele and Ali couldn't have held their coats. The world has gone to pot. Oh, this quartet are WOWs, all right, if I may resurrect an old joke — worn out wolves.

Southern Democrats Hold Vital Posts In Congress

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Southern Democrats have a power in Congress out of all proportion to their numbers.

One of them — Rep. Roberts of Alabama — recently reminded the country that Southern Democrats are chairmen of a majority of Congress' standing committees. He said "we are in a position to do something about" the "manifesto" signed by over 100 Southern Democrats against the Supreme Court's ban on racial segregation in public schools.

This is what Roberts meant: "Congress has 531 members and only 121 of them — or 22 per cent — are Democrats from the 11 Southern states. But they hold 60 per cent of the committee chairmanships. They also hold the top party posts — Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn and Senate leader Lyndon B. Johnson, both Texans.

In Congress, where advancement is by seniority, chairmen get their jobs by survival. A new member starts at the foot of the committee ladder and moves up to chairman when he outlasts all those who were before him.

This does not mean that many committee chairmen aren't able men. Some of the most respected members of Congress are from the South.

In the one-party South, where Republicans are a minor voice, Democrats who once get elected to Congress have a big advantage in political longevity over those from the two-party states.

The Senate has 96 members, with 22 of them Southern Democrats. Nine of the Senate's 15 standing committees are headed by Southern Democrats. The House with 435 members, has 99 Southern Democrats. They head 12 of the 19 regular committees. There are seven Southern Republicans in the House.

The committees headed by Southerners are almost all important ones. For example: Sen. Eastland of Mississippi is chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Eastland is a leading foe of the Supreme Court's ruling against segregation. Five of the eight Democrats on the committee, which also has seven Republicans, are Southern Democrats.

It's this group which considers proposed constitutional amendments and the appointment of federal judges. Anyone named by the President to fill a Supreme Court vacancy must face this committee.

If the committee recommended against him, it would take a sturdy fight in the full Senate to get him confirmed.

Here are the nine Senate committees headed by Southern Democrats, with their states and years of service in parentheses:

George (Ga-34), Foreign Relations; Russell (Ga-24), Armed Services; Byrd (Va-24), Finance; Ellender (La-19), Agriculture; Hill (Ala-18), Labor and Public Welfare; Eastland (Miss-13), Judiciary; McClellan (Ark-13), Government operations; Fulbright (Ark-11), Banking and Currency; and Johnston (SC-11), Post Office and Civil Service.

Here are the 12 Southern Democrats heading House committees:

Vinson (Ga-41), Armed Services; Cooper (Tenn-27), Ways and Means; Smith (Va-25), Rules; Richards (SC-23), Foreign Affairs; Cooley (NC-21), Agriculture; Barden (NC-21), Education and Labor; McMillan (SC-17), District of Columbia; Bonner (NC-16), Merchant Marine and Fisheries; Priest (Tenn-15), Interstate and Foreign Commerce; Murray (Tenn-13), Post Office and Civil Service; Teague (Tex-10), Veterans Affairs; Burleson (Tex-9), House Administration.

Man Charged On Fraud In Prison

COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP)—William R. Hall, serving 10 years for a liquor store burglary, has been sentenced to an additional two years for mail fraud.

He was charged with issuing bad checks to pay for merchandise ordered by mail. Evidence introduced at his trial showed that he gave his address as Apartment 6—A, 1515 Gist St.

That's the street number of the South Carolina penitentiary. And Hall said the 6—A was his cell number.

LITERARY GUIDEPOST

THE PITIFUL AND THE PROUD. By Carl T. Rowan. Random House.

In July 1954 Rowan arrived in India as a lecturer for our State Department, which believed this Negro would be a particularly persuasive spokesman for democracy among peoples whose skin was no lighter than his. He also was to writes articles for his newspaper, the Minneapolis Tribune. On his roundabout return, stopping for the Bandung Conference, he wrote this long, absorbing book.

From the minute Rowan's plane set down at Karachi, his mind went to work on contrasts, opposites and comparisons.

As against the cocktails and canapes served on the clipper, there was want, poverty, and starvation abroad in the limitless land of India, stricken by locusts, by floods, drouth, disease, appalling ignorance.

But the main issues cropping up everywhere were racism and colonialism, and the two universal opponents were the Red and the Red White and Blue. Rowan ran into unscrupulous attacks on him and his country. Audiences were stacked against him, and he was even trailed by the equivalent of the FBI. He has some fundamental criticism of Indians, but this is a report to Americans, who, he declares, can do right by Asia but can do so only when they accept "a bigger concept of the family of man."

Rowan has seen the sights for himelf, and heard the sounds and smelt the smells. Though he met the politicians, he writes really about the people—their hunger, their misery, their incredible prejudices and stubborn misconceptions, and their crying need for our understanding. Some of you readers may quarrel hotly with some of his findings. Yet agree with him or not, you will follow him word by word with fascination.

BUCKIN' THE LINE

By BUCK FRANCIS
News Sports Editor

LADY LUCK FROWNED on Tiger hurdler Powell Berry when drawing for lanes for the finals in the 120-yard highs at the Regional 2-AA track meet Saturday in Stephenville.

Saturday's meet was marred by rain which fell intermittently in Stepheville throughout the day. Consequently, the track was pretty slow.

However, some spots were worse than others on the track. The first two or three lanes in the high hurdle race were partially under water while the other lanes weren't.

Berry drew the inside line—No. 1 lane—and the junior athlete, as did one or two others, whose names we do not know, had two strikes against him before the race even started.

Berry's starting block, incidentally, was in a puddle of water.

We pass along these words solely for the benefit of the many track fans here who have been wondering what happened to Berry in the regional high hurdle race.

James Harvey of Sweetwater won the race in 15.2. Only one week before Berry had sped the distance in 15.1 to win first place in the Amarillo Relays.

You can readily see, then, why it was puzzling to the cinder fans here why Berry didn't even finish in the top four at Stephenville Saturday.

Berry was clocked in 15.3 in the preliminaries held Saturday morning, running in the No. 3 lane which wasn't one of the better lanes but still better than Nos. 1 and 2 lanes.

Tiger Track Prospects Good In Future

Tiger track fortunes will begin picking up some next year and within a couple or three years the Bengal thinlies will be contesting for district, regional and state honors.

The Tigers had a good crop of freshmen this year and Coach Bill Hartsfield at the local junior high has several fine prospects that will be making good track hands at Snyder High School in the very near future.

It's extremely difficult for schools the size of Snyder to keep up with the much larger schools in the spring sports.

And, as you know, schools of our size who are in Triple-A division in football and basketball, are grouped with Quadruple-A schools in track and baseball and other spring sports.

Schols have to more or less divide up their athletes for the spring sports since it is next to impossible for one boy to compete in more than one spring sport.

SHS athletic director, John Conley, however, is working on a plan now that is hoped will enable the Tigers to utilize the ability of one boy in more than one spring sport.

This is about the only solution that will enable the Tigers to consistently stay up with the much larger schools in the spring sports, particularly track and baseball.

Here's hoping Conley and his aids are successful in working out a two-spring sport plan.

Another 3-AA Star Chooses TCU

The Big State League race is only little more than a week deep in the season but one of its managers has already been given the "axe."

Jim Basso of Victoria was fired yesterday with his team mired deep in the cellar with a 3-8 won-lost record.

That isn't giving a fellow much of a chance. Any team is apt to go into a slump. Some hit a slump at the start of the season while others hit one later on in the campaign. Victoria hit one early, spelling diaster for its manager, Basso.

Lou Fitzgerald is the new Victoria skipper. He assumes command today.

Buba Meyer, all-district 1-AAA end for Sweetwater last fall will join the Tigers' Jack Spikes at TCU.

Meyer indicated yesterday that he will attend TCU. Meyer, like Spikes, is an all - around athlete. He lettered in football, basketball, track and golf this past year. Spikes earned letters in football, basketball and track.

Tigers, Coyotes In Battle For Lead

Baker Slated Against WF Ace, Franklin

The District 3-AA baseball lead was at stake today when the Tigers and Wichita Falls Coyotes met on the County Baseball Park diamond here at 3:45.

The Tigers and Coyotes are the only unbeaten teams in District 3-AA play, each with 1-0 records.

An all - left handers duel was on tap with Ronnie Baker, 4-2, going for the Tigers and Howard Franklin, 4-0 hurling for the Coyotes.

Both Baker and Franklin are curve ball specialists. Franklin, going into the game, had struck out 70 batsmen in 42 innings while Baker had fanned 46 in 41 innings, both averaging more than a strike-out per inning for the season.

The Tigers' 3-AA win came at the expense of defending champion Abilene, 4-3, while the Coyotes won over Vernon, 13-2, for their conference triumph.

Franklin whiffed 13 Vernon batsmen in a five-inning stint to lead the Coyotes to victory. This will be Baker's first 3-AA start this season since Alan Snead went the route in defeating Abilene last week.

Today's game saw three .400 hitters in the game. The Coyotes own two of the .400 hitters, David West with .481 and Reg Kimbrough with .425. Don McNew is the Tiger .400 plus hitter with .412.

Wichita Falls carried a 7-4 season record into the game as compared to the Tigers' 16-5. The team's haven't met a common opponent. The Coyotes were slated to meet Abilene last Saturday but the game was rained out.

After today's game, the Tigers will journey to Abilene Saturday for a return bout while the Coyotes will host Vernon on the same date.

Following are the probably starting lineups and batting averages for today's game:

COYOTES ... ... ...

Larry Phillips, 2b, .227; Reg Kimbrough, rf, .425; Milton Coker, 3b, .333; David West, lf, .481; Fritz Land, cf, .391; Aaron Case, ss ,289; Jim Humphrey, 1b .308; Eddie Fuller, c, .138; Howard Franklin, p, .379.

TIGERS ... ... ...

Gary Vice, cf, .258; Dwayne Prince, rf, .307; Don McNew, c, .412; Alan Snead, 3b, .333; Joe Reaves, 2b, .292; Tommy Prichad, ss, .200; Milton Ham, 1b, .327; Neal Boyd, lf ,143; and Ronnie Baker, p, .333.

B-Sox, Hubs Advance In BS

By The Associated Press

Rain kept the leaders, Corpus Christi and Port Arthur, idle Monday so Abilene and Lubbock improved their standings in the Big State League.

Abilene beat Waco 5-4 to move within a half-game of third-place Wichita Falls. Lubbock nosed Wichita Falls 11-10 to leap-frog Waco into fourth.

Abilene won a battle of home runs. The Waco Pirates took a 2-0 lead in the first on singles by Stan Malec, Monty Basgall, Clem Yaskowitz and Oscar Rodriguez. Abilene slammed three runs across in its half on doubles by Osmond Walker and Gordon MacKenzie and a home run by Rudy Malying.

Abilene added a run in the second on singles by Walker, MacKenzie and Mayling. Basgall homered for Waco in the fifth to cut the margin to 4-3 but Abilene got one in that inning, too, and Waco never caught up.

Steve Molinari homered in the eighth to give Lubbock its narrow victory over Wichita Falls. It was all relief pitcher Bob Miller wanted.

Phil Fans Warned Against Uprisings

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Warren Giles, president of the National Baseball League, says umpires at Connie Mack Stadium have been told to declare a mandatory forfeit of the game if there are any more bleacher uprisings by fans of the Philadelphia Phillies.

"The umpires have the right to forfeit a game if circumstances justify it. They have now been instructed that if there are any further incidents at Connie Mack Stadium, there is to be a mandatory forfeit of the game," Giles said last night on a local radio sports program.

Old Satch Returns To Diamond Wars

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Miami Marlins are counting on Leroy (Satchel) Paige to help them off the ground in the International League race but the ancient pitcher insists it won't be by helicopter.

Paige came to the Marlins on opening night—by whirlybird. He was supposed to land on the pitcher's mound before the game but somehow the pilot missed his signal and it wasn't until the second inning that Satch stepped out of the flying machine in a cloud of dust.

He was properly attired in a baseball uniform and ambled to the dugout. Someone brought a rocking chair. Paige oblingly took it and struck a familar pose.

Bill Veeck, executive vice president of the Marlins, insists that bringing in Paige was no joke but a sincere effort to help the ball club.

"I wouldn't have brought Satch here if he wasn't going to be a help to the ball club," Veeck said. "The old boy still has got a lot on the ball. I honestly think he'll be a big help."

Asked what it cost to bring Paige to the Marlins, Veeck admitted only that he comes high."

"Paige and I have been friends for years," Bill said. "He was with me last year on a barnstorming tour. He can still pitch."

Paige, who entertains the other players with his antics, retired the final batter Sunday night in the second game of a double-header to save a 3-2 decision for Miami.

Last night Manager Don Osborn called on him and Paige came through again. He pitched to Allie Clark, the ex-Cleveland outfielder who came on as a pinch hitter.

Clark hit the ball solidly but outfielder Dave Mann raced to his left and hauled it in for the final out for Rochester, which won the game anyway 2-1.

The Marlins' roster does not list Paige's age, but his friends say he is in the neighborhood of 56, give or take a few years.

Casey Not Sold, Yet, On Lumpe

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK (AP)—Jerry Lumpe, the only rookie to win a regular job on the New York Yankees this year, may be heading for a cozy spot on the bench, Manager Casey Stengel indicated today.

The professor wore a more-wrinkled - than - usual look when he took up the subject of the 22-year-old shortstop's fielding.

"All I know is that he's supposed to be a better thrower than this," he said. "Phil Page had him down in Birmingham last year and he was going out making all the relays from the outfield. Throwing a lot of guys out at the plate too. Does that sound like a guy who can't throw?"

No, Professor, it doesn't. What then is the answer?

"Well, I can't bench him right this minute," said Stengel. "He's hitting .350 and that's good."

But, he indicated that unless Lumpe improves by Friday, he's heading for a rest. By that time, Billy Martin will have recovered from an arm injury. Andy Carey as become more or less a fixture at third base, leaving only one opening for Gil McDougald, the all-around man—shortstop.

Stengel thinks that Lumpe might be playing under a strain. After all, it's not every rookie who breaks into a pennant-winning lineup. In fact, except for Lumpe and outfielder Lou Skizas, every other rookie the Yanks had in spring stations has departed for way stations.

Lumpe's throwing arm has been both weak and erratic thus far this year. It was the same in the Southland, but then he was operating off a bad leg.

"Still," mused Stengel, "he showed some class at Washington last week when he threw that big guy out at the plate after playing back."

Stengel was referring to Lumpe tossing out Roy Sievers at the plate after fielding a grounder near the grass. Sievers was on third at the time.

Without The Thumper, Bosox Are Second Division Outfit

By JOE REICHLER
The Associated Press

How much does Ted Williams mean to the Boston Red Sox?

The inescapable truth is that the Red Sox, without Ted Williams, are a second-division club. With him, they're a pennant contender.

The recent series with the New York Yankees demonstrated how feeble the club really is when Williams is out of the lineup.

The combination of a light schedule and bad weather yesterday, which wiped out all major league action except Brooklyn's 6-1 victory over Philadelphia, gave an opportunity for a check of Boston box scores during the past four seasons. Starting with 1952, the year Williams left the club to serve his second term with the Marines, the figures show plainly show Ted's value to the Red Sox.

From the start of the 1952 season to date, the Red Sox have won 316 games while losing 305 for a .509 percentage. With Williams in the lineup, they won 144 and lost 111. That's a .565 gait. Without him, they won 172 and lost 194 for a .470 percentage.

Boston won the first two games handily this season. Williams clubbed four hits in five times at bat. The Red Sox made it three in a row the next day with Williams out of the lineup because of a foot injury. Then came the three successive losses to the Yankees, 7-1, 14-10 and 13-6. Ted got into action in two of those games as a pinch hitter, driving in a run with a single.

Boston's schedule game with Baltimore last night was postponed because of cold weather. It may prove a blessing because it gives Ted another day to recover from his injury.

Five games were scheduled yesterday, all under the lights, but cold weather, rain and snow combined to wipe them all off the slate except the game between the Brooklyn Dodgers and Phillies in Philadelphia.

In Philadelphia, young Don Drysdale Brooklyn's rookie right-hander, made his first major league start and turned in an impressive performance. The 19-year-old Montreal graduate yielded nine hits but pitched superbly in the clutch, striking out nine batters.

The victory moved the Dodgers into a first-place tie with Milwaukee. Each club has a 4-2 record.

Drysdale, a lanky, baby-faced youngster with a side-arming style not unlike Ewell Blackwell, walked only one batter.

The kid himself set up the winning rally in the fifth. After Carl Furillo had walked, he got the first hit off veteran Murry Dickson, a single to left. Junior Gilliam and Pee Wee Reese followed with singles to give the Dodgers a 3-0 lead. The dodgers added insurance runs in the eighth and ninth.

All TL Games Wiped Out By Rain

By The Associated Press

Texas League folk thought they were off to a start that meant a big boost at the gate with five full schedules, then the weather started pecking away. Rain and cold postponed eight games in six dates.

The entire slate was wiped out Monday from Houston to Tulsa.

Dallas and Houston are leading the race. Dallas was riding a 4-game winning streak when their game at Tulsa was postponed. Houston had just had a 5-game skein broken.

San Antonio at Houston was postponed by rain and so was Shreveport at Austin. Fort Worth couldn't play at Oklahoma City because it was too cold.

Texas Political Row Tightens Up

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The contest for the control of the Texas delegation to the national Democratic convention had tightened today. Sen. Lyndon Johnson received new support. Gov. Allan Shivers mapped a tour to four cities in a bid for votes.

On the grassroots level, backers of the two rivals were busy lining up support for a test of strength at the May 5 precinct conventions. The final test will come at the May 22 state convention in Dallas.

Leaders of the Texas AFL-CIO, and the Nueces County (Corpus Christi) Democratic Executive Committee said Monday they would support Johnson to head the Texas delegation.

Colorado Gov. Ed Johnson, who was in the Senate 18 years, endorsed the Texas senator for the Democratic presidential nomination. Backers of Johnson has urged that he also be named Texas' "favorite son" candidate for the presidential nomination.

"Please make room for me on your bandwagon. . . I regard you as the foremost political leader of the Democratic party in the nation today. You have all the attributes of that high office," the Colorado governor wrote the Texan.

Leroy Williams and Jerry Holleman, president and executive secretary of the Texas Federation of Labor, exhorted union labor members to attend the May 5 Democratic elections and line up behind Johnson.

Party loyalty is a big issue because Shivers has said he again wil refuse to support Adlai Stevenson should Stevenson prevail.

One of those speaking for the Corpus Christi resolution was former U.S. Rep. John Lyle of Corpus Christi. Lyle accused Shivers of playing "footsie" with U.S. Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell. Lyle said those who are Republicans should stay in the Republican party and those who are Democrats should stay in the Democratic party.

Shivers scheduled a speech Tuesday at Waco, where the liberal-loyalist forces opposing him have been strong. He will spend Wednesday at Lubbock and Amarillo. He will address a rally of conservative Democrats in Dallas Friday.

On another political front Land Commissioner Earl Rudder announced for reelection. He was appointed by Shivers in January, 1955, after Bascom Giles declined to take the oath of office. Giles is now in the penitentiary serving terms stemming from the veterans' land scandals.

U.S. Ahead Of Russia In Missiles

DETROIT (AP)—Air Force Secretary Donald A. Quarles says "we are technically ahead of the Soviets" in development of guided missiles and that the United States is "putting top priority on the development of such weapons."

Of the London declaration of Russian leaders that the Soviets soon will have hydrogen - bomb guided missiles that can hit any point in the world, Quarles said: "If it is true, it is a terrible warning to the free world."

"It all depends," he said at a news conference yesterday, "on Nikita Khrushchev's definitation of 'soon' or a 'short time.'

"It probably comes down to translating the Russian.

"In a matter of time the Russians will have such weapons," he added with an aside that similar announcements had been made in the past by Marshal Zhukov and others.

Speaking subsequently to a Michigan Aero Club dinner honoring Roger M. Kyes, a General Motors Corp. vice president and a former deputy secretary of defense, Quarles said that in this atomic age "treacherous evasion" of any disarmament agreement might be hard to discover, or if discovered to counter.

Kyes, deputy secretary of defense from January 1953 to May 1954, was presented the Air Force Exceptional Service Award, its highest civilian decoration.

Jury Picked In Land Case

JOURDANTON (AP)—Selection of a jury to try T. J. McLarty on a charge that he violated the law in a veterans land transaction began today.

Judge H. D. Barrow ordered the trial to proceed in 81st District Court after overruling two motions for postponement yesterday.

McLarty, a former South Texas land promoter, is being tried on one of 39 indictments resulting from veterans land deals. He is accused of misrepresenting a written instrument in a 1952 transaction in which the state paid him $117,510 for 3,700 acres of Guadalupe County land for resale to 24 veterans.

A delay was sought by the defense on grounds that an ineligible juror served on the grand jury that returned the indictment, that a congressman who is a material witness cannot leave Washington, and that the chief defense attorney could not be present because of a car accident Saturday.

The state argued the defense had made no effort to secure a deposition from Rep. John Bell when he was in Texas earlier this month.

Absent as trial began was R. E. L. Looney of Austin, who was to have been the main attorney for McLarty.

Rayburn And Adlai Talk Over Politics

WASHINGTON (AP) — Speaker Sam Rayburn said he and Adlai Stevenson, candidate for the Democratic nomination, "talked a little politics" yesterday.

The former Illinois governor called on the Texas congressman for 30 minutes.

"We talked about Texas; we talked about the campaign. As to what we said, that would be for his memoirs, or mine. We had a good time," Rayburn said.

Thomas Is Selected For Farm Position

Alaska Votes In Primary

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—Alaskans vote in their first presidential preferential primary today.

They will chose between Adlai Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauver for the Democratic nomination.

Although the names of President Eisenhower and Sen. William F. Knowland of California were on the Republican ballot, the Stevenson-Kefauver contest drew the lion's share of interest.

Knowland's name was placed on the ballot before Eisenhower announced his willingness to run. It coud not be removed.

Although Alaska's six-vote delegation to the Democratic National Convention will go uninstructed, any strong swing in the Stevenson-Kefauver race could well have influence. An informal poll of the delegation shows it to be in favor of Stevenson at this point by about a 3-1 margin.

In addition to the preferential primary, authorized by the last Territorial Legislature, Alaskans will be voting on candidates for the national committees of the two major parties, candidates for the Territorial Legislature, ratification of a proposed state constitution and related issues.

New England And Rockies Hit By Snow

By The Associated Press

The nation's weather showed only minor changes today, with more chilly breezes for Northern states and continued mild in the Southern areas.

Temperatures dipped to far below freezing in some northern Midwest sections. The coldest weather was in the northern part of the Great Lakes region and westward through the upper Mississippi Valley, the Dakotas and Nebraska. Readings ranged from freezing to as low as 15 degrees at Grantsburg, Wis.

Snow flurries were reported in parts of New England and in the northern Rockies.

Torrential rainfall, measuring as much as 10 inches in the Corpus Christi, Tex., area, inundated thousands of acres of growing crops and flooded sections of the Gulf Coast city yesterday. Moderate to heavy rain continued during the night along the west Gulf Coast. Rainfall measured nearly 2½ inches in Brownsville, Tex., and nearly 2 inches in Beaumont, Tex.

Scattered thunderstorms were reported in a narrow belt from Oklahoma eastward through southern Missouri, northern Arkansas, Kentucky and Tennessee. Falls were mostly light.

In the South temperatures were in the 50s and 60s this morning from South Carolina westward through Texas, with a few 70s in the southern tip of Texas and southern Florida.

Ballot Is Cast By Ike

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — President Eisenhower cast his first ballot as a Pennsylvanian today in a presidential preference primary matching him against Democrat Adlai Stevenson in a popularity test.

A heavy, wet snow was falling as the smiling President arrived at the Cumberland Township polling place at 7:04 a.m., four minutes after the unit had opened for business.

His was the first ballot in.

Wearing a tan topcoat and a brown hat, he had to make his way through a big crowd of reporters and photographers who jammed every vantage point inside the 10x15-foot white frame voting place some four miles from his farm home.

Nomination Approved

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Judiciary Committee approved yesterday the nomination of James Crawford as U.S. marshal for East Texas.

Three Primaries Take Over Political Spotlight Today

By The Associated Press

The political spotlight swung today on three presidential primary elections, with special emphasis on a test of the relative strength of President Eisenhower and Democratic candidate Adlai Stevenson in Pennsylvania.

In Alaska, Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauven were opposed in a Democratic presidential preference contest.

In Massachusetts, backers of Stevenson and Rep. John W. McCormack waged campaigns for Democratic write-in votes. Kefauver asked his supporters to vote for McCormack, a favorite son candidate. Neither Stevenson nor Kefauver campaigned in Massachusetts.

Eisenhower has only nominal GOP opposition in Pennsylvania from Sen. Knowland of California, who was unable to withdraw his name after Eisenhower announced his candidacy.

Stevenson is unopposed on the Democratic side. Voters can't cross party lines, so it becomes a test of who can pull in the most votes in his own party.

Eisenhower beat Stevenson in the 1952 Pennsylvania general election, 2,415,789 votes to 2,146,269. Observers forecast about 35 per cent of the state's 4,970,195 eligible voters would ballot today.

Pennsylvanians also choose a 74-vote Democratic delegation and a 70-vote Republican delegation o he respective national conventions. Neither group will be pledged to any specific candidate.

Massachusetts voters pick a 40-vote Democratic delegation and a 38-vote GOP group. Write-in votes are not binding on the delegations.

Knowland is also on the GOP ballot with Eisenhower in Alaska, but interest focused on the contest between Stevenson and Kefauver. It is the territory's first presidential preference primary.

In other political developments yesterday:

Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas took to radio and television last night to give the Democrats' reply to Eisenhower's speech last week explaining his veto of the Democratic-sponsored farm bill.

Johnson charged Eisenhower abandoned his 1952 campaign promises in vetoing the bill and said the veto would cost American farmers two billion dollars this year.

GOP Kitchen Kabinet Flies To Conference

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—The Republican administration's "Kitchen Kabinet" flies in from Washington today for a grass roots conference with Ohio GOP women.

The wives of Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, Secretary of Agriculture Benson and Atty. Gen. Brownell will take part along with wives of 10 other secretaries and undersecretaries. They will fly back to Washington in time to have dinner with their husbands.

Mrs. Carroll D. Kearns, president of the National Federation of Republican women, said it is the first time wives of U.S. department heads have served as a "Kitchen Kabinet" to spread political gospel.

"It will give women at the grass roots level a much better understanding of politics," said Mrs. Florence G. Morris of Toledo, vice president of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs, the organization sponsoring today's affairs.

"Women are more and more interested in government," she said. 'They want to know what makes government tick on the national level. They want a first hand knowledge of government."

Mrs. Morris, a housewife whose only son is a precinct captain, said the "Kitchen Kabinet" is "purely an educational project."

The cabinet and subcabinet wives were set to speak to small groups first and then summarize their remarks to the 1,000 delegates in a later session.

The wives of Secretary of the Army Bruckner and Secretary of the Air Force Quarles were on the program.

Strike Continuing

BEAUMONT (AP)—The Beaumont-Port Arthur-Orange building strike was in its fourth week today with no signs of settlement in sight. The strike is over wages and contract duration. The strike involves about 10,000 workers and has halted construction on 80 million dollars worth of work.

The Jordan River Valley is 2,000 feet below the surrounding countryside in some places.

Johnson Backed By Parr, Paper Says

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Chronicle said today the South Texas political organization boss ed by George Parr is backing Sen. Lyndon Johnson in his fight for control of the Texas Democratic delegation.

Parr's machine in 1948 turned in an avalanche of votes for Johnson which gave Johnson an 87-vote margin and a seat in the Senate over former Gov. Coke Stevenson.

The newspaper also said:

In the past the Parr organization has not been active in precinct conventions.

The current fight between Gov. Allan Shivers and Johnson for control of the state delegation to the national convention has apparently aroused Parr's interest.

J. C. King, a business and political associate of Parr, is the chairman of the Democratic party in Duval County.

'The county committee will go solidly for Johnson,' 'King said.

King predicts Johnson will carry the precinct conventions May 5 in Duval "and even if opposition from the Shivers' forces arise, Johnson backers will win in San Diego and Benavides."

The county will send nine delegates to the state convention.

The 10 members of the Duval County Democratic executive committee are all supporters of the Parr organization. One is Atlee Parr, Benavides rancher and brother of George Parr.

King said that "in the past Parr has not taken an active part in precinct conventions, but I am sure that he will this year."

New Duval, the Spanish-English language newspaper in the county which has opposed Parr, speculated editorially on Parr's support of Johnson in its current issue.

"If Johnson is elected president," the paper said, "George Parr would be secretary of the treasury."

Order To Restrain Strikers Is Issued

TYLER (AP)—Judge Otis Dunnegan issued a temporary order yesterday restraining 6,000 union employes from striking over the discontinuance of passenger train service in East Texas by the Cotton Belt Railroad.

The strike had been set for 6:01 a.m. Wednesday. The strike vote was taken by seven railroad brotherhoods of the St. Louis Southwestern (Cotton Belt) Railroad after the passenger service was discontinued with permission of the Railroad Commission. The unions contended the curtailed service adversely affected their wages and working conditions.

The railroad contended more than one million dollars a day will be lost if the strike begins.

A hearing on the petition by Cotton Belt officials for a temporary injunction against thestrike has been set for May 3.

Free Honeymoon Is Ready For Couple

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) —Newlyweds Bill and Louise Harrison have a free honeymoon from here out—if they can be found.

The Harrisons were married Sunday and took off in their new car for Florida, with stops scheduled at Natchez, Miss., and Pensacola before reaching West Palm Beach.

A Shreveport department store announced yesterday that the bride has won a contest entitling her to an all-expense four-day trip to New York. Learning of the marriage, the firm threw in a place for the groom, a 23-year-old life insurance agent.

WINCHESTER, Ky. (AP)—"Would you do me a favor and give me all the money in the cash register?" asked the man who walked into a dairy last night. Mrs. Nan Vaughn promptly obliged. A gun in the man's hand indicated he would insist upon the "favor." She wasn't able to say how much the "favor" cost the dairy.

Ithaca Jury Being Picked

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP)—Jury selection continued today in the trial of Dr. Frank Sainburg, 36, of Big Spring, Tex., and two men accused of kidnaping the physician's son more than two years ago.

Six jurors were chosen yesterday.

Sainburg is charged in a four-count indictment of taking his son, Philip, from his mother's custody here on Jan. 19, 1954. It also charged him with second-degree assault and third-degree burglary.

The same charges were filed against George Varris, 38, of New York, and Murray Morton, 31, of Hollywood, Fla.

Sainburg was also charged with kidnaping his son a second time Nov. 14, 1955.

After the second disappearance of Philip, Sainburg turned up in Texas with the child. The mother, Miss Doris Blanchard of Ithaca, who resumed her maiden name after annulment of her marriage to Sainburg, won a court order directing that the child be returned to her.

Sainburg and Philip were found later in Yuma, Ariz. The Texas physician surrendered here Feb. 16, pleaded innocent and was released on $10,000 bail.

Morton was identified yesterday as a member of the sheriff's department in Miami. Varris and Morton previously had identified themselves as private investigators.

Police Check Death Of Former Convict

DALLAS (AP) — Police checked deeper today into the death of [illegible] Avrett, 24, a former convict whose body was found in the apartment of a Dallas stenographer yesterday.

Officers said the stenographer said Avrett, whom she had just met, knocked early yesterday on the door of the apartment she shares with a girl. She said when they opened the door, he slapped her, crawled into her bed and went to sleep.

She slept in another bed with her roommate and they noticed he was dead yesterday afternoon, she told officers. Avrett was released from the Huntsville prison April 7 after a sentence for burglary and narcotics violations.

Worth Of Helicopter Taxies Is Explained

CLEVELAND (AP) — Helicopter taxis can take off today in "zero-zero" weather, the American Assn. of Airport Executives was told.

Henry Eagle, operations manger of Cleveland Air Taxi, Inc., said helicopter takeoffs in such weather, with no forward or upward visibility, have been accomplished successfully "and it was not a particularly harrowing experience."

Harry Ready If Called For Advice

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Former President Truman says he will not take a hand in the selection of the 1956 Democratic nominee for president unless a deadlock appears inevitable.

He declared in an interview yesterday:

"If it should develop that a decision can't be reached any other way, I'll do all I can to help should I called on."

The former President well knows the pivotal role he might be called upon to play if there is a deadlock. It has guided his refusal to make a personal choice this early.

Truman shrugs off any suggestion he run against President Eisenhower in November, he said.

"If I were younger, I might consider it," he said. "But no one has ever been elected to the presidency after reaching 65 and lived to serve out his term."

Truman will be 72 May 8. President Eisenhower was 65 last Oct. 14.

"I'm saving my fireworks for the Republicans," Truman said. "We can win if we make a fighting campaign.

"The Republicans will have all the money, but the issues will be all in our favor.

"The Republicans boast of peace and prosperity. But where is the real peace in a world where litle wars could develop into big ones? And where is your prosperity if little business and the farmer don't share it? And how long can it last if they don't?"

Youth Is Injured By Exploding Truck

CARO, Mich. (AP)—A flying piece of metal from an exploding gasoline transport truck fatally injured 11-year-old Ned Huffman as he ran from the scene yesterday.

The truck, driven by William Force of Caro, blazed up at a residential intersection. Caro firemen were fighting the flames when the truck exploded.

Despite flying metal and spewing, flaming fuel, Ned was the only casualty. He was 200 feet away and running from the explosion.

THE $100,000 SMILE — Leonard Ross, 10-year-old Tujunga, Calif. expert on the stock market and its transactions, beams his pleasure in New York after winning the grand prize, $100,000 on the TV show, "The Big Surprise." Leonard whipped through five questions on Wall Street to walk off with the top prize. He's the show's fourth contestant to take top prize.

Rains Give Little Hope

DALLAS (AP) — The prolonged drought which wasn't even nicked by last week's showers threatens to run up one of the highest feed bills in history for Texas cattle owners, the Dallas News said today.

Up to four inches of rain was reported but the rains were too spotted to help the over-all picture, district agricultural agents reported.

A spring drought is forcing many livestock raisers to continue to buy feed, Ted Martin of Denton said, adding: "Most ranges are far below normal. The general condition is serious."

In the Rolling Plains area, J. A. Scofield of Vernon said the rains "were of no consequence" and that no grain sorgums were being planted because of the drought.

Rain is needed soon if an oat crop is to be made in Central Texas, R. G. Burwell of Stephenville said. Crops are showing drought damage. Planting has been delayed.

Surface moisture is becoming depleted as the drought extends into East Texas, J. H. Surovik of Mt. Pleasant said. Subsoil moisture is still good in that sector, he said.

Cool nights and dry winds have been hard on young crops in deep East Texas, Walter Scott at Nacogdoches said. The top soil is getting dry and many crops need rain.

ICARDI AFTER ACQUITTAL—Aldo L. Icardi, right, is all smiles as he poses with one of his attorneys, Murdaugh Madden, following his acquittal in U. S. District Court in Washington on charges of perjury. Icardi, a former Army lieutenant, was accused of falsely denying complicity in the World War II murder of Major William V. Holohan behind enemy lines in Italy. The acquittal was directed by Judge Richmond B. Keech on a defense motion to throw out the indictment.

South Given New Report

BILOXI, Miss. (AP) — Southern legislators soon will receive a report telling them state governments have the ability to smooth out tension in peace relations.

The report will come from the Southern Assembly, which ended four days of meetings yesterday. Sponsored by Tulane University, the assembly considered the job and troubles of state government.

The assembly said states governments, led by governors and helped by human relations commissions, can alleviate race tension.

"Government in the South has dealt with difficult problems before and undoubtedly has the ability to alleviate the present tension," the Southern Assembly said.

The report also:

Saw signs that a two-party system was coming to the south but was not sure this was a good thing on the local and state level.

Asked longer terms for governors.

Recommended reapportionment of legislatures.

Warned that "since policy making is the most important function of state government, confidence in state legislatures must be strengthened."

Resolved that "the strengthening of our state governments is imperative if they are to be strong and vital parts of our federal system."

Segregation On Montgomery Buses Comes To End Today

By The Associated Press

Segregation on buses at Montgomery, Ala., came to an end today and marked the first concrete reaction in the South to the U.S. Supreme Court decision extending the ban on racial segregation to public transportation within the borders of a state.

Negro leaders rejoiced but there was no immediate indication whether similar action might be taken elsewhere in the South, long troubled by segregation problems.

Some white Southern leaders termed the decision by the Supreme Court still another invasion of states' rights and a new step "in federal dictatorship." A Negro spokesman hailed the ruling as marking a nend to the separate but equal doctrine as a legal principle.

One governor and several public officials pledged to do everything legally possible to resist the new decision affecting transportation on city buses and trolleys.

The Supreme Court took only 10 words to dismiss an appeal from a U.S. Court of Appeals decision in Rchmond, Va., that segregation on intrastate (within the state) buses violates the federal Constitution.

The case originated in Columbia, S.C., where Sarah Mae Flemming, a Negro, filed suit for $25,000 damages for alleged violation of her civil rights because a bus driver enforced against her a South Carolina law requiring segregation on intrastate buses.

The action, coupled with earlier decision and an Interstate Commerce Commission order last November ordering an end to segregation on interstate trains and buses and in waiting rooms used by interstate travelers, covered all conceivable angles of public transportation.

Robert L. Carter, assistant special counsel for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, who argued the case in the Supreme Court, said in New York that the decision ended the "separate but equal doctrine as a legal principle."

"In dismissing the appeal in the Flemming case the Supreme Court has made it clear beyond question that racial segregation cannot be constitutionally enforced pursuant to government authority in any area of American life," he said.

In Montgomery, the Rev. M. L. King Jr., a Negro leader in the bus boycott, appealed to members of both white and Negro races to use "calm reasonableness."

"All persons of good will will seek to comply with this decision," he said.

A suit attacking constitutionality of city and state segregation laws in Alabama is now on file in U.S. Dstrict Court and is scheduled to be heard b a three-judge panel May 11.

Twelve states have laws prohibiting integration on public transportation within the state. They are Alabama, Louisiana, Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Florida, Oklahoma, Tennesse and Virginia .

Gov. Marvin Griffin of Georgia, an outspoken foe of integration, termed yesterday's decision "another example of an overt usurpation of the liberties of the people . . ."

"We shall oppose this latest decision just as we are resisting the decision in the school segregation case by all possible legal means," he said.

Chairman Jack Owen of the Alabama Public Service Commission declared, "I am going to do everything I can to maintain segregation in Alabama."

In Louisiana, State Sen. William Rainach, chairman of a joint legislative committee on segregation, said the decision was a new step "in federal dictatorship."

Attorneys General J. Lindsay Almond Jr. of Virginia, T. C. Calison of South Carolina, in whose state the bus case originated, and John Ben Shepperd of Texas issued a joint statement which said in part:

"We are not surprised at the action of the Supreme Court . . . in view of the trend of the court's ruling in recent years. It is another unwarranted invasion of state and municipal rights. It simply means now that the states and cities cannot determine the type of vehicles that operate over their streets, the manner of their operation or, that based upon the factors of health, safety, and morals, that separation of the races is a proper exercise of the traditional police power of a state."

Carolina also termed the decision "a further invasion of states' rights," and in Miami, Fla., Atty. Gen. Richard W. Ervin proposed that a special session of the Florida Legislature be called in June to study the entire field of segregation.

Quads Born In New York

NEW YORK (AP)—A tiny Bronx mother of year-old twins gave birth to quadruplets yesterday.

Mrs. Carmen Medina, 25, wife of a $40-a-week machinist, had twin girls April 10, 1955. She expected twins again this time. But she had two boys and two girls—a one in a million occurrence.

Mrs. Medina is 5 feet 2 and weighs only 96 pounds. The father, Ciprian, 28, is three inches taller and weighs 115.

The four new babies were put into incubators at Flower and Fifth venue Hospitals. They and their mother were reported doing well.

The quads arrived four minutes apart. The smallest, a boy, weighed 2 pounds 5 ounces. The largest, also a boy, weighed 3 pounds 3 ounces.

The Medinas were married in Puerto Rico in 1947. They came here shortly thereafter and now live in a $40-a-month walkup apartment.

Informed he was the father of quadruplets, Medina said: "I think I'd better earn more money. I can't believe it. I was expecting twins."

HAND-HOLDING HONEYMOONERS—Newlywed Grace Kelly and Prince Rainier III have eyes and hands only for each other at a party in the Formentor Yacht Club near Puerto Pollensa on the island of Majorca in the Balearics off the Spanish coast. The famous couple are honeymooning in the Mediterranean aboard the prince's yacht, Deo Juvante.

Turkish Election Storm Boiling Up

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP)—Turkey's nest general election is still two years away, but the storm already is brewing.

Opposition leaders and a large part of the Turkish press accuse Premier Adnan Menderes of leading Turkey into serious economic difficulties.

Menderes accuses his political opponents and the press of sabotaging his policies and of "preparing revolution in the country."

The wide-open political battle dates from December. At that time Menderes' Cabinet quit during a squabble within his own Democratic party over the country's faltering economy. He formed a new government immediately, but only afte a score of leading Democratic deputies quit or were ousted from the party. They joined in the mounting clamor against him.

In almost daily meetings, opposition politicians blame Menderes for inflation in Turkey, for rising prices and for other economic woes.

For his forum Menderes has chosen the sites of a number of development projects undertaken during his six years as premier. In recent weeks he has inaugurated several new cement factories and power projects, including a 35-million-dollar hydroelectric power and irrigation plant in the Sehyan River Valley, in southern Turkey.

These and many similar projects to modernize Turkish industry have been the backbone of Menderes' economic program. He claims they are essential if Turkey is to maintain a competitive position in world markets and raise the standard of living at home. The opposition contends the program leads to inflation, shortages and a lower standard of living.

Tax Stamps Seen Often By Brazilians

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — There never was a Boston tea party in Brazil. Therefore, you see tax stamps everywhere.

Buy a coat hanger and there's a tax stamp on it. It's illegal to wear new shoes if there's no tax stamp on the soles. There are stamps on beer bottle caps and on match boxes and tables and lamps. Write a letter to the government to complain about tax stamps: it won't get anywhere unless there's a stamp on it—not only on the envelope but on the letter.

It would take quite a tea party now to do away with the stamps, which account for more than 40 per cent of the government's ordinary revenue.

Stamps are needed on so many things that you have to stand in line to get them. The stickum on the stamp is no good so they have to be glued, and each one has to be canceled by writing your name and the date across the front.

You can complain to the government about your boss without a stamp. The law specifically provides that petitions to labor courts need not be stamped.

Are they going to college?

Easy Carpet Cleaning Discovery Hailed

What is said to be the easiest and "cleaningest" home rug cleaner, known as Blue Lustre, is now available after years of research.

Blue Lustre leaves no foreign residue to cause rapid resoiling. The pile is left open and fluffy as the colors spring out like magic. So easy to apply with a long handle brush (like playing shuffleboard) and is safe for all types of carpets.

Use Blue Lustre to clean the entire carpet or remove spots and traffic lanes. It's economical to use as ½ gallon of consentrate cleans three 9 x 12 rugs.
