

Reappoint Housing Authority Board; Sell $300,000 Notes

Mayor Hiram Cudd recently re-appointed three commissioners of the Housing Authority of the City of Wellington: Dr. Chas. B. Jones, George Shadd and N. M. Higdon.

These will serve for two-year terms. There are two hold-over commissioners: Joe Terry and Duster Hughs.

In the organization of the housing board which followed, Higdon was elected chairman, Dr. Jones vice chairman, and Terry secretary and executive director.

Higdon also announced that

Morgan Guaranty Trust Company of New York was the low bidder on $301,000 worth of temporary notes, with an interest rate of 1.73 per cent and a $10 premium.

There were two other bids, one from Chemical Bank of New York Trust Company, New York, and Bank of America, San Francisco. Both were for 1.76 per cent interest with $13 premium.

Higdon explained that this type of financing is being used on Wellington's housing project because the money market is favorable to short term fi-naning, giving a lower interest rate. The notes were dated April 10, and will run until April 12, 1963.

Major finance houses buy this type paper at the low rate of interest, Higdon continued, because it is backed by the government and therefore not taxable for income tax purposes.

"These people are already in the 52 per cent income tax bracket, and they feel that 1.76 per cent interest tax free is equal to three and a half per cent, half of which goes for income tax," Higdon explained.

Majority of School Trustees Are Re-Elected

With only one exception, present school board members were returned to office in the trustee elections held in the four county districts Saturday, April 7.

A heavier than usual vote was reported in all districts. At Wellington, Jones Singley was returned to office with 116 votes.

Charles Ray (Dick) Pendleton was elected with 109 votes over Elvis Crawley, who received 96. Crawley was the incumbent.

In a write-in campaign, Hubert Mauldin received 31 votes. There was also one write-in vote for Mrs. James Sullivan.

Samnorwood

The two incumbents were returned to office by Samnorwood school patrons, with Marvin Knoll receiving 144 votes and Billy Waters 139.

Other candidates were Douglas Coleman, who received 51 votes, and R. A. Taylor 31.

Quail

Three candidates were re-elected at Quail: Palo Cummings with 75 votes, Richard Peters with 72 and Henry Langford with 61. Mrs. James R. Ross, the other candidate, received 34.

A total of 93 votes were cast according to Herman Moseley, superintendent of schools.

Dodson

The incumbents were also re-elected at Dodson, with Howard Hunt receiving 69 votes and Truitt Holland 59. Bill Owens received 11 votes.

There were two write-in candidates, Carl Croom with 3 votes and Garland Hightower with 1.

County Trustees

Z. J. Neeley was returned to the place as county trustee from Precinct 3, with 82 votes. He was completing an appointive term.

Write-in candidates, receiving one vote each, were N. E. Childers and J. L. Souder.

Retired Navy Officer Visits Relatives Here

Admiral Walter Warlick, USN, Ret., who commanded the destroyer that carried President Roosevelt to one of his meetings with Prime Minister Churchill during World War II, visited relatives in Wellington Friday and Saturday. Mrs. Warlick accompanied him.

Since his retirement, the couple lives in Annapolis, Md. They were the house guests of his cousins, Dr. and Mrs. J. Frank Johnson, and visited an aunt, Mrs. W. D. Duffey, and cousins, Frank Campbell, Chiff Campbell, Mrs. Velman Warlick and Merritt Duffey and their families.

Admiral Warlick grew up at Clarendon and also lived at Childress. He visited here frequently in his youth.

The couple was en route home from a motor trip to Mexico.

Admiral Warlick entered the Navy in 1917, and his last assignment prior to his retirement was as

Bank Assets Reach New High for Season at Over 8 Million

Collingsworth bank assets have soared to the highest point for this season in the county's financial history, and deposits likewise have reached a peak, causing local bankers to say the county is in the best condition it has ever been in.

Assets revealed under the March 26 call by the Federal Reserve Bank and State Banking Commissioner show assets of $8,211,041.41 for the three banks, Wellington State and City State in Wellington and First State in Dodson.

Deposits at the same time were $7,641,942.59.

Assets are approximately $800,000 above those of a year ago and a million and a half above those at mid-March in 1960. They are a million and three-quarters higher than 3 years ago, and two and a quarter million above the assets of those same three banks five years ago. For the last two years, it is pointed out, assets have increased at the rate of around three-quarters of a million dollars a year.

This year's deposits of $7,641,942.59 are approximately a million and a third dollars higher than they were five years ago, and approximately $641,000 higher than a year ago.

Demand deposits total $6,421,852.37, while two years ago they were $5,416,254.72, almost a million dollars below today's figure. This figure represents the "working money" of county depositors.

Time deposits, those accounts on which the bank pays interest to the depositors, total $1,140,090.31. The remainder of the deposit figure includes savings deposits, deposits made by the United States, by cities, the county, school and water districts, and other political subdivisions.

Loans and discounts on Mar. 26 were listed as $4,408,429.18.

But Collingsworth residents do not owe this much by about $860,000, bankers explain. That figure represents what is known in the banking industry as "participations." For a period after crops are gathered, the banks in this part of the country have more money to loan than there are customers wanting to borrow. Banks, therefore, "participate" with their corresponding city banks in making short term loans or in buying short term paper, due usually in 30 to 180 days.

These loans are backed by the corresponding bank and this enables the local bank to draw interest on money that otherwise would be idle.

Or banks may buy commercial paper or loans. There are around a half million dollars of local money invested in

School Board is Reorganized

The Wellington Independent school board, in its regular meeting Monday night, April 9, held its annual reorganization.

Velman Warlick is president of the board for another year. Fred Cox succeeds Frank Campbell as vice president and A. J. Fires was re-elected secretary.

Dick Pendleton took office as a new member of the board.

Other members, in addition to the officers and Pendleton, are Campbell, Jones Singley, and David Baumgardner.

Absentee Voting Opens April 15 for Primaries

Absentee voting begins Monday, April 16, and will continue through May 5, Lorene Jenkins, county clerk, reminded those voters who will be away from the county for the primary elections.

Sunday, April 15, is the actual date for the opening of absentee voting, and Mrs. Jenkins said that she will be available to come to the office should anyone need to vote on that day.

The absentee voting dates apply in both the Democratic and Republican primaries.

Quail Faculty for 1962-63 Term Listed

Re-election of faculty members of the Quail school was announced Monday, April 9, by Supt. Herman Moseley.

Mr. Moseley was given a contract earlier this year, for a three-year period.

Other faculty members are Frank Kennedy, Mrs. Monty Mitchell, Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, W. F. Howard, Richard Gilbreth, Mrs. Lewis Morris, Mrs. Ola Debord, Mrs. Herman Moseley, Mrs. Jim Lowe, and Mrs. Lowell Wells.

Purl Tippie, coach and teacher, will teach in another school next year, and Mrs. Tippie, also a Quail teacher, will accompany him.

Moseley said the school is losing one teacher because of a drop in average daily attendance, and one already is paid out of local funds. If money is available from the latter source, he continued, an instructor will be hired to teach math in high school and coach basketball.

Don Beck from WT

Perryton Coach to Head WHS Athletics

Don Beck of Perryton, whose backfield teams the Skyrockets have known hand to hand the last four years, will be Wellington high school's new head coach, Supt. J. L. Harper announced Tuesday, April 10, following a meeting of the school board Monday night.

He will take over his duties with the beginning of the 1962 season.

Besides being the backfield coach of the Perryton Rangers, Beck has been B team coach. In his new job, he will work with the Rocket track teams and assist in junior high football, Supt. Harper said. He will also do classroom teaching, probably in the fields of government and Texas history.

The new football mentor grew up at Canyon and was graduated from high school there after four years of football. He continued playing in the backfield for the West Texas Buffaloes at West Texas State College where he received his degree.

Beck is 27 years old and has taught five years, being at Lockney a year before going to Perryton. He is married and has children.

This year's Ranger team which he helped to coach finished second in District 5-AA.

Pari-Mutuel Gambling Elsewhere

Before Texas citizens go to the polls on May 5 to vote YES or NO on pari-mutuel gambling in our state, it might be well to consider a cross-section of viewpoints expressed by responsible leaders in states that already have so-called legalized gambling at race tracks.

Former Governor Leroy Collins of Florida stated; "Gambling, legal or illegal, is insidious. It kills more business than it generates. Florida would be better off if it had no Pari-mutuel betting. Even if gambling is 'needed' to attract some customers, I say let other places have these customers. They bring more problems than prosperity."

Thomas E. Murphy, of the Hartford Courant, America's oldest newspaper, wrote after a study of pari-mutuel gambling in the neighboring state of Rhode Island, "When you get the whole story from social agencies, banks, loan companies and police officials, this is gold that does not glisten. The other side of the pari-mutuel coin is deeply engraved with personal tragedies, delinquencies, embezzlements and suicides. Yet only 76,000 out of a total of 280,000 qualified voters bother to vote on this question at all."

Vergel A. Peterson, Director of the Chicago Crime Commission, says, "Gambling drains the salaries, savings and investments of a community into a business enterprise that serves no human need. Those who benefit from gambling profits are almost without exception members of the underworld who invariably control the gambling business."

Senator Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin comments, "The idea that legalized gambling will be a revenue-raiser is an illusion. Every dollar raised from such sources means five dollars spent in higher police costs, higher court costs, higher penitentiary costs and higher relief costs."

But aren't our race track neighbors in Arkansas, New Mexico and Louisiana raking in millions of dollars that should stay in Texas? The facts hardly indicate this.

If Hot Springs gambling is creating new jobs, why did the city lose population between 1950 and 1960? If New Mexico is supporting its government on race track gambling how did it do it on the $37,241.00 "tax take" from the $7,400,000.00 of race track revenue wagered in a 46-day meet in the 1959 season? If New Orleans prospers because of race track gambling, why is its growth of population and industry lagging far behind that of any major Texas City, all of which now prosper WITHOUT pari-mutuel gambling.

The true facts of gambling can be summed-up in the four words of Damon Runyon, "Horse players die broke."

What would happen to the finance business in this country if people didn't believe that two can live as cheaply as one?

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

I see where a Mr. Chester Bowles says cutting down the Federal budget would be repudiating the American Way of Life.

My defaulty neighbor says he has practiced deficit living nearly as long as the government, and got along fine except for having to move pretty often.

Says if this is now the official American Way of Life, it's a good thing we are pushing this moon project, so the U.S. will have some place to move to when we have run through our credit here on earth.

Some folks on government jobs are joining unions, so they can pressure for a fuller nose-bag, just like the steel workers, electricians, and other underprivileged workers.

My visionary neighbor says he is ready to join up just as soon as somebody starts a union for the lower type of government flunkies, like the taxpayer.

And he figures if we have another war, we will have a soldiers' union to make it more enjoyable by bargaining for a 30-hour fight-week.

Department of Labor ought to do something about the deplorable working conditions of the modern author.

Some of them must have to take two or three baths per chapter and still feel unclean from scavenging around in gutter minds for more words that are offensive enough to get their work banned into success.

But some good is apt to come of any sad situation, and Pennsylvania courts have banned the Bible from schoolrooms, which ought to make it required reading for all dedicated members of the Banned Book Club.

Quite a few people continue to remain excited about what is called the world's "population explosion."

My non-explosive neighbor says this is obviously a peril that can't be met with fallout shelters, and is being made worse all the time by Federal subsidies for people who come up with more children than they can support.

Says "explosion" is not the word for this development, anyhow, as it is primarily just a battle between Liberals and Conservatives trying to outnumber each other.

It appears that many top frolickers in the entertainment class have real bad luck finding husbands and/or wives that suit them.

And lots of us routine people are constantly dissatisfied with our Presidents, mayors, constables, and other civil servants.

My senior farmer neighbor says he used to have the same trouble about mules, but nearly every time he swapped he got one that made the one he had before look good.

I see where the Russians ordered out the firing squad for one of their citizens they had caught selling lipstick in competition with the government stores.

My nervous neighbor does not approve of a government taking such a firm attitude toward its business rivals, as he has been doing a little envelope printing in competition with the postoffice.

Says, though, he expects our bureaucrats will be sharp enough to see that, even if shooting is more humane, it brings in more revenue to tax a competitor to death.

Most Rabies Found in Skunks

Whereas 10 years ago, most rabies cases reported in Texas involved domestic animals, today the majority of cases are among wildlife animals. Out of the 69 cases reported in June, nearly half were skunks.

In all of 1951, there were only 54 cases of rabies among skunks spread over 30 different counties. During the same year, most wildlife rabies cases were reported in foxes.

Today the skunk wildlife picture spreads across a north-to-south belt involving the eastern portion of Central Texas, and has now involved South Texas, West Texas, North-Central Texas, and the Texas Panhandle counties.

At the end of June, an aggregate of 179 cases of skunk rabies had been reported since January 1st — 32 in June alone. The number of cases that come to the State Health Department laboratory for diagnosis represents only a small fraction of the number of cases that actually occur.

It is this that portrays the descending nature of the pendulum. One state already assumes that any submitted skunk head is rabid, and human and animal exposure to a skunk bite is dealt with as an exposure to rabies.

NEWS LETTER from Congressman WALTER ROGERS

WHAT IS THE BILL OF RIGHTS?

How many Americans know the answer to this question?

Each day brings forth on the radio, the television, and the newspapers new suggestions and observations about Communism, what it means, what it stands for, and how to defend against it. Personally, I have always been a member of the school of thought that the best defense is a good offense. When I was in high school our football coach told me one day that you could not win a game unless you could get your hands on the ball. In other words, you can't make a touchdown so long as the opposition has the ball.

I began to wonder recently if perhaps we were not giving too much free advertising to Communism and paying too little attention to the priceless heritage that we have.

Hence, I set out in a limited way to find out what the average American knows about his country. Feeling that the key to Americanism is the Bill of Rights, I chose it for the key question to be asked.

I made a point of asking total strangers in different areas of our economy this question: "Where could I find the Bill of Rights?" The right answer is simple. It is, "The Bill of Rights is the first ten amendments to the Constitution of the United States."

Out of thirty times that I posed this question, I got the right answer seven times. In all fairness, I should say that I did not pose this question to people that were known to me to be so connected with the government or with the legal profession that they would probably know the answer. On the other hand, the ones I put this question to were total strangers to me and the test was conducted over a period of approximately six months in different areas of the nation.

The answers ranged from the sublime to the ridiculous. One was a complete recitation of the Bill of Rights, which came from a bewhiskered fellow wearing tennis shoes. He not only recited the ten amendments word for word, but followed me around for ten minutes undertaking to give me additional information for which I had not asked.

This experience caused me to suspend the test for about two weeks. The other extreme in answers could be the one that I got from a cab driver. He advised me that he did not know the Bill of Rights was lost. This opened a very interesting conversation, because I explained to him that there was quite a division of opinion in this country on the subject. I found out that he had no idea where to look for the Bill of Rights, but he assured me that he would look it up and read it word for word.

In view of these experiences, and for fear that some may not have had the opportunity to have access to a copy of the Constitution, I felt that it would be nice if everyone could have a copy of the Bill of Rights to refer to on occasion. Hence, I am including it in this letter and hope it will be taken up by all as the best weapon against Communism; the affirmative approach against ideologies that would destroy the dignity of Man; the hallmark of freedom; and the recognition of the individual dignity of a human being.

Dysentery Still Claims Many Lives

Dysentery, while not a major killer among Texans, still claims many lives each year. Sadly most deaths occur among infants under one year of age.

Last year there was a 10% increase of shigellosis — the technical name for bacillary dysentery — according to the Texas Morbidity published each week by the Communicable Disease Division of the Texas State Department of Health.

At the end of the year, the 1961 total stood at 3,915 cases compared to 3,420 cases at the end of 1960.

The total deaths from dysentery have not been compiled for 1961; however, in 1960 there were 79 deaths from the disease with 53% among infants.

Dysentery is transmitted "by eating contaminated foods, or drinking contaminated water or milk, and by hand-to-mouth transfer of contaminated material; by flies; by objects soiled with feces of a patient or carrier."

This is one of the reasons food handlers should wash their hands thoroughly before any food preparation—and especially after visiting the bathroom.

Also foods which are moist or eaten raw require special attention in washing and preparation.

Fly control and control of fly breeding are important steps in fighting this disease. Control of existing flies can be done by screening, fly traps, and by contact poisons and space sprays.

Fly breeding can be controlled with adequate garbage collection and disposal, elimination of garbage dumps and the substitution of land-fill operations, and provision for proper sewage disposal.

Miss Barbara Shanks, who attends Abilene Christian College, was here for the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Shanks.

Former County Resident Ill

Claude Killingsworth received word Tuesday of the serious illness of a brother-in-law, Austin Carmack, of Canon City, Colo. He is a former county resident, and he and his family made their home in the Quail-Marella community for many years before moving to Canon City.

Mr. Carmack underwent surgery only a few days ago and little hope was held for his recovery at the time the Killingsworths received word of his illness. Mrs. Carmack, who also underwent surgery about three weeks ago, is recovering nicely, Mrs. Killingsworth said.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Wilkerson, Billy Wilkerson and Oliver Bishop were Amarillo visitors during the week end. They visited in the home of the Wilkersons' daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Euris Phipps, and son, Jim.

Miss Callie Killingsworth of Lubbock came Wednesday for an extended visit with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Killingsworth. She is recovering from an illness, and will enjoy having friends in to visit with her, Mr. and Mrs. Killingsworth said.

Trew Gives Coastal Bermuda Planting Hints

COLLEGE STATION—Coastal Bermuda is an excellent pasture grass which produces high yields of good quality forage once it becomes established. Many farmers fail to get good stands or quick stands, however. What causes this?

E. M. Trew, extension pasture specialist, says the major reasons for not getting a good stand are planting in a light or heavier stand of other grass, using dried out sprigs, or grazing before a stand is obtained. He says these problems can be overcome with proper management.

The first step toward a good stand is preparing a good seedbed. It should be clean, firm and moist, and free of other growing grasses. Trew says farmers are expecting too much of Coastal Bermuda when they expect it to take over from established grasses.

Next is planting at the proper time. It is usually best to plant in the spring after the soil warms up. South Texas, however, can plant in the fall. A satisfactory stand cannot be expected unless fresh, viable sprigs are used, the specialist points out. Sprigs should be planted the same day they are dug, and they should contain at least three nodes. It is important to keep sprigs shaded and moist until they are planted. Tests have shown that exposing sprigs to sunlight for four hours reduced the viability as much as 97 percent.

Recommended planting rate is 9 to 15 bushels of sprigs per acre, planted in 30 to 42 inch rows. It is essential that soil be firmed around the sprig after planting, says Trew. This can be done with the tractor wheel or large compress wheels.

Before fertilizing, the farmer should have his soil tested. Where soil is not too weedy or grassy, the fertilizer can be put in a band 3 to 4 inches below the sprigs at or ahead of planting. Otherwise, fertilizer should be applied as a top-dressing after Coastal begins to grow. Never broadcast fertilizer until a good stand is obtained, advises the specialist. It is also a good idea to top-dress once or twice with nitrogen to stimulate growth.

"Remember," warns Trew, "don't graze the Coastal until a good stand is obtained. Grazing before this may seriously delay getting a stand."

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Horton and Mrs. Ernest Harwell were in Brownfield Tuesday to attend the funeral service of Mrs. A. B. Tittle, held at the First Baptist Church. Mrs. Tittle was an aunt of Alvin Horton and Mrs. Harwell.

WARM WARNING

A Bloomfield, N.J. woman drove her foreign-made car into a service station and asked for a tankful of gas. The attendant forgot that it was a foreign car and put 13 cents worth of gasoline into the radiator before he realized his mistake. "Don't worry," he assured her, "nothing will happen—the worst thing that could happen is that it could blow up." She laughed and drove off. Three blocks later, the car blew up.

JUNK HEAP

A Middlesborough, England, man was fined because of the condition of his car. Its body was held together with plastic tape, it had faulty brakes, it had poor steering, damaged lights and reflectors, broken running boards, pock-marked muffler, broken windshield, wipers, no turn signals and, worst of all, dirty license plates.

Bats depend largely on the sense organs in their wings to guide them in flight.

A group of ladies from First Methodist Church were in Paducah Sunday to attend a district Guild meeting. Speaker for the afternoon was Mrs. R. O. Short, Lubbock high school counselor. Those attending from here were Mmes. Jennie Holcomb, R. H. Isbell, Jack Davis, and Henry Vaughn.

Easy Does It, Starting Hot or Cold Weather

"Easy does it" is a simple but sound rule that is practiced daily by all expert drivers to get started, to keep moving, and to stop their vehicles on slippery streets and roads during early spring rains and the occasional freeze-ups that still may hit the State. This was emphasized today by J. O. Musick of Austin, General Manager of the Texas Safety Association.

"Applying this rule to starting from a stopped position, a good driver tries to avoid spinning his wheels," he said. "Tires which spin generate heat which causes unnecessary wear on tires and the vehicle and reduces safety."

Musick recommended that all drivers consider their moral responsibility in traffic accident prevention and "drive by the Golden Rule."

"At all times when driving, it is well to remember the Biblical admonition: 'You are your brother's keeper,' and 'Thou shalt not kill,' he said.

Basic steps for driving in adverse weather, he said, include making certain the seat is adjusted correctly, allowing the foot to rest fully but easily on the accelerator pedal. Front wheels should be turned straight ahead to ease steering on slippery pavement. If wheels must be cranked to pull away, power should be applied gently, it was pointed out.

"Once the good driver has begun moving, he tries to avoid sudden changes in direction or pace," Musick added. "Thinking ahead, and looking ahead, he tries to anticipate actions of other motorists—preparing to meet any emergency by reacting soon enough to prevent being caught in a squeeze," he stressed.

"On icy roads, following distances are made longer than usual by a thoughtful, expert driver," he declared. "Use of reinforced tire chains in these conditions can help prevent 'fishtailing' and side skids, but even with this most reliable help the good driver cuts his speed when he is traveling on wet, slippery or icy roads."

"Extreme caution under adverse conditions can mean the difference between safety and disaster," he concluded.

Don't chance spontaneous combustion; always keep oily cleaning rags in tightly covered metal or glass containers.

LOOKING AHEAD

by Dr. George S. Benson

LET AMERICA MOVE AHEAD

After nearly 30 years of trial and error with government planning, is it not time to recognize that our "managed" economy has failed to achieve the wonders it promised?

President Franklin D. Roosevelt sought to overcome the depression by "pump priming," deficit spending, economic leveling through high taxes, by "trust busting" and government protection of union activity. All of these policies and others tended to make private enterprise the villain and profits immoral.

Government Planning was the Sir Gallahad that would rout the depression and bring full employment.

Yet full employment, except during the war and immediately afterwards, never came. Unemployment remained at eight million or more until World War II, and even today it amounts to more than half that number, or nearly 6% of the nation's work force.

Although we in the U. S. have a perennial unemployment problem, the industrialized nations in Western Europe are experiencing labor shortages. Some of them are importing workers from other countries, and even Japan has full employment.

New Turn at Hand,
In a masterful article that explores this problem under the heading "A Prosperity Formula That Has Failed," in its March 5 issue, the U.S. News & World Report suggests that official questioning is being done in the Kennedy Administration about some of the original concepts of the New Frontier.

It notes that officials are now saying what businessmen have been saying—without getting a hearing—for 30 years. Profits are now referred to as important, tax policies are being suggested that would stimulate investment, and unions are being cautioned to use restraint in bargaining.

The article goes on to explain that the turn in official ideas has come simply because "a set of policies that dominated official attitudes for an entire generation has turned out not to produce the promised results." We have been forced to watch more and more American products being priced out of the markets. We have watched American business set up larger operations abroad and expand rapidly where the climate for expansion is more attractive than it is at home.

To Speed Growth

Noted in today's fast-growing nations are other developments that provide a marked contrast to slow-growing America. These include tax laws that bear down less heavily on business and individual incomes and encourage more investment and risk-taking than the laws in the U.S.

Labor unions abroad have usually been restrained enough to avoid pushing up costs that force prices higher. Instead of government hostility toward business, a good measure of cooperation has existed in these fast-growing economies. Making a profit is looked upon in these countries as a legitimate goal of business.

Staff members of U.S. News & World Report then went out to ask the nation's businessmen what policies continue to place handicaps on this country's growth. Their consensus: "Broad changes are urgently needed in U.S. policies—from tax and labor laws to anti-trust laws. More must be done to stimulate private investment, encourage business to expand. Only in this way, it is held, will enough jobs be created to take care of the nation's fast-growing work force."

Profits Biggest Worry

They found the greatest single worry was the failure of profits to expand, a picture which remains largely unchanged over a ten-year period. Profits in relation to sales have continued to slide downward, even though sales have risen substantially. Employment costs have advanced more than 90%, and other costs have also increased. High tax rates are an obstacle to growth when they drain off funds that should go out for investment.

Another complaint: labor monopolies are encouraged, but no opportunity is lost to harass business under the anti-trust laws.

The article goes on down the line, reporting opinions as to what's causing our lack of growth directly from those who are in a position to know: the nation's businessmen.

Needed: less regulation and control, more favorable business "climate," healthier attitudes toward work, a sound dollar, and balanced budgets.

President Kennedy is said to be an avid reader of current periodicals, including U.S. News & World Report. I hope he did not miss this particular article and that he marked it for all his advisors to read.

Texas Second in Export of Farm Products

COLLEGE STATION.—The world market continues to be a highly important outlet and source of income for Texas farmers. They supplied the export market with products worth $447 million in the 1960-61 fiscal year, ranking just behind California among all the states, according to a recent U.S. Department of Agriculture study.

The principal commodities produced for export by Texans included cotton, grain sorghum, wheat, rice and livestock.

"It is a real tribute to the efficiency of Texas farmers that they were able to make this contribution to helping to feed the world's consumers," said David Brown, economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "We need to continue to keep our eyes on events affecting foreign markets because they have a real dollars and cents meaning to Texas agriculture even though our farms and ranches are a long way from foreign markets," Brown added.

U.S. agricultural exports are running at record levels. Last year, $5 billion worth of U.S. farm products were exported. Sixty million acres of U.S. cropland are producing for export. This is about three times the harvested acreage in Texas.

The USDA study, in appraising the stake Texas farmers have in foreign trade, showed that the State's equivalent share of the nation's crop exports included two million bales of cotton, 46 million bushels of grain sorghum, 39 million bushels of wheat, and 6.4 million hundredweight of rice.

On the basis that foreign trade is a two-way street, Texas also plays a part in the imports of agricultural products. Many are non-competitive consumer items such as coffee, tea, cocoa, spices, bananas, etc. Although competing agricultural products also come in from abroad, Texas' agriculture is far ahead in the exchange since the State's share of exports is more than three times its share of competing imports.

Many agricultural commodity groups are working closely with USDA in efforts to expand exports even more. One of the big national objectives at this time is to arrive at an international trade program that gives U.S. agriculture better bargaining power so it can sell even more actively in foreign markets.

City Students on CJC Roll

Two of the Clarendon Junior College students from Wellington were selected on the Dean's honor roll for the first nine weeks of the second semester, according to Dean Abel. The two were Mrs. Anne Long and Susie Romo. Both of these students were first year students at CJC this year.

During the nine weeks only about 9% of the student body achieved the 2.6 average which is required for the selection to the honor roll. This means that only 11 students made the necessary grade requirements. The other nine were: from Clarendon, Pauline Heath, Norma Jones, Ruth Melton, Philip Abel, and Frances Wallace; from Hedley, Sharon Davis and Jon Leggett; from Rockport, Texas, in Aransas County, Martha Hanna.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Brisbin and son, Collin, of Amarillo, were week end guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Dodson, and Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Brisbin.

Out of town guests of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Fires the past week have been Mrs. Sam Miller, Mrs. James A. Leslie, and Mrs. Herman Smith, of Childress, and their daughter, Mrs. John Vaughn of Sherman.

Boys and girls present were Dale Mullins, Charles Black,

Randall Scott, Gary West, Kenneth Tronivel, Sylvia McQueary, Mary Ann Pierce, Alvina Roberts, Elizabeth Adkins, Terry Trapp, Rose Montgemery, Bonnie Farrar, Peggy Crawford,

Hog Breeders Attend A & M Short Course

Two county hog breeders, Fred Bourland of Quail, and Jack Phipps of Wellington, accompanied County Agent Bob Lynch to Texas A&M College to attend the swine short course April 2 and 3.

A featured speaker, Dr. J. A. Whatley Jr., professor in charge of swine breeding research at Oklahoma State University, told the breeders of the importance of performance records in swine selection.

Breeders are now selecting a meat type hog, whose four characteristics are more carcass length, larger loin eye area, less backfat thickness, and economy on gain.

These characteristics can be changed rapidly by breeding, for all have high heritability.

On the other hand, such things as litter size has low heritability and improvement is slow.

A carcass contest, using hogs from all parts of the state, fed out in the A&M pens showed a surprisingly high disease level, especially in atrophic rhinitis and virus pig pneumonia, Lynch reported.

T. D. Tankersley, swine specialist, explained an on-the-farm gilt selection program for breeders. This is done by probing the backfat, and if this is thin, it indicates this animal is meaty; thick backfat indicates it is gaining fat, the county agent pointed out.

SALT SOIL CONSERVATION FORK DISTRICT NEWS

Persons planning to seed native range grasses this year should do so immediately. It is now getting late in the season for the job. Grasses planted later than this month will not be likely to produce a good stand.

Land released from the soil bank program which does not have a good cover on it is eligible for government cost-share range seeding at the rate of 80% of the cost. This may be had either through the ASCS or through the Great Plains program, according to Bob Crawford, work unit conservationist.

Some of this land may have a cover so poor that you should start from the beginning with it. That is, establish a cover crop this summer in which to drill your native range grass next winter. Other land probably has sufficient cover to justify seeding in it.

A good farmer is a good business man or manager. He recognizes that different soils have different capabilities and the need for different conservation measures, and will treat them accordingly.

Several farmers and ranchers who have already seeded some native grasses this year are Mrs. Vera Dial Dickey, P. E. Starr, Austin O'Neil, C. D. Damron, E. A. Singley, W. R. Ward, Yates Brewer, Paul Bell, Gilbert Gilles, Milton Williams, Melvin Bailey, Alice Baxter O'Rear, and Ted Wheeler.

There are several others we know of who are planning to do some seeding soon.

For any advice or assistance in this matter, contact the local Soil Conservation Service personnel assisting the Salt Fork Soil Conservation District, on the third floor of the court house.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Hatch during the week end were a son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Hatch and Carol Sue, of Eldorado, Okla., and a daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gribble of Altus, Okla.

Guests of Mrs. A. C. Boverie Sunday were her son, John Boverie, and friends, Mr. and Mrs. Fenton and boys, all of Amarillo; also her brothers-in-law, Clem Boverie of Lubbock and Edward Boverie of Idalou.

FLIPPED—This driver really flipped when he decided to park his truck in Nice, France. The topsy-turvy auto, shown above, was actually the result of a freak accident.

Mrs. A. O. Sweat had as week end visitors her three daughters, Mrs. Green Stoker of Mineral Wells, Mrs. Beulah Mae Boykin, Amarillo, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Keener of Littlefield.

Dennis Cudd, student in West Texas State College, Canyon, spent the week end here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Cudd.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Brown of Shamrock were the guests Sunday of her mother, Mrs. A. B. Hicks.

Annual Meeting

Saturday, April 14

The Farmers Co-op Gin is paying $13.28 per bale on a percentage basis to the growers who ginned with us during the past season. This rebate is calculated on the basis of seed cotton ginned and the amount of seed sold. The total rebate paid back to members will be

$258,116.34

Every Officer, Director and Employee of the gin is grateful for the splendid co-operation our customers have given us during this record breaking year of 19,973 bales ginned and 15,549,906 pounds of cotton seed purchased by the gin and 982,645 pounds caught by the growers for planting seed.

In this connection we would like to point out that the grower who ginned pulled cotton will receive a slightly larger check per bale than the grower who ginned picked cotton just as will the grower who sold his seed instead of catching it.

You Are Invited

The 35th annual meeting of the Farmers Co-Operative Society No. 1 will be held in the Community Building next Saturday, April 14 at 2 p. m. and a most cordial invitation is extended to every member to attend the meeting.

Patronage rebates will be handed out at this time and the financial affairs and future plans of the gin will be explained.

Your presence at the annual meeting will be appreciated and again we would like to thank each one of you for your co-operation during the past season.

Drew Pearson, the celebrated columnist, recounts that our neighboring Congressman across the Oklahoma line, Victor Wickersham, recently sent the government a $12,000-plus tab for a 26-day junket to Europe. That is pretty high, but we wonder why the self-anointed prophet did not give us a financial accounting on the regal visits of Robert Kennedy to the Orient and of Jacqueline to India. Bob's trip sounded expensive enough what with fraternizing with the Geisha girls and other worthwhile missions, but the royal journey of Mrs. Kennedy was a real display of pomp and power. It made the last visit of Queen Victoria look like a Mollie Bailey parade as compared to one of Ringling Bros.

It says here that the Administration wants a law making a sixth grade education as the requirement for voting. That means the twelve year old could start voting, which might not be so bad considering what some of us fifty and seventy year youngsters have been doing with our ballots. I will buy the bill in toto if they will attach a companion piece making it unlawful to appoint a graduate of Harvard to a cabinet post.

Here is a clipping from The Hansford Plainsman written by Burl McClellan up at Spearman: (Well, where is it, Maybe you can read it next week.)

Monty Mitchell claims that Secy. Freeman's latest proposal is to allow farmers to till the land only by franchise. Franchises would be granted "efficient" operators and the others would be kicked off the land. Monty thinks that some allowance might be made on the basis of how a man voted in the last election. That would not do David Baumgardner or Ben Farmer much good. I guess they could join the Army or apply as a student in the re-training program.

Good news for the school children of Wellington: You are going to have a long Easter holiday from Thursday through Monday. The schools took the minimum time off for Thanksgiving and Christmas, and did not turn out on St. Patrick's day, so they have some extra time. When you get to thinking about it, why should we turn out school for St. Patrick's Day anyway? If the nationality of our citizens' forebears is to be considered, we have more reason to celebrate the Cinco de Mayo.

Congratulations to the Saied brothers on changing the name of their fine store to Saied's Department Store. I also like the looks of their new nameplate. It should eliminate our constant exchange of mail for which we did not blame the postal employees for the wholesalers and advertising agencies kept on addressing each of us simply as The Leader, although we repeatedly sent them our full business names and street addresses. However I do not believe it will solve all of my mail problems. The morning after we ran the story about the change of name our box at the postoffice contained one letter to The Wellington State Bank, one to the Wellington Schools, and two for Greenbelt Electric.

I am out of the dog business and could have given away three more puppies than I had, but Mrs. Paul Guthrie, who used to be Frances Sue Lawrence when she played football at Wellington high school, is in the dog business. She has six puppies that will make small dogs and she wants to find them homes.

Billy Sol is small peanuts! There is nothing people like better than to see a big operator come tumbling back into the vast limbo of mediocrity with the rest of us. Everyone is thrilled to see his paper castle come tumbling down on his and his fellow "bluff-runners" ears.

While we are cheering the demise of Billy Sol and cohorts for trying to run a bluff on a few million and failing, we go merrily on our way letting our government try to run the same prosperity bluff on our mortgaged future.

If you think the cheering was loud and the headlines black on little Billy, just wait until you hear the rest of the world cheering about the downfall of the big American bluff. The world is just as jealous of this country as we are of individuals with more than we have.

Billy Sol tried to play prosperous by mortgaging a few fertilizer tanks that did not exist and buying more grain elevators than he could pay for. This whole country is trying to play prosperous before the world by mortgaging our future incomes and that of generations unborn. Just like the fertilizer tanks, this income does not exist.

Billy Sol's crash was a little noisy, but his false prosperity was small peanuts compared to that with which we are trying to fool ourselves.

Interior of Lewis Grocery Now Remodeled

Remodeling of the interior of Lewis Grocery and addition of new shelving was completed this week, Robert Lewis, owner, announced.

Along the south side of the store, shelves were removed and freezing units installed for a length of 30 feet. Above this, peg-board was hung on which to display small items.

All new shelving was put in through the center of the store. These have more height than those used for a number of years, and their arrangement also gives considerably more aisle space, as well as more shelf space, Lewis explained.

New arrangements also give more customer space in the market section.

Working with Lewis in the store is E. F. Lewis, his father who for many years owned the business. Other employees are Paul Brewer, market manager; Jack Cristy, produce manager; Dan Hiett, Bobby Sanford and Bobby Barnett.

A&M Muster on April 21

The annual Aggie Muster of former students of the A&M College of Texas who live in the eastern Panhandle area is to be held Saturday evening, April 21, at 6:30 p.m. at the Tommy O'Loughlin Ranch, two miles southwest of Miami on Highway 60, to carry on a tradition that is 59 years old this year.

The Muster is held each year by students and former students of Texas A&M to pay their respects to fellow Aggies who have passed on and as a humble tribute to the Texans who won the freedom of the State in the battle of San Jacinto near Houston 126 years ago.

The Eastern Panhandle A&M Club Muster will be one of the more than 500 similar ceremonies held by thousands of former students and friends of A&M over the world.

All A&M men and students in the area including Perryton, Canadian, Miami, Wheeler, Shamrock, Wellington, Pampa and other eastern Panhandle towns are invited to join in one of the greatest traditions to be found in American colleges and universities.

No Premises Quarantined for Screw Worms

AUSTIN.—Individual premises on which screwworms are found will not be quarantined, advises Dr. R. G. Garrett, executive director of the Texas Animal Health Commission in Austin.

State and federal animal health authorities must have reports on all suspected screwworm infestations to conduct the eradication program properly. Livestock owners who make such reports will get the earliest and most thorough relief, Dr. Garrett said.

A screwworm transport patrol line has been established by the Commission across Texas from Del Rio generally east to Columbus and south through El Campo and Bay City to the Gulf of Mexico. This action was taken to contain known infestations in the southern part of the state, where their presence has been confirmed, and to prevent their transportation by truck or rail to the free area north and east of the patrol line.

Dr. Garrett requests that all animal handlers be especially watchful for animal wounds. He suggests that where possible, such wounds be treated immediately with screwworm remedies and fly repellants so they will not become infested.

If worms are found in animal wounds, their identity should be established as quickly as possible, Dr. Garrett said. Free mailing kits may be obtained from county agricultural agents and livestock inspectors and others. Samples of the worms found will go to Screwworm Identification, ADE-USA, Box 969, Mission, Texas. Identity of the worms will be made known to the owner immediately.

Farm and Stock Leaders to Honor McIlhany

Agricultural and livestock leaders from all over Texas will gather April 20 in Pampa for an appreciation dinner honoring Rep. Grainger McIlhany of Wheeler, chairman of the House Agriculture Committee.

A banquet will be given for the veteran legislator beginning at 7:30 p.m. at the Coronado Inn. Two widely-known agricultural leaders will express appreciation for the work McIlhany has done on behalf of the agricultural industry of Texas. They are Dolph Briscoe, Uvalde, immediate past president of the Texas & Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association; and C. H. DeVaney, Coahoma, vice president of the Texas Farm Bureau.

Rep. McIlhany, whose 87th district includes Gray, Wheeler and Collingsworth counties, is referred to by his colleagues in the Legislature as "Mr. Agriculture." He is second-ranking member of the House in tenure and has been Agriculture Committee chairman for the past eight years. He has sponsored, authored or led the fight on legislation pertaining to animal health, fertilizer regulations, feed law, poultry, dairying, farm-to-market roads, water, trailer-licensing, and many others.

McIlhany owns a dry goods store in Wheeler and a livestock farm in Wheeler county. He is married and has two children.

Work is continuing this week arranging the merchandise, but the store is open for business.

IT'S THE LAW ★ in Texas ★

A Public Service Feature

CLEAN HANDS

Our courts work with two sets of principles in meting out justice: those of "law" and those of "equity."

Under "law" a court declares the parties' rights and duties and sets money damages for harm ALREADY done — as when someone goes back on his contract with you, or injures you in an automobile crash.

But under principles of "honesty, EQUITY and conscience," for example, a court seeing harm on the way, may forestall it and enforce its orders by fines or jail terms.

England used to have two kinds of courts to hear cases under the law and equity. But today both England and America use the same judge to hear both kinds of cases.

How did these two systems arise?

Long ago the English king called upon the "chancery" — then largely made up of churchmen, (the keepers "of the King's conscience"), to give "relief" where the older Common Law courts, grown rigid, might fail.

Unable to use the Common Law, the chancellors applied certain rules and maxims, sometimes borrowed from ancient Greece and Rome — "He who comes into equity must come with clean hands."

Sometimes this is stated . . . "No one can take advantage in a court of equity of his own wrongdoing."

This maxim denied a suitor "relief" if he himself has done wrong in the transaction of issue.

A scale maker had advertised that his scales would count fractions of a cent against the customer and in favor of the storekeeper.

He had asked a court in equity to stop a competitor from revealing that his scale was cheating customers. But the court threw the case out: Not having "clean hands", the scale maker had no standing in equity. He could not seek fair treatment when he himself was dishonest in particular situation at issue.

Red Cross Gives Gamma Globulin

The State Health Department of Texas received 42,720 milliliters of the blood fraction, gamma globulin, without charge from the American Red Cross in the fiscal year ending last June 30, Philip Schenkenberg, manager, Midwestern Area office, announced in St. Louis recently. In addition, 1,062 ml., went direct to doctors to meet special needs.

Schenkenberg said that distribution of the blood derivative to state health departments and in special cases to individual physicians is made possible by contributions of voluntary blood donors to the Red Cross Blood Program through its 55 centers located in forty states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands. Production of the derivative from outdated whole blood and its distribution to all 50 states, the District of Columbia, and Puerto Rico is financed through contributions to annual March or fall federated fund drives.

Gamma globulin is used to prevent or modify measles and hepatitis and to fight various other infections. It is the most widely used of a small but increasing group of blood derivatives distributed without charge by the Red Cross, each of which has a specific application in medical treatment. In the last fiscal year, nearly 1,148,300 ml., were produced for the Red Cross by commercial laboratories from the plasma, or liquid portion, of blood that had become outdated by not being requisitioned for direct transfusion within 21 days of its collection.

Of this total, 617,164 ml., were distributed to health departments to be administered without charge by public health agencies. Another 37,810 ml., were used by national Red Cross blood laboratories in research or sent to other laboratories for this purpose. Some of the remainder went direct from Red Cross headquarters in Washington, D.C., to doctors, for patients with continuing needs for gamma globulin because of blood deficiencies or for use by those physicians for research. The rest was requisitioned by the 55 regional blood centers or the Red Cross to fill special requests within those regions.

Schenkenberg said that the blood fractionation program is one of the many important local, national, and international Red Cross services supported entirely through voluntary contributions to local independent or federated fund campaigns.

SALES TAX

I am a Democratic candidate for State Representative from the 87th District. This is the sixth in my series of newspaper columns and radio speeches.

On February 5, 1962, when I announced for the office of State Representative, my statement read in part "Relief from the complexity of the State Sales Tax by applying tax on an across-the-board basis." We have a sales tax, therefore, the issue in this campaign is the method to be used in amending this Tax Law in order to arrive at a just and equitable Sales Tax Law.

Our present Sales Tax Law is based on Pennsylvania Sales Tax Law which went into effect in 1956 at 3% and is now 4%. Pennsylvania Sales Tax Law is a model of complexities and is not working now, nor has it ever worked. The tremendous State Bureauacy set up to administer this law merely puts an additional burden upon the people of Pennsylvania. Texas said they could solve this problem of administration. In Texas its complexities have been transferred to the small business man and the individual. I do not call that a solution. It is merely passing the buck on an unworkable Sales Tax Law.

Our four neighboring States of Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado and New Mexico have an across-the-board Sales Tax. These taxes were enacted in 1933, 1934, 1935 & 1937 as a 2% Sales Tax and are all now operating at 2% except Kansas, which has increased to 2 1/2%. They are a proven workable Sales Tax, and my solution to our tax problem would be along the lines of the Sales Tax in these States using the form of a Retail Sales Tax in preference to a Gross Receipts Tax. I will favor a 1% Tax provided it will pay the State's bills; if not, I will favor a 2% tax, but absolutely no more. Details on exemptions and retentions I will favor are covered in my radio address this Friday morning.

Our Sales Tax Law provided for raising the fee for Driver's License. This item should be removed from our Sales Tax Law and returned to its former fee. This item is a Highway Safety regulation and should not be used as a Tax source.

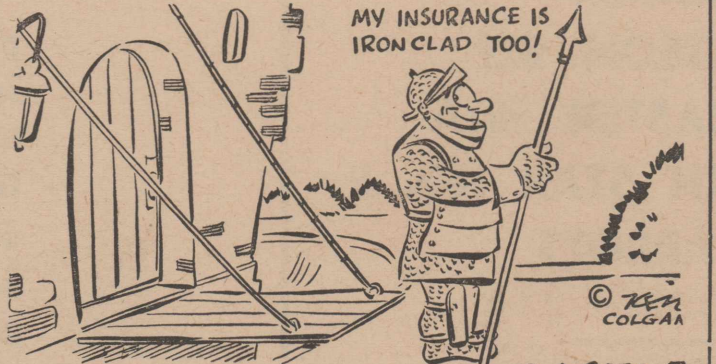

All of my radio talks have been placed on file with your local newspapers. They may be examined by anyone who may be interested in any of the particular subjects I have discussed.

A detailed discussion of our Sales Tax Law will be made on radio, Friday of this week.
