

County Wide Farm Meeting Is Set Here On Thursday

Farmers, Business Men Urged To Hear Farm Program Explained

A county-wide meeting for the purpose of explanation of the 1940 Agricultural Conservation program and of the cotton marketing quotas upon which farmers of the South will vote Saturday, will be held Thursday afternoon, December 7, at 2:30 o'clock in the district court room of the court house.

This meeting climaxes the series of educational programs which have been held in the twenty communities of the county during recent weeks.

To this meeting, all business men of Wellington, Dodson, Samnorwood and Quail, as well as farmers in the county and all committeemen connected with the county A.A.A. setup are urged to attend.

"Since the Triple-A program brings more than $500,000 to Collingsworth County, it is one of the vital forces, not only among the farmers, but to the business men of this section," said C. V. Griffin, administrative assistant in the Agricultural Conservation Association.

"At this meeting the relation of the cotton and agriculture situation and the government money received here to the local business men and their firms will be discussed."

"We feel that a meeting such as this will give both the business men and the farmers a better insight into the working of the government agriculture program in this county, and the proposed setup for the coming year."

County Teachers Go To State Meet

Superintendent John L. Beard, County Superintendent and Mrs. Logan Cummings and E. G. Sanders, Superintendent of Samnorwood Schools, returned over the week end from San Antonio, where they attended the annual meeting of the Texas State Teachers' Association.

Approximately 10,000 teachers and school administrators were present for the session with the Teachers' Retirement Fund the main subject of discussion. The group voted against making the fund part of the Old Age Assistance program with a sales tax. No decision in regard to financing the retirement plan was reached.

George B. Wilcox, College Station, president of the associations, was in charge of the meeting.

Elected by ballot as vice presidents were W. B. Irving of Lubbock, first vice president; Evelyn Winfrey of Houston, second vice president, and Mrs. Marian C. Butler of Waco, third vice president.

Elementary school principals and supervisors chose F. M. Mathis of Tyler as president. Other officers elected were Miss Inez Foster of San Antonio, vice president, and A. E. Wells, Gladewater, secretary.

The organization of elementary principals and supervisors recommended that attention be given the coming year to better public training through regulation of the pupil teacher load and that legislation

Court Docket Is Believed One Of Lightest In Area

Final Week Of Session To Open With Only One Case Tried By Jury

What is believed to be one of the lightest dockets of any court in the Panhandle has faced the fall session of district court here this year, local officials indicate.

During the entire time, only one case has been tried by jury and this was a divorce case. "This is the first time since I have been serving as district clerk that there has been such an occurrence in this county," said W. H. Goforth Wednesday morning.

During the entire term, twelve cases have been tried. Three were criminal cases, all involving burglary, and nine were civil, all divorce cases. Twelve civil cases and four criminal cases were dismissed.

Fireman's Matinee Will Bring Clothes For Needy

A pair of old shoes or a worn garment, still good enough to give service to some needy person, will be the price of admission to the Ritz Theatre Tuesday afternoon, December 12 for the Firemen's annual Old Clothes Matinee, showing Zorina in "On Your Toes."

Assisting the Firemen in this enterprise are the P.T.A. organizations of the Wellington Schools.

This is the second of two benefit shows sponsored by the volunteer fire department in an effort to help supply and brighten the Christmas of Wellington's needy.

First of these was a children's show Saturday morning, when one toy was the admission price. More than 300 toys were collected at this time and are now being repaired by the fire department

Ten Voting Boxes Established In County For Cotton Quota Poll

Whether or not the cotton marketing quotas are in effect during 1940 will depend upon farmers of the South, who Saturday, December 9, will vote in the Cotton Marketing Quota Referendum.

All plans for the referendum have been completed for Collingsworth County through the office of the Agricultural Conservation Association.

"We urge every cotton producer in the county to vote at this time, either at his home box, or in some other voting point," said C. V. Griffin, secretary of the A.C.A. "In a question so vital to the well-being of the cotton farmers, the fullest attention and greatest interest will not be too much."

Eligible to vote in this election, according to Mr. Griffin, are all cotton producers, both landlords and tenants. Only one vote, however, is allowed to family, unless more than one member is actually engaged in cotton production.

Election boxes will be set up in ten points in this county, and while voters are asked to vote in their home box, this is not absolutely necessary, since votes will be accepted at any voting box and the eligibility of the voter later checked on.

The voting boxes, with the election officer, are as follows: Abra school, with W. R. Breeding in charge; Lone Mound, with Gus Gooch in charge; Wellington, Justice Court Room, with Charley Caldwell in charge; Samnorwood School, with C. W. Bradley in charge; Aberdeen School, with Wayne Johnson in charge; Dodson Bank, with W. F. Ford in charge; Lillie Church, with Clyde Brown in charge; Quail School, with Buster Smith in charge; Swearingen School, with U. E. Kelley in charge; Shiner School, with Raymond Ward in charge.

The polls will open at 8 o'clock Saturday morning and remain open until 5 o'clock in the evening.

Farm Payments Go On As 884 Checks Arrive

Distribution During Week Brings Total To $253,123.57 For County

Receipt of 884 additional agricultural conservation payments to farmers of this county during the past week brought to approximately two-thirds the total number of checks due for cooperation with the government farm program.

To date, 1907 checks have come in, totaling $253,123.57. Of this, $102,767.24 has come in during the last seven days.

"We are still looking for the remainder of the checks to come in during this month," C. V. Griffin, administrative assistant, said this morning.

Considerable favorable comment has been made concerning the early arrival of the checks this year.

Lone Mound WPA Project Approved

A telegram from Senator Tom Connally of Texas informed Logan Cummings Monday of the approval of a W.P.A. project for the construction of a school building for the Lone Mound School district, in the north part of this county.

The project calls for an allotment of $2,084.

This provides for the tearing down of the present wooden structure, the rebuilding of the school, and the improvement of the school. The completed structure will be of stucco finish on the exterior. It will consist of two class rooms with folding doors that may be turned into an auditorium, a library, work room, study and two cloak rooms. A raised stage will

Fresno Man Hurt In Gun Accident

Accidental discharge of a .22 caliber rifle as it was being examined by two Fresno youths resulted in painful abdominal wounds to 19-year-old Raymond Hicks Tuesday afternoon. The boy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Hicks of Fresno and is well known in this area.

Immediately after the accident the boy was brought to a Wellington hospital for medical aid by Neil Clark, manager of the Fresno Gin. Late Tuesday young Hicks' condition was reported by a member of the hospital staff as resting well.

Ad Regains Ring For R. E. Farmer

Not often do persons who have received lost jewelry, cattle, etc., stage a one-man hunt for the man who found the lost article or animal. R. E. Farmer, however, is doing that very thing. Several weeks ago Mr. Farmer was keeping his daughter's rings while she was in the hospital and he dropped them from his pocket while in the courthouse. "Those rings were highly prized by Effie Nell, and I didn't know what I was going to do when I found that they were lost." But that same week Mr. Farmer was saved by a want ad in The Wellington Leader.

If the gentleman who placed the want ad will call at The Leader office and give his name, Mr. Farmer will be notified and will offer a reward.

Announcement of a farm sale to be held Thursday, December 14, has been made by Orval and Roy Jackson. The sale will be held at their place, located two miles north of Wellington on what is commonly known as the old Bartlett place.

Included in the sale will be a number of head or livestock, tools and farming implements, and some household furniture. The auction-

Leader Renewals Go Up On Bargain Day Rates

Renewals to The Wellington Leader increased decidedly during the last week, as subscriptions began expiring in great numbers in all parts of the county. At no time during this year have so many come in at one time.

The peak of subscription renewals will be reached during this month, it was believed by the publishers. Likewise, the number of county residents subscribing for the first time has increased. This includes not only families just moving into this vicinity, but those who have lived in the county for several years.

Many features of The Leader have been praised by its readers during the subscription campaign. "I can save enough money reading the ads to pay for the year's subscription in only a few weeks," a number have reported. Others say, "Your news covers the entire county," or "How do you manage to get out such a good paper in a town this size?"

Beasley Reports Program Of Work For Farm Group

Delegate To TAA Convention Urges Co-operation Of Farmers

"Get the boys at home interested in the agricultural problem, and then ask what is reasonable." This was the underlying thought of the annual meeting of the Texas Agricultural Association in Dallas December 1 and 2, reported Guy Beasley, delegate from the Collingsworth County Agricultural Association, before that body Monday, December 4.

A variety of problems were brought before the delegates of this session, ranging from efforts to raise the truck load limit in Texas to promotion of the idea of buying cotton gifts for Christmas.

"This county I found to be one of the lowest in membership in the county agricultural association in proportion to the number of farmers of the entire state," commented Mr. Beasley, adding by way of illustration that of the approximately 1900 farmers in this county, only 156 were members of the group, while in some of the counties as high as 50 percent of the farmers belong.

"Of course this meeting, like any other, had its highlights. Throughout the session we were urged to do our part to secure an increase in cotton consumption, and especially to make this a 'Cotton Christmas' by buying gifts made from cotton.

The entire body favored raising

Fowls Of All Types To Be Exhibited For Two-Day Event

Plans are complete for Collingsworth County's two-day poultry show which opens in Wellington Friday morning and continues until Saturday night.

Site of the show is the Templeton Building, located on East Avenue, north of the Castleberry Motor Co.

More than 200 entries including fowls of all kind, are expected for the show, and interest in the venture at present is high, according to V. H. Lindsey, who is in charge.

The building will be opened to visitors at 8 o'clock Friday morning. At this time, the Wellington High School Band will be present to give a short concert at the opening of the show. This band will also play from time to time throughout the show.

One highlight of the event will be a demonstration by George McCarthy, who is with the extension service at College Station. Mr. McCarthy will explain the difference in the baby beef type turkeys and the types ordinarily raised, showing the advantages offered by the former type.

Word received early this week indicated that a second speaker from A. and M. might be on hand for the event, although no definite announcement could be made by those in charge Wednesday.

While chickens will predominate the show, these will not be the only interesting fowls to be seen. Turkeys are expected in large numbers. Less numerous but none the less interesting, will be duck, geese, guineas, bantam chickens, and birds. In the latter classes, unusual breeds will be seen. Most of these are kept by their owners only as pets.

This is the first poultry show to be held in this county in more than ten years, and plans are already underway to make this an annual event.

"We would like for every person in the county to visit this show during the two days it is in progress," said Mr. Lindsey. "We

The group decided to hold sessions the first Sunday of each month at the high school auditorium. The meetings will begin at 2 o'clock.

A large crowd attended the first singing, and officers expressed belief that the crowds would increase during the coming meetings.

The local Wellington F.F.A. Chapter held an initiation ceremony at its regular meeting on Monday night, December 4, at the Wellington High School. The Wellington boys were given the degree of "Greenhand." This is the first degree given to Future Farmers. In charge of the initiation ceremony was G. S. Dowell, vocational agriculture teacher at Quail, and the F.F.A. chapter officers from Quail. The Wellington members passed the tests of becoming a "Greenhand" without difficulty. To get this degree, each boy was required to know the F.F.A. Creed, be taking agriculture, and be carrying on a project program which was satisfactory with the teacher. The teacher of vocational agriculture at Wellington is Mr. Ronald Davis.

Approximately 70 members of the Wellington Chapter were promoted to the degree of Greenhand at this initiation. There are 80 boys in the Wellington Chapter and this was an excellent record of attendance. One of the objectives of the Wellington Chapter is to have 90% and sometimes more.

After the ceremony, refreshments were served to the group. The meeting met with great success and was enjoyed by every one present.

For one of the things that give this Buick its outstanding buy-value is the number of items included in the price that cost you extra elsewhere!

For instance—the Flash-Way Direction Signal is standard on all models, costs around $10 extra elsewhere—even without the automatic cut-off.

Every Buick comes to you with automatic choke and every one has an efficient oil cleaner —it's surprising how often they're sold as "extras."

Every Buick has dual horns, dual sun visors, locks on both front doors, electric lighter, assist straps,† robe cord,† glove compartment lock, front-door armrests, gas tank lock — all things often charged for elsewhere.

Every Buick has a Dynaflex valve-in-head straight-eight engine, rear coil springs, torque-tube drive.

Deck's DIDACTICS

By H. D. W.

Cotton has been selling from 8 1/2 to 9 cents a pound in Wellington this week. Some cotton did sell for 9 cents a pound which is above the highest market price. Cottonseed also sold as high as $34 a ton. This is the highest market of any of the adjoining counties. In fact I am of the opinion that it is the highest market in the State of Texas.

On the other hand groceries and dry goods are selling at lower prices than in any adjoining towns. I leave the conclusion up to your own intelligence. Does this make a good trading place for farmers and their families?

Hogs recently took a nose dive, but they are going up again. The price does not worry L. T. Goodnight who raises hogs to eat and not to sell. His only loss is the side of spareribs that he gives me each year. They were better than usual this year, and we certainly did get a good do on the cooking. I think I will feel bad tomorrow, but right now I am at peace with the world—Mr. Goodnight's gift provides the answer.

S. F. Hughes gave me a fine fruit cake. He has two varieties this year and they are excellent. Personally, I think he gave me the cake as an excuse to get out of buying the advertisement I was trying to sell him, but I appreciated it very much. And just to live up to S. R. Pinkston's notion of my mercenary motives, I will also admit that Mr. Hughes bought the ad that will run next week.

The Christmas lights are up in Wellington—at least most of them are. Practically all of them will be up by Saturday. The town looks good, but the things the merchants have in their stores look much better.

In October The Leader carried the story of two alternate rate reductions proposed by the gas company. One consists of a $1 minimum charge for the first thousand feet and 55c per thousand thereafter. The other is for $1 for 500 feet and 50c for each additional thousand feet of gas. Olin Culbertson, who was recently fired by Jerry Sadler and Lon Smith, recommended that the latter rate—the 50c rate would serve the best welfare of the greatest number of people. The City Council took no definite action Monday night, but they are circulating a petition asking for the favorable minimum of the first proposal and the favorable rate of the second proposal be declared the rate in Wellington. When they hear from the Railroad Commission they will take action.

Either one of the rates offered by the United Gas Company will mean a return of approximately $2,500 in cash to the consumers in Wellington. Furthermore it will make a nice saving to the town each year in the future. This is an inviting picture, but the City does not intend to act until they have used every effort to secure the lowest rate possible. With Culbertson out and Ernest Thompson as a minority member of the Commission, they are deprived of much of the straight from the shoulder help that cities in Texas have been receiving in recent years.

There is not too great a difference in the two rates submitted by the gas company. Either one will mean a saving over the present rate. While this is not as much as many people believe just, it is probably the lowest that can be secured without years of expensive litigation in the courts. In the case of Fort Worth this was tremendously expensive and the reduction has not yet been achieved. Besides these the only alternative is the hope of a gas field near enough to Wellington to make a pipe line feasible and a municipal plant.

I mention these things simply to review the case. After all, I am as familiar with the gas rate business as any man in Wellington. If I were a member of the present Council, I think that I would vote for the 50c rate. That was the recommendation of Olin Culbertson, and I have confidence in his sincerity and his judgment. In the meantime people should back the Council in their effort to get this rate and the favorable minimum. We might get both, but it is my sincere opinion that we should do some getting while the getting is good. I have certain doubts about the future intentions of Mr. Sadler and Mr. Smith.

I have not talked to Bura Handley about anything pertaining to the City of Wellington in the past twelve weeks, but the above is also his opinion. Ask him and see how far I am wrong.

Guy Beasley came back from the state meeting of the Texas Agricultural Association and made a most interesting report. A summary of it will be found in another part of this paper. It is a shame that so few farmers heard him. Kelly Cottingham sent out letters and this paper carried two stories; on the meeting. How do you farmers ever expect to solve your personal problems unless you pay more attention to some of the fundamental conditions that cause them. Guy Beasley could have told you about some of them, but none of you were there to listen.

One item of Guy Beasley's report dealt with the vote on the truck load limit. The present truck law is costing each one of you about $2 a bale on every bale you grow, but what is $2 to you? Guy also told of Dr. Montgomery warning the farmers against a sales tax, but what is a sales tax to you? There are other things that I could say, but the main thing I want to say is that the farmers must start sticking together and thinking together if they have the least bit of hope of getting their just reward under the present system of things. It can be done.

And here is a thoughtful letter from a woman who lives on Shamrock Route 3. As Christmas approaches it is worthy of consideration:

Mr. Wells: Winter will soon be here and the colored people in Wellington are going to suffer greatly. Mr. Wells, I have lived around Plymouth and Samnorwood for 10 years. Every year there are enough clothes burned in the Wellington district to keep these unfortunate people in clothes the year round. I have seen almost new shoes, coats, hats and other clothing deliberately destroyed because they were outgrown or out of style. If you could ask the people through your paper to gather up the things they can spare and if the relief office or whoever has charge of such work could send out a truck to pick up these things and have a place for them so these people could come and get what they need, I know it would be greatly appreciated. There are many little children in the colored families. They are just children the same as yours or mine. They can't help their color. God made them that way. If there is anything I can do I will be more than glad to do so.

Terrapin, the little colored boy, who used to know so many people in Wellington has written S. R. Pinkston the following letter:

Dear Mr. Pinkston: I am well today and hope when this letter reach you will be the same. This is Terrapin sending this letter written by my sister. I am a very good boy and am going to school every day. I do not run off from home anymore. I am in the low second grade at school and hoping to get promoted. Mr. Pinkston, I am a very good boy and if you will please send me something for Christmas, I would like to have a pair of riding boots to wear to school this winter to keep by legs warm. My sister wants a pair of riding boots too. Mr. Pinkston if you will send them to us I wear size 5 1-2 and my sister wear size 8. We also like fruits, nuts and candy. Grandmother sends love to you my sister do too. If you will not help us we will not have anything for Christmas. Tell Mrs. Pinkston hello and for her to help us too. I will close hoping you will do this for us. Answer soon. Thank you. Terrapin.

Knowing Pinkston and having heard of Cal Sugg's intentions, I am confident that Terrapin will not starve this Christmas.

And here is a letter from Clara Skelton who graduated from Wellington at the same time I did along with Luther Sullivan, Keener Hudson, Candler Hawkins and a whole flock of other girls. She was the valedictorian. Her letter follows:

Dear Deck: I enjoy reading the whole paper. I think you have a very fine one. Of course, I know very few people in Wellington any more.

I have been in Ardmore, Oklahoma, for a number of years, and just this September was transferred to the Indian School here at West Flandreau, South Dakota. I like the place. The weather has been delightful this fall. The natives say just wait, and I do expect to be frozen almost to a crisp when the first blizzard comes along. Just hope I'll be able to weather it. A real South Dakota winter is said to be very, very cold.

This school is a vocational high school with an enrollment of over five hundred, both boys and girls. I am teaching third year English. I like my work.

Your paper is going on from me to Stella and then to George. It is quite worn now and will be read to pieces before we are all done with it. Do tell any of my friends you may see hello for me. I should write to Miss Katie (Boverie). Lois saw her in the summer. Please greet her for me especially, and Mr. Curry too. We did have fun in high school, didn't we?

Sincerely,
Clara E. Skelton.

Okey doke Clara, your request compared to many I get, is so mild it embarrasses me, but I am glad to oblige—Hello Miss Katie—Hello Mr. Curry. For the benefit of the other members of that old graduating class I would like to add that Clara's address is 410 Pipestone, West Flandreau, South Dakota. This is distinctly none of my business, but in other years I had the notion that Clara and Luther Sullivan would make a fine couple. They were both grand people.

War In Europe Expected To Raise Demand For Hogs From America

COLLEGE STATION. — The current war is expected to raise hog producers' income.

Economists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture expect the downward trend of hog prices, which started in 1938, to be arrested. Meanwhile the supply of pork and lard, which has been mounting steadily since the drouth and short crop years of 1934 and 1935, will continue to increase.

Thus the swine industry may expect to see a curious thing—more hogs and higher prices.

This outlook, according to E. M. Regenbrecht, swine husbandman of the Texas A. and M. Extension Service, is based on a number of factors, including domestic consumption, the supplies of beef and mutton, and the effect of war on our exports of lard and pork and our imports of vegetable oils.

During the World War prices of hogs rose as a result of stronger domestic and foreign demand. The marked increase in exports of bacon and hams was due mostly to reduced shipments of Danish bacon to Great Britain and lower hog production in Europe.

In the present war, imports of bacon and hams into Great Britain from Poland and other Baltic countries already have been cut off. It is also probable that British imports of bacon from Denmark, the most important supplier, will be reduced. This means that there will probably be substantial increases in United exports of bacon and hams.

Total exports of lard from this country did not change much from 1914 through 1917. Exports to Germany were cut off, but shipments to other countries increased.

Exports of lard to Germany are again cut off, but this time that does not mean much, because since 1934 Germany has not bought much American lard anyhow. Germany instead went to the Far East for vegetable oils. Now that this market is closed, some of the Far East vegetable oil-seed will come to the United States to compete with American lard.

The improvement in foreign demand may get underway rather slowly and will not be much in evidence until next year. Meanwhile the effect of the war, both directly and indirectly, will be to check the trend towards lower hog prices.

The per capita consumption of pork in the United States in 1915 was 67.3 pounds; in 1938, 13 years later, the figure dropped to 57.1 pounds, almost 10 pounds less. Increased consumer demand is expected to up this figure during 1940.

The average Chicago price of hogs in 1915 was $7.10 per hundredweight. This rose to $9.60 in 1916, $15.10 in 1917, and $17.85 in 1919. By 1921, the price was down to $8.51.

The lesson for the individual farmer, Regenbrecht says, is to govern his hog production according to the market outlook and to watch out for trouble at the end of the present price upswing.

All airplane endurance flight records were broken by Clyde Schlieper and Wes Carroll of California, who remained in the air 30 days and 6 hours, or 73 hours longer than the previous record.

Apache Memorial Church Finished

EL PASO.—The dream of a church built solely for the Apache Indians on the reservation here—a dream which had its inception on the World War battlefields of France—was realized in the dedication recently of the Church of San Jose.

The stone church overlooking the pine-clad hills of the Mescalero reservation was the work of Father Albert Braun, who, as a U. S. Army chaplain in the World War, conceived the idea of building a church for the Apaches.

Construction of the building from foundation to rafters was done by Father Braun or Indians whom he supervised. It was begun 20 years ago.

Four days of colorful Apache dances preceded the solemn pontifical high mass at which the church was dedicated, with Bishop Anthony J. Schuler officiating. A shrine to World War dead, every service in the church will be dedicated to those who fell on the battlefields. An altar in the sanctuary is devoted to St. Martin of Tours, patron saint of soldiers.

On the massive front door there is a bronze plate of a soldier at attention, and the dates 1919-1939.

Father Braun, who has spent many years with the Indians of the Southwest, is to be archpriest.

Home Town Offers Best Bargain For Former Teacher Here

Wellington's still the best place to trade—at least that is how one former teacher of this county feels.

Miss Maudie Coffee, history teacher in the Vera High School, was in the Wellington Leader office Saturday buying packaged paper to use in her school work. Miss Coffee taught in Swearingen school for several years. She is now in her second year's work at Vera. Miss Coffee was spending Thanksgiving holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Coffee.

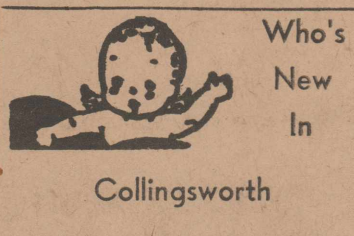

City school systems in New York state pay the highest teacher salaries in the country.

Twin Pie Melons Are Grown On Lillie Farm

Nature followed a whimsical mood when letting things grow this year—at least that was true of a twin pie melon, found recently on the Charles Graves farm a mile and a half south of Lillie.

Both melons were of normal size and color. They were joined together from near the stem end down one side.

Numbers of people who saw the melon in the Wellington Leader office stated that it was the first of the kind they had ever seen.

Lonely Democrat Has Tale Of Woe

SUPERIOR, Wis.—Dr. Silas Evans, president of Ripon, (Wis.) College, told this tale of woe to the Kiwanis Club, recently:

"I'm from Ripon, the birthplace of the Republican party," he began.

"—And I'm the only Democrat in town. It's a state of wholesale loneliness."

Cowboy Etiquette Is On Downgrade

Old-time cowboys observed their etiquette and manners a lot more strictly than modern cowboys and other folks observe present-day etiquette, says Victor L. Stewart, widely-known Dalhart businessman who is now operating a ranch at Gallegos, N. M.

Cowhands of the Old West had their manners and etiquette stripped down to horse sense and essentials, Stewart continued. Nobody rode his horse closer than about 100 feet of the chuck wagon because of the dust that would be raised.

The cook usually had a piece of canvas stretched out from the side of the chuck wagon so he could cook in the shade. Nobody even thought of sitting down under there to eat. That was the cook's kingdom.

If anybody had ridden or tied his horse close to the wagon so that dust was stirred up and fell in the grub, or if anybody had spit or thrown refuse of any sort anywhere near the chuck wagon there were many cooks who would have drawn a gun in a manner to compare with the West's toughest hombre and killed the offending cowpoke on the spot.

That did happen, and nothing was ever done to the cook. The rest of the cowboys were always in sympathy with his viewpoint, Stewart said.

"I've been around ranches in the past few years," Stewart continued, "where the cowboys rode their dirty, sweaty horses right up to the chuck wagon, tied them to the wheels. There they stamped and fretted from the heat and flies, and dust and corruption boiled around the pots and pans that held the grub. Any old time cook would have shot every cowboy that even tried such stunts."

New Haven and Hartford were joint capitals of Connecticut from 1701 to 1874.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our appreciation for all the kindness expressed to us during the illness and at the death of our son, husband and father, Tracy Clifton. Your thoughtful acts and words of sympathy have meant more to us than we can express. Especially do we wish to thank Dr. J. G. Cecil for his kind and thoughtful attention, as well as the nurses, each and everyone, who extended courtesies to our beloved one. Also, do we thank those who sent flowers.

May God's blessings be yours. Mrs. Fay Clifton and children, Irma Lee and Jimmie, Mrs. M. M. Clifton.

Milk And Cereal Tops On Menu

COLLEGE STATION.—Milk and whole grain cereals should be the top items on the family grocery list where food costs must be held to a greatly restricted budget, advises Louise Bryant, specialist in home management for the A. and M. College Extension Service.

In her effort to aid housewives in purchasing foods where the food supply is temporarily hampered by limited budget, due to failure of gardens, orchards, feed and cash crops, Miss Bryant has pointed out that with these two essentials provided, other necessary foods may be in an emergency used in a smaller quantity.

"Next, buy potatoes," Miss Bryant says, "for only a small amount of money spent for potatoes provides so much of what the body needs." Although fat does not rank next in importance for health, a little is usually purchased after milk, cereals and potatoes have been procured, since it is difficult to prepare an enjoyable meal without its use in some form.

Then, as money permits, tomatoes or oranges, a vegetable in addition to potatoes, a second fruit, eggs, a little meat or fish, and a little sugar may be added to the grocery list. Examples of the foods that are rich in value for their cost are beef, liver, kidney, cabbage, carrots, canned salmon, American cheese, peanuts, dried fruits and vegetables, and fresh fruits and vegetables in season.

Dry ice is proving useful in fighting forest fires.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Riley Celebrate Fiftieth Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Riley of Dozier celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary at Weatherford on November 7. The celebration was held in the home of Mrs. Riley's brother, Randolph Brittain.

Mr. and Mrs. Riley were married November 7, 1889 in Bexar County, Arkansas, and moved to Indian Territory in 1898. There they lived ten years before coming to Collingsworth County in 1908. Mr. Riley is engaged in the general mercantile business at Dozier at the present time.

Nephews and nieces gave the dinner for the couple on the seventh. Their daughter, Mrs. Frank Massey of Lone Mound, presented the three-tier, decorated cake for the occasion.

Many of Mr. and Mrs. Riley's Collingsworth County friends extended greetings and remembrances on this day.

INDISPENSABLE VITAMIN A Chapter by chapter, the story of vitamin A has been unfolding for the past 30 years. Anyone who has studied vitamins knows that "A" stands for the vitamin that prevents xerophthalmia, a serious eye disease. If a person continues for a long period of time on a diet lacking in vitamin A the result is total and permanent blindness.

Vitamin A also has other functions to perform. It is necessary for good nutrition at all ages. It helps to promote normal growth. Children who do not get enough vitamin A when their teeth are forming may have defective teeth. Anyone who continues to get less vitamin A than he needs will experience bad effects sooner or later.

In food, there are at least five different sources of vitamin A. The richest natural sources are livers of various animals, especially those of certain fish. There are substantial amounts in whole milk and cream, butter, egg yolks, and cheese made from whole milk or cream. Oily fish, such as herring and salmon, and shellfish, such as oysters and clams, also provide vitamin A.

Green leafy, and yellow vegetables are excellent sources of vitamin A. Some of the most common ones are kale, spinach, turnip greens, and lamb-quarters. Other good vegetable sources are yellow carrots, yellow-fleshed sweet potatoes, and ripe tomatoes. Yellow-fleshed fruits, such as apricots and peaches are also good sources.

How much vitamin A a person needs at any one age seems to depend at least in part upon his weight. That is, larger persons need more than those built to a smaller scale. Children need more than adults. Women with small babies need more than other adults.

In general, rapid cooking and the usual home and commercial canning methods do not materially injure vitamin A.

Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Jones have had as guests over the week end Mr. and Mrs. Levi Duncan and son, Ray Martin, of Lubbock. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Peach and daughter, Aurora, Mrs. W. T. Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. Olen Hughes, all of Bovina, and Misses Doris and Julia King of Tulsa.

FASHION PREVIEW

For the little folk on Christmas day, practical fashions are in order so that they may enjoy the hilarity but retain a semblance of holiday dress. Sherry wears red kid slippers, a blue-and-white cotton dress with white smocking—Jerry wears a blue wool-jersey suit with high, laced white shoes.

Maps Of Every County In State Now Available

Roads, Railroads, Towns, Creeks And Parks In New Edition

AUSTIN.—Accurate road maps for every county in the state are now available to the public at cost, according to Julian Montgomery, state highway engineer.

These maps show all county roads, as well as state highways, in addition to railroads, cities and towns, streams and lakes, major parks and state and national reservations. They also show all dwellings, oil and gas wells, churches, schools, and other structures visible from state or county roads.

The maps are constructed on a large scale and are easily read. Their value to state and federal agencies has been proved, and they should be useful to the public in general, Montgomery believes. Most of the maps are on a scale of one inch to the mile, but for a few of the larger and less developed counties a scale of one-half inch to the mile has been used. The maps are printed on sheets of uniform size, 36 by 50 inches.

Most counties require only one sheet, but a few counties cover two sheets. Supplementary sheets are used to show in detail the highly developed areas around large centers of population.

These maps were prepared by the highway department, co-operating with the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads as a part of a federal aid project known as the state highway department's "Road Planning Survey," and includes a survey of all the public roads of the state, including county roads as well as state highways. Highway department field men traversed every mile of road in the state, recording not only the location of the road, but also the position of roadside structures and other items of public interest that are included in the maps.

Streets of incorporated cities and towns were not included in the survey. This is the first time in the history of the state that accurate road maps are available for all the 254 counties in the state, and county maps are available to the public at cost of printing and delivery. Before the highway department made the survey there were reliable maps for only 27 counties, and copies were not readily obtainable by the public.

"An Arizona Cowboy" is considered one of the cleverest plays given recently. The fictitious names of the cast are not the only humorous part of the play. It is spiced with laughs throughout," said Miss Roxie May Graves, China Grove school teacher and sponsor of the presentation by the Community Players.

Police Camera Weakens Alibis

The old one about "barely going 20" won't hold good any more when California gets its "traffic analyzer" camera in action. This sample shot shows suspected car and also pictures speedometer of patrol car to indicate speed involved. ing the truck load limit for Texas, and during the coming year a fight will be made to raise this limit from 7,000 pounds to at least 14,000 pounds," Mr. Beasley said.

Every farmer was urged to keep a careful check on his representative and senator in Congress and on how he voted on various measures which might effect the farm economy.

The necessity for cheap interest for the farmer was brought out and the body told that through their efforts they could reduce the rates from the 8 and 10 percent asked in some places to as low as 4 per cent.

The remaining points approved by some 250 voting delegates for the 1940 program were:

An increased knowledge of the present farm program.

Get what is justly ours.

Make our farms feed us.

To arrive at a permanent source of pay under this program.

Keep the official paper of the T.A.A. and read it.

To secure government loans on cotton.

Better distribution.

Encouragement of co-operative enterprises.

Reviewing discussions in the meeting, Mr. Beasley quoted from an address given by Dr. R. H. Montgomery, of the department of Economics at the University of Texas: "There is the possibility of increasing the domestic consumption of cotton 50 per cent if everybody works at the job." Methods suggested by Dr. Montgomery were the using of cotton bagging by all ginners; use of cotton for packaging in retail stores; the "cotton Christmas," and the securing of the introduction of a cotton material for women's clothing of beauty and texture to compete with synthetic cloth such as rayon now being used.

"You are not working at your job," warned Dr. Montgomery, "and if you don't do something, you won't have a Texas Agricultural Association in two years." The only salvation of the organization, the speaker pointed out, is getting the young farmers and the farm boys interested in the movement.

Wellington Begins Decorating For Christmas

AAA Machinery Adequate For Crop Control

Present Setup Capable Of Caring For Any Crisis Believes Slaughter

COLLEGE STATION. — Adequate machinery with which to adjust agricultural production to demand in any emergency is already in operation and will continue in force.

So believes George Slaughter, chairman of the State Agricultural Conservation committee, composed of 12 Texas farmers and ranchmen. At the beginning of the last world war there was no nation-wide public organization designed especially for dealing with the adjustment of agriculture, Slaughter explained, but today, at the beginning of the present European war, the farmers of the nation have already had six years experience in adjusting production to demand through the AAA.

If need arises to increase the production of cotton or any other commodity, the present machinery is adequate to do the adjusting, Slaughter said, but he emphatically declared that increased production in 1940 would be disastrous. He pointed to estimated production for 1939 of 11,928,000 bales which, added to the carry-over of nearly 13,000,000 bales, will bring the total United States supply to nearly 25,000,000 bales. Consumption of American cotton in 1938-39 totaled approximately 10,000,000 bales as compared with 14,100,000 bales average consumption during the years from 1910 to 1914 and 12,300,000 bales average consumption from 1914 to 1918.

Considering the supply of cotton available, it is all the more important that cotton farmers adopt cotton marketing quotas for 1940, Slaughter declared, in order to maintain a reasonable price for cotton.

Texas cotton farmers, along with other cotton farmers in the Southern states, will be given a chance in a referendum December 9 to decide whether cotton marketing quotas will be in effect in 1940.

Civic Clubs, City And County Help With Decorations

Prizes To Be Awarded Best Decorated Firms And Residences

Wellington again turns on its lights for Christmas!

The brilliant lighting effects, displays of Christmas merchandise in local business houses, and the yuletide decorations of the homes which last year won for Wellington recognition as one of the most beautifully decorated cities of the Panhandle, will be repeated. All features of last year's Christmas program, including the Christmas tree on the court house lawn and the singing of Christmas carols will be featured again, and new events may be added.

Sponsoring this program of Christmas lighting is the Business and Professional Women's Club of Wellington, assisted by the City, the County, the Rotary Club, the Kiwanis Club and the City Federation of Women's Clubs.

General chairmen of the lighting program are Mrs. J. B. Castleberry and Mrs. Pink Sullivan. These women are being assisted by various committees which have charge of sections of the work.

Prizes will be offered, not only for the best decorated business houses, but for the most attractively decorated homes in Wellington as well. First prize in the business section will be $7.50, while the second award will be $5.00 and the third $2.50.

Award for the most attractively decorated home will be $2.50. Three other prizes of $1.00 each will be given.

"All persons competing in the Christmas decoration contest, whether in the business or residential districts, must have their decorations up by December 12," Mrs. Castleberry said. "Other regulations are that the lighting must burn from dusk until 11 o'clock. The same decorations that were used last year may be used again this year. All judges in the contest will be from out of town.

In charge of the lighting of the court house will be Bura Handley, city engineer. Again the revolving star, which received so much comment from travelers in this section, will be mounted on top of the building. Strings of lights are being used in lighting the

A thirty-foot pine tree has been received, and will be erected on the court house lawn. Decorating this will be lights and pine cones, a sackful of which were sent with the tree.

Firecrackers Drop Game To Memphis Eleven; Cub Teams Tie, 6-6

Football fans who stayed in Wellington over Thanksgiving were treated to a double-header when the Wellington Firecrackers, the future Rockets, met the Memphis Whirlwinds, as the featured attraction, and two teams of Wellington Cub Scouts battled it out on a short field.

Although they came up on the short end of a 26 to 6 score, the Firecrackers showed some outstanding playing throughout the game, in spite of the fact they were outweighed by approximately ten pounds to the man in both line and backfield.

Wellington's only score came in the second quarter when Junior Melton sent an eight-yard pass down to Wendell Brewer in the end zone.

The Memphis lads scored three times in the first quarter, but failed to hit pay dirt during the second. They again scored in the third. Neither team was able to make headway during the final period.

The Whirlwind's first score came on a pass from Grimes to Stilwell, the second on a pass from Grimes to Gilmore. The third, also during the first quarter, came when Grimes intercepted a Wellington pass and ran for a touchdown. The final score was made by Jeffers, who rushed the ball (Continued on Page 8, Sec. 2)

Like many of the other conveniences available today, a checking account, once it has been enjoyed, is a service that is easily taken for granted. Those who enjoy this service at the Wellington State Bank often say that they cannot understand how they got along without it before their accounts were opened.

Consider what a checking account can mean to you, in your business and in your personal affairs. There's the budget angle. A checking account provides a simple accounting system, a system easily kept up to date at all times. It provides a complete record of deposits and disbursements; a glance will tell you, at the end of any given period, just where your expenditures were made, and for what purpose.

No less important is the record of payments than a checking account provides. Each individual payment, no matter how small, or where it is made, brings you an unquestionable receipt in the form of a canceled check. Of uniform size, easily filed, these checks offer extra protection, at no extra charge.

There's safety in a checking account, too. Large sums of money need not be carried or kept at home. There is no danger of loss or theft or fire when a checking account holds your funds.

You can enjoy the advantages of this service. We'll be glad to explain how easily you can open an account and utilize the other services of this friendly bank.

Animal Fair: The Birds And The Beasts Are Here

It was animal fair time for the nation's cameramen this week, and the birds, the beasts and even the fish were there. Goggled girls at Miami, Fla., dive under water to spear crawfish in popular sport. Miss Mickey Berger, upper left, exhibits her catch. Intelligent kitten, upper right, shows it can get along all right despite death of the mother cat. Duck, lower left, puts on the brakes as it alights to feed and rest on flight south. And what became of the monks? They're playing a new game called "Censuring the War News." Correspondent, right, bemoans drastic slashing of his exclusive story.

Dr. Homer P. Rainey, President of the University of Texas, has analyzed Texas' future possibilities in repeated public address. These statements express his thought:

"The next stage in the progress of Texas lies in the development of our great industrial and commercial possibilities."

"The best measure of the importance of an enterprise is the employment it creates and the income it produces."

"A program of industrial development centers around the manufacture of raw materials into finished products."

"Our need for increased employment requires the keenest intelligence in solving the problem. Our boys and girls must be trained in highly efficient schools to meet the growing needs of farm and business."

"American industry is moving closer to its raw material sources. We in Texas can capitalize on this movement if the opportunity is grasped."

"Our Universities are dedicated to a program of scientific training and research which will create employment and build industry to use our raw materials at home."

"Our great highway development, coupled with industrial progress, will greatly aid the Texas farmer in his marketing problem."

"Repeated failures did not stop our hardy pioneers in the building of our present empire. The same spirit must prevail for a successful future."

The Texas oil industry recognizes the soundness of these broad principles. They underlie present employment and provide for expanded future employment for our Texas people. The vital part oil plays today in putting these principles into actual practice will be portrayed in a series of advertisements to follow in this publication.

NEW PNEUMONIA CURE

Additional reports of pneumonia cures through the use of sulapyridine, the newest "wonder drug," were made by physicians attending the annual meeting of the Southern Medical Association at Memphis a few days ago.

This drug, which is a derivative of sulfanilamide, and has been proved effective in a dozen or more diseases, was only approved for general clinical use by medical and government authorities last March. Since that time it is credited with saving hundreds of lives in pneumonia cases alone.

A report of pneumonia patients treated by Dr. Richard E. Ching of Memphis since last spring, using sulapyridine, showed that only 15 out of 116 died—about one-half the percentage of deaths in previous years. Of these 15, a majority were in advanced stages when admitted to the hospital.

An interesting fact is that no deaths occurred in 11 cases of type three pneumonia, one of the most deadly of all the 33 known types of pneumococcus germ, treated by Dr. Ching. About 70 percent of the 166 cases treated had abrupt crises of fever, with relief of symptoms within three days after beginning the sulapyridine.

Pneumonia has been third among fatal diseases in the United States in recent years, exceeded the heart disease and cancer in its death toll. Therefore the possibility of saving many lives by use of the new drug is very great.

HIGH COURT VACANCY

For a fifth time since President Roosevelt has been in office, a vacancy in the United States Supreme Court has occurred, this time through the death of Associate Justice Pierce Butler, the last but one of the court's conservative members, the other being Justice McReynolds.

Justice Butler was born on a Minnesota farm on St. Patrick's day, 1886, the son of Patrick and Mary Butler. Prior to his elevation to the nation's highest court in 1923, he practiced law in his native state, and was counsel in numerous railroad cases, both in this country and in Canada. He was an able jurist, who staunchly upheld the traditional interpretations of the Constitution, as distinguished from the so-called liberal leanings of the court in recent years.

With the appointment of his successor, President Roosevelt will have named five of the Supreme Court's nine members, all of whom may be depended upon to approve New Deal Legislation, however radical it may appear to more conservative citizens. Thus the objective sought by the President in his unsuccessful attempt to revamp the court through legislation will have been attained through the death or resignation of former members.

In the meantime, however, the Congress has become somewhat more conservative, and it is to Congress the country must now look for protection against the more radical element. So, we may see the ship of state kept on an even keel, despite the contending forces of "right" and "left."

FOOD AND HEALTH

Popular ideas about food are a strange admixture of truth and fiction, according to Dr. Lieb, an authority on diet. Particularly is this the case with respect to notions of what is good for people, or not good for them, under the varying circumstances.

For example, bananas and nuts were long thought to be hard to digest, but if the bananas are ripe and the nuts sufficiently chewed they are among the most easily digestible as food.

The prejudice against raw foods is also unwarranted it is said. Raw corn wheat and other starches in moderate amounts are completely digested, while raw potatoes are 78 percent digestible. The craving of some children for raw potatoes may be indulged to a reasonable extent without harm, and the same is true of raw cabbage and lettuce.

Drinking water during meals was long thought to be harmful to the digestion, but for normal persons it is now declared to be beneficial if sipped in between swallows of solid food.

Forcing some children to eat spinach or other foods which they do not like is not good for them, as the feeling of repulsion which they experience hinders digestion.

While the doctor does not say it in so many words, it appears that a rather safe rule of diet is to eat what one likes, providing it does not produce any after effects. And regardless of advice, that is what most of us insist in doing anyway.

Many motorists seem to think the warning signs at railroad crossings are intended for the locomotive engineer.

Senator Borah again reserves the right to bolt the ticket. Which is hardly a startling bit of news.

An economist declares that no good business man is ever out of debt. We are grateful for this cheering information.

Some complain with what they have to put up with, but just think what the taxpayers have to put up for.

When the British war secretary visited the front recently it was so quiet that a sham battle was arranged for his entertainment.

Dolls And Musical Horns Replace War Theme In Toys

Santa Claus will be coming down U. S. chimneys on schedule this year, but missing from his pack will be the toy soldiers, cannons and bombing planes that for the past 20 Christmas seasons have been favorite playthings of the nation's children.

Military toys are always popular after a war, but never during one. American mothers, dreading the thought of their sons falling in love with battle, protested when toy manufacturers visioned a spurt in the popgun business after Europe went to war.

Instead, miniature musical instruments and toys of a scientific nature are highlights of the 1929 parade of gifts for children. Games, based on the journeys of cartoon movie characters, are popular, as are perennial favorites like building sets, miniature bowling alleys, trains, wagons and sleds.

For girls, there is the omph doll. Wardrobes for dolls are complete down to the compact and include dresses covering a wide range from farm maid to debutante.

Teen-age youngsters look to games and sports for amusement this year.

For fireside fun, there are miniature counterparts of football, baseball, polo, hockey, golf, badminton and event ski jumping in parlor game form.

Matching skirts and sweaters, or accessories like suede mitts and chiffon handkerchiefs, will please high school girls. For boys, gay plaid and check sweaters, suede windbreakers, bathrobes, and the ever-popular neckties, this year in new, light reds, will be welcomed Christmas morning.

To please Him, stores display gifts to suit every taste, to align with every hobby.

Sure favorites are cigaret cases, gadget collections for fishermen, catch-all bags to hold extra odds and ends on trips. Silk pajamas, dressing gowns, evening socks and gloves, pigskin gloves that fit either hand, are ever-welcome gifts of wearing apparel.

Biggest problem of the Yule season is what to get for Her. Exciting beauty gifts this year include attractively packaged perfumes; chip-thin compacts, some with lipstick compartments; bath sets with soap, powder, cologne and salts; Victorian dresser sets with quotations on the hand mirror like "I give back smile for smile and frown for frown."

Simplicity is stressed in choosing gifts for women. Handsewn suede gloves, drawstring handbags, monogrammed playing cards or open-toed slippers are some of the less expensive items sure to please.

The Great American Home

Mistreatments Of The Prophets

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Dec. 10.
Text: Matthew 11:16-30.

It seldom happens that a community welcomes a great teacher with open arms and that everyone listens to his words and accepts the blessings that he offers, even though he enter benign, kindly and with good news for all.

The proverbial stories of history are the stoning of the prophets, and of the ways in which both individuals and masses of people have reviled and rejected those who have come among them with the purest motives to offer them grace, mercy and truth.

In our lesson Jesus complains of this attitude of the people of His time. He compares them with those sitting in the market places, saying, "We piped unto you and ye did not dance; we wailed and ye did not mourn."

He points out that John the Baptist came as an ascetic, neither eating nor drinking, and the people said, "Behold, a gluttonous man and a winebibber, a friend of publicans and sinners!"

Then Jesus, in plain and rather terrible words, pointed out that it is not opportunity that makes character and destiny. He turned to the towns of His own day, and He pronounced woe upon them, saying that if the mighty works that had been done in them had been done in Tyre and Sidon (cities that had been destroyed for their iniquity) these cities would have repented long ago in sackcloth and ashes.

Yet in life, even today, we meet with this persistent claim that character is a matter of opportunity and environment. Nothing could be fundamentally more untrue, for out of the same environment have come saints and sinners, heroes and cowards, saviors and destroyers of their fellowmen.

Character depends on choice; destiny is a matter of self-determination. Even contact with the Master did not make men good or make them Christian disciples.

It was only definite choice and the willingness to follow Jesus that brought to men the blessings of salvation. But it is the true function of the prophet and the teacher and the Saviour to bring to men the opportunity and the environment of grace, whether they respond or not.

Thus it is that Jesus stands today, as He did in ancient Galilee and Judea, pronouncing the words of the great invitation: "Come unto me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me; for I am meek and lowly in heart; and ye shall find rest unto your souls. For my yoke is easy, and my burden is light."

It is not the invitation, but it is the acceptance of it that determines man's destiny for grace.

Hollywood Rise Traced In Show At Ritz Theatre

Alice Faye, Don Ameche Star In Calvacade, Opening Sunday

"HOLLYWOOD CALVACADE"—at last Hollywood looks into its own heart and finds a story as great as any it has ever filmed; its own romance from bathing beauties to world premiers. Produced by Darryl F. Zanuck for 20th Century-Fox and filmed in Technicolor, the picture will recall many heart-warming movie memories, just as "Alexander's Ragtime Band" brought back the past everyone wanted to remember.

Alice Faye and Don Ameche are starred; featured are J. Edward Bromberg, Alan Curtis, Stuart Erwin, Jed Prouty, Buster Keaton, and Eddie Collins. You will also see Mack Sennett, in his first appearance on the screen since 1917; Ben Turpin, famed crosseyed comedian; Chester Conklin; Al Jolson, singing the song with which he electrified the world in "The Jazz Singer"; and many other old favorites.

In a warm human drama of today—the story of Mike, who wanted to make movies, and Molly, who wanted only to be loved by Mike but instead won greatness on the screen—the rise of Hollywood is traced. Mike (Don Ameche) is a composite of early directors in temperament and riding-breeched, leather-putteed costume; Molly (Alice Faye) is typical of the great leading ladies of the time; in J. Edward we have all of Hollywood's producers; Alan Curtis is representative of all the great romantic leading men of the screen.

Mike "discovers" Molly, takes her to Hollywood and puts her through the paces of bathing beauty comedies, custard pie shenanigans and Keystone Cops escapades. All staged anew and photographed today, we see the highlights of 10001 Hollywood yesterdays, with nothing omitted. These are not excerpts from old films but genuine re-enactments based on them and a thrill to behold.

"Hollywood Calvacade" opens at the Ritz prevue Saturday night and Sunday and Monday.

SEIBERLING SAFETY TIRE

New "Saw-Tooth" Tread grips like a half-back's cleats. The instant you touch the brakes, the sharp "saw-teeth" of this unusual tread dig into the road—stop you quickly and safely. Because the "saw-teeth" are just as sharp at the base of the tread as at the top, they stop you quickly even after months of wear.

New "Heat-Vents" expel dangerous blowout heat—make tire last longer. Even in cool fall and winter driving, tires rolling at high speeds or under-inflated generate destructive internal friction heat. Patented vents (found in no other tire) actually pump out that heat. See diagram at right.*

New "Saf-flex" Cord protects you against stone bruises and internal carcass ruptures. Because it has twice the elastic strength of ordinary cord, "Saf-flex" gives you maximum protection against road hazards and makes the new Safety Tire ride easy as a cloud.

Mr. Tilford had been a resident here for the last five years. During that time he had gained innumerable friends. His friendliness and the pleasant manner with which he contacted his acquaintances caused many to look forward to seeing him.

Born at Murfreesboro, Tenn., on October 5, 1873, Mr. Tilford was 66 years, one month and 28 days of age at the time of his death. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Tilford.

Mr. Tilford saw service in Cuba during the Spanish American War, from July 30, 1898 to April 11, 1899, when he received his honorable discharge at Cienfuegos, Cuba. He was with the 3rd Regiment of Engineers.

Hymns included "God Will Take Care of You," and "Jesus Lover of My Soul."

For the Cowboys, Don Smith and Ted O'Neil did most of the ball carrying, supported by a husky and determined line. Dick Ellis, Ranger half, accounted for much of the yardage gained by that team. He,
