Reds Roll Up German Lines

Baltic Cleanup Speeds Along To Free Troops For Swelling Berlin Assault

By ROMNEY WHEELER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Thursday, March 15—Russian troops, speeding the cleanup of the Baltic coast to free powerful Red Army formations for the swelling assault on Berlin, rolled the Germans back as much as four miles yesterday on a 17-mile front in the narrow pocket southwest of Koenigsberg, Moscow announced last night.

Simultaneously, Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's Second Ukraine Army in a drive through the wooded mountains of the Carpathian front to the south captured the rail junction town of Zvolen, a powerful German strongpoint on the Hron river in Slovakia 125 miles northeast of Vienna, and eight nearby towns.

Nazi Attacks Repelled

German attacks toward the Danube river from positions northeast and east of Lake Balaton in Hungary were repelled by Russian units liberally employing artillery and minefeilds.

On the Baltic, in bitter village-by-village fighting, the Third White Russian Army came within 4 1-2 miles of reaching the coast of the Frisches haff (Lagoon) and splitting the East Prussian bastions of Braunsberg and Heilingenbeil from Brandenburg, 12 miles southwest of Koenigsberg.

The Soviet night communique said the Russians advancing in the East Prussian pocket killed more than 4,000 Germans and took more than 2,000 prisoners. One Soviet column driving along the railroad to Braunsberg took the railway station of Vogelsang, four miles southeast of that stronghold. Another column farther north sliced its way to Lank, 4 1-2 miles from the Frisches haff.

Feverishly Digging In

Constricted now to an area a little more than 30 miles wide and 10 to 12 miles deep at its widest parts, the Germans feverishly were digging additional trenches and fortifying all the villages and hamlets in the region, Moscow said. Although the Germans mined the approaches to their lines almost solidly they still were driven from more than a dozen localities.

The Berlin radio claimed the successful evacuation by sea of 590,000 refugees, mostly women and children, from East and West Prussia.

The broadcast Moscow communique remained silent on the fighting on the central Oder river front before Berlin which the Germans have said has carried to within 33 miles east of the Reich capital.

Funds Division Bill Is Revived

AUSTIN, March 14. (AP)—The Senate today bounced back to committee for another public hearing a so-called fair trade practice bill, and the House overruled unfavorable committee action on a proposal to divide among all state-owned schools the income from the University of Texas permanent fund.

The House also approved and sent to the governor a Senate bill making several important changes in the driver's license law. Several other measures of less import either finally passed or made legislative progress.

Keeps Proposal Alive

The 92 to 35 vote in the House to print on minority report a resolution providing for submission of a constitutional amendment under which all state-owned colleges would share the proceeds from the permanent university fund had the effect of keeping the proposition alive. Last week, the constitutional amendment committee gave it an unfavorable report, but not by sufficient vote to kill it.

Rep. Preston Smith of Lubbock introduced the resolution which has met firm resistance from governing boards of the University of Texas and of A. and M. college, which now share in the fund. He moved that the House print the minority report.

Anti-Trust Law Cited

It has been opposed on the grounds that it tends to destroy the state's anti-trust laws and that it would have the effect of raising prices paid by the public for the commodities affected. It has been advocated on the argument that it is a means of diminishing such competitive practices as loss leader sellingg, and would ultimately benefit the buying public.

A new public hearing will be held by the committee Monday night.

The bill amending the driver's license law, by Sen. George Moffett of Chillicothe, permits students between the ages of 14 and 16 to take driver's license examinations when they have passed driver training courses prescribed by the department of public safety, in their schools. Issuance of the license is optional, however, with the department.

Also finally passed by the House and sent to the governor were Senate bills permitting district judges in the larger counties to conduct juvenile hearings, permitting counties with towns other than the county seat having a population of 4,000 or more to appoint a deputy clerk for receiving applications for and accepting absentee ballots outside the county seat.

11-Ton 'Town-Busters' Make Debut In West, Capping 5,000-Plane Air Blows

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Thursday, March 15 The earth-shaking debut of the world's biggest bombs, weighing 11 tons each, capped a merciless assault on the Reich yesterday by more than 5,000 Allied planes which ripped and blasted Germany with everything from .50 caliber machinegun slugs to the new superbomb, tall as a two-story house.

A rail viaduct at Bielefeld, 38 miles east of Muenster, was the target for the RAF's newest "town buster," the world's biggest package of explosive, which was used for the first time by four-engined Lancasters specially adapted for the purpose.

Other Vital Areas Pounded

Other vital German communications and industrial objectives were assaulted by British and American warplanes as the great Allied air offensive rolled through its 30th consecutive day. Nearly 2,000 heavy bombers and fighters of the U. S. Eighth Air force participated in the operations, running into violent flak at several targets and losing 12 bombers nad seven fighters.

British bombers were in action again during the night. Heavies attacked Zweibruecken and Homburg about 15 miles east of Saarbruecken in an effort to wipe out troops and military stores reported concentrated in the two towns, and Mosquitos pounded Berlin for the 23rd consecutive night.

During the widespread daylight operations American planes destroyed at least 87 German aircraft and damaged at least 56 others. Enemy transportation also was heavily strafed.

The new 22,000-pound bomb, the air ministry said, combines great power of penetration with a high explosive force. Prior to the use of the 11-ton bomb the largest previously hurled on the Germans was the six-ton "earthquake" which sank the German battleship Tirpitz and penetrated 15-foot thick concrete roofs of U-boat pens.

Crewmen said the new bombs caused "a tremendous pall of black smoke and a fountain of debris—the blast dwarfed even the terrific explosions of the six-ton bombs which were also dropped in the attack."

Massive New Weapon

The RAF hurled its massive new weapon at a rail viaduct at Bielefeld, 38 miles east of Munster. There was no announcement of the result. Simultaneously another viaduct at Arnsburg, 27 miles southeast of Dortmund, was attacked with 12,000-pounders.

While vital German communications and industrial targets were feeling the weight of the mighty Allied air force for the 30th successive day, continent-based U. S. Ninth Air force fighter-bombers, operating in strength in protection of the vital Remagen Rhine river bridgehead, destroyed 58 German planes sitting on an airfield near Lippe in the bridgehead area and damaged 55 others. Twelve more were shot down over the Ludendorff bridge. Three of the American fighter-bombers were lost, two in a collision.

From Italy, Liberators and Flying Fortresses of the U. S. 15th Air force striking for the third time in 10 days in support of the Red Army attacked oil refineries and vital communications northwest of Budapest and within 35 miles of the advancing Russian forces.

New Gains Carved Out Across Rhine

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Thursday, March 15—Infantry and armor of the U. S. First Army expanded the Remagen-Erpel bridgehead today to within a mile and a quarter of the Frankfurt-Cologne super-highway, and other American forces extended the fighting along the far-flung Western front.

In the bridehead, now 10½ miles long and 5½ miles deep, Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' doughboys punched north, south and east for gains of up to a mile through the rugged hills that border the Rhine.

Reinforcements and supplies continued to pour into the American-held area east of the river over the great Ludendorff bridge and the pontoon structure erected by U. S. engineers.

Bridge Claimed Wrecked

The German radio claimed Nazi bombers destroyed the big double-tracked rail bridge during the day, but the latest information available tonight at both SHAEF and

BRIDGE NOT SMASHED

LONDON, March 14 (AP)—A German frontline broadcaster said tonight that the Remagen bridge over the Rhine had "not been smashed" by German planes and artillery. There was no confirmation from the Allies, who besides the Remagen-Erpel steel bridge also have a pontoon bridge in operation.

12th Army group headquarters was that the huge steel structure not only was standing, but was in better condition than when it was captured.

A German broadcast also said Allied reconnaissance thrusts had been launched across the Rhine "north of Duisburg and north of Leverkusen." The enemy report said "all thrusts were unsuccessful."

There was no confirmation here of any Allied activity north of the First Army front, other than recent reports of the U. S. Ninth Army shelling the Ruhr across the river, but such reconnaissance would be a normal procedure.

New Attack By Seventh

To the south, however, the American Seventh Army opened a new attack against the last enemy-held salient west of the Rhine in Germany and gained four miles on a seven-mile front.

The drive west of Saarbruecken, followed up a new attack begun yesterday by the Third Army to the north, was intended at the outset as a line-straightening operation. But the Yanks found only light resistance and punched on to

Woman Killed At Grade Crossing

By an ironic twist of fate, Mrs. W. H. Ray, about 40, teacher in Abernathy schools, was fatally injured at 6:30 o'clock Wednesday night when her pick-up truck was hit by a south-bound Santa Fe passenger train at the outskirts of Abernathy.

O. Rutledge, Abernathy city marshal, said that he was informed that Mrs. Ray had driven across the track a few minutes previously, on her way home, three miles east of Abernathy, but had turned around and started back to town—presumably for something she had forgotten.

Pickup Up Wrecked

The train evidently struck the front part of the vehicle, Rutledge said, although the entire pick-up was wrecked. Mrs. Ray, her body badly broken, was found approximately 50 feet from the crossing, according to W. W. Hokett of Dallas, a passenger on the train.

Hockett said that he had observed the pick-up on the road parallel with the track, running slightly ahead of the locomotive. The woman turned west, he related, and drove the approximately 25 to 30 feet to the track apparently oblivious of the approaching train, although the engineer was "bearing down on the whistle." The train's brakes were applied, he said, when the crash seemed imminent but to no avail.

Lives Short Time

She died 20 or 30 minutes later at the Abernathy depot despite ministrations of Dr. W. H. Girdner, the town physician.

The body is at Rix Funeral home, where funeral arrangements had not been announced late last night.

She is survived by her husband, a farmer, and two sons, Jimmy, 10, and Billy Gene, 14.

The Rays came to the Abernathy vicinity four years ago from Sterling, Tex.

Great Osaka Arsenal Believed Destroyed

21ST BOMBER HEADQUARTERS, Guam, March 15 (Thursday) (AP)—The Osaka arsenal, one of Japan's most important, probably was destroyed in yesterday's 300-Superfortress attack on that city.

That belief was expressed today by Maj. Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, commander of the 21st Bomber command, after B-29 crews reported they were rocked violently by ground explosions.

Osaka arsenal covers 150 acres.

One Superfort crew was blown from an altitude of 7,000 up to 12,000 feet and turned completely over, LeMay said. It went into a slow roll but the pilot recovered control at only 2,000 feet from the ground and flew back to Tinian, where it will be salvaged.

Capt. Jack D. Nole, San Antonio, Tex., and his crewmen reported four explosions violently rocked their ship.

Two Of Philippines Group East Of Mindoro Taken In Surprise Forays

By C. YATES McDANIEL
Associated Press Staff Writer

MANILA, Thursday, March 15—Maj. Gen. Frederick A. Irving's 24th Infantry division made surprise night landings on Romblon and Simara islands in the central Philippines Tuesday at light cost, to strengthen the American hold on the main shipping lane from the United States to Manila.

The Yank force "seized control" of the small islands, east of American-held Mindoro, after the nocturnal invasion "attained complete tactical surprise," Gen. Douglas MacArthur said in his communique today.

Leyte, Bataan Veterans

The 24th, veterans of Leyte, Bataan and Corregidor, destroyed the small Japanese garrison on Romblon in a skirmish at the town of Romblon and killed the few enemy defenders of Simar.

General MacArthur gave no tactical reason for occupying the islands, but undoubtedly it is part of the Allied strategy to clear the Japanese from the many islands of the central Philippines.

The Japanese garrison on Romblon island was destroyed.

These were the 22nd and 23rd invasions of Philippine islands since American troops first swarmed ashore on islets off Leyte last October.

On Luzon, the Sixth division fighting east of captured Antipolo, on the bitterly-contested Marikina watershed area east of Manila, threw back Japanese counterattacks, inflicting heavy losses on the Japanese.

The First division and elements of the 43rd continued to advance eastward from the strong Shibu line.

To the north, 25th and 32nd division Yanks pressed toward the Balete pass against stubborn resistance. This pass leads into the extensive Cagayan valley of northern Luzon in which is believed the bulk of the Japanese Luzon garrison.

Mindanao Hold Expanded

On Mindanao, invaded last Saturday, 41st division troops expanded their holdings north of two captured airdromes in the Zamboanga area, capturing two more towns, Masilay and Harlow.

Strong patrols driving past Zamboanga, which fell Sunday, seized Tumaga and Mercedes, five miles east of the city.

Aircraft and naval guns supported ground operations, silencing eight enemy artillery batteries. Light naval craft sank several Japanese seacraft off Basilan island, 12 miles south of Zamboanga.

Old Glory Officially Raised Over Iwo To Signify Virtual End Of Island Conquest

By VERN HAUGLAND
Associated Press Staff Writer

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Guam, Thursday, March 15.—The American flag was raised over Iwo island — within 750 miles of Tokyo — Wednesday, signifying tactical conquest of its bloody eight square miles although Japanese still are resisting to the death. More than 20,000 Nipponese already have died there.

The Navy communique today, reporting 200 to 400 yard gains further compressing the Nipponese toward the sea at the northermost end, announced the flag raising on the 24th day of the invasion but made no claim that the island had been entirely secured.

In a formal ceremony, the United States government officially took possession of an island so close to Japan that it is governed as an integral part of a prefecture in the homeland.

The proclamation was issued by Adm. Chester W. Nimitz as military governor. Marine Col. D. A. Stafford, Spokane, Wash., read the proclamation suspending all powers of the government of the Japanese empire on Iwo.

While expanded bases on the island bulwarked Iwo-based air cover with planes of three services, Maj. Gen. Keller E. Rockey's Fifth Marine division on the northwest pushed toward Kitano Point in a fight which still was raging at nightfall Wednesday.

Progress was slow because of the need to clear the rough land with bulldozers so tanks and other equipment could be brought up to clean out the almost endless maze of caves.

The communique noted that the Japanese had placed booby traps on the bodies of American dead, in an effort to kill other Marines seeking to retrieve them for burial.

The communique made no mention of American casualties — a figure not brought up officially on Guam since that supplied for the first three days. It was 5,732 including 644 killed. Later Navy Secretary Forrestal in Washington placed the Marine dead at 2,050.

Today's communique disclosed that Navy, Army and Marine

County's Red Cross Total Past $80,000

Another milestone was passed yesterday when the Lubbock county Red Cross War Fund drive exceeded the $80,000 mark by $767.30. George P. Kuykendall, chairman of the campaign, said.

The county's drive apparently will exceed all expectations when the final report is made from the Slaton drive which started Tuesday Slaton, with a quota of $6,000, which Chairman W. R. Sewell said would be topped, had only reported $2,013 at the time the $80,767 total was reached in the county drive.

Progress Slow In Mine Negotiations

WASHINGTON, March 14. (AP)—Negotiations for a new bituminous coal contract made slight progress today while operators sought to reach a united front to present to John L. Lewis' 18 demands.

The bargaining—recessed since last Monday to allow the producers to caucus—resumed briefly this morning but again recessed until Friday, when Ezra Van Horn, head of the operators' group and conference chairman, hoped to have a reply ready for Lewis.

Although confronted by Lewis' call for a strike vote among the United Mine Workers of America on March 28 and the possibility of preventive court action by the southern coal producers' association, hope was expressed that a mine tie-up could be averted.

FORT WORTH, March 14 (U.P.)—Emanuel Siegel of Dallas died unexpectedly in Fort Worth today only one day after he had visited here to attend a funeral.

Twister Lashes Abilene Area

ABILENE, March 14 (AP) — A twisting wind registered at 85 MP at the Abilene Army Air field swept into this area about 7 p. m. tonight, injuring one person, and damaging several structures before moving north to wreak similar damage at Haskell and Stamford.

George Elliott received head and leg injuries when a heavy sign, loosened from its moorings by the wind, fell on him. He was taken to an Abilene hospital, where his injuries were reported as not serious.

Roofs Dislodged

The wind tore most of the roof from the Abilene and Southern railroad roundhouse and dislodged the roof from an oil mill across the street. Several trees in the city were uprooted.

At Haskell the twister completely destroyed a warehouse with damages unofficially estimated at $7,000. Roofs of a cotton warehause and several sheds at a Haskell lumberyard were blown away. Slight damage was reported in other parts of the town.

Three cotton warehouses were damaged as the wind struck the southern sector of Stamford. Roofs of several cotton gins were damaged and tiles from the roof of the union depot at Stamford were scattered over an area of several blocks, witnesses reported.

Communications lines were crippled and electricity was disrupted at the height of the storm. Long distance calls north from Abilene were placed on an emergency basis. Communications were also hampered in the San Angelo area.

A heavy rain, registering .72 inch here, and hail, accompanied the wind.

House Rejects Manpower Plan

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP)—An adamant House refused today to accept the Senate's comparatively mild manpower control bill and sent the issue to a Senate-House committee to be ironed out.

The 211 to 177 vote by which the House acted was a test of strength between those backing the administration's "work or jail" bill, passed by the House Feb. 1, and forces supporting the less stringent Senate measure.

The make-up of the conferees appointed by Speaker Rayburn to represent the House in the conference committee indicated that the House will refuse to budge from the major provisions of its measure.

Division Of Conferees

Four of the five House conferees—May of Kentucky, Thomason of Texas and Brooke of Louisiana, Democrats, and Andrews of New York, Republican—voted for the "work or jail" bill today. The fifth, Short of Missouri, a Republican, opposed it.

Republicans led the fight to force immediate consideration of the Senate bill, which, generally speaking, would put the legal teeth in the War Manpower commission's current job recruitment program and impose a $10,000 fine and a year imprisonment on employers violating WMC employee-ceiling orders. The Senate measure would penalize workers indirectly by restricting their option to go from one job to another.

The 134 Republicans who fought unsuccessfully to keep the legislation out of conference and to dispose of it immediately were joined by 42 Democrats and the lone Progressive party member.

They were overwhelmed by 172

Senate Hears Army To Quit Alcan And Canol Projects

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP)—The Senate heard today that the Army may abandon the Alaskan highway as well as its Canol oil development at Whitehorse, Canada.

After Senator Mead (D-NY) declared that the date for shutting down the Canol venture had been moved up from June 30 to April 1, Senator Magnuson (D-Wash) said he understood the Alaskan highway would be abandoned.

The two developments followed a speech in which Senator Moore (R-Okla) declared the War department had assumed a "bullheaded and arbitrary attitude" in spending $134,000,000 on Canol against the advice of the Senate War Investigating committee, of which Mead is chairman, and "petroleum experts."

Asserting he would insist that the surplus war property disposal board take over Canol properties, Moore declared:

"The Army says that the properties are to be offered Canada under an option to buy at the present appraised value. In view of the incompetence displayed by the Army in connection with this project I seriously doubt the wisdom of permitting the Army to negotiate for the disposal of the property."

Mead said his committee soon would offer a full report on this phase of the Canol project.

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich), a member of Mead's committee, said that group had not gone into the Alaskan highway project, but that "I intend to find out plenty about it when the War department appropriations bill comes up for action."

Last-Minute Taxpayers Fret And Fume To Meet Deadline

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP)—The last-minute people, hundreds of thousands of them, are in a sweat and a rush to get their income tax returns filed by Thursday midnight deadline.

The Internal Revenue department figures that by midnight of March 15, fifty million people will have filed their returns on 1944 income. Returns have been flooding in for months.

All over the land tonight people were struggling with their arithmetic or their tax forms. Others will be doing the same tomorrow.

Here in Washington long lines of people — reading novels or working cross-word puzzles while they waited — moved patiently through the revenue collector's office to let clerks make out their returns.

And officials said similar lines were woven around collectors' offices all over the country. These offices remained open late tonight and will stay open again late tomorrow night to handle the rush.

The tax forms and the instructions this year were the simplest they've ever been but some people felt they needed special help with special problems or — they still weren't sure they could do the job themselves.

And there still are some people who seem to think—because the full tax was taken out of their salary in 1944—that they don't have to file a return. So—this is the point to remember:

If your 1944 income was $500 or more, you must file a return even though the full tax was

Civilians Gloomily Told Of Acute And Widespread Shortage Of Meat

CHICAGO, March 14. (U.P.) — Better get a good mental picture of those three-inch steaks and juicy roasts that used to line the butcher's counters, because they won't be in style again for a long, long time.

Producers, wholesalers and retailers agreed gloomily today that civilians might just as well resign themselves to empty meat counters. It may be months, they predicted, before fresh meats return to the market.

Widespread Acute

The current meat shortage, they said, is the worst since the war began and is as widespread as it is acute.

A United Press survey revealed that in nearly every section of the country the better grades of meat—beef, pork, veal and lamb—had virtually disappeared. Even cold cuts and canned meats were almost non-existent.

Spokesmen for the American Meat institute cited four reasons for the shortage:

1. The lowest February stocks in history.
2. A drop-off in production, especially in pork.
3. Increased demands of the military and lend-lease.
4. Widespread black market operations.

Baby Beef Slaughter

Another reason cited for the current scarcity was the wholesale slaughter of baby beef.

The meat institute reported less than 162,000,000 pounds of meat would be available weekly during the first quarter of 1945. The amount was based on allocations of federally-inspected meats and an institute spokesman said the shortage was "no surprise" to computators of allocations for this year.

Supplies for the second quarter, beginning in April, were expected to fall to 151,000,000 pounds weekly, he said. Pre-war weekly meat consumption from 1939 to 1941 was approximately 226,000,000 pounds.

But the shortage isn't confined to the meat for table consumption alone. Restaurants and hotels are feeling the pinch and quick lunch stands, barbecues and hamburger spots are closing down everywhere.

Restaurants in Dallas, Tex., were running out of meat by the middle of the noon rush hour, and one chef in Raleigh, N. C., said "we're learning to make tasty dishes out of stuff first class hotels used to throw away — such as chicken livers, brains, lungs and hearts."

UNCLE SAM TO HAND OUT 32,000,000 EXTRA RED POINTS

The greatest windfall of extra red points ever is going this month, and each month following, to American housewives throughout the country.

32 million extra red points, approximately, will be handed out by ration boards to customers who turn in used fats in a great Victory wave for this essential of medicines, gunpowder, synthetic rubber, soaps, paints and a hundred other necessities on the battlefield and home front. For each pound of fats turned in, every housewife is entitled to 2 red points.

The need for used fats is still urgent. Women are urged to save every drop, every spoonful of grease possible and keep saving until final Victory over both Germany and Japan.

Movie Ceiling Plan Gets Cool Reception

WASHINGTON, March 14. (AP) —OPA's proposal for movie price ceilings gained admission to the Senate Banking committee today and, like a summertime moviegoer, found it "20 degrees cooler inside."

In fact, there was every indication that this time the "freeze" would be on OPA, although Price Administrator Chester Bowles was invited to appear next Tuesday and argue for his recommendation.

The committee talked over Bowles' proposal, made in a letter to Chairman Wagner (D-NY), in a closed session.

Wagner afterward told reporters that the members "generally were of the opinion that they know of no reason to justify" extension of price control to movie and other amusement tickets.

Since Bowles had argued in his letter that movie admissions had gone up 38 per cent since January, 1941, Wagner's statement appeared to be a rejection of the price rise itself as an argument for ceilings.

By means of "portable ports," coded as Mulberries, more than 2,500,000 men were put ashore during the first 109 days of the European invasion. Over 17,000,000 ship tons of material reached shore during the same time.

Women's Stories Too Similar, Get Tickets

DALLAS, March 14 (AP)—Accident investigator Ed Hicks was testing brakes. He stopped two women drivers headed in the same direction.

He found faulty brakes on both cars.

Said the woman in the first car: "I have just paid a ticket for bad brakes and am on the way to a garage to have them tightened. The lady in the car behind me is going to pick me up and take me home."

Said the woman in the second car: "I was just on my way to a garage to have the brakes fixed and the lady you just stopped in front of me is going to pick me up and take me home."

Both received tickets.

Worried Japs Seek Air Raid Protection

(By The United Press)

The Japanese house of peers discussed "urgent" air raid relief measures today only a few hours after the third American 300-plane Superfortress attack in five days on Japan.

The Tokyo Domei agency said in a dispatch recorded by FCC monitors that both upper and lower houses of the diet "hoped" the government would take drastic measures in view of the likelihood the air offensive would be intensified further.

Members of the diet from bombed Tokyo, Nagoya and Osaka told Premier Gen. Kuniaki Koiso yesterday that the government's relief plans were inadequate and suggested immediate establishment of an over-all air raid relief administration.

Frangible Bullet Allows Use Of Live Ammunition In Air Training

By WALTER P. BOSWELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

LAREDO ARMY AIR FIELD, March 14. — A frangible bullet which shatters into fine powder against special armor now makes it possible for U. S. Army Air forces gunners to fire live ammunition at attacking planes in realistic and revolutionary training.

Details which are considered of high military importance were disclosed today for the first time by the AAF Training command.

Lt. Gen. Barton K. Yount, commanding general of the Army Air Forces Training command, has ordered the frangible bullet used as a part of standard training in six other basic flexible gunnery schools, after practical application here at the AAFTC's central school for flexible gunnery.

Seen As Effective Aid

The invention is being projected as a training help for other arms, and its enthusiasts envision it such an effective aid to gunner training that the mere possession of it will be a deterrent to war.

Frangible means breakable, brittle. One gunner calls it the butter bullet. It will kill a man at 500 yards, yet it shatters harmlessly against specially armored pursuit planes which dive and attack bombers in gunnery training.

High in the skies the men who man the guns of the big bombers —B-17s and B-24s modified for training—score hits and misses on the attacking fighters as realistically as foot soldiers on an ordinary rifle range.

Was Difficult Technique

Until the frangible bullet was developed, flexible gunnery was perhaps the most difficult of all gunnery techniques.

The "frangible bullet" is credited to Major Cameron D. Fairchild, lean, greying, officer who was a Houston architect in civil life, and is now in charge of the frangible bullet project here.

Its development took about two and one half years. Fairchild was aided in it by his assistant, Capt. Homer I. Henderson of Houston; engineers of the Air Technical Service command, the office of the chief of ordnance, the National Defense Research council, faculty members of Duke and Princeton universities, and research laborities of the Bakelite Corp., and Corning Glass works. Fairchild was at Harlingen AAF when the idea was conceived.

Flexible gunnery is the technique of shooting hand-held and turret-mounted guns on bombers.

Like Combat Shooting

The AAFTC believes the frangible bullet is the solution of a problem posed by reports from war theaters that the bomber gunners it has been turning out have not really learned combat shooting.

Made of lead divided finely with a plastic material, the frangible bullet is being used by the AAFTC as a 30-caliber slug fired through machine guns at Bell Aircraft P-63 Kingcobras armored with half a ton of specially treated duraluminum.

A light mounted in the pursuit plane's nose instead of a 37mm cannon is visible to the gunner on the bomber and flashes when a hit is made. Another light in the cockpit blinks in unison and a meter counts the hits.

The immediate record of hits permits on-the-spot correction of a gunner's aim, under close simulation of combat.

A group of news writers a week ago saw a demonstration of the frangible bullet.

Red Cross Explains Causes For Delays In Furlough Arrivals

Combat troops and critical war materials have transportation priority over men traveling home from furloughs from overseas, and visits home are delayed for that reason, Mrs. C. C. Caldwell, home service chairman of the Lubbock county Red Cross chapter, said today.

"Families frequently become alarmed when the serviceman fails to reach home when expected," Mrs. Caldwell said. "Both Red Cross and War department records show that such anxiety is usually unwarranted as the most frequent cause of delay is insufficient transportation facilities."

Materials Come First

Men with regular overseas furloughs must often wait at overseas embarkation points in order that essential war materials and troops can be rushed to battle areas, the local home service chairman pointed out. When this happens, the soldier can sometimes notify his family, but often he is not permitted to communicate for reasons of military secrecy.

"Another cause of anxiety is a serviceman's assumption that he will receive a furlough before it has been officially granted," Mrs. Caldwell said. "This error is common in forward areas where daily changes in the tide of battle make advance furlough planning difficult."

Contact With Overdue

Families out of touch with servicemen long overdue on furlough are advised to write directly to the branch to which he is assigned. If the information furnished by the military does not help solve the problem, the Red Cross chapter here can communicate with the Red Cross field director attached to the man's organization to determine whether or not he has left the area.

"It should be understood by families of service men that the Red Cross is able to assist with communications service only when there is a real family emergency or when the servicemen has not been heard from for more than three months," Mrs. Caldwell said.

Peculiar Pregnancy Yields Healthy Baby

DALLAS, March 14 (AP) — An abdominal pregnancy with delivery of a healthy baby was reported today by Dr. Glen Terry, resident in obstetrics at Baylor hospital.

The case was apparently the first on record in Dallas medical annals and one of the few in the United States, Dr. Terry said.

The pregnancy originally occurred in the left follopian tube outside the womb, later aborting into the abdomen, Dr. Terry reported. The placenta and membrane had attached to the stomach wall. A vertical incision was made at delivery through the abdominal wall.

The child weighed seven pounds and thirteen ounces. Condition of the mother was reported good.

Hospital Inmates Find Their Babies Have Same Father

STOCKHOLM, March 14 (U.P.)—The newspaper Express said today that a Stockholm mother who had just given birth to her fifth child woke up in a hospital and started talking with her wardmates.

Two of them had given birth to twins. By pooling their information the three women found out that all five babies had the same father—the husband of the singleton mother.

The newspaper said the woman decided to keep her husband on the understanding that he would stay away from the twins and their mothers.

Research Program In Dairy Industry Urged

An aggressive, nation-wide advertising and research program aimed at creating a market for an annual 10 to 15 billion pounds of milk in post-war America was urged Wednesday by Owen M. Richards of Chicago, manager of the American Dairy association, speaking at the annual district meeting of the Texas Dairy Products association at Texas Tech.

Richards pointed out that America's five million dairy farmers have increased their milk production as much as 15 percent above the 1935-39 level, and that the end of the war would mean a reduction in demand. Dairy interests of Texas were urged to join dairy farmers of 30 other states in the industry-wide program of the American Dairy association to increase post-war demand for milk and its products.

WITH ALL 8 GUNS firing, this Republic P-47 Thunderbolt is one of many types of fighting planes which fly with Phillips high-octane fuel on all the world's fighting fronts

The United States Produces 85% of the World's Aviation Gasoline

...and Phillips is one of the Six Largest U.S. Producers!

WONDERFUL GASOLINES after the war? . . . Of course, because of today's greatly intensified programs of research and production.

The headline above clearly and simply states the outstanding position achieved by Phillips in the wartime production of combat aviation fuels. It is more than a hint of what you can expect from Phillips in peacetime gasolines for postwar cars.

Phillips is also a major producer of butadiene for synthetic rubber. And high-octane fuel and butadiene are both synthetic chemicals . . . two of the limitless thousands of products which can be made by using petroleum and petroleum gases as a chemical raw material.

That is why we say, every time you see the Orange and Black Phillips 66 Shield, let it remind you that Phillips refineries . . . in addition to producing gasolines, lubricants, and fuel oils . . . are also gigantic chemical plants pouring out weapons for victory.

WE'RE sorry but several recent typographical errors in this column have thrown us off base a bit. The clumps of grass that are available in the alley are at [illegible] Avenue N, rather than the address listed, and the telephone number of the city recreation office where you are asked to call if you have magazines for the youth centers is 9346, rather than the number listed.

ON HOME SERVICE

DURING the drive for the Red Cross War fund we heard several persons say they wish they could do something more than make a financial contribution. They had read the letters the American soldiers had written home telling of the wonderful work of the Red Cross and they felt they wanted to be more of a part of the organization than by simply contributing toward its financial support.

As worthy as overseas Red Cross is, few of us can qualify for those jobs and even if we could, there are not enough jobsto go around. But as important as that phase of the Red Cross is there is another that is equally worth while. We refer to the home service department which assists servicemen and ex-servicemen and their families in meeting those needs which arise from the men's service in the armed forces. And this work stems from your home town.

Because more workers are needed in the home service department, a course is to be offered beginning March 26 with Miss Esther Roettinger from Midwestern office, St. Louis in charge. Present plans are to have the course of twelve 2-hour lessons to be given within two weeks' time.

RESPONSIBILITIES of home service include communications, benefits and claims, reports, financial assistance, and consultation and guidance. Workers assist with communications between servicemen and their families when common means of communication are not available or effective.

They supply information concerning government regulations and legislation affecting servicemen and ex-servicemen and their families. They assist in filing claims, in applying for family allowances and render financial assistance for basic maintenance on the basis of need of dependents of servicemen and to disabled servicemen and their dependents during the temporary period when the application of claim for government benefits including family allowances, allotments, pensions and insurance benefits is pending.

If you have read this far, you realize how necessary workers are to be in the office to interview families and soldiers. A number of young women who had been doing volunteer work in the Lubbock office have recently moved, since their husbands were officers and have been transferred; others are on leaves of absence due to illness. It's quite necessary that more women offer their services in the future than in the past and if you take the course you'll be expected to give at least a day a week to the service.

PERHAPS this has stumped you and you'll say, "Yes, but if I am away from home all day the beds won't be made and we'll have to have a cold supper."

Well that's unfortunate, of course, but what about our men in France and Germany who sleep in fox holes or in cold buildings and who eat cold rations day in and day out? Don't you suppose they get tired of that life?

We can say from experience that this is interesting work. We took the course last spring but have not been able to devote much time because we work six days a week down here at the office and the Red Cross is closed on Sunday. But we'll guarantee you'll find it exciting and interesting work and it will help you to get your mind off of yourself.

If interested you may telephone either Mrs. G. C. Caldwell, 7823 or Mrs. Hiram Parks, 2-2836 or the executive office, 8534 and application blanks will be mailed or brought to you.

ANNA'S ROLE

JANES EADS, Associated Press Newsfeatures writer, says Mrs. John Boettinger is "Anna-Gram in the White House." She has been living there for some months now. She accompanied her father to the Yalta Big Three confab.

There is much speculation about her position. Available information adds up to this:

She has no government connection.

She has no advisory role as far as official affairs of her father are concerned.

Yet it is common talk around Washington that the President has often said: "See Anna about that."

Those close to the inner sanctum believe that her role is actually that of a kind of super-confidential secretary.

Reduction In Tax Burden Urged As Great Aid On Post-War Problems

WASHINGTON, March 14. (AP)—A recommendation for "substantial reduction of the burden of taxation" was placed before Congress today as a means of accelerating postwar employment and industry.

Edward P. Palmer of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce told the House postwar policy committee an overal lrevision of taxes is most desirable for the nation's economy.

Must Face Facts

"We must face the fact, however," he continued, "that if high rates by reason of absolute government necessities are to continue in the postwar period, some expedients may be necessary as, for instance preferential treatment of new capital investments."

He urged that local, state and federal governments blueprint now a postwar program of public works to help occupy the construction industry. He suggested, however, that federal financing go only to those projects which have a direct federal government connection and the other work be financed by local taxes.

Thomas S. Holder of the F. W. Dodge Corp., told the committee a manpower shortage may bottleneck the construction industry in the first year after the war. But he predicted:

"Total construction volume in the five years following the war will, after making due allowances for a changed price level, average at least double the average annual volume of the 1930-1939 decade."

He declared the United States has the "ingredients of a great and sustained prosperity" and said, "I think we can realize that prosperity if the as yet unmeasured forces of economic expansion can be released, if they can be permitted to function without being unduly restricted by repressive government action."

Ex-Plainview Band Director Succumbs

FORT WORTH, March 14 (AP)—F. G. H. Ihlefeldt, 72, former member of the Fort Worth Symphony orchestra and director of bands in several Texas cities, died today at the home for aged Masons in Arlington, where he had lived since 1932.

Mr. Ihlefeldt was director of the Santa Fe band at Cleburne for several years. He had also directed the band of the State Orphan's home at Corsicana, and the Plainview High school band.

Fire On Property Of Railway Ruled Cause For Auto Accident

AUSTIN, March 14 (AP)—When smoke from a grass fire adjacent to a highway so obscured vision that it contributes directly to an accident on the highway, those responsible for the fire are subject to damages, the supreme court held today in a case from Callahan county.

The court upheld a trial court judgment of $750 in favor of W. B. Atchison versus the Texas and Pacific Railway company.

Atchison had sued for damages allegedly sustained when his wife was injured in an accident on the highway adjacent to the Texas and Pacific right-of-way east of Putnam, when the car in which she was riding was in collision with that of a third party. Testimony was that vision was obscured by smoke from a grass fire on the railroad property that started soon after a train passed.

The trial court judgment was upset by the court of civil appeals, which held the third party was the "sole prominate cause."

"Had it not been for the smoke on the highway in the case before us, the injury would not have occurred," said the supreme court in reversing the intermediate court's ruling.

Colored Eggs Laid By Hen Brings Up New Industry Hope

Production of colored Easter eggs "direct from the hen" might be a new industry to spring up on the South Plains if M. H. Hilley, farmer of Route 1, Shallowater, can find the answer to his problem.

Hilley was exhibiting two fuchsia eggs here Wednesday which, he said, came directly from hens on his brother's poultry farm in Comanche county.

Poultry authorities here are of the opinion that it "can't be done," but Hilley maintains that is just what happened due to the fact that one of the seven such eggs gathered on his brother's farm was broken and it was noted that the shell was of the same color on the inside. He says that if the egg had been dyed it would not be the same color on the inside.

Here is Hilley's problem in his own words: "I want to know what would cause such a phenomenon. If it is something in the hens' food, I would like to get the formula so I can produce Easter eggs from my hens for commercial use."

Hilley also believes that the fact that Easter is so near at hand had nothing to do with the eggs being colored, although someone suggested that probably an Easter Bunny had been in the nests.

The seven eggs were found on consecutive days, two the first and five the second and were supposed to have been laid by white leghorn hens belonging to his brother, J. B. Hilley, whose farm is located 12 miles south of Comanche.

Hilley plans to have one of the eggs on display at the Lubbock County Labor Saving Device show Saturday on the Texas Tech campus.

Yanks Surround Base In Italy

ROME, March 14 (AP) — Strong Fifth Army patrols have worked their way north of Vergato, important German stronghold 14 miles southwest of Bologna, already threatened by Allied forces on the south, east and west, Allied headquarters said today.

Southwest of Vergato, which is astride the main Pistoia-Bologna highway, other Fifth Army troops have beaten off German counter-attacks against newly-won positions on the 5,900-foot Monte Spi-[illegible].

Field Marshal Albert Kesselring's embattled German forces were displaying increased aggressiveness on the main approaches to Bologna, key Nazi communication and supply center in northern Italy.

Headquarters of the Mediterranean Allied air force disclosed that 2,500 tons of supplies had been parachuted to partisan forces behind the German lines in northern Italy in recent weeks.

The partisans apparently are making good use of the supplies. A communique issued by the 15th Army group said 76 enemy soldiers were casualties of a patriot attack against the Fascist garrison at San Giacomo, in Modena province. In the Piedmont region a passenger train was stopped by partisans and 50 Germans and 50 Italian Fascists were captured.

The communique said rail and communication lines had been cut at a number of places.

Bill Seeks Changes In Banking Board

AUSTIN, March 14. (AP)—A bill by H. L. Winfield of Fort Stockton, changing the makeup of the state banking board, which he explained was "an attempt to remove it from politics in the granting of charters," cleared the Senate Banking committee today on a close voice vote, after almost two hours debate.

Under the Winfield bill, the personnel of the board would be changed to include the state banking commissioner, secretary of state and one member of the State Finance commission.

Under present statutes the attorney general, the state treasurer and banking commissioner compose the board.

Tax Deadline

withheld from you. If your income was less than $500, you don't have to file a return.

(Some income, of course, doesn't have to be reported: Such as social security benefits, monthly government allowances to servicemen's families, disability pay to war veterans, things like that.)

OFFICE REMAINS OPEN

Tonight at midnight is the deadline for filing returns on 1944 income and estimated returns on 1945 income.

L. B. Barkley, field division chief of the Lubbock Office of Internal Revenue, issued this warning Wednesday night, adding that his office will remain open until midnight for the convenience of those who are unable to come to the office during the regular office hours, 8 a. m. to 5 p. m.

He remarked that his office has been filled with taxpayers for the last several days, but his deputy collectors have been able to handle the crowd efficiently.

But some people must do more than just file a return on 1944 income by Thursday midnight.

About four million will have to pay the unforgiven part of the tax due on their 1942 income. People who must do this already have been notified. This return should be filed separately from any other.

And about 12 million people will have to file an estimate of the tax on their 1945 income and pay the first installment of the tax due on it. This is also separate from any other final return on 1944 income.

You have to file this estimate if in 1945 you expect to receive:

1. Wages subject to withholding in excess of $5,000, plus $500 for each surtax exemption except your own.

2. Income from all sources in excess of $100, provided your total income is expected to amount to $500 or more.

Mandalay Rapidly Made Into Rubble

MANDALAY, Burma, March 14 (AP)—Mandalay rapidly was becoming a rubble heap today as infantry, armor and artillery of the Indian 19th division smashed their way through the southern part of Burma's second largest city.

Tanks and artillery fired point blank at enemy-held strongpoints as they moved forward through the streets. Smoke hangs heavy over the southwest corner where Japanese headquarters still is holding out, and I saw no signs of activity within the compound from my observation post on Pagoda Hill, 800 feet above the city.

A small American liaison plane landed on the Mandalay race course, only a half mile from the front and within easy machinegun and rifle range, but did not draw any fire.

The smell of Japanese dead is strong throughout the city, but the bodies cannot be removed as yet because many of them are booby trapped.

British officers who led the Indian troops in capturing Pagoda Hill said that the night before they launched their attack they could hear the laughing and shouting of Japanese soldiers and women. The women left before dawn. In the battle next day Japanese casualties were heavy when the Indian troops poured flaming oil into a huge tunnel where many had been holding out.

Gurkha and Welsh troops of the division made a daring 40-mile forced march over an opium smugglers' trail and captured the Burma road town of Maymyo, 35 miles east and slightly north of Mandalay.

Be Quick To Treat Bronchitis

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

Advances On Iwo

planes are operating from captured air bases on the island.

The estimated enemy dead was regarded as conservative. It was reached by an approximate count of burials. Many more Japanese bodies are known to be sealed up in bomb-blasted caves.

In reporting the raising of the flag, usually designating a conquest, the communique specified "some resistance still continues."

Iwo-based Army planes and Army Liberators from more distant bases pounded Chichi in the Bonin islands, nort hof Iwo on successive days, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Kuriles Are Pounded

Army Liberators also hit southern Paramushiro in the Kuriles.

In addition to the Japanese around Kitano Point, a smaller pocket still is holding out against Maj. Gen. Clifton B. Cates' Fourth Marine division at Tachiiwa Point on the east side.

Today's communique added 48 more Japanese dead and 13 prisoners to the more than 60,000 enemy casualties — the vast majority killed — in the Palau and Marianas islands. These islands long since have been transformed into American bases but enemy remnants still road the mountainous regions.

In 1789, there were six cities in the United States with more than 8,000 population: Philadelphia, New York, Boston, Charleston, Baltimore and Salem.

Russian Front

powerful First White Russian Army was reported by Reuters to have cracked "one of the main German lines" in Berlin's outer defenses west of the Oder on the 16-mile front between the captured fortress city of Kuestrin and threatened Frankfurt.

The Germans reported that nine Soviet infantry divisions of perhaps 100,000 men and supporting armor were fighting to expand several bridgeheads on the west bank as a prelude to a fullscale drive on Berlin. Moscow has not yet borne out enemy reports that the Red Army has established bridgeheads in this key area across the last waterway before the Reich capital.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

Buses are overburdened as never before. A crisis is near. With more men, tires and gas going to war, present service can barely be maintained. Each day brings greater loads. When you must travel locally, let this be your creed:

1. Do Not Ride in Rush Hours, except to and from your job.
2. Have Exact Fare Ready, saves time and fuss.
3. Move Back When Driver Asks, speeds your ride.

This simple creed will work wonders.

RFC Surplus Property Auctions To Be Subject To Price Ceilings

All farm auctions of government surplus property by the Reconstruction Finance corporation or its subsidiaries under War Food administration auspices will be subject to price ceilings, the Lubbock district Office of Price administration announced today.

As a further protection to farmers and other buyers, maximum prices of all items to be offered for sale must be posted at the auction site except where the value of single or similar items exceeds $1,000. Ceilings for items valued above $1,000 are set in a regulation which does not require posting of the maximum prices.

Wide Variety Of Items

Surplus government property sold at farm auctions held by RFC or its subsidiaries covers a wide variety of items including hand tools, wire, nails, screws, and miscellaneous supplies useful to the farmer. At the present time such farm auctions are generally conducted by the Defense Plant corporation, an RFC subsidiary.

Sales of government surplus property where the price estimated to be obtainable for a single item, or substantially similar items, does not exceed $300 have been exempt from price control. A specific list of commodities also was exempt regardless of the value.

Effective Next Monday

Under this action, effective next Monday, public auctions of RFC or its subsidiaries conducted under the auspices of WFA will be under price control regardless of the value of any item or group of items and regardless of any particular commodity exemption previously applying.

Elimination of the price control exemptions on farm auctions results from the issuance to the RFC of a simplified method of establishing ceiling prices for farm auctions where the value of single or substantially similar items does not exceed $1,000.

Where farm auction sales have items exceeding the $1,000 limit, and where other public auctions or sales have items exceeding the continuing $300 limit, the general order applies.

Basis Of Ceilings

Under the simplified plan, ceilings on sales of new items to consumers will be the same dollar-and-cent retail ceilings already established for the items. Where no dollar-and-cent ceilings are available, the ceilings will be acquisition cost to the government or the established retail price for the item in that locality.

On used articles, the ceilings will be the same dollar-and-cent retail ceilings already established for regular sales of the items. Where no dollar-and-cent ceilings are available, the ceilings will be 80 per cent of the recognized retail price for the item in that locality when sold new.

Some Exceptions

An exception is made in the case of a list of used farm equipment, which includes combines, tractors, etc., for which the ceilings will be 85 per cent of the recognized retail price when new, if sold within one year after sale as new, and 70 per cent of the recognized retail price, when new if sold more than a year from sale as new.

So that dealers cannot outbid consumers at these auctions on the same price level, the plan specifies that no dealer can bid more than 75 per cent of the ceilings established for consumer buyers. Exceptions will be used typewriters, used household vacuum cleaners and used washing machines, for which the dealer's maximum bid cannot exceed the dollar-and-cent ceilings already established on sales of these three items to dealers. The percentage in these three cases is less than 75 per cent applicable to other sales.

Sooner Man's Boat Skids Across Island

MANILA, March 14 (AP)—Sgt. Melvin Richard Miller, 21, of Blackwell, Okla., accomplished a feat unique in amphibious warfare.

He hit a beach so hard he missed it. The point is, Miller hit at such speed his craft skidded clear off the other side of the island and plunged once again into the water.

Miller was part of the 11th airborne force which made a landing on small Saipang island in Manila bay off southern Cavite province. The island is half a mile long and in places such as Miller hit ten yards wide.

"It was the most peaceful landing in the Pacific," said Miller in describing his part in the landing, "only it was all wet."

Woman Gives Birth To Child Unaided, Then Disappears

BALTIMORE, March 14 (AP)—A young woman, unattended, gave birth today to a baby girl in the washroom of a downtown Baltimore hotel and disappeared, leaving the infant wrapped in papers on a window sill, police reported.

The baby was taken to Mercy hospital where she was found to weigh 9 pounds 13 ounces. Attendants said her condition was good.

Patrolmen John Foertschbeck and William Sudmeier reported they had been told by persons in the hotel that the woman, who appeared to be about 25 years old, entered the building and went directly to the rest room on the mezzanine floor.

Upon leaving some time later, police said, the woman asked a hotel attendant where she could find the nearest doctor. The attendant referred her to Mercy hospital, but no one answering her description had appeared there tonight.

The baby was discovered by a maid, who heard the child's cries shortly after the woman left the hotel.

Confidence In Soviet Union Is Growing

Majority In U. S. Believes Russia Will Fight Japan

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J.—A question of enormous interest in Washington and throughout the country is whether Russia will join the United Nations in the war against Japan after the Germans have been defeated.

The future of Russo-American diplomatic relations will obviously be deeply affected by what Russia decides to do in the Pacific, and the attitude of the American people toward the Soviets is bound to be conditioned for many decades by this momentous decision.

GALLUP

At present public opinion surveys are finding a growth of public confidence in Russia's future intentions. Last week, for instance, the Institute reported a large increase in the number of Americans who think Russia can be trusted to cooperate with us after the war. Another bit of evidence which shows the increasing confidence in Russia is a rise in the number of Americans who believe that Russia will help us in the war against Japan.

This is shown in the following survey:

"When Germany is defeated, do you think Russia will join us in the war against Japan, or do you think Russia will stay neutral?"

	Today	Last Dec.
Will Join	65%	53%
Will Stay Neutral	22	31
No Opinion	13	16

Obviously the American public is no authority on the future plans and intentions of officials in the Kremlin, but the expectations of the American people regarding Russia, whether those expectations are justified or not, have a very important bearing on how well the two countries will be able to get along together in the future.

Russo-Japanese relations may come to a crisis next month. April 25 is the last date on which one country or the other may give notice of desire to terminate the non-aggression agreement made between Moscow and Tokyo in 1941.

Opinion Is Uniform

The public expectation that Russia will fight Japan is found in all parts of the United States, in all walks of life. Majorities believing that Russia will fight are about as large in the low economic and education levels here, as in the upper levels which have always in the past been found the most friendly toward Russia.

Nor is there much difference by political parties. The survey finds that 65 per cent of all people who voted for Dewey last fall, and 69 per cent of those who voted for Roosevelt, agree in thinking that Russia will join us in smashing Hirohito's empire.

You can't feel your best without enough iron

THIS GRAND CEREAL HELPS KEEP BLOOD'S IRON LEVEL UP TO PAR

One ounce dish of KELLOGG'S All-Bran gives over ⅓ of your daily minimum iron needs

MOST everyone knows you can't make good red blood without iron. But do you know that your body constantly needs good new red blood to replace the blood it wears out? That's why you've got to get iron constantly.

The best place to get iron is in foods. But not many foods are rich in available iron. In fact, it is not easy to get an abundance of iron in the ordinary diet.

Fortunately, there is an everyday cereal that is a rich, inexpensive source of readily assimilable iron. It's KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN. Ounce for ounce, this grand cereal gives you 50% more iron than calves' liver. In addition, this toasty, nut-brown cereal is an important source of calcium, phosphorus and essential vitamins. That's because ALL-BRAN is made from the vital outer layers of finest wheat.

KELLOGG'S All-Bran is made from the VITAL OUTER LAYERS of finest wheat

Nature makes a habit of storing the larger share of protective food elements in the skin of the potato and the peel of the apple. Into the vital outer layers of wheat, too, Nature packs some of the grain's most important nutrients. ALL-BRAN is made of these vital outer layers, and is more abundant in many food elements than whole wheat itself.

America's Great Regulating Cereal

Besides being a storehouse of iron and other important food elements, delicious KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is a great natural regulating cereal. Millions of people eat it regularly. One ounce eaten daily is usually adequate for satisfactory laxation. ALL-BRAN, which is triple-milled for golden softness, does not interfere with normal digestion.

Serve KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN regularly. Help your family get adequate amounts of iron and other important food elements.

DONOR OF 15 PINTS OF BLOOD

Still an urgent need for blood donations

Mr. Van Edward Marker, 2214 Colfax Street, Evanston, Ill., a discharged veteran from the Amphibious Infantry, has given 15 pints of blood. Thinking of his buddies, he urges other persons in good health to come forward and donate vitally needed blood for plasma. The fluid part of your blood is restored in a few hours. Maintaining the body's proper iron level helps to replenish your good red blood.

Eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN with fruit, in muffins or on other cereals.

Laverne Roach Is Welter Champ

NEW YORK, March 14 (AP)—Fighting under the banner of the Cherry Point Marines, Lavern Roach of Plainview, Tex., punched his way to the welterweight championship in the Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions here tonight.

The fights in Madison Square Garden found three boxers from Puerto Rico reaching the finals in the three lighter weights, and all three came through in the finals, to highlight the show.

Roach outpointed Mike Koballa of Miami in a three round battle in the finals, after winning by a sensational one round knockout in the semi-finals to move into the big show tonight.

NEW YORK, March 14 (AP)—Summaries of the finals of the 1945 Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions at Madison Square Garden:

112-pound class: Francisco Garcia, Puerto Rico, outpointed William Simon, New York (3).

118-pound class: Aldo Calderon, Puerto Rico, outpointed Sal Fuzzo, Newark (3).

126-pound class: Rafael Reveron, Puerto Rico, outpointed Nick Poppo, Buffalo (3).

Sgt. Lavern Roach was born seven miles north of Plainview and received his education in Plainview public schools. He joined the U. S. Marine Corps in February, 1943, shortly after his graduation from Plainview High school.

At present, he is with the athletic department at Cherry Point, N. C., where he has been a star of the Leatherneck boxing team, and has been highly touted as a promising professional for later years.

Roach played halfback on the Plainview High football team and also picked up quite a reputation in amateur boxing circles. He won his right to enter the state Golden Gloves tournament with the Lubbock team in 1941 and 1942, and fought in the state 112 pound flyweight class the first year, and as a bantamweight the second year.

In the Marine Corps Roach developed rapidly under the coaching of Sgt. Johnny Abood, an outstanding professional lightweight of a few years ago.

He fought in the Carolinas Golden at Charlotte in Feb., 1944, and although eliminated by a close decision in the semi-finals, was awarded a trophy for being the most popular boxer in the tournament.

He has lost only two fights since becoming a member of the Fighting Leathernecks, and never has been knocked out during his boxing career.

Roach is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley J. Roach of Plainview.

Boys Club Battlers Stage Fast Opening Fight Show

Drawing a crowd of 269 people for the first ring show at the Lubbock Boys club, the youngsters swung them from the corner posts Wednesday night with a show that kept Judges K. N. Clapp, W. D. McCarty and Earl Ince, jr., busy picking the winners of the ten bout show.

Two early bouts on the card produced technical knockouts, but the boys in the heavier divisions couldn't produce the "sleep punch" but provided plenty of the best bouts of the night.

Referee Dell Morgan awarded the technical kayos to Don Stewart over Charles Wright in the second fight, and to C. D. Walker over Buster Caddell in the third fight.

Bo Sexton, jr., won a decision over Buster McRae in the curtain raiser. Keith Newman gained the nod over Carroll Walker. Robert Newell bested Tommy Elliott. Wendell Conditt bested Leon Stewart.

Two of the best, and fastest fights of the night followed, with Norman Lindsey and Bob Griffin showing plenty of promise in the ring. Lindsey won a decision over Jack Smith, and Griffin defeated John Williams.

Bobby Baber won the semi-final of the card, getting the nod from the judges over Bill Echols. In the final bout, Russell Lee won the decision over Bob Donnell.

It was announced Wednesday night that another club show would be staged in about two weeks.

Track Records Are Threatened

FORT WORTH, March 14 (AP)—At least three records will be in danger at the annual Southwestern Exposition Track and Field meet Friday and Saturday—two of them in the high school division.

Perry Samuels, star sprinter of Thomas Jefferson High school, will be shooting at the 100-yard dash mark of 9.9 seconds. He did 9.8 last week at the Border Olympics.

From Comanche, Okla., comes Bill Grimes, 17-year-old broad jump ace, who has hit better than 24 feet. The record is 22 feet 10¾ inches.

A Naval Aviation cadet, I. W. Moore of Kingsville Naval Air Station, threatens the pole vault record. Moore cleared 13 feet 6 inches at the Border Olympics. That's six inches better than anything ever done here and 2½ feet better than the Victory Division record. Kingsville NAS will be in that division.

Entries continue to pour in with more than 600 already filed. Thus far seven colleges and universities twelve Army camps, air fields, Naval installations, defense plants and colleges not of university class, and 48 high schools have filed entries.

Skipper Of Semi-Pro Champs Transferred

WACO, March 14 (AP)—Another member of Waco Army Air field's state semi-pro baseball championship team has been transferred.

This time it's Capt. George (Birdie) Tebbetts, who managed the team both years of its title drives.

Tebbetts received orders to report to Kearns, Utah, late this month. He was not told what his assignment would be but usually when a soldier goes to Kearns, that trip is followed by one overseas.

Oklahoma Sooners To Hire Arizona Coach

NORMAN, Okla., March 14. (AP)—On a lend-lease agreement from the University of Arizona, the University of Oklahoma today acquired Harry B. Phillips as football line coach.

Phillips, assistant coach at Arizona and physical instructor since it gave up football in 1942, was given a contract dated to Jan. 1, 1946, but will remain until Arizona resumes football.

Phillips takes the place of Orville Tuttle, now a captain in the Marines.

Phillips was a guard for Coach Clyde Littlefield's Texas Longhorns in 1927 and 1928. In 1929 he became line coach at Texas College of Mines at El Paso, remaining except for one season until 1942 when he joined Arizona.

Until 1810 Buffalo, N. Y., was known as New Amsterdam.

Nazis Go Underground

The Russians Sound A Warning

RUSSIAN soldiers do not need much warning about what kind of people the Nazis are. They know only too well. But a warning about a particular form of Nazi activity has just been issued to the Red army by Gen. Vasily Ulrich, president of the Supreme Military tribunal.

General Ulrich cautioned the Soviet soldiers that Himmler was organizing vast underground resistance forces in Germany.

"Inside Germany," he said, "there is no difference between our front and rear posts. Every post is a battle post and subject to enemy attack. Thousands of Germans have been given false documents. Supplies of arms are being hidden, as well as printing presses and radio communications. Himmler is seeking to continue the Nazi party underground."

General Ulrich called for redoubled vigilance against Nazi spies and terrorists. His words were addressed primarily to his own comrades-in-arms, but they deserve to be heeded by members of all Allied armies.

It is well for all troops fighting the Germans on German soil to remember that if the Nazis are capable of stern resistance in the open, they can be even more dangerous underground, where their operations are hidden. The French and Polish undergrounds operated despite the harshest kind of German punishments and reprisals. There is every reason to believe that the Nazis will try to carry on similar forms of activity.

No Monopoly Wanted!

MOST Americans oppose single-company operation of this country's international air lines after the war. The next step following single-company operation could easily be government operation.

In the infancy of trans-oceanic flight, it was feasible and sound to restrict the field to the one firm which had done the pioneering work and which had the know-how to do the job. But that stage of aviation has been left far behind in the swift development of the war years.

American planes are now crossing all the oceans of the world on regular, daily scheduled flights. Planes of large variety are now in operation capable of non-stop oceanic hops. Crossings have become almost a matter of routine and thousands of men have been trained in carrying on this aerial traffic.

The Air Transport commands of the Army and Navy have been primarily responsible for this astounding growth. But men of all the major commercial airlines have shared in the undertaking. Most of them are now hoping and planning to expand in the international field after the war.

Some control of international air transport and agreements between nations is obviously essential to prevent competition from turning into chaos. But airline monopoly is no more in the American tradition than monopolies in any other field. Competition assures a steadier and healthier growth.

Decentralization Coming

A DECENTRALIZATION of industry seems to be in progress in this country that will increase in postwar years. This decentralization was in progress before the war, brought about by improved highway and transportation systems, greater accessibility of raw materials and improved living conditions.

In the days to come, the great cities will face more severe competition from medium-sized cities and small towns. Industrial and rural America will become more interdependent. All this will be a spur to more practical and efficient industrial building in the great cities.

For the first time in a postwar period, many observers believe, there will not be a bulge in big city populations after this conflict. Humanity, with more elbow room in its daily living, if with fewer bright lights, will be the happier for it.

The apparent trend will mean a great deal to numerous of the nation's smaller cities, especially to those on the edge of the great industrial belts. But it will mean something, too, to places like Lubbock, even though they are far removed from industry at the present time.

Improved postwar transportation out this wa and, especially, fair adjustment of freight rates, will bring to us types of businesses, and, therefore, types of population we have not here-to-fore known.

It is something to think about now.

Another thing we can't understand is how a cricket can and does chirp 150 times a minute all night long without wearing out whatever it is he chirps with.

If you continually carry a chip around on your shoulder, it's just a question of time before somebody will up and knock your block off.

And he shall turn the heart of the fathers to the children, and the heart of the children to their fathers, lest come and smite the earth with a curse.—Malachi 4:6.

THE PRODIGY

"FRI—TZCHEN!"

It was the voice of a woman, loud but not shrill. It came, as it seemed, from the next room.

The boy at the pianoforte sat quiet. His eyes were not on his music. He was looking at the slanting rain hitting at the window and beyond the rain at the gray dullness of the countryside. Peasants, with heavy capes over them to protect them from the rain, were working in a nearby field, knee-deep in mud.

"Fri—tzchen!"

It was as though he hadn't heard. It was as though he didn't want to hear, as though . . .

Yet he was listening. He heard the patter of the rain and the voices of the peasants calling to one another in the field across the road from the house.

The door opened, and a woman's voice said: "Well, well, now what does this mean?"

The boy turned. He looked into the eyes of the woman, his Mamma, who was now in the doorway, smiling at him.

"Fritzchen, is something wrong?"

"No, Mamma."

"Your playing suddenly stopped. I listened. Nothing. I thought, what is the matter? Is something wrong?"

"No, Mamma."

"Do you know your lesson?"

"Yes, Mamma."

"Ah, that is good. It is very important, Fritzchen . . . especially today."

"Yes, Mamma."

The woman beamed, her pride obvious. At the age of 10, the boy was already a person of note in Zelazowa Wola. Indeed, Count Sharbek, who owned the entire village and therefore the most powerful man in this section of Poland, had called one day at the cottage in person to see "the wonderful boy." And Fritzchen had looked up at the great man, his back against the wall, a little scared. Then Count Skarbek offered his hand and the boy did not know what to do. The child's eyes, it seemed were fastened on a jewel that glistened from the slender fingers of the nobleman.

"Ah, you little rascal," Skarbek had said, "you'd have it now, wouldn't you" Mamma Chopin didn't know how to apologize. She scraped and bowed. What could she say? The Count burst out laughing. "Fine grasping fingers," he said.

But is was all in good humor. No harm was done. Still when the great man was gone Mamma Chopin had scolded the boy. She asked why he had looked so hard on the jeweled finger. "Fritzchen, Fritzchen," she said, "it is not for people in our station to dream of that kind of beauty and wealth." "No, no, Mamma," he protested. He hadn't been thinking of that at all. "What then" "The loaves of bread it might buy, Mamma." Bread. What was the child saying? The one had nothing to do with the other. Mamma, didn't you say to Papa how a man in Warsaw died because he had no bread?" Oh, that. But what had Count Skarbek to do with that? He had nothing whatever to do with it.

Fritchen sometimes talked a great deal of nonsense. His father such a brilliant man, too—a school teacher—where did the boy get such ideas? There was no answer. He did not come by them through any inheritance; that much was plain. Yet he was a good boy and that, after all, was what really counted. But more, he had a good heart, a sensitive soul. Look, how he responded to music! Did you ever see anything like it? Almost from babyhood music affected him. A melody would bring tears to his eyes. Sometimes he would actually cry. That was carrying it to extremes, of course; still it was a good sign, the best in the world. Mamma Chopin could only hope that he would learn to control himself, that he would outgrow his tears. Mamma and Papa both were very patient with him. He took early to the pianoforte and he was encouraged in that as he was in everything else. He played marvelously well. Students much older could not play half so well, and even such a master as Jozef Elsner scratched his head. There was something to the boy, after all. It was because of his dexterity at the pianoforte that Frederic Chopin as a child became a person of note in Zelazowa Wola. It was because of this renown that Count Skarbek had come in person to the Chopin cottage to hear the child play.

No one was more surprised than Monsieur and Madame Chopin, unless it was Professor Elsner, when it was soon requested that Frederic play at a public concert in Warsaw that was to be given for charity.

Professor Elsner said there was absolutely nothing to worry about. Everybody was to leave everything to him; Fritzchen would be in excellent tune. "I can only hope so," Mamma Chopin had said. But of course she doubted it. The concert was then two weeks off. Fritzen must practice. He must know his lesson perfectly.

"Do you know it?" Mamma Chopin said.

"Yes, Mamma."

"Ah, that is good. Professor Elsner, you know, will soon be here and what a pity he should come this long way in the rain and mud to hear a lesson that isn't prepared."

"I know."

"Let me hear."

Fritzchen took his eyes from the window, away from the slanting rain and from all that was beyound the rain, the peasants in their capes in the field and from the gray dullness all about. He looked at his music. He rested his fingers on the keys of the pianoforte, then began to play the Mozart Sonata in C Major. His touch was sure. He played with grace and ease.

There was a violent knocking at the window.

"Look!"

Outside, flat against the pane of the window was the face of Professor Elsner.

Americans Not Being Buried In Germany

HENRI CHAPELLE, Belgium, March 14 (AP)—No American soldier is being buried by the Army in German soil.

The largest military cemetery on the western front—probably the largest ever built for an American overseas army—lies in green rolling hills here some six miles from Aachen, first large German city taken by the Allies.

Since last Sept. 7 this peaceful pasture land where Belgian cattle grazed only a few miles from the German border, has been criss-crossed by row after row of crosses marking the graves of several thousand American dead.

Clothing Collection For Relief Planned

Lubbock will join other cities in the nation in a united national clothing collection for war relief and F. A. Kleinschmidt has been named local chairman. The drive is scheduled for April 1-30. Lubbock's quota is approximately 250,000 pounds.

Mr. Kleinschmidt has called a meeting of representatives from civil clubs and church women's societies at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the Hilton-Aztec room to formulate plans for the drive.

The island of Manhattan was bought from the Indians May 6, 1620, by Peter Minuit, a Dutchman.

Looking At Life - - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

IN a recent address Byron Price, Director of Censorship, called attention to the fact that the Bill of Rights gave us not only privileges but also duties.

As an example he used the case of a man who had been arrested for hitting another fellow during an argument.

The defendant asked the judge whether, in a free country, a man didn't have the right to swing his arm.

BRANDEIS

Whereupon the judge, sentencing him for assault and battery replied:

"In a free country your right to swing your arm ends where the other man's nose begins."

Unless, of course, the other man sticks his nose out too far.

Now don't take me too literally about that, however.

Sticking your nose out seems to be also an unalienable right bestowed upon us. I haven't found anything about in the Bill of Rights, but I do find it in almost every city, town and village, and the smaller the place, the farther the noses seem to come out.

I read an article the other day about a country editor out in Missouri who prints all the news, good or bad, that happens in his community.

That is so different from what most country editors do that he was asked why he did it.

This is what he said:

"Well, you know in most places there are a lot of gossips. If Jim is seen out late with Jane, right away the scandal mongers get busy and make a mountain out of a mole hill. Pretty soon there is nothing left of the real facts and two lives are ruined.

"Isn't it much better to get the truth and print it than to let the gossips go around and spread a lot of dirt?

"As long as people are more interested in their neighbors' wrongs than in their own rights I think it's my duty to tell the things as they happen right out in open."

I agree with that editor. He runs a newspaper and a newspaper has a right to tell the news.

But if you don't run a newspaper then you have no business sticking your nose into other peoples' affairs just for the pleasure of dirtying your neighbors' reputation.

Swinging your arm farther than the beginning of the other fellow's nose is bad enough.

But swinging your tongue into his character and his private life is far worse.

A KID asked the teacher the other day: "What's the difference between 'I feel good' and 'I feed well'?"

Whereupon the teacher replied: "You feel good when you come out of church and you feel well when you come from the doctor."

Some people seem to feel good only when they make someone else feel unwell.

The National Whirligig

Aid To Veterans Floundering

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

THE woeful lack of coordinated preparation to care for the convalescent or healthy veterans has reached such scandalous proportions that it may bring on an explosion within the immediate family of the administration. Only a few insiders realize how completely the program for providing jobs, hospitalization, insurance payments and other necessities has broken down in Washington.

Eleanor Roosevelt has received hundreds of complaints in letters from the mothers, wives and sisters of returned servicemen and has passed these along to her husband every chance she got. She is insistent that conditions be corrected, even if it requires a major operation on the existing inadequate programs and agencies.

TUCKER

Bernard Baruch, whose basic recommendations for aiding former fighters in their transition to civilian life have been disregarded wholly, has made a survey of the current situation and concludes that it is extremely critical. In his opinion, the government has flopped so badly that many heroes will be dependent on charity for postwar assistance and rehabilitation.

He is especially concerned about the lack of proper personnel and facilities for handling men and women who may need a long period of hospital treatment.

LOANS: Congress feels that it has done its duty by those in uniform because it has expanded the Veterans administration in accordance with the periodical requests of Director Frank Hines. But the fact is that this agency as now constituted and staffed has become virtually an obsolete institution in so far as solving the present-day problem is concerned.

Moreover, as Mr. Baruch noted, numerous different units exercise conflicting authority in this field. The bureau is supposed to handle such matters as pensions, disability claims, hospitalization needs. But the Surplus Property Board looks after the sale of necessary articles to a former gob or doughboy.

He must consult the Departments of Commerce and Agriculture if he seeks a loan for setting up in business or buying a farm. As a result of this confusion, there has been a total of only 1470 applications—1465 for homes, four for business and one for a farm. War Manpower is supposed to help him find work.

CLAIMS: The Veterans' bureau is hopelessly undermanned. Major General Hines admits that, although thousands of important letters are dictated daily in Washington, they have to be sent hundreds of miles away to be transcribed. Five thousand GIs are taking the places of nurses, but they cannot substitute for feminine hands nor equal the nurses' devotion to patients.

As of December 31, 1944, the bureau had fallen behind on 263,568 death, insurance and disability claims. And the number will increase rapidly from now on as a result of the heavy losses on the Rhine and Iwo Jima. It will become impossible to keep even partly up to date.

Congress has as yet made no attempt to remedy the inadequacies of the National Life Insurance act, which permits the widows and families of soldiers to obtain only part of the $10,000 policy. Corrective bills were offered more than eight months ago, but the responsible legislators have been too busy to set a day for hearings.

SHORTAGE: It is the tragic shortage of hospital beds, however, that is provoking immediate concern. According to General Hine's own admissions, physical facilities and personnel for treating men whose illnesses recur discharge are hopelessly deficient.

As of December 31, 1944, the bureau had 89,000 hospital beds and was using 4,000 owned by other agencies—a total of 93,000. But 74,881 of these were occupied by veterans of World War I; there were only 16,050 from the present conflict.

Eleven thousand beds were "under construction;" "funds were available" for another 12,000; the pending appropriation bill carries money for 14,000 more. Eight thousand were "authorized in principle." Altogether, there are only 138,000 potential beds now, in our fourth year of war!

Almost 200,000 demobilized fighters have already converted their insurance policies, and each one is a prospective applicant for postwar treatment. The number will mount astronomically in the current year and through 1946.

War and Navy department hospitals are jammed and private institutions can barely take care of the civilian load. Unless the forthcoming revelations prod the Congress and the Administration into action and a more comprehensive study of this problem, homecoming youngsters and their folks may conclude that their Uncle Sam has let them down, for all his fine promises when they shifted from "civvies" to the uniform.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

ALL signs indicate that Hitler's war machine is falling in ruins. Yet the Germans are trying frantically to patch it up before it collapses completely.

Railroads are hammered without respite. Veterans arriving in New York fresh from the front say that a Nazi locomotive engineer now sits in a narrow steel box to protect him from the eggs dropped by Allied fliers. Other employes can risk their necks, but Berlin considers the man in the cab too valuable to let him be a target.

The enemy is using on trains the old Q-boat method of deception devised by the British and American navies in World War I. A freight crew waits until a low-flying Anglo-American strafing plane comes close. Suddenly, the sides of a car are thrown open and a Bofors antiaircraft gun blazes away at the aviators. This trick could be effective were not the gunners such punk marksmen.

LEMAN

German trainmen, scooped up by the Muscovites, urge their former associates over the Free Germany committee mike in Moscow to halt all rolling stock as they approach battle zones and to sit it out until the Russians reach them.

No act is too base for the Nazis to perform in trying to check surrender of their countrymen to the advancing troops of the United Nations. At night Gestapo jackals sneak into cities liberated by GIs, and murder Germans who have assisted our men.

The station agent in Wuerselen helped U. S. Army engineers repair damages. Next morning his body, pierced by many bullets, was found in an abandoned car.

Municipal officials in communities held by us were kidnapped and taken before secret Nazi courts organized on the spot. They were sentenced to death for treason and executed immediately. News of punishments is spread in the Rhineland to warn mayors and city employes of what may happen to them if they lift a finger to aid the oncoming Allies.

LIES: Goebbels is making every effort to frighten people through broadcasts picturing the Yanks as fiends. Here are a couple of samples recorded by United States monitors:

"Roosevelt's emissaries to the western theater of war are obviously the scum of Chicago's underworld," cried the Krauts. Day after day reports pile up on horrible U. S. atrocities, which are fully on the level of those committed by British and Soviet brutes."

Another lie is the alleged maltreatment of German villagers. "The Americans first destroyed the water mains," wailed the commentator, "then set fire to a priest's house where helpless women, children and elderly people were attending a religious service. Only a few were rescued from the burning ruins."

Quick OK Sought For Global Agreement

Bretton Woods Plan Is Studied

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—The administration is anxious to get the Bretton Woods agreements approved by Congress as speedily as possible and as they stand, without revision, for very good reasons.

Any major change in the program formulated by the representatives of 44 nations, including ours, would invite proposals for changes from others which would delay operation of the financial machinery embodied in the International bank and Stabilization fund, might make another conference necessary, causing further delay, and might in the end endanger the whole program.

STOKES

Any upset might have a discouraging effect on the United Nations conference beginning April 25 in San Francisco which represents the attempt to create an international security organization, political in nature, of which the international economic and financial organization represented in Bretton Woods is a complement.

Approval by Congress in this first big step in international cooperation would certainly have an exhilerating effect on the San Francisco meeting.

Agreements Not Perfect

The agreements are by no means perfect. They represent compromises all around. Neither the United States nor any other government got exactly what it wanted. But the administration feels that the program represents the best compromise possible, that it should be approved, and that changes can be made later, if necessary, after the plan is in practical operation and experience shows what revisions are needed.

It represents negotiations extending over nearly a year and a half which began with a series of discussions between technicians of 30 different countries to work out the preliminary outlines. Before the formal conference opened at Bretton Woods, N. H., last July, representatives of about a dozen nations met in Atlantic City to discuss various proposals further. The final agreements came after three weeks at Bretton Woods.

TYPICAL of the problems presented was that of the contributions of the various nations to the Bank and Stabilization fund. This was done by formula taking into account various factors about the resources of the various countries, worked out after much difficulty. China wanted to count in population, for example. She was placed fourth in contribution. She wanted to be third, which is the place Russia got after the United States and Great Britain. Russia wanted to have postwar potential productive capacity considered. India, which is sixth in contribution and voting power, wanted to be higher.

The United States' large contribution, about a third each of the 10 billion bank capital and the 8.8 billion stabilization fund, has been questioned in some quarters. But this country has commensurate voting power. It is stressed also that the United States shares one-third of the risk, but it is argued that, conversely, two-thirds of the risk is shared by others in an enterprise from which this nation should derive the major benefit. It is the biggest producer, will be in the best shape economically after the war, and is in the best position to capitalize on trade advantages.

One Banker Approves

Edward E. Brown, chairman of the board, First National Bank of Chicago, who favors the program, unlike some other bankers, thus described the influence of the United States in the stabilization fund:

"Since voting rights in the fund and control of its management are closely related to the quotas of various countries and since the United States has the largest quota, I think it can reasonably be assumed that the American viewpoint will dominate the management of the fund. Furthermore, if, as is certain to be the case, the American dollar is the currency most in demand after the war, the knowledge on the part of other countries that the United States can withdraw if its veiwpoint is flouted by the management should practically insure recognition of our views by the fund."

THE co-operative international credit program is presented as one of the best protections against "spheres of influence" politics since it provides a place where smaller nations can get credit. It won't be necessary for them to go to some large nation and thus tie itself to that power in one of those "orbit" arrangeso common in Europe in the past.

Inspired By Marine, Girl Aids Red Cross

DENTON, Texas, March 14 (AP)—There was a lump in her throat when Mary Frances Jackson, freshman co-ed at North Texas State college, left a Red Cross rally at the school after hearing an ex-Marine thank the American Red Cross for saving his life with blood plasma.

The co-ed, whose home is at Alvarado, got permission from a campus drug store to use the kitchen, bought bread and sandwich ingredients, made 100 sandwiches, and sold them to students in the campus dormitories. She added her $10 profits to the millions contributed by American members of the Red Cross.

STOCKS SLIGHTLY STRONGER

NEW YORK, March 14 (AP)—The stock market again moved on a somewhat subdued note today although enough buying came in to boost a fair number of leaders fractions to around a point.

An advance in steels and rails helped to stiffen the list. In the final hour low priced motors had a spirited move. Many of the closing prices were a bit under the day's highs.

Transactions totaled 750,000 shares, the smallest in about four months, and in line with the volume-shrinkage of recent sessions.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite recorded a closing gain of .2 of a point at 61.2. Giving effect to a rise of nearly 5 points in Atlantic Coast line the carrier average rose .6 of a point.

Bonds steadied under selective buying.

Democrats, 38 Republicans and the American-Labor party member who joined to uphold a rules committee recommendation to seek an adjustment in conference.

The alignment was one of the strangest in recent House voting, some New Dealers and avowed labor spokesmen joining in the Republican move, and some of them standing with the Democratic House leadership.

Had the rules committee's recommendation been rejected or amended, Republicans planned to move for immediate consideration of the Senate bill and to offer as a substitute a similar proposal once rejected by the House.

Rep. Halleck (R-Ind) warned that a stalemate would result if the legislation went to conference and there might be no bill at all.

Rundstedt Reported Ousted From Post

WITH THE U. S. FIRST ARMY ON THE RHINE, March 14 (AP)—Rumors which have leaked through enemy lines to the First Army say that Field Marshal Karl Gerd von Rundstedt has been drinking to excess and as a result Field Marshal Walther von Model now is in supreme command of German forces on the western front.

There have been reports for some time that von Rundstedt was addicted to alcohol and that the failure of his December offensive in Belgium did not help his spirits.

Ex-Salesman Here Killed In Action

Second Lieutenant Hub Hyatt, former Lubbock salesman, and son of Mrs. W. L. Hyatt of Spur, was killed in action March 4 in the European area, according to information received Wednesday night by Lubbock relatives and friends.

Lt. Hyatt had received a battlefield promotion from technical sergeant Feb. 1. He also had been awarded the Purple Heart for wounds incurred Jan. 18 while in action in Belgium.

The information was received here in the form of a telephone call from John Nugent of Vaughn, N. M., a former Lubbock resident, to Sam McMillan, 2306 Fifth. Nugent and McMillan are long-time friends of the officer.

Lt. Hyatt is survived by his wife, Fayette, Miss.; a son, Vance Carter Hyatt, about 10, Lubbock, by his former wife; a brother, Horace Hyatt, Spur; two sisters, Mrs. Hattie Harkey, Littlefield, Miss Willie Hyatt, Spur.

An aunt, Mrs. M. L. Caviness, lives at 2011 Twenty-seventh. Other Lubbock relatives are Mrs. Floyd Jackson, who lives with Mrs. Caviness, Mrs. H. V. Stanton, 2007 Twenty-eighth, Mrs. Ben V. Smith, 2120 Twenty-seventh and Corp. R. H. Caviness, stationed on Saipan, in the Pacific, all of whom are cousins.

Lt. Hyatt was employed several years ago by Wooten wholesale grocery company as a salesman. He left Lubbock to go into the retail grocery business in Abilene, where he volunteered for army service in the early days of the draft. He received a discharge after a year of training, worked for several months in Sudan for a dry goods store, and after Pearl Harbor was recalled into service.

Keltner Quits War Job To Join Tribe

LAFAYETTE, Ind., March 14. (AP)—Ken Keltner again has left a war plant job to play ball with the Cleveland Indians.

Although declining comment on his action the perennial third baseman for the American League All-Star team repeated his assertion of last year, when he said: "Baseball is my business. If the Army wants me, it will find me working at it."

Yesterday President Roosevelt said he favored baseball as long as it did not require perfectly healthy people who could be doing more useful work.

The infielder left a job in a Milwaukee war plant to report to training camp last year. He promptly was reclassified 1-A and was accepted for the Navy after passing his physical examination.

He was not called, however, and after several months had passed he was given a 2-A classification. Presumably this was changed to 2-B when he returned to his factory job at the close of last year's campaign.

With the exception of 35-year-old catcher-coach George Susce, Keltner is the first Indian not possessing a 4-F rating or discharge papers to arrive in camp.

Teams already entered include Phillips 66 of Barttlesville, Okla., the defending champion; Cessna Bobcats of Wichita, Cliftons of Los Angeles, San Diego Dons, Twentieth Century-Fox of Hollywood, Fort Warren of Cheyenne, Wyoming university, Pratt-Whitney of Kansas City, Denver Ambrose, Peoria, Ill., Caterpillar Tractors, Portland, Ore., Fee Music, Fort Lewis, Wash., San Francisco Athletic club, Colorado college Navy-Marine, Milwaukee Allen-Bradley, Lindahl foundry of Chicago, and the St. Louis Candles.

port on his measure, commented: "Well, at least Texas Tech is going to get some money for new buildings out of the deal in some way."

Smith declared that opponents of his constitutional amendment proposal on pro-rata sharing of all state colleges in the university permanent fund were surprised at the vote mustered on the motion to print the minority report.

"To Hold Bill As Axe"

"We're going to hold the bill as an axe over the university gang until the measure offered by Rep. R. L. Proffer of Denton is disposed of," Smith said. Proffer's bill would take the five-cent Confederate pension assessment in the state tax levy and turn it over to state schools for building programs.

A hearing of Proffer's bill is scheduled March 23.

Smith has been "promised" more than 100 votes on his amendment measure should the bill come to the House floor for a vote, and declared today that his proposal is gaining in favor despite the university lobby.

Smith, however, said he believed passage of Proffer's bill had a better chance and that he was not going to press for action on the constitutional amendment proposal until Proffer's bill had been acted on.

Senator McKellar Has Fainting Spell

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP)—Senator McKellar (D-Tenn) suffered a fainting spell today after a floor attack on the Tennessee Valley authority's revolving fund and the Senate recessed until tomorrow.

The sudden illness of the 76-year-old acting chairman of the appropriations committee delayed passage of the $3,150,000,000 independent offices appropriations bill.

He left the chamber and when he did not return, rumors spread that he had collapsed.

Inquiry disclosed that he became ill suddenly in an anteroom of the chamber. After brief rest and treatment, he regained his feet and told reporters he felt "much better."

All 18-20 Inductees Now Going To Army

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP)—For the next three months, all inductees between 18 and 20, inclusive, with a few exceptions, will be ear marked for the Army.

A joint statement by the Army and Navy said the arrangement was made because of needs of the Army for young infantry replacements.

During the three months period covered by the agreement, the Navy's calls upon selective service will be filled with men 21 to 38 years old, inclusive.

The only exceptions in the 18-20 bracket will be inductees who qualify and are assigned to special Navy programs such as radio technicians and combat air crewmen.

Execution Of Negro Soldier Is Delayed

SAN ANTONIO, March 14 (AP)—Fourth Army headquarters said today the War department had postponed indefinitely the execution of Fred Hurse, negro soldier who had been sentenced to die by hanging at Camp Bowie, Tex., Thursday.

At Dallas yesterday in a habeas corpus hearing brought by Hurse, Federal Judge W. H. Atwell held that he could not interfere with the execution, but suggested the Army postpone it pending the outcome of a similar case before the Supreme court.

Hurse was convicted of slaying Pvt. Eugene Pinckney at Camp Barkeley, March 22, 1944, in a shooting in which three other soldiers were wounded.

Handley, instructor at the Lubbock Senior High school vocational metal shop, said that training the youth of today to develop the ability of knowing how to operate the various machines found in industry is being accomplished by the Lubbock shop.

There are hundreds of wives of servicemen in Lubbock who drive cars that were registered in other states last year, H. B. Bryan, county tax assessor and collector said yesterday, and the only way the car can be registered in Texas is by obtaining a Texas certificate of ownership. Applications for this procedure must be signed by the legal owner of the vehicle or by his attorney. Wives of servicemen in camps outside of Lubbock and who do not have power of attorney will have to send the applications for Texas registration to the legal owner for notarized signature before the car can be registered. Final date for applying for license plates is April 1.

A building permit for construction of a one story brick and tile building to cost $9,000 was issued to Mrs. Roscoe Wilson by the city building inspector's office yesterday. The structure, which is to be at 419 Thirteenth, will house a feed store. W. G. McMillan is contractor.

Rix of Fort Worth, assistant manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and business manager of the organization's magazine, "West Texas Today," is spending several days here assisting directors of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and others in the area in their annual membership drives. Rix, whose wife accompanied him here, was a Lubbock resident for 20 years before taking the position with the West Texas organization.

the Saar river, where the Germans had withdrawn into Siegfried defenses on the north bank.

The 70th division, spearheading the new thrust, penetrated more than a mile beyond the French-German frontier and reached the Saar in the vicinity of Volkingen, six miles west of Saarbruecken.

Several Towns Seized

The towns of Schaffhausen, Clarenthal, Wehrden, Gieslautern and Schoeneck, all on or near the south bank of the Saar, were seized as the enemy's rearguard resistance was brushed aside.

By nightfall artillery and mortar fire was being exchanged across the river. The Third Army wiped out the last remnants of resistance north of the Moselle river, overrunning a flying bomb launching site, and kept up pressure south of the Moselle, where a new attack opened Tuesday.

Enemy opposition stiffened in this area, but the 94th division slugged eastward another half-mile from the vicinity of Holzerath and other Third Army troops reached points seven to nine miles southeast of Saarburg.

More than 5,000 Allied warplanes carried the air offensive through its 30th consecutive day, with the RAF highlighting the assault by dropping for the first time new 11-ton "town buster" bombs, the largest explosive package in the world.

Push East of Rhine

First Army doughboys pushed up to a mile through the hilly, wooded country that rises east of the Rhine as they strove tenaciously to knock the Nazis back out of artillery range of the two bridgeheads across the river in the Remagen area.

A week after the Remagen trestle was captured the enemy had yet mounted no full-scale counterblow at the bridgehead, but air reconnaissance late today disclosed a large concentration of German forces east of Cologne and north of the American holding.

The Remagen bridge, across which the bulk of men, tanks and guns have poured into the mounting bridgehead battle, was reported to be in better condition now than when it was seized, thanks to the fast and efficient repairs made by Army engineers under direct artillery fire.

Beyond Captured Honnef

Although new and tighter censorship restrictions were clamped on the bridgehead operation, it was permitted to be disclosed that Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' troops had driven beyond captured Honnef at the north end of the bridgehead and had reached the outskirts of Notscheid, four miles northeast of Remagen.

St. Catherinen, directly east of Remagen was cleared in a 1,000-yard advance, and other units pushed forward approximately a mile into the hills beyond Ginstergagn, east of Linz. The wide military highway built by Hitler was under bombardment both by American artillery and planes.

"The bridgehead operation now is in its expansion phase, and in this hilly region it necessarily is slow work," cautioned AP correspondent Don Whitehead in a front dispatch. "There is no reason at this stage to expect anything sensational in the way of gains."

Jap Invasion Jitters Viewed As Slightly Premature But Certain

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

Invasion jitters sweeping Japan home islands may be a bit premature. There is much to do on the other side of the world before full power can be concentrated against the Japanese end of the disintegrating Nazi-Nipponese Axis; but that would not necessarily preclude early Allied steps to secure footholds in continental Asia.

SIMPSON

That is exactly what Tokyo fears. It explains Japanese discarding of the "protection" mask used in 1941 to cover seizure of French Indo-China. On Tokyo orders, Japanese troops are moving to disarm or destroy all French and native forces. It is for defense against Anglo-American incursions from across the South China sea into French Indo-China that could cut off the whole southern end of the collapsing Japanese "Greater East Asia co-prosperity sphere" by land as well as sea.

It remains to be seen whether this is the purpose that underlies creation of the powerful British Pacific fleet, American occupation of Palawan islands in the west central Philippines, just over 600 miles from the eastern bulge of Indo-China and seizure of the Zamboanga peninsula of Mindanao dominating the Sulu sea gateway to the South China sea from the Pacific. Disclosure from Bombay that a French military mission has been with Allied authorities for months and is now attached to Lord Louis Mountbatten's southeast Asia command will do nothing to ease Nipponese apprehensions.

American naval task forces have recently operated close off the Indo-China coast. American air power has been steadily blasting at Japanese shipping in Indo-China and at the narrow gauge railroad that hugs the coast line all the way from Hanoi to Saigon, connecting central and eastern China and Burma and the Malay peninsula.

It seems obvious that General MacArthur's division of forces from the Luzon campaign to take Palawan and the Zamboanga peninsula is designed to establish fleet access to the South China sea through the Sulu sea gateway. Those two air bases also will put an end to Japanese use of the oil from wells in north Borneo.

That nearby fuel source could be of great value to the ships of the British Pacific fleet, mostly built for short range operations in European waters.

Tech Steer Tops His Class At Fort Worth

An Aberdeen-Angus steer exhibition by Texas Tech at the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock show at Fort Worth won the reserve championship of his class, according to a telegram from W. L. Stangel, head of the Tech department of animal husbandry. The winner was one of six steers exhibited.

The other steers won a second place, two fourth places, two sixth places, and a group of three won three third places. The steers will be sold by auction.

W. H. Rodgers, Tech farm superintendent, was in charge of Tech's exhibit, assisted by Luther Miers, beef cattle herdsman. They left with the steers a week ago.

Stangel for years had been superintendent of the Aberdeen-Angus division of the Fort Worth exposition and show.

His telegram was to Dean A. H. Leidigh of the Tech division of agriculture.
