Fire Destroys Port Aransas Grocery

Spilled grease was believed to be the cause of a fire that destroyed the interior of a Port Aransas grocery store and injured three persons Wednesday afternoon, December 17. Port Aransas Fire Chief Dennis Hendricks was taken to Lyman-Roberts after suffering burns on the neck and arms while trying to battle the blaze that broke out about 4:30 p.m. at the Island Food Store, 119 North Alister.

Hendricks was treated and released. Two other persons were treated at the scene of the fire for smoke inhalation.

Store owner Robert Turnbull — who was Christmas shopping in Corpus Christi when the blaze erupted — estimated damages at more than $500,000.

Some 25 to 30 firemen from Port Aransas, Aransas Pass, Ingleside and Flour Bluff were called to the scene of the fire. The Rockport Volunteer Fire Department was on standby but was not called to the scene.

Notable Notes

Cub Scouts To Carol

Instead of a regular December meeting the Cub Scout Pack 340 members will go Christmas caroling. The boys are asked to meet at the Rockport-Fulton Junior High School Cafeteria Tuesday, December 23 at 6:30 p.m. Refreshments will be served at the home of cubber David Koppenhaver, 1910 Percival Avenue. Parents are asked to pick up their son by 9 p.m.

Methodists Present Play

Highlights from Paddy Chayefsky's play "Gideon," will be shown at the First United Methodist Church Sunday, January 4, 1981 at 7 p.m. The play brings to life three chapters from the Book of Judges. As dramatized by the author of the Oscar-winning movie "Marty," and such stage hits as "The Tenth Man," the play "Gideon" prompted New York's critics to a new reading of the Bible.

Church School Program

The First United Methodist Church will feature a Church School Christmas Program at 7 p.m. December 21. The Fourth Sunday in the Advent morning worship service will be at 10:50 with the lighting of the Advent candle by the Luigi family. At 5:30 Christmas Eve, December 24, there will be communion and candle lighting service. The Renfro family will light the Christ Candle. On Sunday, December 28, there will be an open house at the parsonage, 1414 Shadeside from 3 to 5 p.m.

Abuse Identified

Dr. Curtis Kovac, local physician, will talk on what constitutes medical abuse when he addresses an elective adult class at 9:45 a.m. Sunday, December 21. The program will be at the First Presbyterian Church, at Live Oak and Laurel Streets. This is the fifth of seven studies on "Child-Wife-Husband Abuse." The public is invited.

City Hall To Close

Rockport's City Hall will be closed Wednesday, December 24, and Thursday, December 25 — Christmas Day — for the holidays. Business district garbage will be picked up as usual Wednesday. The Thursday residential garbage pickup will be postponed until Friday, December 26.

Ruff Times To Meet

The Ruff Times Club will meet at 8 p.m. Monday, December 22 in the First National Bank Town Hall with guest speaker Lee Johnson of Investment Rarities in charge of the program. He is from Minneapolis, Minnesota. The public is invited and there is no admission fee.

NEW PRESIDENT

Olive Holmes, left, receives the gavel from Edwina Stranahan as Olive assumes her new duties as president of the Aransas County Republican Women's organization. Olive was installed in a meeting of the organization Thursday morning, December 18, at the Sandollar Restaurant. She's also the City of Rockport's new assistant municipal judge and sat on the bench in Ohio for 13 years. (Pilot Photo by Pat Blair)

Olive (Mrs. Merrel) Holmes

Alternate City Judge Enjoys Involvement

By Pat Blair
Olive Holmes concedes she and her husband, Merrel, might get to the "sitting and rocking" stage of retirement sometime . . . But that's a long way off. At the moment "retirement" for Olive means being able to accept a position as alternate municipal judge for Rockport — she was officially sworn in on December 8 — and serve as president of the Aransas County Republican Women's Organization.

She was officially installed in that post this past Thursday, December 18, at the Sandollar Restaurant. And in between times, the former Ohio judge sews, knits, does embroidery — cooks . . . and goes sailing with Merrel in their boat, the "Petra."

She hasn't started inviting people to her Sunday night dinners yet, but that's just because she's been busy with other projects.

"We enjoy getting involved," Olive said during a recent interview at the Holmes' home in Key Allegro North. "We enjoy people."

They also enjoy the Rockport area — which they first saw back during World War II when Merrel was stationed at the air base in Laredo. (As Merrel tells it, he finished his service tour with "a Good Conduct Medal and two cactus clusters for border duty.")

Because the Holmeses are sailing enthusiasts, while Merrel was stationed in Laredo, they used to take advantage of his three-day passes to head for Corpus Christi and the water . . . Then after his discharge, they spent a lot of time traveling back and forth from home, in Ohio, to this area. A lot of that time was spent looking for possible places to locate on a permanent basis.

"We always knew we were coming back," Olive said. "We just didn't know when."

The opportunity came last year when she and Merrel — formerly an executive with Stegner Food Products Company in Cincinnati — both retired.

They sailed the "Petra" from Port Clinton, Ohio, on Lake Erie to Tilman's Island in Chesapeake. Leaving the boat there, they came on down to

That was in October. In April, they went back

Except they went on the rocks at Barnagat Inlet, and they went aground in North Carolina and in the Gulf of Mexico, they got lost.

"Coming over from Florida," Olive said, "our last known position was Seahorse Shoal. There were no boats, no markers. He (Merrel) kept saying, 'I know we'll find land if we go north,' and I kept saying, 'I know, Dear, but when? We finally did find land about 3:30 the next afternoon.'"

But she said that was CRUMP'S GRASS ROOTS COMMENT

The PPI program costing $60 million is another example of Federal regulations buried in the Congressional Record; out of sight of the taxpayer.

If the new administration is to get a handle on Federal spending it must take a close look at regulations that mandate millions of tax dollars that come as a surprise to Congressmen.

Olive started her career in the judiciary back in 1957 when she helped Judge Benjamin Schwartz of the Hamilton County (Ohio) Juvenile Court set up a Referee System there. She was appointed a referee, then from 1963 to 1965 served as Chief Referee until the pressures of her law practice forced her to give up the extra responsibility.

In 1967 she was reappointed Chief Referee, serving the Court until August 1, 1967, when Ohio Governor Rhodes appointed her to fill a vacancy on the Municipal Bench — and incidentally made her the state's first woman judge wearing a cowboy hat. His eyes were clear and twinkling. The tanned, weathered and terribly handsome face lit up with a warm smile as he stood and stuck out his hand. As he said "Howdy, Johnnie," I nearly lost my cool.

Instead I just grabbed his hand and some something terribly sophisticated like "and howdy to you too, sir". He kept smiling — and it wasn't fake — and sat back down at the table do with never growing up — the fact that, at heart, I'm still seven years old. Anyway, I like to see what the newer versions are of my old favorites...

Some of them are enough to make me wish I was a kid again!

I mean... I can remember a time when it was a big thing to get a doll for Christmas that could drink and wet. And when you got a doll for Christmas that walked — oh, wow!

Today's dolls not only drink, they chew their "food" — and when they wet, they get diaper rash. Just like a real baby.

Personally, I think some of this has gone too far. The doll that chews her dinner is kind of cute, but diaper rash ?????? About the only benefit I can see in that one is, it shows the "little mommies" that life with a baby isn't all gurgles and coos.

There are at least a couple of dolls on the market that cry real tears. Those don't exactly excite me either, but there is a certain novelty, I suppose...

Speaking of novelty, there's this toy called "My Puppy Puddles" — because it does. That's all it does — drinks water and puddles. I can't really see much fun in that one either. After you've seen him "do his thing" for the 101st time, what's left?

A real, live puppy can make just as many puddles and its lots more fun between trips to the water bowl.

I guess I get my biggest kicks from the electronic games. They didn't have things like that when I was a kid. (I used to swear I would never use those words: "When I was a kid.") They make it sound like I spent my childhood back in the dark ages.)

But to the games; They provide the kind of good, clean — sometimes, frustrating — fun that expands your mind, challenges you.

You can get electronic baseball, football, "space games" (where you zap the alien invaders before they zap you — those are my favorites), games that pit you against a computer...

It's a long way from "Monopoly" and "Scrabble" — although those are on the market too — along with a host of new games including at least a couple based on the TV show, "Dallas."

I rather suspect, though, that the "Dallas" games are for a more mature group. In fact, there are whole lines of games aimed at the adult audience — and not necessarily because they carry a PG rating.

Quite a few of the games, especially some of them that are science-fiction oriented, are a little complicated for anyone who doesn't have his (or her) Ph. D. yet.

I bought one of those once. It's called "Space Battle" or something like that. After my fourth reading of the directions, I still don't understand how to play it.

Oh well... back to my favorite, good old understandable Monopoly...

Oh — in the meantime — MERRY CHRISTMAS!

Live Oak Peninsula Philosopher

Editor's note: The Live Oak Peninsula Philosopher on his grassburr ranch takes a look at the world, then looks away.

I have never been in favor of censorship unless I was in charge of it, but a big outfit has sent me a new map of the world and it ought to be against the law.

Since a lot of the international news in a morning paper consists of a repeat of news you saw on television the evening before and a lot of the TV evening international news consists of a repeat of the news you read that morning, the pictures consisting generally of two leaders with unpronounceable names from countries you've vaguely heard of kissing each other on both sides of the face, I decided to look that map over.

It was a mistake.

As best I can tell, there are over 200 countries shown on it. This is why spreading copies of it around the nation ought to be banned.

Nobody can worry about that many countries at one time. In fact, if you devoted only 15 minutes of worry per country it'd take you 3,000 minutes or 50 hours to cover the lot and by the time you got through most of them you would have developed new crises and you'd have to start all over again.

Moreover, that leaves over a thousand small islands to make it on their own, unworried about. Since the islands' total acreage is a minority of the earth's surface, this makes it unconstitutional.

Furthermore, while we're worrying about other countries they're bound to be worrying about us, and you multiply this by 200 countries each worrying about each other and you wind up with the most worresome planet in the universe. No wonder Saturn remains frigid, uninhabited and worry-free.

People say television, jet planes and instant communication have made man's world smaller. They have also made his headache bigger.

I have thrown that map away. If you can send me a map of Aransas County, maybe I can handle that.

Yours faithfully,

J.A.

County Agent News

By Mike Rothrock

By Mike Rothrock
County Extension Agent, San Patricio-Aransas Cos.

It's the time of year when the nation's cattlemen need to put up their guard against a pest that annually plunders their pocketbooks of $100 million.

Lice are the culprits, and they begin to reproduce rapidly with the onset of cool weather. They reach peak population in late winter and early spring.

Uncontrolled, lice can soon infest a whole herd, because with cool weather, cattle tend to bunch up and the pests can easily move from one animal to another. Heavy coats of animals during cold weather also afford protection for the parasites and allow increased reproduction.

Cost to the cattlemen — both in control efforts and dramatic production losses — increase as lice populations build.

There are two types of lice — bloodsucking and biting — and both infest cattle. Sucking lice pierce the animal's skin and suck blood while biting lice feed on particles of hair, scale, scab and skin discharges.

Lice infestations irritate animals, causing itching, scratching and rubbing on fences or anything else available. This produces denuded areas, bruises and lacerations on the affected animal.

Heavily infested animals will have an unthrifty appearance and will suffer weight reduction, decreased milk production, anemia or even death.

Lice infested animals may also be more subject to respiratory diseases such as pneumonia. Heavy lice infestations often stunt calves. Undernourished cattle of any age usually have the heaviest infestation.

Some cattle appear to be physiologically more susceptible to lice than others and thus have higher pest populations. Such animals are called "chronics" or "carriers" and are usually instrumental in reinfesting the herd annually in spite of repeated insecticide treatments. Culling "carrier" animals is a helpful management practice in reducing lice problems.

Insecticide control of lice is not difficult to achieve but there are some problems. Most insecticides don't kill eggs; therefore, retreatment is required in two to three weeks to prevent another buildup.

However, if the initial treatment comes late enough in the season, there may not be enough time for lice to build to economic levels again before warm spring weather.

Spraying and dipping infested animals with proper insecticides is an effective means of controlling lice. However, control measures are usually required when winter conditions are most harsh — a time when cold stress is a good possibility and respiratory diseases prevalent. Some of this problem can be prevented by treating animals on a day when they can be dry before sundown.

Pour-on and spot-on grubicides labeled for lice are effective and considerably reduce the problem of cold stress associated with dips and sprays. However, the possibility of a host-parasite reaction is always a threat if the material is applied after the cut-off date for grub control.

Systemic grubicides labeled for lice control usually recommend a lower rate than that to control grubs, which would help reduce the host-parasite reaction.

Use of nonsystemic dust applied by hand or dust bags would eliminate the possibility of host-parasite reaction. Because of a lack of penetration of heavy hair coats, dusts do not provide as effective lice control as dips and sprays.

However, when used in a preventative program, properly placed and maintained dust bags offer effective control of lice. Bags should be hung in areas that cattle frequently use or in such a manner that lice are forced to use them. One dust bag station should serve about 30 head.

The spot-on formulation of chlorpyrifos is a new product that has been effective against lice. The product kills all stages of lice — eggs, nymphs and adults. One application is adequate for season-long control if the entire herd is treated and no untreated animals are later introduced into the herd.

Only a small amount of chlorpyrifos is required, thus eliminating cold stress from soaking animals with sprays and dips. The insecticide is not a grubicide, so it can be used anytime without fear of a host-parasite reaction. However, this product is not labeled for dairy animals.

I caution that whichever lice control program is used, the cattlemen should be certain to read label directions and pay particular attention to warnings, restrictions and pre-slaughter intervals.

Additional information on control of lice and other external parasites of cattle is available in the publication, "Suggestions for Controlling External Parasites of Livestock and Poultry," at the county extension office in Sinton.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic level, race, color, sex, religion, or national origin.

THE GOFORTH'S

By Jim Campbell[s]

"Let's open our worship on this Christmas Sunday with hymn No. 1 — 'Holly, Holly, Holly'."

The Shepherd's Staff

By Rev. Charles Fake
Pastor, First Baptist Church

"The day before Christmas was hectic. Father was worried with bundles and burdens. Mother's nerves reached the breaking point more than once. The little girl seemed to be in the way wherever she went. Finally she was hustled up to bed. As she knelt to pray, the feverish excitement so mixed her up that she said, 'Forgive us our Christmases, as we forgive those who Christmases against us.'"

The above illustration, taken from a popular Minister's Manual, shows how we can miss the meaning of this beautiful season.

Even if we don't get all tense over the hectic pace of the season, we can still miss the meaning if we don't understand the purpose of Jesus' coming to the world. Why did he come? Why was "the Word made flesh?"

The answer lies in John 3:16, which says "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten son, that whosoever believeth on him might not perish, but have everlasting life."

What can you give in return for such a gift? You can give yourself. Make this a real Christmas. Give yourself to Jesus Christ. In faith receive him as personal Saviour. Surrender to him as Lord and Master of your life. "If thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus Christ, and believe in thy heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved;" not for a day, but forever. Then you will really mean it when you sing, "Joy to the world, the Lord has come!"

Accent On Health

Stockings should be hung by the chimney with care, in the hope that Saint Nick will soon be there — and with some thought to Christmas safety.

"Christmas trees, lights, candles, mantel trimmings, your fireplace and even excess wrapping paper can be a source for holiday accidents," according to Harold Ray, Director of the Product Safety Division of the Texas Department of Health.

In selecting a natural tree, Ray suggests getting one with a good green color. The needles of a fresh tree should be hard to pull from the branches, and they shouldn't break when bent. "Bounce the tree hard against the ground and you won't get a shower of needles if the tree is fresh," he says.

Christmas trees should be placed in a base which holds water, and this should be checked regularly. Before mounting the tree, cut about two inches off the trunk to allow it to better absorb the water.

Trees should be kept away from stoves, fireplaces and radiators which could cause them to dry out quickly and perhaps catch fire.

In selecting lights, check for the Underwriters' Laboratories "UL" label. On strings of lights, make certain all the connections are tight and that there are no frayed or bare wires. These could cause short circuits and perhaps a fire. Outdoor lights should be waterproof. They are especially made for the out of doors.

Lighted candles should never be used on a Christmas tree or in an arrangement bringing them close to a wreath, ribbons or other materials that can easily catch fire. "Candles shouldn't be used on surfaces that are within the reach of small children, say, by a slight tug on the tablecloth, warns Ray.

When away from home, or when you go to bed, turn off all the Christmas lights. And, never use ordinary Christmas lights on a metal tree, because they increase the danger of a shock.

If you have little children who pop things in their mouths, avoid trimming the tree with small or shiny ornaments like tinsel, icicles or tiny lights that may look good enough to eat.

"Tinsel is now supposed to be free of lead, but old stock may still be available in some stores," Ray said. "Buy only boxes labeled non-toxic."

When disposing of their trees, many people burn the trimmings from their branches in the fireplace. If burned a piece at a time, this shouldn't cause any problem. But piling up a big mound of branches could cause popping and crackling and a large number of sparks.

So be careful, and always use a screen before the fireplace," Ray said. "Don't hang decorations of tinsel, Christmas cards or tree branches from the mantel where they could become ignited."

Always make sure the damper is open before lighting a fire and have the flue checked periodically to be sure it's free of accumulations of tar. Adequate ventilation is important to prevent the build-up of carbon monoxide from home fires.

"And once those presents under the tree are opened, gather up all the wrappings from the tree and fireplace area and remove them from the home," Ray says.

Many colored gift wrapping papers contain large amounts of lead and sometimes chromium, copper and zinc that can be harmful to children who chew or swallow them. These papers can also cause toxic fumes if burned in the fireplace.

Some traditional Christmas plants shouldn't be kept in homes with very small children.

Mistletoe, holly berries, Jerusalem cherry, amaryllis and poinsettia can cause severe gastrointestinal illness, and even death, if ingested.

"Creativity is at its finest at Christmas time as homes are made beautiful both within and without," says Ray. "But planning for safety should also be part of the holiday season."

For more information, contact Harold Ray, Director of the Product Safety Division, Texas Department of Health, Austin, Texas 78756.

Nursing Home News

Everyone at the nursing home is beginning to get into the holiday mood.

Monday morning Delma Rodgers was here early to make some special calls on several residents. That afternoon, Mrs. Roger Hill brought her "Good News Club" out to sing Christmas carols and visit with our people. Mr. Davis brought us some National Geographic magazines Tuesday morning.

The mending ladies from the First Presbyterian Church of Rockport were here to sew and mend any clothing so needed.

Tuesday afternoon, "The Caring Ones" were on hand to play bingo with the residents.

Tuesday night the Cub Scouts of Portland, along with their den and pack leaders and some family members, came to entertain our people. They had their regular meeting with us and the Webelos put on a puppet show for us. They then went in pairs and gave out 100 Christmas stockings full of fruit.

Wednesday morning Delma Rodgers was here to do her one-to-one visiting, and Wednesday afternoon

Beverly Karniski brought her Campfire Girls from Ingleside to sing Christmas Carols and hand out gifts which they had made for the residents.

Thursday afternoon, Mary Portenier was here to visit and help with bingo. That same afternoon the Aransas Pass Chapter of Rebekahs #307 was out for their monthly game of bingo to entertain the residents.

The Hibiscus Garden Club of Aransas Pass gave us a beautiful Christmas arrangement which was brought out by Mrs. Guy Richardson for everyone to enjoy.

Friday morning Frankie and Sarah were here to lead our painting class and Friday evening members of Faith Lutheran Church of Aransas Pass came and sang carols to the residents.

Lucille Erwin of Erwin's Flowers gave us a pot of poinsettias which we can all enjoy.

Saturday morning Father James Hamilton was here to give Holy Communion to our Catholic residents. Saturday evening the Order of the Rainbows and their sponsors were here to decorate all our resident's doors and to sing Christmas songs for us.

Saturday morning members of the Work Basket Club were here to decorate our big Christmas tree which is located in the sitting room of the main entrance of our home. Mr. Charles Harvey built the stand for our tree and Jean Cross picked it out. Junior Flores and Rene and all the other staff members helped get the building decorated.

Sunday morning worship was led by Rev. Al Bankert and Sunday afternoon members and friends of the Ingleside Church of Christ were here for their group singing program and visiting.

The ladies of Alpha Delta Mu of the Beta Sigma Phi Sorority of Portland came and gave out stuffed Christmas trees to all the shut-ins. The ladies had made 22 of the unusual trees.

Also on Sunday afternoon, the Peace Lutheran Church of Rockport members and their pastor came to entertain our residents. They sang Christmas carols while one of the ladies narrated the beautiful story of the birth of Jesus. We had a cake with a large candle on it and as it was lit everyone sang "Happy Birthday to Jesus." The group brought cookies, fruit and balloons with a card attached to the string which read "Christ Was Born In Bethlehem".

On hand to take the residents to and from the programs were David Neill, a Boy Scout who was earning his service award.

Our week was filled otherwise with our reality orientation and exercise classes each morning

Healthful Hints

Most Often-Asked Questions On Nutrition

By Jean Glowka

Q. My little girl had pinworms or something last month, and the doctor gave her some medicine. She finished the medicine, but it made her very nauseous.

A. Isn't there a simple "home" remedy for treating and/or preventing intestinal worms in a child?

A. Garlic has been used for this purpose for centuries. Both fresh and garlic oil capsules are effective.

Common table salt

(sodium chloride) is a time-proven remedy for pinworms. Often children who develop worms are deficient in salt. A heavily salted diet for a week or so has been known to effectively remove pinworms.

Other remedies include papaya seeds, chaparral, betelnut, pinkroot, wormseed, male fern and pumpkin seeds.

Q. I thought vitamin C was good for colds. I recently had a cold that was awful and lasted for weeks. I took vitamin C, but it didn't help. Why?

A. Maybe you didn't take enough vitamin C, and maybe you didn't start it soon enough.

Many nutritionists and nutrition-oriented doctors recommend taking as much as 1,000 mgs. of C at the ONSET (that means the very first "sniffle" or sign of a scratchy throat, etc.) of a cold or any other infection, repeating the same amount EVERY HOUR for one to three days.

While C may not CURE a cold that has already started, it will probably make the symptoms lighter and shorten the duration. (Vitamin C should ideally be used with an eye to preventing, not curing colds.)

Also, you were being what Adelle Davis calls "part-smart". During a cold or any other infection, one should see that ALL nutrients (vitamins, minerals, etc.) are supplied in very generous amounts. For colds, specifically, lots of vitamin A, and B vitamins (especially B-6), vitamin E, the bioflavonoids and calcium and particularly helpful.

Until next week, folks, stay happy and healthy! It's a beautiful world!

Study of premature birth wins grant

The leading U.S. cause of the death of newborn infants is premature birth. The National Institute of Child Health and Development recently granted more than $1.8 million to scientists at the University of California, San Francisco, to learn the causes of premature birth, develop better approaches to its prevention and improve methods of delivering "preemies."

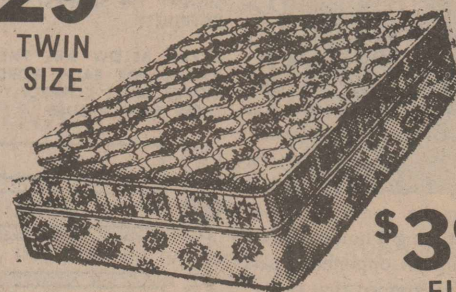

School aid helped

A program in rural Guatemala stressing improved teacher training and better school equipment was financed by the U.S. Agency for International Development. Because of this, AID says, the dropout rate in participating rural schools there has been cut by more than 30 percent.

Football coach Glenn "Pop" Warner's favorite player was Jim Thorpe because the big Indian had such a great love for the game. One day, Warner was scolding Thorpe for failing to break up an opponent's pass. "You could have stopped that easily," he shouted. "Why didn't you?" "I didn't have the heart," Thorpe replied. "It looked so pretty."

Minister Meets Spiritual Needs Of Winter Texans At 1st Baptist

By Johnnie Littleton

When a person locks the house, calls utility companies and says goodbye to friends and neighbors before heading South each year they leave secure in the knowledge they will find a place that will be home for at least five months of the year.

As evidenced by the recent influx of winter visitors from almost every state north and northwest of Texas, many thousands of people are seeking a place with good health care, recreation, good friends — and to many, the fulfillment of spiritual needs.

Members of the Baptist Church in Rockport need not worry. The First Baptist Church will hold three services each Sunday morning, beginning January 18, and one of them is devoted exclusively to the visitors.

They even have their own pastor this year — Rev. Loyd M. Chapman — who has been added to the staff with the title Associate for Winter Ministries.

Rev. Chapman has been working two days per week since November, but for the next five months he will preach at a morning service, be in charge of the Watchcare Membership, be in the church office two days a week and always be ready and willing to visit and help anyone who needs his services.

The Watchcare Membership is designed for those who want to retain their own church affiliation, but who would like to join the church here in witness and worship while they are in the community. The members will receive all church publications and the services of Rev. Chapman.

Members have already signed up from California, Indiana, Minnesota, Texas, Oklahoma, Missouri, Arkansas, Kansas and Iowa.

Rev. Chapman has conducted a similar program for the past two years and is looking to even greater enthusiasm this year.

He retired from active pastorate three years ago and is now a local resident. His last church as active pastor was in Marlin where he served 26 years.

He is a graduate of Baylor University and has a Master of Theology Degree from the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville, Kentucky.

Since retirement, he has been an Interim Pastor and supplied at many churches in the area and has been active as a Bible teacher.

Rev. Fake is encouraged by the welcome addition to the church staff. He said the three services held each Sunday morning will be 55 minutes in length to accommodate the large audiences and keep everything running smoothly.

His filing system is rather unique. Each Sunday after services, he gathers the cards and sorts them into groups according to the guest's address. By this he knows where they live and their telephone number should he need to contact them.

Church attendance peaks the last Sunday in January when about two-thirds of the audience is made up of Rockport's winter guests. According to Rev. Chapman they can't really be called Winter Texans anymore because so many of them are from north and west Texas.

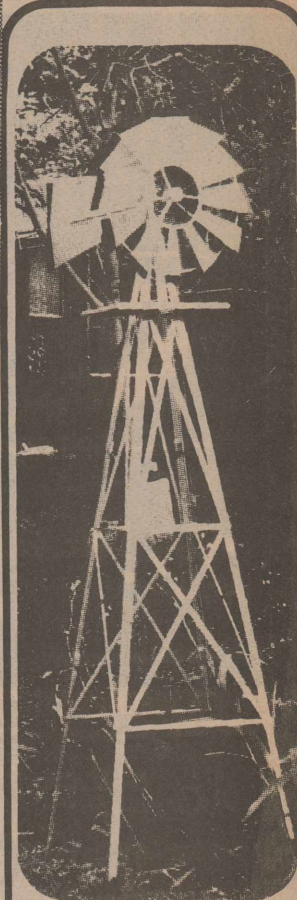

It's a good feeling to know that when you flee the snow and ice, you come to the warmth and love of a church and pastors for several months of the year.

MINSTERING TO VISITORS

Rev. Loyd M. Chapman, left, and Rev. Charles Fake, minister of the First Baptist Church of Rockport, go over a map marked to show from which states Winter Visitors have arrived to worship with them each Sunday. Rev. Chapman, a retired minister, has worked with the church as associate minister in the past, but this year he has been added to the staff for five months. He will hold the morning worship services for the Winter Visitors and will be on hand for visiting and otherwise looking over a flock of nearly 350 Baptist Church members who make Rockport their home each winter.

Ladies Fall To Bluff 48-29

Too much pressure paved the way to defeat as the Lady Pirates of Rockport-Fulton fell to the Flour Bluff team, 48-29, in Rockport Tuesday, December 16.

Scoring way below their team average, the Pirates could not get the high points they needed to stay with a powerful team like the Bluff.

For the first period, the game was still a game, although the Pirates trailed by five points at the half, 14-9. But — as will sometimes happen — the Pirates hit blizzard conditions as they got so cold no one could score in the second period except Kelli Ondrej on a pair of free throws.

Because of the two point quarter, the Bluff opened up a big lead, 24-11.

The final half was played fairly even, but the Ladies could not catch up. Terri Moore hit for 10 points, a mark well below her average. Kim Foltik managed only eight points, while Ondrej collected nine.

In a shocker, the Lady Pirate JV surprised the Flour Bluff JV 40-38. Diana Herman's 16 points and Michelle Willis's 10 points paced the scoring for the JV.

The Lady Pirates were behind for the entire game until the middle of the fourth period when they staged a great comeback, taking advantage of poor shooting by the Bluff.

Falling a little short, the Lady Pirate Freshmen dropped a close game to Flour Bluff 35-32, despite a rally in the final stanza of the game. The Pirates were in the game until they managed to put only 2 points on the board in the third period.

That famine allowed the Bluff to build up a lead.

Mona Cowen was the big point getter for the Pirates with 16, and Laurie Coggins pitched in 10 points.

THAT'S A BIG TREE

That seems to be the opinion of Jarod Camehl, 4, son of Ernest and Veronica Camehl of Rockport as he admires the floor-to-ceiling Christmas Tree at First National Bank. Decorations on the tree include a "flock" of birds that go back to the bank's first Christmas in its present building, back in 1974. At that time the tree was professionally decorated and featured birds, seashells and plaid bows. The other decorations were discarded, but employees kept the birds. The 20-foot-plus tree was decorated this year by bank employees and was a main attraction during First National's Open House Friday, December 19.

Eyes And Answers

SAVING LIVES

Dear Readers: My last column on hunting was a plea for a state law requiring vision testing before a hunting license is issued, as in the case of a driver's license. This column is intended to help save lives in the hunting season ahead by making a few suggestions about vision. Hunting accidents can be deadly.

Don't go hunting this season without being sure about your vision—have it examined. Your vision can change without your knowing it: a hunter with blurred vision is dangerous to himself and to others.

The clearest available distant vision is best. If the doctor feels you can have even a little better distant vision, allow him to prescribe the lenses.

Good side vision is needed. Ask your doctor to check yours for any restriction.

Remember: Don't pull that trigger until you are sure that the animal in your sights is not a human being.

the vice-president elect of the Texas Association of Realtors Region 7.

Tickets for the banquet were provided by Sail Printing, an affiliate member of the Rockport Board of Realtors.

Drinks were provided by the following affiliate members: Live Oak State Bank, First National Bank, United Savings, Olympic Savings, Glass, Sorenson & McDavid, Whitney Vaky Insurance Company, Stewart Title Company and Rockport Abstract & Title Company.

Langdon Wins Finale

The weekly card party was held at the Woman's Club of Aransas County Monday with Jo Cox, Faye Stensgaard, Billie Rhodes, Eva Spuer and Sue Stevens as hostesses.

The table was covered with red net decorated with Christmas ornaments. It held a lighted carousel and two arrangements with candleabra and lighted red candles.

Mary Scrivner served tea and Hazel Hubbard served coffee to the guests.

Mabel Commo took first and Ruth Degand won second in bridge. First place in canasta went to Sue Bowden and second place to Mabel Price.

Winner of the finale was Mary Langdon.

a smile is a good approach. This lets the person in the chair know you care and assistance is available if he wants it.

If you give assistance, it is a good idea to know how. Trying to push a chair up a curb can throw out the occupant. Turning the chair backward and pulling is a safer maneuver.

Finnegan, who has been in a wheelchair for four years, is now working toward a master's degree in industrial design. He is researching the wheelchair itself, hoping to design a chair that would be improved aesthetically and functionally.

His approach is that it would be better to improve the wheelchair in relationship to environmental rather than changing the environment to better accommodate the wheelchair.

Finnegan is one of 15 young adults in wheelchairs who recently joined together in a coalition in the Coastal Bend called HOPE—Handicapped on Progressing Equality.

They are working together in every way that they can to make themselves more independent. They will concentrate first on approaching architects and builders with the idea of building one or more clusters of apartment units in the region that would provide facilities which would enable them to live on their own.

Billie Wiggins, who is working toward her master's degree in business, with emphasis on public administration, is another member of the coalition.

She previously lived in an apartment complex in Houston which had six or eight units with ramps and kitchen and bathrooms with accessible facilities. A van operated out of the unit.

Both Finnegan and Wiggins drive their own cars and can move from wheelchair to car and back without help, but there are others who cannot.

A cluster arrangement allows provision for transportation and arrangement for an attendant on duty at all times to provide whatever assistance the individual needs.

Finnegan says existing buildings can be remodeled to serve the purposes as well as pre-construction planning in apartment complexes. Such an arrangement would give young people who are now institutionalized an opportunity to live on their own.

In other instances, it would free parents or other members of families whose homes must now be in some respects institutions.

The idea for the coalition grew out of a seminar held last spring called "Alternatives to Institutionalization."

Caroline Lewandowsky is one of several occupational therapists who participated in that seminar. She can be reached at Ada Wilson Hospital in Corpus Christi, Telephone 853-9977, by anyone who wants to be a part of the coalition, who is in a wheelchair or who is interested in promoting accessibility for those who are.

Finnegan plays wheelchair football, jumps curbs and he and Wiggins are both able to do a remarkable number of things. They are particularly concerned about the young people, 18 or 20 years old, who do not have this strength and are confined to nursing homes with no life and no future.

Even the most agile of the young people in wheelchairs are deprived of many things we take for granted.

There are few theatres where they can attend movies because the only place they could sit is on inclines in the aisles and that is against fire codes.

Many restaurants and places of recreation are tiered, with many steps.

Preparations for employment must be thoughtful. There are many careers wide open, in such fields as data processing. There are some quite special careers, such as teaching special education classes.

There are several small things we can do with little cost and effort that will add to convenience. One is to leave handicapped parking spots clear for those who are handicapped.

Many people who are not, park in these spots because they are close and convenient, then the handicapped are without.

Another is to see that there are clearly visible signs and markings, so that no one will fail to realize that a spot is reserved for the handicapped.

$300
FOR KIDS

Stewart-Wendell V.F.W. Post #3904 represented by Robert Tillison and Peter Ramirez, junior vice-commander, on the left, present Frances Iles and Manuel Rocha with a check for $300 to put the Toys for Kids Campaign on top of their goal for the purchase of toys for Christmas. Rocha is the chairman of the Rockport Lions Club Toys for Kids Campaign and Mrs. Iles is his assistant—or as he says—Mrs. Claus, because of the time she puts in on the project all year. The toys bought and collected during the year were distributed Friday evening.

SPREADING CHRISTMAS CHEER

Handing out checks with both hands is Mary B. Burke, center, representing Castaways. Tony Harden, right, accepts a check in the amount of $250 for the Salvation Army and Rev. Walter D. Clark, Jr. accepts a check in the same amount for American Cancer Society Research. The money represents the last of $5,500 given by Castaways to charitable organizations for 1980. Many destitute families have been clothed or helped in various ways through the Castaway Thrift Shop. Visitors are welcome at all time to see how the shop operates with all volunteer help and all merchandise donated.

Pet Talks

By Dr. Hap Lutz
Dr. Lutz is a graduate of Baltimore City College and Texas A&M University. He specializes in small and exotic animal practice. He was an instructor of small animal diseases and surgery in the Veterinary School at Texas A&M and was in private practice in Waco for 25 years.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Dear Dr. Lutz,
Why is it that my dog, Pedro, never gets sick when he rides in the car near home? Yet whenever I take him on a long trip he gets diarrhea?

He's no more excited on the long trip than on a short one. On a trip, I always take along the same food I feed him at home. Can you help me.—J.P.

Dear J.P.,
It could be a change of drinking water. The next long trip you take with Pedro, take one or more gallons of water from home.

If this isn't the solution, check with your veterinarian, preferably when Pedro's bowels are still upset.

Dear Dr. Lutz,
Which diseases are considered to be inherited from dog to dog?—Gloria

Dear Gloria,
Some of the more familiar ones are hemophilia, hip dysplasia, cleft palate and progressive retinal atrophy.

Some diseases such as goiter, deafness, cataracts, and epilepsy occur only incidentally and sporadically in some breeds, but are definitely inheritable in others.

If you have any questions about the health and care of your pet, mail your questions to the Rockport Pilot.

Carter Named To Ford Society

Nick Carter, used car sales manager for Commercial Motor Company in Aransas Pass has been named to membership in the Ford Society of Professional Counselors for 1980.

His appointment as a member in the prestigious society was announced last month by the Ford Division of the Ford Motor Company.

Membership in the Ford Sales Society is attained only by Ford salespersons who display "outstanding sales achievement during the calendar year," according to the FSS news release.

Carter has been a professional salesperson for 17 years, five of them at Commercial Motors in the past. He has been with Commercial Motors since 1979.

He resides at 1500 Matlock in Aransas Pass and also has a San Antonio home where his wife, Maybelle lives. She will join him here for the Christmas holiday.

Iodine is a byproduct of Chile's nitrate mining. In 1979 Chile had a record production of 68,700 tons of sodium sulfate, up 56.8 percent over 1978.

Pirates Run Past Refugio

Rockport-Fulton ran its record to 8-4 with a 71-64 win over Refugio in Bobcat Country on Tuesday night.

Like a good neighbor, State Farm is there.

December 16.

Using the 32-point performance by Donnie Frels, the Pirates outlasted the Bobcats in the last tune-up before district play opens. Frels got the hot hand and poured in the points, especially in the second quarter when he dumped in 13 markers.

The Pirates opened up a big lead in the first half, only to see the Bobcats narrow the margin to within two points at halftime 40-38.

After an even third period, the Pirates tallied 21 points in the final eight minutes and won the game pulling away. Joining Frels in double figures were Pee Wee Solis with 11 and Dennis Hull with 10 points.

Rockport's JV was not as fortunate as the Varsity. Refugio handled the JV team with ease in a 63-48 win for the Bobcats.

Rockport scored well in the early going behind the 13 points scored by big Marty Davenport, and the team trailed by only four at the half, 33-29. The Bobcats caught fire in the last period and put the game away.

After having played the Bobcat Freshmen to a two point loss at the buzzer, the Pirate Freshmen fell on hard times in Refugio as the Bobcats clawed the Pirates 57-28 in a runaway.

Dwayne Walls was the only Pirate to hit double figures, hitting 14 points in the second half.

Marine Of Year

"Marine of the Year" at the naval station in Rota, Spain is Sgt. Melinda Hearn a 1977 graduate of Rockport-Fulton High School. The honor was bestowed at the annual Marine Corps Birthday Ball and is one of several such honors given to the three year Marine veteran. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jowell Hearn of Rockport and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith of Holiday Beach. Sgt. Hearn, who uses her maiden name for military purposes, returned to Rockport in June of last year and was married to Mitchell W. Schaefer who is also a sergeant in the Marine Corps. They will both report soon to Okinawa for a 13 month tour of duty.

MOVING IN

Firemen spray water into the Island Food Store as they prepare to move inside the structure which caught fire about 4:30 p.m. Wednesday, December 17. Hot grease from a deep fat fryer was believed to be the cause of the blaze that injured three persons and resulted in an estimated $500,000-plus in damages to the Port Aransas grocery store. Fulton

Olive started her career in the judiciary back in 1957 when she helped Judge Benjamin Schwartz of the Hamilton County (Ohio) Juvenile Court set up a Referee System there. She was appointed a referee, then from 1963 to 1965 served as Chief Referee until the pressures of her law practice forced her to give up the extra responsibility.

In 1967 she was reappointed Chief Referee, serving the Court until August 1, 1967, when Ohio Governor Rhodes appointed her to fill a vacancy on the Municipal Bench — and incidentally made her the state's first woman judge.

In November, 1967, she ran for office — and won — and in January, was appointed to fill a vacancy in a higher court. She ran for that office too, next election — and won. In all, she sat on the bench in Ohio for 13 years, not counting the years she served as referee.

"I was the only office holder who actually returned money to the county every year," she recalls. She said the county officials used to budget extra money to her department — because they knew at the end of the year, it would still be there, unused.

"When New York City was having its financial problems," Merrel commented, "a Cincinnati disk jockey suggested that Ohio loan Judge Holmes to the city to straighten them out!"

As to how she got her position in Rockport, she says, "Mayor (Walter S.) Falk, called me one day and said he understood I'd been a judge in Ohio. He asked if I'd be interested in a judge's position here. I was delighted to be asked!" she added.

Judge, wife, mother, grandmother makes her grandchild's Halloween costume and sews up a wardrobe for the child's dolls at Christmas, politically-active hostess... it's a busy life for Olive Holmes.

She wouldn't have it any other way.

Police Report

Billy Ray Beaver, 20, of Dallas was arrested on a warrant from the Kerrville Police Station about 11:45 p.m. Tuesday, December 16, on Rockport Beach. The warrant charged Beaver with unauthorized use of a motor vehicle — a 1977 AMC Pacer.

No tickets were issued and no injuries were reported following an accident about 11:39 a.m. Thursday at the intersection of Concho at Austin.

The accident occurred when Fannie Ellison, 69, of Fulton was in collision with an unattended car belonging to Floyd Walters of 951 Pine Street, Rockport.

Police reported Walters' car was parked in the middle on Concho.

FIRE

Smoke from the blaze was visible as far north as Rockport and flames could be seen from Aransas Pass. Firemen reportedly worked until about 7 p.m. before the fire could be brought under control.

The area was foamed to prevent spread of the fire to surrounding buildings.

Hot grease in a deep fat fryer was the alleged cause of the fire which rose to the ceiling in the kitchen then spread to the grocery department, bakery and dining areas.

One of the store's customers "grabbed a fire extinguisher," according to Store Manager Pete Arzola, "but it just got out of control."

Hendricks and Port Aransas Assistant Fire Chief Jack Jette were battling the blaze inside the store when they were caught in a back draft. "The flames just came back over my head," Hendricks said, "and wrapped around me."

Jette, describing the incident, said, "I can't even remember what happened. All I remember is that I was sitting on the floor with about an inch and a half of space to save myself."

The store was a popular gathering place for many Port Aransas residents for many years.
