Bork receives Ford's praise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Gerald R. Ford praised Judge Robert H. Bork as "uniquely qualified" for the Supreme Court as the Senate Judiciary Committee opened politically charged confirmation hearings today, but a leading opponent said Bork is "itching to overrule" historic decisions.

In an extraordinary appearance for a former president, Ford declared that Bork's "record has been exemplary" since he took a place on the U.S. Circuit Court of Aoppeals five years ago.

But Sen. Edward M. Kennedy declared at the nationally televised hearings: "In Robert Bork's America there is no room at the inn for blacks and no place in the Constitution for women. And in our America, there should be no seat on the Supreme Court for Robert Bork."

Kennedy, D-Mass., did not say what decisions he believes Bork is anxious to overturn. But he said, Bork has "shown that he is hostile to the rule of law and the role of the courts in protecting individual liberty. He is instinctively biased against the claims of the average citizen and in favor of concentrations of power, whether that power is governmental or private."

Bork, whose nomination has sparked a ferocious lobbying war between liberal groups opposed to his appointment and conservatives who favor it, sat quietly at the witness table while Ford and then Senate Republican Leader Bob Dole endorsed him. Committee members were not expected to begin questioning Bork until afternoon.

President Reagan has campaigned vigorously for Bork's confirmation.

Santa Fe crews moving into city to repair rail line

Crews for the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway Company were poised at the northwest portion of the city Tuesday morning preparing to being an "undercutter" project which will see ballast and railway ties replaced on the Santa Fe line passing through here.

The work will continue through Friday, which will mark the end of a six-month period for undercutter work which saw the crews for the project start their assignment in the Texas Panhandle.

It ends Friday because the undercutter machine, one of only two owned by Santa Fe throughout the company's entire U.S. system, is committed to be in a new location in South Texas effective Monday.

The undercutting work and related replacement of railway ties will see seven city intersections closed off briefly both Wednesday and Thursday.

City crews will be erecting barricades and traffic will be

At council meeting...

Bank depository status to WTSB, budget items ok'd

A new city budget, tax rate and utility cost schedule was made official by Snyder city councilmen Monday, measures which generated much council time and discussion during the past three months.

Monday, however, the majority of time was taken up considering depository bids for the city's operating accounts and certificates of deposit and submitted by the city's three banks.

The depository bid, after some 45 minutes of discussion, was ultimately again awarded to West Texas State Bank, passing on a split 3-2 vote with one councilman abstaining.

The proposals state interest amounts guaranteed by the banks for money placed in Super NOW accounts, money market checking accounts and both short-term and long-term certificates of deposit, ranging from 30 days to one year.

Councilmen discussed which of the three proposals offered the city the best opportunity to earn interest money, and the majority of discussion centered on bids submitted by WTSB, the current city depository, and Snyder National Bank.

Both facilities bid similar interest guarantees for the city's large fund deposits, those in CDs of $100,000 or more. The quote from both was essentially 1 percent over the quoted rate for U.S. Treasury Bills (T-Bills).

WTSB bid slightly higher interest for Super NOW accounts (5 percent as opposed to SNB's 4 percent) and money market checking accounts (5.5 percent as opposed to SNB's 5 percent), however.

Citing these differences, plus the offer of free checks provided by WTSB, Councilman Joe Fowler made the motion to again award the bid to West Texas State.

Voting with his motion were councilmen Ralph Williamson and Paul Zeck. Voting against were councilmen Fred Castillo and John Johnson. Mike Post abstained.

Regarding the city budget, tax rate and utility cost schedule, the council Monday approved the second and final reading for each.

The budget of $4,454,809 will go into effect Oct. 1.

A tax rate of 29.2 cents per $100 valuation was approved, up from the current rate of 25.5 cents. It will mark the first tax increase

Director resignation at Diamond M noted

Western Texas College board members Monday night accepted the resignation of Marcy Jean Mattson as director of the Diamond M Museum.

Dr. Harry Krenek, WTC president, reported that the resignation was effective Aug. 31. Although the art museum is affiliated with the college, he said, it will be up to the Diamond M Foundation to appoint a successor to Mattson.

Krenek said museum staff member Beth Titus is acting as interim director.

Also Monday, WTC trustees heard English professor Richard Lancaster, chairman of the college's self-study committee, report that the study is ahead of schedule. He said the committee decided early "to do more than what was minimally required because that's not what this college is all about."

Dean of Instruction Bettie McQueen reported that the number of classes with 10 or fewer students has decreased from 43 last fall to 34 currently, with most of those at eight or nine students.

Emergency roof repairs on Building 2-C, the primary classroom building, were ratified by the board. Krenek said WTC maintenance staff members completed the repairs before the heavy early Monday rainstorm, "which was a pretty good test" to prove that the roof is now leakproof.

A contract for $16,200 with Ener-Tel Services, the same amount as last year's contract, was approved for maintenance of the campus cooling-heating system.

Getting the family laundry done used to be a simple matter of soap, starch, pressing and hanging. But you better have a lawyer on the staff.

A judge in San Francisco has ordered Jung For Gee's Visitacion Valley Laundry to cease and desist from charging more for washing women's shirts than men's shirts.

The California district attorney said that the difference in the charge is sexist. The laundry had justified the difference because they had to press the women's shirts by hand to insure no wrinkles.

Now look for some hungry lawyer to sue the shirt manufacturer for putting those buttons on the wrong side of women's clothing.

Law books donated by county

A collection of law books has been donated to Western Texas College by the Scurry County Commissioners Court and dedicated to the late District Judge Wayland G. Holt.

The 110 books will join a number that were given to the college by Judge Holt during his lifetime, a WTC spokesman said.

The collection includes 53 volumes of Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes, nine volumes of Vernon's Texas Statutes, Annotated Code of Criminal Procedure, 35 volumes of Vernon's Texas Codes, Annotated, nine volumes of Vernon's Texas Rules, Annotated, and four volumes of Vernon's Texas Constitution.

The commissioners court decided recently to dispose of the collection from the county judge's office because the county law library had a duplicate set.

Mrs. Dole resigns as concern over air safety and performance increases

WASHINGTON (AP) — Transportation Secretary Elizabeth H. Dole is resigning at a time when her department is under fire from critics who are complaining about airline performance and safety.

Mrs. Dole announced Monday that she plans to leave her Cabinet post Oct. 1 and begin working full time for her husband Sen. Bob Dole's GOP presidential bid, kicking off her new task with a 12-state campaign swing through the South.

In a letter to President Reagan, she said the decision to resign came "with considerable soul searching" but that she no longer felt she could give her job top priority and still help the Dole campaign effort.

"I have always put the department first. ... Now I want to put the campaign first," Mrs. Dole, a soft-spoken, Harvard-educated native of North Carolina, told reporters.

Her departure creates a major Cabinet vacancy with only 16 months left in Reagan's term and as the Transportation Department has been in the spotlight this summer because of rising complaints from airline travelers and concerns about air safety.

Critics have blamed Mrs. Dole in part because the department has approved a string of airline mergers which has concentrated much of the industry in about a half-dozen large carriers.

Last month, the department announced new requirements for the airlines to disclose delays, but the effort was criticized by some members of Congress who vowed to pursue legislation that would impose broader restrictions on air carriers.

Meanwhile, the airline industry has sharply criticized Mrs. Dole for becoming too involved in the activities of the Federal Aviation Administration. The Air Transport Association, which represents the major airlines, has intensified a campaign to have the FAA separated from its parent department.

After Mrs. Dole announced plans for tighter restrictions on private planes, the Aircraft Owners and Operators Association put advertisements in major newspapers calling for her resignation.

Mrs. Dole this year called for the hiring of more air traffic controllers. But her congressional critics said she only did so after Congress made clear it would require more controllers to be hired anyway.

It is likely that James Burnley, the department's deputy secretary, will assume Mrs. Dole's job temporarily, although sources suggest he is unlikely to be appointed on a permanent basis.

With Mrs. Dole's departure, the administration has no women of cabinet rank. An early name to surface as a possible successor was Patricia Goldman, a moderate Republican who is vice chairman of the National Transportation Safety Board.

Mrs. Dole has made no secret in the past that she enjoys her job as the country's eighth transportation secretary, the first woman to hold the post, and the highest ranking woman in the Reagan administration.

AIDS reports ruined physician's business

MESQUITE, Texas (AP) — A pediatrician said he will be forced to close his practice in this east Dallas suburb because of the hysteria created by reports he is infected with the AIDS virus.

Since Friday, when it was revealed in media reports that he tested positive for the acquired immune deficiency syndrome virus, patients have been calling to cancel appointments, Dr. Robert J. Huse said.

Jennifer Skinner, the mother of two of Huse's patients, was unsympathetic Monday to the doctor's plight.

"I want him crucified," Mrs. Skinner told the Dallas Times Herald. "I really don't care if it ruins his practice. I don't want him to go somewhere else to treat other little babies."

Debbie McWhorter, another Mesquite parent who took her children to Huse, said she was "shocked and angry" after learning that her pediatrician had been diagnosed as an AIDS carrier in 1985.

"He should have told us back in '85 he was carrying the virus," Mrs. McWhorter said.

SOME OF THE THINGS DISCUSSED HERE MIGHT SHOCK YOU.

But not if you follow these tips for working around electricity while working around the house or on the job.

- Keep ladders and trimming tools away from overhead wires.
- Call an expert if your electric meter or fuse box needs to be moved.
- Don't dig if you suspect there are underground wires—call us first.
- Make sure you're clear of all wires when installing an antenna; think about where it might land if it falls during installation.
- Make sure all tools that run on electricity are properly grounded and treat them with respect.

We don't mean to alarm you. But too many people become accident statistics simply because they forget to be cautious around electricity. And that's the shocking truth.

Dr. Gott

Peter Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I have very bad posture, so I wear a back brace. My husband says it's just a crutch and tells me to exercise. What do you think?

DEAR READER — Before giving an answer, I would have to know the reason for your back brace. Do you have a spinal curvature, severe arthritis or chronic back strain? Was the brace prescribed by an orthopedic specialist?

If posture is your only problem, you might be better off straightening up and performing exercises to strengthen your back muscles. A physical therapist might be more helpful than a back brace. If, on the other hand, you have a structural abnormality and are under a physician's care for it, the brace would be appropriate. Ask your doctor about this.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My husband was in a car accident seven years ago. He was thrown from his truck and broke a tree branch with his head. He has been diagnosed as having organic brain syndrome. I want to do what I can for him. What can I expect in the future?

DEAR READER — Brain injury caused by accidents is a difficult problem to treat. The physical consequences of severe head injuries are usually due to damage of nerve tissue. When injury causes bleeding near the brain (subdural hematoma), pressure can build up around the brain, producing neurological disease and behavioral changes (organic brain syndrome). Once the clot is surgically removed and the pressure is released, the patient may return to a normal or near-normal state. However, if the brain itself has been injured, the consequences will be permanent.

I assume that your husband has been attended by qualified neurologists. Therefore, his only chance for future improvement may lie in an extensive rehabilitation program, in which neurologists, therapists and psychiatrists work together to retrain healthy tissue to take over the jobs previously performed by the damaged nerves. This is a drawn-out, time-consuming, expensive and frustrating process. However, it may be worth the effort if it allows your husband greater function and more independence. Without a rehab program, your husband will probably remain at or below his present level of ability.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Is depression curable, or at least controllable?

DEAR READER — Some forms of depression appear to result from chemical imbalances within the brain. These imbalances can be corrected or controlled by a new class of medicines called tricyclic anti-depressants. These drugs are useful, but should be prescribed only by doctors who are familiar with their use.

For Dr. Gott's complete discussion of problems and treatments of the prostate gland, write for your copy of Dr. Gott's new Health Report on THE PROSTATE GLAND. Send $1 and your name and address to P.O. Box 91389, Cleveland, OH 44101-3389. Be sure to mention the title.

Water, oil is being removed

HOUSTON (AP) — More than 1.1 million gallons of salt water and fuel oil from the Battleship Texas is being removed in an effort to drain and refloat the rusting ship, officials said.

Barges will be used to transport thousands of barrels of the fluid away, for disposal through industrial means, said Stratford Morris, director of the Battleship Texas Restoration Project.

"They filled the fuel tanks and empty spaces, which we call voids, with bayou water to set the ship down hard on the mud of her berth so she wouldn't float into the shipping channel sometime and become a menace to navigation," Morris said.

"This is really what's causing the internal deterioration now."

A steak supper opened the club year for Xi Alpha Alpha Theta members with 13 couples in attendance. Mickey and Jerry Baird hosted the event at their home Aug. 29.

Members met at the Snyder Country Club Sept. 10 for a chapter meeting with President Carolyn House presiding.

Sue Sewell gave a program entitled "People of Physical and Personal Beauty." She referred to a book, "There She Is — the Life and Times of Miss America," a story of the pageants from 1921 to 1971.

Sewell pointed out that personal beauty is that characteristic that makes a person beautiful in the eyes of the beholder. A person can have any number of physical defects, but if she has personal beauty, she is considered to be a beautiful person to others.

Mickey Baird, yearbook chairman, presented the members with the 1987-88 yearbook. Brenda Hedges, membership chairman, discussed the Friendship Luncheon to be held Sept. 19 in the home of Mona Bryan.

Bryan, social co-chairman, discussed the socials planned for the coming year. Bette League, ways and means chairman, handed out tickets for the annual Western Dance to be held at the Snyder Country Club Sept. 26. She also discussed the annual Christmas paper sales.

Amitie Study Club meets at Slimmers

Amitie began its year Sept. 8 with a demonstration at Slimmers, a local business designed to aid figure control by passive exercise.

Lea Ann Shields and Cheryl Collins explained the various machines used to accomplish the exercises. They pointed out that muscle strength, muscle endurance and flexibility are increased through regular sessions on the toning tables at Slimmers.

Each session consists of seven minutes at each station. Various parts of the body are exercised to firm, tone, tighten and reduce. Principles of physical therapy and isometric exercise are combined in the program.

Following the demonstration of each table using club member Gloria Romo, other members were introduced to the tables and were given handouts explaining the program.

Members went to Jan Johnson's home for the business session and refreshments. Pete Haley, president, presided.

The social committee reported plans for the Membership Tea to be held Sept. 20 at the Dodson House from 2-4 p.m. Former members are invited to attend as well as new and prospective members.

Lisa Williams presented the treasurer's report in the absence of Temi Matthies and called roll. Romo read the club correspondence to members and Johnson reported the plans being made for the Dec. 5 dance.

Members were informed that the clubhouse erected by Amitie at Kiddie Park needs to be repainted. Lavada Cates was named spokesperson for the club's Adopt-a-Highway project. Members have a two-mile stretch of the Big Spring highway to clean several times a year.

Amitie will also participate in the Great American Smokeout for the American Cancer Society to be held Nov. 19.

Stanley and Marie Clark will host the next club meeting with J.M. Kayser giving a program on his trip to Africa.

Declarer won with dummy's king of spades. Since the opposing high cards were in the West hand and all finesses would fail, South went for an endplay. He played the ace and a low heart. If West had to win the doubleton king, he would then have to either lead into the A-Q of clubs or play a diamond. Of course West was happy to take his two heart tricks and defeat the contract.

Declarer can do better. After winning dummy's spade king, he can play the king of diamonds, shedding a heart. West will win the ace and can do no better than to play back a diamond. South throws two more hearts on the Q-J of diamonds, comes back to his heart ace, plays the seven of spades to dummy's eight and trumps a heart with his queen. He now leads the six of spades to dummy's nine and trumps another heart with his ace. He can still get back to dummy by playing a low spade to the five-spot. The little heart left is now a winner, on which he can shed the queen of clubs.

A new book by James Jacoby and his father, the late Oswald Jacoby, is now available at bookstores. It is "Jacoby on Card Games," published by Pharos Books.

Declarer can do better

By James Jacoby

Are there better ways for South to bid his hand, after hearing North cue-bid two diamonds in response to the takeout double? Probably, but the simplicity of the five-spade bid is attractive. Some might interpret the bid as asking for good trump support; others might treat it as looking for a diamond control. South actually meant it to say: "Partner, we might have a slam. You make the decision." Was North right to go on? You be the judge.

Italy invaded Ethiopia Oct. 3, 1935, as the first aggressive step in Mussolini's plans for a new Roman Empire in Africa. Ethiopia appealed to the League of Nations for help even before the invasion, but all that happened was that some countries applied sanctions. Ethiopia was conquered in eight months. The Ethiopian emperor was reinstalled by the British in 1941.

Open title surprises no one except Lendl

NEW YORK (AP) - No one was surprised Ivan Lendl won his third straight U.S. Open championship - except Ivan Lendl.

"I just can't believe I won this one," a flu-ridden Lendl said after his 6-7, 6-0, 7-6, 6-4 victory over Mats Wilander Monday. "I was out of juice for the last 3½ sets. It was strength of mind and a little bit of luck."

Lendl joined John McEnroe as the only men to win three successive titles in the Open era.

"It's something I never dreamt of, it's unbelievable," said Lendl, the top seed who dropped only the one set to Wilander in the entire tournament and won his sixth Grand Slam crown - he has three French Open titles.

Martina Navratilova, who won the women's singles for the fourth time, beating Steffi Graf on Saturday, added the women's doubles and mixed doubles titles on Monday. That made her the first player since Billie Jean King at the 1973 Wimbledon to win the triple.

American League roundup...

Alexander shuts out Boston

by The Associated Press

Doyle Alexander scattered eight hits and twice worked out of bases-loaded situations in seven innings to improve his record to 6-0 and stake Detroit to a 3-0 win over Boston Monday night.

The right-hander got hitting and fielding support from Kirk Gibson, who drove in Detroit's first run and cut down two runners at the plate from left field.

In other American League action, Toronto used a major-league record 10 home runs to beat the Baltimore Orioles 18-3; Milwaukee defeated New York 6-4; Chicago topped Minnesota 8-2; Kansas City whipped California 8-5; Texas edged Oakland 2-1 in 11 innings and Cleveland outscored Seattle 11-8.

Alexander struck out four and walked four before getting relief help for the last two innings from Mike Henneman, who earned his fifth save.

Boston's Roger Clemens, 16-9, who got out of one bases-loaded jam, but not the second, allowed seven hits over the 6 2-3 innings he worked.

Blue Jays 18, Orioles 3

Ernie Whitt hit three of Toronto's major-league record 10 home runs as the Blue Jays rolled past Baltimore.

Overshadowed in the Blue Jays' hitting binge was the end of shortstop Cal Ripken's consecutive-inning streak for Baltimore. That was stopped at 8,243 when he was replaced defensively in the eighth inning.

Rangers 2, Athletics 1

Oakland reliever Steve Ontiveros walked Darrell Porter with the bases loaded and two outs in the bottom of the 11th inning, giving Texas its victory over the Athletics.

Cardinals asleep at the wheel and Phillies take advantage

by The Associated Press

Von Hayes and Greg Jelks almost pulled a boner that would have made New York fans forget Fred Merkle.

Mike Schmidt hit a fly-ball single over a drawn-in outfield in the bottom of the 11th inning Monday night, giving the Philadelphia Phillies a 3-2 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals Monday night.

But the Cardinals missed an opportunity to get out of the inning without a run being scored when they failed to notice that Hayes and Jelks, on first and second, failed to advance one base before leaving the field.

That's the same mental error that Merkle made in a game on Sept. 23, 1908, ultimately costing the New York Giants a pennant.

The umpires stayed on the field, giving the Cardinals a chance to tag the runners and nullify the game-winning run, but St. Louis never made a move. Finally, Hayes and Jelks went back and touched the respective bases.

The loss by the Cardinals cut their lead to 1½ games over the Mets in the National League East.

In other NL games Monday night, it was New York 6, Chicago 5; Montreal 6, Pittsburgh 4 in 14 innings; Atlanta 3, Cincinnati 2; Houston 8, Los Angeles 1; and San Francisco 4, San Diego 3.

Jeff Calhoun, 2-1, was the winner as the Phillies snapped a five-game losing streak.

Mets 6, Cubs 5

New York overcame three Chicago homers as Gary Carter, Darryl Strawberry and Keith Hernandez drove in two runs apiece for the Mets, who climbed within 1½ games of the Cardinals in the NL East.

Rick Aguilera, 9-2, pitched six innings for his sixth straight victory. Jesse Orosco allowed one hit in the final three innings for his 15th save. Drew Hall, 0-1, took the loss.

Astros 8, Dodgers 1

Houston broke an eight-game road losing streak and moved into second place in the West as Kevin Bass drove in four runs with a two-run homer and three singles and Gerald Young had four hits and four stolen bases against Los Angeles.

The Astros, who finished with 16 hits, took a 3-0 lead in the first against Dodgers rookie Shawn Hillegas, 2-3.

Nolan Ryan, 8-14, allowed one run and eight hits in 6 2-3 innings. His nine strikeouts gave him the major-league lead with 235 in 182 2-3 innings.

Giants 4, Padres 3

San Francisco took a 6½-game lead in the West when Jose Uribe lined a one-out homer in the bottom of the ninth inning to beat San Diego.

Uribe broke a 3-3 tie with the homer to right field on a 1-1 pitch from Lance McCullers, 7-8.

Craig Lefferts, 4-5, was the winner in relief, pitching two perfect innings.

Expos 6, Pirates 4

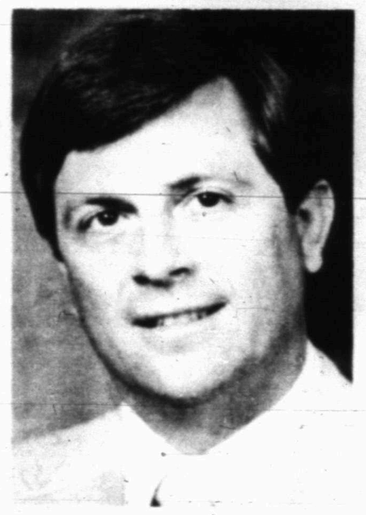

Hubie Brooks lined a two-run double in the 14th inning as Montreal pulled within two games of St. Louis and ended Pittsburgh's seven-game winning streak.

Mike Fitzgerald started the 14th with a single off Bret Gideon, 1-5. After a sacrifice, Tim Raines was intentionally walked, setting Brooks' double to left-center off Tim Drummond.

Andy McGaffigan, 5-2, was the winner. Jeff Parrett pitched the 14th for his fifth save.

Anderson earns repeat of golf championship

Larry Anderson shot a 69 Saturday and backed it up with a 74 Sunday to win the Snyder Country Club Men's Club Championship for the second straight year.

LARRY ANDERSON

Anderson's 143 won the scratch Championship Flight by five strokes over Alton Patterson, who shot a 73-75 for a 148.

Third place went to Lanny Wadleigh with a 72-77 for a 149.

First through Third flights were handicapped.

Second Flight winner was David Sisson with a 70-67--137. He was followed by Herb Reed with a 72-75--147. Tied for third were Harold Lacik at 79-69--148 and Rod Bailey at 78-70--148.

Bill Hartsfield fired a fine 67-74--141 for top honors in the Third Flight. Second place went to Billy Huddleston for his 76-68--144. Third was Gary Smith with a 75-74--149.

WTC playing well in opening event

SHERMAN -- Aided by a strong freshman effort, Western Texas College was in second place after 18 holes of the weather-hampered Grayson County Intercollegiate Golf Tournament, being held near here.

Temple shot a 295 on the par 72 Tanglewood Country Club course to lead the first round. Western Texas' White team and Odessa were tied for second with a pair of 300s. Close behind were Paris A with a 302 and Grayson County A with a 304.

Western Texas Blue team is 14 strokes in back of the leader with a 309.

Today's play, being held at Grayson County Golf Course, was delayed by weather, which dumped four inches of rain throughout the area.

Leading the WTC effort with a 73 is Andrews freshman Mark Burgen. Darrell Cofer, freshman from Memphis, Texas, and Jeff Beal, freshman from Andrews, both shot 74s.

Bears scoot past Giants, 34-19

CHICAGO (AP) - Mike Tomczak, Dennis McKinnon and the Chicago Bears defense had something to prove. They did it with such vicious determination that they left the Super Bowl champion New York Giants dumbfounded.

Tomczak threw touchdown passes of 42 and 56 yards, McKinnon came off of a one-year layoff with a team-record 94-yard punt return for a touchdown and the defense registered eight sacks for losses of 53 yards in a 34-19 rout of the Giants Monday night.

The much-heralded battle of the two previous Super Bowl champions turned into an unexpected rout.

"Take away the blocked punt and the interception and what did they have?" said McKinnon, who sat out 1986 because of a knee surgery.

In explaining his punt return, which eclipsed the previous team record of 89 yards by Ray "Scooter" McLean back in 1942, McKinnon said "I crawled for 20 yards, made a move and hit the end zone. That play sealed the coffin."

It came shortly after Terry Kinard intercepted a Tomczak pass and returned it 70 yards for a touchdown that cut the Bears' lead to 24-13 and gave the Giants a brief ray of hope.

"They beat us real good," said Giants' Coach Bill Parcells. "We haven't been beat like that in a long time. ... Their quarterback was excellent considering it was his first start in a game of this magnitude."

The vaunted Giant defense did little to harass Tomczak, while the Bears were all over Giants quarterback Phil Simms, who had his bell rung several times and twice had to leave the game to clear the cobwebs.

Tomczak threw touchdown passes of 42 yards to Ron Morris and 56 yards to Willie Gault in the third quarter.

Tomczak also sneaked a yard for a touchdown just before halftime and finished with 20 completions in 34 attempts for 292 yards.

The Giants took the opening kickoff and Simms quickly put the offense into gear as the Giants marched to the Chicago 10-yard line. Then came a sack by Todd Bell and Simms fumbled with Wilber Marshall recovering.

The Bears were forced to punt, but it was blocked by Erik Howard and Tom Flynn recovered in the end zone for a 7-0 New York lead.

Kevin Butler kicked a 24-yard field goal for the Bears before the quarter ended and then the Bears took charge after that with the defense repeatedly sacking Simms.

An 80-yard drive which ended with Tomczak's 1-yard sneak with :08 left in the half gave the Bears a 10-7 lead.

On Chicago's second possession in the second half, Tomczak hit Morris with a 42-yard touchdown pass. The next time the Bears got the ball, he threw a 56-yard touchdown pass to Gault on the first play.

Tony Dorsett of the Dallas Cowboys ran 99 yards from scrimmage for a touchdown in 1983 against Minnesota, setting an NFL record.

Papal trip to Texas personal success

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — The papal trip to Texas proved to be a personal success for the people who saw him and a publicity success for the city that hosted him.

"Even if he just waves at me a little bit, he is blessing me," said Andrew Gonzalez, a retiree who had to walk only two blocks from his home Monday to watch the pope's motorcade depart to Kelly Air Force Base.

In just one full day here, Pope John Paul II celebrated an outdoor Mass that drew 300,000 people, spoke to Texans in English, Spanish and Polish, drove by the Alamo and became perhaps the first visiting dignitary to leave the state without donning a cowboy hat.

Bishop John Fitzpatrick of Brownsville was among the clergymen who pronounced the visit an inspirational success for Catholics.

"It kind of touches our conscience," he said.

Mayor Henry Cisneros, whose ailing infant son was blessed by the pope, said the visit also provided the blessing of publicity for the city known by many as little more than the home of the Alamo. He pointed out that San Antonio hosted a downtown Grand Prix auto race a week before the papal visit.

"San Antonio has proven itself, in a short span of time, able to turn around and handle what can only be called a world-class event and do so with grace and competence, and I am very proud of our city," Cisneros said Sunday night.

The mayor said John Paul II's brief stay included a look at a cross-section of the community, including the Alamo and a poor section of town.

Fitzpatrick said the pope's message transcended economic classes.

"The message is everybody, individually, is an important person. He was not here just to say hello to politicians and move on. No matter how poorly you're dressed, you're important," the bishop said.

Archbishop Patrick Flores said the visit also had particular meaning for Texas' large Hispanic population.

"I think the pope wanted Hispanics to know they were not being taken for granted," Flores said.

Sunday night, at Our Lady of Guadalupe Plaza, the pope said in Spanish, "I am happy to know that the number of Hispanic priests and religious men and women is growing. But many more are needed."

He also met with Polish Catholics from the Texas city of Panna Maria, addressed a Catholic Charities meeting and visited San Fernando Cathedral, the nation's oldest cathedral sanctuary.

Although the San Antonio crowds were the largest of the pope's visit so far, hotels reported stacks of last-minute cancellations Saturday, the half-million people expected at the Mass did not materialize and souvenir sales were poor.

As many as 150,000 Mexican pilgrims were expected to stream into Texas for the pope's visit, but Border Patrol officials said only a few thousand crossed the border.

Along the papal routes, spectator after spectator used the same four words to describe their glimpse of the pope: "Once in a lifetime."

"It's once in a lifetime for me. It may be more than once for her," Paul Reittinger of Dallas said, holding and patting his 4-month-old granddaughter Pamela as the popemobile rolled by for the final time in Texas.

AMA's Food Festival now underway locally

Furr's, IGA and Everybody's Thriftway stores join more than 11,000 supermarkets nationwide in celebrating the American Heart Association's national community nutrition awareness event--American Heart Association's third annual Food Festival.

Food Festival began Sunday and will continue through Saturday, and is designed to raise the public's awareness of nutrition and heart health.

Kathryn Roberts, County Extension Agent and Food Festival chairman, will conduct AHA educational activities. 4-H youth have placed "okay food" or "good food" stickers by heart-healthy food selections in the three participating stores. 4-H'ers will also hand out "heart healthy" recipes on Wednesday after school.

Assuming a home valued at $50,000, the new rate will generate a tax bill of $146 compared to the $127 bill using the current rate.

The utility increase is an across the board 20 percent rise for water, sewer and sanitation services.

The new minimum charge for residences inside the city limits for 2,000 gallons or less of water will be $5.05 and will be $1.25 per 1,000 gallons for amounts above the minimum. The current charges are $4.20 and $1.05 respectively.

The new sewer rate will be $5.05 for a one bath home; $8.85 for a two-bath; and $12.65 for a three-bath. The current rates for each are $4.20, $7.35 and $10.50 respectively.

For sanitation pickups, the expense for a single family dwelling will go from $4.80 to $5.75. For a single business, the rate will go from $6.30 to $7.55.

In other city-related business, the council voted to:

—Again employ the firm of Anderson and West to prepare the city's outside audit. The action passed with a 5-1 vote with John Johnson, who had inquired if other firms had been contacted regarding the audit, voting against.

—Authorize the city's endorsement of an Interlocal Crime Task Force being organized through the Taylor County district attorney's office. The task force is seeking a grant for funds to be used for undercover drug investigations in a 13-county region which would include Scurry County.

—Tabled the renewal of the city's insurance policy related to personal liability coverage for both buildings, personnel and elected public officials. The council indicated it would like to meet with its insurance agent to answer questions related to the policy. A noon meeting is now planned Monday with Jim Leonard, who represents the liability insurance company.

Santa Fe plans repairs to track rerouted as the undercutter passes through.

The section of track at College Ave. in north Snyder will not be affected since it was worked on last year. Other intersections will be renewed, however, to include the replacement of ties and new ballast.

On Wednesday, intersections to be closed at various times during the day include those at Ave. R, 17th St. and Ave. I.

On Thursday, the work will include where the track crosses both Ave. E and 25th St. Also affected will be 26th St. and Ave. B.

The undercutter itself is described as a machine which pulls out ballast--the rock in the roadbed--screens it and places back reuseable ballast.

Arthur Charrow, assistant division engineer with Santa Fe based in Amarillo and the supervisor for the local project, said the undercutter can travel at a rate of 1,800 ft. an hour.

A tie gang is working ahead of the machine replacing ties which have been marked for replacement.

The crews moved into Scurry County Sept. 8. They began work just west of Hereford in April.

Man's injury is investigated

A sheriff's office spokesman said the man was not cut deeply and that a knife was found at the scene.

The Lost Can Be Located With Salvation Army's Aid

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1987 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: Thank you so very much for your article on the Salvation Army finding lost relatives.

Because of your article my mother, Earlene Fay Haynes Click of Santa Fe, Texas, and my grandfather, Earl Haynes of Owensboro, Ky., were reunited after 42 years!

Our whole family would like to thank everyone who helped make this possible. You've really made my mother happy.

EARLENE'S DAUGHTER

DEAR DAUGHTER: Glad I was able to help.

Readers, the Salvation Army operates a Missing Persons Locator Service in 86 countries of the world. This is available to the public. Those interested in this service should be aware of the following basic guidelines:

1. The inquirer should be searching for a near relative.

2. The inquirer must be able to provide essential information about the missing person.

3. The Salvation Army reserves the right to accept or reject any request for services based upon considerations of reasonableness, feasibility or motive.

4. The inquirer is asked to pay a $5 non-refundable fee.

5. The inquirer may secure information and/or a missing persons inquiry form by contacting the nearest Salvation Army office in his area or by contacting the nearest Territorial Headquarters.

DEAR ABBY: I must comment on the letter from "Hurt and Insulted" whose father-in-law said, "Please do me a small favor and change your brand of perfume; I had to go outside to keep from choking."

How I wish I had the courage of that father-in-law. There are several expensive fragrances on the market today that smell exactly like insecticide, and they affect me in the same way. My eyes water, I start to sneeze and my throat closes up. I have had to change my seat at the movie theater, and leave plays and concerts because of certain fragrances worn by both men and women.

Abby, is there a polite way to tell friends you see frequently that you can't tolerate their perfume?

NO NERVE IN JERSEY

DEAR NO NERVE: Yes. Say, "I have an allergy to the fragrance you are wearing," and if that person is considerate and well-mannered, she (or he) will remember not to wear the offending fragrance in your presence again.

DEAR ABBY: I have never written to you before. However, when I read the letter from "Crying in Monroe, Mich.," it brought back some terrible memories, as I had also lost a beautiful Siamese cat in a clothes dryer. I since have learned that many others also lost a cat that way, as cats go where it is warm. Everyone with a washer-dryer should always look inside before turning it on. All you hear is one thump. Thank you.

Astro-Graph

By Bernice Bede Osol

Your Birthday

Wednesday, Sept. 16, 1987

In the year ahead, you may become involved in an enterprise you previously considered beyond your scope. You'll discover that it isn't, and your chances for success are very good.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) An enthusiastic friend might try to include you in an enterprise he's sold on himself. If it appears expensive, don't move too hastily. Get a jump on life by understanding the influences governing you in the year ahead. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today. Mail $1 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH, 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Take nothing for granted where your career is concerned today. If another isn't doing something he or she promised, take appropriate measures yourself.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) If there is something special that needs doing today, avoid seeking the aid of a talkative friend who doesn't usually produce. Enlist a dependable pal instead.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Being careless today could cost you a small loss through your oversights. Count your change, and be sure to get receipts for anything you buy.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Big issues aren't apt to irritate your mate today, but little things might. Be sure to put the top back on the peanut butter jar after you use it.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Your mind is likely to be on something other than the task at hand today. Be careful you don't knock over your favorite lamp while dusting.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Stay away from bargain counters today. Your eye for values might not be up to par, and you could buy silly things you'll never use.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Strive to be enterprising today, but more for others than for yourself. Your gratification will come from knowing you were able to provide what they could not.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) In order to maintain a harmonious relationship with co-workers today, you must be more free with your praise and less liberal with your criticism.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Financial conditions are apt to be mixed for you today. However, you can wind up in the plus column if you keep a tight rein on small expenses.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Instead of talking about what you intend to do for your mate today, surprise him or her by doing it. Conversation doesn't count, action does.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Don't stretch your points today when trying to get others to do your bidding. You'll accomplish your purpose, but others may later resent your tactics.

MHMR sets agreements in 13-year old lawsuit

DALLAS (AP) — Both sides in a dispute over conditions in Texas mental hospitals are pleased with a settlement to a 13-year-old lawsuit.

"I think it's an agreement that will benefit the mentally ill citizens in Texas," said Dr. Gary Miller, state commissioner of mental health and mental retardation.

Legal Services attorney Margo Michels, representing the plaintiffs, said the agreement appears to be a sincere effort by the state to improve conditions for patients in state hospitals.

"We all felt very positive about this particular negotiation," she said. "We see it, and I think the state sees it as a victory."

The agreement between plaintiffs and the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation also was signed by a special panel reviewing implementataion of a previous agreement in 1981.

As part of the agreement, filed here Monday with U.S. District Court Judge Barefoot Sanders, state officials agreed to increase staff at some mental hospitals.

The agreement also stipulated transfers for mentally retarded clients who no longer need hospitalization.

The transfer to a community facility would occur within six months of the time it is determined that the client does not need hospitalization.

In a statement released in Austin, TDMHMR said Sanders issued an order in which he stated the agreement appeared to address the issues raised by the review panel, and said he would act after receiving comments from the U.S. Justice Department and Texas State Employees Union.

The Washington Monument was opened in 1888.

Bullock picks 'action spot' on ballot

AUSTIN (AP) — State Comptroller Bob Bullock says his recent decision to run for lieutenant governor is merely a reflection of his "early bird" attitude and has nothing to do with keeping anyone else out of the race in 1990.

Bullock, 58, recalled that even when he ran for the Legislature in 1956 he announced two years ahead of time.

The comptroller, in an interview Monday, also acknowledged that he never considered running for lieutenant governor until Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby said he would not be a candidate in 1990.

Hobby, first elected in 1972, announced July 27 he would sit out the 1990 elections.

Four years ago when Bullock listed his top four choices for political office, lieutenant governor was not among those choices.

Now he says he wants the job because lieutenant governor is where the action is. "I didn't really give it any thought until certainly after he (Hobby) indicated he wouldn't run again," Bullock said.

Bullock was reminded that he had also had announced for governor on election day in November 1982 but withdrew in July 1983, saying there had been no great public clamor for his services.

"I'm in it to stay," Bullock said Monday. "I don't think anything could make me change my mind that I'm aware of at this point.

"For 12 years as comptroller I've worked hand in glove with the Senate. I've been in the vineyards, so to speak. I generally pick the grapes after they've been grown, after they're finished" — doing reports for the Legislature.

"I'd like to start growing some of those grapes for awhile," Bullock said.

But why not governor, a job he once said he had dreamed of all his life?

"That's not where the action is ... maybe at one time (it was)," Bullock said. "Very few of the recommendations of the governor are ever accepted anymore."

Bullock said Attorney General Jim Mattox's interest in the governor's race didn't influence him.

"No, it didn't, it didn't at all. I don't think about the governor's race. There was a time when I did, but I gave that up a long time ago."

Bullock said he sees parallels between when he ran for comptroller in 1974 and his present intentions, which he announced Thursday.

"Make no mistake about it, my phones are not ringing off the wall by people begging me to run for lieutenant governor," he said.

Papal visit affirms role of Hispanics

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — The pope's visit left Hispanic Catholics in Texas encouraged by his praise for the rapidly increasing group's role in the church.

"I am happy to know that the number of Hispanic priests and religious men and women is growing," Pope John Paul II said in an address he gave in Spanish Sunday night at Our Lady of Guadalupe Plaza.

He also reminded them, "The Hispanic heritage of San Antonio and the Southwest is very important for the church. Spanish was the language of the first evangelizers of this continent, precisely in this region."

The increasing proportion of Hispanics in the United States and the church is seen as a major reason the pope stopped in San Antonio, which is 58 percent Hispanic. The ethnic group makes up about 40 percent of the world's Catholics.

"I think that the pope wanted Hispanics to know that they're not being taken for granted, that the church is aware of their presence and aware of their giftedness, as well as of their needs," said San Antonio Archbishop Patrick Flores.
