Morton Murder Case Scheduled For Trial Today

This War Has Gone Whacky In Big Way

(By NEA Service)

WAR has gone whacky. It has turned into war of the gadgets. The grimiest of all human diversions has been filled with as many gags as a penny arcade. Of course the shooting gallery is still the main feature. But when the world drops its pennies down the slot of war these days it gets entertainment as well as carnage.

Drop in, folks, and come along on a personally conducted tour of war gone whacky.

FIGHT BROADCASTS

Captured British fliers make 'em in Berlin, just like an American heavyweight champ knocked kicking. At the Germans' suggestion, they tell the home folks what a swell war it was while it lasted, and how well they like ersatz pumpernickel made of sawdust.

DECOY

them when forced back. French soldiers waf socks at the toothbrush mustache. Bulls-eye sets off mine hidden behind wall.

SPY-DROPPING

Sporting aspect is lent to game of dropping them by parachute behind enemy lines. Spy pokes self up, busts self off. And begins spying immediately.

NARCOTICS

Better, cheaper, and more reliable than beautiful women of the Mata Hari breed, secret services have found. Instead of dazzling spies with beautiful women, like in the movies, intelligence officers hand them a shot in the arm to get same [illegible] wouldn't care' effect.

PIGS

French send pet ones out rooting for truffles between the lines. No matter. Mines. Pork goes up—soldiers go through safely.

ARMOR

French reported German raiders got coming through peppered with bullets. Hitler's henchmen were found dressed in Henry the Eighth bullets rolled off like peas off your wife.

ANTI-PLANE RAYS

Nobody's proved it yet, but rumors keep cropping up that one side of the other has one that does to plane magnets what Delilah did to Simpson. Only quicker. R-r-r-r-r-sh! Like that.

PILOTLESS PLANES

French supposed to have developed them to drive ahead of flock of pilotless bombing planes by remote

Prosecutor To Ask Death For J. W. Mann

Special Venire To Report For Selection Of Jury; Witnesses From 16 Counties Subpoenaed

(Special To The Avalanche)

MORTON, Jan. 1.—J. W. Mann, 25, goes to trial Tuesday morning in 72nd district court for the murder here Dec. 8 of Deputy Sheriff D. T. Smith.

A special venire of 175 men will report to Judge Daniel A. Blair. Selection of a jury will start Tuesday morning and is expected to continue throughout the day.

Burton S. Burks, district attorney who will direct prosecution, said the death penalty would be asked for Mann, who has been held in Lubbock county since his arrest Dec. 10 in Crosbyton.

Witnesses Called

Witnesses from 16 counties have been subpoenaed by the prosecution, Burks said. J. E. Vickers, veteran Lubbock criminal lawyer, Ralph Brock, also of Lubbock, and Bob Marshall of Morton will represent the defendant. Burks will be assisted by Victor H. Lindsey, his assistant.

Deputy Smith was killed in gunbattle six miles west of here when he and Sheriff Tom Standefer sought to arrest three men they had stopped. Howard Colvin Lackey, another crime suspect, also was fatally wounded.

Another Also Held

Raymond Davis, 26-year-old Morton farmer, who was driving the light pickup truck stopped by the officers, also is being held on a murder charge.

The Cochran county officers had been asked to arrest the suspects, who on the morning of Dec. 8 had wrecked a stolen car near Levelland. They started to the Raymond Davis home southwest of here and spotted the pickup.

After a chase Sheriff Standefer and his deputy overtook the trio. Firing started when the sheriff ordered the men to get into his car, in which Smith was sitting. Smith exchanged bullets with two of the men.

Smith and Lackey, both mortally wounded, were brought to a hospital here. Smith died an hour later and Lackey died the next morning after being transferred to the hospital

Men Sought In Gaines Shooting

(Special To The Avalanche)

SEMINOLE, Jan. 1—Bill Brannan, about 28, was shot here at 11:30 o'clock tonight and a manhunt immediately was launched for three men of whom law enforcement had no description.

Brannan, an oil field worker, was rushed to Davidson hospital in Seagraves. An attending physician said his condition was not considered serious.

Net Is Spread

He had been shot, apparently with a .38 caliber bullet, in the chest and X-ray examination was being made late tonight to determine if the shot pierced the lung. The slug entered the left side of the chest and ricocheted off a rib, emerging from the left side of the back.

Sheriff John Sartin spread a pickup notice to all officers of the South Plains. A broadcast was sent from the police shortwave station at Lubbock.

Details of the shooting were lacking. Sheriff Sartin said there were no witnesses that he could find.

The shooting victim came here from Odessa, the sheriff was told.

Four Children Ranging In Age From One To Ten Asphyxiated

PERTH AMBOY, N. J., Jan. 1. (AP)—Four children ranging in age from one to ten years died in a holiday tragedy today when illuminating gas, seeping through their second floor flat, overcame a family of seven.

In critical condition at Perth Amboy General hospital were Mr. and Mrs. John Guile and their daughter, Nancy, 4. Guile is a trouble-shooter for the Perth Amboy gas light company.

Killed by the fumes were two girls and two boys; Theresa, 10; Joan, 7; Frank, 3, and John, one.

THREE INJURED

HOBOKEN, N. J., Jan. 1. (AP)—Three persons were injured slightly today in a fire which swept through a city block, destroying the home of Mayor Bernard N. McFeely, four other houses, a cabinet factory, a paper plate plant and two office buildings. Fire officials estimated damage might amount to $500,000.

Two Million More Britons Called To Colors By King, Including Ages 19 To 28

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Jan. 1.—King George VI tonight signed a proclamation providing for registration of approximately two million more Britons for military service.

The action, taken through the privy council, means that military registration for service for Great Britain will involve men from the ages of 19 through 27.

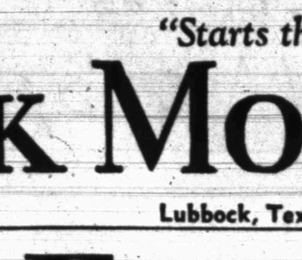

Men of 20, 21 and 22, were affected by previous conscription orders.

Tonight's order will make a total of 3,500,000 men technically under arms.

Speed To Depend

Formal call-ups for the various new age groups will be spaced over some months, with the 23-year-olds being mobilized first, perhaps on March 1.

The speed with which the new age groups will be called up will be governed by developments. There have been strong indications that British military leaders expect sharply intensified warfare in 1940.

"LITTLE MISS 1940"—Husky Edith Kay McKinley, first infant born in Lubbock in 1940, had the smile of a sweepstakes winner when informed Monday she arrived in time to win many gifts offered by Lubbock merchants. See story on page 2.

Sir Thomas Phillips, secretary to the labor ministry, said: "I think it is pretty certain that all new classes will have been called to the colors by the end of 1940."

Nazi Freighter Held Prisoner By Uruguay

(By The Associated Press)

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Jan. 1.—The black-clad nazi freighter Tacoma rolled dismally at anchor in Montevideo harbor tonight, prisoner of Uruguayan neutrality for the rest of the European war.

Her master, Captain Hans Know, submitted to internment this morning at expiration of a Uruguayan deadline giving him until 8 a. m., (5 a. m., C.S.T.) to get out.

Thus ended the bold show the Tacoma made yesterday of taking to sea to face British warships which have watched this harbor since the German pocket battleship, Admiral Graf Spee, fled into refuge here at the end of a 14-hour battle on December 13.

Had Rescued Crewmen

The 8,268-ton Tacoma stood by the Graf Spee and took aboard some of her crewmen just before the pocket battleship's commander, Captain Hans Hangsdorff, blew up his floating fortress Dec. 17, rather than accept internment or battle.

Today, without any such show of defiant violence, the Tacoma's war usefulness was ended—apparently just as effectively as was that of the Graf Spee or the great German liner Columbus, scuttled off the Virginia coast within sight of a British warship Dec. 19.

Fifty Uruguayan marines on the steamer La Valleja went out to the Tacoma this morning and boarded her. She had lain at anchor all night just inside the outer breakwater, whence, with the German battleflag flying, she had steamed yesterday from a point closer to shore.

A Urugyan naval clerk drew up the certificate of internment. Cap-

Fort Worth Woman Dies When Attending Funeral Of Son

FORT WORTH, Jan. 1. (AP)—Overcome with grief, Mrs. Sarah Martha Fitz-Charles, 75, collapsed at the conclusion of her son's funeral this afternoon, and died a few minutes later.

Justice of the Peace Gus Brown said the woman, resident of the Eastern Star home at Arlington, died in the same fashion as her son, George William Fitz-Charles, 52, who was stricken with a heart attack Sunday.

Other relatives of the son were preparing to leave a funeral home when she slumped over and did not learn of the death until services at the son's grave were ended. Survivors of the mother include another son, Wilbur Fitz-Charles, Ponca City, Okla. A sister, Mrs. Jennie George, Atchison, Kan., and a brother, Bob Johnson, Atchison.

Business Opens New Year With Brighter View

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER
Associated Press Financial Editor

NEW YORK, Jan 1 — American business starts the new year much more confidently than seemed probable a few months ago.

First reaction of many business leaders and economists to the autumn splurge of buying and manufacturing ranged from uneasiness to frank skepticism.

Maladies Avoided

But it is a widely held view among experts today that accompanying maladjustments which often make such sudden upturns shortlived, have been avoided.

Available information, they agree, does not indicate any serious accumulation of unsold merchandise.

Furthermore, several industries have enough business on their books to assure brisk operations during the early months of 1940.

After the exceptional final quarter of 1939, some slackening in the first quarter of 1940 would not be surprising, yet analysts who look for a rec[illegible]n sufficient to undermine the[illegible]y trend are hard to find.

Important Port City Of Finns Flamed By Reds

Turku, Terminus Of Materials For War Sent From Nearby Countries, Is Endangered

(By The Associated Press)

HELSINKI, Jan. 1—Many buildings in Turku, seaport city which has been the terminus of war materials sent to the Finns from their Scandinavian friends, were reported flames late tonight after a fierce raid by soviet bombers.

The Red planes, striking back for reverses suffered by Russian land armies on the central and northern fronts, roared over Turku in mid-afternoon.

Finnish dispatches said many incendiary bombs fell in the heart of the city, starting tremendous fires.

Was Former Capital

Turku, or Abo, is a city of some 20,000 population in southwestern Finland at the mouth of the gulf of Finland. It formerly was Finland's capital and is the terminus of three important rail lines.

The new aerial "blitzkrieg" was unleashed as Finns officially were announcing the smashing of a soviet motorized column and continued pursuit of a shattered Red army division on two snowbound fronts, and while President Kyosti Kallo called upon the world for help in "active resistance at the front."

The high command's communique also reported far-flung Russian air raids, apparent reprisals for severe setbacks suffered by the Red army on land, and told of one in which Russian bombs fell on Norwegian territory.

Bombs Dropped

In the Petsamo region fronting on the Arctic ocean, it said, Russian fliers crossed the Finnish-Norwegian boundary and "dropped bombs on the ice of the River Pasvik inside Norwegian territory," but there were no reports of damage or injury to anyone.

Dispatches from Kirkenes, Norway, opposite the Petsamo region, said numerous Russian soldiers on that front had been found frozen to death at their posts. Night temperatures of 40 degrees below zero fahrenheit were reported, restricting activity on both sides.

(The Finns in that region were said to be assembling an air force including big four-motored planes).

Division Routed

The Finns reported their latest success against invading Russian columns in the Salla region, just above the Arctic circle, where, they said, "our troops destroyed an enemy column of 12 cars."

About 160 miles to the south, near Suomussalmi, the communique told of further development of the "great victory" reported yesterday, in which the 163rd Red army division, some 15,000 strong, was said to have been "definitely cut up and for the most part destroyed."

Two Hundred Persons Rescued From Burning Spanish Liner

PARIS, Jan. 1. (AP)—Rescue of 200 passengers and members of the crew from the burning Spanish liner Cabo San Antonio was announced today by the French naval ministry, which said an unnamed French destroyer had taken them aboard.

Five persons were reported missing.

The liner caught fire about 500 miles west of the Canary Islands en route from Buenos Aires to Cadiz.

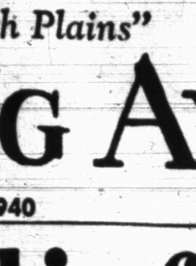

Accidental Discharge Of Gun Blamed In Youth's Shooting

SAN MARCOS, Jan. (AP)—George White, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd White, was found dead today with a shotgun charge through his right chest.

A dog which had accompanied the youth on a hunt for varmints returned to the ranch house, whining, and led the boy's mother to the body.

Indications were the gun was discharged when the boy slipped down a ledge.

HARTFORD, Conn. Jan. 1. (U.P.)—Despite his protestations of "incorrigible optimism," Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes has been selected the "leading national grouch of 1939."

The dubious honor was bestowed on the cabinet member by the Grouch Club of America, but Club President Willard B. Rodgers took some of the sting out of the selection by announcing that George Bernard Shaw had won hands down, in fact, was unopposed in the selection of the "leading international grouch."

In the national competition sponsored by the organization of grouches, Ned Sparks, who makes a living by being dour in motion pictures and on the radio, ran a close second to Ickes. Third place went to Donald Duck, movie cartoon character who is sour on everything.

Area Again Blanketed With Thin Layer Of Snow; Cold Weather Due Here Today

THE weather, shunted aside by a succession of events leading to a tenancy change of years, promised to poke back into the limelight today.

Snow at midnight had laid a thin blanket over the city after less than an hour's fall. A light rain had fallen earlier in the night, barely enough to dampen downtown streets.

The mercury had fallen to 28.5 degrees at midnight at Municipal airport.

Colder Today

There was a forecast for partly cloudy and colder weather on the South Plains today. It was not expected that sub-zero temperature of last week would be equaled, however.

A 20-mile-an hour wind was blowing from the east and the barometer was falling at midnight, further indications of unsettled and colder weather here. The ceiling had lowered to an estimated 600 feet.

Precipitation was measured at .03 of an inch at the airport.

Snowfall last week gave heart to South Plains farmers but it was generally agreed that much more moisture would be appreciated. Snow falling early today was of the wet variety, giving hope that wishes of farmers would be fulfilled.

The thermometer dropped to 1.5 degrees below zero last week, Lubbock's coldest weather in seven years.

Downtown traffic slowed to a snail's pace. There were no serious holiday week-end accidents in Lubbock but the Associated Press reported 17 fatal accidents in Texas.

Many Violent Deaths

Of the 346 violent deaths in 42 states and the District of Columbia, 173 were caused by traffic mishaps. The week-end saw 37 suicides, 23 slayings and 13 deaths by fire.

Despite lowering temperatures and precipitation, there was no indication Monday that those developments would disengage thoughts from the Lubbock Westerners, state championship. That was the chief subject of conversation where two or more Lubbockites met on the year's first holiday.

County and city offices, banks, the postoffice and members of the Retail Merchants association did not open for business. The city was quiet after a rousing welcome to the new year.

Clues Sought In Death Of Three

(By The Associated Press)

FORT TOWSON, Okla., Jan. 1—A coroner's jury found today that Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Rogers and their 4-year-old son, Dean, died from an "unknown cause," as officers searched the ashes of the farm home from which their bodies were taken after a New Year's eve tragedy.

Before reaching a decision, the jurors listened to the story of 8-year old James Glenn Rogers, who told them two strangers shot his parents and set fire to their three-room house.

Rescued Brother

As the two men spread coal oil about the house and ignited it with matches, the lad said, he snatched his one-year-old brother, Billie Don, and ran for help.

With the baby in his arms, James arrived in Fort Towson, a mile from his home, and spread the news of the tragedy.

County Attorney Norman Horton, who declared "the physical facts point to violence of some kind," said he would continue his investigation.

Ax Disappears

Horton said the boy told the same story last night, but still has not been able to give an adequate description of the intruders.

Sheriff's deputies meanwhile, sifted the ashes in unsuccessful search for weapons. Horton said an ax, which James told him was in the yard only a few hours before the fire, had disappeared.

Water In Well Dampens Zeal Of Falls City, Neb., Oilmen

FALLS CITY, Neb., Jan. 1. (AP)—Water appeared today in the Pawnee Royalty company's R. H. Boice Well, checking a new oil enthusiasm in this area.

Water seeping into the well clogged the pumps several weeks ago. Later the well was acidized, with the oil flow reported at 260 barrels a day.

"There's too much water," B. G. Guinn, one of the owners, said. "We can't tell whether we have got an oil well or water. It will take two or three days before we know."

More than 1,400 barrels of oil have been taken from the well. Guinn said pumping would continue until it was established whether the water problem is beyond solution.

Priceless Architectural Gem Of Mexico Destroyed By Fire

PUEBLA, Mexico, Jan. 1. (AP)—One of Mexico's most priceless architectural gems, the San Francisco Catholic church of Acatepec, near here, was destroyed by fire today and disconsolate citizens threatened to lynch four of its caretakers.

The four were taken to another village for safekeeping.

The church was begun in 1650 and finished in 1750. The fire started last night. The church was famed for its churrigueresque type of ornamentation—an elaborate design carved in stone. It was built of timber and was noted for its amazingly colorful and lavish use of tiles and china brought from various parts of the world.

Roosevelt Expected To Leave Problem Of Cutting Funds For Needy To Legislators

By MAX BOYD
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1—President Roosevelt will put it up to Congress this week to decide whether federal expenditures for relief and similar purposes should be reduced, an influential administration supporter predicted today.

The administration adherent, a senator who declined to be quoted by name, said he had not discussed the question directly with Mr. Roosevelt, but that he believed the chief executive would tell the reassembling legislators to do what they liked about cutting outlays and retaining or raising the $45,000,000,000 debt limit.

No Great Slashes

This informant predicted that Congress would make no great reduction in appropriations for relief, farm benefits and the like, and he said the law-makers therefore would bear the responsibility for continued large-scale spending.

Congress will reconvene at noon Wednesday and at 2 o'clock will hear Mr. Roosevelt deliver personally his annual message on the state of the union.

Any advice which he has to give on financial matters probably will be reserved for the budget message which he will send to the legislators the following day.

Business Light

Neither Senate nor House has much business in sight this week, but the anti-lynching bill by Rep. Gavagan (D-NY) is scheduled to come up in the House next week. House leaders of both major parties agreed today that this measure was sure to be passed in their chamber after two or three days' discussion. Senate opponents gave notice, however, that it would meet staunch opposition there.

"As far as I am concerned," Senator Connally (D-Texas) told reporters, "there will be no anti-lynching legislation. There may be a bill, but that is not legislation."

Prolonged debate by southern opponents of federal anti-lynching legislation has blocked Senate action on such measures in the past.

Connally, a member of the Senate finance committee, predicted there

Carver Likely To Return Here

"It's the natural thing for him to do," said Lubbock county authorities of the probability of Bennie Carver's return here after his escape from Eastham state prison camp.

The Lubbock hoodlum, last "sent up" from here last Feb. 27 for passing a forged instrument, escaped the prison farm Thursday, according to an Associated Press quotation from Joe S. Fletcher, head of the state police bureau of identification.

Details of the escape were lacking.

THE TOURIST YEAR

THOSE in the know predict that 1940 will be a banner tourist year for the whole United States. Two reasons are given for this statement: The first is that Europe is not attractive to travelers because of the war, the second that business conditions are improving.

We haven't checked with the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce but we believe that many easterners going to California will come through the Plains section. We know that those going to Mexico City or who will stop at the Carlsbad caverns will spend the night here or stop for a meal or so.

What we're getting at is that Lubbock is a business city and we hope tourist camps and hotels will begin early to care for all the company that will surely come our way within six months.

THE "BAD" CHARACTERS

THE American League of Decency gave "Gone With the Wind" a B rating and deplored its featuring a main character with questionable morals and presenting a scoundrel as an attractive person.

The two being easily recognizable by those who have read the ten pound novel as Scarlett O'Hara and Rhett Butler.

Being in the class of those who are counting the months until we are fortunate in seeing the film, we are only too glad that the producer remained true to Miss Mitchell's portrayals. Scarlett in the role of an Elsie Dinsmore or Rhett Butler pictured as the white sheep would have been too much for us.

As for the B rating, that won't hurt the reputation of the picture. The Hardy pictures were rated as B pictures by MGM and see where they have traveled!

CARE OF RUGS

CONSUMERS' counsel division of the AAA releases tips on how to care for your rug.

"Use a vacuum cleaner once a day on traveled areas; give the rug a complete vacuuming once a week. Cleaners equipped with both suction and a brush or beater are most efficient. Carpet sweepers remove only the surface dirt from the rug. Hard sweeping with a broom usually drives more dirt into the rug than it takes out. If you do use a broom, choose one with soft bristles.

"Clean a rug in the direction of the pile. Brush the pile lightly when you have finished so that it will lie all in one direction.

"Never beat a rug; this may snap the fibers and loosen the foundation.

"Shampooing the rug at home—unless the rug is a small one—is also bad practice. Send it to a reliable and experienced professional cleaner.

"So-called 'dust-cleaning' may be injurious to the rug unless done by a reliable dealer who assures you the rug will not be subjected to serious beating."

JANE PAYS OFF

WHEN Jane Hill, junior arts and science student at Texas Technological college returns from Dallas where she has spent the holidays she will find that other residents of the women's dormitory will have heard a story about her.

Last Friday Jane was in a hurry to get down town in Dallas. She ran a stop sign at Glasgow and Junius Avenue and was stopped by a traffic officer and presented with a little please call at the corporation court card.

She paid the court a call and was reprimanded by the judge and fined $3 for her violation. She elected to work out her fine by clerical duties in the judge's office.

The judge, you see, happens to be Joe M. Hill, her father. He did not accept her excuse that the sign had been put up while she was away at Tech as excuse to be excused.

Programs Given By Several Groups

Plans for 1940 were made by the Women's Missionary societies that met Monday afternoon. Some of the groups will hold general meetings next week with new officers in charge and others will complete the year's work within the next five months.

Mrs. Ewald Lamprecht directed the program on "Prayer in Personal Life." Given by the First Methodist W.M.S. at the church Mrs. Fred Adkins gave the opening prayer and scriptures were read by Mesdames Pat Magee, Ross Trigg, L. N. Lipscomb, Robert Maxey, and J. D. Peters. Mrs. J. B. Cardwell will furnish special music. The closing prayer was given by Mrs. J. E. Henderson.

Pledge Accepted

A short business meeting was held and the society voted to accept a connectional pledge of $1326 and a local pledge of $200 for 1940.

Central Baptist W.M.S., met at the church for a Bible study. Mrs. W. L. Adkins gave the devotional and Mrs. J. B. Vickery gave the opening prayer.

Rev. Jack Welch taught the lesson on "The Promised Redeemer."

There were 16 members and two new members present, Mrs. P. W. Wassom and Mrs. A. A. Wassom. Mrs. Ran Smith dismissed the group.

The 13 officers of the Asbury W.M.S., met at the home of Mrs. J. E. Walters, president, for a covered dish luncheon and business meeting.

Plans were made for the new year.

The Livingston circle of the Calvary Baptist church met with Mrs. W. W. Ray for a Bible lesson from Samuel I. There were four members present.

Fatal Beating Of Philadelphia Man Puzzles Investigators

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 1. (AP)—A murder with no apparent motive confronted police today as they sought a solution of the fatal beating of Harvey Hess, 32-year-old Sape May, N. J., choir singer and secretary to the majority leader of the New Jersey state senate.

A trail of blood staining the snow-covered ground led Richard Axe, 16, to the almost nude body of Hess on the banks of the Schuylkill river yesterday. Major Samuel W. Gerhardt of the Cheltenham township police said Hess' head and face had been crushed and his body thrown over a retaining wall.

Investigators said only a small amount of money in Hess' pockets indicated he might have been robbed.

Ferry Tips Over And Sinks; None Hurt

LAKE CHARLES, La., Jan. 1. (AP)—The Creole ferry, operating 30 miles south of here across the intracoastal canal on the new Cameron highway, was tipped over and sunk last night by a heavily loaded truck.

Traffic between several Cameron parish towns and Lake Charles was disrupted as highway commisison crews worked today to raise the ferry before nightfall.

No one was injured in the mishap and the truck and its trainer managed to make shore before the barge settled into 30 feet of water at the foot of the landing.

Funeral Services Conducted Sunday For Lubbock Resident

Funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon for C. O. Bowden, 51, of 4001 Twenty-first street, who died early that morning of a malignant throat ailment in Plains hospital.

"Sons Of Momus" Hold Old Parade

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 1 (U.P.)—Twenty thousand brilliantly bedecked "Sons of Momus" marched today in Philadelphia's famed Mummers' parade, which first started exactly a century ago.

Deep tiers of Philadelphians and visitors lined the streets to cheer the 27 units competing for $25,000 in prizes. The parade took four hours to pass a given point.

Numerous string bands, strumming the perennial song of the shooters, "Oh, Dem Golden Slippers," pranced and danced their way along. Captains of the fancy dress organizations had worked in secret since last year sewing and planning their elaborate costumes.

The temperature hovered around 18 degrees. The tuba in the band froze and feet were icy, but the cold failed to dampen the spirits of the marchers on the spectators. One mummer and several spectators were treated at hospitals for exposure.

The Chamber of Commerce has formulated plans to make the parade the center of a carnival of several days somewhat similar to New Orleans' Mardi Gras.

OFFICERS NAMED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1. (U.P.)—H. C. Dixon, professor of history at the University of Missouri, has been elected second vice president of the American political science association which concluded its 35th annual convention in Washington on Sunday. Professor Robert C. Brooks of Swarthmore college was chosen president of the association, and Sen Elbert D. Thomas, D., Utah, was elected first vice president. Third vice president is Professor T. S. Barclay of Stanford university.

Four Lubbock Babies Will Have No Trouble Remembering Birthdays; Born New Year's Day

At least three babies who were born in Lubbock will have no trouble remembering their birthdays.

They were born on New Year's day and one will receive numerous gifts from merchants, as is customary for the first baby born in the city limits each year.

Edith Kay McKinley, 11 pounds 9½ ounces, born at 7:12 o'clock Monday morning at West Texas hospital to Mr. and Mrs. J. R. McKinley of a short distance south of Lubbock, apparently was the first to arrive in Lubbock.

Other New Year's births in Lubbock were:

A son weighing 5 pounds 6 3-4 ounces to Mr. and Mrs. Wilford Snipes of Lubbock route 1, two miles east of the city, born at 2:45 o'clock Monday afternoon at Lubbock sanitarium. Snipes is a farmer. The infant was named Jerry Dayle.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilford Snipes of two miles north of Lubbock on birth of a son weighing 5 pounds 6½ ounces at 2:45 o'clock Monday afternoon at Lubbock sanitarium. The father is a farmer.

A daughter weighing 7 pounds 11 ounces to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hughes of Tahoka route 4 at 10:50 o'clock Monday morning at Plains hospital. Hughes is a farmer.

Is Seventh Child

Edith Kay is the seventh child of the McKinleys, others being, Robert, jr., 16; Barbara Ann, 14; Mary Charlotte, 13; Thomas Lee, 9; Vergie Nell, 6, and Mona Rae, 4.

McKinley is a plumbing contractor. The family moved from Lubbock to Pampa in 1929, but returned here in January of 1939.

The family lives a short distance out of the city limits, near the Slaton highway.

New Year's Eve Entertainment Given At Bagley Residence

Changes In Texas Health Laws Suggested In Letters To ...is Legislators

...resent Laws ...re Criticized

AUSTIN, Jan. 1. (AP)—The Texas ...cial Hygiene association today ...t a new year letter to each mem... of the Texas Legislature suggest... changes in Texas health laws ...the interest of "preventive medi...e."

Legislators were asked to consult ...ir local health officials and as...tain the needs of the communi... which they represent.

Organization Criticized

"Present health organization was ...icized as to system and opera... The letter signed by R... F. Voy... general secretary of the associa... said:

"Under the present system the ...rd consists of nine men who may ...may not have any character of ...ining or experience in public ...alth work, economics, sociology, ...business. Because ...the infrequency and brevity of ...ir meetings they wield but little ...trol and dictate but few policies ...the operations of the state health ...icer and his department.

Free To Control

"Thus, the state health officer is ...t quite free to control the activi... of every local health officer and ...partment, and he is responsible ...the protection of health of 6,... ,000 people. He also has virtual ...trol over the spending and dis...rsing of more than $750,000 each ...r.

"Under the present regulations it ...almost impossible for officials or ...izen groups to eliminate any bad ...actices which might exist either ...thin the board of health or the ...te department of health. Neither ...es the law afford a means suffi...nt to develop active rather than ...ssive interest by the state depart...nt toward numerous essential ...tutory health regulations.

Fail To Tell

"This past year has witnessed a ...odification of the health laws of ...s state and a survey has shown ...at most health officials have ig...red a majority of them. Recent ...partment activities have disclosed ...at a majority of these officials do ...t even know the difference be...een 'seeking compliance with' ...d the 'enforcement' of laws.

"It was discovered that most per...ns to whom these various laws ...ve applied for more than twenty ...ars were not even aware of their ...istence. Officials had failed to tell ...em. Consequently, they could not ...expected to comply with them.

"Because of the political import... average health official hesitates ...demand that doctors comply with ...blic health regulations, and he ...es no charges when gross viola...ns appear. A larage number of ...her adverse conditions exist be...use of the flexibility of the laws ...ablished to control health depart...nt activities."

"Cinderella Girl" Of Film Colony Weds Army Officer

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 1 (U.P.)—Judy King, one of Hollywood's "Cinderella girls," was honeymooning today with Lieut. Ben Funk of the U. S. army air corps.

The young actress and the flyer, who met here on a film set, eloped to Winslow, Ariz., and were married by the Rev. Fred Daehler. Funk's brother, Harold, married Evelyn June Paine of Denver in the same ceremony.

Eighteen months ago Miss King came here from Dallas, Tex., to sell the movies a song she composed. The movie-makers looked at her, instead of her song, and the pretty Texas girl was placed under contract as an actress.

Her true name is Jane Simmons, and she is the daughter of the late Dr. J. J. Simmons of Dallas.

Edna Best, British actress, was at Las Vegas, one of the Nevada divorce capitals today, but whether this meant a divorce from actor Herbert Marshall, she would not say.

The blond actress was discovered living at a dude ranch.

"I'm here for a rest," she said. "The Nevada climate will aid me in recovering from a throat ailment."

By staying here six weeks she becomes a legal Nevada resident and may file for a divorce if she wishes.

A damage suit revealed today that Robert Young and Allan Jones, film stars, are in the riding stable business.

They were sued for $16,287 damages by Nancy C. Adrews, 18, who claimed she was thrown from a "wild and unmanageable" horse rented from a stable owned by the stars.

Claims Filed By Oklahoma

By JOHN OWEN
Associated Press Staff Writer

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 1 (AP)—No man's land—that 150-mile sliver shaved from Oklahoma's west border—may be worth $50,000 to the state nine years after the U. S. Supreme court handed it to Texas.

The state land board has claims to that amount against 5,221 acres on which it made loans before the state line was lifted eastward.

Probe Made

Charles B. Steele, board secretary, said today after a conference with Texas officials at Austin that his own investigation gave him the opinion there was no question of Oklahoma's right to sue to obtain judgments.

However, he added, he was studying legal questions as to whether it could foreclose on the land itself.

The slice the supreme court took from the state in 1930 after a resurvey disclosed it had been erroneously included in Oklahoma's borders is less than a mile wide at its southern base and narrows to about an eighth of a mile at the Oklahoma Panhandle.

Twenty-one tracts are involved in the loans.

"Whether the mortgages were invalidated or not by the decision the debt wasn't," Steele contends. "The borrowers are still liable under their notes."

The 21 loans are on land in Roger Mills, Harmon, Ellis and Beckham counties. Nine of the borrowers are still paying.

That wasn't the only financial question confronting the land board when Texas won back the area.

The board had issued 55 certificates of purchase on 8,800 acres it had sold. Fourteen remained unpaid but the balance was not large and the state couldn't lose much on them, Steele said.

Have Advantage

However, under procedure Texas is expected to follow it appears the 14 could pay their balances and reinstate any rights they had under Oklahoma laws, Steele added. That presumably would give them certain benefits of Texas statutes.

Whether any of the 14 would choose to pay the state remains to be seen.

"The main thing is salvaging the 21 loans," Steele said.

Oklahoma lost its tax rights when the land was transferred and Texas is not imposing any delinquent taxes, so the owners have that much advantage.

An estimated seven trillion cubic feet of natural gas has been used from the Texas Panhandle field since its discovery.

Bars Of Juarez Closed On New Year's Day In Surprise Move

JUAREZ, Chih., Mexico, Jan. 1 (AP)—A surprise order by Mayor Octavio Escobar closed bars of this once gay border spot this New Year's day.

Previously, it had been announced that Governor Talamantas of Chihuahua state had decided to grant a six-months stay of a bar-closing law passed by the Legislature two weeks ago.

Memphis Asks Guild Meeting

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 1. (AP)—On a railroad platform 20 minutes after midnight, dapper Edward H. Crump became mayor of Memphis today but resigned five seconds later after rescinding his predecessor's invitation to the American Newspaper guild to hold its 1940 convention here next June.

Crump, fiery political overlord here for three decades, said his action was aimed at the CIO, of which the guild is an affiliate, and at Watkins Overton, mayor of Memphis the past 12 years and with whom Crump broke last year over municipal purchase of local utilities.

Local guild officials and Milton Kaufman, executive vice-president of the guild, assailed Crump's action as "undemocratic" and said it would not change their plans to meet in Memphis.

Against CIO

"I have always believed in fair organized labor and my record so speaks, but I am opposed to CIO", Crump said in a statement issued prior to his inauguration. "If CIO could entrench itself in Memphis, this city would go back ten years."

Kaufman, in New York City, said that "if Memphis is more than Boss Crump, then the guild will meet in Memphis.

"The guild is meeting there at the invitation of working newspapermen who live there," he asserted. "These men are members of a CIO union which is promoting and defending democracy in America. Perhaps this fact explains his attitude."

Before resigning Crump advised city council to elect Rep. Walter Chandler (D-Tenn) in his place as mayor.

Surplus Profits Tax Law Of Mexico Becomes Effective

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 1 (AP)— The hotly debated surplus profits tax law recently approved by Congress today went into effect.

The law, which Mexican industry and commerce have united to fight because they charge it will dry up new capital investments here, levies a 15-to-35 percent tax on all industries with an annual income of 100,000 pesos or more when profits rise above 15 percent.

The revenue will be used to balance the record-breaking 1940 budget.

BRIDE KILLED—Lying dead or unconscious across tracks of an interurban electric line, near South Bend, Ind., Mrs. Irene Smith, 26, bride of six weeks, was run over when motorman failed to see her in time. Marks found near scene led police to believe she had been dragged onto tracks and murdered.

Gov. O'Daniel Makes Resolutions; Good Custom, He States

AUSTIN, Jan. 1. (AP)—the time-honored custom of making new year resolutions is still a good one, according to Governor W. Lee O'Daniel, and in his broadcast from the executive mansion yesterday he suggested five.

With his observations on them, they follow:

Engage in legitimate undertakings. They last longer.

Make friends; and they'll make you.

Take good care of your body. It's the only one you'll ever have.

Follow the sign-posts as printed in the Ten Commandments. No better rules have been discovered during the past 2,000 years.

Take God as your silent partner in all your undertakings. He'll put up with you longer than any other partner.

Troops Sent To Caribbean Area

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1 (U.P.)—Official sources today disclosed that the army has transferred more than 6,000 troops to Puerto Rico and the Panama Canal zone since the outbreak of the European war to make the Caribbean area America's most fortified segment.

Also, it was revealed that the army has asked Congress for emergency funds to assemble high-explosive mines to protect the nation's key harbors and the Panama canal in the event war threatens.

The funds are included in the $275,000,000 deficiency appropriation bill submitted to Congress by President Roosevelt to meet defense and neutrality needs.

The mines, most of which are now in storage, would be used at such vital centers as New York, Boston, Norfolk, Puget Sound, San Francisco and San Diego.

Most of the army reinforcements, which have been rushed into the area, have been infantry troops and anti-aircraft batteries, which could be welded into mobile units capable of fending any sudden attack.

Knox To Be Sworn In Today To New Post

AUSTIN, Jan. 1. (AP)—Harry Knox of Brownwood, who has been adjutant general, will be sworn in tomorrow as a member of the important state board of control.

The board probably will elect a chairman later tomorrow. Hold-over board members are Frank Davis of Itasca, appointed by Governor W. Lee O'Daniel, and Tom Deberry of Bogata, appointed by former Governor James V. Allred.

It was not known whether any important personnel or policy changes would ensue from Knox' appointment. This will be the second important commission to come under the control of O'Daniel appointees, the first having been the department of public welfare.

Knox will be succeeded as adjutant general by Colonel J. Watt Page of Fort Worth.

LET FREEDOM RING!

IN NO OTHER LAND does the magic word HOME mean so much as it does in America today. For our homes are not only the symbols of our liberty but our standards of achievement for all the rest of the world.

In our homes we enjoy freedom of speech and opinion. Freedom of the press and freedom of speech by radio make it possible for every man, woman and child to be informed of the affairs of the world.

There is another freedom we enjoy in our homes that is the envy of the rest of the world—freedom from drudgery, drafts and contamination. And for this freedom we can give thanks largely to the Heating and Plumbing Contractors of America.

Heating and Plumbing are the twin guardians of our family welfare. Heating safeguards our homes against cold, dampness and discomfort upon which sickness thrives. Plumbing supplies the fresh, pure water so essential to well-being and carries away waste so dangerous to good health.

Both Heating and Plumbing are too essential to the welfare of your family and to the uninterrupted enjoyment of your home to be entrusted to any but the skilled hands of a Heating and Plumbing Contractor.

Heads of Organized Labor Call On United States To "Make Democracy Work"

Report Made To Miss Perkins

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1. (AP)—Leaders of organized labor, cheered by federal forecasters of better business in 1940, called on the nation today to "make democracy work."

Said President William Green of the American Federation of labor:

"We should not reply on war prosperity to solve our economic difficulties. Chief of these is unemployment."

Said President John L. Lewis of the CIO:

Will Be Solved

"America's problems must and will be solved in this country in American methods . . . we must steadfastly turn aside from giddy dreams of foreign ventures."

But the barbs of old feuds lurked, though mildly, in their salutes to the new year. Secretary Perkins, whose forecast of continued business improvement cited figures showing the betterment of industry, labor, farmers and investors during 1939, replied briefly in New York to a criticism from Green.

Green, calling Miss Perkins' annual report to Congress "thoroughly uninformed, misleading and untrue" in tracing the split in labor's ranks, had suggested that Congress "wring from her the truth she surpressed." He objected, among other things, to her statement that AFL "claimed" 4,000,000 members.

Books Not Examined

"We do not 'claim,' we report 4,000,000 paid-up members," he declared.

Miss Perkins said:

"I used 'claim' in the literal meaning of the word—that is, they say they have 4,000,000 members. I have not examined the books of either the AFL or the CIO. Obviously it would be impossible for me to check the records of 4,000,000 men."

QUINTS BELONG TO DADDY—Agreement by Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe to resign as guardian of the Dionne quintuplets ends a series of controversies between the doctor and the Dionnes over control of the quints. Oliva Dionne had sued the physician, twice over income received through advertising contracts, and once charging ridicule. The quints' father had long protested the separation of the five girls from the rest of the Dionne family. Dr. Dafoe, shown above with Yvonne, Annette, Marie, Cecile and Emilie, has cared for the quints since the day he brought them into the world and will continue as their personal physician. The agreement signed by Dr. Dafoe and Mr. Dionne, wipes out the pending legal actions. It recommends erection of a house in which the children can live with the rest of the family.

the woman's house, but Carver beat them to the draw, went to the woman's house and abducted her again. She was not harmed and Carver was arrested. Soon afterward he was arrested in connection with forged checks and sent to the penitentiary.

Carver's record, as showed on FBI records:

Sept. 14, 1930, received at the Texas penitentiary under the name of Bennie Carver to serve two years for theft over $50. He was released April 17, 1937.

June 26, 1932, at Douglas, Wyo., as James Allen, finger-printed for investigation into car theft.

Sentenced In Nebraska

June 27, 1932, the sheriff's office at Auburn, Neb., received him as James Allen on a charge of burglary, and he was sentenced in the state court at Auburn to three and one-half years in the Nebraska penitentiary, entering the penitentiary July 20 of that year.

May 20, 1935, as Bennie Carver, he was booked by the police department in Lubbock in connection with kidnaping and theft.

June 8, 1935, the Plainview sheriff's office received him as Bennie Carver and investigated his status in regard to a stolen car.

July 10, 1935, he entered Huntsville penitentiary as Bennie Carver to serve two to three years for burglary and theft.

July 7, 1937, as Bennie Carver, he was investigated at San Angelo after his arrest by the police department.

Then, Feb. 27, 1939, he went to the penitentiary on his latest conviction.

ward of Hockley county jail in Levelland. Davis was brought to jail here.

Meantime, Mann escaped afoot and later forced A. E. Robinson to drive him to near town, where he took a light coupe.

Highway patrolmen jumped the fleeing Mann in the coupe early the next morning near Crosbyton but after a wild 85-mile-an-hour chase, the fugitive left the car.

Davis Trial Delayed

B. L. Wooddell and Billy Johnson, highway patrolmen, and Crosby county officers, arrected Mann in a dugout in the southwest part of Crosbyton, less than five blocks from the courthouse, the night of Dec. 10. He was unarmed and submitted peaceably to arrest.

A special grand jury was convened two weeks ago to investigate the murder charges. True bills were returned against Mann and Davis.

Trial of Davis probably will not be called until the regular term of 72nd court in April, officials said.

would be no general tax bill at the forthcoming session because this was an election year.

He said he thought Congress would not enact a special tax to meet extraordinary national defense outlays.

If the House passed a general tax bill, the Texan added, he would offer an amendment to it to limit profits in case this country became engaged in war.

Many Reach Capital

Many legislators have already reached the snow-covered capital for the opening of the session, but because this was New Year's day few were at their offices.

Vice President Garner and Democratic Leader Rayburn of the House arrived this morning. Rayburn is to see Mr. Roosevelt tomorrow, and Garner is expected to talk with the chief executive tomorrow or the next day. There was much speculation as to what might occur at the latter meeting, in view of Garner's candidacy for the presidency and his opposition to some administration measures in the past.

Victims Of Earthquake Area Are Plagued By Many Ills

ANKARA, Jan. 1. (AP)—Officials announced tonight that more than 300 persons were killed throughout Turkey by floods, some of which raged through sections devastated by last week's earthquakes.

Simultaneously new storms along the Black sea caused great damage. The 700-ton Turkish freighter Turkian capsized and went down with a crew of 20 and it was feared several other freighters may have sunk.

Hordes of rabid dogs, racing throughout the stricken area and biting many persons, brought fears of a rabies epidemic. Already, typhoid and pneumonia are prevalent and many have died of gangrene.

In some mountain sections, wolves were attacking homeless survivors.

Hundreds of square miles between Amassia and Tokat were marked by deep ditches, some 36 feet wide, where the earth's crust was broken by the quakes. From some of these ditches, sulphurous fumes exuded. Geysers spoted from others.

Additional tremors were felt in the northeastern earthquake zone, where the official estimate of deaths in last week's quakes and ensuing blizzard exceeded 45,000.

Million In Person, Hundreds By Television, See Parade

PASADENA, Calif., Jan. 1. (AP) — The annual Tournament of Roses parade was witnessed by more than a million persons today, but other hundreds saw it for the first time by television.

Portable equipment, including a camera with a telefoto lens, flashed synchronized sight-sound images nine miles to television channel to several hundred receivers in the Los Angeles metropolitan area.

Thomas S. Lee, station owner, said numbers of "lookers" telephoned the reception was excellent, despite cloudy weather and some rain during the parade. The parade theme was "20th Century in Flowers."

Census Begins Today

Green, Colorado City; M. W. Clark, Snyder; R. R. Cates, Brownfield; J. S. Lamar, Stanton; and Corbin Olsumner, Lamesa.

District 19 is comprised of Garza, Lynn, Terry, Yoakum, Gaines, Dawson, Borden, Scurry, Mitchell, Howard, Martin and Andrews. Frank Farmer of Snyder is assistant supervisor. Walter Taylor is ofice clerk and Irma Lynn Coleman, stenographer.

Enumerators for Lubbock district had previously been announced.

Enumerators Are Named

Walter S. Dickenson of Lubbock has been assigned to the area north of Broadway to Fourth street, bounded by College avenue on the West and the city limits on the east.

J. E. Henderson of Lubbock has been assigned to the district bordered by Broadway on the north, Nineteenth street on the south, College avenue on the west and the city limits on the east.

Other Lubbock district enumerators and the areas in which they will begin work today are:

Connie D. Gupton of Muleshoe, all of Bailey county; H. E. Hughes of Levelland, the town of Levelland; Aubrey C. Loyd of Amherst, north part of Lamb county including Amherst and Olton; J. B. Scott of Plainview, southern part of the city of Plainview; J. Lance Suits of Lockney, the town of Lockney; L. C. Horn of Crosbyton, the town of Crosbyton; Glenn H. Huls of Jayton, Kent county; Leo C. Duncan of Haskell, the city of Haskell.

Assigned To Other Areas

Upon completion of work in those areas, the enumerators will be assigned to other areas within the 13-county district of which Bean is supervisor.

There will be no other appointments of enumerators for the business and manufactures census. No additional enumerators will be appointed until shortly before opening of the population and agricultural section of the census April 1.

Expectations are that the first section of the census will require from six to eight weeks.

Census headquarters have been established in the McElroy building. In addition to the formerly announced appointments, Miss Jean Gouldy of Plainview has been chosen assistant stenographer in the census office.

Cover Broader Field

This year's census will cover a broader field than any former canvass. Earlier censuses have been concerned principally with measuring quantitatively the expansion of the country in population, territory and resources. Now, with increasing evidences of national maturity, with population increases slowed down, census officials believe that the 1940 census should include the gathering of information which would throw light on internal social and economic problems, according to information from district headquarters.

The population schedule for 1940 will, therefore, concern itself with working status, hours worked, unemployment and usual occupations.

It will for the first time seek information on the amount of wages or salary for the past 12 months. It will be concerned with migration, requiring an indication of where the respondents lived five years ago. It will attempt to measure the degree of education and find out the highest school or college grade completed. "The question on illiteracy will be eliminated because illiteracy in the United States has become almost a negative quantity except among the aged," according to announced information.

The manufactures census will put emphasis on plant equipment; the classification of employes; salaries and wages of employes engaged in manufacturing and distribution separately; value of construction work done, and the re-insertion of the power equipment inquiry seeking the amount of total expenditures for new plant and new equipment.

The business census schedules have been revised to include cost value of inventories at both the beginning and end of the year; consumer debt (accounts receivable) outstanding at beginning and end of the year; both installment and open accounts; information on the extent of self-employment and withdrawals of proprietor-owners; facts on length of ownership by present owners and date of original establishment of the business; and a detailed breakdown of sales by commodities. New this year is a schedule on sales finance companies, to complete further the picture on consumer debt. The final touches to that picture will be added when information is available on bank extension of credit to consumers (small loans and chattel loans on the installment plan, by banks). The business census will include contractors and builders engaged in construction.

News Briefs

Body of E. L. Howe, about 67, who died at 8 o'clock Monday morning at Tech Tourist camp, probably will be sent to Massachusetts for burial, Sanders Funeral home reported Monday night. Among survivors are a sister in Massachusetts. Mr. Howe, who had lived in Lubbock about three years, had suffered asthma several years.

Deputy Sheriff Of Marfa Is Slain; Suspect Admits It

MARFA, Jan. 1. (AP)—Deputy Sheriff Bob Speed of Presidio county was shot to death today at Shafter, mining town about 50 miles south of here.

Sheriff J. D. Bunton said a liquor store proprietor in Shafter made a statement admitting the slaying. The suspect was lodged in jail here.

Bunton said he expected to take into custody an eye-witness to the shooting. Speed, former Texas ranger, had been a deputy sheriff here 13 years.

Sheriff Bunton said the suspect recently suffered a superficial bullet wound when Speed went to his establishment to quell a disturbance.

Speed is survived by two sons, Eustace of the Houston area, and Bobbie, Texas A. & M. student who was home for the holidays.

Wagon Boss For Matador Ranch Will Move To New Mexico

Matador, Jan. 1. (Special) — Walker Williams, wagon boss for the Matador ranch, has been named manager of the Diamond Bar division of the Bruner-Badger Cattle company near Magdalena, N. M. He has been a Matador employe for many years.

The New Mexico concern divided the 350,000 acre holdings and Hal Bruner, one of the partners, took the Diamond Bar properties. Arch Conner will manage the three smaller properties which Mr. Badger will retain, the Bear Spring Muleshoe and Double Circle ranches.

Peace Would Upset Farmer

By OVID MARTIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1 —Secretary Wallace warned farmers today that unless they preserve and strengthen governmental machinery for crop adjustment, peace in Europe could upset American agriculture with a new depression paralleling that which followed the World war.

There is grave danger, the agriculture department chief declared, that the war with its stimulating effect upon demand and prices of farm products will be regarded as a solution of the farm problem. That would be foolish, he added, because a return to peace would be inevitable after the war.

No Way Of Knowing

In his annual report on the agricultural situation and efforts of his department to restore farm income to a parity with that of non-farm groups, the secretary placed special emphasis on new problems he expects the current war to toss at American farmers.

"Whether or not the pattern of the last war and the post-war period will be repeated we do not know, but we know that war usually destroys or reduces the purchasing power of belligerent countries."

Hence the outbreak of hostilities is not a reason for abandoning our efforts to conserve the soil, to keep farm output in adjustment with current and prospective demand, and to establish a rural-urban balance on the basis of equitable price relationships.

May Cut Acreage

"On the contrary it is a reason for strengthening our machinery to accomplish these ends," he declared.

The secretary said it was probable that peace will find us thoroughly maladjusted to peacetime conditions that agriculture will again be faced with the need of drastic acreage limitation, that rural and urban unemployment will cause a further increase of non-commercial farming, and that commercial agriculture will find itself in more urgent need than ever of safeguards against the depressing influences of world prices.

Need Forecast

He predicted that unless the nation can shift quickly from heavy urban production for a world war to equally heavy urban production for a large domestic consumption agriculture would again lapse back into "price depression and stagnation."

Wallace forecast a need for these peacetime governmental aids.

Efforts to sustain farm prices by means of additional acreage price-supporting commodity loans and subsidies to move exports at world prices.

To critics of the administration crop control programs, Wallace had this to say:

Approach Sought

"There is no question of going back to laissez faire. For agriculture the problem is simply to get the nearest approach to a permanent equitable farm adjustment with the least drawback in national disadvantage. The only way is to continue broadly along the path we already have marked out."

The secretary said he held the hope of American agriculture recapturing its former position in world markets. He said the war seems to have widened the economic gulf between the new and the old world, and to have delayed the hope of "genuine reciprocal trade between the hemispheres."

No Basis For Fear

Wallace said he saw the possibility of increased trade with Latin and South American countries resulting from the war. Such trade would involve, he said, increased exports of industrial goods and such farm produces as flour, lard and certain canned goods, and increased imports of agricultural products principally tropical kinds not competitive with American agriculture.

Prospects of this trade kind, Wallace said, have caused "some concern in agricultural quarters" in the country, founded on "visions of a large influx of competitive agricultural products."

"There is, as a matter of fact no basis for any such fears," the secretary declared.

Texas Political Parade Starts

AUSTIN, Jn. 1. —Texas' [illegible] political parade started today with Judge George Christian of Burnet announcing he would be a candidate for a position on the state court of criminal appeals.

Christian, a member of the commission aiding the court for 12 years, will see the place now held by Thomas L. Beauchamp of Tyler appointed last October by Governor W. Lee O'Daniel. Beauchamp is expected to run for a full six-year term but has not yet announced.

Originally named to the commission by former Governor [illegible] Moody, Judge Christian has been reappointed in succeeding years by the court since a change in the appointive power was made. He was an assistant attorney general under Moody from 1923 to 1927 and prior to that has been district attorney of a district comprising Burnet, Menard, Kimble, Llano, Mason, Gillespie, Blanco and San Saba counties.

Christian began the practice of law in 1[illegible] after receiving his higher education at Southwestern University, Georgetown and the University of Texas.

First Littlefie Graduate Of West Point Transferred

LITTLEFIELD, Jan. 1. (Special) —Lieut. Tilden L. Wright, son of Mrs. Vernie Wright of this city and the late Littlefield man, graduate from the U. S. military academy at West Point, has been transferred from the Dallas aviation school to Randolph Field, San Antonio.

After graduating from Littlefield high school, he attended the University of Texas and was appointed to West Point by Congressman George Mahon of Colorado City. He was prominent in athletics at both the university and West Point and was a rifle marksman.

Last June he graduated from West Point and later was transferred to the air corps and sent to Dallas. There were in the class there were but 36 men.

After the months training at Randolph field, cadets who complete training will be sent to Kelley field to study fisher.

Trojans, Aggies, Clemson Triumph In Bowl Classics

Southern Cal's Power Shatters Vols, 14 To 0

By ROBERT MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

ROSE BOWL, Pasadena, Calif., Jan. 1.—The Orange and White of Tennessee drooped in defeat tonight for the first time in two long years, and there was gloom and sadness in the Volunteer state of the South, for the mighty Trojans of Southern California defeated its team in the annual New Year's Day Rose Bowl classic.

Flashing a relentless attack that spelled power and more power, the Trojan giants of the West crushed the valiant Vols, 14 to 0, in a game that kept a howling, capacity throng of 92,000 on edge for 60 minutes.

Explode In Second

One savage burst of strength in the second quarter broke the Tennessee record of never a score against it, much less a defeat, in 16 games, and when the Vols turned loose a whirlwind parade late in the fourth period, luck was against them.

A fumble, Southern California recovered—and the warriors of Troy, ringing up their sixth triumph in this post-season classic, travelled 85 yards in 20 plays for the second touchdown.

Schindler Is Star

Hero of the Trojan victory was the lad "who came back," Amblin' Ambrose Schindler, 190 pounds of battering ability from San Diego, Calif., who scored the first touchdown and passed over the goal line for the second.

On the receiving end of that pass, which came as darkness drifted over the roaring throng, was antelope Al Krueger, the substitute end who caught the pass that brought defeat to Duke in this bowl one year ago.

Fumble Proves Costly

Tennessee with its star back, George Cafego, playing intermittently but never up to his old form, was unable to get across the 50 yard stripe until early in the final quarter. The offense that had whipped 23 teams in succession couldn't penetrate the Trojans.

Suddenly the Vols came to life after they had been forced back to the one yard line by Quarterback Grenville Lansdell's coffin corner kick. Johnny Butler, standing back in the end zone, passed the team out of danger, and the Vols roared on in a sustained drive to the Trojan 29 yard line—and Bob Newman, fullback, fumbled.

Engle Recovers

Roy Engle, Trojan sub, recovered on his own 15, and the warriors of Troy, fearing their seven point margin might be wiped out, rushed on to score. They had dominated the play all day, rolling up at the end, 18 first downs to 9, end advancing the ball 272 yards to 141.

Troy's first touchdown started from the Tennessee 47. Schindler, a senior playing his last game for S.C., and Fullback Jock Banta, ripped and battered the tiring Vols in steady rushes—from the 20, Schindler made eight, and the Vols were pushed back to the one yard line for unnecessary roughness. Schindler made one, and then went over for the touchdown.

Bid Early In Fourth

Tennessee made its bid as the 4th quarter began. Butler passed for 17 to Hust, added 10 more and with Newman and Bob Foxx helping moved into Trojan territory when Foxx passed to Jim Coleman for 36 yards.

Tennessee was on the move. They went on, but Butler was out of the line—injured. Buist Warren came in, and Tennessee pounded on to the 19. Newman got the ball, hit the right side of the line, the ball bounced out of his hands and the Vols' threat was over.

Trojans' Passes Click

Schindler took over. He made nine, one, seven, Banta added six, Banta 14, Schindler five, and so on, first downs rolled under the Trojans, until they reached the one on Schindler's last two line smashes. The Vols were tense, and easy prey to the gentle, arching pass lofted

Mighty Texans Surge Back In Fourth, 14-13

By FELIX R. McKNIGHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW ORLEANS, La., Jan. 1.—Bull shouldered John Alex Kimbrough, sturdy son of the Texas cow country, gathered his fading Texas Aggies for a dramatic fourth period surge that buried Tulane's Green Wave, 14-13, in the Sugar Bowl classic today.

Seventy three thousand, the Southland's largest football throng, saw today one of the most destructive fullbacks the game has ever known simply crush a Tulane team that had pulled ahead, 13-7, on a grand comeback of its own.

The six foot, two inch Haskell, Texas lad, a streamlined 210-pounder carried the ball 25 times from scrimmage and gained 152 yards, averaging 5.7 yards each time he burrowed into the Green Wave. No one knew how much he did actually gain, for he added many more yards on the tailend of cunning Aggie lateral passes. Only once was he stopped without gain.

Poise Leaves Aggies

No longer than it took to get the kickoff after Tulane had punched them groggy for a fourth period touchdown, did Kimbrough and his weary mates wait to sweep down field 70 yards on seven plays for the clinching score.

The poise that left the vicious Aggies when Bob (Jitterbug) Kellogg, Tulane's great climax runner, sprinted 75 yards on an incredible sideline run for a third period touchdown that erased the Aggies 7-0 half-time lead, returned when it seemed the Wave had demoralized them with old fashioned power.

Cadet Passes Click

Throughout the first two periods the Aggies, a cruel, machine-like team that battered for 18 first downs to Tulane's eight and gained 306 yards to 193, looked like a team that couldn't be stopped.

Kimbrough, a 21-0 pound All-America boy who still has another year of college football, crashed into the renowned Tulane line with power that had never been seen in these parts.

Aggie pass plays clicked and the Green Wave; stopped once on the six by a surging cadet line, seemed unable to start its power rolling.

Returns Long Punt

Still shackled through six minutes of the third period, Tulane got the shock it needed when Kellogg, a red-haired thunderbolt, caught a looping punt on his 25 yard stripe, moved over to the sideline and started churning. Guard Marshall Robnett of the Aggies got his hands on him from behind, rode him five yards and then slipped off.

Four more Aggies were tumbled off their feet by perfect blocking and Kellogg went the last 25 yards unmolested. James Thibaut kicked the tying point.

Stunned Aggies Fumble

Bewildered, the Aggies got plain jittery to setup the second Tulane score. Sophomore Derace Moser, trapped on a sweep run from a wide

UP IN THE AIR!—And that describes the Waco Tigers as of last Saturday when the Lubbock Westerners undermined their state championship hopes by taking a 20-14 victory at the Dallas Cotton Bowl. This picture, an exclusive shot by Jack Lawler of the Dallas Times-Herald staff, is typical of the picture of Lubbock getting Waco's goat. You see Howard Alford dropping his offensive nature long enough to submarine and shoestring Waco's ball carrier, Bowen. But if Alford, No. 27, were to fail, there's L. A. Storrs, No. 20, about to complete the deal. When Bowen hit the ground, he landed on the back of his neck and his feet were straight up in the air. No. 25, at the left, is James Merriman, Lubbock guard. At the right, No. 24, Pat Parris, is rushing up to the rescue, although Francis Bearden, nearest the camera, having eluded a block attempted by the Waco No. 25, on the ground, is also set to stop Mr. Bowen in case he gets that far. The Westerners are home today after staying over in Dallas to see the Clemson-Boston Cotton Bowl classic yesterday.

Leahy's Machine Falters In Late Rally, 6 To 3

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Jan. — All-American Banks McFadden turned the ball-carrying chores over to a sophomore, Charley Timmons, but his punting and defensive work brought Clemson a 6-3 victory over Boston college here today in a thrill-packed Cotton Bowl battle.

Twenty thousand chilled fans saw the two teams do all their scoring in the second period, Boston college drawing first blood with a 25-yard

TROPHY PRESENTED

DALLAS, Jan. 1 (AP)—Clemson college received the trophy as champion of the Cotton Bowl here tonight at a dinner given by the national headquarters of the John N. Garner-for-president forces.

The dinner, to which both Clemson and Boston college, whom they defeated 6-3 in today's football classic, was tendered at the instigation of Vice-President Garner, Garner sent a telegram welcoming the two teams to Texas.

field goal by Alex Lukachick, a substitute end. A little later Timmons led a Clemson drive that ended with the 185-pound youngster from Asheville, S. C., plunging over for a touchdown. Shad Bryant missed the point.

McFadden Again

Timmons was the offensive star of the game that ended with Boston college threatening the Clemson goal line most of the final period.

With three minutes to go, the Eagles got down to the Clemson 8-yard line but here Bryant bobbed up to bat down Charley O'Rouke's long pass and McFadden took care of another that seemed headed for pay-dirt.

Climaxes Career

McFadden wrote "finis" to a great college career, running the Clemson team faultlessly, zooming punts that set Boston college back on its heels time and again and playing one of the finest defensive games ever seen on the Cotton Bowl gridiron.

Boston college scored on fourth down after the second period opened. O'Rourke, the passing man from New England, turned in a sensational punt return to carry Bru Trexler's boot from the Clemson 30 to the Tiger 15. Frank Mazzicki lost five in a line try and Bob Jauron did the same but Frank Davis dived through for six. Then Lukachick stepped back and calmly booted the ball over the cross-bar with yards to spare.

Clemson Scores Again

Clemson's touchdown came soon after. Getting the ball on their own following a punt exchange, the Tigers surged to the score without being slowed down but once. McFadden circled right end for 13. Bryant lost seven in two tries but McFadden pitched a pass to Wister Jackson for a first down on the Boston 20. Timmons hit right tackle for 12, got six at the same place on his next try and then bruised his way over for the touchdown. Bryant's try for point was wide.

The statistics show how evenly matched the two teams were. Clemson made 11 first downs and Boston college 9, running up 210 yards from scrimmage while doing it. Boston college had but 184 running but O'Rourke's passing accounted for 7 yards.

The mighty punting of McFadden—a very decisive factor in Clemson's victory—came out as an average

Engineers Baffle Missouri; Arizona, Catholic Tie; West Rumbles Over East In Mud Battle

Georgia Tech Is Winner, 21 To 7

By LARRY ROLLINS
Associated Press Sports Writer

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 1. — Georgia Tech's magicians dazzled Missouri's football team and 36,500 spectators with magnificent deception today to humiliate the Big Six champions, 21 to 7, in the eighth annual Orange Bowl game.

After the mighty Paul Christman had pitched Missouri to an early touchdown, Tech muffled the big blonde's aerial shots and countered with three scoring sorties, two of them on lengthy runs by Bob Ison, the Engineers' All-Southeastern end, and Earl Wheby, substitute halfback. Ison's 59-yard touchdown dash on an end-around stood out in a game replete with flashy plays.

Tied In First

It was Tiny Johnny Bosch however who started Tech on its winning surge. His bullet tosses sparked a 64-yard drive that tied the score in the first quarter.

Missouri, clearly outplayed, made a valiant but futile gesture in the waning minutes, only to lose the ball on downs two yards short of a touchdown.

Tech proved its superiority in virtually every department, out-rushing the Missourians 210 yards to 151 and outpassing them 91 yards to 76.

Christman Flings 'Em

The game was scarcely five minutes old when Christman unlimbered his strong right arm and sent Missouri on the way to first blood. Bob Waldorf had recovered Howard Ector's fumble on Tech's 45-yard line, and Fullback Bill Cunningham had failed to make any headway through Tech's hard-cracking line.

Pitchin' Paul immediately rifled a 21-yard pass to Blaine Currence at end, and three plays later he whipped the ball to him again for 13 more to reach Tech's 5.

For Early Score

From there the Missourians pounded over, with Christman hitting guard for the final yard. Cunningham place-kicked the extra point on his second try, after Tech drew an offside penalty, and Missouri appeared briefly to have the situation in hand.

The boys from Atlanta received the kickoff and didn't give up the ball until they had swept 68 yards for the tying touchdown. On the first play after the kickoff return Bosch whirled the ball to Paul Sprayberry for a first down. Little Bobby Pair picked up another through the

Lubbock High Won't Accept Jal Challenge

Lubbock High's state championship Westerners will not accept the challenge of Jal, N. M., for a post-season game, Superintendent W. B. Irvin told the Morning Avalanche last night.

"We regret that we will be unable to accept the post-season game with Jal," Irvin said. "We have had a long season and we feel that it would not be fair to the boys. Also, it is our understanding the Texas Interscholastic league prohibits such contests."

Irvin spoke of a new rule, invoked this year, that prohibited any post-season games unless express permission was granted by the league.

It is also understood from unofficial comments that the team season in the schools history climaxed.

Jal claimed the championship of New Mexico.

Sun Bowl Tussle Is 0-0 Deadlock

EL PASO, Jan. 1.—Catholic university of Washington and Arizona State of Tempe battled to a vicious, bitterly—fought scoreless tie in the Sun Bowl here today before a near capacity crowd estimated at 12,000.

The Maroon clad Westerners kept the heavier Cardinals from the national capital on their heels for a good half of the game, but fumbles and a couple of intercepted passes shattered the touchdown drives of the racing boys from Arizona's valley of the sun.

It was Dutch Bergman's Catholic eleven, however, which staged a thrilling finish to the 1939 Sun Bowl. With seconds to go, it looked like Carmen Pirro's toe and the passes of Pete Sachon might turn the trick, but Tempe groggily held the ball on its own 14 at the end.

Statistics gave the Arizonians an edge in yardage, Tempe gaining 11 first downs to Catholic's 4 and rolling up 205 yards from scrimmage to 182. However, Tempe had four fumbles marked against it, two of which Catholic recovered to halt Bulldog drives.

Tempe's passing attack failed completely, the Bulldogs futilly attempting seven. Catholic made only 3 of its 15 tries good.

Wayne (Ripper) Pitts, as sweet a fullback as ever kicked the turf, lived up to his reputation, and with Hascal Henshaw and Bill Davis accounted for almost all of Tempe's yardage. Little Joe Hernandez, sophmore Tempe mite, was stopped cold by the Cardinas.

Battering Pete Sachon, Cardinal quarterback, sparked line shattering drives by Henry Brostek and Charlie Moutenot, both impressive ground gainers against Dixie Howell's men.

CENTENARY LOSES

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Jan. 1. (AP)—Two Louisiana colleges lost first round games this afternoon in the Bloomington holiday tourney for college basketball teams.

Centenary of Shreveport was trampled by Southern Illinois Teachers 40 to 19, and Southwestern Louisiana college fell before Illinois Wesleyan by one point, 34 to 33.

Lubbock Lads Write 'Finis' To Campaign

Reaching the supreme in contrast, Lubbock High's state championship Westerners came home last night almost unheralded—the same quiet, nonchalant young men who, with an entire state hysterically shouting its praise, Saturday climaxed the most amazing campaign recorded in one-fifth century of Texas schoolboy football.

The so-called "Cinderella kids" of West Texas who proved quite conclusively that they were one of the smoothest, most powerful high school grid aggregations ever to sweep the state finals have written "finis" to a glorious season.

"QUARTERBACKS" GATHER

Sure to be swelled by additional enthusiasts still celebrating the state championship triumph, the regular meeting of the Downtown Quarterbacks will be conducted at 8 o'clock tonight in the main ballroom of the Hotel Lubbock. Pictures of the Westerner-Woodrow Wilson semi-final clash in Dallas, which Lubbock won by a 14 to 0 count, will be shown. It was not know late last night whether the Bronc Busters would be on hand or not. Remainder of the program will consist of a general "session" on the title tussle and other features of the past campaign.

They Enjoyed It

And they are sorry it's over.

It was a lot of fun. And therein lies much of the secret of the team that forged to the finals and Interscholastic league crown with a nine-game winning streak that started in mid-season.

Forgotten by self appointed "experts" over the state, who couldn't remember that Lubbock marched straight through to the finals only a few months before, the Black and Gold standard bearers had to bowl over two of the league's mightiest machines, namely Electra and Sweetwater before attracting attention. That was the way the "experts" put it. But the boys will tell anyone asking that Amarillo and Waco were the two tough 'uns to handle.

Well-Balanced

So, as the Bronc Busters, rulers of 101 high school Class AA football powers until this time next year, prepare to pack their moleskins on Lubbock's most glorious season in history the season passes in review.

Publicized by local observers as the best balanced aggregation to

West All-Stars Triumph, 28-11

By HAROLD TURNBLAD
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 1.—All-Star college football players of the West scuttled the East 28 to 11 in a sea of mud here today. It was the West's ninth victory in the fifteen years of the Shrine benefit games.

A torrential rain turned Kezar stadium into a quagmire in the second half and players soon became so coated with ooze that it would have been hard for a mother to recognize her own son.

Southwest Aces Star

A crowd of 45,000 fans huddled under umbrellas, newspapers and oilskins.

Remarkable passing and kicking characterized the contest until almost the end, when the ball became so sodden it was more like a lump of wood than a pigskin.

Big Bill Anahu, Santa Clara university end, ran 25 yards for the West's first touchdown midway in the first quarter after taking a 50 yard pass from Kay Eakin, University of Arkansas halfback. Dick Favor, Oklahoma back converted.

East Comes Back

In the same period, George Stirnweiss, North Carolina halfback playing for the East, took a short pass Ed Boell, New York university quarterback and squirmed through the West's defense for a touchdown.

Francis Stulgaitis, Columbia end, picked up a blocked punt by Ben Kish, Pittsburgh fullback, and ran the ball over the goal line for the extra point to tie the score at 7-7.

Cordill Scores On Pass

Olie Cordill, Rice institute right halfback, took a shovel pass from Herb McCarthy, Denver university fullback, and ran around end for the West's second touchdown in the second period. Jack Sanders, South-

NEW ORLEANS, La., Jan. 1. — Players and coaches on the Tulane and Texas A. and M. football teams agreed today—with one dissenting vote—that "jarring John" Kimbrough of the Aggies was a great football player and probably the greatest in the country.

The negative opinion came from Kimbrough himself, as he sat in the Aggies dressing room, amid hilarity and the smell of ether, after the Texans had nudged Tulane 14-13 in the Sugar Bowl classic.

Kimbrough Praises Thomason

"Those 10 boys with me did the work," asserted the 210-pounder who was a ferocious bone-crusher on the field and a pleasant, friendly lad when the hostilities were over.

"And this boy did it especially—he's the best blocking back in the country." He patted the knee of halfback Jim Thomason, who sat next to him.

Kimbrough's coach, Homer Norton, was the most emphatic of all in praise of the juggernaut.

Norton Was Tired

"He's the greatest football player in the world," Norton declared, visibly worn out after the exciting game. "And you can put my name on that with a picture." Tulane was all they said it was, but we just had too much. Our passes worked and opened up their defense so we could run the ball."

Walemon Price, quarterback who heaved the forward-lateral which ended with Kimbrough's second and winning touchdown, said "we knew we could beat them with passes—but they're a great ball club." Derace Moser, fleet halfback, agreed Tu-

Farmer Is Tops In New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 1. (AP) — Texas Tech's great one-armed hurdler, Marsh Farmer, added another victory to his long list of hurdle triumphs here Sunday afternoon when he captured the 110 meter high hurdles in 14.5 seconds.

The Lubbock speedster, who achieves almost unbelievable balance, came in ahead of Allan Tolmich, of Detroit, by one foot.

The event was one of the highlights of the Sugar Bowl track meet, in which Archie San Romani ran to victory in the 1,500 meters run, defeating Glenn Cunningham and Blaine Rideout, of North Texas Teachers college.

Farmer, who blazed a trail of glory for himself in the Border conference, last summer set himself up as the best hurdler in the nation when he took the National A.A.U. hurdles in record-breaking time in Lincoln, Neb.

Hardin-Simmons Cagers Measure Touring Arizona Five, 40-31

ABILENE, Jan. 1. (AP) — Hardin-Simmons' cagers, opening their season here tonight, showed more zeal than markmanship, and lost the first of a series to Arizona university's touring Wildcats, 40 to 31.

A nip and tuck first half ended in a 19-19 tie, but Arizona kept control in the next period. Carl Berra and Wilmer Harper, forwards, got 14 and 16 points, respectively, for the winners. Six foot, seven inch Grady Osborne, center, tabbed 15 for the Cowboys.

Lynn County Round Robin Cage Tournament Dates Announced

TAHOKA, Jan. 1 (Special)—Dates for Lynn county's round robin basketball tournament for rural and independent schools have been set by school head for Feb. 8-10 and Feb. 15-17. Both boys and girls will participate in the tournament.

Rural schools are to have eliminations for boys and girls teams, winners to enter the tournament.

High schools likely to enter are Draw, New Home, O'Donnell, Wilson and Tahoka.

Clemson Convinces Texans, But They Don't Rub It In

DALLAS, Jan. 1. (AP)—A group of youthful huskies from Clemson college, S. C., convinced a rip-roaring crowd of Southwesterners in the Cotton Bowl today that they really behave like scrapping Tigers on the gridiron, but are very hospitable Southern gentlemen before and after a 60-minute battle.

The Boston college Eagles undoubtedly will attest to the tigerish attributes to the tune of 6 to 3.

Bruised somewhat but nevertheless in high spirits after their struggle with the Eagles, the Southerners were unanimous in their praise of the New Englanders as they traipsed to a bus to be taken to a downtown hotel for presentation of the trophy.

"It was some ball game," line Coach Frank Howard said. "The Eagles really are tough."

Coach Jess Neely who, as rumor has it, probably could stay in Texas and teach his tricks to the Rice Owls, also praised the Eagles.

But Neely remained uncommunicative today on any offer—if an offer has been made—from Rice. He said several days ago that a man not connected with the school had talked to him about the position, left vacant when Jimmie Kitts was released.

But he insisted today that all he knew about his being top man for the place was "what I read in the papers."

over the left side to Kreuger.

Tennessee, with less than a minute to play, tried to come back. Butler passed the ball to his own 35, but the gun caught him and the game was over.

Trojan power first asserted itself after the first four minutes of the game when Lansdell smashed the Tennessee line for gains that carried his mates from the S.C. 35 to the Vols 22, but the enemy held for downs and on the try, Suffridge tossed Lansdell for a loss and Tennessee took the ball.

Cafego Bottled

Tennessee's Cafego, hampered by his injury, got nowhere, while Coffman looked like the most consistent ground gainer, but the Vols were unable to cross the midfield stripe in the initial period. S.C. had run up seven first downs, Tennessee one; S.C. had run 132 yards, the Vols only 15, net.

S.C. got the first real break early in the second. Johnny Butler's punt, partially deflected by Floyd Philips of S.C., went for only 14 yards, and the Trojans took the ball on the Tennessee 34. The Tennessee rooters groaned, but not for long. Those Tennesseans wouldn't budge, stopping Nave on three plays and Wallen broke up his fourth down pass try.

Defense Streak Snapped

Butler got off a long punt this time, and the see-saw struggle went on with neither eleven able to get within scoring territory. Southern California dominated the game, and Tennessee's attack failed for the entire half to get into Trojan territory or chalk up but one first down. That came on the first series of plays after the opening kickoff.

Then came the blast that brought the first score—and the first score the Vols had yielded in 16 games.

spread formation, reversed his field cut back around right end and gained 12 yards. But there he chose to lateral to Kimbrough, trailing him on the sideline.

The ball struck Kimbrough's big hands, bounded off and bounced around crazily on the sideline. Players flew from everywhere and Tulane came up with the ball on the Aggies 38.

Herbie Comes Through

Monette Butler, Tulane reserve fullback, smashed to the Aggie 28, got five more on a delayed buck and then gave over the tackle blasting chores to Fred Cassibry, a nimble giant who went to the two on two reverse plays. Harry Hays failed to gain twice but Butler was over for the touchdown by inches on fourth down.

Little Herbert Smith, the Aggies 160-pound end, drove in and blocked Thibaut's attempted conversion.

Then came the payoff.

Little Herbie packed the Tulane kickoff back to the Aggie 31, then caught a first down pass from Price on the 41. Kimbrough smashed for a five and then Price floated a flat zone pass ti Moser for nine more.

Pass, Lateral Does It

Kimbrough, pushing his way smack through the middle of the big Tulane line, got 18 yards to the Tulane 26.

Drifting far back, Price shot a pass down to Smith on the ten and the little fellow lateralled to Kimbrough. Tulane players fell like tenpins as Kimbrough lowered his head and waded ten yards for the touchdown. Price's conversion sailed squarely between the bars and the aggies had won their first post-season game since 1921—a victory over Centre college's old Prayin' Colonels.

Early Surge Halted

Only four minutes after the game started the Aggies started powering down field on a drive that ended futilely on the one foot line when Tulane stopped Kimbrough in a fourth down try for the touchdown. Price's passes to Moser and Smith, with some Kimbrough thrown in, had carried the ball from the Tulane 48 after a kick.

But they got their first touchdown as soon as Tulane booted out to the Greenie 32. Price found Kimbrough with a five yard pass, the big fullback powered around left end for eight more and then Moser, after getting six, was tumbled out of bounds and Tulane penalized to its three for unnecessary roughness.

Aggies Threaten Again

It took Kimbrough just one butt to get across. Price converted.

Deep in the third period Tulane threatened to score a safety when Bill Conatser bobbled Kellogg's long kick just a footback of the goal stripe and finally slapped it out of bounds in the end zone. Officials ruled it a touchback.

The Aggies weren't through, even after getting the winning touchdown. From their 31 they started again, Kimbrough, a tireless man, puncturing the Tulane line with his sweeps outside the tackles. Conatser joined him in the spree through the Tulane line and between the two they moved to the Tulane 18. Price passed for ten more to Conatser but the Aggie halfback was downed on the five as the game ended.

wear the Black and Gold since that "iron man" eleven of 1931, which won for the city its first District championship, the Westerners started off with a very unimpressive scoreless deadlock with North Side, followed up the next week-end on the home field with a heart-breaking 13 to 6 loss to Capitol Hill, and looked much better against Big Spring in taking an 18 to 0 triumph, but faltered in Vernon, 7 to 6.

Started With Pampa

Resting a week, during which time more injuries riddled an already badly crippled team, the Lubbocks prepared to meet one of the greatest powerhouses in the state, Breckenridge's then undefeated and untied Buckaroos. Needless to say, the Westerners looked the next thing to terrible in half-heartedly, half tackling through to that 6 to 26 licking, one which was just as bad as the score indicates, if not worse.

Then came Pampa. The District One campaign was staring the Westerners, most of whom had taken up living quarters in a hospital by this time. It was Oct. 27. And a good 5,000 persons went to Tech stadium to watch Lubbock's shattered forces annihilated. Literally braced and bandaged the champions-to-be startled West Texas by thumping the favored Harvesters with a brilliant 71-yard drive, something they were to become famous for in the ensuing weeks, to register a 6 to 0 decision.

Mighty Amarillo Stopped

Borger fell next, smothered under an avalanche of touchdowns, 40 to 0; Plainview coming next to lose, 19 to 0. And though it wasn't even dreamed of at the moment, the Westerners were then starting that startling streak—a defensive record unequalled in years, in which only three touchdowns were scored against the seven blocks of steel and four granite-like secondary men in nine consecutive games.

Hobbs fell easily, 14 to 0, and all during that game the icily calm Lubbocks were priming for Amarillo. And Thanksgiving Day the Golden Sandstorm was edged out in a bitter battle, 9 to 7, that saw the last remnant of tradition on Butler Field ripped to shreds. District One had Lubbock as its champions—for the second straight season.

Electra Falls Next

A ripple of excitement was gently rolling over the state's district speculation then. Electra's "darkhorse" wonders with the mighty Bud Ely roared into the bi-district play-off opposite Lubbock. But Coaches "Goober" Keyes and Walker Nichols had their charges ready and primed to the pink.

Other district winners found: Sweetwater ruling District 3; El Paso High District 4; and so on—Sherman, Sulphur Springs, Masonic Home, Woodrow Wilson, Breckenridge, Waco, Tyler, Nacogdoches, Stephen F. Austin, Beaumont South Park, Austin and Brownsville.

They Take Notice

Lubbock drubbed Electra, 20 to 0, and Texas began whispering about that giant of the South Plains which boasted the invincible defense. Sweetwater's cocky Mustangs were humbled, 6 to 0, the score not indicating by five touchdowns the actual beating the Ponies took. And the whisper became a shout.

Other quarter-final tests saw Woodrow Wilson taking Sulphur Springs, 28 to, 7; Waco drubbing Tyler, 40 to 13, and Stephen Austin winning on penetrations over Austin on a 14 to 14 tie.

Heralded Red Maley and Woodrow Wilson next felt the crushing power that is Lubbock, 14 to 0 and the shout became a roar. Waco edged past Stephen Austin, 7 to 0.

The rest of the campaign is too fresh to review. The race was complete. Texas has its champion.

And as the curtains slowly close on the season it can and must be said—It was a job well done!

Westerner Win Over Waco In Movies

The hot spots of the Westerner-Waco game Saturday in Dallas will be shown Wednesday and Thursday at Palace theater, said Arlie Crites, manager.

Crites exhibited the pictures at a special showing shortly after noon Monday and with the exception of running about four minutes, they are excellent shots of all scoring plays of the game. Crites expressed disappointment at the length of the film and said he would make an effort to secure more of the film shot during the game which undoubtedly was cut out of the picture, before the showing here Wednesday.

42.6 yards. In ball carrying, Timmons ran 27 times and crushed his way to 127 yards. McFadden, however, had the best average of the day. He ran but four times and gained 44 yards.

Vito Ananis was the leading ground gainer for Boston college with 43 yards in 11 tries while O'Rourke showed 41 yards in eight runs.

The game was marred by numerous penalties but most of them came from the bruising type of play.

The boys really put on a show for this pass-crazy Southwest with O'Rourke chunking the pigskin all over the lot and McFadden returning the compliment, but the play of the two great lines turned into a duel that captured the fancy of the experts.

line and then Georgia Tech pulled the play that, repeated later, was to prove Missouri's downfall.

Goree Clicks Again

Ison, taking the ball from Bosch on an end-around, shouldered his way 14 yards to the Missouri 18. Then the tall end took Bosch's pass on the Tiger 66, and four plays later Ector hammered over center for the last few inches. Roy Goree, Tech's place-kicking specialist, converted to even the game.

Missouri gambled on a fourth down pass and Tech got the ball on its own 36. Pair made five yards on a reverse, a pass by Bosch didn't click.

Ison, pulling out of the line, again grabbed the ball from Bosch and set sail wide around right end. He crashed through Missouri's secondary, dodged the last threat 30 yards from home and breezed down the sideline as free as air. Again Goree was called in to boot the point.

To The Champions!

ATTEMPTING to add to the adulations due Lubbock's High school Westerners because of having won the high school football championship of Texas would be about the most futile task imaginable. To express the honest opinion that they are the best aggregation in the nation among high schools placing an 18-year age limit on participants would, by our confession, invite the suspicion of bias.

But one fact cannot be denied. They probably have brought more publicity to Lubbock within a relatively brief space of time than anything that ever has happened in, by or for this city. An evidence of that fact was supplied when the most extensive radio chain ever organized for such a purpose anywhere supplied the details of Saturday's Lubbock-Waco clash.

And the interest wasn't confined to Texas alone. Probably every high school coach in the United States follows the Texas Interscholastic league because it is the most perfect organization of its kind yet devised. It is their business to follow and study such things. The result is that Lubbock and the Westerners have become topics of conversation wherever football is played.

Such publicity, admittedly, is something of intangible value. But intangible values often are the most valuable. Lubbock cannot do other than benefit in a material sense from the information spread to the world that the city has produced another champion in the Westerners.

Bigger U. S. Battleships

MUCH doubtless might be said both for and against the 65,000-ton battleships for the United States navy which have been discussed extensively in advance of the opening of the new session of Congress.

In their favor is the unquestioned desire of the mass of our people that the navy be prepared to meet and defeat any enemies which might arise against us. Regardless of their cost, such ships would be cheap insurance if they should prove the difference between victory and defeat in time of national emergency.

However, the important questions for calm consideration at this time are: Are such ships needed for protection? Is there any reason why we should undertake to build battleships more than 20,000 tons larger in size than any now afloat or, for that matter, 20,000 tons larger than those reportedly under construction in Japan?

We must consider that if we start building ships of that size, other nations will follow suit. Their facilities for building and their supplies of materials may not be as abundant as ours, but it is virtually certain that they will devise in some manner to keep pace in the armaments race. If the time comes when both we and our possible adversaries have 65,000-ton ships, then exactly the same balance will exist then as now, when both are building 45,000-ton monsters. Each fleet theoretically will be a stand-off for the other, but the cost will be infinitely more.

National safety doubtless requires that we have a fleet second to none afloat. There are sound fundamental reasons why we should have a fleet more powerful than any other nation. But the United States is the nation which always has been most vociferous in decrying armament races. It is the nation which, more than any other, has demonstrated by sacrifice that it is prepared to join in international disarmament. Since we always have been the active opponents of armament races, would it be consistent for us now to take the risk of accelerating the race of the present contest by starting to build on the suggested scale?

However, the important points to consider in this matter of 65,000-ton battleships are: Are they needed for national defense? Would they serve to minimize real or apparent dangers to national safety?

If they would serve those purposes, then let's build them. But let's place upon those who advocate such monsters the burden of proving beyond reasonable doubt that the need exists.

The One-Minute Sermon

He that smiteth a man, so that he die, shall be surely put to death.

And if a man lie not in wait, but God deliver him into his hand; then I will appoint thee a place whither he shall flee.

But if a man come presumptuously upon his neighbor, to slay him with guile; thou shalt take him from mine altar, that he may die.—Exodus 21:12 through 14.

VINCENT GREGG — soldier of fortune, in love with Mary.

CARLA MARCHETTA—a mysterious London socialite.

DR. GILBERT LENOX—surgeon, serving with British army.

YESTERDAY: Terrified by the man following her, Mary runs to her cabin. Calm slowly returns and she resolves to shake off her morbid mood. She dresses Anna in one of her most glamorous gowns and stands in amazement at the transformation. Anna is grateful, supremely happy. But the overtone of impending tragedy continues.

CHAPTER VI

As Anna turned slowly to leave the cabin, Mary Carroll caught up her own gold leather evening purse.

"Here," she cried, tossing it to Anna. "There's make-up and everything in it, just as it was the last time I carried it. Wait for me in the salon. If I don't have to plow through swarms of admirers to reach you, I'll be disappointed."

It was the exact right note to strike with Anna. Smiling, suddenly confident, she left the cabin.

When the door closed, Mary's shoulders sagged. It had been exhilarating to work the Cinderella transformation. But now that it was complete, the same black mood she had been trying to fight off overwhelmed her again.

She had promised to join Anna, and she turned to her own dressing. Disrobing, she opened the traveling case for the negligee she would wear to the shower.

Her hand reached into the pocket and touched a card. It was the card she had tucked there on that last morning in London two days ago.

She read again its message — "At Midnight."

The words leaped up like something evil. Her tortured mind began to go over the events of the past few days. This was the card the waiter had brought to the table in the restaurant where she and Vincent had dined. Vincent had not shown it to her, but in the near-panic during the air raid alarm the card had slipped from his hand and somehow had lodged in the bow of her dress.

It had frightened her when she had found it, but the next morning she had dismissed her fears in the thrilling thought of sailing on the Moravia with Vincent. She had convinced herself the card had been unimportant and meaningless.

Of a sudden, a shattering thought struck her. That note. The woman who had come into the restaurant and exchanged such an intimate glance with Vincent.

"The message was from Carla!" Mary was unaware she spoke aloud.

She dropped her head on her hands before the dressing table and in her alarm everything became clear.

Carla Marchetta, the hostess of celebrities. Carla, at whose Mayfair house Vincent had been a guest.

As a reel unwinding faster and faster, flashbacks came to Mary. She and Vincent had been separated in the rush to the shelter. After the young American doctor had carried her to the basement shelter, Vincent had been strangely jarring.

Had it been because of Carla that Vincent had failed to sail on the Moravia?

"No, no," she moaned, "I'm hysterical—I'm mad."

A sharp rap sounded on her door. Expecting the steward, she stood up and, wrapping her robe around her, said, "Come in."

The door opened slowly. "Pardon, Mademoiselle, I believe this is your beret."

The blond young man who stood in the doorway, a forced smile on his lips, spoke with a foreign inflection.

Mary scowled. "Yes, it's my beret," she said coldly. "It blew off when I was on deck."

The stranger nodded. "You must not mind, Mademoiselle, because I bring it back myself instead of sending it by the steward."

Mary looked at him. The only one who would have known about her tam blowing off was the man who had been shadowing her on the deck.

"You were following me!" she blazed hotly. "How dare you!"

There was nothing ominous about the face or figure of the flaxen-haired youth now. In the light from the passageway, he was quite innocuous except for his eyes. He turned on her with a haunted, beseeching look.

Taken aback for a minute by Marys sharp accusation, he recovered his poise and said in the same low voice, "Is it wrong for a man to gaze at a beautiful girl who strides like a Valkyrie on a dark deck?"

Mary stood invincible. "I am quite sure you were waiting purposely for me to pass."

He bowed courteously. "I am sorry if Mademoiselle misunderstood." He offered the beret to her. "Perhaps later I may have the chance to prove what you believe is untrue."

Mary took the tam and bowed. "Thanks and good night," she said, but her voice was no longer sharp.

When she shut the door, she had a disturbing feeling the young man still stood in the passageway. Resolutely, she rang again for the steward. She mustn't delay any longer in dressing to join Anna.

Anna's gray uniform dress with the prim white cuffs was still on the chair; her practical black handbag on the dressing table.

Mary pushed them aside as she began to lay out her own cloths for the evening. She chose a gossamer white dress. "White for heartbreak," she said to the silence of the room.

She was still puzzling about the strange encounter on the deck when the bath steward entered.

"Will you see if the shower is ready?" she asked.

"Yes, Miss, the shower room is empty—three doors down."

Through the night, the blackened ship cut through the heaving Atlantic. A few more days and it would dock in New York harbor.

As Mary Carroll picked up her bath kit, lights in the cabin blinked and went out. In the dark a shuddering thud resounded from below.

An ominous silence followed the deafening sound. Then a terrific din of shrieking, gasping voices struck the air.

Mary groped for the bunk for support. She felt a slash of cold water pouring in through the shattered porthole.

She was pitched headlong across the cabin as the convulsed Moravia listed to starboard.

If the earth's axis suddenly became perpendicular to the plane of its orbit, we would have no variation of seasons and our days and nights would be of equal length throughout the year.

Plains Ranges In Good Shape

Recent snow is believed to have put South Plains ranges on fine edge for winter sheep and cattle grazing where a week ago the outlook was dim.

Grass in the western counties was thought sufficient, although dry condition in recent months rendered it nothing more than dry stubble. Much more moisture, however, will be necessary to late winter and early grazing.

No Losses Reported

No losses were reported from the cold wave despite necessity for feeding in some sections of the plains. Snow was not of sufficient depth, observers agreed, to hinder grazing to any great extent.

F. L. Britton, Lubbock cattle inspector, said grass before the snow was "like sticks." It was bountiful enough to care for winter feeding but was of such condition it had lost much of its food value. Softened up by the snow, the grass probably will carry grazing into early spring.

Britton said cattle prices are just about at the level of a year ago. Prices dropped slightly during the year but have now risen.

Prices in line with early 1939 are in effect for sheep, according to those closely associated with their breeding and sale. Sheep, too, experienced a summer price drop. Fewer sheep have been brought into this section for feeding this year than last.

W. G. Murray said rangelands west of Morton, where his sheep are grazed, had been kept in good condition with sufficient summer rain. He and Maple Wilson, sheepman, agreed that the snow would be a big help to grazing lands.

Memory of CCC Head Honored

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1 (U.P.)—Flags were at half staff at Civilian Conservation corps throughout the nation today as enrollees honored the memory of Director Robert Fechner, 63.

Fechner, former labor union official chosen by President Roosevelt to head one of the New Deal's most successful social ventures, died yesterday at a hospital of a heart disease. He had been in failing health for some time.

Born in Chattanooga, Tenn., March 26, 1876, the kindly official had supervised approximately 2,000,000 CCC enrollees—mostly jobless youths with a sprinkling of war veterans—since start of the project in 1933.

He will be buried in Arlington national cemetery Tuesday. Enrollees from two nearby CCC camps, wearing their new spruce green uniforms, will be pallbearers.

President Roosevelt, in a message to Mrs. Fechner, said:

"As director of the Civilian Conservation corps, he brought to the public service great administrative ability, vision, indefeatigable industry. His death is a loss to the CCC and the nation."

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

THE shrewder traders in the Roosevelt administration are urging the application of economic pressure against Great Britain in order to force her to purchase more agricultural supplies in the United States. Though no formal note will be dispatched to London, it will become the subject of backstage talks between Whitehall and our State department.

England's insistence on buying foodstuffs from the Empire — wheat, meats, cotton, fruits — threatens a sharp curtailment in our exports of these major products. Her withdrawal from our tobacco market has forced the AAA to step in with loans to carry the southern producers. The fruit industry in John N. Garner's state and elsewhere has been severely hit by British restriction on these goods. She is getting wheat and meat from Australia and Canada. Washington feels that she ought to buy a fairly large percentage here in return for the favorite treatment she has received ever since repeal of the arms embargo.

Many forms of retaliation are open to the administration. It would be easy to require an airplane manufacturer to fill orders for the American army or navy before meeting British demands. Henry Morgenthau could withdraw the various kinds of aid he is providing in supervising purchases, winking at violation of the tripartite stabilization agreement, permitting the New York Federal Reserve bank to act as payoff agent for the Allies. The pressure may be applied unless London agrees to help solve our politici-economic problem of agricultural surpluses.

ALIBI: The details of the deal under which planes being manufactured for the United States navy were diverted to Finland overnight reveal how easy it is to get around the Neutrality law. Although it has not been proclaimed in the Russo-Finnish conflict, the American attitude is officially impartial.

When Finnish representatives here learned that the Brewster company was ready to turn over a large fleet of modern ships to the navy, it got in touch with the corporation's officials. The latter explained that the navy would not—could not—agree to the transfer, but suggested that the Finns wait around for a while. Meanwhile, the company's negotiators got in touch with Washington and made the following proposition: While building the navy's order for planes—the very ones which Finland wanted—the company's engineers had discovered that they could install a much more powerful and faster engine in the ship. But they originally planned to withhold that secret until they next bid on a navy contract.

The company then suggested that it be allowed to sell the completed planes to Finland, agreeing in return to deliver the more modern craft at the same price named in the original contract. Washington approved the proposition on the theory that it was a fine bargain for everybody concerned. And if Republicans on Capital Hill complain, this will be the official defense.

BONFIRES: New Deal administrators have mastered a novel technique for lighting the fire of public opinion beneath the seats of members of Congress. Canny Henry Wallace was the first to hit upon the idea, but his colleagues have been quick to apply the torch to the Congressional trousers.

Whenever Mr. Wallace saw or felt that opposition was developing to any of his legislative proposals on Capitol Hill, he packed his bag and journeyed through the states where the hostile legislators lived. Secretary Paul Appleby and other agricultural aides also packed their bags and took to the timber or corn or cow country. They mobilized their vast army of county agents and delivered speeches setting forth the dollar-and-cents value of their schemes. As a rule, it has worked. Instead of pleading with members in House and Senate corridors, they took their fight direct to the people.

Housing Administrator Nathan Straus, Jr., is the latest to try this game. In the last session members from country districts opposed his $800,000,000 slum clearance program on the ground that the cities got all the benefit. So Nathan amended it to provide $225,000,000 for rural slum clearance, got on a train and expounded its virtues through the "rural slum districts", whatever they may be. He hopes that his blaze will burn as fiercely and successfully as the Wallace bonfires have.

OUT? With the possible exception of President Roosevelt, Vice President Garner would probably poll more 1940 votes among members of the present cabinet than any other individual now in the field. Their private conversations reveal that they do not regard him as a "reactionary" or as disloyal to FDR.

More importantly, Mr. Garner would have the backing of the cabineteers who carry political weight nationally, in their states or in the Democratic party. Assuming that the President does not seek a renomination, also that intervening circumstances do not make the Texan unavailable, he would probably have the good wishes of Messrs. Farley, Hull, Murphy, Morgenthau, Woodring, and, of course, Jesse H. Jones. Mr. Hull, naturally will hold off because he may be an active contestant himself, but he thinks highly of the man who served with him for so many years in the House.

The four cabinet members who would prefer a liberal—and who do not so hold Mr. Garner to be—are Secretaries Ickes, Wallace, Hopkins and Perkins. Of these it is almost certain that the Secretaries of Agriculture and Commerce would support Mr. Garner if he got the nomination. But the significant fact is that these four Roosevelt worshippers will be lucky if they are named as delegates to the Democratic convention.

NEW YORK
By Richard Waldo

AMERICAN actuaries, the insurance men who tabulate birth, life-span and death, forecast a new and major issue for the United States, a political faction of old folks. Whatever candidate reaches the White House will have the first murmurings of what may amount to an old age party. It will attain tremendous proportions while he is still in his first term.

Annual births are less than the number of people who enter the old age-dependent bracket. Each year the disportion is greater. The ham-and-egg—60 at 60—and Townsend movements are mild forerunners of the statistical fact that each year the aged army will get bigger, more economically desperate, politically stronger, and a permanent government relief problem.

PAYOFF: Republican oratory between now and November nothwithstanding, most monetary experts agree that the next President will not balance the budget in one term of office. Government maturities incurred by this administration, and technological unemployment that has nothing to do with any administration, will dent the national income for several more red annual balance sheets.

INEVITABLE: For Europe's battlegrounds there is, among New York foreign experts, a feeling that might be called the majority forecast. Necessarily it deals with general trends rather than specific acts.

First there is the tendency to accept Chamberlain's statement of war aims at face value. It is said that too many people are looking for too subtle motives among the nations at war. Much thought was given to the diplomatic story that deep down England, and particularly France, would not be satisfied with less than the final partition of Germany. This reasoning is based on the fact that every 25 years France has to fight a resurgent Germany to insure another quarter century of peace. This time, according to one version of war aims, Germany is to be dismantled so that Franco-Prussian enmity will be tabled for a century.

Here And There In Texas

By WILLIAM T. RIVES
Associated Press Staff Writer

A COMPREHENSIVE state-wide plan, representing a drastic revision of the present state game laws, is being formulated for presentation to the legislature and the public sometime within the next 18 months.

E. T. Dawson of Houston, captain of Game Warden Region No. 3, said the plan would have the endorsement of the federal government.

The state Game, Fish and Oyster commission, Captain Dawson said, has a staff of first-class biologists, all university graduates, working in the fields and forests to assemble data on the habits of wildlife.

It is hoped this work will be completed within a year. Then it will take a few months to analyze thoroughly the facts and prepare the necessary laws.

The commission, Captain Dawson said, seeks hunting and fishing laws passed on the basis of biological research instead of on the basis of whims and fancies.

Preservation of a $94,000,000 asset is another objective. The commission values Texas wildlife in that amount because of the harmful insects and enormous sums spent by hunters.

Present Laws Inadequate

The work is absolutely necessary, Captain Dawson said, if Texas sportsmen are to continue to have game to hunt. The present 600 game laws are wholly inadequate.

The squirrel statute is cited as an example of poor lawmaking. Squirrels are raising families from January 1 to Oct. 1, and when they are hunted during these months, as is now permissible, the chances are a mother squirrel, victim of a hunter's gun, may leave a nest full of young to starve to death.

The three-month period from October 1 to January 1 is the proper season for squirrel hunting, Captain Dawson said.

He felt sure, he said, if the hunters knew these facts they would not care to hunt the animals during the spring, summer and early fall months.

In some counties hunters may kill any number of squirrels on one side of a river and must not kill any on the other side. That obviously is unsatisfactory, Captain Dawson said.

LAST spring, Dawson said, young quail drowned in their nests by floods in Brazoria county, yet the law permits open season on the few quail that remain.

In Matagorda county, a hunter is permitted to kill as many squirrels as he can find.

The law, the warden said, should be changed so as to permit game wardens to declare a closed season in Brazoria county on quail until the natural supply was restored, and to prohibit unlimited killing of squirrels in that county.

In seeking to put the administration of the law on a practical basis, the commission takes the position that it is just as bad for the land owner to post his property and never permit hunting on it as it is for him to declare open season on everything.

Officials Are Scattered

Texas can have civilization and an abundance of wildlife at the same time, and the commission is out to prove it.

The biologists now in the field tabulating facts on wildlife are: Don Lay of Game Management Region No. 1 and his assistant, H. R. Seigler, headquarters at Lufkin; Dr. A. J. Nicholson of Region No. 2 and his assistant, S. M. Melton, headquarters at Austin; Val W. Lehmann, Region No. 3 and his assistant, Ernest G. Marsh, Jr., headquartered at Victoria; Dr. Lee Fisher of Region No. 4 and assistant, Earl Sanders, stationed at San Angelo and Kerrville and Dr. Franklin G. Hendricks of Region No. 5 and his assistant, Charles E. Priley, stationed at Amarillo and Abilene.

Besides these men, who have been stationed at strategic points for two years, two other assistants, Rollin H. Baker and Paul V. Jones, are employed by the commission on the state game restoration project.

The commission is making a census of wildlife in Texas. These figures are in charge of Lehmann in Victoria.

Mexican Supreme Court To Losers They Don't Have To P

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 1 (AP)—Mexican supreme court's New Year message to gamblers today was that losers don't have to pay their debts. Not even if the loser signs an I.O.U.

All gambling is illegal throughout Mexico, and it is even prohibited to play cards just for fun in the federal district in which Mexico City is located, and in the territories.

The court, ruling on an appeal by a winner who sued in an effort to make the loser pay up, held that while the court were to grant the appeal it would, in fact, declare gambling debts be legal.

The judges thereupon threw the winner's case out of court and gave legal sanction to the loser, who may look the other way when he collects the winner coming.

Two Dead, Six Hurt In Wreck

WINNIPEG, Man., Jan. 1. (U.P.) — Two persons were dead and six others in a hospital today, as result of the derailment Sunday of a westbound Canadian National Railways transcontinental flier near Malachi, Ont., 109 miles east of here. Twenty-seven others were treated for cuts and bruises.

Railway investigators attributed the wreck to a broken rail. Ten coaches of the 14-car train left the track and one overturned.

F. E. Lewis, brakeman, fell dead from a heart attack. Olie Ness, Minatree, Ont., died in a hospital here shortly after being brought in on a relief train. Condition of those still in the hospital, all Canadians, was reported "fair."

Man Is Held In Flogging Of Victim By Hooded Riders

ANDERSON, S. C., Jan. 1. (AP)—One man was in jail today in connection with the flogging by hooded night riders Wednesday of Lanier Pruitt, 27, of Anderson.

Chief J. H. Jeanes of the state constabulary said a man named in a warrant as Willis W. Harney, 25, was held under $5,000 bond and that additional arrests are expected.

Engineers Named For Houston Flood Work

HOUSTON, Jan. 1. (AP)—With a unanimous vote, commissioners court today appointed three local engineers to work with army engineers in Galveston in the compilation of figures for a flood control plan.

R. J. Cummins, chairman of the flood control authority's local engineering committee, Jack Rafferty, county flood control engineer, and W. E. White of the city engineering staff, were appointed.

Opposition to Mr. White as a member of the committee, which developed at a commissioners court meeting Friday and blocked action at that time, failed to reappear today.

CONDITION IMPROVES

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Jan. 1. (U.P.) —The condition of George F. Johnson, president of the Endicott-Johnson Shoe corporation, continued to improve today. His physician said the 82-year-old industrialist had normal pulse and temperature readings. Johnson has been ill with pneumonia for nearly a week.

War Moves At Slow Pace But Nazis Plan Campaign

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

Four full months of conflict between Germany and the Allies ended with the war moving at a slow-motion pace on all fronts. But Berlin sounded an ominous note of warning that 1940 would see Germany strike ruthlessly for victory with all her boasted air power.

That was the implication in Chancellor Hitler's New Year's greeting to the nazi army. It was also the substance of what nazi spokesmen have been saying for weeks to neutral observers who have visited Germany. Yet there are circumstances which raise a question as to whether Berlin actually may not be seeking to lay the groundwork for a 1940 peace effort rather than for the war-to-the-death of which German leaders talk.

Victory Drive

The very insistence with which Berlin spokesmen assert that in early spring Germany will launch a victory drive against her chief enemy, Great Britain, casts doubt upon their predictions. Advance disclosure of such a purpose would be the last thing desired by Germany if it was her real intention. Military judgment in all neutral capitals is in agreement that the Reich's most promising hour for delivering a crushing air attack against England has gone by.

It is obvious that German air and undersea power was at its peak last September, in comparison to that of the Franco-British Allies. Time has worked steadily against Germany since then as the Allies, despite German U-boats and mines, kept the seas open for themselves and slowly but surely throttled every nazi attempt at a counter blockade. Despite Allied losses in merchant ship tonnage, unquestionably heavy, the resources of most of the world remain open to them. They can supplement the hugely expanded capacity of their own economy with that of all the neutral world within reach of their ships.

Against that grimly realistic fact, the German threat of a new drive in spring to bring England to her knees sounds fantastic. Whatever the number of German submarines being rushed to construction and however great is the nazi battle plane production capacity, the odds seem to be with the Allies as this fateful year for the world begins.

Police Go To See Man About Dog And Arrest Negro Suspect

Police went out Monday to see a man about a dog!

As a result a 17-year-old negro was arrested and held for theft of a rabbit dog from T. L. Curry of four miles south of Wolfforth.

Curry, who placed value of the dog at $25, said the negro left the farm at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The suspect later was seen five miles from the farm—in company with the dog.

A locket, valued at $1, also was stolen. The negro was transferred to county jail after arrest by Aubrey Fawver, police identifications officer, in 1000-block Broadway.

San Angelo police asked Lubbock authorities to watch for four negroes, two of them women, who drove toward Lubbock in a taxicab after burglary of a San Angelo drug store, in which $500 was taken.

HAPPY NEW YEAR

HAPPY, Jan. 1. (AP)—Thousands of persons throughout the country received "happy new year" greetings bearing the postmark, Happy, Tex. The volume of year-end mail was a third heavier than a year ago.

Construction Of Compress At Monroe Is Reported Started

W. O. Fortenberry of Monroe, owner of two gins, has begun construction of a cotton compress there, according to reports. It will be the fourth compress in Lubbock county.

Fortenberry, besides owning two gins and operating a large irrigation farm, has four warehouses at Monroe, where he is said to have 6,000 bales of cotton stored.

Last season he operated a large block of one variety cotton in conjunction with a number of farmers in his community, the project exceeding 5,000 acres. One of the two gins at Monroe was given over to ginning the one variety.

The Santa Fe is reported enlarging and repairing its loading dock at Monroe, for handling large shipments of compressed cotton. Monroe is known as a non-agency station, the company not maintaining a station agent at that point.

Britain Breaks Even For Day

LONDON, Jan. 1. (AP)—Britain entered two air victories against two sea losses in the 1940 war ledger today before the new year was a day old.

Two German warplanes raided the Shetland islands north of Scotland, one of them dropping bombs as it went into a power dive over a British warship but failing to inflict damage, the air ministry said.

Anti-aircraft guns on the warship, unnamed in the ministry's report, directed heavy fire at the raiders and apparently downed one of them.

Plane Shot Down

There were "no hits on his majesty's ships and no casualties," the communique reported.

In another aerial encounter a second German plane was said to have been shot down over the North sea by a coastal patrol plane.

The air successes were offset by loss of the trawler Barbara Robertson, which survivors said was torpedoed by a German submarine, and the 5,677-ton steamer Box Hill, which sank after hitting a mine. Twenty of the Box Hill's crew were missing; one man was lost from the Barbara Robertson.

In addition the British tanker Dandelfino was beached after she was damaged by a mine. Her crew of 41 landed safely.

Garner Has No Comment For Reporters On Any Subject

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1 (U.P.)—Vice President John N. Garner, healthy, tanned and in high spirits after a Texas vacation, came back to work at the Capitol today with two slabs of venison in his overcoat pocket.

He explained that the venison, which he shot while on a hunting trip, was for his lunch. But a few minutes later he gave it to reporters.

Garner refused to comment on domestic or foreign issues.

"I have no comment whatever to make," he said, "on the weather, politics, economics or any other subject you might think of."

Garner lost six pounds during his vacation and seemed fit for the opening of Congress Wednesday.

Former Mayor Shot To Death

KENILWORTH, N. J., Jan. 1. (U.P.) —August Stahl, 52, borough clerk and former mayor was shot and killed in the borough hall today while the city council was in session.

Police arrested John Butler, 75, tax collector and treasurer of the borough for 18 years.

Patrolmen Andrew Ruscanzky, one of three members of the borough police force was shot and seriously wounded, allegedly by Butler, as he ran into the office of Stahl after hearing a shot.

The shooting occurred as the borough council was holding an organization caucus across the hall from Stahl's office.

Condition Serious

According to police, the slayer, after killing Stahl, shot at Ruscanzky when he appeared at the door, then dashed out of the room. A photographer, William Zimmerman, was in the hall and hastily leveled his Camera. Butler allegedly shot at Zimmerman, missed, and was overpowered by council members who rushed out.

Butler was taken to police headquarters and charged with the shooting.

Chief of Police George D. Conklin said that Butler had gone to Stahl's office with a resolution which he wanted introduced at the council meeting.

Stahl was instantly killed by a bullet from a .38 calibre pistol which struck him in the left temple. Patrolman Ruscanzky was shot in the abdomen and his condition was reported serious.

Attorney Recalls Rhyme And His Client Is Released

JUNEAU, Wis., Jan. 1. (U.P.)—Attorney Eugene A. Clifford, Juneau, recalled an old rhyme and his client, Benjamin Biggs, Flint, Mich., was at liberty today.

Biggs was wanted by Michigan authorities for an alleged parole violation in 1935. The Michigan governor's requisition charged that the violation occurred April 31.

However, Biggs won freedom on a writ of habeas corpus when Clifford reminded the court:

"Thirty days hath September, April, June and November."

First Mayor Of Hale Center Gets Unexpected Present

HALE CENTER, Jan. 1. (Special) —H. S. Cline, first mayor of Hale Center and for many years a resident here, received an unexpected Christmas present in the payment of a debt a half century old.

Before the turn of the century he was a merchant in Packwood, Iowa, and one day a customer bought a $10 bill of goods and said "charge it."

Cline moved away and forgot the bill. On Christmas day he received a money order for the amount of the bill.

Former Spy Is Ready To Talk

SHANGHAI, Jan. 1. (U.P.)—Ignatius Timothy Trebitsch Lincoln, World war spy and Hungarian born former member of the British Parliament, now known as the Buddhust Abbot Chao Kung, announced today that he was ready to go to Washington and talk peace with President Roosevelt.

Lincoln said that as a high Buddhist he had accepted the president's invitation to religious leaders to discuss peace efforts. He asked Mr. Roosevelt to instruct the United States consulate general at Shanghai to grant him a visa.

"I am ready to go to Washington immediately to lay before President Roosevelt certain proposals which would bring about world peace," Lincoln said. "What I have to discuss requires about two hours conversation daily for from seven to 10 days."

On Dec. 19 Lincoln emerged from his retreat to warn belligerent governments to resign so that a peace conference could be held. If they did not do so, he said, the Tibetan Buddhist "supreme masters" would eliminate them from the international scene of action.

Another Violator Is Held In South Texas Narcotics Drive

BROWNSVILLE, Jan. 1 (AP)—The current valley narcotics drive had a ninth alleged violator in its net here Monday.

He is Amado Toriz, 22, Brownsville, charged with attempting to bring twenty grains of heroin across the international bridge here.

The campaign, headed by Raymond Clapper, has resulted in charges against two Harlingen physicians, four Brownsville men including an American counsul's son, and two San Benito residents.

Motion Picture Actress And Drug Executive Married

CHICAGO, Jan. 1. (U.P.) — Jane Bryan, motion picture actress, and Justin W. Dart, general manager of the Walgreen drug chain, were on their honeymoon today after a surprise marriage here last night.

The couple had intended to be married today, but made a last minute change in plans. They were married in the apartment of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James O'Brien of Los Angeles, who had come here for the wedding.

The Darts will live in Chicago. Miss Bryan plans to give up her profesisonal career.

Love Life Of Girl Probed

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 1 (U.P.)—The love life of pretty, Argentine born Mary Vila, 23, was investigated today as officers sought to discover the identity of the slayer who smothered and strangled the girl and left her nude, mutilated body in her lodging house room.

The body was found yesterday when her room mate, Anna Iscilowski, 23, returned after a party.

The victim, a former laboratory technician at Philadelphia General hospital and waitress, reportedly had complained shortly before that she had been threatened by a woman. Several persons were questioned, including John Strasinski, 32, a city fireman, and his wife, Julia. According to police, Miss Oscilowski told them Strasinski and his wife had been separated and that he planned to obtain a divorce in the hope of marrying Miss Vila. Earl Moyer, 35, told police he had been "keeping steady company" with Miss Vila for two years. All later were released, and police said they were satisfied that neither of the men knew of the other's attentions to the victim.

Examination of the body disclosed that the girl had been struck several times apparently to stun her, then smothered and strangled.

Celebrator's Final Fling Puts Him In Hospital, Not Jail

BATON ROUGE, La., Jan. 1. (AP)—One of the luster New Year's celebrants brought to police headquarters had a final fling at revelry.

Pulling a firecracker from his pocket, he placed it between his teeth and applied a match. It exploded with a grand flash and deafening noise.

He was brought to a hospital for an anti-lockjaw serum.

There Was No Use For Clarence Yearout Trying To Sleep In Early Part Of Sunday Night

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 1. (AP)—Came the wee sma' hours of the new year and this good natured Oklahoma Citian finally got to bed.

It was no use trying to sleep earlier.

The telephone kept ringing and voices shouted "your time's about up, pal, heh, heh."

His name? Clarence Yearout.

Wheat Prospects Are Bad Despite Snow

TOPEKA, Kans., Jan. 1. (U.P.)—Wheat in Western Kansas and the Oklahoma and Texas Panhandles is in very poor condition despite the recent heavy snow, C. W. Lane crop forecaster for the Santa Fe railroad, said today.

The big question facing wheat growers in these areas is whether ungerminated wheat can make any growth, he said.

Seventy-five per cent of the crop in these areas has not germinated, Lane said.

There is little chance for a wheat crop in these areas unless weather conditions are "nearly ideal" during the remainder of the winter and during the spring, Lane said.

Admiral William Leahy Returns To Report On Puerto Rico

NEW YORK, Jan. 1. (AP)—Admiral William Leahy, U. S. N. retired, who was appointed last spring to succeed Blanton W. Winship as governor of Puerto Rico, returned today on the Puerto Rico liner Borinouen to report to President Roosevelt.

Admiral Leahy, accompanied by his wife, left for Washington. He said he expected to be in Washington two or three weeks.

Demos Develop New Party Strategy; GOP's Puzzled

By W. B. RAGSDALE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1 — The Democratic invitation to Republican congressional leaders to break bread and tradition with them at the Jackson day dinner next Monday is a phase of developing party strategy calculated to perplex administration enemies.

It may be regarded as a new sign of a Democratic intent to pull public attention back to foreign affairs and hold it there. Like a bright new ball in a heap of last year's toys, it catches the eye.

Enough mystery surrounds the invitation to make it mind filling. The public debt, taxes, the farm problem and unemployment are passed over in a furore of speculation.

Gives Some Light

A bit of recent political history throws some light on the underlying motives. Democrats were troubled when Congress came in last January. Looking at the angry men who returned from the factional battles of 1938, one astute Democrat said:

"If things keep going the way they have for the last few months, the Democratic presidential nomination in 1940 won't be worth two parboiled adjectives."

The session did not change that situation. Democratic stock was low when Congress went home for the summer. Republicans were jubilant, Democrats depressed. The situation began to reverse itself when war started. Even Republicans have called the Roosevelt foreign policy popular. Quite a few of them supported it.

On National Issues

Since the special session, the Republicans have tried to turn the public thought back to domestic problems. Their candidates are drumming away at national, not international, issues. Many months more of that technique are to follow, in Congress and out.

Now their leaders are invited to come to a Democratic party rally and hear a non-partisan speech by President Roosevelt.

The only question in American politics surrounded by a theoretical party neutrality is foreign affairs. The world situation makes that a timely subject. Moreover, it is the one on which Democrats probably can come nearest to uniting.

But it puts the invited Republicans in a hot spot. Whichever way they jump may be wrong. Popular reaction to their refusal would be hard to figure. Yet they can point out that the invitation came from a party official—not from the president, himself. And it does not say, specifically, that the president is going to talk about foreign affairs.

Man Worked Two Months To Save Duck's Life, Only To Learn Later His Uncle Ate It

OGDEN, Utah, Jan. 1. (AP)—Clarence Byrne found a sick duck and nursed it back to health—a two months' job. Then he set it free, with a tag bearing his uncle's name attached to its leg.

A few days later the uncle, Walter Byrne of Piedmont, Wyo. received a letter from a Denver sportsman:

"Finest duck I ever tasted."

Former Governor Ely Has No Interest In Being Nominee

WESTFIELD, Mass., Jan. 1. (AP)—A former Massachusetts Democratic governor, who joined Al Smith when he took "a walk" during the last presidential election, showed little interest otday in a suggestion that he would make a good 1940 presidential candidate.

"I am not a candidate for any political office," declared former Governor Joseph B. Ely, named by Smith, in a birthday interview, as among Democrats available for the presidential nomination. Ely nominated the former New York governor for the presidency in 1932.
