Negro Insists On Serving On Dallas Grand Jury But Finally Changes Mind

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, Feb. 16.—For the first time in many years a negro insisted today on serving on a Dallas county grand jury, but yielded after several hours to the sentiment of white men about the courthouse.

The negro was listed on the weekly jury panel records as James Arbuckle, and his name was included in the regular drawing from the jury wheel. He declined to be excused, and later was ordered from quarters of the central jury room.

"I'm a qualified citizen here, and I pay taxes on $10,000 worth of property," he told a group of men who suggested he ask to be excused and avoid a possible disturbance. After a conversation with Sheriff Hal Wood, he agreed to leave the courthouse, but sat for two hours in criminal district court No. 2.

He then asked for an excuse from District Judge R. B. Allen and was given a warrant for $3 for a day'sjury service. Deputy sheriffs accompanied him when he called for the warrant.

East Texas Oil Development Inspires Unsurpassed Scenes

Tyler Resembles Houston During Preparations For Demo Convention; One Man Makes $200 Into Over $1,000,000

BY R. W. BARRY
Associated Press Staff Writer.

TYLER, Feb. 16. (AP)—East Texas' unrestrained oil development, precipitated last Sept., when C. M. Joiner, who labored three years in his attempt, brought in a 200-barrel well at what now is Joinerville, about 30 miles from here, has inspired scenes in this section unsurpassed by oil play in any section of Texas, if not the nation.

Tyler's appearance under the press of the activity reminds one of the scramble that confronted Houston in 1928 when that city undertook to entertain the democratic national convention. Not only has oil production not been placed under proration in East Texas' new oil area, but hotel accommodations and sleeping and eating quarters have not been prorated. Oil prospectors and developers who have flocked here from virtually every state in the union have taxed all facilities designed to care for transients under normal times.

Width Not Known.

The 24-mile stretch of oil producing territory, originating at Joinerville, extends through Rusk and Gregg counties to Longview. How wide the oil-bearing strata is has not been determined, but the strip just described has been proven of exceptional prolific production, with the 10,000-barrel well brought in by Frank R. Foster on the southwest end, known as the Foster-Deep Rock, the Bateman well at Kilgore, about seven miles northeast of Joinerville, producing an estimated 20,000 barrels daily, and the Lathrop-Montcrief well five miles west of Longview in Gregg county, said to be good for 18,000 barrels daily. It was brought in by Foster

Dry Democrats Plan Fight On Wet Platform

Southern Senators To Oppose Any Attempts To Adopt Wet Plank at 1932 National Convention Of Demo Party

Senate Requests Wickersham Commission To Reveal Testimony Received In Making Recent Prohibition Report

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—Democratic party leaders were given notice today by southern senators that they would bitterly oppose any attempt to adopt a wet plank at the 1932 national convention.

Their attitude was made known during a rough and tumble dispute over prohibition among senate democrats.

Raskob Assailed

Chairman Raskob of the Democratic national committee, and Jouett Shouse, chairman of the executive committee, were the targets of irate southern drys led by Senators Sheppard, of Texas, and Morrison, of North Carolina.

As the tumult died down, the senate adopted a resolution by Senator Tydings, Democrat, Maryland, requesting the Wickersham commission to give the senate the secret testimony it received in preparing its recent prohibition report. It was adopted without debate.

Asks For Proof

Senator Sheppard, a co-author of the 18th amendment, provoked the row by calling on Shouse to name the states the latter said had turned against prohibition and whose delegates would have a majority in the next national convention.

The Texan predicted the party would not go "wet."

This brought Senator Tydings into action in a severe arraign-

King Alfonso Names Guerra To End Crisis

Spanish Leader Makes Daring Political Gesture As He Invites Enemies Of Regime To Help Govern Country

(By The Associated Press)

MADRID, Feb. 16.—King Alfonso today made the daring political gesture in an hour of crisis of inviting the enemies of his regime to help govern Spain and thereby, in the opinion of most political observers, saved the monarchy from the most menacing situation of recent history.

The medium of his invitation was Jose Sanchez Guerra, a powerful political opponent of Alfonso himself, who tonight at the king's request was working to form a ministry to replace that headed by Damaso Berenguer which resigned Saturday.

Confidence Restored.

The royal gesture had an immediate effect of restoring confidence. The stock exchange had one of the busiest sessions it has known for months. Values rose generally and bankers and business men expressed an optimism that has long been absent.

Sanchez Guerra's plan is a radical one, and one that, if successful, will strip the crown of much power and privilege.

It contemplates first of all the freeing of political prisoners, arrested by the hundreds after the republican revolts of last December.

Before today most leaders saw in prospect either civil war, a dictatorship, or a republic. Tonight as the result of King Alfonso's bold move the opposition seemed largely mollified and it was generally believed a constitutional monarchy, something like that of England, would emerge from the chaos of the last few weeks of political battling.

Representatives Strike Hard At Administration Opposition To Okeh Measure, 263 to 39

Increase From 22½ To 50 Per Cent In Loan Value Of Adjusted Compensation Certificates Is Provided By Bill; Sent To Senate Where Passage Is Expected

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—Striking hard at administration opposition, the house today passed the veteran's loan bill by the overwhelming vote of 363 to 39.

It provides for an increase from 22 1-2 to 50 per cent in the loan value of the adjusted compensation certificates which were approved by the house, 355 to 54, in 1924.

Amid dramatic intensity, the measure was sent to the senate within an hour after Speaker Longworth opened the way for consideration. It carried with it more than enough votes to override a presidential veto. Similar quick action is expected in the other branch.

Leadership Split

With their leadership split, less than two score old line Republicans rallied behind Majority Leader Tilson and Chairman Hawley of the house ways and means committee.

More than 400 of the 435 members were present. Under the procedure, the bill had to receive a two-thirds vote for passage.

Speaker Longworth swung 216 Republican votes for the measure against the warning Secretary Mellon that the treasury would have difficulty in financing it.

Representative Bacharach, Republican, New Jersey, proponent of the measure, led the advocates with the statement that he could not understand why the treasury should not approve the bill after conceding it was the best of all suggested. He predicted no bond issue would be necessary to finance the loans.

Garner For Proposal

Minority Leader Garner wound up the debate for the measure with the assertion that "the only argument against this bill is the argument of the secretary of the treasury."

Five members spoke against the proposal. They warned against the difficulties of financing it.

Chairman Hawley, Representatives Treadway, of Massachusetts, Ramseyer of Iowa, Chindbloom of Illinois, members of the ways and means committee, and Fort of New

House Revolts Against Action Of Committees

Vote To Print Four Bills On Minority Committee Report; Bill To Permit Defendants To Plead Guilty Passed

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Feb. 16.—The house of representatives today staged a mild revolt against its committees, voting to print four bills on minority committee reports.

One called for an elective rather than an appointive highway commission. The highway and motor traffic committee voted 12 to 7 to make an unfavorable report on the bill. The house today voted 84 to 38 to print the bill, thus saving it for future action.

Opposition to printing bills on minority reports was voiced by Representative Keller of Dallas who asserted the house might as well destroy its committees.

Bill Substituted.

The senate today followed the house in going on record in favor of permitting defendants pleading guilty in less than capital offenses to waive jury trials. The senate substituted a bill by Senator Woodward of Coleman for the bill passed by the house. The vote on final passage was 14 to 12.

This bill caused some argument and the senate immediately after its passage turned to another proposal by Senator Woodward which led to a sharp verbal tilt between the Coleman senator and Senator Holdbrook of Galveston.

The bill was a suggested change in the law government sanity trials of convicts, but both speakers wandered afield. Senator Holdbrook accused Woodward of "trotting to Austin" with bills to tear down the bill of rights, and Woodward retaliated with the charge that Holdbrook had backed legislation aiding bootleggers.

Under Woodward's bill as amended so far a sanity trial would be allowed on an insanity affidavit from the head of a state hospital, from three licensed physicians, from the prison warden or the prison physician.

Senator Holdbrook said he did not believe in depriving the mother of a convict of the right to file an affidavit alleging insanity.

Torch Slaying Trial Started At Fort Worth

A. E. Stanley Goes On Trial For Murder Of Roy Hawthorne; Mute Evidence Of Brutal Death Unfolded

(By The Associated Press)

FORT WORTH, Feb. 16.—A bundle of partly burned rags, sheets and table cloths and a machine gun clip were paraded before a jury in criminal district court today for the third time and they were identified, piece by piece, in the trial of A. E. Stanley, for the "torch slaying" of Roy Hawthorne.

Previously, this mute evidence of the brutal slaying was unfolded before juries in the trials of Herbert A. Stanley, son of the defendant on trial now and Hugh David (Hope Toe) Butler. The younger Stanley and Butler each received 99-year sentences.

Identify Clothing.

Remnants of burned clothing and household furnishings were identified from the witness stand by Sheriff J. R. Wright as those found in a pasture near Lake Worth, where Hawthorne's burning and mutilated body was discovered last July 26. It was admitted in evidence by Stanley's attorneys today that Hawthorne was slain at the Stanley home on the north side before the body was burned.

Butler came from his jail cell to relate the details of the slaying. He stated he was at the Stanley home at the time. In his testimony, he directly connected the elder Stanley with the slaying, saying that the defendant struck Hawthorne with a beer bottle in the bath room. He stated that previously the defendant held Hawthorne, while his son and James Lloyd Casstevens, under indictment for accessory to murder, struck the victim.

Believe Chicken Theft Ring Found

Perpetrators of a dozen or more chicken thefts in Lubbock and surrounding territory were believed to have been caught with the arrest of four Lubbock negroes Monday at Ralls and subsequent confessions that they had been stealing chickens, according to Sheriff Wade Hardy.

The negroes were driving two automobiles, one of which bore license plates stolen from another car in Lubbock, and had more than 20 chickens in their possessions when taken into custody, Sheriff Hardy said.

Lubbock county officers said the negroes had admitted taking chickens in lots of about half a dozen or more here and elsewhere in this section. Some of the chickens were sold to produce houses here. Part of the fowls stolen here had been identified Monday and the negroes were taken to Spur in an effort to obtain identification there, the Lubbock county sheriff said. The negroes had not been returned here early Monday night.

Indian Peace Up To Gandhi

Government Ready To Concede To Most Of Demands Of Nationalist Leader If Civil Disobedience Drive Ends

(By The Associated Press)

NEW DELHI, India, Feb. 16. — Peace in India now rests in the hands of Mahatma Gandhi, Lord Irwin, the viceroy said today, for the government is ready to concede most of his demands if he will agree to call off his civil disobedience campaign and give some evidence of a "change of heart' 'toward the government.

Lord Irwin has set aside all of tomorrow and the next day for conferences with the picturesque little man who is leading India's campaign for independence, and today he spent several hours talking to three influential Indian delegates to the recent round table conference in London.

Sir Tec Bahadur Sapru who is credited with having broken down Gandhi's resistance to the point of arranging a personal talk with the viceroy, gave Irwin his own ideas of the situation in a meeting also attended by Srimivasa Sastri and M. R. Payakar.

It was to them that Lord Irwin said he was ready to grant amnesty to the political prisoners in India and to cinsider withdrawal of the present laws against congress party activities if Gandhi will make some concessions on his side.

Music Lovers Of City Enjoy Cherniavskys

LOVERS of music in Lubbock were privileged to hear a program recital of unusual brilliancy last evening when the renowned brothers, Leo, Jan and Mischel Cherniavsky, were presented as the first unmber of the Tech Artists course this year.

Getting off to a bad start because of the failure of many in the audience to arrive on time, the trio appeared to be a trifle nervous at first but as the program progressed and the audience settled down they were smiling and at ease. The audience which filled the college gymnasium to three-fourths capacity listened with an attentiveness which hardly warranted the warning from Professor W. R. Waghorne that the concert was of "too intimate a nature for whispering or noise."

The numbers were familiar to many and each member of the trio seemed to enjoy playing his solo parts or accompanying his brothers.

The recital was opened with a trio for pianoforte, violin and violoncello in C minor by Brahms.

Mischel Cherniavsky returned to offer as violoncello solos: "Serenade Melancolique" (Tschaikowsky) accompanied at the piano by Jan Cherniavsky. During this time he wore a look of melancholy and played with tightly closed eyes but brightened perceptibly when he continued his repertoire with "Vito" and "Dance of the Elves" by Popper.

The accompanist played as piano solos: "Nocturne," "Two Studies" and "Scherzo" by Chopin with a lightness and beauty which was received by a delighted audience. He responded with an encore and

Two Bandits Rob Train Passengers

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 16. (AP) — Two bandits broke into the observation car on the southbound Crescent limited, New York-New Orleans Southern passenger train, shortly after it left Newman, Ga., tonight, robbed several passengers and escaped after stopping the train.

The Atlanta dispatcher of the Atlanta and West Point railway said the Crescent conductor notified him the men apparently boarded the train when it stopped at Newman. About four miles south of that place they broke the glass in the rear door of the observation car and unlocked it.

One of the men, a handkerchief tied about his face, entered the car and threatened the passengers. Seven or eight persons in the car were forced to hand over their cash, amounting to between $20 and $100 per person.

New Kind Of Compass Points To Oil, Diamonds And Gold, Engineers Told

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK, Feb. 16. (AP)—A new kind of compass points to diamonds, gold, oil. The American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers was told about it today.

It is a prospector's tool, replacing pack mule, pick and pan. But the prospector must know geology, and the results are no more certain than the old plan, although on a far bigger scale.

The new prospecting was explained by Noel H. Stearn, a consulting geologist of St. Louis. A needle called the hotchkiss fuperdip is balanced between gravitation and the same magnetic lines which guide the mariner's compass.

It is set to swerve wherever the earth's normal magnetic lines are disturbed.

Such disturbing zones hang in the air above many sorts of buried minerals. Mr. Stearn said the needle had indentified eight different natural resources in seven states.

In Arkansas it is the kind of volcanic rock that bears diamonds. There, above three known diamond deposits in

Trio Of Matrons Entertain Monday With Twenty-Table Bridge Party

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

SINCE we have weeks and days set aside observing practically every event that has ever happened, we're planning to have a new one here this spring. It is Return-What-You-Borrowed Day.

The suggestion came to me from Mrs. W. C. Rylander and it is a good one, particularly at this time of year, because it can work in so well with that spring house cleaning that precedes all the sand-storms.

There are few of us who have not borrowed something and neglected to return it. Books are borrowed and then forgotten. Costumes, music groceries, cooking utensils, linens garden tools—I suppose there is no item, barring probably the gold in your teeth, that isn't borrowed at one time or another. And many of them are never returned.

A book may appear to be just another book to the borrower after it has served its purpose there, but it probably is of some value to the owner or he would not have had it. Many times sets are broken in this manner and the loss causes the owner considerable annoyance, to say the least.

Many items appear more or less worthless, but if they are borrowed they should be returned to the owner. If he thinks they are of no value, he can dispose of them.

Not long ago, as an example, I needed some costumes for an occasion and I learned that some children had costumes similar to what I needed. A call to the mothers revealed that the costumes had been borrowed and that some pieces had never been returned. The trousers were missing from one suit. Then there are a lot of things which are preserved for sentimental reasons and may look entirely worthless to the one who has borrowed them for some particular occasion. There was, for instance, that old square-top that I used to have. The mortar-board sort, you know. When I first went to college and wore uniform that was a part of it and I wanted to keep the thing because of all the weary hours I spent balancing it on my head. That's where I developed all of this grace I have!

But someone borrowed it to complete a cap and gown costume. I don't even have any idea now where the thing went but occasionally I sigh for it and the good old days.

Books and music probably are the things most frequently borrowed and forgotten but practically nothing is omitted from the list.

So, we're setting March 1 as Return-What-You-Borrowed Day. That will give plenty of time to find all of the things that have been borrowed and never returned. They can be taken home or mailed anonimously to avoid embarrassment if they have been kept too long, but they should be returned either on March 1 or before that time.

WOVEN CORD BELTS CHIC

WOVEN cord belts, suggestive of Indian weaving, are "the last word" in trimmings for shantung and linen sport frocks. The belts are made of three or more colors, the cords being braided in bands two inches wide and fastened with bright colored flat glass buttons. Crimson, sapphire blue and white; and green yellow and cream are among the smartest combinations.

MODERN women aren't going to accomplish anything toward world peace by having conferences. The way to accomplish that is for them to have good warm meals for their husbands when they come home tired from a day's business to raise children properly and build homes. Madam Ernestine Shumann-Heink believes.

She thinks modern woman has no heart and that motherhood will not improve her art because she does not feel the great sacred emotion. "All that is important in her life is the lipstick, jazz and bridge. She does not want children," the diva declared the other day in an interview in Buffalo.

And, much as I admire Schumann-Heink, I hate for her to talk that way about the modern woman. Of course, families of eight have gone out of style, but a lot of modern women want children and have them and they give them more advantages and rear them under more ideal circumstances than mothers did a generation ago. And if these things do not indicate mother love, I don't know what it is. My acquaintances includes plenty of young mothers and with few exceptions, their children receive care and training that is far superior to that given these mothers in their day.

There was a time when children were supposed to be seldom seen and never heard. Today, the child comes first and is given every consideration. That's the modern fad but it has some parental love back of it that people overlook when they prate about the good old days when numbers were the only consideration.

MOST FOODS TASTE BETTER IF COOKED IN SMALL AMOUNTS

Same is True of Hills Bros. Coffee, Which is Never Roasted in Bulk

When food is cooked in small quantities, the mixing, the application of heat, can be controlled with much more exactness. An omelet, for example, made of three eggs will turn out more tender and fluffy than one made of many eggs.

A similar situation occurs in roasting coffee. When roasted in bulk it is impossible to control the heat exactly. Some of the batch, therefore, is overdone and some underdone. As a result there is a variation in flavor.

In the invention of Controlled Roasting, Hills Bros. found the way to insure an even roast in their fine blend of coffee. Only a few pounds at a time are roasted by this patented, continuous process. When the roasting is finished a uniformly delicious flavor has been developed such as no other coffee has.

When you buy Hills Bros. Coffee it is always fresh because it is packed in vacuum. By this process, air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is taken from the can and kept out. Ordinary cans, even if air-tight, do not keep coffee fresh. Grocers everywhere sell Hills Bros. Coffee. Ask for it by name and look for the Arab on the can.

Pretty? . . . Yes!

(Body Odor)

"WHAT a lonely life I used to lead! It all seems like a bad dream now. I had no really close friends. People were always pleasant and cordial enough when we first met. But soon they drifted away. Yet I never suspected the reason until one girl finally told me.

"She had hesitated a long time. For no one likes to speak of body odor even under the polite name—'B.O.'

"And to think that I had been offending and didn't know it! But we seldom notice 'B.O.' in ourselves—only in others. Though our pores give off a quart of odor-causing waste daily, we quickly get used to this ever-present odor. We think we're safe when we're not!

"But with Lifebuoy to protect me, there's no fear of 'B.O.' now. Lifebuoy lathers so generously, no matter how hard the water. And this rich, creamy lather is gently antiseptic. It purifies pores—removes all odor. I certainly am grateful to Lifebuoy! It's made a tremendous difference in my life."

Betterment In Business Seen

Brighter Prospects Through South Plains Loom After Continuation Of February Precipitation In Area

Improvement in business conditions throughout the South Plains is reported as an accompaniment to continuation of February precipitation. Condition of the soil now is believed better for the season than in many years, and a marked increase in acreage of feed crops is expected.

Wheat is in splendid shape at this time, and sufficient pasture for cattle. Lamb, Hale, Floyd, Motley Crosby, Dickens, Garza and Scurry counties all report their wheat as making good progress.

The same condition is reported from Parmer, Castro, Swisher, Briscoe and other counties to the north. Winter oats in all of these sections, as well as where winter barley is sown, report similar conditions.

More Feed Grown

More feed will be grown this spring and summer on the South Plains than ever before, as many farmers are planning to replace a portion of their cotton acreage with sorghums. Similarly, there will be a reduction in cotton acreage because of the large increase in wheat sown last fall.

Farmers are reported getting their ground in condition for spring planting. With so much moisture this winter, the farmers have found that it pays to start their work early.

Scarcity of Oats

Lubbock county farmers soon will begin planting of spring oats and barley. According to D. F. Eaton, county agent, there is at present a scarcity of good oats. However, there is reported a considerable amount of barley seed available.

Planting of sorghums is not expected to start until early in May. The same is true of cotton planting.

There will be an increase in the number of truck gardens, according to reports. In virtually every county where there is a county agent or a home demonstration agent, the starting of gardens is reported under way. Many farmers are now beginning hot beds and there will be a surplus of spring leafy vegetables shortly.

Arranging Gardens

Home demonstration clubs are arranging for members to plant gardens this spring to insure plenty of vegetables this summer.

With over 14,000 head of cattle on the South Plains in the feed lots, in addition to half as many sheep and probably 10,000 to 15,000 hogs, indications are that many farmers will be able to get more than the market price for their feed crops, even at the present market price of livestock.

Italian Charged With Failure To Carry Lateran Treaty By Permitting "Immoral" Newspapers And Movies

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 16. (AP)—Pope Pius, addressing the Lente preachers of Rome, today accused the Italian government of failure to carry out the Lateran treaty to the letter by permitting "immoral" newspaper, movies and vaudeville encouraging neglect of Sunday observance and countenancing protestant progaganda.

He charged that government institutions encouraged profanation of the sabbath by taking young men out of the churches into athletic or recreational activities. He did not refer directly to it, but it was believed he also had in mind the government's recent institution of compulsory preliminary training by which young men are obliged to drill each Sunday morning for a year and a half before beginning their regular military service.

As the pontiff received the priests, over whom as bishop of Rome he is direct superior, an unusual scene occurred.

Petition Presented

They presented him with a petition in language, it was said, which indicated considerable desperation and begged his help in combatting the triple evil of immoral newspapers, movies and vaudeville shows.

Forgetfulness of Sunday observance, they said, was abetted by the example of government institutions, and they asked the pope to "defend the souls of our parishioners so satanically beseiged and daily exposed to tremendous perils."

The pope read the petition and launched into a vigorous confirmation of the priests' conclusions.

Highway Grading Begun In District

State highway department maintenance workers yesterday began the grading of all roads in division No. 5, following rains Sunday.

Last week's rains had left the roads a little rough and the maintenance department had just completed the latter of the week, most of the dragging of the entire division.

Sunday's rain was followed by cool winds during the night and Monday, causing the highways to dry quickly. In some places roads were slick Monday morning, but by late in the afternoon nearly all sections of the division were reported in good shape.

Joe H. Caldwell, division maintenance engineer, has the area divided into 10 sections, with a foreman and crew in charge of each. Reports indicated the dragging would be well underway Tuesday.

PASS HOSPITAL BILL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16. (AP)—The house today passed the $12,500,000 hospital bill to provide additional facilities to care for disabled World War veterans.

Through "some high phenomen of telepathy," he said he had arrived at the same conclusions himself.

Flays Government

He reproached the government for failure to maintain the atmosphere of Rome as a religious center, as required under the first article of the Lateran treaty and asserted the government was at fault for permitting protestant proselytizing to such an extent that even the protestants themselves were surprised.

PAMPA, Feb. 16. (AP)—Lloyd Smith was seriously burned early today at Le Fors when gasoline spilled on his clothes as he filled an automobile tank ignited when he approached a stove. A Path Of Glory Fades

LAST September, when the Ringling Brothers-Barnum and Bailey combined circus played to record South Plains crowds in Lubbock, the Avalanche and Journal, as is their custom, made much ado over the event.

Working upon the theory that on circus day the circus and its cast make up the big local news, the managing editor dispatched Miss Blanche Bean to the show-grounds with the asignment to interview Miss Lillian Leitzel, feature aerialist. That was five months ago, yesterday.

To the private car of the famous star went the reporter to find the aristocrat of the tanbark a very human person after all—engaged in the homely act of preparing a list of goodies for a birthday party honoring a fellow performer. The performer's charming manner, her wholesome character and her very evident domestic bliss shared by her husband, Trapeze Artist Alfredo Codona, were transferred to paper and ink that all the South Plains might get a peep behind the scenes of the greatest of all circuses. And to top it all, Miss Leitzel, whose name has been something to conjure with in every corner of the globe, insisted that her interviewer be her personal guest at the show—that she might explain the myriad secrets of the "Big Top" with her own lips.

The other day, in far away Copenhagen, Lillian Leitzel thrilled her last crowd. With the spotlight playing on her agile body, the dainty performer was turning her famous sommersaults, supported only by one hand on the iron ring, 45 feet above a light rubber mat. Her grip was sure but the ring broke and the figure of Lillian Leitzel crashed to the mat, battered and broken beyond repair.

The crowded cables, packed with the many items of European politics, winter sports and all the news of interest to two continents, were cleared as the Associated Press and other agencies gave space to Lillian Leitzel—space the quantity of which might well have been envied by statesmen, giants of business, the socially prominent and new figures in the change of a government.

To some, Miss Leitzel may have been "only a circus performer." But to countless thousands she was an idol, a wonder woman—someone to whom deference of the deepest nature must be shown.

From the time she was a little girl—at the age when most little girls are playing dolls—the thunder of applause in many lands was ringing in the ears of Lillian Leitzel. For three-fourths of her brief life, she received the plaudits of the crowd because she was performing a death-defying aerial act no one else could—or—did—perform.

But the cheers of the crowd did not turn Lillian Leitzel's pretty, bobbed head. When she played Lubbock, in the hey-day of her career she was still intensely human, generous, gracious.

Her act probably died with Lillian Leitzel. Her aerial contribution was not of a lasting nature. Yet her example, we think, will be remembered for many years, under circus tents and beyond.

Happy, carefree, courageous and humble, Lillian Leitzel, the greatest circus star of them all, has set a pattern not soon to be forgotten. She remembered, as she scaled the heights of success, that it was through the applause and admiration of others that honor was hers.

The spotlight of death, keener than the Kleigs of the sawdust ring, shows up the fine points of Lillian Leitzel's make-up. Applause is hers past the grave.

Practical Health Problems

BOTH RAW AND COOKED FOODS ARE ESSENTIAL IN PROPER DIET

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN,
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

Lower animals live essentially on raw foods, except those that have become so thoroughly domesticated that they have become accustomed to the diet of man.

Previous to our newer knowledge of the vitamins, it was not realized that the cooking of food might destroy essential substances. Modern knowledge, however, indicates that heating will take from the foods some vitamins which are susceptible to heat.

This does not mean that a raw food diet is the optimum diet for man, nor should it be an indication for the formation of a raw meat cult. It has been established that heating for a long time, even at moderate temperature, in an open vessel will decrease the content of vitamins, particularly if the solution in which the food is held has an alkaline reaction.

It has long since been established that continued cooking of a vegetable in water will cause the salts to be dissolved out of the vitamins into the water, so that some of the valuable constituents are poured down the sink.

From the opposite point of view, the eating of raw foods may be dangerous. In the first place, a raw food diet does not appeal to the sense of appetite and an appetite for raw food has to be cultivated. In the second place, heat will kill harmful germs, which is certainly essential in the case of many meats. Next, heat develops odors and flavors which are beneficial to the appetite and which favor digestion by softening fiber and by coagulating protein.

All of this discussion establishes again a point which is of the utmost importance in forming scientific judgments; namely, there is no one track rule in science. A good diet will contain some foods cooked because of the fact that cooking helps them greatly; other foods raw because cooking harms them. A certain amount of uncooked fruits and vegetables is essential in a well-balanced diet.

Under modern conditions of civilization, man being what he is today, the majority of foods require cooking or preparation before they are suitable for human consumption.

Bishop Has Perfect Poise

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16. — Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, does not look his nearly 67 years despite the stress and strain he has been subjected to of late.

He looks crippled and feeble, but not very old.

Until he fell a victim to what is now known as arthritis, but formerly was plain, old-fashioned rheumatism, he suggested, in appearance, rather the alert business man than the clergyman.

IN A LONG experience in the reportorial calling I have met quite a few bishops, of two or three different denominations, and they mostly impressed me as temperamental (shall I say?) heavyweights. Not that they necessarily were physically big, but that is seemed to me natural to think of them in connection with bulk more than speed.

By this I mean nothing disparaging.

I simply am trying to supply a picture of Bishop Cannon by describing his opposite. The idea he gives rise to is not of the type which knocks its victims cold at a blow, but cuts them to ribbons with marvelous celerity.

HIS RECENT hearing, when he was vindicated before an ecclesiastical tribunal at the Mount Vernon Methodist church in Washington, was so secret that nothing except second-hand rumors are available concerning its details; yet all these agree upon the bishop's extraordinary coolness and self-possession in the face of an exceedingly trying situation.

I can well believe it, recalling his behavior before the senatorial lobby investigating committe which cited him as a witness some months ago.

The examination was not friendly to him, but his poise was perfect throughout. He knew an attempt was being made to catch him in the least statement which could be used to his disadvantage and he knew equally exactly how to avoid stepping into any such trap, no matter how cleverly it might be concealed in an entirely harmless-appearing line of questioning.

THE BISHOP is only of medium stature and his figure is slender.

His face, graven now with lines of illness, no longer in the past than the 1928 presidential campaign, in which he took so active and since bitterly-criticized a part, habitually wore a quizzical expression, with not quite a smile and still almost a hint at one lurking at the corners of his clipped, gray-mustached lips. In fact, his visage had a good deal of humor in it—pretty completely lost now.

He was positive in what he said, but not overbearing.

He had things sized up and told what would happen—not that they MUST happen, merely because he willed it; simply that they WOULD.

BISHOP CANNON has, of course, plenty of pugnacity, but he is not ostentatious with it.

Instead of carrying all before him, by the impact of a tremendous personality, I judge him to be a fighter who generally has had his battles won before he went into them, through the superiority of his preliminary planning—his mastery of tactics and his able strategy.

"Smart" is an adjective which fits the bishop particularly well. His mind is keen and penetrating. He has a very sharp eye for the least weakness in an adversary.

MANY an expression of opinion was heard, following the late Wayne B. Wheeler's death, that Bishop Cannon would make an exceptionally suitable successor to the former as the Anti-Saloon league's field commander.

It seemed to me at the time that he had precisely the qualities for the post.

The league's elder statesmen, I understand, considered it a choice of doubtful expediency, as implying too close an affiliation with a single denomination. Perhaps also the bishop himself did not care to be chosen. All the same, the league has not done so well since then and the bishop has had considerable trouble.

ABODE FOR VICE PRESIDENTS

Whatever may be said of vice presidents of the United States, it cannot be said that they are objects of charity. They receive for salary $15,000 a year, and the government provides no official residence for them in the natonal capital. Of the last 12 to hold this high federal office, six have been men of wealth who rented or purchased Washington homes in keeping with the position. Vice President Curtis, former Vice President Coolidge and many of their predecessors do not belong to that half dozen, the state of their private finances requiring them to take up less costly quarters in Washington.

One can see in these facts the inspiration for the apocryphal story about the man, who, when told by a policeman on late patrol duty to go home, replied sorrowfully:

"I have no home. I am the vice president."

Experience convinced Calvin Coolidge, when vice president, that the "great office should have a settled and fixed habitation, irrespective of the financial ability of its occupant."

Through the generous offer of a senator's widow, Mrs. John B. Henderson, congress can now provide such a residence with a minimum of expense to the government. She has renewed an offer, made and rejected when Mr. Coolidge was vice president, of a 30-room house in Washington as a gift to the country. Representative Gibson, of Vermont, favors accepting the offer and providing $25,000 a year from public funds for its maintenance.

If congress adopts the Gibson plan, it will be turning an about-face after standing cold to the idea throughout the years. And coldest to the idea has been the senate, over whose solemn deliberations the vice president presides.

Are they building Hoover dam to be another Muscle Shoals?

When modern furniture becomes antique it won't be difficult to fake the cigaret scars.

When good fellows get together these days it is usually when their cars come together.

Those who can best afford to be idle can always find employment, and vice versa.

DOLLY MADISON INVENTED ICE CREAM—Dolly Madison, wife of President Madison, invented ice cream and served it for the first time at a dinner, tendered by President Jefferson to the notables of his time, in 1801, with Mrs. Madison, wife of the Secretary of State, acting as the official hostess of the White House at the request of the president. Mrs. Anthony Merry, wife of the British minister, reported this dinner to a friend at home. In the letter, in which she wrote "with deep disgust" of the democratic demeanor of the American guests, ice cream is mentioned for the first time in history, and the credit for the invention is reluctantly given to Mrs. Madison. For GINGER'S SAKE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Life in the little town of Red Thrush, Iowa, was too unexciting to suit GINGER ELLA TOLLIVER, so she conceived the idea of organizing a Junior Country club and thus saving the younger set from complete boredom. Accordingly she arranged for the purchase of the Mill Rush farm, a 10-acre tract with an old rambling house on it, and she arranged with JENKY BROOKS and her husband, blind BENNY BROOKS, to act as chaperons.

The idea was that the club was to be exclusive. No parents allowed—and no children. The motion was heartily seconded by Ginger's intimates, all of them leading spirits in Red Thrush—EDDY JACKSON, WESLEY MEEKER, and PATTY SEARS.

Ginger was the daughter of a minister and the stepdaughter of a very wealthy woman, the former PHIL VAN DOORN.

The farm and farm house bought, Ginger proceeded with a general overhauling in which all the high school kids of Red Thrush enthusiastically assisted. Furnishings were donated. Eddy Jackson even gave an old mare, named MRS. JACKSON.

It was agreed that the purpose was to have a good time. And one day, while the rehabilitation of the old house was going on, Ginger was in the kitchen of her home making cookies, assisted by GOOBY, the cook, when a shadow fell across the doorway.

It was a stranger, bearded and unprepossessing looking, and he offered to do a sketch of the cook in exchange for a meal. Ginger defied him to do a sketch of her. Thinking he was an elderly man, she began to lecture him for his apparent lack of ambition.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER VIII

"Say," the artist interrupted at last, "are those my grandchildren you're crowing about? How old the devil do you think I am anyhow, Kate?"

"My name's not Kate."

"My error," he said. "I apologize. This is Iowa, isn't it? I was thinking of Shakespeare."

Ginger decided to accept the apology. He might have been intending a compliment. A reference to Shakespeare was usually complimentry, and just offhand like that she could not place Kate.

She considered his question. He wasn't so old probably as her father he wasn't gray but that long, black beard was deceptive.

"Oh, about 50, I suppose," she said at last.

"Fifty—good lord—about 50." He appealed suddenly to Gooby. "Is she in her right mind and all?"

Gooby thought a moment and gave it as her opinion that she was.

"Say, let me tell you something, Miss Defective-Delinquent, or whoever you are, I'm just 27 years old."

"Twenty-seven!" Ginger was amazed. "Why, you're not so old as Eddy Jackson."

"I'm not so old as a lot of people," he said. He dropped the cover on his pad of paper and tossed it upon the table. Then he reached firmly into his portfolio.

"Miss," he said to Gooby, "can I bother you for a little nice hot lather?"

"L-lather " echoed Ginger. "You mean plain soap and water. I didn't know they used lather in—Gooby, a bowl of soap and hot water, at once."

"I'm going to shave off this damned beard," he said. "Me and my grandchildren! Humph!"

"I—didn't mean to hurt your feelings," said Ginger gently. "You don't look exactly old but—Biblical. That's it—Biblical. You look like all the disciples at the last supper.—except Judas, of course," she added politely.

"Thanks," he said grimly.

He accepted the pan of hot water and the cake of soap from Gooby, and then, doggedly, before the limpid blue eyes of Ginger Ella, eyes which melted swiftly from boundless amazement to irrepressible laughter, he shaved off the silken black beard.

By the time he had finished she was quite doubled up in her chair with mirth, and Gooby was chuckling largely into the bowl of raisins.

"They all wear them in Paris.'" he explained, patting his face with a handkerchief. "It's quite the rage."

He wiped his razor and put it back in the portfolio. Then he replaced the pad and pencils.

"Are—aren't you going to finish my portrait " she queried humbly.

"Not if I've got to hear any more about Defectives and Delinquents," he said stubbornly. "No dinner's worth it."

"I won't," she promised. "Not a word. Do finish it. I'm quite keen to see how you think I look."

So he tipped back the kitchen chair, hoisted his knee and went on with the drawing.

"You're not bald, or anything, are you " he asked suddenly.

"Bald! Certainly not."

"If you'd just take off that red rag a minute," he said ingratiatingly.

Ginger flushed violently and jerked it off. "I just put it on to be sanitary when I'm cooking.

She shook her head with nervous impatience, and her hair flew into a bright cloudy tangle. He smiled.

"Nice," he said and went on with

Letters to the Editor

Former Lubbock Citizen Writes Defending Prohibition

Dear Editor: It will soon be 25 years since I first saw Lubbock, then the most remote point from a railroad in continental U. S. A. All the freight was hauled from Canyon or Colorado and it took parts of two days to get a letter onto the train.

A Mr. McWhorter was, in the eyes of his neighbors, on the verge of bankruptcy, for he had spent $10,000 for three automobiles to carry passengers from Canyon and "you know the Santa Fe will be here in six months and that will ruin him." The Santa Fe did come, three and a half years later.

As to this move and "western" stuff, I never saw a six-shooter in the whole two weeks (long enough to write a complete "western") that I spent in Lubbock. Oh yes, I set up the Avalanche all alone and not a linotype between Abilene and Amarillo.

At that time it was confidently believed that Lubbock had 800 actual residents but not a single saloon and had not had one since soon after the town was started in 1889. And yet today it has over 20,000 people; is the sixth largest town in the "better half" of Texas and the seventeenth in population in the entire state.

To think of a city in the prime of life and with public improvements rivaling many cities twice as large and yet not a dollar of liquor revenue ever paid for a single one of them. When Waco was as large as Lubbock it had nearly 100 saloons and when Fort Worth had only a third larger population than Lubbock has today it had 150 saloons.

Now I would not write these facts except for the tremendous wet propaganda that floods the land today. They blatantly speak of "the prohibition controversy," as if such a thing were possible to honest law-abiding people. There is no "income tax controversy" or "woman's suffrage problem" — why then a wet and dry issue?

We hear and read all the time of the "prohibition crime wave," when all well informed people know that the crime wave in Texas has declined 40 per cent in 40 years of prohibition progress.

Again and again we hear wet agitators proclaim that people are drinking more today than in saloon days. If that is true and prohibition should be destroyed, where then will we put the 10,000 saloons which will spring up to take care of the business?

Applying saloon ratios per 1,000 population prevailing in Texas cities in pre-prohibition days to West Texas cities according to 1930 census figures we would have "liquor stores" as follows:

Fort Worth, 900; Amarillo and Wichita Falls, 250 each; San Angelo, 135; Abilene, 120; Lubbock, 100; Big Spring, 75, and Plainview, 50.

If these figures seem too large, how then do you say that prohibition has not decreased drunkenness all over the land? Also how would Texas Tech do with even a half-dozen "liquor stores" within easy drive of its campus? Will the liquor press and its readers "face the facts" herein set forth or else "dry up" about the dry law?

CHRIS L. ADAIR,

Tahoka.

Midterm reports will be given to students beginning Thursday morning, E. L. Dohoney, Tech registrar, said late yesterday. The reports were due in the office Saturday from the various college instructors, but a few days will be required to file the records.

A copy of each report will be sent the parents of each student. No grades will be recorded, but the report will indicate whether or not the student is passing all required work.

ORGANIZE TEACHERS' CLASS

Prof. W. T. Shaver, member of the Tech education department, has charge of a class in, "Observation and Practice Teaching," which he conducts each Tuesday evening in room 219 of the administration building beginning at 7 o'clock. Twelve local public school teachers make up the class.

Three hours of regular college credit will be given upon completion.

WOMEN SELL TICKETS

A five-pound box of candy will be given the Women's club in the college that sells the most tickets for the "T" club minstrel which will be held February 25 at the high school auditorium. Tickets are selling for 50 cents each. Members of four clubs on the Campus are selling tickets and other organizations will be given tickets to sell by officials of the "T" organization.

Johnston Gets More Counties

Additional Territory Placed In Division Of State Highway Department No. 5; Relieved Of Panhandle

Just about the time Guy R. Johnston, construction engineer for the state highway department in division No. 5 was congratulating himself that he was going to be able to devote more time to his work here, having been relieved of the same work for division No. 4, the Amarillo division, he was advised that he would get some more counties south of Lubbock.

Mr. Johnston several months after being assigned to this division as head of all construction work, was given the Amarillo division also. It covers 22 counties in the North Panhandle. There is a considerable amount of construction work in that division, and owing to the distance from Lubbock, it necessitated Mr. Johnston being away from his office most of the time.

Recently a construction engineer for No. 4 was assigned to Amarillo and he is beginning work this week.

Yesterday, however, it was learned that the state highway department is planning to add six or eight counties to the Lubbock division for construction work. All location, designing and construction work for these as well as for the present 23 counties in the division, will be handled from the Lubbock office.

Mr. Johnston confirmed reports that the new territory would be placed under the direction of the local office. "I will continue to make Lubbock headquarters and will handle the work out of this office," he added.

Just how many counties will be included in the construction area is not definitely known. It is reported that the division will be made about square, the new section coming on the southeast and the south.

While the total exports of matches from Sweden show an increase each month over the corresponding period of 1929, exports to the United States have fallen off considerably.

Light Rain In Area Reported

Moisture So Far This Year Already More Than Average Total For First Two Months; Light Shower Here Sunday

Light rains similar to that which fell her Sunday afternoon were reported to have occurred late Sunday in parts of the South Plains area.

A shower began in Lubbock shortly after 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon and continued until after dark. heaviness of the fall varying at intervals. Only .3 of an inch of rain was reported in the immediate vicinity by Don L. Jones, of the state experiment station here.

With almost half a month yet to go, the rainfall since January 1 already totals more than the average for the first two months of the year, recorded at the experiment station over a number of years. The average rainfall for the first two months of the year is 1.07 inches while a total of 1.83 inches already has been recorded.

February is leading January with a total of 1.51 inches moisture to date over an average for the month of .75 inch and 12 days yet to go.

Reports at the Union Bus terminal said that light showers fell in practically all surrounding counties Sunday but that traffic was coming through on schedule.

Stribling And Schmeling To Fight In Chicago June 19

Championship To Depend On Fight Results

Madison Square Garden Boys "Reasonably Certain" Bout Will Be Staged In Chi; To Confer Further

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Feb. 16. — A world heavyweight championship fight will be held in Soldier Field between Max Schmeling and W. L. (Young) Stribling, June 19 if the proposition continues to gain momentum at the pace it set today.

William F. Carey, president and general manager of Madison Square Garden, said before leaving for New York he was "reasonably certain" the fight will be held in Chicago. He added, however, that further conferences would be necessary before a definite decision could be reached.

Reports and rumors had declared Chicago out of the picture as a site for the battle, with Detroit, Cleveland and New Jersey as more likely prospects. However, Carey visited over the week end at the home of Sheldon Clark, vice president of the Sinclair Oil Company and until recently president of the Chicago Stadium corporation, and was said to have conferred with George F. Getz, who acted as resident promoter for the late Tex Rickard in staging the Dempsey-Tunney fight in Soldier Field in September, 1927.

The fight would be staged as a New York milk fund show by the Madison Square Garden corporation of Illinois, a subsidiary of the New York Garden organization, which promoted the second Dempsey-Tunney match.

Even if it is formally decided to present the bout in Soldier Field, difficulty may be encountered by the promoters. Edward J. Kelly, president of the south park board which controls the huge lake front arena, has said that Soldier Field will not be available unless Chicago charities share in the profits.

Every community in the county will be represented. Delegations from Seminole, Loop and other communities and also from Andrews, Odessa, Brownfield, Lubbock and other towns are expected.

Thursday night, February 19, a meeting and bond rally will be held at Loop.

Members of the county commissioner's court will attend both meetings and will speak in favor of the proposed bond issue.

Amarillo Sandies Here Tomorrow; Tech Meets Canyon

Bill Holmes New Champ Of Texas Tech Golfers

In a steady downpour of rain and with the temperature below a pleasant level, William Holmes, Shamrock, shot a par four on the 38th hole to win the second annual Texas Tech student golf tournament at the Meadowbrook club Sunday, beating Mendal Hughett, Lubbock, medalist in the qualifying round, by one stroke. At the end of 36 holes of championship play Hughett and Holmes were tied at 192, each shooting fine games under the circumstances. Ed Harris, Amarillo, had a 194 at the end of the 36-hole play.

The trio emerged winners in the first flight and instead of playing matches elected to play 36 holes for low medal and the championship.

In the consolation flight for top place, Jack Wilson shot an 87 to win over Walter Pendleton and H. H. Hickman. Pendleton had a 92 and Hickman followed with a 83 in the 18-hole final.

Hughett bagged five birdies on the rain-drenched course, but Holmes played the most consistent golf, shooting par nearly all the way. Once he gained a stroke for a birdie. Harris, who gained much favor when he defeated Ernest Nix in the semi-final match play for first flight honors, found four birdies, but his afternoon shooting was ten strokes more than his morning round.

Volleyball Teams Meet At Tech For Scrimmage Tonight

Members of the volleyball teams of the Lubbock Lions and Kiwanis clubs meet tonight at 7 o'clock in the Texas Tech gymnasium in a workout and to discuss practice and game schedules. The teams will scrimmage tonight.

Eight teams from six Lubbock organizations have organized a volleyball league, and will play a round robin schedule for the city championship. Each of the four civic clubs, Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions and American Business, have a team. The local American Legion post and the Texas Tech faculty are represented in the league by two teams from each organization.

A definite schedule has not been arranged, pending further organization, but officials believe that match play will begin within the next week or two.

Yale Interferes With "Big Three" Schedule Plans

NEW YORK, Feb. 16. (AP)—A possible complication in the recently resumed athletic relations between Harvard and Princeton appeared today in the decision of Yale athletic authorities to end its football season against these two rivals in alternate years instead of having Harvard as a final opponent annually.

Whether it was the beginning of a move toward the revival of the old "Big Three" in football or an action which might hamper friendly relations remained in doubt as the action met with strong undergraduate criticism from Harvard.

The experiment of playing Princeton after the Harvard game, which has brought the Yale season to an end on the traditional Saturday before Thanksgiving since 1900, is to begin this year. The revised Yale football schedule calls for Yale to meet Harvard November 21 and Princeton November 28. The November 14 date, originally allotted to Princeton, is left open. A three-year period has been set for the alternate arrangement. It is to be continued after 1933 "unless and until altered by mutual consent."

Christians Bank On Win At Expense Of Steers

FORT WORTH, Feb. 16. (AP)—Texas Christian University's basketball team will stake its chances of remaining on the heels of Southern Methodist university in the Southwest Conference race against Texas at Austin tomorrow night.

The Purple had little trouble defeating the Longhorns in their early season visit here.

English Golfer Playing In Florida Women Match

(By The Associated Press)

PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 16.—Miss Diana Fishwick started an invasion of the United States by British women golfers here today by scoring a 78 to tie for the medal in the Florida women's championship.

Mrs. Stuart Hanley, of Detroit, made a similar score and she and the English girl will head the first flight as match play begins tomorrow.

Miss Virginia Van Wie, Chicago who twice before has won the tournament, was two strokes behind the leader with a 41-39—80. She was followed by Miss Helen Hicks, Hewlett, L. I., with an 881. Miss Peggy Watties, Buffalo, winner of two women's crowns in Miami during the last eight days, also had an 81.

Plan To Rebuild Phone Exchange

SEMINOLE, Feb. 16. (Special.)—Rebuilding of the Seminole exchange of the Southwestern Bell Telephone company here, work to start in a short time, was announced here by F. W. Chapman, Midland, district plant chief, who with other officials inspected the local plant.

The system will be changed into an all metallic circuit, with new poles and several thousand feet of new cables. The present office building, located at the junction of the proposed state highway 137 with No. 83, Lamesa to Hobbs is to be enlarged.

Work is to start within 30 to 60 days on the projects, depending on the time the material is assembled here.

Reconstruction of a toll line between Lamesa and Seminole has been started. The line will be a full copper circuit. Twenty-foot creosoted poles will be used. The former toll line into Lamesa from this town has been out of commission for some months.

Dave and Charles Black of Atlanta, holding the state and city amateur golf titles, will form a two-way threat for the Georgia crown this summer.

Lon Hayman, Syracuse university forward, has averaged 14 points a game this season.

Westerners To Claim Revenge Here Tomorrow

Game Starts At 7:30 In Tech Gymnasium; Saturday Night Defeat Rankles Keelingmen Who Aspire To Win

When Lubbock and Amarillo teams clash, whether it be in football, handball or checkers, there is always sufficient fun and fury to warrant topics of conversation for weeks and months to follow, and there is always a couple of stands full of excited fans.

The Lubbock Westerner-Amarillo Sandstorm basketball game at the Tech gymnasium tomorrow night bids to be no exception to the rule. Even with the interest inbasketball as low as it is, the fact that Lubbock and Amarillo are playing is enough to induce lovers of athletics and observers of the traditional rivalry between the schools to the court. Plans are being made to care for one of the largest crowds of the season.

Westerners Drill Diligently

Coaches "Jew" Keeling and Lovic Liston are drilling the Westerners stiffly this week in preparation for the game. Not many of the members of the present team have played in high school atheltics long enough to become imbibed with the full fury of antagonism, but they all got a taste of it last Saturday evening when the teams met on the Amarillo court. The game was arranged only a day or two ahead of time, but the Sandies were all set and they took the Westerners to a trimming. The score was 31 to 20.

Over the shock since returning home, the Westerners have vowed a certain vengeances, and when the Sandies come tomorrow they will find a team as determined as they themselves were at home last week.

Men Should Be 'Right'

Coach Keeling believes his men will be all set for the Sandies and that it will be in its true form. He calls attention to the fact that his long distance goaler and leading scorer, Captain Jimmy Knight, was unable to score effectively last Saturday night. The 20 points were about equally divided between five or six men, and it is the belief in the high school gymnasium that the Westerners will be "right" tomorrow night.

The game starts at 7:30. Tickets are on sale now at the high school, and will be on sale at the door. Extra chairs will be added to those standing and all available space will be used for seating purposes.

Houston Marksman Wins International Matches

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 16. (AP)—N. V. Pillott, of Houston, Texas, won the international flyer championship of the annual interstate trapshoot here today, in a shootoff with Pete Baggerman of St. Louis.

The Texan brought down 25 straight and Baggerman 24 out of 25, after they had tied at 97 in the regular event, and split the prize money, each taking $666.

A prize watch valued at $250 goes to Pillott.

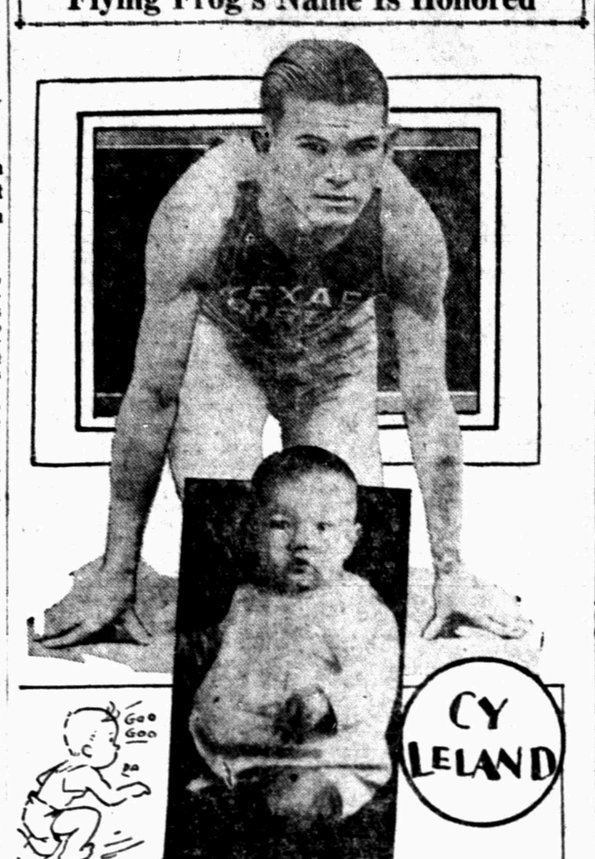

Abernathy Banquet Is To Be In Last Week Of February

A number of out of town visitors are expected, according to the committee. The banquet will be held in the Pool building and the women of the community are expected to accompany their husbands to the affair.

Argentina is to have a new chain of 25 grain elevators.

Flying Frog's Name Is Honored

LELAND YATES

Cy Leland, Texas Christian's Flying Frog, formerly of Lubbock, has set another record. He is the first T. C. U. athlete to have a namesake. The namesake is young Leland Yates, pictured above with Cy. The youngster is 11 months old, weighs 26 pounds and lives in Marshall, Texas. His mother, Mrs. Vera Yates, recently wrote Cy, "Will you be kind enough to send him a picture of the man he was named after?"

Al's Pal Says Simmons Is Greatest Ball Player In Major League, Even If His Golf Is A Bit Off At Times

(By The Associated Press)

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Feb. 16.—Al Simmons is the greatest ball player in the major leagues, even though his golf is a bit off at times. This is straight from 12-year-old H. King Wade, jr., known in the baseball colony here as "Al's pal."

The lad spends every hour he can with the Philadelphia fence buster and Sunday they tour the links of the country club. It happens not infrequently that King's score is lower than Al's—but what's a golf score between pals?

One of the King's prized possessions is a wrist watch Al gave him at St. Louis last summer.

King's father, Dr. H. King Wade, sr., a prominent physician here, took his son to St. Louis to see the A's play. Wrist watches were being given for home runs.

Just before Al went to bat, King said "Al, you're going to get a homer."

"Baloney," was the answer.

But Simmons rapped out his 21st home run of the season and for the favorable prediction gave the watch to King with this inscription on the back: "From Al Simmons to H. Wade King, jr., twenty-first home run 7-13-30."

They met two years ago when Simmons came here for his annual pre-season conditioning.

King is bashful about comparing his golf score with A's, but there is no bashfulness in Al's comment.

"Sure you're good, kid. Don't you break a hundred?"

"Aw, baloney."

But King is not so backward about his baseball. He admits a "kid team" (the term is his) for which he pitches, played seven games last year and did not lose one.

"And I pitched four of 'em."

Of course, he wants to be a ball player—or maybe a golfer.

"I'm afraid, though, dad's going to make a doctor out of me."

Meningitis Spread Is Thought Halted

SWEETWATER, Feb. 16. (AP)—Fear of a possible spread here of spinal meningitis was finally dispated yesterday when health authorities released from detention the families of E. J. Beasley and Newton Campbell, sr., and declared three children completely cured.

The Beasley and Campbell families, 15 in number, came here three weeks ago, traveling in one truck from Henryetta, Okla., toward Phoenix, Arizona. When Newton Campbell, jr., 5, and two other children in the party developed alarming symptoms, the others were removed from a tourist camp to the city detention house for infectious disease cases. The three children died.

The men were virtually without funds, and expense of the burials was borne by the county.

The only other case of spinal meningitis here, that of five-year-old B. B. Etheridge, was reported today to be satisfactorily clearing up, with early recovery expected.

Golightly And Matadors Play Two In Canyon

Local Collegians Return Here Before Invading Strongholds Of New Mexico And El Paso Cagers Next Week

Through for the season with their home schedule, the Texas Tech Matadors depart tomorrow for Canyon where they open a two-game return series with the West Texas State Teachers Buffaloes, leading cagers in the T. I. A. A. race and already winner of the western division of the Association, tomorrow night. Coach Golightly sent his charges through a hard scrimmage yesterday afternoon and will order a slightly less hard one for this afternoon on the local court.

The Matadors play next Monday night in Socorro, New Mexico, but they will return here Thursday night after the second Canyon game to spend the weekend before starting out on week's road trip.

The Buffaloes, defeated only once this season and that by the Phillips "66" team from Bartlesville, Okla., are the only team to take two victories in a series over the Matadors this season. The games here earlier in the season between the clubs will be long remembered as two of the hardest fought contests of the year. Large crowds attended both games and marveled at the fine work of the tall Teachers and the fighting efforts of the local collegians. Last year the Buffs took a pair here and lost one to the Matadors at Canyon. Tech hopes for at least one victory, but the Matadors enter the series with ambitions to win both.

Leaving home again next Monday, the Crimsons journey to socorro for a single stand with the New Mexico School of Mines, thence to Albuquerque for a pair with the University of New Mexico team. They wind up the season in El Paso on Feb. 28 after a pair of return games with Mack Saxon's Texas School of Mines quintet.

Noted Golfers To Play In Houston Invitation Meet

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, Feb. 16.—A big field eyed the Houston country course today, where the 17th annual invitation tournament begins tomorrow. The greens and fairways were wet this morning after yesterday's rains, but the sunshine had about dried them out this afternoon. There was an official forecast for fair weather tomorrow.

The championship flight, which starts the tournament tomorrow morning, will number more than 100, first class golfers, the second and third flights which engage in medal play Wednesday, are expected to boost the total number of entrants to around 300.

Johnny Dawson of Chicago, the defending champion, was out today, as were several others who expected to try to take him into camp. Dawson shot a 69, two below par, to duplicate the faultless game he exhibited yesterday.

Edwin McClure, the brilliant Shreveport, La., youth, took to 70 in his practice round. Others shot par golf.

The cream of state talent will compete with the best of the invaders—Dawson, Johnny Goodman of Omaha and Jimmy Manion of St. Louis. W. C. Hunt, the veteran state amateur champion; Ossie Carlton, winner of many state contests; Gaston Peek of Galveston, nosed out by Hunt last year for the amateur title and others. Bud McKinney of Del Rio, the young former caddy who makes the galleries gasp with his unorthodox style, will be on hand, as usual.

Henry Cotton Is Barred From Cup Matches In Ohi

LONDON, Feb. 16. (AP)—England's hopes of repeating her 1929 triumph over the United States in the Ryder Cup matches at Columbus, O., June 26 and 27, were weakened today when the professional golf association definitely barred Henry Cotton from competition.

The action against Cotton was the result of the player's demands that he be permitted to travel separately from the Ryder Cup team and compete in matches in the United States. A rule of the professional golf association requires that all members of the team travel in a body. In his original statement Cotton said he intended to compete in the United States open and such other tournaments as he desired, regardless of the schedule outlined for the English pro team.

Extra Point Not To Count If Defending Team Fouls; Other Grid Rules Are Same

Under New Rule Penalty For Off-Side Will Be Distance And Offensive Team May Try Again For Point

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Feb. 16. (AP) — The football rules, except in one relatively unimportant particular, will remain the same in 1931 as they were in 1930.

Reporting today on the result of the week-end sessions of the rules committee at its seashore retreat at Absecon, N. J., E. K. Hall, chairman, reported the committee in agreement to let the recodified code jell at least for another year.

The one change was to remove the arbitrary award of point after touchdown, making the penalty for an offside the same as if the foul had been committed during any other scrimmage. Under the new rule, if the defending team infringes on the rules, it will be penalized half the distance to the goal line and the point over. If the attacking team is at fault, it will be penalized the usual five yards for offside play and again try the point from the seven-yard line.

The coaches themselves, the one group in the country qualified to give an expert opinion on the subject, recommended just such action as was taken. A majority of them, however, responded to a questionnaire circulated by Lou Little, for the coaches association, also urged abolition of the rule which makes a blocked kick dead at the point of recovery by the defending team. The rule which gives only the kicking side the right to run with the ball was retained.

For Ginger's Sake

his drawing. "Very nice. I'll put the rag on in the picture because it's how I saw you first, but I like you better without it."

Ginger leaned toward him over the table—closer and closer. Her eyes looked not at his work on the pad of paper, but into his face, a thin tanned face, with big gray eyes that seemed swimmingly dark with shadows.

She twisted her hands together on the table and tipped her small face back flower-like in order to gaze more fully into his eyes.

"Gosh," he said. "I can't do you in black and white. You've got to have color for such a face. Ivory and blue and gold—"

He leaned forward suddenly and touched the tip of her chin tilted up toward him. His hands were burned brown by the sun. "And pink," he added, laughing.

Color swept the creamy face. She gave a little nervous laugh and drew herself up with prim dignity, smoothing her hair.

The artist went on with his work. "You see, these chaps who make a living writing about us Dependents, Defectives and Delinquents," he said cheerfully, "overlook a few minor considerations. There is talent, for one thing. There is art. And there is beauty.

"Now when you come to these sublime abstractions, no rules hold good. Who, for instance, in estimating love, would hark back to possible dependencies, delinquencies or even defects of character or person? When one loves, one does not say, 'Ah, but he is dependent on his hands for his daily bread. If his hands should be cut off, he would be dependent on me.' Nor does one say, 'I love her, but she has a slight mole beneath her right eye which puts her among the physical defectives.' Now does one?"

Ginger shook her head. She could find no words to make reply.

"And if one—like myself -a poor but joyous artist—elects to fare through the countryside, worshiping nature with his eyes, and trying with his small abilities to reproduce its beauties for others, perhaps not so observing, should one say that he is a dependent because he does not pay for his dinner with cash instead of with the talent God gave him?"

"I was just dumb," sighed Ginger.

He settled down to his work in good earnest. "No, you were right," he said cheerfully, and a smile shot through the shadows of his gray eyes, "I am a financial flop. I really am hoboing through. When I was a kid I was all for art. I wasn't so bad, since we in our candor may admit our virtues.

"I got prizes, and medals, and scholarships and was sent to Paris—and I'll tell the world I wasn't too bad. I was good, but it isn't enough to be good. You have to be able to sell yourself. I wasn't. I thought when I came back people would come flocking to my door, saying, 'This man who has painted the famous fighting figures of all Europe, must paint my little son on his kiddie car.' Or, 'This man who has painted a golden passion into the pure heart of a lily must see if he can find some unsuspected emotion in my inmost soul.'"

He sighed a little. "Nobody came. I had very little money and it was soon gone. I tried to do commercial art work—but they said I was too artistic. They fired me. I was too artistic for commerce, and not commercial enough to sell my art. So I thought I might as well see America before starving and I started out in my beloved old Rattletrap. When she breaks down I work. When I am broke, she goes without gas. It has been fun."

He smiled at her. Then he tossed the paper across the table to her. "If I stick around town a few days will you let me do you in color?"

Cotton — Trading Is Quiet In Monday's Mart; Livestock — Moderate Activity Develops Monday; Grain — Improved Tone In Cash Grain Mart

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 16. (AP)—Trading was somewhat quieter here today owing to pre-holiday influences as the market here will be closed tomorrow for Mardi Gras. Although New York and Liverpool will be open as usual, there was the usual disinclination to enter new commitments. As cables came in lower than due the market here started slightly down and eased off further in the early trading on liquidation, losing 4 to 8 points. Later, prices rallied with firmer stocks and on trade buying due to very favorable cotton goods reports, the advices claiming that sales of cotton textiles for the past week greatly exceeded current production. Prices advanced 8 to 10 points before noon to levels 4 points above the previous close. The market ruled rather quiet all afternoon, trading being held in check by the impending holiday. Prices fluctuated narrowly within the earlier range and mostly about mid-way between the highs and lows and closed steady with the general market showing 1 point net up to 2 points down for the day.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Feb. 16. (AP) — Price changes in cotton here were confined within comparatively narrow limits today and the volume of business was small. At the outset there was a moderate decline that carried the May position to 11.08; or 4 points below the previous final in sympathy with lower Liverpool cables than expected, but subsequently prices rallied, May advancing to 11.19 and closing at a partial reaction at 11.13, or 1 point net higher, while the entire list was steady at 2 lower to 2 higher.

The strength in the stock market seemed to be interpreted as an indication of a more optimistic feeling relative to business conditions in general. This served to discourage active operations on the selling side, even though a good many traders professed to look on the statistical position as an obstacle against any material advance. Reports from the textile trade showed improved sales last week, while the settlement of the labor difficulties in Manchester and hopes for early peace in India were considered as promising factors relative to the foreign situation.

There was further March liquidation in progress during the day but at prevailing differences March contracts were rather readily taken apparently by spot houses. The rains cause some hesitation about buying the new crops months but after declined to 11.81, the October price advanced to 11.70 and closed at 11.66.

Stocks March Sturdily Forward But Other Markets Refuse To Fall In Line

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16. (AP) Stocks marched sturdily forward today but the other financial markets refused to fall in line.

Net gains of 1 to 3 points in pivotal shares, of 4 to 8 in numerous wider movers, and an extreme rise of 20 1-3 in the current skyrocket, Auburn Auto, measured the extent to which bullish activity was carried in the busy trading. Last hour profit taking brought small reactions from the high prices of mid-afternoon.

Cotton Steady.

The bond market shivered a little over the prospects of bonus legislation. United States government treasuries and liberties were soft and there was an under current of ashiness throughout prime domestic corporation issues. Wheat and corn both regained and bar silver dropped to a new low. Cotton was barely steady.

Copper and oil stocks remained behind the procession, but they were virtually the only laggards. Chemicals, utilities, rails, steels and that broad classification, the specialties, responded to bullish leadership from the opening gong and remained in strong hands throughout the 2,200,000 share session. Whenever one group paused for breath another was pushed into the gap, the rails showing to particular advantage in such yeoman service.

Business summaries appearing over the week-end agreed there had been some improvement, and soon even went so far as to say the bottom of the decline had been touched. Investment advisory services commented on the unmistakable change in the market's spirits, but pointed out that the first stages of a recovery were invariably marked by irregularity. The labor department January employment figures showed a drop of 4.3 per cent, which was said to be seasonal.

Compass

Pike county, where several thousand gems have been found, the needle's track when plotted on paper looks as if it is trying to climb a mountain. The deflection is not due to diamonds, but to the volcanic rock.

It has located indications of seven other volcanic deposits hitherto unknown, which Mr. Stearn said may in the course of exploration be found to bear diamonds.

The other formations identified by the compass are copper, iron, oil, gas, lead, gold and bauxite. They are scattered through the states of Wisconsin, Minnesota, Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas and Arizona.

In the Texas Panhandle the needle indicates a range of buried mountains, which seems to be an extension of the Wichita mountains for about 160 miles northwestward. Knowledge of the existence of this range, said Mr. Stearn, is likely to be useful in exploration for petroleum and gas.

searching the men, according to the report, one of the men dove through a doorway, and the shooting began. Byars is alleged to have been shot in the back. Longshore fell to the floor, thinking he would be safer there, and was shot in the leg. Denby was reported to have been wounded while his hands still were in the air. He had been out of the room and returned after the gunman made his appearance.

Byars experienced a restful night, but physicians concede him only a slight chance of recovery. Should he live, he probably will be paralyzed permanently, attending doctors said.

MIDDLEWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 16. (AP)—Moderate activity developed today on the lighter weights of hogs at strong to 20 higher prices but butchers scaling above 220 lbs. failed to show any appreciable amount of strength. The top of 5.00 was paid both at Chicago and St. Louis. Offerings were around 136,000.

A liberal run of sheep tended to slow up trade on fat lambs and prices were weak to 25 lower. Some weakness also was reported on aged stock. Choice lambs in Chicago cleared at 8.75@8.90 while at Omaha fed wooled lambs made 8.35. The supply approximated 85,500.

Receipts of cattle were estimated at 54,-500. With the aid of a fairly broad outside demand killing classes cleared at prices unevenly steady to 25c higher. Good to choice fed steers with weight and light yearlings scaling under 750 lbs. showed the most upturn. Chicago scored 11.75 on choice 998 lb. yearlings and secured 10.70 for the best heavy steers. Stocker and feeder classes found a slow outlet at values steady to easier with late last week and 25 to 50c lower than a week ago. Stocker and feeder steers cash from 6.00@8.00, with the most of feeders downward from 7.50.

indeed each of the three was generous in returning to play encores after smiles and bowing.

Leo Cherniavsky played "Hebrew Orientale," (Achron) and "Polonaise" (Wieniawsky), and the trio played as their last group "Romance Orientale" (Rimsky - Korsakoff) and "Scherzo" by Arensky.

Responding to enthusiastic applause they gave "By the Waters of Minnetonka" by Cadman after Leo Cherniavsky explained their nervousness at the beginning of the concert.

"When we saw the building and the platform we felt badly," he explained in faltering English. "But you were so kind that we feel now that the concert has been a success and hope you have the same feeling."

A rudely constructed platform with a background of a score board and goal post brightened with acrobatic mats would hardly be an incentive to cheer one. The secret of the success probably lay in the fact that the players were thoroughly familiar with their instruments and included in their program favorites loved of both players and audiences the world over.—F. Jersey, all administration followers, urged defeat.

Shortly after the shouting that cheered the passage had died, the house passed and sent to the senate the Rogers bill to authorize a $12,500,000 expansion of the veterans' hospital facilities without a record vote. Treadway was the only person voicing opposition. It also passed a bill authorizing expansion of the home for disabled volunteer soldiers to cost $2,800,000 and sent it to the senate.

Earlier the house veterans' committee approved the Johnson bill to provide $26 a month pensions for widows and children of World war veterans entailing an estimated outlay of $131,000,000 in five years, beginning with $10,900,000 for the first year.

Vote Stealing In Kentucky Election Is Charged Monday

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16. (AP) — A charge that "whole precincts were stolen" in the Kentucky election last fall which resulted in his defeat was filed today with the senate campaign funds committee by former Senator Robison.

The Kentucky republican, in a letter to Chairman Nye of the committee, demanded that it not confine its investigations to republicans.

Robison was defeated for reelection by Senator Williamson for the short term and by M. M. Logan for the long term.

Grain

FORT WORTH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, Feb. 16. (AP)—An improved tone was visible on the cash grain market as the week started. Estimates on receipts included wheat 20 cars, corn 12, oats 6 and sorghums 11. Fair demand continued and the fairly light offerings were reported easily sold.

Basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid, quotations ranged as follows:

Wheat, No. 1 hard of any protein 77 1-2 @80c.

Corn, No. 2 mixed 69 1-2@70 1-2c. No. 2 white 73@74c; No. 2 yellow 72 1-2@73 1-2c.

Oats, No. 2 red 43@44c; (dealers also quoted No. 3 white delivered Texas group one points at 42 3-4@43 3-4c.

Sorghums, milo per 100 lbs. 1.21@1.23; No. 2 kaffir 1.17@1.18.

Cane seed, bulk country run red top, per 100 pounds, depending upon type, germination, origin and clean-out 2.60@2.95.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Feb. 16. (AP)—Grains suffered material price breaks today owing largely to piling up of United States stocks of wheat and to wide-spread moisture alleviating drouth. Forecasts pointed to more rainfalls tonight over domestic winter wheat territory, including Nebraska. A decrease of almost 23,000,000 bushels in official estimates of the Argentine wheat harvest failed to act as a counterbalance.

Wheat closed nervous, unchanged to 1 1-4 cents lower, corn 11 3-4 off, oats 1-8 to 5-8 down, and provisions varying from 5 cents setback to a shade advance.

Efforts to rally wheat proved almost futile in the face of 2,078,000 bushels increase of the United States visible supply to a total of 194,653,000 bushels, contrasting with 159,052,000 at this time last year.

Acute weakness of corn intensified the downward trend of wheat and other cereals. Visible supplies of both corn and wheat showed increases, with the corn market tumbling to almost the season's bottom price record.

Accompanying corn price setbacks were reports that farm use of corn was much curtailed by the open winter and by substitution of other feeds.

East Texas

also. Smith, Upshur, Wood and Harrison counties also are getting a good play.

While Foster has held on to his Joinerville Deep Rock he and his associates sold the Lathrop-Montcrief well to the Arkansas Gas and Oil company for $3,500,000. Bateman and Associates have sold the Grim well to the Humble Oil company for $1,500,000.

Borrows $200.

As for Foster, on Thanksgiving day he borrowed $200 from his friend, Colonel Estes, editor of the Tyler Courier-Times-Telegraph, and his property today is said to be worth in excess of $1,000,000. Prior to opening up his Deep Rock discovery, sunk about one mile from the Joiner 200-barrel well, he had drilled 11 dry holes in these parts in 11 months.

S. B. Crabtree, Foster's friend and acquaintance in the days of the Eldorado, Ark., boom days, when Foster, a former national billiard champion, was operating an amusement hall, said today he had $10,000 when he came to Tyler to survey oil prospects last September. Since then he has taken better than $87,000 in cash profits and his holdings in the field are worth at least $250,000, he said. Those are illustrations of how the East Texas oil field has smiled on the pioneers in what has been said by many to be the most spectacular oil rush in Texas' somewhat sensational oil producing history.

Hold Mass Meeting.

All hands attributed the feverish activity and full-ahead development to the successful movement to stave off proration by the state railroad commission. Aroused to an interest they had never evinced in any public question, East Texans, whose farms suddenly were found to be valuable oil-bearing properties, met in mass meetings and voiced opposition to any effort to throttle development until it could be ascertained approximately how the field might pan out.

Colonel Estes, prime mover in the proration controversy, said East Texans, long-time sufferers as farmers of impoverished lands, who had seen the dawn of a new day with discovery of oil, were willing to submit to orderly proration just as soon as they could have some idea of the extent of their oil find, and when assured of adequate pipe lines (not a single carrier), an equitable allowable production based on potential and a fair price for the oil.

While the major companies have taken hold in some sections of the area, the Joinerville neighborhood has consistently held aloof and has managed to remain independent of all influences. Harry F. Sinclair interests, however, have opened headquarters at Arp, six miles from Joinerville and the railroad point, and have started construction of loading and unloading racks there. Preparations are being rushed by Sinclair also to build a pipe line into the Joinerville field to bring the oil to Arp. The loading racks have a capacity of 65 carloads at one time, provided the source of oil permits, and the unloading equipment has a capacity of 30 cars at one time.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16. (AP)—The American says Charles Farrell, the film actor, and Virginia Valli, also of the screen, have been married since last Friday.

The wedding, the American said, took place at Yonkers, N. Y., and every effort was made to keep it a secret. The ceremony was performed by a minister at his home.

Send Extradition Papers On Monday

Extradition papers for removal of Glen Marshall and Charles Allen from Lubbock to Caddo county, Okla., where they are wanted as participants in the daylight holdup of the Cyril bank, Monday were sent to Oklahoma City for the signature of Gov. W. H. Murray. The papers subsequently will be sent to Gov. Ross Sterling of Texas for his approval.

Arrested last week at a Lubbock county farm house, Marshall and Allen subsequently were identified by eye witnesses as two of the five men who executed the Cyril bank robbery. Two other men also are being held as suspects in connection with the Cyril holdup.

Additional persons expected here Monday from Cyril and Canyon, Tex., to view the four did not arrive. The men also are suspects in the robbery of the First National bank at Canyon.

Two revolvers, a large quantity of ammunition, and travelers checks similar to those taken in the Cyril bank holdup were found in the possession of the men captured at the Lubbock county farm house.

Two Immigration Measures Favored

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16. (AP) — Two new measures to restrict immigration for two years as an employment aid were approved today by the house immigration committee as substitutes for a proposal involving limitation of Filipino entrants.

With the original Free bill blocked from house consideration by the rules committee, the immigration committee approved the Jenkins bill to reduce quota entrants from European countries by 90 per cent and limit western hemisphere migration to 10 per cent of the entrants in the fiscal year 1929.

A resolution by Representative Free, republican, California, to limit Filipino immigration to the mainland to 500 annually for two years also was approved.

Predicts Defeat

"If Mr. Raskob or those responsible for him undertake to use the executive committee of the Democratic party insolently to fix the policies of the Democratic party and determine them, instead of leaving great questions of policy to our national convention and to representatives of the party in the house and upon this floor; if they advocate carrying out the will of these nullifiers of the constitution to determine the policy of the Democratic party, they will meet defeat before the committee, in my opinion; and if they carry the committee, that committee will receive the worst drubbing any set of men ever received in American politics in the next Democratic national convention."

Senator Morrison was the lone participant to speak of possible Democratic presidential candidates. He said Governor Ritchie of Maryland, "seeks the presidency because he is the boldest nullifier in the state."

Woman On Bond In Shooting Of Prowler At San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 16. (AP) — Mrs. Margaret Miller, 22, was released under bond of $500, this morning after habeas corpus proceedings before Judge W. W. McCrory of the 95th district court on a charge of murder of Efton Noble, 23, who died late yesterday from bullet wounds. A complaint had been filed before Justice of the Peace John F. Onion, charging Mrs. Miller with murder and she had been remanded to jail without bond.

Mrs. Miller was released under bond on a charge of assault to murder Friday night after she reported to police she had fired at a prowler at her home. Noble appeared at the home of a friend several blocks away suffering from four bullet wounds and was rushed to a hospital.

Oil Relief Is With Governor

Prolonged Search For Aid To Oil Industry In Oklahoma Reaches Office Of Governor W. H. Murray

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 16. (AP) The prolonged search for relief for the oil industry reached into the office of governor W. H. Murray today, while friends and foes of proration busied themselves on other fronts.

Murray said a letter he sent to governors of other oil producing states and printed today by the Oklahoma City Times, mentioning "my proposed law" to take enforcement of the oil curb in Oklahoma out of the hands of the state corporation commission and entrust it to gubernatorial appointees, was "a method to force action" toward a uniform method of oil production by the states.

Takes No Stand

He said he had taken no stand for or against proration of oil and was "still open" on the question.

The letter said Murray sought an agreement by the states which would hold down production and at the same time relieve unemployment conditions in the oil industry.

"If some such arrangement can not be made it will follow that the entire proration program of Oklahoma will be abandoned and the flow of oil from the Oklahoma City field, which is quite equal to the aggregate amount of all the other states, will equally affect these states as well as our people" it said in part. "This demand is persistent and overwhelming for our abandoning proration. I am sure that a reasonable amount of the flow can be increased in Oklahoma with some reduction in other states."

Long Gives Views

Only one state, Louisiana, sent a representative to confer with Murray on the oil question last week end. Governor Long's views, sent to Murray, were to the effect that domestic curtailment of production can make little difference in the face of surplus created by large importations of foreign oil.

Murray said the letter "was only a method" and that he "wanted to scare California and Texas into doing something."

"For the present I offer no opinion," he said, predicting that eventually the controversy would narrow to a fight "between selfish interests and the people."

Muscular-Rheumatic Aches and Pains

DRAW them out with a "counter-irritant." Distressing muscular lumbago, soreness and stiffness—generally respond pleasantly to good old Musterole. Doctors call it a "counter-irritant," because it gets action and is not just a salve. Musterole helps bring soreness and pain to the surface, and thus gives natural relief. You can feel how its warming action penetrates and stimulates blood circulation. But do not stop with one application. Apply this soothing, cooling, healing ointment generously to the affected area once every hour for five hours. Used by millions for over 20 years. Recommended by many doctors and nurses.

Keep Musterole handy; jars and tubes.

To Mothers—Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

Okeh Program Of Ownership

House Passes Administration-Approved Measure For Wider Federal Ownership Of Postal Facilities

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16. (AP)—The administration - approved program for wider federal ownership of postal facilities was passed today by the house.

Passage of the bill to authorize $45,000,000 for the removal of postal activities from leased quarters into government-owned sub-stations and garage, was almost simultaneous with receipt in the house of a recommendation by President Hoover that $20,105,000 be allocated for public buildings heretofore authorized.

Final Action Expected.

Final congressional action on the proposals is expected by administration followers in both branches this session.

The $45,000,000 bill was sent to the senate with unanimous approval.

The allocation proposal for 81 projects was taken under consideration by the house appropriations committee, which also has before it allocations aggregating $49,515,000 submitted February 2 for more than 200 buildings. They are to be provided for in the second deficiency bill now being framed.

Sponsored by Representative Kelly, republican, Pennsylvania, and approved by Postmaster General Brown, the $45,000,000 bill would authorize either acquisition of leased quarters used for stations, branches and garages, or the building of new structures to replace them.

The program involves the contemplated early purchase of 78 leased branch buildings to cost $16,500,000; 14 garages to cost $5,300,000; purchase of sites and construction of 91 buildings thereon for stations to cost $18,300,000, and 15 sites and construction of garages thereon to cost $3,040,000. The remainder would care for emergencies.

The $20,105,000 allocation request would provide for new buildings, additions and improvements for post-offices, marine hospitals, court and customs houses and appraisers' stores.
