Local Man Among Top Rodeo Stars

RODEO QUEEN
Miss Rita Sellers, Midland, rides tall

Horace Rankin of Big Spring took top honors in the calf roping event at the close of the 30th Annual Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo Saturday night. He ended with a combined time of 23.7 seconds for two animals.

Around 4,500 persons turned out in perfect rodeo weather to watch the fast-moving events. It was the largest turnout during the four-night event.

Other top winners: Dave Hopper, Hereford, took top honors in the bareback bronc riding; Loretta Manuel, San Antonio, 35.2 seconds in two tries at girls' barrel racing; Billy Weeks, Abilene, won saddle bronc riding with 332 points; Jerry Olson, Whitewood, S.D., steer wrestling with 15.5 seconds on three steers; Roy Lee Wallace, Midland, Brahma bull riding with 173 points.

Rita Sellers, Midland, was crowned Rodeo Queen during the opening ceremonies. Sandra Pittman, Monahans, was first runner up, and Barbara Clark, Sterling City, was second.

The crowd was orderly and liberal with applause when a rider or roper did a good pob.

The rodeo clown, Jerry Olson, not only won the steer wrestling in his baggy pants, but put on a good show during the rodeo. He was run out of his pants by one of the Brahma bulls. He ended up strutting around like a Tarzan in striped shorts and daring the bull to come after him. Olson is one of the nation's top steer wrestlers and matched a 15.5 seconds on three steers with the next lowest score of 27.1 seconds.

Friday's Show

Friday night's weather was a little more cooperative than it had been for the two preceding performances. A crowd estimated by announcer Clem McSpadden at 3,500 braved a threat of rain which did not materialize.

Jim King and his band provided foot-tapping music, special acts staged between events were interesting and at times amusing.

Early in the performance, in the bareback bronc riding event, Bucky Baker of Rochester, Minn., drew a recalcitrant horse. Allowed a re-ride, during the saddle bronc division, he succeeded in getting his pony into the arena, riding him out, and taking the average lead for the evening.

Calf ropers, with points beginning to tell, pushed their luck, with the result that several broke the barrier and were disqualified. Among these was Jimmy Cooper, Monument, N.M., who otherwise would have scored less than 12 seconds.

Robert House, Levelland, broke the bad streak with a successful calf-tying of 15.3 seconds. Then,

Rep. Walter Dies; Willis Heads Panel

WASHINGTON, (AP) —Quiet, hard-working Rep. Edwin E. Willis, 58, a Democrat from the Bayou country of Louisiana, becomes chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities with the death Friday of Rep. France E. Walter, D-Pa.

Willis has been acting chairman of the committee since early this year as a result of Walters' illness and the death of Rep. Clyde Doyle, D-Calif.

A lawyer who prefers to do most of his work and talking in committee, rather than on the House floor, Willis now is serving his eighth term in the House.

Willis has worked closely with Walter in the past on committee matters and says that under his leadership there will be no change in committee policy.

Willis has been a member of the House Judiciary Committee since he first came to Congress in 1949. With the death of Walter, he advances to the position of fourth Democrat on that group.

Two Boys Drown In San Angelo

SAN ANGELO (AP)—Two small boys drowned here Saturday when they stepped into a deep hole wading in a normally dry creek bed.

They were Buster Lynn Matheny, 10, and Glenn Dale Matheny, 11. The young brothers were the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Buster Matheny of San Angelo.

Members of the San Angelo Fire Department and the San Angelo Emergency Corps recovered the bodies.

Pope John's Stout Heart Fights End

U.S. Scientist Takes Serum To Vatican

ROME (AP)—Dr. Sergio de Carvalho, a Cleveland, Ohio, scientist who heads cancer research for the Rand Development. Corp., arrived by plane Saturday, reportly with an anticancer serum, for Pope John XXIII.

He was met at Fiumicino Airport by an automobile which took him at once to Rome. He was said to have an appointment with Dr. Pietro Valdoni, one of the Pope's physicians.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer said news of the Vatican's interest in the serum was first revealed in a copyright story in the Miami Herald.

Henry James Rand III, head of the Rand Corporation, said from Osterville, Mass., that 100 cubic centimeters of the serum was carried to Rome aboard a jet, the Herald said.

It added that some of the drug had been administered to the Pope but his illness was too far advanced for it to do much good.

The Herald said Rand described the drug as a cancer arrester. He told the paper that the drug, called neoglobulin, had made leukemia disappear temporarily.

Physicians Call Death Inevitable

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII lingered in life early Sunday, the third day of his mortal struggle. His condition remained grave, but his stout heart stubbornly resisted the end his doctors said is inevitable.

The Roman Catholic pontiff, 81, again emerged briefly from the coma that had gripped him most of his hours of crisis, the Vatican Press Office reported late Saturday.

It said the Pope had experienced a few moments of lucidity, his pulse was good, and his temperature had dropped to 100.4 degrees after having risen to 103.1 Saturday night.

"His condition remains stationary in its gravity," the announcement added.

The Vatican press office announced early Sunday that the pontiff's condition was unchanged.

Sources reported early Saturday evening that the doctors feared pneumonia could set in, but there was no indication of such a complication early Sunday.

A spokesman said there was no sign of immediate danger, indicating that the Vatican felt the Pope had hours — possibly days — to live. Prelates relaxed their vigil.

The pontiff's doctors remained at his side as the Pope rested on four white pillows on a cast-iron bed, slipping back and forth between coma and consciousness.

The pontiff's three brothers and sister also watched over him. The sister, Assunta, 76, dabbed his forehead with a dampened handkerchief.

The pontiff's doctors late Saturday night had ordered suspension of all visits, even those by cardinals, but the Vatican Press Office said Archbishop Angelo Dell'Acqua, Vatican substitute secretary of state, had entered the papal apartment at 2:15 a.m. and left a few minutes later. His mission was not disclosed.

Outside in St. Peter's Square, below the papal apartment, thousands prayed for a miracle. His doctors said that was the only thing that could save the tenant farmer's son who became the spiritual ruler of the world's half billion Roman Catholics.

Men of many faiths around the world prayed for his recovery. But the Vatican held out no hope that he could fight back from the onslaught of a stomach tumor, hemorrhages and peritonitis, an inflammation of the abdomen.

His doctors were surprised that the pontiff had held on so long since he took a critical turn early Friday, received the last sacraments of the church and quietly asserted his readiness to give up his life, devoted to Christian unity and world peace.

"I have been able to follow the course of my death step by step," he told a prelate in a period of lucidity. "Now I am going sweetly toward the end."

The pontiff suffered periods of pain and difficulty in breathing and at times received oxygen, but visitors to the room said he had maintained a serene look at all times.

The Pope's sister sat at his right in one of six red damascus chairs around his bed.

In her lap was a silver bowl filled with water. From time to time she dipped a white handkerchief in the water and dabbed the Pope's forehead.

Across the bed sat the three brothers, hardy north Italian farmers. They wanted to do more than just watch as life ebbed from the Pope.

Period Falls On A Holy Holiday

It was early Sunday—Pentecost Sunday, a holiday commemorating the descent of the Holy Spirit on the apostles — and a quarter moon cast a silvery light over the ancient stones of the great circular piazza. No traffic noises came from the deserted streets nearby. The only sounds were the cool splashings of the fountains and the soft murmur of prayers from the lips of the watchers.

During his periods of consciousness—he emerged from the coma at least three times before nightfall—the pontiff exhibited a spirit that the Vatican Radio described as an example "showing us so simply and magnificenly how to die."

"John XXIII has always taught us to live well," one caller told the Vatican newspaper L'Osservatore Romano. "Now he is showing us how one can and must die well."

Gave A New Image To The Papacy

The Roman Catholic ruler, who had given a new image to the papacy in a reign that started four years and seven months ago, was setting an example in the throes of death.

The Pope recovered consciousness briefly in the afternoon and was reported lucid enough to bless those at his bedside once again and to tell them that he regarded his life as a sacrifice to his goals —Christian unity and world peace.

Throughout his sickness the Pope had evinced great anxiety for the future of his Ecumenical Council, which some regard as the outstanding achievement of his reign. It will be suspended upon his death and will either be reconvened by his successor or left in suspension.

Dying Words Echo Faith Of Pontiff

VATICAN CITY (AP)—A dying Pope John prayed hour after hour while pain tormented him. His words made men of religion weep and put a catch in the throats of the worldly.

"The Holy Father's serenity and constancy with which his thoughts have been focused on God have touched all hearts," Vatican radio said.

As he waited for death, the Pope repeated a simple aspiration that he learned as a child, a formulation that Catholic school children and illiterate natives in mission lands are encouraged to say in their minds, "Jesus, Jesus."

He repeatedly turned his thoughts to his favorite evangelist John, and whispered in Latin the words that Christ spoke before he raised Lazarus, the brother of Mary and Martha, "I am the resurrection and the life."

Once when his doctor was bending over him, the Pope said, "With death a new life starts—the glorification of Christ."

More than once the Pope said a prayer that he put repeatedly into addresses and talks at audiences since his Ecumenical Council began, "Ut unum sint"—that all may be one.

Pope John said during one period of consciousness, "I long to be taken away to be with Christ."

Much of the Pope's prayer was to ask blessings on the council, the Church and all men working for peace.

Whenever he was not praying or unconscious Pope John was turning his eyes toward those near him to ask, according to a Vatican communique, "forgiveness of all those whom he may have failed in the delicacy of his sentiment from the time of his youth until today."

Junior College Reports Made

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP) — A review committee told the State Board of Education Saturday it will recommend board approval of an application for a junior college in Austin.

However, a similar committee looking into the application for a new junior college in Snyder said it had met with some opposition.

A public hearing on the Snyder junior college proposal will be held in Snyder June 17. The proposed district will take in both Scurry and Fisher Counties.

Penrose B. Metcalfe of San Angelo, chairman of the Scurry-Fisher Survey Committee, and committee members, Paul Mathews of Greenville, and Herbert O. Willborn of Amarillo, will conduct the hearing.

Reviewing The

Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

When all else fails, a rodeo or a national junior college track meet will surely bring rain. A couple of weeks ago the track meet drew a soaker that washed out one session, and Wednesday evening the opening performance of the rodeo was dripping wet. This dealt a body blow to attendance, also to the Kiwanis Club rodeo barbecue. The Kiwanis could go to the ice box with their meat and beans, but the rodeo had to go on. The Cowboys gave just as spirited a performance as though the big bowl had been packed.

Memorial Day was commemorated with impressive ceremonies featuring an address by one of our distinguished sons, Rear Admiral John Quinn. Still, not as many turned out as should. The Legion, however, is on the right track in securing outstanding personalities for these services. Perhaps a sunrise service might catch people before they scatter for a day of vacationing.

The week was both a proud and a bad one for the police department. Capt. Walter Eubanks was chosen to be chief of police at Sweetwater, a compliment to him and to the department here. For other reasons, including going back to college, the department ranks were thinnned by three more.

Donald L. McClary, 25, driver of an ice cream truck, was killed instantly last week in a residential intersection collision. In a freakish turn of events, he was thrown out of his vehicle, which rolled on him. He was the second fatality within the city, the fourth within the county, this year.

Hats off to the Class of '63. In many ways this was a distinguished group in behavior and accomplishments, but nowhere more than in scholarship. More than 10 per cent finished with a four-year average in excess of 90. Kathleen Morton led with a remarkable 95.24, followed closely by Tommy Gentry with 94.75. We call this real achievement.

Quarter Horse Sale Gets Brisk Bids, $22,835 Gross

Buyers paid $22,835 for 46 quarter horses here Saturday, successfully launching the Big Spring Quarter Horse Invitational Sale.

Judy Hayes, Snyder, paid $1,600 for a bay mare named James Reddeck, consigned by Dr. D. G. Strole, Abilene, and Miles Caldwell, San Angelo, duplicated this price for Royal Zantanon, a bay stallion consigned by G. G. Price, Roscoe. The mare was foaled Feb. 20, 1959 and the stallion March 28, 1958.

Perry Shankle, San Antonio, paid $1,000 for Dusty Hill, a sorrel stallion foaled April 14, 1958 and consigned by Jackson Parker, Odessa.

Bidding was brisk for the most part, although some of one-year colts went for modest prices. Sale supporters, however, were generally pleased with results and plan to make the event an annual one. Over 500 buyers and spectators were on hand at the Howard County Fair Barn to hear Col. Walter Britton cry the sale.

One thing was certain—Big Spring has never seen a finer array of quarter horse flesh than shimmered, trotted and pranced about the arena Saturday. Muscles rippled under shining coats as mature horses moved with grace and power.

Buyers came from as far as Wyoming and South Dakota, and from several Texas points. Clearly, they were bidding heavily on conformation, and the horses with revered names and class to match, got the attention.

Caldwell was the biggest buyer, paying $4,035 for seven horses. Horace Garrett, Big Spring, bid in eight mounts for $3,695, but he didn't have a $1,600 horse to pull up his total as did Caldwell.

Other major buyers were A Bar A Ranch, Encampment, Wyo., which paid $2,535 for four horses; George Hammersbek, Minot, S.D., who paid $1,620 for three; and Ralph Merriwether, Midland, who bid in three for $905.

Jess Koy, Eldorado, grossed $4,720 on nine head he sold, G. G. Price, Roscoe, $3,590 on five head, and Rich Anderson (Muleshoe Ranch Co.), Gail, $2,900 on eight head.

Results of the sale included:

Caddell, Graford, paid $210 for Our First Cousin, stallion consigned by Vernon Creighton Clay Smith, Colorado City, $250 for Didy Dalley, a Creighton stallion; Miles Caldwell, San Angelo, paid $390 for Wautoosie, a Creighton mare. Horace Garrett, Big Spring, paid $500 for Virginia Girl, an A. F. Criswell mare; Howard Linville, Brownfield, paid $430 for Mary Ann Elrod, a Mrs. Jess Elrod & Sons mare; Garrett paid $680 for Fiesta Dandy, a J. P. Espy mare.

TRY BIG SPRING FIRST

Local Facilities Geared For Promotional Effort

"Try Big Spring First."

That's the simple slogan keynoting a broad-based effort to promote Big Spring's wholesale, retail, distribution, manufacturing and professional facilities to the extent that Big Spring users will be motivated to try their own products and services before turning elsewhere.

The program is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, through its committee on advertising and promotion. The group, with Winston Wrinkle as chairman, has been studying the project for more than four months, and has recommended plans of action approved by the C-C directorate.

It will follow the simple plan of asking people to observe the following policy: "Whenever a decision is to be made for the purchase of goods or services, I will make an effort to provide these goods or services provided locally, other factors being equal."

As the program gains momentum, the Chamber will hold round table discussions with many different business and professional groups, with the idea of determining why more people are not spending more of their dollars in the local economy. It is hoped these discussions will bring to light factors affecting buying in Big Spring and will work to bring buyer and seller together in an atmosphere of mutual accord.

An extensive promotional and informational campaign will go along for three months, through use of newspaper, radio, television, direct mail and other media. Members of Wrinkle's committee will appear before service clubs and other organizations and ask for active participation.

Public agencies will be asked to lead in adopting the "Try Big Spring First" policy.

The program is patterned after those which have been outstandingly successful in other cities. "We will be appealing to people to support their own home town," said Wrinkle. "But we also will be trying to find out why many persons feel compelled to elsewhere buy goods or engage services. We want to be able to show that, in almost every field, as good a buy can be made right here as anywhere else."

Laos Peace Plea Appears In Vain

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—The British-Soviet appeal to Laotian factions for peace appeared Saturday to have fallen on barren ground in the vast territory controlled by the pro-Communist Pathet Lao.

Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma's office charged that the Pathet Lao staged another fierce attack against neutralist positions near the Plaine des Jarres, with foreign troops as the spearhead.

The foreign troops, not officially identified, were believed by military men in Vientiane to be Communist North Vietnamese.

Coupled with this activity afield was a broadcast from Khang Khay, Pathet Lao headquarters, of a policy statement declaring a Pathet Lao terms.

The broadcast statement avoided replying directly to the peace appeal by Britain and the Soviet Union, cochairmen of the Geneva conference on Laos, delivered to Deputy Premier Prince Souphanouvong and his Pathet Lao aides at Khang Khay Thursday.

But it laid down a series of conditions laced with attacks on the United States, the three-nation truce commission and the jungle kingdom's conservatives, whose sympathies lie with the neutralists.

The statement said the Pathet Lao "appeals to the cochairmen to take appropriate measures for correct execution of the Geneva accords" of 1962 guaranteeing Laos' neutrality.

Souphanouvong's leftists have never permitted the commission to inspect their lines and this has hamstrung its activity, though the other factions have cooperated.

The United States, which pulled out all its troops last fall, drew this propaganda attack:

"The American government must immediately stop interfering in Laos, internal affairs, withdraw American military personnel, and halt illegal introduction of American arms into the country."

Among other conditions:

—Rightist troops must withdraw from zones under Pathet Lao control.

—The city of Vientiane must be neutralized. That means police and other agencies of the capital would fall under the same three-power control as the dissension-ridden national government.

—Leaders of the three factions must meet immediately to find ways to put an end to the tense situation.

The military action of the day was reported centered in the area of Dongdane, Lehou and Phong Savanh, 10 miles souheast of the Plaine.

Souvanna's office said Pathet Lao batteries had lobbed more than 1,000 shells on neutralist lines since hostilities resumed Friday and both Pathet Lao and dissident neutralists backed up the assault of the foreign shock troops.

Across the Mekong River frontier, U.S. and Commonwealth combat troops flew into Thailand to begin the buildup for the biggest air-ground maneuvers ever held by the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization. The eight-day exercise, to start June 11, will involve 25,000 men from eight nations.

Expert To Conduct Clinic On Religious News Here

William P. Lamkin of Atlanta, coordinating secretary of promotion and press relations for the Presbyterian Church of the United States, will be moderator for a Religious News Clinic scheduled Thursday.

The session, sponsored by The Herald, will be in Room 1, Settles Hotel Mezzanine, beginning at 2 p.m., and will conclude within two hours.

The aim of the clinic is to help church people improve their press relations by helping them evaluate religious news and telling how to prepare it for publication. Also, it will give the pastor and the press an opportunity to get a better understanding of each other's problems and practices.

The clinic is open to all denominations, and any interested person is welcome to attend. Response to The Herald to date indicates that representatives of most of the area's churches will attend.

Before he became secretary of information in June 1961, Lamkin was a member of the Charlotte (N.C.) Observer staff 13½ years. He served on the city desk 10 years, including stints as night city editor and city editor. He was religion editor two years.

He was the first layman to win the Charlotte Junior Woman's Club's Gold Trophy Award for outstanding service to the cause of religion in 1961. He was cited "for bringing a new dimension to the field of religious reporting."

Lamkin is on the board of directors of "Presbyterian Survey" magazine and of TRAV, the Television, Radio and Audio-Visuals committee of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S. He also is a member of the General Public Interpretation Committee of the National Council of Churchees.

In the Air Force during World War II, he logged nearly 1,000

He is a former student at Louisiana College, was graduated at the University of North Carolina and has done special work at Columbia University. In 1960 he made a six-week tour of the Middle East and Europe on a travel scholarship.

More Grain In Prospect

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Departments reports that this spring has been more favorable for preparing fields and planting feed grain crops than in early 1962.

This raised the prospect that feed grain production would exceed last year by a considerable margin despite government efforts to hold it down under a feed grain program seeking idling of some cropland to reduce surpluses.

Earlier Agriculture Department surveys indicated an increased acreage of these grains this year.

"Preparation and planting of feed grains was ahead of normal in much of the Midwest, as above-normal temperature and limited rainfall put soils in good working condition," the department said.

In early May, sorghum grain planting was well ahead of last year in the Southern Plains.

Partly offsetting the favorable situation in the major Midwestern Corn Belt were shortages of rain in a large area, extending from Colorado, Oklahoma and Texas to the Atlantic Coast.

The department said seeding of oats and barley advanced rapidly this spring and was well ahead of last year.

The department said usage of feed grains is about equal to the record set last year.

With considerable supplies of these grains tied up under government price support programs, the department said prices might increase further during the summer. Some grain will have to be withdrawn from price support stocks to help meet needs, it said. Feed grain prices already have increased about 10 per cent above last fall's levels.

Minor Accidents Are Reported

Three minor accidents were investigated by Big Spring police Wednesday afternoon and night. One involved three vehicles, but no one was injured.

Jerry Dean Cuthbertson, 3700 Connally, and Hubert Dean McMillan, Midland, were drivers of vehicles involved in a collison at West Third and Creighton. Tenth and Gregg was the scene of the second where drivers of cars involved were Elbert H. Boullioun, 434 Dallas, and Dr. J. Amanda Keelyn, 2512 Larry Drive.

Dennis Hayes, 3560th WAFB, was driver of a vehicle in collision with two parked vehicles in the 200 block of East Third.

Youngsters Urged To Join Library's Reading Club

Boys and girls who are in the first through the sixth grades are invited to enroll in the Texas Reading Club sponsored here this summer by the Howard County Free Library.

Mrs. Opal McDaniel, librarian, said that the project is initiated by the Texas Library Association. This is the first time that the local library has participated.

The plan is to encourage boys and girls to read more during the summer months and, as a reward for their efforts, each youngster who completes the program will be awarded a certificate by the state association.

Enrollment will open at the library on Monday. All boys and girls are asked to bring their mother or father with them to the library when they enroll. The parents will be informed as to the aim and purpose of the program and be better able to help the boys and girls make the most of the opportunities offered by the club.

The reading club officially opens on June 1 and closes Aug. 15.

Under the plan, each child who enrolls promises to read a minimum of 12 books during the summer. The books to be read are selected from volumes at the enrollee's reading level. For example, a first grader will be recommended books suitable for his age and reading ability.

There is one stipulation for all who join the club, however. One of the books to be read must be a biography and another must be a travel book.

The application blanks include a space for the recording of books read by the member.

Those who complete the club program satisfactorily will be certified to the State Library Association and on Aug. 15, their "diplomas" will be awarded.

Mrs. McDaniel said that she has had many requests in other years from parents for a summer reading program for children.

"We believe the state association plan is the answer," she said. "We hope that all interested youngsters will be on hand Monday to enroll so that we can get the program under way here without loss of time."

Wool-Classing Device Invented

MELBOURNE (AP)— An Australian rancher has invented a wool-classing machine which he believes could save the world wool industry millions of dollars a year.

Wool is now classed by highly trained experts on the feel and sight of the newly shorn fleeces.

The inventor of the new machine is Clive Wawn, who lives at Dunkeld in western Victoria.

Wawn's machine projects a magnified image of a wool sample on to a revolving screen. The screen carries a graduated scale which measures the distance between the kinks (or crimps) in the wool fibre. The scale is accurate to within 1-600th part of an inch, Wawn says.

Wawn says the machine would enable more accurate classing of wool and could increase the value of the clip by about a penny a pound.

He estimates the machine can be produced for $90. Its saving to the Australian industry alone would be about 6 million pounds (13,440,000).

"HYPOCRITES IN THE CHURCH"

Of course, there are hypocrites in the church! Has not our Master warned us to befare of false prophets whose outward life appears to be like that of the "sheep" whilst their inward reality is that of "ravening wolves" (Matt. 7:15)? And are not the warnings of the apostles clear enough in I Jno. 4:1; II Cor. 11:13-15; etc.?

Why should we be surprised to find hypocrites in the Lord's church? We should rather give diligence to be found completely obedient to the Lord's commands lest we find our eternal abode to be where ALL hypocrites are sent (Matt. 24:50, 51).

(By C. Casella in "Truth in Love", Melbourne, Australia).

If we really want to go to heaven, neither hypocrites nor anything else, can keep us from being faithful to Christ!

Why not be with us today at all services: 9:30 and 10:30 a.m.; 7 p.m.? Welcome!

Glenn Wows 'Em In Japan

TOKYO (AP) — John H. Glenn Jr., the first American to orbit the earth, has wowed them in Japan.

The personable Marine lieutenant colonel wound up a 25-day visit this weekend, leaving behind a record that gave the U.S. image in Japan a tremendous boost.

Many Japanese agreed his trip did much to counteract unfavorable publicity for the United States about such things as racial strife and nuclear weapons tests. Glenn received great amounts of newspaper space and television time.

There was one marked contrast between Glenn's visit and that of Maj. Yuri Gagarin, Soviet spaceman who visited this country a year ago.

The Japanese were pleased to see Gagarin, but he was kept under close wraps by accompanying Russian officials.

Glenn traveled casually. He talked with groups ranging from school kids to scientists and high officials. He was accessible to almost anyone who wanted to ask him a question.

The contrast led the influential economic newspaper Nihon Keizai to comment in an editorial:

"Maj. Gagarin was in uniform from the beginning to the end of his visit. He was accompanied by several Soviet officials all the time, and his actions and speeches gave the impression that he was under some restrictions. His replies to questions were reserved and he skillfully dodged the most important points.

"In contrast to this, Lt. Col. Glenn was dressed informally in a civilian suit wearing a bow tie of his liking. He was active and decisive in his attitude, giving the impression of dauntlessness. Everything about him was openly candid.

"Maj. Gagarin, as an individual, must have wanted to talk freely. We felt rather sorry for him that he was not given that freedom. In such an instance, too, the difference between the Soviet Union's principle of secrecy and America's principle of openness was clearly indicated."

While Gagarin's speeches and comments had heavy political overtones, Glenn concerned himself more with what Japanese wanted to know—details of his experiences in orbiting the earth three times Feb. 20, 1962, and of the American space program in general.

Glenn's remarks were not without political content, especially when he was asked to compare the U.S. and Soviet space efforts. He replied repeatedly that, while the U.S. program is largely open, a comparison is impossible because the Russians refuse to divulge details about theirs.

Lemon To Get Doctor Degree

William Lee Lemon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lemon, Ackerly, is a candidate for the Doctor of Medicine degree from the University of Texas Medical Branch, Galveston, June 10. He plans a residency in obstetrics or gynecology after serving his internship at Brackinridge Hospital, Austin.

Dr. Lemon was graduated from Ackerly High School in 1955. He attended Texas Tech and received his B. A. degree from McMurry College, Abilene, in 1959.

He was married to the former Carol Clark of Plainview in 1959, and they have one child.

Extracurricular activities, and medical fraternities, included the presidency of the Interfraternity Council, and president of Phi Beta Pi in 1962-63.

Pupils, Teachers Attend Nuclear Physics Seminar

Forsan and Coahoma high schools will be represented this weekend at the third Texas Nuclear Science Symposium at the University of Texas, R. L. Beale, manager of Texas Electric Service Company, announced Saturday.

Attending the four-day session that starts Sunday in Austin will be Donnie Gooch, Forsan, and Dwayne Fraser, Coahoma, science students; and Mack Alexander, Forsan, and P. A. Wynn, Coahoma, members of the school faculties. They will attend the meeting as guests of Texas Electric Service Company.

The symposium is being jointly sponsored by the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation and the University of Texas. The Foundation is made up of 10 investor-owned electric utility companies in Texas, including Texas Electric.

Some 500 selected high school science students and teachers will attend the sessions on the University campus at which some of the nation's outstanding nuclear scientists will speak.

"The Foundation, which is cosponsoring with the General Atomic Division of General Dynamics Corporation the world's largest privately-financed research effort in the field of controlled nucelar fusion, is also seeking through its sponsorship of science symposiums to contribute to scientific education and understanding in Texas," Beale said.

"These meetings sponsored by the Foundation seek to bring to Texas high school science students and teachers the latest information on nuclear phsycis and nuclear fusion research through lectures by outstanding scientists. They also provide the students with an opportunity to obtain answers to their questions on scientific careers and college curricula.

Speakers at this year's symposium will include two General Atomic scientists from San Diego, Calif., Dr. Martin Stern, acting chairman of the experimental physics department and Dr. R. W. Pidd, manager of the direct conversion program. Featured speaker for the Tuesday evening session will be Dr. W. W. Beeman, professor of physics and biophysicist from the University of Wisconsin.

Other speakers on the symposium program will include Dr. E. L. Hudspeth, professor of physics and director of the nuclear physics laboratory at the University of Texas, Dr. R. N. Little Jr., professor of phsycis, Dr. J. David Gavenda, associate professor of physics and Dr. W. T. Guy Jr., professor of mathematics, all of the University of Texas; Dr. W. O. Milligan, professor of chemistry, Rice University, Dr. Richard E. Wainerdi, associate dean of engineering at A&M College of Texas, and Howard R. Drew, executive vice president of the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation.

Topics to be covered during the four-day session will include nuclear physics and nuclear reactors, nuclear fusion research, direct conversion and solid state physics, physics and mathematics, X-ray, electron and neutron defraction methods, neutron activation analysis and biophysics.

Seek To Help Injured Man

Rodeo time nearly three years ago changed the life of Kenneth Williams completely.

Today a group of his friends would like to do something that might partially help it change back.

Kenneth was serving as a junior rodeo clown. He grabbed a rope thrown around one of the livestock, leaned back for the jerk which would help catapult him into a comic somersault. He had done it many times before to the delight of fans, but this time he didn't get up.

An ambulance hauled him away, and the next day he got the verdict. The flip had injured his spine, and he was almost totally paralyzed.

Since then, he has regained fair use of his hands and arms and can get about some in a wheel chair. Still a livestock enthusiast, he has taken a position as secretary of the West Texas-New Mexico Paint Horse Association.

Kenneth says some feeling is coming back to his legs, and he wants to go to a Colorado clinic for physical therapy. This will require several hundred dollars, and this is where some of his friends have come in. The Rev. Darrell Robinson, Berea Baptist pastor, and others have taken the initiative in trying to raise some of this, and Jimmy Taylor has opened a Kenneth Williams fund at the First National Bank. Anyone wishing to have a part may contact them.

THE MAJOR AND FOUR LITTLE McARDLES
Trip to Alaska becomes high adventure

Major Turning 4,500-Mile Trip Into Real Adventure

Ordinarily there is nothing unusual about a Webb AFB major being reassigned to an Alaskan air base. But when he has a wife and four children, buys a new trailer house, a new car, and plans to drive 4,500 miles to his new station—then that is a bit unusual.

When Maj. Thomas J. McArdle, chief of the Webb Administrative Office, received orders recently for reassignment to Alaska, he and his wife, Nora, toyed with the idea of going overland, as a sort of vacation for themselves and the children. The more they thought about it, the more they liked it.

When they found themselves checking the possibilities by poring over maps of the ALCAN highway, they knew they had gone too far to back out.

They checked the distance between towns, and wrote ahead about accommodations en route, but before the answers could come back, the McArdles had solved the problem of accommodations by placing an order for a new astrodome camper trailer, which he almost custom built to make it self-contained.

For the last few weeks the McArdle family has burned the midnight oil—the big chore being the installation of a sub floor and a "wall to wall" carpet. To pull the vehicle, McArdle bought a new five-passenger Chevrolet Impala station wagon.

The major's new assignment is Elmendorf AFB, Alaska. The clan leaves Webb June 6, arriving at Fairbanks around the middle of July, and he will report July 16.

The McArdles will make stops at all national parks and will visit Canada's famous Lake Louise, en route.

Wing headquarters staged a little farewell party for the major in the Wing conference room on Friday afternoon, after working hours. Featuring the refreshments was a huge cake on which had been laid out a replica of the road, including ALCAN highway, from Big Spring to Alaska, with the McArdle entourage rolling northward.

Accompanying the major will be his wife, Nora; J. Thomas, 11; Michael Jr., 5; Moreen J., 3; and James J., 18 months.

Nathan Curry Case Goes To Court Starting Monday

EASTLAND, Tex. (AP)— Cisco teen-ager Nathan Curry is to appear in court Monday when the state starts to unravel the strange 1961 slaying of a church secretary.

The tall, dark-haired youth is accused of killing Mrs. Florence Hussey, 53, a divorcee and secretary of the First Baptist Church in nearby Cisco.

Curry, 17, has been free since an Odessa judge ruled Jan. 26 that he was being held illegally in the Gatesville reform school.

County Judge John Hart ordered Curry to the school Aug. 9, 1961. At a closed hearing, Hart ruled Curry a delinquent "by reason of committing burglary" at the Hussey home the night of the slaying.

Nathan was 15 at the time.

A murder charge was filed the day after his release and Dist. Judge T. M. Collie ruled Curry could remain free on $10,000 bond.

He has been living with relatives in Lubbock.

Curry became an adult in the eyes of Texas law on July 22, 1962, when he reached age 17.

His 16th birthday was spent in the Eastland County jail, 9 miles east of Cisco, a town of 4,500.

Eighteen days earlier, officers say, Nathan signed a statement admitting the slaying of Mrs. Hussey. Five days before, on July 29, 1961, her mutilated body was found in the living room of her modest frame home, two doors from the Curry residence.

She had been stabbed and beaten to death. The motive never has been explained.

A recent double jeopardy ruling by the Court of Criminal Appeals likely will figure in the Curry case.

The appellate court held on May 22 that a person cannot be tried in criminal court on the same charge used to send him to a state juvenile home.

The court threw out the murder conviction of a San Antonio youth, Maximino Garza Jr., and freed him from further prosecution on the murder charge.

Defense lawyer John Watts said in Odessa he will file a motion asking Dist. Judge W. J. Oxford to dismiss the case because of what he calls double jeopardy.

"For all practical purposes," Watts declared, "the Curry case should be over with. It certainly would be double jeopardy under the Garza ruling."

Watts said if this motion fails, he will seek a continuance.

Watts said the statements obtained by officers came while Curry was under heavy sedation.

"Nathan was subjected to undue influence and brainwashed into believing he killed this woman," he asserted.

This reporter returned to Cisco a year ago, to sample the reactions of the people after the initial shock of the slaying had dissolved.

"My son is innocent," asserted Mrs. F. P. Curry, a thin, red-haired woman.

"Nathan did not kill that woman —I know that. The guilty person will be found."

The case was a baffler, with all the elements of a mystery thriller with few clues and no apparent motive.

Dist. Atty. Earl Conner said the "clincher" came when Curry led officers to a metal planter box belonging to the victim and allegedly one of the murder weapons.

Conner said he also found "one or more" knives at Nathan's home.

Classmates and other acquaintances described Curry as a youth with little or no contact with persons other than his family. They said he had few friends because he preferred to keep to himself.

They said he was "extremely quiet," very unassuming.

Apparently he never dated, although several girls said he was "cute."

Nathan's mother and teen-age sister, Linda, said Nathan was suffering from a severe migraine headache when questioned July 4. They asserted he signed the statement while "under the influence of barbituates" taken to ease the pain.

Sheriff Lee Horn denied this.

More mystery was injected into the case when Linda and her mother asserted Nathan was at home with them the night Mrs. Hussey was slain.

They said also that a prowler had been reported in the area the same night, and that a mysterious black car had been parked near the victim's house after dark.

Conner dismissed these and other statements by saying:

"They're just grasping for straws."

People seldom discuss the case any more.

The Rev. Jesse Cassle, who discovered the body, said his congregation at the First Baptist Church recovered quickly and the incident no longer affects the church.

Mayor John Reed says he received several letters after Nathan's arrest, all expressing sympathy for the youth, but the letters have stopped.

All await the trial.

PARTIAL HOLIDAY

Not Someone's Birthday, But Jeff Davis', Suh!

DEAR BOSS:

Get out your stars and bars, Boss!

Monday's the day to fly 'em!

I moseyed down by the Texas Employment Office Friday like you said. They told me there was no use to come back Monday.

"We'll be closed," volunteered the official.

"How come?" I asked blandly.

He looked at me, deep scorn and hurt etched on his face.

"It's Jefferson Davis's birthday," he informed me with dignity. "All Texas state offices observe Jeff Davis' birthday as a holiday."

Actually, Boss, he was wrong. Sunday is the birthday of the president of the Confederacy. However, as is the Yankee common custom where a holiday falls on a Sunday, then the Monday following is observed.

I phoned another state office.

"You folks closed Monday?" I asked.

"Yes, we will be closed," replied the clerk.

"How come?" I asked.

There was a pause.

"It's somebody's birthday," the voice ventured tentatively.

And then added (defensively, I think):

"We didn't get a holiday May 30 — Memorial Day."

Banks will be open as usual. Apparently the county offices have been contaminated by outside influence, so they will be open.

Naturally, the federal offices will be open — flaunting, you might say, the way things turned out in '65.

The closings may make it pretty quiet, but if you happen to hear a Rebel yell or two, remember that it's Old Jeff Davis' birthday, and it's the day when the South rises again.

Rebelliously,
SAM BLACKBURN

Student Is Killed When Auto Flips

ATHENS, Tex. (AP)—Riley Sue Hopson, 16, was killed and four other Athens High School students were injured in a one-car accident following a school party Friday night.

The accident occurred when a small foreign car driven by Miss Hopson overturned on a curve on the Stephens Lake Road as the girls were returning from a party staged after the graduation exercises.

Injured were Linda Palmer, Vicky Terry, Sharlet Shenualt and Jo Adams.

Miss Hopson, a native of Jacksonville who recently moved here from Brownsboro, was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Riley Hopson.

CRMWD Board To Meet In C-City

For the first time in several years, directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District Tuesday will be holding their regular meeting outside of the headquarters city, Big Spring.

In response of an invitation issued months ago by The Chamber of Commerce, Frank Kelley and others, the board is meeting at Colorado City at 10:15 a.m. Tuesday. Members will be guests at a luncheon in the Terrace Room of the Baker Hotel afterwards.

Reports on progress of the pipeline project connecting Lake J. B. Thomas with Silver in Northern Coke County will be made. In this connection, the board will be asked to ratify some contracts on automatic pump station and microwave equipment, let tentatively following openings before part of the board. S. W. Freese, representing Freese, Nichols and Endress, consulting engineers of Fort Worth, is due to be present for the meeting and may make some report regarding studies on a second lake.

Two new board members will be present. Actually, one of them, Lyle Deffebach, Snyder, was an original board member but has been off the board for several years. The other is Rex Fields, Snyder, who will be coming on to the board for the first time. Other board members were returned by the member city councils.

Through Friday, said O. H. Ivie, assistant general manager, R. H. Fulton, contractors on the pipeline, had laid about 130,000 feet of 18-inch line and 50,000 of 24-inch line. This left some 36,000 feet of 18-inch line and 72,500 feet of 24-inch line to be laid.

Friday was the best day to date on the 51.5-mile project, with 6,400 feet of 24-inch and 7,000 feet of 18-inch pipe going into the ground. The Beal's Creek crossing on the south end of the job has been effected, and the last piling on the Colorado River crossing was driven Friday. The contractor plans to lay pipe across the river trestle by the end of this week. Meanwhile pipe suppliers reported that all of the 24-inch pipe has been made and lacks only a 7-day curing period. All of the 18-inch pipe will be made and cured by June 12. Ivie said the district was shooting at a June 22 for all the pipe to be laid so tests should be run on the line prior to scheduled service date of July 1.

Annual banquet of the Howard County Heart Council is scheduled for Friday evening. It will be in the Blue Room of the Cosden Club, beginning at 7:30.

Guest speaker is to be Dr. Saul Appel, El Paso, a member of the board of directors of the Texas Heart Association.

At a business session, new officers will be elected. Dr. J. H. Fish currently is president, and will be in charge of the business items. Maj. Charles Smith will be master of ceremonies for the dinner program.

United Fund Budget Hearing Dates Are Set

Budget hearings, at which participating agencies will present their needs for the 1963-64 year, have been set up by the United Fund of Big Spring and Howard County.

A group headed by Jack Davis will conduct the hearings on the evenings of June 25-26-27, it was agreed Friday at a meeting of the UF executive committee. Serving with Davis will be John Taylor, Jack Little, R. W. Thompson, Lewis Price and V. J. Belda. Hours will be announced later.

Organizations will be requested to have full budget information ready for these sessions, which—when all factors have been weighed, operating expenses considered, etc. — will result in the fixing of a goal for next fall's UF drive.

The UF currently is fiscal agent for 13 agencies — YMCA, Lakeview Branch of the Y, Salvation Army, American Red Cross, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Howard County Rehabilitation (Crippled Children's) Center, Milk and Ice Fund, Texas United Fund, West Side Youth Center, Texas Rehabilitation Center, Air Force Aid Society, Summer Recreation program.

UF President Lee Rogers said he hopes campaign organization will be completed soon.

STAMPS FROM BEHIND IRON CURTAIN
Issues from East Germany, Bulgaria, Hungary

Iron Curtain Countries Use Propaganda In Stamps

By HAROLD C. PERDUE

What about the stamps of the Iron Curtain countries? Should a collector include them in his collection or not?

The United States embargo against Cuba includes the stamps of that country. It is now unlawful to import stamps from Cuba for resale in this country. There are still a great number of the stamps from that country available from dealers in the U.S. and they are probably being sold. However, I have noticed no great increase in recent prices, which means that the market demand is poor.

But the stamps of Communist countries are not under this embargo and many are found in this country. Some of the stamps of these countries are well done and quite attractive. But we can easily see by viewing some, that they all carry a great propaganda message. You will notice that some illustrated with the column emphasize military strength as well as glorifying their leaders and founders.

LIMIT COLLECTORS

Not only have the Communist governments used the postage stamp for propaganda, but have placed severe limitations on collectors in countries such as East Germany. This has been done so that those behind the curtain will not receive too much propaganda from the West. I correspond with a young student in East Germany and receive stamps from him. I do not know if my stamps reach him all the time. I recently had a letter in which he informed me that several magazines mailed to him from Paris had been confiscated by the postal authorities in East Germany.

But this still does not answer our question. Really, I suppose, that like most things philatelic, the final choice is up to the individual collector. Generally, there are two points of view which we find expressed. First, many think that philately is nonpolitical. If you should collect world-wide or Eastern Europe, collect them no matter what the government might be at the moment. Collectors have their stamps for fun and enjoyment not for political reasons.

FINANCIAL AID

Second, others feel that to purchase a stamp from an Iron Curtain country is in the long run to help that country financially. If you buy mint stamps, the money goes almost directly to the Postal department of that country. If you buy used stamps, it goes more indirectly as well as helping to create a better market for those stamps.

Personally, I tend to hold the second view. I have steered away from Iron Curtain countries and have only a minimum of stamps from them. The few which I do have I have received largely from packets and from trades with collectors. However, there are occasion when such a country would have a stamp that would fit into my religious collection. I would not hesitate to use that for my purpose. I feel that it is a twist of irony to use the propaganda of an atheistic nation to illustrate a Christian theme.

An excellent project for some youngster or other person would be to have a collection from some of these countries, illustrating the days before and after Communist domination. It could be a great lesson in the values of freedom. A common postage stamp can sometimes tell us more about a country than we could find out in other ways.

Miss Ethie Eagleton of McCamey will discuss "Upton County History," and Willard Paine, president of the First State Bank in Monahans, will present a paper dealing with "Six Decades of Ward County Financing."

A short history of four Civil War veterans that Ward, Ector, Upton and Winkler counties were named after will be given by Jerry Haynes, editor of Southwestern Petroleum News of Odessa.

Cotton-Wheat Bill Draws Opposition

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman Allen Ellender, D-La., of the Senate Agriculture Committee, said Saturday he is opposed to any move which would tie new wheat legislation to new cotton legislation.

A move is on in Congress, he said, to combine new wheat and feed grain legislation to a cotton bill under consideration.

"It goes without saying that I am opposed to such action . . . that is, the combining of cotton and wheat or feed grain legislation in an attempt to gain broad congressional support," Ellender said.

"And if such an attempt to join the two commodity programs into one bill is successful, I am of the opinion that it will completely kill the chances of new cotton legislation."

Ellender expressed some doubt as to prospects for House passage of a new cotton bill recently approved by the House Agriculture Committee, saying "It will have a hard row to hoe."

He said one objection to the bill is the fact that the new program it would set up "would cost the government much more than the present program, which is already costly enough."

Ellender has previously stated that in his own opinion the cotton problem can be handled through existing law by means of lower support prices.

The House bill would eliminate the present two-price system for cotton by providing a domestic subsidy which would enable textile mills to buy U.S. cotton at the world price, which is 8½ cents a pound below the domestic price.

Ellender said that in addition to the cost objection "I also object to the present bill because the greatest benefits would inure to the cotton mills and not to the producers—I believe that the farmers, particularly the small farmers, are the ones who should be benifitted and protected."

He promised his committee would "devote much time and study" to the problem.

DeVaney Raps Cooley Idea

WACO (AP) —Passage of the Cooley bill for cotton would spell doom for U.S. farmers who would like to produce cotton in response to market demands, the Texas Farm Bureau president says.

C. H. DeVaney, in a message to all 200 county Farm Bureaus in Texas, asked farmers to wire or write their congressmen urging defeat of a measure by Rep. Robert Cooley, D-N.C.

"The future of the cotton industry in Texas and the nation is at stake," DeVaney said.

The Cooley bill, he said, provides for compensatory payments to cotton mills and would lead to pressure for similar payments on other commodities that might be in trouble due to competition from synthetics or other substitutes.

Navy Scuttles Belief Thresher Was Found

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy scuttled Saturday its belief that the hulk of the sunken atomic submarine Thresher has been found. It said instead that a thorough analysis of underwater photographs fails to confirm this.

An official statement said none of the pictures taken Wednesday from the scientific ship Conrad of something on the bottom in about 8,400 feet of water could be identified as that of the Thresher.

The Thresher failed to return from a deep test dive on April 10 at a point about 220 miles off the New England coast. Aboard her were 129 Navy men and civilians.

The Navy statement said civilian scientists aboard the Conrad, using limited photographic interpretation equipment available on the ship, "initially evaluated objects in the photographs as part of the hulk of the submarine." But when the pictures were scrutinized with the analytical equipment of the Naval Photographic Interpretation Center here Friday night "they failed to confirm this evaluation," the Navy said.

Friday, the Navy said that on the basis of radiophone conversation with the civilian scientists aboard the Conrad, the pictures appeared to be portions of the sail, a forward diving plane and a portion of the hull, showing a rupture.

The Navy statement did not discuss what the photographs showed under detailed analysis here. But there appeared to be a possibility that the underwater camera had taken a series of pictures of part of its own equipment. It was suggested that what happened was this:

The cage containing the underwater camera was lowered along a steel cable on the lower end of which was an anchor-like weight. As the camera neared the bottom, fast sequence series f eight pictures which the camera made in scanning the object was not of a submarine but of the lead weight partially imbedded in mud. its outline could have been mistaken for that of the hull and superstructure of a submarine. A close-up might have enlarged the apparent dimension of the object falsely.

Senior scientist on the Conrad, which is owned by Lamont Observatory of Columbia University, is Dr. Lamar Worzel.

Navy officials said that Worzel has had long experience in underwater photography, including that of photographing submarines. It was on this basis that Navy headquarters accepted, without having seen the actual pictures, the belief that the object in the photograph was the Thresher.

Yankee Demo Says Let's Not Be Hypocrites

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gov. Endicott Peabody of Massachusetts said Saturday if the only result of current racial desegregation efforts "is to bring the South up to the standards of the North, we have not succeeded at all."

In a speech prepared for a convention of the American Veterans' Committee, the Yankee Democrat said "Let us not be hypocrites" and declared "Entirely new standards must be forged for North and South alike."

This is so, he said, because, "The man in suburbia who refuses to sell his house to a Negro is every bit as guilty in his intent as the storeowner in the South who refuses to let Negroes eat at his lunch counter. Equality of opportunity is not a regional problem—it is a national problem.

"As President Kennedy has recognized, it is now a national question of prime importance. We are justified in saying it is a national emergency.

"Our friends are embarrassed and our enemies are gleeful at our inaction.

"No state or section of the country has a monopoly on bigotry. It is true that our publicly stated standards in the North are closer to the goals we must reach in the South. The unspoken standards and the ones that really apply are little different from the South.

"Many of our schools are largely segregated, as is much of our housing and much of our industry, particularly above the first level of employment."

Mrs. Barnett's Rites Monday

Mrs. Anna Dearing Barnett, 89, former resident of Big Spring, died in Houston Friday at 2:15 p.m. after a short illness. She and her husband, Dr. W. C. Barnett, lived in Big Spring, where he was a practicing physician until his death in 1942. She moved to Fort Worth after his death, then to Amarillo, and to Houston where she lived about a year.

She was born in Cherry Springs, March 23, 1874.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. Monday at the River Chapel, with the Rev. R. Gage Lloyd, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, officiating. Burial will be in the Municipal Cemetery under the direction of River Funeral Home.

Mrs. Barnett was a member of the Presbyterian church, and was Past Matron of the Big Spring Chapter No. 67, Order of the Eastern Star.

Survivors are two sons, W. Carroll Barnett, Houston, and G. A. (Kim) Barnett, San Antonio; a daughter, Elsie Jeannette Barnett, Amarillo; four grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers will be Joe Carpenter, Henry Carpenter, Athal Porter, Lee Porter, Elmer Boatler, and Friend Talbot.

MAYOR GOING TO HONOLULU

Big Spring Mayor George Zachariah is scheduled to attend the U.S. Conference of Mayors annual convention at Hilton Hawaiian Village, Honolulu, June 9-12. He will fly to the conference.

The Honolulu conference is one of two major conferences during the year for city officials, and travel funds were set up in the 1963-64 budget for both. The Honolulu trip will cost the city approximately $1,400.

The next conference, Nov. 3-5, will be for the Texas Municipal League and 13 affiliated departmental organizations, at the Shamrock-Hilton Hotel, Houston. Reservations have been made for the entire city commission and city manager to attend.

This year's budget included $2,400 for the commission's travel expenses, which is $500 above last year's allotment.

Negro Leader Arrested On Felony Charge In Jackson

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Roy T. Wilkins, a national Negro leader arrested here for picketing, said Saturday night demonstrations in Jackson "have just started" and could continue for two years.

Wilkins, 61, of New York, executive secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, was released on a $1,000 bond after he had been charged with restraint of trade, a felony charge.

"The demonstrations have just started," Wilkins told a news conference after his release. "I understand the city says it can go on for two years. I feel the Negroes can, too."

Wilkins' arrest marked the end of the first week of demonstrations in the Mississippi capital city. His arrest came when he started to picket in front of a variety store on Capitol Street, the main thoroughfare.

A few hours later police swooped down on a Negro mass march, circled it, and arrested truckloads of the demonstrators.

The sidewalk march, with Negroes walking in pairs, many carrying American flags, started from NAACP headquarters.

About 100 Negroes joined in the march. Others trailed in cars.

Police blocked the march with a line of officers across their path, forcing the Negroes, to swerve into a side street. Motorcycle officers then blocked off both ends of the side street and beg an loading the Negroes remaining in the march—about 40 of them—into trucks for the trip to a special detention center. Part of the crowd had dispersed as the march veered into the side street.

A little earlier, in a move to ease the rising tension, Mayor Allen Thompson and the City Commission had agreed to three of eight Negro demands.

The agreements: 1. Hiring Negro policemen for patrolling Negro sections. 2. Hiring Negro school crossing guards for Negro schools. 3. Upgrading Negro city employes.

The mayor flatly rejected a key proposal that the city join in forming a biracial committee to work toward easing racial problems.

However, Thompson said there would be further negotiations on some of the demands. As for school desegregation, he said the city would abide by court decisions in pending suits.

Wilkins was charged with restraint of trade. He was released on $1,000 bond, along with Medgar Evers, 37, of Jackson. They were arrested with Wilkins on the same charge.

Wilkins arrived here from New York Friday. He assumed his picket role in front of a downtown store where violence flared last Tuesday during a sit-in that kicked off the drive.

The mass demonstration ended almost as soon as it started. Police met the marching Negroes and loaded them onto the trucks.

Many of those under 18 were later released in the custody of their parents.

Bennie Oliver, a former Jackson policeman, was convicted of assault and battery in the beating of Memphis Norman, 21, a Negro, at a variety store lunch counter.

Spencer fined Oliver $100 and sentenced him to 30 days in jail.

Fourteen others were convicted on other charges. All got $500 fines and six-month jail terms.

Texas Weather Calms Down After 2 Bad Nights

By The Associated Press

Wild weather calmed down Saturday after two straight nights of rude rampages in West Texas.

East Texas mostly was fair except in the southeast corner. The rest of Texas usually was partly cloudy to cloudy.

Western parts of the Texas Panhandle and South Plains had been placed under a severe thunderstorm forecast for late Saturday.

Amarillo was in the alerted zone along with Borger, Dumas, Dalhart, Muleshoe, Littlefield, Plains and Hereford.

Scattered showers fell in the northern Panhandle and near the Louisiana border in Southeast Texas.

Temperatures were mild and pleasant for June.

Presidio maintained itself as the hottest spot in the state Saturday with a 104-degree reading, while it never got above 73 at Lubbock. Early morning lows ranged from 55 at Dalhart to 79 at Corpus Christi.

Forecasts called for partly cloudy and warm weather through Sunday with widely scattered thundershowers.

Lubbock bore the brunt of the storm before dawn Saturday. The city had more than 5 inches of rain in spots, 3.50 inches of it in 2 hours. Hail as big as marbles fell. Low lands flooded and 50 or 60 people were helped to higher ground.

Flood waters blocked major highways for a while. Roads still were closed Saturday in Terry, Lynn, Garza, Hockley and Lubbock counties. The flooded routes were farm roads except for U.S. 380 east of Post and the east lanes of U. S. 62 at the northeast edge of Lubbock. Cars had to be led along U. S. 87 in Lynn County, which was barely passable during the morning.

Three deaths were attributed to storms of the late week, two drownings and a traffic death in a blinding rainstorm, all in the Panhandle.

Tornadoes were reported Friday night in the Lubbock area in Dean, Anton and Sundown and possibly between Tahoka and Midway.

Tahoka had 3.59 inches of rain in 24 hours to dawn Saturday.

Floydada reported 3.40, Matador 2.20, Paducah 1.75, Quanah 1.22, Electra 1.19 and Amarillo 1.05.

GOP To Seek Review Of Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republicans expect to force key administration officials to give an in-depth review of President Kennedy's international policies when they testify in support of foreign aid.

Disclosing this Saturday, Senate Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said in an interview GOP members of the Senate Foreign Relations and House Foreign Affairs Committee will insist on questioning administration witnesses about all aspects of world affairs when they appear to support the mutual aid program.

"I think it would be helpful for the country to have some idea of the direction in which we are going," Dirksen said. "There is speculation and doubt over where the administration stands on Cuba, what is happening to NATO and what concessions are being made in attempts to get a nuclear test ban.

"We Republicans are prepared to give bipartisan support on foreign policy. But we want to know first what the policy is."

BRIEFING BY RUSK

At his own suggestion, Secretary of State Dean Rusk will brief the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on recent world developments in a closed session Tuesday.

But Dirksen indicated he and other Republicans want a broader presentation of the administration's international thinking than is likely to be given in such a session.

Dirksen said he expects Walt W. Rostow, chairman of the State Department's planning board, and McGeorge Bundy, special presidential assistant for national security affairs, to be among those questioned.

Republicans have been beating a political tattoo on Kennedy's foreign policy actions for several months in obvious efforts to lay the foundation for an assault on his international record in the 1964 campaign.

Much of the criticism has been directed at what the GOP calls the President's failure to follow up his demand for on-site inspection to determine whether all Soviet offensive missiles actually were withdrawn from Cuba.

First Completely Integrated Clinic In South To Open

DALLAS (AP) — An 84-bed hospital, which its sponsors say is the first completely integrated hospital in the South with an open staff of Negro and white physicians, will be opened here Sunday.

To be known as International Hospital, it will occupy the facilities formerly operated as the Southeast General Hospital. The facilities, valued by the sponsors at $600,000, are completely air-conditioned and include three major surgery rooms, two emergency operating rooms, and two X-ray rooms.

Richard McKay, Dallas lawyer and businessman who heads the hospital, said that while a number of Dallas hospitals admit Negro patients for treatment under certain conditions, they are now placed in pre-determined areas and are subject to certain restrictions. He said that the International Hospital will be operated strictly on a "first come, first served basis with no restricted areas whatsoever."

Mt. McKinley Face Conquered

TALKEETNA, Alaska (AP)—The mile-high, almost vertical east buttress of North America's highest mountain has been conquered for the first time by six mountain guides.

The men continued upward and reached the summit of Mt. McKinley May 25. Their ascent was reported Friday by Mary Carey, Talkeetna correspondent for the Fairbanks News-Miner.

The climbers said none of them suffered frostbite while scaling the 20,300-foot peak but one had a touch of heat exhaustion.

Warren Blesser, 24, Middlebury, Conn., suffered heat exhaustion while returning to base camp on Ruth Glacier. Blesser, Pete Lev, of Boulder, Colo., and Fullerton, Calif., and Fred Wright, Burbank, Calif., remained at the camp waiting for clearing weather so a bush pilot could fly them out.

The pilot, Don Sheldon, Fairbanks, flew the other three climbers here Wednesday. They are Al Reed, Lakewood, Colo.; Jed Williamson, Pawling, N.Y., and Rod Newcomb, Jackson, Wyo.

Mohole Gets The Go-Ahead

HOUSTON (AP) — National Science Foundation has ordered Brown & Root to proceed with the design of a $28 million Project Mohole drilling platform without waiting for approval of the American Miscellaneous Society, an NSF official said Saturday.

The American Miscellaneous Society, composed chiefly of government and university scientists, is the originator of Project Mohole, the attempt to drill a hole through the crust of the earth.

AMS is attached to the National Academy of Science and the National Research Council to advise on scientific aspects of the mohole project.

In Houston, NSF project officer Don Woodward said that since the AMS committee met here last month the NSF has directed General Electric Co., in Syracuse and Schenectady to assemble full structural design information on the hugh submarine-mounted drilling platform.

He also said a subcontract of nearly $1 million has been awarded to Minneapolis Honeywell to produce a system of radar, sonar and computer equipment that will hold the platform within a 500-foot circle centering above a 10-inch hole nearly three miles below the ocean surface.

Bean Working As Ranch Foreman

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Former County Judge Woodrow Bean of El Paso has been working as a ranch foreman, columnist Paul Thompson reported Friday.

Thompson, writing in the San Antonio News, said Bean is working for Morris Jaffe, the man who bought the assets of bankrupt promoter Billie Sol Estes.

Bean, while a candidate for congressman-at-large, ran afoul of the Internal Revenue Service for not filing income tax returns.

Now, wrote Thompson, Bean is foreman for Jaffe on a ranch four miles west of Canyon Dam.

"Bean says he is happy as a combination cowboy, sheepman and goat herder, though he may get back into the law one of these days," Thompson wrote.

Bean lost a race for the Democratic nomination for congressman-at-large to Joe Pool of Dallas, the current holder of the office.

Big Spring Man Is Among Rodeo Stars

Jim Kinney of Carlsbad, N.M., in a smooth, long run, spurted ahead with 13.5.

Pushing one's luck also applied to the calf-tying. Mack Kinnabrough of Duncan, Okla., gambled that a half-hitch would keep the animal down for the required six seconds, and his brinksmanship paid off with 14.4 which put him ahead on averages.

Other calf ropers pushed the contest into tighter straits, until Horace Rankin, Big Spring, ended the event with the fastest and smoothest catch of the evening at 12.3, taking the night's lead.

There was quite a bit of barrel-toppling during the girls' barrel races. Pretty young Loretta Manuel, San Antonio sprayed sand and brushed dangerously near the barrels in the best ride of the event. Her excellent performance put her ahead on averages.

In the saddle bronc riding, Arthur Riley of Tulsa, Okla., was the first to mark on two horses, and became the man to beat. Then, Dennis Reiners of Clara City, Minn., took the lead on Tom Dooley, described as one of the roughest of the broncs. Reiners finished his stints with that ride.

During the steer wrestling, Horace Rankin of Big Spring was fast on the jump, but he had a stubborn critter whose hind quarters seemed planted in the ground. Bussy Kaul of Hereford had better luck, downing his animal with a quick 5.5 seconds. He was the only contestant to take three down, taking the lead into the third go-round.

There were plenty of spills during the closing event of Friday's two-hour show, the riding of wild Brahma bulls. The bulls, however, seemed more intent on getting back into the pens than in chasing or trying to gore their riders.

The top five winners, in order, for each event for the entire rodeo were:

THEY GOT THEIR GOAT

Rocky and Penny Mattingly threw a feed Saturday afternoon for rodeo contestants and fans, and were so swamped by visitors that it really got their goat.

They passed out the free vittles to about 400 people from 1 to 7 p.m. at Penny's Drive-In. The meatier part of the barbecued goats was gone by 3 p.m., but people who love to gnaw bones kept the waitresses hopping until a late hour.

The unfortunate goats came from Dr. Sanders' ranch, were dressed compliments of Hubbard Packing, and were barbecued at the American Legion hall.

The Cosden Cowboys provided dinner music, and that's no kidding.

We knew just as sure as we said so, we'd be picked off first base. But we checked available sources and said that Linda Gilstrap was the first graduate to ever go through all 12 grades without ever having been absent. No sooner had the ink dried than we learned that Mrs. Sherrill Farmer (Beverley Hill) did it back in 1956. Just to stick our necks out a bit further, we'll bet they're the only two local students ever managed this remarkable record.

Fans who have been singing the praises of Jeff Brown, star first baseman for the high school baseball team, could say "I told you so." The New York Mets signed him to a contract. The Yankees had been looking but were too slow on the fountain pen draw. Jeff reports this weekend to Quincy, Ill.

Farmers were pushing those tractors on every foot of ground which could support them without bogging. As a consequence, about 90 per cent of the county is planted. Barring extra high winds or washing showers, the cotton and feed crops should grow like magic within the next two weeks.

Sea Scouts are supposed to be sailors, leaving hiking to their brother Boy Scouts and Explorers. Yet members of Ship 111 are leaving this weekend on a 250-mile hike from here to the Scout Ranch in the Davis Mountains. Somebody ought to make a book on how many pair of shoes they will wear out, how many blisters and bunions raised, and whether they can do it.

Last week's air show didn't draw quite the crowd that the Chamber of Commerce aviation committee envisioned, but it did attract an estimated 4,000. This was not fairly credible for a first-time promotion. The same can be said for the Y's Men's shrimp feed, which drew about 800 diners.

The long awaited announcement about the construction of Holiday Inn at the east edge of town came through. Developers lost no time after that, however, for they took out a permit, broke ground and set a Nov. 1 completion target. Building and furnishings will cost about one million dollars.

Jackie Wants White Charger

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Jacqueline Kennedy wrote the head of Austria's famed Spanish Riding School that she would like to ride one of its Lipizzan horses after seeing the white chargers perform. She will get her wish next spring.

Col. Alois Podhajsky, the school director, revealed Mrs. Kennedy's wish Friday and said it would be granted when 18 of the rare horses are flown to the United States next April. They will perform at the World's Fair in New York, at Boston and Washington.

Mrs. Kennedy saw the horses in 1961, when President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev conferred in Vienna. The Lipizzans, brought to Austria from Spain centuries ago, go through pirouettes and such other intricate tricks as the capriole, a kick of the hind legs at the height of a leap.

Integration Plans For Fort Worth

FORT WORTH (AP)—Trustees of Fort Worth's public schools have issued instructions for teachers and administrators to work out details for integration of classes next fall.

A resolution adopted by the School Board Friday directed full compliance with an order issued in May by U.S. Dist. Judge Leo Brewster for a grade-a-year desegregation plan.

Revival Scheduled By Central Baptist

A revival will begin at Central Baptist Church, Elbow, Monday at 7:30 p.m. and continue each evening through June 9.

The Rev. Charles Massegee, Ranger, will do the preaching and Clydele Chapman, Big Spring, will lead the singing. The public is invited to attend the meetings.

Goldwater Has Some Nice Words For Harry Truman

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP)—Harry S. Truman said today it was "awfully nice" of Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., to say that the nation needs another Harry Truman as president.

Goldwater, speaking before an insurance group Friday night at Tucson, Ariz., said Truman's administration was marked by a forthright policy which is lacking in the Kennedy administration.

"The more I think about it," he said, "the more I think Harry Truman will go down in history as one of the greater presidents."

"That's awfully nice of him," Truman said this morning when informed of Goldwater's comments.

"I never had any argument with Goldwater," Truman continued. "I think he is honestly trying to do a good job. And I thought that before he said those nice things about me last night."

Sit-In Plans Frustrated

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Negro plans for sit-ins at two variety store lunch counters were frustrated Saturday when the stores removed the stools and closed the counters.

At both Woolworth's, young Negroes trying to force a reorganization of the city's biracial committee walked in, looked the situation over and left. The stores are in outlying shopping centers, not downtown.

The committee, the first such group in Louisiana, held its organizational meeting yesterday. It meets again Tuesday to try to find ways to ease the city's racial problems.

Demonstrations backing demands for committee membership were threatened by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and the Congress of Racial Equality.

Glenn Rogers Wins Honors At Baylor Dental College

Glenn Alfred Rogers, son of Dr. and Mrs. Lee O. Rogers, 300 Washington Blvd., received his degree of Doctor of Dental Surgery from Baylor University College of Dentistry on Monday.

Young Dr. Rogers, after taking his examination before the state board of examiners, plans to enter, on June 17, the Graduate School of Orthodontics in Dallas, where he will study for two years.

He was one of the four top honor graduates in his class, and received a fellowship in the American College of Dental Medicine—an honor award.

The young dentist was a member of the Junior American Dental Association, a student member of the Texas Dental Association, the Baylor Odontological Honor Society, and Delta Sigma Delta dental fraternity. He was elected to Omicron Kappa Upsilon, honorary scholastic society.

He was graduated from Big Spring High School in 1955, and from the University of Texas in 1959. He will have spent 10 years in college and graduate work when he leaves the graduate school.

Market Picks Good Date To Break Free

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market chose the first anniversary of the disastrous Memorial Day week of 1962 to break out of a narrow band which has confined it for two weeks and rise to new peaks for 1963.

Stocks chalked up a fairly substantial rise for the week just ended and for the month of May.

Memorial Day week moods in 1962 and 1963 were as different as night and day. A year ago, with "Black Monday" providing a climax of panic, and subsequent days a strong but short-lived buying spree which was termed "idiotic" at the time, the mood was one of frenzy. The 1962 decline still had a month to go.

This week the feeling in Wall Street was one of calm and almost indifferent confidence that the economy was strong and that the great 1962-63 stock market recovery had "plenty of room at the top."

The Dow Jones industrial average this week advanced 6.43 to 726.96 —breaking through the important 725 level which had been an obstacle to two previous rallies. Within hailing distance was the historic closing high of 734.91 reached Dec. 13, 1961.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks this week rose 2.0 to 275.9, another of the series of historic highs it has attained this spring.

Motors and steels were the heroes of the week's advance. Reports that the auto industry seems likely to top the record year of 1955 and that there will be little change in the 1964 auto models accompanied the rise.

Since the motor manufacturers are the steel industry's best customers, it followed logically that the leading steels should rise also. Chrysler was the most active stock, followed by Ford, U.S. Steel, and General Motors, in that order.

Volume for the four-day trading week, shortened by the closing of exchanges on Memorial Day, was 16,684,740 shares compared with 24,526,720 for the full five-day trading week previous.

Despite a couple of weeks of "consolidation," the Dow Jones industrial average rose 9.26 during May and the AP average 5.5.

U.S. bonds prices showed signs of strengthening during the week and corporates brightened somewhat after running irregular almost all month. Turnover during the Memorial Day week was $22,690,000 par value for an average of $5.64 each trading day. This was down from last week's average of $5.86.

Wallace Attorneys To Fight In Court

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) Attorneys for Gov. George C. Wallace are expected to fight federal court efforts to bar him from interfering with desegregation of the University of Alabama.

Sources close to the governor said Saturday that he does not plan to show up Monday at a federal court hearing on the injunction in Birmingham. However, he will be represented by counsel unless he changes his mind, the sources said.

Precisely what legal tack the segregationist governor will take has been kept under wraps by his advisers.

U.S. District Court Judge Seybourn H. Lynne issued an order May 24 directing Wallace to appear Monday and show why he should not be barred by injunction from interfering with the enrollment of two Negroes in the University of Alabama system.

Wallace's vow to stand in the door and block any Negro at the university drew more criticism, this time from Lt. Gov. James B. Allen who warned that defiance of court orders will lead Alabama down a blind alley.

Allen said this state must not follow the Oxford route, referring to bloody riots that followed desegregation of the University of Mississippi in the wake of defiance by Gov. Ross Barnett.

Allen — who would become the chief executive if the governor went to jail for contempt of court and could not carry out the duties —appealed to residents of Alabama to "show that they abhor violence and mob action."

"The good name of the state is at stake as the crisis nears its climax," he declared. "What takes place at the university on and after June 10 will affect the future welfare of our state for decades to come."

Businessmen in Tuscaloosa, site of the main university campus, urged earlier last week that Wallace abandon his doorway defiance. Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers had criticized Wallace but offered to help the governor after a federal judge refused to delay university desegregation.

In a complaint filed more than a week ago, the Justice Department asked that Wallace, his agents and others be prohibited from interfering with the court-ordered enrollment of the Negroes.

The encounter between the governor and the students presumably will come June 10, first day of registration for the summer session. Scheduled to enroll at the main campus is Vivian J. Malone, 20, Mobile. David M. McGlathery, 27, Huntsville, will attempt to enter the Huntsville branch.

C-C Committee Slates Meetings

Two regular meetings of Chamber of Commerce committees are slated next week, according to Carrol Davidson, Chamber manager.

The retail committee meets at 10 a.m. Tuesday with Adolph Swartz in charge. Charles Weeg will chair a meeting of the public health and safety committee at 5:15 p.m. Thursday. Both meetings will be held at the Chamber conference room.

Honor System For Customs

NEW YORK (AP) — An honor system experiment began Saturday at the customs office at Idlewild Airport for visitors and U.S. citizens returning from abroad.

They had only to fill out a simple identification form, customs agents politely accepted their oral declarations as to whether they had exceeded allowances in purchases abroad.

This is the first time the system has been tried in the continental United States. If successful, it will be applied to all the aerial gateways to this country.

The simplified form requires no listing of purchases except in cases where the maximum $100 has been exceeded, or where purchases are being received after the arrival of the passenger.

The form, issued by the Treasury and distributed by the air lines, says that baggage may be examined on entry into the United States. It adds that nonresidents may make their declarations orally, and that the same usually applies to returning residents of the United States.

MANILA (AP) — Striking Manila dock workers hurled homemade bombs at trucking employes Saturday, injuring four men. The left arm of one man was severed by a blast.

The dock workers are trying to prevent brokers' trucks from taking cargo out of the customs area. The strike is 25-days old with no sign of a settlement.

Tennessee Gas Bids On Chemical Firm

NEW YORK (AP)— Tennessee Gas Transmission Co. of Houston proposed Friday to acquire the Heyden-Newport Chemical Corp. of New York in exchange for common stock of Tennessee Gas.

Gardiner Symonds, chairman of Tennessee Gas, and Simon Askin, president of Heyden-Newport, said shareholders of the chemical company would get 1.11 shares of Tennessee Gas for each share of Heyden-Newport.

The Texas company owns and operates natural gas transmission pipelines. Heyden-Newport makes synthetic chemicals.

Philippine Official Faces Tax Charge

MANILA (AP) — The government filed tax evasion charges Saturday against Jose W. Diokno, who was President Diosdado Macapagal's secretary of justice in the early months of his administration. He now is an opposition candidate for senator.

The Bureau of Internal Revenue charged that Diokno filed fraudulent income tax returns from 1957 to 1961. The bureau said Diokno owes about $180,000 in taxes due on unreported income.

Harris, Dixon Early Favorites In BS Open

By TOMMY HART

They'll be off and running in the first annual Big Spring Golf Open at the Country Club Saturday and there is every indication the field will be jammed.

The True Amateur or lower division is already full. The Open flight is fast approaching that condition.

No qualifying score is required for either flight. All that is required are payment of entry fee ($15 each for the Open flight and $5 each for the True Amateur plateau of play) and the declaration of a partner.

Tournament rules dictate that a pro can team with an amateur or two amateurs can play in the Open flight. Handicaps will be used in the True Amateur division alone.

Winners will be determined on a low ball basis. Ten teams in each division will share in the awards.

Entries have been received from as far away as Stillwater and Tulsa, Okla.; Houston; Ruidoso, N.M.; and Formosa.

Early favorites in the meet could be Labron Harris Sr. and Bob Dixon, both of Stillwater, Okla. Harris, a well known pro in his own right, is the father of the 1962 National Amateur king, Labron Harris Jr. Dixon was three times crowned the Oklahoma Amateur titlist.

Charles Coody, a semifinalist in the National Amateur who turned pro only last week, will team with Frank Mackey of Fort Worth, the one-time Big Spring Invitational champion, to form a highly respected tandem.

Coody, who hails from Stamford and who played golf at TCU, recently turned pro. He signed a contract with the AMF-Ben Hogan Company in Fort Worth. As an amateur, he won 32 tournaments.

Two former pros of the Big Spring Country Club will play here. They are C. A. DeWees, now of Arlington, and Shirley Robbins, Inks Lake.

A formidable twosome could be Horace Moore and Jack Williams, both of Plainview. Moore is the club pro there. Williams is one of the most successful amateurs in the history of West Texas golf.

Iverson Martin, El Paso, twice the Texas PGA champion, now of El Paso, will team with tournament director Obie Bristow in the tournament.

Bobby Wright, who consistently plays the Big Spring course better than any other man, will team with W. O. Maxwell, the Webb AFB course pro.

Such well-known West Texas amateurs as Travis Horton, Stamford; Holly Toller, Sweetwater; Bill (Red) Roden, Odessa; Charles Hopkins, Post; Bill Craig, Colorado City; and John Gandy, San Angelo are entered in the two-day links show.

Bill Ferem, Midland, will serve as starter during the meet and will try to get the first team off Saturday at 7:30 a.m.

A buffet dinner will be served to the entries Saturday evening in the club house.

The pro on the winning team will win $400 in cash. Other cash awards for the pros, in event they compose part of the winning teams, will earn $300, $200, $160, $120, $80, $40 and three at $20 each.

In addition, the pro with the lowest medal score earns $100, the runnerup $50, third and fourth places $35 each.

The amateur on the low team gets merchandise awards valued at $150. Such awards as sets of irons, sets of woods, golf bags, combinations of woods and irons, pull carts and umbrellas will go to those finishing 'in the money.'

No premium will go to the amateur with the low medal score. The cash awards for the low pros are incentive prizes.

Gallery tickets, priced at 50 cents each, are being sold by members of the Country Club.

Play will be over 18 holes each day.

Claude King Assumes Lead In Indy Golf

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Husky Claude King, former prep football coach, grabbed the 36-hole lead of the $55,000 Speedway Festival Open Golf Tournament Saturday with a 6-under-par 65 for a 132 total and a one-stroke edge over Fred Hawkins.

Hawkins, the El Paso, Tex., veteran, who hasn't won since taking the 1956 Oklahoma City Open, blew a 4-foot birdie putt on the last hole and wound up with a 33-36—69 for 133.

King, 30-year-old former coach at Virginia Beach, Va., High, who joined the pro circuit 17 months ago and never has been better than 16th in a tourney, fashioned a 32-33 against the Speedway course par of 35-36—71. He canned seven birdies on putts ranging from 40 feet to 18 inches.

In addition to Hawkins, there was a big group of par wreckers snapping at King's heels in the race for the $10,000 first prize in the 72-hole event.

Strapping Bill Collins of Grossinger, N.Y., recovering from the effects of a bad back, posted 134 with a second round of 34-33—67.

Also at 134 was the pre-tourney favorite, Tony Lema, who got on the pace with a 34-30—64.

Bracketed at 135 were Miller Barber of San Antonio, Tex., with a 68; Chi Chi Rodriguez of Puerto Rico, 68; Tommy Aaron, Gainesville, Ga., with 64; Jerry Edwards, Fort Worth, Tex., 66, and seasoned Julius Boros, 67.

Lowest round of the day was by the rank outsider, Jerry Pittman, Tulsa, Okla., who fashioned a 33-30—63, one shot short of the tournament record for the 6,467-yard layout.

Johnson Plans To Play Pro Ball Until It Becomes Work

Chunking Charley Johnson, accompanied by his family, came to Big Spring Saturday for a few days' visit with relatives and friends.

JOHNSON

The star quarterback of the St. Louis Cardinals of the NFL goes to summer training camp with the Red Birds at Lake Forest, Ill., July 24.

Between now and then, however, he's got a world of things to do. He goes back to his home in St. Louis Thursday to be fitted for a cap and gown for graduation exercises at Washington University (St. Louis), where he'll get his Master's Degree in Chemical Engineering.

Shortly thereafter, he enrolls at Washington to begin work on his doctorate. He will go to school the first semester before turning to football.

Charley, a native Big Springer, is married to the former Barbara Shields of Big Spring. They have a son, Craig Charles, who is all of eight months old.

The Johnsons live in the Clayton section in west St. Louis, about a half mile from the school he attends.

Charley, who carried as much as 205 pounds during last fall's NFL season, is down to about 195 now. He hasn't had much time to work out — he's been busy writing a thesis this spring — but he does golf occasionally and he recently installed a chinning bar in his home.

The 24-year-old quarterback says they may have to tear his uniform off him to make him quit. He's been in pro ball two years now and has enjoyed every minute of it. The fabulous pension plan now offered in pro ball provides added incentive for him to keep playing.

"The minute it gets to be work, I'll quit though," Johnson adds.

He can turn to a career in Chemical Engineering if he ever decides to quit football. He also holds a reserve commission in the Armed Forces.

Johnson says Y. A. Tittle, a fellow Texan, probably showed him more in the way of outstanding talent than any other player he faced last year. Tittle, who was raised in Marshall and who is now with the New York Giants, is still going strong at the age of 36.

He has a lot of respect for Paul Hornung, the Green Bay star who is having to set out a year for betting on games. He thinks Hornung was a victim of circumstances, will come back to redeem himself in 1964.

Johnson has had occasion to see few Big Spring people in St. Louis. One of those he does run into occasionally is Harry C. Burrus, now the director of athletics at Washington U. He says Harry directs a strong sports program in the minor sports at WU. Washington gives no athletic scholarships but does field a football team.—T. H.

Jay Outduels Koufax, 1-0

CINCINNATI (AP) — Big Joey Jay won a masterful pitching duel with Sandy Koufax Saturday night by making a single run in the fourth inning stand up for a 1-0 Cincinnati decision over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Jay scattered four hits in gaining only his second victory of the season against eight defeats. Koufax, now 7-3, allowed only three hits in seven innings but two in the fourth inning cost him the game.

Pastrano Upsets Harold Johnson

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Underrated Willie Pastrano won the light heavyweight championship of the world Saturday night, punching out a split decision over Harold Johnson in the biggest upset of the year in the fight game.

An underdog at odds that ranged up to 6-1 in this gambling mecca, the 27-year-old Pastrano, from North Miami Beach, Fla., brought a crowd of some 5,000 to its feet in a rousing 15th round that cinched the victory.

Johnson, a tired man of 34 after the grueling contest, weighed 173½. Pastrano weighed 174.

The suspense was intense as the ring announcer rounded up the scoring slips. Most of the crowd at the Las Vegas Convention Center thought Pastrano was the winner, and a groan arose when it was revealed there had been a split decision.

The suspense didn't last long.

Referee Jimmy Olivas scored it 69 for Pastrano and 68 for Johnson. Judge John Romero had it 69-68 for Johnson. But Judge Harry Krause shifted the nod to the New Orleans-born Italian, 69-67.

Webb Splits Two

Webb AFB and Sweetwater AFB split a softball twin bill here Saturday night, Webb fighting back to win the second game, 1-0, on the strength of Cotton Mize's fine pitcher after the visitors had copped the opener in nine rounds, 10-8. Mize hit a home run in the first contest.

Nat'l Open Revives Ouimet's Major Upset

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — As time scampers by the 63rd USGA Open about to be held at The Country Club here probably will go down in history as the Ouimet Open. Fifty years ago over the same course a 20-year-old amateur astounded the golfing world by turning back two British professionals.

OUIMET

When Francis Ouimet, the gardener's son who lived right near the course, beat Harry Vardon and Ted Ray, he beat the two topnotchers of the day. Vardon, the stylist whose grip is used by most pros today, had won the 1900 U.S. Open and was a four-time British Open champion. Ray had won the 1912 British Open and was touring this country with Vardon.

Ouimet's victory in an 18-hole playoff gave American golf its first man-sized shot in the arm. The former caddy shot a 72, Vardon 77 and Ray 78.

Golfers everywhere began asking: "Where's Brookline?" They soon learned about this Boston suburb. Its claim to fame, even today, is Ouimet's victory.

Some felt Ouimet (pronounced Wee-met) had all the advantages for he had caddied at Country Club in 1902 at age 9 and in 1908 at 15 he won the club caddie championship. But the doubting Thomases became believers in Ouimet's game less than a year later. Playing the Ekwanok course in Manchester, Vt. for the first time, Ouimet turned back Walter J. Travis 6 and 5 for the 1914 USGA Amateur title.

When Ouimet won the 1913 Open there were only 165 entrants. Seven years later, at Inverness in Toledo, 265 competed as Ray beat Vardon, Jack Burke, Leo Diegel and Jock Hutchinson by one shot.

In this Open, set for June 20—22, there were 2,424 entrants. With a $20 entry fee that's $48,480 even before anyone took a practice swing in the qualifying rounds over 79 courses in 37 states.

The USGA, for all its staidness, has recognized Ouimet's feat in many ways. The Open is the 10th USGA event to be held at the Country Club but it's the first National Open here since Ouimet's big break through in the horse and buggy days of 50 years ago.

Only five amateurs have won the Open. Ouimet was first, followed by Jerome Travers, Charles (Chick) Evans, Bob Jones four times and Johnny Goodman in 1933, and the last simon-pure to finish first.

About Ouimet, his mother once said:

"When he was four he whittled out a golf club and practiced with stones."

Ouimet, who turned 70 on May 8, is still polite and modest for all his success. He recalls teaming with Long Jim Barnes in the 1913 Open.

"Mr. Barnes," he said, "I hope I won't throw you off your game."

Barnes had played in the previous open and Ouimet apparently felt somewhat suppressed in his first open. Two weeks previous he had bowed to defending champion Jerome Travers 3 and 2 in the round of 16 of the National Amateur at the Garden City, N. Y., Golf Club.

But in the four rounds of the 1913 Open, Barnes finished three strokes back of Ouimet's 304 total. Vardon and Ray were already in the clubhouse, planning a two-way playoff. Word reached Ouimet and his 10-year-old caddy, Eddie Lowry, that the last six holes would have to be played in two under par for a tie.

Ouimet made the tie a three-way affair but he had to sink a 20-foot putt on the last hole to do it. He gave Lowry, now a successful San Francisco businessman, a lot of credit.

Ouimet, besides winning the 1913 Open, and 1914 Amateur, also won the 1931 Amateur. Six times he has captained The U. S. Walker Cup squad. In 1951 he became the first non-Briton ever elected captain of the Royal and Ancient Golf Club. He has all sorts of trophies for sportsmanship and meritorious service to golf and his portrait has been in the USGA Golf House in New York since 1954.

It really would be ironic if some unheralded amateur won the Open at Brookline. It seems hardly possible that a youngster can crash through such pros as Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Tony Lema, Gene Littler, Gary Player, Billy Casper and Sam Snead. But they were saying that 50 years ago when Ouimet got hot with a 72.

Tigers, Villa Acuna Tangle Here At 1:30

The Big Spring Tigers seek to improve upon a 6-3 won-lost record in a baseball double header with the Villa Acuna Chauffeurs in Steer Park here today.

The first contest gets under way at 1:30 p.m. Price of admission is 50 cents.

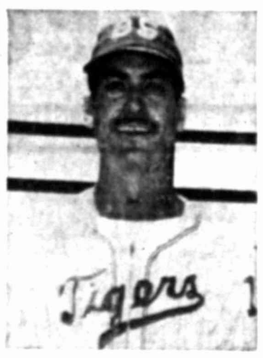

Tony Fierro will probably pitch the opening game for the Bengals while Jimmy Roger is set to face the Villa Acuna bats in the afterpiece.

The Tigers played out-of-state competition for the first time last week, at which time they hosted Loving, N. M. This will be the first time this season the Bengals have booked a team from another country.

Robert (Sonny) Dutchover will open behind the plate for Big Spring. Nick Paredez can also don the catching harness for the locals.

Manager Pat Martinez can pick his infielders from among Jimmy Fierro, Andy Gamboa, Charles Boadle, Billy Limon, Melecio Sarmiento, Joe Martinez, Herbert Perez and himself.

Outfielders on the Tiger crew include Billy Weatherall, Albert Mendoza, Tommy Arista Jr., David Holguin, Robert De La Garza and Jessie Florez.

PAT MARTINEZ

ROBERT DUTCHOVER
Aggressive catcher

Other pitchers on the Tiger rosters, in addition to Tony Fierro and Roger, include Joe Cadenhead, Horace Yanez and Charley Fierro.

Little is known of the Villa Acuna outfit. However, the Chauffeurs have been tough in other years and there is no reason to believe they've weakened their lineup to any extent.

An official program has been printed for the Bengals and will be available for the first time today.

The Tigers are striving to improve upon last year's record, at which time they finished with an 18-6 record and became recognized as one of the strongest sandlot teams in West Texas.

Cubs Handcuff Phils Behind D. Ellsworth

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Southpaw Dick Ellsworth shut out Philadelphia with a one-hit—a bunt single by Wes Covington in the fifth—Saturday and the Chicago Cubs beat the Phillies 2-0 on Andre Rodgers' home run and Ernie Banks' double.

It was a surprise fifth-inning bunt to the mound that outfielder Covington beat out by a step that spoiled Ellsworth's bid for a no-hitter.

Ellsworth, 7-3, who has the lowest earned run average in the majors, was just as stingy Saturday, but sloppy fielding by his shortstop and second baseman got him into trouble twice—in the fourth and the sixth.

Cardinals Cut Giants' Lead

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Surging St. Louis cut San Francisco's National League lead to one game as Cardinal hitters delivered in the clutch and Ron Taylor spaced 10 hits to beat the Giants Saturday 7-4.

Led by Stan Musial, who drove in three runs on three consecutive singles, the Cardinals jumped on Giant starter Jack Fisher for a run in the first.

Musial drove in a run in the first and drilled another run-scoring single in the Cardinals' big second. St. Louis got four in the second on a walk by George Altman, Tim McCarver's single, Curt Flood's double and Musial's single.

Hogan Will Play In Thunderbird

RYE, N.Y. (AP)—Ben Hogan, out of tournament competition for more than a year, has announced that he will compete in the $100,000 Thunderbird Classic Invitational Golf Tournament June 13-16.

"I'm a little rusty," Hogan told tourney director Fred Corcoran in a telephone conversation from his home in Fort Worth Saturday.

"I haven't played in some time, but I'm a little eager to get back in the swing of things competitively."

Hogan underwent shoulder surgery about a month ago to eliminate a painful condition which had sidelined him for about a year. His last serious tournament bit was an appearance in the Masters a year ago, and his last important placing was third in the Doral tournament in Florida more than a year ago.

Chicago Licks Red Sox, 3-1

Morehead, an 18-year-old right-handern suffered his fourth loss against three victories and left the game in the fourth inning after yielding two hits and five walks.

Bouton And Maris Star In Victory

CLEVELAND (AP) — New York's ace right-hander Jim Bouton belted a three-run double and teammate Roger Maris whacked a homer in the Yankees 5-2 conquest Saturday of the Cleveland Indians.

The victory, New York's 14th in the last 17 games, carried the Yanks into first place in the American League on percentage points.

The 24-year-old Bouton ran his record to 7-1, batting in four runs in the process. Dick Donovan, 2-4, was the loser and allowed six hits and four runs in the eight innings he worked.

Maris tied the game with his homer and figured in a spectacular play that kept the Indians from taking the lead.

Donovan retired 13 Yanks in a row before Maris smacked his eighth homer in the fifth.

Tommy Aaron Standout In Milwaukee Victory

MILWAUKEE (AP)—First baseman Tommie Aaron, recalled from the minor leagues only three days ago, drove in three runs and scored one Saturday in guiding the Milwaukee Braves to a 4-1 triumph over the Houston Colts.

Milwaukee right-hander Lew Burdette settled down after a jittery start in outdueling former teammate Don Nottebart and earning his first triumph since April 26.

Burdette fired a five-hitter in boosting his season record to 4-5. Nottebart's record dropped to 5-3 in a switch-pitching affair that consumed only 1 hour, 47 minutes.

The Braves decided the issue with a three-run seventh when they collected three straight hits.

Joe Torre started the rally with a looping single to center and took third on a double to left center by Don Dillar. T. Aaron, the kid brother of the Braves' more famous Hank, then tripled to left center and scored on a sacrifice fly by Denny Menke.

The Colts scored their run in the first on a sliced double by Al Spangler and Carl Warwick's single to center. Houston threatened in each of the next two innings, but Burdette managed to weather the storm and was in command from the fourth on.

Schoolboy Meet Winds Up Play

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas high school baseball tournament goes on Tuesday and Wednesday to wind up schoolboy sports for the year.

Defending champion Houston Bellaire of Class AAAA faces the team with the best record in the opening round. Bellaire, which has a 29-6 record, goes against Lubbock Monterey, which comes to the tournament with a 34-4 mark.

Lufkin, 20-4, and San Antonio Lee, 23-4, are the older AAAA teams in the tournament. They meet at 7 p.m. Tuesday with Bellaire and Lubbock Monterey clashing at 9. Bellaire was champion in 1960 and 1952.

Action in the tournament begins in the Class AAA division where there is no defending champion. At 1 p.m. Tuesday Jasper meets South San Antonio, which won the state championship in 1961. At 3 p.m. Dumas takes on Fort Worth Castleberry.

Consolation games will be played Wednesday afternoon with both championship games at night. The Class AAA title contest is set for 7 p.m. and the Class AAAA championship struggle at 9 p.m.

Friend Tames Mets, 10-1

NEW YORK (AP)—Pittsburgh's Bob Friend retired the first 17 men in succession Saturday enroute to a two-hitter while the Pirates lowered the boom on the New York Mets' pitching in a 10-1 romp.

Friend had a perfect game going until he slipped and fell attempting to field pinch hitter Ed Kranepool's tap in front of the plate with two out in the sixth. Jim Pagliaroni picked up the ball, but his throw was too late.

VENERABLE EBB AND FRIEND
Joe Leach watches dog

Ebb Is One Dog Who Likes To Explore Depth Of Lakes

Not many dogs make a practice of it—getting their heads under water.

One which does is a 12-year-old dachshund named Ebb, a part of the household of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Leach of Big Spring.

Ebb considers it great sport to go below the surface of a lake and hunt for rocks. One of his favorite hunting grounds is Lake J. B. Thomas, where the hunting (for stones) is good.

He'll loosen the rocks with his paws, grab them in his jaws and then take them to shore.

After he gets them on dry land, he loses interest in them. He hunts under water with his eyes open, too.

The Leaches have had the dog, built on the proportions of a sausage, since Joe was an athletic coach in Enid, Okla.

Leach recalls the water-loving canine found it exhilarating to get out and run with the track team, starting when the gun sounded. He never won any medals for his speed but he sent one of the Enid athletes into temporary retirement, who expressed disgust because the dog beat him to the finish line.

Ebb is no fisherman, although he does like the water. It's debatable which would be surprised the more if Ebb and a big catfish came face to face with each other—under the water.

Champion Horses To Tangle Again

NEW YORK (AP)—Candy Spots and Chateaugay, each owning one jewel on the triple crown, will slug it out in the rubber match of the Belmont Stakes, with Candy Spots favored.

Candy Spots won the Preakness after Chateaugay had scored an upset in the Kentucky Derby. They're the two top choices for the June 8 running of the Belmont at Aqueduct. But some other colt may come along to mess up the 3-year-old situation just as it was last year, and in many other campaigns going back to the days after the Civil War when the three events began.

Pure Stamina Could Determine Winner

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP)—The 78-year-old British Amateur Golf Championship returns to hallowed St. Andrews Monday and the realistic Scots are asking only one question.

Which of the eight Americans will win it?

The eight are members of the Walker Cup team which defeated the British handily at Turnberry last week, 12 matches to eight, with four matches halved.

They all displayed the kind of pressure golf which wins even if sometimes it doesn't look pretty. At St. Andrews, which started this golf lark in 1754, they do not ask how you look when you hit it. They just want to know only how many times.

The issue will be decided on the basis of pure stamina. The Old Course offers 18 of the most fearsome holes imaginable stretching a total of 6,936 yards, par 72. At match play the amateur champion must negotiate seven victories to reach the final and the entire route may be as much as 150 holes.

There are 256 entries, 39 of them Americans. Each match is over 18 holes until the final which will be 36 holes on Saturday, June 8.

Dick Davies of Pasadena, Calif. is defending the championship he won at Hoylake last year. His Walker Cup teammates at Turnberry were even more impressive so the experts have concluded it's the Americans against the field.

In the early rounds of the amateur, the American group will have some comparatively easy matches.

U.S. Amateur Champion Labron Harris, at 21 one of the youngest in the field, drew the honor of the first match Monday. He plays Paul Coste, listed from France but actually an American who is headmaster of the U.S. Air Force School in Chateauroux.

The other U.S. Walker Cup players tee off as follows:

Davies vs. Robert Goodwin of Canada; Dick Sikes, Springdale, Ark., vs. J. G. Salvesen of St. Andrews; Dr. Edgar Updegraff, Tucson, Ariz., vs. K. H. Bowden, England; Bob Gardner, Essex Falls, N.J., vs. W. D. Smith, Scotland; Charlie Smith, Gastonia, N.C., vs. M. C. Douglas, Scotland; Billy Joe Patton, Morgantown, N.C., vs. James Pirie, Scotland and Downing Gray, Pensacola, Fla., vs. C. F. Windrow, England.

Among the other Americans entered are veteran Bob Sweeny of Palm Beach, Fla., who won the British title in 1937 and was runner-up in 1946; John J. Penrose of Philadelphia, Paul (Pete) Dye of Indianapolis, Ind., Truman Connell of Jupiter, Fla., Henry Timbrook Jr. of Beverly Hills, Calif., and Alex Welsh of Rockford, Ill.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

New York Met scout John (Red) Murff, who darted in here the other day to sign Jeff Brown to a bonus contract, says the calibre of play in high school baseball has improved 'out of sight' in Texas during the past three years . . . He attributed it to the impact of major league baseball on the area, meaning a lot of young men have become conscious of the possibilities organized baseball offers since Houston was granted a franchise in the National League . . . Murff says Brown was the best prospect he's seen in District 2-AAAA among the seniors but obviously has his eye on one or two boys who will be returning to play again next year . . . Coach Julian Pressley of Odessa High strongly recommended Brown to Murff and the Mets . . . Murff, by the way, didn't get started in pro ball until he was 28 years of age . . . He has made his home in Texas City, Tex., all his life . . . Red was with the Milwaukee Braves in 1956 and '57, later put in time with Wichita, Kan.; Louisville and Jacksonville before becoming a scout . . . Don Nottebart, who pitched a no-hit game for Houston against Philadelphia this spring, never had a chance to accomplish that feat last year . . . With Milwaukee at the time, he didn't start a game but made 39 relief appearances . . . James Abbe has been managing the Cardinal team in the National Little League here going on seven years now . . . The fellow who signed Odessa's Ronnie Goodwin to a Philadelphia Eagle contract the past week was Sonny Grandelius, the former University of Colorado mentor who was sacked when officials of the Boulder school thought the NCAA was going to blow the whistle on the institution for recruiting infractions . . . Goodwin had baseball offers from four big league teams, including the New York Yankees . . . R. H. Weaver, the local barrister, who will team with former Big Springer Jake Morgan in next week's Big Spring Golf Open, three-putted four greens in his loss to Webb's G. M. Adams in the City Tournament at the Muny . . . A few years ago, Weaver relied on a battered old putter to develop the deadliest putting game in town but the iron was stolen from him.

QBC Gets Off To Good Start For Year

DOUG SANDERS

The Big Spring Quarterback Club realized about $800 from its promotion of the recent football game between the 1963 Steers and the Seniors, which will get it off to a good start for the 1963-64 school year . . . The booster organization has been dangerously close to operating in the red . . . Sale of barbecue tickets and membership ducats in August will boost the club treasury still more . . . Ray (Shorty) Snyder, the local sports enthusiast, says he was following Morris Norton and Earl Stewart Jr., in a golf match on a Breckenridge golf course one day when they teed up on a fairway that runs about 620 yards from tee to green — perhaps the longest hole in Texas . . . When the two checked on their drives, they found their balls lying side by side, touching each other . . . Beverly Rockhold, who grew up here and played athletics for Big Spring High School, welcomes coaches attending the U. S. Federation Track and Field Coaches clinic in the Oberholtzer Hall Ballroom at Houston next Thursday with his opening address . . . Rockhold is now Gulf Federation president, a job he holds in addition to his duties as track mentor at Baytown High School . . . Coaches Stan Wright, Texas Southern; Jack Patterson, University of Texas; Johnny Morris, University of Houston; Emmett Brunson, Rice University; Ty Terrell, Lamar Tech; Bill Easton, University of Kansas; and Oliver Jackson, ACC, are among the clinic instructors, along with Chick Werner, executive secretary of the U. S. Track and Field Federation . . . R. C. Moore, the local coaching aide, probably will work for Deisel Magic out of Big Spring this summer while Melvin Lindsey will be selling insurance both here and in Brownwood.

* * * *

'Shotgun' Start Won't Be Used Here

Officials in the Big Spring Golf Open have decided against using the 'shotgun' start during the meet, will instead start entries simultaneously on the first and ninth tees . . . The 'shotgun' start, of course, is when golfers tee off on all 18 holes at the same time. . . . Many of the entries, when queried, expressed sentiment against it . . . San Angelo High School has seven of the 17 boys it lettered in baseball this spring returning in 1964 . . . Four of those were regulars . . . Ronnie Henson led the batters among those returning at San Angelo, with a .347 average . . . Doug Sanders, a member of the winning tandem in the Odessa Pro-Am last year, will pass up this year's July 4-7 classic because he will be competing in the British Open at the time . . . The other member of the winning team at Odessa in 1962, Richard Crawford, has since turned pro . . . The Los Angeles Dodgers paid more than $400,000 in taxes on their baseball stadium last year and the tab will probably go up this year . . . The Dodger front office has been reluctant to supply Los Angeles county with information about the cost of their plant and their stubbornness has brought on threats of a tax penalty . . . Harold Hartman and Fagan (Moon) Mullins, the San Angelo coaching aides, have opened a driving range in that city . . . They're also building a nine-hole pitch-and-putt golf course and are installing a batting cage for those inclined toward baseball . . . Ernie Banks, the Chicago Cub slugger, says he'd like to have been a teacher had he not become a baseball player but Andre Rodgers of the same team said he probably could have earned as much as $140,000 a year in cricket had he not turned to the diamond sport . . . Steve Darden called his father, who was at work, after an American Little League game here the other night and excitedly said he 'almost' hit his first home run of the season. . . . Steve's dad, G. A., was interested for two reasons: (1) He's a parent who takes pride in his family and (2) he's the hard-working president of the league itself.

The 331st Squadron of Webb AFB bombed Pollard Chevrolet, 15-1, on the City Park diamond Friday night and continued unchecked in the American Softball League.

Winners of three straight league contests, the 331st stampeded four runs across the plate in the second inning and scored in every round thereafter.

In the evening's other contest, Forsan won its second straight bout by turning back Texas Electric, 4-0, behind the three-hit pitching of T. G. Walls.

Smith and Miller smashed home runs for the 331st in its decisive win. Only run Pollard got off Johnson, the winning flinger, was by McFaul in the first inning.

Ernest Barbee, the losing pitcher in the second engagement, accounted for two of the three hits his team got off Walls.

Forsan made the most of seven hits, including two by Bob Cowley.

Mike Robinson drove out a triple for the winners in that game while Danny Gooch and Frank Philley had doubles.

Walls fanned 14 and gave up only three walks in the seven-inning tussle.

Dietz Clouts At .400 Clip

By The Associated Press

El Paso's Dick Dietz is giving Texas League addicts visions of the first .400 hitter in 40 years.

Back in 1923 Ike Boone of San Antonio batted .402. No one has reached the magical .400 since.

But Dietz has been doing better than that all season. Currently he is clouting .414 and is 32 points ahead of second place Pete Carmona, also an El Paso player.

Carmona moved into the runner-up spot without lifting a bat. He has been out of action since May 19 but was sporting .382 at the time.

Arlo Engel, El Paso outfielder, skidded from second place to fifth as he got only two hits in 23 appearances and his .355 was good only for fifth place.

Dietz also leads in runs with 52, hits with 58, total bases with 112 and runs batted in with 43.

Joe Sparks of El Paso leads in doubles with 16 while Jose Cardenal, also of El Paso, tops in homers with 15—one more than Dietz.

Jim Wynn of San Antonio and Santos Alomar of Austin are tied for the lead in triples with seven apiece.

Rifle Buffs Flooding Mails Seeking M1's

The Postal deficit may be cured, one outdoors writer says, by the disclosure that the National Rifle Association is selling surplus .30-caliber M1 carbines to members for $20. John Wootters Jr. said the mail really has been flooding in ever since the association announced the sale of the short, rugged rifles.

M1 fans have been paying up to $90 for the rifle, Wootters said.

E. C. Smith Construction flattened Webb AFB, 8-1, and the Merchants manhandled Morton's Foods, 12-2, in Big Spring Fast Softball League games played at Webb Friday night.

Smith's has now won three straight league decisions and leads the league.

Spec Franklin fashioned the mound win, surrendering only four hits to Webb.

Ralph Murphree smashed a home run for Smith's and drove in three runs. He also scored twice.

John Terry, the losing flinger, scored Webb's lone run in the fourth on a double by Tex Mainord.

In the second game, Billy Paul Thomas set the Morton team down with five hits.

Al Kloven of Morton's and Joe Sharpnack of the Merchants bombed four-masters.

Billy Paul Thomas boosted his team's chances for a win by smashing three hits, including a triple.

Pete Cook, Oakey Hagood, Sharpnack and Jimmy Roger each had two hits for the winners, who lost their first two games and since have won two straight.

The Merchants, in coasting to their win, scored in every inning but the fifth.

The teams play again Wednesday night at the City Park, at which time Smith's clashes with the Merchants at 7:15 p.m. and Webb tries Morton's at 9 o'clock.

Cited For Ingenious Operations

R. L. Tollett, president of Cosden Oil and Chemical Company, holds an award of merit presented by Dr. Carl B. Marcum, third from left, on behalf of Combustion magazine. E. B. McCormick, chief engineer, and George Grimes, plant superintendent, also admire the award, which was only the third made over a period of many years by the magazine. Cosden was described as a one-in a-hundred plant in efficiency, ingenuity and good housekeeping.

Cosden Given Merit Award For Ingenuity In Operation

Cosden Oil & Chemical Company's imagination and ingenuity were saluted here Friday in an award ceremony arranged by Combusion Publishing Company of New York, publishers of Combustion magazine.

R. L. Tollett, president of Cosden, accepted the Award of Merit, which was given in recognition of "outstanding acheivement in industrial power plant design, operation and maintenance." Accepting with him were George Grimes, manager of refineries, and E. B. McCormick, chief engineer. The presentation was made by Dr. Carl B. Marcum, Chamber of Commerce president, on behalf of the publishers.

Cosden is one of only three companies to have received the award over a period of years. Other recipients have been the American Optical Co. of Southbridge, Mass., and the Quincy, Ill., plant of The Packaging Corporation of America. Selection is based on efficient and reliable operation, good housekeeping and maintenance, excellent records, and ingenuity in solving problems as well as frequent and fair checks on performance.

Cosden's operations will be featured in the June edition of Combusion. Members of the staff had researched the story a few months ago. Their attention focused on the advanced water conservation measures practiced by this refining - petrochemical complex in an area where water supplies have not always been adequate. Cosden's unique usage of sewage effluent, its extensive use of air cooling equipment singly and with water cooling equipment, and its new water treating system will be detailed.

In notifying Cosden officials of the honor, Joseph C. McCabe, editor and publisher, said:

"In the course of our editorial junketing we visit close to a hundred plants a year, each with some possible story to tell. It is the one in a hundred, the Cosden plant and its like, that so stands out that we feel compelled to express our esteem by this our Award of Merit."

Among those attending the luncheon at Cosden Country Club were Monroe Floyd and S. W. Seabury, both of Combustion Engineering, Inc., Dallas.

Jack Gulley, 9-Year Vet, New Cosden Traffic Chief

Jack Gulley, a nine-year veteran of Cosden, has been named traffic manager. His responsibility will be to see to the efficient movement of Cosden's products from the refineries at Big Spring and Colorado City (Col-Tex subsidiary). Motor freight shipments, distribution and supply of tank cars, airplane dispatcher, and Cosden personnel passenger service coordination, will come under his management.

Gulley will also act as liaison man between the various Cosden departments and the general traffic department of American Petrofina Company of Texas, in Dallas.

He joined Cosden in August, 1954, as a relief pilot and in asphalt sales. He was transferred in 1958 to traffic as airplane dispatcher and relief pilot, as well as traffic clerk. He holds a certificate from the College of Advanced Traffic in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Gulley and their two children, Barney, 11, and Mary Jane, 9, live at 1200 Douglas. His avocation is scouting and he is now district commissioner, Lone Star District, Boy Scouts of America.

Nationalization In Indonesia Is Agreed On

TOKYO (AP)—The American Stanvac Oil Co. and British Shell agreed today to the nationalization through purchase within the next 15 years of their refining, distribution and marketing facilities in Indonesia.

At the same time, Indonesia granted the two companies and the U.S. company, Caltex, permission to continue their $250-million-a-year crude oil production and export business over the next 20 years on a contract basis.

The companies will pay Indonesia 60 per cent of their profits and retain 40 per cent. They have operated on a 50-50 basis in recent years.

The step-by-step nationalization of the domestic facilities of the two big companies, whose business is valued at $90 million a year, climaxed hard negotiations in Indonesia and two weeks of nonstop bargaining between oil executives and Indonesian officials in Tokyo.

Under the agreement, Indonesia will take over distribution and marketing facilities within five years and acquire the refineries in 10 to 15 years. The terms of payment and the amount were not disclosed.

Mexico To Build 5 Petrochemical Plants In Reynosa

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Five petrochemical plants will be built at the refinery in Reynosa, across the Rio Grande from McAllen, Tex., officials say.

Total cost will be around 300 million pesos ($24 million). Two plants will be financed by Petroleos Mexicanos, two by Pemex with the aid of private capital, and one by private capital alone.

The plants are part of a national program to step up the petrochemical industry.

Depletion Rule Changes Reviewed

AUSTIN — Proposed changes in oil and gas depletion allowances are reviewed in the current Public Affairs Comment, bi-monthly publication of the University of Texas Institute of Public Affairs.

The author is Dr. Arthur A. Smith, economist and vice president of the Dallas First National Bank.

Dr. Smith not only summarizes the various proposals but also explains the oil industry's objections to the proposed tax revisions. He concludes:

"Oil's vital role in the nation's security makes imperative greater popular concern over the problem of future supply. Now certainly seems an inopportune time to put another obstacle in the producer's path."

Fair Share Issue Faces Panel Again

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON (AP) — That "fair share" controversy that caused a furor within the 33-state Interstate Oil Compact Commission in 1961 is back again.

Much depends on how far the dispute over equitable sharing of crude markets by the various oil states becomes involved in a new study being made of the effects of technological developments and economic changes on oil and gas conservation.

Avoidance of changes in production trends among the various states—regardless of the cause—will be difficult if the overall objectives of the study are to be met.

A request from Interior Secy. Stewart Udall prompted Gov. Matthew Welsh, D-Ind., the commission chairman, to ask seven other governors to act with him as a special study committee.

Udall's request made only indirect reference to the "fair share" controversy that gave the commission in 1961 its stormiest annual meeting in 27 years.

WITHDRAWAL?

Wyoming threatened to withdraw from the interstate advisory body but a compromise converted the dispute into an annual statistical report that apparently serves no useful purpose except as file cabinet material.

The new study suggested by Udall was more than a month old when Atty. Gen. Robert (Bobbie) Kennedy told Congress last night current conditions indicate a need for possible revision of the state - federal regulatory system. He suggested the compact be the focal point of discussions.

Both Udall and Kennedy had in mind the lack of uniform regulatory statutes among the various oil producing states. Some states limit crude production to market demand. Others do not.

Udall's letter to the commission was cautious. Kennedy's report to Congress pulled no punches.

Udall called for an alaysis of the regulation in the individual states. He said domestic production is subject to a supply control system based upon state statutes but several factors have limited the system's effectiveness.

Kennedy said flexibility permits large companies to offset production cutbacks ordered by strict proration states by boosting output in other states. Such differences in regulatory practices of the individual states, he said, places independent producers and refiners at a disadvantage.

FORUM

The Kennedy report recalled that opponents of the "fair share" study in 1961 contended such discussions were in violation of the 1935 congressional act that established the compact as a forum on oil and gas conservation matters.

"Others viewed it as an effort to coerce all states to conform to the control patterns of a few," Kennedy said. "It is clear that discussion of this kind, far from being a violation of the compact, is instead in full and realistic accord with one major purpose for which it was originally drawn."

The 1961 controversy ended when the compact abolished a subcommittee on equality of opportunity to produce.

Then the compact adopted a resolution reaffirming "its historical position that it is only an organization to make studies in oil and gas conservation and only occasionally does it deem it necessary to make recommendations to its member states."

NO INTENT

The resolution also advised the member states "and anyone else interested . . . it is not the intent, nor has it ever been the intent, nor will it ever be the intent of the commission to try to make any recommendations states will feel obligated to obey."

Even if the commission were inclined, it is not in a position to ignore Bobbie Kennedy's views.

Congress, in authorizing the compact, instructs the Justice Department to submit regular reports and recommendations on the commission's activities.

Kennedy's report, in addition to indicating the commission should attack oil industry problems more vigorously, also asks Congress to extend the compact.

Tollett To Take Earned Vacation

R. L. Tollett, president of Cosden, will be on a two-months vacation from June 1. He has accumulated four months of vacation time because of work requiring his being on the job during past vacation periods, and he says he will take the full time this year because of work-load pressures since August.

"In the past I have not taken the whole of my vacation," he said, "but this year I am going to do so. My contract with the company allows two months each year, with an accumulation of not to exceed four months.

"Because of a great deal of overtime since last August I am quite tired, and feel the need of getting away from Big Spring for about three weeks. I also have an accumulation of personal business which will require a great deal of my time for an estimated five or six weeks," he continued.

"For not more than three weeks I have plans for being in Europe where I will attend the Sixth World Petroleum Congress in Frankfurt on the Main, Germany, on my own expense.

"My son, Ray, will be touring Europe at the same time and we have arranged for our paths to cross. My daughter, her husband, and my three grandchildren will be visiting in Europe also, and I hope to spend a day or two with them while there."

Tollett said he would be in and out of Big Spring for two-thirds of his vacation time, and that he would be available on the telephone at all times.

"I hope to be by my office an hour or so each day," he said.

He said he would be able to take the time off because Cosden employes have demonstrated that they can work without close supervision and direction.

Three Wildcat Wells Completed

AUSTIN (AP) — The Railroad Commission said Saturday that three oil wildcat wells were completed during the week.

The report showed 169 oil and 69 gas wells completed.

Oil completions raised the year total to 3,544 compared to 4,274 in 1962. To date, 1,105 gas wells have been completed, compared to 1,421.

A total of 204 wells were plugged 112 of them dry holes.

Phillips Employes Place First In Safety Ratings

Employes of three major operating divisions and plants of Phillips Petroleum Company placed first in safety rankings in the National Safety Council for 1962. Six other divisions, plants and departments of the company and its wholly owned subsidiary, Phillips Chemical Company, were also recognized for outstanding safety achievements during the year.

Achieving first places in their fields were employes of the drilling division and the producing division of the exploration and production department, and of the Okmulgee, Okla., refinery. This was the producing division's second consecutive year to win this award.

Phillips Chemical Company employes at Echo plant, Orange, Tex.; Philblack plant, Borger, Tex.; and Coulee ammonia plant, Kennewick, Wash., are receiving awards from the council for completing the year without a disabling injury.

Employes of the Oklahoma district of the natural gasoline division and the Borger, Tex., refinery were presented second place awards and the company's sales department employes won third place in their respective divisions of the contest.

The company as a whole established a disabling injury frequency rate well below the industry average and 9 per cent better than the company's experience in 1961.

CAN YOU PLAN REMEDIAL WELL WORK BY GUESS AND BY GOSH?

You can. But it's expensive that way.

Successful and economical oil recovery operations depend on a thorough analysis and appraisal of down-hole conditions. That's where the Western Company comes in.

Through its "Well Evaluation Service" Western will check everything before hand: the competence of the cement, permeability of the formation, effectiveness of previous treatments and possible gas, water or oil zones. That way you know where to put your rework dollars.

When you invest in remedial operations, don't guess . . . consult your nearest Western Engineer, or meet the 'SENIORS' of the Cosden family...

L. C. CANDLER

This is the 1st in a series of special Cosden presentations recognizing the long and valued services of those employes who have been associated with the Company 15 years or longer. Cosden is proud of its scores of workers who have contributed their efforts through so many years toward the success of the Company.

Driving a transport, moving products to the market place, was Leslie C. Candler's way of life for more than two decades.

He drove for a Cosden distributor in San Angelo immediately prior to his addition to Cosden's payroll on Jan. 1, 1948. For the next nine years his driving territory included West Texas and New Mexico. His courtesy on the highway won commendation for Candler. Still in his personnel file is the letter of gratitude from two stranded Easterners whose automobile had run out of gasoline on the desolate prairie.

When the company sold its fleet of trucks, Candler became a dockman. He has been loading gasoline for six years.

Candler, a native of Hunt County, is a member of Cosden Country Club and the IOOF Lodge. Home for him and his wife, the former Lou Duren of Whitewright, is at 2511 W. 15th Street. Now that summer is here, their son, Larry, 11, will forsake Airport School and concentrate on his duties as third baseman and relief pitcher with the Delta Daggers, in the International Little League. Candler enjoys looking on during the summer, shifting to bowling in the Cosden League during the winter.

The family attends Wesley Methodist Church.

More Diplomacy By Kremlin Seen

WASHINGTON (AP)—American authorities on the Kremlin predict that the Soviet Union will step up its diplomatic activity in Western Europe in the near future, and not necessarily in a hostile fashion.

The explanation behind this course is an apparent change in Moscow's philosophy, which for years has been based on the simplification that all major international issues should be discussed directly with the United States.

According to reports carefully evaluated in Western capitals, Soviet leaders now recognize Western Europe as a powerful factor on the international scene—disregarding France's contention that there is no such thing as a political entity in Western Europe.

This new trend in Soviet thinking is privately confirmed by Communist sources. It may provide one explanation for the Soviet attitude of recent months, variously portrayed as a lull or a pause.

Although top officials at the recent Ottawa meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization ministers cautioned the members that the present lull might come to an end soon, some of the European delegates considered this line as a routine warning with little to substantiate it.

The expected Soviet diplomatic move in the European capitals will be double-barreled. First, it will be aimed at sounding out to what extent the West Europeans can act independently from Washington. Indirectly, it also will be a renewed attempt to force a wedge between the United States and its partners.

Moscow previously has probed NATO unity, of course, but this time it will do so in a period of frictions between the Atlantic partners.

This general change in Soviet thinking also has important ramifications in the nuclear field. One of them, Communist sources explain, is that Moscow now is reported to accept the thesis that a NATO nuclear force is probably the only effective way to prevent West Germany from developing its own national deterrent.

The United States has never conceded publicly that its various suggestions to create such a force were aimed at preventing Germany from pressing for its own nuclear weapons.

Washington maintains that from the military point of view the U.S. deterrent is adequate and those shaping U.S. foreign policy say the purpose of the U.S. proposals is primarily political rather than military.

Asia Awakens, Says Rev. Deats

In an appearance before members of the American Business Club at their luncheon Friday at the Settles Hotel, Rev. Richard Deats reminded his listeners of the good relations that exist between Americans and the peoples of most nations in the Far East.

A missionary for the Methodist church, Rev. Deats recently returned after a four-year tenure of duty in the Philippines. He and his family had occasion to visit several countries in Southeast Asia and in Europe before returning to Big Spring.

Rev. Deats said the problem in the Orient at this time concerned the population explosion.

He commented that the Armed Forces' policy of trying in a military court its men and women who had been accused of committing crimes against civilians, had drawn some unfavorable comment in Philippine newspapers, but it posed no major problem.

The speaker said one of the highlights of his round-the-world trip was a visit into East Berlin, where he noticed an immediate change in manners and methods for doing things.

Southeastern Asians are only now becoming aware of the world around them, according to Rev. Deats, thanks mainly to the increased use of transistor radios. Heretofore, he remarked, little news of the outside world filtered into them because of the shortage of electricity.

Friday was Ladies Day at the club and several wives of members were present. Other guests included Bob Litwin and Fred Broussard.

Better Fight Next Time, Indian Avers

LONDON (AP)—An Indian government minister claims that the Chinese Communists probably will resume their aggression but predicted India's armed forces would give a better account of themselves next time.

T. T. Krishnamachari, minister for economic and defense coordination, told a news conference that Indian forces would go over to the offensive in any future clash with the Chinese Reds.

He said U.S. and British military technicians already are in India on training missions.

Krishnamachari met newsmen after conferences with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and other British officials. He came to London after talks with officials in Australia, New Zealand, the United States and Canada who are engaged in efforts to strengthen India's defenses.

Special Assignments Handed Seven-Man Industrial Team

The Chamber of Commerce has rounded out the formation of an Industrial Team and the seven-man group will begin functioning as a unit and facing the responsibility of securing additional industrial payrolls for Big Spring, according to Dr. Carl Marcum, C-C president.

The team consists of seven men highly trained and informed in their respective areas. It is a unique group—its members are permanently appointed; its program of work is long range rather than year to year and its authority is almost autonomous in nature.

Recognizing the need for diversification in Big Spring's economy, the Chamber of Commerce under the direction of Marcum and Clyde Angel, chairman of the Industrial Committee, set up the team to function as part of the Industrial and Commercial Division.

Each member of the industrial team has been assigned a category of industrial development which he is responsible for knowing thoroughly.

Angel is in charge of financing which includes methods of financing, lease-mortgage arrangements, individuals willing to lend, local financial institutions willing to lend and limits of their capacity and acceptance of community by large insurance companies.

George Bair will head up the transportation division having complete information on the railroad serving the community, routing and connections, days in transit of freight to distant metropolitan centers, motor freight lines serving the area, schedule of pickup, terminal points, and shipping time to distant cities.

Wendal Parks is the insurance member of the team. His area of responsibility will include fire insurance—Texas key rates and explanation—local tax rates, franchise taxes, workman's compensations, unemployment security and information on local housing.

Bill Crooker will be responsible for labor information such as the survey made recently regarding availability of labor in the Big Spring area, actual going wage rates in existing industries, ratio of men to women workers in the community, labor drawing area, skills available, cooperation by local T.E.C. Office, Union activity—five year history with specific dates and facts—labor productivity and labor turnover history.

Larry Crow will handle the local government segment of the team. He will be able to furnish information concerning local government, police protection, fire protection, taxation, local government debt, Master Plan progress, municipal improvements, sanitation, traffic safety, public parks and playgrounds and water information.

D. M. McKinney will be the utility specialist with complete information on all utilities—water, sewer, telephone, gas as well as electric power.

Ike Robb will be the industrial site member with information on sites such as, sketch of each site, firm prices for property, drainage, contour maps where practical, and status of zoning on site and on sides of site.

Spruce Up, Courts Told

NEW YORK (AP)—U.S. Supreme Court Justice William J. Brennan Jr. says state courts can minimize unwanted intrusion by federal tribunals by adopting procedures that are swift, simple and free of technical pitfalls.

Brennan spoke last week at the 11th annual meeting of the Advisory Council of Judges. The council, whose 50 members are judges of federal and state courts, is an arm of the National Council on Crime and Delinquency.

Have Fun in the Sun
With Prescription or Plain-Ground Sunglasses from TSO

Summertime means more outdoor activity. Your eyes are more exposed to wind and intense sun—and they need proper care and protection. The Doctors of Optometry at TSO recommend tinted sunglasses to cut down annoying glare. ■ If your eyes need visual correction, a TSO Doctor of Optometry will examine them and fit you with proper sunglasses. Or, if you now wear glasses—whether or not they were fitted at TSO—your prescription can be duplicated for sunglasses without an eye examination. ■ And you'll find the cost most reasonable at TSO—single-vision prescription sunglasses are as low as $16.85, including professional examination, lenses and frame. ■ If you do not wear prescription glasses, you'll find a wide selection of plain-ground sunglasses to protect your eyes. Plain-ground sunglasses are as low as $4.00. ■ Enjoy fun in the sun this summer—with sunglasses from TSO. ■ Convenient credit at no extra cost. ©TSO—1963

FOUR QUEENS on four fine mounts — Miss Sue Tilson of Odessa, Miss Dolores Gober, Colorado City, Miss Sandy Pittman, Monahans, and Miss Barbara Clark, Sterling City. In step with the Wednesday parade pattern, this foursome aroused considerable admiration from the spectators.

SO LONG 'TIL '64

By KATHLEEN DOZIER

Tired, but some happier with pockets full of prize money, performers and visitors take their leave of Big Spring and the four-day rodeo gathering — some planning to meet again for next year's event.

The annual rodeo and reunion is Big Spring's way of saying "Howdy folks, we're migthy proud to have you." And each year, the young and the old get rigged out in their levis, boots, string ties and colorful trappings and travel in air conditioned comfort to mix and mingle with friends and neighbors.

"Old Paint" no longer is ridden to the big roundup; he is curried and groomed and chauffered by trailer. Things have changed but the gay old times remain the same.

Events begin with a colorful parade of banner-bearing horsemen, beautiful girls, floats and motorized units. Afterward there is real Texas-style eating and visiting preceding the opening of the championship rodeo.

On the grounds, there are high spirited, bit-chewing horses, whinnying and prancing with the excitement; small children in chaps and broad-brimmed hats, sauntering as small replicas of their elders; young couples finding secluded corners to enjoy their barbecue, beans and whispered sentiments; and the old-timers gathering at the stall with tall tales to tell and recollections of bygone days. Somehow, the observer is caught up in the whirl of activity, thrilling to the true Western flavor of the festivities.

BIG SPRING, TEXAS, SUNDAY, JUNE 2, 1963

MRS. DAVID DWIGHT McELREATH

Trinity Baptist Church Scene Of Nuptial Rites

Miss Vickie Diane Deel and David Dwight McElreath exchanged marriage vows Friday evening at 8 o'clock at the Trinity Baptist Church. The Rev. L. J. Power officiated in the double ring ceremony, performed before an arch of greenery. Baskets of white gladioli flanked the nuptial scene.

The couple's parents are Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Deel, 909 E. 16th St., and Mr. and Mrs. H. D. McElreath, 2200 Nolan.

Miss Dixie Todd, organist, provided a program of wedding music and accompanied Mrs. Floyd Williams and Miss Arlene Hartin who sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "Together."

Guests were registered in the church foyer by Mrs. Roy Deel.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown fashioned of white lace and net. The molded lace bodice was styled with long tapered sleeves, scalloped neckline and sweeping, hooped skirt of tiered lace and net. Her tiered veil of illusion was attached to a jeweled coronet. She carried an all - white bouquet of feathered carnations centered with a gardenia.

ATTENDANTS

Mrs. Richard Dennis, the bride's sister, was matron of honor. She wore an aqua, cotton sheath styled with a matching overskirt. Her flowers were long-stemmed red roses.

Bridesmaids, also wearing aqua sheaths, were Miss Jan Turney, Miss Donna McDonald and Miss Linda Gilstrap. Each carried a single red rose.

Best man and groomsmen were Roy Deel, Donald and H. D. McElreath, brothers of the couple, and Ricky Henderson. Mike Deel and Festus McElreath, also brothers, were the ushers.

Cheryl Ann Dennis, the bride's niece, was flower girl, and the ring bearer was Warren Allen Dennis, a nephew of the bride.

WEDDING TRIP

The couple left afterward on a wedding trip to the Fort Worth-Dallas area. For travel the bride wore an aqua suit and white accessories.

Arlington is where the McElreaths will make their home at 408 N. Center.

The bride, a graduate of Big Spring schools, is a former employe of C. R. Anthony Co. The bridegroom, a graduate of Forsan High School, attends the Bible Baptist Seminary in Arlington.

Teens Enjoy The Volunteer Jobs

There are thousands of volunteer jobs for teen-agers and many of the teen-agers who take a volunteer job for the summer find the work interesting, socially useful and it provides a realistic, close-up picture of possible career fields.

Among national organizations that have active volunteer programs are the Red Cross, the United Community Funds and Councils of America, and the American Hospital Association. In many areas the minimum age for volunteers is fourteen. However, thirteen-year-olds are accepted in some places, and the Red Cross has recently eliminated minimum ages.

The kinds of jobs available are almost unlimited. Specific assignments usually depend on the age and maturity of the volunteer. For example, in the Detroit School Program, sponsored by the United Community Services of Metropolitan Detroit, fourteen-year-olds help with young children in a settlement house and in recreation programs for handicapped children.

Fifteen-year-olds help chaperon children on trips and tours, while sixteen-year-olds serve as junior counselors in day camps and coach team sports. Older teens assist in a clinical laboratory in a training school for the retarded and help with infants in the nursery of a children's home.

WEBB WINDSOCK

By MARGE LYNCH

This has been a long and busy weekend for most of us with the 30th Annual Rodeo opening here on Wednesday night and the Memorial Day holiday on Thursday. The parade began the festivities on Wednesday afternoon with many base children in attendance. A group from Hammer Flight met at the park for the barbecue dinner, with plans to attend the rodeo that evening. But when it began to rain, they moved over to Capt. and Mrs. George Fortner's for an impromtu party.

Friday evening Lt. and Mrs. Howard E. Lynch had a party for members of Hammer Flight and other friends. A variety of dips and chips were served on a table spread with cloth of blue and white checks. Some 30 guests played charades and password, along with lively conversation.

We have some visitors in Big Spring this week. Lt. and Mrs. Robert Wray have as their guest, his mother, Mrs. Richard Wray from Cincinnati, Ohio. While she is here, they plan to drive to El Paso. Lt. and Mrs. John Greaud entertained them recently at a barbecue chicken dinner Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. William D. Humphrey are here from Fair Oaks, Calif., visiting their son and daughter-in-law, Capt. and Mrs. John R. Humphrey.

Capt. and Mrs. William H. Huss entertained members of Green Flight and other friends at a Saturday evening cocktail party. It was held in a private party room at the Settles Hotel where a table of baked ham, iced shrimp and turkey, potato chips and dip were laid to whet the appetites of their guests.

A pink baby shower was given for Mrs. Robert L. Ladd at the home of Mrs. Ronald E. Storz with Mrs. Richard C. Swainston as cohostess. A smiling pink cat was the centerpiece surrounded by pink petit-fours and pink punch.

Capt. and Mrs. Richard H. McManigell are entertaining Capt. and Mrs. H. O. Ulvila for a few days this week. The Ulvilas are en route to England AFB, La., where he will fly the F-100. Mrs. Ulvila is the sister of Mrs. McManigell.

The Big Spring Country Club was the scene of a dinner party honoring Capt. and Mrs. James M. Gehrig. It was given by the academic instructors and their wives.

The last OWC luncheon of this year will be this Thursday at the Officers Club. The old OWC board will be the hostess group, with entertainment to be a review of Jean Kerr's delightful book, "Please Don't Eat The Daisies," by Mrs. Clyde Angel. We would like to remind the nurses at the base hospital that they are welcome to this luncheon, as they are to all OWC functions. Reservations must be made before noon Tuesday, June 5. Please call Mrs. Dick Wilson, AM 4-8102 or Mrs. K. A. Cunningham, AM 4-4467 to make your reservations.

The Thrift Shop will have new days and hours of operation beginning June 3. They are Wednesdays and Fridays from 1000 to 1300.

A final reminder — the Family Service Orientation Course will be held on June 18, 19 and 20, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Free nursery at the base for those attending the course.

In Summer School

FORSAN (SC)—Mrs. Bill Conger and children, William and Bettye, are in Alpine for the first six-week semester of summer school at Sul Ross. Both Mrs. Conger and her son will attend.

Jim Childress is to attend summer classes in Denton.

The Groom Is A Lady

TORONTO (AP)—One glance is all it takes to realize that Connie Winslow doesn't fit the stereotyped image of the groom who tends horses at a thoroughbred racing stable.

For one thing, Connie isn't middle-aged, as most grooms seem to be. Connie is an attractive 19-year-old miss.

It's an unusual job for a young lady but she explains that she simply loves horses, especially thoroughbreds, and was willing to take any sort of work to be near them.

She adds that she, her mother and brother moved here to be around race horses.

Connie is employed as a groom at the public stable owned by Gordon Huntley. She also walks "hots," horses that must be cooled out after workouts, and gallops and exercises mounts for the stable.

She has done some riding at Gymkhanas and at barrel races, where you ride around strategically placed barrels in much the way that a skier navigates a slalom course.

MRS. WESLEY WEEMS WILLIAMS III

Miss Turner Bride Of Wesley W. Williams

The marriage of Miss Sheila Jean Turner and Wesley Weems Williams III was solemnized the evening of June 1 at 8 o'clock in the Stanton Methodist Church. The double ring service was read by Tommy Williams, minister of the Church of Christ.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Alton Turner and Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Williams Jr., all of Stanton.

In the sanctuary, the candle-lined altar rail was banked with greenery. Vows were pledged before an arch of fern and white pompons, flanked by baskets of white gladioli. Windows of the church were illumined with lighted tapers.

Miss Kay Bryan sang "Because," "The Lord's Prayer," and "Whither Thou Goest," with organ and piano accompaniment by Miss Phyllis Long and Miss Joanna Epley.

Entering the sanctuary with her father, who gave her in marriage, the bride wore a formal gown of Chantilly lace over peau de soie. It was styled with a Sabrina neckline enhanced by seed pearls, long lace sleeves tapered to petal points, and bouffant skirt which was banded in lace and bustled. From the large flat bow of lace and seed pearls the skirt folds extended into a chapel train. The bridal bouquet, a cascade of white rosebuds centered with an orchid, was carried with a white, lace-covered Bible. In keeping with tradition she had something old, new, borrowed and blue.

Miss Pam Williams of Stanton, the bridegroom's sister, was maid of honor. Her formal gown was of lilac chiffon over taffeta. The fitted bodice was accented with a high, draped cummerbund. The cowled neckline was formed of chiffon which ended in a soft drape at the back. A miniature scrolled coronet, detailed with seed pearls, secured a veil of imported silk illusion. Her flowers were a bouquet of white mums tied with orchid streamers.

Bridesmaids, in identical attire, were Miss Claudeen Nowlin, Miss Nancy Graves and Miss Shirley Graves. The junior attendant was Deborah Turner, the bride's sister.

Tommy Ray of Austin was best man, with Mike Black, Stanton, Wayne Donahoo, Lubbock, and Fred Pierce, Pecos, serving as ushers.

RECEPTION

The reception was held afterward in the Caprock Electric Cooperative Bldg. The couple, the parents and the bride's attendants, as well as Mrs. Cora Turner and Mrs. Dewey Williams, grandmothers of the bride and bridegroom, were in the receiving line.

Guests were registered by Miss Karen Lawson, Big Spring. The bride's table was covered with a white linen cutwork cloth over orchid. A white memory candle and the bouquets of the bride's attendants formed the centerpiece. A miniature bride and groom topped the bride's three-tiered, white frosted cake.

The bridegroom's table, also covered with linen cutwork over orchid, was appointed with silver. The cake was shaped in double rings.

Members of the houseparty were Mr. and Mrs. Leon Graves, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Graves, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Nowlin, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Kelly, all of Stanton.

Guests attended from Midland, Odessa, Big Spring, Putnam, Amarillo, Pecos, Austin and Stanton.

WEDDING TRIP

Leaving on the wedding trip to Ruidoso, N.M., the bride chose for travel a mauve-toned, silk linen suit, white patent accessories and the orchid from her bouquet. Her hat was of orchid-tinted silk organza.

The couple will return to make residence at 505 College, Apartment 1, Lubbock.

The bride attended Stanton schools and will continue her studies at Lubbock High School. A graduate of Stanton schools, the bridegroom is a student at Texas Technological College majoring in accounting. He is a member of Delta Sigma Pi, professional business fraternity.

Only Woman In Open Heart Field

Dr. Nina Starr Braunwald is the only woman in the United States, and probably in the world who does open-heart surgery on a regular basis. She has performed well over 100 such operations since she joined the National Heart Institute's surgery branch in 1958.

Home, after a full day in the hospital, she romps with the children and then prepares dinner when Dr. Gene arrives. Steak is her favorite, since it is quick and hard to ruin. After the children are tucked in, Nina and Gene may go back to their offices, or they may spend the evening with their hi-fi set. "I've never been in a night club in my life," she remarked.

"Fiercely protective of her family, yet dedicated beyond the ordinary call to her unique career, Nina feels she is getting the best of both worlds," an article in Good Housekeeping magazine says.

Tea Time

Their Cloud Nine Was Named Big Spring

By JO BIGHT

J. M. Townes has his head in the clouds a great deal of the time, but when he isn't piloting his family around the country, he's a practical, down-to-earth businessman.

Take, for instance, the way he decided to move his family to Big Spring. Mr. and Mrs. Townes and their children, Jimmy and Sally, lived in Fort Worth at one time. Townes was with the Greyhound Bus Co. for 23 years before resigning to start his own business.

Moving to Port Arthur, the Townes opened a quick car wash which they operated in the coastal city for four years. Maybe the fog got too heavy or the mosquitoes too big, but in any case, they longed for the old "home town" again. The return to Fort Worth was disillusioning. Big city life had lost it's charm — everyone was in a hurry — but not the Townes.

Townes said they just "bummed around" for the next year or so, deciding where they wanted to settle. He went into the construction business and built several nice homes, before ending up in Andrews.

RESETTLED

That's when they did some research on Big Spring. By checking various publications and other information sources at their disposal, the conclusion was made that Big Spring was a stable business town, growing and prospering. That settled it. Mr. and Mrs. Townes purchased a new home at 2602 Carol, moved in on May 11, and have kept the coffee pot hot for neighbors ever since.

With resettling taken care of, Townes is concentrating on opening another quick car wash business. The land has been purchased but needs to be cleared of old structures. The new building should be completed before summer ends. In this type of wash operation, an estimated 20 people would be employed at peak times, according to Townes. In assembly line fashion, the car could be washed and dried in about five minutes. The business should be ready for a formal opening long before fall.

TRAVEL BY AIR

Even after spending so many years associated with the bus company, Mr. and Mrs. Townes think the best way to travel is by plane. Recently their Cessna almost reached the point of no return. Rather than pay for expensive repairs, they sold it before moving here, hoping to buy another before long. Besides flying, Mrs. Townes lists another hobby — china painting. Her collections of plates could pass for antiques because of the soft, pastel tones she has used to give them an old-fashioned look.

Jimmy, 17, makes photography his hobby. His was the deciding vote when their home was purchased, because he had his eye on a large walk-in closet that was immediately made into a darkroom. He hopes to get a part-time job this summer which will utilize his knowledge of photography.

Sally, 14, is a country girl at heart. She is getting ready to spend the summer at her grandparents home where there will be woods to explore and maybe a calf to pet.

Warm and outgoing, the Townes family has traveled much, and feel that they have found a home in Big Spring.

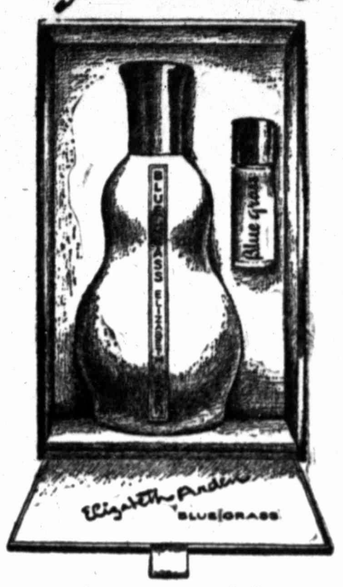

Forsan Homes Are Scenes Of Parties

MRS. JAMES M. MARROW

Marriage Solemnized At West Side Church

Marriage vows were pledged Saturday evening at 8 o'clock by Miss Judy Anderson and James Milton Marrow in a ceremony at the West Side Baptist Church. The Rev. Kenneth Andress, pastor, officiated in the double ring service.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Anderson, 811 Lancaster, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. James E. Marrow Jr., Levelland.

The altar scene was centered with an arch of greenery, flanked by baskets of gladioli and palms. Miss Marian Walker, organist, provided traditional wedding music and accompanied Jesse McElreath who sang "I Love You Truly" and "The Wedding Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, entered the sanctuary wearing a gown of white silk organza and Chantilly lace fashioned with bateau neckline of scalloped lace, long tapered sleeves and molded bodice. The floor length skirt of silk organza over taffeta and net was detailed with appliques of lace. She wore an elbow length veil of white tulle secured with a tiara of pearls, and carried white pompon mums centered with a white orchid. In keeping with tradition, she had something old, new, borrowed and blue.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Susan Montgomery of Alamogordo, N.M., was maid of honor. Her dress and accessories were of mint green hue, and she carried a matching bouquet of mums. Miss Gaye Marrow of Levelland, sister of the bridegroom, and Carolyn Cross of Big Spring, bridesmaids, were dressed in identical fashion.

Lewis White of Keller served as best man, and groomsmen were James Anderson, brother of the bride, and Don Carter of White Deer. Ushers were Donnie Anderson, Ronnie Anderson and Barney Edens, cousins of the bride.

Tina Walker was the flower girl, with Danny Edens, the bride's cousin, acting as ring bearer.

RECEPTION

Miss Annette Edens and Miss Karen Champion registered guests for the reception which was held afterward at the church.

The refreshment table, spread with a white grass-linen cloth, was centered with a bouquet of carnations. The three-tiered wedding cake was frosted in white and mint green and crowned with wedding bells.

Those who served in the house party were Mrs. James Anderson, sister-in-law of the bride, Mrs. W. E. Anderson, and Mrs. B. K. Edens, aunts of the bride.

Guests included Danny Marrow, the bridegroom's brother, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Mitchell and daughter, Kathy, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Mitchell, grandparents of the bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Marrow and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Phillips, all of Levelland, and Sue and Karen King, Frances Lafferty and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cozby, all of Alamogordo, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Thomas and family of Wichita Falls, and Mr. and Mrs. Hal McEntire and family of Alamogordo.

WEDDING TRIP

The couple left afterward for Galveston. The bride's costume for traveling was a mint green silk dress and white accessories.

SQUADRON SCROLL

Class Election And Vacations Reported

By NANCY FRANCO

Tuesday, the wives of Class 64-D held elections at the home of Mrs. K. D. Robinson. Mrs. H. L. Seale was elected class coordinator; Mrs. G. H. Johnson, elected secretary - treasurer; Mrs. P. E. Bay, games chairman; Mrs. R. E. Vick and Mrs. T. W. Nelson, telephone chairmen; Mrs. G. N. Beson, entertainment chairman; and Mrs. J. E. Hendrickson, class reporter. The gals cast their ballots while enjoying chips and dip and iced tea.

Visiting Lt. and Mrs. H. L. Seale is Mrs. Seale's 12-year-old sister, Kay Perritt, from Lake Charles, La. Miss Perritt is planning to stay for at least a month in Big Spring.

Lt. and Mrs. W. C. Wirstrom took advantage of the holiday weekend to visit Mrs. Wirstrom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Guillory, in Ruston, La. The Wirstroms will introduce their two-month-old son, Mike, to his new relatives in the Ruston area.

This weekend, many members of the student squadron attended the Big Spring Rodeo. For many of us who are new to the West, this was our first opportunity to see a real live rodeo. Watching the events in person is certainly more exciting than seeing a rodeo show on TV, and everyone who took advantage of the opportunity agreed that they spent a most enjoyable time there.

'Garb Fest' Theme At ABWA Meeting

"Garb Fest" was the theme of the social meeting held Tuesday evening by Scenic Chapter members of the American Business Women's Association in the Community Room of First Federal Savings and Loan Bldg.

During previous meetings members bought sacks of old clothing, unseen, from fellow members. For the social gathering, the sacks were opened and the women wore the garments, calling themselves "The Ladies from Beverly Hills."

Following games, refreshments were served to 30 members and guests. Hostesses were Mrs. Janie Huffstetler and Mrs. Sherrill R. Farmer.

An election and installation of officers will be held in the Blue Room of Cosden Country Club June 4. Members were reminded to make reservations as soon as possible.

Queen contestants for the 1963 Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo were entertained at special affairs during the week in conjunction with the annual event.

A barbecue was held Wednesday honoring the contestants and queens. The young ladies were guests of the Chamber of Commerce Thursday for a luncheon served at the Big Spring Country Club. A swimming party followed, at the ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Patterson.

Miss Sabbato was hostess Thursday evening for a slumber party in her parents' home at 100 Lincoln St.

At 10 o'clock Saturday morning, Miss McNew, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rube McNew, complimented the group with a brunch at the McNew home.

Preceding the final performance of the rodeo Saturday evening, the queen contestants, their escorts and parents were honored guests at a dinner at Cosden Country Club.

Champion In Rodeo

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Three years ago, Laura Roberts could barely ride a horse. Now she's the champion barrel racer of the Interstate Rodeo Association.

Her husband, Lee Bob, 25, taught Laura to ride and now both participate in rodeos. He is a calf roper, his 23-year-old wife a barrel racer.

Both are employed by an oil company here, but still manage to get to at least two rodeos a week from April to September. Last year Laura won $2,193 in barrel races at about 50 rodeos, mostly in Oklahoma, Missouri, Kansas, Arkansas and Texas.

That gave her the rodeo association's world champion title in barrel racing, plus a roomful of trophies and prize saddles.

Laura says, however, that about half the credit goes to her quarter horse, Brownie, which she rides around the varying courses in the rodeo races.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white satin gown, fashioned with an overlay of Chantilly lace. The scooped neckline was outlined in a lace pattern of seed pearls. Pearls also formed the tiara which secured her waist length veil of lace net, and she wore a pearl necklace brought from Japan as a gift from her father. The bridal bouquet of white carnations centered with white rosebuds was carried with a white Bible, a gift from Mrs. Earl Digby of Lamesa.

Miss Pam Daratt, attired in a blue taffeta dress, was the maid of honor. Her flowers were white carnations. Aaron Wilemon served as best man.

The refreshment table, spread with white linen, was centered with an arrangement of white carnations. The bride's three-tiered cake was frosted white and embossed with blue roses. Bride and groom figurines were placed on the top tier.

Guests were registered by the bride's sister, Miss Vivian Ann Dickson. Other members of the house party were Miss Claudia Jolley, Miss Donna Jean Boren, the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Jimmy Hill and Mrs. R. H. Harter.

WHY FARMERS AREN'T WORRYING ABOUT MOISTURE
But it is causing them to fret about getting into fields

Farmers Would Like Hot Growing Weather

If Howard County cotton farmers could have their "druthers," they would like to see bright sunshine, warm temperatures and no rain or wind through June 21.

Three weeks of rainless weather with the sun beaming steadily would do wonders for the cotton crop and almost put it in shape to go through the entire summer, Herb Helbig, county farm agent, said Saturday.

This is the time of decision for a lot of farmers, Helbig pointed out. These are the growers who planted early and who are now faced with deciding whether it is better to go ahead with the stands they have or whether to replant.

Whichever decision the farmer reaches he must reach it soon, said Helbig. Ideally, the deadline for cotton planting is June 1. Actually, the margin is not that narrow.

MOSTLY PLANTED

"Probably 90 per cent of the cotton fields in the county are now planted," he said. "Scores of farmers who had not planted earlier or whose original stands were depleted by the sands and rain of May have now completed replanting. Others will finish the job in the next day or two."

He said that he passed one farm —that of James Coates, 10 miles northeast of town — last week where five tractors were in action. He said the scene on the Coates' farm was typical of the agricultural activity over the entire county.

Sand blasting caused heaviest damage to the young cotton already planted and up during May. There was some washing from the heavier rains and some fields where the plants were burled.

WATER BLIGHT

Since the rains, there have been farms where water blight has showed up. This disease can be so difficult as to make replanting of the field the only solution. Some control can be put on the blight by intensively cultivating the fields. The best remedy would be a few hot days of bright sunshine, Helbig said.

The soil generally is in excellent condition for moisture. The rains of May have fallen in nearly every section of the county in sufficient volume to put the ground in good shape.

"We can go through all of June and deep into July in most parts of the county without trouble even if there is no more rain," said Helbig.

ABOVE AVERAGE

Historically, June is just about as rainy as May in this county. The average for the past 63 years for May has been 2.86; June's average is 2.14 inches. Last year, May had only .31 inch while June had 1.26.

May rainfall at the U. S. Experiment Station through Friday stood at 3.88 and total rain for the year was 8.13 inches. For the same period last year, the total was only 1.69. Many parts of the county have received much more moisture than Big Spring. Knott and the northwest corner of the county, however, probably have received less than fell in town. The northeast and southeast sections of the county have had much more rain than has been gauged at the experiment station, farmers report. The south edge is wetter.

RANGES TRANSFORMED

Helbig said that the rains have worked wonders on rangeland. Grass is flourishing and cattle are full of bloom. No water shortage in stock tanks exists, but due to the lack of runoff, the tanks are not too well filled.

Helbig said that where stands of cotton are already up, farmers are doing a lot of sand fighting. They hope the tender young plants can get firmly enough started before any more sand storms hit.

Grain crops are well in the ground, and many farmers report excellent stands. The main worries now are the possibility of hail or bugs.

Junior Volunteers To Help At VA

Nearly 100 Junior Volunteer workers are expected to take part in an orientation and training program which will be held Monday at the Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital.

The program begins at 9 a.m. with general orientation in the recreation room at the hospital. James Kilgore, administrative assistant to the chief of staff, will preside over the session. Hospital officials will welcome the new workers and heads of the various sections in which volunteers work and will discuss their departments.

The afternoon portion of the program, beginning at 1 p.m., will include a tour of the hospital, refreshments and assignment to a work area.

"The volunteers need not have signed up to take the orientation. They may join at the class," Mrs. Ara Cunningham, director of voluntary service, said.

She said 70 juniors have already been assigned to work, but numerous others are needed.

Areas in which additional workers are needed are: dietetics one; engineering office three, plumbing three, maintenance and mechanics three, boiler plant eight, electrician shop three, carpenter shop two, paint shop three, air condition shop two, nursing escort service seven, nursing service three and nine in the radio room.

Other areas are registrar five, supply stock room four and supply office three. Physical medicine and rehabilitation requirements are for four young men who are golfers and who can give patients pointers in the subject.

Another orientation is slated Friday at 9 a.m. for homemaking students who will miss the Monday session because of conflict with summer classes.

Summer Recreation Signup Set For Friday, Saturday

Staff members buckle down the latter part of this week to train for the annual Citywide Summer Recreation program. Then on Friday, the signup for youngsters will be held.

Joe Leach, who is coordinating the program, said that advance interest appears to be at the highest level in years. The staff, now complete, will go into training Wednesday at the YMCA.

Registration will take place at the YMCA from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Friday for youngsters living on the south side of town, and on Saturday from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. This program is open to all boys and girls.

Those residing in the northern part of the city will sign up at the Lakeview YMCA on June 10, the day of the first classes.

For all there will be a $1 fee to cover part of the cost of materials. Non-members of the YMCA will be assessed $1 to cover all their swimming pool fees during the summer program. Leach emphasized, however, that no youngster will be turned away because of inability to pay.

The cost of the program, including staff, transportation by bus, most materials, etc., is borne jointly by the City of Big Spring, the United Fund, the Big Spring Independent School District, and the YMCA.

Leach, physical education secretary at the Y, has been named by Fran Flint, general secretary, to direct the summer program, which is open to all youngsters in the city.

The starting date is June 10, delayed for a week in order to avoid conflict with Vacation Bible Schools in the various churches, said Leach. His staff members include Oakie Hagood, Jane Dodson, Sam Dawson, Marilyn Gum, Jean Oliver, Humberto Hernandez, Jim Smith, Ernie Hobbs, Terry Patterson, Joanna Patterson.

Texas Business Outlook Good

AUSTIN (AP) — The Bureau of Business Research at the University of Texas says the business outlook for Texas is good.

"There is a general feeling of optimism among business analysts with regard to the national business picture, and the barometers for Texas business generally indicate a somewhat improved prospect for the state's economy" the report said.

Bank debits in 20 Texas cities increased 13 per cent from March to April to a record high.

"The improvement in the level of Texas business tends to parallel the rising trend of business for the country as a whole," the bureau said. "Personal income in the United States set a new record in April, due to expanded employment."

The bureau said the rate at which industry is expanding is "one of the most important factors in the Texas business picture, and prospects for a healthy increase in this segment of the economy look favorable."

The bureau said some agencies expect a record high $39.1 billion to be spent during 1963 in capital spending.

"Capital expenditures made in Texas have in the past been closely related to the national totals, so it is reasonable to conclude that industrial expansion will become an increasingly important element in the Texas business picture," the bureau said.

The bureau said that of 20 Texas cities reporting business activity was down 1 per cent.

Increases from March to April included: Abilene, 17 per cent; Amarillo, 15; Austin, 3; Beaumont, 11; Corpus Christi, 6; Corsicana, 3; Dallas, 27; El Paso, 9; Fort Worth, 10; Galveston, 15; Houston, 11; Laredo, 5; Port Arthur 3; San Angelo, 8; San Antonio, 13; Texarkana, 20; Tyler, 8; Waco, 4; and Wichita Falls, 10 per cent.

Hearings Called On Zone Change

Public hearings have been called by the Big Spring Planning and Zoning Commission on five zone change requests, and have been set for 5:15 p.m. June 4 in the city commission room.

Developers of the Coronado Hills subdivision are requesting a zone change, from residential to commercial, on a tract of land south of Marcy Drive, east of the first alley east of Wasson Road, and north of an alley north of the residential area. The tract is south of, and adjoins a commercial zone area at the southeast corner of the intersection of Marcy and Wasson.

Clyde Brown, attorney representing developers, has requested a zone change from residential to retail on two tracts at Marcy and Muleshoe Lane. Two and a half acres are east of Muleshoe Lane and south of Marcy, and three and a half acres are west of Muleshoe and south of Marcy.

Omar Jones has requested a change from residential to retail zoning on five acres at the southeast corner of the intersection of Marcy and Virginia.

A request for a zone change, from residential to neighborhood serving, has been made by Al Milch on a two-acre tract in the northeast corner of the intersection of Birdwell Lane and East Twenty-fifth Street.

Notices have been mailed to all property owners within 200 feet of the tracts on which zone changes have been requested.

Bales produced with GIBREL (PLANT GROWTH SUBSTANCE) pack $50-75 more profit

Four years' field experience confirms that GIBREL makes extra cotton. In 1962 the average was 68 pounds per acre and some top producers made up to 200 pounds extra lint. These extra pounds from spraying GIBREL cost a low 6¢ per pound. Bales produced with GIBREL may look the same as others at the gin BUT they pack extra easy profits.

As added incentive you'll get your crop earlier because GIBREL keeps cotton green and growing in spite of the stress of fruiting or drought. GIBREL promotes wider branching, added bolls and heavier boll loads. Obviously you can't increase your cotton acres but you can increase the pounds of lint per acre with GIBREL. In actual dollars, GIBREL for spraying costs $4.00 per acre. Fifteen added pounds of lint per acre pays for this program. You stand to gain much more. What other production practice gives you a better payoff? You can spray versatile GIBREL by airplane or ground rig. For a single application use ½ to 1 pint of GIBREL per acre when squaring starts. A spraying lasts up to three weeks so it's generally better to use GIBREL a second time and get six weeks of continuous boll development.

Now just one more important fact. If you're like most cotton growers, you won't be able to see the extra cotton in your fields. BUT that low cost lint sure shows up at the gin! Remember GIBREL this year—the nontoxic growth-stimulant, chemically related to the naturally occurring growth hormones. It's fully field-tested to provide earlier cotton maturity; cheap insurance against early freeze-up; and plenty of 6¢ cotton. Make sure your dealer has GIBREL. Then show your neighbors how to overcome the allotment handicap.

PRAYER: Father, we thank Thee for the gift of the Holy Spirit. Enable us to come to Jesus in faith and love to receive the power of the Holy Spirit, that we may tell others about Jesus and His wonderful salvation. In His name. Amen.

One Of Our Greatest Assets

A summary of state (state and federal) highways in Howard County shows 258 miles of all-weather roads improved and maintained by the Texas Highway Department. It would be difficult to place a value on the system, for it would likely exceed $5,000,000 not including the federal aid roads (US 87 and IS 20).

It would be even more difficult to place a value on the contribution that these roads make to our economy, let alone the comfort and convenience, of our people. The State Highway Department has referred to these roads as the state's greatest "fringe benefits." We disagree with that—they rank as one of the state's greatest direct assets.

Naturally, the roads are laid out in a network to help people to get from one point to another by the quickest and safest route, but were these in Howard County crossed in checkerboard fashion, few points in the county would be more than 2½ miles from state pavement.

This is a splendid system, and one which even now is being expanded and improved. Aside from the IS 20 loop at the north edge of town, we have on the boards an extension of FM 700 from its east underpass northwestward to a juncture at the Gail-Snyder highway intersection. We also have coming up this year a multiland overpass on Gregg Street.

About the only point where any of the array of roads is possibly substandard is a 25-mile stretch from Big Spring on State 179 (Andrews road) to the juncture with the Stanton - Lamesa road. West of that point to Andrews the road is wide and has paved shoulders. From that point to Big Spring, it is seemingly narrow with hazardous shoulders.

Eager Hands Want Something To Do

A mother calls to ask if there isn't some way to find summer jobs for boys in their upper teens. Modest pay checks would help, but time constructively spent is almost as important, if not more so in some cases.

This is a perennial question, and we don't have the answer. There are limitations on what lads are equipped to do, and there are limitations, too, on what laws will let them do. And sometimes where minimum wages are imposed, the businessman finds that he cannot afford "make work" summer jobs for youths. So it looks like many things conspire against boys who would like to turn their hands to some constructive, remunerative task.

Nevertheless, we hope that those who possibly can will make use of these young men. Probably they have a backlog of direct applications, but if not, a call to the Texas Employment Commission would get quick results. Perhaps other agencies, the Chamber of Commerce, etc. would be happy to help.

Where it is impossible to obtain gainful employment but young people want to occupy their time and hands constructively, we suggest volunteer service at either the VA Hospital or the state hospital. There are other areas for utilizing this generous service, such as churches, welfare institutions, etc. The pay doesn't add much to the pocketbook, but it does make the heart bigger and warmer.

New Taxes On Employe Benefits

WASHINGTON — The House Ways and Means Committee, at the instigation of the Kennedy administration, has opened up a Pandora's box of troubles for certain American taxpayers. Millions of persons will discover for the first time that they have been evading taxes and are delinquent on what the government is entitled to collect from them.

The Treasury Department, at the request of the President, asked Congress the other day to require the payment of income taxes by certain individuals who receive life-insurance policies from their employers.

ALTHOUGH NOT a cent of the money is received by the employe and the proceeds are paid to his family after his death, the Kennedy administration wants the amount of the premiums paid by the employer each year to be taxed as income to the worker just the same as if these were paid in the form of wages.

Although no money is handled and no cash benefit of any kind is received by the employe, there is to be a tax on premiums over and above a certain amount of life-insurance protection. The administration wanted to fix the exempted amount of the policy at $5,000, but members of Congress are balking and want to set the limit of exemption at a much higher figure.

THE PRINCIPLE involved, however, is what will provoke widespread uneasiness concerning all the benefits now given by the employer to the employe which are not in the form of cash. Thus, here are some of the items on which many individuals are not making out a complete return and are presumably delinquent on what they really owe the Treasury:

1. All seniority rights in employment or lay-offs—recognized and granted by an employer whether or not at the behest of a union—are taxable unless Congress specifically exempts them. For this is a form of protection like life insurance—a system of job insurance covering certain industries.

2. THE CHECKING off of labor-union dues each week is a service for employes, and a proportionate share of the cost would be taxable income to each employe unless exempted by Congress. The same would apply to authorized deductions for charitable contributions or purchase of government bonds.

3. Luncheons provided by an employer at the factory or in the office, and any facilities for the eating of the lunches employes bring, constitute benefits on which the individual owes taxes unless Congress now exempts them by law.

4. PARKING FACILITIES, involving the outlay of large sums of money each week, are provided by many employers. The amount, when divided among the employes using the parking lot, constitues income to the employe. Since Congress has not passed a law exempting such income, the workers using the facilities are really obligated to ascertain the sums due and include them in gross income.

5. The services of secretaries or stenographers in handling personal correspondence for executives as part of their jobs can be calculated, and the cost of the time attributable to work done for individual executives can legally be taxed as a form of income paid by the employer to these executives.

6. GIFTS MADE by employers at Christmas time are not gifts in a legal sense. Unless all of these are specifically exempted by law, employes will have to find out the cost of such gifts and add this to their gross income as a part of their wages.

Broadly speaking, the government has winked at the habit of many citizens in failing to include in their income-tax returns certain benefits received from their employers. The Supreme Court of the United States has ruled, however, that, if the payment by the employer arises primarily from "the constraining force of any moral or legal duty" or from "the incentive of anticipated benefit" of an economic nature, it is not a gift and that "what controls is the intention with which payment, however voluntary, has been made."

THE COMPANIES, to be sure, get a tax deduction for all payments or expenses incurred in connection with the employe's services to it, including gifts or benefits. The current theory, however, is that the individual has owed and still owes an income tax on all such costs unless Congress now specifically exempts these benefits from taxation.

Billy Graham

The Bible says, "Come apart and be ye separate." How can a Christian hope to save a non-Christian if we are to shun them? I would find life pretty miserable if I had to shun four-fifths of the people I meet up with.

A. S.

A genuine Christian is not a prig! Our Lord, himself, mingled with publicans and sinners. He scorned religious pride and smugness. His sharpest remarks were directed toward the Pharisees who thought themselves 'better' than publicans and sinners.

But remember this: our mingling with non-Christians is not to be merely social, but redemptive. Jesus did not condemn the adulterous woman, but He did say: "Go thy way and sin no more."

In your social mingling keep in mind that you are to "Let your light shine" and by your actions, if not by your words, let your friends know that Christ gives peace and power. I have discoverd that people respond universally to a solid, sincere Christian witness. "Be not conformed to the world", said Paul, and it Christian faith, a powerful weapon to is easy to be pressed into the mold of social conformity. You have, in your change men's lives. Do not let your sword rest in its scabbard.

New Standard Required For National Debt Limit

How many congressmen, do you guess, set limits on the charge accounts of their wives?

How many, do you think, would send the lady of the household on a shopping expedition with a specific list of things to buy and, at the same time, notify the credit manager of the store to stop deliveries if she goes over a specific debt limit?

MY GUESS IS that households of senators and representatives are not run that iron-handedly or inefficiently. But the national household — yours and mine and President Kennedy's—is. Congress authorizes a budget—so much for the President to spend, so much for the Commissioner of Internal Revenue to collect in taxes; yet, it refuses to give the President leeway in case the shopping list proves too long, in case estimates go wrong.

If the government spends a little too fast, or if taxes come out too slowly or meagerly, the Secretary of the Treasury must squirm out ways to pay bills and, simultaneously, keep within the debt limit.

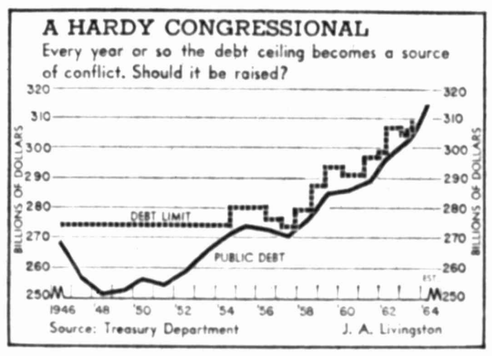

FOR THIS, there are devices—all bad:

1. The Treasury may slow up payment of bills, as happened under President Eisenhower. This hurt business and employment. Businessmen, pinched for cash when their government checks were held back, contracted operations.

2. The Treasury may let its cash run down by delaying the sale of new securities. This disrupts the money market and is likely to increase the cost of borrowing in the long run—hardly fiscal prudence.

3. THE TREASURY can manipulate trust funds—hold back payments — which isn't impeccable trust management.

Again this year, as in many postwar years, such stoop-shouldered squirmings were forced on a Secretary of the Treasury. The debt limit was fixed at $305 billion and the Secretary of the Treasury had to wait until the very last minute to get a niggardly increase.

Congress has raised the limit to $307 billion to July 1 and then to $309 billion until August 31. So Secretary Dillon will have to supplicate again—ask for another increase.

NOR IS THAT the worst. The permanent debt limit is $285 billion. Congress had allowed the executive branch's charge account to run $20 billion above the limit and keeps giving temporary upward extensions. What wife would stand for that?

A strong case can be made for doing away with the debt limit. Congress passes on all obligations and expenditures of the various departments and agencies. Therefore, outgo is subject to yeas and nays. At the same time Congress votes all taxes. How the government collects money. Of course, tax collections vary. If business is good, receipts will be high—perhaps higher than expected. If business recedes, receipts may be lower than expected. Result: Guesstimate.

BUT THIS IS legalized guesstimating. The estimated outgo and income have been voted into law. So if the President spends what he is authorized to spend and collects what he is authorized to collect, why tether him with a debt limit? How many times does Congress have to pass on the same thing?

An equally strong case can be made for the retention of the debt limit, as follows: Every so often it is well for Congress to face the fiscal facts of life unflinchingly, especially if over a long period of time the nation has been living too high. If the debt climbs too regularly, a limit will force a general review: Where are we going fiscally?

TO SUCH a purpose, however, the limit ought not to be an instrument of current fiscal policy, forcing debate at every session of Congress. This merely permits congressmen to embarrass the administration into justifying a rise in debt which can be foreseen.

To be useful, a debt limit ought to be at least $15 to $25 billion above the debt. The proper time for annual debate on how and what the government spends is during consideration of a tax bill or an appropriations bill. They recur.

THE USE of a debt limit as a source of debate, dialogue, and dispute should be sparing, and then it could be effective. As utilized today, it is a routine nuisance that embarrasses the Treasury without enlightening anyone.

Conclusion: Either no debt limit, or one high enough (1) to give the Treasury working room during fiscal years and (2) serve as a warning against extravagance.

Blood Sugar Test Can Reveal Diabetes

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 47 and recently took a physical examination when I applied for insurance. The doctor said I might have blood sugar and took more tests.

As a donor, I have a card stating my blood is excellent for transfusion purposes. I am all confused. How does one know? —Mrs. C. J.

Congratulations to the doctor for doing a thorough job.

First off, though, you sound worried. I don't think you have reason to be.

We all have blood sugar. It represents energy. People with excessively low blood sugar may suffer spells of weakness, dizziness or fainting. Conversely, people with too much may have diabetes. Measuring the blood sugar is the basic method of diagnosing diabetes.

Blood sugar measurements, however, are not required in tests for transfusions.

In short, the fact that you have given blood for transfusions does not contradict the possibility that your blood sugar may be too high. In its early stages, diabetes can exist without any symptoms other than some elevation of blood sugar—there may or may not be sugar in the urine.

In doubtful cases, the sure method is to have sugar tolerance tests, a series over a period of two or three hours after you have taken a specified amount of a solution of sugar.

If you have diabetes, you have found it out early, and in that case keeping it under control can be fairly easy.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please write about migraine headaches. What starts them? What can I do to avoid them? I am enclosing the requested 20 cents in coin and a stamped, self - addressed envelope for a copy of your booklet, "How to Tame Headaches." I hope that will mention migraines. —Mrs. R. T.

It more than mentions them. Migraine is a persistent and aggravating problem, especially among women, and you'll find a good deal about it in the booklet, as well as the tested ways of preventing or minimizing the attacks.

• • •

Dear Dr. Molner: In your recent article on eye banks you didn't mention the Lions Club. I have arranged to leave my eyes to a bank operated by this organization.—N. E. B.

And excellent work the Lions are doing, too. However, they are by no means the only group engaged in this work. If there is a Lions Club in a community, it is a good source of information. If not, then the ophthamology department of a hospital can advise people how to go about leaving their eyes so that others will be able to see again.

Since regulations may vary from state to state, I can't be too positive. One rule will be true in most cases: Make arrangements in advance, because removal of eyes for such use must be done promptly and there is no time to settle the technicalities if that hasn't already been done.

• • •

Dear Dr. Molner: Has fluoridated water any effect on people 65 or older? Can it affect the liver?—Mrs. M. W.

No to both.

Diverticulosis is a bulge in the digestive track. To become more familiar with the subject, write for my booklet, "Don't Let Diverticulosis Throw You," enclosing a long, self - addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover handling.

Around The Rim

No, I Can't Remember When—

One of the more dismal accompaniments to the end of a school year is that the season inevitably brings on a rash of reunions.

This is the year when the graduating classes of all the years that end in "3" and all those that end in "8" are summoned—or better said, cajoled—into staging one of those fine get-togethers in the spirit of fellowship.

IT DOESN'T even have to be class reunions. Sometimes an eager beaver strikes off what he thinks is a cute letter to all the old boys who once lived in Scobey Hall, and says let's break a little moistened bread. On occasion one of those busybodies will even try to call up these survivors of Boy Scout Troop No. 38, telling them to bring along their merit badges, and let's tie a few new knots.

The wartime buddies never seem to want to forget those old days, either—the men who were in Company B at Camp Mosquito Bite some 20 years ago are expected to drop everthing and come running to Suite B, Palace Hotel, Metropolitan City, for a weekend of bringing back the war.

IT STRIKES me that the urge to "reune" is more common in the male of the species—which is another way of saying the boys would like to get together.

This being the case, I don't know why the organizers insist that the old boys bring along their wives. Wives by nature approach with a critical eye, and when the conviviality begins to get at its most convivial, one of them will call aside her spouse and say, "you mean to tell me that slobbering knuckle-head over there was your best buddy? And if this was such a fine bunch of lads as you say, where did they get their wives? From a bargain basement?"

WELL, LEAVING the wives out of it, maybe some of the comrades have gotten a little careless with themselves.

And alas, they find out too late that what might have seemed like sentimental times turned out to be plain hogwash.

A fellow shows up at one of these class affairs, and immediately notices how all the OTHERS have eldered. A lot of bald heads, many white ones, an uncommon number of paunches, flat feet and a few obvious dentures. It's a funny thing how time works its changes on the other fellow.

AND THE STORIES are not as funny as they used to be, the laughter is a bit artificial, and the attempts to bring up what incident happened with what fellow, and to remember who married whom—these get to be a chore.

If the party begins to degenerate into song, and it usually does, nobody can remember all the words, and precious few can even carry the tune.

NEXT ALTERNATIVE is the crap game over in the corner, where the sports begin to show off their bravado, the timid ones shyly stand back, and everybody secretly wonders if he brought enough money to see the thing through and pay his way back home.

THERE COMES a time when everybody gives up, exhausted, and, in trying to regain their health for the next two weeks, wonder how they ever go into the trap in the first place. But next year, count on it, there'll be an organizer who sets up the time, the place and all the arrangements. And a certain number of boobs who'll follow him.

Let's face it, time goes on, and the truth is never more striking than at a reunion of the old buddies.

The Highways Are NOT Safe

One morning recently 12 big trucks and three automobiles tangled on the New Jersey Turnpike, and when the cops finally unwound the wreckage they found that six drivers had been killed and seven injured.

Investigation showed that a sudden fog had descended on the highway, that at least one of the trucks involved had been going 62 m.p.h. at a time when the speed limit had been reduced to 35, and that two of the truckers were carrying pep pills, a drug that is supposed to promote wakefulness but which can also impair judgment and even create hallucinations.

BY COINCIDENCE the crash occurred near the instrument runway at Newark Airport, and a man had to wonder at the contrast between the reaction to a wholesale highway fatality and an airplane crash. Suppose an airplane had been operating illegally in zero-zero visibility, suppose there was an indication that the pilot had been taking drugs to remain awake, and suppose six people had died in the crash.

WELL, SIR or madam, any newspaper reader knows what would have happened. There would not have been enough tree limbs in New Jersey for the hanging of all the people who might have been involved. A half-dozen windy mayors would have demanded that the airport be closed forthwith, airplane ticket sales would slump, sabotage would be suspected, and the people who fear air travel would triumphantly bray I-told-you-so.

NONE OF THESE things happens after a highway disaster. By happenstance I drove the length of the Turnpike 12 hours after the 15 vehicles had piled up, and I can testify that there was no apparent diminution in traffic. Neither was there any conspicuous increase in the good sense and courtesy of my fellow motorists.

The fact is that travel on American highways is far more dangerous than travel by scheduled airline. No matter how skillful a motorist himself may be, he is at the mercy of the drunks and pinwheels who infest our roads. Not long ago, driving with my brood along a splendid superhighway, I and all my kin very nearly became victims of one of this murderous species. This one, an old dragon with a hanky tied around her obviously untenanted head, drove blithely across the road in front of my charging Flinders. It was daylight the weather was clear, traffic was not unduly heavy, and we were proceeding at a speed near the legal limit of 60 m.p.h.

WHAT DO YOU suppose the old granny was thinking about as she tottered across the road in her '06 Meachley? Clearly she was not thinking about the strong possibility that another automobile might have been in the vicinity. I missed the old buzzard narrowly, but if I'd been yelling at the kids, or gratefully regarding some passing dish in a tight dress, or if I'd had a couple of martinis for lunch, this space today would undoubtedly be filled with a dullish piece about the Common Market.

Given a choice between flying and motoring, the informed traveler will always elect the airplane. It's infinitely swifter, a great deal more comfortable, and it is far, far safer.

BUT FACTS never persuade the dedicated aviaphobe. The insurance companies will bet him 50,000 to 1 that his trip by air will be safe, the statistics prove it is on the order of five times safer than travel by motorcar. But he'll continue to cluck in horror over the occasional airplane accident, and he'll ignore the highway carnage until some little old lady with a hanky tied around her head kills him dead.

JFK's Problems With Nuclear Pact

WASHINGTON — Like ordinary travelers, President Kennedy is going over the plans for his European trip at the end of June with the prospect of sudden change. But unlike ordinary travelers, his schedule turns on the urgency of events still in the making.

While no British stop is on his present schedule, London is saying that he must go there for a talk with Harold Macmillan, or failing that, Macmillan must come to Hyannis Port for a weekend in early July. Only in such a meeting can agreement be reached for British entry into the multilateral nuclear force.

THE PRESIDENT hopes in Germany to reach an announced accord with the Bonn government on a multilateral nuclear force. The Germans will agree, if present expectations are borne out, to provide part of the cost and to furnish men for the mixed crews to man surface ships armed with nuclear missiles.

In Italy the President may get a friendly indication of assent to the MLF. But with a government—if there is a government—still tentative, nothing more can be expected. Not until the left-wing Nenni Socialists hold their conference in mid-July will it be determined whether they will support a left-center government endorsing such a force.

WITHOUT BRITAIN, this would leave the MLF agreement looking suspiciously like a German-American pact, and all concerned are determined to avoid that. With Britain in and Italy at least willing, the four principal Atlantic powers would be united and they would graciously indicate a vacant chair for France on an if-and-when basis.

But Macmillan, launched on an election course, has his own serious problems. In a declining economy he has put forward a budget designed to stimulate demand and production. To propose now that Britain pay a share of the estimated $3 billion cost of the MLF—a low estimate — would not help the embattled Prime Minister to win votes.

IF MACMILLAN has to go to the voters —perhaps in the fall, more likely next spring—with hope foreclosed and a bill of several hundred million dollars for a new nuclear force, the chances of the Conservatives will be even dimmer than they are today. American experts are working hard to shape up at least the outline of the MLF agreement. It will call for the "transfer" by the United States of the nuclear missiles to the new force. It may even provide "ownership" reposing in MLF.

BUT AT THE same time conditions of operations — safety conditions — would require that all partners agree before a missile might be fired. And presumably, so the British understand it, the final button would have to be pushed by the President. Hopeful talk among the State Department experts is to the effect that after the first agreement in principle by Germany, Italy, Britain and the United States work can begin at once on drafting a treaty. That treaty—so hope holds out—would be ready to submit to the Senate for ratification in November. And if "ownership" or "transfer" seems to violate the language of the McMahon law forbidding such action, then a treaty will supersede the law.

ALL THIS— MLF, itself, for that matter—"sounds like fantasy." For the Prime Minister it must be made to look like a new approach to unity within the alliance and to a shared and even a safer form of the nuclear deterrent. But President Kennedy could very well reply that the MLF was Europe's idea and if Europe doesn't want it without coaxing, then forget the whole idea.

DEAR ABBY

A Mother's Due Pride

DEAR ABBY: I have followed your column for years and have quietly applauded your advice to teen-agers. In raising my own daughter I went through all the normal trials and tribulations. Half the time I had a deep sense of failure.

Our daughter is now married and lives 800 miles away. We correspond regularly. Her last letter made me so happy I want to share part of its contents with you. You may publish it to let other parents know that the long hard fight they put up to raise good children is well worth the effort:

"Dear Mama:

"Since I have been married, and now that I am approaching parenthood, I've done a lot of thinking. To you and Daddy I want to say 'thank you.' I don't believe any child ever really appreciates its parents while they are under the same roof. First, I want to thank you for being a good husband and wife to each other. Mom, by just being you, you taught me so much about being a good wife without saying a word. If I can be just half the mother to my children as you were to me, I'll be satisfied. I mean all the love and attention, and even all the "hounding" you did when you thought it necessary to get after me about brushing my teeth, practicing the piano, and going to church fellowship. For teaching me right from wrong, for teaching me to love and to share. And for giving me faith when everything seemed lost, I thank you with all my heart. I love both you and Daddy very, very much."

That's it, Abby. Can you blame me for being— A PROUD MAMA

DEAR PROUD: Certainly not. And the pride you feel at this moment is well deserved. Congratulations!

* * *

DEAR ABBY: The girls in my department got together and gave our foreman a surprise party for his 50th birthday. We had a birthday cake and all pitched in to buy him a wallet. After we sang "Happy Birthday" we lined up to give him a kiss. When it was my turn I offered him my cheek. He said he didn't want THAT kind of a kiss from me. Abby, he is a grandfather and I am only 19, and I wouldn't think of kissing him on the lips. Now every time he sees me he kiddingly tells me I "owe" him a kiss and he makes a grab for me. I feel so self-conscious around him I find myself dodging him. Am I being childish? How can I keep him in his place?

OLD-FASHIONED

DEAR OLD-FASHIONED: You can keep him in his place by "kiddingly" calling him "Grandpa." I don't think you're being childish — I think you're being wise.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am planning a party to which I would like to invite a sister-in-law of mine who is separated from her husband. Another one of my sisters-in-law says she will not come if the one who is separated from her husband is invited. I do not want to cause hard feelings. I want them both. What should I do?

PUZZLED RELATIVE

DEAR PUZZLED: Invite the one who is separated from her husband. The OTHER sister-in-law has no business putting you on the spot.

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO LENA: To remind your husband not to lift those heavy tool boxes, label them HIS and HERNIA.

Y Indian Guides Plan Two Camps

Many scalps will be taken, but perhaps none seriously, at two Indian Day Camps slated by the YMCA this summer for boys in grades 1-6.

The Indian theme will be carried through both camps, Francis Flint, general secretary, said. The first camp will be June 10-21 and the second July 8-19.

Crafts, swimming, archery, riflery, hikes and camp building are only a few of the activities in which the young braves will participate during the 10-day sessions. They will meet at the Y at 8 a.m. each day and travel by bus to the old Kiowa and Comanche Indian camp grounds in the northeast part of the City Park. They will be returned to the Y at 4 p.m.

Each boy should bring a sack lunch, swimming suit and a towel and play clothes should be worn. Cost of the camp is $15 for Y members. Non-members may take out a $5 summer membership to become eligible for the camp.

Girls in grades 1-6 will also have ample opportunity to spend a part of the summer in the great outdoors. They will have cookouts, crafts, games and swimming offered with two Girls Day Camps slated simultaneously with the Indian Day Camp. The girls will take a special trip each week. Most activities will be carried out in Birdwell Park, adjacent to the Y building at Eighth and Owens.

Cost for the girls is $13.50, or $1.35 a day. The fees for both boys and girls include insurance, transportation, milk each day, a T-shirt and craft supplies. Play clothing and swim wear are also recommended for the girls.

Staffers for the Indian Day Camp will be Richard Irons, Terry McDaniel and Junior Holland, under the direction of Bobby Grant, a teacher at Runnels Junior High School.

The director for the Girls Day Camp will be Kathryn Hepner, a sophomore at Texas Tech who has done considerable work with young people. She will be assisted by Mickie Lawson, Alice Coker and Pat Winterhalten.

Applications are being taken now from students in junior high or the first two grades of high school who wish to work as volunteers in the day camp program.

Seminarians To Train At State Hospital

Three seminary students are scheduled to arrive Tuesday at the Big Spring State Hospital to take part in a summer chaplain intern program.

This is the second year for the program under the guidance of Chaplain Max Maguire and the fourth year that the local hospital has been authorized to conduct it. It is offered under the auspices of the Council for Clinical Training, New York, N. Y.

Chaplain Maguire said the course is not required by all seminaries, but that it is strongly urged as a part of the education of students.

"It provides a practical or clinical outlet for the theoretical knowledge the students have acquired," he said.

The students will work on the wards and hold two seminars each day to discuss the effectiveness of their pastoral counseling on the wards. They will also preach the sermons at Sunday services. These will be taped and critiqued later to determine if they meet the needs of patients.

Coming here will be Angus McGregor, Union Theological Seminary, Richmond, Va., a Presbyterian student; Louis Pipes, University of the South School of Theology, Sewanee, Tenn., an Episcopalian; and Arthur Robinson Boone, an Episcopal student from the Union Theological Seminary at New York, N. Y.

Mrs. McGregor will accompany her husband to Big Spring for the 12 weeks of training. The students will be housed on the hospital grounds.

Police Exams Set June 12

Competitive examinations for the position of patrolman in the Big Spring Police Department will be held at the police building starting at 9 a.m. June 12, Chief Jay Banks has announced.

Banks said there would probably be four vacancies to fill. Eligible men who have applications on file are being notified, and new applications will be accepted any time before the date of the examination.

Appointees will receive an intensive basic training course and will serve for a six months probation period. An eligibility list may be established, from those not receiving appointment, for filling other vacancies occurring during the year.

Basic qualifications, to be met by all applicants for positions in the enforcement division, are: Must be over 21 years of age, native born U. S. citizen, graduate of standard high school, free of all physical defects, physically strong and well proportioned, good moral character, and must never been convicted of a felony.

Banks said all applicants successfully completing the competitive examinations shall, before appointment, be subjected to: A rigid background investigation, fingerprint check for criminal record, driver's license record check, credit rating check, and rigid physical examination.

Failure to receive a favorable report on any one of the five shall reject the applicant.

Vacations go smoother in a Chevrolet Corvair

Bring on those mountains! They're not so high and mighty when you've got Corvair's gutty six and rear-engine traction working on them.

You scurry right up the meanest grades. You move with sure-footed agility on wet pavement, muddy lanes, loose gravel and other would-be miseries.

And with most of Corvair's weight on the rear wheels, you have easy steering, too. Fact is, the car's handling is so light and responsive we don't even offer power steering.

And there's more to feel good about. No problems with your radiator boiling over or going dry, because there's no radiator. Corvair's engine is air cooled. No concern about brake adjustments, either, because the brakes adjust themselves. Nothing much to think about at all except the good time you're having (and maybe the next mountain you're going to flatten).

Like to do that in a sporty bucket-seated Monza Club Coupe or Convertible? Bim is a clown—that is his business. He can always do the wrong thing at the right time.

But Bim is no fool. Out of the circus ring he always tries to do the right thing at the right time. Those winter Sundays in Florida, before the show goes on the road, you might sit next to Bim in church, and never know he is a clown.

And even though on the road, when Sunday is moving day, Bim gets out his old worn Bible and his teacher's guide, and with his own kids, and with all the other "show" kids gathered 'round him, there is Sunday School on the circus train.

You see, Bim is a Christian, living his faith through all the complications of a strange occupation. He is not a mask—he is Bim. He is the churchman of a circus train—the Sunday School teacher of show business. He knows when to put fun and frolic aside, and turn to the Truth by which we live!

The Church invites you and your family to worship next Sunday and every Sunday.

Furlough

Tony Curtis (above) falls in with Janet Leigh (below) in the returning comedy, "The Perfect Furlough," Saturday at the Jet Drive-In Theatre. They were perfectly fitted for the role at the time, since they were married in off-screen life. They have since taken permanent furlough via divorce.

'Hud' Is Dramatic Story Of Contemporary Ranching

"Hud," a contemporary drama concerning a family of Texas ranchers, starring Paul Newman in the tile role, Melvyn Douglas, Patricia Neal and Brandon de Wilde, will open today at the Ritz Theatre. Based on the Larry McMurty novel, "Horseman, Pass By," the Paramount production is a story of strong personalities in conflict, set in today's rugged cattle country.

Newman portrays the arrogant, unscrupulous son of a rigidly ethical rancher of the old school, played by Douglas. The aged father is dedicated to living honorably, however the chips may fall; the son, Hud, is dissolute, rebellious, selfish and constantly at odds with him. De Wilde will be seen as Douglas' 17-year-old orphaned grandson, who loves both the old man and his unregenerate uncle and is torn between the two. Looking after them as the life-wise, earthy housekeeper is Miss Neal, whose dramatic talent is given full play in this emotion-charged film.

Hud is one of the most ruthless characters ever portrayed by Newman, whose career includes the delineation of some pretty reprehensible men. The star is highly successful with such roles, having won an Academy Award nomination for his performance as "The Hustler" and acclaim for his work in "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof," "From the Terrace," "The Long, Hot Summer" and "Sweet Bird of Youth."

PAUL (HUD) NEWMAN & FAMILY
Filmed in Texas Panhandle

The person who bears the brunt of Hud's misbehavior is his father, portrayed by Douglas, who returns to American films after an 14-year absence. Douglas, who believes that a serious actor chooses his roles seriously, was sufficiently intrigued by the interesting role of Homer Bannon to return to Hollywood for it.

Miss Neal, who also divides her acting time between stage and screen, has a decided change of pace in "Hud" from the sleek sophisticate of "Breakfast at Tiffany's," in which she vied with Audrey Hepburn for George Peppard's affections. In "Hud" she portrays Alma, the ranch housekeeper, a kind, understanding and earthy woman, on the slovenly side, whose physical attractiveness sparks a tempestuous near-rape scene.

Young De Wilde, who won an Academy Award at the age of nine for his movie debut performance in "Shane," now portrays a teen-ager in "Hud." Brandon was recently seen in "All Fall Down" and prior to that, in "Blue Denim." As the idealistic Lon Brannon he learns about the seamy side of life from his Uncle Hud, with no holds barred.

"Hud" was produced by Martin Ritt and Irving Ravetch and directed by Ritt.

The plot revolves around Hud, a brutal and selfish individual who is on occasion extremely charming, if he thinks it can gain him something. Hud cares nothing for the customs and traditions of the cattle country — he likes to hot-rod over the dusty roads in his Cadillac and carouse in town with other men's wives on his arm.

Hud is not a stereotype character. He is at one moment a persuasive, pleasant man — and the next a snarling, raging animal.

Cadillac Cowboy

The movie allegedly gives a valuable insight into the people and traditions of the Southwest. In addition to being the story of Hud, it also reportedly shows the motivations behind the men who forged great cattle empires out of desolate prairie land.

The Southwest was settled by strong men who accepted hardship as a condition of life. Their rugged, forbidding land posed a challenge to them. They like the feeling of space, freedom, and harmony with their land, crops and animals. The cattleman was, and still is, the most independent of Americans. He chafed at restrictions, laughed at hardship, and built the mightiest cattle empire in the world. He is today the only producer of a major agricultural commodity who has never asked for government help and has rejected it when offered.

Such a man is Homer Bannon, in his eighties, failing in mind and body. In his youth he was known as "Wild-Eyes Bannon" an epithet which indicates he was as lusty and virile as any cowboy. Now his greatest pleasure is riding among his cattle, gazing at the great mountains and vast grazing lands of his ranch, and dreaming of the days when cattlemen were kings. He is an honest, noble man who reflects the finest traditions of our nation's cattle country.

His son Hud is not such a man. Hud has the attitudes of a slick city dweller — not a cattleman. The heritage of the Texas Panhandle means absolutely nothing to him. He prefers a Cadillac to a horse, oil wells to cattle, and women to everything else. Laws mean nothing to Hud — all he is concerned with is his own self-gratification. Remorse, love and respect are alien emotions to Hud; he believes that the world owes him something and he means to get what is due him.

In "Hud," the conflict between the proud old cattleman and his rebellious son, so studio publishers claim, gives an indication of "what is really taking place in the cattle country today. It shows how civilization has made sons into men totally different from their fathers."

King Of Kings

Jeffrey Hunter portrays Jesus in the modern re-make of "King of Kings," telling a story of the life and times of Christ. The picture returns tonight to the Jet Drive-In Theatre.

Cliff's Had A Steady Rise To Stardom

Although Cliff Robertson attended classes at the famed Actors Studio in New York with Marlon Brando, James Dean and Paul Newman, there has been nothing spectacular in his rise, such as a torn T-shirt, leather jacket or big Broadway stage success.

Each year, however, Cliff has received better roles. Robertson co-stars with Aldo Ray, Raymond Massey, Lili St. Cyr and Barbara Nichols in the Technicolor film version of Norman Mailer's celebrated novel of World War II, "The Naked and the Dead."

The picture, produced by Paul Gregory and directed by Raoul Walsh, returns Thursday to the State Theatre.

Robertson was born September 9, 1925, in La Jolla, Calif. At six months he was taken to Texas, where his father was a cattleman. His great - grandfather, Clifford Robertson, had been a pioneer cattle baron in West Texas.

Young Robertson's parents died when he was two. His maternal grandmother brought him back to La Jolla. After graduating from high school, Cliff went to sea.

Peal Harbor Day saw him at 16, a seaman aboard a 4,000-ton freighter. The ship was bombed and strafed, but after abandoning it, the crew returned to the vessel, repaired it, and eventually sailed it back to California.

After a year at Antioch College in Ohio, Robertson joined the Navy. He spent a year aboard a munitions ship plying to the South Pacific and was sent to officers school. Emerging a lieutenant, j.g., with a third mate's license, he sailed supply ships to Europe.

Cliff subsequently was a third mate on a freighter. Shortly after the war he left the merchant marine, realizing he wanted to be an actor. Cliff had always appeared in school plays and at 15 had worked in a Dallas summer theater.

Robertson then worked the New York State "Borscht Circuit" as actor, stagehand and truck driver for $5 per week. Back in New York City, he worked during the night as a bus boy, taxi driver and stevedore, while seeking daytime acting assignments.

After some summer stock, he got the part of Paine in the touring company of "Mr. Roberts," and kept it for two years. Then he began to click on TV.

Cliff appeared on the stage with Helen Hayes in a revival of "The Wisteria Tree," following which he played Kim Novak's sweetheart in the film, "Picnic." Next he starred opposite Joan Crawford in "Autumn Leaves," winning a Columbia contract. Then Cliff costarred with Jane Powell in RKO's musical, "The Girl Most Likely," in which he sang professionally for the first time.

Cliff is married to actress Cynthia Lemmon. They have a four-year-old, Christopher. Cynthia's son by her first marriage to actor Jack Lemmon. The Robertsons live in a small hilltop house in Bel Air, Calif. Cliff's pastimes are boating, fishing and garden-puttering.

"The Naked and the Dead" is an RKO Teleradio Pictures Production, released by Warner Bros. in WarnerScope.

Expert At Work

"Jungle Jim" Price, famed Central American explorer and guide, helped find the Panama location sites for "The Naked and the Dead."

Price scouted thousands of square miles of Panama by plane and jeep to pick film spots for the picture.

'Peyton Place' Returns This Week To Sahara

The manners and morals of a small New England town are recounted in Jerry Wald's drama, "Peyton Place," Wednesday at the Sahara Theatre.

To bring this story to the screen for Twentieth Century-Fox, Wald selected a roster of talented stars, combining some of Hollywood's more-seasoned performers with a group of young, up-and-coming personalities. They include Lana Turner, Hope Lange, Lee Philips, Lloyd Nolan, Diane Varsi, Arthur Kennedy, Russ Tamblyn, Terry Moore, David Nelson and Barry Coe.

In "Peyton Place" the history of two young women and their attendant problems are carefully scrutinized. These women, played by Hope Lange, as Selena, who starred in "Bus Stop," and Diane Varsi, making her film bow as Allison, are emotionally drawn together in a community in which, by circumstances, they are set at the two extremes of the economic scale. Selena comes from shacktown and Allison from fashionable Elm Street. Both girls are, in the course of the story, faced by difficulties created by their environment.

"Peyton Place" marks a turning point in the career of Miss Turner, who plays her first role as the mother of a teen-age daughter. It was also Wald several years ago who persuaded Joan Crawford to play her first mother role in "Mildred Pierce." The role won an Oscar for Miss Crawford.

Other important roles in this drama are played by Miss Field, as the ill-fated Nellie Cross; Lee Philips, as the schoolmaster, an uncompromising disciple of truth. Nolan is the doctor with a secret; Miss Moore, the town flirt, and Coe, her relentless pursuer.

HOPE LANGE
In tragic role

The producers set this drama against New England scenery. A large Hollywood troupe moved into Camden, Maine, where almost every physical requirement of the story was to be found, and where many of its citizens appeared as screen "extras."

Directed by Mark Robson, who won fame for his direction of "The Bridges at Toko-Ri" and "Trial," among others, and written for the screen by John Michael Hayes, whose last was "A Hatful of Rain," "Peyton Place" was photographed in CinemaScope and De Luxe Color by Cinematographer William Mellor, who also did "Giant" and "Love in the Afternoon." The supporting cast is headed by Mildred Dunnock, Leon Ames, Lorne Greene, Robert H. Harris, Tami Conner, Staats Cotsworth, Peg Hillias and Erin O'Brien-Moore.

NEW HOLIDAY INN CONSTRUCTION STARTS
Nov. 1 set as completion date for 77-unit Inn north of College Park Shopping Center

Eagles Closing Charter List

The Fraternal Order of Eagles will soon close out the charter application, and those who would like to be on the charter list are asked to contact R. M. Kinman, 504 State St. (or AM 4-8755).

Kinman has been commissioned by the international order to seek restoration of active Eagles work in Big Spring.

Among the incoming officers are V. A. Whittington, secretary-manager; George Zachariah, chaplain; Tom McAdams, Jim Dotton, Jewel G. Littlejohn, trustees. Kinman said that the $10 initiation fee was payable at the time of application, but the annual dues would not be assessed until after the lodge is organized formally.

Ground Broken For Million Dollar Motel Facility Here

Ground has been broken for construction of the new Holiday Inn for Big Spring. The buildings and furnishing will cost $1,000,000. The 77-unit inn is being built on US 80 and IS 20 between East Third and East Fourth Street north of the College Park Shopping Center. It will also have a large commercial building containing a dining room with a seating capacity of 100, a separate coffee shop seating 35 persons, and a meeting room seating 140.

Cary Whitehead, president of Big Spring Motor Inn Corporation, said a large swimming pool will center the courtyard, between the commercial building and the two-story rental units. The rental units will include executive suites as well as connecting single and double rooms. A surfaced parking lot with a capacity of 200 cars is planned.

The inn has been in the planning stages for the past eight months, and will be built by the corporation's own construction company, with some sub-contracts let.

The cost of the building itself, according to building permit figures, will be around $374,000. Equipment, fixtures, furnishings, swimming pool, sign, parking area, and other items will run the cost above the $1 million mark.

Whitehead said a few of the other features of the Holiday Inn would be: All-weather air conditioning, wall-to-wall carpeting, television in every room, king-sized double beds, baby cribs, and the availability of baby sitters. There will be a telephone in every room and a 24-hour switch board. Free coffee service will be available in every room.

Guests of the inn will also be furnished a $5,000 life and accident insurance policy, at no charge, during their stay as registered guests. The policies will be good for 12 hours after the guests' departure.

The Big Spring Inn will be connected with the other 375 Holiday Inns through the most advanced teletype equipment currently available.

A popular service of the Holiday Inn system covering 40 states, Canada and Puerto Rico, is free advance reservations to any other Holiday Inn, not only for guests of the inn but for anyone wishing to use this service, and a no-charge policy for children under 12 who use the same facilities as their parents.

New Holiday Inns have been opening throughout the country at the rate of one every three days, and the program is being stepped up to one every two days, said Whitehead.

Lighting Deters Nighttime Crime

Eighty per cent of the major nighttime crimes committed in Big Spring in 1962 were in dimly-lighted areas of the city.

This is what a Herald reporter discovered after digging for several days in the record file of the police department. The study was undertaken in an effort to see where Big Spring stands in relation to the national picture. A national survey is being made by the Street and Highway Safety Lighting Bureau, Cleveland, Ohio. This is in cooperation with the 11 - million - member General Federation of Women's Clubs and the Readers' Digest. J. Edgar Hoover has given it FBI backing.

Heretofore, said Robert R. Schroder, educational director for the lighting bureau, high intensity urban lighting has been praised as a major crime deterrent, but statistical support has been lacking. Hence the current survey.

Here's what the Herald's local study showed:

MOSTLY AT NIGHT

There were 1,143 major crimes (felonies) committed in the City of Big Spring in 1962. Of these, 79.54 per cent were committed at night. The crimes checked included murders and non - negligent manslaughters, forcible rapes, aggravated assaults, robberies, burglaries, larcenies ($50 and over), auto thefts, and juvenile offenses.

Chief Jay Banks in his monthly and annual reports from the identification and records division, showed that the crime rate increased approximately 10 per cent over 1961 — the previous high.

A breakdown of the nighttime crimes showed approximately 80 per cent committed in poorly-lighted areas, 18 per cent in inadequately - lighted areas, and two per cent in well-lighted areas.

CHANGE NOTED

"During the past year several areas of the city, formerly dimly-lighted, have been re-lighted brightly," Banks said. "The incidence of street-walkings, muggings, and other crimes, has been almost totally eliminated in these areas. One park, in particular, which was formerly a hangout for a teen-age gang of vandals, has been lighted and most of the problems eliminated."

Copies of the consolidated report will be supplied to police chiefs, and cities of the United States, when the study is completed.
