PURCHASER HEADS DIRECTORS

McCrary buys former Williams bank stock

Giles C. McCrary, who purchased the stock in the First National Bank formerly held by E. W. Williams effective Jan. 1, was elected chairman of the board of directors of the local bank at the annual directors' meeting Tuesday afternoon.

McCrary has been a director of the bank since 1966.

J. B. Potts, bank president, purchased Williams' stock last October and announced at that time he planned to sell the stock locally.

Potts, who was re-elected president of the bank Tuesday, and McCrary together hold a majority stock interest in the bank. All but a very few shares of bank stock now are owned locally. Potts told The Dispatch.

Williams, now an Amarillo banker, was chairman of the board of the Post bank until selling his stock in Potts in October. The position had been vacant since that time.

GILES C. MCCRARY
New Board Chairman

Elevation of McCrary to the chairmanship of the board was the only change made by directors in bank officers at the annual meeting.

The annual directors meeting followed the annual bank stockholders meeting held the same afternoon.

All bank directors were reelected for 1971. These include C. E. Basinger, S. E. Camp, Bob Collier, Harvey Herd, McCrary, Potts, Glenn Norman, Arnold T. Sanderson, Vic Slater, L. G. Thuet Jr., and Lewis C. Herron Jr.

Re-elected as advisory directors were K. W. Kirkpatrick and Fred Myers.

Bank officers reelected by directors, besides Potts, were Herron and Myers, vice presidents; Will Parker, cashier; and Ronald Simpson, Marsha Compton, Mary Howell, Vearl McBride, and Rita Nelson, assistant cashiers.

Bill Shiver is now "officially" a full-fledged (or should we say initiated) Texas school superintendent.

He has gone outside his own faculty and hired his first head football coach.

Bill brought Bobby Davis, the very personable and formerly successful Wilson High coach, in for "picture taking and interviewing" by Editor Charlie Didway this week — and it was easy to tell Bill was glad the search was over, and that Bobby was too.

We could write several columns about the "ins and outs" of hiring a Texas high school football coach, but we'll wait a while on that one, although we got some chuckles out of some of the stories we heard.

Anyway, Post has its new coach, four new assistants will be arriving by next fall, and Bill is now initiated.

Our dining room table at home is a jumble of papers as we zoom along trying to complete our 1970 income tax return by tomorrow (Jan. 15). We get ours in early because we want to finish paying on last year and start saving up to pay on this year's. If we wait until April 15 we are always in double trouble.

We sort of pride ourselves on being (See Postings, page 8)

Odom rites are held Wednesday

Funeral services for Mrs. Grace Hagood Odom, 63, of 402 South Ave. H, were held at 4 p.m. Wednesday in Hudman Funeral Home chapel.

Mrs. Odom, who had lived here for 43 years, died about 2:30 a.m. Tuesday in Garza Memorial Hospital where she had been a patient for three days. Born May 24, 1907, in Como, Tex., she was a former employee of Postex Plant.

Surviving are two sons, Jesse Curb of Lubbock and Jackie Curb of Post; two daughters, Mrs. James V. Nesmith of Post and Frances Curb of Lubbock; three sisters, Mrs. J. R. Atkinson and Mrs. John Putnam, both of Post, and Mrs. D. L. Holt of Odessa, and six grandchildren.

Officiating at the funeral service were Church of God of Prophecy ministers H. L. Smith of Post, Oscar Neudigger of Ranger and H. M. Tomlinson of Lubbock.

Burial was in Terrace Cemetery under the direction of Hudman Funeral Home. Pallbearers were D. L. Holt, D. J. Atkinson, B. P. Putnam, George Pierce, Tim Pettyjohn and Toby Thomas.

Bobby Davis is employed as new head coach here

Will bring in four assistants

A six-weeks' search for a new athletic director and head football coach at Post High School ended Friday with the employment of 34-year-old Bobby Davis, who, after eight years' experience, has been out of the coaching profession since 1967.

Davis, a 1959 graduate of West Texas State University, where he lettered three years at quarterback, coached five years at Lockney and three years at Wilson before accepting a position three years ago as school representative for T&D Sporting Goods of Lubbock.

The new coach, who has been working out of Lubbock but lives at Idalou, will begin his duties here Monday, Jan. 18, at the start of the second semester. He will not move his family to Post until the end of the school year, since his wife is attending Texas Tech and their three sons are in school at Idalou. The sons are 12-year-old Bryan, a seventh grader; 11-year-old Brad, a fifth grader, and six-year-old Brent, who is in his first year of school. Mrs. Davis is working toward her elementary education degree at Texas Tech.

The new head coach is a native of Donley County and attended school at Clarendon through the seventh grade when his parents moved to Plainview where he finished high school, lettering in football and other sports.

At West Texas State University, Davis was a quarterback under Coach Frank Kimbrough and was a member of the Buffalo team that beat Southern Mississippi, 20 to 13, in the Tangerine Bowl in 1968.

Davis' first coaching job follows

ing his graduation from WTSU, was junior high coach at Lockney. After one year, he was promoted to backfield coach, serving in that job until 1965 when he accepted the head coaching position at Wilson High School.

Davis was at Wilson three years, his team winning the district championship in 1967, but losing the regional title to a Bronte team whose roster included Doug McCutchen, this season's leading Southwest Conference ground-gainer at Texas Tech.

As backfield coach at Lockney and head coach at Wilson, Davis' favorite line of attack was a multiple offense off the wing-T and a variation of the split-T.

The new head coach told The Dispatch Monday that he will bring four coaching assistants to Post, but that he was not ready at that time to announce who they are. One of the four assistants is scheduled to begin his duties here with the start of the second semester, but the other three will not report until after the close of the school year.

Davis was given a two-year contract at a salary of $11,100 a year on a twelve-month basis, Supt. Bill Shiver told The Dispatch.

As athletic director and head coach, Davis succeeds Billy Hahn, who resigned the position after two years to devote full time to his job as junior high school principal.

Modest salary boosts go to county workers

County employees, below the rank of elected officials, were voted modest salary increases for 1971 this week when the Garza County Commissioners Court held its January meeting, always a busy organizational one at which salaries for the year are set.

Fifteen dollar monthly increases were voted to all chief deputies, clerks, the judge's secretary and the courthouse janitor.

Radio operators were voted a $15 monthly increase too, but subject to the approval of the Post City Council which shares the salary cost for the law enforcement radio with the county.

All county maintainer operators employed on full-time basis were given a five cents per hour increase from $2 to $2.05.

The court also "adjusted" upward by $600 the annual salary of County Treasurer Pauline Coleman and voted a $300 a year increase in the amount the county pays of the salary of HD Agent Janis Choate.

The boost for the county treasurer was to put her back in line with other elected county officials' salaries. When Ruth Lee asked that the court not grant her a $600 salary increase as county treasurer in 1969, that office fell just that much behind the pay scale for other elected county officials. At that time (See Salaries, page 8)

Rites conducted for Ida Robinson, pioneer resident

Last rites for Mrs. Ida D. Robinson, who at 95 was one of Garza County's oldest residents, were held at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the First Christian Church, of which she was a member.

Mrs. Robinson died about 9 a.m. Monday in Garza Memorial Hospital where she had been a patient for only a few days. She had been a resident of the Twin Cedars Nursing Home for the last three years.

Born Nov. 6, 1875, in De Soto, Iowa, she was married to E. J. Robinson on Jan. 6, 1896. They moved from Clinton, Okla., to Garza County in 1908, farming on the plains northwest of town until moving into Post in 1911. Mr. Robinson was elected as Garza County's second sheriff and was serving his third term in the office when he died Sept. 2, 1919.

Mrs. Robinson had been a member of the First Christian Church since before moving here from Oklahoma, and was a life member of the Order of Eastern Star.

She is survived by two sons, Milton Robinson of Relford, N.C., and E. J. Robinson of Mesquite; five daughters, Mrs. Myrtle Ashley of Post, Mrs. Mildred Nyman of Annapolis, Md., Mrs. Mary Lippner of Sherman Oaks, Calif., Mrs. Rebekah Hamilton of El Cajon, Calif., and Mrs. Allie Mae Moore of Abingdon, Ill.; one brother, Vernon Douglas of LaGrande, Ore.; 12 grandchildren, 18 great-grandchildren and four great-great-grandchildren.

Green Thumb program applicants are sought

Qualified applicants are being sought to get a seven-man Green Thumb team at work in Garza County doing beautification, recreational and community betterment work under the federal Office of Economic Opportunity.

Men 35 and over who have low incomes or are only drawing social security and are interested in becoming a part of this program are asked to apply either to County Judge Giles Dalby's office in the county courthouse or to the Alexander Neighborhood Center.

Application forms can be secured either place along with a physical examination form. There will be no charge for the physicals that will be given by Dr. William C. Wilson. All that is required is that applicants be in "reasonably good health and able to work."

Those accepted for the program will work a three-day work week, eight hours a day, and will be paid from federal funds at the rate of $1.60 an hour.

Transportation will be supplied. Applicants of the proper age will qualify if they earn $1,500 or less annually as a single person, or $2,500 or less if married or have a dependent.

Those drawing social security also will be accepted for the program.

Judge Dalby is attempting to get the program under way here next week, if possible.

A local committee will be appointed to determine the priority of work projects. The city and county as co-sponsors will furnish equipment and supplies for the Green Thumbs.

Schools dismissed for teachers' workshops

There is no school here today (Thursday) and Friday, with teachers studying proposed textbook adoptions today and attending a map and globe workshop tomorrow.

The two days off will be the last scheduled school holiday until Easter.

Plans completed for CofC event

Directors of the Post Chamber of Commerce met Jan. 5 to complete plans for the annual Chamber membership banquet to be held Thursday, Feb. 18.

Banquet tickets will go on sale Feb. 1 and can be purchased at the Chamber office or from any of the directors.

Wayne B. (Red) Smith of Pampa will be the speaker at the banquet, with the program also to include presentation of community service awards and installation of the 1971 officers.

Directors attending the meeting were Fred Myers, president; T. B. Odum, Bill McBride, Vic Slater, Buster Moreland and Bryce Martin.

Parker retires from draft post

J. E. Parker laid another public service hat aside yesterday — this one he had been wearing for 24 years.

He offered his resignation as Garza registrar for the multi-county local draft board.

Parker had served as the Post member of the draft board for 12 years and then for the last 12 has served as registrar for the board in this county.

Parker said he told the board, "Time has caught up with me."

The 24 years of draft board service was all voluntary — with no salary attached.

Richardson heads sheriff's posse

Floy Richardson was elected president of the Garza County Sheriff's Posse when the group met last Sunday to elect officers and to make plans for the new year.

Others elected were Basil Puckett, vice president; Margaret Williams, secretary; Ozell Willis, m.s. parade marshal, and Howard Cass, assistant parade marshal.

Miss Cynthia White will be the queen again this year.

The riding group is making plans for a busy parade season, starting with the San Angelo Rodeo parade March.

Well-earned rest after 17 years

D. C. Roberts Sr., known to his many friends as "Colonel," ended 17 years of service to the citizens of Garza County when he retired Jan. 1 as Precinct 1 Justice of the Peace.

Judge Roberts—as he was also known to his friends and acquaintances—was appointed to the Justice of the Peace office in 1954 upon the death of J. T. King in a tragic train-car crash at the Main Street railroad crossing here.

After serving out the unexpired term of Judge King, Mr. Roberts was re-elected to the justice of the peace office for the next term and for every ensuing term until he decided early last year to call it "quits" at more than 80 years of age.

Judge Roberts was a credit to the justice of the peace office during his 17-year tenure, was always on call when needed to carry out the duties of the office after hours, and was held in high regard by all who had dealings with his office.

Judge Roberts was among those present New Year's Day when the new county and precinct officers were sworn in. Naturally, he was one of the first to congratulate his successor, Racy Robinson, who Judge Roberts is convinced will continue to carry out the duties of the office in an efficient manner.

So, well past the age of three-score and twenty, and having devoted 17 years to the public, D. C. Roberts Sr. has earned the rest from public office his retirement will afford him. To Judge Roberts and his wife, Verna, who was a valuable helpmate to him in the justice of peace office, The Dispatch wishes the best.—CD

How come we are letting it happen?

The propaganda drums down in Austin are beginning their terrific beat—and right on cue, too.

The elections are behind, the politicians are elected, Christmas is over—and now comes the news that the Texas governor and the Texas Legislature are facing the horrible chore of imposing an estimated $800 million in new taxes on the citizens and businesses of Texas.

The drum beat is heavy out of the capital. There is a great chorus of political voices.

The choice seems to be a corporation income tax and a big boost in the sales tax, or both of them, with the propaganda mill beginning to start to prepare the public for the state income tax for the individual.

The "insiders" say the "try" for the individual state income tax will probably fall short this legislative time around—but it is coming all too soon.

Let's see now, a penny probably won't be enough, but if we added that to the sales tax—what with the cities now getting a penny of it—the tax would be right up there over 5 per cent.

Being in the newspaper business, we have a sharp eye for an organized propaganda try—and brother, Texas is getting a real "snow job" this time around.

To our way of thinking, the idea is that so much noise is being made over $800 million in new taxes that the average voter is literally blown out of his tub without getting to even ask the question—How come?

That's what we want to know. How come? Why is $800 or $850 million in new taxes so essential?

Joe Voter has to manage to get along somehow on his income. When costs go up, he and his family simply have to cut down. There are just so many dollars.

If you don't save now, he'll pay later.

Maybe he'll have to forget about college, or at least have a financial struggle making it.

Maybe he'll want to study law or medicine, but won't have the money to stay in school as long as it takes.

Maybe. Maybe. Maybe. Take some of the maybes out of his future by joining the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. Have a few dollars from each paycheck set aside for U.S. Savings Bonds. It's one of the easiest ways to make sure his college money is there when he needs it.

And now there's a bonus interest rate on all U. S. Savings Bonds—for E Bonds, 5 1/2% when held to maturity of 5 years 10 months (4% the first year). That extra 1/2%, payable as a bonus at maturity, applies to all Bonds issued since June 1, 1970 . . . with a comparable improvement for all older Bonds.

College dollars need time to grow. Start saving now.

Bonds are safe. If lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace them. When needed, they can be cashed at your bank. Tax may be deferred until redemption. And always remember, Bonds are a smart way to save.

Take stock in America.
With higher paying U.S. Savings Bonds.

The U.S. Government does not pay for this advertisement. It is presented as a public service in cooperation with The Department of the Treasury and The Advertising Council.

THE MOST BEAUTIFUL WILL EVER WRITTEN

It was found in the pocket of an old ragged coat belonging to an insane patient of the Chicago poorhouse. He had been a lawyer and the will was written in firm, clear hand on a few scraps of paper. So unusual was the Will that it was read before the Chicago Bar Association which ordered it probated and it is now on the Record of Cook County, Illinois:

I, CHARLES LOUNSBERRY, being of sound and disposing mind and memory, do hereby make and publish this, my Last Will and Testament, in order, as justly may be, to distribute my interest in the world among succeeding men.

That part of my interest which is known in law and recognized in sheepbound volumes as my property being inconsiderable and of no account, I will make no disposition of it in this my Will. My right to live, being but a life estate, is not at my disposal, but these things excepted, all else in the world I now proceed to devise and bequeath.

ITEM: I give to all good fathers and mothers, in trust for their children, all good little words of praise and encouragement, and all quaint pet names and endearments, and I charge such parents to use them justly, but generously, as the needs of their children shall require.

ITEM: I leave to children, inclusively, but only for the term of childhood, all and every flower of the fields, and the blossoms of the woods with the right to play among them freely, warning them at the same time against thistles and thorns. And I devise to children the banks of the brooks and the golden sands beneath the water's thereof, and the odors of the willows that dip therein, and the white clouds that float high over the giant trees.

And I leave to the children the long, long days to be merry in, in a thousand ways, and the night and the train of the Milky Way to wonder at, but subject nevertheless to the rights thereafter given to lovers.

ITEM: I devise to boys, jointly, all the useful idle fields and commons where ball may be played. And all pleasant waters where one may swim, all snow-clad hills where one may coast, and all streams and ponds where one may fish, or, one may skate, to hold the same for the period of boyhood. And all meadows with clover blossoms and butterflies thereon; the woods with their appurtenances, the squirrels and the birds and the echo of the stream's noises and all the distant places which may be visited, together with the adventures there found. And I give to said boys each his own place at the fireside at night with all the pictures that may be seen in the burning wood, to enjoy without let or hindrance of care.

ITEM: To lovers, I devise their imaginary world, with what ever they may need, as the stars in the sky, the red roses by the wall, the blossoms of the hawthorn, the sweet strains of music, and aught else they may desire to figure to each other the lastness and beauty of their love.

ITEM: To young men, jointly, I devise and bequeath all boisterous inspiring sport and rivalry, and I give to them the disdain of weakness and undaunted confidence in their own strength. Though they are rude, I leave to them the power to make lasting friendships, and of possessing companions, and to them exclusively, I give all merry songs and grave choruses to sing with lusty voices.

ITEM: And to those who are no longer children or youths or lovers, I leave memory and bequeath to them the columns of poems of Burns and Shakespeare and of other poets, if there be others, to the end that they may live the old days over again, freely and fully without lithe or diminution.

ITEM: To our loved ones with snow crowns, I bequeath the happiness of old age and the love and gratitude of their children until they, too, fall asleep.

Veterinary Medical Association gives tips on selection of new puppy as pet

JUSTIN—Dog is man's best friend, an old statement, but true, through the centuries has been comforted by his friend. To be an asset rather than a liability, the dog must be properly nourished and disease-free. Infectious diseases, malnutrition, parasitism and birth defects are common enemies of the dog of all ages, and unless properly recognized and handled, can be deadly, especially in the young puppy, according to the Texas Veterinary Medical Association.

Preventive medicine is the most economical veterinary service available to the pet owner. For the family that wishes to bring a new weanling pup in to their household either as a gift or as a purchase, prior planning can well make the difference between an expensive, sad experience or a real pleasure. Raising a puppy can be fun with a minimum amount of problems and expense if properly planned, the Association advises.

For the person who has never owned a dog, the breed or breed type should be considered before acquiring the new pet. The local veterinarian is a source of advice on medical problems associated with certain breeds, as well as suggestions on breed type advantages to your climate and household size.

The pointers will be helpful in selecting your new puppy from a litter or store. The surroundings of the prospective pet should be clean, and the parents should be healthy in appearance.

An active, well-nourished (plump) pup without visible symptoms of disease should be your choice. Individuals expressing any disease symptoms such as unusual discharges from the eye or nose, diarrhea, skin lesions (loss of hair), as well as deformities, should be avoided.

When purchasing a puppy, always have the understanding prior to payment that you may take the puppy to a veterinarian of your choice for a physical examination and in the event the puppy proves to be unhealthy for any reason, you may return the pup for full rebate of the purchase price. This exam should be conducted as soon as possible, preferably the first or second day of ownership.

Much pleasure lies in store for the owner of the new pet, but a few well-known health precautions before purchase can make the ownership of a companion animal more economical, says the Texas Veterinary Medical Association.

REAP replacing ACP for farmer

WASHINGTON — Full operating details on how the Nixon administration's new Rural Environmental Assistance Program will apply in 1971 are being sent out to county offices, according to the Agriculture Department.

The new program — REAP — was announced last week by the department as a successor to the 34-year-old Agricultural Conservation Program.

Basically, REAP continues the system of paying farmers for part of the costs of carrying out soil and water conservation projects on their property. More emphasis, however, will be put on long-term and community-wide practices rather than crop-producing projects.

BUCHANAN

Many popular American surnames were derived from towns or districts in Scotland in which the original bearer was a resident. The notable Scottish surname Buchanan, for instance, was taken from a district of the same name in Stirlingshire, Scotland.

The name from which Buchanan evolved was Both-Chan-ain, Scots Gaelic for "low ground belonging to the canon." A canon was a member of a religious order.

The original name of the Buchanan clan was Maccausan, Scottish records indicate. The clan took the name Buchanan when they first became associated with the district of that name in the 13th century. Malcolm de Boquhanan (an early spelling of the name) swore his allegiance to Edward I of England in 1296. The name had reached its present form by 1373 when Walter de Buchanan was a witness to a charter.

The Buchanan surname was introduced into Ireland at an early date and is still found today in considerable numbers in Northern Ireland. James Buchanan, 15th president of the United States, was the son of Scotch-Irish parents from Northern Ireland, his parents having emigrated to south-central Pennsylvania in 1783, eight years before the future president was born.

Dr. George Buchanan came from Scotland to America in 1698. His son, Andrew, was a brigadier-general of the American militia during the Revolutionary War.

Not all of the Buchanans in this country are of Scottish descent, however. In areas of Pennsylvania, Buchanan sometimes is an anglicized form of the German surname Buchen-hain (beech wood). Buchanan ranks 388th among surnames in the United States, with an estimated 64,000 persons by the name.

Woman's Culture Club history told in Federation Day event

Mrs. Jack Burrell gave a brief history of the Woman's Culture Club in Garza County when the club met at 3 p.m. Wednesday of last week in the home of Mrs. J. H. Burrell, with Mrs. Burrell as co-hostess.

The occasion was the club's Federation Day program, with Mrs. Burrell, the program leader, dedicating Federation as "uniting or joining together."

Mrs. J. B. Slaughter was the under who started the club in 1913 and its first president was Mrs. W. F. Fairbanks. This was the only club in Post at that time and it was started with the idea of improving community life. The club became Federated in 1914.

Mrs. Tillman (Maggie Mae Griffin) Jones became a member of the Woman's Culture Club in 1917 and is still very active. She was a member of a Federated club in Alabama for six years prior to 1917. Mrs. Jones has held every office on the local level and has served in many capacities on the district and state levels. At the present she is serving as the district president's advisor.

The program also included a brief report by Mrs. Jones on Lubbock's Anna English and her husband, Roy Hovis, who star on the Lawrence Welk Show.

Mrs. R. T. Dickson reported there would be a Reports Workshop at 11

Senior citizens voice needs in 'Community Forum Speak Outs'

COLLEGE STATION — Almost 100 Texas senior citizens have voiced their needs in 800 "Community Forum Speak Outs" held recently across the state, according to Miss Minnie Bell, Extension agent in the family life education.

The need expressed by a majority of the older adults was a greater need to meet new expenses and needs in being an elder citizen. Many offered solutions to the state, such as part-time employment, expanded Social Security benefits, or tax exemptions for those with limited income.

Lower rent housing for older persons was also suggested. Transportation problems were voiced by the senior Texans. They would like to get to the store and then, but they also needed needs for rides to visit doctor, to go shopping for food, other supplies, and to get to church. Questions were made to in-

Timely Tips from CHDA

By JANIS CHOATE

EXPENSIVE SERVANT

Your food freezer is the most expensive storage space in your kitchen. You can keep the cost within bounds with proper use, but carelessness may add considerable cost to every pound of food that is stored.

If the freezer is used like a bank for just food storage, the cost per pound of food stored will be high; however, if the freezer is used regularly, like a bank checking a c-count, the operating costs will be spread over more food and the cost per pound will be much lower. Keep a careful watch over the kind of food that is put in the freezer. High cost foods bought as a bargain can mean quite as saving, but finding a bargain large enough to warrant high cost freezer space is a challenge.

Letting food get to old in the freezer is particularly wasteful. No matter how low the cost, if food is thrown away, there is no bargain. Make sure you follow the "first in, first out" rule to help keep food loss to a minimum.

Your freezer can be a faithful servant and it can save time and effort, and in exceptional instances, it may save you money and can help you feed your family well. However, if the freezer is used incorrectly, you will find that the food freezer is a very expensive servant.

GRAPEFRUIT
A hearty helping of grapefruit can go a long way toward providing you with the vitamin C you need daily.

To serve as an appetizer or dessert, decorate the center with colorful fruit — cherry or strawberry — or put a mound of fruit sherbet on a half.

A delicious way to sweeten grapefruit is to cut out the white center and fill the hole with strained honey or granulated sugar. Set the sweetened fruit in the refrigerator for a few hours or overnight, so that the honey or sugar can penetrate all parts of the fruit, giving it a delicate flavor.

Another sweetened variation is prepared grapefruit halves with a spoonful of strawberry, raspberry or cherry preserves in the center. Grapefruit segments — alone or with other fruits — may be a dish for breakfast, dessert or salad. A grapefruit-cranberry cup starts with tangy grapefruit sections and then is topped with a combination of ground raw cranberries and ground whole oranges, sweetened to taste. Try grapefruit and orange sections with sliced strawberries or combined with raspberries, melon balls or cubes, peaches, pears, banana slices, seeded grapes, diced apricots, apples, pineapple or cherries.

Combined with fruit or vegetables, grapefruit is a good salad standby.

USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service says supplies of grapefruit and canned grapefruit juice are unusually plentiful this month.

increase the number of Senior Citizens Centers available to provide more recreational activities. Many felt that older persons are not aware of this and various other services. More religious activities were also desired.

Medical help in the form of expanded Medicare and a visiting nurse service would aid many, the participants noted.

As a result of the "Forums", county Committees on Aging are ready to assist with program development, based on the needs expressed by the senior citizens.

Library Listening Post

By GEORGE L. MILLER

Saturday was moving day at the library. We had a fine crew of helpers: Patti Allison, Jo Cash, Libbie Ford, Patti Kirkpatrick, Pee Wee Pierce and myself. It turned out to be a four-hour job but it was worth it. The library looks quite proud these days. Come down and see for yourself.

It was a big week in other ways. I mentioned last week we had received a shipment of new books. We got to work, and we have 50 new books on the shelves. Here is a sample of some of the titles:

Science Fiction fans have a feast to choose from. Robert Heinlein, one of the most popular of science-fiction writers, has a new book out "I Will Fear No Evil." We have it, but I don't expect it to stay on the shelves much.

Another title "Solaris" comes from a Polish author Stanislaw Lem. It's a first novel for him and reviewers give it a good grade.

We also got two collections of science fiction stories, "Orbit 8" edited by Damon Knight, and "Worlds of Maybe" collected by Robert Silverberg.

Irwin Shaw has published a new novel, "Rich Man, Poor Man" that is supposed to be as good as "The Young Lions". If it is, it's one of the best in the library.

Leon Uris gained his popularity with "Exodus". He has a new title out "QB VII". That stands for Queen's Bench No. 7, the number of a courtroom. It's about a trial (naturally) a case of slander.

Perhaps the most talked-about book to come along is "Papillon" by Henri Charriere. It's the story of his escape from Devil's Island. What makes it so sensational is trying to decide how much is fiction and how much fact. It's bound to be popular, whatever it is.

For those who need this kind of education, we have David Reuben's book "Everything You Always Wanted to Know About Sex, But Were Afraid to Ask" and "The Sensuous Woman" by "J". (Personally, I think "J" is cheating. If she wants the fortune she's bound to make off a book like that, the least she could do is own up to being the author!)

Mystery fans, we haven't forgotten you! We've got Ross Macdonald's newest, "The Goodbye Look." Phyllis Whitney's new title, "Lost Island." Mignon Eberhart's latest, "El Rancho Rio" and my personal favorite, Emme Lathen's most recent book, "Pick Up Sticks."

We have a new Dorothy Eden novel, "Melbury Square" and a new Elizabeth Goudge title, "The Child from the Sea."

And many, many more.

We've started the new year off with a tremendous bang. Drop in and get in on all the fun!

Good intentions never saved a penny.

It takes a commitment to save money. To your family, to the future. And maybe to your country. Good intentions just aren't enough.

That's why the Payroll Savings Plan works so well. It's a way of saying "I'm committed."

And it's almost effortless. All you do is sign up once, where you work. Then the amount you specify is automatically set aside from your check each payday and put into U.S. Savings Bonds. You have automatic saving power.

After all, it's hard to spend money you don't touch.

Oh, you'll touch it someday. For that house, or dream vacation, or for your kids' college education.

And now there's a bonus interest rate on all U.S. Savings Bonds—for E Bonds, 5½% when held to maturity of 5 years 10 months (4% the first year). That extra ½% payable as a bonus at maturity, applies to all Bonds issued since June 1, 1970 . . . with a comparable improvement for all older Bonds.

So think it over. The Payroll Savings Plan. It's a small effort, but it's a big commitment. For you and your country.

Bonds are safe. If lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace them. When needed, they can be cashed at your bank. Tax may be deferred until redemption. And always remember, Bonds are a smart way to save.

Take stock in America.
With higher paying U.S. Savings Bonds.

4-H program is also for urban youngsters

COLLEGE STATION — 4-H is coming to town. Long regarded as an organization for farm youth, this national institution that recently celebrated its 62nd birthday has followed the migrating rural population to the urban areas of the country.

The most popular project among Texas 4-H members last year was foods and nutrition, where youngsters learn the basics of nutrition and food preparation. The study of textiles was a close second followed by horses, which have shown a surprisingly strong surge in urban areas, especially Dallas.

An effort to appeal to more young people in urban areas resulted in the recent Texas 4-H Plan; whereby programs of the 4-H organization will be studied and adjusted to attract more young people. This means the programs and projects offered must be useful to the urban youth who lives in a town or city and does not have the land available to begin livestock or crop projects. Already, some 24 of the 43 project categories in 4-H work are adapted to urban living.

This would not cause the rural 4-H programs to suffer in quality; but instead would add to the overall effectiveness of the state-wide program, emphasizes Dr. Donald L. Stormer, state 4-H Club leader.

The Texas plan for improvement and expansion parallels what is already happening on an individual county basis throughout the state. Leaders have taken on local problems or projects, sometimes with the help of the state 4-H office but usually by themselves.

Future plans call for 4-H specialists in each of the 12 Extension districts of the state, and expanded use of the mass media to further youth programs.

One such project currently under way is the taping of an electrical education series for presentation next fall on television stations all across the state. 4-H members may enroll in the course through the state 4-H office and receive credit for completion of projects after watching the series on television.

One of the more recent and successful projects carried out on the local level with state 4-H supervision is a program to assist disadvantaged youngsters in Houston. The purpose is to develop an educational program that will reach the many disadvantaged young people who do not participate in organized youth programs.

The project was begun with the assistance of several agencies already working in Houston, including the Welfare Department and the Community Action Agency of the Office of Economic Opportunity. Perhaps the best measure of success of the first year was that more than 90 per cent of the 750 participating youngsters were not members of any other organized educational program.

Leaders of the project credit a lot of the success to the fact that the youth were contacted on an individual basis instead of being overwhelmed by large agencies with complex organization.

The ever-present problem of narcotics and drug education was also tackled last year when a program was begun in Potter County, where the city of Amarillo has about 125,000 residents. The project was intended to educate young people on the dangers of the "everyday" drugs, the stimulants and depressants found in many home medicine cabinets. The pilot program has enjoyed outstanding success with the instruction being packaged into a two-day course that is scheduled for presentation to large groups of young people in the Amarillo area.

319 new industries chose Texas in '70

AUSTIN — Despite an economic situation that kept the nation's populace holding on to all available pennies, more industries chose Texas for new plants in 1970 than in the rosier years of 1966-68.

The Texas Industrial Commission reported that 319 new industries were located in the Lone Star State during 1970, second only to the record 1969 total which led the nation and made Texas number one in industrial growth.

"I must admit we are surprised with the total," Chester Wine of Corpus Christi, chairman of the Texas Industrial Commission, said upon hearing the figures. "We expected it to be quite low since the entire nation suffered economically during the year."

Jim Harwell, executive director of the TIC, said the 319 new plant locations compared with 309 in 1966 and figures in the 290 area for 1967 and 1968.

"We are especially pleased with these results because the total was located in the face of adversity," Harwell said. "I've always said that Texas has every natural resource any manufacturer would want and it is up to us to make sure that they find out about it. However, state-offered location incentives are becoming just as important."

As an example, Harwell said the Texas Industrial Commission and its allies were trying to attract industrial growth with nine per cent conventional money, while a states with industrial incentive programs, including all states bordering Texas, were offering money as low as five or six per cent.

He said 40 states now have an industrial incentive program of some kind.

However, the economic situation did show up in figures on industrial expansion in Texas. Wine said existing manufacturers generally held on to what financing they had in the face of the tight money, with only 367 new plant expansions reported for the year.

This figure is the lowest during the past five years, compared with 505 in 1969, 444 expansions in 1968, 370 in 1967, and 437 in 1966.

Unemployment showed an increase during the year, but Texas was still better than the national average. Labor statisticians reported manufacturing employment as down 52,000 jobs or 6.8 per cent from November 1969 to November 1970, compared with a national figure showing a 7.4 per cent decrease. A spokesman for the TIC anticipated more layoffs during the first quarter of 1971 due to continued expiration of government contracts.

Major employment declines came in the areas of electrical machinery and transportation equipment, just as on the national scene.

The Industrial Commission, honored only last year by the U. S. Department of Commerce for work in export development and presentation of the coveted "E" Award, continued to increase in that area.

Latest figures from the Commerce Department indicate an increase of 25 per cent in the past three year period, with $1.5 billion in Texas goods being traded internationally.

During the year, the export division of the TIC added another unique feature to the trade mission.

The Governor's office led a group of 25 Texas manufacturers on a flying trade seminar-mission, allowing the Texas industrialists to learn first-hand of the ins-and-outs of trade with Mexico, and meet personally with prospective purchasers in that country.

Mind Your Manners

By Bernard S. Ramsey

Pastoral Prayer, Morning Worship, First Christian Church, Jan. 10, 1971

Father, we have a whole New Year stretching ahead of us . . . help us to try . . . this year . . . to be a little easier to get along with. You know better than we know ourselves, how grouchy, irritable and disagreeable we can be . . . and you know all the reasons: our aches . . . and pains . . . and frustrations and disappointments, and the old memories that have left deep scars . . . but help us to always remember that the other fellow has his troubles too . . . so help us this year . . . to be easy to get along with . . . and easy to live with.

One of the saddest things about our lives, Father, is how we drop all our shams and pretenses of good breeding and reveal the kind of people we really are when we walk through the front door of our homes . . . outside . . . in public . . . around friends . . . in our business and social relationships we are on our best behavior. We are paragons of courtesy . . . politeness . . . and respect. We exhibit, Father . . . impeccable manners . . . and go out of our way to be kind, thoughtful, and considerate of others . . . how sad it is, we so carelessly park these virtues outside the sacred precincts of our homes.

It is true that oftentimes we are all "out of sorts"—this we manage to conceal from others . . . from outsiders . . . But remind us Father, that "out of sorts" or not, doesn't give us license to practice our ill-mannered discourtesies and unkindnesses and indefensible behavior on the very ones we should deal with most gently . . . Father, forgive us for the inexcusable way we treat our loved ones.

And so, Father, if we want to bite someone's head off . . . help us to bite our lips . . . or tongue instead.

If it is absolutely necessary to say something the other person will not like . . . help us to say it in such a gracious manner that he will know that only love has prompted us to say it . . . and that we are sincerely trying to be of help.

If we hear something nasty, Father . . . help us to forget it quickly . . . or if we can't, at least, not to spread it.

Help us to remember when we want to frown to know that a smile is worth a lot more than it costs.

Help us Father, to be easier to get along with . . . to live with . . . so that others, even those closest to us . . . will know we have more than just a passing acquaintance with you. Forgive us, Father, for the mistakes of the past year . . . who among us could number them? Just help us to avoid repeating them and to profit from them. We pray in Jesus' name. Amen.

(And since you'd expect it of me; regular, consistent attendance at church will help anyone to be easier to get along with . . . to live with).

"DO NOT BEND, FOLD OR MUTILATE ME!"

"I'm not a number. I'm not a hole in a punch card. Why should I get a recorded message when I dial a number?"

We all know that technology is making our lives easier. But sometimes . . . do you also get the feeling that people are losing touch with people?

Now ask yourself a tough question: "What am I doing to reduce this feeling of 'I don't care'?" Do you care about other people as much as you might? Not just old people . . . or lonely people . . . or underprivileged people. But all people.

Just as you don't want to be a number, nobody else does either. The truth is: people need people. That means you and me, and all of us.

But "Love your neighbor as yourself" is easier said than done.

That's the reason for our little booklet called "How One Town Put Its Faith to Work." It's free. Send for it. It tells what people of goodwill can do—and did do in one town—when they put their hearts—and their backs—into it.

People need people. This booklet shows how to turn words into deeds. All in all, a postage stamp well-spent.

Coming events casting their shadows before

Now that the first semester of school is up there are a lot of events to look forward to in the second semester.

There is the senior play, junior-senior banquet, Easter holidays, and more basketball games, volleyball, tennis and track. And the biggest event for the seniors is graduation.

So as you think back, half the year is already gone and with all the many events coming up, school will soon be over.

Poverty, like sin, is something we try to conceal when we are young—and brag about when we are old.

Cattle feeding continues to show gain in Texas and rest of nation

COLLEGE STATION—Texas cattle feeders on last Oct. 1 reported 1.4 million head on feed, 6 per cent more than Oct. 1, 1969. The Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service in the same report said that nationally the increase was only 3 per cent.

Ed Uvacek, Extension livestock marketing specialist, said the report showed that feeding continues to show the most growth in the northern part of the Panhandle with declines now developing in the northeast and Gulf Coast areas of the state. More than one million head were on feed Oct. 1 in High Plains feedlots, he said.

Uvacek noted that Texas reported 264 feedlots with capacities of 1,000 or more on Oct. 1 and that they held 1.4 million head of cattle. These large feedlots have a total capacity of 2.4 million head at one time; thus, only 59 per cent of their available capacity was in use on Oct. 1.

The Oct. 1 report, pointed out the specialist, showed that 80 lots were empty. Utilization of the 184 feedlots was at 66 per cent of capacity, Uvacek said.

Texas feedlots placed 780,000 head on feed during the July-September quarter, down 3 per cent from the same period a year ago. Operators reported intentions to market 796,000 cattle during the last quarter of 1970, about 10 per cent more than a year ago. Uvacek said that short-feds were excluded in both marketing figures.

Nationally, on Oct. 1, 1970 there were 10,382,060 head of cattle and calves on feed in the 22 major feeding states, 3 per cent above a year ago. Placements during the July-Sept. quarter were just 8 million head or 7 per cent more than for the same period in 1969. Cattle feeders in the 22 states plan to market 5.8 million head during the last quarter in 1970, 3 per cent more than last year, Uvacek noted.

In other actions, the court: Accepted the low bids of Gulf Oil Co. for regular gasoline at 18.98 cents per gallon and 20.98 cents per gallon for ethyl, and that of the Hackberry Coop for diesel fuel at 13 cents per gallon for 1971.

The commissioners and Judge Dalby discussed the need to make a few permanent improvements in courthouse offices, such as painting, etc.

The court agreed that Judge Dalby should contact each office in the courthouse to ask for any needs for improvements each might have. The court will then consider the list and set up a "work schedule." Commissioners Herbert Walls and Ted Aten were named to negotiate a contract on behalf of the county for the paving of the road into the city-county park.

Postings—

The most surprising change about the new 1970 income tax form — and one we have never heard of — is that for the first time Uncle Sam is offering to figure out some of these income tax returns himself. For some of the simple returns, all the taxpayer has to do is mail in his data.

We've been doing so much of Uncle Sam's bookkeeping free for a many years as we've been in business, just like every businessman, that we find this hard to believe.

We are struck by the follow-up thought, however, that how many taxpayers will "trust" Uncle Sam to fill out their tax form? We'll bet he doesn't have many takers.

Meredith and Marcia Newby flew off today for New York from where they soon will be on their way by plane to London and a hoped-for stay of several months in Europe.

They hope to find jobs in London to save up some traveling money and then spend the summer touring the rest of Europe.

A lot of boys take such a travel fling after college, but not so many girls. We think it is a wonderful experience. We got so interested in their project (knowing them for so many years) that we dug up our "diary" and picture album of our 13-weeks on the continent back in 1937-38 just after we graduated from the University of Chicago. We crossed the Atlantic both ways in a 10-mile-an-hour Lykes line freighter out of the gulf ports for $50 each way (19 days going and 27 days on the return due to a pretty big storm.)

We spent a three-week Christmas holiday at the foreign student house in Berlin in those Nazi days and were so broke when we left the German capital we had to join the Nazi youth movement for 25 cents so we could sleep free for two nights in a German youth hostel (an old wooden sailing vessel without heat) on the Hamburg waterfront waiting to board our American freighter for home in ice-cold January.

All in all we visited England, France (had our own apartment in Paris for a week), Austria, Czechoslovakia, Switzerland and Germany. Cost? I think I spent something like $375. But those were "depression dollars".

Our favorite story of that jaunt was about Elizabeth Taylor. Ask us about it sometime.

MEDICAL PHYSICS

The cone of a supervoltage machine is directed at a patient's stomach. A switch is pulled. A concentration of ionizing radiation attacks a cancerous growth.

An electron microscope is brought into focus in a darkened room. In the low, soft, green light, a research scientist studies the molecular structure of a cancerous cell.

These are a few of the research projects now in progress at the Argonne Cancer Research Hospital (ACRH), a research facility operated by the University of Chicago for the United States Atomic Energy Commission.

The hospital, which opened in 1953, maintains a program concerned with the uses of ionizing radiation in clinical and laboratory studies on causes, treatment, and cure of cancer and other diseases.

All project leaders hold appointments in the Division of the Biological Sciences and the Pritzker School of Medicine of the University. The hospital is part of the University's complex of hospitals and clinics on the central campus.

The hospital's three supervoltage machines, used for cancer therapy as well as radiobiological studies on laboratory animals, are a 2,000,000 electron-volt Van de Graaff x-ray generator, a rotational cobalt 60 machine, and a 50,000,000 electron-volt linear accelerator. Project leaders most closely concerned with these machines are all professors in the University's Department of Radiology. Dr. Lester S. Skaggs is responsible for design, maintenance, and development.

PACIFIC IMPLANTS

The Atomic Energy Commission has implanted in the Pacific Ocean two compact 19-watt nuclear power generators whose successful operation should help fill a critical need in ocean exploration.

The nuclear radioisotope power generators, designated SNAP-21, were implanted for long-term testing by the Navy Undersea Research Development Center, Pasadena, California, and the Naval Radiological Defense Laboratory, San Francisco, for the AEC off the coast of San Clemente Island as part of a joint AEC-Navy program. A third unit is scheduled for implantation later this summer.

These 10-watt radioisotope-powered generators have been developed by the AEC to meet an increasing need for long endurance and highly reliable energy sources for use in the ocean at depths down to 23,000 feet. They are designed to provide uninterrupted electrical power for periods of five years or longer and are intended for use as power sources for underwater navigation aids, sonar beacons, seismological stations, and for general purpose oceanographic and ocean engineering application. Reliable and long endurance power sources are critical needs associated with the ocean exploration and technology. Conventional power sources are generally limited to endurance of less than six months.

4 Postiles attend Boy Scout event

More than 625 Scout leaders and their wives, including four from Post, filled the Fair Park Coliseum in Lubbock Saturday night for the 45th annual Recognition Banquet of the South Plains Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Attending from Post were Mr. and Mrs. Silas Short and Mr. and Mrs. Grant Lott.

They heard Jack L. Rhea, New Brunswick, N.J., director of field operations of the Boy Scouts of America, challenge them to meet the goals of the BOYPOWER 76 program.

A number of awards were presented and Col. Clyde J. Morganti (USAF, Ret.), Lubbock, was installed as president of the South Plains Council for 1971.

Regional housing plans explained

Three members of Garza County's Community Action Committee heard plans told in Levelland Monday night for a unique program to build a thousand new homes in the eight-county area served by the South Plains Community Action Association.

Garza is one of the four counties which already has agreed to participate in the program which will be financed by government-guaranteed loans.

It will be only the third effort the county to set up such a regional housing authority under the government's OEO program.

The three — Mrs. Madie Johnson, the Rev. George L. Miller, and Jack Lott, also heard reports of other upcoming programs for the area as well as a year-end report and a discussion of the budget.

It takes up to 22 months for pineapple plant and as long as 36 months for sugar cane to ripen in Hawaii.

Idalou made a clean sweep of 3 District 4AA basketball games here last Friday night, the boys winning 70-55, the girls taking a 56-47 decision, and the "B" team girls winning 38-35.

All three games were real close in the late stages, but in each contest it was a case of the Post cagers letting their opponents get too big a jump on them and then being forced to play catch-up.

The Idalou boys brought their district record to 5-0 with their victory over Post, while Coach Bert Leaverton's Antelopes dropped to a 1-4 mark.

The Wildcats led 13-8 at the end of the first quarter and 29-27 at the halftime intermission on Wayne

Atchley's field goal just before the buzzer after Steve Hays had hit two free throws for Post to tie it up at 27-27.

The Wildcats were out in front by nine points, 48-39, at the end of the third quarter, going on to win by a 15-point margin.

The Antelopes' chances were hurt when Steve Hays fouled out with 35 seconds of the third quarter to go after having scored 19 points, tops for Post. Twenty-one seconds after Hays fouled out, starter David Woods went to the bench with his fifth personal foul.

Bryan Kendrick was Idalou's leading scorer with 20 points, 14 of them in the second half.

In the girls' game, the teams were tied, 11-11, at the end of the first quarter, but Idalou led 31-21 at the half and 40-33 going into the fourth quarter.

The Does began making their move to catch up early in the final period and pulled up even with 3:30 remaining on Sherry Bird's field goal that made the score 47-47.

Peggy Cox hit two free throws to put Idalou back in the lead, 49-47, with 2:37 left on the clock, and three consecutive turnovers by Coach Jiggs King's Does enabled Idalou to put six more points on the scoreboard before the final buzzer.

Sherry Bird scored 28 points for Post, but Idalou's Peggy Cox was the game's top scorer with 30. Stephanie Davis scored 13 points for Post, and Trena Jackson, six. The Post guards were Sue Eubank, Judy Norman, Liz Dalby and Pam Feagin.

Paula Criswell scored 24 points for Post in the "B" team girls' 38-35 loss, with Pat Johnson hitting eight and Anita Criado, three.

The scoring summary of the boys' game:

IDALOU: Bradshaw 2 1 5; Isom 4 1 9; Cocanougher 3 2 8; Atchley 4 2 10; Nettles 0 0 0; Layne 3 2 8; Brunson 1 0 2; Jones 4 0 8; Kendrick 5 10 20. TOTALS 25 20 70.

Post's 7th and 8th grade girls' basketball teams swept to a pair of victories here Friday and Monday nights over Cooper and Idalou respectively.

Kim Mitchell and Rhonda Criswell with 12 and 11 points scored all of the 7th graders' points in the Cooper game as the locals rallied in the final period after trailing for three quarters to take the win.

It was strictly no contest for the 8th grade girls in the other half of the twin bill, as Post won 34-7, allowing Cooper only two points for the first three periods.

Melanie King led the local scoring with 9, followed by Jenda Gilmore with 8, Patti Parrish 5, Carol Davis 4, Sherry Compton 3, Tina McAllister 3, and Patricia Davis 2.

Kim Mitchell again led the 7th graders' attack Monday as the locals had a much easier time with a 32-11 victory over Idalou, shutting out the visitors for the first half and taking a 19-0 intermission lead.

Rhonda Criswell again scored 11 with Patricia Bluberry and Glenda

Dunn each scoring 2 points.

Fire destroys home in Hackberry area

By MRS. EDMUND WILKE
Hello everybody, another week has rolled around and today (Monday) is just beautiful! Seems like fall weather instead of winter weather.

We were all so sorry to hear that Mrs. Alice Martin's home at Hackberry burned last week. Mrs. Martin moved to Slaton recently and a young couple was in the process of moving into her house and had most of their belongings moved in, so I expect they lost everything. I think this is so sad, but we must be thankful that no one was in the house at the time of the fire.

E. L. Dunn spent this past weekend here with his parents and Jackie. Jackie will probably be returning to Thailand before too long.

Southland Junior High was entered in a basketball tournament last week at Fluvanna and the boys won second place. Congratulations. Mrs. Bessie Wright of Wharton spent this past weekend visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stone-wall Jefferson.

Our daughter, Sherri, is home for the month of January. She will be working at the new St. Mary's Hospital in Lubbock and will be in the physical therapy department. This is part of her college work. She will receive three hours credit for it. She is really excited about it. Mrs. Lynn Freeman, sister of D. D. Pennell, has returned to Houston after spending some time here in Southland. Her son, Judson Freeman, has returned from 10 months in Vietnam to be with his wife who was injured in a car wreck on New Year's Eve. After a 30 day leave, he will be reassigned in the states.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Cederholm and Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Ferguson of Post and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Pennell and Kim of Lubbock visited in the D. D. Pennell home Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Wilke have returned to their home in Kingland. Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Chaffin of Lubbock visited with the Max Chaffin family Sunday. Max will go into the hospital this week to undergo back surgery. May God grant him a speedy recovery. Our 25th anniversary party last Friday, Jan. 8, turned out just great and we were just overwhelmed by all the friends and relatives who attended. We just loved every minute of it. Mr. and Mrs. James

Committee proposes stepped-up program for history groups

AUSTIN — Seventeen recommendations to augment the programs of the state's historical organizations emerged Jan. 6 as the concrete results of a five-month study by the Speaker's Special Committee on Historical Preservation.

The group was created in August of 1970 by Speaker of the Texas House Gus Mutscher. It has been chaired by State Rep. R. B. McAllister of Lubbock.

At the culmination of an investigation into the present work of the state's existing historical organizations, the 15-member committee presented recommendations ranging from the creation of a master plan for saving the heritage of the State Capitol Complex to the preservation of priceless Indian pictographs in West Texas.

Specifically the committee proposed that the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department acquire the Seminole Canyon pictograph sites near Del Rio to protect the valuable prehistoric rock paintings located there. These are among the most significant Indian pictographs in North America.

The group further recommended that the Parks and Wildlife Department continue to acquire other, smaller, historic sites such as the Sabine Pass battleground.

Also suggested was legislation designed to prevent the destruction or alteration of historic county courthouses, plus the appropriation of funds to restore deteriorating historic courthouses and their grounds. The Texas State Historical Survey Committee, state agency for historical preservation, would be the supervisor of such projects and funds.

Also proposed was the development of pilot oral history programs throughout the state. An appropriation of $10,000 to be used in making grants to colleges, universities, and historical organizations was recommended to finance the oral history projects.

The committee, in addition, advised the creation of an "historical resources development council" to plan ways to better publicize the story of Texas' unique historical heritage. To supplement this, they suggested the employment of an information specialist to write historical features for both in-state and out-of-state news media.

A pilot project to microfilm old county records was recommended as a task for the Texas Library and Historical Commission.

History teachers got a favorable nod in the proposal to improve and increase teaching aids on Texas history. The Texas Legislative Council would make a study of teaching aids, including new ones to be developed for use on educational television.

Several recommendations were made relative to historical museums in the state. It was proposed (1) that the Historical Survey Committee initiate annual training seminars for museum curators, (2) that state colleges and universities be encouraged to initiate museumology courses, (3) that an appropriation of $10,000 be made to provide grants in aid to small museums in the state, and (4) that accreditation standards for history museums in Texas be formulated by the Survey Committee.

The Speaker's Committee also advised the creation of regional historical resource centers to serve as loan depositories for library and archival materials. These centers would facilitate the work of researchers in out-of-the-way areas.

Finally, the committee recommended its own continuation and expansion in view of the magnitude of the task entrusted to it by Speaker Mutscher.

Small corporations are still being offered tax break—with limitation

(This is the third in a series of articles prepared by the Texas Society of Certified Public Accountants offering advice on filing 1970 Federal income tax returns.)

Despite elimination under the Tax Reform Act of 1969 of some of the benefits previously available to them, small business firms can still enjoy most of the advantages of operating in the corporate form, while avoiding most corporate income taxes, according to Miller Montag, President of the Texas Society of CPAs.

In 1968, Montag explains, Congress authorized the establishment of "Subchapter S" corporations, by which companies having no more than 10 shareholders and meeting other requirements can avoid the corporate tax, thus escaping the double taxation on dividends paid by ordinary corporations to their stockholders.

Employee-stockholders of Subchapter S corporations also enjoy other privileges, such as the right of the corporations to take as an expense premiums on group life insurance policies, reimbursements for medical and dental expenses and unemployment and workmen's compensation premiums.

To the average small businessman, these "fringe benefits" can provide, in effect substantial "tax-free" income.

It is estimated that 15 per cent of American corporations are now in the Subchapter S classification and that at least a million additional enterprises qualify for it.

Effective Jan. 1, 1970, Montag says, the Tax Reform Act of 1969 limits the Subchapter S corporation's tax-free contributions to a stockholder-employee's pension or profit-sharing plan to 10 per cent of his salary, or $2,500, whichever is less.

The Internal Revenue Service,

Montag says, has urged Congress to eliminate differences in the deductibility of such payments as among various forms of business organization, but as yet Congress has taken no action on the recommendation.

"Experts in the field believe," Montag says, "that in spite of the limitations imposed by the present law, the special privilege of being taxed only once on corporate earnings disbursed as dividends offers sufficient incentive for businessmen to consider seriously the use of 'Subchapter S.'"
