Salt Fork SCD Pick Nominees for Soil Awards

Nominees to represent the Salt Fork Soil Conservation District in the annual Save the Soil and Save Texas awards program were announced this week by Bob Crawford, work unit conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service.

Zook Thomas, Wellington banker-farmer, was nominated the Outstanding Conservation Farmer. He was chosen not only on the basis of his outstanding conservation program. but also on the work he has done for Salt Fork SCD as a supervisor and for his general promotion of soil conservation in the area.

Miss Virginia Robey, news editor of The Wellington Leader, was nominated the professional person who has done outstanding work in behalf of soil conservation.

Weeds, Water, Disease and Fertility

Farm Specialists Attack Problems of Growers

County farmers Tuesday, March 3 heard a quartet of research specialists discuss four points of prime importance to the agricultural economy of Collingsworth county — irrigation, soil testing and fertilizing, plant diseases and weed control.

The latter discussion, by Billy Gunter, area agronomist with the Extension Service, Lubbock, concerned findings from the Northwest Texas Research Demonstration tests here.

The other Extension Service speakers were Dave Sherrill, area irrigation specialist; James H. Valentine, area soil chemist with the soil testing lab; and, Dr. Robert Berry, area plant pathologist.

Sherrill warned irrigation farmers here that they, as well as farmers on the Plains, must watch the water table and check every year to see how their supply of water compares with the preceding year. This is important, he told the group, or they may find themselves with an expensive investment in a dry well.

Continuing, Sherrill touched on the importance to timely watering of cotton. and if the planting date is late, water should be watched closely in order not to have too much vegetative growth.

Use of cotton burs as fertilizer was urged, and Sherrill cited cases in which as much as 216 pounds lint increase was had from the use of burs.

With new equipment, irrigation farmers are seeking to get away from so much hand labor, the speaker continued, and described types of wheel-mounted and slide-mounted pipes now on the market designed to cut down the amount of labor in moving sprinkling systems.

Valentine, discussing fertilizer and the need for soil testing, explained the different forms of nitrogen available, the time and methods of application and the benefits to be derived.

"On the sandier soils of our area, rates of 20 to 30 pounds of nitrogen, along with 20 to

Community Supper Fetes Quail Teams

Quail community will honor its two basketball teams and celebrate the first district championship in 16 years with a big community supper Monday night, March 9 at 7 p.m.

Those attending should bring a basket supper for their own families and any guests, as well as enough additional for a ball player.

The Quails this year won the 9-B district title but lost in the bi-district to the Quitaque Panthers.

The girls also had a successful season, and stood fourth in the district.

Don Lacy coaches both teams.

"This is an opportunity for us to honor the boys and girls who have brought athletic glory to the school this season, and we urge everyone in the community and all former students to be here with their families," Supt. Herman Moseley said.

One-Day Session

Grand Jury Returns Murder Indictments

Two murder indictments were returned by the 100th District Court Grand Jury in a one-day session Wednesday, Feb. 24. Judge Lewis Goodrich of Shamrock presided.

Indicted were Erasmo Gonzales, accused of killing his wife, Mary, earlier this month, and Daniel Rodriguez, charged with the murder of Carlos Martinez on Dec. 20.

The men are from Dodson and both murders took place in the labor barracks located there. The two are being held without bond in Memphis jail.

This is the first time a grand jury has handed down two murder indictments in one session during his tenure of office, Sheriff John Rainey told The Wellington Leader.

Former Sheriff Claude McKinney said that while he could not remember off-hand the last time this occurred, it has been a good many years.

Two other indictments were returned by the grand jury:

This meeting will be in the Greenbelt Electric Cooperative building, beginning at 2 p.m.

Gruver to Regional

Rockettes Lose Bid for Bi-District Crown

Wellington's Rockettes closed out basketball this season for Collingsworth in their unsuccessful bid for the bi-district crown against the Gruver girls, 1-A champions, Tuesday night, March 3.

For the first half, however, it was anybody's game. The Rockettes ran into trouble in the third period that was costly, and although they rallied in the fourth, they were unable to even the score.

"The girls wanted to win real bad and were a little bit tense and didn't play the ball they are capable of playing," Coach James Stavenhagen said. "Gruver has a real good club and I feel they will win the regional and do well in state."

Gruver opened the scoring in the first quarter and held onto the lead through the period, although the score was only 10-8 as the quarter ended.

During the second quarter, the Wellington girls picked up and at one point pulled ahead 17-16. Gruver made 5 straight points and LaNetta Blankenship's toss just before the buzzer put Gruver four points ahead, 21-17, at the half.

Blankenship did most of the scoring at this point, driving the ball and then hitting little jump shots from the outside. the gap to 38-24 as the period ended.

Wellington girls smoothed out in the final period and outscored Gruver 13 to 11.

Free throws made the difference in the game. The Rockettes were not quite as quick

During the third period, several costly mistakes held down Wellington's score and Gruver

The basketball game will start at 7, and it will be a double-header, featuring two men's teams and two women's teams. All players will be ex-students.

"It's going to be one of the funniest games of the year," declared Raymond Horton, the captain of one of the teams and organizer of the game.

"There'll be a few grandparents on the court, on down to some limber youngsters barely out of high school," he said.

Both the supper and basketball game are benefit events. The seniors will use the pancake proceeds to help finance their trip next spring, and the ex-students are staging the basketball game to help pay for an entertainment for the high school basketball teams.

1963 Crop 200,000 Pounds

Interest Grows in Expansion of Guar

New interest sparked in guar on all levels spotlights that crop's performance in Collingsworth over the last decade.

The crop remains everything its early boosters said it was—cash crop, superior livestock feed, one of the best soil builders available, and it is adapted to this area.

Collingsworth county bean production was a little more than 600,000 pounds for the 1963 crop, according to Jones Singley of Singley Mill, the local buyer.

This accounts only harvested acres, but besides this there was a considerable amount of guar planted on diverted acres which could not be harvested and was plowed under as a soil builder.

"The yield was exceptionally good, from 600 to 1100 pounds per acre. On an average, it is 400 or 500 pounds," Singley continued.

The price was $3.40 per 100.

All beans bought here in the past have gone to General Mills guar processing plant at Kenedy, established in 1952, and John Esser, plant manager, was instrumetal in the first planting of guar here.

Tom Birchfield, northwest of Dodson, probably had the largest acreage last year. around 70 acres, but other growers included Louis Patterson, also of Dodson; William O'Rear, J. C. Cason, Raymond Barton, H. L. Jenkins and Horace Holliman in the Wellington area.

"Guar is one of the best soil builders we have here," Singley explained. "Besides that, it has a deep tap root like cotton, that penetrates the hard pan and loosens the soil, so it will take water better."

Impetus to the expanded acreage of guar in the Texas-Southwest Oklahoma area. is the Farm Bureau's plan to sell guar on the European market beginning with the 1964 crop.

The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station points out that guar is both drouth-resistant and adapted to a wide range of soil types.

Yet the fact remains, that only in a few places in the world can guar be successfully grow—the area centering around Wellington, Quanah, Vernon and Southwest Oklahoma, in the United States, in Pakistan, India and Turkey. Yet the industrial uses for the gum extracted from guar grows—for paper, tobacco, petroleum, mining, textile, food, cosmetic and pharmaceutical industries.

There are advantages on the farm, besides the increased yields from crops following it in rotation. It is a valuable high protein livestock feed and can be used either processed or as forage. It can be grazed or interplanted with sorghum for silage or cut as a green manure crop. After the beans are harvested, there is considerable residue to turn back in the soil.

Now comes word of a new disease resistant higher yielding variety of guar, released by the Texas and Oklahoma agriculture experiment stations and the US department of agriculture, and developed almost in our front door—the Chillicothe Experiment Station.

The variety, known as Brooks is resistant to bacterial blight and Alternaria leaf spot, the principal diseases of guar. It is well adapted to guar growing areas and in 1962 and 1963 tests averaged 1283 pounds of seed to the acre, or 431 pounds more than the average commercial variety. But even where no disease was present, Brooks produced about 9% higher yields.

Guar is a dual-purpose summer legume grown principally for its vegetable gum used for industrial and food purposes. This gum is used by paper, tobacco, petroleum, mining, textile, food, cosmetic and pharmaceutical industries.

Brooks guar originated from the progeny of a single plant selection in a field of Groehler guar in 1959 at Iowa Park.

It can be easily distinguished from Groehler and Texsel guar by its branching habit of growth and by the absence of hairs on stems, leaflets and pods. Pods of Brooks set higher from the ground than those of the other two and thus harvest losses should be lower.

The seed of Brooks are similar to those of Groehler and Texsel. Certified seed for general farm planting is expected to be available following the 1964 harvest, but a small quantity of foundation seed is available for planting now. Interested producers should contact the Foundation Seed Section, Texas A&M University.

The new variety of guar bears the name of the long time superintendent of the Iowa Park Experiment Station, Lester E. Brooks. He has worked with guar in Texas for about 35 years, and selected the original plant from which the Brooks variety was propagated.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

I see where a new consumers' bureau has been set up in Washington, to police the supermarkets and defend innocent shoppers from tricky food packagers.

One idea is to get the weights of products printed in big type, for people who can't read fine print, and to see that the packages are full up to the brim.

Then we'll need a voters' bureau, to make it compulsory that political candidates be truthfully labeled and don't have too much empty space at the top.

The news is that Washington is highly put-out with the English for selling some buses to Cuba.

But this bus sale deal just goes to show that the British, like us Americans, won't stand by and let people suffer, especially when a buck can be made by coming to their relief.

So they are sending the buses to Castro, because they obviously figure that after getting a lot of U.S. wheat by way of Russia, many Cubans will be too fat to have to walk.

It seems that our great surgeons are getting close to success in using animal organs, such as monkey kidneys and brains, as replacement parts for people.

My contemplator neighbor says he sometimes feels the need of a new brain, but is not sure he would be happy with one swiped, say, from a chimpanzee.

Says, though, he has known some very wise dogs, and so he wouldn't mind having a choice dog brain, if it didn't make him want to bark at the moon and chase postmen.

The word getting around is that President Johnson has got the White House light bill cut away down, and also is aiming to reduce the federal payroll.

So the Department of Commerce has hired a herd of new workers to study about hiring fewer people.

My super-cynic neighbor says naturally, extra help had to be hired for this payroll cutting job, because there is ample evidence that it is sure not frugality experts that we have got too many of in federal employment.

Only members of the immediate families attended.

Miss Fulcher is the daughter of Mrs. R. F. Fulcher and the late Mr. Fulcher. She received her education here and entered the tax office in 1950 as deputy. She was elected to the office in 1959.

She is a past president of the Business and Professional Women's Club and a member of its chorus. She is active in First Baptist Church, a member of the Tax Assessor's and Collector's Association of Texas and on the board of directors of the Wellington Alumni Association.

Mr. Sweat is the son of Mrs. A. O. Sweat and the late Mr. Sweat. He received his degree from West Texas State University and has been with the Soil Conservation Service for a number of years. His assignments were at Clarendon, Canadian, Memphis and Corsicana before he was transferred to Quitaque in August 1963. He also is active in the Baptist Church.

For her wedding, the bride wore a light blue wool dress, made with a jewel neckline, short sleeves and straight skirt. Her white feathered hat had a short veil, and her corsage was of white roses. For travel, she added a full-length matching coat.

Mr. and Mrs. Sweat are now at home in Quitaque.

Mrs. Ratliff B&PW Speaker

Mrs. Ben Ratliff, librarian and English instructor in Wellington high school, was guest speaker at the Business and Professional Women's Club on Tuesday evening, Feb. 25, carrying out in her talk the theme "Know Your America."

Mrs. Ratliff chose the letter "L" as the framework on which to build her discussion of literature, laws, language, ladies, and landscapes that give color to America.

On an imaginary tour via slides conducted by the speaker, guests traveled from Wellington through the Dakotas, Wyoming, Utah, California and Washington. She also showed pictures of Wellington gardens.

Mrs. Steve Owens and Mrs. Harold Keller were in charge of the program, and decorations featured small American flags in display on the dining table, and a display board showing major scenic points in the United States.

Attending were Mrs. Rob Isbell, Mrs. Ernest Harwell, Mrs. Jimmie Kelso, Mrs. Dee Coleman, Mrs. Otis Emmert, Mrs. Zook Thomas, Mrs. Keller, Mrs. Owens, Mrs. Ratliff, Mrs. Amos McQueary, Mrs. Bura Handley, and

Mrs. Pearl Aaron, Mrs. Fred Watkins, Mrs. Byron Duncan, Miss Edith Jackson, Miss Rose Shadid, Miss Bessie Rainer, and Miss Louise Fulcher.

Little Workers 4-H Choose Winners

The Little Workers 4-H Club met recently for a selection of honor members, chosen on points. The queen was Lillie Ann Rogers; and Princesses Mary Nell Edens and Karen Maxwell.

Others present were Cozetta Seitz and Jennifer Bouchelle.

Mrs. J. L. Burt spent several days last week in Borger with her daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Brinson and Beverly. She also visited with a grandson, Mr. and Mrs. Burt Brinson and Brooks.

Study Club Has Texas Program

On February 27 the members of the 1924 Study Club celebrated Texas Independence Day with "Feminine Focus . . . on the Lone Star State" as the overall theme.

Hostess and program chairman was Mrs. B. M. Sims, Mrs. Texas of 1963.

Mrs. Mack Bush, Top of Texas District board member, led the group in the pledge to the Texas flag and directed group singing of "Texas, Our Texas."

"Blue Bonnet, Flower of Texas" was sung by the club trio—Mrs. Bush, Mrs. Sims and Mrs. Don Van Pelt. The music of this song was played by a small band of musicians during the Battle of San Jacinto and became the national song of the Republic of Texas.

Standing beside a centerpiece of the Texas flag and a replica of Texas amid flowers, Mrs. Sims presented "A Musical Profile on the Lone Star State". This survey of one aspect of cultural progress in Texas included examples of some songs Mrs. Sims presented to supplement the commentary, were reproduced from early editions in a book by Lota M. Spell.

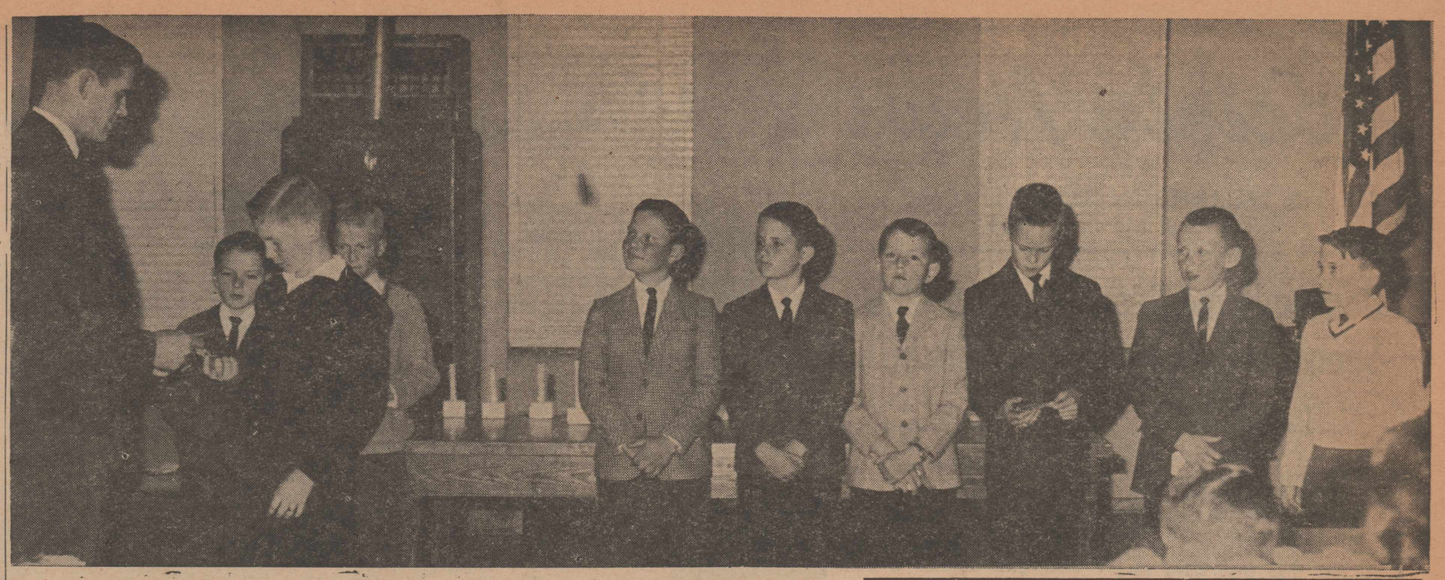

Present day Texas composers were mentioned with special emphasis on composers from the Texas Panhandle, such as Dr. Houston Bright, Radie Britain and Charlotte Ingham Word. Local composers whose works have been performed in public include Millard Brown and Sidney Duncan.

Mrs. Sims mentioned that through the Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation the fine arts of this locale are to be preserved for posterity. It was concluded by the audience and speaker that the endeavors of such a foundation provide an excellent way of imparting to countless others that Texas truly has a rich musical heritage.

A miniature Texas with a small silver star denoting "Wellington" accompanied each dessert plate. Attending was one guest, Mrs. Scott Neill, and 15 members.

Weekend visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Graves were their son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Graves and family of Wichita Falls, and Mr. and Mrs. Bud White of Amarillo. The Jimmie Graves also visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Roberson and the Whites visited his mother, Mrs. Gracie White.

Dodson Home Demonstration Club Sponsors Community Projects in '63

By Mrs. W. C. Burge
Dodson HD Club

Now that we are well into the new year, perhaps it is good to look back and see what we have achieved in the old one, 1963. The women of the Dodson Home Demonstration Club feel that they have accomplished many things. The Dodson Club was the largest in Collingsworth county in 1963. All of the women feel their responsibility to help make the club both educational and enjoyable. This has encouraged several of the young women of the community to join, and thereby, add new viewpoints.

This club has tried to meet THDA's recommendations for the year's work. During the year many projects were carried out. Members passed out litter bags to Help Keep America Beautiful.

There were meetings studying about Civil Defense and different types of bomb shelters.

Naturally family life plays a big part in Home Demonstration work and members are urged to share material and information with non-members and their families. They also encouraged non-members to attend special interest meetings and workshops.

As most of the special interest meetings and workshops were held in the Dodson school lunch room, this led to one of the community projects which the club undertook—to show their appreciation to the school for cooperations, the club members put in an afternoon working together, and made curtains for the eleven windows of the lunchroom. Everyone had a job, from measuring material to putting up new rods and hanging the finished and pressed curtains. The club also made a financial contribution to the school.

Club members have always been active as leaders of 4-H. They were gratified to see one of their girls become a Gold Star Award winner. They considered it a privilege to be able to honor her with a wedding shower in the summer of 1963.

The club works closely with the school and for the past two years has served the alumni banquet. Although this falls in a very busy season for mothers and homemakers, the night before Easter, there is good cooperation among the members as they organize to plan menus and cook and serve a meal for 150 people.

Of course, any group that works must also have recreation. A favorite of the Dodson women is the summer cook-out with barbecued chickens, hamburgers or hot dogs. These night meetings leave days free for canning and freezing of fruits and vegetables in season, and renew their zeal for living and working.

Thus went the year of Home Demonstration work in Dodson, Texas, in 1963. Now the women have already started another year under the leadership of their new president, Mrs. Ronnie Ford.

SCHOOLS IN ACTION

Parents visiting the Wellington Public Schools during Public School Week, which opened Monday, March 2 and will continue through Friday, will see classwork as it is carried on from day to day. This is the phonics corner in Mrs. H. L. Tucker's first grade room, and the children themselves brought the pictures that illustrate the letter sounds. At left, Becky Burba and Kathy Kersten show Mrs. Clyde DeMoss the phonics scrapbook, while at right Dale McEwen and Mike Cummings show Mrs. Lynn Wright how they learn word sounds. Joe Rodriguez looks on.

Club Hears Opera Review

Mrs. John Harper was hostess to the Wellington Federated Music Club recently at her home north of Wellington. Mrs. Claude Groves was co-hostess.

The guest speaker was Miss Virginia Robey, who reviewed the modern opera, "The Ballad of Baby Doe," by LaTour and Moore.

The story is based on the life of "Baby Doe" Tabor, wife of one of Colorado's silver kings of the 1880's, and the opera is peopled with figures of state and national repute in that period.

It received its premier at Central City, Colo., during the 1956 summer opera season, and has been acclaimed both in the United States and in Europe.

A solo from the opera, Baby Doe's farewell to her husband, was sung by Mrs. Davis Edens.

Vicki Killian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Killian and a senior in Wellington high school, was presented as the Junior Musician of the Month.

During the business session, officers for the coming year were announced, with Mrs. Mack Bush as president; Mrs. Hiram Cudd, vice president; Mrs. William Barjenbruch, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. Lowell Wells, parliamentarian, and Mrs. B. M. Sims, reporter.

Attending were Mrs. Bill Bradley, Mrs. Bush, Mrs. Edens, Mrs. Jack Kopp, Mrs. Orville Vaughan, Mrs. Sims, Mrs. Velman Warrick, Mrs. Jack Durham, Mrs. Cudd, and the guests, Miss Killian and Miss Robey, and the hostesses, Mrs. Harper and Mrs. Groves.

Mrs. Wooldridge Club Speaker

Mrs. Grant Wooldridge was speaker at the 1954 Study Club Thursday, February 27, discussing "Action on Arthritis."

Mrs. E. W. Clement was hostess at the Greenbelt Electric Cooperative building.

Arthritis is a rheumatic disease that affects the joints, and as yet there is no cure for it, Mrs. Wooldridge pointed out. Exercise is considered the best way to help the pain and keep the joints mobile, she told the group.

Mrs. Wooldridge discussed the two types, osteo-arthritis, the quieter form, and rheumatoid arthritis, which attacks the lining of the joints and causes severe swelling and immobility.

During the business session, presided over by Mrs. Paul Spillman, Mrs. Lynn Courtney was elected a delegate to the district convention in Borger March 26. Mrs. Spillman appointed her committees for the coming club year and plans were made for the 10th anniversary tea March 12.

Present were Mrs. Sam Adams, Mrs. Courtney, Mrs. A. J. Fires, Mrs. Bill Hatch, Mrs. Leon Hartman, Mrs. Cal Hurst, Mrs. James Richardson, Mrs. Spillman, Mrs. R. L. Templeton, Mrs. Wooldridge, Mrs. Lynn Wright, Mrs. Don Lacy, Mrs. James Larson and Mrs. Clements.

TOWER NEWS LETTER

By. SEN. JOHN TOWER

I want to talk to you today about a matter that is of extreme importance to farmers and ranchers, not only in Texas, but throughout the United States. Not only that, it is of great importance to a whole group of related businesses and industries that depend upon our agricultural community for their economic well-being.

The price of cattle has dropped drastically in recent weeks and months. This has meant a loss of millions of dollars in income for our ranchers and stock farmers. And before those of you who think that the ranchers' loss is your gain, I want you to consider a few facts that will be brought out in this report.

In 1962, the total weight of live cattle, beef and veal imported into this country jumped drastically. In 1957, these imports amounted to only 3.9 per cent of our domestic production. In 1962, this had gone up to approximately 11 per cent of our total domestic production. In 1963, it went up still more, to 12 per cent.

A few of us in the Congress became alarmed at the prospects facing our domestic livestock industry. As you may know, our livestock raisers are not under a federal subsidy. They operate in a free market and must adjust their herds over the years to take into consideration such factors as feed prices, droughts, land values, and labor supply, as well as many other things that go into successful ranching and farming.

We could see that if the import trend continued, our domestic livestock industry would be in dire straits. So we introduced a bill in the Senate, S. 557, that would establish annual quotas for imported cattle, beef, and veal, and were prepared to extend this to mutton. The quotas would be determined by averaging the past five years, including the high year of 1962, and the more-or-less normal years preceding 1962. Imports over and above this quota would have paid extra import duties.

The bill was co-sponsored in the Senate by Senators Simpson of Wyoming, Mechem of New Mexico, Young of North Dakota, Jordan of Idaho, Bennett of Utah, McGee of Wyoming, Goldwater of Arizona, and myself.

It was fought by the Administration's spokesmen in the Department of Agriculture, which I thought was rather strange in that one would think that the United States Department of Agriculture ought to be concerned with agricultural interests of the United States.

At any rate, they were successful in opposing our bill. They said that imports were not the real reason prices were falling, despite the very clear evidence that this WAS the prime reason.

American consumption of red meat has climbed dramatically, from 46.4 pounds per person in 1932, to 95.1 pounds per capita in 1963. In the face of increased sale of beef and veal during last year, the price of beef fell from an average of $30.13 per 100 pounds in November of 1962, to less than $24.00 in late 1963. (During the first eight months of 1963, on a carcass weight basis, according to reputable authorities, beef and veal imports were 22 per cent above those for the same eight months of 1962).

Finally, the Administration was forced to admit the obvious truth—that the deluge of meat imports WAS having a drastic effect on our domestic livestock industry.

I do not doubt for a moment that there are many in the Department of Agriculture, and throughout this Administration, who could care less. They would like to see livestock producers, who have long resisted subsidies, driven to the wall and placed in a position where they will have to accept federal control in return for federal handouts.

In opposing our bill, the Administration said it would seek voluntary curtailment of imports from the exporting countries. They have now announced the results of their endeavors, with claims of huge success.

Basically, and stripped of its verbiage, the Administration's actions amount to this: Imports, now at a level that have driven prices down, will be frozen near the present high level and guaranteed.

There will be a minute reduction for the time being — election year— and then imports will again begin climbing.

I regard the solution, if it is that, as wholly unsatisfactory, and if livestock raisers believe their problem has been solved by this law, they will believe anything.

It amounts to nothing more than a massive snow job, designed to make the entire domestic livestock industry, from livestock raisers to the corner meat market, believe that this Administration is trying to do something about a problem it has refused to face realistically.

In closing, I thought you might like to know: The United Nations has now decided to proceed with plans to establish a livestock improvement center in Cuba, at a cost of more than $1 million, 40 per cent of which will be paid by American taxpayers through their U.N. contributions.

Darlene Rainey of the Lutie community and a freshman at Wayland Baptist College, Plainview, is listed on the dean's honor roll for the fall semester with a scholastic average of 2.60.

She is a 1963 graduate of Samnorwood high school and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Selba Rainey.

No New Cases of Hepatitis

No new cases of hepatitis have developed among students in the Samnorwood school district, according to Supt. Orville Cunningham this week.

Three students were stricken with the disease recently but they are improving and will be in school again within a short time, he added.

Doctors who were called in were unable to find the source of the disease, and it is believed the children contracted it outside the community, the superintendent added.

While there she kept her grandchildren while their parents. Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Earl Smith, vacationed in the Bahama Islands.

CATTLE IMPORTS

Though the imports of cattle during the first five months of 1963 were down slightly, the total red meat import was up 20% for the period.

Little Place Remains for the Uneducated in U. S. Today

There is no place in the United States today for an uneducated person!

Dr. Charles E. Kellogg, deputy administrator of the Soil Conservation Service said this recently in an address at Texas A&M. Speaking on "The Changing Role of the University," he pointed out that excellence is needed at all levels of education.

That is especially true on the public school level, and it might be well to think of this during "Public School Week".

Dr. Kellogg, one of the outstanding soil scientists of the world, said the modern university reflects and meets the people's needs, and then he dropped this rather startling fact:

Many of this year's graduates will spend more of their adult lives working with machines not yet invented.

Because so few places remain for the uneducated, the responsibility of our fine public school systems is increasingly heavy as they seek to educate all for a place in the United States of tomorrow.

Lack of Salt Impairs Growth

Salt is used in the synthesis of protein in the animal's body and thus should be provided free choice to all animals daily.

And Suddenly It's Spring

NEWS LETTER from Congressman WALTER ROGERS

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Enactment of the tax bill means that the cuts will be reflected immediately in take-home pay of salary and wage earners. Persons in doubt about what the tax bill means to them personally will begin to see the effects for the first time.

I agree with President Johnson that enactment of the tax cut is "the single most important step" taken to strengthen the economy since World War II" and that the cut "will strengthen our economy and bring a better way of life to our citizens."

The new law marks a most important milestone in our economic development because it constitutes a strong endorsement of the free enterprise system. Behind it is the principle that capital freed for spending by the PRIVATE sector of the economy, by consumers and by business. can bring greater economic stimulus than could a higher level of spending by the PUBLIC sector—by the government.

Texas Governor John Connally, his arm still in a sling as a result of the grievous wound he suffered when President Kennedy was slain in Dallas, honored the Texas delegation in Congress with a visit last week. The Governor was returning to Texas from New York, where he dedicated the Texas Pavilion at the World's Fair site.

Governor Connally said he hopes it will not be necessary to call the Texas Legislature into special session this year on the question of redrawing the boundaries of the state's Congressional districts.

In his view, he said, redistricting is necessary and should be a priority matter for the session of the Legislature beginning next January. But he said he hoped the matter could be better handled in a regular session. The Texas delegation expressed its unanimous conviction that the Texas Legislature is perfectly able to handle the matter in whatever situation arises.

When will Congress adjourn? Possibly in late June or early July, in time for the Republican National Convention scheduled to begin July 13 in San Francisco.

At the moment there is a rush in the Senate and the House to try to clear from committee consideration bills affecting local areas in the country. Many members feel pressed about this because the Senate is preparing to begin its debate on the civil rights bill, and this debate—accompanied by a filibuster of history-making proportions—is certain to consume weeks if not months of time on the Senate floor.

The problem is this: The current session, the second session of the 88th Congress, is the last of the two-year Congress. All bills introduced in this session will die if not enacted by the time the session concludes.

Many bills have been passed by the House and are awaiting consideration in the Senate—and obviously many of them cannot be considered before the civil rights debate begins.

After that debate is over, the Senate will be hard put to act upon appropriations bills acted on by the House in the meantime. It's going to be a very difficult matter for the business of Congress, particularly that on the Senate side, to be concluded in time for adjournment in early summer.

It is possible that the Congress will be recessed for the Republican and Democratic National Conventions and then return to Washington in late summer or early fall.

If the Congress follows this course, I predict that it will be difficult to keep the members' minds on congressional business; after all, this is an Presidential election year and the focus of the country's attention will be on that.

Why, I was asked this week, are $1 silver certificates being withdrawn from circulation?

They are being withdrawn over a period of years so that the silver back of them can be used to coin half dollars. quarters and dimes. There is a shortage of silver that would create a prohibitive price rise if we attempted to buy it on the market.

To insure against the possibility of eliminating all $1 notes from circulation, legislation was passed last year permitting Federal Reserve Bank to issue notes below $5.

Federal Reserve Banks did not previously have that authority.

Some $2 billion in silver certificates remain in circulation, however, and they are being replaced as they wear out. That is the reason some of your money is looking different lately.

To persons writing for them, I will be glad to send copies of two publications prepared by the Congress.

One is Senate Document No. 46 containing eulogies to the late President John F. Kennedy delivered in the Rotunda of the United States Capitol on Nov. 24, 1963.

The other is House Document No. 225, a most attractive reproduction of the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag — and the musical accompaniment for it—as well as a history of the famous pledge. School teachers and their pupils might be particularly interested in having copies of this.

NUTRENA

Provides Quick Gains At Economical Cost On Local Feed Lots

Shown above are some of the beef cattle Bearden & Brewer have been fattening out for storage in local food lockers

These calves which were shipped in weighed on the average 452 pounds when they were placed on NUTRENA Feed Formula on Sept. 30.

An exact average gain for the five month feeding period cannot be ascertained at this time due to the fact that some of these calves which were shipped on consignment did not arrive until six weeks after Sept. 30. Others were pulled out early for slaughter for food lockers.

These have been on dry lot feeding for only 4 months whereas most of the animals have been on feed for five months. Animals slaughtered have ranged in weight from 640 to 830 pounds. The beeves have dressed out from 58 to 60% of high quality beef.

Chevelle 300 6-Passenger Station Wagon

Chevelle balanced performance is best!

Passing, cornering, threading through traffic, sudden stops—Chevelle excels all around! Chevrolet's new surprise package has what it takes to meet any driving challenge: Six or V8 engines, hefty brakes, Full Coil suspension—and a trim size that makes the most of them!

Chevelle means performance aplenty—standard 120-hp Six or 195-hp V8—and optional at extra cost, a 155-hp Six, a 220-hp V8, a new 327-cu.-in. V8! But Chevelle's performance means more. Chevelle's a foot shorter than the big cars. And the space Chevelle saves in size comes off the ends, not the middle. So it rides like you want a car to ride.

Chevelle lets you choose Powerglide*, 4-speed manual* or 3-speed manual transmission. Knowing how people like the custom touch, we wrote out a long list of extra-cost options.

C-C Directors Approve 1964 Work Program Monday Night

The 1964 Collingsworth chamber of commerce Work Program was laid out by president Billy Hatch and given approval by the C-C board of directors Monday night, March 2.

In most divisions, this year's program is a continuation of the long-range program the chamber of commerce has followed in recent years.

Key divisions will be industrial development, water resource development and agriculture and livestock. An upsurge of interest in industrial development has been seen since the first of January, and work by this committee is well under way.

Industrial Development

Organization of the Collingsworth County Builders Club is slated in the near future — made up of a group of men who will give of their time, and their ability toward building business for the county.

Other points of the industrial program are the encouragement of home industries, continued support of the State Board of Industrial Development, seeking adaptable industry for the county and coordinating development work of the chamber of commerce with the county's OEDP plan.

Livestock and Agriculture

Zook Thomas, chairman, and Wood Coleman, Jones Singley, Velman Warrick, J. I. Morgan, Don Jennings, Cecil Regier, John Dwyer, Frank Kennedy and Danny Garcia, members.

This committee will continue to work for an expanded livestock industry and the promotion of feedlots; support the county fair and its related activities; promote diversified agriculture; improvement of the livestock exhibit barn; assist the crop experimentation committee and co-ordinate chamber of commerce work with OEDP.

Water Resources

The important water resources committee is headed by Dan Henard, with Alvin Horton, J. T. Slay, George Shadid and Deskins Wells as members.

This program will continue its assistance in the development of the county's water potential as set out in the OEDP plan.

Civic Development

Mrs. John Coleman is overall chairman. Mrs. James Sullivan and Jake Leach are co-chairmen of the civic development section, seeking to sponsor a senior citizens home, promote rodent control by approved methods, help the Little League baseball program, and alert citizens to the dangers of bottles which have contained agricultural defoliants, etc.

Mrs. E. H. Harwell heads the community beautification section, which is sponsoring beautification of the entrances to the city and other areas within the city; sponsoring a clean-up campaign; encouraging the planting of grass on vacant lots; helping the Garden Club with its cemetery beautification plan; and encouraging better "housekeeping" by salvage yards.

Highway and Transportation

Wayne Cudd is chairman and Jack W. Sanford is the member.

The committee will work to promote lighting of a runway and paving at least one runway at Marian Airpark; the designation of US Highway 366, and better farm-to-market roads.

Retail - Wholesale Development

Mack Saied Jr., chairman, Buster Hughs, Sam Adams and Clyde O. DeMoss, members.

The work program in this division includes sponsoring the contest for the best sales personnel of the county, solicitation control, encouraging dollar days and store front improvement and sponsoring the sales training course as offered by the Texas Education Agency.

Public Relations

Billy J. Thogmartin is chairman and members are Paul Guthrie and Billy Moseley. It will continue the Newcomer Welcome program and promotion of better inter-community relations.

Membership

Chairman is Clyde DeMoss, and members are Billy Moseley, J. B. Oney and Glenn Taylor.

This committee will organize the membership drive, encourage C-C members to attend the regular board meetings and to sponsor membership in West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Fair Committee

L. B. Bratten is Fair superintendent. He will name his committee members and this group will encourage the art, flower and hobby shows, agricultural and livestock exhibits, home economics exhibits, commercial exhibits and horse show participation.

Executive Committee

Acting in an advisory capacity to all of these committees, and to any others that may be named during the year, is the Executive Committee, made up of three past presidents, Jack Sanford, C. T. Hubbard and Bobo Castleberry.

The Santa Cruz River in Arizona has one of the longest underground courses in the world.

Bob Johnson Dies at Antlers

Mr. and Mrs. George Brewer and Quinton Brewer were in Antlers, Okla., Sunday and Monday to attend the funeral on March 2 of their brother-in-law, Bob Johnson.

Mr. Johnson formerly lived here, and was a retired building contractor.

The Brewers also visited his brother in Antlers, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Brewer.

CONNALLY DEFENDS SECRECY

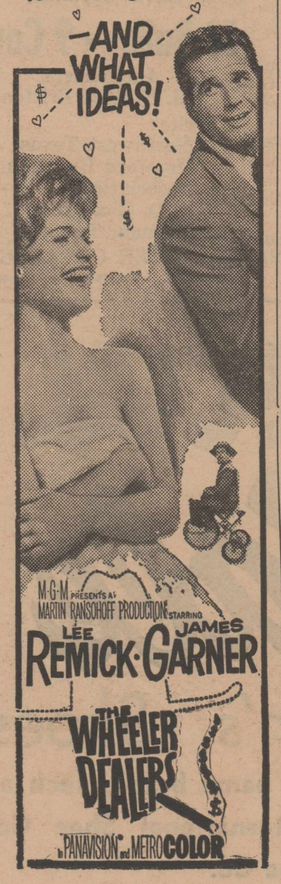

Gov. John Connally answered Texas Capitol reporters' protest on closed door sessions of his Committee on Education Beyond the High School, by saying he doesn't believe in government secrecy, but he defended the right of the committee to hold private meetings.

Ten Students Take Merit Qualifying Test

Ten students in three Collingsworth high schools have made application to take the 1964 National Merit Scholarship Qualifying tests, J. D. Wilson, school supervisor, announced today.

The tests will be given some time in March at Samnorwood school.

The qualifying test is a 3-hour examination of educational development and is the first step in the 10th annual competition for four-year Merit Scholarships provided by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation, Wilson explained.

It is open to high school juniors.

Students who will take the test this year are Stanley Gosnell and Denzil Phipps at Quail; Karen Richardson and Linda Karnes of Wellington; and

Joining the National Merit Scholarship Corporation in providing the scholarships are various corporations, foundations, colleges, associations, unions, trusts and individuals. In 1963 a total of 1528 Merit Scholarships were awarded.

Test scores are returned to the students' schools by May 15.

Some 14,000 semi-finalists, the highest scorers in each state, will be named early next fall and their names will go to all colleges and other sources of financial aid for under-graduates. They will take a second examination to qualify as finalists in the Merit Program.

An additional 35,000 students selected on a national basis, will receive letters of commendation and will be considered for special awards.

The scholarships are based on need, and range from $100 to $1,500 for the four years.

Hereford Sale Set at Quanah

Stockmen from Wellington are invited to attend the first annual show and sale of the Northwest Texas Hereford Breeders Association to be held Wednesday, March 11 at Quanah.

The show and sale is scheduled for 9:45 Wednesday at the Pavilion with four grand champion and reserve trophies to be awarded the top two cows and bulls.

The sale will get under way at 1 p.m. Wednesday following lunch to be served on the show grounds. Tuesday night the Quanah Chamber of Commerce will be host for a pre-sale "bull session" in the lobby of the airport building.

A total of 59 offerings, 50 bulls and nine cows, have been consigned for the sale. Consigners include L. C. Atkinson of Throckmorton; M. K. Berry of Vernon, Buchanan Herefords of Big Spring, R. Paul Coneway of Hereford; L. G. Emerson and Holland Metcalf of Chillicothe, J. C. Hood and Son of Lometa, Jim Hutchins of Estelline, J. W. Lindley and Thollie Lindley of Lakeview, Pronger Brothers of Stratford, J. F. Ross and Son of Quanah, Bowie Westley of Happy, and W. L. Wilson of Goodlett, Tex., and C. A. Kinder and Donald Glen Kinder of Frederick, Okla.

Officers of the Association include Jim Ross, president; W. L. Wilson, vice president; Hood Wills, secretary, and James Bartlett, treasurer.

Auctioneer for the sale will be Col. Walter Britten, with Bill Reed of Sterling City as the show judge.

Mrs. Faye Biggers of Seattle, Wash., is visiting her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Cortez Barnett in the Lone Mound community, and her niece, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Wright and children in Wellington. She will remain through the St. Patrick's Day celebration at Shamrock.

Food Values Sources Change

Food, as it relates to health, is of utmost importance to today's consumer.

The nutritive value of today's food supply has changed in several respects in the past decade, according to Extension foods and nutrition specialists at Texas A&M University and Kathryn P. Barjenbruch, county home demonstration agent.

Calories per capita has decreased from 3,530 in 1910 to 3,180 in 1962, and sources of some of the calories have changed, too. The percentage of calories from starches and sugars has decreased, and has increased in fats.

For example, carbohydrates supplied 57% of the total calories in 1910, but in 1962 they supplied only 47%. The percentage of calories supplied by fat increased from 32% in 1910 to 41% in 1962, but calories supplied by protein have remained 11 and 12%.

The average consumer has both positive and negative points of view when it comes to any particular food. Beef steak may appear to be a highly flavorful food to some, rich in protein and other essential nutrients—or it may represent a source of saturated fat.

The fragments of facts about food and nutrition that the consumer knows often are out of context. He may show concern over the cholesterol content of a few individual foods, but disregard the need for a diet that supplies enough of all nutrients.

THIS TOSS—TWO POINTS

Joe Harris, No. 23, for the Quails, made two points on this one, as action went to fever pitch mid-way in the Quail-Quitaque bi-district game monday night, Feb. 25, in Wellington Gymnasium. Waiting below are Robin Brown, No. 30; Jim Saul, No. 12.

WTU Will Pass Tax Savings to Customers

Savings resulting from the reduction in Federal income taxes will be passed on to West Texas Utilities customers according to plans for a system-wide rate reduction announced today. These reductions in rates will save customers about $1 million annually, approximately 2.8% at this time: Savings will be even greater as electric sales grow.

D. C. Powell, WTU local manager, announced that the company plans to pass on the full benefits of the tax reduction which it will receive under the new tax law. Under the new law the income tax on corporations will be reduced in two steps of 2% each. The corporate income tax will go from 52% to 50% in 1964 and from 50% to 48% in 1965.

"We are giving customers the benefit of both the tax reduction already established for 1964 and the tax reduction scheduled for 1964," Cal Young, WTU president, said. "Passing this tax saving on to customers in the form of rate reductions will simply leave the company with the same rate of return it has been earning."

"Such system-wide rate reductions require extensive study," Young continued. "In addition, after the new rates are designated, considerable work will have to be done to adjust our IBM computer billing procedures to these new rates." Young added, "We expect to have the new rates in effect by mid-summer . . . probably in July or August. Prior to the time the rates are placed in effect, they must be approved by each incorporated city."

"WTU has a unique record for any industry . . . one of which we are very proud," Young pointed out. "WTU has never raised a rate. Through the years we have consistently reduced the cost of service as plant efficiency and improved operations, together with increased customer usage permitted. This planned rate reduction is a continuation of that long-established policy."

WTU supplies electric service for Wellington and 165 other West Texas towns and communities in 50 counties extending from the Red River to the Rio Grande.

6 County Men Register for Draft in Feb.

Six Collingsworth county men were registered for the draft during February, Mrs. Lora Martin, registrar, told The Wellington Leader.

The five 18-year-olds were Johnny Ray Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Barney Jones of Wellington; Arturo Garza, son of Frank Garza of Lutie; Calvin Roland, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Roland of Wellington;

Duane Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Campbell of Quail; and Abelino M. Del Bosque Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Abelino M. Del Bosque Sr., of Dozier.

The sixth man to register was a resident alien, Baldemero Pena Vasquez of Wellington. He is from Mexico.

Mrs. Martin explained that the alien registration is not just for the 18 year olds. It is registration for the draft of those persons registered as aliens to this country.

Even the dog catcher is vulnerable to automation. An electronic computer will be used this year to track down persons who do not renew their dog owners' licenses in Milwaukee, Wis.

TEXAS INDUSTRIAL PRODUCTION UP

Can Decontanimate Radio Active Milk

COLLEGE STATION. — A new process for removing strontium 90 from milk is soon to be tested on a commercial basis, says A. M. Meekma, dairy specialist with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Service.

The specialist points out that the present and foreseeable consumption of radiostrontium in milk and other foods is well below the level considered by the Federal Radiation Council to be acceptable for a lifetime. However, there is a need for a standby decontamination process that would also maintain the nutritive value, wholesomeness, flavor and sanitary quality of our milk supply in the event of an emergency, he explains.

The 1964 flameless electric Frigidaire washers and dryers offer complete freedom from washday drudgery. They're completely automatic and virtually maintenance free.

The washer is equipped with a unique 3-ring agitator which keeps clothes in the under water "Action Zone," removes lint, guards against tangling, and unfolds every piece to clean them inside and out. And by the way, the washer automatically dispenses bleach and detergent, whether liquid or powder.

The Flowing Heat dryer tumbles clothes gently on a cushion of air, pampering the finest fabrics. And the Automatic Dry control shuts the dryer off when clothes are 'just-right' dry.

No other washer and dryer approaches Frigidaire for quality, advancement, and performance.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

The death of Morris Wells leaves a vacuum in our community that is intangible but which is also very real for he held a special niche in the thoughts and minds of the people of the Wellington area that was occupied by no other man in my memory.

This observation has no bearing on the insurance and abstract business which he and Lee C. O'Neil operated and which he and his brother increased to greater proportions. The business will continue smoothly and efficiently as it has in the past. Following the death of his brother, Morris Wells formed a partnership with Harold Watkins, Calvin Hurst and Jack Sanford as well as retaining the other experienced employees of the firm. These able and capable people will continue the business in its original role.

The real loss in the departure of Morris Wells is a personal matter with many people and has little to do with the abstract and insurance business, because he was their advisor and consultant in many matters. His knowledge of wills, contracts, endowments, mortgages, land values and other aspects of business and business law was tremendous. His perception of the true value of these functions of an organized society as they pertained to the lives of his fellowman was incisive and compassive and he gave of this knowledge with a free heart to anyone who cared to ask for it. As Tom Campbell remarked the day after his funeral: "We are going to miss Morris Wells in so many ways."

Basketball is over in Collingsworth for this season, but watch out for next year because that is the time when the fireworks will start. The Rockettes lost in their try for bi-district honors, but they had a splendid season for it is no little thing to be district champions. Sanford-Fritch is on its way to the state finals and this was the team that defeated the Rockets in bi-district play. The Skyrockets outscored them from the field, but were stone cold when it came to garnering points from the free throw line. Wellington should have an excellent boys team again next year for nearly all of the starters will return and there are some good boys moving up from the freshman and sophomore ranks.

Quail, however, is the team to watch in 1965. Nearly all of their 1964 squad will be on the court again next year. Their ancient nemesis, Samnorwood, will graduate a large part of their starting team and will have to rebuild and down at Dodson, Bill Lackey does not have the boys in numbers enough to cope with a team like Quail is going to be, barring accidents or some other unforeseen events.

That gets the boys from the sandhills and the shinnery patches safely out of the county where some of their most strenuous competition has been in former years. What about getting up the caprock and on to competition on the high plains? How about getting by Quitaque which defeated both Wellington and Quail this year? Quitaque keeps their one good tall player, but they will be losing nearly everyone else, and one good man does not make a championship team. The same story is true of most of the other Class B teams of Region 1.

McAdoo which is on its way to the state finals for the second year in a row will have to rebuild entirely in 1965. This is climbing way out on a limb, but I proudly predict that Quail will be state champions in their class in 1965. It is a cinch like predicting rain in May except that last year it just did rain in May.

Our neighbor, Carrie Starkey, says it thundered on February 14 and therefore it will frost on April 14. J. B. Castleberry says that March came in like a lamb and that we should expect a blizzard or a tremendous sandstorm on March 31. These old folk sayings are true in a general way, but it is better not to bet any folding money on the exact dates because our calendar is not exact according to the celestial calendar that is kept by the sun and the moon and the stars.

The 1964 map of Texas that is being distributed by the Highway Department is the most attractive that has been put out to date. You can get one free by filling out a postcard at the tax assessor's office.

Open House at Quail for Public Schools Week

Public School Week at Quail will be observed by an open house Friday, March 6 at 2:30 p.m., with students, faculty and patrons participating.

A short program will be held in the gymnasium and will include folk songs and patriotic music presented by the Quail high school chorus.

After this, the students will conduct the parents and visitors to the rooms for visitations, according to Herman Moseley, superintendent.

"Everyone is cordially invited to visit the school at this time," he said.

Palmer Massey to Retire From Highway Dept.

Palmer Massey, district engineer of the Texas Highway Department, will retire at the end of this month.

He moved to Childress in 1932 from Paducah, when the district offices were moved there. He was assistant district engineer until 1950, when he was promoted to his present post.

Massey joined the highway department in June 1921 at Austin, where he was graduated from the University of Texas.

He is well known in Wellington through his work with this county's road program, as well as a southeast Panhandle civic leader.

Mr. and Mrs. Massey will continue to make their home in Childress.

Farm Specialists

30 pounds of phosphorus can be expected to return good yields on cotton if moisture is not extremely limited," he said. He recommended soil tests to determine the needs of any particular farm.

The three plant diseases common to this area are seedling disease, fusarium wilt and nematodes, Dr. Berry explained.

"To combat the first of these, seedling disease, it is wise to wait until the soil reaches 60 degrees for 10 successive days before planting," Dr. Berry said.

"Don't plant too thick and don't plant too deep in the furrow," he continued. "Use vigorous seed—good quality seed—and if this problem persists, you may be interested in in-furrow fungicides."

Dwane Scott, farm demonstration assistant, is planning a demonstration of this type, and cotton growers here will have the opportunity to see what Berry was describing.

Nematodes and fusarium go together more often than not, and the most successful method of dealing with them is soil fumigation, Dr. Berry said.

"But know the economics of the thing. It costs from $10 to $12 per acre, so be sure you have the problem before you start out," he warned.

Since Gunter's discussion was based on Collingsworth county tests, his talk will be carried in greater detail in a later issue of The Wellington Leader.

It will deal with the eradication of weeds by the use of chemicals, and here again, the economics of the method will be stressed.

Not all farmers can use chemical weed eradication successfully, Gunter pointed out.

"If your hand hoeing isn't costing you more than $3 per acre, it's cheaper to use it," he said.

Farm Truck Tags Stolen Friday

Theft of a set of 1964 farm truck tags from a pickup was reported by Silas Crawford on Friday, Feb. 28, Sheriff John Rainey said.

The tags were lying in the cab, he added, and the theft occurred at the Crawford farm.

The license number is 8A 8502.

County Spelling Bee Scheduled for April 9

The county-wide Spelling Bee has been set for Thursday, April 9, at the county courthouse, B. W. Beaird, county superintendent, announced this week.

The Bee will begin at 10 a.m. and as in the past will be in two divisions. Students from four schools will participate.

The winner of the senior Bee will compete in the district event in Amarillo on May 2, Mr. Beaird said. The junior winner will attend that event but will not compete.

The spelling lists will be available through Mr. Beaird's office, and the school contests will be held shortly before the county event.

Easter Seals Go in Mail This Week

This week and the next, more than a million Texas homes will receive their 1964 Easter Seals in the mail.

Many of these people when they open their Easter Seals will no doubt ask, as well they should, "What do Easter Seals do?"

The Texas Society for Crippled Children and Adults and its 90 local county Easter Seal affiliates want people to ask because they are proud to tell.

All right, just what do Easter Seals do? Well, they do a lot of things, but they all add up to one word—rehabilitation—preparing crippled children and handicapped adults for active, useful lives.

This means months, often years of treatment so that a child can go to school or a man or woman can hold down a job.

The Texas Society and its local affiliates have nearly 30 treatment centers all over the state where handicapped people are being rehabilitated — but more are needed and the programs in the existing centers should be expanded to meet the ever-growing need.

It's a wonderful thing to see a crippled child walk for the first time. It's a kind of miracle—and although it doesn't happen overnight, it does happen at Easter Seal centers all the time.

It takes lots of time, effort and money. Won't you share in a miracle?

Rockettes

got a 15-point lead, widening as Gruver and fouled a little bit more. Gruver outscored the Rockettes from the free throw line 21 to 7, but Wellington led scoring from the field 15 goals to 14.

Anita States, hitting a short jump shot with deadly accuracy, scored 27 points for Gruver and Blankenship, taking turns hitting from the outside, dribbling in for layups and setting up States, hit for 19.

Betty Courtney led the Rockettes with 19 points and Joyce Holton added 10.

Memphis Little Theatre Sets "Nifty Nineties"

By Virginia Browder

Two nights of variety entertainment billed as "The Nifty Nineties" will be staged by the Memphis Little Theatre with the cooperation of six other local women's clubs the evenings of March 9 and 10 in the new Community auditorium in Memphis.

This revue of the gay and flaming 1890's, boasting an excellent cast of local talent, promises the spectators two hours of comedy, music, dancing, and refreshments on the "bill of fare."

Tickets for this extravaganza of color, pretty girls, and barber shop harmony go on sale next week with the Memphis Business and Profesional Women handling the ticket sales. The price for the tickets will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for students with no reserved seats.

Furthermore, one of the features of this vaudeville show will be the tear-jerking, heart-rendering "Meller Drammer" entitled "Egad, What a Cad!"

Excluding their dramatic ability in the cast of characters will be Jean Clements as Constant Hope; Charlene Greene as Sadie Snooper; Johnny Harrell as Minley Rash, the sleuth; Joanne Crawford as Abbigail Appleby; Phil Wooten as Bertram Oleander, the ruthless villian; Katherine Jones as Mrs. Graystone; Dr. David Aronofsky as Mr. Graystone; and Carol Greene will be "cue card girl" to direct the hissing and booing. With such a cast, the audience will sit spell bound to the bitter end of the dynamic performance.

Miss Diane Owens of Borger spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Owens.

Wellington FFA Members Trim Peach Tres

Wellington Future Farmers are pruning peach trees for people of the community as a service project, Danny Garcia, vocational ag instructor, announced this week.

The work will be done as the students' time permits, but anyone having a small number of trees can contact Garcia or any FFA member.

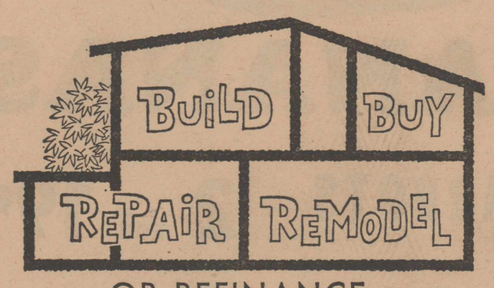

"This is the time of year peach trees should be pruned, as the sap has started flowing," Garcia said.

"They should be pruned every year to cut out the dead wood and broken and split limbs, and to eliminate crowding branches. Also pruning every year will prevent limb breakage when there is a big crop of fruit."

John Kent of Borger was the house guest last week end of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Owens.
