IKE SAYS

He's Not Dick Any More

WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard M. Nixon telephoned former President Dwight D. Eisenhower Sunday night and said he was embarrassed when his former boss told him he won't be calling him Dick any more.

Nixon spent about 15 minutes on the telephone with the man he served as vice president.

"This is the last time I can call you Dick for a while," Eisenhower was quoted as saying to Nixon, sworn in as 37th president today.

"That is very embarrassing for me," Nixon replied.

Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler reported that segment of the conversation but said the rest of their talk was private.

Eisenhower is at Walter Reed Army Hospital convalescing after suffering a series of heart attacks.

Loraine Youth Killed

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Pedro Martinez, 18, of Loraine, was killed in a two-car accident at the south edge of Colorado City on State Highway 163 early Sunday afternoon.

Martinez died shortly after arriving at the Root Memorial Hospital here. Fermin Silva, 16, a passenger in the Martinez car, was given emergency treatment at the hospital and released. Another passenger, Jesse Aguilar, was apparently not injured.

Santos Contreras, 20, of Colorado City and driver of the other car involved, plus his three passengers, Alex Rocha, Joe Silva and Fidel Silva, were uninjured.

Highway patrolman Jim Mauldin said apparently both automobiles were southbound at a high rate of speed, and the two cars collided as Martinez passed on the right. The Martinez car swerved from the road, ran over a highway sign, and came to rest 100 yards from the highway, in a brush-filled pasture, according to Mauldin.

Services for Martinez are pending at the Kiker and Son Funeral Home here. He was born June 12, 1950, in San Benito and moved to Loraine in 1957 with his family. Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donato Martinez, Loraine; five brothers, and five sisters.

MIDLAND (AP) — A sanity hearing scheduled for ex-policeman Michael Lee Moody was dismissed today. Moody is charged in the slaying and molesting of a 33-month-old girl.

Dist. Judge Perry Pickett had called for the sanity hearing, cancelled it after Moody's lawyer said Moody had not requested the hearing.

Gus Picks Miss Koy

AUSTIN (AP) — Speaker Gus Mutscher called on a famous Texas football family for someone to pass information to reporters and handle the kicks he may get from some.

He named Miss Margaret Koy of Bellville, daughter of University of Texas football great Ernie Koy and brother of two other Texas gridiron stars, as his press secretary.

One of Miss Koy's brothers, Ted, was a halfback on the 1968-69 university Cotton Bowl team. Another, Ernie, starred at Texas in the 1962, 1963 and 1964 seasons and now plays for the pro New York Giants.

She worked for a year with the Abilene Reporter-News as a sports writer.

Puppy, Girl Die

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — A candlelight search for a puppy lost in a home without electricity resulted in the deaths Sunday of an 11-month-old girl and the puppy.

Fire Marshal W. W. Fish said the seven children of Mrs. Anna Lewis, who were alone in the house, found the puppy under the bed of Kathy Lewis. They forgot the candle they used to light the search and it ignited the mattress in the crib.

Kathy died of asphyxiation. The other children, frightened by the smoke, set the puppy free and it died, wedged between the crib and the wall.

TAKES OATH AS 37TH PRESIDENT

Nixon Pledges Peace Aims

'Go Forward Together'

WELCOMED TO CITY
Cong. Burleson (left), M. R. Koger, C-C president

WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard M. Nixon solemnly took the oath as the nation's 37th president today and dedicated his administration in this time of war and turmoil "to the cause of peace among nations."

TAKES OATH

Under threatening skies—and elaborate security precautions—Nixon placed his hand on two family Bibles held by his wife, Pat, and repeated after Chief Justice Earl Warren—the traditional 35-word oath to "preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States."

Thus in the Capitol Hill ceremony Richard Nixon, citizen, became President Nixon. And with Lyndon B. Johnson, his predecessor, listening nearby, Nixon called in his inaugural address for Americans "to go forward together."

"We have endured a long night of the American spirit," Nixon declared in obvious reference to the divisions over race and war he has promised to heal.

And he added this appeal: "But as our eyes catch the dimness of the first rays of dawn, let us not curse the remaining dark. Let us gather the light."

To the oath which he took at 12:15 p.m., Nixon added the words "so help me God."

As the cannons boomed out the 21-gun salute, the red-coated Marine band struck up "Hail to the Chief" and then Richard Nixon, 37th president of the United States, began his inaugural address—the charting of his administration's course.

SOLEMNLY

He spoke solemnly and with deliberation, calling for the nation to go forward as a peace-maker and together, both blacks and whites.

"For the first time, because the peoples of the world want peace and the leaders are afraid of war, the times are on the side of peace," he said.

"We are caught in war, wanting peace," said Nixon. "We are torn by division, wanting unity. We see around us empty lives, wanting fulfillment. We see tasks that need doing, waiting for hands to do them."

"To a crisis of the spirit, we need an answer of the spirit," he added.

But, the new President said, "We cannot learn from one another until we stop shouting at one another."

The chilly crowd punctuated its brief applause for Nixon at times during his speech by thumping cold feet on the floor of the wooden stands.

Johnson accompanied Nixon to the Capitol after a coffee-chat at the White House. Both men smiled at each other and shook hands as they met.

ON HAND

Also on hand was outgoing Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, the man Nixon defeated in November. Vice President-elect and Mrs. Spiro T. Agnew arrived at the White House a few moments before the Nixons.

Nixon and Johnson posed without overcoats in the chill morning for photographers before entering the Executive Mansion for coffee and a chat before driving to the Capitol for the noon swearing-in.

Nixon began his formal inaugural day by attending a simple interfaith service at the State Department.

The President-elect, accompanied by his wife, Vice President-elect and Mrs. Agnew and members of the incoming Cabinet listened intently as religious leaders prayed for a rebirth of spiritual and moral values in the United States and a new dedication to peace and unity.

After turning the power over to Nixon, Johnson planned to be out of this city of his triumphs and sadness and be back rocking on the porch of the LBJ ranch in Texas by late afternoon.

RAGGED

"We have found ourselves rich in goods but ragged in spirit; reaching with magnificent precision for the moon, but falling into raucous discord here on earth," he said.

The chief executive said the answer to the crisis will be found in such simple virtues as "goodness, decency, love, kindness."

In these difficult years, America has suffered from a fever of words," Nixon contended, "from inflated rhetoric that promises more than it could possibly deliver; from angry rhetoric that fans discontents into hatreds; from bombastic rhetoric that postures instead of persuading."

At the same time, Nixon seemed to hint that portions of President Johnson's Great Society programs will be continued.

He promised to "press urgently forward" toward such goals as rebuilding cities, providing better housing, strengthening education, protecting the environment and seeking full employment.

Citing his inaugural motto, Nixon said all must go forward together if any is to advance. "No man can be fully free while his neighbor is not," he said.

NOT TWO

"This means black and white together as one nation, not two," the President declared. "The laws have caught up with our conscience. What remains is to give light to what is in the law: to ensure at last that all are born equal in dignity before God, all are born equal in dignity before man."

Nixon's principal emphasis clearly was on the search for peace.

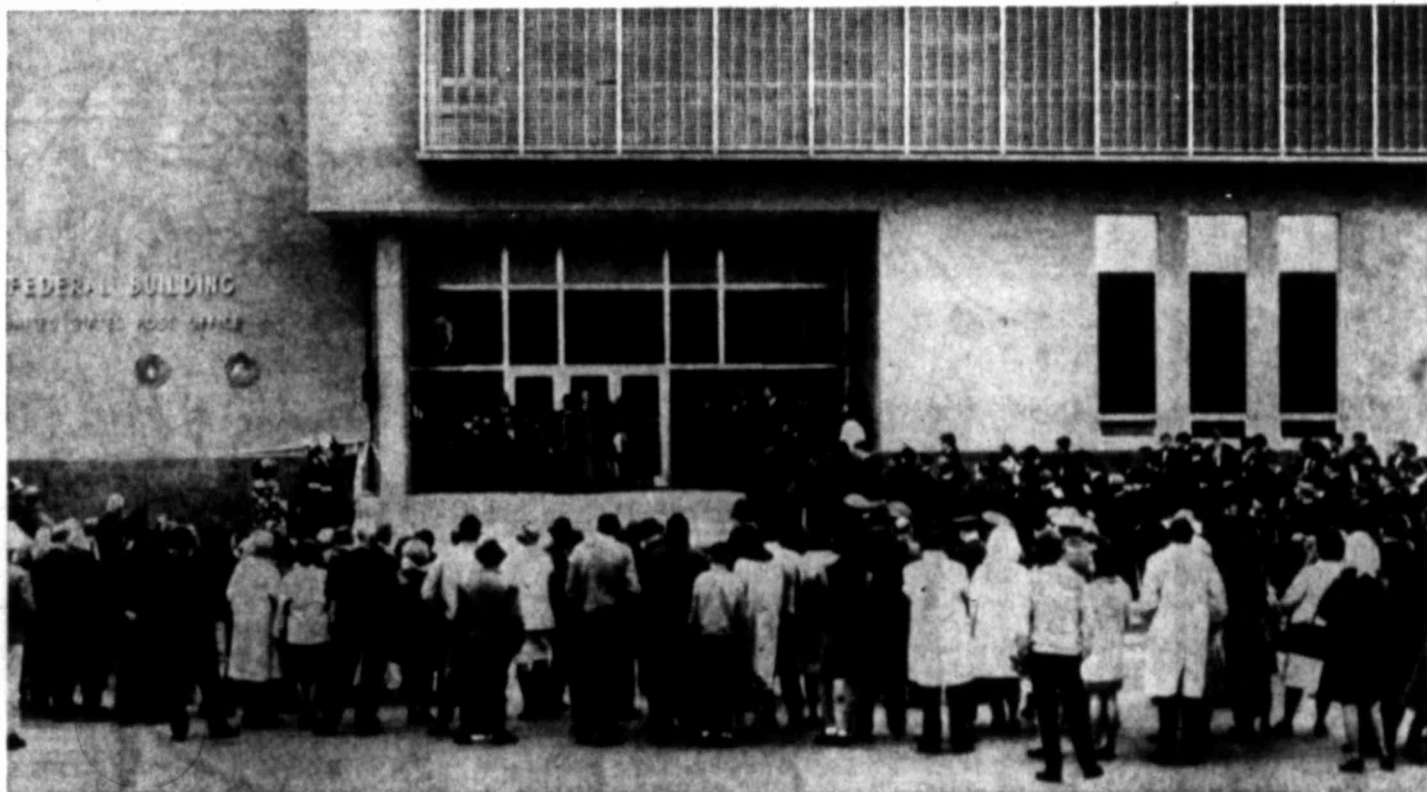

To help make the world safe for mankind, he added, "is our summons to greatness."

As in the past, Nixon asserted that "after a period of confrontation, we are entering an era of negotiation. Let all nations know that during this administration our lines of communication will be open. We seek an open world—open to ideas, open to the exchange of goods and people, a world in which no people, great or small, will live in angry isolation."

These words seemed to suggest Nixon will at least consider resuming ties with mainland China and, perhaps, with Communist Cuba.

"We cannot expect to make everyone our friends, he said, 'but we can try to make no one our enemy.'"

Because the nation is strong, he said, it can afford to size up its weaknesses with candor and approach them with hope.

CONG. OMAR BURLESON SPEAKS AT DEDICATION
Hundreds braved cool weather for Federal Building open house

City Dedicates New Post Office, Federal Building

Big Spring dedicated her sixth building here Sunday as a symbol and instrument of progress.

Congressman Omar Burleson, who hazarded an aerial trip through heavy fog to get here, told several hundred people gathered for the brief ceremony Sunday afternoon that "we must not take this mark of progress for granted. If we stood still and did nothing to improve our future, we wouldn't have a future very long."

OFFICIALLY OPENED

With him he brought a flag which had flown over the nation's capitol, and with the majestic hoisting of the colors to full mast, the new plant at Fifth and Main was opened officially to the public.

The large crowd thronged the halls, lobby, offices and work space for the open house. For most of them it will be the only time they will ever see the space where mail is worked.

Mayor Arnold Marshall presided over the brief ceremony, expressing appreciation for the structure and for the spacious parking area which occupy the entire block, from Fifth to Sixth and from Main to Rumsels. He also presented three of the men who have served as Big Spring postmaster, H. L. Bohannon (1931-33), Nat Shick (1933-53), Elmer C. Boatler (1953-65). He introduced other platform guests and Rep. Burleson as not only a proven friend of Howard County and the 17th district, but also as one of the most respected of the nation's congressmen.

FLAG

Rep. Burleson presented the special flag to Postmaster Frank Hardesty, who in turn delivered it to the Webb color guard for raising while the trumpet sounded "To the Colors," followed by a ruffle of drums and then the "Star Spangled Banner" by the Big Spring High School band.

Rep. Burleson reminded the audience that "we wouldn't have our high standards of living and buildings like this if it weren't for our system of government." He said that this also "imposed an obligation to the future, to protect basic freedoms so we can bequeath similar blessings to posterity."

He touched tersely on highlights of history of postal service from its roots in 1639 in the Massachusetts Bay Colony and the first federal postal system established by the First Continental Congress in 1775. From that humble beginning, there are today 36,000 post offices, and mail moves by every manner from dog sled to missile.

TOUR

The tour of the building included visits not only in the post office, but to the federal agencies such as Social Security, Internal Revenue Service, Farm Home Administration, Agriculture and Conservation Service, U.S. Border Patrol and others. Visitors were reminded, too, that the building also serves as a bomb shelter to accommodate several hundred people if ever necessary. Two regional postal officials were prevented by foggy weather from landing here for the rites.

DELAYED

He originally was scheduled to go on trial in November but Judge W. Preston Battle ordered a delay after Ray fired his lawyer, Arthur Hanes of Birmingham, Ala.

Last week, when Foreman became ill, Battle ordered Stanton to begin preparing a defense for Ray in case Foreman could not be ready for the March trial.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The director of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference's nonviolent education and direct action wing says James Earl Ray is innocent of murdering Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. But he isn't saying what evidence he has.

WON'T TELL

At a news conference Sunday, the Rev. James Bevel said, "I won't discuss the specific evidence now because it wouldn't be beneficial to James Earl Ray. But he's not guilty."

Bevel, 32, a former liaison officer of Delta and militant Negro groups, sent a telegram to Ray Saturday which read: "I would like to inform you that I would be very happy to take your case without fee. I was present on April 4 at the Lorraine Motel when Dr. King died—you have been accused of murdering him. Of course, I know you are not guilty."

King, who headed the SCLC, was shot to death in Memphis, Tenn., last April 4. Ray was arrested in London following an intensive manhunt and extradited to Memphis where he faces trial beginning March 3.

Bevel said he didn't step up with his alleged information sooner because "I hadn't been responsive to him."

"But then I thought, 'Here's a

Hijackers Take Two Jets To Cuba

MIAMI (AP) — A young man clutching a Dominican Republic passport hurdled another passenger and ran "like a football player, dodging from tourist to first class" before grabbing a stewardess and forcing an Eastern Airlines jet to Cuba. It was one of two hijackings Sunday that took 257 persons to Havana.

FLEW ON

The Eastern DC8 jet—hijacked as it neared the end of its New York-to-Miami flight—and all but one of its 168 passengers flew on to Miami during the night.

An Ecuadorian prop-jet carrying 81 persons was seized by four men armed with submachine guns and remained in Cuba. There was no explanation why Cuban authorities, who cite safety in refusing to allow big jets to leave with passengers aboard, detained the smaller prop-jet.

These were the sixth and seventh commercial airliners hijacked to Cuba in 18 days. Another airliner was hijacked to Egypt.

Most passengers on the Eastern jet returned to Miami early today aboard two prop-jets sent to Varadero, Cuba, to get them. They told newsmen the young hijacker had given no indication he planned to seize the plane before leaving his seat and grabbing stewardess Pamela Gates of Syracuse, N.Y.

"He had to jump over me, and he kicked me," said Gladys Schreck of New York City. She sat next to the hijacker and spoke to him briefly. "He just told me he came from Santo Domingo."

Another passenger, Charles Suskind of Brooklyn, N.Y., said the hijacker "got up and he looked like he was sick to me. He ran like a football player, dodging from tourist to first class, and then he grabbed a stewardess."

The man used Miss Gates as a hostage to enter the cockpit. He spoke only Spanish, but stewardess Joan Tognoli of Edgewater, N.J., translated for him.

GRENADE

Capt. R.D. Smith of Atlanta, Ga., said the hijacker held "what appeared to be a hand grenade. The thing had a little cap with a little handle down and he had the handle squeezed."

Two Companies Meet OCAW Pact Demands

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — No new agreements were reached between the nation's oil companies and the striking Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Sunday, but a union spokesman said further productive bargaining is expected today.

Two companies met OCAW contract demands Saturday. The American Oil Co. offered an average hourly wage increase of 66.5 cents over the next two years for its 1,000 employees in Texas City, Tex., while Mobil presented a contract offering a 26-cent hourly pay raise for the first year.

Prior to the midnight Jan. 3 strike, oil workers covered by OCAW contracts were averaging $3.80 an hour. Pure Oil's contract with the OCAW, signed Friday, set the pace for the other companies by offering a 69.6 hourly raise over the next two years.

The OCAW had been holding out for a 72-cent hourly increase. A spokesman said about

Justice Irony

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — District Judge Melvin Shortess, fresh from taking his oath of office, was a bit taken aback by the first case on his court docket.

The defendant was Gov. John McKeithen, who appointed Shortess to the court vacancy.

The suit challenged the constitutionality of a new amendment covering the appointment to the Lake Charles Harbor and Terminal Board of Directors.

"There is a bit of irony in it," Shortess said after taking the case under advisement.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—Neither vulnerable,

as South you hold:

AK6 ♠A52 ♠AQ7 ♠AJ10 ♠

The bidding has proceeded:

West North East South

Pass Pass 1 ♠ Dbl.

Pass 2 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—This is a close choice between two trump and three clubs, but our own preference is three clubs. Two no trump appears to be a slightly drab bid with only 18 points. If partner makes any move over your raise to three clubs, you are then in strategic position to contract for game.

Q. 2—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

AK752 ♠KJ82 ♠K53 ♠2

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 ♠ Pass 1 NT Dbl.

Pass 2 ♠ Pass 3 ♠

What do you bid now?

A.—The partner has promised no great strength, he nevertheless is presumed to have an evenly balanced hand. You, therefore, have a splendid defense against the adverse contract, and a penalty double is recommended.

Q. 3—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

AKQ5432 ♠J5 ♠84 ♠J

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 ♠ Pass 1 NT Pass

2 ♠ Pass 4 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. You have some support for hearts; partner may have none whatever for spades. He knows that you consider your hand of use only with spades as trump; nevertheless, he has chosen to bid four hearts. Without information to the contrary it is our practice to assume that partner knows what he is doing.

Q. 4—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

AKQ92 ♠A6 ♠AJ7 ♠952

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 ♠ Pass 1 NT Pass

2 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—With a conservative partner you may bid six no trump. With an aggressive partner, four or five no trump.

Three Killed In Depot Raid

BONN, Germany (AP) — Three West German soldiers were killed and two others seriously injured in a raid by unknown persons on a West German army munitions depot today, the Defense Ministry announced.

A defense spokesman said it was not known yet whether arms or munitions were taken.

The raid occurred at Lebach, southwest of Saarbrücken, near the French border.

The spokesman said the dead and wounded men were sentries who were found when their relief guards reported for duty this morning. The relief guards found a scene of devastation and telephones had been destroyed, apparently to delay the alarm.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Two Texans are among eight burn victims brought to San Antonio after last Tuesday's explosions aboard the USS Enterprise, the big nuclear carrier which is the world's largest warship.

Berry and Wolfe were among five men flown to Brooke Medical Center Saturday night from Tripler Army Hospital at Pearl Harbor.

They arrived in San Antonio at 8:30 p.m. and were taken to the Institute of Surgical Research at Brooke Medical Center.

A spokesman at the hospital said there would be no announcement on the condition of the men for several days.

Troops Pouring Into Nuernberg

NUERNBERG, Germany (AP) — A huge airlift from the United States started pouring some 5,000 combat-ready GIs into Nuernberg today, on their way to maneuvers near the Czech border which both the Soviet and Czechoslovak Communists have protested.

The first of 63 giant C141 Starlifter jet transports arrived at the Nuernberg airport at exactly 9 a.m.

The airlift is called Reforger One. With a plane landing every half hour and most of them carrying 90 men or more, the last of the 5,000 soldiers is due in Nuernberg by Tuesday night.

Most of the soldiers are members of the 24th Mechanized Infantry Division.

The troops arriving today and Tuesday are joining another 12,000 American soldiers who have been flying to West Germany since Jan. 6. Also already on the scene are four tactical fighter squadrons from the United States, totaling 3,500 men.

Politics is a major factor in the operation. The exercise, now scheduled for Jan. 29-Feb. 4, was moved up six months because of the Soviet occupation of Czechoslovakia last August.

A LOVELIER YOU

Give Hair Winter 'Health' Treatments

By MARY SUE MILLER

Along about now most hair looks poorly. You can blame it on a spell of party-dressing and party-going. Like your skin, your hair thrives on rest, sensible diet, fresh air and basic rather than fancy dress care. In other words, a vacation!

Stay on a health regimen for only a few weeks and both the outer and inner girl benefit, as from a rest cure. You can speed the hair's improvement via treatments.

Most conditioning treatments now follow a shampoo that's suited to your type of hair. Once cleansed and rinsed, the hair is towel-dried until the excess water is removed. The conditioner is next massaged into the scalp and combed through the hair to the ends.

Some conditioners are left on for about 20 minutes and then are rinsed out with clear water. Others are allowed to remain in the hair with the purpose of supplying the texture that holds a set.

You may expect all conditioners to increase body, sheen and bounce. Those with protein and keratin, natural components of the hair, come well recommended. If your hair is tinted, you want a conditioner that in no way affects the color. Labels tell all.

When the hair is very oily and the scalp very flaky, a medicated conditioner is indicated. Otherwise protein-keratin products are most reliable.

Gov. Hickel Of Alaska Still Only Cabinet Question Mark

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate was ready today to follow Richard Nixon's inauguration with speedy approval of all but one of his 12 Cabinet choices.

Indications were that approval of Alaska Gov. Walter J. Hickel as secretary of the interior probably would come Tuesday.

The committee had been expected to act over the weekend, but announced after a closed session Saturday that it had asked Hickel for a statement pledging he did not hold any oil or gas leases in his home state.

The action followed three days of hearings last week during which the controversial Hickel apparently convinced the committee that his views on water pollution and conservation were in line with most of its members.

Remarks made by Hickel after his appointment was announced had been widely interpreted as indicating a pro-industry approach to both problems.

The governor, however, who has made millions in Alaska real estate, told the committee he had been misunderstood. He also pledged to leave in effect for at least two years an Interior Department freeze on leasing of federal lands in Alaska.

The department imposed the freeze to allow settlement of claims by natives threatened by a land rush since discovery of vast oil reserves.

Hickel got the most attention of the 12 Cabinet appointees, but Senate committees also took a close look at the financial holdings of David Kennedy, the Chicago banker named secretary of the treasury, and David Packard, the multimillionaire nominee to be deputy secretary of defense.

Both were cleared after complicated formulas for disposing of their holdings or putting them in trust were worked out.

Besides Hickel and Kennedy, Nixon's Cabinet lineup is: Congressman Melvin Laird, Wisconsin Republican, as secretary of defense; William P. Rogers as secretary of state; Maurice Stans as secretary of commerce; George Romney as secretary of housing and urban development; Robert H. Finch as secretary of health, education and welfare; John Volpe as secretary of transportation; Winston Blount as postmaster general; John Mitchell as attorney general and Clifford Hardin as secretary of agriculture.

Attendance Woes

STANTON (SC) — The Optimist Club met in regular session Friday morning. Jimmy Wheeler, president, presided at the business session. A discussion was held on ways to increase attendance at the meetings. There were seven members present.

RESHUFFLING OF POWER PROMISED

Speaker Snags Committee Work

AUSTIN (AP) — Speaker Gus Mutscher indicated today the legislature may be deep into its third week before he appoints the committees that are necessary for the Texas House to get down to business.

Before bills can be introduced formally in either the House or Senate—where committee assignments also are pending—committees must be named to receive the legislation.

Legislators faced a week of largely ceremonial duties, including inauguration of Gov.-elect Preston Smith Tuesday at noon.

Mutscher told a news conference the House committees "may be ready by Thursday or Monday but not later than the following Thursday."

Less than five of the 45 committee chairmen will be holdovers, he said.

One will be Rep. John Blaine of El Paso of the Liquor Regulation Committee, he acknowledged.

Mutscher declined to comment when asked whether he would reappoint W. S. Heatly of Paudcah Appropriations Committee chairman and Ben Atwell of Dallas as Revenue and Taxation Committee chairman. Both Atwell and Heatly are considered likely to head these two powerful fiscal committees once again.

STRICT LIMITS

Mutscher said there will be a thorough reshuffling of committee memberships to provide a better "atmosphere for healthy hearings."

"Chances are," he said, the House will not take up proposed joint House-Senate rules this week. The rules include strict limits on conference committees, which are set up to write compromise bills when the House and Senate fail to agree on legislation.

Mutscher said that "by and large" he and Lt. Gov. -elect Ben Barnes, presiding officer of the Senate, agree on rules preventing the committees from adding new material to bills without approval by both houses.

But he added: "I have some reservations whether this is really a healthy thing from a practical point of view. . . I hope the lieutenant governor and I can be able to work out something."

Barnes had sought House rules last session that contained the restriction.

SMITH WILL WAIT

Mutscher explained the committee delay—which seems to be a problem with all speakers—by saying it takes time to figure out each of the 739 separate committee assignments, especially when major changes are being made.

"I never went so far as to pinpoint an assignment before Jan. 14 (the day he was elected speaker). And I think it would have been presumptuous of me to do so. . . When I was traveling around the state, I told the members I wouldn't make assignments before I had personally interviewed each member for an assignment," he said.

Smith and Barnes will be inaugurated at noon Tuesday. The ceremony will be followed by a big street parade down Congress Avenue and by six separate inaugural balls.

On Thursday, Smith will speak to the legislature, presenting his program.

Smith will wait, perhaps for several weeks, to lay out his tax program. His budget will be issued in about two weeks, an aide said.

Robert Zeal Landrum of Abilene was elected as illustrious Potentate of Suez Temple at the annual meeting held in San Angelo Saturday. Landrum, a long time employee of Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, succeeds Edgar E. Watts of Midland.

Potentate Landrum is a Past Master of Abilene Lodge No. 559, having received his Masters degree in 1937. He is a member of Abilene York Rite bodies, Waco Scottish Rite serving on the membership committee and was created a member of Suez Temple April 30, 1960.

Burrell, Midland and Martin G. Browne, Midland.

EFFECTIVE TREATMENT HOPE If You Are Among Arthritis Sufferers, Don't Give Up

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — If you are among the millions of arthritis sufferers don't give up, say two researchers, who hope that the lack of a cure doesn't mean a lack of effective treatment.

Drs. George E. Ehrlich and Warren A. Katz, doing new work in the crippling disease at a unique arthritis center in Moss Rehabilitation Hospital, said today "not only patients, but physicians as well, are unduly pessimistic."

To show how wrong this is, they cited the cases of two women who came to Moss totally bedridden and virtually abandoned medically.

"They could neither sit properly, nor stand, and were dependent on others for all their needs," said Ehrlich. "They couldn't dress themselves or go to the bathroom, and one even had to be fed. They had a non-life-threatening disease but they were a charge on the community and their family."

After 10 months of treatment, which included intricate surgery and special therapy, the women walked out of the hospital—slowly, true, but with self-respect and personal independence.

"The great majority of patients can be relieved of their pain and have potential deformities prevented," said Katz, chief of Rheumatology Research at Moss and at the adjoining Einstein Medical Center. The two institutions are partners in the arthritis work.

"An arthritis can always be helped and should never give up hope," said Ehrlich. He's director of rheumatology and supervises the 16-bed Moss Center.

Antiwar Demonstrators Make Nixon Top Target

WASHINGTON (AP) — Antiwar demonstrators, who staged a jeering counter-inaugural parade of their own Sunday, were hardly in evidence today as Richard M. Nixon rode to the Capital to be sworn in as president.

Where 5,000 youths had marched the day before, only about 40 were gathered on a street corner as Nixon and outgoing President Johnson drove past in their bubble-topped limousine trailed by Secret Service cars.

Nixon gave the group only the briefest glance and Johnson looked the other way. A feeble chant of "Peace Now" followed the car, but died quickly.

In their counter-parade Sunday, however, the youthful protesters showed they have elevated Nixon to the position of No. 1 target for their demonstrations made sharply aware of what life in the bull's-eye is going to be and the new president was like.

Nixon masks and effigies were featured in a counter-inaugural parade by 5,000 demonstrators Sunday. Signs calling

Paving Jobs Are Reviewed

Paving projects for 1968 in Howard County precincts were reviewed Monday by Howard County Commissioners Court.

Commissioners reported that about 12 miles paving were needed this year, plus more miles of sealcoating.

Simon Terrazas, commissioner of Precinct 1, noted that about 3.5 miles were needed in his area of the county, and Bill Crocker, commissioner of Precinct 3, gave a like figure, as did Bill Tune, commissioner of Precinct 4.

Ray Nichols, Precinct 2 commissioner, said about 1.8 miles of paving were needed in his area.

The court instructed J. D. Nixon, foreman of the county road and bridge department, to bring recommendations for sealcoating projects to the next commissioners meeting.

In other business the court voted to purchase a new pneumatic roller machine at $1,562.

Coed Among 38 Presumed Killed In Jetliner Crash

LOS ANGELES (AP) — On the bottom of the storm-tossed Pacific today lay the battered wreckage of a U.S. jetliner in which 38 persons died. A mile away rests the hull of a European jet in which 11 are entombed.

Aboard the United Air Lines Boeing 727 when it crashed Saturday night after take off from Denver, Colo., and Milwaukee, Wis., were a theology school president, a college coed, the parents of six Wisconsin youngsters and one of United's four "Flying Le Mans."

One body was recovered from the jet fuel-stained waters around the crash site. Searchers also found scraps of the fuselage and mail sacks in the waters cut by sharks' fins.

Heavy seas and rain hampered search operations Sunday.

"He was a wonderfully human man," said a friend of Dr. Lowell B. Swan, 58, president of Illinois School of Theology, a Methodist institution at Denver.

"If there is a good in this tragedy," said Dr. Harvey H. Pothoff, "it is that Dr. Swan—up to the last minute of his life—was doing the things he liked best."

In West Bend, Wis., six children ranging in age from 2 to 16 were told their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert K. Shroeder Jr., apparently are dead.

About a minute after the plane took off at 6:20 p.m., pilot Arnold Levenson radioed:

"I have a fire warning light on engine No. 1. I'm turning around and coming back."

Radar showed the plane made a left-hand turn about two miles west of the coastal airport. Then radio contact with the plane was lost and its blip on radar screens disappeared.

Officials were unable to say whether the plane had exploded before it crashed and disintegrated.

About a mile to the southwest, searchers were attempting to recover the tail section of a Scandinavian Airlines System Douglas DC8 which crashed last Monday trying to land at Los Angeles. Four bodies were recovered and 30 persons survived.

Parade Of Postmasters

Postmaster Frank Hardesty (left) welcomed three former postmasters for a tour of the new post office and federal building during the open house Sunday afternoon. They are, from Hardesty's left, Nat Shick (1932-53); Elmer Boatler (1953-65); and H. L. Bohannon (1932). Hardesty has held the post since Boatler's retirement.

U. S. Installations Hit By Commies

SAIGON (AP) — Four U.S. bases and a dozen South Vietnamese installations were hit Sunday night by stepped-up attacks which Saigon officials considered a demonstration of enemy determination to fight as well as talk in Paris.

Military spokesmen said eight Americans were killed, 35 were wounded and nine helicopters were slightly damaged by mortar fragments in hit-and-run attacks on four U.S. outposts northwest, north and south of Saigon. The attackers left behind bodies the U.S. Command said.

SABOTAGE

South Vietnamese headquarters said mortar and rocket attacks on 12 government camps and subordinate headquarters inflicted only light casualties. But on Saturday night there were 20 shelling, sabotage incidents and terror raids in which 10 South Vietnamese soldiers and eight civilians were killed and 15 government troops and 85 civilians wounded.

The stepped-up enemy attacks began a few hours after the first session of the four-party peace talks in Paris Saturday, and a government spokesman said the two obviously were connected. More than a million South Vietnamese troops across the country were placed on full alert Sunday because of the increased enemy activity, but a U.S. spokesman said there was no change in the status of American troops.

Veep Helped Dad Hawk Vegetables

WASHINGTON (AP) — Spiro T. Agnew, who helped his Greek immigrant father hawk vegetables on Baltimore streets during the Depression, took the oath of office today to become the nation's 39th vice president.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen administered the oath in the sonorous tones for which he is noted, minutes before Richard M. Nixon was sworn in as president.

FIRST SINCE 1940

Agnew's hand rested on his eldest daughter, Pamela's white-covered, King James version Bible. It was opened at the 100th Psalm—the vice president's favorite—which reads in part: "Make a joyful noise unto the Lord."

The 50-year-old Agnew, whose father's name was Anagnostopoulos, rose to the nation's second highest elected office from Baltimore County executive, then governor of Maryland.

He was the first man since Henry Wallace in 1940 to become vice president without serving in Congress, aides said. Agnew, in an inaugural-evening news conference, said he looks forward to tackling the problems of urban America and indicated he would have a major announcement about those problems in America's largest city soon.

LONG TALK

"I recently had a long talk with New York City Mayor John Lindsay," Agnew told his first news conference in several weeks, "and we will have an important announcement about that later."

Agnew said he would primarily devote his energies to problems of the cities, but he said he hoped to move gradually into foreign policy matters.

Agnew said the inaugural ceremonies are more than a celebration of the accomplishments of any one man. "It is a rededication to our highest ideals of government. Only in the United States is the transfer of power done with such lucidity and with so little rancor."

The son of a Greek restaurateur, Agnew grew up during the depression in which he watched his father's business fail. At one point in young Agnew's life he helped his father sell vegetables on the streets of Baltimore.

Informants Are Planted In Dorm

TAHLEQUAH, Okla. (AP) — Informants will be hired at Northeastern State College as a means to end student demonstrations, President Harrell Garrison said Friday.

Garrison took the action following a Thursday night student disturbance on campus in which nine male students were arrested.

The informants will act as students, attend classes, sleep in dorms and will be known only to certain administration officials, Garrison said.

Cosa Nostra Canary Faces Tax Charges

NEW YORK (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service has filed a $10,860 income tax claim against Joseph M. Valachi, the Cosa Nostra canary, with the publishers of a book on his life and times.

The court lien is for taxes allegedly unpaid from 1950 to 1956. Valachi was imprisoned in 1959 on a narcotics charge and subsequently drew an additional life sentence for beating a fellow inmate to death.

In 1963 Valachi made headlines by unveiling Cosa Nostra secrets in a televised Senate committee hearing.

Overnight Fog Eases Grip On Most Sections Of Texas

By The Associated Press

Excessive humidity made much of Texas seem colder than it actually was this morning. Clouds overhung all the state except the Panhandle and the sector west of the Pecos River in West Texas, where skies were clear, and rising south winds pushed more damp air inland from the Gulf of Mexico.

Although overnight fog eased its grip on most areas, it still was dense enough to cause zero visibility before dawn around Wink and Midland in the west. Fog also appeared in the Lufkin vicinity.

There was a little rain or drizzle at Del Rio and Laredo on the Mexican border and scattered through North Central and Northeast Texas from Brownwood and Stephenville to Jacksonville, Mineral Wells, Gainesville and McKinney, around Dallas and from near Denison and Sherman to Hamilton.

Cloudy skies were expected in most sections through Tuesday with a few showers in Southeast Texas and along the Middle Texas Coast. All parts of the state were promised further warning.

Long range forecasts, covering the period through Saturday, held out a prospect for colder weather along with moderate to heavy rains toward the end of the week.

Top temperatures Sunday afternoon ranged from 79 degrees at Brownsville down to 41 at Childress, with many points registering highs in the 50s and 60s.

Predawn marks today ranged from 30 at Dalhart and 38 at Wink up to 63 at Laredo and McAllen, and 64 at Brownsville.

Three Shots Fired Into Local House

Three shots were fired into a northside home Saturday night, according to Chief of Police Jay Banks.

The house, 213 NE 8th, is occupied by Perchiano Biera and his family. Biera moved his family from the house for the night while police investigated the incident, Banks said.

No one was injured by the gunfire.

Team Will Study Federal Projects

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit's expenditures of more than $270 million in federal aid in several programs over the last five years will be assessed during the coming weeks by a special 60-man federal team.

Detroit was singled out for the study because of the size of its program, officials said.

The First Family

Nixon Finds It Hard To Express Feelings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard Nixon approached the moment of his inauguration in a warm, mellow mood, finding it hard to express his feelings or restrain the instincts of a campaigner.

"Great moments are hard to describe," Nixon said Sunday night as he relaxed with his family in the presidential box at Constitution Hall for the inaugural concert.

OVATION

A cheering ovation greeted the president-elect and his family as they took their seats for an All-American program that began with everyone singing the National Anthem and ended with the Nixons joining in America the Beautiful.

Nixon also joined in the prolonged applause for the artists — 21-year-old Negro pianist Andre Watts, pretty, dark-haired Philadelphia-born soprano Anna Moffo, the National Symphony Orchestra and the 375-member Salt Lake Mormon Tabernacle Choir.

Then, impulsively, he turned to his aides and asked "Can I go down there?" pointing to the stage filled with performers.

In minutes, he was down there, his arm around symphony conductor Howard Mitchell, Watts and Miss Moffo, offering them congratulations and giving a big wave to the audience.

Nixon had spent the brief intermission talking to the performers and VIPs in a private off-stage reception room.

He stepped out of the tight security guard to chat a bit with reporters as he came and went.

With the Nixon family was the president-elect's 85-year-old aunt, Mrs. Jane Beeson of Whittier, Calif., who taught him how to play the piano as a youngster.

AIN'T IT SO

Nixon said he and his Aunt agreed that young Watts' performance was "magnificent." He said that she had chided him: "If you practiced, you might have been (down) there."

The concert, a tradition of inaugural festivities since 1933 was the first event in which Nixon participated. His wife, Pat, and daughters, Tricia, 22, and Julie, 20, and Julie's husband David Eisenhower, made the rounds of some private parties earlier.

Julie and David also dropped in for a visit with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower at Walter Reed Army Hospital, where he is recovering from several heart attacks.

The whole Nixon family and many of the Eisenhower family will celebrate the inauguration to-night by attending six inaugural balls, where 30 orchestras and bands will provide dance tunes for young and old.

Czech Students Talk Strikes, Mass Meets

PRAGUE (AP) — Spurred by the death of Jan Palach, Czech students talked today of strikes and mass meetings to pressure their leaders into standing up to the Soviet occupiers.

Palach died Sunday, three days after he set himself afire in a protest that electrified the nation. Many Czechs said his act of sacrifice affected the country more than anything since the Soviet invasion five months ago.

HUMAN TORCH

"We have new courage, a new symbol," said one young man who had placed a candle in Wenceslas Square, where the 21-year-old student drenched himself with gasoline and set himself afire.

The country's Communist leaders tried to prevent a new crisis that could bring a new Soviet crackdown. They faced the threat of another student protest the loss of freedoms since the invasion and of the growing gap between the leadership and the public.

Speakers at rallies and on radio and television asked that there be no more human sacrifices. Another student who talked with Palach three hours before he died said in a broadcast that Palach told him: "My act has fulfilled the purpose but let nobody else do it. Let the living make their efforts in the struggle. I say goodbye. We may still see each other."

Karel Kovanda, a representative of the student union in Bohemia and Moravia, told a rally the students will act, but "we have to choose acts which will be adequate to Jan Palach."

SACRIFICE

Students passed the word for a mass meeting in Prague's Old Town Square and chalked "strike" on streetcars and on shop windows in Wenceslas Square.

They tried to line up support from the workers. University departments in Prague were in a state of emergency.

The toll recorded by The Associated Press between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Sunday added up to 32 fatalities, including 18 in traffic and half a dozen shootings.

The victims were Joseph W. Labenz and his wife Beverly, both 24 of Wolforth, Tex.; two children in the Labenz car, Kim Starnes, 6, and her brother, Craig Starnes, and Dean Andrews, 34, of Lubbock, in the other auto.

Two Andrews residents were killed Sunday when a small plane crashed and burned on a ranch 15 miles south of Rock Springs. The dead were identified as Butch Vining, 33, and F. H. McWilliams, 35, who were returning from a fishing trip.

Stacy Steven Treybig, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas T. Treybig of El Campo, drowned Sunday in a swimming pool on a ranch about three miles west of Beeville.

Sirhan's Defense Indicates Surprise

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sirhan Bishara Sirhan's defense indicates it may accept as jurors the 11 persons unexpectedly seated by the prosecution in the young Jordanian's trial on a charge of murdering Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Before the move by the prosecution, none of the present jurors was expected to survive the 40 peremptory challenges available to both sides. Peremptory challenges dismiss a prospective juror without argument or explanation.

Of the more than 30 jurors questioned, one opposed the death penalty and was dismissed upon defense objections. The 11 tentatively seated include two Jews. Both have said they harbor no prejudice against Sirhan, a Palestine-born Arab who the prosecution is expected to contend killed Kennedy because of the New York senator's pro-Israeli position.

Should the defense also waive its peremptory challenges when the trial resumes Tuesday, the 11 tentative jurors would be permanently seated.

In this event the only argument remaining would center on the 12th juror and the six alternates who must be chosen before testimony begins. It had been expected to take two more weeks to seat a jury.

"Don't be surprised at what happens Tuesday," chief defense counsel Grant B. Cooper told newsmen. "We might just have a jury."

A Devotional For The Day

O taste and see that the Lord is good: blessed is the man that trusteth in him. (Psalm 34:8)

PRAYER: O God, our Father, we thank Thee for Thy love shown to us in so many ways. Help us to show our gratitude to Thee by our prayers and service and by our words and deeds to our fellowmen. In Jesus' name. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Leave It Alone

Both houses of Congress have rejected a proposal challenging a North Carolina presidential elector's vote for George Wallace though he was pledged to support the Republican ticket. But the challenge — spearheaded in the Senate by Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine and in the House by Rep. James O'Hara of Michigan — may yet be instrumental in bringing congressional reform of presidential election procedures at long last.

House Speaker McCormack has said what seems to be in the minds of many of his colleagues as a result of the 1968 election and of debate on the Muskie-O'Hara proposal: "The time to move is when the problem involved is uppermost in the minds of Congress and the people." Never mind that this has been true to some extent following every presidential election in recent times; interest in the matter is at a high point now, and action should be taken.

Not hasty action, certainly. A system which has served us for more than a century and a half should not lightly be discarded. But lethargy, rather than incautious haste, is the danger. Numerous proposals for reform have been made in recent years, and thoroughly discussed. With this background available, Congress has little excuse to put off a decision again.

Had anyone doubted it, the perilous situation that threatened to develop in the 1968 election clinched the matter: It is too risky to proceed with a system under which choice of the president might be thrown into the House. Various proposals — for dispensing with the electoral college, or modifying it — have been made. The time is ripe for the new Congress to choose among these proposals, or devise its own, and get on with the business of reform.

Mellowing Judgments

President Lyndon Johnson will leave office today mellowed and more philosophical than when he introduced, fought for and succeeded in getting passed a formidable array of legislation. His critics, too, are mellowed and more temperate in their observations. Both seem content to let the judgment of time have the last say.

In this respect, there is every reason to believe that he will be held in higher esteem by historians. He has pressed for several programs which are clouded by contemporary passions but which are basically and morally right, and therefore which in the end will prove to have been efforts in the right direction. The matter of civil rights, which involves inflammatory attitudes at the moment, is one such issue; the ambition to wipe out or drastically reduce the shackles of poverty is another. And it is probable that in the longer perspective the President's stand against Communist expansion in Southeast Asia will have proven the sacrifice justifiable.

Doubtless many things attempted will be judged less than effective and perhaps wrong, but one of the ultimate verdicts will be that the greatest fault was attempting too much too fast.

News Divisions Center Of Conflict

By JERRY BUCK
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Until recently at the first sign of a crisis the television networks usually retreated behind the prestige and respectability of their news divisions. But now it is the news divisions that are at the center of conflict.

At least eight investigations of television news coverage are either under way or planned. Most are a direct result of television's coverage of the Democratic National Convention and the tumultuous demonstrations in Chicago last August.

THE CLAMOR raised by the public, members of Congress and the Federal Communications Commission is seen by the industry as threatening in a subtle way to put the freedom of broadcast journalism in jeopardy.

"Unless we turn back these threats, journalism as we know it today — and indeed, the whole nature of our democracy itself and the people's right to know — may never be the same again," Frank Stanton, president of CBS, warned in a recent speech in Atlanta to the annual convention of Sigma Delta Chi, the professional journalism society.

"The people behind these attempts feel that something other than professional news judgment should control the flow of information to the public. They would have us suppress anything which they find disagreeable, troublesome or embarrassing."

Billy Graham

Isn't it a weakness of evangelicals to emphasize the "new birth" and stop there, without going on to implement Christianity by social action? What have you done, for example, for the war on poverty? I presume that you have done very little like most of your ilk! J.V.

May I remind you that it was an "evangelical" Gen. William Booth, who founded the Salvation Army, and that it was another evangelical, George Williams, who organized the YMCA for underprivileged young men who had no home of their own. A fair share of my own ministry has been devoted to areas of social concern.

I believe if you will, without bias, study history that you will find that evangelicals (whom you criticize) have done probably more than any other group to alleviate the suffering and poverty of mankind. They are the real founders of social action.

Having said all this, I must add that I believe there is something deeper than material poverty which needs to be ministered to, and that is spiritual poverty. Recently a director of Social Sciences in one of our colleges said: "Spiritual poverty, which is the way people feel about themselves, and may include feelings of apathy, defeat, guilt and despair, need to be dealt with as much as material poverty." The truth is: I have spent my life trying to alleviate all kinds of poverty, and intend to do so for the rest of my days.

The Crisis Of 'Balance Of Payments'

NEW YORK (AP) — "This overheated economy just sucked imports in all over the place," said the Treasury official to the House-Senate subcommittee.

In this one simple sentence did Frederick Deming, Treasury undersecretary, speak of a situation that is: 1. In the news almost every day; 2. Considered dangerous by many experts; 3. All but impossible to understand.

WHAT DEMING meant by his statement, made last week, was that the excess of demand and money in the United States was making imported goods not only desirable but purchasable — which is bad for the balance of payments.

Simply stated, a country has a balance of payments when the money it sends or spends abroad equals that brought into the country by foreigners. Seldom is it really in balance, however. Generally there is a surplus or deficit.

NOW ANY country is liable at some time or another to be in a deficit condition, because it is impossible for the world's nations to perfectly balance their spending and buying.

However, when a nation runs up deficits for 11 years the other countries begin to worry. They see themselves with too many dollars and wonder if it might not be safer to have gold instead. And so they trade their dollars for gold.

WHAT MAKES the dangerous situation critical is that inflation in the United States has a double impact on this imbalance.

Deming aptly described the situation as "miserable." Just a year ago the country had more than $4 billion in surplus. And just four years ago some $6 billion more goods were sold than bought.

But, you say, this still leaves the United States with a balance in its favor. Yes, a balance of trade, but trade is only one aspect of the balance of payments. Not all the money that goes in and out of a nation is trade.

THE UNITED STATES, for example, supports a costly war, in Vietnam, thousands of troops in Europe, spends money in aiding less developed nations. In addition, corporations spend on foreign investments.

The result of all factors has been an imbalance in payments for 11 years. This past year, because foreign money was attracted to the U.S. stock markets, and because of restrictions on foreign investments, the first surplus since 1957 was reached.

The worries continue, however. What would happen if restrictions on foreign investments were lifted? And of even greater importance, what happens if inflation cannot be controlled and continues to suck in foreign goods?

The Affluent Women

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

In our affluent society women are getting more affluent. Seven out of 10 of them now own life insurance.

THE ROMAN ruler Julius Caesar is credited by some historians of being the father of the modern newspaper. He had daily reports of public business posted in the Forum.

If your child has mumps, don't treat the disease lightly. This ailment, which can cause sterility in adults, among younger persons can leave in its wake deafness, heart, kidney and thyroid disorders.

HERE'S WHY, when traveling on the highway, you should keep ample space between your car and the one ahead of you: it takes the average driver three-quarters of a second to react to an emergency. In that time a car going 50 miles an hour will travel 68 feet.

Genius often goes unrewarded in its own lifetime. Mozart, regarded by many as the most gifted of all composers, on occasion was so impoverished that he couldn't afford heat in his room. While writing some of his immortal music, he wrapped his hands in woolen socks to keep them warm.

QUOTABLE notables: "A man doesn't begin to attain wisdom until he recognizes that he is no longer indispensable." — Richard E. Byrd.

You may have trouble on a clear day taking a picture of your wife in clear focus, but aerial cameras are now so precise that they can identify objects as small as a foreign sports car from altitudes up to 300 miles. They can't pick out the license number though.

HOW IT began: Medals are traditionally worn on the left breast of a soldier's uniform. This custom goes back at least as far as the Crusaders, who were so proud of the emblems of the order for which they fought that they placed them next to the heart.

Violent odds: Out of every 100 persons living in this country, the chances are that two of them will be murdered, raped, robbed or beaten during the present year.

The Boy Who 'Wants To Be A Girl'

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have a grandson who is very feminine. I have tried in vain to make my son and his wife realize that they should do something about it.

He is 6 now, and ever since he could walk and talk, I have been harping on it. He started going around with his mother's high heels on all the time until finally I got my son to put a stop to it.

When he plays house with other children, he always wants to be the "mommy," and d d r a p e s himself with his mother's jewelry and clothes. He has said from time to time that he would like to be a girl. I could go on but I think I have made my point.

Can you help me make them realize they should do something before it is too late, that I am not picking on him, but want to help him? — Mrs. M.L. This isn't a physical problem. It is emotional, or psychological. I agree that you are not picking on the child; he does indeed need help before it is too late.

Several factors can be involved. Is this an only child? Did the mother want a girl?

Do the parents treat him like a girl?

A small child is not aware of his own sex. He gradually learns it. Parental attitudes are important. If the mother wanted a girl and refuses to accept the child as a boy, how does one expect the youngster to react? In some cases parents even use a feminine nickname; the mother may be reluctant to let a boy get a boy's haircut; may think it's "cute" and thus encourage his feminine ways. In this case, mother should have stopped this boy's behavior long ago.

From the psychiatric standpoint, one possibility is that she may have a deep-seated hostility towards men and vents it by destroying her son's identity as a male. But in this case, what is the child's father doing about it? Does the child fear or resent him? Or what is the picture? If dad showed any gunplay, he could have put a stop to this before it reached such a stage. Or could the child's reaction be based upon family friction, overt or subtle, with the boy tending to identify himself with his mother?

The youngster needs guidance — skilled guidance. So, I suspect, do the parents. But it is still not too late to help the boy find himself and assume a more masculine behavior. It is not at all unusual for kids to dress up in clothes of the opposite sex as part of play fantasy, but when it continues to the extent you describe, it is quite another matter. It is no longer play fantasy; it is building a way of life.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is alcohol harmful when used nightly to cleanse the face? I use it to guard against acne. Is there danger of pockmarks? — P.H.

No danger of pockmarks. Alcohol removes skin oils and tends to dry the skin, but if it works in your case and does not cause skin irritation or too much dryness, fine.

What about constipation? Many can be relieved of it, both mentally and physically, by reading the booklet, "The Way To Stop Constipation." For a copy write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope, and 25 cents in coin to cover printing and handling.

Around The Rim

Some Self-Appointed Tasks For '69

Belatedly, here are a few pledges I've made to myself for the year 1969 in hopes I'll be around to update the resolutions for 1970:

Stay off the upcoming moonbound ship, even though the astronauts threaten to walk around on the satellite the next time.

Try to forget Marshal Ky and what he is doing to make our cost of living soar still higher.

Take a poll to see if anyone really goes for those far-out rock-and-roll groups appearing on the Smother Brothers TV program.

TRY HARDER to appreciate the talents of Don Rickles. I always did think he was a pale imitation of Jack E. Leonard.

Organize a debate on whether ambulances which use our city streets should be allowed to charge an extra $10 for the privilege of turning on sirens and red lights.

Picket those companies who insert in envelopes containing your bills an excess of advertising. It's not too difficult to find the one thing you're looking for, if you're not standing on a windy street corner.

WRITE A LETTER to that great lady, Mrs. L. B. Johnson, telling her what a fine credit she was to Texas and the nation while her husband was in office.

Try to figure out the reasoning behind young hooligans who throw bricks through windows in public buildings and business concerns, even though I know they are in obvious revolt against The Establishment.

IGNORE THOSE financial ads which insist I can become a millionaire by investing $20 in Amalgamated Sauce.

Tune out those radio disc jockeys who figure they have the ear of the whole world, who wouldn't know a good joke if they heard one and who wouldn't know how to tell it if they did know.

Get a passport as a status symbol just to show it off in front of people, even though I have no plans to travel outside the country.

TRY TO COMPLETE my list of Ten Things Sen. John Tower Has Accomplished by enscrining the first one.

Don't buy anything that advertises "have you got the guts to —" or "for the discriminating."

Try to figure out why we need to hire an out-of-area group to reevaluate our taxes when we already have one agency hired to supercede the work of three others paid for the purpose.

Fiscal Policy Must Change

WASHINGTON — Despite all the optimistic comments about the economic situation in America made by President Johnson in his valedictory to Congress, the nation is face to face with a realistic change in policy-making as a contrast is presented between the theorists who have been counseling the chief executive for the last five years and the pragmatists who will advise the Nixon administration.

Mr. Johnson, in his economic report, described the situation as follows:

"WE STAND at a critical turning point for national policy. We can meet the challenge, or we can try to evade it."

"Price stability could be restored unaided by an overdose of fiscal and monetary restraint. This has been done before, and it would work again. But such a course would mean stumbling into recession and slack, losing precious billions of dollars of output, suffering rising unemployment, with growing distress and unrest. It would be a prescription for social disaster as well as for unconscionable waste."

"OR WE COULD conceivably travel the route to mandatory controls on prices and wages. But the vital guiding mechanism of a free economy is lost when the government fixes prices and wages. We did not impose such regulations on our businessmen and our workers during the recent years of military buildup and hostilities. We surely must not turn down this path — a dead end for economic freedom and progress."

Mr. Johnson overlooked the fact that in World War I, World War II, and during the Korean war, wage-and-price controls were imposed without any lasting ill effects. The President repeated the argument he has often made in the past when he said that "both in their own interest and in the public interest, business and labor should exercise the utmost restraint in price and wage decisions."

The New Israeli Militancy

WASHINGTON — Richard Nixon's fact-finders are stocking up on all available Middle East information here, and I have been shopping in the same supermarket. When the President's men took away documents, interviews and briefings about the Israeli commando raid on Beirut, Lebanon, of Dec. 28, they learned that:

Principle purpose of the Israeli was not reprisal (that was secondary) but eventual ownership of Lebanon's Litani River.

THIS WATERWAY lies about five miles inside Lebanon's common border with Israel. From the viewpoint of both these arid countries, the Litani River is an invaluable economic asset. From Israeli viewpoint the Litani would make an admirable and geographically convenient borderline. It would match the Suez Canal which is now the border between Israel and Egypt. It would match the Jordan River which has become the border between Israel and Jordan.

SECONDARY, but still very important, was Israel's purpose of reprisal. This tough little pioneer republic, much like the American republic between 1790-1812, needs to give international pirates and bullies the rattlesnake's warning: "Don't Tread On Me." The Arab powers, as well as the Great Powers, will think twice before any further molestation of Israeli planes, ships, travelers and expansion plans.

ISRAELI STATESMEN need no reminder by the tut-tutting State Department and UN Security Council that they are squandering the "world's" goodwill, and perhaps heading toward moral bankruptcy, by landing commandos and blowing up millions of dollars worth of civilian aircraft. The director of a large Mediterranean-minded foundation told me that fully 50 of the 70-odd American firms which do business in Lebanon were socked in the pocketbook by the Israeli raid on the Beirut International Airport. Money marts quaked in New York, London and Paris.

BUT IT ISN'T any news in Tel Aviv that Lebanon is the Switzerland of the Middle East. Beirut is the regional focal point of private enterprise investment. The hardest-hit company, the Middle East Airline, not long ago purchased its independence from Pan American Airways, of which it was a subsidiary. Anti-Americanism is raging — and that's bad for business, bad for American Jewry, bad for that great phantom-fact called world "peace."

Mr. Nixon's men are being told that the Israeli government couldn't care less. The "cash" of the Litani Valley is deemed more important than future "credit" in long-term international amity.

THE "SOLUTION" being offered in the Mideast informational supermarket here is packaged in a lecture on Great Power responsibility. No major nation like ours, the Nixon men are being advised, should ever start an intervention that it can't finish, e.g., Vietnam. We undertook an obligation to one side in Southeast Asia, but in the Middle East we have obligations to both sides.

Ergo, the "solution" being urged upon Mr. Nixon is to make a deal with Russia for suppression of the Arab-Israeli war. The time is now — when Russia is having problems in East Europe. The means are handy — the U.S. Sixth Fleet and the Soviet Fleet together could impose a dictated settlement. It would last at least for several years.

Is Mr. Nixon buying such a solution? That's the next question. (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Local Firm Constructs Concrete Burial Vaults

Trinity Memorial Park has had a steady increase in requests in the number of concrete burial vaults they produce each month at their location on the San Angelo Highway.

More and more people in Big Spring and surrounding area are realizing the superior quality of concrete vaults. The concrete vault is less expensive than many other types of vaults. In strength and durability it is equal to or superior to all other types with the possible exception of solid copper.

Trinity Memorial Park is one of the largest firms between Fort Worth and El Paso to construct concrete vaults. Trinity vaults are built of steel reinforced concrete with a waterproofing agent mixed with the concrete before it is formed.

Dense concrete with a strength of more than 4,000 pounds per square inch is required and tests have shown this concrete increases in strength as the years go by.

A concrete vault prevents sunken graves, and rust and corrosion are not possible. Trinity Memorial Park believes that a more lasting vault cannot be built regardless of the price.

Trinity Memorial Park manufactures the concrete burial vaults which are available to Big Spring residents through various funeral homes in the area. The plant, housed in the warehouse area on the park grounds, has been in operation 10 years.

Concrete's inherent quality of durability and increasing strength makes concrete burial vaults a popular choice from the viewpoint of both the funeral director and the cemetery operator. Its economy of material and manufacture make this fine product available to the public at very reasonable prices.

Rigid standards regulate the construction of concrete burial vaults to insure quality of the concrete and workmanship. The waterproofing agent protects against moisture which completes the curing of concrete. The earth, with its moisture and chemical-acting properties attacks and breaks down many other materials.

Consideration given to selecting a casket can be important, both in appearance and endurance. But many times, because they do not understand the purpose of a burial vault, people disregard the necessity of a vault for permanent protection.

Unless arrangements with the funeral director are made, the outside container will be a wooden box. A vault replaces the wooden container with an indestructible material and thus protects the casket.

A special feature of vaults constructed by Trinity Memorial Park is the "Air Seal." Any dampness which might occur in this type vault from condensation of air or any other possible source, can escape so the interior will be kept in a dry condition. Experience has proven that vaults which are "air tight" sealed and have no "air seal" provision will not permit the escape of moisture which gathers.

O. C. Shapland, operator of Trinity Memorial Park, advises that you discuss the merits of a concrete vault with your funeral director when the time arises. Be sure you select a vault that is sturdy and durable. Trinity burial vaults are manufactured locally, by an institution people in Big Spring have come to know and trust.

VISIT NATIONAL BUILDING CENTER

Building Or Remodeling?

Lumber yards are supposed to specialize in lumber, but National Building Center, 301 E. 2nd, also has a keen interest in remodeling and new construction of homes and business.

If you have an idea for remodeling or new construction, take it to National Building Center for a plan drawing service. With experience in the building business, the staff can turn your ideas into workable plans. They also complete the work from drawing board to the final dab of paint.

Tom Vernon, manager, invites you to the National Building Center for demonstrations of several lines of materials for that new home you've always wanted, or for a remodeling project.

The center has the Spartan Combo Storm Door which features a glass section made of tempered, shatterproof, rotproof material. The heavy gauge frame parts are held rigidly in place, giving the door great strength. The door is adjustable and the bottom expander is weather-stripped.

The storm door also converts to a full aluminum screen door in seconds. This combo is really two doors in one — a glass door for complete weather protection and full screen door for warm weather comfort and ventilation. All storm or screen panels are the same size and are instantly removable and easily replaced.

Besides the safety factor of this door, there is another feature that makes it excellent for a home with children. There is a heavy duty embossed kick plate, 22 inches high that adds strength to the door.

Another item in stock at National Building Center is the Vac-Cyclonic, the built-in power cleaning system which is the answer to a homemaker's dream.

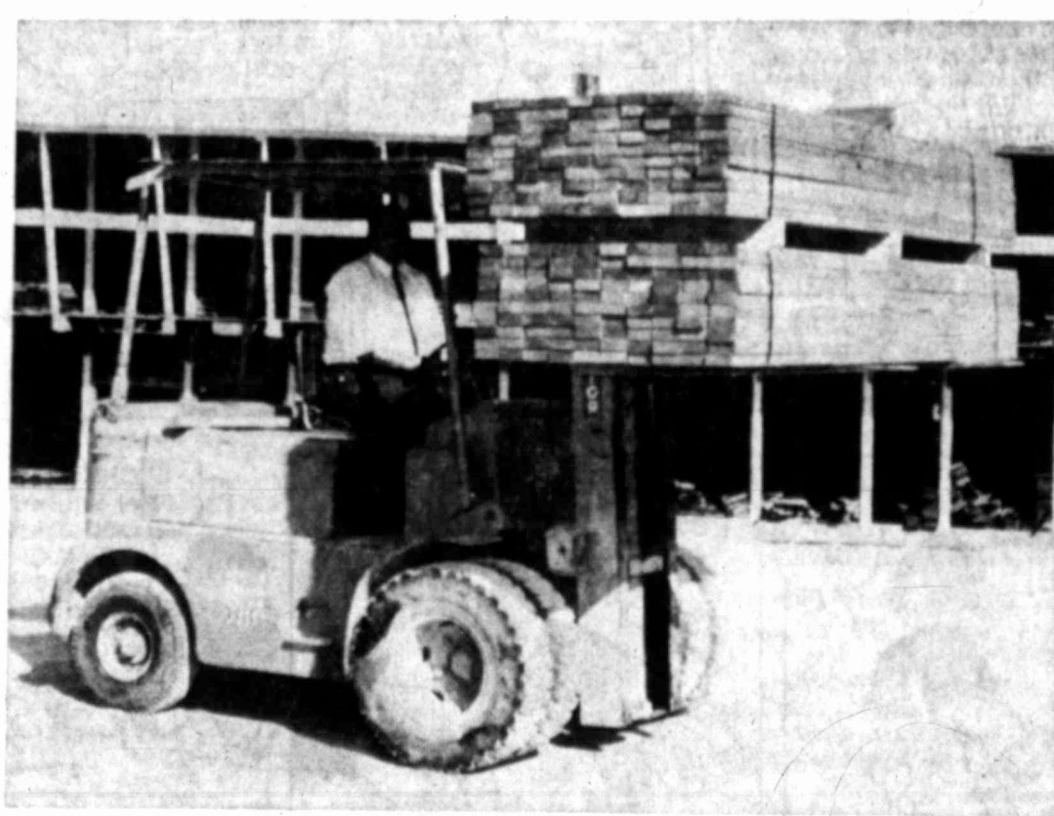

When planning to remodel or rebuild a home, these modern cleaning system is a must. It can be quickly and neatly installed in your present home with no interruption of the household routine.

The special tubing with safe, low-voltage wiring is concealed in the walls, attic or under floors. The Vac-Cyclonic has no heavy, awkward unit to push or pull. There is no electrical cord to tangle and no bag to empty. The unit turns on automatically when it is plugged in and only three or four outlets are needed for the average six-room house.

National Building Center also has something for do-it-yourself enthusiasts who like to finish their own furniture. If you need furniture and like to put "our own touch to the finish, there is a complete line of unfinished furniture of superior construction and in wood which is easy to work with.

Stop by 301 E. 2nd, and see the desks, chairs, rockers, bookcases, tables and chests.

No-Roach Halts Bug Population

Fourteen babies a day is a frightening figure, but that's the birth rate of a single female cockroach. Although such a population explosion is probably not taking place in your home, beware if you see just one roach, or one ant, or one spider. There are plenty of relatives nearby.

Don't spray these bugs to death one by one. Buy the best preventive and the most effective bug killer on the market today — Johnston's No-Roach. No-Roach is effective against all crawling insects — cockroaches, ants, spiders and silverfish. One application stays effective for months.

Use Johnston's No-Roach and forget about bugs for months. No-Roach can be purchased at Giant Discount Food, Newsom's, Safeway, Piggy-Wiggly, Furr's and all grocery stores. It is distributed by Striplings.

Shaw Trial Delay Sought By Dist. Atty. Garrison

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison is seeking a delay in the trial of Clay L. Shaw, a wealthy retired businessman charged with conspiring to assassinate President John F. Kennedy.

Shaw's trial had been scheduled to begin Tuesday after numerous delays sought by defense lawyers.

Criminal Dist. Court Judge Edward J. Haggerty Jr. hears arguments today on Garrison's claims that federal secrecy has crippled his case.

It marked an abrupt reversal by Garrison, who a few weeks ago said that his death would be the only thing to halt the trial.

ALL THE WAY

Garrison's chief assistant, James L. Alcock, said he would go all the way to the state Supreme Court if necessary to delay the trial. In a statement last Friday following the filing of the motion to delay, Alcock hinted strongly that the Shaw case might never reach the courtroom.

Alcock charged the federal government was withholding evidence vital to the case and added: "In the event the federal government does not honor our subpoenas and blocks our attempts to present all of the evidence, this case cannot be brought to trial."

Shaw's lawyers are opposing the latest prosecution move. One of them, F. Irvin Dymond, said: "We are going to oppose any motion for a continuance and ask for a speedy trial. We want to get this thing behind us."

Garrison contends a New Orleans-based conspiracy resulted in the November, 1963, assassination at Dallas, Tex., of President Kennedy.

The Warren Commission findings said Lee Harvey Oswald acted alone in the shooting and that it found no credible evidence of a conspiracy.

Kremlin Urges Missile Talks

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union today reaffirmed its willingness to begin a "serious exchange of opinions" with the United States on the reduction of nuclear missile systems for both attack and defense.

The timing of the statement, coincident with the inauguration of President Nixon, emphasized the new Soviet effort to get missile talks started with the United States.

The Soviet government is ready to discuss the "mutual restriction and subsequent reduction of strategic means of delivery of nuclear weapons, including defensive systems," the statement said.

The statement also called for the "earliest entry into force" of the treaty to check the spread of nuclear weapons and "its faithful and consistent implementation."

The U.S. Senate balked at ratifying the treaty after the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia.

PUEBLO CAPTURE

Five Admirals Begin Official Questions

CORONADO, Calif. (AP) — Five admirals begin today the Navy's inquiry into North Korea's seizure of the American intelligence ship USS Pueblo a year ago this week.

A question facing the high-ranking court of inquiry is: Did the ship intrude into North Korean territorial waters before it was boarded by the North Koreans last Jan. 23?

North Korea says it did. The skipper of the ship, Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher, says it didn't.

BLAME

Adm. Thomas I. Moorer, chief of naval operations, has said that the Navy never doubted Bucher's word. U.S. evidence, Moorer said shows the Pueblo was 16 miles from Yo Do Island—four miles beyond the Communist country's territorial limit—when she was boarded.

Even if the court finds the ship was where Bucher says it was, the five admirals on the court of inquiry seek answers to many other questions. Among them, one raised by

Two Veterans Get Top Posts

Two Air Force veterans have taken top flight facilities positions in the 250th Communications Squadron at Webb.

Maj. Robert Padden, who has served in the Air Force 18 years, has assumed duties as the flight facilities officer. S.M. Sgt. John A. Workman, who has registered 17 years of Air Force service, has become the new flight facilities non-commissioned officer-in-charge (NCOIC). Both took over the jobs last week.

Maj. Padden comes to Webb from a 13-month C-130 Hercules pilot assignment at Mactan and Clark AFBs, Philippines. Sgt. Workman came to the base from Cam Ranh Bay, Vietnam, where he served as a flight facilities NCOIC.

Maj. Padden has logged more than 5,000 flying hours. He has served overseas in Japan and Panama during other times in his military career. Sgt. Workman has served at Webb on three other occasions — in 1952, 1958, and 1965.

"There must be something lucky about coming to Webb," he said. "Every time I get stationed here, I get promoted." The sergeant was just notified of his promotion to chief master sergeant.

Five Texans Die In Head-On Crash

ANTON, Tex. (AP) — Two cars collided in darkness on a fog-cloaked stretch of US 84 Sunday and the head-on crash killed five persons. There were no survivors.

Officers said both vehicles were traveling at high speed and one was on the wrong side of a road slick from drizzle. The accident happened about 20 miles northwest of Lubbock and four miles southeast of Anton.

State patrolmen identified the dead as Joseph W. Labenz, 24, of Wolforth; his wife, Beverly, also 24; a young sister and brother with the Labenz couple, Kim Starnes, 6, and Craig Starnes, 2; and Dean Andrews, about 34, of Lubbock, alone in the other car.

Garrison claims that his investigation shows there was a conspiracy involving Shaw, Oswald and others, including Jack Ruby, the nightclub operator who fatally shot Oswald in the Dallas police station two days after the assassination and later died of cancer.

The prosecution move to delay the Shaw trial came shortly after a judge in Washington, D.C., rejected Garrison's subpoena of autopsy photographs and X-rays of Kennedy.

Court of General Sessions Judge Charles Halleck told a Garrison aide that he would have to show that the autopsy records are necessary to the case and that "this is something more than a fishing expedition."

Halleck gave Garrison two weeks to produce evidence.

Harold isn't a tyrant, or anything like that, but he's set in his ways. Should I change it mother to read. I sort of "hid" the diary I wanted my mother

My hair the way I did back in 1939 and every time I'd come home with a new hair-do, Harold would say, "Change it back. I like the old way better."

DEAR ABBY: I have never written to you before, but the girl who signed herself "NO PRIVACY" really got to me because I had the same kind of mother.

I finally solved my problem by keeping TWO diaries. One for myself, and one for my mother to read. I sort of "hid" the diary I wanted my mother

DEAR ABBY: I am a 50-year-old woman. I'm not bad looking, but I look my age.

I've been married for 28 years to a wonderful man who has only one fault. He resists change.

Harold likes for me to wear

DEAR GIRL: No. You can't possibly have all the facts related to your father's "other women." And how can you be sure that he hasn't changed? (P.S. The most revealing part of your letter is your signature. Think about it!)

Dear Abby

For 'Daddy's Girl'

DEAR ABBY: My father is 57, extremely handsome and a real charmer. Mother died two years ago and Daddy is now engaged to a very lovely 45-year-old widow.

Abby, while Mother was living, I'm sure Daddy played around with other women. I am also sure he hasn't changed since then. I have grown very fond of Daddy's fiancée. She is a wonderful person and so much in love with Daddy that I'm sure she's blinded by some of his faults. I hate to see this fine woman hurt by marrying an incurable ladies' man.

Don't you think I ought to tell her exactly what she's letting herself in for?
