Q—What date will open house be held at Snyder public schools this semester?

A—The dates vary this year. Open house will be Oct. 9 for Snyder Junior High; Oct. 14 for Snyder High School and East and Central elementaries; Oct. 15 for North and West elementaries; and Oct. 21 for Stanfield and Northeast elementaries.

In Brief

Lewis warrant

AUSTIN (AP) — An arrest warrant was issued today for House Speaker Gib Lewis after he failed to appear for a pre-trial hearing in his misdemeanor ethics case, a spokeswoman for the judge said.

"Judge (Bob) Perkins says that there is a warrant out for Gib Lewis. If Gib Lewis shows up today, he is going to be arrested. Even if he doesn't show up today, he is going to be arrested," said Bonnie Moreno.

Lewis failed to appear at a 9 a.m. hearing, and at 11 a.m. Perkins ordered that his $10,000 bond be forfeited.

Benefits ok'd

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today approved a $6.4 billion measure extending jobless benefits for Americans who have exhausted regular payments, setting the stage for a likely veto fight between Congress and President Bush.

The senators accepted the Democratic measure by a 65-35 vote. The House was expected to send the legislation to the White House later in the day.

Local

4-H livestock

Scurry County 4-H Livestock Club will meet today at 7 p.m. in the East Elementary cafeteria.

Masons

Scurry County Masonic Lodge 706 AF&AM will have a meal and a stated meeting at 6:30 p.m. today at the lodge.

All Masons are requested to attend.

Laredo supper

North Elementary Parent Council is sponsoring a Laredo Supper and Block Party from 5 p.m. until 8:30 p.m. on Saturday.

The supper is $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for youngsters age 12 and under. The block party is free. Events include a wagon and mule ride, booths and games. A percentage of the proceeds will go to the Reba Erwin fund.

Council meets today...

City to consider eco-development tax

Calling an election for a half-cent sales tax for economic development, probable city redistricting and an increase in state solid waste management fees are among agenda items facing Snyder City Council as it convenes at 6:30 p.m. today for its October meeting.

Other agenda items include bids on a mini fire booster and ambulance, second readings of ordinances on junked vehicles and a franchise agreement, approval of the enterprise zone application, reimbursement bonds for the sewage treatment plant, budget amendments and first readings of ordinances regarding the city's retirement plan.

Members of the council will discuss and possibly approve a half-cent sales tax for a Jan. 18 election. The proposal would allow 3/4 of the tax for economic development and 1/4 for ad valorem tax relief.

A similar half-cent sales tax — which did not include ad valorem tax relief — was defeated by local voters in August of 1990.

A preliminary redistricting proposal will be submitted to the council for review. The proposal is based on 1990 census data and calls for "slight modifications" of the city's single member district lines, according to city officials.

New state legislation will increase the cost of the city's municipal solid waste disposal in the local landfill. Currently the city pays a solid waste impact fee of 50 cents per ton. The new legislation, which became effective Sept. 1, has more than tripled that fee to $1.67 per ton.

Last year, the city paid a total of $8,900; while this year the amount could increase to $29,000, said City Manager John Gayle.

City staff will present different options for funding the increase to the council.

Other business includes approval of the amended budget to close out the city's fiscal year, consideration to issue reimbursement bonds related to costs of the new sewage treatment plant, approval of an enterprise zone application for submission to Texas Department of Commerce, and two annual ordinances updating the city's retirement plan.

Under old business, the council will consider on second readings a junked car ordinance and a franchise agreement with Lone Star Gas.

Bids scheduled for review are for a mini fire booster vehicle and a diesel ambulance for Snyder EMS.

Tax notices 'in the mail'

County residents may begin to feel a pinch in the pocketbook later this week as the county tax office and appraisal district scurry to get the 1991 tax notices in the mail.

Some Ira and Hermleigh school and CED tax notices were mailed Monday, and the rest were delivered to the post office this morning as prepared by Scurry County Appraisal Office. The appraisal office said 2,224 oil and 2,506 real estate notices were prepared.

County Tax Assessor-Collector Rona Sikes said a yet undetermined amount of notices from her office will be ready for mailing by the end of the week.

New to this year's tax notices is a line for the tax assessed by County Education District 11. Both Sikes and Chief Appraiser Ray Peveler note that CED taxes must be paid at the same time as school taxes.

The CED 11 tax is 75.43 cents per $100 valuation.

In addition, for the first time, the three schools will be offering discounts for taxes paid before Jan. 1. The schools join the county and college in offering a three percent discount for taxes paid in October; two percent in November and one percent in December. The city currently offers no discount.

Partial payments can be made on any or all taxes, but partial payments on school taxes will be divided between school and CED taxes, said Sikes.

Taxpayers have until Jan. 31 to pay taxes before they become delinquent.

Lower oil and real estate valuation caused an increase in all six county taxing entities' effective rates, increasing the final tax rates. City taxes are 39.23 cents; county, 37.87; Snyder ISD, 43.4; Ira ISD, 45.0; Hermleigh ISD, 44.19; and Western Texas College, 20.45.

'Diplomatic clearance' given for helicopters to enter Iraq

MANAMA, Bahrain (AP) — A team of U.N. ballistic weapons experts flew to Baghdad today to test Iraq's willingness to allow U.N. inspectors free use of helicopters to search the country for Scud missile launchers and rockets.

Inspectors tracking Iraq's nuclear, chemical, conventional and biological weapons programs have until now been able to operate only near Baghdad because of the lack of helicopters.

The U.N. Special Commission overseeing the weapons search announced a few hours after the team left that Baghdad had given "diplomatic clearance" today for the United Nations' three German helicopters to enter Iraq from Turkey.

Alastair Livingston, head of the commission's regional office in Bahrain, said the helicopters would make the four-hour flight to Baghdad on Wednesday and should be ready for use by the ballistics team by Thursday morning.

The delay on allowing the helicopters into the country was just one in a series of confrontations with Baghdad in recent weeks.

Saddam Hussein's government has repeatedly stalled on compliance with Gulf War cease-fire conditions set by the U.N. Security Council that call for the elimination of Iraq's weapons of mass destruction.

Douglas Englund, an American who leads the 20-member ballistics team, said he would use the helicopters to search western Iraq and supervise destruction of the 28 Scud fixed-site launchers used to attack Israel during the Gulf War.

He also intends to blow up one assembled and one still incomplete "supergun" halfway between Baghdad and the city of Mosul and plans to make several surprise calls on undeclared Iraqi sites that may still harbor Scud missiles, which also were fired at Saudi Arabia.

Meanwhile, David Kay, leader of the 44-member U.N. team involved in a five-day standoff in Baghdad last week over documents detailing Iraq's secret nuclear weapons program, was preparing his report for his superiors.

The documents Kay brought out of Iraq with his team — 25,000 pages and 19 hours of videotape and more than 700 rolls of film of documents — already have gone to International Atomic Energy Agency headquarters in Austria for study.

The documents are said to prove Iraq has been trying to Haiti...

Aristide in exile; France halts aid

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti (AP) — President Jean-Bertrand Aristide flew into exile today after the army ousted him and the first democratically elected government in Haiti's nearly two centuries as a nation.

He arrived this morning in Venezuela, en route to France, and met privately with the U.S. and French ambassadors in Caracas.

Haiti's acting army commander, Brig. Gen. Raoul Cedras, announced Monday night that the military had taken control. He did not say whether the country would be ruled by an individual officer or a group of officers.

The notoriously corrupt army, an agent of repression that has long dominated politics in Haiti, accused Aristide of interfering in its affairs. Indeed, Aristide retired the army's high command and was rumored to be training an elite unit for his protection.

Cedras urged calm and spoke of creating a "serene climate favorable to the next election."

The army rebellion began Sunday, and at least 26 people were killed and 200 wounded in related fighting or street violence. Many Haitians feared further violence over the ouster of Aristide, who won 70 percent of the vote in Haiti's first free presidential elections and had championed the cause of the poor against dictator Jean-Claude Duvalier and a succession of military-dominated governments.

Sporadic gunfire rang out early today in Port-au-Prince, the capital of 1 million people, but few residents ventured outdoors after midnight. The city was reported quiet this morning.

Since taking office Feb. 7, Aristide forged a good relationship with the United States and set about improving the lot of the 6 million people in the Western Hemisphere's poorest country.

Porter wins grid contest

Once again, the SDN Football Contest winners were determined by the tie-breaker score.

Six entrants had only three misses each, and their guesses at the total score furnished the three money winners.

Charles Porter of 310 36th place was the first-place, $50 winner. He guessed 49 points (47 was correct). Drew Travis of 5507 Cedar Creek took the second place prize of $25 by predicting 44 points. Miguel Quiros of 201 35th won the third place prize of $15 by guessing 33 points.

Another contest appears in this issue.

The SDN Column

By Roy McQueen

There's bound to be a connection between pain and pleasure. That's the reason golf spelled backward is flog."

The following was left on our desk:

"When was the last time you said somebody didn't know beans about something, or described a fog as being as thick as pea soup, or called a political speech a lot of baloney?"

"It probably wasn't long ago, because we Americans really take the cake when it comes to using foods in figures of speech. For example, when things go right they are in apple-pie order, and life is a bowl of cherries. But when they go wrong, it's a fine kettle of fish or a pretty pickle."

"If a man is important, he's top banana. If he's not, he may just be a meatball. If he's clumsy, he's butter-fingered. If he's cowardly, he's chicken-livered. If he's poised, he's cool as a cucumber and if he's smart, he's an egghead. If he talks too much, he spills the beans. And if he doesn't talk enough, he clams up."

"Moreover, he doesn't earn money, but rather earns dough or brings home the bacon. If he's working for peanuts, his wife may egg him on to butter up the boss."

"If something is good, it's a peach. If it's bad, it's a lemon. And that may lead to a rhubarb. But someone will say it's just sour grapes. And if you're not worth your salt, you may end up eating humble pie...and that would be your just desserts."

"For icing on the cake, you have to take this (and most columns) with a grain of salt."

School board president Sam Robertson has often heard the expression about being indebted to science. But he never knew the real meaning until his son went to medical school.

Appraisal contracts approved

Scurry County Appraisal District board members signed contracts with Thomas Y. Pickett & Company, Inc., of Dallas, and County Education District 11 at their meeting this morning at the appraisal office.

The contract with the CED was approved at CED board's recent meeting.

Included in the CED 11 are independent school districts Crosbyton, Lorenzo, Rails, Roby, Rotan, Post, Southland, Jayton (see BOARD, page 8).

Return of lost money gives children lesson in real-life

BONHAM, Texas (AP) — A sixth-grade teacher and a Texas couple gave a group of children a real-life lesson in honesty when the teacher lost a box containing $576.

Charmion Johnson Polk, a sixth-grade school teacher from Dunbar Middle School in Fort Worth, lost the box while on a field trip with King's Kids, a youth group named in honor of civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr. The box apparently fell out of the group's van while they were traveling to a church celebration at Honey Grove.

Retired farmers L.D. and Margaret Shepherd of Cotton Center found the money Sept. 1 on U.S. 82 near Windom. The Shepherds turned the money over to the Fannin County Sheriff's office. Ms. Polk met the Shepherds at the sheriff's office in Bonham on Sunday to express her gratitude.

The Fort Worth teacher had called the sheriff after her mother read about the found money in the Sherman Democrat.

Authorities decided to return the money to Ms. Polk when she told them she had been at K-Mart where she bought 36 pairs of gloves. The box contained a K-Mart receipt for the gloves.

The money was to be used to buy gas for the five-car caravan carrying the King's Kids and for emergency repairs.

"We never thought of keeping it," said Mrs. Shepherd, who with her husband declined a $100 reward.

"This is a lesson that I have been trying to teach the girls and boys in the King's Kids group," Ms. Polk said.

She said the experience also taught her a lesson.

"At first, I thought someone else had taken the money from my purse," she said. "I was thinking the way they think in Fort Worth, not the way folks think around here. It strengthened my faith in mankind."

Astrograph By Bernice Bede Osol

Your Birthday

Oct. 1, 1991

Projects, concepts or merchandise that are products of your imagination and creativity will be marketable in the year ahead. When you think you have something good, discuss it with individuals who know how to find buyers.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Your achievements might be rather nominal today, not because you can't do what you set your mind to but because you might see yourself as a loser before you even give yourself a chance to be a winner. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) It's OK to open up in front of intimate friends today, but you should avoid talking about secretive matters in front of casual acquaintances.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Do not impulsively jump into investments, even if they are endorsed by someone for whom you have great respect. Additional investigation is necessary.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You might misinterpret the motives of an associate who is being exceptionally cooperative today. This individual's reasons may be a trifle self-serving, but they're not as dire as you think they are.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) This is not a good day to delegate important assignments. The surrogates you choose could be poor choices, and you might have to go behind them to redo everything they did.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Fair or not, you might be judged today by the company you keep. Be very selective of companions, and avoid associations with individuals whose standards don't measure up.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) In order to be successful today, you must be both a good starter and a strong finisher. If either of these ingredients is absent, the results could be unspectacular.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You might have second thoughts today about a hasty commitment you recently made. If you continue to feel uncomfortable, try to disengage yourself from the obligation.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Know in advance what it's going to cost you before getting involved in non-essential activities today. If there is gambling involved, forego any betting.

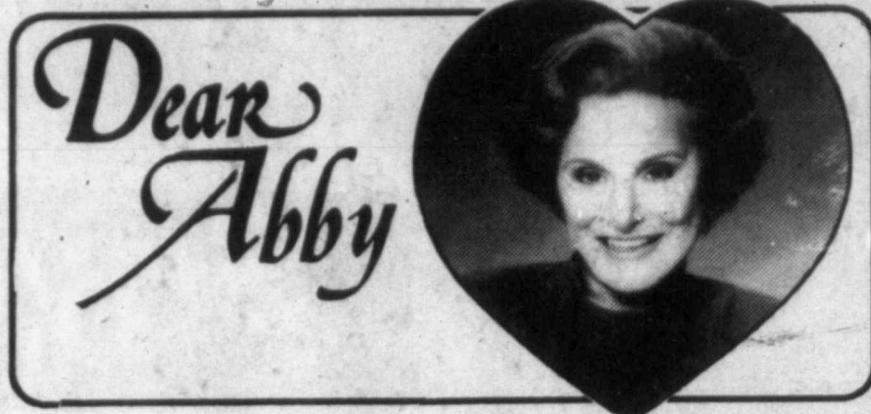

CANCER (June 21-July 22) It's OK to be assertive and to push yourself a bit harder than usual today, provided you don't require of others what you demand of yourself.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You may not have to worry so much about obstacles being placed in your path by others today, because you'll do a pretty good job of putting them there yourself. Don't be your own worst enemy.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Business conditions are somewhat dicey today, so be extra careful in your negotiations, especially if you are the buyer rather than the seller.

Irresponsible Witnesses Become Partners in Crime

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1991 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: Nearly every day, we read or hear about a major crime (such as murder) that was committed in the presence of many witnesses, but nobody called the police until after it was too late to save the victim.

Have we forgotten Kitty Genovese, who was stabbed in three separate attacks for more than half an hour in the courtyard of her New York apartment while 38 neighbors watched and did nothing? Only one person called the police — and that was after Kitty was already dead!

That happened in 1964, but it inspired the social psychologists to study the apathy of our "I-don't-want-to-get-involved" society so prevalent in our nation today.

They concluded that when more than one person witnesses a crime, there is a "diffusion" of responsibility — all the witnesses assume that "someone else" will call the police. So nobody calls.

I am not proud of the fact that I have been guilty of the above attitude. Please print this.

NEVER AGAIN IN N.Y.C.

DEAR NEVER AGAIN: Thank you for writing to acknowledge your guilt. Perhaps your letter will cause others who witness a crime to call the police immediately.

DEAR ABBY: Please settle an argument I am having with a friend. She says it's tacky to state on an invitation to a bridal shower where the bride is registered.

I say it is a proper way to let people know where they can buy a gift. And it doesn't mean that everyone invited to the shower has to buy the gift at that store.

If you think it is considered tacky, please suggest a less tacky way of letting people know what the bride needs. I do not want 50 people calling me to ask where I am registered.

A BRIDE WHO IS REGISTERED

DEAR BRIDE: Stating on the shower invitation where the bride is registered is not tacky; it is a convenience to those invited to the shower. Of course they have the option of buying a shower gift elsewhere if they so choose.

DEAR ABBY: A recent column contained a letter from "California Granny," who wrote on behalf of her daughter who had 7-month-old triplets. She asked you to ask your readers to refrain from stopping the parents of multiple birth children to ask personal questions, such as, "Did you take fertility drugs?"

This reminds me of the story about a young woman with six children waiting on the street corner for a bus. An elderly woman approached her and remarked that all the children so greatly resembled her — but could they all be hers, since they appeared to range only several years in age?

The young mother replied that they were three sets of twins — born a year apart, and they were all hers.

"My," said the older lady, "Do you and your husband have twins every time?"

"No," said the young woman, "Most of the time we don't have any!"

A MORRISVILLE, PA., READER

Abby's family recipes are included in her cookbooklet. Send a long, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $3.95 ($4.50 in Canada) to: Dear Abby, Cookbooklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054. (Postage is included.)

Customs agents difficult

BEIJING (AP) — It was just past 2 p.m. and the young man at the customs window was tired. He had been working for about an hour since his 90-minute lunch break.

When the next applicant handed over her forms, he drawled, "Just a minute. I have to rest."

As those waiting in line watched in astonishment, the young man sat down, rubbed his face, poked around in his shirt pocket, plucked out a cigarette and leaned back in his chair.

After puffing a few minutes, he got up and walked out the door.

No one waiting in line dared protest — he might slap on an unusually high customs tax or create other problems.

Similar scenes are played out every day in offices all across China.

The government is so hobbled by red tape, the official Economic Daily reported recently, that it took one company two years and 173 stamps of approval to import a single piece of machinery.

Chinese have perfected the art of dealing with bureaucracy after a lifetime of standing in lines, filling out forms and dealing with rude, unhelpful officials. Young women play damsel-in-distress, grannies scold and badger and nearly everyone smiles and grovels.

They know better than to lose their tempers. To do so could mean not getting a Beijing residence permit or a telephone installed.

A foreign businessman overseeing construction of a major business complex in Beijing said customs agents realize the costs their delays could bring.

He and everyone else who spoke about the customs system did so on condition of anonymity, fearing future import problems.

The businessman's shipping agent has resorted to giving bribes — at first just small gifts such as imported cigarettes. He said the bribes increased to televisions and videocassette recorders as the project's deadline neared.

Records might hold big secrets

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — A state agency that sought to preserve segregation by spying on Mississippi citizens during the civil rights movement was buried in 1973. But its files remain the historical equivalent of radioactive waste.

Six filing cabinets of dossiers sealed nearly 15 years ago are at the center of a battle between the right to privacy and the right to know — a fight that could reopen painful wounds in a state trying to leave its past behind.

In 1956, the Legislature established the Mississippi Sovereignty Commission to "do and perform any and all acts and things deemed necessary and proper to protect the sovereignty of the State of Mississippi ... from encroachment thereon by the federal government."

In practice, the commission used espionage and propaganda to try to undermine attempts at integration.

Its agents infiltrated civil rights groups and kept law enforcement agencies informed of "subversives." It sent pro-segregation spokesmen around the country and pumped a stream of news releases to the local and national media.

At one time, it had files on 250 organizations and 10,000 people, from Freedom Summer volunteers to U.S. senators.

The commission's funding of approximately $100,000 was vetoed by Gov. William Waller in 1973. The Legislature voted in 1977 to seal the records for 50 years.

The miracles continue

By Phillip Alder

Today's hand, like yesterday's, is one in which you need to play for a precise distribution to have any chance of bringing home your contract. If you would like to try it for yourself, cover the East-West cards and work out how you might make six hearts against the lead of the diamond queen.

You have a guaranteed trump loser, plus (after the lead) a diamond loser, staring you in the face. The only chance is to find the spades 4-4 so that you can discard all four of your diamond losers. But suppose you win the opening lead, draw two rounds of trumps ending in the dummy, ruff a low spade, return to dummy with a club to the ace, and run the spade suit. If everything passes off as you wish, you will get rid of your four diamond losers. However, when an opponent ruffs the last spade, he will lead a diamond. You will have to ruff in your hand and will be unable to take the club finesse through East, since there will be no dummy entry left. You must take the club finesse early — through West — either immediately or after ruffing a spade in hand.

Dutchman Willem van Eyck did just that in a French tournament. He won trick one with the diamond ace and immediately ran the club jack successfully. Next he played the heart king and a heart to the ace, cashed the A-K-Q of spades, discarding diamonds, and ruffed the spade five in hand. He returned to dummy with a club to the ace and discarded his last diamond loser on the spade nine.

A beautiful piece of declarer-play.

Caroline finds people do care

NEW YORK (AP) — Caroline Kennedy Schlossberg says she returned from a book promotion tour convinced that Americans care about their freedom.

"You're constantly reading that people don't vote, don't care, don't understand," the 34-year-old daughter of President Kennedy said in an interview in the November issue of McCall's magazine.

But Schlossberg, a lawyer, said that during a recent tour for "In Our Defense: The Bill of Rights in Action," "We were really gratified because we saw that people really do understand."

Sale set

The AARP will have a garage sale on Saturday, Oct. 5, on the east side of the Senior Citizens Center, 2603 Ave. M.

Donations are to be brought to the center Friday.

The garage sale will be open to the public no earlier than 9 a.m. Saturday.

ANNUAL SALE — Martha Ann Woman's Club's directors have planned their annual garage sale for Saturday from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Towle Park Barn. Club members are asked to bring their items, marked and ready for sale, to the barn on Friday afternoon or to a board member. Anyone wishing to donate items can call Christy Thompson at 573-8979 or Mary Beth Vestal at 9964. Proceeds from the event are used to help support Gentle Dove, Noah Project, Snyder Neighbors Sharing, and for the maintenance of the clubhouse. Making early deliveries are from left, Mrs. Vestal, Jean Sealy, Frances Denman and Mrs. Thompson. (SDN Staff Photo)

Lynn Bethel recognized by MTNA

Mrs. Lynn Bethel of Snyder has again achieved special professional recognition by the Music Teachers National Association as a nationally certified teacher of piano.

Mrs. Bethel was commended for this because of her teaching preparation and successful teaching experience.

"It gives us great pleasure to award you this certificate upon renewal of your MTNA Professional Certification. We commend you for the excellence you have demonstrated and for your desire to continually improve your teaching skills. You have met, and continue to meet, nationally accepted standards," said Virginia H. Buhr, chairman of the NCB.

Mrs. Bethel holds a bachelor of music degree from Baylor University, a master of music degree from Hardin-Simmons University and post graduate work at Teacher's College, Columbia University.

In 1990 she was named Teacher of the Year by the Lubbock Music Teachers Association, and in 1991 she was recognized by the same organization as one of nine candidates for Texas Teacher of the Year.

She teaches private piano, organ and theory classes and judges for National Piano Guild auditions, TMTA piano contests and Texas Federated Music Club Festivals.

LB Harris traded to San Francisco

SANTA CLARA, Calif. (AP) — Holdout linebacker Tim Harris was traded by Green Bay to the San Francisco 49ers in exchange for two high draft picks.

San Francisco coach George Seifert said the 49ers gave up their second-round pick in 1992 and either a second- or third-round pick in 1993, based on conditions he declined to disclose. Seifert said Harris could be activated for the Oct. 13 game against Atlanta.

Harris, 27, made $630,000 last season, including bonuses. He reportedly will receive $725,000 for the rest of this season and $825,000 in 1992.

Augmon inks contract with Hawks

ATLANTA (AP) — Stacey Augmon, the ninth pick overall, agreed to a 5-year contract with the Atlanta Hawks, becoming the highest draft pick to sign. The deal is reportedly worth $6.5 million to $7 million for the defensive specialist from UNLV.

To make room under the salary cap for Augmon, the Hawks renounced their rights to Sidney Moncrief, whom they coaxed out of retirement last season.

Indianapolis Colts fire Meyer

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Ron Meyer was fired as coach of the winless Indianapolis Colts today and replaced by defensive coordinator Rick Venturi.

Meyer's dismissal comes two days after an embarrassing 31-3 loss to the Seattle Seahawks dropped the Colts to 0-5.

The 45-year-old Venturi, who coached at Northwestern from 1978-1981, joined the Colts in 1982 as linebackers coach.

Bears' Strait to undergo surgery

DALLAS (AP) — Fullback Robert Strait will miss Baylor's games with Houston, Rice and Texas A&M because of arthroscopic surgery on his right knee, coach Grant Teaff says.

Teaff said it is feared that Strait has loose cartilage in his knee because it had locked the past two games. A magnetic-resonance-imaging test proved inconclusive Monday.

Strait, the leading rusher for the No. 11 Bears will be replaced by John Henry, David Loeb and Bradford Lewis.

Pennant races are heating up

Dodgers, Braves both win

by The Associated Press
If pitching wins pennants, the Dodgers and Braves might be heading for a tie.

Both teams won again Monday night behind outstanding starting pitching, keeping Los Angeles one game ahead of Atlanta in the NL West.

At Cincinnati, Atlanta's John Smoltz overcame control problems to pitch two-hit ball over eight innings and Sid Bream singled home a pair of runs in a four-run third inning for a 4-0 victory over the Reds.

The Dodgers went out and answered the Braves' strong pitching with some of their own as Orel Hershiser shut out visiting San Diego for seven innings to preserve Los Angeles' slim lead.

For the second straight night, the Dodgers began play aware that a loss could drop them into a tie with the Braves.

Elsewhere in the NL it was Pittsburgh 6, New York 5; St. Louis 11, Montreal 1; Philadelphia 6, Chicago 5; and Houston 2, San Francisco 0.

SHS spikers claim non-district victory

ASPERMONT — Snyder's Lady Tiger volleyball team moved to 9-4 on the season with a 15-8, 15-13 non-district victory over Aspermont Monday.

Snyder coach Patty Grimmett felt like the team needed a game for the early part of the week to fill a loop open date to keep a rhythm going.

"Well, since we had a district game on Saturday, we needed to play this week. It was a Monday game, so we were still a little bit off our schedule."

The win gives the Lady Tigers a four-match winning streak with District 2-4A foe Estacado hosting Saturday's 2 p.m. contest.

"The first game we played a lot of defense," said Grimmett of Monday's win.

"They dinked on us a lot and they had several soft hits."

"The second game got kind of close because we ran out of substitutions and we were playing kids out of position."

"We finally scored point 14 and it took another six rotations for us to score game point and finish it off."

"I guess we just let up a little in the second game," she surmised.

Melanie Sargent and Joellen King each accounted for six service points to lead Snyder. In addition, Sargent slammed three aces and King managed two.

Amber Bowlin added five points and an ace, Julie Johnson smacked four scores, one on an ace, Emma Skold was credited with three points while Stephanie Molina, Stephanie Fambro and Lynette Sears each put in two.

Sears was good for two service aces and Fambro put in one, giving the Lady Tigers a total of 10 in the match.

"One more thing," said Grimmett. "I want to thank the people who follow us on the road. It's nice to go to another team's gym and see some of your own fans. There were several fans there Monday."

SJHS volleyball teams play in Seminole event

SEMINOLE — Snyder's eighth grade Gold captured second place while seventh grade Gold from Snyder Junior High won the consolation title at Saturday's Seminole Volleyball Tournament.

"I was real pleased with them working together so well," said eighth grade coach Amanda Herrera. "I appreciate their hard work."

The eighth grade knocked off host Seminole, 15-13, 15-3, in the tourney opener, then edged Sweetwater in three games, 15-9, 10-15, 15-11, to earn a spot in the tourney championship match against Lamesa.

The young Lady Tigers fell to LJHS, 9-15, 15-17.

Seventh graders from Snyder lost to Seminole in the opening round, 10-15, 15-7, 4-15, then beat Denver City, 15-5, 15-3.

Snyder dumped Jal, N.M. for the consolation crown, 5-15, 15-2, 15-5.

Jodi White was the eighth graders' top scorer for the day, serving 23 points. Jamie Brown added 19, Lindsey Griffin poured in 13 and Mendy Winter pounded nine.

Also, Julie Lang accounted for seven, Bianca Rocha served six, Camilla Sosa managed five and Edwina Brooks slammed three.

Michelle Spencer had two and Kayla Drain, Sterling Cave and Mandy Baker each knocked one.

Scoring for the seventh graders included Tiffany Garza with 31 points in the event, Darla Blackwell's 18, 11 from Lisha Leatherwood, Joanie Wemken's 10, six by Rachelle Wemken, five apiece from Sam Trevino and Shawn Purcell and four by Devon Reed.

In addition, Elise Merritt and Brandy Roberge wound up with two service points each.

The next action for Snyder Junior High spikers will come Saturday, Oct. 12, when they host the Snyder tournament.

BoSox edge closer to Jays

by The Associated Press

These are tough times for the Boston Red Sox: blowing big leads, losing big games and falling behind bigtime in the AL East race.

Finally, something right happened for them on Monday night.

They characteristically blew a big lead, but uncharacteristically came back to beat the Milwaukee Brewers 9-8 for possibly their most important victory of the season.

"It's been a tough series, and this game looked like it easily could have gone the other way for us again, and it would have been a tough one to swallow," Tom Brunansky said. "We battled back. We had to win. Hopefully it will give us some sort of momentum for the last six."

The Red Sox, who had blown a 4-0 lead to lose 5-4 to Milwaukee on Sunday, squandered a 6-0 lead Monday night. But Jack Clark's two-run homer and Brunansky's RBI double rescued them in the seventh inning as they moved within 3½ games of the Toronto Blue Jays, who lost 2-1 to California. The Red Sox have six games to play, the Blue Jays five.

Elsewhere, Seattle beat Texas 3-2 in 11 innings in the first game of a doubleheader before the Rangers came back to win the second 2-0; Detroit defeated Baltimore 8-3; New York beat Cleveland 3-0; Minnesota whipped Chicago 8-3, and Kansas City trimmed Oakland 8-4.

Milwaukee went ahead 7-6 with four runs in the third and Greg Vaughn's three-run homer in the fifth. Clark struck back with a homer off rookie Mike Ignasiak (1-1) and Brunansky doubled in another run off Chuck Crim.

Dennis Lamp (6-3) let Milwaukee close within a run in the bottom of the inning, but Tony Fossas and Dan Petry held off the Brewers, with Petry getting his first career save.

Monday Night Football...

Redskins stifle Philly

WASHINGTON (AP) — True, the Washington Redskins have three shutouts in this young NFL season, but they'll be the first to admit they've been beating up on teams at less than full strength.

"We couldn't be happier with our defense, period. But everyone knows losing your quarterback like that really throws you off," Redskins coach Joe Gibbs said after Washington knocked off Philadelphia 23-0 to run its record to 5-0.

The Redskins marched to victory Monday night behind two interceptions by Darrell Green, a pair of sacks from Charles Mann and a stingy defense that limited Philadelphia to four first downs and 89 yards total offense.

But the Eagles were able to move the ball in the first period — until quarterback Jim McMahon had to leave the game after spraining a ligament in his right knee.

His replacement, former New York Jets backup Pat Ryan, went 4-for-14 for 24 yards and threw three interceptions.

"It's hard to say how good their defense is since we didn't give ourselves a chance to test it," said Ryan, who did not play in 1990 after a dozen seasons as a back-up with the New York Jets. "They played well, but I haven't figured out if they played that good or we played that bad."

"We've got to give credit where credit is due — their defense was relentless," said Eagles coach Rich Kotite. "But we played poorly on offense, and I'm just disappointed we didn't turn it up a notch and get into the ballgame."

The Redskins played just well enough on offense to gain the win, using a 19-yard scoring pass from Mark Rypien to Art Monk and a 37-yard Chip Lohmiller field goal to build a 10-0 halftime lead. Lohmiller added another pair of field goals in the second half, the last coming with 11 seconds to play, and Earnest Byner added a scoring run.

But defense was what everyone was talking about afterwards.

"We've still got a ways to go," said linebacker Wilber Marshall, who played on the 1985 Chicago Bears NFL championship team and knows a thing or two about tough defensive play. "We're just starting to jell, but we've had some breaks."

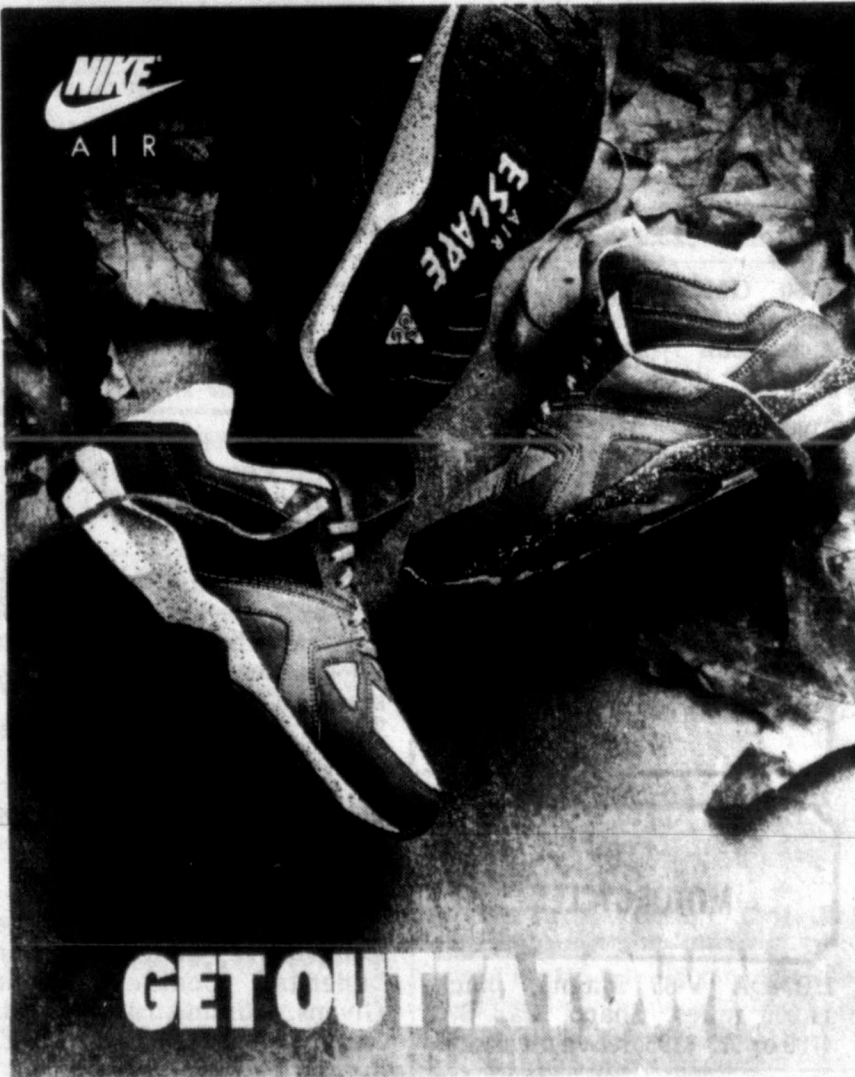

Breaks aplenty, some might say.

Washington shut down Detroit's vaunted run-and-shoot offense in the season opener, recording a 45-0 victory. The only problem was, Lions running back Barry Sanders was out with an injury and quarterback Rodney Peete looked rusty after missing nearly all of training camp.

Likewise, the Phoenix Cardinals couldn't score with backup quarterback Tom Tupa when they lost to the Redskins two weeks ago. And on Monday night, the Eagles lost McMahon early in the game and sputtered after that.

Away from home, the Redskins have been less fearsome, eking out a 33-31 victory over the Dallas Cowboys in part because Cowboy running back Emmitt Smith, who had run well in the first half, became ill — and ineffective — during the second.

But still, Washington entered Monday's contest with the third-best defense in the NFL — a figure likely to improve after the Redskins totally dominated Philadelphia.

Dr. Gott

By Peter Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My 38-year-old husband has rheumatoid arthritis, for which he takes Voltaren and prednisone. We've been trying to conceive our second child and have been unable to do so. Could the medication affect his ability to fulfill our wish? His physician has suggested that he go off the medication for just a month, yet he's in such pain that I'm always the one who makes him stay on it on a regular basis.

DEAR READER: Prednisone can interfere with the production of sperm. This would be an unusual side effect of the drug, but it has been reported to occur. Voltaren does not affect fertility.

With the many anti-arthritis medications available, I am surprised your husband's physician has prescribed both prednisone and Voltaren. Ordinarily, Voltaren (and similar medicines) will control the pain of arthritis, without the need for prednisone (a steroid), which is powerful, leads to many troublesome side effects (such as hypertension, diabetes and cataracts) and is usually reserved for patients who don't respond to safer drugs.

I think your husband should discuss this with his doctor and request that the prednisone be temporarily discontinued. (The dose of the drug should be slowly tapered; sudden cessation can be dangerous because the body comes to depend on the steroid.) Additional doses of Voltaren — or a switch to a substitute, such as Lodine or Motrin — may be necessary. This option should re-establish your husband's fertility, if the prednisone were to blame.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Consumer Tips on Medicines." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I've experienced severe and constant fatigue, low grade fever, recurring sore throat, muscle weakness and numbness in my face and arms. My vision is deteriorating. I'm lightheaded and have been forced to take a seven-week leave-of-absence from my work. What might my problem be?

DEAR READER: I don't know. Your symptoms are too general for me to suggest a diagnosis. I believe you would be best served by seeing your family doctor, who will examine you fully and obtain blood tests and X-rays. Many diseases are associated with the symptoms you describe; a doctor should be able to sort them out.

In some parts of the country, Lyme disease — an infection spread by ticks — would be a distinct possibility, so make sure that your doctor orders a Lyme blood test.

If your ailment remains a puzzle, your physician can refer you to an appropriate specialist, such as an internist or a neurologist.

Cities may have to scrap current recycling plans

AUSTIN (AP) — Austin and several other Texas cities may be forced to alter, scale back or scrap their newspaper recycling programs because of a glut in the recycled paper industry, city and industry officials say.

Matt Myers, recycling coordinator for ACCO Waste Paper of Austin, said Monday that his company has asked to renegotiate its contract with the city because it cannot find buyers for the increasing amounts of paper it has been receiving.

"It could be possible in the near future that there won't be any newspaper pickup on a curbside basis," Myers said.

"We are in a renegotiation process with the city," he said. "Something has to change. The stacks of papers just keep piling up. I mean, what good does it do to collect newspapers if we have nowhere to go with them?"

City officials say they can't rule out the possibility that the newspaper recycling program will have to be altered or halted entirely, but add they are more optimistic than industry officials.

"The thought of not being able to recycle newspapers is certainly not a pleasant one, but I don't want to say anything that will panic everybody," Alan Watts, the city's recycling manager, said.

"We are worried that the markets are tight," he said. "But there is still a lot of potential for market development in recycled newspapers. If we need to explore other markets to meet our supply, then we'll do that."

ACCO had been shipping 1,500 tons of old newspapers each month to a paper mill outside Monterrey, Mexico.

Officials at the mill, which processes the paper into newsprint for Mexican newspaper, told the Austin company it will cut incoming shipments to 800 tons per month for the next two years. That's about half of the amount they formerly received.

Awaits judge's approval...

New Exxon Valdez settlement reached

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Exxon Corp. agreed to a $1 billion settlement of state and federal lawsuits over the nation's worst oil spill — $25 million more than a similar package rejected by a judge as too easy on the oil giant.

The agreement announced Monday by Gov. Walter J. Hickel guarantees more money for restoring Prince William Sound, but otherwise closely resembles the plea bargain rejected in March by U.S. District Judge H. Russel Holland.

Holland said then that the criminal penalty in the package was not severe enough to deter polluters. The judge has final say over the agreement.

The Legislature also voted down the first deal, but Hickel said he wouldn't give it a chance to kill this one.

"I think this is a good settlement," he said Monday.

Like the first package, this one, if approved, would be biggest settlement of an environmental damage case in U.S. history.

"This is basically the same bad deal the judge, the Alaska Legislature and the public rejected before," said Sarah Chasis, a lawyer with the Natural Resources Defense Council in New York, which is suing Exxon for damages over the Exxon Valdez spill of March 24, 1989.

"I would be mystified if Judge Holland accepts it this time," said Pamela Brodie, Alaska representative of the Sierra Club.

"The criminal fine is still woefully inadequate," said state Rep. Dave Donley.

Exxon is scheduled to go on trial on federal criminal charges Oct. 7. Holland will not discuss the case outside the courtroom.

The deal would settle the state's civil claims against Exxon and any the federal government might have brought. It would not affect the private lawsuits seeking a total of $59 billion from the oil giant.

Under the original proposal, Exxon would have paid a $100 million criminal fine — $50 million to the U.S. Treasury and $50 million to Alaska.

Under the new plan, Exxon would pay a criminal fine of $150 million, with $125 million forgiven because of the company's voluntary expenditures to clean up the sound. The rest, $25 million, would go to the federal government.

Exxon would pay an additional $100 million in restitution, split evenly between the state and federal governments. All $100 million would go to restoring Prince William Sound, which Alaska Attorney General Charles Cole said made this deal "substantially better" than the first.

As in the previous settlement, Exxon would also pay $900 million over the next 11 years to settle the state and federal governments' damage claims. Hickel said state negotiators tried to hasten the payment schedule but failed.

The net difference between the two plans is $25 million.

Like the old deal, the new one includes a "re-opener" clause that would let the governments seek an additional $100 million if new spill damage is found.

Exxon and its shipping subsidiary agreed to plead guilty to four misdemeanors. Two federal felony pollution charges would be dropped.

Exxon officials in Irving, Texas, declined to discuss the agreement.

Obituaries

Carroll Brush

1947-1991

Services are pending at Bell-Cypert-Seale Funeral Home for former Snyder resident Carroll Thomas Brush, 44, of Houston.

He died Monday at his residence.

He was the son of Mae Brush of Snyder.

Born April 11, 1947, in Snyder, he had worked for an oilfield equipment business and had lived in Katy five years before moving to Houston. He was a Baptist.

Other survivors include a sister, Ann Horton of Katy; a niece and her husband, Susan and Lacy Whitcomb of Crosby; one great-niece, Christen Whitcomb, and one great-nephew, Daniel Whitcomb, both of Crosby.

Becton Templeton

1901-1991

Services have been set for 2 p.m. Thursday at the Odum Chapel of First Methodist Church for Becton R. Templeton, 90, of Houston. Burial will be in the Snyder Cemetery. Dr. Wylie "Buff" Hearn, pastor of the church, will officiate.

He died Thursday at a Houston nursing home.

Born May 30, 1901, in Hillsboro, Mr. Templeton was retired from Texaco where he worked over 40 years. He married Ella Mae Joyce on Dec. 24, 1926, in Sweetwater. She died on Sept. 5, 1983. He was a member of the Methodist Church.

Survivors include four nieces, Bette Harris of Abilene, Helen Hatter and Jane Crenwelge, both of Snyder, and Betty T. Atkins of Houston; two nephews, John W. Joyce of Dallas and James R. Templeton of Houston; a sister-in-law, Flo Joyce of Snyder; and two brothers-in-law, Skipper and Ixon Joyce of Snyder.

Mary Ford

1918-1991

POST — Services are set for 3 p.m. Wednesday in the Hudman Funeral Home Chapel for Mary Nell Ford, 72, who died Monday in Garza Memorial Hospital. Burial will follow in the Terrace Cemetery.

She was the sister of Janice Hodges of Snyder.

Born in Paris on Dec. 20, 1918, she had been a resident of the Post area since 1922. She was a retired textile worker. She married Burl Ford on Nov. 11, 1937 in Snyder, and he died in 1980.

Other survivors include two sons, B.A. Ford of Salinas, Calif., and Arlon Ford of Post; a daughter, Mary Beth Stalcup of Lubbock; a brother, Zed Randolph of Rotan; two sisters-in-law, Bonnie Lyons of Snyder and Eula Clanton of Mineola; a brother-in-law and sister-in-law, Ernest and Willie Ford of Polar; two grandchildren; a great-grandchild; and several nieces and nephews.

Dack Rambo tests positive for AIDS virus

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dack Rambo, who played Jack Ewing on "Dallas," has quit the NBC soap opera "Another World" after testing positive for the AIDS virus, a spokesman says.

The 49-year-old Rambo gave his last performance as Congressman Grant Harrison two weeks ago, said Steve Rosenblum, vice president of the actor's management company.

"He wants to devote his time to AIDS Project Los Angeles," a non-profit organization that helps those infected with the virus, Rosenblum said Monday. "He also wants to encourage people to get tested."

Rambo and his twin brother, Dirk, played twins on "The New Loretta Young Show" in 1962-63. Dirk was killed in a traffic accident in 1967.

be split between Ray Peveler and Sharla Williamson, due to their additional study, responsibility and work load. The decision was voted on and passed by the board.

The appraisal district contracts with Thomas Y. Pickett for valuation of oil and related properties.

Bills payable were approved and Peveler reported collections were going well.

Maples update

YAKIMA, Wash. (AP) — Donald Trump's ex-fiancee, Marla Maples, was seen holding hands at a state fair with Grammy-winning singer Michael Bolton.

"It was fairly obvious they have a pretty good relationship," said Bolton's manager, Greg Stewart.

The couple rode "The Zipper" and ate "elephant ears" — a pastry — after the R&B balladeer's sold-out performance Sunday, Stewart said.

Bolton — whose hits include "Time, Love and Tenderness" and "How Am I Supposed to Live Without You?" — is recently divorced.

Cheaper meat prices may be in store for consumers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sharply lower farm prices for hogs and cattle could mean cheaper meat prices for consumers this month, especially cool-weather favorites like roasts, soup and stew meats, officials say.

The Agriculture Department said Monday that farm prices for hogs and cattle tumbled again in September and remain sharply below last year's levels.

The lower meat prices, however, were offset by strong prices for apples and oranges, which pushed up the farm price index slightly, USDA said.

But without the fivefold increase in orange prices, the farm price index shows deteriorating prices for producers, particularly cattle and hog raisers. At the same time, the prices farmers paid for items such as fertilizer and fuel were 3 percent higher in September than a year earlier.

The abundant meat supply which has been driving down farm prices could, however, translates into better retail prices for consumers, said Dick Edwards, a food marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The biggest reductions will be for items in seasonal demand, such as ground beef, roasts, round steak and soup and stew meat.

USDA, meanwhile, said the all-farm products index of prices increased 1 point — or 0.7 percent — from August to September. The index was the same as in September 1990, at 148 percent of the January-December 1977 average.

Officers arrest 3; work cruelty case

Snyder police filed a report of an unattended child, made three arrests, and took separate complaints for criminal mischief and cruelty to animals during a busy Monday.

Officers were notified of a dead dog in the backyard at 207 Hickory about 9:38 a.m. Monday. An animal control officer advised that two other dogs appeared to be starving. The animals were taken to the city pound and an offense report was filed for cruelty to animals.

At 12:08 p.m. Monday a woman in the 100 block of Milburn notified police that a 19-month-old boy had come to her front door, apparently lost. Police picked up the youth and checked the neighborhood but was unable to locate the mother. The child was taken to the police department where Child Protective Services was notified and a report for an unattended child was filed. The mother later came to the police department and the child was released to her custody.

At 12:52 p.m., officers took a 78-year-old male into custody at Lawrence IGA for Class C theft, shoplifting, and transported him to the county jail.

Officers also arrested a 24-year-old male at the police department at 4:36 p.m. on a criminal mischief warrant and a 34-year-old male at Snyder Cemetery at 7:58 p.m. for public intoxication. Both subjects were taken to the county jail.

Officers filed a report for Class C assault Monday after they were notified of a fight at 24th St. and Ave. O at 8:03 a.m. Two males, ages 15 and 17, were transported to the police department and later released to their parents.

Paul Zeck of Y-Z Industries, Inc., reported at 10:08 a.m. that criminal mischief had been done to some lighting in front of the business. Officers also took a report of criminal mischief at 2:18 p.m. in reference to damaged signs and a concession stand at Logan Field in Towle Park.

In other activity Monday, officers worked two traffic accidents, including a hit-and-run.

At 9:15 a.m., officers responded to an accident at 1000 WTC Dr. involving a parked 1989 Ford owned by B.J. Claxton of Rt. 2 Hermleigh and a vehicle which left the scene.

At 4:53 p.m., officers worked a wreck in the 900 block of 23rd St. involving a 1991 GMC pickup driven by Dalvin Wayne Alexander of 3409 Apple St. and a 1987 Datsun driven by Ramsey Tercero of San Antonio. Both vehicles were towed from the scene. Tercero, 33, was later taken to Cogdell Hospital by private vehicle where he was treated and released for a neck and shoulder sprain.

In one other report, a woman in the 1400 block of Ave. M came to the police department at 1:59 p.m. Monday to report her 14-year-old daughter missing. Police filed the case as a runaway.

Many family breakups linked to alcohol abuse

WASHINGTON (AP) — Alcoholism and problem drinking appear to play an important role in the breakup of American families, a new government survey finds.

Separated and divorced people are three times as likely as those with intact marriages to say they were married to an alcoholic or a problem drinker, said the survey, released Monday.

Also, nearly 56 percent of separated or divorced people said they had been exposed to alcoholism in their families at some time in their lives, compared with 43 percent of married people.

"Although many marriages survive the effects of alcoholism, either because the alcoholic seeks help or because the family accommodates to the alcoholic drinking, it is clear that a large number of marriages dissolve in the face of alcoholism," the study said.

The survey was conducted by the National Center for Health Statistics and the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism.

Researchers did not distinguish between an alcoholic and a problem drinker in their survey of nearly 44,000 adults in 1988. Since respondents interpreted these labels, patterns of alcohol consumption may vary among those identified as alcoholics, researchers said. The survey had a margin of error of about two percentage points.

The survey found that overall, 76 million Americans — about 43 percent of the adult population — had some contact with alcoholism in their family.

About 18 percent said they had lived with an alcoholic or problem drinker while growing up.

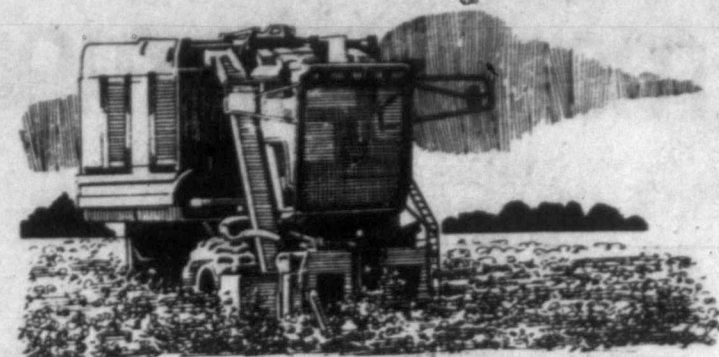

These estimates may be too low, researchers said, because they do not include exposure to non-blood relatives unless the respondent grew up with them and because many families with alcoholics tend to deny the problem until it becomes unmanageable.

The survey also found that nearly 10 percent of adults have been married to or had a marriage-like relationship with an alcoholic or problem drinker.

About 38 percent of American adults have at least one blood relative who was ever an alcoholic or problem drinker, ac-

Nutritional analysis said mandatory step

By KENT MILLS

After you have determined that you have sufficient forage to keep some of your steers and/or heifers to try to make some further gains and profit, nutrition becomes a major concern. Unlike a mature cow, a growing calf has much higher nutritional needs to continue growing at a rate that will be profitable to the ranch. How much gain a calf will achieve will be directly dependent on the quality and quantity of forage it has available, and the supplemental program used to optimize that gain.

Without a forage sampling program, you are guessing that the quality of the forage is sufficient to give the gains necessary to make retained ownership profitable. Unlike buying stockers, which you hope are someone's managerial mistake and therefore will get some compensatory gain, calves you raise should be healthy and in good condition when you wean them. The calves will lose some of their bloom after weaning as they learn to exist without the help of mother's milk. Letting the calves fall back too far will, in the long run cost you money. It is much more economical to begin supplementation at weaning to insure that this weaning loss is held to a minimum. Every pound saved is one that you won't have to put back on later.

Through the use of computers and forage analysis, we can now reasonably project the potential gains for calves from forage, how much extra gain we can get through supplementation, and determine whether or not this extra gain is economical. If you can put extra gain on calves for 40 cents per pound, and they will sell for 85 cents per pound, you will be making 45 cents for each extra pound gained. This would definitely be classified as "economical gains," meaning that the value of the gain is greater than the cost of the gain.

To keep gain costs down, it is imperative that you supplement only what the forage is not providing. The only way to know this is through forage analysis. If, for example, you are using a high-protein supplement when the forage has sufficient protein, then you are spending way too much for the extra gain that you get. If on the other hand, you are deficient in protein and feed a low protein supplement, then the gains will be restricted due to a protein deficiency, not getting enough gain for the supplement cost.

With these abundant fall rains, it does appear that many producers will have sufficient forage to retain some of their calves to try to get more profit from gains on forages. To insure profitability, the special nutritional requirements of growing calves should be considered. Doing so will go a long way toward insuring that retaining these calves will be a profitable enterprise for your ranch operation.

Management seminar set

There are still a few places open for the Turf and Ornamental Pest management Seminar, scheduled for Thursday at Western Texas College.

Anyone wishing to register should contact the continuing education office as early as possible Wednesday.

David Kattes, assistant professor of agriculture at WTC, is organizing the seminar which is designed to cover the control of diseases, insects and weeds in turf and ornamentals.

Continuing Education Credits for the seminar will be given by the Structural Pest Control Board and the Texas Department of Agriculture.

Registration will begin at 8 a.m. in the WTC Fine Arts building lobby with sessions running throughout the day. Exams and CEU reports will conclude the program from 4-5 p.m. Lunch will be provided by WTC.

Area meeting

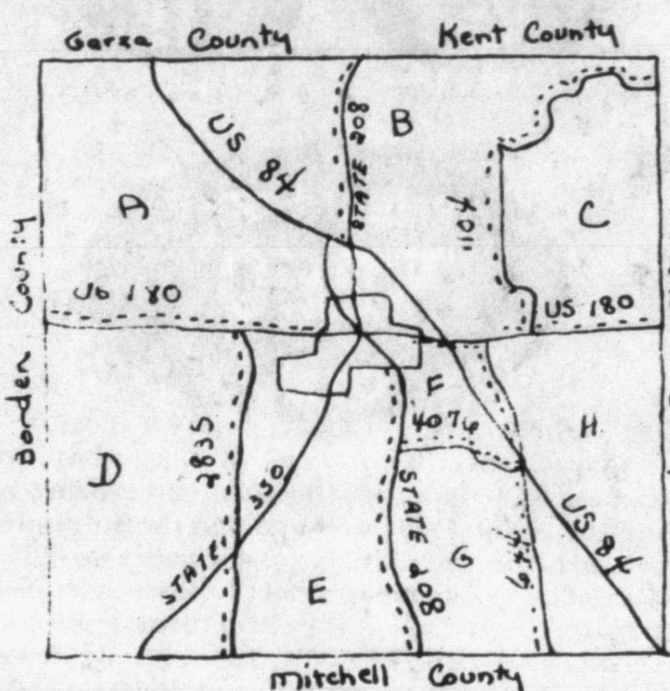

A meeting of interest and benefit to all area cotton producers will be held to discuss the possibility of a Cotton Boll Weevil Eradication program. This meeting will be held on Monday, October 7 at 3:00 p.m., at the Rotan Community Center, Rotan, Texas.

A new study shows that children who skip breakfast have significantly higher blood cholesterol levels compared to children who eat morning meals.

Researchers looked at the breakfast habits of more than 500 children (ages 9 to 19) and divided them into six categories: Skipper, ready-to-eat (RTE) cereals with fiber; traditional breakfast of eggs, bacon, sausage, waffles or pancakes; chips or sweets; other RTE cereals; and mixed breakfast.

Breakfast skippers were found to have cholesterol levels 7 percent to 8 percent higher than those who ate breakfast. Dr. Ken Resnicow, director of child health research with the American Health Foundation in New York City and conductor of the study, found that the group consuming RTE cereal with at least 2 grams of fiber per ounce had the lowest cholesterol levels. Those consuming chips and sweets had the highest.

Encouraging children to eat breakfast can pay off. The morning meal provides energy and can help the child concentrate during study or play. However, it may be difficult to get some children to eat the traditional-type breakfast like bacon and eggs or cereal. Trying a little breakfast variety can encourage a child to look forward to morning meals. Here are some suggestions:

- Make a shake for breakfast — combine milk, fresh fruit (bananas, strawberries or peaches) and ice in a blender. Before serving, add a dash of cinnamon and nutmeg.
- Make popsicles from low-fat yogurt. Pour fruited yogurt in popsicle molds and freeze on a stick.

• Serve sliced apples or crackers with a dip made of peanut butter, cream cheese, honey, raisins and flaked coconut.

• Serve leftover spaghetti, chicken or pizza (hot or cold).

• Bake a potato and top with grated cheese, steamed vegetables or chili.

• Serve bagels and English muffins. Spread with cream cheese or peanut butter and top with chopped bananas or crushed pineapple.

• Make Kabobs with combinations of cheese, fruit, sliced or cubed cooked meat. Be sure to remove toothpicks before serving.

• Sprinkle flour tortillas with grated cheese and broil. Then, top with yogurt or chili sauce. Tortillas can also be served with other combinations such as potatoes, cheese and eggs.

Boss's Day is October 16.

Happy Boss's Day!
I know it's not my place to give you advice, but I'm doing it anyway...

We have a big selection of Shoebox Greetings cards and gifts. We don't promise a raise but it couldn't hurt.

In each advertisement on this page you will find the contestants in a prominent football game being played around the country this weekend. On the entry blank at the bottom of the page, fill in your selection of the WINNING TEAM only...opposite the name of the business firm on the entry blank. Then clip out the entry blank and send it to FOOTBALL CONTEST EDITOR, Snyder Daily News, Box 949, or bring it by the news office at 3600 College Ave. Entries must be in the hands of the editor by 5:00 p.m. Friday. Games ending in a tie must be specified as a tie or else it will be considered a miss.

To avoid splitting the prize money a TIE-BREAKER slot will be provided on each entry blank. Pick the total points of the score for that game and in case of a tie the one who picks the winner and the nearest number of total points will receive the prize money. The same formula will apply to second and third place winners. In the case of a perfect score, the formula would apply for that cash prize.

There will be fun for the entire family. Only one entry blank will be permitted for any one person. More than one will disqualify all that person's entries. Entries must be on the official entry blank (No Copies Please). Scores listed on the entry blank will have no bearing except in the case of the tie-breaker. Sign your entry blank and list your address and phone number and watch for the winner's story in next Tuesday's SDN. Employees of the SDN and their families are not eligible to enter.
