Mrs. C. R. West, president of the library association, deprecates the fact that more people are not reading the many good books now on hand. The association receives support from the meager rentals from these books and is anxious to have the books circulate from that standpoint. "If you are not doing some reading it might be well to examine the books now offered since no form of entertainment could be of more value at so little expense."

A. D. Anderson has a dog...one of those high-bred fox terriers that is more nervous the more breeding it is supposed to have had...these little dogs are very temperamental...fact is Andy was forced to sleep with the little pup the first night it arrived home from Dallas...being an imported pup...The little fellow refused to sleep without mamma and since Mamma Anderson refused to sleep with the dog Papa Anderson had to do the soothing act while Mamma Anderson sought lodging elsewhere in the house...But A. D. and Dick, being enterprising chaps, seem to have solved the sleeping problem...They have discovered that by placing their watch under the sleeping pup, he is soothed by the ticking and loses his nervousness...If it continues to work the plan is fine... "Well," says Andy with that broad grin, "We couldn't let the pup keep the whole hotel awake with his crying."

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Condiey and Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Tuttle report a good time on their picnic trip.

M. H. French eyeing us rather closely...at least, he doesn't have our fingerprints... Joe Clements having a conference and hurrying away to do something...Gus finding it difficult to get a haircut... Doc Cabaness placidly smoking his pipe...T. J. Dean finds it difficult to stay away from the store...has worked so long that it becomes second nature to be at the store...seems to be improving... GULF STORM PASSES, SMALL DAMAGE DONE

CORPUS CHRISTI, June 27 — Storm warnings posted along the Texas coast were ordered taken down today after a tropical disturbance passed inland a few miles north of here today.

The government weather station said the strongest wind was registered at Corpus Christi at noon—40 miles an hour.

The weather bureau said the disturbance will diminish rapidly. Greatest damage reported was Corpus Christi where one house was partly wrecked and many window panes shattered.

Shortly before noon the storm reached Port Aransas, located on Mustang Island, 35 miles from main coast at Corpus Christi. Communication was disrupted.

So sudden was the storm's approach that its center struck Port Aransas before its presence was known.

A twister was reported at Shreveport, but did little damage. Wind was estimated as high as 60 miles an hour. This disturbance was believed to be a result of the hurricane near Corpus Christi.

The average check including state and federal payment will be $20.00, it was estimated. The amount is based upon needs in compliance with both state and federal acts.

CUERO, June 27 — (U.P.) — Vince Boss, 20 year old Italian youth, today was assessed the death penalty for the slaying of R. W. Albert, Brenham cheese salesman March 21. The verdict came a few minutes after 9 a. m. Jurors had been out since 3:20 p. m. Friday. The sentence is death in the electric chair, and will be the first execution from DeWitt county since the state began using the electric chair, if sentence is carried out.

Precaution Taken Against Strikers

SAN ANTONIO, June 27 — (U.P.) — Additional precautions were taken today to prevent renewed rioting between strikers and strikebreakers at a local garment plant.

HUMBLE DAY BROUGHT MANY EMPLOYEES TO CISCO SATURDAY

Following the custom set through the years Humble officials and employees of the Humble Oil & Refining company and of the Humble Pipe Line company gathered at Lake Cisco Saturday for their annual picnic and day of recreational activity. Between 800 and 1,000 guests were reported at an early hour Saturday afternoon.

HUMBLE GUESTS HONORED WITH NOON BANQUET

ROOSEVELT-GARNER NOMINATED ALLRED HONORED LAST SPEAKER

One hundred guests were served at the dinner Saturday honoring Humble officials at the Laguna on the occasion of the Humble picnic, sponsored by the boosters of which Rex Carrothers is head, about twenty of these guests being local and Houston officials of the Humble company.

Forest Wright was master of ceremonies and gave warm welcome to the Humble organization in his talk, which was replied to by G. A. Mabry of the Houston office, in a very pleasant manner, and by L. E. Grisham, assistant to the president of the company.

Rex Carrothers, head of the Cisco Boosters organization, explained the purpose of the dinner which had been sponsored by Cisco's business men in appreciation of the fine spirit cooperation that has existed since the building of the Humble camp in Cisco in 1919.

Rev. M. H. Applewhite led the opening song and E. P. Crawford gave the invocation. The Lobo band played during the banquet program. Luther Grisham, assistant to the president of the company, replied to the address of welcome of Mr. Wright and said his organization appreciated very much the hospitality shown by Cisco people in giving this party. Judge Clyde Garrett also spoke of Eastland county's appreciation of the Humble company's work of development in this section.

Sigmar Magician entertained with his magic performance to the bewilderment of all present. Rev. Applewhite presented a vocal solo as part of the program entertainment.

In this colorful setting, Democratic leaders of the nation met in Municipal Auditorium, Philadelphia, for the opening sessions of the national convention at which they renominated President Roosevelt and Vice President Garner. With only a few empty seats in the great hall, they listened to the opening speech of National Chairman James A. Farley and staged wild demonstrations at the mention of the name of the president.

(Copyright 1936 by United Press) FRANKLIN FIELD, Philadelphia, June 27 — (U.P.) — Democrats who in five convention days ratified the new deal and renominated their Roosevelt-Garner presidential ticket, gathered tonight in this sports bowl to notify the candidates—commanders of 1936—that the political wars are on.

They were renominated today in windup ceremonies of a democratic national convention which reshaped the party and marked it with the Roosevelt new deal.

The national convention adjourned fine die at 2:30 p. m. after a brave but unavailing effort to duplicate for Garner the demonstration which greeted the name of Roosevelt last night and early today.

Then, by tens of thousands, the fans moved toward the stadium. Governor James V. Allred of Texas, a likely young man and who has his eye on a seat in U. S. Senate, put the man from Uvalde in nomination, perhaps the last of the national figures who will be presented to a great political gathering as from such humble beginnings that his birth took place in a log cabin. Allred did not forget that homely and once politically potent touch.

Allred was talking against the clock and the eagerness of a scanty assembly of delegate spectators to get done with this business and go elsewhere.

The governor lashed out at the republican party and told the story of Garner's rise from a cabin to house of representatives, and finally vice president of the United States.

Texans down front and squirming for a parade were ready with a cheer for every period.

"He needed only a loaf of bread under each arm," Allred shouted, "to suggest another Benjamin Franklin."

(Yipses from the Texans and cheers from others in the hall.) "His services as speaker and as vice-president have compelled the tribute of the nation," the governor continued.

"I am honored," — Allred was roaring into the microphone and Texas was stirring—"to present for nomination for high office of vice-president of the United States the name of our beloved John Nance Garner."

Into the isles for the last time delegates swarmed in brave array, but their punch was gone. They were arm-weary and tired.

DE LAROCQUE PARTY LEADER 'SAVE FRANCE'

PARIS, June 27 — (U.P.) — 8,000 nationalists demonstrators cheering for Robert De LaRoque clashed with police tonight in mid Paris.

CISCO SCOUTS WILL CONTEST ESSAY EVENT

Johnny Waters, A. G. Bardwell and Charles Yates, Jr., will enter the Boy Scouts essay contest sponsored by the Texas Centennial Exposition for Texas Boy Scouts, said Ernest Hittson, local scoutmaster for Cisco boys.

The Texas Boy Scout who submits, by July 4, the best 500-word essay on "The Texas Rangers" will be awarded an all-expense visit to the Texas Centennial Exposition, now in progress. The winning scout will be given $25 in cash, after he arrives in Dallas, to spend as he sees fit. The all-expense tour and the cash prize are offered by King Vider, native Texan, and director of "The Texas Rangers", a Paramount production based on the book of that name by Prof. Walter Prescott Webb of the University of Texas. A supplemental prize of a de luxe, autographed copy of the book will be presented to the winner by Houghton Mifflin company, New York publishers.

Boy Scouts of Cisco have been invited to enter this contest, James Fitch, regional director for the Boy Scouts has supplied all scoutmasters with details of the contest.

AFGHANS ENTER OLYMPICS DELHI — (U.P.) — Afghanistan is to be represented in the Olympic games for the first time at Berlin this year. The team will consist of 15 hockey players and one athlete, who will enter for the broad jump and the hop, skip and jump.

"Conquest of power for the salvation of France," is the aim of the party, De LaRoque said, adding that his new party already has eight members in the chamber of deputies, and predicted a huge membership.

The national demonstration followed De LaRoque's announcement. Nationalists carried battle flags and shouted.

"De LaRoque for power," Police charged marchers, broke up the procession and drove out the demonstrators.

Gov. Allred Accepts Opponent Challenge On Social Security

AUSTIN, June 27 — (U.P.) — Governor James Allred will accept the challenge of opponents to make the social security program the chief issue of the State's campaign. Literature has been prepared showing his participation in program. He is expected to follow this up in his opening campaign speech at Waco Tuesday.

Fletcher Fischer, Tyler, an opposing candidate for Governor spoke here tonight critically of the Governor's part in the old age assistance movement.

Fischer advocated taxes on natural resources to pay cost of adequate old age pension.

Tom Hunter, Wichita Falls, was first of three opposition candidates to speak at state capitol. Senator Roy Sanderford, Balton, was second. Both found fault with the pension program of present administration. They called administrative costs too high and benefits too restricted.

EIGHTH STREET MAKES GROWTH FOR HIGHWAY

"Watch us grow!" is the slogan of Eighth street merchants as they point out the improvements just completed and in process of construction on their street since the highway has been definitely placed on that thoroughfare through Cisco.

They point to the modern new service station of Ed Huestis, completed, and to the improved and modern front of the City Drug company just about complete; the Texas Service station addition and remodeling now going on and lastly to the work of removing the little lunchstand on the Mayhew property, preparatory to the erection of a modern brick Humble service station on that corner, under contract to the Cisco Lumber and Supply Co.

"Rents are going to run us smaller fellows off this street," said A. S. Nabors this week in speaking of the improvements on Broadway and the probability of the remodeling of other buildings on the street.

During the building boom of a few years ago, a number of buildings were erected on Eighth street, used for a few years, and then abandoned or rented at low rentals. Many need repair and remodeling. The demand for locations on the highway through Cisco will naturally bring these buildings in to prominence as a locations and hence their remodeling for firms whose success demand a highway location.

Cities change as do individuals. Change is good. It revives new hopes and aspirations, said Nabors, and it will keep us from settling in to a rut that means decay and death.

Robber Identified As Escaped Maniac

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., June 27 — (U.P.) — A bandit, slain last night while attempting to rob a fashionable cafe, was today identified as Albert Soroko, maniac who escaped in a mass break from the Minnesota state hospital three weeks ago.

COMMITTEES APPOINTED TO MAKE PLANS

The Junior Chamber of Commerce appointed committees at Friday night's meeting to arrange for a Cisco Merchants' Trades Day and for band concerts in adjacent communities, twice monthly.

There was much discussion of the need for Trades Days for Cisco at which time business concerns could offer special merchandising events to the people of Cisco and trade territory, and prizes that would add zest to an event of that kind. It was pointed out that surrounding towns had found such days worth while from the standpoint of creating interest in their business districts and bringing large crowds to their stores on these special occasions, therefore, Cisco could not afford to neglect its opportunity for trade expansion in that respect.

President Dallas Wales appointed the following as a committee to plan for the Trades Days, which is to be self-supporting. It carried out: A. D. Starling, Horace Condiey, A. G. Tuttle, F. B. Altman.

R. N. Cluck, James Harvey and W. J. Leach, were appointed to confer with Bandmaster Maddox to arrange a schedule of rural and suburban band concerts during the summer and autumn months which would not only give band members needed practice, but would tend to cultivate closer contacts between Cisco and her neighbors. It was pointed out that such business men as cared to do so could attend these band pilgrimages and become better acquainted with their customers in these communities when concerts were given.

Mr. Maddox and his band members had already expressed their desire to give rural community concerts if the trips could be sponsored by some organization.

The organization voted to support Wichita Falls in its efforts to secure the Junior Chamber of Commerce convention for 1937. This in response to a letter from that city requesting the support of Cisco.

JULY 4 PICNIC TO DRAW LARGE CROWD, REPORT

Letters to candidates inviting them to speak at the Cisco July 4 celebration have been mailed and commitments from many have already been received accepting the invitation. Minor details for entertainment have been arranged, bathing revue sponsored by local merchants, and old fiddlers contest scheduled.

Plenty of ice water will be available and a fireworks display will form part of the attraction for the night program. A water carnival to include surrounding towns will occupy a part of the day features.

There will be entertainment for all ages, the committee announces, and owing to the varied program and the fact that Cisco has become noted for its large patronage for Fourth of July picnics, a record crowd is expected.

One of the most attractive events of the day will be the political speaking which include Congressman Thomas L. Blanton, Clyde Garrett and Fred Jaye, the latter opponents of Mr. Blanton in the race for congress.

Gov. Landon Catches Trout, Rides, Reads

ESTES PARK, Colo., June 27 — (U.P.) — Gov. Alf Landon of Kansas just a vacationist for two weeks today was "getting a wallop" out of riding, fishing and reading during his first leisure in four years.

The republican presidential nominee caught three rainbow trout yesterday in Cow Creek which runs through the ranch where the Landon family is staying.

MARRIAGE—HOME

And Jesus said unto them: "But from the beginning of creation God made them male and female. For this cause shall a man leave his father and mother and cleave to his wife. And the twain shall be one flesh: so then they are no more twain, but one flesh. What, therefore, God hath joined together, let no man put asunder."—Mark 10:5-9.

The world is concerned with divorce. Millions of people are reading whatever they may find on this all absorbing question; some for one cause, some for another.

The best minds of the age are writing about and studying the divorce evil—for it has become an evil—seeking how they may assist in the checking of what seems destined to wreck the world's greatest institution—the HOME. The home has been the greatest civilizing factor. Without its sacred influence man sinks to the lowest stage in animal creation. Whether enlightenment is able to exist through modern evolution of ideas without the steady influence of stable marriage, remains to be seen.

The increase of divorces in the United States is truly alarming. A few years ago Japan stood first in percentages of divorces. Today WE lead the world with one divorce for every seven marriages. Truly, there must be some cause existing in our country that does not exist in other countries. With this thought in mind, it should not be hard to discover the dreadful monster that is gnawing at the very vitals of our nation's existence.

The great International Sunday School Board recognized the magnitude of this question by placing a lesson on this subject with the above scripture, in the series of its yearly schedule.

In a Cisco church that same Sunday, a local lawyer, who has given some thought to the divorce evil, was asked to define the causes recognized by the courts as just reasons for divorce. He said there were three: Unfaithfulness, Abandonment and Cruel Treatment. Discussing the law in this respect, he said that there would be cases of infidelity, and that justice should permit the innocent to be released from this impossible situation. In the case of permanent abandonment, justice and the best interest of society would most certainly be served by wiping out of ties that had failed to bind.

The above two causes for divorce, permitted by law, have very rarely been abused, but 90 per cent of all abuses of the divorce laws have come from the third cause—Cruel Treatment. In this respect the law, in its far-seeing wisdom, saw that there would be cases where cruel and unusual abuse would make of marriage an impossible bondage, where it would be really nothing short of criminal to continue the marriage state, and it sought to relieve this situation through law-sanctioned separation. But here is where the abuse has come, caused, so the lawyer thinks, by two things: Too Much Luxury and Lack of Proper Training.

Nowhere in the world do people rise in the financial and social scale so fast as in America. Sudden riches, before the individual has had time to adjust his or herself to

Dizzy Dean Pitching for Roosevelt

If pitching will win the election for President Roosevelt, he has made a flying start toward victory. Dizzy Dean, famed St. Louis Cardinal hurler, is on his side. Here Dizzy is shown as he attended the Philadelphia convention, still full of pepper after relief-pitching his team to victory on two successive days, holding aloft a Roosevelt banner bearing a Missouri placard. Hat off, Dizzy is leading the cheering of the Show Me state delegation which surrounds him.

OUT OUR WAY

the new environment, wrecks many an otherwise happy home. Improper home training for the boy or girl, who has always had whatever he or she desired, being humored to every whim by fond but unwise parents, is a big factor in the divorce courts. These young people do not know the game of "Give and Take" that must be played and thoroughly mastered before they are ready to enter into that happy state of permanent home-builders. They cry "Cruel Treatment"—then a divorce.

Many thoughtful, optimistic men are saying, meanwhile, that there is no occasion for serious alarm, as our people are just swinging to a temporary extreme and that sound judgment and right thinking, which is a heritage of our nation, will rise up and assert itself before the chasm is reached that would plunge us into a turmoil of darkness like that of fallen Greece and Rome?

But, can we be too careful, can we be too serious, in a matter so grave, so far-reaching?

HAWAII'S IDEAL TO DROP

HONOLULU — (U.P.)—Federal relief rolls are expected to be cut substantially in Hawaii this summer when 30,000 men are given employment harvesting, hauling and packing the pineapple crop.

Approximately $5,500,000 will be paid out in wages during the three month season.

FUNDLESS ZOO WANTS BEAR
DEFIANCE, O. — (U.P.)—Police Chief Karl A. Weaner and Fireman

Raymond Schultz decided to transform some old jail cells into a zoo so sent out the call for a bear and a pair of monkeys. Then they began to wonder if the animals would be sent C. O. D. and if they did arrive how their meals would be financed.

WANDERING APE HUNTED

FORT LODGE, Ia. — (U.P.)—Residents near Holiday Creek are searching for a mysterious chimpanzee, which appeared in the vicinity late last fall. The animal survived the severe Iowa winter and has been seen lately searching for food. The chimpanzee is believed to have escaped from a circus cage.

PASTOR GIVES FREE HOPS

LONDON — (U.P.)—The Rev. Cecil Boutton has not had an empty pew in his church since he inaugurated his "Flying Mission." To stimulate greater interest in religion he follows his morning service with free flights in a plane, for all members of the congregation. In the afternoon there are combined formation flights and aerobatics.

RUNAWAY BRIDE

By Helen Welshimer
© 1936 NEA Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

On her wedding day MARCIA CUNNINGHAM hears her fiancé, BOB HASKELL, telling one of the bridesmaids, SYLVIA, that he loves her but can't afford to marry her.

Marcia, hurt and bewildered, sails alone on the trip that was to have been a honeymoon. On the ship she meets PHILIP KIRKBY, engineer. Phil is going to Paris to ask CAMILLA HOWE, to whom he has been devoted for years, to marry him.

In Paris, Marcia meets Camilla. Bob arrives and the four go about together frequently.

At a night club they meet ROSITA, a dancer, and Pierre, a gigolo. Some flashlight photographs are made. Later Pierre and Rosita, using the photographs, try to blackmail Marcia, demanding 50,000 francs.

Marcia confides in Camilla, Bob and Phil. The men promise to deal with the blackmailers. Marcia, thoroughly unnerved, is willing to pay the 50,000 francs, but Camilla refuses to let her leave the hotel.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER IX

IT was late afternoon when Camilla's telephone rang again.

"Good news," Phil's voice said. "Is Marcia with you?"

"She is. Under padlock. Come on up. We're bursting to hear."

Turning, she threw off the violet negligee and slipped her arms into a violet chiffon afternoon dress.

"You're saved, Marcia. So are the 50,000 francs. Oh, I'm so glad!"

Marcia gave a long, shuddering sigh. "Camilla, I'd have paid it."

"I know you would. And, once they had that, they would have badgered you for life. There's the door."

Phil entered alone. "Bob will be along pretty soon. He laid out that four-flusher and got a nice sock of his own."

"And what about this?" Camilla swung him around until a cut on his cheek was in plain sight.

"The chap was wearing a diamond ring and it scratched. Nothing much."

"You're sure Bob will be all right?" Marcia was saying.

Strange that he should be disturbed because this girl with the red hair was asking so concernedly about another man, Phil reminded himself. Well, if she felt that way about him—and of course she did—hadn't he known it all along? Well, since she did, he might as well hang the laurels on him once and for all.

"How did you find the evil-doers?" Camilla asked.

"Money. It talks. Somebody who should have kept still gave us an address and somebody there thought we were friends and gave us another and pretty soon we landed at his room."

"Then what happened?" Marcia was standing in front of him, hands crossed like a child's.

Marcia became aware, during the simple dinner in the Rheims hotel, that Camilla was gazing at Bob with the adoration that girls had given him always. Camilla! Marcia caught her breath. Why,

"We asked for the negatives, a nice exchange of names took place among us, and in the scrimmage—two against one, which wasn't fair to the gigolo—we found the negatives and two sets of pictures which we tore into 7000 pieces. Then he yelled for help—after all, we were rifling his home—and help came. That was where the fun began. I held the gigolo and Bob knocked out a couple of people and tore the pictures and then helped me get clear of the guy named Pierre—we left him with a bump on his head."

WHEN Bob came, with a bandaged eye, it was decided to go somewhere and celebrate.

In the end, they chose Rheims. "I want to see the cathedral by night," Marcia said.

"Up to it, Phil?" Bob asked. "After the way you trounced three people I should think you would be tired. I carried away the spoils on my face and Phil did the work."

Marcia's eyes met Phil's. Phil had tried to make Bob a hero for her! Then he must want her to be pleased! Or perhaps he didn't care what she thought of him, anyway, and that was why he gave the credit to another.

Camilla's eyes, too, sought Phil's. For a different reason. If he cared enough for Marcia's happiness to give credit to a man who mattered in her life, he must care for her.

Marcia sat in front of her mirror a little later, watching the tones of her make-up. Thinking. She had loved Bob for a long time—she had been hurt when he had danced too often, smiled too often, at somebody else. She could not understand why he had ceased to be important when for so long he had been the pivot of every plan. She had almost married him!

"If love can be turned off just like pressing a button and putting out a lamp, or wiggling a spigot and making the hot water stop— if that love, then what's the use of it?" she asked her reflection.

MARCIA came down to the lobby, to meet the others, a little late.

They went to Rheims in an automobile, long and swift, which Phil had rented somewhere. He drove, and Camilla sat with him. From the rear seat, Marcia watched his shoulders and the profile that she glimpsed when he turned to speak to the girl at his side or to toss a remark to her and Bob.

Marcia became aware, during the simple dinner in the Rheims hotel, that Camilla was gazing at Bob with the adoration that girls had given him always. Camilla! Marcia caught her breath. Why, Camilla had Phil, who was everything a girl could want! Phil who built bridges and tramped the hills at night and never let people down. Still, if Camilla looked at Bob with such affection in her tired eyes—they were tired, Marcia admitted—Camilla might not care for a shack on a hill.

Phil looked puzzled. When he smiled at her, Marcia thought his grin half-weary and half-wistful.

"Whom will you rescue tomorrow?" she asked finally to break a long silence. "You were out in a very good cause today. What do you want for rewards?"

"Oh, we're generous members of the Round Table," Phil retorted. "Maybe I'll help in several tournaments next week. I'm going to take a bicycle trip through the south of France."

"When did you make up your mind?" Camilla asked.

"Just now. I'm getting restless. I'll be gone a week or two."

No one spoke very much on the ride home and when Phil said good night at the elevator he added goodbye to the phrase.

"Goodbye?" Marcia repeated. "I'll be off in the morning before you are up. I want to get a good start. Don't let anything happen to you."

IN her room, Marcia sat by the window for a while. "Don't let anything happen to you." He might not come back to Paris from this trip. He could catch a boat at Havre and escape Paris. Or he might come back and she would be gone. She must go home some time.

Phil was in love with a girl whom he had followed just as Bob had followed her, she reasoned. She, Marcia Cunningham, had made a mess of everything and now she ought to get some sleep. But she couldn't. She put her wrap on, instead, and went down to the lobby. There was a restaurant across the street where she could get some hot milk. She was nearing the exit when a familiar voice caught her attention.

"Running out on us again?" It was Phil.

"Just to get some milk. I couldn't sleep."

"You need a protector. May I go along? I've been looking up routes to the south."

They stepped out of the hotel door into a soft, warm night, where a yellow moon swung low above.

Phil was gray, impersonal, deferential. Marcia took the cue and laughed at trifles. At the door of the restaurant she paused. So did Phil. Camilla and Bob were sitting together at a corner table.

University Sends 45 Missionaries

AUSTIN, Tex., June 27.—More than forty-five former students of The University of Texas are known to have been sent to foreign missions, according to records of the University Ex-Students' Association.

The Methodist church has sent sixteen of this number, the Presbyterian eleven, and the Baptist, six. Others are on record in the offices of the Ex-Students' Association, but no mention is made of their church affiliations. Several have returned to this country to live, others have died at their posts, but many of them are still carrying on in remote spots of the globe.

The first ex-student to become a missionary was Henry G. Howard of Jacksboro, who received his bachelor of arts degree from the university in 1897 and his master of arts the following year. He was sent to India by the Presbyterian church.

Norma Agnes Graham and Althea Cronk have been on leave and were enrolled in the university last session. Miss Graham, graduate of 1918, is a Baptist missionary to Temuco, Chile. Miss Cronk, who has done graduate work in home economics, chemistry, and government, is in charge of the department of home economics in Hiroshima College in Japan.

Four ex-students have been sent to Japan. Dr. and Mrs. Roy Mack Bryan, formerly of Galveston, are in the Kennedy hospital at the American Presbyterian mission in Chosen. Dr. Bryan is a missionary physician and surgeon, and Mrs. Bryan is a hospital assistant. Cecile Elizabeth Lancaster, formerly of Brownwood, attended the university in the summer of 1918 and is now in Kokan. Jeffe Wilson was for a time Baptist missionary to Japan, but is now back in the United States.

Korea has called six missionary-minded ex-students. Will Nash, now doing evangelical work in this country, served for several years following the world war. Miss Mary Decherd, assistant professor of pure mathematics, recalls that when the war began, Mr. Nash expressed a preference to go overseas as a relief worker. However, he was drafted for the machine gun division.

Robert Knox and his wife, Maie Borden Knox, are Presbyterian missionaries in Korea. Both received bachelor of arts degrees from the university in 1907.

Anna Lou Greer, formerly of Collins and a student here in 1908-1909, is a missionary nurse in Korea. James Ira Paisley, in the university in 1907-1908, is in Kwanyin; and Agnes Elise Graham, 1906 student, was doing missionary work in Longdo, Korea, when she was last heard of.

The lure of the inscrutable China has proved strong for twelve former students of the university. Robert B. Ware, who studied at Yale after leaving the university, went to Yunnan, China, under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association. There he married a girl engaged in the same field. He is at present secretary of the Y. M. C. A. in Marshall.

Mary Charlotte Alexander, of and Inez Lung of Austin, Baptist missionaries in Canton, are now on leave in the United States. They were both graduated in 1927. Miss Lung, who was in China for seven years, has been working in a training school in Fort Worth while on leave. Miss Alexander is principal of a girls' school in the Baptist mission at Canton.

Nancy Lee Swann, bachelor of arts graduate of 1906 and master of arts in 1920, was sent by a Baptist mission to Shanghai, and is at present curator of the East Chinese Research Library in McGill University, Montreal, Canada. Josephine Ward, bachelor of arts graduate of 1917, is a Baptist missionary in Honan. Cecil Hiawatha Smith, bachelor of science graduate of 1903, is with the Presbyterian church in Yencheng. At the Shanghai mission is Charles Lee Culppeper, student in 1913-1914.

John Barrow, formerly of Austin, taught in a Baptist mission school for several years, but was back in this country last year. Mae Penick Hancock was also back in 1935. Some doubt has arisen as to the whereabouts of two missionaries in China. The Ex-Students' Association has not heard in some time from Mrs. Minnie Foster and Hat-tie Louise Treager. Mrs. Foster, a summer student in 1914, was last known to be in Chiffo. Miss Treager, bachelor of arts graduate of 1920, was missionary teacher in the Anglo-Chinese Girls' School in the Federated Malay States.

Jeanne Junkin Vinson, Presbyterian missionary and sister of E. D. Junkin of Austin, died several years ago. Brad has had its share of ex-student missionaries. The Methodist church has sent ten there for relief work. Mrs. Ella Harper Bowden, bachelor of arts graduate of 1910, is a teacher in the schools of education in Granberry College. Her husband has a similar position in the college.

The Rev. J. W. Daniel, bachelor of arts graduate of 1911, is on the Methodist Mission Board and does educational and evangelical work. He is in charge of three churches in Porto Legro, is dean of the Perot Legro Theological college, and is treasurer of the mission. He went to Brazil in 1914, where he married Maggie Lee Kenzie of California.

Zula Terry is a teacher in the Colegio Americano in Porto Legro and is working in the Peoples' In-

Slayer Pleads State Hang Him

Declaring that he wanted the state to hang him, so he could be free of the ghastly complex that made him hate all women, Albert Walter, 28, New Yorker, is shown above in San Francisco jail, after confessing the strangled Blanche Cousins, 24, business student. The court refused his guilty plea. He admitted killing the girl during a San Francisco date, after they had met on a long bus trip.

den, bachelor of arts graduate of 1910, is a teacher in the schools of education in Granberry College. Her husband has a similar position in the college.

The Rev. J. W. Daniel, bachelor of arts graduate of 1911, is on the Methodist Mission Board and does educational and evangelical work. He is in charge of three churches in Porto Legro, is dean of the Perot Legro Theological college, and is treasurer of the mission. He went to Brazil in 1914, where he married Maggie Lee Kenzie of California.

Zula Terry is a teacher in the Colegio Americano in Porto Legro and is working in the Peoples' Institute, the social center for foreigners in Brazil.

Mary Sue Brown, formerly of Gainsville, helped to build up the Colegio Americano. She received her master of arts degree from the university in 1934.

Maud Anna Mathis, who received her bachelor of science degree in home economics in Bennett college, Rio de Janeiro.

Rachel Jarrett worked for many years in Bella Horizonte. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Marshall have been missionaries to Brazil for several years.

Eight missionaries have answered the call from the Dark Continent. Dr. E. R. Kellersberger, formerly of Cypress Mills, bachelor of arts graduate in 1911, is a medical missionary with the Southern Presbyterian church in the Belgian Congo district.

Mrs. Janie McCrummer McElroy, who attended the university in 1909-1911, is another Presbyterian missionary there.

Florence Louise Rounds, bachelor of arts graduate of 1926, is working under the Congregational Board in North Africa. Formerly, she was in West Africa, and in 1926-1928 was traveling secretary for the Board of Missions of the Methodist church.

Mrs. Catherine Minter Smith, bachelor of arts graduate of 1927, formerly of Austin, is a missionary nurse in the Southern Presbyterian Hospital in the Belgian Congo.

Mrs. Etta Woolsey Schodel, 1906-1907, and John Noble White, are Methodist missionaries in the Congo. Mr. White is a native of Jacksonville and attended the university in 1919-1920.

Mrs. Ethel Taylor Wharton was a Presbyterian missionary to Africa has now returned to Sherman, Texas. Willie Clyde Garner, student in 1909-1914, was a missionary in charge of a publishing house in South Africa.

There have also been missionaries to Cuba and Mexico. Annie Churchill, who attended the university in 1883 and 1884, was in Gloria of Castillo, Cienfuegos, Cuba. Katherine Gray is a Presbyterian missionary to Mexico.

Pullman Company Great Housekeeper

CHICAGO, June 27 — The Pullman company, operators of sleeping cars on the railroads of America, annually "sleep" on the average of one fifth of the population of the United States, it was revealed today in a letter received by Harry G. Taylor, Chairman of the Western Association of Railway Executives.

And with huge overnight sleeping population to care for, the company has become one of the greatest housekeepers in the world, despite the fact that it does not keep house!

The company has nearly four million towels on hand at all times. There are over two million sheets, one and three quarter million pillow slips, five hundred thousand blankets, a similar number of pillowcases, 250,000 mattresses, and the porter who tends these things has over one hundred fifty thousand white jackets on hand for his own dress.

In all, the linen stock kept on hand by the "world's largest housekeeper" totals close to nine million pieces!

After digesting this figure of nine million pieces of linen always on hand, add to that the figure 2,000,000 which is the annual number of replacements made to keep this huge stock intact.

This stock must be so distributed that each of the five thousand odd Pullman cars in service has the quantity it requires. And as the five thousand cars travel some 3,000,000 miles a day, allowances must be made for picking up this linen stock on the fly from over 100 railway supply depots located through the country.

Each car carries 400 towels in its lockers, 250 sheets, 200 pillow slips, 56 blankets and eight porter's coats. Simple multiplication will show the size of the washings.

The same operation will show why the Pullman company is believed to be the World's Largest Housekeeper, and with reduced rail-Pullman travel costs in effect since the first of June, creating increased rail traffic throughout the country the job becomes greater every day.

Garnering Glory for Texas

John Nance Garner's re-nomination for the vice presidency and the centennial celebration gave Texas a conspicuous place at the Democratic convention.

Roy Miller (right), delegate from Houston, suggests to Karl A. Crowley of Fort Worth, that Garner's portrait be hung below the Lone Star Flag in the Texas headquarters at Philadelphia.

VACATION RAIL TRAVEL TO SET TEN-YEAR PEAK, ROADS BELIEVE DUE TO LOW FARES AND SPEED

By HENRY D. RENNWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, June 27 — (UP)—Railroad passenger traffic men are looking forward this year to what promises to be the heaviest vacation travel of any time within the past decade.

Several factors enter into their optimistic outlook. Chief of these is that the Eastern lines, after a long fight, finally have been forced to reduce passenger fares to a base comparable to that in effect on Western roads since 1933.

Another is the super high-speed trains running west of Chicago. Travelers from the East have the opportunity of going to the West Coast on a two weeks' holiday without spending the major portion of the trip on the train as in days gone by.

Officials believe alarming increases in highway accidents will draw many motorists to train travel because of their safety record. The carriers point proudly to their record of 1935 when millions of passengers were carried without a single fatality.

Three Services Offered
Western vacation fares again are quoted at the level of last season, when three types were offered to the Pacific Coast—tickets good in coach only, tourist car tickets, and standard sleeping car tickets.

A round trip making a complete circle of the coast, for example, starting at Chicago, thence to New Orleans, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Seattle and returning to Chicago, can be made for as little as $52.75. First class tickets for the same trip sell for $86, with Pullman space extra.

Previously, a flat rate of $32.70 was charged between Chicago and New York. Now, however, a coach rate is in effect, making the cost of a ride between the two largest cities in the nation $12.20. First class tickets are $27.25, Pullman fare extra.

Ten years ago the fastest trip by rail from New York to Los Angeles required 92 hours. Today, the same journey can be made in 56 hours, 15 minutes. Most of the saving in time, has been effected on the Western roads with the Santa Fe and the Northwestern-Pacific trains running once-weekly trains between Chicago and Los Angeles in 39 hours, 45 minutes. On June 17 another fast streamliner was put in service over the Northwestern-Pacific-Southern Pacific to San Francisco on the same schedule.

Time Cut to Denver
Latest of the vacation time savers is the addition of overnight service between Chicago and Denver on the Burlington route and the Northwestern-Union Pacific. These roads now supply trains making the trip from the Windy City to the Rocky Mountains in 16 hours. The distance on the Burlington is 1,034 miles, and on the Union Pacific 1,048 miles. The average speed of the flyers is 65 miles an hour and 68.5 respectively. By using either of these trains, passengers with a two week holiday, may spend 12 days in the Rocky Mountain region, or 10 days in Yellowstone Park, allowing for the additional days' travel between Denver and the park. And one day each way to the East, and it will be seen that passengers as far away from these playgrounds as New York can now use the railroads and still have over a week in the mountains. The same ratio applies to those who wish to go to the West Coast.

Persons desirous of going to the Southwest also are given the benefit of better than a day's additional pleasure by the re-arrangement of schedules and cutting of time on Southwestern lines running out of St. Louis.

Time Saved to Mexico City
The Illinois Central and the Alton Road offer 4 hour, 55 minute service to St. Louis from Chicago and the Missouri Pacific has slashed hours from its Sunshine Special, which speeds between the Mound City and Dallas, Houston and San Antonio. Twelve hours has been eliminated on the run between St. Louis and Mexico City on this train.

For the benefit of Midwesterners the Northwestern and the Milwaukee road have added "fishermen's specials" sections to the 400 and Hiawatha, seven hours flyers running between Minneapolis and Chicago. These trains run into the famous Wisconsin lakes region.

With virtually all cars on all trains now air-conditioned with low fares, an meals served to coach passengers for as little as 90 cents a day on the Western lines, it appears as if the forecasts of the passenger men for a banner year in railroad travel will be realized during vacation time.

Project House for A & M College Boys

On June 13th a group of boys interested in attending A. & M. college this fall met in the Court House, Eastland, at which time a committee was elected to go to A. & M. College and get information on the school and determine advisability of organizing an Eastland county project house at A. & M. college this coming term.

Following is a report from this committee to the twenty boys who have expressed an interest. Any other boys interested are invited to attend the meeting here Saturday afternoon, June 27th, or report to county agent, Elmo V. Cook, Eastland.

TO ALL PROSPECTIVE A. & M. COLLEGE STUDENTS:
The committee composed of Wesley Lane, Walker Henry, and Jack Morris made the trip to A. & M. college Monday, June 22, as scheduled and has asked me to make the following report for them:

1. Boys who stay in a project house can expect to go through the first year A. & M. for total expenses not to exceed $321. As there are two separate semesters of 4 1-2 months each, a boy who could arrange for 100 would be able to at least go through the first semester. The fixed expenses necessary to pay each semester are tuition and medical fees of $30. Additional expenses the first semester would be about $10 for uniform and incidentals and $2 for books. It would not be necessary to buy a uniform and books the second term. The other expenses would be project house expenses amounting to $12 per month or less.

2. College professors who were contacted proved that the project house plan is a success.

3. An available project house

AAA Head to Speak At Short Course

COLLEGE STATION, June 27—H. R. Tolley, newly appointed head of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, will be one of the chief speakers on the A. and M. Farmers' Short Course program to be held at College Station July 20 through 24.

Tolley was born on a farm in Howard county, Indiana; graduated from high school at Converse; attended Marion Normal college; received his A. B. degree at Indiana University; and taught school for the first few years after graduating.

In the position of assistant administrator of AAA and director of the unit called the division of program planning, he developed the regional and land-use plans which are now being used in working out the programs under the new Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act.

Tolley, who is director of the Giamini Foundation of Agricultural Economics at the University of California, has done his AAA work on leave of absence from the Foundation.

He will speak in Guion Hall at 11 o'clock on Friday, July 24, during the Short Course.

1-2 miles from College was located and is suitable for a group of 12 to 24 boys. The place is isolated and a good place to live and study with places to keep cow and chickens.

4. Any boy wishing to carry canned meats, vegetables, and fruits will receive credit for all he furnishes his project. This lessens the amount necessary to pay for house expenses.

5. The committee was so well impressed with the school that they are hardly able to realize how an opportunity to attend is available at so small an expense.

6. Every boy planning to attend A. & M. college is urged to immediately write The Registrar, A. & M. College, College Station, Texas, for applications blanks for entering college.

7. All boys interested are urged to attend a meeting in the county court room, Eastland, at 10 a. m. Saturday, June 27th and bring any parents interested. Each boy who wants to enroll with the project group should be ready Saturday to make a definite statement.

ERRING DRIVERS "SHAMED"

WINNIPEG, Man. — (UP)—Winnipeg traffic authorities are trying to "shame" motorists into observing traffic rules. As an experiment, a police truck, painted bright red and equipped with a loudspeaker, is touring the city and whenever a motorist is caught disobeying signals or breaking a law he is publicly "bawled out."

300-Year-Old Bible In Texas Library

AUSTIN, June 27 — A Bible which came over on the Mayflower, which in fact belonged to William White, the leader of the Mayflower group, is included in the Stark Collection of rare books belonging to The University of Texas. Upon the margins of this thick beautifully printed old Bible are written interesting dates and happenings from the sailing of the Pilgrims from Holland in 1609 until after they reached America in 1620. It is kept in a vault when not on display in the Wrenn Library in the Old Library building.

The book was printed in Geneva in 1583 and is known as the "Ereches" Bible. In the Book of Genesis instead of the customary wording "Adam and Eve made aprons of fig leaves," it reads "Adam and Eve made breeches of fig leaves."

The date of the sailing from Plymouth, England, several incidents which occurred during the voyage to America, a record of the marriage of William White and Suzanne Tilley, and the birth of their son, Perigrin White are noted upon the margins of this Bible. Perigrin White was the first white child born in New England. A number of sketches of the Mayflower, of Indians, and of the first meeting house are drawn on the pages of the "Breeches" Bible.

The book is a very famous one and has been loaned to a number of Mayflower reunions. It belonged to the Cowl family and was purchased from them by Mrs. Luther Stark and presented by her to the University with the rest of the Stark collection.

Visitors to the Wrenn Library may see this bible along with many other books.

D. R. Honors Hero of Revolution

Standing in the shadow of the beautiful new $2,500,000 granite memorial to George Rogers Clark, young Revolutionary War hero who saved the northwest for the United States, President Roosevelt is pictured above, under the canopy, as he both lauded Clark and defended the New Deal before 50,000 cheering Indians at Vincennes. From problems of Clark's day, 150 years ago, the president, in his dedicatory address, drew lessons pointing the need of "arming ourselves with new weapons against new devices of crime and cupidity," and of conserving America's natural resources.

Striking View of Ship Christening

Miss Mai Duane, descendant of William J. Duane, Secretary of the Treasury in President Jackson's cabinet, took no chances on fizzling the christening of the new U. S. Coast Guard Cutter at Philadelphia Navy Yard. She gritted her teeth, grasped the baptismal bottle of champagne firmly and used both hands to smash the flagon against the Duane's prow. Then look what happened.

WE—Raise the body completely off the chassis with contact jacks, which jacks contact the frame at the center.

WE—Pull the spring leaves back into their natural curl—we call it "Temporary Re-arching."

WE—Put the proper lubricants where the ACTUAL WEAR takes place—the highest points of friction.

WE—Do thorough lubrication, which means more than pumping grease through high pressure guns INTO OPEN CAVITIES.

WE—Permit 100% lubrication, apply grease while the car is in motion and while the weight of the body is on the MOTOSWAY.

WE—Locate that HIDDEN BODY SQUEAK; we detect impaired parts.

WE—Spread spring leaves to actually put lubricants between the leaves—not just smear on the outside.

WE—Free frozen shackles without the aid of a "Crow-Bar". The use of a "Crow-Bar" is DANGEROUS.

WE—Examine and refill shock absorbers which can only be done with MOTOSWAY. (Optional, at slight additional cost.)

WE—Lubricate "Knee-Action" cars. See it work, it's perfect while the parts are all in motion—"floating action."

WE—Lubricate the "Enclosed-Springs." How else can you do it? Only with MOTO-SWAY.

WE—CHANGE YOUR OIL IN THE CRANKCASE WITH MOTOSWAY; all old oils and sediments come out thus keeping repair bills away.

WE—Make old cars ride like new ones, keep new ones riding like NEW—We prove it.

WE—Challenge any other means of lubrication; the old stationary method has become obsolete. The MOTO-SWAY method is the only CORRECT WAY TO LUBRICATE YOUR CAR.

Black Crystals in Rattlesnake Case

LOS ANGELES, Calif., June 27. — (UP) — Tiny black crystals of snake venom today was added to the trial of Robert James, barber-shop owner, accused of killing his fifth wife after subjecting her to a rattlesnake bite.

The prosecution brought the crystals in an effort to prove James might have murdered his wife painlessly, but instead chose the method of shoving her bare leg into a box containing a live rattlesnake.

Roland Kirby, snake expert from who Charles Hone said he tried to buy snakes for the death penalty, juggled the crystals before the eyes of the jury and identified them as the one he had given Hone "to experiment with."

Suspected Spy to Be Tried July 3

LOS ANGELES, June 27. — (UP) — Henry Thompson, 28, suspected spy, will be tried July 3, on charges of helping to obtain and selling government secrets. His bond was placed at $10,000 in federal court.

The arraignment was held on instructions from Washington where an investigation of a plot to sell war secrets to U. S. government has been uncovered.

Thompson, smiling as he stepped into the courtroom, said the charge was a "ripe dream."

His arrest several months ago on a minor charge wearing a naval uniform was an opening wedge in the government's investigation of a national spy market in which air craft secrets were stolen from navy files and peddled abroad.

Britain Builds Parasite Planes

Aviation's first aerial parasites, sketched above, are being created at Rochester, England, for the Imperial Airways in an attempt to surmount difficulties that have blocked long range, non-stop airmail flights. Too heavily loaded to be able to take off under its own power, a 5000-mile airmail ship is mounted atop a huge flying boat, designed to help lift it into the air. After reaching cruising altitude, the lower unit will return to the airport for duty as a passenger carrier on shorter flights.
