Petition To Join Big Spring, Odessa Water District Is Circulated

Open Meeting Unanimous In Water Vote

Popular Election Would Be Necessary Before Snyder Could Join

A petition asking membership for Snyder in the Colorado River Municipal Water District was drawn up this morning and is being circulated here, following an open meeting last night, called to discuss new sources of water.

The peittion was drawn up by James Rosser, Bob Davie, and Wayland Holt, a committee appointed by R. A. Schooling, president of the Chamber of Commerce, who presided at last night's meeting.

BRING TO VOTE

"Signing this petition will not necessarily signify that a person is in favor of the proposal to be annexed by the Colorado River Municipal Water District," Schooling said. "It is merely a means of bringing the question of membership in the water district to a vote of the people.

"That vote still is many weeks away, and before that time every voter will have the opportunity to inform himself on the issues involved."

The petition, which will be submitted to the board of directors of the water district, will be presented first to the city council, with the request that they forward it, with their approval, to the district directors.

Forest G. Sears, mayor, stated at the meeting that while a petition with 50 qualified taxpaying residents of the city was all that was required by law, a petition bearing 300 or 400 names would be far more impressive both to the city council and to the water district board of directors.

Last night's open meeting was called by the Chamber of Commerce. Harold Bennett, manager of the chamber, outlined the terms under which a city may become a partner in the water district, be represented on its board of direcors, and procure water from the resources developed by that district.

FULLY EXPLAINED

In a series of articles now being prepared, the Daily News will present in detail the organization of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, alternative water sources in this area, and a comprehensive picture of Snyder's present facilities.

Big Spring and Odessa have called elections Nov. 17 to ratify the contracts of those cities with the water district. All member cities must ratify their contracts by elections of qualified property-owning voters, because the water district's $10 million indebtedness will be paid off through water revenue bonds.

Following Bennett's opening remarks last night, Sears outlines his personal position on the proposal and the city's current water situation.

"Snyder must have more water, and I won't oppose any reasonable project that will give us more water," Sears stated.

"However," he said, "there will be no cheap water in West Texas."

He added that under the water district arrangement, the cost of water would be greater than it now is in Snyder.

RATES HIGHER

The water district proposes to deliver water at the Snyder city limits at about 17 cents for every 1,000 gallons. The city would have to build a filter plant, and the added cost, Sears said, would be at least 10 cents per 1,000 gallons for

Test On Lynn County Pumper

Humble Oil & Refining co. is taking potential tests to complete its No. 1-W. C. Dulin, Southeast Lynn County wildcat, as a pumping discovery from the Mississippian lime.

This new pay opener pumped 121.69 barrels of oil and no water in 18 hours and was to continue pumping for a full 24-hour period and then go on regular production.

The oil is coming from the perforated section in the Mississippian at 9,020-80 feet. The project is on a drilled-out bottom of 9,081 feet, in casing which had been cemented at 9,200 feet.

This wildcat drilled to a total depth of 9,373 feet in the Ellenburger. That zone made water.

Location is 2,038.6 feet from the west and 1,980 feet from the north lines of section 431, block 9, EL&RR survey. The discovery is the northwest offset to Magnolia Petroleum Co. No. 1 Garza Land & Cattle Co., which is the discovery of the well of the O'Donnell-Pennsylvanian field.

Humble Uo. 1, Dulin was barren in the Pennsylvanian lime.

The well is approximately 14 miles east of the town of O'Donnell.

BORDEN WILDCAT

Velma Petroleum Co. No. 1 Conrad, Southeast Borden County wildcat seven miles northeast of Vincent and 660 feet from the north and west lines of section 81, block 20, Lavaca Navigation survey, took a one-hour drillstem test in the Wolfcamp lime at 6,175-6,235 feet.

Recovery was 180 feet of drilling mud, 540 feet of oil and 4,050 feet of oil-and-gas-cut salt water, which was estimated to have been 30 per cent oil.

Operator is now running a straddle test at 6,175-95 feet, the object of that investigation being to stay above the water table to develop an oil producer of hte 20 foot zone which is being tested.

The wildcat is one and one-quarter miles northwest of the nearest reef lime production in the Reinecke-Ruhterford-Von Roeder field in Southeast Borden County.

DISCOVERY

Seaboard Oil Co. of Delaware appears to have some sort of a discovery at its No. 1 W. F. Edwards Southeast Stonewall County wildcat, 15 miles southwest of Aspermont and 12 miles north of Rotan.

The prospector ran a two-hour drillstem test in the Pennsylvanian lime at 5,279-5,314 feet. There was a steady flow of air with some gas throughout the test.

Recovery was 535 feet of pipe line oil and 540 feet of heavily oil-and-gas-cut drilling mud. There were no signs of water.

Informed sources revealed that the bottom two feet of the hole was soft and showed the best signs of petroleum production.

This project topped the Pennsylvanian lime at 5,218 feet.

Drillstem tests at 5,220-51 feet and at 5,248-70 feet developed oil-and-gas-cut drilling mud, but neither of them showed any free oil.

Operator has taken an electric log survey and the project is now waiting on orders. It may be decided to run casing and make a production test of the section of pay so far penetrated.

The other course of action, which might be followed, would be to drill a little deeper before setting casing and making the production test.

Location is 660 feet from south

U. S. Protests Intervention

(By The Associated Press)

LAKE SUCCESS, Nov. 8. (AP)—The United States accused the Chinese Communists today of recklessly throwing 30,000 regular troops into the Korean fighting. It demanded that all aid from Red China, either direct or indirect, stop at once.

The charge and demand came from Chief U. S. Delegate Warren R. Austin, who told hte UN Security Council the Mao Tze-Tung regime has imposed a grave danger upon the world—a danger "that the present conflict may not be limited to the Korean area."

The council must make it clear, Austin said, that any further Chinese aid to the Korean Communists will not be condoned by the United Nations. Austin said the council must require the immediate withdrawal of the Chinese forces now in North Korea.

He denied the Peiping radio's assertions that the Chinese Communists in Korea were volunteers. They are organized military units, he said, and their number in Korea is increasing.

Austin said the Chinese Reds had come to the aid of the North Korean Communists at a time when the United Nations forces under Gen. MacArthur were on the threshold of successfully concluding the campaign in Korea.

"The Security Council can no longer afford to ignore the scope and effect of such aid," he declared.

He said the United Nations could assure the Chinese Communists that their territory will not be violated, then added:

Warren R. Austin, chief American delegate, told the council that 30,000 Chinese Communist troops are in Korea and that the number is increasing. He said the United Nations should assist in settling any problems relating to Korea's northern frontier. Then he added:

"But in offering assurance, the Security Council must also see to it that the authorities in Peiping are under no illusion that their conduct is condoned by the United Nations or that the organized world Communist can accept this thinly disguised invasion of Korea.

"This council is the guardian of international peace and security and must require the Chinese Communist regime to withdraw its forces from Korea and to refrain from further unlawful assistance, direct or indirect, to the North Korean aggressor."

Search Begins Again For The Missing Plane

BUTTE, Mont., Nov. 8. (AP)—National Guardsmen today joined in the search for a Northwest Airlines plane which vanished in a blizzard with 22 persons aboard in approaching for a landing near the backbone of the Continental Divide yesterday.

Searchers were cheered by a forecast of a break in the weather. The blizzard first hindered, then halted aerial search yesterday.

STAKED OUT

Frank Quinn, Montana Standard reporter, is staked out by a police radio at the Martin Setzer ranch, four miles north of Homestake, 12 miles southeast of here where the Northern Pacific Railway crosses the Continental Divide at an altitude of 6,400 feet.

Search headquarters were moved to the Setzer Ranch yesterday after residents of that area reported hearing explosions.

The Martin 202, westbound from Chicago to Seattle, left Helena 66 miles northeast of here at 7:53 a.m. (MST) yesterday for Butte. The last radio contact was at 8:11 a.m., when Pilot Lloyd Lapman, 37, of Seattle said he was over Whitehall about 50 miles south of Helena, starting his descent at 10,500 feet.

LOW CEILING

Between him and the mile-high local airport — where the ceiling was about 2,500 feet, the visibility less than five miles — lay the main range of the Continental Divide.

For the next hour and a half, every Civil Aeronautics Administration communications station in the northwest tried to contact the twin-engined plane, which carried 18 passengers and a crew of four.

Meanwhile, State Aeronautics Commissioner Frank Wiley of Helena — whose assistant, Jerry Verhelst, was aboard the plane — organized the search.

Air Attacks On Supplies From Across Border

(By The Associated Press)

SEOUL, Nov. 8. — Six hundred allied warplanes blasted North Korea all along the Manchurian border today to block off Red reinforcements from Communist China.

But air observers reported "very heavy traffic" rolling across Manchuria toward the Yalu River boundary. They also spotted an estimated 700 vehicles already south of the river in North Korea.

As the UN air arm mounted one of the largest flights of the Korean war, reinforcements arrived on the Korean east coast elements of the U. S. Third Infantry Division landed at the port of Wonsan.

On the ground UN troops pushed forward on all fronts. The unexplained Communist withdrawal continued.

ONLY TEMPOARY

Intelligence officers at Gen. MacArthur's Tokyo headquarters clamped a surprise news blackout on developments between Communist battle lines and the Manchurian border. They said the clampdown could be temporary.

They declined to answer questions about the Reds' ultimate intentions — whether the Communists presumably were planning an attack, trying to consolidate present lines or preparing a series of delaying actions.

In a historic sidelight to the air war, jet met jet in a fight to the death for the first time. The battle occurred over the North Korean border city of Sinuiju, a key target for the 600-plane assault.

An American F-80 Shooting Star jet shot down a Russian-made MIG-15 jet fighter while the planes sped at better than 600 miles an hour. Another Red jet was damaged but escaped to Manchuria.

STAY CLEAR

Pilots said the Red jets tried to lure them across the border over Manchuria — a new tactic. UN planes have been ordered to stay clear of Chinese Communist air.

In the big raid 80 U. S. B-29 superforts dumped 640 tons of bombs on Sinuiju, concentration point for Chinese Red supplies and site of an airfield used by Red jets in attacks on U. S. aircraft.

Election News Affects Stocks

NEW YORK, Nov. 8. (AP) — Stock traders, fresh from reading election results, flooded the exchange with buying orders this morning.

The hard-hitting demand lifted prices $1 to around $3 a share. Blocks of stock running to 15,000 shares were all over the ticker tape.

The rush to buy actually started late Monday. Early Monday the market staggered under a load of selling released by charges of Communist Chinese intervention in Korea. In the last few minutes of business, however, a decisive recovery got moving.

News today of Republicans successes in the national election, however, certainly did nothing to discourage demand for stocks. There are probably more administration critics to the square foot in Wall Street than any place in the country.

School Board Studies Several Sites For New Garage, Offices

Additional space remains a serious problem of the school system as the need for more buildings becomes more apparent every day.

Top place on the agenda of the board in their meeting last night was possible construction of a new administration building and a larger bus garage.

PLANS SHOWN

A rough sketch of an administration building plan was shown the board by Fred Buford, a partner of the Buford & Feinberg Co. of Dallas, engineering firm under contract with the school.

Buford said a brick and steel structure of approximately 38 by 100 feet could easily house the offices of the superintendent and business manager, along with additional offices needed by the school system.

Unable to agree on a location for the building, the board voted to segregate the school tax office from the administration offices in order that they could erect the building on one of several possible lots in the city and leave the tax office in a downtown location.

The board left the location of the building open for consideration, and President Lee Stinson appointed Paul Keaton and Bob Dupree to investigate and find suitable lots for the board to consider.

GARAGE AND SHOP

The board discussed a need for a new garage to provide adequate shop and repair space for the school's busses, to be built on a large enough lot to park at least 30 of the vehicles.

"We are still using the same garage down at the gymnasium that we used when we only had three busses," M. E. Stanfield superintendent of schools, told the board. The school system now has 19 busses in use, and Elmer Taylor, business manager, announced to the board that he had requisitioned seven more.

Board members explained that they did not plan to build a garage to house all the busses, but that they need one that has adequate space for service and repair built on o lot where all the busses can be parked.

No location was agreed upon for the garage, and members left it open for consideration.

Discussing the central campus grounds for use for buildings members decided they do not have enough space for play grounds there now and that more buildings would take part of what they now use for playgrounds.

HARD SURFACE

Members voted to have the back playground area west of the primary school on the 2700 block between Avenues K and L hard-surfaced with asphalt to solve the problem teachers have had with muddy playgrounds. They also decided to hard-surface the area between building wings at the Northwest Elementary School.

Buford announced to the board that his company had begun plans for the landscaping of the primary and Northwest Elementary schools.

Democrats Lose Five In Senate And 23 In House

Warren Gets Three Sure Votes

It is a good bet that Gov. Earl Warren (left), daughter Virginia (center) and Mrs. Warren voted for Earl Warren for a third term as Governor of California in Oakland. The Warrens are shown leaving their respective voting booths. Warren was opposed by Jimmy Roosevelt, elder son of the late President Roosevelt.

But Democrats Hold Control In Congress

Twenty-nine Races Are Still Undecided; GOP Gains Five Governors

By JACK BELL

(Associated Press Staff)

Democrats kept numerical control of Congress by the thinnest of margins today, stunned and battered by Republican election successes that challenged President Truman's home and foreign policies.

Bowling over top administration leaders, the GOP captured a net of five Senate seats in yesterday's voting. This boosted its Senate line-up in the upcoming 82nd Congress to 47, as against the Democrats 49.

With 23 House contests still to be decided, the Republicans had gained 23 places to raise their total to 188. The Democrats held 223, or four more than the 218 needed for control. One independent won in Ohio.

Except for Democratic pockets in Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New York, Ohio, Nevada and Arizona, GOP Senate and governor candidates rolled roughshod over their opposition everywhere outside the South and the borderline states.

Smashing defeats for such administration lieutenants as Sens. Scott W. Lucas of Illinois and Francis J. Myers of Pennsylvania were attributed widely to voter dissatisfaction with the progress of the Korean war, opposition to President Truman's foreign decisions and his "fair deal" program, and reaction to Communists-in-government charges.

Mr. Truman, relaxing aboard the Yacht Williamsburg, was described as disappointed over these results but pleased with the size of the vote. The total figure is not yet known but apparently it was well over 40 million, a record.

DISAPPOINTED

"Of course he was disappointed," Press Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters. He referred to the unseating of Lucas, who is the Senate majority leader, Myers and Sen. Tydings (D-Md).

It was a victory parade for such Republican stalwarts as Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, Sen. Eugene Millikin of Colorado and Gov. James H. Duff of Pennsylvania in senatorial contests.

No less decisive were the re-election victories wrapped up by Republican Govs. Thomas E. Dewey of New York and Earl Warren of California, who won third terms in their state houses.

The Democrats could salvage some comfort out of the fact that President Truman's home state elected Thomas C. Hennings, Jr., to the Senate over Republican Forrest Donnell. Donnell was the only ballot boy casualty among present Republican senators.

The Democrats also could take solace in the fact that they warded off GOP Senate control by electing senators Brien McMahon and William Benton in Connecticut and by the victory of Sen. Herbert H. Lehman, Democrat, who also was a candidate of the Liberal Party, and to Vincent Impellitteri, who ran as an independent when he was denied the Democratic nomination.

BAD BLOW

The national results added up to a severe blow to President Truman's home and foreign programs. A coalition such as that often formed in the past by southern Democrats and Republicans could, in fact, dictate Congress' decision on any major issue.

It is clear that many pending parts of what Mr. Truman calls his "fair deal" have been put on ice for at least two years. Only a "fair deal" upsurge in 1952 could pump new life into such proposals as the outright repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor law and enactment of national healthinsurance and the Brannan farm plan.

And although Democrats remain in nominal control of the Congress, the real majorities in both Senate and House are composed of men whose thinking on economic matters runs closer to that of Sen. Taft than to that of Mr. Truman.

On issues of that nature, many southern Democrats—in both House

Tour Made To Study Jail And Fire Set-up

An architect will be employed shortly to draw up plans for a modern city jail and police headquarters, Ernest Taylor, city councilman and police commissioner said.

This action follows a visit made yesterday by Taylor, Harry Allen, C. L. Williamson, and A. L. Martin, all city councilmen, and Chester Bairrington, chief of police to Sweetwater and Big Spring, where jail and fire departments were inspected by the group.

"We are pleased with the Big Spring setup and probably will follow plans along the lines seen at that city, which is modern in most details," said Taylor.

"While our police headquarters and jail will not be as elaborate as those at Big Spring, these two departments will be consolidated instead of separated as they now are," he said.

"We have bond issue funds for $50,000 for construction of the new additions to the police and fire departments, and we will build accordingly," he added.

The new police headquarters and jail site will be adjacent to the present city hall, and as soon as plans have been drawn and approved by the council, work will get under way, the commissioner said.

"Snyder for a long time has needed a new police station and jail, to keep pace with our growing city," said Taylor.

"We got some good ideas from the police and fire departments at both Big Spring and Sweetwater. The latter city has a fine fire department while the police setup at Big Spring seems to fit our needs better," he addd.

Norther Due Here Tonight

The season's second "real norther" bore down on all of Texas today, and the local weatherman predicted a low tonight of about 35 degrees.

Although not anticipated to be as severe as the first "blue whizzer" of a week back, the norther could still endanger unprotected plants and bring back the topcoats here tonight.

Tumbling temperatures and showers were predicted for the entire state.

The U. S. Weather Bureau said the mercury would drop to as low as 26 degrees in Panhandle thermometers by Thursday morning. An overcast and winds up to 25 miles per hour were accompanying the front.

At mid-morning, the norther was running on a line southwestward from Dodge City, Kan., to just above Dalhart in the upper Texas Panhandle. It was expected to reach north-central Texas by early Thursday and cover all of the state within 36 hours.

Junior Chamber Favors Colorado Water District

Unanimous support of Snyder's joining the Colorado City Municipal Water District was voted by the Junior Chamber of Commerce at their meeting Monday night at the Country Club.

Wayland Holt said the junior chamber officially went on record as favoring the proposal to augment Snyder's water supply.

The group decided to hold all subsequent meetings at noon on Monday in the Country Club. This is a change from the Monday night meeting schedule previously followed.

World's Most Famous Riding Academy in First U. S. Visit

By JIM BECKER

NEW YORK, (AP)—Because the late Gen. George Patton was an enthusiastic horseman, horse show fans in the east had a chance to watch the famed Spanish Riding School of Vienna in action.

The Vienna school, founded in 1572, is one of the institutions in the world promoting and teaching the art of classical riding. The school teaches and performs the Haute Ecole form, a colorful ectacle featured by maneuvers which date back to movements employed by knights in ancient battles.

In giving Americans their first chance to witness the exhibition of horsemanship, riders from the school say they feel they are repaying a debt to Gen. Patton and his Third Army. For were it not for Gen. Patton and his troops the school would not exist today. Tere's how it happened:

The school's history has been marked by numerous narrow escapes from extinction in the wars which have swirled about it for centuries. But it faced probably its greatest danger at the end of World War II. During the war, the Germans had forcibly removed the school to Czechoslovakia, and after the Allied victory, the riders found themselves and their horses in territory occupied by the Russians.

HORSES ASSETS

The school's horses were listed as "German assets" and were fair game for removal to Russia as war reparations.

Col. Alois Podhajsky, director escaped to upper Austria with 60 pure white Lipizzan stallions used by the school, but was forced to leave the mares and foals behind.

Thus the Lipizzan line faced extension. The gifted horses, which the school uses exclusively, were brought from Spain about 1562. Their Spanish blood gives the school its name. And their forebears, once carried Julius Caesar into battle.

Col. Podhajsky appealed to Gen. Patton to place the school and its horses under the protection of the American Army. Gen. Patton, after witnessing a special exhibition of the classical riding, reacted in a typical manner.

"He not only ordered the school under protection but sent four tanks to Czechoslovakia to bring back the mares and the foals," says Col. Podhajsky. 'On the way back, with the horses in tow,'" says the Colonel, "the tank detachment was stopped by a representative of the four-power commission in charge of property control. The representative informed the captain of the tank detachment that he could not remove the mares until the commission decided who owned them.

TANKS ROLLED ON

"Pointing to his tanks, the captain answered, 'My orders are to bring back the mares unless prevented by a superior force.' There was no further argument and the tanks rolled on, the mares trotting after them.

"Today the school, with its mares and stallions, is all together again, safely situated in Wels, Upper Austria, where our work continues," Col. Podhajsky adds. "I think you will understand why we are happy and grateful to pay our first visit to the United States."

The Spanish school riders demonstrated their classic maneuvers, climaxed by the "Great School Quadrille," a horse ballet set to music, in Harrisburg, Pa., until Oct. 28. Then they brought their great Lipizzans and colorful costumes to Madison Square Garden for the annual National Horse Show Oct. 31 to Nov. 7. A final appearance is scheduled for the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto, Nov. 14-22.

A rider from the Spanish Riding School here demonstrates a Levade, in which horse and rider remain motionless for five to 15 seconds.

Writer's Ire Raised By Gun Incident On Texas U. Campus

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

DALLAS, Nov. 8. (AP) — It would appear that everything possible was written about that great football game at Austin Saurday when Texas beat Southern Methodist 23-20.

But there was one incident which to this column appears rather serious, that didn't find its way into the papers. This was the "gun incident."

In a nutshell here's what happened:

The University of Texas has a rule that sports writers must wait outside the dressing room for 10 minutes after a game before they can get inside and interview the players and coaches. This is known in newspaper parlance as the "dressing room story."

Saturday, as sports writers cooled their heels outside the Texas dressing room, some man rushed up and handed the doorman a gun. It was unloaded and was unsolicited on the part of the doorman. The person handing it to him must have been wanting to "protect" somebody from the "vicious press."

Anyway, this column is on record as opposing any kind of gun on the campus of the University of Texas, particularly around the football dressing room. It appears here the University should make an investigation of the affair and take steps to prevent it ever happening again.

SENSELESS RULE

The senseless rule of prohibiting the press from coming into the football dressing room after the game was thrashed out at a conference of sports writers and the Southwest Conference coaches in the spring. Coach Blair Cherry of Texas said there would have to be a 10-minute wait at his dressing room.

Other schools are observing no such restriction.

The idea back of the rule in the first place was that the players should be given a "cooling off" period in which they could frame their answers to the questions that would be asked by the sports writers. In other words, the school wanted to censor what the players might have to say with a view toward preventing anything being said that might be detrimental to football or reflect on players or coaches or officials.

PRESS'N CLAY

What is actually being accomplished is to take away the real color and information that make interesting room stories of interest to the fan. If grown men can't control themselves in the heat of competition the public ought to know it. Perhaps their idols might not look so good if they knew the type of fellows they were lauding and paying their money to see perform.

The moral of this appears to be:

If Texas hadn't had the senseless 10-minute rule there would have been no gun incident.

It seems Texas may have to work out some way to protect the sports writers from the public while they wait to get into the dressing room. Next time the gun might be loaded.

NO FOUNDATION

Reports that members of the Gulf Coast Conference will dissolve their circuit and enter the Border Conference appear to be without foundation.

D. L. Ligon, president of the conference, says: "I know of no plan for members of this conference to be in other conferences next football season. I still have faith in the Gulf Coast Conference and in the purposes for which it was organized, and so far as I know, the conference will continue to operate."

NEVER SAW ONE

At the meeting of the Big State League Sunday Homer Peel, the old major leaguer, asked Jimmy Adair, manager of Gainesville, if he ever hit a certain baseball known for its "rabbit" qualities. Replied Jimmy:

"No, every time I was in a league that used that ball they had curve ball pitchers and I never got to see one."

Gilbert Tindall, the Greenville baseball backer, told about the time he questioned a called third strike.

The umpire said: "It's a matter of opinion. You say it was a ball, I say it was a strike. That's all."

TURNS TABLES

Harry Faulkner told some rib-tickling stories about Obie Bristow the former West Texas high school coach who now is an oil tycoon.

Bristow went into a Big Spring drug store one day. Big Spring high school had lost some games but finally won one. Bristow started pushing the fixtures around. The druggist asked him what he was doing. "Well, you drug store coaches always tell us how to run the football team; now I'm going to show you how to run the drug business."

It took a week's work to straighten out the tangle and get the counters, etc., back in their right places, Faulkner related.

Rice Freshmen Beat Aggie Fish 52-7

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 8. (AP) — The Rice Owlets rolled up 440 yards on the ground and used three fumbles, an intercepted pass and a blocked kick to beat the Texas Aggie frosh, 52 to 7, last night.

It was the third straight loss of the season for the Aggie Fish.

McNeil Moore and Bill Gaskamp were the Owlet stars, with each scoring twice. Other scorers were Deany Masters, Bloid Bridges, Kosy Johnson and Bobby Warren.

Pete Mayerux, who was the Fish's star, scored the only touchdown for the losers after setting it up with a 16-yard run.

Sawyer Voted Year's Manager

NEW YORK, Nov. 8. (AP) — Affable Eddie Sawyer, a former college professor who never played an inning in the big leagues, today was voted baseball's "Manager of the Year" in a nationwide poll conducted by the Associated Press.

Sawyer was named on 164 of the 381 ballots cast by sports writers and sportscasters. Stengel, who won the honor in 1949, received 134 votes to finish a close second.

Schoolboy Ball Crucial Stage

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
(Associated Press Staff)

The Texas schoolboy football campaign rumbles into its most crucial period this week with 158 games in the three divisions that decide state championships and with district titles in the balance all along the line.

Three district crowns already have been determined, all in Class AA. The City Conference has two games this week that will virtually decide champions. Class AA will be leveling up more than anything else but quite a few teams are due to reach the "dormie" stage — clinch at least ties for district flags.

The heaviest gunning will, of course, be in Class A where 110 games are scheduled; practically all of them counting in the conference races.

PEARSALL STANDOUT

There are 17 undefeated, untied teams left in the state, ten of them in Class A which also has the highest scoring and top defensive outfit all wrapped up in one. Pearsall has won eight straight and scored 336 points while giving the opposition only 14. This team has averaged 42 points per game.

The City Conference features battles between Sunset and Adamson in the Dallas district and Lamar and Reagan in the Houston district. These will virtually determine championships.

Lamar is the only undefeated, untied team in the City Conference and is considered the most powerful in the state in some quarters, and that includes Port Arthur, the acknowledged No. 1 outfit of Class AA, and mighty Littlefield, defending champion of Class A and called the best in its class again this season.

There are 11 games in the City Conference, all of them conference affairs. Adamson and Sunset are the only undefeated, untied teams in the Dallas district while Lamar and Reagan hold that distinction in the Houston district.

PRE-SEASON FAVORITE

Class AA has 37 games with the headliner being the battle of Odessa and Midland at Midland Saturday. Midland is one of two teams undefeated in District 3 conference play. Odessa, a pre-seasn title favorites, will be making its conference start.

Six teams have undefeated, untied records in Class AA—Pampa, Breckeridge, Texarkana, Cleburne, Port Arthur and Corsicana.

District championships already determined in Class A are Shamrock, District 2; New Braunfels, District 24, and Sinton, District 29.

Taylor and Georgetown will decide the District 21 title this week. Crockett can sew up District 18 honors by defeating Levelland.

Class A must decide its district champions by Nov. 18. The City Conference and Class AA have until Dec. 2.

Baylor Player Asks Coach If It Is Right

WACO, Nov. 8. (AP) — Frank Shannon doesn't get to play much for Baylor.

He's a hard worker and a good ball-carrier but Buddy Parker and Don Carpenter are ahead of him.

But he's putting everything he has into that.

Against Texas A&M he made one of his rare appearances in the Baylor lineup. He raced downfield and tackled the Aggie who took the Baylor kickoff. The Aggie was downed in his tracks.

Shannon bounced up and sprinted over to coach George Sauer at the bench:

"That's the way you want it done, isn't it coach" he asked.

Duff Elected To Senate In Pennsylvania

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 8. (AP) — James H. Duff won election to the U. S. Senate today, gaining added stature as a Republican presidential possibility in 1952.

"Big Red," who has been Pennsylvania's governor for the last four years, trounced the Senate's No. Two Democrat, Francis J. Myers, by 125,000 votes in near record balloting that swept Duff's handpicked mate for governor, John S. Fine, into office.

Backslapping, handshaking, Duff supporters cheered the governor as he walked into GOP headquarters at Harrisburg shortly before 3 a.m.

"How are you, Mr. President?" some shouted.

"Not yet," cautioned the 67-year-old Duff. He would say no more when quizzed about any presidential aspirations. The Democrats had maintained that Duff intended using a Senate seat as a springboard for a campaign for the presidential nomination in 1952.

It was a clean sweep for the Republicans in this important state, long considered a GOP stronghold.

In addition to electing Duff and Fine, the nearly 3,500,000 voters who cast ballots selected: (A) GOP candidates for lieutenant governor, secretary of internal affairs and for judgeships on the state supreme and superior courts; (B) A Republican majority in both state houses, and (C) two additional Republicans for the U. S. House, upping the GOP strength from 18 to 20.

The two beaten incumbent Democrats are Anthony Calvacante of Uniontown, representing the 23rd District, and Harry Davenport of Pittsburgh, 29th District. The 81st Congress listed 18 Republicans and 15 Democrats from this state. Now there are only 13 Democrats.

Myers conceded defeat at 3:20 a.m., EST.

Fine, 57, succeeded Duff as governor by defeating Richardson Dilworth, Philadelphia City treasurer, by 83,000 votes in the climax of one of the most bitterly waged gubernatorial contests in state history. Pennsylvania has picked only one Democratic governor since the civil war.

Baylor Up For TexasSaturday

WACO, Nov. 8. (AP) — A rarity in coaches — one who never says the opposition is going to be too much for him — is George Sauer of Baylor.

The former Navy mentor had this to say today regarding his game with Texas Saturday:

"I realize we're the underdogs but I believe it's going to be quite a football game."

Texas comes here leading the Southwest Conference and heavily favored to sweep through to the championship and the host spot in the Cotton Bowl.

Baylor has a 5-2 record, having lost to Wyoming and lowly Arkansas. Before the season opened the Bears were relegated to the cellar by the general vote. But today they are tied for second place and could go into a tie for first by beating Texas.

In their last two appearances they have shown enough that might Texas is regarding them warily.

The biggest surprise of the season was Baylor's 27-20 victory over Texas A&M. Most critics rate A&M in the class with Texas. Last week the Aggies beat Georgia Christian 20-14. It w[illegible]

Sauer never has [illegible] would lose any game on [illegible] ule. For instance, when Baylor was to play Mississippi State, he remarked:

NO BREATHER

"Sports writers over there are saying Mississippi State is glad to have a 'breather' between Tennessee and Georgia (Mississippi State had beaten Tennessee) but I'm just going to wait until the ball game is over before I can agree with that."

Baylor beat Mississippi State 14-7. Sauer could hold the crowd down here Saturday if he issued the usual statement of the coach of an underdog team: "I don't see how we can stop them."

Santa Clara's first four fotball foes played in bowl games last winter. They were California (Rose Rice (Cotton), San Jose State (Raisin) and Stanford (Pineapple).

TALK OF THE TOWN

BY FRANCES BIOW

We believe in being seasonal on this newspaper. At 7 o'clock this morning, I was 25 miles from here out near Fluvanna interviewing 900 Thanksgiving turkeys.

* * *

W. E. OWENS runs perhaps the croakingest business in this county. From the minute you open the back door until you step into the two-acre area fenced for the gobblers, the throaty roar closes out all other sounds, like thunder, atomic bomb explosions, or conversation attempts. The turkeys are friendly by nature, in fact, effusive, and would have taken an affectionate nip out of my leg had I not been wearing dungarees and boots.

* * *

Mr. Owen's crop are all "Baby Beefs", top grade in fancy, filling holiday fare. These bronze-feathered creatures glisten beeautifully in the early morning sun, and are proud as aristocrats. The fleshy tongs of fat on their throat turn violently blue above the crimson crop as they strut majestically, some of them throwing a wing spread of better than three feet.

* * *

The turkey-fancier, Mr. Owens, grabbed one lusty-looking gobbler and lifted him up by the kicking legs for me to view up close. It claimed a bicep of John L. Sullivan type, weighed over 25 pounds.

* * *

Why did Mr. Owens choose the turkey business? "I came here from Littlefield for my health and chose light work." This drew a hearty laugh from both the turkey raiser and his sister, discussing the pitfalls and adventures over a cup of coffee.

* * *

"Fellow from Clyde, Tex., sent me 1,150 in April. Lost a lot. They ran off, drowned, caught colds and about every ailment struck that can hit a turkey. I learned to build a 4-foot fence instead of a 15-foot fence. Four feet they fly out of but can be persuaded to return over. A 15 foot fence they can span too, but won't go back over! Also learned June turkeys are too late. Learned a lot of other facts, too, from my year's experience. They are wonderful to work with.

* * *

Mr. Owens thinks turkeys are "the coming thing." "Cheap as beef or pork. Tastier. And did you ever eat fried turkey? Neither had we until a car killed some young ones. Fried turkey is way up there with squab, pheasant, or any tasty morsal. Really a delicacy, and folks are already using turkey at many times other than the two holiday spreads."

* * *

Meanwhile, Mr. Owens says the holiday market hadn't really opened, but for the drive out there, he will sell, you at a fair price, a turkey — and show you the "crop," to boot. It is a sight you would enjoy, if you're tired of gin dust, street-paving, and traffic lines.

Look for it two miles north of Fluvanna, on the Cap Rock road.

Impellitteri In As Mayor Of New York

By JOHN RANDOLPH
(Associated Press Staff)

NEW YORK, Nov. 8. — Vincent R. Impellitteri, an angry, insurgent Democrat, beat Tammany Hall single-handed yesterday and won election as Mayor of New York City.

Riding a wave of popular sympathy after he was denied his party's nomination, he defeated Judge Ferdinand Pecora, the Democratic-Liberal nominee, with 1,156,587 votes to 937,060.

The Republican and American Labor Party candidates were caught between the two major rivals and swamped.

Republican Edward Corsi drew 382,795 votes, while Paul Ross, the left-wing American Labor candidate, got only 149,182.

The total vote in the bitter race was 2,625,634 — a record for a mayoralty campaign. The old record of 2,578,449 was set last year.

It was a sweet victory for the 50-year-old Impellitteri, who was City Council president until he succeeded as acting mayor when Mayor William O'Dwyer resigned last Sept. 2.

"This is the climax of everything I have worked for all my life," he said in his victory statement.

Other Bridges Washed Out, But Low Crossing Withstood Floods

Few people are aware that the humble low water crossing below the city hall on Twenty-sixth Street, now being widened by workmen, is one of the city's historic structures.

Given about three weeks of fair weather, workmen expect to complete the widening of one side of the bridge, and traffic will then be able to use that side until work is complete.

YODER BRIDGE

The bridge was built in the early 1930's by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and D. P. Yoder. Yoder was the Snyder chairman of RFC and also owned a Chevrolet agency near the bridge in the building where the Snyder Linen Supply, Snyder Truck & Tractor Co., and Bob Dupree Nash Co. are now located.

Yoder helped to finance the building of the bridge where only a small lane across the dip had been used occasionally when the creek was not muddy. It was then-named Yoder Bridge.

Come flood or drought, the crossing has stood. Many Snyder residents remember times when the water ran above the crossing, washing out other bridges and leaving it the only one passable in the city. One of those times was during the heavy rain and flood of the summer of 1939 when the American Legion building washed down the creek and hit the bridge, but the crossing still remained.

Water has washed out the streets approaching the bridge several times, but it did not move the small concrete structure.

Although the bridge has served the residents of Snyder well, it is not wide enough for today's traffic, Ramsey said, and when completed it will be the same width as the street.

OTHER BRIDGES

Work is also in progress for the widening of the bridge on Twenty-eighth Street at Avenue N, near the high school gymnasium, Ramsey reported that work there is in the same stage as the one near the city hall and will probably be completed about the same time.

The small wooden bridge at Twenty-fourth Street and Avenue O will soon be torn out in preparation for a new concrete structure there, Ramsey added. This is the only completely wooden bridge and probably the oldest one in Snyder, he said.

West Pointer Given $13,000 By Woman He Never Knew

By the Associated Press

A young Army lieutenant serving in Germany is $13,000 richer today, thanks to a woman who never met him, saw him or ever knew he existed.

The lucky lieutenant is Frank C. Boerger. He was awarded the money because of an odd provision in the will of the late Janet Buchanan Grover, who died in 1946.

In her will Miss Grover directed that a tenth of her estate—slightly more than $13,000—be given to the class following her death. The cadet was to be chosen on the basis of "character, ability and willingness to serve his country."

The award was made in honor of Gen. Cuvier Grover, her grandfather, who fought in the Civil War and is buried on the West Point grounds.

NOT EASY PICKING

When West Point officials learned of the bequest, they began to scar the roster of the class of 1947 to pick the man they would hand $13,000.

It wasn't easy.

Because it took a couple of years to probate the will, settle some fine legal questions and handle a few small bequests, it wasn't until 1948 that West Point brass began to pick their man. By that time, the class of 1947 was scattered over the world.

Maj. Gen. Bryant E. Moore, Academy superintendent, asked members of the class to nominate men who filled the requirements. When the names were compiled the Superintendent, as directed in the will, called together a committee of three, composed of himself, the cadet first captain of the '47 class and the cadet adjutant of '47.

The committee went over the names. High on the list was Lt. William J. Schuder, who had been cadet first captain.

In the initial ballot, Lt. Schuder drew one vote. By voting for himself. Schuder could have gained the necessary two votes, and the $13,000. Instead, he campaigned actively for another candidate.

LIST NARROWED

Eventually the list was narrowed and a check was made of the remaining names to see how they were faring in their Army careers. ("willingness to serve his country" being one of the will provisions.)

Finally, a scoring system was devised, rating each of the remaining men on the qualifications. The name of the winner, says Superintendent Moore, "simply jumped up when we totaled the points."

In Darmstadt, Germany, where he has served for two years with the First Engineers Battalion, Lt. Boerger says he is not going to let the money interfere with his Army career.

"I'm going to save that money to educate my children," he said. "I had always planned to serve in the Army and this won't change my plans a bit."

Boerger, 28, grew up in Milbank, S. D. His wife is from Morris, Minn., and they have a two-year-old daughter. The family lives in a comfortable little house in the American military community in Darmstadt.

At West Point, Boerger ranked No. 2 in general excellence in the class of 310, and No. 2 in military rating. His brother, Phillip, was a classmate, and stood third militarily and 41st in general excellence. Frank was cadet commander of the first regiment of the corps. His brother commanded the second regiment.

Miss Grover, last surviving child of her parents, came from a long line of military men. Her family came to Massachusetts in 1642, and she says in her will, her "forbears. . . for hte last 300 years have given their lives for, or spent their lies in, the service of this country".

She got her money by inheritance from her parents and other relatives. She spent much of her early life in Washington and her later life in Europe, chiefly Rome. She was 64 when she died.

Gen. Cuvier Grover, in whose honor the award as made, as a member of the West Point Class of 1850, standing fourth in the class of 44 men. His commission as a brigadier general was signed by Abraham Lincoln in 1862 and he was wounded at Cedar Creek during the Civil War. He died in 1885 at the age of 57.

Miss Grover presented the rest of her considerable estate to churches, charitable organizations in Italy and America, hospitals and homes for the aged. She also awarded $13,000 to the former Queen of Italy to be given to a worthy Italian charity.

Guill Loses Congress Race By Small Margin To Rogers

By TIM PARKER
(Associated Press Staff)

The Democrats' traditional hold on Texas had slipped a few notches today. But they're still in control.

Rep. Ben Guill of Pampa, Texas' first Republican congressman in more than two decades, almost won his way back into office. He lost by only about 2,000 votes to Democratic nominee Walter Rogers, a fellow townsman.

The Republicans won a seat in the Texas House of Representatives for the first time in 16 years. The GOP victor was Edward T. Dicker, 37, Dallas house builder who won over Democrat Walter J. Reid, 68, special Dallas police officer.

The Guill-Rogers race in the 18th (Panhandle) District brought out the greatest outpouring of votes for a non-presidential general election in that district's history.

The Amarillo Globe-News' 1:30 a.m. count gave Rogers 24,153 and Guill 22,093—a record total of more than 46,000 votes. It was the best Republican showing ever recorded in the Panhandle district.

Guill, a 41-year-old real estate broker and World War Two veteran, won the post in a special election last May 6. He polled more than 8,000 votes in a top-man-wins election which saw the Democratic vote, totaling about 28,000 split among 10 candidates.

Except for Dicker's victory and Guill's good showing, the usual Democratic landslides prevailed. Popular Gov. Allan Shivers led the procession of Democrats back into office. Republicans had offered only token opposition for most offices, preferring to concentrate on a few races.

Rogers is not an administration Democrat. He campaigned against civil rights legislation, FEPC, and federal control of the oil-rich tidelands.

CONCEDES

Guill called Rogers about midnight to offer his congratulations and asked him "not to forget the good people who didn't vote for you."

In his concession statement at 11:23 o'clock last night, Guill said the unusually heavy vote he drew "constitutes one of the most outstanding moral victories of independent voters in the history of the South."

Then Guill went out of his way to get into the current scrap over who should succeed the late R. B. Creager of Brownsville as GOP national committeeman. He endorsed Jack Porter, Houston oilman and only announced candidate. Porter's principal opponent though still not a declared candidate, is Henry Zweifel of Fort Worth, state GOP chairman and longtime friend of Creager. Creager was boss of the Texas Republican Party for about 30 years.

BACKS PORTER

"Almost all the help that we received from outside the district came from Mr. Jack Porter of Houston," said Guill. "He was the most effective person from outside he district in our behalf, and I think that the Republican national executive committee would be doing the future of the party a great disservice if it did not make him national committeeman from this state."

Democratic victories were overwhelming in other contests, including:

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR — Democratic Nominee Ben Ramsey of San Augustine over Marjorie McCorquodale, former Houston newspaperwoman.

ATTORNEY GENERAL — Incumbent Price Daniel of Liberty, third term over Nat Friedman, Houston lawyer.

RAILROAD COMMISSIONER — William J. Murray Jr., Austin, now commission chairman, over Roy D. Golston, retired Tyler oil man

LAND OFFICE COMMISSIONER — Longtime Incumbent Bascom Giles of Austin over Charles E. Adams, Jacksonville business man.

THIRD DISTRICT CONGRESS—Rep. Lindley Beckworth of Gladewater over R. E. Kennedy, Kilgore oil man.

SIXTH DISTRICT CONGRESS—Rep. Olin E. (Tiger) Teague of College Station over Mose R. Blumrosen, GOP wheelhorse from Corsicana.

Taft Votes

U. S. Senator Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio), seeking to retain his seat, grins wryly as he walks into his voting place in Indian Hill, a suburb of Cincinnati, Ohio, — apparently unaware of the printing on a sample ballot given him as he was about to enter the little red schoolhouse that has been his voting place for many years.

Texas Sends Republican To House Of Representatives

(By The Associated Press)

For the first time in 16 years a Republican will sit in the Texas House of Representatives.

He is 37-year-old Edward T. Dicker of Dallas, a prematurely gray-haired home builder. He won handily yesterday over Democratic Nominee Walter J. Reid in Dallas' District 50, Place 5.

In seven other tries at state house seats, Texas Republicans were snowed under by traditional Democratic majorities.

PAPER BACKING

Dicker had the backing of both the Dallas News and Dallas Times Herald, as well as of many regular Democrats. Reid was a surprise victor over Rep. Louis Bergman in the primaries and many Democrats had looked cooly upon the one-time special police officer's political ambitions.

Nearly complete returns gave Dicker 16,841 to 13,650 for Reid.

The last Republican to sit in the Texas house was Bodo Holekamp of Boerne, who represented the Hill Country district of Gillespie, Llano, Kendall and Blanco Counties in 1933-35.

There hasn't been a Republican in the Texas senate for 35 years. There were no Republican candidates for the senate yesterday.

Republicans' other tries at state house seats were made in Tarrant (Fort Worth) County, Houston (Crockett) County and in the West Texas 119th District. In none of these did they come close, although some Republican candidates at Crockett polled as much as 30 per cent of the vote.

ADMITS HELP

Dicker readily admitted Democratic help.

"I am profoundly and humbly grateful to the Democratic and Republican voters of Dallas County who have today elected me to the State Legislature," he said in his victory statement. "To my mind, this is the turning point toward a 2-party system of government in Dallas County."

Hennings Gets Donnell's Seat

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 8. (AP) — Thomas C. Hennings, Jr., St. Louis Democrat who won last minute presidential support, piled up a decisive lead today in his fight to oust Republican Sen. Forrest C. Donnell.

Donnell's two biggest newspaper supporters, the St. Louis Globe-Democrat and the Kansas City Star, conceded he had been defeated.

The senator himself went to bed early without issuing a statement.

Charles M. Huttig, Democratic state chairman, claimed a smashing state-wide victory but put it in general terms, without referring to the senatorial race. Hennings followers held a roaring victory celebration in a St. Louis hotel before retiring early this morning.

Defeat of Donnell was what President Truman wanted. The home-state Republican has been like a burr under the administration saddle in the Senate.

But the President's first choice to oust Donnell was defeated by Hennings in the primary. Not until late Saturday night, when he made his only campaign speech, did the President publicly endorse the Democratic nominee.

Hennings, 47, served six years in the national House of Representatives during the Roosevelt administration. He also has been circuit attorney and assistant circuit attorney in St. Louis, where he built a reputation as a vigorous prosecutor.

He's a big man—6 feet 1 inch tall, 180 pounds, still built like a college athlete.

He campaigned in support of the admnistration's Korean policies and criticized Donnell as an isolationist for voting against the North Atlantic Pact. Donnell denied the charges.

School Enrollment Is About 3,600; Twelve Classrooms Completed

Twelve of the 15 temporary classroom buildings at Snyder's five public schools for white children are now in use, and the other three are expected to be completed some time this week, M. E. Stanfield, superintendent, said today.

Th three buildings not yet completed are at the high school campus, Stanfield said. Each of the structures is large enough to accommodate about 40 students.

The buildings were made necessary by a vast increase in enrollment over last year despite an 18-classroom permanent plant constructed on the northwest edge of the city to take care of the increase.

No accurate figures on the school system's total enrollment are available now, Stanfield said, but he estimated the number would be about 3,600. Exact figures will be available sometime next week, he said.

Confiscated Liquor Is Taken by State Board

A two-ton truck, loaded to capacity with 7,000 12-ounce cans of beer; about a hundred quarts of whisky, and more than 750 half-pints of whisky, left Snyder yesterday in the hands of Liquor Control Board officers.

The liquor, confiscated by the sheriff's department during the past three months, will be sold by the board to legalized liquor dealers who will bid for the purchase.

Liquor confiscated from bootleggers is held at the county jail until claimed periodically by the board, according to Lloyd H. Merritt, sheriff. About 2,500 cans of beer and some whisky is being held now as evidence in liquor violation cases pending court hearings, Merritt said.

Scurry Farmers Expected To Plant Huge Cotton Crop in '51

One of the largest cotton crops in the history of Scurry County, providing the planting season is favorable, is seen in 1951 by O.M. Fowler, county agent.

This prediction is based on the Department of Agriculture's recent lifting of restrictions on the number of acres a farmer can plant in cotton.

MONEY CROP

"It is my opinion that the cotton farmer will plant every available acre with the limitations off during 1951, for cotton is the farmers' money crop," he said.

In 1949 a total of 54,129 bales of cotton were ginned in Scurry County, but in 1951, if weather and pests are not a hindrance, a record bumper crop is looked for.

"If the war emergency continues and worsens, farmers will be in the money," Fowler said.

Cotton is on the critical list, and farmers of Scurry County can be counted on to plant as many acres as possible, Fowler stated.

While corn and wheat are still on the restricted acreage program, cotton, a major crop in this county, is freed from those restrictions and a huge production is predicted throughout the South.

"Every farmer that I have talked to in recent days told me that they are going to plant all the cotton that they can," said Fowler.

STABLE PRICE

Parity prices on cotton are not expected to be lowered on account of lifting of acreage limitations and with the staple selling this year at around 37 cents per pound, a golden harvest is seen for the 1951 crop.

Scurry County is said to contain around 562,920 acres, of which 226,492 is in crops of some kind. With the ban on cotton acreage lifted, thousands of additional acres in cotton may be planted.

The removal of cotton restrictions was laid to the shortage of the crop this year. Secretary of Agriculture Brannan has assured farmers that there will be a support program with no strings attached. This year the farmer had to comply with restrictions to be eligible for supports.

Now the government is pledging to support this year's crop at 90 per cent, but market prices are far above the support figure.

Under the emergency conditions, the department may support prices at levels higher than 90 per cent if necessary to encourage production.

Butter Removed From Danish Ration List

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Nov. 7. (AP) — Butter, which creased the skids under Denmark's last government, has been melted from the ration list by the new coalition regime.

The eight-day-old government of agrarians and conservatives yesterday de-rationed both butter and margarine for the first time in 10 years in this dairy industry land.

The Socalist Government of Hans Hedtoft fell Oct. 25 after a bitter debate over its policy of rationing butter to save as much as possible for foreign trade—mainly with Britain.

Goodwill Air Tour To Mexico Scheduled

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 8. (AP) — Plans from three southern states are making a goodwill jaunt to Mexco.

The first 13 of the planes took off yesterday at Jacksonville, Fla., and were to be joined by others from Florida, Georgia and Alabama. About 75 planes in all were expected to make the flight, sponsored by the Jacksonville Aero Club.

The group was to land at New Orleans today. The fliers will spend four days in Mexico City, then across to Del Rio on the Mexican border.

Another outstanding member of the class is Tommy Pherigo, elected last week as district reporter for chapters of the area.

During its brief history, the chapter has had one "American Farmer"—highest rank a boy can attain in F.F.A. work. Based on achievement, leadership ability, and success with his projects, a boy must spend at least three years in agriculture classes, and then operate a farm for one year.

The chapter has had seven "Lone Star Farmers" which is the highest rank awarded members in the state activity.

Cattle Roundup From Airplane Is Fatal To Pilot And Cowboy

ELECTRA, Nov. 8. (AP) — Two airborne cowboys skimming treetops to round up cattle on the vast Waggoner Ranch near here died yesterday when their light plane crashed on the south shore of Lake Diversion.

They were:

David Bernard Purinton, 51, co-owner of Flying Service, and Crop Dusting firms in Vernon, Tex., and Frederick, Okla., pilot of the plane.

Cecil Pope Cole, a cowboy on the Waggoner ranch for several years.

The headquarters of the Waggoner ranch said that Purinton had been employed to fly low over brushy sections of the ranch to scare cattle into the open where they could be counted and rounded up.

LOW ALTITUDE

Members of a search party that found the wreckage said the plane apparently plunged into the ground at an angle from about 50 feet altitude, and burned.

The bodies could not be removed from the tangled debris until sections of the plane had been cut away with hacksaws.

Investigating officers said they found that Purinton flew to Vernon from Frederick yesterday morning. He picked up Cole and a shipment and livestock medicine in Vernon and flew to the ranch headquarters.

A watch on Purinton's wrist stopped at 2:12 o'clock in the afternoon, indicating the time of the crash.

A search party brought the bodies across the lake in a boat from the crash site, inaccessible by land. An ambulance carried them to Electra for an inquest.

Purinton's survivors include his widow, the former Nora Smith of Frederick, whom he married about three weeks ago and, a son by another marriage, David Bliss Purinton of the Air Force.

VISITS PARENTS

Young Purinton, as reported en route back to his base in Greenland after a visit to his parents on a furlough.

Purinton had about 30 years experience as a pilot. He was an instructor at Victory Field at Vernon, during World War Two. He was a former resident of Pampa.

His body is being returned to Frederick for burial.

Cole's survivors include two daughters, Celia and Sandra Kay Cole of Thalia, Ford County; his mother, Mrs. Mollie R. Cole of Vernon; and two brothers, Bill Cole of Vernon, and Harold Cole of Clay City, Ill.

Burial for Cole will be in Vernon.

Patriotic Program Is Given At Lions Club

"Whether or not American soldiers have died in vain depends on us who are yet living," said George Killam, commander of the Snyder American Legion post, as he spoke of Armistice Day at the Lions Club luncheon yesterday.

Also speaking at the luncheon was Bushy Hedges, representing the Veterans of Foreign Wars, who told the history of the Snyder post.

F.F.A. Chapter Begins Work on Stock Show

Initial plans for the Snyder Fat Stock Show are now being made by the Future Farmers of America here, Broadway Browning, agriculture teacher, says.

The local show is more important to the youths than other shows in which they will participate this year, although they will seek good record at several stock shows.

Having already exhibited at the State Fair at Dallas, the boys will enter stock in shows at San Antonia, Fort Worth, San Angelo, Sweetwater, Lubbock, and possibly El Paso.

New Mexico Elects Republican Governor, First Since 1930

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Nov. 8. (AP) — Rep. John E. Miles (D-NM) conceded the election of his Republican opponent, Edwin L. Mechem, as governor of New Mexico today.

The congressman's statement was made this morning as Mechem held a 10,352-vote lead. It was estimated less than a third of the vote in yesterday's general election remained to be counted.

At this juncture, returns from 677 of 910 voting divisions gave Mechem 78,782, Miles 68,430.

Miles said he would have conceded early last night but "my friends throughout the state urged me not to concede."

Mechem, a 38-year-old lawyer and former FBI agent, will be New Mexico's first Republican governor since 1930. He is a nephew of Merrit C. Mechum, GOP governor in 1921-22.

The loss is Miles' first in 30-odd years of campaigning for public office. Under New Mexico's two-term constitutional limit, he retired after serving as governor in 1939-42. Miles then served two elective terms as state land commissioner and was elected to Congress in 1948 by a margin of 31,834 votes over his nearest Republican opponent. He observed his 66th birthday last July 28.

Democratic candidates held decisive leads in all other New Mexico races. Majorities of the leaders ranged up to 28,000 votes.

NOT ENOUGH

Three counties expected to go heavily Democratic were still unreported, but Miles said he did not expect majorities large enough to overcome the margin compiled by his 38-year-old opponent.

More than half of Mechem's lead at the two-thirds point came from populous Albuquerque, which normally goes Republican. However, he was holding his own in the usual by Democratic eastside, where other Democratic candidates drew large majorities.

Democrats Incumbent A. M. Fernandez and John J. Dempsey won the two seats at large in Congress. They defeated Republicans Steiner Mason and Jose Armijo. Dempsey is a former congressman and governor.

Incomplete returns from 592 of 910 voting divisions gave Mason 51,066; Armijo 46,079; Dempsey 68,068; Fernandez 66,252.

and Senate can be expected to leave the administration.

Guy G. Gabrielson, Republican national chairman, called the GOP victories a sign that the voters are "opposed to appeasement of Communism — whether at home or abroad" and are against "Socialism in free America."

NO COMMENT

William M. Boyle, Jr., Democratic national chieftain, offered no answering interpretation immediately.

Harold E. Stassen, a potential 1952 presidential candidate who spoke in reply to President Truman's lone campaign speech last Saturday night, called the results a vote of "no confidence" for Secretary of State Acheson.

Stassen said Acheson ought to resign, a suggestion that sounded like the opening gun of a new Republican attack on administration foreign policy and the State Department.

Sen. Taft, who soundly whipped organized labor's combined opposition in Ohio, called for a congressional investigation of American military commitments to defend western Europe.

Labor leaders could claim the election here and there of candidates who support their views, but repeal of the Taft-Hartley act apparently died at the ballot boxes in Ohio.

LABOR VOTE

Rep. Leonard W. Hall of New York, chairman of the Republican House Congressional Committee, said in a statement that "election results throughout the nation indicate that an amazing number of the rank and file of labor voted for the Republican candidates."

There was plenty of evidence in the defeats of Lucas, Myers and such other Democratic veterans as Sens Millard Tydings of Maryland and Elbert D. Thomas of Utah, that Republican fire on the administration's policies both at home and abroad had registered with the voters.

Wallace F. Bennett, 51-year-old Republican newcomer, upset Elbert D. Thomas, (D) Senate labor committee chairman, in the race for the Senate seat from Utah.

Bennett, 51, is a native of Salt Lake City and is a paint manufacturer and automobile dealer. He is a former president of the National Association of Manufacturers.

Except for a short period as a school teacher, he has been in business all his life. Coming from a pioneer family, he is a graduate of the University of Utah and father of five children.

Thomas was seeking his fourth straight term in the Senate on the Democratic ticket and was a strong backer of labor.

Tydings, who headed a Senate foreign relations subcommittee which investigated and dismissed as unfounded Communists-in-government charges of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis), was licked by John Marshall Butler, a Republican. McCarthy campaigned in Maryland against Tydings and Butler joined the Wisconsin senator in charging that the Tydings committee report was a "whitewash."

It took a one hour and 30 minute drillstem test at 9,528-59 feet. Recovery was 8,670 feet of salt water. There were no shows of oil or gas.

None of the upper formations offered any possibilities of production.

YOAKUM FAILURE

Cabot Carbon Co. No. 1-A Walser and others, wildcat five miles northeast of Plains in Northeast Yoakum County has been plugged and abandoned on total depth of 5,345 feet in San Andres lime.

This prospector had some good shows of oil but it failed to produce in commercial quantities after being treated with acid.

After the last acid treatment it swabbed dry and has now been ordered plugged and abandoned.

Location is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 317, block D, J. H. Gibson survey. It is one location north of Hunt Oil Co. No. 1 Graham, a dry hole completed several years ago. It had some shows of oil and gas but not enough to make commercial production.

ABANDONED

Gulf Oil Corp. has temporarily abandoned its No. 1-E-B George W. Glass, deep wildcat in Southwest Martin County, 18 miles west of Stanton and 12 miles north of Midland.

This prospector drilled to a total depth of 12,915 feet in barren Ellenburger. That formation showed only salt water.

It was plugged back 10,823 and 7-inch casing was cemented at 10,700 feet to test the Pennsylvanian.

That formation was tested through perforations at the casing for an extended period. Several injections of acid were used.

The zone developed small amounts of oil and gas, along with some water. Continued swabbing finally developed only water.

Location is 1,980 feet from north and east lines of section 13, block 39, T&P survey, T-1-N.

Gulf No. 2-E-B Glass, one half of a mile north and one eighth of a mile east of the apparently failure at the same concern's No. 1-E-B Glass has reached 5,090 feet in lime and was making more hole.

It is 662 feet from south and 670 feet from east lines of section 12, block 39, T&P survey, T-1-N. This wildcat is projected to 13,000 feet, to explore the Ellenburger.

SALT WATER

Ryan, Hays & Burke No. 1 Leon Bromberg, East - Central Lynn County wildcat, 5 miles southeast of Tahoka, and 2,024 feet from east and 669 fee tfrom north lines of section 486, block 1, EL&RR survey developed salt water, with no shows of oil or gas in a drillstem test in the lower Pennsylvanian lime.

The tool was open two and one-half hours. Recovery was 180 feet of drilling mud and 1,530 feet of salt water.

Original destination of the venture was to 9,000 feet or a test of the Pennsylvanian limes. It is now making hole below 9,012 feet, while operators are deciding the future of the exploration.

The Ohio Oil Co. No. 1-A A. R. Brownfield, five miles east and slightly south of Brownfield, and 660 feet from west and 1,980 feet from south lines of section 10, block T, D&W survey, has been plugged and abandoned on total depth of 11,029 feet in lower Pennsylvanian lime.

The venture found no signs of commercial petroleum production. Some observers think the formation at the total depth is the Bend lime.

Petitions

purification. That would automatically raise the price of water above the present rate of 25 cents per 1,000 gallons.

Snyder's well supply is just sufficient to meet peak demands, the mayor said. Maximum demand during the last summer was about 3,750,000 gallons daily, and maximum output was about 4 million gallons.

Asked if there were any alternatives to the water district plan Sears said either Snyder would join with other cities in a joint project financed by bonds or float bonds to build its own lake.

Questioned concerning the revenue now received by the city from its distribution and sale of water, the mayor stated that a very slight profit was realized.

GUESTS AT MEETING

Joe Pickle, editor of the Big Spring Herald and secretary of the water district, answered various questions from the floor. He was invited, along with Jimmie Green manager of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, to explain details of the system which Big Spring and Odessa are voting on next week.

Wayland Holt stated that at a meeting Monday night of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, that group unanimously voted in favor of petitioning the district for annexation.

"We're not looking for cheap water, but enough water to make Snyder the city it should be," Holt said.

Bob Davie expressed the opinion that any petition to the board of directors of the water district should go through the city council, in order that it would bear the stamp of their approval.

Schooling then called for a sampling of opinion among the 70 persons gathered in the district court room, and the vote was unanimous that the city should petition for annexation and a contract.

"NEED SECURITY"

C. T. McLaughlin, a director of the Chamber of Commerce, urged those present to consider Snyder's security.

"This project will be expensive," he said. "There are many details to be considered. But on the face of it, it appears to be businesslike and sensible."

"But we have to think not only of what Snyder needs today, but of Snyder's security.

"Our wells may go on producing for years. But we want to have the security of another source of water if we need it.

"Another consideration is that with some 600 oil wells in this county, there is the possibility that our underground water supply may become contaminated."

On the suggestion of Edgar Tay-lor, county judge, it was decided that when the committee of three lawyers has completed the draft of the petition. It will be circulated at all service and civic clubs next week for signatures.
