Spanish Loyalists Claim Victory In Bloody Civil War

Refugees Flee From Capital To Sea Coast

Half Dozen Bloody Engagements Said In Progress As Government Presses New Offensives Against Insurgents

Casualties Heavy

Much Of Northern Section Of Republic Still In Hands Of Rebels But Loyalists Are Gaining In Strength

By ALEXANDER H. UHL
Associated Press Foreign Staff

MADRID, July 27.—The Spanish government, pressing new offensives against insurgent strongholds, claimed tonight in a radio broadcast "the rebel government has been mastered by the republican government."

The official assertion of success in Spain's 11-day civil war came as American and British refugees fled from this capital by train to Alicante, where they were expected to board a British destroyer.

Stronghold Surrenders

Premier Jose Giral Pereira's administration declared Alcazar fortress at Toledo, south of Madrid, a rebel stronghold for several days, had surrendered to government troops, who took control of the whole city.

Revolters in the Guadarrama mountains north of Madrid were forced to retreat with heavy losses before government troops and militiamen, the government declared.

Engagements In Progress

Half a dozen bloody engagements were in progress in the south as loyalists pressed on Seville, Cordoba and other points. Government forces also were moving on Zaragoza in the northwest, the Madrid regime said.

The capital and central Spain in general were firmly in the grasp of the government, together with virtually the entire east coast from Barcelona to Malaga and a strip along the north central coast from Irun to Santander.

Much of Northern Spain was in rebel hands along with some cities in the south.

The loyal navy, the government said, was in control in the straits of Gibraltar, preventing Gen. Francisco Franco bringing rebels from Spanish Morocco, where the rebellion originated.

Ambassador Bowers To Quit Spanish Soil Today

WASHINGTON, July 27. (AP)—Ambassador Claude G. Bowers arranged tonight to quit Spanish soil as the American heavy cruiser Quincy churned up the Mediterranean coast of Spain to the rescue of Americans reported to have fled revolution threatened Madrid aboard a special train.

The American envoy cut off from communication for almost a week in this summer villa at Fuenterrabia but who today motored for a visit to the French port of Saint Jean de Luz, notified the state department he planned to transfer tomorrow to the United States coast guard cutter Cayiga so as to be able to maintain contact with American consular in Spain as well as with the department.

Fort Worth May Get Convention

AUSTIN, July 27. (AP)—Myron Blalock of Marshall, chairman of the state Democratic executive committee, said today a number of committee members favored Fort Worth as the site of the state convention in September.

The committee will meet in Austin August 8 to choose the convention city, canvass returns from the primary July 25 and prepare the ballot for the runoff primary August 22.

Several other cities also have bid for the convention.

New Deal Loans Are Being Paid

Repayments Of Five Agencies In Excess Of Loans Made Since July 1; Deficit Lower

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 27.—Reports by five New Deal lending agencies that repayments had exceeded new loans since July 1 today were shown at the treasury to have kept the deficit at a figure far below that on the same date last year.

In computing both the figures for the deficit and for "recovery and relief" for publication in the treasury's daily statement, officials revealed that the excess of repayments had been deducted from amounts spent by other branches of the government to produce net totals.

Repayments Made

The RFC, the Commodity Credit corporation, the Farm Administration, the AAA (seed and feed loans), and the export-import banks, the figures showed, have received $242,518,923 more in repayments since July 1 than they have expended in new loans.

Other emergency agencies have spent $268,949,512 but the daily statement, presenting a new figure, deducted the excess of repayments and totaled expenditures for "recovery and relief" at $26,430,598. On the same date a year ago the figure was $307,329,154.

Net Only Considered

The net expenditures figure is the only one considered in the calculation of the deficit. The $26,430,598 is added to $288,982,692 of "general expenditures" to produce a grand total of $315,413,290 spent for all purposes.

From that sum, total receipts, $232,211,268, are then subtracted, placing the deficit in today's statement at $83,202,122. For the same period a year ago when no agency reported an excess of repayments, the deficit was $422,761,031.

Girl Barber Wins Contest By A Whisker—Boy Friend Deftly Relieved Of Stubble

SEATTLE, July 27. (AP)—Amateur barberettes, responding swiftly to the signal, dashed to the sides of their intrepid partners; agitated soap and water into generous lather; scraped deftly with razors, and slapped on the finishing powder.

When the talcum clouds had cleared, Louise Nagel, 18-year-old high school girl was proclaimed winner of Seattle's first mixed doubles shaving derby, having completed her task—without leaving a scratch—in 2 minutes flat.

Competition was limited if intensive, for only six males dared assure the honors of silent partners. Also, spectators were quick to point out, the face of Miss Nagel's boy friend, Norman W. Porteous, offered no formidable handicap. Porteous, after all, is only 17.

School Bonds Voted Monday

Rural High School District 1 Favors Issuance Of $40,000 Which Would Be Added To U. S. Grant Of $28,637

By a margin of 48 ballots, qualified electorate of rural high school district 1, comprised of Woodrow, New Hope, Union, Slide, and Barton, Monday decided to issue $40,000 in bonds for construction of a high school near Woodrow.

A PWA application for a grant of $28,637 had been approved at Washington. That amount, if received, would be applied to monies to be received from bonds favored Monday, said Joseph R. Griggs, county superintendent.

159 For; 111 Against

The vote:

For the bonds, 159; against the bonds 111.

Plans were made by a newly elected board of trustees to repair all buildings of the composite-district and to redecorate them. High school students will be accommodated in the high school building at Woodrow until the new structure is completed.

The district was formed in a grouping election July 6.

New Building Accepted; Another To Be Finished

Formal acceptance of a new high school, the cost of which approximated $68,000, was voted Monday by trustees of New Deal rural high school district.

This week will see completion of another high school building in Lubbock county, in the Roosevelt district, said Joseph R. Griggs, county superintendent.

Up-To-Minute Construction

Both structures are ultra-modern, that of New Deal district, for instance, having eight classrooms, a study hall, a combination gymnasium and auditorium, steam radiators heated by gas, electric wiring throughout, laboratories equipped with hot and cold water facilities, dressing rooms, etc. S. B. Haynes was architect, W. S. Moss contractor.

ACE BAILS OUT

WARNEMUENDE, Germany, July 27. (AP)—Col. Ernst Udet, famed German war ace, escaped death today when his plane collapsed in midair before the eyes of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

The flyer bailed out promptly, pulled the rip cord of his 'chute and drifted down, just as Col. Lindbergh has done on several occasions in his old mail plane days.

Sooner Vote Set For Today

Governor E. W. Marland And Rep. Josh Lee To Battle It Out For Nomination As Demo Senate Choice

(By The Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 27.—Two New Deal candidates for the Democratic senatorial nomination made last minute bids tonight for the Townsend vote in tomorrow's Oklahoma run-off primary and renewed conflicting charges of political activity by WPA workers.

Representative Josh Lee, political fledgling from the University of Oklahoma faculty, who led in the first primary July 7, fought to keep the ballots of Townsendites from going to his opponent, Governor E. W. Marland.

Smith Throws Support

Support was thrown to Marland by Gomer Smith, national Townsend vice president, who was edged out of the runoff by a few thousand votes in the first primary which saw the defeat of the veteran Senator Thomas P. Gore.

Smith, who opposed a move to have the national Townsend convention at Cleveland officially endorse a third party movement, termed Lee "the choice of the special interests."

But Lee was not without support in the ranks of the Townsend club members.

Denouncing the action of state Townsend leaders in supporting Marland, 400 townsendites at Tulsa passed a resolution declaring for Lee.

Rural High School District Approved

Rural high school district 6, comprised of Becton, Idalou and Liberty, was recognized officially Monday, after Lubbock county school trustees met with County Clerk Ed D. Allen in the office of County Superintendent Joseph R. Griggs and canvassed results of Saturday's balloting.

Results:

For the grouping plan, 268 votes; against the plan 227.

The county board appointed as trustees for the new district: A. L. Cone and J. R. Shipp, both of Liberty; E. W. Reddell, E. A. Wood, and P. L. Hamilton, all of Idalou, and E. D. Snodgrass an G. K. Bullock, both of Bledsoe.

The newly elected board met with Superintendent Griggs Monday night and was administered oaths. It perfected organization, electing for chairman Wood, vice chairman Bullock and secretary Shipp.

Americans Are Living Longer, Census Bureau Reports; Women Have Edge

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 27. —Americans are living longer, the census bureau reported today, and women have a greater "life expectation" than men.

At present, the bureau said, average length of life for white men is 59 years and for white women 63. At the turn of the century, the figures were 48 and 51.

"This change reflects the great progress that has been made in lowering the death rate and thus adding to the years of life through imporved sanitation, higher standards of living, labor saving inventions in the home and the advances made in education and in the science and practice of medicine and surgery," the bureau commented.

It added that improvement has been "especially marked" in lowering the infantile death rate. At the beginning of the century, 12,738 of every 100,000 males born alive died before one year of life, while at present the deaths are only 6,232.

Average "life expectation" for negro men was given at 47.5 years; for negro women, 49.5 years.

Hunter Says "I Bow To Majority Of Texas Democrats"; Cites Precedent

DALLAS, July 27. (AP)—Tom Hunter, defeated candidate for governor, issued the following statement here tonight:

"I bow to the majority of Texas Democrats. I am interested in the welfare of those who voted against me and I am indeed grateful to those who supported my program.

"I will support the national Democratic ticket as I have always done. I had no idea when I announced that the leaders of that ticket would throw the weight of that machine against the efforts of my friends. The force of the Democratic national machine thrown against Democrats is a new precedent.

"In or out of politics, I shall always fight for clean and honest government. Honored or not I shall always stand ready to aid the plain people of Texas."

Both Bond and Rhea carried their home counties; Settle carried the remainder.

Gaines and Terry county returns were reported incomplete. The remainder are unofficial. No indication of possible mail ballots changing the totals was given.

Returns are as follows:

Mahon Is 3 To 1 Winner Over Lubbock Candidate

With three of the 25 counties of the 19th congressional district unreported, results Monday night of the national representative's race showed:

Mahon	32,204
Speck	11,324

The vote attests to growing popularity of the young Colorado barrister, and virtually was complete for counties reporting. Speck, retired minister, was a candidate of the Townsend plan.

Popularity Grows

In leading his opponent nearly three to one, Mahon received more votes than two years ago when ballots cast for him totaled 18,725 with opponents receiving 32,168 in the first primary.

Eight Officers Are Elected In First Primary Vote

Returns from Lubbock county's first Democratic primary, unofficial tabulations of which indicated there would be eight run-off races August 22, will be canvassed officially Saturday by the county Democratic committee.

County Chairman L. C. Ellis has called the executive committee of the party to meet in the courthouse at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The county convention will convene an hour later to name delegates to the state convention.

ERROR REVEALED

An error in listing ballots polled for D. E. Meredith at Precinct 28, or K. Carter school, voting box Saturday night resulted in Meredith being accredited with 200 votes less than his total should have read.

Checked Monday afternoon by the Morning Avalanche, L. C. Ellis, county Democratic chairman, and by friends of Meredith, it was found one digit had not been entered on the results sheet brought to the Sunday Avalanche-Journal, Meredith's vote being listed as 26, rather than 226.

As a result, Meredith, rather than E. B. Merrell of Shallowater, enters the run-off primary race with B. O. McWhorter, by a 27-vote margin. Both candidates are Lubbock men.

Standing of the three, based on revised figures, is:

McWhorter	748
Meredith	453
Merrell	426

Vote Is Record

After the county's 8,800 votes had been tabulated, the following results were apparent:

County Judge E. L. Pitts was elected 99th district judge.

District Clerk Floyd Jackson was renamed by a large majority.

Sheriff Tom Abel and Charles S. (Old Charley) Middleton will be in a run-off race.

J. J. (Old J. J.) Dillard and Vaughn E. Wilson, former county attorney, will meet in the second primary for the county judgeship.

Allen Gets Majority

County Clerk Ed D. Allen achieved a handsome majority over his five opponents.

Tax Assessor-Collector Hurley Carpenter was re-elected by a large majority.

Robert J. Allen was elected county attorney by a margin of 255 votes.

A. B. Ellis easily was elected county treasurer.

A. L. Harris, veteran office-holder, again was chosen county surveyor.

Judge C. D. Russell Has Safe Margin In 64th District Court

PLAINVIEW, July 27, (Special)—Judge C. D. Russell, recently appointed by Gov. James V. Allred to complete an unexpired term of the late Judge R. C. Joiner of 64th judicial district of Texas, was leading Dennis Zimmerman, Tulia attorney, by a safe margin this afternoon, upon basis of unofficial returns.

With approximately 80 votes not reported in Lamb county, where Judge Russell led, three to two, figures tabulated by the Plainview Herald gave Judge Russell 5,709 votes, Zimmerman 3,343.

TARWATER 3 TO 1

PLAINVIEW, July 27. (AP)—Unofficial counts today gave Rep. A. B. Tarwater a 3 to 1 victory over Syl Birkenfeld of Castro county in their race for state representative from the 120th district.

Blanton Trailing In His Race; Run-Off Votes Scheduled

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, July 27.—Interest of Texas voters switched tonight from the governor's race which Gov. Jimmy Allred won with ease, to result in congressional races, in which at least five run-off contests were probable.

Chief interest was focused on what was one of the outstanding surprises of the Democratic primary of Saturday—the fight between Thomas L. Blanton veteran congressman from Abilene, and Judge Clyde Garrett of Eastland county for the seat from district 17.

MAJORITY IS 34,332

DALLAS, July 27. (AP)—The majority won by Gov. Jimmy Allred in the Texas Democratic primary stood at 34,332 votes at 6 p. m. tonight when the Texas Election bureau issued figures on the races for governor and railroad commissioner.

Returns from 250 of 254 counties, including 140 complete, and accounting for 918,868 votes, showed the following totals:

Governor—Allred, 476,600; Brooks, 30,350; Fischer, 127,176; Hunter, 210,830; Sanderford, 73,903.

Railroad commissioner—Hardin, 142,403; Johnson, 99,417; Morris, 145,793; Rieger, 29,243; Thompson, 394,954.

Lacked 301 Votes Of Majority

Blanton was running behind Garrett, 18,196 votes to 22,613. A run-off, however, was necessary. Garrett lacked 301 votes of having a majority.

Blanton said the controlling issue in the race was "resentment about postmaster appointments" and "paid agitators."

Garrett said he was "tickled to death" and expressed confidence he would win the run-off election.

Maverick Faces Runoff

Militant Maury Maverick of San Antonio faced a run-off with Lamar Seeligson, popular attorney, in the twentieth district. Maverick was ahead with 18,969 votes to Seeligson's 12,773.

Ed Gossett of Vernon who came with a rush in late returns to the Texas Election bureau, was placed in the run-off against Rep. W. D. McFarlane. The choice lay between Oscar Holcombe, Houston mayor, and Albert Thomas in the eighth district. Thomas was but 380 votes behind Holcombe when the bureau closed for the night.

Five Senators Are Nominated

Two Are Defeated And Two To Go In Run-Off For Places In Texas Senate; Martin And Hornsby Defeated

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, July 27. — Reports received by Bob Barker, secretary of the senate, indicated that five of nine senate veterans seeking re-election were nominated in the first primary, two defeated, and the other two forced into run-offs.

Senators Gordon Burns of Huntsville, G. H. Nelson of Tahoka and Will D. Pace of Tyler were nominated without opposition. Barker was informed that Sen. Wilbourne Collie of Eastland received a clear majority over two opponents and that Sen. Clint Small of Amarillo defeated Curtis Douglass of Panhandle.

Two Are Beaten

Will M. Martin of Hillsboro and John W. Hornsby of Austin, seeking their third terms, were beaten. Houghton Brownlee, Austin lawyer, rancher and race horse breeder, was nominated to succeed Hornsby. Barker was advised that the run-off in the twelfth district would be between Pete Harris of Hillsboro, Hill county tax assessor, and Rep. Vernon Lemens of Rainbow.

Rep. W. W. Glass of Jacksonville ran strong against Sen. John W. Redditt of Lufkin, and there apparently will be a run-off between the two men. Sen. Albert Stone of Brenham was reported to have a good lead over J. Alton York of Giddings, with a run-off in prospect.

Former Representative E. Harold Beck of Texarkana and District Attorney R. A. Weinert of Seguin, elected to fill vacancies in the senate were nominated for full terms without opposition. Representative Morris Roberts likewise was unopposed in his race to succeed Sen. E. J. Black-

Conference Is Held Monday By Officials

Federal Program To Prevent Wastes Discussed; Workable Plan Is To Be Proposed By AAA And Stock Men

Conditions Serious

Remedies To Be Studied And Suggestions Made For AAA Conservation Control By Southwest Leaders

(By The Associated Press)

MIDLAND, July 27. — A government program to prevent wastes threatening the south's livestock industry was referred to livestock and sheep organizations of Texas and the Southwest at a conference of farm and livestock officials of Texas here today.

Conditions necessitating the program were admitted and willingness expressed to co-operate in any workable plan by representatives of the Agricultural Adjustment administration and officers and members of livestock organizations.

To Decide On Program

It was decided to pass to the executives of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers association the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers association and the Panhandle Livestock association the matter of deciding upon a government program to conserve the soil and prevent threatening wastes.

Also at the meeting were representatives of the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical college extension department, staffs and others interested in the movement. Vergil Parr, head of the Pitchfork ranching interests at Spur, presided.

Serious Conditions Exist

C. A. Cobb, director of the southern region of the AAA, and government representatives were not here to present any specific program but to discuss surveys made by the government which showed serious conditions exist in the range territory.

Cobb said the plan of the administration was to work out a program with ranchers or producers themselves stating that Texas ranges have a carrying capacity of 1,890,000 animal units whereas there are now grazing on these lands 4,741,000 animal units.

Cattlemen, while admitting the necessity of a program to reduce overstocking of grazing lands and eliminate surpluses, expressed the view that more time should be given to study of remedies before deciding to as the government for a program.

Roger Gillis, Del Rio, president of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers; Jay Taylor, Amarillo, president of the Panhandle Livestock association; E. B. Spiller, executive secretary of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers association, and several cattle and sheep producers, were other speakers.

Life Sentence Is Given Alvin Karpis

ST. PAUL, July 27. (AP)—Alvin Karpis, erstwhile No. 1 "public enemy," was given a life sentence today on his plea of guilty to conspiracy in the $100,000 William Hamm, jr., kidnaping, and through his attorney indicated he would be willing to enter a similar plea in the $200,000 abduction of Edward G. Bremer.

With the 27-year-old leader of the now defunct Barker-Karpis gang was sentenced Charles J. (Bill Fitz) Fitzgerald, 59, of Los Angeles. He pleaded guilty also in the Hamm crime.

Before Karpis acknowledges guilt in the Bremer case, however, he wants assurances from the government that the two remaining kidnaping counts against him will be nolled, his counsel, Thomas Newman said. The two counts involve the actual abductions in both the Hamm and Bremer cases.

BOND ISSUE DEFEATED

WACO, July 27. (AP)—McLennan county today overwhelmingly defeated a $200,000 bond issue for a new jail.

NEW YORK CITY, July 25 (via airmail)—We are in the City of the Seven Million. Last night we arrived in the city and now it is early in the morning and we have just returned from a nocturnal sight-seeing trip up Fifth Avenue, which began after a ride on the subway caught at Fiftieth Street and a walk through Washington Square park.

How can one describe his first impression of New York? We saw it at one of the best times of the day — just before sundown. We thrilled at the view from the bridge approaching Holland tunnel and were horror-struck at the rows of shanty houses built out in the marshy meadows. A few minutes later we were skimming along the speedway and craning to see the skyline of this great queen city.

WE WASTED NO TIME

THANKS to our energetic director, Miss Ruth Pirtle, who also serves as temporary barker, we saw quite a lot Friday night. We strolled down to Greenwich Village and had dinner at the Pepper Pot basement, one of the most unique eating places in the village. A pianist favored us with requested numbers, willingly complying with "Is It True What They Say About Dixie?" and "Pardon My Southern Accent." We were invited to the second floor for dancing but declined because of lack of time.

The subway ride was thrilling enough, but the majority of the office and store rush had subsided. Ah, that ride up Fifth Avenue known to us, with the exception of two, only through pictures or excellent writings of McIntyre and other New Yorker columnists.

A THRILLING SIGHT

FIFTH Avenue . . . Glittering store windows filled with costly goods. But with a cheap store here and there . . . and chain restaurants . . . The beautiful lighted tower of the Empire State building . . . The blaze of lights at the modernistic Radio City, Mr. Rockefeller's $250,000,000 office building extravaganza, from the top of which we hope to enjoy one of the loftiest views in Manhattan . . . Shops that look as if their fronts were scrubbed daily. B. Altman, Saks, Tiffany, Lord and Taylor. . . . The hansom carriages with their old gentlemen drivers who will take you for a ride for two dollars per hour . . . A blind woman sitting outside of Central Park with a dog waiting patiently at her feet. . . . The lions outside the library . . . Metropolitan Museum and Museum of the City of New York . . . . St. Patrick's Cathedral . . . Expensive automobiles and people, people, people, rushing, rushing, rushing..

The drive was completed at Grant's Tomb, that famous rendezvous for lovers. We stood and looked at Doctor Fosdick's magnificent Riverside Church with its gray spire pointing a slender finger to Heaven. We sat on benches and watched the river traffic and then walked past the handsome buildings of Columbia university and returned to our hotel.

SATURDAY SCHEDULE

TODAY'S schedule includes a de luxe sight seeing tour up and down the city, dinner at the Russian Bear restaurant on East Side and a night trip to the Bowery, China town and Harlem, at the latter place to visit the Savoy ballroom to really see the place in action.

Although we are acting upon Miss Pirtle's suggestion and behaving, everywhere we go we are hailed as "Hello Texas" and tonight four young women from Georgia joined our rubber neck ride and enjoyed the clever descriptions given by Miss Pirtle, who knows New York better than many of its natives.

Mrs. Stephen A. Claye and daughters, Irma and Sibyl, and Miss Maxine Blalock have gone to Carlbad and Ruidoso, N. M., El Paso, and other places for a week's vacation.

Amarillo Bricklayer Says "I Wanted A Home"; Shoots Wife To Death Sunday

(By The Associated Press)

AMARILLO, July 27. — Louis J. Kirk, 30-year-old brick layer charged with slaying his wife, Florence, Sunday morning, today refused to sign a statement about the killing but told a newspaper reporter, "I wanted a home."

"Saturday night I thought everything was patched up," he said.

Kirk's two sons, 10 and 11 years old, were sitting in the back of the sedan when the mother was slain as she sat in the front seat with Kirk.

The younger of the boys said: "Father asked her if she was ready to go hunt for that apartment.

"No, Louis, I'm not going to look at it," the boy quoted her.

The child said his father then put the gun to his mother's head and fired. He allegedly pushed her body from the car and ran the machine over her legs as he drove away. The two boys jumped out and tried to lift the body of their dying mother.

Kirk came here from Vincinnes, Ind., six years ago. He worked as an insurance salesman for 18 months before he returned to bricklaying. His wife lived near Vincinnes.

Wilson And Enochs Clash Today; Tip-Top Beats Ropes

Baseball Tournament Warms Up Today When Stout Clubs Battle In First Round Tilt

Lubbock Veterans, With Evo Marshall Setting Pace At Bat, Shivver Ropesville's Timbers In Upset Game At New Park; Wars Start Today At Three O'Clock

THE SCHEDULE

Manager Doc Cook's Wilson baseball club, persistent tournament money winners and undoubtedly one of the stronger clubs of the South Plains area this season, clash with Durwood Howell's Enochs hard-hitting, fast fielding crew this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the fourth game of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal Invitation tournament.

Admission will be 35 cents for adults, 15 cents for youngsters, for today's single game which rounds out the first round.

In the first game of Wednesday's double header, the powerful Amherst club, which defeated Lubbock twice earlier in the season, while mopping up on nearly every other club of the Plains, but which lost to the slugging Lubbock Hubmen and to the three-hit pitching of Lefty Jerry Blanchard Sunday in the opening game, will meet Manager Homer Lance's Sudan team, which lost to Anton in Sunday's second game.

Lubbock's Hub team, managed by the master mind of many successful Hubber clubs, Sled Allen, takes on Anton's Blues, a rowdy, tough bunch of players, in the main event Wednesday, starting about 4 o'clock. Admission to double headers will be 40 cents.

In the first game Thursday, Ropesville plays the loser of today's game, while the Lubbock Tip-Top team meets the winner of today's Wilson-Enochs scrap.

THE "DARK HORSES"

The "blue Monday" baseball customers who stayed away in droves from the new ball park yesterday missed the first major surprise and upset of the sixth annual Avalanche-Journal Invitation baseball tournament, and one of the most spirited, though one-sided games.

The tournament orphans, drafted at the last minute when an early tournament entry withdrew, are known as the Tip-Top Cafe nine, because they are being sponsored by Jimmy Williams and the Tip-Top cafe. The club is made up of former Hubbers and young college men, who have never played together at all and who haven't done any playing, individually, to speak of this season, but it went to town under the management of Berl Huffman, Tech coach, to smear the trying Ropesville entry, 13 to 5, in a first round game yesterday.

Marshall Slaps One

Led by Raymond "Evo" Marshall, the slugging outfielder who dominated the batting order of Lubbock Hubber teams for several seasons and who "went up" for a season or two in organized baseball, the Tip-Toppers caromed base blows off the walls, dashed after high flies, supported good pitching, and had things pretty much their own way in a happy game that even the disappointed and astonished Ropesville boys couldn't keep from appreciating.

Marshall, who hasn't tinkered with a bat and glove since he left the Central League nearly three years ago, got back into his ragged uniform and showed old-time batting and fielding power yesterday before a small but highly demonstrative crowd of spectators.

To Mashall goes the honor of being the first to blast a baseball out of the new park, which is considerably larger than many major league fields. After trotting safely to first base on a couple of healthy wallops to left for singles, his first two trips to bat, Marshall took an old-fashioned cut at the agate and saw it sail over the left field wall, 325 feet away, for the first blow of its kind in the tournament and in the new park. The pellet cleared the fence by a good 20 feet, and may be going yet for all anybody knows.

Huffman Gets Around

Five of Marshall's old comrades were in the game, and another one or two on the sidelines. Doing a capable job of coaching at third, saving more than a few blunders, was the keen baseball minded Dirty Waller, in uniform and ready to play but saved for a rainy day. Playing at third base and taking his cuts was Harold Crites, who drove in one run and scored one. Starting in right field was Berl Huffman, who did some catching for the Hubbers early this decade, and Huffman, playing his first game in three seasons, was all there. He batted twice, and rapped out as many hits, the first a single scoring Crites, the second a three-bagger that would have been a home run if Huffman hadn't stopped at third for rest and relaxation. Three bases was all he could make, but he came on home, walking, when the throw from outfield got passed the receiver and into the crowd.

Huffman proved a worthy manager, kept his squad hustling, maintained a steady verbal barrage.

Another surprise of the game was Cecil "Bull" Thompson, one of the best pitching prospects ever turned out by Lubbock High. Lack of a mentor caused him to go stale with consistent pitching, but he was out there yesterday, pitching to his old battery mate, Hollis Payne, and he set the Ropesville batters on their ears for the six innings he worked.

"The Bull" Holds 'Em

Fogging in a fast ball and curving 'em like a star, Thompson held Ropesville hitless for four innings. The opposition scored once in the fourth on an error, a steal and a high fly to center field, but it was not until the fifth that Thompson gave up his first safe hit. Catcher Hammonds of Ropesville got it, a sizzler to left. Stephenson, pitcher, followed Hammonds with another single. Cates, second baseman, laid down a bunt which Thompson handled well, catching Stephenson at third as Hammonds scored.

Thompson not only pitched a great game for six innings—A. Marcy got a hit off him in the sixth, making three in all—but fielded his position errorlessly, making four nifty assists, catching a line drive for a double play and another for a single putout, and covering first base for a third putout.

Thompson came out after the sixth and Demp Webster, a left hander who did some toiling for Lubbock in other days, came to the hill. He got 'em out very okay, whiffing four, while giving up three hits, all of them in the ninth as Ropesville tried a rally, scoring two runs. Ropesville scored once in the eighth, but no hits figured in it. Strickland doubled, scored on Stearns' single, and Stephenson drove in Stearns with a single. But two were out, and Marshall made a fine running catch deep to left field, sacking Cates' blast to retire the side and end the game.

The Hustling Tip-Toppers, playing as if they enjoyed it, committed surprisingly few errors for an unpracticed team. And there was power at the bat, what with heavyweights like Marshall, Red Ramsey, who, after all, didn't sign with Amherst; Harold Crites, Tox Wiginton, big Tech football center, and Manager Huffman putting their poundage behind every cut.

For Ropesville, Stephenson was the only player to gather more than two hits, but the third basing of Stearns and the center fielding of Manager Wilburn Chambers was outstanding. Chambers made four nice catches in deep center, running after most of them. Stearns did errorless work at third, and contributed a run and a single, driving in another run.

Enochs And Wilson

Pete Harcey started on the hill for Ropesville, came out in the first, giving over to Stephenson, who was treated badly in the third by Marshall and Huffman. Young and very tall A. Marcey went in then, needed time to get started, but after a troublesome fourth inning blanked the Tip-Toppers for the balance of the game.

Today's contest should be a thriller, both Wilson and Enochs having registered fine records for the season. Wilson has played fourteen games, lost three, while Enochs has won an even dozen while losing four.

Ace pitcher for Wilson is Lefty Beans Pair, who has been responsible for most of Wilson's victories. Enochs' star chunker is Don Beck, who has won eight and lost one. Red Berry and Walker are other Enochs chunkers. At least five of Enochs' players have had professional experience.

Queen Helen Of Tennis To Quit Major Tourneys

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27. (AP)—Helen Wills Moody, once the "queen of tennis" and toast of two continents, stepped out of the ranks of major tournament competitors today.

Mrs. Moody

A brief statement by the San Francisco matron, now 31 years old, announced abandonment of tentative plans to play in the National championships next month.

She emphasized she was "not giving up tennis" but her withdrawal from "big league" competition such as the American and English championships was indicated in the statement "in the future I shall play only in tournament that fit in well with my work as a designer, which I am undertaking in an earnest way."

The decision of the seven times American title holder and winner of many all-English crowns to pass up the 1936 national tournament at Forest Hills, N. Y., shattered the hopes of enthusiasts of another meeting between her and her greatest rival, Helen Hull Jacobs.

They Make Feud Of It

Although Mrs. Moody developed into a great star long before Miss Jacobs became even more than locally known, their court careers ran parallel in later years. So intense became their rivalry it developed virtually into a feud.

The incident of 1933 climaxed the feeling. Behind in the finals of the National championship, Mrs. Moody walked off the courts in a default which rocked the tennis world.

A chipped vertebra near the base of the spine caused her to default. Despite this her action brought severe condemnation from some sources. Eighteen months later she wrote the anti-climax of her career in a smashing vindication that saw her defeat Miss Jacobs in the 1935 English championship finals.

Bobby Jones Is Idolized Again At Scot Course

ST. ANDREWS, SCOTLAND, July 27. (AP)—Back at Old St. Andrews, one of is big happy hunting grounds of golf, Bobby Jones shot and marched like the emperor of old again today, scoring a 32-40—72 before a thrill packed gallery of 3,000 galleryites.

Bobby Jones

Before the famous Atlantan began his friendly threesome with Willie Auchterlonie, royal and ancient professional, and Gordon Lockhart, Gleneagles professional, he was besieged by so many autograph seekers the match was held up for 15 minutes.

As he strode back to the clubhouse, the awed gallery of 3,000 milled around him and demanded autographs. Bobby wrote his name until his finger tired and then he retreated to the cluhouse.

"Golf for me is just fun nowadays," said Bobby as he scribbled his name on score cards. "I'll never enter competitive golf again. St. Andrews still is my favorite golf course."

He gives Them Show

As the news spread that Bobby was back for another round at St. Andrews, scene of his victory in the 1927 British Open and the 1930 British amateur, stectators who once idolized him and marveled at his shot artistry hurried from beaches golf shops, inns, pubs and clubs to get a glimpse at him. And Bobby gave them a good show.

Playing with his old touch, he scored a par-breaking 32 out, bagging birdies with deadly iron shots and precise putts on the second, fifth, sixth and eighth holes.

Four 5's over the long homeward stretch stopped his assault on par, but he finished like the "grand slam Bobby" of old, playing the deadly road hole—the 17th—with flawless majesty. He sailed his drive over the station master's garden, arched his iron to the edge of the green, putted over the treacherous surface and got a pretty four. On the final hole, he dropped an eight-footer for a birdie three.

Grass Greens Ready Sunday

Country Club To Open Grass Carpets Next Sunday — If Members Respond Thursday For "Work Day" Call

If Lubbock Country club can get the proper response from its membership roll, it'll open up the new grass greens next Sunday.

And that's an occasion Lubbock golfers have been looking forward to for years and years.

President Cliff Dean and Manager Cotton McAfee have made this proposition to members of the club: Join the "work-day" squad Wednesday and play on grass greens Sunday.

If the greens are opened Sunday, considerable work must be done in the meantime. There is a lot of mowing, hoeing and raking to be done on and around the greens. Time and finances does not permit the hiring of help. So members are urged to show up Wednesday, as early as possible, with all the garden and lawn equipment they can haul out. Then they are asked to whack away at weeds and grass. If members can not come, they are asked to send somebody in their places.

This done, the greens will be opened Sunday and members and guests will be invited to participate in a 36-hole medal tournament.

Guy McAfee and Mrs. W. F. Helwig took honors Sunday in the club's mixed Scotch foursome, their net score being a par 72 after subtraction of a 14-stroke handicap. Next were Glenn Smith and Mrs. Guy McAfee, with a 78. Cotton McAfee and Mrs. M. M. Brown scored an 84. W. F. Helwig and Mrs. Hurley Carpenter an 85. Eighty-eights were turned in by C. L. Dean and Miss Mary Jarrott, M. M. Brown and Mrs. Dean.

Tip-Top Softball Team Off To Head Start In 2nd Half

The Tip-Top Cafe softball team started out after the second half title of the Lubbock Softball association yesterday, winning the opening game of the last half, 11 to 3, from Southern Auto Stores.

Charley Duval pitched one-hit ball for Tip-Top, but his control was a trifle off and he walked a number of men. Lefty Sollis hit a home run in the first inning when Tip-Top scored five runs to take a big lead.

Bert Williams caught for Tip-Top, Turpin pitched and Forbess caught for Southern Auto.

In today's game, Lubbock Poultry & Egg company meets City Bus, at the softball field north of town. Time is 6:30 o'clock.

Jay Berwanger Leads Ticket In Vote For Grid All-Stars; Lineup Decided

SMU's Spain Named On Team To Face Detroit Lions

By WILLIAM WEEKES
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO, July 27. — Jay Berwanger, Riley Smith, Paul Tangora and Dick Smith, whose exploits brought them All-America honors, and seven other stalwarts who contributed to 1935's college gridiron history, will oppose the professional champion Detroit Lions in the third annual All-Star battle under floodlights at Soldier Field Sept. 1.

The four great stars, Berwanger of Chicago, Tangora of Northwestern, and the Smiths, Alabama's Riley and Minnesota's Dick, along with Wayne Millner of Notre Dame, Keith Topping of Stanford, Truman Spain of Southern Methodist, Vern Oech, another Minnesota great, Ohio State's Gomer Jones, Bill Shakespeare of Notre Dame, and still another Minnesota star, Sheldon Beise, were named by the country's fans, 3,419,164 of them, to start against the Lions.

53 Others Invited

To back up the first 11, the Chicago Tribune, sponsor of the event, has invited 53 others who finished high in the voting, to become members of the squad. Each member of the prospective starting front, has accepted.

Berwanger, piled up the staggering total of 784,573 votes to gain top honors in the poll. His running mate, Shakespeare, had 762,984. Quarterback Riley Smith led Glen Seidel of Minnesota, 764,692 to 751,544. Beise, the Gophers' great fullback, won the starting assignment over Dic Crayne of Iowa, 628,154 to 617,793.

The ends, Millner and Topping, polled 753,824 and 672,593 votes, respectively. Dick Smith, Minnesota's All-America tackle, moved in with 742,483, while Spain collected 631,956. Oech, Minnesota guard, led Paul Tangora of All-America fame, 756,652 to 734,387.

Lester On Squad

At center, Jones, polled 632,855 votes, with Dale Rennebohm of Minnesota, close behind with 629,472. Al Lind of Northwestern, also finished ahead of the 1935 All-America pivotman, Darrell Lester of Texas Christian, 503,268 to 398,954. Lester, however, as well as Lind, was invited to join the squad.

Bill Shuler, Army's All-America end, finished well down the list in the voting but two other members of the 1935 honor team, Bobby Wilson of Southern Methodist, and Bobby Grayson of Stanford, were given a lot of support and were invited to join the squad, as were Jim Lawrence and Taldon Manton of Texas Christian.

Braddock To Defend Heavy Belt In September Against Moxie Schmeling; Garden 20th Century Club Agree

By EDDIE BRIETZ
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, July 27.—The on again, off again world's heavyweight championship fight between James J. Braddock and Max Schmeling was definitely on tonight.

It will be held in September in Madison Square Garden's big Long Island bowl, with the Garden and the 20th Century Sporting club as joint promoters.

After weeks of wrangling, the two big New York clubs got together today. Everything was satisfactorily settled except the date. It will be between September 24 and September 30.

To Split Profits

The Garden and 20th Century will divide the profits fifty-fifty after all expenses have been paid. Mrs. W. R. Hearst's milk fund, which has been closely associated with the past shows of the 20th Century, will not be a participant.

Although officially listed as a joint promotion, the fight actually will be a Garden show. Besides attending to the Stadium set-up, the Garden will sell the tickets, handle the publicity and be in entire charge of all promotion.

Neither club will have an option on the champion after the September fight. The victor will emerge from the bout free to do business when and where he likes.

Don Budge Withdraws From Seabright Tennis Tourney

SEABRIGHT, N. J., July 27. (AP)—Marked by the withdrawal of Donald Budge, Oakland, Calif., Davis Cup star, and the defeat of one seeded entry, the 49th annual Seabright tennis tournament got underway today with 15 of America's leading players entering the second round.

Sidney Wood, New York, playing in his first major singles tourney since last year, wasted no time in blasting Walter Senior, San Francisco, from the court 6-3, 6-4.

Planning a home is a popular pastime. People of every age and occupation are apt to indulge in it, and the results of planning are seldom the same. Preferences in architectural style differ, requirements for living and entertaining differ, expenditures differ. Nevertheless, certain principles underlying good construction should always be observed, regardless of cost limits or personal preference as to style and decoration. These principles extend through the entire process of planning and building, and are briefly outlined here. It's safe to plan your home yourself . . . as long as you call in a competent architect before actual construction begins! But don't rely on your own judgment to see you through the actual building!

Be perfectly frank with your architect and your builder. Let them know exactly what that TOTAL amount you can spend amounts to. And be willing to accept some compromise, for it is almost a safe bet that all of the features you want will not be available within the price limit you set for yourself. After construction has started, do not attempt to give instructions to the workmen on the job. Discuss any changes you may wish to make with the architect or builder, and let them handle the details. You'll find that the most effective means of getting the result you want.

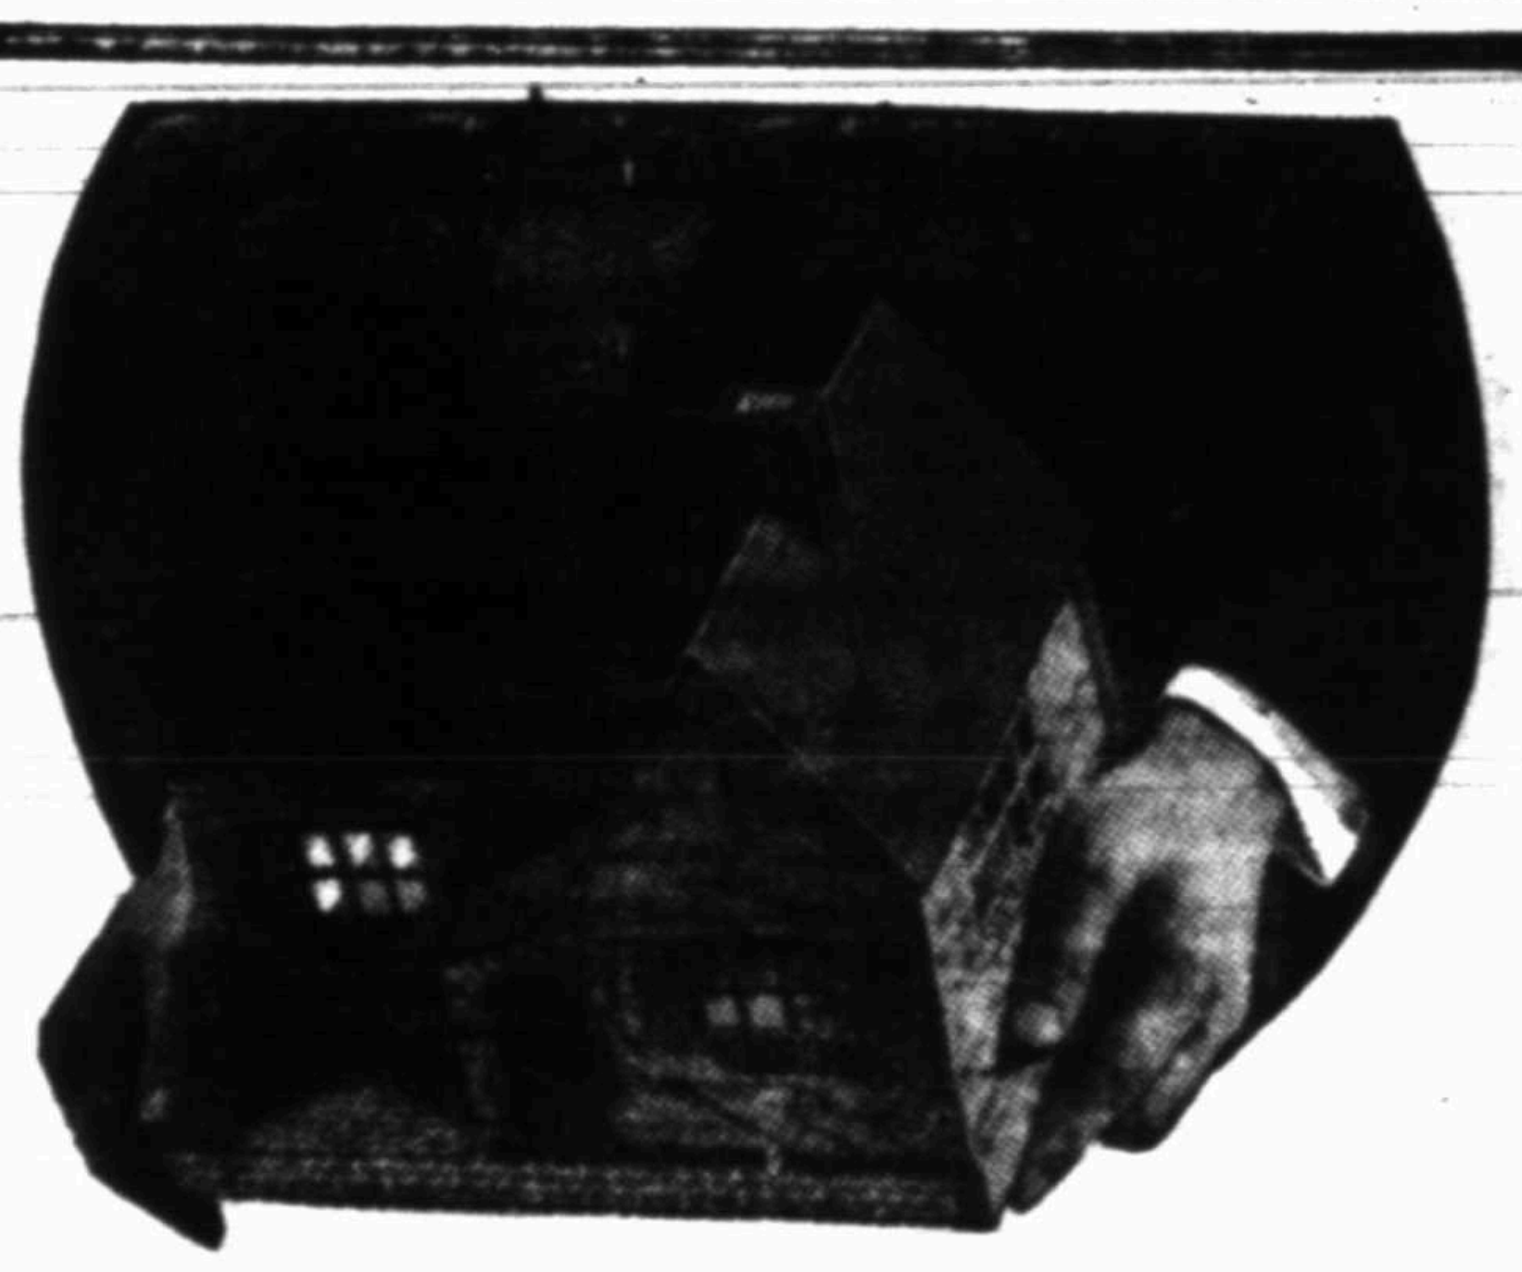
In almost any construction, today, wood plays an important part. Frame construction, finished with clapboards, shingles or stucco, or veneered with brick or stone, is popular. Points that should be watched in frame construction include "bridging" between floor joists and wall studs, the use of a simple truss over wide openings to prevent sagging, and the use of building paper between the sheathing and outside wall. Insulating materiall should be applied at this stage, and the passages between studs should be closed with some incombustible material. The selection of good quality wood is, of course, of utmost importance in all construction of this type.

In painting, certain principles should be observed. where knots occur in the wood, they should be shellacked before they are painted, for the resin will continue to come thru and stain the paint if this precaution is not taken. In preparation for painting, nails used in outside construction should be countersunk, and the holes puttied. And in every case, a priming coat should be used on all new wood. Beams and floor joists that may come in contact with moisture should be treated before being used.

Do not attempt to "cheat" on the hidden features of your home. It's better, ultimately, to do without an extra room or a finer wall finish than to depend on poor plumbing or wiring. The choice of pipe material should be determined by the experience of local builders and plumbers. Different types of water and soil have different effects on metal, and a choice should not be made until the facts about local conditions have been determined.

When plumbing fixtures are being installed the elimination around them is desirable; consequently, those units in one piece are favored by many builders. These fixtures, according to their design and use, can be of vitreous china, enameled iron, monel metal or stainless steel. Provision for hanging fixtures should be made when the framework of the house is constructed.

Electric wiring in the home has undergone many changes in recent years. The wider use of electrical appliances of all kinds has made provision for adequate outlets important, planning placement of the large pieces of furniture before wiring facilitates a good arrangement of these conveniences. New types of non-metallic sheathed cable make for greater safety in interior wiring, and the use of a circuit breaker instead of a fuse box makes this safety device convenient. Wiring supplies should bear tags or imprints signifying the approval of the Underwriting Laboratories, to assure the best operation and greater safety.



BUILD TO USE ELECTRICITY

Right now is the time to build a new home. Everything is favorable . . . it can be prepared for you in a short while. But remember, while the plans are being drawn, before the final touches are made, make plans for an electrical future. Have the home wired for electric appliances. There are hundreds of them now, and many more to come in the future. Enjoy the better things . . . they cost no more!

The Truth About Wichita

BEFORE the results of Saturday's primary election are as forgotten as the cigar store Indian and the bustle there is a little information The Morning Avalanche wishes to pass along regarding the much discussed standings of Tom Hunter and Jimmie Allred in their home bailiwick.

After the 1934 election, Hunter and his friends apparently got a great deal of solace over the fact that Thomas got the most votes in Wichita county.

During the gubernatorial campaign just happily closed, the story was told all over the state that the "home folks," who should know best, would give the governor the well known razz-berry and again rally 'round the standard of one of the poorest losers and poorest sportsmen in all Texas political history.

"Tom's home folks know him," said the story, "and what is more, they know Jimmie. And they'll fix Jimmie up in a big way. They'll help him 'out'—all the way out!"

Well, here is what happened in Wichita county Saturday when John Public and his spouse went to the polls.

Of a total of 7,956 votes, Jimmie Allred got 4,383—a clear majority over his four opponents—and Hunter got 2,435. F. W. "Big Fish" Fischer, a former Wichitan who for the past six years has been living in Tyler, got 849 votes from his old neighbors; Roy Sanderford got 227 and Pierce Brooks, of Dallas, got 62.

It so happens that Allred and Hunter live in the same section of Wichita Falls and vote in the same precinct—at the Evens Drug store, box 22. Let's see what happened there.

The Evens box had 245 votes and 175 of them went to Allred. Hunter got 53, Sanderford 12, Fischer 4 and Brooks 1. Does that look like the "home folks" are against the governor?

Of course, all of this doesn't make any difference.

Governor Allred is re-elected and is riding the crest of a great wave of popularity.

But since so much has been said about the Wichita Falls situation in the past by the Hunter contingent, The Moring Avalanche thought perhaps the truth might well be brought out.

Even Mr. Hunter must understand by this time that the people of Texas don't want him for governor—and neither do the people of Wichita county and Wichita Falls.

WITH OUR CONTEMPORARIES

"One reason West Texas is so strong for Jimmie Allred is the fact that Jimmy has often shown symptoms of being strong for West Texas," notes John A. Price in the Amherst Argus. (Amen, John)

EXPLANATION OF CARTOON

13-MILE MAIN STREET

The 13-mile stretch of highway U. S. 80 between Gladewater and Longview in East Texas, in the heart of the great oilfield, is now thickly settled for the entire distance, and because of the great amount of traffic borne by this one street, it has come to be known as the "Main Street of Texas." Only six years ago "Main Street" was a peaceful country road where ancient live-oaks spread their leafy arms over the asphalt and shaded a few crossroad stores. Today the entire stretch is packed with a jumble of habitations and business houses dependent upon the oil industry, and is said to be richer than Wall Street; to have more night clubs than Broadway, and more restaurants than State Street.

EGGS WITH BLACK WHITES

During February 1934 the poultrymen in southwestern Norway were startled to find some of their hens laying eggs that had black and dark colored "whites." Investigation disclosed that the hens had eaten great amounts of oak nuts, of which that coun-try had a great supply in 1933, and acid in the nuts had caused the albumen of eggs to turn black.

MURDER TONIGHT

BY LAURENCE W. MEYNELL

SYNOPSIS: Inspector Hylton was hot on the trail of Dale Shipley, whom he believes murdered old Arthur Burdett, the miser, when Nancy Featherstone locked him up in a strong room — and kept him there. Meanwhile Dale is in London, and Hylton's helper, Sergeant White, is wondering where his superior officer could be. White's wife Alice, however, is only worried about the whereabouts of her husband — for she is having a rendez-vous with a gamekeeper, deep in the forest.

Chapter 31

STILL NO HYLTON

Sergeant White made a leisured journey down to the Hoops after his dinner. He was a trifle annoyed with the Inspector for not keeping the appointment of the morning but, no doubt (he reflected) his superior officer, who seemed quite a decent sort of chap as far as he went, had some good reason for it.

The Hoops was officially closed when he got there, but Edward Perry came to the back door quickly enough when he saw who was standing in the yard.

"Haven't seen Mr. Hylton since about ten or half past this morning when he came back from Morechester in the car. I've got his lunch waiting for him still."

"Did he say he'd be back for lunch?"

"Yes. Very particular about it. A bit of pork-pie and some pickles he fancied—it's all ready for him now."

"He didn't say where he was going?"

"Not a word. Off he went in that quick way of his, shouting out about the lunch over his shoulder."

Sergeant White nodded. "I expect he's got on to something that's keeping him longer than he thought," he said.

"I daresay. Wonderful quick chaps these Scotland Yard men," Perry opined, hastening to cover up what might seem to be somewhat of a gaffe by adding, "Not as what we aren't satisfied with the locals round about here, all right. Jimmy, unofficially, how's it getting on? Are you after anybody particular?"

"Well, I'm not in charge of the case, but I think the Inspector's got his eye on one or two."

Perry recognized the practised hand of diplomacy and respected it. "Shall I tell him you were asking for him when he comes back?" he asked.

"You might say I was down this morning. I daresay I'll be back again about tea time, he's sure to be here by then."

The Sergeant nodded and walked out of the yard. Edward Perry, arms akimbo (his favorite position) watched him go reflectively . . . rum sort of chap to be in the force (he reckoned) different from all the other country sergeants he had ever known, cut above them somehow, you could imagine him being solicitor or something of that almost . . but over and above that there was something queer about the Sergeant, you never knew when you had him exactly, a bit of a deep 'un somehow.

Sergeant White stood undecided for a moment in the Square of Hope Enderston. It was busy with the ebb and flow of Saturday afternoon life.

The half timbered fronts and bowed windows of the shops, the market stalls clustered in the centre, the country carts, the very scavenging dogs were all part of a scene so familiar to the man that you might have thought he could look at it without seeing it almost; and yet on that bright January afternoon it seemed to him that all the details of it stood out in unwonted clearness.

Life (James White thought), merchandise and marketing; eating and drinking; loving and giving in love. He turned and walked slowly up the street. A variety of jobs offered themselves to him that afternoon; it wouldn't be a bad idea to go over to Punt and look up the constable there, a slack sort of man who wanted a lot of supervision; or there was the house half way to Morechester (only just inside his boundary) where he was pretty sure three dogs were being kept without any licenses.

But White felt disinclined for work of any sort. He left the village behind him and scrambling up the high bank cut across a newly sown field and so gained a footpath that led to one of his favorite walks. He wanted to get away from men and to be alone with his thoughts a little, he was a great man for being alone with his thoughts.

James White often thought it would have been better for him if his father who was born in a humble station of life had stayed there and had not suddenly acquired what was for him a small fortune. Most of the small fortune had been unselfishly spent in sending White to an expensive school, his father being determined that his son should have what he himself had lacked—education.

James White got his education, more than an average share of it perhaps, for his brain was a quick one; but he got precious little else.

The war came as a relief to him. After the war he was for a time at a loose end; then he enlisted in the regular police force in England.

Then, in one year, he got his promotion to Sergeant, which did not much surprise him; and he met Alice Cooper, who did.

James White was not inexperienced when he married Alice but very nearly so. All the intense concentration on his own affairs which had grown to be such a habit with him now suddenly included another human being. He had always been inclined to tell the rest of the world it could go to hell; it could go there in double quick time now, so long as it left him and his Alice alone.

After he had seen the woman and the man James White stood stock still for a full minute. The air was quiet; he could hear the woman's voice and could hear her laugh, Alice's rich untrammeled laugh, vibrant with life and delight.

He turned and went back into the wood. Though he wasn't aware of it he went back to Enderton by exactly the same roundabout route he had taken from the village. When he got back the sun had set. The police cottage was empty, he let himself into the kitchen and sat in one of the hard wooden chairs staring at his hands on the enamel-topped table . . . giving herself to him . . . when he heard a light footstep outside in the now fast-falling darkness he got up and pretended to busy himself with some crockery on a shelf, keeping his back to the door.

He rattled cups when he touched them, and a shaking hand was unusual for the Sergeant. His life was rather like the shaking cups, he thought — one moment outwardly quiet, the next in a fair way to be shattered.

Alice White's playhouse tumbles, tomorrow, about her ears.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON

By Ray Tucker

POLITICAL wise men from the Middle West confide that Alf Landon has already chosen the "big four" of his cabinet if and when he needs one. Though admittedly tentative, the selections strike Washington as politically logical.

Campaign Manager John Hamilton won't step into the orthodox office of Postmaster-General; there's no prestige for him in filling Jim Farley's shoes. He craves the Attorney-Generalship or Louis Howe's post as presidential ear-whisperer. New Yorker Ogden L. Mills supposedly has a stranglehold on his old assignment—Secretary of the Treasury—as a result of an East-West bargain at Cleveland. Representative Clifford Hope, Mr. Landon's agricultural voice on Capitol Hill, will run the AAA and its annex—the Department of Agriculture.

Herbert Hoover has been offered his choice of the State or Commerce portfolios, according to inside reports. Up to now he is said to have spurned both posts—but friends say he might change his mind about the diplomatic berth.

HEADLINES: J. Edgar Hoover's slick sense of publicity has blanketed Treasury agents' real defense in the current dime novel squabble at Washington. But it requires only amateur detective work to discover why Sleuth Morgenthau's boys are sore at Cop Cummings' "dicks."

It appears that Mr. Hoover has a headline habit of capturing credit from the so-called T-men. Some time ago he publicized the news that "my men have caught Dutch Schultz," at the very moment the gangster was surrendering to Treasury agents. A short while later Mr. Hoover breathlessly phoned press bureaus here that his agents had unearthed Count Lustig, the notorious counterfeiter. Actually the G-men at Pittsburgh refused to cooperate with a short-handed Secret service squad after the latter discovered Lustig's hideout. The G-men simply beat the T-men to the front page.

Local police—New York, Chicago, Seattle, Memphis, Louisville—hold the same grudge against the G-men. In many cities they won't cooperate with Hoover's men after one experience with what they dub "headline detectives."

TROUBLE: Although Treasury officials who inspired the inquiry into G-men's captures and killings will suffer some wrist-slapping, Mr. Hoover's procedure has provoked the higher-ups. Instead of submitting a formal protest, he rattled several cabinet skeletons by running to friendly reporters.

Privately Mr. Morgenthau is furious at both Mr. Cummings and Mr. Hoover. When the G-men took credit for the Schultz and Lustig arrests, the Secretary of the Treasury burned to protest to the White House. But he muzzled his indignation because he preferred not to promote another cabinet feud. Now he finds both Mr. Cummings and Mr. Hoover shooting at him with daily statements to the newspapers.

The G-men also antagonized "Jim" Farley by charging that postal inspectors would not work with his men, although it was the Postoffice detective who tipped off the G-ers on Alvin Karpis' whereabouts. In short, Mr. Hoover is making more trouble for the cabinet than for criminals—or so certain influential New Dealers opine.

SKEPTICS: Ex-Lieutenant Commander John S. Farnsworth engineered his own arrest for the alleged sale of naval secrets to the Japanese by offering a sensational story to a news bureau at Washington. His mistake lay in asking too high a price. He wanted $20,000.

The size of the amount forced the bureau chief to consult "the big chief," noted for his anti-Japanese mania. The publisher ordered his men to check Farnsworth's record at naval intelligence. The navy's spy hunters, who had deferred arrest so as to run down possible accessories, closed in and jailed Farnsworth.

Unless the government is withholding important evidence, some officials are growing skeptical of the case against the prisoner. The document he is alleged to have disclosed to Japanese spies is not such a closely guarded paper as "scare stories" suggest. It is accessible to thousands of naval officers who sign for it, and the Navy doesn't scatter strategic secrets like that.

MARGIN: Despite pro-Landon polls, Democratic politicos scout midsummer claims that FDR faces a licking. They insist that they have sewed up a majority of electrical votes the G.O.P. can't touch.

The Roosevelt-Farley-Hurja trio bank on a minimum electoral total of 290-310, although they swell those figures for public consumption. Here's how they divide their battle map: Sure for Roosevelt—the Solid South, five border states, three Pacific Coast states, Arizona, New Mexico, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Nebraska, Montana, Utah, Indiana. They insist that the only one of these liable to fall into the G.O.P. column is Nebraska.

Total electoral vote on this basis is 267. But the White Housers count on New York or Pennsylvania or Illinois to boost the ballot figure to 300 or thereabouts. They'll bet on that.

WEAKNESS: Rev. Gerald Smith's right to speak for Huey Long's Share-the-Wealthers has been challenged by Louisiana politicians now at peace with the administration. They insist that, as a barker for the Lemke-Coughlin-Townsend sideshow, he represents only himself.

Under Huey Long's dictation Louisiana's members in the House backed the Lemke farm financing bill. But after Long's death his crowd made a dicker with Chairman Farley. One condition was that Louisiana Congressmen erase their names from the petition demanding a vote on the Lemke measure. The members rushed to scratch their signatures and then voted against the bill. That indicates the extent of Smith's and Lemke's influence in delta politics.

Since Long's death the Share-the-Wealth movement has crumbled along with his political machine. The politicos never had any real interest in the "every man a king" slogan. Mrs. Long, who inherited the books, platform, membership files, has repudiated Mr. Smith. All he owns is the idea.

NEW YORK

By James McMullin

NEW YORK observers are amused to note the contrast in the political behavior of Bernard Baruch's two proteges who formerly held responsible New Deal posts—George Peek and General Hugh Johnson.

Mr. Peek will be an ardent crusader for the Landon cause. He has been busy cultivating his substantial following among the farmers and it's an open secret that the G.O.P. general staff rates him a most important factor in corralling the agricultural vote. Already there is talk in high places that he is to be named Secretary of Agriculture as a reward for his services if Landon wins.

General Johnson, after much soul-searching and floundering, confounds expectations by rejoining the New Deal camp, albeit as a thorny and critical ally. He is not so much pro-Roosevelt as anti-Landon. His defection fails to trouble Republican chiefs. One of them brutally remarks that it doesn't matter what Johnson thinks because his following is confined to himself.

UNITED: New York State Republican leaders are mapping their strategy on a play-it-safe basis. Although there is every reason to anticipate that Tammany will knife Roosevelt, or at least fail to get out the normal Democratic vote in New York City, their plans envisage this development only as a hope—not a certainty.

The G.O.P. state campaign will concentrate on regaining the full strength upstate Republican vote. New York City will be largely ignored. Party tacticians figure that if they can come down to the metropolis with a 600,000 majority, New York's 47 electoral votes will be safe for Landon. There is a growing confidence in inner circles that this can be done, despite Governo rLehman's vote-getting ability. In fact there is even a serious hope—for the first time — of beating Lehman himself. Indications are piling up that he has lost much of his popularity with the upstate farmers who have contributed materially to his electoral success.

Hawk Is Killed Atop Hilton Hotel By Policeman, Fireman

Hawk hunting atop the Hilton hotel was the experience of Fireman Alfred (Skinny) Parrack Sunday afternoon.

After several persons had reported a large chicken hawk perched on the Hilton hotel building, Parrack and Brooks Penney, patrolman, obtained a small shotgun. They rode the hotel elevator to the top floor, climbed out on a fire escape, and Parrack killed the hawk.

The bird measured 4 feet 6 inches between wing-tips.

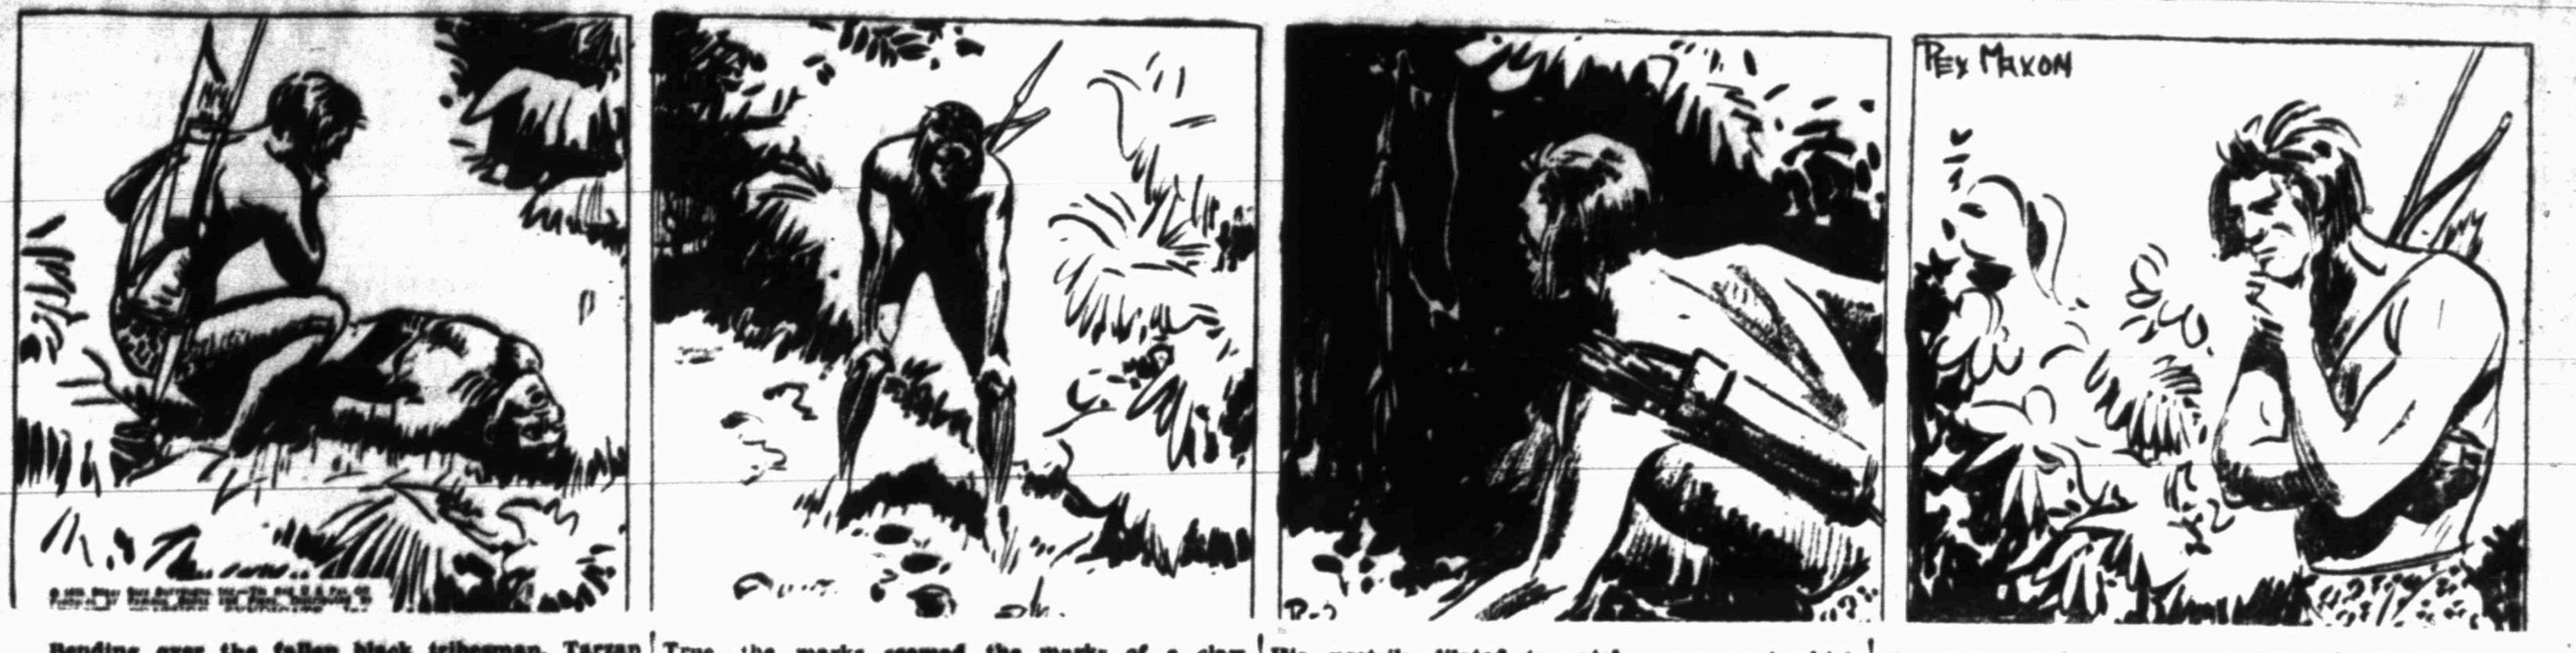
TARZAN AND THE LEOPARD MEN, No. 2

By Edgar Rice Burroughs



Bending over the fallen black tribesman, Tarzan beheld these mysterious claw marks of which he had heard — bloody furrows at the throat of the hapless warrior — the sign of the Taloned Death! For a long time he gazed in deepest perplexity at the still, lifeless form.

True, the marks seemed the marks of a claw, though sharper than the claw of any beast he knew. He looked about him for the footprints of an animal. He saw many footprints—of the lion, the leopard and the panther, and of the lesser beasts of the jungle.

His nostrils dilated to catch some scent which might prove a clue. But the odor of many beasts and of men came to him, for the warrior had been slain on a game trail which tunneled the jungle as a highway for the dwellers of the forest, both men and beasts.

To Tarzan of the Apes, mighty Lord of the Jungle, death was no stranger. He had beheld its grim countenance in many forms. Also he had fathomed many mysteries of the primitive, forgotten wilderness. But he stood baffled now in the face of the graceless Taloned Death!

Stocks

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, July 27. (AP)—Buying forces swept through the stock market today and lifted prices fractions to 3 or more points, many to new levels for the past several days.

Renewed demand for leading equities apparently found inspiration in the continuance of favorable economic news including earnings and dividends.

Profit taking cut into some of the advances in the final hour, but most active issues closed not far from their top quotations of the session.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks moved up .7 of a point to 68.6, another peak since early July, 1931. The net gain for the day was the best in about 2 weeks. Volume also increased on the upturn, transfers totalling 1,826,280 shares against 1,320,880 last Friday. It was the largest day's turnover since July 14.

Bullish provender appeared early through the action of Consolidated Edison directors in declaring a 50-cent dividend compared with 25 cents voted in previous quarters.

The utilities quickly took the lead, to be followed by motors, aircraft, farm implements, steels and, later, the rails.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, July 27. (AP)—Cotton retreated to end from 3 to 6 points lower today after an early advance had carried options a dollar a bale higher.

Aided by better cables prices ran up 15 to 20 points at the first call with the trade and speculative interests active buyers.

Profit taking appeared on the bulge, however, and the remainder of the session was a slow decline to below the previous closing levels. Last prices were the lowest for the day in most cases.

Oct ended at 12.40, Dec at 12.31 and Jan, Mar and May at 12.32. The average price of spot cotton at 10 southern markets lost 5 points to 13.07.

Another bearish development during the day was predicted showers for the drouth-ridden northwestern portion of the belt. The Oklahoma crop was said to be in a precarious condition with no rain for a prolonged period. The immediate prediction by the weather bureau was for local rains there tonight.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, July 27. (AP)—Cotton eased off today after an early advance under realizing and scattered selling accompanied by talk of better prospects for showers in Oklahoma.

Oct sold down from 12.60 to 12.43, closing at that figure with the general market steady at net declines of 1 to 7 points.

The opening was 18 to 22 points higher in response to firm Liverpool cables, and the failure of early weather news to indicate any relief from drouthy conditions in Oklahoma.

This advance carried Oct up about 57 points from recent low levels which attracted realizing and selling.

Active months lost 23 to 26 points from the early highs and closing quotations were at the lowest of the day. Reports of tropical disturbances in the Gulf caused some uneasiness but evidently failed to stimulate buying.

GRASS CATTLE REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, July 27. (AP—USDA)—Increased supplies of grass cattle at Kansas City served to slow up the trade to some extent, but grass slaughter steers were about the only class to show any material decline. Common to medium grass heifers turned at 4.00-5.50 while a spread of 4.00-5.25 took fat western cows. Killing calves held at 5.00-6.00. Grains

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, July 27. (AP)—Corn led a steep rise of the grain market today, 3⅛ cents a bushel maximum for corn, 2⅜ cents for wheat.

Abnormal high temperatures and unabated drouth over much of the Corn Belt aroused fears of increasingly disastrous crop damage, and brought about active speculative demand.

Corn closed firm, 2 cents to 2½ above Saturday's finish, July 93-93⅛; Sept. 90½-⅝; Dec. 83⅝-½, wheat 1¼-1½ up, July 104½; Sept. 104-105; Dec. 105½-⅜, oats ⅜-⅞ advanced, Sept. 36⅜-⅞, and rye showing 1¼-2½ cents bulge, Sept. 74. Results in provisions varied from unchanged figures to 10 cents higher.

to 18 years."

Between these ages is the "critical age." Parents, teachers and youth organizations were urged to protect and stimulate the normal child and to guard against being "too strict," too lax or too inconsistant." The greatest problem child is that reared in a family where the mother is also the father and the bread-winner.

Dr. Wood, pointing out that this was his first talk to a group interested in guidance, said that boys and girls should have certain aids from their grown-up friends. "We have sacrificed the well being of millions of our school children on the altar of 'this sacred cow called curriculum.'"

Teachers are probably to blame, but it is not their fault, rather it is the fault of the teaching methods by which they were trained. The principal fault of that is that nothing is taught about living boys and girls."

Lynn County Man's Body Is Found; Head Bullet-Pierced

TAHOKA, July 27. (Special)—Body of Arthur Voegt, 36, the head pierced with a slug from a .22-caliber rifle, early Sunday morning was found at the home of his father, Gottlieb Voegt, near the Morgan community.

The body was in a hall, the rifle lying across it.

Inquest was to be continued after funeral rites, said officials. Arrangements were delayed pending arrival of the widow and four children from near Corpus Christi, where they had been visiting.

The younger Voegt had been treated in a Fort Worth sanitarium.

Land and sea breezes are caused by differences of temperature between adjacent land and water areas. These differences are due to the fact that land areas take on heat and cool off with greater rapidity than do water areas.

SUN-PRUF CREAM

● Don't burn. It isn't pretty and, what's worse, it hurts. It's painful at the time and it hurts your skin permanently. Don't lose the original fine fresh texture of your young, untouched skin. If you're simply not the type to tan, spread Sun-Pruf Cream on thickly and you'll keep that delicate coloring sunfast. Or, if your skin can stand a little sun, tan carefully by spreading Sun-Pruf Cream on lightly. And you might recommend it to bald-ish gentlemen whose pates the sun strokes none too gently.

Negro Woman Posts $300 Bond In Stabbing; Knifes Another

Alberta Shelton, negro woman, posted 300 bond Monday afternoon after arraignment before County Judge E. L. Pitts upon a charge of agravated assault. She pleaded not guilty of knifing another negro woman, Mary Austin.

Members of the police, Davidson and Honey, made the arrest.

An aggravated assault complaint was filed against Fred Harper, Mrs. Evelyn Harper, a sister-in-law, alleging she had been assaulted.

County Attorney Jess C. Levens drew both complaints.

Bond of $300 was set by Judge Pitts in each of two cases charging violation of the medical practice act and naming as defendant Dr. Charles D. Wall. Dr. Wall pleaded not guilty.

Police Sunday arrested six persons for drunkenness. Five were fined $10 each, the other two drawing fines of $15 each. Nineteen negroes, arrested for investigation, were released after fingerprinting.

Three men were fined $1 and costs for drunkenness in the court of Justice of the Peace J. T. Trigg during the week-end.

'Gly-Cas Has New—Different Action From All Others'

Mr. Frey Relieved Of Lifetime Of Suffering With Kidney And Bladder Trouble: Now Sleeps Good, Former Energy Restored, Lumbago Gone, Like A New Person Again.

"Gly-Cas was a real blessing to me," said Mr. J. R. Frey, Route No. 6, Box 381, Pine Bluff, Ark. "All my life I had been suffering with kidney and bladder trouble. I was up as often as eight times each night, hands and feet swelled and of course it was impossible for me to get a good night's sleep. Lumbago attacked me until I was so crippled I could hardly walk at all and it was impossible for me to work at times. I tried many different kinds of medicines—doing my best to find something to help and failed in every attempt until I finally began this new Gly-Cas—it was the one medicine I should have had years before."

MR. J. R. FREY

"Gly-Cas action is entirely different from that of any other medicine of the present day," he continued. "My kidneys and bladder are regulated and the poisons have been eliminated from my system. I sleep good, never disturbed at night, get my needed rest and my former pep and energy have been restored. Gly-Cas is one medicine suffering people should not hesitate to try—for it gives real results which are lasting."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Store, 1219 Broadway, and by all leading drug stores in surrounding towns.

Gly-Cas $1.00 per box—6 boxes $5.00. Add 2c postage for each box ordered. Send money orders made payable Mark Halsey Drug Store. Don't send cash. Checks not accepted.—No C. O. D. Mail Orders.—Adv.

Republican Is Confused In Election Saturday; Refuses To Vote In Demos' Primary

A prospective voter who appeared at precinct 33, at Junior High school, Saturday, wanted to keep the Democratic primary election for Democrats.

A middleaged man received his ballot and retired to vote, but soon returned and handed his ballot in. "I can't vote in this election," he was quoted as saying. "I'm a Republican." He left without balloting.

In other instances, several judges reported, acquaintances known to be Republican momentarily changed their party and took the official ballot pledge of a Democrat.

Queen Mary Makes Fastest Time For Atlantic Crossing

NEW YORK, July 27. (AP)—Great Britain's S. S. Queen Mary docked today after making the fastest crossing ever recorded for a steamer between Europe and New York—but her commander did not claim the blue pennant of Atlantic supremacy.

"We very well do not deserve it," said Sir Edgar Britten, skipper of the liner.

So the blue ribbon, emblem of Atlantic speed, remains with France's Normandie, which in June, 1935, averaged 29.64 knots for the crossing as compared with the Queen Mary's 29.61 knots.

The reason is that the Normandie started her best run from Southhampton and traveled 3,192 nautical miles. The Queen Mary was blocked from Cherbough, 3,098 nautical miles away.

The English ship made the crossing in four days, eight hours, 37 minutes; the French ship covered the longer route in four days, 11 hours, 42 minutes.

Aboard the Queen Mary were 1,795 passengers. Many of them witnessed the crash of a seaplane, killing one man, off Nantucket lightship yesterday.

Sir Edgar said he believed the crash was caused by the vacuum aft his ship. "That's what brought him down," he said.
