Number of Cattle In U. S. Now at Record High

College Station. — There were 96,851,000 head of cattle in the United States on January 1, 1959, said John G. McHaney, extension economist. This is a new record and three and one-half million more than on January 1, 1958.

Most of this increase in the cattle inventory was in young beef stock, McHaney said. For example, beef heifers rose 750,000 also, and calf numbers were 1,300,000 higher. The beef cow herd increased 1.3 million, however, the number of milk cows were off 600,000 head, leaving the total cow increase at 700,000.

A big expansion in beef production for the market in 1959 or 1960 is not expected because cow numbers are not large, he said. They are still two million below 1955 and this is favorable from a price standpoint, because the calf crop this year will not be large enough to bring about a great increase in slaughter in 1959. Many of the heifers and heifer calves will be retained as breeding stock. However, many young cattle will go to slaughter this year or next, after a period of feeding.

The outlook for fairly stable slaughter and prices in 1959 is based upon favorable range and pasture conditions. Prices during the rest of 1959 should remain good, said the economist. A severe drought, however, would cause more cattle to move to market and you may want to be there first with the most. For this reason, he says, you should watch range conditions closely in 1959, not just in your local areas, but all over the United States.

Chances are that prices of cattle will be lower in 1960 and 1961 as cow numbers increase. The break in cattle prices usually comes later on in the cattle cycle when breeding herds are built up and calf crops increase. It could come early in the 1960's.

It is expected that the farmers and ranchers of the U. S. will add between four and five million head of cattle to the inventory in 1959. A buildup of this size would approach the rate of expansion which occurred in 1951-52. Producers continue to hold back cows from slaughter. Cow slaughter for the period January-March 1959 was 24 per cent below last year and the smallest for the period since 1952. If this continues, the expansion would be greater and prices could break much sooner than expected, McHaney added.

Humble Gets Well With Two Sands Producing Oil

Street reports Tuesday said that Humble Oil & Refining Co. had a two-sand well in their Tripline-Woodbine field well, Holmes Fee No. 1 John F. Lund survey. Try was for three sands, but they missed one, it being dry at that point.

Location is south of the Randy Moore well in the Tri-Liz field. Humble owns mineral rights and the land, about 700 acres.

Application to drill — Wildcat in Titus County, Hollandsworth and Travis operators, Hoffman No. 2, W. C. Logan survey, eight miles east of Talco. Proposed depth, 4000 feet.

Farmer Would Buy Land That Didn't Have Oil Wells

My friend stopped by a booming oil field in southern Kentucky to give a lift to a man on his way to the county seat. They drove through once beautiful farm land now drilling rigs, cluttered with pumps and storage tanks.

Guessing that his passenger was a farmer living in the area, my friend steered the conversation to the tall tales he had heard of quick riches for both speculators and farmers. The local man acknowledged that many of the stories had foundation in fact.

"You own a farm here?" my friend asked.
"Yeah," was the reply.
"Any oil wells on it?"
"Yeah. Three good 'uns, and they say they'll make 300 barrels a day."

"What in the world are you going to do with all the money you'll be getting?"
The farmer gazed for a moment across a machine-scarred field and answered, "Why, I'm gonna buy me a farm that ain't got no oil on it!"—Reader's Digest.

Health Dep. Warns Picnickers Food May Poison Them

Nothing can live without food, suitable temperature and an appropriate amount of moisture. This applies to man, animals, fish—and plants. It also applies to bacteria!

The range of needs for bacteria is slim, but when they are present bacteria can be very prolific, multiplying themselves by the millions in mere minutes.

That is why food poisoning is so much more common in warm weather—and why you need to be especially careful now about preparing food and storing it.

The main rule to remember is that bacteria which are apt to cause food poisoning thrive best in lukewarm foods.

Thus if you make it a hard-fast habit to keep hot foods hot and cold foods cold, the chances of bacteria getting a foothold are slim.

However, there are certain foods that have proven to be more susceptible to bacteria growth and the resulting food poisoning conditions.

For instance, egg and milk mixtures, including custards and meats, either in salads or sandwiches, and potato salad—one of the popular picnic foods—are often quickly suspected when food infections occur in summer.

Making sandwiches and wrapping them in wax paper to let stand for hours before eating is just asking for trouble. So keep them well refrigerated.

Potato salad can give lots of trouble. The best way to avoid it is to chill all the ingredients before mixing, and then store the salad in a shallow container in the refrigerator. Deep bowls retain the room temperature in the center portions.

Everyone loves a picnic. Enjoy them, but a portable ice box and a thermos bottle are musts if you are going to minimize the chance of summer food poisonings.

UNCLE SAM concluded his fiscal year on June 30 with the biggest peacetime budget deficit on record—about 13 billions. Ike's six years in office showed deficits in four of them. Many Democrats voted for him because they thought he would veto a lot of wasteful spending of the people's tax dollars by congress, reduce the national debt and reduce taxes. He has done neither.

Instead, value of the dollar has shrunk, deficit spending has increased and government credit is now questioned by other nations; interest rates on government bonds have doubled and prices of those with low interest rates of 2½ are quoted on the market at 83 cents on the dollar. What the people need is economy-minded men in the House and Senate and a president with business judgment.

We must have them or become bankrupt, which is what the Russians predicted would happen.

Dissatisfaction Breeds Progress

The man who is content with his lot is stuck with it. It won't change.

The same thing is true with a community, a town, or a city.

If folks had been content to chug along on dirt roads in horse-pulled wagons, Texarkana would still be hours and hours away from Naples.

If no one had been interested in his neighbor, or what goes on in the next county or the next town, there would be no radio, no television, and heaven forbid, no newspapers.

The discontented, the dissatisfied, even the sorehead who doesn't like his surroundings are the ones who are responsible for progress.

Naples, a better than average town and lots of folks who don't like everything here the way it is, needs more just like them.

We have folks who don't like it when the cemetery grows up in weeds and brush. We need others who don't like it when patches, vacant lots, and the street right-of-way is weed covered.

We had folks here once who didn't like drawing water and now we turn a tap and find it plentiful.

We had folks who didn't like dark streets. Now Naples has mercury vapor lights.

In the past, we have had lots of folks who didn't like lots of things here and that's the reason that they have been improved.

Always, it is the man who isn't satisfied who is responsible for progress.

We praise the happy-go-lucky individual who accepts life as he finds it, enjoys most what he has, and never dreams that things could be better.

We call him a good citizen. Towns with a majority of these "good citizens" are going nowhere except down.

Let other towns take the men

JUST ONE OF 7 Big Bests Chevrolet OFFERS you over any other car in its field!

Take a tip from the experts . . . in their own words . . . and from on-the-record facts and figures: More than ever, Chevrolet gives you more than any other of the leading low-priced three! More room to relax in, for instance. A sampling of official dimensions reported to A.M.A.* makes this clear. Chevy front seat hip room, for one thing, is up to 5.9 inches wider than comparable cars. And Chevy even offers more front seat head room than all but one of the high-priced cars!

Best Brakes Not only bigger, but built with bonded linings for up to 66% longer life. Just to prove what's what, Chevy out-stopped both of the "other two" in a NASCAR†-conducted test of repeated stops from highway speeds.

Best Style It's the only car of the leading low-priced 3 that's unmistakably modern in every line. "In its price class," says POPULAR SCIENCE magazine, "a new high in daring styling."

Best Engine Every motor magazine has given Chevrolet's standard and Corvette V8's unstinted praise. As SPORTS CARS ILLUSTRATED puts it: "... surely the most wonderfully responsive engine available today at any price."

Best Ride MOTOR TREND magazine calls Chevy "... the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class." You'll be able to tell this yourself instantly, once you take the wheel.

Best Economy No doubt about this: two Chevrolet 6's won their class in the famous Mobilgas Economy Run, got the best mileage of any full-size car, 22.38 miles per gallon—with Powerglide.

Best Trade-In Check in any N.A.D.A.* Guide Book. Chevy used car prices last year averaged up to $128 higher than comparable models of the "other two."

Doubts Wisdom of Suing Government Men For Work They Didn't Perform

Editor's note: Achin Alcorn, philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Sulphur, sounds like he's afraid somebody may try to make him work. We doubt it.

Dear Editor: I'm not opposed to new ideas, as long as they're sound, and you and I both know by sound I mean any idea that's convenient for you and me to live with, but when a new idea is hatched up by some smart-aleck that threatens the very way of our existence, it's time to strike back.

I read in a newspaper yesterday afternoon which blew off my tractor seat while I went to the house for a drink of water—the paper was left there to keep the sun off the seat while I was gone and since by then the seat was too hot to use and no chance of a cloud coming by to change it, I took it to a shade tree and read—at any rate, to get on with this sentence, I read where the Federal government has sued an employee for $4,000 in wages he'd gotten but didn't work for. According to the trial testimony, the employee spent half his time loafing in a nearby club, and the government fired him and sued him for half his wages for the past year.

At first glance, this might seem like a sound idea. A man's loafing on the job, make him pay back part of his wages. A Legislature takes six months to pass a tax bill when it could have been done in three, sue the members for half their pay.

But there are other angles to it. For example, take a Legislature. If it takes it six months to pass a tax bill when it could have been done in three, it's true the government loses three months of taxes, but on the other hand, you've got to remember, the tax payers gain three months. This is worth thinking about.

And just because a government worker is working is no sign the people are better off than if he was loafing. A lot of people for example object when a bunch of Congressmen go off on a trip to Europe, but I've sometimes felt it was cheaper in the long run to keep some Congressmen in Europe than Washington.

It's not how long a session of the Legislature takes that worries me, it's how much it takes, when the tax bills are written.

You start suing people for not working and I know one farmer and occasionally some editors who'll be looking for the best defense lawyers they can find.

"No," was the other's nonchalant reply. "I changed husbands."

How to Scale Fish The Easy Way

You may not believe it until you see it. We didn't. But, all you have to do to scale fish easily is to cut your garden hose down to a small stream and turn it against the scales of the fish. Off they come!

The ordinary hose nozzle with normal city pressure will do the trick.

Now, if you don't believe it, just try it. It works and you can scale a large number of fish in no time.—Pittsburg Gazette.
