U.S. Steel Bluntly Rejects Board's Settlement Terms

U. S., Britain To Oppose Big Four Meeting

By GEORGE DURNO
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14—Secretary of State Acheson and British Foreign Secretary Bevin have decided to veto any suggestion of another "Big Four" meeting in New York this month because of obstructionist Russian tactics.

This was disclosed today by sources close to the cold war policy conferences currently under way in Washington between Acheson and Bevin.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky has a visa to attend the Sept. 20 meeting in New York of the United Nations General Assembly. He may make a bid to reconvene the Anglo-American-French-Russian council of foreign ministers.

Yugoslavia Discussed

Diplomatic sources said, however, that Acheson and Bevin will refuse to approach a New York meeting because of the stumbling block Russia threw up in the writing of a peace treaty with Austria after agreeing "in principle" in Paris.

The U.S. and British foreign ministers conferred again today. They will be joined Thursday by French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman, who arrived in Washington tonight by plane.

The Balkan situation—and Spain—were prime topics of today's discussion.

A carefully-worded joint statement failed to reveal full extent of their talks about Yugoslav Marshal Tito's defiance of Moscow dictation, but other sources made it clear that consideration was given to driving a still further wedge into the apparent iron curtain split.

Pressure For Franco

Also, Acheson and Bevin exchanged views on the Greek government's determination to advise the UN General Assembly it is prepared to invade Albania if that Soviet satellite persists in harboring and aiding Greek Communist guerrillas.

On the subject of future relations with Franco Spain, the British take a more adverse position than the United States.

Acheson repeatedly has said that so long as the United Nations edict calling for no ambassadorial representation in Madrid remains on the books, this country will subscribe.

There has been strong pressure of late, however, for recognition of Franco's regime. U. S. officials are inclined to believe that this is a realistic approach, particularly in view of diplomatic relations with all of the iron curtain coun-

Farm Bureau Head Speaks At Meet Here

Stronger Voice For Agriculture Urged

By EDWARD WELSH
Avalanche Staff Writer

"IF THERE is a depression it will be our fault," Walter Hammond, president of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation told 300 Farm Bureau members of the southern half of District 2 in a meeting in the Lubbock hotel yesterday afternoon.

"Depressions usually begin with agriculture," Hammond said. "When farm prices keep declining a depression usually follows."

"Industry and labor have been looking after their share of the $200 billion national income. It is up to us, and us alone, to look after the farmer's interests," Hammond asserted.

Queen Is Chosen

Hammond's address brought to a climax the all-day business session. Members and representatives of agricultural agencies also heard Congressman George Mahon, 19th district representative, and Bill Tilson, Meadow, district director of the State Farm Bureau. Austin Crownover, Waco, field representative, made a plea for more membership to "strengthen the voice of agriculture so that its weight could be felt in any legislative body."

Following the business session and bringing to a close the one-day conference a "queen" was chosen from among four candidates to represent the district at the Dallas Fair this fall. She was Miss Helen Daphene Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Taylor, route 1, Morton.

Larger Membership Urged

Hammond pointed out that it was the American Farm Bureau that made it possible to get loans on wheat "stored in the open." "We got no action at all until we talked with President Truman," Hammond said. "Three days after our talk with the President we were able to get loans on the wheat that was on the ground. Then strangely enough there seemed to

Whiteface Girl Is Chosen Queen For Farm Bureau Area

An attractive Whiteface High school junior student, Helen Taylor of Morton route 1, was chosen bi-district Farm Bureau queen Wednesday afternoon at the Farm Bureau meeting in Lubbock hotel.

Miss Taylor previously had been chosen Cochran county queen. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Taylor.

She was named queen on basis of personality, poise and general appearance.

To Compete At Dallas

She and the winner from the northern part of the district, chosen Tuesday at Plainview, will be candidates for district queen. The district winner will be chosen at the state Farm Bureau convention to be held Nov. 21-23 at Dallas and will be a candidate for state winner to be chosen at the same convention. The state winner will go to the national contest at Chicago.

The queen from the northern part of the district is Wanda Pearl Fisher, 17, of near Flomot, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Fisher, Motley county farm couple. Miss Fisher was selected from four county queens, the same number competing here.

Others Enter Contest

Several awards will be given to the district winner.

Candidates here Wednesday, in addition to Miss Taylor, were Carolyn Middleton, Lynn county queen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Middleton; Mary Helen Bruce of Lubbock route 6, Lubbock county queen and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Bruce, and Thelma Lou Smiley of Duncan Flat community in Dickens county, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Smiley.

The bi-district winner was chosen by a three-member committee composed of Bernert Roberts, president of the Hockley county Farm Bureau,

Agreement Seen In Chicago Strike

CHICAGO, Sept. 14. (AP)—Representatives of the Chicago's five major newspapers and their striking printers agreed tonight upon terms for settling the 22-month-old strike.

The agreement was reached at an unpublicized meeting in a downtown hotel of officials of the Chicago Newspaper Publishers association and Local 16, Chicago Typographical union (AFL).

Terms of a proposed new contract will be voted upon at a meeting of the 1,500 striking printers Sunday.

John J. Pilch, Local 16 president, said terms of the contract had been approved by the executive council of the International Typographical Union.

Acceptance Recommended

Under the proposed contract, the printers would get a $10 weekly wage increase.

Frank Semenara, a member of the executive board of Local 16, said the agreement "gives the printers the best working conditions possible under the Taft-Hartley act."

At the start of the strike in November, 1947, the Chicago Publishers said they had rejected the union's contract proposals because they called for closed shop conditions in violation of the Taft-Hart-

Formosa, Nationalist Strong Point, Threatened By Typhoon

TOKYO, Sept. 14. (INS)— The Nationalist island redoubt of Formosa was seriously threatened today by a typhoon with 90-mile-an-hour winds at its screaming center.

The typhoon, nicknamed "Nellie," was moving on Formosa from an area 260 miles southwest of Okinawa.

Winds of 50 miles an hour along the fringes of the storm whipped the Ryukyu islands northeast of Formosa but American meteorologists in Tokyo said the typhoon would not strike Japan.

Auto-Bus Collision Takes Toll Of Three

WICHITA FALLS, Sept. 14. (AP) A grinding bus-car collision today killed three members of an Oklahoma family apparently on their way home.

The dead: Luther Lee Jackson, 44, Simpson, Okla., his wife, Edna, 41, and their daughter, Linda Sue, 5.

They were thrown from their car and killed when it collided on the eastern outskirts of Wichita Falls with a Continental Trailways bus driven by O. W. Miller of Dallas.

The car was torn into several pieces. The bus was spun around, but neither Miller nor any of the 25 passengers was hurt.

Miller said Jackson had pulled up on a parkway between lanes and then cut cross in front of him, despite his frantic honking.

The bus caught the car in the center, broadsides. Deputy Sheriff Ben Hicks estimated the bus was traveling 40 to 45 miles an hour. The speed limit there is 50.

PLANS MADE FOR POSSIBLE WAR

Overseas Transport Problems Studied At Secret Meetings

By FELIX COTTON
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—Federal and private officials have been meeting secretly for the last two weeks to draw up plans for ocean transportation of troops, munitions and supplies in event of another war.

It was disclosed today that the problem of overseas transport is the subject of a series of closed door meetings which have been in progress in Washington and New York.

The meetings are being conducted by subcommittees of a sea transport and mobilization survey headed by Maj. Gen. Philip B. Fleming, chairman of the Maritime commission.

Participants in the conferences are representatives of the defense establishment, civilian government agencies and officials of steamship companies.

Their activities are part of a vast network of war preparations being conducted by the National Security Resources board.

Col. Alvin B. Barber, associate director of the NSRB transportation office, said the sea transport

Slav Leaders Blast Stalin

By KINGSBURY SMITH
European General Manager, INS

BELGRADE, Sept. 14—A group of high Yugoslav army and government officials tonight accused Premier Stalin of creating a "deep crisis" in the world working class movement and "deliberately avoiding the question of equality among socialist states."

The statement was issued 48 hours before the Budapest spectacle when so-called "Titoism," or Yugoslav independence of Moscow, will go on trial in what the Yugoslavs term a ridiculous mockery of justice.

Four generals, including Yugoslav chief of staff Col. Gen. Koca Popovic, and members of the Yugoslav government and Politburo, signed the statement blasting Russian leaders.

Trial Termed Smokescreen

The signers included Karlo Marzovic, Yugoslav ambassador to Moscow, and Vice Premier Blagoye Neshkovich.

They declared that the Russian Communist party bears "direct responsibility for slanders" against Yugoslavia.

Such affairs as the Budapest trial of eight persons were termed a smokescreen whereby Russia "hopes to avoid answering the basic question of the principle which is of vital significance to the whole socialist (Communist) world."

The statement said that the question merely is whether Communist states are to be treated on an equality basis or be mere mouthpieces of Russian foreign policy.

Sensational Trial Seen

It marked the beginning of an official Yugoslav campaign to defend former Hungarian Foreign and Interior Minister Laszlo Rajk in the trial beginning Friday.

The statement declared that "such slanders" as the Hungarian Communist leaders leveled against Yugoslavia in connection with the trial of Rajk and seven other persons "could have been thought up only by people who have lost all human dignity."

Meanwhile it was learned that copies of banned Cominform newspapers appealing to Yugoslavs to "get rid of bloody Tito" have been found stuffed in some Belgrade

Break In Cold Front Forecast

The area's first touch of approaching fall weather should be on its way out today, the Weather Bureau station said late Wednesday night.

The weatherman said the low overcast and chilling rains which moved into the area early Tuesday morning, when the cold front slipped in from the Rockies, are due to break up today, with temperatures climbing back into the high 70s, after a maximum of 63 was reported Wednesday.

Scattered Rains Possible

The mercury dropped to a low of 49 degrees Wednesday morning, one of the coolest readings in the state. The 63 maximum tied Wichita Falls for the top low in Texas.

Another cold air mass in Canada is not expected to start moving down in to the Midwest and toward the South Plains, if it does move in this direction, before the last part of the week.

Rains in the South Plains area today, if any, will be scattered and light, the Weather man reported. Temperatures in the 80s are not expected before Friday.

The front moved on into East Texas early this morning, after it started breaking in Eastern New Mexico late Wednesday. By midmorning today, it is expected to be clear throughout most of the South Plains area, the Weather Bureau said.

Rising temperatures returned to

Railroad's Plan To Abandon 'Doodlebug' Service Opposed

SEYMOUR, Sept. 14. (AP)—Opponents of the Wichita Valley railroad's plans to abandon its "doodlebug" service between Abilene and Wichita Falls argued today that the railroad should provide better service.

If there were better service, they contended at a Texas railroad commission hearing, patronage on the line would increase. The railroad bases its application to discontinue the service on grounds that operating losses on passenger service are too great.

Businessmen from Seymour, Stamford, Weinert and Hawley joined representatives of four trainmen's unions in opposing the railroad's plans to abandon the passenger and express service.

COMMUNISTS ACCUSED OF 'PROVOKING' INCIDENT

Gov. Dewey Orders Sweeping Grand Jury Probe Of Rioting After Concert By Pro-Soviet Singer

By LEO W. O'BRIEN
INS Staff Correspondent

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 14—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey tonight ordered a sweeping grand jury probe of the rioting that followed a concert by pro-Russian singer Paul Robeson near Peekskill on Sept. 4.

Dewey declared flatly that Communist groups "obviously did provoke this incident." He added that veterans and others who turned out to express their disapproval of the meeting "obviously fell into a Communist bear trap."

The governor specifically directed that the special grand jury find out "whether the Communist-led guard forces are a quasi-military force."

Dewey acted after a four-hour conference with Westchester County District Attorney George M. Fanelli, Sheriff Fred W. Russcoe of Westchester, and Superintendent of State Police John A. Faffney. Dewey said:

"My conclusions are that the facts are simple and ugly.

"These followers of Red totalitarianism which teaches violence and the suppression of individual liberty were themselves made the victims of lawlessness and the suppression of fundamental rights."

The governor asserted that any violation of the rights of free speech and assembly of one group "is injury to the rights of all." He continued:

"Wherever such a violation occurs it must be scorned and repudiated even though the incident were deliberately provoked."

Dewey said that the Communist groups "obviously did provoke this incident."

The governor specifically instructed the district attorney to

Lewis Renews Plea For Fund

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
INS Staff Correspondent

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., Sept. 14.—John L. Lewis made a new effort today to rescue the miners' financially shaky welfare fund before resorting to strike action in the southern coal fields.

As strike rumors swept the south, the United Mine Workers president made his second attempt in 24 hours to enforce operators' contributions to the welfare program.

He appealed to I. F. Freiberger, chairman of the board of the Cleveland Trust company to require mining companies allegedly under his control to pay up the 20 cents a ton royalties on coal produced in June and July.

Lewis Declared Wrong

In Cleveland, Freiberger said Lewis "is 100 per cent wrong in asserting we hold controlling interests." He said his power was small.

"I have not as yet decided on my reply to Mr. Lewis," he said, "but I shall give him an answer."

Today was the last work day of this week in the bituminous fields and the mine owners will not know until next week, barring a formal strike order from the UMW, whether Lewis intends to back his demand by strike action.

The miners have been working only Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of each week since June 30 and are not scheduled to return to the pits until next Monday.

The 100,000 southern miners worked the final shift of a three-day week but John Owens, UMW secretary-treasurer, refused to tell the mine owners whether the men will report back to work Monday as scheduled.

Joseph E. Moody, president of the Southern Coal Producers association, asked Owens point-blank during a two-hour bargaining session with the union wheth-

Complete itinerary of the trip, of which Gordon Thompson and John W. McKee are co-chairmen, is as follows:

Shallowater, 7:50 to 8:05 a.m.; Anton, 8:30 to 8:50 a.m.; Littlefield, 9:10 to 9:45 a.m.; Amherst, 10 to 10:30 a.m.; Sudan, 10:45 to 11:15 a.m.; Muleshoe, 11:40 a.m. to 12:10 p.m.; Farwell, 12:35 to 12:50 p.m.; Clovis, 1 to 2:30 p.m. for lunch; and Portales, 3 to 3:30 p.m. The group will return to Lubbock by 6:30 p.m.

Main feature of the trips is the distribution of balloons, whistles, rulers and other fair reminders to school children and distribution of other favors and posters in the business district of towns.

Two more booster trips will be made next week on Tuesday and Thursday.

Three Workmen Killed As Tunnel Wall Caves In Without Warning

HELENA, Mont., Sept. 14. (AP)—A tunnel wall weighing about 25 tons folded in without waring beneath the continential divide today, killing three men.

The men, members of a Jackhammer crew were Marvin A. Hagen, 28, East Helena; Orville McCullum, 46, Mullan, Idaho, and Roy J. Belveal, 48, Goodrich, Colo.

The cave in occurred in the Northern Pacific's Mullan tunnel, 13 miles west of Helena.

Civil Service Group Hears Complaints

Commission Clears Officers Of Charges

FORMAL opinions of the Lubbock Civil Service commission late Wednesday absolved police officers of charges of official misconduct in connection with the recent arresting and jailing of two persons.

In connection with charges brought by Lonnie Houston Johnson, jailed when, officials charged, he would not sign a ticket Aug. 24 to appear within five days on a reckless driving charge, this opinion was read by Marion Sanford, chairman:

"All officials involved acted fully within their legal powers and in accordance with the instructions handed down to them by their superiors, and in accordance with departmental procedures; and rather than to be censored, they are to be commended for faithfully carrying out their duties as police officers.

Made Telephone Call

"The Civil Service commission regrets that regulations and procedures have prevented the acceptance of cash bonds in minor traffic violations, and concurs with the City commission in feeling that an ordinance should be passed making it possible to accept cash bonds in such cases."

The reference to the cash bonds relates to another angle of the Johnson case. When the defendant was taken to the station he offered to post a cash bond for later appearance on the traffic charge. But police declined, there being no provision for such practice in the ordinances. A few minutes later, however, Johnson was allowed to post a cash bond and obtain his liberty after he had telephoned Mayor W. H. Rodgers from the jail and Rodgers had telephoned City Attorney Vaughn E. Wilson, it was brought out at several stages of the three and a half hours of testimony from numerous witnesses.

Incident Is "Regretable"

In an opinion in the case brought by Charles William Morgan, who charged police misconduct in connection with his being jailed on a reckless driving complaint July 9, the commission dictated into the record:

"We do not see where any officer exceeded his authority or acted improperly."

In the third case investigated, however, the Civil Service commission, while not finding any misconduct, nevertheless said that failure of the department and its personnel promptly to identify a man suffering of a mental condition and return him to a relative here who had asked them to be on lookout for the man was a "most regrettable incident."

Statements Are Issued

Sanford and the other members of the commission, Alex McDonald and A. Doyle Justice, agreed that:

"In our opinion it was a most regrettable incident, and Police Chief Lewis Kittrell feels the same way.

"We believe it is possible to improve the functions of the police department and that under a new policy such incidents may not hap-

Election Claimed 'Rebuke' To HST

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Sept. 14. (AP) Republicans today won back the 26th Pennsylvania district congressional seat they lost in the 1948 Democratic sweep—and GOP leaders crowed about a "stinging rebuke" to President Truman's domestic policies.

John P. Saylor, 41-year-old former Navy lieutenant who supplied the flag raised by Marines at Iwo Jima, coasted to victory at a special election.

He defeated Gold Star mother Mrs. Robert L. Coffey, sr., who sought the congressional post made vacant by the death of her son, Rep. Robert L. Coffey, jr., in a Navy jet plane crash.

Saylor said even he is surprised by the size of his majority.

Returns from 317 of 325 precincts in the three-county district gave Saylor 57,037; Coffey 48,168.

The special election held in conjunction with the state party primaries was the first grass roots test of the Truman administration since last November.

Registration Will Open Today For Fall Term At Texas Tech

By KENNETH MAY

LONG lines already were forming on the campus of Texas Technological college Wednesday afternoon as upperclassmen arrived for official registration which begins at 8 a. m. today.

With seniors getting preference over juniors and sophomores, class scheduling was to get into full operation today with 3,500 expected to complete enrollment before 5 p. m.

A total of 5,300 had taken out permits to register from Registrar W. P. Clement by 5 p. m. Wednesday, with at least 500 more probably to appear today.

An unexpected influx of transfer students from other colleges was reported in several divisions of the college, giving rise to feelings that the fall enrollment might exceed the 5,800 originally estimated.

Approximately 1,100 of the registrants are first-term freshmen, according to estimates by Ernest Wallace, assistant dean of arts and sciences and head of the freshman orientation program completed Wednesday night.

Separate meetings of freshman women and men were held last

Strike Threat Again Raised

(By The Associated Press)

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 14.—United States Steel corporation today bluntly refused to accept the presidential fact finding board's steel peace formula without bargaining.

CIO Steelworker President Philip Murray forced the issue, developing anew the threat of a nationwide steel strike at the expiration of the presidential truce Sept. 25.

Murray told U. S. Steel president Benjamin F. Fairless to state plainly whether the nation's No. 1 steel producer would accept the board's recommendations.

Dislikes Board Report

Murray didn't like Fairless' initial answer that they resume bargaining without committing Big Steel on the board findings.

Fairless quickly fired back that the steelworker chief can't dictate U. S. Steel's acceptance as a condition to bargaining but he's willing to renew conferences.

And Fairless made it plain for the first time just how Big Steel feels about the fact finders' report. Big Steel doesn't like it.

President Truman's board recommended a 10-cent hourly package for the steelworkers' million members to cover company financed insurance and pensions but not wages. Financing the program is the thorn in the side of Big Steel.

Demands Bargaining

Said Fairless:

"In spite of the fact that the cost of producing steel will be increased by any new contributory program of social insurance, United States Steel is willing to pay up to four cents an hour, the amount suggested by the presidential steel board, as its proper share of the cost of a proper program for social insurance on a contributory basis arrived at through collective bargaining.

"It's position, however, is that as a matter of sound principle any program of social insurance be on a contributory basis."

Murray didn't comment immediately. A spokesman said he was studying Big Steel's reply and that no answer could be expected before tomorrow at the earliest.

Lewis Sets Pace

The close mouthed Scotsman gave up his fight for a fourth round wage increase for his men who average around $1.65 an hour. But he insists on insurance and pension programs financed entirely by the industry.

Spurring him on is the $100 monthly pensions paid to the United Mine workers. John L. Lewis got the coal industry to foot the entire cost of the pension by 20-cent a ton royalties on coal.

Fairless said if the recommendation of a non-contributory welfare program is accepted by the steel industry "the public at large

Report May Lead To Discovery Of Fliers

AMARILLO, Sept. 14. (AP)— A report today from a Freedom, Okla., farmer that he saw what he believed to be a plane plunging to earth last Thursday may lead tomorrow morning to the discovery of William B. Cline, Amarillo cattleman, and J. W. McBrayer, White Deer rancher.

The two have been missing since shortly after 4:30 o'clock last Thursday afternoon, when they took off from Hays, Kan., on the last leg of a flight from the Cleveland air races to Amarillo.

The farmer, Derrald Bilyear, said he saw what he believes may have been a plane plunging to earth last Thursday in the desolate, sparsely-populated Sand Hill country five miles southwest of Wynoka.

Wynoka is almost directly on the air route the two men were assumed to have taken to Amarillo from Wichita.

An Air Force rescue service plane from Wichita will land at Alva, Okla., early tomorrow morning to take Bilyear aboard, after which it will search the area where he believes the plane crashed.

Greece Bolsters Army Success By Warning Albania To Cease Aid

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

Greece has served warning on Albania to stop providing a base for Communist guerrilla operations or face invasion.

Greek soldiers already have crossed the border on numerous occasions in pursuit of the guerrillas. Now the government threatens to wipe out the Communist springboard entirely.

The warning is to be made formal when the Greek situation comes before the United Nations assembly, but action will be taken before then if guerrilla attacks are renewed. Athens says.

Army Gains Top Hand

The Greeks claim the right to act under article 51 of the UN charter, which provides for self-defense.

Cominform support of the Greek guerrillas, which has permitted them to strike and then flee into neighboring countries whenever faced by overwhelming force, has enabled a few thousand men to terrorize a whole country and elude a large army for several years.

The guerrillas had so much of the upper hand for a while that they even set up what they called a government on Greek soil.

But now the army has come into its own, with the withdrawal of Yugoslavia from the Cominform bloc and an apparent slackening of interest in Bulgaria. Athens has had a really decisive success on the Albanian front in recent mountain fighting and intends to take advantage of it.

Russian Intervention Doubted

Dispatches say the government is aware of what might happen if Russia decided to intervene directly to defend Albania from invasion. But the consensus is that Russia would not risk a general war by doing so. The fact that Russian troops or planes would have to violate Greek or Yugoslav territory is believed sufficient deterrent.

Although supporting the guerrillas in many ways, Russia and her satellites have indicated throughout the civil war that they wished to keep it localized. The Communist forces have not been supplied with heavy guns and an air force which would have truly threatened the Greek government and might have resulted in drawing American and British forces into the picture.

Snyder Churches Used For Handling School Overflow

SNYDER, Sept. 14. (Special) — Five churches have been pressed into service here to handle the overflow of students from the schools, bursting at the seams with a record enrollment of 1,702.

The high school, with an increase of only 65 over last year's 267, is managing all right, but the elementary school is jammed with 1,370 youngsters, 540 more than last year.

School Supt. M. E. Stanfield announced Wednesday that arrangements have been completed for handling the overflow by placing two sections of the first grade in the First Christian church, two sections of the second grade in the First Baptist church, one section of the second grade in the Presbyterian church, one section of the third grade in Snyder Methodist church, and two sections of the third grade in Snyder Church of Christ.

"We are going along nicely considering the overcrowded conditions prevailing, and we hope to relieve the situation just as soon as new building room is available," he said.

The large increase in enrollment is attributed to the oil development in this area, which has brought hundreds of new families here.

Antimony Plant In Laredo May Close

LAREDO, Sept. 14 (AP)—One of the United States' few antimony smelters may have to close down.

It is the Texas Mining & Smelting company's Laredo plant, which only a few months ago was at a peak of activity.

The smelter now is processing its stockpile of ore and no new shipments are being received from Mexico, general Manager O. D. Niedermeyer said.

The Laredo plant reached its highest production during the last quarter of 1948 and through January, 1949. At that time the payroll passed $100,000 a month with 350 men employed. During World War II the smelter operated around the clock turning out the metal for war.

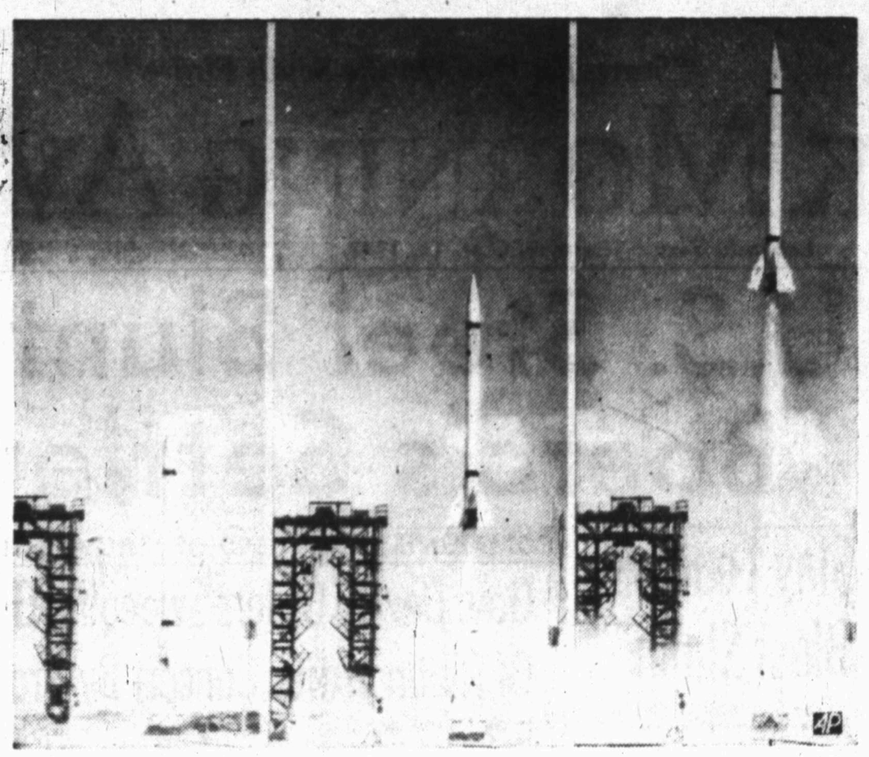

Now the plant has only 50 men working a single-shift seven-day week.

Ore for the smelter ordinarily comes from Mexico, but any ore being taken out of the mines there now is being refined in Mexico or simply "stacked up in the patios," Niedermeyer said.

Niedermeyer said there are only two other antimony plants in the United States—one at Los Angeles which he said is closing up, and one at Stinite, Idaho.

A factor in the slowdown of work here, he said is that labor costs and other expenses have risen here while costs in Mexico have declined.

Federal Agents Arrest Man For Operating Canadian Land Development Fraud In U. S.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 14 (INS)—A Minneapolis man was held in federal custody today in a fraudulent Canadian land development scheme by which he allegedly obtained more than $50,000 by using the names of Winston Churchill, King George VI and the late President Roosevelt.

Ingwald S. Steensland, 67, was arrested yesterday by U. S. deputy marshals following his secret indictment by a federal grand jury for operating the "Prince Rupert Development Co."

Rewards To Be Shared

Assistant U. S. District Attorney Howard Gelb said Steensland sold stock in the firm for developing a rich tract of land in British Columbia which he said was being offered to U. S. investors as a "debt of gratitude" by Winston Churchill and King George.

According to the prosecutor, Steensland told his victims that Churchill wanted to "do something big" for Roosevelt after the President transferred 50 U. S. destroyers to Britain early in World War II.

Steensland reportedly told investors his firm was formed under the "Canadian secret corporation act" to allow U. S. investors to share in the rich rewards upon development of iron ore, coal and lumber on the land.

Bank Loan Claimed

Gelb said that Steensland also claimed that King George planned to abdicate and move to British Columbia where his development firm expected to produce 10,000 tons of coal and two million board feet of lumber daily.

The prosecutor charged that the promoter told share-holders their contributions would be supplemented by a $90 million advance from the World bank. Gelb added that the "secret act" under which Steensland claimed his firm was formed in Canada is non-existent.

Gelb released the names of five "share purchasers" and said others could be produced as possible "surprise witnesses." The five named were:

Emil Erickson of Carlton, Minn.; Albert Aieken of Glenburn, N. D.; Henry Demille of Stevenson, Mich.; and Oscar W. Johnson and H. V. Walston, both of Duluth.

Steensland's arraignment has been set for Sept. 27.

MORTON, Sept. 14. (Special)—Final rites for C. C. Reynolds, 47, Morton businessman and civic worker, who died in his home here Tuesday after a lengthy illness, were read at 3 p. m. today in Morton First Baptist church.

The Rev. W. C. Wright, pastor, and Rev. K. L. Bullard, former pastor of the Morton Missionary Baptist church, officiated. Burial followed in Morton cemetery.

Mr. Reynolds was owner of Morton Motor Co., in addition to other business properties here. He had been active in civic projects since moving to Morton from Shallowater in 1934.

New York ALP Candidate's Car Bombarded With Bricks

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (AP)—Volley of bricks was hurled last night at a parked car occupied by Leo Isacson, former American Labor party congressman.

Police said a group of youths riding in several automobiles, sped past Isacson's car, parked near an ALP district club in the Bronx, and threw at least a score of bricks.

Isacson, defeated last year in his bid for reelection to Congress and now ALP candidate for Bronx borough president, was uninjured.

Six Men Arrested

He said several bricks crashed through windows to the interior of his car. A companion, Arthur Wasserman (of 2820 Bronx Park east), also escaped injury.

The brick throwing followed a disturbance outside the left-wing party club earlier in the evening in which, Isacson said, a band of youths sought to molest club members. He said the group had shattered windows in the club at 3578 White Plains road).

Police arrested six men, five of them members of the club, and charged them with disorderly conduct.

Bastogne Hero Given Promotion

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 (AP) — Maj. Gen. Anthony Clement McAuliffe, the hero of Bastogne who replied "nuts" to a German demand for surrender of his hard-pressed troops in 1944, today was picked to be chief of the Army's Chemical corps.

McAuliffe, fondly known to his GI's as "old Crock," was singled out for the post by President Truman. His nomination was sent to the Senate.

If the Senate approves, the World War II hero will succeed Maj. Gen. Alden H. Waitt about Oct. 1.

Other Nominations Made

Waitt was suspended from the post last July when his name cropped up in the Senate's investigation of "five percenters." The 56-year-old officer technically was restored to active duty last Saturday but his application for immediate retirement was granted.

Besides McAuliffe, Mr. Truman also sent these nominations to the Senate:

Stanton Griffis to be ambassador to Argentina, succeeding James Bruce, resigned;

Thomas W. S. Davis of Virginia to be assistant Commerce secretary;

Maj. Gen. Alfred Maximillian Gruenther to be deputy chief of staff for plans and combat operations of the Army with the rank of lieutenant general.

Stationed In Japan

McAuliffe now is commander of the 24th Infantry division stationed in Japan. A native of Washington, D.C., he has been a soldier since he entered the U.S. Military academy during the first world war.

In January, 1944, he was made a major general and was given command of the 103rd Infantry division.

The small, slightly-built officer—he's only five feet five and weighed 135 at Bastogne—parachuted into Normandy on D-Day and helped open the road for troops who had stormed the beaches.

Stood Off Nazi Attack

Later he landed by glider in Holland, where his troops figured in the capture of Eindhoven. There, too, he was faced with a German demand for surrender, but ignored it.

At Bastogne, as the GI's put it, he simply jumped out of the back of a truck and went to work. His encircled troops of the 101st Airborne division were ill-prepared for quick action. But they fought off advancing German divisions just before Christmas, 1944, in Field Marshal Kurt Von Rundstedt's last big Nazi bid for victory.

There McAuliffe gave his historic reply of "nuts" to German demands for surrender.

MAJ. GEN. A. C. McAULIFFE

McAuliffe was deputy commander of the joint task force at the Bikini atom bomb test in 1946. He has been assigned to a variety of research projects.

Jackson To Take Over Duties Of Department Head At Tech

Doyle D. Jackson, professor of education at Texas Technological college, has been selected to assume the duties of Prof. R. E. Garlin as head of the department of education and psychology due to the illness of the latter, Pres. D. M. Wiggins announced Wednesday.

To be only temporary, the selection does not constitute an appointment as acting director of the department, President Wiggins declared. Jackson will merely carry on Dr. Garlin's work until he is able to assume them again.

Dr. Garlin has been advised by his physician to take a short rest from his duties at the college, Pres. Wiggins explained.

Two Major Changes In International Labor Pact Between United States And Mexico To Be Asked

HOUSTON, Sept. 14. (U.P.)— Two changes in the international labor agreement between the United States and Mexico will be asked by this nation, a U. S. Employment service official has disclosed.

W. L. Crawford, acting regional director of the USES at Dallas, outlined the proposed changes in a speech yesterday to the Texas Citrus Growers and Shippers convention.

Crawford said that the first proposal will be for a speed-up by the Mexican government of its certification of U. S. employers.

Damage Clause Change Urged

The other prospective change, Crawford said, will be a request for modification of the present liquidated damage clause in the bracero pact. Under current provisions, U. S. employers can be charged $25 for each Mexican national not returned south of the border after expiration of work contracts.

The damage clause would be changed to allow employers to withhold $25 from workers' pay as a guarantee that they would return to Mexico on schedule. The money, held in escrow, would be given the laborers by authorities as they crossed the borded into Mexico.

Crawford said official U. S. figures showed that employers had not been having too much luck in having their requests for laborers fulfilled.

He said Texas employers had asked for 17,528 workers through September but had received only 5,400. Arkansas requested 42,000 and received 5,200, while New Mexico has received none of the 17,000 workers it sought, Crawford said.

He added that Mexico will recruit workers at Chihuahua city and Monterrey, with the Chihuahua center set to open Sept. 26.

Another contracting point is planned for Crystal City, Texas, probably opening this week.

Tyler Plays Host To Mexicans Studying Agriculture Methods

TYLER, Sept. 14. (AP)—This "rose capital of the world" played host today to a group of Mexican visitors.

The Mexicans, traveling by caravan, are on a tour of Texas studying agricultural methods. They will be here three days for the East Texas fair and Texas Jersey Cattle club show.

The party is headed by Prof. Carlos Paz Y. Puente, secretary of the national confederation of small land owners of Mexico.

During the morning the visitors were taken on a tour of the East Texas oil field and during the afternoon they visited the rose fields.

Crusading Reporter Invited To Continue Fight In 'Sinful City'

LA PORTE, Sept. 14. (U.P.)— Constable Dale Richardson today invited crusading reporter Ira Taylor of Galveston to keep fighting in "that sinful city," and then join him in "breaking the backs of the racketeers."

Taylor, tall, blond and 23, lost his job yesterday on a Galveston newspaper after filing gambling charges against five persons. He took the action "on his own," Taylor explained.

Pay Offer Impossible

Richardson, who still has not filed charges against operators of 70 one-ball marble machines he picked up in Houston during a three-day rampage last week, said he didn't know how he could offer Taylor any pay.

"That boy seems to be my kind of fellow," said the husky constable. "I haven't got any money to pay him, but I'd sure like to have him on my team."

Taylor, appearing at a hearing today for the five men he charged, was not immediately available for comment.

Constable Richardson has had ample trouble, financially. Earlier this week he got a rebuff from County Auditor Harry Washburn when he asked for $4,000 to keep his raids going.

Galveston 'Sinful'

The cowboy officer said he has had his eyes on Galveston for a long time.

"Everybody knows how things are down there in Galveston. It's a sinful place, but I just haven't had time to get down there," he said.

Richardson stated he was disappointed in the way other Houston and Harris county officers had reacted toward his gambling wrecker technique.

"It looks like all the other law officers are just gonna stand back and let these gangsters show their teeth at me," he complained.

Rotary Club Honors Members Of Football Team At Luncheon

Head Coach C. R. "Pat" Pattison and his Westerner football team for 1949 were the honored guests at the noon luncheon of the Rotary club at the Hilton hotel Wednesday.

Coach Pattison was accompanied by his assistants, end coach Fred Taylor and line coach Bill Floyd, and 37 members of this year's Westerner squad.

Commenting on the recent publicity given his team by the Fort Worth Star Telegram, which has consistently rated the Lubbock team first in District 3-AA this fall, Pattison said he had a fine team, but that his boys couldn't be rated by how good they were, but by how tough their competition would be.

"Of the 32 lettermen from last year, 13 are back for another season. Besides this, 22 good men are up from last year's two "B" squads," he said.

He was introduced by C. I. "Stony" Wall.

Palsy Center To Start

Dr. Ed Jones announced latest developments in plans for the Inter-City Rotary meeting scheduled for Sept. 29, when Gov. Thomas J. Mabry of New Mexico will be principal speaker.

A ground-breaking ceremony for the new cerebral palsy center will be held next Wednesday in lieu of the regular weekly luncheon, it was announced by Joe Bryant. The new center, to be located in the 1500 block on Thirty-fifth, is being sponsored by the Rotary club.

W. R. Clement and Floyd Honey introduced the junior Rotarians for the month, Jack Randal from Texas Tech, and J. C. Chambers, president of the student body at Lubbock high.

J. Davis Armistead introduced the visitors, which included J. Phillip Cunningham and Sherm P. Cunningham of Wichita Falls, Barnett Roberts and Sam Ribble of Levelland, Roy Abel and James Abernathy of Ralls, Herman Ford, Earl Cavender, Walter Craig, and Bill Dell, all of Amarillo, Art Cheshire of Littlefield, Gerald Prim of Sulphur Springs, and Bill Blakeney of Abilene.

Denver City Woman Hurt In Crash Remains In Hospital At Matador

MATADOR, Sept. 14 (Special)— Mrs. B. G. Moore, 67, Denver City resident who was injured Tuesday afternoon in an automobile accident about 12 miles west of Matador, tonight was resting as well as could be expected in Traweek hospital here, hospital attendants said.

Mrs. Moore received a number of contusions and cuts and bruises. She also suffered a fracture of the right arm.

Mrs. Moore was more extensively hurt in the mishap than had first been thought.

She was a passenger in an automobile driven by her son, Noel Moore, 36, of Lockney, which crashed into the back of a heavy gravel truck near the edge of the Caprock during a heavy rain about 3 p.m. Tuesday.

Neither Moore nor Joseph Couch, 47, of Plainview, driver of the truck, was injured. The truck was not badly damaged, but the top of the passenger automobile was torn off.

Wife Of Ball Player Injured In Fall Down Flight Of Stairs

ENGLEWOOD, N. J., Sept. 14. (AP)—Mrs. Lucille Hubbell, wife of famous "screwball" pitcher Carl Hubbell, was in Englewood hospital today after falling down a flight of stairs.

Hospital officials said Hubbell had asked them not to give out any information on the extent of his wife's injuries. The hospital said last night she was "resting comfortably."

Police Chief Edward Menze of nearby Haworth, said Mrs. Hubbell told police she had a fainting spell at the head of the stairs in her home in Haworth and fell to the first floor, where she lay for almost 12 hours.

An Englewood laundry driver, Henry Hemming, heard her calls for help at 11 a. m. yesterday and called police, Menze said.

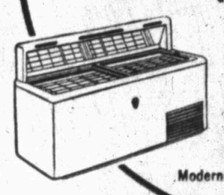

Hubbell who climbed to fame by his pitching exploits with the New York Giants now is director of the Giant farm system.

LIFE'S PERVERSITY

HAD you thought much about the perversity of life? For instance, it is practically impossible to get an identification tag off a garment when you get it home from the tailor shop, but the buttons break away without you even so much as touching them.

Also you can spend a lot of money on a devil's ivy plant, enchanced in a brass container and what happens? It withers and the leaves fall off. But look at the luxurious growth and glossy leaves on your neighbor's plant which was bought at the five and dime and planted in a clay pot!

THAT, one supposes, is to be expected. Everyone has his own personal list of things like that. At times when we take special pains with our appearance and have a hunch that something is going to happen, we spend an uneventful day. But on days that our hair is a fright and we have on our oldest clothes and are out of sorts, former classmates drop in, someone wants us to go to lunch, or a room of school children passes by and we are pointed out to their startled eyes as "the woman's editor."

STOCKINGS are perverse, too. We can wear a pair without trouble when we are at home and could make a change. But they pop runs when we are at church or when we are about to make a grand entrace or are leaving on a train and can't do a thing about getting a new pair.

We can make perfectly wonderful cake or candy for the family but, if we promise to bring the dessert for a foursome or a small party the icing stays sticky and you either have to take a spoon or an ax to eat the candy.

WE ARE told by sympathetic friends that this perversity isn't a curse for us alone. One woman says each time she decides to clean her "junk" room and dresses herself to fit the job, unexpected guests of the type who enjoy a formal tea party drop in. When she changes her clothes, she can peek through the door and see them wiping a finger along the coffee table, which has not been dusted, or glancing at a cobweb that swings from the chandelier.

ONE woman says she can get a dress in her size in any store until a sale comes along and there is never a single one left.

Pets or children, previously extolled as either well disciplined or full of cute tricks, refuse to perform or act like crazy when called upon to demonstrate.

Town Talk

FASHION is today's keynote for entertainment as far as Lubbock women are concerned, for two showings of the Lubbock Junior Welfare League style parade will take place — one at 12:30 noon and another at the dinner hour, 7:30 p.m.

One change has been made in the line-up of models. Since Mrs. George W. Cochran underwent unexpected surgery, she will be replaced by Mrs. Tom Carle, who will display ensembles from Margaret's.

Spending a busy day Wednesday designing and arranging coiffures for the dozen models was Miss Ella May Butler, manager of the Hilton Beauty service. Also playing a big part in the success of today's shows are Fred Beasley, who helped with the stage and table decorations, and Gerre Hancock, who will play the piano providing a musical background for the fashion parades.

Opening the fall season for Texas Tech's five women's social clubs will be an informal convocation to be held today at 5 p. m. in the Aggie auditorium on the college campus.

The event is a compulsory one for all coeds desiring to pledge a social club this semester.

Square dancers and exhibitionists from all over the Panhandle are expected to attend a Gala Square Dance jamboree to be held in Hereford Saturday at 8:30 p. m. in the Veteran's Ball park.

J. F. Sparkman of Amarillo will be master of ceremonies and the Range Riders Square Dance band, also of Amarillo, will provide music for the celebration. A complete program has been arranged featuring guest callers, exhibition sets and couple dances.

Mrs. O. L. Byrd, 2628 Twenty-second, entertained the faculty of Roscoe Wilson school Tuesday from 4 until 6 at her home with a coffee and doughnut party.

Guests attending were Mesdames Ivy Savage, Lois Bonner, Eleanor Boulter, Gerald Collinsworth, Thelma Lofland, Lela Mitchell, Nina Thompson, James Holcomb, Margarette Gordon and Johnnie Goldwater, and Misses Gertrude Herm, Irene Malone, Murl Ratliff, Eddythe Walker, Hattie Herm and Dimple Watson.

This is an annual custom of Mrs. Byrd's and this year's party marked fifth year to entertain the school's faculty.

Joe Kirk Fulton, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Fulton, Levelland road, was honored on his eighteenth birthday with a party in the Lubbock Country club party room Wednesday night. His mother was hostess and assisting her in entertaining was Mrs. S. E. Cone.

Centering the table was a birthday cake topped by a miniature corral and tiny horses, and lettered with "Round-Up Time For Joe Kirk." Working with horses is one of the young man's favorite pastimes, so the Western motif was an appropriate one.

He made his own place cards which featured ranch brands in the the corners of the cards. Among other brands he used the "Diamond-F", which is registered in his own name. Inside the place cards, Mrs. Fulton had written such things as "Stand up and sing your favorite song," or "Tell about the funniest thing which ever happened to you." The informal program which resulted provided everyone with lots of laughs.

Guests attending were Joe Kirk and his date, Pat Martin, Fred Jobe and Pat Mansell, Gray Lewis and Shirley Chapman, Reg Martin and Betsy Fondel, Robert Fehleison and Carolyn Schafer, Jack Adamson and Brynonette Bethandy, Don French and Tommie Flynn, Lloyd Davis and Martha Le Adams, Thomas hite and Carolyn Chick, DeVern Ray and Jean Hogan, and Clyde Tatum, jr.

Pat Martin led the group in singing "Happy Birthday" to her escort. Place favors for the girls were vanda orchids. Gifts were presented to Joe Kirk from his mother and father.

PIN-WORMS CAN STRIKE YOU!
Don't make the mistake of believing that your family is safe from Pin-Worms—that these nasty pests strike only "careless" homes.
Medical experts report that one out of every three persons examined—adults and children alike—was a victim of these ugly creatures that live and grow inside the human body. And this common condition spreads rapidly ... often through entire families.
Watch for the warning signs of Pin-Worms in your family—especially the maddening rectal itch. Then get Jayne's P-W Vermifuge. P-W contains a special, medically-approved ingredient that attacks Pin-Worms in the intestines and removes them from the body.
Don't take chances. At the first sign of Pin-Worms, ask your druggist for P-W, the small, easy-to-take tablets perfected by the famous Jayne Co., specialists in worm remedies for over 100 years.

Movie Leader Scores Censorship In Fight For 'Adult' Movies

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 14 (INS) — Sam Goldwyn, long known as the motion picture industry's most-outspoken defender of the right to make "adult" movies, launched another tirade today against "this vicious, un-American thing called censorship."

Goldwyn, head of Samuel Goldwyn productions, blasted both censors and censorship in his typical Goldwynese in an address before the Theater Owners of America convention.

Urges Nationwide Drive

The producer, calling upon the nation's theater owners to "get up on your hind legs and do everything that has to be done to eliminate this censorship," declared:

"When I say censorship must go, I am certainly not asking for license to make pictures which offend public decency in the slightest. But I am saying that once we have exercised the self-regulation that we do, we have the right to be free from the interference of petty, small-minded, single-tracked dirt-sniffers who feel they have to justify their official existence by using their scissors instead of their heads."

"Empty Fairy Tales"

He went on to point out that fear of censorship forces the studios to make a "lot of empty little fairy tales" that have no relation to bringing into the theaters the huge public over the age of 30 which so consistently stays away.

"You exhibitors, producers and everyone connected with pictures should join me in a campaign to oust censorship, this awful millstone around the neck of the motion picture industry," he urged.

The owners also heard Marcus Cohn of Washington, D. C., their television advisor, urge them to turn their attention to theater television.

BEAUMONT MAN DIES

BEAUMONT, Sept. 14 (AP) — Frank D. Phelan, 57, Beaumont civic and business leader for nearly 40 years, was found dead in bed this morning. Death was attributed to natural causes. Phelan was president of the Phelan company.

ISRAEL LAYS CLAIM TO CITY

UN Plan For International Rule Of Jerusalem Faces Opposition

LAKE SUCCESS, Sept. 14. (AP)—The new UN proposal for international control of Jerusalem appeared today to be headed for trouble.

The plan was submitted yesterday for consideration in the 59-nation general assembly by the Palestine Conciliation commission as a basis for peace in the Holy City.

UN delegates were reluctant to comment on the plan until they had time to study it more, but informed quarters said bitter opposition may be expected at least from the Israeli government.

It still was not known whether the plan would meet the approval of other vitally interested religious and political groups: Arabs and the Vatican and other Christian churches.

Limited Power Sought

To become effective, the plan must be accepted by Israel and Hashemite Jordan, the two countries now ocupying Jerusalem. The assembly had no power to enforce its decisions; it can only recommend—and use persuasive force.

The commission's blueprint would preserve the Arab and Jewish sectors of the Holy City and provide a measure of self-rule for each, but would give supreme authority to a UN commissioner named by the general assembly.

Sources familiar with Israeli policy pointed out that Israel already had told the UN she could accept no plan which recognized an international regime as supreme in the Holy City. Israel has suggested instead that the UN set up a control over the holy places without interfering in local administration.

City Is Split

An Israeli government spokesman said in Tel Aviv last night that plan contains "specific proposals which the government of Israel and the Jews of Jerusalem cannot accept." He said "any settlement that in any degree severs Jewish Jerusalem from the living body of the Israel state would be regarded as unacceptable.

The spokesman charged that the commission ignored the fundamental problem of sovereignty and without a positive solution of that problem no stable regime can be set up in the Jerusalem area."

The Vatican, on the other hand, has urged creation of full international rule.

At present, Hashemite Jordan troops of Arab King Abdullah occupy the walled old city and apparently intend to stay: Isreal has the new city on the other side of a narrow no-man's-land and claims Jerusalem is part of Israel.

New Plan Described

It had been hoped that the new plan, drafted at Lausanne, Switzerland, would embody a compromise formula. It differed from the 1948 trusteeship plan primarily, however, in its recognition of the existing division in the city with the two separate local administrations.

Under the new plan, these administrations would continue but the UN would create above them a central government consisting of a commissioner, a 14-member general council, an international tribunal and a mixed tribunal of local residents.

The general assembly already has gone on record twice as favoring the principle of an international regime for Jerusalem. This principle was embodied originally in the 1947 partition plan. The trusteeship council drafted a statute to govern the city, but this was discarded when the UN decided it couldn't put the partition scheme into effect.

The assembly again at Paris last fall endorsed the idea of an international rule for the Holy City when it directed the newly-created Palestine Conciliation commission to draft a new plan. The commission at present has the following members: Paul A. Porter of the United States, Claude De Boisanger of France and Canlv Yalcin of Turkey.

Full Slate Of Schoolboy Grid Tilts On Tap This Weekend

Breisinger Pitches, Bats Dukes To 11-2 Win Over Loboes

Eleven Conference Affairs Set; Three Games Scheduled Tonight

Another jam-packed South Plains schoolboy grid schedule is on tap this weekend as several Class A teams get their first taste of conference competition.

The full docket includes 29 games, of which 11 are conference affairs.

The program opens tonight with three games and closes Saturday night with the Denver City-at-Wink tussle.

Most of the action is slated Friday night, when 25 contests will be unreeled.

Two B Tilts Slated

Two Class B conference tilts and a six-man contest are scheduled tonight. In District 3-B, favored Dimmitt is host to Amherst. District 4-A activity finds Cooper at Meadow, and in the six-man game Pettit plays Three-Way at Morton.

Friday night the plot thickens, with practically all the top area clubs getting in on the act.

Plainview, in District 1-AA, journeys outside the region to meet Polytechnic High at Fort Worth.

In District 3-AA, Lubbock's highly-regarded Westerners open their 1949 campaign by playing hosts to the aerial-minded Childress Bobcats. Lamesa, 7-0 victor over Levelland last week, entertains Seminole, another Class A team. Brownfield is idle.

All nine teams of District 3-A see action this week. The lone conference engagement finds favored Crosbyton at Tulia. Crosbyton was idle last week while Tulia dropped a 6-0 decision to Canyon. Matador, loser by 13-6 to Turkey in its opener, takes on Silverton this week, and Spur goes to Hamlin. Paducah tries for its first 1949 victory when it entertains Crowell, while Floydada is host to the Post Antelopes, defending bi-district champions.

Lockney Meets Sudan

Lockney, 3-A titlist last year, is at home against the Sudan Hornets in an inter-district clash that has attracted considerable attention. Sudan, ranked as one of the top contenders in District 4-A North before the start of the season, lost a 12-7 decision to Class B Dimmitt last week and will be trying hard to get back into the victory column against the burly Lockney powerhouse. Ralls, after earning a 13-13 tie with Post last week, entertains another 4-A south club, Tahoka, this week, and Abernathy, 7-6 upset victim of New Deal in its curtain-raiser, goes against Slaton at Slaton.

One conference clash is on the docket in District 4-A North, where the Morton Indians invade Littlefield to battle the favored Wildcats. Sundown puts its new 2,000 seat grandstand to use for the first time as it entertains O'Donnell, and Muleshoe goes outside the state to meet Portales, N. M. Levelland goes gunning for its first 1949 triumph at Hereford.

The Seagraves Eagles, of 4-A South, make their 1949 debut in a home game with the Big Spring "B" team.

Cooper Invades Meadow

In 5-A games involving area teams, Andrews is at Pecos in what promises to be a scoring bee. Last week Andrews thumped Olton, 44-6, while Pecos was crushing Class AA Brownfield, 41-0. On Saturday night, the Denver City Mustangs play at Wink.

Snyder, lone area representative in 6-A, journeys to Stamford to try for its second straight 1949 win.

In addition to tonight's Amherst-at-Dimmitt battle, three other conference encounters are on the District 3-B Friday night slate. Favored Olton invades Spade, Friona is at Farwell, and Springlake goes to Whitharral. It will be the first night game in history at Whitharral. Hale Center, defending district champ, takes on powerful Kress at Kress in a non-conference go, while Anton enjoys an open date.

District 4-B activity finds Cooper at Meadow tonight, with two more conference meetings Friday night. Ropesville's Eagles are at Petersburg, and Plains goes to New Deal. Whitface entertains the Levelland "B" squad, while Frenship is idle.

Graziano Kayos Charlie Fusari

By BOB CONSIDINE
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Like a mad and frustrated bull, toyed with too long by a fanciful matador, Rocky Graziano wheeled in the fading minute of a losing fight at the Polo Grounds tonight and annihilated clever Charley Fusari.

Leaking blood from his right eye and losing on points in this, his first New York fight after three years of suspension, the former middleweight champion knocked out Fusari in 2:04 of the tenth and final round.

Graziano, who was court-martialed during the war for attacking an officer and barred from his home town's rings for failing to report a $100,000 bribe offer in 1946, was trailing by two or three rounds on most ringside scorecards when he turned on the heat of a hungry tiger.

Missed Often

He had missed often, though he had pursued the blond Sicilian, 12 pounds lighter, from the opening bell. The rounds he lost were Fusari's only through a strict interpretation of the boxing rules, for Charley spent much of his time on an invisible bicycle and his punches brought only sneers to Rocky's tough-mugg face.

Rocky seemed arm weary and disgusted as he came out for the tenth round, and the jubilant rival corner sent out Fusari with only these instructions: "You're home, baby. Just bob and weave."

Rocky missed three overhand rights by a total of perhaps three yards, and in his stumbling follow-throughs ran into the peppery jabs of the pale Fusari.

Raiders Drill Against Frosh

Don't look now, but the Texas Tech varsity couldn't do much yesterday afternoon against a freshman team that, working strictly on defense, piled up the Red Raiders with little appreciable gain time after time.

The first year men, showing up exceedingly well on their second day of scrimmage, presented a forward wall that was bigger than the varsity. It also was tougher. Against Coach Allie White's first string freshmen, the varsity repeatedly failed to open holes.

Moreover, the freshmen were throwing Raider backs as though the nomenclature of the two teams was reversed. Especially outstanding for the first year men were W. H. Barker of Colorado City and Gene Doss of Arlington Heights, Fort Worth, in the backfield, and Jimmy Williams of Phillips at center, Neil Rogers of Abilene at guard, Marland Ribble of Arlington Heights, Fort Worth, and August Meynig of Colorado City at tackles, and Alton Linnie of Monahans at end.

Williams was hurt during the scrimmage and had to be carried from the field. His left knee was twisted as he went after a tackle and was blocked from the side. Trainer Mason Gorby said that he was afraid it was serious, after a thorough examination had been made.

As for the Tech varsity, Coach Dell Morgan sent the players through the longest scrimmage of the year, with gradual improvement being noticed as the afternoon wore on. Blocking improved considerably, especially against second and third string freshmen, but the showing yesterday did not lend encouragement to hopes of an upset over Texas Saturday.

Downfield blocking by the Raider regulars was pretty good, but line blocking was shoddy much of the time. Against a strong freshman line that was packed, Tech wasn't having much success.

The entire scrimmage yesterday still showed that the Raiders have a lot of work ahead of them.

BORNEMAN WILL MISS TECH GAME BECAUSE OF INJURY

AUSTIN, Sept. 14. (AP)—Fullback Ray Borneman, top ground gainer of the Texas Longhorn team last year, may not play against Texas Tech here Saturday.

Soreness in a knee which he injured in the Orange Bowl game has been troubling him. Coach Blair Cherry said he did not want to take a chance on the knee being reinjured.

Trainer Frank Medina reported the knee has healed, but needs more conditioning before Borneman can go full tilt.

Lewis Levine of Harlingen, a 185-pound Junior squadman, ran at Borneman's spot in the No. 1 lineup as the Longhorns went through a long drill this afternoon.

Levine has been looking good in practice sessions and will start Saturday in Borneman's place.

The remainder of the starting offensive backfield will see either Bobby Coy Lee or Paul Campbell at quarterback; Perry Samuels, one of this week's co-captains, at left half, and Randall Clay at right half.

Probable starters in the line are Ends Ray Stone and Paul Williams; Tackles Gene Vykukal and Kenneth Jackson; Guards Errol Fry, co-captain, and Bud McFadin; and Center Dick Rowan. There will be several changes if Texas kicks off.

Sophomore Byron Townsend was running at full speed today after missing last week's scrimmage because of a sore shoulder. He will share left half duties with Samuels and Billy Pyle.

Cherry tested both the offensive and defensive strength of his team in a scrimmage against a demonstration team which ran Texas Tech plays.

A crowd of 30,000 to 35,000 is expected for the Texas season opener, Ticket Manager Alice Archer reported.

Sweden's first thousand atomic war wardens have started training courses.

Fort Worth Defeats Shreveport, 8 To 1

FORT WORTH, Sept. 14. (AP)—Robert Milliken's three hit pitching put the Fort Worth Cats out front in their semi-final round Texas league playoff opener here tonight as the Shreveport Sports went down 8-1.

Pioneers Prep For Frenship

The Pioneers of Lubbock High school went through an offensive workout Wednesday in preparation for their opening grid clash at 7:30 tonight against Frenship school of Wolfforth at Chapman field.

Tickets will be on sale at the gate for 50 and 25 cents, and a good crowd is expected for the tilt with the 4-B representative coached by W. L. Willis, who is in his first year at Wolfforth.

Punting, punt returns and extra-point tries came in for lots of attention from Pioneer Coaches Leon Batchelor and Dee Alexander Wednesday as the team tapered off for the first game of the season.

Both teams will run off the T-formation, and there is not expected to be a decided weight advantage by either team. The Pioneers are expected to have a smoother working club this season, with a better running and passing attack.

TACKLES—Charles Cole, Harlan Cooke, Jim Moore, Nelson Evans, David Smith, Farley Wade, Johnny Turpin, Neal Benjamin, Wesley Curry, Ray Thornton, George Berry and Ray McClarty.

GUARDS—Ben West, Melvin Deardorff, Bobbie May, Charles Nix, Don Stuart, Mike Harris, Teddy Dotts and Jimmy Cantrell.

Lamesa's Guiterrez Blasted For Fourteen Hits In Playoff Game

ALBUQUERQUE, Sept. 14. (AP)— Southpaw Tom Bresinger pitched and batted the Albuquerque Dukes to an 11 to 2 victory over the Lamesa Loboes in the sixth game of the West Texas-New Mexico Shaughnessy playoff tonight.

The Dukes and the Loboes will settle the series tomorrow night in the seventh and final game in the first round. Don Ferrarese will pitch for Albuquerque and John Upton for Lamesa.

The winner will meet Amarillo in the loop finals.

The Dukes blasted the Lamesa ace, Jack Gutierrez, for 14 hits—seven of them for extra bases. Breisinger led the attack with a timely hit in the seventh with two men on base.

The Dukes, however, had sewed up the game before Breisinger hit. They picked up a run in the first inning on a single by manager Hershel Martin and a triple by Allan Maul. Three more runs crossed the plate in the third when Dick Dawson walked and scored on Martin's triple to left center. Maul also walked and Gyselman singled to right, Martin scoring. Mulcahy then singled to send Maul across the plate.

Lamesa scored its two runs in the fifth when Leon Mitchell led off with a double and Breisinger loaded the bases with walks to Jimmy Sinovick and Hank Melillo. An infield single by Selbo and an infield out put the two runs across.

The Dukes continued their onslaught on Gutierrez as Martin doubled in the fifth and scored on Maul's second triple of the game. Breisinger doubled in the next inning and scored on a single by McClain.

In the seventh, Maul led off with a double. Gyselman went out on an infield play. Mulcahy walked and Attyd singled through the box to score Maul. Hamrick flied out and then Breisinger lined a tremendous drive that hit in front of centerfielder Jimmy Sinovick, bounced over his head and went all the way to the fence.

The Dukes wound up their scoring when Gyselman doubled in the eighth and scored on Mulcahy's single.

Cooper May Better 1948 Mark

Sol Everett Is New Buc Mentor

By CHOC HUTCHESON
Avalanche Sports Writer

COOPER, Sept. 14—Cooper's Pirates probably won't win the District 4-B football championship this fall. As a matter of fact, the Bucaneers will be doing well to finish in the upper bracket of the nine-team circuit.

But Cooper definitely expects to compile a 1949 grid record that will better the 1948 mark of two victories and seven losses.

The Pirates, with a new coach at the helm, open their season Thursday night against Meadow at Meadow in a conference game in which Meadow, one of the top 4-B clubs, will be a solid favorite.

Will Rely On Backs

Barring further injuries, two fine running backs should carry Cooper through to at least a mediocre season. They are Fullback Bobby Vinson, a line-ramming 180-pounder, and Halfback Belba Thompson, 145-pound speedster. Thompson already has run into the injury bugaboo this fall, and will be out for almost another month with a cracked rib suffered in a recent practice. Once he gets back into the lineup, he and Vinson should give other 4-B teams ample trouble.

Sol Everett, the new head coach at Cooper, is in his sixth year in the grid tutoring business. He moved here from Whitesboro, where he produced teams that won 15, lost three and tied two during the last two seasons. A former North Texas State Teachers college gridder, he will operate the Pirate team from the straight and modified T formations, with M. W. Kerr, of Edmond, Okla., State Teachers college, as his assistant coach.

Two Big Problems

Lack of experience in the backfield and of weight in the line are the two biggest problems confronting Everett and Kerr at present. The Cooper squad lists 11 lettermen, but many of these did not see extensive duty in 1948, and Everett doubts that the team will hit its stride before midseason.

The Pirate schedule includes Sept. 15, Cooper at Meadow; Sept. 23, Cooper at Idalou; Sept. 29, Southland at Cooper; Oct. 7, Ropesville at Cooper; Oct. 14, Cooper at New Deal; Oct. 21, Friendship at Cooper; Oct. 27, Petersburg at Cooper; Nov. 4, Cooper at Plains; Nov. 11, Whiteface at Cooper. All are conference games except the Southland contest.

The Cooper Roster

The complete Cooper roster, with respective weights, classifications and years—if any—as lettermen, includes:

ENDS—Gene Hindman (140, Sr., IL); Buddy Ward (140, Jr., IL); Gene Hamilton (150, Fresh.).

TACKLES—Bob Hoyle (145, Soph., IL); Bobby Henderson (160, Jr., 2L); Dallas Brewer (180, Fresh.); Joe Powers (140, Fresh.).

CENTERS—Glen Hunt (125, Soph.); Cecil Bradshaw (140, Sr., IL).

FULLBACK—Bobby Vinson (180, Jr., 2L).

SPORTS Slants
BY CHOC HUTCHESON

Down Lynn county way there's a softball team that's a family affair from the manager right on down to the bat boy.

In fact, a listing of the team's lineup sounds something like the third verse of the song, "I'm My Own Grandpa."

The team is St. Paul's Lutheran church of Wilson, which for the last two years has captured the Lynn County softball league championship.

Every member of the squad is a member of St. Paul church, and all except Rev. Paul Heckman, who is a regular infielder, are related in some way to at least one teammate. Only Rev. Heckmann and Rayburn Hahn do not have brothers on the roster.

Briefly, here's the remarkable family tieup:

1) There are two sets of three brothers each—Raymond, Monroe and Jeff Talkmitt, and Albert, Melvin and Martin Wuensche.

2) There are three sets of two brothers each—Hubert and Vernon Teinert, Cecil and Milton Wied, and Delbert and Henry Kieschnick.

3) Seven players are married to sisters of other squad members.

4) All except four of the players have cousins on the team.

5) The catcher's son, Bobby Dean Wied, is bat boy.

Another oddity of the St. Paul club is that the players select the manager, rather than having the manager choose the players. At the start of each season, a manager and co-manager are elected for the year. To date, this unusual system has worked out fine for all concerned.

This year St. Paul won 15 games and lost only two. In the league playoffs, the churchmen scored five consecutive triumphs, beating White's Auto of Tahoka three straight in the well-played final series.

Henry and Delbert Kieschnick were the team's leading pitchers, with Henry winning nine games and Delbert notching four victories. Neither was defeated this year.

Four hitters finished above the .400 mark for the season. They were Co-manager Hubert Teinert (.470), Manager Raymond Talkmitt (.465), Delbert Kieschnick (.423) and Jeff Talkmitt (.418).

The performance of Bo Wininger in the recent Kansas City Open re-emprasizes the "class" of the field in this year's Lubbock Country Club Invitational golf tournament. Wininger, Oklahoma A&M links star who was a semi-finalist here, was the low-scoring amateur at Kansas City, posting an even par 288 for the 72 holes to beat nationally-known Frank Stranahan by three strokes. . . . If you're in need of a good laugh, dig out a few old newspapers or magazines and read some of the pre-season big league predictions. I've just been looking at one in which John P. Carmichael, sports editor of The Chicago Daily News, picked Cleveland, Boston and New York to finish 1-2-3 in the American, with Boston, Brooklyn and Pittsburgh in that order in the National. After letting the fans in on this top-secret information, Carmichael explained why he picked 'em that way! . . . Bill Henderson's win over Jeep O'Neal was one of the Levelland lightweight's more impressive performances. He seemed a bit tense, but more than compensated for that with savagery. . . . Gene James looked all right against Dickie Brown in the early rounds, but apparently became confused as the fight progressed and ran into tough going late in the six-rounder. Even so, I thought James won handily . . . Lubbock High's future baseball prospects got a boost recently when Richard Oldham, 15-year-old son of John C. Oldham of Plainview highway, enrolled here. Young Oldham, a pitcher for the junior league Methodist Men's team here in 1947, has since played two years of American Legion and high school baseball at Fort Myers, Fla., and looks like a promising mound prospect. He also earned a football letter at quarterback while attending school in Florida.

WIDE OPEN ATTACK EXPECTED

Westerners Work On Defense Against Childress Invasion

A defensive workout against an "expected" Childress Bobcat attack disclosed a few weaknesses Wednesday in the Lubbock Westerner defense and one day of practice remains to smooth out the wrinkles.

Another dummy scrimmage against a possible Bobcat offensive will be held today at Chapman field as Coach C. R. Pattison readies the Westerner eleven for the season's opener at 8 p. m. Friday at Jones Stadium.

Morale of the Lubbock squad is high, and the boys are looking forward to the game eagerly, having drilled hard for five weeks in anticipation of the first game.

Following the defensive drills, offensive plays were run using different shifts of backfield combinations in order to keep the offensive backs working together smoothly.

Still showing lots of speed and hustle are Bobby Brown, quarterback, Wayne Stroud and Charlie Williams at the halfback posts and Malcom Young at fullback. It is probable that this combination will be on the field for the openinig whistle tomorrow night, but Morris Turner, Billy Tooke and Mack Taylor are still in the running for an opening assignment.

Childress is expected to use a wide open attack against the Westerners, with offensive plays from the T-formation, single, double and triplewing. One of the favorites of Coach Don Ezell is the spread formation, with the end and one of the wingbacks set wide to allow for fast-moving plays.

Powell Handles Passing

Most of the Bobcat passing has been handled by Joe Powell, the successor to T. Jones, who last year displayed a sparkling aerial game as Childress bowed to Lubbock, 14-21. Powell will be bolstered by line which contains six lettermen.

Pregame reports from Childress are that the Bobcats have an inexperienced team, with little depth, but those who remember last year's thriller will not be passing the Bobcats off lightly.

Tickets for the game may be bought in advance at the athletic office in the high school. Reserve seats sell for $1.50. Senior High school students of Carroll Thompson may buy student tickets at Logan's, across from the high school, on Friday from 1-4 p. m.

World Series To Open October 5

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (INS)—The 1949 World Series will open Wednesday, Oct. 5, in the park of the American league pennant-winner.

Dates and other details were arranged in New York today by baseball Commissioner Albert B. Chandler and representatives of three American league and two National league clubs, all battling for the pennants.

New York, Boston and Cleveland of the American league and Brooklyn and St. Louis of the National were represented at today's session. The Detroit Tigers were not represented, although they actually were no farther back in the American league race than the Indians.

Barring a post-season pennant playoff in either league, the first two games of the series will be played at the American league park Oct. 5 and 6. Three games will follow in the park of the National league winner, and two more, if necessary to decide the best-of-seven set, in the American league park.

Games will be played on consecutive days unless the locations of the pennant winners necessitate a day's travel between cities.

Games will start at one o'clock EST with two exceptions: If the Red Sox win the American league pennant, Sunday games at Boston will begin at 1:30; if the Yanks or Dodgers win, Sunday games at New York will begin at 2:05.

The series will be televised throughout the major league cities and broadcast on a national hookup by the Mutual Network.

TCU FROSH TO PLAY

FORT WORTH, Sept. 14 (AP) — The Texas Christian freshman football team will play both on Armistice and Thanksgiving Day. A five game schedule announced today by athletic director Howard Grubbs shows the Polliwogs meeting the Texas Freshmen at Taylor on Nov. 11 and the Southern Methodist freshmen at Fort Worth Nov. 24.

Tech C Of C Plans Drive

Members of Texas Technological college chamber of commerce chapter began their 1949 membership drive Wednesday and also announced that their annual project will be the construction of a lighted softball diamond on the campus.

President Bill McCasland, Lamesa senior, said that any student enrolled at Tech may join the organization, which will have membership booths on all registration lines Thursday and Friday.

Last year the group produced a 30-minute, color motion picture, "Futures Unlimited." The film has been shown throughout the South Plains area, and acclaimed as a student-directed, student-cast production.

"Our idea is to create and foster a spirit of generous consideration among the students at Tech, in an effort to create a better institution," McCasland said.

Sponsored by Haskell G. Taylor, acting dean of business administration, the chapter is one of the few located on an American college campus. The group is seeking recognition by the national chamber of commerce.

Civil Service Commission Here Clears Policemen Of Charges

Sanford, reading the opinion, appended this remark:

"Speaking for myself and not for the commission, I think if I had been in their (the police) position I could not have done much better, however."

Arrest Is Explained

A police patrolman arrested the alleged incompetent two days after his sister, a prominent Lubbock woman, had asked that he be found. The police—explaining at the hearing that the man was five inches taller than the woman described him and that he spelled his name different from the way she had given it—overlooked the man's identity and, for his own protection, as it was explained at the hearing, sent him to a ward of the county jail for examination of a physician.

The physician ordered the man released from custody, finding he was not insane. The police rearrested the man the next day and jailed him before a member of the detective department discovered him there and obtained his release. He told them conflicting stories and gave imperfect information, they said.

Members of the commission unanimously agreed that inefficiency was apparent in that particular case. They took cognizance that some patrolmen were on vacation, some were off duty on the day the request was made for the subject's apprehension and return to the care of relatives, and suggested to Chief Kittrell that efforts be made toward avoidance of such incidents in the future.

"Pressure" Is Denied

Sanford, Justice and McDonald pointedly asked several police desk sergeants, as well as the city recorder, if there ever had been "any attempt on the part of any official of the City of Lubbock, whatever his capacity, to get any police charge dismissed."

All police officials answered in the negative.

Will Not Tolerate Pressure

Cooper, for instance, was asked this question by Sanford:

"Was there any intimation at any time of any pressure put on you to take the bond (the cash bond offered by Johnson)?"

"I thought there was something, since the city attorney had called," Cooper answered.

The commissioners were quick to explain that they did not mean the city attorney, whose function is to confer with the police in legal matters and who, they carefully pointed out, had not been alluded to in the question.

"Under no circumstance will the Civil Service commission tolerate any pressure being put on the police officers by any official of the City of Lubbock," Sanford said in crystallizing the view of the commission as a whole.

The other two members nodded their agreement.

McDonald asked:

"Has any official ever asked you to kill a ticket—the mayor or a city commissioner or anyone else?"

"No."

"You refer to an attempt of some official to have a charge dismissed for a political reason?" Wilson asked.

"Definitely, yes," Sanford answered.

"We meant any officer being restrained by any official for political reasons," another commissioner said.

The complainant Johnson earlier had told the commission that Mayor Rodgers had advised him over the phone to "post a cash bond, if you feel you are not guilty, and get you a lawyer."

Bond Was Posted

He said when he told the police what the mayor had said, one of the officials told him the mayor "is not running this side of town."

He said he called Rodgers back and "in 20 minutes I was out on a $50 cash bond."

Someone asked:

"How did you happen to choose Rodgers to call?"

"I knew him."

"You had business dealings with him?"

"I operate the junk car races on his property."

The junk car races are run at Buffalo lakes, 10 miles southeast of Lubbock. Rodgers is a part owner of the lakes property.

Numerous Witnesses Heard

McDonald, speaking for himself and, pointedly not for the commission, was first to show his individual reaction to the charges of Johnson and Morgan that they had received improper treatment at hands of the police.

He and the other commissioners had heard numerous witnesses in the long session in the commission room of the City Hall.

"I don't think these officers, in any of these (the Johnson and Morgan) cases, should be censored," he said. "I think they were within limits of their authority in their actions . . . "

He, Justice and Sanford went on to explain that they did believe, however, that it would be well for the police to accept cash bonds in traffic cases where there are no aggravating circumstances; that persons should not be required to remain overnight in jail on such misdemeanors when a cash bond conceivably would guarantee their appearance to answer the charge.

"It is not within our scope as a commission to recommend that to the city commission," the civil service commissioners said. They indicated the statement reflected their preferences only as individuals.

To Get Occasional Complaint

"We made 3,200 arrests in 1948," Kittrell told the commission. "It is almost inconceivable that we wouldn't get an occasional complaint.

"However," the chief said, referring to the case of the mentally ill man who was not identified as promptly as his relatives believed he should have been, "that is the first mistake of its kind we've ever made, far as I know."

Sanford called the meeting to order at 1:30 p. m., adjourned it at 5:05.

He explained that the special called meeting was assembled at request of the city commission to investigate "certain charges in police conduct and operations, all cases having been referred by the city manager or the city commission acting through the city manager."

He explained that "no specific charges" had been brought, inasmuch as the charges to be investigated had not resulted from action by the city commission or the police chief. Sanford said he was "not sure that the charges are properly before us, under Civil service regulations," but that the commission had been asked to make the investigation and resultant recommendations.

From that moment there was steady taking of testimony, which was placed in the record by a shorthand reporter, Georgia Cheney.

Witnesses, for and against the police, were sworn. The commissioners, carefully inquiring into the facts of the charges, at times asked their questions sharply. Legal questions were pumped into the current by Justice, an attorney, and by City Attorney Wilson.

Witnesses sworn and questioned included:

Chief Kittrell, J. J. Moore, of Moore's Bonded patrol, Sgt. L. D. Blakney of the police, Police Patrolman Robert Brasher, Radio Operator Jack Hunnicutt, Patrolman James P. Wilson, Desk Sgt. Sidney Smallwood, City Detective Lee Rice, jr., the complainant Morgan, 19, A. O. Walker, Morgan's employe, Patrolman James Atchison, Patrolman Ira Scott, the complainant Johnson, Patrolman W. C. Johnson, Patrolman Lynn Campbell, Desk Sgt. T. W. Cooper, City Recorder J. Solon Lea.

The accounts of the complaints were closely listened to, then the police versions were taken into the record.

The stories had sharp variance, but the action of the commission clearly showed which versions they believed.

other portions of the state Wednesday, the Associated Press added.

He predicted warmer weather for most of the state Thursday. He also said most of the rain that accompanied the cool snap appeared over.

Scattered showers were forecast for north central and northeast Texas, but elsewhere the forecast was for cloudy and warmer weather.

Heavy rains Tuesday night and Wednesday morning made cotton farmers frown. Untold losses would result should the rains continue. Many farmers already were beset with the lack of pickers to harvest their crops.

On the other hand, ranchers welcomed the moisture. Many of their ranges were parched from a hot, dry spell.

Legion Auxiliary Plans Trip To Amarillo Veterans Hospital

Members of the ladies auxiliary of the Allen Bros. American Legion post attended a covered dish luncheon at noon Wednesday at the Legion hall.

Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Morrow of Morton. Mrs. Morrow is past district president of the Legion auxiliary.

At the gathering, plans were made for a trip to the Veterans hospital at Amarillo this coming Sunday. The local Legion and auxiliary will serve homemade cookies and punch to patients at the hospital.

Auxiliary officers have asked that anyone who would like to donate cookies for this project to take them by the Legion hall by noon Saturday.

Legion and auxiliary members who plan to make the trip to Amarillo should be at the Legion hall by 8 p. m. Sunday, it was announced.

The Legion auxiliary will have its regular program night at 8 p. m. Monday. Refreshments are to be served.

Paintings For New Book Are Displayed

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (AP)—Original paintings by Guy Rowe for a new volume of biblical character studies, "In Our Image," were exhibited today at the Ferargil galleries.

The book grew from an idea conceived by Houston Harte, Texas publisher, who selected biblical passages which accompany the paintings.

Rowe, who signs his paintings "Giro," is noted for his portraits of notable figures for Time Magazine covers.

Originals of the biblical paintings, which took Rowe more than three years to complete, were shown at a reception in the galleries attended by Harte and Rowe.

Others present included Henry Luce, publisher of Time and Life magazines; Sumner Blossom, editor of American magazine; William Chenery, former editor in chief of Collier's; Kent Cooper, executive director of The Associated Press, who wrote the foreword to the book, and Lloyd Stratton, assistant general manager of The Associated Press.

Harte publishes the San Angelo, Tex., Standard and San Angelo Times and other Texas papers, and is a former vice president and director of The Associated Press. He got the idea for the book as a means of making biblical characters more human and appealing.

"In Our Image" will be published Oct. 6.

Farm Bureau Meet

be a lot more elevator storage space available."

Hammond stated that the Texas Farm Bureau now has 35,000 members but he hopes to see this number increased to several times that number.

"We don't want to see agriculture become a political football," Hammond said. "The brains of the nation come from the farms. We don't need to call on outside help or leadership. The farmers only need to stick together."

Must Be Reasonable

"We don't know yet whether there will be any changes in the Anderson bill but if there are they will be in line with your wishes," Hammond concluded.

During the morning session Mahon drew loud applause when he said:

"In shaping our farm program for the future we must be reasonable in our demands."

"Agriculture is stronger today than ever before in our history," Mahon said. "Farmers come closer to owning their own business than any other segment of the American people."

"But farmers, and in fact, people in general, don't realize the seriousness of conditions yet to be faced," Mahon continued. "Readjustment in agriculture is a necessity because of the tremendous surpluses that have been built up."

Plans Discussed

Mahon repeated many of the points he made in an address before 500 persons in Plainview Tuesday. He will go to Big Spring Thursday to address a similar group there at 11 a. m.

Cotton Price Raised

Glenn T. Hackney, president of the Lubbock county Farm Bureau, opened the meeting this morning. Rev. L. N. Lipscomb gave the invocation and led group singing. Following an address of welcome Hackney turned the meeting over to Bill Tilson.

Tilson outlined some of the accomplishments of the Farm Bureau during the past year. He praised members for their cooperation. "It is working together—all of us—and with other agriculture agencies, that makes our efforts successful," Tilson said.

Tilson said it was the combined efforts of the Texas Farm Bureau, its president, Walter Hammond, and Congressman Mahon, that raised the floor on cotton seed from $32 a ton to $50.

"We certainly don't want to detract from anybody's standard of living," Tilson concluded, "but we sure want to make certain that the farmer's standard of living remains high as it should be."

Production Boosted

Congressman Mahon, speaking with a slight cold, pointed out that many of the ills facing agriculture today stemmed from the great advances made in the science of farm production.

"Agricultural production today is 140 per cent greater than before the recent war," Mahon said. "Despite our efforts to feed the world, surpluses are building up. We must do something to prevent these surpluses from destroying our markets and our agricultural economy."

"Readjustment in agriculture is a must," Mahon stated. "Just what course we will follow will have to be determined by the farmers. There is no program now in existence or being proposed that will suit all of us 100 per cent. We will have to give a little here and gain a little there."

"Any program for agriculture must take into consideration the rest of the American people. We can't cram something unacceptable down their throats," Mahon said.

Huge Surplus Stored

"The crisis we face is in the form of readjustment. You can call it a revolution if you will but farmers are today better able to face any readjustment than at any time in our past history. A well-fed steer can weather the winter," the congressman explained.

"Last year I advocated control on cotton production," Mahon said. "I advocate such control for next year. We have a tremendous carryover of cotton and this year's crop will have something like a 5,000,000 bale carryover. The government has millions invested in cotton."

"Between now and December 15 the farmers will vote on the question of production control," Mahon said. "The farmers themselves will shape the program. County committees will determine the acreage allotments and the farmer who falls to abide by the allotment will lose the benefit of support price."

"We have faced similar crises in the past," Mahon said. "We had one just before the last World War. Let us hope that it doesn't take another war to absorb our surpluses. That is too big a price to pay."

"We haven't found the answer to the problem yet. Our present attempts will not solve the problem even though they are in the right direction. The Anderson bill may come close to being our program for 1950. It calls for a 90 per cent of parity support.

"But whatever we do," Mahon concluded, "let us try to understand our problem fully as we try to shape the program under which we want to function."

Among those attending the meeting here today were: W. O. Fortenberry, Monroe, president of the South Plains Ginner's association; Walter Wells, P M A; Vernon T. O'Farrell, TEC; Dick Cade, AAA state office; Miss Kate Adelle Hill, district home demonstration agent; D. W. Sherrill, Lubbock county agent, Lubbock county judge Walter Davies; and county commissioner Ottis Isom, Idalou.

BOMB BLAST BARED

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Sept. 14. (AP)—The Bulgarian government disclosed tonight that a bomb had been exploded under the door of the Turkish consulate in Plovdiv, second largest city in Bulgaria. A communique issued by the government's press department said the blast caused "insignificant damage." It did not say when the explosion occurred.

Pep Rally, Church Open House Slated For Tech Students

An all-school pep rally at 7 p. m. today and an open house for Texas Technological college students by Lubbock churches will round out a week of pre-school social activities.

The pep rally for all Tech students will be held in the gymnasium and will include an appearance by football Coach Dell Morgan as well as some of the players in Saturday's game against the University of Texas.

Most Lubbock churches are included in the open house program which begins at the separate congregations at 8 p. m.

Counseling Completed

Tonight's activities follow a three-day counseling and orientation program given freshmen Monday through Wednesday by Tech student counselors. The program was climaxed Wednesday night with addresses by the deans of men and women.

Marshall Gettys, vice president of the Tech student counsel, was in charge of the men's program, while Dorothy Phillips, head of the junior counsel of the Association of Women Students, directed business at the women's meeting.

Dean of Women Margarette Walker told freshmen girls of life on the Tech campus for women and instructed them of various activities throughout the year, as well as the regulations governing those activities. She also brought out the future for women students and graduates of the college.

A similar address was given by Dean of Men James G. Allen to freshmen males. Both addresses followed individual counseling throughout the day between student counselors and incoming collegians.

Private conferences were also granted the newcomers Wednesday by the deans of men as well as by the veterans office for veterans. The guidance center also reported numerous counsels for the freshmen.

Whiteside To Report On Canadian Project

City Commissioner Clarence Whiteside, committee chairman of the Canadian River project, who returned last week from a conference with Senator Clinton Anderson and New Mexico officials regarding the project, is scheduled to make a report on the meeting and progress of the project at a meeting of the City Water Resources board at the Chamber of Commerce offices at 2 p. m. today.

Whiteside, who conferred with the New Mexico officials and Amarillo civic leaders at Albuquerque, also announced a meeting of Canadian River Dam project cities representatives here at 10:30 a. m., Wednesday, Sept. 21.

Purpose of the meeting will be to report on activities to date; decide on the type or types of special water districts to be created; select a steering committee; choose a name for the project cities organization or committee; take up apportionment of expenses of committee; and to discuss any matters pertaining to the project.

At least one representative and if possible as many as three from each of the 11 Panhandle-Plains cities interested in the project are urged to attend, Whiteside said.

In addition to the cities representatives, others expected to be here will include; H. E. Robbins, regional director, Bureau of Reclamation, Amarillo; Spencer L. Baird, regional counsel, and other members from the regional office, and Col. E. V. Spence, Austin, Interstate Compact Commissioner of Texas.

A luncheon will be conducted at the Hilton on the meeting day.

The British, on the other hand, have domestic political problems. British labor is opposed to recognizing Franco—and an election is imminent.

The Acheson-Bevin statement, following today's meeting, said merely:

"The discussion today was largely on political developments in Europe, including the Balkans. The group (including top advisers) considered briefly organizational problems connected with the formation of the North Atlantic pact council (which will be accomplished Saturday).

"This discussion continued the mutually satisfactory exchange of views which were described after the conversation yesterday afternoon."

Acheson told a news conference he intended to leave Washington either Sunday night or Monday morning for New York where he will address the opening session of the UN General Assembly next Tuesday.

VFW Members Okay Donation To Polio Fund At Meeting

Approximately 400 members attended the regular semi-monthly meeting of the V.F.W. last night at the clubhouse, Thirty-fourth and Ave. N.

It was voted to donate $100 to the polio fund. Members also voted to sponsor an Armistice day dance on the night of Nov. 11, proceeds from which will go to Girlstown, U.S.A.

The V.F.W. also voted to sponsor a Boy Scout troop.

Tech Registration

night in the recreation hall and gymnasium, respectively. Dean of Women Margarette Walker addressed the women students on "Women at Texas Tech and their futures."

A similar meeting was held in the gymnasium for male students. Dean of Men James G. Allen announced.

Wednesday night's sessions were in charge of the student council and were designed to further acquaint first-year students with the campus and life at the college.

1,500 Veterans Expected

Despite general predictions throughout the country that the last big classes of veterans were graduated this year, the veterans' counseling office at Tech reported enrollment of such students probably will be as high here as it was last year.

Over 1,500 had already reported to the veterans' office by 5 p. m. Wednesday and more were presumably waiting for today's official registration to begin. Approximately 2,200 were enrolled at Tech last fall.

Contrary to most divisions, which are expecting slight drops in number of students this year, the graduate division reported approximately 250 have expressed intentions of doing post-graduate work this year. Only 176 graduate students were enrolled at the college last year.

All Rooms Taken

Official enrollment also brought additional requests to the office of room reservations for long-since filled living accommodations. H. L. Burgess reported all rooms are filled except the second floor of Drane hall, which is being reserved for married students.

Between 50 and 75 couples can still be accommodated, Burgess reported. However, students with children cannot rent the rooms. Those who do live there pay room and board on the same basis as single students.

Registration itself will go according to time cards given returning students when they preregistered. Schedules have been so arranged that a new set of registrants will be admitted every 30 minutes instead of every hour as in the past. Freshmen will be allowed to enroll at the same time as seniors since class schedules of the two will not conflict.

New Parking Areas Open

Three additional parking spaces on the campus have just been completed, bringing the total to 1,200 cars which may be parked on the college property, according to Frank Junell, assistant to the president.

The new parking lots are west of the engineering building, west of West hall, and north of mens' dormitories three and four. That brings to five the number of all-weather parking areas on the campus, Junell stated.

Curtis Sterling, president of the student association at Tech, was in charge of the meeting at the Tech gym for male students last night. The meeting was a panel discussion type session of college life and activities at the college, various talks being given by student leaders and Tech officials.

Coach Dell Morgan was the first speaker, discussing school spirit. Marshall Gettys, vice president of the student association, discussed the plan of student government at the college.

Douglas McSwane, president of the Double T association, talked on campus traditions and the part letter awards and sweaters had in student activities. Roy Grimes, editor of La Ventana, student yearbook, described the student publications at the college, including The Toreador, student newspaper.

Earnest Sears, president of the Saddle Tramps, a men's pep organization which serves as a nucleus for the student cheering section, told of the role the group played in college life. Tech band activities were described by Thomas Shook, Don Shirley discussed men's social clubs and the men's Inter-club council; Bill Easter explained the honor organizations on the campus and Floyd Rector the student religious council.

Also appearing on the program was Jimmy Carter, head cheer leader, who led several yells. Kenneth Sutton, president of APO, related the part service organizations played; Raymond Brigham told of chapter and divisional organization, Bill McCasland, Tech chamber of commerce head, discussed activities of that organization.

The printers also demanded an immediate $15 weekly pay hike.

A few hours after a strike vote was taken, the printers walked out of the composing rooms of the city's six major newspapers—the Tribune, the Morning Sun and Evening Times, Daily News, Herald-American and Journal of Commerce.

The Sun and Times later merged into the Sun-Times.

The papers continued publication although they took a new look.

In place of the printers the papers substituted girl typists who laboriously re-typed copy in columns which then were pasted on cardboard and photographed.

Pages made up in such manner then were reproduced by photoengraving. As the strike went on, the technique developed so that it was hard to tell the final product from printing.

groups are studying what the demands would be in event of war and the means of meeting them.

Barber pointed out that the preparations are going forward under act of Congress and that the purpose simply is to be ready if hostilities should break out. He said:

Board officials said that the net result of all these plans is that the United States is now much better prepared for war than it has ever been in peacetime.

Acting chairman of the NSRB is Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman, who is filling the post pending the appointment of a chairman by President Truman.

The President several months ago named his old crony Mon C. Wallgren, former Washington governor and senator, to the job. But the nomination was blocked in the Senate Armed Services committee and was subsequently withdrawn at Wallgren's request.

Col. Barber explained that "there is a very large amount of tonnage to meet ocean transport demands if war should occur.

The laid-up merchant fleet, he said, "is in pretty good shape." He added:

"There are a very large number of cargo vessels of the Liberty type and a few other types."

Col. Barber pointed out that details of the subjects discussed, plans, and the like naturally are secret. When the subcommittees conclude their investigations, they will make reports which will be forwarded to Gen. Fleming.

He in turn will forward them to Capt. Granville Conway, director of the NSRB transport office. These reports will contain plans for wartime mobilization of transport, manpower and use of port facilities.

Western diplomats expressed belief tonight that the Budapest trial in neighboring Hungary will be one of the most sensational public Communist shows since the famous Moscow purge trials in the middle 1930's.

Besides Rajk the top Hungarian army leader, Lt. Gen Gyorgy Palffy and six other persons will be put in the dock by the Hungarian Communists.

They are accused of plotting with Marshal Tito and Allen Dulles, former OSS representative and brother of Republican Senator John Foster Dulles, to assassinate Hungarian Communist leaders and set up an anti-Soviet regime.

(Allen Dulles, a New York lawyer, said when he heard of the Hungarian indictment, that the Hungarian Communists "are the greatest inventors of fairy stories.")

Rajk is being tried in effect for the same sin of which Tito is accused — nationalism. In other words, for his refusal to acquiesce in complete Soviet domination of his country.

The gravity of the charges against Rajk indicate that he probably will be sentenced to death by the Budapest peoples' court.

B. S. Mills, Sales Engineer, Speaks At 20-30 Club Session

Members of the Lubbock 20-30 club heard B. S. Mills, sales engineer, discuss sales and the principles of selling last night at their regular weekly meeting in Hotel Lubbock.

Charles Nelson, delegate from the local club to the recent 20-30 International convention in Santa Cruz, Calif., told members that the convention was extremely successful and that West Texas was well represented at it. The 1950 international convention is to be held in Reno, Nev.

A short business meeting was conducted.

Fifteen members attended the meeting. A guest, in addition to Mills, was Ira Parks.

"The continuance of the many contributory plans now in effect in American industry will then be seriously in jeopardy.

Fairless wired his reply to Murray. He told the CIO chieftain:

"In your telegram of today, you dictate that we shall accept the recommendations of the board before entering into further bargaining negotiations with your union.

Demand Is Rapped

"That we are unwilling to do because it is both unfair and contrary to the assurance given by the President of the United States."

The corporation said it appeared before the presidential board "relying upon the expressed assurance given by the President of the United States . . . that the recommendations of the board would not be binding upon either party."

Big Steel said that the original request from President Truman for the companies to agree to a fact finding board "did not call for an unequivocal reply as to whether we accept the recommendations of the board."

Fairless advised Murray:

"If you persist in your unwillingness to engage now in further collective bargaining negotiations, the responsibility is yours, not ours."

U. S. Steel's reply brought speculation in some circles that Murray would not be satisfied and might call his men out on strike.

The present extension of the steel strike truce expires at 12:01 a. m. September 25.

Before today's answer U. S. Steel, the industry leader and the nation's biggest steel producer, previously told the union only that it is willing to resume contract talks during the strike truce requested by President Truman.

Four other steel companies which accepted the truce and agreed to new contract bargaining on pensions and insurance told the union they're ready to negotiate by using the board's report as a basis for settlement.

Tubbs To Head Floyd Rural Roads Group

FLOYDADA, Sept. 14. (Special) — About 25 persons attended a meeting tonight of the Rural Roads association held in the high school building here. Col. Joel I. McGregor, vice-president of the Texas Rural Roads association, was the principal speaker at the meeting.

County Judge G. C. Tubbs was elected president of the local organization and G. M. Shirey was selected as treasurer. Other officers will be elected at the group's next meeting to be held Sept. 29.

An organization constitution and by-laws were discussed and adopted at tonight's meeting. Col. McGregor explained the functions and purpose of the farm roads association.

Muddy roads interferred with the attendance at the meeting, Judge Tubbs reported, but a big turnout is expected at the next scheduled gathering.

The Rural Roads association is a non-profit organization begun a year ago to fight for permanent improvements which would be made from taxes collected on natural resources. Only negligible taxes have ever been levied in Texas on such products, road association officials declared at the meeting.

Tonight's meeting was the third in a series of similar conferences now being held all over the state. Another such meeting is scheduled at Crosbyton Thursday.

The governor told reporters that New York state will not tolerate "storm troopers or private militia, whether in white sheets, brown shirts, or military clothing."

"We have abolished the Bund," the governor continued, "and the Ku Klux Klan and we will not permit similar Communist organizations to exist."

District Attorney Fanelli said he would have the grand jury convened in the near future, possibly next week.

Dewey said neither the state nor local officials had the legal power to prevent the holding of either the Robeson meeting or the protest parade by veterans.

Shepperd Is Speaker At Floydada Meeting

FLOYDADA, Sept. 14. (Spl.)—John Ben Shepperd, Gladewater attorney and former national Jaycee president, tonight told members of the Floydada Rotary club and their guests that "America's fitness to survive depends on a vigorous demonstration that we can make our form of democracy work on a strife-torn world."

The occasion was a meeting of the Rotary club and Rotary Anns hoonring the faculty of the Floydada public schools and members of the board of trustees. The barbecue supper and gathering was held in the Ward school gymnasium.

Shepperd asserted that "our trouble has been the reluctance of our people to understand that working for democracy in the United States is an effective way of spreading democracy to other nations," and that "freedom and democracy are never permanently secured. They must be achieved anew by each new generation. Our people must be brought to realize that democracy is a competing way of life and government."

He also declared that "in the dramatic psychological clash between democracy and Communism we find the arsenal of Democracy anchored in the classrooms of America. This is the first time in the history of our country we have been called upon to defend in the idealogical realm the American way of life. We must train a new type soldier. American schools and American teachers have become the training ground and cadre."

Shepperd was introduced by Richard F. Stovall, Floydada attorney.

John Stapleton, president of the Rotary club made a brief welcome address and spoke a few words of appreciation. I. T. Graves, Floydada superintendent of schools, introduced members of the school faculty and their wives and husbands.

Fred Zimmerman, jr., was in charge of the program and acted as master of ceremonies. Others on the program committee for the event were Clarence Guffee, Garlan A. Glover, Phil Steen, and Robert Crowell.

Approximately 225 persons attended the program.

Public Confused On Work Needed By Average Man To His Taxes

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director
American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Sept. 14.—A large majority of U.S. voters have little conception of the number of working days the average American citizen puts in each year to pay for the cost of his government—federal, state, and local.

This fact, brought to light through questioning a true cross-section of men and women in all walks of life in America, would indicate anew that the whole matter of taxation is one of the chief "areas of ignorance" so far as public understanding is concerned.

Taking a cue from the 75th birthday address of former President Herbert Hoover last month at Stanford university—in which he graphically pointed out that the average U.S. citizen now has to work about 61 days a year to pay for his government—the institute designed today's survey to see how much understanding the public has of the average citizen's tax burden in terms of working days.

One voter out of every three questioned was able to come reasonably close to estimating the number of days the average working citizen must work on an average to pay for the cost of his government.

Interviewing on this survey took place during August immediately following Hoover's address and no doubt reflects to some extent the impact of his speech on voters.

Here is the question asked of a representative cross-section of voters throughout America:

"The average person in the U. S. works about 235 days a year, not counting Sundays, holidays, vacations, etc.

"How many of these 235 days would you guess the average person has to work to pay his taxes which go for the cost of running the Government—national, state, and local?"

Estiamtes of voters questioned follow:

Up to 20 days (1 to 4 work weeks)	14%
21 to 40 days (4 to 8 work weeks)	23
41 to 60 days (8 to 12 work weeks)	21%
61 to 80 days (12 to 16 work weeks)	13 = 34
81 to 100 days (16 to 20 work weeks)	9
101 to 125 days (20 to 25 work weeks)	4
126 days & over	3
Don't know	13
	100%

About half the voters with the greatest amount of formal education questioned were able to give estimates closely approximating the Hoover figure of 61 days. On the other hand, about one person out of five with grammar school education either had no idea how many days would be required or would not venture a guess.

It is conceivably true that some voters might have a little difficulty in translating the amount of taxes paid by the average person for all varieties of government into terms of days. Nevertheless, today's survey shows a tendency of voters to underestimate the amount of taxes paid by the average citizen when expressed in terms of days. This tendency also is borne out in previous institute surveys where answers were expressed in terms of dollar amounts.

Hoover Works Out Table

In his address, the nation's only living ex-President worked out a little table showing the number of days which the average citizen must work on an average to pay the cost of his government:

For obligations for former wars he would have to work 11 days a year; for the defense and cold war, 24 days more; other federal expenses, another 12 days, and for state and local expenditures, 14 days more. That makes up a total of 61 days out of each year.

Hoover pointed out that beyond this is proposed further government spending which would take another 20 days of work from Mr. and Mrs. Average Citizen. "Taking out the holidays, Sundays, and average vacations," Hoover said, "there are only about 235 working days in the year. Therefore, a total of 81 days a year for taxes would amount to about one week's wages in every month going to the tax collector."

Previous institute surveys have shown that the average American voter has little idea of the size of federal income tax paid by persons in upper-income brackets.

High On Small Incomes

On the other hand, the general public tends to overestimate the amount of tax paid in the low brackets.

It may be that the average American does not fully understand the principle of the "graduated" tax and concludes that the rate for higher incomes is about the same as the rate on his own income. Actually, of course, the percentage paid in taxes rises sharply as income increases, especially above the $20,000 bracket.

Orchestra Leader Seeks Divorce From Iron Ore Fortune Heiress

DULUTH, Minn., Sept. 14. (AP)—The blonde heiress to a Minnesota iron ore fortune today was the defendant in a divorce action naming Red Ruffing, former New York Yankees pitcher.

She is Mrs. Robert Park, 32, the former Jane Alworth, whose grandfather, Marshall H. Alworth of Duluth, left an estate of more than $6 million at his death in 1942.

Park, former New York orchestra leader, asks substantial alimony, custody of William, 16 month old adopted son and all joint personal property, including the home overlooking Lake Superior.

In his complaint, Park charges his wife with improper conduct and excessive drinking.

The musician said he found Ruffing and Mrs. Park together in the Park home after their return from a party on an Alworth yacht. The action, filed Aug. 12 and disclosed last night, charges Mrs. Park is unfit to retain custody of the child.

Pappas was charged with felonious assault.

'Monstor' Turtle In Korea Shrinks With Measurement

SEOUL, Sept. 14 (AP) — Maybe that turtle caught off the south Korean coast is going to set a record after all—for shrinkage.

First reports said the turtle was seven feet long—six inches longer than the record turtle in the British museum.

President Syngman Rhee happily told a news conference that the turtle's appearance in Korean waters was a good omen and ordered the turtle moved to the Seoul zoo. But it was too cold here so it was ordered sent to the warmer climate of Cheju island.

Later it was reported the turtle was only about five feet long—still a whopper and still a good omen to the turtle loving Koreans.

Repeal Of Oleo Tax Predicted

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14. (U.P.)—Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark) says American housewives "can look forward next year to tax-free yellow margarine."

Fulbright, leader of the Senate fight to repeal federal taxes on oleomargarine, made the statement after Democratic leaders postponed until next year the fight over the House-approved repeal bill.

He said he was "disappointed" at the delay, but glad that the Democratic policy committee had voted unanimously to bring up the repealer as the "first order of business" in the next session of Congress.

Early Action Predicted

"The pressure of legislation will not be so great at the beginning of a session as it is now, and the opportunities for delaying the bill by its opponents will be less," he said.

"I am sure that this means the American housewife can look forward next year to tax-free yellow margarine, that the producers of soybeans and cottonseed can look forward to an opportunity to market their product without this discrimination in favor of another domestic product; and that wholesale and retail grocers will be relieved of the penalty taxes and red tape involved in the present laws restricting margarine."

A bill repealing federal oleo taxes and requiring identification of oleo when served in public eating places has been passed by the House and approved by the Senate Finance committee.

River Oaks Firemen Balk At Serving Under Police Chief

FORT WORTH, Sept. 14. (U.P.)—The two fire trucks of the suburban city of River Oaks were unmanned today.

The volunteer firemen protested being placed under jurisdiction of the police chief.

John F. Hubbard, acting chief of the volunteer department until the city council placed it under Police Chief Fred Heiser, said the men would answer no alarms.

Hubbard said the 22 volunteer members agreed that "we just are not going to take orders from the police chief."

River Oaks has three paid employes who do firemen duties along with the volunteers, and according to Hubbard, they also serve as policemen when not fighting fires.

Practical Solution Found In Dollar Talks To Dangers Inherent In British Economic Crisis

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

That seems to be a business-like and practical job the American-British-Canadian conference at Washington has done by way of giving emergency aid in John Bull's economic crisis.

It's more than just an economic remedy. It gives a real lift to the morale of a very hard-pressed England and to the numerous other countries whose welfares are interlocked with hers.

The agreements were worked out with due regard to the dignity of Britain, and to the bonds of friendship. The conferees tackled the problem in the same spirit of unity and cooperation shown during the dark days of the world war.

Undoubtedly the aid would have been arranged had no other nation than Britain been concerned. But quite apart from the proposition of helping a staunch war-time ally it was very clear that an international catastrophe would be precipitated if she were allowed to collapse. As Canadian finance minister Douglas Abbott put it:

Agreements Outlined

"We go up or down together."

The task of the conferees in this initial meeting related to Britain's shortage of dollars. She is earning far less dollars than she has to spend for essential imports. This shortage had to be made up, and the conference devised a ten-point program to meet requirements. The agreements include these:

The United States and Canada are expected to buy more tin and rubber from Britain for stock piling. Britain will be permitted to spend Marshall plan dollars in countries other than the United States, such as the purchase of wheat in Canada although America has an exportable surplus. Britain will be free to discriminate against U. S. and Canadian goods to build up her non-dollar imports, and so conserve dollars.

On the face of it, of course, England will be benefitting in some cases at the expense of America. The answer to this is that Uncle Sam's contribution is an investment for insurance against a greater calamity.

Sir Stafford Cripps, British chancellor of the exchequer, says he is convinced the agreement will block any further dangerous drains on Britain's gold reserve. This optimism appeared to be reflected in the fact that Secretary of State Acheson and British Foreign Secretary Bevin immediately set to work to devise new moves by the western powers in the cold war with the Russian bloc.

However, I don't believe we should take this as indicating that Britain's economic problem has been solved. It is first aid. Her trouble is far more deep-seated, as this column recently pointed out.

England's economic strength has rested in large degree in her industrial greatness and world trade. She achieved this by the simple expedient of importing raw materials (which she herself lacked) from non-industrial countries, manufacturing the raw materials, and then selling the finished product back to those countries.

Pound Devaluation Urged

The vast industrial development of other countries during the past generation — greatly speeded by two world wars—has upset Britain's economic apple-cart. She must devise new ways and means to meet this situation. She may achieve this by carrying out her plan of developing her potentially rich colonies.

However, such development isn't an overnight job. It will represent a long, hard pull. Naturally this may mean that Britain, like numerous other countries, meantime will experience a continuation of considerable austerity in her way of life.

One problem which the Washington conference didn't tackle was the possibile devaluation of the British pound sterling to bring it more into line with what American officials consider its real buying power in dollars. Britain has strongly opposed such devaluation. However, the board of governors of the multi-billion dollar international monetary fund, meeting in Washington, have before them a report advising dollar-short countries to devalue their currencies, if necessary, to boost their dollar earning exports.

Thus Britain, and some other European countries, are likely to have to face this issue shortly.

Qualifications On Enlistment In WAC-Reserve Are Explained

A recent Army decision regarding the Women's Army corps reserve clarifies the fact that if otherwise qualified, marriage or the existence of dependents will not be a bar to enlistment in the WAC-Reserve, Col. Oscar B. Abbott, executive of the Texas Military district, announced Wednesday in Austin.

Another new regulation authorizes assignment of WAC-Reserve officers to any service branch of the Organized Reserve corps. WAC-Reserve officers who desire and who are qualified for a detail in another reserve branch may contact Major James Samsel, Lubbock ORC instructor, to make application for transfer.

These changes in regulations make available many more units for the assignment of WACs not presently assigned to active units. WAC-Reserve members can obtain an immediate assignment to a unit in order to assure the accumulation of required points toward reserve retirement and for retention on the active reserve list.

Texas Telephone Workers To Demand Pay Hike In New Talks

DALLAS, Sept. 14. (AP)—Higher wages and better working conditions for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. employes in Texas will be demanded when new contracts begin in December, state officials of the CIO Communications Workers of America said today.

The present contract, covering about 23,000 in Texas, expires Dec. 1. Union officials here said word of the intended demands in the southwest was received from CWA's division 20 headquarters in St. Louis.

No specific figures were included in the proposal. It was described as merely an overture to negotiations, filed 60 days before the current contract expires as required by the Taft-Hartley law.

Southwestern Bell officials at Dallas had no comment.

New Navy Jet Plane Is Praised By Pilots

ABOARD USS BOXER, Off California Coast, Sept. 14 (U.P.)—Pilots testing the Navy's Grumman Panther said today they think the speedy jet fighter could out-fly and out-fight the controversial B-36 bomber.

"With this plane we can take the B-36," said Cmdr. Pete Aurand, holder of many jet speed records and pilot of the first operational jet plane ever to land on a United States carrier.

The Panthers officially joined the fleet yesterday when 10 of them made their first squadron landing aboard this aircraft carrier.

"We have a range of 1500 miles and a speed of around 600 miles-per-hour," Aurand added. "We also will try to better some of the records set by the Fury. I think we can do it in a Panther."

The building is being erected between the high school and elementary school. It will be entirely fireproof and will seat 1,000 persons. An innovation is the "cry room" where mothers can take crying infants and still see and hear performances. The room is soundproof and enclosed in glass. Governor Visits In Mexico City

(By The Associated Press)

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 14. — Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas said today he will run for re-election next year.

The tall, handsome executive came here for a friendship visit to Mexico.

He told a news conference he would run "God willing and the people favorable."

Shivers is serving the unexpired term of Gov. Beauford Jester, who died shortly after his second term started.

Shivers spread friendship all around him.

The Texas "friendship caravan," headed by Executive Secretary Thomas Sutherland of the Texas Good Neighbor commission, already is here.

After an airport welcome by Federal District Governor Fernando Casas Aleman, with a military band and all the Mexican trimmings, the governor whirled around town.

He registered at the Del Prado hotel and ran ahead of his program of visits.

At the U. S. embassy, he was welcomed by Ambassador Walter Thurston who went with him and Casas Aleman to "Lo Pinos," official residence of President Miguel Aleman.

Work Is Praised

There the governor expressed Texas' "high admiration and sincere appreciation" for Mexico's joint efforts with the United States in fighting aftosa, the foot and mouth disease that has ravaged Mexico's cattle, sheep and pigs and has threatened for three years Texas' $600,000,000 livestock industry.

Shivers presented the president the Texas legislature's joint resolution praising the work of Mexico and the United States in the aftosa campaign and pledging Texas' "full co-operation in the fight."

The governor said:

"Mr. President: I am delighted to be here and bring you greetings from the people of the State of Texas. It is my duty, and I do so with great pleasure, to present to you this testimonial of esteem coming from the legislature of Texas, which expresses the will of the people.

"The work that is being performed in the aftosa campaign certainly is an example of how two great republics can solve their problems working shoulder to shoulder. This resolution futher shows the magnificent respect that each of our countries has for the other.

New Locations Staked In Scurry Field

No Oil Located In Gaines County Test

The Texas company No. 1 E. D. Harris, Central-South Gaines county wildcat two miles east of the Robertson pool, took a drill-stem test in the Clear Fork at 7,250-7,433 feet and during one hour and 50 minutes of testing recovered 5,843 feet of sulphur water, with no shows of oil or gas.

Operator then drilled ahead to 7,520 feet and no shows of oil or gas were encountered at that zone.

It has now plugged back to 6,120 feet and will set casing at 6,100 feet, perforate and test at about 5,970-90 feet in the Glorieta. On a previous drillstem test that zone developed about 400 feet of free oil.

Location Is Staked

No. 1 Harris is three miles south of the Texaco No. 1 A. B. Wharton, which was completed from the Glorieta, and 660 feet from north and east lines of section 17, block A-22, psl survey. That makes it 12½ miles southeast of Seminole.

The Superior Oil company has staked location for two explorations on the north side of the Sharon Ridge-Canyon field in Southwest Scurry county, both of which are to drill to 7,500 feet with rotary tools to explore into the Canyon lime.

The company's No. 5-163 will be 660 feet from east and 2,519.64 feet from south lines of section 163, block 97, H & TC survey and 11 limes southwest of Snyder.

Superior No. 6-163 is to be 1,638.08 feet from east and 2,519.64 feet from south lines of section 163, block 97, H&TC survey. It is also 11 miles southwest of Snyder.

Well Is Tested

King, Warren & Dye No. 2 A. L. Wren has been completed from the Canyon reef lime on the south side of the North Snyder field in North Central Scury County.

Flowing natural through a 32/64th-inch tubing choke, the new producer made a daily potential of 710.88 barrels of oil. Gravity of the new petroleum was 43.2 degrees and the gas-oil ratio was 840-1. It also made six-tenths percent water.

The production was from open hole section between the five and one-half inch oil string cemented at 6,684 feet and the total depth at 6,803 feet.

The well is located 660 feet from east and 880 feet from south

Judge Dent a state director and one of the organizers of the Texas Rural Roads association, says these meetings are of vital importance to the citizens of this area and should be attended by everyone interested in the permanent welfare of our agricultural economy.

Plan Is Praised

"The $30,000,000 provided for farm-to-market roads now being constructed by our Highway department, under the terms of the Colson-Briscoe bill, would not have been made available had it not been for the activities of this state group," he said, "and now that we have adopted a broad program to dedicate our tax revenue from our irreplacable resources to permanent improvements, such as soil and water conservation, rural roads and public and state institutional buildings, it is our duty to see that these activities are continued and insure a stable economy for not only West Texas, but the state as a whole."

Plainview Next Stop

The tour started from Houston Monday, with an itinerary covering more than 3,500 miles announced by H. W. Banhman, of Commerce, president of the state association.

Bob Walker, a member of the city airport board and a director of the National Aviation association, will head the reception committee. The chamber of commerce will serve refreshments. The public is invited to be at the airport to join in the welcome.

The visitors are scheduled to remain in Lubbock until 7:50 p. m., when they will take off for Plainview for an overnight stop. They are scheduled to fly to Amarillo Friday morning.

PROJECTS TOTAL OVER $194,000

Major Improvement Program On Abernathy Schools Rushed

BY EDWARD WELSH
Avalanche Staff Writer

ABERNATHY, Sept. 14. — "We will continue to expand and improve our school system until we have the finest that can be obtained," said Fred Miller, superintendent of Abernathy schools.

Miller made this statement yesterday as he explained the current building and remodeling program. Projects now underway total more than $194,000. They include a new fireproof auditorium, seven and one-half blocks of street paving, conversion of the old auditorium and redecoration.

Auditorium Major Project

The largest item is the auditorium. It is approximately 70 by 160 feet. Of brick, steel and concrete the building will have a seating capacity of 1,000 and will cost $135,000. The stage and single floor are of concrete with no space underneath where gas can accumulate. Behind the stage is a band room for rehearsals, two practice rooms and the bandmaster's office. The building is located between the high and elementary schools.

An inovation in the auditorium will be the "cry room." This is a small room to one side. It is enclosed in glass and is entirely soundproof. In this room mothers with crying babies can continue to see the entertainment. Sound will be "piped" into the room.

Special seats are being constructed for the auditorium, Miller said. They will be upholstered and will have automatic lifts. A warm air circulating system will provide heat for the auditorium. Joe Telford, Lubbock, is the contractor. Atcheson and Atkinson, Lubbock are the architects.

School Is Renovated

"We are rushing completion of the band section of the building," Miller said. "Our 50-piece band under the direction of Clyde Haden needs a place to practice."

The old auditorium which is an integral part of the elementary school is being converted into seven class rooms, an audio-visual room and two shower rooms. The cost of this project is estimated at $35,000. It will provide much needed space for the rapidly growing school population.

The elementary building itself was completely repainted this summer. A new fluorescent lighting system was also installed at a cost of $6,000. The interior of high school, cafeteria and gymnasium were repainted. Painting costs alone this year totaled some $5,000. Only the home economic cottage was left out of the redecoration

SPENDING SHOWS SHARP INCREASE

U. S. Goes In Red Over $3 Billion In First 10 Weeks Of New Year

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—The treasury has struck a balance for the first ten weeks of the new fiscal year and reports itself in the red for $3,304,000,000.

There were years during the Coolidge and Hoover administrations when that sum would have paid all government expenses for 12 months.

On a weekly basis since fiscal 1950 began on July 1, the treasury has been spending beyond its income at an average rate of $330,478,000. Weekly income in the same period averaged $507,137,000 and the weekly average of spending was close to $1,000,000,000. The actual spending figures was $837,616,000 every seven days.

The most significant figure in the daily treasury report which covered the first ten weeks of the fiscal year was on spending. It cost the taxpayers nearly $2,000,000,000 more to run the federal government during the first ten weeks of this fiscal year than it cost during the same period a year ago. That is a big increase.

Here are some comparisons of government spending and revenue during the first ten weeks of the current fiscal year with some spending figures for complete fiscal years when government costs were more modest.

		Receipts	Expenditures
1917	(52 weeks)	$1,124,000,000	$1,977,000,000
1929	(52 weeks)	4,094,000,000	3,463,000,000
1925	(52 weeks)	3,780,000,000	3,063,000,000
1930	(52 weeks)	4,117,000,000	3,440,000,000
1940	(52 weeks)	5,387,000,000	9,297,000,000
1950	(10 weeks)	3,071,000,000	8,376,000,000

Economy Bloc Demands Cut

These spending figures form the background of a growing dispute between President Truman and an economy group in Congress for which the Democratic spokesman is Sen. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia. Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-O) and many other Republicans also have been hammering at government costs and they recently were joined by former President Hoover.

They and others of the opposition warn especially against further deficit spending, which means the spending of more money than the government collects in revenue and borrowing the balance. The national debt is now almost $257,000,000,000, greater by nearly $4,000,000,000 than it was just a year ago. It costs more than $5,000,000,000 a year just to pay interest on the national debt to the persons and institutions which hold the government's bonds.

HST Loses Tax Fight

Mr. Truman announced nine months ago a plan to increase general treasury revenue by $4,000,000,000 annually. He wanted taxes raised that much. Congress turned him down. By mid-July, the President was willing to abandon his tax-hike program.

Mr. Truman said on July 11 that the cloudy economic prospect had persuaded him against higher taxes. He said he would operate the government on a deficit financing basis which meant steady borrowing of money and steady increase in the national debt.

Mr. Truman defends his spending program this way:

"There are economic and social deficits that would be far more serious than a temporary deficit in the federal budget."

Some 400 cutlery makers around Thiers, France, have cut their work week to 40 hours and lowered production because of waning export demand.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Sept. 14 (AP) — Wheat futures slumped in late trading today on selling by longs. Corn and oats dipped with wheat and soybeans also were off.

Some of the wheat selling was considered profit-taking, while part of the liquidation also was believed due to discouragement over failure of more export buying to develop. The fact that the government buying basis for gulf shipment of wheat at Kansas City was slightly easier was a discouraging factor. The government buying basis there was reported 22½ over Chicago September, compared with 23 yesterday, cash and flour demand was slow here.

Soybeans rallied near the close and finished ⅛ lower to 1 cent higher. November $2.36½. Wheat was ⅛ to 1⅛ lower, September $2.06-$2.06⅛, corn was unchanged to ⅛ down, September $1.27-$1.27⅛, oats were ¼ lower to ¼ higher, rye was ¾ lower to 1 cent higher, September $1.45¼, and lard was off 5 to 15 cents a hundred pounds, September $12.05.

STOCKS ARE SCRAMBLED

NEW YORK, Sept. 14. (AP)—Stocks were thoroughly scrambled today in a market that ended a shade lower.

An early buying surge failed to attract a following. The market moved irregularly downward.

A great many leaders held out. At the close there was a mixture of gains to a point and losses of more than a point.

A curious feature was that 433 stocks closed higher and 371 lower of 1,085 issues traded, despite the average fall of the market as a whole.

There was considerable profit taking in individual stocks.

Rails, steels, chemicals, mail order and retail shares were mostly lower. Utilities were up and heavily traded. Golds, coppers, and motion pictures gained for the most part. Other major groups were mixed.

Volume was 1,690,000 shares. Commonwealth and Southern, the most active on the list, accounted for 260,000 shares. It reached a new high of 5¾, up ⅛. At times it was traded in blocks of 10,000 to 125,000 shares. United Corp., second on the list, was unchanged at 4¼.

The Associated Press average lost .1 on a point at 65.8. The industrial and rail componenta were off .2 of a point, and utilities gained .1 to make another new 1949 high.

Among losers were Santa Fe, U. S. Steel, Standard Oil (NJ), Richfield, Du Pont and Montgomery Ward.

Gaining were National Steel, Consolidated Natural Gas, Phelps Dodge and Gulf Oil.

Curbs were generally higher. Woolworth Ltd., and Pancoastal Oil gained. Cities Service and Arkansas Natural Gas "A" dropped.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (AP) — Cotton futures were steady today. Trading volume, however, was small. Some liquidation of nearby October contracts came into the market. First notice day for October will be September 27. Mill price fixing and commission house buying came into positions from December onward. Part of the demand was attributed to unsettled weather over the cotton belt.

Heavy rains were reported in parts of Texas as well as in the central section of the belt. The rainy weather was expected to retard picking of the new cotton and led to fears that the quality might be lowered.

Late afternoon prices were 30 cents a bale higher to 15 cents lower than the previous close. Oct. 29.97, Dec. 29.80 and March 29.75.

Red Defense Held In Contempt By Judge

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (AP) — Federal Judge Harold R. Medina today held a defense lawyer in contempt of court for the first time since the conspiracy trial of 11 top Communists began.

The lawyer cited was George W. Crockett, jr., a negro, of Detroit.

Five defendants previously have been jailed for contempt and Medina has threatened to take action against various defense lawyers after the trial ends.

No immediate sentence was pronounced against Crockett.

What led to the judge's crackdown was this:

The government sought to place in evidence a Los Angeles birth certificate issued after the birth of a daughter to the wife of Carl Winter. Winter is one of the defendants.

Defense lawyers objected to the whole certificate's being placed in evidence. The prosecution agreed that only parts of it would be put into the record.

Medina then read from the certificate Winter's name, age, period of residence in California, birthplace and occupation.

Crockett interposed: "In view of your honor's seemingly unintentional readin--"

Medina paled as he told Crockett the statement was one of the most contemptuous he had ever heard.

"I now adjudge you in contempt for that," he said.

DALLAS LADY LOSES 58 POUNDS

The following remarkable story shows conclusively that Barcentrate DOES take off fat.

It contains nothing harmful. In fact, it contains ingredients that make you feel better. No starvation diet—no weakness—no hunger. Barcentrate, the original grapefruit juice recipe, takes off fat quickly, safely and you can eat plenty.

Here is proof

"I want to tell you what weight I have lost in 2½ months by using Barcentrate. I weighed 262 pounds when I started. I now weigh 204. I am so proud I tried it. I was told that I could not live a year unless I lost some weight. You may use my name any way you wish."—Mrs. J. B. Moore, 1606 Mentor Street, Dallas, Texas.

At all druggists

If you are overweight and want to take off ugly fat, just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take just two tablespoonfuls twice a day. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, safe way to take off weight, return the empty bottle for your money back.

Appeal Is Made For Emergency Funds To Fight Polio In U. S.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, says in the following signed article that some 16,000 additional persons are expected to contract polio before the 1949 epidemic runs its course. O'Connor asks the American people for more help to treat the victims of "the worst epidemic of infantile paralysis we ever have known.")

By BASIL O'CONNOR
(President, National Foundation For Infantile Paralysis, Written Expressly For International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 14. — The 1949 polio story is not finished, although the numbers of weekly cases apparently are at last going down somewhat. The story is only a little more than half told.

As the epidemic slowly recedes, new cases are reported daily. They still are being reported at a rate of about 3,000 a week for the nation. As fear for your own children lessens a little, somebody else's children are making the long uphill fight to overcome weakness and crippling. The period of heaviest financial need lies just ahead.

More Funds Needed

Yet March of Dimes epidemic funds have been wiped out by the severity of the summer's epidemic. That is why the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has launched the polio epidemic emergency drive now in progress, asking people throughout the nation to mail contributions to polio, care of any local post office. It will take $14,500,000 more than is available for patient care until the next March of Dimes is held.

About half the 23,741 youngsters and grownups who contracted infantile paralysis this year before September 3rd are home now from the hospital. Those who remain are those whose attacks were severe and those who came down with the disease late in the summer. For them, adequate medical care is just as important—maybe even more desperately needed—as for the early cases. And to their ranks probably will be added another 16,000, those who succumb to the virus in the weeks of steadily decreasing polio incidence, making an expected total of 40,000 cases for 1949.

Worst Epidemic In History

This adds up to a costly bill for the national foundation. To care for all who need financial assistance, the early and the late cases, the fortunately mild and the tragically severe, the National Foundation will be called upon to spend $26,000,000 this year. And to that must be added $5,000,000 to continue care for those 1948 patients who still need medical treatment in 1949.

A total of $31,000,000 as compared to $17,000,000 last year, must be available for patient care in this year of the worst epidemic of infantile paralysis we ever have known!

When the emergency drive opened, there was barely enough remaining in the national epidemic aid fund to allow eleven days' advances from national headquarters to chapters whose local March of Dimes funds were exhausted. With daily expenditures averaging $100,000, using every available dollar short of slowing the important research and professional education programs of the national foundation, there is no alternative to asking the American people for the amount needed to continue to help all those who need help—and help them promptly, when it counts.

Recovery Is Long Process

The final answer to the polio puzzle lies in scientific research, of course. The broad and comprehensive program of research, made possible through March of Dimes contributions for eleven years, is producing results that are more than promising. From current signs, the solution to infantile paralysis will be found in the not unforeseeable future. But until it is, immediate treatment of patients is imperative. You do not stop to investigate the cause of a plane crash until all aid possible has been given to the survivors. You do not stop to investigate a fire until those trapped in the burning building have been carried to safety.

This is an emergency. It must be treated like an emergency.

Polio treatment is very costly. It takes weeks, months, sometimes years to take away—with happiness—the hospital bed, the wheelchair, the crutch, the brace—the pitiful but powerful aids to the afflicted.

We must heed the call for help from every child who needs our help, lest even one be made a cripple because we, his fellow citizens, did not care enough — nor care soon enough. Will you send your dimes and dollars now in an envelope marked Polio, care of your own Post Office?

Or contribute directly to your local Emergency Polio Fund campaign.

(In Lubbock, such a campaign is underway and Lubbock and area residents may contribute by mailing their contributions to Box 700, Lubbock, which is the address of the Lubbock county chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.)

GEN. FELDMAN RETURNS —Maj. Gen. Herman Feldman, 58, quartermaster general of the Army, sits at his desk after he returned to work. His suspension was lifted by Army Secretary Gordon Gray. Gen. State To Request Mental Exam Of Elderly Wooer Of Widows

CHICAGO, Sept. 14. (AP)— The state prepared today to file a formal request in criminal court for a mental examination of Sigmund Engel, the small, elderly wooer of wealthy widows.

Meanwhile, the trial of the 73 year old Romeo on a confidence game charge was continued until Oct. 24. The charge, one of several against Engel, stemmed from his alleged swindle of $8,700 from Mrs. Reseda Corrigan, 39 year old Chicago widow.

His trial was delayed at the request of his counsel, who said he needed more time to study the case.

James A. Brown, assistant state's attorney, who yesterday asked Judge George M. Fisher to have Engel examined by the court behavior clinic, said he will file a written motion for such an examination today. Brown disclosed in court that Engel in 1934 had served several months in the Dannemora State hospital in New York.

Unorganized Strike Halts Cotton Picking In Arizona

PHOENIX, Sept. 14. (AP) — An unorganized strike and wet weather kept pickers out of the Salt River valley cotton fields today.

For the last three days most pickers have refused to go to the fields in a holdout for $3 per 100 pounds of cotton picked. Growers have been paying $2.50.

JO ANNE NO SOFTIE

DURANGO, Colo. (U.P.)—Jo Anne Ramsey, 18, Lawton high school senior, bicycled the 732 miles from Lawton, Okla., to Durango to visit with an aunt, Mrs. Ted Baxter. Jo Anne said she made the trip by bicycle "just to show kids aren't the softies people think they are and can get around all right without a car."

Unmarried women should not be termed spinsters until they are 55, the Ely Women's Institute, in England, has decided.

Exchange Club Told Of Grid Rule Changes

Joe Holmes, manager of the Sport Center, 1612 Thirteenth, Wednesday told fellow members of the Exchange club the average football fan this year "will really get his money's worth because of several changes in the rules."

He explained the new substitution rule, which provides that players can be substituted when the ball changes hands or during a time out. Penalty for violation of this rule, which is called illegal delay of the game, is five yards.

Holmes also pointed out that this year, a forward pass can hit any of the eligible receivers and be caught by another player and still be legal.

However, intentional grounding of the ball calls for a five yard penalty from the spot of the offense, he warned.

The club voted to sponsor a symposium at 8 p. m. Oct. 6 at the senior high school of three Lubbock ministers who visited Europe this summer.

All proceeds above the cost of presenting the program will be given to the polio epidemic emergency fund.

M. B. Hilburn, jr., presided.

Voznesensky, Foe Of West, Is Believed Ousted By Politburo

By ERNEST HOBERECHT
United Press Staff Writer

TOKYO, Sept. 14.—The Politburo, Russia's supreme political unit, apparently has ousted Nikolai Voznesensky, who advocated a firm anti-West policy, and appointed five new members, informed sources here said today.

These sources said the Russian people were aware of the changes although the Politburo itself has remained silent on them.

Voznesensky's name has not appeared in print prominently since the supreme council announced his resignation on March 14 as chairman of the national plan council and as vice chairman of the council of ministers.

Information reaching here was that he did not appear at a welcome party held in honor of Albanian Premier M. Hoxa's visit to Moscow. His name also failed to appear on a message of condolence the Politburo sent to the funeral of the late Bulgarian Premier G. Dimitrov, who died in Moscow in July.

Informants also noted that Voznesensky's popular book, "War Economy of the USSR," no longer is being circulated.

Voznesensky, along with the late Andrei Zhdanov, another Politburo member, was said to have urged Russia to take a firm stand in the East-West cold war.

There was speculation he might have been forced out of the Politburo in the belief his policy failed, or possibly by dissatisfaction with Russia's first postwar five-year plan.

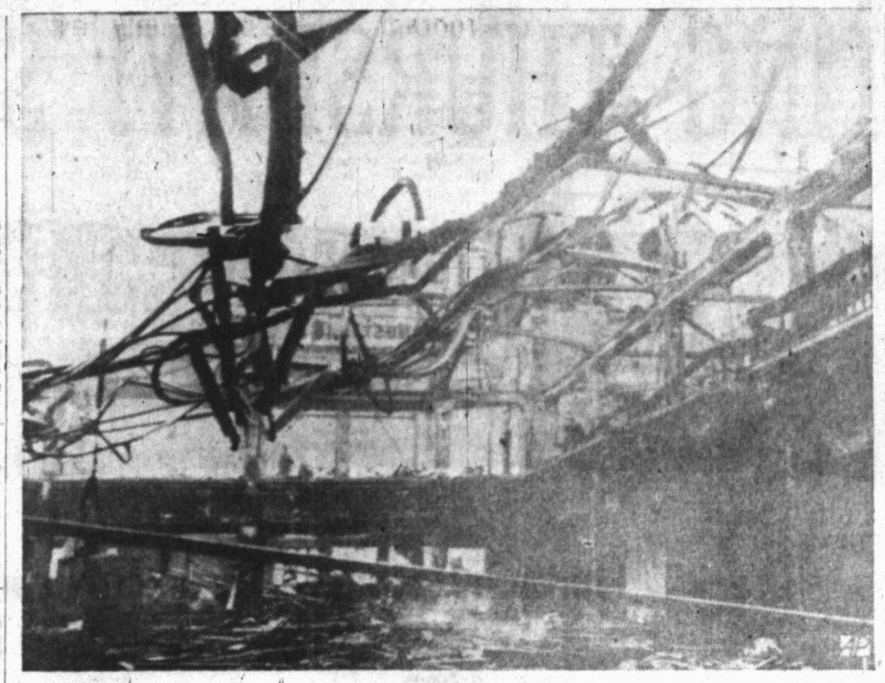

Mother Opens Fight For Custody Of Child Tennis Star, Brother

MIAMI, Sept. 14. (AP)— Mrs. Lucille Meska, mother of 16-year-old Laura Lou Jahn, today opened a fight for custody of the child tennis star.

Mrs. Meska flew to Hollywood, where Leslie E. Jahn, the child's father, was accused of incest.

Before boarding a plane last night, Mrs. Meska revealed she had twice married and divorced the tennis coach and said she would seek a court order to force him to surrender Laura Lou and a son, Leslie Jahn, jr., 10.

She said she hoped to bring both children back to Miami to live.

Court Rules Comedian Hope Must Make Shows In Person

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 14 (AP) — Bob Hope must make his radio broadcasts in person.

So held a superior court judge yesterday in confirming the decision of an arbitrator. Recently the comedian and his sponsors, Lever Bros. Co., disagreed on the issue. Hope wanted to make some transcription shows.

Under an eight-year pact signed Sept. 30, 1946, Hope gets $20,000 a program the first two years, $22,500 per show the next three years and $25,000 the final three.

Weismuller Returns To Jungle Roles After Reducing Weight

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 14 (AP) — Johnny Weismuller who ate himself out of his Tarzan role has dieted himself back into jungles movies.

He weighed in yesterday at Columbia studio at 199½ and will begin work as "Jungle Jim," a sort of Tarzan-with-clothes-on role. A clause in his contract stipulates that he must pay producer Sam Katzaman $1,000 for each pound of weight over 200.

The swimming star lost his Tarzan role when he zoomed up to a paunchy 238.

Texan Killed While Walking Along Highway In Oklahoma

HOBART, Okla., Sept. 14 (U.P.)— A Texas man who boarded the wrong bus and left it to start walking up the highway has been killed near Hobart, Oklahoma.

The victim was Oscar H. Sussdorf, about 65, of Austin.

Officers say that Sussdorf got on the wrong bus at Oklahoma City and went to Hobart instead of New Braumels, Tex., his original destination.

After an argument with the bus driver, he left the bus at Hobart. While he was walking along U. S. Highway 183, he was struck by a car driven by 22-year-old Roy Key of Henryetta, Okla. The victim was about 65 years old.

U. S., Canadian Unions Okay Pact With Mexican Workers

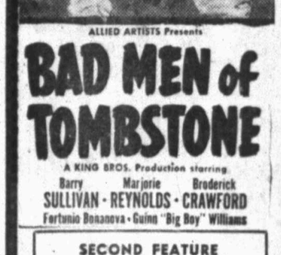

CHICAGO, Sept. 14 (AP) — CIO mining and metal workers of the U. S. and Canada today ratified a pact with their Mexican counterparts calling for a western hemisphere cooperative union.

The pact was approved overwhelmingly by a convention of the CIO Mine, Mill, and Smelter Workers union. It was negotiated last March and April during talks in Mexico City with the Industrial Union of Mining and Metallurgical Workers of the Republic of Mexico.

The purposes of the agreement, the preamble says, are "to promote uniform wages, prevent competitive undercutting of wages, and to improve the working conditions" of the employe.

Methods of accomplishing these aims were set forth in the document. They call for regular meetings of accredited delegates from both unions to promote the free interchange of information.

The Mexican union agreed, when a date is set by joint conferences, to issue a call to all other Latin American unions in the field to meet in Mexico City. The purpose of this meeting would be to set up the cooperative union in which all member unions will retain their autonomy.

MARAGON IS MAJOR HEADACHE

Gen. Vaughan Expected To Take New Post Before '50 Elections

By BOB CONSIDINE
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—The passing show:

A man so close to the five-per-center inquiry that he must take two steps backward in order to read its fine print tells the following story:

The big problem and concern of the administration is whether to fend further for John Maragon or let the cocky little fixer go down the river. The President's advisers are split on the question. Some have told him that the Justice department must indict the former bootblack who once had enough power to "break" a buck general. Others counsel extreme caution.

Would Hit Demo Setup

Those who say that Maragon must be indicted point to what one calls "a plain case of perjury," Maragon's testimony that he had no bank accounts during 1945-46 and the evidence, later laid before the Senate committee, showing that he had about $118,000 in the bank during those years.

Those who hope the whole thing will blow over as do so many of these summer hearings hold that an indicted Maragon would blow a series of whistles which would hurt the administration much more than its indictment of him would help.

This one-time frequenter of the White House is the hottest potato in Washington today.

Vaughan To Get New Post

My same informant, though almost vehemently opposed to Gen. Harry Vaughan, states flatly that "Vaughan's part of the case will blow over." He predicts that when the furor dies down completely, so far as Vaughan is concerned, the President's good friend will leave the White House for another post, perhaps not in government.

"The boys are figuring on unloading Harry in about February or March, to give them sufficient time before the congressional campaigns," our man said with impressive confidence.

A prominent New Dealer was in the Stork on the night when word came that Gen. Waitt and another brass hat had been slapped down for conduct hardly becoming an officer.

"Two down and Vaughan to go," he sighed.

Service Dispute Hit

The Navy's concern over sharing its traditional place in the defense sun with the muscle-flexing Air Force and a bigger Army is understandable. It is not easy to yield prestige, especially when the yielding must be done by desk admirals who cling mightily to rights, rites and privileges won through many years—including 12 years under the most Navy-minded President in our history.

But, for pity's sake, can't these things be attended to more discreetly? There have been times during the present raucous ruckus when some of the more distinguished fighting men of our time sounded like characters in hair-pulling spat over the election of Miss Laundrymat, 1949.

There was that ridiculous poison pen letter written by a civilian employe of the department. And the back-fence rumor-mongering of able-bodied men who should be busy at work. And Capt. John G. Crommelin's public breast-beating and his dark prediction that his outspokenness would cost him his career. And the selection of the B-36 as the core of the windy debate. If the Navy wants to pick on a bomber-with-a-future it should caterwaul about Boeing's improved, swept-wing 600 MPH (plus) jet-bomber, which made the B-36 obsolete more than a year ago.

The Navy seems to be suffering from a slight persecution complex. It is the biggest, best and bravest Navy in history; everybody loves a sailor; everybody's proud of the Navy, and just wouldn't permit it to be deflated. So please stop weeping, fellows; you're as important to us as the Army, Air Force and the Marines. Have we ever won a war without you? Or without all four working together?

For a change of pace, let us retire such name-calling spats to the secrecy of closed doors. Let the properly informed joint chiefs of staff settle these matters with the Defense secretary and the secretary's boss, the President, and the holder of the purse strings, the Congress. My recent issues of Pravda seem to have been held up in the mails, but I'll bet the Russians are playing up the inter-service wrangle as if civil war was raging in this country.

Shivers To Run

the United States of America in collaboration are solving a problem that will inure to the benefit of mankind, not only to both of our countries, but, we believe, to all of the world. We know of no other like undertaking of such gigantic proportions. Its accomplishment so far indicates the deep dedication that your government as well as ours, have for the service of humanity. Mr. President, this parchment will probably perish but the understanding and friendship and respect that is being developed among ourselves will be everlasting, and your administration, Mr. President, will stand for an epoch of understanding and goodwill among free governments."

Tours Exposition

From Los Pinos the governor and his party went to the monument to independence, near the U. S. embassy, and placed a wreath.

Then he made a formal call at the municipal palace to the office of Casas Aleman, who ranks as a cabinet officer. Casas Aleman gave a lunch at his home for the governor.

Shivers toured the "objective exposition," showing what every branch of the government is doing to improve Mexico. Ambassador Thurston gave a dinner for 22 at the embassy for the governor tonight.

Shivers during his four day visit will be President Aleman's guest at the national palace ceremony of the "Grito," the independence day reenactment at 11 p. m., Sept. 15 when Father Miguel Hidalgo sounded the church bell which started the 1810 revolt against Spain.

On independence day, Sept. 16, the governor also will be the president's guest to review the three-hour parade of troops, sport, youth and union organizations.

Austin Newsman To Become Partner In New Publication

AUSTIN, Sept. 14 (AP) — Wick Fowler of Austin today announced his resignation from the Dallas Morning News staff to become partner with Henry B. Fox of Granger in publishing a new weekly newspaper to be known as the Highland Lake News.

The weekly is to be tabloid in size and devoted to fishing, hunting and boating on the Highland lakes: Lake Austin, Lake Travis, Inks lake and Lake Buchanan, Fowler said.

Fowler has been with the Dallas Morning News for seven years. He served as war correspondent in both the European and Pacific theaters before taking his present assignment here with the News' capitol staff.

Fox is editor and publisher of the Taylor Times and the Granger News and writes a humor column for 32 newspapers in Texas and three other states. He plans to continue those activities.

Reclamation Bureau Bids For Control Of Arkansas Project

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14. (U.P.)—The Bureau of Reclamation official claimed today that under basic law the Army engineers have no right to build the Grand Prairie, Ark., development project.

J. W. Dixon, director of the planning branch of the bureau, said the Grand Prairie-Bayou Meto development plan actually two projects. He said Bayou Meto is a $6,000,000 flood control project, but that Grand Prairie is a $19,000,000 irrigation development and "clearly in the field of the Bureau of Reclamation."

The House-approved rivers and harbors authorization bill proposes that Grand Prairie-Bayou Meto be constructed by the Army engineers and the irrigation repayment plan be set up by the Department of Agriculture.

Dixon testified before the Senate Public Works committee.

School Program

program. Miller said it will be attended to next summer.

Stadium Completed In 1945

The "Antelopes" stadium is a $15,000 set-up and was completed in 1945. It has steel and concrete bleachers with wooden seats. More than 2,000 can be seated in the stadium.

"One of the biggest problems we have did not arise out of our school plant," Miller said. "It was the situation of the streets surrounding the schools. During the winter and after rains they were in a deplorable condition and often impassable. That is all being ironed out with this paving program." J. R. Fanning, Lubbock, is the paving contractor.

The paving program involves six blocks of city streets around the school and an ell shaped drive fronting the high school, new auditorium and elementary school building. This ell provides a safe drive for the children to load and unload into cars and buses and also provides an all-weather parking area.

The school system will foot $13,000 of paving costs and residents fronting the streets will pay the balance. Other Abernathy streets are also being paved in the program.

The Abernathy school system is now operating eight large buses. Two new ones are on order to replace two that have had long service.

"Enrollment is not yet complete," Miller explained, "but already we have 575 in the elementary school and 175 in the high school."

Jerry Moorehead is principal of the lower school and has 18 teachers assisting him. Ray J. Veteto heads the high school staff of 13 teachers. Mrs. Ernest Hughes is superintendent of the cafeteria. She has four full time assistants. During lunch hour 12 students are added to Mrs. Hughes' force.

Members of the school board are: Ted Watts, president; Frank Lovelace, vice-president; Robert E. Dyer, secretary; G. W. Blackmon, M. S. Stevens, Hugh Vaughn and Lynn Young.

The Abernathy elementary school was built in 1917 and served all grades. Wings were added to the building in 1928. The high school was completed in 1945. An official audit places a value of $300,000 on the Abernathy school plant. Actually the replacement cost of the buildings would run well over $500,000, Miller said. Insurance appraisals are based on replacement costs and protection has been provided accordingly, the school superintendent stated.

As he watches the progress of the current construction program Miller is visualizing new projects to be undertaken in the future. "In education we can't stand still," Miller concluded.

MAJOR ISSUE BELIEVED FOUND

Pennsylvania Win May Step Up GOP Blasts At HST's Fair Deal

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 (AP) — The GOP success in a Pennsylvania congressional race seems likely to step up Republican attacks on President Truman's domestic legislative program.

With Republican candidate John Saylor's victory in a special election in the 26th Pennsylvania district, Republicans thought they had found one of the major issues they have been wanting for their attempt to regain control of Congress in 1950.

Saylor defeated Mrs. Robert L. Coffey, the Democratic candidate, by campaigning chiefly against President Truman's "fair deal" program. Saylor charged the President with attempting to create a welfare state in this country.

Led In Industrial Area

Mrs. Coffey, 55-year-old mother of the late Rep. Robert L. Coffey, R., campaigned against the Taft-Hartley act and in support of Mr. Truman's domestic policies.

In a race watched closely for possible indication of voting trends next year, Saylor ran ahead in industrial Johnstown, where the Democratic candidate had been expected to pile up a large margin.

In his successful vote drive, Saylor said the issue was "the American way of life, free enterprise and opportunity versus a regimented, semi-police state and the socialistic, welfare state philosophy."

Labor Interference Scored

Democrats were quick to note that the 26th district was in Republican hands from 1938 until Coffey won in last year's election by a margin of 12,000 votes.

In advance, however, both parties had regarded the contest as a test of Mr. Truman's program and of the effectiveness of the Republicans in attacking it.

Labor gave strong backing to Mrs. Coffey with CIO and AFL leaders joining in support of her candidacy. Saylor, 41-year-old Johnstown attorney, charged the labor leaders with being "carpetbaggers trying to tell the people how to vote."

Saylor's victory in the special election makes it likely that Republicans will expand their attacks on President Truman's proposals on the domestic front.

Already many of the Republican leaders have been talking about "statism"—a term they define in various ways, generally with the implication that the Democrats are trying to supplant personal liberty of action with big government.

Pretty St. Louis Widow Invites Barkley To Birthday Party

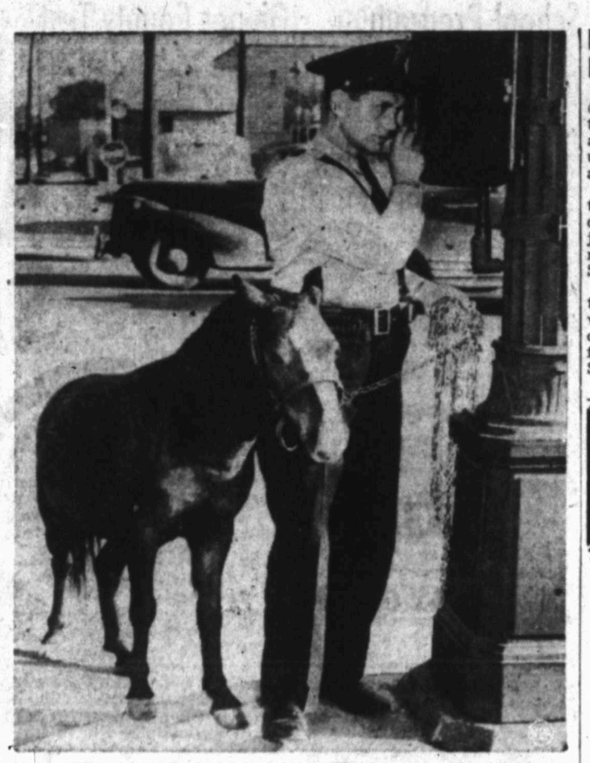

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 14 (UP) — Mrs. Carleton S. Hadley invited Vice-President Alben S. Barkley to her birthday party next week and rumors were revived today that they plan to announce their engagement at the celebration.

Mrs. Hadley, a pretty widow, will be 38 on Sept. 23. Barkley will be 72 on his next birthday, in November.

"I plan to entertain some friends in the evening and I certainly hope the vice-president will be able to accept the invitation," Mrs. Hadley said.

Barkley spent four days in St. Louis, visiting her last week. Last month, she attended a party at his home at Paducah, Ky.

Modern glass-making methods are to be introduced for the first time in Syria.

"HONEST, SARGE! I GOT A HORSE"—Patrolman Ray Howell of Detroit notifies police headquarters of a pick-up made on his beat during rush hours. The errant pony had left his boss, 3-year-old Bobbie Peters, and was wandering aimlessly down a busy street. After making the arrest, Patrolman Howell called for the wagon and a bale of hay.

Negro Sentenced To Chair For Assault On White Girl

GREENWOOD, S. C., Sept. 14. (AP)—A 24-year-old negro was sentenced to death last night after an all-white jury deliberated 10 minutes and convicted him of raping a white girl.

The sentence closed a two-day trial that was marked by a court order to add negro names to the jury boxes and by the judge's denunciation of the United States Supreme court.

Judge Henry J. Johnson sentenced Willie Tolbert of Greenwood county to die in the electric chair on Oct. 28. Defense lawyers filed notice of an appeal to the South Carolina supreme court.

The defense offered no testimony before the circuit court jury of white men.

When the trial opened, Judge Johnston quashed the original rape indictment and ordered a new grand jury and trial jury list, including names of qualified negroes.

The judge said he was doing that in accordance with a defense motion based on a U. S. Supreme court ruling.

Fashion Parade In All Splendor Represented In Cobb's Opening

Fashion moves along in a sophisticated manner for Fall '49 and the opening of Cobb's Department Store this week finds the fashion parade represented in all its splendor in the new store's racks.

Feminity, softness with an easy, slightly lowered waistline and a slender skirt base, is the over-all silhouette for the season, which is now upon us, fashion experts at Cobb's tell us.

Skirts Focal Point

Skirts are still the focal point of interest—they are slim-looking, highly detailed and replete with motion. A motion created by flying panels, jutting peplums—many pleats. New and smart and universally endorsed is the very slim, buttoned-to-the back skirt.

Up go skirt lengths—with 12 to 14 inches the average length in daytime wear and ten inches from the floor for after-five dresses. Some collections show casuals as high as 16 inches from the floor.

Again the shoulder emphasis is on the natural, rounded look with the raglan, all-in-one cut and the bishop variations by far the most popular sleeves shapes in every designer's showing.

Necklines To Extremes

Necklines go to the extreme-extremes—either lifted to hug the back of the neck, showing off the short-cropped hair styles or plunging low into deep V's. Deep cut necklines are cowled, draped, side-swept or forward. Whether high or low — they are all dramatic.

The important looking dresses for Fall are slim and molded — generally animated by a side-swept drape or some type of panel. Skirts that aren't paneled are new in their back-swept, button-on effect or in the tuilp taper of full peplums or tunics. Many of the newer dresses are seamed at the back for smooth, hip-hugging sides. Hemlines are side or center-slit on the narrowest of skirts. Sashed dresses make a new appearance—side drapes with the cascade look are high in popularity.

Bows Are In Again

It is interesting to note that bows and scarf trims are exceptionally important for simple, dramatic emphasis. Huge perky bows for the young-in-mood casual fashions and a sophisticated scarf treatment for the more mature fashions.

Three quarter sleeves with deep, loose cuffs will make a prominent impression in the fashion picture. The push-up sleeve, slightly full above the elbow, continues to hold its own in popularity.

Pockets Biggest News

The extreme use of pockets is the biggest news of the season! You'll find them on the bodice—on the skirt—high up, almost at the shoulder line. Large pockets with diagonal treatment—concealed pockets that fall into the drapery of the skirt—or small pockets used in pairs or more, are seen over and over again in all the new collections. On jackets, they are placed on the hips, running frankly to the very center back.

Pockets, pockets everywhere — some are used for convenience, others purely for the sake of design.

Buttons, too, run rampant over the fashion picture! Like pockets they are used for either utility or display. Many of the newer button trims are made of such utilitarian materials as cork or plastic —while others serve as jeweled accents for dressier frocks.

Hats Hug The Head

Millinery carries the irregular, head hugging shapes shown in the Spring and Summer collections. The helmet, the deep cloche and the little beret are the basic shapes. Making a strong bid for new popularity is the turban — smart, sophisticated turbans have been shown in lovely metallic cloths and spiced with jeweled or feathered accents. Early predictions forecast that the turban will be the fashion for the soft, smooth detailing of the ready-to-wear creations of the season.

To complement the three-quarter sleeves and both the high and low neckline, necklaces and bracelets will be shown in great and diversified groups. Drop earrings will be more popular for after-five wear with the simple button earring the daytime classic.

BACK-TO-SCHOOL separates return to the rustic in this two-piece ensemble. The shirt is supple corduroy with a hi-or-lo collar line, smart with buttons and bows. The all-wool plaid skirt has its pleats stitched across the hips for smooth smartness.

The colors most predominantly shown in the handbag picture are taken directly from nature's palette to accent the proud beauty of the newest fashions.

GLOVE GLAMOUR

Fall Footnotes Predict High Fashion, High Color In Shoes, Cobb's Collection Reveals

New variations to old theme is the keynote of the Fall shoe collections at Cobb's new department store opening this week.

Straps In The Picture

Straps that angle across the instep or circle the ankle and the insteps, are very much in the picture. The classic pump takes to bright trim by the addition of smart clips (borrow your earrings) at the vamp. The suit-slanted stroller is ever-smart and twice-as-elegant as heretofore in suave calfskin, and suedes. The sling pump takes an encore in the fashion scene for Fall.

The charming Louis heel, hesitantly introduced last year, is here to stay for the dressy-afternoon frock and the cocktail length dress. Spats and spat versions are good news, with dressmaker and semi-tailored suits. Many of the strapped shoes wear button detail

Colors For Ensembles

For smoother, more flattering fit, more and more of the new shoes have elasticized uppers, which lend themselves more naturally to more intricate styling.

Colors are evident in harmony creating ensembles — with the brown-tones, wines, brick, green and even navy making a strong bid for prominence.

Suedes, soft and supply — kids with metallic brilliance and calfskins are the top trio in shoe fabrics.

BELTS ARE IMPORTANT

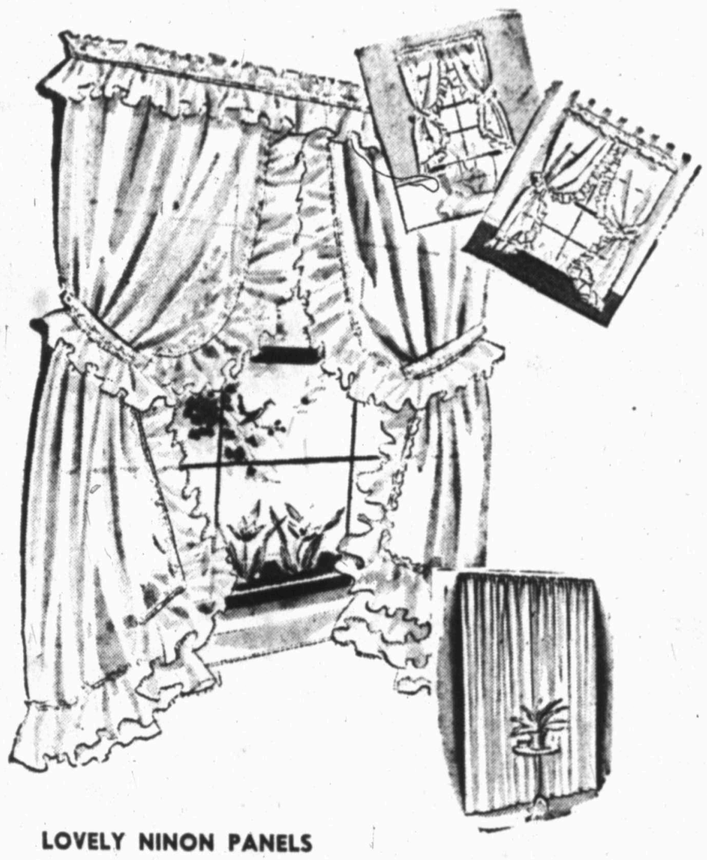

Don't belittle your middle by ignoring the fashion importance of belts. Cobb's fashion experts say. Dog-leash narrow, waist-embracers are highly popular — leather belts in narrow-to-corselet widths are brave with color and trim . . and the jersey sash in woven or knit weights is used sash or cummerbund fashion to encircle the middle. And don't forget the striking effects that can be achieved with printed scarves for waist-hugging wonders.

BOUNTY FOR BRIDES

Every pastel tint in the rainbow is presented in a galaxy of ultra-elegant bridal finery. Shell-transparency tones are used in the traditional bridal satins, nets and the shimmering velvets in drapery-dramatic bridal and bridesmaids' gowns.

Many bride's gowns carry matching mitts as part of the dress itself—more and more stress is laid upon greater versatility in the design of the gown. Removable long sleeves—little bodice-boleros and other tricks adapt the gowns from the wedding aisle to the ballroom floor.

Brocaded satins — metallic-thread shot crepes—the loveliest of chiffon velvets and silk chiffons and marquisettes are more lavish in one of the most lavish of bridal showings in years.

Cobb Brothers Department Stores Started In Area 23 Years Ago

Twenty-two years ago the first of three brothers came to the South Plains to enter the retail dry goods business in this rapidly-growing agricultural empire.

It wasn't long before he was joined by the two other brothers and the firm of Cobb Bros., was established. The company now is one of the major department store firms of West Texas, having 12 stores in this area, eastern New Mexico and Arizona.

Tom Cobb President

The twelfth unit, the Lubbock store, is to be formally opened this week at the corner of Thirteenth and Ave. J.

Tom Cobb, president of the firm, was the first of the trio to come west from Dallas, where he was employed by Higginbotham, Bailey, Logan Co., wholesale dry goods company. Two and three years later, Joe, secretary-treasurer; and Bob, vice president, joined him and the newly-organized company began to expand.

BOB COBB
Vice President

Started In 1927

Start of the organization was made when Tom Cobb and I. A. Stephens, Lubbock man, who was also employed by the Dallas company, bought out the Lewis Bros., store in Brownfield on Jan. 1, 1927. They operated the store until April, 1928, when Stephens decided he wanted a store in a larger field and sold his interest in the store to Cobb. Stephens opened a store in Dallas, later coming to Lubbock where he operated a store at the location now occupied by Dunlap's.

A year later, Joe Cobb joined his brother at Brownfield. He had been working with the same firm his brother left two years earlier. In 1930, the trio was complete when Bob Cobb, who had considerable retailing experience with Sears and A. Harris at Dallas, moved to the South Plains.

Tarrant County Farm Boys

Thus was formed Cobb Bros., by three former Tarrant county farm boys. The brothers were born near Grapevine and educated in Tarrant county schools.

With the Brownfield store doing a good volume, the brothers decided to expand their business and in 1934 opened stores in Lamesa, Littlefield and Tahoka. Later R. W. Rutherford, who had joined the firm at Littlefield, was killed in an automobile accident and in settlement of the estate the stores at Littlefield and Tahoka went to his heirs.

Graham Store Opened In 1934

Retrenchment in the heart of the depression forced closing of the store at Tahoka (later reopened), but in 1934 the Graham store was also opened and did a good volume from the beginning.

Next unit in the group was the opening of a store at Levelland in 1937 and establishment of the other branches came in the years prior to and during the war.

Seymour's Cobb Bros., store was opened in 1938 and Morton, Plainview and Muleshoe in 1940. Knox City and Stamford were added in 1943.

Headquarters Moved Here

In 1945, the company's headquarters were moved from Brownfield to Lubbock, where the brothers had purchased the six-story Myrick building, where the company's general offices are now located. Plans for the Lubbock store were announced then, but actual construction held up until a lease was secured on the adjoining site and building limitations eased last year.

Two more stores were added to the chain during 1946 with purchase of stores at Casa Grande, Arizona, between Phoenix and Tuscon, and at Carlsbad, N. M.

The Lubbock store is the finest and largest of the entire group of 12 stores. Bob Cobb is manager.

Other Store Managers

A strict policy of maintenance of stocks of quality merchandise at reasonable prices has been followed by the brothers throughout their 20 years of operation.

The Lubbock store will be a slight departure from this policy due to the fact that there will be two separate stores housed in the three-story building. The basement or downstairs store will be a complete store within itself for budget buying with popular priced goods available in complete lines in every department.

The upstairs two floors will be devoted to merchandise of higher quality goods, comparable to those of the finer stores of Lubbock and this section of the state.

Cobb Brothers All Make Homes In City

Lubbock is not only the headquarters for Cobb's Department Stores, but the Cobb brothers all have moved to Lubbock to make their homes.

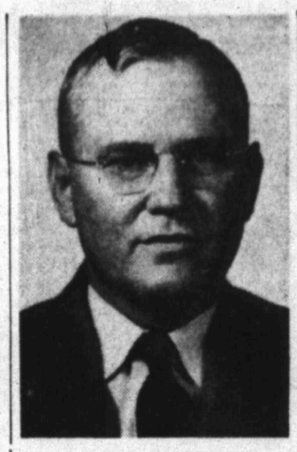

Tom Cobb, president of the company, has resided here since 1945. He lives at 1808 Broadway; is married and has a daughter, Aurelia Ann, a student in Tech and two sons, Dan T., 12; and Joe Paul, 9.

Bob Cobb, vice president, resides at 2305 Twenty-ninth. He is married and has a 12-month-old daughter, Barbara Jean.

COLLEGIATE CAPERS

Two interesting skirts and one good jacket equals two suits in the co-ed wardrobe. Add a jumper, as many blouses as the budget will allow—and toss in a clever jerkin or vestee—and you don't need a slide rule to discover the mathematical potential of a basic and highly interesting, casual about-the-campus wardrobe.

"Luggage Look" Is Latest Style In Fall Handbags; Various Sizes Are Available

It's the newest expression in handbag fashions! It's "The Luggage Look" for milady's fall handbag, a look that denotes a wonderful convenience and novel loveliness. For this new accessory, designers have used as their inspiration the carry-all capacities of suitcases, have transpored them into brilliant bags that duplicate the form of luggage, are actually miniature overnight cases in size.

One of the smartest of the "Luggage Look" bags is created of highly-polished calf, shaped with satchel-type handles of burnished tortoise, and fitted to carry everything from comb to nightie. In all sizes, these bags have the same fine-grain leathers as the most aristocratic luggage, the same careful detail and rich metal frames that add much to the fabulous appeal of their new and prophetic style.

On the dressier scene, the bag for evening is cued to the more feminine gowns. Dainty little dressmaker bags in exquisite fabrics—some with dramatic magnificently beaded and jewelled, and handsomely fitted. Many are complete with gold - trimmed combs, compacts, and even cigarette cases, and each is beautifully lined with matching or contrasting fabric.

Every Item In New Cobb's Store Bought For Lubbock Store

Every single bit of merchandise in Cobb's Department Store, Thirteenth and Ave. J, which opens for business Friday morning, has been purchased exclusively for the Lubbock store.

The Cobb brothers and heads of the various departments made buying trips to St. Louis, Dallas and New York during the past several months making purchases for the new store.

The merchandise, especially a lot of the new fall goods, has been arriving daily during the past several days and sales persons have been working night and day unpacking and displaying for the store's opening this week-end.

Sophisticated Simplicity Describes Fall Suit And Coat Collection At Cobb's New Department Store

Suits and coats for dress-up, and casual wear, too, wear a look of suave simplicity in styling—a new opulence in fabric.

The magnificence of fashion is the most interesting highlight of the fashion story in suits and coats at Cobb's.

Shorter Suit Jackets

Suits see shorter jackets—fitted, boxy, back-belted and the classic Norfolk jackets. Skirts are slim, and occasionally kick-pleated — panel fronts hug the hips tightly—the slimmest of skirts are slit, both for utility and good-looks.

Shoulders are padded lightly; sleeves vary from the usual narrow, classic fit to the flattering raglan and dolman cuts. Small collars with individual treatment are notched, tabbed and carry novelty lapel handling. Pockets are predominate as is multi-button trim.

Jackets Are Surprise

Jackets have a spanking new look and are a pleasant surprise to any one anticipating a new coat purchase. There are great coats, less flared than previously—balmacaans with raglan shoulders—polo coats in lush camel hair fabrics — the belted silhousette and the three-quarter length coat.

Dress-up coats are dramatic and elegant and are trimmed with fur for the collar, lapels and trims. The coats are round at the shoulder, subtly emphasized with dressmaker detail and most of the close-fitting and princess styles.

All-Weather Coats

All weather coats with full, zip-in, zip-out linings continue in popularity.

Pouchy, carry-all pockets—deep concealed pockets, pockets for trim—pockets for utility are extra credit in the coat curriculum.

New coat fabrics boats a host of interesting textures and patterns. Shadow overplaids, bold bright plaids, of varied and assorted color combinations, are all bright and exciting. Iridescent tweeds are the big news, of course, and the usual small-to-large checks continue to hold their own.

Colors Are Gay

In suits and coats alike, the colors are gay and brilliant with vintage shades sparkling in the color panorama. All the grape colors from pale purple to deep, malaga purples, rich with red overtones, will be in great demand. Reds are rosy and clearhued.

Check taupe, toast and all the neutral brown tones for top popularity and you are sure to find the new putty-color widely accepted. The brown family, as a whole, is considered the leader in the color parade.

Green In New Intensity

Olive, moss and green-gold are the favorites in the green family. Slate blues with grey tones and teal (blue-green) is revived with a fresh, new color intensity. A true, blue-navy enters the scene proudly for fall-into-winter wear.

Leading woolen mills, leather fabricators and accessory manufacturers have banded together to bring to the market all of these colors in identical color values in all manner of merchandise.

You'll find it an exciting hunt—a "which one shall I get" dilemma, when you shop for your new fall suit or coat from these dramatic, colorful creations.

Cords, Velveteen, Plaids Complete Casual Ensembles

Everything from the top of your head to the tip of your toes is accessorized with corduroy, velveteen or paid to add the final finishing fillip to your fall casual ensembles.

Clever toques [illegible]ts and cloches add the [illegible]ine interest with hu[illegible]arry-all handbags and even shoes turning corduroy conscious. Corduroy, velveteen and wool plaid ballet-type slippers are the footnotes to fashion to complete your ensemble.

The fashion conscious coed won't have any trouble rounding out her campus wardrobe with these matching style-wise pieces to be found at Cobb's.

Cobb's Features Latest Design, Planning In Department Stores

Cobb's Department Store at Thirteenth and Ave. J, which will be formally opened to the public this week, represents realization of a dream of the three Cobb brothers over the past 20 years to have a fine department store in Lubbock, the center of the South Plains area.

The Lubbock store is the twelfth unit of a group of stores operated by the Cobbs in West Texas, eastern New Mexico and Arizona.

Latest In Planning And Design

Constructed of brick, concrete and steel, with a cream-colored brick exterior, the new store building contains a basement and two stories, 78 by 125 feet. Of fireproof construction, thermostatically refrigerated air-conditioned and heated, the building was constructed especially for department store use and represents the latest in store planning and design.

Haynes & Kirby were architects for the building which was constructed by Carl Maxey, Lubbock contractor.

Basement Complete Store

The huge basement, with an asphalt tile floor, is to be a complete store within itself for budget-buying of popular-priced merchandise. Complete lines in all departments will be maintained.

A receiving room for stock for all departments and divisions of the store will be maintained in the 52 by 100-foot basement of the adjoining Myrick building, owned by the three brothers.

The street floor, with a colorful terrazzo tile floor and walls finished in pastel and deep tone colors, has bleached or frosted oak fixtures. Ladies and children's better shoes, men's better shoes, men's clothing, hats and furnishings, and ladies lingerie and accessories will be the departments on this floor.

The second floor, also finished in pastel colors with matching fixtures, will house ladies' ready-to-wear, millinery, children's and infants' wear, foundation garments, better piece goods, white goods and home furnishings departments. The second floor has asphalt and carpeted floors in the various departments.

Offices In Myrick Building.

General offices of the store, on the second floor of the Myrick building, may be reached from the second floor. General offices of the company are located on the sixth floor of the adjoining building.

The basement store may be reached by stairways at the left front and center rear of the building. A stairway to the second floor and an elevator is also at the rear of the building for the convenience of shoppers.

The store is lighted throughout with slimline fluorescent lights.

The building's foundation was constructed to carry two additional stories, which may be added in the future.

Bob Cobb, vice president of Cobb Bros., is manager of the new store. Earl Hunter is general auditor and Argo V. Peek is credit manager.

Department Managers Named

W. C. Arnold is manager of the basement store; Mrs. H. T. Bateman, manager of basement ladies' ready-to-wear; Mrs. W. A. Johnson, lingerie; Jim Hussey, manager shoes; Charles Wright, manager men's department; Mrs. Geo. E. Thompson, manager ladies' ready-to-wear; Mrs. Lucille Ingalls, manager children's and infants' wear; Miss Marie Hale, piece goods and home furnishings; Mrs. Ada Burton, manager millinery; and J. C. Monroe, advertising and display manager.

Most of the personnel of the new store are long-time experienced persons in department store retailing and nearly all of them long-time residents of Lubbock.

Orchids Will Be Given Ladies At Store's Opening

Every woman and young lady visiting Cobb's Department Store's formal opening Thursday night from 7:00 until 10:00 p. m. will receive an orchid.

The orchids, flown into Lubbock especially for the formal opening, will be souvenirs of the opening of the new department store.

Coordinates In Vogue This Fall

Mainstay of fall wardrobes for the tot-to-teen set are a gay array of coordinated skirts, jumpers, jackets, weskits, slacks, and pedal pushers. Corduroy is the standby fabric in a wonderful range of autumn colors that combine smartly with bright checks and plaids in cotton or woolen. Velveteens and plaids are smart companions, too, in many fall ensembles for the little miss and her older sister. You'll find them all at Cobbs'.

Softly tailored styles that simplify mother's ironing problems are the general rule for young school dresses, with frills reserved for party fare. Practical dark, yet bright colors dominate the scene, with white pique collars and cuffs providing light accents.

Plaids in both wools and cottons appear in every schoolroom from kindergarten to senior high. Wool jerseys, novelty rayons, and the new, embossed cottons lend new fabric interest to the children's wear picture.

Girls' coats imitate grown-up styles with new cuff and yoke treatments and modified flare backs. Fitted, princess coats are slated for increasing popularity, and coats with detachable hoods appear to be as much in demand as ever. Leading coat fabrics are sturdy wool fleeces, suedes, coverts and tweeds in a wide range of the favored autumn colors.

Suits for the 7-to-14 crowd feature styles in light-weight wool plaids and gabardines. Separate jackets are shown in novelty-patterned velveteens and corduroys.

Novelty fabrics are used in a wide assortment of girls' millinery and accessories. Polka-dotted velveteen and printed corduroy make gay hat and bag combinations. Bright, felt appliques trim matched-up belts, bags, and beanies to give added fashion dash to youthful costumes.

Fixtures In Cobb's New Store Built In City By Local Men

Fixtures in Cobb's Department Store which will be formally opened Thursday night are Lubbock-made throughout.

Lubbock workmen, supervised by S. V. Cunningham, fixture manager for all of Cobb stores, built the fixtures right in the store.

The fixtures, all sectional, are modern in every respect and built to provide the greatest utility in every department.

Street floor fixtures are of bleached oak, while fixtures in the basement store and the second floor are painted various pastel colors to comform with wall finishes in the various departments.

Local craftsmen, carpenters and cabinet makers, and painters, all union men, were employed in building the fixtures.

THAT ADDED TOUCH

A note of brilliance at your throat—a sparkle at your wrist, and a burst of glory at the neckline—are the jewelry touches for autumn's frocks.

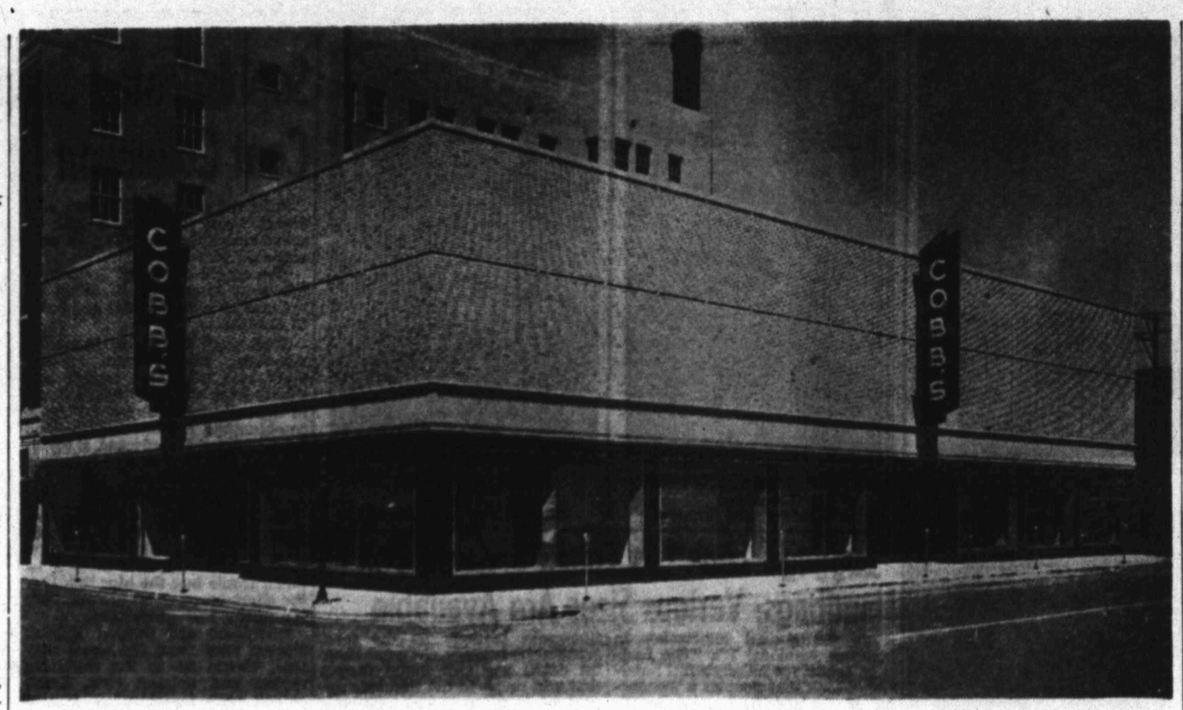

A shower effect, with large clip-on earrings, the bold button-type and the drop, pendant earring are all equally important in fashion significance.

Bracelets of all widths, of all metallic and jewelry finishes, dramatically set off the three-quarter sleeves of new tailored and dressy frocks.

Pendant necklaces, choker necklaces and rope or multi-strands of pastel-hued pearls are lavish touches to wear with either simple, high, untrimmed necklines, the square and low cowl cut or the deep V-plunge.

BE BUTTON BOLD

Be bold and brazen in your use of buttons when restyling an old dress to new importance, or when making a new one yourself. It's the newest and one of the most important fashion trims and you can set your budget limit on just how extravagant in your button use you care to be.

NEW COBB'S DEPARTMENT STORE—Pictured above is an exterior view of the new Cobb's Department Store, at the corner of Thirteenth and Ave. J, which will be formally opened this week. Built of brick, tile and steel, the store has no exterior windows and is air-conditioned for summer and winter. The foundation of the building was constructed strong enough to carry two more stories.

Your "Good Black Dress" Dramatically Simple, Yet Elegant, Smart, Dramatic; Silhouette Contradictory

The one dress that really creates a fashionable frame for every woman is her "good black dress." Elegant yet simple, it is smart and dramatic and is featured in Cobb's ready-to-wear department on the second floor.

It is the one dress that shows off your smartest and finest costume jewelry . . . lingerie touches . . . stoles and scarves to the best advantage.

Ruffles Appear Again

And you'll choose your most becoming style from peplums and tunics of various lengths—or, be enchanted with floating panels—or, enraptured with row-upon-row of ruffles. You'll wear either cap sleeves—or mandrain—or gracious batwing sleeves. Your new dress will be round and soft-looking at the shoulder line—with a high—or—a low, low neckline.

The basic fabrics for after-five dresses are faille crepe, woven stripe bengaline, rib or cord crepes, Jacquard taffeta, tissue rayon, moire, matelasses, and jacquard are the more elegant materials. Silks are the most lavish—canton crepe, surah, gros de Londres and ottoman are high style interest.

Satin makes a strong bid for the most elegant of creations—hammered satin, crepe-black and taffeta-back satin, all gleaming in jet glory.

And your good black dress will be trimmed with lace, net marquisette, velveteen or be blazing bright with bugle bead trim.

Yes, there will be pockets galore—exciting buttons rampant—tucks by the score and all the wonderful detail and drapery of the new silhouette—gracing your smartly elegant "good black dress."

Cobb's Have Many Moods For Fall; Separates Colorful And Dramatic

Cobb's says sing a song of separates in a gay and happy tune—because its a highly symphonic season for ensembles—ensembles of separates.

These are three important parts to the composition that look like a complete outfit, yet go on for more occasions and more seasons, as separates.

The skirt, weskit, shirt combination with the skirt and weskit matching and a tailored or dressy blouse for contrast is ace high for all-around wear. On the same basis, the skirt, blouse and jacket trio continue to hold their own in any society—appearing in correlated tweed and jersey.

Coordinates in the blouse and skirt twosomes are linked by a belt to give a one-piece look. In matching or contrasting jersey, tone-on-tone wool jersey tweed skirt and color-blended jersey blouse, plus a jersey belt to match the blouse.

The separate weskit, goes with everything, in a riot of color and a variety of fabric. Suede and chamois are favorites.

Sweaters Good Tie-In

Waist-length cardigan sweaters all the favorite wool yarns, go quite gay also, in metalic ribbon, chenille and other novelty knits These are worn at the skirt top or tucked-in.

For dress-up occasions, skirts are worn slightly above the ankles. They are rich in soft, cuddly woolens, light-weight tweeds and wool jersey. They are usually teamed with off-the-shoulder jersey or cashmere sweater blouses—or luxurious, heavy silk shirts.

Slacks and other active-sports wear remain much as in the past. Team them, however, with new separates; let your colors run bold and bright, and voila, you have arrived for Fall!

To keep the interiors of his delivery trucks cool, one Berlin butter merchant grew real lawns atop the trucks.

In addition to these famous products, the store's shelves and racks will carry hundreds of other brands of merchandise, many of them as well known as those listed above.

Spotlight Remains On Short, Easy-To-Do Hairdo This Fall

The spotlight remains on the short, easy-to-manage, casual hairdo—hair pieces that give short hair the longer look are more and more the vague. Falls, switches and clusters which augment the brief coiffures are becoming less expensive as demand and more European hair shipments increase.

Short hair wears a side angle—with soft, suggested waves, contour curls and breezy bobs hugging the shape of the head for greater flattery. These hair styles are highly dramatic and give stately elegance, and femininity to the high collar and low plunge, jewel-frosted necklines.

In keeping with the coiffure trends, make-up is soft and pastel—lipstick is rosy-hued and highlights the natural shape of the mouth. Rouge is only suggested for daytime wear with darker tones used for evening, underlights emphasis.

Cream make-up foundations carry through for an over-all pastel look—used skilfully it is blended high into the hairline—and as low as your neckline descends.

Experts in the U. S. Treasury each day count approximately 40,000 new bills and 25,000 old ones.

Men's Wear Has Bold Fall Look

The "Bold" look for men, which has been a feature of the casual wear collections for the past two seasons comes into its own this autumn in a collection of jackets, slacks and sport shirts that give the male with a love of color a chance to give full expression to his long-suppressed desires, so reports Charles Wright, manager of Cobb's Men's furnishing department.

Plaids and checks in bold patterns and striking color combinations, are the rule for sport coats. Very much in the picture, too, are coats and jackets of corduroy in solid colors of green, wine and coppery brown as well as colorful, patterned cords. The majority of slacks are in plain shades to harmonize or contrast with the new bold coats and jackets.

Wind and water-repellent jackets in closely-woven twill with plaid, wool linings are a favorite for campus wear; and for later in the season, full length storm coats of wool and cotton gabardine with linings and collars o wombat and mouton will be seen in the cheering sections at all the games.

The Gaucho sport shirt continues to be the number-one casual choice in a wide array of new fall versions—long or short sleeves—striking color combinations — knit or wool-fabric.

PLAIDS POPULAR

Plaid remains high on the popularity poll at Cobb's. Check the importance of shadow to bold plaids in every phase of the fashion story. It's spotlighted over and over again in conjunction with velveteen and sheer, solid-color woolens.

THE JUMPER—Always one jump ahead in style, now shows up in the newest shades of nature, breaks into a bold plaid, is designed with mammoth patch pockets. At the right, a men's wear all wool flannel suit, classically styled and made important with its over-sized pockets.

Your Gloves, Milady

It's the twist at the wrist the counts in gloves, this season. On the strictest little casual to the most sophisticated glove, there are saucy ruffles, petal-like pouffs and flashes of soft laces.

Colors, too, are braver and brighter—doeskins and leathers, brilliantly dyed; Suedes and fabrics wearing contrasting thumbs that pickup the dominant color of your ensemble.

You'll find them all in Cobb's Department store collection of fine gloves.

Millinery Mood Close To Head

Velvets, velours, and felt types, berets, bumpers, bonnets, profile and cloches feature the close-to-the-head mood in millinery for fall, featured in the millinery department at Cobb's Department store.

Manipulated Felts

For the street scene, luxurious felts are manipulated to a close-to the-head look, or in little shapes with peaked crowns and finished with a jaunty drape at the side.

Sheer enchantment and face-framing flattery for every woman are the dramatic, back-hugging, not-too-high draped turbans. There are new notes of elegance and luxury in the metallic cloths, the super-sheen velvets and the heavy, lustrious satins used for these turbans.

Trims Are Exciting

California Collections Set The Fashion Tempo; Fall Styling Confident, Beautifully Wearable At Cobb's

Rich designer collections in casual clothes are featured at Cobb's Department store with California and Dallas collections setting the pace for an exciting season.

Colors are rich and borrowed from nature itself; fabrics are plesant, lavish and rythmic in weave. This year's creations are perhaps the most distinctive in styling, with fabric and workmanship at its peak than in any previous year, Mrs. Geo. Thompson, manager of the second floor ladies' read-to-wear department, declares.

Fabrics Are Varied

Casual fashions from California run the gamut of such fabrics as tweed, wool jersey, alpaca, English oxford, machine and hand knits, corduroys and with rayon and nylon appearing in every line.

Styling in the suit picture runs to shorter jackets with shoulders padded for fit only. The slimmest of slim skirts, with action-slits, fore and aft, are seen over and over again. Shoulder accent is important. Clever tucks and darts dramatize detail in every phase of suit styling. Dolman sleeves in full or modified angles are in high favor. For trim there are buttons and more buttons, touches of braid, and accents of fur.

Plaids Bold, Rampant

Coats range from the dressiest of styles in sleek finished fabrics such as broadcloth, faille, gabardine to ultra casual fashions in fine tweeds, camel hair and shag woolens.

Plaids are bold and rampant. Stripes more popular than they have been in many a season. Dolman sleeves are used in many coats. The 5-8 length is back with new strength and the shortie remains in high favor.

A California original, and high fashion, too, is the coat-dress, done this fall in beautiful woolens, alpacas, corduroys, faille or repp. These coat dresses are classic in line and carry either back or front fullness. They are carefully lined to the waist.

Pads Are Missing

Dresses have taken on a new importance — high, tight necklines with bobby collars or a deep convertible, plunging neckline are two of the themes. Pads are small or non-existant. Hip accents predominate — drapes carried to the hip and falling into a manipulated panel or pouff, with tiers, tunic effects or trim bandings, equally important. Double panels and tiers are used for dramatic effect.

Pockets theme the Fall fashion story—taking on multiple shapes and forms — with all manner of cuff, tab or contrast trim.

IN THE MOOD of elegance, an effective cocktail hat of jet aigrettes is sparked into brilliance with its touches of jewels. The necklace is by Coro.

Interior Views Of Cobb's Department Store Opening This Weekend

The store is decorated throughout in pastel colors which harmonize with furnishings and fixtures on the various floors. All of the fixtures in the entire store were custom manufactured right in the store by a crew of Lubbock workmen and fitted to the various departments. Fixtures on the street floor are of frosted oak while those in the basement store and second floor are painted in pastels to harmonize with wall and ceiling tones. Throughout the entire store, fixtures are so designed that the shopper's eye-level is high enough to see other departments of the store on the same floor with ease. (Photos by Reeves).

Fashion Parade In All Splendor Represented In Cobb's Opening

Fashion moves along in a sophisticated manner for Fall '49 and the opening of Cobb's Department Store this week finds the fashion parade represented in all its splendor in the new store's racks.

Feminity, softness with an easy, slightly lowered waistline and a slender skirt base, is the over-all silhouette for the season, which is now upon us, fashion experts at Cobb's tell us.

Skirts Focal Point

Skirts are still the focal point of interest—they are slim-looking, highly detailed and replete with motion. A motion created by flying panels, jutting peplums—many pleats. New and smart and universally endorsed is the very slim, buttoned-to-the back skirt.

Up go skirt lengths—with 12 to 14 inches the average length in daytime wear and ten inches from the floor for after-five dresses. Some collections show casuals as high as 16 inches from the floor.

Again the shoulder emphasis is on the natural, rounded look with the raglan, all-in-one cut and the bishop variations by far the most popular sleeves shapes in every designer's showing.

Necklines To Extremes

Necklines go to the extreme-extremes—either lifted to hug the back of the neck, showing off the short-cropped hair styles or plunging low into deep V's. Deep cut necklines are cowled, draped, side-swept or forward. Whether high or low — they are all dramatic.

The important looking dresses for Fall are slim and molded — generally animated by a side-swept drape or some type of panel. Skirts that aren't paneled are new in their back-swept, button-on effect or in the tulip taper of full peplums or tunics. Many of the newer dresses are seamed at the back for smooth, hip-hugging sides. Hemlines are side or center-slit on the narrowest of skirts. Sashed dresses make a new appearance—side drapes with the cascade look are high in popularity.

Bows Are In Again

It is interesting to note that bows and scarf trims are exceptionally important for simple, dramatic emphasis. Huge perky bows for the young-in-mood casual fashions and a sophisticated scarf treatment for the more mature fashions.

Three quarter sleeves with deep, loose cuffs will make a prominent impression in the fashion picture. The push-up sleeve, slightly full above the elbow, continues to hold its own in popularity.

Pockets Biggest News

The extreme use of pockets is the biggest news of the season! You'll find them on the bodice—on the skirt—high up, almost at the shoulder line. Large pockets with diagonal treatment—concealed pockets that fall into the drapery of the skirt—or small pockets used in pairs or more, are seen over and over again in all the new collections. On jackets, they are placed on the hips, running frankly to the very center back.

Pockets, pockets everywhere — some are used for convenience, others purely for the sake of design.

Buttons, too, run rampant over the fashion picture! Like pockets they are used for either utility or display. Many of the newer button trims are made of such utilitarian materials as cork or plastic —while others serve as jeweled accents for dressier frocks.

Hats Hug The Head

Millinery carries the irregular, head hugging shapes shown in the Spring and Summer collections. The helmet, the deep cloche and the little beret are the basic shapes. Making a strong bid for new popularity is the turban — smart, sophisticated turbans have been shown in lovely metallic cloths and spiced with jeweled or feathered accents. Early predictions forecast that the turban will be the fashion for the soft, smooth detailing of the ready-to-wear creations of the season.

To complement the three-quarter sleeves and both the high and low neckline, necklaces and bracelets will be shown in great and diversified groups. Drop earrings will be more popular for after-five wear with the simple button earring the daytime classic.

BACK-TO-SCHOOL separates return to the rustic in this two-piece ensemble. The shirt is supple corduroy with a hi-or-lo collar line, smart with buttons and bows. The all-wool plaid skirt has its pleats stitched across the hips for smooth smartness.

GLOVE GLAMOUR

Fall Footnotes Predict High Fashion, High Color In Shoes, Cobb's Collection Reveals

New variations to old theme is the keynote of the Fall shoe collections at Cobb's new department store opening this week.

Straps In The Picture

Straps that angle across the instep or circle the ankle and the insteps, are very much in the picture. The classic pump takes to bright trim by the addition of smart clips (borrow your earrings) at the vamp. The suit-slanted stroller is ever-smart and twice-as-elegant as heretofore in suave calfskin, and suedes. The sling pump takes an encore in the fashion scene for Fall.

The charming Louis heel, hesitantly introduced last year, is here to stay for the dressy-afternoon frock and the cocktail length dress. Spats and spat versions are good news, with dressmaker and semi-tailored suits. Many of the strapped shoes wear button detail

For smoother, more flattering fit, more and more of the new shoes have elasticized uppers, which lend themselves more naturally to more intricate styling.

Colors are evident in harmony creating ensembles — with the brown-tones, wines, brick, green and even navy making a strong bid for prominence.

Suedes, soft and supply — kids with metallic brilliance and calfskins are the top trio in shoe fabrics.

BELTS ARE IMPORTANT

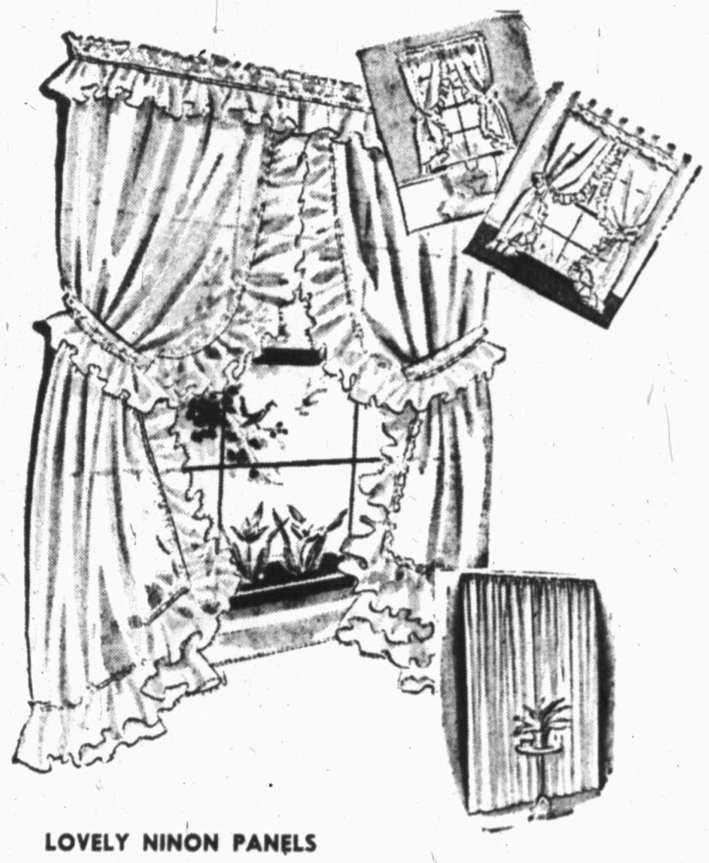

Don't belittle your middle by ignoring the fashion importance of belts. Cobb's fashion experts say. Dog-leash narrow, waist-embracers are highly popular — leather belts in narrow-to-corselet widths are brave with color and trim . . and the jersey sash in woven or knit weights is used sash or cummerbund fashion to encircle the middle. And don't forget the striking effects that can be achieved with printed scarves for waist-hugging wonders.

BOUNTY FOR BRIDES

Every pastel tint in the rainbow is presented in a galaxy of ultra-elegant bridal finery. Shell-transparency tones are used in the traditional bridal satins, nets and the shimmering velvets in drapery-dramatic bridal and bridesmaids' gowns.

Many bride's gowns carry matching mitts as part of the dress itself—more and more stress is laid upon greater versatility in the design of the gown. Removable long sleeves—little bodice-boleros and other tricks adapt the gowns from the wedding aisle to the ballroom floor.

Brocaded satins — metallic-thread shot crepes—the loveliest of chiffon velvets and silk chiffons and marquisettes are more lavish in one of the most lavish of bridal showings in years.

Twenty-two years ago the first of three brothers came to the South Plains to enter the retail dry goods business in this rapidly-growing agricultural empire.

It wasn't long before he was joined by the two other brothers and the firm of Cobb Bros., was established. The company now is one of the major department store firms of West Texas, having 12 stores in this area, eastern New Mexico and Arizona.

BOB COBB
Vice President

Tom Cobb President

The twelfth unit, the Lubbock store, is to be formally opened this week at the corner of Thirteenth and Ave. J.

Tom Cobb, president of the firm, was the first of the trio to come west from Dallas, where he was employed by Higginbotham, Bailey, Logan Co., wholesale dry goods company. Two and three years later, Joe, secretary-treasurer; and Bob, vice president, joined him and the newly-organized company began to expand.

Started In 1927

Start of the organization was made when Tom Cobb and I. A. Stephens, Lubbock man, who was also employed by the Dallas company, bought out the Lewis Bros., store in Brownfield on Jan. 1, 1927. They operated the store until April, 1928, when Stephens decided he wanted a store in a larger field and sold his interest in the store to Cobb. Stephens opened a store in Dallas, later coming to Lubbock where he operated a store at the location now occupied by Dunlap's.

A year later, Joe Cobb joined his brother at Brownfield. He had been working with the same firm his brother left two years earlier. In 1930, the trio was complete when Bob Cobb, who had considerable retailing experience with Sears and A. Harris at Dallas, moved to the South Plains.

Tarrant County Farm Boys

Thus was formed Cobb Bros., by three former Tarrant county farm boys. The brothers were born near Grapevine and educated in Tarrant county schools.

With the Brownfield store doing a good volume, the brothers decided to expand their business and in 1934 opened stores in Lamesa, Littlefield and Tahoka. Later R. W. Rutherford, who had joined the firm at Littlefield, was killed in an automobile accident and in settlement of the estate the stores at Littlefield and Tahoka went to his heirs.

Graham Store Opened In 1934

Retrenchment in the heart of the depression forced closing of the store at Tahoka (later reopened), but in 1934 the Graham store was also opened and did a good volume from the beginning.

Next unit in the group was the opening of a store at Levelland in 1937 and establishment of the other branches came in the years prior to and during the war.

Seymour's Cobb Bros., store was opened in 1938 and Morton, Plainview and Muleshoe in 1940. Knox City and Stamford were added in 1943.

Headquarters Moved Here

In 1945, the company's headquarters were moved from Brownfield to Lubbock, where the brothers had purchased the six-story Myrick building, where the company's general offices are now located. Plans for the Lubbock store were announced then, but actual construction held up until a lease was secured on the adjoining site and building limitations eased last year.

Two more stores were added to the chain during 1946 with purchase of stores at Casa Grande, Arizona, between Phoenix and Tuscon, and at Carlsbad, N. M.

The Lubbock store is the finest and largest of the entire group of 12 stores. Bob Cobb is manager.

Other Store Managers

A strict policy of maintenance of stocks of quality merchandise at reasonable prices has been followed by the brothers throughout their 20 years of operation.

The Lubbock store will be a slight departure from this policy due to the fact that there will be two separate stores housed in the three-story building. The basement or downstairs store will be a complete store within itself for budget buying with popular priced goods available in complete lines in every department.

The upstairs two floors will be devoted to merchandise of higher quality goods, comparable to those of the finer stores of Lubbock and this section of the state.

Cobb Brothers All Make Homes In City

Lubbock is not only the headquarters for Cobb's Department Stores, but the Cobb brothers all have moved to Lubbock to make their homes.

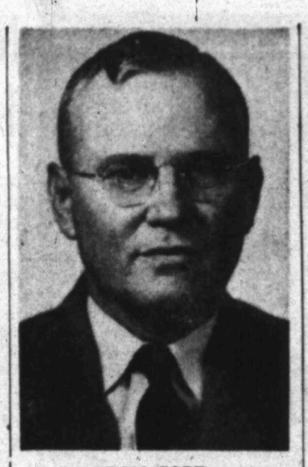

Tom Cobb, president of the company, has resided here since 1945. He lives at 1808 Broadway; is married and has a daughter, Aurelia Ann, a student in Tech and two sons, Dan T., 12; and Joe Paul, 9.

Bob Cobb, vice president, resides at 2305 Twenty-ninth. He is married and has a 12-month-old daughter, Barbara Jean.

COLLEGIATE CAPERS

Two interesting skirts and one good jacket equals two suits in the co-ed wardrobe. Add a jumper, as many blouses as the budget will allow—and toss in a clever jerkin or vestee—and you don't need a slide rule to discover the mathematical potential of a basic and highly interesting, casual about-the-campus wardrobe.

Every Item In New Cobb's Store Bought For Lubbock Store

Every single bit of merchandise in Cobb's Department Store, Thirteenth and Ave. J, which opens for business Friday morning, has been purchased exclusively for the Lubbock store.

The Cobb brothers and heads of the various departments made buying trips to St. Louis, Dallas and New York during the past several months making purchases for the new store.

The merchandise, especially a lot of the new fall goods, has been arriving daily during the past several days and sales persons have been working night and day unpacking and displaying for the store's opening this week-end.

"Luggage Look" Is Latest Style In Fall Handbags; Various Sizes Are Available

It's the newest expression in handbag fashions! It's "The Luggage Look" for milady's fall handbag, a look that denotes a wonderful convenience and novel loveliness. For this new accessory, designers have used as their inspiration the carry-all capacities of suitcases, have transpored them into brilliant bags that duplicate the form of luggage, are actually miniature overnight cases in size.

One of the smartest of the "Luggage Look" bags is created of highly-polished calf, shaped with satchel-type handles of burnished tortoise, and fitted to carry everything from comb to nightie. In all sizes, these bags have the same fine-grain leathers as the most aristocratic luggage, the same careful detail and rich metal frames that add much to the fabulous appeal of their new and prophetic style.

On the dressier scene, the bag for evening is cued to the more feminine gowns. Dainty little dressmaker bags in exquisite fabrics—some with dramatic magnificently beaded and jewelled, and handsomely fitted. Many are complete with gold - trimmed combs, compacts, and even cigarette cases, and each is beautifully lined with matching or contrasting fabric.

Sophisticated Simplicity Describes Fall Suit And Coat Collection At Cobb's New Department Store

Suits and coats for dress-up, and casual wear, too, wear a look of suave simplicity in styling—a new opulence in fabric.

The magnificence of fashion is the most interesting highlight of the fashion story in suits and coats at Cobb's.

Shorter Suit Jackets

Suits see shorter jackets—fitted, boxy, back-belted and the classic Norfolk jackets. Skirts are slim, and occasionally, kick-pleated — panel fronts hug the hips tightly—the slimmest of skirts are slit, both for utility and good-looks.

Shoulders are padded lightly; sleeves vary from the usual narrow, classic fit to the flattering raglan and dolman cuts. Small collars with individual treatment are notched, tabbed and carry novelty lapel handling. Pockets are predominate as is multi-button trim.

Jackets Are Surprise

Jackets have a spanking new look and are a pleasant surprise to any one anticipating a new coat purchase. There are great coats, less flared than previously—balmacaans with raglan shoulders—polo coats in lush camel hair fabrics — the belted silhousette and the three-quarter length coat.

Dress-up coats are dramatic and elegant and are trimmed with fur for the collar, lapels and trims. The coats are round at the shoulder, subtly emphasized with dressmaker detail and most of the close-fitting and princess styles.

All-Weather Coats

All weather coats with full, zip-in, zip-out linings continue in popularity.

Pouchy, carry-all pockets—deep concealed pockets, pockets for trim—pockets for utility are extra credit in the coat curriculum.

New coat fabrics boats a host of interesting textures and patterns. Shadow overplaids, bold bright plaids, of varied and assorted color combinations, are all bright and exciting. Iridescent tweeds are the big news, of course, and the usual small-to-large checks continue to hold their own.

Colors Are Gay

In suits and coats alike, the colors are gay and brilliant with vintage shades sparkling in the color panorama. All the grape colors from pale purple to deep, malaga purples, rich with red overtones, will be in great demand. Reds are rosy and clearhued.

Check taupe, toast and all the neutral brown tones for top popularity and you are sure to find the new putty-color widely accepted. The brown family, as a whole, is considered the leader in the color parade.

Green In New Intensity

Olive, moss and green-gold are the favorites in the green family. Slate blues with grey tones and teal (blue-green) is revived with a fresh, new color intensity. A true, blue-navy enters the scene proudly for fall-into-winter wear.

Leading woolen mills, leather fabricators and accessory manufacturers have banded together to bring to the market all of these colors in identical color values in all manner of merchandise.

You'll find it an exciting hunt—a "which one shall I get" dilemma, when you shop for your new fall suit or coat from these dramatic, colorful creations.

Cords, Velveteen, Plaids Complete Casual Ensembles

Everything from the top of your head to the tip of your toes is accessorized with corduroy, velveteen or plaid to add the final finishing fillip to your fall casual ensembles.

Clever toques ...ts and cloches add the ...ine interest with hu... carry-all handbags and even shoes turning corduroy conscious. Corduroy, velveteen and wool plaid ballet-type slippers are the footnotes to fashion to complete your ensemble.

The fashion conscious coed won't have any trouble rounding out her campus wardrobe with these matching style-wise pieces to be found at Cobb's.

Cobb's Features Latest Design, Planning In Department Stores

Cobb's Department Store at Thirteenth and Ave. J, which will be formally opened to the public this week, represents realization of a dream of the three Cobb brothers over the past 20 years to have a fine department store in Lubbock, the center of the South Plains area.

The Lubbock store is the twelfth unit of a group of stores operated by the Cobbs in West Texas, eastern New Mexico and Arizona.

Latest In Planning And Design

Constructed of brick, concrete and steel, with a cream-colored brick exterior, the new store building contains a basement and two stories, 78 by 125 feet. Of fireproof construction, thermostatically refrigerated air-conditioned and heated, the building was constructed especially for department store use and represents the latest in store planning and design.

Haynes & Kirby were architects for the building which was constructed by Carl Maxey, Lubbock contractor.

Basement Complete Store

The huge basement, with an asphalt tile floor, is to be a complete store within itself for budget-buying of popular-priced merchandise. Complete lines in all departments will be maintained.

A receiving room for stock for all departments and divisions of the store will be maintained in the 52 by 100-foot basement of the adjoining Myrick building, owned by the three brothers.

The street floor, with a colorful terrazzo tile floor and walls finished in pastel and deep tone colors, has bleached or frosted oak fixtures. Ladies and children's better shoes, men's better shoes, men's clothing, hats and furnishings, and ladies lingerie and accessories will be the departments on this floor.

The second floor, also finished in pastel colors with matching fixtures, will house ladies' ready-to-wear, millinery, children's and infants' wear, foundation garments, better piece goods, white goods and home furnishings departments. The second floor has asphalt and carpeted floors in the various departments.

Offices In Myrick Building.

General offices of the store, on the second floor of the Myrick building, may be reached from the second floor. General offices of the company are located on the sixth floor of the adjoining building.

The basement store may be reached by stairways at the left front and center rear of the building. A stairway to the second floor and an elevator is also at the rear of the building for the convenience of shoppers.

The store is lighted throughout with slimline fluorescent lights.

The building's foundation was constructed to carry two additional stories, which may be added in the future.

Bob Cobb, vice president of Cobb Bros., is manager of the new store. Earl Hunter is general auditor and Argo V. Peek is credit manager.

Department Managers Named

W. C. Arnold is manager of the basement store; Mrs. H. T. Bateman, manager of basement ladies' ready-to-wear; Mrs. W. A. Johnson, lingerie; Jim Hussey, manager shoes; Charles Wright, manager men's department; Mrs. Geo. E. Thompson, manager ladies' ready-to-wear; Mrs. Lucille Ingalls, manager children's and infants' wear; Miss Marie Hale, piece goods and home furnishings; Mrs. Ada Burton, manager millinery; and J. C. Monroe, advertising and display manager.

Most of the personnel of the new store are long-time experienced persons in department store retailing and nearly all of them long-time residents of Lubbock.

Orchids Will Be Given Ladies At Store's Opening

Every woman and young lady visiting Cobb's Department Store's formal opening Thursday night from 7:00 until 10:00 p. m. will receive an orchid.

The orchids, flown into Lubbock especially for the formal opening, will be souvenirs of the opening of the new department store.

Coordinates In Vogue This Fall

Mainstay of fall wardrobes for the tot-to-teen set are a gay array of coordinated skirts, jumpers, jackets, weskits, slacks, and pedal pushers. Corduroy is the standby fabric in a wonderful range of autumn colors that combine smartly with bright checks and plaids in cotton or woolen. Velveteens and plaids are smart companions, too, in many fall ensembles for the little miss and her older sister. You'll find them all at Cobbs'.

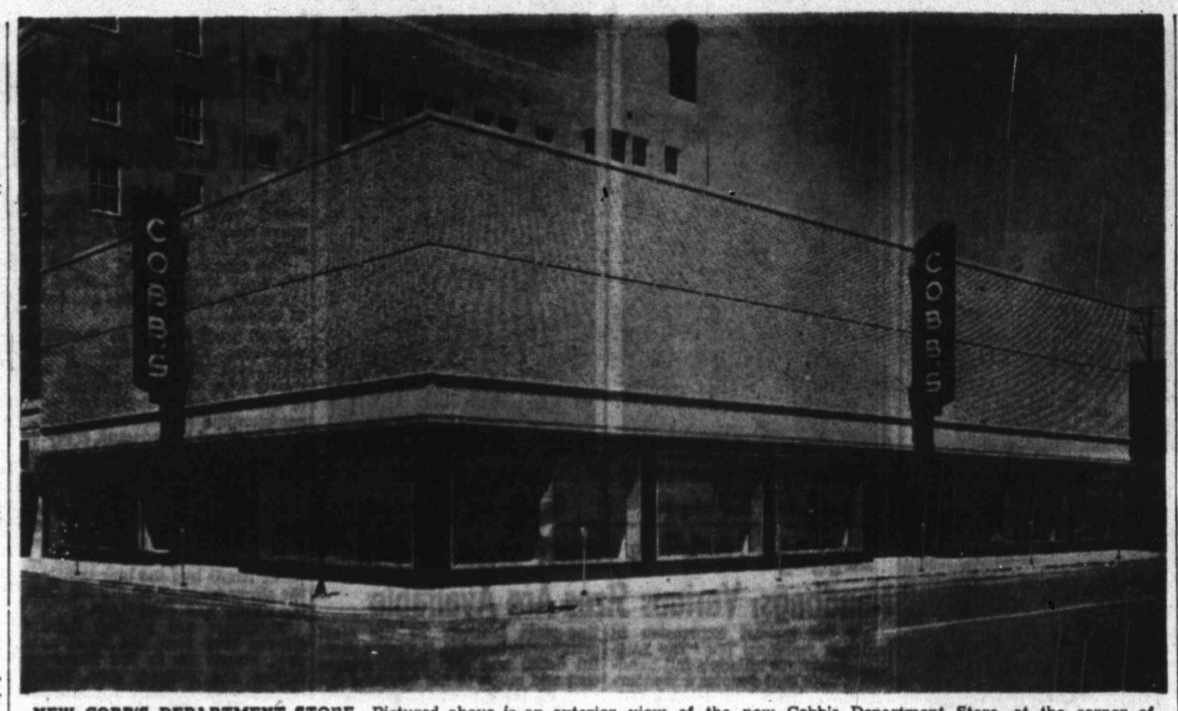

Softly tailored styles that simplify mother's ironing problems are the general rule for young school dresses, with frills reserved for party fare. Practical dark, yet bright colors dominate the scene, with white pique collars and cuffs providing light accents.

Plaids in both wools and cottons appear in every schoolroom from kindergarten to senior high. Wool jerseys, novelty rayons, and the new, embossed cottons lend new fabric interest to the children's wear picture.

Girls' coats imitate grown - up styles with new cuff and yoke treatments and modified flare backs. Fitted, princess coats are slated for increasing popularity, and coats with detachable hoods appear to be as much in demand as ever. Leading coat fabrics are sturdy wool fleeces, suedes, coverts and tweeds in a wide range of the favored autumn colors.

Suits for the 7-to-14 crowd feature styles in light-weight wool plaids and gabardines. Separate jackets are shown in novelty-patterned velveteens and corduroys.

Novelty fabrics are used in a wide assortment of girls' millinery and accessories. Polka-dotted velveteen and printed corduroy make gay hat and bag combinations. Bright, felt appliques trim matched-up belts, bags, and beanies to give added fashion dash to youthful costumes.

NEW COBB'S DEPARTMENT STORE—Pictured above is an exterior view of the new Cobb's Department Store, at the corner of Thirteenth and Ave. J, which will be formally opened this week. Built of brick, tile and steel, the store has no exterior windows and is air-conditioned for summer and winter. The foundation of the building was constructed strong enough to carry two more stories.

Your "Good Black Dress" Dramatically Simple, Yet Elegant, Smart, Dramatic; Silhouette Contradictory

The one dress that really creates a fashionable frame for every woman is her "good black dress." Elegant yet simple, it is smart and dramatic and is featured in Cobb's ready-to-wear department on the second floor.

It is the one dress that shows off your smartest and finest costume jewelry . . . lingerie touches . . . stoles and scarves to the best advantage.

Ruffles Appear Again

And you'll choose your most becoming style from peplums and tunics of various lengths—or, be enchanted with floating panels—or, enraptured with row-upon-row of ruffles. You'll wear either cap sleeves—or mandrain—or gracious batwing sleeves. Your new dress will be round and soft-looking at the shoulder line—with a high—or—a low, low neckline.

The basic-fabrics for after-five dresses are faille crepe, woven stripe bengaline, rib or cord crepes. Jacquard taffeta, tissue rayon, moire, matelasses, and jacquard are the more elegant materials. Silks are the most lavish—canton crepe, surah, gros de Londres and ottoman are high style interest.

Satin makes a strong bid for the most elegant of creations—hammered satin, crepe-black and taffeta-back satin, all gleaming in jet glory.

And your good black dress will be trimmed with lace, net marquisette, velveteen or be blazing bright with bugle bead trim.

Yes, there will be pockets galore—exciting buttons rampant—tucks by the score and all the wonderful detail and drapery of the new silhouette—gracing your smartly elegant "good black dress."

Cobb's Have Many Moods For Fall; Separates Colorful And Dramatic

Cobb's says sing a song of separates in a gay and happy tune—because its a highly symphonic season for ensembles—ensembles of separates.

These are three important parts to the composition that look like a complete outfit, yet go on for more occasions and more seasons, as separates.

The skirt, weskit, shirt combination with the skirt and weskit matching and a tailored or dressy blouse for contrast is ace high for all-around wear. On the same basis, the skirt, blouse and jacket trio continue to hold their own in any society—appearing in correlated tweed and jersey.

Coordinates in the blouse and skirt twosomes are linked by a belt to give a one-piece look. In matching or contrasting jersey, tone-on-tone wool jersey tweed skirt and color-blended jersey blouse, plus a jersey belt to match the blouse.

Sweaters Good Tie-In

Waist-length cardigan sweaters all the favorite wool yarns, go quite gay also, in metalic ribbon, chenille and other novelty knits These are worn at the skirt top or tucked-in.

For dress-up occasions, skirts are worn slightly above the ankles. They are rich in soft, cuddly woolens, light-weight tweeds and wool jersey. They are usually teamed with off-the-shoulder jersey or cashmere sweater blouses—or luxurious, heavy silk shirts.

Slacks and other active-sports wear remain much as in the past. Team them, however, with new separates; let your colors run bold and bright, and voila, you have arrived for Fall!

To keep the interiors of his delivery trucks cool, one Berlin butter merchant grew real lawns atop the trucks.

Roberts and Tom Sawyer, D. and J. western wear, Hawk brand and Lee work clothes will be found in addition to many other brands.

In addition to these famous products, the store's shelves and racks will carry hundreds of other brands of merchandise, many of them as well known as those listed above.

Spotlight Remains On Short, Easy-To-Do Hairdo This Fall

The spotlight remains on the short, easy-to-manage, casual hairdo—hair pieces that give short hair the longer look are more and more the vague. Falls, switches and clusters which augment the brief coiffures are becoming less expensive as demand and more European hair shipments increase.

Short hair wears a side angle—with soft, suggested waves, contour curls and breezy bobs hugging the shape of the head for greater flattery. These hair styles are highly dramatic and give stately elegance, and femininity to the high collar and low plunge, jewel-frosted necklines.

In keeping with the coiffure trends, make-up is soft and pastel—lipstick is rosy-hued and highlights the natural shape of the mouth. Rouge is only suggested for daytime wear with darker tones used for evening, underlights emphasis.

Cream make-up foundations carry through for an over-all pastel look—used skilfully it is blended high into the hairline—and as low as your neckline descends.

Experts in the U. S. Treasury each day count approximately 40,000 new bills and 25,000 old ones.

Fixtures In Cobb's New Store Built In City By Local Men

Fixtures in Cobb's Department Store which will be formally opened Thursday night are Lubbock-made throughout.

Lubbock workmen, supervised by S. V. Cunningham, fixture manager for all of Cobb stores, built the fixtures right in the store.

The fixtures, all sectional, are modern in every respect and built to provide the greatest utility in every department.

Street floor fixtures are of bleached oak, while fixtures in the basement store and the second floor are painted various pastel colors to comform with wall finishes in the various departments.

Local craftsmen, carpenters and cabinet makers, and painters, all union men, were employed in building the fixtures.

THAT ADDED TOUCH

A note of brilliance at your throat—a sparkle at your wrist, and a burst of glory at the neckline—are the jewelry touches for autumn's frocks.

A shower effect, with large clip on earrings, the bold button-type and the drop, pendant earring are all equally important in fashion significance.

Bracelets of all widths, of all metallic and jewelry finishes, dramatically set off the three-quarter sleeves of new tailored and dressy frocks.

Pendant necklaces, choker necklaces and rope or multi-strands of pastel-hued pearls are lavish touches to wear with either simple, high, untrimmed necklines, the square and low cowl cut or the deep V-plunge.

BE BUTTON BOLD

Be bold and brazen in your use of buttons when restyling an old dress to new importance, or when making a new one yourself. It's the newest and one of the most important fashion trims and you can set your budget limit on just how extravagant in your button use you care to be.

It's for you . . .

New Cobb's Department Store To Boast Large, Experienced Staff

When Cobb's Department Store opens this week, it will be a full-grown institution from the time the doors open.

A complete stock of goods in every department and an experienced and well-trained staff of employes will provide shoppers with an efficient and well-planned shopping service.

The store will have a staff of 50 employes, all of whom have had experience in retail sales work in Lubbock and elsewhere.

Experience Totals 182 Years

The store's ten department managers represent a total of 182 years experience in retailing, an average of 18.2 years each. A majority of them have been in Lubbock most of the time.

Bob Cobb, vice president of the company, has had more than 25 years experience, having previously been with Sears and A. Harris & Co., at Dallas, before joining his brothers in the department store business.

Monroe Display Manager

J. C. Monroe, display and advertising manager, has had 22 years department store experience, 20 of which have been in Lubbock. He is married and has a three-months-old daughter.

Earl Hunter, office manager of the company's general offices, has been a resident of Lubbock since 1930 and has had 16 years experience as an auditor. He is married and has one daughter.

Here 26 Years

Miss Marie Hale, buyer and manager of the second floor piece goods and home furnishings, has lived in Lubbock 26 years and has had 18 years experience in retailing.

Mrs. Howard Ingalls, buyer and manager of the second flood children's and infants' departments has had 19 years retailing experience, during her 26 years residence in Lubbock. She is the mother of one daughter.

Thirteen Years In Lubbock

Mrs. Geo. E. Thompson, buyer and manager of the ladies ready-to-wear department on the second floor, has had 20 years retail experience, 13 of which have been in Lubbock. She has one daughter.

Mrs. Ada Burton, buyer and manager of the millinery department, has had four years retailing experience. Formerly of Fort Worth, she recently moved to Lubbock. She has a daughter.

Mrs. W. A. Johnson, buyer and manager of the lingerie and accessories department on the street floor, has had 27 years experience in retailing, one year in Lubbock. She also is the mother of a daughter.

Wright Here 22 Years

Charles Wright, buyer and manager of the men's and boys' furnishings on the street floor, has had 25 years experience in retailing, 22 of which have been in Lubbock stores. He is married and has a son and daughter.

Jim Hussey, buyer and manager of the men's, women's and children's shoe departments on the street floor, has had 14 years experience in retailing. Formerly of Fort Worth, he is married and has a six-months-old son.

W. C. Arnold, downstairs store manager, has resided in Lubbock county 30 years with seven years retail store experience. He is married and has a five-year-old daughter.

Mrs. Dovie L. Bateman, manager of the downstairs store ready-to-wear, has had 18 years experience in retailing, ten of which have been in Lubbock stores. She is a widow and mother of two daughters.

Men's Wear Has Bold Fall Look

The "Bold" look for men, which has been a feature of the casual wear collections for the past two seasons comes into its own this autumn in a collection of jackets, slacks and sport shirts that give the male with a love of color a chance to give full expression to his long-suppressed desires, so reports Charles Wright, manager of Cobb's Men's furnishing department.

Plaids and checks in bold patterns and striking color combinations, are the rule for sport coats. Very much in the picture, too, are coats and jackets of corduroy in solid colors of green, wine and coppery brown as well as colorful, patterned cords. The majority of slacks are in plain shades to harmonize or contrast with the new bold coats and jackets.

Wind and water-repellent jackets in closely-woven twill with plaid, wool linings are a favorite for campus wear; and for later in the season, full length storm coats of wool and cotton gabardine with linings and collars o wombat and mouton will be seen in the cheering sections at all the games.

The Gaucho sport shirt continues to be the number-one casual choice in a wide array of new fall versions—long or short sleeves—striking color combinations — knit or wool-fabric.

PLAIDS POPULAR

Plaid remains high on the popularity poll at Cobb's. Check the importance of shadow to bold plaids in every phase of the fashion story. It's spotlighted over and over again in conjunction with velveteen and sheer, solid-color woolens.

THE JUMPER—Always one jump ahead in style, now shows up in the newest shades of nature, breaks into a bold plaid, is designed with mammoth patch pockets. At the right, a men's wear all wool flannel suit, classically styled and made important with its over-sized pockets.

Your Gloves, Milady

It's the twist at the wrist the counts in gloves, this season. On the strictest little casual to the most sophisticated glove, there are saucy ruffles, petal-like pouffs and flashes of soft laces.

Colors, too, are braver and brighter—doeskins and leathers, brilliantly dyed; Suedes and fabrics wearing contrasting thumbs that pickup the dominant color of your ensemble.

You'll find them all in Cobb's Department store collection of fine gloves.

Millinery Mood Close To Head

Velvets, velours, and felt types, berets, bumpers, bonnets, profile and cloches feature the close-to-the-head mood in millinery for fall, featured in the millinery department at Cobb's Department store.

Manipulated Felts

For the street scene, luxurious felts are manipulated to a close-to the-head look, or in little shapes with peaked crowns and finished with a jaunty drape at the side.

Sheer enchantment and face-framing flattery for every woman are the dramatic, back-hugging, not-too-high draped turbans. There are new notes of elegance and luxury in the metallic cloths, the super-sheen velvets and the heavy, lustrious satins used for these turbans.

Trims Are Exciting

California Collections Set The Fashion Tempo; Fall Styling Confident, Beautifully Wearable At Cobb's

Rich designer collections in casual clothes are featured at Cobb's Department store with California and Dallas collections setting the pace for an exciting season.

Colors are rich and borrowed from nature itself; fabrics are plesant, lavish and rythmic in weave. This year's creations are perhaps the most distinctive in styling, with fabric and workmanship at its peak than in any previous year, Mrs. Geo. Thompson, manager of the second floor ladies' read-to-wear department, declares.

Fabrics Are Varied

Casual fashions from California run the gamut of such fabrics as tweed, wool jersey, alpaca, English oxford, machine and hand knits, corduroys and with rayon and nylon appearing in every line.

Styling in the suit picture runs to shorter jackets with shoulders padded for fit only. The slimmest of slim skirts, with action-slits, fore and aft, are seen over and over again. Shoulder accent is important. Clever tucks and darts dramatize detail in every phase of suit styling. Dolman sleeves in full or modified angles are in high favor. For trim there are buttons and more buttons, touches of braid, and accents of fur.

Plaids Bold, Rampant

Coats range from the dressiest of styles in sleek finished fabrics such as broadcloth, faille, gabardine to ultra casual fashions in fine tweeds, camel hair and shag woolens.

Plaids are bold and rampant. Stripes more popular than they have been in many a season. Dolman sleeves are used in many coats. The 5-8 length is back with new strength and the shortie remains in high favor.

A California original, and high fashion, too, is the coat-dress, done this fall in beautiful woolens, alpacas, corduroys, faille or repp. These coat dresses are classic in line and carry either back or front fullness. They are carefully lined to the waist.

Pads Are Missing

Dresses have taken on a new importance — high, tight necklines with bobby collars or a deep convertible, plunging neckline are two of the themes. Pads are small or non-existant. Hip accents predominate — drapes carried to the hip and falling into a manipulated panel or pouff, with tiers, tunic effects or trim bandings, equally important. Double panels and tiers are used for dramatic effect.

Pockets theme the Fall fashion story—taking on multiple shapes and forms — with all manner of cuff, tab or contrast trim.

Fall fashions from California reveal a season of beautiful contradictions — catering to woman's every mood; the demure, the flirtations or the striking bold manner.

IN THE MOOD of elegance, an effective cocktail hat of jet aigrettes is sparked into brilliance with its touches of jewels. The necklace is by Coro.

Interior Views Of Cobb's Department Store Opening This Weekend

The store is decorated throughout in pastel colors which harmonize with furnishings and fixtures on the various floors. All of the fixtures in the entire store were custom manufactured right in the store by a crew of Lubbock workmen and fitted to the various departments. Fixtures on the street floor are of frosted oak while those in the basement store and second floor are painted in pastels to harmonize with wall and ceiling tones. Throughout the entire store, fixtures are so designed that the shopper's eye-level is high enough to see other departments of the store on the same floor with ease. (Photos by Reeves).

Possible Future President Of Finland Compared To Rayburn

BY SARAH McCLENDON
Special Correspondent

HELSINKI, Sept. 14. — Speaker Uiho K. Kekkonen of the Parliament of Finland was measured here by six American women journalists with a Sam Rayburn yardstick during an interview and came off a poor "also ran." That, despite the fact Kekkonen was a champion sprinter for Finland for three times and in 1932 represented his country at the Olympic games in California, and also the fact that Kekkonen has a reputation for being a smash hit with the ladies.

Kekkonen is supposed to be a strong candidate for the presidency should the present head of the government, President Paasikivvi, who apparently is quite popular, decided not to run. However, Kekkonen demonstrated the fact that politicians give somewhat the same answers in any language. When asked about his candidacy, he said: "No answer to that one, but why another president — the one we have is good enough."

Point Held In Common

Kekkonen and Speaker Rayburn have one thing in common. Asked if he thought the multiple party system in Finland was beneficial for his country, he said: "For my country, a small one, yes, but for the United States, the two-party system in probably better." Speaker Rayburn has always maintained that the two-party system is much better for his country and that the multiple party plan might divide support too much and thus permit minorities to get in power.

Another thing that Kekkonen mentioned about Finland has a similarity in Speaker Rayburn's own state and district. When an older member of parliament runs for office in Finland, even against young candidates who have been so plentiful in recent years, the older member always wins.

Foreign Affairs Ignored

But the American women thought Kekkonen much too little internationally minded, and for a country the size of Finland with a hungry big nation at her frontier and already squeezing the life blood out of her in reparations, it certainly seems that the women journalists have a point.

Kekkonen leaves foreign affairs to other branches of the government. He does not listen to international broadcasts which in Finland are heard every time one turns on the radio. He knows more about England than he does about the U.S., he admits.

Kekkonen as director of the Bank of Finland is one of the authors of the policy that the Finns should not borrow money to buy cotton or other raw materials from the United States to produce here only consumer's goods. He said only loans for capital goods should be obtained.

Democracy Maintained

"When you haven't the money, you can't buy goods," he said. "That's why we would prefer that any loans be for supplying capital goods."

Here are some things about Kekkonen, who may some day have an even more important position in Finland than he now holds, and who therefore some day may take the steps which will affect people in the United States:

"The right idea of our political position is not clear for Americans and English. Sympathy is not enough for the facts. It is therefore good that you women journalists have come here to see how we live. Have you not seen in our cities and towns how democratic we really are? In the past you have not been sure that we were a democratic country."

Kekkonen has been facing the same problems of getting rid of wartime controls that have weighed on the American Congress.

"The controls now imposed on daily living by our social democratic government will get less in time just as they have already been taken off as we get back to normal times from war times. This is as in your country."

Coffee and sugar are still rationed here and there are other controls.

Hope Ridings Miller, magazine writer of Washington, formerly of Sherman, who is a political constituent of Speaker Rayburn, said: "In the United States, our speaker meets the press every day—how often do you see and talk things over with the press?"

Kekkonen said he had "very few opportunities," that this interview was "most unusual."

A correspondent who "covers" Speaker Rayburn regularly pointed out that in the U.S. the speaker seldom speaks but when issues of great importance are being considered, he may be "a very potent speech-maker." Kekkonen replied that he never took the floor, and spoke only at the beginning and end of parliament.

Parliament Unlike Congress

The Finnish parliament is made up largely of what the Finns describe as "the workers" and the farmers, not lawyers as is the U.S. Congress.

Kekkonen says he does not spend many hours in negotiations with leaders of other parties to get bills passed. The government sends its own ministers to work among the legislators to get the government program passed.

Kekkonen does not appoint committee members. Like in the U.S. Congress, the body names a committee which then appoints the committee members, as the U.S. Ways and Means committee chooses the committee members.

Asked about the budget which that day was being presented to parliament, Kekkonen said: "I only know what I've read in the newspapers—wait a minute, if you will get me a copy, I will read the newspapers to you."

Finally he admitted that the main issues would be agricultural and money for social insurance, invalid and big family grants. Only 4.6 per cent would be for national defense. Of course, Finland is prevented under terms of the Russian peace treaty from spending for defense.

Mobilization Course Meet Date Advanced

AUSTIN, Sept. 14. (Special)—The Economic Mobilization course for armed forces reservists and leading industrialists will begin Oct. 17, instead of Oct. 24 as originally planned, Col. Oscar B. Abbott, executive of the Texas Military district, announced today.

The 12-day school will be held in the Scottish Rite temple in Dallas, with 150 armed forces representatives and 150 "top flight" civilians of important economic and industrial firms in attendance.

The course is designed to prepare selected officers for important command, staff and planning assignments, and to prepare chosen civilians for important industrial mobilization planning assignments in any government agency. It will conduct a study of all phases of the U. S. national economy, interrelating the economic factors with political, military and psychological factors.

E. Lestanger; Dee O. Wilkinson, drunk driving, second offense.

Hiss Retrial Slated To Begin On Oct. 10

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (U.P.)—Alger Hiss will be retried on perjury charges Oct. 10, assistant U. S. Attorney Thomas F. Murphy announced today.

The trial date was set following a conference between Murphy and senior federal Judge John C. Knox. The name of the judge who will preside at the trial was not announced.

BURGLARS TAKE GUN

LONG BEACH, Calif., Sept. 14 (AP) — Henry Hanson, 40, decided to keep a revolver on a bedside chair for prowlers who recently had disturbed his sleep. Last night they removed a window screen and got it, he told police.

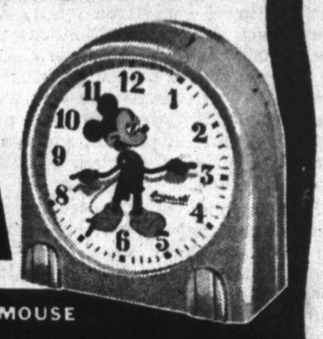

In the first persecutions of Christians in Rome, under Nero, the Apostles Peter and Paul were said to have been martyred.

WORTH TRYING:

New Parking System

FEW drivers like to parallel park in a narrow space between two other machines. Such parking often provides an exacting test of skill, care and patience.

The change of most of the downtown Lubbock streets from angle to parallel parking to be considered by the City commission for definite action today, unquestionably would mean many scraped fenders, dented bumpers and frayed tempers. The change-over also would mean about 250 fewer downtown parking places than at present, aggravating further a parking problem which already is serious.

But anyone can appreciate that parallel parking will leave more room for moving traffic than when cars protrude from the curb at an angle, as they now do on most downtown streets. Lubbock, in proportion to population, probably has traffic as heavy as any Texas city. Some observers even say it is the heaviest. It, therefore, is important to keep the traffic moving as rapidly as considerations of safety will allow.

Safety experts also agree that parallel parking is less hazardous to traffic generally than the angle system. It obviously is easier and safer to drive forward into driving lanes from a parallel position than to back from an angle into traffic, oftimes with the driver's vision obstructed by vehicles protruding far into the street.

Perhaps that parallel system is not necessary on some of the streets in and adjacent to the business district. On some streets of frequent and extreme congestion — such as considerable portions of East Broadway — the need for more space for moving traffic is too obvious for argument. It is for the City commission to decide which thoroughfares shall be designated for parallel parking — and we do not envy them in that task.

But the plan assuredly is worth a thorough test in Lubbock. If it doesn't work out, discarding it will not be difficult. But it seems to be the consensus of most informed observers that the majority of Lubbock drivers, after becoming accustomed to parallel parking, will not want to return to the angle system.

It Means Little

ABOUT the only thing that can be said with assurance in connection with the congressional election in the 26th Pennsylvania district this week is that John P. Saylor, a business-minded Republican, defeated Mrs. Robert L. Coffey, sr., a "tru-deal" Democrat, by a decisive margin.

It, of course, was significant that the people of that district have replaced a Democrat with a Republican as their congressional representative and that the candidate supported by President Truman was defeated. These are clear indications that the people in that district are displeased with the way national affairs are being handled, both by Democratic majorities of Congress and the White House.

But, as an indicator of what might happen in the general congressional elections next year and the Presidential election in 1952, the returns in the Pennsylvania district mean little. Too much can, and probably will, happen before 1950 and 1952 to accept any election in any one district as a reliable indicator of the direction of future political winds.

True enough, only the Republicans are justified in cheering the results in Pennsylvania. But they have won little more than a skirmish which is not likely to have any bearing whatsoever on the decisive political battles of next year and of three years from now.

"Statistics show that the farm tractor is far more dangerous than the mule." This is probably because the tractor doesn't signal a warning by backing its ears.

"Suppressing laughter will cause a person to become neurotic," says a physician. Maybe so, but a neurosis isn't nearly so painful and embarrassing as a black eye.

Steps To The Moon

(THE STORY: Until Barry Bainbridge's millions saves the life of Gaynel Teare's younger sister Pat, Gaynel was slow to accept his proposal of marriage. Then came Pat's emergency operation. Gaynel promises to pay Barry back the money he spent to save Pat's life, and tells herself she will give Barry the answer he wants. But Fritz takes Gaynel on a pleasure jaunt across the Detroit river to Canada and confides in her. He is about to land a very good job and he proposes to her. Gaynel realizes she is in love with Fritz.)

XXII

SO this was love! This was what the song writers sang about, the poets praised, what made the world go round. This giddy, dizzy feeling, this pounding of the pulses, this breathless expectancy, this ridiculous, yet altogether delightful madness.

Gaynel was not quite sure whether she liked it or not. She knew it bereft her completely of all reason and common sense. She knew she had never lived before, that the world was an entirely different place. And that she would have to snap out of it one of these days and face facts. For facts, cold sober ones, were stored somewhere in back of this rosy daze.

Not just yet, her heart whispered, let it last a little while, this beautiful singing world, it may never, never be so lovely, quite, again.

She told herself that reality would drown and destroy all this, sweep the mythical moon out of the sky and land her, with a plunk, back down on earth.

Sunday Fritz took her to Belle Isle to make a day of it. Or as Fritz said, "To celebrate. That's what this is, my love, in case you're not aware of it. A celebration. I've got a new job. You are now gazing upon the newly appointed promotion manager of the Enterprise News Syndicate. Congratulations are in order, if you please."

"Oh, Fritz!" Gaynel had to sit down upon the nearest park bench, she was so overcome by such big news. "I'm so glad, so terribly glad." She was, of course; and yet crowding out that gladness came the thought, it's come. The time to look reality in the face. "Does that mean you'll be going away?"

"Not right off." Fritz gave her a wide grin, as he sat down beside her on the bench. He took her hands in his, pulled her around so that she must look into his eyes, "You don't seem to be taking this the way you should. With somersaults and one war whoop, at least."

"I'll turn them in a minute," she promised. But the way her heart behaved when he looked at her made other acrobatics impossible at the moment. "It kind of struck me in the middle. All of a sudden. The way you feel when something hits you and you lose your breath."

I KNOW. It did me the same trick. I almost got tight last night. In fact," his grin was rueful, "that's why this celebration is being held here today. I spent my first week's salary in advance. Today, my love, we dine on a couple of hamburgers. You don't mind?"

Gaynel shook her head. How could she mind, as long as he was so near, his tweed sleeve brushing her own, his hair all rumpled and shiny in the sun, his eyes so blue that the sky above looked faded in comparison? Yet she knew she should mind; that was just it. Part of those sober cold facts that would have to be stared out of countenance.

"These are exceptional hamburgers, of course," Fritz said. "Just wait till you sink your teeth in them!" He crunched his own in anticipation, wet his lips. "That's why I've been dragging you for miles all over this Isle; to whip your appetite into shape. Boy!" He stretched his legs in front of him as far as they would reach, which was quite some distance. "It does feel good to be 'set.' Suppose we postpone the feast and just commune with nature for awhile."

NATURE, at the moment, was a black squirrel approaching them causiously, yet with a hopeful gleam in its bright eye and in the flag-flung triumph of its bushy tail.

Fritz nudged her to sit still. He reached out a hand, clenched as though containing some hidden treasure; made a clucking sound with his tongue.

The squirrel came toward them once more, a little pause between each eager advance; with a leap it landed neatly on Fritz's shoulder, to perch there a moment then dashed down his coat front, took a nibble at one button, poked an inquiring nose into his hand.

"Aren't you ashamed?" Gaynel asked, when the little creature, after giving them a reproachful look, had scurried away.

"Not me," Fritz returned inelegantly and shamelessly. "The little rogue probably already has a full winter's store pilfered away."

"Smart fellow," Gaynel said. "We should take a lesson," she said. "Save up for that rainy day. I'll bet you haven't one nickel in a savings account, young man. Or any intention of ever putting one there, which is worse. What will you do when winter comes?"

"That's an old one." Fritz stretched his legs a little further. "Haven't you heard? There's always spring, the wench, sneaking up, wagging her tail behind, like Mary's lamb. Now I'll ask you one." He pointed an accusing finger at her. "What would I do with a bank account? I'm not afraid of the rain. When are we going to be married, Gay?"

Gaynel took a deep breath; then the plunge. "That's what I meant," she said, "about a bank account. How can you talk so blithely of taking on the responsibilities of a family without one? I don't quite see how we can get married, Fritz."

Looking At Life -- By Erich Brandeis

ALL the etiquette books written so far deal with the social behavior of individuals.

They tell you which spoon to use; whether to eat asparagus whole or cut it; when to wear white tie and tails, and not to wear tan shoes with formal dress.

Let him write an etiquette manual that deals with the human relations between nations, with a supplement telling people how to act in public.

Any book on etiquette will plainly tell you that polite people don't insult one another.

Yet, it is perfectly all right for one nation to call another a bunch of swindlers and murderers and thieves.

It does not seem to make much difference that the insulting is usually done in cutaway coats and striped pants or in dazzling gold-braided uniforms.

That is the icing. The cake inside is rotten.

If a book on international etiquette were written, made international law and rigidly enforced, there wouldn't be any more wars, any more saber rattling, any more fear of one's neighbor nation.

One might say, of course, that such a book is already in existence.

That book is the Bible.

The ten Commandments are a complete code of ethics not only for us as individuals, but for us as members of a nation.

"Thou shalt not kill" does not mean only that you, as an individual, must not commit murder. It means also that all murder is against the laws of God.

"Thou shalt not steal" does not pertain only to your neighbor's cow or the purse of your neighbor's wife.

Stealing is stealing, whether it is a piece of silver or another nation's territory or resources.

HAVE you ever noticed how otherwise perfectly nice people act when they get away from home?

Have you ever watched them crowd and shove at a baseball game, or at a movie when the rope is let down and the scramble for seats start in? Or at a mass meeting?

Have you ever watched them at a bargain sale?

That is where the supplement to the suggested new book on etiquette should come in handy.

One hundred and fifty-eight years ago Alexander Hamilton wrote in his "Vindication of the Funding System":

"The established rules of morality and justice are applicable to nations as well as to individuals; . . . the former as well as the latter are bound to keep their promises; to fulfill their engagements; to respect the rights of others."

Could Emily Post say it better?

ON ECONOMIC FRONT

HST's Plans Sought

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — American business men have complained to the more responsive members of President Truman's official family that they cannot make plans for the critical fall-winter months ahead because of the inconsistent and clashing statements out of Washington on what the Administration has in store for them.

TUCKER

They have voiced these fears to such comparatively sympathetic men as Commerce Secretary Charles F. Sawyer, Federal Reserve Chairman Thomas B. McCabe and Edwin G. Nourse, head of the President's Council of Economic Advisers. At Mr. Truman's suggestion, these three have been meeting regularly but informally with industrialists and retailers in various sections of the country. So has Treasury Secretary Snyder.

OBJECTIVE: They began their canvasses early in the year, when deflationary trends had led to curtailment of consumer purchases and manufacturing shutdowns. They had two purposes in mind.

The first was to ascertain the state of mind of the business community—its worries and prospects—and the second was to try to convince them that they had nothing to fear from Mr. Truman's broad, long-time program.

Basic objective, of course, was to allay apprehension and to stimulate both confidence and activity that would check the increase in unemployment, the caution of customers and the downward spiralling. Although never admitted by the White House, it was a deliberate and frontal attack on the 1948-1949 recession, albeit mainly psychological.

CONFUSED: Although the three have made fairly hopeful reports to John R. Steelman, presidential aide in this field, they must admit that there is some reason for business men to be confused and lack confidence.

The pledges and prospects offered by the Sawyer-Snyder-McCabe-Nourse quartet, according to their listeners and clinical patients, do not jibe with the outeries of other official spokesmen, including Mr. Truman himself.

"How can we know what to think or do?" exploded a Detroit manufacturer in a typical rejoinder. "You assure us that Mr. Truman is no radical, and that he wants to help us. But Tobin tells unions they should have higher wages. Brannan comes out with a farm plan that will raise wages and costs, and Truman backs it.

OUTBURSTS: "Acheson demands more billions for foreign aid. Johnson says the same for national defense. Truman keeps us and our employees on the mourners' bench by naming fact-finding committees, delaying settlement of the wage question in steel and by demanding repeal of the Taft-Hartley act. All of which means higher taxes, higher wages, higher production costs, higher prices. It just doesn't make sense to me."

The Labor day speeches of President Truman, Secretaries Tobin and Brannan, as well as the even more violent outbursts of such White House allies as William Green and Phillip Murray, came at an especially inappropriate moment, according to business men. They may tend, on the very eve of the expected autumn pickup, to counteract the soothing words of Messrs. Sawyer, McCabe and Nourse.

BRIGHT As official members of "the family," these Truman salesmen could hardly reply that, although sympathetic to business and industry, the President must make vote-getting pledges contrary to his supposed private objective. What they did do, instead, is to discuss the bright side of current conditions and to forecast continued improvement on a short-term basis at least.

Business is making unprecedented profits even after taxes, according to their official reports. It is no longer possible for individuals to amass huge fortunes, but they do not regard this as a national calamity.

Despite contrary opinions, they think corporations can set aside sufficient reserves, especially as presidential fears of a shortage of steel and other industrial capacity have been allayed by events.

FEELING Taxes and costs should eventually settle at a lower level, according to the trio's survey, when and if world conditions improve, lessening the burden of armaments and foreign economic aid. Another need felt but not expressed is a more sensible farm program that would provide a break for retail buyers without bankrupting the farmers.

While not daring to venture a definite forecast, the feeling exists that, barring a war or similar world breakdown, all the factors for from three to five years of relatively good times are present in today's economy.

HUMP Business men's immediate concerns, as Secretary Sawyer has reported to Mr. Steelman, center on a possible fourth round of wage increases, high costs and prices and excessive taxes — in that order.

It is not the big corporations which anticipate anxiously the outcome of the steel wage negotiations. U. S. Steel, Bethlehem and Republic would probably survive a fairly generous raise, but many marginal companies would be driven to the wall. Inasmuch as the steel settlement will set the pattern for other key industries, such as coal, automobile, textiles etc., firms in a struggling or even a break-even state would have hard going.

Believe It Or Not -

FEDERAL SPENDING IN SPOTLIGHT

Economy Holds Public Interest

By Sen. Margaret Chase Smith
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — I took advantage of the Senate Labor Day weekend recess and went home to talk to the folks. I didn't make speeches. I talked to the people individually. I wanted to know what they were thinking and what they wanted.

One trouble with Congress having long, continuous sessions is that the members lose touch with the people back home. They can't stay on the job in Washington and be in their home states at the same time. Letters can do a great deal in keeping contacts and "feeling the pulse." But letters are not a satisfactory substitute for face-to-face personal conversation.

SEN. SMITH

Earlier Recess Needed

Using hindsight, I think Congress should have recessed the first of August for two months. If the members had gone back home and talked with the people, I feel that we wouldn't have had the talkathon that we have been going through. We would have had more action in October and November and fewer words in July. But now that we are still in session, I believe that we should stay until we have finished our work.

I had expected the people to be talking about the "five percenter" investigation and potential corruption in the Federal government. Maybe this was because I am on the Senate Investigating committee conducting the "five percenter investigation and have been questioning witnesses relating to it for many days.

BUT I found that they aren't nearly as interested in the "five percenters" as they are in government economy and in cutting taxes.

The businessman understandably want to know when his taxes are coming down. The housewife wants to know when prices are coming down. She wants her dollar to buy more food than it does now. The businessman and the housewife are interested in these things because they directly affect them. They can't see that the "five percenter" investigation is much of their concern.

Yet the investigation does have a direct relation to economy. Whenever a "percenter" can get a fee of nearly one hundred thousand dollars on a government transaction, the housewife and the businessman are affected because they have to pay part of that fee in taxes. Fact is that the "five percenter" investigation is directed not only at driving out sellers of influence but also at getting economy.

All Favor Spending Cuts

Economy is much like the weather. People talk more than they do things about it. Everybody is for it—until he is affected by it. People say, "Economize on everyone but me." Some of the greatest economy advocates in the Senate put up the greatest fights against attempts to cut down on appropriations for projects in their own states. All of us are going to have to be willing to take some cuts where it may hurt.

Another weakness of many economy proposers is that when you ask them just how they would save money—specifically where they would cut—they cannot give a specific, satisfactory answer. They offer no real solution for that which they attack and deplore. Most often they say that we should get rid of what they call "expensive socialistic programs." They attack the domestic, non-war side of our Federal spending.

BUT we can't make the biggest saving on the domestic side. The peaceful "here-at-home" operations of our government cost only one-third of what our wars and foreign operations cost. These "at-home" operations can't be cut enough to make any appreciable economy when compared to the war and foreign aid expenditures. They cover such necessary items as the F.B.I., the mail, soil conservation and the Departments of Treasury, Justice, Commerce, Agriculture, Interior, etc.

I am afraid that too many people don't realize this. When someone starts talking to me about saving money on these "expensive socialistic programs," I call the facts to their attention and point out that the place to start saving is at the other end of the budget—the military and foreign aid end.

DOG AND FAWN MERGE

OWOSSO, Mich. (U.P.)—An English setter and a fawn have become great friends here. The two became acquainted when the setter discovered the little fawn in a thicket. Since then they have been close companions, emerging from the woods twice a day to take food from a tavern owner.

Several persons in Sydney, Australia, who watched an eclipse of the sun with the naked eye, despite warnings, were temporarily blinded.

Acting Leader Of Nationalist China Gives Gift Tiger To Zoo

CANTON, Sept. 14. (AP)— Acting President Li Tsung-Jen of Nationalist China finally has let go of the tiger's tail.

Last month some soldiers on the front north of Canton captured a tiger. They gave it to Li as a token of their esteem.

Li appreciated the sentiment. But he found that the cost of feeding the beast was equal to twice he salary of Canton's mayor.

Railroad Commission Expected To Increase State Oil Allowable

By BO BYERS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Sept. 14 — A one-day increase in the statewide and East Texas field producing schedules for October is anticipated when the railroad commission holds its monthly oil proration hearing tomorrow.

Such a hike, putting the East Texas field on 17 producing days and the rest of the state on 19, would mean a mathematical increase of some 50,000 barrels in total October daily crude oil allowables.

New completions probably would add another 35,000 barrels.

Greater Demand Expected

Such action would bring the flow of Texas crude to about the level of current demand estimated by the Texas Bureau of mines. The bureau estimated a demand of 2,190,000 barrels daily, up 60,000 barrels from their estimate for September. The current allowable is 2,099,000 barrels per day. Should the commission hold to the present pattern of 16 producing days in East Texas and 18 over the rest of the state, there would be a slight decrease in October's daily allowable. This is because October has 31 days compared with September's 30.

Storage Considered High

Oil purchasers arguing against any increase point to a total estimated storage of 264,613,000 barrels on Sept. 3 as evidence that allowables are sufficiently high now. Several witnesses at last month's oil hearing agreed that maximum storage should not exceed 268,000,000 barrels.

However, purchasers advance nominations for Texas crude total 2,419,516 barrels per day, a 53,919-barrel daily increase over those for September. This indicates a number of purchasers are optimistic over prospects of steadily increasing demand in the winter months.

Judge Martinez Orders Venue Change

Accused Alice Slayer To Go On Trial At Belton Oct. 24

BELTON, Sept. 14 (AP) — Sam Smithwick, 60, will go on trial Oct. 24 on a murder charge in the death of W. H. (Bill) Mason, crusading Alice radioman.

District Judge Wesley Dice late today set the trial to open at 10 a.m on that date.

The trial was transferred to this central Texas town Monday from Alice, where Mason was shot to death July 29.

Smithwick, a Jim Wells county deputy sheriff at Alice at the time of the shooting, pleaded innocent at his arraignment there. Both District Attorney Sam Reams and defense attorney H. M. Wilder then asked for a change of venue.

District Judge Paul A. Martineau overruled their requests. He said transfer on a change of venue would take the case to an adjoining area in South Texas, where feeling is high.

He said the law permitted him to transfer the case on his own initiative and he was sending it here.

Smithwick was transferred from Alice to jail here.

Mason, 51, a veteran newspaperman as well as a radio commentator, was killed by a single bullet as he sat in his car in an industrial section of Alice.

In a broadcast the day before his death he had criticized Smithwick, saying that the deputy owned property on which an Alice night spot was situated and that loose women plied their trade there.

District Attorney Reams said that according to custom, the prosecution would be handled by James K. Evetts of this, the 27th, district. He added that Homer E. Dean, Jim Wells county attorney, probably would assist in the prosecution, since he did most of the work on the case at Alice.

Three-Day Church Meeting To Begin In Lubbock Friday

A three-day meeting at the Primitive Baptist church, 2402 Twenty-third, will begin Friday morning, with church leaders from several Texas cities to be in attendance.

Elder W. H. Fox, leader of the church here, said services are scheduled for 11 a.m., 2:30 p.m., and 7:30 p.m., daily, except for Sunday, when no 7:30 p.m. meeting will be held. He said communion would be observed during the meeting.

Some of the expected out-of-town guests are T. A. Dunn of Crosbyton, E. J. Norman of Wellington, H. E. Richards of Anton, and E. J. Ellis of Tulia.

Drive Expected To Persuade American Shopping In Britain

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14. (AP)— One of the important results of the British economic talks here is likely to be a drive by the administration to persuade Americans as shoppers — rather than as taxpayers — to help close Britain's dollar gap.

Of course until 1962 dollars direct from the American taxpayers will go to help Britain under the Marshall plan. But the British are intent on augmenting this source of hard-to-get dollars by direct sales to Americans — tweeds from Scotland, chinaware from the midlands, cutlery from Birmingham or any other British product for which an American market can be found.

This prospective "buy British" drive is believed to have the full approval of the State department.
