Tank-Led Reds Smash Toward Seoul

New Agency For Defense Is Conceived

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman today set up a new "defense production administration" lying together the government's scattered emergency production agencies.

The powerful new DPA is to be headed by William H. Harrison, now chief of the National Production Authority.

Under Mr. Truman's executive order, Harrison will have authority over industrial output, transportation, fuel, minerals and power.

Some of these powers are now scattered through various government departments.

Harrison will report to — and be subject to the direction and control of — Charles E. Wilson, director of defense mobilization, who recommended the new agency and suggested Harrison as its chief.

Wilson is known to favor faster defense contracting, and has consulted with the new Munitions Board chairman, John D. Small, on the possibility of bringing executives from private industry into the board.

Unity, Clarification Are Big Measures for 82nd Congress

81st Congress Busy, Costly

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The 81st Congress which officially spent way today to its successor spent more money than any peacetime Congress — over $110,000,000 — and passed much other major legislation.

While it rejected key items in President Truman's "Fair Deal" program, under the impact of the crisis following the Korean War it voted virtually every penny Mr. Truman asked to rearm this country and its friends.

Then, too, it gave Mr. Truman sweeping powers over the nation's economy, including authority to invoke controls over wages and prices when he thinks they are necessary. With that went power to allocate scarce goods, to ration the necessities of life and to control over the life.

To help pay for the increased financial load brought on by the critical world situation, the lawmakers twice voted to raise taxes. The aggregate increase amounted to some $8,000,000,000 a year on individuals and corporations.

During its two-year life, Congress extended the Selective Service Law and approved legislation to permit the drafting of doctors and dentists.

It continued the stream of economic help to western Europe and other areas on top of that voted a vast program of foreign military aid. The Senate ratified the North Atlantic Treaty calling for mutual assistance against attack.

In the short session which started Nov. 27 and ended yesterday, Congress voted the second tax boost, authorized a huge civil defense program, voted some $20,000,000,000 in new defense funds and extended rent controls once again, this time until March 31.

Mobilization Speed Urged

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Demands that the Truman administration sharply speed up home front mobilization came from Democrats and Republicans in the new Congress today.

The demands voiced in advance of the opening session were in general support of criticism by Senator Maybank (D-S.C.) that there has been "enough of pussyfooting and slow-motion" juggling with butterfingers the future of our way of life."

Senators Sparkman (D - Ala.) and Humphrey (D-Minn)—who, like Maybank, often go to bat for the administration on economic matters — said they agree with the South Carolina lawmaker that the pace of home front mobilization has been far too slow.

"There's absolutely no excuse for it," said Humphrey, who added that prices and wages should have been frozen as soon as Congress gave President Truman the authority last September.

Rogers Takes Office Today

It is Congressman Walter Rogers now.

The lanky Pampa lawyer was sworn in as representative of the 18th Congressional District of Texas at high noon (EST) today in the House of Representatives, Washington, D. C.

He succeeds former Congressman Ben H. Guill of Pampa, the first Republican ever to be elected from this district.

Rogers moved into his House office Tuesday, Room 108. His office is on the first floor and along the same corridor as Reps. Ed Gossett, Wichita Falls, and Olin E. "Tiger" Teague, of Bryan. He is only a few doors from where Gull's office used to be.

Only four of his six children, Walter, Jr., 11; Tommie, 6; Susan, 9; and John, 12; and Mrs. Rogers went along to Washington to see him sworn in, plus a few Pampa and Panhandle supporters.

Mrs. Rogers will return to Pampa for the other two children as soon as she can find a house for them.

No word had come from the committee appointments Re p. Rogers received.

It was 11 a. m. (CST) when the 82nd Congress convened and the new members sworn in and seated.

With these reduced majorities, any attempt by the President to link some of his "fair deal" proposals to the defense program may meet stiff opposition.

Tax Collection Costs the County

DETROIT — (AP) — County Treasurer Harold Stoll is glad all tax collection cases aren't like this one.

His office got a check from Emer Parraghi yesterday in payment of property taxes on Parraghi's house. Parraghi got a deduction because he was a World War II veteran.

When Stoll got done figuring this was the score: cost of collecting and processing Parraghi's payment — 70 cents. Amount of Parraghi's tax payment — 6 cents.

American Warplanes Kill Estimated 1200 Commies

U. S. FIFTH AIR FORCE HEADQUARTERS, KOREA — (AP) — American warplanes killed an estimated 1,200 Communist troops today in sweeping attacks along the allied defense line.

Gen. Earle E. Partridge, U. S. Fifth Air Force commander, said the air assaults were hurled at Red troops across Korea. He said fighter planes, bombers and light bombers blanketed the enemy with fire-bombs, machine-gun fire and bombs in several sectors.

F-80 jet Shooting Stars even dipped low enough to kill 50 Communists in foxholes east of Chunchon, central Korean road and air junction.

Shooting Stars also killed an estimated 200 of 1,000 Reds at tacked northwest of Uijongbu, which is 12 miles northeast of Seoul. They inflicted about 75 casualties on 200 enemy troops south of Yonchon.

About 75 fighter-bombers and light bombers hit the area east and north of Munsan and between Yonchon and a point north of Uijongbu. Shooting Stars of the 49th Fighter-Bomber Wing, dropping fire bombs, destroyed many houses containing pack animals. F-80s of the Eighth Fighter-Bomber Wing hit many foot soldiers, cavalrymen and bicycle-riding enemy. Fifty-Fifth Fighter Interceptor Wing Shooting Stars killed or wounded about 30 troops and strafed villages and supplies.

B-26s of the 452nd Bomb Wing blew up 20 buildings and eight warehouses north of Munsan. An undetermined number of troops in the buildings were killed or wounded. The bombers also caught and strafed 100 Red troops southwest of Yonchon.

F-84 Thunderjets of the 27th Fighter Escort Wing reported 150 Communist soldiers killed in a surprise strike southwest of Kapyong, another central Korea rail and road center. The Thunderjets also hit three villages south of Kumsuwa.

Shooting Star pilots strafed two villages east of the Hwachon Reservoir.

Other Fifth Air Force jets attacked buildings at Songchon, Sunchon and Hamhung.

B-26s dotted the runways of the enemy-held Sinjuju airfield in northwest Korea with bomb holes and reported the strip unusable.

Fifth Air Force pilots reported 79 towns damaged or destroyed.

Pilots said they destroyed hundreds of buildings in which enemy troops were hiding in the Munsan area.

President Truman Signs New Tax Bill

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman signed today the new $3,300,000,000 tax bill, slapping a 77 percent super-levy on corporation "excess profits."

It lifts the nation's tax collections to the highest dollar figure in history, but Mr. Truman said "the task ahead of us will require more and much heavier taxes."

He added in a statement: "I shall, in due course, submit to the Congress recommendations for substantial tax increases."

Even before Congress completed action on this bill, Mr. Truman had made known he would ask still further revenue-raising measures from the new Congress.

Treasury experts are studying various possibilities. They have given out details, but individuals whose income tax was raised last Oct. 1, may be called on to pay still larger levies.

The administration's aim is to put America's resistance to Communist aggression as near as possible on a pay-as-you-go basis.

The bill signed today raises tax collections to $45,000,000,000 or more a year — well above the record $43,900,000,000 set in 1945 during World War II.

Mr. Truman, who had asked that this bill hike taxes by $4,000,000,000 was critical of some of its provisions.

He said some features of the new measure will probably give an undue advantage to some corporations "especially in relation to the tax burdens necessarily borne by others."

For this reason, he continued, he is requesting Secretary of the Treasury Snyder to keep excess profits taxes under continuous review so that if some provisions need revision the facts can be placed before Congress without delay.

But Mr. Truman also had praise for Congress. He said it acted with commendable speed in completing what he described as a complex piece of legislation.

Pampa Facing Utility Boost

Another utility rate boost for Pampa was in sight this morning as Southwestern Public Service Co. officials disclosed the power company was sweeping figures for an anticipated rate hike application.

J. E. Cunningham, president of SWPS, said Tuesday in Amarillo the rate hike would be a wide, taking in 95 Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Kansas towns.

Joe Key, local manager, said he was certain Pampa would be included in the 95 towns but added he did not know how much of an increase would be asked here. Present residential rates are 40 kilowatts at 5 cents, next 50 at 4 and 14 cents and excess at one and three-quarter cents.

Electricity rates were reduced here in 1944 and no rate increase has been applied for since then.

Cunningham told Amarillo newsmen yesterday the city's costs have risen since 1942 and pointed to the large generators as only one item. Currently the company is planning installation of a new generator near Earth costing six million dollars. It will have a capacity of 80,000 kilowatts. The system's present generating capacity is 342,000 kilowatts — three times its power in 1943. The new addition will bring it to four times the 1943 capacity.

Cunningham refused to say how much of an increase would be asked of the 95 cities and towns, saying only "we are working on the figures and expect to have them sometime within a month."

Included in the 76 towns the company supplies with power in Texas are: Pampa, Amarillo, Borger, Dalhart, Lubbock, Plainview, Dumas and others.

Mayor C. A. Huff said this morning, "we knew it was coming and it appears as if the increase is on a whole front instead of just several towns and cities being asked to carry the brunt of the company's increased costs."

The mayor, too, was unaware of what the company would ask, but added, he didn't believe it would be too sharp a hike.

Airman in Korea Gets the Birds

TOKYO — (AP) — Staff Sgt. Jules H. Schultz is a chicken fancier. Cooked chicken, that is.

Schultz, of Blackburg, Va., frequently made known his tastes to Koreans living near the airfield where he arms F-86 Sabre jets.

The Koreans presented him a few birds. Schultz's appetite was whetted. He sent his houseboy, Chong, out to look for more chickens.

Chong showed up with 10 birds — all sparrows.

Fire Hits Storage House This Morning

A canned fruit and vegetable storage house owned by O. J. Ledford, 926 E. Malone, was damaged early today by a fire which apparently started from a small stove that was lighted to prevent the canned goods from freezing.

Firemen reported that the canned goods, packed in glass jars, were nearly all ruined.

China Pushes Drastic Purge

CALCUTTA, India — (AP) — Red China is accompanying her military venture in Korea with a drastic purge in her own ruling Communist Party, according to reliable reports reaching India.

These reports say Peiping's rulers have directed party leaders to slash Communist card carriers in China from 6,000,000 to about 3,000,000. The object is a hard core of completely loyal Communists, willing to follow without question whatever program is outlined by the Moscow Peiping axis.

The same reports said similar instructions had been issued to all Communist parties in Asia to "trim the unhealthy fat" from their organizations.

Should these reports be correct, they would indicate the purge orders originated in Moscow. They also may mean the patterning of Asia's Red groups on the Russian system — the limiting of party membership to a relatively small number of fanatic Communists, capable of organizing and directing large masses of untrained and largely illiterate peoples.

French President Plans U.S. Visit

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Vincent Auriol of France is planning a goodwill visit here as a guest of President Truman. He will be accompanied by Mme. Auriol on what will be his first visit to this country.

Officials yesterday described the forthcoming visit, tentatively set for the week of March 28-April 3, as a courtesy affair similar to those which other chiefs of state have made to Washington.

UN Defenders Still Hold Capital City

TOKYO — (AP) — Tank-supported Chinese Reds smashed through allied lines today and swarmed toward Seoul. But the virtually deserted South Korean capital still was in United Nations hands tonight.

Eighth Army field commanders expected a full-scale assault on the ancient city at any hour.

President Syngman Rhee and his cabinet fled only a few hours before the Reds crashed through a second line of defenses seven to 10 miles to the north and northeast. This was during the morning and about noon.

Communications with Seoul went dead at 2:35 p.m. (11:35 p.m. CST, Tuesday).

But a dispatch by AP Correspondent Stan Swinton, filed via Eighth Army headquarters at 6:40 p.m., quoted front-line intelligence officers as saying the earlier attacks, although in force, "were only a preliminary to a final all-out assault on Seoul's defenders."

Schoolmen Attend Meetings in Austin

Several representatives of Gray County and other Panhandle schools left Tuesday for Austin where they will attend a series of school administrative meetings in the capital.

Huelyn Laycock, county superintendent of schools, stated Tuesday, that he will attend the meeting today and remain there for additional meetings Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Others going from this area include Knox Kinard, superintendent of Pampa schools; R. C. Wilson, superintendent of the LeFlore schools; W. E. James, business manager and Fred Brown, trustee, LeFlore; Ray Vineyard, White Deer; Judge Woody Ford, Miami.

The purposes of this four-day meeting, sponsored by the Texas Education Agency, are to enumerate and define some of the major problems confronting public schools of Texas, to discuss the questions and aspects concerning the solution of those problems and a recommend specific actions for the solution of those problems.

The problems to be discussed include a transportation system for Texas schools; a system of records, receipts and audits; small high schools; teacher certification; teacher education; curriculum development services; state plans for vocational education and a foundation program for special services.

Morning sessions Thursday, Friday and Saturday, will be devoted to general meetings with the afternoon for group meetings.

Rumor Sweeps Birmingham

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — (AP) — This southern steel town has learned how fast a false rumor can spread near panic.

Switchboards of the Birmingham Post-Herald, city hall, police and water departments were clogged by thousands of telephone calls from anxious citizens.

All officials — city, county, state and federal — quickly assured callers there was nothing wrong with the water supply.

Radio stations broadcast at 15-minute intervals a statement by the city water department that "Birmingham's water is perfectly pure."

But still the rumor spread in this area of over a half-million persons, reaching a peak between 5 and 7 p.m.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Bad Lead Put Joe Out of Business

By OSWALD JACOBY Written for NEA Service "Sometimes I'm glad when all of the cards are badly placed," said Hard Luck Joe. "Then there's no possibility that I could have guessed right and played the hand some other way."

Joe was referring to the hand he had just played. He was sure that all of the cards were wrong for him, but his partner had a different opinion.

West opened the jack of clubs, and dummy won with the ace. Joe next took the ace and king of spades exhausting trump s. Crossing his fingers for good luck, Joe then led a diamond from dummy and played the king from his own hand.

Bridge hand diagram showing North, West, East, and South (D) cards and their suits.

This was not Joe's lucky day. (Naturally enough, for Joe claims he never has one.) West took the ace and queen of diamonds and, shifted back to clubs. Declarer went through the motions of trying for some fanciful sort of squeeze, but it was all ure moonshine. He had already lost two diamonds and a club, and he was bound to lose a heart eventually. The contract was therefore set one trick.

Do you think Joe was unlucky, or do you see his mistake? Decide for yourself before you read on.

Joe was not unlucky, for he could have made his contract by playing it properly. His mistake occurred in the play of the diamonds.

The right way to play the diamonds, he must play it once — no matter who has the ace of diamonds. Otherwise the jack of diamonds will either win at once or else will force out the ace.

Assuming that West plays the queen of diamonds on the first round of the suit, the defenders can do no better than cash one club and then knock out the king of hearts. The jack of diamonds is next led, from dummy, forcing out the ace. When the defenders promptly knock out the ace of hearts (best defense), South cashes the king of diamonds to discard dummy's losing heart.

What happens if West doesn't hold the queen of diamonds? In that case, East wins the first round of diamonds with the queen. Declarer must then lead the next diamond from dummy towards his king. In the hope that East has the ace of diamonds. The proper line has that chance plus the chance that West has the queen of diamonds.

Communists Work On Commuters

VIENNA — (AP) — In Communist Hungary, Red agitators won't let citizens just sit peacefully on a commuter train and read their newspapers. No matter how badly John Q. Hungarian feels, they pursue him with Communist-propaganda and make him enter a political discussion of Marxism. This was revealed recently in a Hungarian Communist newspaper which reached Vienna. It gave instructions to the agitators for their work every morning and evening on the trains carrying thousands of workers to and from their homes, saying that non-Communists found the trains a wonderful opportunity for "subversive rumors based on the lying Voice of America." The three largest libraries in the United States are the Library of Congress, Harvard University Library and the New York Public Library.

Harvesters Trip Blackhawk Cage Quintet, 40-32; Guerillas Measure Phillips' B Basketeers, 56-20

Pampa Stages Last Quarter Scoring Drive

The Pampa Harvesters staged a last quarter 14-point offensive drive to clip the Phillips Blackhawk, 40-32, Tuesday night in the junior high gym before 300 cage fans.

Phillips had Pampa down 30-26 going into the last eight minutes of the contest. But the Harvesters lightened their defenses and checked the Blackhawk quintet to two free throws while Pampa racked up 14 points.

Forward Marvin Bond and guard James Claunch sparked the Harvesters' attack, collecting 33 points. Bond was high point man with 17. Claunch opened the first period with a field goal, and Bond knotted the score at 30-30 with a hook shot from in close. The Pampa forward cashed in on James Reddick's foul to give the home team a one-point margin.

With three minutes gone, Claunch drove in and hit a difficult crisp shot to give Pampa a three point lead. Wayne Coggins hit for one when he was fouled by Buzzy Tarpley, and then the Harvesters went into a stall with four minutes left in the game.

Bond and Claunch both added one pointer at the charity line, and Bond drove in for a clear setup to widen the score to 37-31. Bond and Horton swapped a point at the free throw line, and the Harvesters forward, canned another field goal before the bell sounded ending the game.

Claunch paced the Harvesters in the first period, scoring twice from the field and hitting two at the charity line. Murray and Reddick pushed in one hander for Phillips, but Tommy Smith dribbled in for a setup to give Pampa an 8-4 lead. Reddick and Tarpley traded one point at the free throw line. The Blackhawk forward cut the Pampa lead to two points when he canned one from 30 feet out. Bond hit a two handed jump shot to give the Harvesters a 11-7 lead at the quarter mark.

Fisher and Horton collected four points to tie the score at 11-11. The Harvesters tallied three points on Claunch's screen shot and Tarpley's gratis throw. Bond scored twice from the field but Wilson and Horton matched his scoring effort with two pointers.

Trailing 18-14, the Blackhawks cashed in on the Harvesters' wild passing and scored eight straight points in the final three minutes of the second quarter to take a 22-18 halftime lead.

Pampa glued the game at 23-23 with three minutes and thirty seconds gone in the third period. Tarpley gave the Green and Gold cagers a one point lead with a free throw, but Phillips connected with four baskets from the field while the Harvesters were picking up one on Bond's tip in, and Phillips took a 30-26 lead at the three quarter mark.

The Harvesters next cage opponent will be Wichita Falls at six o'clock Friday afternoon at the Childress Invitational basketball tournament.

Cockrell Hits 22 Points for High Honors

Buddy "Dude" Cockrell meshed 22 points Tuesday night in the Junior High gym as the Pampa Guerillas handed Phillips' "B" quintet a 56-20 setback.

The Guerillas went to work early, scoring 12 points in the first quarter while holding Phillips to one point. Cockrell collected seven points in the first period drive, hitting five for five in the charity line, and raving in one bucket from the field.

Orville Hana was the big gun for Phillips, hitting five field goals and two free throws for 12 points. Jimmy Bond took second place in scoring with 11 tallies.

Pampa widened the scoring gap by halftime, building its lead to 23-11 at intermission. Phillips cut the lead to 15-23 early in the second semester, but Cockrell struck for six markers and Freddie Woods added two more to push the Guerillas into a 30-15 lead. Oden and Parker swapped field goals and Hana dunked in a free throw with five minutes gone in the third period.

The Guerillas ripped the cords for 13 straight points to lead 45-18 early in the final quarter. Hana pushed in a one hander for Phillips' final points, and then the Guerillas closed out the last five minutes with a 11-point scoring punch. Bond added the 56th point with a free throw.

The Guerillas meet the White Deer Bucks at 8 o'clock tonight in the Claude Invitational basketball tournament.

The score still reads THIRTEEN TO SEVEN in every paper I pick up. I thought at first the AP made a mistake in saying the Sooners lost at the Sugar Bowl.

After winning 31 straight victories, it was hard for me to believe the Sooners' victory string was snapped.

If you see a large caravan heading toward California, it's loyal Oklahoma followers who deserted the band wagon. My friends point out that Oklahoma was the winner on statistics, but games are won on the scoreboard and not on the statistic sheet.

The best team won in the Sugar Bowl. Kentucky cashed in on every mistake the Sooners made, recovering five fumbles and holding for four downs on the Wildcat four-yard line.

It was also tough to see Blair Cherry bow out at Texas University with his Longhorns on the short end of a 20-14 score. It would have paid the Sooners and Steers to have gotten together in the Cotton Bowl classic.

Bear Bryant, Kentucky grid mentor, is supposed to be looking for another job. However, that was before the Cal knocked the Sooners spinning. Aolph Rupp, Kentucky cage coach, and Bryant don't hit it off too well.

Earlier in the season, Bryant wanted to use Kentucky's new basketball gym for a grid workout. Rupp wouldn't hear of it. The boys down Kentucky way say basketball is king in the Blue Grass country; but they might change their minds now. Rupp's cagers were knocked off by St. Louis in the Sugar Bowl cage tourney, and Bryant came through with a tasty victory.

Henry Sharp suggested that Putt Powell pick the new Amarillo coach. When the Harvesters defeated Abilene in the semi-finals at Brownwood Saturday morning, Mr. and Mrs. Sharp and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Tarpley made a quick trip to Brownwood to see the Harvesters play North Arthur in the finals that night.

A former Oklahoma told me at the Pampa-Phillips game last night that he rooted for Kentucky to defeat the Sooners.

Pampa lost a strong sports' follower when Pinky Sims moved to Amarillo. Coach Cliff McNeely will be ready for a straight jacket if the Harvesters continue to win their games in the last quarter. Baylor will be set next year in basketball. The Bears have one senior on this year's squad.

I forgot to mention that I hit only one of four bowl games 14-7. I'm waiting on my football letter from Oklahoma to find out what really happened in New Orleans, outside of losing the game. Dutch Meyer will be in Pampa tomorrow for the Harvesters banquet. At least, we won't have to take the crying towel to hear the Dutchman.

Cotton Bowl Has Four More Stars

DALLAS—(AP)—Nine players were added to the list of stars cited in Cotton Bowl play by the Cotton Bowl Selection Committee today.

This committee, composed of Dallas newspaper and wire service sports editors, added Lewis (Bud) McFadin of Texas and Horace (Bud) Sherrod of Tennessee to the list of backs.

Those four players performed in Monday's Cotton-Bowl game between Texas and Tennessee. None of the players in that game were considered to have performed sufficiently to be placed on the all-time Cotton Bowl team.

The honorable mention list was revised to add stars of other years. In 15 years of Cotton Bowl play these players have been honored:

All-time Cotton Bowl team—Ends — Holt Rast, Alabama, 1942, and James Williams, Rice, 1950; tackles — Martin R.uby, Texas A&M, 1942, and Randolph Field, 1944, and Jim Kerkeris, Missouri, 1946; guards — Charles Henke, Texas A&M, 1941, and Jack Freeman, Texas, 1943; center — Kl Aldrick, Texas Christian, 1937; halfbacks — Bobby Layne, Texas, 1946, and Glenn Dobbs, Randolph Field, 1944; fullback — John Kimbrough, Texas A&M, 1941.

Honorable mention— Ends — Joe Parker, Texas, A&M, 1945; Jack Marshall, Georgia Tech, 1943; Alton Baldwin, Arkansas, 1947; Hubert Bechtel, Texas, 1948, and Horace (Bud) Sherrod, Tennessee, 1951.

Tackles — Don Whitmore, Alabama, 1942; Stanley Mauldin, Texas, 1943; Ralph Foster, Oklahoma A&M, 1945; Joe Ungerer, Fordham, 1941, and Joe Rountt, Texas A&M, 1941.

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON

NEW YORK—(AP)—Georgia basketball fans figure they're finally even with Adolph Rupp for taking seven-foot Bill Spivey way up north from Warner-Robins, Ga., to Kentucky. Bill Shain, an all-city cager in Louisville, went to Georgia without a grant-in-aid to attend the highly-rated forestry school and turned out to be the sophomore holoshot of this season's team. One Boston department store sold 30,000 basketballs, mostly the all-rubber "outdoor" variety—between September and Christmas.

When the U. of Cincinnati dropped a one-point decision to West Texas State in the Sun Bowl, it was the first "bowl" defeat for a Mid-America Conference team since the loop was organized. Gopher Willie Turnesa has switched from the fire extinguisher business to the wholesale liquor trade.

During a recent game, St. Bonaventure coach Eddie Milkovich saw a play shaping up and shouted to soph Bob Sassone to "drop in there." Bob eased in, got his shot and was fouled. Later Milkovich facetiously remarked: "You get yourself a shot and don't even thank me."

Replied Sassone disarming: "Heck, I thought you were going to shoot the foul for me."

And Missouri's Sparky Stalcup relates how a magazine writer sidled up to him after his team's upset victory over CCNY. "I just want you to know," the guy said, "that you spoiled three weeks of work and research for me. I was getting up an article on City. Now how about you giving me five or ten minutes of your time to tell me how you beat them."

If he doesn't get the head football coaching job at Duke, Ace Parker is expected to return as manager of the Durham Bulls in the Carolina Baseball League.

At least, Ace always has a job. Doc Nardiello must have set some sort of record yesterday by examining Jose Gatica in New Jersey and Ike Williams in Pennsylvania on the same day, prior to Friday's fight in New York.

Shortstop Jack Huesman, who'll get a trial with the Rochester Red Wings this spring, has stolen over 40 bases in each of the past three seasons.

Pooley Hubert, former VMI football coach, has sold out his paint shop in Lexington, Va., and will join Russ Cohen, Clemson backfield coach, in a farming project in Georgia. Jake Mintz, co-manager of Ezzard Charles, is working as M.C. in a Pittsburgh nitery. After listening to two sentences from Jake, the customers likely think they've already had enough to drink.

Chicago's Jim Enright, who officiated at the Sugar Bowl basketball tournament, figures Bradley's team proved its greatness by beating St. Louis in the final. He rates the Oklahoma Aggies right behind. Ed Hicks, a sports follower from the Blue Grass, read that Thoroughbred Racing Association statement that racing won't be the whipping boy of sports in case of war.

Skene Joins Ten-Gol Polo Player Ranks

NEW YORK—(AP)—Cecil Smith of Texas has company today in the rarefied ranks of ten-gol polo players.

The U. S. Polo Association raised Robert Skene, an Australian playing with the Beverly Hills, to that top ranking. He had been rated eight. He was the first player to attain the top rank since 1938.

Stewart Iglehart of Delray Beach, Fla., who had rated ten goals since 1937, was dropped to nine.

... Says Ed: "It never has been said that the battle of Waterloo was won on the track at Epsom Downs." ... If it had been, it would have paid a good price.

Grid Bowl Sponsors Start Dividing $2,000,000 Cake

NEW YORK—(AP)—The football bowl sponsors began lading out some $2,000,000 in gravy today with seven colleges assured of sopping up $75,000 or more apiece. They are Oklahoma, Kentucky, California, Tennessee, Texas, Clemson and Miami.

Because of the intricate conference commitments, it takes a battery of auditors to figure out the distribution. But when it's done, Oklahoma comes out best of all—even though it couldn't do it on the field against Kentucky.

The Sooners stand to pocket $113,000 in round figures from the $120,000 handed out to each of the combatants in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans. The other $6,700 goes to the Big Seven Conference, which takes 11 percent of the first $55,000 and one percent of each $5,000 over that.

Kentucky, 13-7, winner of the game, must fork over 25 percent right away to the Southeastern Conference, leaving the Wildcats $90,000 to grow fat on.

California also should net around $90,000 from its performance in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, which grossed around $335,000 after taxes.

The Rose Bowl turns over the money to the two conferences—the Big Ten and the Pacific Coast—and this year it amounts to about $165,000 for each.

The Golden Bears, beaten by Michigan 14-6, get 50 percent of the overall conference take plus one-ninth of what's left. The other eight-ninths is distributed in equal portions to other members of the conference.

A unique "share the wealth" plan leaves Michigan, winner of the oldest and richest bowl of them all, holding a very short end of the stick.

The Big Ten carves its $165,000 into 11 little hunks, giving two to Michigan and one to each of the other conference members. The Wolverines should wind up with around $30,000.

The Cotton Bowl, where some 75,000 watched Tennessee stun Texas 20-14, says the two teams will get around $120,000 each. The Southeastern and Southwest Conferences taken one-fourth, leaving the contestants $90,000.

Clemson and Miami each received $75,000 flat for playing in the Orange Bowl at Miami. The Southern Conference can, by rule, take 4 percent of Clemson's swag but probably won't. Miami, beaten 15-14, gets to keep it all.

Purses drop off sharply from that point. Wyoming was guaranteed $30,000 and Washington & Lee $25,000 by the Gator Bowl in Jacksonville. The Sun Bowl at El Paso is forking over $15,000 to Cincinnati and $12,000 to West Texas State. The Salad Bowl is dishing out $12,500 to Miami of Ohio and $8,500 to Arizona State.

Stewart's Contract Renewed at Longview

WACO—(AP)—The contract of Maco Stewart, head football coach at Longview High School, was renewed yesterday for one year.

Earlier this year Stewart was the center of a controversy because he dropped 22 members of the football squad for violation of training rules.

Four Conferences Will Fight TV At NCAA Meet

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK—(AP)—Four of the nation's biggest athletic conferences will lead a fight against "live" television of football games at the NCAA convention in Dallas next week.

They are the Big Ten, Eastern College Athletic Conference, Southwest and Southeastern.

The sprawling ECAC, numbering 91 institutions on the Atlantic Coast, has decided to make no 1951 TV commitments until the National Collegiate Athletic Association meeting Jan. 11-13.

Ralph Furey, of Columbia, chairman of a committee set up to study the effect of television on sports attendance, reported to the ECAC general meeting: "Live telecasting of sports events presents a threat to the institution of intercollegiate athletics."

The Big Ten banned live telecasts on conference games last year. Some non-conference games were telecast and the committee blamed a three percent drop in attendance on these and other televised games.

The Southeastern Conference voted unanimously at its annual meeting to bar direct telecasting of football games. The 12-college group is prepared to support a similar proposal at the national convention.

The Southeastern Conference voted unanimously at its annual meeting to bar direct telecasting of football games. The 12-college group is prepared to support a similar proposal at the national convention.

The Southwest Conference, which reported the highest crown gain in the nation last fall, permits live television only on sell-out games. It is reported ready to back a move against live telecasts, under any other circumstances.

Bradley Takes Over Number One Position in Cage Poll

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK—(AP)—Bradley's unbeaten basketball team, winner of the final Associated Press poll in 1950, is back on top today as the No. 1 college five in the country.

The newly crowned Sugar Bowl champions, who knocked off five opponents in the last seven to extend their string to 13 straight victories, gained top honors in a landslide vote, by 215 sports writers and sportscasters.

Runnerup to Kentucky in the first two weeks of the poll, Bradley forged to the front by getting 152 first place votes and enough seconds and thirds to outscore Oklahoma A&M, 2,106 points to 1,515.

Kentucky, upset by St. Louis, 43-42, in the first round of the Sugar Bowl tournament, dropped to third place. The Aggies (12-0) moved up a notch on the strength of triumphs over Baylor, Texas and Arkansas. They received 11 first place nominations to nine for Kentucky. The Wildcats earned 1,472.

Behind the Big Three comes Long Island University (8-0), St. Louis (9-2), Indiana (7-1), North Carolina State (11-1), Villanova (8-0), Kansas State (9-2), and Wyoming (12-0).

Other teams receiving votes included Southern Methodist.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M. D. Written for NEA Service

There are a lot of symptoms which are troublesome but which just cannot be given any disease label. Most of these are real enough, but because a cause cannot be discovered there is often a tendency to call such things the result of nerves.

Q—What makes a person's limbs feel so cold and ache after going to bed? A—Unless there are other symptoms it seems impossible to put a name to this distressing symptom. The only answer possible is just about as vague as the symptom. Probably the circulation of blood in the limbs is not good but why this should be is guesswork.

Q—My husband is in the habit of drinking very rapidly ice-cold water right from the refrigerator. I think he should not do this, but he disagrees. Am I wrong? A—The proof of the pudding is in the eating. If your husband gets away with this without unpleasant symptoms, it almost certainly does not hurt him. On the other hand ice cold water has to be warmed to body temperature and therefore does throw an extra burden on the stomach.

Q—My child has been vaccinated to make the Communist an easy-going cheerful fellow. It's not hard to understand or explain the American sense of humor. Why do GIs make up gags when a situation apparently is beyond the reach of humor?

Q—The Communist is an extremely short landing strip in Korea, a hazard because big planes and fast ones need a lot of room in which to come to a halt or get off the ground. The Communists put up a little sign at the end of the death-laden strip. It reads: "Ops! That's all."

Q—Such a sign would be utterly beyond the capacity of a Russian to understand. The American sense of humor isn't necessarily "right." But it is valuable and unique. Maybe even a "secret weapon."

Q—European humor makes clades-tine fun of the Big Men. American humor makes fun of all Americans. During heavy fighting in Europe and the Pacific, GIs were putting up signs proclaiming the city limits of Los Angeles. They named them: "Self defense," "Footloose," "Boys, mud skimmers and BTOs," "A Hero First Class is pretty much unthinkable. He wouldn't last 20 minutes in a barracks."

Q—Whether deadly seriousness is very doubtful. Children are deadly serious and so are some four-legged animals. But the man who whistles while he works, and takes a minute out for a joke on himself, seems always to be the faithful doer of the job done best and first.

Q—Perhaps that is because he is, essentially, a happy man who knows he is doing the right thing. Not a man who is doing it right or necessary, a man baffled and perplexed.

Q—When Americans become deadly serious, without humor or wit, then we may sink to the level of the Communists. And that is what is inexpressibly hopeless and drab existence that must be in any nation, anywhere.

ated twice and neither has taken. Should we try again? L. B. R. A—It is almost always possible to get a vaccination take in a child who has not before been vaccinated successfully. Attempts should be continued until one "takes" with a scar.

Q—I have a 3 1/2-year-old granddaughter who bites her nails until she has scarcely any left. We have tried everything to break the habit. Why do some children do this? A—This is a common nervous habit. It worries an untold number of parents—and grandparents—who get often try all kinds of things to get a child to stop. It is probably best not to pay too much attention to nail biting but to give the child other things to do, particularly things which will occupy her hands. Very few grown-ups bite their nails which means that almost all children outgrow the habit.

Q—I have long wanted to know what causes canker sores. Both my husband and I have them in the mouth. Mrs. R. E. D. A—A lot of us would like to know the answer to this question. Canker sores are believed to be sometimes caused by low protein diets, sometimes allergy, and possibly sometimes to vitamin deficiencies. In other words, nobody knows just what causes them. For this reason it is impossible to prescribe for canker sores without investigating each case individually.

Q—I am 40 and have developed the habit of relying on six, eight or ten aspirin tablets a day in order to "ward off" headaches, colds and other aches and pains. Can this be harmful? A—By all means stop this habit. There is grave question as to whether the aspirin will do this job of "warding off" and any drug taken regularly in large quantities can be harmful.

Q—With 1951 on our door-step and with a backward look at 1950 and the way things have back-fired—nobody needs a new crystal ball to see a good omen or even more resolutions for 1951. And topping the list—and appropriate in many circles and domiciles—comes my favorite, "I will not be one." When the barber guy says, a little of this elixir would work wonders on that balding spot—ignore the gent. Mama, she too could look askance when her beautiful launches her asles talk. And amongst the suckers of record are the ones who have swallowed the palaver of those who say, "The Gov. can do it cheaper and better." Who is us if we don't see the light, like we did not see same in time in England—and we wake up with Uncle Samuel running the banks, turning on and off the lights, running the trucks, the dining coal, tootin' the R.R. whistle, pulling the molar. They do all these things across the pond—and they plead for more mazuma from us.

Q—There is no asser or lsm that does not have a salesman. From the pea under the wrong shell, to Siwash liniment, to "I will save democracy," we been sold something. Don't be a sucker for a slicker, including the Potomac lads, Luckie-on-your-gun—make 1951 different.

Q—Freedom needs a clear definition. Some people think there can be too much freedom. Real freedom is the cornerstone of justice and the Golden Rule. There could be no justice or operation of the Golden Rule without freedom. Who is the spirit of the Lord? There is liberty—open freedom, according to Moffatt. Freedom is as Rose Wilder Lane said: "Self control, no more, no less." That means of course that each and every person has a right to only control himself. And controlling oneself is a big enough job for most of us.

Q—Frederic Bastiat said that it meant that each man was owner of himself and all he produced. It is the right to be let alone so long as there is no effort to interfere with others. As Ayn Rand says, "Civilization is a process of setting, and men from men"—of promoting freedom.

Q—It means voluntary transactions. Instead of compulsion. The slave is not free, because part of what he produces is involuntarily taken from him.

Q—There cannot be too much freedom, for anyone people think, more than there can be too much justice, too much understanding or too much living by the Golden Rule.

Q—The most important conditions that make or retard good jobs are moral beliefs. That is, that individuals and people in the government and its subdivisions, who really respect human initiative to create good jobs. Public opinion has so developed that individuals and groups are not able to seriously retard the development of more and better jobs.

Q—The cause that interferes most in the United States with more and better jobs is the belief by the majority of voters that the government, or its subdivisions, have a moral right to do things that the individual knows would be immoral for him to do himself. In other words, the majority believes in two standards of rightness and of morals. They worship idols. They worship the State. They put it over and above God or the individual's right to choose how to use his talents to create good jobs.

Q—This belief that the State is separate from the individual and not its agent ought never to be passed on to the next generation. It is a dangerous and a fearful master.

Better Jobs

By R. C. HOLDS

Good Jobs and Freedom I want to quote from some remarks I made at a talk before a Freedom Forum group in the Congregational church in Los Angeles. This group has been having a series of forums on the subject of freedom. The one I gave was the seventh in the series.

Good jobs and freedom are inseparable. There can be no good jobs without freedom. A good job is a by-product of moral law; somewhat as happiness is a by-product of moral law.

If one seeks happiness, it will flee from him. If he seeks an opportunity to be of service living by the Golden Rule, happiness will be his constant companion. If one seeks a good job without the desire for freedom for others, there will be no real good jobs.

In order to discourse with others on any subject it is necessary, as Voltaire said, "to define one's terms." And to do so Lord Kelvin advised: "When you can measure what you are speaking about and express it in numbers, you know something about it; but when you cannot measure it, when you cannot express it in numbers, your knowledge is of a meager and unsatisfactory kind."

When Lord Kelvin speaks of numbers and measuring, he means, of course, reducing things to low-grade standards with respect to laws. The Commandments are all mathematical principles because they are all inclusive. They include every person and restrict every person.

Thus let me define the meaning of a good job and freedom. A Good Job A good job is one that as rapidly as possible develops the worker's character, mind and body. The worker is paid in proportion to what he produces, that is all he produces as determined by what he would get under an unhampered market. He is not paid more than he produces so that he is attracted to his job or taking another one that will give him better opportunities for development.

A good job uses all his talents. His job enables him to satisfy his material wants in the shortest time possible, thus enabling him to have more time for more experiences. All his customers voluntarily buy his services, and not just 51 per cent, as can be the case in political jobs. He has labor-saving tools. His market is not hampered by government restrictions that interfere with a free and natural division of labor. He understands that he is not working for his employer, but with him. He believes that what is being produced is useful and beneficial to mankind and rendering a useful service. This gives the worker a feeling of independence and the pleasure that comes from accomplishing a task.

Freedom needs a clear definition. Some people think there can be too much freedom. Real freedom is the cornerstone of justice and the Golden Rule. There could be no justice or operation of the Golden Rule without freedom. Who is the spirit of the Lord? There is liberty—open freedom, according to Moffatt. Freedom is as Rose Wilder Lane said: "Self control, no more, no less." That means of course that each and every person has a right to only control himself. And controlling oneself is a big enough job for most of us.

Frederic Bastiat said that it meant that each man was owner of himself and all he produced. It is the right to be let alone so long as there is no effort to interfere with others. As Ayn Rand says, "Civilization is a process of setting, and men from men"—of promoting freedom.

It means voluntary transactions. Instead of compulsion. The slave is not free, because part of what he produces is involuntarily taken from him.

There cannot be too much freedom, for anyone people think, more than there can be too much justice, too much understanding or too much living by the Golden Rule.

The most important conditions that make or retard good jobs are moral beliefs. That is, that individuals and people in the government and its subdivisions, who really respect human initiative to create good jobs. Public opinion has so developed that individuals and groups are not able to seriously retard the development of more and better jobs.

The cause that interferes most in the United States with more and better jobs is the belief by the majority of voters that the government, or its subdivisions, have a moral right to do things that the individual knows would be immoral for him to do himself. In other words, the majority believes in two standards of rightness and of morals. They worship idols. They worship the State. They put it over and above God or the individual's right to choose how to use his talents to create good jobs.

news behind the news

By RAY TUCKER WASHINGTON — The session of Congress convened today in the redecorated halls of Capitol Hill faces the necessity of passing laws that will reshape both the character and the society of the "land of the free."

It will not, of course, restrict or remove our fundamental personal and political liberties as such. Or it will not do so directly. But it will be forced to fix standards with respect to the amount of money we can earn, the kind and amount of goods we may buy, the hours and paces we work, where and when we may travel.

It will decide what a manufacturer can and cannot make through its control over raw materials, should there be any objection by industry to accepting contracts and orders. Although reluctant to take the corollary step for obvious political reasons, it will probably be forced to lengthen hours of work without commensurate compensation for the longer day or night.

It may have to cut down on our hours and means of recreation and entertainment. In contrast to the relatively normal times of World War II, it may have to ban professional and collegiate sports that require personnel, equipment and travel. Manpower shortages, as well as fuel, electricity and other scarcities, may dim the lights of nightclubs, movies, theaters, boxing centers, etc.

Even more serious insofar as human living is concerned, it may have to take millions of youngsters and men from their homes, schools and careers for indefinite service in the armed forces or for military training that will postpone their selection of a livelihood, defer marriages and delay the building of new families.

As for the landscape, labor and materials permit, it will renovate the landscape so that our civilization can survive an atomic attack. It will rebuild cities, reroute railroads around congested centers, decentralize industry and create new rural and suburban communities.

Although military and economic experts say it is impossible to estimate accurately the inroad which this kind of preparedness will make into our normal rounds and ways of living, the general belief is that it can be fixed at between 30 and 40 percent. It is as a healthy man or woman were asked to get rid of that percentage of poundage in a hurry.

Even this sensational disfigurement of our society will be imposed upon us during the period of merely rearming ourselves and our allies overseas. It will soar to 50 or 60 percent in the event of actual global war.

The prospective tax cut probably gives the best idea of the bread-and-butter sacrifices that lie ahead. Although President Truman's program is still as uncertain as ever, it is estimated that the federal tax may have to rise to at least $5,000,000,000 a year, if we are to operate on a pay-as-you-go basis.

On the present basis, however, we will be paying out more than one-third of all we receive in our pay envelopes, which is what national income means.

JOHN BROWN

By DAVID BAXTER

While we're on the subject of issues and, particularly those of the civil war, which are still with us today on a bigger scale than ever, I am reminded of John Brown, the north's "martyr," who went off half-cocked and tried to set off a premature war against the south.

John Brown's idea was to free slaves. That was a good idea. The fly in the ointment was that the slaves didn't happen to be HIS nor were they his problem, since it would be the SOUTHERNERS who would be killed, burned and raped should it fresh from Africa and half-savage, suddenly be liberated and armed.

That's the odd thing about Brown was that when he pulled his daring raid on the Marston ferry arsenal even the stoutest northern abolitionists like William Lloyd Garrison were not in sympathy with his tactics, yet a few years later union troops were singing "John Brown's body lies a-mouldering in the grave," but that his spirit was marching on.

That spirit was the same one people have today—the idea that they know better than we do what is good for us.

John Brown only freed one slave by his own hand. With 18 armed men he was on his way to seize the government arsenal at Martin's ferry, Virginia, where he expected to pass out arms and ammunition to slaves so that they could stage an insurrection and win their freedom.

My history says that Brown and his followers, on their way to the arsenal, came across a negro slave whom Brown ordered to join them and have the honor of being the first slave to take part in the emancipation. The frightened negro not caring to find himself engaging the U.S. army, tried to run away, whereupon Brown shot him in his tracks. The negro's tracks, I mean, not Brown's. He freed that slave, all right—permanently. His intentions were good but, his methods a little on the rough side, that's all. The slaves had to be liberated and Brown was going to do it if he had to.

Does that remind you of anything? Doesn't it sort of bring you up to date? For instance, the Communist are going to "liberate" the American working man, even if it becomes necessary to kill every worker who refuses to cooperate with them. After all, they have their "principles," you know. They know better than you or me what is best for us. Nothing must stand in the way of realizing their goal—not even the workers.

John Brown's spirit. Sometimes a fellow wonders whether it might not be a good idea for the spirit of Thomas Paine or Col. Jefferson Davis to rebel against unbridled power and violation of individual integrity—to do a little marching.

Dairy farmers sell milk in sheets in Denmark. The dehydrated sheet is dissolved in hot water to restore it to liquid form.

Another Angle Of Communism

In addition to being jerks and bums, full-time or part-time Communists, homegrown and foreign, share a common feeling. They have no sense of humor, however elemental.

They are the most deadly serious bunch of burglars you'll find on a day's march, particularly the frank and tile. Maybe it's because they're scared to death most of the time. Maybe it's because people who have sense enough to laugh once in a while have too much sense to be Communists.

But that's just theorizing. We'll check it to the psychology department.

The fact remains that the only flashes of humor have come from the top level of the party. Stalin made a heavy-handed joke at the expense of Moscow when he told Molotov, in front of Churchill, that the Russian foreign minister should have stayed in Chicago "with the rest of the gangsters."

Vishinsky has made a few jokes with newsmen, nothing worth a yuck mind you, but witticisms nonetheless.

The Communist press is almost without humor. It does get funny once in a while, but not intentionally. Its humor is a sort of unconscious Paul Bunyanism of stupendous lies, fabrications and slanting.

The Peoples World of San Francisco is one like that. On Dec. 7 it carried a long story on the Marysville, Calif. floods, quoting the Marysville Appeal-Democrat, a sister publication of the Pampa News, at several points.

"A week and a half later, however," says the Peoples World, referring to the Appeal-Democrat, "the same paper saw fit to ridicule the whole idea of an investigation of the cause of the flood. It ran a 'gag' story about a fictitious 'agent' who was anxiously trying to connect the levee break with flying saucers."

The "gag" story to which the Peoples World refers concerned a mysterious and bearded investigator known only as "The Agent." It referred to "peasants" and an unidentified nation symbolized by a bear.

On all of these matters a Communist is touchy. Bears, agents and peasants are part of the standard jargon of communism and the faithful do not take them lightly.

Being a Communist is a nervous occupation. The party-line changes instantly as during the Russ-Hittler pact and the fringing of the party can be caught with its barbs at the Communist and its backside exposed.

New Cottons Are Sheer and Subtle

By GALE DUGAS
NEA Staff Writer
NEW YORK —(NEA)— Sheer cottons, significant for summer

as well as for resort wear, frequently appear in both plaids and umbers. The plaids are often in authentic Scotch tartans and the umbers are delicately shaded, from apricot to flame, for example, or from beige to cocoa.

Designer Dorothy Cox uses Hope Skillman's sheer cotton in the Robertson hunting plaid (left) for a dress which can go to informal parties in a warm climate this winter and see further wear next summer. A wide V neck and slender straps are set off by a single jeweled clip of the wearer's choice. The slim skirt has a ruffle falling into a fluid side-drape. This drape is deceptive; it also doubles as a stole, creating cover-up whenever it's needed for bare shoulders.

Delicately-colored umber sheer cotton, shaded from pale yellow to green, is fashioned by designer Peggy Thayer into a handsome dress. It's cut (right) with a surplice bodice and an oblique line skirt-drape. The narrow belt is in black suede with pearl buckle.

U.S. to Tighten Belt in 1951, Is Prediction

By The Associated Press

If you've been grumbling about food prices the past year, you'd better take a deep breath—they're going to be even higher in 1951. You may not feel the rise immediately but by mid-year it's a sure thing you'll need to put more money in your food budget.

One hopeful note, even in the face of possible rationing, is that we've been producing plenty of food and we have large stocks of staple foods—so that counting in Army allocations, Mrs. America and her family will have plenty of good things to eat.

If you're one of the millions of people who feel dinner isn't dinner without meat you'll be glad to know that livestock numbers are above normal and that feed grain stocks are at near record levels. You'll probably be eating more pork than any other kind of meat in 1951, because we're marketing the third largest pork crop in our entire food production history. The pork is good quality, too, and there should be enough variety in pork cuts to keep your family satisfied.

There will be more beef around. But don't count on veal, lamb, or mutton to any great extent for dinner menus; supplies will continue to be as slim as they've been in the past year.

Fish is likely to be in about the same supply as last year. But here's an optimistic note: the pack of America's favorite canned fish—tuna, for 1951—is a record one. Maine sardines have also been running ahead of usual production. If you've been fretting about the price of canned salmon prepare to see it even less plentifully on tables—the pack is the lowest we've had since 1921.

Our poultry products have been reaching record proportions, and with meat continuing at high prices, chicken every Sunday will be in even greater demand. If your family likes turkey, better have those turkey dinners early in the year, when there's plenty of it around. Carry-over stocks of our favorite big birds are expected to be smaller than last year and birds hatched in 1951 won't move to market until late in the year.

The 1951 increase in price in dairy products is not expected to be as much as for some of the other foods that Americans like. The rise in price won't be felt as soon as that of other foods; that's because when Mr. and Mrs. America's income goes up, as it will in 1951, they're likely to splurge on butter and milk and cream and cheese the way they are on steak and roasts.

Melba Jean Hanner Becomes Bride of Marion J. Keith

McLEAN — (Special) — Miss Melba Jean Hanner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hanner, Sr. of McLean became the bride of Marion James Keith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Keith, of Amarillo recently.

The double-ring ceremony was read by the Rev. J. Perry King, pastor of the Industrial City Mission, in the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Eddie Cunningham, with whom she lived, in Amarillo. White carnations and gladioli formed a setting for the rites, which were performed before the fireplace in the living room.

Miss Nancy Kirksey of Amarillo, pianist, played "I Love You Truly" and "Always" as the guests assembled. The traditional wedding marches were used.

Mrs. Cunningham attended her sister as matron of honor. She wore a tan crepe dress with brown accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Best man was Eugene Young of Amarillo.

Miss Hanner entered on the arm of her father; she wore a light blue Chantilly lace dress, styled with a high neckline, long torso, Peter Pan collar and ballerina-length skirt. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid and showered with satin ribbon.

The bride's mother wore a brown crepe dress with matching accessories, and the bridegroom's mother chose a crepe dress of blue with black accessories.

Mrs. Keith was graduated from McLean High School and attended business college in Amarillo.

Mr. Keith is employed by the Amarillo Fire Department. He served in the Army three years.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith went to New Mexico on a wedding trip and are now at home in Amarillo.

An informal reception was given the wedding party in the home of the bride's parents im-

Single-Ring Rites Marry Miss Haven And Mr. Armstrong

KELLERVILLE — (Special) — Miss Barbara Haven was married in an informal ceremony at the Kellerville Baptist Church to Alfred L. Armstrong. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Haven of Kellerville and he is the son of Mrs. R. L. Haddock and Joe Harvey Armstrong of Clinton, O. Ia.

The pastor, the Rev. H. Price Bishop, read the solemnizing service at the close of the morning church service.

Gene Havens, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a blue tailored suit. Kenneth Ford of Borger attended the bridegroom as best man. The ushers were John Chapman and Price Bishop, Jr.

Miss Norma Chapman as soloist sang "Because" with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Don Wasmann.

The bride's attire was a tailored suit of blue, with white accessories and an orchid corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong have gone to Fortales, N. M., to make their home. He is employed by the Shamrock Oil company here.

Cold-Weather Beauty Tricks

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Women who tend to leave their complexions to nature during the carefree summer months usually discover this is poor policy when winter comes.

Once cold weather chapping and scaling have set in, many of these women set up a reverse strategy—piling upon their faces any heavy cream they chance to find without thought of its suitability for their particular kinds of complexions.

Before setting up a winter face-care program, it's best to decide what type skin you have. Different treatments are prescribed, according to a leading cosmetic firm, for complexions that are dry, oily or a combination of both.

In any case, a skin lotion should be given a place of prominence upon your dressing table. It performs the vital function of removing residual traces of cream left from cleansing or masks, and provides a mild, local stimulation for your face.

If your skin is dry, choose as a follow-up for your cream a skin freshener created for this type complexion. An astringent lotion is usually best for normal or oily skins.

The same procedure is used in applying both these preparations. Lotion-dampened cotton should be smoothed over your face and throat, following the same upward-stroking motions you use in applying cream. Particular attention should be paid to your forehead, nose and chin areas—The oil glands are most active there.

After your face is thoroughly cleansed with cream and freckles with lotion, apply a lubricating cream to overcome the drying effects of winter winds.

Again let the type of your skin be your guide. For dry skin, use a special treatment cream and leave it on overnight.

If your complexion is largely dry, but oily in spots, remove your lubricating cream from the oily areas but leave it overnight on the dry patches.

Oily skins, of course, need less lubrication. Apply rich cream, leave it on for about 20 minutes, then remove it with tissues before you retire.

MUTT: HOW ABOUT BUYING MY CAR HERE? I'LL SELL IT TO YOU FOR FIFTY BUCKS!

JEFF: CAR? WHAT CAR?

MUTT: MY CAR HERE! IT RUNS SO SMOOTH YOU CAN'T FEEL IT AND IT RUNS SO QUIET YOU CAN'T HEAR IT!

JEFF: IT HAS SUCH A PERFECT IGNITION YOU CAN'T SMELL IT! AND FOR SPEED—IT'S SO FAST, YOU CAN'T SEE IT!

MUTT: THEN HOW THE HECK DO YOU KNOW THE THING EXISTS?

JEFF: OH, I DON'T! THAT'S THE WAY I BOUGHT IT! THE GUY SAID TO HERGET A TRUCKET!—I'LL LET YA HAVE IT FOR FORTY!

GOLLY, UNCLE PHIL—I THOUGHT YOU WERE GOING TO SWEET ME TONIGHT—AND RELAX!

I COULDN'T RELAX, MICHAEL, I'M ALL UPSET OVER THAT PHONY I AGREED TO DO FOR HIS FURPILE!

WELL, I'M GLAD YOU CAME IN, PHIL! WE WERE JUST GOING TO CALL YOU UP ABOUT IT!

CALL ME UP ABOUT IT? WHY?

BECAUSE HAVING ONE ME FURPILE TO WORRY ABOUT IS ENOUGH, PHIL! TWO OF THEM WOULD DRIVE US CRAZY! YOU'VE GOT TO WIGGLE OUT OF THAT AGREEMENT—SOMEHOW!

I CAN'T WIGGLE OUT OF IT! ME FURPILE WOULD GET SORE AND TELL EVERYBODY THAT I—

ME FURPILE WOULDN'T TELL ANYBODY ANYTHING, PHIL! WE'RE CONVINCED OF THAT NOW! SIT DOWN AND TELL ME WHY!

own joke and so did most of the others. Fergus let them laugh. "What I meant was do not do anything which will besmirch the record of the Westwaygo Boatworks. We're all Americans-we're all patriots..."

HE went on from there, the flag fluttering helplessly ashamed in his waving hands. "Why does everyone talk like that?" Kirsten Peterson asked Margie Lou and the women who were near her. "Why does he say we are patriots when almost we are traitors? Is everybody afraid? Why doesn't someone tell the truth?" She looked around pitifully as if for help.

Carl stood right behind her but he could do nothing for her. "The only one who could tell these phony lies to head in," said Joe cynically, "is somebody who had nothing to lose."

"My wife has nothing to lose," said Carl simply. "Time has already slipped a little in her fingers."

"You mean you don't mind if she gets hurt?" "No. She wouldn't mind if she could help."

"Okay, Carl. Here she goes! Come on, you G.I.'s, gather 'round."

Kirsten didn't know quite why she climbed up on the platform recently vacated by the visiting admiral and his hosts. Neither did she know that surrounding her were many unseen uniformed fighting men.

The working crew didn't pay any attention to her at first. They were too busy building up their private petty grievance.

"Listen here, my friends," he said in an authoritative tone, "you mustn't do anything hasty."

"We won't," said Max. "That's the whole idea. We'll do everything slow." He guffawed at his

Kirsten paid no attention to Max. "I know that most of you feel the same way I do-you only wish there was more you could do in the 24 hours of every single day. But just a few people talk about getting in line or else they will work less. And we listen! That's the terrible thing to do. We listen! And they make so much talk-those few people-that we begin to feel that everybody is thinking the same way. The soldiers, wherever they hear about such talk and they think we are all like that. It makes them sick and afraid-afraid that when they come home they will have seen their own people. And all because we let a few lazy and greedy people say things for us that we do not really mean."

"Shut her up! She's nuts. All we want is four cents more per hour."

Kirsten raised her voice. "When somebody is going to stick a bayonet in you, is it a good time to ask how much you'll get per hour for trying to stop him?"

Old hands who, under ordinary conditions, were shyly silent and retiring, began to get their hands up. A lot of the workers pushed nearer to the platform where Kirsten was standing. (To Be Continued)

THE mass meeting of boatworks employees was held outside the main gate of the yard. A temporary speakers' platform had been built at one end of a grassy open space just across the cinder road. The workers and townspeople sat there on the ground.

The time was 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Workers on the morning shift had been let out an hour early so they could be there and the swing shift was to be allowed an hour's leeway in reporting.

Kirsten Peterson was there with Margie Lou. The older woman had sensed Margie Lou's bewildered helplessness and had taken her in tow. Eddie and Carl sat companionably near the two girls. Margie Lou wasn't wearing the lucky coin though. The other men of Eddie's squad were scattered throughout the crowd wherever their various families happened to be. Joe College had no affiliation and on Eddie's invitation hung around with him.

"It don't make any difference," Eddie told him when Joe was shy about butting in. "Margie Lou doesn't know I'm here anyhow."

She didn't know about Duke either who nudged her with his nose as a hint that he could do with a little petting. He was only miffed for a minute though when she paid no attention.

On the speakers' platform sat the officials of the boatworks, the mayor, the chief of police, the editor of the Westwaygo News, several representatives of the working crew of the yard and, lastly, Rear Admiral Pearson who made an entrance heralded by the high school band.

Rear Admiral Pearson was feeling a little stuffy from a luncheon with the Chamber of Commerce at the hotel. He resolved, as was his daily custom, never again to eat anything but a sandwich and a glass of milk in the middle of the day. The mayor introduced the naval officer, the naval officer presented the pennant to the president of the company and then went into his routine pep-talk to the employees, the theme of which was that the workers on the production front back home were just as much soldiers as the men in actual combat.

"Except," commented Joe College, "that they get a hundred bucks a week instead of twelve-fifty and don't wash their sox in the same water they sleep in."

"I don't know which is the finer man," orated the admiral, his breath whistling through his nose as it always did when he worked up to his climax, "the hero with a rifle in his hand who presses forward to victory over our enemies or the stalwart laborer who sweats his heart out in the factories and the shipyards to furnish the sinews of war."

Rear Admiral Pearson sat down. The high school band took over for three noisy minutes of "Over There."

THE brisk, businesslike president of the Westwaygo Boatworks, rose and made a few practical remarks to his employees:

"There is only one way we can do it. We can't hire any more workers. There aren't any to be had. We can't get any better machinery which will turn out a greater volume of processed material. Therefore, with the workers now employed here, using the machinery already installed, we must move faster and waste less time. That is the only way we can do it."

He finished. Mild applause.

"A very nice speech," declared Eddie.

"But it isn't going over very well," Joe pointed out, pretending to listen. "Too much truth in it.

People aren't interested in truth. Aren't used to it either and so they're suspicious when it's dangled before 'em. Look for the hook inside. He should have put more of that bait in for you-noble-home-front-warriors schmalz into his oratory, like the admiral. That's what makes the customers play patty-cake until they get blisters on the palms of their hands."

"He has told the truth," That statement came from Kirsten who was sitting almost in front of Joe.

"But the workers do not like it."

"Did you hear that?" demanded Eddie. "She said almost the same thing you did."

"Yeah," admitted Joe. "Just a coincidence, I guess. But we might try it out." He stopped a moment and then said slowly and didactically, "In a democracy you have to find out first what the people are thinking and then say that."

"I believe," said Kirsten to Margie Lou, "that here in our United States it is best first to learn what the people think and then say the same thing." She paused with a slightly startled look on her lovely fair features. "I do not really believe that at all."

"Neither do I," Joe almost patted her on the back. "Good girl. Politicians follow the crowd but statesmen lead it."

KIRSTEN continued, "Abraham Lincoln led our people and he never pretended that wrong was right just because many politicians said so."

Eddie smiled at Joe. "She says what you do, only she says it better."

Joe smiled right back at him. "How do you know I'm not thinking it better than I say it?"

"You mean she's saying what you're thinking?"

"Could be. I'm a stranger here myself."

Rear Admiral Pearson had to leave to catch a train for his next dedication. All the officials departed with him. But the crowd, especially the working crew, stayed on. There was nothing else to do until the whistle blew.

McLemore Lays Down Some Tough New Year's Resolutions

By HENRY McLEMORE

In my time I must have made upwards of one million New Year's resolutions.

I started making them when I was about five years old, and they include such resolutions as to REALLY wash my feet at night (that was when I was going barefooted) and not just give them a lick and a promise; to quit throwing spitballs when the teacher wasn't looking; to cease using my garters for slingshot rubber, and to quit changing the D's on my report card to B pluses.

I might just as well admit that I didn't keep a one of them. In my case, the flesh was always been a harder puncher, and much quicker on its feet, than the spirit.

But that does not keep me from making a new set of resolutions as 1951 pokes its head over the horizon of time, and gamely sets about the business of living 365 days.

To make resolutions just because all the other resolutions have been failures, would be to show the white feather, and to turn my back on the old adage has been hammered into me since I was a baby — if at first you don't succeed, try, try again.

So, with a minimum of fanfare, I present my 1951 resolutions.

1. Never, never again, to be impressed by radio news commentators who are solemn, tight lipped, and slightly pompous, and who tell you the news as if they — and only they — had been out gathering the world news and not giving you the findings of good, solid, hardworking newspapermen. Eliminate INS, AP and UP and more commentators than a lumberyard could shake a stick at would be doing something else.

2. Never to tip a waiter or waitress who has given poor and ungracious service. Thousands of Americans, day in and day out, are inviting the undertaker.

3. I solemnly swear never to play games with children. I know now that I have reached an age where throwing a ball sprinting for a pass in a vacant lot, or in any way trying to show off what a great guy I was 20 years ago, is inviting the undertaker.

4. I hereby make my home an open haven for radio and television editors. Men — and in some cases, women — who have to get their paychecks from listening and seeing what is scattered on the air waves of today, need to know that there is a place to go if they find they can't stand it any longer. I promise three squares, a comfortable flop, for all those who realize that the human mind can stand just so much of what is being given us today over sets that cost (if you want the pure maple with the built-in vice-president) be set up by members of Congress, who also bet when they feel like it.

6. I will continue my small one-man campaign to spread my belief that MacArthur is far and away the soundest, most capable living American, who has given so much for so little. All he has been given is sniping criticism by men (what did I say—men?) who couldn't shoot an M-1 if their house, not their country, was in danger.

Pampa's Shows Net $1074.02 in Drive For Polio Hospital

A total of $1074.02 was collected in Pampa theatres during the 1950 Texas Theatres Polio Fund drive, Dec. 24-30, according to Paul West, manager of Pampa's theatres. Proceeds will be used for improvements at the Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation for crippled children.

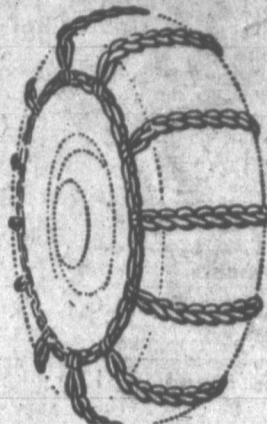

A movie trailer featuring a special speech by Gov. Allan Shivers was presented in each of the three theatres, LaNora, La Vista, and Crown, during that week, after which plates were passed for donations.

All funds collected will be used for Texas polio victims.

Duff Assails Bomb Shelters

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Governor James H. Duff is reported by a political colleague as saying the U.S. government's program to build atomic bomb shelters is foolish and a waste of money.

The Governor was said to have told Republican state senators at a caucus that "there is no defense against the atomic bomb," and that the shelter program "is intended only to lull the public into a sense of false security."

Duff, who will take a U.S. Senate seat this month, would neither confirm nor deny the report, which came from a state senator who asked that his name be withheld.

Duff said his comments on civil defense and its relation to the atomic bomb will be offered apart from his regular message to the legislature.

INCOME TAX

equals or exceeds Line 1 — that is, as soon as you have recovered tax-free as much as you put in — you can ignore all this computation. Just show on Line 6 of Schedule E the entire amount you received during the year, because then it is all taxable.

On Line 4 show how much you received during 1950.

If line 4 is greater than line 3, subtract Line 3 from Line 4 to get Line 5.

If Line 4 is not greater than Line 3, write "0" on Line 5.

Now take three percent of the amount shown on Line 1. Compare it with the amount on Line 5. Whichever is greater goes on Line 6 — but the amount on Line 6 should not be greater than the amount on Line 4.

Endowment insurance policies that mature in 1950, annuities, pensions and retirement payments are treated alike BUT — Government pensions to war veterans or their families are not taxable nor are Social Security benefits.

Armed Forces retirement pay based on a disability is not taxable.

Tax Primer Q&A

Q. I paid $500 in 1944 for a Series G U. S. Government bond. Every 6 months I get $8.28 interest. Is this interest taxable?

A. Yes.

Q. I cashed my $100 War bond and received $90 for it. How much is taxable?

A. Only the interest. Since you paid $75 for it and got $90 the interest is $15.

Q. There was a lot of talk about requiring corporations to withhold tax on dividends paid to stockholders. Is that in effect for 1950?

A. No. Corporations did not withhold tax on your 1950 dividends.

AUSTRIAN DIES — Dr. Karl Raner, 80, president of Austria, died early Saturday. His death was announced by Dr. Fritz Masnik, government press chief.
