County-Wide Vote Scheduled May 5 On Local Option

A county-wide local option election will be held on Saturday, May 5.

The Scurry County Commissioners Court set the date for the election this morning at their regular meeting, upon receipt of certified petitions from the County Clerk's office. The petitions had been submitted to the County Clerk about 10 days ago for checking and certification.

The petitions request a vote on a proposal to legalize the sale of alcoholic beverages in Scurry County.

In his formal certification of the petitions, County Clerk Dan Cotton noted that 1,273 signatures of qualified voters were listed on the petitions submitted to commissioners. The required number to call an election is 25 per cent of the total voted in the last general election on a presidential election year.

The total vote in Scurry County in the last presidential general election was 4,535, which means that the requirement here this year is 1,134 signatures.

When originally submitted to the County Clerk for certification, the petitions listed 1,474 names. Dan Cotton, county clerk, said that in checking it was found that some names were listed on more than one petition, while some other had requested that their names be deleted before the lists were submitted to the commissioners court, and some where found on the lists who were not qualified voters.

Voting in the election on May 5 will be at all regular polling places in the county.

The local option election will come exactly two weeks following a county bond election set for April 21. The bond election proposes a county library and bookmobile, park improvements and an additional runway at Winston Field, the county airport.

She was restrained when she attempted to re-enter the flames to rescue her father. In background is FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

Broad Civil Rights Program Submitted

Public Study Is Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration today asked Congress to enact a broad civil rights program including creation of a bipartisan commission to investigate individual grievances.

The proposals, submitted by Atty. Gen. Brownell, include creation of a new civil rights division in the Justice Department, to function under an additional assistant attorney general.

A third specific proposal would provide that citizens who feel their constitutional rights have been infringed may go direct to a federal court with their complaint. Under present law, such recourse is available only after it can be shown that all state administrative and judicial remedies have been exhausted without the desired result.

Brownell sent texts of proposed bills to Vice President Nixon and House Speaker Rayburn.

Along with the other proposals, he asked that Congress and the projected Civil Rights Commission consider a further statute under which the attorney general himself could initiate civil actions against conspiracies where present law limits such action to the injured individual.

Conspiracies covered by such a law would be those designed to deter or intimidate witnesses before federal courts or attempts to injure persons who have testified such courts or grand juries, and the use of "disguise on the highways" to deprive citizens of "equal protection under the law."

In asking for a new assistant attorney general for civil rights, Brownell noted that the present setup is within the Justice Department's criminal division. Civil litigation in prospect in connection with carrying out the Supreme Court edict for public school desegregation creates a need for division of broader scope, Brownell indicated.

"The decisions and decrees of the United States Supreme Court relating to integration in the field of education and in other areas, and the civil rights cases coming before the lower federal courts in increasing numbers, are indicative of generally broadening legal activity in the civil rights field," he wrote.

"These considerations call for the authorization of an additional assistant attorney general to direct the government's legal activities in the field of civil rights."

The communication emphasized that "the right to vote is one of our most precious rights" and indicated that this will be a prime field for inquiry by the proposed bipartisan commission.

"Where there are charges that by one means or another the vote is being denied, we must find out all of the facts—the extent, the methods, the results," Brownell wrote.

"The same is true of substantial charges that unwarranted economic or other pressures are being applied to deny fundamental rights safeguarded by the constitution and laws of the United Sates.

"The need for a full scale public study as requested by the President is manifest . . . the study should be as objective and free from partisanship. It should be broad and at the same time thorough."

In submitting the program, Brownell said:

"At a time when many Americans are separated by deep emotions as to the rights of some of our citizens as guaranteed by the Constitution, there is a constant need for restraint, calm judgment and understanding. Obedience to law as interpreted by the courts is the way differences are and must be resolved. It is essential to prevent extremists from causing the irreparable harm.

Black Duster Whips Across State Today

AMARILLO (AP) — A history-making pall of dust drifted Southward over Texas today bringing some sections their worst sand storm since the 1920's.

The stifling cloud of black top soil blinded Amarillo in the Panhandle late yesterday.

For four hours visibility was zero, making the storm the second worst in Amarillo's history. In February, 1936, skies were blacked out for nine hours.

Amarillo reported visibility back to 15 miles today. At the same time Del Rio on the Rio Grande reported ⅛ mile visibility, the worst storm since the 20s. Residents drove to work at 8 a.m. with their car lights burning in the thick haze.

The storm also spread to Central Texas where visibility dropped to ½ mile at several points early today. Waco and Dallas both reported light showers along with the dust, resulting in a sprinkle of muddy water.

Other visibilities at 8 a.m. included: Dalhart 15 miles, Lubbock 10, Abilene 6, Mineral Wells 3, San Angelo 2, Fort Worth 1½, Dallas 1, Killeen ½, Junction ⅛.

The storm, called a black duster because it came from the north and carried fine black soil, blew into this Texas Panhandle city about 5 p.m. yesterday. It was accompanied by winds up to 78 miles per hour.

The Civil Aeronautics Authority tower at Amarillo was abandoned when winds hit 71 miles per hour.

The second wind and dust storm within a week came at a critical time for farmers and ranchers already hard pressed by prolonged drought.

The Texas A&M Extension Service said general rains are needed over the entire state for planting and for growth of crops, pastures and ranges. Wind and dust has damaged wheat. The next two weeks will be especially important for small grain crops already suffering badly. Pastures are very dry and in poor condition.

Cold weather followed the duster into the Panhandle. The temperature was 32 degrees at Dalhart before dawn. It was -33 at Amarillo and a trace of snow fell. Lubbock had 38 degrees.

The forecast called for light snow changing to rain in the Panhandle today. Temperatures of 25-35 degrees were forecast in the Panhandle and South Plains tonight and 35-45 elsewhere in West Texas.

Light rains fell early today at Alice, San Antonio and Waco. Cotulla had fog.

Behind the cold front temperatures were mostly in the middle 40s and near 50 in the El Paso area. They were in the low 70s along the South Texas coast and near 60 in East and Northeast Texas.

Dust, Snow Hit Parts Of United States

By The Associated Press

Another winterlike mantle of snow covered much of the northeast today while a black blanket of dust swept part of the southwest.

Snow-weary New Englanders once again started digging out after a spring storm dumped more than a foot of snow in many areas Sunday.

The snowstorm, propelled by winds up to 62 miles per hour, was the fourth big snow to hit the northeast in 24 days.

At least six deaths were attributed to the new storm. Most of the victims died of heart attacks while shoveling snow.

Three Marine Corps officers were missing near New York on a flight from California.

The high winds and heavy, wet snow felled hundreds of power lines and knocked out heat, light and refrigeration in an estimated 75,000 homes.

A "black duster" whipped up by 75-mile-per-hour gusts lashed the Texas Panhandle yesterday and threatened to spread through the rest of the state today. The dust, choked parts of New Mexico, Oklahoma, Kansas and Colorado.

Three persons were killed in a three-car pileup near Amarillo during the height of the storm.

Snow sifted on Wyoming, northern Colorado and western Nebraska.

Up to 10 inches fell in Wyoming. Two persons were killed and eight injured in a bus-car collision near Rock Springs in that state.

In the northeast the spring snow fall ranged from 2.7 inches in New York City to 25 inches in the Catskill Mountains.

Blanford, Mass., reported a foot and a half of snow. Ashfield, Mass. was buried in drifts up to 10 feet deep.

State Airport May Be Port Of Entry

WASHINGTON (AP) —The Customs Bureau may designate the McAllen, Tex., airport an international port of entry.

Rep. Kilgore (D-Tex) said today the volume of traffic which would use the airport as a port of entry indicates a need for the designation.

Man Receives Injury In Lake Thomas Fall

Melvin Brewington, 56, was injured yesterday afternoon when he fell 15 feet from some rocks at Lake Thomas, where he was reported to have been working on a house near Lem's Bait House.

He was carried to Cogdell Memorial Hospital in a Bell ambulance and according to the funeral home attendant had injuries on his right hip and leg. Extent of injury is unknown at this time.

Mr. Brewington gave his address as Lake Thomas. He is employed by Robinson Rathold Co. in Seminole.

Adlai, Estes May Debate On Politics

By The Associated Press

Both Adlai E. Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauver agreed—under questioning —that it would be a good idea if they got together in Florida for a debate on political issues, but neither suggested a time or place.

Both were far from Florida today—Stevenson in Chicago winding up his campaign for tomorrow's Illinois primary, and the Tennessean jumping from the District of Columbia to Maryland to New Jersey.

Sen Eastland (D-Miss) expressed the opinion neither would win the nomination. "I don't know who it will be," he said in an interview in Atlanta, "but I don't think it will be either Mr. Stevenson or Sen Kefauver."

Sen. Ellender (D-La) predicted Southern Democrats would form a third party if the nomination goes to either Kefauver or Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, who says he is "not an active candidate." The South would not accept their views on civil rights issues, Ellender said in a CBS-TV interview.

Ellender said he personally would "go along with" Stevenson, but would prefer Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo).

Kefauver won support in South Dakota where Democratic leaders decided against entering an unpledged slate in the June 5 primary to oppose a Kefauver slate.

Both Kefauver and Stevenson and their campaign managers continued long-range pot shots at each other.

Stevenson said Kefauver had "the second worst voting record in the 83rd Congress".

An earlier attack on Kefauver's attendance record had brought from the Tennessee senator a charge of "mudslinging," but Stevenson said that was "nonsense."

Kefauver, without mentioning Stevenson, picked a Negro church meeting in Washington to talk about civil rights and say "I won't hide what I mean behind eloquent phrases that have a fine sound but have little substance."

400 Firemen Expected At Meeting Here

Approximately 400 firemen from towns of this area are expected to attend the thirty-fifth semi-annual convention of the Midwest Texas Firemen's Association in Snyder Thursday, Durward Porter, fire chief, said.

In anticipation of the convention members of the paid staff of the Snyder fire department have completely renovated the central fire station at the city hall. New paint has been applied to walls, ceilings and floors of the building, and even the dormitory of the department has been remodeled.

Registration for the convention will begin at the fire station at 10 o'clock Thursday morning, and the first meeting will be called to order by Ray Lusk, president of the organization, at 1:30 o'clock.

One of the featured highlights of the convention will be fire team races held in front of the fire station at 4:30 o'clock.

During the afternoon program Olin Culberson, secretary of the Texas Firemens and Fire Marshals association, will deliver the key address. Pat Bullock, state legislator, will also make an address.

After the afternoon festivities, the visiting firemen will be treated to a barbecue supper at the pavilion in Towle Park for which 150 pounds of beef will be barbequed. Melvin Newton, Snyder volunteer fireman, is in charge of the arrangements for the supper.

The barbeque supper will be served at 6:30 o'clock.

A ball will be held for the visitors as well as local firemen at the VFW-American Legion Club building beginning at 8 o'clock.

Ike Claims Farm Bill Unacceptable

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower told Republican congressional leaders today that the farm bill does not meet "the test of a good bill." They promised to battle to change it.

House GOP Leader Martin of Massachusetts, told newsmen after a White House conference that an effort will be made, probably Wednesday, to send the bill back to a Senate-House Conference Committee.

"I'm quite hopeful we are going to recommit the bill," he said.

Martin said no decision has been reached yet on just what changes will be sought in event the measure can be handed back to the committee which whipped the bill into compromise form last week.

But he indicated strongly that one aim will be to knock out high rigid price supports for basic commodities. The matter of instructions to the conferees, Martin said, will be thrashed out at a session of all House Republicans he has called for tomorrow afternoon.

Martin, Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California, and the party whips, Sen. Saltonstall of Massachusetts, and Rep. Arends of Illinois, huddled with Eisenhower and Secretary of Agriculture Benson for nearly 2½ hours.

Afterward Martin read this brief typed statement to reporters:

"The President repeated his desire to have a good farm bill promptly. He has been asking for it since Jan. 9, when he sent his farm message to the Congress.

"The President does not believe the conference report meets the test of a good bill. He is concerned that the conference report bill will not give the real and permanent assistance which is so necessary for the security of our farm families and all Americans.

"In the House we shall try to recommit the measure with instructions, so that the conferees may have another chance at drafting a bill which will help, rather than hurt, farmers; which will eliminate the buildup of huge surpluses that have been and are depressing farm prices, and which have been denying farmers their fair share of our prosperity."

Martin and Knowland said that Eisenhower didn't say specifically whether he would veto the bill if it is accepted by Congress in its present form.

But Martin added that the President would "be a little shaky about doing anything else."

Martin said that he is going to be busy on conferences on the farm bill from now until Wednesday, talking with Democrats as well as Republicans. He said that "a goodly number" of Democrats will support the attempt to return the measure to the conference committee.

Lease For Armory Extended One Year

Scurry County Commissioners agreed this morning to extend for one year a lease on a proposed site for a National Guard Armory here.

Construction of the armory, which has been approved, has been delayed due to a lack of government funds for the building.

The National Guard Armory Board recently had asked for a three-year extension on the lease, but later notified county officials that a one-year extension would be acceptable at this time.

Notice of the one-year extension was being forwarded to Gen. Dallas L. Matthews, director of the Nation Guard Armory Board in Austin.

Tension High In Mid East

JERUSALEM (AP) — Egyptian charges of an Israeli raid in the Gaza Strip and retaliation raids by Arab commandos kept tensions high today along the turbulent Arab-Israeli borders.

The latest reported toll since Thursday in the Gaza area was: 66 Egyptians and 9 Israelis killed, 93 Egytians and at least 23 Israelis wounded, 1 Egyptian captured.

The violence continued on the eve of U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold's arrival in the Middle East on an urgent hunt for ways to restore peace.

Hammarskjold received the blessing of Pope Pius II in Rome today.

He speeded up his schedule and ordered the U. N. truce supervisor, Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, to stay on the scene in Jerusalem.

Egypt reported a one-hour clash at its Gaza outpost of Deir Eballah. A spokesman said Egypt had protested to the U. N. Mixed Armistice Commission.

An Egyptian army spokesman said Israeli armored cars approached the truce line after midnight and Israeli soldiers crossed on foot into Egyptian territory. The Israelis opened fire with automatic weapons on the Egyptian outpost, he charged.

The Arab commandos struck in the night at a number of southern Israel points in the Judean Hills, the Negev and near the Egyptian-held Gaza Strip.

Israel said the raiders, called Fedayans, killed on and wounded at least six.

Israel ordered secret security measures and threatened retaliation measures unless Egypt guarantees an end to violence. The border clashes flared for the fourth straight day since Burns called for a cease-fire.

One Fedayan band attacked an Israel labor camp near Kziot in the southern Negev demilitarized zone, killing one worker and wounding three, the army spokesman said.

Another blew up a well near Gvar-Am village and a light pole near Silin, both near the Gaza Strip.

The spokesman said an Israeli patrol tangled with Egyptian raiders a few hours later near Yad Mordehcia also near Gaza, killing one and capturing an other.

Another skirmish, with rifle fire and grenade assaults at close range, rattled the Judean Hills.

Hike In Defense Funds Is Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today asked Congress for an additional $547,100,000 in defense funds for the year starting next July 1.

The supplemental funds are mainly for a speedup in production of B52 jet bombers, the mainstay of the U. S. atomic weapons air fleet, and additional bases for Strategic Air Command which flies the giant planes.

Further development of the Distant Early Warning program and additional ship conversion also are contemplated together with minor increases in Army and Navy strength.

The White House, in announcing the appropriation request, said:

"These additional appropriations will not increase estimated expenditures for the Department of Defense during the fiscal year 1957 by more than 400 million dollars.

"Therefore they will not unbalance the 1957 budget, since a surplus of over 400 million dollars was estimated."

Some Democrats have been protesting that U. S. defense forces were being tailored by the administration to budget balancing rather than the needs of security.

These protests, notably from Sens. Symington (Mo) an Jackson (Wash), have stemmed from reports that Soviet Russia is rapidly approaching, if not outstripping, America's progress in developing atomic age air strength.

Eisenhower's original request for defense appropriations for the year starting July 1 had totaled $34,900,000,000. The House Military Appropriations subcommittee has completed hearings on the request but the bill has not gone to the House for final consideration.

The spending budget Eisenhower sent to Congress last January proposed an outlay of $35,547,000,000 for defense in the next fiscal year. This is the amount that would be increased by 400 million dollars if today's request is approved.

The breakdown shows the Air Force gets 376½ million dollars, the Army 55 million, and the Navy 65½ million.

Hart Is Not Planning To Run For Texas Governor In 1956

AUSTIN (AP) — Former Supreme Court Justice James Hart said today he would not run for governor.

This left the liberal faction of the Democratic party in Texas free to concentrate on one candidate in the wide-open governor's race.

Ralph Yarborough of Austin, who ran twice unsuccessfuly with strong liberal backing against Gov. Shivers, was expected to be the candidate to benefit most from Hart's decision.

Friends of Sen. Price Daniel have also been claiming he has considerable liberal support, as well as conservative backing.

Other announced candidates are J. Evetts Haley, rancher and historian of Canyon; former House Speaker Reuben Senteffitt of San Saba; Virgil Arnold, Houston lawyer; J. J. Holmes, Austin contractor; and W. Lee O'Daniel, former governor and senator, now a Dallas insurance man.

There was still some talk that Agriculture Commissioner John White might run for governor. White has told close friends he most likely will seek re-election and perhaps run for the U.S. Senate if Daniel wins the governor's race.

Hart was on the state Supreme Court and then became chancellor of the University of Texas.

Hart issued this statement:

"I have decided not to run for governor in 1956, although I deeply appreciate the encouragement I have received from many Texans.

In response to questions, Hart added that he found financial support hard to get.

"The financial requirements for a race like this are heavy," Hart said.

"I didn't get enough promises of financial support to make the race possible."

Asked if he might be interested in some future race—such as the U.S. Senate—Hart replied: "We'll have to wait and see."

He said he was not endorsing any other candidate at this time, and that he planned to concentrate on the practice of law in Austin.

Hart has recently completed a swing over the state talking with friends about the governor's race.

Asked if he had found evidence of dissent or unity among Democrats generally, Hart said he had not inquired, but had concentrated on checking up on his own prospects.

AREA OIL ROUNDUP

Nolan Test Finds Oil In Lime Zone

Gas and oil was recovered on a drillstem test of a line, possibly lake Strawn zone, in Alvin C. Hope of San Antonio No. 20 City of Sweetwater, project three-quarters of a mile northeast of the 5,300-foot Lake Trammell (Canyon sand) field of Nolan County.

The three hours test from 6,242 to 6,257 feet developed gas at the surface in three minutes. Recovery was 4,760 feet of oil and 10 feet of mud.

Drilling continued below 6,294 feet.

Location is 330 feet from north and east lines of section 89, block 22, T&P survey and six miles south of Sweetwater.

Ultra Oil Co. of Abilene No. 1 Cox, wildcat in East Nolan County, is being deepened after a drillstem test of the Ellenburger at 6,839 to 6,890 feet.

Tool was open two and one-half hours. Recovery was 3,100 feet of gas and 60 feet of slightly oil and gas cut mud with a sulphur odor.

Gas also was recovered on a previous test at 6,770-6,820 feet.

Location is 525 feet from north and east lines of section 9, block X, T&P survey and seven and one-half miles southeast of Sweetwater. It is three and one-quarter miles northeast of the Featherstone (Strawn) field.

Stanolind Oil & Gas Co. has plugged and abandoned No. 1-G S. Neustadt, wildcat in Northwest Kent County, at 7,850 feet in dolomite.

Location was in section 15, block 7, H&GN survey and one-half mile west of the SMS (Canyon) field.

White eagle Oil Co. No. 2 Argo, northwest offset to a Clear Fork discovery in Southwest Andrews County, established flowing production in the San Andres.

Washed with 500 gallons of mud acid and fractures with 2,000 gallons in the San Andres through perforations from 4,254 to 4,326 feet, the well flowed back fracturing load, and at last report was producing 13.4 barrels of new oil per hour through open casing.

Bridging plug had been set at 4,495 feet after the project swabbed and flowed oil and water from the upper Clear Fork through perforations from 5,774 to 5,796 feet and 5,706 to 5,748 feet. Each interval had been washed with mud acid, fractured and tested separately.

Location is 1,980 feet from south and east lines of section 14, block A-41, psl survey.

Allen Pleads Innocent To Noise Charge

BEAUMONT (AP) — Newspaper pubisher William Prescott Allen pleaded innocent today to a charge that he violated a city anti-noise ordinance and posted an appeals bond after being fined $100.

"I'm just saying 'Let's get rid of some of this corruption,'" Allen told Corporation Court Judge Ethridge Wright.

Allen was brought to the city court on the misdemeanor complaint after he was arrested Saturday because he insisted on using his loudspeaker-equipped car on downtown Beaumont streets to tell about his anti-crime crusade.

Allen, publisher of the Laredo Times and newspapers in Juneau, Alaska, and Montrose, Colo., also was arrested in nearby Port Arthur on a similar complaint. He posted a $25 bond. When Allen did not appear in the Port Arthur court today his case was postponed until tomorrow morning.

After posting the $300 appeals bond in Beaumont Allen drove to Port Arthur and applied at City Hall for a permit to operate his sound car. City Manager Charles Brazil said he rejected the request because "the city does not issue such permits for political purposes."

Employment Goes Up During Past Month

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Commerce Department reported today that employment increased by half a million in March while unemployment remained about steady at 2,800,000.

The monthly report on employment said there were 63,100,000 jobholders in early March, when the Census Bureau made its monthly sample survey. This was half a million higher than employment in February, and it was 2½ million higher than employment in March, 1955.

The report attributed the March upswing in employment to the usual spring expansion in agriculture, construction and other outdoor work, plus the pickup in trade and service employment spurred by Easter activities.

New Field Seen In Petroleum Chemistry

NEW YORK (AP)—An entirely new field in petroleum chemistry may be opened up through its perfection of a chemical raw material called peracetic acid, Union Carbide & Carbon Corp. said today.

The company said the development may lead to the start of a whole new family of commercially useful chemicals.

Peracetic acid is related to acetic acid, the sour, colorless liquid found in vinegar. It is expected to be used in textiles, plastics, perfumes, bleaches and germ killers.

Union Carbide says that some 375 epoxides, many not obtainable at a low enough cost for commercial development, have been made by reaction of peracetic acid with common chemicals.

Cranes Beginning To Leave Aransas

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — The world's only known flock of whooping cranes, numbering 27 birds, has begun leaving the Aransas Wildlife Refuge near Austwell for the hazardous 2,500-mile migration to summer nesting grounds near central Canada.

Eight birds have left and all are expected to be on the 10 to 15-day flight by April 15.

After the nesting season in Wood Buffalo National Park in Canada, the whoopers will return to the Austwell refuge next fall to spend the winter.

Julian Howard, manager of the refuge at Austwell, said all possible precautions are being taken to prevent loss of the birds during the flight.

RABAT, French Morocco (AP) — French and Moroccan workers at U. S. air bases in Morocco went on strike today. They are seeking more pay and union recognition. About 9,000 locally hired civilians work at the big bases.

Nine Killed In Big Fire

CHICAGO (AP)—A fire in a crowded four-story apartment building on Chicago's South Side early yesterday killed nine persons and injured eight others.

Two of the dead were killed when they leaped from upper floors to escape the flames. Two children were killed in the fire, but several others were saved when their mothers dropped them to spectators.

Coroner Walter E. McCarron said he had been told about 250 persons, all Negroes, were living in the building's 36 small flats. Mrs. Ann Griggs, the building manager, said only 61 persons lived in the brick structure.

McCarron said evidence that the lower section of a fire escape had been wired to a bolt in the wall will be investigated at an inquest.

Chief Fire Marshal Albert H. Petersen estimated damage at $60,000.

Woman Bullfighter Puts On Exibition

JUAREZ (AP)— Bounced around by her first bull and almost gored by her second, Bette Ford, U.S. girl who gave up modeling for bullfighting, put on an exhibition of courage yesterday before more than 4,000 fans in the Juarez bullring across the border from El Paso.

The judges, apparently taking into consideration the brisk wind which made passing the bull almost impossible, awarded the trim brunette an ear for her second encounter. Fans responded with a standing ovation.

Bette was knocked down twice by the first animal but rolled to safety both times.

Expert Claims Child Shouldn't Read Early

TULSA, Okla. (AP)— ALos Angeles optometrist says children should not be allowed to read before they are eight years old.

Dr. Louis Jaques Sr., addressing the Oklahoma Optometric Association convention, said schools should have simply a "play program" for children until they reach eight.

"Reading is a visual skill of the highest order," he said. "The eyes of a child are not mature enough to cope with the printed page before he is eight.

"When he is forced to start learning to read at five or six, he develops habits that must be unlearned at a later age."

Postponement Asked On Nebraska Case

AUSTIN (AP)—Atty. Gen. John B Shepperd asked the U.S. Supreme Court today to postpone consideration of the Nebraska right to work law until fall.

Shepperd said the postponement should allow time for Texas Supreme Court decision of a case involving a Texas right to work law which closely parallels that of Nebraska.

The Texas case involves the issue of whether the Santa Fe Railway and the unions should be prevented from signing a closed shop agreement. An Amarillo trial court enjoined execution of such an agreement, upholding the state law.

No Leads Reported In Gilmer Robbery

GILMER (AP) — Sheriff Hub Owens said he had no new developments in efforts to solve the $20,000 holdup of the First National Bank Saturday.

A stocky, dark complexioned man held a gun on a bank teller, Mrs. Ila Tingpen, as she went to the bank's vault.

The bank is in temporary quarters across the street from its old location. The old building is being torn down, but its vault is still in use.

The Washington Monument is 555 feet high.

Father Talks With Grace

ABOARD SS CONSTITUTION (AP)—The father of the bride had a heart-to-heart talk with his daughter, Grace Kelly, today. Among other things he told her not to let people push her around.

"After all," John Kelly said he told his daughter, "they aren't giving you anything, and don't let that protocol business get you. Be yourself and do what you want to do. You're an American and you don't have to do what they want you to do."

Kelly dropped into his daughter's stateroom for 10 minutes after noon today. Grace, like almost every one in the wedding party, slept late after a gay evening of charades, impersonations and singing that wound up at 5:30 this morning. It was the first really relaxed evening she has enjoyed since sailing from New York to become the bride of Prince Rainier III of Monaco.

Boat Overturns In Lake Near Dallas

DALLAS (AP)— Two Fort Worth men experienced a 30-minute touch-and-go struggle for survival after their boat capsized yesterday afternoon in the choppy water of Grapevine Lake.

Hundreds watched as Lewis Harris, a reporter for the Dallas News, and an unidentified fisherman guided a speedboat operator to the men.

Clyde Pruett, 26, and Elton Brack, 33, were testing a new motor, when high waves swamped their boat about 200 yards off the western shore of Grapevine Lake.

Their wives sat in a car near a boat dock on the south shore, unaware of their plight until the rescue boat brought Pruett and Brack to the dock. Brack suffered from shock and exposure.

Car-Pickup Crash Reported In Snyder

A wreck at 7:40 o'clock last night at the intersection of Thirty-seventh Street and U. S. 180 damaged two vehicles involved, but did not cause serious injury, Bill Zimmerman, highway patrolman, said.

Mack Henry McCarty, 71, Colorado City, was driver of a 1948 Chevrolet pickup turning left from the highway onto the street when the accident occurred.

McCarty's pickup was involved in collection with a 1954 Oldsmobile car driven by William S. Seals, 31, a Hamlin dentist.

Zimmerman said that Seals and his daughter, a passenger in the car, both complained of slight injuries, but neither required medical attention.

INTERNATIONAL DESIGNER PATTERN

© 1956 Spadea Fashions Inc.

One of the most distinctive designs to come out of John Cavanagh's London collection is this handsomely top-stitched model, perfect for any occasion depending on the formality of fabric. The cleverly engineered skirt has stitched and shaped panels attached to an underlay. The square neckline is softened with a pointed, rolled collar. Choose wool or cotton gabardine, serge, alpaca, faille, shantung or linen. Because the pattern is cut by hand, you'll find the handling of the detail extremely simple. This pattern is cut to Designer Measurements, not Standard Pattern Measurements. Size 12 requires 4⅛ yards of 3 inch material for dress with shot sleeves and ⅜ yard of 35 inch material for interfacing. To order Pattern No. S-294, state size; send $1.00; address International Designer Patterns, P.O. Box 993, G.P.O., Dept. SX-13, New York 1, N.Y. Add 25c for Airmail handling. Book Review Given Here

Mrs. Bro Mingus of Abilene, who returned to the Snyder Book Review Club for the fourth consecutive year, Friday gave the group "The Golden Journey" by Agnes Sligh Turnbull.

The story involves a frothy love tale by the same author who wrote the popular "Bishop's Mantle" and other mildly diverting best sellers over the years.

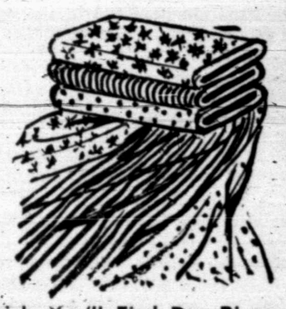

Mrs. Mingus, attractively gowned in a springlike costume, traced the urgent destinies of tycoon James Kirkland and his crippled daughter, Ann through Ann's courtship and marriage with Paul Devereaux, "who was everything we'd like in a mann". The seemingly idyllic union wavers perceptibly when Ann tumbles to the fact that her father had made some sort of deal with her lover to persuade him to take the invalided Ann. However, the faithfulness of Paul's love finally shines through and Ann, now able to walk again, grieves her masterful father's death but, reunited with Paul, realizes at last that he did have feet of clay.

The tea table was colorful with spring flowers.

Pretty salad plate for lunch: tomato aspic (canned or homemade), shrimp salad, cottage cheese and crisp greens.

EDITORIALS

On Mutual Sufferance

Hong Kong, the British Crown Colony that nestles against the flank of Red China, is a sort of gigantic entrepot for a lively trade in non-strategic goods between—guess who—the Red Chinese and the Nationalist Chinese on Formosa.

There Red buyers from Peiping mix and mingle with Nationalist agents from Formosa, doing a thriving cash business with each other in a number of items severally possessed and mutually needed.

Last year the Reds bought $50,000 worth of citronella oil from Formosa through this tidy Hong Kong arrangement. Camphor oil from Formosa went to the Reds for about $160,000 last year. Tung oil from Red China went to Formosa for $60,000. And so on.

Undersecretary of State Herbert C. Hoover Jr. set off a controversy not long ago by saying that the Nationalists were shipping millions of dollars worth of goods to the Communist each year. He soon corrected himself, however, by saying the State Department had no evidence of any direct trade between the two Chinas, but that indirect trade in nonstrategic items over which Nationalist authorities have no control takes place through Hong Hong.

An AP dispatch from Hong Kong, on which the situation depicted in the opening paragraphs of this editorial is based, makes it quite clear that the Nationalist authorities know quite well what's going on, but are content to operate that way beause it is a useful device to get the nonstrategic materials Formosa needs. The Reds, of course, are happy over it for the same reason.

This situation might possibly be enlightening to those bleeding hearts among Americain statesmen who made a sort of cult of demanding an air-tight ban against shipment of anything that might be useful to Red China. They wept for the sad plight of the Nationalists.

As is turns out the Formosa Chinese are somewhat less anxious for a blockade of Red China than some of our statesmen.

Soldiers Of The Press

In 1947 Nathan Riesel, a fighter for clean unionism, died of injuries attributed to a beating by "the mobs."

One night last week his son, the noted labor columnist Victor Riesel, friendly to unionism but a relentless foe of the labor rackets, completed a broadcast critical of some of the shadowy figures who operate on the fringe of organized labor, stepped into a New York street, and was met with a dash of sulphuric acid full in the face, thrown by a man lurking in a dark doorway.

Riesel, who began his career writing for labor papers, and is now in about 200 daily newspapers all over the country, may lose the sight of both eyes.

The New York Daily Mirror, which prints his column, and the Hall Syndicate, whih distributes it, jointly put up a reward of $10,000 for apprehension of the guilty party. The Newspaper Guild, to which Riesel belongs, and the Overseas Press Club offered $1,000 each. The New York Newspaper Reporters Assn. put up $500. An organization of veteran newspapermen offered another $500.

The AP points out that the use of physical violence against crusading newspapermen has a long and dishonorable history, and offers several cases in point.

But voilence isn't aimed soley at the crusaders. Routine handling of the news as it breaks—the simple reporting of facts to the best of a newspaperman's ability, without bais—has its hazards too.

Newspapermen know this, and accept it as part of their profession. They feel they have a duty to the public that must be fulfilled.

But it is the crusaders who know best of all the risks they run, especially in exposing racketeers and criminals and entrenched privilege. Men like Victor Riesel simply ignore these dangers and plow steadily ahead, let the chips fall where they may. They are the soldiers of the press.

Here Are Some Khrushchev Phrases For Future Reference When Puzzle Unravels

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Right now—when a lot of people seem puzzled about the Russians — you may want to paste a few of N. Khrushchev's phrases in your hat for future reference.

As a result of the Russians' new, soft line and their downgrading of Stalin, this has become one of the overworked questions of the day: Are the Russians changing? It's a way of saying: are they reforming?

Yet Nikita Khrushchev, the Communist party boss, in his speech to the party's 20th Congress in February made it plain the basic Communist doctrine hasn't changed: they intend to take over the world.

Khrushchev's expressed intentions may have been overlooked in the bewilderment over the treatment now given Stalin or because he surrounded his statement of doctrine with thousands of words about peace, trade, and disarmament.

What he said is no surprise in the hydrogen age when a war might wipe out both the United States and Russia. He said, in effect, there are lots of ways to skin a cat and making war doesn't have to be one of them.

He didn't change doctrine, just tactics and policies. He said Communists everywhere should try to take over where they can by legal means: by getting into national legislatures or parliaments.

But in countries which can't be taken that way, he said, revolution may be necessary. In showing he has not abandoned the idea of conquest by violence, when peaceful means can't be used, he said:

"The winning of a stable parliamentary majority . . . would bring about . . . conditions insuring the implementation of fundamental social transformations.

". . . In countries where capitalism is still strong and where it controls an enormous military and police machine, the serious resistance of the reactionary forces is inevitable.

"There the transition to socialism will proceed amid conditions of an acute class revolutionary struggle."

This was said before the Reds, calling their former boss an inept murderer and mental case, began openly their all-out attack to destroy respect for Stalin. The violence of it made many Westerners wonder if fundamental changes were taking place or lay ahead.

But an obvious explanation for the downgrading of Stalin — so obvious it may not be believed—came yesterday from Georgi Malenkov, Stalin's successor who was downgraded himself to a subordinate position:

"We decided to oppose the cult of personality because it leads to a person being worshipped and eventually endowed with supernatural powers The whole thing belittled the work of the Communist party itself."

President Eisenhower has no illusions about the Soviets, as he told his news conference this week.

"There is no discernible basic change in the fundamental purposes of communism: world revolution and the so-called dictatorship of the proletariat through the Cominform. . .

"I believe as of today the leaders of communism still believe the same things they have believed since the days of Lenin."

Eisenhower said Secretary of State Dulles agrees with him. But Dulles has been a lot more roundabout in expressing his views. He has sometimes wondered out loud what the Russians were up to.

Hollywood Today

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — There was a time when film stars shunned TV like the plague. But says Producer Arthur Schwartz "nowadays you can get just about any of them."

Schwartz, veteran song writer and producer of films ("Cover Girl") and Broadway shows ("Inside USA"), dipped into television recently with the 90-minute Bing Crosby film, "High Tor." Saturday he presented "20th Century" on CBS with Orson Welles and Betty Grable. In June, he'll have "A Bell for Adano," for which he and long-time partner Howard Dietz are composing five songs.

"I find television very fascinating,' 'said Brooklyn-born Schwartz "The idea of the special show or spectacular has made the field exciting. Actors seem to feel that way, too.

"Nearly all the top stars are available. There are a few exceptions. Danny Kaye still doesn't want to do TV; Audrey Hepburn isn't available. But most of the others are willing."

Schwartz, a handsome, dark-eyed man, brings much enthusiasm to his work. He was undaunted by the fact that his "High Tor" drew barbs from the critics.

I just got a letter from Bing, who told me he has never gotten such fan mail as he did from this show," the producer said. "Although I didn't get the same volume that he did, the mail response I received was also enthusiastic.

"This appears to be one of those rare shows which the critics didn't like but the audiences loved. Well, we knew what we were getting into; it's awfully hard to do fantasy and make it a critical success. But I think we did manage to pull off an entertaining show."

He added that Bing was eager to make another TV show. It may be one of the three that Schwartz will do next season. Aside from liking the show, Bing has another good reason to be happy with "High Tor." After its showing on TV, the film's ownership reverted to him and he can release it in theaters abroad.

One Word By One Man Can Plunge Nation Into War

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Most of the 165 to 170 million Americans do not quite realize that one man among them can by one word plunge them all into war.

The word is "Attack!" The one man who can lawfully say the word is the President of the United States.

The power of the president as commander in chief of the nation's armed forces is sometimes forgotten or overlooked by the voters who elect a president.

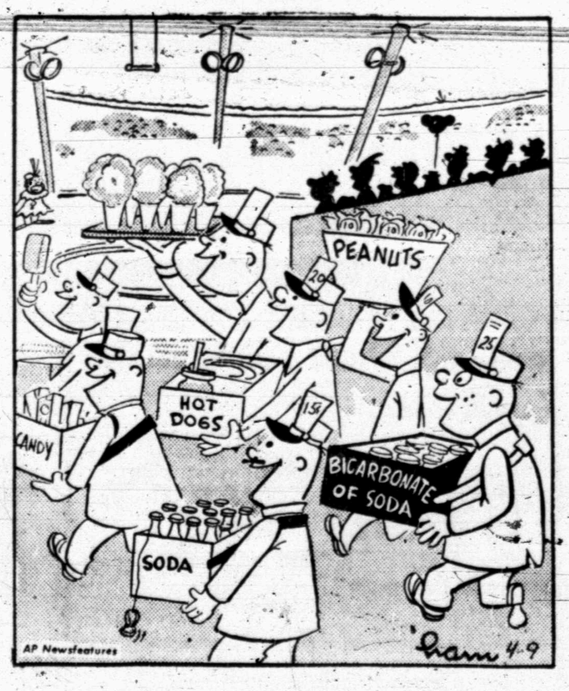

The U. S. Senate may have to approve a foreign treaty to make it legal, and only Congress can declare war. But it is the president who can order at any time when the Navy, the Army or the Air Force should go into action—naturally on an emergency basis. This means you can have a war before it's voted.

All big wars usually start from military pimples. There is a border. Each side complains the other violates the border There is a period of mutual blame and mutual hollers of innocence. It's the other fellow who is wrong.

Finally one of the fellows crosses the border in real power—and doesn't stop. The reaction has to come, at once, or, later, when he is stretched out and more volnerable. But he has lit a small match and set a big world on fire, and in time the flames at great cost will consume him, his empire and his dreams. Sometimes even his relatives.

This is the history of war.

Any Bullet Could Become A Signal For War In Jittery Middle East Powder Keg

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

BEIRUT, Lebanon, April 9 (AP)—It is close to zero hour in the Middle East.

Bullets whine today across barbed wire frontiers of the Holy Land. Any bullet could become the signal for the war every one fears—the little war that may blow up into world catastrophe.

Every minute of the next two months will be precious for the West. Unless the United States and Britain take positive action, there is grave danger the Israeli-Arab conflict will raise the curtain on World War III, just as Spain was the rehearsal for the last great war.

A threat of economic shock hangs over England and western Europe, with consequences that endanger the North Atlantic Treaty alliance structure.

These are not extravagant or alarmist statements. These are the considered opinions of experts: diplomats, businessmen, experienced observers of the Middle East scene. All are agreed on this: there is no time to lose.

Hate, fear and frustration set the mood today in the Arab world. Of these it is the feeling of frustration which carries the biggest danger. It is the feeling that the United States is the Arabs' enemy and that there is no hope for justice in the quarrel with Israel.

The tragedy of the Middle East is that it has everything to lose and nothing to gain by war. Only world communism would gain. The irony of the Middle East is that war threatens, though few except hotheads on either side want it.

Egypt does not want war. She needs to busy herself with her economic future. Syria does not want war. It would worsen an already bad internal situation. Lebanon, with her little 10,000 man army, scarcely more than a police force, is a thriving mercantile center and wants no war. Jordan still leans on Britain to help feed her people.

For Israel, surrounded on all sides by enemies growing stronger each day, war could spell the beginning of ruin. As matters stand, Israel could win a first round, sweep to Damascus and Beirut and probably punch through the Egyptian forces. That would be the blitz for which Israel appears to be geared. But this war would not end after an initial blitz.

Diplomats thought there was a good chance for Arab-Israeli peace before February 1955. Some remain guardedly optimistic that neither side will dare start this dangerous war. Others hold that peace must be imposed, regardless of sentiment or moral qualms on either side, because the safety of the whole world hangs in the balance.

Virtually every Arab I spoke to in the Middle East referred to February 1955. That was a turning point in history, the time of the large-scale Israeli assault on Egyptian troops in the Gaza Strip of palestine. The Mideast situation took a decided turn for the worse then, and became even more ugly when Moscow decided to fish in the troubed waters.

Soviet policy apparently aims at the destruction of any alliance which might deter aggressive Communist expansion. Utter chaos in this part of the world would go far toward hacking away the foundations of NATO, by choking off the supply of Middle East oil to western Europe and Britain.

That oil is vital to the survival of Britain and important to the future of democratic governments in Europe.

Political repercussions from a situation which might cut off this oil could be enormous in western Europe. Nobody here denies that it would be a long stride forward by the Communists toward domination.

Thus, war in the Mideast would be a matter likely to bring Western intervention. To this prospect the Egyptians, Saudi Arabians and Syrians, after meeting in Cairo, are reported to have told the United States: if you intervene with force in the situation, we will ask active soviet help.

Whether the three states actually told the United States this, it is important and significant that on many lips in the Middle East is the story that three divisions of Soviet troops from central Asian Soviet republics with a dominantly Moslem population sit across the border from Iraq in Soviet Georgia.

But the peril of world war would exist without actual entry of Soviet "volunteers." War in the Middle East, as matters stand now, could throw the whole Arab world into the arms of the Soviet Union and pose the threat that Middle East oil would be forever lost to the West.

Flying Schoolteacher Has World Tour Plan

BY JANE EADS

WASINGTON (AP) Jan Wood, California school marn who savel her pennies to take a sabbatical trip around the world, almost settled for staying in the capital which she visited for the first time before taking off on her long adventure.

"I never knew how interesting and beautiful my own country was until I started out," she told friends here, "I almost wish I were staying here longer." The tall, attractive 34-year-old physical education teacher of Reseda, Calif. is making most of her trip by air, flying her own single engine plane which she shipped by air transport from New York to Rotterdam.

Accompanying her on her 11-month journey is her German police dog, Cindy, whose requirements are determining a great part of the itinerary. Countries like England, Egypt, Australia and New Guinea will not allow her to bring the dog in, so in some instances Cindy will have to be placed in quarantine while her mistress goes sightseeing. When Miss Wood goes to England she will leave Cindy in France.

Altogether her total weight for the trip is 200 pounds. This includes a 25-pound tape recorder and a movie camera. The vivacious brunette is taking a light wardrobe: two suits, two jersey dresses, sweaters and a bathing suit. She will rent skiing, equipment for her favorite sport when she gets to Switzerland, and skin - diving equipment in North Africa.

From Rotterdam, the flying schoolmarf will fly to the Scandinavian countries then to Africa, India, Southeast Asia, and thence to Australia from where she plans to sail to South America to tour that continent by air.

She is planning a leisurely journey, going where she wants to go and staying as long in each place as she wishes. In many countries she is staying with friends and will be looking up overseas members of the 99's international women's pilots organization which was started in 1929 with the late Amelia Earhart as first president. Miss Wood joined the Washington branch of the 99's while she was in the capital.

Supply Of Salk Vaccine Is Now Growing Rapidly

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

NEW YORK, April 8 (AP)—One great burning question remains about the Salk polio vaccine: When can millions of children get it?

The prospects are fairly soon, because supply is rapidly swelling. Estimates are for 100 to 150 million doses or more to be produced this year.

A year ago headlines blazed the news the Salk vaccine is "safe, potent, effective . . ."

That verdict is still sound and valid on this first anniversary.

Leading experts have no question about its safety. "As safe as we can humanly guarantee," says Dr. Leonard Scheele, surgeon-general of the U.S. Public Health Service. "As safe as any biological product can possibly be," adds Dr. Hart E. Van Riper, medical director of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

As for effect, last summer it cut paralytic polio 75 to 80 per cent among vaccinated children, kept an estimated 1,250 children from becoming paralyzed, even though most had received only one shot.

One tragic accident marked the vaccine's first year, bringing confusion, doubts, and interruption of supply.

Installation of rigid new safety regulations has been one bottleneck in supply, but that now is largely overcome, Dr. Scheele reports. Manufacturers had to expand testing facilities and train more personnel.

From start to finish it takes 120 days to produce one lot or batch of vaccine. Production started now would not bring a finished, tested lot until April.

Since last April, more than 40 million doses of vaccine had been released through March 20. Nearly 30 million were distributed during 1955. This January saw 3,283,000 doses released, February 2,627,000 and 4,404,510 up to March 20.

It's being used as fast as it becomes available. Probably 15 to 20 million children have already received one to two shots, and some have had three.

With vaccine in drastically short supply right now, the first priority is for children up to 15 years, and expectant mothers, since these two groups are most susceptible to polio attack.

There are 54 million children and women in this group. By June or July, if manufacturers' expectations of supply hold, two shots could be given to all of them, Dr. Van Riper says. If this is done, the actual number of cases of paralytic polio could probably be cut in half this summer, by protecting the children and women who otherwise would contribute so many victims.

Shots can be given safely during the summer.

When and where to get vaccine are still plaguing questions.

When released by the Public Health Service, vaccine is distributed to states on the basis of their population of children and women in the priority group. States vary in systems of distributing their shares, and what special priorities they set at different times.

Your doctor and health department are your best guides to local answers on availability.

"Demand will probably continue to exceed supplies for some time to come," said Dr. Scheele.

In time, officials expect enough vaccine for everyone needing it, with polio vaccination made as regular a routine as shots for diphtheria, tetanus and other diseases.

LITERARY GUIDEPOST

GOOD BEHAVIOUR: Being a Study of Certain Types of Civility. By Harold Nicolson. Doubleday.

All peoples have developed their peculiar notions of what to do and what not to do, how to behave, what is and isn't polite, when to shake hands and when to rub noses. Some customs date from prehistoric times; others are more recent, like tipping the hat, a gesture deriving from the knight's habit of turning up his visor in salutation.

Nicolson surveys a dozen societies, Greek, English, French, Italian and so on, and takes the testimony of scores of witnesses, polite and rude.

The good society, however well it functions materially, should above all provide for "the expression of idiosyncrasy, the enjoyment of differing pleasures, and the embellishment of life." The civility for which Nicolson is a genteel advocate is a means to these ends.

The first Christians he complains, had bad manners: the cult of respectability is a hindrance; and no worthy civility is based on idleness. Amusingly, Ford Chesterfield's son, for all the famous precepts, turned out a social misfit.

But Nicolson praises the contributions of chivalry; some public schools which despite their rigidity impose certain formal attitudes: and the gentle, unspectacular Gemutlichkeit of the domesticated German. He is not so suré Americans have enough identifiably good manners to deserve more than a passing reference even in a full-size book.

He is an acute, sometimes uncomfortably acute, observer. But it is not an unhopeful record. Manners maketh man, you read on the gate at Oxford; and manners maketh book, too, you discover happily here.

Suspects In Drunken Driving Are Problem

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP)—City police Officer Lee Cannon had his hands full when he arrested two suspects for drunken driving. He took the driver from the car to the patrol car and started back for the other man.

When he again reached the patrol car, suspect No. 1 was running down the street. Cannon gave chase and caught him after a three-block sprint. When he returned to the patrol car, suspect No. 2 was driving away in the suspects' car.

Cannon tossed suspect No. 1 into the patrol car and sped after No. 2. He finally got both men to the city jail.

Ike Leaves Today For Georgia

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower, leaving today for a week at Augusta, Ga., already has piled up 105,603 miles of business and pleasure travel since taking office.

Figures from White House records indicate he has been away from Washington about 38 per cent of the time.

On this ninth trip to Augusta, one of his favorite relaxation spots, Eisenhower plans a week of golf mixed with work. He arranged to fly in his personal plane, Columbine III. The flight takes about 2½ hours.

At the Augusta National golf course, Eisenhower may get in a round with Jack Burke Jr., who yesterday won the annual Masters tournament there, and with Ken Venturi, whom Burke defeated by one stroke on the final hole.

This is Eisenhower's 1,176th day in office. Figures the White House made available in response to a request show he has spent 455 of those days outside the nation's capital.

Eisenhower's various journeys since Jan. 20, 1953, have taken him out of the United States four times. He has criss-crossed this country on business trips, vacations, to fill speaking engagements, and to attend events of other nature.

Seven weeks of his time away from Washington was spent in a Denver hospital recuperating from his heart attack of last Sept. 24. Right after that he convalesced for another 33 days at his farm near Gettysburg, Pa. Then he spent 11 days at Key West, Fla., before resuming what he termed "the full duties of the presidency" last Jan. 9.

All told during his White House tenure, Eisenhower has made 40 visits, most of them over weekends, to his farm and to Camp David, a mountain retreat near Thurmont, Md.

During 1953, his first year in office, Eisenhower traveled 37,536 miles. He crossed the border into Mexico to help dedicate Falcon Dam, went to Ottawa for conferences with Canadian leaders, and flew to Bermuda for talks with Britain's Sir Winston Churchill and France's Joseph Laniel.

In 1954 the President logged 31,942 miles, all within the United States. Last year the total was 32,635 miles, including 9,571 miles to and from Geneva, Siwtzerland, for the summit conference with the leaders of Russia, Britain and France.

So far this year he has traveled 3,290 miles.

Eisenhower's longest stays by far have been his annual visits to Colorado, where he has headquartered at a Denver summer White House and made side trips to Rocky Mountain fishing camps and to other areas.

Johnson To Give Plans

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Lyndon Johnson is reported to have turned down suggestions by Southern Democrats that he be their sectional favorite son candidate for the presidential nomination.

Johnson, Senate majority leader, is expected to tell Texas Democrats in a radio-TV speech tomorrow he is willing to accept a "favorite son" designation from his home state.

Associates said he has made it clear to supporters in other states he does not want to become the leader of any group that would divide the Democratic convention over racial integration and other isues.

Associates say Johnso believed the Democratic party should take a moderate course on civil rights and nominate a man with middle-of-the-road views. Johnson was reported anxious to avoid a Southern walkout at Chicago.

Florida Resident Has Sinking Front Yard

PLANT CITY, Fla. (AP) — B. T. Holt has a sinking front yard today and he's hoping his $15,000 home won't get involved.

The ground in front of the home cracked open Saturday night. By early Sunday the chasm measured neary 100 feet across and about 40 feet deep at one spot.

The crack spread right to the edge of the Holt home but the ground against the house only sunk a couple of feet.

The Holts haven't moved out but they moved furniture from the room closest to the hole.

Such holes are believed caused by faults in the limestone formation underlying the area.

BENBENEK SHOE SHOP ADDS GIFT DEPARTMENT—Ordon Benbenek, owner of Benbenek Shoe Shop, located just south of the square on Avenue S, is shown holding a ceramic clock from the collection of unusual gift items added to the store's stock recently. Some of the other gift items for the home are shown in the display. (Lee Watson photograph)

Benbenek Shoe Shop Has Added Gift Department To Its Regular Services

Expansion of the Benbenek Shoe Shop to include a gift department with gifts for everyone in the family has recently been completed by Ordon Benbenek, owner.

"We still have a complete shoe and foot wear service shop, but a complete line of gifts appropriate for any occasion has been added," the owner said.

Included in the gift department are ceramic gifts for the home, wrought - iron framed picture scenes for wall decorations, a wide selection of ash trays, cigaret dispensers, and copper wall decorations.

With the approach of the graduation season gifts for any graduate from junior high school through the highest colleges or universities can easily be selected at the shop.

Everything from compacts to jewelry boxees for the firls, or everything from belts and billfolds to shoes for the boys are included in the store's gift department.

"The gift line has been added not to take the place of any of the regular services of the shoe service store, but to offer our customers gifts which otherwise have been unavailable here," Benbenek said.

The store is still the most complete foot wear service and accessory shop in this part of West Texas.

Any repair to any type of foot wear from the most delicate repair of a woman's fine shoe to the addition of new soles or heals for any type of man's shoe or boot can be done in the shop in the minimum time.

A line of men's shoes which feature a quality shoe at a sensible price has also been added. The shoes are the famous Shaw brand feature many advantages not usually found in shoes of the price. The price ranges from $9.95 to $12.95.

Benbenek has built his business here on quality service, and the new lines added are in keeping with his store's motto of always giving the best service and merchandise possible.

Drought Not Relieved By Light Rains

DALLAS (AP)—Except for East Texas, last week's scattered showers failed to relieve the drought in most sections of Texas. In East Texas rains were more general.

These are the conclusions of district agriculture agents checked by the Dallas Morning News.

J. A. Scofield of Vernon said the Rolling Plains District got no rain" of any consequence anywhere in the district."

Surface soil is dry and subsoil moisture is being depleted, he said. Small grains are suffering badly, with the worst damage in the west section. Some damage has been noted from high wind and sand.

Ranges have been improving very slowly and stock water is dwindling, said Scofield.

In North Texas, local spotted showers fell, but there was no general relief, reported district agent Ted Martin of Denton. They will provide very little grazing.

Range and pastures have reached a critical stage, and feeding of livestock continues over a wide area. Stock water is short in places, Martin said.

The situation is somewhat easier in Northeast Texas. But even there high winds are drying out the surface moisture, reported J. H. Surovik of Mt. Pleasant.

"We had slight showers over the district, but they didn't amount to much," he said. Watermelons and tomatoes have been whipped by the high winds.

Walter Scott at Nacogdoches said excellent rains there, have improved pastures and young crops.

The weather was varied in Central Texas last week, reported R. G. Burwell of Stephenville. Thundershowers, varying from light to moderate, fell. Hail caused considerable damage in southeast Eastland County. Where rains amounted to an inch or more, moisture conditions are greatly improved.

First Place Certificates Brought Back

Entries from the Lincoln Elementary School in Snyder brought back 28 first place certificates from an Interscholastic League meet held Friday in Littlefield.

Daniel Johnson, principal of the Lincoln school, said the Snyder aggregation completely overshadowed the field in Class C, which its own classification, and made a good showing in comparison to Class B contestants.

Johnson said he was particularly pleased with the showing made by Lincoln contestants in the literary and academic events.

The Lincoln winners were as follows:

Stamford's New Dial Phones Cause Havoc

STAMFORD (AP) — Stamford's new dial telephone system has been playing havoc with the fire department.

Before the dial system Stamford residents were accustomed to calling Fire Chief Dick Rowland or others on the one number listed for the department. Sometimes the calls were business and sometimes they were not.

Now when a number is dialed it automatically sounds the alarm in the station and in the living quarters of the firemen, the station doors go up, and everyone gets ready to role.

Firemen are trying to get a new system worked out.

Robbery Of Train Is All For Movies

BROWNWOOD (AP)—Twelve bearded horsemen reenacted a train robbery yesterday as movie cameras ground and a crowd cheered. It was a highlight of the Brown County centennial celebration.

The setting was changed from the original site at Coleman Junction, about 30 miles west of Brownwood, to a spur track off the main line only 8 miles from here.

The Newman Taylor gang, the outlaws credited with the original holdup in 1898, was increased from 4 to 12 for the Hollywood touch.

Two of the passengers on the Santa Fe train at the time of the original attempted robbery and rode on the train used in yesterday's re-enactment. They were Joe Davidson, 86, of May, and Mrs. H. J. McDonald of Coleman.

Glisson Recovering At Veteran Hospital

Pete Glisson, Lubbock highway, is reported recovering from a series of treatments at the Veterans Administration Hospital, Big Spring, where he has been hospitalized for several weeks.

Broader Lobby Inquiry Slated

WASHINGTON (AP) — Evidence compiled in an investigation of a $2,500 campaign gift rejected by Sen. Francis Case (R-SD) will be combed for "any loose ends" useful in a broader lobby inquiry, Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) said today.

McClellan is chairman of a special Senate committee assigned to search out any improper or illegal attempts to influence senators or other federal officials through lobbying, campaign contributions or other activities and to recommend remedial legislation.

He said it will start where a smaller special committee headed by Sen. George (D-Ga) left off. That inquiry was limited to the circumstances surrounding an oil lobbyist's attempt to contribute to Case's reelection campaign during Senate debate on the natural gas bill.

The George committee, in a report Saturday night, held that the $2,500 offer to Case was designed to influence his vote on the gas bill and said it condemned such activity.

Case voted against the bill, which would have freed natural gas producers from direct federal controls. The Senate passed the bill, but President Eisenhower vetoed it.

The money was traced to the personal funds of Howard B. Keck of Los Angeles, president of the Superior Oil Co. It reached a friend of Case in South Dakota through two lawyers for the oil and gas producing company.

These lawyers, Elmer Patman of Austin, Tex., and John M. Neff of Lexington, Neb., were "severely censured" by the George committee in its 6,000-word report to the Senate. The committee also said Keck couldn't escape responsibility for the use they made of his money.

Each of the three men declined to comment pending a study of the full report.

McClellan said the new investigating committee will have its staff go over the 849 pages of testimony taken by the George committee "so that we can pick up any loose ends" and continue an investigation of lobbying on "both sides" of the natural gas bill.

McClellan said his committee expects to make a thorough study of present laws governing lobbying and campaign contributions. The George committee recommended that this be done.

A "clean elections" bill designed to force full disclosure of campaign contributions and spending in federal elections now is awaiting early Senate action.

The George Committee, in condemning what it described as an attempt to influence Case's vote on the measure by a political contribution said:

"Lobbying is proper; contributions are proper — but they must not be combined for an ulterior purpose".

"This is a case of irresponsibility run riot," the committee said in referring to the handling of personal funds which Keck made available to Patman for political contributions.

The committee noted that Neff's activity was not confined to Case but involved offers of other campaign gifts and inquiries about the attitude of senators in Nebraska, Iowa, Wyoming and Montana toward the natural gas bill.

The committee said it had found "neither a bribe nor an attempt to bribe," but it asked the Justice Department to review the evidence to determine whether any federal laws had been violated or any perjury committed.

Teague Fires Charge At Doctors, Dentists

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Olin Teague (D-Tex) says some doctors and dentists have improperly collected money from the government for treating veterans.

Instances, he said, ranged "from minor administrative failures to serious false claims," but "certainly do not provide the basis for the generalization that there is substantial dishonesty among the medical profession."

Teague, chairman of the House Veterans Affairs Committee, commented on a Veterans Administration report on medical fees which the committee made public.

BUCKIN' THE LINE

By BUCK FRANCIS
News Sports Editor

ONE OF THE THREE TEAMS who have beaten the Tiger baseballers this season will visit the Tiger lair tomorrow. That would be the Odessa Broncos.

The Tigers, thus, will get a chance to gain revenge for one of their four defeats this season. The Bengal nine, currently enjoying its best season in history, has dropped one game to Odessa and Tom S. of Lubbock and two to Midland.

The two losses to Midland have been revenged as the Black and Golders also won two wins over the Midlanders.

It doesn't look like the Tigers will get to revenge the loss to Tom S. since they are only scheduled against the Westerners one time. Unless both the Tigers and Westerners win their district titles, they won't be meeting again this season. So the defeat at the hands of Tom S. will go "un-revenged" in all likelihood as the Westerners aren't considered a serious threat to capture the 1-AA title.

The Tigers, on the other hand, stand a good chance of unseating the perenial 3-AA champs—Abilene.

Tigers Could Make History By Beating Broncs

The Tiger diamonders did the next best thing to revenging the loss to Tom S. with Saturday's double victory over the Westerner's fellow townsmen, the Monterey Plainsmen.

As far as this department can ascertain, the Tigers have never beaten Odessa in an athletic contect. So it would be indeed an accomplishment if the Tigers can turn the tables on the Odessans there tomorrow afternoon.

Odessa will bring a 9-2 record to town tomorrow as compared to the Tigers' 13-4.

When the Tigers defeated San Angelo last Friday, they surpassed last year's record in the win column The 1955 season record showed the Tigers with 10 wins and 11 losses. Friday's win over San Angelo was the 11th for the Tigers this season and then, of course, the win column was boosted to 13 with Saturday's twin win over Monterey.

In speaking of revenge, the Tigers did just that with the San Angelo Bobcats this season. The Bobcats swept last year's three-game series form the Tigers but the Bengals did an about - face this season by sweeping all three games scheduled between the two.

'Sweeter Than Beating Notre Dame'

The happiest man in town Saturday, perhaps, was Colorado City's football and track coach, Bob Reily. Reily's C-Citians came from behind to win the 5-A track and field meet held at Tiger Stadium Saturday in the meet's last event, the mile relay.

Colorado City trailed Stamford by one point going into the mile relay, 49-48. The Wolves then captured the mile relay with plenty to spare while Stamford finished second, giving the Wolves 53 points for the meet to 52 for Stamford.

After the meet Saturday, Reily, beaming with happiness, said: "I'd rather beat them guys than beat Notre Dame."

Reily probably hasn't gotten over yet the 13-7 defeat handed his Wolves by the state-champs-to-be Stamford in football last fall. It was the closest Stamford came to tasting defeat during the year but this didn't help much in consoling Reily and the C-City gridders.

The track victory Saturday however, went a long way in relieving the bad taste of last fall's football defeat at the hands of the Bulldogs.

SMASHES SHOT PUT RECORD —Bill Nieder, above, of Kansas broke the national collegiate and Texas Relays shot put record in Austin, Tex., at the Texas Relays. He pitched the 16-pound steel ball 59 feet 9 inches, 6¾ inches better than the national collegiate mark set by Parry O'Brien of Southern California in 1953.

Tiger Nine Host Broncs Tomorrow

Bengals After 10th Straight Win In Tilt

After three strenuous weeks of play, the Tiger baseballers will taper off this week with only two games on tap.

The Bengal nine will open the week's activity here tomorrow against the Odessa Bronchos, starting at 3:45.

Then the Tigers will go to Big Spring to meet the Big Spring Steers for the fourth time this season in their final pre - district game.

Tiger coach Speedy Moffett, however, is dickering with Rotan for a game this week.

The Tigers will open play in the District 3-AA race April 17 against defending champion Abilene here.

The Tigers swept all four games played last week to run their current winning steak to nine. The Bengals now own a 13-4 record on the season.

Lanky Dwayne Prince will likely get the starting mound call for the Tigers in tomorrow's game with Odessa. Moffett, though, hasn't named his starter definitely since another of his front - liners, Alan Snead, is also ready for action.

Abilene continues to set the pace in District 3-AA with 13 victories in 14 starts.

The Eagles defeated Odessa last Friday, 5-1.

Wichita Falls has a 4-4 record and Vernon owns a 2-2 mark.

GIANTS' KATT BEANED

Kellner Snaps A's Loss Streak

By ED CORRIGAN
The Associated Press

Alex Kellner, a big 31-year-old lefthander certainly never will go down in the record books as a great pitcher, but he's an essential cog in the plans of the Kansas City Athletics.

Last year, Kellner was the most effective hurler on the A's staff with an 11-8 record, and manager Lou Boudreau was hoping he might regain some of the touch that enabled him to win 20 games back in 1949 when the club was in Philadelphia.

A good year from Kellner with an assist from the comebacking Bobby Shantz, and the A's possibly could move to the top of the second division in the American League.

Until yesterday, Kellner had been singularly unimpressive, losing two exhibition games and giving up 12 runs in 20 innings. Even the New York Yankees in their heyday needed better pitching than that to win.

But yesterday Keller tossed seven scoreless innings in the A's 4-0 triumph over Pittsburgh in San Antonio. He gave up only three hits and enabled the A's to break a five-game losing streak.

Arnold-Portocarrero handled the final two innings and faced only six Buccos. He too had been totally ineffective in previous appearances.

The second beaning of the exhibition season marred the New York Giants' 10-3 victory over the Cleveland Indians in Dallas. Ray Katt, New York catcher was hit on the head by Art Houtteman in the seventh innings. X-rays at Baylor Hospital were negative, but Katt was held there overnight.

The big fireworks of the Sunday schedule were provided by the Baltimore Orioles, one of the weakest-hitting teams in the American League. The Orioles found the range for 24 hits against Chicago in Corpus Christi and went on to batter the Cubs, 9-6.

Dave Philley, Bob Nelson and Tito Francona all hit homers for the winners and righthander Ray Moore yielded only four hits in the first seven innings.

The world champion Brooklyn Dodgers upended the Milwaukee Braves, 12-2, in Nashville; the Yankees edged the Phillies, 4-2, in New Orleans; the St. Louis Cardinals outslugged the Chicago White Sox, 8-6, in Memphis and the Cincinnati Redlegs halted the Washington Senators, 9-6, in Charlotte.

Gil Hodges returned the Brooklyn lineup after an absence of a week because of a pulled muscle and celebrated with a home run—one of the 17 safeties the Brooks collected against the Braves. Junior Gilliam led with four hits.

The Yanks' Bob Turley held off the Phillies for seven innings, but weakened in the eighth. Tom Morgan had to rescue him. Morgan, himself, needed a fine catch by centerfielder Tony Kubek of Jim Greengrass' liner to get out of it.

In major-minor league games, the Boston Red Sox cut down Birmingham of the Southern Association, 6-3, in Birmingham, and the Detroit Tigers trampled Houston of the Texas League, 6-1, in Houston.

Carswell Airman Wins Bowling Tournament

WICHITA FALLS (AP)—Al Damico of Carswell Air Force Base, Fort Worth, got 1,764 pins yesterday to win the all-events title of the second annual Air Force World-Wide Bowling Tournament at Sheppard Air Force Base.

The six highest scorers in the all-events will represent the Air Force in the American Bowling Congress at Rochester, N.Y.

In addition to Damico they are Charles Meredith, Gray AFB; Donald Calaman, Westover AFB; J. P. Scheid, Little Rock AFB; John Sands, Ashiya AFB (Japan); and Ralph Doll, Nagoya AFB (Japan).

The Southwest Conference won the all-events team crown with 9830 pins. Doubles winners were Meredith and Damico with 1173 pins, and Arnie Selva of Sheppard won the singles title with 607.

BASEBALL BRIEFS

Phillies Mix Vets, Youth In Building Club

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—While other baseball teams turn to the youth movement in an effort to build pennant winners, the Philadelphia Phillies are using the "interim operation."

That's the way General Manager Roy Hamey explains the signing of a crop of players past the 30-year age mark in the past year. Asked how the veterans fitted in with the Phillies' building program, Hamey replied:

"They don't. They're part of an interim operation. They're signed to maintain or improve the position of the club until the young fellows develop."

Added to the roster this year were pitcher Marino Pieretti, 35, and outfielders Wally Westlake, 35, and Frank Baumholtz, 36.

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Manager Bobby Bragan says veteran pitcher Max Surkont has been impressive enough in spring training to warrant consideration for a starting berth with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Bragan said Surkont, whose best performances are usually in the early part of the season, before the hot weather sets in, will get another exhibition start soon in an effort to pin down a starting berth.

Surkont had been counted on mostly for relief work.

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Mickey Mantle is expected to give his healing right leg a test this week, probably when the New York Yankees play the Pirates in Pittsburgh Friday.

But it is doubtful if Mickey McDermott will get a chance to pitch for at least a week. The star southpaw hurler has been discharged from the hospital but still is weak from an attack of food poisoning suffered last week.

Mickey was supposed to pitch yesterday. Instead, Bob Turley checked the Philadelphia Phillies at New Orleans as the Yanks won 4-2.

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Manager Bill Rigley has put off for several days naming his New York Giants' varsity.

Snyder Nine Rips Post 9-3

The Snyder Athletics, a local amateur nine, defeated Post yesterday at Pony League Park in an exhibition game, 9-3.

James (Junk) Bowers went all the way for Snyder, scattering nine hits effectively.

Snyder collected 15 hits in the game with Tommy Prichard, Jimmy Bryant, Don Head, Max Coffee, Ray Weber and Bowers leading the way with two hits apiece.

Snyder scored four times in the opening frame and led all the way.

Klu Making Slow Recovery Of Injuury

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—Manager Birdie Tebbetts of the Cincinnati Redlegs is keeping a sharp watch on the condition of slugger Ted Kluszewski.

Kluszewski is working back into shape after being sidelined most of spring practice with a painful hip muscle injury.

Tebbetts decided to keep the big first sacker on the bench in yesterday's game with the Washington Senators. "Just allowing him to sit one out," the manager said.

Kiuszewski, in pre-game batting practice yesterday, hit one over the right field fence and said with a smile, "No strain or pain developed."

Bill Jurges, Washington Senator coach, is responsible for the infield trial Jack Brandt received this spring. Jurges, while helping coach St. Louis Cardianl infielders, noticed how well Brandt fielder ground balls. Brandt was an outfielder at Rochester.

Al Weill, manager of heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano, once teamed with George Raft as a professional dancer.

Burke Rallies To Win Masters

By MERCER BAILEY

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—A friendly puff of wind blew Jack Burke Jr. right into the 1956 Masters golf championship.

Burke breezed in to claim the crown after amateur Ken Venturi and "old pro" Cary Middlecoff blew up and out of the championship picture in one of the wildest finishes in Masters history.

The small, 33-year-old Texan came from eight strokes back to capture his first major championship yesterday with a one-over-par 71 for a 289 total. Venturi, the amateur stylist who had kept the pros playing second fiddle all the way, soared to an 80 and 290. Middlecoff, the lean, cagy veteran who won last year, took a 77 and 291.

Once again the formidable Augusta National course, with its 6,965 yards of wooded fairways and gigantic greens, kept alive two traditional Masters jinxes: (1) no amateur has ever won it and (2) no winner has evern been able to repeat the next year.

It was a heartbreaking loss for Venturi, the 24-year-old auto salesman who captured the golfing world's fancy. It was tough on Middlecroff to look back on the chances he muffed.

But Burke's victory was a popular one, for he is one of the best-liked golfers in the game.

Sam Snead, a three-time winner of the masters, and Lloyd Mangrum, who usually finishes high among the leaders here, tied for fourth at 292. Snead matched Burke's 71, Mangrum shot a 72.

Next came Dug Ford and Jerry Barber at 294, then Ben Hogan, Shelley Mayfield and Tommy Bolt at 296. Mayfield shot a closing 74, Hogan and Barber 75s, Bolt 76 and Ford 77.

Par for the Augusta National is 36-36—72.

The tournament was won—and lost—on the 71st hole, and the wind which buffeted this storied course most of the final three rounds played a major role.

Frog 9 Holds Slim Lead In SWC Race

By The Associated Press

Texas Christian's Horned Frogs lead the Southwest Conference baseball race toward the halfway mark boasting a margin of one game. They could lose that this week as the league plays six conference games with the Frogs battling Texas at Austin in two of them.

TCU won two games out of three last week to cling to the top rung. The Frogs started out by taking a 5-4 licking from Southern Methodist, but they rallied to whip Texas A&M, the 1955 champion, in a two-game series. The Frogs won the first game 5-1 and the second 2-0. The twin defeat did not tumble A&M out of the race but it seriously dented the Aggie hopes.

Southern Methodist had the biggest week of any of them. The Methodists, who lost their first two conference games, came back for the decision over TC and beat Texas twice. The Methodists won the first game 15-10 and the second 3-2.

Baylor nosed Texas 5-4 but was held to a split with Rice. After the Bears had walloped the Owls 7-2 in the first game, Rice came back for a 5-1 decision in the second.

Rice takes on Sam Houston State at Houston in a nonconference game Monday. Wednesday Southern Methodist plays Dallas of the Texas League while Rice takes on Texas Lutheran at Seguin.

Friday and Saturday Baylor meets Texas A&M at College Station, Texas Christian plays Texas at Austin and Southern Methodist engages Rice at Houston.

Colaviato Due To Stay With Indians—Lopez

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP)—Rocky Colavito, 22-year-old outfielder, has "a real good chance" today to stick with the Cleveland Indians, said Manager Al Lopez.

The chief of the Tribe admitted he had doubts about Colavito at the start of spring training because of the Rock's trouble with curve balls.

"He has improved quite a bit, in the last week especially," Lopez said. "He follows the ball better and the curve doesn't fool him as often."

Lopez also is pleased that Colavito has hit few home runs.

"The reason he hasn't hit many home runs is because he has cut down on his swing," Lopez explained. "That's a good sign. He's more interested in meeting the ball than in knocking a few out of the park."

Flowers Climbs In Cardinal Ranks

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP)—Hard-firing Ben Flowers has projected himself to the front in a battle with Larry Jackson for the No. 2 spot on the St. Louis Cardinal pitching staff.

Flowers shut out the Chicago White Sox the last six innings, allowing only five hits, as the Redbirds rallied to win yesterday at Memphis, Tenn., 8-6. Jackson, in his first bad showing of the spring, gave up the six runs.

Manager Fred Hutchinson indicated that unless Willard Schmidt returns to form, the 6-4 Flowers might shoulder his way into the Big Four.

Reese Returns To Dodger Lineup

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Pee Wee Reese, Dodgers veteran shortstop, apparently has recovered from a serious back injury and a sore arm which has plagued him during spring training.

He stood up under a stern test yesterday at Nashville as the world champions thumped Milwaukee 12-2. On one play he went far into the hole for a smash by Hank Aaron, made a sudden body-jerking stop and threw him out—like the Reese of old.

Dallas Eagles Will Need Help To Match 1956's Flag Winner

By JERE R. HAYES
Sports Director,
Dallas Times Herald
Written for The Associated Press

DALLAS (AP)—The Dallas Eagles, defending full-season champions of the Texas League, need help if they are to match their 1956 record. They are considered as strong for opening day as last season except in catching. They need another infielder.

As the only Class AA club with a working agreement with the New York Giants, Dallas has first shot at the athletes turned back by Class AAA Minneapolis and may get help direct from the big club, as it did last year.

Replacing such stars as catcher Ray Murray, first baseman Bill White and pitchers Red Murff and Pete Burnside, all graduated to higher company, isn't simple.

Manager Red Davis has high hopes of getting Murray back from the Giants. Carl Hubbell, farm director, has made no promise, but he has indicated there is better than a 50-50 chance. The catching now is handled by Bob Schmidt, who hit .265 with Danville last year, and Ray Dabek, who hit .220 for Minneapolis.

The infield offers Hal Holland, recently acquired from Memphis, and Mickey Sullivan, the former Baylor star who was farmed out last season, at first; Alex Cosmidis and Frank Murray, holdovers at second; Jim Davenport, a most promising rookie from El Dorado, at third, and Ken Rodgers, rangy youngster from St. Cloud, at short. Rodgers could be the sensation of the Texas League. Standing 6-3, he is agile as a cat and has a good eye and good power at bat. Either Murray or Cosmidis will protect the keystone sack, with the other serving as utility.

The Eagles may get Lee Tate back from Minneapolis. Then either Murray or Cosmidis would have to go, for Tate is a much better man with the bat. Davis has a bid in for the return of Ossie Virgil, last year's hot corner guardian, if he doesn't stick with Minneapolis.

Wiley Moore, Art Dunham and Bobby Prescott, the first two holdovers and the latter from Hollywood, give the Eagles three great defensive performers in the outfield. They are not long ball hitters. Ray Maurer, hard-hitting service returnee from St. Louis, has just been assigned to Dallas by Minneapolis and he may supply the long ball hitting. He hit .336 with St. Cloud in 1953.

Don Taussig, with Sioux City last season, can hit a long ball and has a chance of breaking in.

The pitching stacks up fine despite the loss of Murff and Burnside, who won 45 games last season.

Jim Singleton, a clever southpaw from Johnstown, should be a consistent winner. John Fitzgerald, another lefty who is up from Danville, has stuff if he can master control.

From last year's staff the Eagles have Tommy Bowers, Jim Tugerson, Joe Kotrany and Hisel Patrick. Bowers is a cinch to stick around. The others will have to fight for their jobs. All are right-handers.

The overall picture is bright. With what they have on hand and what they may reasonably expect from the New York Giants, the Eagles should be right in the fight from opening day.

Paper Claims Dispute May Set Off War

LONDON (AP)—Britain's two biggest newspapers asserted today that the Israeli-Egyptian dispute might explode into World War III because of what they described as inertia on the part of the U. S. government.

"Only the United States can play decisive cards in this situation now," said columnist William Neil Connor in the Daily Mirror. "Economic aid is not enough."

"The tragedy is that neither the ailing President (Eisenhower) nor the impenetrable (Secretary of State) Dulles has apparently the wit or courage to deal with this perilous situation."

Rene MacColl of the Daily Express, a former correspondent in Washington, addressed an open letter to Eisenhower.

"We all know you are a brave man," he said. "We all remembr how you were willing to take big decisions. Please go on taking big decisions — now, tomorrow, next day. Please don't wait until after elections are over in November before you feel free to take any more decisions.

"Because if you do, even bigger events than the American election may by then have swamped the world."

Both newspapers are nominally independent. The Mirror leans toward policies of Britain's Labor party and the Express generally favors the Conservative government of Prime Minister Eden. Together they sell about 8½ million copies a day.

The Laborite Daily Herald joined in the chorus of alarm with a statement that the United States, Britain and France should "affirm jointly now that they will give prompt military assistance to whichever side becomes the victim of aggression."

Some commentators expressed anger at what they regarded as Dulles' support of Egyptian Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser in his bid for Arab leadership.

Laborer Held In New York For Slaying

NEW YORK (AP)—Frank Day, 21, laborer arrested by the FBI in the slaying of Airman Roger Timm of Abilene Air Force Base, was called up for arraignment today.

Day is charged with unlawful flight from Oklahoma to avoid prosecution for murder and interstate transportation of a stolen car.

FBI agents arrested Day in a Bowery hotel yesterday. James Kelly of the FBI said Day was a dishonorable discharge from the Army.

Timm, of Evanston, Ill., was found shot dead alongside a road near Madill, Okla., Feb. 21. He had left his Evanston home Feb. 13 in his father's car en route to Texas.

The bloodstained car, a 32-caliber bullet imbedded in the door, was recovered in San Antonio a week before Timm's body was found.

Kelly said "The investigation had connected Day with the recovered car." He would not elaborate.

Kelly said Day served three years in the Army, including a tour in Korea. He was dishonorably discharged Dec. 8, 1955, after having been assigned for about a year to the Army Pictorial Center in New York.

The FBI said Day remained in New York after his discharge until early February, when he "departed suddenly."

He returned in March and was registered in the hotel under the name of Frank Benton.

Plane Crash Injures Three

FORT WORTH (AP)—Engine failure caused the crash of a private plane five miles south of Bembroke yesterday, injuring three Dallas residents.

Olin Haley of the Civil Aeronautics Administration said when the engine of the four-passenger Navion failed, the pilot tried to land in a pasture but undershot and hit the south bank of Clear Fork of tahe Trinity River.

Harry Boucher, 36, the pilot, fractured his spine, ankle and jaw and had multiple internal injuries. His condition was critical.

Claude Smith, 21, and his wife, 19, suffered possible internal injuries and cuts. Both were in fairly good condition.

The three were en route from Dallas to Abilene to attend a model airplane meet. Mrs. Smith was found unconscious inside the plane and had to be pulled from the wreckage. The men were thrown free.

Burglars Enter Rusk Bank And Post Office

MOUNT ENTERPRISE, Tex. (AP)—The Merchants Planners State Bank and the post office were broken into Saturday night by bandits who smashed the knobs off safes but left without taking any money.

Rusk County Sheriff Herman Orr said "I don't think the men who broke into the places knew what they were doing. They sure didn't know how to open a safe," he said. The break-ins were discovered yesterday.

Orr said after leaving the bank and post office the men broke into a general store in this town of 700 or 800 persons and took between $400 and $800 worth of clothing.

Two FBI agents and a post office inspector are investigating.

KILLED IN PLANE CRASH—Maj. Gen. Floyd Wood, 47, and a fellow Air Force officer were killed when their T-33 jet trainer crashed and burned shortly after a takeoff from Friendship International Airport at Baltimore, Md. Wood was deputy commander for research and development of the Air Research and Development Headquarters in Baltimore

Bowler Is Worried About Perfect Game

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Tony Czernicki of Milwaukee, after rolling a perfect game of 300 in the state bowling tournament here, accepted the congratulations of his friends and remarked:

"The only thing that worries me is that I told my wife I'd quit if I ever bowled a perfect game. I'm afraid she'll remember."

Three Killed In Three-Car Wreck Sunday

By The Associated Press

Three persons were killed and five children were injured in a three-car pile-up at Amarillo during a dust storm Sunday night in one of the weekend's worst traffic accidents in Texas.

The dead were Joseph Gross, 24, and Johnnie Drennen, 42, both of Los Angeles, and an unidentified woman, about 25.

Police said a car driven by the woman sideswiped one driven by Charles Wilms of Los Angeles and crashed head-on into another car occupied by Gross and Drennen. Five children in the California group were injured. Wilms was not hurt.

Traffic took 11 of the 18 deaths due to violence reported in Texas over the weekend.

Three Plainview residents were killed in a collision six miles east of Terrell on Highway 80 Sunday. The were Molly Keys, 65; Claude Carter, 52; and his wife, Faye Nickerson Carter, 50.

Kaufman County deputy Sheriff Roy Brockway said an oncoming car glanced off another car and crashed into the Carter auto.

Malissa Alexander, 46, was killed in a head-on collision on the Sabine River bridge on the Gladewater-Tyler highway near Gladewater Sunday.

Bill Laurie, owner of radio REBE in Jacksonville, drowned when his boat capsized while he was fishing west of Jacksonville Sunday.

At Austin, 3-month-old Brenda Turnipseed died of a broken neck when she was caught between a dedpost and a matteress in a bed at a neighbor's home Sunday.

Alvan Jasek, 26, and John Spender, 60, both of San Angelo, were killed in the collision of an auto and a pickup truck near San Angelo Sunday night. Alvan Wallace, 46, also of San Angelo, was in a serious condition.

Arsonist Suspected In Lubbock Blaze

LUBBOCK (AP)—Police said today an arsonist may have set the fire which damaged the new multi-million dollar coliseum-city auditorium.

Fire Marshal A. C. Black said "the fire was not accidental."

Another city official said the fire appeared to have started on the outside of the roof.

Damage was set at several thousand dollars. Only one side of the dome-shaped roof appeared damaged. Some smoke and water damage was visible in the lower portion of the building.

Electronic Airplane Sentry Being Established In Arctic

By ELTON C. FAY
AP Military Reporter

AT AN ARCTIC RADAR SITE (AP)—Ninety tons of airplane and cargo ease down to the ice runway of a lake, 1,000 miles from civilization.

Another load of freight is delivered in the race to build the Distant Early Warning Line, called the "Dewline."

By military and commercial aircraft, by ship, by tractor-drawn sled trains, close to 200,000 tons of material has been toted in the last year to build the warning line along the 3,000 miles at the top of the American continent.

When Dewline is ready, perhaps as much as two years from now, it may provide a plane-proof electronic sentry system standing watch for air invaders.

The eastern end of Dewline will be on Baffin Island, across from Greenland.

The western end is at Cape Lisburne, Alaska, about 200 miles southwest of Point Barrow. The cape is only about 200 miles from an eastern tip of Siberia, only 100 miles from the international boundary which extends out into the Arctic Ocean from Bering Strait.

Newsmen who traveled the 3,000 mile stretch of Dewline asked if it would be possible for an aggressor to jam the system with electronic equipment.

Maj. Gen. James E. Briggs, a deputy chief of staff of the U.S. Air Force which is building the line, says "there is no electronic emanation put out in space which can't be jammed." He says everything possible is being done to prevent jamming.

There were those who wondered if Dewline, equipped now to detect manned planes, such as jet bombers, could cope with ballistic missiles fired over the polar area. Briggs' reply was that "when ballistic missiles become an immediate threat, we'll have to design to meet them."

The C124 Globemasters are probably the most impressive cargo carriers of the whole fantastic transportation system. Globemasters of the 18th Air Force, assigned the job of hauling heavy equipment, have accumulated thousands of flying hours shuttling between the United States and Dewline.

The arctic cold is both a hindrance and help. It imposes almost intolerable pressures on crews who must maintain and operate aircraft. But it also congeals lake surfaces to ice more than five feet thick and blankets barrens with snow which can be compacted into airstrips.

Burma Road and the Great Wall of China were comparatively easy to build. The materials were at hand. The builders of Dewline must bring a vast variety of equipment from points thousands of miles distant.

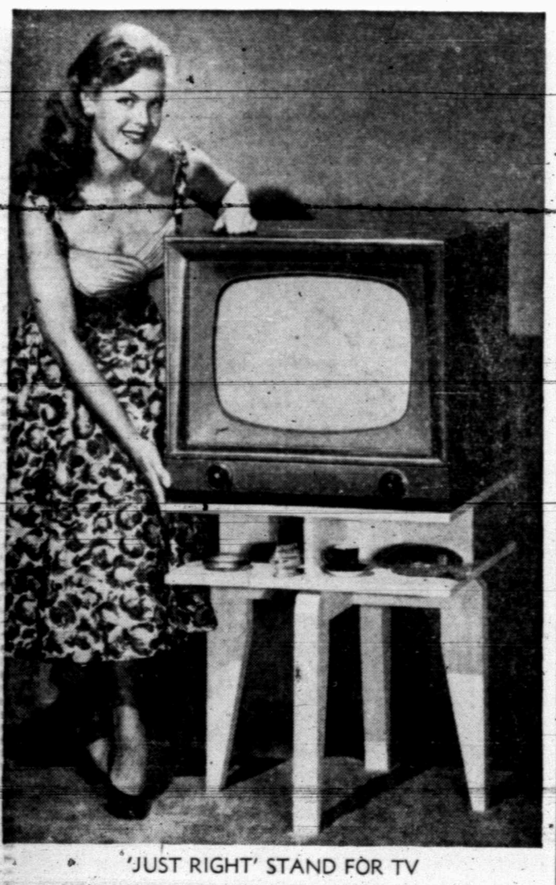

What the Western Electric Co. and its subcontractors need for this Dewline job is enormous in quantity and variety — huge bulldozers, tons of steel and cement, prefabricated buildings, wire and cable by the hundreds of miles, food to feed thousands of hngry workmen.

The transportation item will figure heavily in whatever Dewline finally costs—perhaps a billion dollars or more. The greater percentage of the winter shipment now moves by contract commercial aircraft.

In the commercial airlift have been 81 U.S. and Canadian planes. Day and night, they come winging in from the south, leave their loads, head back home for more.

Aircraft wrecks add to the transportation cost. The commercial carriers have lost 18 planes and two lives.

Maj. Gen. Chester McCarty, commander of the 18th Air Force, reports that of the 106 aircraft his outfit has used in the airlift three have been in accidents. One was minor; another crash landed but many of its parts were salvageable; the third was a total loss. No lives were lost.

Eva Gabor Is Married

NEW YORK (AP) — Actress Eva Gabor and Dr. John E. Williams, Beverly Hills, Calif., surgeon, were married here yesterday and left by auto for a honeymoon in Connecticut.

It was the third marriage for the glamorous 31-year-old actress and the second for the bridegroom 35.

When asked about a family the bride said: "We want a big family—maybe six, twelve."

Williams said they will live in California, with his wife "going back and forth to New York."

The marriage was the second in a week among the beautiful Gabor sisters. Magda Gabor was married the preceding Sunday to Arthur Gallucci, New York City industrialist. They are on a six-month European honeymoon.

The third sister, Zsa Zsa, was matron of honor yesterday.

Commenting on reports that she will be married this month in Los Angeles to contractor Hal Hayes, Zsa Zsa said:

"He is the most wonderful man I know. We expect to be married, but there is no definite date. I have several public commitments."

Theft Is Investigated

DALLAS (AP)—The FBI had under investigation today the theft of three Army carbines stolen from Adamson High School Saturday night. Police said they were certain it was the work of juveniles because the rifles were stripped of some of the working parts. The words "I love you" also were smeared in ink across some papers on a teacher's desk.

For years Chevron men have been doing business in your neighborhood under a sign like this

And the familiar cream-green-and-burgundy Chevron Stations have been southwestern motorists' favorite stopping place for the finest motoring supplies and service.

Now Chevron Stations are blossoming out in bright, brand new red-and-white colors, and will be identified by the sparkling new red-white-and-blue sign shown above.

But nothing will be changed except the sign and the colors. The same dealers will be there to serve you — reliable, neighborly, independent business men of your community, with trained, expert attendants. They'll have the same top-quality Standard Oil petroleum products and Atlas tires, batteries, accessories. Same liberal budget plan, too — and the same Credit Card facilities. Of course, until all Chevron Stations have time to change their "dress," Chevron National Credit Cards will be honored at Chevron Stations that display either the new or the old Chevron sign.
