C-CITY, LORAINE PASTORS RETURN

3 New Ministers to Methodist Churches

Colorado City and Loraine Methodist ministers return to the same pulpits for another year, but new pastors are assigned to Westbrook, Buford-Dunn, Camp Springs-Ira.

Appointments announced Friday at the closing session of Methodist Northwest Texas Conference in Abilene returned Rev. Darris Egger to First Methodist Church and Rev. L. Klel Quesenberry to St Luke Methodist in Colorado City, and Rev. Frank Story to First Methodist in Loraine.

For Egger the ensuing year will be his fourth at First Methodist. Quesenberry will begin his second year at St. Luke and Story starts his third year in Loraine.

Newcomer pastors for the area are Rev. Billy Jack Culwell, Camp Springs-Ira; Rev. C. T. Jackson, First Methodist in Westbrook, and Rev. A. Neely Motes, Buford-Dunn.

Jackson who was pastor last year at Forsan, succeeds Rev. Larry Sullivan who moves to Pioneer Memorial near Merkel in the Abilene District.

Sullivan, in addition to serving as minister at Westbrook, also was employed in the Colorado City J. C. Penney store.

New superintendent for the Methodists' Big Spring District which includes Mitchell County, is Rev. Lloyd V. Hamilton, minister for the last nine years at First Methodist Church in Borger.

Dr. H. Clyde Smith, who has been Big Spring District superintendent, becomes pastor of First Methodist in Big Spring.

Four other ministers, who in previous years have been prominent in Methodist work here, return to their same positions. Rev. Clarence Collins begins his fourth year as pastor of Lubbock's Asbury Methodist, Rev. Jack Ellzey starts his third year as pastor of Littlefield's First Methodist, Rev. Herschel Thurston returns as pastor of Hereford's First Methodist, and Rev. J. E. Shewbert continues as superintendent of the Plainview District.

District Judge Eldon Mahon of Colorado City was named by the Northwest Texas Conference as one of five layman delegates to the Genral Conference of the Methodist Church next April in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Mahon, who served as a teller for balloting by lay delegates at the Northwest Conference, was re-named a trustee of McMurry College and a member of the Northwest Conference board of education.

Egger, the First Methodist minister here, was renamed chairman of the Northwest Conference's special study committee on extended ministries and conolidations, and re-appointed member of the re-districting & boundaries committee and secretary of adult work for Big Spring District.

In addition, representatives of the Fort Worth engineering firm — Freese, Nichols and Endress — will be in the group.

* * *

FRANK KELLEY, head of Colorado City Chamber of Commerce water resources program, personally invited the CRMWD board of directors to Colorado City. And the Tuesday meeting is in direct response to that invitation.

On the agenda of official business for the board will be the ratification of several small work contracts for CRMWD projects and a general progress report on a pipeline project extending across Mitchell County.

R. H. Fulton of Lubbock is contractor for the pipeline job — a 51.5 mile project linking CRMWD's Lake Thomas with Sun Oil Company's water flooding project south of Colorado City in the Silver area.

"BONUS DOLLARS" & BACK-TO-SCHOOL

Merchants Plan Shopping Events

Two new trade and shopping events are on tap for Colorado City shoppers this summer.

Initial plans for the events — beginning in July and tying in with back-to-school shopping in August — were made Friday at a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce merchants committee.

"Bonus Dollars" will begin in mid-July, probably July 15, and continue through July and into August.

"Back-to-School" shopping will begin August 15 — emphasizing special features for all the family as well as students in public schools and college.

Climaxing the "Bonus Dollars" season will be a special "Bonus Dollars Auction" during the initial phase of the "back-to-school" event.

"Bonus Dollars" will be bonus paper money given free to shoppers when they make purchases at participating stores and businesses. Then, the "Bonus Dollars" will be the recognized money in the August auction featuring free merchandise from the "Bonus Dollars" stores.

"The more 'Bonus Dollars' a person saves," said Willie Landau, chairman of the merchants committee, "the more he will be able to bid for the merchandise at the auction."

Named at a two-man committee to map final plans for the "Bonus Dollars" event are Charles Freeman of Ben Franklin Store and Luke Nichols of J. C. Penney.

Freeman and Nichols, after detailing the event, will call on stores and businesses to explain the program and secure their community-wide participation.

The merchants committee, also in its Friday meeting, tabbed August Dollar Day as the "Back to-School" Dollar Day and set the September Dollar Day for Sept. 3, Tuesday and the day following Labor Day.

TO NOLAN COUNTY LINE

Surveyor Hired For Area Road

Commissioners Court has employed an engineer to survey right of way for a road in southeastern Mitchell County linking with oil development area in southwestern Nolan County.

Bob Thompson of San Angelo, formerly of Colorado City, is the surveyor.

The surveying will be for a route about 5 miles in length to the Nolan County line at the boundary of Mitchell's Precincts 3 and 4 in the Bomar Ranch.

County officials have been cooperating with oil and business leaders within the county and Colorado City Chamber of Commerce for more than a year in working toward the link.

Nolan County officials already have secured right of way for Nolan's portion of the link, which will extend east from Mitchell line to connect with the Maryneal highway.

The Mitchell County surveying project will be preliminary to actual right of way acquisition. Thompson will survey a center line for the proposed route and then Commissioners Court will inspect it for the most feasible right of way.

The survey will be for 100-foot width and to State Highway Department specifications so that the road can be converted to farm to market designation, if necessary.

However, the project is being originated and carried out in its present stage as a Mitchell County job at Mitchell County expense.

JAIL FOR DIVORCED FATHER

No Pay - No Freedom

Fathers who shirk child support payments can expect little sympathy from County Judge Elmer Martin.

If you doubt it, then ask Robert Huff, a young father who has neglected payments for his 4-year old son since divorce.

Huff is in County Jail sitting out a 10-day sentence the judge administered Tuesday. And, after 10 days he will have to pay out $27.50 in court cost or erase the expense with more days behind bars at the going jail rate.

That's not all. Huff will have to keep support payments moving regularly to his son, after release from jail or face another charge of child desertion.

A repeat conviction is even worse — becoming a felony with prison, not just jail, as a possible punishment.

Huff was hailed into court on child desertion by his wife, now re-married, after a long period of failing to pay child support.

Although pleading guilty, he told Judge Martin his earnings had been meager, that he had been without a job a good part of the time.

But testimony revealed Huff kept a car in operation, had traveled to Missouri and, recently, had refused to turn over to his son's upkeep any money of a small check he had received.

The judge told the defendant in court he was keeping the jail sentence light in view of Huff's promise to divide his future income with his son and to seek steady work.

PLANTING GRASSES

SCS Gives Seedbed Preparation Details

Stubble from a forage sorghum, red top cane or hegari, for example — makes a good dead-litter seedbed, Soil Conservation district conservationist Allen Sheppard said Wednesday.

"A dead-litter cover is as essential to preparing to plant native grasses in old cultivated fields as water is to a fish," Sheppard said. With a dead-litter seedbed, he noted, "you plant grass directly in a cover of dead litter.

"You will, of course, have to establish the dead-litter seedbed the year before planting the grass. Plow or disk your land as soon as weeds begin growth and keep clean of weeds until time for you to drill the dead litter," Sheppard said.

Detailed instructions for making a good dead-litter seed bed follows: drill the cane or hegari at the rate of 12 pounds per acre to give you a high-quality forage. You can use a regular small grain drill to drill sorghum to a depth of 1 to 2½ inches. Plant dead litter when you would normally plant sorghums but not later than July 1.

If growth of sorghum is such that a seed crop would normally mature in late summer or early fall shred or mow sorghums stubble to a heighth of 6 to 10 inches. Leave all cut material undisturbed on the soil surface. Then, before frost, shred any regrowth to the original stubble height of 6 to 10 inches.

CHURCH RITES IN MODESTO

Wanda Free Is Weds to James Escobar in California

Wedding rites in Our Lady of Fatima Church of Modesto, California, united Wanda Ruth Free and James L. Escobar on Sunday, April 28, at 4:30 p. m.

The bride, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Free, 641 Pine St., was given in marriage by her uncle, J. D. Boyd of Modesto. Rev. Kennedy officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Escobar, 410 Park Ave., Modesto are the parents of the groom.

The bridal gown was fashioned of ballerina length chantilly lace accented by long-sleeves and round scalloped neckline. Her shoulder length veil held by a tiara crown completed the attire. She carried a bouquet of orchids arranged on a white prayer book, and ribbon streamers.

Miss Linda Boyd, cousin of the bride, performed the maid of honor duties attired in a ballerina length pale blue taffeta frock with short sleeves and complimented by a white eyelet overskirt. Completing her dress was her shoulder length veil and carnation bouquet.

Best man was Steven J. Escobar, brother of the groom, and ushers were Gene Fusi and Dean Sexton. Dorothy Carl was the flower girl and Vincent Bizzini served as ring bearer.

The reception was held in the S. O. S. Club of Modesto, with catering provided by the club. Decorations were runners of Lilies of the Valley, arranged on the bridal table accented by crepe paper streamers and bows.

As her going-away ensemble, the bride chose a blue and white knit suit with white accessories and her wedding corsage.

The bride attended Colorado High School and the groom is a graduate of Turlock High.

Following their honeymoon, the couple have made their home at 103 G Street, Modesto.

FOR YOUNGSTERS

Summer Reading Program Begins

Mitchell County youngsters (primary, elementary, junior high and teen agers) are invited to participate in the "worlds largest reading club", sponsored by Federation Library and Texas State Library.

Membership to the club is free, Mrs. Boyd Dozier, librarian, announced.

Reading logs are provided to record books read during the June 1 — August 31 dates of the vacation reading program. A certificate will be issued to each member who completes 12 books on his reading level prior to the August 31 deadline.

All youngsters in Mitchell County and the surrounding area served by the Federation Library are urged to register for the event, said Mrs. Dozier. "Reading is fun, just as the Library Week slogan points out — 'Reading, the fifth freedom — enjoy it!", the librarian remarked.

Dr. Dorman H. Winfrey, director and librarian, Texas State Library, Austin, reports "the Texas Reading Club has already gained 16,000 members and last year's record enrollment of more than 20,000 will be surpassed."

The purpose of the club is to encourage and stimulate interest in reading among the younger age group.

News from the Library

"JOHN SLAUGHTER'S WAY," James Wycoff (Doubleday.) From his duel with the Bad Man from Bitter Creek, this novel goes back to John Slaughter's boyhood to tell the story of the short, black-eyed man from Texas Ranger, trail boss, and Marshall of Tombstone, who could smell danger and aways met it coolly and swiftly.

"HORNBLOWER AND THE HOTSPUR," C. S. Forester (Little.) In this book, young Horatio Hornblower, bridegroom of one day, puts out to sea with his new command, the Hotspur, to guard against Napoleon's invasion build-up. Forester knows all there is to know about the British navy in the 19th century. And if you like salty adventure tales, superbly told, this is your book.

"GRIFFIN'S WAY," Frank Yearby (Dial.) A Southern historical romanic, violent and with a maximum of plot. Yerby sets his story in 1870, around a beautiful Yankee nurse hired to take care of an aristocratic young Mississippian whose sanity is a casualty of war. More message than usual—nurse and patient join forces against the local Ku Klux Klan.

"THE VIKING BOOK OF POETRY OF THE ENGLISH-SPEAKING WORLD," edited by Richard Aldington. The revised and enlarged two volume edition now re-issued in one moderately priced volume. Over 1300 poems, representing 375 poets from Beowulf to the present including American as well as British and Commonwealth poets. With an introductory survey by the editor.

"IN THE CLEARING: New Poems by Robert Frost," (Holt.) This is the first collection of new poems by Robert Frost to appear since 1947. No literary figure alive today is more closely identified than Robert Frost with all that is fine and strong in our heritage.

"FACE OF NORTH AMERICA, The Natural History of a Continent," Peter Farb. John Kieran calls this book "The best single volume on outdoor North America that I have yet seen." It is designed to give the amateur naturalist or perceptive traveler an understanding of the multiple forces that have created the landscapes and wildlife of the continent.

"WASHINGTON WIFE, Journal of Ellen Maury Slayden from 1897-1919," Ellen Maury Slayden, Introduction by Walter Prescott Webb. Ellen Maury Slayden was the wife of James Luther Slayden, Texas delegate to the House of Representatives. An inveterate diarist, the Virginia-born Mrs. Slayden kept a punctilious record of social, political and historical events.

"PRAYERS FROM THE ARK," translated by Rumer Godden from the French of Carmen Bernos de Gasztold. In the course of her travels in France, Rumer Godden found recently a little sheaf of poems written by the French poet Carmen Bernos de Gasztold and published in a small edition by the Benedictine Abbaye of Saint Louis du Temple at Igny, where the poet lives. She recognized them as a work of exceptional genius and exquisite charm, and arranged this happy collaboration, with herself as the translator and Jean Primrose as the illustrator.

The following is a list of new books just received at the Federation Library. They are available, by request, from Mrs. Boyd Dozier, librarian.

* * *

"WYOMING SUMMER," Mary O'Hara (Doubleday.) The author of "My Friend Flicka" writes about her life on a Wyoming ranch with her husband, caring for teenage "dude" boarders attempting to compose music, with warmly lively stories of animals, obstacles and pleasures.

"THE GREAT HUNGER," Cecil Woodham-Smith (Harper and Row.) The story of a great disaster which had long-reaching effects on the course of history on two continents. The failure in Ireland of the potato crop from 1845 to 1851 shattered some of the power of the Irish landlords and flooded the New World Kizzie who tries to keep the family together, first by running a school for girls, then by opening a fashionable "Health spa;" of her husband, who devotes his time to writing his Universal Cyclopedia; of their ex-Confederate son Tolley and the widow of their son, who had died fighting for with starving, typhus-ridden immigrants.

"MARTHA IN PARIS," Margery Sharpp (Little, Brown.) Martha, eighteen, chubby, and innocent, was sent to Paris to study art. But in Paris she met Eric and his mother, who let her use their bath once a week—and it was this that made a woman of the world of Martha. Serialized in "Cosmopolitan" as "The Creative Urge."

"DEAD WRONG," Roslyn S. Hastings (Avalon.) Pete Mandigo searches for the murderer of Noel Brunner, found dead in an armor costume from the Ice Show.

"THE DIPLOMAT AND THE GOLD PIANO," Margaret Scherf (Doubleday.) Henry and Emily Bryce had decorated the apartment for the new U. N. Ambassador from Gaad, here to borrow money for his African nation. So they had some explaining to do about the gold piano and a portrait of Marx and Engels — and the murder that followed.

"NURSE KILMER'S VOW," Virginia Holmgren (Avalon.) When Dr. Alex Blaine failed to show up at his own wedding because of a surgery call, bride-to-be nurse Terry Kilmer vowed to marry anybody but a doctor — the sooner the better.

"DEAD MEN RISE UP NEVER," Christopher Landon

Wyler incaflex

This Wyler Incaflex watch will be dropped 1000 feet to the ground from an airplane. In many previous tests of this kind, Wyler watches have not been damaged in any way — have kept right on running despite the tremendous shock.

This dramatic demonstration emphasizes the shock-resistant features of Wyler Incaflex. Of course it does not mean that you should slam this watch against the sidewalk or abuse it in any other way — after all a watch is a precision mechanism. But you have the firm guarantee that if the balance wheel, staff or jewels are damaged, they will be repaired or replaced free.

Ruth Coffey's CONVERSATION CORNER

Summer, like winter, spring and fall
Is not admired by one and all.
Summer's never viewed with favor
By those who prefer old winter's flavor.

Summer, like autumn, winter, spring
Blesses some—but has a sting
For those who like a colder season.
Man was never a creature of reason.

* * *

BUT aren't you glad, everybody, that God planned seasons and weather? To watch the performance-weary face of spring preen herself as she gets ready for that late date with summer—isn't it a special delight?

"While the earth remaineth, seedtime and harvest, and cold and heat, and summer and winter, and day and night shall not cease." (GENESIS VIII, 22.)

* * *

SUMMER is the time of getting reacquainted. Re-acquainted with school age children who bike boisterously around the block.

Re-acquainted with homemade sherbet . . . iced tea . . . homegrown fruits and garden vegetables . . . some new books, now that people can afford to miss the TV repeats.

Re-acquainted with all the pleasures which are purely part of summer. The swimming pool, a leisurely ride around the lake at twilight, a cook-out in the park and two baths every day.

* * *

SUMMER—which doesn't start officially anywhere except in West Texas until June 21—is also the time for getting re-acquainted with the fly swatter . . . the ant powder . . . the bug spray . . . the grass hopper, and any number of things that hop, skip, jump, crawl, buzz, sing and sting.

Summer's the time for dusting off the welcome mat. It's in summer that any number of friends, relatives, schoolmates and old acquaintances stop by for supper enroute to Ruidoso, Denver, Las Vegas and the Golden Gate.

* * *

Summer's the very nicest season
Unless you hate company for some strange reason.
