Parents Discuss Grouping In School Board Session

By Becky Werhan

Once again, the monthly school board meeting agenda was dominated by the large group of parents who have become regulars at the Monday night sessions.

Some 25 parents attended the meeting, held June 8 and discussed assertive discipline, secondary school grouping, more detailed record keeping of the board's meetings and other issues, including an incident in which a junior high student was severely injured in an unattended physical education class.

In other action, the board sanctioned the high school choir's acceptance of an invitation to an international festival in Vienna next year.

The board also awarded the school district depository bid to First National Bank, awarded a bid on portable buildings, discussed Texas Assessment of Basic Skills scores for county students, made plans for the disposal of the present Administration building and announced the resignations of four employees and the hiring of 11 new employees.

The issue of assertive discipline was brought before the board by parent Nancy Norrell. In an assertive discipline program, the student and parents share equal responsibility with the teacher in discipline. The child works with the teacher on a contract basis.

Board President Ottie

Mundine acknowledged that the program had "many fine points" and promised parents "we'll try to find out something more about it at our State Board convention."

In response to that, several parents and teachers present brought up the fact that John Clay from the regional Educational Service Center was available for lectures on the area of assertive discipline.

Gayle Atchley, a parent who had spoken to Clay about the discipline program told the board, "We would very much like you to write him."

Arrangements were agreed on for a session with Mr. Clay to be held at the VFW Hall possibly before the next school board meeting. A "town meeting" format will be used and Randow said, "We'll get some of these parents involved on this. Will you all volunteer for the phone committee?" to which most of the parents present agreed.

Sewer Expansion Plan Gets 2-1 Council Okay

By Pat Blair

A plan for the doubling of Rockport's sanitary sewer treatment plant will go to Austin this month on the strength of 2-1 approval from Rockport's city council with one abstention.

Aldermen Burt Mills and Murray McMillan voted in favor of the proposed facilities plan Monday night, June 8, following a public hearing on the matter. Alderman W.B. Allen cast the "nay" vote and Alderman Betty Jean Ward abstained.

The public hearing got underway at 7 p.m., with Jim O'Hara of Urban Engineering — Rockport's consulting engineering firm — explaining to those present that the proposed plan would increase the capacity of the city's existing sewage treatment plant from one million gallons per day to two million gallons a day.

O'Hara said the increase is needed to keep pace with projected population increases for Rockport and its service area during the next 20 years.

The proposal calls for a one-step expansion of the treatment plant and construction of a discharge line that would discharge effluent into Aransas Bay "approximately at the end of Traylor Avenue," O'Hara said.

The city presently discharges its effluent into Little Bay, but O'Hara said environmentalists are concerned that Little Bay would

Council Authorizes Land Survey For City Park

Some 4.66 acres of land just north of Rockport's Memorial Park is scheduled for survey as the city prepares to buy the land for additional park space.

The survey, which is expected to cost between $500 and $1000, was authorized during Monday night's Rockport city council meeting after city officials formally accepted a federal grant agreement awarding the city $40,000 in federal funds for the park land purchase.

In other action during the session, council members approved a request from commercial fishermen for permission to hold a fish fry around the boat ramp in Rockport's Turning Basin on Saturday, June 20.

Purpose of the fish fry is to raise fund to help commercial fishermen.

Council members heard a report from Kathleen Aikin with AIM Home Health Services a Rockport-based agency whose purpose is to provide health care and services to the homebound patient.

Mrs. Aikin told council members the agency serves both Aransas and San Patricio counties and said the purpose of being on Monday's agenda was to let council members "know we are out in the community and that we provide these services."

Council members accepted a petition requesting closing of a portion of Liberty Street east of Gagon and authorized appraisal and a survey of the land in question.

Costs of the appraisal and survey are to be borne by the property owner requesting the street closing.

Council members approved the placement of stop signs at the corner of Encino Drive and Harbor Drive in the Harbor Oaks Subdivision and tabled a request of the Assembly of God Church concerning a building permit application.

Council members felt additional study was needed on the church request because the church is locating partially on street right-of-way.

At the request of B&J Enterprises, the council reconsidered an earlier motion to deny the company's request for permission to operate a mobile refreshment stand on Rockport Beach.

The request was denied following reconsideration.

Council members approved replacement of an air conditioning unit at City Hall at a cost of $1251 after it was determined the old unit could not be repaired. Some $1000 is in the current budget for this item.

Auction Nets $60,000 For Art Association Fund

An estimated 300 bidders bid approximately $60,000 for 96 works of art in the Rockport Art Association's day-long auction Saturday, June 6, in the Paws & Taws Building.

High selling painting was one by Herb Booth, titled "Not Likely", that brought $7,100. Simon Michael's "The Hermit" was a close second, bringing $7,000 into the Art Association's building fund.

Purpose of the auction was to raise funds to help construct the proposed

Rockport Art Center, and Art Association President Cam Leonard said Monday he was "appreciative, primarily, and extremely happy with the way the community responded" to the event.

We didn't raise the amount we needed," Leonard added, "but we did well."

The Art Association was hoping to raise around $125,000 from Saturday's auction which was highlighted by the giving of door prizes as well as sales of works of art — primarily paintings — by artists from throughout Texas.

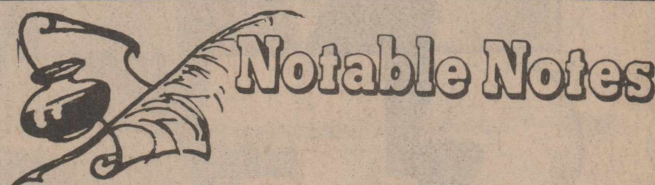

Seven door prizes were given away by Auction Chairman Joanne Haskell.

Door prize winners included Sam Canterbury, a Steve

Russell print donated by Estelle Stair Gallery; Vi Street, a brass plant tree donated by Island Interiors; Victoria Seager, a photograph by Jan Wendell, donated by the artist herself; Paul Karcher and Mable Ogle, plants from Pearson's Garden Center.

Other winners included Tommy Wilkerson, a basket of party needs from Crazy Daisy; Reba Rast, a clock donated by Moonshell Galleries; and Velma Cleveland, a stained glass ornament

Court Hears Wrecker Drivers' Complaints

Wrecker driver Doyle Parr spoke to the county commissioners' court on Monday, June 8, regarding the court's proposed new regulations for wreckers on the county rotation list.

Parr was representing the group of area wrecker drivers who had appeared before the commissioners at their last meeting two weeks ago.

At that time, after a lengthy debate on the new policy, Commissioner John Lee suggested that the drivers prepare "a list of don't likes" and bring them back to the court for consideration.

Most of the wrecker drivers' dissatisfaction with the policy concerned what they felt to be overly high insurance requirements for county-called wreckers. Parr told the court that the service owners were sure that their prices would have to rise in order to cover the cost of insurance if the

Austin at Wharf

KATIE HEPBURN HAS always been "my gal", and so she remains even at age 71. While I've never been a Barbara Walters fan I couldn't resist a program she produced last week, "Woman."

Shouldn't she have called it "women"? There were three, any one of whom might rate the accolade in any year — Hepburn, Lauren Bacall and Nancy Reagan. I list them in the order of their appearance on the program, and incidentally, in the order of my preference, Kitty's as well.

I fell in love with Hepburn before I was able to vote, and no one voted at age 18 then. Hepburn wasn't much older. Anyhow, over the years she never once let me down. Bacall wasn't at her best on the evening referred to. Maybe it was Walters? For certain Bacall was more entertaining when interviewed by Dick Cavett not so many months ago.

Nancy Reagan came across as the perfect lady — intelligent, articulate, the good wife and mother, all that a woman should be — just about anyone's ideal for the typical American woman.

Perhaps that was the trouble, in my case at least, when I rated her number three of the three. She was just too perfect — which brings me to observe that I might have warmed to her in a sort of human way if she'd just once dropped an earthy expletive somewhere in the interview.

In that respect both Hepburn and Bacall didn't fail me. Here let no one think or suspect that I regard profanity as criteria for being a lady.

In any event I was a bit shocked when by chance the program entered a conversation the next day with three very good and respected friends.

All placed Nancy at the top of the list. "She's a lady," said one. Heavy emphasis on "lady". Ordinarily the chap who said that and I have views that are pretty much in common.

In all honesty and without intent to be snobbish, neither of us much fancy women who are sluts, trulls or just plain common. My friend is as much a Bacall fan as I am, a Hepburn worshipper.

Reflecting upon the conversation, which was brief, I am obliged to confess that Reagan is the sort of lady every mother might set up as the sort of person she would have her daughter become — honest, sincere, faithful, a good mother. Certainly I can't knock that.

I suppose the whole thing boils down to what perhaps becomes an indisputable fact. The nation and the world, for so long as it bears any resemblance of sanity, must aspire to the Nancy Reagans.

If every woman were a Hepburn I suppose we'd be in one mell of a hess.

But who knows? A guy who regards Queen Elizabeth I, the Virgin Queen (as far as anyone can prove) as the greatest woman in history is hardly one whose estimates should be acceptable.

Anyhow, Dorothy Stanich in her Sunday Caller telly column summed Hepburn up as a "gutsy lady". Note, she said "lady". I'll only add, she's colorful!

WELL, THE TEXAS legislature in its just-ended session did at least a wee bit of little good. Stress "wee bit". Motorists henceforth will carry liability insurance, or else.

"Or else" means that if nabbed they'll be fined $75 to $200 bucks, plus suspension of driver's license. There's the rub. There will be all manner of ways for getting around that. Count on it.

For more years than I care to recall I have been an advocate of obligatory liability insurance. The fine bit is totally unnecessary. The simple cost-free way to enforce the law is to require every driver, when he renews his auto tags each year, to show proof of current insurance.

New and used cars? Easy with all the computer magic at hand. The sale of every car must be recorded, so it's less than a minute's work to check on the buyer.

An area daily newspaper endorsing the new law is at the same time sympathetic toward the driver who finds the insurance hard to afford. Nuts to that! Liability insurance is a small part of the cost of the most decrepit jalopy. I simply don't buy the argument.

MY HAT IS OFF TO A couple of guys, Aaron Schave and Ed Humphrey, new owners of the Black Swan, formerly Jim's Smokehouse near Rockport — a well-known eatery where the peacocks play.

Shave and Humphrey are establishing a summer dinner theatre. How well it will succeed remains to be seen. Certainly Rockport won't support it. No reflection on Rockport intended.

It is simply a case of a small town being unable to support such a venture on its own. It is going to take the encouragement of all towns in the area, including Corpus Christi.

Well, good luck to the Black Swan which opens this Thursday with the off-Broadway production of "The Fantasticks". If successful it will be a cultural plume in the South Texas hat. —ahab pigment.

The skin of all domestic animals is covered by a haircoat. The hair growth depends on the season of the year, nutrition, temperature and the state of the animal's health. There are various internal disorders (hormonal imbalances, nutritional deficiencies, and intoxications) which are manifested by thinning or loss of hair.

Under normal conditions, hair replacement in dogs takes place twice a year — in the spring and in the fall. Shedding lasts four weeks. Under various pathologic conditions, hair shedding may be prolonged through the entire year.

The glands of the skin are important for a healthy skin and hair coat. There are two types of skin glands: 1. The sweat glands, and 2. the sebaceous glands.

In dogs, it was once believed that sweat glands were present only in the digital pads. However, it has been proven that they are present over the entire body surface.

The sweat glands of dogs do not respond to normal heat; however, they are activated when the thermal stimulus is excessive (such as being locked in a car on a hot, humid day). This suggests that an associated, emotional stimulation is brought into play.

Sebaceous glands are associated closely with the hair since they generally open into hair follicles. The secretion of the sebaceous glands is known as sebum, a mixture of fatty acids and other lipids.

The chief function of sebum is to lubricate the growing hair, to form an oily film on the skin surface, and to keep the skin soft and pliable.

It opposes the penetration of water and water-soluble substances into the skin. It protects against the disintegrating effect of external moisture. Sebum also protects against bacteria and chemical invasion.

The color of the skin and hair is closely associated with a substance called Melanin. The skin of dogs may be pigmented universally or in localized areas. Pigment formation is influenced by physiologic and pathologic factors.

Excessive cutaneous pigmentation develops in the course of chronic pyogenic dermatitis. Deficiencies in pantothenic acid, which is one of the vitamin B complex, is associated with hyperpigmentation.

Melanin formation is influenced by various endocrine factors. Pituitary, thyroid, adrenal and gonadal hormones regulate the melanin — synthesizing action of the skin.

Now you can readily see how the skin, hair, glands and pigment play such an important part in having a pet free of skin conditions.

Nest week I will discuss some of the more common skin conditions of our pets.

Rockport Rotarians Hear Plea For More Coastal Bend Navy Recruits

Help from businessmen and school authorities in recruiting for a modern and expanding U.S. Navy was sought by Chief Petty Officer Dennis Palmer and Petty Officer Kevin Mitchell at a luncheon meeting of Rotary Club Wednesday, June 3, at the Sandollar Restaurant.

Palmer and Mitchell are in charge of recruiting for this area.

Comparing the navy to a business organization, Chief Palmer said:

"We need your help in attracting intelligent and competent people who are capable of being trained to operate the tremendously complicated machinery of our navy which is deeply involved in the electronic and nuclear age."

"To play an effective role in the defense of our country, a 600-ship force is planned, and it will require thousands of highly skilled technicians," he said.

Palmer explained that business people often can steer promising candidates they cannot use in their business to the navy as prospective enlistees.

There these candidates can acquire skills which in turn can be used in the workday world at high pay after completing their navy service.

Palmer added as many as 75 percent of the people working in the nuclear field in Texas got their technical training in one of the services, adding that these technicians are now earning approximately twice the amount they made in the navy or other service.

He said the navy is interested in opportunities to talk to these young people, but that some of the high school authorities in the Coastal Bend area have been unwilling to cooperate in the navy's recruiting programs.

"These young people are prime prospects to begin a gratifying and financially rewarding career in the navy which can lead later to a second well-paid career in industry," Palmer declared, adding "All we want is an opportunity to talk with them about the navy and its opportunities."

Palmer and Mitchell were introduced by Rotarian Delmar Hiller, whose son, Scott, a local high school graduate, recently enlisted in the navy and is undergoing intensive training of the type Palmer discussed.

Maddox, Weaver Place First In State Choir Competition

Rockport-Fulton High School students Vickie Maddox and Bill Weaver received first place gold medals in recent competition in the Texas State Solo & Ensemble Contest at the University of Texas, Austin.

The medals were for solo performances in the contest June 1.

Students receiving "excellent" ratings in the contest were Dee Aine Rossman, Chris Iles, Donald Beard and Julie Cochran. RFHS student Georgie Reininger received a "good" rating.

These members of the choir also received an "excellent" rating for their performance in ensemble. In addition to those who received solo awards, other members of the ensemble were Kevin Carter, Leon Haskin, Gary Cray, Anna Lopez, Dolly Lopez, Darlene Dilworth, Paul Guido, Paul Hill, Sheryl Simmons, Gloria Dominguez, Rocky Adams, Rosendo Ramirez and Velma Rinche.

RFHS Choir Director Martha Luigi said Miss Maddox, whose judge was Bill Walker, a Metropolitan Opera singer, received praise for her Italian and her tone during her solo performance.

Weaver received favorable comments from his judge "for his tone quality and stage presence," Mrs. Luigi said.

Other comments by competition judges for the RFHS performances included "very impressive" and a remark that the RFHS choir did "very exciting work."

Gilliam, Moore Exchange Vows

Diana Gilliam and Daniel Moore, both of Rockport, exchanged vows in a double ring ceremony at 4 p.m. Saturday, June 6, in Rockport's Church of Christ.

John Goodwin officiated at the ceremonies. The bride, the daughter of Howard Gilliam and the late Mary Gilliam, was given in marriage by her father.

The bride wore an Alfred Angelo gown of white chiffon highlighted by Venice and Chantilly laces. The sweetheart neckline was edged in Venice lace and featured a sprinkling of shimmering beads on the fitted bodice. The full bishop's sleeves were applied in Chantilly lace and more lace adorned the fitted cuffs. The A-line skirt fell in a cathedral length train edged in Chantilly lace.

The bride's fingertip illusion veil, dotted with sequins, fell from a headpiece of Venice lace. The bride carried a bouquet of lavender catylea orchids surrounded by white roses, white statice, white stephanotis and English ivy.

The bride's maid of honor was Denise Davis of Portland. Bridesmaids were Donna Smith of Waco, Kathy Preckwinkle of Kingsville, Bunny Ousley of Rockport and Susan Gilliam of Rockport, the bride's sister-in-law.

The bridesmaids wore formal length gowns of lavender featuring empire waistlines and sheer lace yokes highlighting the high necklines. The gowns featured butterfly sleeves and A-line skirts in soft Qiana.

Best man was Robert Moore of West Lake, Louisiana, a nephew of the groom. Groomsmen and ushers were Mark Gilliam of Rockport, the bride's brother; Danny Wannage of Lake Charles, Louisiana; Dennis McDaniel of Lake Charles, Louisiana, cousin to the groom; and Shawn Boatright of Rockport.

Special guests at the wedding included the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Moore, his sister and brother-in-law, Mary Ann and Woodley Simon and his sister, Linda Moore, all of Lake Charles, Louisiana; and the bride's aunt and uncle, Peggy and Sal Tellez of Houston.

The wedding was followed by a reception in the fellowship hall at the church. The bride's white four-tiered cake was adorned with lavender sweetpeas, and punch was served from a white fountain. The table featured two silver candelabra flanked by lavender flowers.

Following a wedding trip to New Orleans, Louisiana, the couple plan to reside at 116 Port Avenue in Palm Harbor.

ANGEL FOOD WITH PEACHES

Angel food with peaches is a light and delicious treat for summer, notes the Texas Department of Agriculture's home economist. The recipe also takes advantage of the peach bumper crop now available fresh in local supermarkets or roadside stands.

- 1 Angel Food Cake
- 1 (16 oz.) can vanilla icing
- 1 (8 oz.) pkg. cream cheese
- 2-3 drops red food coloring (optional)
- 2 drops yellow food coloring (optional)
- 4 peaches
- 1/2 C. pecans

Buy or bake one round Angel Food Cake. Cut in half with electric knife or sharp hand knife. Mix icing and cream cheese with electric mixer until fluffy. Add food coloring. Chop one peach and pecans, add to half the icing. Spread on middle of lower half of cake. Place upper half on top of lower half. Use remainder of icing on top of cake. Slice remaining unpeeled peaches for circular garnish on top of cake. Serves 10.

Secondary Grouping Considered

board about their plans for ability grouping at the junior high and high school levels. She said, "After last month's decision on grouping (at the elementary level) we were afraid that there would be no grouping in Junior High and High School."

In his regular report this month, Superintendent Joe Randow had informed the board, "Students in Junior High will be grouped for Math and English in addition to the Reading program." In answer to Lee's question and those of other parents about grouping at the secondary level, including high school, president Mundine said, "We will group in those areas."

Marvine Wix was also included on the agenda and brought up the issue of the minutes kept by the board of their meetings. Records of the meetings are now kept by Randow and later transcribed into an agenda.

Wix said, "With no offense intended, we would like to see a permanent secretary position established to record minutes of school board meetings and other meetings of the board. That would relieve Mr. Randow to attend to the other business at hand."

Other parents attending agreed with Wix's statement. James Metzner described the need for "someone not actively engaged in conversation at hand, someone not involved with the board."

President Mundine countered the parents questions, saying, "I think we're more accurate with our minutes now than we've ever been. All the state requires us to record is what we did and voted on."

Closing the discussion, Mundine said, "The minutes record what we're interested in and what we did, that's what the state wants." No action was taken.

After the meeting was opened for general discussion, Horace Naquin recounted the board an incident in which his son, a seventh grader was injured in an unattended gym class in May.

The coach in charge of the class was not present, said Naquin, because he was counting votes in the Junior High cheerleading contest. The child was accidentally hit in the face by a thrown baseball bat which "flattened his nose down into his face."

Naquin told the board the boy was taken by two classmates to the office of Junior High principal Pat Smith (who has since resigned) who gave him an ice pack. At no time were county paramedics called to the school.

The Naquins were out of town and the boy's grandmother was at the residence and received the call from the office. She was told, said Naquin, "Gavin has been hurt. Will you pick him up at the office?" No indication of the severity of the injury was given to the boy's grandmother at that time, said Naquin.

The child was in shock and taken by his family to a hospital where surgery was performed later in the day. Naquin told the board that the boy's doctor said that the injury could have been fatal.

Mundine told Naquin, "It sounds like the situation was badly handled all around."

Mundine and Randow both said they knew nothing about the incident prior to the meeting. They agreed to look into it further.

The attendance shift plan to alleviate overcrowding at Rockport Elementary chosen by the board last month was brought up again by visitor Pat Daly who questioned the board's choice of plans.

Nelda Lee asked Mundine how the plan chose by the board, which would move "only 67 students" from Rockport, would alleviate the overcrowding problem in the school.

After the executive session, it was announced that employees Ofelia S. Gomez, Thomas G. Chrobocinski, David Roatan and Beverly Junker had tendered resignations.

New employees announced by the board were Dave Segler, Sterling J. Moltz Jr., James E. Roper, Jacquelyn Richardson, Randall J. Hoyer, Mary K. Clay, Florence K. Doegey, Georgia G. Couch, Mary Jane Moltz, Barbara J. Buck and Mildred L. Batson.

Cost

not be able to handle a discharge of two million gallons a day.

Projected cost of the facility is $2.2 million of which federal grant monies through the Environmental Protection Agency are expected to pay 75 percent. Rockport would be responsible for the remaining cost — an estimated $550,000.

O'Hara said the city would also be looking at $160,000 per year in operating costs and debt retirement — an amount that would figure out to an additional $7 to $8 per month per connection based on the present population.

O'Hara emphasized that additional connections will reduce the amount paid per customer.

Officials also emphasized that sanitary sewer is not subsidized by tax money. Sanitary sewer costs are borne by the users and those outside the city pay a rate that amounts to one and one-half times the rate paid by sanitary sewer customers inside the city limits.

A copy of Monday's hearing results will be sent to the Texas Water Resources Department along with the city's proposed expansion plan.

The information will be forwarded to the EPA for consideration and a priority rating that will determine if Rockport will be eligible for additional federal funding on the project.

Wrecker

proposed requirements weren't changed.

Another requirement in the regulations calls for a lighted, fenced area with an attendant for towed car storage. Parr stated that wreckers felt that this was unnecessary since those wrecker drivers without fenced areas kept towed cars at their own residences for safekeeping.

In regard to the suggestion that the rotation system be changed to a one-wrecker system with the court selecting the low bidding wrecker service, Parr spoke for the wrecker owners, saying, "A one-wrecker system will not work in this county."

The one-wrecker idea had been suggested in past meetings of the court by County Judge John Wendell.

The commissioners also approved a request from Victor Adams for a water line to be put down near 6th and Fuqua streets.

In addition to the two high selling paintings, six other paintings topped the $2000 mark during the auction.

Harold Phenix's was the third highest-seller, bringing $6000 in bidding, followed by the Dalhart Windberg painting, "The Carriage House," for $4,100.

Al Barnes' "Heron High-rise" went for $3,550 and Dana Taggart's "Red Wing Blackbird" sold for $3,300. Bidders paid $2,600 for Francis Crane's "Field Flowers" and a Steve Russell painting, "Reuel's Navigation," sold for $2,050.

Other artists selling in the auction Saturday included Bud Biggs, Alyne Carter, Don Sinex, Jane Turner, Elaine McKinley, Honey Da Costa, Margaret Hall, Ruth Gordon, Rip Harrison, Jane Moren, George Shirey, Ed

Fickett, Ginger Duckworth, Ruth Cline, Henry Zaleta.

Also Bertha Cooper, Jerry Sumpter, Joanne Haskell, Jack Brown, Betty Muth, Wanda Bailey, Jack Ehrlich, Chris Ely, J. Royal Telford, Betty Phdhora, Vernon Kleypas, Kathryn Faber, Betty Walters, Louise Scaling, Teeny Tiller, Guy Coheleach.

Other artists in the auction were Mark Montague, Esther Longuit, Holly Schilling, Irene Katsfey, Richard Weers, Kit Dinger, M.J. Mitchell, Alma Hobson, Gene Murray, Mabel Ogle, Arlo Hansen, John Cowan, Mary Ellen MacKenzie, Anita Burgtorf, Helen Friemel.

And Ken Kline, Beth Eidelberg, W.B. Tilden, Fred and Rita Sydow, Alan Weltman, Elaine May, Jerry Newman, E.M. (Buck) Schiwetz, Mike Rollins, Nanci Barnes, Phyllis Morrison, Dina Bowman, Harry Rossoll, Lenore Walker, Michael Frary, Jerry Seagle, Del Wood.

Other contributors were Eleanor Sargent, Shirley Farley, Rayston Smith and Lee Rose.

Leonard estimated Monday that, with the proceeds from the auction, the Art Association "should have in excess of $140,000" in the Art Center Building Fund.

Bertha Huff (#10) tries to slide into third but is called out to retire the Darlings in their effort to catch the Yellow Jackets. The Yellow Jackets won 16-15.

Yellow Jackets Take First In League With 16-15 Win Over The Darlings

In a follow-the-leader type game for the first two innings the Darlings seem to be saying we can do anything you can do to the Yellow Jackets as the two teams posted identical scores for the first two periods of their game Tuesday evening at Memorial Park.

In the top of the first inning the Yellow Jackets posted four runs only to see the Darlings duplicate the feat in the bottom of the inning to tie the game.

In the top of the second inning the Yellow Jackets squeaked by with one run and the Darlings matched them in the bottom of the inning to keep the game tied at 5-5.

But the similarity ended in the top of the third when the Yellow Jackets nailed on four runs and the Darlings could only come back with three to give the Yellow Jackets a one run lead in the 9-8 game.

The two teams went into the game tied for second place in the standings and each team knew the winner of the game would emerge as the number one team in the league.

The Yellow Jackets wouldn't let up as they added four more runs in the top of the fourth and held the Darlings to a single run to end the inning.

The competition got heavy in the fifth inning as both teams found themselves unable to post scores.

In the top of the sixth the Darlings held the Yellow Jackets to only three runs but the Yellow Jackets were sitting on a six point lead in the 15-9 game as the Darlings came to bat in the bottom of the sixth.

Then with some improved hitting by the Darlings and a mistake-prone Yellow Jackets the Darlings rapidly scratched out six runs to move to within one run of the Yellow Jackets.

With the tying run on second the Darlings called for a steal and in a highly disputed call at third base the game was over and the Yellow Jackets won 16-15.

A Tribute to Tom Luker

To a tall Texan, erect in posture, who lived alone since the loss of his wife, by death, about 2 years ago.

At first reluctant to have his cataracts removed from his eyes but finally doing so and returning home proudly only to be stricken, a day later, by death at age 86.

A man who will be remembered for his good sense of humor, his intelligence, his self-discipline, his "nose for news", and his gregariousness which led him to be a part of many activities and a friend to many people. He will be missed by the people at Taylor Oak Trailer Park, by the people at the Concerned Center, by those at the Dairy Queen and many others whose lives were touched by him.

Rangers Shut Out Angels

With both teams going scoreless for five and a half innings the Rangers finally broke out in the bottom of the sixth with five runs to beat the Angels 5-0 in Little League action at Memorial Park.

Astros Ambushed By Indians

In a late Tuesday evening game at Memorial Park the Astros took a 10-4 loss at the hands of the Indians in a game that saw the Astros unable to score until the bottom of the third inning.

The Indians didn't waste any time in taking the lead as they put three runs on the board early in the top of the first inning then turned around and held the Astros scoreless in the bottom of the inning.

In the top of the second inning the Indians duplicated the feat with another three runs and again held the Astros scoreless in the bottom of the inning.

The Indians took the game to 9-0 in the top of the third inning as they posted three more runs.

The Astros got on the board in the bottom of the third inning with three runs to make a run for the Indians in the 9-3 game.

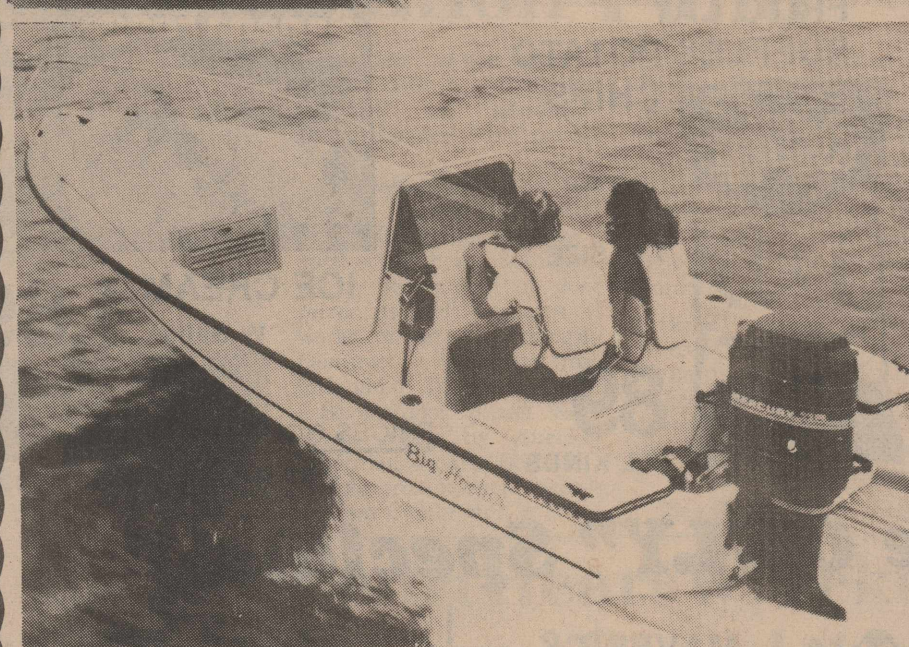

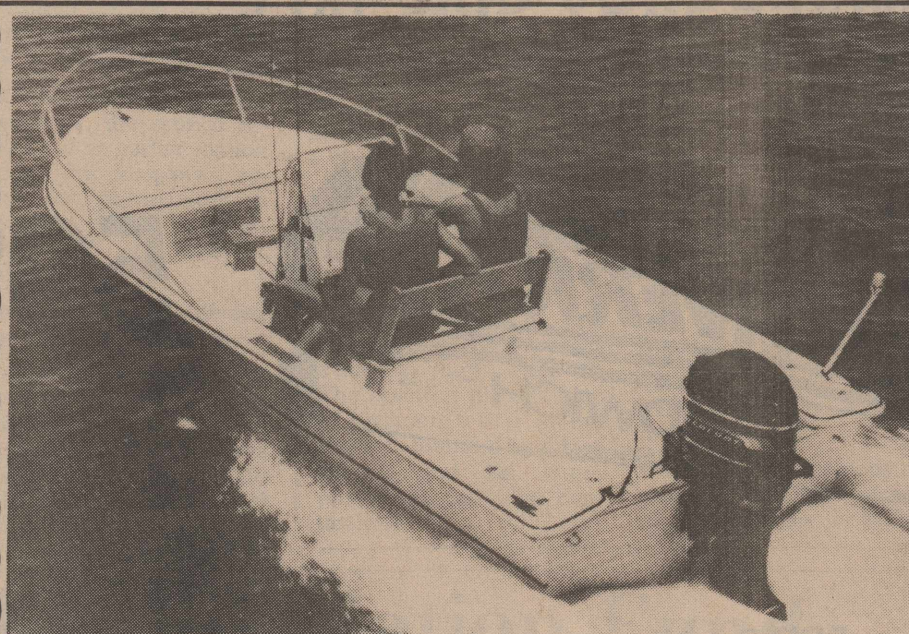

The Indians were held to a single run in the fourth and final inning and the Astros came back with one run in the bottom of the inning and the game was called with the Indians winning it 10-4.

Dolphins Slide Past George Miller In 6-3 Win

Dolphin pitcher Eddie Medina held the George Miller boys to only three runs while his team backed him up with six runs to take a 6-3 victory in action at Memorial Park Tuesday evening in a late game.

Going into the top of the second inning with both teams posting goose eggs in the first George Miller was again unable to get a runner around the bases and ended two innings scoreless.

The Dolphins managed to get one run across in the bottom of the second inning to take a short lived lead. George Miller batters found a brief weakness in the Dolphin pitching and pounded out three runs in the top of the third to lead the Dolphins in the 3-1 game.

But in the bottom of the third Dolphin batter Ronnie Waggoner slammed a home run with a man on third to tie the game. And before the inning was over another Dolphin crossed the plate and once again the lead was taken away from George Miller.

George Miller was held scoreless in the top of the fourth and the Dolphins added another run in the bottom of the fourth and won the game 6-3.

Strange Creature Caught In Duck River

What weighs three pounds, measures 22 inches and looks like an alligator with a catfish head and swims like a salamander? No one seems to know but Barbara Hollis and her son Kenneth caught one of the creatures just below the old city dam in Columbia, Tennessee and for a while neither of the anglers knew what had taken to their pork liver baited line.

Anglers felled to assist in identifying the leathery looking creature a call was made to the Tennessee Wildlife Resources Agency experts who said the catch was a type of waterdog known as a "hellbender."

With the mystery solved all agreed the hellbender should be returned to his watery home in the Duck River.

Rockport Flyers Dump Angels 15-14

Rockport Flyers' pitcher Cindy Barrera went the distance Friday against the Rockport Angels that saw the Flyers break loose from the tied game in the fifth inning to beat the Angels 15-14 in a fast action game at Memorial Park Friday.

The Flyers got the game off to a fast pace with four runs in the first inning with two runs scored on a triple from the bat of Rose Herrera.

The Angels could only come up with one run in the bottom of the first but they managed to hold the Flyers scoreless in the top of the second inning.

The bottom of the second inning saw the Angels tie the game at 3-3 when Dianne Herman hit a long single to drive in a run.

The teams kept the game tied as both the Flyers and the Angels scored three runs in the third.

Flyers batter Louanna Barrera pounded out a double to drive a run in and Angel batter Jody Welch hit a single to center field to score a run and the game went to the top of the fourth tied 7-7.

Both teams were scoreless in the fourth inning but the Flyers came back in the top of the fifth with four runs. In the bottom of the fifth Lydia Buenano hit a double and drove in two runs for the Angels. The Angels scored another run in the bottom of the fifth and the game was 11-10 Flyers.

The Flyers nailed on four more runs in the top of the sixth inning then held the Angels to a goose egg in the bottom of the inning and the Flyers found themselves leading the 15-10 game.

The Flyers were scoreless in the top of the seventh inning and in the bottom of the inning the Angels made a big run for a come-from-behind win as they tacked on four runs.

With the game at 15-14 the Angels had the tying run on third when an Angel batter tagged a long fly. Flyers' Centerfielder Sylvia Ayala scooped in the ball for the final out and the Flyers notched another mark in the win column with the 15-14 victory over the Angels.

Police Report

Windows Broken On Austin Street

More than $900 in damage was done to two businesses on Rockport's Austin Street late Sunday, June 7, by someone breaking out store windows.

Police were called to Elegance Fine Apparel about 10:22 p.m. Sunday on a report that a window was broken on the building. A piece of brick was reported thrown through the window resulting in an estimated $275 in damage.

While at the scene, police were called to Ballou's Plumbing and Electric Supply store on the opposite corner where a window on the north side of the building had been broken and a fan damaged.

Windsurfer Stolen

A $1100 windsurfer was taken when a residence at 1636 South Water was burglarized sometime between June 1 and June 4.

The residence belongs to Ivanne Alsop of Corpus Christi who reported the incident.

Assault Filed

Jerry Thomas Hice, 29, of Oklawaha, Florida, was fined $203.50 on a charge of assault after he was arrested by police about 2:10 p.m. Saturday, June 6, in front of B.J.'s Bait Stand in Rockport.

Hice was charged with assaulting a Rockport woman.

Public Intoxication

Two Rockport men were charged with public intoxication in two separate incidents Sunday.

Donald Mike Kroner, 30, of 50 Oaks Apartments, No. 503, was fined $53.50 after he was arrested about 2:49 a.m. at 512 North Pearl Street.

Also fined $53.50 was Orrin Spencer Austin, 62, of Rockport who was arrested about 7:10 p.m. Sunday on Rockport Beach on a public intoxication charge.

State Of The Region

By Juliet K. Wenger
Coastal Bend Council of Governments

Handicapped children have been brought into the classroom in recent years. Now a new milestone is being passed. They are being given pre-vocational training. This is enabling some of them to work into a position of becoming self supporting. Others, who may not be able to go so far as making a living will be able to take much more responsibility for themselves, their homes and their lives.

Individual school systems across the Coastal Bend region are taking a lead in this, assisted by an Education Service Center Program, "Follow the Child," directed by Elia Hinojosa.

Ms. Hinojosa says there is increasing realization that because a child can't deal with a curriculum of reading, writing and mathematics does not mean that he or she does not have skills in the use of hands and in the accomplishment of numerous tasks for which there is a demand in the marketplace.

The young people in special education classes may have mental or physical disabilities. Careful analysis and encouragement may prove that they also have abilities.

The restaurant business is one in which there are nearly always jobs available. In Sinton and Kingsville schools, students are being trained to fill those jobs by planning, preparing and serving full meals to faculty. They have their own kitchens. In Kingsville a new facility is being readied. At Premont, students plan grocery lists and menus, shop, and utilize the home economics cottage for food preparation. In Brooks County and Tuloso-Midway, students help with cafeteria work, including clean-up. Cleaning is another vocation which is marketable.

Some students have already proved successful at the sewing machines in plants of the garment industry in the Coastal Bend. San Diego and Calallen are among the schools equipped to teach sewing. Students learn to make, mend and alter their own clothes as well as gaining a marketable skill.

Birth of a Theatre

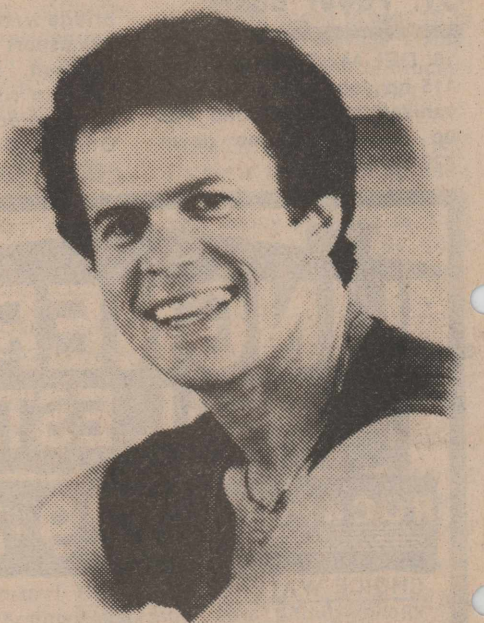

South Texas Musical Theatre Association

Ed Humphrey

The Texas resort community of Rockport, twenty minutes east of Corpus Christi, is the site of a dream-come-true adventure. Las Vegas entertainers Aaron Schave and Ed Humphrey bought a smokehouse restaurant on 51 acres containing several ponds. Experts on exotic birds, they added thirty peacocks, emus, ostrich and, of course, black swans.

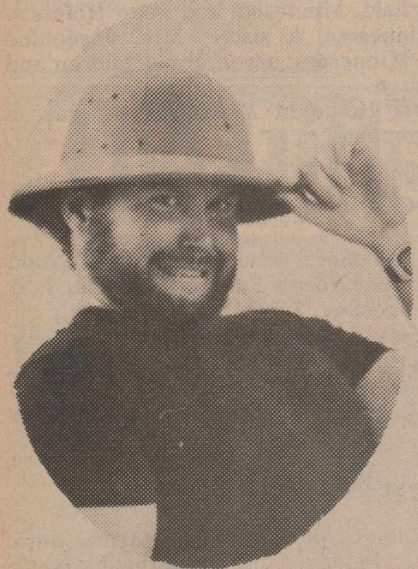

In Rockport they are building a traditional summer stock theatre with students on scholarship, hired acts and professionals to perform and train future musical comedy stars. Musicians, actors, comedians, singers, dancers and specialty acts will all have an opportunity to polish their skills within a professional environment. Whether a performer has a leading role or works as a singing waiter for tips, each will attend the same classes and will experience the feedback needed to improve his craft. Eventually college and union credit will be given for the program.

Occasionally something comes along that is so unique ... with so much potential to benefit the community as a whole ... that it calls for a little extra notice.

Such is the case, we feel, with the new Black Swan Restaurant Theatre.

Dinner theatres are nothing new around the country as a whole — but for Rockport, it is a brand-new experience and we're fortunate that "the first" also looks like one of the best we could hope for.

The owners, Ed Humphrey and Aaron Schave, are a couple of topflight entertainers themselves, and they've attracted a group of topflight talent around them — including a number of bright and promising young locals who have enrolled in their acting school.

To cap it all, the Black Swan has announced a stellar lineup of shows for their first summer season, starting off with "The Fantasticks" on June 12-15 and 19-22. "The Fantasticks" began its run in New York 20 years ago and hasn't been off the stage since.

This is going to be followed by "King Arthur's Court" (A Medieval festival) in late June and July, "Give Me Gershwin" in July and "No, No a Million Times NO!" (A melodrama) and "Red Hot and Blue" (A Las Vegas Revue) in August.

This lineup has already attracted notice from newspapers in the surrounding area — which means attention for Rockport as a whole — and attention is the lifeblood for a community that hopes to attract visitors.

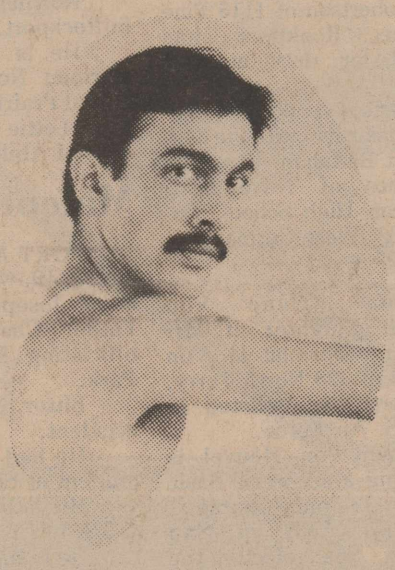

And once you get 'em here, you've got to give 'em more than just beautiful beaches and good fishing. The Black Swan offers that "something more", that extra pull that could keep people spending their dollars here instead of dashing off to Corpus Christi for an evening's entertainment.

That will be good for the Black Swan.

And, we think, good for Rockport.
