Nazi Resistance Declared 'Collapsed'

Yanks Capture Jolo, Smash Southern Luzon Resistance

Complete Control Is Established In Sulu Archipelago

By FRED HAMPSON
Associated Press Staff rWiter

MANILA, Wednesday, April 11. —Veteran infantrymen of Maj. Gen. Jens A. Doe's 41st division invaded Jolo island Monday and quickly seized the capital city and its airfields to take "complete control" of the Sulu archipelago, Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported today.

He announced also that all organized resistance had ceased on southern Luzon island, and that American invasion forces had liberated hundreds of Filipino lepers in the Culion colony by occupying Coron bay, fleet anchorage between Busuanga and Culion islands north of Palawan.

Swiftly Seize City

The 41st division, which captured the big harbor of Tawitawi in the Sulu chain only 30 miles from Borneo on April 2, swept ashore at the Jolo city waterfront, on the 20-mile-long island's north coast.

They swiftly seized the city and struck inland eight miles, scattering all enemy resistance. There was no indication of the intensity of the opposition at Jolo, but MacArthur said two weeks aerial pounding had disrupted enemy defenses.

Jolo, shrine city of the Moros, is the capital of the Sulu archipelago, which stretches between southwestern Mindanao and northern Borneo. It is the finest port in the string of islands.

Swift Luzon Drive

The 11th Airborne division reached Antimonan, on the east coast, in a swift drive of 20 miles from Lucena. Thousands of crack Japanese troops are believed trapped in the long southeastern "tail" on Luzon.

In the central Philippines, U. S. infantrymen occupied Coron bay on Busuanga island, north of Palawan, to rescue a colony of lepers at Culion town. The bay was used as a Japanese fleet anchorage during sorties against the American beachhead at Leyte island.

MacArthur said the first medical and food supplies to be received at the Leper colony in three years were delivered by the Yanks.

Vienna About Cleared And Rail Escape Lane Closing

By ROMNEY WHEELER
Associated Press Staff rWiter

LONDON, Wednesday, April 11. —The Russians hurled the Germans from all of Vienna west of the Danube canal yesterday and thrust within three and a half miles of cutting the rail escape route from the narrow port district and eastern suburbs still held by the enemy.

Heavy fighting raged in the strip between the canal and the Danube river, a space three miles long and less than a half-mile wide. Soviet artillery from three sides raked the district, which includes Prater and the commercial areas of Leopoldstadt and Briggittenau.

Main Portions Cleared

All the main portions of Vienna, including the old city bounded by the Ringstrasse, were in the hands of Marshal Feodor I. Tolbukhin's Third Ukrainian Army, while Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's Second Ukrainian forces drove west along the Danube's north banks to the city limits of Vienna.

Malinovsky's men seized a dozen suburbs including Deutsch Wagram, in the middle of the Marchfeld plain and less than three and a half miles from the Nazi escape railroad that leads northward from Vienna to Brno (Brunn) in Czechoslovakia. The entire gap remaining to the Germans, from the Danube north of Vienna eastward to Deutsch Wagram, was but 10 miles wide.

The Germans were struggling desperately to hold their escape bridges across the Danube and the railway line leading to Brno.

Simultaneously other units of Malinovsky's Army slashed ahead on a broad front in Slovakia northeast and north of Bratislava, taking the city of Trencin on the east bank of the Vah river and Barel 80 miles from Gen. Andrei Yeremenko's Fourth Ukrainians driving down from the north.

The Moscow communique which announced this series of successes also listed a staggeringly-large bag of German troops taken in the East Prussian capital of Koenigsberg, which fell Monday.

A total of 92,000 Germans were captured in the five-day final

Island East Of Okinawa Seized

GUAM, Wednesday, April 11 (AP) Twenty-Fourth corps infantrymen occupied Tsugen island, 10 miles off Okinawa's east coast, against some opposition yesterday while fighting on the main island raged furiously in the southern sector.

Japanese counterattacks on both the southern and northern sections of the American lines were reported today by Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz. All were beaten off.

Sub Pens Overrun

Marines of Maj. Gen. Roy S. Geiger's Third Amphibious corps scored gains up to 2,500 yards in the north, overrunning enemy submarine pens and other installations, but the 24th Army corps lines at the south were substantially unchanged.

On this southern battlefield, where the heaviest artillery duel of the Pacific war is in full fury, several Japanese counterattacks were hurled back. By 6 p. m. yesterday, Nimitz reported, there were "no substantial changes in the lines."

Artillery, ship guns and carrier aircraft closely supported the Yanks, who are driving on the Okinawa capital of Naha.

The fleet communique reported that by midnight Sunday 5,009 Japanese on Okinawa had been killed and 222 taken prisoner. At that time 43,378 civilians were under care of the U. S. military government.

No details were given on the Tsugen island invasion. The island, just off the mouth of Nakagusuku bay, could serve to protect that important fleet anchorage. The Americans now control the inner shore of the big harbor.

Marine artillery has joined infantry big guns pounding the heavily-fortified Japanese positions on southern Okinawa.

Miners, Producers Reach Terms On Heels Of Government Seizure

By HAROLD W. WARD
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Soft coal miners won broad pay concessions in a new contract agreed on tonight shortly after federal seizure of 235 mines.

A basic wage of $10 a day for the average inside miner—up $1.50—was understood to be embodied in the agreement reached by operators and President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers. Lewis abandoned a demand of 10 cents a ton royalty.

The plan will be ready for ratification tomorrow afternoon by the full negotiating committee. It will be subject to review by the War Labor board and Economic Stabilization Director Davis.

The mines taken over to keep steel production flowing are a small part of the 3,478 total over the country.

Nearly six weeks of negotiations were ended by announcement of Ezra Van Horn, chairman of the bituminous wage conference, that the two sides had gotten together on a contract to supplant the one which expired March 31, and that its form will be perfected by a subcommittee meeting at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow.

Full Committee To Meet

The full committee will meet then at 3:30 p.m. for final approval.

The government stepped in to operate those mines affected by a wave of wildcat work interruptions which had partially closed plants turning out war-vital steel.

It acted while the negotiators plodded doggedly ahead in their deliberations. Van Horn's announcement came less than three hours after the federal action.

President Roosevelt issued an order to Secretary of Interior Ickes to assume operation of any or all mines where stoppages exist or are threatened. Ickes acted within an hour, thus putting the government into the coal business for the fourth time since the United States entered the war.

Not To Need Army

Although the presidential order authorizes Ickes to call upon the secretary of war to take such action "as he may deem necessary or desirable" to protect employes and mines, an Interior department spokesman said no call for Army assistance was contemplated.

The seized mines are in seven states. The greater part of the nation's 3,478 mines have remained in operation.

Ickes took these steps:

Issued an order taking possession of idle soft coal mines in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Tennessee, Virginia, Kentucky, Indiana and Alabama.

Ordered those mines to be opened for work Thursday morning.

Designated executive heads of the mining company as federal operating managers.

To Raise U. S. Flag

Instructed the federal managers to raise the United States flag over their pits and to post government take-over notices.

Called upon the mine workers to return to the job and keep coal moving on schedule to speed the winning of the war.

Made applicable again regulations issued during the 1943 government operations.

Nazi Captive Views Reflect Utter Confusion In Germany

By LOUIS LOCHNER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WITH THE U. S. SEVENTH ARMY — Rumors circulating among prisoners of war cast an interesting light on the confusion and consternation that must exist in sections of Germany still under Nazi rule.

The Seventh Army's prisoners are fresh from battle and have been in touch with German civilians very recently, either by correspondence or by actual contact in towns and cities where they were billeted.

No sooner do I begin to talk to prisoners anywhere than they say "we heard Hitler shot himself. Is it true?" Or, "we hear Goering was killed during a bombing raid. How about it?" They almost seem disappointed that I cannot give confirmation.

Another stock question is "does Goebbels still put out faked wermacht reports?" On one occasion I countered with, "oh, yes, he still reports about disengaging from the enemy." Whereupon everybody roared boisterously.

Of their own accord, various men derisively would throw at me other stock phrases in wehrmacht communiques, such as "made a strategic retreat" or "withdrew to more advantageous positions."

German prisoners almost cannot believe that American freedom of the press is such that we publish even enemy communiques in full.

With great concern, prisoners always ask whether it is true that they are to be shipped to Siberia as slave laborers.

Another stock question is how long before they can return to their homes. They consider the war about over, peace in the immediate offing and early dismissal expectable.

"There is so much to rebuild," is a frequent reason for wanting to return as soon as possible.

The present prisoners of war differ in the main from those taken in Africa and Italy and even

Big Cutbacks In Munitions Program Set

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 10—Announcement of big cuts in artillery ammunition production and a decision against completing 12 new tank plants combined tonight to reflect official pleasure at progress of the war.

Army ordnance men at Chicago announced that the ammunition program change and the War department at Washington said the Army has now decided it won't need the dozen tank plants which were not scheduled for peak operation until autumn.

The 1945 schedule now contemplates a 10 per cent reduction in the entire artillery ammunition program authorized last December. That was at a time when the Rundstedt breakthrough made the situation dark on the Western front.

To Guard Against Hardships

The Chicago announcement said that full consideration would be given to the need of guarding against losses or hardships to industry or labor when the ammunition cutbacks, estimated at nearly $200,000,000, are applied.

And the tank plant statement said it was imperative that existing tank plants will have to continue "to meet production schedules in full."

A War department statement said:

"American production is now at a level which assured American fighting men of a sufficient production rate to complete the war against Germany and provide the output necessary to supply forces to be used against Japan.

Eliminates Increase

"The War department emphasizes that this action is not a cutback in production but the elimination of a planned increase in tank output . . ."

Meantime, the surplus property board disclosed in its monthly report for February that eighty government-owned war plants and their sites, have been declared surplus or excess. They cost an aggregate of $552,474,000.

Of the 80 plants, 23 were on a

Berlin Derby Is Continuing

Hannover Falls; Eisenhower Urges Germans To Rise And Block Fanatics

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, April 10—Gen. Eisenhower's headquarters told the German people flatly tonight that "German resistance in the west has collapsed" and called on workers in North sea ports to block Nazi fanatics from wrecking harbor installations.

Allied stations broadcast in both English and German sent out this warning from supreme Allied headquarters on authority of the supreme commander: "Allied armies are now threatening your towns. German resistance in the west has collapsed.

Towns In Danger

"In these last weeks of the war the future of your towns is in the gravest danger from fanatics who may make a last minute attempt to make the ports unusable. The power of the men behind these fanatics is crumbling. It will be broken with the arrival of Allied armies. Then your ports will be used at once."

Third Captures 285 Nazi Party Bigwigs

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Wednesday, April 11—The U. S. Ninth Army, in a neck and neck race with the American First Army toward Berlin, quickly toppled Germany's 12th city of Hannover yesterday and swept on 28 miles into Brunswick's outskirts at a point only 110 miles from the Reich capital.

While tank units of the Ninth also overran Salzgitter, site of the Goering steel works 10 miles southwest of imperilled Brunswick, U. S. First Army troops in a 40-mile advance on the south smashed into Nordhausen, and other units were within 110 miles of Berlin with the seizure of localities near Auleben, 45 miles west of Halle and 57 miles from Leipzig.

Third Takes Bigwigs

Farther south the U. S. Third Army, capturing 285 members of the German foreign ministry at Muehlhausen, rolled on and reached the outskirts of Erfurt and Coburg, 50 miles from the Czechoslovakian frontier in the swelling drive to split Germany.

Thousands of Allied warplanes were aiding the explosive advances into the heart of Germany and destroyed 399 German planes during the day.

In the north the British Second Army sent back columns across the shattered Weser river line north of fallen Hannover, a city of nearly a half million population, and reached the Aller river at a point within 60 miles of Hamburg, great German port. Berlin said units of this Army already had crossed the lower Aller and were only 50 miles from Hamburg.

In Bremen Suburbs

(British troops, last reported Monday five miles south of Bremen, have entered the western suburbs of that big port, Absie, "The OWI transmitter in London," said in a broadcast heard by NBC.)

British Launch "Last" Big Drive In Italy Following Record Air, Artillery Barrage

By LYNN HEINZERLING
Associated Press Staff Writer

ROME, April 10—The veteran British Eighth Army, opening what probably will be the last major battle in Italy, crossed the Senio river today on a wide front in a campaign to annihilate the German 10th and 14th armies before they can retreat into the mountain fortress of southern Germany.

The Eighth moved into action last night after a six-month lull, behind a murderous artillery barrage and the greatest coordinated aerial assault ever carried out in Italy.

The barrage, which opened at 7:30 o'clock last night, was preceded by an aerial assault by U. S. 12th and 15th Air force and RAF warplanes. All three air forces resumed the assault today.

Shortly before noon 3,400 100-pound high explosive bombs and 180,000 fragmentation bombs had been dropped in front of the British.

The break across the Senio was accomplished near Lugo, a town of some 14,000 inhabitants about 13 miles west of Ravenna, and junction point of the Faenza-Ferrara and Ravenna-Bologna roads.

Initial objectives were gained against relatively light opposition and the Tommies continued to press forward over the swampy terrain.

There was no immediate indication what proportion of the enemy strength in northern Italy —estimated at 25 German divisions and six Italian-Fascist divisions—has been massed in the path of the Eighth Army.

Faced By Tough Units

However, the cream of the Nazi fighting units—notably the veteran First and Fourth Parachute troop divisions and the 26th and 19th Panzer Grenadiers — have been concentrated mostly in front of the Eighth Army foothold across the southeastern corner of the Po valley and against the Fifth Army south of Bologna on the central Italian front.

The American Fifth Army front was active with the U. S. 473rd Infantry regiment, operating with the 92nd division, fighting its way into the southern outskirts of Massa, near the Italian west coast.

Dr. Lee Scarborough Dies At Amarillo

Fliers Wreck 397 Planes In Field Day

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 10. — American fighter pilots and bomber gunners destroyed 397 German aircraft today and shattered eight aerial warfare records in the most devastating blow ever delivered against the once-feared Nazi luftwaffe.

Countless other German craft were damaged as both American and British planes again assaulted the Germon Reich.

Losses of the U. S. Eighth Air force were announced as 25 heavy bombers and 15 fighters.

26 Airfields Battered

In attacks on more than 26 enemy air fields, 336 German planes were destroyed on the ground and 61 were shot down in aerial combat. Twenty of the 61 were deadly jet-propelled fighters, the largest bag of these high-voltaged interceptors ever collected in a single day.

Fighter pilots destroyed 284 parked planes and shot down 21 others, while bomber gunners accounted for 17 enemy aircraft. Continent-based U. S. Ninth Air force pilots, in attacks on 15 air fields, destroyed 39 planes on the ground and shot down 18 others. The Ninth lost five fighter bombers.

Three more luftwaffe bases were ripped up by fighters of the First Tactical Air force operating from France. They accounted for 13 parked enemy craft and five others shot down in combat.

In the last four days 61 German air fields have been pounded and at least 765 enemy planes have been destroyed.

Jets Come In Waves

The German jet planes drilled into the American bomber formations in waves of up to 10 abreast.

The combined force of heavy bombers and fighters, the greatest fleet ever put aloft to blast air fields, dug up seven jet plane bases and an experimental testing field all within a 70-mile radius of Berlin.

Today's crippling air blow on the luftwaffe's striking force, most of which was grounded for lack of fuel, shattered the previous overall fighter and bomber score of enemy planes knocked out in a single day, 352 planes destroyed July 17, 1943, in the Schweinfurt and Regensburg areas.

It also beat the old record of 177 enemy planes destroyed in a single day by fighter pilots, set last Sept. 5, and upset the mark

Tech Exes Plan Ass'n Revival

First step toward revival and reorganization of a Texas Tech alumni association which will lead to employment of a paid secretary was taken in a rally of ex-students in Lubbock hotel Tuesday night after E. E. McQuillen, secretary of the Association of Former Students of Texas A. & M., had explained the workings of his organization.

L. M. Hargrave, president of the Lubbock county chapter, appointed a committee to confer with Dr. W. M. Whyburn, Tech president, regarding inauguration of a similar organization at Tech. The committee is composed of Arch Lamb, George Long, Clayson Fuller, Jason O. Gordon, Miss Geraldine Clewell and C. W. Ratliff.

To Present To Board

The committee, after conferring with Dr. Whyburn, will present the alumni's case to the board of directors of the college in their spring meeting here in May.

In the meeting last night, Dr. Whyburn spoke briefly after introduction by Hargrave. McQuillen was introduced by W. L. Stangel, head of the Tech department of animal husbandry.

Jason O. Gordon, Lubbock county chapter, in an election following McQuillen's talk. Lamb was named secretary and Miss Ruth Craig, secretary-treasurer. Long, Polk Robison, Ratliff and Mrs. Mina Lamb were named directors.

Plans for the May 26 banquet of the association were discussed briefly.

Argentine Back In American "Family"

WASHINGTON, April 10 (AP)—Argentina was welcomed back into the American family of nations today, 13 months after she was excluded on the ground that her government cooperated with the Axis.

The United States and 19 other American republics resumed what Secretary of State Stettinius called "normal diplomatic relations." This followed Argentina's recent declaration of war on Germany and Japan and her adherence to the inter-American agreements for security and cooperation in this hemisphere which were adopted last month by the Mexico City conference.

It is now expected that a new ambassador will be sent to Buenos Aires very soon and speculation has centered on Spruille Braden, present ambassador to Cuba.

Meat Supply Is Less In Federal Plants

CHICAGO, April 10 (AP)—The nation's current meat supply has grown tighter, the war meat board disclosed today, announcing that meat production in federally inspected plants was reduced about 22,000,000 pounds last week.

The board said the decline "reflects further decreases in the marketing and slaughter of all meat animals."

Since the war in Europe broke, the United States aircraft industry has delivered more than 260,000 war planes.

Brief Bits Of Local News

Junior and senior class members of textile engineering made an inspection trip through the Postex Cotton mill at Post Tuesday to learn the general process of manufacturing cotton sheeting, according to L. E. Parsons, head of department of textile engineering, who supervised the group on the tour. They were accompanied by Lloyd Harold Jackson, instructor in textile engineering.

Herbert D. McKechnie, priorities analyst from the El Paso district office of the War Production board, will be at the chamber of commerce today and Thursday, and persons wishing information about priorities or forms on which to make applications may see him there. His hours will be from 9 to 12 and 1 to 5 o'clock each day.

The Texas Highway patrol asked Tuesday that motorists "take off all license plates and tabs not issued for 1945," announcing that prosecution would be necessary unless licenses are displayed on motor vehicles consistent with legal requirements. The tag for the truck-tractor should be mounted on the front, for the attached trailer, on the trailer's rear.

More of the same may be in the offing for today, the weatherman predicting "strong winds" for the South Plains.

"Recognizing tire deterioration in the Lubbock area, the OPA is seeking additional tire inspectors to prolong the usefulness of tires and consequently automobiles in that section," A. J. Leach, regional director of the U. S. Civil service at Dallas, said in information received here. He announced applicants may apply to Miss Gertrude Bahme, representative of the Civil Service commission, at the U. S. Employment service office at 1207 Thirteenth. While the examiners are hired by OPA, they must be taken from a list of qualified persons furnished by the civil service, Leach announced. There are no written examinations. Applicants are rated on their business records in the tire business and other qualifications. They are to serve as enforcing officers with headquarters in Lubbock.

Telephone high lights of 1944

Our annual report, issued in March, showed 1944 was a busy year. There were more long distance calls than ever before, including thousands of war calls to rush through each day for the army, the navy, and the scores of war industries in our territory.

The demand for telephones was heavy. Service qualifying as essential under government requirements was installed promptly. Other new telephones were installed where instruments, lines, and central office equipment were available.

But still we had a big waiting list. It grew throughout the year because almost all new telephone equipment went to the armed services. At the year's end 187,000 persons were on our waiting list for telephones.

For those who had telephones we did virtually a prewar job of supplying service. Three out of every four long distance calls went through while the calling parties "held the line." Local service stood up well. The public helped by keeping calls brief and making only necessary calls.

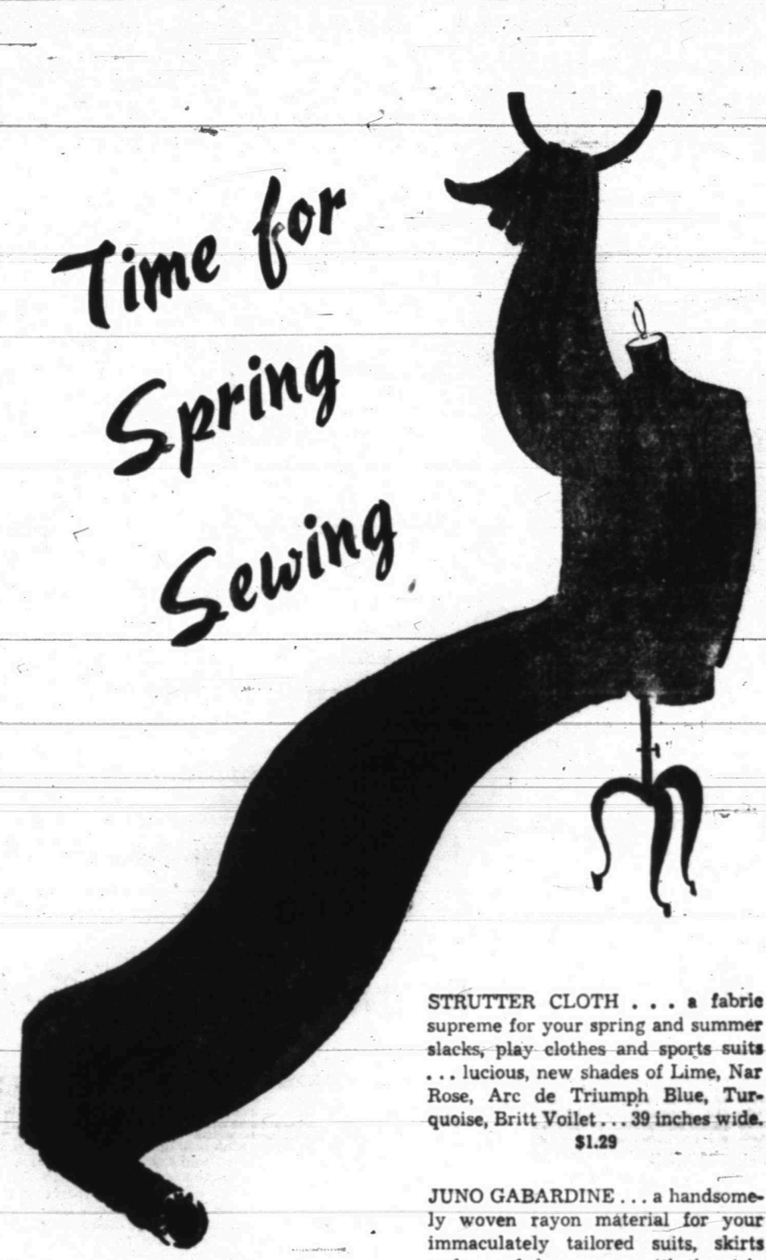

In the eight army general hospitals in the five states served by this company, special equipment was installed to help the wounded and sick soldiers with their telephoning. Attendants were on hand in most army camps and naval stations to help service men and women call home.

On the money side, we didn't do so well. Of course, revenues were up—10 per cent over 1943. But operating costs and taxes climbed even faster—they rose 11 per cent. The return on the company's investment in telephone property was 4.34 per cent—lower than in 1933, the worst depression year.

As long as the fighting goes on, war demands will be met first. But telephone users here at home can depend on the fact that, even in wartime, this company will bend every effort to give them the best service possible.

United States Delegation To San Francisco Meet To Vote As Unit

WASHINGTON, April 10. (U.P.)—The U. S. delegation to the San Francisco conference will vote as a single unit and will decide its stand on all issues by a simple majority vote within the delegation, it was announced today.

Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius, jr., said at his news conference that the delegation hopes to achieve unanimity of view. However, if it does not on any particular issue, the majority will rule.

Won't Preclude Speaking

While this means that the delegation will always vote as a unit, it does not, Stettinius said, preclude the possibility of a particular U. S. delegate speaking as an individual at the conference.

Stettinius announced the names of 42 national organizations which have been invited to designate representatives to serve as "consultants" to the American delegation. He said it was impracticable to invite all organizations but that the department would provide liaison facilities at the conference for any organizations which have representatives in San Francisoc.

Represent Various Groups

The organizations selected include those representing various business, labor and farm groups.

Regarding the list of 42 organizations invited to be consultants, Stettinius said:

"The consultants would be available for consultation at the request of the (U.S.) delegation and would be kept as closely informed as possible." He said the department believes the organizations "constitute a fair cross-section of citizen groups."

Groups Are Listed

They are:

American section of the International Chamber of Commerce; the U. S. Chamber of Commerce; the National Association of Manufacturers; National Foreign Trade Council.

American Bar association; National Lawyers Guild.

American Federation of Labor; Congress of Industrial Organizations; Railway Labor Executives' Association.

American Legion; American Veterans Committee; Disabled American Veterans of the World War; Veterans of Foreign Wars.

American Farm Bureau Federation; Farmers' Union; National Council of Farmer Cooperatives; National Grange.

Women Represented

American Association of University Women; General Federation of Women's Clubs; National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs; National League of Women Voters; Women's Lasting Peace.

American Jewish Conference; American Jewish Committee; Catholic Association for International Peace; Church Peace Union; Federal Council of Churches of Christ; National Catholic Welfare Conference.

American Association for the United Nations (commissioned to study the organization of peace); Americans United For World Organization; Carnegie Endowment for International Peace; Council on Foreign Relations; Foreign Policy Association; National Peace Conference.

Kiwanis International; Lions International; National Association for the Advancement of Colored People; National Exchange Club; Rotary International.

American Council on Education; National Congress of Parents and Teachers; National Education Association.

Exchanged Prisoner Fears Re-Capture

MUEHLHAUSEN, Germany, April 10 (AP)—A German soldier at least 50 years old stood at a street corner in this town frantically flagging passing American vehicles.

Finally two Americans from the Sixth Armored division decided to investigate. The German pulled out a batch of papers and through an interpretor the Americans learned that he had been captured and sent to a prison camp at Huntsville, Tex. Exchanged because of his age, he had been trying to get home to Muehlhausen but arrived only after the Sixth armored division captured the town.

His chief worry now was that he would be recaptured and sent back to America before he could find civilian clothes.

Nazi Sabotage Ring Is Believed Smashed

RIO DE JANEIRO, April 10 (AP)—Authorities said tonight a Nazi sabotage ring operating throughout South America may have been smashed as the result of the arrest of a German engineer, Georg Konrad Friedrich Blass, 53, described as its chief.

The arrest was announced today as a Brazilian court sentenced another German, Wilhelm Heinrich Kopff, to 25 years in prison for Axis espionage. The spy was captured in 1943 the day after he landed in Brazil from a rubber raft.

The arrest of Blass was linked directly with several recent arrests of alleged saboteurs in Chile. The federal police, after questioning Blass for several days, said he personally established sabotage units in Venzeuela, Colombia and Peru to operate in conjunction with previously established agencies in Chile, Argentina and Uruguay.

He came here on an Italian airliner from Rome in June, 1940, and apparently traveled with full Nazi authority to carry out sabotage assignments without further orders, officials said.

Midwest Isolationism Is A Myth, Gallup Poll Shows

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director
American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J.—If the soft coal operators and the United Mine Workers union fail to come to an agreement and the government is forced to take over the mines, to prevent a tie-up of production in the bituminous coal fields, that move will be in line with public thinking.

Entirely aside from the merits of the case on either side, the American public appears to be near the end of its patience at the thought of another wartime coal miners' strike.

GALLUP

The public's attitude toward a soft coal strike is, however, entirely consistent with its feeling about strikes all during the war.

For example, in spite of the existence of the Connally-Smith Act, which incidentally does not make striking illegal, the vast majority said in a June, 1944 survey that they think there is need for a law to prevent strikes in war industries.

The tenor of public thinking today about the question of another coal strike is shown by replies to a nation-wide survey in which the Institute put this question to a cross-section of the adult population.

"What do you think the government should do if the coal miners go on strike this spring?"

The vast majority of public feeling is directed at keeping the miners on the job. Seventy-four per cent of those interviewed urge that the government take over the mines or that it use force to make the miners continue at their jobs.

Another six per cent would mete out harsh punishment to the miners and union leaders.

Seven per cent say "give the miners what they want." Four per cent call for settlement by arbitration, or improvement of the War Labor Board. One per cent say the government should not handle the matter. The rest did not give an answer.

Among the great majority the question brought forth such comment as these: "The government should take over the miners . . . Use force to prevent strikes . . . Dress the miners up in army uniforms and let them dig coal at soldiers' pay . . . Let them work under army rule . . . Make them work or fight!"

It would seem that the mere mention of the word strike these days makes many an American see red. Some with whom field reporters talked were violent on the issue. They would "kill Lewis . . . throw him in jail . . . put the miners in jail."

It should of course be emphasized that these strong comments result not necessarily from a condemnation of what the miners consider to be their case. They are more likely to be the expression of a stern conviction that there should be no strikes under any conditions while the country is at war.

The public has shown itself to be overwhelmingly against wartime strikes in every survey touching upon the question since Pearl Harbor, and this includes union members as well as the public at large.

Last June, for example, 64 per cent of the union members questioned on the need for a law to prevent strikes in war industries said they thought such a law was needed.

Song writers Oscar Hammerstein II and Jerome Kern met for the first time at Victor Hugo's funeral. The meeting resulted in the shows "Sunny," "Showboat," "Sweet Adeline," "Music In The Air," and "Very Warm For May."

LOST A DRESS

A soldier's wife, shopping in town Monday afternoon, lost a parcel containing a chintz dress. She thinks she left it on a store corner. The dress was in an aqua background with purple flowers and was size 16. The young woman had bought the dress to wear when her husband comes home and that makes it especially disappointing that she lost it. If you know anything about the dress, you may telephone her at 2-1513.

Despite this handicap, Lubbock has entertained several big name artists in recent years and with the coming of the airline and postwar days there is no reason why we can't entertain bigger and better ones.

One of the musicians we look forward to hearing in this delightful era is Oscar Levant, greatest of interpreters of George Gershwin. He does all right with Chopin and Tschaikowsky.

THE other night down at Houston, Levant was booked for a concert and an appearance with the Houston Symphony orchestra. It's been raining quite a bit over the country you know and his train, stymied by flood waters, was forced to detour through Louisiana, throwing the radio celebrity-pianist almost two hours late in beginning his concert. The symphony was led through a few sedate numbers, applauded heartily at first, with less enthusiasm later when the minutes rolled around and still no sign of Levant. A poll as to go home or stay there was taken and fans decided to wait, as the musicians swung into "Nutcracker's Suite" to kill time. At 10:55 the pianist ran onto the stage, complete in white tie and tails. He flexed his fingers, thumped out a few chords and then ripped out the first movement of Gershwin's Concerto in F.

He played "Rhapdosy in Blue" of course and playing without rehearsal, naturally, sustained with the orchestra the typical Gershwinian mood. He thanked the musicians and then said he wouldn't be coy about his encores by running off stage and then sat down and played seven of them. He finished at 11:45 o'clock and the applause proved that he had been worth waiting for.

We've an idea that many readers share our enthusiasm for Levant and he seems to be an all around fellow with his musical talents.

THROUGH THREE WARS

OVER in Richmond, Va., women of Second Presbyterian church, through a circle dating back to 1848, have sewed through three wars.

An excerpt from a letter written by the mother of one of the present church elders, S. H. Hawes, to her son serving in the war between the states, said the women were making uniforms and a few were sewing on tents, although she didn't think that was exactly a "lady's work."

During the first World war, the circle gave entertainments for soldiers and turned out handwork for the Red Cross.

In the second World war they are not only sewing for service men but write letters to those serving overseas and prepare Sunday night suppers for hungry soldiers in Richmond.

We hope their work of love is nearing its end and that this will be the last war in which they will keep the home front going.

Red Cross Asks For Volunteers To Teach

County Red Cross office is asking for volunteers to teach nutrition courses in Mexican and negro sections.

Nutrition courses are important in both areas, it was emphasized. One of the purposes is prevention of disease. In the Mexican section, nutrition instruction is "very important" because of tuberculosis, it was said at the Red Cross office, which has aided in several tuberculosis cases reported from that section.

Volunteers may telephone Mrs. J. H. Stiles, executive secretary of the county Red Cross chapter, or Mrs. C. B. Qualia, nutrition chairman.

Volunteers also are needed to teach first aid courses in those areas.

Freed Prisoners Return To U.S.

By STANTON BERENS
United Press Staff Correspondent

BOSTON, April 10.—The first 1,500 American soldiers to be freed from Nazi prison camps trod American soil today—the bitter months of near-starvation in filthy camps behind them.

War-weary and shaken by their months of imprisonment, they came home aboard a large transport ship. An army band struck up "Dixie," an then "Over There" as the soldiers caught their first glimpse of America's lush green shores.

Some Whistled Gaily

Some cried. Others whistled gaily and called to the three girl reporters who were among the group of newspapermen who went aboard the ship before it docked.

"It may sound corny, but the first thing I'm going to do when I get off this tug is to fall down and kiss good old American ground," said Sgt. George F. McNeil of Williamansett, Mass., who was captured by the Germans last July.

McNeil, like most of the other prisoners, was interned at Stalag III, situated on the Oder river some 67 miles east of Berlin. Some of the men escaped to the Russian lines while others were freed by advancing Soviet tank units late in January.

The soldiers told of living conditions in rat-infested camps. The daily food ration consisted of a bowl of weak horsemeat broth and two slices of mouldy black bread.

"If it weren't for the Red Cross parcels we got, we probably would have starved," said Cpl. Joseph de Cocco of Schenectady, N. Y., who served as a camp cook.

De Cocco, imprisoned for five months after his capture in France, said the horsemeat used for soup "generally was rotten." "Once when we got some peas and beans, they were full of bugs, but I had to cook them or be punished," de Cocco said.

Forty men slept in small shacks and drinking water was drawn from a spring situated near camp latrines, de Cocco said.

"Those Germans treated us worse than dogs," de Cocco, a former garage mechanic, said.

Sgt. Cecil Hutt of Broken Bow, Neb., a rancher in civilian life, said he lost nearly 40 pounds in eight months of internment. Describing treatment of Jewish prisoners at Stalag III, Sgt. Merton Oppenheimer of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., said a comrade was beaten severely when he objected to foul oaths directed at him by Nazi guards.

"I wasn't beaten myself," Oppenheimer said, "but it was all I could do to control myself when the guards called Jewish boys filthy names."

Larger Wheat Crop Forecast By USDA

WASHINGTON, April 10. (U.P.)—The agriculture department today forecast a 1945 winter wheat crop of 862,515,000 bushels compared with 764,073,000 bushels produced in 1944.

On Dec. 1 the winter wheat crop was estimated at 761,591,000 bushels.

The crop reporting board said the April 1 condition of wheat is the highest for the date since 1919 and the condition of rye is the highest since 1914. No production estimate was given for rye.

The wheat crop apparently escaped injury in the recent cold wave which brought zero temperatures to many parts of the northern plain, the board said.

A 1945 wheat crop of 862,515,000 bushels would be 37,000,000 bushels larger than the previous record corp in 1931.

The forecast for wheat production by states included:

Kansas 231,557,000 bushels, Oklahoma 75,127,000, Texas 75,420,000.

Although chemical warfare is as old as history, it did not come back into general use until World War I, when Germany initiated the use of toxic gas, flamethrowers and aerial incendiaries.

Fatal burns among children one to four years old are caused in about equal numbers by hot liquids and open flames or hot objects.

During 1944, 3,000,000 individual workers were placed in farm jobs by the local farm labor offices of the State Agricultural Extension Services.

Phillips has played a major part in "achieving the almost impossible"

THE DEADLY STING of the new Douglas A-26 Invader, already felt in Germany, will soon hit Japan. On all of the world's flying fronts, United Nations planes fight with Phillips high-octane fuels.

AVIATION GASOLINE, one of the indispensable munitions of war, was an item with very small production at the beginning of World War II.

The recent situation, however, is best described in the official words of the Special Sub-Committee on Petroleum Investigation, of the House of Representatives:

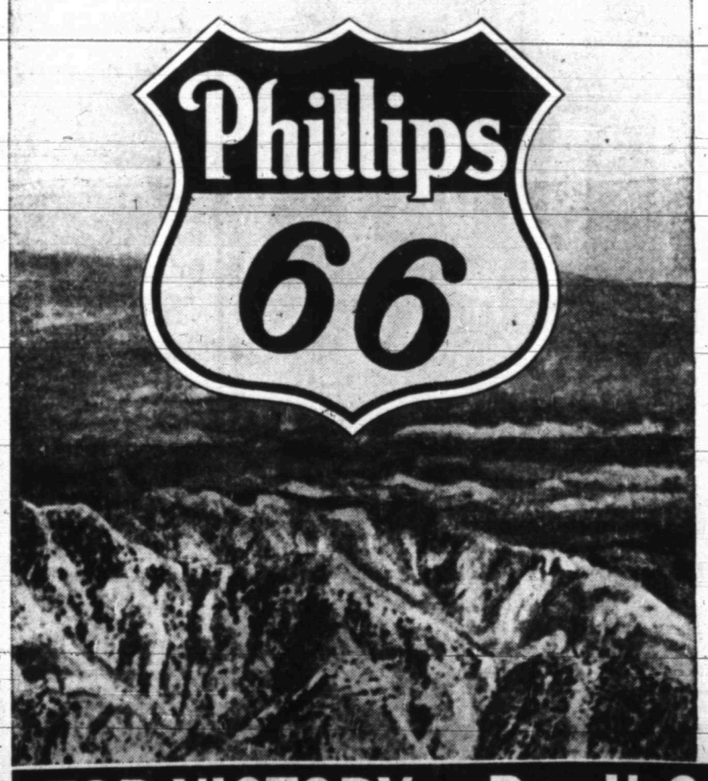

"The United States has achieved the almost impossible by stepping up its daily production (of 100-octane fuel) from 45,000 barrels in December 1941 to more than 500,000 barrels. In the meantime, a remarkable improvement has been accomplished in the quality of the 100-octane product."

Of those who have contributed to this triumph of production, Phillips is especially proud of its record in having maintained its leading position with the handful of petroleum organizations which are the nation's largest producers of high-octane aviation fuel.

Everything that Phillips has learned, in research and experience, both before and during the war, will be lavishly poured into our wonderfully improved postwar motor fuels for car owners. With complete confidence, we say to you: Expect greater postwar gasolines from Phillips!

In the meantime, every time you see the Orange and Black Phillips 66 Shield, let it remind you that Phillips refineries . . . in addition to producing gasolines, lubricants, and fuel oils . . . are also gigantic chemical plants pouring out weapons for victory.

Manufacturers Association Refuses To Sign Labor-Management Charter

By LEE NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 10.—American industry appeared today to be a house divided on the subject of postwar relations with labor.

The split, between the powerful National Association of Manufacturers and the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, appeared to be along two lines:

Charter Said 'Ambiguous'

1. The so-called "charter" for labor-management peace, put out jointly by Chamber President Eric A. Johnston and Presidents William Green of the AFL and Philip Murray of the CIO. The NAM has refused to sign, calling the charter "ambiguous."

2. The question of legislation to outlaw certain types of strikes.

B. E. Hutchinson, vice president of Chrysler corporation and a director of the NAM, renewed the attack on the charter yesterday and proposed instead a legislative program to outlaw certain types of strikes.

He said the NAM was working in a joint committee with the chamber on this program and that neither the NAM nor the chamber's board of directors had been consulted on the labor-management charter before Johnston, Green and Murray made it public.

Almost immediately a chamber of commerce spokesman issued a reply stating that Hutchinson "has his facts wrong." He said there was no joint committee, and that the anti-strike proposals had merely been presented to the chamber by the NAM.

Gives Charges At Luncheon

Hutchinson, addressing a press luncheon held by the automotive council, charged that the charter was "so loosely drawn it will probably sow the seeds of greater ferment."

The charter, dated March 28, called for a guarantee both of labor's right of collective bargaining and of management's right to direct the operations of industry.

Hutchinson said the NAM and the council were apprehensive because it failed to emphasize the need for increased productivity of the individual worker, and also appeared to bind management not to seek changes in present labor laws.

His anti-strike suggestions included proposals for legislation to (1) prevent strikes designed to coerce government agencies to act on disputes or wage cases; (2) prohibit unions from using their economic power to block improvements in industry, such as increased machanization; and (3) guarantee individuals the right to work free from molestation, injury or threats.

Shortly after publication of Hutchinson's remarks, Armand May, president of Associated Industries of Atlanta, Ga., resigned from the NAM.

In a letter to NAM President Ira Mosher, May said that body's refusal to endorse the labor-management charter "is further proof that present leadership of the NAM does not represent the rank and file of American manufacturers and members of the NAM."

BILL BOYD JAILED

DALLAS, April 10. (U.P.)—Cowboy radio and movie star W. L. (Bill) Boyd was in jail today on orders of Judge W. L. Thornton after Boyd was charged with contempt of court for not paying wife support. Boyd allegedly had until noon today to pay the fine he defaulted plus $200 alimony to his estranged wife, Mrs. Thelma Boyd, or the judge said, he stays in jail.

Major General Clay Given Second Award

WASHINGTON, April 10 (AP)—Major General Lucius D. Clay of Denison, Tex., former director of materiel, Army air forces, has been presented a second award within a week.

On March 31 he received the Distinguished Service medal for his services as director of materiel. Then, on April 4, he was presented the Legion of Merit by Under Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson, it was announced today. This award was for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service while in charge of the civil airport program of the United States from Oct. 1, 1940 to Dec. 16. 1941. . . which has proved to be of tremendous value to the United States in the war effort."

Tibet Pair Finally Wised Up On War

WITH THE CANADIAN FIRST ARMY, Apr. 10 (AP)—Two Tibetans learned today what this war is all about—after having fought in it—on both sides—for five years.

They set out on a walking tour of Russia five years ago. Promptly they were drafted into the Russian Army, captured by the Nazis and thrust into the German Army.

Through it all, because they could find no one able to speak Tibetan, they didn't know what nations were fighting, or why.

Then they were captured by Canadian troops, whose linquists were baffled until someone finally found a sergeant who'd been to Tibet. He told them what goes on.

Army Youth Tests Are Set Thursday

DALLAS, April 10 (AP)—Texas boys of 17 will take the qualifying test for entrance into the Army specialized training reserve program at high schools Thursday.

Those applicants who qualify and enlist in the reserve will receive from two to four 12-week terms of college instruction before being called to active duty, Eighth Service command headquarters said in announcing the tests.

ALLIES USE "Water Buffalos" TO CROSS RHINE!

★ The amazing steel-clad "land and water ferry" of the Yanks—the "Water Buffalo"—repeated its daring landings of the Pacific and Normandy when it transported troops and materiel under fire across the never-before-stormed Rhine River. Surely, steadily and protectively the history-making amphibious tanks (LVT's) shuttled back and forth across the swift-flowing waters, up the steep, slippery banks, until another successful mission was accomplished...and the Nazi's last great natural barrier before Berlin was breached. Three-Point Plan To Aid South In Post-War Trade Cited By Maverick

DALLAS, April 10 (U.P.)—Maury Maverick, chairman of the Smaller War Plants corporation, today outlined a three-point program calling for lower freight rates in the South, greater industrialization and destroying existing monopolies if the South is to participate in postwar trade.

Maverick, en route from Washington to San Antonio for a weekend conference with district Smaller War Plant corporation officials, stopped in Dallas briefly last night.

Support Asked

"Texas and the South must back the fight Gov. Ellis Arnall of Georgia has taken to the Supreme court against high freight rates," Maverick said. He called upon the attorneys general of southern and southwestern states to join Arnall in his fight.

War-born industrialization in the Southwest must be continued during the post-war era, Maverick continued. "This is going to require operation of the whole program of the SWPC financing and disposal of surplus materials and equipments intelligently," he stated.

The third step necessary for industrial post-war growth for the south and southwest, he said, is to break up monopolies. Presently, the Alcoa aluminum case is the "most important since the breaking up of the Standard Oil monopoly which resulted in creation of many new big businesses and creation of thousands of smaller ones," he said.

Unless there is lower-priced aluminum, Maverick said, millions of light metal workers now working will be unemployed during the post-war period. "But with lower prices," he said, "small manufacturers can get into the aluminum fabrication business."

Discusses Foreign Trade

Maverick said that he believed smaller plants should be the first ones allowed to convert to peacetime production. Awaiting that reconversian, he said, is a tremendous foreign trade. For instance, he continued, France will spend $40,000,000,000 (b) in the next ten years. The French have gold to pay for what they buy, he said, and they'll buy everything that can be made in Texas.

Another Smaller War Plants corporation official, Morton R. Harrison, of Dallas, said that nearly half a million small businesses have closed during the past few years. One million new ones are needed, he said.

"The responsibility for full employment after the war will depend to a great extent on small business," Harrison said.

He said that SWPC would help, financially as much as possible, also assisting businessmen in obtaining sound managerial and technical advice in order to operate profitably.

Harrison, who was among the delegation which met Maverick at Love field airport, said that Dallas business leaders were preparing for a meeting soon with L. F. Arnold, Newton, Ill., banker whose job is supervising assistance to the South and Southwest—and the nation, generally—so that sound, smaller businesses can be re-established and converted to peacetime production and top employment status.

Soldier Thinks More Of Duty Than Life

WITH THE U. S. ARMY IN GERMANY, April 10 (AP)—Because an Atlanta sergeant thought more of his duty than he did of his life, the Ninth army drove unhampered across the Leine river toward Berlin.

A sergeant from the 30th, riding a second armored tank, saw a wisp of smoke curl from a pier on the approach of one of the Leine bridges south of Sarstedt.

Realizing the smoke came from a German fuse and that the bridge was about to be blown up, the sergeant rushed forward and tore out the burning fuse with his bare hands.

It was attached to 1,200 pounds of explosive, and the fuse had burned so near the charge that a detonating cap exploded in his hands.

The explosion blew off two of his fingers, and for this reason under censorship rules he must remain nameless for the moment.

The sergeant's act allowed the combat command to rush forward across the bridge unhampered, forcing a general German withdrawal to the south with the result the Second armored's other commands found several more bridges intact and passed rapidly over to invest them and take Hildesheim early Sunday.

Elevators Jammed As New Crop Nears

AMARILLO, April 10 (AP)—Rural grain elevators are full in this area as a shortage of railroad cars continues to hamper movement of the 1944 wheat crop out of the Panhandle, the Amarillo News Globe said today.

Farmers are bringing their farm-stored 1944 wheat to markets to provide space for the new crop, which will be harvested beginning around June 20.

The situation is being further aggravated by the arrival of maize and other head crops, the newspaper says.

One railroad reports movement of 90 to 95 carloads daily, and another moved 495 in March. Railroad officials, the newspaper says, see little prospects that the rural elevators will be cleaned of 1944 wheat before the new harvest begins.

WASHINGTON, April 10 (AP)—President Roosevelt today proclaimed May 1 as child health day and called upon the public to use the occasion to impress upon parents the importance of registering every American birth.

Lions Vote Against Forming New Club

A proposal by the board of directors of Lubbock Lions club to form a second club in Lubbock was voted down, 62 to 28, in balloting at the club luncheon Tuesday noon in Hilton hotel.

Prior to balloting, two members, Groves Denman and Dr. Fred G. Harbaugh, staged a debate on the question, Denman taking the affirmative and Harbaugh the negative side of the question.

The club participated in the United National Clothing collection with members bringing as much as five pounds of old clothes to the luncheon or paying fines. Approximately 400 pounds of clothing were collected. F. A. Kleinschmidt, chairman of the drive, urged members to give support to the collection.

Clem Boverie, chairman of the tin can collection, announced that enough tin cans for a carload had been collected and would be shipped in a few days.

A delegation of at least 16 Lions and their wives will attend a ladies night program of the newly organized Abernathy club at Abernathy tonight.

Alvin F. Hamm of Lorenzo and H. C. Hazel, U. S. Navy, were visitors at the luncheon.

Lots Of Help Is Too Much For Watchman

MILWAUKEE, April 10 (AP)—Oscar Dressler, a night watchman, collared two youths whom he caught helping themselves to milk from a dairy truck.

Dressler hailed a passerby and asked him to call police. Two uniformed squads, a detective squad and several motorcycle officers hurried to the dairy after being informed a holdup was in progress.

Overcome by the size of his reinforcements, Dressler fainted, lost his grip and the youths disappeared in the darkness.

U-Boats Apparently Penned In By Allies

WASHINGTON, April 10 (AP)—New-type Nazi U-boats apparently have been penned in by Allied bombings and mine laying.

As a result German underwater raiders sank fewer Allied merchantmen last month than the "moderate number" sent to the bottom in February. U-boat casualties "were again severe."

MEAT SHORTAGES make saving fats harder these days. But there may be ways to save that you are missing. Won't you please check suggestions below?

Our country needs fats so urgently to help make medicines, explosives, soaps, synthetic rubber and other essentials on the war and home fronts.

FISH — you're using more of it these days. Scrape every drop of grease from the pan in which you fry or broil it.

SAUSAGES — they're plentiful and yield lots of grease in the frying pan. (And if you parboil them first, don't forget to save the water and skim off the grease!)

UTILITY MEATS — are good for stews and soups. Skim the grease as they cook. Chill them afterwards and scoop off the fat that hardens on top. (Gravies too!)

HOT DOGS — you'll get at least a tablespoon or two of grease from the cooking water. Even a teaspoon helps!

FAT SCRAPS—save them all in a bowl in the icebox. Once a week melt them down and add them to the salvage can.

AND BE SURE to keep the can right out where it's handy! Drop by drop, it will fill up faster than you think. Then rush it to your meat dealer and get those 2 red points and 4 cents for every pound of fat. Start today! This message has been approved by WFA and OPA and paid for by Industry.

The SPORTS EYE

By Mack Turner

LUBBOCK'S American Legion junior baseball nine went to the state tournament last year without firing a shot, or getting a base hit. But that was a year ago, and the story is going to be different this year. It is going to take a good ball club to get to the state tournament in 1945 as the West Texas team.

We recently termed junior baseball as "the fastest growing sport in West Texas" and could prove it. The additional proof that we picked up last week-end while in Odessa for the Sand Hill Relays just made it all the more conclusive.

We attended the meeting there Sunday when Odessa leaders started the organization work for their own leagues. It looks like those boys are going to come up with something, and our old pal Cotton Clover is really tickled over the way the program is shaping up.

But Odessa is not the only spot in that area that has turned to the sport, and our old pal Bill Barnett has started the ball rolling down in Big Spring, and he reports that Midland, Colorado City, Sweetwater and a few others down there are toying with the idea.

The self styled "Old Fat Man" of San Angelo, the great Blondy Cross, only grunted when we mentioned junior baseball to him. He argued that he didn't think the sport would take hold in San Angelo. But after undergoing an artillery barrage from others, we took special note that the "Old Fat Man" made some notes on junior baseball before he left Odessa.

SPEAKING of Blondy Cross, we learned Saturday evening that we have been either badly misinformed as to just where we were at, or have just learned that our geography lessons were sadly misleading.

In writing of the Sand Hill Relays in the San Angelo paper, Blondy started off his story:

"Coach Marlin Hayhurst, FORMER well known West Texas coach . . ." As we noticed this lead to Blondy's story, we questioned his phrasology on the basis that Shorty is still a well known West Texas coach.

It was then that we learned that Lubbock was not in West Texas. In blank amazement we sought to learn where in the world we were living at the present time. We learned then that Lubbock was just "on the plains." Blondy went to great length to explain to us that this was the "Panhandle and South Plains" and not West Texas.

We live and learn.

WITH spring football not far away maybe a little item on football will not be far amiss.

We shudder to think of the fate of the Westerners in at least two of the early season games—if we can take the word of Cotton Clover and Bob Moore at Odessa and Blondy Cross at San Angelo.

Cotton and Bob say the Bronchos are tired losing to the Westerners by 18 to 6 scores, and Blondy is confident "it can't happen again." Both will be gunning for the Westerners this season, and will be out for blood.

Both these games will be played in the home lairs of the Bronchos and Bobcats, which puts the Westerners behind the 8-ball to start with, but we shall see what we shall see.

I'll be seeing you.

Tennis Champions Named In Class A

O'DONNELL, April 10. (Special)—It took ten blistering sets to name the boys tennis champions in Class A here today in the finals of the district playoff, but seasoned veterans of last year's team from the district breezed through to repeat as district champions in the girls division.

The preliminary rounds of the tennis tournament were played off last week at Sudan, but the finals were moved here to reduce travel of the finalists.

C. L. Tomlinson and Raymond Pierce of O'Donnell were forced to come from behind twice to defeat Smith and Ball of Post in the boys doubles final, in a match that went the full five sets before the winner was named.

The Post pair took the lead, but O'Donnell came back to even the score. Post grabbed the lead again, and again O'Donnell came back, and went on to win, 4-6, 6-4, 3-6, 7-5, 6-1.

Jimmy Byrd of Post won the boys singles crown, but had to fight off a game rally by Edwards Brownlow to win in a blistering finish, Byrd took the first two sets, then Brownlow steamed back to take the next two and finish the match, but Byrd rallied in the finish to win 6-4, 6-4, 5-7, 0-6, 8-6.

O'Donnell's girls doubles team of Edna Edwards and Peggy Cummins, defending regional champions, will return to the regional meet this year, winning the title over Post, 6-2, 6-1.

The O'Donnell girls went to the state tournament last year, after winning the district and regional crown, and were beaten in the first round by Patsy Ross and Dolores Summers of Kerrville after putting up a game fight before bowing 6-3, 7-5.

Gilmer went to the finals in the regional meet at Canyon last year, but was beaten in the playoff at Lamesa the following week by Virginia Broyles, rated as one of the greatest all-time girl high school stars in West Texas.

'Gunder The Wonder' Will Go Home Soon

NEW YORK, April 10 (U.P.) — Swedish distance runner Gunder Haegg said today he had not received permission to extend his tour of American tracks to the outdoor season and that he would start home to Malmoe, Sweden as soon as he is able to obtain air passage.

However, his traveling companion Haakon Lidman, who set a new world high hurdles record of 14.4 seconds for the 110 meter distance at Davisville, R. I., last Saturday, said that he would remain for another month or more. He said he would arrange an outdoor tour which includes the Penn Relays and possibly one or two West Coast appearances, and that he hoped to remain for the A. A. U. outdoor championships late in June.

Browns Win Second Tilt From Cardinals

ST. LOUIS, April 10. (AP)—Thirteen hits, including a brace of homers by George McQuinn and Mike Kreevich produced seven runs for the St. Louis Browns today in their second triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals, 7 to 2.

It was the third of a seven-game exhibition city series.

The Cardinals made five of their nine hits in the first two innings but were held effectively in check by Al Hollingsworth, whose arm improved as he went along, and by Weldon West.

Don Gutteridge and Pete Gray worked a triple steal in the eighth. Gutteridge on second base broke for third as Gray edged off first. Catcher Del Rice got the ball too late to catch Gutteridge and threw to first in an attempt to nab Gray. While Pete was being chased along the baseline Gutteridge headed for home. Emil Verban threw home too late to catch the fleet Brownie; meanwhile Gray pulled up at second safely. Gutteridge was credited with two stolen bases and Gray one by the official scorer.

Army Nine Edges Out Texas Longhorns 5-4

AUSTIN, April 10 (AP) — The hitherto undefeated Texas Longhorns saw their perfect baseball record ruined here today as southpaw McLee Baker, semi-pro and ex-minor league star, hurled the San Marcos Army fliers to a 5-4 victory.

Texas went down swinging, though. Held to three hits during the first eight innings, the Longhorns rallied for four hits and four runs in the last of the ninth as pinch-hitter Tom Milik drove in a pair of runs with a double and Don Wooten singled two more markers across. But after the next Texas player had grounded to the shortstop, pinch-hitter Jack Avinger was tagged at the plate for the final out as he attempted to score the tieing run.

Lubbock Boy Beaten In Tournament Final

MARYVILLE, Mo., April 10 (Special)—James Weldon Cobb, Navy V-12 student at Northwest Mission State Teachers college, came out second best in the 160 pound class of the second all-station boxing tournament here last week. Cobb was beaten by Norman Neiss of McHenry, Ill., in the finals.

Cobb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cleve Cobb, graduated from Lubbock High school in May, 1944.

Paul Robeson Jr., son of the Negro concert singer and Rutger's All-America end of 1918, is an end at Cornell.

Stub Allison Is Fired As Coach

SAN FRANCISCO, April 10 (AP) Release of Leonard B. (Stub) Allison, head football coach at the University of California for the last 10 years, was announced here tonight by the executive committee of the associated students.

No successor was announced.

The committee voted at its weekly meeting Monday night not to renew Allison's contract, and tonight issued the following statement:

"It was made a matter of record that the committee expressed its fine regard for the long and valuable service that Mr. Allison has rendered the university.

"Temporary arrangements for a coaching staff to carry on the sport pending the release of permanent personnel from the armed forces are under consideration and will be announced soon."

Allison came to the university as assistant coach under William (Navy Bill) Ingram in 1931, replacing him as head coach in 1935.

During his term as head coach Allison's teams won 58 games and lost 42.

Last season the California Bears won 3, lost 6 and tied 1.

Player Injured As Yanks Whip Trenton

TRENTON, N. J., April 10 (AP) —Joe Riley, 29, of Philadelphia, rookie center fielder with the Trenton Spartons of the Interstate league, was critically injured today as the New York Yankees walloped the Spartans, 15 to 2, in an exhibition game.

Riley suffered a concussion, two broken ribs and possibly a skull fracture in the eighth inning when he crashed into the center field fence while chasing a long double by Johnny Lindell.

Pro Gridders Merge Brooklyn With Yanks

NEW YORK, April 10. (AP) — After four days of dickering, spiced by Tom Gallery's gesture of withdrawing from the transaction, the National Football league today settled its most pressing problem of 1945 just as planned from the beginning.

That was by merging the Brooklyn Tigers, almost to the point of obliteration, with the Boston Yanks. This merger, expected from the start of the league meeting last Friday, reduced the circuit to ten teams for 1945. Club owners then began drawing up the season's schedule.

The Tigers, already committed to leaving Brooklyn, will virtually lose their identity except that one of the combined club's home games — against the New York Giants—will be played in Yankee Stadium, New York. All other home games will be in Boston; business affairs will be transacted by the Boston organization and Herb Kopf of the Yanks will coach the team.

The single New York game, league officials said, will not affect the Giants' territorial rights and will have no bearing on the plan to shift the Brooklyn team to Yankee Stadium in 1946.

The league aimed another blow at proposed new leagues by voting that no National league club may schedule exhibition games against teams from other circuits, except the affiliated American associations and Dixie league, without the consent of four-fifths of the league members.

Athletics Drop Tilt With Toronto Leafs

HAGERSTOWN, Md., April 10 (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics, using mostly reserves, today dropped an exhibition game 11-4 to the Toronto Leafs.

Tom Ananicz and Luke Hamlin, former A's hurler, pitched four and five innings respectively for the Leafs.

Crippled Vets Show Plenty Of Pep Left

WASHINGTON, April 10 (AP)—You can't take the spirit of athletic competition out of America's war veterans, not even when they have lost arms and legs.

Amputees from the Walter Reed hospital demonstrated this today by playing a four-inning softball game in which the enlisted men, all leg cases, whooped it up in defeating the officers' team, 12 to 6. The game was a feature of the Army's physical reconditioning program.

As they amazed themselves, civilian onlookers, newsmen and cameramen with their agility, the amputees played as hard and had as much fun as kids on a corner lot.

When it was all over, the veterans plainly felt a lot better. One of them said, "It goes to show you what we can do if we want to bad enough."

Squadron A Captures Post Volleyball Title

Dr. Singleton Dies At Tahoka

TAHOKA, April 10. (Special)—Dr. J. R. Singleton, 67, a resident of Tahoka for approximately 30 years, and former mayor, died suddenly at 8:30 o'clock Monday night of a heart attack at his residence here.

Funeral services will be conducted at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the Singleton home.

Dr Singleton died 45 minutes after the attack. Members of his family said that he had never before suffered such an attack.

Mayor Several Years

A dentist by profession, Dr. Singleton was mayor of Tahoka from 1916 to 1928. During his administration municipal light and power and water and ice plants were constructed and approximately 20 blocks of paving were laid in the downtown section and to the railroad depot.

Recently he had not been as active in his profession as formerly. He had moved his office to his residence and administered to only a few patrons.

With his brother, the late Hal Singleton, he established the first lumber yard in O'Donnell.

He is survived by his wife; a daughter, Mrs. Olabelle Lamb of Lubbock, and a son, Dan W. Singleton of Tahoka.

Optimists Install New Officers Here

L. D. Casey, Lubbock real estate man, was installed as president of the Optimist club Tuesday night at the annual ladies night banquet of the club in Lubbock hotel. He succeeded M. L. Shepherd.

Other officers installed were Cliff Elliott, first vice president; J. D. Strickland, second vice president; Jim Holt, treasurer. E. L. Mader was reelected secretary. D. O. Dawkins was installed as a new member of the board of governors. Sloan Fortenberry was to have been installed as a member of the board but was unable to be present.

Other than Shepherd, retiring officers are J. W. Chapman, first vice president, and J. B. Morriset, treasurer. Casey was second vice president. Retiring board members are C. H. Scales and Cliff Cummings.

Guest speaker at the banquet was G. H. Nelson, local attorney, who spoke on "Why We Are Here and What Keeps Us Here."

He pointed out that the South Plains is enjoying an era of prosperity because of its fertile deep soil and that through conservation programs farmers are taking care of that soil.

A $25 War Bond was awarded Mrs. C. H. Scales, club pianist, for her work with the musical portion of the club's luncheon programs.

Western Front

To the west the Canadians plunged within 25 miles of the seaport of Emden in their race to close the last corridor leading into Holland where between 100,000 and 200,000 Germans are pocketed. Other units fought deeper into Holland itself.

At the southern end of the 400-mile front curving deep into Germany the U. S. Seventh Army struck within 45 miles of the Danube headwaters and the French First Army captured Pforsheim, 18 miles southeast of Karlsruhe and 22 miles from the big communications center of Stuttgart.

Compress Ruhr Pocket

Elements of the First and Ninth Army fought savage rear actions as they compressed the shrinking Ruhr pocket where 100,000 Germans were trapped. Field dispatches said the Germans were flying in old planes by night and trying to rescue key officers and personnel.

General Eisenhower's headquarters, in a broadcast declaring that "German resistance in the west has collapsed," called on the German population in the big ports in the north to keep fanatical Nazis from destroying what's left of those city's dock installations.

Lt. Gen. William H. Simpson's Ninth Army doughboys riding captured German half-tracks stormed and captured Hannover. Troops of the 84th Infantry division under Maj. Gen. Alexander Boling made the quick conquest of the city which mostly was a pile of bricks after five years of constantant bombing. Thousands of the city's peacetime population of 472,527 still were living in the ruins.

Elements of the veteran 30th division, sweeping around Hannover, cut the autobahn mid-way between there and Brunswick and then captured Vechelade, only five miles east of Brunswick. This stroke put these troops within 110 miles of Berlin.

Thugs Loot Scurry Ration Board Office

SNYDER, April 10. (Special)—Yeggs broke into the Scurry county rationing board office here Monday night, removed the safe and cleaned it of gasoline coupons.

The safe was hauled in a trailer to the city dump southeast of town and opened. The steel plate on the bottom of the safe was removed, then a thick layer of concrete was chiseled through, according to Scurry County Sheriff Earl Strawn.

Strawn said tonight that the OPA had not yet informed him of the exact loss but he said that the number of stolen coupons probably would be small. Only temporary supplies are kept at the office, he explained, the bulk of the coupons being stored in the courthouse.

Strawn said that a few shoe stamps might also have been taken.

The trailer used to transport the safe was found at the dump, Strawn said. There was no license plate on it, he said.

The rationing office is situated in a building on the south side of the square across from the courthouse. The sheriff said the place was entered through a rear door, the safe-crackers breaking a lock there and on another door inside.

Tahoka Rites Held For Henry Calaway

TAHOKA, April 10 (Special)—Funeral services for Henry W. Calaway, long prominent in politics and public affairs of Lynn county, were conducted this afternoon at the Baptist church in Tahoka.

Several years ago Calaway served as a member of the county commission. He twice had campaigned for the office of county judge. While unsuccessful he made creditable races.

He had been a resident of the county 29 years.

He is survived by a son, Daniel B. Calaway of the Draw community in Lynn county; three daughters, Mrs. Guy LeMond of Snyder, Mrs. Viva McIntosh, of Long Beach, Calif., and Mrs. Martha Maude Keever of Fort Worth.

Record Air Blow

of 70 enemy planes destroyed on the ground, also set last Sept. 5.

RAF bombers were also out against the Reich, with heavy bombers smashing railway yards at Leipzig and Plauen, some 90 miles to the south, while Mosquito bombers paid their nightly call on Berlin. Probably more than 1,000 RAF planes took part in these attacks, bringing to nearly 6,000 the total of planes which ripped through Germany in the last 12 hours.

More than 3,150 American planes took part in today's record-making smashes, attacking at least a dozen German airfields, including bases for the dangerous jet-propelled planes, and hitting at enemy supplies and rail equipment.

Included in the attacking force were 1,300 Britain-based U. S. Eighth Air force Flying Fortresses and Liberators, escorted by 850 fighters, and more than 1,000 fighter-bombers of the U. S. Ninth Air force and First Tactical Air force, operating from continental stations.

An Eighth Air force staff officer said that at last 100 more Nazi planes were probably splintered and an untold number were damaged by the 3,600 tons of fragmentation bombs and high explosives dropped by the Flying Fortresses and Liberators.

There was no way of confirming destruction caused by bombs dropped from a 20,000-foot level, but returning crewmen said that before depositing some of their loads they could see several airdromes crowded with flames.

One formation of Fortresses and its fighter escort repulsed the heaviest concentration of jet planes so far encountered over Germany when the bombers went in and blasted an ordnance depot and fighter base at Oranienburg, 15 miles north of Berlin.

Congratulations To:

Barns At Plainview Show Overflowing

PLAINVIEW, April 10. (Special) One of the most successful events in the history of the Plainview Dairy show was foreshadowed upon opening today with dairy barns filled to overflowing with stock and large crowds viewing the animals.

Winners of the milk production contest was determined today with the Jersey entry of Vestal Shipman, former president of the FFA club at New Deal in Lubbock county, taking first place. It was the first time since the show was started that the production contest has been won by a cow under two years old. Shipman now attends school at Tulia, where he is a member of both the 4-H and FFA clubs.

Entries of J. F. Ford of Lubbock took three places in the show, ranking fourth, tenth and eighth in as many classes. His stock was milking shorthorns.

A milking shorthorn entered by E. L. King and Son of Slaton won ninth place in the under two years group.

Wednesday will be Jersey day.

The show will be held through Friday.

assault, Moscow said, while another 42,000 were killed. Fifty thousand of those captured were taken after the city's formal fall at 9:30 p. m. Monday night. Among the prisoners were 1,819 officers and four generals, including the commandant, a General Lasch.

Hastening the final cleanup of all East Prussia, the Third White Russian Army thrust westward from Koenigsberg and took four towns on the Samland peninsula, Moscow announced.

The Russians were officially silent concerning operations on any other fronts, but German reports said the Red armies also had opened a final assault to reduce the holdout citadel of Breslau, capital of lower Silesia, and thereby free additional forces for a concerted drive westward towards the rushing American armies.

Still Jittery On Oder

Berlin commentator Lt. Col. Alfred von Olbert broadcast that "strong Russian concentrations in the Bunzlau and Guben area, 53 miles southeast of Berlin, and the appearance of fresh forces in the Kuestrin area, 32 miles east of Berlin, indicated that Russian wedges will be aimed at both flanks to outflank Berlin from north and south."

Von Olberg also suggested that divisions freed from the victorious siege of Koenigsberg in East Prussia might launch a new Baltic seacoast drive for the great port of Stettin and ultimately toward Kiel.

Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky, part of whose forces were aiding in the Vienna encirclement, cut loose other troops in southern Slovakia for a drive between the Morava and upper Nitra rivers toward the Moravian border.

Nazi Confusion

from some taken after D-day in France, when the attitude still was cockily pro-Hitler.

I meet a blind spot, however, when the question of collective guilt for this war is raised. Having heard nothing except what Goebbels' propaganda permitted, they often seem genuinely surprised at such fundamentals as that Hitler declared war on the United States or that Hitler provoked an incident at the Polish frontier whereupon he built a case of alleged invasion of Germany by the Poles. It is hard for them at first to realize that the world regards them as aggressors. They have been told for years that Germany was attacked by a ring of enemies.

years he had been in the Pacific. He attended Texas Tech three years and worked at Mark Halsey Drug here for five years. He enlisted in the Army in 1942 and was a draftsman with the field artillery of the 41st division.

Pfc. William Francis Elliott, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. E. Elliott of Lorenzo, was wounded by a grenade on the tenth day after landing with the Marines on Iwo Jima. He was wounded in both legs and his left arm, a letter to his parents said, but his condition is good now, he wrote. He volunteered for service with the Marine corps in August 1943 and was inducted soon afterwards. He landed with the Fourth division in the Marshall islands in January last year and went on to Saipan and Tinian. He has been given a Presidential Unit citation for the work at Tinian, and also wears a Marine Sharpshooter medal with 3 bars. He attended school at Lorenzo.

Bombers flying the China sea blockade have "almost cleared the shipping lanes to the south," MacArthur reported. He said that "in default of shipping targets, our heavy and medium bomber patrols of the blockade destroyed bridges, installations and railway equipment along the arterial railway line running north along the French Indo-China coast and bombed the Hoe How airdrome on Hainan."

Stop The "Hush-Hush!"

Diplomatic Secrecy Unnecessary

LIKE most Americans, we are "willing to try anything," including a newfangled League of Nations, in an effort to forestall future wars. We can plainly see that our past policies failed to contribute to the cause of continuous peace. Therefore, we welcome new ones which cannot possibly fail to any greater extent than the old ones did.

But unlike some of our merry internationalists, we do not regard as treasonable any observation aimed at picking flaws in plans for global co-operation as they have gone thus far. We believe that the sooner flaws can be discovered and brought to light, the more chance eventual world co-operation has to efficiently and smoothly function.

Uncovering of at least a part of the secrecy surrounding the commitments at Yalta is, we think, a good thing for the country. We believe all the rest of the secrecy entered into at Yalta, in previous meetings of the "Big Three," and upon other occasions, should be swept away and the people told the whole truth. After all, Mr. Roosevelt represents the adults of this nation, not merely himself and his own aims, however glorious they may be. Those of us he represents are perfectly capable of shouldering our part of the load—and are more likely to do so if we know "what it's all about."

First thing to do to assure eventual success in global co-operation, it seems to us, is to do away with all the diplomatic "double-talk," all the "under-the-table-dealing," and all the "hush-hush" involved. If and when that is done, the rank-and-file of Americans will be in better position to put their shoulders to the wheel—and, we think, more likely to do so.

Goebbels Is A Piker!

A GREAT deal of derision rightfully has been heaped upon the gnomed head of Paul Joseph Goebbels, Nazi ministed of propaganda, for the far-fetched things he has printed and shouted in an effort to fool the world about the German nation. He has been called not only "today's Baron Munchausen," but also, more directly, "the biggest liar in the world."

But Doktor Goebbels, in his palmiest days, couldn't compete with a "simple German haufrau" who contacted a group of American soldiers shortly after our forces began bridging the Rhine in great force. Said she:

"We Germans are a kindly, gentle people. Please be lenient with us."

Oh, yes. Kindly—to the people of Warsaw, for instance, of Lublein.

Gentle? Oh, yes. Ask the people of Rotterdam, of Lidice.

Ask millions who died directly because of the "kindness" and the "gentleness" of the German people; ask other millions who, somehow, have lived through such "kindness and gentleness."

Doktor Goebbels is a piker. He's a small imitation of the real thing when compared to the German housfrau who called her people "kind" and "gentle."

Heartbreak In Paris

FOR several weeks now, former prisoners of war in the Rhineland have been pouring by train into Paris at the rate of 2,000 a day. This flood of returning Frenchmen presents many heartaches. Most of them have been away from France for more than four years. Many find their families have been scattered.

In nearly every case, the Frenchman is confused as to his future livelihood. Upon his return to France each man receives $20 in pocket money and a hasty medical examination. He is promised a new suit of clothes, shoes, more money and double rations for six months. And that's "the crop."

Dreaming of nearly five years of their homes these victims of the Nazis built up ideal pictures and it is natural for many of them to be plunged into deepest depression when they face reality. It will take many of them years to recover the shock, piled upon previous experiences and hardships. Some will never recover.

Thus another heartrending effect of war projects itself for years into the future. When, oh, when, will men learn the futility of international conflict—then do something to forever relegate it onto the ash heap with the other relics of barbarism?

"If you watch a game, it's pastime; if you play it, it's recreation," says a sports writer. And if you fight it, it's bridge.

The One Minute Sermon

Yea doubtless, and I count all things but loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord: for whom I have suffered the loss of all things, and do count them but dung, that I may win Christ.

And be found in him, not having mine own righteousness, which is of the law, but that which is through the faith of Christ, the righteousness which is of God by faith:

That I may know him, and the power of his resurrection, and the fellowship of his sufferings, being made conformable unto his death:

If by any means I might attain unto the resurrection of the dead.—Philippians 3: 8 through 11.

The Story: The disastrous news he receives just before his concert so unnerves Chopin that his entire performance is a fiasco. THE INVITATION

In the morning he was at the piano, in his dressing gown, working out the great themes when Jozef Elsner, rubbing the sleep (and perhaps the dreams also) from his eyes, looked into the room. Frederic heard him.

"Good morning, Professor."

"Humph. You slept?"

"Not very much."

"—I am not going to quarrel, Frederic. How can I quarrel? I know what was in your head. I don't even blame you—"

"Any notices?"

"—Tch, tch—"

Frederic continued playing. The themes were taking shape.

"—Good. Very strong."

"Do you catch it, Professor?"

"—Eh?"

"The spirit of Poland?"

"—Yes, of course. Indeed."

"Well, Professor, what did they say—the critics—the great critics of Paris? Come, come, you have every morning paper in your room—and I know it. Why, without your papers—"

"—Madame Mercier did bring a few up. I don't lie, Frederic. There's no need to lie."

"And how bad are they?"

Jozef Elsner put his chubby hand to his hair. "Well, not bad. But not enthusiastic. I would say Just more or less ordinary—"

"Really!"

"—Not exactly ordinary — not exactly. What's said is said. Critics!—What do they know? Nothing! There is not a critic in the world—" He returned to his room and came back with a bundle of morning papers. "Stuff—stuff — nothing but stuff—not most abominable—enough to turn your stomach—"

Then something caught his eye as he was contemptuously leafing through them. He held the paper farther away, at arm's length. "—Tch, tch—this looks almost intelligent—"

"Read it, Professor. I am in a mood for anything."

Jozef Elsner read. "'A genius —'"

"Sarcasm," Frederic said.

—Not exactly, Frederic." He continued: "'—A genius such as this Frederic Chopin appears only once in a hundred years—'"

"—Umm! How is that! In print! —Right here—just as I said—tch, tch—" He read: "'—A star has risen among us—'" Jozef Elsner's chest swelled. "'—A star has risen among us brighter than we have ever known—'"

He removed his spectacles. He wiped them on his sleeve.

Frederic stared.

Jozef Elsner returned his spectacles to his nose. He fastened them behind his ears, in a businesslike manner, then read the article, a long one, down to the very end without saying another word. Then he looked up. "What I always say, Frederic—no one so important in the world as a critic."

"Who wrote it? Some schoolboy?"

Jozef Elsner adjusted his spectacles again, though certainly they didn't need adjusting. "Schoolboy, nothing! Whoever it is—it's the most brilliant critic in Paris! I don't think it. I have the knowledge! I know!"

"—Someone you called on the other day, no doubt."

"No doubt." Elsner scanned the column again. "George Sand!"

"—Madame Sand?"

"No! Just plain George Sand!"

"—The lady we met the other day!"

"—Tch, tch. It doesn't make a bit of difference—"

Madame Mercier came into the room without knocking.

"For you." She handed Jozef Elsner a letter, then waited for him to open it. It was not every lodger who received letters by special messenger—a messenger, by the way, who came and left by carriage.

"—I don't have to sign?"

"No, Monsieur. It came by carriage."

"—What!"

"Yes, Monsieur."

"—Tch, tch," Jozef Elsner looked at the letter. "Humph. Not for me." He handed it to the astonished Frederic. "For you."

Madame Mercier stretched her neck as Frederic tore open the letter.

"Bad news? You know what they say, Frederic, it never rains—"

Frederic read the letter twice in silence.

"How can it be worse?" Jozef Elsner asked. "Read it, Frederic."

Frederic read in a quiet voice: "'My dear Chopin: It would please the Duchess of Orleans—'"

"—What!"

Frederic continued: "'—if you and your teacher would attend a reception at her home tonight.'"

Jozef Elsner's chest expanded. He worked his jaw, his head stretched from his collar in the direction of Madame Mercier.

"—From the Duchess of Orleans, Madame!"

"No," said Frederic.

"—What!"

"No, Professor, not from the Duchess of Orleans—"

"—Tch, tch."

"The letter is signed—George Sand."

"—The Duchess of Orleans—" Jozef Elsner gazed inot the startled face of Madame Mercier. "George Sand? Humph. How could she know it would please the Duchess? Eh?"

Date Tentatively Set For Legion Session

Members of the Allen Brothers Post 148 set a tentative date of May 5 for the 19th District American Legion and Auxiliary spring meeting when they met Monday night at the Legion Hall, it was reported by C. A. Hubbard, post commander.

District Commander O. K. Woodal of Littlefield attended the meeting and requested that the Lubbock post serve as host for the district meeting.

The usual registration fee of $1.00 will be followed. The 31 posts of the district are expected to elect delegates this month and file with the district commander before May 5.

Capt. Gordon Treadaway of Lubbock Army Air field, guest speaker, told Legion members that public attention should be focused on an intelligent approach to the present and future problems of World War II veterans. He reviewed the problems of the first World War and outlined the problems the people of this country and other nations could expect following World War II.

H. J. McCabe, chairman of boys and girls activities of the post, made some announcements regarding the summer baseball program sponsored by the post. He also announced that the Boys State would be held the early part of June in Austin. Local civic clubs have heretofore sent representatives to the meeting where particular attention is given to various administrative capacities of state government.

Looking At Life - - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

A Massachusetts woman—whose name doesn't matter and who was 100 years old—died last week, leaving 78 descendants, including two sons, two daughters, 29 grandchildren, 33 great grandchildren, nine great great grandchildren and three great great great grandchildren—and as it says at the end of today's instalment of your favorite serial story—"To Be Continued."

The woman in question was a good woman.

BRANDEIS

She went to church, she brought up a nice family, and, according to the reports, she voted at the last presidential election.

From what I hear each one of her descendants is a good American citizen. None has been in jail, there are no records of divorces, disorderly conduct or any other crimes or misdemeanors in her family.

And yet, I asked myself when I read of her death, what does she and many other good people leave behind outside of progeny?

I read the other day that the Census Bureau estimates that in 1970 there will be more than 160,000,000 people in this country.

And in Russia there will be almost 200 million people, and China has 458 million people today and India harbors 389 millions.

Only a small proportion of all these millions and millions are what you would call bad people.

Most of them live and die and eat and sleep and procreate.

But the cynic would ask "So What?"

What do all these people do to justify the high opinion human beings have of themselves

In what respect are they so much better than the animals of the field and of the forest?

How do they justify their existence?

What is their purpose and their destiny?

How have they earned the space they occupy and how do they figure that "the world owes them a living"?

Or, for that matter, how do you and I justify our existence?

What have we done to give us pride and arrogance?

By what right do we strut and boast and look down on others and consider ourselves entitled to a place in heaven?

• • •

LOOK around you and do a little self-appraising.

Have you done one single thing to help prevent war?

Have you done one single thing to promote understanding among men, to ease suffering, to eliminate poverty, to do away with greed and lust—in other words to make the world a better place in which to live and which to leave?

Goodness knows I am not a preacher and I know that I have my share of all the sins and shortcomings to which man is heir.

But when I look around me and see all the meanness, and the cheapness and the trickiness and the vileness in which men indulge, I certainly see no reason for vanity or pride.

Any healthy human being can leave a lot of descendants and any average man or woman—at least in this country—can earn enough to eat and sleep and have the common comforts of life.

But cows eat. And jackasses sleep. And pigs certainly look comfortable to me.

So when I go to bed tonight I am going to ask myself:

"What have I done today to pay for that third-row orchestra seat in the theatre of life to which I think I am entitled?"

What will your answer be if you ask yourself that question?

Or, maybe, you got in on a pass.

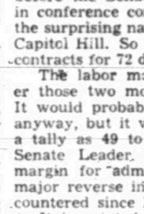

The National Whirligig

Disagreement With USSR Basic

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

PRESIDENT Roosevelt and Premier Josef Stalin are engaged in a far more fundamental clash over problems of postwar organization and permanent peace than has yet been revealed in all the excited talk about such questions as the multiple-vote arrangement in the World Assembly and admission to the San Francisco conference of a more liberal, and reorganized Polish government.

Washington and London have made every attempt to conceal the differences which lie behind the diplomatic curtain. In fact, the White House and the State department welcome the open disagreements because they tend to subordinate the real issue, which is this:

TUCKER

The realistic Russian dictator has no use for the complicated Dumbarton Oaks organization which the United States sponsored last fall. He does not believe that little or weak nations should have either a loud or small voice in any postwar plan for keeping the peace. He considers them to be too ineffectual to be of any value.

The responsibility for preventing future wars, in his opinion, should be assumed by the three great military and territorial powers — Russia, Britain and the United States. He would not include France or China in this economic and antiwar hegemony.

SECRET: Stalin's ultimate aim is a straight-out alliance of the three great powers that have borne the major burden of defeating Germany. He argues that if they are sincere in their desire for peace and will remain friends nothing else matters.

He maintains that under such a setup there will be no need for a World Security Council and Assembly, with representation for small and bickering nations, as provided in the plan framed in Old Georgetown. In the long run, he believes, the little peoples will benefit from this sort of heavy-handed guardianship.

(Messrs. Roosevelt and Churchill, however, cannot afford to disregard domestic sentiment in the same way that Stalin can. Although they secretly sympathize with his basic ideas as being more practical, they realize that their democratic constituents would never stand for such a seemingly tyrannical overlordship. They feel that they must abide by the plan for a supervisory body of general membership such as that contemplated in the Dumbarton Oaks agreement.

Stalin's diplomatic experts point out, in reply, that the Holy Alliance, although an imperialistic and "divine right of kings" arrangement, kept general peace on the European continent for almost 100 years.

The several surrenders to the Soviet dictator at Yalta derived from the Roosevelt-Churchill desire to obtain Stalin's consent to their broader program. The Washington-London concessions, so belatedly revealed, resemble those which Woodrow Wilson made to Clemenceau to win the Frenchman's support for a League of Nations, which was the big dream of that era.

Note: It is understood that the Yalta conferees negotiated another secret pact favoring Russia. They are said to have agreed to force Turkey to grant the Soviet the right to joint control of the Dardanelles, thus giving Moscow the historically sought warm water ports and quick access to western waters in the event of a war crisis.

REVERSE: Veteran Washington observers and friends of James F. Byrnes wonder whether the canny South Carolinian has not repaid the President for exploding his Vice Presidential boom in Chicago last July. Despite the "Dear Jimmie" acceptance of the War Mobilizer's sudden resignation, there is evidence that relations between the two men are somewhat strained.

The Byrnes report on reconversion prospects after V-E day, timed for appearance only two days before the Senate voted on the work-or-fight bill in conference committee form, was responsible for the surprising nature of the White House setback on Capitol Hill. So was his order that the Navy cancel contracts for 72 destroyers.

The labor measure was doomed to defeat after those two moves by the "Assistant President." It would probably have lost by eight or 10 votes, anyway, but it would not have been sunk by such a tally as 49 to 26. On the morning of the vote, Senate Leader Barkley foresaw only a 10-man margin for administration opponents in the first major reverse in war legislation that FDR has encountered since Pearl Harbor.

It is pointed out that Mr. Byrnes might easily have delayed his resignation and his report until the balloting. He had given a vague promise to remain in until after Germany had been defeated.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

AS GENERAL Patton draws the noose tighter around southern Germany, there is widespread discussion as to how effectively enemy remnants can hold out in the hills.

Nazi propagandists want us to believe that, after the Wehrmacht has been destroyed, Hitler will send form the mountain lairs a pack of "werewolves" to prey on all who cooperate with the Allies. They boast that we cannot break through the Alpine passes without heavy casualties.

Military experts do not doubt the desire of the gangsters to cause more bloodshed and misery. But their fangs are being pulled.

LEMAN

Even if they hole up with the mountain goats, their power to injure will be limited by the number of fanatics and dupes who will still obey Hitler's orders.

Here are some of the chinks in their last suit of armor:

Landlicked Czechoslovakia is a natural trap. Austria is filled with patriots burning to square accounts for the loss of their independence. Northern Italy—exposed to amphibious attack — contains the most anti-Fascist clements of the entire peninsula.

In any one of these three sections Nazi fugitives will be in the midst of a vengeful population. Spying and disorders might not impede a huge army but they would certainly make things difficult for scattered bands of Brownshirts.

The Czechoslovakian underground in New York gives this example of the way its resistance movement is pestering the foe. A few days ago a group of students, peasants and ex-soldiers crept up to a Nazi outpost, knifed the guards and seized the detachment's weapons. The Germans captured and hanged a girl because she would not disclose the whereabouts of her comrades. Once the United Nations forces are near, harassment will be increased a hundredfold.

Even the Sudeten Germans, who showered Hitler with flowers after the Munich betrayal, have turned against their erstwhile "deliverer." The hypocrites have discarded their swastikas and pose as loyal Czechs.

GUERRILLAS: It is generally assumed that the die-hard SS troops and party members in the Alps will carry on guerrilla warfare, the terrain, lack of men and materiel make large-scale military operations impossible.

But, to be effectual, the irregulars must be close to a main army or some outside source of strength.

For instance, it can now be revealed that Soviet armed civilians left far in the wake of the Red Army in its retreat toward Moscow did not seriously upset Nazi plans. Brave men and women sniped at the advancing enemy and scorched the earth, but they could not cope with the preponderance of men and armor.

Later, when the Russians executed an about-face and drove the Nazis before them, Stalin was able to send weapons, dynamite and tools to his partisans; they slashed German communications everywhere.

V-Bombs Still Spread Death, Destruction

Antwerp Docks Busy As Beehives

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

ANTWERP, Belgium.—There is a lot of difference in working at this great port which brings in such a tremendous load of supplies for the Allied armies and in working back home in any of our great production cities—Detroit, Pittsburgh and the like — or, at any of our ports.

Working conditions are different in more ways than one.

Thousands of Belgian civilians and large numbers of American Supply troops work here along the miles and miles of docks which have been a daily target for V-bombs, both kinds, the V-1 which makes a noise and the V-2 which doesn't.

STOKES

The V-1 bombs have been raining in here from Holland for four months, ever since the port was put into operation after its capture by the British. It is operated under joint control, about 70 per cent American, 30 per cent British.

Loss Of Life Heavy

In the four months there was only one day when no V-bombs hit here. The loss of life and the damage have been high. Coming from a country where nothing like this ever happens — fresh from the United States—it is hard to understand how they live and work under it, just as it is hard to understand, too, about London, which also gets them. The target in this city is more concentrated than in London. The chance of survival seems less.

It is a nerve wracking experience to visit Antwerp. I confess it frankly and so do other Americans who come here. You learn, too, that it is trying for those who live and work here, though they go about their business normally, to all outward appearance.

EVERYBODY tells you about Antwerp before you come here, which induces a nice case of jitters as you begin to get near the place. We went in by car. Hardly had we entered the city before we saw a crowd of people standing around a yawning hole in the street, where a V-bomb fell the night before and knocked out part of a building.

Not long afterward we passed another big hole. You try to take your mind off of it. But it always comes back to the gruesome thought that perhaps the next minute you won't be here; for the V-2 makes no noise. It just strikes —and you are in eternity. It is diabolical and fiendish, this Nazi invention.

Everybody recites the common saying until you wish they would hush: "If you hear it you're all right."

As you drive through the city, and particularly about the docks, you begin to calculate your chances. Now, you say to yourself, perhaps by turning down this street, as we did, instead of turning down that, or inspecting this particular dock works instead of that, as we first had intended to do, we are going to step right into one. Those things run through your mind. You can't stop them.

Belgians Aid In Project

Americans who live here in Antwerp take special delight, too, in pointing out where the bombs have hit. They also show you pictures.

Only three came in during the four hours we were in the city. They were far off, a dull sound. We heard them.

Yet the dock workers and the Supply troops go right ahead about their business. When a V-bomb hits, they pitch right in and help to clear away the bodies and the damage. The Belgians regard this as a patriotic service, working here on the docks of this great port, which is a municipal enterprise of which they are justly proud.

They get the equivalent of $4 a day for a seven-hour shift. The pay is known as "shiver money." They also get a lunch of soup and sandwiches in the middle of the day. Some of them come as far as 15 to 20 miles to their jobs, riding bicycles.

For those who go to work at 6 a. m. on the first of the two shifts, it means getting up at 2:30.

THIS port operation here is magnificent. Antwerp was the third port in the world, after New York and London. It is living up to its reputation now in getting supplies through to the armies, as the records show. They come through here in a flood, and go out, day by day, on railroads, on barges in the Albert canal which feeds into this whole area, and by truck. The great business goes on in a space of 30 miles of docks.

It is thrilling to see the Belgians, the British and the Americans doing this job under such handicaps. It makes complaints heard at home seem trivial. You realize what a strain it must be to work here; and you feel a sense of relief when you are finally out of Antwerp, out from under the threat which hovers over those people constantly.

SCOFFS AT PEACE RUMORS

SAN FRANCISCO, April 10 (AP) —The Tokyo radio scoffed today at American and British comment that the new cabinet of Premier Kantaro Suzuki might initiate peace feelers.

Prior to the invention of spectacles about five centuries ago, very little was known about light.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

Buses are overburdened as never before. A crisis is near. With more men, tires and gas going to war, present service can barely be maintained. Each day brings greater loads. When you must travel locally, let this be your creed:

1. Do Not Ride in Rush Hours, except to and from your job.
2. Have Exact Fare Ready, saves time and fuss.
3. Move Back When Driver Asks, speeds your ride.

This simple creed will work wonders.

Good Neighbor Cost Is Worry

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 10—Congress is worried about the cost of being a postwar good neighbor to the world, but Senator George (D-Ga) said today it's not likely to find out soon.

George said several Senate committees have been poking around without success into executive department operations in search of an estimate on future foreign loans and grants.

The trouble, he asserted, is that the officials congressional committees can get before them don't know about long range projects—which originate at the White House — much before Congress finds out. Then, he said, commitments may have been made that would be embarrassing not to fulfill.

"The only way I know for Congress to find out about commitments is for the appropriations committee to refuse to approve funds for certain operations until it gets estimates on every potential postwar expenditure," George told a reporter.

Acting Chairman McKellar (D-Tenn) said the appropriations group certainly will get any information it can. But McKellar expressed doubt that any postwar commitments yet have been made for loans or any other expenditures.

Report Is Heard On Johnson Grass

In a meeting Monday afternoon in the office of the county agent, the Lubbock County Johnson grass committee heard reports of the progress made in the control program thus far and committee members are convinced that Lubbock county is continuing her fight to eradicate the menace.

The program was started in 1944 and the response was so encouraging the county commissioners determined the program should be continued and appropriated a salary for an assistant to the county agent to assume charge of the education work. H. P. Read was employed in this position.

In a recent meeting of the committee recommendation was made for the continuation of all practices used last year to eradicate the menace to county farms. The committee directed Jason O. Gordon, county agent, and Read to encourage farm operators to use heavier applications of fuel oils.

Program Outlined

The committee has outlined the following program for the months of April and May:

Removal of old fences; intensive cultivation until late planting; purchase of all planting seed free of Johnson grass; careful selection of land to be planted to crops requiring additional attention in cultivation; preparation of equipment for spraying fuel oil; a clearer understanding between landowner and tenant operator of the contribution each should make in controlling Johnson grass.

"Lubbock county farmers realize it will be difficult to eradicate Johnson grass, but it is the unanimous opinion that some control program is necessary to protect the present productive land in the county," said Joe Nislar, committee chairman.

The committee is composed of Nislar, R. A. Boyd, W. O. Fortenberry, Douglas Pounds, L. A. Howard, W. P. Martin, H. T. Swanner, Henry Mahoney and G. P. Kuykendall.

Opportunities In South Are Cited

WASHINGTON, April 10 (AP)—The Commerce department reported today that "great opportunities exist for increasing both factory production and foreign trade" in southern states.

In the first of a series of charts giving basic business facts which it declared are needed to work out solutions to the South's problems the department said that in the years immediately before the war, 15 southern states had:

32 per cent of the nation's population; 53 per cent of the nation's farms; 42 per cent of the nation's minerals, but—

Only 22 per cent of the nation's retail sales volume; 18 per cent of the nation's factory production; and 14 per cent of the nation's foreign trade shipments (export and import trade through southern ports).

Five thousand copies of the first chart are being mailed to leading business firms and trade associations by the southern states industrial council, an organization of firms in 15 states, including Oklahoma, and Texas.

Jap Prisoner Missed Food, Cigarets Most

HOUSTON, April 10. (UP)—One of the toughest aspects of three years in a Japanese prison camp is the lack of American cigarets—and sufficient food, American or otherwise.

Sgt. Garrett Russell, veteran of both world wars who was one of the first Americans liberated in the reconquest of the Philippines, said on returning home: "The thing I missed most during that three years was not eating."

"And I hadn't had an American cigaret in two years when those boys set us free."

OPA Is Blamed For Freezes And Burns

PORTLAND, Ore., April 10 (AP)—John McDow blames the OPA for landing him in the hospital. First they froze him, then they burned him, he claims.

The hotel where he lived had been refused extra fuel by the OPA, so McDow got an electric hot plate to help keep him warm. The hot plate ignited a blanket on the bed where he was sleeping, and McDow received painful leg burns.

Proclamation Of End Of Organized Nazi Resistance Is Believed Near

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

There are broad hints in front line news from Germany that within a few days Allied-Russian leadership may proclaim the end of organized warfare in Germany.

Reflecting that, AP's Wes Gallagher, writing from Hamelin, close behind the center of the Allied advance toward the Elbe, suggested that the first junction of Allied and Russian forces might well be deemed the moment for such action. He pointed out also that it would leave German troops the choice between surrender as war prisoners or being hunted down and dealt with as guerrillas with "no legal military status."

SIMPSON

Offered that choice, Gallagher added, the low morale of German prisoners taken in the last two weeks left small doubt of what most of their comrades would do.

Fuehrer Losing Face

"Those still willing to die for the fuehrer are few and far between," he said.

That war followed by a broadcast from Allied headquarters telling Germans that resistance in the west has collapsed. With what is left of German divisional organizations apparently trapped or virtually so there has been no word from any sector of resistance by other than odd-lot forces, fanatical as it has been in some cases. The speed with which American and British forces crossed good defense lines to encircle and leave behind Hannover is further evidence of the total collapse of formal organized warfare in the west.

There has been no such collapse to date among German armies facing the Russians along the Oder-Neisse line in the east. It may come, but so far the Nazi high command has accepted defeat after defeat in the west without shifting troops from the east to meet the crisis.

Whether that can be traced to Nazi preference to see most of Germany overrun by Allied troops rather than Russian remains to be seen, but events point that way now. The test will come when the main Russian drive for a breakthrough on the Oder-Neisse line for a junction with Allied forces at the Elbe is launched. Berlin has insisted for weeks it was impending if not in progress but without confirmation from Moscow.

At the moment the most probable scene of such a junction looks to be somewhere east of Leipzig. A broad American drive is pushing into the wide flat-land corridor leading directly to Leipzig and the Elbe that lies south of the Harz mountains.

The Russians on the southern segment of the Oder-Neisse line where it runs closest to advancing Allied armies in the center, have tougher terrain to cross to reach the Elbe but not so far to go. If that is the place chosen for first joining forces and ripping Germany wide apart at the waistline as it looks to be, it can be only a matter of days if not hours until the final two-way squeeze is applied and the stage set for a joint proclamation designed to shatter utterly Germany Army morale.

International Air Route Is Discussed

DENVER, April 10. (AP)—Delegates representing sections from the Mexican border to Whitehorse in the Yukon region of Canada decided at a one-day meeting to bring to the attention of appropriate officials what they termed the advantage of an air route connecting the United States, Canada, Alaska and the Orient.

The group, organized under the name of the Sunshine International Air Route association, proposes a continuous inland route from their country to Alaska following approximately the Alcan highway.

"We don't know what the southern terminal of this route would be," said R. S. McIlvaine of Denver, conference chairman. "All gateways from the South, however, feed into Denver. The proposed route would serve all the territory from Shreveport, La., west of Winslow, Ariz."

"Little Gust" Is Alive And Well In His Native Greece

"Little Gust" Delis, the hustling, friendly, ambitions little Greek boy who was known to hundreds of Lubbock cafe patrons in the late 1920's and 1930's who was Texas Tech's first graduate of European birth, is alive and well after living through the rigors of the German and Italian occupation of Greece.

"Little Gust," whose real name, Konstantin, was not known to many, has written his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Gust Kallas, 2319 Eighth street, and the communication is the first word they have had from him in five years. Considerable fear had been felt for his safety.

"Little Gust" came to Lubbock to live with his uncle in 1925 and finished high school here and later was graduated from Texas Tech with a B.A. degree in business administration. He worked for Kallas at the Tech and the Busy Bee Cafes before returning to Greece in 1937. His home is in Patras, Greece, where he now works for the United Nations Rehabilitation and Relief administration.

"How we are living today is a mystery," "Little Gust" wrote his uncle. "Those barbarians, the Germans and Italians, burned our homes, killed our people and forced us to starvation. Majeika was burned by the Germans. My house was burned. Our birthplace, Tsorata, was saved, thank the Lord. In Majeika, though, all our belongings were destroyed. We praise the Lord, however, that we were saved from the German guns, because houses will be built again."

"We are living in destitution due to the terrible treatment of the Germans during the long period of occupation. Our thanks to the English and Americans, who came to our rescue, and the UNRRA, which is doing a great piece of work."

Delis says that he is planning to return to Lubbock if circumstances ever permit. He was married soon after his return to Greece and has a son five and a daughter three. He is a cousin of Mr. and Mrs. John Zournas, 1628 Eighteenth.

Bill Withdrawn To Expand Muleshoe

AUSTIN, April 10. (U.P.)—So far as the Texas House is concerned the Panhandle's potato-growing town of Muleshoe is still fenced in.

Rep. Tom Deen, Floydada, withdrew his bill giving the county seat of Bailey county the right to expand its corporate limits after vigorous protests from Rep. S. J. Isaacks, El Paso.

Deen said Muleshoe had become a leading potato growing area, but land surrounding the West Texas town was owned completely by a large cattle syndicate. The syndicate won't sell the pasture land though it is unpopulated. Other interests can't erect needed sheds and a drying plant for the potato industry, Deen complained.

His bill provided towns under 5,000 population might enlarge by vote of the city council. It was amended to specify the area to be annexed should not be occupied by qualified voters.

Isaacks said he sympathized with Deen's and Muleshoe's troubles, but "they want to take in land and tax it so the owners will have to sell."

"That's takinug a man's property without due process of law," Isaacks said. "The amendment makes it more vicious because a town could seize a farmer's land and tax it so he'd have to sell. This is a dangerous precedent."

Deen, asking consent to withdraw his bill, said he would get Isaacks and others to help him iron out Muleshoe's difficulties.

The first flamethrowers on record was used at Delium in 424 B.C., and consisted of a hollow tree trunk attached to the lower end of which was a basin filled with glowing coals, sulphur and pitch. A bellows blew the flame from this pipe in the form of a jet.

Surveys indicate that about one of every five children being graduated from grammar school has visual defects.
