U.S. Pushes Plans For Defense

'Adjustments' In Business To Continue

By FELIX COTTEN
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Government officials today pictured the remainder of 1949 as a high prosperity period which will witness a continuance of business readjustments.

They declared that, while the business decline appears to be checked, there will still be a lot of changes, with prices being cut moderately to entice reluctant consumer buyers and small businesses failing here and there.

Government experts voiced mild optimism over the prospects of substantial Easter sales this year, but they said it is too early as yet to determine whether the sales volume will be greater than last year.

Stores Are Optimistic

They explained that stores in many areas are optimistic and feel that they will have equally as good an Easter this year as last. But they are inclined to be cautious themselves.

Although uncertain on this matter, the government people say they expect some seasonal pick-up in business this month, and an appreciable drop in unemployment.

Charles Stewart, Bureau of Labor Statistics program planning executive, predicted that "moderate price cuts in line after line will maintain a high level of consumer expenditures" in 1949.

Difficult Period Seen

C. F. Hughitt, chief of the Commerce department small business division, sounding a more pessimistic note, forecast that the remainder of 1949 will be a "difficult period" for small business and that an increasing number of marginal concerns will fail.

Stewart, speaking before an American Legion regional economic conference, said the rest of the year may prove to be a period of "very firm demand for employment."

While there is no guarantee that a recession will not occur from the present level, he declared, the outlook against such a development is favorable.

Weaker Firms May Go

Hughitt, addressing the same group, said that there are many trading areas "with too many appliance stores, too many taverns, too many cleaning establishments, etc."

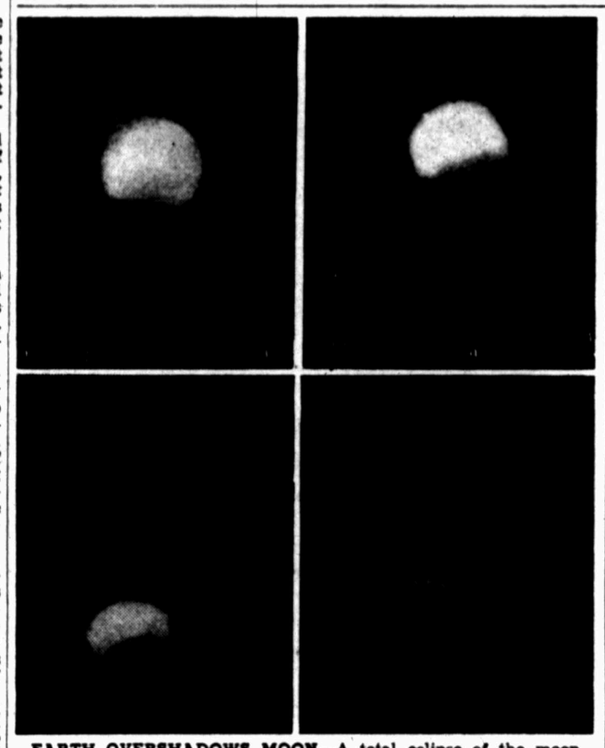

He said "competition will be severe and the business mortality rate can be expected to be higher," adding:

"In trading areas where there is excess of businesses, as compared to consumer potential, the weaker companies will disappear, just because there are not enough customers to go around.

"The net result is, of course, a matter of the 'survival of the fittest.' With few exceptions, supply is now in balance with demand.

He declared that the changes mean a "national tightening up of business operations" as the coun-

EARTH OVERSHADOWS MOON—A total eclipse of the moon last night provided an unusual display for Lubbock and South Plains residents. A high layer of clouds early in the night partially obscured the beginning of the "blackout," but later the sky cleared and the entire eclipse was clearly visible. The series of photos above show the gradual blotting out of the moon by the earth's shadow. Photo, top left, taken at 8:50 p.m. shows the lower quarter of the moon in blackness; upper right at 9:05 shows the orb nearly half gone; lower left at 9:17 p.m. shows the eclipse at its three-quarter mark, and lower right, is the total eclipse with only a slight halo around the moon. Spectacle Visible To Area Residents

Moon Stages Show For Most Of Nation

LUBBOCK and South Plains residents, along with millions of other persons from the East to the West coast and in parts of South America, last night were treated to a star-studded five-hour show—a total eclipse of the moon, clearly visible in this section of the country.

The eclipse got underway at 8:28 p. m. (CST) just as the schedule called for and slowly "blacked out" until by 9:28 there was little left other than a dull orangered glow.

The "total" eclipse contined until about 10:54 when the earth's shadow, which extended out into space some three-quarters of a million miles, began moving away and the moon started its "reappearing" act. By 12:50 a. m. the moon was visible again.

Most of the state was given a view of the eclipse. However, clouds curtained off the performance in a large area of the nation, the International News Service said.

In New York City and elsewhere along the eastern seaboard, ice crystal clouds dimmed the view of the eclipse and formed a silvery halo around the shadowed moon.

House Passes Bill Extending European Aid

By ROGER D. GREENE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 12 — The House passed a $5,380,000,000 bill today to continue the Marshall plan of European recovery for another 15 months.

The vote was 354 to 48 after 13 hours of debate. It took the Senate 13 days to pass a similar measure setting a $5,580,000,000 limit on the spending. The Senate vote was 70 to 7.

The Democratic - controlled House, with some Republican support, beat down every attempt to strike millions from the bill or write in other major changes.

Differences To Be Studied

The House measure would authorize continued U.S. aid until July 1, 1950, subject to possible later cuts by Senate and House committees. It also provides $272,000,000 to encourage American private business to invest in recovery projects abroad. Such investments would be guaranteed against loss by confiscation of property overseas.

Differences between the Senate and House versions—a matter of $200,000,000, will now go to a joint conference.

The appropriations committees later will recommend the actual money bill for approval by both houses.

Solon Throws Scare

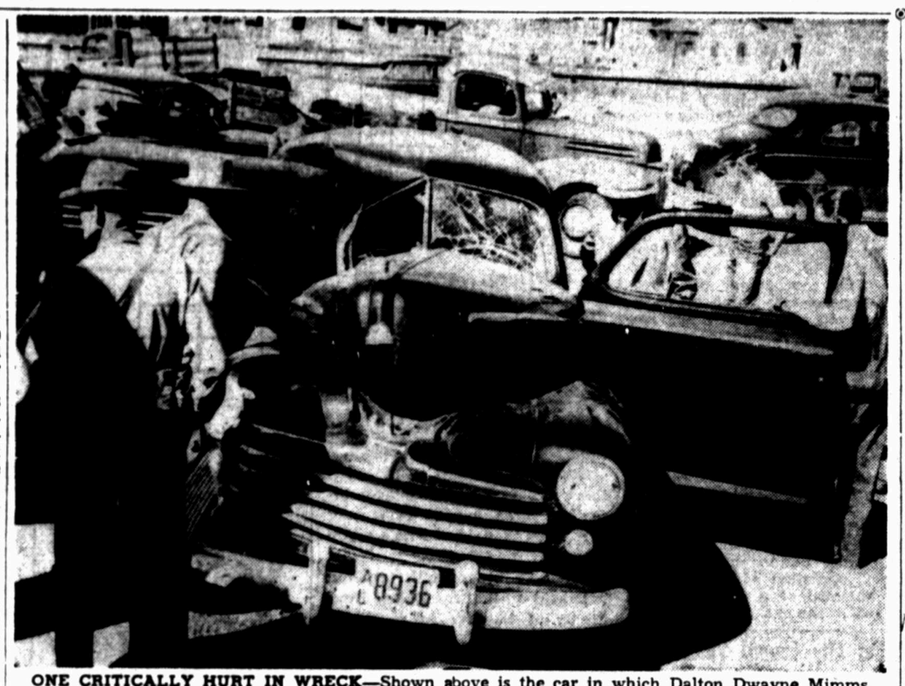

Before final passage, the lawmakers rejected a namendment by Rep. Fogarty (D-RI) to withhold Marshall plan funds to England as long as North Ireland is held separate from Ireland (Eire).

The lopsided final vote came after majority leader McCormack (D-Mass) pleaded against a GOP-led economy drive with a warning that the world is looking "either to Washington or the Kremlin."

Administration forces had a brief scare when Rep. Vorys (R-Ohio), who piloted the original Marshall program through the Republican - controlled House last year, suddenly announced he would support a money - cutting amendment.

But in the showdown, the House

Mahon Warns Cost May Be 'Enormous'

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 12—Cong. Mahon (D-Tex) presented a $16,000,000,000 defense appropriation to the House today with word that even this is too small "if war comes soon."

Mahon is chairman of an Appropriations subcommittee that handled the bill.

He said it would take $50,000,000,000 to "prepare this country for immediate outbreak of war" and $30,000,000,000 to get it in semi-readiness.

War Claimed Possible

"I am shocked and disturbed," Mahon said, "when I consider the vast sums we are spending and preparing to spend for national defense."

The taxpayer, he said, must look for consolation in the thought that the expenditures are proposed "in the name of national security and the peace and happiness of the people of America and the world—in short, to prevent World War III."

Military leaders who appeared before the subcommittee, Mahon said, didn't predict an early outbreak of war. But he said they agreed some unpredictable development might throw us suddenly into one.

Mahon's talk highlighted a day of action in other matters bearing on a speedup in plans to put the nation's defense in order.

President Truman presented the North Atlantic alliance treaty to the Senate for ratification. The House passed a $5,280,000,000 European aid bill. And Army Secretary Royall called for a strengthened armed services unification law. Royall charged that the nation was less prepared for war now than two years ago.

The defense bill is expected to be passed tomorrow after a fight to give naval aviation more money than the appropriations committee recommended.

The bill's actual total of $15,909,116,800 includes $2,636,301,000 in contract authorization. The first is cash.

It is $52,980,100 in cash and

Royall Assails Merger Setup

By ROSE McKEE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 12—Army Secretary Royall declared today that the country is "worse prepared for war" than it was two years ago because of "crazy unification" of the armed services.

Royall told the Senate Armed Services commitee that the Army "is seriously alarmed at the position the defense establishment would find itself in if the war should come."

He branded as "totally incorrect" and "without exception erroneous" charges by former President Hoover that military spending is marked by "staggering waste."

"Crazy Absurdity"

However, Royall admitted that $1,000,000,000 could have been saved in the last year had unification reforms he endorsed been in effect. He added:

"We're spending too much money for the national defense we're getting today. There's no doubt about it."

Sen. Saltonstall (R-Mass.) suggested that Royall did not realize what he said when he testified that the country is "worse prepared for war today."

Royall replied:

"Yes sir, I did. There's not the slightest doubt of it. We are worse prepared for war than if

Police Chief Says $33,000 Kidnapping Of Child Was 'Hoax'

By RONALD HAYES
INS Staff Correspondent

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., April 12 — A kidnaping in which five - year - old Joey Goodman was released upon payment of $33,000 ransom money was climaxed in the arrest today of the boy's father on grand theft charges and for questioning concerning the abduction.

The boy's father, Joe Goodman, identified as a Beverly Hills clothier, was subjected to lengthy questioning after his wife, Mary, told police that he "hoaxed" the kidnaping to get money from her to pay gambling debts.

Chief of Police C. H. Anderson said that Goodman admitted having gambling debts. The police chief declared.

"In my opinion Goodman knew the kidnaping of his child was a hoax and he has just admitted that he owes $15,000 in gambling debts."

Anderson said that Goodman told seven different conflicting stories in seven minutes concerning the kidnaping of little Joey, who was returned to his mother clutching an envelope containing $1000.

USDA Sets Deadline For Claiming Cotton

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—The Agriculture department today gave farmers until Aug. 1 to reclaim 1948-cotton stored under government price supporting loans.

Growers can regain clear title to the cotton by paying off their loans and carrying charges. On March 17, about 4,400,000 bales of last year's cotton were tied up under the price support loan program. Cotton not reclaimed by Aug. 1 will be taken over by the department, placed in a pool and held for later disposition. If there should be anything left above the government loan investment and accrued charges—including storage, insurance and handling costs—it would be distributed among producers whose cotton was placed in the pool. The distribution would be made in proportion to the amount of cotton each had in the pool.

Testimony Given In 'Sand' Case

The plaintiff will rest his case this morning in the 99th district court wind-sand damages action of Charlie Hoover against G. K. Horton, is was indicated by James Witherspoon of Hereford, a member of counsel.

G. H. Nelson and George McCleskey, counsel for Horton, indicated it would require all of today to complete defense evidence.

Tuesday's proceeding was featured by testimony of Hoover and by an occasional sharp interchange between George Dupree of plaintiff's counsel and Nelson.

Seeks To Convince Jury

The plaintiff continued efforts to convince the jury that damages of approximately $2,000 allegedly occasioned to Hoover's Deaf Smith county land were caused by Horton's failure to farm properly, pointing out that he "one-wayed" the soil and thus pulverized it so that only a minimum wind current was needed to set it in motion so that it would drift on adjoining land.

By his cross-examination, the defendant inferred that the damage resulted from an act of God, not from any contributing agency of the defendant.

The plaintiff also introduced testimony from Fred Collett, who farms 14 miles from Hoover; Jim Prince, formerly a tenant on land farmed by Horton and now a tenant on Hoover's farm; and Herbert Hoover, a son of the plaintiff.

Sale Is Held At Plainview

By EDWARD WELSH
Avalanche Staff Writer

PLAINVIEW, April 12 — The first Guernsey dairy cattle sale ever held on the high plains featured Tuesday's events at the 22nd annual Panhandle - Plains Dairy Show.

Twelve of the finest registered heifers were sold at auction during the afternoon following a period of spirited competition among exhibitors of the breed. There were 53 entrants in the Guernsey division.

Breed Shows Progress

The High Plains Guernsey Breeders Association was founded just a little more than a year ago in Plainview. The officers for the first year were K. K. Kent, Portales, N. M., president; P. B. Harbin, Whitharral, vice-president, and Clifford Throckmorton, Levelland, secretary-treasurer.

The organization worked hard during the past year to bring more attention to the Guernsey dairy cow which they say is especially well suited to the Plains and Panhandle area. Several hundred visitors and buyers present at the show and sale Tuesday indicated that interest in Guernseys as a milk producer had increased dur-

Wichita Falls Man Is Given 99 Years

WICHITA FALLS, April 12. (AP)—A district court jury early tonight convicted Ben H. Langford of murdering his divorced wife. It gave him a prison sentence of 99 years.

The jury deliberated about two hours and 42 minutes before convicting Langford of murder with malice—finding he shot Mrs. LaFon Langford to death in her Wichita Falls home early the morning of Jan. 3.

About 100 persons, waiting in the court room as the verdict was read, saw Langford blink a few times, but show no other emotion.

Son Testifies

The court room had been crowded earlier in the day as attorneys argued over the fate of the wealthy oil man.

His lawyers have two days in which to file a motion for a new trial.

The case went to the jury at 3:53 p.m. and it returned its verdict at 6:35 p.m.

Dalton D. Mimms Injured In Collision

Man Critically Hurt In Car-Truck Crash

DALTON Dwayne Mimms, 27, a farmer residing south of Ralls in the Owens community, remained in critical condition in Lubbock Memorial hospital, following a car-truck collision about 2:55 p. m. Tuesday at a highway intersection in the south edge of Ralls. He was still unconscious late last night.

Mimms was rushed to Lubbock Memorial hospital by Marr Funeral home ambulance of Ralls.

Hospital attendants said that extent of injuries had not been determined, since his critical condition would not permit immediate X-ray examination. Most serious injuries apparently were on the head and face, although he suffered bruises and possible internal injuries on the back and chest.

Had Started To Turn

The scene of the accident was the intersection of the south edge of Ralls where Highway 62 turns north to Floydada, bisecting Highway 82, which runs east and west from Lubbock toward Crosbyton and Dickens. A farm highway continues south of the east-west highway.

Mimms, driving alone in a 1948 Ford sedan, was headed west on Highway 82. Just before reaching the intersection, he signalled for a left turn off the highway onto the southbound farm road, which led to his home several mlies south of Ralls. Mimms, however, rather than turning off the highway onto the farm road, was turning to cut across one corner of a service station lot, located on the southeast corner of the highway intersection, the official investigation showed.

Shoved Off Highway

A 1945 International truck and semi-trailer, loaded with cattle, and driven by Joe Edward Gipson, 41, of Roaring Springs, was headed east on Highway 82. Onlookers and highway patrol records indicated that Mimms was turning to his left in front of the heavy

HST Asks Quick Action On Pact

WASHINGTON, April 12. (AP)—President Truman urged the Senate today to help Western Europe ward off "brutality and aggression" by pledging United States partnership in the Atlantic pact. Such action, he said, would be a long step "on the road to peace."

Thus as he began his fifth year as the nation's chief executive, Mr. Truman pointed anew to his belief that an enduring peace is obtainable.

"This treaty," he said, "makes clear the determination of the people of the United States and of our neighbors in the North Atlantic community to do their utmost to maintain peace with justice and to take such action as they may deem necessary if the peace is broken."

Peaceful Objectives Stressed

The President submitted the mutual defense agreement for Senate ratification only eight days after the historic document was signed here by Secretary of State Acheson and foreign ministers of 11 other nations.

The peaceful objectives of the mutual aid pact also were stressed anew by Acheson in a report to the President.

Acheson said the alliance members "reaffirm their faith in the purposes and principles of the United Nations charter and their

BRANNAN SEEKS QUICK VOTE

Solon Says New Farm Program Fails To Assure Cheaper Food

By FRANCIS M. LEMAY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 12 — Rep. Pace (D-Ga), a top congressional farm leader, declared today the administration's new farm program gives no assurance of cheaper food for consumers and, if adopted, might mean only bigger profits for middlemen.

But Secretary of Agriculture Brannan, who presented the new program to Congress last week, bid for swift action. He said the government now holds more corn than ever before and predicted it will be buying pork within 60 days to hold prices up.

Pace, chairman of the House Agriculture subcommittee dealing with farm policy, disputed Brannan's claim that the new program, while protecting farmers, would give consumers a "real break" on food costs.

Pace told a reporter:

"The secretary's proposal is that he would provide the farmers with good support prices, but let their crops sell in a free market in order to give the consumers cheap food. He then proposes to pay the farmer the difference

Truman Expresses Hopes World Is Moving Nearer Peace On Fourth Anniversary Of Taking Office

By DARRELL GARWOOD

WASHINGTON, April 12—President Truman made two visits to the Capitol today and said in a precedent - shattering Senate speech that he hopes history will prove his efforts to help America "have not been in vain."

The surprise Senate speech was delivered after Republican and Democratic senators had given a buffet luncheon honoring the President on the fourth anniversary of President Roosevelt's death and Mr. Truman's assumption of office.

Later in the afternoon, he again motored from the White House to the Capitol and visited with a small group in the room where he received word to go to the White House four years ago.

Present were Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex), with whom the President was talking at the time; House majority leader McCormack (D-Mass), and Democratic Sens. McGrath, RI, Myers, Pa., and Lyndon Johnson, Tex.

The Chief Executive spent much of the luncheon talking to Sen. Taft (R-Ohio). He then went to the chamber and sat temporarily in the chair which he occupied as senator from Missouri.

When the floor was yielded to him by Sen. Bridges (R-NH), Mr. Truman advanced to the rostrum amid prolonged applause. After recounting the details of his takin office, he said:

"I have tried my level best to carry that burden (the presidency) in the interest of the people of the country.

Murder Trial In Death Of U. S. Correspondent Opens In Greece

By ALKAIOS ANGELOPOULOS
INS Staff Correspondent

SALONIKA, April 12—The trial of four persons accused of murdering CBS correspondent George Polk in what the Greek government termed "a Communist plot" opened in Salonika today nearly a year after the killing.

Only two defendants were on hand, Gregory Staktopoulos, a Salonika newsman, and his mother, Anna.

Suspects Reported Killed

The others, Adam Mouzhenidis, identified as a Greek Communist central committeeman, and Evanghelos Vasvanas, will be tried in absentia.

An unconfirmed report from Greek Communist guerrilla informants last year said the two missing men had been killed in action while fighting with the guerrillas.

Mouzhenidis' sister-in-law testified today she hid Mouzhenidis in Salonika up until two days before Polk's murder and heard an unidentified person tell him:

Defendant's Sister Testifies

"'I have not met Polk yet, but Polk's boat has been fixed."

Mouzhenidis' brother, Stellio, told the court: "Knowing my brother's character I can say that if he was ordered by the Communist party to commit a crime he would do it."

Because of their absence, Mouzhenidis and Vasvanas under Greek law will be tried without a jury; the other two defendants will have a jury trial.

Defense Request Overruled

The court overruled a defense request for adjournment based on grounds that material witnesses such as Rhea Polk, widow of the slain American, were not on hand at the opening. The prosecutor submitted a message from the widow saying she is coming to the trial.

Maj. Gen. William J. Donovan, former OSS chief who investigated the murder for the Overseas Writers association in Washington, attended the opening session, mainly devoted to selecting and swearing in ten jurors.

A Weak, Run-Down Feeling Is Often A Warning

That The Red-Blood Is Getting Low

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.

CHICAGO, April 12 (INS) — Another of Montgomery Ward & Co.'s fast-vanishing vice presidents announced his resignation today from the nation's second largest mail order house.

The latest vice president to quit is Albert O. Steffey, the only operating executive besides Board Chairman Sewell L. Avery who had been an officer for as long as a year.

Steffey was the third top Montgomery Ward executive to resign this week. Charles M. Odorizzi and Arthur G. Romer announced their departures earlier. Steffey's resignation brought to 12 the number who have quit in the past 12 months.

The latest resignation leaves the firm with only one vice president, Willard H. Sahloff, general manager who was promoted to his post in a shakeup last year.

South Korean Government Asks U. S. For Military Aid Program

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

Russian propaganda about what they call "American imperialism" in Greece apparently has made little impression on the South Koreans.

President Syngman Rhee's government is using the Greek military aid agreement as the model for what it wants from the United States before American occupation troops pull out.

The Koreans have just submitted a request for the military assistance which they will need to offset Russia's puppets in North Korea.

Seeks More Arms

Under a United Nations resolution, the occupation is to end as soon as practicable. The South Koreans are anxious to be rid of foreign soldiers after generations under foreign control, but fear that too much haste will invite occupation by the northern Communists.

Most of the original American occupying force already has been withdrawn.

Rhee's government now has an army of 50,000 men, using materiel left by the Americans and the Japanese. It is asking the U. S. for enough arms to double this force and to provide for 50,000 reserves. This, with the 50,000 armed police, would give the Seoul government about the same military force as attributed to the northern Communist government. A 10,000-man navy also is desired.

Rhee argues that rehabilitation of the American-sponsored republic's economy with ECA funds cannot succeed until the people feel secure from invasion. The country has no arms industry.

Elections Scheduled

The Seoul government already is under almost constant Communist siege, both from the north and from within. A large scale insurrection of Cheju island has just been quelled. Elections, delayed for a year by the Communist opposition, have now been set for May 10, the New York Times reports.

Dr. Cough Pyung-Ok presented his government's request for arms to the State department and also discussed his needs with Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, Army chief of staff for plans and combat operations.

Accompanying the letter was a long list of specific needs—from warships and aircraft to nuts and bolts to keep them working. The cost is estimated at about $175,000,000 for the first year.

Korean officials have not always been amenable to the desires even of their best friends.

But Korean independence and America's sense of responsibiliey for the deal with Russia which divided the country are both strong. Demands for support of the American-sponsored defense line against Communism are constantly increasing.

Wisconsin Man Who Blocked Robbery Succumbs To Wounds

IOLA, Wis., April 12 (INS) — Harold Hotveldt, 40, of Iola, who was shot when he attempted to disarm a man who walked into a tavern with a loaded rifle, died today of complications following the stomach wound.

Police are holding Morris Lund, 40, also of Iola, on a charge of assault with intent to do bodily harm. They called a conference with other officials following Hotveldt's death to discuss new charges.

The shooting occurred last Wednesday when Lund allegedly entered a tavern with a .22 caliber rifle and ordered everyone to "stick 'em up."

Hotveldt, seated at a table, leaped to his feet and grabbed the rifle barrel. The weapon discharged during the struggle between the two men.

Lund ran from the building but was captured by county officers the next day. He pleaded not guilty to the assault charge.

Hotveldt is survived by his widow, a son, a daughter, his mother, a brother and two sisters.

Funeral services will be held Saturday.

U. S. To Defend Far East, Report Says

MANLIA, April 12 (INS)—Philippine diplomatic officials quoted Gen. Douglas MacArthur in a Manila News article today as declaring that U. S. military strength would be shifted to the Pacific in the event of a major Far Eastern conflict

The influential Evening News in Manila published the statement in a report by members of the Filipino goodwill mission to Korea. They interviewed MacArthur in Tokyo two weeks ago.

Oscar De Leon, political counselor for the mission quoted MacArthur as saying:

"So long as I am in my present position I will see to it that no country will ever attempt to invade the Philippines."

The paper also reported MacArthur had sent a message to Philippine President Elpidio Quirino supporting his candidacy for reelection next November.

De Leon, however, said this report was "more or less true but premature" since he had not yet delivered the message to Quirino.

Ship To Arrive In U. S. From Port Controlled By Communists

SAN FRANCISCO, April 12 (INS) —The Pacific Far East line reported today that the freighter, China Victory, is scheduled to arrive in San Francisco Thursday with a cargo picked up in Communist-held North China.

Pacific Far East officials said the China Victory was the first ship to take on cargo at Taku Bar, the port for Tientsin, since Communists gained control of the area last year.

The ship carries a cargo which includes carpets, wool and brass ware. It will dock at pier 45 at 10 a. m., Thursday.

AUSTIN, April 12 (AP) — Gov. Jester will be host of a Patriot's Day dinner in Houston, April 19, honoring the volunteer workers of the 1949 U.S. Savings bond program in Texas.

Jester, honorary chairman for Savings Bond activities in Texas, said today he had mailed invitations to 650 program leaders, including county savings bond chairmen from all of Texas' 254 counties.

The dinner is being held to put forth objectives of the "opportunity drive" May 16 through June 30, Jester said. Texas' share of the national Series E bond quota is $36,950,000. County quotas will be announced April 20.

Twin Girls, Father Perish In Flames

MENOMINEE, Wis., April 12 (INS)—Twin infant girls and their father who tried to rescue them perished today when flames swept their Elk Lake home, 15 miles east of Menominee.

Victims in the fire were La Moine McLaughlin, 42; and Trudell and Judith, 17 months.

The father and mother smelled smoke just as they sat down to breakfast after seeing two sons off to school on a bus, and sending another daughter out to play in the yard.

McLaughlin rushed upstairs to the twins' bedroom but was overcome by smoke. Mrs. McLaughlin tried vainly three times to rescue her daughters and husband but was driven back by the heat and flames. She suffered bad burns on her arms and face.

Coroner Richard Olson said the father's body was found near the twins' crib with one little girl clutched in his arms. The other infant was found in her crib.

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The second of a series of vacation articles by Margaret Turner, Woman's Editor, appears below. Miss Turner will return to Lubbock after a two months' tour of Europe.)

AT SEA—This morning we decided to go to the beauty parlor on our deck; partly to see how the service would be and mainly to get a shampoo. The rooms were not much larger than an elevator in an American hotel, but they were spotless and attendants were very polite and fast in their work. The walls were lined with shelves of popular French perfumes and colognes and hair rinses manufactured by a California company.

After having practically lifted our hair out by the roots through terrific scrubbing, the young woman asked, "Will you supply the pins madam?" and just when we were wondering how that would be possible, since we had only two bobby pins, she dumped about 427 tiny little hairpins in our lap. We spent the next fifteen minutes passing back and forth hairpins.

The young woman was wearing a deep suntan, although she was a blonde, and she explained on their winter cruises to the West Indies the crew had time to stay out in the sun. This is the first trip the ship is making to Europe since December 11.

There are 1200 passengers on board and our stewardess, Adele Thomi, told us she is leaving the ship at Rotterdam because the work is so difficult and so confining. She has fifty women to care for and her hours from 7 in the morning until 9 at night, with no time to herself, is too much for her. Adele, as Johnny, the librarian, described the beautiful tulip fields in Holland and said her people are staging a comeback and have turned their backs to a remembrance of the war years.

The Hollanders seem very proud of their slang which is limited to two expressions, "take it easy" and "okeh madam."

IT seems that there are always a few passengers who are privileged to have their names omitted from the ship's list and included on our trip are the English writer, Evelyn Waugh, and his wife. Mrs. P. I. Reed of West Virginia, who made our acquaintance at a bridge game, was rather excited when she told us she saw them this afternoon when she was taking a stroll on the first class promenade deck. She thought we would like a sight of him, too, but since we have not cared for Mr. Waugh after his blast at American burial customs and we find the air delightful on our own deck, we declined.

We note listed in the cabin class passengers the name of Mrs. Margaret Nys, the mother-in-law of the writer Aldous Huxley.

The three of us have not given any thought to the possibility of a wreck at sea. In the first place, there are only two life preservers in our cabin and therefore we would have to toss to see who would be left, secondly we missed the boat drill that took place shortly after we got underway because we had just discovered we had to make application for table seats and we joined that queue, while dozens of others dashed up one stair and the other, wearing the ungainly preservers and looking somewhat silly with their enormous handbags and hats.

FEW of the women in cabin class wear formals for dinner, although we have been relieved to discover the women and girls who wear slacks throughout the day do change to dresses. There are as many costumes as there are kinds of people. You'll see cheap slacks and well-tailored slacks; women in fine fur coats and women wearing sleazy, boxy jackets. The majority wear suits which range from Fifth Avenue's best to Main Street stores.

Each night when we consult the bulletin boards we see a notice to set our watches forward one hour and we regret the time we are giving up, which we shall reclaim, of course, on the voyage home. This does not bother the writer since her watch stopped about one hour after we were at sea and now remains constant at 12 o'clock.

ONE does not need a watch, since the only appointed time is for meals and young men hurry through the corriors striking musical gongs at about ten minutes before the doors are opened. There is a timeliness that is gratifying, especially to those of us who have lived by a schedule that called for being on the hour every hour throughout the day. Since the sea is smooth there is a minimum of seasick passengers and most of them appear relaxed. We have noticed a look of strain on the faces of those who are going to Europe to look up families they have not seen since before the last war.

Athenaeum Club Hears Speakers

Mrs. S. T. Hodges and Mrs. Jess Seale were featured speakers at a meeting of Athenaeum club Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. J. F. Hankins, 2420 Twenty-eighth. The program was based on "Women's Importance to Big Business."

Discussing women and the fashion industry, Mrs. Hodges distinguished between the terms, "style" and "fashion," by saying the former related to a period in history and the latter term to current modes of dress. The speaker said that women today are more independent about what they choose to wear, and are less under the absolute rule of "fashion authorities" than they have been in the past, although the "authorities" are still important.

Mrs. Seale, discussing women and home making, said that because of the increased number of labor-saving devices now available to women, much of a woman's time is free in the home. For this reason some women tend to minimize the importance of home making as a career, and she blamed this trend for the weakening of home ties as seen today. The speaker stated that home making is the biggest business in the nation today.

British Urged To Halt Snub Toward Duchess Of Windsor

LONDON, April 12 (AP) — Lord Beaverbrook's Evening Standard said today it is time the British quit "cold shouldering" the American-born Duchess of Windsor.

The Duchess is due here from Paris this weekend. The one-time divorcee, for whose love King Edward VIII gave up the throne of Britain, has never been received by his brother King George VI or anyone else in the royal family. Some of the nobility have entertained her, however.

The Standard said in its unsigned "diary":

"Why not make this . . . visit the occasion for ending the protracted cold shouldering of the duchess?

"It would be a sensible and a popular step if the 'ban' on the Duchess of Windsor were ended forthwith."

RITES FOR GOLDEN-HAIRED CHILD SET TODAY

Parents Of Kathy Fiscus Ask Many Sympathizers To Donate Floral Money To Children's Hospital

SAN MARINO, Cal., April 12 (INS)—The parents of Kathy Fiscus were in seclusion today awaiting the funeral tomorrow of the little golden-haired girl whose death in an abandoned well gripped the world.

The grief-stricken parents, Mr. and Mrs. David H. Fiscus, had steadfastly clung to the slender hope that their 3½-year-old child would be found alive at the end of the dramatic 54-hour rescue work.

Simple funeral rites were planned at 1 p. m. (CST) tomorrow at the little stone church of an Alhambra, Cal., mortuary with interment following at Chula Vista, Cal.

Ask Hospital Funds

The parents asked that the thousands of sympathizers who have telephoned and telegraphed them condolences omit floral tributes and instead donate money to the Children's hospital of Los Angeles.

Fiscus, in a statement released by the family physician, Dr. Paul Hanson, said:

"If an equivalent amount of money were sent to the hospital . . . we feel that our little Kathy's untimely death might be the cause of saving some child for a useful life."

Coroner's surgeons and private physicians were agreed that Kathy "dozed into death" from a coma when she tumbled 94 feet into the 230-foot deep uncovered well near the Fiscus home.

Knees Were Jack-Knifed

They said that Kathy might have lived through the 54-hour rescue operation had not her knees been jack-knifed against her chest, preventing her from breathing except with difficulty.

It was doubtful if an inquest will be held. Final word awaited the return from Sacramento of coroner Ben H. Brown.

Four of the men who labored without sleep during the long rescue work were recovering from exhaustion.

They were Homer E. Blickensderfer, O. A. Kelly, Bill Yancey and George Gould.

Blickensderger, 43, summed up the consensus of the group:

"There's nothing to all this stuff about being heroes. What we did and what everyone else did were simple acts of humanity."

Gulf Oil Firm Representative To Interview Tech Students

Paul Evans, district engineer of the Gulf Oil company, from Hobbs, N. Mex., will be at Texas Tech next Tuesday to interview students who are interested in jobs with his company.

Mrs. Jean Jenkins, head of the Tech Placement service, said Evans would hold a general meeting in the Engineering auditorium Tuesday at 5 p.m. He will talk with students who have majored in chemical, mechanical and petroleum engineering. Mrs. Jenkins also said there was a possibility of some summer jobs for junior students.

Students who wish to make an appointment for an interview should stop by the Placement office on the second floor of the Administration building.

Fort Worth Police Inspector Claimed By Death Tuesday

FORT WORTH, April 12. (AP)—Hugh Edward Chapple, 63, inspector of the Fort Worth police department's detective office, died early today in a hospital here after having suffered a heart attack March 23.

Chapple was a native Texan and moved with his family to a Tom Green county ranch in 1901. He operated a barber shop in San Angelo from 1912 to 1916, when he moved to Fort Worth where he operated a shooting gallery prior to joining the city force as a mounted policeman in 1921.

One of his most famous cases as a detective was the capture of T. N. "Pete" Norris in 1943 when Norris was listed as No. 1 of the nation's wanted men.

Funeral services were being arranged here Tuesday.

COMMUNISTS HELD IN CHECK

French Leader Blocks Move By Premier To Resign His Post

By KINGSBURY SMITH
European General Manager, INS

PARIS, April 12—President Vincent Auriol has blocked a move by Premier Henri Queuille to resign as head of the French Third Force or center government.

This was learned on high authority as Queuille's coalition government of moderate Radicals, Socialists and Popular Republicans settled down to a new lease on life following its victory in the recent departmental elections.

The modest, little white-haired man who heads the present French government has been thinking of resigning, not because of the failure of any of his policies, but on the contrary because his government has been such a success. In fact, it has been the most successful French government since France was liberated from the German occupation.

Communists Were Blocked

Under its leadership, the Communists have been held in check. Through its use of Marshall Plan aid and its strong action to maintain law and order during Communist - inspired strike troubles, France has made more progress towards economic recovery during the past six months than at any time since the end of the war.

The franc has risen by some 30 percent on the foreign exchange markets, the internal inflationary spiral has been halted and an encouraging measure of confidence has been restored in the country generally.

Confident that if there is no war in the near future, France will continue to advance along the road to economic and political stability, the 65-year-old premier felt he could safely hand the reins over to another leader of the third force group.

Would Refuse Offer

He told President Auriol informally that he was tired and would like to retire.

The doughty President of France, who once said that despite his 65 years he would man the barricades if the republic was ever seriously threatened from left or right, talked Queuille out of the idea.

Auriol informed the Premier that if he tendered his resignation, it would not be accepted. The President also told Queuille he must remain in office until next November.

Sources close to Queuille say that as a result of President Auriol's strong opposition, the Premier has abandoned, at least for the time being, the idea of resigning.

Auriol's unwillingness to let Queuille retire is known to be based on the President's conviction that the Radical Socialist premier has inspired public confidence in his government.

Auriol also feels this will be a critical year on the international front and the French ship of state should avoid changing a pilot who has proved such a good navigator since he took over the bridge last September.

American economic aid and a good harvest year has, of course, had a lot to do with the success of the Queuille government.

France, thanks to the Marshall Plan, now pays for only 52 per cent of what she imports. Such an artificial economy does not augur well for the future.

However, the French are hopeful that by getting production going full swing and restoring food supplies to a proper level, they will be in a better position to face the problem of paying for their imports when American aid ends.

INVALID KEEPS BUSY

FORST CITY, Ia. (U.P.) — Being confined to a wheel chair for 14 years hasn't slowed down Mrs. P. B. Peterson, 78-year-old great-grandmother. She has worn out four sets of wheel chair tires bustling about her housework, which includes washing, dusting, baking, piecing quilts, knitting and patching.

SERGEANT KEEPS BUSY

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (U.P.)—Sgt. Andrew J. Lane is called the 7"busiest man" around the Sandia special weapons base. Lane is the father of seven children, master of a cub Scout pack, and a student at the University of New Mexico as well as holding down his duties at the army base.

METERS ARE CATCHALLS

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (U.P.)—Policeman Charles Szarkowski, who has charge of the parking meters, asked drivers not to use anything but money in the meters. An average of three of his 318 meters are broken or jammed daily and he found 100 foreign articles in a two-week period.

Australian Is Denied Visa To Philippines

TOKYO, April 12 (INS) — The revelations of Australia's "all-white" immigration policy boomeranged today on the newsmen who first made them.

The Philippine consulate in Tokyo told Dennis Warner, an Australian correspondent, that his request for a permit to visit the Philippines would have to be referred to Manila but the consulate admitted privately he had little chance of getting such a permit.

Warner was the man who first made public the plight of a Philippine-American war hero, Cpl. Lorenzo Gamboa, who was denied permission to visit his Australian wife and his two children in Melbourne.

MacArthur Intervenes

The disclosures created a storm of protests in the Philippines and Gen. Douglas MacArthur personally intervened in the case without success.

Philippine officials also revealed in turning Warner down that all Philippine consulates have been advised to consult Manila before issuing permanent or temporary visas to Australians.

Warner subsequently re-visited the consulate in company with Gamboa who argued the newsman's case but officials expressed only pessimism and regrets.

Warner was still hopeful that the decesion will be reversed.

Cleveland Police Hold Woman In Boy's Strangulation Death

CLEVELAND, April 12. (U.P.)—Police today held a 64-year-old housewife who confessed the brutal strangulation of Robert Shaw, 4, because of a "desire to kill."

Police said Mrs. Tillie Maschmeier, who admitted once attempting to choke her husband, had signed a two-page statement confessing the killing of the Shaw boy late yesterday.

Twice during the night Mrs. Maschmeier tried to strangle herself with her own hands in her jail cell, but a matron stopped her and finally a policewoman was stationed in the cell with her.

Maschmeier told police that his wife had complained of feeling ill about the time she tried to choke him in bed. "If you feel ill I'll have to put you in a mental institution," he said he told her. He reported he took her to a doctor but not to a psychiatrist.

Coroner Samuel Gerber, who ruled the boy died of asphyxiation caused by strangulation, said the crime could only have been committed by a deranged person.

Abilene Edges Hubbers, 7-6

Lubbock Will Return Home Today; Tilt Slated Friday

By JOE KELLY
Avalanche-Journal Sports Editor

ABILENE, April 12—The Lubbock Hubbers lost a close 7-6, exhibition baseball game here tonight, bowing to Abilene's Blue Sox before a crowd of 500 persons, the largest to see a Hubber game this year.

Tied 5-5, the Lubbock team went ahead in their half of the ninth inning, 6-5, and then lost the game when Abilene came to bat, the winning run being forced across the plate on a walk with the bases loaded.

Hubs Started Slow

The Hubbers were slow in getting started, not advancing a man to second until the sixth inning when they scored four runs on three hits and one error. Three of the runs came on a misjudged fly ball to left field.

They scored one run in the eighth with two men out to tie the ball game and then won and lost the game in the fatal ninth frame.

Chick Fowler, pinch hitter for Don Hensiek, led off the last inning by striking out. Jackie Wilcox walked, stole second, and scored on Lloyd Pearson's single to center, Pearson going to second on the throw in from field.

Bob Skinner, Abilene center fielder, made a fine running catch of Al Duarte's short fly and doubled Pearson off second base to end the Hubber threat and retire the side.

Team Returns Home

Leading off the bottom of the ninth, Victor Hugo was hit by a pitched ball and was sacrificed to second by Skinner. George Lopez brought Hugo across the plate with a sharp drive that hit the left field fence on the line and bounced back toward the infield, Lopez beating the throw to third for a triple.

Joe Wessing and Leo Bohanen were given intentional walks to load the bases, and then Rolando Dominguez, 235-pound, six-foot, four-inch left fielder, one of seven Cubans dotting the Blue Sox lineup, walked on four straight pitches to score Lopez with the winning run.

The Hubbers return home Wednesday and will go through a light workout at Rosenthal field after arriving in the Hub city around noon. An exhibition game with Abilene is scheduled for Friday night at the Hubbers' home field.

City Softball Loops Will Be Formed Here

City softball leagues will be formed again this year, Curtis Barrett of the City Recreation department said Tuesday, and play will begin in the first part of May.

Several persons have called about the leagues, and three will be scheduled—a fast league for the better teams, an industrial league, and a church league.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars will enter a strong team in the city league, and plans for the club will be formulated after the regular meeting of the VFW tonight.

A budget for the construction of two new lighted softball fields for these groups has been set up, but the budgets have not been acted on as yet.

Jumbo Webster park will also be used for league play. In the next two weeks a meeting of all groups interested in entering teams in the leagues will be called, and all teams will be notified as to when and where this meeting will take place.

American League To Sit In With Chandler On Defense Meeting

CHICAGO, April 12 (AP) — The American league will sit in with Commissioner A. B. Chandler tomorrow to study organized baseball's latest defense against player suits.

Chandler called the meeting of club owners and representatives. A similar meeting among National league officials was held last Friday.

Although the player suits are by ex-national leaguers resulting from suspension for jumping to the Mexican league, the litigation threatens the reserve clause, keystone of major league operations.

KFYO Will Feature Boudreau Interview

An interview with Lou Boudreau, manager of the world champion Cleveland Indians, will highlight the American Broadcasting company's Sports Parade over Station KFYO from 10:15 to 10:30 p.m. tonight.

And the man doing the interviewing will be none other than Wes Youngblood, sports announcer for Station KFYO.

A recorded interview made during Boudreau's visit to Lubbock recently will be played over Joe Hasel's "Sports Parade" program, the last in a series of spring training advance broadcasts on major league teams. Tune in at 10:15—Hear Wes Youngblood and Lou Boudreau discuss the Indians' chances for another title.

Junior Optimists Gain 16-0 Shutout Over Seventh Street

The Junior Optimist baseball team shutout the Seventh Street Eagles, 16-0, in a one-sided baseball game Tuesday behind the one-hit pitching of Billy Lingle.

Wildness and solid hitting allowed the Optimists to take the game very easily. Leading the attack with two doubles with bases loaded both times was Dwaine Hilliard, and Dewey Tucker rapped two doubles in two times at the plate.

The Eagles used all their pitchers, but nothing seemed to stop the Optimist barrage. James Soliey made the only Eagle hit, a double.

77 Teams In Avalanche-Journal Meet

Entries Boosted In Bowling Tournament

Entries in the fifth annual West Texas-New Mexico Bowling tournament have been boosted to 77 teams, and approximately 390 bowlers will participate over the three weekends of the tourney at Lubbock Bowling club, sponsored by The Avalanche-Journal.

The bowlers will take to the alleys April 23-24, April 30 and May 1, and May 7-8. All team bowling will be rolled on Saturday of the three weekends, and singles and doubles games will be scheduled for Sunday.

Three Classes Slated

Three classes of bowlers will be matched, with the classification depending on the skill of the individual or team, according to averages in regular league play. In the Class A division are the better keglers, and anyone can enter in this class. Those with averages between 150-170 may enter Class B, and bowlers with averages less than 150 fall into Class C.

Each team will consist of five men, and nearly every bowler on a team will enter the singles and doubles. The total scores of each individual in the three games will give the all-events total.

Trophies To Be Awarded

In addition to the money prizes in each division, trophies for team, doubles, and singles will be awarded those persons with the best scores. Another trophy will be awarded the all-events winner. Approximately $100 will go to the winning team, but the exact amount will not be known until all entrance fees have been received and expenses determined.

E. A. Christensen, owner of Lubbock Bowling club, has planned the tournament and has partially completed the schedule. He will also be a member of a team bowling in the tourney.

Entrance fees are $5 per man in Class A, and $4 per individual in Classes B and C. The all-events entry is an additional $1.

Westerner Track Squad Holds Drill

Lubbock High school's cinder team took advantage of the warm weather yesterday to workout with the Tech freshmen, and times were kept in several of the events.

Coach Fred Brown is pointing toward the South Plains Relays this week-end, and he ran his high school boys against some of the freshmen at Tech.

In the 100-yard dash, Donald Decker finished a close second to Earl Hutcherson, former Westerner, who had the winning time of 10.5.

Decker won the 220-yard dash in 22.6, finishing ahead of Hutcherson and Charlie Williams. All three boys hit the tape close together in a fast race.

Eddie Goetz continued to improve in the 440-yard dash, and he ran the distance in 53.5 at Tech, running a fast time. And the 880-yard relay team, composed of Goetz, Douglas Weinke, Henry McDougal, and Teddy Vaught, made the half-mile in 1.42.7 running only against time.

The 440-yard relay team, which is rounding into shape again after being slowed by injuries, ran the length of the oval in 45.9. On the sprint team were Wayne Stroud, Williams, Decker, and Alfred Adair

Another hard practice is ahead of the boys today at Chapman field, and the team will taper off Thursday afternoon for the preliminaries of the relays Friday.

More practice in the high jump, pole vault, and the weights will be stressed today also.

Bobo Newsom Agrees To Sign Contract With Chattanooga

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 12 (AP)—Bobo Newsom, baseball's traveling salesman, is back in the minors—for the first time since 1933.

The colorful pitcher today agreed to sign a contract with the Chattanooga Lookouts of the Southern Association.

"But don't count old Bobo out of the majors for a while yet," he said. "I'm still a pretty good pitcher."

The big right-hander has pitched for five American and three National league teams in the last 20 years.

AGGIE NETTERS WIN

COLLEGE STATION, April 12 — Texas A. and M. defeated Abilene Christian college, 8-1 in a tennis match today. The Aggies won five singles and three doubles matches.

Phillies Now Have Surplus Of Players

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 12 (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies, once the lowliest of "have not" ball clubs, are now the "have" club of the National league.

All spring the Phils have been scouting for deals to unload their surplus infielders and catchers. They haven't yet hit the right combination.

The season opening now is only six days away and soon the Phils will have to start paring their overloaded roster.

First line trading bait lists Dick Sisler, Bert Haas, Andy Seminick, Ken Silvestri and perhaps Ralph Caballero and some of the club's pitching staff.

Sisler and Haas both are first basemen. Haas is at home at third base and the outfield.

Seminick and Silvestri are catchers. Caballero played second and third last year.

The club now has 13 pitchers, at least two more than the Phils are willing to carry.

Morton Defeats Levelland In District 4-A Game, 8-3

MORTON, April 12 (Special)—Bill Ed McDaniels gave up only four hits today while his teammates were collecting 10 as Morton defeated Levelland, 8-3, in a District 4-A baseball game.

The conference victory was the first for the home team against no defeats and the second loss for Levelland in two district starts. McDaniel struck out 16 batters and hit one batter with a pitched ball. The losing pitcher, Railey, was hit often, but he only walked one batter and hit one with a wild pitch.

Leading the hitting for Morton were Jinny Winder, who knocked a triple and batted in one run, and Waydell Hill with a three bagger.

Morton plays Sundown next Tuesday in another district game.

Lubbock Nine To Meet Altus

An intra-squad game was held by the Westerner baseball team Tuesday afternoon at Chapman field diamond in preparation for the trip to Oklahoma Friday for three games with Altus, the A team winning, 4-2.

Coach Fred Taylor said yesterday that a chartered bus would take the team to Altus, leaving here at approximately 8 a. m. Friday. A game is scheduled for 8 o'clock Friday night, and Saturday a doubleheader will be played. The first tilt will be at 2:30 Saturday afternoon, and the final game will be at 8 o'clock that night.

Rely On Pitching

The Westerners will rely heavily on pitching by other members of the team, probably Jimmy Richards, Charles Galey, Jimmy Sexton, or Morris Turner. And if the team is hitting the Westerners might salvage one or two of the games.

Only two regular pitchers are now ready for duty, Jimmy Hamilton and Bennie Day. But Hamilton is suffering from a cold which may slow him up somewhat. He has shown lots of hustle and ability thus far this season.

Richards pitched the full six innings in the intra-squad game, giving up no hits and two runs on overthrows to third from the catcher after men had reached base on walks. Other members of the first team were Turner, catcher; Jessie Fullerton, first base; Galey, second base; Powell Hinson, third base; Bobby Brown, shortstop; and Sexton, Garnet Reeves, and Hamilton, outfielders.

The Opposition

Opposing them on the second team were Bennie Day, pitcher; Norman Bantz, catcher; Berry Allen, first base; Carroll Blackburn, second base; Neil Sikes, third base; Dan Adkisson, shortstop; and Dean White, James Burgess, and Jerry Van Pelt, outfielders.

Leading hitting for the winning team was Sexton with two hits in three times at bat, and Richards, Hamilton, Turner, Galey, Brown, and Fullerton also hit safely.

Mustache Cup One Of Prizes Offered To Early Trackmen

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., April 12 (INS)—A local historian set the athletes on the University of Illinois tract team to wondering today if it's worth while—the life they lead.

All they get for winning is a medal.

In the old days, the historian pointed out, one of Illinois' first intercollegiate track meets offered the following as incentive:

1 mustache cup and saucer.
1 blacking outfit.
1 copy "McCauley's History of England."
1 bath ticket.
1 group picture of the faculty.

INDIANS RELEASE PITCHERS

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 12 (AP) — The Oklahoma City Indians of the Texas league announced today the release of two pitchers. Leland Crissman was optioned to Spartanburg, S. C., of the Tri-State league and Gordon Walden was returned to San Diego of the Pacific Coast league.

Plains Relays To Open On Friday

Top Area Track Event Will Be Held At Tech; Thirty-One High Schools Entered

One of the top track and field meets in West Texas will get underway at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon, April 15, when preliminaries in the South Plains Relays are held at Texas Tech.

In the second year of activity, the relays here is fast becoming one of the most competitive events in high school track, and this weekend 31 teams are entered in the meet, sponsored by the City Recreation department, Texas Tech, Lubbock Public schools, and the Chamber of Commerce.

Coaches To Be Guests

Visiting coaches will be the guests at 7 o'clock Friday night for a stag supper at Tech gym sponsored by the Double T alumni, and all coaches are invited to attend the supper. Master of ceremonies will be Curley Wilkerson.

Some of the best high school cinder talent in this part of Texas will participate in the meet, and competition in every event should be very keen.

From Amarillo comes the team that won the West Texas Relays in Odessa last month, breaking three records in doing so. Charles Seiber extended the distance in the shot-put and discus.

Winner of the track and field meet in Big Spring April 2, and runner-up to Amarillo in its own meet, is Odessa, another potent team expected for the relays. Jimmy Patterson has been one of the best hurdlers in the area this year, setting two new records in the Odessa meet.

Lubbock Well Represented

Lubbock High school will be well-represented, but the locals will have to hustle to win any of the events, although many thinclads should place in the meet.

At least 450 athletes should participate in the preliminaries, and the field will be narrowed sharply for the finals at 2 p. m. Saturday. Last year only one day was set aside for the relays but the record number of entries made two days this year more feasible.

Although the deadline for entries has passed, new entries will be accepted through Thursday, April 14, but they will not be listed on the programs which are already printed.

Team trophies and individual awards have been purchased and may be seen at the Baker company.

Admission to the relays will be 60 cents for adults and 30 cents for children.

Lamesa Defeats Big Spring, 4-2

LAMESA, April 12 (Special) — Lamesa's Golden Tornadoes defeated the Big Spring Steers, 4-2, at Big Spring Tuesday for their third straight conference baseball win against one setback.

In winning the last three games, the Tornadoes have limited the opposition to only four runs. Righthander Jerry Phillips struck out nine batters in the seven inning game, but he walked nine also. Good support from the field, including one double play, and good clutch pitching kept the Steers from increasing their score. Two singles by Delbert Dickerson, centerfielder for Lamesa, was the best batting effort of the day.

Pitching for Big Spring was Martin, and he gave up 11 hits while his teammates were committing four errors afield.

Lamesa was behind 1-0, until the fourth inning when they scored two runs, but Big Spring tied the game in the bottom of the sixth frame. A two run outburst in their half of the seventh iced the game for Lamesa.

The victory for the Golden Tornadoes put them in a tie for second place in the league standings. On April 15 the baseball nine goes to San Angelo for a game there.

Tennessee's basketball team has defeated Kentucky more times than any other cage squad—27 times in 80 tries.

Omission Fails To List Dimmitt As Winner In 3-B Track Meet

Through misinformation obtained by telephone, Dimmitt was not listed as the winner of the District 3-B Track and Field meet held recently.

The correct team standing is Dimmitt, 62 points; Olton, 37; Springlake, 26; Kress, 16; and Hale Center 12.

Odds On Cleveland Are 7 To 5

Indians, Braves Are Picked To Do Repeat

CHICAGO, April 12 (INS)—The nation's bookmakers agreed today, sundry others to the contrary, that the Cleveland Indians and Boston Braves will repeat as pennant winners in the American and National league races this season.

The odds, which emanate from the midwest city at this time of year and are channeled to betting men everywhere, reflected the popular suspicion that if anybody wins it will be the bookies.

Cleveland is 7 to 5, the Boston Red Sox 8 to 5 and the New York Yankees 7 to 2 to win the American league pennant, and in case figures like those aren't enough, you can bet the Chicago White Sox for the flag—and get 200 to 1.

The White Sox, thus, are the longest-priced entrant in recent memory. It's 120 to 1 they don't finish as high as second, 40 to 1 they don't make it to third.

In the National league, the Braves are rated 6 to 5 favorites. Brooklyn is next at 11 to 5 and and St. Louis Cardinals third at 3 to 1.

With the exception of the Braves and Indians, you can bet all teams to finish as low as third at most bookmakers. There's no "show" betting on the favorites, but if you pick the Red Sox to finish at least third, a bookmaker will gladly accommodate you and give you one dollar for every 18 you give him.

The Dodgers and Yanks are both 1-15 shots to finish no lower than third.

The odds on each team's winning the pennant are:

American league—Cleveland, 7-5; Boston, 8-5; New York, 7-2; Philadelphia, 8-1; Detroit, 12-1; St. Louis, 30-1; Washington, 75-1; Chicago, 200-1.

National league — Boston, 6-5; Brooklyn, 11-5; St. Louis, 3-1; Pittsburgh, 6-1; Philadelphia, 12-1; New York, 15-1; Chicago, 40-1; Cincinnati, 75-1.

New Home High School Nine Defeats Wilson, 5 To 4

NEW HOME, April 12 (Special)—A single in the last inning by Billy Ray Smith sent Carlton Davies across the plate with the winning run to allow New Home High school to defeat Wilson, 5-4, in an exhibition baseball game here today.

Behind one run, a New Home batter reached first base on a walk from Wilson's Brigger, and Davies hit a long triple to tie the game and set the stage for Smith's single.

The winning pitcher was Kenneth Rogers, who was relieved in the last inning by Orville Phifer, making his first appearance as a hurler.

RACES SLATED TODAY

NEW YORK, April 12 (AP)—Thirteen speed horses headed by William Helis' six-year-old Rippey are scheduled to meet in the 18th running of the Jamaica Handicap tomorrow.

Ex-Lubbock Boy Stars With Ags

COLLEGE STATION, April 12 (Special) — Johnny Davis, ace pole-vaulter at Lubbock High school in 1943 and '44, is one of the big reasons why Texas A&M is threatening the University of Texas' domination of this event in the Southwest Conference this season.

Even though Davis earned only three-fourths of a point in a dual meet between the Cadets and the Longhorns here Saturday, his performance was more than noteworthy for he ended in a four-way tie for second place with teammate Jack Simpson, and Bob Walters and Keith Tompkins, the Texas stars who have finished one-two in nearly all previous 1949 meets.

The former Lubbock schoolboy cleared the bar at 12 feet and six inches to earn a spot in the deadlock, and will be counted on again this weekend when the Aggies vie with Rice and Texas in a three-team affair at Corpus Christi. If he maintains his present height or possibly even better it, Davis—the son of an A&M football letterman—also will be a point-winner for the Farmer cindermen at the conference meet in Fayetteville, Ark., May 13-14.

Carlsbad School Board Approves $1,600,000 Maintenance Budget

CARLSBAD, N. Mexico, April 12. (INS)—The Carlsbad Board of Education today voted to approve a $1,600,000 maintenance budget for operation of all schools in Eddy county next year.

The budget will be reviewed Monday by R. H. Grissom, state educational auditor, and R. T. Spence and Leslie Martin, Carlsbad budget commissioners.

Kasaboski To Meet Weaver

Science meets brawn tonight at Sled Allen's wrestling arena when Alex Kasaboski and Buck Weaver meet each other in the final event, two out of three falls with an hour time limit.

The Russian grappler, Kasaboski, lived up to his advance notices last week by turning in a rough and tumble performance in defeating Elmer Davis, and the fans were in sympathy with the smaller Davis as Kasaboski gave him a good going-over. And so tonight he moves into the final bout against Weaver, the cock of the roost in local wrestling circles.

Weaver Scientific

A more scientific wrestler, Weaver is nevertheless a hard man to beat regardless of the tactics used against him. He has demonstrated on more than one occasion that he can take rough punishment as well as give it out, and the match should offer him the opportunity to demonstrate this again.

About a year ago Pierre LaBell made a great showing here, and he is back to face Rod Fenton, popular Canadian wrestler, in the semi-final bout. LaBell has a habit of making a hit with the ladies everywhere he goes, and Fenton will be sure to try his best to mess up some of the Frenchman's better features out of pure jealousy.

Abbott, Blackley To Meet

The preliminary event, starting at 8:15 tonight, brings together Ace Abbott, crooning cowboy from Abilene, and Gene Blackley, Anson. The two boys will be fighting a match to decide which of the two Texas towns produces the best wrestlers.

Blackley will be trying to stage a comeback since he lost to Buck Weaver last week, and he is a rugged lad who has impressed the fans with his ability in the ring.

Tickets are on sale at Wylies Drug store until 5 p.m. today.

Trio Bolsters Aggie Track, Field Hopes

COLLEGE STATION, April 12 (AP)—Hopes of Texas Aggie tracksters in the Southwest Conference race have been buoyed by performances of three squad members in last week's triumph over Texas in a dual meet.

The Aggies won 87½ to 34½. It was A. and M.'s first victory of the season over Texas.

The Farmers' reliable one-two scoring punch of George Kadera (shot put and discus and J. D. Hampton (mile and two mile) came through as usual with two first places each, but it was the showings of little Leroy Bodeman, bespectacled Bill Cardon and rangy Bill Napier that brought a wide grin from track mentor Frank Anderson.

Bodeman ended Texas' domination of the pole vault event by hoisting his slight frame over the bar at 13 feet.

Cardon, ailing with a lame knee since the Border Olympics, showed old-time form in winning the 120-yard high hurdles in addition to chasing home teammate Bob Hall in the 220-yard low hurdles.

Napier, who seems to go faster with each new weekend, really sizzled by covering 220 yards in 20.7 seconds after having finished less than two feet behind Perry Samuels as the Longhorn speedsters won the 100-yard dash in 9.7.

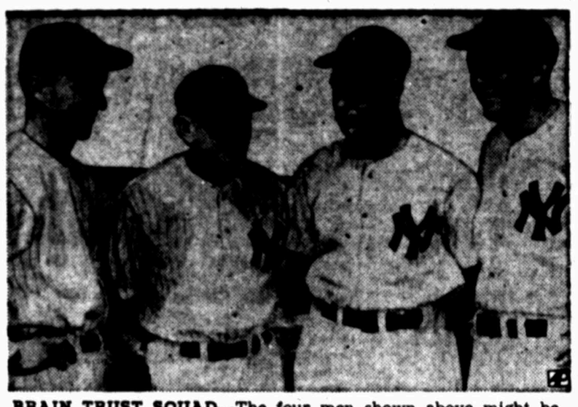

This weekend in Corpus Christi, the Aggies will engage Texas and Rice in a triangular meet that may give a better preview of the conference meet.

FORT WORTH IS FLAG FAVORITE

Crowds May Total 31,000 For Opening Of Texas League Race

By HAROLD V RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, April 12 — The Texas league starts its 54th campaign tomorrow night with crowds totaling 31,000 due to turn out.

Fort Worth will be at Tulsa, Houston at San Antonio, Dallas at Oklahoma City and Beaumont at Shreveport.

Shreveport expects 10,500 will report for its battle with Beaumont but despite the fact that this will be more than turned out at Shreveport last year to win the attendance cup, it probably won't give Shreveport the trophy for the fourth straight time.

Dallas is expecting to surpass that when it opens the season at Dallas with Oklahoma City Friday. Dallas club officials have said 12,000 tickets already have been sold.

San Antonio expects 8,500, Oklahoma City 7,000 and Tulsa 5,000.

Seven righthanders and one southpaw are slated to start.

Fort Worth will depend upon big Chris Van Cuyk, who won 14 and lost 7 last year. Tulsa will counter with Bud Byerly, a 10-7 hurler in 1948.

Houston will use Glenn Gardner (2-4) against Earl Reid (9-13) for San Antonio. Dallas nominated the veteran ex-big leaguer, Vern Kennedy (9-12 with Hollywood last year), to oppose George Zuverink, who won 18 and lost 12 with Spartanburg last season. Reid was at Toledo last season while Gardner was with Rochester.

Gayle Pringle, who won 4 and lost 4 in relief last year, will toe the mound for Beaumont against either Al Cleary, or Dee Sanders, 9-7, in the Texas league, for Shreveport.

Fort Worth has been tabbed favorite again to lead the straightaway race, with San Antonio offering the closest competition. Dallas and Tulsa are the other clubs voted first division berths by Texas league sports writers.

The Shreveport and Oklahoma City games will start at 8:15 p.m. Tilts at Tulsa and San Antonio are set for 8 p.m.

Umpiring assignments are:

Yanks To Open Season Without Joe

DiMaggio To Get Hospital Check-Up

DALLAS, April 12 (AP)—Joe DiMaggio, New York Yankees $100,000 a year outfielder whose sore heel has become the most discussed piece of anatomy in baseball, left today for Baltimore and a check-up in Johns Hopkins hospital.

DiMaggio said the heel, operated upon last winter for a bone spur, had been paining him all spring.

"I took the advice of Dr. P. M. Girard, Dallas specialist, and got an appointment at Johns Hopkins," he added.

DiMaggio boarded the plane at Fort Worth at 1:40 p.m. (CST) and stopped over five minutes here. He told a newsman "I certainly am not going to retire from baseball. There's a lot of folks that would like to see me retire. These sadistic people, you know."

DiMaggio denied he had hurt the heel in an exhibition game at Greenville Sunday but said that it had pained him while playing at Beaumont Saturday and also at Greenville.

The Yankee outfielder appeared briefly in a game here yesterday against Dallas then consulted with Dr. Girard.

"I'm going to try an injection and some x-rays," DiMaggio said. "I don't know if the treatment is new but it will be for me."

The Yankee star answered questions shortly and did not appear anxious to talk about his injury at all.

Dr. Bennett, the John Hopkins surgeon who operated on the heel Nov. 15 of last year, said at Baltimore that he would not operate again.

DiMaggio went to Baltimore March 2, complaining that the heel hurt him after the first day of practice. Dr. Bennett sent him back to the Yankee training camp, explaining that the soreness was only a "flare-up."

DiMaggio, when asked if he was optimistic that the trouble would clear up, replied that "I am going up there to see about it." He will be lost to the Yankees for the start of the season next week. He will be at Johns Hopkins for 10 days.

Without DiMaggio's bat, the Yankees would be given slight chance to figure in the American league race. He has hit only .216 in limited service this spring.

Mahon Submits Vast Program

$577,775,000 in contract authority more than the President requested. Almost all the increase was given to the Air Forces to build toward a 70-group air defense.

"If war comes soon," Mahon said, "we are appropriating too little. If we have miscalculated the dangers, if the threat of war is just a deceptive mirage on the horizon, we are appropriating too much."

Economy Is Urged

One of the most important things that needs to be done for national defense, Mahon said, is to "hammer into the heads of the military the necessity for economy." Too many officers, he said, seem to have no understanding of the need for saving money and resources.

Wartime is no time to count dollars, he said, but in peacetime the country can't be allowed to go bankrupt or have its resources squandered. That, he said, would be the way to national insecurity and possible loss of the next war.

Mahon said Congress should consider seriously converting the military and naval academies into national defense academies. Probably there will be no real unification of the armed services until this is done, he said.

Defense Called 'Defective'

He said the defense establishment is "very defective" on another score—all decisions in the joint chiefs of staff have to be unanimous.

Each service has a veto power, he said, and can insist on getting what it wants by blocking action by failure to agree.

Serving on the joint chiefs of staff are the chiefs of staff of the Army, Navy, Air Force and a representative of the President.

Furthermore, Mahon said, the idea of trying to split the national defense pie into three equal pieces is "nonsense." Yet some people, he said, insist that every time the Air Force gets 50 cents, the Army and Navy must have 50 cents apiece, too.

Mahon listed the Air Force as the "first line of defense," as "our shield as well as our spear."

'Kidnapping' Probed

ently began Sunday night when a man telephoned Mrs. Goodman at the family mansion in Beverly Hills and represented himself to be from a military academy where Joey is a day student.

The man's voice said:

"We will be unable to pick up Joey in the school station wagon tomorrow morning. But someone will be over in a car to pick him up at 8:15 in the morning."

Joey climbed into the automobile when it arrived at the house Monday morning.

Several hours later, at her exclusive dress salon, Mrs. Goodman received another telephone call. A man's voice told her:

"We have your baby and we want some money."

Joey then spoke a few words to his mother. The man came back on the telephone and said:

"If you tell anybody we'll take a knife and cut your baby's throat. We want $50,000. Get it out of your safe deposit box and meet us at the subway terminal building in downtown Los Angeles. We'll know you."

Terrified, Mrs. Goodman hurried to the bank and managed to obtain only $33,000 from her account and the safe deposit box. Bank employes disclosed today that she fainted in the bank and had to be revived.

At the subway terminal building, Mrs. Goodman related she handed over the money to a dark-complexioned man. He ordered her to sit in a telephone booth for five minutes and then to drive to the rear of the Ambassador hotel.

When Mrs. Goodman reached the hotel, Joey came running toward her automobile

"They were real nice to me," he said. "They gave me a yo-yo and some milk."

Eclipse Of Moon

coast was treated to the spectacle, however.

In Hollywood, the Don Lee television station came up with a novel show for its audience—a peek at the eclipse through television, the INS said.

Station technicians placed a home-made, four-inch telescope in front of the television camera atop Mount Lee as the eclipse reached its climax.

"We saw a perfect reproduction of the phenomenon, and so did all our viewers," Les Mawhinney, news director for the station said.

"The experiment was what we hope will be the forerunner of a number of astronomical peeks into the universe via the TV lens," Wawhinney added.

In Cedar Rapids, Ia., the temperature on the moon was reported to have dropped to about 146 degrees Fahrenheit when the eclipse became complete, according to computations made by radio engineers there, the INS said.

Threatened Bus Strike At Wichita Falls Postponed

WICHITA FALLS, April 12. (AP)—Union bus drivers and officials of the Wichita Transit company tonight announced a 10-day postponement of a threatened city-wide bus strike here.

The agreement was announced at a meeting of the city council tonight. Alderman Lloyd Thomas said the truce would give the council time to study further the company's request for increased fares.

Bus drivers are asking a seven and one-half cent per hour raise to $1 per hour. Company officials contend the firm can not meet the demand unless the council allows a fare increase.

Fliers Are Within Two Days Of New Endurance Record

(By International News Service)

FULLERTON, Calif., April 12—Endurance fliers Dick Riedel and Bill Barris were less than two days away from breaking the world's endurance record of 726 hours late this afternoon.

At 7:00 p. m. (CST Tuesday) the pair had flown more than 678 hours.

They will break the nine-year-old mark at 7:44 p. m. (CST) Thursday.

The fliers yesterday set a record when they arrived over Fullerton airport after flying non-stop coast to coast. They were the first men in history to make the round-trip cross-country flight in any kind of plane.

Fair Officials Make Plans For '49 Show

The Board of Directors of the Panhandle-South Plains Fair association met in the association offices at the City hall late Tuesday and authorized the fair manager, A. B. Davis, to contract for grandstand attractions for the 1949 exposition.

The annual fair will be held Sept. 26-Oct. 1, inclusive, this year.

Authorization for the mailing of ballots for the annual election of directors also was given by the board.

Present for the meeting was Chas. A. Guy, president of the board; Walker Stanton, Joe Baldridge, Homer D. Grant and S. C. Wilson. C. E. Maedgen, sr., and Charles L. Adams, sr., were absent board members.

Retiring board members are Guy, Grant and Maedgen.

Officers Halt Lamesa 'Wild West' Spree

LAMESA, April 12. (Special)—Two men with the spirit of the Old West and firewater in their veins tried to take over the town in true cowboy fashion yesterday before local officers corralled them.

The two "cowboys" sped into town on horseback like characters out of a western novel, rode onto the sidewalk, lassoed a few parking meters and even tried to hogtie a pedestrian or two.

Deputy Sheriffs Lawrence West and John Mowell broke up the two-man party before it got out of hand however, and lodged the playful punchers in the county hoosegow.

They paid fines for drunkenness in justice court this morning. Their mounts, tethered in the sheriff's private parking lane for awhile yesterday afternoon, were also provided with adequate accommodation for the night by the sheriff's department.

Farm Plan Assailed

between the support price and the market price.

"But there is no provision in the plan to assure that the general public, the consumers, will get their food any cheaper—and the secretary's plan may result merely in an enormously increased profit for middlemen.

May Give Idea Trial

"For example, there has been a sharp reduction in the price the farmer receives for wheat, but there has been no reduction in the price the housewife is paying for bread. I do not know who has profited by the break in the price of wheat but it hasn't been the housewife."

Brannan told the Economic Action conference of the Consumers League of the United States the government will have spent $50,000,000 by the end of this year buying eggs to keep the price to farmers up to 35 cents a dozen. He said it's beginning to get hard to find a market for those eggs, which either frozen or dried will spoil in two years.

Brannan modified the program with a surprise statement to the House committee that farmers would get price supports, under the new plan, for all they produce of such things as wheat, corn, cotton, tobacco, rice and peanuts, provided they are grown under acreage allotments and marketing quotas.

There were indications congressional farm leaders might decide to give the administration's new program a trial run in one single area of farm production—probably livestock—before a decision is made to apply the program generally.

House Okays Aid Bill

swiftly rejected:

An amendment by Rep, Preston (D-Ga.) to trim $538,000,000 or ten percent from the bill. The vote was 140 to 68.

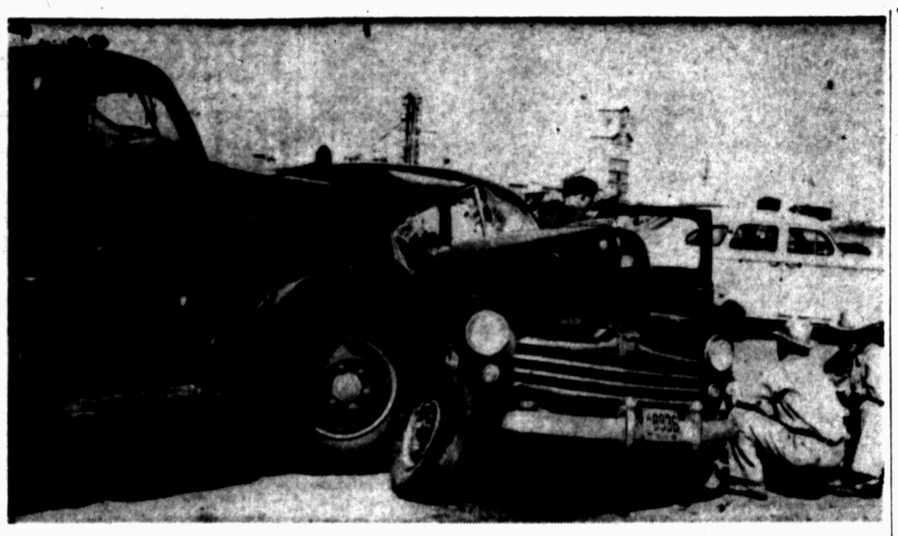

An amendment by Rep. Lawrence H. Smith (R-Wis.) to cut off $380,000,000 or about 7 percent. This lost by 162 to 86.

An amendment by Rep. Coudert (R-NY) to knock out the entire $4,280,000,000 for U. S. aid in the next fiscal year beginning July 1.

After the Smith amendment was defeated, Vorys took a new approach with an amendment of his own to curb what he termed the "give away" of American billions.

Vorys proposed that one-fifth of the money, or a little over $1,000,000,000, be earmarked for loans instead of gifts to the 16 Marshall plan nations. His proposal was shouted down by voice vote.

Four Russian women said they would fly to England for an International Women's Day meeting, if they could obtain visas.

truck, which struck the passenger vehicle in the right center side.

Investigating highway patrolmen reported that the impact drove the front of the truck almost into the car and pushed it sideways approximately 100 feet east and slightly south of the intersection. The two vehicles finally came to rest in front of a small cafe east of the service station.

Mimms was thrown out of the car, and caught underneath and dragged almost the whole distance. His head, face, and eyes were seriously injured as a result.

Mimms' car was heavily damaged by the impact, the engine of the heavy truck knifing about half-way through the two-door machine. The front seat was torn from the car by the impact.

Mimms, unmarried, lived with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Mimms, and was engaged in farming. He was in service for about three years during World War II. He had lived in the area most of his life.

The truck driven by Gipson was owned by C. E. Goodwin of Glenn, in northern Dickens county.

Highway patrolmen indicated tonight that no charge has been filed.

Royall Attacks Plan

the unification act had not been passed. It is the craziest absurdity that was ever foisted on the people of the country."

More Latitude Asked

Saltonstall contended that "we are worse prepared administratively but actually better prepared for defense." Royall conceded there have been "defense improvements."

Royall urged the committee to tighten unification to give the defense secretary "wide latitude."

He said the main difficulty now is that the defense secretary "must take advice from three people"—the Army, Air Force, and Navy secretaries. Actually, Royall declared, the defense secretary has no legal authority but is little more than a liasion man.

He admitted that under the "wide latitude" he proposed, the defense secretary could make the Marine Corps a part of the Army "or the Army a part of the Marine Corps."

Royall hinted at "the family" fight of the armed services over air power. He said "there are sharp lines drawn on aviation." He apparently meant sharp lines of dispute.

The secretary prefaced his testimony on unification with a blanket denial of waste and extravagance charges levelled at the military by Hoover yesterday.

Business Outlook

Hughitt declared, however, that the price drops and the unemployment rise that occurred up until March pointed merely to a "normal adjustment of supply to demand."

COKEY — By DUANE BRYERS

Silence Is Claimed More Tiring Than Noisy Wife Or Baby

FORT MONMOUTH, N. J., April 12 (AP)—If your wife talks too much and the baby cries too often, be grateful.

If the noise of a pneumatic hammer or the drip of a faucet bothers you, just relax.

Army signal corps engineers say you're lucky.

They tried silence and said they couldn't stand it.

The tests were made in a new "silent chamber" perfected by the Signal corps to help reduce the noise of military equipment.

And 30 minutes of absolute silence was just about all anyone could stand.

Pravda Charges Search For Ark Is West Spy Plot

MOSCOW, April 12 (AP) — A Pravda commentator charged today that a projected search for Noah's Ark by British, American and Dutch archeologists was a "biblical masquerade" covering a spy expedition.

The Communist party newspaper said archeologists planning the three-month expedition to Mt. Ararat in Turkey, close against a border of the Soviet Armenian republic, actually were intelligence officers.

The article said the "archeologist-spies" included Egerton Sykes, described as a former British press attache at Warsaw and communications officer at the embassy in Tehran, Iran.

Pravda quoted Sykes as saying people had brought pieces of the Ark from Mt. Ararat and that he expected to find the remains at a height of 11,000 feet.

"Even Dutch descendants of Noah are going to seek happiness in search of the pioneer shipbuilders," Pravda said. "What does this Biblical masquerade mean? It is quite enough to look at a map to understand the meaning of the Biblical amusements of the Anglo-American imperialists. . . . the true purposes of such an expidition are as far from archeology as Egerton Sykes is from his great grandfather Noah."

In London, Sykes said the spy story was ridiculous.

desire to live at peace with all peoples and all governments."

By pledging their joint aid, he said "they express their determination to safeguard the freedom and the common heritage and civilization of their peoples founded upon the principles of democracy, individual liberty and the rule of law."

Long Debate Seen

Acheson went on to repeat previous assurances that there is no "automatic commitment" for this nation to go to war in an effort to help an alliance member under attack.

The "essence" of the agreement, he said, is the "recognition of the fact that an armed attack on any of the North Atlantic nations is in effect an attack upon them all . . . directed squarely against our common democratic way of life."

While the Senate expected to approve the treaty by a large margin when it is finally brought to a vote, there were prospects of long debate ahead before the showdown ballot.

Arms Cost Is Issue

Chairman Connally (D-Tex) told reporters the Senate Foreign relations committee probably will not open its hearings until April 25. Many senators have been demanding the administration furnish estimates of the cost of helping rearm Western Europe at the same time they are considering the treaty itself.

On that score, Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the GOP floor leader said the "administration is fumbling with fate" by not telling the lawmakers "what it is going to cost to implement this treaty."

Mr. Truman did not touch on the arms issue in his special message, but he has said that the military aid program will be submitted after it has been cleared by the Budget bureau and other agencies concerned.

The arms project reportedly will cost around $1,250,000,000 the first year and the question of its financing already has become a heated issue on Capitol Hill.

MAN FOUND DEAD

SANTA FE, N. M., April 12 (AP) — Sam Corbin, 80, was found dead today near remnants of a fire he had built to keep warm. He had been missing since March 31. Corbin's body was found by a grandson, Oscar Anglin of Hereford, Tex., who came here to join in the search. An inquest found he died from exposure.

FIRE DAMAGES BUILDING

ABILENE, April 12 (AP)—Fire damaged the St. John Motor company building here early tonight. All city fire equipment was called out. The blaze was under control after an hour.

HEFTY HEIFER

English Firemen Save Trapped Cow

CHILWORTH, Eng., April 12. (AP)—Myrtle, a hefty heifer, fell into a cistern today. It took a brigade of firemen to get her out.

Norman Ashworth was leading her across his farmyard to a truck. Myrtle was bound for market to become beef.

Her path crossed the cistren cover. She stepped on it. Her hind legs slipped through. The rest of her followed gradually. And there was Myrtle wearing the cistern like a girdle.

She was standing upright in several feet of water. Only her head was above the surface.

Ashworth called the Surrey fire brigade. The firemen put a rope around Myrtle and pulled. Myrtle didn't budge.

The firemen pumped out the water. They dug a shaft alongside the cistren, and tore down one wall. They put two sets of ropes on Myrtle and eased her out a hundredweight or so at a time.

Mrs. Ashworth looked fondly at the unperturbed Myrtle.

"This has so endeared her to us," Mrs. Ashworth told reporters, "that we probably won't sell her at all."

vain."

Mr. Truman said he wanted it "clearly understood that on my part there is no celebration on this day." He added:

"It is a day of sadness for me, because on this day we lost Franklin D. Roosevelt, in my opinion one of the greatest presidents this country has ever had, and it became necessary for me to assume a tremendous burden on that evening."

The President recounted, from start to finish, how he was called to the White House April 12, 1945, and informed by Mrs. Roosevelt of her husband's death. He paid tribute to Mrs. Roosevelt by saying:

"I immediately asked her (Mrs. Roosevelt) if there was anything I could do for the family.

President Greeted Warmly

"She very kindly and courteously told me that there was nothing at the time I could do for them, that it was not herself and her family who needed help, but that it was the former vice president who needed help."

The President was greeted warmly by Republicans and Democrats when he appeared in the Senate district committee room for the luncheon, attended by 200 persons including nearly all senators.

Sen. Taft first shook the President's hand as he was balancing a luncheon plate enroute to a table set for him. Sen. Tydings (D-Md) and Taft sat at the same table, and carried on an earnest conversation.

When the President entered the Senate chamber, he was greeted amid applause by minority leader Lucas (D-Ill).

The applause continued as Mr. Truman went unerringly to the chair formerly assigned to him. The chair is now held by Sen. Chapman (D-Ky), who sometimes opposes the administration.

Sen. O'Conor (D-Md), who was presiding at the time, said the visit of the President and his reception indicated "the very close relationship between the legislative and executive branches"

After the President had spoken, Sen. Bridges jokingly chided him for not visiting the Republican side of the aisle. Bridges said:

"I was very happy at this interruption. It is an honor to have the President of the United States visit this body."

Called To White House

Mr. Truman told the Senate he hoped this would not be the last time "I may have the privilege of meeting with you." It was the President's second appearance before the Senate alone in four years.

President Truman broke precedent on July 23, 1947, when he made his first informal appearance on the Senate floor. He was recognized by the then President Pro Tempore Vandenberg "for five minutes" and delivered a short personal speech like the one today.

The Chief Executive said:

"The reason for this invitation was the fact that in 1945 I was presiding as vice president over the Senate on this day.

"The Senate adjourned at 5 o'clock, and I had an engagement to see the speaker of the House . . . but was instructed to return a call from the White House . . . where I was informed by Mrs. Roosevelt that the President had passed away."

Wind-Sand Trial

acres of his land was covered up to a foot deep by sand from Horton's blowing field, so that he did not even harvest a crop there. A half-mile of fence he already had found it necessary to rebuild was covered up in the winter of 1947, he said. An additional 80 acres of wheat was damaged. He said the east side of his property yielded 23 to 25 bushels of wheat that harvest, and that the west side would have done likewise had it not been for sand damage. He said wheat at the time of the harvest was selling for $2.10 a bushel.

Cross-questioned by Nelson, however, Hoover admitted that land of Robert Draper, adjoining Horton's a mile away also had blown badly about that time and that dust from that farm could have been deposited on the plaintiff's property. Hoover would not admit, however, that Horton's farming section was in "bad shape" when Horton took it over "either in 1944 or 1945."

Judge G. V. Pardue directed that court be reconvened at 9:15 o'clock this morning.

Clues Fade In Burglary Here

Tracks left by burglars who broke into Peterson's cafe on Nineteenth street near the Brownfield - Levelland road junction Monday night were followed approximately three miles Tuesday by a sheriff's deputy before the trail played out, it was announced.

Dep. Sheriff Earl Horton, assisted by Cline Peterson, followed tracks along the north side of the Santa Fe railroad right-of-way, then to the Levelland highway, back to the railroad and over to the Brownfield highway.

After following the trail along the side of the highway it became apparent to the trackers the suspects must have been picked up by a passing automobile.

Approximately $10 in change was removed from a juke box. Burglars also took cheese, ham, candy and several fresh tomatoes, and evidence showed they ate the food as they walked along.

A 1941 black Chevrolet coach, license AS 5887 was reported stolen from Bud Fiedler of 2501 Twenty-second. Further description: red wheels, with sidewall tires. A new raincoat had been left in the car, Fiedler said.

Other Thefts Reported

Two rural area thefts were reported. Russell D. Townsend of Lubbock route 1 said a 100-pound butane bottle and 75 feet of hose were stolen from the Travis place four and a half miles northeast of Lubbock.

Marvin Kelley of Lubbock route 2 said a generator had been stripped off an irrigation engine there.

Attention of police was directed into the alleged trafficking in counterfeit half-dollars by at least three young men and a girl who were traveling in an automobile described on official reports.

Radio patrolmen A. G. Brewer and B. L. Cummings were informed by C. W. McClure, a service station attendant, that three of the coins were passed at Fourteenth and Ave. H during the night before, he noticed that one of them had a "dead" sound. Later the suspect car came around and a man, about 22, attempted to pass another coin that was "shiny and minted in 1939." McClure said he informed the man the money was no good and that the man left without any explanation.

A number of articles, including a flashlight, a pair of gloves, a windshield defroster and an altimeter, were taken from the parked car of M. C. Tims of 810 Ave. R Tuesday night while the vehicle was parked in 1500 block Texas avenue, police were told.

Polish Government Puts Land In Use

WARSAW, Poland, April 12 (AP) — The Polish government claims to have liquidated all but a little more than 1,000,000 acres of fallow land in former Eastern German lands.

Government officials say that is expected to be put into cultivation this year.

Leopold Gluck, former vice-minister for western territories, told the newspaper—Rzeczospolita—that Poles had made rapid progress in putting all productive lands to work.

He said about 6,500,000 acres, or more than half of the total arable land, were lying fallow at the end of 1945 and 1946.

Gluck added that the retreating German army mined or fortified some 9,000,000 acres of land. He said 120,000 farm buildings were destroyed or damaged and farm livestock was reduced to a mere fraction of pre-war figures.

Gluck reported "the catastrophically low number of livestock in 1945 was one of the greatest obstacles preventing full agricultural utilization" of the former eastern German lands which Poland absorbed after the Potsdam agreement.

He said the number of horses in the period 1945 through 1948 increased five times from 89,000 to 465,000; cattle four times from 273,000 to 1,120,000, and pigs quadrupled from 195,000 to 938,000. Despite this, Gluck added, the number of livestock per acre still is much lower than in other parts of Poland.

Premier Of India Province Takes Rap At Communists

JUBBULPORE, April 12 (AP) — Government's determination to "prevent India becoming another China or Burma" was expressed here by Pandit R. S. Shukla, prime minister of the central provinces. He was addressing a mass meeting.

He made particular references to "the nefarious, subversive and destructive activities" of the Communists in India and said "the entire resources of the government would be used to remove this canker from the body politic."

He challenged the Communists to adopt peacful and constitutional methods "if you want to capture political power," and asked "what pleasure do you derive in indulging in nefarious, destructive and subversive tactics?"

Marriage And Death Rates In Italy Show 1948 Drop

ROME, April 12 (AP) — —Fewer Italians were married and fewer buried in 1948 compared with 1941 the Central Institute of Statistics says.

Last year, the Institute reported, 376,529 marriages were celebrated, 50,518 less than the previous year.

The number of marriages per 1,000 persons last year was 8.2.

Deaths last year totalled 482,054 down 34,450 from 1947. The Institute says Italy's mortality rate in 1948 was 10.5 per 1,000 inhabitants compared to 11.4 in 1947.

A large number of Italian deaths, however, are not regularly recorded. The United States' mortality rate in 1946, for example, was 10 per 1,000 inhabitants—the best on record.

Latest Survey On Taft-Hartley Law Shows Vote Favoring Bill

By GEORGE GALLUP
American Institute Of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., April 12—What should be done about the Taft-Hartley Law?

To measure public opinion about that thorny issue which Congress must soon decide, the American Institute of Public Opinion has conducted a nationwide survey approaching the subject from two points of view.

The survey represents an attempt to get at the general trend of thought on the law as a whole through two questions: one question based on the point of view of the Truman Administration and labor union leaders, and the other based on the point of view of business men and Republican leaders.

The results of this study among a representative cross-section of voters bring out these two major points:

1. Although the overwhelming majority have heard or read about the law, a very substantial portion has still not made up their minds about it one way or the other.

The highest number with definite opinions among the various occupational groups is found among labor union members and among business and professional people, the lowest among farmers and manual workers.

2. Among all voters who have heard or read about the law and expressed an opinion, the weight of sentiment is on the side of the law, although the margin is close. The outstanding exception is the vote of union members, who, by a very substantial majority, take the side of President Truman and union leaders opposed to the law.

A total of 83% of voters questioned in the sample said they had heard of the Taft-Hartley Law. These were asked the following:

"President Truman and labor leaders say that the Taft-Hartley Law is unfair to labor and should be changed to give labor unions more strength. Do you agree or disagree?"

Agree with Truman and labor leaders	35%
Disagree	48
No Opinion	16

Sharp differences of opinion by occupation groups can be seen in the following table:

Occupation	Agree	Dis-agree	No. Opin.
Prof. & Bus.	20%	70%	10%
Farmers	21	59	20
White Collar	32	51	17
Manual Workers	49	34	17
Labor Union Members	65	25	10

Business Men's Views

The second question in the survey put the other side of the issue in this fashion:

"Many business men and Republican leaders think that the Taft-Hartley Law has worked well and should be kept pretty much as it is. Do you agree or disagree?"

The National vote:

Agree with business men and Republicans	43%
Disagree	38
No Opinion	19

The pattern of attitudes by occupation groups on this question is closely similar to that on the first question.

Business and professional people in the sample show the greatest agreement with the pro-Taft-Hartley point of view, while union members and manual workers show the greatest disagreement. The vote follows:

Occupation	Agree	Dis-agree	No Opin.
Prof. & Bus.	62%	26%	12%
Farmers	51	27	22
White Collar	43	39	18
Manual Workers	33	47	20
Labor Union Members	22	66	12

In 1948, the Salvation Army reports, it supplied 22,785,427 meals and 9,294,358 beds.

World War II Vet May Head Legion

HOUSTON, April 12. (U.P.)—National American Legion Commander S. Perry Brown of Beaumont predicted today that his successor would be a veteran of World War II.

Here to address a luncheon meeting of Legionnaires, Brown said he would not personally recommend that the Legion be led by a younger man, but that he expected one to be chosen at the next convention.

Three he named as "high in the running" were George Craig of Indiana, Earl Cocke of Georgia and James Green of Nebraska.

Commander Brown will go to San Antonio tonight, and to Austin Wednesday morning for an address before the Texas legislature.

Brown said some form of universal military training would be put into effect, and he outlined the Legion's program for a "citizen army" to back up a military force.

Nevada Damage Suit Names Crosby, Sinatra As Defendants

LOS ANGELES, April 12. (INS)—Singers Bing Crosby, Frank Sinatra and 11 others were named defendants in a $1,000,000 fraud damage suit involving a Nevada resort venture.

Both Sinatra and Larry Crosby (the crooner's brother and business manager) denied the charges.

Five stockholders of the Nevada Desert Inn, Inc., brought the suit and charged that Stanley Burke of Sacramento bought land for a projected resort and later transferred title of the property to himself.

The plaintiffs who protested that they were kept in the dark regarding the whole transaction are Ernest E. Gagnon, Ethel D. Glines, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Martin and the Gagnon Company, Inc.

Sinatra was accused of "joining and participating" in Burke's "wrongful acts." The suit said that Bing Crosby was represented by his brothers, Larry and Everett Crosby.

Texas Man Tells How He Was Saved 36 Years Ago From Well By Negro; Pulled Up By Rope

DALLAS, April 12 (AP)—A Texas man, now 39, is alive today because he was saved from a well by a negro 36 years ago. Elbert Gray, the negro who rescued the white child, believes Kathy Fiscus might have been reached in the same way he pulled the white child to safety.

Kathy Fiscus, 3, was found dead Sunday night in her underground tomb at San Marino, Calif. She had fallen into a 14-inch well last Friday afternoon. Her body was recovered at about the 95-foot level.

Gray said he rescued Albert Calvin Stepp from a well 64 feet deep. The hole was 12 inches in diameter.

"I just kept myself drawed up to do it," Gray said.

Stepp believes someone should have tried to go down into the well to save Kathy.

Given Carnegie Medal

Gray was awarded a Carnegie foundation medal for saving Stepp from the well near Canton, Tex., on Feb. 6, 1913. Gray was 17 then, weighed about 100 pounds and "I measured about 14½ inches across the shoulders."

Although scores of people offered to go into the California well in an effort to reach Kathy their suggestions were rejected. Rescue directors said the well casing was so old, rusty and broken it would be dangerous.

Stepp's temporary prison was not sheathed with a metal casing. its wall were earth.

Although Stepp was too young to remember his rescue he is familiar with its details from accounts by his parents.

"They told me I was playing in the yard when I fell into the well," he said.

"It had been abandoned when drillers struck rock about two months before that."

Big Crowd Gathered

Stepp's mother and father tried to get into the well and failed. A big crowd from the east Texas countryside collected.

Will Tate, a livery stableman, suggested Gray get into the hole.

"First," Gray told Stewart Doss, reporter for The Dallas Morning News, "they let me down feet first. A rope had been tied around my arms.

"Albert kept crying for his grandpa. He was standing up in the hole. It had some water at the bottom.

"He (Stepp) was wearing a dress. I grabbed a wad of that dress. My hands and his body were too slippery and muddy for me to get ahold anywhere else. I yelled for 'em to pull me up.

"They did. But up about 40 feet the dress broke. Albert fell. I was scared for the first time. I couldn't hear any cries. I thought he was dead. They brought me to the top and decided to let me down head first.

"Down I went. I didn't feel dizzy. I was lowered to the bottom and this time I slipped a rope under Albert's arms. We made it this time when they hauled us up."

Neither suffered anl ill effects.

Stepp now lives at Garland, near Dallas. Gray lives in Dallas.

They visit frequently. They visited yesterday, recalling their experience, contrasting and comparing it with the tragedy in California.

Greek Premier Resigns With Cabinet In Protest To King

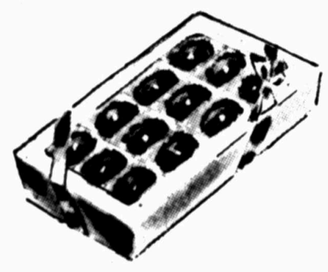

ATHENS, April 12 (INS)—Greek Premier Themistocles Sophoulis and his cabinet resigned tonight when King Paul failed to sign a decree expelling one minister.

The king asked Sophoulis immediately to form a new cabinet, presumably dropping Minister Without Portfolio Spyros Markezinis, against whom the decree was directed because he allegedly was involved in foreign exchange smuggling.

Markezinis had refused demands yesterday that he quit the cabinet.

WASTED TIME COSTING MONEY

Legislators' Horseplay Seems Strange To Avalanche Writer

By C. W RATLIFF
Avalanche Staff Writer

AUSTIN, April 12—It's a good thing the people of Texas don't make a practice of coming to Austin very often to see the Texas Legislature "at work."

It's quite possible that some of the boys might not be re-elected every two or four years as is the present custom

They tell me that all the horseplay is necessary but to a layman who visits the capital city only at infrequent intervals, there seems to be a lot of time wasted. And that time is costing somebody some money.

Show Staged

For instance, Monday afternoon the House spent most of the time arguing over "gas" bills and putting on a show for approximately 600 Farm Bureau, Grange and other rural visitors.

And over in the Senate, a similar scene was being enacted, only there weren't so many of the boys on the floor heckling the man who was trying to speak.

As Dave Cheavens, manager of the Austin bureau of the Associated Press, summed it up: "Monday was send-it-back day" for both houses and there was no worthwhile action by either group.

So many forces are at work here that it's amazing any laws of any benefit to the people of Texas are ever passed.

The "natural resources" boys have the situation under better control this session than in many years past. They've got everybody all upset over the Gilmer-Aiken school bill, the basic science law and a lot of other legislation which doesn't affect taxation of oil or natural gas.

The grapevine has it that the G-A bill will be approved because that's what the "big boys" want It brings about more centralization of school matters in Texas and places them under a little bureaucracy here at Austin

The same thing goes for the basic science bill.

Students Jam Talk

So it makes one wonder what it's all about as you sit here at the press table in the House of Representatives and see a line of university law students yelling through a mike on the floor at a man who is trying to get across some point in support of or in opposition to a proposed measure.

Just as a tip, watch for the veteran's bonus measure to be brought out in the House again. It will probably have a horse-racing rider or some other highly controversial matter tied to it in order to provoke long debate and forestall consideration of more important legislation like the money bills.

REA Announces Loans Totalling $10,851,000 Over Wide Area

WASHINGTON, April 12 (U.P.)—The Rural Electrification administration today granted loans totaling $10,851,000 to 20 borrowers in 14 states for expanding electric service in rural areas.

Loans included:

Roosevelt County Electric Cooperative, Portales, N. Mex., $430,000; Lea County Electric Co-operative, Lovington, N. Mex., $824,000.

McLennan County Electric Cooperative, McGregory, Tex., $335,000; Deep East Texas Electric Cooperative, San Augustine, Tex., $325,000.

Evidence Heard In Bank Swindle

FRANKLIN, April 12 (AP)—A state's witness testified today that S. B. Jones, charged in an $81,000 worthless check swindle, deposited a check signed by him for $10,850 at the First State Bank of Franklin last November.

Jones is under seven indictments and is being tried on one charging swindling by worthless check in that amount. Another count in the indictment alleges theft.

The testimony was by Alfred H. Poetter, formerly cashier of the Franklin bank. Poetter was the first witness.

Had Seen Name

He was cashier of the First State bank before it merged with the First National Bank of Franklin following cashing of the $81,000 in worthless checks. He testified he had known Jones for 10 years and that Jones had done business with his bank before the merger in December, 1948.

He said he had had occasion to look at Jones' signature on various instruments for six or seven months and he identified the name on the $10,850 check as the signature of Jones.

He declared the $10,850 deposited to Jones' account was drawn on the McAllen State bank and was made to pay to the order of cash. On one corner, the check bore the words "for 4 ply sedan."

Three other witnesses are listed by the prosecution. They are Tom Gallamore, Texas Ranger; Harry Hartley, who was with the McAllen State Bank at the time of the alleged swindle, and Bob Reeves, sheriff.

The defense has summoned three witnesses. They are Mrs. Jones; Jones' daughter, Mrs. Margaret Fulton of Calvert, and A. W. Lewis, who was not identified.

Jones pleaded not guilty when arraigned.

Legislature Gives Bonus Plan New Life

Gas Tax Plans Suffer Setback

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, April 12—A big soldier bonus proposal got new life and two natural gas tax bills were buried a little deeper in the legislature today.

The House went along with Rep. J. A. Benton of Wylie who complained his $300,000,000 bonus proposal has not been given a fair hearing in the various committees considering it. The vote was 76 to 62 to jerk it out of the Constitutional Amendments committee and hand it to State Affairs.

Gas Tax Plan Loses

Backers of Rep. C. S. McLellan's natural gas tax-rural road measure took another one-vote beating. The House voted 69 to 70 against putting it back in a favorable taxation subcommittee.

Rep. Deno Tufares of Wichita Falls tried to persuade the House to re-refer his natural gas tax bill from revenue and taxation to the committee on highways. The House said no, 71 to 59.

The Senate debated a constitutional amendment to allow women to serve on juries, but spent most of its morning session revising its calendar.

The House took notice of the Kathy Fiscus tragedy. It granted Rep. W. R. Chambers of May permission to introduce a bill requiring that all cisterns and wells be capped when not in actual use. Violation would be punishable by $200 to $1,000 fines.

House Stands Pat

The House committee on livestock agreed it will not try to push any pending legislation in that field this session, but wait until all interested groups can offer an inclusive program.

The McLellan natural gas tax, which would levy three-fourths of a cent per 1,000 feet of this resource, was sent back to committee yesterday by the House by a one-vote margin. The revenue and taxation panel sent it to a favorable sub-committee—also by one vote.

McLellan asked the House to reverse yesterday's action. After a long drawn-out parliamentary struggle, the House stood pat.

Objections Cited

Backers of the bill said a pending amendment would erase one of the chief objections—a requirement that counties must levy the 30 cent constitutional ad valorem tax before they benefit. McLellan's bill would set up a fund to build feeder roads. One fourth of the income would go to schools, three-fourths for such roads.

Opponents contended the bill was in a friendly subcommittee, that it needed rewriting to remove the objections, and that its revenue should go into the all-purpose revenue pool rather than

Government May Enter Market To Boost Payments

Hog Prices Drop To New Lows

By FREEMAN FULBRIGHT
INS Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, April 12—Hog prices skidded today to the lowest level since OPA ended in October, 1946 and meat experts said the government might have to buy considerable pork to check the decline.

New low marks were reported at five major markets—Chicago, St. Louis, St. Paul, Minn., Indianapolis, Ind., and Cincinnati, O.

An Agriculture department official in Washington said the department is not yet alarmed over the decline of pork prices but pointed to a number of market signs which indicate the government might have to enter the hog market.

Market Opens May 1

The spokesman said hog prices, which have been dropping since the first of the year, are now only about three dollars above the support level.

He added that the influx of fall pigs, normally the largest crop of the year, might be large enough to send prices lower, forcing the government to buy to keep up prices.

The regular marketing season for fall pigs starts about May 1. The government last went into the pork market in 1943.

Today's top hog price at Chicago was $19.50 a hundredweight, only $3.25 above the OPA control price of $16.25 in effect until Oct. 15, 1946.

Other Cities Affected

Similar lows were reported at outside markets. St. Louis and St. Paul had highs of $19. Indianapolis and Cincinnati records peaks of $19.25, $19.35, respectively a hundredweight.

Slow buying and liberal marketings were blamed for the drop. Today's hog receipts at 12 major markets were 62,200, compared with 51,700 a week ago.

The agriculture department spokesman said the general meat situation might offset the pork price decline somewhat. He explained that the amount of beef sent to market might be less this year, thus influencing buyers to buy more pork.

While hog prices were lower, cattle were steady to 25 cents lower and lambs 50 cents to $1 lower at Chicago.

Chicago wholesale prices were fairly steady on most classes and grades of fresh meat, but cured pork items sold barely steady to as much as 3 cents lower a pound.

THREE PROGRAMS GIVEN

Music Festivals In Lubbock's Schools Draw Good Turnouts

An estimated 2,850 persons attended music festivals held Tuesday night in three Lubbock schools.

Simultaneous programs beginning at 7:30 p. m. were presented at Lubbock Senior High school, O. L. Slaton Junior high, and J. T. Hutchinson Junior high.

The programs at all three places were the same, and included many old favorite vocal selections so that community singing, with the audience participating, would be feasible.

Enthusiastic reception of the numbers presented by the school students was reported from each of the three festivals, as well as genuine enjoyment in taking part in the community singing.

Music teachers in charge of the program at Senior High school included Mrs. Elois Elliott, Miss Mary Hooten, Mrs. Carrie Reid, Miss Ethelyn Schmidt, Miss Mary Hooten, Mrs. Carrie Reid, Miss Ethelyn Schmidt, Miss Bernice Bay, Mrs. Mary O. Wilpitz, and Mrs. Mary Clepper.

Teachers in charge at J. T. Hutchinson Junior high included, Miss Dimple Watson, Miss Marjorie Byrd, Miss Nell Goodloe, and Mrs. Grace Belich.

Teachers in charge at O. L. Slaton Junior high included Miss Imogene Webster, Mrs. Laverne Rush, Mrs. Jeanette Jenkins, Mrs. Billy Tabor, Mrs. Martha J. Mack, Miss Elizabeth Bostick, and Mrs. Loula Daniel.

An estimated 800 persons were at J. T. Hutchinson Junior high, 1,200 attended the Senior High festival. And at O. L. Slaton Junior High there were approximately 850.

Lions Club Meeting Features Address By Negro Leader Here

A talk by Dr. J. A. Chatman, negro physician and civic leader of Lubbock, featured Tuesday's Lions club luncheon in the Hilton hotel.

Dr. Chatman spoke on "America's Tenth Boy," a subject discussing the social problems confronting the negro race. In his address, he appealed for better understanding of, and better educational facilities for, the negro race in America

Dick Richards was in charge of the day's program.

Earl Hobbs, of the Monroe Lions club, invited all Lubbock Lions and their wives to attend the Monroe club's charter night program May 2.

Barbecue Planned

Wayne Henly, Lion president, announced that the local club has made arrangements to serve two barbeque dinners. The first is the Jefferson - Jackson Day Democratic barbeque at Texas Tech May 7, and the second is a fete sponsored by the Stanolind Oil and Gas company May 14 at Sundown, in observance of the opening of the new Stanolind refinery there.

R. C. (Bob) Harvey was named chairman of an 11-man nominating committee to make nominations for club positions for the coming year.

Out-of-town guests, in addition to Earl Hobbs, included Jerry Briscoe of Amarillo; Ewell Lawrence of Aspermont; W. S. Marler of Oklahoma City and Rip Slahlbeber of Amarillo.

Henly presided at the luncheon, with invocation by Paul Sherrod.

MANKIND AT ITS WORST

CHICAGO (U.P.)—Mrs. Elizabeth Zinnerlin, 53, who is blind, heard a pleasant masculine voice offer to escort her across the street. She thanked him. When she was safely across, he snatched her purse containing $7 and a special wrist watch for the blind and fled.

College Building Bloc Is Set Back

AUSTIN, April 12 (Special) — Dudley K. Woodward Dallas attorney who authored the college building amendment and engineered it through the Texas legislature and finally to approval by a small majority of the people of Texas, received his first setback here lat Monday when directors of the state teachers colleges voted to withdraw from the "joint committee" set up by Woodward to sell the bonds.

Woodward had already selected the bank, attorneys and even the printers for the bonds and had all the details arranged, reports say.

Opposition Mounts

But then several of the teachers college president and others decided everything had been too cut and dried, and opposition began to mount after a meeting in a Dallas bank last week when Woodward did most of the talking.

Monday's action by the teachers' directors is said to be the first of a series of divorce actions which Woodward and his "University Gang" face in the bond program. It was reported that Texas State College for Women plans similar action. Texas Tech's board did not take any action in the matter.

As a result, the University and A. & M. will probably market their bonds separately from the other schools.

The bonds, originally estimated at $60,000,000 over a 30-year period may total more than $100,000000.

DOKK Group To Hold Ceremonial, Dance

Boabdil temple No. 185 of the Dramatic Order of Knights of Khorassan will hold a ceremonial and dance at Lubbock hotel Saturday afternoon and night, Clarence Tisdel, Royal vizier, announced Tuesday.

Festivities will get underway at 4 p.m., it was announced, with a supper to follow at 6 p.m. at the lodge hall, 1107½ Ave. K. Six candidates are to be initiated during the ceremonial at the hotel.

Visitors will be present from DOKK temples at Pampa, Amarillo, Clovis, Albuquerque, Childress, Paducah, Spur, Lamesa and Tahoka. John Lawerence, Imperial Ikfir from Oklahoma City, will be a special guest at the meeting.

A dance for all DOKK members and friends will be held in the east ballroom at Lubbock hotel following the dinner at the lodge hall. It will begin at 9:30 p.m., it was announced, with Ross Edwards and his orchestra furnishing the music.

Heavy Vote Reported In Election At Tech

Voting in the general elections which were held at Texas Tech Tuesday was the heaviest seen at the college in several years, according to Clint Formby, student body president. Final tabulations and results will not be announced until sometime this morning.

"The election this year has been one of the most colorful that Tech has ever seen," Formby said. For the past three weeks the campus has been covered with posters and banners put out by the various office-seekers.

Student officers for the 1949-50 school year are to be chosen. The run-off election for races where needed will be held April 20 after students have returned from Easter vacations.

Editorship of the Toreador, student newspaper was the only office for which there was not at least one contestant. That position will be filled by the Publications committee at the college in the near future.

There were three candidates who were unopposed. They were automatically elected after Tuesday's voting. Those were: Raymond Brigham of Snyder, business manager of the student council; Roy Grimes of Lubbock, editor of the La Ventana, student year book and A. J. Bishop of Winters, business manager of the La Ventana.

GARZA FIELD OUTPOSTS STAKED

Andrews County Test Indicates Possible Discovery In Devonian

Recovery of a large amount of free oil on the third Devonian drillstem test by Magnolia Petroleum company No. 18-B Cowden strengthened the probability of a discovery from that horizon in southwest Andrews county, two miles east of the Dollarhide field.

The examination was for four and one-half hours at 10,088-120 feet, using a 1,440-foot water water blanket. Gas showed at the top in one hour and 25 minutes. Recovery was the water blanket, cut with gas, followed by 370 feet of heavily oil and gas cut drilling mud plus 3,600 feet of 39.1-gravity oil. There was no formation water reported.

1,200 Pound Pressure

Flowing bottom hole pressure was 1,200 pounds and 15-minute shutin bottom hole pressure, 3,525 pounds.

The venture was last reported taking a drillstem test at 10,118-145 feet in the Devonian.

The current formation has yielded 450 feet of clean oil on a test of 10,035-060 feet and 180 feet of clean oil at 10,068-90 feet.

Originally, the development was scheduled to drill ahead to the Ellenburger. Whether that procedure will be carried out or whether the project will complete in the Devonian has not been revealed.

Britain's Labor Party Pledges More Nationalization Of Industry

LONDON, April 12. (AP)— Britain's Labor party promised today to nationalize at least five more major industries if returned to power in the next general elections.

The party announced a campaign platform for 1950 tabbing cement manufacture, part of the life insurance business, sugar manufacture and refining, private and municipal water companies, and "all suitable minerals" for public ownership.

Moreover, it warned "all steps necessary"—presumably including nationalization—will be taken to prevent a repeat of the 1930 slump in the shipbuilding industry. And it declared that key sections of the chemical industry will be nationalized if necessary "to assure vital national interests."

Angry Reaction Seen

The program held forth no promise to reduce taxes or end rationing. It said rationing and rent controls will continue as long as there are shortages.

The party pledged increased education, more houses, "steady development" of socialized medicine, speedier re-building of blitzed areas, and a better chance for old people to continue working.

Workers' families were offered more and better vacations through cheap travel and better accommodations. This would include space in historic old homes that pass into government hands.

The platform will be debated by the national party conference opening at Blackpool June 6. It was prepared by top men in the government and its approval is assured.

Industry reaction to the platform was bound to be angry.

In its first four years in office, the labor government already has nationalized coal mines, gas works, electricity, railroads, canals and long distance trucking, airlines, the Bank of England and the worldwide cable and wireless communications company. A bill to put the steel industry under public ownership is pending.

Official Charged With Tax Fraud

AUSTIN, April 12 (AP)—Charges of making false statements in connection with a series of alleged fradulent gasoline tax refund claims were filed today against Raymond M. Hanks.

Hanks has been head of the state comptroller's office in Corpus Christi since 1940.

He was arrested about 10 p.m. yesterday in the office of State Comptroller R. S. Calvert by Travis county sheriff Ernest Best Calvert said he made a verba. statement concerning alleged fraudulent claims filed through the Corpus Christi office during the past seven years.

Hanks was released from Travis county jail today after posting $5,000 bond.

"We're going into this thing thoroughly and it may be weeks and weeks before we are able to tell how much money the state has paid out on these claims," Calvert said. "We know it will be a big amount."

Calvert said the charges arose from a series of small gasoline tax refund claims filed by the Corpus Christi office in the name of a Corpus Christi resident.

The state refunds four cents tax paid on each gallon of gasoline used in a vehicle or engine which does not travel on Texas highways.

The investigation was ordered when an auditor in Calvert's office noticed that signatures of the "dealer" and the notary on certain refund claims appeared alike, the comptroller said.

Hanks was charged in Justice of Peace Frank W. McBee's court with "wilfully and knowingly making a false statement in a claim for refund delivered to or filed with the comptroller of public accounts of the State of Texas."

Calvert said he did not expect any more arrests.

District Attorney Bob Long said Hanks would be called before the 126th district court grand jury which is now in session.

Snyder Recruits SPEBSOSA To Harmonize On New Song For Opportunity Bond Drive

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 12. — When the government wants real harmony it goes to the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America, Inc.

That's what Secretary of Treasury John Wesley Snyder and his boys did when they were looking for a theme song to plug the opportunity bond drive, about which you're going to hear much.

Truman May Play

The secretary is pitching a little hoe-down here April 19 to honor those who volunteered to help, including a lot of famous song writers. The head man, Mr. Truman, will say a few words and might even tra-la or play the piano to get things going. The real drive will open May 16, and Uncle Sam hopes by June 30 to have 1,040,000,000 brand new borrowed American dollars in the national kitty.

But to get back to the singing business.

Getting a song was turned over to the barbershop boys, who can sing any tune you can name in "A" flat or "B" minor. They had a contest, which was judged by Fred Waring, an old harmony man. He had on his committee Perry Como and Oscar Hammerstein, II.

The winner is announced for the first time — as of now.

It's a song called "Keep America Saving," written by Frank H. Thorne of Chicago. Thorne is a former president of the barber shop boys.

Quartets To Plug Drive

There were six honorable mention songs — not rated in any order. They included plugs by R. H. (Dick) Sturges of Atlanta, Ga., Ed Crowin and Pat Sands, Boston; Alfred F. Girard, Providence, R. I.; Francis Stroup, Laramie, Wyo.; Willis A. Diekema, Holland, Mich.; and Ed Place, Washington, D. C.

I said you're going to hear the winning tune, and brother, you're going to hear it long and loud!

Already 2,000 barber shop quartets spread across and up and down the land have received copies of the winning tune and are practicing it. It'll be on the radio. And at every rally, some quartet will be on hand to give out with the words and music.

Along about now also happens to be the 100th anniversary of the big California gold rush. The folks out that way are getting into the act, too. The mayor of Cedar City, Utah, who caught onto the spirit of things, has one of the largest collections of original covered wagons. He has donated some for trips around the country. You can expect to find a barbershop quartet in pioneer costume and handlebar mustaches sitting on the endgate of each wagon — harmonizing.

BLAMED FOR DEATH OF JEWS

Fourteen Former Nazi Officials Convicted By U. S. High Court

NUERNBERG, Germany, April 12 (AP)—A U. S. War Crimes court announced today the conviction of 14 former Nazi government officials of crimes against humanity in the murder of 6,000,000 Jews.

The vote of the three judges was two to one.

The majority reasoning was that the man who signs a death warrant is as guilty as the man who pulls the trigger.

All the 14, the court held, helped Hitler carry out history's most systematic program of race extermination. Only seven of the 21 defendants in this closing American war crimes case escaped conviction on that count.

Five Defendants Acquitted

Five of the 21 defendants were acquitted of the mass murder charge. The other two had not been accused of that crime, which is only one of seven the prosecution attributed to the group. These two had been convicted on other counts.

Two defendants walked from jail today, freed of all charges.

These were Otto Meissner, one-time chief of the presidential chancellery, and Otto Von Erdmannsdorf, who was deputy chief of the foreign office political division.

Those convicted were:

Court Announces Convictions

Lutz Schwerin Von Krosigk, former minister of finance; Emil Puhl, Reichsbank director; Walter Schellenberg, intelligence official; Hans Kehrl, industrial planner; Lt. Gen. Gottlob Berger, head of the main office of Hitler's S.S. corps; Otto Dietrich, Hitler's press chief; Richard Walther Darre, minister of agriculture; Hans Heinrich Lammers, chief of the Reichschancellery; Wilhelm Stuckart, state secretary; Edmund Veesenmayer, who was virtual dictator of Hungary; Wilhelm Keppler, Hitler's economics adviser; and Gustav Steengracht Von Moyland, Ernst Woermann and Baron Ernst Von Weizsaecker of the foreign office.

Burns Prove Fatal For Post Youth; Services Set Today

POST, April 12. (Special)—Last rites for Larry D. Evans, six-year-old son of Mrs. Mabel Martin of Post, will be conducted at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in Calvary Baptist church here, Rev. O. L. Jones officiating.

The boy died about 5:15 a.m. today in Lubbock Memorial hospital of burns suffered early Monday night here when his clothing caught fire while playing with other children around an open fire. He was severely burned over his entire body.

The children had been playing with "fireballs," gasoline-soaked rag bundles set afire and twirled at the end of a wire. Family members said the Evans boy apparently had spilled some gasoline on his clothing, and that it caught fire as he played about the open blaze.

Hudman Funeral home ambulance brought the boy to Lubbock Memorial hospital at about 9 p. m.

Survivors include the mother; four sisters, Virginia and Joy Evans, and Mrs. Harlan Morris, all of Post, and Mrs. A. T. Beauchamp, of Corpus Christi; and two brothers, L. W. Evans of Post and J. E. Evans of Lubbock.

Couple Marries In Missouri 32 Years After 'Engagement'

STANTON, Mo., April 12 (INS)—A 32-year "engagement" ended today with the wedding of a couple who met in the grand ballroom of Meramec Caverns in Missouri in 1917—and exchanged vows—during a school picnic.

The bride was Mrs. Daisy Dill Crockett and the bridegroom is Victor Roussin. They were married in the Caverns ballroom where their romance began.

Bridegroom Is Engineer

Roussin is now a locomotive engineer, residing at Grand Junction, Colo., and was 17 when he met Mrs. Crockett, who was 16, in the caverns.

They drifted apart following the picnic, and each married. Roussin's wife died seven years ago. Mrs. Crockett's husband died five years ago, and Mrs. Crockett saw Roussin again at her home at Sullivan, Mo.

He proposed—and she accepted.

Among the wedding guests were Mrs. Crockett's three children by her first marriage, and one of Roussin's two children by his first marriage.

Repeal Of Oleo Taxes Is Urged

WASHINGTON, April 12. (AP)—Sen. George (D-Ga) said today he will oppose any effort to cut federal excise taxes by tacking amendments onto the bill to repeal taxes and restrictions on oleomargarine.

Such an amendment to slash excise taxes generally—by 50 per cent or more on some items—was offered by Sen. Johnson (D-Colo).

Johnson said that if the Senate gets an opportunity to vote on the House-passed oleo tax repeal bill he believes chances of his amendment are "rather bright." His proposal would cut the excise taxes back to 1942 levels. These taxes are levied on such things as jewelry, furs, light bulbs, train tickets, admissions to theaters and the like.

Dairy Farmer Backs Plan

George, chairman of the Senate Finance committee holding hearings on oleo legislation, differed with Johnson. He said he would be "compelled to resist" the amendment. He added he feels excise taxes are a separate problem that can't properly be handled with the oleo bill.

A stream of witnesses urged the committee to approve the House-passed measure. They included businessmen, a dairy farmer, consumers, economists, dieticians, grocers' representatives, and others.

The dairy farmer was young Merrit M. Nash of Falls City, Wash. He called on Congress to "wake the dairy industry" by repealing all restrictions on oleo.

Two Bills Studied

Paul T. Truitt, president of the National Association of Margarine manufacturers, testified any charge of monopoly against the oleo industry "is unfounded." He said no one company makes as much as 10 percent of all the oleo manufactured.

Senator Fulbright (D-Ark) said the charge had been made that if federal levies were removed the price of yellow oleo would go as high as butter. He asked Truitt what he thought about that.

"I think it's utterly absurd," Truitt replied.

The committee is considering two bills. Both would repeal federal levies on oleo. The one approved by the House also would permit interstate shipment of colored oleo.

The other, sponsored by 26 dairy state senators, would prohibit such interstate shipment.

Butter advocates had their inning before the committee yesterday.

Solons Okay Increase In Veteran Benefits

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—The government acted today toward providing an extra $595,890,000 in G.I. benefits for the next three months, partly because of increased joblessness among veterans.

Part of the money would be used for unemployment payments under the G.I. Bill of Rights. Most would be for educational benefits under the same law.

President Truman asked the extra money. The House Appropriations committee quickly approved the fund, which would supplement money already voted for the fiscal year ending June 30.

The bill will come before the House tomorrow for expected prompt passage. It has not been considered by the Senate.

into a special rural road fund.

The Tufares natural gas tax bill would levy a cent and a half per 1,000 cubic feet of gas. The income would be divided equally between eleemosynary institutions, rural schools and rural roads. The author told the House he didn't think he had gotten a fair deal in the committee on revenue and taxation.

Benton's bonus bill has been booted in and out of several committees. Veterans of both world wars and the Spanish American war would benefit. They would receive minimum benefits of $200 and maximum benefits of $500, except that prisoners of war, dependents of deceased veterans and disabled veterans could draw up to $750.

LABOR UNION ISOLATION CHARGED

Reds Enter New Protest Against MacArthur Headquarters' Ruling

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN
INS Staff Correspondent

TOKYO, April 12 — The long-quiet Soviet mission in Tokyo made its second protest in as many days today against decisions by the allied occupation in Japan.

This time the Russians attacked Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters' refusal to permit a Japanese labor leader to attend the tenth congress of trade unions in Moscow.

Yesterday the Russians demanded that MacArthur countermand the purge of a former Japanese politician.

Reds Protest 'Isolation'

American officials have confirmed the Russian charge that a Japanese labor representative was refused an exit visa last Friday for the meeting which is scheduled April 19.

Under present occupation policy, the American officials explained, such visas are not issued to Japanese who wish to attend "politically motivated" gatherings.

The Russians protested in a news release that the Americans are attempting to "isolate Japanese trade unions from any contact with USSR trade unions."

Arbitrary Action Charged

The Soviets further charged that occupation officials "resorted to rude and arbitrary actions in trying to restrict the association of Japanese trade unions to relations with the AFL."

While protesting the occupation's refusal to permit the Moscow trip, the Russians recalled the approval of the attendance by Japanese delegates at the meeting of the International Labor organization.

Occupation officials pointed out that the ILO was a non-political international body affiliated with the United Nations and designed to investigate problems of industrial relations and labor standards.

The first public Russian protest was made yesterday by Lt. Gen. Kuzma Derevyanko, chief of the Soviet mission in Tokyo. He made an unprecedented demand on MacArthur to nullify an order of the Japanese government holding Jiichiro Matsumoto unfit for public office.

Matsumoto, leader of Japan's 3,000,000 "untouchables," was purged for his alleged wartime affiliations with an ultranationalistic society in Japan.

Dog Apparently Is Slightly Confused Over His Own Name

SAN FRANCISCO, April 12 (AP)—What's in a name?

Two claimants of a German shepherd appeared before assistant District Attorney R. J. Swetmann.

One, David Hines, called, "here, Scotty; here Scotty."

The other, Thomas Van King, then called: "Here Jo Jo; here Jo Jo."

The dog scampered over to King.

Swetmann then called: "Come here, Laddie."

The dog sped into Swetmann's arms.

He waved his arms in despair and told the men to take the case to civil courts.

Baptist Group Hears Discussion Of Brazil

Presenting a graphic account of life in the Brazilian jungle, Mrs. Clem Hardy, Southern Baptist missionary to the Amazon valley of Brazil, spoke before the First Baptist Men's brotherhood Tuesday evening, Lattimore Ewing, educational director, reported.

Mrs. Hardy's work required that she live abroad a launch while traversing the Amazon, covering a territory three times the size of Texas.

School Has 125 Pupils

Headquarters of the Mission was established at Manaos, Brazil, 1,000 miles inland on the Amazon river which is navigable over 2,000 miles, Mrs. Hardy said.

A school with 125 pupils, employing five teachers was maintained at Manaos, 2,300 miles from the nearest other Christian school, Mrs. Hardy related.

Mrs. Hardy is now on leave from the Brazilian post which she has held for the last 13 years.

She was introduced by Mrs. Bill Mead, associational W.M.U. Young People's leader.

CCNY Students Demonstrate Against Alleged Anti-Semitic Teachings Of Two Professors

NEW YORK, April 12 (INS)—City College of New York students again picketed their school buildings today in protest against two allegedly anti-Semitic professors. But the demonstration was hardly a vague carbon copy of yesterday's tempestuous scenes.

New York police, who called yesterday's student strike a "riot," almost outnumbered the 100-odd students who carried today's banners in orderly fashion. Police warned one demonstrator that if he hooked up a loud-speaker device, "it would be cut off." The student considered the alternative, and decided to use his voice instead.

Professors Get Support

The professors in question, who have denied the allegations and attributed the uprising to "Communist elements," received support today from Harry N. Wright, president of the college.

The "more radical" element of the student body is responsible for the strike, Wright said in a formal statement complimenting the bulk of the student body for crossing the picket lines and attending classes.

School officials reported that fewer than 1,500 of the 7,230 students in the uptown branch of the institution were absent from classes today. The College of Technology, whose classrooms were virtually barren yesterday, showed an 87 per cent attendance today.

All 17 pickets arrested yesterday, including three co-eds, on charges ranging from disorderly conduct to third degree assault, were promptly released after a warning.

Police estimated today's pickets never numbered more than 200 and frequently less than 75 strong. There were no disorders.

But it appeared likely that the matter has not been squelched completely. The school alumni association's spokesmen said that "open hearings" soon will be held on the case of the two professors —William E. Knickerbocker, chairman of the romance language department, and William C. Davis, an economics instructor.

Knickerbocker was cleared last November by the New York board of higher education on anti-Semitic accusations.

Houston Officers Check Reports Of Uncovered Wells, Cisterns

HOUSTON, April 12 (AP)—Police and sheriff's departments were kept busy today checking reports of abandoned cisterns and wells.

Residents, aroused over the death of little Kathy Fiscus in California, began sending in reports of the hazards early yesterday.

Location of the wells and cisterns range from downtown Houston to the outskirts of Harris county.

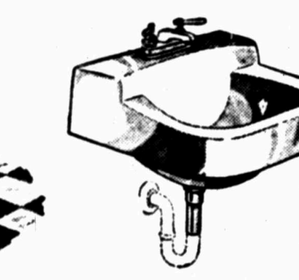

America's bakeries turn out more than $100,000,000 worth of pies every year.

ROOSEVELT WROTE HIM OFF

Wallace Marks Anniversary Of FDR's Death With 'Pep Talks'

By BOB CONSIDINE
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, April 12 — The fourth anniversary of the death of President Roosevelt was marked by, among other ceremonies, two New York pep talks by the man who publicly identifies himself as FDR's political heir—Henry Wallace.

Wallace told two gatherings sponsored by the American Labor party that the "Democratic party is destroying his (Roosevelt's) deeds while clinging to the magic of his name."

Wallace Was Shelved

Wallace, himself, has done considerable clinging to the name of a man who frankly wrote him off as a bad political prospect—after writing a letter, which, had it been followed, would have made Wallace president of the United States.

Ed Kelly, Ed Pauley, Bob Hannagan and others close to Roosevelt's ear just before he announced his candidacy for a fourth term are agreed on the particulars of the shevling of Wallace. They were there.

For some months during 1944 Wallace, then vice president, made a practice of having luncheon with the President at his desk in the executive offices of the White House. Roosevelt, according to these intimates, made a point of telling Wallace on these occasions that he could add no vote-getting lustre to a fourth term ticket.

Wrote "Famous" Letter

Wallace repeatedly offered to bow out, but, whenever he did make that offer, Roosevelt would smile at him and repeat that it would not be necessary.

Then, as the president-makers of the party began to assemble in Chicago for their convention, Roosevelt wrote the now famous letter which began "if I were a delegate I would vote for Henry Wallace for vice presidential nominee." and he gave his reasons.

It took the combined weight of Kelly, Pauley, Hannagan, Frank Hague and Harry Hopkins to persuade Roosevelt to change his mind. Kelly's arguments were typical. He stressed that in the event anything happened to Roosevelt, no man could say how far Wallace, with his new-found authority, would bear to the left.

The President finally agreed to write another letter; not one which openly knocked down his first but one which provided additional avenues of thought for the delegates.

He asked his aides to check on Sen. Harry Truman's New Deal voting record, found it satisfying, and wrote another letter stating that Truman or Justice Douglas would attract valuable votes to the ticket he was to head.

Byrnes Rejected

In the meantime he turned down the application of Jimmy Byrnes for support but, seeing how deeply it hurt Byrnes, urged him to talk things over with the late Sidney Hillman and other behind-the-scenes men at Chicago. They told him the same thing, but more bluntly.

Then FDR took off for California and a brief junket on a warship. As his train passed through Chicago, Wallace, Ed Kelly and several others went down to the yards to shake hands with him. The President extended his hand to Wallace (who has since admitted he had no knowledge of the dynamite-laden second letter) and said, "Good luck, Henry."

Kelly, controlling the crowd in the Chicago convention hall, watched Wallace go as far as he could on the strength of the only known endorsement. He was not especially worried because Hannegan, Pauley and the handful of others who knew of the existence of the second letter had quietly spread the word to the larger delegations that the boss liked Truman better. Justice Douglas, by this time, had been edged out of consideration—not by Roosevelt but by the political bosses in charge.

Truman Was It

"We just took the first name on Roosevelt's second letter," Kelly once explained to the writer, "and it was Truman's."

At the height of the demonstration for Wallace, Roosevelt called the Chicago headquarters by radiophone from sea. He had been following the meeting closely. Kelly took the call. "What the devil's the matter with you?" Kelly quoted the President as saying. "Are you letting that thing get out of hand?"

Kelly assured him that his running mate would be Truman. And Truman it was, to the consternation of the gentleman from Missouri.

Truman, at the moment of his notification, had just finished reading through the speech he was going to make, stubbornly and loyally nominating Byrnes. Before he would accept, he first told Byrnes.

But Wallace campaigned last year as the self-created shade of Roosevelt. And, in the same guise he now seeks to revive the Progressive party with the "magic of his name."

PACIFIC CHIEF—Vice Adm. Arthur W. Radford, above, was named the new commander - in - chief of the U. S. Pacific Fleet and high commissioner of the Pacific islands, succeeding Adm. Dewitt Clinton Ramsey, who retired. Radford will have full rank of admiral.

Dallas Burglars Settle For Watchman's Gun, Flashlight

DALLAS, April 12 (AP)—Noises awoke Oliver Paine, night watchman at the Wilmer-Hutchins High school.

Taking his flashlight and pistol Paine tip-toed from his sleeping quarters to the principal's office at front of the building.

Suddenly a flashlight was turned into his face. Two burglars took Paine's own flashlight and gun and left him bound about the hands with his belt. He later managed to free himself and report to the sheriff's office. Nothing else was taken.

Philippine Official To Propose Special Treaty With Japanese

MANILA, April 12 (INS) — A Philippine diplomat declared today that he will propose to President Elpidio Quirino that a special treaty be concluded with Japan to hasten payment of war reparations to the Philippines.

The recommendation will be made by Manuel V. Gallego, the Philippines roving ambassador for the Far East. Gallego said the Philippines expect at least 25 per cent of the total reparations the Japanese will be asked to pay for the destruction they caused during World War II.

Two Dallas Cafe Owners Are Injured As Plane Crashes

FORT WORTH, April 12 (AP) — Two Dallas cafe owners were injured today when their plane crashed. They were en route to Possum Kingdom lake on a fishing trip.

They were C. G. Gallagher, 45, pilot, and Charles Pittman, 38.

Gallagher suffered internal and head injuries. Pittman escaped with only head hurts.

The port tariffs of Santiago and Valparaiso, Chile, not changed since 1943, are probably to be increased by 60 per cent.

TROOPS ARE BACKED BY STRONG TANK, AIR GROUPS

Red Army Forces Claimed Moving Into Germany In Effort To Emphasize Soviet' Opposition To Pact

By RICHARD S. WEIL
INS Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, April 12—Young Red Army troops were reported tonight moving from Russia to Germany to take part in stepped up military maneuvers by 400,000 men aimed at underlining Soviet hostility to the Atlantic pact.

Informants who would not allow use of their names but who are considered reliable said the maneuvers have been moved up to start next week.

Backed By Tanks

They added the "north-south" simulated strike of the troops, aided by "brand-new" jet-type planes, will be the biggest and most powerful demonstration of Red army strength outside Russia since the war ended.

The informants said that the coordination of troops in the n rthern area of the Soviet occupation zone will be followed by a drive southwards, ending with Red Army troops poised along the border fronting the U. S. occupation zone.

Contingents now arriving steadily from Russia were said to be mostly recruits of 20 and 61 years of age.

With the big Russian forces already concentrated in Germany, the Soviets are expected to have a total of approximately 50 divisions within a few weeks.

Most of these were reported to be ground forces backed by heavy tank and air forces. Informants said the new type jet planes will get their first trials under simulated combat conditions.

German Police Trained

Soviet East Zone German police were reported being trained in rifle and anti-tank work and also as convoy and communication guards. They are not expected to participate directly in the maneuvers.

Informants said the Russians "are too suspicious to trust any outsiders in close-up observation of the actual workings of a battle order."

Along with the maneuver reports the Russians were said to be stepping up production of ammunition in factories within the Soviet zone of Germany, including several underground ones built by the Nazis and recently reconditioned.

The production, along with that shipped in from Russia, was reported being stockpiled in huge depots, one of which was said to be in the area of Tangermuende near the Elbe river border line and which is constructed inside Polteberg mountain.

The Russians also were reported to have reconditioned a former Nazi air base near Dresden.

PACKS TEN TIMES THE WALLOP — These Martin AM-1 Maulers, one-man carrier-based attack planes, can carry armament loads up to 10 times greater than the single 1,000-pound bombs carried by the Martin BM-1, first of the dive bombers, 20 years ago. The Mauler in foreground is carrying a destructive payload of 10,689 pounds, including three 2,200-pound torpedoes, twelve 250-pound bombs and four 20 mm. aerial cannon with 800 rounds of ammunition. Mauler in background carries 9,000 pounds of armament, including one 2,000-pound bomb, two powerful "Tiny Tim" rockets and 12 five-inch rockets. Known in the Navy as "Able Mabel," the Mauler can be used to drop mines or fly scouting missions of as much as 2,000 miles. (AP Wirephoto.)

Optimists See Color Pictures Of Guatemala City At Luncheon

Showing of colored picture slides of Guatemala City by James H. Roberts highlighted today's weekly Optimist club luncheon in Hotel Lubbock.

Roberts, who resides at 3116 Thirty-first, is to leave later this month for Guatemala City where he and two associates are launching a building-block manufacturing business.

The colored slides viewed by Optimist club members today were taken by Roberts on a recent visit to the picturesque Central American city.

After showing the pictures, Roberts gave a brief talk on the business and social aspects of the republic of Guatemala, and answered several queries from his audience.

An Optimist club board of directors meeting was announced for 6:30 p. m. Monday in Hotel Lubbock. All directors were urged to attend.

Two out-of-town guests, Fred Wondeli of Dallas and J. M. Finley of Austin, were introduced.

G. C Stewart presided at the luncheon, with invocation by J. Holland Cox.

Salvation Army workers around the world use a total of 81 different languages in their work.

Texas Dairy Producers Plan Extensive Advertising Campaign

Texas dairy producers are preparing to make June Dairy Month a period of active effort to build markets for milk and milk products. Dairy leaders in the South Plains area are playing an important part in this program.

Basis for the plan is a voluntary advertising program in which all the directors of the American Dairy Association of Texas will serve without pay. They will guide the year-around promotion of dairy foods through the ADA.

Texas is one of 40 states uniting in the action where dairy farmers will set aside one penny per pound of butterfat during the 30 days of June. The accumulated fund will then be used for a 365 day advertising plan.

Members of the state ADA board from the South Plains and Panhandle region include; Chester Eliff, Tulia; Coy Stewart, Roby; Glen T. Hackney, Lubbock, Holstein-Friesian Association of Texas; Dr. J. J. Willingham, Lubbock, Texas Tech dairy manufactures department; Henry Teubel, Tulia; and Wallace Louthan, Plainview.

St. Louis Editorial Writer To Appear At Journalism Congress

Ernest Kirschten, editoral writer for The St. Louis Post-Dispatch, will be another of the 20 odd nationally known journalists and newspapermen who will appear at the Southwestern Journalism Congress which is to be held at Texas Technological college April 29-30.

Kirschten was formerly the editor of the editoral page of The St. Louis Star-Times and has had varied experience, as a reporter and correspondent, covering assignments in many parts of the United States and Europe.

Aided In "Smoke" Dive

He was a participant in The Post-Dispatch's fight to eliminate smoke in St. Louis. The famous editorial campaign which the paper sponsored won the Pulitizer prize for public service in 1941. The paper did a repeat when it won the same prize in 1948 for its coverage of the Centralia, Ill. mine disaster and the campaign it carried on for reforms in the mine safety laws.

Kirschten is a member of the National Conference of Editorial Writers' committee on ethical standards. He is an occasional contributor to magazines, especially "The Nation," and devotes much of his time to the study of European politics and the United Nations.

A special feature of the congress this year, which is being sponsored by the Texas Tech journalism department, will be a panel discussion in which student delegates may ask questions concerning the journalism profession.

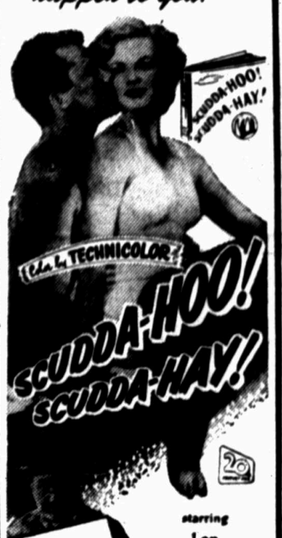

Over 200 students are expected to attend. Delegates will be sent from member schools of the congress which are located in Texas, Louisiana and Oklahoma.

BILLION SEEN AS SMALL START

Huge Cost Seen If U. S. Seeks To Rearm Europe Against Reds

By WES GALLAGHER
Associated Press Staff Writer

BERLIN, April 12.—How much would it take to rearm Western Europe to withstand any Soviet aggression?

This is a question the United States will consider in giving arms aid under the North Atlantic treaty.

Figures of $1,000,000,000 or $1,-250,000,000 have been mentioned as a start. It is difficult to see here where these sums would provide much more than a start.

Fundamentally, Western Europe must rearm itself, materially and mentally.

Would Start In Germany

If there should be a war, many assume it would start in Germany. Here East meets West across the center of the country. Here the biggest stakes could be won quickly. From the Elbe river west is the quickest route to the Atlantic. The Germans are disarmed and presumably would be no help to either side.

What have the Russians now?

Best estimaes place their troops in Germany at slightly more than 300,000, perhaps representing 20 divisions. Some divisions are skeletons of 3,000 or 4,000 men. They could be filled quickly.

There has been no indication here that the Russians are moving up any large number of men, or that they are planning any offensive action. Western intelligence sources say the number of Soviet forces has remained fairly constant in Germany for two years.

Huge Force Seen

In event of an attack, westerners figure they would have to reckon on meeting an assault by 100 divisions, fairly well equipped, from Hungary to the Baltic.

Western Allies now have a total of perhaps eight divisions to hold a line along the Rhine from the North Sea to Switzerland. Among these are the equivalent of one big U. S. armored division and one U. S. infantry division, well equipped, plus supporting troops.

Along the same line, the Western Allies had more than 60 divisions in World War II.

France, occupied with the revolt in Indo-China, at present could do little to bolster the force in Germany.

Only Britain has a reserve and it would take her weeks to ship over a half dozen more divisions.

Under the best of present conditions, the Allies possibly could throw 15 to 20 divisions into any conflict.

In the last war, $1,000,000,000 would equip 20 infantry divisions with primary weapons. It would provide no upkeep for those forces. Just the weapons.

Annual Rodeo Week Is Set To Begin At ENMC On April 18

PORTALES, April 12. (Special) Rodeo week at Eastern New Mexico college will be from April 18-23 and will feature a queen, beards, cowboy dress, and a parade. Sponsored by the Agriculture club of the college, the rodeo will be April 22-23.

High school seniors from New Mexico and Texas will be invited to participate in the rodeo. Each school may enter two contestants for each event, a maximum of eight entries from each school. Complimentary tickets will be sent to high school seniors of the area.

Beards Are Grown

Beards being grown by the students will be judged in assembly April 14 by the rodeo queen. The queen has already been elected and will be announced during the assembly so that she may participate in the judging of the beard contest. Prizes in the contest are $7, $3, and $2.

Thursday afternoon, cowboys and cowgirls from the college will make a tour through Clovis.

First rodeo performance will be Friday, April 22, at 7:30 p. m. and the second will be Saturday, April 23, at 2 p.m. The rodeo parade will start at 1 p. m. Saturday. Events scheduled for the rodeo are bull riding, calf roping, wild cow milking, bare back bronc riding, and special events to be announced later.

Will Patrol Campus

The Portales Mounted patrol will be in charge of getting stock and handling gates and grounds, with Capt. Sam Martin in charge of the patrol.

During rodeo week, college students will be asked to wear western clothes. A sheriff and deputies will patrol the campus and will be in charge of the horse tank detail.

NEW ERA RECOGNIZED

SANTA FE, N. M., (U.P.)—The New Mexico legislature has taken note of the atomic age. The governor signed a bill extending workmen's compensation benefits to include "occupational illnesses" which can be traced to working with "fissionable materials."

PRIMA BALLERINA—Svetlana, Beriosova, 16 years old, is prima ballerina of the Metropolitan Ballet, London.

Youths Caught After High Speed Chase

FORT WORTH, April 12. (U.P.)—Two youthful car thieves and burglary suspects from Detroit were captured here early today after a highspeed chase from Grand Prairie that involved 13 police cars, 26 officers and a gun shot.

The chase started when two Grand Prairie officers attempted to halt for investigation the weaving car, operated by a youth, 17, who had learned to drive only last Friday.

The chase ended when the youths' car crashed into one driven by Dallas Thompson, Arlington. One of the youths started to flee when their car careened to a stop after the crash, but quickly halted when a Fort Worth officer fired a warning shot.

Officers said a several weeks' supply of groceries and other loot was found in the car the youths admitted stealing in Detroit. They said they were headed for Houston to seek jobs. They purportedly admitted burglarizing a grocery store-service station near Dallas Sunday night.

Search Continues For El Paso Men Lost In New Mexico Lake

HOT SPRINGS, N. Mex., April 12. (AP)—Search continued today for two El Paso businessmen who are believed to have lost their lives in Elephant Butte lake.

They are Fred R. Muerdter and Anthony R. Munoz, executives of motor firms. The body of their companion, J. E. Bannister, 38, also of El Paso, was found on the shore of the lake yesterday.

The trio's boat capsized Sunday during a violent thunder squall. They were on a fishing trip. Several crews dragged the 5-mile by 35-mile reservior in the Rio Grande for the missing men.

HIGHWAY NOT MUCH USE

PAOLI, Ind. (U.P.) — Motorists who have occasion to travel Ind. 337 often say the state might as well close the road permanently; it's blockaded most of the time anyway. The route has been closed to traffic since early January because of flood water. Back in 1945, it was closed for 91 days in a row for the same reason.

Ann Sheridan To Form Own Film Company; 'Second Lady' Chosen As First Production

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
INS Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, April 12 —Ann Sheridan will be her own boss. She is forming her own independent film company in conjunction with Henry Hickox, her business manager. "Second Lady," an original by Eleanor Griffin, is her first picture. In this Ann plays a lady-like character, different from the salty belles she usually does on the screen.

However, Ann can give no thought to any other picture until she finishes "I Married A Male War Bride," the hard luck picture which was called off in Europe when she and Cary Grant fell ill. Both of them are expected back on the 20th lot tomorrow. There are still five weeks of shooting—and that may mean even longer, for Howard Hawks is a director who takes his time.

Film Agreement Signed

Nice to see Frank Ross on the Warner lot where he and his partner, Harold Hecht, have signed to produce Burt Lancaster's first picture, "The Hawk And The Arrow."

I am glad that Frank is circulating again because he's a nice boy and nobody in town blames him for his troubles with Jean Arthur. He says Jean is much better, but still in New York.

I asked Frank if Warners will also get "The Robe." He says he still has a contract with Howard Hughes and is not free to make any outside commitments until he knows whether Hughes is going to do it or not.

Star To Take Rest

It's not news that every company in the business has been after Walter Huston since he won his oscar in "Treasurer Of The Sierra Madre." But Walter told me when he took off for New York right after he did a broadcast with me that he was going to rest for a little while.

Now comes word that he will co-star with Barbara Stanwyck in Hal Wallis' picture based on "The Furies," Niven Busch's powerful story. Of course, it doesn't go before the cameras until November 15, so that gives Walter quite a time to get himself rested. He loves to work with his son, John Huston—can you blame him? But John goes to Rome to direct "Quo Vadis."

Postal Rates Are High

Postcards in Africa come high. I just received one from Janet Gaynor and Adrian from Africa, where the talented couturier is painting pictures. He paid 50 cents postage, and I paid an additional 28 cents to get it, but it was worth it.

Mrs. George Dolenz, wife of the star of the long delayed "Vendetta," had her baby girl in such a hurry it was born in the waiting room of the hospital. Both mother and baby, as well as George, are doing well.

Ann Miller, now Bill O'Connor's dream girl, dancing with him at the Mocambo and looking mighty pretty.

We stopped there Saturday night after the Lotte Lehmann concert, and it was certainly crowded to the doors. That new singer, Josephine Premice, seems to be bringing them in.

A friend of mine in Havana saw Lana Turner and Bob Topping. She says Lana has lost pounds and looks just wonderful, and that Bob is really looking after her.

Steve Brodie, Lois Andrew's ex, and Mrs. Jan Savitt, widow of the orchestra leader realize that spring is here.

Saw Ted Fio Rito and his former wife having dinner together at the Beverly Hills hotel. How nice it would be if it were a reconciliation.

Another estranged pair dining at the Fox and Hounds were Joan Davis and Cy Willis. For years he was Joan's advisor on the radio and worked with her.

Met Salvador Dali in the lobby of the Beverly Hills hotel. He tells me he is now painting Jack Warner's picture. His painting of Mrs. Warner was extremely interesting.

Today ground will be broken for the new wing of the historic old Beverly Hills hotel and Hernando Courtright is entertaining with a cocktail party following the ceremony.

Tommy Breen, Joe and Mary Breen's attractive redhead son, bought dinner at the Seacombers for Lynn Holzworth, who nursed him when he was injured in the war.

Strange 'Fire Ball' Is Identified As Large Meteor

BOSTON, April 12. (U.P.) — Harvard observatory astronomers said today a giant ball of flame with a tail two miles long, which streaked across the sky of six northeast states last night definitely was a meteor.

Observers in Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey and Delaware reported the object as a "large white ball of fire with a streak behind it."

An Army DC-3 pilot reported sighting a "blazing mass" on the ground near Odessa, Del., at 7:20 p.m. shortly after the meteor disappeared from the sky. A search of the area, begun in the belief a plane might have crashed, failed to uncover any trace of the object.

Observatory officials at Harvard said the meteor might have crashed to earth, but that more likely it burned itself out or fell into the Atlantic.

Two American airline pilots approaching Providence, R. I., on a flight from New York said they were "terrified" when they sighted the meteor in the sky apparently only 30 miles from their plane.

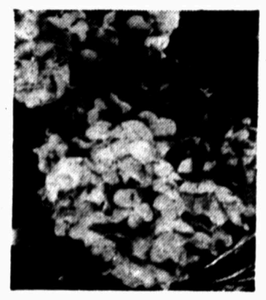

DISCOVERY BELATED

BOULDER, Colo. (U.P.) — Mrs. Elsie Hohl has had her 31-year-old marriage annulled. District Judge George H. Bradfield signed a decree ending the second marriage of Mrs. Hohl when she said she discovered that her first husband, Samuel Covey, was still alive. She had married Hohl 31 years ago, thinking Covey was dead.

VICTIM'S FRIEND THREATENED

Hearing In Milwaukee Murder Case Postponed On Defense Plea

MILWAUKEE, April 12 (INS) — Milton Babich's preliminary hearing in the slaying of 16-year-old Patricia Birmingham was postponed today in Milwaukee until May 3 on request of counsel for the 19-year-old youth.

The hearing, originally scheduled for this afternoon, will determine whether the state has enough evidence to try Babich for first degree murder.

Postponement of the hearing followed charges by the slain girl's "best" friend that Milton "made passes" at Patricia before allegedly killing her and eloping with her sister.

New Evidence Uncovered

The charge was made by Carol Leszynski, 16, a school girl.

Carol reportedly told police that Patricia confided to her that Babich took liberties with her sometime before the West Allis, Wis., girl disappeared.

Carol also disclosed, police said, that she received a note warning her to "watch her step" a few days after Patricia was reported missing.

Prosecution Strengthened

District Attorney William J. McCauley said Carol told him "Milton had made passes at Patricia," and then threatened her if she told her sister, Kathleen, 18, whom Milton married more than a month after Patricia disappeared.

McCauley declared Carol's story sealed the youth's doom and "hammered another nail in the state's contention that Patricia's slaying was premeditated."

Patricia's weighted, bullet-pierced body was found in the Milwaukee river March 20.

Arrested In Minneapolis

Babich and Kathleen were arrested in Minneapolis March 23 and the youth admitted to Milwaukee authorities March 26 that Patricia was shot to death in his car in a struggle over a .22 caliber pistol. Milton said he had "pulled" the gun on Patricia to "scare her into silence" about Kathleen's pregnancy.

Carol told her story to authorities after being apprehended by Kenosha police last night. She had been reported missing from her suburban West Allis home.

The Leszynski girl told police she had been "highly nervous" ever since receipt of the "warning."

Carol's father, Joseph, confirmed that Carol had received a note and said "she is in the care of a doctor because of her highly nervous condition."

Louisiana 'Blue Baby' Flown To Dallas For Observation

DALLAS, April 12 (AP) — Shreveport's blue baby was flown here today for observation.

The 9-month-old child, Travis Shaw, was placed in Bradford Memorial hospital.

Its physician said the case would have to be studied a day or so before a decision can be made whether the child can stand the delicate heart operation.

More than 50 readers of the Shreveport Times donated $1,000 to send the little blue-eyed boy here for treatment.

Mexico To Exploit Uranium Resources

MEXICO CITY, April 12 (U.P.) — Mexico is preparing to exploit her reportedly extensive uranium resources, an official spokesman said today

Ricardo Monges Lopez, director of the Mexican Institute of Geology, said that all uranium mined in Mexico would be used for "the investigation of atomic energy and not the making af atomic arms." He said mining operations would begin "shortly."

All Mexican uranium deposits belong to the federal government under a law passed by former President Manuel Avila Camacho.

Extensive deposits of the precious ore exists in Chihuahua state. President Miguel Aleman recently told the United Press that other holdings are under investigation in Baja California, and the ore has also been reported in Chiapas state in Southeastern Mexico.

Two Workers Injured As Empty Gasoline Tank Explodes In Dallas

DALLAS, April 12 (AP)—One workman was blown through a tin roof and another knocked off a truck bed where he was working yesterday when an explosion occurred in an empty 5,000 gallon gasoline tank.

Neither of the workmen was believed seriously injured.

The men were welding the outside of the tank which was mounted on a truck.

Injured were W. H. Hodges, 57, who suffered cuts, lacerations and shock, and Frank Huback, 37, suffering shock.

S. O. Weempe, owner of the tank company, said the tank was being cleaned for use in the oilfields at Elkhart, Tex.

Jury Service For Women Is Opposed

AUSTIN, April 12 (AP) — The Senate was called today to consider the plight of Lucy, Tincie and Kathleen.

The ladies are relatives—cousins it seems—of Senator Wardlow Lane of Center, he said, who would be affected by proposed jury service for women.

Lane shuddered to think of "timid little cousin Kathleen" being required to serve with "a bunch of rough-talking old men."

He wasn't worried about Lucy, he said.

But Tincie posed the biggest problem. She was the most timid of all.

Lane just didn't think it was right.

Carlos Ashley of Llano wanted the proposed constitutional amendment by Fred Harris of Dallas changed so there would be no doubt that it would encompass all women—not just a select few.

He said he was particularly interested in mothers who customarily stay at home.

HUSBAND GETS EVEN

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (U.P.) — A husband got even when police raided a house and arrested seven women on gambling charges — including the man's wife. The women were pitching bottle caps for stakes that totaled $1.75. Officers said the husband complained to retaliate for an assault warrant sworn to by his wife.

Soviet Opposition To Study Overruled

UN To Study Trials Of Religious Groups

By PIERRE J. HUSS
INS Staff Correspondent

FLUSHING MEADOWS, N. Y., April 12 — The United Nations General Assembly agreed today to include on its agenda the imprisonment of Hungarian and Bulgarian religious leaders.

By a vote of 30 to 7, with 20 abstentions, the 58-nation body pushed aside Soviet opposition and deferred to committee a combined Australian - Bolivian resolution calling for examination of the cases of Hungary's Josef Cardinal Mindszenty and the Bulgarian Protestant churchmen.

The vote came after the group of Soviet bloc speakers staged a final drive against approval for discussion of the cases of the churchmen, branding the issue as interference in the domestic affairs of Bulgaria and Hungary.

Move Weakens West Stand

Previously, the Scandanavian bloc of states urged the assembly to leave all intervention on behalf of imprisoned church leaders to procedure under the peace treaties. The surprise Scandanavian move considerably weakened western support of the Australian-Bolivian resolution calling for an airing of the imprisonment of Cardinal Mindszenty and Bulgarian Protestant leaders.

Speaking on behalf of Denmark, Norway, Iceland and Sweden, Danish Foreign Minister Gustav Rasmussen told the 58-nation Assembly session that the Scandanavian bloc agreed to abstain from voting on the question of placing the religious issue on the agenda.

Caution Indicated

Scandanavian members offered no further explanation for their action, but deep significance of this decision did not escape the assembly delegates.

It was recalled that Rasmussen is one of the 12 foreign ministers who signed the North Atlantic pact. Another of the Scandanavian bloc signers is Halvard Lange of Norway. Sweden has not joined the pact.

There was speculation that Sweden has counselled her neighbor governments to exercise extreme caution before joining in controversies certain to arouse further Russian antagonism in the wake of the signing of the Atlantic pact.

U.S. Representative Benjamin V. Cohen reaffirmed the American government's desire to see the issue on the agenda but indicated that the diplomatic representation taken under the peace treaties will be allowed to run their course.

PREPARING FOR MILAN FAIR—Workmen set beams for the roof of one of the exhibition halls at the Milan Fair, fourth since the end of the war. More than 1,000,000 square feet of space will be devoted to displays which last year attracted 3,400,000 visitors.

Foreign Oil Is Seen As Threat To U. S.

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP) — Foreign oil produced through the aid of American dollars is threatening the existence of America's petroleum industry, Rep. Gavin (D-Pa) told the House today.

The trouble is, he said, during debate on foreign aid, "everybody seems to want to get into the oil business" and Uncle Sam is helping to foot the bill.

Imports of foreign oil have gone above 600,000 barrels a day, four times the pre-war rate, he said.

This tidal wave of oil imports, he added, has driven U.S. producers out of their own markets to the extent of about 10 per cent of the production which was coming from our fields near the close of last year.

Foreign nations, with the help of Economic Co-operation administration (ECA) funds, are pushing their oil developments in the Middle East, Africa and Central and South America, Gavin said.

Furthermore, he added, the Mexican government hopes to develop an exportable oil surplus through money borrowed from the import-export bank.

The United States can't stop foreign nations from developing their oil industries, he said, but it can stop giving them the money to do the job.

As a possible solution Gavin advocated cutting $1,500,000,000 from the $5,380,000,000 authorization for ECA and devoting that money to building up a 70-group Air Force.

Red Troops Secure Yangtze River Island

NANKING, April 12 (AP) — China's Communists stepped up the pressure today on the government—already sweating over a Red ultimatum—by landing on a Yangtze island 70 miles southwest of Nanking.

Possibly 1,000 veteran Communist troops made a successful crossing to Taiyang island under artillery fire. The attack began Monday night. Contact with the island was lost. Reinforcements were sent to the south bank.

The capture of the island would give the Reds a springboard for the drive into south China. Competent quarters believe the main attack may come at any time if the government stalls over the ultimatum.

Government officials conferred urgently on the Red demands, which call for virtual surrender. Semi-official Chinese quarters said the Reds extended the deadline for a reply to Friday.

The general feeling in Nanking is that the Communists are now ready to cross the Yangtze in overwhelming force, and will not wait too long.

This broad river, the dividing line between the Communist north and the government south, is unlikely to prove much of a military barrier to the veteran Red columns.

YAWNS TOO WIDE

INDIANAPOLIS (U.P.) — Wilbur Allen, 52, dislocated his jaw while yawning. He ran to a neighbor's home and indicated his plight by gesturing. The neighbor called a doctor to treat him.

Three Indicted In Wire Tapping Case

NEW YORK, April 12 (AP) — An attorney and two private detectives were indicted today by a New York county grand jury on charges of taking part in an alleged city hall wire tap plot.

The indictment charged the men actually tapped the unlisted telephone of Hugo E. Rogers, Manhattan borough president and Tammany (Democratic) leader. The plot allegedly included plans to tap wires of Mayor William O'Dwyer and other high city officials.

Those named in the three-count indictment were:

John G. Broady, an attorney for Clendenin J. Ryan, millionaire grandson of the late Thomas Fortune Ryan and political foe of Mayor O'Dwyer.

Kenneth E. Ryan, a former city detective.

Edward M. Jones, a former treasury department agent.

The first count in the indictment charged conspiracy to commit illegal wire tapping, a misdemeanor punishable on conviction by one year in jail and a $500 fine, or up to three years in prison.

Services Conducted In Muleshoe For Victim Of Electrocution

MULESHOE, April 12 (Special) —Funeral services for Joe Kenneth Dillard, 20, of Muleshoe, were held in Muleshoe Church of Christ today, with J. E. Randol officiating.

The body was taken overland to Plainview, where graveside rites were held in Plainview cemetery.

Dillard was killed about 2:30 p. m. Monday in an accidental electrocution, as he was working with a construction crew erecting powerline poles in Lariat community.

IT'S AN IDEA:

Drouth Prevention?

THERE'S a good deal of justice in the remedy suggested for a condition to which the attention of other officials of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce was drawn last week by John D. Mitchell, of Odessa, president of the organization.

Mr. Mitchell pointed out that the federal government spends a great deal of money to try to prevent floods. Why shouldn't provision also be made, he asked, for the losses resulting from drouth? He argues that drouth-sufferers and flood-sufferers should be treated alike.

Specifically, Mr. Mitchell's letter suggests, picture show operators should be compensated for the business they do not get, if and when they lack water for their air-conditioning systems. He also argues for some sort of drouth-dole for auto washers, florists, realtors and many others.

Obviously, such a plan would involve tremendous expense. Clearly, it would be susceptible to many abuses and discriminations. And, while the government has a flood control program, it makes no provision for the compensation of flood losses. Furthermore, probably as much government money has been spent on dams to conserve water for drouth areas as to control floods.

Despite some of its appealing features, the plan simply does not appear practical, although might deserve study.

No Blank Checks

THE prospects border upon certainty that Congress will appropriate a large sum without prolonged delay to help arm other members of the North Atlantic alliance when, and if, the treaty is ratified by the participating nations.

Unless there is a complete change in present public sentiment as indicated in various ways, the appropriation will have the endorsement of the vast majority of Americans. Our people know the alliance will cost them heavily and, clearly, they are ready to pay anything within reason which might strengthen the prospects for peace and/or security.

But there has been nothing thus far to indicate widespread support for two ideas which have come out of the State department: One is that State department officials be given a blank check, to spend whatever amounts they may wish; the other is that they not be required to give any sort of accounting for what is spent.

The argument for one proposal is that no accurate advance estimate of needs is possible. For the other, it is that secrecy in spending will be needed to keep vital information from potential enemies.

Both arguments undoubtedly contain some merit—perhaps a great deal. Undoubtedly, they will be considered, and doubtless will be reflected in the type of legislation enacted when the time comes to implement the alliance.

But, from the present viewpoint, it appears neither desirable, nor probable, that those who direct the spending will, or should, be given even a close approximation of the completely free hand for which they already are asking.

The man who is always anxious to keep a bargain is the one getting the bargain end.

Our candidate for the dumbest man of the year is the New Yorker who has been holding up people as they were leaving night clubs.

The Lubbock High junior class play has been selected, and the practice is progressing nicely. The title is "When a Fellow Needs a Friend," and the characters are the best to be found in the junior class. Their names with their parts are as follows: Tom Denker, Regan Little; Bob Bills, Rody O'Neal; Mrs. Reese, Martha Spencer; Jerry Smith, W. D. Lawson; Liz, Mildred Price; "Bing," Homer Hall; William Denker, Davis Vaughan; Alice King, Martha Alice Penny; Elaine Lynne, Elaine Henry; Angela Scott, Ada Ruth May. Miss Ethel Lawson and Mr. Gordon, who are the junior sponsors, are working hard to make it the best junior play ever given in Lubbock high.

After Years On A Waiting List, Too Much

Pop Goes The Queen

By BOB WADE and BILL MILLER
Distributed By NEA Service, Inc.

(THE STORY: John Henry and Sin Conover, deeply involved in a vacation resort murder, have been imprisoned by Mr. Barselou in the cellar of a gambling ranch. Barselou has obtained from them a cipher which is the directions to a lost Spanish treasure galleon which was stranded by flood of the Colorado River on the desert. As they are discussing their situation, Johnny halts. Crouched on the window sill is a gigantic "black cat.")

XXIX

THE mammoth black cat poised on the sill and leaped lithely through the window to light on the concrete floor. Sin was drawn back against the wall as far as she could go, throat contracting in horror John Henry blinked his eyes rapidly, trying to clear the monster from his vision.

Then the cat stood up on its hind legs. Without moving its jaws it said, "For goodness sakes, what are you doing here?"

Si commenced making incoherent little noises. The cat stepped closer and put a paw up to its nose. John Henry grasped confusedly at a realization that the black fur wasn't fur at all but some kind of fuzzy cloth. The cat lifted its face off and the puzzled face of Faye Jordan took its place.

"Faye!" John Henry almost shouted. Sin gasped shudderingly and collapsed against the wall.

Faye Jordan said, "I didn't know you were going to come back, Johnny. I would have stayed if I'd known."

"Don't waste time with questions!" Anxiety split the seams of John Henry's voice. "Find a knife somewhere and cut us loose, will you?"

Faye said to Sin, "He wasn't very nice to me this morning. Do you know what he did?" Sin shook her head mutely, green eyes fixed on the other girl's face expectantly. "He put something in my drink!"

"Oh, no!" groaned John Henry.

"You did too! And when I woke up in a closet somebody had searched me." Faye giggled delightedly. "You should be ashamed of yourself, Johnny!"

"I AM, believe me," John Henry said sincerely. "But now, Faye, please forgive me and cut us loose, will you, before—"

"How do you like my costume?" Faye asked, surveying herself contentedly. The big black ears flapped grotesquely. "It's for the ball tonight, you know. Are you coming?"

John Henry remembered then how Vernon had come to the cottage with the invitation to a costume ball—"come as what you'd like to be most," it had said. When had that been? Just last night?

"For crying out loud!" he shouted. "Turn us loose!"

Faye leaped back and Sin glanced angrily at her husband. She jammed a knee into his back and spoke soothingly to the girl. "How did you come to return to the ranch, Faye?"

"Taxi," said Faye and sat back on her haunches. "I'm glad you reminded me. I was trying on my costume and I decided to go for a drive, a fast one—to see what an ocelot felt like." Her face got unpleasant. "Then my car was stolen. Right off the hotel parking lot, too. I thought it might be here, so I took a taxi and hurried out to see. And do you know what?"

"What?" asked Sin fearfully.

"It's right here—just where I thought it would be!" Faye's short upper lip curled in triumph. She got up. "Where did you say those stairs went?"

"Faye, wait! Where are you going?"

"I'm going to find who stole my car—and then I'm going to kill him."

JOHN HENRY leaned an aching temple against the cement wall. Sin hunched forward and her voice was calm only by desperate effort. "That's exactly what you should do, Faye. But I've got a good idea. Why don't you untie us and then we can all look for the thief who stole your car?"

John Henry held his breath while the bright-eyed girl thought it over, afraid that a single movement on his part might turn the decision against them.

"That's a good idea!" Faye said after a minute of consideration. "I don't know why I didn't think of that. Here." She ran forward and kneeled at Sin's side. John Henry started to breathe again, but softly.

Sin gave a little cry and brought her arms around in front of her, free of the imprisoning ropes. Faye was unloosening the cords that bound her feet together. A few swift movements later, Sin pulled herself up.

"How are you, honey?" John Henry asked anxiously.

"My fingers won't feel," replied Sin. "Just a second and I'll let you loose."

Faye Jordan was slinking around the pillars, a cat in every respect except that she prowled on two legs instead of four. She cocked the big ears to one side, listening. "I think I hear footsteps," she hissed. "I'll stalk them." She glided up the concrete steps, opened the door that led into the ranch house proper, and she was gone.

"Hurry up, baby," John Henry said nervously. "Barselou might come down here, especially if that screwball kicks up a rumpus."

John Henry brought his hands to the front and rubbed his wrists, trying to restore circulation. Then he brushed Sin aside and began to work his feet free. Sin went to the foot of the stairs, waiting nervously for some noise in the silent house above. John Henry got to his feet. Hundreds of black dots danced in the air. He shook his head and most of them went away.

He reached out and caught his wife in his arms for a brief hug. "We're all right now, honey! Keep your chin up," he whispered and urged her toward the window in the opposite wall. The grime-encrusted panes still swung half-open where Faye Jordan had left them.

Looking At Life - - By Erich Brandeis

PEACE, it's wonderful!

That "Cultural and Scientific Conference for World Peace" held in New York a couple of weeks ago, is over and almost forgotten, but the taste still lingers.

I doubt that they will ever hold another one, but if they do it should take place somewhere on the Bowery and not in the Waldorf - Astoria.

BRANDEIS

They shouldn't call it a peace conference but a peace brawl. And if the ragtag I saw at that awful affair was representative of our present - day "Culture" and "Intelligentzia," then I hereby and now register for the International Society of Bums.

I wish you could have been with me when I approached the country's most famous hotel during that conference.

The first thing that greeted me—and on Park Avenue at that—was a police patrol. I think I saw a couple of machineguns sticking out of it, but I am not quite sure.

Then there was a truck marked "New York Police. Riot Squad." There were more than 200 policemen, all ready for action in case Peace became too belligerent.

There were pickets all around the place. But the pickets and the police were about the only decent looking people connected with the conference.

You should have seen the delegates!

The Russians, for instance. Here these representatives of everything that, in their opinion, is fine and noble and prosperous and worth-while were dressed for such an important occasion the way you wouldn't dress to clean the ashes out of your boiler. But they prattled of prosperity.

Shabby - looking individuals, haunted - looking individuals, hungry - looking individuals, who created the impression in me that they expected to be arrested any moment. But they prattled of freedom.

There wasn't a happy face among them. They insulted our country even while smearing more butter on a single role, during the banquet, than they get in their own countries in two years. But they prattled of Utopia.

They decried our economic system and the complete failure of Democracy while they were drooling for another helping of turkey, or whatever they had, and while their ribs were sticking out of their bodies from undernourishment. But they prattled of happiness under Communism.

TO FOREIGN VISITORS

Labor Boosts U. S.

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—The persistent but unpublicized pilgrimage of labor and workingmen's delegations from Scandinavia, Western European and Mediterranean nations is relied upon by the State Department to fortify the Marshall Plan and the North Atlantic Pact attempts to prevent further expansion of Soviet domination.

Numerous groups have visited the United States from Sweden, Norway, Denmark, England, France, the Low Countries, Portugal and Italy. In some instances they are fairly important members of the Social Democratic parties which have great voice in the labor and political parliaments of those countries. In others they are merely selected groups of plain, ordinary factory employes.

TUCKER

While it is possible that they may pick up tricks and techniques that will spur production back home, especially the delegation which came from England, the principal purpose is to convince them that the living standards of this so-called "imperialistic" nation are far higher than any prevailing in other parts of the world, and particularly among Russia's "prisoners of starvation."

STRUCK: Their guides, who have been drawn from the A.F. of L. and the C.I.O., are instructed in advance by semi-official spokesmen on how best to impress the visitors. But it was not necessary to show them only the facade of the American labor structure.

The strangers were immediately struck by the widespread ownership of automobiles, by the homes of our workers, by their dress and by the meals they served in their homes.

In the sense that the foreign groups were given a chance to see these evidences of American workers' prosperity, these tours were "guided" and "directed." Moreover, the visitors themselves wanted to see the operations of the great industries—steel, automobile etc.—where the highest wages are paid.

The significant fact about these excursions is that many of these workers, and especially the labor leaders, have also visited Russia.

BOOST: It is the expectation of State Department and A.F. of L. and C.I.O. officials, who have personal reasons for opposing the Communist cliques seeking to disrupt their major unions, that these pilgrims will return home as salesmen for the western system of industrial organization.

By the same token, they are counted on to become boosters of the Marshall Plan insofar as it is designed to increase their production and boost their wages.

The exchange of workers scheme is an extension of the system under which university students broaden their viewpoints by foreign study. But the official and unofficial sponsors of this movement believe that at the present moment it is more advantageous for a mutual migration of men in overalls instead of so-called intellectuals in caps and gowns.

There was also the suspicion that Olaf, Pierre, John Bull and Giuseppi might find more traces of radical thought on our campuses than in our factories.

QUESTION: The evidence of prosperity and contentment among American workers provoked a disturbing question in the minds of the guests from overseas. They could not understand why the vast industrial population did not organize a labor, or Social Democratic party, such as exists in most of their homelands. They wondered at the lack of direct and unified political action by America's employed.

Oddly enough, it was John L. Lewis who gave them the most satisfactory answer. The president of the United Mine Workers, who was the labor leader in whom they were most interested, explained that the diversity of interests among our working groups prevented them from agreement on economic and political issues.

Employes of mass industries, he pointed out, had little in common with men in small plants. He also emphasized that it was more effective for the workers to operate within the framework of the two major parties.

WORD: Although President Truman surprised his political aides by giving his blessing to the Hoover Committee for reorganization of the government because he was the first prominent Democrat to speak kindly of the last G.O.P. Chief Executive, the White House has passed word against any attempt to carry out the recommendations for reform.

It is not because Mr. Truman disagrees with the Hoover proposals. The fact is that he has been too busy to read them. But he has so many Congressional troubles and worries now that he cannot afford to add to and aggravate them by backing the far-feaching changes in the federal structure suggested by "the great engineer."

BUTTONHOLING: Almost every proposed shuffling of government agencies and functions has antagonized some downtown bureaucrat. Every Assistant Secretary, bureau chief and petty official has a small faction of Representatives or Senators for whom he has done favors in the past. They have been buttonholing their Capitol Hill friends ever since the Hoover group began to shed its batch of recommendations.

As a result, there are so many hostile Congressional liques that the reform program would be torn to tatters if it were ever submitted in the form of legislation. Mr. Truman does not intend to chance a further loss of his steadily diminishing store of credit at the other end of Pennsylvania Avenue.

An even more practical explanation for inaction is the fact that the White House has assigned the task of analyzing the Hoover proposals to the Budget Bureau. Under the Roosevelt-Truman system, the budgeteers enjoy almost czaristic power now. They would be stripped of their far-flung authority under many of the former President's recomendations. So, it is expected that they will turn thumbs down on all except a few innocuous suggestions.

In many cases news is an account of something happening to somebody else that you hope won't happen to you.

More needed than a universal language is some form of communication to span the enormous gulf between parents and teenagers.

It may be that the New Deal wasn't originated in the United States. There is a tribe in New Guinea who know next to nothing about arithmetic.

"Man Tells Court He Has One Wife too Many."—Headline. He may or may not be in violation of the law.

"Men should wear brighter clothes," says fashion expert. Perhaps so, but in many cases the contrast would be highly unflattering.

It works out even. A married person has some one to share his troubles, but he has twice as many troubles as a single person.

To a considerable extent free enterprise in this country today means a business man can do anything he wants to, provided some Federal agency or labor union doesn't object.

PROGRAM IS THREATENED

UN Fund Aids Young War Victims

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Children are the same the world over. Their health and happiness are the concern of people everywhere, regardless of where they happen to have been born and live, within what artificial boundaries on a map, or what is the political or religious persuasion or the race of their parents.

It is so in peace. It is so in war and in the horrible aftermath of war. The last war laid its searing hand heavily on children and left behind the ravages of disease and malnutrition, broken bodies and frightened little minds and frustrated spirits. Yet they are the citizens of the future.

STOKES

To save the next generation is a task undertaken by one of the finest humanitarian endeavors now going on, the United Nations International Children's Emergency fund, in which our nation, both officially and privately, has played a leading part up to now.

Job Is Big One

Its work is widely known and commended. But what is not well enough known is that its operations are now seriously handicapped and the entire project is threatened unless Congress acts soon to continue it and to provide ways for its support.

The children's fund is the only operational activity of the UN. The UN accepted this responsibility because of the great need. It was found that it could not be financed sufficiently by private contributions, though many millions were contributed, because it was too gigantic an enterprise. It was recognized as a universal obligation.

Our Congress generously worked out a plan for financing by enacting in April, 1947, a law that provides for matching of government funds to carry on the work, on the basis of $72 from us for $28 from other governments. The 79th Democratic Congress authorized $40,000,000 and the Republican 80th Congress authorized $60,000,000 more, a total of $100,000,000. Of that amount, $75,000,000 has been appropriated.

But other nations have been slow with matching contributions, which is particularly true of some nations in the European Recovery Program that signed the Atlantic Pact here the other day, so that our funds have not become available in the amount which is necessary to go forward with this work on the scale envisaged and necessary. No contribution at all has come from Belgium, Holland, Ireland, Portugal, Sweden and Turkey, while the United Kingdom has contributed only $403,000. The matching authorization by Congress expires June 30.

Two things are necessary to continue the fund and the work:

1. An extension of the authorization for matching by other nations.

2. An authorization by Congress to permit contributions from private sources to be accepted for matching purposes.

If the latter were done, some $11,000,000 in privaae contributions in all parts of the world would immediately become available to release some $27,000,000 of our funds. Prompt action is necessary as considerable advance planning is required to gather and distribute supplies where needed.

Would Give Food, Medicine

The plan is to offer an amendment to the ECA bill when it is taken up by the House to extend the matching authorization to June 30, 1950, and to permit acceptance of private contributions for matching purposes. This will present the issue directly to Congress.

Among other things, the children's fund program now provides a glass of milk a day for 4,000,000 children in Europe; supplies raw materials to be processed by the recipient country into shoes, blankets and other necessities for 10,000,000 more; co-operates with the World Health Organization to help government tests for tuberculosis, which is very prevalent among children, and to vaccinate 100,000,000 children throughout the world against tuberculosis; establish as training courses for doctors, nurses and social workers in child health, and arranges for imports of milk-conservation machinery.

This is not only a humanitarian project but it is also helpful to us politically in cultivating good will, for the children's fund operates freely in eastern European countries in Russia's orbit behind the Iron Curtain, and with continuous publicity there about the great contribution that the United States is making to this United Nations' venture.

STORK WINS OUT

COLUMBUS, Ind. (U.P.) — For the first time in its 15 years of operation, the King taxi company lost a race with the stork. Mrs. Carmine Dipippio gave birth to a daughter in a taxicab enroute to the county hospital.

COMMUNIST PLAN IS REVEALED

U. S. Reds Taught To Incite Civil War In Case Of Clash With USSR

NEW YORK, April 12. (AP) — American Communists were taught to incite civil war in the United States if this country became embroiled in war with Russia, a government witness testified today.

Herbert A. Philbrick said such instructions were given at a five-member Communist party unit to which he belonged in the Boston area.

Philbrick, F.B.I. informant in the Communist movement for nine years, told the jury in the Communist conspiracy trial that the discussion leader for the unit was "Martha Fletcher" of Beacon Hill in Boston.

'Unjust War' Defined

Using "the history of the Communist party of the Soviet Union" as a text, she defined an "unjust war" as one occurring between the United States and Russia, Philbrick said.

"She pointed out," he testified, "that in such an incident it would be the duty of the Communist party to fight against an unjust war and in such a case the imperialist war should be converted into a civil war."

The defense objected strenuously to the testimony.

Defense attorneys contended the 11 defendants, top officials of the American Communist party, could not be held responsible for discussions at which they were not present.

Federal Judge Harold R. Medina overruled the objections.

Philbrick testified on re-direct examination he joined a CIO union's organizing drive at the direction of Communist party leaders.

sands of speeches, many of them stupid and hollow.

But in all my born days I have never heard such poisonous rot, such unadulterated nonsense as these represesntatives of Soviet culture and intelligence dished out to their hearers.

And who were the thousands of men and women in the audience who booed America and heiled Russia?

Many of them were refugees or descendents of refugees who fled from that very Utopia of cruelty, hunger and want to these green pastures of ours that gave them shelter and peace, happiness and freedom.

On my way home I saw the Statue of Liberty out in the Harbor.

It seemed to me that she was hanging her head in shame.

Houston Oil Man Completes Well In Runnels County Field

IT'S A HE MAN STATE

DENVER, (U.P.)—There may be a lack of males in most states, but latest figures show that there are 128 men in Colorado to every 100 women. Only five other states can boast more men than women.

When a radio-detector truck appeared in Worthing, England, 400 licenses were taken out by conscience-stricken radio set owners.

MARKET HOLDS GROUND

NEW YORK, April 12. (AP)—Stock market action pivoted on Standard Oil Co., (NJ) today.

News of a boosted dividend by the oil company swung the market out of an early decline although not far enough to eliminate many morning losses.

SONJ itself, down a trifle for a while in the morning, came back to close 1⅛ higher at 70⅛. Other oils tended lower.

Turnover reached only 850,000 shares.

A prime exception to the late upward move was Liggett and Myers Tobacco. This issue dropped an extreme of 6⅝ points to 75 following approval by the Securities and Exchange commission for sale of a block of the company's stock. But it rallied with the rest of the market and closed 4 points down at 77⅝.

Standard Oil directors approved a cash dividend of $1.50 a share and a stock dividend of four shares for each 200 held. Last year the company paid $1 a share in cash in June and December, plus five shares for each 200 held in each period.

On the other hand, Skelly Oil dropped a point to 116⅛ on word of a $2.50 dividend, apparently a figure below market expectations. Also lower in the oil group were Superior of California, Mission Corp., Sinclair Oil and Pacific Western.

Admiral Corp., made another thrust ahead, on top of yesterday's rise of ⅛ point, gaining ⅝ at 19⅛. Top for the year is 19¾. Rexall Drug, finished at 5⅝, and Eversharp at 9, each touching new peaks for 1949 during the day.

Associated Press average of 60 stocks remained at 64. The industrial group edged forward while the rail and utility sections were clipped a trifle.

Closing higher were U. S. Steel, General Motors, Glenn Martin, Kennecott Copper, General Electric, Du Pont, American Woolen, Northern Pacific, and International Paper.

Marked down were Chrysler, Firestone, Montgomery Ward, Douglas Aircraft, Pepsi-Cola, Western Union, Commonwealth Edison, Anaconda Copper and Santa Fe.

Youth Admits Seeing Indiana Banker Shot

INDIANAPOLIS, April 12 (INS) — Indiana State police claimed today to have obtained an admission from one of two suspects held in connection with the shooting of a Shirley, Ind., bank president last night that he was present when the shot was fired.

Indiana officers said Francis Earl Hedrick, 19, of Indianapolis told them he was a witness to the serious wounding of the banker, Fassett Hinshaw, who was shot down apparently without warning as he answered a knock at the door of his home.

Banker Taken To Hospital

Hinshaw was taken to a New Castle hospital and reported in a serious condition.

Police quoted Hedrick with relating that he met Lawrence Albert Anderson, 30, of Indianapolis and another man in Indianapolis last night and the trio drove for several hours.

Hedrick reportedly said he "came to" in a yard in Shirley and the other two men were on the front porch of the home. There was a gunshot, he claimed, and he ran to the car, followed by his companions, and the trio drove back to Indianapolis.

Anderson also is held and being questioned. He denied any connection with the shooting of Hinshaw but police said he admitted theft of an automobile in Nevada, March 28.

Old Letter Is Used To Oppose Clemency For 'Thrill Killer'

By PAT MILLIGAN
INS Staff Correspondent

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 12—A letter written almost 26 years ago by a Cook county (Chicago) state's attorney was used today against "thrill killer" Nathan Leopold in his bid for freedom from Joliet (Ill.) penitentiary.

The letter, advising against clemency for the convicted slayer of 14-year-old Bobby Franks in Chicago, was presented to the Illinois state parole board by Cook county state's attorney John Boyle.

The board today held the first part of a two-part hearing on Leopold's application for clemency.

Clemency Opposed

Boyle asserted "society owes no debt to Leopold" for his participation in wartime malaria experiments at the penitentiary—the basis of Leopold's application.

The brilliant one-time University of Chicago student was one of more than 400 prisoners whose voluntary efforts in the experiments produced a cure for malaria.

Boyle asserted:

"It was the least that Mr. Leopold could do. He was simply repaying his debt to the people for having his life spared at the time of his trial. In escaping execution, he received an advance payment."

Serving Two Terms

Leopold is serving two concurrent sentences—of 99 years and life. He is not eligible for parole until 1957; but the board could recommend to Gov. Adlai Stevenson that the 99-year term be commuted to permit Leopold to become eligible for parole at an earlier date.

The board will meet April 22 at Joliet penitentiary to interview Leopold.

The letter Boyle presented today was written at the close of the trial in 1924 by now-Judge Robert E. Crowe who was then state's attorney and who prosecuted Leopold and his partner-in-crime, Richard Loeb. Loeb was killed in a prison fight some years ago.

Educators Appear

In the letter Crowe urged strongly that "these murderers be imprisoned for the entire period of their natural lives."

Boyle also submitted a statement by Judge John J. Caverly, who sentenced the youths, urging that they never be admitted to parole.

Appearing in behalf of Leopold were Miss Helen Williams of Iowa City, Ia., and professor W. F. Byron of Northwestern university, Evanston, Ill.

Miss Williams, director of correspondence studies at the University of Iowa, enrolled Leopold in an advanced mathematics course in 1930 and corresponded with him regularly.

She declared:

"I haven't the slightest doubt that he would be perfectly safe in society."

Professor Byron told the board he was appearing as the result of a promise to aid Leopold if the opportunity arose. The promise involved Byron and Dr. Arthur J. Todd, who died recently. Both men were in contact with Leopold during the past 10 years.

Barkley 'Rival' For Folsom Title

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 12 (INS) — Vice President Alben Barkley flew into Birmingham today and almost took over the title which was previously bestowed upon Alabama Governor James E. (Kissin' Jim) Folsom.

After stepping off the plane, Barkley greeted one of the ladies on the reception committee with a kiss. Gov. Folsom looked on.

A radio announcer, Davenport Smith, who later interviewed the vice president and the governor, said to Folsom:

"I notice when Vice President Barkley got off the plane a charming young lady came up and kissed him 'hello'—I didn't see anyone kiss you."

Folsom replied:

"Well, she kissed the right man—the Vice President of the United States. If you're unmarried, that's proper." Then he added:

"You didn't see him running away from her, did you?"

Vice President Barkley interrupted:

"The trouble that the Governor labored under in the past was the fact that I wasn't in the state."

Barkley spoke tonight at the Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner in Birmingham.

Uruguay now requires sugar refineries to take all sugar beets offered to them.

OLDEST ROLLING STOCK STILL ROLLING—The oldest railway passenger car in North America, the "Bridal Coach" will roll again—at Chicago's Railroad Fair this summer. Here the white car, given its name when a Canadian governor-general used it to convey his bride to their new home in Nova Scotia in 1838, is drawn by the "John Hancock" engine.

Price Supports For Soybeans Announced

WASHINGTON, April 12. (AP)—The Agriculture department announced today it will support grower prices of 1949-crop soybeans at 90 percent of parity as of Sept. 1.

On the basis of the current parity price, the rate would be $2.12 a bushel for base grade soybeans compared with $2.18 last year.

However, the parity price may change between now and Sept. 1.

The base support rate will be for U. S. No. 1 soybeans containing not more than 14 percent moisture. A premium of one cent a bushel will be allowed for green and yellow varities, and a discount of 19 cents will be taken for black, brown and mixed varieties.

Soybeans will be supported by means of loans and purchase agreements available to producers from time of harvest through Jan. 31, 1950.

Hearing Set In Gene Autry Suit Against Dailey Brothers Circus

AUSTIN, April 12. (U.P.)— Gene Autry, Hollywood's gift to the horse operas, complained in federal court today that a circus is advertising the first name of his brother in little letters and the last name in big ones.

In a petition, filed in federal court, the western star of screen and radio asked that something be done.

Specifically, the petition seeks to enjoin operators of Dailey Brothers circus from advertising the name "Autry" without giving equal prominence to the name, "Doug."

Hearing was set by United States District Judge Ben H. Rice for 9:30 a.m. Thursday.

Attorneys representing the western star included former Texas Governor Dan Moody.
