British Troops Rush Into Java To Quell Bloody Native Riots

Indonesians Run Amok, Slay Dutch Citizens; Violence Flares In Depok As Large Bands Fight Pitched Battle

(By The Associated Press)

BATAVIA, Java, Oct. 17—British troops rushed to widely scattered areas of Java tonight after Indonesian extremists ran amok in one village, killing 15 persons including Dutch citizens, and other bands were reported terrorizing women internees in several localities.

The worst spots appeared to be at Depok, 20 miles from Batavia, where zealous followers of the Nationalist movement shot or hacked to death 15 Netherlanders and Christian Indonesians, and at Semarang, in central Java, where the Red Cross staff had been seized.

Red Cross Workers Seized

The Indonesian extremists also had seized all Red Cross workers, internees and the entire staff of the organization for the relief of Allied prisoners of war at Awbarrawa and Banjoebirce in central Java.

Three hundred British troops already had arrived at Depok where Indian ghurkas of the 23rd division fought a pitched battle with about 800 rioters.

British spokesman said patrols were being sent to Awbarawa and Banjoebirce as quickly as possible, and that troops would arrive at Semarang about 9 a. m. tomorrow.

Homes Said Destroyed

At Magelang, a few miles south of Semarang, hospitals were surrounded and guarded by young Indonesians with tommyguns. No fresh food was allowed to enter.

At Depok homes were destroyed and looted and religious pictures ripped from the walls of Christian dwellings.

British Army officers said "the insurgents have some medium and light machineguns and were reported to have used some hand grenades."

A British spokesman said the Japanese at Bandoeing would be relieved and placed in concentration camps.

Dutch Landing Troops

The Dutch also continued to land troops, arms and relief supplies. Another 700 Dutch troops arrived, bringing the total Dutch forces in Java to 5,000.

The British commander of Allied forces, Lt. Gen. Sir Phillip Christison, said he would hold Dr. Soekarno, "president of the Indonesian republic," responsible for violent disturbances.

Soekarno, however, blamed the disorders on inflamatory assertions by two powerful Nationalist radio stations and the newspaper "Merdeka" (Freedom), which he said he did not control.

Tahoka School Heads And Board To Resign

SUPT. E. E. HANCOCK, long time West Texas public school man, High School Prinicpal Vernon Brewer and five members of the Tahoka Independent District School board announced their intentions of resigning their positions at Tahoka late Wednesday afternoon as the climax to a serious rift between school officials, the football coach and players and parents.

Hancock and Brewer turned in their resignations orally about 4:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at a meeting of the school board, called to consider the situation in Tahoka, which reached serious proportions Monday morning when members of the Tahoka football team became involved in an altercation with Hancock.

The superintendent suffered a deep gash on his neck, and required hospital attention Tuesday.

The Tahoka High school coach, H. W. Stewart, turned in an oral resignation to a member of the school board, Wynne Collier, last Saturday morning.

According to information gleaned from several sources by the Morning Avalanche, the situation at Tahoka reached a crisis the past week-end after several weeks of minor disagreements between Hancock and Stewart over policies involved in handling the Tahoka football team.

Here is the background as told to the Morning Avalanche by Tahoka contacts.

Last Saturday morning, Stewart, who like Hancock and Brewer, are serving their first year at Tahoka, turned in his oral resignation to Collier, and said he was quitting. He reportedly had told the football team of his decision.

That night, some unknown persons plastered Supt. Hancock's home with rotten eggs.

Players Decide To Quit

About 9 o'clock Monday morning, 19 members of the football team went to the school to turn in their books and quit school. During the process, they called Supt. Hancock out of a class room into one of the school halls. During

U.S. And Soviet Crisis Mounts Over Balkan, Jap Conflicts

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 — Conflicts between the United States and Russia over Balkan governments and Japan are approaching a new period crisis.

This developed today from disclosures made by Secretary of State Byrnes at a news conference.

The outcome of the conflicts is considered certain to have a vital influence on the future of American-Soviet relations.

In respect to Japan, Byrnes disclosed that Russia is standing pat on its demand that an Allied Control Council should take over supreme authority there from General Douglas MacArthur. As a result it is possible that Russia will refuse to send a representative to the first meeting of the American-sponsored Far Eastern Advisory commission here next Tuesday.

Would Recognize Popular Rule

On Balkan conflicts the central problem is whether the United States—and England too — will recognize Soviet supported governments in Romania and Bulgaria.

A special investigation for Byrnes, Publisher Mark Ethridge of Louisville, Ky., was scheduled to leave overnight for those two countries to investigate the extent of political freedom existing there.

American officials say they will be willing to recognize Communist governments of any variety in Romania and Bulgaria so long as they are convinced that those governments have the support of the people.

To Probe Into Laws

Byrnes told his news conference that he wanted Ethridge to look into questions of laws bearing on democratic rights for the people.

The advisory commission would include the United States, Britain, Russia and China as well as six smaller nations which fought the Pacific war.

The Russians argue that they were perfectly satisfied to have a supreme commander in charge at Tokyo so long as problems were of a military nature. But they contend that now questions are political, economic and financial and that all the victorious powers should have a direct hand in running Japanese affairs.

Byrnes, on the other hand, feels that Japanese affairs are primarily for control of the United States because it did most of the Pacific fighting.

Lewis Blocks Walkouts In 1,000 Mines

By HAROLD W. WARD
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17—John L. Lewis today asked 216,000 striking soft coal miners to return to work by Monday and end the growing threat to basic reconversion industries.

The sudden call for a halt—at least a temporary one—to stoppages in more than 1,000 mines caught the operators by surprise.

They quickly expressed great satisfaction, promised to cooperate fully in restoring coal production, and pledged there would be no retaliation against the strikers.

Lewis' Action Not Explained

Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach, whose own efforts at settlement collapsed Monday night, declared himself both "delighted" and hopeful that Lewis' action would have "a steadying effect throughout industry generally."

Schwellenbach had sought vainly in eight days of meetings to bring the United Mine Workers and soft coal operators together on the issue of unionization of 28,000 to 50,000 foremen, clerical and technical workers.

No detailed explanation of Lewis' decision to end the strike was given beyond a UMW spokesman's statement that the step was taken in the public interest.

Some persons in touch with the situation through these factors might have played a part:

1. Possible concern on the part of the UMW leadership over public reaction to the strike.

2. A protracted strike of miners over an issue not involving any wage increase for them might not be continuously popular with them.

Other Problems Cloud Issue

The unexpected ray of light did not shift the capital's attention from cloudier aspects of the labor scene. These developments occurred:

1. John M. Huston, a member of the National Labor Relations board told a Congressional committee the impression prevails that the government "is extending its auspices and federal funds to encourage strikes," through strike votes taken under the Smith-Connally act.

2. Repeal of that act and enactment of anti-strike legislation aimed at "mutual responsibility" for labor and management was proposed to the House by Rep. Carlson (R-Kas.).

3. Labor officials saw signs in a New Haven speech by Reconversion Director Snyder that the government does not intend to bend the price line very far upwards to permit wage increases. Snyder declared we must "guard against moves that would lift the lid on inflation."

Army May Slash Points Below 60 In December

Nazis' Master Membership Files Found; Many In U.S. Are Listed

By EDWARD D. BALL
Associated Press Staff Writer

BERLIN, Oct. 17—American military authorities disclosed today that they had seized the Nazi party's master personnel files listing nearly 8,000,000 party members, including thousands who were members of Nazi-sponsored groups in the United States, Argentina, and other foreign countries.

The files, which also contain the names of another 2,000,000 who were rejected as members and a "blacklist" of those expelled from the party, were regarded as among the most important documentary catches yet made.

Many In Argentina

Apparently those belonging to Nazi-sponsored groups abroad were considered as good Nazis as those at home. They lived in virtually every country, and were particularly numerous in such South American countries as Argentina. Their cards were grouped together under the Auslands Deutsche organization.

The first 200,000 cards were found three months ago, but kept secret until the remainder of the files could be assembled from a half-dozen localities.

Nazis Tried To Burn Files

The job was accomplished by a team under Maj. William Browne, former chief of detectives at Portland, Ore. The Nazis had ordered the records burned a week before the Americans arrived, but the so-called German efficiency broke down and they lay untouched for weeks.

The files gave the Allies the first official figures on the number of Nazi party members. Discounting the number of deaths, expulsions and resignations, American authorities estimated the party at its peak had about 7,000,000 active adherents.

Elaborate System Set Up

The files contained a careful record of every person who joined the party or who aspired to join.

There were four sets of cards in the elaborate files.

The main ones were membership cards. A photograph of each member was supposed to be attached to his card, but some of these were missing.

The second set listed members by their gau (district).

Records of expelled members were kept in a third set, which made up the party's "blacklist." Thousands of the cards were stamped "non-Aryan."

The fourth set was a "warning card" file in which were kept card sent in by the Hitler youth, warning against permitting certain individuals to join the party.

44,000 Being Freed Daily

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17—Senators heard today that the minimum total for release from the Army may be cut below 60 points in December.

Brig. Gen. R. W. Berry, deputy personnel chief of the War department, offered this testimony before the Senate Military affairs committee as it checked upon progress of the big job of returning millions of fighting men to civilian status.

Amid a barrage of critical questions and pages of estimates, the general stressed these points:

Daily releases from the Army reached a peak of 44,000 last week.

Men and women and women with two years service or more cannot hope to get out on that basis alone before March 20 next.

Voluntary enlistments under the new law designed to spur such enlistments have reached 1,000 a day.

Over Million In October

General Berry said more than a million men and women had been discharged by the Army in the first half of October. He estimated 1,100,000 would be freed during the month. This would be twice the estimate Chief of Staff George C. Marshall had given Congress.

He predicted that more than 1,000,000 would be released in November and about the same number during December. In order to do this the General conceded something must be done to lower present requirements for release. These were 70 points this month and will drop to 60 points on November 1.

"I hope you can drop it down as low as 50 points for December," said Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo) acting chairman of the military committee.

38,000 AVIATION CADETS GET CHANCE FOR DISCHARGE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 (AP) — The War department announced tonight that 38,000 volunteer Army Air Forces aviation cadets are being given the option of discharge.

Because most of the volunteers are youths who signed up before reaching their 18th birthday or before their draft boards tapped them, Air Forces officers said it is likely that those who take advantage of the release provision will be drafted.

However, some other officers

Merger Of Army, Navy Urged; HST To Give Views Tuesday

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 (AP) — Secretary of War Patterson asked Congress today to combine the Army and Navy. And President Truman is going to ask it for some kind of peacetime military training for all the young men of America.

Mr. Truman will address Senate and House Tuesday on military training—in person. He has a selling job to do in a Congress reluctant even to consider the subject now.

Would Help Keep Peace

Patterson talked to the Senate Military committee. He urged it to act quickly on a plan to merge the armed forces, with subordinate branches for air, ground and sea. Some of his reasons:

1. It's the best way to maintain American security and "the continuation of world peace."

2. It would have saved billions during the war and might have ended it sooner.

Would End Overlapping

3. It can bring about many economies now by stopping "conflict, duplication and over-lapping." Right here in Washington the Army and Navy have duplicate depots, hospitals, airfields and repair shops.

4. Unfied command worked in the field during the war — but "adequate cooperation" was possible in Washington only through the President as Commander-in-Chief.

5. Army and Navy now have no chance to submit a single defense plan to Congress.

Navy May Oppose Plan

As the secretary finished, Acting Chairman Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo) called the merger plan "logical and convincing." But next week the committee hears the Navy, which is expected to oppose the plan.

Chairmen of the House naval and military committees already have said they are against it.

The President may propose modified universal military training. Perhaps tieing it in with vocational education or the college ROTC. But even so numerous congressmen don't think much of the idea.

The President makes his talk Tuesday. It will be broadcast to the country at 11:30 p. m. Central Standard Time.

Navy Aiding In Returning Men

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17. (AP)—Navy Secretary James V. Forrestal said today the return of scores of warships for Navy day celebrations will not slow down homeward movements of the armed forces.

The statement in the form of a letter made public by the Navy, reported that 750,000 men will come home from the Pacific in warships alone in the next 11 months.

The secretary went on to explain that some warships necessarily will spend sometime in port for overhaul, granting of earned leave to crews and conversion for transport work.

The Navy has been bringing some Army men home for discharge on warships but it has announced no program as yet for devoting fighting ships to exclusive transport duty.

The warships returning for Navy day are bringing home their own crews, including many men eligible for release, Forrestal said.

"In a sense," he added, "the fighting fleet is bringing itself home for demobilization."

Declaring that such vessels as battleships and cruisers are "inherently inefficient transports" he said they take aboard for shipment home as many men as they can. For example, he said the Carrier Ticonderoga is bringing back 2,240 "passengers," the Battleship Wisconsin 1,411 and the Cruiser Vicksburg 876.

The combat vessels included in the Navy day deployment, he said, are coming home with capacity loads of approximately 50,000 passengers, including some Army men, who are headed for separation centers.

Business Urges More Tax Cuts

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17. (AP) — A prediction that the Senate Finance committee will want to hold tax reductions to around $5,000,000,000 came from Chairman George (D-Ga) today as the group ended hearings on House legislation.

George expressed this view to reporters, in response to questions, after a day in which the committee heard spokesmen for business organizations urge cuts beyond those approved by the House.

Cut Is Claimed Limit

Secretary of the Treasury Vinson had estimated the House bill would reduce revenues by $5,190,000,000 in 1946 and by $7,252,000,000 in 1947. H recommended a program of cuts aggregating $5,175,000,000 in each of the years as "all we can afford."

George said he believed the Senate committee would approve a plan "substantially" in accord with Vinson's figure.

As for details, he said a majority apparently favor repeal of the excess profits tax effective next Jan. 1 and some members believe the schedule of excise taxes in the House bill should be revised.

"On individual income taxes, I couldn't give you any indication," he added.

In closing the hearings, George put into the record a letter from

Gen. "Terrible Terry" Allen Is To Receive New Honors

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 (AP)—In recognition of "superb accomplishments" in Germany, Maj. Gen. Terry Allen, 57-year-old commander of the famed 104th Infantry (Timberwolf) division, has been awarded an Oak Leaf Cluster, in lieu of a second Distinguished Service Medal.

Maj. Gen. Allen, known as "Terrible Terry" to his men, lives at El Paso, Texas. He will receive the award at Camp San Luis Obispo, Calif., where the Timberwolves are now stationed.

The 104th division battered its way deep into Germany under the battle cry: "Nothing in hell must stop the Timberwolves." It took part in the drive to the Roer river and later to Cologne and beyond the Rhine.

The citation praises the "tactical skill, inspiring leadership and great capacity of General Allen" and continues:

"Starting the campaign as a relatively untried division, his command became a superb assault organization, fully demonstrating its ability to accomplish the most difficult missions. The aggressive leadership and sound military judgment displayed by General Allen contributed materially to the defeat of the enemy and reflected great credit upon himself and the armed forces."

General Allen received the Distinguished Service Medal in June 1943. For his leadership of the 1st Infantry division in the North African landings and through the Tunisican campaign. Later he was awarded the Legion of Merit for

Congress Plans Spending Slash

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 (AP) — Congress set out today to cut government spending this year by almost one-third.

The first action of such magnitude in many years was initiated by the House Appropriations committee, acting partly on President Truman's recommendations.

The committee reported to the House a bill to cancel $52,453,535,278 in previously authorized spending for this fiscal year ending June 30, 1946.

Slowing Of Debt

There had been $170,000,000,000 made available for this 12-months, voted at a time when the nation was fighting a war on two fronts.

This recapturing of funds doesn't mean a tax cut, however, Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) was quick to point out. He said it simply means slowing down the rate at which the national debt is piling up.

The committee released reports on bulky hearings in which this testimony was highlighted.

Army Chief of Staff George C. Marshall urged a continued large military establishment. He said the atom bomb doesn't mean the end of armies and navies.

Atomic Use Not Immediate

Dr. Vannevar Bush, head of the Office of Science and Research, said the first application of atomic energy to peaceful pursuits probably wouldn't have great effect on the economy, perhaps would be for "power purposes in large units" only and that would be some years hence.

$30,000,000 In Jap Diamonds Found As "Sundry Goods"

TOKYO, Friday, Oct. 18. (AP)—American authorities today seized more than $30,000,000 worth of glittering diamonds belonging to the official Japanese government control agency and stored in thermos bottles within a trust company safety deposit box.

A total of 131,000 karats of diamonds was found in a Mitsui Trust company vault in a box belonging to Koeki Eidan, a government import export control agency.

Among "Sundry Goods"

The company had listed precious stones worth over 131,000,000 yen among its "sundry goods" in assets.

Capt. Roy Katz, 500 Ocean Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y., of the enemy property control economic scientific section, led a detail into the trust company vault, then waited nearly two hours while a Japanese official went home to get the proper key for opening the box.

Claimed Jap Property

Fuji Hori, sub-manager of the sundry goods department of Koeki Eidan, said the gems were obtained under government decree throughout Japan and from Manchuria and China but claimed all came from the Japanese.

Hori said the government paid 1,000 yen per karat for the diamonds which were stripped from women's rings and other jewelry as part of the civilian effort to aid the war. The drive had lasted

Michigan Faces Power Crisis

LANSING, Mich., Oct. 17. (AP)—Much of industrial Michigan faced a crisis tonight in a threatened strike of utility workers and Gov. Harry F. Kelly ordered state police and state troops on the alert.

Representatives of the CIO's state utility workers council, which previously had set a 5 p. m. deadline for a strike to begin in plants of the consumers power company, left a meeting an hour later without a final verdict.

Would Affect 2,000,000

Union spokesmen said, however, that the walkout might take place any time within the next 24 hours. The strike would cut off electricity in almost all Michigan's major cities outside Detroit and would affect 2,000,000 residents.

Consumers power also services gas, but union officials said only electricity would be affected at the start of a walkout.

The union threatened its strike to support a demand for a wage increase.

Gov. Kelly, announcing from Port Huron that he had altered state police and state troops "because of the uncertainty," said he was asking the union to "weigh carefully their responsibilities" in the light of "public needs."

Some hope was held out that the strike could be averted. Orno L. Knowles, member of the union's executive board, said the board was ready to "stay up all night" to consider any proposal from the company.

Hundreds of factories would be affected by a strike. Consumers power services the communities in 57 of Michigan's 83 counties, and a company spokesman said that if a strike were 100 per cent effective all factories workers of the area would be laid off.

Freak Weather King For A Day In Area

Freakish weather Wednesday picked Lubbock as its special target, bringing summer showers and sunshine within a block of each other, but the moisture totaled only .15 inches, according to Don Jones of the State Experiment station, official observer.

An interesting sidelight was furnished by Brig.-Gen. F. S. Borum, commanding general of the Oklahoma City Air Technical Service command area, who flew in. He reported beautiful weather until he saw Lubbock, with a storm area approximately 15 miles in diameter centered over the city.

The morning started cool at 52 degrees but climbed to a summertime 79 degrees at 2 p. m. After the shower the temperature dropped 15 degrees by 4 p. m.

And last night as lightning played against huge thunderheads in the east a big harvest moon made the night almost as bright as day.

Charges From LCRA Unrest Dismissed

AUSTIN, Oct. 17. (AP)—Justice of the Peace Mace Thurman today dismissed misdemeanor charges filed against three men charged by complaint with injuring property of the Lower Colorado River authority.

The cases were an outgrowth of the power strike Oct. 1.

The charges against the three men originally were filed by Ranger Captain Fred Olsen. When the cases were called today before Thurman, there was no witness for the state present and no objection was voiced to the motion by Polk Shelton, attorney for the men to quash the charges.

Shelton pleaded that the complaint in each case was vague and indefinite.

A similar complaint against a fourth man is still pending in Justice of the Peace Frank McBee's court. It was scheduled for hearing tomorrow.

Overnight Atomic Raid Could Kill 40,000,000, Solons Told

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 — Congress was told today that 40,000,000 Americans could be killed in one overnight atomic raid if there is "one false move in international diplomacy."

Dr. H. J. Curtis, one of the men who helped make the atom bomb, called for a "miracle" in international relations to prevent a "war too horrible to contemplate." He said the impelling motives for a miraculous improvement in diplomacy "should be just as strong as those which moved us to create the atomic bomb."

Dr. Curtis testified at a joint Senate Military-Commerce subcommittee hearing on behalf of the Association of Oak Ridge scientists. The hearings are on a proposed National Science Foundation to explore the atom and other scientific developments.

Another witness, Dr. J. R. Oppenheimer of the New Mexico atomic laboratories, testified "I am afraid it is" when asked if it was true that a single night's raid on America could kill 40,000,000 persons in congested cities.

Even "total destruction of civilization as we know it" was given as a possible alternative to keeping the peace.

"We regret that the atomic age began, of necessity, with hideous destruction," Dr. Curtis said. "Our only consolation is that it helped to achieve a peace which must now be maintained."

"We have concluded," he went on, "that the best interests of this country will be served by turning over control of atomic energy to an international authority whose function will be to so regulate the development of atomic energy that the atomic bomb will be used only by a world authority if necessary for the enforcement of peace."

President Truman talked at the White House with legislative leaders during the day about the future use and control of atomic energy.

Seven Fields Being Inactivated Oct. 31

FORT WORTH, Oct. 17. (AP)—Temporary inactivation on Oct. 31 of seven air fields used for flight training was announced by AAF Training command headquarters here today.

The installations include Moore field, Mission, Texas (pilot school, basic); Smyrna Army Air field, Smyrna, Tenn., (pilot and instructors school, four engine); Napier field, Dothan, Ala., (pilot school, advanced single engine); Hobbs, Army Air field, Hobbs, N. M., (pilot school, specialized four engine); and Craig field, Selma, Ala., (pilot school, advanced single engine).

Navy To Berth 930 Ships On West Coast

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17. (AP)—Navy plans for the berthing of 930 fighting ships of the post-war reserve fleet on the Pacific coast were made public today.

Admiral F. J. Horne, vice chief of naval operations, gave the plans to the House Appropriations committee, which submitted then to the House along with a $52,000,000,000 appropriation cancellation bill.

Marshall Says A-Bomb Increases Importance Of Troops On Ground

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17. (AP)—Development of the atom bomb has increased, rather than decreased, the importance of the soldier who fights on the ground, in the opinion of Gen. George C. Marshall.

The Army chief of staff told the House appropriations committee that if some future war finds enemy nations tossing atom bombs at each other, somebody is going to have to move in and stop the enemy firing.

Need Ground Force

Testifying on an appropriation cancellation bill, made public today, Marshall had this to say about the "effect of the atomic bomb on the size of the military establishment:"

"I would say that it has increased the necessity for greater immediacy in the availability of a force to be used at the outset of an emergency for the reason that we would have to act quickly in order to terminate a destructive attack of atomic nature.

Scientists Hold Key

"I might illustrate it this way: If the atomic bomb did away with the necessity for an Army, there might be two scientists, one in Germany, we will say, and one in Washington. As each pressed a button, an horrendous explosion would occur in the other fellow's territory. This process would continue, short of a lucky hit on one of the scientists and his button establishment, until somebody got to the source of one of those buttons; this is a striking force.

"It would appear to be all the more necessary to be capable of aggressive offensive action because of the terrific destruction that would be carried out prior to the elimination of the enemy's power to launch such bombs by plane or rocket or other device.

Had To Tame Island

"People overlook the fact, when they are talking about mechanized or technological warfare, that more men are required than in the past. They are the men required to produce and to supply and the fighting troops to put the instrument in the proper place for its employment.

We had to capture an island from which to launch the (atomic) bomb."

Gen. H. H. Arnold, head of Army Air Forces, told the committee of the high cost of scrapping surplus B-17 (Flying Fortress) and B-24 (Liberator) planes. Arnold said he believes it would "be economy in the long run" to take them "out to some place such as one of our stations in the west and then have a big press roll them into a compressed piece of metal, throw that into the furnace, pour it out in pigs and stack the pigs up. Then you have something that is an asset instead of a liability."

PARALYSIS CASES RISE

SHREVEPORT, La., Oct. 17. (AP)—Infantile paralysis cases in this area today number thirty-three. Latest victim was a two year old Negro child who became ill October 10. It is a severe case, said Dr. W. J. Sandage, director of the local health unit.

Germans Plotted To Liquidate Americans

KRACOW, Poland, Oct. 17 (Delayed) (AP)—Nazi Germany planned after "defeat" of the United States the immediate arrest and liquidation of approximately 100 American educators, writers, diplomats and scientists for helping the Poles.

SS intelligence experts, it was disclosed today, "blacklisted" the Americans just after the Allied invasion of Europe. The new Polish ambassador to the United States, Dr. Oscar Lange, formerly professor of economics at the University of Chicago, and Carleton, J. H. Hayes, former U. S. envoy to Madrid, were among those to be "arrested."

Also on the list were Dr. Ludwik Anighein, specialist in the school of medicine, University of Texas

Congressmen Urging More Freedom Inside Soviet For Visitors

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17. (AP)—New fuel added today to the Congressional fire for more freedom in Russia for Americans.

It was heaped on by two House committees just back from abroad and none too happy about what they found.

Boiled down, the two groups urged that relations between the Soviet and the United States be put on more of a give-and-take basis, with neither country receiving more than it gives the other.

Talks Being Urged

An unofficial 11-member committee headed by Rep. Wickersham (D-Okla) urged that this country demand that Americans traveling in Russia be given the same freedom of movement that visiting Russians receive here.

A two-member sub-committee of the House foreign affairs committee—Representatives Bolton (R-Ohio) and Mundt (R-SD)—suggested that the United States accord Russians "as much as they accord us and no more."

The Wickersham group, which visited 32 countries, stressed the necessity of clearing the Russo-American air of "suspicion" in diplomatic talks when Marshal Zhukov makes his proposed visit to this country.

Trade Policies Hit

There also should be more frank discussions of trade policies between the United States and Great Britain, the committee added in a report to the House.

Mundt and Mrs. Bolton voiced their belief that "we can have peace with Russia and that we can work with that great country in the common interest of all humanity" if these two conditions prevail:

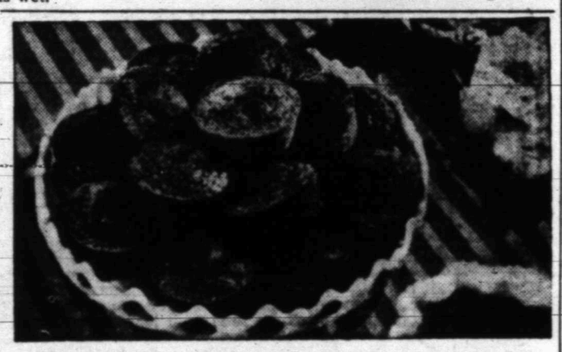

1. That neither nation adopts an expansionist policy not authorized by the other and, 2. "Neither country treats the other in a manner which would prove unacceptable were the same policies reversed and applied to it."

The joker has been the only innovation in playing cards in centuries.

JAPS IN GOOD SHAPE

TOKYO, Oct. 17. (AP)—Supplies left them by the American after the surrender enabled the Japanese garrison on Marcus island to remain in good health and to return home with but few members needing hospitalization, Col. Juneo Seo reported today as he arrived with 2,478 Army and Navy men from the tiny island which was cut off when Saipan fell.

Date-Bran Muffins, good as cake!

(Take no sugar, no shortening!)

These delicious, new ALL-BRAN muffins made with chopped dates will have a big appeal for the "sweet toothers" in your family! They're so moist. And they're so tender—so good. That's because KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is milled extra-fine for golden softness.

2 cups Kellogg's ALL-BRAN
¼ cup molasses
1¼ cups milk
1 egg
1 cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup chopped dates

Add KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN to molasses and milk and allow to soak for 15 minutes. Beat egg and add to first mixture. Add sifted dry ingredients and fruit. Fill greased muffin pans two-thirds full and bake in moderately hot oven (400°F.) about 30 minutes. Makes 15 light, luscious muffins.

Good Nutrition, too!

ALL-BRAN is made from the VITAL OUTER LAYERS of finest wheat—contains a concentration of the protective food elements found in the whole grain. One-half cup provides over ½ your daily minimum need for iron. Serve Kellogg's ALL-BRAN daily!

Rain-Soaked Texas Farmers Now Would Welcome Dry Weather

AUSTIN, Oct. 17 (AP) — Texas farmers have had all the rain they need for a while and would welcome a spell of dry weather, the United States Department of Agriculture says.

Reviewing general crop and livestock conditions as of Oct. 15, the USDA reported as follows:

Soil moisture excessive in some areas. Field work gradually being resumed after a week's shutdown due to wet weather.

Little Seeding of Grain

Little seeding of small grains during the week, but moisture sufficient to insure rapid completion when weather conditions permit. Small grains dusted in were up to a good stand and the growing crops made good progress.

Continued rains caused some damage to corn and sorghums still in the fields, and interferred with harvest of these crops. Rains were generally helpful to late planted sorghums on the high plains, but cool, damp weather was delaying maturity of the crop as the frost deadline drew nearer.

Cotton Harvest Delayed

Rainfall and heavy dews continued to interfere with cotton harvest. There was some picking and pulling of cotton near the end of the week on the light sandy soils, but in most cases the ground was too wet for pickers to enter the fields. An extended period of successive dry days is badly needed to keep available harvesting crews occupied and to encourage entry of additional transient labor. The recent rains have reduced the quality of both cotton lint and cottonseed, but have not yet caused much loss in quantity.

Vegetable Prospects

Fall and winter vegetable prospects continued favorable. A light harvest of eggplant and peppers was started in the lower valley. Growing crops in the non-irrigated districts showed improvement and planting for mid-winter harvest was expected to become general.

Rains have provided good growth of range grasses throughout the state and prospects for small grain pastures were improved. Cattle remained in good condition and were going to market in good flesh. Protein concentrates are scarce in many areas of the state. Some additional losses of goats occurred as a result of continued cool, wet weather.

Schmid Twins Visit Mother At Slaton

Capt. Eldon W. Schmid, son of Mrs. R. H. Bailey of Slaton, arrived home Tuesday night for a reunion with his twin brother, M/Sgt. Ellis P. Schmid, who had been there several days. Capt Schmid is on a two-week hopital leave before reporting back to Ashburn General hospital at McKinney and Sgt. Schmid was enroute to San Antonio for furlough papers.

Both men were captured on Java in 1942 and had been together during the 41 months of prison life, except for a few months of the last year. They flew from Calcutta to New York on the same plane, and were not separated until after they arrived back in the United States.

Mrs. Bailey drove to McKinney for a visit with Capt. Schmid Monday and got there just as he was ready to leave for Slaton.

KILLED YAMAMOTO — Lt.-Col. Thomas G. Lanphier, jr., above, 29, of Washington, D. C., was the American pilot who shot down the Jap bomber carrying Admi. Isoroku Yamamoto, killing the man who boasted he would dictate peace in the White House. Naval Intelligence cracked the Jap code and learned Yamamoto would be over Bougainville Island on April 18, 1943. American planes, including Lanphier in a P-38 Lightning, set up an ambush. They also shot down another Jap bomber, killing members of Yamamoto's staff.

Marines Quell Riots In Jap Coal Mines

HAKATA, Japan, Oct. 17 (AP)—Squads of U. S. Fifth Division Marines have been rushed to coal mine camps near Hakata to quell fighting between Chinese laborers, former prisoners of war and slaves, and Japanese police and civilians.

Marine Correspondent Staff Sgt. Paul G. Sturges of Salem, Ore., reported two Chinese were killed, two others wounded seriously and more than a score of Japanese police and civilians beaten.

The Marines took over the policing job after Japanese police reported they were unable to control the situation.

Chinese told the officer that the Chinese killed and wounded were "Japanese spies" and "national traitors."

The Chinese group includes, in addition to the contract workers, prisoners of war from the Communist Eighth Route Army and from Chinese nationalist forces, and civilian laborers brought to the area under the Japanese labor draft.

Marine Maj. William S. Wood of 114 Atlantic St., Corpus Christi, Texas, area provost marshal, said the contract laborers caused the most trouble.

New Cotton Testing Machine Described At Rotary Luncheon

A new type of cotton testing machine developed in the laboratory which may prove invaluable to the cotton manufacturing industry was described to the Lubbock Rotary club at their noon luncheon in the Hilton hotel Wednesday by George W. Pfeiffenberger, who is doing research work for the Chicopee Manufacturing Corp. in the spinning laboratory at Texas Tech.

The new machine, which will test cotton for fineness in 20 minutes whereas the process at one time required four hours, is inexpensive and can be operated by inexperienced hands.

Tech Testing Method

Pfeiffenberger said the government had become interested in the machine for its own laboratories. The speaker proposes to call the process the Texas Tech cotton testing method.

He pointed out that his company selected Tech for research work out of 15 colleges investigated because of the excellent equipment available and the cooperation of college officials.

"Farmers of this section have been 'extensioned' to death by the government and state about growing longer staple cotton," the cotton expert said. He is of the opinion that there is little use in the farmer growing longer staple as long as cotton is not marketed on the basis of spinning quality.

Others Are Present

The speaker was introduced by Chas. A. Guy. Lt. Tony Dabov and Sgt. Jack Veazey of the West Texas Recruiting station were also introduced by Mr. Guy. Lt. Dabov spoke briefly on the requirements for enlistment in the regular Army.

Dean James G. Allen introduced Jim Humphreys of Tech as junior Rotarian for the month of October. New members introduced were R. L. Elms, T. C. Root and Col. Harry N. Holt

Visiting Rotarians were H. C. Pfannkuche of Fort Worth, Harry M. Balner of Amarillo, Rev. J. H. McClain of Rails, James D. Farr of Fort Worth and Frederick A. Pugh of Santa Barbara, Calif.

Texas City Fisherman Gets 1,000 Pounder

HOUSTON, Oct. 17 (AP)—O. E. Holloway, Texas City fishing camp operator, considered himself lucky tonight to have saved his boat after he successfully battled a 15 foot, 1,000 pound sawfish to a standstill.

The monster became entangled in Holloway's shrimp trawl while dragging for bait near the end of the dike. The net was torn to pieces but Holloway managed to tie up and land the fish.

One Dead, 300 Hurt In Blast In Japan

TOKYO, Oct. 17 (AP)—Domei agency said today that one man was killed, 300 injured and 60 houses wrecked in unexplained explosion at the Okayama ordnance supply depot yesterday.

Japanese Sgt. Major Ryuchi Fukuda killed himself with a revolver after the blast, probably holding himself responsible, the agency said.

No Allied personnel were believed hurt.

NATIONAL BIBLE WEEK

IF you read the papers and listen to the radio, you know without being told that this is National Bible week, a time sponsored by the Laymen's National committee and dedicated to the proposition that "America was founded on Man's consciousness of God, man's daily labor and the fruits therefrom." The committee worked long to leave no stone unturned to make this week a part of everybody's everyday consciousness, irrespective of race, color or creed.

As we look about us at the tendency toward injustice, strife and violence, we are more inclined than ever to believe that we need to turn to the best guide to a better civilization the world has ever known—the Bible. Until the Bible is accepted as the basic guide book of conduct in all countries, we shall periodically witness the undermining of civilization.

WE do not presume to suggest that this suggestion will start a city-wide movement in Bible reading. We do mean to suggest that many people need to be reminded about reading the Scriptures. There must be hundreds of residents here who read the Bible daily, drawing from it stimulation, comfort and inspiration; there are thousands, on the other hand who rarely ever open the Book. To them we would suggest the reading of Matthew 22:29: "Ye do err not knowing the Scriptures nor the power of God."

Study of the Bible means much to about one dozen classes that are organized here for that express purpose. The writer knows that several women in those classes have read the Bible from cover to cover time and again. It is not to them that these lines of reminder are directed.

What is your favorite Bible chapter or passage? We'd like to have several calls or cards on that question to incorporate in our Saturday column. Our chapter preferences change through the years but at present we think of no scripture that means more than Romans: 8. We had rather read and believe the 38th and 39th verses of that chapter than anything we have seen in print.

THE ROBINS AGAIN

THE robins have come to town all right and they are having a good time, according to reports from several readers.

Mrs. H. G. Knight who lives at 2210 Twenty-seventh who is recovering from a recent illness, says she lay in a hammock Tuesday and watched the robins picking the berries from her pyracanthia bushes. She said she set the bushes out several years ago with the thought of the robins in mind and since she had invited them, she was glad they showed up. (Incidently, Mrs. Knight had broken several branches from the bushes to decorate her rooms, beating the birds to the draw, as it were.)

The Knights have a Russian olive tree in their back yard that attracts mocking birds, she said.

DON HART said he has noticed robins by the hundreds in Twenty-Seventh Street park. The other morning he counted 17 birds on one branch. He says they seem to eat the seeds and leave the hulls under the trees.

Mrs Dixie Lowe said there were about 30 robins in her pyracantha bushes Tuesday afternoon. They were considerate in that they didn't pay a visit until after a garden club pilgrimage to her yard in the morning.

Those who like the robins and those who don't like them say they are pretty, with their orange breasts almost the same brilliant shade as that of the berries.

Mrs. Lowe said a white female dog, well-cared for and approximately three-fourths grown, has come to her yard. The little animal has a black face and black ears. Its owner may call for it.

Col. Tharp To Attend Lost Battalion Event

AMARILLO, Oct. 17. (AP)—Col. Blucher S. Tharp, commander of the 131st Field Artillery second battalion, Texas' lost battalion, has come back to Amarillo.

Getting back to physical normalcy quickly after 43 months in Japanese prisons, Colonel Tharp immediately went to work following his return yesterday, checking his records to clear up the fate of all the personnel in the outfit. He also announced the appointment of Lt. Col. Winthrop H. Rogers of Wichita Falls as liaison officer to work out a permanent organization of Lost Battalion members.

Colonel Tharp accepted the invitation of the city of Wichita Falls to be a guest of honor at a celebration Oct. 28-29 formally marking the homecoming of the Battalion.

The colonel expressed approval of Wichita Falls' plans to honor the Lost Battalion in a ceremony which would also pay tribute to the war dead and salute all service men and women from the Wichita Falls section.

Coffee And Tea Will Honor New Resident

Mrs. Howard Hampton who recently moved here from Clarksville, is being honored at a coffee and tea today, given in the home of her sister, Mrs. T. R. Prideaux, 3123 Nineteenth. Mrs. Prideaux, Mrs. R. D. Moxley and Mrs. J. Mason Moxley are hostesses.

Coffee hours are between 9:30 and 11 a. m. and tea hours are from 3 until 5 o'clock.

Turkey Plentiful For Thanksgiving Tables

DALLAS, Oct. 17 (U.P.)—Practically every table this Thanksgiving Day will sag with a turkey as the national production of the bird is up 22 per cent over last year and Texas' production alone is 23 per cent greater than last year's.

About 4,701,000 birds are expected to amble forth from the Texas turkey crop alone. But this large increase will be countered with civilian turkey consumption this year that is expected to be 25 per cent greater than last year and 60 per cent more than the prewar average.

With much of the Army's turkey orders already cancelled, farmers will face some marketing problems.

"This is a time when farmers need to finish out their turkeys for high quality and depend on grade for higher prices," said C. M. Evans, poultry and dairy representative of the Department of Agriculture in Dallas.

Officers Wives Club Has Bridge-Luncheon

A luncheon and bridge party at the officers club at Lubbock Army Air field Tuesday afternoon was attended by members of the Lubbock Army Officers Wives club. Hostesses were Mesdames B. W. Goulding, O. L. Longley and A. E. Conard.

High scores in bridge were made by Mesdames W. G. Snaith, Russell Shively, Henry Thacher and Goulding.

World Federal Setup To Prevent War Is Proposed By Group

DUBLIN, N. H., Oct. 17. (AP)—Creation of a world federal government with closely-defined and limited power adequate to prevent war was contained in a majority proposal today by a conference of approximately 50 prominent men and women interested in world peace and world organization.

Known as the Dublin conference, the five-day meeting which concluded today, was called on the invitation of Owen J. Roberts, who recently resigned as justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, and by Robert P. Bass, former governor of New Hampshire. Granville Clark and Thomas H. Mahoney, chairman of the Massachusetts committee for world federation.

United Nations Hit

"Believing," the conference said, "that the mounting waves of distress and fear that threaten mankind may engulf us in a war which, in this atomic age, would destroy civilization and possibly mankind itself; and being convinced that the United Nations organization is wholly inadequate, a large majority of the conference proposes:

"That a world federal government created with closely defined and limited power adequate to prevent war and designed to restore and strengthen the freedoms that are inalienable rights of man."

Must Abolish War

The conference declaration added that "whatever may have been, the efficacy of the United Nations organization for the maintenance of international peace before August 6, 1945, the events of that day tragically revealed the inadequacy of the organization thereafter so to do.

"The application of atomic energy to warfare and impressive scientific evidence as to the consequences thereof have made the people of the world realize that the institution of war among nations must be abolished if civilization is to continue. The necessity of immediate action is urgent. There is not a moment to lose."

Search Abandoned For Pacific AAF Ace

TOKYO, Oct. 17 (U.P.)—The Army abandoned an air search for Col. Gerald R. Johnson, 25, of Eugene, Ore., a leading Pacific ace, and Lt. James B. Nolard of Houston, Tex., pilot and co-pilot respectively of a B-25 bomber missing since Oct. 7 on a flight from Ie island to Atsugi airfield, near Tokyo.

Col. Ernest R. Wartburton of Westboro, Mass., noted test pilot who directed the 70-day search, said that an exhaustive sweep of the entire land and sea area where the bomber might have crashed failed to reveal a single clue to its fate. Japanese authorities cooperated in the land hunt.

Several Lubbock County Cases In Texas Appellate Court Decisions

Several cases from Lubbock county figured Wednesday in proceedings of appellate courts of Texas.

Submitted in the court of criminal appeals on briefs and oral arguments were the cases of Alfred Homer Keeton, who had been given a sentence of 25 years for rape, and Jack Ricketts. A 99th district writ of habeas corpus naming Ricketts had issued to the court of criminal appeals, and the question of its constitutionality, raised by District Attorney Burton S. Burks, will be acted on.

Debbs Crawford Appeal

Also Franklin D. Brown of the Lubbock law firm of Nelson & Brown was in Austin to make oral arguments in two appeals of Debbs Crawford—from two years for burglary from Hockley county and 15 years for robbery from Harris county. Nelson & Brown did not defend Crawford at Houston, but were employed to represent him in his appeal only.

Burks, in questioning constitutionality of the habeas corpus law of 1943, suggested that the district attorney of King county, where Ricketts was sentenced to five years for burglary, should have been served, rather than himself. J. F. Ricketts, the prisoner's father, said in his application that the son was insane at the time of his trial and sentence.

Two In Supreme Court

Two cases were decided in the supreme court. Rehearing of the cause of F. G. Watkins and wife for rehearing of the application of M. F. Landwer against Clayton Fuller and others was also overruled.

The Landwer-Fuller action was brougth in the 99th district court by Landwer, who sued to remove a nuisance and for damages growing out of Clayton's operation of a dairy on North College outside the city limits and contiguous to Ladwer's homestead. He said that rain washed manure onto his land, with a resultant unpleasantness and loss of property valuation. The trial court held for the defendant, Fuller. Landwer appealed to the court of civil appeals at Amarillo, which affirmed the judgment of the lower court. He filed a motion for rehearing, which was refused, then appealed to the supreme court. A writ of error was not granted by that court. Wednesday's adverse action of the court was on a motion of Landwer for rehearing, which ends the litigation.

Watkins-Slaughter Case

The Watkins - Slaughter case traces back to an opinion, later reversed, wherein a majority of the Supreme court decided for Watkins in an opinion interpreting meaning of a deed from Bob Slaughter conveying 80 acres of oil land in Hockley county to Watkins.

The judges decided the deed "conveyed but one-sixteenth of the usual one-eighth oil royalty, "but Justice John Sharp, dissenting, thought it conveyed a full one-sixteenth royalty.

The first opinion reversed the judgement of the 72nd district court and the court of civil appeals at Amarillo, but the reversed holding supported both courts and the Slaughters.

New Electric Ranges On Way, But Radios Are To Take Time

By SANDOR S. KLEIN
United Press Staff Writer

CHICAGO, Oct. 17. — Madam, that new electric range you've been waiting for is positively on the way.

I saw dozens of them, white and shiny, rolling of the production lines.

But that's not your only wartime dream that's coming true. Electric dish washing machines, I can report, are actually being made; the kind that fits under the kitchen slink and takes one touch of a button to spray, rinse, wash and dry that after-dinner accumulation.

Plant Turns 'Em Out

As one of a group of 18 correspondents who are making a reconversion tour of American industry, I saw all this today at the plant of the Edison General Electric Appliance Co., which only a few months ago was turning out ammunition.

The company's plant is fully reconverted, so far as facilities are concerned, but it will take until the end of the year to attain full production on the ranges, dishwashers, water heaters and other electrical appliances.

There's some bad news to report, however, about another item that a lot of people have been thinking about for Christmas — radio sets. Frank A. Hiter, senior vice president of Stewart-Warner Corp., says there won't be nearly the number predicted in time for the holiday.

Hiter told the reporters that the best possible pre-Christmas output by the whole industry is 3,000,000 sets. War Production board officials had estimated about 25,000,000 would be ready for Christmas presents.

Traxler Plea Turned Down By High Court

AUSTIN, Oct. 17 (AP)—Another attempt by Pete Traxler to obtain his freedom was rejected today by the Court of Criminal appeals.

The court ordered that Traxler must answer an indictment brought in Walker county, charging robbery, in Fayette county on a change of venue.

Last year, the court sustained Traxler's contention that his conviction in Lipscomb county in 1936 on a robbery indictment was void, but did not disturb the indictment and ordered him to be deliverey by state penitentiary authorities to the sheriff of Lipscomb county. Traxler meanwhile had served eight years of his life sentence on the voided conviction.

Today's ruling was on Traxler's subsequent efforts to obtain freedom. In addition to ordering him to be tried on the Walker county indictment—on which he had not previously been tried—it set aside a judgment by Judge Frank Williford in Criminal District court of Harris county holding that if Lipscomb county did not claim custody of Traxler in 15 days, he should be discharged from all further restraint under the original Lipscomb county indictment.

It affirmed the order of District Judge Max Rogers of Walker county, remanding Traxler to the custody of the Fayette county sherill to answer the Walker county robbery charge.

Wife Of Noted Author Claims Dead Husband Has Written New Book

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (AP) — Mrs. Albert Payson Terhune says her dead husband talks to her often, and has written a book through her on what happens after death.

The noted author of animal stories, who died three years ago, used her as the instrument for setting down the words of the book, Mrs. Terhune said in an interview.

Terhune has been in constant communication with her since his death, declared the soft-spoken, gray-haired woman.

Mrs. Terhune said neither she nor her husband had taken an interest in spiritualism, but added that she was sure any person grieving for a loved one could communicate with him.

She said the book her husband wrote after death is entitled "Across The Line," adding that when he wrote through her, she took a pencil and held it lightly. The book will be published Oct. 27, she declared.

Houston Asks Mobile Radio-Phone System

HOUSTON, Oct. 17 (U.P.)—Permission to install 150 mobile radio-telephones in Houston was asked today by the Southwestern Bell Telephone company.

The company, which had already asked for authority to built a land radio-telephone station, made the request in a petition to the Federal Communications commission.

If granted the stations would serve public utilities, railroads, newspapers, express companies, ambulances an delectric protection companies.

To make leftover rolls palatable, sprinkle with some water and heat them in the top of a double boiler for ten minutes.

Secretary Released, Man Held In Death Of Michigan Woman

PONTIAC, Mich., Oct. 17 (U.P.)—Police released Mrs. Helen Budnik but continued to question her former employer, Louis V. Thompson, 48, today after studying results of lie detector tests given them in connection with the brutal slaying of Thompson's wealthy wife.

Sheriff Edward J. Thomas said Thompson's test had shown some "discrepancies" and he would be held pending further investigation of the murder of Mrs. Lydia Thompson whose nearly-decapitated body was found in a lonely marsh last Saturday.

Admitted Being Together

Mrs. Budnik, pretty young wife of an Army captain, said Mrs. Thompson was extremely jealous of her. She told Thomas that she had promised to give up seeing Thompson but he followed her to Miami where they lived in adjoining hotel rooms until a private detective hired by Mrs. Thompson discovered them.

She also admitted they had been together two nights since Mrs. Thompson was killed last Thursday.

Mrs. Thompson who became rich with her husband in expanding a Highland Park laundry into a large chain, was apparently stabbed with a hot ice pick by her slayer, police said. They said there were 13 stab wounds on her body. They reported finding a small hatchet near the place where her body was found by mushroom pickers.

Thomas said he believed the murder was committed by a thrill killer or someone seeking information about money or other valuables from Mrs. Thompson.

Lightning Strike Thrice?

YES ☐ NO ☐

Even if it scores a knockout first crack, lightning can still jolt the same spot some more! It often does. Another accurate weather fact is that you'll step up your aging car's chances this Winter by OIL-PLATING the engine's insides. You want Conoco N^th motor oil for this protective OIL-PLATING.

Conoco N^th oil's great wear-fighting method is this: it employs the magnet-like action of its added ingredient to make metal and lubricant join up! This creates OIL-PLATED surfaces—no longer all bare to frictional wear and corrosion. Hence there's less cause for carbon—sludge—breakdown. And surfaces kept OIL-PLATED even at a standstill are ready for quick safe Winter starts. Your engine and battery both say, "Conoco N^th for Winter—today!"

Yamashita's Coming Trial Works Into Newspaperman's Nightmare

By KENNETH L. DIXON
Associated Press Staff Writer

MANILA—The war crimes trial of Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, scheduled to open here Oct. 29, is working itself into strictly a newspaperman's nightmare.

Kenneth Dixon

There are no precedents governing the hearing before an American military commission. There is no pattern, there is no precedent. The rules will be written as the trial progresses.

Yamashita is being tried for his life on a charge that, as commander of Japanese troops in the Philippines, he is criminally responsible for atrocities committed by soldiers under his command. So far as can be learned, there is no law anywhere covering such a charge.

Few Similar Cases

There have been few similar cases.

Quisling? Lord Haw Haw? Petain? Laval? Those were pure treason trials with definite laws and ample precedent to guide them.

Then how about Lueneburg trials of concentration camp personnel? Or the trial which resulted in hanging three Germans for slaying an American airman? No good. Those people are tried or were tried for personal participation in particular crimes. There are thousands of atrocities charged to Yamashita's Army—but none to him personally.

What of the Nuernburg trials of top Nazis now on tap?

In the first place, they haven't been held. Secondly, they mostly concern direct orders given. The Japanese general's pending trial will concern orders he is accused of failing to give.

After the five American generals return their verdict and sentence, the decisions will be reviewed by General MacArthur. What, then?

Will defense counsel attempt to take the case to the American Supreme court or President? If so, will they get away with it? The prosecution doesn't know. The defense doesn't say.

The newspapermen simply must start from scratch and scramble like mad to keep pace with each unprecedented move and its meaning until Yamashita's fate is settled.

It is shaping up as a rather terrific headache for the newsmen.

But it is likely to terminate in a more practically terrific pain in the neck for Yamashita.

AAF To Open More Separation Centers

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 17 (AP) — Nine new Army Air Force separation centers have been set up in the Southwest to accelerate the Air Force discharge program, it was announced here today.

This brings to 41 the number of separation centers operated by the Army Air Forces over the country.

Only personnel stationed at the nine installations are eligible for processing at the bases. Separation will be made there regardless of the home destination of the men.

The new separation centers:

Russians To Get Most Of Finnish Newsprint

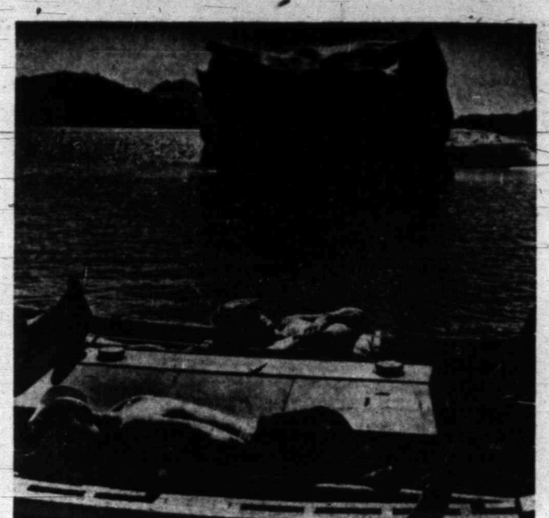

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 (U.P.)—Russia will get practically all the newsprint Finland is able to produce until next July 1 but after that date Finland wants to do business with the United States, the war production board said today.

Meanwhile, American newspapers are receiving slightly more paper during the final quarter of this year. The chief reason, the WBP said, is because North American mills will be relieved of shipping some 40,000 tons of newsprint abroad between now and next July.

A new outlook on the newsprint situation was reported by WPB based on the findings of the newsprint mission which visited Europe during July and August.

The mission's members were J. Hale Steinman, director of WPB's printing and publishing division; William G. Chandler, president of the American Newspaper Publishers association; Richard W. Slocum of The Philadelphia Bulletin, and George Larocque, technical assistant of the New York Daily News.

NLB Directives To Be Stopped Next Monday

DALLAS, Oct. 17 (U.P.) — The National War Labor board will go out of business Jan. 1, 1946, and will issue no more directives after next Monday, A. Langley Coffee, manager of the Eighth Regional WLB office, announced today.

Coffee said there are two exceptions to the order which was given to regional managers by Lloyd K. Garrison, acting chairman of WLB in Washington. The exceptions are, he said, pending appeal cases and cases where the parties to the dispute have jointly agreed to be bound by the board's decision.

The speaker pointed out that the WLB is making every effort to wind up its affairs by Dec. 18, but some regional boards and commissions with congested calendars probably would have to continue to the Jan. 1, 1946, deadline.

Eisenhower Raises Question On Communism's Future In Germany

By LOUIS F. KEEMLE
United Press Staff Writer

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower has raised, by inference, the question of whether the new Germany is apt to go Communist.

In his second monthly report on American occupation, Eisenhower shed some valuable light on political developments in Berlin. While Berlin is not a cross-section of all Germany, it is still looked upon as the capital and quite probably would be the seat of any central government which the Germans may be permitted to form.

Communists In Saddle

In Berlin, the American commander revealed, the Communists are in the saddle, holding most of the principal administrative posts and controlling the press and radio. However, he said, informal reports indicate that a fair and impartially supervised election in Berlin would not support the present Communist party dominance but would reveal relatively strong support going to the Social Democrats and the Christian Democratic union, in that order."

Nevertheless, Eisenhower reported that of the four parties which the Russians permitted to function in Berlin before the Americans took over their occupation sector, the Communists and less extreme leftists (Social Democrats) are the best organized and most active.

Building On Remnants

The Communists are building on the remnants of their old party, now able to show their colors and adhering to the principles laid down by Moscow. The Social Democratic party, although abolished under Hitler, also has a framework of adherents on which to build. The old party had a moderate, state socialistic program.

The other two parties, as described by Eisenhower, are new, drawing support from middle class, conservative bourgeois elements formerly associated with the center. They are called the Christian-Democratic union and the Liberal Democratic party. Neither is well-organized or aggressively active.

Swing Toward Left

Under such conditions, a political setup exists which tends naturally to swing the Germans toward the left. It is heartily encouraged by the Soviet authorities. For instance, Eisenhower disclosed that the Russians permit the Communist newspaper enough paper to print 200,000 copies, while the organs of the other parties get only enough for 100,000 apiece.

The future political complexion of Germany is of vast importance to all the Allies, since it will determine whether the country is to be democratized along Soviet or Western ideas or what constitutes democracy. So far, the Russians have had the jump.

Several Vital Issues

The other Allies meanwhile have been unable to make up their minds on a common attitude on several vital issues. They include these questions:

1. Shall Germany be permitted a central government now?
2. Shall the counfry be partitioned to prevent the formation of a new Reich?
3. Shall the Ruhr and Rhineland be separated permanently from Germany?
4. Shall German industry be restored, if it can be done without reviving her ability to make war, and her foreign trade resumed to put her on a self-supporting basis?

French Oppose Plan

The French are against a central government for the time being. They fear it might lead to another war-like Reich and prevent the separation of the Ruhr-Rhine. The French also probably feel that a central government might be in danger of becoming Communist-dominated.

Britain and the United States have not taken an unequivocal position on any of these matters. Until they do, the stabilization of Europe is only that much more delayed.

Vets Administration Opens Office Here

Offering advice and assistance in executing forms, and developing evidence neecessary to claims, along with such other possible aid, an office of the Veterans administration, with George A. Sessums in charge, has been opened in rooms 703-4-5 in Lubbock National Bank building here.

Sessums, who said the office will be open from 8 a. m., to 4:30 p. m. daily except Sunday, will interview veterans or their representatives regarding geenral information pertaining to disability and death compensation, hospitalization, out-patient service, government insurance, vocational rehabilitation, education or training, guaranty of loans, readjustment allowances, and other benefits to which veterans or their dependents may be entitled.

TAX PLAN BOOSTED

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 17. (U.P.)—The principle of withholding taxes was called sound today in a committee report of the 16th annual meeting of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, but repeal of the capital stock tax and declared value excess profit tax was urged.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (AP)—Cotton futures rallied $1.25 to $1.55 a bale into new seasonal high ground today in broad trading.

Buying was partly influenced by reports in the trade that the price parity measure has better chances of adoption. Other supporting influences were the poor crop prospects, expectations that exports will increase in the near future with the completion of foreign credit arrangements and the belief that the pressure for higher wages will boost prices.

Traders ignored a weekly weather report on the theory that it is too late in the season to change materially prospects of a sharp decline in production.

Wall Street

STOCKS STAGE RALLY

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (AP)—John L. Lewis put props under a shaky stock market today when he called off the six-state soft coal strike considered one of the most serious threats to reconversion.

Prices were uneven from the start but around midday announcement of the labor decree quickly changed the picture. Steels led the comeback, followed by rails, liquors, utilities, rubbers and gold mines. Gains, running to more than three points at the best, were reduced or canceled in numerous cases at the close although plus signs had the better of the argument. Volume totaled 1,800,000 shares compared with 1,630,000 Tuesday.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was up .1 of a point at 72.6, equalling the recent high since March 17, 1937. Utilities touched a top since March 10, 1937.

At peaks for 1945 or longer were U. S. Steel, Goodrich, U. S. Rubber, Electric Power and Light, Schenley, National Distillers, South American Gold and Platinum and Curtiss-Wright "A." Commonwealth and Southern, coming out on deals of as much as 15,000 shares, again was the liveliest sprinter but finished unchanged at 1⅞.

On the offside were Sears Roebuck, Allied Chemical, Western Union "A," International Telephone, Kennecott and U. S. Gypsum.

Bonds were spotty.

Four Seek Post As City Manager Here

Mayor O. W. Ribble has reported satisfactory progress in the city's search for a new city manager.

The resignation of City Manager Marlin R. Smith, submitted to the city commission a few weeks ago, becomes effective Dec. 1.

Four applications for the position had been received, the mayor said. All are from out-of-town residents, he added.

"We have had applications from some good men—two of them excellent men," Mayor Ribble said.

The mayor in effect, scotched rumors that at least two Lubbock men had applied for the post.

Smith intends to enter a private engineering business, he said at the submission of his resignation.

dreft IS BACK!"

"Now I can again enjoy the WASHING MIRACLES no soap could ever give me!"

WORKS WONDERS FOR
Silks, Woolens, Dishes

The big news millions of women have been waiting for is here! DREFT IS BACK! Yes, Dreft, the amazing Suds Discovery that performs washing miracles no soap could ever do! Makes your dishes shine without wiping! . . . Washes stockings sheerer-looking, lovelier! . . . Keeps your nice new woolens softer, fluffier than even the most expensive soap flakes could. And look . . .

- Leaves no greasy film to streak dishes
- Gives faster suds
- No soapy deposit to harshen woolens
- Gives 5 times more suds than soap in hardest water
- Even glasses sparkle without wiping
- Rich suds even in ice water

DISHES SHINE WITHOUT WIPING!

No soap ever made can perform the dishwashing miracles Dreft can! It makes dishes shine without wiping. That's because Dreft's amazing suds rinse absolutely clear—leave no streaks or cloudiness the way all soaps do. Even glasses sparkle—without touching a towel to them!

STOCKINGS
LOOK SHEER AS NEW!

Dreft leaves no soap film to heavy-up hose and cloud their beauty. No wonder legs look slimmer, more attractive in stockings washed with Dreft. What's more, colors stay fresh far longer than with any soap. There's no soap-fading ever! Use Dreft and keep your stockings looking lovelier—sheer as new!

NEW WOOLENS
WASH SOFTER, FLUFFIER!

Woolens are a joy when washed with Dreft. Because Dreft's amazing suds rinse absolutely clear. No soap deposit to harshen woolens and dim their colors. Lovely new sweaters and baby things stay soft and fluffy far longer than with even the most expensive soap flakes.

LINGERIE
STAYS COLOR-FRESH LONGER THAN EVER BEFORE!

Lingerie stays so color-bright and fresh when washed with Dreft! There's no soap-fading to make undies look all washed out! Dreft keeps your nice things brighter than any soap could ever do!

Irma Grese Confesses To Beating Prisoners In Concentration Camp

By CHARLES WIGHTON
United Press Staff Writer

LUENEBURG, Oct. 17—Blonde Irma Grese, her arrogant defiance turning to rage under a searching cross examination, admitted today that she beat prisoners while she was an SS guard at Nazi concentration camps.

"I have beaten prisoners, but I never mistreated them," Irma finally shouted as Prosecutor Col. T. M. Backhouse crowded her with questions at the trial of 45 Nazi guards and commandants of the Belsen and Oswiecim camps.

Admits Love Affair

Several times Backhouse flatly accused her of lying. Sometimes she evaded his questions or snapped "You can think what you like." She laughed derisively when Backhouse asked her about using a whip on the prisoners.

Irma admitted that she went from Oswiecim to Belsen because of a love affair with an SS warrant officer who was transferred between the two camps.

When Backhouse first asked her about the beating of prisoners, she complained, "I wish you would stop saying it was done regularly."

Blurts Out Confession

"I suggest you gloried in your jackboot and pistol and whip," Backhouse said.

"I shouldn't say gloried," she retorted.

Then she finally blurted out her admission, waving her hands and stammering over her words in an enraged babble.

Under further questioning she admitted venomously that she "kept order" when victims at Oswiecim were picked for mass slaughter in the gas chambers.

Irma said she changed her hairdress while she was in jail awaiting trial. Bockhouse charged that several defendants tried to change their appearance so the witnesses could not identify them.

Vet's Army Career Is Charted On $1 Which Follows Him To Death

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind., Oct. 17. (U.P.)—Back in 1943, Sherman Baker bet his best friend $1 he couldn't pass his Army examination. "You're on," Charles Harmon replied.

Thus began the mysterious saga of a $1 bill that made its way half way round the globe and back again.

Harmon passed his physical examination with flying colors and Baker paid off—with a crisp, new $1 bill. The new soldier promised to keep the bill as long as he lived.

Bill Got Around

To commemorate the occasion, a fellow worker at the R. R. Donnelley & Sons printing plant inscribed on the bill, "Harmon of Donnelleys—from Sam." Sam was Baker's nickname.

From then on, the bill became a record of Harmon's travels. With each change of address, he made a notation on the bill.

Within a few months time, the bill was crowded with the dated record of Harmon's Army career—Fort Harrison, Fort Bragg, Fort Riley, Camp Kilmeand, later, Scotland, England, France, Germany, Luxembourgh and Belgium.

Owner Was Killed

Last week, the bill showed up mysteriously in Crawfordsville. Someone—no one knows who—spent it at the Crawfordsville Electric Light and Power Co., then a clerk traded it for an unmarked bill to Robert Barton, who knew its history and gave it back to Baker.

Baker recognized the bill immediately. The places and dates, he said, coincided with Harmon's Army travels — even to the last notation, "Belgium, Jan. 29, 1945," scrawled on a corner in ink four days before Private First Class Harmon was fatally wounded by a German artilleryman's bullet.

Mrs. S. M. Hunter Is Death Victim In City

Mrs. S. M. Hunter, 57, died early Wednesday afternoon in West Texas hospital as result of a cerebral hemorrahage a few minutes after her husband found her near death on a bed in her 2218 Twenty-first residence. Plans for services were not completed last night.

Sanders ambulance rushed her to the hospital after her physician had gone to the home.

Mrs. Hunter had only recently returned from a trip to the East to visit with her son Marvin, a lieutenant stationed aboard a large aircraft carrier at Newport News Va.

Other survivors are the husband and three daughters, Mrs. Don Reeder, wife of the chief of police, of 2404 Ave. T; Mrs. Glenn W. Woody of 2613 Twenty-sixth, and Mrs. Edward E. Sneller, of 2612 Twenty-seventh, wife of a warrant officer in the U. S. Army who arrived in New York Tuesday aboard the Queen Mary; three brothers, B. T. and George Sublett of Merkel, and V. B. Sublett of Corpus Christi; a sister, Mrs. W. J. Hayes of Merkel.

Mrs. Hunter was a member of Asbury Methodist church and vice-president of the Awakened Wesleyan class there. She and her husband moved here three years ago from Merkel.

Sanders Funeral home will announce funeral plans.

One-Day Airmail Plan Is Sought For South

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 (AP) — One-day airmail service to Washington and New York for small communities of East Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi is visualized by members of Congress from the four states.

Rep. Brooks (D-La) is leader of a group of House members from southeastern states who will urge Postmaster General Robert Hannegan to recommend the service to The Civil Aeronautics board.

Two Youths Are Held In Seven Robberies

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Oct. 17. (U.P.) — Albuquerque police today were holding two youths who assertedly have confessed their part in seven robberies.

The pair, 16 and 17 years old, were arrested early yesterday when they attempted to enter the Albuquerque Engraving Co.

Police reported the pair signed statements admitting the robbery of several Albuquerque businesses. They will be turned over to juvenile authorities, according to the police.

Never Gets Hungry, Thirsty or Tired Doesn't sound natural. It isn't. But this mechanical horse sure looks natural on the screen, when the hero bends over the flying mane (false hair) and spurs his steed (mechanical) on to the rescue of the gal. At these moments, Red O'Hare, left, steps on the gas, the "horse" snorts (sound effect) and gallops at eighty-five miles an hour, or whatever speed the movie script calls for. You'll see how it's done in the new 1945 Dr. Pepper "Hollywood Mini-Tour" color movie which explains how close-ups of a galloping horse are made. Nice fooling!

Everybody Gets Hungry, Thirsty and Tired That goes for Red O'Hare, Martha Mears, Dr. Pepper's own radio star, and for Deuce Spriggins, the rider of Mechanical Mike. They've just filmed an exciting "chase" sequence with the imitation nag. Now—no fooling—they want the real thing . . . a frosty-cold Dr. Pepper. Before there were movies, tangy Dr. Pepper was pepping up hungry, thirsty, tired people. No doubt you're one of today's millions who "drink a bite to eat" at 10, 2 and 4 o'clock . . . or ANY TIME YOU'RE HUNGRY, THIRSTY OR TIRED.

Bowles Says Certain Commodities Must Remain Under OPA Control

By RAYMOND LAHR
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 — Price Administrator Chester Bowles believes that price controls must be retained on choice cuts of beef, sugar, canned fruits and fats and oils through next spring, it was disclosed today.

His forecast on when OPA controls could be relaxed was contained in a letter dated Oct. 1, to the House Appropriations committee.

Some May Be Exempt

"Although control of good and choice cuts of beef must be continued through spring of 1946," Bowles wrote, "there is reasonable possibility of suspension of controls of low-quality, utility, stew and processed meats during the grass-fed cattle run.

"Sugar, canned fruits and fats and oils will probably be controlled through June, 1946."

Bowles said that with few exceptions—such as eggs, potatoes and some vegetables—most food controls must be maintained through next winter. About April 1, he said, controls probably can be dropped on such foods as milk and certain other dairy products, fish and many canned vegetables.

For Other Classes

For other classes of price controls, Bowles forecast:

Consumer goods — consideration can be given to removing controls over clothing and textiles by April 1; the supply and demand of most durable consumer goods will not be in balance so controls can be removed before next June.

Service and transportation—"beginning Jan. 1, and probably effective by April 1, controls may be removed from important services such as laundries, dry cleaning, etc. Continuation of resaurant control will be geared with food price control and probably will be continued through early spring, 1946."

Industrial Goods

Industrial—"By Jan. 1, consideration will be given removal of control on certain basic materials, machines, etc., for which the military demand was large and the substitute civilian demand considerable less."

Rents—Controls will be dropped by next June 30 in about 150 areas, most of them relatively small, where ceilings were imposed because of the development of military establishments. Pressure against rent ceilings, particularly in large cities, "will unquestionably continue for some time." Congress must determine how long controls will be retained since OPA authority expires next June 30 under existing law.

Snyder Says Workers Must Get More Money

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 17. (AP)—Reconversion Director John W. Snyder warned today that the entire national economy will suffer if labor does not get "more money" to assure a high standard of living.

He did not propose any specific amount of wage increases. But he told a group of Connecticut manufacturers that a large segment of labor had undergonee pay cut of 23 per cent since V-J day. Many big labor groups are now demanding 30 per cent increases.

Big Cut Is Seen

In his second major speech in two days on postwar wage policies, Snyder pointed out that wartime prices remain unchanged while thousands of workers, through loss of overtime, were taking home 23 per cent less money than they did during the war.

"The take-home prices of the essentials of life stays high; the workers' take-home pay has fallen," he said.

"Squeezed in that vise, the worker can do only two things; either he gets more money or he has to reduce his standard of living. With a reduced standard of living, he will buy less, the purchasing power of the market will suffer — and manufacturers will feel it ultimately in reduced orders.

"Our economy is so closely interlocking that no segment can suffer for long without the rest of us feeling the pinch."

Final Plans Made For Navy Flower Services

CORPUS CHRISTI, Oct. 17 (AP)—Corpus Christi has been named the official Texas port where the Navy will scatter flowers on the water in the traditional Navy Day Sunday ceremony Oct. 21, honoring men who lost their lives at set.

Charles Roster, Texas co-chairman for Navy Day, said Texans are invited to participate and may send one flower for each person he or she wishes to honor.

They are to be sent to the Senior Naval Chaplain, Naval Air Training base, care of the shoreline use, Corpus Christi.

The ceremony will be held at the waterfront Sunday afternoon.

Gunshot Wounds Are Fatal To Ranchman

PARIS, Oct. 17 (AP)—Willis Edward Click, 40, Fort Towson, Okla., rancher, died last night in a Paris hospital of gunshot wounds, inflicted Monday near Wright City, Okla.

E. E. Cochran, assistant McCurtain county attorney, said charges will be filed against a 75-year-old man who surrendered following the shooting. Cochran said a dispute over a bridle preceded the shooting.

Westerners Keep Up Tough Scrimmage For Eagle Clash

For the third day in a row, Coaches Dixie White and George Philbrick dished up tough scrimmake sessions for the Lubbock Westerners, as the team prepares for Friday night's battle at Tech stadium with the Abilene Eagles.

Head knocking went right on during the afternoon showers, and the team worked until dark to perfect a batter defense and passing game, two prime factors that led to their 21 to 19 defeat last Friday night at Borger.

The linemen were showing up better much better Wednesday afternoon, but the rain made the passing appear rather sloppy when the ball began to get too wet for good handling. But Coaches White and Philbrick believe their aerial attack will be much more potent this week than at any other time during the season.

There continued to be some doubt as to how much John Lanham, regular fullback, and John Paul Jones, regular quarterback, will be able to play against the Eagles, but it is hoped that both will see action. Wayne Cobb, the other regular who missed the Borger game, will be ready to step back into his tackle post.

E. J. "Pinkey" Lowrey, athletic director, said Wednesday night that ticket sales for the Abilene game has been brisk this week, indicating a big turnout for the battle. Tickets are on sale in Lowrey's office at the Senior High school building, just inside the main entrance.

Bowers Named Eagle Co-Captain Friday

David Bowers, letterman guard of the Abilene Eagles, and grandson of Mrs. K. Carter, 1410 Ave. L, pioneer Lubbock family, has been named, along with Lloyd King, quarterback, as co-captains for the Eagles in their game with the Lubbock Westerners at Tech stadium Friday night.

Reports from Abilene indicate that the Eagles escaped the Odessa battle last week without any serious injury ,and expect to be in top shape for the Lubbock tilt.

Coach Jake Bentley indicated that he had mapped out a rugged schedule for the week for his Eaggles, and tabbed them for plenty of work to get ready for this game.

The Eagles are reported to have a heavy line, and a light, but fast backfield. The Eagle backfield, touted in pre-season dope sheets as "the fastest backfield in Texas" has been living up to this rating, and will offer the Westerners plenty of trouble.

Abernathy Juniors Defeat Cowboys Red

The Abernathy Juniors powered over the Lubbock Cowboys Red team Wednesday afternoon, and hung up an 18 to 0 victory in a game that was played between showers at the Lubbock field.

The heavier Abernathy club showed too much power for the light, but scrappy Cowboys. Two touchdowns were scored by sheer power, with a pass setting up the third, and it was pushed over by superior manpower.

Sucre, Bolivia, was founded in 1538 by the Spaniards as an advance post for their treasure hunting expedition into the interior.

Promise To Older Brother Spurs On Tech's Sub Center

When Dalton Cleckler, All-Valley guard for two years, left his Weslaco home in 1942 for the Army he told his 'kid brother: "James, carry on for me at Tech if I don't come back."

James promised and he's carrying out that pledge in fine style as a member of the Texas Tech Red Raiders. Dalton was killed a year ago in Germany.

James was All-Valley center for two years, carrying on for his brother who always talked of going to Texas Tech and being a star there.

The kid brother enrolled this fall and has developed so fast he is playing nearly half of each game as relief for Co-Captain Otis Turner, member of the mighty Wink high school teams of a few years ago and rated high at Tech.

Young Cleckler is a vicious tackler. He's considered smart in setting up the defense and has proven his line-backing ability against the Texas Aggies, Texas Longhorns and Tulsa Hurricane.

"My brother made me promise, and I'm doing the best I can to do what I know he would have done for Tech," Jim says.

When the football season is over Cleckler plans to start training for the Golden Gloves. For the past two years at Harlingen, Tex., he went to the finals as a middleweight in the open class. Each time he was out-pointed.

Cleckler spent a short time in the Army, but a hip injured in football brought his discharge.

He's 19 years old, started the season weighing 170 pounds and has gained five more, and stands five feet, 10½ inches tall. Last spring he won third place in the Valley shotput. He's the son of B. C. Cleckler of Weslaco.

Thompson Pays Off In Shift To Fullback

ODESSA, Oct. 17 (AP)—In desperation Coach Clayton Hopkins shoved J. W. Thompson into the fullback spot one day last fall and Odessa High school hasn't lost a football game since.

Quite the rage in West Texas is this big fellow who shifted from blocking back to a position where he could better carry the ball.

In four games this season he has rolled up 538 yards and 60 points and is Texas' high scorer to date.

Hopkins switched from the single wing to the T formation and sent the 185-pound Thompson in at fullback. The third time he ran with the ball, "Ducklegs" as he is known by his teammates, raced 80 yards to a touchdown.

Since then he's been roaming West Texas gridirons virtually at will.

Against Lubbock in the season opener he racked three touchdowns and wound up the evening's work by passing for another. Against El Paso High he counted two line plays inside the five, had one long gallop nullified by a penalty and set up another score with a 44-yard run. Last week against Abilene he broke loose on a 65-yard touchdown jaunt and took a pass and ran 45 for another, while a 75-yard canter was called back due to a teammate being in motion.

The statistical record does not tell the story of his generally fine all-around play which includes linebacking chores and turning in some devastating blocking.

A little on the stocky side, Thompson handles his 185 pounds exceptionally well and has a way of getting past a defensive back before it is realized that he really is traveling fast. He is under full steam in three strides.

In addition to being a top football player, he's a sprinter on the track team and also participates in basketball.

He finishes high school this year and indicates he'll go either to Texas Tech or Texas A. and M.

Red Raiders Get Set For Baylor

With the seventh meeting between Texas Tech's Red Raiders and the Baylor Bears only a matter of a few days away, Coach Dell Morgan began to put the pressure on the Raiders to whip them into shape for the year's third meeting with Southwest conference foes.

The game Saturday night at Tech stadium will offer both schools the chance to grab the edge in the series, which now shows three victories for each club.

Started In 1929

The series started back in 1929, with Baylor winning 34 to 0 over the Red Raiders. There was no game in 1930, but the series was resumed in 1931 with Baylor winning again, 32 to 0.

The Red Raiders broke the Baylor jinx in 1932 with a 14 to 2 win, and evened the series the next year with a 13 to 0 win. Tech took the edge in the series in 1934 with a 14-7 win over the Golden Bears, and again the series was dropped.

The Baylor-Tech rivalry was revived in 1942, with Baylor evening the count, 14 to 7, then the Bears dropped football for the duration, and football and Texas Tech games are revived this season with the battle Saturday night.

In the six games played, Baylor holds an all-time scoring edge over Texas Tech, 89 to 48.

Duel Of Fullbacks

The seventh battle of this series is expected to develop into another individual duel between a pair of great fullbacks, with the freshman sensation of Baylor, Sammy Pierce of Vernon, pitted against Walt Schlinkman, senior star of Texas Tech, and from Dumas.

Pierce is paving the Southwest conference ground gainers with 368 yards in 39 carries for an average of 9.4 per try.

Schlinkman has been kept pretty well to the sidelines this week, pretty well battered from the Tulsa game, but it is hoped that the Dumas Atomizer will be ready to step by Saturday night.

Schlinkman's Record

Opponents of the Red Raiders have been added praise of Walter Schlinkman's kicking to praise of his running in discussing this All-America candidate of the Southwest.

Schlinkman kicked 29 times for 892 yards, an average of 33, in the first four games of the season, and only 14 of them were returned. The average return is 13 yards. Six times the ball has gone out of bounds inside the 10-yard stripe. Three times it has rolled dead inside the five. Sixteen of the boots have been quick-kicks.

The chunky 190-pound Schlinkman has scored all of Tech's 14 points in three defeats and one victory and has averaged 7.5 yards in his 52 rushing efforts. He piled up 395 of Tech's 624 yards from scrimmage, despite admitted efforts of opposing Southwestern, Texas A. and M., Texas university and Tulsa to halt him. He's intercepted two passes and return four punts 119 yards.

So impressive has been Schlinkman's performance that Coach Henry Frnka of Tulsa told the officials last week-end: "I'll trade my whole backfield for Schlinkman—and that's ten men for one."

Baseball Starts On Big Expansion Boom

NEW YORK, Oct. 17. (AP)—Baseball appears ready for its biggest expansion boom since the golden days of the late 1920s with 10 "suspended" minor leagues already back in the fold and at least 10 more new circuits due to face the barrier.

Latest unofficial figure from the National Association of Minor Leagues revealed 3,784 ball players on the national defense service list. An additional 874 were included on the voluntarily retired roles, made up largely of athletes who had left the game for defense jobs.

Highest classification league to be reinstated is the Texas League in A-1, the only circuit in that level now that the Southern Association has been upped to double A. A wholesale revival in Class B will find the South Atlantic (Sally), Southeastern, Three-I and Western International dusting off their turnstiles.

The Canadian American, Western Association and Poineer circuits will re-open in Class C and early Class D planners are the Georgia - Florida and the Florida State with several more expected to take definite shape during the winter.

Although the renewal or rewriting of the major-minor league agreement is expected to be in the main business at the minors' convention in Columbus, Dec. 5-7, charting the future courses of the many reinstated and new leagues will be of utmost importantce.

WT-NW PLANS FOR EARLY LEAGUE MEET

Plans are fast shaping up for the first meeting of the West Texas-New Mexico League, with the meeting likely to be called within the next few weeks Sam Rosenthal, owner of the Lubbock Hubbers, said last night.

Rosenthal receive a telephone call from officials in Clovis, N. M., yesterday, stating that local officials had just completed a meeting, and appointed delegates to the first meeting of the league, as soon as such a meeting is called.

Rosenthal then contacted officials in Lamesa, and learned that baseball leaders in that city had "cleared the deck" for the start of baseball, and were awaiting the calling of the meeting.

Word has already been received from Albuquerque that officials in that city are anxious to come into the West Texas-New Mexico League, and are also waiting the first meeting of the loop.

An Avalanche-Journal reporter was assured by Bob Seeds at Amarillo, that his club was ready to go. Seeds also stated that Borger and Pampa baseball officials are ready, and were only awaiting the go-ahead signal from League President Milton Price at Dallas.

Abilene has shown a great interest in the return of professional baseball to their city, and Rosenthal said Wednesday night that he was looking forward to a likely chance to "talk baseball" with Hal Sayles, sports editor of the Reporter-News in Abilene, and chief backer of the Abilene delegation. Sayles is expected to be in Lubbock Friday, attending the Abilene-Lubbock schoolboy football game.

Hereford Next Test For Littlefield Club

HEREFORD, Oct 17. (Special).—Where an irresistable force meets an immovable object, there is bound to be fireworks, or something of like nature.

That appears to be the case in the Class A grid classic scheduled here Friday night when Coach J. S. Fikes brings his rampaging Littlefield Wildcats to town to battle Hereford's undefeated, untied and unscored on grid greats.

Hereford, one of the top favored teams in Region One, has a perfect record for the season, and shows a steady improvement in play. Hereford rolled over Olton, 25 to 0, beat Panhandle 19 to 0, then started to roll with a 45 to 0 win over Friona, and last week battered down Dalhart, 60 to 0.

Hereford fans agree that a score over Hereford would be a moral victory, while holding Littlefield to less than 30 points is considered a moral victory in Region Two.

The battle between these two free scoring Class A powers is expected to make standing room a scalper's dream at the Hereford stadium, and more than 3,000 fans are expected.

Littlefield has been scored on—twice—but only the powerful Lobos from Levelland has held the Wildcats below the "moral victory" level of 30 points.

In five games, Littlefield has scored wins over Dimmitt by 76 to 6, Floydada 85 to 0, Morton 46 to 0, Olton 45 to 6, and Levelland by a 27 to 0 score. A record of 279 to their opponents 12. The Hereford record is 149 points to the opponents 0.

Ellsworth Reported Enroute To Texas

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 17 (AP)—Ralph Ellsworth of San Antonio, Tex., star halfback for Navy last year, has resigned from the Naval Academy to return to the University of Texas, where he made All-Southwest conference backfield in 1943, unofficial sources disclosed today.

The Naval Academy withheld confirmation of Ellsworth's departure over the last week-end, but it was understood his resignation had been formally accepted by the Navy Department. Ellsworth was a member of the Navy's second team backfield.

The fleet 176-pound halfback, a track star as well as a football standout under Dana X. Bible at the University of Texas, was expected to begin working out almost immediately with the Lone Star outfit.

Ellsworth, a second classman, was due to graduate in June, 1947.

The womens club championship golf tournament was brought to a close Wednesday afternoon at the Lubbock Country club, with Mrs. J. H. Stiles winning the club championship with a 6 and 4 victory over Mrs. Morley Jennings in the championship finals.

Mrs. Jennings was tournament medalist.

Mrs. W. F. Helwig gained the consolation title in the championship bracket, winning by default from Mrs. Bill Freeman.

Mrs. Sam Strong was crowned champion in the nine-hole flight, winning in the finals over Mrs. Charles G. Hoyt, 3 and 1. The consolation title went to Mrs. Walter Granberry, with a 3 and 1 victory over Mrs. John Markham in the finals.

Cowboys White Beat Petersburg, 40-12

PETERSBURG, Oct. 17—Clicking in the style expected of him in the early season dope charts, Charley Williams paced Coach Russell Wimberley's Cowboys Whites from Lubbock rolled over the Petersburg Juniors here this afternoon, 40 to 12.

Running off the T formation, Williams romped to four touchdowns during the game, most of them on lengthy gallops. Williams scored his first tally in the first frame, sweeping end for 40 yards to score. Late in the first half, he went off tackle for 20 yards and six more points. Lindsey counted another touchdown for the visitors, and ran over one extra point to give Lubbock a 19-0 lead at the half.

In the third quarter, Petersburg blocked a Lubbock punt, and a few plays later, Dupre powered over for a touchdown. Dupre also scored the other Petersburg touchdown, romping 15 yards in the fading minutes of the game.

Williams got away for touchdown sprints of 50 and 45 yards in the last half, and Pat Wallace countered the last one on a 20-yard journey to pay dirt.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 16 (U.P.)—Jack Dempsey, former world's heavyweight champion, was in Johns Hopkins hospital today for a checkup on a stomach ailment. Doctors at the hospital said it was a "routine" examination.

Billy Conn Refuses To Sign For Louis

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (AP)—A lot of firecrackers went off around promoter Mike Jacobs' beak-busting headquarters today, and the loudest of all was a flat refusal by Billy Conn to sign for his scheduled heavy-weight title fight next June with Joe Louis.

The last time Billy signed for a Louis fight—in 1941—his manager, Johnny Ray, wouldn't approve the contracts until Jacobs lifted Conn's percentage of the gate, causing Mike to scream "you're breaking both my legs." Today, Ray beefed only over the clause barring Conn from any exhibition or tune-up tussles before the Louis go.

The little blond pilot who built Conn up from a frail kid off the streets of Pittsburgh into the belter who came closest to taking Louis' title, wants Billy to have three tune-ups before meeting the Bomber again. Johnny said he agreed verbally with co-promoter Freddy Sommers this afternoon to have Billy box an exhibition with Al Patterson of Pittsburgh, in Kansas City auditorium November 7. And Sommers said the referee for the exhibition will be Louis.

FAUROT DUE OUT

COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 17 (AP)—Orders for the release from Navy service of Lieut. Comdr. Don Faurot, head football coach at the University of Missouri from 1935 through the 1942 season, are being prepared, university officials were advised today.

That man's a hero if he's wearing a service ribbon of silk moire with stripes of blue, white, blue, white, red, white, blue, white, blue in that order. This ribbon indicates the wearer has been awarded the Silver Star by the War Department for distinguishing himself by "gallantry in action."

Reform For Criminals

Federal Bill Offers New Plan

SOCIETY seems never to have made up its mind whether the functions of its penal institutions is to punish or reform.

Should the pereptrator of a crime be made to regret by application of stern treatment the deed he has committed, or should he be nursed along in a manner designed to re-mould him into an acceptable member of society?

Certainly the latter course is more commendable, yet no effective, general program has been made toward its attainment. A great many people have kidded themselves along that the prisons have been doing a job of citizen building, despite overwhelming evidence to the contrary.

At the outset, it should be realized that not all lawbreakers are suitable material for re-modeling. You have on one hand the incorrigible criminal, and on the other the first offender who may have potentialities for good. Treatment for one is not treatment for the other.

Whether to punish or reform, it is plain the prisons have fallen down on their jobs.

SUPPOSING that in Texas, we incarcerate to punish, we have botched the job because in many cases we do not punish enough, due principally to a loose clemency system.

For instance, an offender in this state can cut 20 days a month off his sentence for good behavior. Therefore, a lawbreaker with a 25-year sentence stands a fair opportunity of getting out in nine years, if he behaves himself. A smart criminal will walk the chalk line.

Under the present policy, a clean record will make eligible for release a man under three life terms after only 19 years of "time."

When the work of juries and the courts is thus frustrated, the prospect of "going to the pen" offers slight deterrent to the would-be lawbreaker.

In Lubbock as in other cities of the state, officers say that a major part of the more serious crimes are done by ex-convicts and former inmates of reform institutions. As an example, five peace officers have been killed in Texas this year by paroled convicts.

A "TIGHTENING UP" of the Texas clemency system has been in order for years. Finally, an important step in that direction was taken when a sweeping investigation of the system was launched recently by the Texas Police association, the state organization of sheriffs and the Texas division of the International Association for Identification. The officers will make recommendations for improvement to Governor Stevenson.

Either the statutes should be changed or a tougher application should be adopted by the pardon and parole board. In the past, the board has been prone to succumb too readily to the tearful pleas of mothers and wives and the political pressure exerted by "prominent" citizens. Surely some sort of clemency is desirable, but it should be granted only on the basis of qualities the prisoner has for good citizenship.

Without revolutionizing the whole prison set-up, prison reform will continue as an idealistic bubble. Bars and high walls alone will not accomplish it. And it is difficult to get away from the factor of environment.

PERHAPS application of reform measures before the subject is placed in prison is one way. Such a program of pre-prison attention is embodied in a bill introduced in Congress by Sen. Harley Kilgore and Rep. Francis E. Walter. It is called the Federal Corrections bill.

The proposal advocates the principle of the delayed sentence. Upon conviction, a general, indeterminate sentence would be assessed. For a period of, say, six months in the local jail, the lawbreaker would be subject to study by doctors, psychiatrists, clergymen and other experts. The study would be to determine if the subject possesses qualifications for a law-abiding life. The examiners would then make recommendations to the judge who would act on them accordingly.

The bill's supporters, including former Attorney General Francis Biddle, hope that if the measure is approved and proves successful in the handling of federal prisoners, state legislatures will adopt its principles.

It augurs well for making reform an actuality. Perhaps we are on the way to deciding which course to take, and making it work, an "eye for an eye" or building new character.

Attention, blondes: "Wanted — Home wreckers; short hours, excellent pay." — Classified ad. in Chicago paper.

It seems to be a matter of choice with a person who has cold feet. He makes every effort to avoid getting into hot water.

With reference to war, the adage, "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," is a gross understatement.

BOARDING SCHOOL ADVENTURE

VIII

AFTER father returned to Canada he wrote suggesting that I should have a different sort of life for a while and very justly pointed out that a young girl must have companions of her own age to work off high spirits in games; that he thought I should attend a good English school and he was willing to make a sacrifice financially to send me to one.

The school father had chosen was at Reading on the Thames, advertised in the best magazines as "a school for the daughters of gentlemen." It was also one of the most expensive places, and father cabled quite a lot of money for the term.

On my second afternoon there we were to go riding. An old beery-looking man turned up with a cluster of rather seedy horses and proceeded to show me what to do with mine. Of course, I told him I was a professional rider—had been at Olympia, and so on. This created such a stir among the girls, who crowded around me to listen open-mouthed, that it took him half an hour to get started. I was not as a rule inclined to show off, but when we got to a stretch of land they called the "common," I got the mediocre horse I was riding to gallop and left the entire party behind. A beautiful sorrel mare belonging to a girl I particularly disliked had some ginger in her and started to cut up: the girl couldn't hold her, and the old man had his hands full. I left them at it and had a good ride for some miles till I realized I had no idea where I was or how to get back. It was quite late when I did arrive, and there was a scene.

Three or four of the older girls were still in their riding clothes, eagerly awaiting the "bawling out" they hoped I would get: they probably listened outside the door to the office while I was in there talking to the Heads. We had what is described in the English classics as "high words." I was not to come down for supper, they would write to my mother, I was utterly incorrigible. . . .

When I started upstairs, the Heads shooed the girls after me—and as I walked up the wide polished staircase I heard my bete noire make a very insulting remark about "gypsies" and "circus tramps." I don't remember exactly what it was—but it was enough. I turned as they came up and handed her a beautiful right to the jaw—I had had considerable experience with the Ograinsky kids and knew how to hold my own. The blow sent the girl backwards down the polished stairs; screams rent the air and they picked her up with a tooth knocked out and some bruises. I was locked in my room.

It was about 8 o'clock—I had heard the gong go for the dinner at 7:30 and knew they were all in the dining room. I changed my clothes rapidly, got out of the window, crawled through the next window into a dormitory, and tiptoed down a small service staircase which led to the back of the school. All I had was a few shillings, but I knew it was just about enough to get me to London.

WHEN I walked in on grandmama, to my surprise, she was charmed to see me. I started my story by mentioning my reason for hitting the girl on the stairs—stressing the insult to the gypsies and the circus. In the middle of this the telephone rang, and one of the Heads on the other end poured out the story of my misdeeds. As soon as grandmama told her I was safe at home, she said I was incorrigible, and of course persona non grata at the school; that the parents of the young lady I had injured were arriving post-haste, to bring action for assault and battery, etc., etc. . . . Grandmama got so bored with it after a while, she did not even listen.

Father had to lose most of the money he had paid for me, in the end—between the Heads claiming I had ruined the reputation of their school, and the parents of the wretched girl declaring her looks had been spoiled by the loss of a front tooth and wanting to prosecute. It was all finally settled out of court by a lawyer.

The next day I learned the reason for grandmama's strange gracious behavior. Being very bored alone in London, she had gone to see all her theatrical friends and had heard that Pavlova, then playing New York, was looking for dancers for a six-month tournee, taking in the winter season in South America and returning via Mexico. Pavlova knew and respected grandmama as a great artist when she was in her prime, and had seen her work in Russia. Grandmama felt that she would engage me for the corps de ballet upon her recommendation.

How she got all the fast action that followed—at her age—I don't know, but she immediately cabled Pavlova's managers in New York and got a cabled contract for me to dance in the Pavlova company in the South American tournee, which was to be a six-month engagement. She had passages booked for Montevideo on the S. S. Infanta Isabella de Bourbon.

At the last minute grandmama had to go to Granada for family and financial juggling, and had arranged to take the boat when it stopped at Cadiz. But whatever finagling it was that grandmama was doing it resulted in her having to postpone her sailing until a later ship. She put me in charge of the captain, cabling Pavlova's manager to be responsible for me and to meet the ship at Montevideo.

Jobs Here Exceed Work Applications

With 331 job openings re ported on the local labor market there were 239 persons referred to jobs during the week with 116 hired, according to the weekly report released by the U. S. Employment Service office, 1207 Thirteenth.

One hundred eighty-four persons registered for jobs including 51 veterans.

Principal demands for labor came for compress labor with 74 laborers needed in this field. Fifteen mechanics were needed, five butchers, 20 bricklayers, 35 railroad workers, 13 clerical workers, 17 salespersons, and other labor seeking 45 workers.

New Band Directors Added For Schools

You'll be hearing from Lubbock High school's bands more now that two directors have been added to the staff, filling vacancies caused by resignations.

Lewis Stoelzing, former member of the band and orchestra at Lubbock Army Air field, and prior to that time director of bands at Elkhart and Meade, Kans., and Pecos high schools, joined the staff this week as director of Senior and Junior High school bands.

Stoelzing, whose home is in Wellington, Kas., was recently discharged from the Army Air forces. He attend Southwestern college at Winfield, Kans., before becoming a band director. He is married and he and Mrs. Stoelzing moved here last week.

Norman Heath, son of Mrs. N. H. Heath, 802 Ave. S, who was also recently discharged from the Army, has joined the public schools staff as a teacher in Hunt school and director of an elementary school band.

Heath, graduate of Lubbock High school and Texas Tech, where he played in the bands, taught band in high schools three years, the last place at Memphis before going into service. He will direct elementary band students in the fourth and fifth and sixth grades from all elementary schools from 4 to 5 o'clock four days a week at the Hunt school.

Miss Beverly Vaughn is the new director of the high school and junior high school orchestraas. The orchestras have been without a director for two years. Miss Vaughn is a graduate of Pecos High school and Texas Christian university and formerly taught at Post and Pecos before coming to Lubbock. She and her mother reside at 2123 Twenty-fifth.

"Buy A War Bond TODAY"

Looking At Life ------ By Erich Brandeis

CANADA is doing something about the domestic help situation instead of just talking about it. Maybe it would be a good idea if we did something about it, too.

Almost everybody knows how difficult it has been to get household help during the past few years. The reason is simple—long hours, bad pay, lack of freedom and a certain social stigma attached to the occupation.

Canada is trying to raise household work to the level of industrial work.

House workers are no longer to be called servants or cooks or maids. They will be "home aids" hereafter.

BRANDEIS

They will be given free courses in home management and meal preparation, and they will be employed on a business basis, by the hour, at a comparable rate of pay with industrial workers, with regular shifts, just as in industry.

It has always been a source of wonderment to me why household help in this country has been so woefully neglected in pay, hours and esteem.

Here you have millions of wives who spend their lives in the same kind of housework as maids, enjoying all the advantages of a dignified social status and very often even considering themselves better than stenographers or clerks or saleswomen.

Yet, these very same women who wash dishes and diapers and cook and make beds, treat maids as something inferior and would certainly not have them join their social gatherings or take them to the theatre with them.

I don't know how it started, but the result of this condition has been that girls of background and education have long shunned domestic work, and that the field is occupied almost exclusively by foreigners and women whose schooling and home life do not qualify them for business or industry.

* * *

AND why should it be so, when the great majority of business girls become "household help" after they get married?

Wouldn't you think that domestic service would be a good preparation for their own home life?

Why should a woman hesitate to do work for pay, when she will have to do the same kind of work without pay after she has her own home?

I think Canada has the answer.

And I hope that we may soon find a way of making our girls want to do the thing that they'll have to do anyway.

So here is to the "home aids", married or single.

Philippines Need Quick Relief

WASHINGTON
By Albert Leman
(Ray Tucker Is On Vacation)

A disturbing political situation is brewing in the Philippines, according to the latest word brought back to Washington by observers.

No country in the world—not even Greece—was more wantonly ravaged by the enemy. This destruction and the great distance of the islands from the United States have made prompt rehabilitation extremely difficult. As a consequence the people are in great need of food, clothing, medical supplies and industrial and agricultural tools.

The leaders are even more worried about the long-range prospects. The Commonwealth is in a peculiar position regarding relief. As a ward of Uncle Sam, it is getting help to prevent immediate distress. Yet it has been promised independence in the not too distant future.

LEMAN

Standing on its own feet raises questions of long-term credits and other methods of financing permanent improvements—both public and private. But the Manila government is bankrupt and its normal sources of income have beep wiped out in the war's desolation. Local businessmen are broke.

Fear of their Asiatic neighbors and uncertainties about their means of self-support is cooling the ardor of the Filipinos for full independence. They want the freedom that we have promised but, regardless of the propaganda of island politicians, many of the most thoughtful citizens are in no hurry to cast off from the U. S. A.

The Philippine government hopes to receive UNRRA aid aggregating $150,000,000, which will cover approximately 40 per cent of actual granting these funds. Filipinos are patient and deeply loyal to America but prolonged want could alienate them.

WRECKED: The writer has been talking with several officials and businessmen who have just flown in from the islands.

They report that in Manila all the public buildings except the Malacaan Palace were smashed and that 75 per cent of the city was wrecked by mines and fire—very little by bombs. Cebu, the second largest city, is 95 per cent demolished.

Japanese barbarians drove whole families into homes, barred the doors and set the buildings on fire. More than 100,000 corpses have been identified and the grisly task of searching for victims is still going on.

Practically all public records have been consumed by flames—tax lists, vital statistics, blueprints and other documents necessary to municipal and state governments. Since private deeds to property have been lost, litigations will clog the courts for a score of years.

Previous to the coming of the Tokyo locusts, the Commonwealth's sources of revenue were taxes on property, sales and income. But there is now little property to tax, nothing to sell and no jobs to produce incomes.

As the U. S. Army is withdrawing its liberation troops, Filipinos employed by the armed forces are being discharged. Industrial and farm machinery is so badly damaged that its use cannot absorb men dropped from military pay rolls.

The islands have been experiencing a unique form of inflation. For a time more than 1,700,000 United States soldiers and sailors were stationed there. The GIs spent liberally and paid high prices for all kinds of souvenirs. In the black market a loaf of bread sells for $2.

But even though a great many Filipinos have more cash in their hands than ever before in their lives, there is scarcely anything for them to buy. They are like castaways on a desert island with a chest of gold. When the Army pulls out, its jobs will go with it and the people's savings will soon vanish.

QUANDARY: Large items in the Commonwealth's prewar economy were coconut oil, rope and sugar.

Years ago American businessmen introduced the process of crushing oil from the nut to save cargo space. Today the machines for this purpose are tangled masses of iron. Abaca, the hemp fiber used in rope threads, is still grown but the twine-twisting machines are junk.

If takes 18 months to raise a crop of sugar cane. The plantations have been neglected, but they can be operated. However, owners and banks which finance the growers are in a quandary. If the Philippines are granted independence soon, American sugar beet interests may force a tariff on Philippine sugar. Even if capitalists were willing to gamble on a crop, it is doubtful whether refineries could be rebuilt in time.

BUFFALO: In the Philippines, China and other parts of the Far East the water buffalo is the beast most important to the farmer; it does all his heavy work. The Japs slaughtered for food almost every animal they could find in the Philippines and left the rural population helpless.

Fortunately, a number of these carabaos in recent years swam from New Guinea to northern Australia and multiplied rapidly in the lush grass there. The great herds are comparable to those of the American Wild West when droves of bison roamed the plains.

A few years ago a distinguished New Zealand college professor, fed up with books and civilization, set off for northern Australia to lead a pioneer's life. He soon became an "Anzac Buffalo Bill." He and other scouts shot the beasts, stripped them of their hides and left the carcasses.

American UNRRA officials heard of his activities and engaged him to organize a large company to round up live water buffaloes for Philippine and Chinese farmers. The cowboys expect to deliver 100,000 this year.

Small farm implements, such as V-shaped hoes and bolo knives for hacking brush, are being manufactured in Australia. The voluntary relief agencies of this natio nand New Zealand have collected more than five million pounds of clothing for the Filipinos, although their own people have been on tight rations for four years.

TEXAS
By Gordon Shearer

AUSTIN: The State of Texas already has been offered a profit of $64,058 for the 13-story Tribune Tower office building which it contracted to buy recently from the J. M. West estate, of Houston, for $735,942.

But the state isn't going to sell the structure because it needs the office space in a bad way. Chances are, if the state really did want to turn the building, it could make more than $64,058 on the deal. That isn't the picture, however.

Two state agencies, the Public Welfare department and part of the Labor department, presently occupy little more than a third of the Tribune building—the name of which the state is expected to change after it assumes control in about 60 days.

For the space the two departments occupy, the state pays $23,787 a year rent to the West estate.

Rentals for the entire building are about 474,000 a year, Chairman Weaver Baker of the State Board of Control estimates.

Private office tenants in the building will move out and personnel of state departments will replace them.

Some of the departments now are paying as much as $1.42 a square foot to rent privately-owned office space. Baker figures that total rents which state departments have paid during the last 12 years would have been enough to buy the Tribune building.

* * *

PROPERTY: Not only did Texas get the air-cooled, steamheated building, but it also acquired in the deal some adjoining vacant property. That quarter of a block now is a parking lot. What the state will do about its private operation hasn't been announced.

Property on which the Tribune Tower is located and the vacant plot—about half-a-block together—have been valued at between $85,000 and $100,000.

War-To-Peace Transformation Is Speeding

U. S. Is "On The Move Again"

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The process of reconversion from war to peace, in itself a veritable revolution in a hurry, has gone along far enough to reveal some interesting trends in incoming government reports.

On the management side, there is the display of that speed and efficiency typical of the industrial drive which organized peace industry into war industry and piled up that great flood of munitions that finally overwhelmed the enemy.

STOKES

The transformation from war back to peace is proceeding rapidly.

On the side of the workers, there is indication again of American individuality re-asserting itself after the regimentation of war.

We Americans are still a peculiar mixture of nomads and home-lovers.

For example, there is one thing that stands out as you talk to War Manpower commission officials and go over reports from cities all over the country. After the close-down of temporary war plants here and there, some of which employed many thousands, the workers picked up and left for other parts. It is almost a mass migration.

"Moving Time" Again

They don't hang around, most of them, and wait for something to turn up.

Perhaps most of them went back to their old homes. Others went somewhere else, those of the foot-loose strain.

As you read the reports, you get a picture in your mind of folks getting in their automobiles and jalopies and taking to the roads.

This sort of migration is going on from shipbuilding plants, ordnance plants, and some airplane centers, and in all sections of the country and from both coasts.

It's America on the move again.

IN THE centers of more settled industry, the bigger industry, where reconversion is going on, there is not of course the same mass migration. Some came from other places and are going back. But many already lived and worked there. It is in these centers that unemployment is beginning to rise slowly for the time being and unemployment compensation rolls are beginning to swell.

Another interesting revelation is that many workers released from war plants are not rushing into new jobs just to get jobs. They are waiting around for something they like, exercising the old American privilege of choosing, if possible. In some cases wages are much lower for available jobs.

This brings up a situation that has drawn much comment. Lots of jobs and lots of unemployed at the same time. There has been some misrepresentation. It is not a simple picture.

There are Many Angles

It is compounded of many elements, among them, the waiting to try to get a more desirable job at better pay. Another factor is that workers who are unemployed may not be adapted or trained to the jobs that are available. Some are highly skilled jobs. Where you have skilled workers and unskilled jobs, and vice versa, a gap is natural.

Further than that, employers also are choosy. They have their own standards.

So the man and the job can not always get together.

Unions, too, enter the complex situation, for they do not want to see wage scales and standards broken.

STORIES circulated about war workers spending their money as fast as they made it, making whoopee in night clubs and juke joints, and saving nothing, seem not to have been so general as the tellers would make out.

At least it may be inferred there has been some saving from two facts — one, that thousands and thousands of workers had enough money to pick up and go somewhere else; two, that the number on unemployment benefit rolls is below the number actually not working, much below in many cities.

Reference was made earlier to the nomadic habit.

This column is now taking to the road to have a look at all of this and report daily from here and there.

Researchers Dig Up Extinct Bison Bones

PLAINVIEW, Oct. 17. (AP)—Bones of many bisons of an extinct species have been discovered in an old stream bottom near here, Dr. E. H. Sellards, director of Texas Memorial museum at the University of Texas, told the Plainview Lions club today.

Discovery also of many man-made objects such as flint spears and scrapers will serve to preserve a cultural phase about which little is known, he said.

The fossils and the human relics will be compared with other discoveries to determine their place in the geologic time scale.

The bones will be placed on permanent exhibition in the museum

FBI Lays Plans To Fight Gangsterism

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 17. (AP)—Preparation to combat gangsterism are being made by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, M. W. Acers, agent in charge of the San Antonio, office said today.

In this connection he said a series of conferences of law enforcement officers will begin next Tuesday as follows:

Kerrville, Oct. 23; Brady, Oct. 26; Eagle Pass, Oct. 30; Laredo, Oct. 31; Brownsville, Nov. 1; New Braunfels, Nov. 6; Temple, Nov. 8, and Austin, Nov. 13.

"Hijacking, shakedown rackets, black markets and bootlegging have been on the increase," Acers said.

Tahoka School Heads To Quit

the ensuing discussion an argument was started, and finally scuffling, during which Hancock suffered the cut on the back of his head. Players were still out of school Wednesday.

Feeling continued to run high during Monday and Tuesday, and rumors were flowing throughout Tahoka.

Mass Meeting Held

During the day Tuesday, a mass meeting of all the interested citizens of Tahoka was called at the courthouse that night, and members of the Tahoka school board were invited. According to bystanders, several speeches were made, but instead of solving anything "matters only grew worse."

Wednesday afternoon, members of the Tahoka School board met, and after accepting Hancock's and Brewer's oral resignations, announced their intentions of quitting. They said they would turn in their own resignations this morning to the Lynn County School board.

May Call Election

Members of the Tahoka Independed School board who have announced their intentions of resigning included Truett Smith, president, an attorney in Tahoka; John Price, farmer; Wynne Collier, druggist; Dr. E. Prohl, and E. R. Edwards, compress manager. W. C. Wharton, another member, is in Wyoming on a hunting trip and could not be reached for a statement.

Smith, president of the board, declined to make any statement on the situation when asked for a a statement last night.

It is believed that the county board will accept the resignations and appoint a temporary board, then set a date for an election to name a premanent board. It probably will be up to the temporary board to appoint successors to Hancock and Brewer, at least on a temporary basis.

Native Of Area

Hancock is a native of the South Plains, having been raised in the New Home community. He is a former president of the West Texas Teachers association, and a graduate of Texas Tech. He served as superintendent of Brownfield schools for two years, and prior to that was connected with the schools in Ralls and Petersburg. Brewer was also associated with the Brownfield schools for the past two years. He is also a Texas Tech graduate.

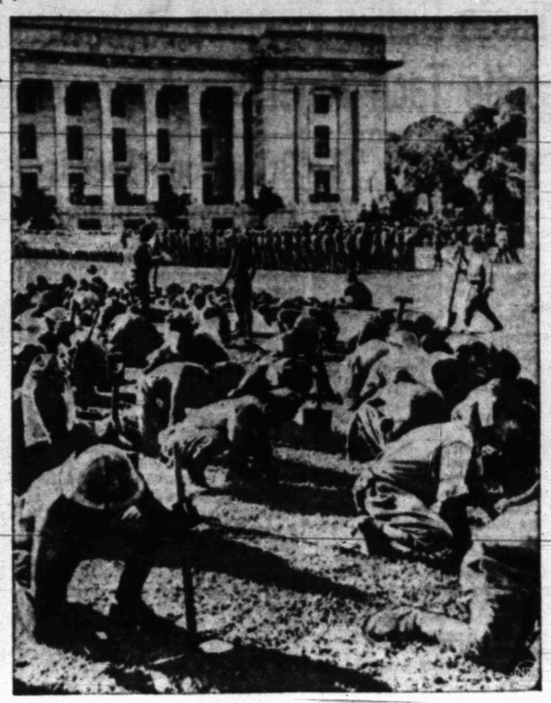

Hancock and Brewer succeeded W. T. Hanes and Leo Jackson, respectively, after these two left Tahoka schools to take similar posts with the school system in Cameron, Texas, this year. In addition to being high school principal, Jackson was also athletic coach. Stewart coacher in East Texas last year, it was understood.

Tahoka Team Lost Five

Tahoka's football team has played five games this season, winning none. However, it was learned from various sources that the record of the team did not enter into the disagreements between the school heads and the coach.

Prentice Walker, well known Tahoka business man and grid official, started workouts of younger players on the Tahoka squad this week, and hopes to continue with the schedule in District 6-A, playing Seagraves at Tahoka Friday night.

Clear water is best for washing windows if they are not too dirty. The secret of sparkling clear windows is no soap. Soap merely streaks the glass and is hard to rub off. Spray water on, or wipe it on with a chamois, then dry windows with a lintless cloth.

Tax Hearings End

the American Farm Bureau federation contending "it would be unwise to greatly narrow the income tax base and remove approximately 12,000,000 persons" of lower incomes from the income tax rolls. This is proposed by the Treasury and is included in the House bill.

A reduction of at least 20 per cent in individual incomes taxes all down the line was asked by both the United States Chamber of Commerce and the National Association of Manufacturers.

Would Boost Business

Both based their arguments on the same premise: bigger cuts than the administration proposes are needed to stimulate reconversion and bring about a vigorous peacetime economy.

As the committee concluded its hearings, these indications of sentiment stood out:

1. Strong support for repeal, effective Jan. 1, of the excess profits tax. This is recommended by the Treasury which estimated it would mean a loss of $2,555,000,000 in revepue next year. The House voted to cut the effective rate of the tax from 85 to 60 per cent for 1946 and repeal it beginning with 1947.

Would Aid Millions

2. General support for the idea of dropping 12,800,000 smaller income taxpayers from the tax rolls. This is included in the House bill but under a plan different from the Treasury's recommendations. The Treasury asked simply repeal of the 3 per cent "normal" tax on which the exemption is limited to $500. The House bill keeps the "normal" tax while applying to it the $500 exemption allowed for each taxpayer and each dependent on surtaxes. Further, it reduces surtax in each bracket by four percentage points and provides that each taxpayer shall have at least a 10 per cent cut.

3. Considerable support for writing into the bill come concessions to veterans and servicemen. One idea is to extend to veterans for one year after discharge the special $1,500 income tax exemption which those in the service now receive. This is not in the House bill or among the Treasury's recommendations.

4. Differences as to proposed cuts in corporate normal and surtaxes and in the so-called "luxury" taxes. The Treasury opposes any cut in the corporate taxes. The House voted a cut of four precentage points effective Jan. 1. The Treasury recommended and the House approved a reduction of excise, or "luxury," taxes next July 1.

Gen. Allen, who has been awarded one of the nation's highest military honors, is well known in Texas. He was known in his school days at West Point for his hard fighting and polo playing. He first saw action soon after his appointment as a second lieutenant of cavalry in Sept. 1912. He captured a party of ammunition smugglers near San Ambrosia creek on the Texas border.

El Paso, where Gen. Allen served for many years as a squadron commanding officer and later as executive officer of the 7th cavalry at Ft. Bliss, is the home of Mrs. Allen, who was Mary Frances Robinson. The Allens were married in 1928.

Gen. Allen served as a cavalry officer in various units in Texas. He also was well known as a polo player and trainer at San Angelo and other polo centers during peace years.

Man's Taste, Speech Restored By Accident

MOUNDS CITY, Ill., Oct. 17 (AP) —Robert Gentry, tasteless and virtually speechless for 21 months, relished his food today and his first words above a whisper were "safety first—bah!"

For, he said, carelessness caused an accident that restored his taste and speech, lost when a land mine exploded while he was serving in the Aleutians.

Back home and working as an automobile mechanic, Gentry was struck on the head by an engine cover while repairing a bus.

"Maybe I didn't fasten the lid up securely," Gentry said, "but this is one time, contrary to all rules, that carelessness paid a good dividend."

There was no immediate clarification of the purposes of this loot but it seems possible it partially was intended as trading material with Germany and other nations if the war continued.

JAP BIG FOUR OFFER IS SAID NOT ENOUGH

TOKYO, Oct. 17, (AP) — Japan's four great industrial companies—with their tight grip on the nation's economic and political life already an avowed target of U. S. occupation policy — have decided to offer all of their stock at public sale, the newspaper Yomiuri Hochi said today — adding that this "is not enough."

State ownership of such concerns — the Mitsui, Mitsubishi, Sumitomo and Yasuda companies —is the only solution to their entrenched grip on Japanese wealth and government, the newspaper commented.

Similarly "meeting a great change in history," Emperor Hirohito in an imperial rescript today restored voting rights to nearly 1,000,000 Japanese. Some 320,000 who had been imprisoned or under police surveillance were pardoned; sentences of 37,000 others were reduced and civil rights restored to both groups as well as to 600,000 others who had lost them — provided they had lost their rights at least five years prior to Sept 2, 1946.

Japan's new cabinet, in a matching step toward freedom of thought and speech, decided to repeal the wartime religious organizations law which had provided close government secrutiny of all religious orders.

MacArthur also ordered that Japan's motion picture industry be freed of all government control.

Workers In Hillsboro Cotton Mills Strike

HILLSBORO, Oct. 17. (AP) — Workers at the Hillsboro cotton mills went on strike early today, joining those at Itasca and Mexia who struck yesterday.

Union officials estimated 1,000 workers were out.

B. B. Powers, chairman of the Hillsboro Local 670 and C. C. Niles, Texas representative of the Textile Workers Union of America (CIO) said the plant here was "completely closed down" but management said it continued to operate.

Union officials also said the Itasca and Mexia mills were closed. The management of the Itasca mills denied this.

Powers said a picket line "half a mile long" chanted "no contract — no work" today.

News Briefs

Mrs. W. R. Rouse, Andrews, last night enlisted aid of Lubbock police in locating her husband, a truck driver, thought to be in Odessa, to tell him of the serious illness of a granddaughter, Betty Holly, 15, also of Andrews, in St. Mary's hospital. The parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Holly, Andrews, and other relatives were planning to take the girl to a brain specialist at Dallas this morning.

Mrs. Richard Carey, 2017 Fourteenth, reported a radio stolen from her apartment between 1 and 4 p. m. Wednesday, and J. R. Bradford, 1602 Ave. E, told police his bicycle had been taken at a downtown theater.

1,000 Workers Said Needed For SPAAF

Brig.-Gen. F. S. Borum, of Oklahoma City, commanding general of the Oklahoma City Air Technical Service Command area, said in Lubbock last night that he had no information on the future status of South Plains Army Air field.

He did say that SPAAF, with 630 B-17 and B-25 bombers, had more airplanes in "storage" than any other field in the United States, and that the field wanted to hire 1,000 civilian mechanics, in addition to 430 already there, to replace soldiers who are receiving discharges.

Brig.-Gen. Borum, who arrived yesterday to inspect SPAAF and expected to leave this morning, indicated that future of the field was up to Congress, and thus, indirectly, to citizens of the United States.

"I've been in the Army Air Force 28 years," he said, "and two wars. The United States was caught unprepared for each one. Personally, I'd like for us to keep a large air force until we're sure the same thing will not happen again." He indicated that obsolete planes are better than none.

During World War II, Brig.-Gen. Borum built up the Troop Carrier command from himself and Reed Landis, son of Judge Kennesaw Mountain Landis, to a force of 6,000 officers and 30,000 men. He was transferred to the 9th Air Force Service command in England and was on duty there, in Italy and North Africa for almost two years before returning to the United States in late 1944.

Peron Bounces Back, Calls General Strike

BUENOS AIRES, Thursday, Oct. 18. (AP) — Col. Juan Peron, after a brief eclipse, returned to power today, forcing the formation of a new cabinet of his friends and calling a general strike to celebrate "a day of glory" for the workers." Railroad trains ceased running out of the capital shortly after midnight.

Speaking to thousands jammed into the Plaza Mayo in front of government house last night, Peron, who was ousted Oct. 9 by the military and had been in custody, said he had resigned his commission in the Army to lead the Argentine workers to what he called further economic victories.

Although urged by Peron to disperse peaceably after the mass meeting, there was an outbreak of heavy shooting in front of the newspaper Critica which has been an outspoken critic of Peron. Critica sounded its siren in a call for police aid. The newspaper La Prensa also was attacked.

Krug Offered Job As Head Of Movie Group

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 17. (AP)—Eric Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors association, announced at a press conference today that he has offered an important movie position to J. A. Krug, chairman of the War Production board.

If he accepts, Krug would step into the new position as president of the Motion Picture Producers association at a salary of $75,000 a year.

Krug, who is in Los Angeles today, has been given a week to accept, Johnston said. Krug was not immediately available for comment.

Scheduled Arrivals Of Overseas Troops

Scheduled arrivals of homeward bound troops as reported by the Associated Press

At New York on the Marine Wolf due today is T/5 Tollie L. Stephenson of Lubbock.

At Portland arrivals Oct. 11 on the General Aultman included Sgt. William C. Copeland of Brownfield.

At New York on the Norway Victory due yesterday were Pfc. J. Randolph Taylor and Pfc. Joe F. Glaspie, both of Lubbock.

At Boston on the Milford Victory due today is T/5 Charles A. Shipman, Lubbock.

Army Discharges

raised the question whether they could be drafted after having served in wartime. There was no definite determination of this point tonight.

The War department announcement took the form of a "memorandum for the press" which said:

"In response to inquiries with regard to discharge of Army Air Forces aviation cadets, the War department today announced that 38,000 volunteers in this phase of Army activity were being given the option of discharge.

Given Various Opportunities

"Of this number, approximately 10,000 who are already in flight training or in preflight training have a choice of outright discharge or continuing their flight training. The remaining 28,000 have a choice of outright discharge or of remaining in an enlisted status in the Army of the United States (draft army) or of volunteering for the regular Army.

"In the case of those who elect to continue flight training they are being asked to sign up for the duration of the emergency plus six months or until June 30, 1947, whichever date occurs first."

ODT SAYS RAILROADS CAN'T HANDLE THEM

CHICAGO, Oct. 17 (AP)—An Office of Defense Transportation spokesman said today it would be "impossible to return members of the armed forces at the rate now contemplated by Army and Navy schedules unless the present shortage of railroad personnel is overcome.

Robert L. Glenn, director of the ODT's division of transport personnel, said Army and Navy schedules call for the return of more than 4,000,000 men between now and the end of June, 1946.

Glenn made his statement after a meeting of the western association of railway executives and representatives of ODT, the Army Transportation corps, United States Employment service, and the Railroad Retirement board, at which manpower needs of the western railroads were discussed.

Although there are many languages spoken throughout the world, there is considerable similarity between the fundamental speech sounds.

Four Convicts Escape Prison At Huntsville

HUNTSVILLE, Oct. 17. (AP) — Four convicts escaped from the Huntsville state prison about 5 p. m. today by crashing a truck through the prison gates, then fled in a stolen automobile.

Warden H. E. Moore said a guard firing at the men as they escaped filled the gasoline tank of the truck with holes. When the truck ran out of gas inside the city limits of Huntsville the men forced A. J. Beckham of Huntsville out of his automobile sedan and made their escape. Moore said they were heading for the Dallas-Huntsville highway in Backham's 1941 Chevrolet sedan.

The four were listed as Jack Hudspeth, 24, of Ardmore, Okla., serving five years for burglary from Anderson county; Ray Williford, 33, serving 15 years for robbery from Grayson county; Webster Mitchell of Matador, 26, serving a life sentence for rape from Donley county; and Walter Vincent Valley, 25, of Ardmore, serving five years for burglary from Anderson and Cherokee counties.

The prisoners escaped in a refrigerated meat truck. Moore said the driver was wearing a metal shield and the three other men were protected from bullets in the refrigerating compartment of the truck.

Highway blockades and patrols were immediately set up in the entire area, as far north as Corsicana, west to Austin and east to the Louisiana line.

Spending Slashed

travelling 750 miles an hour or faster during the impending "period of revolutionary change."

FBI Funds Hit

The committee recommended a slash of $2,430,000 in funds of the FBI though Director J. Edgar Hoover predicted "a rather serious crime wave."

Return of the United States Employment Service to the various states was recommended by the group. Chairman Cannon, in an individual recommendation, suggested that the Japanese aliens at Tule Lake, Calif., be deported immediately.

Army, Navy Funds Cut

The sharp cuts in the bill were directed mainly at the military establishments. The proposed reductions:

Army—$30,903,564.

Navy—$17,662,163,961.

Miscellaneous executive agencies —$3,887,090,253 (mostly defense aid-lend lease.)

A slash of $12,166,313,000 was advised for the Army Air Forces which plan to dispose of 44,222 of their 62,045 planes. The Navy Air Force would be cut $3,481,300,000. The committee said they have 41,000 planes and intend to get rid of 24,000.

Attached to the bill was a ban against further ship building this fiscal year, plus a demand for more rapid demobilization of the Army-Navy personnel.

Antonio Jose de Cucre was the first president of the Republic of Bolivia. Elected for life, he declined to serve more than two years.

Chinese Dislike Emperor System Despite Tacit American Approval

By JAMES D. WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 17.—It seems the Chinese take a dim view of the Shidehara cabinet in Tokyo, which many Americans think of as quite a liberal outfit.

Chinese doubt, cabled here by the official Chinese news agency, is expressed by the Chungking Ta King Pao, a paper which often reflects official thinking in China.

WHITE

Actually the mission of the Shidehara cabinet, says the Ta King Pao, "will not differ from that of the two preceding cabinets, that is, to strengthen or stabilize the position of the Japanese emperor, by all means."

Enough Of Emperor System

(For the past two years the Ta King Pao has asserted it has had about all it wants of the Japanese emperor system and thinks it is the key to Japanese nationalism and aggression).

"To preserve their emperor system," says the paper, "the Japanese are ready to try every possible means to please the USA and other Allied nations.

"And the Higashi-Kuni cabinet has accomplished the task of taking the surrender smoothly, showing the world that the preservation of the emperor is really necessary in dealing with any affair in Japan.

From Mitsubishi Clique

The Ta King Pao points out that Shidehara is the son-in-law of Mr. Iwasaki, a leader of the powerful Mitsubishi interests, and chose his cabinet ministers largely from the Mitsubishi clique.

The paper then goes on to say that the only significance of the new cabinet is that it has ejected the influence of the (presumably rival) Mitsui interests.

This Chinese comment, which says it will wait and see just how liberal the Shidehara cabinet turns out to be, takes on added interest today with the decision in Tokyo of the four biggest capitalistic groups — the Mitsui, Mitsubishi, Yasuda and Sumitomo combines—to offer their shares for sale to the public. The imperial household probably owns a sizable portion of those shares.

Could Mean Consolidation

Some may argue that no one in Japan but these selfsame groups has enough money to buy the shares offered. If that were true, it could mean a consolidation of their economic and political influence over the nation.

Two other measures were taken in Tokyo today which conform to the pattern suspected by the Ta King Pao; the emperor granted amnesty to a million disfranchized Japanese, including pardons for 300,000 prisoners, and the cabinet restored religious freedom.

One may not agree with Chinese skepticism about the motives behand such moves, but it cannot be argued that they do the imperial system much harm at this moment.

Bridegroom Spends Honeymoon In Jail

KANSAS CITY, Kans., Oct. 17. (AP) — A 47-year old bridegroom spent his honeymoon in the Wyandotte county jail last night, and today said, "its a tough way to spend a honeymoon."

William Lon Daniel was picked up by police not ten minutes after his marriage ceremony on charges of non-support of his 14-year-old daughter by a former marriage.

Arrested At Church

The wedding party had just descended the church steps when Deputy Sheriffs James M. Young and Matt Janakovic, stepped forward and arresteed Daniel.

Daniel, immaculately dreessed in a blue suit, said he and his bride had an appointment for wedding pictures. The officers agreed to accompany the not-so-happy bride and groom to the photographers.

When the pictures were taken Daniel, his bride and the wedding party went to the juvenile courtroom.

Couldn't Pay Court

Judge Clark E. Tucker of the county juvenile court, asked Daniel why he hadn't paid the $25 a month he had pledged for the support of his daughter.

Daniel said he had been sick, but admitted that he spent $3.50 for a marriage license for his second marriage, $7 for a wedding ring, $10 to the minister and had hired an organist.

Tucker told the bridegroom he could pay the $75 cash, the amount he owed for the support of his daughter, and $1,000 bond to guarantee future payments, or could spend the night in jail.

Daniel couldn't produce the money, so he kissed his bride and sadly went to his cell and sympathizing cellmates.

DANISH LEADER KILLED

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 17. (AP)—Col. Riis Lassen, one of Denmark's underground leaders during the Nazi occupation, was shot to death last night on the brightly lighted main street of Aarhus. The assassin escaped. The shooting was believed to have been instigated by the Hiopmen, a Danish-German organization of terrorists.

Ⓐ Thanks to its modern fleet of high-powered steam freight locomotives, supplemented by—

Ⓑ Sixteen-5400 horsepower diesels, the Burlington is keeping pace with the biggest freight transportation job in history.

Ⓒ Centralized Traffic Control, in which the Burlington has already invested more than $2,500,000, is one of the recent miracles of railroading. CTC enables one man, with the tip of his finger, to control train operations over many miles of track. It speeds traffic—saves time and motive power.

Ⓓ Burlington gave America its first diesel-powered, streamlined train—the Pioneer Zephyr—back in 1934. Today, there are 14 Zephyrs which have achieved well over 25 million train-miles of service. Together with Burlington's scores of steam-powered passenger trains, they are doing a tremendous transportation job.

Ⓔ Burlington's two "humps" are freight yards, so designed that one man in a control tower, through the use of gravity and electro-pneumatic controls, can sort freight cars as easily as you sort a deck of cards. These "humps" handle as many as 9000 cars in a single day. They represent an investment of nearly five million dollars in better, faster operation.

Ⓕ For many years the Burlington has been a major mail-carrying road. Today its fleet of mail trains speeds a tremendous amount of mail toward a myriad of destinations. Its passenger trains, including the famous Zephyrs, are equipped with modern R. P. O. cars—a striking contrast to their forerunner of 1862, the Hannibal & St. Joe (now C B & Q) mail car pictured here.

Ⓖ It takes more than track and rolling stock to make a railroad tick. Burlington's family of employees, 35,000 strong, is the mainspring of every Burlington undertaking and attainment.
