Lubbock Hit By Rain, Hail; Floods Rise In South Texas

Half Inch Fall Is Reported In Local Section

Minor Damage To City Property Is Caused By Hail

As most of Texas experienced nothing more severe than cloudy skies or light drizzle, Victoria kept a wary but unworried eye on the flooding Guadalupe river today.

Swollen by heavy rains in South Texas, the river is expected to crest Thursday at 28 feet—seven feet above flood stage.

"But the town is in no danger," said E. I. Stahala of the Victoria Advocate. "Water woesn't enter the town until the river reaches at least 29.23 feet. Even then it overflows only about three or four blocks of shacks along the bottoms."

Hail And Rain Here

Lubbock apparently experienced a unique feature in overall weather conditions Tuesday night.

A thundershower and hailstorm which began about 7:30 p. m. caused minor damage and dumped varying amounts of precipitation on immediate Lubbock vicinity. At the Santa Fe freight office, the measurement was one-half inch. Shallowater reported a light shower. As near as Slaton, no moisture was reported.

Only five miles north of Lubbock, at the U. S. Weather bureau station, precipitation totaled only .04 inch. The weather station reported light drizzle was received between 11:15 o'clock and 12 noon today and that scattered showers were forecast for this area this afternoon, with no important changes in temperature.

Light Rain Falling

At 12:30 o'clock, weather reports showed light rain was falling at Clarendon and at Beaumont. Earlier today, Amarillo and Clarendon had reported drizzle. Wichita Falls received .01 inch precipitation Tuesday night.

The Associated Press reported flood waters at Alice and San Diego dropped yesterday. The two

MOTHER SEALED YOUTH IN CUBBYHOLE AT START OF WAR

Shaggy-Bearded Man Is Dug Out Of Tomb After 10 Years

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, April 27.—A shaggy-bearded man of 33, dug out after ten years of fantastic solitude in a dank cubbyhole, yearned today to return to the tomb-like cubicle in which his mother sealed him when war broke out.

Shoeless, filthy, his clothes in rags, Paul Makushak, one-time college student, stood on wobbly legs and blinked into the unaccustomed glare of electric lights.

"I liked it in there," he said. "I'd like to go back. I don't care about the outside world." Police took him to a hospital.

The man told a strange story of voluntary exile since 1939—when his mother sealed him off from the world with a wall of wood and plaster at the outbreak of World War 2.

Makushak spent the 10 years in a tiny walled-in cubicle built in the corner of a littered third floor bedroom in a brownstone house in the Greenpoint section of Brooklyn.

His father, who runs a tailor shop in the same building, said he never knew the man was imprisoned in the house.

Vague About War

The cubicle, about three feet wide and five feet long—scarcely big enough to hold Makushak when stretched on the floor to sleep—had been devised, police said, because his mother presumably wanted him to escape being drafted.

Makushak, however, was vague about the war.

"The draft?" he replied to questioning by Brooklyn District Attorney Miles F. McDonald. "I don't know about the draft. That was in 1917, wasn't it?"

He said he didn't "believe in violence," and added "I don't know" when asked if he would have gone in the army.

The story of Makushak's imprisonment came to the attention of police last night after the mother, 58-year-old Mrs. Anne Makushak, entered a hospital.

Fed Through Hole

She asked a neighborhood woman to go and care for her son—whose only contact with the world was a hole in the top of his tomb, through which he was fed.

The neighbor, unidentified, told police about him.

With crowbars, police bashed down the thin plaster wall that sealed Makushak off, and lifted him back into the world.

He was dressed in heavy woolen clothing. A tattered grey stocking cap was pulled down over his thick, matted black hair.

Policemen had to hold him up when he walked.

Stockings Over Knees

Around his legs was a pair of thick stockings, pulled up over the knees. For trousers he wore a pair of long underwear that once had been white.

Knotted around his loins was a ripped and tattered grey sweater.

He said he never shaved for the decade he was in the cubbyhole, but occasionally clipped his whiskers with a pair of shears he kept there.

The tiny cubicle itself was littered with trash, empty cans, and rags.

Democrat On A Bicycle Is Faster Than A Republican Plugging Along On Mule

HAGERSTOWN, Md., April 27 (AP)—A Democrat on a bicycle is faster than a Republican on a mule.

At least, one was last night.

Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro of Baltimore, a Democrat, pedaled his new bike to a 50-length victory over mule-riding Republican Mayor Herman I. Mills of Hagerstown.

The race was for the benefit of the cancer fund.

The victory so flushed the Baltimore mayor that he wheeled around and headed back to see what had detained Mills. Hagerstown police gave him a ticket for going the wrong way on a one-way street.

U. S. Residents Of Shanghai Nervous

(By The Associated Press)

SHANGHAI, April 27.—Americans in this Communist-threatened metropolis showed increasing anxiety today but there still was no evacuation rush developing.

Cause of the growing nervousness was the Red invasion Monday of the Nanking residence of J. Leighton Stuart, U. S. ambassador to China.

There is also much fear among all foreigners of rioting before the Communists arrive here. It hasn't happened yet but it wouldn't take much to set it off.

Americans Top Targets

At times like these anti-foreign feeling runs high.

Now the Americans have replaced the British as favorite targets.

Shelling of four British warships on the Yangtze by the Reds last week has lowered the anti-foreign boiling point.

The Communists have boasted of these incidents as a victory of the Chinese over a foreign power.

And already that feeling has been reflected in Shanghai—particularly among the gendarmes.

This is illustrated by the detention of two foreign newspapermen—a Briton and an Australian—on charges of publishing "erroneous" war news in defiance of a ban laid down by the Shanghai garrison command.

Others Not Molested

The American colony here is now down around 1,800 from almost 2,500 a few days ago.

About 100—mostly women and children—have gone aboard Navy ships which moved to safe anchorage in the Yangtze estuary.

Others have gone out on Pan-American and Northwest Air Lines planes. The two companies have put on extra flights.

American President Lines said today more than 200 already have availed themselves of emergency accommodations aboard the S. S. President Wilson which sails tomorrow.

But most of the Americans plan to remain here.

Utilities Official To Get Army Post

WASHINGTON, April 27 (AP) — Curtis E. Calder, utilities executive, has agreed to become secretary of the Army.

Gordon Gray, now assistant secretary, will be promoted to undersecretary and serve as acting secretary until Calder can take over the post.

This is the job formerly held by Kenneth Royall.

Calder, chairman of the board of Electric Bond and Share, says he will be ready to take over the top Army post within 60 days.

Police Arrest Accused Killer

HOUSTON, April 27 (U.P.)—Police armed with sawed-off shotguns and tear gas surrounded a house here early today and captured an accused killer and his companion as the two men slept.

When police sprung their lethal trap, they found William T. Green, a 28-year-old guitar player, and a 34-year-old Odessa man, believed to be Green's accomplice in the slaying last Friday of a negro pianist in Galveston.

Galveston County Sheriff Frank L. Biaggne filed murder charges against Green after the shooting of Carlos Ladd, 30, entertainer at Galveston's Showtime club. Also charged was a man identified as Bob Parker.

Gave Different Name

Police believed Green's companion, captured in the raid this morning, was Parker, although he gave a different name.

The capture was staged with all the intensity of a big-time operation, since Houston police believed Green was well-armed. A score of officers was stationed at vantage points in the block where the brown, frame house was located.

At a pre-arranged signal, officers stormed into the house. They found Green and his friend asleep in a back room, dazed and unarmed. The pair offered no resistance.

Former Lubbock Boy FFA Contest Winner

Lawrence Williams, of San Juan Bautista, Calif., formerly of Lubbock, won the state championship of California in the Future Farmers of America Oratory contest and will compete with representatives from 10 states May 2 in Reno, Nev, in the western states contest.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Williams, formerly of 2401 Twenty-first, he was a Junior High school student when the family moved from Lubbock about five years ago. He now is a senior student in high school. Lawrence represented southern California in the contest in competition with Bob Storm of Grindley, northern FFA orator champion.

His subject was "Let's Save Our Land."

Wife Of TCU Coach Is Taken By Death

FORT WORTH, April 27. (AP)—Mrs. Maggie E. Meyer, wife of L. R. (Dutch) Meyer, TCU football coach, died today at her home. She had been in ill health for a year.

A native of Mansfield, Mrs. Meyer had lived in Fort Worth for 23 years. She was a member of Broadway Baptist church, the Woman's club and past president of the TCU Faculty Women's club.

She attended Baylor university and TCU, where she met her husband, then a student.

Chiang Urges Fight Against Brutal Force

Ex-Leader Claims Red Defeat Due In Three Years

(By The Associated Press)

SHANGHAI, April 27 — Chiang Kai-Shek today predicted China may become the tinderbox of a terrifying third World War if the Communists are not defeated.

Breaking a three months silence since his retirement from the presidency on Jan. 21, Chiang called for support of the government of acting President Li Tsung-Jen. He spoke as director general of the kuomintang (government) party.

Battle Is Raging

As Chiang's statement was released by the Central News agency, a battle for Soochow (Wuhsien), about 50 miles west of Shanghai, was reported underway. Some sources said the Communists had taken Soochow but the Shanghai garrison insisted the Nationalists still held the important rail junction.

Chiang's statement bore a Chikow dateline, but both Chinese and foreign nawspapers insisted the generalissimo was in Shanghai.

Chiang said the Communists were seeking to "enslave the Chinese people to the cause of international Communists by attempting to make all China the military base and source of manpower for the benefit of the Communist plan for world domination."

Will Share Sufferings

Chiang promised full support to the government of Li, but pledged to "share the sufferings of my fellow countrymen." Thus he may have chosen this means of coming from retirement to lead China in her battle against Communism.

He called on his people to fight as hard against Communism as they did against the Japanese in eight years of war. At the same time he admitted some of the shortcomings of his own 22-year rule of the vast country.

The generalissimo said the Reds by crossing the Yangtze had blundered into the same military errors that mired the Japanese in their conquest of China.

Result In Downfall

The river crossing, he said, represents the "peak of Communist military development." It will bring the Reds "face to face with the tangling mass of military, political and economic problems which will eventually result in their downfall."

"I am certain," he said, "that so long as we carry on the struggle the Communists can neither enslave nor destroy our country. Within three years the final victory will be ours."

He recalled that only four years ago Nanking was liberated from the Japanese.

"We are confronted," said Chiang, "by a dark, brutal force which seeks to rob our people of

State Poll Tax Bill In Senate

AUSTIN, April 27. (U.P.)—Efforts to gain final approval of abolishing the poll tax in Texas were blocked today in the Senate.

Members of the upper chamber successfully beat off attempts to gain concurrence in House amendments tacked on the measure yesterday.

Opposition efforts were led by Sen. G. C. Morris of Greenville who repeatedly warned that the state would be throwing away 'millions of dollars."

Conference Scheduled

Sen. Rogers Kelley of Edinburg, Senate sponsor of the bill, was expected to lead efforts to work out the differences between the two houses in a joint conference committee.

The measure squeaked through the House yesterday on a vote of 100-31. At least 100 approving votes are needed to submit a constitutional amendment to a vote of the people.

Registration Required

It was amended, however, to require a registration of voters and authorize the next legislature to enact a general election law.

If the amended versiop is passed by the Senate, the plan will be submitted to the people at a special election on Sept. 24.

In late action Tuesday, the Senate approved a bill to set up a 17-member legislative council, one

Conditions For Blockade Lift Are Requested

Negotiations Now Reported Shifted To Formal Basis

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, April 27.—The United States delivered a note to the Russians here today asking for a formal statement as to when and on what conditions they will lift their Berlin blockade.

The note was taken by Philip C. Jessup, American ambassador-at-large, to Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Jakab A. Malik.

Jessup called on Malik at the Soviet offices on upper Park avenue at 12:30 p. m. (10:30 a. m. CST).

Text Not Revealed

The text of the American communication was not made public, but informed quarters said its main purpose was to shift the Berlin negotiations to a formal basis and get Russia's views down on paper.

Previously no views had been exchanged in writing since Jessup first brought up the question in an informal talk with Malik at Lake Success Feb. 15.

Jessup brought the note with him on his return to New York this morning after talks in Washington yesterday with President Truman and State department officials.

Before going alone to see Malik, Jessup met with members of the U. S. delegation to the U. N. at the American headquarters, 2 Park avenue. He disappeared later and was understood to have called on British and French representatives to show them the note.

Clarification Sought

The American note was understood to seek clarification specifically on two issues: An exact understanding as to what would be involved in any agreement to lift the blockade and a proposed timetable.

A U. S. spokesman said this switch to a formal exchange of notes probably would result in some delay in getting Russia's views. It was expected, he said, that Malik would transmit the American note to his immediate superior here, Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko,

DEFENSE CASE RESTED TODAY

Mother Of McGee On Witness Stand

By EDWARD WELSH
Journal Staff Writer

The defense attorneys for Richard W. McGee, 24-year-old defendant charged with the murder of R. L. Allston, July 7, 1948, announced that they were ready to rest their case at 12:10 today. The announcement came after the entire morning was devoted to examining and cross-examining Mrs. H. H. Stull, Pampa, mother of the defendant.

When the announcement was made District Attorney Lloyd Croslin and special prosecutor George Dupree, asked that certain photostatic records, introduced in evidence, but not previously read to the jury, be read before the defense rest. It was agreed between counsel and the defense, Burton S. Burks, Lubbock, and Col. E. A. Simpson, Amarillo, the state's attorneys, and the court that these records would be read immediately after lunch.

Mother Takes Stand

Judge Dan Blair's 72nd District court was late in convening this morning because Col. Simpson's watch had stopped. The session began at 9:21.

When she took the stand Mrs. Stull related that she had married Richard's father in Hanesville, La., in 1922.

"Richard's father was always a heavy drinker and would stay away from home on frequent occasions. I separated from him in 1927 when Richard was only three years old and divorced him in 1930." Mrs. Stull related. "I did not hear from my first husband again but did learn that he died in 1938."

Settled In Borger

After the separation Mrs. Stull said she brought her three children to Texas and settled in Borger. In 1932 she was married to A. R. Avery, Borger furniture and real estate dealer. Mr. Avery died of a heart attack in 1938, she said.

"At the time of Mr. Avery's death," Mrs. Stull said, "Richard seemed to go into a stupor which lasted for several days. I would have to lead him to and from the bathroom and to meals. After that he would often be elated and then again he would be extremely depressed."

Attorney Burks asked Mrs. Stull whether or not she had ever told Betty Jane Allston, 18-year-old daughter of the shooting victim, and college sweetheart of the accused man, that Richard was a mental patient.

"I told Jane that Richard was

Slash In Aid Funds Talked

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 27.—President Truman's shaved-down request for foreign-aid funds drew a "let's cut more" reaction today from some congressional leaders.

As a House appropriations subcommittee met to consider Mr. Truman's request for $5,272,000 for the European recovery program, influential lawmakers talked about cutting as much as $2,000,000,000 from the fund. The figure Mr. Truman mentioned itself represents a cut of more than $150,000,000 from the amount authorized by Congress. The President said "a number of developments," including a drop in prices made that possible.

Money Not Provided

But besides talking of a further slash in the total, some Congress members urged that any money spent for military assistance for Europe be taken from the recovery fund.

Congress recently authorized a European aid program costing $5,430,000,000 between now and June 30, 1950, but it has not yet provided the money to finance the program.

The figure asked by Mr. Truman does not include the cost of projected military aid for European countries resisting the spread of Communism. Secretary of State Acheson has estimated that program would cost

Bullitt Tells Texans Of Red War Dangers

AUSTIN, April 27. (AP)—William C. Bullitt, former ambassador to Russia, told the Texas legislature today that by allowing Russia to conquer China "we are making certain the coming of a third world war."

He added that the "confidence of Americans in the atomic bomb is beginning to resemble the confidence of the French in the Maginot line."

Bullet spoke to a joint session of senators and representatives, while in Texas on a lecture tour.

"We have concluded a North Atlantic pact—three years too late," the former ambassador said. "It is a frame without a picture; an excellent idea without substance."

Export Controls On Articles Dropped

WASHINGTON, April 27. (AP)—The United States today dropped export controls on more than 500 articles.

The action will permit shipment of these goods to Soviet bloc nations or "any destination in the world" without export licenses.

The announcement by Secretary of Commerce Sawyer eliminates a ban against shipments to Russian dominated nations imposed more than a year ago for "strategic reasons."

Clocks and watches, railroad ties, many lumber items and building materials, plumbing fixtures, and such recently scarce goods as refrigerators and washing machines are among the items released from controls.

Legs Of Weary Airmen Still Wobbly

Endurance Fliers Say They Will "Never Try It Again"

(By The Associated Press)

FULLERTON, Calif., April 27—Bill Barris and Dick Riedel agree today it's wonderful to have and to hold the world endurance flight mark, but:

"We'll never try it again," says Barris.

"Roger!" echoes Riedel.

The weary pair had planned to leave with their wives for a beach hide-out last night after their 1,008-hour aerial ordeal. But friends and well-wishers staged a big party for them at the Hollywood Knickerbocker hotel.

And the airmen, their legs still wobbly, and partly deaf from listening to the Sunkist Lady's six-cylinder motor for six long weeks, couldn't disappoint them.

They postponed their rest until today. Even at that, it will be interrupted. They are booked for several radio appearances this week.

Luckily, both men were declared to be in excellent shape after bringing the Sunkist Lady down on municipal air port here at 11:45:50 a. m. (PST) yesterday. A crowd of 8,000, including their families,

Hog Proposal To Be Given Top Priority

New Farm Program 'Trial Run' In Hog Market Finds Support

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 27. The administration got bipartisan backing today behind its request for immediate authority to make a "trial run" in the hog market with its proposed new farm program.

If Congress approves, and hog prices continue to drop, this could mean:

1. Cheaper pork chops, ham and bacon for the consumer.

2. A government-guaranteed hog price for farmers, probably at about $16.50 per hundredweight.

Chairman Cooley (D-NC) of the House agriculture committee said Secretary of Agriculture Brannan is preparing legislation to authorize quick application of the new farm program principle to hogs. He said it will be given top priority.

The present law requires the government to purchase hogs, alive or in packing houses, to remove surpluses, so as to maintain a support price of about $16.50 a hundredweight. Prices are still above this support level but

Senate's Republicans Are In An Uproar After Baldwin Selection For Connecticut Court Job

WASHINGTON, April 27. (AP)—Some of Raymond E. Baldwin's Republican colleagues in the Senate today privately accused him of party disloyalty for accepting appointment to the Connecticut supreme court.

But other GOP senators said the critics ought to withhold judgment on Baldwin's decision.

The Connecticut senator was named to the post Tuesday by his state's Democrat governor, Chester Bowles. Senators who urged a damper on criticism said they are sure Baldwin has good personal reasons for deciding to accept the bench appointment. They said he might make them known when he returns to Washington.

The Connecticut court post is to be vacated by the present occupant December 16. Baldwin plans to resign from the Senate, presumably at that time. He was elected for a six-year term ending in January, 1953.

Successor A Democrat

Baldwin's Senate successor, to be named by Bowles, undoubtedly will be a Democrat. He probably will serve until November, 1950, when the congressional electibns are held.

In announcing acceptance of the court assignment, Baldwin, who served as governor of Connecticut for three terms, said in Hartford that the Democrat majority in the Senate is "so wide" that "one vote one way or the other isn't going to make much difference."

The Democrats have 54 seats in the Senate at present and the Republicans have 42.

That Baldwin remark, as much as anything, appeared to have touched off the resentment expressed by several influential Republican senators. Nearly all of those who criticized Baldwin refused to permit use of their names.

"Don't Believe It"

An exception was Senator Bridges (R-NH), who said:

"I just don't believe it. It's hard to understand how a Republican senator could do this. It means the appointment of a New Deal senator from Connecticut."

One high-ranking GOP senator privately called Baldwin's action "outrageous," and added:

"The Democrats in this senate aren't united by any means. One vote next winter on such issues as President Truman's national health health insurance program might mean the difference between defeating the program and putting it across."

Another Republican policy maker said Baldwin's move "could be politically disastrous for us.', because control of the Senate conceivably could hinge on a one-seat majority for either party starting with the 82nd congress in 1951.

"Not His Decision

Another Republican protested that Baldwin "is not a free agent to decide whether he will give up the place in the Senate to which he was elected." He said Baldwin "has an obligation to the people of his state and to the party."

Some GOP leaders in Baldwin's home state had much the same reaction, disliking to lose such a good vote getter.

Baldwin's acceptance of the court post means Connecticut will elect two senators in November 1950. The state's other seat is occupied now by Brien McMahon, a Democrat, who plans to run for re-election.

Senator Brewster (R-Ms), co-chairman of the GOP senatorial campaign committee, said that with Baldwin's seat also on the block in 1950 in Connecticut "we are exchanging a certainty for a gamble" two years earlier than was expected.

But Brewster, whose party job is to recapture control of the Senate for the Republicans, said he is optimistic about picking up the two Connecticut seats in 1950.

"There are now 100,000 unemployed in the state and I am told there are about 250,000 workers on part time. The Democrats will have to do a lot of explaining of that condition."

The naming of Baldwin to the state court appeared to have removed him as a possible Bowles opponent in the Connecticut gubernatorial race next year. Brewster remarked that is the "obvious" political explanation of why Bowles appointed Baldwin.

Answers Still Come To Murder Suspect On 'Work Wanted' Ad

DOVER, Del., April 27 (AP)—Mrs. Inez Brennan, held on a murder charge in Delaware's "lonely hearts" case, is still receiving answers to a magazine advertisement in which she sought employment as a housekeeper, state police said today.

Col. Herbert E. Barnes, Delaware state police commander, said that since Mrs. Brennan's arrest on April 12 more than 30 letters have been sent to the Brennan farm in response to the ad.

Letters Opened

The letters, Col Barnes said, were all opened for police examination as a matter of routine.

Mrs. Brennan and one of her three sons, Robert, 15, are held on murder charges in the fatal shooting of Wade N. Wooldridge, 67, Bedford, Va.

The other sons, George, 17, and Raymond, 23, are held as accessories.

Robert has been quoted by state police as saying in a signed statement that he killed Wooldridge and also Hugo Schulz, 61, Concord, N. H. In previous statements, Mrs. Brennan and her sons all said she was responsible for Schulz's death, Barnes said.

Barnes said Mrs Brennan met both men through "lonely hearts" correspondence and said robbery was the motive in each case.

Tuesday detective Wilfred Dube in Camden, N. J., announced Robert Brennan admitted shooting Mrs. Bessie Watkins, of Laurel Springs, N. J., nearly two years ago, intending to rob her. She later recovered from her neck wound but the case was never solved, Dube said.

Meanwhile, Delaware state police continued their search for six men from Pennsylvania and New Jersey who wrote Mrs. Brennan and have not yet been located in extensive police checking.

Pirate's Descendant Says Loot Still Lost

RIVERSIDE, Calif., April 27. (AP)—The fabulous $500,000,000 "lost loot of Lima" is still lost.

But James A. Forbes, who admits failure for his fifth quest for pirate gold on tiny Cocos island, emphasizes he still needs convincing that the treasure is a myth.

In fact, he said Tuesday he just learned that Santa Clara University in northern California has 100 ancient letters referring to the treasure.

They were written by his great-great grandfather, James Alexander Forbes, an "educated pirate" whose maps were used in trying to locate the booty.

Forbes, who returned by air from Puntarenas, Costa Rica, after his latest expedition ran out of funds and food, said he plans to study the letters to see if further search is justified.

He was released to port authorities who will prefer formal charges of destruction of government property against him.

FAVORITES WIN

NEW ORLEANS, April 27. (AP) Pre-tournament favorites were expected to find the competition stiffer in the second round of the Women's Southern Golf association championship play here today. The three top choices—Polly Riley, Margaret Gunther and Dorothy Kirby—all advanced on schedule.

Chain Gang Escapee Admits Crime Spree

FORT WORTH, April 27. (AP)—An escaped Georgia chain gang fugitive calmly told of a six-week crime spree that netted him "between $40,000 and $50,000.

And Paul Lord Stebbins, 36, told two Fort Worth detectives there was "no hard feelings" after he was subdued in a rough and tumble struggle in front of a downtown department store.

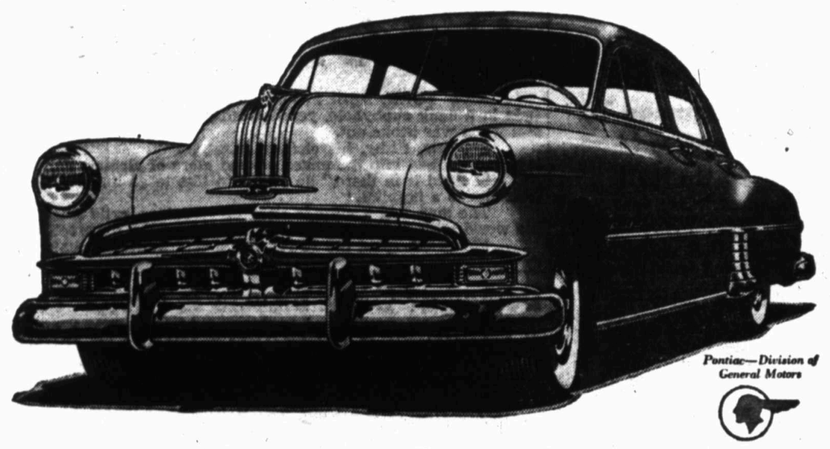

Stebbins, 36, described by the FBI as "armed and dangerous" was arrested here late Tuesday afternoon.

Stubbins said he fled the Fulton, Ga., chain gang last month, went from "Atlanta to Denver to Houston and to Minneapolis and made all points in between."

QUALIFYING SLATED

DALLAS, April 27. (AP)—Sectional qualifying for North Texas golfers for the 1949 national amateur golf championship will be held at Brook Hollow golf club here Aug. 16.

Pontiac—Division of General Motors

Even Better than it Looks!

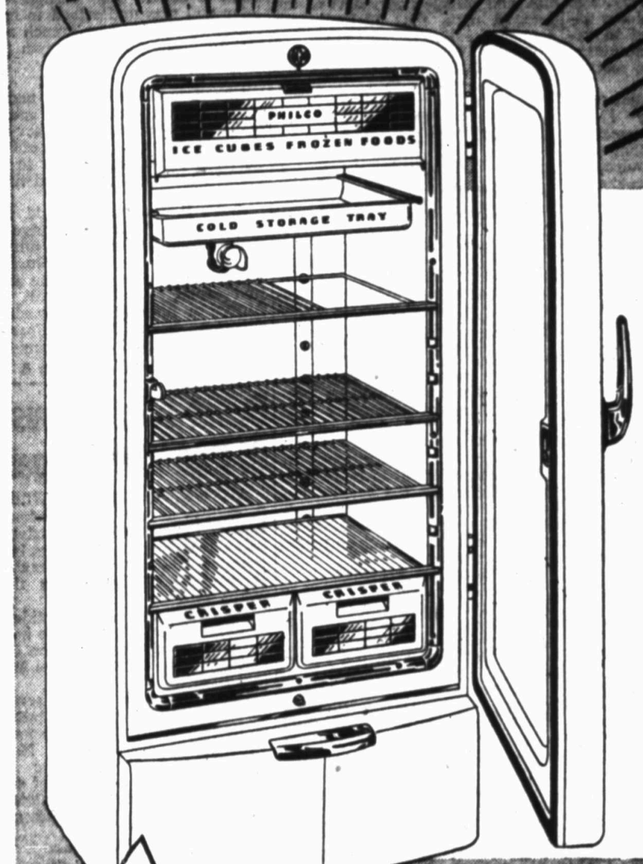

When you observe its fresh and fleet new beauty, it might seem unbelievable when we say that the 1949 Pontiac is even better than it looks. But after you've experienced its really exciting performance, we're sure you, too, will agree that in basic goodness, it surpasses its own good looks!

It's hard to believe a car so low-priced could combine the flashing sleekness of Pontiac's new styling . . . the gracious comfort of Pontiac's new Vision-Aire interiors . . . and the almost incredible smoothness of Pontiac's exclusive "Travelux" Ride. Add to those unique attractions, the "zing" . . . the economy and proved dependability of Pontiac's famous improved straight eight and six cylinder engines . . . and the matchless driving enjoyment of GM Hydra-Matic (optional at extra cost) and you've got something almost irresistible! There's no better time than now to see it and place your order.

Republican Senators Urge Full Probe In Sullivan Resignation

BY EDWIN B. HAAKINSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 27 — Republican senators today called for a detailed inquiry into the reasons for Secretary of the Navy Sullivan's resignation.

Sullivan quit yesterday with a blast at Secretary of Defense Johnson for halting construction of the USS United States, which would have been the world's largest aircraft carrier.

While Chairman Tydings (D-MD) of the Senate armed services committee chalked up the matter as a "closed incident," GOP committee members said they thought the group should dig deeper into the dispute.

Probe Is Asked

Democrats appeared willing to follow Tydings unless Sullivan himself should ask a congressional airing of his differences with Johnson.

But Senator Bridges (R-NH), top-ranking GOP committee member, told reporters he thought there was "an understanding" with Tydings to call up Sullivan for an explanation "in view of the conflicting statements that have been bandied about."

Shortly after his resignation was announced by the White House, Sullivan released a letter he had sent to Johnson in which he stated, in effect, that the Navy had not been given an opportunity to present its side of the carrier question.

The project had been under attack by Air Force backers who said the huge flattop would allow the Navy to intrude on the air arm's strategic bombing assignment.

Fear Is Expressed

In his letter, Sullivan expressed fear that Johnson's action might lead to additional whittling away of naval functions and added:

"However, even if greater significance is the unprecedented action on the part of the secretary of defense in so drastically and arbitrarily restricting the plans of an armed service without consultation with that service.

Johnson replied with this brief statement: "I regret very much that my old friend and colleague, John L. Sullivan, has joined the aircraft carrier issue on personal grounds, and I believe that he, too, will soon regret his action."

Like Bridges, other Republicans felt that the armed services committee should try to get the resigning official's views in more detail.

Views Are Given

Republican Senate Leader Wherry (Neb) told reporters: "I think the committee should hear Sullivan." Senator Saltonstall (R-Mass), also a committee member, said he thought Sullivan might have some "very helpful" information for Congress.

The matter probably will come up for discussion at a regular meeting of the armed services committee Thursday.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) of the House armed services committee won applause from House lawmakers yesterday when he praised Johnson for cancelling the carrier contract.

"We cannot afford the luxury of two strategic air forces," Vinson said in a one-minute speech.

Like all other senators who commented, Tydings said he was sorry to see Sullivan resign.

"Mr. Sullican has cooperated for unification and yet has insisted upon the Navy keeping its separate entity on purely administrative matters," Tydings said.

Among those mentioned as a possible successor to Sullivan is Jonathan Daniels, editor of the Raleigh (N.C.) News and Observer. Daniels was due in Washington today in his capacity as a member of the advisory board of the Economic Cooperation administration.

Such a visit customarily includes a stop at the White House for a visit with the President.

Rites Set Today For Shallowater Woman

Funeral services for Mrs. W. H. Blackmon, 75, of Shallowater, were to be held at 2:30 p. m. today in Lubbock First Baptist church.

Rev. C. K. Roberts, pastor, was to officiate, assisted by Rev. Cecil Ottinger, of Shallowater.

Burial was to be in Lubbock cemetery under the direction of Rix Funeral home.

Mrs. Blackmon died Tuesday afternoon in West Texas hospital, where she had been since Sunday. Prior to Sunday she had been in reasonably good health. She had lived in this vicinity for the last 31 years.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Alton Hardy, and Mrs. Ruth Merrill, both of Shallowater; four sons, G. W. and Elton, both of Abernathy, and Glen and Alton, both of Shallowater; two brothers, J. W. and M. G. Mixon of Olustee, Okla.; nine grandchildren; and four great grandchildren.

Annual Co-Op Meeting Held

NEW HOME, April 27. — Approximately 400 persons attended the annual meeting of the New Home Co-Operative Gin, held here last night at the New Home school. The meeting was preceded by a barbecue.

A highlight of the meeting was the distribution of some 453 checks totaling approximately $11,000, which went to patrons and stockholders of the gin.

Of the $11.000 total, approximately $4,300 was in retirement of old stock, while $4.500 distributed was new stock, and the remainder was interest.

Annual Audit Presented

Edwin Merriman, of the Lubbock firm of Merriman and Merriman, accountants, presented the annual audit of the co-operative gin. In it, the gin's total assets stand at $78.271.33 and total liabilities are $3,321.22. Total patrons equities in the co-op stand at $74,950.11. Of this, $1,920 is common stock, while $73.030.11 is in other equities, book credits, reserves, and the like.

The co op paid $675.80 in taxes, including state, county, and school assessments. The co-op this past year netted a grand total of $17,-520.

The dividends which were distributed last night were returned to stockholders and gin patrons in proportion to the amount which each producer had expended with the co-op.

Directors Elected

Wilmer Smith, president of the board of directors of the co-operative gin spoke briefly, stressing that "it is very necessary that we of the co-operative be a true co-operative in the spirit of the law as well as the letter of the law." He also briefly explained the income tax status of the co-op, in which he pointed out that it does not pay income taxes, since the association, as such, does not make a profit. Instead, each recipient of a dividend must pay income on what he received.

Members also elected two new directors to fill two posts which become vacant this year. Elected were Clyde Asheraft, jr., and Harlan Dean who will replace A. C. Fillingim and C. B Harston.

Other directors include Smith, who is president; Roy Lee Williams, secretary; and B. A. Morrow, Lee Savage, and Winferd Carpenter.

Other special guests in addition to Merriman, all of whom spoke briefly, were Otho Key, assistant manager of the Plains Co-Operative Oil Mill of Lubbock; Tommy Brown, manager of the Co-Operative Compress of Lubbock; G. H. Wiley, bookkeeper of the Co-Operative Compress; and Mrs. Lena M. Lucas, staff member of the accounting firm.

Prior to the barbecue supper, the invocation was asked by Will Harris.

South African natives are said to have little sense of time, which seemed to be corroborated when one recently called on a newspaper at Pietersburg and complained that he was tired waiting for his paper to start—showing a receipt date 1910.

Lectures Are Features Of Women's Club Meetings

JUNIOR WOMAN'S CLUB SEES FABRICS

At a Tuesday afternoon meeting of Lubbock Junior Woman's club, Max Recker of Dunlap's Decorating department was guest speaker. He showed samples of different types of fabrics ranging from imported silk velvets and French brocades to very modern American prints. Chinese, floral, nautical and animal designs were featured in some of the displayed materials. Mr. Recker told the group that any desired design can be made in Lubbock.

Miss Ardelle Hallock introduced the speaker and Mrs. Leroy Deardorff presided in the absence of Mrs. Carl H. Casey, president. Mrs. Emil D'Acosta was hostess at 1702 Ave. R.

Others at the meeting were Mesdames H. L. Allen, jr., D. H. Bradford, Galen Bradford, Roland Nabors, Kenneth Reast, Roy Bass, Misses Doris Stoneham and Dolores Thompson.

The club will have an installation of officers and guest day May 31 at 3 p.m. at 2016 Fifteenth. Mrs. D. H. Bradford is in charge of arrangements.

WOMEN OVERCOME PREJUDICE

Man's prejudice is the greatest obstacle women have had to overcome in their battle for emancipation during the past 100 years, and they have conquered prejudice to a large extent, Mrs. C. A. Bickley told members of Athanaeum club Tuesday, meeting with Mrs. Lucile Smith, 2701 Thirty-third.

Mrs. Bickley took the negative side in a debate on the question, "Are American Women Failing?" She pointed out that women have risen from a position almost equal to bond slavery in the past century.

Taking the affirmative side, Mrs. Stella Brown pointed out that women may be successful in business, but are failing as homemakers and mothers. She stressed that women make much effort to give their children material things, but fail to give them moral training. She also expressed her opinion that women have less courtesy and gentleness than they did in the past.

CLUB PROGRAM ON CHILD PROBLEMS

Children who are starting to school this year and the next will be different from the average children of the past, because their early lives were spent in a war-torn, jittery nation, according to Mrs. Nancy Green of the City-County Welfare service, who addressed members of Progressive Child Study club Tuesday afternoon.

The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. E. C. Hatton, 2911 Jefferson.

Speaking on "Emotional Upheaval of Children," Mrs. Green said that children from homes broken during the war, while their fathers were serving away from home, tend to feel inadequate, insecure and over-dependent.

Attending the meeting were Mesdames Jerry Holeman, Arch Harper, Pete Bynum, June Roberts, Lloyd Swanner, Lester Cooper, Donald Robertson, Hall McCrummen, Raymond Cone, Gordon Sanders, C. R. Skidmore, Paul Pugh, B. C. Spratt, L. H. Johnson, G. C. Stewart, Leo Healer, Herman Brucker and W. C. Rutledge.

MRS. MURPHY IS HOSTESS

Mesdames George Lemon and Charles Spencer were co-hostesses to a meeting of Clement-Sorosis Study club Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Dennis Murphy, 2403 Thirty-second.

Mrs. Margarette W. Walker, dean of women at Texas Technological college, was the main speaker, discussing, "Music, The Universal Art." Mrs. L. L. Beck was named to the Federated club advisory committee from Clement-Sorosis.

Attending were Mesdames R. H. Canaday, R. E. Gee, J. E. Harvey, Sam Henry, jr., Euel Liner, Lawrence Glenn, Belverd Needles, Herbert Bannister, Lennis Baker, Dewey Malone, J. D. Sanders, S. H. Assiter and Beck.

TWENTIETH CENTURY CLUB HEARS SPEAKER

Mrs. Fred Sparks discussed "International Relations," at a meeting of Twentieth Century club held Tuesday afternoon in Fellowship hall at the First Presbyterian church. Mrs. William D. Stone introduced the speaker.

Mrs. Leroy Patton, president, was in charge of a brief business session. The meeting, attended by some 18 members, closed with group singing of, "God Bless America."

CLUB PROGRAM IS ON CHINA

Mrs. W. A. Sides was hostess to a meeting of Pierian Sorosis club Tuesday afternoon in her home on Acuff road. Co-hostesses were Mesdames L. A. Sides and Odis Hackney.

Each member answered roll call by showing a piece of Chinese art and explaining its history and use. Mrs. L. A. Sides spoke on "The Confusion That Is China," and Mrs. C. J. Griggs discussed "China's Past Contributions to Civilization." The program also included a report from Mrs. L. H. Kirby on the recent convention of Seventh district, Texas Federation of Women's clubs.

A lighthouse at Sutton Bridge, England, is rented as a home for $1.50 a week.

Mary Haworth's Mail . . .

New Husband Strongly Insists That Wife Share Every Thought, Dream With Him

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: After 10 years' happy marriage I was widowed three years ago, and recently I married again, this time a bachelor six years my senior. Ralph is wonderful in every way and we seem, so far, to be completely compatible.

Then what is the problem? Simply this: Ralph is overwhelmingly possessive. He wants to know every thought I think; every dream, every fear or complex I have; the finest details of what I do when we are apart. In short, he wants us to be as close as is humanly possible.

While I love him deeply and wish to be all things to him, as he desires, and while I love the dear proximities of the married state, especially with him, still it is hard for me to remember at times that I am married again, much less married to him "without reservation," as he would like me to be.

WOMAN TREASURED PAST INDEPENDENCE

RECENTLY I made an independent decision in a business matter, acting impetuously as in former years, without thinking to consult him, and when it came to his attention he was deeply hurt because I had "failed to share" the problem with him. Of course he soon forgave me, but he has strongly impressed upon me since that I must bring everything, every thought, to him.

Ralph declares he has no wish to erase my identity or to submerge my personality in his; but such will happen if the pressure continues. Already I feel the first disintegration; and my independence was sweet to me. I have dreaded giving it up.

I am not ungrateful that he so loves and needs me; but is it unwise to let him persuade me to his way of thinking? Should I resist; or would our marriage be finer and steadier if I do surrender entirely? Does the novelty of marriage in his experience account for his attitude; or is it an expression of desire to dominate? I feel now that he is far stronger than I; and he seems to have adopted the married state more completely. What should I do?—Signed E. C.

MAN'S PROJECTING ANXIETY NEUROSIS

DEAR E. C.: It seems to me that Ralph's behavior refers to diffuse anxiety and insecurity; and his possessive desire to completely invade your personality, sharing every thought, reviewing every detail of your actions when out of his sight, etc., is an expression of jealous fear, lest the "love-object" somehow forget, overlook or neglect him.

Psychiatrists see in such behavior a lonely, frightened compulsive drive to retreat from life back to the sanctuary of the womb; and doubtless Ralph's demands on you, to "merge" completely with him, are infantile and (on the unconscious level) hysterically obdurate.

Thus the emotional intensity of his attitude may confuse and override your rational disposition to exercise a happy blend of individual reliance and essential cooperation in double harness; but his victory doesn't mean that he is the stronger of the two. Rather it signifies that the strain of his weak dependency exhausts you to the point of "no resistance" to the abnormal burden.

DON'T SURRENDER; SEEK COMPROMISE

VERY likely Ralph was captivated, firstly and wholly, by your independent fiber and contented air of certitude in coping with life; and possibly you are a bit headlong about taking the bit in your teeth, without consulting others' ideas, when a decision is to be made. Hence some thoughtful restraint of characteristic impetuosity may be advisable on your part, to strike an accommodating gait in marriage. But total surrender to Ralph's peculiar bias isn't sensible, in my opinion.

Dr. Alexander Magoun's book "Love and Marriage," (Harper & Brothers), should be studied by both of you, for clear perspective on the implications of his behavior, and for substantial instrction on how to relieve his symptoms at the source — if he will respond to honest teaching. M. H.

Mary Haworth counsels through her column, not by mail or personal interview. Write her in care of The Lubbock Evening Journal.

Van Wagoners Are Hosts To Lubbockites In Munich

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The article published below was sent to The Avalancho-Journal by Margaret Turner, Woman's Editor, who is spending a two month's vacation in Europe.)

• • •

MUNICH—A weekend visit in the home of Gov. and Mrs. Murray D. Van Wagoner will always rate a high spot in our memories. The invitation to visit Munich came to Mrs. John D. Lynch, who has been an acquaintance since before the days Van Wagoner served as Democratic governor of Michigan and they were kind enough to include Ruth Ford and the Woman's Angle.

Lt. and Mrs. Robert M. Smiley drove us as far as Salzburg, Austria, and spent the weekend at the Oehterreichischer Hof while we went on to Munich with Gov. Van Wagoner's driver, one corporal McGruddy. He knows this part of Germany as well as he knows the back of his hand and was very agreeable about going a circuitous route in order that we could see some of the late Hitler's favorite retreats en route.

• • •

The Eagle's Nest, Hitler's mountain-top house, a sight-seeing target for all tourists, is closed until May 1 but we got a fairly good view of how it is situated from Berchtesgaden. At Bad Reichenhall, an interesting old town twelve miles north from Berchtesgaden, we boarded a cable car and were taken to the mile high Berg hotel on Predigtstuhl mountain, a mountain retreat which has been converted to a ski school and from where we obtained a view that took our breath. Skiers were swirling in a driving snowstorm. Coming down, suspended half way between heaven and earth, was another breathless experience.

• • •

WE HAVE read that Bavaria is considered one of the most beautiful countries in Europe and certainly no one could have asked for a more exciting ride than that along the Autobahn, part of the time in a blinding snow; the remainder of the way in the sunshine. We doubt if Herr Hitler would approve of it, but the EES has placed snack bars along the Autobahn to "enchance your driving pleasure" and we stopped at Alpine Way and had a mid-afternoon hamburger and a cup of coffee. Here was a touch of America because a juke box was playing American records and the place was filled with American soldiers, some making jokes; some buying candy bars; others reading "The Stars and Stripes," unofficial publication of U. S. Occupation Forces in Europe.

• • •

MURRAY D. Van Wagoner, land director of the Office of Military government in Bavaria, his charming wife and their 16-year-old daughter, Jo, live in one of the most pretentious homes in Munich, built in 1940 by Ernst Ley, labor leader, for the Nazis. It is a large two-story residence with an immense basement running its length and which Mr. Ley fitted up for games, for private showings of movies and where his screen, projection machine and chairs still remain. Other basement luxuries are a laundry and a bomb shelter. The exit from the latter spot has been closed.

• • •

The immense drawing room is tastefully furnished, with the exception of three paintings which came from Hitler's stolen collection; an immense grand piano stands in the music room. Our favorite room was Gov. Van Wagoner's study where American newspapers, books and magazines and a number of their personal belongings strike a perhaps incongruous, but happy note.

• • •

THE Van Wagoners are a family who have always found pleasure in each other's company. Gov. Van Wagoner is a large, well dressed, handsome man; the type usually chosen in the movies to play the role of a governor. Strictly a man's man; we think the choice of sending him here to oversee the reconstruction of lives and property in Munich is a definite representation of a genuine American. During our visit, the signing of the agreement of the three powers to the formation of a Western Germany took place and we asked Gov. Van Wagoner if it were not a red letter day for the Germans. "It had better be," he answered. "We are doing everything possible to safeguard democracy here."

• • •

Eighty per cent of the Bavarian factories that were operating in 1936 are in swing again; the bomb-blasted city of Munich is slowly being reconstructed and farmers are in their fields from before dawn until after dusk.

How long will occupation be needed in Germany? Gov. Van Wagoner suggested perhaps twenty or thirty years. One does not teach democracy, he reminded. One lives it and it takes a long time for the tree of liberty to grow.

• • •

INCIDENTALLY, we got a thrill in riding in the late Himmler's car, which, with a German chauffeur, Joseph, has been loaned to Gov. Van Wagoner during his stay. It is a 7 passenger Mercedes and was favored by its owner when he paraded during his hey day.

Women Are Tea Guests

Mrs. Ray Hunter and Mrs. Herschel Girod entertained with a tea Tuesday afternoon in the Hunter home, 3002 Twenty-ninth, between the hours of 3 and 6 o'clock. One hundred guests called.

In the houseparty were Mesdames Donovan Stafford, R. C. Hewitt, U. S. Robinson and David Weaver.

The tea table was centered with an arrangement of purple iris and party rooms were decorated with spring flowers in pastel colors.

Elected To Board

Mesdames Howard Hampton, J. C. Rigney and George Berry were elected Tuesday night by the advisory committee of Lubbock Women's club to serve three-year terms on the club's board of directors. The meeting was conducted in the home of Mrs. Berry, incumbent chairman of the committee. Installation ceremony is to be held at an annual open May meeting.

Mrs. Berry made a final report on the ticket sales of a recent house beautiful tour sponsored by the club.

Twenty members attended and plans were made to hold the next committee meeting in June, at which the time new officers are to be elected.

Service Is Conducted

Freedom chapter, No. 898, Order of the Eastern Star, conducted a memorial service for late mebbers of the Lodge, under grand jurisdiction of Texas, Thursday night at IOOF hall. The candlelight service was directed by Mrs. Fred Holleman, assisted by Miss Bessie Bullock who read during the ceremony. Chapter officers participated in the service and presented a drill.

Miss Sue Tyson sang "Face to Face," "The Lord Is My Shepherd" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Pink rosebuds, bridal wreath and fern decorated the altar memorial cloth and the hall. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Holleman, Miss Bullock and Mrs. A. D. Leonard, hostesses, to 60 members and guests who were from Earth, Plainview and Oklahoma City chapters.

Reports on recent visits to the Anton, Tahoka and Lubbock Truth chapters, to the homecoming at the OES home in Arlington, and to a school of instruction in Dallas were made.

Musicians Take Tests

State board examinations for music pupils who receive credit in school for private piano, voice and voilin lessons are being given today, and will continue Thursday and Friday, at First Methodist church, under sponsorship of South Plains Music Teachers association.

Mrs. Margaret Heiny of the Musical Conservatory, Amarillo, and Guy Woods, head of the Wayland college music department, Plainview, have been named state examiners. Approximately 300 pupils are expected to take the examinations.

The two examiners are to be honored at a dinner at 8 p. m. tonight in Colonial room of Hilton hotel. Mrs. Lillian Bulter is chairman of the event.

Texas U. Student Is Winner Of Contest

NEW YORK, April 27. (AP) — James L. Rogers, 23-year-old University of Texas student, was announced today as the winner of the 1949 journalism contest of the American Newspaper Publishers association.

He was presented $500 and a gold medal for his entry on the topic, "how readership studies affect news, features and advertising in newspapers."

Second place went to Clifford F. Johnson, a negro student at the University of Oregon.

Third place went to William P. Stempien of the University of Texas.

Hearing On Firing Of Officer Slated

WICHITA FALLS, April 27. (U.P) —A hearing on whether Police Chief Chris Jensen should be discharged will be held here May 7.

District Judge Frank Ikard yesterday granted Jensen a temporary restraining order to prevent the Wichita Falls city council from firing him.

The council voted to discharge the police chief outright last Monday night after he had turned down their request for him to resign.

Dodgers Defeat Braves, 5-2

Johnny Sain Tagged For Nine Hits By Brooks; Giants Lose

By JOE REICHLER
Assocoated Press Sports Yriter

Boston's Johnny Sain and the Giant's Larry Jansen are being tabbed today as the two biggest early season pitching flops of 1949.

Counted on to carry their teams this year following superlative '48 seasons, both have been terrific disappointments. Each has started three times with nary a victory.

Sain, whose 24 triumphs last year was the biggest single factor in bringing the first National league pennant to Boston in 34 years, currently owns an inglorious 0-2 won and lost record.

Have Rough Time

Jansen, fortunate in being backed by heavy hitting support, has been charged with only one defeat, but the Giants haven't won any of the games Jansen has started.

Both had extremely rough sledding yesterday. Sain, who previously had been beaten by Philadelphia and shelled from the mound by the Giants, managed to go the distance, but he and the Braves were handed a 5-2 shellacking by the Brooklyn Dodgers in Ebbets field. The big righthander was tagged for nine hits including home runs by Gene Hermanski and Pee Wee Reese.

Preacher Roe spacea seven hits for his first victory for the Dodgers, who regained the league lead, a half game in front of idle Pittsburgh and the Giants. Hermanski, who replaced the light-hitting Cal Abrams in left field, got two hits and also made the fielding gem of the game. He started the first triple play of the season, coming in fast to make a running catch of Alvin Dark's short fly. A Hermanski-Jackie Robinson-Gil Hodges relay engineered the triple killing.

Phils Beat Giants

Jansen still hasn't pitched a complete game. He lasted only six innings yesterday as the fighting Phils came from behind to nip the Giants 12-11 in eleven innings. After the Giants had taken an 11-9 lead in the top of the 11th, the Phils came roaring back with three runs climaxed by Del Ennis' home run with a man on base.

Gerry Coleman, rookie infielder filling in for the injured George Stirnweiss at second base, slammed his first major league home run to give the first place New York Yankees a 5-4 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics. Coleman's round tripper came off Alex Kellner in the last half of the eighth with a mate aboard to erase a 4-3 Mackmen margin. Kellner had replaced starter Phil Marchildon in the first inning. The latter had complained of pain in his right shoulder while serving up to the first batter.

Tigers Take Second

The Detroit Tigers moved into second place, a game and a half from the top, by taking both ends of a double header from the White Sox in Chicago, 6-2 and 7-5. The Tigers had to go 10 innings to win the second game.

Johnny Groth, Detroit's sensational rookie, doubled home the runs in the extra frame that gave relief pitcher Dizzy Trout the triumph. Groth also helped in the first game victory with a two-run single.

Manager Lou Boudreau hit his first home run of the season and righthander Bob Lemon pitched his first shutout as the Cleveland Indians nipped the St. Louis Browns 1-0. Boudreau's clout came in the fourth and was one of the four hits allowed by Red Embree, a former Indian pitcher. Lemon now has a lifetime record of 13 wins and only one defeat against St. Louis.

The scheduled games between Washington and the Red Sox in Boston, and Cincinnati against the Cardinals at St. Louis were postponed by rain. Pittsburgh and the Chicago Cubs were not scheduled.

Westerner Trackmen Drill For Big Meet

The Westerner track squad has been narrowed to six boys with completion of the Region One track and field show last week, and their eyes will be focused on the state track and field meet in Austin May 6-7 in which an estimated 500 Texas schoolboys, the pick of the 1949 crop, will compete.

Of this number a small delegation will be from Lubbock. In last week's meet Donald Decker, Alfred Adair, Cecil Caddell, Charlie Williams, Malcolm Young, and Wayne Stroud qualified for the big show, the thirty-ninth annual University Interscholastic league state meet to be held at Texas Memorial stadium.

Entered In Seven Events

The Westerner delegation will be entered in seven events. Adair and Caddell will try their luck at the pole vault, and Adair will be entered in the high jump. Williams will compete in the broad jump, 220-yard dash, and the 100-yard dash. Decker will run in the century and the 200-yard low hurdles. The 440-yard relay team will roundout Lubbock participation with Young, Stroud, Williams, and Decker carrying the baton.

Tuesday afternoon a good warm-up session was held, and the boys practiced their starts. The relay team made several tries, but the handoffs were rather poorly executed.

May Go To Abilene

Coaches Fred Brown and Pat Ferris are considering taking the six qualifiers to a meet in Abilene Saturday to keep them active in competition with other boys. Williams, who was out most of the track season with a pulled leg muscle, and Stroud, also sidelined but because of illness, would find the meet very helpful.

If the boys were to go to Abilene they would enter the same events there as in the state meet and perhaps a few more. Decker has wanted to try his hand at the broad jump, and Adair would like to throw the discus.

Riviere Favored In Schoolboy Tourney

DALLAS, April 27. (AP)—Qualifying starts today in the ninth annual Texas high school championship golf tournament.

Bernard Riviere of Lamar (Houston) is the pre-tournament favorite to win the title vacated by Billy Maxwell of Abilene.

Riviere yesterday toured the soggy 6498-yard Cedar Crest course in 71 strokes, par.

Levelland Fighter Tires Early In Bout

Jean Mougin Gains Decision Victory Over Bill Henderson

Bill Henderson tried again last night, but again he failed, losing a unanimous decision to Jean Mougin of Paris, France, in the 10-round main event on the Jaycee fight card at Chapman Fieldhouse before a disappointed crowd of 2,000 persons.

The faithful braved one of the most startling thunder and lightning storms of the year, only to see more fireworks in the ring than outside the building. Mougin scored easily and repeatedly with left jabs to the head and body, piling up points and weakening Henderson.

A preliminary card, featuring four six-round fights and a six-round semi-final, also provided the crowd with entertainment. One of the four rounders, the initial one, ended in a first round knockout and another four rounder ended in a technical knockout in the third canto.

No Close Decisions

Judges Tom Murphy and K. N. Clapp weren't forced to make any close decisions, although the fight between Sammy Galvan and Chino Alonzo was tight most of the way. Alonzo gained the edge in the final two rounds to wrap up the decision, which was unanimous.

Jimmy Boggs of Amarillo, substituting for Dickie Brown of the same city, who had a cut eye, gave Gene James of Lubbock a tough fight. Boggs, a middleweight, bobbed and weaved constantly, making James miss and look bad. The Lubbock fighter finally used his 23-pound weight advantage to wear down his smaller, but game, opponent.

Tired In Sixth

Henderson might have put up a better scrap had he been in better condition, but he barely was able to go ten rounds. He tired visibly as early as the sixth stanza and his seconds had to use all the knowledge at their command to keep him going.

Mougin gave an indication of what was to follow in the opening round, when he shot several long left jabs to Henderson's mid section. The Frenchman kept whipping the left under Henderson's guard and he staggered the Tech student early in the round with a stiff left.

Henderson appeared to be feeling out Mougin and took rights and lefts with only token answer. But in the second, Henderson began to show life. Mougin stung him with a right jab and hooked a left that hurt. Henderson began working on the Paris boy's body and took a solid left hook. Henderson shot a right to the face, they exchanged blows and Henderson unwound a good left hook to the head.

Mougin stayed on top of Henderson in the second round and, after raining lefts and rights, staggered the Lubbock fighter with a hard left. The fighters kept up an even exchange of lefts and rights, but Mougin's blows carried more sting.

The fourth was a good round for both fighters, each getting in good lefts and rights, with the crowd cheering. Mougin was faster with his jab and kept catching Henderson on the head, along with body blows. Henderson retaliated with left hooks and short right jabs.

The fifth may have been the turning point in the fight. Henderson became the aggressor and carried the fight to the evading Frenchman. Henderson landed repeatedly with left jabs and short rights that stung, even though Mougin was covering up beautifully. Mougin slipped in a couple of solid rights during the round, but Henderson had him in trouble at the bell and had opened a cut over Mougin's left eye.

Mougin returned to carry a body punishment attack to Henderson in the sixth, throwing left, right, left constantly at the midriff. Once, following a hard right to the head by Mougin, Henderson stopped and grinned. It was his last wide smile. Henderson staggered Mougin with a right and followed up with a series of lefts and rights.

Henderson was breathing heavily when he came back to his corner and from that point on it was a question only of time and his ability to remain on his feet

Savage Right Hurts

Mougin pounded Henderson hard for the next three rounds with lefts and rights to the body and a savage right that punished, but failed to down Henderson. Finally, in the ninth canto, Henderson went down twice, each time getting up at the count of four. Mougin came in for the kill, but Henderson successfully evading the probing six-ounce hands of the Frenchman.

Henderson rallied briefly in the tenth, long enough at least to avoid a knockout. But there was no question about the decision. Two officials gave Mougin six rounds and one gave him four. Two officials gave Henderson three rounds and one gave him two. One official counted a round even, another called two square and the third had three rounds even.

In the semi-finals, Galvan and Chino Alonzo staged a fine exhibition, both boys trading leather freely, with Alonzo hitting a little harder and more often. It wasn't a close decision and the judges were unanimous.

Marquez floored Hernandez with a short left hook after 58 seconds of light boxing and the Mexico City fighter was out cold.

Olivas showed too much class for Malacara, hammering him hard with fast lefts and rights in the first round and half-closing his right eye. Olivas closed the eye completely in the second and contented himself with sparring him from that point on. He gained an easy, unanimous decision.

LaVern Roach and O. J. "Bo" Sexton were the referees for the fights.

Lubbock Nine Battles Cubs

The Westerner baseball team was scheduled to play at Brownfield today in a District 1-AA contest, beginning at 3:45 p. m. The contest will be the fourth for Lubbock, following three games that were won easily by the local squad.

The Cubs have gone winless in four previous starts, having lost twice to Plainview and two times to the Westerners. The game today will complete the schedule between the two teams for the 1949 season. Two games with Plainview remain, scheduled for April 30 and May 3 at Plainview.

Hamilton May Start

Coach Fred Taylor had not decided Tuesday on his starting pitcher for the game, but it will likely be Jimmy Hamilton. He said, however, that he may use all three of his hurlers. The other two are Jimmy Richards and Bennie Day.

Each of the pitchers owns a conference victory. Hamilton received credit for the victory over Plainview with a six-hit performance, winning 11-6. Richards took the first of a doubleheader with the Cubs, giving up six safeties while his teammates were pounding out a 19-3 win. And Southpaw Day pitched a no-hitter in the five inning finale of the doubleheader to win, 12-1.

Galey To Fill Gap

With Bobby Brown out of the lineup at the shortstop position, Charles Galey is likely to move from second base to fill the gap until Brown's ankle heals. That will move Dan Adkisson to second base from the second team shortstop.

Golden Tornadoes Drop Abilene, 7-4

LAMESA, April 27. (Special)—Six District 3-AA baseball victories in a row have been chalked up by Lamesa's Golden Tornadoes after the 7-4 win over Abilene here yesterday before 300 fans.

The Tornadoes, in first place with six wins and one loss and only four games left to play, greatly aided their title chances by beating second-place Abilene.

Righthander Jerry Phillips gained his second win of the season while giving up only four hits, fanning seven, and walking eight batters.

Lamesa collected six hits off Abilene's Tommy O'Bar, including a double by Third Baseman Larry Lattimore and a pair of singles by Left Fielder Frank Rose.

The Tornadoes made all their runs in two innings of the lengthy, seven frame contest. They scored three times in the first on singles by Rose and Catcher Walter Massengale, two errors, and a walk, and iced the decision with four counters in the fifth on Lattimore's two-bagger, Shortstop Lewis Duncan's single, three walks, and two Eagle errors.

LAMESA 300 040 x—7 6 5

Clovis Drubs Hubbers

Pioneers Win By 11-1 Score

Big scores predominated in the zany West Texas-New Mexico League again last night, with a total of 58 runs crossing the plate in all four games.

Only a 17 to 0 licking plastered on Pampa by Albuquerque saved the Hubbers from being the worst humiliated club in the loop last night. As it was, it took three walks, following a single, for the Lubbock club to avoid a shutout, Clovis beating them 11 to 1.

Borger failed to kick the second extra point, but won its game in the first quarter from Lamesa, 13-7. Amarillo and Abilene had a ball game at Amarillo, the Gold Sox winning 5-4.

Fries Serves Warning

Clayton Fries again served warning that he is going to be difficult to deal with this year, letting the Lamesa Loboes down on nine hits for the victory. Lefty Bill Jones, who once was the league's leading pitcher, exited early, after giving up three runs in the first. In the midst of a six-run third inning rally, Jones went to the showers.

That inning was all the Gassers needed to flatten the Lobo ego somewhat and it kept the Borger club in first place.

The Hubbers again were something less than marvelous, both in the field and at bat. They matched hits and runs evenly, getting five and making five. All of which aided the Pioneers in taking an 11-1 decision.

Pitts Fails Again

Lefty Herby Pitts didn't have it again and went out of the game in the second inning. By that time, Clovis had a lead of 3-0 and they weren't approached after that.

The Hubbers staged a mild rally in the fifth, when Buddy McCallum singled and successive walks followed to Manager Jackie Sullivan, Jim Prince and Chick Fowler, the latter getting credit for averting the whitewash with the forcing in of McCallum.

George Matthews, the old lefthander, came in with one out and the bases loaded to stifle the Hubbers completely over the remainder of the route. He received credit for the win, his second of the year over the Lubbock club.

Lubbock concludes its two-game series with Clovis tonight, while Lamesa faces Borger again tonight.

Longhorn And Rio Grande Loops Open

(By The Associated Press)

The Class D Rio Grande and Longhorn baseball leagues open play tonight, bringing to seven the number of circuits operating in Texas.

The Rio Grande is a brand new outfit. The Longhorn opens its third year of operation.

Opening night schedule in the Rio Grande league matches Laredo at Del Rio; Corpus Christi at Brownsville; McAllen at Donna.

Corpus Christi and Laredo will be road clubs for a few days—until their parks are ready.

Between The Lines. . .

By Joe Kelly

Bitter despair and chagrin was etched on Bill Henderson's face after his fight with Jean Mougin of Paris, France, last night. This was the fight Bill was sure he could win. He exuded confidence beforehand, talking with friends before getting dressed and keeping a warm smile on his face. He was pleased to be showing to his hometown folks and friends and he wanted to reward them by making it a good fight.

• • •

No one can say it wasn't a good scrap. It was, all the way. That it ended as it did was unfortunate. We wouldn't go so far as to say that Henderson was outmatched badly. He wasn't. He fought well for the first six rounds, giving as good as he took. His one weakness was an opening on the right side that allowed Mougin to score repeatedly with a left jab. Reach was against him there. In the in-fighting, Henderson more than held his own and on the few occasions when he bored under that reach, he dished out a lot of punishment.

• • •

But there is no question in anyone's mind, after seeing the two fighters in action, that Bill wasn't ready for this fight. He wasn't trained as well, not as regards the mechanics of the ring, but as to physical strength. He gave the appearance of being in good condition. There was no obvious fat around his midsection and his legs were well trimmed. But he tired as early as the sixth round. By the seventh, we thought he was fighting from instinct, out on his feet, or at least severely groggy. He was breathing hard, not the natural breathing of a fighter, when he returned to his corner following the sixth round.

• • •

From that point on, Henderson's seconds had to work and work to get him ready for the next canto. Smelling salts in a bottle failed to work. They had to dip cotton swabs into the bottle and then insert them well up Bill's nostrils. He was a dazed fighter and he knew only too well, if by instinct only, that he had to stay away from the threatening right Mougin kept cocked ready to throw. Mougin threw that right and it landed, but never flush, never directly enough for the knockout. And Bill fought back with all the remaining dregs of power left in him.

• • •

We felt sorrier for Bill because of his condition than because of the punishment he took. Had he been ready to go ten rounds, he would not have taken the punishment. But there's something wrong somewhere. He's a young fighter and should be able to go ten rounds now. He trains religiously, always has. He works constantly. He keeps his body fit. And yet, there's some reason why he gets winded. Mougin was working just as hard as Bill, yet he breathed easily all the time. Maybe Bill's diet isn't the best. Possibly he's stuffing too much food into his system, trying to gain weight. Whatever it is, he'd best cut it if he wants to fight main events.

• • •

An announcement by Ray Simmons from the ring caused a number of people to gulp with astonishment. Simmons said that there was a strong possibility that Lew Jenkins, pride of Sweetwater, might be brought to Lubbock to fight Bill. That would be the same thing as putting LaVern Roach, let's say, in the ring against Joe Louis, or putting your head into a buzz saw. If anyone is foolish enough to give that serious consideration, they'd better forget it. Jenkins would unequivocally and finally splatter Bill from one ring post to the other. It would be no contest.

• • •

That's one fight that no sane person would commend, approve or condone. Jenkins is a veteran with a punch that still hits like a mule kicking. Henderson, with 17 bouts, still is a long way from meeting the Sweetwater fighter. If the Jaycees want to retain friends and influence people, they'd better think three or four times before sponsoring that match. LaVern, when he heard the announcement, leaned over the ropes and made a few pertinent remarks anent the proposal. He asked why they didn't just match him and Bill and let it go at that, that he could do just as much damage. He isn't for it, nor is Bo Sexton, another man with ring experience.

• • •

There is a remote possibility, we learn, of Jenkins coming here to live. And if he does, he wants to go on with his fighting. Fine. He'd make a fine gate attraction, especially if they brought in such fighters as Jake LaMotta and others of his squal. But so far as feeding sheep to the wolves is concerned, the sponsoring parties had better investigate the land first. Lew could make some pretty good money fighting in Lubbock, El Paso, Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston, San Antonio and other cities. But if they're going to toss any lambs to the slaughter, let's let them do it elsewhere. This is, after all, still a respectable community.

Hogan Recommends Five Iron For Control Shots To Green

By BEN HOGAN

Sometimes in hitting to the green you will find yourself in a situation where it is impossible to impart the maximum of underspin to the ball and still get enough distance to reach the green. You are not able to hold the ball on the green even if you reach it because you have sacrificed underspin for distance.

The club in your bag which will impart the most underspin, or backspin, to the ball is the five iron. I don't know why that should be true, but it has been tested and proved to be a fact.

Of course, you don't hit as hard with a nine iron as you do, for instance, with a five iron. Considering the amount of loft you have, the amount of power you use, and the flight of the ball you get, however, the five iron is the club which gives you the most underspin and, therefore, provides you with the most control of the ball.

The one iron, or driving iron, is the most difficult club in the bag to master. In order to obtain maximum results with it you have to use more power than with any other club.

There is so little loft on a one iron that you have the double problem of trying to hit this shot much harder while still trying to get the ball into the air with a controlled flight. This means that in order to accomplish that, you must reach the lowest arc of your swing just in front of the ball.

Americans Vs. English

The reason this is essential is that it is the only way that you can hit the ball squarely and at the same time impart the degree of underspin which is absolutely necessary for control. Again I emphasize the fact that you must have a great degree of underspin on iron shots to maintain any control of them at all.

The reason why most players of the English school of golf, and I will include Bobby Locke in that school, don't control their shots to the green as well as the American professionals do, is that they don't use the underspin mentioned here. We drive the ball into the greens with a lower traiectory, more authority and more control, whereas the players of the English school prefer to lob it to the greens.

I've also been told by English players who have visited here that we practice our iron shots more than they do. This constant practice enables us to keep our iron shots crisp while still maintaining control of them.

Pitch And Chip Shots

Two different iron shots which are almost always sure to confuse the beginning golfer are chip shots and pitch shots. Perhaps, it will simplify matters if I say that when the ball is twenty yards, or less, from the green I play a chip shot. When it is more than twenty yards from the green I play a pitch shot.

The chief difference between these two shots, in relation to the use of the body at least, is that where a pitch shot calls for a moderate amount of body movement, a chip shot requires no movement of the body worth mentioning.

There is also a difference in the clubs selected to make this shot. Never take more than a four iron to make a chip shot. The 1, 2 or 3 irons are just not practical because the haven't enough loft. The reason for taking a club with more loft than that provided by the one, two or three irons is that the chip shot must be hit so easily that it is impossible to get the ball up off the ground with any flight at all with one of the lesser lofted clubs.

In fact, the most common error in attempting a chip shot is not taking a club with enough loft. For example, I very seldom take less loft than a six iron for this shot.

Chop Shots Described

Whatever you do, don't make the mistake of chipping the ball so that it rolls most of the way. Figure on a certain amount of roll, but not too much. For instance, with a seven iron chip the ball about 15 feet and figure on another 15 feet for roll.

When chipping I try to place the ball where I will get an uphill putt. I don't want a downhill putt, if I can help it, because if I miss it I am apt to have another putt of about the same distance coming back. So I check the green carefully before making a chip shot.

The ball is played very close to your feet. Once again assume the tripod posture I have mentioned before.

The club is taken back with the hands only. The right elbow rests on the right hip to insure the arms, hands and club a pivotal point. If you set up this pivotal point correctly you reduce the margin of error and your club will return to the place from which you addressed the ball.

On the address remember to open the stance considerably on chip shots and use about a quarter turn of your body. The weight has to be on the left foot on this shot because it brings the lowest part of the swing in front of the ball, enabling you to hit the ball first and the ntake turf with the blade of the club. If the weight is equally distributed between the two feet or on the right foot you will find yourself hitting behind the ball or half topping it.

Using Loft Shot

Let the loft of the club pick the ball up. Never try to loft the ball with some movement of your body or hands. If you need more loft get a loftier club, but don't try to swing under the ball.

Make sure that both hands ride along with the shaft of the club. Don't let the head of the club come up. Keep the head of the club as low to the ground as possible at the finish.

Starting at the address the hands should be well forward and should be kept there. Try to get your hands out in front of the clubhead and keep them there during the swing.

There are all kinds of pitch shots. Some players loft the ball up, others play the ball low with a lot of bite on it. Bobby Locke, the South African, plays this shot with more loft on the ball than the American players. We prefer to play the shot low and with a lot of bite on the ball.

In making a lob shot to the green be sure to take a club with plenty of loft. The clubface is open, the ball more forward in relation to the feet than is usually customary. The swing is slow, the ball is not hit hard and very little turf is taken.

The low pitch shot with a bite on the ball might be played with the same club as the lob shot, but the position of the ball in relation to the feet is different. It is back more toward the right foot.

Your hands are in front of the clubhead and the wrists are broken rapidly on the backswing. The swing is short, but brought down into the ball so that it is hit hard. As you hit the ball the hands continue to remain in front of the clubhead. The weight is well forward on the left foot.

• • •

Mention of the pitch shots recalls to mind that quite often the novice doesn't realize that this shot can be made with a sand wedge. The heavy sand wedge used by the professionals and described in detail in the chapter on bunker shots is ideal for pitch shots.

Probably one reason why most novice golfers don't us the sand wedge on pitch shots is that they hesitate to make pitch shots.

The sand wedge is ideal for these shots because the blade has plenty of loft and the flange prevents the club blade from digging into the turf. If you gauge the shot correctly the ball should fly right up on the green.

Experiment with this club a little to find out what your maximum distance with it is. Then go ahead and start using it for all pitch shots from your maximum distance right on in to the green.

You can also use the eight iron and nine iron, to play pitch shots to the green. For that reason they are very important clubs to the player working to reduce his score.

Watch Tournament Players

On this shot the ball must be hit downward. That is necessary in order for you to get underspin, or backspin, on the ball and thus control it. Provided you get the proper amount of backspin on the ball, this shot will make the ball stop soon after it lands on the green.

Watch the tournament golfers play the pitch shot and you will notice that they will rely on the loft of the clubface to provide the right amount of height to the ball. They make no effort to scoop or lift the ball into the air by means of false hand action.

In stepping up to the ball to make this shot, the feet are fairly close together. The stance is slightly open, the right foot being slightly nearer the intended line of flight.

As in all golf shots, the action is unhurried at the beginning of the downswing. There is a moderate amount of body movement. The feature of this shot, however, is the very definite amount of hand action at impact. In fact, both the hands and arms are very active in this shot, but it definitely is not made with a scooping motion.

Another thing to remember in using the eight iron and nine iron, is that the clubhead travels through the ball following along the intended line of flight.

Variations

Quite often during the course of a round of golf you are faced with the problem of getting around obstacles such as trees, stones, or buildings. To accomplish it you will have to play either a slice or a hook as the case may be. On a slice the ball will turn to the right in flight, while on a hook it will curve to the left.

Many golfers are plagued with a slice or a hook while trying to make a straight shot, but you're not a finished golfer until you control slices and hooks to your own advantage on the golf course. The grips for these variation shots are described and discussed in the chapter, Evolution of the Hogan Grip while the stances for them will be found in the chapter Stance Gives You Balance.

For the slice play the ball from a normal position. However, your clubface and stance are opened considerably. Do not pronate the hands or roll the wrists. Make sure that the clubface remains open. Aim to the left, making an allowance for the curve you have to make around the obstacle in question.

Hooked iron shots are just the reverse. The stance is closed. Aim to the right. Turn the face of the club in at address.

Hit On The Downswing

On the hook as the club comes into the ball on the downswing the hands are now rolled over, or pronated, to the left. On both the hook and the slice the ball should be hit on the downswing and turf should be taken after the ball is struck.

The curved flight of the ball on both the hook and the slice is caused by the spin imparted as the clubhead cuts across the ball at any angle. These two shots, the slice and the hook, will be very valuable to you not only for their positive value in getting around obstacles, but in a negative sense as well because in order to learn to play an intentional slice or an intentional hook you must have a full knowledge of these shots. Many golfers have a permanent slice or a permanent hook, but they are only of value when you have full control of them.

Whatever kind of an iron you elect to play each shot is a study. Take the time to select the proper club and shot required. Consider the trajectory required, the distance the ball must travel and the lie. However, if the lie does not permit the required shot, sacrifice either height or distance or both and play for a spot which will leave you a simple shot as your next one. Take particular pains to select the correct club because a straight shot either too long or too short is just as costly as one off line.

Rod Fenton To Battle Curtis

Newcomers and old faces will appear in the mat war tonight in Sled Allen's arena, and in the main event Rod Fenton will meet George Curtis who has not fought here in several months. Fights begin at 8 p. m.

Curtis comes back to the local arena after a lengthy absence, and since he was last here he has improved greatly. The Mississippi native is younger and faster than Fenton and is reported to be a tough man to handle in his weight division.

He will have to use all his ring know-how to stop Fenton for the Canuck is tricky and smart and quick to take advantage of his opponent's mistakes.

The semi-final match pits George Dusette against Alex Kasaboski. Dusette relies on his strength and toughness to wear his opponent down and then steps in to end the fight. He is in his first appearance here and is a clean, scientific wrestler.

Kasaboski is appearing here for the third time, having come here with reputation for roughness. He has no scruples as to the method he uses to win a match, and both wrestlers appear to be rough and fast—good material for a speedy fight.

In the 20-minute preliminary bout Jack Pappenheim returns to meet Hy Sharman, and fans who remember the Oregonian will be pulling for him to defeat Sharman. Sharman made his first appearance here last week after recovering from a broken jaw in a bout with Ace Freeman last year. A good match is in prospect.

Tickets are on sale at Wylies Drug store from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., and matches start at 8 p. m.

Wichita Falls Beats Temple Eagles, 7-6

(By The Associated Press)

The second-place Wichita Falls Spudders edged the Temple Eagles 7 to 6 in Wichita Falls last night to gain 42 percentage points on the idle first-place Texarkana Bears in the Big State baseball league. Forty-seven points now separate the two clubs.

Two games, Greenville at Texarkana and Waco at Sherman, were rained out. In the fourth game, Gainesville climbed from seventh to fifth place, by defeating Austin in Gainesville, 10 to 6.

AGGIES TO COMPETE

COLLEGE STATION, April 27. ¼—Texas A. and M. will send seven tracksters to Des Moines, Iowa, Friday to compete in the Drake Relays. The mile relay team of Don Mitchell, Connie Ludwick, Ervin Bilderback and Ray Holbrook, unbeaten for two years, carries A. and M.'s best hopes for a first place.

Dallas Eagles Top Tulsa Nine, 12-5

(By The United Press)

Even the pitchers hit on the Texas league leading Dallas Eagle outfit that won its 12th game in 13 starts last night to stretch its margin to two full games over the idle San Antonio Missions.

Not that they need to, for the Eagles are setting a terrific pace at the plate as well as in the standings.

But southpaw Tommy Finger helped himself win his third start of the season last night with three hits in four trips, one of them a ringing triple, and his reliefer, Otho Nitcholas, got one blow in his only trip to the plate.

The Eagles won 12-5 with a 15-hit attack sparked by two home runs and two singles by Buck Frierson and a double and two singles by Leo Wells as well as Finger's timely hitting. Bob Sanders, Frank Smith and Jim Davidson were the Tulsa mound victims.

Meanwhile, San Antonio and Beaumont were idled by wet grounds, Fort Worth nipped Oklahoma City 4-3 in 10 innings and Shreveport stopped the Houston Buffs 4-2 to hang onto third and fourth places, respectively.

Oklahoma City's battling Indians kept up their game play by coming from behind with a two-run, ninth inning rally to tie the Cats 3-3, but relief hurler Vic Johnson walked three men in a row in the 10th to set the stage for Al Leap's game-winning single. Johnson was the fourth Indian pitcher. Joe Landrum went the route for the Cats.

Fred Baczewski got credit for Shreveport's victory when Buff miscues permitted three unearned runs in the seventh. Red Fahr had to relieve him in the ninth to snuff out a Houston threat. Clarence Beers was the Houston loser.

The same clubs play again tonight with Beaumont and San Antonio carding a twin bill to make up last night's postponed contest.

Gale Pringle and Kent Sterling were the propable Exporter hurlers for the two games, while Earl Reid and Procopio Herrera were the Mission choices.

At Dallas, Clarence Iott, the only Eagle hurler to be charged with a loss, will seek revenge against Tulsa, and probably will face Ben Childs.

Tommy Reis will be on the mound for Oklahoma City at Fort Worth, opposing Bob Milliken, while Dee Sanders will be Shreveport's choice against the Buff's Glenn Gardner.

Sandies Regain Top Spot In North 1-AA

PAMPA, April 27. (Special)—By winning a doubleheader over Pampa here Tuesday, Amarillo regained the top spot in the north half District 1-AA baseball race. The Sandies took the two games, 4-2, and 9-1.

The victories gave Amarillo a record of three wins and one loss. Borger is in the second spot with two victories and one setback, and Pampa has lost four straight games.

Amarillo has a chance to go even farther ahead on Friday when Pampa plays Borger in an important tilt. If Pampa wins, the Sandies have a virtual cinch for the championship.

Ronald Beasore limited the Harvesters to only one hit in the second game of the twin bill today, both games being five inning affairs, as his teammates collected 11 safe hits. Pampa errors in both contests greatly aided Amarillo. Walton Robertson took the opener.

Texas Solons Deny Rumor They Will Vote For Lesinski Proposal

By SARAH McCLENDON
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 27—Several Texas Congressmen denied here today that they intended to vote for the Lesinski bill to change the Taft-Hartley law, as stated by Fulton Lewis, jr., radio commentator, last night.

Lewis said an unnamed Southerner had told him that Speaker Sam Rayburn, Bonham, had lined up Representatives Wright Patman, Texarkana; W. R. Poage, Waco; John Lyle, Corpus Christi; Eugene Worley, Shamrock; George Mahon, Colorado City; and Homer Thornberry, Austin, to vote for the Lesinski bill.

Many members describe the Wood bill as being revisional but more in line with retaining the present law, while the Lesinski bill is termed quite similar to the old Wagner act.

No Comment By Rayburn

Asked first to comment, Speaker Rayburn said in effect that he would refuse to dignify Lewis' remarks by making any comment.

Among other things, Lewis said Rayburn had informed persons in the cloak room that the Easter recess had been a good thing as it had enabled labor to pressure Congressmen so that now he has enough votes to pass the Lesinski bill. Lewis said a number of these votes came from Texas and the South.

Here's how the Texans reacted:

Poage—"I am not going to vote for the Lesinski bill. I presently intend to vote for the Wood bill. I think I would vote for the Taft-Hartley law to be continued. It is not perfect, but it has good features. Mr. Rayburn has never directly or indirectly mentioned this to me. Neither has Mr. Lewis nor anyone working for him that I know of."

Mahon Seeks Changes

Lyle—"I had not planned to vote for the Lesinski bill. I am opposed to it. I am also against the Wood bill. I will support a number of amendments to the Taft-Hartley act which I think should be there."

Lyle indicated he might vote for the Lesinski bill if it is amended heavily to incorporate certain features.

Mahon—"I have not talked to Mr. Rayburn. I have only seen him at a distance since my return from Texas. I have had no message from him directly or indirectly. During my stay in Texas, none of my friends in or outside of organized labor made any specific appeal to me in connection with pending legislation. I would not support the Lesinski bill unless it were drastically amended to include the better provisions of the Taft-Hartley act."

Burleson—"I have not yet made up my mind as to how I am going to vote. It depends upon parliamentary procedure used. I don't expect to vote for the Lesinski bill in its present form."

Cold War

who in turn probably would have to consult Moscow before replying.

No information on the talks will be given out immediately after the meeting, the spokesman said. Whatever information is given out is expected to come from a news conference later in the day, at Lake Success.

The United States hopes to learn at this meeting whether Russia is ready to lift the blockade of Berlin without attaching unacceptable conditions.

Two previous meetings were held at the Soviet degelation headquarters on upper Park avenue here. The series started when Jessup contacted Malik Feb. 15 in the delegates lounge in the U. N. headquarters at Lake Success.

Speculation Aroused

A flying visit of Dean Rusk, assistant Secretary of State, to New York last night gave rise to speculation that he might figure in future steps. Rusk said he had come to attend a dinner at the home of U. N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie. Another guest at the dinner was Andrei A. Gromyko, Russia's No. 1 deputy foreign minister.

As the direct superiors of Jessup and Malik, it was pointed out, they would be in a position to step into the informal discussions if the occasion presented itself.

The immediate question the U. S. wanted to clarify was whether Russia meant exactly what a Tass dispatch from Moscow said yesterday—that Russia would lift the blockade if the western powers would fix a date for a meeting of the Big Four foreign ministers to consider the whole German question.

Further Talks Needed

The State department said in Washington that this appeared to clear the way for a lifting of the blockade, but further talks were needed to make sure there were no strings attached.

Then, possibly in a more formal meeting including Britain and France, arrangements could be worked out for the council of foreign ministers to meet, the place and date could be decided and the agenda could be formulated.

Western sources were particularly concerned as to whether Russia has changed her attitude on the arrangements now going forward for the establishment of a west German state.

It was their fourth try at the endurance record. Nearly 12 days earlier they broke the old record of 726 hours, set 10 years ago by Wes Carroll and Clyde Schlieper of Long Beach, Calif.

Soon the airmen can start thinking about their future and what they will get out of the flight. Their manager, Fred Gobelle, said several deals are in the making.

Daily Markets

Stock Market

MARKET SWINGS HIGHER

NEW YORK, April 27 (AP) — The stock market swung higher today under the influence of a brisk demand for steel issues, but most of the gain was lost in later trading.

Volume was at the rate of 90,0000 shares for the entire day.

Aircrafts slumped throughout the session and ended with losses of more than a point among the leaders.

Steels at their best were more than a point higher, but some profit taking trimmed down the gains.

Buying interest in steels came from U. S. Steel Corp. Action yesterday in raising the quarterly dividend to $1.50 a share from $1.25 previously paid.

Stocks moving up included U. S. Steel, Jones & McLaughlin, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Goodrich, North American Co., Southern Pacific, Mission Corp., Transcontinental & Western Air, Phelps Dodge, Safeway Stores, and Philip Morris.

On the downside were Montgomery Ward, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, Union Pacific, Standard Oil (NJ), Dow Chemical, U. S. Gypsum, and American Woolen.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, April 27 (AP) — Cotton futures turned steady today in later dealings, following an early sharp reaction. Suspension of cotton shipments to China by the ECA pointed to lower cotton export prospects and influenced the early liquidation, along with the fact that covering against recent Japanese sales have been largely completed. Short covering subsequently met limited offerings, with prices readily moving higher.

Cotton futures closed irregular, with some deliveries making new highs for the day on aggressive trade and short covering.

Futures closed 65 cents a bale lower to 40 cents higher than the previous close.

of two Tuesday moves to streamline lawmaking in Texas.

The other move was taken in the House, where resolutions were passed setting up interim committees to recodify Texas water laws and dthe code of criminal procedure.

The legislative council would be composed of five senators, 10 representatives and the presiding officer of each house. It would make various investigations and studies for the legislature, and give its recommendations periodically accompanying its reports with drafts of legislation it deems proper.

Lubbock Exchangers Hear State Leader

T. H. Rutherford, state Exchange club president, was featured speaker at today's Exchange club luncheon in Hotel Lubbock.

Rutherford, also president of Rutherford Business college of Dallas, briefly outlined the work currently in progress in other Exchange clubs in West Texas. He cited the Abilene club as being particularly active in recent months.

The state president also discussed plans for this year's state convention, set for June 10-11 in Dallas.

Pin Awarded

At the close of his talk, he delivered to Roger Kuykendall, local member, a diamond-studded Exchange club pin denoting Kuykendall's service as state president in 1948. The award was announced at last year's state convention, but no pin was presented at that time.

Rutherford was introduced by Dr. James Reynolds.

An inter-squad softball game for club members will be at 6 p. m. Thursday on the Roscoe Wilson school softball diamond, Bill Bartley announced. He urged all interested members to attend and take part.

One out-of-town guest, Rev. James A. Reynolds of Conway, Ark., was introduced. President Charles Cathey presided.

Sentence Of Former Constable Affirmed

The court of criminal appeals affirmed a five-year sentence for Walter Eckels, 27-year-old former Slaton constable who was convicted of murder in a trial here last winter, the Associated Press reported this morning from Austin.

Eckles was convicted of the May 22, 1948, slaying of Clyde Tune, an itinerant, in the railway yards at Slaton, by a jury verdict returned Dec. 1.

Two previouse trials of the case had ended in mistrials. A hung jury ended the first trial, a sick juror the second.

E. A. Blair and Grady West, Eckles' counsel, will file a formal motion for rehearing, it was expected.

Hog Prices

Brannan told the committee he expects the government will have to start supports on hogs soon.

"I approach this with fear and trembling," he said, asking for the new authority.

The new farm program stresses cheaper food for consumers as well as guaranteed prices for farmers. Instead of surplus food purchases, it would let many foods, like pork, sell at what the market would bring. Then the government would pay the farmers with money it collects in taxes, the difference between what their crop brought and what the government established as a fair price.

Rites For Lubbock Woman Set Thursday

Funeral rites for Mrs. Kenneth Frazier, 35, of 503 Hub Homes, have been set for 4 p. m. Thursday in St. John's Methodist church.

Rev. Wayne Reynolds, pastor of Grapevine Methodist church, will officiate.

Burial is to be in Tech Memorial park, under direction of Sanders Funeral home.

Mrs. Frazier died at 4:45 p. m. Tuesday in St. Mary's hospital while undergoing surgery.

Mrs. Frazier had been a resident of Lubbock for 16 years. She had been hospitalized since April 5 when an infant son was born by caesarean section. Condition of the child is satisfactory.

She is survived by her husband, Kenneth Frazier; two sons, John and Kenneth, jr.; one daughter, Ava Marken; her mother, Mrs. Mary V. Cooper of Lamesa and one brother, Martin Cooper of Hobbs, N.M.

Lubbock Man Voted Organization Post

BEAUMONT, April 27 (AP)—R. B. Cowden of Midland became grand commander of the Grand Commandery of Knights Templar of Texas at the closing session of the organization's 96th annual conclave here today.

El Paso was chosen as the 1950 conclave city.

Cowden succeeds Tom J. Milton of Lufkin.

Other officers installed are Thomas M. Bethell, Greenville, deputy grand commander; Claud Cross, Fort Worth, generalissimo; H. B. Bryan, Lubbock, captain-general; Nat Pace, Baytown, Warden; the Rev. Monroe Vivion, Tyler, junior warden; Austin Edward Clarkson, Houston, prelate; Harry B. Tuer, Dallas, treasurer; Victor C. Whitfield, Dallas, recorder; R. E. Henderson, Athens, standard bearer; Marvin Pugh, Beaumont, eminent grand warden, and W. L. Brown, Amarillo, sword bearer.

About 1,200 sir knights attended the four-day conclave.

Evidence Given In Suit For Damages

Plaintiffs gave evidence this morning before 99th District Judge G. V. Pardue and a jury in the damages action of C. H. Doggett and Helen Doggett against Berch Scott, after consolidation of that cause with one brought by Scott against the Doggetts on a note.

The jury is composed of W. A. Austin, L. D. Rogers, Cecil Cagle, I. F. Wallace, C. A. Brewer, Marvin R. Hickman, Earl D. Allen, W. J. Kennemer, L. V. Littrell, Fred E. Walker, Julian M. Joplin, and O. G. Andrews.

The Doggetts are represented by James O. Cade, Scott by Homer L. Pharr.

Agreed judgment will be entered in the action of M. L. Wilkison and L. A. Young against E. J. Burkhead, a suit on note and for foreclosure of chattel mortgage lien, it was announced after a 99th court jury had been dismissed about 2:30 p. m. Tuesday.

Blind Texan Plays With Marked Cards

FORT WORTH, April 27 (U.P) — Playing cards with a marked deck is risky business, but a Fort Worth man makes a practice of it.

Even though his friends know about it, he still gets away with it. But the friends draw the line when it comes to his dealing the cards.

The player is Marvin Shannon, widely known as Fort Worth's blind golfer. Because he is blind, his playing cards have to be marked so he can distinguish one from another.

The markings are perfectly apparent to anyone. Each card is branded twice—once for the suit, one for the face.

Srannon used to deal, too, but he stopped that several years ago when a friend joked about his winning.

"Until then I hadn't realized that I might know some of the cards I dealt others," he explained.

Car Strikes Signal Post, Soldier Dies

EL PASO, April 27 (AP)—Joyce Blachman, 26, Biggs field private, was killed and five others injured when a station wagon crashed into a railroad warning signal on the outskirts of El Paso today.

Thomas Miller, 23, sustained serious back and neck injuries.

FORMER SENATOR DIES

STAMFORD, Conn., April 27 (AP)—Frederick Collin Walcott, 79, former United States senator, financier and conservationist, died at a convalescent home here today.

Funeral Thursday For Lubbock Man

Services for Arley Clifton Pickins, 44-year-old Lubbock construction worker who died unexpectedly Thursday night at the Producers Grain Co., elevator, will be at 3 p. m. Thursday in the Tabernacle Baptist church.

Officiating will be Rev. Ralph McCoy, assisted by Rev. Cecil Ray. Burial will be in Tech Memorial park.

Pickins, who moved to Lubbock about three years ago from Phillips, was working on concrete forms when he collapsed. He lived at 2821 Merthel.

He was reported dead on arrival at West Texas hospital, where he was taken by Rix Funeral home ambulance.

Verdict Not Returned

Justice of the Peace C. E. Lynn said today that he had not rendered a verdict in the death pending completion of the investigation being conducted by assistant District Attorney E. G. Pharr. Lynn said that preliminary findings indicated that a verdict of death from natural causes would be returned late today.

Pharr said that William Herbert Tienarend, of 2905 Ave. J, and Thomas H. Christian, of 2305 Seventeenth, who were working with Pickins, stated that Pickins was using a construction jack to lift concrete forms when he suddenly toppled to one side.

Rushed To Hospital

The two men carried Pickins to the McDonald Engineering Co. office nearby and there A. B. Keeter, timekeeper for the firm, felt for the man's pulse. The timekeeper said he could feel no pulse beat, the two men told Pharr.

Pharr said that company records showed that Pickins was working his first day for the engineering company, having reported at 4 p.m. for the 4 to 12 shift.

Pickins is survived by his wife, Thelma, two sisters, Mrs. Jack Earnest and Mrs. J. B. Rigdon, both of Borger; two brothers, A. O. Pickins, Odessa, and Perry Pickins, Eunice, N. M., and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Pickins, Durant, Okla.

Texas Weather

South Texas towns were buffeted by a 12-hour flash flood that did thousands of dollars in damage Monday.

Meanwhile, Mercedes, on the Rio Grande, expected its highest water since the weather bureau began keeping records. There was little prospect of damage, however. The Rio Grande reached 23.2 feet at Mercedes and kept rising. Flood stage is 21 feet. The record flood there reached 23.4 feet in 1944.

Minor Rises Reported

Minor rises were reported at other points on the Rio Grande.

At Brownsville, the river reached 18.5 feet—half a foot above flood stage—and was rising. It reached 21.3 feet—three tenths of a foot above flood stage at Hidalgo, and 22.7 feet—1.7 feet above flood stage—at Rio Grande city.

But floodways were functioning, and no serious overflow was reported at those points.

A weather bureau observer in an airplane reported widespread overflow from the Rio Grande in the barren Tarpon Bend area between Brownsville and the mouth of the river.

Stahala said the Guadalupe at Victoria stood at 24.52 feet at 8:30 a. m., after dropping .10 of a foot in four and a half hours.

New Crest Expected

He said a new crest of water is expected to raise the river's stage to 28 feet by noon tomorrow. Farmers and ranchers have moved livestock to high ground.

The Nueces river is expected to reach at 38 feet at Three Rivers, a foot above flood level.

Some minor damage was caused to Lubbock homes and property when hailstones the size of golf balls smashed windows, some exposed electric signs and dented some cars and stripped leaves from trees and shrubbery.

Windows Are Broken

Large hailstones broke windows in south and southwest Lubbock homes, and stones the size of marbles peppered the downtown area on two occasions during the storm.

The storm was accompanied by a brilliant and noisy electrical display.

"The north edge of the cloud appeared to be almost directly over Municipal airport," the weather station reported, "with the main body of the cloud appearing over Lubbock. The city probably received a good deal more moisture than was measured here."

An estimated quarter to half an inch fell in the downtown area and filled gutters with rushing torrents of water.

Light Service Disrupted

The City light plant, 417 Ave. J, reported that three transformers were burned out during the electrical demonstration Tuesday night. Lightning was blamed for the brief interruption of service in downtown Lubbock.

Chairman Cannon. (D-Mo) of the full appropriations committee called the President's request "a ceiling" which he said could be cut down "a little."

But Senator Capehart (R-Ind) said "it can be cut two billions and should be cut that much."

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) expressed pleasure that "the President is willing to go part of the way along the road he should go."

SQUIRRELS BAD ACTORS

GALLIPOLIS, O. (U.P) — The squirrels in these parts are bad actors. Officials declared an open season on them after Mrs. Roseline Deinzer was bitten while photographing the animals in the city park. She was the third victim to be bitten by a squirrel in a matter of days.

William L. Hillis Claimed By Death

William L. Hillis, 68, of 2106 Ave. L, died at 2 a. m. today in Lubbock Memorial hospital after a lengthy illness.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. Thursday in Asbury Methodist church, with Rev. C. A. Bickley, pastor, officiating. He will be assisted by Rev. Austin Moore of Wellington, and Rev. Brown C. Welch and Rev. Jack Welch, both of Lubbock.

Burial is to be in Lubbock Memorial park, under direction of Bryan McDonald & Son Funeral home.

Hillis had resided in Lubbock 12 years.

Survivors include the wife; three daughters, Mrs. W. R. Adams, Mrs. Bob Rainwater and Mrs. Roy Lambert, all of Lubbock; three sons, W. L. Hillis, jr., of Ropesville, and W. C. and Gilbert T. Hillis, both of Lubbock; two sisters, Mrs. Frank C. Horn of Holdenville, Okla., and Miss Nannie Hillis of Clovis; two brothers, A. J. Hillis of Portales and T. J. Hillis of Snyder; 10 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers will be T. P. Hughes, Bill Whitaker, C. H. Andrews, H. E. Ross, E. M. Martin and Jack Foster.

McGee Trial

a mental case and was subject to the regulations of Waco VA hospital. I also told her that he was drawing a 100 per cent disability," Mrs. Stull answered.

Mrs. Stull also said she had mentioned this fact in the presence of Mrs. Ethel Allston, mother of the girl.

"I first noticed that Richard was an unusual and difficult boy when he was about nine," Mrs. Stull stated. "I took him to several doctors but they didn't seem to know what to do for him."

"Once while I had Richard in a dentist office to get some work done on his teeth he threatened to jump out of the second story window," the mother continued.

Ran Away From Home

Mrs. Stull continued to relate how her boy had difficulty in getting along with other children of his age. Often, she said, Richard would run away from home or stay by himself for long periods of time. I had to whip him on many occasions but this did not seem to do any good," she said.

"On more than one occasion Richard attacked me with a butcher knife or with a razor." Mrs. Stull said and she emphasized this remark by raising her voice and gritting her teeth to show how the boy appeared to her at the time of the attack she described.

Upon questioning Mrs. Stull gave the same testimony given by the boy's two sisters as to his time in hospitals and his antics while in schools and colleges. She said that she had signed papers approving the severe electric shock treatments that were administered to him at the Waco VA mental hospital.

Improvement Reported

"After these treatments, Dr. Samuel H. Ross called me and said that Richard was improved and ready to be taken home," Mrs. Stull said. (Dr. Ross's deposition was offered by the defense yesterday and is a matter of recorded testimony).

"When I got to the hospital I told Dr. Ross that Richard didn't look any better to me and I thought he ought to be kept under treatment for a while. I told him that I was afraid Richard would do some harm to me," Richard's mother said.

At this point Mrs. Stull stood up in the witness stand and shouting said:

"Dr. Ross told me to 'take that damn boy out of here. You are the first damn mother I've seen who refused to take the responsibility of taking care of her son'," Mrs. Stull kicked the witness chair as a further emphasis.

All Mixed Uo

Upon cross-examination by special prosecutor Dupree and District Attorney Croslin, Mrs. Stull said:

"When Richard was a small child he came to me and said, 'Mother I'm all mixed up. What is the matter with me'?"

Dupree asked her if Richard was a stubborn boy and often wanted to have his own way.

"Richard was always wanting things," she said, "I beat him half to death because he was always wanting things."

To most of the questions propounded by Dupree, Mrs. Stull answered, "I don't remember."

The announcement that the defense would rest came at 12:10 to a packed court room. The afternoon period is to be devoted to hearing records not previously read and any witnesses the state may have to offer in rebuttal. There is still no indication as to when the case would get to the jury.

Lubbock High School Debaters Appear On Rotary Club Program

Three students of Lubbock Senior High school, who participated in literary events in the recent regional meet of the Texas Interscholastic league, appeared on the program of the Lubbock Rotary club in the Hilton hotel today noon. They were Norma Smith, extemporaneous speaker; and J. C. Chambers and Mary Duggan, debaters.

Floyd Honey was program chairman and the speakers were introduced by J. W. Reid, Lubbock High debate coach whose teams have gone to the state meet 12 times in the past 18 years.

Miss Smith declared the recent North Atlantic pact is the first time the Soviet has known fear and it shows the efforts of men who seek peace without arms.

Argued Resource Tax

Her subject was "Will the North Atlantic Pact Bring About an Effective Alliance?"

The debaters argued the question of levying of a severance tax on natural resources of Texas.

Edward L. Colby and R. C. Johnson, jr., were introduced as new Rotarians.

Out-of-town visitors at the luncheon included: Col. Frank Pettit, Detroit; Barney Springfield, Ackerly; Edward Garland, Lamesa; Morris Hall and N. S. Griggs, Amarillo; Mark Allen, Seagraves; Ray Lupfer, Floydada; Fred McDonald, Ralls; Dr. J. W. Chiang Speaks

Nation's Fate At Stake

"In this struggle, the life and liberty of every one of our people is tied with the life of the nation," he continued. "Although I retired from the post of president, I feel I can not lightly disregard by responsibility as a citizen at a time our country is faced with danger, our people on the brink of disaster. I wish to pledge at this time of crisis that I shall share the sufferings of my fellow countrymen."

Chiang said his government realized that Communism was a problem of international implications that China alone could not settle. If that problem in China could have been settled through peaceful and political means, Chiang went on, he felt that it would help establish a basis for world peace.

The government, he said, was "constantly faced with the dreadful possibility that if we should fail, China would become the tinderbox battleground of a terrifying third World War in which every nation of the world would be tragically involved."

Places Some Blame

Chiang placed some of the blame for the military and political shortcomings of his regime on the "general misapprehension of Communist intentions among certain sections of the Chinese and the foreign public as well as the inroads made by Communist fifth column activities in China and abroad."

Chiang charged the Reds have no intention for peace. Recent actions "prove that the ultimate aim of the Chinese Communists is the conquest and final subjugation of China so that this country could be conveniently used as a base for the third World War and the Chinese people its cannon fodder for aggressive world Communism."

"No nation which desires to be free can complacently shun the responsibility which China is now bearing as a result of her tragic struggle," Chiang said.

He called Communist Mao Tze-Tung a "far more dangerous traitor to China than the Japanese puppet Wang Ching-Wei (president of Japanese controlled China during the war) who, during the war, tried to make an individual peace with the Japenese."

Acheson Asks Okay Of Pact

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, April 27.—Secretary of State Dean Acheson told Congress today that Soviet Russia's aggressive action makes the North Atlantic pact and the arms-for-Europe program essential to maintain world peace.

"The sense of insecurity prevalent in western Europe," he told the Senate foreign relations committee, "has come about through the conduct of the Soviet union."

As the committee opened public hearing on the North Atlantic pact, Acheson said bluntly that Russia's conduct in eastern Europe had "cynically violated" the United Nations charter.

His appeal for Senate ratification of the North Atlantic treaty was made even as the United States and Russia planned a secret meeting today which might lead to an end of the Berlin blockade and easing of the tension in western Europe.

But Acheson's words made it unmistakably clear the administration wants the North Atlantic pact and the arms-for-Europe program despite any Soviet conciliatory moves.

Acheson said the rights to self determination by the peoples of eastern Europe have been "extinguished by force or threats of force" by Russia.

"These same methods," he said, "have been attempted in other areas—penetration by propaganda and the Communist party, attempts to block cooperative international efforts in the economic field, wars of nerves, and in some cases thinly veiled use of force itself."

Acheson reiterated the argument that the treaty is in conformity with the United Nations charter. He said the UN "is not an end in itself. It is a means to an end."

The North Atlantic pact, signed here April 4, is an all-for-one and one-for all treaty. The 12 Atlantic nations which signed it hailed it as an anti-aggression pact.

Aggressors Are Warned

It serves notice that an armed attack against one nation will be regarded as an attack against all. It must be ratified by two-thirds vote of the U. S. Senate. Six of the other original negotiating nations also must ratify it before it becomes operative.

American ratification appears highly probable, but some senators have reservations about voting for an arms program to put teeth into the pact.

Lubbock Boy Hurt In Bicycle-Car Mishap

Don Davis Lowrimore, 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Lowrimore, jr., of 1918 Main, was injured slightly about 3:30 p. m. Tuesday when his bicycle was in collision with a car at the intersection of Main and Ave. T.

The boy was treated at a physician's office for a sprained left ankle and bruises of the left leg and arm.

The car, driven by Billy Roy Brown, 22, of 1520 Broadway, was going west on Main, and the bicycle was going north on Avenue T just prior to the collision. The boy on the bike made a right turn onto Main street, striking the car on the left side. Police reports indicated that the larger vehicle had skidded approximately 24 feet after applying brakes.

'Saucers' Are Taken Seriously By Airmen

DAYTON, O., April 27 (AP)—The Air Force is taking seriously the reports of flying saucers, the Dayton Journal-Herald reported today.

The morning newspaper attributed its story to a report in the files of the technical intelligence section of the air materiel command at nearby Wright field.

The Journal-Herald reported the Air Force based its conclusion on some 240 domestic and foreign reports of the flying discs.

Goat Refused Place On College Ballots

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., April 27 (AP) — Nan Epso's name was not on the ballot as junior men at Indiana university voted today for a queen to reign at their prom Friday night.

The "independent Independents" who nominated her had not given up, however. They put on an intensive last-minute campaign for write-in votes.

The prom committee ruled Tuesday night Nan had not met the requirement of residence on the campus for a full semester. The committee did not mention Nan is a goat.

About 1,600 junior men are eligible to vote. The polls will be open until 5 p. m. (EST).

Damages Of $20,100 Asked In Suit Here

Judgment of $20,100 in damages was asked in a suit filed in Judge Dan Blair's 72nd district court by Iva Mae Crawford, joined by her husband Clarence W. Crawford, as result of the woman's alleged injury May 13 when her hand, her petition alleged, was caught in a steam press and badly burned.

Named defendant was Independent Cleaners, Inc., also known as Rite-Way Steam laundry.

The plaintiff alleged serious and permanent injuries. She said she was employed at the plant at the time.

TEXAS LADY LOSES 47 POUNDS

The following remarkable story shows conclusively that Barcentrate DOES take off fat.

It contains nothing harmful. In fact, it contains ingredients that make you feel better. No starvation diet—no weakness—no hunger. Barcentrate, the original grapefruit juice recipe, takes off fat quickly, safely and you can eat plenty.

Here is proof

Here is what Mrs. H. P. Bishop, Route 2, Stamford, Texas, wrote us:

"I am very glad to endorse Barcentrate, so please accept my sincere thanks and appreciation for the great benefit I derived from its use. I not only lost weight, but also looked and felt better in every way.

"I had to have a very serious operation and was told that I must lose a lot of weight before the operation could be performed. I went on a diet and tried very hard to reduce, but wasn't losing much weight until I heard of Barcentrate. I began taking it and could soon tell the difference in the way I felt and the weight I was losing. I weighed 200 pounds when I started and I lost a total of 47 pounds and was able to undergo my operation. I can truthfully recommend it to others, since it did so much for me."

At all druggists

If you are overweight and want to take off ugly fat, just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take just two tablespoonfuls twice a day. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, safe way to take off weight, return the empty bottle for your money back. Adv

MUSTANGS

Wild Horses of the Plains!

BY J. EVETTS HALEY
ILLUSTRATED BY H. D. BUGBEE

MUSTANGS! WILD HORSES! Magic words to men of imagination! Hence, it is that stories of the mustangs—that lost breed of history—still intrigue all men who love good horses. Back of the story of mustangs, however, is one of the wildest odysseys in history.

It is now generally held that the horse originated in America, that he spread throughout the world in prehistoric times, and that he then died out in the land of his origin. Scattered diminutive fossil remains throughout the southern Plains point to his beginnings here. Aeons later, and in historic times, hundreds of thousands of mustangs, sweeping across the Southwest in spirited and colorful bands, marked his return. The very sight of a good horse used to be—in fact still is—a challenge to bold adventure. Nothing is impossible to men who really believe in horses.

History seems to prove the point. The horse of the Moors came to the Indies of the New World with the explorers from ancient Spain in the 1490's. He reached the mainland and played a vital part in the fantastic conquest of Mexico by Cortez in 1521, crossed the Plains with Coronado in 1541, escaped from numerous later Spanish exploring expeditions, reverted to the wild state, and spread, with tossing mane and flowing tail, expanding girth and hardening hoofs, from the hot valleys of Mexico and the rocky ranges of the Montezumas clear across the continent to the Arctic plains of Canada—all in less than a hundred and fifty years.

Thus this marvelous bundle of muscle and nerve, and of sense and stamina, returned in wild and prolific vigor to reclaim the land of his origin, and to revolutionize life in the western half of the New World. For some three hundred years he reigned free and supreme. Meanwhile, Indians mounted on mustangs that they had caught and gentled, battled with fair-faced warriors who rode hard to meet them, while men actually grown to the shape of saddles moved their longhorned cattle upon the lands the Indians lost. Eventually, other men with horses killed off the buffalo herds, and for one brief moment, as time is measured, the great and grass-grown Plains were little more than a wild horse range.

These horses, usually in bands of from twenty to forty head, jealously and dangerously ruled by a single stallion, swept out from their waterings in circuits of several miles to graze their favorite range. They congregated in great herds and pawed their feed from the snow in the breaks of winter, and by hard fighting among themselves, the stallions again cut their mares and struck out in individual bunches as grass rose in the spring.

For some time, both red men and white levied on this vast reservoir of horse flesh without touching the supply. But in the late 1870's, as men moved farther west and demanded more grass for their cattle, other men mounted on grain-fed horses began catching mustangs in droves and trailing them off to the settlements to market. They became the mustangers, and their work developed into a sort of a science, or at times an art, that was known as mustanging.

They either "walked down" the wild horses by keeping after them for days, or trapped them in bunches by hazing or stampeding them into the wide, converging wings of hidden corrals. After trapping, they forefooted them and attached a clog to a fore-leg of each, which tripped the horse whenever he broke to run, and then trailed them off in bunches for trade or sale.

Yet the mustangers made little impression upon this immense herd that still covered the open face of the Great Plains. Only the invention of barbed wire, and its cutting of the range to pieces, brought an end to the wild horse.

But wherever his recumbent mares peacefully slept on the clean turf beneath his watchful eye, wherever his colts pitched about and cut their capers in sheer joy of living, and wherever he tossed his noble head as he scented danger and snorted his challenge through resonant nostrils from afar, there he will never be forgotten. For in a way the mustang made the Western World, and grateful men never forget their horses.

New Oil Producing Region In Central Scurry Is Indicated

Prospects of a new Canyon-Pennsylvanian producing area were developed on a drillstem test at Magnolia Petroleum company No. 1 Eicke, central Scurry county wildcat.

The venture called a tentative top of the Canyon reef on 6,767 feet. The test was from 6,765 feet to 6,778 feet, with the tool open two hours.

Gas reached the surface in 25 minutes. Gas volume was too small to be of consequence. Recovery was 215 feet of drilling mud, 185 feet of heavily oil and gas cut mud, 450 feet of 30.8-gravity oil cut 1.6 per cent mud, 135 feet of oil cut 18 per cent mud and 6,500 feet of heavily oil and gas cut mud.

Flowing bottom hole pressure was 300-350 pounds. After 15 minutes shutin, pressure was 2,950 pounds.

The development was running casing. Further testing then is to be made.

Nearest production is at the same company's No. 1 Moore, Canyon discovery one and one-half miles to the south. The current strike is thought by some observers to be the same reservoir.

Location is 660 feet from south and west lines of section 209, block 97, H&TC survey, about four miles west of the town of Snyder.

Barnsdall Oil company No. 1 Billie Williams is to be a 10,000-foot wildcat in Southwest Lynn county. Operations at the venture are to start by May 2.

The drillsite is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 2, block 8, EL&RR survey. That makes it six miles southwest of the town of Tahoka.

Rotary tools will be used. The slated destination of 10,000 feet is calculated to take the exploration through the Pennsylvanian.

Barnsdall's No. 1 Billie Williams will be 2,970 feet north of the same company's No. 1 Lennie Williams, which was completed on November 9, 1945, as a dry hole, on a total depth of 7,509 feet.

The No. 1 Lennie Williams logged some slight signs of oil and gas, but none of the indications were sufficient to make any sort of a commercial producer.

Barnsdall Oil company has spotted a west offset to a recent Canyon discovery in north-central Scurry county as its No. 1 A. L. Wren, an outpost to Sunray Oil corporation No. 1 Brown, strike formerly operated by Ryan, Hays and Burke.

The Barnsdall operation will be located 660 feet from north and east lines of tract 9, section 20, block 1, J. P. Smith survey. Elevation is 2,477 feet.

It is to be a 6,700-foot, rotary tool venture, starting by May 2.

Humble Oil & Refining company ran two more drillstem tests in the northwest Scurry county Ellenburger with its No. 1 Edmondson, wildcat eight and one-half miles northwest of Snyder.

A 51-minute examination was taken at 8,195-8,225 feet, showing a week blow of air for eight minutes and recovering 20 feet of drilling mud. There were no shows of oil, gas or water.

The other test was at 8,235-55 feet, with the tool open 40 minutes. A slight blow of air held at the surface for 15 minutes. Recovery was 20 feet of drilling mud with no shows.

Operator has drilled ahead to 8,285 feet, set a packer at 8,255 and on last report was running another drillstem test.

A drillstem test was taken at Lone Star Production company No. 1 Maule, deep wildcat in the area west of the North Snyder pool of North Scurry county.

The tool was open 50 minutes at 8,177-8,238 feet and recovered 15 feet of drilling mud with no shows. More hole was being made in lime and chert.

Divers Plan Search For Art Treasure

ST. LOUIS, April 27 (U.P.) — A French archaeologist and two explorers from St. Louis are planning an expedition to explore the bottom of the Mediterranean for ancient art treasures which have lain there for more than 2,000 years.

Count Byron Klun de Prorok and the amateur explorers, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Palmer, hope to begin their quest within a few months.

The count said the art treasure consists of statues, columns, and other works of art which were taken by the Romans from the ancient city of Carthage after the third Punic War about the year 68 B.C.

According to Count de Prorok, the Roman commander Sylla, loaded the loot on a galley and started for home, but the columns were too heavy for the ship, which capsized and sank.

Sponge divers discovered the galley in 1908, and a French scientist, Alfred Merlin, located the wreck about a quarter of a mile off the coast of Africa near the little town of Mahdia, Tunisia.

Merlin salvaged some of the works, but because of the depth of the water, was unable to complete the mission. The French scientist said that 60 per cent of the loot was still in wreckage on the sea floor.

Count de Prorok and his companions plan to take the most up-to-date diving equipment to the spot to bring the treasures to the surface. While they are there, the group plans to explore the ancient city of Carthage, which now lies beneath the surface of the sea.

Switzerland, with a power shortage because of drought, and her waterfalls mere trickles, has banned use of elctric fires, refrigerators and boilers in homes.

Pan American Cuts Price Of Crude Oil

HOUSTON, April 27. (AP)—Another major oil company today cuts its price on low gravity crude oil.

Pan American Production company announced a 25-cent barrel reduction in posted prices for purchase of asphaltic crude oil. The price cut is in four northeast Texas fields.

Magnolia Petroleum company and Humble Oil and Refining company are other purchasers who have cut prices on low gravity crude in northeast Texas this week.

E. R. Turner, president of Pan-American, said Tuesday the price reduction would be effective today—in the Cayiga, Manziel, Merigale-Paul and Quitman fields.

The new posting for low gravity crude for the four fields is $1.95 per barrel on oil below 20 gravity. There will be a two-cent per barrel differential upward to a top price of $2.21 a barrel for 32 gravity oil and above.

Special Class Units Planned

Library Books To Be Bought

Preliminary planning to set up special classroom units for the teaching of students with hearing deficiencies and the approval of a motion to purchase an audiometer to measure such deficiencies among public school children highlighted the regular monthly meeting of the board of trustees of Lubbock Independent School district last night in the school business office.

The board also approved an appropriation of $6,433.75 to purchase books for public school libraries, named committees for the next year and handled other routine business.

The action on teaching of students with hearing deficiencies followed the appearance of the parents of one such hard-of-hearing boy in school, and the outlining by the boy's mother of the difficulties which children in his condition face in the ordinary classroom.

Survey Is Made

Superintendent of Schools R. W. Matthews pointed out that about four percent of the 7,000 or more studerts in the elementary schools of the district need special consideration in the classroom because of hearing difficulties.

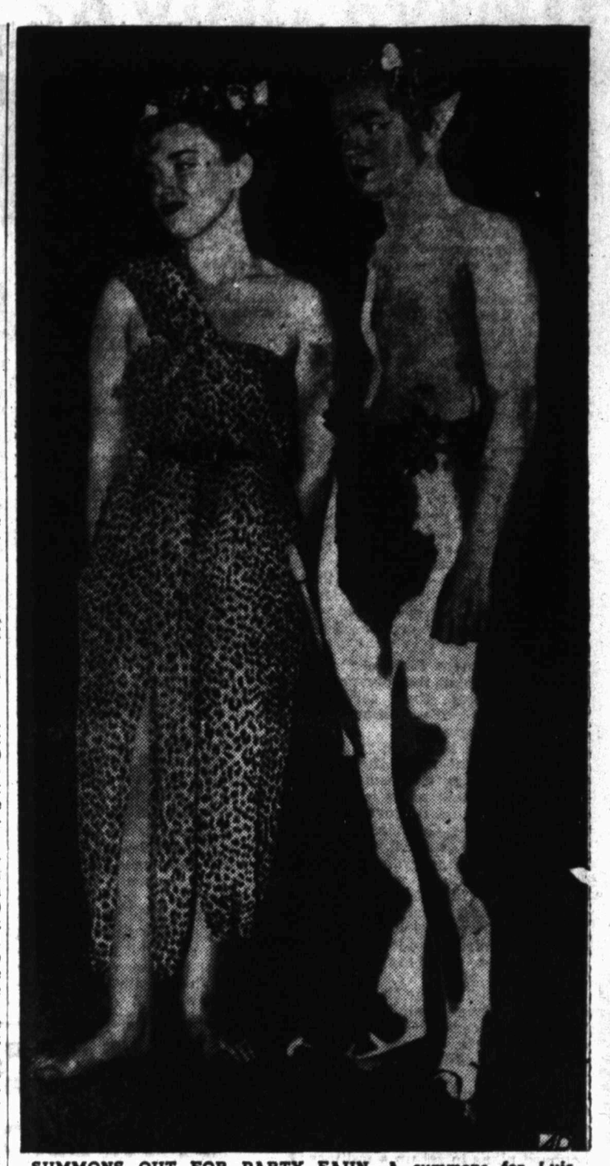

Matthews based his estimate upon a recent test survey with an audiometer in M. C. Overton school. Out of the more than 340 students tested at the school, it was found that 311 were normal in hearing, 13 were referred to physicians for minor correctible ailments, three were borderline cases which could not be accurately diagnosed, 10 suffered some partial impairment of hearing but could continue normal classroom routine, two needed the attention of specialists for cure of their ailments, and nine were definitely hard of hearing.

Special Classrooms Studied

The audiometer, which will cost "around $600," will be used in other schools in the district. Those found sufficiently hard of hearing may by the beginning of next school term have special classrooms available at some centrally located school. Parents of about 30 such hard-of-hearing students have indicated their desire for such an arrangement, the mother who attended the meeting of the board said.

The board at last night's meeting approved the appropriation of $6,433.75 to purchase books for public school libraries, that amount being the first of two semi-annual expenditures recommended by a teachers committee on library standards. The approval of the second expenditure is pending further information on the expected income of the school dis-

Insurance Official Will Speak In City

W. F. Munnerlyn, agency vice-president of the American General Life Insurance company of Houston, will be in Lubbock Saturday, April 30 to speak to a joint meeting of the Amarillo, Abilene, and Lubbock agencies of the company.

The meeting is being held to make plans for the Anniversary month of the company which will be held during May. The entire personnel of the three agencies, including wives, will attend.

The Lubbock agency of the company was opened in 1947 with Ralph S. Dorsett, CLU, as manager.

SHOT TO DEATH

ENNIS, April 27. (AP)—Charlie Hubacek, 60, was found shot to death beside a road near here yesterday.

Miss Caroline Hubacek, his sister, said he was despondent because of failing health.

Zone Changes Will Be Asked

A busy session faces members of the City Planning commission at their next meeting Thursday night, May 5, when they will consider eight requests for zoning changes.

The commission, of which K. N. Clapp is chairman, will consider the following requests:

C. J. Ward, to change lot 8, block 8, McCrummen addition, from "B" residential zone to "H" business zone. The property is just south of Nineteenth between Aves. O and P.

William M. Davis, to change the northeast one-fourth of block 38, Easley subdivision of Roberts and McWhorter addition from residential to business zone which would permit continued operation of a furniture store at 112 Sherman avenue.

Earl C. Scott, for reconsideration of a previous request to construct apartments on lot 10, block 49, Overton addition. The property is in 2100-block Eighteenth.

Twenty property owners, to change to business zone all property abutting Sixteenth street from Aves. L to Q.

Five property owners, to change north half of block 8, Morningside addition, from apartment to industrial zone. The property is on the south side of Twenty-eighth street from Aves. F to G.

Church Construction Planned

A. C. Kirk, to change northwest quarter of block 62, original town, to allow enlargement and impovement of retail grocery store located at 319 Seventh street and now apartment zoned.

Gust Kallas and others, to change the south half of the block between Thirty-third and Thirty-fourth from Tyler to Polk from a residential to retail business zone.

Report from the zoning committee on the Minnie B. Sanders request presented April 14 to change lots 19 and 20, block 1, D. C. Ross addition to a "B" zone which would allow construction of a church. The property is located on the northwest corner of the intersection of Thirty-second street and Tyler avenue.

CLASSES DISMISSED

GLADEWATER, April 27. (AP)—All classes at the Hawkins independent school district have been dismissed until next Monday because a student, Mary Lou Moorring, died of meningitis in Dallas last Saturday.

OPAL DIXON

THE QUESTION

Do you approve or disapprove of women wearing slacks?

THE ANSWERS

A. N. GAMBLE. 2402 Twentieth, partner in Gamble Realty Co.: "As far as women wearing slacks is concerned, I don't see anything wrong with it. I think it's perfectly all right. However, I think there are some that slacks aren't very becoming to."

TOMMY ADAMS. Lubbock route 3, salesman for Nunn Electric Co.: "I don't mind seeing women in slacks. In this day and time, I think slacks are appropriate on women. They look a lot better than blue jeans. I don't think it's appropriate for women to wear them to town, but as far as wearing them around friends or on picnics or in sports, I think it's appropriate."

DONNA INGERSOL. Denver City: "Some people look all right in them and some don't. It depends on how a person looks in them and the occasion. On picnics or something like that, they look all right, but to dress up in I don't think they're appropriate."

MRS. MARIE DUNN. 1115 Thirty-fourth, floor lady at S. H. Kress Co.: "I think there are certain places they are all right. For sport wear, they are all right. The time and the place decide whether they're appropriate."

MRS. BERTHA PRUITT, 1612 Seventh, saleslady at Franklin's: "I disapprove of it in town. I think it's just all right for sport. It's also all right for travel. I think it's out of place in town. It's owing to the place that you wear them."

HUGH McKELVY, 2320 Thirtieth, owner of Furniture Mart: "I don't think I would disapprove. There are proper places and occasions for them to wear slacks. I don't think it's very becoming to wear them downtown."

Amarillo Votes To End Rent Controls

AMARILLO, April 27 (AP)—Rent control may end in Amarillo.

The city commission Tuesday voted to remove controls and Mayor Lawrence Hagy said the decision would be sent to Governor Jester.

Under the new rent law, if the governor approves the council action, control will be lifted.

Battle For Soochow Rages In China; Reds Near Shanghai

SHANGHAI, April 27 (AP) — A critical battle for Soochow (Wuhsien) raged 50 miles west of Shanghai today.

One unconfirmed report said the Reds had taken the important junction from which they may pivot toward Shanghai or wheel to Hangchow, 85 miles south of Shanghai.

Nationalist sources insisted Soochow was still in their hands and that the Communists had lost 5,000 men in the battle. Another report said advanced Red units had passed Soochow and were marching eastward on Kunshan.

Rail service between Shanghai and Hangchow had not been interrupted. Both seaports may become escape avenues for the Nationalists.

At least two ship loads of Nationalist soldiers and equipment sailed out of Shanghai today. Likely they were headed for Formosa where Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's followers have established a bastion.

Foreign and Chinese newspapers said Chiang had arrvied in Shanghai. He issued a statement saying that although he had retired as president he could not disregard "my responsibility as a citizen" in the crisis.

Possible use of Hangchow for a sea escape route for the government's 300,000 men reported in that area depends on shipping. Hangchow's port is not suitable for heavy shipping and only light craft would be able to use the port.

With Nanking and a large part of the area just south of the Yangtze in the hands of the Communists, the government had fled to Canton, far to the south.

(Reports were current in Tokyo that Chinese and some foreign business men were putting considerable pressure on the government's Woosung garrison at Shanghai in an attempt to prevent a battle that would damage the world's fourth largest city).

200 DELEGATES ARE EXPECTED HERE

Tech Students To Start Registration

Texas Tech journalism students will begin registration today for the annual Southwestern Journalism Congress which will be held at the college Friday and Saturday for the first time in 13 years.

Prof. Cecil Horne, head of Tech's journalism department and president of the congress, said local students were being allowed to register early in order that delegates from other schools who will attend the meet could be taken care of without delay. Around 200 delegates from schools in Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana are expected to attend.

Two more of the outstanding speakers from the field of professional journalism who will address the congress are Lynn Landrum of the Dallas Morning News and John L. Mortimer, public relations director for United States Steel from Houston.

Landrum, author of a column, "Thinking Out Loud," holds an LL.B degree from the University of Texas. After training at the first Officers Training camp at Leon Springs, Texas in 1917, he became a first lieutenant in the Infantry.

After working on newspapers in Altus, Okla., Bryan, Vernon and Quanah, Landrum became an editorial writer for The Dallas News in 1921. From that time until he became a columnist in 1938 he did most of the editorial writing for both The News and The Dallas Journal.

He began his column in 1938 and it has been running since that time except for four years during the war. Landrum returned to active duty in 1942 and rose to the rank of lieutenant-colonel before he was discharged in 1946.

He is married and has one son, Graham G., who is an English instructor at Rice institute. Landrum says he likes to be known as simply, "Lynn Landrum, newspaperman and taxpayer." He will be the principal speaker at a banquet to be held at the Country club Friday night.

Mortimer who is a graduate of Rice and the University of Missouri will speak to a general session of the congress Friday afternoon. He has worked on such newspapers as The Houston Post, San Antonio Light, and for a press association in San Francisco. In 1942, he became public relations director for the Houston Chamber of Commerce.

Due to his excellent work, the next year he was appointed director of public relations for the Southwestern district of U.S. Steel. He is married and has one daughter.

Mortimer is a member of several leading civic and educational clubs over the state. He will speak to the delegates on, "Public Relations Work."

Cold War Like Tit-For-Tat But The Communists Aren't Winning

BY JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 27.—It's like an international game of tit-for-tat. The cold war, it's been called.

The Russians haven't been winning it. They started strong. Now the west is strong. So it's time for a Russian move.

That's why their talk of calling off the Berlin blockade is no surprise. You can almost chart their moves by the timetable of events.

When the war ended, the United States, Britain, France and Russia divided Germany into four zones, each occupying one.

And, although Berlin was in the Russion zone, they agreed that each of the four nations would occupy one sector of Berlin.

Government Planned

The idea behind the four-power occupation was that someday they'd let the Germans set up their own, new government.

But now the timetable starts.

By the end of 1947, after several big meetings, it became clear the four wartime allies couldn't agree on the kind of government they wanted for Germany.

The Russians wanted, generally, a centralized government. The other three nations wanted one that was fairly decentralized.

In the decentralized kind a new Hitler or a revolutionary group like Communists would have a tougher time grabbing control. They said.

So early in 1948 the three western powers began talking of setting up a separate German government in their zones of Germany. The Russians didn't want that.

The Communists grabbed control in Czechoslovakia in February, 1948. On March 1, 1948 the western European countries announced plans to set up a military alliance to defend themselves, against attack.

Alliance Signed

They signed the alliance on March 17. On March 20 a meeting between the representatives of the U. S., Britain, France and Russia broke down at Berlin. The Russians walked out.

Meanwhile, the Marshall plan was ready. Communists all over Europe denounced it.

It started April 3 but on April 1 the Russians threw a blockade on Berlin. It wasn't a complete blockade. But it made it a little tougher for the U. S., Britain and France to send supplies into their sectors of Berlin.

On June 7, 1948, the three big western powers agreed on setting up a provisional German government in western Germany. This angered the Russions more. In the meantime, the three western powers and Russia had argued about the kind of money to be used in Berlin.

It must have been a blow to the Russians when on June 11, 1948, the Senate passed a resolution which in effect said the U. S. ought to take part in a military alliance with western Europe.

Currency Reformed

On June 18, 1948 the three western powers announced they'd reform the money in their zones. And—on June 19—the Russians slapped a real blockade on Berlin. Since then the western powers have had to supply their sectors of Berlin with an airlift.

In the months that followed, this country, Canada and the western European countries huddled over the military alliance they'd set up for protection against Russia. The Atlantic pact, it's called now.

This made it clear the Russians weren't winning the cold war. And in February a representative of this country and a representative of Russia began talking about the Berlin blockade.

On March 18 the western powers announced they were ready to signe the Atlantic pact. Three days before that, with the world full of news of the pact, the Russian representative in the U. N. talked again with the U. S. delegate about the Berlin problem.

On Monday it was announced the Germans had cleared the decks for setting up a new government in the western zones. And Tuesday Russia began talking publicly of lifting the Berlin blockade.

Transports Ready For Blockade Lift

FRANKFURT, Germany, April 27 (AP)—Trains and trucks can start rolling toward Berlin almost at the moment the blockade is lifted.

West German and allied officials disclosed today that they are ready to move fast if Russia relents.

Plans have been kept constantly up to date ever since the blockade began nearly a year ago. Since then the supplies which used to go by road and rail have been flown to Berlin by the British-American airlift.

"But we have never stopped planning for possible resumption of normal traffic," said Dr. Fritz Busch, director general of west German railways.

"At a moment's notice we are ready to dispatch 18 trains over the one available rail line through Helmstedt to Berlin," Busch said.

W. C. Fields' Widow Asks Gifts' Return

LOS ANGELES, April 27 (AP)—The widow of comedian W. C. Fields may seek recovery of one half of the gifts her husband gave to others—so rules the district court of appeal.

Mrs. Fields sued to recover gifts valued at $482,450. She claims she was entitled to this amount from the Fields estate, alleging the gifts were made from their community property and without her knowledge.

The Fields were estranged many years but never divorced. They married in 1900. Fields died Dec. 26, 1946.

Little Theater Play Praised By Audience

The largest crowd of the season braved rain, hail, and wind to attend the final Little Theater production, "Claudia," Tuesday night in Senior High school auditorium.

Over 800 enthusiastic theater fans demanded four curtain calls of the cast, until Betty Furgeson, who played the part, appeared alone for the last call.

Mrs. Charles Caldwell was charming in the part of Claudia's mother. The part of her husband was ably played by Dr. James Reynolds.

Don Droppleman's dialect was unusually authentic, and Bert McGinnis drew praise for another dialect part.

Mrs. G. H. Wilson, Miss Chareen Ketchersid, and Mrs. Charles Mussor, were excellent in their supporting roles.

Stage decorations by Kate Powers, of Texas Tech Applied Arts department were attractive, adding greatly to the authenticity of the play.

Little Theater presentations have been so well received this year that plans are set for five plays next season, instead of the usual four. And, the plays are to run two nights, instead of one, when the season opens next September.

Newsman Re-Elected As President Of AP

NEW YORK, April 27 (AP)—Robert McLean, president of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, was re-elected president of the Associated Press Tuesday.

James M. Cox, jr., of the Dayton, Ohio, Daily News, was elected by the board of directors as first vice-president, and Robert B. Choate of the Boston Herald and Sunday Herald, second vice-president.

Kent Cooper continues as executive director as does Frank J. Starzel as general manager. Lloyd Stratton was re-elected secretary, and Robert Booth, treasurer.

Amarillo Photographer Faces Charges Of Forging Big Check

AMARILLO, April 27. (U.P.)—An Amarillo photographer today faced charges of forging a check for $188,844 on his wealthy father-in-law in a scheme involving two banks and a cattle company.

Lynn Albert Boykin, the photographer, was arraigned in federal court here yesterday on charges pressed by Sheriff J. B. Cookie of Spearman and the FBI.

Boykin was accused of posing as his brother-in-law, Browning Higgs, in forging a check on P. B. Higgs, his father-in-law and a prominent Amarillo cattleman.

Man Is Arrested

Cookie said that Boykin was arrested after he failed to clear a check written on a cattle company for $188,844.

The charge said specifically that Boykin had passed "a fictitious and falsely-made draft of $188,844.61 drawn on the Bank of America, in Los Angeles, Calif., and payable to Browning Higgs and signed by Fernando Cattle Co., by Paul Collins."

The Mercantile National Bank at Dallas, of which the elder Higgs is a director, took a check for $9,525 for deposit, payable to Browning Higgs, last March. The check cleared.

Another check, written in the same manner for $30,000 was deposited in the Dallas bank March 23. It also cleared.

Draft Is Returned

Boykin reportedly drew from the Dallas bank account several times prior to March 30, when he submitted the huge draft.

The draft later was returned from Los Angeles marked "improper direction."

When Higgs discovered the forgeries on his bank statement from Spearman, he summoned Cooke, who called in the FBI to investigate.

Boykin was picked up by state police Monday while he was driving to Oklahoma City, where he said he had $8,200 on deposit in the Trademen's National bank.

Grain Storage Space Sought By Officials

WASHINGTON, April 27 (AP) — The Commodity Credit corporation will take all possible steps to provide ample storage space for grain crops this year, Rep. Poage (D-Tex) says.

He made the statement yesterday after conferring with CCC President Ralph Trigg.

Proper storage for grain is necessary for farmers to obtain government loans on their crops.

Poage said he received complaints last year that some grain dealers deliberately held the previous year's crop at inland elevators so farmers could not find approved storage space available. Growers therefore were forced to sell at prices lower than the loan figure, he added.

The Texan said Trigg also agreed to do everything possible to see that grain stored at inland elevators this year is moved to port and terminal warehouses, thus making room for the coming harvest.

Because 5 New York doctors now have proved you may break the laxative habit. And establish your natural powers of regularity. Eighty-three per cent of the cases tested did it. So can you.

Stop taking whatever you now take. Instead: Every night for one week take 2 Carter's Pills. Second week—one each night. Third week—one every other night. Then—nothing!

"Active Communist" Revealed As FBI Spy For Seven Years

NEW YORK, April 28 (AP)—A dark-haired girl photographer, appearing as the first female witness at the Communist conspiracy trial, says she has been a "very active Communist" for seven years.

But throughout that time, Angela Calomiris testified Tuesday, she has slipped regular reports to the FBI about secret party meetings, schools and activities.

"Socialism could not be achieved by evolution, but that it was necessary to violently overthrow the existing government. All branches of the state would have to be abolished, smashed and a dictatorship of the proletariat would follow."

Good Party Member

Miss Calomiris, about 25, said her FBI connections were so well shielded that she was a party member in good standing up to the time she began testifying.

At one point she stepped down from the stand and placed a finger on the shoulder of Gil Green, one of the defendants, to identify him as the man who welcomed her into party ranks in 1942.

FBI Encouraged Her

In the party, she was known as "Angela Cole"—a name she said she assumed on instructions of party leaders.

She became financial secretary of a Communist club in west midtown Manhattan, and kept records of dues payments and other collections, she said.

The party was "partially underground" when she first joined, she testified, but that policy changed in 1944 when the Communist party in the U. S. was dissolved, and replaced by a political association with a program of cooperation with capitalism.

After that, she said, "we called each other brother and sister or friend; before that we called each other comrade."

Out In Open

But in the following year—1945—the Communist party was reestablished, switched back to its former Marxist-Leninist line, and all "former titles were renewed," she said.

From then on, it was "regular practice" for Communist party units to destroy membership cards, records, and for members to use false names, she testified.

Asked what happened to him, she replied:

Hockley Courthouse Dedication Planned

LEVELLAND, April 27. (Spl) Hockley County Judge LaVern I. McCann has announced that plans are underway for dedication of the new courthouse annex May 30. In addition to the dedication, the Wm. E. Evans post of the American Legion will decorate graves of the veterans in the Levelland cemetery.

A wreath will be placed on the memorial marker on the courthouse lawn by Jack Thomman, a past district commander and a past Fifth Division commander of the Legion. Thomman was division commander when the memorial marker was erected as a memorial to Wm. E. Evans, for whom the post was named.

Dedication of the courthouse is scheduled for 10:30 a. m. The commissioners' court and American Legion have secured services of the Fourth Army band of Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, for the event. John Winters, Austin, of the State Department of Public Welfare, will be the main speaker.

The Memorial Day program is sponsored by the American Legion and is being arranged by Sam Blair, commander, and Burnie R. Carraway, vice commander.

Monkeys Cheer Mexico Zoo Animals To Victory Over Men

MEXICO CITY, April 27 (U.P.)—The Chapultepec Park zoo reported today that its animals had staged an impromptu and unusual rodeo.

"The animals chased the cowboys," the zoo explained.

Officials of the zoo said some 50 members of the American-Mexican animal innoculation team, including six rope-swinging cowboys, visited the zoo Tuesday to innoculate its animals against hoof and mouth disease. But they added it was "no contest" because of the performance of a pair of wild-eyed buffaloes.

Humans Routed

Cheered on by a band of screaming monkeys, the giant, 3,000-pound bison chased scientists, cowboys and photographers from their pens, scoring a complete victory for the animal kingdom.

"Vaccinating cattle out on the ranges was never like this."

The vaccination crews were slated to innoculate elks, wapati, peccaries llamas, deer and other cloven-hoofed animals susceptible to the disease. But they managed to tie down and vaccinate only two Peruvian llamas.

Miss California Of '38 Wants Divorce

LOS ANGELES, April 27 (AP) — Actress Claire James, "Miss California of 1938," has obtained a divorce from William Girard, 45, associate film producer.

Her mother, Mrs. Helen James, testified Tuesday that two weeks after her daughter's Las Vegas, Nev., wedding Girard called her and said:

The actress—a runner-up in the 1938 Miss America contest—said Girard refused to support her and that her father paid her medical bills when she was ill. She asked no alimony.

Marines Fear Unification Is Beginning Of End For Corps

WASHINGTON, April 27. (AP)—The marines now have official, written support for their suspicion that armed forces unification may mean the end of the corps.

Secretary of the Navy John L. Sullivan, in his angry letter to Secretary of Defense Johnson denouncing Johnson's order to cancel building of the 65,000 ton super aircraft carrier, voiced this apprehension:

Alarm Already Stirred

"The conviction that this will result in a renewed effort to abolish the marine corps and to transfer all naval and marine aviation elsewhere adds to my anxiety."

The marines' alarm already had been stirred by a statement from another official quarter.

Secretary of the Army Kenneth C. Royall, testifying before the Senate armed forces committee two weeks ago, had urged that the authority of the Secretary of Defense be made strong enough to allow him, with presidential approval, to "make the marines part of the army or the army part of the marines."

Because the marine corps strength presently is about 80,000 compared with more than half a million men in the army, Royall's reference to making the army part of the marine corps was not taken seriously. But his mention of army absorption of the marine corps had an ominous sound for the soldiers of the sea.

Referred To Our Force

But Sullivan's letter to Johnson disclosed the worry was not only that the marine corps troops—the original experts on amphibious warfare—might be taken over by the army.

When Sullivan spoke of anxiety over transfer of all naval and marine aviation "elsewhere" it was obvious he referred to the air force.

The marine corps has no voting voice on the joint chiefs of staff. That military high command is made up of the chief of staff of the army, chief of staff of the air force and chief of naval operations. The marines, not an autonomous military body, are represented by the naval chief. Their future thus is tied to that of the navy.

In telling Johnson of his decision to resign because of the ruling against the carrier, Sullivan said that Johnson issued the order "without discussion with the chief of naval operations, without consultation with the Secretary of the Navy."

New Question Arises

In hs order to Sullivan last Saturday, Johnson said he took that action after receiving "the views of the chiefs of staff" and discussion with the President.

Out of this arose another question, which spokesmen for Johnson could not answer immediately:

Did Johnson include Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, temporary chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, in his final discussions on the carrier? Eisenhower, who has been ill, was recuperating in Georgia last Saturday. It could not be learned whether Johnson had a last-minute phone talk with him.

The official definition of Eisenhower's job contains no reference to his being a voting member of the joint chiefs. His task is defined as helping "resolve differences of conviction among the services" and "to advise the Secretary of Defense and the President on questions that are not resolved by unanimous decision of the joint chiefs of staff."

This matter of "unanimous" decision by the joint chiefs organization has been the subject of some curiosity.

No Written Order

A study of the original directive by the late President Roosevelt setting up the joint chiefs of staff, and of the provision for that agency under the new service unification law, reveals no written order for a unanimous decision.

It seems to have originated in either an oral suggestion by the late President or to have grown by custom. However, the bitter battle between the air force and the navy over the question of strategic bombing roles of the services—and the newer question of the supercarrier—seems to have ended that custom.

Chairman Tydings (D-Md) of the Senate armed services committee disclosed that a note from Johnson said his decision against the carrier was made upon the recommendation of "not less than a majority of the joint chiefs of staff."

This suggested that the army and air force voted together, with Admiral Louis E. Denfeld of the navy casting a dissenting ballot.

RETURNS TO OFFICE

C-47 'Ditched' In Mid-Ocean

NEW YORK, April 27 (AP) — Four men in a crippled U. S. Air Force transport plane made an emergency landing beside a coast guard cutter far out in the Atlantic ocean early today and all were rescued.

The twin-engine transport, enroute from the Azores islands to Argentia, Newfoundland, bellylanded beside the cutter Sebago at 1 a. m. (EST) 610 miles southeast of Newfoundland.

Engine Trouble

Coast guard area headquarters here said the plane developed engine trouble, and the pilot flew to the cutter, on stationary rescue and weather station duty at "Ocean Station Dog."

The Sebago steamed toward Argentia with the rescued men.

The engine trouble developed soon after the plane had made a routine communications check with the cutter. The plane returned to the fixed position of the cutter, messaging that the pilot, Lieut. Robert R. Bush, of Yuba City, Calif., was going to "ditch."

"The pilot made a fine emergency landing about 100 yards from the Sebago," the coast guard here said on the basis of radio reports.

Lifeboat Rescue

"A lifeboat was standing by and took the four crew members from the plane, which sank within 12 minutes. The entire personnel involved escaped injuries."

Others on the plane were Lieut. John Jekel, of Greeley, Colo., the Co-Pilot; Lieut. George H. Behrens, of Chicopee Falls, Mass., navigator, and Staff Sgt. James B. Manion, of East Moline, Ill.

Skipper of the rescue cutter is Comdr. E. A. Coffin, jr., of Staten Island, New York City.

China War Seen As Communist Attempt To Ready Forces Before World War III

By HAROLD K. MILKS
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, April 27—Recent events in China add up to a conclusion that the Chinese Communists are of the same breed as their Russian cousins.

Some observers have held out hope that the Communists in China were only agrarian reformers under another name. They are rapidly discarding that hope as the lost cause of Nationalist China crumples under the attack of Red armies.

Rejection by the Chinese Communists of negotiation in favor of conquest has the appearance of being closely timed to the international situation. It is a race to capture, consolidate and reconstruct all China ahead of a possible world conflict.

It is another illustration that these Reds, far from being bent only on reforms within their own borders, are playing their cards skillfully in full support of their Soviet partners.

Developments of the past week in China raise new political and economic problems for the United States. In the light of open Communist flaunting of usual diplomatic privileges, as in the case of their invasion of the bedroom of U. S. Ambassador J. Leighton Stuart, the question of the whole future of Asia and the American position in it is raised. The serious "loss of face" caused by the Stuart incident and the Communist bombardment of British warships may easily have repercussions in other parts of the Far East.

These are the two questions asked repeatedly of newsmen returning from the China scene:

1. Why did Nationalist China, with its huge armies, its American arms, and its modern airforce, lose the war to a relatively untrained and poorly outfitted Red force?

True Communists?

2. Are China's Communists true Soviet Communists or a separate type all their own?

American officials who have been in China, from General George C. Marshall downward, date the defeat of Nationalist China to the hot summer of 1946 when Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek—against the advice and entreaties of the American presidential mediator, permitted his armies to attempt the "liberation" of certain key cities then in Red hands.

This attempt was temporarily successful. Then came a relapse from which neither Chiang nor his armies ever recovered. Communist forces driving southward below the Yangtze today are reaping the full fruits of this collapse.

There are many reasons why Chiang Kai-Shek's military machine, with its American arms and its dollar backing, failed to halt the Reds.

No Patriotism

Another, probably more important, is the lack in China of national patriotism as we know it here. It has been fittingly said that China needed more than anything else a national hero such as our own Patrick Henry.

It should be added that skillful Communist propagandists are rapidly filling that need in red China by attempting to convince their people that Communist leader Mao Tze-Tung is the real savior of the world, and his teaching the only true gospel.

Lack of national patriotism is reflected in self-interest shockingly evident to American officials and correspondents in China.

Tried To Take Car

It was demonstrated by the attempt of one fleeing Chinese air force leader to load his personal limousine aboard a transport plane in place of essential supplies which might have been used for a stand against the reds elsewhere.

It was demonstrated again by the Chinese general who calmly loaded a grand piano aboard a plane fleeing Nanking while other refugees waited dismally for an escape from the Reds.

The Chinese high command—which means Generalissimo Chiang—disregarded repeated suggestions of American and other advisors that an overall battle plan against the Reds be drafted.

Instead strategy and tactics were dictated on a day-to-day basis, and frequently by the whims and desires of the generalissimo or other top officials rather than by military needs and capabilities.

Two years ago I sat in the headquarters of a divisional commander whose troops formed part of a government "offensive" which cost Chiang Kai-Shek twice the men and four times the equipment the Reds lost.

Puzzled, disheartened, and angry, this American-trained Chinese general appealed to me:

"How can I fight like this? Today I have four sets of orders—one from the army field commander, one from the garrison headquarters in Hankow, a third from the defense ministry in Nanking, and a fourth from the generalissimo himself. And they are all conflicting."

Advice Not Taken

The refusal of the generalissimo to abandon a habit of personally directing his armies, frequently in complete disregard of the military situation or the advice of his own general staff, has been widely criticized. It is said, half in jest, half in earnest, that one of the greatest contributors to the Communist victory in China was Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek himself.

There is still another reason for the Red victory. Chinese in every walk of life—soldiers, generals, merchants, coolies, students—are tired of accepting as pay worthless paper money which daily became even more worthless. They are tired of conflict, tired of war, and they simply have quit fighting.

Much has been said and written about the alleged failure of the United States to give Chiang's government adequate supplies and arms to defeat the Reds. Major General David G. Barr, last head of the American military advisory groups in China, says "The Chinese Nationalist armies did not lose a single battle because of a shortage of arms, munitions, or essential supplies."

Moscow Followers

China's Communists today are as true followers of the Moscow international policies as are the leaders of nations under Soviet domination in Europe.

Every move in Russia has produced a supporting move in Red China.

It would be incorrect to say that actions of China's Communists are dictated from Moscow. There is no direct evidence that Premier Stalin is calling the shots for his Chinese associates.

But it is certain that China's Communists are moving steadily and fully in support of a general program of world Communism, and have keyed every step they take with moves by Moscow.

Much also has been said and written about the Chinese Reds being Nationalists first and Communists second. How much of this belief is only the wishful hope of Americans being driven from China cannot yet be told.

Reds In Saddle

The crust of true Communism in China is thin. But today it is the hard upper crust and no one can say how hard it will be for Nationalist or non-Communist forces there to break through and submerge the Reds as other ruling groups have been submerged in the past. Certainly China's Communists are solidly in the saddle today, and barring international developments may be expected to remain there a long time.

The great bulk of China's vast population is politically inarticulate, neither active nor interested in what faction rules them. Whether Red leader Mao Tze-Tung can arouse these millions—or even wants to risk trying to—remains to be seen.

Communists will soon control all China. The prospects there for the United States appear exceedingly dismal, at least for the next few years.

Need Imports

Chinese Communists, if they are to fulfill their ambitious program of national reconstruction rapidly, must obtain imported materials which only the United States is in a position to supply.

This raises large questions, of course. One has to do with the attitude of the United States toward doing business on any basis with a Red China. The Chinese Communists, on the other hand, would likely risk the displeasure of their Soviet associates if they made any overtures or—which is more remote—modified their own approach to politico-economic questions.

In three years the United States has largely lost its position as friend, supporter, and ally of China. The Reds hate the United States because it helped the Nationalist government. And many Nationalists hate the U. S. because they feel it didn't help them enough.

Waiting Policy

Unless we are prepared to approve and back full military intervention—and that means sending American men into a shooting war with the Chinese Reds—many observers believe there is only one thing left to be done.

That is to pull completely out of China and hope that within a few years more moderate influences will break through the Communist crust and invite us back again.

School Board

Library Improvements Set

Matthews, in a bulletin sent to trustees prior to the meeting, pointed out that "the building program of the last five years has outdistanced our library system." The teachers committee based its recommendations upon standards set up by the American Library Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools and by the Texas Department of Education.

Clyde G. Tatum, chairman of the board, announced the working committees of the board for the next year. They were as follows:

Building committee—Dr. M. M. Ewing, chairman; Ruel C. Martin, and Glenn Woody.

Athletic committee—G. C. Dowell, chairman; Don L. Jones and Woody.

Teachers salaries—Martin, chairman; Jones and W. H. Evans.

Transportation committee—Jones, chairman; Martin and Dowell.

The school board announced that May 16 has been set as the date for letting of contracts for remodeling of the old Central Junior high school.

Teachers Are Approved

It was announced that the following teachers are not accepting election for the 1949-50 school year: Mary Clare Barnett, Overton school; Mrs. Wynona Shaw, Carroll Thompson Junior high; E. E. Hancock, J. T. Hutchinson Junior high; Mrs. Hope R. Austin, P. F. Brown school; Mrs. Ava S. Barr, P. F. Brown school; and Mrs. Vera Mae Stanford, Cottage school.

The board approved the election of the following new teachers:

James E. Wilson, O. L. Slaton school; Mrs. Rachel R. Branom, Brown school; Virginia Sue Smith, Brown school; Geraldine Frazier, Central Ward school; Martha Lou Smith, Cottage school; Gordon E. Stalcup, Dupre school; Mrs. Rayma Smith, East Broadway school; Mrs. Lucille S. Garrison, Guadalupe school; Walter J. Crews, Chris Harwell school; Mrs. Thelma T. McBryde, Chris Harwell school; Mrs. Peggy Phillips, Chris Harwell school; Mrs. Lyta E. Bradford, Overton school; Mary Sue Tyson, Overton school.

Margarite McCoy, Wilson school; Hester M. Beck, Northwest school; Mrs. Peggy M. Bowling, Northwest school; Mrs. Barbara B. Coleman, Northwest; Fillmore Hendrix, Northwest school; Mrs. Irene S. their chances if the Communists capture the city.

Communist radio broadcasts asserted two Chinese armies, the 20th and 99th virtually had been wiped out. The site of this reported fighting was not given.

The Shanghai garrison tightened its security measures and said censorship of both Chinese and English language newspapers would begin. The garrison prohibits publication of any war news save what it puts out.

ZOO OFFICIALS HORN IN—It takes a pair of pruning shears to give Kifaru's horns a trim at the Philadelphia Zoo. Dehorning was a precautionary measure, because tough Kifaru will soon rejoin his mate Kenya.

San Angelo Rancher Faces Theft Charge

SAN ANGELO, April 27 (AP) — William L. (Billy) Bales, 28, whose ranching and importing activities ranged from here to Chihuahua, Mexico, was placed under $2,500 bond today on a federal cattle theft charge.

The two were charged with theft of 24 head of cattle from the 340-section ranch of Wayne W. Braidfoot of Afton, N.M.

Sheriff J. F. Bryson said also he had received a telegraphic warrant from Sheriff A. L. Apodaca of Las Cruces, N.M. He said it asked Bales and Finnell be held for New Mexico officers on a charge of theft of 24 cattle from the Braidfoot ranch.

France is banning penicillin imports because it now produces all it needs.

Tickets For Final Concerts Of Symphony Are Selling Rapidly

Tickets to the season's final concerts of the Lubbock Symphony orchestra, which were placed on sale Monday, are selling rapidly, it was announced by the Symphony business office Tuesday afternoon.

The two final concerts of the season are to be presented in Lubbock Senior High school auditorium on the evenings of Friday, May 6, and Saturday, May 7. Amparo Iturbi, internationally-known pianist, will appear with the Symphony as guest artist.

Special Price Offered

Miss Leona Gelin, business manager of the Lubbock Symphony has announced that in honor of National Music Week, which is set for the first week in May, students, whether in public school, private school, or college, will be entitled to any seat in the house at the Saturday night concert for 85 cents. At the Friday concert, which is designated primarily for the holders of season subscription tickets, some 300 tickets are for sale, which also will be available at the student rate.

College and business school students should have some form of identification in their possession which would enable them to verify their student status, it was announced.

Pianist To Appear

For the general public, main floor tickets are $3, $2.80, $2.40, and $1.80. Balcony seats are $2.80 and $1.80. All prices include tax. Mail orders should be addressed to the Lubbock Symphony orchestra at post office box 894, Lubbock. Orders should be accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Amparo Iturbi, who will appear with the orchestra at both concerts, will come here from a highly successful concert tour of England. She is a sister of the world-famous Jose Iturbi, and, although perhaps not quite so well known, is no less gifted than her famous brother.

Madame Iturbi was born in Valencia, Spain, the youngest of four children, in a family where music was considered part of the cultural aspect of daily life.

Musical Field Broadened

She started her musical education with Maria Jordan, making such phenomenal progress that in a few short years she was teaching several pupils of all ages. Three years later she gave her first concert in Valencia, and its success make possible a subsequent sojourn in Barcelona where she studied with Chavarri. In turn, he, impressed with her talent, gave her a letter of introduction to Granados, the great Spanish musician. After hearing her play Mozart, Beethoven, and his own Goyescas, Granados was so enthusiastic that he invited her to give a performance before his pupils in his own home.

Following, young Miss Iturbi continued to teach and play recitals until her musical achievements demanded further and more critical fields. She joined her brother in Paris. Performances followed with the Orchestra Lamoureux, Paul Paray conducting; Pandeloup, with Albert Wolff; Toulouse, with Gregorie; Marseilles, with Schiari, and several concerts in Italy with Molinari.

Appears On Radio Show

Following an unsuccessful marriage, Madame Iturbi, her small daughter, and her mother, came to the United States in 1938. She planned a teaching career until Deems Taylor, hearing her play in Radio City music hall, signed her for a broadcast. She made her radio debut with Howard Barlow.

Numerous engagements were immediately forthcoming. She was heard in Carnegie Hall; with the New York Philharmonic, the New York Symphony at Lewisohn stadium, Rochester Philharmonic, and the Los Angeles Philharmonic, as well as others.

With her brother, Madame Iturbi helped develop the famous "Iturbi Technique." Their two-piano recitals now are considered important musical events.

Entertained Armed Forces

During the war, Madame Iturbi devoted all her time to playing for the armed forces in many parts of the world. She flew nearly 59,000 miles in seven months on one tour.

Since the war she has continued her concert career. In a recent concert in the Hollywood Bowl, she received high praise for her interpretation of Liszt's "E Flat Concerto." Her more recent concert series in London and elsewhere in the British Isles has been well received.

In addition to her concert work, Madame Iturbi has been featured in recording, on the radio, and in motion pictures, among which have been "Two Girls and a Sailor," "Holiday in Mexico," and "Three Daring Daughters."

IN HOLLYWOOD: BY ERSKINE JOHNSON

Rosalind Russell Shakes Off Dramas; New Film Is Comedy

HOLLYWOOD, April 27 (NEA) — Hollywood's best comedienne, Rosalind Russell, is making her first comedy in five years.

"I really don't know how it happened," she told me. "I wanted to make only on dramatic picture, 'Sister Kenny,' as a change of pace. Then I got stuck in dramas up to my knees.

"I thought 'Roughly Speaking' would be a comedy. But it turned out to be another 'Since You Went Away.' 'Mourning Becomes Electra' was a mistake. 'The Velvet Touch' was a good story, but it wasn't for me.

"I haven't made a comedy for five years but I've been trying to make one ever since 'Sister Kenny.' Contracts, commitments and Hollywood just got in the way."

Roz is the only actress I know who isn't screaming about reissues. Several of her comedies have made the theater rounds for the second time and . . .

"It's amazing," she said. "I realize that a lot of boby-soxers have never seen me fall on my derriere. Now I get letters like: 'I just saw you in your new picture, "His Girl Friday" (a reissue). You were wonderful. I thought you were just a dramatic actress'."

* * *

Takes A Dip

Roz's new comedy is "Tell It to the Judge" with Bob Cummings for Columbia. Among other things, she falls into a lake fully dressed and goes for a wild ride down a mountainside on skiis.

"Will you ever do another drama?"

Roz gave the question a hollow laugh and said:

"Let's put it this way. I'll do a good script—what ham won't?"

Judy Garland and director Busby Berkeley have kissed and made up after a beautiful row . . . Betcy Blair was all for accepting Orson Welles' cabled offer to come to Italy for "Othello." But husband Gene Kelly would have none of it . . . Orson's first ex-wife, Virginia Lederer, will marry Jack Harley, heir to a British title and millions. Ex-wifey Rita is doing all right, too.

The proposed film biography of Mary Baker Eddy will have plenty of objections from the Christian Science church. Local Scientists assure me the whole idea is without official church approval.

Phil Harris and Alice Faye were asked to what they attributed their marital success. "Two things," said Phil, "Me and Alice."

Birth pangs of television: Ben Gage's television show had to move to a new studio with a ceiling higher than eight feet. Ben's six feet, six was interfering with the overhead lights.

There's talk again of Eleanor Powell making her technicolor debut in the big all-star finale for the Jane Powell film, "Nancy Goes to Rio." And isn't M-G-M talking to Margaret Truman again for a spot in the same film-

The tests continue for the chorus girl role in the film version of "Born Yesterday." Columbia denied Judy Halliday, who created the role, would be tested, then announced she would make a test in New York. Marie MacDonald and half a dozen other dolls have made tests in Hollywood. Some people think Rita Hayworth will get the role, but Columbia hopes to have the film in production within a month. Rita will be on her honeymoon.

Jessica Tandy, star of the hit "A Streetcar Named Desire" in New York, will leave the company June 1 for Hollywood commitments. Uta Hagen, who has the Blanche DuBois role in the touring company, will replace her.

McGee Trial Juror Has Birthday Cake

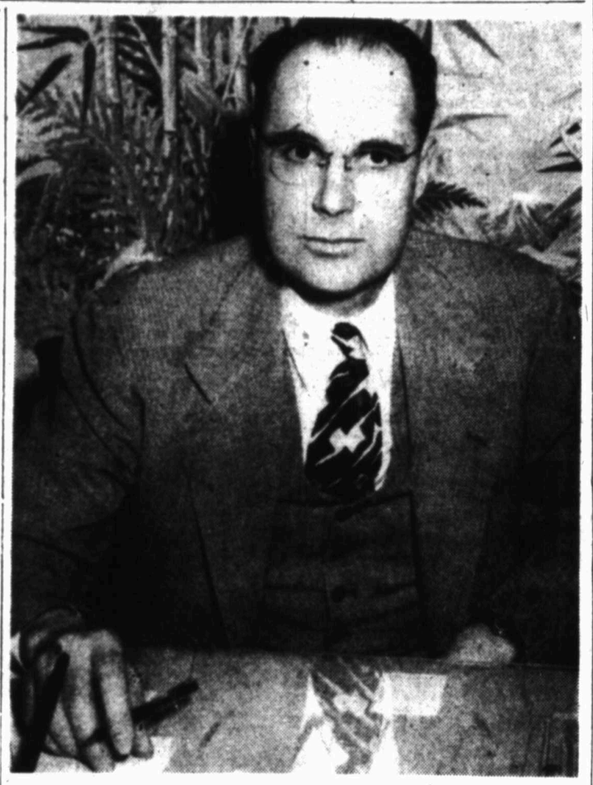

While the normal way of life has been interrupted for the 12 McGee murder trial jurors, the element of time still affects them.

One of the 12 men, H. H. Murray, celebrated his 65th birthday Monday.

To mark this milestone in his life a special cake was brought to the sheriff's office where Sheriff Grady Harrist and his deputies provided the ice cream to go with it.

Since a jury in a criminal case is a 24-legged body that is, by law, inseparable, the other eleven jurors got in on the party without the need of a special invitation.

Murray was not only congratulated. He was also commended for serving on the jury as a good citizen when he might have been excused by reason of over-age.

MEET THE MANAGER—Garland Newsom, owner and manager of Newsom Paint and Supply Co., was born at Hillsboro May 14, 1905. His parents lived at Paducah from the time he was 3 until 15 years ago, then moved to Lubbock in 1920 and he has lived here since that time with the exception of one year. Mr. Newsom was graduated from Lubbock High school and Texas Technological college. He worked in a paint and supply store here and spent a year in 1930-31 in California. In May, 1935 he became a partner in Newsom-Gibson company at 1212 Avenue K. He bought the corporation in September, 1941, and the corporation was discontinued. Mr. Newsom is retiring chairman of the board of stewards of First Methodist church. He is a member of Kiwanis club, Knife and Fork club and Lubbock Country club. He is a former city commissioner. He has two hobbies, photography and his business. Mr. and Mrs. Newsom and their three children, Janice, 12, Royce, 10, and Robert, 7, live at 2819 Twenty-seventh. Newsom also owns half interest in a San Angelo firm, Young Paint and Supply company. (Staff Photo).

Red Cross Chapter To Sponsor Water Safety Course Here

The Lubbock county chapter of the American Red Cross will sponsor a 30-hour Water Safety Instructor's course May 15 through May 27, it was announced Tuesday.

The course will be conducted at the Municipal pool if repair and expansion work currently being done there is completed. The course will be taught by Robert H. Lucey and Harris Burton, both water safety representatives from St. Louis.

Holders of Senior Life Saving certificates are eligible to take the course. In addition, all persons who are 19 years of age or over who consider themselves strong swimmers may enroll, it was announced.

Immediate Action Urged

Local Red Cross officials have asked that all persons who plan to take the course call the local Red Cross offices, telephone number 8534, immediately.

Marvin McLarty, jr., is chairman of water safety in Lubbock county. Water safety representatives on the Texas Tech campus are Floyd Rector and Ed Wilson.

The course was offered last summer at the Carden Green pool, near Lubbock. Seventy-two persons participated.

It was pointed out Tuesday by the local Red Cross chapter that the course will make available a larger number of qualified life savers which are needed in greater numbers this year over the area. Also, it will mean much greater water safety, and will make the public more safety-conscious.

The Municipal pool will be used exclusively for the course, since it does not open to the public until several days afterward.

Aggie Club To Hold Banquet On Friday

The Aggie club of Texas Technological college will hold its 12th annual banquet at 7:30 p.m. Friday in the Hilton hotel ballroom, Edd C. McLeroy, president, announced Tuesday night.

Dr. Virgil P. Lee, president of the Texas Production Credit corporation of Houston, will be principal speaker. McLeroy announced

Between 400 and 500 members of the Aggie club and their guests are expected to be present. Earl Sears, past president of the club and now a vocational agriculture teacher at Lamesa, will be toastmaster.

Plaque To Be Presented

The club will present a picture of graduating seniors to the agriculture division. W. L. Stangel, dean of the division, will make an acceptance.

Musical numbers will be provided by a college trio known as the "Flat Notes." The trio is composed of Bob "Porky" Parkinson, Lamar Jackson and Bill Jackson.

Swedish workers and employers agree that wages and salaries should remain unchanged this year, providing there are no price increases except where vitally necessary.

THIS may be a case for the FBI. Or, at least, for the Texas Rangers. Anyway, some authoritative group should be on hand in the coffey shoppey of the Hilton hotel to protect honest citizens from invasion of privacy and downright ribaldry on the part of a few individuals who are wont to gather there at noontime.

The other day, we took The Little Woman down to the big boarding house for lunch.

We had no particular reason for being so thoughtful. Just invited her out of the goodness of our heart.

We told her in advance that there likely would be some unsavory characters around who would whistle and point and holler "You must be tryin' to git outa the doghouse—bringin' yer wife to lunch."

But we had no idea it would go as far as it did.

We got the jeers, all right, from two or three directions, soon as we walked into the place.

But that was minor.

What really was bad was the actions of a few rowdies who occupy what they call "The Round Table" every day.

In addition to hoots and catcalls from these otherwise very dignified lawyers, insurance peddlers, car dealers and lethal gas handlers, there came an anonymous note by way of a waitress.

The note read:

"It will be necessary to do a lot more than bring your wife to lunch one time to make up for all we know you did last week!"

★ ★ ★

IT seems to us that a law-abiding citizen should be able to take his own wife to lunch without being subject to insult on the part of irresponsible hangers-on.

Fun's fun, but all married men reading this know we're going to be dodging questions between now and the Fourth of July on, "Well, what was it you did that week?"

If Mr. Arthur Griffith, who runs Mr. Hilton's place of business, doesn't give his dignified customers any better protection from the undesirable element among his patrons, then he should ought to be made to eat, every day in the year, the food he serves to the civic clubs.

Meanwhile, we aim to get even with them rowdies.

As we meet their wives at social gatherings, ball games, etc., we're going to tell each one about some of the shenanigans of her own husband.

ALTHOUGH the 1949 edition of the Lubbock Hubbers has shown, to date, very little to become hysterical about, the fact remains that the club shows much more promise than its 1948 predecessor did at the same stage of the season.

While our personal enthusiasm over Hubber prospects is somewhat less than boundless, we cannot but recall that the local nine has yet to field its full strength.

We also remember that the front office boss of the Hubs, George Schepps, has many baseball contacts and is a very persuasive guy. George may be expected to keep wangling ballplayers from around and about until a winning combination is gathered.

The club needs a shortstop who can hit close to .300 and move to both right and left. It needs at least three pitchers capable of winning 15 games apiece.

It also needs a first baseman in shape to play ball, which Jim Prince may be by the latter part of May if he can shuck off 25 pounds of excess fat he so foolishly packed into opening season. However, if he's going to be anywhere near a satisfactory replacement for the late Virgil Richardson, he's got to show something more potent than a collection of newspaper clippings from Midland.

This time last year the Hubbers were even more hapless than the team appeared in its final game against Alby-q-q Monday night. The procedure was painful for a good many weeks, but the boys finally wound up in the play-offs.

This year, the outfield will be better than it was any time last year—as soon as sickness and injuries are conquered. Everybody knows Chick Fowler is in better shape than he was at any time last season and that Al Duarte is one of the dozen best ball players the league has seen. If Joe Wisneiwski isn't the rookie wizard Mr. Schepps thinks he is, a replacement for him shouldn't be difficult.

Nelson Davis can't play shortstop, but he should make a fine third baseman. He has power at the plate and a buggy whip arm that's something to watch. Clifford "Mike" Dooley won't hit within 30 points of Don Moore, but he's a much better receiver, a better team player, and has a better head.

THE Hubs have three pitchers good enough to go through the season in satisfactory style, injuries barred. They are Royce Mills, Don Hensiek and Cotton Russell. Perhaps one more can be salvaged from the balance of the staff, but that's doubtful.

Carl "Jackie" Sullivan has another year of managerial experience under his belt and that should help, too. The lantern-jawed Irisher is still a very classy ballplayer in this league and if he can quit worrying so much he'll hit his customary .350-plus and play in the All-Star game.

The big difficulty of the WT-NM league from the grandstand angle is the refusal of a majority of clubowners to shoulder a payroll sufficient to give each team enough old pro's to use as a structure on which to build a team. Only Lubbock and Pampa are vociferous in their desires to have the classman rule changed to where each team can have at least eight veterans who presumably should know their ankles from first base.

In a loop where the hitting is free and easy, a team has to carry six pitchers. At least three of them should be veterans. That's pretty difficult to do under a six classman rule and still have a few guys playing elsewhere to steady the less experienced players.

If and when a majority of club owners realize that added investments in playing talent will pay dividends at the gate, there'll be better baseball in the WT-NM league.

Until then, the scramble will continue as it was last year.

BY DREW PEARSON: SEN. BRIDGES ISSUES CHALLENGE TO SEN. VANDENBERG

Policy In China Cause For Friction Among Solons

WASHINGTON.—It wasn't officially recorded, but New Hampshire's Senator Styles Bridges recently struck a sharp blow at the bi-partisan foreign policy by demanding that G. O. P. take its own stand on foreign affairs—particularly in China.

PEARSON

He shot the challange squarely at Michigan's Senator Arthur Vandenberg, the Mr. Big of the bipartisan foreign policy, during a secret meeting of the Republican policy committee.

The debate got so heated that at one point Vandenberg snorted: "Now, this is within these four walls. There aren't many here, and if this appears in Drew Pearson's column, I won't have too many to check with."

However, here is the story of what happened at the secret meeting.

Bridges called upon the Republicans to stop echoing "me, too' to everything the administration does and to focus a "little sunlight on the mistakes and questionable policies" of the Democrats.

He charged that China was being forfeited to the Communists and he urged Vandenberg to take a stand on this and demand a review of our China policy. When America realizes its mistake, Bridges argued, then the Republicans could pin the blame upon the Democrats.

Vandenberg retorted sharply that it was easier for Bridges to snipe against our foreign policy because he didn't have the responsibility as G.O.P. foreign-policy spokesman. Vandenberg admitted that the picture is dark for the Chinese anti-Communists, but argued that it was too late to interfere without jeopardizing the chances of salvaging what is left. By intervening now, the United States wouldn't save China but might endanger future relations, Vandenburg argued. He also pointed out that the corrupt governing clique that runs the central government soaks up most U. S. aid intended for the Chinese people.

• • •

Pro-Communist Diplomats?

Bridges snapped back that members of the State department were sabotaging our foreign policy and demanded that the pro-Communists be flushed out of the service.

At this, Massachusetts' lean Leverett Saltonstall raised a cautioning hand, suggested it was unfair to question the motives of diplomatic personnel.

"If you had a general who commanded an army and lost a battle through incompetence, you would remove him," crackled Bridges. "If he lost by conspiring with the enemy, you would court-martial and probably shoot him. But the State department losses country after country and all you do is promote them."

Vandenberg said he didn't know of any pro-Communists in the State department. Ohio's Senator Robert Taft suggested, however, that the people underneath are often biased and don't give the people on top a true picture.

OHIO'S statuesque Senator John Bricker has been posing as the great champion of the negro by delawed in all public housing projects.

But what the public didn't realize is that Bricker toned down his own anti-segregation amendment, the minute it conflicted with the real estate lobby.

Bricker's original anti-segregation amendment would have cut off federal funds, including FHA loans, for any segregation housing project. But when the real estate boys saw this, they realized Bricker would cut off one of their most lucrative sources of money—loans from the Federal Housing administration. So they hotfooted it to Bricer's office and had him change his amendment so that it abolished segregation for public housing, but not FHA-financed housing.

Note—Bricker's real motive was to inject civil rights into the housing debate so it would turn the southern vote against public housing.

Malmedy Trial

Only one important committee hearing at this session of Congress has been chairmanned by a Republican—Senator Baldwin of Connecticut who presides over the Malmedy trial investigation. Baldwin is one of the ablest and most fair-minded members of the Senate, but there is an interesting backstage story behind his appointment.

It results from the fact that Maryland's dapper Senator Tydings wanted to euchre the probe of the Army's court-martial away from his Democratic colleague from North Carolina, swallow-tailed Clyde Hoey.

Tydings appeared to believe that American officers were justified in using brutality and torture to wring confessions from ex-German storm troopers who allegedly took part in the Malmedy massacres during the Battle of the Bulge. Tdyings also claimed jurisdiction for his armed only after Hoey had ordered his special investigating committee to look into the case. Previously, Tydings had flatly refused to investigate; then changed his mind after learning of Hoey's interest.

Fearing that Tydings would whitewash the brass hats, Hoey suggested turning the investigation over to a joint committee, made up of members from the armed services, judiciary and expenditures committees.

This started talks between the two that were still proceeding when suddenly Tydings pulled a surprise announcement that his committee would go ahead with its own investigation, and he appointed Senator Baldwin, Republican, to head the probe.

The payoff is that Baldwin's law partner, Dwight F. Fanton, helped the Army prosecute the Malmedy defendants.

PRESIDENT TRUMAN, who frequently blows hot and cold over Palestine, has given a private spanking to the new republic of Israel. He is boiling mad at the Israeli government for what he considers an insult to the American ambassador to Israel, James G. McDonald.

McDonald reported to the President that during a recent interview with the Isreali foreign minister, Moshe Shertok, the minister spoke disparagingly of American aid to Irsael. This made Truman so mad he ordered the U. S. representative to the United Nations, Warren Austin, not to object when the United Nations pigeonholed Isreal's application for U. N. membership.

Warren's silence shocked the Israeli because they were counting on wholehearted American support for their cause. As a result, President Weizmann is trying to patch things up during personal conferences with President Truman.

An Ohioan, married 50 years, says he has never quarreled with his wife. It is understood that the first 10 years of saying, "Yes, my dear," were the hardest.

Queerest Bird We Ever Saw

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

A CHICAGO wife has agreed to dismiss her divorce suit and go back to living with her husband if he will:

Wear a wedding ring.

Play cards on Friday only; chess on Monday.

Take an active interest in his home's appearance.

MILLETT

Lend no money to relatives.

Take his wife hunting with him.

Buy a home.

Before you make any such comment as: "Any husband who would stick by that list is crazy," how about a little experiment?

If you're a wife, write down a list of things you have made it plain to your husband he must and must not do; things he would be punished for by a display of temper or sulkiness if he ignored your wishes.

Come on now, don't pretend to yourself that such a list doesn't exist in your own and in your husband's mind.

Could he get by with more than one evening out a week? If he's going to be half an hour late getting home in the evening does he have to call you up? Would it be too bad for him if you found out he'd taken another woman to lunch? Would he dare to bring an unexpected dinner guest home with him?

Have you made it quite clear he's not to put his feet on the davenport, read the newspaper at breakfast, or mus up your fancy bedspread by sitting on the edge of the bed to take off his shoes?

• • •

UNWRITTEN, BUT IT EXISTS

MAYBE none of those items hits home, but you can bet your bottom dollar there's a list of things you expect your husband to do and not to do—and that you both are well aware of the list.

And how about you husbands? Aren't there quite a few do's and don'ts in your own marriage that you abide by simply to keep the little woman happy and to keep peace in the home?

If a list of all those do's and don'ts were published you might look just as hen-pecked as the Chicago husband.

Laff-A-Day

"You said I could go to the movies, and Mom said I couldn't, so I guess that leaves the deciding vote up to me."

By Bennett Cerf

"Try And Stop Me"

THE third Charles Scribner to occupy the presidency of his firm (the fourth is working his way up) has held the post since 1932. He is rarely perturbed by the perplexing problems of the book business but when the time approaches for his daily dash to the train home to Far Hills, his subordinates notice a growing look of concern on his face.

Scribner's object, and that of a few other commuters and friends, is to get settled in the club car and launched on a rubber of bridge before an elderly acquaintance, who plays abominably, manages to horn in on the game. The plan has never succeeded to date, but they all keep trying. Their present theory is that the unwelcome contestant hides in the washroom of the car all day while it stands in the yards, for he is on hand to greet them no matter how early they arrive at the station.

Scribler drew him as a partner one day and nearly fainted when he heard him bid six no-trump, but felt reassured when he saw the lay of the cards. "Even HE can't miss this one," whispered Scribner—but he was wrong. His partner revoked. Scribner swears that another day the fellow absentmindedly picked up two hands by mistake, carefully arranged the 26 cards, and bid, "One spade."

Yale Survey On Drinking In College Assailed By Writer

NEW YORK, April 27—A kind of Kinsey report (not the sex Kinsey, but the booze Kinsey) will be upcoming from Yale one of these months. It is a survey designed to explain, in tabulated detail, why college boys drink.

RUARK

I can save Yale's section on alcohol studies of the university laboratory of applied physiology at New Haven a lot of time and trouble. And heavens knows how much wear and on the tabulating machines. I can tell you now why college boys drink.

They drink because it is fun. Or else they think it's fun. Or else they drink because the other guys do. Or else they do it because the prexy says they shouldn't. But in any case it is my scientific observation that nobody ever got hurt much by college drinking—unless he was the sort of guy who would have been a drunk in college or out, before or after.

• • •

Yale Seeks Statistics

A college student is a puppy. He will chew any shoe, hat or soap-bar that is placed before him. If he is a smart puppy he will stop chewing the articles which make him sick. If he is a dumb puppy he will keep on munching, and nobody can ride sufficient herd on him to stop him. The second the guardian's back is turned, there is fido in the chicken bones again.

Yale, for some odd reason (maybe they haven't got enough work to do in New Haven) would like to amass a flock of statistics. The snoopers would like to know if rich kids drink more than poor kids, or if the sons of teetotallers lush it up more than the scions of soaks. The end aim is to "aid in the therapy and prevention of alcoholism by identifying factors associated by excessive drinking in youth."

Every so often I despair of the work that satan finds for idle professorial hands to do. I notice that this particular milestone in futility is the pet project of a couple of sociologists. Sociologists are people with a smattering of ignorance of all sciences.

• • •

THEY have been enraged, from time untold, because the established sciences would never admit them into the clubhouse. They have been trying to earn their letter with surveys, ever since—partly to keep the professors out of the poolhalls, and partly to gain dignity by association with the statistics. I know just a little about the sociology field; I once took a degree in it.

The college boy or girl is one animal I should like to see protected from too much second guess and explanation. College is a fine, prime, giddy period of coltishness, where the hobblehoys cavort according to their nature. Their youthful troubles and their method of handling same swiftly serve as groundwork for the tough chores of adulthood, and as swiftly split the men from the boys.

College is little more than a trial run for manhood, a wind-tunnel experiment in which the potential adults test themselves for flaws. The first dabblings in boozing or sex are rarely motivated by more than a natural curiosity. As such they may provide healthy experiment in self control, because the world outside the ivy wall is full of unsupervised temptation.

• • •

Urges College Course

If there is to be drinking in the world I approve of a college course in it, in the interests of moderation. It seems to me easily as necessary as solid grounding in higher math or English poetry, and is apt to turn out a considerable sight more useful to the student.

What I started out to say, though, was that in one of the half-dozen hardest-drinking schools in the country, I never knew a full-time sot. My bunch got loaded on occasion, but for no deeper reason than a desire to feel gay and sing loud. Most of them learned to hold the stuff and to treat it as an everyday commodity instead of a sin. If there was psychic compulsion I don't recall it.

After this survey is finished, I have a suggestion for the surveyors: They might spend a few happy months investigating and correlating the motivation behind the straitling phenomenon that babies invariably put everything they can reach into their mouths.

Today's Journal Editorial

WORTHY OF OBSERVATION

The designation of tomorrow as Army Reserve corps day in Lubbock is an appropriate observance which, it is hoped, will focus closer attention upon and deeper appreciation of this highly important segment of our national defense structure.

The role of the Reserve corps would be vital in organizing and training the nation's fighting manpower in the event of war. It represents our second line of army strength—the first support of the men actually in uniform when hostilities break out. The corps also offers an opportunity to the men who almost certainly would be among the first called into service if an emergency should occur. The training received in the corps would teach them how to take care of themselves better and probably would qualify them for higher rankings in the service.

Compare STRETCH-R DELINTED with ordinary cottonseed:
Goes farther in equal volume.
Germinates on less moisture.
Needs no extra planting tools.
Keeps planter box clean of lint and lint. Makes cotton chopping unnecessary. Resists seed-borne diseases. Proves its profit in the field.
Order one of our five STRETCH-R Delinted brands . . . they make the crop that makes you money.

Shanghai 'Man In The Street' Calm As Communists Near City

BY TOM LAMBERT
Associated Press Staff Writer

SHANGHAI, April 27 — The Chinese "man in the street" went noisily about the business of living today.

If he knew or cared that Shanghai was being encircled by the Communists, he didn't show it.

Noisy But Calm

If he's a street vendor, he's bawling the description and price of his wares — from bananas to shirts.

He came out of a night of eerie silence which he spent sleeping in a dingy room, in a doorway or windowsill or — like several — cuddled up in the austere embrace of two bronze lions in front of the Hong Hong and Shanghai Bank on the Bund.

Price Insurance On Farms Is Suggested

WASHINGTON, April 27 (AP)—A price insurance program for farmers was proposed here yesterday by Rep. Poage (D-Tex).

He submitted the insurance plan as a substitute for direct subsidies. He made the proposal to Agriculture Secretary Charles F. Brannan.

The new administration farm program calls for direct subsidies. Poage said his plan would involve collection of a "social security" tax on farm income to establish a fund to bolster prices in lean years.

The government would match such collections, probably exceed them, Poage said. Then, he added, the farmer would receive help "as a matter of right, the same as industrial workers and other protected by social security."

Poage said the cost to the government would be less than direct subsidies and thus save money for taxpayers.

Extraction of barium sulfate, used in the tanning industry, has been declared by Argentina "an industry of national interest" for three years and import controls will be fixed, to encourage the domestic industry.

Negroes Will Seek To Enroll At Texas

HOUSTON, April 27 (AP)—Thirty-seven negro students plan to apply today for graduate work in branches of the University of Texas, an official of the National Association for Advancement of Colored People said here.

The official, who would not be quoted by name, yesterday said most of the students were now in Texas colleges. He said most of the group would seek enrollment in graduate courses at the main university in Austin.

At least one, he added, would try to enter the university school of dentistry here and the school of medicine in Galveston. Applications will be made in fields where no graduate study is available for negroes in the state, the official said.

Texas law requires whites and negroes to attend separate schools.

J. H. Martin, chemistry professor at Samuel Houston college for negroes in Austin, said a group of some 30 negro students would call on officials of the University of Texas today and visit the legislature. He said he did not know the exact nature of the visits.

A law school was opened at the Texas university for negroes here last year. The action was the outgrowth of efforts of a Houston negro, Heman Sweatt, to enter the University of Texas school of law. A district court ordered that a school of law equal to that in Austin be established at the Houston school.
