Demo Solon 'Hopes' For Tax Reduction

By FELIX COTTEN
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—Chairman Doughton (D-N.C.), of the House Ways and Means committee said today that he is hopeful "some of the more burdensome excise taxes" can be reduced at the next session of Congress.

Contacted at his home in Sparta, N. C., the veteran legislator declared that the whole fiscal situation will have to be considered when Congress reconvenes after the holidays, including tax revision and the question of the government deficit. He added:

"We should do something about excise taxes, especially the more burdensome ones."

Specific Taxes Cited

He listed excises on transportation and communications as the ones that should be "marked first" for cuts, but said "I would not stop there."

Doughton's statement gave momentum to the drive for excise tax reduction started when President Truman said recently he was considering a proposal for repeal of the wartime excise levies.

The ways and means chairman emphasized, however, that there are "many angles" in the present fiscal picture and that all will have to be considered as part of a whole.

Matters that will have to be discussed, he said, include how much deficit financing the government will engage in if expenditures cannot be reduced sufficiently to balance the budget.

Large Deficit Seen

The administration is predicting a deficit of $5.5 billion in the current fiscal year.

Doughton expressed doubt that a bill making an overall tax increase to cut down or wipe out the deficit could be passed at the next session.

He said, however, that it may be possible to increase some taxes to offset revenue lost by excise tax cuts. Where this would be, he declared, cannot be predicted now. He would not comment on proposals for shifting part of the excise tax burden to corporation income taxes.

Tax Proposals Studied

The congressional and treasury tax staffs, Doughton pointed out, are studying proposals for tax revision. He said the tax-originating ways and means committee will consider the findings of the experts after Congress meets. He declared:

"I am in an entirely cooperative frame of mind. I hope we can work out something."

Doughton said "there are too many tax doctors" in the country,

Officers Sift Slaying Clues

JOHN Dayton Ritter, 43, charged with murder in the Saturday night gunshot slaying of Robert S. Spence, 24, of Morton, remained in county jail in denial of bond Sunday as officers continued to sift evidence concerning the gunplay.

District Attorney Lloyd Croslin told newsmen that a negro farm laborer who had ridden to Lubbock with Spence early Saturday had identified the gun found near Spence's body as a weapon he had seen in the victim's pocket sometime before the shooting.

Had Noticed Gun

The negro, Joe Patterson, of Morton, said in a signed statement that he had noticed the gun as he and Spence drove from Morton to Lubbock in Spence's pickup truck.

Spence was found dead by police in a small areaway leading to an apartment in 1900-block Ave. R shortly after 9:30 p. m. Saturday, two bullet holes in his body.

Ritter, still in the apartment when officers arrived, surrendered voluntarily to police and told Croslin he had shot Spence as the latter attempted to hijack a dice game in the apartment.

Bullet Holes Found

Ritter said in his statement that he had fired several shots at Spence after Spence had opened fire from a point near the door. Evidence of a bullet believed to have come from Spence's gun was found by officials who located a hole in the ceiling of a room in the apartment. The bullet, which glanced from the ceiling and went through a window and out of the house, had not been found.

Other important evidence found by officers in a search of the scene of the fatal shooting was a hole in the outer door of the apartment believed to have been made by one of the slugs which passed through Spence's body. Another hole was found in the wall of a building on the opposite side of the areaway leading to the apartment.

Walker Called Police

Lewis L. Walker, proprietor of the nearby Larrymore Dance studio, who informed police of the shooting, said he had looked from a window in a rear room of the studio shortly after he heard the shots and saw a body lying there.

Earlier information given newsmen which indicated that Walker had run to the scene of the shooting, noticed the body, and called officers was erroneous.

Both Ritter and S. E. (Slick) Melton, of 1908 Ave. Q, only other witness to the shooting, told officers Spence had been in the house gambling a short time earlier, and had left to "get more money."

Spence returned, Ritter said, a gun in his hand, and "demanded the money." Ritter said he went into another room, ostensibly to get the money, got a gun instead,

Area Traffic Deaths Climb To 104 With Holiday Rush To Come

By KENNETH MAY
Avalanche Staff Writer

WITH the bloody record of 104 South Plains traffic fatalities for the year already behind them, the Texas Highway Patrol Sunday was making plans for a dreary holiday season.

Death got the jump on the Christmas period late Saturday night, claiming the lives of three Latin-Americans near Brownfield to drive the year's total to 104 for the South Plains and to 47 within a 50-day period.

But the most hazardous fortnight of the year dawned a few hours after the Brownfield accident—two weeks during which there will be more highway traffic than at any other time of the year.

Calling upon the driving public to aid in keeping down the holiday death toll, Capt. E. L. Posey of the Texas Highway Patrol reminded Sunday that "it's always the other guy who is going to get killed—until the wreck has already

400,000 Man Force Seen

By RICHARD S. WEIL
INS Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, Dec. 18.— Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky was reported tonight to have authorized creation of a Russian-equipped East German policy army of 400,000 men.

East German government sources said the plan calls for filling the ranks of the police force through a one-year compulsory service program.

These informants said Vishinsky approved the plan on his recent stopover in Berlin on his way back home from Lake Success, N. Y., where he headed the Soviet delegation to the United Nations.

Top Conference Claimed

Vishinsky was said to have conferred with President Wilhelm Pieck, acting Premier Walter Ulbricht and Soviet officials on details of the plan.

Vishinsky reportedly promised to deliver Soviet weapons and equipment, particularly tanks and artillery, for the new police force.

Vishinsky also was said to have authorized the reactivation of all remaining arms and munitions factories in the Soviet zone and plans for a full production program.

According to the informants, the arms production drive will be coordinated with those of other Soviet satellites in line with the over-all requirements of the Soviet-bloc states.

Tougher Exams Urged

Vishinsky also was reported to have urged a more intensive indoctrination and examination of police recruits to combat dissidence which has boosted the desertion rate recently.

Vishinsky was said to have rejected the prospect of a separate east zone peace treaty with Russia.

The official British organ Die Welt quoted Vishinsky as saying in this connection "We want to uphold four-power agreements in regard to a peace treaty for a united Germany."

The East German informants said Vishinsky had promised in place of a separate peace treaty an interim protocol ending the technical state of war between Eastern Germany and Russia, to be followed by the withdrawal of Soviet

Hungary Rushes Plans To Place Americans On Trial

By IRVING R. LEVINE
INS Staff Correspondent

VIENNA, Dec. 18. — Authoritative sources reported tonight that Hungary is rushing preparations for the trial of two Americans, Israel Jacobson of Chicago and Robert A. Vogeler of New York, and Edgar Sanders, a Briton.

The informants said Hungarians suspected of being connected with the three men are being rounded up. It was said the secret police already have seized at least 12 Hungarians, including five servants employed by members of the United States legation in Budapest, and four persons regarded as Communist informants by the Americans.

Charges Kept Secret

The arrest of Jacobson, American Joint Distribution committee director in Hungary was disclosed yesterday but the charges against him have not been announced.

Vogeler, assistant vice president of the International Telephone and Telegraph company, and Sanders, manager of the I. T. and T.'s Budapest division, were seized a month ago and accused of espionage and sabotage.

Budapest sources said previously that it is likely all three will be linked by Hungarian authorities to an alleged western spy plot in an attempt to implicate members of the British and American legations.

Still another defendant in the anticipated trial may be Edith Martin, a British citizen and correspondent of the London Daily Worker.

Woman Feared Arrested

She was scheduled to leave Budapest by plane at the end of September but failed to do so and it is feared she has been arrested.

The Budapest informants said Hungarian authorities may attempt to use Imre Geiger, I. T. and T.'s Hungarian manager who was arrested with Vogeler, to back up charges that the AJDC aided Jews in illegal emigration to Israel.

Informed sources in the Hungarian capital regard the charges against Vogeler as "trumped up" in a possible attempt to obtain control of I. T. and T. properties.

The action against Jacobson was

HST To End 'Rest' Today

By ROBERT G. NIXON
INS Staff Correspondent

KEY WEST, Fla., Dec. 18. — President Truman's three-week vacation in South Florida, to all intents and purposes, ended this weekend, with the chief executive having accomplished what he set out to do—get a good rest.

One more day here, and the President will be winging his way back to Washington, with the opening of Congress just two weeks off.

He came down here on what has proved to be his lengthiest vacation in office, to unwind. He has done exactly that. He is tanned, rested and relaxed.

Main Purpose Achieved

How much work the president has done himself is a moot question. He didn't come south to work. He came to rest, and has devoted most of his waking hours to doing just that.

Whatever presidential work has been done has been mainly in the realm of decisions. He brought his staff with him, and they have been carrying the ball.

While here, the President had most of the "assistants to the assistants" of his staff down for a week also. These were the junior helpers who assist such aides as John R. Steelman, Clark Clifford, and administrative Assistant Charles Murphy.

Reward Given Aides

They were down for vacations, too, a reward for long hours of work back in Washington.

Mr. Truman held several staff conferences while here, and had brief talks both with Treasury Secretary Snyder and Budget director Frank Pace on fiscal policy.

Actually, however, the broad outlines of his state of the union and budget messages had been laid down before the President came here from Washington. Most of the work on all the messages and legislative proposals the President will send the Congress next month has been done in Washington. Some finishing touches will still

New Red Assembly Elected In Bulgaria

SOFIA, Dec. 18. (INS)—The official Bulgarian news agency said tonight that the Communist-led Fatherland Front received 97 to 99.3 per cent of the votes in today's single-slate election of a new people's assembly.

The agency said more than 98 per cent of the approximately five million eligible voters elected 239 assembly members, including 31 women, to the four-year jobs.

According to the agency the turnout was 100 per cent in some areas.

A holiday spirit prevailed in Sofia and other cities during the voting.

There were repeated radio appeals for demonstrations of government solidarity and friendship toward the Soviet Union.

Many voters carried Red Communist banners and placards urging a 100 per cent election turnout and proclaiming their pro-Soviet sentiments.

The marchers chanted election slogans and they filed through flag-and-bunting decorated streets.

Singers and dancers, in colorful peasant costume, performed before polling stations.

Portraits of the late Premier Georgi Dimitrov and other Communist leaders were in evidence everywhere.

Most buildings and houses flew the national colors.

House To Push Probe Of Powerful Lobbies

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18—Chairman Buchanan (D-Pa.) announced tonight that a special House Lobby Investigating committee will look into medical and real estate lobbies.

The committee also will investigate any lobbying by government agencies on the other side of medical and real estate issues, Buchanan said. The controversies have stirred charges of this.

The chairman told reporters that preliminary work by the committee staff in the general subject of lobbying has "covered the field of labor."

The staff, the chairman said, has struck more pay dirt than had been expected.

Irregular Practices Likely

At first he said that "oh, yes," some violations of the lobbyist registration act already have been found. Later he said he meant there is some indication of "irregular practices" in connection with registration of lobbyists.

Asked whether any of the irregularities affect labor, Buchanan answered: "Not at all."

He said it would take more checking to determine whether there have been clear-cut violations of the law.

This law requires that people who try to influence Congress must file their names with Congress, tell how much they make from lobbying and who puts up the money.

Buchanan said about 2,000 lobbyists and organizations are registered with the House under the law.

Former Solon Involved

Some former congressmen are registered lobbyists. Buchanan said his committee probably will recommend tightening House rules to deny such ex-members the privilege of coming onto the House floor.

Buchanan hopes to get hearings under way by Jan. 15.

There has been talk about the capitol that the American Medical association, which has been fighting President Truman's compulsory health insurance program as "socialized medicine," would be the committee's first target. However, Buchanan said that won't be the first subject of inquiry, although the committee definitely will look into it and into real estate activities.

The charges of lobbying by government personnel for administration health insurance and housing bills were hurled during the last session while debate raged.

President Truman accused "the

One of the most unusual contributions of the year was reported by the Goodfellows Sunday as they prepared to bring the first phase of their 15th annual Christmas campaign on behalf of the needy children of Lubbock to a close.

The coupon on which to report the names of children who should be on the Goodfellows' list will be discontinued today. They must be mailed in at once so that they can be checked for duplications and for accuracy of addresses.

The Goodfellows want the names of every child living in Lubbock not over the age of 14 who might be forgotten on Christmas day. No matter what their race, color or religion may be, the names are wanted. All will be treated exactly alike.

If you know of such children, use the coupon today. Delay will be too late and might mean empty stockings on Christmas morning.

The unusual gift reported by the Chief Goodfellow was a fruit

Four Wounded In Gun Battle

HALE CENTER, Dec. 18. (Special)—A gun battle in a lumberyard here between 2:30 and 3:30 p.m., today, sent four Latin-Americans to the hospital, and another to the county jail in Plainview.

All the injured men are Hale Center residents. Two have been admitted to Hale County Co-operative hospital for treatment, but their conditions are not considered serious. The other two were treated and released.

The man arrested was described by Sheriff Ted Andrews, of Plainview, as 25 years of age, and a resident of Littlefield. No charges were filed tonight.

Deputy Sheriff Cleatus Dyer, who halted the gun battle by talking with the men, said only two guns had been found. One was a .32-caliber automatic taken from the man arrested. The other was described as a .38-40 rifle, which Dyer found just outside the lumberyard after stopping the shooting. He said that still another weapon used in the gun fight, a .38 pistol, still was missing.

Hospital attendants reported their records showed those hospitalized with gunshot wounds and other injuries were Fidel Flores, 37, who suffered the loss of a little finger, and Juan Aguilar, who suffered a wound in the thigh. Treated and released were Ben Flores, brother of Fidel, who suffered facial abrasions, and Joe Hernandez, who had suffered wounds in both arms and a head injury.

Heavy Rains Flood Texas Coast Areas

(By The Associated Press)

Clouds and patches of fog hung over the Texas coast Sunday, reminders of near-deluge rains. Dry southwesterly winds had swept the rest of the state clear.

The rainfall for 24 hours at Galveston and Beaumont was 4.01 inches. Both coastal cities remained cloudy and fog-wrapped. Corpus Christi, Brownsville, Houston, Victoria, Laredo and Alice also were cloudy. Palacios and Cotulla were partly cloudy.

Temperatures were mostly in the seventies. The highest reading at mid-afternoon was 77 at Brownsville. Amarillo's 63 was the low.

The weather bureau said there wouldn't be much change Monday or Tuesday.

Beaumont streets and yards were flooded Saturday, when the heaviest part of the rain fell. Several homes were struck by lightning.

Annual Christmas Lighting Contest Lists Close Today

This is the last call for entries in the third annual Home Christmas Lighting contest sponsored by The Avalanche-Journal.

The deadline is 5 p.m. today. Entries should be listed before that time with Mrs. Naomi Caddel in The Avalanche-Journal editorial department, telephone 4343.

The decorations of homes, yards, doorways, windows and outdoor trees must remain in place until after Christmas.

The judges, all members of the Lubbock Garden club, will make their inspections when they choose—starting tonight, if they wish. Their identities will remain secret until after the awards are announced. Their decisions will be final.

Entries Exceed 1947 Figure

Entries this year have been considerably more numerous than in the first contest in 1947, but it is doubtful whether the number will equal the 90 who competed last year.

Those who do compete will have a good chance of winning one of the 10 cash prizes, as follows:

Most beautifully decorated exterior of home and yard—first $25; second $15, third $10, fourth $5.

Most beautifully decorated window — first $10; second $5.

Most beautifully decorated doorway—first $10, second $5.

Most beautifully decorated outdoor tree—first $10, second $5.

Entries will be accepted only from homes within the city limits and areas in the process of annexation to the city.

The same individual may compete in as many divisions as he or she may choose. For example, those competing for the main prizes also may enter a window, a doorway and/or an outdoor tree. However, only one prize will be awarded to the same person.

Fires Damage Home, Grocery Store Here

Two fires in Lubbock Sunday, both starting from defective stoves, caused considerable damage to the interiors of a grocery store and a private residence.

A fire starting from a defective oil stove badly damaged the interior of the Martin grocery, 1607 Myrtle dr., shortly after 6:30 p.m.

At 7:43 p. m., a fire started by a defective gas range burned out two rooms and part of the roof of a six-room frame house at 123 Ave. M, occupied by the Felix Bustillo family.

Damage to the grocery store and its contents was estimated roughly at $4,000 by Calvin Martin, owner of the building, and C. D. Ivey, operator of the store. No estimate of damages to the Bustillo house was made.

Bandits Escape Area Police Net

An area-wide search for two bandits who held up a food store here Saturday night continued Sunday as information supplied officers by the store owner raised figures on the total loss in the robbery from $900 to about $1,500.

J. C. Payne, proprietor of Paynes Food store at 4118 Ave. H, told officers that about $620 in cash and checks had been taken from his billfold by the bandits in addition to $900 scooped from the cash register by the fast-working pair who walked into the store and announced "this is a holdup" shortly after 9:30 p. m. Saturday.

Officers Hunt Car

Officers searched the city and outlying areas until an early hour Sunday for the holdup men's car, described by witnesses as a 1942 Oldsmobile or Buick bearing California license plates. A car fitting that description was reported seen in West Lubbock about midnight Saturday, but officers still were unable to find any trace of the vehicle at a late hour last night.

The description was furnished police by E. R. McNealy and his wife who observed the holdup men from their car which was parked in front of the store.

Payne told newsmen Sunday

'FORGOTTEN MAN' REMEMBERED

Truman Expected To Urge Early Action On Middle Class Housing

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18. —Government officials predicted today that President Truman will press Congress for legislation to spur construction of medium-priced housing.

These sources said the administration's recommendations will be designed to help the so-called "forgotten man" in housing—the middle-income worker of the nation—to own his own home or secure better rental accommodations.

The new housing program will be on the "must" list for early consideration by the lawmakers who return to work in January, it was reported. Those close to the situation said, however, that final proposals have not yet been drafted although it is expected that the legislation will place main reliance for middle income construction on private industry.

This approach would follow outlines of bills before the last session of Congress—proposals shelved last fall in the rush for adjournment.

A Federal Housing administration official forecast that Mr. Truman's recommendations largely would evolve around liberalization of federal guarantees on insuring

'LOOSE' CREDIT INCREASES RETAIL BUYING

Near-Record Seen For U. S. Christmas Shopping; Sales Boosted By Unpaid Vet Insurance Dividends

By RICHARD M. Palmer
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18—The Commerce department today reported that Santa Claus and the nation's retail merchants will ring up a near-record Christmas shopping season because of the still unpaid GI insurance dividend.

This year's holiday shopping, backed by credit obtained on the $2.5 billion ex-servicemen's payoff, has prompted department statistician Louis Paradiso to predict a hairline approach to last year's all-time yule buying dollar volume of 13 billions—with a strong likelihood of a new record in volume of goods sold.

The nation's "take home" wages, Paradiso said, are about two per cent lower than last year, but he pointed out that retail prices also nose-dived three per cent.

Christmas shoppers, said Paradiso, are out to get more for their scarcer dollars this year. This accounts for his prediction that while dollar volume will approach but not surpass the 1948 record, more goods will probably be sold.

The Commerce department expert said most of this year's Christmas buying is in the hard goods categories—furniture, household appliances and other durable merchandise.

Ex-GI's in the chief urban centers, Paradiso reported, are spending some of their anticipated insurance bonanza to boom the sale of television sets, giving TV manufacturers a bonus of their own for their comparatively poor Yule sales last year.

The expert described credit in "loose," which means that, as in Washington's Sears and Roebuck branch, you can plank $10 down on a $200 floor model radio

Paramount Buys 'Look Ma, I'm Dancin,' Broadway Hit, For Astaire-Hutton Film

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
INS Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 18.—Betty Hutton must be sitting in a four-leaf clover patch with a horseshoe around her neck. "Look, Ma, I'm Dancin'", one of last season's Broadway hits, has been bought for Betty and Fred Astaire, with Paramount paying $100,000 for the rights! Lily Messenger and Johnny Maschio sold this pretty package.

Fred was teamed with Betty in "Let's Dance," which Henry Ginsberg thinks right well of. "Look Ma, I'm Dancin'" and "Annie Get Your Gun" which Betty is finishing at MGM, gives her two former Broadway musicals any of our song and dance girls would give their diamonds and furs to star in.

I want to say for Betty that she deserves the breaks she is getting. No star works harder or gives up more when she is on a picture. She goes to bed every night at eight o'clock and cancels all social engagements.

Old Time Star Returns

Twenty-five years ago, when Louis B. Mayer took over Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, one of his stars was Antonio Moreno. Tony was one of the six stars who started out with L. B.

After all these years the handsome Tony—and he's still handsome—is back on the lot in an important role in "Crisis." He plays the official surgeon, Dr. Sierra, to the Latin dictator (Cary Grant). Tony's last picture was made in 1928 on that lot. During those early years he was Greta Garbo's leading man in her second picture. "The Temptress."

There's another good acting break in "Crisis" for Paula Raymond, the beautiful young up and coming actress, who will play Cary Grant's wife.

Chatter in Hollywood: Not many people know that Judy Garland was in a private hospital for 24 hours last week. Judy had an impacted wisdom tooth and had it extracted. She was so worried that people might think she was really sick or reneging on the job, that she would only stay just long enough to have the tooth out and get on her feet.

This certainly shows Judy is trying to be cooperative in every way. For years she was nagged because she was too thin—now she's being nagged because she is too plump. You can't win, it seems.

Sister Gives Party

The night before Susan Stephenson Veija was robbed of her fabulous diamonds and oriental pearls, she was given a dinner by her sister, Martha Kemp Goetz, at La Rue. It was really a wedding party for Susan and her very rich South American bridegroom, Antonio Veija.

Mrs. Veija, who was at one time married to one of the Schrafft heirs and then to another South American millionaire, has jewels worth a king's ransom. The police have not decided whether it was an inside job or whether it was done by an organized gang of thieves.

Couple To Arrive Home

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Jennifer Jones and David Selznick arrive today. It's Jennifer's first visit home since her marriage to David last summer.

The two Selznick boys, Jeffrey and Danny, also get in today with their mother, the famous Mrs. Irene Selznick, to spend the holidays.

The two R. R.'s—Ronald Reagan and Ruth Roman are very happy when they are together.

Ronnie, by the way, will be guest of honor at a Friars club testimonial dinner.

The Danny Kays are home with their baby, Dena, who is perfectly all right following an operation. The operation performed by a teacher of our own Dr. Lordan, at the Harkness pavilion, was to correct an eye muscle that did not function properly.

SWEEP-BACK WINGS NOW IN USE

Ships For Faster-Than-Sound Flight Show Drastic Changes

By JAMES LYLE
United Press Staff Writer

MOFFETT FIELD, Cal., Dec. 18—As fighter planes push farther ahead into the mysterious world beyond the speed of sound, they will grow to look more and more like the paper airplanes that children have been folding for years.

The teardrop streamlined shape and the long straight wing are already disappearing on the latest fighter planes. Instead, fuselages are needle-pointed and wings and tail surfaces sweep back.

Eventually at speed between 1,140 and 1,330 miles per hour according to scientists at the Ames laboratory of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, the wing will sweep back into a solid triangle.

Strength Needed

The necessity for filling in the back portion of the triangle, rather than leaving an open V formed by the wing trailing edge, is due to strength. With the terrific stresses applied to a fighter plane wing, it eventually will become impractical to build a wing swept back as it is on the new F-86, "Saber" jet fighter.

Furthermore, according to the engineers, the wing cross section, or air foil, is gradually becoming thinner and altered in shape. The latest cross section looks like a double-edge knife with a sharp edge cutting into the air, rather than the rounded edge that appears on present day planes.

One of the Ames engineers explained the change in streamlining is necessary because air above the speed of sound can't move fast enough to get out of the plane's way.

It is necessary, therefore, to design the plane to cut through the air with the least amount of disturbance possible—to move the air gradually out of the way.

Air Waves React

When an airplane flies at a speed less than that of sound, the shock waves it creates in the air move out away from it because they move at the speed of sound.

But an airplane flying above the speed of sound keeps catching up with its own shock waves and these pile up ahead of it, creating an enormous air disturbance and a terrific drag.

These shock waves bend back like the bow wave created by a ship moving through water and by pressing on the wing at the leading edge, they hold the airplane back.

That's the reason for the sweptback wing, according to the expert so that the sweptback wing is swept back, the shock wave starts at the point where the wing is joined to the fuselage, but curves ou so that the sweptback wing is behind it and is not being held back.

Method Has Limits

This method of dealing with the problem has its limits, however, because the wing must be angled farther and farther back the faster the airplane is designed to fly. And the experts agree it can't be moved back more than 60 degrees.

Thus, some day when the airplane goes fast enough it will no longer be of any use to bend the wing to the rear.

When that time comes, the aeronautical engineers expect to go back to a straight wing. It will be wide and stubby and will stick straight out from the fuselage as wings have in the past.

That day is still quite a way off, however, and in the meantime you can look for airplanes that look like the paper ones.

Bandits Escape

that he had no record of checks taken in the robbery, and he asked that persons or firms who had given checks at the Ave. H store or at his other store at 3118 Ave. A since Monday contact him.

The loss was not covered by insurance, he said.

Wife, Son In Store

In the store with Payne when the bandits walked in were his wife and their son Jerold, 14. All customers and a store employe had left the building minutes before the holdup.

Two complaints involving thefts of articles from parked cars were registered with police.

Jack Hooser, of 505 North College Ave. told officers that clothing valued at about $125 had been removed from his car in the 1200-block Texas Ave.

A man identified only as a Mr. Burgeson of Lubbock route 2 said clothing, a bed spread and a pair of cuff links had been taken from his car while it was parked in the 2200-block Nineteenth. No value was placed on the missing articles.

Truck Reported Stolen

Mrs. H. F. Underwood of 2320 Sixteenth reported theft of a 1947 GMC truck-tractor, Texas license 7865, from Twenty-third and Ave. E. A red trailer was hooked to the vehicle, she said.

A report filed by city detectives said that a Lubbock negro, Robert Lee Wilkerson, had been shot in the calf of the left leg as he sat in a residence at 1212 East Thirty-first early Sunday. Wilkerson said he had no idea who fired the shot, and that he heard no noise at the time the bullet was fired. The shooting was listed as accidental.

The wounded man was given emergency treatment at Porter clinic-hospital and released.

Soldier Is Sought

The provost marshal's office at Reese Air Force base early Sunday asked Lubbock officers to be on the lookout for a soldier wanted for questioning in connection with the theft of $161 in cash and several bank money orders there.

Base officers indicated the suspect may be driving to Arkansas.

Officers said a screen had been torn from a basement window of a residence at 2114 Eighteenth recently and that burglars had apparently entered the place.

Occupant of the residence, Mrs. Elbertine Hush, has been out of the city on a vacation, neighbors said, and possible property loss will not be definitely established until her return.

The sheriff's department announced the arrest of Anestasio Algeria, 27, of 208 Ave. N, on charges of removing mortgaged property from the state. Bond for Alegria, indicted by a 99th judicial district grand jury Nov. 29, has been set at $1,500.

Truman Expected

mortgages to finance construction.

Record Pace Wanted

The FHA official, who asked he not be identified by name, said the legislation would be aimed at "seeing that the nation's program of private building will continue at its record pace." In this connection, executives of the National Association of homebuilders estimated that such construction this year will total nearly 1,000,000 housing units.

The renewed drive for middle class housing was expected to call for extensive federal financial help to construct rental units for families able to pay between $55 and $75 a month for two or three bedroom accommodations.

"We feel that this year's construction, and building starts already made for later completion, have brought in sight the end of certain phases of the housing shortage," the FHA executive told a reporter.

Prior Ineligibility Cited

He said the administration's main concern now is for the non-veteran and middle income categories who, the official said, have been ineligible for "priorities and extraordinary aid under legislation now on the books."

To back its proposals for expanded housing aid in the middle class bracket, the administration has prepared figures based on this year's construction. These appear to indicate that the market for houses costing more than $12,000 has been largely filled; also that the low income family group is expected to have better accommodations as a result of legislation passed last year.

Kaiser-Frazer Motor Company Production Starting In January

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Editor

DETROIT, Dec. 18. — Kaiser Frazer, out of production since October, will start rolling out cars again early in January.

That's the latest word from the big former bomber plant at nearby Willow Run.

Right now a lot of alteration work is under way in the plant. Some 3,500 workers—about half K-F's normal production staff—are tearing out and rebuilding assembly and conveyer lines, moving presses and building up stocks of components for more Kaiser-Frazer automobiles.

Seek Greater Market

One of the things evident on a tour of the huge plant is that K-F is going after more of the automobile market in 1950. Perhaps it won't build 181,000 cars as it did in 1948, but there appears no doubt anywhere in the organization that it will top its 1949 production of approximately 59,000 vehicles.

Ever since Kaiser-Frazer negotiated its recent loans from the Reconstruction Finance corporation, there has been wide speculation about the new low-priced car to be included in the new 1951 line. This is the vehicle with which K-F hopes to gain a substantial slice of the market now dominated by Chevrolet, Ford and Plymouth.

Styling and engineering details of this new car have been approved but probably will not be disclosed publicly until it goes into assembly line production. It may be said, however, that it is not a "small" car; it is of standard size, with standard tread.

It's price tag, too, will not be disclosed until it is ready for public introduction. When that will be still is indefinite, although a lot of work looking to its volume output already has been started.

and returned to the hallway leading to the door.

Then, Ritter said, "Spence fired and I shot several times, three, I think."

Ritter entered a plea of not guilty of the murder charge in the justice court of C. E. Lynn.

Funeral services for Spence will be held at 1:30 p. m. Monday in the Morton Church of Christ, J. V. Davis, pastor of the Austin Church of Christ in Levelland, officiating. Burial will follow in Southland cemetery. George C. Price Funeral home of Levelland is in charge of arrangements.

Spence is survived by his wife; three minor children; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. Spence, of Levelland; and four brothers, Muriel, Bob and Jimmy, all of Levelland, and another whose name was not available, of Tacoma, Wash.

Four Wounded

in Hale Center, called Dyer to the scene of the gun fight. Masters said he saw two men circling around each other in an ominous manner when he drove up to the H. H. Craddick service station on the highway in the north part of town, to see about some repairs on a car.

"The attendant was trying to call the law," he said. "I remembered having seen the deputy's car parked downtown, so I went after him. As I left, a third man took sides with one against the other."

Masters found Deputy Sheriff at a cafe where he was checking on a disturbance. Questioning of several persons later indicated that the disturbance in question was an altercation among the five men that had started in the cafe and then moved to the lumberyard, he said.

Men Heard Shots

Dyer said he and Masters heard shots as they approached the service station, and discovered that a gun battle was raging in the R. B. Spencer and company lumberyard, about 200 yards south of the service station on the highway.

He covered several of the group, and talked them into giving up, Dyer said. Masters then took the most seriously wounded to the hospital.

Sheriff Andrews said charges probably would be filed Monday after questioning of the five men involved.

real estate lobby" of misrepresentation on housing legislation. Industry spokesmen fired back that any distortion by lobbyists was practiced on the other side of the fence.

And an American Medical association witness said if there is any need for an investigation of lobbying it is to inquire into the "government lobby" which, he said, had attacked AMA.

Buchanan predicted his committee will come up with legislation to strengthen the registration law and define lobbyists more sharply.

He said in a statement.

"It is my hope that before this committee completes its work . . . we will be able to answer definitely whether the lobbying law . . . is being violated and, if so, to what extent and in what manner; also whether the present act is adequate or requires amendment."

Other committee members are Reps. Lanham of Georgia, Albert of Oklahoma and Doyle of California, Democrats; and Halleck of Indiana, Brown of Ohio and O'Hara of Minnesota, Republicans.

Eight Die In Crash Of Belgian Airliner

PARIS, Dec. 18. (AP)—A Belgian Sabena airlines crashed in flames tonight at nearby Aulnay-Sous-Bois, killing all eight persons aboard, including an American passenger. The plane missed a crowded movie theater by only a few hundred yards.

At Hartford, Conn., the United Aircraft corporation said it had been notified the American was Foster White, assistant to the vice president of the United Aircraft Export corporation. His widow, Collette, and a daughter, both of Hartford, survive him.

The DC-3 plane with four passengers and a crew of four had just taken off from Le Bourget field on its regular night run to Brussels. It made one turn over the field and began to lose altitude after rising only a few hundred feet.

It skimmed the roof of one cottage and crashed into flames into another. A man and his wife inside the cottage suffered shock but escaped other injury.

The other three passengers were identified as Emile Nuyens, 46, and Rene Nihoul, 40, both Belgians; Vita Chalifa Fargon, Cairo, Egypt.

The crew of four were all Belgians.

Marshall Plan Chief Is Offered Job As Head Of Ford Foundation

DETROIT, Dec. 18. (INS)— Paul G. Hoffman, the Marshall Plan administrator, has been offered the post of managing director of the $204 million Ford foundation in Detroit.

Henry Ford II, president of the foundation and the Ford Motor company, disclosed Saturday that he has "talked" to Hoffman about the job but that "we have reached no agreement."

When reached in Washington, the Economic Cooperation administration head refused to comment.

(In Chicago, enroute by plane to visit his family during the Christmas vacation in Pasadena, Calif., Hoffman said:

("There's another report of a job offer.

("You'll have to ask Mr. Ford. I've been with the ECA (Marshall plan) for 90 weeks and there have been 90 rumors of jobs I'm going to take. I'll continue to give my efforts to ECA."

(Hoffman added he will return to Washington after the holidays to prepare appropriation estimates for ECA activities for the 1951 fiscal year.)

and that they are "confusing" the situation. But he made it clear that he was not talking about the President or Treasury Secretary Snyder.

He declared that he looked forward to working out, in cooperation with them, a comprehensive fiscal program.

Secretary To Face Music On Charge Of Taking Band Funds

TULSA, Dec. 18. (UP)—Popular western band leader Leon McAuliffe said Saturday that he would press embezzlement charges against his blonde secretary who stole $10,000 from him because he didn't return her love.

"He never paid any attention to me," complained 27-year-old Wanda Wall. "I wanted to hurt him. I figured he was having a good time some place else so I'd have a good time on his money."

She was held in the Tulsa county jail on two counts of embezzlement.

No Indication Of Love

McAuliffe said he had no sympathy for her.

"She sure as hell didn't give me any indication she was in love with me," he said. "Besides, I'm a happily married man."

He said he hadn't gone to see Miss Wall in the Tulsa county jail "and I'm not going to see her."

Miss Wall agreed that McAuliffe didn't know she loved him.

She admitted that she set out deliberately to get a job with his band last year because she was starry-eyed over his "personality" and his music.

McAuliffe said she "hung around" the office of his business manager, and step-father, C. M. Cooksey, until they finally gave her a job.

Miss Wall said her starting salary was only $29 a week but she figured it was worth it because she could get a glimpse of her idol from time to time.

"She got acquainted with us when we played in Oklahoma City about two years ago," McAuliffe said. "We hired her to answer letters and things.

"About the only time I ever saw the girl was in the office occasionally in front of everybody. Her claim that she's in love with me is preposterous."

Miss Wall's thefts from the band's funds came to light when auditors found a shortage of $8,299.81.

After the girl was arrested, Assistant County Attorney James Devine said, she confessed that she had taken about $1,300 more but concealed the shortage with false bank deposit slips.

She said she spent "almost every penny of it having a good time.

"They don't think I did but they don't know me," she giggled. "I knew they'd catch me eventually but I didn't mind.

"It was fun while it lasted."

NLRB Director Weeps After Denying Pro-Red Sympathies

FORT WORTH, Dec. 18. (AP) — Edwin A. Elliott broke down and sobbed Saturday as he testified briefly in his own defense against anonymous charges that he is a Communist sympathizer, just prior to final adjournment of the week-long loyalty board hearing here.

The NLRB regional director, after the hearing closed, recovered his composure long enough to return to his office, but once there again collapsed and sobbed brokenly.

Members of the five-man loyalty board headed by Stephen M. Reynolds, an assistant NLRB general counsel, left for Washington, D. C., after the hearing ended at 2:45 p. m. They will study the record of the hearing and make their decision later. The board will not make a public announcement of the decision.

Dozens of witnesses appeared in Elliott's behalf during the hearing sessions which often lasted into the night. Witnesses who appeared in person and those who sent sworn affidavits were unanimous in their support of him and strongly denied that he had any Communist sympathies.

Deaf-Mute Jailed As Result Of Fatal Colorado Fist Fight

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo., Dec. 18. (INS)—Grand Junction police today arrested a 22-year-old deaf-mute and jailed him on an open charge as the result of a fight which ended in the death of Lester Edward Hibert.

Hibert died of head injuries received in a flurry of fisticuffs which allegedly climaxed an argument between Hibert and Orlando Umberto Raso over the former's girl friend.

The scrap was broken up at 2:40 this morning by police. Hibert was taken to St. Mary's hospital, where he was pronounced dead on arrival.

A coroner's inquest tomorrow afternoon is expected to lead to formal charges against Raso.

Police said the altercation started when Hibert left his seat in a crowded cafe to get some cigarets from his car. He returned to the restaurant to find Raso had occupied his seat, and was engaged in a written conversation with Hibert's girl friend.

Police Asked To Search For Missing Lubbock Man

Police were asked Sunday to aid in locating Floyd Cloud jr., 25, of Lubbock route 2, missing from his home since Friday. The missing man's father, Floyd Cloud sr., also of Lubbock route 2, said he feared his son had met with foul play.

The younger Cloud left his home Friday to hire a man to drive a truck engaged in cotton hauling. Cloud said he saw his son about 1 p. m. Friday in a car on a farm road north of Lubbock. Young Cloud was accompanied by another man at that time, he said.

The missing man was described as five feet 11 inches tall, red headed, and weighing 160 pounds. He was dressed in khaki clothing when last seen.

MARTIAL LAW ENDED

BAGHDAD, Iraq, Dec. 18. (AP)—A royal decree today ended martial law in this Arab state. Martial law has been in effect since Aug. 14, 1948, and was imposed because of the Palestine war. The Arab league of which Iraq is a member, recently recommended that all Arab states end martial law.

happened."

With the 26 patrolmen in District 6 already working 12 and 14-hour shifts, Capt. Posey said even those hours will be lengthened next Friday-Monday in an all-out effort to curb highway accidents.

The district's 1949 death total has already exceeded the 1948 number by 12 persons. Of the 104 deaths on the South Plains this year, 101 have been in District 6, ten more than estimated in January for the entire year, the patrol captain declared.

Motorists Are Warned

"You don't have to quote me on these figures or warnings," he said, "But something needs to be done to make the public realize that it is their lives and those of their relatives which may be lost through careless or negligent driving during Christmas."

Adding to traffic hazards this week will be thousands of college students returning to their South Plains homes. There will be more head-on collisions, more "rammings from the back" and more sideswiping, three favorite tools of death this year, the highway patrol said.

"The only word I have for fast, careless driving is that if a person wants to get to his destination at a certain time, he should just start earlier or be late. Otherwise, he may never get there," Capt. Posey asserted.

Extra Personnel Not Available

No extra personnel is available for Christmas patrols, he pointed out. Only longer hours for patrolmen in the district and the co-operation of the public in watching their driving can be counted on to put a damper on skyrocketing fatalities.

"I wish every person on the South Plains could enjoy the holidays without tragedy in their family," Capt. Posey said.

Killed in the Saturday night accident were Felipe Miranda, 50, his wife, Hilaria, 48, and their son, Nasario, 12, all residents of Brownfield. Another son, Bertal, 24, driver of the 1940 Chevrolet in which they were riding, was reported "much improved" by attendants at the Treadaway-Daniel hospital Sunday.

The accident occured about two and one-half miles southeast of Brownfield on the Lamesa highway at 11:45 Saturday when a ton and a half 1944 truck owned and driven by Walter Chandler, 52, of Brownfield, collided with the side of the car. Chandler was uninjured, while Susie Miranda, 17, wife of Bertal, received only minor injuries. Chandler was alone, driving toward Lamesa.

Investigation was continuing late Sunday.

Funeral arrangements for the victims were pending arrival of relatives at the Brownfield Funeral home. It was reported the family was returning from San Angelo at the time of the accident.

Fans Already Sending In Bids To 1951 Rose Bowl Grid Game

PULLMAN, Wash., Dec. 18 (INS)—The early bird gets the Rose Bowl ticket.

The Cougar institution receives a small number of tickets as a member of the Pacific Coast Conference.

CHICAGO, Dec. 18. (AP)—The pilot of a four-engine Trans World airliner which crashed through a municipal airport fence after landing here today blamed a brake failure for the accident. None of the 26 persons aboard the big Constellation plane was injured. The plane, however, was badly damaged.

Such an agreement would entail the supervision of East German police troops by Soviet officers and the retention of major airfields, naval bases and other important military installations by the Russians.

But Vishinsky was reported to have promised the East German leaders more latitude in government functions, specifically permitting them greater freedom in dealing with the Soviet satellite states.

More independence in domestic administrative affairs, provided it is consistent with Soviet policy, also was said to have been pledged by Vishinsky.

At the same time the Soviet official was said to have ordered East German and Soviet officials to carry out a purge of supporters of Yugoslav Marshal Tito inside the East German government as well as the Socialist Unity party (Communist).

be made after the President returns.

Mr. Truman was taut and his nerves tensed from months of sticking to his desk without relief through the second longest congressional session in the nation's peacetime history.

There were months of tension in which the President saw forces mass in the Congress against a program which he felt the voters had signalled a "green light" on the previous November.

Mr. Truman found, as most presidents before him, that few chief executives ever have easy sledding with Congress.

The President left Washington with his nerves wound up tight as a watch spring. It took nearly a week of long hours of sleep, sunshine and mild exercise before he even began to feel relaxed again.

That is why his vacation has gone into the third week. He says he feels fine now, and is ready for the fray, come next month.

Signs of busier retail cash registers were evident Saturday in New York and Washington where shoppers unexpectedly turned out in swarms, creating emergency traffic and transportation situations.

Shoppers Crowd Streets

Police in Washington, which has a metropolitan population of a million, estimated that 500,000 shoppers glutted the streets and sardined themselves into downtown stores throughout the day.

Commerce department figures for retail buying in November show that the big Christmas rush will provide store tills with a welcome workout.

The government statisticians reported that sales of independent retailers were off three per cent from November a year ago and made almost no change from the level of October, 1949.

Gaines for the period were recorded, however, by automobile and furniture dealers, and though department stores, jewelry and clothing stores sold more in November than in October, their sales were down nearly 12 per cent from November 1948.

Kessing Says New Professional Football League Won't Work

HOUSTON, Dec. 18. (AP)— The head of the All-America Professional Football Conference says the league still is in business.

"We're still in existence," said Commissioner O. O. Kessing, adding that he does not think the new "so-called National-American League will work."

Kessing, here for today's Shamrock Bowl charity game between the AAC's champion Cleveland Browns and an All-Star squad from the six other teams of the conference, said he does not like the new setup at all.

The future of the AAC, he said, will be determined next month at a meeting in New York City. He indicated the date will be prior to the scheduled January 19 get together of the new league.

Department store sales in Santiago, Chile, recently were the lowest since 1944.

Littlefield And Mexia Battle For Class A Crown At Abilene

Powerful Wildcats To Face Black Cat Team December 26

(By The Associated Press)

Texas schoolboy football winds up the 1949 season this week with two championship games.

Wichita Falls and Austin play Friday at Fort Worth for the Class AA title.

Littlefield and Mexia vie for the Class A crown in Abilene Monday, December 26, at 2 p. m.

Austin upset Port Arthur, 20-14, last week to advance to the finals.

Wichita Falls blanked Highland Park (Dallas), 21-0; Littlefield whipped Garland, 27-13, and Mexia edged Uvalde, 7-6.

Officials of Mexia and Littlefield schools held a lenghthy meeting Sunday, deciding to meet at the halfway point. All seats in the 10,000 seat capacity Fair Park stadium will be reserved, with tickets selling at $1.50 each on first-come, first-serve basis.

Special rates of 50 cents for students of the two schools has been made, but all students must buy tickets at their respective schools. Area coaches wishing to take teams to the state finals may contact Littlefield school officials for accommodations.

Wildcat representatives attending the meeting were Joe Hutchinson, supt. of schools, head Coach J. S. Fikes and Assistants Pat Patterson and Forrest Martin.

Power Football Exponents

The finals will match exponents of power football.

Wichita Falls has a terrific ground game while Austin has used little else in running over 12 of 13 opponents this year. Wichita Falls is undefeated and untied, as is Mexia.

Littlefield's ground game has been spectacular and it is this fact that makes the South Plains eleven a favorite over Mexia.

Both Wichita Falls and Austin have won state titles before, but this is the first time that Littlefield and Mexia have been this far in the Class A race, playing to a state championship for the second season.

Bobby Warren and John Salyer combined to rip Port Arthur's rugged line to bits. They carry the backfield punch for Johnny Kitchens' Maroons.

Jimmy Self, Tommy Fields and Bill Waggoner are the backfield aces of Wichita Falls.

Bailes Sparks Wildcats

Littlefield's biggest backfield threat is Tommy Bailes, while Mexia has Derrell Carlile to spark its scoring.

It is no surprise that Wichita Falls and Littlefield are in the finals of their respective races. But Mexia and Austin are definite surprises.

Mexia had to knock out the pre-season Class A favorite, New Braunfels, in the playoff and Austin ran up against Port Arthur, the team sportswriters had tagged the best in the state.

Pass Defense Important

Had Port Arthur started passing a bit sooner the result might have been different. Pass defense was the biggest weakness displayed by the big, hard-charging Austin eleven.

Pass defense helped Wichita Falls roll over Highland Park. The Coyotes intercepted five passes and two interceptions set up Wichita Falls touchdowns.

The accurate place-kicking of Buck Cannon gave Mexia its victory over Littlefield. He made good on the lone extra point effort the Black Cats were afforded.

Raider Cagers To Play Cabbers

One of the top independent basketball teams in Texas will be at Texas Tech gym tonight when Checker Cab of San Angelo meets the Raiders at 8 o'clock.

A freshman game with Thomas Tinkers of Lubbock will open the evening's activities at 6:30 o'clock.

Checker Cab has a high-scoring aggregation which put together an average of 68 points per game in its first five tilts of the season, scoring 343 points to only 228 for the opposition.

Height in the Cabbie lineup has been responsible for their good showing thus far, with two men at 6-foot, 7-inches in Herman Hopkins and Norman Berge. Five other men on the squad are well over the six-foot mark.

Leading scorer for the Checkers is Berge, with 93 points in four games for an average of better than 23 per contest, and Hopkins has 65 points in four games for a 16-point average. Next high is John Klick, San Angelo High cage mentor, with 14 points per game and a total of 67.

Tech will be seeking its fourth win of the year in the game tonight, one not included on the regular schedule, and will be hard-pressed to take the contest.

Probable starters for the Raiders will be Charlie Pinnell and Verdell Turner at forwards; Gene Gibson and Jack Alderson or Jim Eddins at guards; and Jiggs Jackson at center.

Tech Prepping For Raisin Bowl Battle

Texas Tech's Red Raiders are scheduled to get down to serious business today as time for their Dec. 31 game with San Jose State in the Raisin Bowl at Fresno, Calif., grows nearer.

Only two weeks remain before the teams clash, and part of this period will be spent for holidays and travel by the Tech squad, making every workout count.

Since resuming drills last week, the Tech gridders have been brushing up on fundamentals and running through ground plays and passing exercises, but heavy contact work is in store this week in all probability.

San Jose's Spartans boast a big, powerful team that won eight games and lost four over the season, the losses coming to Stanford, Santa Clara, University of San Francisco and College of Pacific.

Indianapolis Olympians Cop Second Win From Nugget Five

DENVER, Dec. 18 (INS)—The Indianapolis Olympians today took their second win from the Denver Nuggets with a smashing 83 to 79 victory in Denver university arena before 4,127 fans.

Guard Bob Brown, who scored 19 points to lead the Denver attack, was injured with three minutes left to play. He was still unconscious as the game ended, and the extent of his injuries was not known.

Forward Ken Sailors and Guard Floyd Volker were second for the Nuggets with 17 each.

Alex Groza led Indianapolis with 22 points. Bruce Hale was second for the Olympians with 16.

Miss Tilly, winner of the 1949 Hambletonian, has been retired to the broodmare ranks of Walnut Hill Farm, Donerail, Ky.

Austin College Of Sherman Plays Wayland's Pioneer Cagers Tuesday

PLAINVIEW, Dec. 18 (Special)—Wayland college's Pioneers play the Kangaroos of Austin college here at 8 p. m. Tuesday night, and the Kangaroos meet Texas Tech cagers Wednesday.

Probable starters for Wayland are Ed Billings and Don Dally, forwards; Runt Burch, center; and Billy McClelland and George Goodson, guards.

Eagles Drop Rams, 14 To 0, For NFL Title

Texas And Rice Improving In SWC Cage Race

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

The Southwest Conference's head not only is bloody but bowed in the three weeks of the basketball campaign.

Intersectionally, the southwest is a big washout. The boys haven't played each other yet but the results against outside opposition indicate there isn't a strong team in the flock.

Last week they lost nine intersectional games while winning only three. That brought the record for the season to date to seven wins against 20 defeats. That's not even mediocre.

Favorites Whammed

And some of the lickings absorbed were quite humiliating. For instance, Baylor, one of the Conference favorites, was whammed by Kansas State 78-30. Arkansas, the top rated team, fell to Illinois 65-53 and Indiana 75-50. Texas Christian, which hadn't lost a game until last week, was swamped by Bradley 85-49. Southern Methodist was tumbled by Colorado 71-48 and Texas Christian was licked by St. Louis, 80-53.

It will be a relief when the Conference games start and the quintets can quit worrying about protection of life and limb.

Texas Gains Win

The only intersectional wins registered last week were Texas' decision over Arizona, Texas Christian's 37-35 victory over Missouri and Rice's 60-40 trimming of Southwestern Louisiana Institute.

Texas and Rice showed the most improvement. Rice previously had lost to SLI 41-26. Texas not only whipped Arizona which beat Texas A. and M. 56-50, but went all out in an 84-37 rout of Trinity university.

It enabled Tom Hamilton, big Texas forward, to take over the scoring leadership. He came all the way from sixth to the top with his 114 points. Jewell McDowell, Texas A. and M. guard, forged from fifth to second place with 112.

This Week's Card

Southern Methodist plays another game with Colorado at Boulder Monday night. Tuesday night Baylor goes against Tulane at San Antonio and Texas Christian plays Wichita at Wichita, Kans.

Wednesday and Thrusday Rice tries Colorado at Boulder, Southern Methodist plays Missouri at Dallas Friday and Saturday and Arkansas engages Oklahoma A. and M. at Little Rock Thursday.

Other games find Texas A. and M. taking on North Texas State at College Station and Texas entertaining University of Houston at Austin Tuesday night.

High School Girls Basketball League Tourney Site Undecided

The board of directors met until early morning at Waco but could not reach a decision. Three cities—Dallas, Waco and Hillsboro—are under consideration and McKamie indicated Dallas has the best chance to get the tournament.

TUG OF WAR — A dispute has already arisen over who should wear the belt being tugged at by Bill Henderson, left, and Eddie Bertolino, right, in the above photo. The decision as to the wearer will be decided at Chapman fieldhouse tonight when the two boxers meet for the lightweight title of Texas in a bout scheduled to go 15-rounds to a decision. DUNCAN, RAMIREZ IN SEMIFINAL

Bertolino, Henderson Tangle Tonight For Lightweight Title

The lightweight champion of Texas will be known tonight when Bill Henderson meets Eddie Bertolino for the title at Chapman fieldhouse in the 15-round main event of a card that begins at 8:30 o'clock.

Ranking lightweights in Texas, Bertolino and Henderson will be seeking to move into the spot which has no recognized holder at present ,and the match will be between boys of almost equal ability.

As fight time nears, Henderson is considered a favorite locally by fans who have watched him come up through the Golden Gloves and go on to win 29 victories in professional circles while dropping two.

Bertolino has a fine record, losing but five of 55 fights against some of the best competition to be had in the Gulf Coast area.

Both are considered to be in top shape for the contest, going through loosening up exercises the past two days and working on timing and footwork with ropes and punching bags.

Experience seems to favor Bertolino, who has developed a keen sense of timing and speed in previous fights. In heavier workouts earlier he proved that he could throw plenty of leather, but with the large gloves it was hard to tell just how hard his blows were hitting. Bertolino has a reach of some two inches over Henderson.

Henderson gained his reputation among South Plains fans by his ability to give and take punishment. He is a scrapper and has a very hard punch for a lightweight.

The official weigh-in ceremony will be held at 1 p. m. today at Chapman fieldhouse. Bertolino, who hails from Galveston, expects to weigh near 134 pounds, and Henderson should scale 133.

A six-round semi-final, featuring Leonard Duncan of Hale Center and Gil Ramirez of El Paso will liven up the card, which has two preliminaries opening the show.

Ramirez was scheduled to arrive in Lubbock late Sunday for his middleweight bout with Duncan who has won eight of his nine pro starts.

Meeting in a featherweight bout will be Juan Herrera, El Paso, and Enrique Morales, San Antonio. A welterweight scrap pits Jimmy Moreland, Lubbock, against Joe Chaplin, Shreveport.

Promoter of the bouts is Edd Sides. Tickets at $4 ringside, $3 reserved and $2 general admission will be on sale all day at Hilton hotel, Tech drug, Hub Clothiers and City Club gym.

Knee Injury Will Keep Doak Walker From Shrine Grid Game

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 18. (AP)—Doak Walker, Southern Methodist's All-America football star, will not play for the West in the Shrine's East-West football classic here Dec. 31.

The Shrine committee said a charley horse has resulted in a calcium deposit in the athlete's knee and his doctor advised against playing. The injury kept Walker out of the SMU-Notre Dame contest.

Louis Will Seek To Regain Title Against Charles

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 18 (INS)—Joe Louis' manager said today that the former world's heavyweight champion will seek to regain his title in a bout with Ezzard Charles.

Manager Marshall Miles declared that the "Brown Bomber" has "definitely made up his mind he wants to fight Ezzard Charles" and that such a bout "will probably be held in the Yankee Stadium next June."

Charles was acclaimed National Boxing Association heavyweight champion last June when he won a 15-round decision over Jersey Joe Walcott after Louis had announced that he was quitting the ring.

Miles said that Louis feels he will need three months of serious training to be ready for Charles, NBA boxing champion.

Miles said that Charles' co-managers, Jake Mintz and Tom Tannas, have both already stated that such a fight would be the only logical one to bring back the days of the million-dollar gate.

Louis is in San Francisco for a ten-round no decision fight tomorrow night with Al Hoosman and Louis has predicted he will "Knock Hoosman out in six rounds."

Louis goes to Salt Lake City to box two four-round exhibition fights Dec. 21 with Jay Lambert, former Olympic team boxer, and Rex Layne, former National AAU champ, and then goes to Los Angeles for the holidays and a charity no-decision fight either Jan. 10 or Jan. 17 in Los Angeles.

He will box in Seattle in the latter part of January and then go to South America for six exhibition fights.

Louis said of his hopes to fight Charles:

"I think that Louis has one more good fight in his system."

Westerner Cagers To Meet Pampa Tuesday

The Lubbock Westerner basketball team came through under fire over the weekend, winning the Wayland college tourney in Plainview in three close games.

After dropping their first game of the season last Wednesday to Borger, the Lubbock squad appeared to be shaky in their first tourney game, defeating Samnorwood, 31-27, but in the other two tilts the team showed lots of hustle.

Coach David Cook will send the Westerners through a workout today to take out the kinks in their offense and defense before tangling with Pampa at 8 p. m. Tuesday and Abilene at the same hour on Wednesday at Chapman fieldhouse.

Lubbock Cowhands entered the Smyer tourney the past week-end, and Coach Dee Alexander's quintet won first place.

Two Westerners, Jim Wilson and Jimmy Sexton, were chosen to the Wayland all-tourney teams, and Tommy Yelvington and Sammy Adams received the honor at Smyer.

Steve Van Buren Sets New Mark Of 197 Yards Rushing

By CHUCK PANAMA
INS Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 18—Steve Van Buren sparkled like a bright flame against a backdrop of rain and mud today as he led the Philadelphia Eagles to their second straight National Football League championship by rolling over the Los Angeles Rams, 14 to 0.

A disappointing but not disappointed crowd of 22,245 facing the worst weather conditions for a football game in Los Angeles in four years, watched the Bayou Kid and mates at work.

Sets New Mark

Van Buren slid and sloshed his way through the heavy mud to a new playoff game record of 197 yards from rushing. The old mark of 159 yards was set by Elmer Angsmen of the Chicago Cardinals in the 1947 championship game between the Cards and Eagles.

Where Van Buren stood out on offensive, it was the marvelous Eagle defensive line that held the Rams in check on a playing field that resembled nothing more than a duck blind.

The Rams were so inept against the Philadelphia forward wall they were able to penetrate for only 21 yards from rushing. They were equally stymied in the air, completing only 10 passes for 98 yards.

Waterfield, Huffman Shine

Quarterback Bob Waterfield and Tackle Dick Huffman were standouts for the losers.

Waterfield's booming kicks with the rain and mud-sodden pigskin time and time again pulled the western division champs out of danger. Huffman played the greatest game of his life on both offense and defense. But they were playing against a team that was not to be denied.

The Eagles, after being held in check on the ground in the first quarter, took to the air for their first tally.

Quarterback Tommy Thompson, handling the slick pigskin as if he had glue on his mitts, needed only six plays, three of them passes, to register on the scoreboard.

He hit End Jack Ferrente with a pair of bullseye pitches to move the ball to the Ram 21 and then flipped the payoff strike to the other end, Pete Pihos, who took it on the 15 and scooted over unmolested.

Van Buren Stars

The rest of the second quarter was all Van Buren. The Bayou Kid personally lugged the ball deep into Ram territory twice, but a fumble on the eight and an intercepted pass on the two as the halftime gun sounded, nullified the gains.

The second half was only four minutes old when the champs scored again. The Rams, held deep in their own territory by the ponderous Eagle line, were forced back to their own five-yard line marker.

Then Waterfield, standing on the goal line, took a high pass from center and attempted to boot it out.

But Leo Skladany threw his 215-pound frame in front of the ball which bounced to the Ram four. Skladany picked it up and skidded into the end zone.

The Rams threatened for the first time late in the third period when Joe Muha kicked out of bounds on the Eagle 39.

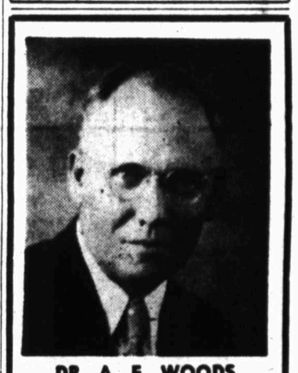

Waterfield hit Tank Younger with a sharp pass on the 29, but Frank Reagan nipped the threat with his interception of Waterfield's next aerial on the Eagle 2, as the quarter ended.

Fourth quarter was a tug-of-war between the 40-yard line stripes with neither team being able to gain much ground in the quagmire that once was a football field.

Rex Grossman's 44-yard field goal for Baltimore against Los Angeles was the longest of the All-American Conference season.

Union Opposes T-H Exemption

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18. (AP)—The independent machinists union is opposing the plea of the building industry and AFL unions for a blanket exemption from key sections of the Taft-Hartley labor law.

The National Labor Relations board will hear argument tomorrow on the request for waiving the law's election requirements for the industry.

Most of the vast industry's employer groups have joined the AFL building trades unions in asking a board-ordered exemption. They contend that labor troubles hampering construction jobs is a sure bet unless this can be done, until the law can be amended.

Union To Oppose Move

But Beyer S. Ryder, attorney for the International Association of machinists, said today his union will oppose the move at tomorrow's hearing.

Ryder told a reporter the machinists union (IAM) stands with the rest of organized labor in wanting the T-H law repealed, particularly in its ban against the closed shop, but:

"Until it is repealed, the law should be applied equally to all unions and to all industries."

The IAM pulled out of the AFL several years ago in an unsettled rivalry with some AFL unions over jurisdiction of types of work—that is, what union's members were entitled to certain jobs.

This feud has been continuing and, in fact, is one of the main reasons why the AFL unions and building contractors want the T-H election exemption.

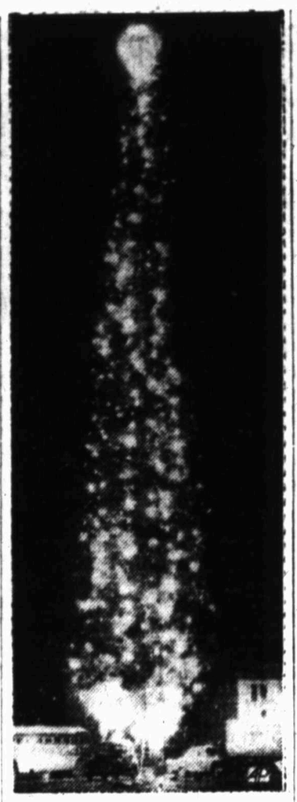

So far the NLRB has found it impossible to hold T-H elections to determine the proper bargaining units and representative unions in the building trades.

Some animal experts contend that a good dog makes a far better mouser than the cat.

New York City Water Supply Continues Threatening Drop

NEW YORK, Dec. 18. (AP)— New York City's 1,000-square mile watershed today was still too dry for comfort as the level of impounded waters in the municipal system sank to 34.8 percent of capacity.

This was one-tenth percent off yesterday's mark.

Edward J. Clark, chief engineer of the city department of water supply, gas and electricity, reported about 88 billion gallons of water stored in the Croton and Catskill watersheds.

To underscore the arid condition of the city's watershed, Clark said that just a year ago there were 127 billion gallons of water in storage, or about 50.2 percent of capacity.

Clark said New York's eight millions, who took to heart Friday's experiment—a water vacation—for the dryest day in terms of water consumption in 21 years, did not do as well yesterday.

Lindbergh Honored By Fellow Airmen

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18. (INS)—birdmen Saturday night for "significant public service of enduring value to aviation in the United States."

The National Aeronautic association awarded Lindbergh its 1949 Wright Brothers Memorial trophy, an accolade bestowed only upon immortals of aviation.

The citation traced his career as an airman from the non-stop New York-Paris flight in the "Spirit of St. Louis" in 1927, which blazed a new trail in the sky and captured the imagination of the world, to his present-day service as a special consultant to the chief of staff of the U. S. Air Force.

Airmen who gathered to acclaim Lindbergh were mindful of many other things besides the remarkable accomplishments set forth in the certificate of award.

They recalled the frightful tragedy which befell him in 1932 when his first-born son was kidnaped and murdered. They remembered, too, how many turned against the man who had been the nation's most idolized hero when he opposed policies which he believed were plunging America into war.

His brother aviators spoke of Lindbergh's war service—of the self-sacrificing anonymity with which as a civilian technician he flew 50 combat missions in the Pacific, risking his life as a matter of unemotional routine.

The trophy citation carefully documented many of Lindbergh's achievements which are not generally known because of the shell of shyness into which he retired after the brutal slaying of his son.

Possibility Of Temple-Agar Yule Reconciliation Fades

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 18. (AP) — The possibility of a Christmas idyll of kiss-and-make-up between Shirley Temple and her divorced husband John Agar faded Saturday after their first meeting since their divorce.

Shirley disclosed that Agar had visited their baby, 22-month-old Linda Susan, late yesterday, but she put a brisk chill on reconciliation talk.

"All I have to say was said in divorce court," said the actress. She obtained an interlocutory decree Dec. 5 while Agar was on an Eastern personal appearance tour.

"I can absolutely see no possibility of a reconciliation," Agar said.

Bomber Wreckage Believed Located

SAN RAFAEL, Calif., Dec. 18. (INS)—Sighting of wreckage believed to be that of a twin-engined Air Force T-11 bomber missing with three men aboard was reported to Hamilton field today.

A. Z. Anderson of Nevada City notified Air Force authorities that he spotted the wreckage between Nevada City and highway 40 near Greenhorn creek.

He said no numbers were discernable but his description tallied with that of the missing plane. Air Force authorities said Anderson reported finding three dead in the plane.

Hamilton field is sending a ground search party and medics. The territory where the wreckage was reported found is wild and snowy.

The T-11 was lost yesterday on a training flight from Hamilton field. Listed as being aboard the T-11 were the pilot, First Lieut. John F. Raab, 27, of El Cerrito, Calif., Co-Pilot Richard Armstrong, 27, of Berkeley, and First Lieut. Thomas Valentino, of Washington, D. C.

Raab and Armstrong were members of the 311th Troop Carrier squadron and Valentino, only recently back from [illegible], was still awaiting [illegible].

Police To Escort Hayworth To Hospital For Birth Of Child

LAUSANNE, Dec. 18. (INS) — Rita Hayworth will have an escort of 20 policemen in jeeps when she is ready to go to the Montchoisi clinic to have her baby.

Prince Ali Khan, her husband, told reporters tonight at Lausanne Police Major Henry Mutrux will rend the police-jeep escort to the Palace hotel for Rita as soon as his wife's doctors think she should go to the clinic.

The police will precede Rita and her Cadillac to the clinic to keep things under control, setting up a double-line before the entrance to keep crowds out.

Aly promised reporters and cameramen his full cooperation in covering the story.

He said if reporters are reasonable, he will permit them to photograph his wife immediately after the baby is born, but ruled out any pictures beforehand.

Meanwhile, French composer Nicholas Power has written a song entitled "Aly's Baby," which has become a favorite at the Palace hotel bar. It is played frequently by the Spanish band there.

Violence Of Last Year's Crowds Absent

Thousands Visit Oilman's Dallas Christmas Tableau

DALLAS, Dec. 18. (U.P.)—Thousands of persons slowly motored by a Dallas mansion today to witness a life-size re-creation of the nativity.

There was little carnival air about the proceedings. Instead, the spectators, many of them from points hundreds of miles away, solemnly viewed papier mache figures of the Christ child, the Virgin Mary and the camels of the wise men.

Parents with small children, members of all races and creeds, slowly shuttled in front of millionaire oilman Homer Snowden's spacious yard where the nativity scene was erected.

This is the second season that Snowden has staged the exhibit. Its fame has spread far and policemen have been hard-pressed at times to control the traffic.

Lawsuit Pending

But for the solemnity displayed by most spectators, the problem of controlling the crowds might well get out of hand, even as it threatened to do several times last year.

As a result of the 1948 exhibit, a $5,000 lawsuit is still pending against Snowden. Filed in April and unnoticed until yesterday, it was brought by Mrs. Ruth Coker, a 44-year-old secretary, who fell in last year's scramble onto the Snowden lawn and broke her leg. Her suit said the accident happened when she stumbled over some "unyielding object" covered by loose hay.

Sgt. H. J. Putnam, head of a detail assigned to the scene, said: "The public's attitude is changed from last year. Last Christmas season, spectators scrambled over neighboring lawns. They trampled just about anything that got in the way. The result was chaos."

Neighbors Antagonized

The near mobs of last year antagonized well-to-do neighbors of Snowden and they appealed to the city council for protection. They sought an order to have the exhibit erected elsewhere—preferably at a public park

However, the council ruled otherwise, although it did prohibit parking in the immediate area in order to allow the neighbors full use of their driveways.

Snowden, in turn, co-operated by turning down multiple loudspeakers which play "Silent Night" until 11 p. m. daily. Snowden set 11 o'clock sharp as the curfew for turning off the more than 8,000 lights mounted overhead in trees and silencing the public address system.

The season of good will—for Snowden—was living up to its name.

Young Girl To Get Specialist In Effort To Save Right Hand

BROWNSVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 18. (INS)—Little Betty Lou Marbury, whose plea for prayers aroused the sympathy of the nation, will journey to New England this week where a bone specialist will attempt to save her right hand from amputation.

The air jaunt to Boston will be financed by a "benefactor" who refused to reveal his name for publication.

The name of the bone specialist was also withheld.

The 10-year-old farm girl has received thousands of dollars in cash, and numerous churches have held special services for her, since she wrote a letter to the Memphis Commercial Appeal asking people to pray that her hand, afflicted with a malignant lesion, be saved.

Doctors now believe amputation will be necessary sometime next month.

Tourists Hunt Cover As Gunfighters Duel On Street In Mexico

REYNOSA, Mexico, Dec. 18. (AP)—Hundreds of tourists and pedestrians scattered for cover Saturday as a former mayor and a former police chief staged a gun duel on the main street here.

Both were wounded, one critically.

Miguel Garza Guiterrez, about 50, mayor here seven years ago, was reported in a critical condition from bullet wounds in the stomach.

Ramiro Rodriguez Palafox, 45, police chief here about three years ago, was shot in the head and shoulders.

No charges had been filed late last night.

Arguments Over Land

The movie style gun duel was reported to have been caused by difficulties between the two men over some land near here. Reynosa is just across the border from McAllen, Tex.

Witnesses said Garza Guiterrez was on a sidewalk in front of Mrs. Noel's curio shop, a major tourist center, when the firing began.

Rodriguez Palafox was on the opposite side of the street in front of a curio shop owned by Americo Leal, Mrs. Noel's brother-in-law.

Garza Guiterrez fell to the sidewalk first but continued firing. Both men emptied one ammunition clip of their .38 caliber pistols, reloaded and continued firing.

O'Dwyer's Bride-To-Be Ends Cruise; Mayor Avoids Newsmen

STUART, Fla., Dec. 18. (AP)—Beautiful Texas-born Elizabeth Sloan Simpson, 33, who will marry New York's Mayor William O'Dwyer here Tuesday, was back in Fort Lauderdale today after a game of hide-and-seek aboard a yacht.

O'Dwyer, 59, still was in hiding, reportedly at the nearby community of Pompano. Most of the seekers were reporters and cameramen hoping for interviews and photos.

Miss Simpson is aboard the yacht Almar which returned after sailing southward as far as Miami. A rough ocean and whitecapped bays made the trip unpleasant, and the Almar cruised slowly back to the Bahia Mar yacht basin at Fort Lauderdale.

With her were H. G. Matthews of New York and Dr. and Mrs. Edward M. Bernecker. The doctor was formerly commissioner of hospitals in New York.

The Almar will sail tomorrow to Hobe Sound, north of Palm Beach, and then make a leisurely cruise to Stuart to arrive here in time for the wedding in St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church.

Miss Simpson's previous marriage to Carroll Dewey Hipp of Teaneck, N. J., took place outside the church.

NEW YORK, Dec. 18. (AP)—Crawford Johnson, 50, limped into Bellevue hospital today and was treated for buckshot wounds of both legs.

He and his brother, Emmett, had been on a hunting trip, Johnson explained, adding:

"And that brother of mine he just didn't know me from a rabbit."

GAINESVILLE, Dec. 13. (AP)—Mrs. Margaret Dunnavent Calhoun, who would have been 95 on Christmas, burned to death early today when a heater set fire to her bed. She was blind and nearly deaf.

Burial will be in Houston beside the body of her husband, W. E. Calhoun. They came to Gainesville more than 50 years ago after their marriage in Houston. Calhoun was a cotton buyer.

17 Bodies Found In Mexico Plane Crash

JALAPA, Mexico, Dec. 18. (AP)—Search parties found 17 bodies Saturday in the wreckage of a plane crash that caused five more deaths among relatives and friends trying to reach the site.

All aboard the Mexican airliner, also carrying $5,300,000 (Pecos) ($590,000), were dead. Their bodies were mutilated and burned beyond recognition. The plane crashed yesterday.

The five other deaths occurred from traffic accidents involving cars carrying relatives and others to the rugged mountain site of the crash.

Lubbock Typographical Union Holds Annual Christmas Dinner

Approximately 50 members of the Lubbock Typographical Union No. 888 and their wives attended an annual Christmas dinner at the Hilton hotel at 2 p. m. Sunday.

Dr. Doyle D. Jackson, professor of education at Texas Technological college, was principal speaker, tracing the rise and fall of the various ruling nations of the world and warning that unless the American incentives to work, earn, save and invest were preserved our nation might come to the same fate.

A quartet, composed of Lewis Faw, Gil Wallace, John Zimmerman and "Squeaky" Roberson sang several songs during the meal and Mrs. D. E. Ing, accompanied by Mrs. Sam Malone, gave a vocal solo.

Carl Hyatt, president of the union, presided as master of ceremonies. Two chapter members of the union, which was organized on April 22, 1925, Will White and A. L. Borho, were recognized.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Guy and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Ratliff were special guests.

Crosby County Oil Test Slated

Three Tests In Scurry Planned

Drilling is to be started at once on widcat explorations in southeast Crosby county and in southeast Reeves county.

Gulf Oil corporation is to have the operation of both ventures. Gulf No. 1 C. F. Martin is the Crosby development. It is 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 3, block B, A. D. Mayer survey, abstract 1,-271.

The prospector is slated to dig to 8,500 feet to test into the Ellenburger. The drillsite is 10 1/2 miles west of Spur.

The Reeves county wildcat will be carried as Gulf Oil corporation and Jack Frost No. 1 P. G. Northup, et al, —State. It is located 1,-980 feet from south and west lines of section 32, block 50, TP survey, T-8.

Contract depth is 5,500 feet to explore into the Delaware formation. This exploration is 13 miles east of the Simmons & Wilson, (formerly Argo Oil corporation,) No. 1 Dora Roberts, a small discovery from the lower Permian, which has been off of production for several months.

DRILLSTEM TEST RUN ON NORTH SNYDER WELL

Chapman and McFarland No. 1 Cogdell, central-south Kent county wildcat, eight miles north and east of the nearest producers from the Canyon reef lime on the north side of the North Snyder field in central-north Scurry county, and 467 feet from south and west lines of section 716, block 97, H&TC survey, had run a one hour drillstem test on the Canyon reef at 6,776-6,819 feet.

Gas came to the surface in 14 minutes. The gas volume was not gauged or estimated, but it was reported to have been in a heavy flow.

No fluid came to the surface while the tool was open. Operator closed the tool at the end of one hour test and suspended operations until Friday morning, when the pipe was to be pulled.

At the time this report was prepared the recovery from the drillstem test had not been reported.

Top of the Canyon reef was picked at 6,796 feet. Elevation is 2,431-feet. That is said to make the top of the formation favorable when correlated with the North Snyder field.

Prior to completing the one-hour drillstem test on the 6,776-6,819 foot zone two unsuccessful efforts have been made to get a test, but both were failures.

APPLICATIONS FILED FOR NEW SCURRY TESTS

Applications for permits on three new locations in Scurry county have been filed at the Midland Railroad commission office. All plan to use rotary tools.

LUBBOCK MORNING AVALANCHE

Lubbock, Texas, Monday, December 19, 1949

Daughter Of Franco To Wed

MADRID, Dec. 18. (INS)—Carmencita Franco, beautiful, dark-haired daughter of Generalissimo Franco, and the marquis of Villaverde, young Spanish surgeon, were formally betrothed tonight at a private party in Pardo palace.

They are expected to be married early next year.

Carmencita, 23, is Franco's only child. The marquis, who practices under the name of Dr. Cristobal Martinez Bordiu, is 27 and the son of Count Argillo.

Reports Confirmed

The betrothal, linking Franco with Spanish aristocracy, confirmed exclusive reports of the romance by International News Service nearly 18 months ago.

In accordance with Spanish tradition, both families and friends of the couple were brought together at a tea party at which the marquis' father, Count Argillo, spoke for his son.

After the count had asked Franco for the hand of his daughter in behalf of the marquis, there was an exchange of gifts. The surgeon gave his bride-to-be a diamond-studded platinum bracelet and received from his fiancee a gold watch and initialed gold cigarette case.

A buffet supper was served later in the evening and then the young couple, accompanied by a party of society friends, went to a dance at the Rex hotel to celebrate.

Rumors Are Spread

Carmencita met the young Spanish nobleman about two years ago and rumors of their plan to wed have been current recently without receiving any official confirmation.

Although tonight's event at Pardo palace ended the rumors, the Spanish press thus far refrained from carrying any word of the couple's marriage intentions.

But it was understood a simple announcement of the betrothal and biographies of the couple will be published Monday along with their photographs.

The couple probably will live in Madrid's fashionable Salamanca district after their marriage.

Visiting With The South Plains Press

Editors Deplore Conditions In Texas Mental Hospitals

By TOM DAVIS
Avalanche Staff Writer

A couple of South Plains editors with rare bravery have ventured the opinion that Texans might hold up on the bragging about the greatness of the state until provisions are made for the better care of the insane and others confined to state institutions.

H. G. Richards of The Anton News joined in approving such sentiments expressed by A. J. Stricklin of The Terry County Herald.

Richards wrote that "Stricklin, dean of South Plains editors, made a statement in his column that we might all ponder well. He said that we should let up on our boasting about Texas and its greatness until we made provisions for the better care of our insane people and others.

"We have been feeling the same way about this," Richards wrote, "especially since we have learned abou' the deplorable conditions in our state stitutions, and the cruel neglect of those poor people who are not able to take care of themselves. After all, they are Texans, too.

"Like Editor Stricklin, from now on when we get ready to tell some wide-eyed listener about how every thing is just a little bigger and better in Texas, we'll have a consciousness in our minds that if he only knew how our unfortunate people are neglected, he would make us shut up."

There's no closed season on potshots at the Weatherman, and J. Suits of The Petersburg Journal is the latest to let go with both barrels.

In his last column, Suits wrote: "This is Wednesday morning and w· are chilled to the bone. That weather forecaster at the government station at Lubbock is just about as accurate in his predictions about the weather as the Republicans are about winning elections."

(Suits ignores the fact that most newspapers missed the last election just as far as the Republicans did.)

Continuing, Suits writes: "Speaking about government weather stations, the one at Lubbock is practically a complete loss. Old heads in the weather predicting business learned a long time

Japs See Need For China Trade

TOKYO, Dec. 18. (INS)—Japan's top industrial leaders said tonight that the "only hope" for Japan's economic recovery is trade with Communist China despite the American attitude of a "go-slow" policy.

These industrial leaders have openly expressed fear that if Japan doesn't re-establish trade ties with the continent soon she may find herself shut out permanently.

The Japan Management association, an organization of 1,500 of Japan's largest firms including the Mitsui and Mitsubisai trusts, said as much in a lengthy study on Japanese trade with Communist China.

U. S. Informed Of Stand

Copies of the document were handed to representatives of the United States Army and State departments in Tokyo last week.

The management association study called for immediate opening of direct trade with Communist China, the dispatch there of private Japanese traders and the limiting of trade by what the Communists refuse to import or what the United States classifies as "strategic materials."

The Japanese businessmen pointed anxiously to the rapid pace of Manchurian industrialization under Russian supervision. They said:

"Manchuria will come to depend

'Twas Christmas Eve Night!

It was just before twelve
On Christmas Eve night,
I looked in the kitchen
And saw such a sight!

Old Santa was there,
His beard was like silk,
He was helping himself
To a glass full of milk.

His face was so happy
I could easily tell,
He sure was enjoying
That bottle of Bell.

I went back to bed
But not back to sleep
And a few minutes later
I heard Santa creep . . .

Into the living room
To lay out the toys
Which I knew he would leave
For good girls and boys.

Then before going off
To the neighboring house,
He crept back to the kitchen
As quiet as a mouse.

Our ice cream and chocolate
He was gleefully taking,
And a big chocolate Sundae
For himself he was making.

The ice cream was Bell
From the handy bulk pak,
And I know he enjoyed it
For his lips he did smack.

The next thing I know
He was out in his sled
And I trundled back
To my little warm bed . . .

But just as he left
I heard Santa yell,
"On to the neighbors . . .
They, too, take Bell."

Two wells have been reported completed in the Kelley field and one in the North Snyder field of Scurry county.

Standard Oil Company No. 2-8 Mrs. Jessie W. Brown flowed through a ½ inch choke for 1,597 barrels of 43.5 gravity oil on a 24-hour potential test. The flow was natural, and no formation water appeared.

Gas-oil ratio was 890-1, and the tubing pressure was 675 pounds. Pay was topped at 6,530 feet, and total depth was 6,928 feet. A seven-inch oil string was set at 6,586 feet.

Tubing pressure was 600 pounds. Pay was topped at 6,766 feet; and total depth was 6,876 feet. A 5½ inch oil string was set at 6,792 feet.

PRODUCTION TESTS ARE RUN ON SCURRY OUTPOST

Rate of production was estimated 25 barrels hourly on a 15 minute drillstem test from 6,705 feet to 6,712 feet, slightly above final depth.

With the completion of the Smith No. 1 Springer, Smith plans to begin seven more explorations in the lease, which is the south half of section 123, in the very neear future.

ago that you cannot predict the weather of West Texas.

"In the spring and summer months they just say 'prevailing winds from the southwest.' In the heart of the summer months, 'not much change in temperature, local thundershowers in the Trans-Pecos area.' And for the winter months they just skip it. Those boys are wise old birds."

Electric Doors Censured

A. M. Jackson of The Slaton Slatonite has concocted another tale that makes good reading:

"When the Public Service company built the new building for its offices I watched closely and had hopes that they were going to use an 'electric eye' front door but I was disappointed.

"My first experience with an electric door was in San Antonio when I shoved, with some vigor, on the thing it opened up so unexpectedly I fell half way across the St. Anthony hotel lobby, and when I came out, the door knocked my hat off my head and I have been hoping to get even ever since, but I have never run across another electric eye door since.

"I hear that there is a bakery concern in Lubbock that has one and I'm going to take a day off and take my station near that bakery with the hopes that I'll see some one else get smacked in the face."

(A downtown Lubbock bank also has the type door you seek, Mr. Jackson.)

Speeders Warned

J. M. Forbes of The Muleshoe Journal doesn't like people who speed through school zones, and passes on this warning:

"Note to gentleman seen cruising around 45 mph in the 12-mile-an-hour school zone: If, in attempting to reach your desired destination at the proper time, you should injure a child, you would have a lifetime to contemplate how unimportant the time and your destination really were."

On Christmas Decorating

E. A. Warren, editor of The Post Dispatch, asked Homer McCrary a few weeks ago if the merchants of Post were going to decorate the fronts of their stores for Christmas. McCrary answered that he didn't know what the other merchants were going to do, but "I can tell you for sure that I am."

Pleased, Warren wrote: "To a man who hears month after month, day after day, year after year, merchants wondering whether or not their competitors and other merchants are going to close for certain holidays and what they will do on other questions, Homer's quick, determined answer was like a rare measure of music."

Meador Looks At Age

Another philosophical paragraph from Douglas Meador, editor of The Matador Tribune:

"Time keeps on plowing the field in front of me until I am unable to locate the marks I set in youth as the boundary of age. Once I was convinced that the wearing of artificial teeth and spectacles was surely the station of deterioration, but later comforted myself that many young people require these aids to nature. In later years I have secretly decided to admit that age is with me to stay when I begin wearing long under-garments. I shudder at the prospects of freezing through another winter."

on the resources of North China and, in turn, provide the necessities of North and South China, not only completely changing economic relations between Japan and China, but fundamentally transforming international trade relations."

China Trade Slumps

The Japanese study states that in 1937 the China trade, including Manchuria, Formosa and Korea, constituted 42.7 per cent of Japan's total exports and 29.8 per cent of her imports. Last year, however, China trade had dried up to a trickle.

The aJpanese estimate there is available in China and they could import immediately more than $71 million worth of raw materials ranging from coking coal to iron ore, salt and soy beans.

In exchange Japan could send China an equal value of construction materials and machinery. Japanese textile manufacturers have written off, at least for the present, their former market for finished cloths because of the Communist ban on luxuries.

Other commodities which in the past occupied important positions in Japan's trade with China, including dried and salted fish, seaweed, agar-agar, clam ligament, shark's fin, dried mushrooms, hosiery, cotton yarn and cloth are all banned.

Japanese industrial leaders said, however, opening of trade with China would benefit the iron and steel industries particularly.

Woman Accused Of Taking Savings Of Foster Parent

NEW YORK, Dec. 18. (AP)—More than 25 years ago. Charles McKenna adopted a two-month-old baby. Today the girl he adopted was accused of taking nearly all of his life savings.

Marion McKenna, 26-year-old clerk was arraigned on a forgery charge today, accused of withdrawing fraudulently more than $7,500 from the bank account of McKenna, a milk wagon driver.

Police said Miss McKenna went to Fort Pierce, Fla., and lost most of the money betting on the horses. She was returned by plane. Police said she had only $3 in cash left when arrested.

Miss McKenna said she would make full restitution. She was held in $1,000 bail.

AIR PROBLEMS

We've A Job To Do

LUBBOCK has reasons to be pleased, on the whole, with several recommendations of examiners of the Civil Aeronautics board pertaining to commercial airline operations affecting this city. But each reason suggests a job ahead which needs and should have the help of the community.

The recommendations which appear to be of most interest to Lubbock follow, without attempt to list them in any order of importance.

1. That Braniff Airways be allowed to continue direct service between Lubbock and the Fort Worth-Dallas district, which the CAB ordered suspended a few weeks ago.

2. That the operating certificate of Pioneer Air Lines be extended another five years along its principal routes.

3. That Pioneer be granted a one-year extension of its permit to operate between Lubbock and Albuquerque, via several intermediate points.

None of these recommendations may be exactly in the form that the communities and lines affected might desire. Pioneer, for example, would prefer—and, in our opinion, should be granted—a permanent operating certificate instead of an extension of its temporary permit. Pioneer also would like a longer extension of its Lubbock-Albuquerque operation, because one year is not enough time to demonstrate the potential value of that service.

Even so; Lubbock could not complain too much if the CAB approves the recommendations as made by the examiners.

This suggests the first undertaking in which this community has reasons to support.

THE CAB frequently does not adopt the recommendations of its examiners. Often, when adopted, they are modified. Self interests demand Lubbock support of efforts to convince the CAB that the recommendations should be approved substantially as made.

If these efforts should prove successful, another undertaking will become a challenge to Lubbock, Albuquerque and the intermediate cities, including Clovis, served by that present flight. All those cities share a considerable and growing "community of interest" in many ways. Airline service helps to bring the relationship closer.

Further, Albuquerque is in the direction which is of much interest to air-minded Lubbock. This city, as one of the most important commercial aviation centers in the Southwest, needs better service to the Pacific coast. The existence of Lubbock-Albuquerque service cannot hurt, and might help, the chances of getting it.

Lubbock, Albuquerque and the intermediate cities have every reason for cooperation in the effort, if the permit is extended only a year, to then demonstrate that the operation is feasible and justified.

TRUE enough, Albuquerque may not be greatly interested in another service to the Pacific coast. That city has such services now. But Albuquerque is as much interested in service to the Texas Gulf coast, which the present line supplies, as Lubbock is in the service to the Pacific coast. Lubbock and Albuquerque should and doubtless will work closely together in urging approval of the extension of this particular service.

Just how Lubbock might help most effectively in urging approval of the examiners' reports remains to be determined. The Chamber of Commerce has done an outstanding job in such matters in the past and doubtless will do most of the ball carrying in those now pending.

But the Chamber may need a good deal of help from the citizenship as events unfold. That help, if and when asked, should be given promptly and unreservedly by those who are eager to enhance Lubbock's already important position as a Southwestern crossroad of the air.

"The eating of bugs in salads, etc., should be no cause for worry," asserts a physician. A bug might hold a different opinion.

If women would do the proposing, the social structure would be benefited," asserts a woman columnist. And if a duck would swim, the exercise would do him good.

Getting Ideas?

The Cameo

CHARLIE REDDY roused his sleeping passenger, Tom O'Neill, whose white head came up with: "Where are we? Oh, home. Home, sweet home. Home is where the heart is. Home is the pigeon. Clay pigeon. That's me, clay pigeon. Come in Charlie. Nightcaps all around."

Reddy followed him out of the car. O'Neill fumbled for his key, found it and inserted it without too much difficulty in the lock of the blue door. He stood aside:

"Enter, my friend. It's been a long time since a guest has crossed this threshold. I've been a lonely man, Charlie. A sad, lonely man."

Reddy walked in and remembered to take the door to the left that entered the O'Neill living quarters. The one to the right, he recalled, led to the potter's studio.

There was a small lamp burning in the living room. Tom moved around lighting the others and the place took on a warm, cheerful look. Reddy glanced around—everything was in order, but there was a heavy layer of dust on the table tops.

Tom backed toward the kitchen, waving Reddy to a chair:

"I'll fix up the nightcap, won't take a minute. Scotch for you, isn't it? Little soda?" He caught Reddy's nod.

Reddy shifted around in his chair, trying to overcome a sensation of uneasiness that seemed to be constricting his stomach muscles. He realized that, although hoping his newest theory was correct, he actually was, at the same time, banking on the fact that it was not. Because, if he had hit on the right answer, there was something he should be doing at this very moment—something other than sitting here waiting for O'Neill.

O'Neill brought the Scotch and soda. For himself, he had concocted a tall, clear drink in which a squeezed lime floated.

They raised their glasses in salute and sipped.

"Doing anything in the pottery line lately, Tom?"

O'Neill shook his head. "Can't put my mind on art. So many other things, lots of other things to think about. Think all the time. Thinking's a curse. Yon Cassius, that's me, thinks too much."

• • •

TOM was staring into his glass. Reddy gave him a searching look, then up-ended his glass and drained the Scotch and soda. He rattled the ice suggestively and Tom glanced up:

"Another before you go?"

Reddy's tone was brightly enthusiastic: "Fine idea! One more."

Tom took his glass and disappeared into the kitchen.

Reddy sprang silently to his feet and padded across to the French doors leading to the patio. Stealthily, he turned the key in the lock, tried the knob to make certain the door was open and then darted back to his chair where he settled himself in a comfortable attitude just before Tom re-entered the room.

Reddy drank his second drink slowly, and made several studiedly dull remarks in a monotonous voice. He was rewarded when Tom fell into a doze.

"I'll be going now, Tom," he said at last.

Tom looked up sleepily, "Find your way out, can you? Lock the door behind you, will you?"

Reddy reassured him, walked to the door quietly, and snapped the lock decisively as he closed the front door. He stood for a moment outside, getting his plans into careful order. When he started his car, he raced the motor noisily several times and roared off down the street. Several blocks away from the O'Neill place, he turned a corner and slid the car to a stop in front of the post office.

He glanced at his watch, switched on the radio, and settled himself to wait out the half-hour he'd allotted himself before returning to Tom's house. He closed his eyes and rested his head against the upholstery. He supposed he should go back to the hospital and tell the Chief what he had in mind, but he decided against that — it was too possible he was chasing a wild goose.

"It is written," he muttered wryly, "that he who chases the wild goose saves himself a heck of a lot of embarrassment by doing it alone."

CHARLIE REDDY'S head jerked up as he came out of his doze. He flipped the light switch on the dashboard and consulted his watch —it was time to go back to O'Neill's, the old boy was sure to be pounding his ear by now.

He got out of the car, locked it and started off in the direction of Tom's studio, his rubber-soled shoes making no sound on the sidewalk. He grinned slightly as he impersonally took his own snapshot: Gumshoe Reddy, the Sam Spade of Dolorosa, gliding through the shadows, hot on the trail of murder. Cloak and dagger stuff!

He turned into the alley that cut through behind the main street, the road was graveled and he frowned as his steps set up a steady crunching sound. He passed backyard fences, garages and garbage cans and finally paused at a frame shed which he knew was part of Tom's workshop. He stared at the house—it was reassuringly dark.

Keeping close to the shadowed side of the shed, he made his way around to the door and tried the iron latch gently. It was locked. But he had expected that. The studio-workshop had two doors, this one and that one that entered from the house. Reddy crouched down and picked his way through a thicket of bushes to the low wall surrounding the patio. He peered over it. Everything was silent. A fragment of moonlight picked out the gleam of water in the big goldfish pool and threw an eerie highlight on the giant pottery frog squatting on the center pedestal.

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 — Man named Vincent Schaefer, who works for General Electric at Schenectady, could do something about New York City's critical water problem. Under proper conditions he could bombard our bone-dry reservoirs with countless millions of tons of rain or snow.

But nobody in the worried government of the country's biggest town has thought of asking Schaefer to take a whack at the problem. And Schaefer, steeped in the shyness and publicity-shunning of the laboratory, wouldn't think of stepping forward to take the initiative—though we understand that he and his associates would act if asked.

Like any scientist, Schaefer is wary of making any such flat claims for this new and curious science and he is likely to run like a rabbit at the sight of any reporter but associates who know his work insist he could do the job.

Schafer developed the system of "seeding" certain types of clouds with dry ice, chiefly the high-flying cirrus. The introduction of the dry ice, sown on top of the cloud from an airplane, will cause the cloud's moisture to precipitate.

He created man's first snowstorms and rainfalls, an achievement which prompted the University of Notre Dame to award him with a doctorate, though Schaefer's formal education ended half-way through high school.

The Air Force got all het up over the military possibilities of Schafer's discovery and set aside a B-29 and a little staff to man "operation cirrus."

BUT it seems to have yawned the matter out of existence in recent months, after a period of excitement in which some airmen envisioned a day when enemy airdromes might be crippled and enemy mechanized forces bogged down by man-made blizzards and cloudbursts instead of costly bombs.

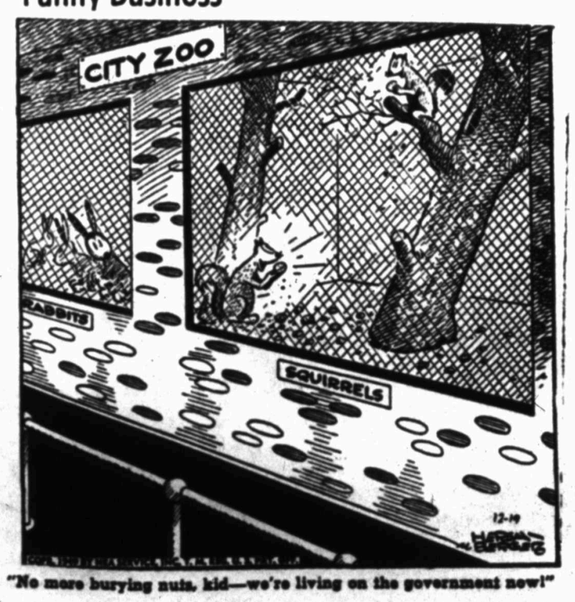

Before the Air Force began to bow out, it got Schafer to drop a snowcloud on an upstate farm—as a test. The drop was so successful that the farmer's cows had trouble keeping their horns above snow-level, and the gaffer threatened to sue everybody connected with the danged newfangled business.

Pin-pointing a barren reservoir or watershed, and hitting it on the noggin with a moist storm, is not a simple job. There will always be the necessity of getting the right cloud in the right position at a time when a plane packing dry ice is passing overhead.

But Schafer's system works without fail—and before the city's water begins to be rationed by strong-arm law, he should be con-

ON SINGING CAREER

White House Problem

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, — The continued appearance of Margaret Truman on the concert stage hasbec ome a matter of discussion and concern within the White House family as well as among the nation's leading musical circles and critics.

While it is understood that Mrs. Truman disapproves in a motherly way of her daughter's ambition for a professional career, it is the masculine boss of the family and the country who insists that she make the most of her singing opportunities.

Mrs. Truman's attitude is supposed to stem from her general dislike of the demands which Washington society makes upon her and her family. She has frequently indicated that she prefers her old friends in the small town of Independence, Mo., to the so-called smart, social set of the Capital.

TUCKER

She cannot forget the Truman's were neglected by the political and social cave-dwellers when he was only a senator.

CRITICS: Mrs. Truman's friends also say that she has been disappointed by the critics' frank reaction to Margaret's performance.

While they credit her with a sweet voice that may be susceptible to still greater improvement under the tuition of Helen Traubel of the Metropolitan, New York and Washington experts do not envisage her as a star—ever.

Were she not the daughter of the President of the United States, they express doubt whether she would have filled Constitution Hall's 5,000 seats here several weeks ago, rate an appearance in Carnegie Hall in New York or merit the nationwide tour she contemplates for next February.

Moreover, like any mother, Mrs. Truman does not want her only child spoiled by the flattery and adulation which the American public has always bestowed on any Chief Executive's daughter. It will be a cruel blow if, after her father leaves the White House, Margaret's drawing power and ability to obtain contracts should vanish overnight.

TRANSFORMATION: President Truman's tremendous confidence and pride in his and his daughter's musical talents offer a curious study in psychology. It is a frequent topic of humorous conversation among his old friends on and off Capitol Hill.

In a way, it parallels the psychological change that came over him when he became President after serving as a relatively unknown Senator from Missouri. The mild, humble Harry S. Truman now regards himself as a politician, statesman and prophet of world dimensions. It is a natural transformation, it should be noted.

TINKLER: Similarly, he thinks more highly of his piano-playing than ever before. Once he considered himself only a "tinkler of the ivories" for Capitol Hill quartets or for his own amusement at home.

After listening to stars of the stage and opera at a certain Jackson Day dinner, he commended them when he arose to speak, adding that he spoke "as a musician." On many other occasions he has given the impression that he ranks with the professionals.

TALENT: Naturally, he believes that Margaret inherited her talent from him, and his attitude to her ambition is that which would be expected of any proud father.

In the same way the late Franklin D. Roosevelt rejoiced when his wife and his daughter, Anna, despite no previous experience, blossomed out as magazine editors and authors after he became President. F.D.R. thought they got their literary aspirations and ability from him!

AMENDMENT: The proposed constitutional amendment limiting the presidency to two terms has struck a snag after first setting a record for rapid ratification by the states. An examination of files in the State Department, where the legislatures' action is recorded, shows that the limitation does not appear to appeal to the Democrats.

Twenty-three of the necessary thirty-six commonwealths have approved the proposal, meaning that there must be favorable action by more than thirteen additional before March of 1954. Most of the ratifying units have been states normally regarded as Republican before the Roosevelt landslides.

Those still holding out are chiefly commonwealths in the South, the Southwest, the border states and in the mountain area. Two Democratic strongholds in New England, Massachusetts and Rhode Island, have also failed to give their approval.

REWORDING: It was Congressional members from these areas who forced a rewording of the original proposed amendment so that it would not affect President Truman. Even if the two-term limitation becomes part of the Constitution before 1952, he may seek office again under its provisions.

The amendment does bar a third term to any man who has occupied the White House for two years as the result of the death of a President. But it provides that the prohibition shall not affect any man who had served part of a term at the time this proposal was passed by Congress—March of 1947—or who happens to be in office during the period of its ratification.

It is probable that the recalcitrant Democratic states will ratify if a Republican should succeed Mr. Truman three years hence.

The proof of economic systems is also in the eating—and we of the capitalistic United States are eating three square meals a day.

Permanent peace may be nearer than you think. An astronomer says the sun is likely to explode any minute and burn the earth to a crisp in two shakes of a sheep's tail.

If the operation were possible, to remove a considerable quantity of bone from the average person's head and place it in his back would be highly beneficial.

GERMAN BANKER VISITS U. S.

Old Nazi Order Again In Power

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Every so often the curtain is lifted and we get another glimpse of how the old Nazi order is being restored in Germany with our kind co-operation —as our war aims go glimmering.

We discover now, for example, thanks to Senator Gillette (D., Iowa), that Herman J. Abs, formerly a director of the Deutsche bank when it was one of Adolf Hitler's chief agents in exploiting occupied Europe, has been in this country for several weeks —since November 17 — conferring chiefly with New York bankers but also, incidentally, visiting the State department.

STOKES

Herr Abs long ago wormed his way back into the high councils of German finance and those of the victorious allies. He was permitted to go through the British lines two days after the fall of Berlin with seven billions of marks in cash to re-establish his business in Hamburg in the British zone, and afterward acted as economic and financial adviser to Sir Sholto Douglas, commander of the British zone.

Made Visit To U. S.

In explanation of this latest episode here, the State department, on inquiry from Senator Gillette, said that the department was not trying to keep his visit a secret, but did not want to enhance his prestige in Germany by drawing attention to his activities here. He came to this county, it was said, to confer with American bankers who hold about $30,000,000 of German credits and spent a day in Washington during which he called on officials in the German division of the State department to discuss "technical matters."

He came, it was explained, with Wilhelm Vocke and Hans Treue, officials of the Deutsche Leander bank, a trizonal bank of all the German states set up in April, 1948, by the United States, Great Britain and France, and as a private citizen, though he is not exactly that, being a director of the German Reconstruction loan company, an agency of the West German government. His visa expires December 25.

WHO is Herman J. Abs and what was his role in Hitler's conquest?

This was clearly spelled out in a special report in June, 1947, by General Lucius D. Clay, then American military governor in Germany, based on an exhaustive investigation by AMG experts. It said he was influential in operations of the Deutsche bank when it, along with the Dresdner bank "acted virtually as an economic branch of the Wehrmacht in exploiting the resources of the occupied countries.

"The desire to acquire certain institutions or corporations sometimes originated within the banks, sometimes within the Nazi government, but all acquisitions had one aim in common, namely, the economic and political domination of Europe by Germany. . . Both banks obtained a share in the spoils."

Seized Other Funds

Herr Abs was identified as the key figure in the Deutsche bank's seizure of French-Belgian properties in Czechoslovakia, Luxembourg, Yugoslavia and Rumania. Before the two banks spread out their operations to other countries, they plungered the Jews in Germany, which is told in a section of General Clay's report on "role of the banks in Aryanization of the German economy." It says:

"In this way the Dresdner and Deutsche banks acquired properties for their own account, financed acquisitions of Aryanized property for customers, selected and appraised property for future Aryanization and even searched for prospective customers interested in this type of transaction. This experience gained in Aryanization activity in Germany served the banks in good stead in their subsequent economic spoliation of occupied Europe."

HERR Abs turned up prominently after the war. When the new trizonal bank of the German states was organized its German board of directors elected him president and August Schniewind, a director of the Dresdner bank in the Nazi regime, as chairman of the board, but on condition that these two jointly would have a veto on the board. This scheme was spiked by general Clay.

Herman Abs turned up also on the list of German trustees on the control board for the Ruhr iron and steel industry, along with other ex-Nazis, who were picked by a German, Dr. Hermann Punder, president of the executive council of the bizonal economic administration. But this was too much for trade union leaders to take and they protested so vigorously that Herr Abs and some of the others were dropped.

Now he turns up in the councils of the mighty in Washington and New York.

Who won the war?

CAN REDUCE HOLIDAY'S DANGERS

Suggestions On Fire-Proofing Of Christmas Trees Are Given

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18. — A family Christmas that begins in high glee can end in the depths of sorrow.

Your Department of Agriculture, which likes to see things live, has some advice on protecting the life and limb of us humans during this yuletide. Particularly when it comes to Christmas trees.

The United States forest service, under agriculture, has done a lot of research in its laboratory at Madison, Wis., and has come up with some pretty sensible rules.

The main thing to remember is to first give your spruce or balsam fir a good bath of pump or "branch" water. It keeps it from getting dry and therefore flame-happy. Also, the water, which is plentiful now about every place except New York City, keeps the needles from getting tired and dropping on the rug.

The department has issued a little pamphlet called "Technical Note Number 250."

It lists the following rules:

First, get a tree that has been cut recently.

Cut off the end of the trunk diagonally at least an inch above the original cut end. Stand the tree in a container of water and keep the water level above the cut surface all of the time the tree is in the house. If you're not ready to decorate the tree immediately, let it stand in water in some cool place.

"Freshly cut spruce or balsams," the department says, "standing in water cannot be set afire by candle or match fires, but, of course, cannot stand too much heat."

There are several types of fire-retardant coating which either prevent or greatly retard flames spread. These can be applied to Christmas trees.

The department suggests three formulas:

First of these produces a shiny transparent colorless coating. You use a water tumbler full of sodium silicate, plus water, containing some wetting agent like Dreft, Vel, or Breeze (about one teaspoon per quart.) The ratio on the above: nine parts of sodium silicate to one of water, by volume.

The second formula, recommended by the department, produces a cream-colored coating and may be tinted with suitable dyes.

Gives Frosty Effect

You use a water glass full of sodium silicate, some China clay some more of the wetting agent in water—a teaspoon per quart, and this time the portions are by weight — 31 sodium silicate, 41 china clay, 28 water.

If you want the frosty effect, the ingredients are sodium aliginate, monoammonium phosphate, China clay and water—portions by weight: one, 25, four, and 70.

The department says that formula number three is the most popular and can be prepared like this:

Heat the required amount of water to about 180 degrees fahrenheit and then add the sodium alginate and stir until you get a uniform gel. Then add the monoammonium phosphate, heating gently and stirring once in awhile until the chemical is dissolved. Finally, you add the China clay and stir until it is uniformly distributed throughout the gel.

In applying any of the formulas, a heavy coat is necessary. Two coats maybe. You can either dip or spray. I dipped last year and it was messy. I sprayed the year before and it was even messier. I probably did it all wrong.

If you're too busy you can get an artificial tree and put it under the floor lamp for lighting effect will come when man takes charge of his skies and the great fleecy ships that sail them. He will find that trusteeship rewarding.

On The Line

We are fresh back from the Phoenix area where the chief topic of conversation is Arizona's fight for Colorado river water. Arizona needs more of it right now, to continue and increase the state economy. Yet California (Arizona insists) is wasting this river water in parts of the Imperial valley, or wants to store it now against expected population needs 75 years from now.

Probably more than enough water floats over Arizona daily—in the form of transient clouds than the state could use in months. It moves on over other states, or the Pacific, and in due course falls. Much of it could be made to fall where most needed, by using the Schaefer system.

Older Races Disappear

Civilizations existed in Arizona 500 years before the birth of Columbus, but were cast out by a pitilessly parched nature. Theoretically, this could happen again unless we provide alternate means of providing for the life of man and his lands—with water.

Congress in the course of sending billions abroad during the past session, miserably rejected a bill which would have appropriated $500,000—peanuts in these days—for a complete study of methods of pumping purified sea water to regions that depend on irrigation as dramatically as a dialysulted.

It seems inevitable that the day betic depends on insulin. There is little doubt that the nation which harnesses the ocean will be foremost among ations of the world.

But, getting back to Schaefer and his easy, sure-fire method of rain-making, his discovery has boundless potentialities that should interest great cities.

ON December 26, 1947, for instance, New York City was knocked to its corporate knees by a tremendous snowfall. The very removal of it cost the city $8,000,000, and the loss of trade and man hours must have run into the billions.

That storm formed in the Atlantic due east of the city and was detected by long-range air force weather patrols. Those billions of tons of snow could have been intercepted and dropped harmlessly into the Atlantic by a single plane, sprinkling a few dollars worth of dry ice.

Or, to put it another way, such storms can be followed and disintegrated over regions in desperate need of the fantastic treasures of water the clouds envelop—and dumped where most critically needed.

We've got the champion rainmaker of history right in our backyard, and the city fathers have been too busy telling us to let our beards grow, and to drink our whisky without a chaser, to knock on his door.

PARIS, Dec. 18. (AP) — France today announced the end of retail price ceilings on pork, mutton—and horsemeat.

Choice cuts of beef and veal were also placed on free sale, but the fixed prices of cheaper grades were cut. France has no meat rationing.

Tech Christmas Concert Slated Tonight

Varied Program To Be Presented

A packed auditorium of listeners is expected in the Lubbock High school building tonight for the annual Christmas concert of the Texas Tech department of music. Admission is free to the program, slated to begin at 8:15 p.m.

All four of the department's musical organizations will be included in the concert, marking the beginning of a campaign to bring recognition to Tech music as an entity rather than to each group individually.

Christmas carols, intermingled with spirituals and folk songs, will be included on the hour and a half program. Highlight will be the final number, an original arrangement by Pete Wiley, entitled "Christmas Fantasy," according to Dr. Gene Hemmle, head of the music department. The arranger is the son of Prof. D. O. Wiley, director of the Tech concert band, which will play the tune.

Besides the concert band, the Tech Men's Glee club, under direction of Richard Richards, and the Tech Choir and Campusaires, both directed by Dr. Hemmle, will will appear on the high school stage.

Dr. Hemmle will be making his debut as head of the department and as director of the two new musical organizations. Both the concert band and Glee club have established their names throughout the Southwest, while the other two groups have shown great promise in practice session tshis fall.

The Glee club will lead off the program, singing three spirituals, followed by the Tech Choir and three numbers. The Campusaires, an all-girl organization, will render two folk songs and a spiritual next, followed by the choir again with five Christmas tunes. Following intermission, the concert band will play five numbers, ranging from the "popular" classic to Wiley's fantasy.

Solon Sets Steel Price Hike Probe

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18. (AP)—A congressional investigation of the steel price increase put into effect by the United States Steel corporation will get started early next month, Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) said today.

The Wyoming lawmaker heads the Senate-House Economic committee, which will conduct the inquiry.

"We already have our staff at work on preparations and we will be ready to begin hearings sometime early in January," O'Mahoney told a reporter.

The steel price boost announced by the corporation last week averages $4 a ton. Benjamin Fairless, president of U. S. Steel, said the increase was necessary because of increased operation costs, including those he said would result from the giant firm's new insurance and worker pension programs.

O'Mahoney promptly got out letters to his committee saying the group ought to look into the matter. He called the price hike unjustified on the basis of the corporation's profits, and he said it threatened to touch off another wave of inflation.

The senator said today the other committee members are in general agreement with him that there should be an investigation.

Fairless has said U. S. Steel would welcome an opportunity to present facts and figures to the committee. He added that the data would establish that increased costs gave the corporation no alternative other than to boost prices.

The CO steelworkers union last month got a strike-ending contract which provided for $100 monthly pensions, including social security, and for a five-cent an hour social welfare plan financed jointly by employer and employe. Philip Murray, the union president, said at the time that the provisions justified no steel price increase.

Murray has not commented on the corporation's price action, but there has been talk he will seek a wage increase.

"I don't know anything about that," said O'Mahoney. "But I do know the economy of the country just can't stand a continuous wave of inflation. I feel that the management leaders in the steel industry, which is in an unusually favorable financial position, are the ones who ought to take the lead in preventing a resumption of inflation."

AIDING NEEDY FAMILY — Members of Cub Scout Pack 28 of Lubbock will provide Christmas to a needy family of Lubbock. They purchased the tree shown above and decorated it with ornaments and trimmings they themselves made. Each Cub in the pack donated food. Williams, will present the same family with a turkey and cash donated by parents and den mothers of the pack. Toys for the five children in the family also will be delivered at that time. UN Jerusalem Plans Rapped

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 18. (AP) —An Israeli statesman declared today that the United Nations' plan to internationalize Jerusalem is "foredoomed to futility."

"Jerusalem," said Eliahu Elath, Israeli ambassador to the United States, "is an integral part of Israel and cannot be severed, neutralized, or separated in any way from the state."

UN Rule Ordered

Despite warnings from both Israel and Jordan that the plan would not work, the UN General Assembly last Friday voted to internationalize the Holy City and place it under UN rule. Once before — in November, 1947— the UN decreed international rule for Jerusalem. Then, as now, it lacked the power to carry out the plan and the city was occupied both by Israeli and Arab troops during the recent war in Palestine.

Last Tuesday Israel proclaimed Jerusalem its capital. But most of the city still is in Arab hands and King Abdullah only yesterday said it "will remain so."

Rights To Be Respected

Elath, in a speech prepared for delivery at a dinner of the Jewish National fund here, noted his government has declared its determination to respect the rights of every faith and religion in Israel." But, he added, his government is equally determined to protect the soverign rights of Israel in its historic and eternal capital.'

"We will defend Jerusalem with the same vigor and, if necessary, self-sacrifice as we defended Haifa, Safed, and Negxa," he said.

"Let me say with the utmost clarity that if the present talks in the Arab capitals of a 'second round' against Israel are put into operation, our glorious army will know how to again meet the enemy on land and sea and in the air."

Russians Reported Building Three New Heavy Battleships

LONDON, Monday, Dec. 19 (AP)—Jane's Fighting Ships reported today Russia is building three 35,000-ton battleships equipped to fire radio-controlled aerial torpedoes.

It said the Soviet navy also is speeding construction on a fleet of 1,000 submarines, including a type with a great range and a very high submerged speed.

The unofficial but authoritative publication, in its new 1949-50 editimn, said a "hitherto reliable source" advised that two of the battleships may already be in commission.

Up to now Russia's only known battlewagons were the 23,622-ton Giulio Casare, obtained from Italy under the peace treaty, and the 23,606-ton Sevastopol and Oktyabrskaya Revolutsia.

Jane's said Russia is believed to have about 360 submarines already and that more than 100 new ones were planned for 1948-49 delivery.

"The construction of submarines is of special priority," it said.

"Under the current naval construction program, within the new five year plan, it was hoped to have 1,000 submarines completed for service by 1950-51, of which 400 were to be in the Far East, 300 in the Baltic, and the remainder in the White and Black seas.

"But it is extremely doubtful whether the Russians have the shipyard capacity and the trained technicians necessary to build an underwater fleet of this size in such a short time."

750 Subs Is Goal

Jane's added that later information indicates the Soviet navy now hopes to have 750 subs in service at the end of 1951. It said some of these are being prefabricated at Baltic yards and shipped to Asiatic ports for assembling.

The publication said the "hitherto reliable source" who reported on the battleships identified them as the Sovietski Soyuz, the Sovietskaia Belorussia and the Strana Sovietov.

It said previous reports were that the Sovietski Soyuz, laid down in Leningrad in 1939, was so badly damaged in the war that little progress had been made toward its completion.

Jane's said it passed along "with reserve," because of conflicting information, the informant's report that this ship is still in the yards but that the two others of the same class "are believed to be in commission."

It said all three are 829½ feet long with a beam of 131¼ feet and a draft of 32¾ feet.

HIGH QUALITY CROP CITED

New Records Believed Set By Gaines County Peanut Harvest

SEMINOLE, Dec. 18. (Spl.).—Gaines county farmers are completing one of the most successful peanut harvests in the history of the county, a check of the county been set, Mrs. Lee Ancell, PMA revealed today.

Peanuts produced in the area have long been classed highly, both from a standpoint of production quantity and quality and it is believed that some standing records were broken in 1949.

The alloted acreage for the county was set at about 3,000 acres. But peanuts were harvested from less than 2,000 acres, the PMA office figures show.

J. L. Berryhill, who farms six miles southwest of Seminole, reported what is probably the highest per acre yield for the county, County Agent L. H. McElroy said. He harvested between 1,200 and 1,300 pounds of high quality nuts per acre, McElroy said.

Eddie Jameson reported a yield of between 700 and 800 pounds per acre. L. D. Crapps, who has the largest acreage in the county, has not completed his havest but his yield is expected to be good.

Excellent Condition Claimed

A major portion of Gaines county's peanuts were marketed at Portales, N.M., and Abilene. Their shelling condition and moisture content was reported to be excellent.

The allotment for 1950 has not agent's office and the local PMA officer, said. A cut in acreage is expected, she indicated.

A support price of $204. per ton for sound kernel peanuts was in effect this year. Gaines county nuts averaged a sound kernel percentage of about 75 percent.

Hearings Slated On Felony Cases

Several of 14 felony cases on the courts calendar this week are expected to produce guilty pleas when brought to trial today, according to E. G. Pharr, assistant district attorney.

A motion by counsel for defendants in three rape cases to consolidate the three cases for trial has been filed with Judge G. V. Pardue in 99th District court.

The three, charged with rape of a Lubbock woman on Aug. 28, are Luciano Golzales, and Fred Navarette, both 20, and Nasario Flores, 24, all of Lubbock.

No special venire was asked in the case by their defense counsel, Roy Carpenter and Byron Chappell, indicating that the death penalty will not be asked.

A petit jury panel will report to the court at 10 a.m., today, although witnesses in various cases will not be required to appear until 1:30 p. m., because of a civil action continued from Saturday's court.

Waco Senator To Enter State Race For Lieutenant Governor

AUSTIN, Dec. 18. (AP)—Senator Kyle Vick will definitely be a candidate for lieutenant governor.

The Waco senator reiterated that today after an Associated Press story inadvertently omitted his name from a list of prospective candidates for the lieutenant governorship in 1950.

Vick was president pro tem of the Senate during the regular session of the 51st Legislature and as such has served as acting governor of Texas Vick's service in the Senate dates from the 47th Legislature.

Vick said today that while he considered himself a candidate, he would not make formal announcement until after the close of the special session early in Jan.

Charity Gift Sets Off Repercussions

PRAGUE, Dec. 18 (AP)—Another charity gift by Eva Duarte Peron, wife of the Argentine president, set off repercussions today.

Lidove Noviny, organ of the Communist-dominated Czechoslovak writers' union, said she "must have made a mistake in destination" when she decided to send Christmas parcels to 50 working families in the country. The paper said perhaps she intended to send them to Franco Spain, where they are needed.

In January this year officials of the Childrens Aid society of Washington, D. C., were surprised when a social assistance foundation which Mrs. Peron heads sent clothing for 600 needy American children. A director of the society resigned, and a number of regular contributors balked. State department officials were afraid Soviet propagandists would say the United States was unable to care for its own needy. But the gift finally was accepted with thanks. It developed it was the result of the solicitation of an Argentine embassy attache for a small gift.

Lidove Noviny said maybe her new gift should have been addressed to Franco Spain because Mrs. Peron on her recent visit there was very much impressed with general conditions and living standards in Spain. There many workers and unemployed are still living in "indescribable misery with no hope of finding employment as long as a Fascist rules the country."

Here's a choice little Ozark Farm Tract, just a few miles north of the Arkansas State Line. Located 5 miles from Gainesville, Missouri, the County Seat. Less than 2 miles of one arm of the vast lake to be formed back of the Bull Shoals Dam. High elevation. A dandy place for a fruit and chicken farm or a small dairy farm, in an area that will most certainly be highly developed as a result of the forming of the vast Blue-Water Lake back of Bull Shoals Dam. Total price of the 40 acres is only $740 and may be purchased on terms of $50 down and $25 per month. Address owner P.O. Box 18, Gregory, Texas.

U. S. FEARS REPERCUSSIONS

International Debate Rages Over Rearming West Germany

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18. (AP) — The international debate over rearming western Germany—which persists in spite of official American denial—is causing deep concern among officials in the State department.

They regarded it as the kind of argument which menaces the unity of the western Allies, could jeopardize the success of western aims in building a new Germany, and makes grist for the Communist propaganda mills.

Responsible department officials say those who advocate—or fear—the creation of a western German army overlook two cardinal points of American policy.

Allies Are Responsible

One is that there is no question of western Germany having to defend itself because the United states, Britain and France have the responsibilty for defending it as long as they occupy it.

The other is that there is no early prospect of a change in this responsibility because the United States, along with the other powers, intends to continue the occupation until the peace of Europe is secure.

A third and basic point, of course, is that the western powers are committed to prevent the re-emergence of Germany as a militarized nation.

What, then, is behind all the talk

The best information here is that the issue was raised originally in the secret councils of military leaders planning the defense of western Europe under the Atlantic pact.

Manpower Problem Arises

These men were—and are—potentially confronted with the problem of raising armies adequate to stand off Russia's huge ground forces. They looked at the problem in terms of manpower. In Germany they found possibly 5,000,000 men of fighting age.

Some of them, from a strictly military viewpoint, decided that the creation of a German armed force might well be a contribution to the total defense of the west. In military circles the idea gained considerable currency.

A comparable split between military and political thinking exists over fitting Spain into the Atlantic defense setup.

American diplomatic leaders would like to have better relations with Spain, but feel that Generalissimo Franco should do something to merit an improvement in the way of reforms.

FOX NOT SO FOXY—This fox apparently hanged himself in reverse. Uncle Remus once said, "ole brer fox done climb a tree and hung hisself with his tail." Folks around Winters, wonder if that happened to this fox. Homer Bailey found the fox hanging by his tail from a mesquite tree on his farm. The fox's tail was twisted and knotted in the fork of the tree. (AP Photo.)

Chennault Takes Over As Boss Of Two More Airlines In China

HONG KONG, Dec. 18. (AP) — Claire Chennault announced tonight he had taken over the properties of the China National Aviation and Central Air Transport corporations and asked the Hong Kong government to protect them as American-owned.

The managers and many employes of the two airlines deserted to the Chinese Communists Nov. 9 in a severe blow to the hard-pressed Nationalists.

Chennault, retired U. S. major general who operates the Civil Air Transport line in what remains of Nationalist China, said he had bought the CNAG and CATC on authorization of the Nationalist government and the companies' directors.

"Our record as operators of the Civil Air transport has been consistently to combat the spread of communism in China," his statement said.

"We now as private American citizens have undertaken the responsibility of taking over control of the assets of the two scheduled airlines of China and doing our utmost to utilize these assets for the best interests of the free people of China."

Union Accuses Firm Of Strike Breaking

CARLSBAD, Dec. 18. (INS) — Possibility that non-strikers may try to return to work tomorrow at three strike-bound Carlsbad potash companies, today brought heated accusations from officals of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter workers.

Company officials announced late yesterday they intended to encourage their 1,200 non-striking employes to return to work.

The potash workers, who walked out in a demand for higher wages and improved working conditions, immediately requested members of the other two unions "to refuse to have any part in strike breaking."

The potash workers' union, Local 415, is an affiliate of the IUMMSW. The other two unions are the International Association of machinists and the International Brotherhood of Electrical workers.

C. D. Smotherman, president of the local potash union, said:

"Our men are willing to stay on the picket lines until the companies are convinced we mean business."

Refus G. Poole, attorney for the firms, said that any employe who wanted to work was [illegible] do so, even in a strike-bound plant under provisions of the Taft-Hartley law.

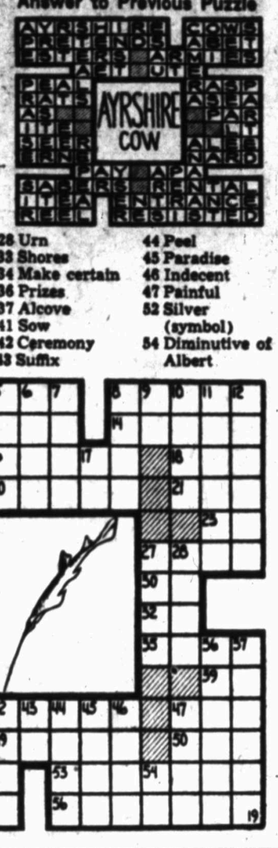

Orville Larson, western vice president of IUMMSW, said the company announcement sounded like an "open invitation to scab." He accused P. S. Dunn, president of the Potash Company of America, and Vice President E. O. Davis, of "apparently breaking faith with representatives of the U. S. government to whom they earlier had given their word not to attempt to encourage non-strikers to enter their properties."

Forty-Four Per Cent Of U. S. Adults Now Smoke, Survey Shows

By GEORGE GALLUP Director
American Institute Of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Dec. 18.— Forty-four out of every 100 U. S. adult smoke cigarets and they average a little under one pack a day, judging by the results of a nationwide "census" of cigaret smoking conducted by the American Institute of Public Opinion.

More than half of all male adults questioned in the survey are cigaret smokers, but only one-third of the women are.

Moral reformers would probably deplore and cigaret manufacturers rejoice over the fact that cigaret smoking among the young is twice as great as among the elderly.

More than half of all men and women aged 21 to 30 years light up cigarets, whereas only a little more than one-fourth of people 50 and over are addicted.

A properly balanced cross-section of adults throughout the country was asked this question in the survey.

"Do you happen to smoke cigarets now?"

Here are the results for the nation and by age and sex:

	Smoke Cigarets	Do Not Smoke Cigarets
National	44%	56%
Men	44	46
Women	33	67
21-29 years	51	49
30-49 years	52	48
50 and over	28	72

Each cigaret smoker was asked how many he smokes per day. The average of all the replies was 17 cigarets, or three less than the regular pack of 20.

Today's survey results are a confirmation of a recent estimate by the Department of Agriculture, which reported consumption during 1949 at a record of 358 billion cigarets.

Cigarets Harmful?

Cigaret advertising today does not attempt to convince consumers that cigarets are beneficial; most of the advertising seeks to show that one brand is less harmful than another. This approach undoubtedly stems from a universal popular belief, shown in today's survey, that cigarets are in some degree harmful.

All persons, whether smokers or not, were asked:

"Do you think cigaret smoking is harmful, or not?

Those who do not smoke are overwhelmingly of the opinion that cigarets are harmful. Even among those who do smoke cigarets, the majority feel that there is some harm in the habit. Obviously, however, enjoyment of the habit outweighs fear of harm.

Here is the vote:

	Cigaret Smokers	Non-Cigaret Smokers
Harmful	52%	66%
Not harmful	45	24
No opinion	3	10

Half Swear Off

Approximately half of the cigaret smokers confess that, at one time or another, they have tried to give up the habit.

"Have you ever tried to give up smoking cigarets?"

The 44 per cent who smoke cigarets voted as follows:

Have tried to give up	23%
Have not	21
	44%

Marlin Boy Enjoys Early Yule Party Before Losing Sight

MARLIN, Dec. 18. (AP) — Darkness closed in completely today on Odis Havis. Just when there is so much to see.

Through Yule-decorated streets the three-year-old boy was taken to a local hospital Saturday morning. There skillful surgeons' hands removed his left eye.

His right eye had been removed about a year ago, because of cancer. Since then the malignant disease had made its way to his left eye gradually, but inexorably.

Specialist Confirms Verdict

A few days ago, the brown-haired tot, son of Mr. and Mrs. Normer Havis of Marlin, was taken to Dallas. Specialists in that medical center confirmed the diagnosis of local doctors—the left eye must be removed if the cancerous growth was to be kept from the brain.

Though the sights of Christmas Day and New Year's are closed to Odis, he has the memory of Dec. 9 to help him.

It was on that day that the people of Marlin went all out to give him a big Christmas party.

Tree Seen Last Time

Odis looked hard through the dimming left eye that day and saw a large, colorful Christmas tree. He saw Santa Claus, too, and lots of presents.

The presents have been arriving every day and from almost everywhere. A highly developed sense of touch helps Odis appraise them—his little fingers skip happily over the surfaces of toy trains and cowboy boots.

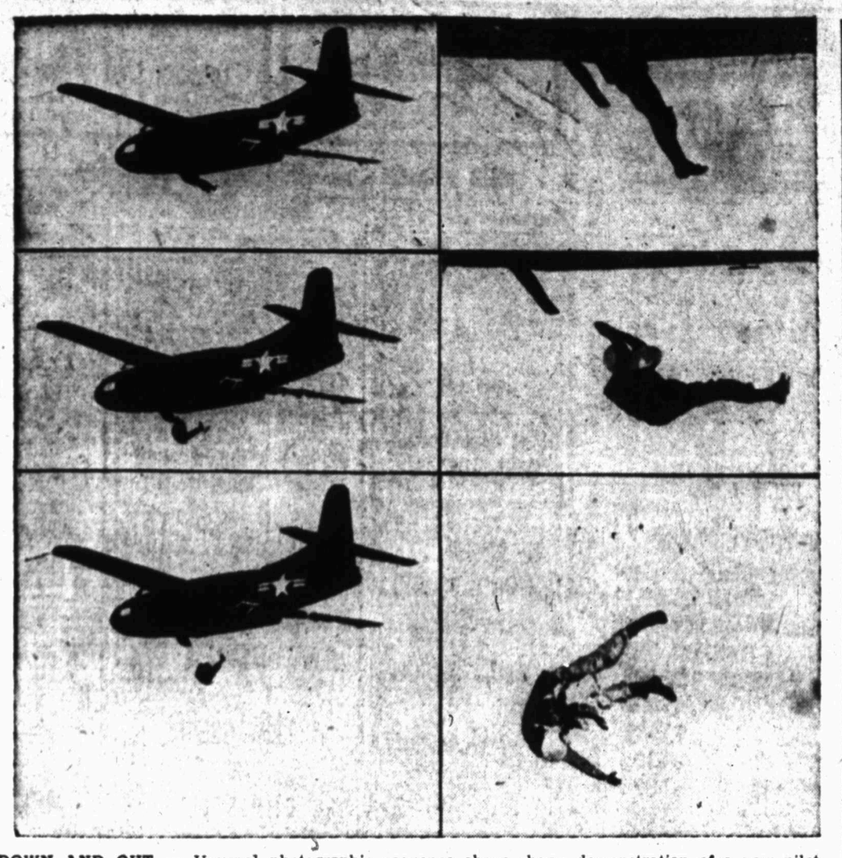

Odis' father is a Purple Heart veteran of World War II. He is an auto mechanic.

The little blind boy has three brothers—Tommy, 8; Vernon, 6; and Normer, 14 months.

Brownfield Lions Club To Hold Christmas Party Today

BROWNFIELD, Dec. 18 (Special) —The annual Christmas party of the Brownfield Lions club will be held here at 7:30 p. m., Monday, in the Esquire restaurant, club officials have announced.

The occasion will mark the twentieth anniversary of the club. Twenty-year Monarch chevrons will be presented to Rex Headstream and George W. Neill. Ten-year Monarch chevrons will go to H. B. Virgil Crawford, R. N. McClain, and Frank Jordan.

DOWN AND OUT — Unusual photographic sequence above shows demonstration of a new pilot ejection seat being tested on Navy F3D "Skyknight" jet fighters at El Centro, Calif. Conventional ejection device catapults the pilot straight up from his seat. In the F3D the pilot slides down a chute in the cockpit floor and drops out from the belly of the plane. Pictures, starting at upper left and going down, show pilot's course until he is completely free of the ship and is ready to pull ripcord of his parachute. Pictures at left were taken from another plane in the formation. Those at right were taken with the aid of a mirror on wingtip of the F3D. Successful "bailouts" of this type have been made at speeds up to 450 miles an hour.

Laredo Sheriff Says Slaying Suspect Was Seen In Mexico City

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD
Associated Press Staff Writer

LAREDO, Dec. 18.— Sheriff J. C. Martin said Saturday that Geo. Ochoa, charged with murdering two men in Laredo, recently played in a golf tournament at Torreon, Mexico and has been seen in Mexico City.

The sheriff added, heatedly:

"This case is dragging on and Mexico is not co-operating at all in arresting Ochoa and extraditing him. They have a request from our State department for his extradition but nothing is being done."

Two Men Shot Dead

Ochoa, a suave, handsome, Laredo business man, disappeared across the border into Mexico July 31 after two men were shot to death in a Laredo hotel.

"It is an absolute fact," said the sheriff in an interview, "that Ochoa was at Torreon for the golf tournament. He was seen there by a party of reputable Laredo men who went down there. And other reputable Laredo people have actually seen him on the streets of Mexico City.

"Ochoa's immigration papers have expired. Every two or three weeks the Mexicans promise us to deport him, but time keeps running on and nothing is done. It looks like they don't want to send him back.

"In the meantime, Texas people are blaming the police and sheriff's department at Laredo for not arresting Ochoa. Well, it isn't in our hands. We haven't a thing to do with it now. The case is in the proper channels—the State department has properly asked that Ochoa be extradited."

(In Mexico City, the Mexican attorney general's office said there has been no request for extradition of Ochoa.

(The U. S. embassy explained that requests for extradition go from a state governor to the State department and tha examination of evidence and various formalities often take considerable time.

(Mexican police said they had no official knowledge of the case. They could not arrest Ochoa until extradition papers reach Mexico and the attorney general approves action.)

Ochoa, 38, is accused of murdering Henry D. Whittenburg, 31, South Texas ginner, and Cpl. James Lindsal, 30, of Fort Worth and Oneida, Tenn.

Whittenburg lived here. Lindsay was visiting in town. Both men were slain with the same pistol on separate floors.

Ochoa knew Lindsay but it has not been established that he ever met Whittenburg. The slain men were acquainted and both knew Mrs. Rosa Maria Ochoa, Ochoa's wife, district Attorney E. James Kazen said.

The motive? "I think there was a motive of jealousy," Police Chief David O. Gallagher said.

Kazen refused to comment on the case.

"I have one pretty good rumor," said Martin today, "but I haven't been able to verify it. I heard Ochoa was in Nuevo Laredo, right across the border, just the other night."

Ochoa was an importer. Born in Laredo, he inherited the prosperous customs brokerage business established by his father. He was a flashy dresser, drove fine automobiles. He was a marvelous swimmer and diver, a crack shot, an expert boxer and a very good golfer. He hunted from Mexico through northern Canada and he had the finest arsenal of pistols and guns in town.

He was quite a fellow in this border town, a polished gentleman when sober and an accomplished barroom fighter when drunk. He was a gay caballero, blue-eyed and smiling, a favorite with men and a devil with the ladies. He was well-educated, clever and witty and he had a strutting pride in his powerful physique. He had a private gymnasium in his Laredo home and he worked out daily.

Four hours after the two slayings, Ochoa began a golf game at the Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, country club, across the river from here, with five of his friends. He played all day, was in fine form and won all the money.

Ochoa drank beer at the country club bar in the early evening, visited a couple of Nuevo Laredo night spots and disappeared.

Mormon Missionaries Expelled From Czechoslovakia By Reds

PRAGUE, Dec. 18. (AP) — The Communist government has ordered the expulsion of 12 missionaries of the American Mormon church within six months, Wallace Toronto, president of the Mormon mission, said tonight.

Toronto said the reason given by the government for expelling the twelfth man was the same as that given the others — that missionaries represented "a threat to the peace and security of the state." He said the church has about 250 converts in Czechoslovakia.

Toronto said his church denied these charges and he believed the expulsions were "part of a general ousting of foreigners." He said still another Mormon missionary had appealed an expulsion order but that "an adverse answer was expected."

The ouster orders, Toronto said, appeared to come from district national committees and not through the new national ministry for church affairs. He said 18 missionaries remain in the country.

Hundreds Attend Dedication Of New Brownfield Church

BROWNFIELD, Dec. 18. (Spl.) —A crowd of 200 persons overflowed the capacity of the new First Presbyterian church building here Sunday to hear a dedicatory sermon delivered by the Rev. J. Hoyt Boles, executive secretary of the Texas Presbyterian Synod.

Hundreds of persons later viewed the new structure during an open house late this afternoon, the pastor, Rev. J. Preston Murphy, said. The new building is located at East Broadway and D street.

The dedication program began at 11 a.m. following regular Sunday school services. The opening preludes by Mrs. Frank Wharton, organist, were followed by the processional hymn and the pastor's call to worship. Soloist was Mrs. John F. Luckie, rendering a Christmas selection.

Rev. Boles' sermon was entitled "We Dedicate This Temple." The pastor pronounced the benediction after the invitation to Christ and His Church had been given.

The open house this afternoon followed a special musical program at 3 p.m., under the direction of Richard Young. The Brownfield Men's Community Glee club sang several numbers and soloists included Ann Snedeker, Melvin Alexander and Jack Shirley.
