KATY WILL BUILD LINE FROM ALTUS TO OKLAHOMA CITY

The Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railroad company will lay a line from Altus to Oklahoma City within the near future according to information given out Thursday by Superintendent F. W. Grace of the Wichita Falls and Northwestern.

It is not known whether the Wichita Falls and Northwestern will have the control of this line or whether it will be operated out of Oklahoma City.

COMMISSION WILL HAVE DISTRIBUTION OF SUPPLY OF COAL

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Distribution of coal during the strike emergency through a special commission was understood today to be the administration's plan to make certain the fuel necessary to continue railroad operation.

The matter was discussed at today's cabinet meeting and later it was understood that Secretary Hoover, acting for the president, had undertaken the formation of the commission. Formal announcement of the plan was expected before night.

Tentative plans for the emergency coal distribution organization were understood to provide for a central committee of five consisting of one representative from the commerce department, one from the interstate commerce commission, one from the American railway association and two coal operators.

TO DIVERT COAL SUPPLY TO TRANSPORTATION LINES

WASHINGTON, July 21.—As a first step toward conserving for most essential use the country's coal supply, now declining more sharply under the effect of a car shortage, the I. C. C. and the commerce department today were drawing up a scheme for diverting coal to transportation lines. By the use of priority orders, effective probably within a day or two, coal from non-union mines and those that may be operated in Union territory will be diverted.

The priority plan next contemplates, it was indicated, a supply for the northern Great Lakes ports and in event of an absolute shortage developing later on the plan may be expanded into a rationing system. In the view of Attorney General Daugherty to a point to make certain a coal shortage next winter.

Replying to a message yesterday from Governor Sproul of Pennsylvania in which he pledged cooperation in the administration's program to invite a resumption of coal production but expressed the hope that if this failed a federal commission would be appointed, President Harding declared that the appointment of a coal commission would be "made in due time."

By Associated Press.

PARIS, July 21.—Former Governor James M. Cox of Ohio will be the guest of Premier and Mme. Poincare at a dinner at the ministry of foreign affairs tomorrow evening at which a number of the higher French officials also will be present.

Mr. Cox, who was quoted today in a number of the French morning newspapers on the league of nations and other subjects, told the correspondent that the only statement on the league which he had made was to the effect that while governments came and went the league was a steady, lasting force and therefore the hope of the world.

He added he was purposely refraining from observations regarding the league and European affairs generally but that on completion of his European tour late in August in London he probably would make a detailed statement giving his view of the league situation.

BRITISH STEAMER IN COLLISION WITH UNKNOWN VESSEL

By Associated Press.

PLYMOUTH, ENG., July 21.—The British steamer Remura, bound for New Zealand via the Panama canal with 544 passengers including William E. (Pussyfoot) Johnson collided last evening during a fog with an unidentified vessel near The Lizard.

An SOS call was sent out but later the Remura announced she was returning to Portland. Her life boats had been out all night vainly searching for traces of the other vessel.

Tugs which picked up the Remura 50 miles from Portland found her damaged in three of her holds. Her pumps controlled the water, however, and the liner returned to Portland under her own steam.

The liner, a 11,000 ton vessel, could not make a pier at Portland, however, and she was beached on the mud flats at Portland.

The passengers were all landed.

FORT WORTH, July 21.—Expressing the hope that nothing can occur to make the miners violate a contract solemnly entered, W. H. John, secretary-treasurer of the Bridgeport Coal company, Bridgeport, today stated that the strike order issued yesterday by John Wilkinson, president of district 21, United Mine Workers of America, has not been received by any of the 200 men employed by his company.

All are now at work, John stated that so far there has been no intimation that they will be called out. Referring to a dispatch from Muskogee, he pointed out that it referred expressly to miners at work on hospital and public utility contracts. In case the order is intended to apply strictly to men so employed it will not affect the Bridgeport mines, he said.

The citation said that Major Rowan, then a lieutenant, entered the Spanish lines at Oriente, Cuba, in disguise, crossed the island, "and not only succeeded in delivering a message to General Garcia, but secured secret information * * * of such great value that it had an important bearing on the quick ending of the struggle and the complete success of the United States army."

HELD IN HAMMER KILLING

Mrs. Clara McGuire, whom police declare to be Mrs. Clara Phillips, after her arrest in Tuscon, Ariz., on charges of having beaten to death with a hammer Mrs. Alberta Meadows, 20-year-old widow, near Los Angeles, Cal. Information given by Mrs. Phillips' husband, an oil operator of Houston, Texas, led to the arrest. The picture below is declared by the suspect to be that of her husband.

LOS ANGELES, CAL., July 21.—Mrs. Clara Phillips, whose trial for the murder of Mrs. Alberta Meadows has been set for September 18, is believed to have purchased an automatic pistol two days before the young widow was beaten to death with a hammer, according to a story the Los Angeles Times published today.

A statement from the sheriff's office declared the purchase of the pistol such a short time before the slaying of Mrs. Meadows, "was considered additional evidence of premeditation" on the part of Mrs. Phillips.

The purchaser signed her name as "Mrs. A. L. Phillips." The initials are the same as those of the husband of the defendant.

Mrs. Phillips' husband was quoted by sheriff deputies as having told them that his wife, who was born in Texas, was an expert shot and "could cut an apple in two with a six shooter at several hundred feet."

GOV. NEFF MAKES INVESTIGATION OF DENISON SITUATION

DENISON, TEXAS, July 21.—Governor Neff completed his investigation of the Denison strike situation this morning with a conference with a committee of strikers. He left for Waco at noon on the Texas Special. He probably will stop over in Dallas, he said. The governor had nothing to say regarding his survey here, merely remarking that the visit had been "successful and profitable."

DENISON, TEXAS, July 21.—Governor Pat M. Neff made a personal investigation into local railroad strike conditions here today. He had engagements for conferences with United States District Attorney Randolph Bryant, other federal officials and with city, county and state officials.

Arriving at 7 o'clock last night, the executive conferred immediately with Ranger Captain Tom Hickman, Mayor W. F. Weaver and Sheriff Boyd Craig. After meeting these officials, the governor said his investigation would be complete but declined to make a statement as to his probable action in connection with the request of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad that state troops be sent here to protect the company's workers and property.

Governor Neff expects to leave this afternoon for Waco, where he will cast his ballot in tomorrow's democratic statewide primary.

Strike conditions here continued quiet.

Unfavorable Ice Conditions Delay Capt. Amundsen

By Associated Press.

SEATTLE, WASH., July 21.—Unfavorable ice conditions in the Bering sea have delayed the arrival of Captain Roald Amundsen's exploration ship Maud at Point Barrow, Alaska, and delayed the start of his projected airplane flight across the north pole to spitzbergen or Grant's Land, according to advices received here from several sources.

Wireless reports from the Maud received in this country as late as July 18 fixed the Maud's position as only a few hundred miles from Nome.

WM. ALLEN WHITE NOT YET ARRESTED ON POSTER CHARGE

EDITOR DECLARES HE WILL NOT REMOVE SIGN, FROM WINDOW.

PERSONAL FRIENDSHIP HAS NOT BEEN AFFECTED

Declares Right to Utter Honest Opinion Is a Fundamental Right.

TOPEKA, KAN., July 21.—The proposed advance on the Emporia sector, all because William Allen White displayed a strike sympathy poster in the window of his newspaper office, has been temporarily called off. Although state officials involved were reluctant to discuss the situation this afternoon, it appeared that instead of sending state emissaries to Emporia armed with warrants for Mr. White's arrest, they will carry a white flag.

It was reported here that the strike poster which Mr. White refused to remove on the order of the attorney general still held forth today, Mr. White carrying out his announced plan to increase the percentage of his sympathy one per cent a day making it read today 51 per cent.

Following an announcement earlier today that John G. Egan, assistant attorney general, had been delegated to go to Emporia and cause the arrest of Mr. White this afternoon from the same source came the report that Judge J. A. McDermott probably will proceed to Emporia, not to have Mr. White arrested but "to investigate the situation." Mr. Egan still was in Topeka late today.

All morning there was much conferring behind closed doors at the state house over the announced plan to arrest Mr. White. It was apparent friends of both the governor and Mr. White were interceding. Interviewers of the officials encountered gave evasive replies. Although a complaint on which a warrant was to be demanded was drawn up last night, it was learned this afternoon that no one had signed it.

AWAITS SERVICE OF A WARRANT FOR ARREST

By Associated Press.

EMPORIA, KAN., July 21.—William Allen White, Kansas editor, awaited today the service of a warrant for his arrest for alleged violation of the industrial court anti-picketing which he was informed last night by friends of Governor H. J. Allen, was in preparation by Attorney General R. J. Hopkins. It was understood that the attorney general prepared the information lodging charges against Editor White last night.

Editor White and Governor Allen are life long friends both publicly and privately. Editor White has supported the governor throughout his administration and even in the face of impending action against him, he said: "There is no personal feeling between Governor Allen and me. He is making a splendid governor."

Hearing of his impending arrest, Mr. White restated his defiance of the ruling of the court that to display signs in sympathy with the striking railroad shopmen was against the law. Mr. White said he would not take down the sign which he had placed in the window of his office, the Emporia Gazette.

"I won't take down that sign. It is going to stay there in my window," he said.

The sign reads: "We are for the striking railway men 50 per cent. We are for a living wage and fair living condition."

As originally placed in the window, the sign read: "100 per cent" but Mr. White cut the percentage to 49 per cent Wednesday and raised it to 50 per cent yesterday.

Other Cards Appear.

Similar cards appeared simultaneously in store windows at several points where merchants are in sympathy with the strike. With the first indications that the state did not approve the display of the signs many merchants removed them but some have since followed Mr. White's leadership and replaced the signs on display.

Both Governor Allen and Mr. White have stated that their personal friendship for each other has not been affected by the controversy. Mr. White said:

"Judge J. A. McDermott of the industrial court declares that the card in my window is lending moral support to an unlawful act and thereby creating an atmosphere in favor of law violation.

"The right to a free utterance of honest opinions is a fundamental right. Our forefathers fought for it at Bunker Hill and Gettysburg and to restrict any man from the calm expression of an honest opinion merely because there is a strike on in Kansas, is unwise. Industrial questions are not honestly settled by a suppression of free utterance, either of speech or the press, or of any other kind so long as the opinion is orderly and temperate and decent.

Old Fashioned Duty.

"As a matter of fact, I am not for the striking railroad men 100 per cent. They have a just cause, but they have taken a foolish time for fighting for it. But so long as the right to express an opinion is regarded as incendiary, I feel an old fashioned American duty to stand up and be counted for free utterance."

The governor said that Mr. White had the wrong "slant" in placing the strike sympathetic card in the Gazette and that he did not believe forbidding display of the cards an attack on free speech. He said:

"The Kansas court of industrial relations act prohibits a strike in an essential industry. It declares that every form of picketing is a

DECREASE OF $5 IN THE PER CAPITA TREASURY REPORTS

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Everybody's pocket book was lightened by nearly $5 during the past fiscal year, according to the statement of money in circulation on July 1, issued today by the treasury.

Per capita circulation of money on July 1 was $39.87 as compared with $44.78 on July 1, 1921.

The treasury's per capita figures were based on total circulation of $4,375,555,653 on July 1, and a total population of 109,743,000 persons as compared with a total circulation of $4,829,611,851 on July 1, 1921, and a total population of 108,087,000.

The form of this circulation statement was revised as of July 1, 1922, the treasury announced, so as to exclude from money in circulation all forms of money held by the federal reserve banks and federal reserve agents whether as a reserve against federal resrv nots or otherwise. This change, the treasury stated, resulted in showing a per capita circulation on July 1, 1922, of $39.87, whereas under the form of statement formerly used it would have been $49.17. For the sake of comparison on July 1, 1921, figures were computed in the same manner of those for July 1 of this year, the treasury added.

PRESIDENT SUMMONS HEAD OF RAIL LABOR BOARD FOLLOWING FORENOON MEETING OF CABINET

CHICAGO, July 21.—Chairman Ben Hooper of the United States railroad labor board, left Chicago today on the Broadway limited for Washington in answer to a summons from President Harding to discuss the national rail strike.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—President Harding undeterred by the failure of members of the senate interstate commerce committee to obtain from leading eastern railroad executives at last night's conference a basis for settlement of the rail strike today invited Chairman Hooper of the railroad labor board to Washington for a discussion of the strike situation.

The president, it was indicated at the white house after today's cabinet meeting at which the rail strike was discussed at length, desired to obtain from Chairman Hooper through direct conference information on several points raised by the railroad executives in their discussion of the situation with Senators Cummins, Iowa; Watson, Indiana, and Kellogg, Minnesota, of the interstate commerce committee.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—President Harding was advised today by Chairman Cummins and Senators Watson of Indiana and Kellogg of Minnesota, of the senate interstate commerce committee, of the unavailing efforts made by them in the conference with several leading eastern railroad executives last night to obtain a basis for settlement of the railroad strike.

The three committeemen went to the White House shortly after 9:00 o'clock and left before the president the full details of the conference last night at a Washington hotel with the railroad executives. They declined to discuss their reports prior to its presentation to the president.

President Harding was said by administration advisers who conferred with him today to contemplate as his next move in the railroad strike the summoning to Washington of Chairman Hooper of the railroad labor board for a full discussion of the questions between employes and executives.

On leaving the White House the senators said they had merely made a report to the president concerning the meeting with the executives. It was said that future conferences "probably" would be held but it was not stated who would participate in such discussions.

The early conference between the president and the senators was arranged, it was thought, so that Mr. Harding could lay the matter before the cabinet at its meeting today.

The railroad executives in their conference were understood to have declared most emphatically that there could be no restoration of the seniority rights of those employes on strike.

Would Violate Word

Restoration of seniority, they were said to hold, would violate the word of the railroads as given to the workers who step in to fill the places of those who walked out and no such violation could be considered by the railroad managements. The seniority question accordingly was held to be the big point at issue.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, in a statement issued today, invited the government to urge that the striking coal miners and the striking railroad workers and their respective employers inaugurate direct negotiations.

"We invite the federal government to see to it that employes and workers come together," said Mr. Gompers. "The government has done everything except this one logical, necessary thing.

"The government has threatened a good deal. It has talked about troops and about the rights of the public. It has not talked effectively about conference and it has had little or nothing to say about the rights of the workers.

"Labor asks for conference with the employers. If the government wishes results, if it wishes operation of mines and railroads, let it adopt the only course that can assure those results. Let it exert its tremendous influence to bring the employers into conference with the representatives of the workers.

"If the government cares more about sustaining the reputation of its helpless and all but defunct railroad labor board, if it cares more about a costly and ineffective military show than it does about justice

M'ALESTER, OKLA., July 21.—Determination to reopen the coal mines in Oklahoma, but not until after another effort had been made to agree on a new wage scale, was voiced in a statement issued here today at the close of an executive meeting of the Oklahoma coal operators association.

TELEGRAPHERS ASKED TO GIVE A DAY'S PAY

ST. LOUIS, July 21.—B. J. Manion, president of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, today addressed an appeal to the 30,000 members of the order asking that each man give one day's pay to help the cause of the striking railroad men and striking coal miners.

Mr. Manion stated his organization was the first of the railroad unions to take action along this line. He expressed the belief that the appeal would bring in at least $200,000, and explained that fifty per cent of the donations would go to the railroad men and fifty per cent to the miners.

THOMAS' CAMPAIGN MANAGER ANALYZES THE SENATE RACE

DALLAS, July 21.—O. O. Touchstone, campaign manager for Cullen F. Thomas, in analyzing the preelection indications of the vote to be cast Saturday for United States senator, gives out the following statement:

"I have carefully gone over the reports from our coworkers and correspondents in the various counties in the state and reports from non-partisan sources which we have obtained also, and indications are that Cullen F. Thomas will, out of a probable 750,000 total vote, receive not less than 225,000 votes, with a plurality of 60,000 votes over his nearest competitor. The reports indicate also that all of the candidates, with possibly one exception, will receive a very substantial vote. The following counties appear to be safely in the Thomas column:

"Andrews, Angelina, Armstrong, Archer, Bailey, Borden, Brooks, Bowie, Bell, Brown, Callahan, Baylor, Bosque, Briscoe, Camp, Castro, Collins, Comanche, Clay, Collingsworth, Coleman, Coryell, Cottle, Carson, Cameron, Crosby, Dawson, Dallam, Deaf Smith, Dickens, Dimmit, Donley, Denton, Dallas, Delta, Erath, Eastland, Falls Fisher, Freestone, Franklin, Foard, Frio, Floyd, Gaines, Garza, Gray, Glasscock, Hale, Hamilton, Hays, Hartley, Hemphill, Hood, Howard, Hill, Hall, Hansford, Hardeman, Henderson, Hidalgo, Jack, Jasper, Jim Wells, Johnson, Jones, Kaufman, Kent, King, Knox, Lamb, LaSalle, Lipscomb, Limestone, Lubbock, Lampasas, Lamar, Llano, Lynn, Martin, Midland, Milam, Mills, Mitchell, Morris, Montague, Montgomery, Motley, Navarro, Nolan, Ochiltree, Oldham, Parker, Potter, Parmer, Palo Pinto, Randall, Roberts, Robertson, Rockwall, Runnels, Red River, Sherman, Stephens, Swisher, San Saba, Taylor, Tarrant, Terry, Throckmorton, Tyler, Tom Green, Walker, Webb, Uvalde, Wheeler, Williamson, Wilbarger, Wilson, Wise and Yoakum.

"In the following counties and others not here enumerated Thomas supporters are working hard and are claiming that they will give our candidate a plurality, to-wit: Cooke, Harris, Grayson, Kaufman, McLennan, Nacogdoches, Nolan, Smith, Travis and Wichita."

MICHIGAN GOVERNOR URGES COAL MINERS TO RETURN TO WORK

LANSING, MICH., July 21.—Governor Groesbeck today asked the striking miners in Michigan to return to the mines, either under public or private control. In a message sent to T. Leo Jones of Saginaw, president of district 24, United Mine Workers of America, the governor asked that the miners go back to work and produce coal sufficient for the needs of municipal and state purposes. He gave the miners until Monday night to reply.

The message indicated that in the absence of any word from Washington regarding the governor's suggestion that the mines of this state be placed under public control, the state will take over the mines unless the operators and miners get together prior to Monday.

"I am of the opinion," the governor's message stated, "that the men of your organization could, without yielding any vital principle involved, agree to the operation of the mines, pending a final adjustment by the national body. * * *

"In submitting the above it is understood that the wage scale in effect prior to April 1 will control and that all working conditions will be made satisfactory."

AMERICA INSISTS UPON SECURITY OF TITLES IN MEXICO

WOULD WELCOME STEPS ON PART OF OBREGON TO MEET CONDITIONS.

ONLY THING NOW IN WAY OF RECOGNITION

If Security Is Accomplished Ends Of United States Will Have Been Met.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Authoritative indications have been given that the administration would welcome the Mexican government's taking steps necessary to make effective policies which President Obregon has suggested on questions impending recognition by the United States.

After recent visits to Washington of Adolfo de la Huerta, Mexican minister of finance, Mexican officials have emphasized that the American government has insisted upon the security of valid American titles in Mexico to property of whatever nature. It was explained this was the chief aim sought on the treaty of amity and suggested to President Obregon 15 months ago by Secretary Hughes which was declined. If the security sought is accomplished through regulatory acts of the Mexican congress or through decisions of the Mexican supreme court interpreting article 27 of the Mexican constitution, the ends of the United States will be met, it was said.

It was pointed out that definite action in Mexico to confirm agreements reached with American interests in Mexico had thus far been lacking in every case.

It was implied in discussing the treaty proposal that the Mexican congress would enact regulatory statutes making it clear that article 27 of the Mexican constitution providing for nationalization of mineral and other natural resources in Mexico, would not be retroactive or impeach titles held by Americans which existed before the constitution was adopted. Such regulatory statutes still were lacking, it was said.

Negotiate Agreement

More recently Mr. de la Huerta negotiated an agreement with American financiers in New York representing holders of bonds issued by the Mexican government which recognized the liability of the Mexican government for Mexico's external debts. The American government had no part in those negotiations, but was kept informed of what occurred. So far as the American government now knows, it was said, that agreement still awaits definite approval by the Mexican government.

The negotiations between the Mexican government and American holders of oil interests in Mexico, it was said, was in precisely the same situation. No definite action to affirm the agreement had been taken so far as known by the Washington government.

Still another case where definite knowledge was lacking, it was pointed out, was the action of the Mexican supreme court, said in an official bulletin issued by the Mexican government to have definitely declared article 27 not retroactive on titles held before that constitution was adopted. It requires five similar decisions to establish a legal precedent on the interpretation of the clause in the constitution. The two recent decisions reported were said to have completed these five. The state department has been unable to obtain the text of any except the first decision and that in its written form has not been found to satisfy entirely the points raised by the American government regarding American owned titles in Mexico.

No Official Information

In view of this sequence of situations in which there is lacking any official information to show that definite action has been taken by Mexico to confirm the announced friendly policies the attitude of the Washington government was said to be that no steps toward recognition were now possible.

There is no disposition to question the good faith of the Mexican government or to believe that the various steps necessary to make all these matters effective will not ultimately be taken in Mexico and administration officials are very hopeful of early action.

So far as the question of the policy of the Mexican government in regard to natural resources in that country or as to other internal matters where American titles already perfected are not concerned, there is no desire in Washington, it was said, to attempt in any way to dictate.

DIES FROM THE EFFECTS OF FUMES IN A SILO.

STAMFORD, TEXAS, July 21.—News reached here Thursday of the death of C. A. Lundgren, which occurred at his home in the Swede settlement about nine miles southeast of Stamford. Mr. Lundgren and his two step-sons, whose names are Sherley, were trying to get some water out of an underground silo. One of the Sherley boys was let down on a rope and on arriving at the bottom of the silo was soon overcome by the choke damp or gas that had formed as result of the water seeping in. C. A. Lundgren was then let down to rescue the boy by tying a rope around his body. While the boy was being pulled out Lundgren fell from the gas effects. He died Thursday morning about 2:30. The accident occurred about 6:30 p. m. Wednesday.

TARIFF MEASURE DELAYED BY BONUS AND SHIP SUBSIDY

MIGHT PASS QUICKLY IN SENATE BUT FOR TWO OTHER BILLS.

LITTLE PROSPECT FOR MARINE LEGISLATION

Does Not Appear Likely of Adoption at Present Session of Congress.

By MARK SULLIVAN

National Political Correspondent of the New York Evening Post and Wichita Daily Times.
(Copyright, 1922, by the New York Evening Post.)

WASHINGTON, July 21.—It is not really the tariff that is consuming the time of the senate, on the senate program as it stands today, there are three items—the tariff, the soldier's bonus and the ship subsidy. Of these three, it is not the tariff, but the two others that are the real time consumers.

SULLIVAN.

If the senate knew that the tariff was the only thing on the program, or if it could make arrangements with the various interests involved, including President Harding, to throw the soldiers' bonus and the ship subsidy over into the next session, the public would see quick action so far as the tariff is concerned. The republicans know they are going to pass some kind of a tariff bill this session. There can be no doubt about that. The democrats know this equally well. If the tariff were the only thing on the program both republicans and democrats would go to work vigorously and get it out of the way.

The senators are very eager to go home. A full third of them have primaries or elections, or both, ahead of them. Added to this motive on the part of a third of the senate is the common motive of fatigue that always comes and comes with good reason about the present stage of a hot summer's session. Still another motive is the belief on the part of republican leaders that a good deal of the discontent in the country, and the criticism of congress would vanish if congress would adjourn and give the country a rest.

Long Debate Considered Certain.

But so long as the soldier's bonus and the ship subsidy remain on the program the senators figure there is no use hurrying with the tariff. The democrats will take their leisure in debating against it, and the republicans will continue to disagree among themselves on important items of the bill. They all know that as things stand they can't possibly get away until well into October or possibly later.

Everybody knows that there will be weeks of debate on the soldiers' bonus, and more weeks of debate on the ship subsidy. So long as those things remain ahead of them, why hurry with the tariff? Indeed, the presence of these two items on the program constitutes a further motive on the part of the opponents of both to kill time. These opponents believe that time works in their favor. There are only two things that could get the bonus out of the way. One would be for President Harding to let it be known that the McCumber bill with some modifications would be acceptable to him. This eventually is pretty clearly impossible in the light of the position Mr. Harding has steadily maintained. The other thing Mr. Harding could do to get the soldiers' bonus out of the way would be to announce in advance that he will veto it. This course also would be an unlikely one for the president to take because of his well known regard for the constitutional distinction between himself and the legislative branch of the government. Any man holding these views would naturally hesitate to seem to use the threat of a veto in advance as a means of influencing legislative action.

As regards the ship subsidy the only thing that could get that off the program would be an expression of willingness on Mr. Harding's part to let it go over to the next session. Such an action would be inconsistent with his wish to get the ship subsidy disposed of. The next session of congress will be a short one, with only about seven weeks of working time. The ship subsidy could not possibly be passed by both houses in so short a period. Therefore, if the ship subsidy were thrown over into the next session it would mean one of two things: Either President Harding would have to call an extra session some time after March 4 next, to consider the ship subsidy; or, in the lack of this, it would automatically be postponed for more than a year, until December, 1923.

Ship Subsidy Delay Expected.

As things now stand, unless there is some change of the nature indicated the program will work out about as follows: The senate will continue to debate the tariff, at least until August 15 and possibly later. On August 15, the lower house will return from its vacation. After the senate has passed the tariff there will be four or five weeks of conference to reconcile the differences between the senate tariff bill and the house tariff bill. These weeks of conference will be utilized by the senate to pass the soldiers' bonus bill and put it up to the president to veto or to approve. It is only after both these things are out o fthe way that the ship subsidy bill will come in sight.

A distinterested observer, seeing things as they stand, is likely to conclude that the ship subsidy is not likely to become a law during the present session, even though Mr. Harding should continue to insist that it be kept on the program.

FIRST ANNIVERSARY OF THE PASSAGE OF HOUSE TARIFF BILL

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Today is the first anniversary of the passage of the administration tariff bill by the house. When the measure went it will find its niche in statute hall still is problematical, but there were increasing signs that the leaders at least on both sides of the senate are anxious to get it into conference.

Admittedly they are weary of the grind of work which has become the longest legislative day in the history of the senate, a day that now has run 2,208 hours, or 121 more hours than there were committee amendments to the bill. In the senate it still is 12:00 o'clock noon, Thursday, April 20, 1922—the hour the tariff was called up—this bit of legislative fiction being indulged in with a hope of facilitating final action by keeping out all other except most pressing legislation.

But this fiction has not prevented senators from talking on almost every subject under the sun.

NORTON, VA., July 21.—Representative C. Bascom Slemp, who for a number of years has been the sole republican member of the house of representatives from Virginia, was renominated yesterday at the ninth Virginia district republican convention, although he has declared repeatedly within the last few weeks that he would not again be a candidate.

DEPUTY SHERIFF AT BURKBURNETT FINDS FORD AND CADILLAC

BURKBURNETT, TEXAS, July 21.—A Ford roadster, highway No. 670623, and a Cadillac roadster, seal No. 546380, are now in the possession of Deputy Sheriff H. L. White awaiting identification by their owners.

The Ford roadster was located in a private garage when the owner of the garage became suspicious that the car was stolen and notified the officers.

The Cadillac was found ditched about one mile west of town by the deputy and was brought in and is being taken care of until identified by the owner.

Both cars are in good condition.

HOMAS DISCUSSES KLAN ACTIVITIES IN POLITICS IN TEXAS

AYS ORGANIZATION SEEKS TO SWING VOTES AS "BLOC" SUPPORT.

EMARKABLE SITUATION IS ALL BUT INCREDIBLE

rges Open Politics As a Feature Of Alleged 100 Per Cent Americanism.

GREENVILLE, TEXAS, July 21.—ilien F. Thomas, candidate for the ited States senate in speaking to Greenville audience Thursday aftnoon, discussed along with the anks of his platform the late deelopments as disclosed by the press the Klan situation. He boldly vigorously contended that the an, as well as any other fraternal ganization, should not become a litical machine. Mr. Thomas said part:

"From published correspondence mong officials of the Klan it is w known of all men that leaders the Klan are seeking to swing e Klan votes as a block vote to a ember of the Klan.

"I hold in my hand a published tter from Sterling P. Strong to w. A. C. Parker, dated June 5, 22, in which, speaking of the uor interests he used this rearkable sentence:

"'They are trying to dominate erything political and are using eir utmost endeavor to dominate s Ku Klux Klan.'

"Before me is a private letter om Hon. R. L. Henry of July , 1922, to F. G. Van Valkenburgh, w published, in which he says at a 'small coterie of politicians e trying to elliminate him from the natorial race in favor of Earle ayfield.'

"These are followed by the pubation today of the resignation of dge Erwin Clark of Waco, general unsel of the Klan in Texas, on e ground that high officials inside e Klan, headed by Dr. H. W. vans, late of Dallas now of Atta, have broken faith in an reement not to seek to eliminate Klan candidate.

"This remarkable situation in the litics of Texas is all but incredle.

"Is it possible that a secret orr, claiming that its purposes are aternal and benevolent, is to be rned into a political machine to vance the political fortunes of bitious and cunning politicians? ill the great body of its fair-inded, independent membership be us controlled in the exercise of eir ballots?

"Within the ranks of the Klan, I very sure are many splendid xas citizens, who took its vows s what they believed to be noble rposes. Are all other considera-ns to be set aside by the mem-rs of the Klan in making choice their next United States sena-?

"If in the ranks is a member who believes that the interests of the farmers and producers of Texas will be advanced by a tax on raw material why will that one vote for Mayfield against Colonel Ousley? If in the ranks are patriotic men who believe that the rate of the world's civilization depends in part on America's entrance to the league of nations, why will that member vote for Bob Henry who would destroy the league in preference to myself who would continue the fight for the league?

"In other words, I raise the question in all fairness with the three outstanding members of the Klan, what have they accomplished for the Klan or their country by sacrificing every other consideration simply to dictate nomination of a Klansman for the senate?

"Again, I raise the question with those who pride themselves on their 100 per cent Americanism; is it American for a secret order of unknown membership, behind closed doors to undertake to dictate who shall be the next senator from Texas?

"We hear everywhere the demand for open diplomacy, open covenants, and open doors in our modern world life. Let us have open politics in our American life."

TO THE DEMOCRATIC VOTERS OF WICHITA COUNTY, TEXAS

To those of whom I have not had the privilege of a personal interview, I submit the following statement:

I have lived in Wichita county, Texas, nine years, five years of which time has been spent by me as a peace officer of your county. For three and one-half years I was deputy sheriff under G. A. Hawkins, working directly under Leslie Humphrey, district attorney. He knows my record as such officer, and I submit herewith a letter from him which speaks for itself. For a while I worked as special agent of the United States government, and I refer you to anyone connected with the United States department of justice at that time for the character of work I rendered. I have been connected with the police department of Wichita Falls for more than eighteen months, and my record as such officer is open to all. I stand now and have always stood for an equal and unbiased enforcement of the criminal laws.

No organization, institution or person has fathered my candidacy in this race and no one has contributed any money to my campaign expense, and, if elected, I will be under no personal or pecuniary obligations to any sect, organization, institution or individual, and will endeavor to enforce the law alike to all.

All civil process will have my careful and prompt attention.

I ask your support upon my past record as a citizen and as a peace officer.

Yours very truly,
J. E. GLENN.

To the citizens of Wichita county, Texas:

For nearly four years while I was district attorney of Wichita county, Texas, J. E. Glenn, as a deputy sheriff of this county, worked with me in the enforcement of the criminal laws. I know his record, in my judgment, better than any individual in Wichita county, and the character of work which he rendered.

He is an honest, faithful, diligent and fearless officer. He will enforce the law without fear or favor alike to all, and I unqualifiedly endorse his candidacy as sheriff of Wichita county, Texas.

Yours very truly,
LESLIE HUMPHREY,
Former district attorney.

Cocoanut Oil Fine For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greasless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply put two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified in a cup or glass with a little warm water, then moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified. (Adv.)

Society Is Eager to Know the Social Program of Mrs. Gould

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE JAY GOULD

By NEA Service.

NEW YORK, July 21.—New York's rich are wondering about the social program of the bride of George J. Gould, the multimillionaire, whose kith and kin always have been at the apex of the "400."

Will the former Vere Sinclair return from abroad and attempt a social campaign next season?

The question intrigues, while other questions are still unanswered—the antecedents of the new Mrs. Gould, the romance that led to the marriage, the circumstances of the marriage ceremony itself.

And also: What is going to happen to the two city homes—one in Fifth Avenue—which Mr. Gould inherited by the will of Mrs. Edith Kingdon Gould, his first wife?

Provision nine of the will bequeaths him these residences "until he remarries," in which event they are to be sold and the proceeds added to the residuary estate.

Gould and his wife are now reported to have married in Lakewood, N. J., before leaving for Abroad, though no announcement was made until after they had spent some time in London and Paris and were on the way to Aix-les-Bains.

Meanwhile Jay Gould, a son, has gone to Europe and will probably visit his father and stepmother during their honeymoon.

Mr. Gould's daughter, Edith—Mrs. Carroll L. Wainwright, whose romance led to a runaway match—is planning to go to Europe.

Other children are Kingdon, George, Jr., Mrs. Anthony J. Drexel, Lady Decies and Gloria Gould.

The bride of Gould is a blonde, about 30. She is said to have been born in Ohio, of English parentage. The name Vere Sinclair appeared in the cast of "The Girl in the Film," a musical farce produced Dec. 30, 1913, in New York by George Grossmith, London comedian, who brought the company from England. Recently Mrs. Gould, who has two children, a boy about seven and a girl of four, has been living on a large estate on Manursing Island, off Rye, N. Y.

Blistered Silk Gaining As Fall Approaches

Perhaps it is to keep up with the popular blistered skins this summer that the new silks carry out the sunburn idea. At any rate blistered silks are very fashionable and are expected to be even more in evidence in the fall.

Blouses are shown of these bizarre fabrics in Cassique models with long sleeves that fit closely around the wrist or are loose and billowy.

Gay colored silks in Persian and Paisley patterns are also on the roll call of autumn models and the beaded customs blouses of chiffon show no lessening of popularity.

Georgette blouses are shown with insets of wool lace that have the effect of embroidery. Brown is the dominant color, often with undertones of green.

NO OLD WOMEN NOWADAYS

Modern dress, hair dressers, facial experts and cosmetics all combine to keep women of all ages young and attractive in appearance. Not until the telltale wrinkles become so deep, the figure stoops, or some ailment or weakness develops to drag a woman down does she really look her age.

Every woman owes it to herself and her family to keep herself young in appearance, and happy. When headaches, backache or "the blues" develop or when a woman reaches the trying age from forty-five to fifty, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound may be depended upon to keep her in health as it has so many other women whose letters we are continually publishing in this paper.—adv.

ADD AN "M" TO THREE "R'S"

"We can never become a musical nation until every boy and girl studies music as well as 'readin, 'ritin and 'rithmetic."

So says Geneve Lichtenwalter, Kansas City, Mo., winner of the first prize in piano at the School of Music, Fontainebleau, France. She is also a composer of note.

"Systematic study through the grades is the only educational route to a national musical understanding," she continues.

"Our great lack of musical appreciation as a nation comes from two causes, superficiality and shoiness of the teacher. The latter is a product of the first."

Promises you faithful service from a business man's viewpoint. Opposes any raises of state taxes on the farm, ranch, store or oil industry—the success and development of these things will bring prosperity to all the people of west Texas. As Wichita Falls has initiated one of the biggest irrigation projects in the world the state should locate near there an agricultural experiment station.—Political advertisement.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

DR. SNUFFLES CURES ANOTHER

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"Yes," he said gravely, with a queer look at Cutie, "he's dreadfully sick."

One morning Mrs. Cottontail telephoned Dr. Snuffles, the fairyman doctor, when Nancy and Nick were helping.

"I wish you'd stop in and see Cutie," she begged. "He's dreadfully sick and can't go to school."

So Dr. Snuffles hurried right over without eating the nice breakfast Nancy had fixed for him.

There lay Cutie, rolling over and over, and moaning and groaning.

Dr. Snuffles looked at Cutie's tongue. Then he felt Cutie's pulse and put a big thermometer into his mouth.

"Yes," said he gravely with a queer look at Cutie, "he's dreadfully sick. You'll have to pull down all the blinds and close all the doors and leave him quite by himself.

"He must not see anybody at all! And above everything else he mustn't have a single thing to eat. Not a thing!"

Cutie opened one eye and then the other and looked at the doctor.

"Couldn't I have just a little nibble of fresh lettuce or a little pea-soup?" he asked in a weak voice.

"Not a thing!" declared the doctor, shaking a large bottle. "And see to it, please, Mrs. Cottontail, that he gets a large spoonful of this bitter medicine every half hour, mixed with a little mustard and red pepper. He must stay in bed two weeks."

"C—can't I have anything to eat or read a book, or see my friends, or ride ships down the bed clothes, or play tin soldier or anything?"

"No, siree!"

Suddenly Cutie sprang out of bed. "Mom, I'm better," he declared. "I think I'll go to school."

To the Voters of Wichita County

Do you need some one to manage your business?

If you needed some one to take complete charge, would you hire a person who knows nothing about the undertaking or one who is qualified?

Do you want a public official who actually serves the people or one who does nothing but draw a salary and hires another to do the work?

By electing Miss Elizabeth Hall as your next county clerk a sum of $2,400 per year will be saved the people of Wichita county, for her election means the abolition of the superfluous office of chief deputy, all duties which she will handle herself.

Miss Hall, candidate for county clerk, is qualified; fully understands the duties of the office, will be actively in charge, and will be no parasite on the county. She is not backed by a political machine, but by a corps of people who have the interest of Wichita county at heart, and she stands before you on her merits, character and qualifications.

Wichita county needs a competent county clerk and this is the opportunity.

Vote for Miss Elizabeth Hall, who has been Chief Deputy Clerk for four years.

CONVENTIONS WILL BE HELD SATURDAY IN EACH PRECINCT

Precinct conventions will be held at the voting places in all precincts Saturday afternoon at 2 p. m., to elect delegates to the county convention.

Attendance on precinct conventions is a political duty generally neglected by voters, and County Chairman Cox is urging that all voters who can do so attend their respective meetings Saturday, so that representative meetings may be held.

The basis of representation in the county convention is one delegate for each 25 votes for governor; as the precincts are new, delegates will be elected on the estimated vote, and the figures can be readjusted when the convention meets.

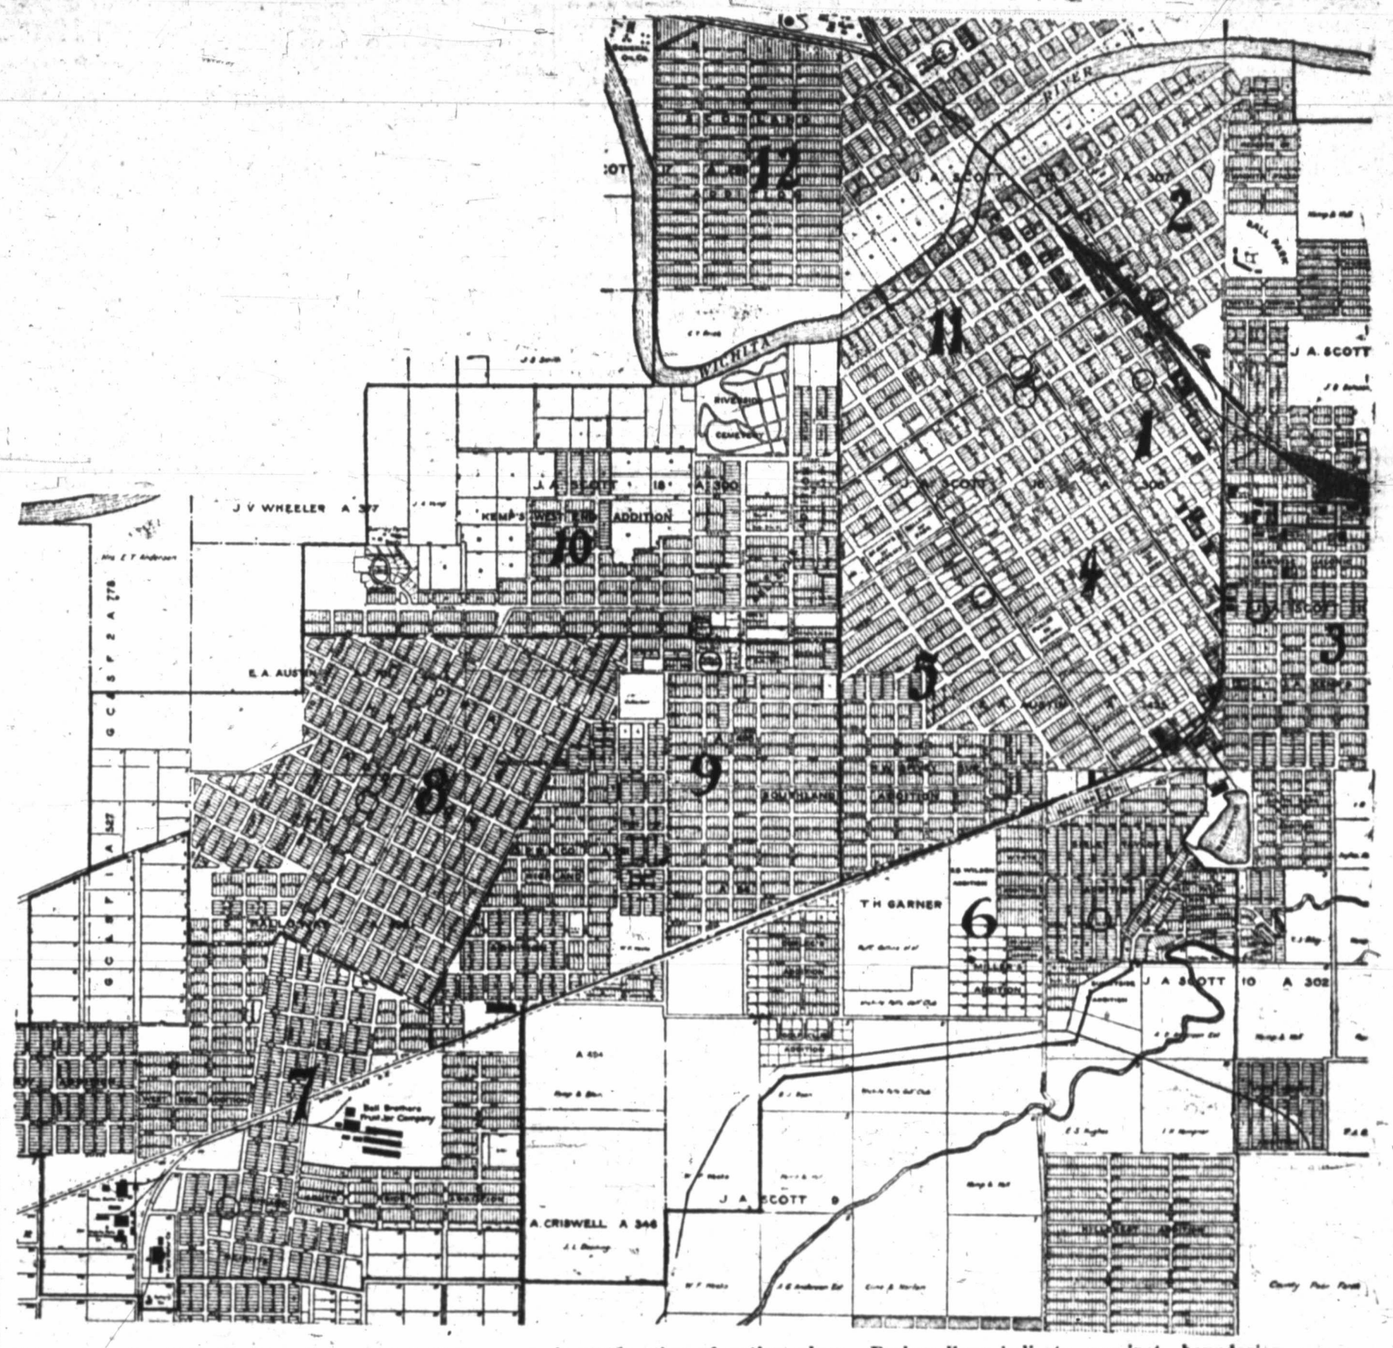

LONE STAR CONSTRUCTING NEW LINE TO GARVIN FIELD

Material is now being gathered for a 25-mile 12-inch gas line which the Lone Star Gas company will construct from Dixie Junction, Okla., to the Robertson field to augment the gas supply for all towns served by the Lone Star company, according to a statement by R. A. Crawford, general manager.

The line will parallel the Fox field line and will connect with wells in Garvin county. This will give a greater pipe line capacity from both the Fox district and Garvin county. The line will cost approximately $200,000. Laying of the line will begin about August 1 and will require around five weeks for completion.

"This new line, together with the three new compressor plants we are erecting, is but a part of the program we are working on to insure positive service and to make the Lone Star Gas company system even more flexible and adequate for winter demands," Mr. Crawford explained.

JAMES P. HUMPHREYS, well-known automobile man of Hebron, Md., who declares he believes Tanlac is the best thing to overcome stomach trouble and run-down condition. States it completely restored his health.

"I believe in giving everything its due and I want to say right now I just can't praise Tanlac too highly for what it has done in my case," declared James P. Humphreys, proprietor of the Hebron Motor Co., Hebron, Md.

"For three years or more I suffered from indigestion. After eating I would bloat terribly with gas and my heart would palpitate until it interfered with my breathing. I was habitually constipated and my nerves were all upset. My sleep was unsound, I got up mornings all tired out, and I was only a shadow of my former self.

"Well, Tanlac has given me a keen appetite, stomach trouble has disappeared, my nerves have steadied down, and I have gained several pounds. anlac, to my mind, is the best thing ever sold for stomach trouble and run-down condition."

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Because sentence against an evil work is not executed speedily, therefore the heart of the sons of men is fully set in them to do evil.—Ecclesiastes 8:11.

He stood upon the world's broad threshold; wide
The din of battle and of slaughter rose;
He saw God stand upon the weaker side,
That sank in teeming loss before its foes.
Many there were who made great haste and sold
Unto the cunning enemy their swords;
He scorned their gifts of fame and power and gold,
And underneath their soft and flowery words
Heard the cold serpent hiss; therefore he went
And humbly joined him to the weaker part.
—James Russell Lowell.

It will be noted that the Dallas Klan has apparently eliminated Bob Henry as a senatorial candidate entirely and is not recognizing the claims of W. A. Johnson, of Memphis, for Klan support for lieutenant governor.

Above the names of the candidates on the ticket is printed the following:

"Take this home with you as a memorandum: The tenets of Christian religion. White supremacy. Closer relationship between capital and American labor. Protection of our pure womanhood. Preventing the cause of mob violence and lynchings. Preventing unwarranted strikes by foreign labor agitators. Prevention of fires and destruction of property by lawless elements. The limitation of foreign immigration. Closer relationship of pure Americanism. The upholding of the constitution of these United States. The sovereignty of our state rights. The separation of church and state. Freedom of speech and press. The much-needed local reforms."

The Times prints this ballot as additional evidence of the Klan's political efforts and for the information of unfettered American voters.

SOME THINGS THE VOTERS CAN DO.

Every democrat who is properly qualified ought to vote in Saturday's primary.

Our state, county, precinct and district officers will be chosen in this primary, or at least those who will go into the run-off will be chosen, and the primary is therefore much more important than the general election in November. We will be served for the next two years—and for the next six in the United States senate—by the kind of officers we choose Saturday and if we want good and efficient government we must vote for good and efficient men, and if for some offices there are no candidates who measure up to this standard, we ought to choose the better of them or to put it another way those who are not as bad as the others.

There are approximately 11,500 poll taxes paid and there will probably be between seven and eight thousand votes polled. The work of receiving, recording and accounting these votes is a heavy task, and everything that can possibly be done ought to be done to facilitate the work of the election officials. The voter ought to take a little time to look up his poll tax receipt and take it with him to the polls; the voter ought to learn where he votes before going into some voting box and causing confusion; the voters who can ought to vote early to lessen the rush during the last hours and so that the count of the ballot may begin early in the day. These are some of the things that most voters can do, remembering the election officials have a heavy task and that in acting as election officials they are performing a public service at a personal sacrifice.

The only reliable substitute for brains is silence.

ACCEPTABILITY.

A graceful loser is an inspiring person, but I rather admire most the graceful accepter—he who is not quite certain what he is accepting, though certain that he is unafraid.

When Franklin Lane, one of the members of President Wilson's cabinet, was told that he had but a few hours to live, he made no complaint, merely answering: "I accept!"

And in that statement was crystalized all the heroism of his useful and splendid career.

To walk face forward ready to meet fortune or misfortune with the same smile—well, that is acceptability of the right sort.

No one understands this better than does a mother.

How often one hears of that famous picture that was exhibited in Chicago at the World's Fair in 1892—"Breaking Home Ties." The boy is at the door with his rude bundle, about to leave. The mother is looking bravely into his eyes and praying a century of prayers into one short one. The father is silent, as are also the other members of the family. Even the dog who sits at the feet of the boy seems to understand this great business of going out into the world alone.

But the mother, the father, the sisters, and even the dog, accept—no one flinches. Soon the door will be closed and the boy will be out to test his metal unaided.

There is nothing that is able to warm the soul to white heat quite so quickly as this acceptability.

We need it in the morning when the day is at bud. We need it when under stress, and when alone, bound by a conflict of desires and decisions.

The most difficult task when any question comes up is the decision regarding it, one way or the other. Once you decide, you have a road and can go ahead.

But don't try too hard to accept—just accept!

JUST FOLKS

THE CARVING KNIFE.

When I was but a little lad, my father carved what meat we had,
With grace and skill he'd cut and slice the roast of beef or veal,
With dextrous hand he'd wield the blade, no false or awkward move he made,
And deftly he could whet the knife upon his shining steel,
But now and then I'd hear him say: "Who's used my carving knife today?
What woman's used this blade of mine for cutting wire or tin?"
And on this special point he'd harp: "a carving weapon must be sharp,
Or one can never cut a roast and have the slices thin."

"That knife must not be used on string, or bread or boards or anything, Hands off my carving blade," he'd cry, and yet I grieve to say,
In spite of all his warnings grim, the women paid no heed to him,
They used his sacred carving knife a dozen times a day.
They'd use that knife for cutting soap, old carpets, leather belts and rope,
They'd use it, too, for pulling tacks and leave it dulled and nicked,
And every time a meal began, my father was an angry man,
But vain was every oath he swore and every kick he kicked.

Now like my good old dad I stand, and take the carving knife in hand
And run my thumb along its edge and find it dulled and nicked,
And like my good old dad I vow, some day there'll be a healthy row,
But I'm as unsuccessful as my father when he kicked.
The maid, the youngsters and the wife, still take that sacred carving knife
And use it as a handy tool on wood or lead or stone,
In spite of all I do or say, the blade is dulled from day to day,
I cannot get the women folks to leave that knife alone.

SMILE A WHILE

By TOM SIMS.

Most of these men longing for the good old days, kick when they wait 10 minutes for a car.

The main trouble with the girl of today is she refuses to act like the girl of yesterday.

"Only way to live long is by keeping busy," says a centenarian. We know a boy who will never see 25.

One graduate got through college by writing short stories. Maybe he wrote them to his father.

It takes a marriage license to get married on, and it usually takes an auto license also.

"Every girl can be beautiful," says an advertisement. Yes, but suppose she is broke.

In Illinois, a gunsmith was held up and robbed. You can't always get by on your reputation.

Our idea of luck is for a Russian not to have an appetite.

Many a dream is a nightmare with her make-up off.

A boy follows in his father's footsteps by taking after his mother.

Lots of men with good eyes can't see you when you are broke.

A man who marries for money can't get along with or without his wife.

Funny things happen. We know a farmer who is making money.

A diplomat is a man who picks up the beans somebody else spills.

ENIGMA

There is a quotation containing 31 letters. Indicating the letters by their numerical position in the quotation, new words have been formed.

For instance:

A city in Italy—2, 24, 30, 60—Rome. The "r" will be the second letter in the quotation, the "o" the twentysixth, the "m" the thirtieth, and the "e" the twentieth.

Can you unravel the mystery of the hidden quotation? Here are the keywords:

A city in Italy—2, 26, 30, 20.
A small child—8, 3, 18.
A country of Asia—1, 31, 5 17, 9, 6.
To hasten—19, 23, 24.
Struck—22, 16, 12.
A city in China—4, 11, 15, 28, 14, 10.
In case that—29, 27.
The hand—25, 13, 7, 21.

Answer to last one: Spare the rod, and spoil the child. Key words: Paris, pearl, hen, Aethi, hod, Scott, doe.

TODAY'S WORD

Today's word is avarice.

It's pronounced av-a-ris, with the accent on the first syllable. The first a and the i are short. The second a is as the a in ask.

It means—Excessive love of money or gain; covetousness. The adjective is avaricious.

It comes from the French "avarice," taken from the Latin avaritia (from avaries, meaning avaricious).

It's used like this: "To desire money for its own sake, and to hoard it up, is avarice."

YOU AND I

ELECTRICITY.

Sixty-six thousand volts of electricity pass through young Edward Sadowsky, at Westfield, Mass. Playing, he had climbed a 150-foot steel tower and got tangled in high tension wires.

The lad, nine years old, was rescued after the current was shut off. Brought to the ground, he walked part way to the ambulance.

Two thousand volts would have killed him instantly. In terrific quantities, such as lightning, electricity often is like an overdose of arsenic. This mysterious force will be the universal power of the future.

FLYING.

An airplane without a motor flies for five minutes at Ipswich, Mass. It is the glider type, manned by its inventors, three young technical students.

This particular machine, which will compete at the international gliding contest in France during August, may be the forerunner of planes that will move in the air like sailboats on water.

It is an experimental model, not practical—yet. But it's interesting as a part of progress to the day when men will master the air better than the eagle or albatross.

Incidentally, the glider takes us back to the early experiments of the Wright brothers, before they adopted motors.

PROSPERITY.

Latest reports from railroads is that in the week ended July 1 they loaded 876,396 cars of freight. That is about 101,000 cars more than in the corresponding week last year and 133,000 more than in the corresponding week of 1919, during the big boom.

Returning prosperity must be a mighty healthy individual after his long rest, to make a showing this good, with coal shipments 65,000 car loads a week below normal. The old gentleman must have taken monkey-gland treatment while convalescing.

WHITTLERS.

The vanishing country store exists in principle in some clubs in the cities, where members solemnly argue world affairs over noonday luncheon. And some of these clubs carry the country store idea so far they play checkers and pitch rubber horse shoes.

The furniture is so expensive that then cvannot whittle it as their grandfathers whittled the cracker barrel. Maybe this inability to let off steam by whittling explains the radicalism of some of the members.

LEADERS.

American auto factories in June turned out 271,000 cars. At this rate, Americans are buying in a year more autos than exist in all other countries of the world combined.

In the world are 13,500,000 autos. And 10,500,000 of them are in America. That should stop much grumbling against our standard of living and average prosperity.

WIVES.

Someone — probably a statistics shark who had had an argument with his wife—figures up and finds this: The average housewife in 30 years cooks meals for 150,000 people and devotes 100,000 hours to sweeping, scrubbing, dusting, mending, etc.

For this, she gets paid less actual money than the lowest paid unskilled workman, though keeping house is more than a skilled trade—it is one of the fine arts.

Heaven help us if the mothers ever strike for an eigh hour day or time and a half for overtime.

CENSUS LISTS 10,866,960 OWNED HOMES

Official Count Shows 45.6 Percent of All Families Hold Title to Shelters they Occupy

COPYRIGHT 1922 BY SCIENCE SERVICE, WASHINGTON, D.C.

By RALPH F. COUCH
Written for Science Service.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Families owning the homes which they occupy total 10,866,960 in the United States, according to the official count of the census bureau.

The United States is probably the world's biggest home-owning nation, the census data indicates. Home-owning families constitute 45.6 per cent of all the family groups of the country.

The number of home owners is now increasing in many sections of the country. To stimulate ownership, building contractors and real estate operators are carrying on campaigns in many localities. Business men generally are supporting these campaigns because property ownership involves, they say, good citizenship and helps to reduce hazards in lines of commercial and industrial endeavors. This is because property ownership is very many cases necessitates family thrift and economy. Thrifty families make good customers for the retail dealer.

In 22 states more than half of all families hold title to their homes they occupy. These states are noticeable as being largely in agricultural sections. More than half of all families own their homes in most of the states lying north of the Ohio river and also in those states between the Mississippi and the Rocky Mountains.

The term home ownership as commonly used includes homes held under a mortgage as well as those unincumbered because the title to property is conveyed even though payment be made with notes.

Homes owned unincumbered total 6,522,119, according to the official count while the total mortgaged homes is 4,059,593.

Approximately 52,000,000 residents of the United States live in homes that are owned by some member of the immediate family. Approximately $55,000,000,000,000 is the estimated value of these properties. On this basis the cost shelter is $62 a year per head for only one half the population of the United States. This computation was made by dividing into the interest on the property investment at 6 per cent, the total number of persons sheltered by owned homes. To it should be added, however, the pro rata cost of taxes and repairs.

Few renting families, it is emphasized, obtain shelter at a cost even reasonably near this amount.

GETTING CLOSER AND CLOSER

The TATTOOED ARM

"General history of the family and the way the neighbors regard them,' Scottie grunted. "I've come especially to warn you of a rumor of some strange actions of Hobart Drake's in Wall street today. He's home, the night?"

"Yes, and calm and more self-contained!" Miles exclaimed in surprise.

"Thats because his mind is made up," returned Scottie. "Unless the rumor is unfounded—our friend Hobart is planning to retire or make his getaway. He has started to wind up his business affairs. Overheard anything?"

"Nothing."

Briefly Miles told his colleagues of the events which had occurred since his installation as the pseudo house servant.

"Andrew is the only one who seems to be unaffected, but there is a forced and unnatural note in his boisterous cheerfulness. I don't know whether we're dealing with a bunch of lunatics or but that they are the victims of some obscure form of villainy that is unprecedented in the annals of the department, and I am on the point of developing nerves over the problem myself. I'll be glad when you tackle your job here."

Miles watched until the bulky form had vanished. Then he entered the kitchen door and fastened it behind him.

He had started for the servants' staircase when a flickering glow from the front of the house made him pause with every sense alert.

Noiselessly he crept toward it and saw that it emanated from the drawing room. As he advanced the sputter of flames and hissing thud of a falling log came to his ears and then the dull clank of metal.

Carefully he drew aside a fold of the heavy curtains which draped the doorway and peered in. There was no light save that from the tiny blaze burning itself out in the fireplace, but against its glow he saw outlined a huddled, shapeless figure in a loose robe kneeling before the hearth and while he gazed a narrow tongue of flame leaped up, glistening on a heavy coil of silvery hair which hung to the floor. It was Miss Jerusha Drake!

Holding his breath and moving silently inch by inch Miles slipped through the curtains and into the shadow behind a tall cabinet, from around the farther side of which he could gain a more direct view of the crouching form. It was swaying back and forth and now a low, indistinguishable mutter not unlike some weird incantation issued from her lips.

The flame died and Miss Jerusha drew a deep breath.

"Gone!" The mutter resolved itself into dull, monotonously intoned speech at last. "Ashes, every one! If only the first had never been conceived this horror would not have descended upon us. They are destroyed, but their very fumes breathe poison!"

Her hands clutched at her throat as though she were indeed choking and for a moment the woman seemed on the verge of collapse. Then catching up a small object which had laid on the rug by her side she rose and turned. A tiny pin-point of light shot out before her and Miles saw that the object she carried was an electric torch, its every gleam distorting her face with the wisps of gray hair falling about it into the semblance of the veriest witch.

He shrank back fearful lest she discover his presence, but Miss Jerusha stared straight before her with the wild blank gaze of one who looks upon the hideous visions of a mind distraught and slowly, gropingly she passed from the room.

CHAPTER VII.

A soft rain was falling when Miles awakened the next morning and in the clear, gray light the scene which he had witnessed in the drawing room seemed vague and unreal. That creature with dishevelled hair and crazed eyes could not have been the dignified, self-contained Miss Drake, nor could that cryptic speech have issued from her lips.

Hastening out into the hall he opened the door of the closet under the stairs. The mail bag was hanging in its accustomed place and the handy man's first task of the morning was to take it to the postoffice.

There was no sign of life about the house and Miles soon had a kettle boiling and expertly steamed open two of the envelopes.

The first felt so bulky that he was not surprised to take from it a folded inner envelope inscribed: "Mr. Richard Kemp." It was unaddressed but the accompanying letter was explanatory:

"Millie, dearest:

"I am going to ask a most tremendous favor. I am not allowed to see or even write to Dickie any more—don't that he has done anything. He is the darlingest boy alive, but both our families have decided to break up our happiness and Aunt Jerusha watched me like a lynx. Will you put the enclosed letter in one of your own envelopes and address it to Dickie for me, For heaven's sake don't fail me for I am simply heartbroken!

"Hastily but with fondest love,
"Pat."

Miles smiled to himself as he resealed the letter with its enclosure, but his gravity returned when he opened the final envelope:

"My dr. Brother," he read.

"I take my pen in hand to let you know that I am well and hope you and all are the same but I can't say as much for the folks. The house has not been the same since Andrew came back from foreign parts more noisy and fresh like than when he was a boy only different but up to his old tricks. He played a joke on the houseman Monday and scairt him so he left. Hobart has took to liquor and made a holy show of himself in the town. Roger has got himself in a mess too over a speech he made in the school house last week. I am commencing to think they are all getting queer again like they was years ago when they first come into the money. Do you recollect what I told you about their actions? Seems like it was yesterday. Miss Jerusha has not been herself lately and no wonder with the gossip and all and she has put a stop to Pat going out with that nice young man I wrote you about but I guess it will come out all right.

"Ashes, every one."

"Y'r aff't sister "Hitty."

Slowly Miles replaced the letter and gummed the flap of the envelope together once more. He had heretofore regarded the lugubrious Mehitabel as negligible, but he realized now that she might be well worth cultivating. She thought "they were all getting queer again" like they were when their inheritance came. That was the outstanding phrase in her letter which struck him with the greatest force.

Miss Jerusha was her calmly reserved self at breakfast, and Miles could perceive no trace of the emotion which had possessed her at midnight.

"I wonder if you will go on an errand for me, William?" asked Roger. "I know it is raining, but I have an important letter which must go in the next mail."

"I'll go at once, sir."

Absorbed in his thoughts the detective had plodded mechanically along the path and it was with a start of surprise that he saw the raincoat and bedraggled, broad-brimmed hat of Andrew Drake just ahead. He was walking rapidly beside a taller, more distingufshed figure. Miles recognized him as the visitor on the night of his arrival, the next door neighbor, Enslee Grayle.

What could these two, so widely dissimilar in character and proclivities, have in common? Miles hastened his footsteps and was almost at their heels when they turned abruptly off at the head of a lane between two tall hedges. He was about to continue to the village when he turned to find a woman beside him. She was dressed in a tailored suit of brown which displayed the buxom lines of her figure with rather startling frankness; a face that was undeniably pretty although of a coarse type, and bold hard eyes gazed into his from beneath a fringe of all-too-yellow hair.

"I ayle, 'oo is that man?" she demanded with an imperative nod toward the pair who had struck off down the lane. Friends o' yours?

"The man in the raincoat is Mr. Andrew Drake and the older one is his neighbor, the owner of the house from which you say they came. His name is Mr. Enslee Grayle."

"'Ow, is it?" Her eyes shifted from his to rest contemplatively upon the two figures already misty in the slanting rain. "Strike me pink if I didn't fancy one o' 'em was an old pal o' mine!—I aye, 'ow far is it to the station. My car broke down a mile back and I've got to be at the studio in New York at twelve."

"The station is half a mile further on, but here comes a jitney and it appears to be empty." Miles gestured toward a ramshackle taxi which was rattling down the road.

"Wot luck!" She waved to the driver of the approaching vehicle and then once more her eyes sought the lane. "Andrew Drake, you said and the wite-headed old toff is Enslee Grayle? My mistyke!—Well, cheerio! If you've a cinema in this giddy metropolis watch for little Maisie.—To the station, my man, and look sharp!"

CHAPTER VIII.

Miles hastened to the village, mailed Roger's letter, and lost no time in returning to the house.

The dreary day grew to a close and the evening passed uneventfully.

The family were finishing breakfast the next morning when the rumble of a well-known voice sounded from the kitchen.

"Ze new gardenaire, he ees arrive," announced Pierre.

"Hello, Jack!" Miles grinned as he advanced, for the absence of the grizzled, sandy beard had wrought a vast change.

"I'll take you to Miss Drake—" Miles led the way to the hall. "Study her, Scottie, for she's in on this, too! Whatever it may be that is affecting the men of the family, she is sharing it!"

Hot Weather Rules

By DR. R. H. BISHOP.

In every hot spell there are a number of prostrations, breakdowns and deaths. A little precaution would in most cases prevent such casualties, besides making one fit for the same amount of work as in normal weather.

Here are some of the more simple precautions for keeping energy and food disposition:

Wear lightweight, porous clothing that will let the air reach your skin. Avoid tight belts, garters, collars and hats. Clean clothes are cooler than soiled ones.

Eat less meat. Substitute green vegetables, fruits and cold foods for the heavy, heat-producing foods. Avoid an excess of pastries, fats, sugars and starches.

See that you have a bowel movement once a day. Drink plenty of water, but avoid ice water.

Bathe the feet daily and powder them with talcum. Change your stockings daily. Have a second pair of shoes and keep alternating them. Avoid high heels.

Do not powder excessively.

Do all these things, then stop talking and thinking about the heat. Concentrate on your work but don't overwork.

FORD AUTOMOBILE IS BURNED NEAR SEYMOUR

SEYMOUR, TEXAS, July 21.—The Ford touring automobile of O. H. Foster, oil man of Mexia, Texas, caught fire four miles north of Seymour on the Seymour-Vernon road Thursday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock and was totally destroyed, the fire originating from the exhaust into the dust pan. In the car with Mr. Foster was his wife and six children. None of the family were injured except one of the children which sustained slight burns about the foot. They were picked up by a passing car and brought to Seymour.

END CONFERENCE OVER TACNA-ARICA; PROTOCOL SIGNED

WASHINGTON, July 21.—The agreement of Chile and Peru to arbitrate their Tacna-Arica controversy was signed by the plenipotentiaries of the two government today at a final session of the Chile-Peruvian conference here.

Signature of the arbitration protocol and its complimentary act was begun at 11:43 and completed at 11:46 a. m.

The conference adjourned sine die at 12:19 p. m.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Representatives of the great and small nations assembled here today for the ceremony attending formal signature of the arbitration protocol marking the end of the Tacna-Arica conference begun here by the Chilean and Peruvian plenipotentiaries nearly ten weeks ago at the invitation of President Harding.

The Hall of the Americas in the Pan-American Union was fitted with chairs for several hundred spectators and except for a section reserved for officials, was thrown open to the public. It was said in diplomatic circles to be the first time in the recorded history of diplomacy that not even a card of admission was required to gain an opportunity to witness the signing of an important international agreement.

Signature of the protocol and its complimentary act was first on the program of the final session which was called to meet at 11:30 a. m. Afterward an hour was given over to a farewell exchange of felicitations ont the outcome of the negotiations with Secretary Tughes speaking for the United States, Carlos Aldunate and Ambassador Mathieu for Chile, and Dr. Melitoa Porras and Ambassador Pezet for Peru. Later the departing delegations had an oppointment to call at the white house and pay their respects to President Harding.

VICTORY FOR CONFERENCE PLAN OF NEGOTIATION

WASHINGTON, July 21.—The agreement of Chile and Peru to settle their ancient dispute over Tacna-Arica by arbitration was hailed by Secretary Hughes in a speech at the closing session of the Chilean-Peruvian conference today as a sweeping victory for the "conference plan of international negotiation."

If war is to be prevented when international controversies arise, the secretary declared, it can only be accomplished through the willingness of nations to provide for "the contracts of honorable and reasonable men who honestly desire to erase difficulties rather than to keep them alive."

The Tacna-Arica settlement, Mr. Hughes described as the greatest accomplishment of the generation in the direction of peace in the western hemisphere. On behalf of President Harding he accepted the designation of arbitrator given the chief executive in the arbitration protocol and thanked the delegates on both sides for the spirit in which they approached the tasks of the conference.

CALOMEL SALIVATES EVEN WHEN CAREFUL

Treacherous Drug can not be Trusted and Next Dose may Start Trouble

Calomel is dangerous. It may salivate you and make you suffer fearfully from soreness of gums, tenderness of jaws and teeth, swollen tongue, and excessive saliva dribbling from the mouth. Don't trust calomel. It is mercury; quicksilver.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

If you take calomel today you'll be sick and nauseated tomorrow; besides, it may salivate you, while if you will take Dodson's Liver Tone you will wake up feeling great. No salts necessary. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and can not salivate.—Adv.

DE LEON AGENT IS WARNED NOT TO DO WORK OF STRIKERS

DALLAS, July 21.—North Texas, suffering a partial tieup in traffic, today entered its fourth week of the railroad shopmen's strike following acts of violence during the past seven days reported to have been more numerous than the three previous like periods. Railroad officials say the only possible relief from the situation will be state or federal troop protection.

Station Agent Malone of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad at De Leon, has been told that he must quit doing the work of strikers or get out of town, according to W. G. Crush, passenger traffic manager of the Katy lines here. He said the activities of the strikers at De Leon are increasing daily and so far the strikers have prevented new men from taking their places. Shot guns were shipped to guards at De Leon last night from Denison.

The St. Louis, San Francisco had cancelled two trains in Texas, trains No. 3 and 4 between Paris and St. Louis, Frisco officials announced.

Lawlessness at Dallas, Fort Worth and Texarkana where assaults on railroad workers occurred within the past 48 hours "show the increasing boldness of the strikers" according to J. L. Lancaster, receiver of the Texas and Pacific.

Two men are out on bond under allegation of having threatened a Katy employe at Wichita Falls.

SEVERAL UNKNOWN MEN MEET DENVER ARE DISAPPOINTED

HENRIETTA, TEXAS, July 21.—Thursday night when the 10:40 Denver train arrived here there were about 10 or 12 cars of men wearing laborers clothes waiting at the station. These cars were all parked in the same direction ready to start at a moment's notice. Some of the men went on the train and spoke to the conductor, and it is thought by their manner and signals to each other that they expected to find a party or parties on the train but were disappointed.

They refused to talk or give out any information whatever pertaining to their business. They were not thought to be local men as they left immediately towards Wichita Falls and it is believed their business had something to do with the strike which is now going on.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC TRAIN ROBBED BY MEXICAN BANDITS

By Associated Press.

MEXICO CITY, July 21.—The Mexican war department today was considering what action to take on the report received late last night that a Southern Pacific train was attacked a few miles from Manatlan, in the state of Sinaloa, on Wednesday, when the express car and several passengers were robbed of 20,000 pesos by followers of General Juan Carrasco, who for several weeks has been leading a rebel movement against the federal government.

Although the train was carrying a small military convoy, the robbery was committed, according to the unofficial report, without the firing of a shot.

General Carransco is said to have a considerable following in Sinaloa and has given federal troops much trouble recently. Dispatches received here earlier in the week said he had requsted trms upon which to make a complete surrender.

GERALDINE FARRAR IS SUING HER HUSBAND FOR MONEY HE BORROWED

NEW YORK, July 21.—Geraldine Farrar, opera singer, who is suing her actor husband, Lou Tellegen, for divorce, has instituted another suit, it has been learned here, demanding payment of $9,600 she alleges her husband borrowed from her during their four years of living together.

Tellegen in his answer claims that the debt has been paid in full. Supreme Court Justice Donnelly denied an application filed by Miss Farrar's counsel which requested the court to compel Tellegen to state when, where and to whom the money was paid.

HARDING TO CONFER WITH HEAD OF BOARD

and results, then it is on the right track."

New Move Probable

The probability of a new move was revealed today after the president had been informed by Chairman Cummins and Senators Watson of Indiana and Kellogg of Minnesota of the interstate commerce committee of the details of the fruitless conference held by the senators last night with leading eastern railroad executives.

The information furnished the government through the conference, according to additional disclosures today, was that the principal points at issue in the strike controversy were restoration of the seniority and pension rights of the strikers and setting up a national board of adjustment.

The latter was received as a new factor by the president who was said to have been unadvised that this was a strong point at issue. Chairman Hooper, it was said, had not informed the president that the national board question was prominently involved, although labor leaders informed senators that it was being pressed as a condition precedent to return of the strikers to work.

On the question of the strikers' seniority rights—the big point at issue—the president was said to have been informed upon statements of the rail heads to the senators, that of 400,000 men who went on strike, places of 240,000 have been filled. The railroads, it was said, in hiring these men, guaranteed that they would be retained permanently if competent. The employers, it was said, regard this promise as a pledge and one interfering with return of the strikers, not only as to actual return to work, but in its effect on their seniority rights. The pension question, the rail executives were said to have indicated, might be yielded.

Claim Service Given

The statement that the freight service of the eastern lines were being maintained for the present at 100 per cent in spite of the strike was said to have been made by the executives and transmitted to Mr. Harding. The executives were reported to have conceded that 100 per cent service could not be continued indefinitely, but they believed it would not suffer a material reduction.

Another point in the strike on which the executives were said to have indicated a position to yield was that of letting shop work go to outside firms. Only two roads, the Erie and the Western Maryland, were said to be continuing this practice in violation of the orders of the railroad labor board and it was said to have been indicated that these roads were prepared to abandon the outside working contracts.

On the question of national adjustment board, the executives were reported adamant. The executives pointed out, it was stated, that the Pennsylvania and other railroads already have their own adjustment boards which were said to be working satisfactorily.

The executives were said to have expressed the opinion that the strike would not spread beyond the unions now involved. They were reported to have firm assurance on this point, one said to be causing much concern to the president and administration leaders.

Indications were given after the cabinet meeting that the president and his advisers regarded the industrial situation as serious although not without hope. It was stated, however, that the situation in neither the coal fields nor in the railroad centers was deemed sufficiently serious at the present moment to require use of federal troops.

INDICATIONS POINT TO A FIGHT TO A FINISH

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 21.—The strike of railway shopmen today bore increasing external appearances of a finish fight between the union men and rail heads.

An abortive conference at Washington last night between several railroad presidents and members of the senate interstate committee only revealed strengthened determination on the part of the railroads not to weaken in their declination to grant demands of the union men for reconsideration of the instructions which abolish seniority rights of the strikers, destroy their pension status and refuse creation of boards of adjustment.

The conference also revealed that it was regarded as unpracticable to pass legislation to deal with the present strike.

Ben W. Hooper, chairman of the railroad labor board, and B. M. Jewell, head of the railway employes' department of the American Federation of Labor and leader of the striking shopmen, would not comment early today when informed by the Associated Press of failure of the Washington conference to produce a hopeful sign.

So far as known here, no further plan toward solution of the strike situation was under way and speculation turned to what might be the next step by the federal government.

As the strike of 300,000 shopmen rounded out its third week its effect on transportation was becoming increasingly evident as reports from throughout the country told of annulment of nearly 300 trains and combining of numerous others.

On the one hand there were additional reports of replacements of strikers with increasing efforts to safeguard them, while the ranks of the strikers were said by union chiefs to have remained at full strength.

The number of strikers has been increased by walkouts in other departments of some railroads, the latest of consequence being that of 3,000 clerks on the Chesapeake and Ohio.

Numerous reports of violence continued, spread from Fresno, Cal., to Worcester, Mass., and troops were ordered out in two additional states, making eight in which national guardsmen now are on duty.

Strike ballots were ordered distributed to clerks and freight handlers on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway and clerks on the Chicago and Northwestern today were awaiting the outcome of a conference between their chief, George A. Worrell, and Frank Walters, general manager of the road.

E. F. Grable, president of the maintenance of way union, was in Detroit today for a conference of the grand lodge of the organization. The conference was expected to determine whether the maintenance of way men would follow President Grable's peace program.

In the additions yesterday to the list of trains annulled were:

Other Trains Annulled.

Six locals of the Chicago and Northwestern operated in Iowa; two on the St. Louis and San Francisco between Birmingham and Memphis; six Wabash trains on the Cincinnati division; twenty local and suburban of the Northern Pacific at St. Paul; two Great Northern trains between St. Paul and Devil's Lake, N. D., and two between Grand Forks and Fargo, N. D. Fifty per cent of the Northern Pacific's service out of Duluth also was added to the list.

Troops were asked of Governor Kendall to protect Chicago Great Western railroad property at Oelwein, Iowa, and outbreaks at Concord, N. H., caused the governor to send state troops there. In Kansas troops were placed on guard at Hoisington. Plans to remove troops from Wayeross, Ga., were abandoned.

One death was included in the reports of violence. It was that of a railroad guard at Burlington, Kan. He was found dead with one shell of his shotgun exploded.

Three employes of the Texas and Pacific at Fort Worth were flogged.

A non-union employe of the Erie at Rankin, Ill., was escorted out of town and told not to return.

Six men were in jail today at Augusta, Ga., charged with interfering with the mails. It was alleged they delayed an Atlanta Coast Line mail train by attacking car repairers.

Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad officials denied charges by B. M. Wilson, chairman of that road's striking shopmen, that railroads purposely were delaying mail trains to force calling out federal troops.

VOLLEY OF SHOTS FIRED IN POPLAR BLUFF YARDS

POPLAR BLUFF, MO., July 21.—A volley of shots was heard this morning at the railroad yards where national guardsmen are patrolling railroad property. There was no one wounded, and national guard officers refused to say who fired the shots.

The "big four" brotherhood at Chafee, near here, have asked Governor Hyde to remove the troops from there, saying the guardsmen are unnecessary. Non-union men have replaced the strikers and there has been no violence.

GOVERNOR ORDERS OUT TWO COMPANIES GUARD

CONCORD, N. H., July 21.—Two companies of the New Hampshire national guard ordered out by Governor Brown on requests from Mayor Chamberlain and the Boston and Maine railroad were assigned today to duty on railroad property here. The troops comprise 150 officers and men.

TROOPS TO SOUTHWEST PART OF PENNSYLVANIA

HARRISBURG, PA., July 21.—Pennsylvania cavalrymen and machine gunners are moving into Cambria, Indiana, Somerset, Washington and Westmoreland counties in the southwestern part of the state today to prevent disorder when bituminous mines are reopened. The whole power of the state government is being massed behind them. State policemen in the affected districts will act with the soldiers.

SHOPMEN HAVE NOT REQUESTED CONFERENCE

RICHMOND, VA., July 21.—A statement made public here today by W. J. Harahan, president of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad, that "we are always willing to meet with representatives of our shopmen but up to date have not received a request for a conference" will be considered late today at a meeting of the executive committee of the city federation of railroad shop crafts, S. I. Cottrell, president of the federation, announced.

VVIRTUALLY 50 PER CENT WAGE INCREASE ASKED

ST. LOUIS, July 21.—Maintenance of way men on the Missouri Pacific have asked a virtually 50 per cent wage increase, it was announced today. The matter will be submitted to the labor board, it was stated. The men asked that the scale fixed in July of 1921 be re-established.

FILE SUIT TO TEST THE JURISDICTION OF COURT

KANSAS CITY, July 21.—The right of the Kansas court of industrial relations to assume jurisdiction over the strike of the railroad shopmen is questioned in a suit filed today under the declaratory judgment law in the Wyandotte county (Kansas) district court. The plaintiffs in the case are six labor leaders in Kansas City, Kan.

Dallas Hits and Steals At Will As Spudders Drop Second of Series

DALLAS, TEXAS, July 21.—An unfortunate break in the fifth inning cost the Spudders a ball game here yesterday and enabled the Giants to keep pace with the league leaders, both of whom emerged victorious in their contests. The final count was 6 to 3 with the Salmites on the short end.

The break occurred after two men had been retired and the Dallasites had scored once. Massey was on first by virtue of a scratch hit through Adams. He took too long a lead off first base and should have been caught standing up when Kitchens pegged to Beck. The latter, however, figured that Massey would dive back into the bag and while he was swinging around to tag him, Massey scooted to second. Then the fusilade started. Shields, Segrist and Galloway singled in rapid succession and all stole second. Four runs were over by this time and Wheeler assumed the burden. Donohue and Lovelace greeted him with one base clouts and a perfect peg to the plate by Homer Summa which caught Donohue trying to score from second on a single retired the side.

Fred Beck poled his twelfth circuit clout of the season and it was the only earned run chalked up by the Spudders off the delivery of Roy Mitchell. The two scored in the second were the result of a couple of errors.

The fielding of "Shorty" Adams was an outstanding feature of the game. He robbed the home crew of at least three singles and handled 11 chances in faultless fashion. The box score:

Beaumont to Gulf League.

The Beaumont franchise is to be forfeited at the end of the current season, according to a story emanating from the Exporter city. Many suspected as much when Manager Joe Mathes announced a few weeks ago that he was to retire from baseball at the end of the campaign. The Exporters have been kept alive for several years by the northern clubs. Even during the first half of this season when the Exporters were in the race the attendance in Beaumont was poor, yet this is true of practically every southern club. It is usually a losing proposition for a northern club to make a southern invasion, but the southern clubs walk away with the velvet when they come north.

Southern Clubs Rule.

Despite this fact, the northern clubs, especially Wichita Falls, get the worst end of the schedule. When the Spudders finish their coming home stay, the season is practically over as far as local fandom is concerned. They come back at the close of the season for a few games with Fort Worth, but they will be on the road for practically a month. A manager of a club which recently played in Wichita Falls is quoted as saying that "though the league gets all its money from the northern clubs, the southern organizations rule the league." He spoke volumes.

Galveston Here Saturday.

The Spudders open at Athletic park Saturday with Galveston, the one club that is now making it warm for the Cats and which is in a tie for the top rung. The Crabs will furnish the amusement for three days. The Spudders have a happy faculty of bumping off league leaders and must keep it up. Everything depends upon their showing during the home stand. They have a wide gap to close up—four and a half games—and unless it is closed while they are home, the chances are that it won't be this year.

Every Club To Be Met Here.

The Buffs follow the Crabs to Athletic park and will be here four days. Then come the Exporters for three. The Bears will be the guests the next four days and will wind up the invasion of the southern clubs for 1922. The Gassers make their farewell appearance here in the next series which will last four days and Dallas will come for the last time after the Gassers. The Giants will spend five days here. The Spudders then hit the road and will be gone until September 11 when they wind up the season here with a four game series with the Cats.

A Mere Piece of Paper.

When will Jack Dempsey and Harry Wills get together for the heavyweight championship of the world? That is the question that is uppermost in the minds of the fight fans throughout the country. The two have agreed to meet, but no mention has been made of the site or the time. The contract signed by the two scrappers states that the contest must be held within sixty days after a bid for such a contest has been accepted, but there is no time limit on the acceptance of the bid. Hence, an offer might not be accepted until the middle of 1923 or thereafter. No forfeits were put up. In other words, the piece of paper signed by Dempsey and Wills doesn't amount to much more than a piece of paper. Dempsey complied with the request of the New York Commission by agreeing to accept Wills' challenge, but he ducked anything specific.

How About Montreal?

As to the site of the bout, Montreal seems logical. There would be other attractions in the Canadian city besides the fight, though it isn't Mr. Volstead's fault.

MOST VALUABLE PLAYERS

MEADOWS OF PHILLY

There is no question as to the most valuable player on the Philadelphia Nationals.

The honor goes to Pitcher Lee Meadows. The bespectacled twirler of the Phillies is a remarkable player. On a winning team he would be regarded as a wonder.

The fact that for several years he has been with a tailender has in no way affected his work. He always gives his best efforts.

Meadows is wise in the art of pitching, a good student of human nature, fighting valiantly for a lost cause.

Two other players who have proved their worth to the Phillies are Catcher Henline and the veteran infielder, Art Fletcher. Henline's excellent work behind the bat has won much praise.

LEE MEADOWS

Left Earful.

He rambled down to first and then
He rambled to number two,
And there he goes on down to third—
A baseman's there—he's through.

Right Earful.

The pitcher stood upon the mound,
He'd let his fortieth run,
It was some game, so say we all,
A sandlot game—for fun.

UNUSUAL DELIVERIES WIN FAME FOR SOME PITCHERS

Unusual deliveries are the exception in baseball. Most pitchers are content to stick to the fast ball, curve and a change of pace.

When some pitcher springs a new one on the unsuspecting fans and players it is only natural that his efforts should be widely exploited.

Elmer Stricklett and Jack Chesbro won fame and columns of publicity years ago with the spitball delivery. This style of delivery because of its great effectiveness became very popular.

The great Christy Mathewson was known throughout the sporting world for his "fadeaway." Other pitchers have used the fadeaway, but none ever seemed to put it over with the success of "Matty."

Russell Ford, on his entry into the American league, was the most talked about man at baseball. At first Ford was credited with using a spitball that he could make break as he desired.

Ford was the sensation of the American league for several years. Then it developed that Ford was meeting with great success not through the spitball but rather the emery ball, an illegal method.

Ford carried a piece of emery paper concealed in the pocket of his glove which had a good sized opening. Ford would roughen the ball on the emery paper. Then, according to the way he delivered the ball, would get the break desired.

Next appeared on the scene Eddie Cicotte. The former White Sox pitcher conceived the idea of loading the seams. This enabled the pitcher to get a firmer grip on the ball, and also caused it to carry a trifle more weight on one side.

This added weight through forcing dirt or other substances in the seam made it possible for Cicotte to do freak things with the ball.

Cicotte was also the inventor of the shine ball, and the black and white ball.

In using the shine ball Cicotte used a foreign substance which, when applied to the ball and then rubbed on the uniform, caused a spot as big as a half dollar to take on a high polish one shine. This spot lessened friction, and with it Cicotte could get a better break on the ball than with a spitter.

The black and white ball was merely an optical illusion. Cicotte would discolor about half the ball. Then as he delivered the ball to the plate and it rotated in the air it would greatly confuse the batter, as he would lose sight of the ball momentarily as the black side came toward him.

Carl Mays is a much talked about pitcher because no other twirler in either major league resorts to the under-hand delivery that is peculiar to Mays.

The mastery of the pitcher became so great that the spitball and all other freak deliveries, made possible by doctoring the ball, were legislated out of the game.

The latest pitcher to make a bid for fame with a peculiar style ball is Herb Pruett of the St. Louis Browns.

Pruett throws a fadeaway that in many ways is similar to the one Mathewson used. The fact that Pruett is a left-hander makes the ball all the more puzzling.

Pruett's fadeaway has only a slight curve to it as it fades away from the batter, so to speak. Rather it acts more like a slow spitball, although it has proved much harder to time. It breaks rather sharply downward.

TWENTY-SIX FOR ROGERS.

ST. LOUIS, MO., July 21.—Rogers Hornsby of the St. Louis Nationals knocked his 26th home run of the season in the sixth inning of yesterday's game with Boston. One man was on base and Marquard was the victim. This surpasses the modern National league record by two home runs.

To the Men and Women Voters of Wichita Falls

Owing to the fact that I have been busily engaged in the discharge of the duties of the office of the Justice of Peace, I have been unable to personally see all of the voters of this precinct to present to them my candidacy for re-election.

During my tenure of office I have strived to the utmost of my ability to discharge the duties of that office impartially and to the end that justice may be done. I feel that I have given general satisfaction to the public and that my service has been of some benefit to the community at large.

It is impossible for me to see all of the voters of the precinct and to personally place before each one just what I have done and how I have discharged the duties of that office. I respectfully refer the voters to any attorney in the city who has practiced before me and I am willing for such attorney to advise the voter just how and in what manner I have discharged my duties.

I hope to be favored with your vote for relection and I especially solicit the vote of the women for this precinct and I pledge one and all, if re-elected, that I will give my entire time and attention to the office and do everything in my power to see that the laws are impartially enforced.

Yours very respectfully,

R. V. GWINN.

JURY EXCUSED FOR WEEK FRIDAY; NO COURTS SATURDAY

The jury panel for the week was excused Friday morning when it was evident that no more criminal cases were ready for trial, in the 30th district court. The other courts had no cases in which a jury was required.

In view of election day Saturday the court's will undoubtedly enjoy a whole holiday. The custom has been instituted during the summer months of holding court only on Saturday morning and adjourning at noon.

It is very likely that no court will be held Saturday morning but the judges will be present to take care of any emergency matters that might arise.

U. S. WOULD RECEIVE QUOTA OF GERMAN DYES ACCORDING TO PLANS

PARIS, July 21.—The American government would receive its quota of German dyes amounting to more than $3,000,000 annually as part payment for maintaining its army on the Rhine under the terms of a plan being worked out by the American government with the reparations commission. Final approval is expected within several weeks.

The reparations commission regards the plan as a successful solution of how the United States is to be paid for keeping its forces on the Rhine and it is indicated the American government has endorsed the plan.

Under the proposed scheme the American government probably would receive the money for dyes which is now paid the reparations commission by the Textile alliance of America.

VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL TO GIVE CANTATA NEXT SUNDAY

An announcement regarding the vacation Bible school at the Floral Heights M. E. church says:

"The Floral Heights Methodist church has pioneered in this city in this new venture in church work, it having been the first congregation to hold a daily vacation Bible school. Dr. Groseclose secured the services, early in May, of Miss Opal Bally, a teacher of experience, for this work. She has been assisted by Mrs. Rhodes. The enrollment was limited to 40 and has been full during the entire six weeks. Today marks the close of their class work. The school has been in session three hours each day. The progress made is remarkable. The pupils have had 90 hours of work, which is more than three times what the average protestant child gets in a year in the regular work of the Sunday school. The pupils will give some drills in connection with the Sunday evening service next Sunday and on next Tuesday night will present a cantata, 'A Dream in Fairyland,' to the public.

"The churches all over the country are conducting these schools. They have passed the experimental stage. We are already planning for a five teacher force next summer and an attendance of at least 100, with departments for beginners, juniors, primaries and intermediates."

Outside Our Universe

ONE of the most remarkable photographs ever made was taken the other day at the Mount Wilson Observatory, near Pasadena, Calif. It was a picture of the famous star cluster known to astronomers as Messier 13. The cluster is outside of our universe. In fact, it is so far away that the photograph was taken by rays of light which started from it 300 centuries ago. Thus, in the picture, we see the cluster as it was long before the dawn of the earliest civilization on the earth.

When it is realized that light travels 186,000 miles a second—its speed the same as that of electricity—we get a notion of the enormous distance represented. Figure out the number of miles traversed by a light ray in 300 centuries and you will have it with reasonable exactness.

The photograph shows 30,000 stars in the cluster, which appears globular in form, as if gathered about a center where they are so thickly massed as to be visually merged into one blaze. All of them, of course, are burning suns.

Our own sun at that distance would not be visible to the most powerful telescope, because not big enough. Hence it is obvious that the 30,000 stars which appear in the photograph must all of them be giants. Astronomers reckon that many of them are more than 1000 times as big as our solar luminary, and that some of them must be at least 100,000 times as bright.

This star cluster, though it looks globular, is thought to be probably oblate-spheroidal in shape, perhaps revolving about its shorter axis. It is moving through space at a rate of 200 miles a second and appears to be traveling toward us. If that be really the case, it may reach our universe (which we call the Milky Way) in about 50,000,000 years.

Messier 13 is so far away that we cannot at all realize its immensity. It is an isolated system of stars, in which only the biggest and brightest ones are visible to the high-power telescope, and its size is so enormous that a ray of light would require at least a thousand years to traverse the length of its diameter.

Yet Messier 13 is only one of many such "cosmic units" outside of our universe. It is the star cluster nearest to us. Others much more distant have been discovered.

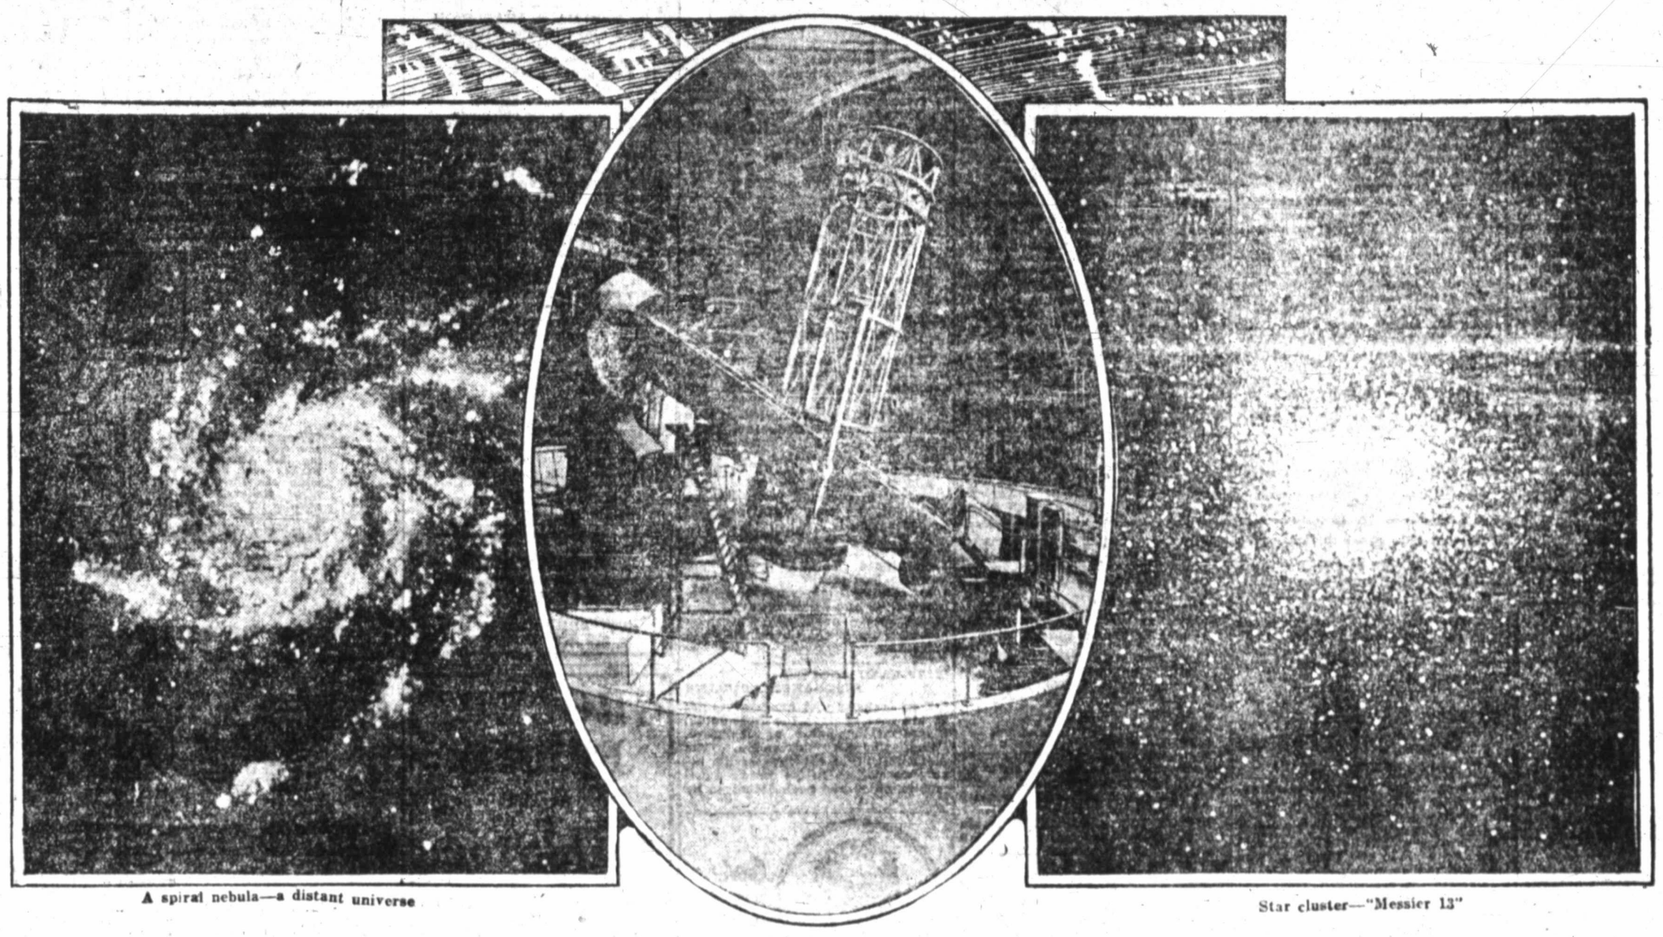

Recent development of astronomical knowledge, keeping pace with the building of bigger and better telescopes, has given us acquaintance with certain objects in the heavens which far surpass in interest even the star clusters. They are so-called "spiral nebulae," whose distance from us is reckoned not in thousands, but in millions of "light years." Compared with the nearest of them, the most distant of the star clusters is almost close at hand.

These objects are not really nebulae at all, though formerly mistaken for such because they appear as bright, hazy patches in the night sky. They are believed to be other universes, perhaps equal in dimensions to our own or of even greater size. One of them is so far away that a ray of light would take 10,000,000 years to traverse the gap of space that separates it from our own galaxy.

From that distance our universe could not be seen with the unaided eye, and even with a high-power telescope it would appear only as a little patch of brightness in the sky.

The newest astronomical theory is that our universe, instead of having the shape of a disk (as hitherto supposed), has in reality the form of a spiral; in other words, that its structure is in a general way similar to that of those other universes which have been called "spiral nebulae."

The spiral nebulae are moving through space at an average speed of 480 miles a second. Our own universe, as an entirety, is traveling nearly if not quite that fast. But what these movements signify in the tremendous mechanism of the cosmos is a mystery which science in all likelihood will never solve.

A New Lightning Camera

IMAGINE a photographic camera that can take pictures at a rate of 100,000 per minute. That is the speed of the ingenious contrivance newly invented by C. Francis Jenkins, of Washington, D. C. It is a wonder. Another miracle thus is added to science's long list.

Ordinary moving pictures are made at the rate of sixteen to the second. This machine takes 1600 per second—makes them, that is to say, 100 times as fast.

Now and then one sees on the movie screen those slow-action pictures which have so curious and interesting an effect to the eye. A horse leaping a fence does it with astonishing deliberation. Two wrestlers striving together are weirdly lazy in their movements. The effect, of course, is produced by taking the photographs at very high speed.

But this speed is really slow compared with that of the camera here described, which takes the pictures so fast that a shell fired from a big, high-power cannon, though actually it leaves the muzzle with a velocity of half a mile a second, seems almost ridiculously deliberate in its flight. And when it finally arrives at the target it seems to crawl into the latter, burying itself in a gradual way, with much visible agitation of the disturbed metal immediately surrounding the point of impact.

A camera that takes 1600 pictures a second

The United States Air Service is turning this new high-speed camera to useful account for certain practical purposes, one of which is a study of the airplane propeller in action.

For a long time it has been known that, for some unexplained reason, an airplane propeller is less efficient when revolving at a very high speed than at a lower speed. Photographs taken at 1600 to the second on the ground showed, when the films were developed and the pictures thrown upon the screen, that the lessened efficiency of the propeller was due simply to the fact that when whirling very fast it undergoes a certain amount of warping. In other words, the tremendous pressure of the air so deforms its shape that some of its effectiveness as an air wheel is lost.

The Air Service is constantly trying to acquire new knowledge which may make it practicable to improve the flying machine. Much, it is believed, remains yet to be learned from the soaring birds. Now, for instance, is the buzzard able to circle high in air above one spot without moving its wings?

Two theories are suggested to account for the phenomenon. One is that the buzzard is enabled thus to circle by opposing its wings to currents of air. The other is that the feathers of the wings have very rapid movements for each feather.

The former of these ideas seems much more likely to be the correct one; but during the present summer the question is to be tested by airplanes, which, carrying rapid-fire cameras, will fly alongside the buzzards and take movie pictures of the birds in flight. It is a curious fact that birds are not afraid of flying machines, which they seem to regard as winged creatures like themselves, and therefore no trouble is expected in getting near enough to the buzzards to obtain good-sized pictures of them—pictures, that is to say, which will show every movement of their feathers.

Pictures have already been taken with the lightning cameras of pigeons released from baskets, showing the action of their wings, which have thus proved to operate as solid planes on the down stroke, but to separate—the wing-feathers, that is to say—like the fingers of a hand on the upstroke.

Of no serious importance, yet interesting, were photographs made of a girl jumping a rope, which showed that on the upfling of the rope the loop thereof travels much faster than any other part of it.

The camera used in these novel experiments is operated by an electric motor of one-half horsepower, which rotates a disk of glass that is a prism in the form of a ring. In revolving, the prism shifts from base-in to base-out with lightning-like rapidity, owing to the form in which the glass is cut. To describe it more intelligently in words is hardly possible. Suffice it, however, to say that there is no opening or shutting of the lens, which is open all the time. The effect, optically speaking, is exactly as if the ray of light that carries to the camera's eye the image of the object seen were shifting rapidly to and fro on a hinge.

The Future of the Balloon

IF, AS spoil of war, we get that big Zeppelin from Germany, we can use it to advantage in our business. Airships, and big ones, our air service must have, to render our fleet of airplanes efficient. They should, of course, be filled with helium gas, which is non-explosive and non-combustible (instead of hydrogen), and plenty of this essential could be furnished for less than the $300,000 which Congress now spends annually on the graft of "free seeds."

Under present conditions our air forces are hampered and their efficiency impaired by ground obstacles. Planes are in a sense tied to the ground, being unable to fly beyond a limited distance from the aerodromes because of the necessity of obtaining at frequent intervals fresh supplies of gasoline, etc. In time of war destroyed railroads and blown-up bridges would interfere with the transport of bombs, machine-gun ammunition and other material.

The solution of this problem is expected to be found in the weight-carrying balloon, which, independent of ground obstacles, and able even to float over mountain ranges if desired, can deliver supplies for airplanes and smaller balloons wherever they may happen to be needed at the moment. By such means it would be practicable to maintain a coast-line airway all the way from Maine to Florida and along the shores of the Gulf, with a series of landing fields. No matter where an enemy fleet might attack, our air forces could be quickly concentrated, with the help of aerial transport from central points, and checkmate the foe.

When, as is now the case, the air forces are tied to land transport, each landing field must have large supplies of gasoline, ammunition, etc. But if big balloons were available, to carry such material and deliver it at any time wherever it was needed, bare fields would serve the purpose—fields, that is to say, suitable for landing, but without establishments.

With such an arrangement the number of air stations required would be much less, with a corresponding saving of expense. There would be no necessity for keeping great quantities of supplies in numerous places, inasmuch as weight-carrying airships could distribute them from a few central points as immediate need arose, the transportation, of course, being accomplished in very brief time. Wherever the fighting aircraft might be required for service, there they could be promptly concentrated, with all requisite material quickly fetched for their use.

The three principal types of flying machines developed for war purposes at the present time are pursuit planes, attack planes and bombardment planes. The first of these is designed for fighting other planes in the air. The last is otherwise called a "bomber," its business being to drop high explosives upon enemy works or ships. It is a high flier, being expected to ascend to altitudes of two or three miles.

The attack plane is a flying machine-gun battalion. It may carry as many as eight machine guns and a light cannon. Its special business is to destroy the enemy's personnel—to assail troops on the march or landing from ships, etc. It is also a deadly foe to supply trains, and is effective against tanks. With its battery of machine guns it can sweep the ground beneath it as a housewife would sweep back and forth with her broom.

An important purpose which is expected to be served by the big weight-carrying balloons is that of a "mother" airship operating far out at sea. Suppose a case where an enemy fleet had approached as near as 200 miles to our Atlantic coast. Bombing machines would be sent out to attack. But they would have to be protected by pursuit planes sent up by the fleet.

A pursuit plane, however, carries only gasoline enough to travel for two hours, or about 200 miles. Obviously, then, such planes could not be sent 200 miles out to sea, inasmuch as they would get there with their fuel exhausted, and would have no means of getting back. But if a mother airship were stationed 100 miles out, she could renew the gasoline supply of the pursuit planes, enabling them to keep on seaward and help the bombers. On their return the airship would refill their fuel tanks again for a fresh attack on the enemy, or to enable them to return to the shore. The mother ship, of course, would be far enough from the hostile fleet to be safe from attack by the planes carried by that fleet.

A new idea in contemplation by our air service is that of making big airships carry a few planes of the pursuit type, which can be attached to the hull of the big balloon by an arrangement of hooks.

Breeding the Pearl Oyster

NEARLY all of the pearls that go to make up the gorgeous and expensive "ropes" now so much affected by fashionable women and chorus ladies are derived from a bivalve mollusk called the pearl oyster; though, as a matter of fact, it is not a true oyster at all. But never mind about that. There are, as everybody knows, pearl oyster fisheries in the Persian Gulf, in certain Japanese waters and in various other parts of the world.

It is only in the Gulf of California, however, that a successful effort has been made to breed pearl oysters, the plant established for the purpose being located in San Gabriel Cove, Espiritu Santo Island.

There a lagoon is cut off from the waters of the gulf by a massive barrier of masonry, and behind the latter is a long zigzag canal built of concrete. The canal is used for rearing baby pearl oysters, and its entrance is screened by gates of wire net to keep out mollusk-eating fishes, starfishes and other enemies.

During the breeding season heavy framed wire-covered crates containing lattice trays of wood are placed on the bottom of the lagoon, in order that the free-swimming infant bivalves may attach themselves thereupon and proceed to grow. To make sure that there shall be plenty of such "spat," a number of spawning oysters are put into each crate.

The bottom of the lagoon is cleaned of plant growth and has been paved with stones by divers in armor. When the young oysters are an inch or two in diameter they are brought into the canal, cleaned of any seaweeds their shells may have acquired and placed in shallow wire trays in lattice racks, being thus supported above the bottom and exposed to the tidal flow of the water.

Through the canal the tide flows and ebbs, carrying multitudes of minute plants and animalcules to feed the growing oysters. A thatched covering runs along the whole length of the zigzag ditch of concrete, affording a shelter to protect the bivalves against the heat when the water is low.

After eight or nine months in the canal the oysters are returned to the lagoon in the crates and left there to grow until they are three years old. Smooth inclined planes of concrete along the sloping beach facilitate the manipulation of the crates, which are dragged over them into and out of the sea.

By this ingenious method the pearl oyster, hitherto a wild animal, has been reduced to a sort of domestication; and fishing for it, under ordinary conditions a hazardous business, is deprived of its dangers. The production of pearls is necessarily more or less accidental, but the shells, so highly valued for buttons and articles of ornament, yield the bulk of the money income derived from the enterprise.

The business of breeding pearl oysters is an industry in itself, though this is not generally known.

Plants That Now Are Coal

Leaves and flowers that grew millions of years ago

BENEATH every coal seam is a stratum of so-called "fire clay," which once upon a time was soil that supported a plant growth of wonderful luxuriance. It is full of fossil plant roots and contains abundant impressions of twigs, leaves, nuts and delicate ferns—sometimes even flowers. The impressions show that ferns and giant mosses of extinct species contributed very largely to the making of the coal.

Stump "casts" are found plentifully in the strata of slate which immediately overlie seams of coal, and now and then the miners come upon an entire fossil trunk of a big tree mashed flat between layers of this black slate, which anciently was mud.

The age of these fossils can only be estimated. Science tells us they are millions of years old.

MAKE PORCH A DINING ROOM

By BERTHA E. SHAPLEIGH
Cooking Authority for NEA Service and Columbia University

The coming weeks will offer plenty of opportunities for serving on the piazza or porch, either the family meals or refreshments to friends who call.

Make the porch as attractive as possible with comfortable chairs, rugs, flowers and a good table for serving.

The other necessary things are tall glasses for iced tea or cocoa, punch glasses for punch, light but serviceable trays and any other of the many additional things which make porch serving attractive.

It is quite possible to serve a variety of cold drinks at home instead of allowing the family to purchase them at soda fountains. Sugar and water boiled five minutes to make a sirup may be kept bottled and always ready for sweetening beverages.

There are many bottled fruit juices, as grape juice, loganberry and pineapple; but lemon and orange juices are always better when fresh fro mthe fruit.

Charged waters add greatly to punches and fruit juices. A siphon of soda is a great addition to punch and will give it the necessary sparkle and effervescence.

A small amount of ice cream, fruit juices or chocolate and sugar charged from a siphon will make an ice cream soda equal to that which one buys.

An easy and an excellent drink is made by mixing equal parts of ginger ale and grape juice. Serve from a pitcher.

Small cakes and cookies may be kept on hand and sandwiches made at a moment's notice. Thus prepared one may offer porch hospitality at any time.

What to Serve for Sunday Dinner

By BERTHA E. SHAPLEIGH
Cooking Authority for NEA Service and Columbia University.

To every housekeeper and cook once a week comes the question of what to have for Sunday night supper, especially when guests are coming.

In winter there must be one dish which will be satisfying and hot. In summer what will be satisfying and cool is the question.

The cook must be considered also and it is always wise to have those dishes which to a large extent may be made on Saturday.

Cold meat, cold cooked eggs, molded meat, fish, vegetables and fruit all offer suggestions.

Sandwiches and desserts, as custards or jellies, which may be made ahead of time and served with little trouble are all good to have.

Following are a few suggested menus:

I
Cold Ham with Potato Salad
Plain Bread and Butter
Cut-up Fruit (served in glasses)
Cake—Iced Tea

II
Sandwiches
(One with meat or egg, one sweet or plain)
Iced Cocoa with Beaten Cream
Cake

III
Stuffed Eggs with Tomato and Lettuce
Baking Powder Biscuits
Hot Cookies—Tea

IV
Molded Fruit Salad
Cream Cheese Sandwiches
Layer Cake—Tea or Coffee

V
Hot Chicken Sandwiches
Olives or Pickles
Cold Coffee Souffle
Wafers—Tea

In the first menu the cut-up fruit is very good and uses up a small amount of fruit, as one banana or one orange, or half a melon, which have been left.

Also any canned or preserved fruit left over, or a few strawberries, all may be mixed together and sprinkled with sugar. Half a cup of loganberry juice or ginger ale improves the taste.

Allow the fruit to stand in a cold place and at serving time, put in glasses, and on top of each a spoonful of beaten cream.

Iced tea and coffee are best when made fresh and poured hot over the ice. Cocoa, however, is not improved by being served that way.

Make the cocoa several hours before serving and let it become cold, then serve with ice if necessary and beaten cream on top of each glass.

Recipe for Best Bread in Arkansas

AGNES M'KIBBON

The champion bread baker of Arkansas is Agnes McKibbon, 18 and unmarried, Murfreesboro.

In a state-wide contest in which 75 counties each entered 14 contestants, she made the loaf that won the unanimous choice.

This is the recipe she used:
1 tablespoon sugar,
1 tablespoon shortening,
1½ teaspoon salt,
1 cup boiling water,
1 cup scalding milk,
1 yeast cake,
6 cups flour.

Put sugar, shortening and salt in bowl and pour over them the hot liquid. Mix yeast cake in one-quarter cup of lukewarm water and stir in the yeast.

Add sifted flour and stir until smooth. Turn dough on a floured board and knead until elastic. Return to bowl, cover and let stand for two and one-half hours in a warm place.

Turn out and knead again. Shape loaf and place in greased pan. After about one hour, or when dough is double its bulk, bake in a hot oven for 50 to 60 minutes.

Just before taking from oven rub crust with melted butter. Cool where air can circulate freely.

Mackerel in Jelly

By BERTHA E. SHAPLEIGH
Cooking Authority for NEA Service and Columbia University

During hot weather plan to have fish and meat oftentimes cold instead of hot. The following recipe is very good and hearty enough to be served as the main dish for luncheon or supper. Any fish may be used in the same way:

1 two-pound mackerel,
3 cups cold water,
1 small piece bay leaf,
2 sliced onion,
1 sprig parsley,
2 teaspoons of salt,
2 tablespoons vinegar,
2 tablespoons of granulated gelatine,
½ cup of cold water,
1 cup of sour cream,
2 tablespoons grated horse radish,
1 tablespoon vinegar.
Salt to taste.

Cut off head and tail of mackerel and cook in the water with the seasonings, salt and vinegar until tender.

Take from the water, remove skin and bones and separate into small pieces. Strain the liquid remaining and add boiling water to make two cups.

Add the gelatine which has been dissolved in the cold water, season with salt and pepper and allow it to become cool.

As it begins to set add the mackerel and turn into molds which have been dipped in cold water. Set away to harden.

At serving time, unmold on lettuce leaves and serve with the sour cream beaten until stiff, to which has been added the horseradish and seasoning.

Prune Pudding

By BERTHA E. SHAPLEIGH
Cooking authority for NEA Service and Columbia University.

1 cup cooked prunes.
1½ cups prune juice.
½ cup of sugar.
1 tablespoon corn starch.
1-inch piece stick cinnamon.
Whites 3 eggs.

Remove pits from prunes and cut prunes in pieces. Heat the prune juice to the boiling point, add the sugar, cinnamon and corn starch diluted with enough water to pour easily.

Cook, stirring constantly, until the mixture thickens. Then cook until clear—about 10 minutes.

Add the prunes, 1 tablespoon of lemon juice, the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs. Thoroughly beat and turn into a mold or molds.

When cool turn out on dishes and serve with cream or a soft custard made with yolks of eggs.

For the custard use:
1½ cups milk,
3 tablespoons sugar,
½ teaspoon salt.
Yolks 3 eggs.
½ teaspoon vanilla extract.

Scald the milk, beat the eggs slightly with the sugar and salt. Add the hot milk to the eggs, cook over hot water until the mixture coats the spoon. Strain. When cool add the vanilla.

INSECTS AT YELLOWSTONE ARE NOT GRASSHOPPERS

LIVINGSTON, MONT., July 21.—Insects, buried for thousands of years in a glacier in Yellowstone park known as Grasshopper glacier, are not grasshoppers at all, but an unclassified insect now extinct, according to William C. Alden, expert in glacial geology for the United States government, who has just completed an extensive investigation in the Yellowstone.

Specimens will be taken to Washington, D. C., for further investigation and scientific classification.

Certainly does depend upon the quality of the cooking fat that you use. The really rich taste of the meat is what you want to bring out, and that's why I recommend Mrs. Tucker's Shortening. Corn and oats were firmer with wheat. After opening ¼c to ¼c higher, September 64¾ to 64¾c, the corn market strengthened a little more.

Brisk export business helped the corn market upward until wheat prices began to recede. Then the corn market weakened and the close was easy at a shade to ¼c net decline, with September 64¼c to 64½ @¾c.

Oats started unchanged to ¼c higher, September 36c, and held close to the initial figures.

Provisions went upward with hogs.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, July 21.—Aside from fractional recessions in several of the leading rails and coalers, initial quotations in the stock market today indicated further indifference on the part of traders to the more serious labor situation. Mexican Petroleum, Gulf States Steel and American Ice at gains of one to two points, were the constructive features with renewed buying of equipments, coppers, leathers and textiles in moderate volume. Studebaker continued to show further selling pressure and several of the less prominent motors were fractionally lower. U. S. Rubber lost a point, probably as a result of reports of a forthcoming reduction in the crude product. Foreign exchanges were slightly higher on the better tone of the London market.

Shorts engaged in a general raid of the list at midday. Mexican Petroleum suffered an extreme reaction of 5¼ points, Standard Oil of New Jersey showed a loss of 3¼ points and Crucible Steel, Studebaker, United States Rubber and United Fruit fell to two points. Atlantic Coast line and Louisville and Nashville at gains of 1¼ to 3 points, respectively, were marked exceptions to the lower trend.

The closing was heavy. Sales approximated 700,000 shares.

Call It Minor if They Want to, Says Dr. Knickerbocker

The friends of Dr. H. D. Knickerbocker will be glad to read a telegram received from him from Scott and White's sanitarium at Temple, where he underwent an operation on Thursday. The message says:

"Operation successfully completed. Hour on the table with my eyes open. Didn't know there was as much pain in the world as I'm feeling, but they say I'm doing fine. Tell my friends that anything they can think of to distract my painful mind will be received with great gratitude. They say this is a minor operation, but I think it's a major general."

Mrs. Knickerbocker and Ronald are with Dr. Knickerbocker in Temple. It will be at least two weeks before he will be able to leave the sanitarium. At the end of this time he will be joined by his family in Dallas and will spend the month of August there recuperating from his operation and getting in trim for an aggressive campaign in his church work next fall, says an announcement.

To the VOTERS of WICHITA COUNTY

I take this means of thanking you for your kind and courteous treatment throughout this campaign.

I have tried to keep it clean and believe my opponent has done likewise. If I am elected Tax Collector of this county, it will be my one ambition to render unto the public that degree of service they are entitled to.

I believe in the democratic doctrine of rotation in office, (my opponent is asking for his third term) and will thank you for your vote on next Saturday.

I thank you,
GUY C. RALEY.

DISTRICT JUDGES HAVE PROBLEM AS DID KING SOLOMON

CARE AND CUSTODY OF TWO CHILDREN AT STAKE IN HABEAS CORPUS.

FOSTER PARENTS NOT WILLING TO SURRENDER

Testimony Offered to Show Court to Whom Children Should Be Awarded.

Judge P. A. Martin and Judge H. R. Wilson, Friday sat on the bench in the same sort of a case that won fame for King Solomon. No sword had been brought into action, however, at a late hour in the afternoon.

Pearl Berge and her husband are seeking the care and custody of two children now in the hands of George Welty and his wife. The plaintiff is the mother of the two children, but the foster parents declare that the children were legally adopted and are putting up a fight to keep the two little boys. One of them is three years old while the other is eight.

The case has resolved itself into the issues as to which one of the couples is best fitted to take care of the children. The court indicated that it wanted testimony on this issue and if it is determined that neither the plaintiff nor the defendant are suitable the court will then determine what institution shall care for them.

The mother of the children, the testimony showed, was married to her present husband on June 12. The testimony further tended to prove that she is the mother of seven children, three of whom are in the Gatesville school for boys, while two daughters reside with their mother. At the time the adoption papers were drawn, the father was alive, but a divorce decree had been granted the mother. Since the adoption the first husband of the mother died.

The foster parents have been married 21 years, it was testified, but no children had ever been born to them. At present they are residing in the tent colony that has sprung up in the irrigation district.

The plaintiff asserts in her petition that the foster parents are not qualified to rear the children and that the sanitary conditions where the children now reside is dangerous to their health.

WM. ALLEN WHITE NOT YET ARRESTED

part of the conspiracy to deprive the public of transportation."

Then he proceeds to point out that as he views it, "Editor White's display of the sympathy card was a form of picketing and as such was in violation of the law and that Mr. White was inciting others to violate the law by his defiance."

WILL GO TO EMPORIA TO SERVE THE WARRANT

TOPEKA, KAN., July 21.—John G. Egan, assistant attorney general, will go to Emporia today for the announced purpose of serving a warrant on William Allen White, Emporia author and editor, charging violation of the Kansas industrial court act, in displaying a strike sympathy poster in the window of his newspaper office. This announcement was made at the office of Governor H. J. Allen this morning.

WILL NOT GIVE ORDERS FOR REMOVAL OF SIGNS

ARKANSAS CITY, KAN., July 21.—Mayor George H. McIntosh, formerly an engineer on the Santa Fe, informed E. C. Harvey, representative from Governor Allen's office, last night that he would not give any orders for removal of the strike sympathy posters in display windows of stores here.

Alvin Stephens

Alvin Stephens, age 19, died at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Stephens, 412 Travis street, at 9:30 p. m. Thursday. The funeral was held at the family residence at 4:00 o'clock Friday afternoon, Rev. T. S. Pittenger officiating. Besides his parents, he is survived by one sister, Mrs. Lewis, and two brothers.

LOCAL FIRM ENTERS WHOLESALE FIELD; TO BUILD WAREHOUSE

Contract has been awarded by the Maxwell Hardware company for the erection of a large warehouse on Park street, at the Katy crossing, to be used by the wholesale department of the company. The Maxwell company recently entered the wholesale field, and its warehouse will be the largest building in northwest Texas, it is claimed, devoted exclusively to wholesale hardware. The company will keep three salesmen on the road in northwest Texas and Oklahoma.

The stock will include heavy and shelf hardware, plumbing and mill supplies, sporting goods, household hardware, hotel equipment, silverware and dairy supplies.

This addition to the wholesale interests of this city is taken as still another evidence of this city's growing importance as a distributing center.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

BENTLEY AND THE JUNIOR COLLEGE

Editor of The Times:

I regret that in a letter appearing in this column yesterday our county school superintendent, Prof. Burl Bryant, resurrects the junior college issue in the state superintendent's race by giving only a part of Mr. Bentley's letter, and by coloring that part and making it appear that Mr. Bentley is opposed to the junior college idea in its entirety, thus doing Mr. Bentley a grave injustice in the eleventh hour of the campaign. Mr. Bryant sat on the front seat last Saturday morning in the Labor Temple and heard Mr. Bentley explain his position on the junior college; later he and all the reading public in Wichita Falls read the press reports of the speech. The people of Wichita Falls believe in a junior college for Wichita Falls, and that Wichita Falls should pay for it; so does Mr. Bentley; he has so declared throughout this campaign for more than six months; he has not changed on this the eleventh hour.

But from every stump from which he has spoken, he has declared against a junior college supported or aided by the general school funds of the state; he has opposed the taking of the funds that should properly be expended for the education of children of school age in Wichita Falls and diverting it to the erection or maintenance of junior colleges for El Paso or Beaumont. He believes that the benefits of such colleges are special and local, limited to the larger cities, and should be locally supported. He believes that after the people of Wichita Falls have built one for themselves, they should not be taxed to help build them in other cities.

Mr. Bentley is in sympathy with the junior college on the distinctly local plan on which it is being established in Wichita Falls. The people know it. Professor Bryant knows it. But when it is established and paid for by Wichita Falls, as state superintendent, he proposes to let Wichita Falls organize and operate it as will best meet its own local conditions. He will not try to superintend it from Austin through a young army of traveling supervisors and inspectors on the pay roll of the state department.

Very truly yours,
ARCH DAWSON.

ARTHUR H. KING FOR STATE SENATE

Promises you faithful service from a business man's viewpoint. Opposes any raises of state taxes on the farm, ranch, store or oil industry—the success and development of these things will bring prosperity to all the people of west Texas. As Wichita Falls has initiated one of the biggest irrigation projects in the world the state should locate near there an agricultural experiment station.—Political advertisement.

Sweet Dreams Answers Call to the Canary Islands

Mosquito Remedy Sold by Local Druggists Boasts Wide Reputation.

Other than the fact that a shipment of Sweet Dreams was recently made to the Canary Islands, the matter is of little interest.

Upon second thought, however, it does look as though a remedy worthy of being shipped this great distance is certainly worthy of consideration at home.

It is to be deduced that your own home is the home referred to, and it is earnestly requested that you give Sweet Dreams a trial. Sweet Dreams is offered as the very best mosquito remedy to be had.

One application will keep mosquitoes off all night long.

KANRED WHEAT IS BEST PRODUCER IN DISTRICT, REPORT

Kanred wheat, according to statistics compiled by M. B. Oates, agricultural agent of the Fort Worth and Denver railroad company, produced the largest yield in this district the past year.

J. M. Wall of Chillicothe had 30 acres of Kanred which yielded 33½ bushels per acre and tested 61 pounds. He had 65 acres of Turkey Red right by it, prepared the same way and at the same time on same quality of land, that made only 23½ bushels and tested 60 pounds.

L. H. Creager of Oklaunion had 100 acres of Kanred which made 14½ bushels per acre, testing 57, and 250 acres of soft Mediterranean which made 10 bushels, testing 57.

S. Z. Bailey of Chillicothe had 60 acres of Kanred, yield 27 bushels and 45 pounds, testing 62 and 63. His 55 acres of Miracle yielded 17 bushels and 12 pounds and tested 60 pounds. Mr. Bailey adds that he had 15 acres of Kanred and Miracle mixed which made 20 bushels and 11 pounds. The only condition that was different on Mr. Bailey's farm was that he sowed three pecks of Miracle per acre and only two and one-half pecks of Kanred, thus showing again the heavy stooling characteristic of Kanred. Preparation and seeding on both Bailey's and Creager's place was the same and quality of land the same. C. T. Smith of Vernon had his entire crop of 120 acres in Kanred. It made 31½ bushels per acre, testing 59½ and 60½ pounds.

FORMER RECORD IS BROKEN WHEN 110 DEGREES REACHED

Thursday proved a record breaker for high temperature mark in Wichita Falls. During the afternoon the mercury hit the 110 degree mark at two separate times and for over two hours did not drop lower than 109 degrees. This bests the high mark for the season by two degrees. The 108 degree point was reached on Wednesday afternoon and also during the last week in June.

At 2 and 3:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon the red ink indicator on Art's thermometer touched the 110 degree mark. At 9:30 o'clock in the evening the temperature had receded only to the 100 mark. At midnight it registered 93 degrees, while the coolest temperature of the night was 87 degrees. The latter mark is also a high record point for minimum temperature for the season.

Throughout the district touched by railroads high temperatures were recorded although from the agent's reports it was evident that the heat wave was centered in this vicinity.

Friday morning's reports showed clear skies, little wind movement and indications that the thermometer would again soar to sizzling heights during the day.

SPEEDWAY AVENUE SITE ACQUIRED FOR SOUTH SIDE SCHOOL

The school board will close a deal shortly for the site for the new south side school.

The site, which will consist of about six acres, is just east of the old golf club house on Speedway avenue, and is out of the Nesse tract in the Miller subdivision. It is on high ground, about a block south of the southernmost part of Sibley-Taylor addition, where most of the pupils reside. The board is allowing for settling up of the section to the west of the site, in making its selection.

Plans for the building have been approved and the contract awarded, and work will start as soon as the deal for the school site is closed; this will take several days, as some of the owners are non-residents.

Harry T. Warner

Is the only candidate who has told us how he stands on the KLAN issue, and HE HAS CONDEMNED IT FROM THE START.

LAST MINUTE LIES

are being circulated by KLANSMEN to the effect that Warner is a Catholic. They know this is false.

WARNER is a PROTESTANT but he is NOT INTOLERANT of other people's religion.

Warner Is a Successful Business Man and Will Give Texas An Intelliger Business Administration

WARNER is running on a constructive platform. He is for continued aid to the rural schools; for hight schools in the rural districts; for the payment of teachers; for encouraging, aiding and assisting the officers in the enforcement of the law as it is written.

A vote for Warner is a vote for government by constituted authority. A vote against him is a vote for the KU KLUX KLAN.
