Soviet Polish Plea Turned Down Again

By FLORA LEWIS
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 19. — The United States today turned down for the second time Russia's demand that the Warsaw provisional government of Poland be invited to San Francisco.

The resultant impasse left officials worried about the possible effects on the United Nations meeting, called to draft plans for a world organization.

The State department, announcing rejection of the twice-made Soviet proposal for acceptance of the Moscow - sponsored regime, took the position that "only a new provisional government of national unity formed in accordance with the Crimea agreement" should have a place at San Francisco.

Long A Storm Center

The Polish issue, storm center of western Allied relations with Russia, promised to be on the list of difficult subjects to be tackled by Big Three foreign ministers this weekend.

Russian Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov is expected here Friday or Saturday. The American and British ambassadors to Moscow, W. Averell Harriman and Sir Archibald Clark-Kerr, are already here to advise their foreign secretaries on the tense Polish situation.

Moscow has given no indication of how far it is prepared to go in insisting that the Warsaw government be invited to San Francisco, but the grave possibility lurked that the Russians might withdraw from the meeting, only a week away, rather than back down.

Most opinion here was that this government has gone as far as it can by agreeing to accept a coalition of the Soviet-sponsored group and "other democratic elements."

New Regime Possible

American officials kept up slim hopes that a new Polish government could still be agreed upon in time for it to send representatives to San Francisco before the United Nations meeting closes.

Other tense questions will have to be taken up by the Big Three.

That list includes international trusteeship for former mandates and territories to be taken from the Axis. This has been hotly debated within the American delegation and must now be taken to the other top Allies.

There is increasing evidence that the Russians will stand firm on their demand for three votes in the assembly of the proposed world organization and fight it through with the Yalta-pledged support of the United States and Britain.

Unconfirmed reports give rise to the possibility that Russia, in secret negotiation with underground Poles, might spring a new

Oil Men Oppose Subsidy Plans

Opposition of the Independent Petroleum Association of America to government subsidies was expressed by Harold B. Fell of Ardmore, Okla., executive vice president, in a talk at a meeting of South Plains oil men in Hilton hotel Thursday night.

Speaking to a gathering of 45 persons, Fell urged over-all price increases as preferable to subsidies.

He said that the war had expanded the oil industry in the United States and in all other parts of the world, particularly the Middle East.

Reduction Of Imports

Reduction of oil imports should be brought about to help stabilize the American market, he said. In this connection, he said that Standard Oil of Indiana and of New Jersey had gone on record as favoring limitations on crude imports.

C. E. Buchner of Tulsa, executive manager of the Independent Petroleum association of America, discussed relations of the oil industry with Congress and government officials. He outlined the history of the association, pointing out that it had been in operation approximatey 16 years. He said that it had 6,000 members.

The committee which arranged the meeting was comprised of

Island Invasion Poses New Threat To Oil-Rich Borneo

By FRED HAMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

MANILA, Friday, April 20—American troops in a fresh threat to Borneo invaded Balabac island, 45 miles north of that oil-rich area, Wednesday. Other infantrymen swept 22 miles inland from their new southern Mindanao beachhead to within 52 air miles of the important city of Davao.

Balabac, about 10 miles in length, is across a narrow channel from American-held Palawan. Northern Borneo is menaced also from the east by Yank forces on Tawitawi, 30 miles away in the Sulu archipelago.

On Mindanao, Maj. Gen. R. B. Woodruff's 24th division, strongly supported by aircraft, moved 15 miles south of the Parang beachhead established with little opposition Tuesday to capture the Cotabato provincial capital of the same name. Then they drove 22 miles inland to Lumopog.

The sweep south from Parang was an amphibious shore-to-shore operation which Gen. Douglas MacArthur said today took "full advantage of the surprise of our landings."

Other Yanks who landed 35 miles north of Parang captured the Malabang airdrome and quickly put it into operation.

Davao, prime hemp port of the Philippines and one of the best harbors in the archipelago, apparently was the target of an overland drive. A good highway traverses Cotabato province.

50,000 Jap Troops There

This southern Mindanao area, hotbed of Japanese activities before the war, has an estimated 50,000 enemy troops and thousands of Nipponese civilians. Guerrillas have been active there and strongly aided the new Mindanao invasion. Yanks already have cleaned out most of Zamboanga province, to the west across Moro gulf.

Meantime, doughboys of the 38th division seized tiny Carabao island, at the mouth of Manila bay, after an ear-splitting naval bombardment.

The Japanese garrison of 300 to 500 troops was believed driven below ground by the shellfire. Engineers trapped them by sealing caves and tunnel entrances.

On Luzon, a tank-supported Japanese counterattack at Baguio was thrown back and the tanks destroyed as Yanks of 33rd division tightened their encirclement and destruction of isolated strongholds surrounding the Philippine summer capital.

Medium bombers and fighters raked the area with 300 tons of bombs in support of the ground operations.

In the air war, heavy and medium bombers dropped 257 tons of explosives on Formosa air bases and rail facilities, destroying many grounded aircraft, while patrol planes sank a transport loaded with troops in the China sea.

Yanks Lash Out On Southern Okinawa

By LEIF ERICKSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

GUAM, Friday, April 20.—Three American Army divisions, totalling possibly 45,000 men, jumped off yesterday in an all-out assault against the deep, solid Japanese defenses of southern Okinawa island, the Navy disclosed today.

One of the heaviest big gun bombardments ever launched in support of amphibious troops preceded the big push, with battleships and cruisers helping field artillery, and a great cover of carrier planes protected the ground force.

Japs Fight Furiously

The Japanese fought back furiously with artillery and mortars but the Yanks made initial gains of 500 yards on one flank and 800 on the other. They captured the village of Machinato.

The operation ended a 13-day deadlock on the southern Okinawa front, where the Nipponese have been holding the Yanks with a defense setup four miles or more in depth and extending all the way across the island, about 8,000 yards.

An artillery duel has raged unabated along the front since April 16.

Three Divisions In Smash

Locked in the battle are the American Seventh, 27th and 96th divisions of the Tenth Army. Their jumpoff place was about 4½ miles north of Naha on the west coast and 3½ from Yonabaru on the east coast.

There was little possibility of a quick breakthrough because the defense extends all the way to Naha and the terrain is suited to the enemy's kind of fighting. It is cut up by ravines and terraces. The Nippones were entrenched in interlocking trench and pillbox systems and blockhouses.

Further progress by the Marines on northern Okinawa and by Army forces on Ie island, to the west, were reported.

Nimitz also announced a raid by Army Mustangs yesterday on Atsugi airfield in the Tokyo area, in which 21 enemy planes were shot down, two others probably, 27 planes destroyed on the ground and 35 others damaged aloft or aground. A large cargo ship was left sinking and a medium sized ship was set afire. The Mustangs met moderate to intense ack-ack.

Marine Corsairs and Hellcats attacked installations in the Palau islands and Helldivers hit a Japanese airstrip on Yap island in the western Carolines.

Today's War Casualties

British Crash Through Nazi Lines In Italy

By NOLAND NORGAARD
Associated Press Staff Writer

ROME, April 19—British Eighth Army troops pouring across the Po plain after their breakthrough of German defenses in the Argenta gap were reported tonight within 11 miles of the industrial center of Ferrara while American and New Zealand troops drove within seven miles of Bologna from the south and east.

A special Allied communique tonight said that the British Fifth corps, commanded by Lt. Gen. C. F. Keithley was storming northwest toward Ferrara after a "brilliant breakthrough" in the Argenta gap near the Italian east coast.

Two Towns Captured

The towns of Consandolo and Benvignante were quickly captured and the British rolled on to threaten Porto Maggiore, only three miles distant.

"The Germans have thrown in virtually all available local reserves in their frantic efforts to prevent a general breakthrough into the Po valley, and numerous counterattacks have been launched to regain lost ground," an Allied announcement said.

New Zealand and Indian troops forced a crossing of the Guaderna river seven and a half miles east of Bologna in a night attack. Veteran German parachute troops were putting up a grim fight in that sector.

Concentrated Defense

An official report described the Argenta gap defenses through which the British broke as the "most concentrated yet encountered in Italy." The breach was made by the 56th London Infantry division and the veteran 78th division, both strongly supported by tanks.

American Fifth Army units moved up slightly in the Serchio valley near the west coast, occupying the villages of Perpoli and Vergemoli, roughly 3 miles east of the naval base of La Spezia.

Although the British breakthrough below Ferrara posed a desperate threat to the enemy's entire line across Italy, the Germans so far showed no disposition to relinquish their grip on Bologna, the central pivot, without a grim struggle.

A formation of 16 Mustang fighters encountered 17 German Messerschmitt-109s near Lake Garda in northern Italy and destroyed six enemy planes without loss to themselves. Rocket-firing Thunderbolts flew close support of the Fifth Army's push on Bologna, blasting numerous Nazi tanks and gun posts.

Sugar Blanks Short; Berries Go To Waste

HOUSTON, April 19. (AP) — Berries are going to waste throughout the country because people cannot can or preserve them, according to reports reaching the Houston Chronicle from rural sections in south Texas.

It is not due to a shortage of sugar for canning, the paper said, because grocers have ample stocks to supply purchasers.

The trouble is a lack of application forms. Most of the fire stations here are out; many distribution points throughout the county are out; several counties in the Houston OPA district, consisting of 40 southeast Texas counties, report that they have not received their supply of canning sugar applications.

Houston board officials say they have received 72,000 forms and distributed them to fire stations and public buildings in the county. They report that about 30,000 applications have been sent in by the public.

Halsey Sets Up Retribution And Japanese Control Plan

NEW YORK, April 19. (AP) — Admiral William F. Halsey has called for the death of a Japanese officer—"two ranks higher"—for every one of "our men who was murdered" in the Pacific war.

This retribution would be a peace price for Japanese atrocities in a postwar plan which also would impose an indefinite armistice, without a peace treaty, and military, rather than civil, control.

The plan to control Japan was evolved out of discussions with his staff, and Halsey refers to it as "this plan of ours." It is published under his name, as told to Frank D. Morris, Collier's Pacific fleet correspondent, in the current issue of the magazine.

Halsey proposes punishment of "all Japs guilty of war crimes, without respect for rank or high position," singling out Field Marshal Juichie Terauchi, "the beast who was in command during the 'death march' of our prisoners on Bataan," and Gen. Yamashita, who commanded the Japanese forces in the Philippines.

"Every one of them, right down the line, ought to get his just desserts," says Halsey. "I believe that for every one of our men who was murdered, officially or otherwise, a Jap officer, two ranks higher, should suffer the death penalty.

"Most of the Jap atrocity stories you hear about are not exaggerations. We have documented proof that some of our Marines on Guadalcanal were vivisected by the enemy — and I mean really vivisected. It is no rumor that nuns in the Solomons were subjected to 48 hours of continuous rape and then had their throats cut by the Japs. We also found definite signs of cannibalism on Guadalcanal, and on Leyte, among the Japs themselves. . . .

The long armistice, which would be needed for time to educate the Japanese out of their way of thinking and keep them in line, Halsey says, would be under the control of the Allied nations with a supreme commander in charge.

The commander would be given "a free hand, with no interference from outside—meaning of course, from well-intentioned but misguided civil governments."

Nazis Call Attack Greatest Red Army Offensive Of War

By ROMNEY WHEELER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Friday, April 20 — The Soviet high command announced officially last night that a great battle was raging on Berlin's eastern approaches while Nazi reports said Russian tanks were battling toward Strausberg, 10 miles from the capital, and had cracked the city's Spree river defense line on the southeast.

Clamping tight operational silence on details of what Berlin has called the "greatest Red Army offensive of the war," Moscow's war bulletins announced only that Red Army forces had crossed the Oder river east of Berlin and had spanned the Neisse river to capture Forst, Muskau and Weisswasser, 58 to 72 miles southeast of the capital.

55 Miles From Yanks

German broadcasts, however, said that armored forces of Marshal Ivan S. Konev's First Ukrainian Army had swept 22 miles west of the Neisse at Muskau. Berlin said Konev's men bridged the Spree and rushed nine miles beyond to reach the strategic communications center of Hoyerswerda, 55 miles from American armies and 31 miles northeast of Dresden.

Revealing for the first time that Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's First White Russian Army had secured bridgeheads across the Oder river due east of Berlin, Moscow said only that these had been "extended" after "reconnaissance in strength" that developed into major fighting.

Great Tank Battle

Enemy broadcasts said the greatest tank battle of all time was raging beyond the Oder and claimed that 1,074 Red Army tanks had been destroyed in the first three days of fighting. The armored struggle was reaching its climax, Berlin said, and admitted that the Germans were falling back. London observers believed the indecisive nature of the battle was the reason for Moscow's reticence.

As the Soviet radio declared that the "curtain was falling on the European war" and that the time when the Allied and Russian armies would link up now was at hand, the German radio reported that the Red Army had launched yet another mighty offensive.

The third giant blow was aimed at the great Baltic naval base of Stettin, northern anchor of Berlin's crumbling Oder river defense line. Thousands of Red Army soldiers were surging across

Halle And Leipzig Fall To Americans

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Friday, April 20.—Triumphant U. S. battle flags waved today over the inner German fortresses of Leipzig and Halle, Nazidom's shrine of Nuernberg was encircled and mostly in American hands, and spearheads roaring 25 miles beyond were 70 miles from Hitler's Munich.

Leipzig, fifth city of the Reich, with a refugee-swollen population of 1,000,000, fell yesterday with astounding swiftness to the U. S. First Army.

Drive For Munich

Shortly thereafter, as doughboys ferreted out the last die-hard snipers, it was announced that 16 miles to the northwest fortified Halle, city of 220,000, also had been captured.

The U. S. Seventh Army, driving against the Nazis' great mountain redoubt around Munich, captured Nuernberg's twin city of Fuerth, with a population of 85,000. The defenders of Nuernberg itself were pressed back into less than a mile square pocket in the center of the old walled city from which there was no escape.

American infantry expected to celebrate Hitler's 56th birthday today by completing the occupation of this old Nazi party ground of 430,000 population.

70 Miles From Munich

The city was encircled when American units met south of the city and tanks breaking loose 25 miles southwest of Nuernberg were 70 miles from Bavaria's first city of Munich, where Hitler launched the Nazi movement.

One German report said that on the west flank, the Seventh had opened a new offensive and had penetrated into Aalen, 40 miles east of Stuttgart and 30 miles north of the Danubian city of Ulm.

Resounding successes were recorded on the opposite end of the Western front, where the British

Nazis Helpless To Stop Allies

By WES GALLAGHER

ON THE ELBE RIVER, Germany, April 19—For all practical purposes organized German resistance on well defined front lines it at an end.

Before the western Allies there is nothing approaching a front. There are only pockets of resistance—in Holland, at Bremen and Hamburg, opposite Magdeburg on the Elbe and isolated bodies of troops in front of the American First, Third and Seventh armies.

(Gen. Omar N. Bradley, declaring that his First, Third and Ninth armies had finished one phase of the thrust into the heart of the Reich, said Thursday, "it is necessary to pause temporarily before we go into the next." He added that virtually every German soldier that faced the Americans on the Siegfried line on Feb. 23 when the Roer river crossing was made "now is either killed, wounded or a prisoner of war.")

Can Go Anywhere

By applying pressure Allied forces are able to go anywhere into Germany that they desire without the Germans being able to do anything about it. The Germans lost the power to wage anything but a guerrilla war through the loss of the Ruhr, the Saar, Silesia and the huge stores overrun by the western Allies.

How did this come about?

The answer briefly is that the Germans simply ran out of the manpower needed to hold any sort of a front.

This running out of manpower, which leaves the Reich at the mercy of attacking hosts who day by day increase their margin of manpower and military superiority, was the result of defeats

Big Money Measures Go To White House

WASHINGTON, April 19. (AP) — Congress cleared two big money bills to the White House today, while the House completed action on big appropriation for the Navy. Another money bill came back to the House for review of Senate changes.

Sent to President Truman were a $2,600,000,000 deficiency appropriation, and another for $1,343,000,000 to keep the Treasury and Postoffice departments going in the twelve months beginning July 1. The Senate completed action by accepting conference committee reports on them.

The Senate also passed and returned to the House for action on amendments a $594,724,527 Agriculture department appropriation bill.

The Navy bill was accompanied in the House by demands for legislation to annex key Pacific bases as Okinawa, Saipan, Iwo Jima, the Marshall and the Caroline islands.

Rep. Mahon (D-Tex) said in a House speech annexation would be in "in the interest of American security and the clarification of American foreign policy."

Starving Yanks Are Liberated

By THOBURN WIANT

WITH THE U. S. ARMY IN Germany, April 19.—The 89th Infantry overran several German prisoner of war camps today, liberating 4,750 starved and mistreated prisoners, among them 500 Americans, who wept with the joy of restored freedom.

All had been captured in the Ardennes breakthrough.

Many of the details of this wholesale operation by the fighting 89th are being withheld by censorship, including the names of the prisoner camps, and their location.

Faint From Hunger

Besides the emaciated Americans, who told of fainting from hunger as they were forced to do exhausting work, the 89th liberated in this day's work 1,100 British, 1,100 French and 1,500 Russians, 300 Serbs and 250 Slavs.

Among the first to see the American prisoners was Capt. David Galloway of Mountain Flakes, N. J., who said "one fellow screamed, 'there are some American GI's!'"

"Then the whole bunch crowded around, crying and kissing us."

Telling how they were overworked and underfed, the Americans said they had lost 50 to 75 pounds' weight each.

They told of how many of them were forced to walk 150 miles

Truman Maintains Tough Pace As He Rounds Out First Week On Job

By W. H. MOBLEY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 19. — President Truman, keeping up the prodigious work schedule he has followed since he was sworn in, rounded out one week in office today with a demonstration of his intention to work with Congress.

While giving full evidence of his cooperative attitude in a meeting with Democratic leaders of both houses, the new chief executive at the same time made it clear he is not retiring from the field. Rather, he stepped into the current legislative picture by telling his visitors he stands fully behind the general legislative program of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Two Elements Now Up

Two elements of that program are now up in Congress. A House committee is considering a proposition to extend reciprocal trade legislation and permit tariffs to be cut 50 per cent under current levels in exchange for concessions from other nations.

The Senate is working on extension of the Selective Service act, with the War department opposing amendments to forbid combat use of 18-year-olds who have less than six months training. Such amendments are backed by a bi-partisan group of senators.

The President's caller list illustrated the weight and range of his labors: Senator Taft (R-Ohio), the Democratic legislative leaders, the Rev. Frederick Brown Harris, Senate chaplain; Democratic National Chairman Robert E. Hannegan; General of the Army George C. Marshall; the judge advocates general of South American republics; Turkish Ambassador Huseyin Ragip Baydur and Lebanese Minister Dr. Charles Malik, to present their credentials; Philippine President Sergio Osmena and the secretaries of War, Navy and State; Dr. T. V. Soong, Chinese foreign minister, and the Truman cabinet; M. Georges Bidault, French foreign minister, who paid his respects and expressed French sorrow over Mr. Roosevelt's death.

Sends Up First Veto

Between times, Mr. Truman sent his first veto to Congress, appointed Spruille Baden, now ambassador to Cuba, to be ambassador to the newly accepted Argentine government, and took a minute out to accept the first buddy poppy in a Veterans of Foreign Wars drive for relief work funds.

That only took him up to lunch time, with the afternoon remaining for paper work and perhaps less formally arranged conferences.

The only announced callers of the afternoon were the President's brother J. Vivian Truman and U. S. Marshal Fred Canfil, both of Kansas City, with Ted Sanders, Democratic leader of Clinton county, Mo.

Mr. Truman quit his office at 4:30 p. m., the earliest since he took it over, and walked across the street to this temporary home at the Blair house, accompanied by his brother and a guard of secret servicemen. He walked the same route in reverse at 8:30 this morning.

Taft Calls Again

Senator Taft, making what he said was his second White House call in 12 years, beat the Democratic lawmakers to the executive offices. The first call was yesterday when as chairman of the Senate Republican steering committee he headed a delegation offering support in ironing out any differences over legislation.

Today the Ohio senator said no current legislative matters were discussed.

The Democratic callers from Capitol Hill were Senate Majority Leader Barkley (Ky), House Speaker Rayburn (Tex), Senator McKellar (Tenn), Senate President pro-tempore, and House Majority Leader McCormack (Mass).

Just to keep the President really busy, Capitol Hill talk expressed belief he was working on cabinet changes to be made possibly within days. The two posts most often mentioned for quick changes were those of Labor Secretary Perkins and Agriculture Secretary Wickard. High in capitol discussion were the names of Senator Harley Kilgore (D-W. Va) for labor, and J. B. Hutson to take over both Wickard's work and that of Judge Marvin Jones, war food administrator.

"PINICILLIN BOY" — John Eberhardt, jr., Chicago's "penicillin boy," is a healthy testimonial to wonder drug. It was a year ago — shortly after his birth — that Johnny was suffering from a bone marrow-destroying infection. Army - released penicillin came to his aid and today he is the chubby, happy youngster pictured above as he began his second year of life.

CED Asks Early Drop Of Controls

WASHINGTON, April 19. (AP)—The committee for economic development urged today that wartime controls be dropped as quickly as the emergency need for each passes.

Within six months after final victory, the committee proposed, the director of war mobilization and reconversion (Fred M. Vinson) should wipe out all controls except those "plainly needed to hold inflation in check."

The C.E.D., a business organization for postwar planning, observed that no control "should be allowed to persist just because it is there, or because it worked well during the war.

The report cautioned against premature removal of any control when it would "jeopardize any phase of the war effort or a successful transition to a healthy peacetime economy" and emphasized that the "emergency" may differ in length for each measure.

Starting with V-E day, materials should be released when war demands end or supplies become sufficient for civilian use, C.E.D. said. The emergency may end for other controls with the victory over Japan; for still others, "especially anti-inflation measures, it may extend for a considerable period thereafter."

"Manpower controls should be ended area by area, as shortages of manpower disappear. The objective should be to time and coordinate such action so that our economy can land on its feet, prepared to go places."

Goal Of Respect Set For Police

"The manner in which you enforce the law will either bring credit or discredit upon yourselves, your department and the official family of Lubbock. . . . Your duty is to protect the innocent and weak as well as apprehend the guilty."

Thus did City Attorney Durwood H. Bradley counsel with members of the Lubbock Police department as spokesman for the City commission in a meeting Thursday afternoon in the police courtroom.

Want Public Respect

"We want a police department that has the respect of all of the people and we're expecting you fellows to give us that kind of a department," Bradley continued.

His talk was the aftermath of a series of special meetings the commission has been holding in the past few days regarding repeated reports of where officers had mistreated prisoners at the police station, the more recent of which resulted in accusations that a policeman "slapped and otherwise mistreated" a Lubbock man after he had been arrested on a charge of drunkenness and fighting.

Tom B. Duggan, jr., local attorney, presented the charges in a special meeting of the commission Wednesday morning on behalf of his client, A. G. Finnell, manager of a downtown hotel, charged in the incident with A. L. Beesinger, cook in a local cafe.

City commissioners J. Ray Dickey, Fred H. Childress and Hub Jones, City Manager Marlin R. Smith, Assistant City Attorney Orville H. Smith and C. W. Ratliff attended the meeting. Bradley was introduced by Chief of Police Reeder.

"This meeting is the first step in the reorganization of our department and the things you hear today are things the commission want carried out," Reeder said in his introductory remarks.

Bradley cited the police manual and declared it covered the ordinance, rules and regulations for the department to go by in its daily activities. Other members of the commission, Dickey, Jones and Childress spoke briefly.

The American Red Cross will have spent nearly $400,000,000 during the war period ending February 28, 1945, according to a financial report issued by the national headquarters of the Red Cross.

Unusual Experience Is Had In Germany

WITH THE 1104TH ENGINEERS, Germany—T/5 Lewis H. McMahan, Spur, Tex., was clearing away the rubble on the road into Werselin, Germany, with members of the 611th L. E. company, when he spied a pair of stylish German boots by the roadside.

Calling to the driver to stop the truck carrying the crane with which they were working, Cpl. McMahan investigated the boots. He inserted his foot into one of th[illegible].

Reported Red Action Turns Nazi Weapon Back Onto Dying Germany

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press War Analyst

Reports that the Russians are dropping "converted" German officers in German uniforms to spread confusion behind the Nazi lines are humanly gratifying even if it would be slightly off-color under what other powers so fondly call the rules of war.

Few things are so satisfying as to see the villian's weapons turned against him in the last act.

It must be quite harrowing for Hitler, the great organizer of fifth columns, whose troops invaded the Belgian bulge last December in American uniforms, to have to warn his troops against their own former leaders.

Take Realistic View

The Russians, not being parties to the convention which prohibits indoctrination of war prisoners, have taken a very realistic view regarding the uses to which they might put captured German officers.

Very early the Reds began persuading the Prussians about the error of their ways, and used them to broadcast defeatist propaganda to the German Army. They finally convinced even General von Paulus, German commander captured at Stalingrad, and formed an organization under him. For a time it was feared the Russians intended to use this group as the nucleus for a new German government, but this was denied.

Remembering the German trooper's subservience to brass and braid, it is easy to imagine what could happen with large numbers of these men—call them traitors or converts as you wish—operating behind the German lines.

What Would They Do?

Would they devote themselves to giving orders designed to confuse the whole defense line? Or would they rely largely on diplomacy, arranging the surrender of whole units—probably both. Enough of them, remaining true to what they have professed to absorb from the Russian teachers about the futility of Germany continuing the war, could do an extremely important military job for their captors.

There is no real confirmation of the story, but Hitler's warning is ample proof of German worry on the subject. If the Russians do feel they could trust the former officers in such fashion, it would establish them as the greatest educators in military history, as well as the authors of a historically grim but practical jest. A "coup de morale" for the books.

Freed And Legless British Pilot Asks New Crack At Huns

COLDITZ, Germany, April 19 (AP)—Gay, debonair Wing Comm. Douglas Bader, famed legless pilot of the RAF who was shot down over France three and a half years ago, wants most of all to "get another squirt at the bloody Hun," now that he is free from German internment.

"Just give me one more shot at those goons," begged the 35-year-old fighter pilot who became one of Britain's great aces with two artificial legs. "I'll never be satisfied until I do."

The laughing, dark-haired hero built up during his prison life an abiding hatred for the Germans and a burning thirst for revenge for indignities heaped on him since he was captured in August, 1941, after his plane collided with another.

He was one of a thousand or so liberated Monday from the great, gray Colditz prison, where the Nazis sent Allied captives who would not submit to imprisonment elsewhere. These prisoners had been classed as special enemies of the fatherland, and most attempted to escape from time to time.

Bader had 25 planes to his credit when his plane was damaged over Lille.

None of the Nazis thought the legless flier would try to escape from the French hospital in which he was confined. But one night he tried, sliding down a rope of tied bedsheets. He was caught. For punishment, "those goons" for two weeks wouldn't give him the new leg the RAF had dropped for him when his colleagues learned of his loss.

"It was a magnificent example of how the German mind works," he chuckled. "They wouldn't give me my legs. Two goons carried me while another carried my legs and an officer marched along in front."

Four more times Bader tried to escape. He failed.

Annoyed, the Germans sent him to Colditz prison two years ago. Even there Bader had a try at escaping. Friends tried to construct a glider to be launched from the roof. But the Germans stumbled on to it.

GI's Say Texas Won't Make Separate Peace

BROWNWOOD, April 19 (AP)—"Texas will not make a separate peace with Germany."

That's the assurance of two Camp Bowie GI's who write a weekly column in the Bowie Blade, camp newspaper. Their statement will appear in tomorrow's edition.

"In tomorrow's world," the soldier-columnists write, "we can visualize foreign countries having special ambassadors in charge of Texas affairs . . . after intensive research these statesmen from abroad will learn: That if a Texan bets you ten dollars that you are not alive—don't take it . . .

"That Texas is a nation in itself and that California and New York are only attached for ratio."

Neither of the two GI's — Ned Bergen, husband of movie actress Eve Arden, and Pete Brown—is a Texan.

San Jacinto Day To Be Viewed Widely

COLLEGE STATION, April 19 (AP)—Former students of Texas A. & M. college will gather Saturday in world wide observance of the annual San Jacinto day muster of sons of Aggieland.

Wherever two or more Texas Aggies get together Saturday, the muster will be official, E. E. McQuillen, executive secretary of the association of former students, said today.

In Europe an attendance race is being staged between Aggies in Paris and those mustering on the outskirts of Berlin, he said.

Word has been passed to the Canal zone, India, Burma, Chungking, Manila and Pacific outposts for the Aggies to muster. McQuillen has sent out an outline for a common ceremony.

A muster will be held in scores of Texas towns and cities and large groups will meet at Washington, Chicago, Los Angeles, Seattle, Kansas City, St. Louis and New Orleans in addition to Army camps throughout the country, McQuillen said.

At the college the graduating class of 1895 will hold its 50th anniversary meeting with 18 of its 20 living members attending the student body muster. They will be guests of the student body and the Brazos County A. & M. club.

Attention Focused On New Mindanao Fight

MANILA, April 19 (AP)—A second American landing on Mindanao focused new attention today on that second most important Philippine island, where the Japanese have been established since long before the outbreak of the present war in the Pacific.

Associated Press Correspondent Russell Brines, who went ashore in the first wave, said the doughboys advanced 6,000 yards in a few hours, drawing only negligible defense fire, but that they probably would meet tougher going when they move toward the main highway leading to the insular capital, Davao City, 85 miles to the east.

A guerrilla division under Col. Wendell W. Fertig of Boulder, Colo., was credited with dislocating enemy defenses and facilitating the landing.

His guerrillas joined the doughboys shortly after the landing, which was preceded by a bombardment from crujsers and destroyers under Rear Adm. Ralph Riggs, of Amarillo, Tex.

Patton Praised For Showing Atrocities

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP)—Lt. Gen. George Patton was praised by Rep. Gossett (D-Tex) for making German people witness results of atrocities committed by the Nazis.

Gossett told his colleagues that "such Germans as cannot be forced to view with their own eyes the physical results of their atrocities should be compelled to see documented movies displaying German crimes and furnishing convincing evidence of German war guilt."

CLOTHING SALVAGE — Have you taken your old clothes to a collection center in Lubbock for the National Clothing collection? The month is more than half over and we are thousands of pounds behind on our quota.

Nothing has been said about it, but we'd like to suggest that only clothing that will stand wear be brought. If some of your dresses and coats are like the wearers they are just about shot and you'd be ashamed to give them to anyone, let alone our worthy allies.

The boxes for collection are at the Lubbock Auto company, Hilton and Lubbock hotels, the post office, Sears and Roebuck and Montgomery Ward stores.

SILENCE ROOMS

A Washington department store has installed "silence rooms" for its personnel, where war-jangled nerves can relax after a period of waiting of customers.

What we think the rooms were created for was to give the clerks a rest from saying: "There's a war on, you know."

KEEPING WELL

THIS seems to be a time of especially trying days, yet if we are to carry the torch for the fighting men overseas we must keep ourselves in as good health as possible. The weeping wife, the mother with a nervous breakdown, the sweetheart trying to drown her sorrows in a round of foolish excitement, these are no Spartan women who guard the home front for the soldiers.

In wartime, as in the stress of so-called peaceful living, there are a few simple rules that can be depended upon to help you develop habits of physical and emotional health. On the simple side, get plenty of sleep and as much recreation as possible. Eat well balanced food, even if you stand in a cafeteria line to get it. Keep your digestion good. Wear sensible clothing and if you have a cold, stay home until you have it under control.

• • •

On the emotional side, spend no time in nursing ungrounded fears. People in Lubbock have grown old worrying over possible fates that were not visited upon their sons.

If tragedy has visited your home, waste no time in looking backward but concentrate on plans for the future.

• • •

ONE of the loveliest women in our town, a person who is many another woman's ideal, although we think she is unconscious of it, has placed a gold star in her window. She is the bravest woman you can know. She believes in the ultimate victory of our men in battle and in the possibility of a lasting peace. She sets an example of peaceful living at home. She lives harmoniously with her club and church associates because she has a spirit of tolerance. She tries to understand the viewpoint of other people.

She may not agree with what others say, but because her background is much the same as theirs, she shares their opinions. She has a sense of humor that grows and grows because she laughs at herself instead of at others.

• • •

She is not trying to change the sad situation into which her family has been plunged, but she has faced it and is making the best of it. She is not wearing herself out beating her wings against the walls. She has learned to get satisfaction out of simple daily accomplishments, taking a tray to a sick person, sharing flowers, telephoning to ask if she may come by and take someone to church, seeing to her husband's and son's happiness, having a few friends in for lunch, devoting time to the under privileged in Lubbock, not just at holiday occasions but each week in the year.

She is mentally well because she knows that a beautifully kept house or a row of white clothes on the line may be as satisfying as applause over the footlights.

Delegates And Workers Attend Field Day Program Held By 14th District P-T Here

JEWELS — Actress Hillary Brooke wears sparkling jeweled combs in her hair for her role in a new picture.

During a period of instruction led by Mrs. E. H. Becker of Houston, state president of the Parent-Teacher congress, at the morning session of Fourteenth district field day held at Seaman hall Thursday, the objects of parent-teacher work were explained. Mrs. Becker said, "The objects are the answers to the way and the policy is the answer to the how of parent-teacher work." Eighty-three delegates and workers from the district attended the meeting at which Mrs. J. L. Adams, district president of Crosbyton, presided.

Patsy Crites, Kay Campbell and Tommy Wynn, Girl Scouts, presented the colors and gave the pledge of allegiance. Floyd Honey, Senior High school principal, gave a welcoming talk.

After a covered dish luncheon under the supervision of City Parent-Teacher council with Mrs. Acie Cope in charge, a panel discussion on "Organization" was held. Mrs. Becker spoke on local unit organization; Mrs. L. L. Miller, city council organization; Mrs. Adams, district organization; and Mrs. J. E. Griggs of Amarillo, state organization.

On Panel

Mrs. Ivy Savage directed a panel on plans for peace as outlined at the Dumbarton Oaks conference. On the panel were Superintendent M. S. Kavanough of Slaton who spoke on general assembly; Dr. Leo C. Riethmayer discussed the security council; Mrs. H. F. Godeke, plans for an international security conference to be held in San Francisco April 25.

Twenty-six life memberships in the state organization and one membership in the national organization were announced. Mrs. Adams recognized 69 women who have complete a procedure course and Mrs. Godeke presented certificates to 26 who took a parliamentary law course.

Dinner Given

A formal dinner was given in honor of Mrs. Becker Wednesday night at Hilton hotel.

Mrs. J. L. Adams of Crosbyton, district president, presided for a business meeting at the Wednesday dinner and annual reports were given. The City P-T council had charge of table arrangements which featured blue and yellow candles and spring flowers. Corsages were presented to distinguished guests.

Mrs. A. C. Surman of Post, past district president and past state historian, was presented with a gift from the council.

Meat Scarcity Haunts Capital

WASHINGTON, April 19 (U.P.)—Senators who have been investigating the nation's meat shortage for more than a month finally discovered today that there is a pretty alarming scarcity of roasts, steaks and even oxtails right here in the capital.

Every last one of Washington's slaughterhouses has closed up. Couldn't get meat.

A local packer has given his employes a two weeks' vacation. Can't get meat.

37-Year Dealer Closes

P. F. Casey, Washington's largest independent meat dealer, has closed up after 37 years in business. Can't get meat, either.

What's more, Mrs. Elmer Thomas hasn't been able to get any for weeks and weeks. Mrs. Thomas' husband, a Democratic senator from Oklahoma, is head of the Senate's food investigating committee.

The senators were taking today off. But Thomas has asked representatives of the closed-down slaughterhouses, the vacationing packing plant and the out-of-business meat dealer to come over tomorrow and tell just what happened.

Thomas said he thought the situation might lead "to the black market."

"Maybe they couldn't get meat because they wouldn't participate in the black market," he said.

He also said he wants to find out if OPA price regulations are at fault. During the month-long inquiry, small meat packers have been telling Thomas that OPA regulations are forcing them to "go broke or go black."

Sen. Burton K. Wheeler, D., Mont., is going to Pittsburgh Sunday night or Monday to put in some groundwork for a black market expose the senators hope to pull off Tuesday.

Wheeler heads the Pittsburgh subcommittee. He said he hadn't decided which two senators will go with him. Wheeler told reporters Pittsburgh is a "raging" black market.

Next Tuesday Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia is coming down to tell the food investigating senators what's what with the meat shortage in New York City.

The senators have heard that red points are peddled there at $6 a thousand and that from 60 to 90 per cent of the meat sold is black market.

Priorities Analyst Due Here Wednesday

Notice was received at the chamber of commerce yesterday that Herbert D. McKechnie, priorities analyst of the War Production board, will return to Lubbock next Wednesday. He is a representative of the district WPB office in El Paso.

Persons wishing information regarding priorities or application forms may see McKechnie at the chamber of commerce from 9 to 12 and 1 to 5 o'clock.

McKechnie said during a recent visit here he would make more frequent trips to Lubbock.

Two thousand Coast Guardsmen from the New York area are manning transports converted from the trans-Atlantic merchant fleet.

The Coast Guard became navy operators of landing barges because of experience in handling small boats for more than a century.

Nazi Atrocities Bring Warning To All Germans They Must Pay Price

By JAMES F. KING
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 19—The United States, Britain and Russia have drafted a final solemn warning to the Germans that both the top Nazis and those who have done the "foul work with their own hands" will be made to pay for atrocities committed against the Allies, Prime Minister Churchill announced today.

Disclosure that the warning had been drafted by himself, President Truman and Premier Stalin and would be issued within a "very few days" was made by Churchill to the House of Commons, whose anger flamed as a result of direct word from Gen. Eisenhower that atrocities just discovered "far surpass" anything seen before.

Nazis May Be Fading Out

In what appeared to be a suggestion that the central Nazi government might not last even long enough to receive the warning, Churchill said it had been prepared "for the German government or whatever authorities exist."

Nazi atrocities have become of paramount importance in communications between the "Big Three," the Prime Minster said, disclosing that a delegation from Parliament would leave tomorrow at the invitation of Eisenhower to see first hand "these gruesome scenes." One woman is on the eight-member committee appointed to get personal proof of the crimes.

Anger And Concern

The flaring of anger toward the Nazis and concern for prisoners still in their hands swept through Commons after Churchill had fenced good-naturedly with members who tried to "tempt" him into talking about prospects for victory day in Europe.

The Prime Minister said that any V-E proclamation would come in concert with the United States and Russia. He emphasized that both "military and political considerations" would be taken into account. He added that he did not mean domestic political considerations.

Discussing Nazi atrocities, Churchill declared that "no words can express the horror which is felt by His Majesty's government and their Allies at proof of these frightful crimes now daily coming into view."

All Are Included

The warning of retribution, he said, grimly, is being directed "not only to the men at the top but to the actual people who have done this foul work with their own hands."

"No order from superior authority would be any shield to them," he said.

The Prime Minister said he would not make his expected war statement to Commons for at least another two weeks, and only then if he deemed the time suitable.

Lights Are To Burn Again In Britain

LONDON, April 19. (AP)—After almost six years of war-enforced darkness, lights in almost all British homes and business buildings will blaze with pre-war brilliance Monday.

Home Secretary Herbert Morrison announced in Commons today that all blackout restrictions limiting the amount of light which may be shown from houses, offices and factories, will be removed except for those in a five-mile belt all around the coast of Britain.

Colorado A&M To Honor Dean At Tech

Honorary degree of doctor of science will be conferred on Otto Vincent Adams, dean of the division of engineering at Texas Tech, from Colorado A. & M. college during commencement exercises to be held there today.

Explaining that good work done by Dean Adams extended beyond the campus, Prof. Henry G. Jordon, acting dean of the division of engineering at Colorado A. & M., will read the citation as follows to Roy M. Green, president of A. & M. "His professional associates have honored him by making him vice president of the Texas section of the American Society of Civil Engineers. He has done distinguished service in training men for war work and as chairman of the Northwest Texas committee on Engineering Science Management War Training."

A native of Colorado, Dean Adams entered A. & M. in 1903, withdrew two years later to become a civil and drainage engineer in Monte Vista, Colo. He was graduated from the University of Mich. in 1924 and came to Tech in 1927, and was made dean of the engineering division in 1932.

More Pan-American Trade Is Keynote

FORT WORTH, April 19. (AP)—More and better trade between North America and Latin American nations was struck yesterday as the keynote of the first annual Texas Pan-American relations day to be observed here May 1.

A declaration of purpose, outlined at a reception in the Mexican consulate for planners of the event, stressed "reciprocal commercial relations on an equitable basis for the mutual benefit of all as a guarantee of a lasting and harmonious solidarity."

Representatives of the Latin American diplomatic corps in Washington have been invited to the May 1 observance, which is under direction of the Mexican government as this year's host nation.

Many Workers Placed In Essential Jobs

AUSTIN, April 19. (AP)—C. E. Belk, state director of the War Manpower commission, reported today that 54,432 Texas workers, including 5,993 veterans, were placed on essential and high priority jobs during March.

Although this is a drop of 1,535 placements under last month, 11,051 more persons contacted U. S. Employment service offices in Texas than in February.

Belk said that in March 18,056 veterans sought jobs or information. Of this, 16,297 were veterans of this war. Out of 5,993 placed on jobs, 1,088 were handicapped in some way.

AWARDED DISTINGUISHED FLYING CROSS—First Lt. C. I. (Chubby) Cobb who served 11 months in the Pacific, recently was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross by Lt. Col. Renner of the 9th Marine Air Wing, Cherry Point, N. C., for 'heroism and extraordinary achievement while participating in aerial flight against the enemy as a section and division leader of a Marine fighting squadron in the Solomons and Bismarck Archipelago from Dec. 28, 1943 to Aug. 8, 1944." The citation accompanying the award points out that Lt. Cobb took part in 65 fighter sweeps and escort and strafing missions, and on Jan. 20, while escorting a bomber group near Rabaul, pressed his attack against a flight of numerically superior Japanese interceptors and succeeded in shooting down one fighter. Lt. Cobb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cleve Cobb, 2023 Main, visited his family here before reporting to San Diego where he is assigned to a carrier. He is a Lubbock High school graduate and attended Texas Tech.

Two Aces Who Bagged Total Of 33 Enemy Planes In Air War On Nazis, Now At LAAF

A couple of the top notch fighter aces of the European aerial war against the Nazis — Maj. Clarence E. Anderson, jr., of Newcastle, Calif., and Capt. Charles E. Yeager of Hamlin, W. Va., who in a few blazing months of action over the continent shot down or destroyed 18 and 15 enemy planes respectively — are now stationed at Lubbock Army Air field where they related their story Saturday.

Decorated with some of the highest awards presented by the U. S. government, the two P-51 aces arrived at the big west base in the new class of combat veterans at LAAF for the advanced instrument instructors course and are now making their homes in the city with their wives.

Teaming up for the past two years, the two officers have written two of the more impressive combat records of the war with their daring tactics in leading the famed 357th Fighter group of the Eighth Air force to two records in combat and hanging up individual performances which top any yet at LAAF.

Only this week, a news story with an Eighth Air Force fighter station dateline from England in the Army Times told how Capt. Yeager personnally received permission from Gen. Eisenhower to fly again in the European air war after being shot down, wounded and ordered home.

Downed Five ME-109s

Immediately afterwards, Capt. Yeager went out and shot down five ME-109s in less than a minute to earn the first of two Silver Stars and a number of other outstanding awards.

Major Anderson, 23, and Capt. Yearger, 22, met when their squadron first started forming for combat, stayed together through "ma-Yeager, 22, met when their squadgether and although they were separted for three months while Capt. Yeager was making his way back out of Europe after being wounded and shot down, flew out their missions together and are now back in the states.

Both went over in November, 1943, and soon went into action against what was then a powerful Nazi Lufewaffe.

Aided Wounded Bombardier

Things went fine until Capt. Yeager's eighth mission when he was shot down over enemy territory. The captain didn't have any intention of ending his combat career that quick, however, and started on his way back to England through an unnamed route. He came upon a wounded bombardier and helped him back to England also. For that bit of heroism he was awarded the Bronze Star medal, an award usually reserved for heroic actions of the infantryman.

During the period that Capt. Yeager was returning to his base in England Major Anderson completed his initial tour of missions and returned to the States. In September 1944 he went back over and joined the same unit and he and Capt. Yeager teamed up again, finishing their part of the job together.

In brief here are their accomplishments:

Major Anderson has 18 Nazi planes to his credit, 17 of them downed in flight, one on the ground. He flew 116 missions, never turning back on a single mission which in itself was an unusual feat. When he left in January he was among the top notch fighter plane aces of the ETO. He wears the Air Medal with 13 Oak Leaf Clusters and the Distinguished Flying Cross with three Clusters, the ETO ribbon with two stars and the Unit Citation.

Destroyed 15 Enemy Planes

Capt. Yeager has 15 enemy planes to his credit, 12 of them destroyed in flight, three on the ground. He flew 64 missions. On Sept. 12, 1944 he was leading his outfit when jumped by 22 ME-109s. Heading straight into the Nazi raiders Yeager downed five of them in less than a minute of blazing action. For that he was awarded the Silver Star, fifth highest award in the nation. On Nov. 27, 1944, he and Major Anderson were on an escort mission with bombers when 30 of the American planes intercepted over 200 FW-190s. Capt. Yeager got four more enemy craft in a few seconds of furious dogfights and Major Anderson downed three. For that feat, Capt. Yeager was awarded a Cluster to the first Silver Star, signifying a second award of that decoration. On another mission he got a ME-262, a jet propelled job and damaged two jet planes, for which he was awarded the DFC. He also wears the Air Medal with six Oak Leaf Clusters, the Purple Heart, the ETO ribbon with three stars, the Unit Citation and the Pre-Pearl Harbor Ribbon.

About those five planes. Quoting Army Times and the story that told how Capt. Yeager got Gen. Ike's permission to fly again: "Acting as a group leader of the 357th Fighter group on an escort mission in the vicinity of Bremen Germany, Yeager spotted 22 ME-109s and gave immediate and determined attack. His first swift, bold pass caused two Nazi pilots to bail out of their aircraft before the Mustang pilot opened his guns on them.

Sawed Fuselage In Half

"Closing up to 600 yards on two more German planes, he opened fire. One of the enemy planes skidded off to the left, smoking, and went crashing into the ground. The flier's bullets ripped into the next one and sawed the fuselage in half. The 109 exploded in mid-air. Still persistently after the Germans, Yeager pursued and shot down his fifth victim after a chase from 28,000 to 18,000 feet.

"Yeager's group scored eight victories on this mission and the bombers were unmolested to drop their loads on the Reich."

Both men helped cover the invasion of Normandy. Their group holds the record for the most enemy planes downed in one year—600 from February 1944 to February 1945. They also, until this week when the Nazis took their worst beating of the entire war in the air, held the record for the number of Nazi planes downed on one mission, 57 near Berlin on Jan. 14.

On two different occasions Major Anderson downed three planes in action and on several other occasions got two on one mission. Both went over at the same time, returned the last time on Feb. 1, 1945, together. Both married California girls within three days of each other upon their return to the States, and now live within two blocks of each other in Lubbock.

Tech Band Man To Hold Area Clinics

Serving as a director for band clinics and judge for Texas high school band contests to be held between now and May 5, Prof. D. O. Wiley, director of the Texas Tech Matador band, is scheduled to visit five cities on a tour which begins Wednesday.

Wiley will hold a band clinic in Vernon Wednesday and Thursday, and will conduct a concert for the Vernon high school band Thursday evening.

Scheduled to visit McCamey next Friday, Wiley will judge the eastern section of Region VIII band contest to be held there. He will also serve as judge for the western section of Region VIII band contest to be held April 28 at Monahans.

Clinics for two junior high band, a senior high band and a combined orchestra from various schools in Amarillo, will be conducted there May 2 and 3 by Wiley. The combined organization will present a concert the evening of May 3 under the direction of Prof. Wiley.

From Amarillo Wiley will go to Canyon to serve as judge in Region 1 band contest to be held there May 4 and 5. Bands to attend this event are Hereford, Plainview, Pampa, Clarendon and Amarillo.

Reclamation of clothing and equipment representing 85,000,000 yards of textile fabrics each year is being effected by the Quartermaster reclamation program in the continental United States.

No Runts among these grunts

A LOT of credit goes to our Agricultural Colleges and Experiment Stations where men spend their lives working out improved methods of breeding and feeding. For example, E. F. Ferrin, head of the swine division of the University of Minnesota, recently ran a feeding test with seven lots of pigs. He found that too small an amount of protein in the ration produces more runts, slower gains and less profit.

E. F. Ferrin

All pigs in the test started at an average weight of 50 pounds and were self-fed without pasture for 14 weeks. All seven lots received the same kind of protein supplement which was tankage and soybean meal in equal parts with 10 % alfalfa meal to supply adequate amounts of B vitamins. Some lots got a high-protein ration (18 % of the total feed); others were cut down to 15 % and 12 % protein. As pigs get heavier, they need less protein, so in some lots the amount of protein was reduced as they gained in weight.

The best results came from an 18 % protein ration until the pigs reached 100 pounds, and 15 % protein after that weight. The hogs on low-protein rations made smaller gains and were more uneven in individual weights when the test ended. By just such careful experiments, the "know-how" of hog raising has reached its present efficiency.

There's More Money in Eggs

if you: 1) collect them often, 2) cool them promptly, 3) keep them clean. All this improves their grade and therefore means a better price to you.

SULPHUR FOR LAMB COCCIDIOSIS

Coccidiosis in lambs may be successfully prevented by the addition of ground crude sulphur to their feed in proportions ranging from ½ % to 1½ % of the ration, claims the Idaho Wool Growers Bulletin. Effectiveness of this sulphur treatment has been demonstrated by the U.S.D.A. working in cooperation with large lamb feeders, the report states.

CATFISH CAN'T RAISE CORN

Nature has equipped catfish with feelers so they can find their way about in muddy, silt-laden rivers. Most of that mud and silt is rich topsoil from once fertile farmlands; the type of soil that should still be producing 50 to 100 bushels of corn.

Catfish can't use that fertile mud to raise corn, and that's too bad. Because right now, America needs all the corn it can produce. There's no need to let catfish have any part of your farm. Your topsoil can be saved. Soil conservation practices hold the raindrops where they fall, control water erosion, stop gullying, stabilize the soil. The Agricultural Extension Service of your State University will be glad to help you work out a special program to fit your farm.

Through soil conservation practices fertility is maintained, crops make better yields, carrying capacity of pastures is increased, more and cheaper feeds are provided for livestock. All this means more money in the farmer's pocket. Swift & Company believes that whatever helps livestock helps all of us—producer, meat packer and consumer. To you as a producer, we earnestly suggest that an investigation of soil conservation land management may be worth your while.

Keep Your Cream Checks Up!

If you've noticed that the cream content of your milk goes down at this time of year, it may indicate that your dairy cows are not getting all the feed they need for heavy production. Those first blades of grass aren't as good as they look, for they won't give the cows all the proteins they require. So don't turn your dairy cattle out to graze and expect them to take care of all their feed requirements with early pasture.

Supplement their spring ration of grass with grain and protein supplement mixture, and hay . . . grain and protein supplement for milk production, hay for necessary roughage. This tonic is sure to put new spring in the step of an undernourished cow.

The best indication of contentment in the dairy herd is the butterfat test of your milk!

A Martha Logan Recipe for PARTY-STYLE MEAT PIE

To serve four, buy ½ pound of table-ready meat loaf—either minced ham, New England cooked specialty or bologna. Dice. (Or, if you prefer, use 1½ cups of cubed beef.) Mix 2 tablespoons flour with 1 teaspoon salt and dash of pepper. Dredge cubes of meat in flour mixture. Brown in 2 tablespoons of melted fat. Add 1 medium onion which has been diced, and brown. Combine with ½ cup each of cooked green peas and cooked sliced carrots. Cover with hot water or leftover gravy. Pour into a deep, wide casserole. Top with mashed potatoes. Bake in a hot oven (450° F.) about 20 minutes, or until potatoes are browned. Serve with a fresh fruit salad, hot rolls and dessert.

LOST! A MILLION EXTRA ANNUAL MEAT RATIONS

Approximately 200 million pounds of meat a year are being wasted as a result of bruises, crippling and death losses of livestock in transit to market, according to H. R. Smith of the National Livestock Loss Prevention Board. This Board has found that all of us who have to do with the handling of livestock can help save much of this needed meat by following these simple rules:

1. Inspect chutes, trucks and cars for nails and rough corners.
2. Do not overload or jam animals. Partition mixed loads of livestock.
3. Never beat or prod with whips or clubs.
4. When trucking, start and stop with caution; watch for bumps, ruts and sharp curves.
5. Check your load frequently. Livestock shift in transit.

By observing these simple rules, we can all cooperate in cutting down this loss of a million extra meat rations a year; and we can help contribute to the nation the additional meat supplies which it needs so greatly right now!

Regional School Meet Postponed

CANYON, April 19 (Special)—The Region One Interscholastic League meet, scheduled for West Texas State Teachers college Friday and Saturday has been postponed until Monday and Tuesday, it was announced here tonight by Boone McClure, director-general of the meet.

Two recent heavy rains of about one inch each left the track too wet for running, and it was feared they woud not be dry enough before time for the meet.

"We did not think schools would like to send literary and tennis entries at one time and track entries at another, so figured it would be better to postpone the entire meet," McClure said.

New Schedule Set

The events scheduled for Friday will be run Monday, and Saturday events will be run Tuesday, McClure said. This applies to all branches of the meet.

In the athletic end of the meet, the first round of tennis play in all divisions will be staged Monday, with the remainder of the matches booked for Tuesday. Pairings will be drawn at the start of play on Monday.

Seek To Clear Rule

There was some concern felt in many quarters regarding the ability to postpone the meet, and still have the winners registered in Austin in time for the state meet. Officials pointed out that the state rules say that entries must be in Austin ten days before the state meet, scheduled for May 3 and 4.

McClure pointed out that W. W. Nicklaus, director of athletics of the meet, had received a letter from the Interscholastic League which said the reports must be filed in Austin by next Thursday night, and the postponement was being based on this letter.

McClure said, however, that he was going to talk to officials in Austin tonight or tomorrow, and obtain official permission to postpone the meet until Monday and Tuesday, and protect the eligibility of the winners.

Ross Craig First To Hurl Softball Shutout

The season's first shut out victory was recorded Thursday afternoon in the Lubbock grade school softball league race as the Dupre Dogies trotted out their star battery of Ross Craig and Bill Davis to blank the Bean Bronchos, 9 to 0.

The Bean girls evened the count for the day by blasting the Dupre girls, 19-9 in the second game of the twin bill.

Hunt Pioneers and Central Ward Spurs also split even in their twin bill, the Hunt boys winning a 14 to 1 victory, while the Central Ward girls outslugged Hunt's girls for an 18-14 win.

Boys Club Holds Fights Tonight

Lubbock Boys club leather pushers will start swinging from the ring post tonight with the first of four successive weekend cards that will be run off on an elimination basis, it was announced Thursday night by John Wilson.

There will be ten fights on the card tonight, with the fighters drawing for opponents for the first round of eliminations to determine the club champions. The bouts will start at 8 o'clock.

Bo Sexton will be referee of the card, with the timekeeper and judges coming from the membership of the Lions club.

With the added incentive of a chance to fight again on the later cards, the bouts tonight are expected to provide some of the best ring battles of the year.

Ike Williams Wins Lightweight Crown

MEXICO CITY, April 19. (AP) — Ike Williams, 21-year-old Trenton, N. J., slugger, held the NBA lightweight championship today after knocking out Juan Zurita in two rounds last night in the Mexican titleholder's home town bull ring.

A crowd of 35,000 paid an estimated $110,000 to see the five-minute bout.

The young negro, who got his first boxing experience fighting for "corner rights" to sell newspapers in Trenton, carried the scrap to Zurita from the opening gong. The Mexican held him off during the first round but could not stand up under Williams' two-fisted attack to the head in the second.

ZURITA TO RETIRE

MEXICO CITY, April 19. (U.P.)—George Parnassus, manager of Juan Zurita who lost his N.B.C. lightweight title when knocked out by Ike Williams last night, announced his protege will never fight professionally again.

"Juan has earned all the money he needs to lead a comfortable life. I took the decision not to let him fight again and Zurita agreed," Parnassus said.

Cards Win Over Chicago's Cubs

CHICAGO, April 19. (AP) — Aided by five unearned runs in the fourth inning and Harry Brecheen's seven-hit mound effort, the World Champion St. Louis Cardinals trimmed the Chicago Cubs, 8 to 2, for their first 1945 triumph before 5,497 paying fans at Wrigley Field today. The Cards thumped four Cub hurlers for 12 hits.

Lefty Ray Prim, a 22-game winner for Los Angeles last season and the first of four Cub pitchers, was victimized by the five unearned Cardinal runs after two were out in the fourth. Until then, the Bruins held a 1-0 lead on Ed Sauer's second inning home-run.

Catcher Walker Cooper greeted news he must report for Army induction April 30 with four singles to pace the Cardinals attack.

Jorge Comellas held the Cards to a single in the sixth and seventh and George Hennessy did the same in the eighth and ninth. Both new-comers struck out two.

Detroit Pushes Over Run In Ninth To Shade Browns, 1-0

ST. LOUIS, April 19. (AP) — Ninth-inning singles by Mayo, York and Cramer pulled Alton Benton out of a tight pitching duel today and gave the Detroit Tigers a 1 to 0 victory over the St. Louis Browns and an edge of two games to one in their opening series. Benton allowed the Browns only four scattered hits, while his mates got to Nelson Potter for nine.

Don Gutteridge, Brownie second baseman and the first batter to face Benton, rapped out a double to start the game but thereafter the remaining three safeties were widespread.

The Tigers hit safely, all singles, once in every inning but the first and third until the ninth, but strong defensive play snuffed out all semblances of incipient rallies.

Vernon Stephens, Browns' regular shortstop, was out of the lineup today because of a jammed thumb, injured in a fielding play yesterday.

Mustangs Coast To Victory Over Aggies

DALLAS, April 19. (AP)—Piling up an 11 to 0 lead in the first five innings, the Southern Methodist Mustangs coasted to a 14-8 victory over the Texas A. and M. Aggies here today, and tightened their grip on second place in the Southwest Conference baseball standings.

After being donated four runs, the Mustangs bunched seven singles in the fifth inning. They counted their last three in the sixth on Jim Love, who went to the mound for the Aggies after Elmer Purtle was removed for a pinch hitter in the first half of the inning.

Red Shaw held the Aggies to three hits and an unearned run in the first six stanzas, then retired to centerfield while Bert Batts took over. Batts ran into trouble, and Shaw returned after five Aggie runs had scored. An error permitted the visitors to tally two more in the etighth.

HOPPE'S LEAD CUT

Truman Expected To Back Sports

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP)—President Truman's refusal to lift the racing ban before V-E day does not mean that he will be severe on sports.

He will be firm but understanding, keeping sports in perspective with other matters under changing war conditions.

And, generally, Mr. Truman will carry out suggestions made by James F. Byrnes in his last report to the late President Roosevelt and congress before resigning as war mobilizer.

Persons close to Mr. Truman on Capitol Hill and at the White House said today they feel confident that summation represents the President's attitude toward sports, based on actions in his first week as chief executive.

Mr. Truman's terse remarks on racing—that he did not intend to lift the ban soon and that he did not have the answer as to whether it will be removed after V-E day—left the sports world somewhat bewildered, but his friends say:

"He really is a 'natural' for sports. He's quite a fan, and he'll be in there pitching when the time comes."

Mr. Byrnes had suggested that the racing ban be revoked V-E day. Whatever Mr. Truman does on this point probably will be guided by the prospects of speedy redeployment of armed forces to the Pacific and reconversion.

When Mr. Truman mentioned that the midnight curfew, brown-out and racing ban had done a lot for the country's moral well being, he was thinking, his friends say, of manpower, absenteeism and conduct of workers—war factors which still must be considered.

Proposal In Legislature For May To September Recess Is Blocked

AUSTIN, April 19. (AP)—A point of order today blocked, temporarily at least, a plan to adjourn the general session of the legislature from May 22 to Sept. 11.

The House spent most of its morning session wrangling on the proposal which had not reached a decisive vote when Speaker Claud Gilmer announced he would need time to study the point of order. It was made by Rep. C. E. Nicholson of Port Neches who said the plan was unconstitutional and usurped executive prerogatives. The House then recessed until tonight for a local bill session.

Fund Measure Passed

Meanwhile, the Senate voted a $4,227,024 judicial appropriation for the next biennium—$200,000 less than a House-approved appropriation for this purpose—touched upon several other measures and then adjourned until Monday morning.

The adjournment resolution, which needs Senate approval as well as House approval, as introduced by Rep. J. Ed Winfree of Houston and 85 other members authorized a recess from May 18. This was changed by an amendment to May 22.

Members refused 79 to 52, to kill the resolution when it was brought out. Then they pitched into a long debate on the question of merits, property and constitutionality.

Reconversion Picture

It was Winfree's idea that the end of the war, possibly sometime in the spring or summer, may require submission of constitutional amendments to assist reconversion. Constitutional amendments cannot be submitted at a special session of the legislature. If the general session recessed until fall it could then consider submission of amendments.

Although the proposal authorized both branches to adjourn until Sept. 11 the practical effect is a recess of the general session since all bills and resolutions alive at the time of recess would remain alive in the interim. If the legislature adjourns sine die, that is finally, all measures on the calendar and in committees die.

"If we adjourn sine die we lose the ball," Winfree reminded.

Pay Angle Brought Up

The Winfree resolution stipulates they shall receive no pay during the recess period but some opponents said this provision raised serious legal questions since the pay of legislators is set by constitution and possibly could not be altered by a resolution.

Winfree said he thought it possible the members could reduce their pay by resolution to one cent a day during the recess but admitted in answer to a question by Rep. T. R. Bond of Terrell he did not know the exact legal effect.

"Then why not postpone consideration of this resolution until we know more about it and can vote on it intelligently?" Bond asked.

Members refused to postpone consideration and only when Gilmer asked time to consider the point of order was it laid aside.

Senate approval of the judiciary bill will send the measure to free conference committee because it differs from the House version. The Senate appropriation was about $104,976 less than current judiciary appropriations, due mostly to less allowance for witness fees and other court costs. Several moves to increase items in the bill were defeated.

Deficiency Funds

The Senate also passed a $14,000 deficiency appropriations for the radio and visual aid division of the state education department and refused to concur in House amendments to a Senate bill creating within the department a new division for training of physically handicapped children. The latter bill probably will be ironed out in free conference committee.

Set for special order in the Senate Monday was a resolution by Sen. Fred Mauritz of Ganado proposing submission of a constitutional amendment remitting state property taxes for general fund support to all counties for five years. It was estimated the remission would total $60,000,000. Some 54 counties now enjoy remissions.

They told of being compelled to walk miles to a railroad construction job, there to put in 10 hours of backbreaking work with only a half hour's rest at noon, and to walk back to camp at the end of the day.

Breakfast, they said, was lukewarm water; a piece of bread and a pat of oleomargarine constituted their mid-day dinner; and for supper they got potato soup or turnip soup, not much richer than the water had been.

One Pilot Dies In Abilene Collision

ABILENE, April 19. (AP)—One pilot from the Army air field here was killed and another escaped uninjured today when their single engine fighter planes collided in flight at nearby Wingate.

Identified as dead by Col. Harry Weddington, commandant, was 2nd Lt. Lonny S. Costley, 23, husband of Mrs. Isabel M. Costley of Lacoste, Tex.

Uninjured when he landed his plane after the collision was 1st Lt. Irving J. Cuddington, 23, of Farmington, Ill.

News Briefs

The flag at Texas Tech will continue to fly at half-staff until May 12, honoring the memory of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt. This is in keeping with the War department request that all military posts, including those of ROTC units, fly the flag at half-staff for a 30-day period following the president's death.

Condition of J. H. Hankins, former member of the city commission, was reported late last night as grave. He is at his home, 2403 Broadway. Hankins owns several farms in the Lubbock area and was active in their management until two years ago. He has been bedfast for several weeks. A son, Weldon, of Corpus Christi, is here and another son, Gaylord of San Angelo, who had been in New York on business, was en route here by plane.

"Ring Around Elizabeth," a three-act comedy, was presented by the college speech department Thursday night in Lubbock High school auditorium. The cast included Willella Nelson, Bobby Hays, Bess Griggs and Bob Nash, all of Lubbock; Jo Wofford of Plainview, Anita Hale of Amarillo, Mary Maloney of Seminole, Mary Nees of Houston, Louise Ince of Spur, James Simpson of Roby and Eddie Aryain of Seminole. Kidy Cole of Lubbock assisted Miss Helene Blattner, associate professor of the speech department, in direction of the play.

Leroy Thomas, 23, was charged with drunk driving and Jesse B. Taylor, 21, a negro, with theft of a bicycle in complaints filed Thursday in county court.

Clay Turner, operator of a grocery, told police and sheriff's officers that Thursday afternoon he prepared an accumulation of checks for deposit. He had placed them in a sack preparatory to going to the bank. He was called out of his office at 1718 Ave. H to see a party. He left the sack, containing $131.11 in endorsed checks, on his desk. When he returned a few minutes later the checks were gone.

South Plains peace officers Thursday night had a description of a Ford automobile stolen there Wednesday. A 1938 Ford deluxe coach, the car bears Texas license DK9675.

Police records showed Lt. Dean L. Bussard of Clovis Army Air base reported theft of a .22 pistol from his automobile while it was parked in 1300-block Ave. G Thursday afternoon; V. V. Cox of 2517 Twenty-third, theft of a .22 pistol and a coat from his car on the highway north of Tahoka; Paul Johnson of 1401 Ave. E, theft of a radio.

Soviet Offensive

the Oder below Stettin under cover of artificial fog.

Meanwhile, the Soviet command disclosed that Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's Second Ukrainian Army operating north of Vienna had pushed within 10 miles of Laa, a key Austrian transit center on the southeastern roads to Prague, and were sweeping up the Morava river valley toward a junction with Konev's forces in the Silesian basin.

Along the entire 170-mile front from Stettin to Saxony, invaded for the first time by the Red Army, the Germans admitted that the relentless pressure of Soviet armies was beating back the defensive German arc before Berlin.

The German high command said that the Russians were throwing into the colossal struggle "men and material to an extent hitherto unknown," while German commentators said the battle before Berlin "has assumed such proportions and ferocity as was never before witnessed in this most bloody of all wars."

Polish Armies In Action

Side by side with the Red Army were fighting two Polish armies under the supreme command of Col. Gen. Michal Rola-Zymierski, commander in chief of the armed forces of the Lublin government.

Moscow announced that the Second Polish Army had captured Rothenberg after breaching the Neisse river 14 miles north by Goerlitz, but the Germans said that these forces already had driven far beyond and were pouring into the multiple bridgeheads across the shattered Spree river defense line.

On Zhukov's front east and northeast of Berlin, the enemy admitted that the situation had deteriorated rapidly during the past 24 hours. The Germans conceded the loss of Wriezen, 23 miles northeast of Berlin, and Seelow, 26 miles east.

Konev Breakthrough

Southeast of Berlin, meanwhile, a battle comparable in its ferocity raged unabated. The enemy said Marshal Konev's troops had scored a breakthrough of 22 miles from the Neisse river during the past days, and had built up several bridgeheads across the Spree.

Konev's troops crossed Berlin's last river defense line at points along a 39-mile front between the great defense bastion of Cottbus, 47 miles southeast of Berlin, and Bautzen, 27 miles east of Dresden.

One Bridgehead was established between Cottbus and Spremberg, 13 miles to the south, and the Russians were fighting to reach the Berlin super-highway. Cottbus was outflanked.

South of Spremberg, other units crossed the Spree and swept nine miles westward to reach Hoyerswerda, key junction on the Cottbus-Dresden highway. A "furious" battle was underway for the transit center, the enemy said, as the Russians squeezed the narrow escape corridor south of Berlin.

Germans To Get Full View Of Atrocities

ON THE ELBE RIVER IN GERMANY, April 19 (AP)—The citizens of Gardelegen will become sickeningly familiar tomorrow with each grisly detail of the infamous atrocities committed there by their countrymen.

"At the points of bayonets is necessary," the Army decreed, they will dig individual graves for each of the 1,100 slave laborers and political prisoners who were burned to death in a Gardelegen barn a few nights ago.

Each grave will be six feet long, six feet deep and three feet wide. Each charred body and skeleton will be laid gently in its individual resting place. And through sweat and evil smells and ghastly sights the Gardelegen Germans will learn the full extent of the atrocities which at first many of them refused to believe had been committed.

Graves will be dug in a special cemetery laid out by doughboys whose sense of justice and the grim fitness of things decreed that the grave-digging chore should fall to the citizens of Gardelegen.

Youth Held For Theft And Arson

Charges were filed Thursday against three Lubbock county youths who admitted in signed statements theft of five trailers and the burning of at least $5,000 worth of baled alfalfa hay Wednesday night at Purina mills on the Plainview highway.

According to Sheriff Grady Harrist, D. E. Morris, 19, and Sidney Parr, 17, were charged in four cases of theft and Dennis L. Carleton, 17, in three cases of theft. In addition, all were charged with "willfully burning" the big hay stack.

Face Lynn Charges

Two of them probably will be charged in Lynn county for theft of a trailer from Sheriff Sam Floyd, officers said.

The sheriff's department and Texas Rangers announced that 15 of 16 tires taken from the trailers had been recovered. The other tire was burned, it was said.

Sheriff Harrist said that Justice of Peace C. E. Lynn had set bond of $1,000 in each case. They were still in jail last night.

The youths, or some of them, admitted burning two of the trailers.

One Fire Traps Them

Burning of one indirectly trapped the trio Wednesday night, officers said.

Rangers Norvell Redwine and Raymond Waters and OPA investigators, driving past the "Y" on the Brownfield road, noticed a man working on a hitch between a trailer and a car. They took a mental note of the car's license number, drove up the highway and turned back. They found the trailer, later reported stolen from Mrs. K. R. Rupert of 1611 Ave. Y, was ablaze, and the car was gone.

The officers than caught a police broadcast directing a prowl car to 2201 Broadway. They speeded to the address, arriving there about the same time as Sheriff Harrist, whom they had telephoned a few minutes earlier. They found the youths at the address, location of Parr's Service station. One of them was entering the station with a key.

Recognize One Car

The Rangers recognized a car at the station as one of three they had observed three youths driving that night—a Dodge, a red Ford and a blue Ford.

"They had been shifting from one to another," officials said.

The youths said in statements to District Attorney Burton S. Burks that they had discussed early in the night what a "nice" fire the haystack would make. They drove to the mills about 10:30 o'clock, soaked a piece of cotton rope in a can of gasoline and placed it between two bales of hay.

"I guess we just wanted to do something mean," one of them said.

Officers also were investigating circumstances behind the discovery of the fire-blackened ruins of a Chrysler automobile yesterday near Purina mills. Two tires had been taken from it, officers said.

Tires, Wheels Recovered

Deputy Sheriff Earl Horton and Waters recovered five of the missing tires and eight wheels in the Levelland vicinity.

The other trailer destroyed belonged to W. B. Edwards, farm operator of 2124 Twenty-seventh. The trailer—the oak flooring alone cost $125—was burned several miles south of Lubbock. A new lister beam and new lister taken from the Edwards trailer was found buried eight miles south of Lubbock.

Morris, according to Waters, recently was discharged by the Army in which he had served approximately five months.

Forced Unionization Of Farmers Feared

WASHINGTON, April 19. (AP)—Chairman Thomas (D-Okla) of the Senate agriculture committee said today he feared a "dangerous situation" if unions use boycotts to force organization of farmers or farm workers.

"I want to hear the union side," he told reporters, but added that tactics attributed to the AFL Teamsters' union in testimony to his committee might contain "serious potentialities."

"Farmers certainly will resent being organized involuntarily," Thomas said.

Fred Tobin, Washington representative for the AFL teamsters, told the committee "we can give an absolutely different picture" from the one it received yesterday from owners of the Walker-Gordon Laboratory Co., Plainsboro, N. J.

Henry W. Jeffers, president of the company, said a two-week boycott on movement of their milk last January forced them to accept the union as bargaining representative for 36 employes.

PROFITS CUT PRICES

NEW YORK, April 19 (AP)—Oppressed by relatively heavy late profit selling on the sharp 7-session upswing, the stock market averages today suffered the first decline since April 9.

Prices faltered after a fast opening but were no worse than slightly mixed until the final hour when rails led a retreat which was participated in by leading industrials and utilities. Dealings slowed near the close. Transfers of 1,680,000 shares compared with 1,710,000 Wednesday.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was off .4 of a point at 63.9.

Prominent casualties included Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Great Northern, Bethlehme, Chrysler, General Motors, Goodrich, North American, Western Union "A," Montgomery Ward, Eastman Kodak, International Telephone, Kennecott, General Electric and Westinghouse.

A few aircrafts such as Consolidated Vultee, Lockheed and Douglas managed to advance.

Secondary railway bonds were resistant.

government of Poland which it would announce as conforming to the Yalta agreement.

While Yalta specifically provided for the three-power consultations on establishment of a Polish government, such a development is not being condemned here in advance.

The probable U. S. attitude would be to sit back and watch the new government to determine whether it really was representative and democratic, as conceived during the Roosevelt-Churchill-Stalin meeting at Yalta.

Warrants Released On Apportionment

AUSTIN, April 18. (UP)—Warrants representing a $1 per capita apportionment of the state available school fund based on 1,498,491 scholastics were released today, state school superintendent, L. A. Woods, announced.

With this payment $19 has been applied on the current per capita apportionment of $25 and another $2 per capita apportionment will be paid about May 15 to schools, he said.

AAF Officers Find Gruesome Exhibits

OUTSIDE WEIMAR, April 19. (UP)—Two Eighth Air force officers, inspecting the notorious Buchenwald concentration camp, today discovered some of the most gruesome exhibits yet found.

They found two lampshades made from human skin which had been professionally tanned. They also found the skin from a human chest with an elaborate tattoo. The skin had been mounted like a trophy.

The officers were Maj. John M. Goodwin, Atlanta, Ga., and Capt. J. Dabney Penich, Montclair, N. J.

ARCHBISHOP ENTHRONED

CANTERBURY, April 19 (AP)—Geoffrey Francis Fisher was enthroned as the 99th Archbishop of Canterbury and primate of all England today, and in his first sermon he said "there is now a whole demon-ridden world to be re-ordered and everything of stability and high purpose that man can find will be needed for the task." He succeeded the late William Temple.

Yanks Take Two Big Nazi Cities

Second Army's armored spearheads thrust northward 20 miles to within five miles and easy artillery range of Hamburg, Germany's second city and greatest port.

Driving up to the Elbe river 20 miles southeast of Hamburg, the British drenched with artillery fire the last bridge across the stream at Lauenburg, thus sealing off from the rest of the Reich the defenders of the ports of Bremen, Emden and Wilhelmshaven.

Compares To Stalingrad

The U. S. First, Ninth and 15th armies inflicted the worst defeat on Hitler's armies since Stalingrad with the final smashing of the Ruhr pocket, capturing 316,930 prisoners and 11 generals. The final figure may exceed the 330,000 taken at Stalingrad, one of the war's decisive battles. Bradley's report that the 15th Army was in on the Ruhr cleanup was the first disclosure of the whereabouts of this new Army.

The First and Ninth armies likewise cleared out but one-tenth of a second big pocket in the forested Harz mountains southwest of Berlin. The Ninth Army alone took 7,172 prisoners from those hills, where the German pocket once was 350 square miles in area.

Third Hacks Deeper

As the U. S. Third Army hacked deeper into Czechoslovakia and the U. S. Ninth Army beat off small attacks on its Elbe river bridgehead 52 miles southwest of Berlin, Gen. Omar N. Bradley declared the first phase of his group of armies' offensive beyond the Rhine was ended.

In that first phase the U. S. First, Third, Ninth and 15th armies seized 842,864 prisoners and wiped out all the German forces that faced them when the big push began.

Bradley said there would be a temporary pause for consolidation "before we go into the next," leaving the uneasy German high command to guess which direction it would take.

But it was significant that the word was passed down through American troops on the Western front that a junction with the Russians—now no more than 55 miles to the east of the U. S. Third Army—was imminent.

Tank Silhouettes Explained

Posters illustrated the silhouettes of Russian tanks and explained that they resembled some of those of the Germans and the Americans should look twice now before they shot.

The French First Army also scored successes on its Rhine and Atlantic fronts.

On the Rhine front, the French broke all the way through the Black forest in a 13-mile dash to Tubingen, 20 miles southwest of Stuttgart, and captured Lahr, 17 miles southeast of Strasbourg. Stuttgart was threatened with encirclement.

The campaign to free the Gironde river approaches to the big port of Bordeaux was nearing a conclusion. The Paris radio said the Germans had been driven from Point de Graves, the last main stronghold blocking an opening of the river passage.

Duesseldorf's Fate

Bradley's statement that the Ruhr had been liquidated implied that the big munitions city of Duesseldorf had been captured, althought it last was reported still being mopped up. The 20,000 prisoners taken at Leipzig represented half the city's estimated garrison.

With three American armies on, across, or nearing the Elbe river on a front of about 160 miles, and with a salient in the Dresden area driven to within possibly 55 miles of Russian lines, the main weight of the Allied offensive veered south toward the enemy's last mountain retreat.

The fall of Leipzig, 75 miles southwest of Berlin, came with dramatic abruptness after a morning pincers assault, giving the First Army control of a good network of roads and railways radiating from this fifth city of the Reich and releasing troops for the second phase.

The U. S. Coast Guard fleet now numbers more than 5,000 vessels and is the fifth largest fleet in the world.

Education Classes Hold Banquet Here

Approximately 50 students from the distributive education and diversified occupations classes of the Lubbock High school, with an equal number of their employers as guests attended a banquet held Thursday night at Luby's cafeteria.

Masters of ceremony were students Charles Bratcher and Robert Karr, and special guest was Floyd Honey, principal of the High school.

The program, opening with welcoming and introductory speeches by the two masters of ceremony, featured special music by a sextette composed of Nell Bateman, Imogene Deering, Dean Pierce, Bennie Lowe, Wayne Dean and Duease Buck.

Three employers, Steve Allgood, Lenis Baker and J. Ray Dickey, gave short talks.

Nazis Are Whipped

which bled Hitler's legions white.

The biggest part of this bleeding undoubtedly has been done by the Russians.

On the Western front it is difficult to say at which point or by which Army the most was accomplished.

The turning point came when Field Marshal Karl von Rundstedt's Ardennes gamble failed and then he had to dispatch the Sixth Panzer Army to the Eastern front, leaving no mobile reserve in the west.

Lt. Gen. William H. Simpson's Ninth Army drove the first coffin nail on Feb. 23 when it crossed the Roer, rolled up Nazi defenses to the Ruhr and dashed to the Rhine in less than 10 days.

Canadians Complete Rout

The Canadian First Army coming down from the north completed the German rout in front of the Ruhr.

Then Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third Army pushed through the Moselle sector and some of the most difficult terrain on the front with lightning speed.

Patton's lightning crossing near Coblenz and his drive south behind the Saar scooped up Germans by the tens of thousands and ended forever the German hope of again establishing a front anywhere. Men lost in the southern Rhineland might have held the river line for months.

It became a question of time. The American First Army took the Remagen bridgehead and what small forces von Rundstedt had at his disposal were gobbled up trying to seal off this penetration.

Taking advantage of the German weakness Patton crossed the Rhine without a shot being fired.

Ruhr Polished Off

Then the American Ninth, British Second and Canadian First armies put on a power punch that polished off Hitler's last resource —the Ruhr.

The U. S. First and Third armies' crossings of the Rhine were brilliant improvisations. The three-Army crossing north of the Ruhr was a carefully and long-planned strategic move. It worked much better than planned. The crossings were made much easier than expected. The Ninth Army completed an engineering miracle by building three bridges across the Rhine in 36 hours and topping off the crossing with a 240 airline mile advance in 19 days to the Elbe, an advance that equalled any in this war.

Textile Workers Given Wage Hike

WASHINGTON, April 19. (AP)—Stablization Director William H. Davis approved today a general wage increase of five cents an hour for 50,000 textile workers in 54 northern and southern mills.

In approving an order of the War Labor board authorizing the increase, Davis described the need for greater production of textile goods as "of almost unique significance in its critical relation to hold down the cost of living."

The War Labor board order provides a minimum rate of 55 cents an hour and an increase of five cents an hour in rates above the minimum. Since the present minimum rate is 50 cents an hour, this amounts to a general increase of five cents an hour.

The WLB order specifically applies to 50,000 textile employes of the 54 participating companies represented by the Textile Workers Union of America (CIO).

Davis said the OPA had advised him the wage increase "would not in itself" require an industry-wide boost in the maximum price of any of the major items which the firms produce, but that some of the companies might be entitled to individual price adjustments.

Houston Telephone Service Resumed

HOUSTON, April 19. (AP)—Long distance telephone service in Houston returned to normal today following temporary settlement of a dispute between the local office of Southwestern Bell Telephone company and toll operator members of the Southwestern Telephone company union local regarding employment of out-of-town operators.

Between 200 and 300 toll operators failed to report to work yesterday in protest to what they said was a company policy of paying partial expenses of out-of-town operators so that their wages exceeded by about $18.50 weekly those of the local employes.

A. L. Edmondson, division superintendent, said in a statement last night the company agreed in a conference with union officials that no additional out-of-town operators would be brought into Houston until the grievance can be handled in accordance with a bargaining agreement between company and the union.

Mania For Distruction

Nazis Ruin When They Can't Rule

IN setting afire the great cities of Bremen, Hanover and Hamburg—and dozens of smaller towns—the Germans not only made public confession that their cause is lost, but revealed again that mania for destruction which has scorched nearly every part of Europe where they have sent their troops and which, indirectly at least, is responsible for their present plight.

To the normal person, blessed with a rational mind, there is no way to explain this sort of thing. What good does it do to lay waste cities that were centuries in the building, which contain priceless relics of the past, and whose ruin will delay for years the rehabilitation of the country? Only a fanatical Nazi can even profess to supply the answer to this question, and it will not be an answer which will satisfy the great masses of people who have seen their homes leveled and must now wander helplessly around the countryside.

If there is any plan at all behind so clear a policy of national suicide, it probably stems from a realization on the part of the Nazi leaders that the Reich as such never again can mean anything to them, or that they will be permitted to live within it. What happens to it is, therefore, of no personal consequence, and the less there is left the smaller will be the Allies' reward for seizing it and the greater their task of rebuilding it for their own purposes.

Ever since this war began in 1939, utter chaos has followed in the footsteps of the German legions. The wreckage of countless cities in enslaved states testifies to this fact. Today the same fate is coming to the homeland—eloquent evidence of Hitler's rule or ruin philosophy.

Equal Chances For Glory

THE distribution of medals by the Army and Navy is arousing criticism among enlisted men and nonflying fighters. An independent analysis of all the awards that have been announced in Washington provides a fair sample of the way medals are handed out.

It shows that the officer's chance is approximately seven times that of the enlisted man in the Army. The officer's chance of getting a medal in the Navy is twenty-one times as great as that of the enlisted man. On the face of the independent survey, as cited in the United States News, more than half of the awards made by the Army have gone to airmen.

Some attempt was made to meet complaints from nonfliers that the fliers were getting more than their share of the awards when the Bronze Star went into use a year ago. It can be won anywhere except in the air.

Army Air Force officers feel, they say, that their men work hard, fight hard and deserve whatever recognition can be given. They say that decorations keep morale high. For these reasons more personal recognition of the ordinary GI in the form of more equitable distribution of awards should be accorded.

Politics And Your Coffee

BRAZIL has been promised a free election before the end of the year, the first in the more than 10 years since President Vargas took power. Americans will be interested because on the outcome may depend the price of coffee.

Sweden is now contracting with Brazilian growers for coffee at 16 cents a pound and growers are convinced they will soon receive 20 cents. That would increase retail prices in the United States 50 per cent.

When, last year, Brazil's growers refused to sell any of the crop to the United States because the price was deemed too low, President Vargas released government stocks at 13 cents a pound. No deal for 1945 stocks has yet been closed with Brazil. If there is an election in Brazil, the price of coffee is slated to be the important issue.

And how Brazil votes may be the deciding factor in the price of your next year's coffee—which illustrates again that the modern world is just one big neighborhood.

The Industrial Commission of California, in ruling on a claim for compensation, said a cow can't kick backwards. The commission is badly mistaken. A cow can kick in any direction except straight up. Her favorite kick, however, is a roundhouse swing that knocks the milker northeast of the bucket of milk southwest.

"Breathing pure oxygen will cure seasickness," declares a physician. But in ever so many instances, a seasick person is too busy to breathe pure oxygen.

The One Minute Sermon

Ah Lord God! behold, thou hast made the heaven and the earth by thy great power and stretched out arm, and there is nothing too hard for thee:

Thou shewest loving kindness unto thousands, and recompensest the iniquity of the fathers unto the bosom of their children after them: the great, the Mighty God, the Lord of host, is his name.—Jeremiah 32:17-18.

THE INWARD VOICE

Frederic was playing his Etude in E Major. He looked up from the piano. "Do you like it, George?"

"Heavenly."

"For you."

"I shall try always to be worthy of it."

"—These days at Nohant; I shall never forget them."

She came to him at the piano. They embraced.

"So, Monsieur, you go back to Paris tomorrow?"

"—We go back together."

"No."

"—But George, we had planned—"

"True. Yet plans change, my darling. I want to write, my head is full of ideas—and Nohant is no place to work. Too close to the world. There is always Paris to tempt you. I thought of going to Italy—"

"So far?"

"—Farther and farther but it's still not far enough. I go to Majorca—that wonderful island off the coast of Spain—"

"—But, George, without you?"

"We could be together, Frederic—"

"Majorca?"

"—Why not?"

Frederic shook his head.

"I would like it, George—"

"Then it's done!"

"—There is Professor Elsner and the contracts to be signed with Monsieur Pleyel—"

"—Chopin and his purposes!" She strode across the room. "His teacher—that's one; his country—that's two; his contracts—that's three—!"

"George!"

"Yes, Monsieur," she said mockingly.

"You can be very spiteful, can't you?"

"—I am not being spiteful at all. But I am not on my best behavior today, either. I insist on enumerating all the purposes that keep our Frederic from being himself."

• • •

Jozef Elsner, in Paris, wrote in a trembling hand to Papa and Mamma Chopin:

"You cannot imagine Frederic's success. It is just as I had dreamed and we had often talked about. He must have plenty of rest, of course, and before his concerts begin, I have decided he should have a holiday and he has gone to the Island of Majorca where he will relax, and—"

Jozef Elsner looked toward Frederic's room. "Frederic!" There was only the echo of his own voice.

"—Tch, tch, Elsner, what is the matter with you?"

• • •

From Nohant to Majorca! He followed wherever she led and the farther they went together out of the world (or away from it) the less faith he seemed to have in himself and the more he leaned on her. There were moments—very long ones—when he despaired of the future and prayed in silence for the firm hand of Jozef Elsner to pull him back, to get his feet onto the earth again.

"—Something is happening. What is it, Professor? I don't know. How can I tell you when I don't know?"

—And still he stumbled on. "I am not well. I am dizzy. Perhaps it is only the travel."

—From Nohant to Lyons, to Avignon, to Arles. Then a few days at Perpignan. George said: "My blessed one, you are as fresh as a rose and as rosy as a turnip!" She lied. His cheeks were white. But at Palma he would rest, whenever to God they would get there.

—On to Portvendres and then by steamer to Barcelona. They walked together through the ancient city. They would soon restime—toward the end of the world. Why had he attempted the trip? It was far. He should never have attempted it. But the rest, when he got there, would undoubtedly do him good. He was greatly in need of a rest. There had been no word from Professor Elsner.

• • •

Majorca at last!

Their home was in the old monastery of Valdemosa, "a wonderful place," he wrote, "the most beautiful situation in the world; sea, mountains, palms, a cemetery, a crusaders' church, ruined mosques, aged trees, thousand-year-old olives. Ah, I am coming alive a little—I am near to what is most beautiful. I am better—

"—Palms, cedars, cacti, olives, pomegranates. A sky like turquoise, a sea like lapis lazuli, mountains like emerald, air like heaven. Sun all day, and hot; everyone in summer clothing; at night guitars and singing for hours. Huge balconies with grapevines overhead; Moorish walls. Everything looks toward Africa, as the town does. In short, a glorious life!"

There was no piano. George had written to Pleyel but the instrument had not arrived. "Pleyel will not dare not to send it," she said.

One night Frederic was awakened, startled from his sleep by a voice, familiar yet which he could not place. He listened. He had heard it distinctly but he did not hear it now. He heard only the wind in the palms and the sea whipping against the beach. The voice? He strained his ear. Nothing. Then, as he was lapsing into sleep, he caught it again. "Frederic!" Just that one word. "Frederic!"—that one word, but the voice was screaming it. Then, suddenly, it was still.

—Konstancja's? No. Not hers. Professor Elsner's? No. Ah, Mamma's, perhaps? No. Who then cried "Frederic!" What voice screamed his name so loud that he was wakened from his sleep? He could not think. Maybe if he could hear it once again he would recognize it. He listened. Nothing. The voice was gone.

—It was the inward voice. It had awakened him. But he had not recognized it. It was screaming still but Frederic could no longer hear.

Oil Official Dies Of Heart Attack

SAN ANGELO, April 19. (AP) — Jerry Chesnutt, 55, division superintendent of the American Republics Corp., died at a San Angelo hospital today following a heart attack. He had been ill with pneumonia.

Chesnutt was a native of Corsicana where he entered the oil business in 1907. He was one of the first oil lease buyers in West Texas, leasing property in the Abilene area. He was associated with the Republic Production Co. at Wichita Falls and Dallas and came to San Angelo in 1927.

The widow survives. Burial will be here Friday.

Stimson Refers To Ernie Pyle Death

WASHINGTON, April 19. (AP)—Secretary of War Stimson said today the death of Ernie Pyle "has focused attention once more on the heroic character of the service required of correspondents in this war."

Stimson noted that Pyle, who was killed by Japanese gunfire on island of Ie Tuesday, was the 23rd American war correspondent officially reported killed while serving with the Army or Navy since the beginning of the war. Others have been reported missing and still others wounded, Stimson said at his weekly news conference.

From the oldest records supplied by Egyptian monuments, it is apparent that several distinct varieties of dogs had been developed 4,000 to 5,000 years ago.

Looking At Life - - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

PROBABLY you have wished many a time that you were engaged in a much more romatic or adventurous business than your own.

You've probably yearned to be in the movies or on the stage or in some pursuit in which, as a reader wrote me the other day, "you must meet such interesting people."

Well, let me tell you about Paul Misch, who died a few days ago, at 71.

Paul Misch came to this country with his parents from Europe many, many years ago. Not having had much schooling and not being blessed with many worldly goods, he opened a little tailoring shop in the theatrical district of New York.

BRANDEIS

Pretty soon actors and actresses brought their clothes to him to be pressed and in 1908 the late Florenz Ziegfeld, one of his customers, asked him whether he could clean and repair all of the costumes of his big hit "The Soul Kiss."

He did a good job of it, and thereafter did the cleaning and repairing of every Ziegfeld show, including all of the "Follies". Pretty soon Klaw and Erlanger, Cohan & Harris, the Frohmans and David Belasco became his customers. Paul became known as "presser and valet extraordinary to the theatrical world."

And don't ever think that he considered his business prosaic.

• • •

There was plenty of fun in the business, he told an interviewer some time ago and he met "such interesting people."

His best-paying job, he said, was cleaning an ostrich-feather dress for Eva Tanguay. He got $250 for that.

Eddie Cantor always used to leave things in his pockets, according to Misch. He'd even leave his pay check in his pants.

He remembered the Florodora girls well, Paul told the reporter. He'd deliver costumes to them. Their dressing rooms were always filled with flowers and there were always fellows waiting for them at the stage door.

"Where are the stage door Johnnies today?" he asked. "There doesn't seem to be as much romance today as there was then."

Yes, Paul Misch enjoyed the very commonplace business of pressing and cleaning clothes.

And you can enjoy almost every business if you'll only put a little of the human element into it.

EVERYBODY can't come to Broadway, of course, or go to Hollywood and have Glamor for his client.

But, for instance, there is a little village store here where I live.

Sausages and butter and cornflakes and soap.

Nothing very romantic about that.

But every afternoon that little store is a regular meeting place. Here all the township gossip is dispensed. Here meet farmers and dowagers and estate owners and cottagers.

Here there is only one question as to your eligibility to the inner circle: "How many ration points have you got?"

No, you don't have to go to Broadway or Sunset Boulevard to get fun out of life and out of your work—there's a bit of glamor and of romance in everybody.

It's up to you to find it.

FDR Followed Path Laid In 1932

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

FRANKLIN ROOSEVELT quit the stage of history with the satisfaction of knowing that he had carried out the general foreign policy which he had framed for his administration even before he entered the White House on March 4, 1933. Save for certain improvisations necessitated by forces and personalities which were then unknown, he rarely deviated from the path he had marked for himself.

His death and the prospective fall of Germany make timely and pertinent a memorandum jotted down by the writer on the basis of private conversations with the late Chief Executive at Warm Springs in November of 1932. Mr. Roosevelt had just been elected President, and he had gone to the Georgia resort, where he died, for a month's rest. He talked about his plans off the record with several correspondents accompanying him. Ray Moley, then his chief brain truster, filled in the gaps at FDR's request.

TUCKER

On my return to Washington, I made a detailed notation of Mr. Roosevelt's conversations with me, and they seem to have special and solemn significance today. He discussed prohibition repeal, lowering of tariffs, possible cabinet choices, his plans for revitalizing the Democratic party and naval expansion. But the Roosevelt remarks most worthy of recollection at this moment concerned foreign affairs.

In retrospect, ironically, we never mentioned Hitler once for the reason that he had not yet been chosen German chancellor by von Hindenburg. Hitler climbed to power on January 30, 1933, only 33 days before FDR took the Presidential oath.

WILSON: Here are a few excerpts from this memorandum which, to my own astonishment, are startlingly prophetic of his broad program as well as of the methods and machinery he planned to employ—namely, personal face-to-face diplomacy:

"Roosevelt, who frequently goes to history for specific guidance, recalled Woodrow Wilson's painful experience at Paris. He said that Wilson's idea of 'open covenants' was splendid, and described it as one of the really great contributions to Christianity and history.

"But, he added, Wilson's major and tragic mistake was to believe that 'open covenants' could be 'openly arrived at.' Roosevelt thinks that the delicate adjustments between nations must be made around a friendly table and in a chamber from which 'the press must be excluded.'

"He thinks that the method of approach is everything. Incidentally, I note that the method of approach, of the mechanics of dealing with problems, engrosses Roosevelt's mind to a great degree. He gives much thought to men and machinery. In fact, I think he delights in his skill in handling men and the machinery of human relationships. I suggest this because it is a consideration to keep in mind in studying and commenting on his actions as President, although I may be kidding myself.

• • •

IMPRESSIONS: "Foreign Relations: I get the definite impression that Roosevelt is against setting up hard and fast formulae for meeting foreign problems, as Charles Evans Hughes did in regard to recognition of Russia. He will deal with these matters without any set or preconceived notions. He believes the world is in such a state of flux that the door must be left open at all times for reconsideration.

"He feels that the United States can use its great economic influence better in dealing singlehandedly with nations than in general conferences. Concretely, this would probably mean for more extensive negotiations with individual nations on tariffs and armaments and similar problems before agreeing to participate in a world conference.

"I imagine that he will be more wary about international parleys than recent (Harding, Coolidge, Hoover) administrations have been, although he professes a desire to cooperate with the League of Nations in about the same way Hoover has.

"Both Mr. Roosevelt and Ray Moley used the word 'self-contained' in describing and forecasting their general foreign policy. But I confess that it has been difficult to get them to explain what this characterization means as it applies to specific problems.

• • •

RUSSIA: "In so far as I could make out from talks with Mr. Roosevelt and Moley, it would probably mean this:

"Until we are in a sufficiently strong economic position to exert more influence on Japanese policy in Manchuria, either alone or with the cooperation of other powers, we will accept that situation as an accomplished fact, and not, for the present, embitter relations by fussing and stewing about it publicly.

"We will seek to improve relations with South America by removing and withdrawing whatever influences have antagonized Pan-American nations in the past. There will be a continuance of interest shaped by our own concern for what happens on the western continent, but our attitude will have less of a supervisory quality than recent administrations have exhibited.

"We may recognize Russia for purely commercial reasons if businessmen say there is possible profit in it. But we will issue a strong disclaimer that recognition implies approval of the Soviet form of government. At the same time, our note will convey the idea that we do not condemn the Soviet system or set ourselves up as a censor of other nations' political preferences.

"My general impression of Roosevelt's foreign policy is that he will be a Big American in the Gulliverian sense. I was somewhat surprised to find this erstwhile pupil and admirer of Woodrow Wilson referring to the latter's policies as a basis for gentle criticism instead of a guide for the future. I think the reason lies in a change in Roosevelt from 1913-1921 days as much as it does in altered world conditions and relationships."

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

ONLY the most hopelessly gullible babes in the woods could have been taken in by the expression of "sympathy" extended by Premier Suzuki on President Roosevelt's death.

Military authorities sense that his crocodile tears are part of the scheme to make us think the new Jap ruler is a "decent sort of chap"—a plot to wrangle easy terms. But Americans aren't shaking hands soaked with the blood of our martyred prisoners.

Watch for more Axis trickery. The Machiavellians will resort to any means to soften or scare us. For instance, after the German commander raised the white flag on the Konigsberg fortress last week, Berlin announced "General Lasch was sentenced by court-martial to death by hanging, for his cowardly surrender to the enemy. His kin will be held responsible."

LEMAN

The purpose was not only to intimidate faltering Germans but also to warn us how tough the last-ditch Nazis can be—an attempt to bluff us into bargaining for peace rather than facing augmented casualties in prolonged mopping up operations against such ferocious die-hards.

Goebbels continues to picture the Alpine hideout as an "invincible" haven. But our generals assert that we can break into the spider's final web any time we are ready—just as we are now crushing pockets of resistance in the French ports.

The campaign can be relatively short if we are willing to "shoot the works;" it will be longer if we wish to minimize losses. We can trust General Marshall to choose the course he believes the wiser.

It does seem that some inventive genius would devise a contents stirrer-upper attachment for a woman's handbag. Stirring these contents by hand in order to bring to light the article wanted is a slow and tedious process.

Warns Against Talk Of "Co-Operation"

Stokes Finds Homeland Changed

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—It is quite a sharp transition to be whisked by air in 48 hours from southern Italy, where as everywhere else in Europe you look from airplane or car to see wreckage and ruin, back to this country, back home, where nothing like that mars the landscape that passes below in flying from New York here.

STOKES

Everything was whole, peaceful and serene in the early morning just after sunrise.

It was quite a transition, too, to come back to a country where Franklin Roosevelt was no longer President, to find this city in the hectic stir of a new administration, with a new President, especially for one so long accustomed to the old familiar ways and the familiar faces in the same places.

The mind gets in a rut, too. The feeling already present that you had been away for years, caused by the dizzy impact of new impressions in five weeks in the strange surroundings of war, is intensified by the change that happened so quickly here, so that it all has the hazy, unreal quality of a dream despite the familiarity of the home scene.

• • •

Unity Is Essential

It was encouraging to find the country rising up so earnestly and wholeheartedly behind the figure catapulted so suddenly to leadership, for pulling together is going to be needed in the days ahead to win the peace and restore the country in the postwar period to a stable economy with jobs enough for everybody.

But there was one impression that stirred unpleasantly, not for what it is in actuality but for what it might portend. This came from the fine, easy flow of talk about "co-operation between the President and Congress," and requires some explanation.

• • •

THAT, in its best sense, is a fine thing and something very much needed. But that phrase "co-operation between the President and Congress" has come, in recent years, to have a different connotation in some quarters.

It became the slogan of those who fought the New Deal and President Roosevelt, who wanted Congress to dominate rather than the President. They were not talking of a working partnership. The co-operation they meant—and still mean—is cooperation by the President with Congress.

The want Congress dominant because Congress in the last few years has been pretty much under the control of an anti-New Deal coalition of Southern Conservative Democrats and Republicans who have been whittling away at the New Deal at every opportunity.

That made Congress "an independent body," a respectable body, though before that when Congress was going along with President Roosevelt in creation of the New Deal those same people derided it as "A Rubber Stamp Congress."

• • •

Truman's Stand Plain

It is well to be suspicious and watchful of such people talking about "co-operation." They are hopeful that the Conservatives may now move in and take President Truman into the so-called "co-operation" because the new President comes from Congress and served there for some time.

They may be disappointed.

President Truman was emphatically plain in his message to Congress that he stands by the social objectives of the Roosevelt administration and that he intends to serve, as it did, the welfare of the common people.

• • •

IN his first press conference, from which he emerged with a new decisiveness that struck newspaper correspondents who had known the rather genial gentleman about the Senate, he was also very clear and explicit in backing up the Bretton Woods agreements for an international bank and stabilization fund, just as submitted by the late President, and for the Reciprocal Tariff bill, also as submitted by Mr. Roosevelt. There are interests, both in and out of Congress, which are trying to scuttle both these measures so essential to full international co-operation by the United States. They include the same people who have their particular meaning for "co-operation."

It is yet too early to tell how far the new President will go, beyond his endorsement, to fight for these measures, and for others. That is the test, and it can't be too far off.

Truman Sends First Veto To Congress

WASHINGTON, April 19. (AP)—President Truman sent his first veto message to Congress today, disapproving a bill he had signed as part of his routine duties as vice president.

The measure proposed to refund $1,000 to Ben Grunstein of Hudson county, New Jersey in partial satisfaction of a $2,500 judgement against him on o forfeited bail bond on which he was a surety.

In this case the president said it had cost the government approximately $1,000—the amount Grunstein had paid on the judgement—to find the missing man.

Magdeburg, capital of the province of Saxony, which was nearly leveled by Allied aerial bombs, was almost wiped off the map more than three centuries ago during the Thirty Years War.

Buses are overburdened as never before. A crisis is near. With more men, tires and gas going to war, present service can barely be maintained. Each day brings greater loads. When you must travel locally, let this be your creed:

1. Do Not Ride in Rush Hours, except to and from your job.
2. Have Exact Fare Ready, saves time and fuss.
3. Move Back When Driver Asks, speeds your ride.

This simple creed will work wonders.

Central Louisiana Levees Are Holding

ALEXANDRIA, La., April 19 (AP)—Central Louisiana levees continued to hold today as the Red river flood crest approached Avoyelles parish on its last lap to the Mississippi river.

Two-tenths of a foot drop here in 24 hours indicated the fall will be slow. The weather bureau said the stage will not be more than five feet lower in ten days. It is now 45 feet.

North of Alexandria the flood was receding from roads and farms, the Red Cross reporting families in Caddo, Bossier and Red River parishes returning to their homes.

Spring Comes To "Gay Paree" And City Beats Off Starvation Pangs

By KENNETH L. DIXON
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS.—The face of once "Gay Paree" has been lifted so much during the past two months that you would hardly recognize her for the same cold, tired, starving, miserable old gal she was in early February.

It is only a face-lifting, understand. Underneath, Paris still is poverty stricken, undernurished and filled with a weary bitterness. Her old bones are brittle from malnutrition and her insides are eaten away by the cancer of five years of constant war and occupation.

Kenneth Dixon

But Paris always was a proud hussy, so now her head is high again—and the transportation is terrific.

It is spring that did it.

Was Bitterly Cold Then

When I left here two months ago it was cruelly, bitterly cold. There was snow everywhere and icy winds whistled down the Champs Elysees until even the warmly clad GI's shivered.

Parisian faces were pinched not only from constant never-ending cold (not even in their homes could they get warm), but also from sheer starvation. Besides the "normal" wartime food shortages, floods prevented use of the canals which brought fruits and vegetables from the country to augment the city's starvation diet. With the barges unable to move even many stronger-bodied Parisians began to succumb to sheer hunger.

Different Picture Now

There was little but frost-bitten, tight-faced misery in Paris two months ago, but Paris today seems a different city.

It is spring. Everywhere the grass is rich and green and heavy with the warmth and fragrance of spring. Along the streets the chestnut trees are blooming, the sun is shining and breezes have a soft and warming touch.

Along those streets which in early February were bleak and cold, today sidewalk cafes already do a cheerful, bustling business.

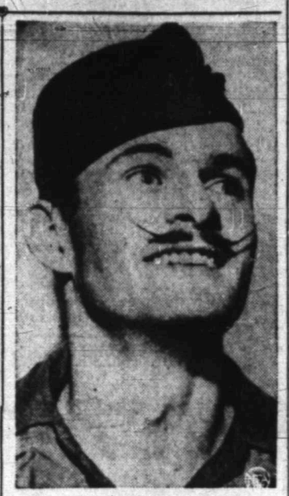

You see bicycles by the thousands roll by, girls in fresh print dresses and couples strolling slowly arm in arm. The pinch of cold has vanished from their faces. Instead there is life, vitality and sheer joyful exuberance at being still alive.

There is still hunger and a million problems here. The barges now bring fresh vegetables and some fruits to the open markets each day and that has eased the food situation somewhat. But otherwise there has been little improvement in the Parisian diet. Despite all government efforts the food black-market prices have nearly doubled. The clientele capable of paying its impossible prices daily gets smaller and smaller.

Freed French Returning

The gradual homecoming of some 2,500,000 freed French prisoners of war and former slave laborers of Germany spiritually is a wonderful thing for Paris. But practically speaking they become only a new food problem. Even though certain Allied foodstuffs have been laid aside and allotted to them to compensate partially for their prison camp starvation, still it won't be enough to handle their needs completely.

Thus Paris still has her problems—almost as serious as ever. But Paris — incurably romantic capital of an incurably romantic country—has shaken off the winter, made up her face, put on her best dress and come out smiling to greet the spring.

HAS HIS POINTS — It's just 16 months old, and pretty cute, so imagine what it will be when it grows up. The mustache, we mean, not its proud owner, who is Marine Pfc. William B. Messinger, 22, of Denver, Colo., pictured on his return to the U.S. after 27 months Pacific service.

Miss Blanche Thompson of Fort Worth, succeeding Miss Lena Baker Thomas, Greenville.

Union Enters Case Of When Does Farm Became A Factory

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 19. — A guy who milks a cow by machinery ain't no farmer, according to Local 680 of the teamsters' union; he's a mechanic who's got to pay dues.

If he does the job by hand, that's different. He's only a farmer and Local 680, like the cow, isn't interested.

Dairy farmers now tangling with the teamsters figure that if the idea spreads all farmers eventually will be punching time clocks. (A tractor's a machine too, isn't it? So's a plow.) The Senate Agriculture committee wants to know when does a farm become a factory, anyhow, while the War Labor board, which has its own idea about this, is about to be called on the senatorial carpet to explain.

Farmer Wants To Know

Boy-oh-boy. Bet you never knew a glass of milk could cause so much trouble. Neither did the Senate, until Henry W. Jeffers and his son Junior came down to get an official ruling on what kind of place they are running, anyhow.

Jeffers, sr., said he'd been producing certified milk since 1898 on 2,400 acres at Plainfield, N. J. He said he milked 1,500 cows a day on merry-go-rounds that milked 50 cows every 10 minutes. He said it looked like a farm and worked like a farm. He said he thought it was a farm until Local 680 of the teamsters dropped in from Newark, N. J., to announce that it was not either a farm, but a factory.

"These people said that so long as we milked cows by machinery, the men who operated it were machinists and the place had to be unionized," Jeffers testified.

Forced To Sign Up

He refused to sign up, the teamsters declared a boycott against delivering his milk to New York, Philadelphia and way points, and at the end of two weeks there was so much milk spilt and soured at Plainfield that Jeffers put his name on the dotted line. He wasn't happy about it.

He tried to get the War Food administration to make a ruling. The WFA said, un-uh. Then came the War Labor board to announce that it would hold hearings on the union's claims on May 1.

"And that's where the Senate comes into this," said Senator Georg. Aiken of Vermont. "The War Labor board was set up by Congress to handle industrial labor disputes. By taking jurisdiction here, it is classifying this dairy farm a. a factory. It is changing the definition of what is a farm."

One Says It's A Farm

Yes sir, said Jeffers, and what made it odder still was the fact that another branch of the government claimed his factory was a farm.

"It is kind of confusing," Jeffers testified. "While the WLB is calling my place an industrial plant, the Selective Service adminstration is calling it a farm, and exempting my workers from the armed services."

That still isn't all, Charles W. Holman testified. He's secretary of the National Cooperative Milk Producers' federation and he says that in America today there are 394,000 farms with milking machines on them.

Take It From There

"All factories which should be hiring union labor on eight hour shifts," he mused. "Those farms which don't have milking machines, have cream separators. These are machinery, which should be operated by machinists. Then there are tractors.

"These also are machines which usually are housed in the shed which used to house the horse around which this union was organized originally."

More later, on this one. Boy, bring up a glass of milk with a union label.

Agricultural Bill Passed By Senate

WASHINGTON, April 19. (AP)—The Senate passed by voice vote today a $594,724,527 agriculture department appropriation bill.

The measure was returned to the House for action on amendments which added $18,291,827 to the orginal total. Biggest addition was $10,000,000 for purchase of soil conservation materials to be furnished farmers in the first six months of 1946.

Another addition was $3,000,000 for construction of forest roads and trails. Senator Russell (D-Ga) said new forest roads are necessary if lumber needed for the war effort is to be obtained.

The appropriations are to run the agriculture department in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Davis Resigns From OPA To Help Client

BROWNWOOD, April 19. (AP)—Because he wanted "to further represent a $50 client," Charles M. (Mat) Davis, Gilmer lawyer, has resigned the $4,000 post he had held only 15 days as area rent director-attorney for the Office of Price Administration.

"The time may come in the future," David said yesterday, "when I'll need a $50 client."

In a letter to F. W. Prescott of Fort Worth, district rent executive, Davis said a recent judgment by the Court of Criminal Appeals at Austin in the case of Jack Hollins vs. the State of Texas had prompted him to resign.

Campaign On Proper Auto Brakes Is Set

A nationwide brake emphasis campaign will be put into action on the South Plains between now and June 1.

So that members of the motoring public may learn of the condition of their brakes—as a measure of protection to motoring individuals and the public at large — state highway patrolmen will examine brakes of all motorists involved in "moving traffic violations" or motor vehicle accidents, it was announced.

"No cases will be filed; the examinations will be calculated to be of definite service to drivers," it was announced.

The "wood block" test will be given, as suggested by the National Safety council. Tests will determine whether the vehicle stops within the suggested distance when brakes are applied when the vehicle is moving at 20 miles an hour.

Liberated Americans Happy In Hospitals

BADEN BADEN, Germany, April 18. (Delayed) (AP)—Fourteen pale and emaciated American soldiers smiled happily today in two Baden Baden hospitals, where they were liberated a week ago by the First French army.

All were awaiting the arrival of an American doctor from the Sixth army group. Then they will be taken out of Germany by air transport. Thirteen had been hospitalized by wounds and the other by illness developed from bad food.

Among the Americans freed was Sgt. William R. Rosenbaum, route one, Richmond, Tex.

Goebbels Mournfully Appeals To Germans To Rally Around Hitler

By W. R. HIGGINBOTHAM
United Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 19—Nazi Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels said today that the Allies have launched what may be their final offensive of the war in an attempt to deal a "death blow" to Germany.

His speech, filled with foreboding, was scheduled for delivery to the German people tonight on the eve of Adolf Hitler's 56th birthday. The text was broadcast in advance by the official Nazi DNB news agency.

Hitler Is Question

It was not known whether Hitler also would speak in observance of what well may be his last birthday.

"The last decsiive round of the war approaches its end," Goebbels said. "Events never before have been balanced on the razor's edge as now . . .

"It seems once again all the powers of hate and destruction gather, perhaps for the last time, to surge against our fronts from the west, east, southeast and south in order to pierce them and deal a death blow to the Reich."

"Conspiracy" Crushed

Goebbels said the "head of the enemy conspiracy" — presumably President Roosevelt — had been "crushed by fate, the very fate that on July 20, 1944 preserved our fuehrer so he could complete his mission."

He extolled what he called the virtues of Hitler and asked:

"What could enemy statesmen oppose to these qualities of our fuehrer?

"Nothing but numerical superiority, nothing but their foolish destructive madness, their diabolical rage of annihilation, behind which looms chaos and the final disintegration of civilized humanity.

To Win Despite Odds

Despite the odds against her, Germany would win the war, he said. Hitler would find the way out, he promised.

"Our fuehrer will go forward until the very end," he said. "We vow we will never let him down . . . Is it conceivable that a nation like ours, in the giddiness of one frantic moment, would be ready to sell its birthright for a dish of lentils?"

He said at the present stage of the war was the "last act of the immense and tragic drama which began Aug. 1, 1914."

"What we thought we could evade in November 1918 we now have made up for thrice over," he said.

Goebbels told the Germans that it was "virile and German" to hoist the swastika where the Allies expect the white flag.

Must Show Up Enemy

"Let us show the enemy that he can hurt us, but not kill us; that he can draw blood from us, but cannot beat us to our knees; can torment us, but not humiliate us," he said.

He asserted that the German Army had brought to Europe "prosperity, calm, order, well-consolidated conditions, work in abundance for everybody and life worth living."

The Allies, he said, left in their wake "poverty, grief, chaos, desolation, destruction, unemployment, hunger and death en masse."

Telegraph Club May Hold Dinner, Smoker

A dinner or smoker on the night of April 27 is planned by the Lubbock chapter of the Morse Telegraph club of America, B. F. Herring, fifth vice president of the national organization, announced Thursday. The affair is contingent upon former telegraphers notifying him they plan to attend.

The club, a national organization composed of former telegraphers in all walks of life, commemorates the birthday of Samuel F. B. Morse, inventor of the telegraph, whose invention was the forerunner of our present-day system of communications, in a dinner each April 27.

Dinners this year will be held in many of the large cities of the nation with the New York affair as the feature event at which Paul A. Porter, a club member and chairman of the Federal Communications commission, will be among the speakers. A 15-minute broadcast over the NBC red network from 9:45 until 10 p. m. will feature the program. The broadcast will be tuned in at the various dinners over the nation.

Herring requested that all former and present telegraphers who are interested in attending the program here to contact him through Box 766, Lubbock, or telephone 4368 or 8024.

Provision Sought For 18-Year-Olds

WASHINGTON, April 19. (AP)—A bipartisan Senate group tried today to write into selective service extension legislation a ban against sending 18-year-olds into combat without at least six months training.

Senator Ed Johnson of Colorado, ranking Democrat on the military affairs committee and one of the authors of the amendment, claimed support for it was mounting and predicted its adoption.

Without Painful Backache

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

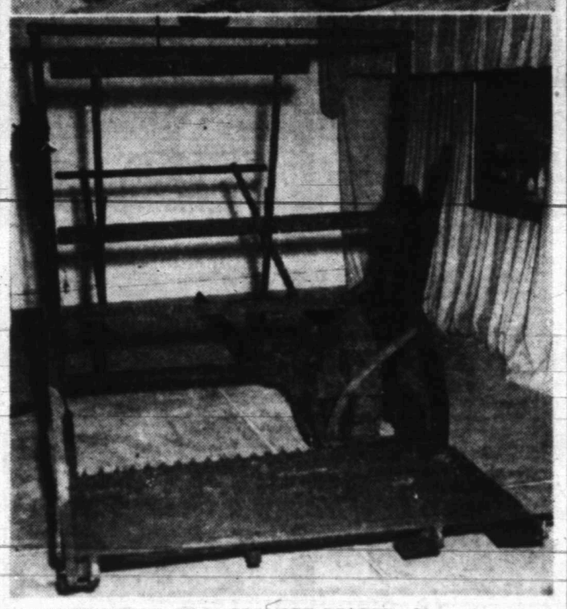

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Museum Here Gets Replica Of First McCormick Reaper

The West Texas museum on the campus at Texas Technogolical college is the new home for an exact reproduction of the Cyrus Hall McCormick reaper, first built and operated on the McCormick farm near Steele's Tavern, Va., in July, 1831.

This reaper was secured from the International Harvester company for the museum by Dr. A. W. Young, head of the department of plant industry, according to Dr. William C. Holden, curator of the museum.

Dr. Young was able to secure this fine museum specimen through the courtesy and help of Fred Johnson, sales blockman for the International Harvester company and the local dealers, Lubbock Implement company.

In 1851 the London Times, commenting editorially, said that the McCormick reaper was the most valuable contribution to the stock of knowledge that had yet been discovered. Edmund Burke, U. S. commissioner of patents, wrote on March 4, 1850, regarding the reaper:

"It is one of those great and valuable inventions which commences a new era in the progress of improvement, the beneficial influence of which will be felt in all coming time."

Historically, this machine, which required two men and one horse for operation, would harvest approximately the same amount of grain which could be harvested by 20 men using the cradle method of cutting the grain. This machine released many farm laborers for industry and the army, and contributed much during the Civil War, particularly to the advantage of the north.

Combined Balance, Proportion

From the scientific standpoint, this reaper combined for the first time in their true balance and proportion the basic elements or principles which have ever since been found essential in virtually all grain cutting machines. McCormick's seven basic principles were as follows:

1. The straight knife with serrated edge and reciprocal of vibrating motion which cuts the grain.

2. Fingers or guards extending from the platform to prevent the grain from slipping sideways while being cut.

3. The revolving reel which holds the grain against the knife and lays the cuts talks on the platform.

4. Platform behind the knife for receiving the cut grain and holding it until raked off.

Master Wheel Provides Power

5 The master wheel which carries most of the weight of the machine and through ground traction, furnishes power to operate the reel and the knife.

6. Forward draft from the right or stubble side by means of shafts attached in front of the master wheel.

7. A divider on the left side to separate the grain to be cut from that to be left standing.

Dean A. H. Leidigh, of the Tech division of Agriculture, stated that he considered this replica of the McCormick reaper the most valuable agricultural contribution ever made to the West Texas Museum.

According to Dr. Holden, the institution was extremely fortunate in receiving this museum piece since only a limited number have been made available to public institutions throughout the United States by the International Harvester company.

Von Papen Capture Raises Question

LONDON, April 19. (AP) — The capture of Franz von Papen, former German chancellor and diplomat, confronted the Allied War Crimes commission today with the question of whether diplomats should be held accountable for Nazi atrocities.

The Soviet government newspaper Izvestia described von Papen as "one of the most acknowledged of war criminals" and said Russia was watching the attitude of the United States and Britain with anxiety over the chance that war criminals will be treated "with kid gloves."

Responsible London quarters understood that the problem of von Papen had been laid before the commission. Unless the commission's policy suddenly is reversed its decision will be kept secret until the end of the war in Europe.

Thirty Texans In Liberated POW's

FORT WORTH, April 19. (AP)—Thirty Texans, liberated prisoners of war from the European theater, touched home soil again last night.

Friends and relatives greeted them as their train paused 30 minutes here on its way to San Antonio.

"This is a great day for us," said Mrs. Phillip G. Poteet, whose lieutenant husband was a prisoner in Oflag 64 for a year. Her comment sounded the theme of the reunion.

Other Texans included: Maj. Perry D. Swindler, Austin.

Captains: James B. Bond, Waco; Horace E. Donaho, Stephenville; William G. Yates, Temple.

Second lieutenants: Everette R. Anderson, Amarillo; Frank N. Aten, Tyler.

Sergeants: Charlie C. James, Vernon; Clifford J. Jones, Lampasas; Brice McEver, Hillsboro.

Corporals: Richard S. Gaddy, Jacksonville.

A single root will produce peppermint plants for about four years.

Remarkable Treatment for STOMACH DISTRESS From Too Much Stomach Acid

Are you tortured with the burning misery of too much free stomach acid? Use of the famous VON TABLETS is bringing comforting relief to hundreds of such cases. Sincerely grateful people tell of what they call the "wonders" Von's Tablets have done for them. This gentle formula aims to counteract surplus, irritating stomach acid and to bring relief from such conditions. Food And Eating Standards For Children Presented

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of a series of articles on feeding the pre-school child, prepared by Miss Rouby Tom Rhodes, graduate of the home economics division, Texas Technological college, and at present assistant dietitian at St. Mary's hospital. Others will follow on Friday's food page).

OF PRIME importance to any civilization, especially in time of war, is the oncoming generation. If that generation is to achieve optimum physical and mental development, it must be fed.

The feeding of pre-school children in the United States does not present the same problem which we find in many other countries, for we still have adequate supplies of those foods which are considered necessary to human nutrition. Our problem is one of education. We neither realize the need for nor the use of the foods that we have.

It is well to remember that nutritive vlaues of foods are not absolutely constant. For example, pasteurized and raw milk differ in vitamin C content; fresh vegetables are richer in vitamins than are old vegetables; some vitamins and minerals are lost in storage and preparation; soil composition affects mineral and vitamin content of some vegetables. Food value tables are based on average figures, so standards are likewise general, rather than specific.

Generally speaking, nutrients necessary to proper growth and development may be obtained by daily feeding of the following foods:

1 quart of milk
At least 5 eggs per week
1 green or yellow vegetable
Potatoes in some form
1 other vegetable
Source of citrus fruit or tomato
1 other fruit (One of the fruits served should be fresh)
Meat, cheese, legumes or some other source of protein
Source of whole wheat
Butter or fortified margarine
Source of sweet
6 to 8 glasses of water

Typical Plan Presented

Inclusion of all of these foods in the menus for one day might seem difficult at first, consideration but it is actually an aid in the planning of meals. A typical plan for one day's meals might be:

BREAKFAST:
Tomato Juice
Oatmeal Milk Sugar Butter
Broiled Bacon
Whole Wheat Toast Jelly
Milk

DINNER:
Broiled Liver
Baked Irish Potatoes Buttered Spinach
Carrot Strips
Corn Muffins Butter
Banana Pudding
Milk

SUPPER:
Cream of Tomato Soup
Lettuce with Dressing
Salad Wafers
Jello with Cream
Milk

Planning and preparing attractive, well balanced meals is useless if they are not eaten. It is well to remember the following points concerning the feeding of children:

(1) Meals should be served regularly.

(2) Periods of rest should preceed meals.

(3) Children should accept and eat all foods.

(4) Mealtime should be a happy time, although it must not be used as playtime.

(5)Irregular between-meal-eating should be eliminated.

Maintaining food and eating standards for children is not easy, but its result does much to contribute a healthy, happy, well adjusted individual and is good pay for effort expended.

GASOLINE — 15-A coupons good for four gallons each through June 21. B-6, C-6, B-7 and C-7 good for five gallons each.

When beating egg whites, make a little more by adding ¼ teaspoonful of cold water and a pinch of salt for each egg white before beating.

Never soak the salad bowl. A clean cloth wrung out in hot soapy water is the best treatment for a wooden bowl. Dry with a paper towel and polish with oiled cloth.

Favorite Recipes

(At the invitation of the food editor, women of Lubbock and the South Plains are presenting recipes in this column. You are invited to submit family favorites, especially those that are short on ration points or made of materials available in the grocery stores at present.)

Apple Muffins

2 cups flour
¼ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 egg
1 cup milk
¼ cup shortening (melted and cooled)

Sift dry ingredients, then add well beaten egg, milk and shortening, stir just enough to mix ingredients. Fold in 1 cup sliced apples sweetened with ¼ cup sugar. Pour into well greased muffin pan—filling each cup 2/3 full. Bake 20 to 25 minutes in 400 degree oven. Makes 12 muffins.

Prune Cookies Are Good With Fruit

A favorite combination which never seems to lose its appeal is canned cling peaches and prune cookies. The canned fruit seems to accent the dried fruit and visa versa. Especially good with canned peaches is this particular recipe for "Spiced Prune Cookies." You will like these cookies and it's only fair to warn you, there will be requests for more—lots more.

Spiced Prune Cookies

1½ cups prunes
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup white sugar
1 cup butter substitute
5 egg yolks
5 egg whites
1-3 cup milk
4½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon cloves
½ teaspoon ginger
1 teaspoon vanilla extract

Immerse prunes in boiling water and let stand covered for 15 minutes; drain, dry on a towel and cut from pits in small pieces. Cream sugars and butter substitute; add beaten egg yolks and whites and mix thoroughly. Add milk and flour sifted with soda, salt and spices, and beat well; add prunes and flavoring and mix. Drop by spoonfuls onto ungreased cooky sheets about 3 inches apart. Bake in a moderately hot oven (400 degrees F.) 12 to 15 minutes. Frost tops with boiled icing.

Makes about 3½ dozen large cookies.

Memorable setting for Announcement Dinner.

Plan Dinner As Courtesy To Supplant Luncheon Party

FOR an announcement party, or to give a happy farewell to the girl who has just joined the WACs or WAVES or Red Cross Nurses, or any other of the services—or for a shower for the June bride, most girls this year are giving dinners instead of luncheon parties.

Dinner is planned rather than a luncheon because most girls are busy all day—including Saturday's in many cases—doing jobs directly or indirectly connected with finishing up the war. Plan your menu carefully and the party meal can be delicious and memorable. Set the table in a feminine, lighthearted mood to give the honoree a picture to cherish in happy memory.

In any table setting, the overall effect begins with the covers that are used. For an informal party, create an impression of charm and grace by using place mats or "informals" as they are now called, made of exquisitely hand-embroidered Irish linen or any other lovely "informals" you have. Informals are more casual than a large tablecloth, yet the finer, more artistically designed sets are no less gala than the most elegant linen damask.

Chose flowers to match or contrast with the china and arrange them in any combination of kinds and colors. Here's a suggestion: combine white lilac and white freesia with pink roses and carnations to contrast with blue-embossed white Wedgewood china. As a festive touch, place boutonnieres for each guest on the folded napkins. Make them of pink roses.

Don't Stint On Candles

Candles always make a table look more beautiful, providing there is no stinting on candlepower. They may be white or pink to match the flowers, or blue to match the decoration on the china. If placed at the ends of the table rather than near the center, they do not interfere with cross-table conversation.

KITCHEN KORNER

Save lemon rinds to remove stains from your hands.

If you dislike tears, peel onions under water.

To save fuel use double or triple pans over one heating unit.

Serve fruits and vegetables raw whenever possible.

To keep cheese fresh, wrap it in a cloth moistened with vinegar.

Use an old percolator to steam asparagus and broccoli.

A dry small stiff brush will readily remove corn silk.

Linoleum, cut to fit, makes a good lining for kitchen shelves and drawers.

Try adding a cup of fresh cranberries to your usual stuffing recipe.

Save left-over meat, drippings and gravy and use them to flavor meatless entrees.

More juice can be squeezed out of a lemon if it is first heated in an oven for a few minutes.

For fluffy mashed potatoes add a stiffly beaten egg white and beat hard.

A little flour sprinkled on raw slices of potato before frying helps to keep them crisp.

One teaspoon of lemon juice to each quart of cooking water makes rice fluffier and whiter.

To prevent spaghetti from boiling over, add one tablespoonful of fat to the cooking water and cover.

Ground raw meat spoils more quickly than meat in a large piece and should be stored in the coldest part of the refrigerator.

Cooked snap beans, browned a little with minced onions in bacon or ham drippings, are tasty and sturdy to serve for a fall dinner.

Pep up the flavor of canned peas by adding a pinch of dried mint, basil or rosemary to them while they are heating.

Disposal Of Surplus Property Not Needed In War Now Under Wallace

By LEE NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 19 — President Truman is setting Secretary of Commerce Henry A. Wallace up in the surplus property business. It looks like a break for small business.

Wallace, who was criticized by Senate opponents for his alleged lack of business experience, will handle millions of dollars worth of government property no longer needed for war purposes and designed for sale to the general public.

Wallace critics in Congress, who succeeded in stripping the commerce department of its loan functions, also tried, but failed, to pass a law preventing the president from transferring other functions to the department.

Some of the things Wallace will sell for the government in his new capacity are automobiles, clothing, hardware, agricultural implements and medical equipment.

Announced By Vinson

Announcement of Wallace's extra job was made last night by War Mobilizer Fred M. Vinson. Vinson said choice of the commerce department to handle surplus consumer goods had been made by the surplus property board, created by Congress to oversee surplus disposal and headed by former Senator Guy M. Gillette of Iowa.

Disposal of this type of surplus has been under the treasury department up to now. Vinson said the transfer, recommended by Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau and concurred in by himself and Wallace, was being made by President Truman in an executive order.

Vinson's announcement said the transfer puts the sale of consumer surpluses "with a parent agency whose basic functions are closely associated with the commercial and industrial life of the nation."

He said it relieves the treasury of an activity "not directly related to its field of responsibility."

The treasury was criticized earlier this year by a congressional subcommittee for its disposal methods which the subcommittee said were making it difficult for small business to buy surplus goods.

Wallace, an outspoken champion of small business, undoubtedly will do everything in his power to see that the little man has as much chance as the big fellow to buy government surplus.

Braden Nominated To Argentine Post

WASHINGTON, April 19. (U.P.)—President Truman today nominated Spurille Braden, present ambassador to Cuba, to be the new U. S. ambassador to Argentina.

This, the first diplomatic nomination by the new chief executive, marked full-fledged resumption of diplomatic relations with the Argentine republic.

The last U. S. ambassador to Argentina was Norman Armour, who was recalled last year. Armour was recalled when this and the other American Republics suspended relations with the Argentine because of its refusal for a long time to break cleanly with the axis and cooperate fully in the United Nations war effort.

Formula Adopted

Argentina's diplomatic quarantine was lifted after the recent Pan-American conference in Mexco at which a formula was adopted for the holdout country's return to the fold. Argentina fulfilled the terms of the formula, including the signing of the act of Chapultepec. This act, adopted at Mexico City, pledges the American republics to go to the aid of any one of them which may be menaced by aggression from within or without this hemisphere.

Braden has been ambassador to Cuba since 1941. He served previously as minister, and subsequently ambassador, to Colombia.

Judges Discuss Ways Of Distributing Fund

KANSAS CITY, April 19. (AP)—Judges of the Eighth U. S. circuit court of appeals and a score of lawyers today discussed methods of distribution of $19,500,000 in impounded funds to customers of the Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line company.

The fund, in Kansas City banks, has been impounded since Sept. 1942, when the Federal Power commission ordered Panhandle Eastern to reduce rates on its gas delivery over an area extending from the Texas Panhandle to the state of Michigan.

War Dads Chapter To Be Talked Tonight

Organization of a Lubbock chapter of American War Dads, an organization composed of fathers of service men and women, will be discussed in a meeting tonight at 8 o'clock in 99th district courtroom.

The meeting is being arranged by J. A. Raley and N. F. Nelson.

J. N. Conway, Tulsa, national vice president of the organization, who is speaking at various points in the Panhandle-Plains area this week, will speak at the meeting.

The organization, founded in Kansas City in March, 1942, is nonpolitical, non-sectarian and nonprofit and through unified strength seeks the preservation of a democratic home front and guarantee of the necessities of winning the war for the armed forces.

Army Officials 'Sympathetic' To City Request For Airport Return

Optimism regarding Lubbock's application for return of a portion of South Plains Army Air field was expressed Thursday by city officials, following conferences with representatives of the Air Technical Service command, Oklahoma City, the Eighth Service command, Dallas, and the commanding officer of SPAAF.

Lubbock has asked return of part of the field for use in airline service it is seeking.

City representatives met Wednesday afternoon with three officials from Oklahoma City, one from Dallas, and Lt. Col. Wm. Q. Q. Rankin, commanding officer of SPAAF; and Marlin R. Smith, city manager, met with Rankin again Thursday to go over arrangements needed by the city for airline service.

The Oklahoma City officers here were Lt. Col. A. N. Stanton, Lt. Col. Roy Morgan and Lt. Col. Turner, all of the ATSF, and from Dallas was F. J. Kanatzer, of the division of real estate, Eighth Service command. City representatives present were Smith; Hub Jones, city commissioner; Robert H. Bean, member of the airport board, and M. D. Fanning, of the chamber of commerce.

Group "Very Sympathetic"

The group was "very sympathetic and it seemed as though they were perfectly willing to work out some arrangement whereby the hangars and improvements on the west side could be turned back to the city," said Smith. The officers, however, indicated Lubbock's application for blanket authority to contract with airlines for use of the landing area will not be granted. Airlines will have to deal directly with the Army for use of the landing area.

If the Army granted those rights directly to the airlines, however, the city would be able to fulfil remainder of the arrangements if the rest of the application is granted. The city is seeking return of two hangars, one of brick and one of metal, both of which were on the field prior to leasing of the area to the government, and the manager's residence. Probably only a small area, large enough only for parking and means of reaching the buildings would be included with the buildings returned.

Final Action Delayed

Indications from conferences with the officers were that final action probably could not be taken for about two months, although perhaps temporary arrangements could be worked out for use of the field by Essair, Inc., which is seeking at present to start service through Lubbock.

Other airlines which are considering routes through Lubbock are Braniff, which has been certified for service to Lubbock on its Fort Worth - Dallas - Denver route; and American Airlines, which included Lubbock on the transcontinental line operating through Oklahoma City in an application heard in January by the Civil Aeronautics board.

Lubbock's application for return of the facilities would first be acted upon at SPAAF, next at Oklahoma City, at Wright field and in Washington.

News Briefs

Three persons, who had been sentenced to the penitentiary from 99th district court, left Lubbock Thursday afternoon accompanied by a prison transfer agent. The men were Luther Frazier, 29, given a life term under the habitual criminal act; Ernest W. Gentry, 42, 10 years for incest; and L. V. Myers, 28, two years for burglary. Two Parmer county men, who had been sent here to await the prison van, also were taken.

"Post War Cotton Situation" was discussed by A. H. Leidigh, dean of the division of agriculture at Texas Tech when he was guest speaker for the Midland Rotary club Thursday. He will meet with the Sudan Rotary club April 27 where he will discuss the same subject.

Three former Texas Tech students of the division of agriculture, now in the armed forces, were on the campus this week. Lt. (sg) Gus Cooper, USCGR, a 1941 dairy manufactures graduate, is on a 16-day leave from convoy duty. He has participated in six major combat landings including Sicily and has since served in the South Pacific area. A former resident of Roaring Springs, Lt. Cooper is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Augustus Cooper of Clayton, N. M. Capt. Stewart Sewell, who served one and one-half years in China and India with the AAF, is enroute to his new station, Mitchell field, New York. He has been training Chinese cadets at La Hunta field, Colo. Capt. Sewell was graduated from Tech in 1940, a major in animal husbandry. Sgt. J. P. Sharp, who was accompanied here by his wife and small daughter, is now stationed at Brigham City, Utah where he is serving with the Army medical corps at the Bushnell hospital. He was graduated from Tech in 1942, an animal husbandry major.

Cataleptic attacks may last from a few minutes to several days.

Goodwin Doubts That Cotton 'On Way Out'

Dr. R. C. Goodwin, dean of the division of graduate studies at Texas Tech, told Kiwanians in their weekly luncheon Thursday in Lubbock hotel he did not believe predictions that cotton is "on the way out," but suggested that it definitely faces a situation that needs help.

The statewide cotton committee of Texas has planned a three-way program, he said, as follows:

1. Increase yield per acre.
2. Lower cost of production.
3. Improve quality.

Industries Blamed Partly

He blamed the present cotton situation partly upon the lack of cooperation on the part of industries deriving revenue from cotton.

Also largely responsible so far as Texas is concerned is the production of short staple cotton. He said that if Texas farmers can grow cotton suitable for spinning, "we should get behind the movement to see that it is grown." However, if it can not be grown in Texas, then new uses for cotton that is unsuitable for spinning should be found.

Dr. Goodwin was introduced by Tom Pendergraft, program chairman. Guests included Ray Essary of Amarillo and R. T. Herald of Grand Prairie. President W. C. Wood presided.

Truman Promise To China Is Quoted

WASHINGTON, April 19. (AP)—Chinese Foreign Minister T. V. Soong said President Truman promised inflation-ridden China "all possible assistance" at a White House conference today.

He told reporters the new WPB set up in China under the guidance of Donald M. Nelson "is working pretty well." There has been increasing production of steel, alcohol, copper and other war materials, he said, which has relieved some of the strain on the war transportation system.

World Watching Truman Reaction To Mighty Problems Facing Him

By JAMES D. WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 19.—The nation—the whole world—waits to see what President Harry S. Truman will do.

As this slender, neat Missourian takes up the burdens laid down by Franklin D. Roosevelt, there is universal understanding for his simple words:

"I pray god I can measure up to the task."

The new President voted for most New Deal reforms in the Senate and has asserted he will continue unchanged the foreign policy he inherits.

Domestic Affairs

He has a grasp of domestic affairs through his work in the Senate.

Here are some of the outstanding problems which his administration will have to face:

President Truman will have to grapple with the questions of a post-war system of compulsory military service, the size of the armed forces, the reconversion of war industry to peace-time production.

He will find intimately linked with this last the great problem of full employment to make the consumer goods which, if prosperity prevails, more than 130 million Americans will want to pay for.

Fight On Inflation

Following close on this is the job of preventing inflation that might wreck our economy before peace-time balance is restored.

Ahead of all these, of course, is the President's first job—to finish the war, to carry the fight against the forces of aggression until they have been stamped out.

For many of these tasks—principally the domestic and military ones—the machinery already is set up. The President will find the field abroad not so clearly charted. Here many questions will confront him without a precedent to guide him, even though the general lines of thought are already explored.

Heavy Responsibility

An immediate task is the United Nations conference at San Francisco. Even though President Truman is not expected to attend, he bears a heavy responsibility in shaping this nation's foreign policy. This meeting will attempt to find general agreement among 46 nations on a charter for an international organization to keep the peace.

The peace itself will present special questions to the new President—occupation of enemy territory, disposition of the Pacific islands formerly mandated to Japan, American long-range policy in regard to colonial questions, the extent of American aid to war-suffering peoples everywhere, what America will do with her merchant marine and her foreign trade—and so on almost endlessly.

Allies Find Many Ammunition Stores

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., April 19 (U.P.)—Aachen was the tip-off that Army explosive experts will be uncovering concealed ammunition stores in German cities all the way to Berlin, Lt. Col. A. H. Gardner, jr., commanding officer at Lake City ordnance plant said today.

Allied soldiers have been working in shattered Aachen for six weeks, Gardner said, and they are still finding huge stores of German ammunition and weapons in cellars, backyards and public buildings.

Troops are willing to put money on the line, he said, that any house not already examined in occupied Germany will yield at least one piece of ammunition.

Many Caches Found

Three tons of bullets and shells were found in one home, Gardner continued. Sixteen tons were unearthed in a hotel. One plot of ground about a hundred feet square, disclosed 10 "S" mines and 44 teller mines. Grenades wrapped in clothing have been found hidden in houses.

Gardner explained that the Germans holding Aachen had no central ammunition dumps. They spread their shells and cartridges throughout the city, preparatory to house to house fighting. Air raid shelters held rifle bullets. Lawns were sprinkled with mortar shells.

Enough material has been collected thus far at Aachen to supply an entire American division, Gardner added.

PRESTES TO MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, April 19. (AP)—Luis Carlos Prestes, South America's most famous political prisoner who was freed by decree of President Vargas of Brazil yesterday, will arrive in Mexico next week, Mexico city friends said. Prestes has a daughter living in Mexico City.

Post Woman Dies In Hospital Here

Mrs. R. L. Self, 70, of Post died about 11:30 o'clock Thursday morning in St. Mary's hospital where she had been since Monday. The body has been sent to Post where services will probably be held Sunday, Rix Funeral home said.

Mrs. Self is survived by her husband of Post and a daughter, Mrs. Yarbrough of Lovington, N. M. The Yarbroughs are funeral directors at Lovington.

Bill Prepared To Change CIA Name

AUSTIN, April 19. (AP)—Rep. R. L. Proffer of Denton has a bill officially changing the name of the College of Industrial Arts at Denton, a women's college, to the Texas State College for Women.

Although the name was changed unofficially several years ago it has not been given statutory authority and, explained Proffer:

"We keep getting requests from all over the country for trained electricians and plumbers."

Truman Hails Good Neighbor Policy

WASHINGTON, April 19 (U.P.)—President Truman was on record today as favoring the "Good Neighbor" policy of the late President Roosevelt.

The new president took the occasion of the Senate's approval of the Mexican water treaty to make known his views.

He said the Senate's action showed its support of "the established policy of our government to deal with our good neighbors on the basis of simple justice, equity, friendly understanding and practical cooperatoin."

Join In Program

"By this action of the Senate," Mr. Truman declared, "the United States and Mexico join hands in a constructive, business-like program to apportion between them and develop to their mutual advantage the waters of the rivers that are in part common to them."

Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius, jr., and Chairman Tom Connally, D., Tex., of the Senate foreign relations committee, also hailed the treaty's passage.

Stettinius, a businessman, called it a "common sense, business-like arrangement." Connally said it settled a controversy existing between the two governments for many years.

The treaty guarantees Mexico 1,500,000 acre feet of Colorado river water annually. In return, the U. S. gets 350,000 acre feet from the Rio Grande.

During 1900, the maximum year of production, the gold output of the Yukon totaled 1,077,553 fine ounces.

Six Residents Of Area Purchase Army Planes

Six South Plains residents purchased surplus military aircraft in recent sales, the Surplus Property division of the Reconstruction Finance corporation at Dallas announced Thursday.

Most of the planes were purchased from the surplus aircraft pool maintained at Lamesa field. One of the purchases include a Schweitzder TG-2 glider which sold for $550 to the Clent Breedlove Aerial service of Lubbock.

All planes purchased were Fairchild PT-19A, formerly used by the Army in primary training instruction. Purchasers and the prices they paid are as follows: J. W. Martin and Farrell F. Hogg, of Lamesa, $875; S. C. Jernigan and B. M. Witt, Lubbock, $875; and Grady Goodpasture, Brownfield, $1,275.

The terrier dog has a number of breeds differing so profoundly from each other that the extreme types have hardly a character in common.

Majority Opinion Of Farmers In County Favors Use Of POW Labor

Many Lubbock county farmers want and will use prisoner of war labor if it is made available.

That was the opinion expressed by a majority of a representative group of farm operators who attended a public hearing here Thursday afternoon which was held to determine the need for the use of this type labor.

J. M. Ward, state farm labor supervisor of the extension service, was present at the hearing and answered numerous questions fired at him concerning employment of prisoners of war for work on the farm.

Three Priority Groups

Ward pointed out that use of prisoner of war labor is classed in three priority groups, as follows:

1. Planting, cultivating and harvesting of food for human consumption.

2. Planting, cultivating and harvesting of cotton, grain, hay, etc.

3. Clearing land, digging ditches and other general farm labor.

It was felt that due to the fact that prisoners are already quartered at the branch camp at Lubbock Army Air field, it would not be too difficult to secure a reasonable amount of this type labor for agricultural purposes. However, Ward pointed out that the quota for the state has been reduced considerably from that of last year.

When it was determined that there was a definite need for prisoner of war labor in the county, Jason O. Gordon, county agricultural agent, who presided, asked for suggestions as to a fair wage for such labor as planting of onions, sweet potato slips, picking up and loading Irish potatoes, picking up sweet potatoes, planting and harvesting tomatoes, weeding vegetable crops, chopping and pulling cotton, skilled labor, and general farm work. These prices will be taken into consideration at a meeting at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon of the county farm wage board in the office of the county agent. These prices will be announced following that meeting.

This wage board is composed of W. O. Rieger, chairman, E. R. Evans, F. H. Cannon, Cacy Day, W. O. Perkins, and B. R. Medlin.

TRUMAN PLAYS CLASSICALS

ST. LOUIS, April 19. (AP)—President Harry S. Truman, while professing to be only an amateur pianist, modestly admits that his repertoire has included works of such classical masters as Bach, Mozart and Beethoven.

News Briefs

P. O. Brock, chairman, has announced that the regular fourth Sunday singing will be held at Four Square Gospel church from 2 to 4 p. m. The public is invited. Representatives from several surrounding counties will attend.

Applications for and explanation of the 1945 cotton crop insurance program will result today and Saturday when community committeemen of the Agricultural Adjustment agency visit Hardy, New Deal, Becton, Hurlwood, Roosevelt, Frenship and Cooper schools, and Shallowater club house and Idalou and Slaton city halls. In another announcement, farmers were advised that payment for construction of terraces would be made at the rate of five times the Agricultural Adjustment agency's per acre allowance of 75 cents and would be made in addition to any payments the farmer might receive.

Aircraft Production Plans Are Announced

WASHINGTON, April 19. (AP) — Aircraft production will be reduced about 15 per cent for the remainder of 1945 to permit greater concentration on planes "vitally necessary" for defeating Japan.

It is planned that the jet plane and newer models of the Thunderbolt and Mustang will replace P-38s and older models of the P-47 and P-51, the Army air forces said in a statement yesterday.

Full production will be continued on many types of planes including the B-29 Superfortress, B-32 Dominator, A-26 light bomber, the jet-propelled fighter and two cargo types, the C-82 and C-54.

Tech Museum Plans To Honor Pioneers

Pioneers who came to the South Plains between 1901 and 1909 will be honored at 15th annual meeting of the West Texas Museum association to be held on Texas Tech campus today, according to Dr. W. C. Holden, curator of the museum.

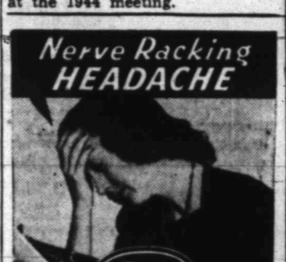

A board of directors meeting will be held at 12 noon in the cadet lounge of the Hilton hotel. At a reminiscences by pioneers meeting to be held at 4 p. m. in the museum, Owen McWhorter, Lubbock attorney who will act as chairman, will discuss "Early Transportation and Communications on the South Plains."

A chuck wagon supper will be served at 6:30 p. m. in the Aggie Grove. Plates are 75 cents each and reservations must be made with Dean J. G. Allen of Texas Tech.

"Colonization of the White Deer Lands" will be discussed by Prof. L. F. Sheffy of Canyon, executive secretary of the Plains-Panhandle Historical society, at the evening session, 8:30 o'clock in the museum.

Pioneers who came to the South Pains before 1901 were honored at the 1944 meeting.
