46 Victims Of Car Accidents Since Friday

Dallas Youth Killed By Hit-Run Truck; Pecan Proves Fatal

(By The United Press)

The violent death toll in Texas reached 100 today as the long Christmas-New Year's holiday reached its half-way mark.

Of the total, 46 were victims of traffic accidents, 13 died in fires, two in a plane crash, and 39 from various other causes — ranging from accidental strangulation to suffocation and suicide.

Since Last Friday

The list includes victims of highway and other violence or accidents since last Friday.

Latest traffic victims added to the ever-mounting list were Donald Chauncey, 17, near Wink yesterday, and Zula Mae Blevins, 11-year-old Clay county girl, who died of injuries received in a highway mishap on Christmas day.

Negro Parson Shot

Robertson county authorities spent the night searching for an unknown negro who killed a negro parson in a roadside park between Calvert and Bremond.

Constable J. L. Crocker identified the slain minister as the Rev. A. E. Deckard of Marlin. A woman who was in the automobile with Deckard said the negro approached and demanded the minister's car. When he refused, the assailant fired four .38 caliber bullets into his body and fled in the car. The woman said she ran for cover after the first shot. The shooting occurred about 8 p. m. yesterday.

Francis Willard Hallman, jr., 15, Wills Point, was killed yesterday when he was thrown from a car six miles south of Wills Point on Highway 47. Police said the youth had slammed his brakes to avoid hitting a horse. His car overturned and he was catapulted into a fence post, dying instantly. Two other persons were injured in the mishap.

Rav Vance, a Dallas high school boy, was killed Tuesday night by a hit and run dump truck. Witnesses to the tragedy told police they saw the vehicle leave the scene without the driver stopping to render aid.

Clyde Moffitt 54, also died in Dallas early yesterday from head injuries he reportedly had received in a fight Monday night.

The body of Ollie Franklin Boles, 45, a Galena Park carpenter, was found early Tuesday near Huffman in the Seaberg reservoir. Boles slipped and fell into the res-

Bus Strikers Are Replaced

DALLAS, Dec. 28. (AP)—New employes were being hired today by the Dallas union bus terminal to replace striking station workers.

President A. J. Emory of the terminal company and his assistants started interviewing applicants at 8 p. m. last night. That was the deadline given strikers to return to work or have their jobs "filled with a permanent replacement."

The strikers did not return to work and one picket at 8 p. m. cried, "Whee! We're all fired."

Seek Wage Hike

The striking workers seek a five cent an hour wage increase and other benefits.

The 33 strikers are members of the CIO Transport Workers Union local 275.

Don Ellinger, CIO field representative, termed the company's action of hiring new workers "pure union-busting tactics." He said the union would file an unfair labor practices charge with the National Labor Relations Board. He said the charge will be "against the company's refusal to bargain in good faith."

To Seek Aid

Ellinger said union members last night voted to enlist the aid of all other unions associated with the bus terminal in an effort to negotiate the contract they want. They seek their first contract with the company.

AFL bus drivers have respected the picket lines. Busses ore driven out past the picket lines by company supervisors. Then they are boarded by the drivers.

REP. LUCAS ASKS QUICK ACTION

Revision Urged On Quotas For Cotton

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28—Rep. Lucas (D-Tex) has urged prompt action by Congress on changes in the cotton area quota law.

Lucas yesterday described the situation as "so serious with many farmers that they face financial ruin" unless Congress moves to change the program before planting time.

"Something must be done at once to remove injustices of the present program," he told a reporter.

"I was aghast to learn of the kind of allotments received by scores of farmers throughout every county in my district.

No Credit Given

"They were given no credit for lands they had planted to peanuts in line with the government's program to produce more edible oils. Yet they had been promised they would get credit for war crops when quotas were fixed for a cotton crop control program."

Texas' share of the national cotton acreage was based on 95 per cent of the land actually planted in cotton in 1948. The law provides that allocation to counties must be based on the same method used in assigning an individual state's share of the total.

Farmers File Suit

Lucas said there are hundreds of farmers throughout Central and Western Texas counties who planted heavily in peanuts and grain sorghums during the past four or five years.

He said their plight is identical with that of growers in Texas Gulf coastal bend counties, where much land formerly devoted to cotton had been planted in grain sorghums and flax in recent years.

Ten growers from the coastal bend section have filed a suit against Agriculture Secretary Charles Brannan, seeking credit for the war crops in computing cotton acreage quotas. The trial date has been set for Jan. 23.

Rats Gnaw Fingers Off Hands Of Child

ABILENE, Dec. 28. (AP)—Rats gnawed all 10 fingers and thumbs from the hands of a three-months-old Abilene child, it was reported here today.

The incident occurred last Saturday when Mrs. Rito Martinez left her daughter, Carmen Martinez, in her small apartment while she visited another apartment.

When she returned she found the little girl's hands were bleeding profusely and a small mongrel dog, the family's pet, was licking the wounds. Mrs. Martinez said she believes the dog frightened the rats away.

The father of the child later found two large rats in the house.

Kiss Sets Brakes On Romeo's Brain

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28. (U.P.)—After Milton W. Gill, 18, kissed his girl friend goodnight, he returned to his parked car and got in. The auto rolled 400 feet down the hill and hit another car.

"Were your brakes set?" asked Policeman Joseph Anzini.

"I don't remember."

"Was your car in gear?"

"I don't remember."

"Were your wheels turned to the curb?"

"I don't remember. But I remember kissing my girl friend good night."

Suspect Named In Blast Plot

DETROIT, Dec. 28. (U.P.)—State police said today that Paul F. Kassay, alleged Communist sympathizer who vanished after being charged with sabotaging a blimp in 1931, is a suspect in the Reuther shootings and the CIO United Auto workers dynamite plot.

Commissioner Donald S. Leonard of the state police said that Kassay "seems to be just the type of man we're looking for."

"He's got the background that would suggest possible connection with the shooting and dynamite attempt," Leonard said.

Hired By Firm

Kassay, 55-year-old demolitions expert and a former Hungarian naval captain, was hired by the Goodyear Rubber company at Akron in 1931 as a general laborer on a large blimp.

Authorities accused him of trying to sabotage the blimp by omitting essential rivets and metal braces, and charged him under an Ohio criminal syndicalism law. However, an Ohio court ruled the law unconstitutional before Kassay was brought to trial, and he

Blizzard Strikes Northwest

Man Is Killed As Storm Hits In Washington

Transportation Is Snarled By Heavy Snow, High Winds

(By The United Press)

SEATTLE, Wash., Dec. 28.—A blizzard pummeled the Pacific Northwest today, leaving at least one man dead, three miners trapped in the mountains, and transportation snarled.

The storm roared into Washington from British Columbia yesterday and was expected to hit the state of Oregon a heavy blow today. Gusts up to 56 miles an hour buffeted the Oregon coast.

Eastern states, meanwhile, were promised "relief" from a record-breaking winter warm spell that set crickets to chirping and trees to budding in New England.

Worker Is Crushed

A 50-mile-an-hour gale near Ryderwood, Wash., toppled a tree that crushed railroad section hand Burnis L. McHenry, father of four children, as he worked on a logging railroad.

A rescue party used a bulldozer to break through deep drifts toward a miners cabin near Cle Elum, Wash., where three—and possibly four—miners were believed to have taken refuge as the storm raged across the Cascade range.

Snow averaged about two feet deep over most of the storm area and was still piling up at a rate of two inches an hour. The storm also sent a cold wave into Montana and Nebraska but a warm front from the south drove it back across the border.

Buses Are Trapped

More than 150 cars and several buses were trapped in the snow near Princeton, B. C. In Washington, a mixture of rain and snow pelted Stevens Pass, causing slides which blocked the highways

Flurry Of Price Cuts, Sales Brighten Outlook For Buyer

PLEADS INSANITY — Mrs. Yvette Madsen, New York brunette accused of murdering her husband, Lt. Andrew Madsen of Oakland, Calif., at their home in Frankfurt, Germany, has pleaded insanity in the Frankfurt District Court where the case is pending. Preliminary proceedings brought out testimony that Lt. Madsen laughed when she allegedly was insulted by a guest at a party. The 22-year-old mother of two faces life imprisonment if convicted.

(By The United Press)

A flurry of price cuts and clearance sales brightened the new year outlook for consumers today.

Price reductions were announced by two mail order houses, two major soap manufacturers, and General Motors for the 1950 Buicks. Clearance sales were reported generally, with some sharp price slashing.

Food Prices Drop

Dun & Bradstreet reported that its wholesale food price index dropped one cent for the past week, reflecting declines in 12 foods. The index was $5.72, reflecting declines in 12 foods, including flour, beef, wheat, corn, sugar, milk and butter.

Partially offsetting these decreases were increases announced by steel manufacturers during the past week for steel products.

Sears, Roebuck & Co. reported today that its 1950 midwinter catalogue, the largest in the company's history, offered price cuts ranging up to 36 per cent. The average reduction for all lines is 10 per cent.

Among Items Reduced

Items reduced included bedroom suite, down 13 per cent; electric washers, 11 per cent; women's worsted gabardine coats, 36 per cent; battery radio, 14 per cent; 12.7 cubic foot home freezer, 15 per cent.

Montgomery Ward & Co., said that its midwinter catalogue, mailed out Tuesday, offered price reductions of 10 to 25 per cent or

Faith Is Unshaken

Prayer Fails To Save Hand

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 28. (AP) — Betty Lou Marbury's right hand—the one she hoped prayer would save—was removed today.

A Baptist hospital nurse announced the hand was amputated between the wrist and elbow.

Just before entering the hospital room, Betty's spirits were still hight.

"If the Lord wants my hand, that's all right with me," she said.

Here faith and courage were unshaken.

Doctors decided only an amputation could save the life of the 10-year-old farm girl, whose plea for prayer stirred hearts across the nation.

She is suffering from a malignant bone tumor on the third finger of her right hand. The amputation is designed to keep the malignant from spreading through the bloodstream.

Her father, Clay Marbury,

Former Track Champ Killed

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (AP)—Dr. John E. (Jack) Lovelock, 39, the New Zealand-born Olympic runner who once set a world record in the mile run, was killed today by a subway train in Brooklyn.

Police said Lovelock apparently suffered an attack of dizziness and fell from the station platform in front of the Coney Island-bound train at the Church avenue station.

The Oxford-educated physician ran his world record mile at Princeton, N. J., in July 1933, beating Bill Bonthron in 4:07.0.

Set World Record

In the Olympic games at Berlin 1936, he set a world record of 3:47.8 in the 1,500-meters run, beating the American mile champion Glenn Cunningham by six yards in what many experts called the finest race of the games.

Lovelock was on the staff of Manhattan's Hospital for Special Surgery.

His wife, Cynthia, said he was coming home from the hospital because he felt ill when the accident occurred.

A slightly-built man with sandy, wavy hair, Lovelock specialized in treating persons crippled by infantile paralysis and other diseases.

Solon Demonstrates Entry In Election

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Dec. 28. (U.P.)—When Rep. James E. Noland, D., Ind., was asked on a television show whether he was a candidate for re-election, he didn't bother to reply—verbally.

He just picked up his hat and tossed it. Video cameras followed it across the room to a perfect landing in a chalked ring.

SIX-STATE CONFERENCE SLATED

Governors Seek To Halt Phone Strike

(By The United Press)

JEFFERSON CITY, Dec. 28.—Gov. Forrest Smith of Missouri said today he is "confident" the governors' conference in St. Louis tomorrow will avert a strike of 50,000 Southwestern Bell Telephone workers.

"Both sides have assured me that they want to settle the dispute as soon as possible," Smith said. "I feel confident that we can either mediate the trouble tomorrow or set up some mediation machinery which will avert a strike."

Smith succeeded in postponing the threatened telephone walkout 10 days last Friday after a two-hour conference with CIO union officials here. The 10-day truce expires New Year's day.

Shivers Won't Attend

The Missouri governor planned to leave for St. Louis shortly before 4 p. m. He said James Kirkpatrick and James Meredith of his staff would accompany him.

Smith said governors Frank Carlson, Kansas; Roy Turner, Oklahoma, Sid McMath, Arkansas, and Adlai Stevenson, Illinois, have indicated they will attend the conference in person. Gov. Allen Shivers of Texas was tied up with a previous commitment and was expected to send the Texas labor commissioner to the meeting.

"I hope we can wind up this meeting Thursday or Thursday night," Smith said. Asked if he thought the conference would last two days, he said tersely, "I hope not."

Body Found On Florida Coast

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 28. (U.P.)—Police ran down a flood of tips today on the identity of an over-40-blonde whose expensive clad body was washed ashore from Biscayne Bay Monday.

The main investigation was centered in New York where she purchased her clothing.

Latest clue that might lead to her identification was the name "Eaves" on the costly skirt she wore. It was traced to a New York shop of that name.

Dental Records Checked

The woman, a graying blonde, had been severely beaten about the face and head. An autopsy showed death was caused by a brain hemorrhage and that she was dead before she was thrown into the water.

A police check of yachts moored along the Miami waterfront produced no clues. New York police were checking mental and dental records in an effort to locate the surgeon who performed a highly skilled abdominal operation and the dentist who installed a $1,000 bridge in her jaw.

Police were receiving inquiries about the woman and tips as to her identity from as far away as Los Angeles.

Baby Princess Yasmin Born To Rita Hayworth This Morning; (Ed's Note: Papa Doing Fine)

(By The Associated Press)

LAUSANNE, Switzerland, Dec. 28.—A baby princess was born today to Rita Hayworth, the glamorous red-headed movie star who married Moslem Prince Aly Khan last spring.

The baby, weighing about five and a half pounds, was born about eight hours after Rita made a pre-dawn dash to exclusive Montchoisi clinic.

The new princess' name will Yasmin, the Arabic spelling for the fragrant Jasmine flower used in southern France for making perfume.

Prince Aly, unshaven, haggard but smiling made the announcement to newsmen outside the clinic doors.

"Rita had a very tough time," he said but added with a smile: "It has gone off all right. She is very tired."

The prince said the birth was a natural one, delivered under gas.

Rita's first daughter by a previous marriage was delivered in 1944 by Caesarian section.

Yasmin was born at 9:45 a. m. (2:45 a. m. CST).

Princess Yasmin, with the mixture of four bloods in her veins — Spanish-American from her mother and Iranian-Italian from her father—is the granddaughter of Aga Khan, spiritual leader of millions of moslems of the Islamic sect and reputedly one of the world's richest men.

The prince said his 31-year-old wife had seen the child a few minutes after regaining consciousness.

"She seemed awfully pleased," Aly said. "I myself

Demos Dispute Charges Fair Deal To Blame

Majority Leader Declares Security Of U. S. At Stake

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—Returning lawmakers chalked up red ink spending today as the top domestic issue in the new session of Congress opening next week.

Democrats joined Republicans in deploring a state of financial affairs in which the government will have to go on borrowing from the people because its outgo is bigger than its income from taxes.

At that point, members of the two major parties parted violently in their comments.

Fair Deal Blamed

Over many Democratic protests, Republicans put the finger on the Truman administration's "fair deal" program as the cause of the treasury's present financial woes.

Senator Taft of Ohio, who heads the Senate GOP policy committee, said even worse troubles are ahead if the Democrats can push the Brannan farm subsidy payment through Congress.

In a weekly report to Ohio voters, he estimated that subsidies under such a plan would run to $6,000,000,000 yearly.

The scheme would guarantee the farmer's income on some perishable products, letting those products reach their own price level on the market. Under the plan the consumer would benefit from the lower prices.

Peace Claimed At Stake

"Since the farmer and the consumers are the taxpayers, they would simply get a bill from the government for the benefits they are supposed to receive, plus a sum added in to pay salaries to several hundred thousand employes required to administer the plan," Taft said.

Some Democrats, including Senate Majority Leader Lucas of Illinois, defended red ink spending as a necessary measure to insure world peace.

Lucas, announcing he is running for re-election, told an audience in Havana, Ill., last night:

"I hate deficit financing. I hate to have the government borrowing more money from the American people.

"But if we must make a choice between a period of dificit financing to strengthen our chance for peace or running the chance of engaging in an atomic war, I will declare right now that I prefer the risk of deficit financing."

Lucas said the country is prosperous and ridiculed Republican leaders "who tell us we are on the way to the poorhouse."

He predicted, however, that mil-

Leaking Fumes Fatal To Four

NEW YORK, Dec. 28 (U.P.)—A father and mother were killed Christmas Eve while piling presents for their two young children under a Christmas tree—and the children died in their beds without having known Santa Claus.

The tragedy was revealed today when a relative broke into the apartment of Andrew Gazak, 33, and his wife, Veronica, 32, on the east side.

Bodies Are Found

Gazak and his wife were dead on the floor beside the Christmas tree which was surrounded by piles of unopened presents. The bodies of Veronica, 5, and Andrew, jr., 3, were found in their beds.

Police said all had been dead since Christmas Eve. Investigation showed that fumes leaking from a faulty refrigerator had exhausted the oxygen in the apartment.

Mrs. Mary Fabsik, the relative, said she thought the family had gone to the country for the Christmas weekend. When she called at their apartment this morning, she smelled the fumes.

Warning Is Offered On Lubbock Checks

FORT WORTH, Dec. 28. (U.P.)—Fort Worth merchants were warned today against cashing any printed checks of the Carriers & General Insurance agency on the Lubbock National bank.

J. E. Roach, who with his wife, M. O. Roach, has the insurance agency here, said the firm was started in Lubbock, but hasn't had an account in the bank there since 1941.

Roach said a blank check book which he had been keeping from the former Lubbock business for income tax purposes recently was stolen from him. One $50 worthless check from the book already has turned up, when it was cashed by a liquor store, he said.

Government's Anti-Trust Suits Against Business On Increase

By MAUREEN GOTHLIN
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28 (U.P.) — The government has been hitting industry with anti-trust cases that are generally bigger, tougher, and several times more numerous than in pre-war days.

A review of the post-war program to date shows that, except for a period of adjustment, the number of cases filed in court each year has been double and triple the highest number filed in the years from July, 1925, through June, 1939.

The review also shows that more emphasis is being placed on civil suits, which result in positive economic relief rather than fines, than in any year dating back to July, 1925.

The period from July, 1939, through June, 1943, was the peak for the number of anti-trust cases filed. The main purpose of that program was to wake up the public to anti-trust laws.

Big Concerns Hit

Those cases were, for the most part, aimed at the retail and distributing end of industry. The current program is shooting at the production end and the concentration of economic power.

The best examples of this post-war policy are the civil suits filed to break the A&P food chain, the "Big Four" meat packers, the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., and Western Electric, its manufacturing subsidiary, and the du-Pont-General Motors-U. S. Rubber alliance, described as the largest concentration of industrial power in the nation.

Since July 1, 1946, the number of cases filed each fiscal year has been 44, 34, and 57. Prior to fiscal 1940 the annual number of cases as far as 1925 ranged from 3 to 18.

During the peak period, the number of cases filed ranged from 58 to 97. But even in the top year of fiscal 1942, only one-third of the cases were civil. Since fiscal 1945, more than half the cases have been civil.

No Jail Sentences

The Justice Department's anti-trust section is leaning toward civil cases because successful prosecution can result in freeing of patents and divestiture. The maximum penalty in a criminal case is a $5,000 fine on each count and one year in jail. The latter never has been used.

From July 1, 1945, to date the government has filed 171 cases, won 136, some of which were filed previously, and lost 30. There are 127 cases pending before the courts, dating back to the Aluminum Company of America case filed in 1937. Of those, two are before the Supreme Court.

The A & P case aims to break up that food chain into seven independent retail chains and separate the retail business from A & P's production business.

The du Pont case aims at divesting that family of its control over General Motors Corp., and U. S. Rubber Co. Another post-war case against the duPont empire would require it to sell some of its cellophane plants.

A. T. & T. Sued

Las January a civil case was filed against A. T. & T. asking that it be required to sell its equipment manufacturing subsidiary, the Western Electric Co., and that Western Electric be divided into three competing companies.

In September, 1948, the government filed its case against the meat packers — Armour & Co., Swift & Co., Cudahy Packing Co., and Wilson & Co.—to divide them into 14 separate concerns.

In the same month, a case was filed against the "Big Three" farm machinery manufacturers — J. I. Case Co., Deere & Co., and International Harvester — charging them with making exclusive dealing contracts.

Another big post-war case, which has been lost in post-war case, which has been lost in the lower courts by the government is that against the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

This case, which has been appealed to the Supreme Court, charges that the defendants have conspired to fix commisison rates illegally on sale, exchange, leasing and management of real estate.

Big Decision

One of the biggest decisions in the post-war period was that upholding the government's case against the "Big Five" motion picture producers and theater owners.

Paramount Pictures, Inc., and RKO Corp., agreed to consent judgments requiring them to divorce their movie producing and distributing business from their theater business.

The case against the others—Loew's, Inc., Warner Brothers Pictures, and Twentieth Century Fox Film Corp., still is to be completed.

Another big decision was that handed down by the Supreme Court last term against Standard Oil of California. That case charged Standard Oil with cutting out competition by forcing gasoline stations to sell only its brand of tires, batteries, and other automobile accessories. The decision outlawed those contracts.

Water On Way To New York

SHERVEPORT, La., Dec. 28. (AP) —Three thousand gallons of Texas water are rolling eastward through Mississippi today en route to thirsty Texans in New York who couldn't get home for Christmas.

The tank truck started its trip from Austin, Texas, yesterday after Railroad Commissioner Ernest Thompson hoisted a water-filled cup to wish "peace on earth—and a chaser" to Texans far from home.

The truck, loaded with water from Central Texas' highland lakes, stopped here last night after the first leg of its 1,998 mile trip.

The water is a gift from the Highland Lakes News, a weekly devoted to fishing, hunting and loafing. When it reaches New York about New Year's eve, the tanker spigots will be opened to provide a drink for all Texans who can be found.

The water shipment is to travel to New York via Jackson and Meridian, Miss., Montgomery, Ala., Macon and Augusta, Ga., Columbus, S. C., Raleigh, N. C., Richmand, Va., Washington, D. C., and Philadelphia, Pa.

Birds In Stratosphere Puzzle To Passenger

SEATTLE, Wash., Dec. 28. (U.P.) The crew of an American World Airways Stratocruiser vouches for this story:

A cruiser was droning across the Pacific ocean at 23,000 feet. In the rear cargo compartments was a shipment of live chicks, noisily minding their own business. Inside the lounge just forward of the cargo compartment, a woman passenger was sitting.

Suddenly she cocked an ear toward the lounge door, then beckoned a steward.

"Young man," she said, "aren't we getting a little low? I can hear birds."

Jugoslavs To Keep Neutrality In Cold War, Minister States

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Dec. 28 (AP)—Marshal Tito's government says Yugoslavs want to stay out of the east-west cold war despite growing friendship for America, Britain and France.

Foreign Minister Edvard Kardelj acknowledged western help last night in a speech to parliament. At the same time he denounced Russia—once Communist Yugoslavia's strongest ally—as trying to 'destroy our independence and to subordinate us."

Policy Not Changed

"There can be no doubt that our relations with America, Britain and France have improved," Kardelj said. "This, however, does not change the independent policy of Yugoslavia."

Within the last few days Yugoslavia has signed an aviation agreement with the United States and concluded a half-billion dollar trade pact with Britain. Russia and her Cominform satellites have clamped an economic boycott on Yugoslavia since Tito split with the Kremlin in 1948.

Kardelj said Yugoslavia did not belong to any military alliance and "has no intention of joining in any secret agreement aimed at any country."

Economic Gains

Other government ministers reported that Yugoslavia had achieved 96.8 per cent of her 1949 program for developing heavy industry despite the Cominform economic boycott. Further gains with western economic help are expected in 1950.

Franc Leskovsek, minister of heavy industry, said Russia, Hungary, Poland, Czechoslovakia and Romania have refused to carry out agreements to deliver capital goods, even though some were paid for in advance.

Steel Mill In East Planned

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 28 (AP)—The Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation has bought a 3800-acre tract of land near Philadelphia as a site for a possible huge eastern seaboard steel mill.

C. R. Cox, president of the U. S. Steel corporation subsidiary, announced yesterday the tract of land involved is on the Delaware river in Falls township, Pa., about 30 miles northeast of Philadelphia.

Cox pointed out that the actual construction of a steel mill on the site has not yet been authorized. The purchase price and the name of the former owner were not divulged.

Freight Rates Up

It has been reported for some time that U. S. Steel has been seeking a spot to build a steel mill closer to the east coast markets. Increasing freight rates have weakened the competitive position of mills in the Pittsburgh area compared with those along the eastern seaboar. Steel is sold F. O. B. at the mill with the purchaser paying the freight costs.

A steel mill such as Carnegie-Illinois' plant at Homestead, Pa., would cost one billion dollars to duplicate. To set up a mill like the Edgar Thompson works at Braddock, Pa., woul cost $500,000,000. Both plants are in the Pittsburgh area.

A U. S. Steel Corp. mill on the Delaware river would permit the transportation of ore on ocean-going vessels from South American sources, such as those in Venezuela.

The building of docks and ore boats as well as investment in South America would add immeasurably to the cost of the project.

Flying Saucer Probe Ditched

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28 (U.P.)— The Air Force hoped today that "flying saucer' stories have been spiked once and for all.

It said an exhaustive two-year investigation shows that reports of strange, disc-like objects flashing through space either were hoaxes or result from "mass hysteria" and a 'misinterpretation of various convention objects."

A special "Project Saucer" at Wright Field, Dayton, O., has been abandoned, it said, because further investigations "are simply confirming findings already reached."

Evidence Cited

Its formal announcement late yesterday said:

"There is no evidence the reports are not the results of natural phenomena . . . (or) a mild form of mass hysteria or hoaxes."

Weather balloons, flares, birds, airplanes and U. S. research guided missiles were listed among the natural phenomena or conventional objects that may have been seen or confused.

True magazine, in its current issue, quoted informed sources" as believing the "saucers" are spaceships manned by half-pint civilized beings from another world. It said the earth has been subjected to systematic, close-range observation by "living, intelligent observers from another planet" for the past 175 years.

Motor Vehicles Found Biggest Farm Hazard

LINCOLN, Neb., Dec(AP) 28 (U.P.) —More farm people are killed in motor vehicle mishaps than in any other class of accidents, according to agricultural extension engineers at the University of Nebraska.

Farm trucks cause many of the accidents, they said, offering these tips for operating a truck safely:

Don't overload.

Keep lights, brakes, steering mechanism and windshield wipers in perfect working condition.

Slow to a safe speed for turns, and use proper signals.

Come to a full stop when entering the main highway, at railroads, and at regular stop signs.

Miss Moore Is Bride Of Robert Lee Hicks

Before a setting of traditional white candles and greenery in First Presbyterian church, Miss Anna Lucille Moore daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin W. Moore of Amarillo, became the bride of Robert Lee Hicks, Tech student, in a double ring service read Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock by Dr. Jack M. Lewis.

The bridegroom is a son of Dr. and Mrs. J. Grady Hicks of 2717 Ryan Place Drive, Fort Worth.

Miss Eleanor Jackson, organist, played the wedding music and accompanied Miss Joan Booth who sang "Because."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a bridal blue taffeta suit with matching nylon net hat and carried white camellias, showered with snapdrtgons.

Miss Kate Moore, sister the bride and maid of honor, wore plum moire and carried pink carnations.

The bride was attended by her sisters, Misses Kate and Susan Moore, who wore plum moire taffeta and carried pink carnations.

Jimmy Randals of Snyder was best man and ushers were Scott MacDonald of Dallas, Bedford Raley of Lubbock and Billy Bob MacMullun of Snyder.

A reception was held following the ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Jackson, 2113 Sixteenth. The bride's table was laid in white and silver and centered with a white double-heart cake which was served with green punch. Mrs. J W. Walker of Plainview served the cake and Miss Dorothy Brown presided at the punch bowl.

Guests were registered by Mrs. Bedford Raley sister of the bridegroom. Misses Barbara Jackson and Elizabeth Stanley were other members of the house party.

When the couple left for a trip to Santa Fe, the bride wore a black and white sharkskin dress with black wool jersey jacket and blue spruce accessories.

After Sunday the couple will be at home in Lubbock. The bride, who attended Southern Methodist university where she was a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority, is a student at Texas Tech college. She is a member of Ko Shari club.

Mr. Hicks, who is a member of Kemas club, is a member of a pioneer West Texas family.

Advice From Mary Haworth

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Tom and I have a little son—I'll call him Tommy—who is nearly three years of age and very sweet. He is a quiet, affectionate child and completely unspoiled—that is the unanimous opinion of all our relatives, neighbors, guests, etc.

But lately something has come up in Tommy's training, about which his father and I have had a private tiff. It is a matter which seems very important to me and I will be grateful for your unbiased opinion.

This is it: When Tommy hurts himself, through a bad fall, etc., he cries and comes to me for a little sympathetic cuddling. When his daddy isn't home he gets it, and within a few minutes (after I divert his attention, speak softly, etc.) the hurt is forgotten.

WIFE'S DEFENSE OF COMPASSION

THIS reaction of mine is partly instinctive and also partly based on the firm conviction that "sympathy begets sympathy,"—for how can I expect Tommy some day to feel tender concern or sympathy toward other people's distress if he has received none for his own?

My husband disagrees. He maintains that Tommy should learn to take his pain "like a man," not cry and be pampered. Therefore if Tommy is hurt in his presence he refuses to let me near him except to administer first-aid, and Tommy remains upset for some time.

Now Tommy isn't a sissy. He climbs fences, does all normal small-boy things and gets up smiling after minor falls and bumps. I, too, want him to be manly; but feel it is an added blessing when a man is also tender, and I maintain that my so-called cuddling in one way of achieving that. Am I wrong? Or if not, how can I convince my husband? Please advise us. (Signed) P. K.

WIFE TALKS WELL, BUT ACTS UNWISELY

DEAR P. K.: People are becoming more aware of the indisputable truth that the individual's emotional competence — meaning his capacity to experience and convey love, tenderness, concern and sympathy—is largely developed or blighted in his earliest relationships, depending upon the kind of treatment, warmhearted or cold, he gets in infancy and childhood from his parents, and particularly his mother.

However, it seems to me you are invoking sound theory to justify unsound practice in this instance. I believe your so-called firm conviction that sympathy begets sympathy is a second-thought rationalization of prolonged babying of your son, and that this performance, which the psychologists call being "overprotective," has come about because the exchange is pleasurable to you.

I believe it is indicative of intensely possessive mother-love, an incipiant "momism" that embodies great unconscious reluctance to have your firstborn son grown up, emotionally emancipated from physical dependency upon mother comfort, and thus able to love another woman—wife or sweetheart—wholeheartedly at some future time.

AWARENESS HELPS ELIMINATE ERROR

IN short, though you say your sentimental soothing of Tommy's bruises is partly instinctive and partly aimed to invest him with tender concern for others' distress, I rather think it is an emotional transaction altogether, a matter of playing up a very interpersonal attachment on a fixed level of primitive feeling, and then trying to defend it against your husband's anxious objections. Not that you do this consciously, of course; but that's that pitch as I see it; and simply to be aware of it is to begin to bring reason to bear in wisely modifying the self-indulgent course.

You speak as if Tommy, scarcely three, were often in pain due to bad falls; and if such is the case, either he is being short-changed of intelligent preventive care, or he is inventing falls (courting injuries) to qualify for the cuddling you've encouraged him to expect after hurting himself. Your references to cuddling when his daddy isn't home, and his upset clamor for more of the same when his dad is present to thwart it, points to a "conditional' demand for babying that seems inconsistent with his age.

For advice: If your husband isn't the tender type, don't prey upon your son's feelings for compensation. In doing your best to be a good mother, bear in mind that the finest devotion, the most generous love, is that which promotes growth of self reliance and self possession of soul in the beloved. In a sense, that's what your husband is talking about; so beware of enslaving your son to yourself. M. H.

Living Costs Staying High

By SAM DAWSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—The cost of living holds high, but is still well below last year's peak. This is announced today in a government-calculated index which has at least two points in common with the new Einstein theory:

1. The average man has about as much difficulty understanding how one is arrived at as the other.

2. To quote Einstein: "I have not yet found a way to confront the results of the theory with experimental evidence." Or on the cost of living level—after you've finished paying all the month's bills, why doesn't your remaining cash, if any, go up and down in sympathy with the rise and fall in the Bureau of Labor Statistics' consumers' price index? Why can't you notice the difference you are told exists?

Index Not Infallible

The BLS admits its index isn't all that it might be. And the bureau is spending $4 million in the hope of bringing the index in line with reality. When it does, this may affect, to the tune of a large sum, such wage contracts as General Motors, which is tied in with this BLS index.

As it stands, the index measures the changes in the cost of living of city families with incomes around $3,000 a year. But since the complicated weighting formula of the index was set up, living conditions have changed, eating habits are different, family income levels are much higher. And some critics of the index say that the mathematical formula used can get as much as 10 per cent off base. Any error, they contend, grows progressively over the years.

Buy Typical Goods

How is the index made up? There are six main divisions: Apparel, food, fuel and refrigeration, house furnishings, rent, and miscellaneous. Food is further subdivided into: ceerals and bakery products; dairy products; fruits and vegetables; meats, poultry, and fish. The fuel component is divided into gas and electricity, and other fuels.

Each month the bureau sends shoppers out in a number of cities to buy from a list supposedly typical of what a $3,000-a-year family would use. Each item is then weighted to bring it into line with what the bureau thinks its place should be in the average family budget.

Huge British Liner Planned

LONDON, Dec. 28. (U.P.)—The British Cunard-White Star line has decided to build the biggest and fastest liner in the world for the North Atlantic luxury trade, shipping circles said today.

They said the line has laid plans for a $42,000,000 ship weighing 90,000 tons, or 7,000 tons more than the Queen Elizabeth, now the largest ship in the world and holder of all trans-Atlantic speed records.

The Queen Elizabeth and her slightly smaller and older sister ship, the Queen Mary, cross the Atlantic in four and a half to five days.

Shipping experts said Cunard-White Star decided to build the super-liner after American, French and Dutch shipping companies announced plans to compete with the two queens.

Eight Youths Face Charges In Fight

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (U.P.) — Eight teen-age toughs were charged today with seriously injuring a theater usher in a free-for-all on the main staircase of the Paramount theater on Broadway.

About 500 ticketholders waiting in the lobby to see the featured movie "Samson and Delilah" watched as several ushers battled the zoot-suited youths. Usher Lawrence Ruisi, 22, was beaten and kicked and thrown down the stairs, suffering a brain concussion and a possible skull fracture.

Theater Manager Robert Shapiro said the youths, ranging in age from 16 to 18, deliberately started trouble so they would be thrown out of the theater and could claim a refund on their tickets.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (U.P.)—William O'Connell, 21, Washington, D. C., bellhop, came to New York to duplicate the luxury he learned of while working in Washington's Mayflower hotel, police said today.

The fact that he and his wife, Emma, 25, arrived with only 50 cents between them did not deter the couple, authorities said. They registered from Dec. 9 to Dec. 23 at the Plaza, Waldorf-Astoria and the Roosevelt hotels, running up bills of $389 without paying a cent, managers of the hotels charged.

Tech Gridders Leave Today

Raiders Hold Contact Drill

"California Here I Come" could well be the theme song of the Texas Tech Red Raider football squad today as the team heads westward for Saturday's Raisin Bowl game against San Jose State at Fresno, Calif. It will be Tech's fifth bowl game, the previous four ending in defeats for the Raiders.

The Raiders were scheduled to leave at 8:40 a. m. today and arrive in Fresno at 2:05 p. m. Thursday in time for a workout The team, coaches, trainer and managers are aboard special pullmans, which they will keep throughout their eight-day trip, which includes a visit to the famed Rose Bowl tilt on Jan. 2.

Tuesday a hard scrimmage was held, and the Raiders showed how anxious they were for action by getting in some fierce, "head knocking" in the hour drill, and Coach Dell Morgan seemed to be pleased with the showing

The players were running, blocking and tackling hard, and the passing was generally good against a San Jose defensive setup.

Price Injures Ankle

Pacing the running attack were Cal Steveson, with several long runs, and Herman Bailey and Bud Conley. Hitting their marks with short aerials were Ernest Hawkins and Milton Rathbone, with Hugh and Dick Jackson on the receiving end of many of the passes.

The scrimmage might prove costly, however, as Jerrell Price, 210-pound tackle, injured his left ankle. A preliminary examination showed a slight sprain, but Price was expected to be all right for Saturday's game. Center J. B. Mahler received a slight cut over the eye, but he too is expected to be ready to go against the Spartans.

Spirit on the team is high, and enthusiasm shown by the team has been better in the last few weeks than at any time during the year, with everyone looking forward to the game and trip.

Victory Hopes High

Hopes for a victory are high, with the Raiders rated on the same level as the Spartans nationally, only a few points separating the two clubs.

Coach Morgan said earlier that passing might be the difference in the game, and since that time he has worked up a series of very snappy pass plays which should add life to the Raider aerial offensive.

Leading passer is Ernest Hawkins with 32 completions in 84 attempts for 500 yards and three touchdowns.

On the ground he can rely on Fullback Conley, who has averaged 4.67 yards per in picking up 699 yards rushing; Halfback Steveson with 393 yards on 91 tries; J. W. Thompson with 327 yards on 60 carries; and Ike Stuver with 335 yards on 44 carries.

The bowl game will be the third for a Morgan-trained squad. His 1947 squad played Miami of Ohio in the Sun Bowl, losing by one point, 13-12, and the 1941 squad lost a 6-0 battle to Tulsa in the same bowl.

Tech lost to St. Mary's, 20-13, in the Cotton Bowl in 1939 and to West Virginia, 7-6, in the Sun Bowl in 1938.

Traveling Squad Listed

In addition to Coach Morgan, Coaches G. B. Morris, Tipp Mooney and Allie White will accompany the team to Fresno, also Trainer Mason Gorby and Managers E. J. Hutchins and Gabby Hawkins.

Members of the squad follow:

BACKS — Tim Hatch, Herman Bailey, James Conley, Ernest Hawkins, Milton Rathbone, Albert Salem, Bobby Close, Cal Steveson, Earl Jackson, Walter Maloney, Ike Stuver, J. W. Thompson and Eural Ramsey.

ENDS — Bill Sharpley, Dick Pittle, Dick Jackson, Elbert Johnson, Hugh Jackson and Luke Thompson.

TACKLES—Douglas McSwane, John Andrews, John Tom Baker, Bill Glidewell, Marshall Gettys, Jerrell Price and Bobby Broyles.

GUARDS — Dan Pursel, Dick Cavazos, Milburn Haydon, Bobby Garner, Walter Edrington, and Bill Stallings.

CENTERS — Bobby Williams, Aubrey Phillips, J. B. Mahler and Robert Hix.

Tar Heels To Arrive Today

DALLAS, Dec. 28 (AP)—North Carolina's Tar Heels come to town today to give Dallas Cotton Bowl fever.

Coach Carl Snavely and 53 footballers fly in this afternoon in time for a work-out. They'll be told immediately that they're going to be underdogs in next Monday's Cotton Bowl battle with Rice, but that's nothing new The Tar Heels are accustomed to taking beatings in bowl games — they've tried two in the last four years and lost both.

Meanwhile, Rice will be at it hot and heavy in practice at Houston. The Owls don't come to Dallas until Sunday, making a leisurely train trip.

Reception Is Planned

There'll be quite a reception at the airport this afternoon when North Carolina's squad arrives at 2:30 o'clock (CST). Tyree Bell, president of the Cotton Bowl Athletic association, will be master of ceremonies. Jim Hudson, representing the Dallas chapter of North Carolina alumni, will give the welcome speech for North Carolina with Mayor Wallace Savage responding for Dallas and Dan D Rogers, chairman of the Cotton Bowl board, speaking for the Cotton Bowl.

Forty Southern Methodist university co-eds will distribute 10 gallon hats to the Tar Heels The Highland Park High school band will play, then a police escort will take the football squad to Dal Hi stadium for its first workout on Dallas soil.

It's all old stuff for eight members of the North Carolina squad Three of them played in the 1947 Sugar Bowl game against Georgia and those three plus five others appeared in the 1949 Sugar Bowl game against Oklahoma.

Boast Bowl Veterans

But when it comes to bowl experience, just consider Rice. Eight of the men on this year's Owl squad played in the 1947 Orange Bowl game when Rice beate Tennessee.

Bowl veterans for North Carolina are Backs Charlie Justice and Johnny Clements and End Kenny Powell, who played in the 1947 Sugar Bowl and these three plus End Art Weiner, Guard Bill Wardle, Center Irv Holdash and Backs Eddie Knox and Paul Rizzo who appeared in the Sugar Bowl last January.

Rice's bowl-wise Owls are Ends James Williams and Bill Taylor Tackle Ralph Murphy, Center Joe Watson and Backs Tobin Rote, Harold Riley, Bobby Lantrip and Oather Pugh.

Rival Owners Said Hard To Deal With

Yankee Heads Push Campaign To Strengthen Club In 1950

By JACK CUDDY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—A visit to New York Yankee headquarters today disclosed that Dan Topping's staff is "going all out" to groom the club for a repeat championship, be it miraculous or mundane.

In addition to winning another world title, the staff also aims at influencing another 2,000,000 fans to attend home games—for the fifth straight season.

Sleek, young, black-haired Topping presides—usually in shirt-sleeves—over the busy down town offices that are the dynamic center of the world's richest baseball empire.

Grades Are Difficult

And no one knows better than President Dan that this year's pennant and World Series victories were regarded by many experts as "miraculous," because the club had been somewhat lightly rated in training and because it had triumphed over an unprecedented 72 injuries during the campaign.

Topping grinned wryly across his desk today as he said: "But, regardless of our terrific struggle this year, the attitude of other clubowners—when we attempt to make deals with them—would indicate they thought we already had an option on the 1950 pennant. They'd rather deal with anybody else than the Yanks."

Everyone in the Yanks' office expects another bitter battle against such clubs as the Red Sox, Indians and Tigers for next season's flag. And they know that a very strong team must be fielded to repay the fans for their loyalty. More than 9,000,000 have attended games at the stadium during the past four years—an all-time record for any club.

Stadium Improvements Slated

In appreciation of that loyalty, the Yanks will spend more than $200,000 on stadium improvements before the season opens.

Topping did not disclose what deals his staff had in mind. However, he admitted they were looking for another pitcher. General Manager George Weiss has offered an outfielder, an infielder and a catcher for an American circuit righthander.

Don Johnson, a right-hander who came up late in the season from Sacramento of the Pacific coast league, appears ready now to help Joe Page with his relief chores. Joe worked in 60 games this year.

Since the close of the season, two players were purchased from Oakland of the Pacific circuit. They were infielder Al Martin and Outfielder Jack Jensen. Martin is a utility second baseman.

Wakefield Is Obtained

In th one deal made since October, Dick Kryhoski, utility first-sacker, was exchaned for Dick Wakefield of the Tigers. Outfielder Wakefield is expected to blossom at bat in a Yankee uniform. Charlie Keller, veteran outfielder, has been made a free agent.

Meanwhile, the Yanks staff of more than 100 full-time, off-the-field personnel is keeping for the first time a weekly check on the conditions of all Yank players who were injured last season.

Arthur (Red) Patterson, director of publicity, said: "We are delighted to learn that Joe DiMaggio is in excellent health. His heel no longer bothers him, nor is he suffering from any other ailment. It seems like a sure shot that he'll be ready to start the season."

Platoon System Is Scorned By Mentor

HELENA, Mont., Dec. 28. (AP)—Coach John Gagliardi of Carroll college aimed some kidding at football as well.

"We could use one platoon for bringing the ball up the court," he said, "another for starting plays under the opponent's basket, another for out-of-bounds plays, another for free throws and still another for putting the ball into the basket.

"Then we could require various platoons for defensive work. The fives could be stationed at strategic places on the sidelines and enter the game when needed. A 'tally-ho' or 'hi-there-old-boy' to the scorekeeper would be enough to permit players to enter the game.

"It would be ideal. We wouldn't need any gym classes. The boys could find something they could excel at in basketball. Even if only catching the ball after it dropped through the basket."

Lumbermen Save Pet Deer With Red Hat

MISSOULA, Mont., Dec. 28. (AP)—A year-old buck deer in Blackfoot valley wears a red hat fastened to his antlers.

He's a pet of the men at a nearby logging camp and they feel sure the red hat saved him from disaster during the fall hunting season. The buck's favorite delicacy is cigarette butts.

Rough Drills Closed By East, West Teams

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28 (AP)—Both East and West Squads have finished the rough stuff and started tapering off for the all-star Shrine game at Kezar stadium here next Monday afternoon.

The West started the polishing up and tapering off process. So many passes were called that Tom Novak, center from Nebraska, finally protested to West Coach Matty Bell of Southern Methodist.

"Don't you coaches from the Southwest know any running plays?" he wanted to know. So Bell and confederates, Dutch Meyer of Texas Christian and Jeff Cravath of Southern California, ran some running plays.

It was estimated Quarterbacks Eddie Le Baron of College of Pacific and Lindy Berry of Texas Christian have thrown more than 1,000 passes since training began.

Tech Cagers Play San Angelo Five

Texas Tech's basketballers, who returned to practice Monday after a brief Christmas layoff, swing back into competitive action tonight when they invade San Angelo for an encounter with the independent Checker Cab quint of that city.

The Raiders, who recently defeated the Cabbies handily in a game here, are solid favorites to rack up another win tonight.

The next home game for Coach Polk Robinson's Techsans will be in Tech gym at 8 p. m. Friday, with the Wayland college Pioneers Tech downed Wayland, 58-50, in a game played at Plainview earlier this month.

Tickets for Friday night's tilt here will be available to the public. Ducats will be priced at $1 each.

Sooner Coach Fears Defeat

BILOXI, Miss., Dec. 28. (AP)—"All year my boys have thought they were better than they are," Coach Bud Wilkinson unburdened today as his Oklahoma football team re-opened practice for the Sugar Bowl.

"I wish they would either stop that or get better," Wilkinson said.

The words tolled the familiar tones of the mourning bell reserved for coaches' pre-game dirges, but Wilkinson was deadpan sincerity personified.

Coach Is Worried

Oklahoma, the nation's No. 2 team meets Louisiana State university Monday in New Orleans.

After a week's layoff from practice Wilkinson wonders and worries if his players still are in condition.

Other worries which plague him are:

Whether the novelty of playing in bowls has worn off. This is Oklahoma's second consecutive Sugar Bowl invitation;

Will the honor of playing in a bowl make L. S. U. too eager to handle?

Will L. S. U. take advantage of a psychological edge in being the underdog and try harder than Oklahoma;

Secret Drills Planned

And do Oklahoma players think more of a trip to the Gulf coast than they do of playing in the Sugar Bowl?

Oklahoma will hold four secret practices this week and rest Sunday in preparation for the Jan. 2 game. No scrimmages are planned.

All the points Wilkinson has found to worry about should rank him as high as moaner as he is a coach.

Twenty straight games have been won by Oklahoma with the split "T" formations of Wilkinson. Also during his three years at Oklahoma Wilkinson has won two Big Seven conference championships, tied for a third and whipped North Carolina in the Sugar Bowl last January.

Littlefield Coaches Given Cash Awards

LITTLEFIELD, Dec. 28. (Special)—Coach J. S. Fikes of the state champion Littlefield Wildcats today was $1,866.40 richer as a result of a cash gift from local football fans.

Assistant Coaches Forrest Martin and Pat Patterson and School Superintendent Joe Hutchinson each received $265.20 from the appreciation fund raised by Wildcat followers.

After receiving his cash gift, Fikes traded in his automobile, with a portion of the cash, for a new Buick, in which he went to Anson today to visit his parents during the holiday school vacation.

Several events honoring members of the Littlefield grid squad are planned for the near future, but these probably will not be staged until Fikes returns early next week.

Lubbock, Eagles Meet

Abilene Host To Hub Quint

The Lubbock Westerner basketball team seeks to start a new string of victories in Abilene tonight, meeting the Eagles at 8 p. m. in a return game.

Last week Abilene handed Lubbock its second loss in 11 starts by edging the local squad, 43-41, at Chapman fieldhouse.

Two workouts have been undergone by the Westerners since that defeat, both coming this week, and Tuesday Coach David Cook sent his charges through a fast workout.

Hard Workout Held

The entire "book" was thrown at the local quintet yesterday, and the drill left the squad limp from fatigue as Coach Cook expressed dissatisfaction with the showing of the boys by the hard workout.

However, the first team was showing a good eye for the basket in later scrimmaging, with Walter Norton, Tom Cheatham, Carl Ince, Jimmy Sexton and Morris Turner playing the first five positions.

For the second team Jim Wilson showed flashes of his old form, and Tommy Yelvington was accurate from the floor.

Passing, shooting and ball-handling drills occupied the early stages of the long session, with offensive patterns being stressed in half-court drills.

In addition to the varsity game, a "B" team game will also be played tonight. Members of the Westerner traveling squad will make up the team for the opening game, with the addition of Yelvington and Sammy Adams from the Cowhand squad.

The team will leave at 1 p.m. today by bus and return following the game.

Making the trip are Sexton, Wilson, Cheatham, Ince, Turner, Norton, Adams, Yelvington, Richard Allen, Bill Williams, Jimmy Hamilton, Charles Lambert, Dean White, Bobby Day and Garnet Reeves.

WYOMING DRUBS TEXAS' STEERS

Oklahoma Ags Top Vanderbilt, 62-61

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Dec. 28. (U.P.)—Oklahoma A. and M's. Aggies, determined to win their seventh straight All-College basketball tournament, will race ambitious Oklahoma City university tonight in the featured second-round game of the 14th annual playoff.

The Aggies extricated themselves from a perilous situation last night by sinking a field goal in the final three seconds to shade Vanderbilt, 62-61, in an opening round thriller.

Oklahoma City whipped Baylor's Bears in the opener, 43-32, as a partisan hometown crowd cheered lustily.

In other opening round games, Wyohming university's Cowboys riddled the University of Texas' defense to win easily, 44-35, and Arkansas's Razorbacks made a second-half comeback to nudge Alabama, 41-33.

Texas and Alabama will open second-round competition at 2 p. m. and Baylor will face Vanderbilt at 3:15. Oklahoma A. and M. and Oklahoma City university will play in the first half of a night doubleheader, with Arkansas facing Wyoming in the 9 p. m. nightcap.

Hero of the Aggies' miraculous split-second victory over Vanderbilt was Guard Bob Weymour. He grabbed a loose ball, dribbled a few feet and hit the basket for glory.

There was some confusion among Vanderbilt players who pounded on the timekeeper's table, but officials of the Nashville school would not comment on whether they thought the game had ended with Vandy in front.

Even in defeat, Vanderbilt could salvage considerable respect in that its 61 points set a modern scoring record against the Aggies, who concentrate on defense.

Lemon Leads Attack

Forward A. E. Lemon led Oklahoma City's attack on Baylor with 15 points. Baylor made a strong bid in the final minutes of play, but the Oklahoma City defense was rigged too tightly.

Arkansas, the Southwest conference's only hope for victory, had to overcome a five-point halftime deficit to beat Alabama. Forward Jim Catchcart, the Razorback's high man with 16 points, put Arkansas in front, 25-24, midway in the second period. From then on, the Porkers devoted themselves to widening the margin.

Wyoming's height and the presence of Guard John Pilch and forward Loy Doty were factors which gave the Cowboys advantage over the Texas Longhorns. Pilch hit the hoop for 12 points, while Doty bottled up Texas sharpshooters throughout the contest.

Individual high scorer of the opening round was Center Jack Shelton of A. and M., who netted 20 points. Teammate Don Johnson pressed him for the honor with 19.

Doak Blames Layne For Icebox Raids

DALLAS, Dec. 28. (AP)—Doak Walker, the most fabulous name in Southwestern football, was known to his high school grid mates seven years ago as "Silent Pete."

Walker, who became the only three-time All-America in Southwest conference history while at Southern Methodist, acquired the nickname because he never was much of a talker, according to Walker's own story of his life, a copyrighted feature appearing in the Dallas Times-Herald.

The Doaker, known today as "Golden Boy," "The Dazzler" and other monickers that illustrate his great football ability, could still go under the name of "Silent Pete." While Walker acquired great football finesse with the years he never did develop into a strong conversationalist.

Walker entered high school in 1941 at Highland Park in Dallas. He was on the "B" team that year and got his first football injury—a split finger. He says in his story that he improved his backfield points, such as how to use blockers in running and how to set himself in motion with the least wasted time or effort.

He got to the "A" squad about four weeks before the season was over and reveals a little ruefully how the regulars took him over the jumps.

At football camp in 1942 he was what he termed a "stooge" for Bobby Layne, then the big name of Highland Park football. "He would make me raid the ice box at night for fruit and milk and stuff like that," Walker writes.

Between the Lines by Joe Kelly

What coach would you pick if it were up to you to select the Texas high school coach-of-the-year?

That problem and many more, including the selection of an all-state football team, will come up at the annual meeting of the Texas Sports Writers association before the Cotton Bowl game on Monday, Jan. 2.

Coach with the largest amount of prestige at present is Joe Golding of Wichita Falls, whose team went through the season undefeated and untied to take the state crown, rolling up 414 points over the year (an all time high for the Coyotes).

Starting with two former starters, Golding took six third stringers and added 27 first year men to the squad to give the Coyotes their second championship in history.

Mentioned earlier in the year was Pampa's Tom Tipps, whose Harvester squad won the District 1-AA crown on plenty of hustle and a never-say-die attitude toward their games.

Another probable is Austin's Johnny Kitchens, the runner-up in the state and giant killer in Class AA, defeating previously undefeated Corsicana and Port Arthur in the playoffs.

Two men who are likely to receive mention in their different classes, and justifiably so, are Coach C. R. Pattison of Lubbock High school and J. S. Fikes of Littlefield. Fikes fielded the team which won the state championship in Class A by handing unbeaten, untied Mexia a 13-0 loss Monday in Abilene.

Coach Pattison did a fine job with the Westerners this year in coaching them to their first undefeated, untied regular season since way back when and their first clear district title in 10 years. This vote went to Pattison.

During the spring and summer of every year for the last several, there have been discussions at meetings of the NCAA and elsewhere about the terrible post-season bowl games, with arguments generally directed at curtailing all but a few of the well-established bowl games.

But so far action has come slow, and the sports world is caught in another rash of bowl games that seem to increase in number every year. And next year there will probably be more talks about cutting out all but a few of the well-established bowl games!

The Cotton Bowl at Dallas seems to be making great strides toward becoming the richest plum for bowl teams to pluck, with approximately $120,000 going to this year's participants — Rice and North Carolina.

Meeting in other top bowl games, also for money of varying amounts are:

Raisin Bowl: Texas Tech vs. San Jose State.

Rose Bowl: California vs. Ohio State.

Sugar Bowl: Oklahoma vs. Louisiana State.

Orange Bowl: Santa Clara vs. Kentucky.

Sun Bowl: Georgetown vs. Texas Western.

Clark Schooley, sports publicity director at Texas Tech, left Lubbock early Monday for Fresno to lay the groundwork for the invasion Thursday of the 36-man squad, coaches, trainer and fans. Let's hope he took some Texas soil with him so the Raiders will feel at home . . Speaking of home, Joe Kelly started the long drive back from Washington early Monday, expecting to reach Lubbock late Wednesday. Thursday the same Kelly is scheduled to leave for Fresno by train, arriving there Friday. How that man gets around! . . . A top college basketball prospect, now in the service, seems to be Norman Berge who is stationed at Goodfellow field in San Angelo. With the Goodfellow quintet, the 6-foot, 7-inch Berge has scored 297 points in 11 games, averaging 27 per game. On off nights he plays with Checker Cab, hitting for 109 points in five games, averaging 22 per game. That gives Berge 406 points in 16 cage tilts, an average of 25 per game. One hitch is that Berge has another year of military life yet before any college can touch him. Don't let that man go back to California, Texas coaches! . . . Three or four more independent basketball teams are needed for the Anton American Legion tourney which gets underway Wednesday. Entries should be in by tonight, and Pat Bynum can be contacted at 2601 in Anton for further details.

Arizona Quint Tops Texas Ags, 59-46

TUCSON, Ariz., Dec. 28. (U.P.)—The University of Arizona Wildcats' home court winning streak was extended to 55 straight today with the defeat of Texas A&M in an interconference basketball game.

Arizona set the Aggies down, 59-46, here last night behind the shooting of Leon Blevins, all-Border conference forward. The defending Border champs took a 5-4 lead in the first three minutes and remained ahead throughout the night.

The Aggies missed numerous shots, but swished the basket enough times to hold Arizona to a 27-24 halftime lead.

During the second half, the Wildcats tightened their defenses and the Aggies scored only twice in eight minutes.

Bob Honea led the Arizona scoring with 19 points with Blevins accounting for 14 in crucial shots. Forward Bill Turnbow was high man for the Aggies with 12 points.

Arizona beat the Aggies, 56-50, at San Antonio, earlier this year.

Owl Mentor Worried By Tar Heel Attack

HOUSTON, Dec. 28. (AP)—Rice Coach Jess Neely is not paying much attention to talk that North Carolina's Tar Heels stick with the single wing formation.

Preparation for Rice's Cotton Bowl game against North Carolina have found Neely experimenting with a variety of defensive patterns.

He figures he'll probably need a variety.

Close studies of North Carolina game pictures and various other information on the Tar Heels have convinced Neely of one thing:

"North Carolina uses a lot of spread variations with flankers all over the field and that's not the single wing."

Neely has reason to fear spread formations.

Texas Christian scattered men all over and gave Rice one of the two big scares of its undefeated Southwest conference season. Two T.C.U. touchdowns were erased by penalties as Rice won, 20-14.

The first scare had been erased with a field goal in the last 10 seconds of the Texas game that gave Rice a 17-15 victory.

The game against Southern Methodist was enough to cause Neely to start thumbing through his files on defensive patterns.

He had drilled the Owls long and hard an entire week against a single wing attack.

Rice hardly saw the single wing all night. The Dallas team came out with a spread, a "Y," a double wing—just about everything but a "T" and a single wing.

Bear Feature Of Mat Card

Tonight will be a big one in the ring at Sled Allen's arena, with five wrestlers and a trained bear opening activities with a wrestle royal to determine which four will advance to the semi-finals and finals.

With such grapplers at Pat O'Dowdy, George Overhull, Bob Cummings, Jack Papenheim and Pierre LaBell in the ring at the same time, it seems that this would be enough to bring the crowd to its feet. But the wrestling bear, Gorgeous Gus, should bring out some unexpected thrills and color for the fans.

Overhull put up a good scrap with Gus the Bear last week, but there was no question as to the outcome, with Gus winning in 10 minutes.

One man could not beat the bear, and it will be interesting tonight to see if all the wrestlers will try to gang up on Gus or go after each other. All five might be able to pin the big boy.

The first two men downed in the free-for-all will be eliminated from further competition for the night, and the second two go into the semi-final event. The last two remaining draw the main event.

The semi-main will be for two of three falls with a 45-minute limit, and the final has an hour limit on the bout.

Tickets may be bought during the day at the arena until 5 p. m. Doors open at 7 p. m., and matches begin at 8 p. m.

Approximately 889,000,000 safety razor blades are used in the United States annually.

Borger Five Moves Up In Tournamnt

DALLAS, Dec. 28. (AP)—Borger and six greater Dallas high schools today opened third round action in the Cotton Bowl high school invitation basketball tournament.

The Dallas schools advancing yesterday were Highland Park, Jesuit, Sunset, Adamson, North Dallas and Forest.

Borger defeated Corsicana, 49-23; Adamson beat Arlington Heights (Fort Worth), 45-33; North Dallas downed Waxahachie, 58-38; Highland Park whipped Naples, 62-41; Jesuit downed North Side (Fort Worth), 61-45, Sunset rolled over Hillcrest, 45-18, and Forest beat Blossom, 52-37.

In consolation play, Sherman defeated Grand Prairie, 51-27; Waco beat Frisco, 54-24; Plano edged Henrietta, 41-39; Pleasant Grove knocked off Canton, 38-18; Garland squeezed past Gober, 40-39, and Krum defeated Martins Mill, 36-32.

SEES TIGHT RACE

CHICAGO. (AP)—Defending Big Ten basketball champion Illinois is tough again, thinks Coach Harry Combes of the Illini. "We have a good, strong, well-balanced team," says Combes. "Our success in defending the title will depend on our ability to win the close ones, especially on the road. There has been little loss of strength among leaders of 1949, while teams that did not have success last season all are better. I look for a tight race."

SWOON SHOT

MARTINSDALE, Mont. (AP)—Mrs. Bertha Greenhagen, out hunting, sighted a big elk. She aimed carefully, dropped the animal with her first shot, then swooned. It took 20 minutes to bring her around.

Frogs Defeat Wichita Five

FORT WORTH, Dec. 28. (U.P.)—The hot-and-cold Texas Christian university Horned Frogs waxed exceedingly warm last night and defeated previously unbeaten Wichita university, 54 to 42.

Wichita, victorious in six straight games before embarking on a road swing through Texas, will try to get back on the winning trail tonight against Rice Institute at Houston.

Frogs Stage Rally

TCU lost to Wichita, 65 to 48, in the teams first meeting of the season at Wichita, Dec. 20, and the Rroggies appeared well on their way to another loss in the opening minutes of last night's game.

The Wheatshockers grabbed an early 8-to-1 lead, only to see TCU move ahead, 13 to 12, midway through the first half. The lead was swapped three times in the next 10 minutes, with TCU leading, 25 to 20, at the half.

Pacing TCU to its sixth victory in 10 starts was Tommy Taylor with 13 points. Tied for runner-up honors were Hank Hemingway of Wichita and Gene Schmidt of TCU, each with 12 points.

TWO PLAYERS ILL

EL PASO, Dec. 28 (AP)—Texas Western college's hopes for a Sun Bowl victory over Georgetown, Jan. 2 weren't brightened by the growing casualty list. Coach Jack Curtice yesterday said Fullback Gerald Campbell and Guard Morgan Broaddus may not play in the game Campbell was hospitalized by influenza and Broaddus was ill at home.

Rumors Of Rift In Grid Squad Denied

PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 28. (AP)—This Rose Bowl football enterprise is serious business, a little on the severe side as befits its age as the grandfather of all the bowl contests.

But don't think it hasn't had its funnier moments, some of them behind the scenes, and if thinks keep or as they have in the past, the Rose Bowl might even lose some of its dignity.

There are times leading up to the game, you see, when things actually get pretty dull. The players wander around their hotel lobbies, exchanging whispers about whatever players whisper about, and little excitement can be generated about a routine blocking drill on the practice field.

That's when the warning signal should be hoisted, for inevitably that's when some playful pixie gets out of his cage and begins to chew away at the carpets.

There was the time a few years ago, it may now be told, when this wild pixie got loose and before anyone could even call the cops there was a thick thud, a grapple in the semi-darkness of a hallway and one of the Huntington hotel's nicest chairs was broken when it was struck by a head.

The head belonged to the official family of one of the schools—Charity even to this day declines to further identify the head—but for a time the situation was grave and very hilarious. Fractured chairs just don't belong in the distinguished history of the Rose bowl.

Already this year, with Ohio State and California plugging away for the game Jan. 2, the Rose Bowl scene has been stirred by (1) a report that Wes Fesler had quit as Buckeye coach, and (2) the Buckeye squad was torn asunder by dissension.

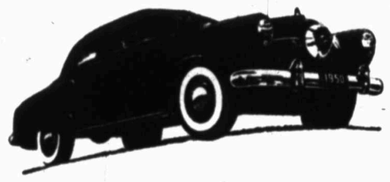

Fesler may well resign after next Monday but he was still on deck today—and still unhappy about the premature report of his coaching demise.

As for the dissension, that stirred up quite a few souls, including the Buckeyes' athletic director, Dick Larkins. It may be disclosed that Larkins was forced to step into a cold room out of a hot shower bath at an early hour to answer the phone and deny the rumor. It is very likely that Larkins was not as mad about the rumor as he was about denying the rumor while dripping wet.

There was the time before the 1947 game when Ray Eliot did have to dispatch two of his Illinois players home because they seemed to have missed the last street car home at dawn one morning, and just last December one Hollywood report pictured Fullback Art Murakowski leaving by the back door of Ciros just as Northwestern Coach Bob Voigts entered the front way.

This provided the setting for a fine rhubarb and the only trouble was that it must have been two other gentuemen leaving by opposite doors at Ciros. If it was Murakowski, through, all coaches should send their boys of Ciros. The fullback had quite a day in the Rose Bowl.

GOP SEEKING GREATER VOICE

United Action On U.S. Policy Asked

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—Top Senate Republicans pressed today for a greater voice in shaping foreign policy.

International issues, they declared, should be thrashed out publicly, with GOP lawmakers taking a full part in major decisions.

"Before the President commits this country to a policy," said Senator Wherry (R-Neb), "Congress and the people should have ample opportunity to debate and discuss it."

The Senate Republican floor leader told reporters yesterday that such a procedure would call for a "non-partisan" foreign policy, in which government action would be shaped by open debate.

Secrecy Is Assailed

Recently Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, Republican leader in foreign affairs, said there should be no secrecy or gag in arriving at decisions on international affairs.

"Every foreign policy must be totally debated," he said, "and the loyal opposition is under special obligation to see that this occurs."

Vandenberg is known to feel that the administration has not cooperated fully with Republican leaders in determining foreign policy—particularly in the case of the Far East.

He told reporters there should be an "unpartisan" foreign policy in which neither party sought political advantage. He said this would call for frank cooperation and free debate in reaching a united front.

Wherry's approach was a little different. Instead of mentioning cooperation, he contended the issues should be decided by open debate with no commitment in advance.

Under the present "bipartisan" policy, Wherry said, party leaders get together and determine a course of action before it is placed before the Congress.

"Too frequently," he said, "the administration has gone ahead and made commitments to foreign governments. Congress has been put in the position of approving these agreements or causing great damage to our prestige aboard by repudiating them."

He said if policies were debated in advance then the end result would be a united front on foreign affairs.

Price Cuts

more on many household and clothing items.

Proctor & Gamble, Cincinnati, announced wholesale price reductions on its principal household soap products and Crisco, a shortening. Soap prices were cut about four per cent, and Crisco five per cent.

Lever Brothers company announced at New York wholesale price cuts on its major soap products from 4 to 7½ per cent. It reduced the price of Spry, its vegetable shortening, 1½ cents a pound. Soaps affected included Lux toilet soap, Lux flakes, Lifebuoy, Rinso, Silver Dust, Breeze and Surf.

Car Prices Cut

Buick yesterday announced price cuts on its new models ranging from $65 to $310, which includes a previously announced $40 reduction for dynaflow transmissions. Oldsmobile cut its price a minimum of $65 on its "88" model, mostly by decreasing the number of accessories.

The effects of steel price increases had not yet been felt. The latest increases were announced yesterday by the Inland Steel company. The exact amount of the increases, reflecting increased costs, had not yet been determined.

At Washington, the Labor department announced that its cost-of-living index rose one-tenth of one per cent between mid-October and mid-November. As of Nov. 15, the department said, average retail prices were two per cent below mid-November, 1948, but still were 26.5 per cent higher than in June, 1946, when most price controls were abandoned.

Clothing prices were reduced 25 to 50 per cent in many year-end clearance sales, particularly on items which did not move well during the Christmas buying season.

In Des Moines, some stores cut prices of women's clothing and shoes one-third to one-half. One Des Moines store advertised a 50 per cent reduction on "next year's" Christmas cards.

Law Ruled Valid

The Ohio supreme court later ruled the law valid, and Kassay again was arrested on the charge. He jumped $25,000 bond furnished by fellow Goodyear workers and his whereabouts since that time are a mystery, officials said.

Michigan state police said that a general alarm would not be sent out for Kassay "until we check him thoroughly."

President Walter Reuther of the UAW was assaulted in his home April 20, 1948, and his brother, Victor, the union's educational director, lost an eye to an assailant last May 24.

Date For GI Dividend Checks Not Changed

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28 (AP) — The Veterans administration said today it still does not know when the first of 16,000,000 insurance dividend checks for World War II veterans will be mailed.

The target-date of "some time near the middle of January," set last summer, has not been changed despite widespread reports to the contrary, a VA official said.

RAILS SHOW STRENGTH

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (U.P.)—Strength in railroad and communication shares featured a higher, moderately active stock market today.

Demand for the rails reflected higher November earnings for several leading roads. Better outlook also aided the communications. All groups joined the rise.

Industrials and utilities reached their best level since Aug. 21, 1946. Rails were at the best since Feb. 3, and the 65 stocks in these three averages set a new high since July 14, 1948.

Net gains ranged to more than 2 points in the rails. Pennsylvania topped the market in volume.

Tire shares rose when Goodyear announced an increase in price of tires sold to auto makers. In the communications, Western Union made a new high and American Telephone rose about a point.

Steel issues ruled steady to a point higher. Motors joined the rise on a fractional advance.

Oils, highly irregular early in the day, moved higher and the early losers recovered a considerable portion of their decline. Standard Oil Company (N. J.) was strong for a time, but it eased near closing.

A sizable group of special issues and selected stocks made new highs, including American Can, International Business machines, International Paper, Johns-Manville, Corn products, Lone Star cement, National Dairy products, Procter & Gamble, Rohm & Haas, St. Louis Southwestern, and Colgate preferred.

Peoples Gas spurted more than 2 points to help lift the utility average.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (AP)—Cotton futures drifted lower today in slow trading. Scattered hedging and New Orleans selling were absorbed through mill buying and short covering. Quiet conditions in cotton textiles and the primary spot cotton markets contributed to lack of interest in futures.

Some traders anticipated 12 to 25 points increase in the mid-December cotton parity to be announced this Friday. The mid-November cotton parity was 29.76 cents a pound.

Cotton closed steady.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Dec. 28. (AP)—Grain futures started firm today but then dipped rather sharply on liquidation that met little demand.

Peron's Foes To Face Trial

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Dec. 28. (AP)—President Juan D. Peron today had carried out his threat to prosecute the editors of Argentina's two biggest independent newspapers on charges of insulting him.

The president promised in a news conference Dec. 3 that he would file "desacato" (disrespect) charges against the editors of La Nacion and La Prensa for having "to a certain degree" supported an opposition member of congress who accused Peron of getting rich in office.

Charges Are Feted

The charges against the two editors were filed yesterday in federal court.

Jail terms up to three years can be passed under the new "desacato" law prohibiting slander of a public official.

The newspapers had published the statement of Atilio Cattaneo, member of the opposition radical party, who made the original charge against Peron. Cattaneo subsequently exiled himself to Uruguay after he was expelled from congress and relieved of his retired army rank of lieutenant colonel. Argentine police have a warrant for his arrest since he no longer enjoys congressional immunity.

Under Constant Attack

Both of the newspapers involved have been under constant attack by the Peron regime. They opposed him before and since the 1946 elections.

No announcement was made on the results of the private hearing given to Dr. Luis Mitre, editor of La Nacion, before Federal Judge Miguel Vignola. It is not known whether Alberto Gainza Paz, editor of La Prenza, has had a hearing yet.

Peron has publicly denied the "uncalled-for calumny" of the charges he got rich in office made by Catteano.

Rotary Club Hears "Why It's Fun To Live In America"

Lubbock Rotarians were given a note of optimism for the future by Roy Bass, who spoke on "Why It's Fun to Live in America," at a luncheon meeting of the club today at the Hilton hotel.

"It's fun to be part of a growing concern, and certainly the United States still is a growing concern," he said. With the cost of government at a fabulous height, Bass said that it still was fun to pay taxes here, "more fun, that is, than in any other country."

He compared our judiciary system and our individual rights with those found elsewhere, and concluded with a note of warning that our rights will not be forced from us all at once, but will go one by one if our vigilance slackens.

New Members Presented

Bass was introduced by Thomas B. Duggan, jr. Arch G. Lamb, first vice-president, presided in the absence of Guy C. Victory, club president.

Two new members were introduced, H. T. "Buck" Luther was presented by Chas. A. Guy, and Frank A. Madden was introduced by LeRoy Land.

C. R. "Pat" Pattison introduced visiting Rotarians, which included Skeet Roberson of Brownfield, Weldon Skinner of Abilene, Robert G. Mills of Amarillo, Vance Favor of Quanah, and Murrell Miller of Atlanta, Ill.

"Chuck" Wilson, junior Rotarian from Senior High school for December, expressed his thanks for being honored by the club. Dr. H. I. Robinson offered the invocation. Rex Webster and Roy Bass led a song.

The six-state governor's conference tomorrow will be the second labor mediation meeting of state executives called in St. Louis by Gov. Smith this winter. A similar conference last October resulted in the final settlement of a stalemated Missouri Pacific railroad strike.

Labor leaders last week gave the Missouri governor full credit for averting a Christmas strike of Southwestern Bell employes. They said the strike was designed to cut into the company's holiday business and had originally been scheduled to start at 8 p. m. last Friday.

Condition of Miss Helen Ray Gossett, 21, a registered nurse who lives at the nurses home of Lubbock Memorial hospital, remained "serious" this afternoon at the hospital, where she was taken for treatment of injuries suffered in a Christmas afternoon automobile mishap six miles north of Lubbock.

A car driven by Elvin Edward Cannon, 24, of 220 Wabash Ave., struck the rear of a car in which Miss Gossett was riding, state highway patrolmen were informed. Cannon said something blinded him, a shining object, just before the collision.

Rita's Baby

think she is a very good looking girl, but being her father I can't really say so myself."

Aly joked a little with the newsmen. He referred to his crumpled appearance and said: "I suppose I look as though I have gone through it all myself. With this beard they are going to take me for the wild man of Borneo."

Final ararngements for the arrival of the little princess were executed in such deep Hollywood-style secrecy by Aly that he even crossed up police who planned to escort Rita to the hospital.

But when the time came Aly drove Rita himself unescorted. Hotel doors were locked to keep anyone from following.

After reaching the hospital, Aly called the police station and gave a pre-arranged code ignal, his spokesman said later. The code was the name of a French nursery rhyme—"Marlborough Goes to War."

The call was made on a private telephone line rigged up for the occasion and police cars sped to the hotel according to plan. They escorted an empty sedan to the hosital.

Police surrounded the hospital shortly after Rita's arrival. And nearby roads were blocked off to traffic. The actress wore a mink coat as she walked into the hospital with the prince.

There was no warning of the after-midnight dash to the hospital. Late yesterday afternoon Rita and Aly went for a drive.

Rita has one other daughter, five-year-old Rebecca Welles, born when she was married to actor-producer Orson Welles. She was divorced from Welles in 1948. Aly has two sons by a previous marriage, Prince Karim Aga, 13, and Prince Amyom Mohammed, 11, who are tending school about 15 miles from Lausanne.

Aly received a divorce from British-born Joan Yarde-Buller in Paris only a few weeks before he married Miss Hayworth last May 27 at Villaris on the French Riviera after a highly-publicized romance.

MERCURY TUMBLES TO 20 DEGREES IN CITY

A sub-freezing 20 degrees once more announced a bell-clear day on the South Plains before the mercury started its climb to an expected 62 degrees by late afternoon.

At 1:30 p. m. the temperature was 58 degrees.

Lubbock was five degrees colder than Amarillo, which recorded a minimum of 25 degrees today. Other minimum temperatures reported to the Weather bureau station at municipal airport included Dalhart 20, Roswell 15, Salt Flat 16, Hobbs, N. M., 16, Abilene 27, Big Spring 25, Wichita Falls 30, Laredo 54, Waco 36, Clarendon 25 and Childress 27.

Skies Are Clear

West Texas skies were clear as far as junction, said Melton Connell, observer at the weather station. Some cloudiness along the Gulf coast was reported.

A continuation of pleasant winter weather was seen for the next day or two on the South Plains.

A cold air mass over Montana dropped the temperature there from 42 degrees at 12:30 a. m. today to zero at 6:30 a. m. This 42-degree drop in six hours was not considered likely to have any effect on Texas temperatures as the front did not appear to be moving in this direction.

Drastic Changes Not Apparent In Designs Of 1950 Automobiles

DETROIT, Dec. 28. (AP)—The new model autos so far previewed confirm earlier guesses that there would be no more drastic design changes.

Some of the previews have been on the record; several were private.

The most radical styling change so far is the re-designed Studebaker.

Chrysler says it spent $23,000,000 to bring out its new models. K. T. Keller, Chrysler president, described them as new "both coming and going."

Buick announced retails today of its new 1950 models. The cars are wholly new but they retain all the Buick features. They have more powerful engines, new and roomier bodies and sweeping fender lines the length of the body.

No $1,000 Car

In about every make of 1950 car the motorist will get improved interior refinement, an improved engine and more automatic transmissions.

One of the safetst bets for the year ahead would seem to be that he will not get a standard size $1,000 car from any car maker. Every auto maker would like to build an attractive vehicle to sell at that price. All know, however, that it would lack many of the refinements today's average motorist demands.

Prayer Fails

broke the news to her gently yesterday soon after she was admitted to Baptist hospital. He told her she might die if the hand is not removed.

"She wasn't a child when she heard that," he said. "She was a grown-up woman."

Later Betty laughed and chatted in her room. The parents wept.

Betty's doctor announced the decision last night to the Memphis Commercial Appeal, which coyprighted the story.

It was to the newspaper that the pretty fifth grader wrote for prayer when she learned Nov. 30 her hand might be amputated just after Christmas. News services spread the story over the country.

The response was immediate. Churches held special prayers for her. She got thousands of letters and gifts. But she remained simple and unaffected.

She agreed with statements of many ministers who said it might not be God's will that the hand be saved. "If it must go, she said "there's a purpose to it."

Some ministers found in the response to her plea signs that the nation might be ready for a religious revival.

The child's scrawled letter prompted an anonymous New Yorker, well known in a field outside religion, to have her sent to Boston Children's hospital last week. Physicians there agreed with the diagnosis.

Last night Betty read a letter from her benefactor.

He told her millions of people were deriving strength from her faith. He said he had been lonely and discouraged until he read of her plight. Then his faith increased.

"There are several million people watching you," he said.

"They need your help and your faith in your God, and when they see and hear how your strength carries you through your experience, it will give them strength to shoulder theirs."

Congress

itary outlays will be cut $2,000,000,000 in the next year and that a $1,000,000,000 cut can be made in Marshall plan economic aid to western Europe.

Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the Republican floor leader, called for a $1,500,000,000 slash in Marshall plan spending.

"From my travels across the country since the first session of the 81st Congress adjourned I gathered that the people want the cost of government cut drastiealy," he said in a statement.

He took a shot at reports—now discounted—that President Truman would ask for an increase in taxes.

Issue Gains Support

"Instead of talking about increasing taxes, to give the spendthrift socialists more money to squander, Congress should bring the budget into balance by cutting expenditures to fit the cloth of revenue," he declared.

Rep. Taber (R-NY) joined in with a statement that the administration's financial policies indicate that the President cannot "distinguish between the treasury of the federal government and the treasury of the Democratic party."

"A Republican-controlled Congress," he said, "could have cut six billions of velvet out of last year's budget, gotten rid of thousands of leeches on the federal payroll and avoided any need for additional taxes."

Senators Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) and Watkins (R-Utah), just back from tours of their home states, confirmed Wherry's view that red ink spending is a prime issue.

Both told a reporter they found more interest in their states in budget balancing proposals than in any other single issue.

Similarly, Senator Hunt (D-Wyo) said the people in his state seem to want government outlays reduced. He added that he will oppose any increase in taxes.

Russians Release American; IT&T Official Is Still Held

(By The Associated Press)

VIENNA, Dec. 28 — Israel G. Jacobson, American Jewish relief official expelled from Hungary on spy charges, was released by Soviet troops today and returned to the American sector of Vienna.

Jacobson has arrived at the Bristol hotel, which is used by the American army here. He had been held by the Russians at the Austro-Hungarian border after his expulsion by Hungary.

Brig. Gen. James Fry, deputy U.S. high commissioner, was assigned to make arrangements for Jacobson's release, probably dealing with his Russian counterpart, Col. Gen. Alexei Zheltov They were to select a site somewhere in the Russian occupation zone where the release would take place.

Jacobson was taken into custody by Soviet border guards last night shortly after he was freed from a Hungarian jail and expelled from the country yesterday. He had been held for 12 days. When he reached the border, a Soviet patrol told him his papers were not in order. U. S. officials in Vienna promptly asked the Russians to release Jacobson to American custody.

Lacked Travel Permit

Russian troops held Jacobson as he crossed from Hungary into their occupation zone at the Austrian frontier town of Nickelsdorf.

Informants in Hungary said Jacogson lacked the necessary travel permit for going through the Russian zone.

The 37-year-old Jacobson, director in Hungary of the American joint distribution committee, had been held incommunicado in a Hungarian jail since Dec. 15 on what Hungarian officials then called "suspicion of espionage against the Hungarian state." He was released without previous announcement late yesterday and escorted to the border.

A communique from the Hungarian minister of interior said Jacobson had been expelled because he "committed deeds violating the interests of the state and abusing the rights of foreigners here."

Two Others Jailed

Officials in Vienna first learned that Russian troops were holding Jacobson when Austrian border police said he was being held incommunicado there and his car was parked inside the Austrian border just four miles from Vienna.

The release of Jacobson by the Hungarians offered little hope that they would set free another American and a Briton they are holding on charges of espionage.

The other American, Robert A. Vogeler, a vice president of the International Telephone and Telegraph company, has been held in jail since Nov. 18.

Vogeler was arrested Nov. 18 with his British co-worker Edgar Sanders. The government has said the two have confessed to "espionage and sabotage."

Exchange Club Gives To "March Of Dimes"

Members of the Exchange club today contributed $123.68 to the March of Dimes fund by giving ties received as Christmas presents to be auctioned off by Dr. Jim Reynolds.

Dr. Reynolds paid the highest price for a tie with a bid of $6.30 at the luncheon meeting in Hotel Lubbock.

M. B. Hilburn, jr., president of the club, told members they would not be allowed to leave without a tie.

Glenn Lawson bought the most ties, three, and then gave them back to Reynolds to be sold again.

The club is sponsoring the March of Dimes campaign in Lubbock this year.

Choosing Husband No Snap When Woman Has Hundreds Of Proposals For Choice

BRISTOW, Okla., Dec. 28 (U.P.)—Choosing a husband is no easy task when you have hundreds of proposals.

That's the opinion of pretty 25-year-old Betty Tyler, Bristow, who announced before Christmas she wanted a husband for herself and a father for her two-year-old son.

Every day her job becomes increasingly difficult. Yesterday she received 56 letters and five telephone calls from would-be husbands.

But she said she's about ready to decide. "I'll make up my mind definitely by New Year's Eve," she said. "There's so many to choose from that I won't be able to decide any sooner."

She said some of the letters require no deliberation. One proposal came from a 76-year-old Okmulgee county "farm owner."

However, she read further and found the "farm" was a two-room house on one acre of land and he "just owed $400 on the whole thing."

VA Says Families Of Vets In Mental Hospitals Avoid Duty

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28. (AP)—Some veterans now in mental hospitals could step back into normal life if their relatives and friends would help them, the Veterans administration believes.

But the nation's "forgotten men" are shunned by those who knew them before their illness; one-third of the more than 52,000 mental patients in veterans hospitals have not had a visitor in over a year, a VA survey shows.

Tragic Neglect

One man, a World War I veteran, has not been visited in 12 years; another, in numb despair, made up a "family" from hospital attendants when his own wife and children ignored him.

Telling this story of tragic neglect in a statement yesterday, the VA explained that families "just drift away" or want nothing to do with "crazy" men.

It told of "Mr. X," 58, who entered a VA hospital in 1944, and since than has been ignored by his wife and several children.

"They have neither written to him nor visited him," said the VA.

Feels Unwanted

"Sensitive about this disinterest, Mr. X has 'adopted' a family. It consists of the ward physician, whom he fondly calls 'dad' or 'Uncle George' and the social worker handling his case who is either 'baby' or 'baby dear.'

"If Mr. X doesn't see one member of his 'family' every day, he becomes depressed and reveals his feeling of being unwanted."

The statement said "there are men in VA hospitals who are mentally and physically capable of returning to normal life and in some cases earning a living if they could return to their homes and families."

ANXIETY OVER WAITING TOO MUCH

Miss America Of 1949 Weds Her High School Sweetheart

LITCHFIELD PARK, Ariz., Dec. 28 (AP)—A high school romance has blossomed into marriage for Miss America of 1949.

Jacque Mercer, the national beauty queen, exchanged vows with Douglas Cook at the non-denominational Community church here yesterday afternoon.

They have gone steady for the past five years.

The marriage was a surprise affair. Only last Friday the couple had announced their engagement and set the date at the altar for next July 4.

The new Mrs. Cook is a resident of Litchfield Park. She will be 19 next month. Cook, 20, lives in Phoenix, but has been studying art at the University of Chicago.

Status Questioned

They left on a two or three day honeymoon last night, traveling in the 1949 car given Jacque as part of her gifts for winning the Miss America title. Their destination was not disclosed.

The marriage immediately touched off a discussion whether Miss Mercer would be able to retain her title. At the time of the engagement, her mother, Mrs. Arthur Mercer, reported she had been informed by Miss America pageant officials it would make no difference.

However, at Atlantic City, Park W. Haverstick, president of the Miss America board of directors, said Miss Mercer's status would have to be determined at a special directors meeting to be called in a few days.

"We no longer have a Miss America," he said, claiming there was no precedent to follow in the case of marriage. "What action the board will take will depend on whether Miss Mercer will be able to fill her engagements between now and September."

Intends To Finish Year

Jacque, however, said it was her intention to go on "being Miss America until my year is up." Other than that she would make no comment.

It has been estimated that the holder of the Miss America title makes in the vicinity of $50,000 for personal appearances, endorsements of goods, etc., over the course of a year.

The simple wedding ceremony, a Presbyterian service, was conducted without music and prior decoration of the church. The couple had obtained their license in the Maricopa county courthouse less than two hours before.

Only the members of the two families and a few personal friends were present.

The Rev. James B. Ostergren, pastor of the church, led Jacque and Doug, who had first met at North Phoenix high school, through their vows without a falter.

Change Explained

Arthur Mercer, Arizona rancher and father of the bride, gave Jacque in marriage. He escorted her up the aisle. She wore a black velvet suit with black velvet accessories.

Doug, wearing a grey flannel suit and bow tie, met her at the altar. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Cook, watched him place the ring on her finger and promise to cherish his bride unto death.

H. Jerry Lewkowitz, a high school friend of the couple, was best man. Miss LaDean Hadaway, friend of the Mercer family, was maid of honor.

Jacque said that anxiety over not seeing Doug during the past five months and the prospect of their lives being even more disrupted in the future led to the change in plans.

"We decided it was just too long to be separated to wait until July 4," she said.

"When I won the Miss America contest it was the first time we had been separated in five years. We both suffered too much."

For something old, Jacque carried a wedding band, belonging to her maternal grandmother. Something blue was a handkerchief; something borrowed, a ring from the maid of honor. A white satin hat that tied under the chin was something new.

A penny in her shoe was added for good luck.

The couple said their plans for the future are uncertain. They plan to reside temporarily in Phoenix after the honeymoon. Doug is uncertain whether he will return to school in Chicago.

New Equipment Added By Texas Tech Dairy

More than $6,000 of new equipment is being added in the milk manufacturing plant at Texas Technological college during the holidays, department officials said Tuesday.

Included is a new homogenizing machine which will allow the college plant to manufacture homogenized milk for the first time. A new clarifier and vat are also included among the new equipment.

Installation of the machinery brings to almost $35,000 the amount spent within the past two years in an effort to make the plant among the most modern in the Southwest. An additional outlay of approximately $4,000 will be spent for other equipment during the winter months, Dr. J. J. Willingham, aehd of the dairy manufactures department, announced.

HOUSTON, Dec. 28 (AP)—Last rites were to be held today for Bibb D. Haltom, 52, veteran Texas oilman who died Monday after a year's illness.

MISS AMERICA IS WED—Jacque Mercer, Miss America of 1949, and Douglas Cook, shown above, were married Tuesday. Cook and Miss Mercer were school mates in Phoenix. He is now a student at University of Chicago.

New York Policeman Who Never Carried A Gun Retires With Top Record Of Bravery

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (U.P.)—The dream which comes to all policemen has come true for John Cordes, a slight-of-build detective who rose to fame behind a hard pair of fists and a quick, sharp mind.

John Cordes never carried a gun. Once he was shot by mistake by another police officer; he feared that some day he, too, might shoot a colleague in confusion.

Now, after 34 years of service on the New York City police force, Cordes, 59 and gray haired, is retiring Jan. 1.

Fellow officers agree that Cordes made it the hard way.

In his years as detective Cordes twice won the coveted medal of honor, the police department's highest award. He also received a score of commendations from his superiors for outstanding bravery and inteligent police work.

Through Crime Era

Cordes' career as a detective began just before World War I and carried him through eras of some of the worst crimes New York has ever experienced. Bootleggers, racketeers and "mad dogs" seemed to be part of the every day news.

Gangsters invaded night clubs and showed their "artillery" almost in sight. And in one way or another Cordes was "always around."

He never looked like a cop. In a business where barlines is important, Cordes was comparatively little. And he bore none of the sartorial characteristics of cops in those days. That was how he came to be chosen for plain-clothesman duty while still in police school.

It was an asset which enabled him to move in on gangsters and loiterers without giving them a telltale advantage. Slight of build, sandy haired and nattily dressed, he looked the part of an enthusiastic salesman. Certainly, never a cop.

But Cordes was no dude. He beat the daylights out of racket men; others never chose to fight—they simply went along peacefully. Others ducked him on sight.

Part Of Team

For years Cordes was teamed with John Broderick, another detective now retired, who also had a great reputation as a fighter. Cordes, however, often chose a more diplomatic way of getting his man. Whatever the difference, the pair were known as Cordes the Brain and Broderick the Brawn.

Cordes had never planned to join the police force. As a 'teen age youth, he served as a hustler for a civil service school. He got $25 a week and $5 for every candidate he enrolled. One of the candidates bet $100 that he couldn't take a police exam and pass it. Not only did Cordes win the bet, but he led his class.

In his latter years, Cordes headed the Manhattan river front squad, a non-publicized agency whose job it is to hold down crime along the miles of the city's piers. On a beat where "toughs" 'abound by the dozen, Cordese never wore a gun.

He always figured to "outsmart" his man. He usually did.

Old Nazi Swastikas Are Reappearing On German Buildings

HAMBURG, Dec. 28. (U.P.)—A pale swastika, once the sign boosting Hitler's "reich for a thousand years," is making a comeback in Germany.

It appears on walls, on tops of buildings, in telephone booths and even on some customs seals. Nobody knows why nothing is done about it.

The swastika signs and Nazi slogans were washed off and removed from the walls when the war ended, but their space remained and left the same mark, even if it is more feeble now.

In Celle, in the British zone, a swastika became visible on the weathervane of a building. A city alderman explained that after the war it was patched up with a piece of sheet metal. Wind and weather have done their work since and the swastika is visible again. He promised that this time they'll do a good job.

On Customs Seal

Or there is the case of a British officer, who discovered that the German customs seal on his luggage bore the once familiar mark, the eagle holding the Nazi sign. Customs officials claimed they have no funds to buy new seals.

A farmer on the Baltic island of Fehmarn has a swastika on his barn. In 1945 he removed it, only to have the same sign there, clearly distinct from the original color of the barn.

At the Hamburg railway station one can see in bright sunlight a last-minute slogan of the Nazi defeat, "holding out with Hitler." The sign did hold out.

Easy To Distinguish

There's a thin coat of paint in telephone booths over the swastikas but that barely covers them and anybody can see what they are.

This is the situation all over Germany and while German authorities pledged themselves to prevent any reappearance of Nazism, the signs and slogans still are there.

In Frankfurt, center of the U. S. occupaiton zone, the situation is similar. In the so-called "compound," when United States and allied residents are housed, there are big white letters on the walls bearing such slogans as "people to arms" and "rather death than slavery."

Politicians Find Votes Are Costly

BOSTON, Dec. 28. (U.P.)—Candidates in Boston's latest mayoralty election spent roughly $1.50 per voter. It cost the three major candidates a total of $425,695 to bring out approximately 300,000 voters.

Mayor-elect John B. Hynes spent $138,797 in his campaign for the office, which pays $20,000 yearly. The incumbent, Mayor James M. Curley, topped the expenditure list with $186,160—and he lost.

Hearing Aid Fails; Court Is Delayed

KENOSHA, Wis., Dec. 28. (U.P.)—A conked-out hearing aid delayed proceedings in county court here.

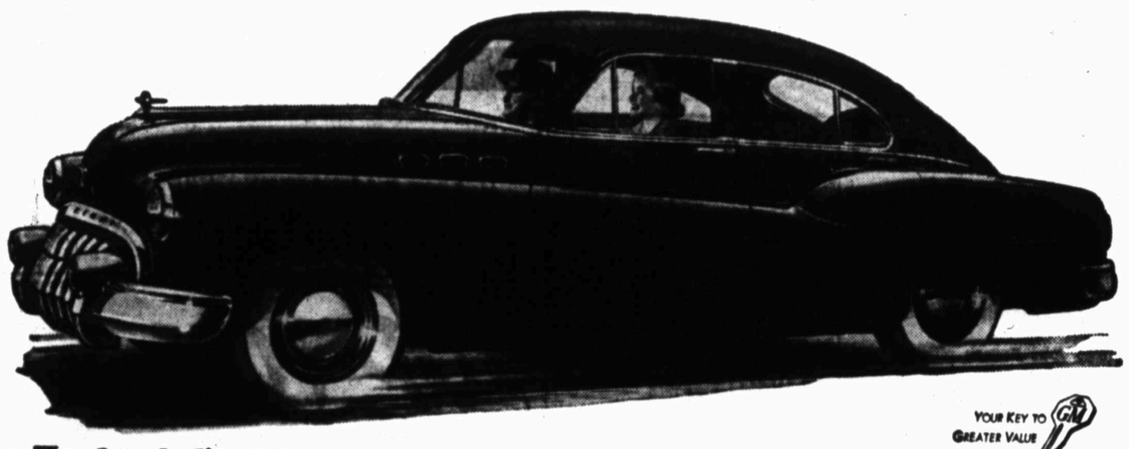

The bailiff shouted his "hear ye, hear ye," as the court opened and one of the lawyers shook his head, indicating he wasn't hearing him at all.

A motorcycle policeman rode out to get a new battery for the lawyer's hearing aid while the court was recessed for 10 minutes.

Hard to believe but—

This Buick costs less than Butter!

MAYBE you never thought of it that way, since you don't buy butter in 3600-pound lots.

But pound for pound, this prideful Buick SPECIAL sells today for less than store-bought butter!

Actually, it costs less per pound than some of the cars in the so-called "lowest price" bracket—less than any other straight-eight on the market.

Now that's a pretty important yardstick.

Because cost-per-pound is a pretty stable measure of a car's merit. It takes skilful engineering, careful buying, efficient manufacturing to keep this figure around the half-dollar mark—and that's where it is on the 1950 SPECIAL 4-door Sedan.

The real point, of course, is that this is a Buick at that figure.

Buick styling. Buick valve-in-head straight-eight power. Buick steadiness and roadability. The gentle cushioning power of Buick 4-wheel coil springing.

Buick room, finish, standing—with a special plus these days in greater maneuverability to help you slip into tight parking spaces and home-size garages. Buick's unmistakable appearance, through gracefully tapering fenders and that new "Buick first," that sturdy, shock-absorbing, triple-purpose bumper-guard grille.

All this at price tags that "sound like a six" and a cost-per-pound right down with the very lowest!

So—if you can afford butter, why not a Buick? Talk to your dealer about it—delivered prices, trade-ins, delivery dates, all the rest—and make your next car a Buick.

CIVIL RIGHTS SHOWDOWN LIKELY

Demo Decision To Raise FEPC Issue Attacked By GOP Leader

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28 (AP)—A hot battle shaped up between two northern senators today over which civil rights bill Congress should consider first at its new session in January. A Dixie lawmaker offered this solution:

Don't consider any.

Republican Floor Leader Wherry of Nebraska sharply disputed the decision of Democratic Leader Lucas of Illinois to bring a fair employment practices bill before the Senate first for a civil rights showdown.

Test Either Way

Wherry told a news conference yesterday that an anti-lynching bill should be called up immediately after Congress reconvenes Tuesday. The people, he said, "are entitled to a showdown on this issue."

Lucas has administration backing for his belief that the showdown should come on a bill to ban job discrimination because of race, creed or color.

Senator Sparkman (D-Ala) told a reporter that no matter what civil rights bill is brought before the Senate, there will be "ruffled tempers" which will "endanger useful legislation."

Either the FEPC or anti-lynching measure is sure to produce a southern filibuster—and probably a test of the debate-gagging rule which Wherry sponsored and the Senate approved last spring.

Two Thirds Required

Under the rule, debate can be cut off only if two-thirds of the Senate membership, 64 senators, so order it.

Lucas, who opposed the rule, doesn't think it will be effective against filibusters—the traditional southern weapon against civil rights legislation—and wants the test to come on the FEPC bill to prove it.

Wherry thinks the rule will work, but wants the test on the anti-lynch bill which, while opposed by Dixie lawmakers, is not quite as hot an issue as FEPC.

"All the administration and its lieutenants in Congress have done on civil rights legislation is just to talk about it, promise, promise and promise," Wherry told the news conference.

"The Republican party consistently through the years has battled for equal rights legislation and our party is not divided on this matter as is the Democratic party.

He predicted that the Republicans would out-vote the Democrats for an anti-lynch bill.

Sparkman said he thinks the civil rights program is losing its "vote getting powers" because negroes are getting tired of both parties using it as a "political football."

"The negroes are realizing more and more that what they want most is better economic and living conditions such as they would be able to get under federal aid to education, better medical facilities, better housing, the school lunch program, the farm tenant purchase program and legislation of that type," Sparkman contended.

"They realize that both parties have been playing with civil rights in the past because of its so-called appeal. But they like less and less its being made a political football."

Duck Sadder But Wiser After Nap

LARAMIE, Wyo., Dec. 28 (INS)—George the duck was sadder and wiser today.

George, the pet of Claude Brown of west Laramie, ate a good meal of corn yesterday, then settled down in a pan of water to take a little nap.

When George woke up, Wyoming's weather had played a trick on him. He was frozen to the pan. His loud squawks of dismay brought his owner running.

Brown used an ice pick and warm water to free George, who apparently was none the worse for his experience, except that he had lost a few feathers.

Males With Brains, Few In Hollywood, Film Actress Says

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 28. (AP)—Intelligent men are sadly lacking in Hollywood, says startling Shelley Winters.

Miss Winters, who is not as dull-witted as you might gather from the floozies she plays on the screen, goes even further. She names the five most intelligent men she has met in Hollywood:

1. George Stevens, who directed her in "A Place In The Sun." "His intelligent approach to his work brings better work from actors than they knew they were capable of."

2. Farley Granger, her fairly steady date. "He has extreme integrity for his job as a movie actor and studies hard at it."

3. Marlon Brando, a recent date. "He knows three or four languages and constantly seeks new knowledge—making himself a better actor."

4. Charlie Chaplin. "Despite what his critics may say, he remains a great humanitarian, a courageous man and a superb artist."

5. Charles Laughton. "He unselfishly imparts all his vast knowledge of the art of acting to the new generation—not only to those with talent, but to anyone who seeks his learning."

"Of course," she added quickly, "these are just my selections out of the men I have met here. I haven't met them all—yet. But I'm working on that."

A giant white mushroom weighing 3 pounds 5 ounces was picked in the country near Moscow, Russia, its stalk being six inches high.

Abundant Selection Of Goods Easing Situation This Year

Americans Beginning Annual Pilgrimage To Department Stores To Trade Unwanted Gifts

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28—This is national exchange week.

It's the week when you take back the hobby horse that went swayback and spilled junior and the dolly that wouldn't say "mama" or go to sleep like it was supposed to.

Oddly enough, the lines in front of the exchange counters in Washington were not as long as usual. On the first day after the stores reopened, anyway.

Storekeepers had the answer.

Advertised Sales

They advertised post-Christmas bargain sales where you could get "misses better suits valued at $49.95 to $55 for $28;" "$448 to $498 north black muskrat coats, federal tax included for $269;" "boys' hooded mackinaws valued from $7.95 to $8.95 for $5.99;" "$1.00 ties for 59 cents."

That sort of thing, they say, took minds off the carrying-back business.

In addition to the clearance sales, the department store managers claimed that the exchange situation has eased considerably anyway since the war years.

Supplies Were Slim

During those years, people trooped back because somebody sent a pair of 9½ sox that didn't look good on a size 11 foot. Purple pajamas that irritated a blonde. Simply because supplies were slim.

A spokesman for Julius Garfinckel & Co., said the bulk of exchanges these days is for size "and we rarely have to give back any money."

A clerk at one counter was startled in the J. G. & Co., store yesterday when a portly gent in an ascot tie and spats wobbled in lugging a neatly wrapped package that obviously had not been opened at all. He tried to exchange it at the lingerie counter. He said he wanted to trade it in "because the color isn't right." But he didn't know what color it was, or what was in the package.

The clerk, with justification, argued politely. The man finally picked up his bundle and left in a huff.

Hecht & Co., another department store, has big signs all over the place saying: "Gifts cheerfully exchanged." The clerks try to be cheerful.

"A lot of exchanges are from men who get a $1 tie from Aunt Mabel," a Hecht representative said. "It's so loud it talks back to him, so he comes in wearing a grump and wants to exchange it. What happens? He adds three or four dollars and gets himself a decent tie. It's good business."

Solons Trade Gifts

Most of the stores paged said they had senators and congressmen coming back to trade in gifts. One senator who would just as soon his name didn't come out, said he didn't have much use for a fur-lined hunting coat.

F. A. O. Schwarz, one of the biggest dealers of toys in town, reported a normal line of come-backs.

Most of them were in cases where Granny and Uncle Remus gave the same kid the same toy. Or where some relative, who couldn't realize little Marion "had grown so," sent a puzzle for a five, instead of a 10-year-old.

Have Some Chiselers

"Of course," said the Schwarz manager, "we have the usual number of chiselers. The folks who come in and claim that the spring was busted when packed on the waddling duck—when we know all along that the kid over-did things on the first wind."

A lot of folks came back to the store carrying dolls with the stuffings leaking out—swearing that they were delivered that way.

"What can we do?" asked the manager.

Me. I am not exchanging my gift pair of bedroom slippers that light up in the middle of the night, via phosphorous. You even get a left and right on the shoes.

Hawaii Greets Clark Gable And New Wife

HONOLULU, Dec. 28 (AP)—The Clark Gables came to romantic Hawaii on their honeymoon yesterday and the screen lover wowed some 10,000 well-wishers.

Teen-age girls, graying grandmothers and housewives—plus a sprinkling of men—jammed the pier as the actor and his bride arrived on the luxury liner Lurline from San Francisco.

It was an old-fashioned Hawaiian welcome, complete with leis and aloha music.

Women crowding the pier balcony, smiled, sighed and gasped as Gable stood at the ship's rail throwing leis and kisses. Some in the crow flew in from neighboring islands for a glimpse of the actor.

"He's even handsomer than he was 10 years ago," said one elderly woman.

Said the bride, the former Sylvia Ashley Fairbanks:

"Being Mrs. Gable is the job I'll be happy at the rest of my life."

Guatemala is stepping up its cement production but still can't get enough.

Poles Refuse French Demand On Prisoners

WARSAW, Poland, Dec. 28 (AP)—Poland has refused French demands that four French citizens convicted last week of spying be released immediately and sent back to France.

The four French citizens were sentenced to from 11 to 14 years last Friday in Wroclaw. They were said to have admitted either total or partial guilt in plots with officials of the French embassy and consulate to spy and commit sabotage.

In the same trial a Pole received a 22 year-sentence and a German mining engineer was jailed for six years for allegedly having helped the French intelligence service.

France's Ambassador Jean Balen made the demand for release of the French citizens—one of them a woman—yesterday to secretary general of the foreign ministry Stefan Wierblowski.

The Polish radio said Wierblowski replied that "these unheard of demands were an attempt to interfere with Polish affairs."

Child Protection Rules Emphasized

SEATTLE, Wash., Dec. 28 (U.P.)—The American Legion child welfare conference recommended a set of rules for parents to aid in prevention of sex crimes.

1. Know your child's whereabouts and associates.
2. Enforce your own curfews.
3. Report suspicious actions to your police department promptly and frankly.
4. Train your child to go straight home from school.
5. Train your child not to accept automobile rides or favors from strangers.

WAITS RITES TODAY

Men Who Made Greatest Impact On Half Century Chosen

Roosevelt, Loved Or Hated By Millions, Ranks In Top Place

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (UP)—Franklin D. Roosevelt made the greatest impact on the first half of this century in the opinion of American newspaper and radio editors.

They voted in a United Press poll to choose the ten personalities whose careers affected the most persons and to the greatest extent.

Adolf Hitler ran a close second. One of the conditions of the poll was that the impact made by these persons could be for either good or evil. Hitler was followed by Thomas Edison, Winston Churchill, Henry Ford, Nicolai Lenin, the Wright brothers, Albert Einstein, Joseph Stalin, and Louis Pasteur.

Pasetur was the only one of the ten who did not live in this century. He died in 1895, but the editors felt that his work on the conquest of disease justified his inclusion in this list.

Women In Running

Women received many votes, but none got enough to make the first ten. There was heavy voting for Lise Meitner, the expert on nuclear fission; for Mary Baker Eddy, the founder of Christian science and for Mme. Curie for her work on radium.

Mr. Roosevelt won first place over Hitler by only five points. The votes were tabulated by allotting ten points to first place, nine to second and so on down to one point for tenth place. Here are the first ten with the number of points they received:

Roosevelt	882
Hitler	876
Edison	686
Churchill	617
Ford	572
Lenin	530
The Wright Brothers	525
Einstein	511
Stalin	417
Pasteur	396

The editors we asked to state reasons for their choices. The following summarizes the reasons most frequently given:

Franklin D. Roosevelt—because he came to political power at the depths of a world depression and in a single speech ("we have nothing to fear but fear itself") lifted the hopes of the United States and the world; because his new deal made such radical changes in the economic life of America that it affected millionaire and laborer alike; because he probably was the worst hatred and best loved American president since Lincoln; because he held the world's most most powerful elective office longer than any other man; because he was among the first of the world's statesmen to recognize the menace of Nazism and because he threw the support of this country to the besieged democracies even before Pearl Harbor; and finally because he led the nation to victory in the world's worst war.

Hitler Deluded Germans

Adolf Hitler—because he helped evolve and sponsor a vicious theory of race supremacy which resulted in the slaughter of millions of human beings; because he deluded most of the German people into believing they could conquer the world; because he built one of the most powerful military machines of all time and stood briefly on the brink of world conquest; because he provided the spark that started the conflagration of World War II; and finally because he sent the western world into its worst nightmare since the barbarians came out of Asia.

Thomas A. Edison—because he was the genius of applied science—the technique of making theories useful; because he invented the bulb that lights the world; because his work contributed to the development of the telephone and almost all other means of communication; and finally because besides his best known inventions he was desponsible for more than 1,000 other developments which affect the lives of all peoples every day.

An Architect Of Victory

Winston Churchill—because for years before Munich he sounded the alarm against Nazism and was a prophet without honor in his own country; because he was one of the architects of victory in World War II; because he stands among the great writers and orators of this century; because even after he was voted out of office after the war he returned to parliament and continued to work to the things in which he believes; and finally because he kept alive Britain's bulldog spirit when he stood alone after the fall of France and rallied his nation in its darkest—and finest—hour.

Henry Ford—because indirectly he is responsible for the great network of paved roads that stretches across the United States; because he was an economic individualist and once startled the nation by announcing he would pay his workers $5 a day; because he set forth the theory that the way to make profits was to cut prices and sell to persons who otherwise could not afford an automobile; and finally because he developed the assembly line and mass production techniques that helped make the American stand-

Man Is Found Dead In Room

The body of Paul E. Bagley, 32-year-old Lubbock construction worker, was found by sheriff's officers about 7:30 p.m. Tuesday sprawled across the bed in a room he rented at 2206 Ave. J. A gas heater was burning in the tightly-closed room.

Dr. L. B. Woods, city physician, listed the cause of death as asphyxiation. Bagley had been dead "several days," he said.

J. A. Dagley, owner of the house, asked officers to investitagte the room after he and other tenants had become convinced "something was wrong." Wanell Mize, another tenant of the Ave. J address, said she saw Bagley enter his room about noon Saturday. None in the house had seen him since that time.

Windows Tightly Closed

Deputy Sheriff's B. F. Forrester and John Barnett were dispatched to the scene and found the body, partially decomposed. Both said all windows in the room were tightly closed.

Justice of the Peace C. E. Lynn, who conducted the inquest ruled out any possibility of foul play. He was asristed in the investigation by District Attorney Lloyd Croslin and his assistant, A. W. Salyars.

Bagley had been employed by the Tidmore Construction company here. He came to Lubbock about a year ago, friends told newsmen.

His mother, Mrs. Corey Bagley of Brownfield, was to complete arrangements for services and burial this morning at Rix Funeral home.

Names Of Donors To Be Revealed In '50

BOSTON, Dec. 28 (U.P.) — Some time during 1950 the clock in Boston's historic Faneuil Hall will be opened and the names of the school children who donated their pennies to buy it a century ago will be read aloud.

The city records contain instructions for the carrying out of this ceremony. The instructions were written in 1850.

THE QUESTION

Do you think this country will avoid a depression in 1950?

THE ANSWER

DAN DANIEL, men's dorm III, Tech student from Tahoka: "I don't think there is going to be a depression. I think that we definitely have a buyers market now and that it will continue; the main reason for this being the national service life insurance refund."

BILL DODSON, 1915 Twenty-first, salesman for Myrick Appliance Co.: "Personally I'm not expecting a depression in 1950. I don't see anything now to indicate it. I think that if we do have another depression, it won't be for another three years."

PAUL RODDEN, 413 Ave. H, employe of Griffith Amusement Co.: "The way I look at it, we ought to be able to stop a depression by using what we have to the best advantage and not be wasteful. If people had taken better care of their money, it would have helped them a lot in 1950."

E. SIMMONS, 2427 Twenty-sixth, co-owner of Wylie Drug: "Yes, I believe that we can avoid a depression this year, by not over spending, getting some good crops from this part of the country, and spending our money in the way that we should. We should especially buy just the things that we need rather than so-called forced necessities."

DORSEY ROOKE, 2405 Thirty-first, sales manager for Myrick Appliance Co.: "I don't think that there will be a depression in 1950. I don't see anything to indicate it at the present time. I don't think that there will ever be one to compare with the one that we had before."

DICK MAYNE, 2605 Edna, employe of Santa Fe Railway: "No, I don't think that we are in any danger of a depression now. Basing what I say upon what I hear on the radio and read in the newspapers, I think it is far from being here. Papers and radios say that the coming year is going to be exceptionally good with plenty of merchandise and jobs for everyone."

RAW MILK BANNED

DALLAS, Dec. 28 (AP)—The sale of raw milk in Dallas has been prohibited by the city council. An ordinance passed yesterday allows a year for dairies selling raw milk to get out of business and bans any new raw milk dairies from entering the Dallas market.

SUSPECT IS HELD

DALLAS, Dec. 28 (AP)—K. T. Chisholm, charged with the robbery of a liquor store here several weeks ago, will be returned from San Antonio, Detective Captain Will Fritz said. The man was arrested in San Antonio several days ago.

Happy Lovers On Honeymoon

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 28. (U.P.)—Two happy lovers, whose romance was revived by a faded Christmas card, started out today on a honey moon postponed by fate for nearly half a century.

Ben. F. Corley, 64, and his bride, the former Mrs. Ethel Thompson, 63, headed for a hideaway in Long Beach, Calif., after saying their 'I do's" in a quiet little ceremony here last night.

Was Meant To Be"

"'It seems like is was meant to be," Corley beamed after the ceremony in the home of one of his five sons by his first marriage.

Mrs. Corley blushingly nodded in agreement.

They were thinking of the Christmas card, found by the bride last September, which led to the revival of their romance.

Corley started courting Miss Ethel Benefiel in Gentry, Ark., in 1903.

Then she moved to Kansas City.

For several years, they wrote love letters to each other. But the letters grew farther and farther apart, the words of endearment became fewer and fewer, and their romance faded.

Married, Raised Families

Eventually, Miss Benefiel married and raised a family. So did Corley.

Five years ago, Corley's wife died. A year later, Mrs. Thompson's husband passed away.

Mrs. Thompson, who had moved to Long Beach, found the old Christmas card among her souvenirs last September. It brought back memories.

She wondered what had happened to her old sweetheart during two World Wars and the depression.

Putting her question into writing, she mailed a letter to Corley in care of general delivery, Gentry, Ark.

Corley had moved away from Gentry in 1906, but a sister who still lives there received the letter. She forwarded it to Corley, who now operates a restaurant in St. Joseph, Mo.

He Popped Question

The former sweethearts picked up their correspondence. In October, Mrs. Thompson came to Kansas City to visit Gentry, and he popped the question.

Mrs. Thompson flew here from California yesterday for the wedding.

The Rev. Charles E. Andrus, a Presbyterian minister, said "I now pronounce you man and wife" as Corley nervously slipped a ring on Mrs. Thompson's finger.

Four of Corley's sons crowded around to congratulate the couple, and one of them asked:

"Where is that Christmas card,

One of the spiciest movies to hit Lubbock in a long time is Adam's Rib, which closes tomorrow at the Lindsey. The film portrays Katherine Hepburn as the lawyer wife of an up-and-coming middle-aged assistant district attorney (Spencer Tracy) who tries to prove to her husband women are just as good as men (a foolish assumption). Tracy merely proves that mankind would have been benefitted far more had the original Adam barbecued that rib . . . Ha!

But the next day, he returned the clock to the store again. "It just won't work," "Mac" told the store manager. The store manager politely took the clock and wound it—something the policeman had forgotten to do.

TAX INCREASE IS HOT ISSUE

Fate Of French Government Hangs On Vote Of Confidence

PARIS, Dec. 28 (AP)—The fate of France's government hung today on a vote of confidence by the national assembly on Premier Georges Bidault's tax increase program to meet a record-breaking budget for 1950.

Bidault climaxed an all-night session early this morning by asking for the second vote of confidence within a week.

Under a constitutional requirement for a "cooling-off period" the vote probably will not take place until early Friday.

If Bidault loses, there is little hope that his successor would be able to gain the confidence of the assembly. This would mean that the cabinet can call national elections without approval by parliament, and deputies would then be faced with defending their seats at the polls.

Higher Taxes Insisted

If the premier wins the vote of confidence his bitterly contested budget of 2,257,000,000,000 francs ($6,440,000,000) will probably be pushed through with the 1,528,000,000 $435,000,000) tax boost which has been opposed by both rightwing and Communist groups.

The assembly has been debating the budget item by item since last Saturday when Bidault won by a slim margin his resolution to put the contested program on the agenda.

His coalition cabinet already has compromised with the opposition by lowering the budget, but he has stuck to his insistence that it must be balanced by higher taxes.

Parliament has passed most of the important expenditure items on the budget. But Bidault called for a show-down when the debate reached the issue of increasing the present production tax from 12.5 to 13.5 percent. This is expected to bring the government some 45,000,000,000 (billion) francs (about $128,000,000) in new income.

Minor Points Won

Even if the delegates do not approve the tax increase, Bidault can only be thrown out by an opposition majority of 311 votes.

Bidault has won several comfortable votes on minor points of the budget. But he was defeated, significantly, when the assembly refused yesterday even to discuss his compromise tax proposals on tires and diesel oil.

It was clear, however, that the premier intends to put up a fight for his coalition government, made up of his own popular Republic party (Catholic), Radical Socialists, Socialists and a few Independents.

A gloomy forecast was signified by the Socialists yesterday when they said that if Bidault loses his post as premier they would refuse to enter the cabinet of a Radical Socialist. A cloakroom campaign was in progress favoring replacement of Bidault by former premier Henri Queuille, a Radical Socialist, if Bidault falls.

From his seat in the crowded hall Bidault told delegates to the assembly that if they did not support his cabinet they "will have to support another."

"This budget is cruel," he said, adding, however, that "one which might replace it would be worse."

She said she'd paid all the expenses of their 19 days of married life and then the car disappeared.

Souvenirs Replacing Data For Lost White House Social File

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28. (U.P.)—A woman whose mother was a bridesmaid in a White House wedding in 1874 has closed a gap in White House files.

Because of a fire in the State Department some years ago, there are almost no records of past White House social functions. Mrs. Arthur Doig, formerly of St. Louis, Mo., now living in Washington, permitted the White House staff to copy some of her mother's souvenirs of several formal White House dinners.

Mrs. Edith Helm, White House social secretary, said one was significant because it shows the earliest recorded use of the President's seal on a formal dinner invitation.

Mrs. Doig's mother was Anna Barnes, daughter of the Army's surgeon general in the Grant administration. She was one of eight bridesmaids attending Nellie Grant at her marriage in 1874 to Algernon Sartoris, an Englishman.

Cards Elaborate

In connection with the wedding festivities Miss Barnes was invited to several dinners at the White House. She saved her invitations as well as her place cards.

Mrs. Helm observed that the place cards of 1874 were far more elaborate than those used in the White House now. Miss Barnes' card was four-by-five inches with an engraving of the White House over the guest's name. Now, Mrs. Helm said, the place cards carry the President's seal and the guest's name.

Mrs. Doig's souvenirs revealed that the White House dining hour has been pushed up considerably. The usual formal dinner there is billed for eight o'clock. Miss Barnes received one from the Grants for seven o'clock and one from President and Mrs. Rutherford B. Hayes for six o'clock.

Splendid Wedding

President and Mrs. Grant's invitation said they would be "pleased to have Miss Barnes dine socially with them" while President and Mrs. Hayes merely requested "the pleasure of Miss Barnes' company at dinner."

A newspaper account of the Grant wedding also saved by Mrs. Doig's mother, indicates that it may have been the most splendid of the few marriages ceremonies performed in the White House. It took place in the East Room, lavishly decorated with flowers, including two wreaths which formed the couple's initials.

Outside the White House the account said, the main gates were "thronged with people of all classes anxious to get a glimpse of the guests as they passed through the gates in dashy equipages."

The couple received presents valued at $75,000. The bride wore a "white satin dress of the richest material obtainable in the New York market" trimmed with lace made in Brussels at a cost of $5,000. President Grant gave his daughter two complete sets of lace, one in black and one in white.

Girls Taking Course In Home Mechanics

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 28 (AP) — To prepare future housewives for life in modern mechanized homes, Horace Mann Junior High School has begun a new course—home mechanics.

Twenty-six girls enrolled right off the bat. They started off with easy things, studying wiring systems, plumbing and carpentry. Then they tried such problems as what to do when the vacuum cleaner spreads an even layer of dirt instead of picking it up.

Before they finish the girls will be fitted to cope with automatic washers, ironers, ranges, toasters, garbage disposal units, dishwashers and electric refrigerators, blankets, toasters and curlers.

New York Governor Claimed Ready To Retire From Public Office Temporarily At Term End

NEW YORK, Dec. 28 (AP)——The New York Times today said it is likely that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey will retire temporarily from public life at the end of his present term as governor of New York.

Warren Moscow, political writer for the Times, said there are indications that Dewey will not be a candidate for governor in 1950 or for president in 1952, but may come back into the presidential race in 1956 or 1960.

Moscow said there were two "tangible developments" tending to confirm prediction.

One was an announcement from Princeton university that Dewey will deliver four lectures on the "American Political System" there in February and April.

The other was what the Times called "definite information" that Dewey would appoint his counsel, Charles D. Breitel, to the supreme court of the first judicial district.

The Times said these moves indicate that Dewey is seeking the role of party "elder statesman" where he can comment on public affairs without the responsibilities of office, and that he wants to take care of his close associates in public office before he steps down himself on Dec. 31, 1950.

THERE'S HOPE WHILE PEACE LASTS

1949 A Year Of Maneuvering Between Reds And The West

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—In reviews of 1949 great emphasis is put on this fact: another year gone and still peace in the world.

That's something, although no one really expected war this year. And, so long as there's peace, there's always this hope:

If, year after year, peace can be maintained, maybe, somehow, someway, things will straighten out and there'll be no war.

Nevertheless, 1949 was a year of maneuvering, of getting ready for that time when—or if—the showdown comes.

In world affairs the United States made some gains, suffered some losses.

U. S. Suffers Blow

As possessor of the atom bomb, the U. S. had a great psychological advantage over its potential foe, Russia, in the eyes of the world.

It had lost that advantage by Sept. 23, when President Truman announced there was evidence of an atomic explosion in Russia.

And the U. S., heading the drive to stop Communism, suffered another blow, psychological and actual, when the Communists took over China.

This means that Communists now control most of Asia and eastern Europe, with 731,000,000 of the world's 2,264,000,000 people now living under Communism.

There's no reason to believe that now, having gobbled up most of Asia, the Communists won't try to grab the rest. That try may be one of the most critical moves of 1950. If not in 1950, then later.

On the other hand the U. S. tied itself closer to western Europe by signing the Atlantic pact with its allies there and promising them plenty of arms to stand off a Russian attack.

Solid Front Broken

Both these moves, by solidifying the west at little more, strengthened it in its effort to halt Communism. It meant, really, a U. S. promise to go to war if Russia attacked western Europe.

And the Marshall plan for helping Europe economically was doing some good, for European production was rising although European trade was still not as high as it might be.

And the west gained when Marshall Tito of Yugoslavia broke with Stalin and the Russians. It was the first break in the hitherto solid front of Communism.

The west has promised to help Tito and one of its main hopes and policies for the future is to encourage other Titos in other Communist lands to throw off the Russian yoke.

When 1949 started Germany was still split into two sections: the eastern part run by the Russians, the western part by the United States, Britain and France.

German Problem Mess

The west was still sending in supplies to its sections of Berlin lies—had cut off all land supplies.

Finally the west and Russia made a deal, the blockade was lifted, and the airlift ended. But this didn't end the struggle for Germany between east and west.

Before the year's end the west had set up a German government in the west, and the Russians had set up another German government in the east. So the problem of Germany was still a total mess.

Yet, both sides want a united Germany—but for opposite reasons: the west wants a Germany that will lean toward the west, the Russians want it to lean to Russia. That's still unfinished business.

As for the United Nations: it's greatest problem, trying to set up atomic control on a world scale, came to nothing.

So the year ended with the cold war still the cold war and the west and east still jockeying for position just in case, when and if.

Dance At Hillsboro Held By Tech Exes

Students and alumni of Texas Tech held a Christmas dance at the Hillsboro Country club Tuesday night, according to a letter received by the Ex-Students' association here.

The dance was scheduled to last from 8:30 p. m. to 12:30 a. m. today, highlighted by a midnight breakfast. The Hillsboro chapter of the association sponsored the party.

Officers for 1950 were elected by that chapter earlier this month and include Jim Hill, as president, Fred Owens as vice-president, Harold Eastland as committee chairman, and Hazel Qualls as secretary.

Collector Of Rare Items Finds Hoard Has A High Value

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 28 (U.P.)—For more than half a century, 79-year-old Louis Philip Wulff has been collecting things, the items ranging from stamps to artifacts.

Now that he has started disposing of his possessions, he is surprised at their value.

Take, for example, the collection of Danish, American Indian and Alaskan artifacts he turned over to the University of Tennessee. Prof. T. M. N. Lewis, head of the university's department of anthropolgy, said they are worth "thousands of dollars" and date back to pre-historic times. One set of Danish arrowheads were chiseled sometime between 6800 and 5000 B. C.

Then there was the set of 60 rare books which Wulff, a native of Copenhagen, Denmark, turned over to the university. Among them was an almost priceless edition of Sir Walter Raleigh's "The Historie of the World," published in London in 1634.

Other objects in the Wulff collection have gone to public libraries and two colleges here, and he's looking through his belonging to see what he has of value.

Varied Collection

"I'm getting up in years," Wulff said. "After I die, my collections might become scattered. I'd rather have them go where they can do some good."

He has sailing ship models, relics, ancient and modern firearms, etchings and prints of vessels of all types, pictures, portfolios of rare autograph letters, old bottles and what have you.

There are two collections, however, with which Wulff doesn't intend to part. Those are his stamps and his watercolors.

He was host to the American Philatelic Society when it had its convention in Memphis in 1930 and has long been active in the stamp club of Memphis. He plans to exhibit his rare postage marks in St. Louis.

His collections include 5000 water colors which he made on visits to Denmark. He keeps all the watercolors on display at his home. It gives it the atmosphere of a fascinating museum.

Perfect Mark Posted By Police Patrolman

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 28. (U.P.)—During the last war, 23-year-old Elmer S. Dolan was assigned to the Medical Corps because he said he wasn't "interested in guns."

Now, as a probationary patrolman in the police training school here, Dolan fired 50 shots from a regular 38-caliber police revolver.

When he had finished, there were 50 bullseyes in the target 20 yards away—a perfect score and a new school record.

All In A Lifetime — Such Is Life

Expedition Planned To Find How Life In Cold, Arctic Regions Is Able To Survive

By PAUL DIX
United Press Staff Writer

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 28. (U.P.)—One of nature's unsolved riddles, how animal life survives the rigors of Arctic winters, may have an answer next year.

Th solution will be sought by an expedition now being organized at St. Louis University under the auspices of the office of naval research and the Air Force.

The first field trip will leave here in February, headed by Drs. Charles G. Wilbur, 33, and X. J. Musacchia, 26, members of the university's medical school staff. A second field trip to the Point Barrow, Alaska, region will be made next summer.

Students To Go

Some 30 biology students at the university are competing for the "privilege" of going along on the trips to share the climate, shelter and diet of Eskimos where temperatures range from 60 degrees below zero to 90 above.

Mussacchia said two of the students will go along on the first trip and several more will accompany the summer expedition to study biology's last frontier.

Wilbur, who says he "got interested in winter" in his native Milwaukee, Wis., pointed out that the geology, weather and geography of the Arctic has been studied. But nothing has been done to investigate animal life there since 1899.

Answers Sought

He said the field trips may be a forerunner of extensive colonization or perhaps military operations in the area. The inquiry, Wilbur said, will try to find out such things as how mosquitoes live through the long, frigid winter. Or how the ground squirrel can keep alive on dwarf willow roots. Or why a pair of native sealskin boots are better than any footgear made by civilized man.

Both Wilbur and Musacchia havt been at Point Barrow twice for biological studies and Wilbur once spent 18 months within the Arctic circle. Both came to St. Louis from Fordham University.

On their last trip to Point Barrow, which has a white population of 20, Wilbur and Musacchia lived on the Eskimo diet, caribou, seal, fish and ptarmigan. Without a single green vegetable or vitamin tablet, each gained between 10 and 15 pounds.

New Vitamin-Rich Potato Developed

SEATTLE, Wash., Dec. 28. (U.P.)—A new variety of potato, packed with vitamin C, has been developed in a federal government laboratory, Dr. Kenneth Beeson reported to the Washington State Farm chemurgic committee.

The new spud may be capable of doubling the United States' supply of the valuable vitamin which prevents scurvy. The potato was developed in the U. S. plant, soil and nutrition laboratory in Ithaca, N. Y. It has been adapted for growth in the northeastern states, but Dr. Beeson believes its vitamin C qualities can be implanted in potatoes of other areas.

That Girl on Broadway says the average person believes in living and letting live—with the priority in that order.

Research has proven that there hasn't been a new sin concocted in 5,000 years—despite the fact that a lot of people have done their best to wear the old ones out.

NOTE to Chief of Police Lewis Kittrell: We happened to be in the Union Bus terminal at 11 o'clock Monday night when three of your young officers made an arrest. You'll be pleased to know that they knew exactly what they were doing and how to do it. They placed themselves properly, in advance of the arrest, to protect others in case of trouble and although the terminal was crowded, they did their job in such a way that not over a half-dozen people knew an arrest had been made.

For your information, one of the young men was the policeman on that beat. The other two came up in a squad car upon call. All were neatly turned out, clean cut young men and deserve a pat on the back for the way they worked.

We see by the papers where three men stole a 400-pound safe from a store, loaded it on a truck, carried it 13 miles out into the country, blew it open—and got only $20.

It's getting so that it doesn't hardly pay to be dishonest!

That Man on Avenue Q says the reason all women's hats are different is because milliners avoid making the same mistake twice.

"The war isn't over for the British people," says a commentator. And you can say that, too, for the American taxpayer!

IF YOU are an average citizen, you know that taxes are high—in some instances, almost unbearably so.

You also know, from reading the papers, that so long as the present administration continues in Washington, it will try to push personal and corporate taxes even higher. It has said as much. In fact, Mr. Truman says that nearly every time he makes a public speech.

Therefore, as you contemplate your own high taxes—and the possibility that they'll become even higher in the future—you should know that many individuals, through organizations, are avoiding a just share of taxes and, by so doing, are making you pay more than your just share of the cost of government.

It is extremely doubtful if anyone in the United States can say just how many organizations are avoiding the payment of just taxes — and very legally, too.

But it is a good guess that the individuals involved who are gaining thereby run into the hundreds of thousands and the organizations into the many tens of thousands.

That sort of tax avoidance puts considerable of a dent in collections — and raises your taxes by a considerable margin.

REP. NOAH Mason, of Illinois, a member of the House Ways and Means committee, has been doing a little research in the matter of legalized income tax-ducking. He has a bill pending in Congress to plug up the loopholes, hence was forced to seek out facts and figures to support his bill.

According to Congressman Mason, "nearly $50,000,000,000 of competitive business volume — five times the U. S. Treasury's estate of $9,000,000,000—is escaping federal income tax."

He adds, approximately, "the fast growing racket of doing business without paying income taxes must be stopped by Congress next year, or the national economy will be destroyed."

What are these organizations escaping federal income tax under the law?

They are many, and varied.

They include, for instance, 10,000 or so co-operatives which, while in active competition with private business, do not pay income tax on a volume of business estimated at $15,000,000,000 per year.

They include various religious denominations and charitable institutions, also in competition with private business in the operation of such businesses as hospitals, book-

BY DREW PEARSON: AMERICAN LEGION'S FRIENDSHIP TRAIN OF TOYS BEGINS TO ROLL

Pan American Is Handicapped By Marshall Plan

WASHINGTON. — Toward the end of the war, President Roosevelt called in Juan Trippe, apple-cheeked president of Pan American World airways, and suggested that his airline start a chain of hotels around the world.

Shortage of dollars was sure to be one of the great economic curses of the world after the war, FDR warned, and one way to spread dollars aboard was through the tourist trade. However, good hotels were necessary for the tourists, which was why Roosevelt urged Pan American airways to go into the hotel business.

PEARSON

As a result, Pan Am is building a chain of modern hotels—or at least trying to build them—in various parts of the world. However, their biggest handicap, believe it or not, is the Marshall plan.

In Latin America, where the Marshall plan does not operate, the hotel program is going well. But in Turkey, a country blessed with a lot of Marshall plan money, the ECA has actually helped to stymie American enterprise.

What happened was that Pan American, after lengthy negotiations, worked out an agreement with the Turkish government to build and operate a hotel for Turkey. The hotel was to be financed with an Export-Import bank loan at 4 per cent.

Just about this time, however, an ECA expert came to Turkey from Paris and recommended that the hotel be built not by American businessmen but by the Swiss or Belgians. (The ECA expert once operated an American Express company office in Switzerland where he clashed with Pan American airways). Furthermore, he recommended that ECA money be advanced to the Swiss or Belgians to build the hotel.

Since ECA money would draw only 2 per cent interest, naturally it looked a lot better to the Turkish government than Export-Import bank money at 4 per cent. So now the deal is up in the air.

That is the way some ECA so-called experts are undercutting American business.

Friendship Train Of Toys

The American Legion's friendship train of toys to the kids of Europe is really beginning to roll. If the veterans aren't carefull, they'll get so many toys that Philadelphia's pier 38, from which the toys are to be shipped by CARE, will be swamped.

Not only the Legion but all sorts of people all over the country are remembering that, while food is better in Europe, toys are scarce, and that it's Europe's children of today who are either our friends or the soldiers of tomorrow.

In Virginia, for instance, dynamic Governor William Tuck has issued a proclamation urging Virginians to get behind the train of toys. "This program," said the governor, "is designed to bring happiness to children, is also planting seeds of faith, trust, and good will in the fertile young minds of Europe's children."

The Ministerial association of Richmond wrote a letter to all Protestant preachers asking them to explain the toy program on Christmas Sunday, while the Catholic bishop of Richmond and the rabbis of the city have done the same. Richmond's police stations and firehouses are serving as collection depots for toys.

TWO boys from Denver, Colo., now in the cabinet, face one of the oldest and most vigorous feuds in the government.

It's over who is to control the forest service—the Agriculture department or the Interior department. All during the Roosevelt administration, this battle was fought back and forth between Secretary of the Interior Ickes and Secretary of Agriculture Wallace. It was the chief reason for the bad blood between them.

Ickes claimed that since his Interior department had control of the national parks and the public lands, it should also control the forests which are on those lands. But Wallace claimed that the forest service, for years under agriculture, should remain there. It did.

Now Charley Brannan, secretary of agriculture, and Oscar Chapman, new secretary of the interior, face the same tug of war. Both are old friends, both from the same town, and both helped each other up the ladder of government.

Chapman helped Brannan get his first job as assistant secretary of agriculture. And later when Brannan beat Chapman into the cabinet, he, in turn, offered to step aside if the President had any objection to two Denver men in his official family.

Not only because of this old friendship, but because both are board-guaged men, Chapman and Brannan aren't likely to get peeved at each other over the forest service. Nevertheless, the boys around them have already started making faces.

Backstage With Bankers

Charming Johnny Hanes, one of the nicest misfits to serve under the new deal, is now on Wall Street where he fits in better as a director of the Bankers Trust company, Pan American airways, and other big corporations. In the confidential, quiet of a bankers trust directors' meeting recently, he threatened to resign.

In fact, John got so terribly wrought up that he demanded an apology from Ralph Damon, president of Trans World airlines. Damon had stated that Hanes had tried to exert financial pressure on IWA, through the bankers trust, on behalf of Pan American airways, of which Hanes is also a director.

Just why Hanes expected the bankers trust to get an apology out of TWA's Damon is hard to understand. So far he hasn't got it, and so far he hasn't resigned.

PREMIER De GASPERI has asked the American embassy for advice on how to track down Salvatore Giuliano, the Italian Robin Hood who is terrorizing Sicily. Giuliano and his bandits have killed 100 Italian policemen and kidnapped hundreds of wealthy landowners. As a result the Communists are attacking the government for failing to stop him.

Two American army officers who have been advising the Greek army on guerrilla warfare may be detached and sent to Sicily to help the Italian police.

Broadway Box Office Check By Government Men Reported

CURTAIN Going Up! The Broadway Lights: Treasury agents made a fast check of Broadway box offices to see that producers aren't mixing up their money with Uncle Sam's. . .Dollars aren't so scarce as some wailing showmen would have you believe. "The Rat Race," frinstance (which got a so-so verdict in Boston, has a $250,000 advance sale. The play reaped raves in Philly last week. . ."Lost in the Stars" apparently has a gilt-edge future. Tallulu's version of "Private Lives" is reported the most popular thing to hit Dixie since Fried Chicken. The Bankheadliner is playing to standees in the You-All sector. . . London't controversy over "Streetcar Named Desire" aroused speeches in Parliament and pop-offs in The House of Lords. A rahthah silleh to-doodle, if you ask this Colonial. . .A Boston political fuddy-dud played press agent for the musical, "Alive and Kicking." In the Wings: Keeping a car in New York is an expensive proposition. Garage rental in midtown often runs higher than room rent for its proprietor. The other day an actor (applying for a Yuletide job in a dep't store) was asked if he had dependents. "None," said the Lay-off, "except a '49 convertible."

Some unofficial critics were gabbing about the ill-fated "Metropole," which ran two consecutive nights. It reportedly twitted H. Ross, the editor of The New Yorker. "It was an awful bore," sighed one critic. "Wonder why?"

"Prob'ly," offered Mike O'Shaughnessy, "too faithful a biog."

The Cinemagicans: "The Bicycle Thief" (an Italian import) was acclaimed by most reviewers as an explosive drama. Its emotional impact shatters the heart—and each fragment is tear-dipped . . . "The Lady Takes a Sailor" has Jane Wyman as the tastiest tidbit in an amusing remantic confection . . . "Girls' School" is a passable opus with a decorative bundle named Joyce Reynolds taking the creaks out of the tale . . . "Million-Dollar Weekend" is a run-of-the-millodrama . . . "San Antone Ambushe" is suitable for kiddies who would rather grow up to be a cowboy than President . . . "Bodyhold" is about rasslers period. This is a motion picture question mark.

STAIRWAY to the Stars: The N. Y. Journal-American's front cover (by Jacques Kapralik) are perfume for the eyes . . . Jane Harvey, the La Rue thrush, is the best thing from the West Coast since sceedless oranges . . . Yvette (at the Capitol) is reported at her best. She's been away too long. Changed her familiar song-style (no more French songs), and her top ditty is "Lucky Ol' Sun" . . . Esther Williams is at her most eye-filling in "The Duchess of Idaho." REP. Mason points out that if all these tax-free groups were put on the same, fair basis with plain Joe Doakes, the government this year would take in $1,000,000,000 or more in income taxes that it will not get under present circumstances.

Probably, he is right.

Yale university, for instance, through its tax-exempt Connecticut Boola, Inc., has purchased the Macy department store in San Francisco. Tax-exempt Union college has bought the nation-wide Allied Stores corporation's properties under a sales and lease-back system—and Allied has some whacking big stores. Recently, the United States Wheat corporation bought a 65,000-acre ranch in Montana—and there goes some more taxes into thin air. A negro cult leader called "Father Divine" bought the third largest hotel in Newark, N. J., and Textron is financing some of its operations by way of non-taxpaying charitable trusts.

Meanwhile, plain Joe Doakes pays his income taxes — through nose.

Take Texas, for instance.

In this state a church, or a charitable institution can go in the hospital business, or the bookstore business, for example, and avoid most if not all state and school district taxes. They may be making a lot of money, competing with private, tax-paying citizens on the same competitive business level of "dog-eat-dog." But when tax-paying time rolls around, they avoid the taxes.

What is true in Texas may not be true in all of the states. But it is true in most of them.

WE NEED laws in this country, and in the State of Texas, to put taxation on a just and equitable basis and keep it there.

We need laws which say that every business institution, regardless of ownership, is a business intitution and should be treated as such.

In the early day, church, charitable, educational and fraternal organizations were exactly what their names implied. They were not in business. But today, that is all changed. Many of them are in as competitive business as any we know. Therefore, they should be treated as competitive business concerns, except as affects those properties in which actual worship is held; actual fraternal, educational and charitable work is carried on as such.

This tax business is getting grim and it's going to get grimmer.

Everyone who dances must be forced to ante-up to the fiddler.

'But I Tell Yuh There Ain't No Such Animal!'

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

I AM writing this column for one particular 18-year-old girl—though it may hit home to a number of other teen-agers.

MILLETT

And what is making her unhappy? You are. You and your scornful attitude toward the kind of education for living she has tried and is still trying to instill in you.

Do you know what she says of you? "In her estimation I am just an old fogey and no other mother requires the things that I do.

"She is an intelligent girl, doing well at school, but her attitude at home is almost unbearable.

"She treats everything at home, including the furnishings with contemptuous scorn. Her room is disorder itself. She cares nothing about keeping it tidy and if I clean it up for her the moment she steps into the room clothes, shoes, books, papers, etc., are scattered all over the bed and floor."

THERE IS more, but that should be enough to give you a picture of how you look to your mother.

It isn't a very pretty picture, is it? Of course, I haven't heard your side of the story. And you are bound to have a side.

But whatever it is—you are giving your mother some very bad years.

It isn't easy to be young, as anyone who has outgrown youth, fully realizes. But it isn't necessary for a girl to treat her mother and her home with contempt, even if her mother may seem to be wrong sometimes or to be lacking in understanding.

Most mothers want the best there is for their daughters. Often what the mothers think is best is not what the daughters think they want.

But at least give your mother credit for trying. And when the two of you aren't in agreement, be enough of a lady to put your case before her in as pleasant a way as you can, instead of creating a scene.

And while you are being supported at home, try to have enough decency not to be contemptuous of the way your home is furnished.

You'll have your own home some day. But you're living in your mother's home now. So don't try to run the show. Believe me, you'll some day regret the unhappiness you are causing your mother now.

"Try And Stop Me"

ONE of Editor Clip Boutell's best yarns concerns the time John Woodburn dined copiously at a nobby restaurant in Rockefeller Center, and then found he had left his wallet at home. The manager let him sign a chit for the amount, and a few mornings later a little man arrived at John's publishing office to present it for collection.

"The man said who he was but I just couldn't believe it," the receptionist told Woodburn. "Finally I made him write it down. Look!" Woodburn looked. The slip read in a wavering scrawl, "Louis XIV."

"Aye," said Charlie, "but noo until the cop've coom."

Story Of Wealthy American, Tahitian Girl Is Revealed

HONOLULU, Dec. 28 — I have been pretending that I am Mr. Somerset Maugham, but I still have no small idea as to what I can make of the story I am about to spin.

RUARK

This is a tale of the South Pacific, 1949 version.

We start with an American millionaire named Ralph.

Ralph was plump and forty-ish, and worth several millions of dollars, most of which was in trust. Ralph was working out his second marriage, and he decided that a life in Papeete, Tahiti, would be easy and would eat very lightly into his principal, so Ralph caught a coastal schooner and arrived in due time at the blessed isles, in which he built a very fine house and was happy as a pig in the mud for quite a time.

Came a day when Ralph was sitting under a palm and chewing reflectively on a light mixture of gin and juice, a lovely young gal swayed into his vision. She had thin, fine features, and she wore her hair in two long braids. She was slight as an angel, but lavishly constructed, and her brown eyes were as large as cowrie shells.

Girl Is Beautiful

Her name was Tiare, and she was half-French, half Tahitian. The time Ralph saw her she was possibly 15 years old. I have met her and she is, at 18, as lovely as brown maidens are supposed to be in the giddily romantic books. Ralph took one look at Tiare, and promptly became a defunct duck.

He spoke with his wife, and told her flatly that love had come to stay. His wife, after a settlement, agreed to a divorce. Ralph took Tiare to his house to live, and for a while I presume they were very happy.

TAHAITIANS are simple in their emotions, and often childish. Tiare became bored with being a rich man's chattel, and informed her infatuated protector that she wished to visit Honolulu. Ralph had considerable influence, and Tiare came to Honolulu. It was not long before she informed Ralph that she wanted a convertible automobile. Ralph said sure, and called an agency.

Tiare went out for a trial run in the car, and promptly fell in love with the salesman. They had a big romance, while Ralph chewed chunks out of bars, finally becoming so angry he decided to send his nature's child back to the beaches of Tahiti. He put her on the plane, but she was delayed several weeks in Noumea, and all the time Ralph missed her more and more. His longing conquered his anger, and he finally sent for her.

When she returned to Honolulu, Ralph had enlisted the aid of his former wife to help him regain the affection of his little Wahine. He also sought the services of a psychiatrist. The soul prober examined the psyches of both Ralph and Tiare.

His diagnosis was that the little half-caste Tahitian was in love with herself, victim of a narcissus complex. Her lover was supposed to be suffering from an advanced inferiority complex, due to too much money and insufficient achievement. The prescription was for Ralph to return to the mainland, to take a job and prove his right to be anamored of ihs lady fair by cold achievement in the commercial world.

This is where I would love to have the assistance of Mr. Maugham, the authority on South Sea amour. What do you make of a millionaire who flees the soothing seas and swishing palms to bury his misery in the white-collared world of Los Angeles? What happens to the jilted wife who has rushed to her husband's side to help him keep the girl he adores?

But mostly, what do we do with Tiare? Because Tiare, bored by waiting for Ralph to prove himself psychologically fit to earn her love, took off day before yesterday for Singapore with a handsome young aviator.

WHERE THE "AID" SHOULD START

The fumbling, bungling U. S. State department came up the other day with the announcement that it has, "ready for Congress" consideration," a new "world aid plan." Under the plan the United States would develop all the "undeveloped" lands in the world, in keeping with President Truman's high-flown inauguration speech of last January.

Under that "world aid plan," the U. S. State department would handle the direction—at a cost, of course, of billions of dollars.

This gives rise to the suggestion that if the U. S. State department wants to get into the "aiding business" that it start, first, by aiding Americans arrested, humiliated and generally kicked around in Red China, Hungary and various other spots on the globe.

That's the sort of aiding most Americans want the State department to do right now—and which the State department thus far has not done.

MESSAGES TO CONGRESS SLATED

President Ready For Serious Work After Holiday Vacation

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., Dec. 28 (U.P.)—President Truman today was ready to tackle a heavy workload in Washington after five easy-going days in his hometown.

The President was scheduled to leave here in his plane at 1 p. m. CST and arrive in the capital four hours later.

He expected to be up to his ears in work by nightfall.

Three important items faced the President as he said goodbye to the snow-covered midwest. They were his annual state of the union and budget messages and his semi-annual economic report.

Dates Not Set

Mr. Truman was expected to go up to Capitol Hill next Wednesday or Thursday to deliver the state of the union message in person. The date will be set definitely after he talks with administration leaders in Congress, which convenes Tuesday.

White House Secretary Charles G. Ross said today the message is nearly complete and requires only Mr. Truman's finishing touches.

Ross told reporters that if the state of the union message is delivered Wednesday, the next—probably the economic report—will be sent to Congress the following Friday. The order of the three messages has not been established but Mr. Truman said last week he hoped the economic report would be second.

Has Chili Dinner

The President did some work yesterday in his Hotel Muehlbach penthouse in Kansas City.

But a steady stream of visitors and the traditional chili con carne lunch served by Ernie Ahlfeldt occupied most of Mr. Truman's time.

The chili meal is an annual feature of Mr. Truman's holidays here. Ahlfeldt, local supervisor of the alcohol tax unit, also serves his special dish at Washington luncheons in the office of Senate Secretary Leslie Biffle.

TRIPLE AMPUTEE GETS WONDER ARM—Former Marine sergeant Donald Doubrava of Cleveland, O., tries the first of two new plastic arms with which he hopes to write, feed himself and do almost anything a normally-equipped person can do. Doubrava lost one leg in the explosion of a Jap shell in the Philippines, and lost both arms in this country when he fell in front of a train. With a total of 70 operations behind him, Doubrava looks forward cheerfully to a nearly normal life.

HOT SCOOTER

ANACONDA, Mont. (AP)—Quipped a fireman: "That's a new version of a hot rod." He had just helped put out a blaze in Leroy Fitzgerald's motor scooter. Fitzgerald, 16, jumped clear without getting hurt.

Payroll Deductions Total $12 Billion

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28. (U.P.)—Employers pour nearly one-third of the government's entire revenue directly into the treasury without employes ever seeing the money.

Internal Revenue bureau figures showed today that income tax deductions, social security payments and federal unemployment taxes last year accounted for $12,531,614,546, or 30.9 per cent of the total revenue collections of $40,463,125,018.

Totals Are Given

Since July 1, through Dec. 22 all receipts of the government totalled $17,052,713,174 of which $5,816,909,411, or more than 34 per cent has been sent directly to the treasury by employers. This percentage will be trimmed slightly before the end of the fiscal year, next June 30, however, with direct income tax payments by individuals.

Income tax payments withheld by the employer accounts for the biggest part of these payments. Last year employers withheld $10,055,501,785 of the total $18,051,821,917 income tax receipts. That was more than 55 per cent. The social security and unemployment benefit payments totaled $2,476,112,761.

Hit-And-Run Suspect Already In Jail Cell

ST. PAUL, Minn., Dec. 28 (U.P.)—Police searching for a hit-run suspect eventually found him in a jail cell here.

Authorities were looking for a car with smashed headlights and they found one belonging to Gordon A. Larson. They reported to headquarters and found that Larson had been jailed the day before for being drunk and firing a gun in the city.

Sgt. Art Stattman of the police accident division said Larson confessed that he hit someone with his car and left the scene. The victim was not injured seriously.

Singer Ginny Simms Gives Birth To Son

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 28 (AP) — Singer Ginny Simms is practicing some new lullabies.

She became the mother yesterday of her second son. Miss Simms and her husband, Hyatt Dehn, architect, also are parents of David, three. The Dehns were married in July, 1945.

Court Fine Proposed For Skunk Killers

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 28. (U.P.)—When the state highway department asked for suggestions on how to keep skunks from being killed on the highways, a man wrote in recommending that drivers who hit skunks should be fined.

"Even the king of the beasts gives a skunk the right of way," the man said. He added that it would be easy to tell which drivers had hit skunks.

Great Men Of Half A Century Selected In Poll Of Editors

ard of living the highest in the world.

Best Known Revolutionary

Nicolai Lenin—because he is the best known revolutionary of this century; because he preached the theories of Karl Marx in exile for years before he had a chance to implement them in Russia; because he showed political courage and skill in establishing a stable Bolshevist government in the midst of the turmoil of the Russian revolution; because to Communists he has achieved the status of saint-hood in a Godless land; and finally because if he had not made his dramatic jorney across Germany in a sealed train and seized power in St. Petersburg one third of the world's population might not be living under communism today.

Orville and Wilbur Wright—because they preservered in their experiments with heavier than air machines in the face of almost universal ridicule; because, unwittingly, they invented a weapon that made World War II the worst of all time; because they gave the peoples of the world a better understanding of one another by making them neighbors; and finally because they were the central figures in one of mankind's most startling developments in this century—the conquest of distance.

Delved Into Unknown

Albert Einstein — because his brilliant theories and years of hard work led mankind deep into the unknown; because, an exile from Germany, he conceived the idea of history's most powerful weapon for use against the axis; and finally because his discovery that energy can be converted into mass and vice versa took us out of the cosmic jungle and put man on the road to a better understanding of nature's forces.

Joseph Stalin—because his word is virtual law to almost one-third of the world; because he altered the teachings of Marx and Lenin to build "socialism in one country;" because in World War II he held his nation together after it had received repeated blows from the most powerful military machine then in existence; because his followers work ceaselessly in all nations to make the Russian revolution a world revolution; and finally because his post-war policy of power politics brought about the cold war and the dread of a possible World War III.

Louis Pasteur—because while he died five years before the twentieth century dawned, his work became the basis for many present day medical techniques; because he discovered that bacteria was the cause of infectious diseases; because his pioneering made vaccination possible; and finally because the "miracle drugs" of today might not have been discovered for generations if it had not been for work done in the Pasteur laboratory.

Doctor's Home, Office Entered

Dr. O. W. English of 2809 Nineteenth was listed on officials reports as victim of two burglaries, police said.

A .38 caliber revolver and a .22 caliber long rifle were taken from his residence sometime during the past 30 days, he told officers. In addition, he said, a .16mm film projector had been removed from his offices at the West Texas hospital during the Christmas holidays.

No theory had been advanced as to now intruders gained access to the property.

Harrell T. Parks, proprietor of Harrell's drive-in at 1006 Ave. Q, reported theft of a coat from a car parked there Saturday. The coat was valued at $150.

Matador Car Looted

From the Sheriff's office at Matador came a report that car prowlers had looted a car there, taking property valued at $700. Included in the missing items, officers said, was a quantity of clothing, traveling bags, a .22 rifle and a movie camera.

S. A. Gibson of Lubbock route 5 told the sheriff's office he would like for the owner of a trailer that overturned about Nov. 26 in his field, spilling out cotton, to identify the trailer and take it and the cotton.

He has the property but doesn't know what to do with it, he said.

General description of the trailer was made by sheriff's deputies, under theory it may have been stolen: four-wheel trailer made out of a wagon running gear, painted red; green body; auto tires.

Lubbock Man Arrested

Earl Wager Tucker, 38, of Lubbock was arrested Tuesday after the court of criminal appeals had sent its mandate here announcing it had affirmed a county court judgment of $50 fine and 30 days in jail for drunk driving.

William Kenneth Blankenship, 40, of Altus, Okla., charged by indictment with robbery, was delivered here Tuesday afternoon from Vernon by Dep. Sheriff Gene Lewis.

He and Bernie Lee Rhoderick, 25, of the Trigg addition, were charged in connection with an alleged whisky hijacking in late November.

Groom Now In Jail; License Is Returned

CLEARFIELD, Pa., Dec. 28. (AP) The Clearfield county register and recorder's office got back a marriage license issued in October and an explanatory note. The note said:

"I am sending you back my marriage license because the marriage is canceled and the groom is in jail."

MEET THE MANAGER—Jim Collier, manager of South Plains Monument company, 2909 Ave. H, was born February 22, 1915, in Dublin, Texas. His family moved to Lubbock in 1920 and he grew up and went to school here. He attended Texas Technological college and received a bachelor of business administration degree in 1934. In 1932 he joined the South Plains Monument company which his father, Marvin Collier, had established in 1916. During the war years he worked for North American Aviation at Grand Prairie as coordinator in liaison between the engineering, tooling and production divisions. In 1945, after the war, he returned to South Plains Monument company as manager. He is a member of First Baptist church, Lions club and Lubbock Chamber of Commerce. His hobbies are fishing and hunting. Mr. and Mrs. Collier and one son, Jim, jr., 6, live at 2224 Thirteenth. (Staff Photo).

Large Market For Tiger Skins Found

SYDNEY, Australia, Dec. 28. (AP) When an Australian wheat farmer, T. J. Carey, advertised Indian tiger skins for sale he was besieged by purchasers. One man wanted to upholster his new car. Another said he was anxious to cover his lounge suite.

Carey was acting for his friend, the Rajah of Miraj Junior, whom he met during war service in India and who wanted to sell 100 tiger skins. (Miraj Junior is an Indian State formed when the former Rajah divided the original State into two parts, so that each of his two sons would have a principality.)

Old Sailing Ship May Be Destroyed

LONG BEACH, Calif., Dec. 28. (AP)—The 49-year-old windjammer Samar, once one of the largest and proudest of the Pacific merchant fleet, will soon be out of a job again. The trim schooner's comedown began with the passing of sail. Its towering masts and bowsprit lopped off, it served for a while as an offshore sport fishing barger. In recent years it has been tied to a dock, headquarters for a towboat and salvage company. Now the firm is giving her the boot and replacing her with a $1,000,000 former Navy tug.

The Samar's ultimate fate is still undecided. But her sister ship, the Mindanao, her useful days over, was towed to sea and burned as a derelict.

MAMMOTH CARCASS FOUND

MOSCOW. (AP)—Another mammoth carcass has been discovered preserved in an excellent state in perpetual ice. From Yakutsk it is reported that near this city the body of the ancient elephant-like beast was discovered at a depth of five meters below the surface.

New Commission Starts Probe Of Reds' Strength In Hawaii

By JACK BURBY
United Press Staff Writer

HONOLULU, Dec. (U.P.) — Seven men have set out to measure Communist strength in Hawaii and to find out whether it's true that the Reds would control these islands as a state.

That charge, most recently repeated by Sen. Hugh Butler, R., Neb., is one of the chief reasons the 50-year-old territory is not already a state.

Gov. Ingram M. Stainback, who two years ago declared open season on island Communists, appointed the new seven-man un-American activities commission to flush subversives here into the open.

The commission, authorized by a special legislative session, has wide powers for its work. It may subpoena witnesses and records, compel witnesses to talk, hold its meetings openly or privately and keep its findings secret.

Panel Appointed

Unlike its mainland predecessors, the panel is appointed, not chosen from elected representatives.

But Edward Silva, attorney, who heads the new group, promises a square deal. "We will act with all due regard for the rights of the people," he said.

Silva figured prominently in Hawaii's only Communist study to date. He sat as chairman of a school board which dismissed two teachers, Dr. and Mrs. John Reinecke, after finding they did not possess "necessary ideals of democracy."

Hawaii has only one admitted Communists, although estimates of the actual number of active party members among its 541,444 residents range from 300 to 800.

Findings To Be Guide

The commission has $75,000 to spend on the investigation. It must report to the legislature in 1951. Its findings will be used as guide in legislating against un-American groups.

Certain to get close inspection from the committee are:

1. The CIO longshoremen's union, 30,000 strong, whose president, Harry Bridges, was accused of lying when asked in 1945 whether he was a Communist. Sen. Butler claims that the union is the red clearing house in Hawaii.

2. Charges that under statehood, Communists could easily gain control of the government of the country's Pacific gateway.

Aussies Shear Sheep With Pocket Knives

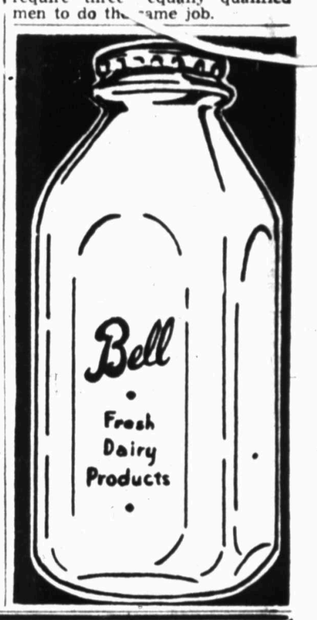

SYDNEY, Australia, Dec. 28. (AP) Native jackeroos (Australian for apprentice ranch-hands) in the New Guinea highlands have astonished their employer by shearing some of his prize sheep with a pocket-knife.

Last year, R. H. Gibbes flew a small trial flock of ten prize ewes and rams from Australia to his holding at Wewak, New Guinea. The native boys became intensely interested in sheep-farming and, after watching the first sheep shorn, quickly and neatly clipped the rest of the flock with penknives. Gibbes believes the Wewat highlands near Wewak are as good for sheep-raising as any part of Australia.

University Official Uses School Planes

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Dec. 28. (AP) Earl Strong, director of the Business Management Service of the University of Illinois, often has breakfast at his home here, lunch in Chicago and dinner in Springfield, the state capitol. He is home again in time for a midnight snack.

He uses one of the university's fleet of 34 airplanes to get to speaking appointments on schedule. Men in the University's Institute of Aviation believe that without the air service it would require three equally qualified men to do the same job.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 28 (AP) — The county ordinance banning sale of comic books on crime has been held unconstitutional by the appellate department of superior court.

Doctor Finds Cancer Tissues Contain Small Fungi Growths

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Discovery of fungi, tiny invisible plants, growing in cancers was announced to the American Association for the Advancement of Science today.

The discovery is one of the most startling of this century.

The cancer fungi are the same that grow all around us, in soil, food, plants and trees.

They have been found in every cancer tested. The tests embraced 20 human cancers, including four different kinds, and 100 mice cancers.

Not In Healthy Tissue

The fungi never have been found in any healthy tissue, with one exception. They show in breasts of those species on female mice which are susceptible to breast cancer.

The discovery was reported by Dr. Irene Corey Diller of the Institute for Cancer Research, Philadelphia. She is one of the major research contributors to the American Cancer society.

Dr. Diller showed enlarged pictures of the fungi. One is a black fungus, common in soil and milk products, named Altenaria. Another is grey, common in the tropics, known as Syncephalastrum Racemosum. Dr. Diller said that how this tropical form got into Philadelphia cancers is a mystery.

There are also some common yeast fungi not yet identified.

Proof Not Final

Dr. Diller cautioned against accepting results so far as proof that fungi cause cancer.

"A great deal more work must be done," she said. "A single research group could spend years exhausting the implications of these findings. To millions of Americans, cancer research is a matter of tragic urgency."

One queer fact has developed. The tropical fungus, when taken from concers and injected into cancer-susceptible strains of mice, kills the animals in a few days. It doesn't cause cancer when so injected, but poisons the mice. After the same fungus has been cultivated outside the bodies of animals for some generations it gradually loses its power to cause death.

Difficult To Detect

In mouse leukemia, which is like the blood cancer of humans, all the body organs except the heart contained a yeast-like fungus.

Dr. Diller reported that just before this century began many investigators reported they had discovered fungi in cancers. But these reports were not verified.

She said the fungi have escaped notice since then because of difficulties in detection. They have been mistaken, she said, for broken-down blood vessels.

Use of new stains revealed the fungi. Dr. Diller said that filaments from these growths can be seen running from one cancer cell to another. Sometimes the filaments push into a tissue cell, and wind around the cell's nucleus.

Casual Poker Game Costly For Victim

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 28 (U.P.)—George V. Waters swears that he'll never again play poker with a stranger.

Waters kept winning. When they counted up the chips, the stranger owed Waters $1,600.

"I don't have the cash," he said, "but I have a check made out to me for $2,400."

Waters accepted the check and gave the man $400 cash and a $400 check in return.

The stranger's check bounced. Waters leaped into his car and drove to the address where the man said he worked. He saw him on the corner.

"Your check bounced," Waters said.

"That's impossible," the stranger replied. "Let me have your car and I'll run to the bank with the check and get it cashed."

Rocking Bed Eases "Iron Lung" Victim

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 28 (U.P.)—A 27-year-old polio patient at St. Anthony's Hospital here is no longer confined in his tank-like iron lung home.

Leo B. Abele, a television technician, is resting with comparative freedom on a $1,600 electric rocking bed.

The top resembles a standard hospital bed, but is mounted on special rockers bewteen which is a power device connected for remote control to an electric operator's unit with an instrument panel.

Treatment may be given while the bed is in motion without disturbing the mechanism.

After being the first patient in the hospital to try out the mechanical bed, Abele told nurses they could put the iron lung he had been using "in mothballs."

CHARGED IN SHOOTING

Present Exchanging Brisk In Places

Many Lubbock Residents Get Wrong Size Christmas Gifts

And from the testimony of tired clerks, it was one of the main items of business during the day.

But with few exceptions, customers exchanging their gifts were courteous and friendly, storekeepers reported, even though depleted post-Christmas stocks made it difficult to fit some in the sizes or colors for which they were searching.

Few requested their money back. They either would substitute when correct sizes were not available, or they would have the item ordered by the store, most clerks agreed.

And many stayed to buy other things with Christmas money.

Actual exchanges of gifts by those who were displeased with what they found Sunday morning under their Christmas trees were few. Instead, merchants reported that most of the exchanges were brought on because of wrong sizes.

Busiest with exchange work were the clothing and department stores. They reported that shirts led the list of exchanges, with sport coats in some stores coming in a close second. Outside of clothing, exchanges were comparatively few.

Estimates on the percentage of the day's customers that had come in primarily for exchanging gifts varied considerably. Sylvan Skibell, manager of the Hub Clothiers estimated that four-fifths of their customers had come in for that purpose, with most of that number changing shirt sizes.

High Percentage Cited

"Probably 90 percent of our customers today have come in to make exchanges," said George Walton of Walton's Store for Men. "Our first 15 customers this morning wanted to exchange gifts."

Spokesmen for two other stores gave lower estimates. The manager at Franklin's Ladies Apparel gave an estimate of 15 percent, while Hanna-Pope and company estimated as little as 10 percent.

The size dilemma was explained in part by Alvin Goldstucker manager of the S and Q Clothiers, who said, "Every woman seems to get an exaggerated conception of men's clothing sizes, and if they don't know what they are, they invariably get them too large."

Husbands Ill At Ease

Robes, slips, and similar items were most numerous on the exchange lists at Franklin's. A spokesman said it was because husbands don't go in for buying dresses and such things, and they are uneasy when they buy intimate underthings. "So they settle on robes, which aren't considered unmentionables," he said.

House slippers, hosiery, lamp shades, dishes, infant's wear, and many other items showed up for exchange. Books, normally an item that cannot be brought back for exchange, showed up about a dozen times during the day at Hemphill-Wells bookstore, according to Mrs. Mildred Hill, manager.

"It is so easy for a person to read a book, and then bring it back for exchange," she said, "but if they will just come in early enough, we usually can accommodate them."

Jewelers reported a brisk exchange business, but these also were regarding sizes, on rings especially. Type sizes on typewriters and different styles of gardening tools entered the list from the hardware stores and office supply companies.

But although there were a good many of these exchanges in other stores, the department stores took the brunt of the exchange crowd Tuesday, and are expecting to repeat again today.

Said one weary clerk at the Hub Clothiers, "They ought to invent a city directory that carries sizes or people's clothing as well as their occupations. That would help us settle the problem."

Men Held By Reds Are Well

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28 (AP)—Two Ameican servicemen missing in Communist China for more than a year, have been reported alive and well.

Chinese Communist officials at Tsingtao disclosed that the two men are being held at a large military base just outside the port city. The State department said it knows of no formal charges against the American pair.

Held More Than A Year

The two men are Navy Chief Electrician William C. Smith, Long Beach, Calif., and Marine Master Sgt. Elmer C. Bender, Chicago. They failed to return from a plane flight over the Tsingtao area Oct. 19, 1948.

Nothing was heard from them during the following 14 months, during which Americans in Red China were harrassed, insulted and imprisoned, apparently as part of a Communist policy to lower U. S. prestige.

Yesterday the State department said it had a delayed message reporting the two men safe and well. It came via the closed U. S. consulate at Tsingtao, where four American officials have been waiting since mid-October for transportation home.

2,000-Ton Fire Is Really A Stinkeroo

WRIGHTSVILLE, Ga., Dec. 28 (AP) — Wrightsville was a stinking town last night—more than 2,000 tons of fertiliser was on fire.

The suffering citizens, their noses to the leeward, were pretty burned up too.

Firemen yearned for a good, clean, old-fashioned fire.

Stuffed Deer Target For Deluded Hunters

RHINELANDER, Wis. Dec. 28. (U.P.) — A battered, bullet-pierced fake deer is still tempting enough to attract the arrows of Wisconsin's Indian style hunters.

A year ago, Oneida County pranksters set up a stuffed buck and hunters blasted away at it all season, shooting its horns away and making its hide look like a piece of Swiss cheese.

The year the same dummy reappeared as a doe. Three arrows were plucked from its side after its first few days in the new role.
